Ideas On Vietnam Differ At ISU

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor

POCATELLO—An Idaho State University professor called for impeachment of the President of the United States and his request triggered a rearing up of an audience of several hundred students, townspeople and others meeting in the Student Union building.

and means to gain peace in Vietnam which was held here Wednesday.

At the morning session Dr. Stern was critical of President Nixon as incapable of providing the leadership he promised and said that people want this war ended right now and not on the eve of the next Presidential election.

The orderly protest in this community and at the University showed participants to be, for the most part, all in favor of getting out of Vietnam and ending the war so far as the United States is concerned. The big field of disagreement was whether the move should be right now or over a certain period of time.

Among those "leaning" toward a period of time withdrawal was Brad Pugh, a University student who was a Marine corporal in Vietnam for 13 months and who said he was "no John Birchler" but "a patriotic American."

"Pulling out now will not solve the problem in Vietnam," Mr.

Pugh said. He said complete, immediate withdrawal would mean a depression in this country and added that this nation (the U.S.) needs allies all over the world.

But concerning the moratorium observance, as such, he said, "The moratorium is the start of the total decay of the United States."

The other speakers appearing on the platform expressed ideas which ran the gamut between

Nationwide War Protest Staged Without Violence

By ROBERT BENJAMIN
United Press International

The protest President Nixon said would not affect him took place Wednesday across the nation and outside the White House.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans took part in the Vietnam "moratorium" "M-Day" to protest U.S. fighting in South Vietnam.

There was no way to estimate the total number of persons on campuses, on street corners, in meeting halls, in churches and along parade routes who demonstrated against the war. But there was no doubt it was the largest antiwar demonstration in the nation's history. "M-Day" was to have been a campus project. It grew to such proportions that 50,000 persons gathered at the Washington Monument, then marched past the White House in a two-hour candlelight parade. The widow of Martin Luther King Jr. decried the war as "an enemy of poor and black people" and urged Nixon to "bring the boys home, and bring them home now."

There was no sign the President's mind was changed by the moratorium. He earlier said he would not be affected by it. The moratorium's organizers seemed to have expected that another moratorium is planned for Nov. 15 and a third moratorium in December. "If necessary," there were counter-demonstrations by those who felt Nixon was pursuing the "only course possible to extricate America from the war," honorably. They flew American flags, drove their autos with headlights on and beeked war protesters. There was "only scattered violence, and no serious clashes."

Millions of Americans simply sat out the moratorium. They went to class, showed up for work, watched and listened to the World Series and only glanced at crowds at campus and city rallies.

Solution

The American way of resolving differences about the Vietnam War among College of Southern Idaho students was suggested Wednesday as several pro-war students watched anti-war students participate in a demonstration at city park.

Only four young men, on their way to participate in a CSI intramural football game, suggested to police officers that the anti-Vietnamers choose up sides and tangle in a football game.

"We're in a team win and the losers be quiet," he said.

House Panel Backs Lottery For Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Armed Services Committee voted unanimously today to allow President Nixon to institute a draft lottery. It refused, however, to halt student deferments that now are almost automatic.

The committee approved the lottery question on a vote of 31 to 0 after rejecting, 21 to 10, a move to end student deferments except for those who take part in Reserve Officer Training programs.

Sponsors of the plan to end automatic student deferments—

Wild Chase

DAVIE, Fla. (UPI)—A woman substituting for the regular school bus driver asked a bus load of elementary school children for directions Wednesday. She shouldn't have.

"I'll never drive a school bus again," said Mrs. Joyce Battle, who was led on a 40-mile, two-county wild goose chase by the gleeful children.

The children, who normally begin their school day at 9 a.m., arrived at Nova Elementary School just in time for lunch.

Nobel Prize Given Three Scientists

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The 1969 Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded today to three American scientists whose pioneering research of viruses laid the foundation for the studies of viruses and such virus diseases as rabies, encephalitis and the common cold.

The $75,000 prize went to Prof. Max Delbrueck, 63, of the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Calif.; Director Alfred D. Hershey, 60, of the genetics research unit of the Carnegie Institution of Cold Springs Harbor, N.Y., and Prof. Salvador E. Luria, 57, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

Of today's three winners only one is American born. He is Roy M. Lurie, born in Warsaw, Mich., now teaching at the University of California at Los Angeles.

82 GIs Die As War Lull Continues

SAIGON (UPI)—Official sources today reported fewer Communist troops in the war zone "now" than in any other month, contributing to the battle lull that kept U.S. deaths at a 34-month low last week.

The high-level officials said there are 230,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in South Vietnam, compared with the 270,000-man level the United States maintained from 1967 until recently.

The resulting lull in combat, now in its second month, kept U.S. battle deaths below the 100 mark for the third successive week last week, with spokesmen reporting 82 Americans killed in action.

Nearly five times that many South Vietnamese soldiers died—384—a sign of the increasing combat responsibilities being shouldered by government troops as American troops are withdrawn.

Denver Doctor To Speak At State Sceptomist Confab

BURLEY—Dr. Mirlam C. Benner, Denver, Rocky Mountain regional governor, will be the featured speaker at the state Sceptomist meeting Saturday and Sunday at the Ponderosa Inn.

She is a general practitioner in Denver specializing in internal medicine. Dr. Benner is serving her second term as regional governor, having served as lieutenant governor and also is a past president of the Denver club.

In addition to her professional and club interests, the official can cook, garden, sews, enjoys oil-paintings and can repair most machinery.

The state meeting, hosted by the Burley club, will begin at 8:30 a.m. Sunday with a luncheon planned at noon, and business sessions in the afternoon. Registration begins at 6 p.m. Saturday, with no-host dinner planned for 7 p.m., followed by a busy session.

Wreckage Kills Four

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—Four men were killed Tuesday night when a speeding train crashed into another train stopped on the tracks near Moha.

Rep. William D. Mills, D-Ark., whose support is essential on any tax or Social Security matter, questioned the wisdom of automatic increases.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is holding hearings on higher benefits, noted Congress would be giving up some of its tax-raising powers under a cost of living proposal.

Nixon proposed a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, effective next March, and higher taxes to pay for the raise. Under his plan the present $7,800 base of a worker's salary would jump to $9,000 in 1972, and the base would go up automatically with cost of living hikes.

Barring an unforeseen crisis, Congress appeared certain to vote higher benefits with the major question only a matter of amount and timing.

Collision Piles Cars

PARIS (UPI)—A string of 71 cars piled up in a chain reaction on Oct. 16 during a morning rush Wednesday on the North Paris highway near Le Bourget Airport, police reported. Ten motorists were hospitalized.

ONLY A HANDFUL of dedicated peace marchers walked from the College of Southern Idaho Campus Wednesday to the Episcopal Church on Blue Lakes Blvd., to pray for peace in the local Vietnam Moratorium observance. By the time they reached the church a few others had joined the group, but most drove to the church in automobiles. About 20 marched, but prayer service

City Councilmen Facing Lawsuit

Two lawsuits alleging character assassination and asking for a total of $550,000 in damages have been filed in Fifth District Court by an Ogden, Utah, man.

Revere Hanson names Twin Falls Mayor Egon Krohl and five city councilmen (one of them no longer on the council) as defendants in one suit and Helmut Moss and his wife in the other suit.

The councilman named in the first suit are John Angerbauer, George Bennett, Frank Feldman, C. G. McIntyre and Robert Warberg. Mr. McIntyre is no longer on the council.

Mr. Hanson is suing each councilman for $25,000 and the mayor for $25,000. He is suing Mr. Moss and his wife for $500,000.

The first suit, against the mayor and councilmen, alleges that the plaintiff (Mr. Hanson) was opposed to the passage of a water bond issue in 1965. He alleges he helped arrange a public meeting to explain the dissenting side of the bond issue.

Because of this, a member of the dissenting group was "threatened to be publicly exposed and to be investigated by the FBI for alleged past acts of indiscretion," by City Manager Herb Derrick, unless the public meeting was canceled. The complaint reads:

"Mr. Hanson said he continued his opposition to the water bond issue and phase two of the project and as a result 'he was exposed in certain long past acts, that were purged completely out of context and reality to truth.'"

Mr. Hanson, in his suit, said, "This practice of character assassination... was in keeping with the example used by Herb Derrick in 1965 and sets the tone of the defendants in their conduct of city affairs."

Mr. Hanson alleges the defendants acted with full intent to destroy his reputation.

In the second suit, against Mr. and Mrs. Moss, Mr. Hanson alleges, "The defendants have, since Jan. 10, 1967, engaged in adverse publicity against the plaintiff (Mr. Hanson) and also other members of the said plaintiff's family."

Records show Mr. Hanson is acting as his own attorney in both lawsuits.

Power Cut Off To Quiet Protest

The Vietnam War Day of Moratorium came and went all too quietly in Twin Falls, marked only by a minor protest from about 25 young people, most of them students at the College of Southern Idaho, who marched on the Selective Service office.

The noise was prompted when Idaho Power employees, under direction of the Twin Falls Police Department, cut the power supply to amplifiers being used by a rock band at a gathering in city park.

The power supply was interrupted about 4 p.m. when participants in the city park demonstration failed to obey a police order that sound equipment be turned down to comply with city laws.

The gathering was the second in the park Wednesday and followed several hours of peaceful observances by those opposed to the Vietnam War.

Earlier in the afternoon about 50 young people gathered at the park to listen to the rock band and anti-Vietnam speeches. This gathering was dispersed under police order after complaints of the noise were received from O'Leary Junior High School.

The demonstrators were told by Frank Barnett, chief of police, they could congregate again at 4 p.m. after classes were dismissed. If the noise was kept down.

The 4 p.m. gathering, swelled by other college students to about 75 or 100, started out peacefully, but just as loud as the one earlier in the afternoon.

When the power supply was cut, organizers of the location movement discussed the situation with police and agreed to disband.

A group of about 25, prodded on by one CSI student who mounted the stage at the hand, and shouted about police discrimination, surged out of the park and marched to the Selective Service office.

The doors at the office were locked by personnel. The police were called and the marchers were told the draft office was closed for the day. The marchers left, walked back to the city park, and one by one

Conservatives Assail Synod

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Roman Catholic conservatives who favor a strong papacy hit hard today in the World Synod of Bishops at liberals who have urged greater powers for bishops.

French Cardinal Jean Daniélou, a leading conservative spokesman, led the counter-offensive against liberals whose views had been dominant in the synod until today.

Daniélou said there is "crisis in the Western world" brought about by the Vatican Ecumenical Council. He said a number of priests have gone away in a fragile way, the faith of young people has been weakened and moral and spiritual life have worsened.

"To solve this crisis," he said, "it is necessary to have a firm united authority. He said the synod should stress the 'primacy union' of bishops and priests with the Pope."

Red Envoy Rakes Nixon On War Stand

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Tuy said today President Nixon was showing contempt for the nationwide Vietnam moratorium.

They made the statement at the Paris peace talks after Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge stuck to America's same bargaining position and told the Communists the allies had done all they could to end the fighting in Vietnam.

"It is now up to your side to make this next move," Lodge said.

They described Wednesday's moratorium day as "the strongest and most widespread ever known in the United States."

Hanoi diplomat said the demonstrators demanded the rapid and total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam.

His delegation advanced in the very first meeting here.

Social Security Increase Nears

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Higher Social Security benefits for 22 million Americans looked like a sure bet today, but it appeared doubtful Congress would link future increases to the cost of living.

WORK IS PROGRESSING at the Twin-Falls site of a new box plant under construction by Longview Fibre Co. Crews from Gilbert H. Moon Construction Co., Yakima, Wash., have about one third of the building done and hope to complete the building by the end of January. Cost of the structure, on South Park Avenue, is in excess of $1 million.

Development Of Big Valley Subdivision Is Delayed

RUPERT — The $158,895 development of an 11-acre ballpark in the Big Valley Subdivision of Rupert is not progressing, according to Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson.

Rupert city council members were contacted recently by members of the State Park Department which approved a grant of $46,372.50 to help finance the project, to determine whether or not the city intends to carry out their plans for the development as the grant was approved last April and no work has yet been done at the site.

Mayor Johnson was authorized to inform the department that the city does intend to complete the plans, but that it is necessary to wait until funds are available at the local level.

With the recent completion of one Local Improvement District in Rupert and another under way, he said, it has been impossible to begin work on the park, which, when completed, will be completely lighted.

The park is located at the corner of H and 18th Streets in Rupert. In addition to the playing fields, it will also have picnic facilities and a playground area. The project is set up on a five-year program with the federal appropriations being used to help finance the first two phases.

Completion Of Work On Million-Dollar Box Plant Expected By End Of January

Crews from Gilbert H. Moon Construction Co., Yakima, Wash., are about one-third done with the new Longview Fibre Co. plant being built on South Park Avenue.

A spokesman for the construction firm said the building, costing in excess of $1 million, is expected to be completed by the end of January.

About 45 men, most of them local, are employed at the construction site.

All pre-cast concrete walls have been put into place and crews are pouring columns in between the pre-cast slabs.

Exterior walls of the 125,000 square foot building will be metal. About 100,000 square feet will be the main building and the remainder will be a loading dock, with a railroad spur running into the building.

Crews now are pouring outside concrete slabs and, if bad weather occurs this winter, the building should be closed over Aug. 3.

Waste Disposal Reported Threat To Idaho's Water

MOSCOW — "The use of waste disposal wells in Southern Idaho's Snake River Plain may constitute a serious threat to both ground water quality and the health of the area's citizens," according to Dr. Alfred T. Wallace, University of Idaho associate professor of civil engineering.

A cooperative study is being undertaken at the university under the direction of Dr. Wallace and Dr. Roy E. Williams, a hydrogeologist in the College of Mines. They aim to assess the magnitude of the problem and pinpoint specific areas needing immediate attention.

The project, which began last June, is supported by state funds under the Short Term Applied Research (STAR) program. The first phase is scheduled for completion in July, 1970.

According to Dr. Wallace, use of disposal wells in the area is widespread. "Each day large quantities of raw and inadequately treated industrial and agricultural sewage and other wastes are poured into the vast underground reservoir which most of the Snake River Plain inhabitants rely upon for their water supply."

"Disposal wells, while never a satisfactory method of waste disposal from a public health standpoint, were not a problem of major significance when their numbers were small, because of the dilution of the wastes received from the substantial ground water reserves under the plain."

"However, as with many of our other environmental problems, population increases have changed the picture, increasing numbers of disposal wells are being used and larger quantities of wastes are being disposed of underground."

"At the same time, more water supply wells are being drilled and larger quantities of water are being withdrawn from the ground. These conditions obviously increase the possibilities for movement of wastes underground and contamination of both private and public water supplies."

Dr. Wallace said most Idaho citizens appreciate the importance of protecting their water resources, but haven't realized their individual contribution. "Sewage could significantly affect the ground water pollution picture."

Children To Seek Funds On Halloween For World Needy

UNICEF trick or treaters will be out Halloween night throughout Magic Valley under the sponsorship of the Twin Falls Committee for UNICEF.

Dressed in costumes from store-bought to "homemade," these young ambassadors of good will are planning to visit homes in a small supervised group. They will ask for pennies, nickels and dimes to give to the Children's Fund on Halloween, officially designated National UNICEF Day by presidential proclamation.

More than 13,000 other communities across the nation will be participating in the program. Since 1953, when the small group of children collected $17 "Trick or Treating for UNICEF," this custom has grown. In 1968 three and a half million children turned over $3 million to the United Nations Children's Fund.

The money collected will be used by UNICEF to assist programs for the world's needy children in 120 countries.

The UNICEF Trick or Treaters will be identified by their official collection box—a small orange and black carton. Only children carrying this carton will be authorized to collect for UNICEF.

Local groups participating in the program include church groups, Key Club and Y-Teens.

NEW YORK — Something incredible has happened in this exciting but agonized white hamlet at the majority race goes into the home stretch. They politicians are now taking John Marchi seriously. Marchi, a state senator from unglamorous Staten Island, might be described as the square's square. The regular Republican candidate to dislodge the rejected John Lindsay is low-key, colorless and inclined to be long-winded. In small-town America, Marchi would be the darling of the ladies who spend antimacassars on their parlor, furniture. In New York City, as one Lindsay politician put it, "Jimmy Walker he isn't!" But perhaps more important, Marchi also presents an image of rock-like middle-American integrity and plain thinking. The glittering Manhattan of Jimmy Walker and John Lindsay scolds at his squariness, but Manhattan is the minority borough in Brooklyn and on the rest of Long Island where most New Yorkers live, Marchi's very lack of size is an asset. He lives in a small home or anonymous apartment buildings and who are concerned about unsafe streets and uncollected garbage. So perhaps it is not surprising after all that a Lindsay man should blurt, "Suddenly we have to worry about Marchi."

mand of the mayor of the nation's biggest city. And indeed, Marchi has made considerable progress among middle-income whites in the past few weeks. Those who think Marchi has a chance to win another factor is the big undecided vote ranging from 20 to 23 per cent in the various polls. In this undecided bloc one-out of five there is a faction vote for somebody, probably not Lindsay since his supporters long ago come out of hiding. It seems reasonable to expect that the undecideds will go for either Procaccio or Marchi. The experts have been saying most of them are Procaccio voters who won't admit they are for a candidate whose law-and-order statements have a hint of repression.

Global Forecasts

Much preparatory work is needed in the next four years to achieve the maximum success of the 1973 Global Atmospheric Research Program. This international effort involving several countries, under auspices of the UN and international scientific organizations, will make a concerted effort at studying and better understanding the earth's atmosphere.

Scientists committee on global atmospheric research, the U.S. body which will head this nation's contribution to the joint effort, proposes a major test be made at the same time of a global weather observation system. This system would require observation points around the globe, including several satellites, both orbiting and stationary, and a bank of electronic computers faster than those in use today. It also would make use of weather balloons, ocean buoys and similar equipment. From a concerted effort such as this could come the first accurate weather forecasting extending well beyond one or two days. This is an ambitious proposal, but it may be many years before such a system can be constructed if preparations already underway for 1973 are not utilized to their fullest extent.

Time And Tide

As much as a billion dollars a year is now spent on weather services and atmospheric research throughout the world, with the United States underwriting about half the total. There is little coordination in these various efforts, however, and to promote better cooperation is one of the aims of the 1973 joint effort. On the subject of weather forecasting, the National Academy of

Mars--Some Day

Having succeeded in landing men on the moon by 1970, it does not follow that equal vigor must be employed in landing men on Mars. This view has now been endorsed in commendably restrained recommendations submitted to President Nixon by a study group on post-Apollo objectives. Technologically, the group believes it possible to send men on a 500- to 600-day mission to Mars in 1983. But this would require expenditures the American people are not ready to accept. Consequently, the task force outlines options ranging from 1986 to the end of the century. These would involve gentler increases in spending, rising from today's $4 billion a year to a peak of $5.7 billion in 1976. In its calculations the study group has necessarily kept in mind continued development of other aspects of the space program as well. Particularly noteworthy is its recommendation for greater application of space technology to the direct benefit of mankind. Many by-products of the space effort have already entered life on earth, like improved safety devices, communications, navigation, medical care and even house paint. The critical question in space exploration remains one of pace. Thus the committee's most important recommendation is one of flexibility in "drawing up timetables." Instead of a goal like that which President Kennedy set in 1961 for the moon landing, the committee wisely suggests constant review of where the nation most needs to put its billions at any one time. While contemplating a landing on Mars as a long-range goal, there is no need, says President Nixon's agency — to tackle it on a crash basis.

Consumers

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, the president's special assistant for consumer affairs, told the National Commission on Product Safety she thinks the American consumer is afflicted by a mixture of adventurism and fatalism which makes it nearly impossible to get a safety message across. The consumer, she said, has an "unstated but steady confidence that the new made-in-America machine he beholds will operate easily and safely with little or no instruction regardless of the preconditions of any accompanying instruction or safety booklets. Sociologists tell us that we are culturally not far removed from the frontier. We are a take-chance people — a continually 'now generation' — the movers who respond to a challenge and a goal be it over the nearest hill or over the frontier of space," she said. Nevertheless, Mrs. Knauer told the commission, she believes the way to better safety habits is not to shake the confidence of the consumer in the products he buys, but to encourage industry to reach for ever-higher standards. Enlightened industry has shown itself capable of continually revising and improving safety standards. Encouraging industrial self-improvement, not government dictation or safety campaigns, Mrs. Knauer contends, is the way to a safer America.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK About Black Capital Hoopla

WASHINGTON — Having failed to develop anything approaching a working plan for Congressmen pushing the Administration to carry out its campaign-pledge on black capitalism, was first developed in a secret White House session early last month. The original source of the idea was none other than President Nixon's most intimate adviser, White House counsel John Ehrlichman. With Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, embattled Small Business Administration Hillary Sandvoll, and other high officials, he set up a working table. Ehrlichman made his proposal. He suggested that Stans order his department to produce a "road show" demonstrating the Administration's commitment to "minority entrepreneurship" (black capitalism) and take it on a national tour. Stans was chosen because the Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE) is in his department. Its job is to develop and coordinate a government-wide program to help non-whites, who now control only 3 percent of the nation's total enterprises, get into business. Considering the powerful sponsor of the "road show" idea, Stans quickly set his own public relations department to work. By Sept. 20, a follow-up order had been delivered to Tom Roeser, OMBE's director. Roeser, a Midwestern Republican, chief and former public affairs director of Quarter Cents in Chicago, had not been invited to the White House meeting. Indeed, he had not even been consulted about the road show. The order to Roeser was embarrassingly specific. It proposed that Roeser should head the road show tour of 11 cities and show with him two or three prominent Negroes with names recognized by the general public. Suggested for this function were Jesse Owens, track superstar of the 1936 Olympics, and a black attorney, a member of the Chicago Cubs, himself a black capitalist in Chicago.

The heart of this still-confidential OMBE program is a Minority Enterprise Development Corp. (MEDCO), modeled along the lines of the semi public Communications Satellite Corp., to raise money and lend it to small minority-owned businesses. Not only has Stans failed to approve MEDCO. He also has justly rejected a short-range plan by Roeser to allocate far more money (now elsewhere in the Federal budget) for encouraging minority enterprises. According to Congressional experts on black capitalism, Stans has systematically rejected it just about every plan OMBE has come up with, often on grounds of economy. OMBE's experience of the past three months follows the Administration's earlier failure to produce the tax-incentive plan to encourage minority businesses that had been promised by candidate Nixon last fall. Last January Mr. Nixon ordered White House aides to ask the Treasury for a draft of a tax incentive for minority entrepreneurship with special emphasis on big-city poverty areas. Treasury officials came back with a request for more specific guidelines, but no proposal has been sent to Congress. The result of all this was evident at that White House staff meeting early last month. Robert J. Brown, the President's special assistant for minority affairs, reported to Stans, Ehrlichman, and the other participants that leading bankers have expressed grave doubts to him about the President's commitment to the program. Accordingly, the "road show" idea has been seized on to create an illusion of progress. The latest directive to OMBE calls for the road show to take off in mid-October, meeting Stans's desire for newspaper headlines before hearings later this month before two Senate committees investigating the program. If the road show works, Stans will have something to show the Senators.

Good, Old Politics

Remember back when Governor Samuelson was critiquing the post he now holds, was writing of then-Governor Smylie because he traveled so much? Then, of course, you will not have much trouble ascertaining that Governor Samuelson travels more than Mr. Smylie ever did. But we must report in this instance that Governor Rampton, in reality, a piker when it comes to travel. Right in this area Governor Rampton of Utah travels much more than our governor does. But that ain't all of it. National President Nixon has them all beat. And the truth is contained in an article in the latest magazine and to Republicanism. When the President touched down in Andrews Air Force Base in Washington toward the last of August he had logged a total of 76,443 air miles since he took office. And today that air mile total is well over the 100,000 mile mark, the article reveals. How does this stack up with other Presidents? Well, it makes President Nixon the traveling chief executive in the history of the United States. And right now his trips are approaching four times as many miles as the trips made by President Johnson. So there you have it. Chief executives today do a lot of traveling. A Governor who just sits in the State House really isn't much of a governor. Idaho's Governor Don Ia, we assume, now convinced that he was wrong in being critical of the travel time of a Governor Smylie. Today it's a way of living from top to bottom among all executives.

NEW POLICE TOOL The checky-clucking teletype machine is an indispensable piece of equipment in newspaper offices and familiar to anyone who has ever seen a B-movie about a newspaper. Now a compact, 12 1/2-pound version of the teletype has been developed for use by a profession that provides much of the copy newspapers fill their pages with—the police. Studies show that policemen spend more than half their time away from their vehicles answering calls for assistance. The new machine, called the "TeleScriptor" and operated by radio, is designed to be installed in police cars and record messages in their absence, thus eliminating the need for time-consuming message repeating. The device also promises to add more security to police communications, which have been known to be monitored by people who are motivated by something other than casual curiosity. The machine may eventually find wide use in other areas, hopes its manufacturer, SCM Corp., including commercial trucking, public transportation and even private vehicles. That's just fine. We're all for improved communications, whether it increases police efficiency or gets those packages the wife charged delivered more quickly. But can you imagine the chagrin of the motorist of the future when he receives a message on his "TeleScriptor" which says: "Call your bank immediately. Your car payment is overdue."

PAUL HARVEY

Is It Chaos?

Another Latin-American government bites the dust. Military men have taken over Bolivia. They say they had to in order to prevent disorder and chaos. Perhaps. Nonetheless, that makes four of our own Latin-American neighbor nations to change management in the past year; Peru, Panama, Brazil, now Bolivia. In each case an elected government was overthrown and replaced by a military dictatorship. Am I correct that it is the overthrow of elected governments by military dictatorships that we are witnessing now over the world trying to prevent? Yet in these cases, in our own hemisphere, where elected governments were overthrown, our government, quite rightly I think, reacts and completely. But that of course makes it very difficult to explain our continuing involvement in Vietnam to our enlightened sons. President Nixon has been prodded by several members of Congress to get us out of Vietnam, quickly and completely. Politically, he's durned if he does and durned if he doesn't, because it is entirely likely that the military critics will try to null him to the wall on this issue whatever he elects to do. If he continues a slow pull-out, the military opposition will accuse him of needlessly prolonging the bloodshed. If he should order a precipitous pull-out, he might be blamed for a "humiliating retreat for our troops and a blood bath for our allies." Congress must share responsibility for our escalated intervention in Vietnam. It was the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin Resolution that Congress authorized then-President Johnson to increase our involvement. Recently and repeatedly certain members of Congress have accused the President of ulterior motives for his "great withdrawal." They've said he was merely trying to appease colleagues with token pull-outs and cuts in draft calls. If congressional critics want immediate disengagement, they should be required thus to vote — rather than merely to prod the President to make moves for which they might later criticize him. Since our massive troop presence in Vietnam is presently authorized by Congress, Congress has the authority to deauthorize it. It is to this end that Sen. Charles Goodell (R-N.Y.) is seeking to bring the Vietnam War to a vote. Sen. Goodell's proposal would require the United States to get all its troops out of Vietnam by Dec. 1, 1970. Goodell says, "I think we told the South Vietnamese that if they one year from now they will be on their own." His bill would cut off all funds for any further fighting over there. Now in the language of the streets congressional critics will be required to "put up or shut up."

For the fact is that law and order remains the hot issue of the campaign, despite the Lindsay organization's attempts to play it down. Up to now, that has been Mario Procaccio's strength, and never mind his personality. Some of the strongest support has been passing to John Marchi, the quiet man. Paradoxically, it is a situation of both concern and hope for John Lindsay. For if the trend continues away from Procaccio to Marchi, the law-and-order vote could be split between its two candidates, giving Lindsay another four years in City Hall and ending the anti-Lindsay majority to climbing the walls.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Diabetes

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you say something about incipient or borderline diabetes in the hospital camp, suggest it could go the other way. Procaccio is emotional, highly excitable and inclined to sprinkle his public utterances with metaphors and prophecies. It might very well happen that some Democrats and others who oppose Lindsay's City City establishment will decide that Marchi more closely approaches the image they desire to have a healthy baby in the absence of any known factors that would prevent it. At 40 or older, the risks of a defective fetus are somewhat greater than for younger mothers, but this is a matter of percentages and averages. The majority of babies born to older mothers still are healthy. Note to R.A.F.: No, there's no known cure for epilepsy. However, medication is of course very effective in preventing convulsions. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and several of his friends are in construction work and is against the rules to smoke. They all either chew tobacco or use snuff. I am sure that it is just as bad for their health as smoking. Please give us your advice on this. —Mrs. W.H. Chewing tobacco and snuff certainly do not cause the lung irritation that cigarette smoking does, but I have not seen any definitive answers on other aspects of this problem. I am sure chewing cause more stomach irritation? I do not know. How much irritation in the mouth results from snuff? Again, I do not know. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why should a diabetic not use iodine? Could such a person use iodized salt? —Tincture of iodine can be irritating to the skin, and diabetics should avoid any such irritation, because their skin heal as readily from minor injuries or irritations. There are, of course, plenty of non-irritating antiseptics available, so it's no problem. Iodized salt, which contains very tiny traces of potassium iodide, is perfectly safe to use. Note to Mrs. R.J.: Yes, fibroid tumors of the uterus sometimes do interfere with pregnancy, but certainly not always. Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read the "Thosteson's booklet," "Your Kidneys... Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling. Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Official City and County Newspaper... ## Audio Testing Nearly Done At Headstart

Audio and articulation testing will be completed next week at the Twin Falls Headstart Center, according to Ann Kaster, Headstart coordinator. After the testing is completed in Twin Falls, the volunteer workers will move their equipment to Murtaugh, Hansen and Burley. Mrs. Kaster said approximately 210 children will be tested. Six children with hearing problems have already been referred to the Enster Seal Center here, she said.

The equipment is being provided by Merle Stoddard at the Enster Seal Center and by Millie Nelson, public health nurse for Cassia County.

Mrs. Kaster thanked the volunteers who have assisted in the program. They are: Ben Schultz, Mildred Fairbrother and Phyllis Gerber, all Twin Falls; Helen Rich, Burley; Sheri Mueller, American Falls; Ida Kwanan, Declo; and LaNora Bunce, Rifer. The volunteers took training from Mrs. Stoddard before starting the testing.

Mrs. Kaster said the purpose of the audio and articulation tests and other tests are to eliminate some of the preliminary work for the doctors when the Headstart children have their physicals.

She gave a special thanks to Dr. E. M. Wright, a local pediatrician, who has donated his time to the program in an advisory capacity.

HEYBURN—A three-way contest for two council seats exists in Heyburn for the upcoming municipal election Nov. 4.

Vying for the council positions against incumbents Robert Hambleton and Earl Rose, is William Hellewell, a former councilman.

Mr. Rose is finishing his first term and has lived in Heyburn since 1935. He worked with the Fish and Wildlife, trapping predatory animals for a while before moving to Heyburn and entering the timber selling business. He presently cuts and sells fence posts and corral poles.

Mr. Rose served in the Navy for three years and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

"I would like to see the installation of storm sewers, sidewalks and perhaps water systems for Heyburn. I feel the property value in the city would improve. I feel Heyburn is progressing but it will take time," Mr. Rose noted.

Born and raised in Jerome, Mr. Hambleton has lived in Heyburn since 1963. He has served on the council for two years and said he is "interested in the town and in putting over ideas of things I feel will make Heyburn grow."

Mr. Hambleton is presently a field man for Volvo Builders; is a member of the Heyburn Lions and active in the Cub Scout program.

He also served four years in the U. S. Navy.

Mr. Hellewell was born and raised in Heyburn and, after attending county schools, spent a year at Idaho State University. He then served for three and a half years with the Air Force during World War II. After spending another 15 years in the trucking industry, Mr. Hellewell is presently employed as maintenance superintendent of the Mindoka County Schools.

He served for about five years on the council, from 1949 to 1954, and was chairman for three of those years. As to why he decided to run again, he said "I want to be a part of the progress of the city. I have no objections to the present board but I feel a few things need doing and I'd like to be a part of doing them."

Fire Bomb Injures Two In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—An incendiary device concealed in a cigarette pack exploded after business hours in Macy's department store Tuesday evening, slightly injuring two detectives called to dismantle it.

Police were unable to furnish any information about the tiny fire bomb except to describe it as being almost identical to five others which exploded in the huge 34th Street store Saturday night to Sunday morning.

The store police carried the bomb, found in the pocket of a man's coat on a rack on the second floor, to the stairwell of the nearest fire exit.

Glenns Ferry Board Fights Road Routing

GLENN'S FERRY—The proposed routing of Interstate 80N, bisecting the Glenns Ferry school district, had drawn strong protest from the district board of trustees.

In a recent regular meeting, the trustees voted to ask Supl. George Powell to request the State Department of Highways to consider retaining farm-to-market roads in the Pasaden Valley, Paradise Valley and King Hill areas, instead of serving them with the Interstate Highways.

Department of Highways personnel will conduct a public hearing on the Interstate routing in the Glenns Ferry area on Oct. 27.

The trustees also voted to contact the federal Bureau of Public Roads, reiterating three stipulations on the Interstate routing, and adding a fourth. The district's position is that a safety factor is involved in separation of the school and the town by the highway; that the district will lose assessed valuation if the highway follows the proposed river route; that there will be disruption of school bus routes if the highway is moved north of the school building, and that the district must be present by a proposal to construct a second railroad crossing between Slick's crossing and Alkali Creek.

Copies of the letter to the Bureau of Public Roads will also go to the regional highway administrator and to J. William Steen, a member of the Glenns Ferry Highway Commission.

Judge To Speak

FILER—Probate Judge Richard Reed will speak on drug use in this area at the Filer PTA meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Elementary school.

Mrs. Roger Vincent, program chairman, said all parents and interested persons are invited with a special invitation extended to young people. Kathy McCandless will present musical numbers.

Sen. Church's Bill Asking Ike Dollars Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Senate Wednesday passed and sent to the House legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, requiring minting of a new silver dollar honoring the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Rep. McClure Denies Charge On Coin Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Western lawmakers stood accused today of seizing a dollar memorializing Dwight D. Eisenhower as a vehicle to drive up the silver price at the expense of consumers.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and Rep. James A. McClure, Idaho, introduced a congressional push to give the Eisenhower dollar 40 per cent silver content, strongly denied.

"It is somehow beneath the dignity of a great president like General Eisenhower to withhold silver from the coin," McClure told the House Wednesday.

senators favor minting of a silver dollar as opposed to a coin containing no silver.

Church said during debate on the issue, "Silver is the essence of a prestige coin. The enhanced clarity which can be achieved with silver as a raw material."

He explained the proposed silver-dollar-minting would utilize existing supplies of silver available in the treasury and now being sold as surplus by the federal government.

Navy Wives Denied Aid From Hanoi

PARIS (UPI) — Hanoi diplomats told two U.S. Navy wives from Virginia and a Pennsylvania mother Wednesday that the only way they could obtain a release of their relatives imprisoned in North Vietnam was to go home and instigate against their government.

Idaho & Salmon River Breaks
PRIMITIVE AREA STUDY

TWO PRIMITIVE AREAS in Idaho, covering nearly 1.5 million acres, are being considered for inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System. The map shows the 1,232,744-acre Idaho Primitive Area, and the 217,185-acre Salmon River Breaks Area, to the north of the Salmon River. Forest Service officials are asking for public opinion on placing the Primitive Areas in a somewhat more protected wilderness classification.

2 Gem Primitive Areas May Be Included In U.S. System

Possibilities of including two present primitive areas of Idaho in the National Wilderness Preservation System are currently under study by Forest officials. The Idaho Primitive Area and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Areas were named for study in 1968 and forest officials say the studies are now being made and will be followed by public hearings. In connection with the studies, the Forest Service is asking interested individuals and organizations to submit suggestions, recommendations or personal views on the future management of the Idaho Primitive Area and the Salmon River Breaks Primitive Area. The 1,232,744-acre Idaho Primitive Area is administered by the Intermountain Region and is located in the Boise, Challis, Payette and Salmon National Forests. The Salmon River Breaks area contains 217,185 acres and is just north of the Salmon River in the Bitterroot and Nezperce National Forests of the Northern Region of the Forest Service.

Regional Forester Neal M. Rahn, Missoula, Mont., and Regional Forester Floyd Iverson, Ogden, Utah, say the studies are designed to determine the suitability of these areas and contiguous terrain for inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System. Public response may be submitted to either Forest Regional office. Separated by the Salmon River, known as "The River of No Return," the areas will be reviewed in time for public hearings scheduled for late in 1971. The Wilderness Act, adopted in 1964, requires the Forest Service to study all Primitive Areas and hold hearings on the suitability of including them in the Wilderness system. The Idaho Primitive Area was established in 1931. It is rich historically and is of interest biologically and geologically. The Middle Fork of the Salmon River, flowing through it, was the center of an important era in Idaho history.

Buhl Slates Homecoming Parade, Game

BUHL — A bonfire pep rally Thursday evening will begin homecoming activities for the Buhl High School. The rally will begin at 8 p.m. at the West End of town. Field reports Gary Loomis, homecoming chairman. Classes will compete in furnishing wood for the bonfire. Queen candidates are Janette Carter, Holly Eddy, Kay Freeman, Kim Hahn, Kris Harmon, Beverly Iverson, Cheryl Keeney, Nancy Kokes, Kala Marins, Terry McManam, Shirley Meier, Connie Montgomery, Joyce Nohak, Audrey Thionan, Teresa Wagner and Ann Watson. The queen will be crowned during halftime ceremony played here Friday night with Mountain Home. Friday's activities include a parade at 2 p.m. through the downtown area, featuring the queen candidates, class and club floats and high school band and drill team. Prizes will be awarded for the best class and club float and decorated car. The game begins at 8 p.m. with a dance to follow.

'ARMY' CHIEF NAMED PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Salvation Army Lt. Col. Frank Moss has been named commander of the organization's Oregon — Southern Idaho Division.

SHOWN ON THE MAP IS THE approximate site of a new 1.5 million kilowatt, coal-fired steam generating complex, as well as transmission systems and related terminal facilities located largely in Idaho. Idaho Power Co. has announced it will build the system jointly with Pacific Power and Light Co. The first of the plant's three, 500,000 kilowatt generators will be built for Idaho Power and will start production by 1974, while the other two will go into service for Pacific Power in 1975 and 1978. Three new 345,000 volt transmission lines will tie the plant to Idaho Power's system, two at a new substation near American Falls and the other at a new substation near Pocatello. Idaho Power President Albert Carlson said paying investment in Idaho will ultimately be greater under the joint venture because Pacific Power's expenditure in transmission facilities to tie into Idaho Power's system otherwise would not be made. The new plant, he said, is being located close to large coal deposits to provide a reliable source of energy at the lowest possible cost. The generating complex, transmission lines and related terminal facilities and the coal-field development are estimated to cost about $300 million.

Boise Demands State Landscape Interstate Area

BOISE (UPI)—The City of Boise has brought legal action to force the state to pay for landscaping of the part of Interstate 80N inside city limits. City officials brought the action under the 1965 Highway Beautification program passed by the Congress and a law passed by the State Legislature in 1966. In their complaint they contend the state had refused to landscape portions of the Interstate within the city, demanding the city do the work. City officials claim state law prohibits the city from spending tax money for state highways. The suit was the second filed by Boise officials this week. On Monday, the city challenged the right of county commissioners to tax residents of the city for the county road system.

Taxpayers' Revolt On Soaring School Taxes Forces Reappraisal Of Financing Methods

By FREDERICK H. TRESH
United Press International

The cost of running a school system is soaring—at the rate of $100 per pupil each year in some places. Property taxes collected by local districts have gone consistently upward, possible about as far as they can go in many districts.

A taxpayers' revolt already has sent hundreds of school boards and bond issues down the drain across the country. In Fremont, Ohio, for example, a budget defeat is forcing the school system to close Nov. 14 to the first of next year.

Clearly, something has to give.

In Michigan, Gov. William G. Milliken has proposed that the state take over the entire cost of education from local districts. A statewide property tax, which varies from $10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in some communities to $34 to $36 in others, would be levied on taxable property ranging from as low as $3,000 per child in the poorest districts to as much as $8,000 in the wealthiest.

Spending in the districts per child varies from $300 to $1,000.

In reporting the recommendations of the educational finance commission to the people of Michigan Sept. 30, Milliken said:

"We want to even things out. The question is not to think a child in one district is worth only half as much as a child in another. Furthermore, the commission believes that property tax relief is essential."

Senators Accuse Nixon Of Variance On Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration has been accused of forcing school integration in the South while permitting segregation in Northern cities to avoid political trouble.

"You haven't tried and your predecessors haven't tried" to desegregate northern school systems, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., told Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The administration generally has decided to force school integration in the South and to use the tactic of filing lawsuits to get courts to force integration in the North, a tactic that often takes several years to complete.

Finch came to a Senate appropriations subcommittee to testify against two House-passed amendments that would permit "freedom of choice" assignments and said HEW school desegregation plans and rules, Finch testified the amendments "could seriously jeopardize the substantial progress we have made in school desegregation."

But Stennis said the administration inherited and continued a policy of "less than full integration" to "concentrate desegregation efforts on the Old Confederacy."

Finch, Stennis and said HEW school desegregation teams are surveying Chicago, San Francisco and New Jersey. "We are addressing ourselves to an national problem here," he said.

Safety Panel Cites Need Of Seat Belts

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Traffic Safety Commission said that a study of the first 213 traffic fatalities in Idaho in 1968 showed 59 per cent were ejected from their vehicles because seat belts were not used.

The commission also said that in no instance in the last two years did a driver or passenger in an individual have been ejected when wearing a seat belt.

The results of a Labor Day survey in Idaho Falls indicated that 77 per cent of all vehicles had seat belts, 34 per cent of vehicles with seat belts used them, 20 per cent of all vehicles were equipped with seat belts, and 15 per cent of all drivers and passengers were not using seat belts.

In the statewide study, 60.9 per cent of the fatalities were ejected from their vehicles when seat belts were not available and 39.1 per cent were not ejected.

Nixon Hopes For War End Before 1972

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon believes the major factors in ending the Vietnam War—Vietnam War, inflation and crime—will all be eased by the time his present term ends in January 1972.

The President plans an address on inflation later this week, details of which were given to the White House Sunday night during a meeting for the Associated Press Board of Directors. The transcript was made public Tuesday.

Nixon said:

"Inflation... will have been checked because we went in at the heart of the problem and started working on it long before this winter in order that we could have smoother sailing later."

Crime will have been checked because the Congress has to pass the crime bills. "The Congress can be political about this, but the crime problem is one area they will come up to."

Lewiston Will Receive Jets Of Air West

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI)—Lewiston will join the WestJet project airt. Dale W. Moore, who is in charge of the modernization of the airport facility in Lewiston, Idaho, said Tuesday.

Air West is scheduled to land a DC9 jet Oct. 26 to inaugurate non-stop service between this area and Los Angeles, Calif. It will be the first time a commercial jet aircraft has landed here.

Telephone Crews End Brief Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Telephone Company installers and repairmen here ended a brief strike Wednesday after a brief wildcat work stoppage Tuesday in protest against company policies involving job assignment in the city's high crime neighborhoods.

The walkout started with about 200 men in a East Manhattan area shortly before noon Tuesday and spread to other plants in Manhattan for a total absenteeism of about 1,000 men during the afternoon.

Company and union spokesmen said:

Banquet Slated

SIOSHIONE—At the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday noon, members decided to have their Farmers' Night banquet in early spring, pending planting and first crop of hay. In order to use the facilities at the Mary L. Goding park and the purchase food items in Shoshone, the Chamber banquet and election date will be set later.

Ideas On Vietnam Differ As Moratorium Is Observed On Campus At Idaho State

those of Dr. Stern and Mr. Pugh.

Dr. Donald Hopps, who was moderator, said that "we have a President but we do not have a leader."

Dr. Tim McDonald, history professor, said among other things that the moratorium is to show President Nixon that his policies are not to be tolerated.

Chris Mabbutt, moratorium chairman and a student, said that it was both a denunciation and a protest.

After the session he told this Times-News writer that the movement at Idaho State "fied in" with the national movement and that a real, coordinated and closely planned protest would come in December and nationwide on Nov. 13 and 14.

"More public awareness is planned," he said. Several other speakers were heard during the more than two-hour discussion session and there was much comment from the floor during question and answer periods.

At times the discussion was spirited and at times it was dull but there was no doubt about one thing: That was that a lot of steam was let off but there is every indication there is much more left in the teakettle.

The pertinent quotations from speakers and others participating gives a keen insight into the thinking about this war in which the United States has been engaged for nine years and which has cost the lives of more than 40,000 American fighting men.

The random thoughts:
... The war is not supported by the Vietnamese people.
... Perhaps the continuation of the war is to save the President's personal vanity.

... We are here for a high and a serious purpose.
... The country is at a crossroads.
... This war is an insult to the United States.

... The President cannot maintain his trust and leadership by his present attitude.
... A President must draw on the strength of the people.

... This moratorium is just the beginning.
... What will happen to South Vietnam if we take all our troops out at once will be no different than what will happen eventually.

... North and South Vietnam must some day be unified.
... The American people must come to the realization they cannot fight all the wars of the world.

... The only way to have peace is to resist aggression. I back the efforts being made by President Nixon.
... It is right to protest but trying to protest if you have no workable solution.

... We should stay and fight.
... We must not tie his (Nixon's) hands in this manner.
... Because President Nixon is the head of the greatest nation on earth he isn't free to say and express himself as some of us do.

... Americans (the leaders) have come to believe they are responsible for the welfare of everyone since Christ.
... It is our right to question our government.

... President Nixon will probably be thrown out of office unless he wins the war before 1972.
... We are in a revolutionary age when we throw Presidents out.

... President Johnson was thrown out whether he knew it or not.
... It is a privilege to live in this country and if you don't love it then leave it.

... Meratorium Day pictures at Focastello were taken by Times-News Photographer Dan Johnson.

In a simple ceremony at the base of a flagpole near the Union building, with the flag of the United States and the flag of the State of Idaho waving overhead, names of Idahoans killed in Vietnam were read. Listeners were told there were more than 100 of them.

So far as the "boycott" of classes was concerned it was the official University rule that students would not be urged to attend the various moratorium

Family Is Thankful After Fire

A grateful Twin Falls mother expressed thanks today on behalf of her family:

The James Corak family lost their home and all of their clothing, furniture and other possessions a week ago when fire spread through their frame home at 305 Madrin St.

Now, just one week later, Mrs. Corak said, her husband and their three children are starting over in another home, adequately furnished and with clothing for all.

"We just want to tell the people of Twin Falls how grateful we are for their generous response," Mrs. Corak said.

She said calls began coming in shortly after the story of their plight appeared in the Times-News. As a result, bedding, clothing, furniture, household items of all types were donated.

The local woman said many of the people left their names and addresses with the donations. Most did not.

"The only way I can thank these people is to call on the newspaper again," she said.

—Frank Booth, Mountain States Realty who handled rental of the home in which the family lived, said another home has been located for them at 1690 Second Ave. E. and while it is small for a family of five, it is usable. About the only thing the family needs now, she said, is a chest of drawers.

Mrs. Corak said she is employed at Gibbs Potato and Onion Co., and fellow employees gave her a kitchen shower.

SENIORS AT Twin Falls High School were working late Wednesday night on their homecoming float, depicting 100 years of football. The homecoming will center around the football centennial theme this year, culminating with the Bruin-Idaho Falls game at 8 p.m. Friday at Bruin Field. The floats will be featured in a parade Friday afternoon which will go along Main Avenue, beginning at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Nixon Follows Lady Bird

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, following in the footsteps of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, her predecessor, Wednesday boosted beautification by presenting landscape awards to 15 industries.

The awards were made at a luncheon sponsored by the American Association of Nurserymen.

Mrs. Johnson accepted hundreds of trees and landscaping from nursery men during her White House years and always attended the awards luncheon. Plaquees presented included those to Casita Alamedas, San Leandro, Calif.; North Gate Shopping Center, San Gabriel, Calif.; the Oakland Museum, Oakland, Calif.; Sierra Park, Sunnyvale, Calif.; Standard Oil Co., of California, Los Altos, Calif.; the Davis campus of the University of California, Davis, Calif.; and the Intermountain Gas Co., Boise, Idaho.

Of 152 entries submitted this year from all over the United States, 15 were selected for recognition.

T. E. Homecoming To Honor "100 Years Of Football"

Twin Falls High School students are working late at night this week readying their floats for the homecoming parade Friday.

Each class is making a float under the 100 year football theme.

A pep assembly will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday and the parade will begin at 4 p.m. at Theisen Motors Inc. It will proceed along Main Avenue ending at Sears.

The parade will consist of the three floats, the high school marching band, pep club, drill team and the homecoming royalty. There will be a sophomore princess, junior princess, senior princess and the queen. They will be named Friday.

RELIEF FLOWN IN
BONN (UPI) — The West German air force has flown 150 tons of blankets, tents, clothing, shoes and medicine to flood-ravaged Tunisia, the defense ministry announced Wednesday.

The relief supplies were sent in response to an appeal from the Tunisian government for international aid following severe flooding from heavy rains.

Royal Dilemma

LONDON (UPI) — London's garbage strike finally hit the royal family. Private contractors were called in Wednesday to remove the mounting piles of rubbish at Buckingham Palace.

Independent garbagemen toted away sacks of rotting food, old tin cans, bottles, and wastepaper for the first time since the strike began three weeks ago.

"The firm was called in because of a definite health hazard," said a palace spokesman.

Soviet Fleet In Mediterranean Is Drastically Cut

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Mediterranean fleet, which numbered about 60 warships only a few weeks ago, has been reduced to a token force of about a dozen, Western defense sources said Wednesday.

The sources said the withdrawal came as a surprise. The Soviets made no announcement but the withdrawal of the bulk of the fleet was shadowed by Allied war and naval units.

Western defense sources said they assumed the Russians were pulling the units back to Soviet ports, perhaps for the winter, or were shifting them to other destinations, possibly in the Far East.

Whatever the reason, the sources said, it indicated Moscow apparently does not consider the situation in the Middle East to be as dangerously explosive as before.

Golden Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

EDEN — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Louder, Eden, were honored recently at a Golden Wedding Anniversary open house reception at their home on the Valley Road arranged by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Louder, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Louder and Robert Louder, Eden.

Granddaughters served, with Susan Louder in charge of the guest book. Jean Louder and Mrs. Bruce Kroll, both Boise, poured coffee and served cake. Also assisting with the serving were Mrs. V. H. Leshar, Twin Falls, pouring punch, and Mrs. Jerry Holter, Jerome, serving coffee and cake. Other assistants were Mrs. L. A. Widrig, Kimberly; Mrs. Phillip Cochran, Eden; Mrs. Jim Spillwood, Boise; and Mrs. Kenneth Louder, Salt Lake City, wife of their grandson.

Their three sons, 10 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter attended at the reception. One grandson, Roger Louder, who is in Hanover, N.H., attending Dartmouth College, was unable to attend.

The house was decorated with fall plants and arrangements received from local and out-of-state friends. Small wedding bells holding nuts and mints were given guests as favors.

Guests attended from Aberdeen, Bilts, Hazelton and Buhl and out-of-state guests included Mrs. Pearl Smith, Concordia, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilbeck, Mankato, Kan.; Mrs. R. R. Bolas and her granddaughter, Lyn Gannon, both Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Geiser, Minneapolis, Minn., who brought his mother, Mrs. George Geiser, an octogenarian, from Beloit, Kan., a former neighbor of the Louders.

After the reception, a family buffet supper was served.

CHERYL GARTNER

Cheryl Gartner Reveals Truth

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gartner, Filer, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Cheryl, to Bill Hatfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hatfield, Buhl.

A Nov. 29 wedding is planned at the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church.

Events

BURLEY — Golden Gleam Club will hold a dance at 9 p.m. Friday at the Odd Fellows Hall in Burley.

SHOSHONE — Civic Club will meet at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Howard Adkins. Assisting as hostesses are Mrs. Paul Jacobsen and Mrs. Marvin Cole. A program on Civil Defense will be given after which members will begin a project to distribute the Civil Defense bulletins in the community. This is one of the special community service projects the club will be doing this year.

Members of the Alpha Delta Kappa Society went to Pocatello for the district convention.

Songs from the 14th, 15th and 16th Centuries were presented during the convention concluding with highlights from the "Sound of Music" by a group of local professional singers, directed by Farris Edgley, music supervisor of the Pocatello schools.

Lela Harris, state president, gave a report of events at the national convention held in Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, Brenda, is our problem. All she thinks about are boys. Brenda is very mature for her age and has been wearing a 38 bra since she was 14.

Last semester, she failed two subjects so we sent her to summer school to make them up. Well, she had such a "groovy" summer she failed both subjects again.

This year we have laid down the law to her. Instead of letting her stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on week-ends, we told her she has to be in the house by 10 p.m. on school nights and 12:30 on week-ends. Now she has her dates pick her up at 6:30. Isn't she too early for a girl to be going out? Brenda says, since she has to be in by 11 she has to get an early start! What is your opinion?

National Appointment Noted

Mrs. Donald F. Youtz has been appointed to the National Federation of Music Clubs as a member of the National Junior Festivals Administrative Committee. She received her appointment through Mrs. Hinda Hoenigman, national president, and through Nelsine Neilsen, national Junior Festivals chairman.

Mrs. Youtz has been a student of music most of her life who she began the study of piano at the age of six. During her junior high school years she served as pianist for her Sunday school and during her three years of high school she was pipe organist for the Presbyterian Church. In 1962 she served as pianist for two young artists from Twin Falls who presented recitals of classical music. Mrs. David Mead and Mrs. Lloyd Walker, Mrs. Youtz was pianist for the first three Dilettante productions, "Carousel," "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Brigadoon." She continues her study of music at the Sun Valley Music Camp each summer.

Mrs. Youtz became a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, September, 1953, in Twin Falls, and has been an active member to date; serving in the local club as program chairman, Junior club counselor, American music chairman, Junior Festivals chairman, vice president and president. She is serving the local club as scholarship chairman and Gold Cup chairman. Her service in the State Federation has been as Junior counselor, vice president, president, Junior Festival chairman and for the past two years state scholarship chairman.

While scholarship chairman she has federated all universities and colleges in Idaho and has been instrumental in setting up scholarships to each of the schools for audition winners who are serious about studying music. One of her most recent projects is helping promote the Sun Valley Music Camp located at Sun Valley. The camp is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs and Mrs. Youtz has been appointed the scholarship chairman by Jacques Brouman, camp director. She presented the Sun Valley Music Camp faculty in three summer concerts in Twin Falls, with the proceeds going to scholarships to local students to attend the music camp.

Many hours of service have been donated to other organizations in Magic Valley including Twentieth Century Community Concert Association, Parent Teachers Association, Dilettante Group and the PFD Sisterhood. She was chairman of the Twin Falls Music Club's fund raising project to send the high school orchestra to the Northwest Music Educator's Conference in Eugene, Ore., and was also the Music Club's representative on the Education Task Force Committee.

MRS. DONALD YOUTZ has recently received appointment to the National Federation of Music Clubs board as a member of the National Junior Festivals Administration Committee. She received her appointment through Mrs. Hinda Hoenigman, national president, and Nelsine Neilsen, National Junior Festivals chairman.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID B. HIATT

Janet Flavel Is Bride Of David Hiatt

Wedding vows exchanged Aug. 23 in the First Presbyterian Church, Twin Falls, uniting in marriage Janet Kay Flavel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Flavel, Shoshone, and David Benton Hiatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hiatt, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Robert C. Harvey in an evening candlelight service. Baskets of pink gladiolus and chrysanthemums formed the background setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza floor-length wedding gown, fashioned with an empire waistline and an A-line skirt. Seed pearls trimmed the scalloped neckline. Her mantilla veil, fastened delicately to the headpiece, formed—the floor-length train. The bride carried a cascade bouquet centered with Phalaenopsis orchids, miniature roses and stephanotis.

Susan Flavel, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Carl Johnson, Twin Falls, and Beverly Brown, Boise.

Dennis Pitkin, Meridian, served as best man, with Mike Graves, Caldwell, and Capt. Lane H. Groves, Albuquerque, N. M., as ushers.

Mrs. Lane H. Groves, sister of the bridegroom, served as hostess at the reception held in the Fireside Room of the church, assisted by Mrs. Norris H. Livingston, Boise; Mrs. Robert E. Youtze, Twin Falls; Mrs. Thomas Gannon, Oakland, Calif.; Mrs. James-Brewington Seattle, Wash., and Linda Williams, Shoshone.

The couple reside in Twin Falls.

Scalp Skin May Alleviate Problem Of Facial Surgery

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Drs. Milton T. Edgerton and Fredrik C. Hansen say they have found a way to replace the bluish in the cheeks of a girl who has had facial skin grafts.

Edgerton said that in the past when a person needed a skin graft on the face the skin was borrowed from a leg or the abdomen. But the skin was usually not the same color as the old facial skin. Because there are fewer blood vessels in other areas of the body than in the face, the recipient lost the ability to blush.

However, the two doctors say they have now performed more than 10 operations using skin taken from the top of a person's head to replace burned or wounded skin tissue on the face.

News Of Record Flood Of Protests May Cancel Sale Of Alcatraz To Millionaire Lamar Hunt

JEROME COUNTY Clerk's Office
 Warrant deeds were filed by L'Harrison's Enterprises, Inc., to Billie J. Thompson and Richard G. Bloxham to Fred L. Hardin.

Probate Court
 Eldon Coleman, 21, Jerome, was sentenced to five days in county jail and fined $75 for procuring beer for persons under 20 years of age for a party in Jerome county.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors—staggering under the weight of thousands of coupons from citizens—is showing signs of scuttling an agreement with Texas millionaire Lamar Hunt over Alcatraz Island.

The supervisors will sit as the Surplus Property Commission next Monday and consider one proposal to rescind their 6-5 vote to negotiate with Hunt over lease terms and a second motion to reopen the future of the island to new proposals for six months.

A deluge of coupons and letters to city officials, primarily prompted by an ad in the city's major newspapers, is running well against the Hunt plan.

SHOWING VOID IN BLACKWOOD

One of the dividends from membership in the American Contract Bridge League is the monthly Bulletin. Today's hand is from an article on the Blackwood Convention written by Easley Blackwood, who is, obviously, the person most qualified to write about it.

The article is titled, "Avoiding Trouble With Voids." Easley points out that it is folly to count a void as an ace and that the prudent course for any expert experienced partnership is to ignore voids entirely in responding to Blackwood.

What should an experienced partnership do? They should simply show the correct number of aces but one level higher. Thus, six diamonds would show one ace and a void, six hearts two aces and a void, and so on. He then adds that you must be sure that partner will identify your void suit. We are going to take slight exception here. We show a void the same way Easley does, but our word is "A void that we consider valuable."

Looking at today's hand, we see that North's six-diamond bid fits both definitions. North certainly thinks that his spade void is valuable and that South will identify it easily. North is sure that South does not hold the spade ace, because South might have stopped to make a three-spade cue bid over North's three hearts.

As for South, he has a cinch to identify the void as being in spades, if he has bid clubs. If, by some miracle, North was void of clubs, the chances are that he would merely have bid spades and a void, six hearts two aces and a void, and South bids seven hearts and chucks up the grand slam.

A-Your minimum hand is looking up. Your partner is undoubtedly showing the spade ace and not spade support. Bid four hearts! This will show the ace-of-hearts, not real desire to play in hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to five diamonds. What do you do now?

Mix Beer And Milk To Cure Bad Hangover, Scribe Says

BLOODY MARY—Wasn't Mary Tudor the one who lost her head? Believe so. It was in honor of Mary Tudor that the alcoholic concoction known as the Bloody Mary was created. And since that event, it might be noted, several girls have lost their heads. In fact, many.

At any rate, a man of science named Dr. T. O. Tomlinson contends said gin drink is not the ideal medicine for the morning after as so frequently supposed. He recommends large quantities of beer and milk.

OPEN QUESTIONS—1. Why is the average American woman's voice pitched so much higher than the voices of women almost everywhere else in the world? 2. Just how much iron is actually in a pound of calf's liver anyhow? 3. What was the name of the only American ever to invent a music instrument used by the professional musicians? 4. In talking about their possessions, why are the rich men always so proud of what's old and the poor men always so proud of what's new? 5. How does it happen that girls in the Deep South still tend to marry about two years earlier on the average than the girls up north.

CONSIDER THIS—Are you acquainted with any woman who has the habit of fluttering her eyelids? If so, she is a bit inclined to be a hypochondriac. Dr. Leonard L. Lovshin of the Cleveland Clinic says he has found a significantly high proportion of eyelid flutterers complain about ailments which turn out to be psychosomatic.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q: "When did the knock-knock jokes first come out?" A: That was in 1968. And, in case of P. O. know, the first knock-knock joke ever told went: "Knock-knock." "Who's there?" "Olive." "Olive who?" "Olive you." Why that particular specimen brought on more knock-knock jokes is not known.

Q: "DO APES laugh?" A: Indeed they do. Definitely. That has been established.

Q: "WHAT PROPORTION of the population has blue eyes?" A: About a third.

LIBRA GIRLS tend to win most all their arguments. That is, if they really try. "Strong-willed" is how our Planet man describes them. He says they may occasionally lose at love, but they rarely lose at war.

Q: "WHAT PROPORTION of women undergo the same type of surgery is not noteworthy. What's noteworthy is far more women than men survive such similar surgery. Also, far more women than men survive accidents that seem the same.

BEAUTY—Truly beautiful women are extremely rare. However, this is not so unfortunate and the poor men always love and war man, because such women often have little else to offer. As old Dr. South still tend to marry the most beautiful things in the world are the most useless: penicillin and pills, for instance.

RAPID REPLY: No, sir, our Name Game man hasn't quit yet. Today he reports the Miami, Fla., telephone directory lists that BOTH MEN and women are Big, Weak, Short, Husky, Slim, Fat, High, Little, Strong, Long, Plump, Huge, Lean, and Low.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used wherever possible in "Checking Up." Address mail to L. M. Boyd, in care of P. O. Box 89187, Seattle, Wash. 98189.

Declo Shoots For Title, Buhl Hosts Tigers To Highlight Weekend Slate

Declo shoots for the Magic Valley Conference title at Raft River. Buhl hosts Mountain Home with a chance of clinching home a tie for the South Central Idaho Conference title and the Magic Valley loop crown in hand, having taken the edge in a showdown with Oakley last week. The SCIC race is a wild and hectic one with Jerome and Buhl undefeated, but Jerome having a tie, Mountain Home has a 1-1 record and only Wood River and Burley have two losses. Minico has the chance, although it is an underdog, of becoming the first team to whip a western division club.

On paper Declo rates a solid nod over Raft River but this is another of those intra-county games that arouses both sides. Raft River has shown the ability to move the ball and score. Declo has won five games by a touchdown or less.

Buhl carries an overall 3-2-1 mark into its battle with Mountain Home while the Tigers are 3-3-1. Coach Rod Hohnhorst, after scouting the Tigers last week, fears this game should have come a little earlier on the schedule.

"It appears Mountain Home has started putting it all together," he said. "Our scouts said they were impressive against Burley and they used a 30-point second half to beat Filer — both in the last two games. Up to that time they had had trouble moving the ball and scoring. I wish we could have had them in September," he smiled.

Buhl and Mountain Home both have won their last two games with the Indian defense starting to assert itself. It has allowed only 19 points in the last three games.

Minico is coming off an idle week and the annual harvest vacation, usually a debilitating thing that hampers the timing and performance of a club and specifically in the first half. Barry Rogers continues to fight for the Valley loop crown and ground rushing and the weeks off have helped somewhat in the injury department.

But Nampa will have an edge in depth and rates as the favorite.

A feature in the eight-man league will find the Richfield Tigers at Camas County in a rematch. Richfield won the first outing 26-18 but Camas County's stock took a definite rise when it held champion Carey to a tie last week.

Jerome, hoping it has solved its season-long scoring blues with the conversion of Meeks to quarterback, will be at Filer, where the Wildcats are trying to improve on a 2-4 record. Jerome is 2-2-2. The Tigers' 16-point effort against Emmett was the best of the year and marked Jerome's best showing from inside the 20-yard line.

The powerful Wendell Trojans will be home to the Kimberly Bulldogs in a Little Six Conference match and Coach Y. G. Behrens' crew is a solid favorite. Kimberly has picked up a three win, but only one in the league. Wendell is 0-5.

An air game might be in the offing when the Valley Vikings go to Quartz Lake to play the Oakley Vikings. The Vikings will put the ball up as Adams arm took the Hornets to within seven points of the Magic Valley loop title. Larry Rickman gives Valley a good air game but it is probable the Vikings will test the ground defenses first.

Glenns Ferry, with a six-game winning streak after an opening loss, will be at Shoshone for its final Little Six game before Oct. 31 showdown with Wendell. The Pilots are bigger and faster than Shoshone, which is 2-4, and although Coach Cecil Watson has only about 20 men suited up each game, for the first time he might have an edge in depth. Shoshone had only 15 men in uniform last week but Coach Bill Closson was hoping four of his wounded would be available by this Friday night.

Another of the hard-hit injury teams, will be home to Castletford for an afternoon battle. Coach Gordon Hogan says at times his team has needed a doctor and nurse more than a coach and he has been piecing-mealing a starting unit together virtually each week. Castletford posted its first victory last week, shutting out Rockland.

In the other Magic Valley game, Murtaugh, putting together three straight after a lackluster start, will host Rockland, which has lost five straight now. Murtaugh's underclassman backfield came up with some running last week to balance out the Devil attack.

In another rematch eight-man game, the Bliss Bears will host Dietrich and hope to make it two wins in a row. When the Bears nipped Dietrich 6-0 earlier, it marked the first Bliss win in four seasons. Speaking of depth, Dietrich doesn't have to worry too much about it. Coach George Trenkle has only one substitute available on the good days.

Carey, probably grinding a lot of that last week, will try to get back on its high scoring stride at Grant View against the Rimrock Raiders. Carey shelled the Raiders 54-6 earlier and that probably doesn't set too well with Rimrock.

The lone Saturday game of the week finds Gooding at Wood River in an afternoon battle. Gooding has been alternating win-a-lose-win and now is 3-3 while Wood River, which absorbed its first at-home loss last week under Coach Bill Bowman, is 2-4.

Honsteins Lead Harvest Doubles Meet

Maudie and George Honstein, in the mixed doubles, and Delone Morre and Mary Williams in the women's doubles, will carry the lead into the final weekend of the Twin Falls Women's Bowling Association harvest doubles tournament at the Magic Bowl Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Williams carved out a 124-3 score last week to take a big edge over Mosell Nora and Ruth Meyers, who are in second place with 117-0. They had just one pin to spare over Marvel Garrison and Ellen Warren.

In the mixed doubles, Mr. and Mrs. Honstein had 1216 against 1183 for Barbara and Tom Smith. Third place again was one pin off second with Grace Gray and Bob Watson firing an 1182.

Ruth Meyers posted a 194 for the top women's game so far while Ray Short of Gooding had a 209 to lead men entries through the first week. Deane Moore had a 330 for the top distaff series while Short's 577 lead the men.

Bruins Face Aerial Test With Idaho Falls Here Friday Night

A passing offense and a stunting defense will be the things the Twin Falls Bruins face Friday night when they host the Idaho Falls Tigers in a Southern Quarter Conference battle. Game time is 8 p.m. at Bruin Stadium.

Carrying a 1-5 record and fresh from securing a 140 third-quarter lead evaporate into a 27-26 loss at Caldwell, the Bruins will be facing a real test.

"Tom Moriarty has as good a pass as any high school quarterback I've seen, throws the ball well and will take a lot of punishment to complete a pass. He also is throwing to some tall, big, good receivers," Coach Norm Thomas says. "Idaho Falls will put on a passing show Friday night simply because it seems to become a little important with running even in the running game, it's picking up yardage."

Offensive line Coach Denny Almqvist said "their stunting will give our boys a lot of problems. It is the first real stunting defense we've seen and it is difficult to pick up the right man-to-block. One mistake per play and you don't get back to the line of scrimmage."

But the real test will come in the defensive secondary. "On match ups we have a boy 5-8 covering one 6-4 at one spot and one 5-9 covering another receiver of theirs who is 6-3. Our hope is that the front four give us some tremendous pass rushing. They run a lot of five-yard stuff, to the outside and inside, and then when they want the touchdown they throw to the slotback, Robinson, and he gets it," Coach Thomas said.

Looking at his Bruins, Coach Thomas said the Caldwell game was an enigma since both from the sideline and from the film. Twin Falls put forth its best consistent effort. "They scored the last time on a 65-yard play that could easily have been held to a 10-15 yard gain. But Bates just made three of our boys miss their tackles and that was that," he said.

Bullets Rally Late, Top Bulls

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore's sleeping offense came alive with hot-shooting Earl Monroe in the final 10 minutes of play Wednesday night as the Bullets opened their NBA season with a 98-93 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Monroe exploded for 12 points in the final quarter and finished with 26 points to lead all scorers. Gus Johnson, recuperating from a knee injury last year, hauled down 23 rebounds and contributed 18 points to the Bullets attack.

Jerry Sloan paced the Bulls with 21 points.

On the move: New Chevrolet Movers for '70

Chevy goes heavy! New Titan 90.
 Anybody can add a new truck to a lineup. Leave it to Chevy to add a truck — and a half — under the driver at the wheel.

Or one of the biggest sleeping compartments on the road to put under him when he's not on muscle.

So right for turnpike stretches. With any one of 9 diesels available to put under the driver at the wheel.

And a wraparound instrument panel that puts everything just a glance or fingertip away. Big, tough conventional chassis cabs. Lowest cost vans. Recreational vehicles.

Whatever you're thinking, your Chevrolet dealer's got it. And it's a Mover.

Chevy goes lively! New '70 pickup.
 The first thing a Chevy pickup has to move is you. And we never forget it.

It shows in the way our '70s look. In their coil spring smoothness. Car-like option lists. And all the ways they come: Fleetside, Stepside and Longhorn (the second car that doubles as a second home).

Chevy goes anywhere! New Wagon.
 Call it Chevrolet's convertible-station-wagon-car-truck if you've got the time. Or just call it Blazer for short.

It's the runabout with the largest V8's, widest track and roomiest interior.

Order it with removable hardtop. Two- or four-wheel drive for telling trails to get lost.

Reichert Has Fatalistic View On Throwing Error

NEW YORK (UPI) — Remember Ralph Branca? He sat stone cold in front of his locker, barely touching his muscle after Bobby Thomson ripped that famous pennant-deciding homer off him in 1951, but that was Ralph Branca, not Pete Reichert.

Reichert hit J.C. Martin on the left wrist with an errant 10th-inning throw that cost the Baltimore Orioles the fourth game of the World Series Wednesday and put the New York Mets up three games to one. But the dark-haired Oriole lefty wasn't going to throw himself in front of a train over it.

"What in hell can you do?" he said with fatalistic philosophy. "It's over and done with. You can't go out there and do it over or cry about it."

What happened was this: Martin laid down a bunt 10 feet up the first base line and it was a hoppy.

Reichert came tearing in from the mound and Elrod Fodricks, the Orioles' catcher, moved out to field it also, but Reichert beat him to the ball.

"I already had made my decision to pick it up and throw it," Reichert said. "It didn't surprise me. I know he's throwing it — my pitcher can hear different and with 87,000 people yelling, you can't hear a thing."

"Okay, so now I pick up the ball, I pick up Davey (Oriole second baseman) Dave Johnson (covering first), and I throw, then hit him (Martin) in the leg. But now they tell me he hit him on the wrist."

"It's not saying this as a cop-out, but I said the ball was in foul territory when it hit Martin."

Somebody wanted to know whether he thought Martin ran
