Storm Heads To Florida

PETE AVEDEO of Delacorte Island, La., looks up at the sunny skies over the little fishing community between the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico, as threatening weather splitting off the developing, Hurricane Laurie dissipates briefly. As the hurricane turned away from the Louisiana coast and headed east, Pete and other fishermen returned to work on the boats until they could return to the ocean. (UPI telephoto)

Laurie Loses Punch

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Laurie lost some of its punch and curved slightly southward in the Gulf of Mexico today, with winds up to 90 miles an hour at the southern tip of Florida about 300 miles away. The National Hurricane Center at Miami said the storm should strike land Thursday, but it was too early to tell where. Battered by a cool dry air mass that reduced Laurie's 100 miles an hour winds to 70 miles an hour, the season's 12th tropical storm howled eastward at 10 to 12 miles an hour early today. At 9 a.m. EDT, Laurie's center was located about 315 miles west-southwest of Ft. Myers on Florida's west coast. Hurricane warnings were hoisted from Everglades City, just north of the Tampa Bay area, to Cedar Key at the tip of Florida. "While the landfall of Laurie remains uncertain because of the shift in course during the night, the present course would bring the storm center into the Florida Bay area and extreme south Florida on Thursday," said the Hurricane Center. Small craft along the Florida coast should be in the lower keys eastward to Marathon were warned to stay in port. Craft in the keys northward to the Florida Panhandle should remain near safe harbor. For a time Tuesday the storm appeared to threaten the Mississippi and Louisiana coasts, but it veered away from the Gulf of Mexico and headed toward Florida.

FLORIDA STATE SEN. Tom Slade, of Jacksonville, on left, listens as his fiancée Corlis (Gorley) Mullins, 22, of Ft. Pierce, Fla., explains her encounter with a 12-year-old "air plane" aboard a Mexico-to-Miami airliner. The nervous young woman explained he had had to "ugly up" for the skyjacking by trimming his shoulder-length hair and cutting his beard. (See story, Page 5) (UPI telephoto)

Arab World Voices Anger At Lebanon

By United Press International The rest of the Arab world exploded in anger today against Lebanon for its crackdown on Arab guerrillas using Lebanese bases for attacks against Israel. "Anti-government" demonstrations erupted in Beirut and in Tripoli. The Israeli army "wherever it is stationed" at the disposal of the guerrillas, Iraq protested to Lebanon and sent a quarter of a million Arabs into the streets of Baghdad in an anti-Lebanon demonstration. "The guerrilla organizations blamed the Lebanese" crackdown on the United States, already under Arab attack for permitting its citizens to serve in the Israeli armed forces. There were new cries of "aggression" and threats in Cairo to bring in Russian and Chinese troops for the Arabs. Guerrillas today blew up three residential apartment buildings in the Israeli port city of Haifa. Israeli warplanes strafed Egyptian military targets on the west bank of the Gulf of Suez after Egyptian artillery killed two Israelis Tuesday night. Syria closed its borders with Lebanon and threatened to take "firmer and more effective measures" against its neighbor. Libya recalled its ambassador from Beirut and Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat ordered 1,000 commando reinforcements into southern Lebanon.

Three Sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three men who allegedly said "a bomb was aboard a commercial airliner," were sued Tuesday by the U.S. Government for $100 each. The defendants in the three separate civil suits were Timothy Stewart Noble, Huntington Beach; and Frank James McLaughlin and Marlon Virgil Sanders Jr., both of Fullerton. U.S. attorney Matt Byrne said his office would continue its policy of "vigorously seeking civil penalties against all persons who jeopardize the safety of an aircraft." The national network said "the government cannot but point out the grave damage which has been inflicted upon Chile's prestige and institutions and upon the army by this attempt against constitutional order, military discipline and constituted authority." Vinux's eight-point communique disclaimed responsibility for the bombing of the Chilean ship and constituted authority. "Vinux's eight-point communique disclaimed responsibility for the bombing of the Chilean ship and constituted authority."

Chile Revolt Ends In Vow Of Loyalty

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Gen. Robert Viaux called off his regiment's 22-hour revolt for more pay today, ending Chile's first military uprising in 37 years. Viaux proclaimed his "absolute loyalty" to President Eduardo Frei. "Viaux went on nationwide radio to announce that he had turned his rebel command over to a presidential envoy, Gen. Alfredo Mahu. The government said the general will be court-martialed. He was not arrested. The national network said "the government cannot but point out the grave damage which has been inflicted upon Chile's prestige and institutions and upon the army by this attempt against constitutional order, military discipline and constituted authority." ## Atlanta Taps Jewish Mayor, Negro Aide

ATLANTA (UPI) — Vice Mayor Sam Massell was chosen mayor of Atlanta Tuesday night in a bitter runoff election marked by charges of anti-Semitism. Mayor Jackson, a Negro, became vice mayor elect. When they take office in January, Atlanta will become the only Southern city to have a Jewish mayor and a Negro vice mayor. "It was a historic victory," said Massell, 42, who was accused of abuse of power in an eleven-hour attack by retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. Massell had rejected Allen's demand that he withdraw from the race. With all 149 precincts counted, Massell had 61,088 votes, or 55.5 per cent of the turnout, to 49,455 votes for moderate Republican Alderman Rodney Cook. Two Negro aldermen, Ira L. Jackson and Marvin Arrington, defeated white opponents in the runoff but another black candidate failed in a bid for a school board seat.

Red Ambush Halted As Yanks Reply

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. headquarters today reported 210 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in the latest round of attacks—34 of them were U.S. troops and armor turned the tables on two highland ambushes. Military spokesmen said a total of nine Americans died and 31 were wounded in the scores of skirmishes and Communist shelling attacks that dotted the command's war map Tuesday and this morning. Five flights of B-52 bombers followed up the fighting with two raids within a half mile of the border Demilitarized Zone, one in the Central Highlands near the ambush sites and two north of Saigon. The battle toll that began six weeks ago was still considered an effect, with Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., saying in Washington that U.S. forces already were observing a virtual unilateral cease-fire.

Bom Regime Seats 15 In Cabinet

BERLIN (UPI) — West Germany today swore in a new 15-man cabinet pledged to a foreign policy promoting better ties with the Communists and attempts to find broader agreement than now exists on the chief issues before the synd. The three bishops made their proposal after the synd. in its first vote, decided to defer any action during the current synd. resulting disputes over doctrinal aspects of collegiality—the sharing of authority by Pope and bishops.

Bishops Ask Answers To Church Woes

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Three bishops urged today that the World Synod of Bishops recommend concrete solutions to the problem of authority in the Roman Catholic church instead of simply dealing in general principles. A Italian press spokesman said his proposal was likely to lead the synd again to break into small working groups, as did last weekend, in an attempt to find broader agreement than now exists on the chief issues before the synd. The three bishops made their proposal after the synd. in its first vote, decided to defer any action during the current synd. resulting disputes over doctrinal aspects of collegiality—the sharing of authority by Pope and bishops.

Libraries In State Need More Money

JEROME—The Idaho Library Association hopes to convince the Legislature that the only way libraries in the state can continue to serve the public is to be granted more money. State Treasurer, assistant librarian at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, and member of the state library group's legislative committee, made the statement at the eighth annual fall workshop for librarians and trustees of Region IV Tuesday at the Jerome library. The event, attended by some 35 librarians and trustees, was headed by the Jerome Civic Club Memorial Library. Helen Miller, Idaho State Librarian, described how funds from the federal government can be used including the building of new buildings throughout the state. She cited the "book by mail" service instigated in

Court Dismisses Forgery Charges

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — One count of forgery and grand larceny have been dismissed against two men charged in the theft of more than $600,000 from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Third District Court Judge D. Frank Wilkins Monday dismissed the two counts against LaMar Edward Kay, 40, and Seldon Clarence Darrow, 31, both of Salt Lake City.

Air Bill

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The Clark County board of commissioners is getting impatient about collecting $150,000 allegedly owed the county by Air West. The board discussed possible action against the airline, including attaching its planes or excluding the line from McCarran International Airport and getting another line to take over Air West's routes. Aviation Director Earle Taylor told the commissioners that Air West owes the county for landing fees and other expenses at the airport. He asserted that the line owes similar fees to other airports.

City Prepares To Go Ahead On Annexation Of Fringe Areas

By FRED DODDS Times-News Staff Writer The Col. Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken outlet is dead, for now, but the Twin Falls annexation issue is very much alive. "It all happened during a second meeting of the Twin Falls city Council Tuesday afternoon at city hall. The most important announcement of the day was when Mayor Egon Kroil said the city has worked out its plan for annexation. A detailed map of the amended annexation area will be published in the Times-News soon. The amended area does not include as much land as the original plan. Basically it includes the Northwest part of the city centered around Falls Avenue West, the Northeast Heights and Nebeker subdivisions; Canyon Creek subdivision and adjacent areas on Eastland Avenue West; the Northeast Drive north of Kimberly road; the Clinton Earl Subdivision south of the Kellwood plant property, and adjacent areas and finally the industrial area in the vicinity of the Longview Fibre Co. The KMAV property will be subject to annexation. In other business, the council voted 4-3 to deny rezoning of property in the 100 block of Shoreline Street East-to-the-City. Col. Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken outlet to be built there. Several people, including former councilman C. McIntyre, appeared to protest. Nineteen signatures on a protest petition were also presented to the council Monday night. Mr. McIntyre represented a client in the matter. He is an attorney. After considerable discussion, Councilman John Angerman made a motion to deny the request for a zoning change. The outlet wanted the area changed from residential-professional to commercial local. The change was needed in order that the outlet could be built there. Volving "yes" Mr. Angerman, Councilmen Frank Cook, George Bennett and Mayor Egon Kroil. Volving "no" See COUNCIL, Pg. 2, Col. 3

Construction Starts On Airport Runway

Construction work at the Twin Falls City-County Airport got under way today with extension of the main east-west runway as the priority item. Funds being utilized from federal funds being utilized from the improvement in being made under contract to Long Pine Equipment Co., of Kimberly. Total expenditure, which will include high intensity approach lights, taxi-way and runway markings, will be in the neighborhood of $300,000. Target date for completion of the runway extension, permitting Air West DC-9 jumbo jets to land here, is mid-December, to coincide with opening of the Sun Valley winter season. The airline is utilizing Twin Falls as the Sun Valley gateway and is sponsoring special ski flights from Los Angeles into Twin Falls with the remainder of the trip to the northern resort by special bus. At a schedule briefing Tuesday in the city hall, it was announced the runway plans call for completion of that phase in 40 working days. The project will be on a weather permitting schedule. Completion of the lighting and other work is scheduled for a total of 60 days.

BOISE (UPI) — Daniel E. Elguazabal, 27, Boise, died early today in a one-car accident 12 miles east of Boise on Interstate 20. The driver, who was driving at excessive speed when his left rear tire blew out, died shortly thereafter. Completion of the lighting and other work is scheduled for a total of 60 days.

Green To Stay

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The National Girl Scout convention voted overwhelmingly Tuesday in favor of keeping the organization's traditional symbol of friendship. Actually, the vote was against a proposal to change the organization's symbol to a study whether or not it should continue to require uniforms.

Jerome Opens Garbage Hauling Bids

JEROME—Bids for the city's garbage collection for the next two years were opened Tuesday night at the City Council meeting here, but action has been delayed. Mayor Earl Greenwald asked for the delay so the bids could be studied, then discussed at length. Bids for garbage and trash collection from about 1,400 residences on a weekly basis, were from: George Silver Jr., $15,580; Russ Simpson, $1,100 a month; E. and L. Trucking Co., $17,640; Don Williams, $16,985, and the E. I. de a Corp., $14,280. The amount is annual amount. ### Radiation Levels Reported Low In AEC's Report

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — A report issued by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission Tuesday said operation of the National Reactor Testing Station "did not contribute significantly to environmental radiation levels."

The report, covering the period from July to December of 1968, said all levels of radioactivity remained well below the Atomic Energy Commission's standards for radiation projection.

The report indicated that the yearly concentration of gross Alpha radioactivity in Idaho Falls was 34 per cent higher than the previous year and said "investigations are underway to find the source of this higher gross Alpha concentration in Idaho Falls."

Electoral College

Pollsters are well aware that how the question is put can affect the answer. They know, too, the pitfalls of over-simplification. A recent Gallup poll came up with 81 per cent (of 1530 sampled) in favor of doing away with the electoral college and basing the election on total of all votes cast for President. The question: "Now, you approve or disapprove of an amendment to the Constitution which would do away with the electoral college and base the election of a president on the total vote cast throughout the nation?"

The answer to the Gallup question could be "Yes, I approve" without endorsing the amendment as voted by the House and which has yet to be approved by the Senate and 38 state legislatures before it can become effective. The great majority of voters do favor a radical change but we must have one that gives positive assurance of working better than the one we have used successfully for almost 200 years. Direct national popular voting for President almost surely would not work so well. First, it would give enormously increased effect to the vote in two score urban clusters where most of the population resides, while taking from smaller states all effective voice. It would put a tremendous prize up for grabs in areas known to have been corrupt in past elections. It would regionalize campaigning, candidates' thinking with emphasis upon the largest cities and states, and scant regard for the virtually voiceless states of relatively low population. This goes against the original grain of this union, as one of many states, and in our opinion, it goes against the grain of common-sense and the common good.

On The Penny

Mary T. Brooks didn't waste any time digging in to her new job as director of the United States Mint. At her swearing-in ceremony she not only revealed to the public that another coin - the penny - has gone into hiding, but hinted she was particularly fond of the idea of minting an Eisenhower silver dollar while the pennies were missing. One can hardly blame the nation's 28th mint director for her adamant position. Who would want to work all day turning out bright, shiny coins only to have an unprecious public hide them in a closet. There just aren't that many coins left. First to disappear was the old silver dollar, which hasn't been seen in circulation for a number of years. It was followed shortly by the half dollar, which is seen only rarely and then usually is handed out by someone who waits expectantly for a special thank you for including it in change.

Now it is the penny. They are still around, of course, but apparently not in the quantities the new director would like to see. Apparently she hasn't tried to buy anything for a special thank you. About the best purpose the penny serves today is to be put in a bureau drawer waiting for the day it can be substituted for a lost piece on a checker board.

MR. SPECTATOR

Only The Cast Changes

Ken Mann, who is the "big noise" down at the Mountain Bell office, sent Mr. Spectator an interesting article that appeared in the recent issue of the Northwest Region of Western Electric's Employee House Organ publication. It is interesting, among other things, because it first was written 25 years ago by Walter W. Seifert when he was a student editor at Ohio's Kent State University. Now 55 and associate professor of Journalism at Ohio State University, Mr. Seifert says that the article, written as a note to his father and published as a school editorial - seems to prove beyond all doubt that though players change, the central themes remain quite constant. So, thanks to Mr. Mann, here's the article written to Dad 25 years ago: Dear Dad: Last time I was home, you said some significant things about my interest in radical proposals for a new social order. When you told me I was too young for such opinion on such matters, you insinuated that your generation is better qualified to find "the way out" than mine. I question this assumption. I do not believe that those who led us into mess are capable of leading us out. Dad, believe me when I say that I am indebted to you for paternal love and protection, but believe me also when I say that my generation holds in contempt the colossal social, economic, and political blunders which you perpetuated. As we survey the worthless heritage of crime, war, poverty, and greed, we unite in shouting, "We will have none of it. There must be a second Renaissance." And we scrutinize our entire inheritance to find the true value of these institutions. If you say our sin is lack of respect, then we can answer, "Veneration was your sin."

I answer, "Men are starving today in the shantytowns of your rotting granaries and hog-butchered establishments. Dad, Under your system privation increases in proportion to the increase in production." "Hold fast to the religion of your fathers," you warn, and I cannot help wondering, "Has that religion lessened hatred, crime, war, and suffering in its Twentieth Century trial? Are its fundamental concepts philosophical sound?" Dad, our young people are admittedly a skeptical crowd. What we have lost in the comfort of blind faith, we have gained in the assurance of empirical, scientific reasoning. If this fact-faceted attitude be heresy, you may style us "heretics." If we worship reality instead of sublimity, you may say that we are fools. If science has altered our moral convictions, and if our new freedom conflicts with your age-old prohibitions, then you may consign us to your fiery hells. But one thing is certain, Win or lose, right or wrong, we are beginning to think through these things. We are trying to see "beyond our noses;" we are striving to build a better world. In that struggle we ask your cooperation, realizing that your youthful ambition, coupled with your aged perspective, is in the one combination which can solve the riddle of these times. Well - how about it, Dad? GIVEAWAY DEPT. We have a mother dog (part Beagle) and five puppies we must give away. The father is a small dog. Please call 733-8117. Three kittens - five months old - and one cat to be given away. All are "outside cats." Call 733-7465 after 5 p.m. We have four adorable long-haired kittens to give away. They are house cats and have been house trained. Please call 733-8881 anytime during the day. We have five darling kittens and two female rabbits to give away. CLEVELAND — If they had gotten their way, the Cleveland establishment of bankers, merchants, and steel executives would have ruled out any Republican at all opposing Democratic Mayor Earl Stokes, the first Negro mayor of a major city, for reelection. The evidence of this came in a hugely successful fund-raising dinner for Stokes last April whose sponsors included some of Cleveland's most powerful Republican businessmen. In addition, such prominent community leaders as Kent Smith, who raised $150,000 for Richard M. Nixon in the 1968 Presidential campaign, argued quietly that Stokes should be handed a second term in the interest of racial harmony.

What the establishment wanted was to buy racial peace by giving Stokes a free pass, thus hopefully eliminating a law-and-order backlash campaign against Stokes. Such a campaign would raise the city's racial tensions to explosive levels. With the racial violent crime still climbing and white police officers in open revolt, those tensions are dangerously high right now. But Robert Hughes, Republican city chairman, would not buy that mess of political potage. On the same April evening that the establishment honored Stokes at $100 a plate, Hughes put on five $8-cent dinners around town. With 5,000 Republicans attending, Hughes lost money—but made his point that the Republican party wanted a mayoral candidate. As Hughes saw it, one sure way to attract a law-and-order candidate against Stokes was to follow the establishment's advice and leave the Republican line open for anybody to grab. The one sure way to prevent a law-and-order candidate—similar, for example, to Charles Stenvig, the former police detective who was elected mayor of Minneapolis with a huge majority — was to field a serious Republican candidate, eschew any further emotion, and campaign against Stokes on his record. The candidate that Hughes backed is Cynthia County Auditor Ralph Perk, who in 1962 captured 40 per cent of Cleveland's black vote and ran well behind James Rhodes, champion Ohio vote-getter. An ethnic (Zech) Republican in a city that is 60 per cent white and 40 per cent black, Perk is a "blue collar" democrat of a poetry teacher. At a meeting of volunteer workers here, he laid down his line: "The issue is Stokes' record — nothing else. There will be a public reprimand from me," he said, "if the issue of race is raised in any form, so far, except for a smattering of anti-black hate literature not visibly connected with Perk's headquarters, which has been kept out of the campaign. In refusing to follow the route of the hard-core Stenvig or Rhodes party forty in his Los Angeles reelection campaign, Perk has the same motive as did the establishment last spring in backing Stokes; the fact that if a white man should defeat Stokes on an anti-black campaign of law-and-order, the city of Cleveland would become ungovernable. With its huge Negro population, Cleveland is unlike other Northern cities — Minneapolis, Los Angeles, or even New York City — where the white backlash, centered on blue-collar voters, has been so exploitable. That must be a safe enough formula in Minneapolis, only 4 per cent black. Here it could be suicidal. Having set the prosaic tone of his campaign against the charismatic Stokes, Perk is now attacking the mayor's record. Perk is a middle-class, middle-class white voter who gave Stokes his 1,600-vote margin over Republican Seth Talt in 1967. In a uphill fight, that he has assets Talt never had. For example, Stokes has lost the backing of powerful black moderates such as Dr. Kenneth Clement. They claim Stokes has yielded too much to black militants like Ahmed Evans, now sentenced to death for murdering a policeman. More important, the exciting quality of Stokes' 1967 race, when Martin Luther King came here to help, is missing. Some whites who backed Stokes to assuage subconscious guilt feelings may desert him now. But to win, the Republicans need a huge white vote, no easy matter in this unexciting campaign. Whatever happens Nov. 4, however, the campaign has proved so far that the Negro city can be waged without raising tensions in a place already tormented by racial emotions. Here, the backlash is being consciously suppressed. Leaving the White House after a somber 10-minute talk with President Nixon last week, one Republican Senator turned to another and remarked that Mr. Nixon "is talking about the war just like Johnson used to talk." What triggered this comparison between Mr. Nixon and former President Johnson, who was driven out of office by the war in Vietnam, was partly President Nixon's apparent confidence that Hanoi would soon have to enter serious negotiations to end the war (a conviction of Mr. Johnson's that was never satisfied). The other explanation for the Senator's remark comparing the two Presidents was Mr. Nixon's flat assertion during the long session over coffee in the Oval Office that he would not sacrifice the nation's long-range interest by "bugging out" no matter how far he went down in the polls even if it meant losing the way (he said with a wry smile) "to 5 per cent."

That, too, sounded to the dozen Republican Senators on the evening of Sept. 30 just like the Lyndon Johnson of two years ago, six months before he astonished the nation with his no second term announcement. Even more interesting to some of those present, however, was something else Mr. Nixon said. Asked by Sen. Edward Brooke of Florida why the United States did not apply enough military power "to win the war," Mr. Nixon replied that the military option was still open. He emphasized that the last thing he wanted to do was to extend the war. He said that the option had to be kept alive until the North Vietnamese entered serious negotiations.

ART BUCHWALD

Now He Says To "Shut Up"

WASHINGTON — When President Nixon took his oath of office, he asked everybody in a wailing, and he reported what McIntosh had said. He immediately canceled any plans he had to meet with Dean Rusk, and another chance for peace was lost. A year later elections were held in South Vietnam. The winners were Thieu and Ky, and the losers were jailed. This put Hanoi into a depression until McIntosh told a friend on the phone that the elections were rigged in favor of the Thieu government. McIntosh's phone happened to be tapped by the FBI, and somehow Hanoi got a transcript of the tape. When they read what McIntosh had said, Hanoi held a meeting and lary was lying about their successes. A Viet Cong agent happened to be working at the party as a waiter, and he reported what McIntosh had said. He immediately canceled any plans he had to meet with Dean Rusk, and another chance for peace was lost. A year later elections were held in South Vietnam. The winners were Thieu and Ky, and the losers were jailed. This put Hanoi into a depression until McIntosh told a friend on the phone that the elections were rigged in favor of the Thieu government. McIntosh's phone happened to be tapped by the FBI, and somehow Hanoi got a transcript of the tape. When they read what McIntosh had said, Hanoi held a meeting and voted to continue the war. This discouraged President Johnson so much that he decided not to run again. Walt Rostow bitterly accused McIntosh of being the one person chiefly responsible for our disastrous policy in Vietnam. Now President Nixon is faced with dealing with McIntosh. He sent Secretary of State Rogers personally to see McIntosh and beg him to hold his tongue until some agreement could be reached in Paris. But McIntosh, true to form, was out Wednesday shouting for us to pull out of Vietnam. The Hanoi negotiators in Paris, who were ready to agree to any terms, were just informed of McIntosh's latest protest and have decided on the basis of it to remain firm.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Hair Wash

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How often should a person wash her hair? I wash mine every two days, and she tells me I will dry it out too fast and lose some of the color. How often should I wash it? This must be the second commonest household argument going. (The No. 1 argument with parents probably is, "All the kids stay up later. Why can't they?") This isn't really a "health question," because no reasonable amount of washing is going to harm the hair or cause hair loss. The only "health" aspect involved is emotional. How much nervous turmoil results from the dispute? The correct frequency of washing is whatever frequency is required to look well-groomed. I have no doubt that a good many girls wash their hair oftener than they really need to, but it still does no harm except to the time and soap that are wasted. Worried mothers can stop worrying if they consider the fact that the roots of the hair, which are nested down in the skin, washing the surface doesn't affect the roots. A hair, once grown, has no effect on the root. You can pull it out and another will grow. You can shave it off. Another grows. Cutting, brushing, or doing anything else to the hair has no influence on growth, so long as the root is not damaged. It is true that the hair itself can be damaged in various ways — dyes and other preparations may make the hair brittle. Hair that naturally tends to be dry may break more often if excessively washing removes its scanty oiliness. But that still will not prevent new hair growing. Some people have naturally oily hair, and have to wash it every day or two to keep it from getting greasy. If you live in a dusty place, that extra washing may be necessary merely to keep it clean. But I repeat: this doesn't harm the hair. The average person with healthy hair normally loses about 75 strands a day. Those are replaced, and no harm done. My suggestion to mothers (or fathers) is this: If daughter notices the hair falling out, let her shampoo. If she uses too much shampoo, tell her she'll have to wash it more often. But other than that, give up arguing about it. It isn't worth the effort. Her hair won't stop growing because of washing any more than her fingernails will stop growing because she washes her hands.

caffeine coffees are 97 percent caffeine free, but they don't tell you that. If you've had coffee when it has been removed, it is possible that coffee without any treatment whatsoever is, perhaps, 85.5 percent caffeine-free. How much actual percentage is removed? — P.L.H. I see you are an attorney and need to have a high index of suspicion in a case, though. I think you're on the wrong scent. Data-I have indicates that regular roasted coffee beans contain about 1.3 percent caffeine. Decaffeinated beans contain about 1.04th of that amount, which works out to about what the data claim.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What effect does exercise, such as golf, bowling or rowing, have on hantel hernia? Would it put too much strain in the hernia and cause it to enlarge? — Mrs. E.K. Exercises that cause an increase in pressure within the abdomen could cause the hernia to enlarge. Heavy objects would be harmful. But golf, bowling, swimming, hiking, and other pursuits that do not increase abdominal straining would not be harmful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it safe for a woman who is three months pregnant to have a small amount of abdominal work done on the upper lip? — B. C. I see no possible danger.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hantel hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "Hantel Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a log, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received, he is unable to answer individual letters. PAUL HARVEY

Animal Cruelty

Maryland Sen. Joseph Tydings called for legislation to outlaw the sometimes awful mistreatment of show horses. Just four years ago, our federal government was financing some hideous misuse of laboratory animals. Even now I cannot bring myself to detail some of the senseless and cruel tortures that animals were subjected, though I have a file full of evidence. And some of the worst such "research" was conducted with money supplied by the National Institutes of Health. Anyway, so hideous did this misuse of animals become that Congress subsequently passed the Laboratory Animal Welfare Act, accomplishing major reforms. The awful mistreatment of laboratory animals for medical purposes has been vastly improved. Now Sen. Jack Javits of New York and Rep. Phil Rogers of Florida are seeking approval of a new laboratory animal bill of their own design. They say it provides for further reforms. It is, however, their proposed bill would transfer authority away from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, back to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Veterinarians of the USDA have done a splendid and essential job of protecting this situation despite a comparatively minuscule budget. Now again to entrust supervision to HEW, which for so long blocked all efforts, at reform, is not "progress." Man's increasing inhumanity in many ways. Crime, per se, is increasing nine times faster than our population in increasing numbers. It is increasing ten times faster than our population in increasing numbers. Every year 10,000 American children suffer physical abuse at the hands of their own parents, one to two a day are then killed. To relate this cruelty with our casual misuse of animals is impossible, except that most people would agree that we can custom ourselves to — and eventually accept — some hideously barbaric practices. In Joe Pitera's little book "Congo Kitabu," he relates the last agony of a turtle which, mutilated by Pygmies and yet alive, was tossed by them into boiling water. His graphic account would make you throw up! Yet, as Hallet says, "Unfortunately, our human philosophy has built — in limitations. Its theory and practice are confined mostly to our relations with animals which resemble ourselves. We show kindness to the warm-blooded, furry mammals and warm-blooded bipedal birds, but the further an animal diverges from human form, the less chance it has for humane treatment." "But," for example, are feared, loathed and tormented, although most of them are entirely harmless; the really dangerous ones such as crocodiles and venomous snakes have even acquired a synthetic aura of evil. And when we deal with animals outside the vertebrate phylum, we feel no moral compunctions; although we would never cook a living cat for dinner, or perhaps even a turtle, the living lobster bells in our pot wells we watch, like Pygmies, with indifference or academic curiosity. This is why some of us oppose the casual misuse of lower animals — not just what it does to them — but for what it does to us.

FIRST THE OBJECT of interest, this fallow deer now is becoming some what of a problem to Gooding Sheriff Earl Brown who wonders what he will do with it. The animal was identified by Conservationist Kenneth Mackenzie, Gooding, who indicated it must have come either from a zoo or been someone's pet since the breed is not native to the United States and the only fallow deer in this country are those in captivity.

Most Hunters Seek Deer; But Sheriff Wonders What To Do With This One

GOODING — An "All points bulletin" has been issued by the Gooding county sheriff on the fallow deer which wandered into this community Saturday and since has become the object of interest, and growing consternation.

While many hunters are out trying to find deer, Sheriff Earl Brown is trying to get rid of this one, because it cannot be kept at the livestock commission, Co. indefinitely.

Kenneth Mackenzie, Fish and Game Department conservationist stationed at Gooding, points out the animal either escaped from a zoo or possibly was someone's pet.

The fallow deer, which differs from the native breeds of deer in coloring and type of horns, is a native of Europe, the conservationist says, and there are none in this country except those in captivity.

This animal typifies the textbook description of its breed with white stomach and neck and the color deepening from a tawny yellow to brown on its back. It also has the webbed

Trial Witness Says Protesters Incited Riot Against 'Pigs'

By TONY FULLER
CHICAGO (UPI) — Another police undercover agent has testified that antiwar demonstrators in Chicago incited rioters to "fight the pigs" before and during melees which surrounded the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Chicago Policeman Kenneth Carcerano testified Tuesday that Ronald "Reno" Davis urged demonstrators at the statue of Gen. John Logan in Grant Park to "take the hill. Take the high ground."

Senate Allows $23,652 For Each Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday approved legislation providing each member with an additional $23,652 to hire more staff members, raising their allowances to maintain state offices, increasing their stationery allowances and the number of expense-paid trips home.

When police attempted to clear the monument, Carcerano said, the crowd screamed, shouted obscenities and threw missiles at police.

Although the measures contained in the legislative appropriations bill are technically subject to approval by the House, each chamber traditionally respects the other's self-designated money bill.

Carcerano said that on another occasion during the disturbances he heard Davis, a leader of the National Mobilization Committee to end the war in Vietnam, say "cool it" when an unidentified protester urged, "I want revolution now... it's time for a confrontation."

However, Carcerano testified on cross examination that the demonstrators clambered up on Logan's monument, Carcerano said, Davis screamed "Don't let the pigs take the hill. Don't let the pigs take the high ground," as police tried to clear the hill.

Carcerano also testified that at another demonstration that night in Lincoln Park, Davis shouted into a bullhorn "Fight the pigs. Don't let the pigs take the park," as a police line moved in to sweep out an estimated 5,000 demonstrators.

U.S. Indicates Rogers Voices Stand-On War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department Tuesday strongly indicated that Secretary of State William P. Rogers' remark on the Vietnam War protests more nearly represented the president's thinking than did the attack by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Carcerano also testified that the demonstrators raved up the hill and that no violence occurred until the police attempted to clear the monument.

Nixon Signs Extension Of SEC Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed Tuesday a Senate resolution extending until Sept. 1, 1970, the date when the Securities and Exchange Commission must report on an institutional investors study.

Carcerano said that the demonstrators raved up the hill and that no violence occurred until the police attempted to clear the monument.

Goldwater Backs Nixon On Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater said Tuesday night that no Vietnam doves would move any faster toward troop withdrawal from Vietnam than President Nixon has if they were given the responsibilities of the presidency.

The study was supposed to have been completed last Sept. 1, but funds were not appropriated until one year ago and the study did not get started until after the election.

Idaho Treasurer Plans Utah Talk

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon of Idaho is scheduled to deliver the keynote address Friday night at a meeting of Utah Democratic women leaders.

In other legislative developments, the Senate passed the $433 million legislative appropriations bill by voice vote. The bill would give each senator $23,652 for additional staff, increase the number of paid trips home from six to 12; increase to $1,600 the allowance for their state offices; raise from $3,000 to $4,000 their stationery allowance; and provide more free trips home for their staffs.

Miss Moon, who is serving her second term as state treasurer of Idaho, will speak on the viewpoint in the democratic process.

The House-Senate conferees voted to spend $25 million for two years on the Great Lakes, Ozarks, Coastal Plains and New England regional commissions. The Senate had voted $27.5 million; the House, $25 million. The bill also authorizes "first dollar money," which allows the commissions to initiate some projects whereas in the past they needed to wait for a specific grant.

Senators Pit Turner, Police Chief In Probe Over Guns

By WILLIAM B. MEAD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Army Provost Marshal Gen. C. Turner, was summoned before a Senate subcommittee today for confrontation with a police officer over Turner's gun transactions and alleged coverups for Sgt. Maj. William O. Woodridge.

Turner, an avid gun hobbyist and the Nixon administration's former chief of U.S. marshals, testified previously he saw nothing wrong with getting more than 500 guns from police collections of confiscated weapons and selling some for personal use.

Prayer Ban Stirs Protest Of Educators

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts attorney general Tuesday ruled prayers and bible readings at the elementary school in Leyden, Mass., unconstitutional even though they were conducted on a voluntary basis.

The subcommittee held two weeks of hearings earlier this month on the alleged scandal involving noncommissioned officers' clubs and some sergeants who ran them.

Turner, a former chief of U.S. marshals, testified previously he saw nothing wrong with getting more than 500 guns from police collections of confiscated weapons and selling some for personal use.

Phillip R. Manuel, a subcommittee investigator, testified Oct. 6 Turner gave 96 guns from Kansas City police in 1966, 1967 and 1968. "Chief Kelley advised me... that it was only because Gen. Turner was the provost marshal general of the Army and an official of the U.S. government that he was allowed to obtain weapons from the police department," Manuel said.

Manuel said the school committee's decision including one which struck down another voluntary program.

The Leyden School Committee retained prayer in the one small elementary school this fall on an optional, before-school basis they were confident would be declared legal.

The U.S. Supreme Court outlawed prayers in schools in 1963.

"I think it is quite incredible that the attorney general in the Massachusetts would take sides with Madalyn Murray O'Hair against the little community of Leyden," said Leyden School Committee member Gerald F. McCarthy, Jr.

Mrs. O'Hair is a long-time crusader against prayer in schools.

"We will continue to defend ourselves," McCarthy said, "because we believe what we are doing is right."

"The attorney general is only a lawyer, not a judge, and until such time as we have our day in court we believe what we are doing is entirely constitutional."

Quinn issued the ruling at a request from Educators' Commissioner Neil V. Sullivan.

Sen. Jordan Urges Partnership Approach To Speed Utilization Of West's Resources

... has been hired by the Gooding county sheriff's office as deputy for the Wendell area, replacing Bill Bunn. Mr. Burke and his wife, Maria, and their two daughters, ages 4 and 10, will reside in Wendell. He was an air policeman on town patrol at the Mountain Home Air Force base and will begin work for the sheriff's department Nov. 17, upon retirement from 20 years in the Air Force.

SPOKANE (Special to the Times-News) — Senator Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, called for a "partnership approach" to western resource development today as he spoke at the 28th annual convention of the National Reclamation Association. The Idaho senator said that such a partnership would make for the best possible use of the reclamation fund.

The Idaho Senator pointed out that this type of approach is not new but rather dates back to the Boulder Canyon project in the mid-1930's, which culminated in the construction of Hoover Dam with publicly — and privately — owned electric utilities agreeing to finance, build and operate the generating plant and transmission system and guaranteeing a market for the power.

Snake River Valley from other sources. That source is Idaho's own Salmon River. He stressed that use of the Salmon River water integrated with return flows from the Snake River by combination storage and pump-back system could double the reclamation potential in Idaho.

Hansen Meeting

HANSEN — The regular Hansen PTA meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the small gymnasium. Mrs. Anna Hayes will be guest speaker. She is the president of the National PTA. Dennis Pettigrew will also speak. His talk will be on Boy's State. There will be some amendments to the bylaws of the PTA, and musical numbers will be presented.

Another example of a cooperative state and federal project is to be used in the Snake River Valley of his own state. "I see no reason," Sen. Jordan said, "why the specific beneficiaries of multi-purpose, reimbursable reclamation projects such as those supplying irrigation water, power operation and municipal and industrial water might not join together and share the construction costs and the benefits."

Turning to the current situation in Idaho, Sen. Jordan expressed his firm conviction that a similar application of this partnership concept should be fully explored in the proposed Middle Snake development. "Studies made by Idaho's Water Resources Board," Sen. Jordan said, "indicate beyond question that if Idaho is to realize its full reclamation potential, water must be imported to the

Minidoka Farm Labor Group Buys Land For Housing Unit

RUPERT — Land housing the Farm Labor Sponsoring Association's Paul Labor Camp has been sold by the Minidoka County for $100. The transaction was completed this week when the county commissioners accepted the $100 bid from the Minidoka Purchase of the land was necessary in order for the labor sponsoring association to obtain federal funds for construction of new labor housing which will meet federal and state housing requirements for labor.

The association had been notified about a year ago that the labor camp would not be permitted to open this year unless definite plans were made to improve housing facilities.

The possibility of obtaining a Farmers Home Administration loan to finance the original construction or improved housing was explored and it was learned that the funds could be obtained only if the association owned the land on which the construction was to take place.

Clyde Greenwell, chairman of the labor association board, said the board is now examining the possibility of working with the city of Paul in obtaining a federal grant which will provide half of the total cost.

The balance would be financed over a 33-year period from rental receipts.

The grant, however, can be obtained only if a city within a five-mile radius of the camp will appoint a housing board to work with the association. Paul is closest to the camp site.

Present plans call for the construction of 10 four-part complexes to be used for public housing not restricted to labor the year around.

Mr. Greenwell noted the Paul camp housed between 200 and 300 laborers the entire summer.

Vacant House Is Burglarized

Twin Falls City Police Department received a report Tuesday that a vacant house at 439 Oak Street had been broken into. Mrs. Lucille McGill, Hansen, owner of the property, said the burglary apparently had taken place within the past week. She said a number of items were stored in the house, but she was not able to tell if anything is missing. Entry was gained by tearing a screen off a window. Investigation is continuing.

Program For Mentally Retarded Will Begin Monday In Minidoka County

RUPERT — A program for the trainable-mentally retarded will begin in Minidoka County next week with the first training session scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

The initial program will consist of half-day sessions Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Camp Fire building on the corner of 4th and H streets in Rupert. Future plans, however, include extending the program to a full-time project when facilities and funds become available.

The Minidoka County Association for Retarded Children has voted to underwrite and guarantee the funds necessary for the first 30 days of the program.

On opening day, the coordinator, Darrell Bouner, special education consultant with the Twin Falls Child Development Center, and a speech and hearing specialist from the Center will be present.

At the present time, 10 students have been recommended for the program and others interested should attend Monday. Numerous items are needed for the training aides and a county-wide appeal has been made for them, including child guidance toys, tables and chairs, phonograph records, tempera paints, dolls, crayons and paper supplies.

Items may be left with Hugh Short, 805 E. Street, or will be picked up by calling Mrs. Rulon Ramsey or John Hilling.

Walker Talks At Democratic Meet, Asks View To Future

BOISE — Lloyd J. Walker, Twin Falls, appearing in Boise before the Democratic Club as a potential candidate for governor, Tuesday night told the audience that Idaho and several of its larger towns face a great challenge in the 1970's.

"It is no longer enough to have leadership geared to the past, and this includes industrial as well as political," he said.

"Each of our cities, and Boise in particular, is bursting at the seams. After a sleepy first century, the growth and development now taking place is exciting and challenging. Even more important, the development of manufacturing in Twin Falls, refining in Pocatello and Boise becoming an international business center is rapidly changing the entire structure of our society."

"In a few years Idaho will be a modern industrial and business center and we cannot afford to allow our government to fall behind. It must at least keep even with our industrial and business leaders.

"For example, we have room for our university system. Our schools must become partners in the growth of the 70's. They must provide research facilities to aid and support our industry as well as produce trained personnel to staff them. Our university can no longer be treated as a local business supported by the tax payers. We cannot have votes cast on a basis of where the school happens to be located, but on a basis of what it can do for the entire state."

"Idaho must have an administration which can meet the challenges of the 70's. We are a new state, a new society, and our political leadership must be in harmony."

Nixon Administration Plans To Raise Costs Of Medicare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration told Congress today it will raise the monthly Medicare health insurance charge from $1 to "something over $5" July 1.

It said the boost, affecting 19 million older Americans under Medicare, was necessary to keep pace with soaring medical costs.

Social Security Administrator Robert Ball said a final decision on the amount has not been made yet, but the charge will be "somewhat over $5." Under law, the secretary of health, education and welfare must decide on the new charge before Jan. 1.

Ball also said the Nixon administration is reviewing a task force study that recommended including drug costs under the Medicare program.

But Ball indicated any recommendation for drug costs would not be across-the-board. "If we move into it," Ball said, "we'll want to move into it gradually."

Under study, Ball said, are plans to pay for drugs connected with chronic illnesses. Another proposal, he said, would pay for drug charges only above a certain dollar amount paid by the patient.

It would be the second boost in the monthly fee since the Medicare program became effective in 1966 at $3. The fee is paid by 85 per cent of Social Security beneficiaries over 65 for reimbursement for doctors' fees. No charge is levied on Social Security beneficiaries for hospital services.

Ball told the House Ways and Means Committee of the impending boost in response to questioning from Rep. J. C. O. Gilbert, D-N.Y. Gilbert wants to know if Social Security benefits increase larger than the 10 per cent boost proposed by the administration.

Gilbert argued that the monthly benefit increase should be larger than 10 percent since the rising Medicare charge would take money from recipients.

Under the Medicare program for doctors' services, the first $30 annually in doctor's services and outpatient treatment must be paid by the beneficiary. Thereafter, 80 percent of the doctors' services are reimbursed by the government.

Police said Tuesday it may take "a long time" to track down the "Zodiac" killer, who boasts of murdering five persons and threatens to ambush a school bus.

But school administrators and officers in Northern California said they would keep their armed guards protecting the buses, no matter how long it takes and "regardless of cost."

"There's no 'ring new,'" said San Francisco Chief of Inspectors Martin M. Lee.

Lee said the search for the apparently deranged killer who has been linked through his taunting notes to the five killings, was going on intensely. But, he said, "it's going to take a long time."

Invitation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The First Family has invited 250 elderly persons without families to join them for Thanksgiving dinner in the state dining room of the White House.

Also dining with President and Mrs. Nixon will be Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the late president, and her granddaughter, Susan, a college coed.

Mrs. Nixon said Tuesday the aged guests will be seated at round tables in the state dining room for a meal that will include the traditional turkey and pumpkin pie.

Mineral-Rich Greenland Stands On Edge Of 'Boom'

By HILARY BARNES
COPENHAGEN — The 42,000 Greenlanders, most of them huddled into small townships along the southwest coast of the 840,000 square-mile Danish island, could strike it as rich as the oilfields of the Middle East or Alaska.

Significant mineral finds have already been made in Greenland's icy wilderness. The Danish Cryolite Company recently announced that it had located an estimated 2,000 million tons of iron ore with a 35 per cent iron content. The difficulties of extracting it would be enormous, although it is only a few miles from a fjord which is open to shipping all the year round. But the company's view is that such a massive deposit is too big just to forget about.

The Danish Atomic Energy Commission plans to extract uranium from an ore deposit estimated to contain at least 24,000 tons of uranium. Zinc, copper and lead are among the other minerals known to exist in large quantities; the big mining group Cominco, owned by Canadian Pacific Railways, has been slogging up the commercial possibilities of extracting base metals from its Greenland property on the west coast for some years.

The oil finds in Alaska have alerted the world oil industry to the potential of the Arctic region. The geological formations of the Greenland Continental Shelf resembles that of northern Canada and Alaska.

Lewiston Bus Drivers Accept Offer Of Teamsters Union

LEWISTON (UPI) — Lewiston area school bus drivers will join the Teamsters Union and their bargaining agent, according to W.L. Robison, state labor commissioner.

Robison reviewed the Sept. 24 election results and issued his opinion Monday afternoon which said teachers who drove buses parttime were already represented by the Idaho Education Association and their votes in the union election would not be counted.

A total of six teachers had voted in the election but their votes failed to make any difference. Without the teachers' votes the count was nine in favor of having Teamsters Local 551 as their representative and six opposed.

Iran Trying To Interest U.S. In Oil-Purchase Accord

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

By almost any standard the Shah of Iran, Mohammad-reza Pahlavi, is quite a man.

On Oct. 25 he observes his 50th birthday, a man who regards himself both as a monarch and a revolutionary, leader of a non-violent "white revolution" which has abolished feudalism, redistributed the land in a vast operation involving more than half of Iran's 28 million people, given equal rights to women and led a backward land into the age of industrialization.

At a lunch in Washington in November, 1967, he received from the Secretary of State Dean Rusk the accolade that here was a monarch who "had thoroughly earned his crown."

Now the Shah is in the United States to offer what he believes is a good deal.

He wants to sell Iranian oil in the United States on a quota cover and above the approximate 21,000 tons which are available figures show are Iran's annual sales to the U.S. The figure may be compared to the more than 174,000 tons purchased annually from Venezuela or the 29,000-plus tons from tiny Kuwait.

In return, he promises that each U.S. dollar obtained from these sales will go toward purchases in the United States.

In the Shah's extensive sales kit also is a pitch toward what he calls "agro-business" opportunities for American business in Iran.

He is encouraging the John Deere Company to establish a tractor plant in Iran.

He frankly admits he needs both money and American know-how to develop millions of acres of land opened up by new dams and electric power. As an inducement he cites availability of labor, roads, railroads and Persian gulf ports.

The Shah does not retreat from questions with a "no comment."

Here are other observations: He believes the United States must get out of Vietnam, but he hopes without loss of face. He believes the United States and the Soviet Union could impose a peace in the Middle East.

He expects his capital, Tehran, to become the banking center of the Middle East, surpassing Beirut.

He admits that literacy in Iran still is only about 40 per cent of the population but he believes that in 10 or 15 years that Iran's standard of living will equal or surpass that of Western Europe.

Police Report No Clues To 'Zodiac'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police said Tuesday it may take "a long time" to track down the "Zodiac" killer, who boasts of murdering five persons and threatens to ambush a school bus.

But school administrators and officers in Northern California said they would keep their armed guards protecting the buses, no matter how long it takes and "regardless of cost."

"There's no 'ring new,'" said San Francisco Chief of Inspectors Martin M. Lee.

Lee said the search for the apparently deranged killer who has been linked through his taunting notes to the five killings, was going on intensely. But, he said, "it's going to take a long time."

Board Of Examiners OK's Disputed Boy Scout Billing

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Examiners Tuesday approved payment of a $1,744,444 bill for entertaining Boy Scout executives at last summer's National Jamboree in Farragut State Park.

Gov. Don Samuelson said he felt the state was justified in putting on a dinner for the scout leaders — most of them volunteers — and said publicly the bill had embarrassed the scouts.

He said news stories concerning the bill for the dinner, held at a private residence on Lake Court d'Alembert, had caused state expense by a county club, may prevent Idaho from getting future jamborees.

The state paid for similar dinners in 1968 for the World Girl Scout Roundup.

In 1967 for the International Boy Scout Jamboree, also held at Farragut, the governor said. Both he and State Auditor for R. Williams, non-voting secretary to the board, said the only difference was that this bill was not "conceded."

"I said 'don't you hide anything,'" Samuelson commented. Williams produced the billing for newsmen in response to a request from a reporter.

Samuelson already had adjourned the board meeting when a reporter asked if any action would be taken on the bill — at first sent out to individual board members for consideration.

Secretary of State Pete T. Conrath then pulled the claim from a manila folder he was carrying and he and Samuelson signed it. The third member of the board, Attorney General Robert M. Robson, was not present.

Meantime, the board: — Approved designation of 29 more state employees — 16 in administrative services and 13 in fish and game — as supervisory employees exempt from new overtime provisions in Idaho law.

— Held up for some explanations a Fish and Game Department request to sell 141 separate items, including 20 pairs of binoculars, when Samuelson questioned the need to sell some of them.

— Okayed a request by the Aeronautics Department to institute its "Air-Age Education Program" in public schools with $8,000 budgeted for that purpose.

Delayed action on a request to spend $43,000 in updating the motor vehicle license plate plan at the state prison if money could be saved by making steel instead of aluminum license plates.

Sen. Church Cites Backing For War Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said that 18 senators have joined to sponsor a bipartisan resolution calling for a more rapid withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam.

His resolution, introduced Oct. 9 by Church and Sen. Mark Hatfield, Oregon, expresses the sense of the Senate that the time has come to take charge of their own destiny.

The resolution calls for "a more rapid withdrawal of American troops, and a commitment by the United States to fully disengage from South Vietnam, pending such reasonable inter-valuation as may be necessary for the safety of American troops and those who may wish to leave with them."

Church said the support "represents the high-water mark of Senate support of any resolution calling for an end to the war in Vietnam."

In remarks prepared for delivery in the Senate, Church said support was growing for early and complete disengagement from Vietnam.

Humphrey's 'Approval' Of Nixon Perplexes Senators

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey apparently gave some of his fellow Democrats an icy time by saying recently that generally he approved of the way President Nixon was approaching settlement of the Vietnam War.

Particularly pained were various Democratic senators who had to go on weekend television interview shows and face a yes-or-no situation. Did they support Humphrey or not?

The answers varied but added up to a hopeful belief that Humphrey did not mean it exactly as he said it. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and a 1972 presidential possibility within his party, thought Humphrey was talking largely in terms of time—that Nixon was entitled to more of it.

"I don't think the President should be pressured or panicked into a point of view with which he does not agree," Muskie said.

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl., National Committee, seemed to swerve around Humphrey and say what he wanted from Nixon was more of a definite schedule, something of a timetable whereby the public could count on disengagement in Vietnam.

South Korea's 'ROK' Army Trains To Face Any Enemy

By LEON DANIEL
TONGDUCHON, South Korea (UPI) — Americans who question the ability of the army of South Vietnam ever to stand alone might be encouraged by what could be called South Korea's military miracle.

The ROK army, lightly regarded by many Americans during the Korean War, is made up of more than a half million men, most of whom spend an hour each day learning how to kill with their bare hands.

South Korea claims the fourth largest army in the world, but what may be more significant than numbers is the impressive battlefield performance of ROK troops in Vietnam.

Brig. Gen. Yoo Hak-Seong, commanding general of the 26th ROK Infantry Division garrisoned here, was a battalion commander during the Korean War and has fought in Vietnam. "Our men lacked experience during the Korean War," said the general. "As for Vietnam, the record of Korean troops there speaks for itself."

It does, indeed. Ask anyone who has ever seen the troops of South Korea's White Horse or Tiger divisions in action.

For the bargain price of $2.25 a month the ROK army gets a recruit. It will train him continuously for three years.

Few young men escape the draft in South Korea. One of the rare exemption categories is for only sons whose fathers are only sons. It is true that more than 10 years after the Korean War the defense of South Korea has not been completely "Koreanized."

There still are about 55,000 American troops in South Korea. But it would be unjust and incorrect to believe that South Korean troops do not shoulder by far the largest share of the burden and risk of defending their nation.

Yoo is proud of his division, whose command post is 20 miles north of Seoul and just south of the so-called Demilitarized Zone which divides North and South Korea, but he is convinced his men need more and better equipment.

The general said South Koreans are grateful for U.S. support and "We are taking full advantage of the military assistance provided by the United States."

He said his men receive good training and morale is excellent "but these things don't mean so much in modern warfare if you don't have the proper weapons and equipment."

Millard Fillmore was the first president to have a stepmother.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened higher today in moderately active trading.

The peace outlook is "better than ever," commented one analyst, "and it is expected to be the major force behind the market's better than week long upswing."

But a feeling exists that consolidation could be in the offing, although it may be hard to keep optimism over peace under wraps.

Shortly after the opening, the DJ index indicator was up 0.48 per cent on 318 issues crossing the tape. There were 170 advances and 61 declines.

Stocks and closed at a number of oils.

Seattle Still Has Club As Owners Conclude Meet

CHICAGO (UPI)—American League owners Tuesday were informed of the problems of the Seattle club owners and ended an "informal discussion" without action on the Pilots' franchise.

Their meeting came after a joint major-league meeting where labor representative John Gaherin outlined progress toward settling the demands of the players for next season.

American League President Voe Cronin said there was no application made to transfer the Seattle franchise—despite rumors the team would move to Milwaukee or to Dallas-Fort Worth.

Cronin said as of "right now" the league had prepared a schedule for 1970 which included Seattle.

However, he said application could be made to transfer the franchise at any time, he thought the commissioner could intervene if any application came at too late a time preceding the 1970 season.

Cronin said the league had a meeting scheduled in Chicago Oct. 29, but solely on the 1970 playing schedule.

He said the Seattle ownership described its problems to the league session Tuesday after a delegation of Seattle civic leaders met with Cronin and six club owners Monday night.

Both the Seattle people and the club owners were understood to have assured the league that the current playing site, Sick Stadium, would be expanded to a 28,000 capacity before next season and they hoped a referendum on a site for a proposed domed stadium would be approved in time to permit start of construction by Dec. 31, 1970.

Cronin said the league had not been notified officially of any bids to buy the Seattle franchise although Bill Daley, the largest stockholder in the franchise, said he was eager to get out of the organization.

Cronin said the league had had no discussions with the Seattle group that it must obtain local money to buy into the current franchise.

Gaherin said there were 41 items on the player list of requested changes in the current agreement which expires Dec. 31. He said that Tuesday's meeting "went over the whole situation and we have a complete understanding of where we are."

Gaherin refused to outline the player demands, but indicated some of the points would not be regarded as major differences.

There always are some easier than others," he said, "and several of them could take quite a period of time."

Cronin did not believe the current negotiations were comparable to those of a year ago which ended in a virtual players' strike against reporting on schedule at training camps.

Bryant Will Not Give Up On 'Bama Team

ATLANTA (UPI)—Although I'm not ready to give up and stop by two straight defeats, I hope our team isn't third-ranked. The Bear said after three-ranked Tennessee humiliated the Crimson Tide, 41-14.

Furthermore, says Alabama's football coach, he thinks some of the alumni have been a bit quick about throwing in the towel.

"We'll lose all the faint-hearted fans now," Bryant said somewhat bitterly earlier this week.

"But my wife and I are alumni too. When we decide to realize we haven't got the 1958—and now there's that something will be done about it, don't worry about that.

"The other set of alumni won't have to mouth around it."

"We're rebuilding (from an 8-2 season)," Bryant said in September. "But folks have got to realize we haven't got the 1958—and now there's that

Alabama's two regular season losses last year were by two points to Ole Miss and one point to Tennessee, a team which Alabama has beaten only once in its past five tries.

But a 35-10 loss to Missouri in the Gator Bowl was the worst setback Bryant had suffered since returning to Alabama in 1958—and now there's that Tennessee shocker, played before the home folks in Birmingham.

ISU Drops To 17th In Grid Poll

NEW YORK (UPI)—North Dakota State continues to move steadily toward the small college title.

The unbeaten Bison, now 6-0, were named the nation's No. 1 small college team for the fifth consecutive week today in balloting by the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches.

North Dakota State received 24 first place votes and 327 points, to easily outdistance Texas A&M and Montana, which held on to the No. 2 and No. 3 rankings.

Troy State took undisputed possession of fourth place, moving ahead of Humboldt State. The remainder of the top 10 remained intact with Arkansas State, Alcorn A&M, Delaware, New Mexico Highlands and Indiana (Pa.), in that order.

Ablene Christian moved up to No. 11, followed by East Tennessee State, Alcorn and Colorado State. Coe College and Lenoir Rhyne tied for 14th.

Louisiana Tech broke into the top 20 in the No. 16 slot, followed by Idaho State, 11th. Far West State, Missouri, Rolla and Florida A&M.

North Dakota State, the runner-up to champion San Diego State the past three seasons, finished behind its rival North Dakota, 64-14 Saturday. Texas A&I downed East Texas State 28-14 to lift its record to 5-0 and Montana boosted its mark to 6-0 by downing Idaho State 48-35.

Adamle Is UPI Midwest Back Of Week

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI)—It isn't every Saturday afternoon that a Northwestern halfback runs 316 yards with the ball in a forward unimpeded direction. In fact, it's never happened before.

But Mike Adamle, who last only one yard in 40 trips with the ball last Saturday, rolled up that record-breaking total in Northwestern's 47-17 rout of Wisconsin last Saturday and for that feat was named the UPI's Midwest Back of the Week.

Adamle's rushing achievement fell 31 yards short of the all-time Big Ten high established by Michigan's Ron Johnson, who gained 347 yards against Navy in 1951. Adamle's 40 carries eclipsed the team mark of 35 accomplished twice by Bob McKeivley in 1955 gains against Michigan and Iowa.

Coach Alex Agase, whose quarters are now perched in the upper half of the Big Ten standings with a 2-0 record, said Adamle allowed him to throw away the number half of his game plan against Wisconsin.

"The idea was to see how our running game went, and if that didn't work to try our passing," Agase said. "When I saw the way Adamle was going and the way (Mike) Hudson was blocking for him, I saw no need for many passes."

As a result, Northwestern quarterbacks were thrown three or four times in the upper half of the Big Ten standings with a 2-0 record, said Adamle allowed him to throw away the number half of his game plan against Wisconsin.

Agase estimated his 5-foot-6-inch, 190 pound halfback owed 120 yards of his total to effective blocking.

"His rest he got strictly on his own. He's terrific on breaking tackles and has quick moves, although he is not a speed man," Agase said.

Cowboys Will Test Nebraska On Saturday

By United Press International

Oklahoma State, which played Missouri to well, gets a chance to take out its frustration on Nebraska this Saturday.

The Cowboys began preparations in earnest Tuesday, sprinting through a two-hour workout that was spiced by 45 minutes of contact.

"I might be wrong," coach Floyd Gass said, "but I can sense the boys feel something special about playing Nebraska. It's been a good rivalry through the years."

One of the Cowboys' biggest concerns will be Nebraska middle guard Ken Gledhill, who's wrecked opposing offenses all fall. "He's quick and gets through quite a bit," said Gass.

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney shifted Dan Schellus to first string fullback to replace Mike Cronin, who is a co-captain for the Huskers, was dropped to the No. 2 spot.

At Lawrence, Kan., quarterback Jim Etlinger was still a doubtful participant against Iowa State. Sophomore Phil Insler spent Tuesday running Kansas' first team.

Iowa State was put through a 30-minute scrimmage in its workout. Coach Johnny Majors worked the club on running offense, pass play protection and general execution. He said Kansas is a "big strong defensive team" that compares with Syracuse.

Missouri moved outdoors and coach Dan Devine expressed delight with the way the Tigers did in a two-hour workout. Starting defensive end Mike Bennett did not participate because of a foot injury.

Kansas State tuned up for its big game with Oklahoma. Fullback Mike Montgomery worked out in full pads despite a strained ankle.

"Montgomery is still limping and we're just waiting and watching," coach Vince Gibson said. "If he can possibly play, he'll play."

Vol Quarterback Gets SEC Award

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Junior Bobby Scott, the quarterback who made Tennessee's triple option good for a 41-14 win over Alabama Saturday, was named today the "Southeast's offensive player of the week" by the United Press International.

"Bobby is the unquestioned hero of the team," said Tennessee Coach Doug Dickey. "He has been a very steady performer for us all year. And he gave us the same performance Saturday without any bad plays."

In the Alabama romp, Scott completed nine of 18 passes for 128 yards and one touchdown.

Mrs. Hager Is Honored At Writers Meet

Mrs. Sudie Stuart Hager, Kimberly, was honored at the Idaho Writers League convention at Lewiston for her 20 years as poet laureate of Idaho, members of the league's Twin Falls chapter were told at their meeting at the Idaho Power Co. Auditorium.

She was guest of honor at the annual poetry luncheon and was interviewed on the Lewiston television station, where she spoke briefly on the changes in poetry over the years.

Successful Parents? Dr. Stone Gives Definition

NEW YORK (UPI)—Do you stand seriously to your children when it is appropriate? Do you give them the sense that they are significant personally? And do you let them know the household is stable and that you are in charge?

If you answered "yes" to all questions, you're entitled to call yourself a "successful parent."

That's according to the definition of a successful parent given by Dr. L. Joseph Stone at the 80th anniversary Forum of the Child Study Association of America in New York.

Dr. Stone, chairman of the Department of Psychology at Yassar College, said parents don't have to pose as paragons of reason but they do have to let the children know the authority of parents who stand for something, whose principles are clear and defensible.

The children need the principles. In the long run they will affiliate with them.

"By contrast," Dr. Stone said, "parents who feel that they live in an uncontrolled environment and who feel uncontrolled themselves and are swept by their own impulses are not likely to be good governors for their children."

The local group elected officers, with all present officers being chosen to fill a second term. Mrs. Pearl Campbell is president; Mrs. Jewel Von Ins, vice president; and Mrs. E. Walker, secretary-treasurer.

Publications were reported by Mrs. Jeanette LeMoyné, two poems in Creative Review, and by Mrs. Campbell, news columns in North Side News.

ron so that they can't understand and don't mutter behind their backs. Just try to clarify your stand when one is indicated in a controversial issue.

"Children," Dr. Stone said, "need to be clear about the moral and intellectual reasons for the stand their parents take."

"At the same time, parents will help their children and society if they can take their stand without turning the children against anyone who stands anywhere else; if they help children understand that people on the other side... are not necessarily evil or wrong-minded."

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the woman who did not find any physical satisfaction in her marriage. That has been my problem for 25 years.

I talked with two doctors. One told me that I was expecting too much and had been reading too many love stories. The other (a woman doctor) told me that very few women had it any better — they just "pretended" most of their lives. My man is one of the loving kind, but I have been "pretending" all my married life. Is there no hope for me?

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: The first doctor was off base, but the second doctor (if statistics can be believed) was not. You need to see a third doctor — one who specializes in unlocking doors of minds where "hangups" have been stored. This may be an oversimplification, but the reason most women are unable to enjoy marital relations is because as young girls they were told that sex is "no no." And so it is . . . forever.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the "no-br" look?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: It's a good way for some women to get everything off their chest. For others, it's a flop.

DEAR ABBY: You say a lot in your column about "adopting kids." How about a word about the "unadoptable?" After having two of our own we adopted three. These are children of mixed blood, the last one to be adopted if they ever are.

Thirteen years ago we were warned that we were headed for heartbreak when we adopted the product of a Filipino barmaid and an American GI. She was sick, half starved, and not as very pretty a child when we took her. The Red Cross and the military doctor where we were stationed told us she might turn out to be mentally retarded. But we adopted her anyway.

A year after we returned to the states we adopted another "little girl." She is a very good student and a raving beauty. Her half Negro sister leads her class in straight A's and in a few years she will be as beautiful as the older girl. The boy is an average student, affectionate and outgoing.

Abby, please ask your readers if they are thinking of adoption to consider these "unadoptable" children. I promise them happiness, not heartbreak.

Sincerely,
M. B., PORTLAND, ORE.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. M. S.: To set the record straight, I said, "Identical sex education should be taught in the home, but since it obviously is not, the next best place is in the public schools, by responsible teachers."

"Too many mothers were raised to believe that sex is 'dirty,'" and the subject should never be mentioned in front of the children, and should a little girl ask any questions about sex, she was told, "you're too young to know" — or, "nice girls don't talk about such things." And later should this little girl grow up and try to find the answers to her questions by experimenting, and wind up pregnant, this same mother will wring her

DIVIDED LOOK

What's the look this season? It's divided, one by day, another by night. Angora dresses and slim jersey sportswear are good daytime outfits. Try them in soft shades of pink or blue. For evening, "date" dresses, metallic knit and velveteen will make you a shining success at any gala.

Plans were made for the official visit Monday of the grand guardian of Idaho Job's Daughters Mrs. Ruby H. Tabor, Caldwell, reported on the Grand Bethel session held in June at Sandpoint.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

AVOIDANCE PLAY AWAITS IN WINGS

In "How to Play a Better Game of Bridge," Reese and Dormer describe the avoidance play as an attempt to avoid an untimely blow from an opponent's high card.

South takes East's king of spades with the ace and sees that he has a cinch for nine tricks if he can score four diamond tricks. It is up to him to "kick diamonds" and the careless player does so immediately. He leads a diamond toward dummy, East's ace collects one of dummy's honors and a spade return sets up three spade tricks for East.

This doesn't worry our careless declarer. He lays down his queen of diamonds and sees West discard a low heart. All of a sudden, summer has turned to winter. South is not going to collect four diamond tricks and he isn't going to make his contract.

Could South have avoided this debacle by attacking hearts instead of diamonds? No. He only holds a four-card heart suit and can only develop three heart tricks.

The avoidance play was there to save him. He should simply enter dummy at trick two and lead diamonds toward his own hand. Should West hold the ace of diamonds, he would win but a spade lead from West would not worry South at all.

East does hold the diamond ace. If he rises, South has four diamond tricks, since the ace hasn't gobbled up an honor. Should he duck, South abandons diamonds and sets up three heart tricks with that one diamond trick in the bank.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

West North East South
 Pass 1♦ 1♥ Pass
 Pass 3♦ 1♥ Pass

You, South, hold:

AK87 WA ♠ KQ4 ♠ J853

What do you do now?

A—Bid three hearts. This is an all-purpose bid. You have indicated a minimum hand by your previous pass. This allows your partner to try three no-trump with a fair hand or slam with a very good one.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three diamonds, your partner has bid one no-trump. What do you do now?

Checking Up

By L. M. BOYD

Divorcees Believed More Desirable Than Widows

LOVE AND WAR—Why is a divorcee so much more desirable than a widow? In the eyes of those gentlemen in search of matrimonial mates, I mean. Statistically, a 45-year-old divorcee has exactly the same chance of remarriage as a 33-year-old widow. Most mysterious. Might mention the mathematical odds indicate either the aforementioned divorcee or widow is more apt to go thru another wedding than is the 31-year-old girl who has never been married.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q: "What's it cost to bury a dog in one of those pet cemeteries?" A: Understand that depends on the casket. Cheapest runs about $30, most expensive about $250. Q: "How many of the feet-inches tall?" A: Decline to bite on that one, sir. All paint in sealed cans is black.

LANGUAGE MAN—Time for Indian Summer, what? That notion arises because our Language man today reports the origin of the phrase. It was in those balmy days before winter froze still the countryside that the pioneer settlers, after their last attacks of the season on the pioneer settlements. A terrifying time once, Indian Summer.

IT HAS BEEN DETERMINED that more than half the grown women around the country make a hobby of collecting odd kinds of old barbed wire. . . . REMEMBER NOW, in Waterville, Me., the law says you can't blow your nose in public. . . . HERE'S ONE I just can't believe. An animal expert makes the astonishing claim that a skunk almost never raid chicken houses. Bunk! THE NIFTIEST PICKPOCKETS at the British racetracks are known to lift up to $1,000 a day.

GOURMET—Was taken to task last night by a swift and efficient food inspector. Said he, "use a vinegar-and-olive dressing on your salad when you're served a fine wine. The vinegar and olive ruins the wine flavor!" I said I was perfectly aware of that, dummy, that I did it on purpose, but the superior fellow just rolled his eyes and walked off.

RAPID REPLY: All right already, those seven United States presidents who once worked as schoolteachers were John Adams, James A. Garfield, Chester A. Arthur, Grover Cleveland, "Never, never, never," said he, "use a vinegar-and-olive dressing on your salad when you're served a fine wine. The vinegar and olive ruins the wine flavor!" I said I was perfectly aware of that, dummy, that I did it on purpose, but the superior fellow just rolled his eyes and walked off.

Red Chinese Begin Work On $300 Million Railway Project

By DAVID CREFFIELD

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI)—Despite difficulties that included wild animals kept at bay by armed guards, Communist Chinese survey teams have completed work for a 1,658-mile railway line Peking is building between Zambia and the Tanzanian coast.

The actual construction will begin in March. A total of 1,800 tons of track and other equipment for the line was delivered this month. The job will cost $300 million.

The equipment arrived aboard the Chinese ship, the "Hong Shi," and within a couple of days a second ship, the "Yao Hua," tied up alongside Dar es Salaam's busy harbor and 100 Chinese technicians disembarked.

Another group of 250 Chinese rail experts arrived in the middle of last month and an official of the Tanzania-Zambia railway authority said this week that a second installment of equipment would probably arrive by the end of October.

Government ministers from Tanzania and Zambia and Chinese railway experts working on the project are expected to meet in December for final talks prior to work starting on the rail link in March. The railway will take five years to complete.

Chinese interest in undertaking the project—the third biggest in Africa behind only the Aswan and Volta River dams—was first aroused during President Julius Nyerere's state visit to China in 1965.

For many years the Tanzania and Zambian governments had received cool receptions after approaches to America, Britain and other Western countries as well as Russia.

Nyerere said in a recent interview: "We wanted a railway, but the West was not prepared to build it for us. But at the same time they didn't want China to build it for us. What could we do?"

Ships carrying Chinese technicians come and go at Dar es Salaam where the Chinese embark waving red flags and their little red Mao's Thoughts books. But that is the only piece of flamboyance the Chinese allow themselves.

Few are to be seen in the capital, for once they arrive they are quickly sent off down the route of the proposed line and are not seen again until it is time for them to return home.

The survey itself along the 1,658 miles of the proposed rail link has been a major undertaking and it is no small achievement for the Chinese to have completed it within the prescribed two years.

But working at top speed from both ends of the route, the Chinese have finished the survey on time. Medical teams accompanying the surveyors have set up clinics at villages along the way and much drainage work has to be carried out and wells provided.

Rockefeller's Tale Of Woe About 'Discrimination' Against Millionaires Stirs Scribe To Seek Relief

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Discrimination against millionaires is something most Americans probably had not been concerned about until Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas called the problem to our attention recently.

There were, of course, a few bleeding hearts who commiserated with the millionaires and were trying to help them obtain their civil rights. But the bulk of the citizens were shockingly indifferent.

In their favor it may be said that in the vast majority of cases the lack of compassion reflected unawareness rather than insensitivity. They simply did not know about the millionaires' plight.

It will be to Rockefeller's everlasting credit that he had the courage to speak out to turn the spotlight on a social malignancy that for too long had been unrecognized or ignored.

Addressing a planning conference in Little Rock last week, the governor said he had been the object of discrimination because he was a member of the minority group of millionaires.

"It's a rough row to hoe in terms of being black or being Jewish or being this, that and the other," he said.

Well, there is one thing you may be sure of about the American people. Once our conscience has been awakened to the perpetration of an injustice, we will move to right the wrong.

It may take a couple of hundred years, but we do it.

Although Rockefeller is a Southern millionaire, it would be a mistake to assume that the prejudice he described is sectional. There likely is not a single area in this country where bias against millionaires does not exist to some extent.

The first thing that we as private citizens should do is examine our own feelings in the matter. You may think of yourself as tolerant and broadminded. But chances are that down deep in your secret heart of hearts you are financially bigoted.

Regardless of how hard you try not to judge a person by the size of his bank account, you cannot completely overcome the impressions formed in childhood when you first learned that millionaires were "different."

These are deeply rooted attitudes that only time can erase. However, we can act immediately to protect the civil rights of millionaires in a legal sense.

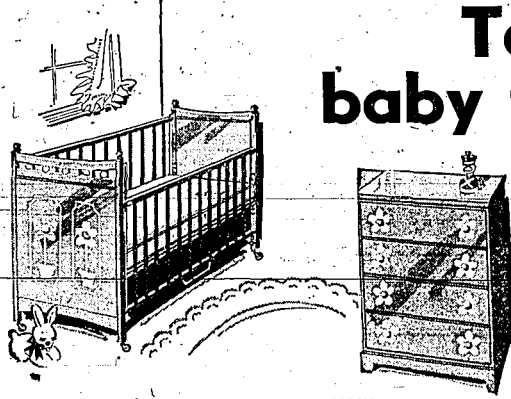

Laws that now forbid discrimination because of race, color, creed, sex or national origin should be amended to include affluence.

Only when the millionaires of America achieve full equality will our nation reach its true potential.
