BLAZING REMAINS OF the grandstand at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds in Eller lit up the night sky in southern Magic Valley Thursday, and despite the efforts of four fire departments the old wooden structure burned to the ground. The Twin Falls County Sheriff's department is investigating the possibility of arson. Fair Board members estimated the damage at $250,000. The structure was insured, but it was not known immediately how much of the loss it would cover.

the smoke. "I knew it was gone even before I got a good look," he said. "Was there anything there that might have caused the fire?" he was asked. "No, nothing. All our wiring is new. "What's the damage?" "I don't know. It'll cost close to $250,000 to replace the grandstands, though."

Twin Falls County Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller, at the scene, said he believes the county has replacement insurance. "But I'm not sure. We changed it recently and I'll have to check."

He said the damage would be close to $250,000. "Thank God it didn't get at the voting machines we have," he said. "The county has $200,000 worth of voting machines locked away in a building about 200 yards from the scene of the grandstand."

However, the fire at the wash shed turned out to be only steaming piles of straw, the steam being caused by the cold temperatures at the fair grounds. "The flames of the grandstand fire were visible from Five Points West in Twin Falls, and tall columns of white smoke could be seen against the dark sky."

Sheriff's deputies said an estimated 2,000 people gathered at the fairgrounds to watch the fire. Many volunteered to man hoses and work with shovels to keep the fire from spreading to the many buildings nearby. "The fire was contained to the grandstand."

Buhl Draws 300 To State Moose Meet

Buhl — An estimated 300 Moose lodge members from throughout the state have gathered at Buhl for the 39th annual convention of the Idaho State Moose Association today and Saturday.

Mississippi Begins Work To Integrate

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Their avenues of legal appeal finally exhausted, officials of 30 Mississippi school districts reluctantly began today to establish the most massive school desegregation program in the nation's history. In a hearing Thursday, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the officials to begin making arrangements immediately to have unitary school systems fully operative by Dec. 31.

Supreme lodge dignitaries attending are George Reilly, Junior past supreme governor, San Francisco, and Kenneth James, Albany, Ore., state director. Mr. Reilly addressed a luncheon Friday noon at the R and R cafe.

The Women of the Moose began their meetings Thursday afternoon with an address by Alta Meade, graduate grand regent, who discussed changes in regalia. Registration and a meeting of the nominating committee were the only activities Thursday, with all delegates going to Jackpot, Nev., for dinner and entertainment in the evening.

ERIC HARSHBARGER

son of Col. E. T. Harshbarger, Filer, was killed Nov. 1 in Vietnam when the helicopter in which he was chief gunner landed on a mine. He was graduated from Filer High School and enlisted in the Army in May, 1968.

Filer Man Loses Life In Vietnam

FILER — The Secretary of the Army has notified Col. E. T. Harshbarger, (USAF, Retired) Route 2, Filer, that his son Spec 4 Eric Harshbarger, was killed in action in Vietnam, Nov. 1. He was serving as a helicopter crew chief, with D Troop (air) Cavalry, First Infantry Division. The initial report stated that his helicopter landed on a mine in the landing zone. He was born Nov. 13, 1949, in Pretoria, Republic of South Africa, and attended schools in Shreveport, La.; Lincoln, Neb.; and Napa, Calif. He was graduated from Filer High School and enlisted in the Army in May, 1968. He trained at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and Ft. Rucker, Ala., and was shipped to Vietnam in December, 1968. Survivors besides his father include his mother, Mrs. Bettie Jean Harshbarger, Mercer Island, Wash., and one sister, Kristina Harshbarger, attending the University of Idaho, Moscow.

Explosion Kills 62 Men In South African Mine

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A mile-and-a-half deep explosion ripped through the shaft of a gold mine today, killing 62 men in South Africa's worst mining accident in nine years.

A spokesman for the General Mining Co. said hope had been abandoned for finding any survivors. The blast occurred at 8:30 a.m. (2:30 EDT) at a depth of 7,500 feet.

Solons Offer Plea To Seek End Of War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders Mike Mansfield and Hugh Scott introduced a Resolution today asking President Nixon to call on Hanoi to join in a mutual cease-fire in Vietnam. The bipartisan Senate resolution also would express support of Nixon's efforts to negotiate a just peace in Vietnam. The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved Thursday a resolution expressing general approval of Nixon's efforts to end the war. It did not mention a cease-fire. Mansfield blocked an attempt to introduce a House-type resolution in the Senate by insisting on amendments calling for a cease-fire and free elections.

At least 29 other miners were injured in the blast at the Buffelsfontein Mine near Klerksdorp, 100 miles southwest of Johannesburg. Many of the injured were unconscious and in critical condition when rescue workers lifted them to the surface, the mine spokesman said. The explosion occurred shortly after 12 cases of explosives were sent down to help in deepening the shaft.

City Advised Of Pollution Problems

Newly elected Twin Falls city councilmen were welcomed to their offices in a special meeting Thursday afternoon and introduced to one of the city's major current problems — annexation. Attending their first council meeting were Paul Galyon, John Christoffersen and Tom Nelson, who were elected Tuesday to fill the three expiring terms of the council on Jan. 1.

Wet

Rain was falling throughout Magic Valley Friday as far north as Hailey, but at Galena Lodge, north of Ketchum, there are six inches of snow. It snowed all day Thursday at the lodge, Mrs. Howard Platt reports. A snow plow has gone over the summit and Highway 93 is in good condition. Ralph Cisco, Sawtooth valley ranger, and his office help moved to Hailey Friday for the winter. Only one inch of snow was reported on the Salmon River side of the summit.

Colbrook Mine. They were trapped 500 feet underground. The Buffelsfontein Mine is one of 55 mines in the 300-mile long Witwatersrand Belt, the world's richest gold producing area.

City Advised Of Pollution Problems

Rescue teams said they saw several bodies scattered among rubble at the bottom of the shaft. It was the worst South African mining accident since Jan. 21, 1960 when 437 miners died in an explosion at the time.

Lebanese Leader Will Keep Post

BEIRUT (UPI) — Veteran political leader Rashid Karami agreed Thursday to stay on as Lebanon's premier and to form a new Cabinet following settlement of the crisis between the Lebanese army and Arab guerrillas. Karami, 47, met for one hour with President Charles Helou and began consultations immediately with Lebanon's various parliamentary blocs. "We hope to form a new government the quickest possible," he said. It will be his eighth in 14 years. Reliable reports from Tripoli, Lebanon's second largest city, said guerrillas still holding various areas planned to evacuate within 48 hours. A Lebanese envoy met with Syrian officials, apparently to discuss reopening the border between the two countries.

Israelis Hit Egyptians, Warn Syria

By United Press International — Israeli planes bombed targets in Egypt and Jordan today and Israel's Deputy Premier, Yigal Allon, warned Lebanon and Syria their heartland was vulnerable if they allow Arab guerrillas to go too far in attacks from their territory. The Middle East situation was knotted up again following President Gamal Abdel, Nasser's speech Thursday night in which he said the recovery of Palestine from Israel must be accomplished through fire and blood and not political half solutions.

THE TICKET OFFICE in front of the fairgrounds grandstand was doused by firemen and volunteers Thursday night to keep it from burning down, along with the grandstand, as there's a place to sell tickets for seats now, but no seats to fill.

Arson Suspected In Fairgrounds Blaze

Possibilities of arson in the fire that swept through the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds grandstand at Eller Thursday night were reported under investigation Friday by Sheriff Paul Corder. Mr. Corder said, as yet, no evidence has been found to prove arson, but he said there was no reason for fire in that area and the entire structure went up like a torch. He said he felt another fire in the area about the same time, in a small warehouse building, also could have been set.

Reds Attack Police Units Inside Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops attacked two police stations inside Saigon this morning and shelled 63 Allied targets across the war zone in their strongest mortar and rocket attacks in two months. The U.S. and South Vietnamese generals commanding the defense of Saigon said it was part of the winter guerrilla offensive which they said began Monday just before President Nixon's speech on Vietnam. At least 100 sappers sneaked into the capital during the night for their attacks on the two outlying police stations, touching off the heaviest fighting inside the capital since May, 1968. One of the thrusts penetrated one station but both were thrown back with military spokesmen reporting 17 Communist guerrillas slain. One policeman was killed and eight were wounded.

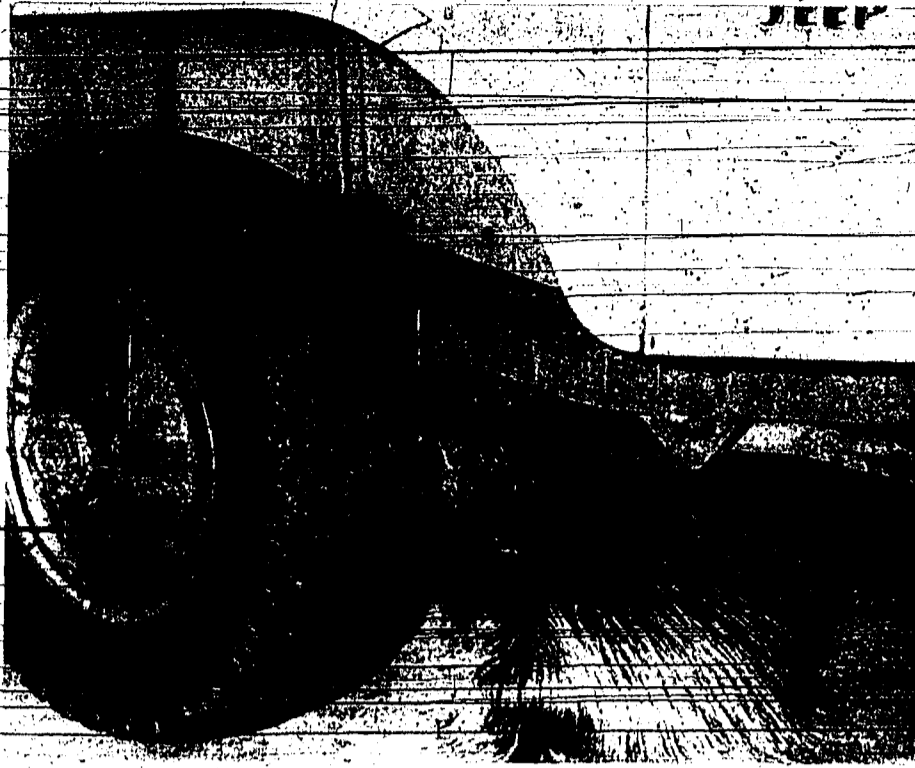

Aussie Liberals Re-Elect Leader

CANBERRA (UPI) — Liberal party members of parliament today re-elected John Grey Gorton as their party leader and guaranteed that he will continue to be prime minister of Australia. Gorton defeated a challenge by two of his own ministers, Treasurer William McMahon and Minister for National Development David Fairbairn, during a closed-door party meeting at Parliament House.

Meet Set On Last Phase Of Rock Creek Water Project

Final planning phases of the Rock Creek Watershed Project are scheduled to get under way Nov. 20 in a meeting in Twin Falls with project sponsors and directors of the current county comprehensive planning study. Clarence Hedrick, Soil Conservation Service official, said all of the Rock Creek project study, with the exception of the phase dealing with recreation, has now completed. At the Nov. 20 meeting a recreational report will be heard and steps taken to include this project with the overall county planning now being directed by Dr. R. P. Fasolino, associate professor, Idaho State University. Dr. Fasolino will attend the meeting, as will officials of the U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, County Commissioners, other interested persons and representatives of the six sponsoring organizations. These include the Rock Creek Reservoir Storage Co., Inc., Twin Falls county and city officials and the three soil conservation districts in the area, the Snake River, West Cassia and Twin Falls districts. The meeting will be held at 1:15 p.m. in the Twin Falls SCS office in the old hospital building. One year ago the Rock Creek Watershed Project was given a planning priority by the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts committee on small watershed projects. Mr. Hedrick said it is hoped the actual feasibility study can be under way by early in the year. Reports on the project will be given by Jack Claiborne, president of the reservoir company during the state convention of Idaho Soil Conservation Districts in Twin Falls later this month. Lloyd Dunn, Montpelier, is chairman of the association's small watershed projects committee and has asked for the report on progress of the local study.

Street Scene

LOOKS LIKE IT'S going to be a long, cold winter — or, at least this prickly-looking customer thought so. Mr. Porcupine waddled his way into town Thursday from the wilds, apparently looking for a warm place to hole up until spring, and tried to stake a claim to the territory under this Jeep at 2154 Crestwood Dr. He made the neighbors nervous, however, so he was carefully — very carefully — coaxed into a garbage can and trundled off to the Snake River Canyon, where he was turned loose.

Idaho Confab Of PTA Opens In Lake City

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — The 64th annual state convention of the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers opened in the lake city Thursday.

The theme of the three-day convention is "Children's Emotional Health," and features speakers of national note on the subject.

One such authority is Dr. R. Harry Smallemberg, director of public personnel services for Los Angeles County, Calif.

Dr. Smallemberg will speak before the 230 delegates on the topic, "Children's emotional health — key concepts for parents."

Another national expert slated to address the delegates Friday is Dr. Merritt Egan, director of the division of child and adolescent psychiatry, University of Utah Medical Center, Salt Lake City.

Merritt, the father of 11 children, has written a number of books and articles on the subject of child and family emotional problems.

Special guest from the national PTA is Ray Lemke, Minneapolis, Minn., who is national chairman of program services for the organization. He will address the delegates at noon today.

Gem General Fund Reported $1.8 Million By October 31

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's gem fund, compared with a black era fund was $1,887,996 at the end of October, a joint report from Auditor Joe R. Williams and Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon said Thursday.

Although the treasurer still showed a black balance in the fund the auditor reported nearly $4 million worth of outstanding warrants which, when paid, would put the general fund in the red.

Miss Moon said the red bal-

Drawing Set Wednesday At Kimberly, Thursday In T.F.

KIMBERLY—The East End has an unusual opportunity to meet its quota of 100 pints next Wednesday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits Kimberly one day before the drawing in Twin Falls.

The Kimberly drawing usually is held after the Twin Falls event, but because of the Veterans Day holiday and problem of finding a location, the Twin Falls drawing is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 13.

Local residents can donate at the Kimberly grade school building from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday. Harold Hove has been named honorary chairman for both the East End and Twin Falls drawings.

On May 6th he donated his 20th pint (two gallons and four pints), having started this project in June, 1956. He had given

Improvements Planned For Area Airport

RICHFIELD — Improvement on the Richfield airport is expected to begin as soon as approval is received from the Idaho Department of Aeronautics, John Lemton, city councilman reports.

The runway will be widened and resurfaced and the land at the site built up to provide better drainage. It is hoped that lights can be put in installed at a future date.

The improvement at the airport, which was approved by city council members this week, will be a cooperative project with labor and equipment to be secured on a donation basis from local residents, Mr. Lemton said.

He explained only $400 is budgeted per year by the council for maintenance of the airport which is used twice daily by a Bank of Idaho plane, by crop dusting pilots and farm representatives who have private planes and also by students from Jerome and Twin Falls flying schools.

City councilmen recently conferred with Chet Moulton, state director of aeronautics, and John Strubhar, engineer, to hear recommendations for the airport improvement project.

It was announced at the council meeting that the city's franchise with the Idaho Power Co. will not expire until 1994. Councilmen and the city clerk had been guests of Idaho Power officials, Kenneth Blackburn and Earl Haroldson, division manager, to discuss status of the franchise.

An insurance policy with the Thorne Agency, Shoshone, was renewed and wages for election board clerks set at $15.

Conventions

During the past year some 5,000 people came to Twin Falls to attend conventions, it was noted in a Chamber of Commerce report.

The national average for daily expenditures at a state or regional convention is $23.41, the report states. Most conventions are for two days, so each delegate would spend about $56.81 in Twin Falls.

Ray Rostron, chamber manager, said, "If you multiply this by 5,000 you can see how important conventions are to the economy of Twin Falls. This is big business."

City's Mat Program To Start Nov. 15

The "Kid Wrestling Program," sponsored by the Twin Falls Recreation Department and Twin Falls High School, will begin Nov. 15 at the high school gymnasium.

The seasons will be held Nov. 15 and Nov. 29 and Dec. 6, 13 and 20. Fifth and sixth graders will meet from 9 to 10 a.m.; first and second graders from 10 to 11 a.m. and 11 a.m. to noon for third and fourth graders.

Directors for each elementary school are asked to send those who want to participate to the gym. Each program will be directed by the high school wrestling coach with the help of his own wrestlers. Sessions will be under the supervision of Steve Burrato and Al Busby, high school wrestling coaches.

The tournament will be held Dec. 20 in the Twin Falls High School gym. Each participant will receive a certificate and a blue ribbon for each match won and a red ribbon for each match lost.

New Era In Schools

Racial integration of schools must be effective immediately, the Supreme Court has ruled in its first major decision under Chief Justice Warren Burger.

The brief decision denied the Justice Department's appeal for more time for integration of 33 Mississippi school districts. Officials of the affected districts viewed compliance as "a physical impossibility."

President Nixon, supporting the court's decision, urged all citizens to work together in seeking solutions to the problems that remain. Under the 1954 landmark decision of the Supreme Court, integration was ordered with "all deliberate speed" and permitted continuance of segregation during litigation.

This, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People saw as "litigation forever" denying their rights as set forth by the court. Now, integration is to be effected by force, despite pending litigation. Some 200 cases are pending.

In effect, the Court held fifteen years and five months is time enough. Such a decision was inevitable.

More time conceivably could have made the job of school administrators in Mississippi somewhat easier—or they could have continued the status quo and the rootless hope that the problem eventually would just go away.

Naturally, the NAACP and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. were delighted with the decision as a triumph for justice.

Southern political leaders viewed it as meaning the "end of quality education," "disaster for public education in Mississippi and many parts of the South," and impossible to comply with.

"Unitary school systems within which no person is to be excluded from any school because of race or color," the Supreme Court holds, is the law of the land and must be effective now.

This is not only the law. It is reasonable. It must be applied with reason. It need not mean any kind of disaster or the end of quality education. A common purpose to raise the standards of all education and common sense in going about the implementation of the requirements are what is needed now.

WASHINGTON — The rising enthusiasm among liberal Democrats for Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, House majority leader, to displace Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts sharply declined last week during a bitter backstage battle over school funds.

Albert supported Rep. George Mahon of Texas, the conservative chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, rather than the overwhelming majority of House Democrats in the struggle. That's precisely the complaint the liberals have long made about McCormack's leadership: ignoring the majority of Democrats. What's more, Albert lost the appropriations fight on the House floor—another McCormack habit.

Anticipating January, 1971, when McCormack now says he will seek reelection as Speaker, leaders of the liberal Democratic Study Group (DSG) in the House had been looking to Albert as the best bet to beat the aging Speaker. That talk was bolstered by the scandal backed by Jack Jordan of Pennsylvania and John Andrews of Ohio, thus lifting Northern party leaders off an embarrassing hook.

A major reorganization in the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Department that would elevate the department's civil rights work to the assistant secretary level is now in the advance planning stage.

The idea is to gather all the department's civil rights activities, now spread throughout various offices, under one high-level roof—which, significantly, would give HEW far greater strength in its civil rights battles with the Justice Department over school desegregation.

Presently civil rights operations dealing with public schools are split between Leon Panetta, who is HEW Secretary Robert Finch's special assistant for civil rights, and the Office of Education, under Dr. James Allen. In addition, non-discrimination in employment on HEW-subsidized hospitals and other institutions are dealt with in still another office.

On Fearful Asia Nations

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It has not been announced and probably will not be, but the Indonesians have quietly asked the United States to stay three more years in South Vietnam.

They need this temporary shield against infiltration, they say, to give them time to stabilize their government and economy. After 1972, they believe, they will be able to hold their own.

President Suharto's government has made remarkable strides since the abortive Communist try at taking over Indonesia Sept. 30, 1965. But the task has been complicated by ex-President Sukarno's decade and a half of economic and political mismanagement and by the deep penetrations into high officialdom made by the Communists before their attempted coup.

Sometimes, however, it is difficult to distinguish between the two.

The United States "is already a police state," Dr. Spock informed an audience, mostly of young people, at Kent State University in Ohio the other day.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you please explain leg and foot cramps? I am 65. It's not from lack of vitamins, vitamin C, or normal exercise.—Mrs. L.B.

Leg cramps, which don't usually bother many of us until we have reached the age of discretion, aren't as a rule related to lack of vitamins. Lack of calcium, however, can cause these painful muscle spasms. (Vitamin D sometimes is an aid in absorbing the calcium.)

Chronic, but sometimes unrecognized, strain on the muscles can be a factor, often unrecognized because the cramps may not start while you are up and around, but ambush you after you have climbed into bed and started to relax.

Impaired circulation—and all of us experience that to some degree—is a very common cause. A special type of exercise, to promote better circulation in the legs, can help that.

For a fuller explanation of all of this, as well as medication that is helpful, I suggest that you send for my booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Send 35 cents and a

ANDREW TULLY

Free Speech?

WASHINGTON — One of the more felicitous utterances reported in some time is the complaint by mail-order purveyors of pornography that they will be put out of business by a law which gives individuals the right to stop companies from mailing advertisements to their homes.

To me, the complaints mean the law is working, since it was written to stop the flow of smut. That is to say, the more filth factories we close the less filth will be available through the mails.

Nevertheless, the Supreme Court properly has agreed to review the constitutionality of the law, on the argument of 16 California companies that it violates the right of free speech. A hint as to the Court's finding may be discovered in the fact that for the past several years it has encouraged Congress to find ways to keep offensive material out of the hands of the young and others who resent unsolicited salacious material.

Under the current law, any addressee who has received an advertisement which in his judgment is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative" may get a postal order warning the sender not to mail him any more of the stuff. If the mailer persists, the Justice Department can hold him in contempt of court.

The appeal argument makes several points which I trust even the present Court can demolish with ease. Perhaps the most fragile is the "free speech" bit. No government agency is infringing on the smut peddlers' right of free speech. It is merely upholding the right of their audiences to walk away from the speaker. Free speech does not include the right to pester or cozen against the will of the prospective customer. Indeed, our laws protect even the noisy and violent demonstrator who prevents a candidate for President from having his say.

Another section of the appeal deplores the law's aggravation of the problem of censorship in that it gives private individuals "broad and chilling powers" and forces postal officials to enforce the "whilms" of each citizen.

Well now. I should hope that such powers are "chilling" to smut peddlers. That's the whole idea. The law is also splendid in protecting the "whilms" of the individual. After all, the Constitution provides for the right of personal privacy, although these days it sometimes seems more often observed in the breach, as anyone who has ever dealt with the Internal Revenue Service can testify. There is no valid reason why an individual should abdicate his constitutional prerogative to be the "sole judge"—as the appeal puts it—of what advertising he admits to his home.

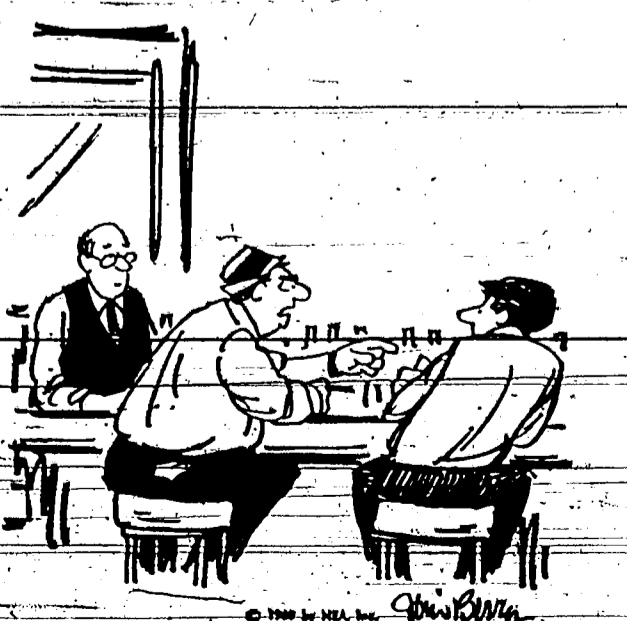

If it matters, a lower court already has reaffirmed these individual rights. Two of the three judges sitting said the individual's right to privacy outweighs the mailers' claims of free speech and press. The third said the law as no-danger to the mailers' rights so long as it safeguarded their right to appeal.

Sure, one man's smut is another man's kick. Postal people note that one individual stopped the flow of catalogues to his home by saying he was aroused by pictures of such merchandise as lingerie, bed sheets and girdles. But that is irrelevant. The point is that within the sanctity of his home the individual has the right to protect himself against any variety of invasion. It is a right that applies even to the dope pusher with a closet full of merchandise who may be visited by a company of cops lacking a search warrant.

There are two ironic economic aspects to the lawsuit. One is that every taxpayer helps to subsidize smut mailings through his delictus-ridden Post Office Department. The other is the purported high cost to the mailer of conforming to the law.

According to the appeal papers, it costs $5 to remove a name from the average mailing list. This seems high, but I accept the figure in the spirit of wishful thinking. It indicates that the smut merchants are suffering from a severe case of bad management.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, Man Who Built Sears Chain Into World Retail Giant, Dies In Chicago Home At Age Of 90

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gen. Robert E. Wood, who built Sears, Roebuck and Co. from a fledgling mail order firm into one of the world's largest retailers, died Thursday in his suburban Lake Forest home. He was 90.

Wood, a West Point graduate who became a general at the age of 39, served in World War I as acting Quartermaster General and director of purchase and storage for the entire United States Army. Wood served in Panama during the construction of the Panama Canal. During 10 years of service there, Wood rose to the post of chief quartermaster of the project and head of the Panama railroad and steamship line.

Wood joined Sears in 1924 as director of factory operations and became its president in 1928. He was elected board chairman in 1939 and retired in 1954.

2 Lawsuits Are Filed In Court

Two lawsuits, filed against the city of Twin Falls and two of its former police officers, were ordered dismissed Thursday by Fifth District Court Judge James Cunningham.

The suits had asked for a total of $111,000 in damages in connection with the arrests of two Jerome men in December of 1967 on charges of illegal possession of narcotics.

Shortly after the suits were ordered dismissed, two new lawsuits were filed by the same plaintiffs.

The dismissals were ordered because no action had been taken on the suits in more than a year.

The new suits, filed by Grant B. Case Humphries Jr. and Harold Ruebelman, ask a total of $37,000 in damages.

Listed as defendants in the new suits are Mike McGreer and Ed Heath, former Twin Falls police officers, and the city of Twin Falls.

The plaintiffs alleged the two former police officers arrested them on Dec. 21, 1967, and charged them with illegal possession of narcotics. They further allege the officers planted evidence in their car. They claim illegal search and seizure and denial of their due process of law by false evidence.

Officers Heath and McGreer left the police force in December of 1967 and were charged with felonies of preparing false evidence. They pleaded innocent to the charges.

The charges were later reduced to misdemeanors, malicious procurement of warrants, and the two men, Mr. Heath and Mr. McGreer, were fined $300 each and given suspended six month jail terms.

Records show they were adjudged innocent of the felony charges.

Vietnam War Is Top Concern In Idaho Poll

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rep. Orval Hansen said today a poll conducted in Idaho's Second District shows people feel the war in Vietnam is the number one problem facing the nation.

"In second place was inflation, with about a fourth of those responding considering it to be the most serious problem," he said.

Third in order was the problem of crime; fourth is tax reform; fifth is campus disorder; sixth is poverty; seventh is education; eighth is farm income and ninth is urban problems."

He said additional comments on his questionnaire indicated, "The war in Vietnam is the cause for widespread concern. However, there was little agreement on the solution to the war."

University Of Idaho Educator Writes Cougar Article For National Geographic

MOSCOW — Dr. Maurice G. Hornocker, leader of the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at the University of Idaho, has published an account of his three-year study of America's big cat, the cougar, in the November issue of National Geographic magazine.

Vatican Art Thefts Are Questioned

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Italian newspapers Thursday gave prominent play to reports that three paintings had been stolen from Pope Paul VI's apartment in spite of Vatican denials.

The report of the theft was published first Wednesday by the Italia News Agency. It said the thefts took place while the pontiff was in summer residence in Castelgandolfo.

A Vatican spokesman said the report was not true. But most of the Italian press gave splash treatment to the story and carried the Vatican denial virtually as a footnote.

There also were doubters inside the Vatican itself. One source speculated the paintings had been recovered and that the Vatican decided to deny the theft to avoid having the incident played up.

'Sinful' Names Bring Rejection

JEFFERSON CITY, Colo. (UPI) — When officials of this Denver suburb asked voters for their ideas on a new community name, some suggestions included Sin City, Dogtown, Hogback Hill, Up Tight and Tuxedo Junction.

The City Council votes Thursday to rename it Lakewood.

swung into a labyrinth of rocks behind us. We later recaptured him and this time worked over the cat in a fully drugged state.

Commenting on the significance of his study, Dr. Hornocker states: "While we learned a great deal about this magnificent animal and its effect on deer and elk populations, we need to know more. We need to know in order to preserve and manage this splendid animal — an integral and important part of the wilderness environment and a true vestige of primitive America."

Dr. Hornocker states in the story: "During the three winters from 1964-66, my partner, Wilbur Willes, and I captured 30 lions, some as many as 14 times for a total of 116 different captures. In capturing them, we used three-hound dogs to track and tree them, and a tranquilizer gun to quiet them. We then marked the drugged lions by tattooing or with a collar for future reference when recaptured or killed.

"However, our work was not accomplished without incident. We did have a few close calls trying to get the drugged cats out of rotten trees or trees hanging over bluffs. Early in the study, we treed a large tawny male in a half-rotten fir that leaned far over a cliff. I fired a drug-laden dart into his hip and after 10 minutes was sure that he was ready to be lowered to the ground.

"Strapping on tree-climbing spurs, I began to approach him. Fully occupied with climbing, I could not keep watch on the big cat 30 feet above me, but could hear him breathing as I got near. Just as I started to glance up, Wilbur shouted, 'Watch out, he's coming down.' I managed to move to my left at his warning — only to find myself staring into the amber eyes of the partially drugged lion.

"I dug a spur into the tree and pushed myself up. At that, the big cat dived down the trunk, tearing off chunks of bark with his gripping claws. He sprang from the tree and sailed like a huge flying squirrel onto the snow at the cliff's edge. With another bound, the lion appeared in Justice Court, he entered innocent pleas to both charges. Bond was set at $150 on the drunken driving charge and $250 on the other. He has yet to post the bonds.

Records show he was driving a truck when it collided head on with a car driven by Ellen Jackson, 23, Burley. The accident happened on Elba Avenue. After the accident, Lopez allegedly backed up, drove around the wreck site and was enroute to Burley when he ran a State Police officer off the road.

The charges followed Mrs. Jackson and her two children, ages three months and two and a half, were treated by a physician

Charges Filed After Wreck In Burley

BURLEY — Roberto S. Lopez, 40, Oakley, is in the Cassia County jail charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He was arrested Thursday by Idaho State Police.

He was also charged by Burley police with leaving the scene of an accident.

Appearing in Justice Court, he entered innocent pleas to both charges. Bond was set at $150 on the drunken driving charge and $250 on the other. He has yet to post the bonds.

Population Control Deemed 'Best Hope' For Survival Of Mankind As A Species

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A committee of the National Research Council said today the "best hope" for man's long survival as a species lies in reduction of the world's population.

Other voices have warned mankind will be doomed to extinction—the fate of most earthly species, if population growth is not checked soon.

But the research council committee said the population—3.5 billion—already is too great to preserve man comfortably on a planet worth inhabiting.

By 2070, in the absence of various "controlling factors," there will be 30 billion people in the world.

From the standpoint of food alone, this would represent the earth's "ultimate carrying capacity"—a level the committee said, of "chronic near-starvation for the great majority." At the rate man's population and needs are rising, the committee said, irreplaceable natural resources simply are not sufficient to meet future demand.

Indeed, many substances vital for industrial society are running out. These include mercury, tin, tungsten, and helium. Known reserves of such materials "will be nearly exhausted by the end of this century or early in the next."

Oil and gas reserves, laid down over hundreds of millions of years, in the earth's geologic past, are running out, and nuclear power at the moment offers no permanent answer to impending power shortages.

Moreover, said the committee, "The popular belief that the oceans contain inexhaustible mineral wealth and that aquatic food products will provide a long-range solution to the nutrition problem is also open to serious question."

The resources committee was headed by Prof. Preson E. Cloud Jr., of the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Second Idaho Bank Receives Warning On Interest Rates

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's Chief Prosecutor warned a northern bank Thursday that they may face charges for overcharging interest rates on their credit card.

Attorney General Robert Robson warned the president of the Idaho First National Bank that unless his institution lowers its proposed rates on its Master Charge Credit Card, "This office will institute action against you."

No immediate comment on the letter was forthcoming from William E. Irvin, bank president. He merely noted "We have to have some time to get our heads together on this—and then we'll have something."

State Finance Commissioner John Silva, who has been in similar actions in the past, was out of town and not available for comment.

Tunney Kin Has Left Hospital

MARSEILLES, France (UPI)—Mrs. Joan Wilkinson, 30, daughter of former world heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, has left a hospital where she was treated for shock and amnesia, doctors said today.

Mrs. Wilkinson was found at a campsite near Marseilles Oct. 24 after she was reported missing for several weeks. Doctors said she left Sainte-Marguerite hospital "a few days ago" completely recovered.

Reliable sources said Mrs. Wilkinson and her husband departed Marseilles shortly after her release from the hospital, and that they had returned to the United States.

Jurist Defends Student Rights

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Alameda County Counsel Richard J. Moore said Thursday a high school student's constitutional rights were violated when his principal sent him home for preaching religion on the school grounds.

Moore said in an opinion requested by the Fremont United School District that Steven Minsky, 18, was not violating any law in speaking to his fellow students in the school yard during lunch hour.

Minsky was sent home last week by Principal Robert Callahan of Washington High School because he refused to stop talking about God. He did not get back in class for a day and a half after a conference with his parents and Callahan.

A school spokesman said Callahan felt such activity was unconstitutional under the doctrine of separation of church and state.

Monetary Changes Noted At Lincoln Farm Bureau Meet

SHOSHONE—Under the topic of "Change," Gene Hull, Twin Falls, outlined the history of change in money during the Lincoln County Farm Bureau annual banquet meeting at the Manhattan Cafe, reports Mrs. Ervin Braun, reporter.

Along with a review of the terms considered valuable in various countries, Hull pointed out, "good money and heavy money is driven out by light money and bad money."

"In our lifetime, we have experienced a whole new school of thought," he noted, "in the change from gold to silver and certificates and paper money, blank checks and credit cards."

The element of faith involved was noted and Hull said $70,000,000 checks were written daily in the U.S. with the average family making $3,000 a year and an anticipated $14,000 income in 10 years.

"Undoubtedly we will be making and spending more as time goes along," he said. Credit cards used now in the U.S. total 400,000,000 with 200,000,000 persons in the U.S. holding them and the average city man having seven credit cards for his business.

Aiming at pointing out that everything we get we can get on credit, except groceries, Hull said the housewife decries rises in cost of living, but little is heard regarding other increases.

"If farmers could somehow get the food on credit card sale basis, they would make more money and hear less complaints. People don't seem to notice increases if it is charged."

Hull advocated farmers cooperating in such things as use of equipment, therefore cutting their individual costs with big profit.

Glenn L. Sorenson, Dietrich, was master of ceremonies. M. E. McKendrick, Shoshone, gave the invocation. Tom Hutchinson, Shoshone, provided musical entertainment with singing and playing a guitar, some of the selections being his own.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Don Hine, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sexton, Jerome; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Weatherwax, Jerome; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bosserman, Gooding; Mrs. Clyde Vanauddeln, Twin Falls; Leo Sentfen, Shoshone; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hadlock, Shoshone.

Meeting Set

BURLEY—The Cassia County Farm Bureau will have its annual meeting at 2 p.m. Nov. 15 in the Farm Bureau conference room. The annual banquet will be held at 8 p.m. in Price's Cafe.

All Cassia County Farm Bureau members are urged to attend both events.

4-H Key Awards

Three Twin Falls County 4-H'ers will receive the Key Award during a noon-lunch meeting Thursday with the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club in the Turf Club.

This award is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and goes to outstanding 4-H'ers in each county for their work in 4-H. Receiving the award this year will be Lori Sill, Castleford; Kris Annis, Siler, and Edward Britt, Twin Falls.

These three 4-H'ers, plus Jack Southwick, and Marshall Schroeder, both Buhl, and Rusty Jessor, Twin Falls, will present the program for the Kiwanis Club.

Spud School Scheduled At Idaho Falls

IDAHO FALLS—Men who grow Idaho seed potatoes will study their business at a school in Idaho Falls, Nov. 24. Earl Spencer, seminar chairman and fieldman for the Idaho Crop Improvement Association, announced today. The meeting will be at the Elks Club.

The program will include discussion of planting, weed control, irrigation, disease control, harvesting, and storage. Agricultural scientists of the University of Idaho extension service and experiment station will present information on all phases of the industry. Fidel Amar, Challis, chairman of the seed potato committee of the crop improvement association, will take part in the discussion.

About 40,000 acres of seed potatoes were grown in Idaho in 1969. Nearly 35,000 acres met certification standards.

Richard Chase, extension potato specialist, University of Michigan, will discuss virus control in that state.

$25,500 Top Price At 20 Grand Show

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The famous Hereford Twenty Grand Sweepstakes Show and Sale drew an estimated 1,000 persons to judge the event and remain to bid a total of $123,760 for the 20-head offering.

Topping the sale was Lucy Management Company, North Kansas City, Mo., on their bid of $25,500 to own MR Lemac 8808, consigned by McLean Ranches, Springfield, Mo.

Wyoming Hereford Ranch, Cheyenne, paid $10,100 to own three-fourths interest in Prince Return 8007, consigned by Indian Mound Farm, New Harmony, Ind. The other one-fourth interest belongs to Mississippi State University, State College.

Buyers represented eleven states and Mexico. Ten bulls sold for $5,000 or more.

NAMED OFFICER—EMMETT—Mrs. Paul Patton, Emmett, has been named historian of the American Hereford Auxiliary.

LOCAL STUDENT at the University of Idaho is an officer of the Office and Bridle Club, an animal science club. The club's officers are, seated, from left, Michael Mogenson, Payette, president; Kesley Edmo Jr., Fort Hall, reporter; Nancy Holthaus, Cottonwood, secretary, and James McNawi, Carey, agricultural council representative. Standing, Dr. Stanley Farlin, assistant professor of animal science and faculty advisor; Terry Hawkins, Horseshoe Bend, treasurer, and John Sandy, Hagerman, parliamentarian.

Horticultural Society Sets State Meet

BOISE—Bright spots and disappointments of the fruit production year will be reviewed at the 75th annual meeting of the Idaho State Horticultural Society at the Downtown Motel in Boise, Nov. 24 and 25.

The program was announced today by Jack Williamson, Caldwell, president, and Tony Horn, University of Idaho extension horticulturist, secretary. About 300 men and women are expected.

Bad weather dealt a severe blow to the cherry crop and the prune market was distressed by heavy production, Williamson said, but the apple crop was of unusually fine color and quality in meeting demands of the market.

R. Paul Larsen, superintendent of a fruit experiment station at Wenatchee, Wash., will discuss problems of the national apple industry. The banquet speaker will be Fred Whitridge, executive vice-president of the Zellerbach Paper Company, San Francisco. Helen Wilson, dean

Booster Night Set By Grange

SHOSHONE—The annual booster night for Magic Grange will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14 with a potluck dinner for members and guests. Those attending are to take their own table service.

The State Grange convention will be held the first week in December at the Elk's Lodge in Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Faught and Mrs. L. E. Campbell were installed into office at the meeting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Urrutia and George Dewep were accepted as new members.

Elmore Cattle Rancher Wins Grass Award

MOUNTAIN HOME—Production of Angus cattle on Elmore County ranches that used to run sheep has brought J. R. Cornell Jr., Mayfield and Mountain Home, a regional award in the 1969 Idaho Grassman program.

Judges announced this week he is one of four finalists in the 18th annual educational activity for advancement of grasslands agriculture. The state champion will be announced Nov. 10 at the annual meeting of the Idaho Chamber of Commerce in Boise.

The other finalists among more than 30 county candidates are Bolen Urestl, Challis, sheep producer; Raymond DeTay, Athol, dairyman, and O. W. Robison, Roberts, cattle rancher. The winner will succeed Jim Wood, Samuels, as Idaho Grassman-of-the-Year.

Hugh Hough, Boise, state chairman, said there was vigorous participation in all areas of Idaho. Doyle Scott, administrator of the Idaho Soil Conservation Commission, was judging chairman. Walter Edwards, Mountain Home, Elmore County agent of the University of Idaho extension service, was chairman of the group that sponsored Cornell's entry.

The Cornell ranch is a composite of two ranches that were a part of the Thompson Sheep Company, the Mayfield and Dixie ranches, plus the Little Camas ranch owned by the late J. R. Cornell Sr., father of the current operator. Young Cornell has been in charge since 1960. More than 22,000 acres of deeded and public land is involved.

Cornell has increased carrying capacity by spraying more than 3,500 acres for control of sagebrush, seeding 600 acres to improved grasses and legumes, and striping about 20 miles of fence. Grazing distribution has been improved by development of a well, a storage reservoir and eight springs.

Forty acres have been leveled, seeded to Manchero-brome grass and Cascade trefoil, and put under irrigation. Cornell said he was inspired in his range-seeding work by accomplishments of the late James O. Beck, a Mayfield rancher.

NAMED EDITOR—CINCINNATI—Herbert H. Barnes Jr., farm manager and immediate past president of the American Soybean Association, will become southern editor of the Farm Quarterly magazine effective Jan. 1, 1970.

Today's Market And Financial Report

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—An impressive gain in American telephone helped the market move into higher ground Friday in moderately active trading.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m. the DJI marketwide indicator rose 0.44 per cent on 1,527 issues crossing the tape. There were 814 advances, and 441 declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials rose 4.88 to 880.00.

A turnover of around 9,000,000 shares exceeded Thursday's pace.

Strength in AT&T largely reflected an indication by the Federal Communications Commission that it would allow the utility a better rate of return than the 7 1/2 per cent proposed by the agency's study two years ago.

Memorex, which spurred 1 1/2 points Thursday, was delayed in opening due to an influx of orders. The concern recently introduced a new, low cost computer microfilm printer. It also is looking for record sales and earnings this year.

Undefeated And Untested Ohio State Figures To Belt Wisconsin Saturday

By WILLIAM VERIGAN UPI Sports Writer

Undefeated, untied and untested. That's been the story of the Ohio State football team so far this season, and the next installment on Saturday promises more of the same against Wisconsin.

O. J. Doesn't Worry About Yards, Just About Winning

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—For most rookie running backs, 12th place in league statistics midway through the professional football season would mean quite an achievement.

record stands at 2-6—and it's been suggested often enough that Simpson is not adjusting to the professional game.

Most of the top 10 teams are not even included in the betting line because they're such top heavy favorites.

But Simpson isn't really concerned about the fact he carried 98 times for only 333 yards and one touchdown in seven games with the Buffalo Bills. What has him worried is that the Bills aren't winning.

Simpson says it isn't so. "By this time I have adjusted," Simpson says. "Except for the Kansas City game, we were behind and just didn't have a chance to run."

Moore has gained 904 yards on 184 carries in seven games, and Owens has 881 yards on 209 carries in six games.

Indiana Has Nothing New On Grid Case

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (UPI)—Indiana football coach John Pont said Thursday a meeting with 10 Negro athletes dropped from the team Wednesday had not changed the status of the athletes.

"All the contracts I've signed are for three years," he says. "I don't have to gain a yard. I've got two more years to have a great year—but that's not the case. I just want to win, that's what I'm after."

They put on one of football's best pass rushes and have dumped opposing passers 33 times for the second best mark in the league.

The bottle of Bourbon you can't buy for love nor money.

At the Beam distillery, there's some Bourbon we bottled in 1911. Our chemist asked for a sample to compare it with the Jim Beam Bourbon we make today. Well, we gave him a drop, and he found out today's Jim Beam has the same good light taste that our 1911 Bourbon had. And our 1911 Bourbon tastes as good as it did in 1915. That's because the Beam formula has been part of our secret family art for six generations. We don't mind proving it scientifically. We just don't like using our only bottle of 1911 Bourbon to do it. "World's finest Bourbon since 1795."

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

For what may be the first time in the history of the U.S. Catholic Church, a priest dismissed by an Archbishop will have his case reviewed by a panel of his fellow priests.

Probably within the next eight weeks, the Reserved Affairs Committee set up by the Priest's Senate of the Archdiocese of San Francisco will evaluate Archbishop Joseph McGucken's dismissal of Father Eugene Boyle from a teaching post at St. Patrick's College.

The dispute involves two ecclesiastical titans. Archbishop McGucken is one of the hierarchy's most influential prelates and certainly one of the most congenial and comparatively liberal bishops ever to emerge from the ultra-conservative Archdiocese of Los Angeles (where he had to serve as an auxiliary bishop to the awesome Francis Cardinal McIntyre.)

Father Boyle, who remains as pastor of Sacred Heart parish in San Francisco's Fillmore ghetto district, as well as chairman of the Archdiocesan Commission on Social Justice, is also vice chairman of the U.S. Bishops Urban Task Force. Not only could Father Boyle charm a stone dog into wagging its tail, but in the recurrent crises in which his concern for social justice has involved him, he has proven more than ordinarily skilled at verbal infighting.

During the past year, for instance, he was bitterly denounced by famed attorney Jake Ehrlich as a "Bible-pounder" who gives "support to hoodlums" and "this element which does not hesitate to murder those whose duty is to maintain law and order."

Ehrlich, who has been retained by the San Francisco Police Officers Association, was making full use of the fact that the plea of Father Boyle and other religious leaders for a police relations committee came just prior to the shocking murder of a police officer.

Summarizing Ehrlich's remarks as "histrionic pyrotechnics," Father Boyle replied: "This whole thing is over the simple matter of whether we have the right to question our police. If we do not, then we live in a police state."

But the pressure upon the Archbishop's office really built up when a San Francisco police inspector testified before a Congressional hearing that a Black Panther coloring book (which advocated murder of police) had been distributed in Father Boyle's parish.

It mattered little that the priest had halted distribution of the books as soon as he learned they were being distributed at the Panther breakfasts for children in his parish basement.

The Archbishop could have issued an order that no racially segregated organization can use Catholic Church property — which would have ousted the Panthers as a group. Instead, he chose to discipline Boyle and let the Panthers continue their breakfasts.

But if Father Boyle has made plentiful enemies, he has also attracted a multitude of friends and admirers. News of his dismissal from the faculty post (which he did not make public) caused 113 of the 130 St. Patrick's students and a majority of the faculty to sign a strong protest to the Archbishop — and to seriously consider closing down the school (as took place at Catholic University) by a general strike.

Similar protests came from dozens of organizations as well as hundreds of individuals, from the United Farm Workers' Cesar Chavez to California State Assemblyman Willie Brown. Archbishop McGucken explained that he canceled Father Boyle's social action seminar due to "the long, 80-mile commute for the students" (from St. Patrick's in Mountain View to Sacred Heart in San Francisco).

But the students had apparently taken quite eagerly to the "long commute" — so eagerly that they had compiled a lengthy and controversial report on white racism in San Francisco, which was dubbed "The Little Kerner Report." (Its principal author, Clint Reilly, has since left St. Patrick's and is now working for Planned Parenthood — though not with any urging from Boyle.)

This report infuriated another prominent Catholic, Mayor Joseph Alioto, who scoffed: "It sounds like the product of 21-year old students who have been secluded in their seminary and not in contact with the objective facts."

Hence the spectacle of a Catholic Mayor scoring precisely that which his Archbishop devoutly wished had been the case.

Equally surprising was the Archbishop's agreement to allow a group of his priests to evaluate his disciplinary actions. But there are recurring reports that at least one prominent pastor apprized the Archbishop of the possibility that if Boyle were denied such a hearing, the 140-member Association of Priests might organize a priests' strike throughout the Archdiocese. (The punishment of Father Boyle would hardly be worth the possibility of having priests picketing all masses attended by the Archbishop.)

Since the decision of the Reserved Affairs Committee is officially designated as "advisory" and its number (13) includes at least six strong conservatives, Father Boyle does not appear to be the favorite in the contest. But he has retained prominent Catholic attorney John Riordan and is demanding due process in the hearings.

The Archbishop has retired in silence pending the outcome of the hearings but the interest the case has aroused guarantees that it will not be forgotten however long a decision may be delayed.

ELDER THOMAS MONSON... a member of the Council of Twelve, LDS Church, will speak at the Cassia Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday.

Cassia Stake Conference Is This Week

Elder Thomas S. Monson, member of the Council of Twelve, LDS Church, will speak at the Cassia Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday.

Elder Monson was appointed to the presiding council of the LDS Church in 1963. He was president of the Canadian Mission from 1959-62. He was manager of the Deseret News Press, a commercial printing company in Salt Lake City before his appointment to the Church's governing body.

His present duties include supervision of missionary activities in Germany, Italy, Switzerland and Austria.

The conference session will be Sunday. Stake president Wade Barker says visitors are welcome.

T. F. Church Plans Special Meetings

Special meetings are being conducted daily at the Twin Falls First Assembly of God Church.

Rev. L. I. LaMance, pastor, said the meetings are being held 7-10 p.m. daily except Saturday and Monday and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Speaking at these special meetings is Evangelist Dale Helle, Seattle.

Evangelist Helle is a widely travelled minister, having visited 50 countries. He shows pictures nightly during the week together with his country style singing of gospel songs.

Friday night he will show pictures of Hong Kong. Sunday morning he will talk on "Just Following Along." Sunday evening the topic will be "Inner Conflicts."

The public is invited to any or all meetings.

Bishop Named

ALMO — William D. Jones was sustained bishop of the Almo LDS church during sacrament services. David W. Boden and Curtis L. Durfee were named as counselors.

Retiring officers are Bishop Bert F. Tracy and counselors, Robert Ward and Jack Erickson. A ward clerk will be named soon, Bishop Jones said. Conducting the meeting was the Cassia East Stake presidency, Joseph A. Gillett, Jay L. Nilsson and Horace E. Coltrin, and Gene Baxter, stake clerk.

Series Of Bible Lectures Starts Sunday In Rupert

RUPERT—"An expose of the Churches of Christ" is the theme of a series of Bible lectures Sunday through Nov. 14 in the Rupert Civic Auditorium. Guest speaker will be Roy H. Lanier Sr., well-known preacher, educator and author from Denver.

Purpose of the lecture series is "to set forth definite Bible teachings concerning the church purchased by the blood of Jesus Christ," states Charles Bohlen, member of the Rupert Church of Christ.

Mr. Lanier has been preaching in evangelistic work since 1916, has served two colleges as head of the Bible department and is currently dean and teacher in the Bear Valley School of Preaching at Denver.

Mr. Bohlen said Mr. Lanier has for three years contributed regularly to the Gospel Light of Delight, Ark., for 15 years wrote for the Gospel Advocate of Nashville, Tenn.; written 11 volumes of the Teacher's annual lesson commentary; edited three series of vacation Bible school materials, wrote eight books in his own Faith Building series and for the past eight years, has been responsible for the Problem Page in the Firm Foundation of Austin, Tex.

In the past 40 years, Mrs. Lanier has written more than 700 articles for publication and some 70 books and tracts.

The public is invited to this series of free lectures at 8 p.m. daily. He also can be heard over KAYT Radio Station at 9 a.m. Sunday and Nov. 16.

NORMAN ROCKWELL

WE ARE STILL PILGRIMS.

We no longer give thanks around a rough wooden table in a forest clearing. Our problems and rewards have taken different shapes too, but they are basically the same.

We are still making a pilgrimage, the same search for a better and more fruitful life under freedom of religion. And we are still thankful for the faith that sees us through adversity and guides us on that pilgrimage.

Thanksgiving Day was named for its meaning—the day that we come together to give thanks for our faith and our full life... and to remember that we are still pilgrims.

This Thanksgiving Day, give your thanks, strengthen your faith, enlighten your pilgrimage, at your place of worship.

Paul Church Group To Make Noodles

PAUL — Mrs. Lloyd Patterson, chairman of the noodle making day for the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Paul United Methodist Church said noodles will be made Monday.

The workday will be conducted in the church kitchen beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing throughout the day. Women not able to attend at 9 a.m. should plan to attend when possible.

A potluck lunch is planned and nursery facilities will be available for pre-school children. Those planning to work should furnish a rolling pin and pastry cloth and sheets for drying the noodles.

The noodles will be on sale at the church bazaar Dec. 5.

Area Episcopal Parish Celebrates Anniversaries

The Wood Rivers' Episcopal Parish of Lincoln and Gooding Counties will celebrate the anniversaries of the founding of the congregations with special services and dinners this weekend.

The parish includes the congregations of Christ Church, Shoshone, founded in 1889, and Trinity Church, Gooding, founded in 1909. It has a membership of 271 and serves Episcopalians in the seven communities of the two counties.

Rev. Lauren McReynolds, rector of Emmanuel Church, Kellogg, will be guest speaker at services Sunday. Rev. McReynolds served as pastor to the parish from 1957 - 61. He and Mrs. McReynolds will be special guests at anniversary dinners Saturday and Sunday.

The Shoshone congregation will celebrate its 80th anniversary with a dinner in the American Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Rev. McReynolds will preach at the 9:15 a.m. anniversary celebration of the Holy Communion in Christ Church Sunday.

The Gooding service will be at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Trinity Church with Rev. McReynolds as preacher. An anniversary dinner will be served in the parish hall following the service.

All past and present members are invited to attend both services and dinners.

The Episcopal Church women of both congregations are holding anniversary bazaars in their respective parish halls Saturday. Other anniversary events have been scheduled for later in the month.

Although Episcopal services were founded in Shoshone as early as 1882, the year the town was founded, it was not until 1889, in an effort to secure a resident pastor and erect a house of worship, that a congregation was organized as the Church of the Good Shepherd.

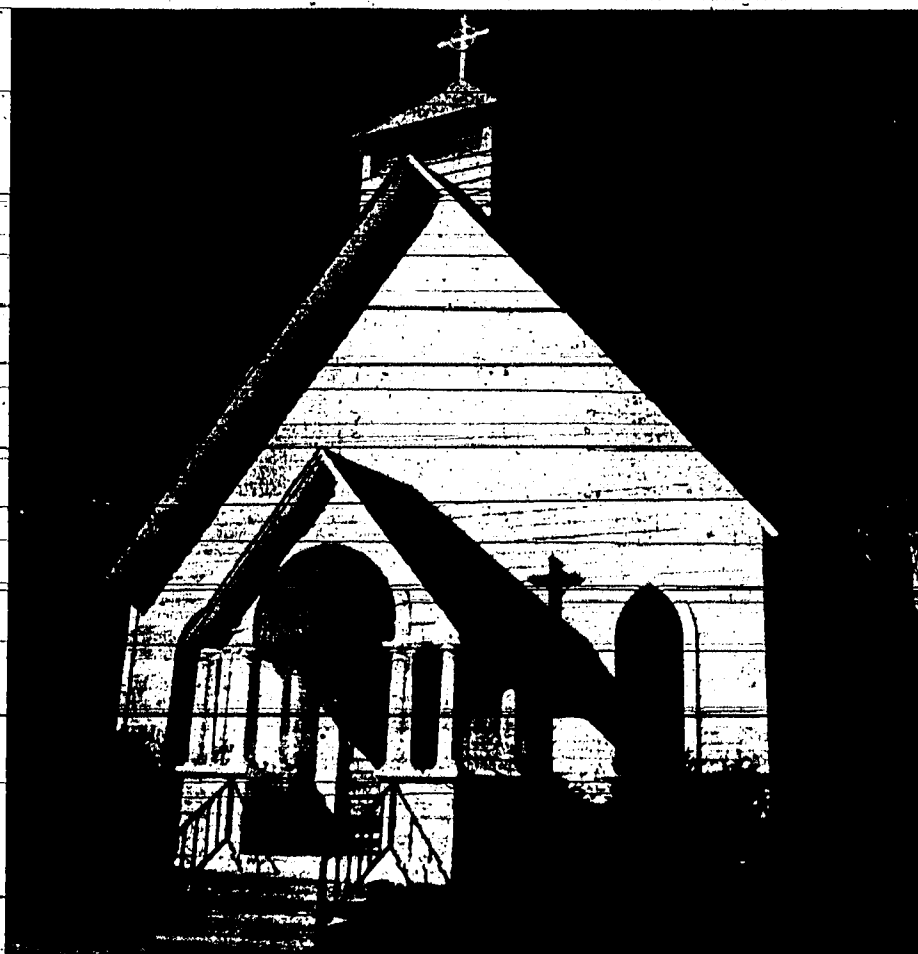

Rev. Samuel James Jennings was named pastor in 1892. Jennings is noted in western history as the conductor of U.S. Army funeral services for General Custer and his 7th Cavalry after the Battle of the Little Big Horn. He also built a church at Cody, Wyo., with $500 won by Buffalo Bill Cody in a poker game.

In 1902, the present church edifice was built and consecrated on Nov. 16 of that year as Christ Church, the designation by which the congregation has since been known.

In 1909, a Sunday school addition was built and in 1912 a frame school building was purchased and moved onto the property to serve as a parish hall. It is now used for scout meetings.

In 1983 lightning struck the church and the fire almost destroyed the building, although all the furnishings were rescued from the flames with little dam-

THIS IS the Christ Church Episcopal in Shoshone, where the anniversary of the founding of the church will be observed this month.

age. It was rebuilt and reconsecrated in November, 1963.

Completely modernized in structure, the antique character of the church was kept through the use of oak paneling and other woodwork. An impressive number of memorials to Shoshone pioneer families are found in the building.

In 1965, a new parsonage was erected by the congregation at 112 East C St., replacing a former parsonage next to the church that had been in use since 1919. This building was remodeled for office and classroom use and dedicated as Samuel James Jennings Memorial Parish House.

With the advent of irrigation projects into Magic Valley, many Shoshone families settled in the new townsites and members of the Shoshone congregation were instrumental in founding Episcopal congregations in seven Magic Valley cities.

In 1908, one such family, Gov. and Mrs. Frank R. Gooding, gave the lots at Idaho and Seventh Streets in Gooding, on which Trinity Church was erected in 1909.

Rev. Zachary T. Vincent arrived that year as resident pastor. From 1916 until 1934, Rev. W. R. Simmons served as pastor. He spent his first few years as pastor walking all over Jerome and Gooding Counties to hold services on farms and ranches.

Although clergy salaries in those days were extremely meager, Rev. and Mrs. Simmons were noted for their generosity in sharing their vegetable garden with other families and in ministering to the sick and shut-ins. The high esteem with which they were regarded in the community was shown when $500 was raised in two hours after it became known Rev. Simmons did not have the funds for an expensive surgery he needed.

In 1952, a parish hall was added to Trinity Church. In 1962, a fire seriously damaged the church, but it was remodeled and refurbished at that time. In 1968, additional church school classrooms were constructed in the basement of the parish hall.

Rev. John F. Tulk first came to the parish as student-pastor in the summer of 1957. He returned as pastor of Christ Church in 1959 and assumed the pastorate of Trinity Church in 1966, when the two congregations were merged into one parish.

The parish takes its name from the Big and Little Wood Rivers, which flow through and merge within the parish boundaries.

HOSTS LISTED

FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson were in charge of arrangements for the no-host dinner and business meeting of the Baptist-Progressive Bible Class at the church.

Relief Society Planning Bazaar

DECLO — An old fashioned theme will prevail at the Declo LDS Ward Relief Society Bazaar on Nov. 14, starting at 7 p.m. in the Cultural Hall.

An old-time village will feature a country store, candy shop and pastry shop with different types of cooked food offered for sale for the supper menu.

Many beautiful and useful handmade articles will be for sale and will include several quilts and gift items for the holidays.

Mrs. Richard Wolf, homemakers counselor, and Mrs. Denton Darrington, homemaker director, will be in charge of the activities. They will be assisted by Mrs. Carl Osterhout, president of the Relief Society, and other officers and teachers of the organization.

PARTIES HELD

FILER — The LDS Primary Group and the LDS Mutual held Halloween parties at the church last week.

Plans For Coffee Hour Are Made

WENDELL — Mrs. Roy Bishop hosted the recent meeting of the Mary Martha Circle of the United Presbyterian Church.

The lesson from the study book entitled "Believing, Deciding, and Acting," was presented by Mrs. Harold Holsinger. Plans were made for a coffee hour to be held Sunday, Nov. 26, at the United Presbyterian Church in honor of new members.

Dick Blei, Mrs. Florence Skaggs, Mrs. Mary Lou Holoham, Mrs. Frances Roberts and Mrs. Jim Easton.

Burley Christian Church Fair Is Set For Saturday

BURLEY—The Burley Christian Church will hold its annual department fair Saturday at the church, and the public is invited.

Lunch will be served at noon and dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. in the basement of the church. The fun alley opens at 6 p. m. with all kinds of games planned.

Proceeds from the event will be used for missions and carpet fund, one-half going to each fund. Mrs. Grace Rudolph has made an afghan which is being used as a fund raising project.

Items which will go on sale at noon are baked foods, hand craft work, and fresh produce along with many other articles.

Mrs. Florence Skaggs and Mrs. Dick Blei are co-chairman of the event. Mrs. Akiye Hondo is chairman in care of the baked food. Other chairman include Mrs. Jim Easton, hand craft work; Mrs. Maureen Easton, lunch and dinner and Mrs. Mary Ekland, Gold Strike Stamp Saving project.

Harbor House Explained To Church Unit

WENDELL—Mrs. Helen Henderson, probation officer for the Twin Falls County Probate Court, spoke at a recent meeting of the United Presbyterian Men of Wendell and their wives about the program and activities of the Harbor House which is located in Twin Falls.

Harbor House came into being to assist the courts in providing a short term detention facility for children or adolescents. Inadequate facilities at the Twin Falls County Court house prompted the action of a group of Twin Falls citizens to create a Harbor House modeled after a similar operation in Idaho Falls.

Mrs. Henderson pointed out that the Harbor House is not a correctional facility, but is being only a detaining center for children and youth pending action of the courts.

She concluded by saying the Harbor House is available to the Gooding County Courts on a per diem basis.

Marilyn Moon In Best Costume At MIA Party

DECLO — Marilyn Moon was selected for having the best costume at the Halloween party of the Declo LDS Ward MIA held in the Cultural Hall. She was costumed as a bee, and was a winner also of the Beehive class best costume award.

Other prize winners included Kelly Preston, scout class; Kristie Adams, Mia Maids; Ed Nipper, explorers; Carolyn Zollinger and Joy Turner, Laurels; Candace Anderson and Linda Halbert, most original; Carolyn Bowen and Rosalind Taylor, funniest; Merna Darrington, spookiest; Leslie Pardew, best boy, and Miss Moon, best girl.

A musical cookie walk was under the direction of Mrs. Wayne Lewis Jr., Mrs. Nalon Taylor and Mrs. Richard Lind.

House has been scheduled for Nov. 16 from noon until 4 p. m. The public is invited to visit and several organizations will assist in conducting tours of the building and serving light refreshments.

Church Units At Filer Have Parties

FILER—The Career Class of the Filer Missionary Church held a bowling party in Twin Falls and afterwards went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Cunningham, Hazelton, for refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Elden Ryals accompanied the group.

The Youth Fellowship of the church held a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ryals with games and refreshments.

The junior department of the Sunday School held a Halloween party at the recreation room of the church with Mrs. Allan Schiffer, Mrs. Homer Schnell and Eva Metcalf in charge. Guests came in costumes.

IS THERE A JUDGMENT AFTER DEATH?

A Milwaukee woman's funeral was over and the body was about to be cremated when suspicious officials ordered an autopsy. It revealed that death was from strangulation. The medical examiner called it murder. The victim, sixteen year old daughter was arrested and held without bail.

How many crimes do go undetected and unpunished. How many evil people never are called to account in this life? Why do the Scarlins and the Kirushchevs die of old age? Is there no justice? Many times not in this life, but yes, there is a divine judgment after death that none of us will escape.

"It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." (Hebrews 9:27) "So every one of us shall give account of himself to God." (Romans 14:12) There is an appointed time that everyone of us will have to give account to God of all that we have ever done, whether it be good or bad. When God judges, it will be a fair and unbiased judgment, as God keeps accurate records.

The Bible in Revelation 19:12 states, "and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books." All of life's doings are recorded and one day every one of us will have to face the deeds done in this life.

Our only help in that Judgment Day will be Christ. Acts 3:19 says, "Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out." Forgiveness will be found for any of us only in Jesus Christ. Have you found this forgiveness?

Today With All Faiths—In Tribute A PORTRAIT OF SERVICE

Jerome LDS Bishop's Greatest Concern Is Helping Out Friends And Neighbors

"To be called to serve as a bishop is a calling that is both humbling as well as gratifying. The Lord's work is the most important calling that we have to do, for what we do in this life is but a stepping stone to greater things which are to come."

It is a bishop's privilege and duty to supervise the temporal and spiritual needs of the membership of his ward. This, Bishop Neal Perkins and his counselors have done for approximately 800 members of the Jerome First LDS Ward during the past three years.

It has been his direct responsibility to interview and sustain teachers and leaders for Priesthood organization activities; Sunday School worship, M.I.A., whose curriculum includes speech, drama, music, sports, and the Boy Scout program; the Primary organization which embraces spiritual lessons and handicraft activities from ages 3 to 12; the Relief Society, a cultural, spiritual, social, and homemaking program for all mothers, as well as offering compassionate service.

It is also his privilege to render financial and temporal assistance to those in need through the Welfare Program of the church as well as directing the Welfare Farm activities.

It is a tremendous load and responsibility to see that his ward machinery functions smoothly and properly. However Bishop Perkins has a great capacity for getting things accomplished.

Bishop Perkins was born Aug. 25, 1922, in Dayton, Idaho, the son of Parley C. and Kate Hulet Perkins. In 1931, his father moved his family to Murtaugh and took up farming.

As a young man, he attended school in Murtaugh, where he grew up with a love for sports. He became involved in basketball, football and baseball. He always believes in "fair play" and has a soft spot in his heart for the "underdog." Imagine his satisfaction when the "Mets" won the world series.

After graduation, Neal farmed with his father in Murtaugh and in 1946, purchased a farm in Jerome where he now resides.

As a boy he was taught the meaning and value of work. His father was a farmer and he learned that to be successful it took planning, inspiration and

"brawn", and this he had in abundance.

Along with farming 500 acres and raising cattle, he has managed time to act as a school board member nine years for the Fall City School District. He has devoted six years as a counselor in the bishopric, three years as Elders Quorum President, three years as Sunday school superintendent, five years as high counselor and to date three years as bishop.

In 1942, he married Lavina Grisham, his high school sweetheart, and to this union have been born four children. Curtis, their only son, graduated from Jerome High School, Brigham Young University, served a mission for his church in Hawaii and is now a C.P.A. residing in Boise with his wife Marilyn. Karen, her husband Mike Parrott, and daughter, Staci Ann, reside in Centralia, Wash. She graduated from Jerome High School, attended Brigham Young University, and graduated from the Twin Falls Business College. Karla and Gwen, who are still at home, attend school in Jerome.

Bishop Perkins' greatest concern is for his friends and neighbors. Often his own work has been neglected when his neighbor has been in need. He realizes the need for understanding among all faiths, and above all, an undivided patriotism for this great country which has offered so much to him.

Dinner Planned

The Twin Falls First Baptist Church will have its annual Opportunity Dinner Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

Those attending are asked to bring table service, a hot dish and a salad or dessert. Child care will be provided for younger children.

Lay Witness Mission Set Next Week By Methodists

Members of the Kimberly and Murtaugh United Methodist Churches are registering a "first" for Idaho on Nov. 14-16 when they conduct a Lay Witness Mission in their churches.

This is the first time such a program has been carried out within bounds of the Oregon-Idaho Conference of the United Methodist Church. The mission will involve both adults and youth as well as observers from Methodist Churches in the Snake River District.

A Lay Witness Mission gives to lay persons an opportunity to share together with fellow laymen the reality of religion in their daily lives.

Coordinator for the mission here is Louis Long, Ada, Okla. Also planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Finch, Dalhart, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. John Newell, Seattle; Mrs. Charles Lovelace, Renton, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Don Haasch, Boise.

The youth of the two churches are planning a parallel youth Lay Witness Mission, which will be directed by Tom Thomson Berger, Tex., high school senior and Bruce Ball, Bakersfield Calif., college sophomore.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. Marion Wall, Kimberly. Assisting her are Ron Ballard, Marion Wall, John Cary, Mrs. Ralph Nelson, Mrs. Kenneth Naylor, Mrs. Jack Allred, Mrs. Don Kilborn and Mrs. Letha Remaley.

The youth mission will be under the direction of Mrs. Paul Remaley, coordinator. Mrs. John Nelson, United Methodist youth counselor, and Dennis Pettygrove, UMY president. The public is invited.

Lutheran League Has Fall Rally

WENDELL — "What is Happening to Your Time" was the theme for the fall rally of the Walthor League held recently at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Jerome.

Opening devotions were given by Pastor John Frese, Jerome. The welcome was given by Gary Walter, Jerome, president of the Jerome League. Members of the Kimberly gave the response.

Rev. Donald Becker, Burley, was guest speaker. After discussing the theme at length a questionnaire to be completed by the leaguers was handed out. Rev. David Atrops conducted a Bible quiz.

A report was given to the leaguers on the different camps and schools that members had attended during the past year. Details were discussed for the winter rally.

Supper was served in the church basement by the Jerome LWML group. A film followed based on the theme of the rally.

Filer Women's Group Has Meet

WELLER — Ferna Webster and Helen Webster were in charge of the devotional service for the Judson Circle of the First Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. Roy Watson.

Mrs. James Webster was in charge of the business meeting. A quilt was made for the California Christian Home. A silent auction was a feature of the evening.

Mrs. Ed Andrews is hostess for the next meeting.
