Sen. Church Asks Law On Land Titles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church plans to sponsor legislation which will enable a private citizen to bring court action against the federal government to quiet land titles.

At the present time, the government must consent to be taken to court.

Another adjourned meeting is scheduled for 11:45 a.m. Tuesday to place this on second reading, so all annexation ordinances will be on final reading at the same time and at the next regular city council meeting.

North Viets Pour Shells On Bu Prang

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops in the foothills around the U.S. Green Beret camp at Bu Prang intensified their shelling of the camp today, killing one American and chasing off helicopters trying to bring in supplies.

New fighting was reported outside both Bu Prang and Duc Lap, its sister outpost along the Cambodian frontier, before the latest 50-round barrage of rockets, mortar rounds and "reckless rifle shells."

South Vietnamese troops helping to defend Bu Prang, 112 miles north-northeast of Saigon, killed 20 guerrillas a mile outside the outpost Monday night but lost six dead and 15 wounded themselves, field reports said.

Nixon Orders Disposal Of Chemical War Gases

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today ordered the United States entirely out of the field of germ warfare except for maintaining a defensive research program.

The President told the Pentagon to start planning complete disposal of all existing stocks of bacteriological weapons.

In addition to renouncing "first use" of lethal chemicals, the President extended the American position to first use of incapacitating chemicals.

The President also called on the Senate to ratify the 1925 Geneva Treaty prohibiting first use in war of "asphyxiating, poisonous or other gases and bacteriological methods of warfare."

Army Officer Faces Viet Murder Charge

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The Army says Lt. William L. Calley Jr. will remain free pending his court-martial on charges of murdering 109 men, women and children in a South Vietnamese village.

Released on his own recognition, Calley, 26, has been assigned to the deputy commander of the huge army base. His duties are administrative.

May Gen. Orwin C. Talbot, commanding general at Ft. Benning, signed the court-martial orders Monday and directed that it be held on a "capital" basis. That means if Calley is convicted, the penalty would be at least life imprisonment and could be death on unanimous vote of the five officers trying him.

Calley, of Waynesville, N.C. is charged with the premeditated murder of 109 persons of the Song My hamlet during a sweep through Vietnam's Quang Ngai province on March 16, 1968. The Army said 25 other soldiers or former servicemen are under investigation in the alleged massacre. Calley's trial is not expected to begin at Ft. Benning for a month or more.

The President last June ordered the State and Defense departments to study the U.S. chemical and biological warfare program and submit recommendations to the National Security Council. The council reviewed the reports last week.

Dr. Lee W. Stokes, Boise, aquatic biologist, Engineering and Sanitation Division, Idaho Department of Health, said a fish kill such as occurred in 1961, is likely again this year at Milner due to a lack of dissolved oxygen unless a minimum flow in the river is maintained throughout winter and spring months.

Meadlo said about 40 to 45 villagers were rounded up when the soldiers entered the hamlet and Calley told him, "you know what to do with them, don't you?" Meadlo said he thought Calley meant to watch the lieutenant returned about 15 minutes later and asked, "how come you ain't killed them yet?"

Nixon said his decisions resulted from an extensive review of the CBW policies and programs under auspices of the security council.

Possibility Of Fish Kill At Milner Noted

A Department of Public Health official has warned that pollution in Snake River will result in another fish kill at Milner Reservoir unless sufficient stream flow is maintained in the river.

Dr. Lee W. Board Eyes Plans To Expand High School

No action was taken on a plan to expand Twin Falls High School by four to six classrooms when the Twin Falls School District trustees met Monday night.

Harold Gerber, a Twin Falls architect, presented several approaches to the problem, and the board said it would "huddle" on the plans and come up with a solution soon.

The school district has $150,000 in its plant facilities fund to expand.

Mr. Gerber recommended classrooms be added onto "B" wing, the wing that faces Filler Avenue East.

Human Rights Commission Meets In T.F.

Members of the Idaho Commission on Human Rights met Monday in Twin Falls with area community action agency delegates and several members of the Twin Falls County Human Rights Committee, to explain the commission's functions and duties of local groups.

Richard Cooke, Boise, president of the state organization, pointed out this is the first time the commission has met in this part of the state. Serving as volunteers, members of the commission were named by Gov. Don Samuelson to represent various parts of the state and also to represent some of the minority groups of Idaho.

Mr. Cooke said the commission also should have some representation of minority groups of the counties among their membership.

Mr. Cooke said many times the committee's investigation and hearing on such matters can iron out difficulties without court action. On the other hand it may be necessary for the commission to recommend legal procedures be employed.

Senate Plans Vote On End Of Surtax

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate votes today on a proposal to allow the income tax surcharge to expire at the end of this year rather than extending it for six more months as President Nixon wants.

The move would cost the government $1.7 billion it expects to collect through the extension of the tax through next June 30 at half of its current 10 per cent rate.

President Nixon argues the extension is a vital part of his program to control inflation. Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy hinted last week the administration might even ask a further extension for the last six months of 1970 because inflation has proven more enduring than the administration thought.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., says the government will lose the people's faith if it persists in renewing "temporary" taxes.

Weather Synopsis

An extensive high pressure system covers most of the nation and has brought generally fair weather with seasonal temperatures to the continental U.S. Precipitation has been very sparse with some very light amounts being reported along the Gulf Coast of Texas.

In the Northwest, high pressure is the dominating feature. Pacific storm systems are weakened as they move into the high pressure ridge and the remaining energy is pushed northward into Canada.

Fair weather will continue to rule over the valley areas through Thursday and is likely to continue into the weekend. There will be some variable cloudiness at times and no precipitation is expected in the valley.

The daytime temperatures will be a little above seasonal and range in the 40s at most places. The nights will be mostly clear and cold with lows being in the teens and 20s.

Yesterday skies were fair throughout the valley areas and sunshine was rather abundant. Winds were light and variable with temperatures about the same as the day before to just a little cooler at some places. Yesterday's highs ranged from 40 at Idaho Falls and 50 at Malad to 43 at Gooding and 51 at Mountain Home.

This morning the lows were again in the teens and 20s. The lowest readings reported were 13 at Salmon, and 17 at Idaho Falls, while to the south, Winnemucca reported 11 above zero.

Parma Man Faces

Trial In Murder

BURLEY—Baldemar Gomez, 24, Parma, was ordered bound over to Fifth District Court to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder.

His preliminary hearing was held last week and was closed to the public.

Mr. Gomez is accused of shooting to death De Hood, 28, last Nov. 2 in a Burley bar.

The defendant is being held in the Cassia County jail and is slated to be arraigned in Fifth District Court next week.

Council

members of the Tuesday hearing at 2 p.m. in the American Legion Hall on the proposed improvement of U.S. 93 at West Five Points intersection and on Addison Avenue just east of that intersection.

John Angerbauer will represent the city at the hearing and present a resolution of support for the proposed improvements.

Councilmen said they have had a number of calls from property owners, especially on the south side of Addison Avenue where most of the additional right of way will be taken. In the event property such as homes and yards are damaged in right-of-way acquisition, it was pointed out, the state highway officials will be required to pay property owners for all damages or loss. The project is a long needed improvement and in view of this, says Mayor Kroil, council members feel it should have city support.

Mayor Kroil also suggested City Manager Milar meet with state officials to see if something can be done to permit heavier trucks to use Perrine Bridge. If only to use flagmen and permit one large vehicle at a time on the bridge.

The mayor said one small trucking concern with only three or four large trucks had reported the detouring to the Hansen bridge or Hagerman will cost the firm $15,000 per year. Another larger firm, he said, estimates cost of $400 per week to detour large trucks.

"The bridge has an important economic impact on Twin Falls," the mayor said, "and I think we must meet with the state and urge something be done as soon as possible to correct the situation."

Mr. Milar said flagmen could be maintained at the bridge to allow only one large vehicle at a time, but the state survey indicates even one truck of 38 tons weight overtaxes the bridge.

Should one of the large vehicles be forced to make a panic stop, the bridge could well be severely damaged under the strain, the city manager said.

Mike Grey, member of the Twin Falls City Recreation commission presented a plan for lighting diamonds at Harmon park, and asked for $18,000 in the coming recreation budget to cover this needed improvement. He said between 700 and 1,000 persons use the diamonds in the city softball program and night play is becoming more necessary each season. Only one diamond is presently lighted.

rooms and the office complex. To expand this to six classrooms and the office complex, the cost estimate would be $149,600.

It would also be possible to build the six classrooms at the end of "B" wing, and turn one of the classrooms at the front of "B" wing into an office complex of four office spaces.

The board said it will reach a decision soon as more classroom space is needed at the High School.

There are about 1,500 students at the High School now.

The board also went on record as opposing through traffic on Second Avenues East and North. The city passed an ordinance last week approving this.

The board said until the State Highway Department can guarantee the safety of students at Bickle and Lincoln Grade Schools, it would oppose through traffic on the avenues.

Board member John Wolfe said, "if this goes one way, it will mean a higher speed by drivers and I think the kids will be in more danger."

The opposition of the board will be expressed officially to the State Highway Department. It was recommended school open next Sept. 1 for the first day of the 1970-71 school year. No action was taken.

Susan Arrington and Carolyn Wylie were hired as new teachers.

Mrs. Bertha Glick, school lunch supervisor, was given permission to remain on the job until next June, when she will retire. She was to retire this coming January.

A delegation from the local chapter of the Idaho Education Association appeared and asked the board to consider changing its policy on sick leave and personal leave of teachers.

The board took no action, but asked the delegation to report back with more proposals.

The delegation wanted the board to consider granting a teacher sick leave if there is a death in the immediate family.

Ron Finn of the delegation said, "To such a teacher, a teacher with a death in the family, they are not in the proper frame of mind to teach and should be considered for sick leave."

Suspect In Burglary Is Arrested

A 24-year-old Twin Falls man was arrested Monday afternoon by Twin Falls City detectives and charged with first degree burglary in connection with a house burglary reported Sunday night.

Officers said Robert Ragains was arrested and the police station about 4:30 p.m. and was later released on his own recognizance.

Officers said the break-in was at the home of Sheila Rutter, 337 Locust St. S. Taken in the burglary were grocery items, a jewelry box, an electric shaver, a bank containing some change and a tape recorder.

All the items, with the exception of some of the groceries, were recovered, officers said.

Election Set In 2 Minidoka Fire Districts

RUPERT—No contests will be offered voters in either the West End Fire District director election or the Minidoka County Fire District election, both Dec. 1.

Running for the two-year terms in the West End election are Alex Roemer and Floyd Hanes. Mr. Roemer represents Minidoka county and is an incumbent, while Mr. Hanes represents newly annexed Jerome county. Part of Jerome County recently was taken under the protection of the fire district.

Terms are expiring for Mr. Roemer and Howland Croft in sub-district 1 and 2. Voting will be at large and polls for the election will be the fire hall in Paul and the Paul D. Werner residence in Jerome county.

Incumbent Ray Smith is the only candidate to file for the one director position available in the Minidoka County Protection district, Sub-District 3, where voting will take place from noon to 7 p.m. Dec. 1.

Mr. Smith has been a director in the district since it was organized about 12 years ago. Other directors are Vern Montgomery and Clyde Gentry.

Minidoka County will see as the polling place.

Ketchum Sets Pay Schedule For Firemen

KETCHUM—Payment of $3 per meeting and $3 per fire for Ketchum volunteer firemen was approved by city councilmen Monday night.

Councilmen decided to break up the lots northeast of the Ketchum cemetery the city had advertised for sale and advertise them again Dec. 15. No bids were received at this week's meeting.

Royce Asher was sworn in as councilmen to replace Robert R. Glenn, who moved to Boise. Payment of $100 was approved to Sun Valley on the sewer construction account.

Councilmen also approved plans for Phase two of the Four Seasons Condominium on Warm Springs, and beer and liquor license for Calico Enterprises.

John Nelson, secretary of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, presented $150 to the council for Christmas street decorations. Modified plans for Phase two and three of the current sewage system construction were approved as presented by J. U. B. Engineering Firm, Boise.

Final reading was heard on an ordinance stipulating no parking on the Warm Springs road near the Sun Valley ski lift. Approval was given to Floyd Dorius, representing a four-county resource and development group, to build a series of small dams on the east fork of Big Wood river below Bellevue.

Chamber At Hailey May Drop Protest

HAILEY—The Hailey Chamber of Commerce has been asked by its board of directors to withdraw its protest over the controversy between the chamber and Air West's service to the Hailey airport.

Directors, meeting after the general membership dinner Monday noon, voted to request the membership at the next meeting to withdraw the protest. The chamber has criticized Air West for not withdrawing its certificate of service, even though its passenger service has been cut drastically to the area.

The firm still sends one airplane here daily Monday through Friday. Post master Grant Patterson said no mail is brought in but some is taken out by Air West.

George Kneeland, representing Sun Valley Airlines, spoke on the problems of air service to Blaine county at the chamber meeting. Chamber president, George Filtz, noted that the subsidy being paid Air West is partially paid for by Blaine county taxpayers.

"In other chamber business Mrs. C. W. Gardner reported on the Idaho Economic development meeting in Boise attended by 10 local persons and merchants were asked to have Christmas trees decorated by Saturday when Santa Claus is slated to arrive.

Church Plans Measure For Land Titles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church Monday disclosed plans to introduce legislation enabling a private citizen to take the federal government to court to settle land title disputes.

At the present time, citizens involved in such disputes may not settle them without the government's consent.

Church, chairman of the Senate interior subcommittee on public lands, said the inability of citizens to sue the government in such cases is a "result of the common law doctrine of sovereign immunity."

"This doctrine is based on the ancient concept that the king can do no wrong," he said. "It became imbedded in the common law of England and so came into our American law."

"But this principle is not appropriate as a basic tenet for a democratic government where the courts are established not for the convenience of the sovereign but to serve the people."

Jews Feel

"Epidemic Of Fear"

By DAVID HASKELL — BOSTON (UPI) — Violence against members of the Jewish community in parts of Boston has increased substantially in the past few months, creating what one resident described as an "epidemic of fear."

Attacks, robberies and beatings have become so frequent that many elderly persons have stopped venturing away from the safety of their homes on Friday nights to go to synagogue, one rabbi said Monday.

"It's a terrible situation," said Rabbi Mordecai Savitsky. "It happens very often, almost every couple of days."

The increase in violence prompted members of the Jewish community to invite Rabbi Meir K. Kahane, president of the 7,000-member Jewish Defense League (JDL), to Boston this past weekend to explain how that organization works to protect the community, particularly in New York City.

Rabbi Kahane, of New York City, told about 75 elderly Jews at the meeting that "there is an epidemic of fear here. It's gotten very bad in the past six or eight months."

He said people are "dying, getting beaten and shot." Rabbi Savitsky said the violence has increased substantially in the last couple of months.

"The people are afraid and have stopped going to synagogue. They are beaten and robbed going to synagogue to pray on Friday nights," he said.

Bills Introduced For Law Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twin bills were introduced in the House and Senate Monday calling for creation of an institute to train enforcement and correctional personnel in dealing with juvenile delinquents.

The agency would be patterned after the FBI Academy, which provides courses in techniques for handling adult offenders.

The proposed new institute for continuing studies of juvenile justice would pool all state and local experiences in handling delinquents and develop new methods to be used in training judicial, enforcement and correctional personnel involved in juvenile work.

Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., Edward G. Bieker Jr., R-Pa., and Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill., sponsors of the House bill, told a news conference the measure "strikes at the very heart of crime."

Lodge Is Defended By White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a strong statement of support for U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the White House said Monday the United States has always been willing to negotiate privately with North Vietnam on ways to end the war.

Ronald L. Ziegler, President Nixon's press secretary, said the only matter that could not come up in such secret talks was binding political arrangements on the future of South Vietnam.

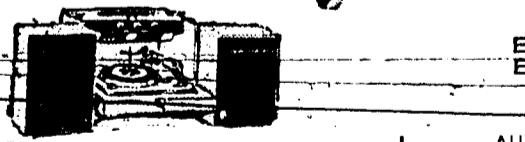

The State Department refined Ziegler's point by saying the United States was willing to discuss but not negotiate South Vietnam's future privately with Hanoi. This appeared to be a slight change in emphasis in the U.S. position that it was not even willing to discuss the point in the absence of Saigon representatives.

Shoplifting

Shoplifting, the FBI has reported, increased 93 per cent between 1960 and 1966. What does this mean to the average retail shop? In one recent survey in a Manhattan department store, a team of experts made a random sampling of customers with startling results.

Of 263 customers followed, 27 were observed stealing something from the counters. While this study is too limited to draw national conclusions, it dramatizes the extent of the problem.

For one of 10 customers in any department store on a given day to be caught in the act of stealing is cause for concern on the part of honest customers who make up the loss, not to mention store management.

It was equally disconcerting that not one of the thieves were caught by store personnel. This is something for management of more than that one store to ponder.

With the Christmas shopping season already getting underway, the crush of shoppers and too-busy clerks provides an additional opportunity for those who have no scruples against helping themselves to the property of others. It is a time for added instructions to shop personnel and special precautions for store security.

No one gains from the shoplifter's lousy hands, not even the guilty party. Getting away with stolen merchandise once merely brings the unwanted "patron" back for another try. In the past, some merchants have been hesitant about prosecuting even when a shoplifter is caught in the act.

That is a foolish derivative of the don't become involved complex. Even the legitimate customer, who is paying an extra percentage or two for his purchase, has a stake in putting an end to the practice. The conscious effort to find shoplifters in one New York store proved how easily many could be caught with a little effort on the part of all concerned.

All-Out Reform

While the tumult and shouting over tax reform may have declined since passage of the omnibus House measure, the issue is still far from settled.

By the time the Senate finishes working it over, the more radical House changes are likely to be considerably toned down. Apparently already out, for example, is the House effort to remove state and municipal bonds from the tax-exempt category.

This exemption has been widely publicized and roundly criticized as a loophole permitting the wealthy to rake in sometimes vast sums in interest without so much as a nod in the direction of the tax collector. But the move to close it has aroused something like panic in state and thousands of local governments, which have more than $120 billion in issues currently outstanding.

The bonds have been a relatively inexpensive method of supplementing inadequate local tax income since no-tax status makes them attractive to large investors despite interest rates considerably below current market levels.

The administration, which is sympathetic on the bond-exemption issue, is now working on another scheme to aid state and local treasuries. It reportedly envisages creation of a new agency which would function virtually as a bank in is-suage federally-guaranteed bonds at market-level interest rates and fully taxable. The proceeds, for use primarily in major capital improvement projects such as water systems, would then be loaned to local governments at lower interest rates. The interest difference would be in effect a federal subsidy to local government, estimated to run about $150 million a year initially on bond issues of something like $5 billion.

Well-intentioned as they may be, however, neither tax exemption for local bonds nor the new federal bond scheme really comes to grips with the basic problem in state and local finances. This is the imbalance in the national tax structure. As long as local government must rely primarily upon insufficiently flexible and too often unfair revenue sources such as property and sales levies while the federal government retains a virtual monopoly on the more efficient and highly lucrative income tax, local finances will continue to be a matter of chronic crises, expedient remedies and handouts from Washington.

As long as the tax reform issue is still with us, perhaps we should raise our sights, aiming not simply at the federal system but a comprehensive overhaul of federal, state and local structures and a fairer sharing of the burdens and benefits among them.

MR. SPECTATOR

Speaking Of Taxes

As a matter of public interest Mr. Spectator would like to pass along to you some excerpts from the last letter of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho. It concerns local units of government.

So here we go: There were 760 local districts or units of government in Idaho which levied property taxes in 1969. There has been some increase in numbers of units in recent years.

There has also been some consolidation of units in recent years, particularly in regard to the school districts, for example there are now 115 school districts in Idaho, many less than there were a few years ago. Attempts are being made for more consolidation of school districts.

Consolidation of units of government may not result in immediate reduction of property taxes but consolidation can at least result in better use of the tax dollar and should in the long run result in reducing taxes or at least reduce the pressure on property taxation from that which there would have been had there not been for consolidation.

While there may be more units of government in Idaho than are necessary to operate efficient government services, Idaho is in a much better condition than most of our eastern states.

Canyon county has more units levying taxes than any of the other 43 counties in Idaho. There are 9 school districts, not counting joint school districts of which there are four; there are seven cities; there are 3 highway districts, not counting the portion designated as the county road systems; there are 10 fire protection districts; and 9 cemetery districts. There are also four irrigation and drainage districts making a total of 43 units of government headquartered in Canyon county.

Camas county had four units of government which levied a property tax in 1960. The state of Idaho, the county, one school district and one city.

There has been serious discussion that Idaho should have less than 115 school districts. Added to this discussion should be the highway districts, cemetery districts, and fire districts.

That county wide districts can operate effectively is demonstrated by the fact that for all practical purposes there are 12 county wide school districts in Idaho. There are 24 counties in which the local roads outside city limits, are operated as a county wide system, with 3 counties in which a single highway district is the administrating unit. On the other hand there are six counties in which there are five or more highway districts.

GUEST EDITORIAL

"A newspaper is the greatest single happening in the history of free men. A newspaper is the voice of sorrow, war and death. It is also the voice of liberty, integrity, democracy and life. More people are affected directly by its news than by any other source in existence. The printed word lives on forever because it is imprinted, not just on paper, but on human lives. A newspaper is man's personal handshake with immortality."

We're not blowing our own horn. The above definition of a newspaper was written by a student reporter for the "Pioneer," school newspaper of Southwest High School in St. Louis, Mo.

We plead guilty to partiality in this instance, however, and happen to believe that, while it may not be an accurate definition of every newspaper everywhere, no higher ideal could be aimed at by any newspaper anywhere.

WASHINGTON — Something rather startling is cooking within the capital's Republican Establishment, as an apparently premeditated follow-up to Vice President Agnew's speech attacking the three television networks.

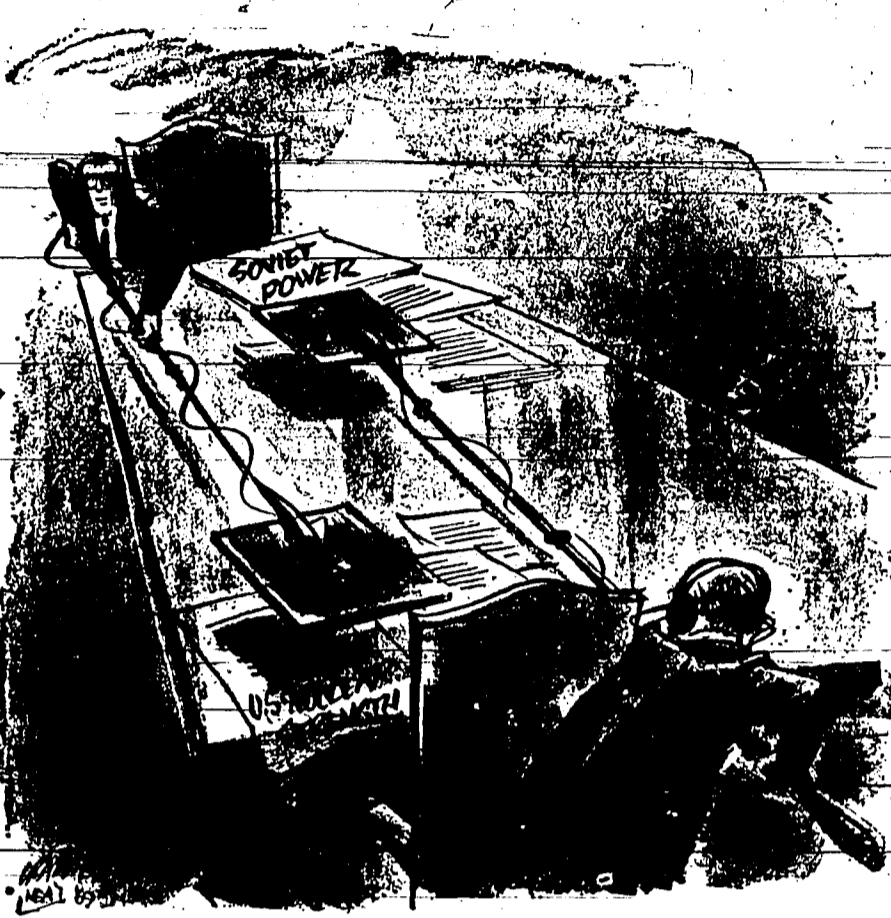

ment, the Federal Communications Commission and "members of Congress" — presumably Republican — are studying the feasibility of legislation designed to "protect the American people" — who own the airwaves. Thus it seems clear that Agnew's speech was indeed a trial balloon, and that public reaction to it has encouraged the Nixon administration to take a further step aimed at curbing TV's concentrated power. This is a startling development, but not necessarily ominous. In the political and ideological fields, television has an extraordinary capacity to persuade and, sometimes, to manipulate. Agnew is quite right in citing the influence relayed by a commentator's raised eyebrow or tone of voice, as poor liberal Hubert Humphrey discovered in Chicago in 1968. A lot of the tube's instant experts lost their cool in describing the confrontations between the cops and what many of them called "our children."

Agnew did breach an important issue, to wit, the awful power of television's tight little community. But he said in effect — and the White House went along — that TV should be a visible agent of whatever government that happens to be in charge decides is in the public interest. He wants the television commentators to reflect the American consensus, right or wrong.

Negotiations Get Under Way

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

About That Okinawa Base

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is on forceful notice that there is strong congressional opposition to the U. S. relinquishing its strategic military base on Okinawa.

This blunt warning was voiced shortly before Prime Minister Sato arrived in Washington to press Japan's demand for the return of the island.

The stern congressional dissent came from two influential House leaders — Rep. Robert Sikes, Florida Democrat and chairman of the Military Appropriations Subcommittee, and Rep. H. R. Gross, Iowa Republican and a ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

They spoke out during the House's consideration of the $1.45 billion military construction bill — which was overwhelmingly approved. Their remarks went unopposed, and as far as the public is concerned — both in the U. S. and Japan — this highly significant incident is unknown.

But its importance was not lost on the White House and State Department. Particularly it was not lost on their colleagues in the House — where there was much approving comment.

What Gross and Sikes said against the U. S. giving up its great military base on Okinawa clearly struck a strongly responsive chord among House members.

Following are highlights of this exceptionally meaningful discussion: Rep. Gross raised the Okinawa question by asking Sikes whether the military construction bill included money for the U. S. base. Gross explained he asked the question because of "propaganda to abandon Okinawa and turn it back to the Japanese."

"I am absolutely opposed to surrendering Okinawa," the veteran legislator declared, "as long as it is deemed necessary to maintain a bastion in the Pacific. It would cost an untold amount of money to build another comparable base somewhere in the far Pacific."

Sikes replied the pending measure contained no funds for construction on Okinawa, and that he heartily agreed with Gross' opposition to giving it up.

"Not only would it cost to replace Okinawa run into hundreds of millions, possibly billions," said Sikes, "but there is not another site that would be as good for the purpose of defense as Okinawa."

Three decisive reasons were cited by Rep. Sikes on why Okinawa must be retained "as a military bastion for our forces." "It is crucial for the security of our forces in the Western Pacific," the heavy loss of American lives in World War II in capturing Okinawa, and there is no other "forward base as well located for the maintenance of a defense capability for the Western Pacific."

"I shall be very disappointed," declared Sikes, "if our government follows a weak policy in defending the interests of U. S. forces on Okinawa. I earnestly hope we stay there because that is crucial to our security and defense. In fact, not only do I feel we must stay there, but we should insist on the right to store and use whatever weapons may be required for the security of our forces and the common defense of the area."

"My colleague is well aware, I am sure," said Gross, "that a conference is about to take place here that may well determine the fate of our vital military base on Okinawa. I want it fully known that I am prepared to do everything in my power to resist any attempt to dispose of this crucial defense facility."

"I am sure I do not have to remind the House," said Sikes, "that a great many American lives were sacrificed in World War II on Okinawa because it was deemed essential for our forces. I see no reason why we should now move out at the demand of the Japanese government."

"The base on Okinawa is of supreme importance for our forces. Not only must we stay there, but we must continue to have complete freedom to use these facilities as we deem best."

"I completely concur on that," exclaimed Gross fervently.

PAUL HARVEY

The Patient Died

"The operation was a success; the patient died."

That definitive phrase, of its equivalent, passed the lips of a doctor somewhere in the United States last year 47,000 times.

The patient had survived the operation but, resting in bed afterward, a blood clot had formed in his leg and moved to his heart.

More than 47,000 deaths from pulmonary embolism: This disease cost more lives than did either lung cancer or automobile accidents!

And the preventive now being tested is so simple you'll wonder why you didn't think of it yourself.

In lay language, your blood is pumped from your vigorous heart through arteries to the extremities of your body. By the time the blood pressure reaches your feet it is reduced from 130 millimeters pressure to approximately zero.

On the return trip to your heart, movement of that blood depends almost entirely upon muscular massage (similar to the finger massage that milks a cow).

It is the muscles, contracting, which "squirts" the blood through a myriad of veins back up to the heart.

During bedrest, when those muscles are inert, this return circulation grows sluggish. It is then that clots (emboli) form, usually in the legs. Several small clots merge to form one dangerously large embolism. Then this solid mass breaks loose and hits the heart and lungs, usually after the third to seventh day of convalescence, the patient is almost certain to die within minutes.

Physicians will recognize that I am generalizing and simplifying the circulatory process, but I do so for the purpose of explaining the function of a promising new device which mechanically massages the legs during convalescence, thus stimulating circulation, thus — hopefully — ending the "three-day reign of terror" which has haunted every surgeon and every postoperative patient for generations.

Despite World War II experiments with early ambulation (getting the patient out of bed promptly following surgery), there has been no measurable decline in the death rate due to pulmonary embolism in the past 50 years.

I have guarded very jealously a mutual respect with the medical profession which has survived most of those 50 years, so what I am here reporting is a shirt-sleeve English summation of the evaluation of many medical scientists.

Litter and Wood established in 1953 that "veins in the leg can be completely emptied of blood by external pressures," pressures less than one-tenth what you feel from the inflated rubber tube with which your blood pressure is measured.

Dr. A. J. Guyton, chairman of the Department of Physiology and Biophysics at the University of Mississippi, says, "Everyone has known that a gentle, intermittent rhythmic leg pressure device would be very valuable." Hopefully we now have an apparatus that will be commercially acceptable.

A plastic strip, held in place with gauze, extends along the leg, with inflatable bladders located at the lower leg, upper leg and abdomen. Some patients report absence of the usual "numbness" or "colic" during bedrest; are reluctant to have the Phlebo-Dynastat, as it's called, removed.

Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, former president of the American Medical Assn., says, "This is the best device I have seen to assist the return of the venous blood from the lower limbs and abdomen to the heart." Perhaps it is too soon to say that massage by a machine will prevent all postoperative emboli, but physicians watching further clinical testing are unanimously optimistic and about as excited as scientists allow themselves to get.

Phase 4 Diet

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My father was recently put on a Phase No. 4 Ulcer Diet. I am wondering if you have available any kind of menu suggestions. —M.A.P.

Ulcer diets are sometimes numbered, No. 1 being frequent feedings of milk and cream — which the ulcer has to be treated with maximum gentleness.

As the number increases, it means that more variety of solid foods is added. The exact progression varies — depends on who is handling it and what the patient needs.

Therefore I can't tell you explicitly what "Phase 4" means for your father, but I would suspect that it must be a fairly liberal one, including such items as meat, fish, or fowl (broiled, baked or roasted, but avoid fried or spiced); cooked fruits and vegetables, with low fiber or seed content; no spicy or highly-seasoned foods.

I am sure his doctor has menus available by — more likely and easier for you to fit into your menu — planning — lists of foods which are allowable and of others which must be avoided.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think about gold shots for gout? —Mrs. G.O.

These shots have been used for arthritis, but I would see no value in them for gout, which is best treated by changing the chemical balance of the body's system. For the full explanation of this, I refer you to my booklet, "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It." For a copy, send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of this newspaper.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 10-month-old baby is not crawling yet, but she is up on her feet trying to walk already. I realize that many babies don't go through the crawling stage, but also have heard this affects coordination, and that babies who don't crawl are poor readers in school. Is there any truth to this? —T.Y.

The matter is controversial. Some studies are reported to indicate that, when a youngster was taught to crawl, coordination, and later reading, tended to improve.

It is my understanding, however, that many experts on reading do not believe that there is a relationship.

It could be, I presume, that there have been cases of non-crawlers who didn't read well, but the question remains whether or cause-and-effect. I'm willing to keep an open mind on this, but so far I don't see why there should be such an effect.

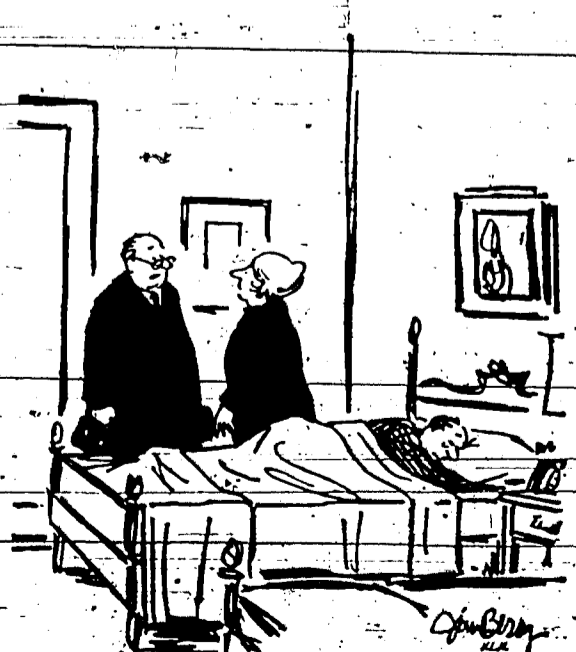

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper requesting the booklet, "How to Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Rest Home Rates Are Discussed

County Commissioners said Monday afternoon they feel the nursing-home rates on indigent patients rests with the state and should be negotiated there. Commissioners were guests of nursing home operators at a noon luncheon meeting at Hazel Del Manor. Local nursing home operators are now receiving $255 per patient per month for dependent persons and say they are having difficulty meeting costs on such patients at this rate. Commissioner William Chaney said the county no longer pays for indigent patients who are able to qualify for state assistance and feel nursing homes should discuss costs and payments at the state level. He said operators did not give a figure at which they feel they could care for the patient and still have a sound financial benefit. Until recently the state was paying $225 per patient. Two state legislators, Richard High and William Roberts, also attended the informal meeting to hear nursing home operators discuss nursing home facilities and operating costs.

THE "GRASS ROOTS" will appear in two concerts Dec. 8 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center. The Associated Students of CSI is sponsoring the concerts by the popular recording artists. Tickets are now on sale in Twin Falls and Jerome.

Audubon

LONDON (UPI)—Kenneth Nebenzahl, a Chicago Book dealer, paid a record $216,000 at Sotheby's Auction House Monday for a first edition of "The Birds of America" by John Audubon. The four-volume set contains 435 plates engraved in aquatint and colored by hand. It was published between 1827 and 1838.

Apollo Trio Gain Wings Of Captain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon told the three Apollo 12 astronauts via radio-telephone Monday that he has promoted each of them from commander to captain in the U.S. Navy. The astronauts were elated at the promotions and shook each other's hands as they talked with the President. Nixon also repeated his invitation to Cmdrs. Pete Conrad, Alan Bean and Dick Gordon, and their wives to have dinner with him at the White House after the astronauts emerge from their quarantine. "Yes, sir, we'll be there," Conrad said when Nixon told them he just wanted to make sure they would be there. He opened the conversation by saying, "Well, I'm just delighted to have this opportunity to welcome you back and I just wish I could be put there for the splashdown. We all went with you on television." Nixon conceded he hadn't watched all of the television reports of the trip, but said, "I can assure you that millions here in the United States and around the world were watching and I am just tremendously proud, personally and speaking also representing the American people, of what you've done." The President noted the firsts established by the Apollo 12 crew—Conrad's singing, the first moonquake and the press conference en route back to earth. "Now, after all of those firsts, I think that the nation wants some recognition," he added, "exercising my prerogative as commander in chief of the armed forces, I have decided you should be promoted and from this day forth you shall be known as Captain Conrad, Captain Gordon and Captain Bean. Congratulations."

Second Moon Trip Brings New Data

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—America's second moon landing mission was by no means a carbon copy of the historic Apollo 11 flight last July. Except for being the first to land a man on the moon, Apollo 12's astronauts accomplished everything Apollo 11 did. And, they did more of it and did it better. The $350 million flight of Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean opened a new generation in manned spaceflight. It was man's first space venture devoted primarily to science. Apollo 11's Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin and Michael Collins carried out the first manned landing on the moon, but their mission was to do just that. It was an engineering test with science only a bonus. Tony Callio, director of science at the Houston Space Center, said "there just isn't anything comparable in the space program to compare with the scientific returns from Apollo 12. One project scientist, Dr. Conway Snyder, said Apollo 12 should increase man's understanding of the moon by at least 1,000 times. "It's really an enormous jump, probably the biggest jump we ever take in understanding the moon."

Wonderful Says Wife Of Conrad

NASSAU BAY, Tex. (UPI)—"This is wonderful. . . This is fabulous. . . This is great." Jane Conrad, with her four sons watching television at her side, said it all—for everybody—as she watched the Apollo 12 mission end with the Yankee Clipper parachuting into the Pacific in what she said was the best broadcast picture ever. It was her husband's third splashdown. At splashdown, the boys, Peter, 14, Thomas, 12, Andrew, 10, and Christopher, who will be 9 Wednesday, broke out big black cigars and sat holding them. They explained that their father, Charles "Pete" Conrad, the Apollo commander, had told them before he left for the moon that they could hold them but not smoke them. "They've been keeping them in the icebox for about three months," Mrs. Conrad said.

Teacher Is Accused Of Kidnaping

HAMMOND, Ind. (UPI)—A slight, bespectacled grade school teacher was arrested Monday, charged with the kidnaping of a 6-year-old Chicago boy and questioned about the slaying last summer of another 6-year-old boy. John Elgin Walrath, 30, was seized in his apartment in this industrial city near Chicago less than 12 hours after two hunters rescued little Timothy Martin along a Lake Michigan beach in Michigan Sunday as his abductor tried to drown him. The abductor fled, crashing through a blockade set up by the hunters, but they chased him for a time and managed to take the license number of his car before losing him. Police said they traced the license number to Walrath.

Police questioned Walrath about the death of John Mazar, 6, Hammond, who was found dead of asphyxiation along Lake Michigan at Beverly Shores, Ind., several days after he vanished while playing near his home 25 miles away. The Mazar boy's disappearance and death never were solved. Walrath, handcuffed and with his head hidden in his arms much of the time, was taken before U.S. Commissioner W. J. Glendon for a hearing. A formal preliminary hearing was postponed pending arrival of a warrant from Chicago.

Praying In Space Nets Lawsuit

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Madelyn Murray O'Hair asked a federal court on Apollo 12 splashdown day Monday to ban the broadcast of space prayers by American astronauts. Mrs. O'Hair, an Austin housewife who rejected court etiquette by refusing to stand, led a similar fight six years ago that resulted in the U.S. Supreme Court ban on compulsory prayer in public schools. The government asked the three-judge federal court to dismiss the space prayer suit. After brief arguments from both sides, the court took the matter under advisement. The judges gave no indication when they would decide the case.

Sticker Sale Is Slow At Courthouse

The sale of license plate stickers at the Twin Falls County courthouse is slow and today County Assessor Clifford Thompson said a long line is anticipated each day until the sale deadline Dec. 31. "We've sold 7,194 passenger stickers as of Oct. 24. This means we have an estimated 20,000 stickers to sell—and it can't be done in the 25 days we have left," he said. Because of the staggered system of sticker sales, the procedure is slower than in previous years, he said, and the deadline has been moved up to Dec. 31 with that date to be final. There will be no extension. In addition, the assessor's office is getting ready for the sale of licenses on boats, snowmobiles, trucks and trailers. "This will be an additional burden and mean more delay in the sale of passenger car stickers," Mr. Thompson said. He added, "We have had a long waiting line for several weeks now. People are waiting too long to get their stickers. He urged everyone involved to come into the courthouse as soon as possible to purchase stickers for their cars."

Probation Given To Four Agents

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Four former federal narcotics agents were fined $250 each and placed on one-year probation Monday after pleading guilty to the misdemeanor charges of violating the constitutional rights of a suspect. The sentences were imposed on Irving Lipschutz, 41, and Harry J. Watson, 45, both of Los Angeles; Chris Saiz, 37, recently head of the Salt Lake City bureau; and Joe A. Downing, 36, New Braunfels, Tex. A fifth former agent, Arthur J. Mendelsohn, 45, Los Angeles, also pleaded guilty and will be sentenced in January. The agents all admitted falsifying reports and giving perjured testimony about the seizure of narcotics from David Perpa Romero in 1966.

INVITATION TO ACCIDENT A worn tire is an invitation to an accident. When it's raining, take special care. Better yet, stay off the highways until you can put sound treads under your car.

Pays Off

NASSAU BAY, Tex. (UPI)—As the Apollo 12 spacecraft plummeted toward the Pacific Ocean Monday, Apollo 9 astronaut Russell L. "Rusty" Schweickart turned to his neighbor, Michael Collins of Apollo 11 fame and said: "I'll bet you it lands in stable two upside down. How much you want to bet?" "Make it a dollar," Collins replied. They were watching the splashdown at the home of Barbara Gordon, wife of Richard F. Gordon. A few minutes later, Collins paid off, when the astronauts reported their Yankee Clipper moonship did indeed flop over after landing.

'Grass Roots' To Appear In Concert Dec. 8 At College

A popular singing group, the "Grass Roots," will appear in two concerts Dec. 8 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center, under the sponsorship of the Associated Students of CSI. Tickets for the concerts, at 7 and 9 p.m., are now available at Sullivan's Music, Jerome, and at Ame's Stereo Center and CSI in Twin Falls. Tickets also will be available at the door the night of the concerts. On ABC's "Music Scene" TV show, the "Grass Roots" will receive the annual University-College popularity award for five consecutive hit records in one year. The group was selected as one of the most popular university attractions of the year, and thanks to the writers of the "Laugh In" television program, the "Grass Roots" have been built into an all-around folk, rock and comedy attraction. The "Grass Roots" are rock conservatives. The music is primarily soft rock, with a dash of soul, rather than underground, and is aimed toward the college market. Their hit records include "Where Were You When I Needed You?," "Let's Live for Today," "Things I Should Have Said," "Midnight Confessions," "Bella Linda," and "The River Is Wide."

Boat Entered

HAGERMAN — A boathouse near Thousand Springs in Hagerman Valley has been broken into for the second time in a month, Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers report. Numerous household items were taken in the latest break-in, which was reported Monday morning. The first entry was not reported to officers. The boathouse is owned by Wayne Wyatt and Bob Hoffmaster, both Twin Falls.

Probe Ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Monday he had ordered an investigation to determine if the Army, Navy and Air Force can save money by making greater joint use of missiles.

Nazi War Criminal Turns Ill

BERLIN (UPI)—Nazi war criminal Rudolf Hess was transferred under guard Monday from the four-power Spandau Prison to the British military hospital here after complaining of stomach pains. It was the first time the 75-year-old Hess, Adolf Hitler's deputy, has left the prison since he began serving his life sentence on July 18, 1947. A British spokesman said Hess "has been off color for two or three days."

Litterbug Survey Shows Gem Staters Are Very Forgetful

A 28-state litter survey has just been completed and two test sites in Magic Valley helped in the long report. The sites were just east of the Highway 93 and 80N interchange and just south of Hailey on Highway 93. Nationwide, 59 per cent of roadside litter was comprised of paper items, 16 per cent cans, six per cent plastic items; six per cent bottles-and-jars and 13 per cent other junk. In Idaho, 11 test sites were used. The test sites were two-tenths of a mile long and included the full right of way on each highway used. Two test pickups of litter were made at 30 day intervals. At both times the litter was carefully separated and counted. Results of the tests pointed out that Idaho highway users are covering the landscape with trash, it was learned. A total of 19.7 cubic feet of litter was collected only 30 days after the 11 test sites had been thoroughly cleaned. Beer cans and bottles constituted the major item of litter with about 14 picked up at each site. This averages about 865 beer containers per mile per year in Idaho. Paper items appeared to be the major problem, even though much of this refuse would disintegrate over a period of time, it was reported. However, glass and metal objects remain on the scene. State Highway Engineer Ellis Mathes said, "It cost the Department $234,289 last year to gather trash on the state highway system. Litterbugs are costing all Idaho highway users money that is badly needed for safety and other highway improvements." He urged people to use litter barrels.

Sen. Frank Church Defends Farmers In Gem State On Potato Diversion Program

WASHINGTON (Special)—Sen. Frank Church has rejected the contention of the Nixon Administration that it cannot order a diversion program for the Idaho potato crop. The Department of Agriculture told Sen. Church that such a program could not be ordered because the law does not allow such programs for crops affected by weather. In Idaho, frost has caused severe damage, forcing growers to move their potato crops to market as soon as possible. This, in turn, has caused a surplus to develop and prices to drop.

Sen. Church, who requested the diversion program earlier this month as a means of cutting back the surplus and maintaining price stability, has written Agricultural Secretary Clifford Hardin to "strongly object to the narrow interpretation of the law which has been resorted to in this matter."

In his letter, Sen. Church said that contrary to the department's stand that a diversion program cannot be ordered for a crop affected by weather, the law provides just such a remedy. Sen. Church pointed to the department's own regulations concerning implementation of a diversion program. One section specifically states that whether the surplus arises from conditions beyond growers' control, such as weather or general economic conditions, or whether it is due to factors within growers' control, such as excess acreage, are matters carefully considered in implementing such programs.

Litterbugs are costing all Idaho highway users money that is badly needed for safety and other highway improvements." He urged people to use litter barrels.

The survey was sponsored by Keep American Beautiful Inc. and the National Academy of Science and it disclosed that an average of 1,304 pieces of litter are tossed out each month on each mile of the 28-state highway survey area.

Sen. Church pointed to the department's own regulations concerning implementation of a diversion program. He said Hess did not appear to be in great pain but was transferred to the nearby hospital because it had better equipment and facilities than the prison dispensary. Hess, now the only inmate in the prison built to hold 660, was taken to the hospital in a British military ambulance under guard. Four prison warders—one Russian, one American, one British and one French—and a six-man British army detail stood guard in the hospital.

'Grass Roots' To Appear In Concert Dec. 8 At College

A popular singing group, the "Grass Roots," will appear in two concerts Dec. 8 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center, under the sponsorship of the Associated Students of CSI. Tickets for the concerts, at 7 and 9 p.m., are now available at Sullivan's Music, Jerome, and at Ame's Stereo Center and CSI in Twin Falls. Tickets also will be available at the door the night of the concerts. On ABC's "Music Scene" TV show, the "Grass Roots" will receive the annual University-College popularity award for five consecutive hit records in one year. The group was selected as one of the most popular university attractions of the year, and thanks to the writers of the "Laugh In" television program, the "Grass Roots" have been built into an all-around folk, rock and comedy attraction. The "Grass Roots" are rock conservatives. The music is primarily soft rock, with a dash of soul, rather than underground, and is aimed toward the college market. Their hit records include "Where Were You When I Needed You?," "Let's Live for Today," "Things I Should Have Said," "Midnight Confessions," "Bella Linda," and "The River Is Wide."

Teacher Is Accused Of Kidnaping

HAMMOND, Ind. (UPI)—A slight, bespectacled grade school teacher was arrested Monday, charged with the kidnaping of a 6-year-old Chicago boy and questioned about the slaying last summer of another 6-year-old boy. John Elgin Walrath, 30, was seized in his apartment in this industrial city near Chicago less than 12 hours after two hunters rescued little Timothy Martin along a Lake Michigan beach in Michigan Sunday as his abductor tried to drown him. The abductor fled, crashing through a blockade set up by the hunters, but they chased him for a time and managed to take the license number of his car before losing him. Police said they traced the license number to Walrath.

Police questioned Walrath about the death of John Mazar, 6, Hammond, who was found dead of asphyxiation along Lake Michigan at Beverly Shores, Ind., several days after he vanished while playing near his home 25 miles away. The Mazar boy's disappearance and death never were solved. Walrath, handcuffed and with his head hidden in his arms much of the time, was taken before U.S. Commissioner W. J. Glendon for a hearing. A formal preliminary hearing was postponed pending arrival of a warrant from Chicago.

Sticker Sale Is Slow At Courthouse

The sale of license plate stickers at the Twin Falls County courthouse is slow and today County Assessor Clifford Thompson said a long line is anticipated each day until the sale deadline Dec. 31. "We've sold 7,194 passenger stickers as of Oct. 24. This means we have an estimated 20,000 stickers to sell—and it can't be done in the 25 days we have left," he said. Because of the staggered system of sticker sales, the procedure is slower than in previous years, he said, and the deadline has been moved up to Dec. 31 with that date to be final. There will be no extension. In addition, the assessor's office is getting ready for the sale of licenses on boats, snowmobiles, trucks and trailers. "This will be an additional burden and mean more delay in the sale of passenger car stickers," Mr. Thompson said. He added, "We have had a long waiting line for several weeks now. People are waiting too long to get their stickers. He urged everyone involved to come into the courthouse as soon as possible to purchase stickers for their cars."

Probation Given To Four Agents

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Four former federal narcotics agents were fined $250 each and placed on one-year probation Monday after pleading guilty to the misdemeanor charges of violating the constitutional rights of a suspect. The sentences were imposed on Irving Lipschutz, 41, and Harry J. Watson, 45, both of Los Angeles; Chris Saiz, 37, recently head of the Salt Lake City bureau; and Joe A. Downing, 36, New Braunfels, Tex. A fifth former agent, Arthur J. Mendelsohn, 45, Los Angeles, also pleaded guilty and will be sentenced in January. The agents all admitted falsifying reports and giving perjured testimony about the seizure of narcotics from David Perpa Romero in 1966.

Litterbug Survey Shows Gem Staters Are Very Forgetful

A 28-state litter survey has just been completed and two test sites in Magic Valley helped in the long report. The sites were just east of the Highway 93 and 80N interchange and just south of Hailey on Highway 93. Nationwide, 59 per cent of roadside litter was comprised of paper items, 16 per cent cans, six per cent plastic items; six per cent bottles-and-jars and 13 per cent other junk. In Idaho, 11 test sites were used. The test sites were two-tenths of a mile long and included the full right of way on each highway used. Two test pickups of litter were made at 30 day intervals. At both times the litter was carefully separated and counted. Results of the tests pointed out that Idaho highway users are covering the landscape with trash, it was learned. A total of 19.7 cubic feet of litter was collected only 30 days after the 11 test sites had been thoroughly cleaned. Beer cans and bottles constituted the major item of litter with about 14 picked up at each site. This averages about 865 beer containers per mile per year in Idaho. Paper items appeared to be the major problem, even though much of this refuse would disintegrate over a period of time, it was reported. However, glass and metal objects remain on the scene. State Highway Engineer Ellis Mathes said, "It cost the Department $234,289 last year to gather trash on the state highway system. Litterbugs are costing all Idaho highway users money that is badly needed for safety and other highway improvements." He urged people to use litter barrels.

The survey was sponsored by Keep American Beautiful Inc. and the National Academy of Science and it disclosed that an average of 1,304 pieces of litter are tossed out each month on each mile of the 28-state highway survey area.

Boat Entered

HAGERMAN — A boathouse near Thousand Springs in Hagerman Valley has been broken into for the second time in a month, Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers report. Numerous household items were taken in the latest break-in, which was reported Monday morning. The first entry was not reported to officers. The boathouse is owned by Wayne Wyatt and Bob Hoffmaster, both Twin Falls.

Judge Vetoes

Dismissal

In Riot Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — The defense failed Monday in a move to win dismissal of riot conspiracy charges against seven men on grounds their prosecution has "a chilling effect" on the rights of the defendants and all of society to free speech.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman rejected the defense request that he throw the case out of court. He ruled that the motion was "wholly without foundation" and said the questions about free speech raised in it had been ruled upon by the court previously.

It was the eighth time in the two-month-old trial that Hoffman had heard and rejected defense moves to return a directed verdict of acquittal.

The defendants are accused of conspiring to incite the riots that erupted in Chicago's parks and downtown streets during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Law Change

Urged In Range Leases

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the State Land Department told a legislative committee Monday night that a simple law change could reduce the mortality rate on "over-bid" range-land leases.

Dave Tidwell, division chief of range management, told the legislative council committee on public lands, that under present law competitive bidding on range leases creates more problems than it solves.

He said the successful bidder often has to "over-bid" the lease to get it and then is stuck with paying a high rate for the land for 10 years.

In practice, Tidwell said, the lessee will pay the rate for one year and then drop the lease.

He said it not only is difficult if not impossible to get the lessee to restate the lease but it is difficult to find anyone else who will lease the land for the remaining nine years at that high a price.

Drugs Taken

From Store In Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County law officers are assisting Chief of Police Bill Anderson with investigation of a break-in and burglary at the Grosse Drug Store here.

Owner of the store, Gilbert Pierson, said considerable amount of drugs, $20 in cash and a few of his personal items had been taken when he went to work Monday morning.

Entrance had been gained by someone using an outside upstairs alleyway, breaking a window into the building, then kicking a small hole in the wall to gain entrance into the Grosse Drug Store area. The entrance was through the bathroom into the store proper.

Officers said the break-in took place Sunday night, as the store was open Sunday.

Rupert's Christmas City Officially Opens On Friday

RUPERT — Rupert's original "Christmas City, USA" will officially come to life at 7:30 p.m. Friday when Santa Claus rides into town and turns on the lights to the new city.

Santa will then make his home in Rupert in his own Santa house — on the northeast corner of the square, where he will open his doors to all the children in the city each Saturday, beginning Nov. 29, from 7 to 5 p.m. He will also have candy to give to all of his visitors.

Stores in the city will remain open until 9 p.m. Friday to commemorate the city opening, and will begin their regular 9 p.m. opening each shopping night Dec. 15 through Dec. 23. On Dec. 24, stores will close at 5:30 p.m. to allow workers to enjoy Christmas Eve.

'Unwilling'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticisms of news judgment by the broadcast industry and newspapers reflect an unwillingness to bear divergent viewpoints, Hubert H. Humphrey said Monday night.

"There is no danger in debate or dissent but the real danger is a growing disposition of intolerance of others' ideas and principles," the former vice president said at a Brandeis University dinner.

"If ever there was a time that we needed people to stand up to our commitments to civil liberties that time is now."

Humphrey, who said he supports President Nixon's policies in the Vietnam War, said Agnew's statements "only muddy the water."

Tax-Reform Legislation Would Plug Loopholes

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Taxpayers who profit from their charities are major targets of the tax reform bill being debated in the Senate.

But not as much as in the House-passed measure. "Maybe you don't know it, but there are ways of giving to charity and finishing up with more money than you started with."

"You heard it right the first time. There are gimmicks in the tax law so that some wealthy people can give whopping amounts to charity and be left with more cash in the bank than if they hadn't been charitable at all."

For example, a businessman finds he will finish the year in the 70 per cent income tax bracket. From there on, for every $100 of individual income he keeps only $30; the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) gets $70. He might just as well be charitable, so with his lawyer they work out a deal where his charity will not only cost him nothing, but he'll profit from it.

Here's how he does it: The businessman gives, say, $100,000 of his inventory to some favorite charity. It's a bona fide deal. The inventory is worth $100,000 on the market and the charity can get that amount for it. The merchandise or property, or whatever it happens to be, only cost the businessman $50,000. If he had sold that inventory and given the cash to the charity, he would have had to pay $35,000 in taxes, 70 per cent of the $50,000 gain. So he saves that $35,000 in individual income tax.

But that's not all. As a second benefit, he is allowed to deduct the full $100,000 the charitable organization will get from the fair market of the inventory. And that means he saves $70,000 more in taxes on other income he acquired (just so long as he hasn't gone beyond a 30 per cent ceiling on his gross income).

Now add those two figures together: It comes to $105,000. The charity gets $100,000. The businessman saves $105,000 in taxes. Result: He has made a profit of $55,000 by giving away $100,000.

There's no question it has worked that way. The Senate Finance Committee in his report on the tax reform bill, noted somewhat caustically that: "In cases where the tax saving is so large, it is not clear how much charitable motivation actually remains. It appears that the government in fact, is almost the sole contributor to the charity."

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the 70-year-old widow who married a charming 73-year-old, well-to-do widower. It seems he failed to tell her that he had surgery 8 years before, and all he could offer her was a lovely home and a gin rummy partner.

Your answer: "Most 70-year-old women marrying a 73-year-old man would be content with a lovely home and a gin rummy partner," showed you to be surprisingly naive. Speak for yourself, Abigail.

I am a 72-year-old "bride" I buried two husbands and divorced two, and there's plenty of life in this old girl yet!

ANGIE IN MEMPHIS

DEAR ABBY: Where is that charming, well-to-do 73-year-old widower who can offer a woman only a lovely home and a gin rummy partner?

I'm a 55-year-old widow, and people tell me I look much younger. I'd love to meet a man like that. With me, he wouldn't

Anniversary Observance Set

HAILEY—Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Allen will be honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary at an open house to be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday at their home at 120 S. 4th St., Hailey.

The reception will be hosted by the couple's three sons, Fred P. Allen, Lafayette, Calif.; Earl A. Allen, Buhl, and Richard C. Allen, Los Angeles, Calif., and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were married Nov. 27, 1919, in Gooding, and have resided in Hailey since that time, and in their present home for 49 1/2 years.

Mr. Allen has resided in Hailey all of his life, and worked as a clerk in local stores until he retired. He served in the Army during World War I and is past commander of Blaine County Post No. 24, American Legion. He is a quartermaster in the World War I Veterans organization.

NETTIE IN MIAMI
DEAR ABBY: I can't believe that sex is so important to a 70-year-old woman that she would pass up a charming, well-to-do gentleman of 73 because he couldn't perform.

People that age get married for companionship. Talk about dirty old men. She is a dirty old lady!

JANE

DEAR ABBY: I read about that 70-year-old widow who married a 73-year-old man and wanted to get rid of him because he was no good at love-making anymore. She said all he could do was play gin rummy.

Well, she can throw him my way. My old man is 68, and he is no good at love-making anymore either, and he doesn't even know how to play gin rummy.

DORIS IN LA.

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh over the letter from the 70-year-old widow who expected romance with a 73-year-old husband. I think she was pulling your leg. I don't know of any woman over 50 who is that interested in sex. And it's common knowledge that most men over 50 are also having their troubles in that department even if they won't admit it.

After 40, I think sex is very much overrated. The energy spent on it isn't worth the little you get out of it. I think middle-aged men should get out more and go fishing.

BETTY IN K. C.

DEAR BETTY: A doctor in Kentfield, Cal., has some news for you. His letter:

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with you, but when you say that a 70-year-old woman shouldn't be disappointed to find that her 73-year-old bridegroom was all finished as a lover, you obviously haven't read DR. KENTFIELD'S letter.

Dr. KENTFIELD, M. D.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Cheerleaders
Talk To Club At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD—Sunnie Sweet, Judy Wilson and Christie Oiesler, Camas County High School Cheerleaders, gave an illustrated talk on their methods of cheerleading and their trip to Logan, Utah. The girls won a large trophy and many ribbons. They were guests of the November meeting of the Camas club in the grade school annex.

Christmas ideas, gifts and decorations were given by Mrs. Russell Pate, Mrs. Robert Hatmaker, Mrs. Richard Dalin, Mrs. Robert Toucks, Mrs. Pearl Hupfer and Mrs. Don Bauscher, with various articles on display.

The club voted to purchase a set of mats for the use of the school. Other projects were discussed and a committee is to look into the possibility of a skating pond this winter.

Hostesses were Mrs. Pearl Hupfer, Mrs. Lyle Hupfer and Mrs. Robert Loucks.

Miss Larison, Bartlett Say Nuptial Vows

JoAnn Larison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Glandon, Twin Falls, became the bride of Ben Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Bartlett, Jerome, Oct. 24 in a ceremony performed in Elko, Nev.

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held the same evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore a pale pink bonded crepe street-length dress, fashioned with long sleeves and accented with white lace at the neckline. Her bridesmaid was Mrs. Gerald Luther.

Gerald Luther stood as best man.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses, tiny white bells and topped with the traditional miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the table. The cake was flanked by long pink tapers in crystal holders. A crystal punch bowl and silver coffee service complemented the table.

Mrs. Sharon Kelly, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Eldon Gough, Wendell, and Linda Bartlett, Jerome, both sisters of the bridegroom, poured.

Music was provided throughout the evening by James Mathewer, Boise, who accompanied himself on the guitar.

The bride is a graduate of Twin Falls high school and attended the College of Southern Idaho. The bridegroom was graduated from Jerome High School and attended Idaho State University, Pocatello.

The couple reside in Portland, Ore.

Texas Claims No. 1 Spot In Grid Poll; Ohio State Is Relegated To Sixth!

NEW YORK (UPI)—The University of Texas, capturing the upper of the year, Monday bumped Ohio State from the No. 1 ranking among college football teams for the first time this season. The Longhorns, idle last Saturday, backed into the No. 1 spot when Michigan stunned Ohio State, winner of 22 consecutive games, 24-12. Texas captured 30 first place votes and 344 points from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches to easily rank first in the nation. The loss dropped the Buckeyes, who ended with an 8-1 mark, down to sixth. Penn State, unbeaten in nine games this season, was second, followed by Arkansas, Southern California and Missouri. Louisiana State was seventh, Michigan eighth, Notre Dame ninth and UCLA 10th. Tennessee headed the second 10, followed by Nebraska, Stanford, Mississippi, Auburn, Houston and West Virginia. Three teams—Purdue, Arizona State and surprising San Diego State—were tied for 17th.

Filer Will Have Veterans At Most Starting Spots

FILER — The Filer Wildcats, who seemed to have everything last year and finally put it all together in a thrilling win over Wood River for the A-2 district championship, won't be lacking in height or experience as they try for an encore this season. Filer, despite a late regular-season slump of sorts, finished the season with a 14-6 mark last season, 44 in the SCIC and 64 in the Big Six Conference. Ron Maxwell, leader of the free-wheeling Wildcat attack, was lost to graduation, but that's about where the notable losses list ends.

Egad! Women Continue To Win Contest

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Egad! We've another double winner and gentlemen again please note, it is a woman. Mrs. Paul Taylor, a 40-year-old housewife, won the regular season with two incorrect guesses and a solid 41 points in the point system. That earns her a $10 check to go with the one she claimed two weeks ago, also on points and ties her with Kaylene Galley for doubling up during the season. In fact, men, the women took the last five weekly titles. Harrumph!
Second prize went to Emmett Kent of Hazelton while Jim Meservy of Dietrich, who should be concentrating on basketball now instead of football, took third prize.
Most of you may put away your prognosticating pencils for the year while the elite, those having won money or taken honorable mentions, prepare for the bowl contest. The ballot for that one will appear in the Times-News during the first week of December.

Agenda For Baseball Meeting Set

NEW YORK (UPI)—Figuring out a method to return the All-Star balloting to the fans, increasing the power of the commissioner, player trades and discussion with the Players' Association will be the major problems to be discussed by major league baseball owners at their winter meetings in Bal Harbor, Fla. Dec. 3-6.
Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Monday the agenda for the meetings.
The owners discussed the possibility of allowing the fans to vote for the ball-star squad again, but the problem lies in preventing any city from stuffing the ballot box. Cincinnati dominated the balloting so much one season that the system was changed with the players voting.
A spokesman for the commissioner said the owners also will discuss moving the offices of the presidents of the American League and National League under the same roof with the commissioner, similar to the setup in professional football. The possibility of doing away with the league presidents and appointing deputy commissioners also will be discussed.
The agenda calls for a joint discussion among both leagues on Dec. 3. Among the specific topics will be player trades, umpire development, player relations and realignment of the American Association from six to eight teams.
The American and National Leagues meet separately on Dec. 4 and then have a joint meeting on Friday. The planning committee report on placing both leagues in the same offices will be discussed on Saturday with a possible vote.

Louisiana State beat Tulane 27-0 and Notre Dame struggled past determined Air Force 13-6. Tennessee edged Kentucky 31-26, Stanford nipped California 29-28 and Mississippi and Auburn were idle.
Houston swamped Wyoming 41-14 and West Virginia finished 9-1 with a 13-10 victory over S.V. of U.S. Arizona State trounced Colorado State 79-7. Purdue bombed Indiana 44-21 and San Diego State, small college champion for the past three seasons before joining the majors this year, ripped North Texas State 42-24 to boost its record to 9-0.

The supporting cast is a question mark as far as offense goes. Varsity returnees Tim Chandler, 6-3, and Jim Blakeslee, 6-2, didn't score much at the forward spots last year. Mark Huston, who at 6-4 has fine rebounding potential, could be vital man if he can put it all together. With Huston at a forward spot, Ramsey would have board help.
Both guards will have to produce. Filer is to have the same high-scoring attack. Steve Hadley 5-9 showed flashes of offensive skill last season in brief roles. The other guard, Dick Aslett, 6-1, played tough defense on a club that wasn't known for it.
Four seniors who didn't play varsity ball last year may make a dent in the starting lineup. They are Darrell Olson, a 6-3 forward, Greg Lanting, a 6-1 guard, Steve Cowger, a 6-3 center, and Russell Ferrin, 5-11 guard. Ferrin may be a starter at guard, where he was a stand-out for a Salt Lake City high school.
Gary Wright, 6-1 guard, and Larry Neale, 5-9, are the only juniors listed. Both have junior varsity experience.
Filer's schedule includes: Dec. 2, Filer at Valley; Dec. 5, Payette at Filer; Dec. 6, Payette at Filer; Dec. 13, Shoshone at Filer; Dec. 19, Emmett at Buhl; Dec. 20, Vahivue at Buhl; Jan. 2, Wood River at Filer; Jan. 3, Filer at Glenns Ferry; Jan. 8, Gooding at Filer; Jan. 10, Filer at Buhl; Jan. 16, Wendell at Filer; Jan. 23, Filer at Shoshone; Jan. 24, Jerome at Filer; Jan. 30, Glenns Ferry at Filer; Jan. 31, Filer at Wood River; Feb. 6, Filer at Gooding; Feb. 7, Buhl at Filer; Feb. 14, Filer at Wendell; Feb. 20, Filer at Jerome; and Feb. 21, Valley at Filer. Junior varsity games begin at 6:30 varsity contests at 8 p.m.

West Piling Up Lead In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers is drawing away in the race for scoring honors in the National Basketball Association while a bitter battle is going on for runner-up honors.
West scored 174 points last week for a 590 total and raised his average 1.5 points per game for a 41.2 mark in games through last Sunday.
Lou Hudson of Atlanta supplanted Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham in second place as the Hawks star increased his point total to 508 for a 28.2 average. Cunningham is third with a 27.9 mark.
West played five games last week, scoring 27, 32, 37, 33 and 28 points.
Walt Chamberlain of Los Angeles, although sidelined by a knee injury, took over the field goal percentage lead at 57.9 as Walt Bellamy of Detroit, last week's leader, dropped completely from the top 10 in that department.
Elvyn Robinson of Milwaukee continues as free-throw leader with a 94.0 percentage. Elvin Hayes of San Diego is the new rebound leader with a 17.0 percentage and player-coach Len Wilkens of Seattle supplanted Walt Frazier of New York as assist leader with a 9.6 average.

Dietrich Must Find Point Punch To Replace Lee

DIETRICH—Northside Conference champion Dietrich stormed through 28 games with 22 victories last year, at times averaging close to 90 points a ballgame. Coach George Trenkle is probably painfully aware of the fact that roughly half of that firepower came from one graduated man—Randy Lee.
Lee's 28-plus scoring output per game carried the Blue Devils through the entire season, but this year his teammates who return off that championship squad will be tested severely in a try to match or better that seasonal mark of 22 wins. A key man is tiny Jim Meservy, who isn't so tiny any more if he has grown to 5-8 as is reported. Last year, at about 5-3 Meservy at times was dazzling, showing an uncanny long-range touch and a lot of know-how when it came to ball hawking.
Meservy may have a fight on his hands for a starting spot at guard, however, as two six-footers, Don McCowan, and Dennis Perron, return. Don Towne, the tallest man on the squad, starts at 7 p.m.

FOR THE OFFENSE...

Judge Declines To Reinstate Players

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Federal District Judge Charles L. Powell denied Monday a temporary restraining order sought by three black students at Eastern Washington State College against the school's athletic department.
The students had sought to restrain the athletic department from enforcing its athletic code which prohibits the use of the clenched fist salute during athletic events.
Powell came out orally in agreement with Assistant Attorney General Robert Lamp who contended the plaintiffs did not prove at Monday's hearing there was a substantial chance they would win their case at a full hearing on the merits of the case.
Lamp also contended the plaintiffs were not done irreparable harm and that there was no proof of a substantial deprivation of their rights.
The restraining order was sought by the three students after one of them, halfback Carl Jones, was suspended from the EWSC football team Sept. 27 for allegedly giving the salute at a football game against Portland State University.
The code, which sets standards of appearance and behavior for athletes at Eastern, was approved by a majority of the school's athletes last spring over the objections of the black students union.
Lamp said during his arguments that the college had a valid reason for enforcing the code in that it was necessary to prevent athletes from using the athletic arena for political expression because it caused team disunity.
Powell said he was reluctant to use a federal court to intervene into a matter between individuals and the state. Eastern Washington State College is a state supported school and the Attorney General's office is defending it in the action.
Roger Reed, Assistant Attorney General for Eastern Washington, said there had been no date set for the full hearing on the matter but that he intended to ask for a jury trial.
Reed said the full hearing would essentially be on the damages asked by Jones, who said his suspension from the team had cost him $3,500 in damages.
Brent Wooten, EWSC Athletic Director and football coach, testified during the hearing that Jones had another year of eligibility remaining.
The suspensions are only for one year, Wooten said.
Reed said the athletic code would remain in full force pending the outcome of the full hearing and the coaches, in effect, can suspend an athlete from the team for breaking the code.
Reed said his office expected to have the written order prepared for Judge Powell to sign by Wednesday.

NAMED

MORRIS MOE, 6-5 sophomore from Veradale, Wash., is one of the veterans College of Southern Idaho basketball Coach Jerry Hale is counting on for a lot of work this year. Moe is a fine corner jump shooter and rebounds better than his size. He could well be one of the starters Dec. 1 and 4 when the Golden Eagles open at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium against College of Idaho jayvees and Western Wyoming Junior College.

Heisman Trophy Winner To Be Announced Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 35th Heisman Trophy, presented annually to the nation's outstanding college football player, will be announced at 1 p.m. EST Tuesday, with quarter-back Rex Kern of Ohio State and running back Steve Owens of Oklahoma the leading contenders.
The award, sponsored by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, is determined by balloting of more than 1,000 of the nation's sports writers.
O.J. Simpson, the former Southern California running star now with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, won the trophy last year.
Phipps, one of the top collegiate passers in the nation, has been among the leaders in passing and total offense all through this season. Kern, a daring quarterback who passes and runs well, led Ohio State through most of its last 18 victories, previous to the Buckeyes' upset loss last Saturday.
Owens, Oklahoma's work-horse fullback, has been consistently over the 100-yard per game rushing mark throughout his career and is among the nation's leading rushers.
Phipps and Owens are seniors and Kern is a junior.
Notre Dame players have won the award six times and the service academies have taken five, three going to Army and two to Navy. No player has ever won the Heisman Trophy twice and only two lieutenants, Larry Kelley of Yale (1936) and Leon Hart of Notre Dame (1949)—have ever won the trophy. No interior lineman has ever won.

Otis Honored By Buckeye Teammates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Senior fullback Jim Otis, who rewrote the record books for the Ohio State Buckeyes this season, was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1969 season by his fellow teammates Monday night.
Otis, a 6-foot, 214-pound blond from Celina, rushed for 1,027 yards this season and became the first Buckeye to break the 1,000 yard mark in rushing in any given season.
His 2,532 yards in three years also surpassed the ground gained by Howard "Hammond" Cassidy who played for the Woody Hayes coached Buckeyes in the middle 50s.
Otis crossed the goal line 34 times, in three years, three short-of-the-37 Cassidy scored in four years for the Buckeyes.
"It's the greatest honor I've ever had in my life," said Otis at the varsity awards banquet.
"There's no star or most valuable player on a football team. It takes all 11 men to put the ball in the end zone, and if one guy lets down, then the effort fails."
Hayes cited Otis as "the best fullback I've had in my 19 years at Ohio State."
"He hits that little hole and hits it better than any one."
His average may not be as high as you would think because he runs a lot of one-yard plays," said Hayes.
Hayes said Otis' best game of his career was the Michigan game Saturday where the fullback gained 144 yards in 29 carries and scored one touchdown as the then No. 1 rated Buckeyes were surprised by the Wolverines 24-12. The upset knocked the Bucks into sixth place in the national ratings from the top spot they had held all season.
The team, in a rare move, named two co-captains for both the offensive and defensive units for 1970:
Junior linebacker Doug Adams of Xenia and junior middleguard Jim Stillwagon of Mount Vernon were named to guide the defensive unit.
Junior quarterback Rex Kern of Lancaster was voted to head the offensive unit. He then asked, and received approval to have end junior Jan White of Harrisburg, Pa., as his co-captain.

Bristol Handed Manager Reins For Seattle Club

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Former Cincinnati Reds manager Dave Bristol Monday was named manager of the American League Seattle Pilots under a "multiyear" contract and a "very good salary."

Pilot General Manager Marvin Milkes announced Bristol's signing at a news conference. Bristol, who has spent 19 of his 36 years with the National League Cincinnati organization, including 13 years as manager, succeeds the fired Joe Schultz.

Milkes declined to disclose either the terms or starting salary of Bristol's contract. It had been known Bristol wanted at least two years as Schultz's successor. Schultz was dismissed in the midst of negotiations to sell majority interest in the Pilots to a Seattle group headed by theater executive Fredric Danz.

Bristol, who has a face like a prize fighter, grinned when Milkes said, "It's a multiyear contract with a very good salary. He is a tough competitor at the (bargaining) table and I admire him for it."

Asked why he picked Bristol over former Minnesota Twins manager Billy Martin, who also was interviewed for the job, Milkes replied:

"I would rather not go into why I picked Dave. I still have a tremendous respect for Martin."

Bristol came to town last Thursday and stayed over. Martin arrived Friday night and left Saturday, giving a strong hint that the new Pilot ownership was letting Milkes work out terms with the man regarded to be his first choice.

Milkes said Bristol's hiring should "assure the baseball world and the fans that this is a very stable organization."

He said the new ownership and Bristol's contract ought to offset much of the negative publicity the Pilots have had, such as reports they would be moved to another city.

Bristol emphasized he didn't come to Seattle simply because it was the last managerial job open in Big League baseball.

"I didn't take this job to be managing for a manager's sake," he said. "I think I asked more questions than they asked me. I have a lot of self respect and I retained it."

Bristol, fired at the end of the 1969 season when his Reds finished third in their division, was immediately hired as a coach by Montreal with the understanding he was free to negotiate for a manager's job.

"The day I got fired in Cincinnati, I started formulating my coaching staff for the next time I would be a manager, because I knew I would be," he said. However, he added he wasn't "at liberty" at this time to say who would be on the staff.

Bristol and Milkes agreed that they weren't too anxious to begin trading.

"I agree with Dave that we are going to become competitive from within," Milkes said.

Bristol said that moving the Pilots up from a last place finish in their first season will require "a little patience and a lot of hard work."

Lindgren Has Third NCAA Harrier Title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gerry Lindgren, the mighty mite distance runner from Washington State University, capped his fabulous intercollegiate track and field career Monday by winning the 1969 NCAA cross country championship in the meet record time of 28 minutes, 59.2 seconds.

Lindgren, running his last NCAA race, proved what a great competitor he is as he took the individual title in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park in the Bronx.

The victory gave the sturdy Spokane, Wash., runner his third collegiate cross country title. He won the event in 1966 and 1967. Lindgren missed the season last fall because of a tendon injury suffered in the summer and ulcers resulting from failure to make the Olympic team.

The 5-foot-8-inch, 150-pounder, winning his 11th national title, beat out defending champion Mike Ryan of the Air Force Academy, who was timed in 29 minutes, one second. Third place went to Steve Prefontaine of the University of Oregon. The Oregon freshman was clocked in 29 minutes, 12 seconds.

Texas El Paso won the team title, spoiling Villanova's bid for an unprecedented fourth straight championship. The Miners had 72 points to Villanova's 85.

Lindgren, who won the meet at Lawrence, Kan., in 1966 and the 1967 event at Lafayette, Wyo., led from start to finish and beat Ryan by about 12 yards.

Kentucky Wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The undefeated Kentucky Pacers pounded out their third straight victory Monday night, defeating the New York Jewels, 39-31, in the new International Amateur Boxing League.

Lightweight Norman Goins highlighted the victory for the Kentuckians with a second-round knockout over Edwin Malave, the only KO of the program.

Otis, Phipps, Owens And Anderson Are Named To UPI's All-America Backfield

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ohio State and Penn State paced the voting for the United Press International 1969 college football All-America team announced today by placing three men each on the honor squad against two each for Southern California and Notre Dame.

However, Steve Owens, Oklahoma's record-breaking running back, proved the top individual vote-getter on the 22-man squad by snaring 132 ballots. The two-plot team was chosen by direct vote of 142 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation, the only team so chosen.

Owens, who has scored 54 touchdowns for an all-time major college record, including 21 this season, thus missed a perfect selection by only 10 ballots.

It was one of the closest approaches to unanimous selection in history. Michigan State tackle Bubba Smith came the closest, coming within seven votes in 1968.

Owens, a senior from Miami, Okla., gained 100 or more yards rushing in 17 straight games until last Saturday and needs six more touchdowns in his final game Thanksgiving Day against Oklahoma State to break in three years the mark of 59 set by Army's Glenn Davis in four years.

Joining Owens in the All-America offensive backfield were quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue and running backs Jim Otis of Ohio State and Bob Anderson of Colorado.

Linebacker Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, a senior, was the only repeater from the 1968 squad.

Here are the players chosen as the best in the land:

Offense:

Ends—Carlos Alvarez, Florida, and Jim Mandich, Michigan.

Tackles—Sid Smith, Southern California, and Bob McKay, Texas.

Guards—Chip Kell, Tennessee, and Larry Dinardo, Notre Dame.

Center—Rodney Brand, Arkansas.

Quarterback—Mike Phipps, Purdue.

Running backs—Steve Owens, Oklahoma; Jim Otis, Ohio State; and Bob Anderson, Colorado.

Defense:

Ends—Jim Gunn, Southern California, and Phil Olsen, Utah State.

Tackles—Mike McCoy, Notre Dame, and Mike Reid, Penn State.

Carey Has Big Man And Veteran Guard, Forward

CAREY—The Carey Panthers have three things going for them as they enter into the new basketball season: one of the tallest men in the conference and a veteran returnee at both guard and forward.

Coach Blaine Tingey's squad, which finished with an 11-8 record last season playing in the Northside Conference, has a good crack at improving that mark.

The key man in the Panthers' plan is Zane Briggs, 6-4 senior center who dwarfs anybody else on the Carey team. After the speedy Briggs, the Panthers size dwindles down to four men at 5-11, but that's nothing to sneeze at in the Northside loop.

Veterans Robb Peck, 5-11 forward, and Milo Mecham, 5-10 guard, should supply the scoring punch along with Briggs. Dennis Rush, 5-11, returns at forward while Bari Murdock, 5-11, and Karl Bame, 5-11, will fight for the other guard spot.

Four others who may figure into Tingey's plans are Dana O'Crowley, Bill Molyneux, Ed Thatcher, and Bill Hunt.

Opening action for the Panthers will come Dec. 6 when they play host to a Northside loop jamboree.

The Panther schedule includes: Dec. 6, jamboree at Carey; Dec. 9, Hagerman at Hagerman; Dec. 12, Castleford at Carey; Dec. 16, Camas County at Carey; Dec. 19, Grand View at Bruneau; Jan. 3, Grand View at Carey; Jan. 6, Bliss at Carey; Jan. 13, Dietrich at Dietrich; Jan. 16, Richfield at Carey; Jan. 20, Camas County at Camas County.

Jan. 23, Dietrich at Carey; Jan. 27, Hagerman at Carey; Jan. 30, Castleford at Castleford; Feb. 3, Bliss at Bliss;

Big Sky Is Mum About Expansion

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Athletic directors and faculty representatives from Big Sky Conference schools met Monday, but refused to comment on the inclusion of Boise State College and Northern Arizona University.

Their recommendations will be discussed Tuesday morning by member presidents during the annual meeting. It was announced.

Both Northern Arizona University and Boise State College have formally applied for admission to the conference.

Earl C. Lory, faculty representative from the University of Montana, said it was generally believed expansion now would be good for the conference.

A unanimous vote of the college presidents is required for acceptance of new members. The presidents convene at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The present member schools include the University of Montana and Montana State University, the University of Idaho and Idaho State University, Gonzaga University and Weber State College.

WINS FOUR

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jockey Jorge Velazquez booted home four winners at Aqueduct Monday, including Dark Emerald in the $15,000 allowance feature for fillies and mares.

Penn State Takes Third Lambert Prize

NEW YORK (UPI)—Orange Bowl-bound Penn State was acknowledged the major football power in the East for the third straight year Monday by the Lambert Trophy selection board.

The honor for Penn State equaled the three consecutive Lambert Trophies won by Army in 1944, '45 and '46.

Penn State, gaining its seventh Lambert Trophy since 1947, collected 80 votes, 20 more than the 60 Boston University and Dartmouth each drew in their tie for second place.

Princeton finished fourth with 55 points, Yale was fifth with 52 and Syracuse sixth with 30.

Rutgers and Pittsburgh deadlocked for seventh at 28 apiece. Buffalo was ninth with 23 and Villanova 10th with 12 points.

Feb. 6, Gooding State at Carey; Feb. 10, Gooding State at Gooding State, and Feb. 13, Richfield at Richfield.

Today's Market And Financial Report

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market turned slightly higher Tuesday after 30 leading performers in a row. Trading was moderate.

A spokesman for the Walston & Co. brokerage said the rally was technical and long overdue, but he noted that at this point it was difficult to judge whether the upswing would be temporary in view of the generally discouraging news background.

Adding to investors' concern was a Labor Department estimate that wholesale prices have risen four-tenths of 1 percent this month, indicating that price inflation still is in high gear.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the UP marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.35 percent on 1,535 issues crossing the tape. There were 715 advances and 526 declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials was off 0.99 at 811.91. Volume of approximately 8,000,000 shares was ahead of Monday's pace.

RIGHT PLAY MAKES HAND TWICE SET
It is so easy to play when you see all the cards. That is, some hands are easy to play. Here is an old-timer that was played in an important team match in 1937. Both South players the six. He must now realize that East is marked with both the diamond and club kings for his opening bid and he must force an entry to dummy by leading his six of diamonds and overtaking with dummy's seven or leading the eight or nine and overtaking with dummy's 10.

After this start East might just as well throw in his hand and start the next deal.
Suppose he forces declarer by leading out his queen of spades. Once more declarer must ruff high so as to be able to enter dummy with a second diamond. Then he takes the club finesse; cashes a second club; ruffs another club to clear the suit. Ruffs back to his own hand. The sensational play is to ruff the ace of hearts, draw the last trump and spread.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1♥ 1♠ 2♣ 2♦

Pass Pass 1♥ ?
You, South, hold:
♠ A 8 6 4 ♣ K J 9 3 ♠ Q 10 7 5

A—Double. You have 10 high-card points and support for any suit your partner may bid. If you had anything more, you would have opened the bidding.

TODAY'S QUESTION

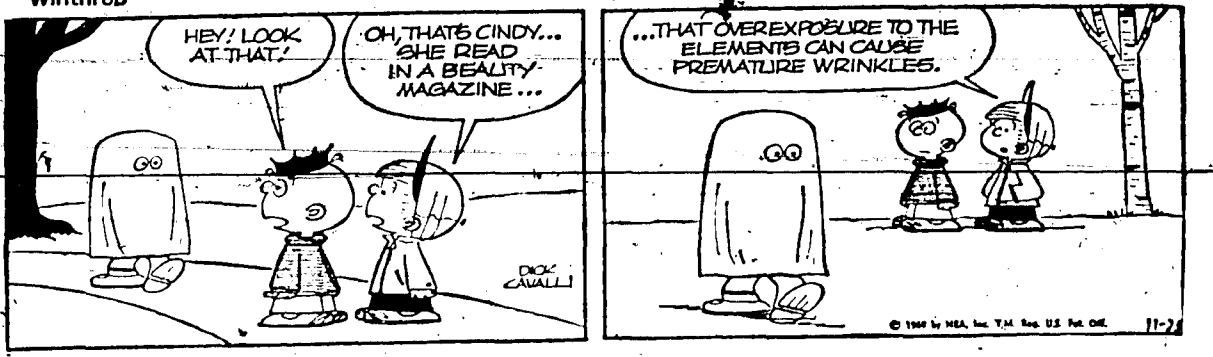

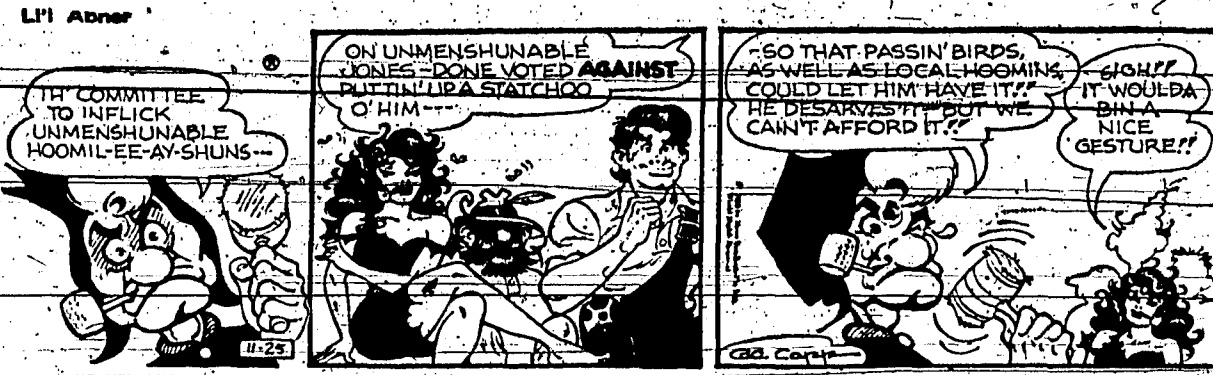

West bids three hearts and your partner three spades. East passes. What do you do?

arrived at five diamonds doubled.
The bidding in the box was that at one table. We don't know how it went at the other table nor do we know the play. All we do know is that each declarer wound up going down one after West started out by leading the king and ace of spades.
The bidding should have located all the cards for South so we must assume that it is really hard to find the winning line of play. See if you can work it out!
South must start proceedings by ruffing that second ♠ spade with some diamond other than TELEVISION — Tell you what's wrong with TV shows now. Too many put-ons. There is a hunger out here in the audience for ethical affection and tulips. Ernie Pyle and Handel's "messiah," in 10 percent horses, prayer and springtime apple trees, a Gandhi dedication and some gallantry in battle. "Julia," that good clean simpleton, will survive the cunning "Laugh-in" boys, and the Sunday arm of John Unitas will negate us more than Davey Frost's thin lip. The news? Ed Newman is pretty good. He breathes kind of hard, like a fellow who's sincere.

Industrial Designer Ponders Problems Of Day-To-Day Living Aboard Space Vehicles

NEW YORK (UPI)—At age 76 industrial designer Raymond Loewy is immersed in the future. His concern is day-to-day living aboard space laboratories that will orbit earth in the 1970s and beyond.

His official job is a study of "habitability" and it includes such projects as designing prehensile shoes so astronauts can hang on with their toes in a state of weightlessness, and a dining table with a "sticky" surface to hold down the plates.

Loewy, chairman of the firm of Raymond Loewy-William Snaith, Inc., has designed everything from refrigerators to the Studebaker Avanti, one of the more advanced cars of modern times. It is said he has affected the daily lives of Americans as much as any other man.

Since 1967 the French-born Loewy has been working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to develop a "habitability" study for the Apollo application project. Specifically he is doing early studies for space utilization in the advanced space stations planned for the late 1970s.

These space complexes or laboratories will be inserted in earth's orbit and will be occupied by a crew of 12 at first. This number will be increased to 50 or 60 and, eventually, complexes may be occupied by 100 and up to 200 crew members. They will be serviced by space "taxi" from earth.

He is guided by three major problems—weight, non-flammability and non-irritation of clothing, remembering always that it costs approximately $700 to put each pound into orbit. So spare underwear, for example, weighs almost nothing and can be rolled into a cigarette-sized package.

He is concerned more with "shirt sleeve" operations aboard the orbital space station than the actual pressure suit which must be worn outside the vehicle. And he has to keep in mind that future orbits may last as long as 28 days, then 56 days and then perhaps a year or more.

"We feel it is extremely important for morale that the astronauts have a neat, military look," he said in an interview. "Fabrics are carefully selected so they will not wrinkle. They must be flame proof and comfortable and of materials that will not create allergies."

"Because of the length of the mission the laundry problem is most important," he said. "To aid in this we have developed garments with several features—the armpit and crotch are replaceable, for example, while the rest of the garment stays on."

Velcro fasteners are used. Velcro is a fabric that resembles plush but sticks firmly to another piece of Velcro and is much simpler than a zipper fastening. Seams of the garments are pre-stitched and then covered with a strip of Velcro in a contrasting color.

This has two purposes. Tool kits, extra pockets, flashlights, etc., can be attached to the astronaut anywhere he wishes. The other use is for time and motion studies. The line follows the body line and for television cameras the motion of the line is the motion of the man.

"For neatness we give them pants with ski straps for a taut look, but with plenty of room at the knee," he said. He predicted this look would carry over eventually into sportswear for non-astronauts.

The astronauts will be equipped with a chart wear system. Armpits and loin cloths are changed once a day. Shoes are checked every two days. Pants are checked every 14 days and shirts every 14 days. The day of change is printed upside down so the astronaut can look down and see the words "day 5" which means he changes that garment on the 5th day of orbit.

Because of the problems of weightlessness, shoes are prehensile, which means they are made so astronauts can grip with their toes. One design was for a Japanese-type shoe with a split toe which an astronaut can hook under a small button. Another pair has a supple upper and a stiff sole so the astronaut can grab things between his toes and shoe sole clothespin fashion.

And since an astronaut might stub his toe the shoes are designed with a metallic guard that leaves the toes free to move underneath. He emphasized that many of the designs are not yet approved by NASA and showed sketches of dozens of guards.

"Helmets must be light so we make them of inflatable material," he said. He displayed sketches of dozens which looked like anything from a helmet worn by ancient Greek warriors to the protective arrangement worn by a boxer during a sparring session. Some had arrangements for a miner's type emergency lamp.

Loewy commutes regularly to Houston to talk with various astronauts and he found one of their problems was that things fall out of their pockets when they move. So he designed a steel spring-like device to keep the pockets closed.

The clothing problem is only
