Jubilant Heart Recipient Plans Long, Joyous Life

By TOM TEDE

WAYNE, Mich. — (NEA) — Last December Donald Kaminsky went to the University of Michigan medical center for the final word on his heart condition.

The word was grim. Specialists told Kaminsky he was dying, that he had only three alternatives: one, continue medication and survive possibly another year; two, have a pair of new valves inserted into his heart, and run an 80 per cent risk of operational death; three, cut the old heart out completely and put in a new one with a 50-50 chance of success.

Today, seven months later, 39-year-old Don Kaminsky is "damn glad I took the third choice. Heck, I'd probably be in the grave if I didn't." Kaminsky, one of 19 surviving heart transplant patients in the United States, and one of 32 in the world, is hardly in the grave. He says, "I never felt so good in my life. Man, I feel 10 years young. I can walk as far as I want, I can run, too. I eat like a hog, sleep like a log—and let me tell you, I'm having a ball."

Officials at the U. M. medical center are "overjoyed" with his progress. In succeeding checkups (he goes in for a physical once a month) no complications have been found. His medicine has been reduced from 200 pills a day immediately after the transplant to a current nine. His pulse, respiration and stamina are good. "Kaminsky," says one medic, "is alive and well and probably off fishing."

And if not fishing, adds Kaminsky himself, then something else. "Man, I'm raising hell. I mean I'm doing whatever I want to do. Nothing seems to bother me now. "I walk a mile every morning before breakfast. I can climb up any flight of stairs you name, I can fish all day and then go into the nearest town and drink booze all the rest of the night. "I even smoke. A pack a day. It's O.K. — seven of the nine heart specialists at the University smoke. They told me as long as I kept it moderate, it'd be all right. So only one pack a day. And I feel great."

How Don Kaminsky feels is a bright light in the otherwise dim corridors of human heart transplants. Seventy-five per cent of the patients who have undergone this operation have died. A number of those surviving are plagued by recurring side ailments.

Not Kaminsky, however. "You know," he says, "I've read about most of the other guys (other transplant recipients) you know what? I think they all worry too much. They get depressed or something, and they get the feeling they won't make it. "Personally, I don't let anything bother me. I got a second lease on life. I know it and I ain't got time to sit around moping. I'm going to make it. I'm going to live to be 70 and that's all I care about."

Kaminsky's attitude has been of enormous therapeutic value. And though heart specialists cannot confirm his life expectancy prediction, none of those who operated on him suggests it isn't possible.

Besides, as one medical observer says, even if the man doesn't live to be 70, "the way he's going it'll probably seem that way." Divorced and financially stable (his $40,000 medical bills have been paid by several sources), he is free to pursue any interest. He has become a minor celebrity in the state (along with two other surviving Michigan heart recipients). He boats, swims, rides horses—and puts 4,000 miles on his car every month.

With All Speed

Idaho State Journal

We think the three city councilmen who blocked a quickie election on the city's form of government acted wisely last week.

The question of whether the city should switch back to the mayor-council form after 19 years of council-manager government is too crucial to jump the gun on an election without a thorough airing of the issues.

Last week's council election probably indicates the people want to vote on the form of government. We're not at all sure the majority wants to change. The form of government may or may not be the change the people obviously voted for.

IT IS PLAIN there is going to be an election — and this means that until the election is held, the future of Pocatello's government will be up in the air. The city should not stick too long with a caretaker government. But we're sure the four new councilmen will be able to recruit at least one holdover to take care of that. We darsay the vote on a council resolution to set a special election will be unanimous when the time comes.

In resolving the future from our city government "all deliberate speed" should be the watchword (to borrow the Supreme Court's famous school desegregation phrase).

We feel the speed with which three councilmen wanted to set the election would not be deliberate. We agree with Councilmen F. W. Roskelley and Fred D. Snyder that only the mayor side of the mayor-manager issue was aired in the recent campaign (and maybe not even that was adequately brought out). The reason, of course, was that the form of government wasn't on the ballot, but was a side issue which became the biggest issue.

Do the people really want mayor-council government or is it an idea which will fade in the light of thorough public discussion?

The people deserve an orderly, detailed presentation of the strong points and the weak points of both council-manager and mayor council government. This can be done in many ways: forums and study sessions of groups such as the Chamber of Commerce, the League of Women Voters, service clubs — and of course by news media. But all this takes time.

IT SHOULDN'T TAKE too much time — and if this were January instead of mid-November, enough information could be put out to warrant an election in a month to six weeks. Now, with Thanksgiving and Christmas coming up, people will be deeply involved in family affairs, shopping, traveling and merry-making. They won't be inclined to pay much attention to public affairs.

Meanwhile, the housekeeping work of preparing the 1970 city budget already is under way with Acting City Manager Joel G. Anderson and his department heads. This has to be done now and the present administrators will have to do it before a new mayor and council can be elected or a new city manager can be hired.

We believe the people can adequately decide on the issues of the year. The form of government in about five weeks right after the first of the Early February would be a good time for that special election we know is coming.

Pot

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

According to a survey by The New York Times there has been a dandy marijuana harvest in the United States this year, particularly in Kansas where the plants grow almost as high as an elephant's eye and cover more than 50,000 acres. That is correct, 50,000 acres. The plant grows wild along the edges of cultivated fields, river banks and railroad tracks. It is hardy and resistant to eradication, like poison ivy.

In the West the plant used to be called loco weed because it has a profound effect on cattle; a loco cow is a crazy cow. It was once widely grown around Lawrence, Kan.; the fibers of the stalks were used for making rope. Now it is found along railroad tracks because seeds were shaken off trainloads of hemp bound for rope mills. Kansas Gov. Docking has proposed bringing marijuana under the state's noxious weeds program, but farmers are not enthusiastic since they would have to go to the expense of getting rid of it. Since it provides cover and feed for quail, sportsmen are concerned.

Of course there are some marijuana users throughout the country who have their own secret pot plots, and their own secret curing sheds in dormitory closets — and not only out in Marlboro country. Vermont is coming on strong as a notable pot state; there the crop is harvested mostly at night. Since marijuana is illegal there are no brands widely advertised to the general public; but as more young people take up pot smoking underground labels may become known. For the present we will note that you can bar marijuana from the country, but...

A Rail Success

Christian Science Monitor

We shall continue to hammer away at the theme that there is no reason why the railroad commuter lines into America's big cities cannot be efficient, with trains on time, conductors courteous, cars clean, patrons satisfied. Governor Rockefeller's partial achievement in improving conditions on board the Long Island Railroad, which carries commuters into New York City, shows what can be done.

Sometimes, government has to assume control, and make up deficits. Sometimes, labor relations need drastic improvement. But the biggest necessity is simply that someone, some individual with power and drive, must assume full responsibility for the clean-up, the reform. Governor Rockefeller promised that the Long Island Railroad would be the "finest commuter road" in the country in two months time. When the two months was out, the Long Island was not, by any means, the nation's best commuter line. But it was considerably improved, and the riders were beginning to be relatively satisfied.

Ice-Find?

Chicago Tribune

The water-withholding power of glacial ice is tremendous. As the last major glacial period on earth subsided, for example, 20,000 years ago, some 20 feet of water was added to the oceans' level. And in the glacial ice that remains is a vast reservoir of pure water — uncontaminated by man-made pollutants.

Both in Washington, D. C., and Cambridge, England, hydrologists and glaciologists have recently made earnest projections of how the pent-up water could be used for man's benefit. In Cambridge, experts told of the feasibility of towing Antarctic icebergs to irrigate the northwestern Australian desert and the Atacama Desert in South America. And in Washington, a method of speeding or regulating glacial melting, creating fresh water reservoirs on or near the glaciers themselves, and then draining the water to generate electricity or for other uses was spelled out. In United States glacial states alone (California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington), 557 billion gallons of fresh water are set free by glaciers each year in summer months.

It is of course only right for men to grow excited over the possible benefits of the immense forces and resources of nature. But need the glaciers be but one more bonanza for man to waste as it passes through the fouling processes of factory and home?

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Question: Where Goes Israel's Empire?

JERUSALEM — Although the brilliant generals of Israel's never-defeated armed forces talk privately about sweeping west all the way to Alexandria if Egypt dares attack across the Suez Canal, the likeliest next target is more modest: a small area of Jordan south of the Dead Sea.

What makes this area vastly important is its proximity to Israel's profitable potash plant at Sdom, near the Jordanian border in the desolate Arava Valley. "One lucky hit could knock out the whole works," an Israeli military expert told us. "We can't afford that."

In August, an Israeli contingent crossed that border and captured the small area used by fedayeen commandos to fire Katusha rockets at the potash works. They found Saudi Arabian border guards plus a unit of the Jordanian-regular army and put them to rout.

Then the Israelis, thinking the lesson had been learned, abandoned the area and returned to their own side of the border. But the lesson was not learned, and Katusha rockets are flying once more. Having invested at least $150 million in the potash plant and dependent on its export value to slow the dangerous drain of foreign exchange reserves, the Israelis will not hesitate to seize and hold Jordanian territory if necessary to make the plant secure from rocket attack. This would be the first seizure of foreign land since the six-day war of 1967. The fact that it can now be rated at least a 50-50 proposition shows how militant Israeli military leaders are becoming under the remorseless strains of twilight war and the endless capacity of the Arabs to take heavy punishment and, instead of acting as Israel wants, come back for more.

The second area along the Jordanian border now being seriously eyed by Israel is the Beltsan Valley up north, the launching pad for almost continuous shelling of Israeli farm settlements across the river. The third likely target is a strip of land north of the Israeli-Lebanon border, which will become a major source of fedayeen sabotage and guerrilla action next spring.

Would Israel really seize and hold part of Lebanon? "Certainly," we were told by a military authority here, "if the blood of our children is on the ground, we attack. And once we get there, I think we stay." Finally, the biggest of all the military questions confronting Israel is Egypt and the Suez Canal. There is a school of military thought here convinced that the path to eventual stability lies in military power: specifically, in enticing Egypt into attacking across the canal. That would provide the excuse for launching a counterattack, destroying the Egyptian army and air force, and sweeping through Cairo to Alexandria while laying waste major economic sources. Today that is distinctly a minority view. Moreover, since it forfeits the essential element of surprise which was so important a part of the preemptive Israeli attack in the six-day war, it may also be unrealistic.

The majority view is that the Israelis, by continuing their aerial dominance over Egypt and proving their ability to conduct destructive pinpoint raids at will against economic targets, can convince Egypt that an attack across the canal against Israel would be disastrous for Egypt. That is the strategy now being followed, but it almost surely will not have the desired effect on Egypt. Instead, the Israelis seem to be caught in a vicious circle; to protect what they already have, they are driven to take the offensive. As one American put it: "There is always the next ridge."

empire no matter how much the world would rather have peace. As opposition to his confirmation as a Supreme Court Justice inexorably mounted this autumn, Justice Clement Haynsworth requested — and was twice denied — permission to withdraw his name from consideration before the Senate. The decision to deny Haynsworth's request, and instead push his nomination to the bitter end was made by President Nixon on the emphatic recommendation of ATTY. GEN. JOHN MITCHELL, Cabinet strong man and the President's chief political advisor. That decision reflected intense personal plique felt by both Mr. Nixon and his Attorney General over the liberal-labor assault against Haynsworth. But more significantly, it reflected John Mitchell's grand political strategy for the Republican party. Mitchell has privately explained this in conversation with friends. Although he weeks ago realized that Haynsworth might well be rejected by the Senate, Mitchell insisted that fighting to the very end — win or lose — would lead toward his great goal: winning over the George Wallace South in 1972. And even if Haynsworth did lose, Mitchell added, another Southern conservative would be nominated in his place. But Mitchell was oblivious to the perils inherent in this tactic. He failed to foresee the tension that his strategy would produce between Republican Senators, state party organizations, and the White House. Nor did he understand that nothing would have been lost in the South had Haynsworth been withdrawn a month ago and replaced with a conservative such as Rep. Richard Poff of Virginia. Thus, the Haynsworth affair has exposed the limitations of Mitchellism.

J. Edgar Hoover Gets Blamed

WASHINGTON — White House and Justice Department officials are blaming J. Edgar Hoover's FBI for the Senate defeat of President Nixon's nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

"Hoover's people did a lousy job of investigating Haynsworth," said one top White House aide. "At the White House and at Justice, we all believed the FBI had made a complete check of Haynsworth's financial dealings, but the judge's stockholdings were never given a real scrutiny until our Democratic friends raised questions" during the Senate hearings.

A Justice Department aide who is close to Atty. Gen. John Mitchell said Mitchell was "constantly being surprised" by the revelations of opponents of the nomination. "Hell, John worked hard, but he was in the position of a defense counsel whose client didn't tell him everything and then had the sink thrown at him in court."

An FBI spokesman refused to discuss the matter. "We've been no-commenting this thing all along," he said. "It's come up before."

At the same time, it was impossible to learn whether President Nixon shares the feeling of some of his aides. However, he was quoted by one source as saying he "wished" he had known "the whole story" about Haynsworth's business background. It is the position of some at both the White House and the Justice Department that if they had known the whole story they could have "handled" the situation that arose.

In any event, it is clear that the opposition forces caught the administration off guard. Haynsworth's backers found themselves constantly on the defensive because new information on the judge's finances kept dribbling out slowly, giving the opposition ammunition for fresh and repeated attacks on the nomination. After the first few weeks, the administration never regained the initiative.

Some Justice Department aides feel the situation was unfortunate because it created an impression that the administration had concealed information about Haynsworth's financial dealings, and didn't acknowledge them until forced by the opposition to do so. The votes of such Republicans as Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa were said to have been influenced by a feeling the White House had not "come clean."

Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., a Haynsworth supporter, has charged that the White House failed to let the Justice Department make public all the information it had about Haynsworth's business connections. Hollings, along with some other Southern senators, obviously feels the White House bungled the nomination. He has said the administration didn't begin any real work for the nomination until weeks after Haynsworth was named in mid-August.

But both White House and Justice Department sources reject Hollings' claim that any information was withheld. They insist that "everything we knew was spread out in the open." The trouble was, they say, that "there were some things we didn't know." One of these things, it is said, was Haynsworth's purchase of Brunswick stock before a decision in a case involving Brunswick was announced.

The FBI spokesman said reporters should "find out what the FBI did." But he refused to make this information available.

It is not a pretty state of affairs. Perhaps naturally, the administration is seeking a scapegoat for its defeat, although it would be unfair to link President Nixon with this attempt. But the unfortunate result could be to strain relations between the FBI and other branches of the government.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Barbiturates

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend has been taking phenobarbital every night for a number of years and insists the drug is not habit-forming as her doctor prescribes it.

If it is not habit-forming, why doesn't she sleep without it? She started this while caring for her invalid husband, and the doctor said it would relax her to get some rest.

The husband is long gone and she still takes the drug. She is also taking heart pills.

I thought she could stop taking the barbiturate now, but she insists on taking it. I cannot see taking medicine that is not needed. Wouldn't it be wise for her to try to get along without this drug? — Mrs. F.

You haven't given me enough information to let me guess whether you are making a valid point or merely butting into your friend's affairs.

How old is she? What is her emotional state? Does she need a little medical help to relax and sleep at night? Have you detected any sign that the phenobarb is harming her in any way?

I grant that barbiturates are too much abused by some people, but they remain one of our most useful drugs when properly used. Your friend, as you point out, is getting the drug on prescription, and her doctor is aware of how much she uses. I would prefer to trust his judgment.

Nixon Erred?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—With in the White House staff itself, at the State Department, the U.S. Information Agency and the Pentagon, there are men who disagree strongly with President Nixon's public response to the October and November antiwar demonstrations.

It must be noted that the administration "dissenters" known to this reporter are loyal to the President and believe in his Vietnam policies. But they think Nixon was in error when he so patently snubbed sizable numbers of protesting Americans, however misguided and wrongheaded he may believe them to be.

In what Nixon and his key advisers are convinced is the U.S. interest, the President both in October and November sincerely believed it necessary to make it crystal clear to the people of South Vietnam and the rulers in Hanoi that he would not be pressured into selling out the south, and that the demonstrators did not represent the majority in America.

But a firm stand is one thing and seeming rudeness to the views of others is quite another, some administration men say quite vigorously in private talks.

These men do not suggest that Nixon should have dickered with the demonstrators or implied in any way that demonstrations can substitute for deterrence by government or a vote by the people. They do not suggest that he be polite to those who carried Viet Cong flags or shouted Ho Ho Chi Minh, or to those Nazi types who sought violence.

The administration objects, rather, that Nixon should have announced in advance that he welcomed expressions for peace, that he, as much as any man, wanted peace, that he had "done" would at all times be open for suggestions.

The U.S. Army has charged one of the officers present, Lt. William L. Calley, 28, Miami, Fla., with murder in the deaths of 109 civilians in the Song My hamlet of My Lai. ### Teachers In London Seek Higher Pay LONDON (UPI)—More than 4,000 school teachers today began a scheduled two-week strike for higher pay, giving 150,000 children in England and Wales a premature holiday.

The National Union of Teachers and the National Association of Schoolmasters centered strike efforts on schools in areas where light industry is concentrated.

Union spokesmen said their tactics will force the maximum number of working mothers to stay home and disrupt industrial production.

Teachers are demanding a $6 a week raise to wages that start at $31.20 a week—a 19 per cent increase.

The teachers joined an estimated 2 million workers demanding pay rises despite government effort to keep wages down. About 7,000 truck drivers are currently on strike with other stoppages threatened under way by nurses, seamen, municipal gas works men, postal workers, automobile makers and civil servants.

Berserk Man Stabs Six

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Six persons, including three young children, were stabbed late Sunday, police reported, when a 27-year-old man apparently went berserk.

Officers said a suspect identified as Willie Jones was taken into custody and booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Witnesses told police that the suspect screamed he was God as he allegedly attacked the six persons during a 15-minute period near a South Los Angeles intersection.

The children, Mark Redding, 9, Lewis Prez, 5, and his sister Gracilla, 4, were treated at children's hospital for wounds inflicted by a paring knife.

The other victims, Carol Howe, 26, Joseph Telez, 50, and Victor Jato, 51, were being treated at Orthopedic Hospital. Miss Howe was in serious condition and the two men were reported in good condition.

Freak Accident

SELMA (UPI)—Paul Henry Beccerra, 18, was killed in a freak accident Saturday when a basketball backstop fell on him during a game with friends at a public playground.

Police said the basketball became lodged on the basket ring, so Beccerra climbed on to the shoulders of a companion in an attempt to free the ball.

The pole holding the backstop snapped, Beccerra fell to the ground and the backstop fell on top of him. He was pronounced dead at a local hospital.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases, to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Julie, David Set Trip To Brussels

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—Julie and David Eisenhower won't be with the First Family at the White House on Christmas Day. They're leaving for Brussels around Dec. 20 to spend the yuletide holidays with David's parents, the ambassador to Belgium and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

The President's daughter and son-in-law, both 21, also will celebrate their first wedding anniversary on Dec. 22 in Europe.

David probably will seek the advice of his father, a retired Army colonel, on whether to enlist in the Navy or ride out the draft. He has a student deferment and under the new Selective Service law his chances of having to serve in the armed forces have lessened considerably—unless he feels he is bound by family tradition, which he admits is a motivating factor.

Denver Teachers Vote Sunday To End Their 14-Day Strike Of Public Schools

By ROBERT E. COX
DENVER (UPI)—Teachers voted here Sunday to end their 14-day strike of the public schools, the first such walkout in Colorado history.

The vote was 1,782 to return to classes Monday and 527 opposed.

Denver Classroom Teachers Association (DCTA) negotiator Clarke Ballinger said, "We won everything for which we went on strike." Some teachers, however, expressed feelings of "being sold down the river."
Under the plan approved Sunday, the pay schedule will range from $7,000 for a beginning teacher starting in September, 1970, to $15,050 for those with maximum experience and a Ph.D. The settlement runs until Dec. 31, 1970.

Current wages range from $6,300 to $12,285.
The two sides also agreed to start negotiations by next March on a 1971 contract. For that calendar year, the DCTA, representing most of the city's teachers, wants a salary range of $14,000 to $15,000 for those with master's degrees. The new contract gives them $13,000.

Should the negotiations for 1971 require public vote and the proposed wage increase fail, the board and DCTA would have an accounting firm determine the ability of the district to absorb the cost. If the accountants find the schools unable to fund the proposal, then both sides would renegotiate the salary package.

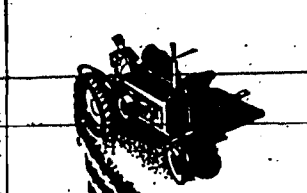

On the matter of amnesty, thought to be a major stumbling block to ending the strike last week, the school board said it realized there was unspent money due to the strike and "agrees to make available this unspent money to striking teachers who wish to make up time lost."

Storm Center Moves To New England

By United Press International
A storm center moved across the eastern Great Lakes toward New England today bringing some heavy snowfalls and hazardous driving conditions.

More than 7 inches of snow had fallen on Buffalo, N.Y., early today and more were expected east of Lakes Erie and Ontario.

Gale warnings were up along the New England Coast and driving was hazardous from upstate New York through New England.

Gales at the center of the storm spread snow from the Great Lakes to the northern Appalachians.

A large high pressure system kept the icy fogs of winter away from most of the nation. A few showers were expected in the Southwest and cold air chilled parts of the Carolinas and Central Florida but generally fair and dry conditions prevailed elsewhere.

Warmer temperatures were expected from Texas and the Lower Mississippi Valley to the southwest portion of the Midwest.

The group issued the statement as Army Pvt. Terry Klug was scheduled to face a general court martial today for alleged participation in a riot at the stockade June 5.

The 22-year-old Klug, serving a three-year sentence for desertion, was one of 35 soldiers arrested in the mattress-burning, window-smashing, furniture-throwing incident.

He is the third of the defendants to stand a general court martial. Two other soldiers have been found guilty in the case.

The servicemen's union, with headquarters in New York, said Klug would "tell the court the My Lai massacre shows justified stockade rebellion was justified." The group urged sympathizers to attend the trial.

Klug is charged with arson and riot, and if convicted he could be sentenced up to 30 years in prison.

Pvt. Jeffrey Russell, 20, of Pensacola, Fla., was sentenced to three years hard labor, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay.

The second to stand a general trial—Pvt. Thomas Catlow, 18, of Weehawken, N.J., was sentenced only to a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay, but no confinement.

The Army originally said 38 persons were arrested, but later revised the figure to 35.

TV IS DOWNGRADED
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A study financed by the U. S. Office of Education has concluded that instructional television has fallen short of its early promises and in some cases has failed to achieve its goals. Students and teachers are reportedly dissatisfied with the quality of programming.

Attorney General Disagrees With Report That Poverty Is Main Cause Of Crime

By ISABELLE HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell is in sharp disagreement with a recent high-level report that poverty is the main cause of crime in the United States. "No doubt some of our social evils contribute," Mitchell said in an interview. "But we shouldn't accept poverty as an excuse for the commission of a crime."

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, has linked the nation's high crime rate directly to poverty, based on findings that the majority of crimes are committed by black, ghetto youths. "But Mitchell suggested: 'It leads to the point where if you can prove you have a poverty base... a person could be exonerated for a crime.' 'I don't believe that's acceptable.'"

Thanksgiving Fatality List Is Below That Of Last Year

By United Press International
The 102-hour Thanksgiving holiday weekend period has ended with far fewer Americans killed than the record 764 who died last Thanksgiving on the nation's highways.

This year's death toll also was far under estimates by the National Safety Council. The council had predicted up to 800 persons could be killed in traffic accidents this Thanksgiving, which began 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

A United Press International count at 5 a.m. EST showed at least 647 persons killed on the highways during the long holiday period.

A breakdown:
Traffic 647
Planes 10
Fires 64
Miscellaneous 73
Total 800

California had the highest number of state auto fatalities, 67. Texas followed with 39, Georgia, 38, New York, 36, Illinois with 28 and North Carolina and Michigan with 26 each.

Four persons, including a family of three, were killed in a two-car crash Sunday near Corpus Christi, Tex. Two of the dead were infants.

In one of several massive car pileups during the holiday, more than 50 cars were involved in a gigantic accident five miles south of Seattle, Wash., Sunday. The pile up came in thick fog on icy roads.

Near Havre De Grace, Md., during the holiday, six persons were killed when a tank truck shot across the concrete divider on the Susquehanna River Bridge on the John E. Kennedy Memorial Parkway and slammed into two automobiles.

Near Woodbury, N.J., Saturday, six persons were killed and 19 others injured when two trucks collided in fog on the New Jersey Turnpike and 16 cars piled into the burning wreckage.

They had been hunting in the Devil's Corral area and walked downstream. As night approached, they started to climb out of the canyon. Five feet from the top it was pitch black and they couldn't move up or down, so they stayed put. By dawn law enforcement officers has scoured the area and a helicopter was called to the scene. As a real search was getting under way, the boys were seen walking toward Twin Falls. In the picture, here, from left, are Max Williamson and his son Jim Williamson, and John Luker and Ron Luker, and their father, Ron Luker.

The White Clouds region of Idaho is getting national publicity through a story in the Christian Science Monitor.

The plan to mine Molybdenum in this scenic area of the state, and the resulting disagreement between conservationists, recreationists, industrialists and legislators and state government officials, is explored in the article.

The illustrated article points out that the wilderness status of the White Clouds may be relinquished if the American Smelting and Refining Co. is granted its wishes and the Forest Service provides an access road into the area.

Child Development Center Explained To Jay-C Ettes

BURLEY — The Child Development Center, Twin Falls, functions were explained during the meeting of the Burley-Jay-C-Ettes by Paul Burnett, director of the center.

Mr. Burnett told the group the center is an agency of the State Department of Health designed to serve the physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped children in Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls counties.

The center tries to work with these persons individually to place them in the community.

The agency is especially concerned with establishing pre-school and post-school programs for those not enrolled in Special Education and similar programs.

Through the South Central Medical Association and Twin Falls Board of County Commissioners, money has been raised, matched by state and federal funds, to develop a structure of offices and training rooms for the agency.

The center hopes to set up a boarding and training center in the Twin Falls Nurses' home which has been donated for this purpose, to avail some of these handicapped persons to training, reported Mr. Burnett.

It was announced the Jay-C-Ettes next meeting will be Dec. 17.

Mystery Shrouds Murder Of Californian

EASTON, Calif. (UPI) — Murder without motive. Reading about it sends a chill up the spine quickly veiled by the thought "It can't happen to me."

But to John Lichtl it is a continuing, real-life nightmare which robbed him of his wife and has spurred a rare community-wide effort in this Central California town to bring the unknown-killer to justice.

It happened on a country road as Lichtl and his wife Judy, both 29, drove home from watching auto races in nearby Fresno. Judy was driving. John was holding their 4-year-old son, Michael, on his lap.

A car pulled alongside as if to pass, hesitated and suddenly, a gun roared, glass shattered and Judy Lichtl slumped over the wheel, dead of a bullet wound in the neck.

Lichtl managed to stop the car and after futile efforts to flag passing motorists he drove to a hospital in Fresno. His wife was pronounced dead on arrival.

One of the three bullets fired tore off Lichtl's little finger on his right hand. His son was cut by flying glass.

That was last July 4. In the five months since, Fresno County sheriff's office investigators have been able to turn up few clues.

Lichtl recalls little about the actual shooting except that he thought the car was a red Volkswagen squareback stationwagon.

He can think of only one possible motive, an incident in the parking lot at the Kearney Bowl auto races when a car tried to cut in front of Mrs. Lichtl as they were leaving. He is not certain but thinks the car was similar to the one from which the assailant opened fire.

But the incident was minor by all standards. No words were exchanged. The car simply stopped and pulled in behind the Lichtl vehicle.

The senseless, unprovoked shooting stunned the community. Friends and businessmen formed a committee to raise funds for a reward.

"The response was tremendous," Lichtl said. "I didn't know people had it in them to work like this."

At an auction in which all proceeds went to the reward fund, donated articles sold for outrageous prices. A lemon meringue pie went for $140. Five pounds of rabbit food sold for $40.

The committee raised $10,000 for the capture and conviction of those responsible for the crime. Another $3,000 has been placed in a trust fund for Lichtl's son.

A Fresno advertising man, Constantine Chagares, has donated a billboard in Fresno which shows Mrs. Lichtl's picture along with information about the $10,000 reward.

He said he would leave it up until the killers are apprehended.

Lichtl lives alone with his boy in the same house they lived in before the tragedy. He still drives the same car and has taken his son back to the auto races.

Thanksgiving Meeting Held

WENDELL — The HiHändele Club held its Thanksgiving meeting at the Wendell Civic Club Rooms, with Mrs. Opa Miller and Mrs. Verna Johnson acting as hostesses.

Mrs. Inez Stevenson was awarded the hostess prize. The rooms were decorated in a Thanksgiving motif.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Bernice Lee. She read a letter from a recent visitor to Wendell from Dallas, Tex., praising Wendell and its citizens. Other presentations included an article on Lief Erickson, a reading by Mrs. Grace Porter and a homemaking story of 71 years ago by Mrs. Gladys Lusk.

The next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Rice. Mrs. Rice will be assisted by Mrs. Ellen Rogan. Each member is asked to bring a gift for the exchange.

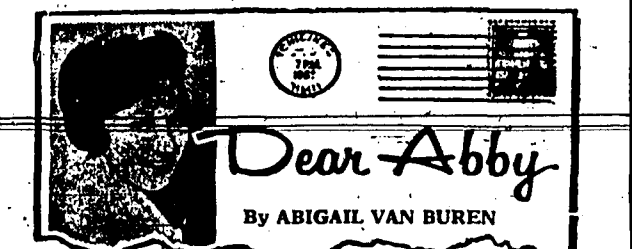

The Health Council met recently at the home of Mrs. Lillian Barton to finalize plans for the Christmas potluck dinner scheduled for Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Lillian Barton.

The program consisted of an article read by Mrs. Barton entitled "How To Beat the Blues."

POSING WITH THE straw hobo that kept a watchful eye on the recent tri-chapter party of Beta Sigma Phi are, from left, Mrs. Merrill Atkinson, Xi Omega Chapter social chairman; Mrs. Glenn Bailey and Mrs. Ransom Brown, social committee members. The social, in a western theme, was hosted by Xi Omega Chapter at the Burley Elks Lodge.

Women's Section

DEAR ABBY: What advice have you for a middle-aged wife, whose middle-aged husband seems to be infatuated with a young divorcee? They teach in the same school.

John (not his real name) pretends his interest in her is strictly paternal, but the frequency with which her name comes into the conversation and the excuses he makes to drive by her house on week-ends makes me believe otherwise. I'm sure this young woman has no romantic interest in my husband. In fact she's dating a young, single teacher now, and when this came to light John displayed such jealousy I actually felt sorry for him.

If John has been as obvious about his feelings among his fellow teachers as he has been at home, I'm afraid his colleagues will be misled about his character. He is really an upright and moral man.

He seems to get a lift out of all this, and I admit I get a beneficial fallout from his current infatuation.

I love him very much, but wonder if I should DO anything about this situation?

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: John may be "infatuated" with the young woman, but she's obviously not infatuated with John, so your biggest concern is keeping your man from making a fool of himself.

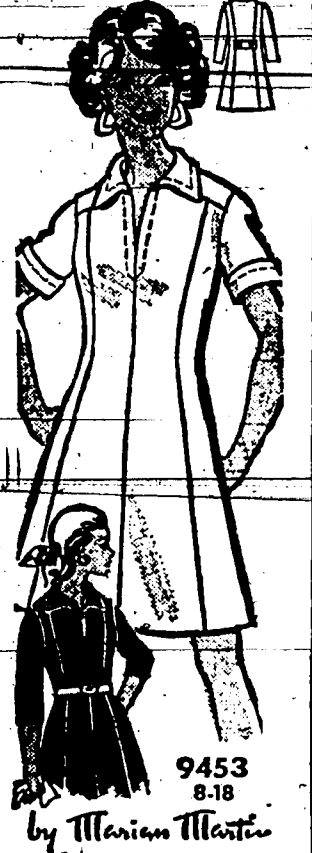

Since he claims his interest in her is "paternal," why not adopt a "maternal" interest in her? Invite her and her young single friend over. Let John get a good look at both of them. It may hurt for a little while but a good dose of reality is sometimes necessary to put things in their proper perspective.

DEAR ABBY: We have had several discussions with some very intelligent people and we still disagree on this question: is a Jew a Jew because of his religion? Or because of his race?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I like Ben Gurion's answer to "What is a Jew?" "A Jew is anyone who says he is."

Tamale Supper Served For Beta Sigma Phi

GLENN'S FERRY — Mrs. Kathryn Anderberg served a tamale supper preceding a meeting of Alpha Delta Chapter Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, at a table colorful in a Thanksgiving decor.

As a community project, the chapter decided to restore the bandstand in Hull Memorial Park, and the work will begin as early in the spring as weather permits.

The little open-air stand now in the park dates from way back. In fact, it was in 1925 that this idea came to progressive wives and mothers in an early-day rail-side town. By August, 1926, the dedication was made by the Improvement Club in a presentation to the Village Board.

Originally the popular band stand for frequent concerts was built on the north side of First Avenue West, across that street from the present Texaco station. Later on, it was moved to the park. Although its usefulness as a shelter for the city bands has fallen by the wayside of "progress" and change as a relic of the past, the chapter believes it is well worth saving.

Assigned to assist Mrs. Owings on the social committee activities were Mrs. Louise Johnson, Mrs. Sheryl Rose and Mrs. Peggy Watkins.

Two prizes in games went to Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Shirley Tischendorf. Mrs. Tischendorf presented for the program a resume of some of the things for which we should be thankful but which we ordinarily take for granted.

The next meeting is at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Severson home with the program by Mrs. Joan Freeman and Mrs. Ericka Janousek.

Tri-Chapter Party Held By Area Sorority

BURLEY — "Autumn Ho-Down" was the theme for the tri-chapter party of Beta Sigma Phi hosted recently by Xi Omega Chapter at Burley Elks Lodge.

Dance music was furnished by the Lila Turner Dance group. Members and guests were dressed in western attire.

The tables were covered with orange cloths and centered with yellow chrysanthemums in milk-glass vases surrounded at the base with autumn leaves. A smorgasbord lunch was served. The hall was decorated with large pictures of cowboys and a straw hobo kept a watchful eye on the dance floor.

Making the arrangements for the annual event were Mrs. Merrill Atkinson, social chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ransom Brown, Mrs. Glenn Bailey and Mrs. Clarence Bishop.

Club Meets

CASTLEFORD — The men's club met at the home of Mrs. Laura Heller for a dessert luncheon. Three tables of bridge were in play.

Browns Clinch Century Division Title After Edging Chicago 28-24

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ron Johnson's seven yard touchdown run with just 3:56 left in the game brought the Cleveland Browns to the Cleveland Browns for a 28-24 victory over the Chicago Bears on Sunday at the National Football League's Century Division.

Bills Defeat Cincinnati 16-13 On Stolen Ball

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—The Bills threw away another Booker Edgerston stole the ball, touched down less than one minute from Cincinnati quarterback O.J. Stimpson's score when Greg Cook and raced 10 yards to a touchdown Sunday to give the Buffalo Bills a 16-13 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals in a fumble-riddled game played in a snowstorm.

Edgerston, trying to recover his balance in ankle deep snow after he was hit by a blocker, fell backwards into Cook, spun around and picked the ball out of Cook's hands. Edgerston ran into the end zone unmolested for the score at 11:20 of the third quarter, giving Buffalo a 16-4 lead.

Blocked Punt Lets Colts Edge Atlanta

Baltimore (UPI)—A blocked punt in the fourth period by reserve running back Larry Conjar set up a late touchdown run and Lou Michaels added two field goals Sunday as the Baltimore Colts defeated the Atlanta Falcons 13-6.

St. Louis Roars Past Pittsburgh

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Cid Edwards ran and caught passes for 176 yards and Jim Hart threw three touchdown passes to Dave Williams Sunday to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 47-10 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Atlanta quarterback Bob Berry, making his first start since he was injured in the game against the Colts on Oct. 6, hit Paul Flately with a 68-yard pass to the Colt 12 on the first play following the TD. But the Colt defense, led by tackle Ron Kostelnik, twice caught Berry at the 15 and the Falcons had to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Bob Etter.

Atlanta's other score was also a 22-yard field goal by Etter in the first period. He missed attempts from the 41 and 36. With 5:41 left in the first period, Michaels kicked a 33-yard field goal after the Colts moved 60 yards in 10 plays. Michaels' other field goal put Baltimore ahead 6-3 with 1:49 left in the half.

The Colts had taken the ball on their 41 following an Atlanta punt and moved to the Atlanta six, where their drive stalled and Michaels kicked his field goal from the 14.

GARY QUESNELL, 5-11 guard, will see action in the CSI opener at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium with the College of Idaho freshman Quesnell specializes in defense and ballhawking with his excellent quickness.

Johnson punched across his second touchdown, the Bears had gone ahead for the second time in the game, capitalizing on a Nelson fumble with a 10 yard Max Percival field goal. But then the Browns, who had trailed 14-0 in the second quarter, and 21-14 at the half, came to life on Nelson's passing arm.

Starting at his own 10, with less than eight minutes on the clock, he hit Leroy Kelley with a 39 yard pass to the Bear 41 and Gary Collins with a 34 yard gem to the Bear seven. Johnson took it in from there almost unopposed on a left end sweep. That brought the Brown's record to 8-2-1 and put them out of the reach of the St. Louis Cardinals in the Century Division race. Cleveland will meet the winner of the Capitol Division—Dallas or Washington the NFL playoffs.

For the Bears, it was their 10th loss in 11 games in this, their worst season in history, but they started off as if they were going to take it all.

Mike Hull, making his debut starting at fullback for the Bears went over from four yards out for the Bears second touchdown of the second quarter, but by that time Cleveland was closing in. They got moving in the second quarter on a 68 yard march which ended with Paul Warfield cutting in front of Joe Taylor to take Nelsen's 10 yard touchdown pass.

Then, Johnson scored his first touchdown of the game on a one yard run with a mere 47 seconds left in the first half.

Cleveland tied it up in the third quarter when Ron Sldow recovered a Douglass fumble on the Bear 33 and three plays later Chip Glass made a leaping catch behind Benny McRae of Nelsen's 24 yard touchdown pass.

Another quarterback fumble, this one by Nelsen, which was recovered by Ed Obravovich on the Brown 46, gave the Bears their chance to clinch it on Percival's field goal 12 plays later. But as it did last week against Baltimore, the Bears defense was unable to hold the opposition in the closing minutes.

Their only consolation was the play of Sayers, who has 841 yards rushing so far this season. Still has 803 yards for second place and Chuck Woodshick, the Philadelphia Eagles third ranking rusher, did not play Sunday.

It was Sayers' fourth 100-yard plus game this season. Kelly, who piled up more than 100 yards last week, was held to 41 yards in 15 carries.

Joe Green blocked Jim Bakken's try for the extra point.

However, Bakken kicked two field goals in the second quarter, and Edwards helped to set up both three pointers. Edwards made first downs on an eight-yard pass and a 13-yard trap play up the center. Bakken's field goal was from the 32.

After Gene Mingo scored for Pittsburgh on a 19-yard field goal, Edwards romped 48 yards on the next St. Louis series and also caught a six-yard pass from Hart. Bakken's field goal was from the 12.

Boston Takes 38-23 Win From Miami

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Defensive back Larry Carwell intercepted two passes to set up fourth quarter scores and Mike Taliaferro rifled three touchdown passes Sunday as the Boston Patriots downed the Miami Dolphins 38-23.

Carwell led a rugged defense that overall set up three touchdowns and a field goal and forced a safety as the Patriots fought to keep alive their slim hopes for a spot in the American Football League playoffs.

Carwell's first interception came early in the fourth period when he picked off a Rick Norton pass on the Miami 19 and went to the two. Jim Nance went over two plays later from that point out for his second touchdown of the quarter to give Boston the lead for good with 10:21 left to play.

The second Carwell theft came late in the period on the Miami 41 and this time he returned to the 15. Gino Cappelletti, who kicked three extra points, booted a 13-yard field goal moments later.

Taliaferro hit Ron Sellers with a 46-yard scoring pass. Charlie Frazier, with a 50-yarder and Bill Rademacher with a 14-yard pass.

Rams Make It 11 In A Row, Tip Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Roman Gabriel tossed a pair of short touchdown passes to Bob Klein and Billy Truax Sunday as the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams downed the Washington Redskins 24-13 to become the first National Football League team in 27 years to win their first 11 games.

Los Angeles, taking advantage of penalties that nullified an interception of a Gabriel pass in the end zone in the second period and a Sonny Jurgensen TD pass in the fourth period, clinched the Coastal Division title for the second time in three years. The loss dropped the Redskins 2-12 games behind the Dallas Cowboys in the Capitol Division.

With the score tied 3-3, Los Angeles took the lead for good, 10-3, on a one-yard pass from Gabriel to Klein, who scored his first NFL TD. The Rams got the ball on the one on a pass interference penalty on Mike Bass. On the previous play, Pat Fischer intercepted a Gabriel pass in the end zone but it was called back by an off sides penalty.

With the ball on the one, Gabriel spurred the run and tossed two passes, with the second one hitting Klein, who was all alone. After the Rams went ahead 16-3, Carl Knight narrowed the deficit to 10-6 at halftime on a 19-yard field goal as the halftime gun sounded. He missed a shot from the 31

After a scoreless third period, Gabriel put the Rams ahead 17-6 with a three-yard toss to Truax on the first play of the fourth period.

As usual, the Los Angeles defense played a key role in the game. The Redskins were trailing only 17-13 with 4:48 left in the game when Sonny Jurgensen intercepted a pass on the Redskin 29. Three plays later, Willie Ellison, whose blocked punt set up the Rams' first TD, knifed over from the six to end the scoring.

The Redskins made one final attempt to get into the game when Jurgensen tossed a TD pass to Charley Taylor with a minute left but the TD was called back by a penalty. The Rams are the first team to go 11-0 in the NFL since the Chicago Bears finished their regular season with that mark in 1942.

Raiders Overcome Penalties To Dump New York Jets 27-14

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Daryle Lamonica overcame a rash of costly penalties with two touchdown passes to Warren Wells and a scoring run of his own Sunday in sparking the Oakland Raiders to a 27-14 victory over the New York Jets before an American Football League record crowd of 83,865.

The victory enabled the Raiders to regain first place in the Western Division by a half game over Kansas City while the loss prevented the Jets from clinching first place in the Eastern Division. Lamonica, who has completed 30 touchdowns passes this season, hit Wells with scoring tosses of 34 and 20 yards in the first half and scored himself on a one-yard run in the second period after setting up the score with a 31-yard pass to Charley Smith.

The Raiders also got field goals of 23 and 37 yards from George Blanda in the third quarter but had several other drives stymied by penalties. The Raiders, who lead the league in penalties, had the flag dropped against them 10 times for a total of 136 yards.

Palmer Has First Tour Win In 15 Months With Heritage Golf Victory

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, unable to point any semblance of a charge, staggered to his first tournament victory in nearly 15 months Sunday, firing a three-over-par 74 for a 283 and a three-stroke edge in the first Heritage Classic.

Palmer, three shots up on the field going into the final round, had nine of 38-38 over the lush 220,000, pushing his earnings for the year to $100,000. He last won a tournament Sept. 15, 1968, when he was victorious at the Kemper Open in Sutton, Mass.

New Orleans Tops Eagles On Pick-Offs

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Tom Dempsey kicked four field goals and the New Orleans Seaford picked off four Norm Snead passes to give the Saints a 26-17 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday.

Engberg Given Pioneer Post

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Claude Engberg of Salt Lake City was elected president of the Pioneer League for a three-year term Sunday at the annual minor league baseball meetings.

The Saints dominated the first half, scoring the first four times they had the ball on a seven-yard run by Andy Livingston, a 23-yard pass from Bill Kilmer to Al Dodd and Dempsey field goals of 27 and 40-yards.

Engberg, who replaces Ben Jewell, previously served as Pioneer League president from 1952 to 1965. He was out of baseball the past three years. The Pioneer League, a six-team rookie circuit, will open June 25 and close Sept. 2.

Dempsey added a 20-yard boot in the third quarter and a 17-yarder in the final period. The Eagles scored on Snead passes of 80 yards to Gary Ballman and 13 yards to Harold Jackson. Gene Howard, Elijah Nevitt, Steve Preece and Bo Burris each stole a Snead pass to blunt attempted Eagle rallies in the final period.

White members of the gallery shouted, "Come on, Arnie, let's go." Palmer was never able to begin the patented charge which has led him to past victories. On the back nine, after he bogeyed No. 11, Palmer was continuously in danger of losing his lead, until Crawford bogeyed the par 3 17th, giving Palmer a two-shot advantage.

Crawford also bogeyed 18 while Palmer was routinely sinking his putt on the treacherous finishing hole. Romero Blancas, who was tied with Crawford for second before the round, skied to a 78-288, and Doug Ford came from far back to finish 70-287.

In a three-way tie at five-over-par 289 were Jack Ewing with a 70 Sunday, Earl Stewart, 74, and Nicklaus, who ballooned to a 75 Sunday, and missed his chance to become the second golfer in history (Palmer was the first) to win more than $1 million on the pro tour.

Nicklaus had won $993,274.17 going into the Heritage. Palmer started out well on a clear, crisp day, picking up a birdie four on the 487-yard second hole, matching a birdie that Crawford made. But Palmer bogeyed the par four third then took bogies on No. 9 to finish two over.

He parred 10 with a sensational chip and one putt after his second shot went in the water, he bogeyed 11 and was only one up on the implacable Crawford, who was steady throughout the tournament.

Palmer birdied 13, then bogeyed 15 and his lead was only one stroke again until Crawford ran into his trouble on the last two holes.

Table with 2 columns: Player Name and Score. ## Horn And Packers Down New York Giants 20-10

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Don Horn passed for two touchdowns and Travis Williams ran for another as the Green Bay Packers used long gainers to overcome an early New York Giants ball-controlled game and score a 20-10 victory Sunday.

The win snapped a three-game losing streak for the Packers and extended the Giants' winless string to seven. Horn, substiting for the injured Bart Starr, threw a 39 yard scoring pass to halfback Donny Anderson late in the first quarter and hit Carroll Dale on a 41-yard throw with just 38 seconds to play in the first half.

The long throws helped overcome a surprising Giants' offense which had virtually controlled the first half, dominating the ball for more than 2 minutes and piling up 253 yards to only 127 for Green Bay.

probably than to find all six spades in one hand and that he should play ace and another spade to see what would happen."
 Oswald: "He found out quickly enough. West dropped the king under the ace but when he had to follow to the second consecutive trump, the best spade Mike was sure of his control of your cards the way they actually fall!"
 Jim: "With spades breaking 4-2 he was able to ruff two spades in dummy. Thus a trump lead could not hurt him. Also he was careful to ruff the club when East led it!"
 Oswald: "As is frequently the case with successful slams, the hand could have been beaten, if West had opened a trump the combination of bad breaks in spades, hearts a J clubs would have been too much for him to handle."

yourself. This hand played in a rubber bridge game by my Dallas Aces teammate Mike Lawrence illustrates this."

Oswald: "I see what you mean. If Mike led a trump at trick two the combination of a singleton club and three trumps in the West hand would have cost him slam, game and rubber."
 Jim: "Mike is a pretty fast player but he thought quite awhile before leading to the second trick. He decided that actual bad break was far more

Checking Up

By L. M. BOYD

Scribe Mulls Why Men Lose Least Hair On Top Of Head

BALDING MEN—Why do so many men lose the hair on the top of their heads, but keep it on the sides? All a matter of exercise, I'm told. The sides are massaged nightly against the pillow. The top isn't. This is Theory No. 4186-C on this subject.

"WHAT DO I CALL myself," inquires a customer, "if I'm neither mostly an introvert nor mostly an extrovert?" Call yourself an ambivert.

BETWEEN 6 p.m. Friday and 4 a.m. Sunday every weekend in Los Angeles, 55 per cent of the emergency ambulance calls come from cardiac cases in motels. I HAVE A READER in Australia. Today he sent me a snapshot. Of a man in a sheepskin coat with a shorn lamb in a clear plastic jacket. There is something wrong with this.

SEPARATIONS—Our Love and War man has been checking up on the ancient adage, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." He has found this statement, in general, to be true of men who are separated involuntarily from their ladyfriends. The first week of separation is difficult for both the man and the woman, granted. But thereafter, the man's romantic notions tend to heat up while the woman's tend to cool.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "So George Washington wore a size 14 shoe, did he? Look, friend, in the State Capitol at Richmond, Va., stands a statue of Washington, made by the French sculptor Antoine Lavoisier, who took sectional plaster casts of Washington's body.

That statue wears a size 8 shoe." A. All right, but let's not talk about that anymore. Let's talk about cleanliness. Q. "WHAT IS the cleanest part of the body, usually?" A. The small of the back.

DID YOU HAVE trouble learning to swim, young fellow? If so, don't tell anybody. Some psychiatrists now think that shows you're unusually neurotic. The tense lad who won't even trust the buoyancy of water, they contend, can be expected to run scared all his life. Interesting notion.

AS TO why those old covered bridges look so much like barns, a celtic says that's because they were erected by barn-builders. Of course, of course. Incidentally, the state with the most covered bridges still standing is Pennsylvania.

ONLY ONE KITE in every 40 gets into the air.

AN IRISH SETTER in Oceanide, Cal., recently delivered 17 puppies. Is that a record? . . . THE QUIRK that makes some people scared of being left alone is called autophobia. . . . ISN'T IT A FACT a normal 4-year-old boy can read his mother's mind? . . . INFIDELITY is almost unknown among married Gypsy women.

RAPID REPLY: Yes, Mrs. W. Red Buttons started out as a bellhop.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used wherever possible in "Checking Up." Please address your mail to L. M. Boyd, McNaught Syndicate, Inc., 60 E. 42nd St., New York, N. Y. 10017.

Work Load In Store For New Officers

Mayor Egon Kröll is nearing the end of his 8-year tenure on the Twin Falls City Council. He has witnessed a number of large-scale accomplishments, but he says he sees many things that face the new mayor and council members.

Among the things he hopes the council will consider is the formulation of a new police and fire station complex. "Because of the continually rising cost of city operations, our city should take a serious look at a department of public safety. This could consolidate all or part of our police and fire services," he said. "One of the first things that could be accomplished is the elimination of possible duplication of services in areas of radio communications, records, office staff, budget preparation, etc."

Mr. Kröll went on to say that a dually-trained corps of men in a department of public safety would aid in always placing the right man in the right place during any emergency.

He pointed out this transition has been accomplished successfully in many cities the size of Twin Falls. The nearest city with this type of department is Bozeman, Mont., he said.

For the past several years the city has been budgeting money for a police and fire department complex to be constructed on what is now the city hall parking lot. The city has purchased all but three parcels of property on the street behind the city hall and this area would be used as a parking area.

Jean Millar, city manager, said it will not be too long before the city begins removing the houses and trees from this land. Construction on the complex is expected to begin in 1971.

Mayor Kröll also said everything possible must be done to hasten the building of a new bridge to replace the old Perrine Memorial Bridge. "This is real important to the economy of this area," he said.

Some of the other problems the mayor sees facing the council are the completion of the airport runway and future expansion of the building facilities there. He noted the city needs a new sanitary land fill and a solution for disposing of bulky wastes such as refrigerators, stoves. He said the latter is a bigger problem here than most other cities.

"The council must also do what is necessary to formulate a new sign ordinance. Some of the merchants are already waiting for this so it can be incorporated into their downtown building plans."

MAYOR EGON KRÖLL.

European Study Says U.S. Has Many Atomic Mishaps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A European reference work on accidents between 1950 and 1968. No nuclear weapons accidents reported by anybody has yet involved a nuclear explosion, although in some cases radioactive materials have been scattered around by detonation of conventional charges associated with the bomb trigger.

It implies that other nuclear powers have been similarly unlucky.

The work is the SIPRI Yearbook of Armaments and Disarmaments, published monthly by the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute.

The yearbook's findings were reported here this week in Science magazine by its foreign editor, D.S. Greenberg, in a dispatch from London. SIPRI was established with Swedish government funds in 1966, although Greenberg describes it as "an independent, internationally staffed research organization."

When a B52 crashed in flames on the ice off Greenland Jan. 21, 1968, with four hydrogen bombs aboard, it was the 13th major aircraft accident involving nuclear weapons announced by the Defense Department since 1958.

SIPRI researchers, according to Greenberg, have garnered references "though most of them quite skimpy" to 33 American nuclear weapons accidents.

In addition to the 13 accidents reported by the air force, usually after the fact of a bomber crash—there have been three publicly reported incidents involving missiles or aircraft.

But the total of these is under half the total reported.

A BOOKLET CONTAINING 999 checks just like these was stolen from the Federal Land Bank Association office in Twin Falls last week. W. R. Nutting, office manager, shown here, would like the stolen check blanks back. It seems two of the stolen checks have been cashed in Oregon already. The two checks were cashed for nearly $10,000. Mr. Nutting's signature had been forged on the two checks. The checks had been deposited by someone in an Oregon bank. Later all but a few hundred dollars was withdrawn from that bank. Rubel Glovia Lu Jan. 22, Twin Falls, has been charged with first degree burglary in connection with the theft of the checks from the Land Bank Association, but investigation is still continuing into who is cashing the checks. Mr. Nutting said if each check is cashed for an average of $5,000, the total would reach close to $5 million. To date the FBI and Oregon and Idaho law enforcement officials have reported no leads into who might have the missing check blanks.

Federal Agents Say Many Teen-Agers Using Narcotics At Rain-Drenched 'Rock' Fete

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Thousands of bedraggled youths tried to dry out under a cloudy sky at Florida's rock music festival Saturday while undercover narcotics agents circled among them hunting for drug pushers.

"They're all on LSD. All of 'em are using it," said Palm Beach County Sheriff William Heidtman. He said marijuana was flowing as freely as LSD tablets on the grounds of the speedway where the three-day festival was underway.

But he said his men had only made six narcotics arrests since the start of the festival Friday since agents are seeking peddlers rather than teen-age users. He said one of those arrested was found with over $5,000 worth of marijuana, LSD and other narcotics, and that another had 1,000 LSD tablets.

Heidtman, using a command post set up across a muddy road from the quagmired festival field, said about 30,000 youngsters were sticking it out despite the discomforts of the Friday rain and an overnight chill.

"We go our grass and our chicks to keep us warm," said one shaggy-haired young man, giving his date a hug. Somebody told him that marijuana — "grass" — wasn't very warming and he replied, "No, but it makes it so you dig the cold."

"It's hard to groove when you're freezing to death," said Susan Tomas, 19, shivering in wet clothes.

The chilly — for Florida — weather didn't bother one girl who stripped off all her clothes Friday evening and went for a dip with two boys in a lake bordering the festival grounds, while photographers took pictures from a plane overhead.

Waiting for the second round of rock bands to blast off, the festival goers huddled around small fires, slept in, on and under cars and campers, tents and makeshift shelters set up in mud which was ankle-deep in places.

Concession stands sold sandwiches, hot dogs and soft drinks, but some youths had their own coolers of drinks and food and some were cooking over fires.

Over the public address system from time to time the youths were warned to "keep your drugs dry and watch your brother next to you. The narcotics are here," meaning the undercover narcotics agents.

Heidtman kept his force of uniformed men outside the festival grounds, but said he had ordered narcotics agents dressed in the bell-bottomed, shabby dress of hippies, and with long hair and beads, to circulate among the rock fans.

"You can buy just about anything. We want the pushers, the sellers," said Chief William Bennett of the sheriff's department.

"There were about 40 kids being treated for bad trips in the medical tent last night, but we didn't bother with them."

Estimates among the youths of how many were using marijuana or LSD ranged from 50 to 100 per cent.

Reports from St. Mary's Hospital did not bear out the reports of the sheriff and Bennett that ambulances had been taking "bad trip" LSD cases to the hospital all night. An emergency room spokesman said Saturday morning about 10 festival goers had been treated and released since Friday and only four were narcotics cases. None was admitted to the hospital.

Mr. Kröll said "secondary sewage treatment is now compulsory for our city, but steps should be taken on the state level to offer some assistance to the cities." He said a study is underway to see if industries in and around Twin Falls can join with the city in this project.

The mayor said the city must continually work on upgrading its streets through maintenance and rebuilding.

"Twin Falls will move into the future with confidence. A confidence born out of the knowledge that while we know there are still many problems ahead, the city has always successfully mastered them. The council must avoid any complacency. We must keep pushing ahead or we will find ourselves doing nothing," Mayor Kröll said.

"We have a wonderful city and we must all work together to make it even better," he concluded.
