T. F. Delegation To Discuss Perrine Bridge With Highway Board

A small delegation from Twin Falls will meet next week with the Idaho State Highway Board to plead the local cause regarding the limitations placed recently on the Perrine Memorial Bridge.

The group, led by Henry Woodall, chairman of the Twin Falls City Highway Commission, has been granted a hearing at 2 p.m. Thursday with the board.

Thursday members of the commission and city officials met to discuss the effects the 22-ton load limitation is having on local industry and traffic. Mr. Woodall said nine replies received so far in a survey conducted by the Chamber of Commerce, show an added cost to area truckers and other firms, trucking supplies and commodities across the bridge, of about $120,000 annually. Mr. Woodall said this preliminary figure includes only one large trucking firm operating out of Twin Falls.

Since the limitation was placed on the 42-year-old bridge, truckers whose loads exceed 44,000 pounds have been having to travel extra miles, coming or leaving Twin Falls via the Hansen Bridge or Hagerman Valley.

Jean Milar, Twin Falls City manager, told members of the commission that the restriction was placed on the bridge with good reason. He said the State Highway Department has known for several years the bridge has been overloaded and overstressed, but did not feel the situation of major importance until the results of last summer's testing were released.

He said loads of up to 38 tons, which are allowed on the state's highways, could cause critical damage to the bridge under certain conditions. He said the report shows steel fatigue in the structure is critical and the highway department is fearful the bridge could collapse if just the right combination of circumstances happened.

Mr. Milar told the commission he has been in communication with the state highway engineer and that several avenues of replacement are being considered.

He said estimates now show that a four-lane bridge over the Snake River probably will cost $6 million. This, or the construction of a new two-lane bridge, supplemented at a future date by a second two-lane span, are being considered by the department.

However, funding for either proposal is not available, but highway department officials are trying to determine if there are projects in this (geographical) area which are not so critical as the bridge situation and could be delayed.

A piece of legislation, initiated when a bridge in Ohio collapsed several years ago, Mr. Milar said, also is in the hopper. The act, which still requires some legislative maneuvering, before it becomes law, Mr. Milar said, is the "Critical Bridges Act," initiated by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

There is a possibility Idaho could receive some funds through this act for construction of a new bridge over the Snake, Mr. Milar said, "perhaps in the near future—one or two years." Mr. Woodall said since his commission agrees the load limitation was placed on the bridge as a matter of public safety, the limitation will not be argued with the highway board. He said, however, the commission will point out the economic seriousness of the load limitation and encourage the highway department to speed up replacement of the Perrine structure.

He said results of the Chamber of Commerce survey also will be presented to the highway board.

PACKING WAS THE last thing on her schedule as Carolyn Harvey, Miss Rodeo Idaho, prepares to go to Las Vegas to represent Idaho in the Miss Rodeo America Pageant. Miss Harvey, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harvey, and her two sisters, Ann and Margaret, left this morning by car. Pageant registration is set from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday. Twenty-three young lovelies will be vying for the title of Miss Rodeo America, with coronation ceremonies set for 9:30 p.m. Dec. 10.

Carolyn Leaves To Compete In Miss Rodeo America Contest

Carolyn Harvey, Miss Rodeo Idaho, riding on "Cloud Nine" left Twin Falls this morning with her family to represent the Gem state in the Miss Rodeo America contest in Las Vegas Dec. 6 through 10.

When she arrived in Las Vegas, she will trade her cloud for a horse and an extremely busy schedule. Coronation ceremonies are set for 9:30 p.m.

Dec. 10, with a full five-day slate of events outlined for the 23 contestants from throughout the United States and Canada. Registration is set from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

As Miss Harvey, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harvey, and two sisters, Ann and Margaret, left Twin Falls this morning, it was hard to tell who was the most excited.

"It's been a family affair all the way," the attractive 19-year-old queen noted. "My family, with its love and moral support, has made this one of the happiest times of my life."

"I'm very pleased with the Idaho souvenirs I'm taking for each pageant contestant," Miss Harvey noted. "Gov. Don Samuelson made small garnet charms that have been attached to silver bracelets; the Owyhee Candy Co. is giving each girl a gift box of Idaho Spud-candy bars, and I'm giving each contestant two Idaho potatoes." She also is taking 200 pounds of Idaho potatoes to be used for one of the banquets.

Carolyn has had a great time selecting her pageant wardrobe. It includes four suits and two coordinated outfits, tailored by her mother, six hats and four pair of boots—to say nothing of the accessory items. When asked where she was going to put all this and the souvenirs, too, she laughed and said, "Thank goodness others are driving down too, we thought at first we might have to get a small trailer."

Carolyn's horse, J. V. Blue Burt, a five-year-old Appaloosa gelding, is pastured at Frontier Field and, according to her mother, is "the only man in my daughter's young life recently spent with her horse—and he must be left behind this trip."

Miss Harvey received her first horse five years ago and during the past two years has racked Sec. MISS RODEO, Pg. 2, Col. 3

Three Die In Crash On Snowy Interstate

BURLEY — Three members of a Mountain Home family were killed and two others injured in a two-vehicle collision Thursday evening on snow-covered Interstate 80N.

The dead are identified by Idaho State Police as Sgt. Richard Johnson, 37, his wife, Doris, age unknown, and their 2½-year-old son, Wesley. The couple's other two sons, Keith Johnson, 8, and Larry Johnson, 9, are in Cassia Memorial Hospital where Keith is listed in serious and Larry in satisfactory condition.

The family was riding in a 1964 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Sgt. Johnson which went out of control on the slick highway and crashed into a 1967 Freightliner tractor driven by Harry Smistik, 48, Idaho, Calif. Idaho State Police said the tractor-trailer unit was following another vehicle north bound on the interstate during a heavy snow storm. As the two vehicles approached the Johnson truck, the third vehicle went into a skid and crossed the highway into the south-bound lane of traffic. The Johnson vehicle also went into a spin, blocking the road.

Mr. Smistik told officers he pulled his rig off the edge of the road in an attempt to avoid the skidding vehicles, but the trailer jackknifed, went across the road and the Johnson truck and camper went under the tractor unit. The impact knocked the camper off the pickup truck and it burst into flames.

Members of the Johnson family all were riding in the cab of the truck, officers said. All were alive when taken from the scene by ambulance, but Sgt. Johnson and his son died en route to the hospital and Mrs. Johnson died a short time after arriving at the hospital.

Sgt. Johnson was in the Air Force and had been stationed at Mountain Home. He was being transferred to Arkansas and he and his family were en route there when the accident happened. Sgt. Johnson had reportedly received orders to Vietnam.

State Patrolman Chuck Peugh said the third vehicle at the scene was not physically involved in the accident. The vehicle failed to stop at the scene and the driver of the vehicle is not known.

Neither Mr. Smistik nor his relief driver, whose name is not known, was injured.

Medina Denies Massacre

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Capt. Ernest L. Medina, the man who was in charge and at the scene for nearly three hours when the alleged Song My massacre took place, has denied seeing or ordering a mass murder of Vietnamese civilians.

With combat medals on his chest and criminal lawyer T. Lee Bailey at his side, Medina told a Pentagon news conference Thursday his version of the March 16, 1968, assault on Song My.

"No, I did not shoot any child in My Lai, and no, I did not order any massacre in My Lai.

I did not see any massacre in My Lai," the 33-year-old Army captain said. "I did not see any civilians shot at My Lai. I did see some bodies of women and children that had been killed in My Lai. There were approximately 20 to 25 civilians.

Medina's comments were his first public statements about what happened at My Lai 4, a hamlet in Song My village, since the case fell into the world's spotlight last month.

Medina has not been charged, but one of his subordinates, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., faces court-martial in the deaths of at least 109 Song My civilians. On Bailey's advice, Medina refused comment on anything relating directly to Calley or the charges against him.

Medina met the press, in uniform and wearing the Silver Star and Bronze Star for gallantry, after appearing before a Pentagon panel which is trying to determine if the Army's original investigation of the incident was proper.

Medina revealed what was apparently one mistake in the operation. He said intelligence sources had reported there would be no women or children in the village after 7 a.m., and the assault was set for 7:30. But Medina said he did see the bodies of women and children afterwards.

Medina said he arrived at the hamlet after 10 a.m., and was there until about noon. During that time, he said, he shot and presumed he killed a woman who, though already wounded, made a suspicious movement after his back was turned.

Medina also said he received orders from his operations officer "to make sure there weren't any civilians, any women and children being killed. I put this information out over the company command net (radio network)."

Medina was critical of the nation's news media for coverage of the affair, calling it "very biased and unfair, not only to myself but to any other soldier in uniform."

He said some of those who wore at My Lai and later released pictures or accounts of what happened did so in some cases to make money. And certain dissident groups in the United States, he added, have welcomed such publicity.

Air Transportation Symposium Opens

The second annual education symposium and air transportation symposium got under way Friday morning at the CSI Fine Arts Center.

Dr. James L. Taylor, college president, gave the welcoming address and discussed the objectives of the conference. The purpose of the symposium is to bring together key citizens of Idaho to discuss the needs and demands for vocational and technical education in the state.

Dr. Taylor introduced Albert V. Mayrhofer who spoke on keynote of dimensions of the problems faced by the other 80 per cent. Mr. Mayrhofer is special assistant to associate commissioner, U.S. Office of Education.

Also speaking during the morning session was Roy Irons, state director of Vocational-Technical Training. Mr. Irons taught vocational agriculture in Wendell High School from 1950 to Feb. 1964, when he was appointed to the State Vocational Education office.

Mr. Irons discussed state activities as related to vocational-technical instruction, implications of '68 vocational-technical act.

The symposium, which will conclude Saturday afternoon, is sponsored by the Idaho Air Force Association, Aerospace Educational Foundation and leading Idaho educators.

Picket Permit

WEISER (UPI)—The city of Weiser has issued a picketing license to the Southwest Idaho-Southeast Oregon Building and Construction Trades Council.

A. S. Rice, secretary of the council, said it was the first time to his knowledge that any city in the state has licensed and legally sanctioned a picket.

The picket will be placed at a Michaels Construction Company building site.

Eagle Man Elected State Grange Head

A Granger from Eagle will take over the helm of master of the Idaho State Grange when the organization's 61st annual convention ends Friday evening in Twin Falls.

W. A. Adams, Eagle, was elected master of the state organization Thursday afternoon during elections by the 630 Grangers. He will finish out the unexpired term of Merrill Jerome, Kuna, who has been master for the past nine years. Mr. Jerome will be associated with the Idaho Credit Union League as a fieldman.

After the week-long convention closes Friday evening, Mr. Adams will assume duties as the new master of the Idaho State Grange.

A new executive committee man also was elected by the Grangers, David Harter, Idaho Falls, was named to the three-year position. He replaces Thomas Speedy, Twin Falls, who also has resigned.

Thursday afternoon the Grange's Young Couple of the Year, prince and princess were honored during a Youth Recognition Hour. Presenting awards to Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Meridian, Couple of the Year; Steven Talbot, Moscow, prince, and the princess, Karen Omberg, Boise, was Ray Warner, Nampa, president of the Grange Mutual Insurance Association.

The youth of the Grange also were honored during this event and a program was presented by the young Grangers.

Speaking briefly during this hour was John Scott, master of the National Grange from Washington, D.C.

Mr. Scott also was the featured speaker during the state lecturer's program Thursday evening in the O'Leary Junior High School. He spoke on agricultural culture.

He said "If American agriculture is to continue in the tradition of a farm family enterprise, those of us who are serving in positions of leadership in the several agricultural or-

Police Kill 2 'Panthers' In Gun Battle

CHICAGO (UPI)—Black Panthers and police fought a 15-minute gun battle Thursday when police raided a Panther stronghold to search for weapons. Two Black Panthers, including the party's Illinois chairman, were killed and four were wounded.

Two members of the state's attorney's police force were wounded—neither seriously—in the gunfight on Chicago's West Side.

The dead were Fred Hampton, 22, head of the party in Illinois, and Mark Clark, 22, Peoria, Ill., reputed downstate leader of the black militant organization.

Three persons, one a girl said to be about eight months pregnant, were taken into custody by police at the scene—an apartment on West Monroe street about one-half block from the Black Panther headquarters.

State Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan said police seized 6 pistols and revolvers, 6 shotguns and one .303 caliber rifle. Hanrahan said the raid also netted about 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

Youths Meet To Discuss Draft Lottery

BOISE—The Selective Service thinks young.

At least this is what Maj. Gen. George Bennett said Thursday prior to a youth advisory committee meeting here today. It was the first such meeting in state history.

Youth advisory committees have been formed throughout the nation in an attempt to close the generation gap, according to Gen. Bennett. The idea was proposed by Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey, national director of the Selective Service System.

Magie Valley youths on the committee are Hal S. Bingham, age 22, Burley, and Lawrence Carlson, age 23, Twin Falls.

Today's meeting centered around the lottery held in Washington, D. C. Monday, Robert Hart, 25, Boise, who attended the drawing, spoke.

Those on the youth committee were appointed by Gen. Hershey on the advice of local school officials and community leaders.

The purpose of the committee is to make recommendations to the service on laws and regulations of the younger generation.

Gen. Bennett said, "Their recommendations may not be as we see it now, but we mean it when we say we want their advice."

Nixon Hints He May Call Solons Back

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate and House, under a threat by President Nixon to cancel the traditional holiday vacation, is rushing to finish action on the rest of the money bills and adjourn before Christmas Eve. The chances are rated fair to good.

Nixon, described as never tougher, told GOP congressional leaders Thursday he would call Congress into special session the day after Christmas bills are on his desk.

The fiscal year began July 1. Since then, Congress has kept the federal government in business by passing emergency resolutions continuing temporarily its spending authority, generally at 1968-69 rates.

In fact, the Senate did just that Thursday, giving final congressional approval to a resolution authorizing the agencies to keep spending at last year's rates. Said Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., ranking Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee: "It's a very sorry way of doing business."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield anticipated Nixon. He told the Senate earlier in the week he planned sessions during the week between Christmas and New Year's unless all the work was finished.

Mansfield said he hoped Nixon's statement would "make it possible for the Senate to complete all of its appropriations bills during or before that period."

TURNER TRIAL SET
BOISE (UPI)—The dates of Feb. 16-27 are being set aside in Fourth District Court for the trial of Oliver B. Turner who is accused of 18 counts of taking money under false pretenses from the State Highway Department.

Lodge Ends Job In Paris As U.S. Envoy

PARIS (UPI)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, a molder of Vietnam policy for three U.S. presidents; bowed out of the Vietnam peace talks Thursday with the unsmiling conviction somebody else would someday negotiate a just peace with the Communists.

But the veteran American diplomat, whose resignation letter reflected disappointment over Communist refusal to seek a compromise settlement said he still had "faith that we're going to get one."

Lodge's resignation, offered for "personal reasons," was accepted by President Nixon last month.

The 67-year-old Lodge looked cheerless both when he went into the session, and when he emerged from the meeting 5½ hours later.

"I continue to be an optimist," he told newsmen after the meeting, but his expression was dour.

FIRE VICTIM FOUND
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The charred body of a young man was found Thursday by firemen who responded to Buena Vista park to put out what they thought was a small gas fire.

Authorities said the victim, clad in hippie attire, apparently took his own life by igniting a can of gasoline. He was not immediately identified.

Two More Restraining Orders Are Issued Here To Postpone T.F. Annexation Plans

Two additional restraining orders involving Twin Falls' annexation controversy were signed in Fifth District Court Thursday.

This makes three such orders to date.

Judge Theron Ward signed the orders. His action prevents the city from annexing the lands concerned until hearings can be held in court and rulings issued.

The first restraining order was signed Wednesday. It involved about 200 residents who live on the Northwest edge of Twin Falls. They allege the city cannot provide proper services at this time and also charge there was not enough study on behalf of the city before the area was annexed last Monday.

The second order to be signed involves a lawsuit filed by Keith Malone. He filed the suit earlier this week, asking that the Canyon Crest subdivision be left out of the city because it is not adjacent to the city at the present time. He alleges annexation would be in violation of Idaho law.

The third restraining order involves land belonging to the Sierra Life Insurance Co. It is on the Northeast edge of the city and is agricultural in nature.

Each of the suits ask for restraining orders until hearings can be held on permanent injunctions against the city.

Judge Ward, although signing the restraining orders, has disqualified himself in each case, saying he is a taxpayer of Twin Falls and should not get involved.

"By signing the restraining orders, everything is held back until a judge can hear the matters and make legal rulings," he said.

The cases have been sent to Senior District Court Judge Charles Scoggin, but if he refuses to hear the cases they may be sent to the Supreme Court where a District Court judge would be assigned to hear the matters.

A tentative hearing date was set for next Friday, but officials at the courthouse said Thursday they doubt if the hearings will be held then.

The city annexed its area into the city last Monday. The annexation was to become official after legal publication in the Times-News-Tribune because of the restraining orders, the land cases and the three complaints that he assumed said hearings are made. v.

Weather Synopsis

The Pacific weather disturbance which moved through Southern Idaho yesterday is located east of the Continental Divide today, and high pressure is again building over the northwestern states. Therefore, generally fair weather should continue over East-Central Oregon and Southern Idaho through the weekend.

Weekend, with some increase in moisture in the valleys along with stable air, night and morning fog will be a little more widespread in the agricultural areas than during the past couple of weeks.

Not much change is expected in daytime temperatures through Saturday with highs both days in the 30s to the mid 40s. Lows tonight will be about the same to a little lower than last night with readings ranging from below zero in Camas Prairie to a little above in South-eastern Idaho and to 8 to 18 above in East-Central Oregon and Southwestern Idaho.

The extended weather outlook indicates little or no precipitation through Wednesday with temperatures averaging near normal. Normal high and low temperatures for this period are Boise 40 and 26; Pocatello 38 and 20; Gooding 38 and 23; Jerome 39 and 22; Buhl 40 and 22; Burley 41 and 22; Idaho Falls 34 and 16, and Twin Falls 42 and 23. Normal precipitation averages from .15 to .25 of an inch.

Surface winds today will be mostly less than 15 miles per hour.

Skies over these valleys yesterday were partly cloudy to cloudy but generally cleared during the night. Although precipitation in the form of snow was received at most reporting stations during the past 24 hours, amounts were of little significance and ranged from traces at most places to .1 of an inch at Burley and Boise and to .02 at Pocatello.

High temperatures over South-eastern Idaho yesterday were about the same to 7 degrees lower than the previous day and ranged from 33 at Pocatello to 45 at Mountain Home.

Twin Falls Is Fourth, Report On Jobs Shows

Twin Falls County ranked fourth in employment gains in Idaho, according to a report issued by the United States Department of Commerce.

The increase is for business and industrial employment for a one year period ending in March of 1968.

Ada County led the list and was followed by Canyon County, Kootenai County and then Twin Falls County.

Twin Falls County listed 9,220 employees during the period, an increase of 305.

All In Family

It may pay to have friends in high places—but it apparently doesn't do Walt Mildon much good to have a son on the police force.

Mr. Mildon was involved in a two-car accident Friday morning and his son, Jim Mildon, a patrolman with the Twin Falls Police Department, was assigned to investigate the mishap.

The driver of the other vehicle was issued a citation for failure to yield the right-of-way—and Officer Mildon gave his dad a ticket for driving with an expired driver's license.

She was second runner-up in the Buhl Sagebrush Days competition and is the Idaho-Oregon-Nevada Appaloosa Club Queen, and will represent them on the national level this summer in South Dakota. She was Queen of Hagerman Pioneer Days when she competed in the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest this year.

This royalty bit seems to run in the Harvey family, as Ann, 17, was recently named second runner-up in the Junior Miss Pageant and pageant Miss Congeniality. Margaret, who is 13 and attends Robert Stuart Junior High School, is an honor student and she, along with Ann, is very interested in horses.

Carolyn was a psychology and education major at Colorado State last year and is taking classes at the College of Southern Idaho this year. She plans to focus her educational goals on guidance counseling or teaching and has become most interested in the nation's education defense program that involves Europe, the Far East and Hawaii. She has applied for admission at the University of America in Mexico.

As if the national Miss Rodeo America contest and preparations aren't excitement enough, Miss Harvey has a very special guest who will be in attendance, Dec. 10 to view her progress. Milburn Stone, who plays Doc on TV's famed Gunsmoke, along with his wife, plans to drive to Las Vegas Saturday. Miss Harvey met Mr. Stone during competition in the Snake River Stampede and he has followed her progress since then.

Twin Falls residents can keep up-to-date on the Miss Rodeo America program by Miss Times-News articles and by planned telephone interviews conducted by Holly Houfburg and broadcast daily on radio station KLIK.

Miss Harvey will be staying at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas and her family at the Ball Hall Motel.

City Cleanup Is Completed In Twin Falls

The fall city cleanup, which began in October has been completed this week, according to Lloyd Nelson, sanitation inspector.

Mr. Nelson said one truck is still picking up leaves and trash as people clean. He said the city alleys are clear now and he hopes people will help keep them clean. As sanitation inspector, he said, he will be calling on those who do not comply.

Generally, the cooperation was good this year; Mr. Nelson said.

It took a little longer than usual this year to complete the cleanup since the city trucks were called off the project from time to time to assist in other street projects.

The city has a full-scale cleanup each fall and spring.

Dance Set

BUHL—The annual Christmas dance, sponsored by Preceptor chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, will be held Saturday evening at the Jaycee hall. Music will be furnished by the Allan Devries orchestra.

A buffet supper will be served at midnight. Mrs. Fred Kambrich is general chairman for the event. Tickets may be obtained from any Preceptor member and will also be available at the door.

Viet Cong To Honor Holiday Ceasefires

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong announced today they will observe three-day ceasefires at Christmas and New Year's to "show our concern" for their compatriots and the American people.

The announcement, made in Saigon from a clandestine radio broadcast, followed by one day President Nguyen Van Thieu's declaration that the allies would hold 24-hour truces on both holidays for "humanitarian reasons."

The broadcast said the cease-fire order was issued to Viet Cong troops Tuesday.

The Viet Cong broadcast cited "unchanged humanitarian" policies and "deep concern for the feelings" of our compatriots and the American people as the reason for their cease-fire.

Before announcing the truce the National Liberation radio of the Viet Cong condemned the Israel sent its warplanes on missions against Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal today for the sixth day this week. Cairo called the raids ineffective.

From Tel Aviv, the Israeli command said today's raids again hit at the southern end of the canal's west bank, from where the Egyptians launched a cross-canal commando thrust last weekend.

Egypt said it shot down one and maybe two of the Israeli planes that attacked the same area Thursday.

Enters Meet
WENDELL — Ron Koll, Wendell, is one of the four professional cowboys from Idaho who will compete in the 11th annual National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City Saturday through Dec. 14.

Koll is 15th in bareback bronc riding. A product of Idaho high school rodeos, he ended the 1968 season in 13th place and won fourth in the highly competitive bareback bronc riding average in last year's finals.

Wendell Bankers Are Honored
WENDELL — Charles Ireton, manager of the Idaho First National Bank, Wendell Branch, and John Coble, assistant manager, have received tokens of appreciation from the head office at Boise for their years of service to the company.

Mr. Ireton was transferred to the Wendell office in 1962. He began his banking career at the head office at Boise in January, 1955, and has been manager of the Wendell office since 1965.

Mr. Coble began his banking career at the Nampa office in April, 1959. He was transferred to the Wendell office as installment officer in July, 1968.

They received tie-tack combinations. Mr. Ireton for 15 years of service and Mr. Coble for 10 years.

Burglary
About $350 worth of items have been taken from a residence in Twin Falls, according to city police officers.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tugan, 2127 Hillcrest Drive, was reported burglarized Thursday.

Taken were an electric mixer, a custom made 30.06 rifle, 10 filled books of trading stamps and three sweaters. There was no sign of forced entry, officers said.

Manslaughter Case May End Today

JEROME — The manslaughter case against Dennis Larsen, 18, Burley, was expected to go to the jury today after three days of testimony before District Judge James Cunningham in the Jerome courthouse.

The Larsen youth, who is represented by Dean Kloepper, Burley, is charged with the death of Darrell M. Lewis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lewis, Burley, last April 25. The victim was a passenger in a car driven by a young Larsen which went out of control two miles east of the Valley road interchange off Interstate 80N.

Larsen and two other companions, Danny C. Roberts, 17, and Rick K. Christian, 17, were injured in the one-car crash. The accident investigation by State Policeman Ron Grove indicated the car flew 66 feet through the air after leaving the highway.

The state is represented by Cy Kuhlman, Jerome county prosecuting attorney, and Martin Ward Boise, assistant attorney general.

Jurors are Jack Griffith, Carl Estep, Elwood Becker, David Freshour, Mrs. Ralph Baisch, Hazel Weatherax, Mrs. Ben Russell, John Webster, Harold Bulcher, Jay A. Martin, Russell Van Lydegraff and Edna Darling.

Testimony since the trial opened Wednesday was given by L. Kidner, Shoshone; Mrs. Julie Darrington, Burley, an eye witness to the accident; State Patrolman Ron Groves, investigating officer; John J. Hansen, farmer in the area in whose field the Larsen car came to rest; Coroner Lauren M. Neher and Jill Hoffbuh, Burley, a student at the University of Idaho, who was also an eyewitness.

WASHINGTON — It is hard to believe, but Richard Helms, director of the much-criticized Central Intelligence Agency, has become a darling of the Senate dove-cote.

1947, Helms was named director by President Johnson in 1966. President Nixon renewed the appointment early this year.

two colorful and much-publicized directors of central intelligence, gentleman-spy Allen W. Dulles and hard-driving industrialist John A. McCone.

has brought a new respectability to the quiet campus like CIA headquarters in nearby Langley, Va.

honest assessment of all the combined forces of the intelligence community.

The Airline Stew

The airlines of the United States are wading around in their own stew.

Not too long ago they raised hue and cry that the "little" planes — the private craft and the business planes — were "glutting" the major fields.

So the federal government, through the FAA and the CAB, fell for the argument. They ordered hard restrictions put on several major airports which, for all practical purposes, prohibited the small planes from using them.

The result? Small planes are denied the use of these facilities for which they help to pay and the airlines still have traffic and delay problems, not with the "little" planes but with planes from their airline and from other airlines.

And why all the various schedules? Many are not needed nor are they revenue producing. Just this week a four-engine jet belonging to TWA was hijacked on a flight from San Francisco to Philadelphia and diverted to Cuba.

There were 28 people on that plane built to haul nearly 150. A passenger load that small is hardly revenue producing.

Then the big "jumbo" jet, the Boeing 747 which can carry around 400 people, made a test flight into the New York area. There was a long in-the-air delay until traffic — airline traffic — thinned to the point the big plane could get into the airport.

These two incidents offer dramatic proof that virtually eliminating private flying in some areas is not the answer to the problem. One answer is to schedule airline flights as needed.

Now the government plans to charge private aviation users seven cents a gallon tax for the gasoline. This money would go to improve airports — including the airports the private planes will be prohibited from using.

The private and business fliers are up in arms, and rightly so. It is a grossly unfair plan and the battle for at least equal rights goes around has just started.

Although it might sound like a sour pun, there is a parallel in another means of transportation. Large Buses and trucks use our highways. Because of this, why not rule off the private passenger car? It makes just about as much sense as ruling out private planes.

Back In The Bottle

LOUIS SPANT Copyright 1969 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

For years Mansfield has, in addition, been a leader of a so-far unsuccessful drive to apply a tighter congressional oversight to CIA activities.

"I must say, like all those who have come in contact with him, I have been tremendously impressed. I think he is by far the best director the CIA has ever had.

Mansfield made those comments in the Senate's secret debate on the ABM Safeguard system weeks ago. The transcript of that debate, censored and reviewed, was made public only last week.

According to Fulbright, Helms' ABM appraisal "convinced me he was a competent man who was not swayed by any outside influence; that he was giving us the nearest to an honest assessment of all the combined forces of the intelligence community.

Helms has always enjoyed the confidence of the rather hawkish senior members of the House and Senate who ride herd on CIA operations through special intelligence subcommittees.

He has, in the first place, made it clear that, as the nation's top intelligence officer, he will provide the best possible reading, without bias and without trying to evaluate events a priori against developments

CIA critics were never sure that Dulles and McCone were willing to stop at that.

With respect to CIA's operational responsibilities, those shadowy clandestine activities which have provoked most of CIA's criticism over the years, Helms has carefully lived up to a pledge made during his Senate confirmation hearings in 1966.

After more than three years, CIA's critics are beginning to believe him.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Nixon's Policy Shift Effects

WASHINGTON (NEA) — By a curious mixture of attitudes and events, what may prove to be the most important American foreign policy document in the last two decades is being widely treated in this nation almost as if it did not exist.

The document is a 17-page transcript of President Nixon's special news conference on Guam July 25 as he opened his trip to Asia and Europe. Most of the "conference" was consumed by a long presidential statement.

In that statement, the President laid out in broad but unmistakable terms what he now likes to call the "Nixon Doctrine" — fundamentally, a sharply reduced involvement not only of our armed forces but of the U. S. presence generally in Asia and elsewhere around the world.

ances captured prime space in the news media. But they were at least partially offset by the attention given a few days later in Thailand, when he informed the Thais publicly that we were standing by our treaty commitments to them.

Though the President in his Nov. 3 Vietnam speech devoted some 35 lines to a restatement of his "doctrine," they were almost totally lost in the clamorous dissection of his words on Vietnam alone.

Today, while the public's eyes and ears are largely attendant to the repercussions of Vice President Agnew's assault upon the electronic and other news media (the latter in a magazine interview), only a few observers in this capital are trying to gauge the potentially immense magnitude of the change the President forecast at Guam.

As directed to Asia, where he then was about to touch down at several points, Nixon was necessarily fairly specific in enunciating a change of policy.

There will be no more Vietnams. We will hold to our commitment and, if asked, we will help — by all reasonable means short of using our own armed forces — any Asian land suffering from foreign intervention it cannot handle either alone or with aid from its Asian friends.

The President's announced policy of U. S. troop withdrawals and "Vietnamization" of the present war is intended by him to be in part a earnest declaration of proof to Asians of our future purpose of reduced involvement. The current policy fits the new doctrine.

"I want to be sure that our policies in the future, all over the world, in Asia, Latin America, Africa and the rest, reduce American involvement."

Phrases drawing the whole world into his portrait of a changing U. S. policy are to be found again and again in the Guam document.

In some key places in Washington where the eye is really kept on the ball, our huge investment of 300,000 troops (mostly in Germany) is not considered exempt from Nixon's call for reduced involvement.

As a matter of fact, two writers have just argued persuasively that our European involvement under NATO is vastly beyond good sense and that what is needed is the "Europeanization" of the continent's defense in a manner directly parallel to what we propose for Vietnam.

Everything in the words and tone of the Guam documents, though its specifics relate to Asia, indicate that the President wants to do everywhere — including critical Europe — just what the two writers suggest.

Pushed to its farthest limits, the "Nixon Doctrine" could mean the most sweeping cut-back of American men and money abroad since this nation became the free world giant in the aftermath of World War II.

So far, for reasons that warrant later review, the President is feeling his way very slowly in converting doctrine to action — in truly "lowering the American profile." Yet, granting natural doubts, it is incredible that the July 25 Guam doctrine should be so thoroughly ignored as to seem like a doorstop throwaway.

Time For Amends

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If one-fourth of what has been reported about a massacre at My Lai hamlet in South Vietnam is true, then the U.S. government and all of us have a very grave duty indeed.

It will not be enough to punish to the full extent of the law those found to be guilty.

It will not be enough to look up the chain of command and find those to be guilty who did not properly indoctrinate and discipline their subordinate units and commanders and who did not foresee whatever was so dreadfully wrong with this Army unit that such a happening could have occurred. (It is a major responsibility of command that higher officers know the point of breakdown of their units. There is some evidence that suggests this particular detachment of men had shown signs of something that needed attention even before My Lai.)

It will not be enough to determine why so cursory an investigation was carried out immediately after My Lai and to punish those responsible for negligence or cover up.

It will not be enough to determine in the manner thus far reported, two urgent tasks lie before this country:

First, something will have to be changed so that such tragedies can never occur again.

Second, the American government and people will have to demonstrate to the people of My Lai area, to Son Tinh District, to the province of Quang Ngai and to the people of Vietnam in some very personal and human way how deeply all of us regret what happened on or about March 16, 1968.

Both the backers of President Nixon's policies and those who protest can join together in such an endeavor.

This reporter cannot say precisely what should be done. But we could begin as individuals, private citizens, sending packages of those small things that poor Vietnamese villagers require to live.

We can, as individuals and as a government, send medical supplies. We can make certain doctors and surgeons are available to remedy so far as is possible the disfigurement of survivors. We can provide scholarships to give the surviving children a better chance at an education. We can send young men and women to work with the villagers in the district schools and farms, for this help must extend beyond the immediate area.

This will not return the dead to life. But there are times when people must do what they can, knowing that nothing at all can change what has happened.

The Vietnamese people are a very human people. They worry less about the fairness of law and justice than in human compassion.

They respond above all to men and women who accept personal responsibility. They live in a harsh world and know that terrible things happen. So they are amazingly forgiving when men and women personally show their desire to make amends.

The Royal Budget

Prince Philip's revelation — on American television, no less — of the approaching deficit in the royal finances has already brought results, of a sort.

It has moved Prime Minister Harold Wilson to assure Her Majesty's alarmed subjects that the government has already been looking into the need for raising the $1.14 billion annual allowance for the royal household, a figure unchanged since 1951.

But the prime minister, aware of the coolness of many of his Labor party followers to easing the Queen's struggle with inflation when the government is trying to restrain workers' raises, is in no hurry.

He figures it will be soon enough to let the next Parliament review the royal budget, and there may not be a new Parliament before the spring of 1971.

Until then the Queen will presumably have to struggle along on $1.14 million a year unless, perhaps, the prince lands an American television contract.

MR. SPECTATOR

We Answer The Question?

Yesterday, you will remember, we ran an editorial from "Bear Facts," which is the publication of the Robert Stuart Junior High School in Twin Falls.

It was somewhat critical of Mr. Spectator and the Times-News in the matter of publicity given various events staged at the O'Leary Junior High School, also in Twin Falls.

In so many words, and reading between the lines of the editorial, we seemed to sense that we were being accused of playing favorites with O'Leary.

Students of Stuart — it just ain't so, Mr. Spectator and the Times-News knowingly play favorites with no individual or group or organization.

So being the fair sort of guy I am, I'll tell you what is happening along this line. It isn't that we are favoring O'Leary it's just that O'Leary lets us know what is going on. It's as simple as that!

When O'Leary has a special program or such we are notified. Now, students of Stuart, don't get the idea that O'Leary gets everything they ask for because they do not. Why? For one good reason we could say that we don't have the space. That's enough of a reason right there — so we will move on.

But they do let us know and then we can decide whether or not it is newsworthy.

And about their newspaper. We put in a little story about it because they sent us one.

Now, let's get on the other side of the fence. We have never received Stuart's paper until we got the one containing the editorial. Until then we didn't know you had a paper.

We haven't had many stories or pictures of your activities because we had no official word that anything was going on out there.

Why not tell Jack Watts — a good friend of ours — to give us a call when he has an idea that would make a newsworthy story or feature. We can't use them all but we can use some of them and will be happy to do so.

Mr. Spectator is old enough that all his kids are now out of school so he has no close contact like he used to have. However, there's not a grade school in town that doesn't give us a call when they think they have something good. We get calls from the High School and we get calls from O'Leary. We get calls from everyone but Stuart.

So how about hearing from you guys? Remember — have only one person do the calling. Ask for Mr. Smith or Mr. Spectator. Call in advance of the event if possible. Or, if you don't like calling then walk in and talk with us.

We don't print everything asked of us, but (you had better believe it) we are human. So like all people we grease the wheel that squeaks the loudest.

Now that we have handed out the bouquets, let's pass a suggestion along on your fine "Bear Facts." Why not let the staff members somewhere in each edition?

FOOTBALL AND CHICAGO

Violence came to the University of Chicago a few weeks ago. A mob of hysterical students swarmed onto university property, completely destroyed two structures on the property, then paraded triumphantly to the president's residence to hold a shouting and screaming demonstration in the street.

Surprisingly enough, old grads who were in attendance beamed in approval.

The occasion was one of the university's two football victories this season. The invaded property was new Stagg Field. The dismantled structures were, of course, the goal posts. And the demonstration in front of the president's house was not merely to show appreciation for the victory but for the fact that this year was the first since 1939 that the University of Chicago fielded a varsity football team.

Football enthusiasm has too often been carried to silly extremes on too many campuses in the past. But so has the crusade against society's evils. It is reassuring to know that even today's students, serious-minded as they are, realize the importance of taking a break from the job of saving the world once in a while.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Different Twins

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have 12 children, and the last two were identical twins. When they were born six weeks early, the doctors said they had jaundice. They had a partial transfusion first and then a transfusion with whole blood.

They are four years old now and don't look alike at all. Are all identical twins look-alikes, or are ours different because of the blood exchange? They did look alike until they were two months old. — Mrs. R. S.

The answer is that they were not identical twins, but fraternal twins. Identical twins are alike as two peas in a pod and stay that way for most of their lives. Blood transfusions or blood exchanges will not change the chromosome pattern which governs characteristics.

I'm very much aware of the deceptiveness of twin babies because my own were fraternal twins. As babies they resembled each other very closely, particularly when they were sleeping.

Now they are grown, and while anybody can see that they are brothers, they are different in size and features, and even have different hair coloring.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes the underarms of my 13-year-old son's white gym shirts to turn bright pink when he perspires? The stains wash out, so they are no real bother, though I think they may embarrass him at school. My main reason for writing is curiosity. He is unusually mature physically. — Mrs. R. M.

Pink may result from iodides this may be contained in some vitamin-mineral preparations as well as in iodized salt.

(It is possible — but extremely rare — for blood to occur in sweat, giving a reddish tinge.)

Another source of color may be deodorants, if he uses any.

So, (1) see whether he is getting a lot of iodides — if he takes vitamin-mineral capsules, read the ingredients and change to a brand not containing minerals; or (2) if he uses deodorants, try eliminating them for a time, or change to another type; or (3), shaving the armpits and using one of the antiseptic or germicidal soaps should reduce the bacterial action on the skin.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard much about periodontal disease but am not sure exactly what it is. — G.S.

It is a disorder around the root of a tooth or in the gums, and thus a dental rather than medical problem. Root abscesses, cysts, pyorrhea, all are examples of "periodontal disease."

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder."

Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Times-News for a copy of the booklet, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Deadline On County Taxes Draws Near

There are only 10 office days remaining before the 1969 property tax deadline of Dec. 20, Twin Falls County, Treasurer Ruth K. Jones reminded county residents today.

At the same time she noted only about 20 per cent of the total tax bill has been paid.

"Payments are coming in much slower than usual," Mrs. Jones said. "With a total bill of approximately $5 million, this leaves some $4 million to be collected by our office within the coming two weeks."

Persons may make payments at the treasurer's office on the second floor of the county courthouse or may make payments by mail. Mrs. Jones said the office is open five days per week from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. All payments mailed in must be postmarked by Dec. 20 to avoid penalty payments.

There is now plenty of help in the treasurer's office, Mrs. Jones said, and no waiting in line. By delaying payments until the last few days, residents may have to wait to make payments.

A last minute mail load of payments will also make it difficult for employees of the treasurer's office to handle, tabulations.

Prisoner Is Treated For Cut Wrists

A prisoner in the Twin Falls County jail was treated by a physician Thursday for slash wounds on his wrists.

Richard Spor, 20, was returned to custody after being treated in the physician's office.

He was arrested late Wednesday and charged with being drunk. It was later discovered, however, that he was not under the influence of alcohol and Sheriff Paul Corder said the man might have taken some drugs.

Spor is on probation in Idaho on a conviction of forgery. He has been charged with illegal possession of narcotics in Nevada and it was reported he will be returned to that state soon.

Sheriff Corder said it appeared Spor cut himself with a razor blade. The cuts were not serious, he said.

Confirmation Rites Scheduled

SHOSHONE — Confirmation services for parishes of the Central Deanery of the Episcopal Diocese of Idaho will be held at Christ Church, Shoshone, at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Rev. Norman L. Foote, Boise, bishop of the Diocese of Idaho, will preside over the service and will preach. Bishop Foote will be assisted by clergy of the Deanery and parishes.

After the service a reception for the bishop and those receiving the sacrament of Holy Communion will be held at the Jennings Memorial Parish House, hosted by Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church.

AIR 'GENIUS' DIES
MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Claudius Dornier, the German aviation genius who built aircraft that bombed Britain in two world wars, died today at his Swiss home, the Dornier Aircraft Company announced. He was 85.

VELMA GUYER, second from left, of Twin Falls, will be one of the soloists for the College of Idaho Christmas choir concert at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Jewett auditorium. She will also present her senior vocal recital Sunday to fulfill her academic requirements for a degree in applied music. There is no admission charge for either of the programs which are open to the public. Other soloists for the choir concert from left are Robbi Green of Portland, Jon Anderson of Homedale and Duane Harrison, Fairfield. Dr. James Gabbard, right, is choral conductor.

Velma Guyer Plans Senior Recital Sunday At C. Of I.

COLLEGE OF IDAHO, Caldwell — Velma Guyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Guyer, Twin Falls, will present her senior voice recital at 3 p.m. Sunday in Jewett Auditorium.

A senior music major at the College of Idaho, Miss Guyer will perform music by nine different composers. She will open with two selections by Handel, "Alleluja" and "Care Selve," then will present three Mozart operatic arias.

Ketchum Meet Set For Tonight

KETCHUM — A movie showing the U.S. Equestrian team will be presented at 8 p.m. today at the Ernest Hemingway school here.

Ivan Fleming, Boise, corresponding secretary from the Highlander Jump and Saddle Club, will speak on forming a horsemen's club. Purpose of this group would be to provide an opportunity to further develop horsemanship skills in both English and western styles of riding.

A temporary board of directors and a club name will be presented and the public is invited, according to Vicky Gudmundsson, Katie Breckenridge and Suzi Gillis.

Miss Wheat

BOISE — Gloria Amende, 17, has been named Miss Idaho Wheat for 1970. It was announced in Boise at the annual convention of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association.

The red-haired Declo High student was chosen as winner from among six finalists who were in competition for the title.

Miss Amende, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Amende, Albion, was chosen by a panel of three judges during the convention. The announcement that she would be Miss Idaho Wheat was made during the ISWGA closing banquet.

Lake Frozen

EDEN — Wilson Lake near here is frozen over and is in good condition for ice skating, it was reported today.

Idaho Tax Group Sets Area Meet

SHOSHONE — The annual meeting of the Idaho Tax Equality Association will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Woods Cafe, Jerome.

Speaker will be Atty. Gen. Robert Robson, Boise, Master of ceremonies will be Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle.

Jay Fowles, Shoshone, will provide entertainment, according to Floyd Silva, Shoshone, secretary of the state association.

You Can Eat To Your Heart's Content And Still Cut Down Chances Of Heart Attack

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor

This may come as a shock, but you can eat to your heart's content and still reduce the chances of your having a heart attack.

That's what Dr. John M. McKain, Twin Falls thoracic surgeon and president of the Idaho Heart Association, told members of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Turf Club.

Panel Set On Mental Health Need

Need for local mental health facilities will be outlined at a panel discussion slated for 8 p.m. Sunday in the First United Methodist church in Twin Falls.

State Rep. Ray Lincoln, District 23, who helped write Senate Bill 1193, which authorizes the formation of area mental health centers, will serve as moderator.

Sponsored by the Christian Social Concerns commission of the local Methodist church, headed by Lotus Schmucker.

Speakers will include Doyt Simcoe, high school guidance counselor; Lloyd Webb, chairman of the regional planning group formed this past summer to obtain comprehensive mental health services for Magic Valley; Roger Abernathy, CSI faculty member and vice president of the Idaho Mental Health Association; Rev. Bill Kelly, Ketchum minister and active in the leadership of the Blaine county mental health clinic, and Dr. Harry Brumbach, local physician.

The public is invited to the panel, Miss Schmucker said, adding not only the need for such services, but some of the problems involved in obtaining any local mental health facilities will be discussed. A question period is planned.

Theft Probed

HAILEY — Sheriff Orville Drexler is investigating the theft of $500 from a safe in the Liberty Theatre here. He said the building was not broken into.

Auditor Heads Chamber

GRANGEVILLE (UPI) — Idaho County Auditor Carl T. Reuter has been named president of the chamber of commerce here.

Just back from the National Heart Association meeting in Texas, he said men must stay away from saturated fats and animal fats. They cause cholesterol in the blood, which in turn sets the pace for heart attacks.

Among other things, Dr. McKain advocated a diet which would include skim milk, ice milk instead of ice cream; polyunsaturated spreads instead of butter; low-fat cottage cheese; only three eggs a week, as many kinds of vegetables as you want to eat, turkey, fish, lean meat, oatmeal, cream of wheat, cocoa instead of chocolate. Fried food should be prepared in vegetable oil or safflower.

"The important thing is to cut down on fats and maintain high nutrition," he said. "You might even cut down on food, but this is not as important as the kind you eat. You don't have to take the fun out of food."

The physician also said there are three steps that men who are a little older and who have started to spread, should take to guard against possible heart attack. He urged (1) easy physical activity (2) quit smoking and (3) diet watching.

"By easy physical activity, I mean a brisk walk," Dr. McKain said.

He told of the many advances in heart control, but said "one area we haven't scored very well in is hardening of the arteries, the disease that causes heart attacks."

He cited the publicity given concerning people starving in the United States and pointed out that actually most of the nation's males are suffering from over eating.

Some national and state laws are leading directly to heart attacks by forcing certain amounts of fat, for instance, to be in certain foods.

This problem will either be corrected by legislation or by public education, which in turn would force a change in such laws.

the newest heart film, was introduced by Dr. Ben Katz. Inducted as a member of Kiwanis was William L. Crawford, title officer with the Twin Falls Title and Trust Co. Dr. Jack McNeese was in charge.

Jurist Urges Probe Of U.S. 'Atrocities'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg and 33 government officials, international lawyers and professors Thursday urged President Nixon to appoint a national commission to study U.S. combat conduct in Vietnam, especially alleged massacres of civilians.

"The allegations of atrocities committed in Vietnam are hurting the reputation (and) the conscience of all law-respecting Americans," Goldberg said at a news conference at New York University whose Center of International Studies sponsored the report of the ad hoc committee Goldberg headed.

Goldberg's statement followed increasing demands for an investigation of the alleged Song My massacre and other incidents in South Vietnam.

"We urge the President to reject the view that atrocities may in any way be justified, by any side, as a necessary part of war," Goldberg said. "This case (Song My) offers an opportunity for the reaffirmation of a national commitment to the rule of law."

Goldberg said the commission should be made up of impartial, concerned and patriotic Americans such as former Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren and retired Army General Matthew D. Ridgeway. He said he did not wish to speculate on the conclusions which such a commission might reach, but he observed that "there is enough in this (the massacre allegations) to warrant an investigation."

"Let the chips fall where they may," he remarked.

Goldberg said the doubts raised about the United States by the massacre reports "cannot be laid to rest by a military court martial of a few individuals. He said he felt an impartial, broad inquiry of the methods by which the Vietnam War has been fought would do much to restore world opinion of this nation."

'Woman-Power' Advocate Is President Of Church Council

DETROIT (UPI)—Dr. Cynthia Wedel, 61, an ardent advocate of woman power in the church, Thursday was elected the first woman president of the National Council of Churches.

Mrs. Wedel, a white Episcopalian from Washington, D.C., defeated the first black candidate for the NCC presidency, the Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., of Detroit, by a vote of 387 to 93 in secret balloting at the NCC's triennial general assembly.

When the vote was announced, Cleage went to a microphone on the assembly floor and castigated what he called the "white racist establishment of the NCC."

"This organization is anti-Christ and until young people or oppressed people take over you'll remain anti-Christ," Cleage declared. "Time is running out for you. The black people are the basis for whatever hope there is for the future of the church."

Mrs. Wedel told a news conference after her election that she will do all she can to heal the racial breach and demonstrate her own commitment to vigorous church action on behalf of black economic development.

"It may hurt when hard feelings are expressed, but it's better to bring them into the open so that we can listen and respond," she said.

She has written five books expounding the theme that women are the backbone of church life in America and deserve a larger voice in leadership councils.

Cloud-Seeding Experiments Hint At 'Breakthrough' In Control Of Storms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The secretaries of Commerce and Navy jointly reported Thursday a possible "major breakthrough" in man's efforts to curb the fury of nature's most destructive storm, the hurricane.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and Navy Secretary John H. Chafee told reporters at a special briefing that cloud seeding experiments carried out last August with Hurricane Debbie produced "extremely encouraging" and "tremendously promising" results.

These experiments will be continued in 1970 in an "intensified effort" to determine "whether man indeed has developed the capability to control hurricanes and in so doing has made history," the secretaries said.

For several years the Commerce and Navy departments of Puerto Rico, far enough at sea to pose no danger to the mainland and as it turned out, Debbie never did threaten the seacoast.

'Ultimatum' Detected In State Dispute

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Robert Robson sat at his desk late Thursday night and fingered an "ultimatum" from State Auditor Joe Williams which Robson said could "determine" the future of the state.

The attorney general said he "read a threat" in "Directive A-5" which was sent out by Williams' office to "clarify Directive A-4."

The directive from Williams continued the long dispute between his office and the division of management services, which prepares part of the state's payrolls, and the shorter dispute between Williams and the State Board of Examiners.

Earlier in the week, Williams informed all state agencies that payrolls were to be submitted to his office only and on newly revised payroll forms. He said none of the old forms were available.

Breakfast Meet Slated At Gooding

SHOSHONE — Men and boys of the Wood River Episcopal parish of Shoshone and Gooding will hold their annual corporate Communion and breakfast at 8:30 a.m. Sunday at Trinity Church, Gooding.

After the service, a breakfast will be served in Trinity Parish hall by the Episcopal Church Women of Trinity with Mrs. Adam J. Schubert in charge. During the breakfast a film will be shown.

Some two million Episcopal men and boys in Episcopal parish throughout the nation join in this annual affair during the season of Advent. The breakfast is not a father and son affair, and all men and boys of the parish are invited to participate.

Because of the earlier service, and the Deanery confirmation service scheduled at Shoshone at 4 p.m., the regular morning worship service at Christ Church, Shoshone, and Trinity Church, will be held on this Sunday only.

VELMA GUYER

Carol Reppeto, Ihler Marry

With 250 friends and relatives in attendance at the First Baptist Church, an evening candle-light ceremony Nov. 9th united in marriage Carol Amanda Reppeto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Reppeto, and Lowell Dean Ihler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Ihler, all Twin Falls.

Rev. James B. Hughes officiated at the double ring ceremony. Beauty baskets of white gladioli, blue daisies and bronze-colored chrysanthemums tied with blue bows decorated the altar. The bronze sanctuary candelabra held tall white tapers and were accented with blue bows and streamers and entwined with ivy. The bridal aisle was marked with large blue satin bows centered with leatherleaf.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her father and mother. She wore a floor-length white Bridalallure gown of traditional bouffant silhouette featuring a fitted alençon lace bodice and long lily point sleeves. Mother-of-pearl bridesmaids detailed the sabrina neckline and the lace edged 7-foot chapel train, which was attached at the shoulders. The flowing skirt of organza was accented with lace and iridescents. Her four-tiered fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held by a tiara crown belonging to the bride's mother. She carried a triangular cascade of white bridal roses, centered on a white Bible that belonged to the bride's late grandmother Reppeto. The Bible was covered with white delustered satin, edged in white lace, and accented with blue satin streamers tied in love knots.

Roberta Flinn, friend of the bride, was maid of honor and Connie Ihler, sister of the bridegroom, Carol Koster and Sharon McCabe, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. Cindy Reppeto, sister of the bride, was flower girl and scattered bronze chrysanthemum petals down the aisle.

Mike Ihler, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer and carried the rings on a white delustered satin heart-shaped pillow edged with white lace and white satin ribbons tied in love knots.

The bride's veil, ring pillow and blue garter were made by a family friend, Mrs. Bill Baker. The best man was Lewis Holway, friend of the bridegroom, and Rodney Turner, Marlin Audehrdele, and Dave Hannah, friends of the bridegroom, served as groomsmen. Candelighters were Bill Davis and Dave Hannah, who also served as ushers.

Mrs. Frances Rider, church organist, played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" and other wedding music, and was accompanied on the organ for Russell Bennett, soloist. Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with a white nylon cloth over nylon flounces skirted to the floor, with leatherleaf decorating the front. A four-tiered wedding cake, centered on a large round mirror and encircled with ivy, was decorated with white frosting, blue roses, sugar hearts, green and silver leaves and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom accented by a silver Christogram. Lighted blue tapers in crystal candelabra flanked the cake. The candelabra were used at the bridegroom's grandparents' 50th Wedding Anniversary eight years ago.

Aunts and cousins of the newlyweds, Mrs. Bill Davis, Mrs. Herman Huettig, Mrs. Ernest Lancaster and Mrs. Rex McClain, cut and served the cake, and Mrs. Vera Askew, Mrs. George Cunningham, Mrs. Philip Davis and Mrs. Lucille Keenipe served the punch from a crystal bowl and coffee from a silver service. The serving table was covered with a white nylon cloth over blue, centered with the lighted memory candle and accented with blue and white mints and mixed nuts. Guests were seated at long tables arranged in a flight formation, covered with white linen cloths and decorated with light-bronze-colored candles in crystal holders and surrounded with blue lace. The Challenger class of the church was in charge of the kitchen arrangements.

The immediate wedding party greeted guests before four topiary trees decorated with blue satin and white nylon and entwined with ivy.

Lael Mothershead registered the guests at a table covered with a white lace cloth over blue satin. The tablecloth was made by the bride's late great-grandmother. Accented the table was a large blue plume feather pen and a basket of rice packets made of blue net and tied with bronze-colored ribbon. A winter floral arrangement, loaned by Dr. Adele Thompson, friend of the bride, adorned the piano, completed the reception decorations.

Gary and Kyla Keeney and Boyce Stites were gift carriers. The gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Dave Hannah, and Leslie and Bette McCracken.

Katchy Brackett and Rochelle Wing were reception pianists. Mrs. Hazel Wilder was assistant to the florist.

Special guests at the wedding were the bride and bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. E. D. Ihler, Mrs. Albert Lierman and Mrs. Albert Stites.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Idaho Falls, Sun Valley and Stanley Basin area. They reside on a farm southwest of Twin Falls, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. The bride is employed at the American Finance Loan Co. as cashier - bookkeeper in Twin Falls.

The bride was honored at a bridal shower hosted by Roberta Flinn. The bridegroom's parents hosted a buffet supper after the rehearsal, which was highlighted by helping the bride's parents celebrate their Nov. 9th wedding anniversary.

Women's Section Area Couple Will Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

RUPERT — In honor of the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Ferrin, Rupert, their children in vite friends and relatives of the couple to an open house Saturday from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Mini-doka Stake LDS Tabernacle on 8th and G Street in Rupert.

The couple was married Dec. 6, 1919, and resided in both the Burley and Rupert areas until 1922 when they moved to Moscow. Mr. Ferrin attended the University of Idaho for a year before the couple moved to Twin Falls and farmed in the area for two years. The couple has seven living children, 30 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. A son, Floyd, was killed during World War II. Their children include Warren Ferrin, Lloyd Ferrin, G. LaVell Ferrin and Norman Ferrin, all Kearns, Utah; Dean Ferrin, Blackfoot, and Mrs. Vera Smith and Mrs. Darla Pingel, both Rupert.

The couple requests no gifts.

Cooked Food Sale, Bazaar

Set Saturday

BURLEY — Xi Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, will hold a cooked food and bazaar sale from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in front of Shelby's Grocery in the Overland Shopping Center.

The date of the sale was announced by Mrs. S. L. Walker, ways and means chairman, during a sewing work meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Mamie Gutierrez. Items made by the women include aprons, Christmas stockings, Santa's boots, shoe bags for traveling, luncheon cloths, doll clothes and many other items.

Mrs. Ralph Butters, service chairman, reported the chapter will again put up the Christmas tree for the senior citizens at the Burley Nursing Home. It was announced the chapter will hold its annual secret sister Christmas gift exchange Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Arlie Harris and the group will then travel to Min's Cafe, Dec. 10, where dinner will be served.

It was reported Mrs. Joe Adams, a chapter member, is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Boise.

Two Members Tie For Best Loser Of Month

Two members of the Nix-On-Pix TOPS Club tied for best loser for the month of November. Each lost nine pounds and both received one month free club dues.

Biggest gainer of the month was Florence Mayer. One month free club dues also went to Coleta Hahn for remaining at her goal or below for the entire month.

For the week of Dec. 2, best loser banner went to Margaret Grant. Biggest gainer for the week was a tie between Ollie Mae Armstrong and Roberta Dunlap. Minerva Smith was in charge of the program, getting each member's measurements up-to-date.

Next week's program will be an auction of Christmas articles made by each club member Tuesday at the Twin Falls City Hall.

Club Convenes

FILER — Hillside Club members related ways in which Thanksgiving was memorable for them at the meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Yoder. Mrs. George Erhardt and Mrs. Fred Yoder received gifts. Mrs. Dan Kauffman served as auctioneer for an auction, with proceeds to be sent to the Idaho Youth Ranch at Rupert.

Mrs. Roy Kimerling, Twin Falls, will host the Dec. 17 Christmas party and gift exchange.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS. BLANK FROM BLANK
DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. Buy a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would MAKE them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me. L IN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Rusty is 25. We've gone together for a year and plan to marry in a couple of years when we can afford it. I have a good job and so does Rusty. He is on the road four nights a week.

Two girl friends and I are planning to move into an apartment the first of the month. We've found an ideal place in a good neighborhood near where we all work. My problem is that Rusty is dead set against it. He says if I move from my parents' home before we are married, we are finished. Abby, I want experience in budgeting, cooking, housekeeping and many domestic things I could never learn any other way. Even my parents are all for it. What should I do?

Why is Rusty so stubborn? He knows he can be 100 per cent sure of me. RUSTY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Rusty may be 100 per cent sure of YOU—but he's not sure of himself. Move into the apartment. If you and Rusty are finished for this reason, you're better off without him.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Duggan spent a few days in their home in Halley before returning to Stanley, where Mr. Duggan will complete a new log home for the Piero Piva's on their stock ranch northwest of Stanley. Mr. Duggan said he has just completed a new log home for the Tom J. Oomacac near Stanley.

Heber Kelly, Kewa, Wash., cattle rancher, was in Richfield last week looking after his ranch interests here. Melvin (Dutch) Brauburger, who had farmed the Kelly place, has moved to the Zaracore ranch in northwest Richfield.

Gene Wolfe, McCall and Galen, Jay, Larry Edwards, Gooding, helped with cattle at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wolfe, Tuttle.

Bob Robinson, Tuttle, went to Oakdale, Calif., to get 60 Mexican roping steers for himself and others.

The Bev Flova family has moved to Jerome from the west Richfield ranch of Glen Ward, Twin Falls. He will be employed by the Twin Falls Tractor and Implement Co.

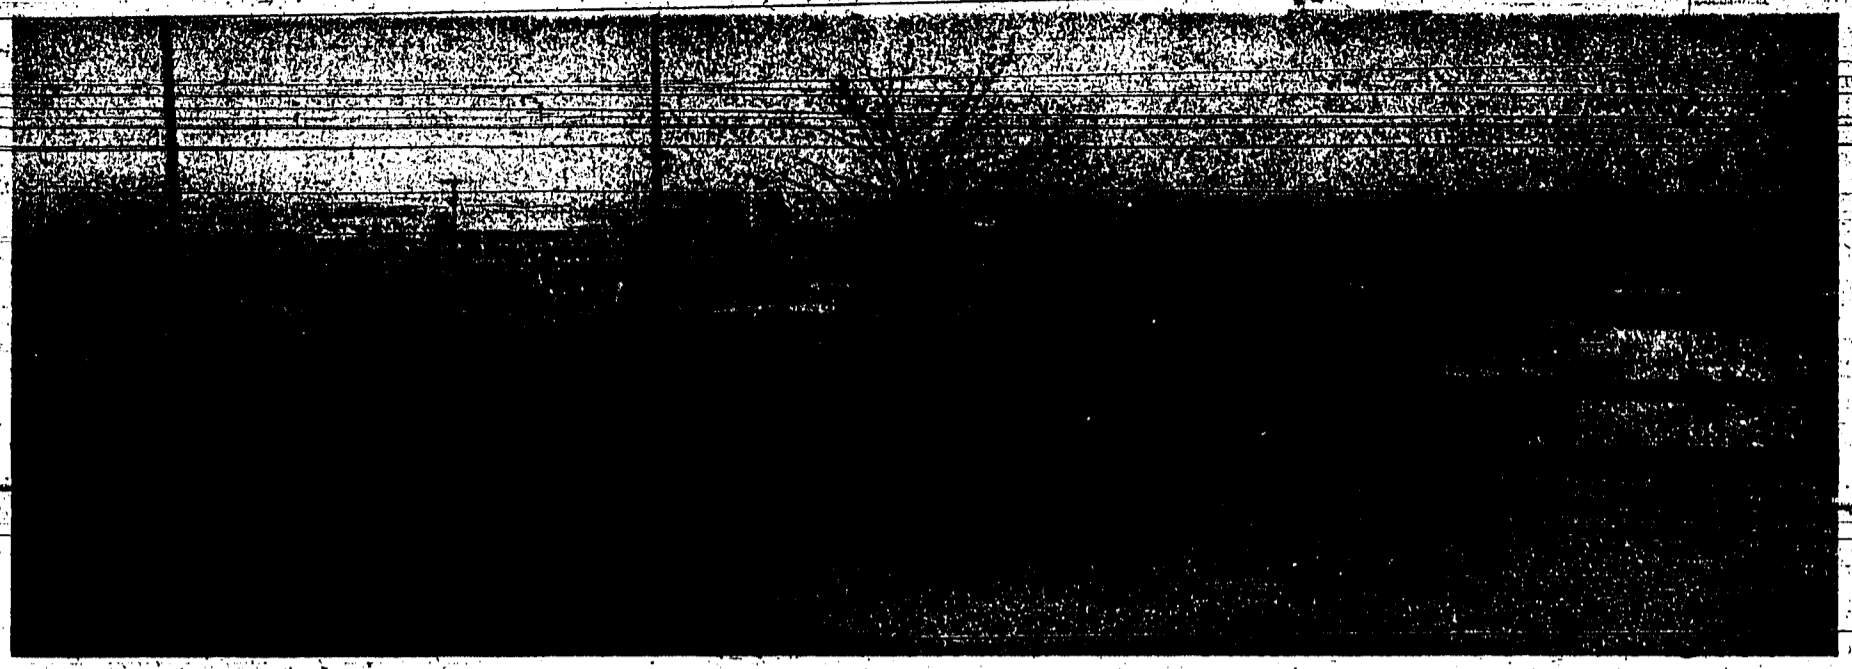

Corn harvest is well advanced in the Tuttle area and the North Side Canal Co. is installing a truck crossing at the driveway of the William Maude and Floyd Marsh farms.

RICHFIELD — A well is being drilled at the Wilkins ranch seven miles north of Richfield. Claude Nicholson, Shoshone, is the well driller.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Daniels, Mrs. Sidney Lansing, Susan Solomon, Lee Trail, Donald Carnahan, and William Pruett have been riding for cattle on the south range, south of Pasadena Valley.

Gary Kissler has built a U-shaped walk through milking parlor at the Richfield ranch of his father-in-law, Morris Swainston. Twenty cows per hour can be milked in the cinder block building. When fully completed the parlor will have overhead grain storage compartments for the cows, milk room, shower room, and pipeline with bulk milk tank. Kissler, Richfield high school math teacher, and his wife live at the Swainston ranch and run the dairy operation. Swainston is dairy herd manager for the Queen's Crown ranch at Elcabo.

Farm AND Ranch SECTION

ONE OF THE stops of the Twin Falls Canal Co. tour by several area farmers was at the fork of the main canal, south of Hansen. Here the large main canal divides into the High Line and Low Line canals, distributing water to farmers in most of Twin Falls County.

ASC Groups Take Initiative In Fight Against Pollution

Throughout the country, pollution-abatement measures for agricultural lands are being developed by farmer-elected Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) county committees and by State ASC Committees, reports Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County ASC Committee.

This activity is the result of increasing concern about all types of water and air pollution, including agricultural-related pollution. Recent authorization was given for county and State development groups to include pollution abatement measures in the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) which is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Response has been prompt, Mr. Boyd said. About 40 state ASCS Offices have expressed interest and begun consideration of measures which could be installed primarily for pollution abatement and which would also have soil and water conservation benefits.

So far, the primary purposes of these conservation practices are to help stop water pollution caused by farm feedlots and to help prevent siltation of streams and bodies of water.

Included are provisions for diversion channels around farm feedlots; for desilting and settling basins to help control sedimentation in areas adjacent or near to lakes, ponds, and streams; and for livestock sewage lagoons for hog operations.

Mr. Boyd emphasized that ACP pollution-abatement measures will vary from state to state and county to county. In each instance they are being developed locally to meet local problems and conditions.

The practices will have in common, however, the fact that they must be installed by farmers or ranchers and must have soil and water conservation benefits in addition to pollution-abatement values.

The ASC Committee chairman pointed out that cost-sharing practices approved for abating farm feedlot pollution will be available only for work done on farms. Basic ACP legislation provides that costs may be shared only for work having soil and water conservation benefits for farmlands.

Under the ACP, costs are shared with farmers (and ranchers) for conservation work needed on agricultural lands in the public interest. Generally, the public and the farmer each pay about half the cost.

The 1970 ACP authorization for Idaho is $1,861,000.00. It is expected that about 6,000 farmers in Idaho will participate in the 1970 ACP.

Spud Growers Slate Meeting In Burley

BURLEY — Condition of the potato crop, progress of a request for a potato-diversion program growing and marketing better potatoes will all come under discussion at the annual meeting and convention of the Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc., at the Ponderosa Inn in Burley Tuesday and Wednesday.

Potato growers from all parts of the state will be gathering at the convention for this is their opportunity to participate in policy making and to make resolutions to guide the state association during the coming year. By-law changes will be presented for the vote of the membership.

Grower panels have always been one of the highlights of the convention as growers are always eager to trade ideas on how to raise a better potato crop. This year panels will feature Dan Turner of Easton, Me., a member of the Maine Potato Council, and Paul Horn of North Moorhead, Minn., and Don Johnston, past president of the California Potato Growers as well as prominent Idaho potato growers.

Labor has been and is yet of vital concern to the potato grower, and Don Johnston of California will tell the growers about agricultural labor problems in California.

Latest in potato research will be discussed by Dr. Ross E. Smith of the University of Idaho and Dr. Robert Daniel of White Salmon, Ore., University of Oregon.

Kunkel's presentation at the convention last year was one of the highlights of the sessions. Dr. Kunkel will discuss "Potato Yields are Increasing."

Each district of the state will report the condition of the potato crop in that area during the business session. These reports alone could be very enlightening. Reports on progress made by the association will be given by President Richard L. Kerbs and Bargaining gains will be presented by Clarence A. Parr.

Entertainment for the convention includes a banquet and dance, a luncheon with a family type show sponsored by Burley shops, and singing by the Singing K's. J. R. Simplot will address the growers during a buffet luncheon on Tuesday afternoon.

A special program is planned for the ladies with a get acquainted breakfast at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, which will feature a style show by the "Be Merry" shop and a finger food luncheon. A memorial service for the late Mrs. J. R. Simplot will be presented at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday.

THE DIVERSION DAM of the low line canal at Deep Creek near Buhl is visited by several area farmers who toured the Twin Falls Canal Co. system. This diversion dam was one of several major improvements of the canal system in past years.

T.F. Canal System Toured By Area Farmers, Scientists

Crews of the Twin Falls Canal Co. have been busy for several years improving the canal system so farmers on the Twin Falls Tract will receive adequate irrigation water.

To show the stockholders what improvements have been made and how the canal system works a tour is held every year in the fall for a delegation of farmers named by the board of directors.

This fall eight area farmers and several research personnel toured the canal system with Al Peters, general manager, leading the group.

The tour began at Milner Dam where tour members saw how the local canal firm as well as the Northside Canal Co. get their irrigation water from the Snake River that is stored upstream.

The operation of the Milner Dam and how the gates operate were explained by Mr. Peters and other canal company officials.

After examining the dam and surrounding area, Mr. Peters led the group along the main canal to the fork where the High Line and the Low Line canals are formed. This fork is south of Hansen.

From this point the tour continued along the canal banks to various points where spillways and regulating dams have been constructed by the canal firm in improving the efficiency of the delivery of irrigation water.

Some of the other improvements shown to those on the tour by Mr. Peters were permanent rock riprapping of the main canals, several spillways and drainage wells in the Buhl area.

Area farmers making the tour — some of them seeing the system for the first time — included Mike Stastny, and Pete Link, both Hansen; Newell Stallones, Twin Falls; Clyde VanAlstede, Filer; Bill Aldrich, John Peterson and Dallas Brown, all Buhl, and Bob Schroeder, Clover.

Research personnel from the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, were also on the tour. Questions for shares have been filed.

Dr. Marvin Jensen, director of the center; James Bondurant, Charles Brockway and Robert Worstell.

Two scientists from Gelfatin Valley Seed Co. also were on the tour.

"Galahad," Local Arabian Stallion, Dies

Galahad, AHCR 8820, a well known Arabian stallion owned by the Caudle Arabian farm south of Twin Falls the past 16 years, died recently.

The 12-year-old stallion has sired many champion Arabians not only for the Caudles, but for other breeders in surrounding states.

He was purchased from California in 1953 by the late Helen Caudle and her sister Gladys Caudle. One of the first colts he sired, Gazanor, has won many awards locally and is still standing at the Caudle ranch.

Gladys Caudle said Galahad died of a rupture and was in approximately two days before he could be saved.

1970 Sugar Beet Shares Requests Due This Month

Farmers wishing to grow sugar beets in the 1970 crop year must file a request for their proportionate share of the 1970 sugar beet acreage during the month of December, according to Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

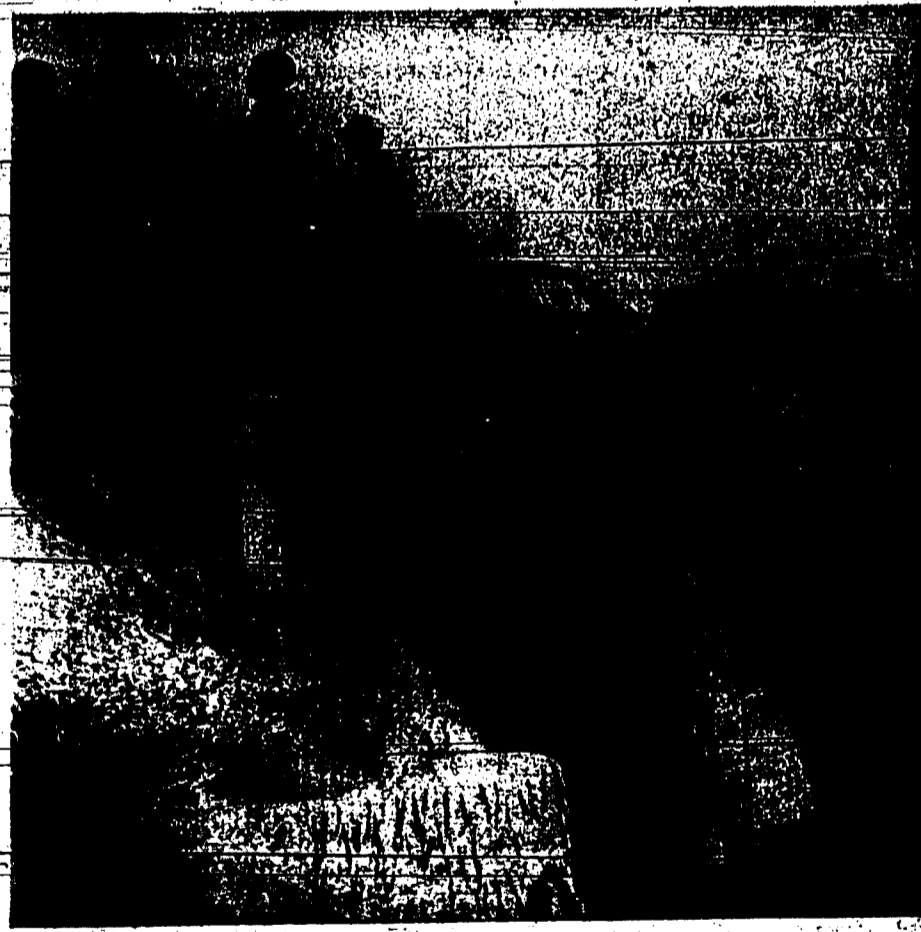

Requests for shares are being accepted now at the County ASCS office, said Mr. Boyd. The closing date for accepting requests is Dec. 31, 1969.

Farm operators should request shares for all the land they plan to operate in 1970. Farm owners who intend to rent their farm to someone else but have not as yet found a renter, must also file a request for sugar beet shares by the closing date in order to retain the shares for their farm.

Sugar beet growers eligible for shares, but who will be unable to plant beets in 1970, must also file a request for shares in order to be eligible for history credit in 1970. Chairman Boyd said that anyone wishing information regarding filing of requests for sugar beet proportionate shares should contact the county ASCS office, but not to delay past the closing date for filing requests, Dec. 31, 1969.

Farm sugar beet bases will be established for all farms having accredited sugar beet acreage in the years 1967, 1968 and 1969, with 70 per cent weighing given to the 1969 accredited acreage and 30 per cent weighing given to the acreage of the 1967-68 accredited acreage.

Since the total of all farm bases established will undoubtedly exceed the acreage available for distribution, surely a reducing factor will need to be applied to the established bases. The amount of the reduction can not be determined until after Jan. 1, when all the requests for shares have been filed.

STANDING ATOP one of the spillways along the Twin Falls Canal Co. system are some area farmers who toured the system recently. This particular spillway is known as the Cottonwood Spillway, located south of Kimberly.

East Pakistan To Get Bonn Wheat

ISLAMABAD, East Pakistan — West Germany will supply 30,000 tons of soft wheat to Pakistan under a protocol signed here recently.

The wheat is offered by the Bonn Government as aid to Pakistan within the framework of Food Aid Convention and will be used in meet the food requirements of East Pakistan.

Co-chairmen for the convention are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Topf, Marsden, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Conrad, Burley. The signing of the agreement, the total wheat imports from West Germany would come to 75,000 tons.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions about your social security, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q: I have been told a social security retirement benefit is based on one's last five years. Is this true?

A: No. Your benefit is based on your average earnings over a longer period of time. The number of years used to establish an average varies and depends on whether you are a man or woman, and on your year of birth.

Q: Do students between the ages of 18 and 22 who receive social security benefits have to make any reports to the Social Security Administration?

A: Yes, they must report if any of the following occurs:

1. If they drop out of school, transfer to another school, or reduce their attendance to less than full-time;
2. If they get married;
3. If they are adopted;
4. If they earn or expect to earn $1,680 or more in the calendar year; and
5. If they get payment by an employer for attending school.

Q: I am 60 years old and receive monthly disability payments from social security. Am I eligible for Medicare?

A: No. Medicare is available only to people age 65 or older.

Q: My doctor has advised me to file for disability benefits. Will my wife and children be eligible for monthly payments if I get disability benefits?

A: If you get disability benefits, your children under age 18 (19 if they are full-time students) would be eligible for payments. Also, disabled children 18 or over who have been disabled prior to their 18th birthday may be eligible. Your wife is eligible to receive benefits if she is age 62 or older or at any age, if she has in her care a child who is eligible for benefits.

Short Course

The College of Southern Idaho is again offering a short course for area farmers and ranchers on artificial insemination.

The course will begin at 8 p.m. Monday in the CSI's vocational building, Kimberly Road.

Those interested in the short course should contact Herschel Boydston at the college.

Meeting For Lamb, Wool Growers Set

HAILEY — A special program for all wool and lamb producers in Blaine County has been set for Tuesday, starting at 1:30 in the courtroom in Hailey.

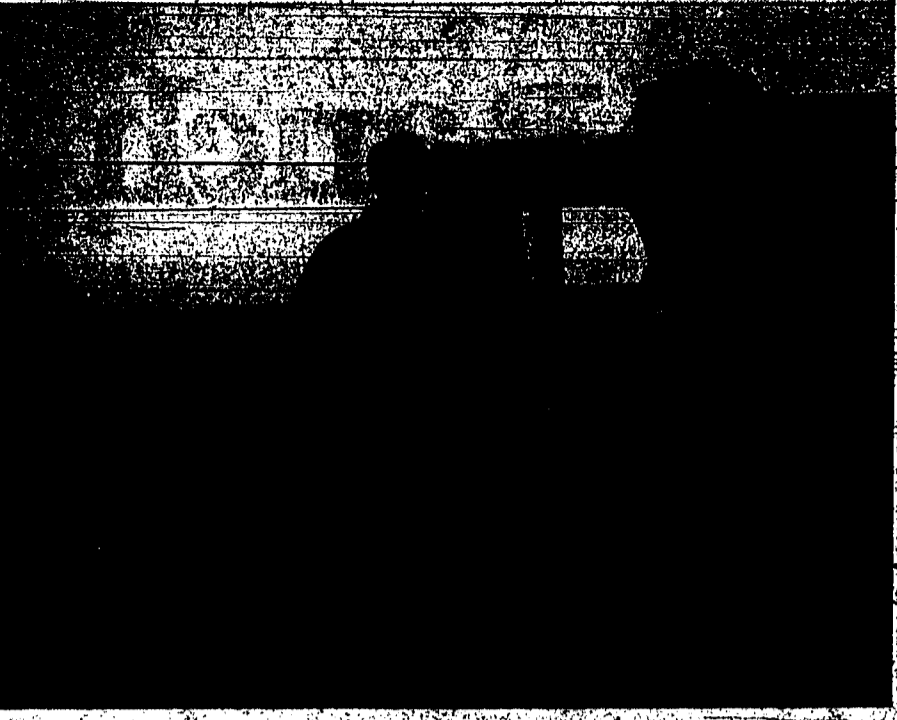

Three special features will be included in the program.

Lowell Wilson, wood technologist of the Range Sheep Experiment Station at Dubois, will discuss and demonstrate wool grading, packaging and general management of wool production in marketing.

Wade Wells, extension livestock specialist, will provide a program on winter nutrition of ewes, lamb crop management and various other phases of the production business.

Low Williams, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, will discuss the activities of the state and national associations and answer questions regarding association activities.

POTATOES INCREASE
BOISE — Idaho's fall potato production is forecast at 64,000,000 bushels, up 12 per cent from last year, but five per cent below the record high this year, says the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

ONE OF THE new "breed" of truck drivers in Magic Valley taking over in the farm fields to Mrs. Elwood Wing, Castleford, above, has been driving this fall hauling harvested crops in from the fields in the Castleford and Buhl areas.

2 Castleford Women Prove Fairer Sex Can Be As Good Truck Drivers As Men

By ZADA WISECAVER
Times-News Correspondent

CASTLEFORD — Due to the extreme shortage of adequate help, a new "breed" of truck drivers, the ladies, are taking over in the farm fields in Magic Valley. Typical of this much needed addition to the labor picture are Naomi Wing and Evelyn Allred, Castleford.

Mrs. Wing, wife of Elwood Wing, Castleford, is the "other half" of "Woody," a custom harvesting and trucking business. She started driving truck six years ago. Mr. Wing, better known as "Woody," was having trouble finding drivers and asked Naomi to take a crack at it. She didn't mind the job and has been driving ever since.

Evelyn Allred is the wife of one of the combine operators, John Allred, who lives on a ranch south of Castleford. She started driving truck for "Woody's" four years ago and just loves everything about it. She is taller than Naomi, a very pretty brunette who enjoys people and working out in the open. She is glad when the harvest season begins and hates to see it end.

Both ladies are knowledgeable of truck driving terms. When asked what kind of truck she drove, Naomi explained that hers, of that day, was a "bob-tail". Evelyn was driving a "truck with tags". Wings have two factory-built 10 wheelers.

Evelyn's truck is a 10-wheeler but the result comes about with the addition of "tags" — a set of dual wheels. Both understand that "going down to Grannie" on the grade doesn't mean to visit grandma, but is a term used to signify going to the lowest gear to pull the grade.

The harvest run for these two begins with the grain harvesting near the middle of July and continues through beans, potatoes and corn. The season ends when the corn is finished. This depends upon the dryness of both the corn and the fall weather. Last season extended into February and March. Other years they have been done near Thanksgiving or Christmas.

They follow combines for the most part. Some of their driving has been done for other harvesters. Naomi recalls that it was Woody received a call from King and Reynolds for a 10-wheeler to haul potatoes in the Blue Gulch area west of Castleford. It was a busy time and the two trucks they had asked for were already hired.

Woody agreed to send another truck to make the haul. Naomi was sent out to drive. She drove over—and when her turn came to load, loaded "on the go" as usual. When she was loaded, Mr. Reynolds stopped her and told her to tell Woody that she would do.

Potatoes are always loaded from the harvester "on the go" — as the harvester is moving down the row. The truck must be in position to catch the load in the right place. This calls for cooperation between the harvester operator and the trucker. Other crops that Naomi loads "on the go" are grain and beans. Corn goes into a bin on the combine and the trucks are loaded at a stand-still when the bin is filled.

Potato hauling from the Blue Gulch area is done by the way of the Castleford crossing that passes by Balanced Rock. The potatoes are unloaded into cellars around Castleford. Naomi has hauled potatoes for John King and George Bilok as well as King and Reynolds.

It is no mean trick to make the haul across the grade loaded with spuds, get unloaded in the cellar and get back across the grade in time to catch your turn at loading in the field.

The truck is paid by the load. It is a poor driver who misses his turn at loading.

Both ladies have chaffers in censes and feel that they do the work expected of any other driver. In the case of the spud truck, this means "tapping" the load — covering it to prevent loss of potatoes as the load settles during the haul.

Another chore that had better not be forgotten is arranging the boards so that the spuds can be loaded again in the field. These boards are laid to cover the unloading chain in the bottom of the truck and prevent the whole load from resting on this chain. Without these boards the chain cannot move. This has been known to happen and the spuds have to be unloaded by hand.

The trucks they use are equipped with "spud beds". They are used to haul during the entire run. Spud beds have to be used in the potato harvest and they have proved to work on the other crops as well. This allows the trucker to eliminate changing over the truck to other beds from one crop to another. The high cost of buying several types of truck beds is eliminated in this way.

Naomi drove truck in the Oakley area and recalled that there were a lot of women drivers there. There are quite a few farmer's wives who drive truck to get their own crops in around Castleford. Many drive across both Lily Grade from Roseworth and the Castleford Crossing from Blue Gulch.

Some of the other areas that Naomi and Evelyn have driven in are Buhl, King Hill, Lucerne, Piler, and on the Salmon tract.

Both ladies agreed that the combine operators are very nice. Both have husbands who are the operators on their crew. And both stressed how courteous and considerate the people at the elevators and warehouses always are. They both agreed that this makes their job even pleasanter.

Naomi is about five foot tall, a very attractive woman with a ready smile and sparkling eyes. She was dressed in blue jeans and a levi jacket. Her short hair-cut is most becoming. Her response when asked for a picture was, "Like this?" and "Why didn't you warn me so I could dress up a little".

And she took one quick look

Scientists At Meet Disagree With Outright Ban on DDT

RENO — Scientists involved in various phases of pesticide research indicated at a recent meeting that they didn't feel that DDT should be banned outright.

Dr. Ronald S. Pardini, assistant professor of biochemistry at the University of Nevada in Reno and engaged in pesticide research, attended the meeting and said that this was the feeling of the scientists there.

Dr. Pardini explained that the meeting was held in St. Louis earlier in the month and was attended by representatives of regional research projects involved in pesticide studies from throughout the U. S. The university of Nevada participates in a project entitled W-45 with other land grant universities in the Western region. The University, according to Dr. Pardini, is doing research in pesticide residues including their nature, distribution and persistence in plants, animals and soils.

"Annual meetings are held each year by those engaged in the regional research projects," said Dr. Pardini, "to criticize past work and plant future efforts." At St. Louis, he pointed out, each region held their annual meeting and then got together to generally discuss pesticides, due to the recent national interest and controversy concerning the use of DDT. The idea, he added, was to get a general response from the different sections or regions of the country.

One of the reasons voiced at the meeting for opposition to an outright ban of DDT, Dr. Pardini said, was that a great deal is known about the compound while much less is known about possible substitutes.

"DDT has been around for over 30 years and in this time a great deal of information has been accumulated regarding its use and effects on the environment," Dr. Pardini said. He added that not as much is known about some of the newer chemicals being used to replace DDT.

Among the more common substitutes, he noted, are organophosphates, which include such compounds as parathion. Research findings indicate that the organophosphates are more toxic on an acute basis to humans than DDT, he said. Additionally, what might be the wide ranging effects of the newer compounds have not been researched to the extent that DDT has been studied.

"While DDT is felt to be causing some problems," Dr. Pardini said, "the feeling was that a better approach than outright abandonment might be to work toward controlling the specific DDT problems." Methods of application, for example, said Dr. Pardini, have not been altered for a number of years. Formulations of the compound might be changed so that there is not as much wind drift, he observed. Also, use could be so governed as to offer the least potential for environmental contamination. Soil amendments might be devised to hasten degradation of the compound in the soils, he noted.

A great deal of effort, Dr. Pardini explained, is being spent to develop biological and other non-chemical controls of insect and other pests. He pointed out that approximately 80 per cent of the USDA research effort is directed to research in biological controls and development of resistant plant varieties. But, he noted, such efforts are not culminated overnight. They take time and meanwhile, chemicals will continue to be used, he said.

Pesticides, since their development and use, have played a significant role in a number of facets of human existence. They have been used beneficially in the control of a number of human diseases, malaria being the best known, that are spread by insect vectors. Agricultural crop success and yields depend considerably on protection from pest infestation. Even such things as wormholes in apples or lettuce without insect growth marks, taken for granted by today's housewife when she shops, are a result of the use of pesticides.

"A general feeling at the meeting was that we should use the knowledge we have accumulated about pesticides to help chart a wise course for future use rather than an off the cuff decision that will lead us to more problems."

Castleford Grange Aides Are Installed

CASTLEFORD — Parley Harmon was installed as master of the Castleford Grange recently. Nelson Ripa, past worthy master, was the installing officer.

Other officers who were installed during the ceremonies were Jake Stahlecker, overseer; Mrs. Charles Conrad, lecturer; Kay Moore, steward; C. R. Ury, assistant steward; Mrs. Dale Read, chaplain; Mrs. Jake Stahlecker, treasurer; Mrs. Nelson Ripa, secretary; Dale Read, gatekeeper; Mrs. Melvin Moore, Ceres; Mrs. Kay Moore, Pomona; Mrs. Fred Simpson, Flora; and Mrs. C. R. Ury, lady assistant steward.

The executive committeemen for the following year are Melvin Moore, Nelson Ripa and Fred Simpson; Charles Conrad is the business agent.

Mrs. Charles Conrad is the activity chairman, and Mrs. Parley Harmon is chairman of women's activities. Kay Moore is the youth chairman.

Other committee members are Charles Conrad, Kay Moore and Dave Graybal, resolutions committee; Melvin Moore and Charles Conrad, agriculture committee; Mrs. Dale Read, relief; Nelson Ripa and C. R. Ury, membership; and Parley Harmon, community service.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stahlecker were chosen to be the Castleford Grange delegates to the state grange convention to be held in Twin Falls next week.

Following the installations, the business meeting was held. A notice was read of the annual meeting of the Grange Mutual Coop Fire Insurance Co. Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. at the Idaho Power auditorium in Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Read presented an eagle plaque that Mrs. Read had made to be hung in the Grange hall.

The group voted to have their annual Christmas party on Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Grange hall. This is to be a potluck and gift exchange. Each family was asked to present one number for the program. There will be treats for the youngsters.

Charter Is Draped For Mrs. Baker

GOODING — The charter was draped at the Gooding-Grange meeting in memory of Mrs. Gwendolyn Baker.

A letter of appreciation for being eligible to enter the national Grange contests from Meg Sams was read. Miss Sams' sweater was third place winner in the state in needwork and the dress she entered last spring which won first in the state in its class and was entered in the National Grange Cotton Dress contest, was one of six featured in the William S. Wright and Son, 1963 Fall publication of Home Sewing News, an Eastern publication.

Letters from the Tuberculosis Association and Easter seal organization were presented and a donation was voted to each.

A letter was read from State Grange Master Emil Jerome, of Kuna, advising the grangers that he would be resigning his position at the State Grange session in Twin Falls this fall.

Master Ben Glaumer, both a member of the hospital board and county commissioner, reported on the progress of the new hospital and the courthouse.

Scoutmaster Fred Locke, Eagle Scout Larry Stone, Life Scout Bill Elsinger and Star Scout Mike Silman, of Troop 29, reported on the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut.

Mr. Locke showed slides and the boys talked on their experiences and exhibited their exchange patches and souvenirs.

Policy holders of the Grange Mutual Fire Insurance Co. were urged to either attend the meeting at 8 p.m. Dec. 1 at the Idaho

Wild Carrot Labeled As Noxious Weed

BOISE — Following a public hearing held recently at the state Capitol building, Idaho Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley I. Trenhale declared Daucus Carota L., commonly known as wild carrot or Queen Anne's Lace as a secondary noxious weed under the provisions of the Pure Seed Law.

Testimony was received at the hearing from county agents and representatives of commercial seed firms. Placing of the weed, formerly classified as a common weed in the noxious category was termed a necessary step in effecting an eradication program.

The measure, to take effect on Dec. 26, will ban sales of Queen Anne's Lace seed, often planted as a garden flower.

A description of the weed and methods of control are contained in a bulletin published and distributed by the University of Idaho, Agricultural Extension Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to the bulletin, the best chemical control is accomplished with 2, 4-D or a combination of 2,4-D and 3, 4, 5-T. Cutting wild carrot off below the crown is also given as an effective control measure. Control should be accomplished before the plant sheds pollen.

Election Set By Milner Low Lift

MILNER — An election will be held on Tuesday for one member of the board of directors of the Milner Low Lift Irrigation District, to serve a three-year term in Precinct No. 1.

Candidates running for the office are incumbent Samuel Webb and he is opposed by Bernard Bradshaw.

J. E. Neumann, former member of the board resigned his office in July of this year and Webb was appointed by the board of directors to fill the remainder of his unexpired term.

The respective polling places in the three precincts of the District are Precinct No. 1 — the residence of Glen Briggs, and Precinct No. 3 — the residence of Clyde Goodman.

Hours of the election are from 1 until 7 p.m.

Three directors of the American Falls Reservoir District No. 1 will be held from 10 p.m. Tuesday at the Lincoln County Courthouse. The candidates are John M. Barker, Buhl precinct seven; Russell Woodley, Jerome, precinct two; and Armin Schropfer, American Falls, precinct one.

Former Filer Man Retires

BOISE — Herman G. Hilliker, an agricultural scientist who has given practical advice to Idaho farmers for more than 33 years, retired this month from the University of Idaho extension service. He has been Ada County agent since 1941.

Appointment of Doran Peterson, a member of the Ada County staff for 10 years, as acting chairman to succeed Hilliker was announced today by James Graves, Moscow, acting associate director of extension.

After attending high school at Filer where he grew up on a farm, Hilliker graduated from the University of Idaho in 1923 and spent two years working for the Farmers' Home Administration before joining the extension staff in 1926 as 4-H club agent at Pocatello. He served for a time as district club agent. In 1936 he transferred to Blackfoot as Bingham County agent. From that position he moved to Boise in 1941. He has since served as agricultural agent and chairman of the county staff. During that period he spent a summer in advanced work at the University of Wisconsin.

Lincoln County 4-Hers Receive Awards, Certificates

Presentations at the annual Lincoln County 4-H awards ceremony were made by Wayne Hogue, 4-H leader, and James Graves, county agent. Awards were presented to several 4-H members for their outstanding work in various projects. Certificates were also presented to several members for their contributions to the community. The ceremony was held at the Lincoln County Courthouse and was attended by a large number of family members and friends.

Local 4-H Leaders Honored At County Recognition Fete

Several 4-H leaders in Twin Falls County were honored recently for their outstanding work in the 4-H program. The leaders and others involved in the 4-H program were honored during a special Leader's Recognition Dinner in the Twin Falls Grange Hall.

Leaders receiving awards were A. E. Monroe, Buhl; Mrs. Ted Quigley, Castleford; and Wayne Hogue, Murtaugh, five-year pins; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pastoor, Hollister, and Mrs. Roy Jessor, Twin Falls, 10-year pins, and Mrs. Leo Math-

FFA Judging Team Named At Castleford

CATTLEFORD — Steve Peterson, Tom Garrison, Kurt Thomson, Ron Roth and Larry Reese will be the judging team to compete in the FFA Weeds and Crops Judging Contest to be held in Jerome on Dec. 11.

This is the second judging contest for students of the new Castleford Agriculture teacher, K. Wells. The recent dairy and poultry judging contest in Hagerman was the first contest this year.

The students are selected on their desire to take part, on class participation, and must complete a unit of study to qualify as judges.

Mr. Wells has four classes of Agriculture, and one class of general shop. Shop is just starting. The students are planning their projects and gathering the material together.

Mr. Wells was especially proud of the work some students have put in to get the shop ready for use. Richard Foster constructed a tool display board to simplify keeping the hand tools in order. He used colorful paints on the board and stripped the tools with matching paints to encourage each article to return to its proper place on the board in a minimum time.

Charles Parker and Richard Foster ran an air line, plumbed from the air compressor to other parts of the shop. This greatly increased the usability of the compressor, making compressed air available for work to blow dirt from engine parts being cleaned for work and to use air tools in various places in the shop.

Tom Owens made a display board showing the various kinds of metal used in shop work. He also constructed racks to hang up the spare basketball hoops for the athletic department for use during the home games.

These are just a few such projects that show interest and initiative on the part of the shop boys.

The FFA boys plan to have a display and sell Christmas trees in downtown Castleford as a money-making project for their organization.

Sid Wing is working toward his State Farmers degree. He has a herd of registered Chiroals.

Formerly an Oakley resident, Mr. Wells is a graduate of the University of Idaho. He and his wife have one daughter, Sally, 8 months old.

Mrs. Krauss Is New Grange Aide

Mrs. Bernice Krauss was elected as gatekeeper during a recent meeting of the Twin Falls Grange.

Howard, special, humorous awards, were presented to Donald Youtz, county agent; Mr. and Mrs. Alice Reed, Mrs. Ola Butler, Larry Sobotka, Dave Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shouse and Ole Genn, county 4-H club agent.

Receiving alumni awards were Mrs. Jim Horn, Mrs. John Burkhart, Lee Sharp and Dick Emcees of the evening was Mrs. John Burkhart and guest speaker was O. A. (Gus) Kalkner, editor, Times-News.

SEVERAL 4-H leaders in Twin Falls county received awards during the recent 4-H Leaders Recognition Dinner at the Twin Falls Grange Hall. Here Frank Southwick, Castleford, long-time 4-H leader, presents the awards to the leaders. Top left, Mr. Southwick hands an award to Steve Pastoor, 10-year pin; top right, Mrs. Pastoor, 10-year pin; center, left, Wayne Hogue receives a five-year award; center, right photo, receives a 10-year pin and certificate; Mrs. Ted Quigley, bottom left, receives her five-year award and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chadwick, bottom right, receive their 10-year awards. Other leaders receiving awards, but not pictured, were Mrs. Leo Mathews, 10 years, and A. E. Monroe, five-year award.

Two Couples Join Grange

TUTTLE — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis, Tuttle, and Mr. and Mrs. George Stringer, Gooding, were given the obligation into the Gooding County Poultry Grange at a meeting at the wanden Grange Hall.

Mrs. Chester Ewing, Women's Activities Committee chairman, announced the new members at Dec. 22 meeting. The new members are Ed and Mrs. Ed Davis and George and Mrs. George Stringer. The Grange will give the program of poultry raising.

Try Hand At Raising Indoor Plants

Millions of gardeners everywhere share the joy of raising attractive, healthy plants inside their homes or greenhouses. The American Association of Nurserymen suggests the fall as a time to try your hand at this indoor sport.

When you are choosing the plants you'll want, plan to complement the lines of the room you have selected. If you need vertical lines to increase the height of the room, you may want a Schefflera or a Dracaena. Or if you should deemphasize the height, a bushy variety like the Spider Plant or a Begonia or Croton, or even a viney plant like Pellonia or one of the types of ivy would be a wise choice. For added interest include different leaf forms and types.

Since most house plants prefer high humidity, select a place where several plants can be grouped together. The plants give off water vapor from their leaves, and this creates a more natural environment in which they will thrive. From time to time it's a good idea to moisten the air with a fine spray of water.

The proper amount of light is important to the comfort of your plants, and it is useful to keep in mind the conditions of their original home.

Most common house plants come from the shady, humid forest floors of the tropics where the light is diffused through several leafy plants above, protecting them from the intense heat. Simulating these conditions in your home is difficult but certainly not impossible with some small effort on your part.

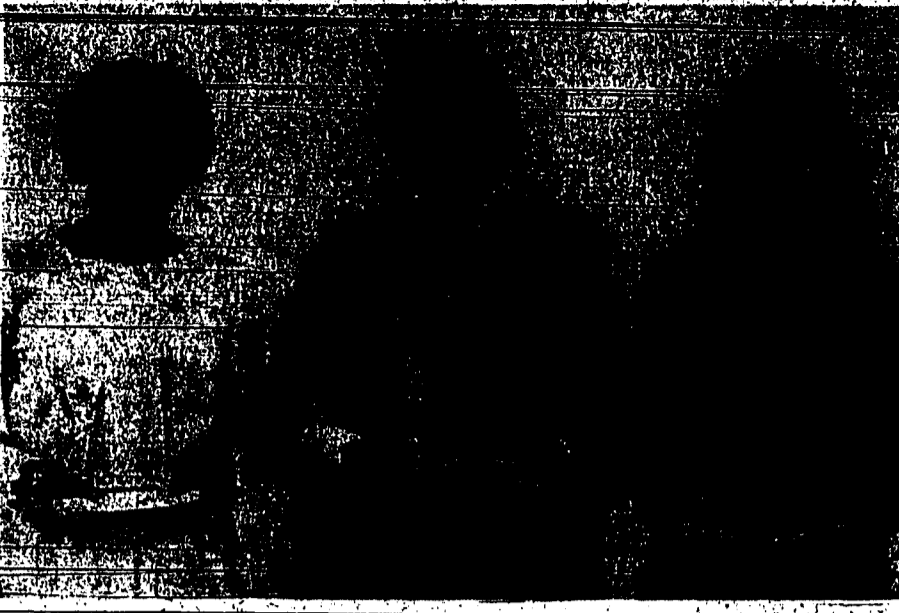

Remember that your plant will prefer semi-shade with light nearby in the summer. Don't ever expose the plant to the sun. In fall and winter, the slowest growing period, the plant can be moved a bit nearer the light source.

Good drainage for a container-bound plant is a must. Again, the condition for your house plant should be similar to its natural environment. Proper drainage can be achieved by using a porous soil which allows water as well as air to reach the plant. A basic recipe to follow for home-mixed soil is one-third loam, one-third sand, and one-third peat or perlite. Mixed soil can be purchased at your garden center.

The amount of water required by plants will vary. In their period of most active growth they usually need more; in fall and winter months they are dormant and the soil should be kept drier. A general rule is to water house plants until the entire soil base is wet. Then wait until the soil on the top is dry before watering again.

Most seeds or fertilizers are suggested by the nurserymen for the active growth period; but take care not to over-feed the plant.

The fall and winter months are great for gardening indoors. The selection of house plants is really endless, so pick the ones you like, learn what their needs are, and enjoy living with them.

Type Of Land Is Criterion For Livestock

BOISE (UPI) — Assistant attorney general William D. Collins has ruled that responsibility for livestock depends on what type of land the livestock runs on.

Chet Moulton, state director of aeronautics, asked Collins who was responsible for building a fence when sheep wandered across an airport runway. Moulton asked whether the sheep owner or the airport owner was liable.

North Side Herd Average Is Released

JEROME — Ben Russell, milk tester, reports the Goddard-Jerome-Lincoln Dairy Herd Improvement Association, unit No. two, had 21 herds averaging over 1.25 pounds of butterfat per cow during the month of October.

Herds listed in order of production with number of cows, milking average, daily pounds milk and average daily pounds fat are:

Henry Reid, Jerome, 53, 47.3, 1.63; Frank Houston, Jerome, 8, 45.6, 1.63; Don Thibault, Jerome, 57, 46.8, 1.53; Ron and Glean Taylor, Wendell, 49, 42.4, 1.51; George S. New Facility Put Into Operation

ONTARIO — Ore-Ida Foods, Inc. has officially put a $500,000 water-treatment facility into operation at its Ontario, Ore., factory.

This new water-pollution control system is the result of years of intensive research costing thousands of dollars. Its objective is to remove solids from factory waste water and meet, or exceed, state and Federal water pollution control regulations.

National Wool Growers Convention Agenda Listed

SALT LAKE CITY — Is the future bright for young people in the sheep business? To find out what the young people themselves think, the National Wool Growers Association will feature a panel of young sheepmen at its forthcoming convention in Denver, Colo., Jan. 21-24.

Panel participants will present their views of the future in their chosen occupation. "Since the lifeblood of any industry is its younger members, the panel should provoke some vigorous ideas," says James L. Powell, president of the National Wool Growers Association. Powell, only 39 himself, definitely believes there is a future in the sheep industry.

"Here Comes Tomorrow" is the subject chosen by Helen Joyce McLain of the Public Relations Department of International Harvester Co. Miss McLain, who will address the opening convention session, will give a glimpse of what American life is likely to be in 2000 A.D.

Coming back for his third appearance before the Wool Growers Convention is Fred Simmons of Chicago, Minn., a dynamic speaker who will deliver his latest address to convention delegates, entitled "Come Alive."

Two of the major problems facing sheepmen at this time are: (1) lack of adequate labor, and (2) continued depredations from predatory animals.

3 Malta 4-H'ers Win Ogden Event

MALTA — Three members of the Malta Fall Twisters 4-H Club placed first in the 4-H team judging at the Golden Spike Livestock Exposition in Ogden recently.

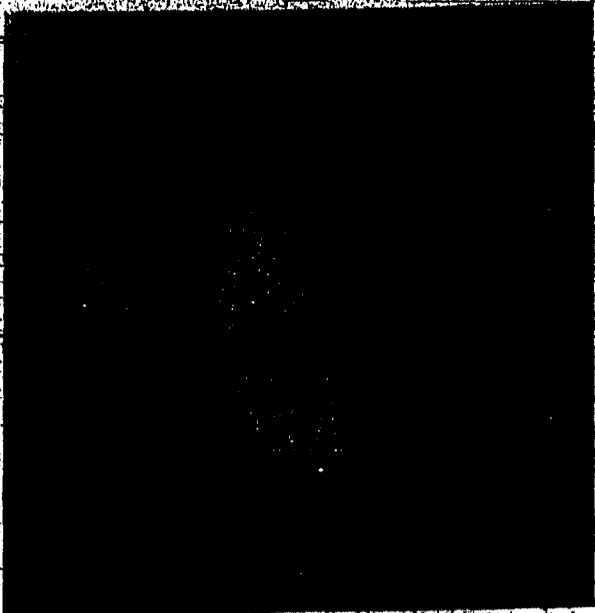

Members of the team were Patty Harper, Ronald Harper and Kemy Tracy. Young Mr. Tracy also received a trophy with his 4-H steers.

Another winner at the show was a steer owned by J. LeVere Tracy, Malta, which placed third in the heavy division of a carcass contest.

Speakers Listed

DENVER — Clifford M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., will be among several headline speakers at the 73rd annual convention of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Both men will address general sessions during the five-day convention slated for Jan. 24-28 in Washington, D.C.

Secondary Waste Treatment Lagoons Feasible For Spuds

BURLEY — At least 90 per cent of the water-polluting wastes from potato processing plants can be economically removed by secondary waste treatment lagoons used in addition to the conventional primary treatment facilities now in operation, according to the report, "Secondary Treatment of Potato Processing Wastes," released today by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Efficient secondary treatment of potato processing wastes is an urgent need, not only in Idaho, but elsewhere in the Pacific Northwest and the nation," James L. Agee, regional director, FWPCA's Northwest Region, said.

Salmon Farm Charged With Bond Offense

SALMON (UPI) — The Salmon River Livestock Commission, Inc., has been charged with violation of bonding regulations under the Packers and Stockyards Act.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said the administrative complaint was filed by the USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

The Packers and Stockyards Administration alleges that the Salmon River Livestock Commission has increased its volume of business but has failed to increase its bond coverage after being informed of regulations.

The firm will have the right to a hearing to determine if the evidence supports the charge. If the charge is proven, the firm's registration may be suspended until it supplies an adequate bond.

Grange Rite Is Conducted

MURTAUGH — The Northside Pomona-Grange drill team conferred the fourth degree in full form at the Murtaugh Grange meeting recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kirkpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Kay Biggers read an article from the Idaho Farmer reporting on tractor accidents on the farm.

It was announced that the annual Twin Falls County Pomona-Grange Christmas potluck supper and meeting will be held at 7 p.m., Dec. 13, at the Murtaugh Grange hall. The annual Murtaugh Grange Christmas meeting will be held Dec. 19.

Four Calves Have Heart "Boosters"

GAITHERSBURG, Md. — Four calves are living well with artificial "booster" hearts at a pasture near Gaithersburg, Md. They are part of an experiment by scientists at the National Heart Institute which will have far-reaching effects for humans. One of the calves has been alive and eating grass in the pasture for six weeks.

The goal of the program is to develop substitute hearts for trial in humans.

In these boosters, the power source is inside the animal, where in other such boosters, the power source was outside the animal. In these new tests the batteries inserted inside the calf's body are recharged by electrical induction.

Electrical energy is transmitted by means of a system of coils implanted under the calf's skin.

Cattle Group Official Says Market Rosier

ABILENE, Texas — "There are some very encouraging signs in the present cattle market," announced a leading cattle industry spokesman.

C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said, "The long-term market picture for both fed and feeder cattle seems to be getting brighter every day."

Speaking at the annual convention of the Texas Cattle Feeders' Association, the ANCA official said, "There is a good undertone to the present market which should become more evident during December as fed cattle supplies are cleared up. But we cannot expect any price progress for slaughter steers if cattlemen fail to continue to market their cattle in an orderly fashion."

McMillan said that ANCA market economists have analyzed the recent Six State Cattle-on-Feed Report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and "found it a good indicator toward a healthy market."

Briefly, the report showed that on Nov. 1 there were 13 per cent more cattle on feed in the six states covered by the report than there were a year ago. The states included in the report are Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, and Texas.

McMillan said, "While there are 13 per cent more cattle on feed than a year ago, placements were up 16 per cent and marketings were up 14 per cent. Texas showed the greatest jump in feedlot tenants, with a 40-per cent increase. Arizona was close behind, with an increase of 32 per cent."

Placements are also an important factor to watch, having an effect on the market. Placements were up 24 per cent in Iowa and Texas, while Arizona and Colorado showed 18-per cent advances. Marketings were led by Texas.

Now Is Time To Control Cattle Grubs

SHOSHONE — Cattle grubs can be controlled with systemic chemicals, says Fran Hopkins, county agricultural agent here.

The time to take action is in the fall before the damage is done.

The grubs are produced by the heel fly, a pest that causes cattle to run in nervous irritation during the summer. The fly lays its eggs on livestock. Grubs burrow into the skin. When they come out in late winter they make holes in the hide. Damage caused by the grubs, also known as warbles, is a serious loss to the industry every year.

Chemicals used in the fall help to reduce damage by killing the grubs in the animals' system. Some of the chemicals also control lice. A few lice that survive the summer are often found in ears, tail-switch and bellies of stock.

As weather gets cooler, they increase. Several generations develop in a winter.

An entire herd may be thus infested.

Reports Given To Knull Grangers

Reports highlighted the recent Knull Grange meeting in the Grange hall.

Giving reports were Mrs. Faye Sharp, decorating the Elms Lodge for the state convention; Elmer Annis, on the state park on Malad River, and Elmer Dossett, on the Federal Land Bank Association convention in Spokane.

The agricultural committee noted the number of farmers in the U. S. and a resolution to increase the state Grange dues was discussed.

Veterinarian Says Control Diseases By Management

BOISE — Fall and winter are the times of the year when animals are brought together for winter feeding and what happens — disease strikes.

Why?

There are many reasons, states Dr. Richard F. Hall, University of Idaho extension veterinarian, but mistakes in management play the major role.

Dr. Hall said disease cannot be considered as a separate entity, but is influenced by the sum total of all the management practices. Proper nutrition, adequate shelter, housing and lots, sanitation, proper vaccination programs and good parasite control are all included in good management.

Some of the factors livestock will face this winter that need to be controlled are:

— Stress. A general term which can be applied when any animal is exposed to unfavorable conditions. Stress can result from such things as inclement weather, poor feed, improper handling, improper vaccination or surgery, weaning and parasites. Anytime an animal is subjected to stress, it is much more susceptible to disease. If stress is high, illness often results. Severe stress alone can cause deaths.

— Weather. Probably the number one factor in the disease picture is weather. Nothing can be done about the weather, but something can be done about its effects. Adequate housing and lots can be furnished that can be easily cleaned. Animals require more energy food during extremely cold or wet weather. Animals should not be transported or worked during periods of bad weather.

— Shelter, housing and lots. Sufficient feeder space should be provided. Houses should be well ventilated. If animals are going in and out the temperature difference between inside and outside should not be too great.

Shelter from the weather should be provided if the animals remain outside. Fences should be in a good state of repair to avoid injuries. Farm machinery should not be stored in the same pens or houses as animals. Sufficient room should be provided for the animals.

A separate lot should be provided in which newly purchased animals can be isolated. Facilities to isolate sick animals also should be provided. A good set of animal handling facilities (corral, chutes, etc.) will save time, money and animals.

GROWING WALNUTS IS POSSIBLE

Interest in walnut culture has zoomed in recent years. I'm going to try and unravel a considerable amount of confusion which exists concerning the so-called "English" Walnut. It's also called the Persian Walnut and a new strain is known as "Carpathian" walnut. These are all one and the same (Juglans regia). The difference is in hardness only. The term "English" walnut is misleading because the nut won't grow in England (summers too cool for nut development). It got its name from the fact that it was transported from Mediterranean countries in English ships.

The Persian Walnut is a tender strain of "English Walnut" which grows in California. The Carpathian walnut was brought to this country from Canada by a Missionary, Rev. Paul G. Crath.

In Canada these nuts thrived in a region where the winter temperature often dropped to 50 degrees below zero. So, the term "Carpathian" is simply a hardy strain of the Persian or "English" walnut, Juglans Regia.

A strange thing about this cold-hardy race of Carpathian Walnut is that which it can withstand low winter temperatures of minus 40 degrees F. This same variety can be injured at 10 below zero. This often happens when a sudden temperature change in later winter or early spring occurs, and it often causes severe damage especially on the southern or southwest side of the tree.

Walnuts need summer heat to mature the entire fruit. The husk and shell may appear normal but the kernels will be shrunken and poorly filled in a cool or short summer.

If you're looking for something different to grow (or to give a friend) why not the hardy Carpathian English walnut? Two trees insure pollination and they're good for lawns or woodlands.

GARDENIA CARE: Have the leaves of your gardenia turned yellow and started to drop? This could be due to hot, drafty room which often causes leaves and new growth to turn black at the tips, or plants to completely defoliate.

CONTROL: Keep the soil sufficiently moistened, and place it in a tray or dish of crushed stones. Gardenias like a bright window out of direct sun. Often buds will fall to form if night temperature is above 70 degrees or below 45 degrees.

Also a lack of light and insufficient acidity are other reasons why buds form. The real name for the florist's gardenia is G. jasminoides var. veitchii, Jewberry.

HOME GROWN LIVE TREE: Gardeners like to try the impossible! Recently we stated it was difficult to start olives from seeds, although it could be done. We succeeded using seeds from black (ripe) olives rather than the green ones since the green olives were immature. One of our readers wrote: "I think I have an olive tree growing! Over a year ago I planted a pit from a green olive (which you discouraged me from doing) and much to my surprise it's up." Another reader writes: "A friend of mine tells me that olives, when first harvested, are poisonous and must be processed to remove the objectionable matter before packing. Is that true?" My answer: I'm not sure. If any one knows the answer to this, please write and tell me. Also, if you've had luck starting olives from seed, please write us of your experience.

POINSETTIA PLANT CARE: Will plants started from cuttings from a modern-day poinsettia have the same color characteristics as the parent? Yes, while it's illegal to start patented plants from cuttings, they do produce the same color as the original plant. A new poinsettia called Paul Mikkelsen, a red hybrid resulting from crossing a red seedling with a white type keeps for a long time. Keep the plant in a south window at 65 to 70 degree room temperature and it'll put on a show for several months.

While this hybrid is more tolerant to adverse conditions, do not water it too frequently, or wilt will set in. Water the pot full to the rim just as the leaves begin to droop and it will be happy. Feed with a liquid plant food every three or four weeks. If you've been one who's put the poinsettia in a dark room at night, you can discontinue the practice after the end of November.

PRIVET TROUBLES: We've had a lot of letters asking about Privet, a popular hedge plant. One major problem is twig-blight or Anthracnose. This disease causes drying out of leaves, blighting of twigs and finally death of entire plant. Control: Use resistant varieties such as Amur privet or the California privet. Meanwhile, in existing hedges, prune out and burn diseased branches. Spray with Captan or Ferbam at weekly intervals starting in spring. Privets have root diseases which spread from one plant to another. Dig up infested plants and burn.

It's a good idea to dig up soil where plant grew and replace it with fresh soil. Drench the spot with formaldehyde solution, one-tablespoon-to-a-gallon of water. Root-rot diseases are extremely difficult to control and sometimes they spread so fast within a year's time. A serious insect pest is thrips, giving the leaves a grayish, dusty appearance. Malathion or Sevin checks this insect. Mealybugs are also common on privet. Spray with malathion in spring, and drench the soil with lindane to control the ground mealybug.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: A. S. of Twin Falls: "I'm confused about using mulches for shrubs: mumus, strawberries, roses, etc. Should plants be mulched or not? What are the best materials?"

The purpose of a mulch is not so much to keep a plant "warm", as it is to keep a soil in a frozen state so as to prevent rapid fluctuations in soil temperature. In other words, to prevent freezing and thawing, which in turn causes the plants to literally rise (called "heaving") out of the soil. Usually, a mulch is applied after the plants have lost their leaves, or after the soil has frozen. "Soft" or herbaceous plants such as mums, delphiniums, iris, should not be mulched, as they are apt to rot. Generally speaking, strawberries can be mulched in late November, evergreens any time in late fall. No one agrees as to when roses should be mulched ("mounded with soil" but anytime before a real hard freeze is OK. Trees and shrubs can have a three or four inch layer of mulch any time of the year.

Mulch materials to use: Straw for strawberries, evergreen boughs, soil, straw or hay are okay for roses. Pine needles make a good mulch for almost anything. If used two to three inches deep. Other mulching materials included: shredded bark, cocobean shells, excelsior, and manure if available.

G. R. of Holbrook: "Would like to ask your advice about roses. Ours do not do well while our neighbor's next door are beautiful! I know it can't be the soil. What kind of fertilizer is needed?"

Fertilizer is just one factor in rose growing. If I had to put my finger on a single factor which causes poor roses, I'd say disease, and this includes mildew and blackspot. Mildew and blackspot weakens roses and prevents blooming.

Preventing and curing these diseases is not easy. It takes weekly applications to keep the problems down. For mildew try Milidex or Karathane, or an all purpose rose dust. For blackspot try Folpet, or the all purpose dust.

I'd like to hear from rose growers who have the disease problems solved. Please write and tell us how you do it and we'll pass this information along.

African Notes Progress In Karakuls

JOHANNASBURG, South Africa — South African scientists are making good progress in breeding white karakul sheep to meet the demands of color-conscious modern fashion.

South Africa's minister of agriculture, D.C. H. Uys, told the new Karakul Farmers' Association in southwest Africa that world demand for grey karakul pelts had been growing in recent years.

They were easier to bleach and dye than the usual black variety, but white pelts were even better, he said. They needed no bleaching and could be brightly colored to meet the demands of fashion.

The trends towards a lighter karakul pelt had led to a successful attempt at state experimental farms to produce white karakul lambs with shorter, glossier hair.

A new market could be created for white karakul, Mr. Uys said.

Workers Repair Farm Pond Break

RICHFIELD — A break in a farm pond on the Richfield East Main Canal has been repaired by Big Wood Canal workers. The 6-foot hole was discovered by Vern Spencing, canal employee who was checking on the pond fill. Water had been turned into the canal from Magic for a three day domestic run.

The pond, which is 10 to 12 feet deep, is located on the Charles Maestas ranch. It is used by the canal company in depositing operations.

The flood water ran from the Maestas ranch overland on the Richfield East Main Canal, Glen Beach and Valley Damages. No damage was reported as a result of the water being diverted. When the water was turned back into the canal, the workers will be paid for their services.

Collective Farm In Russia Involves Many Families

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — How you going to keep 'em down on the farm? It's easy on a collective apparently — if you offer such inducements as a guaranteed annual income, four months vacation each year, your own house and garden plot, and a movie every day during the winter farming lull.

A visit to a huge collective about an hour's drive from the capital of the Uzbek Republic offers a detailed view of how a state-owned farm operates. Our group spent the good part of one day watching cultivation and harvesting what must be a showcase for the Soviets — a 34,550-acre agricultural complex involving 1,500 families.

The manager of "Kizil Uzbekistan" farm is Anvarogam Zayov, a genial man with sun-weathered face who gave us a grand tour from the cotton fields to the cattle barns.

The farm, actually a self-contained community, is located in the rich foothills of the Upper Asia mountain mass and its major crop is cotton. The whole of this oasis is known for its prize cotton, picked by hand on this particular farm because the state buys all the cotton and in turn furnishes all the seeds, the manager told us. Some acreage also is devoted to other production — 2,000 acres of orchard and vineyard, another 1,037 acres in hay and other crops for feeding the cattle, still other acreage in mulberry groves for the farm also produces silk.

Zayov proved great on statistics. The farm has 2,000 cattle, including 620 milch cows. It produces 29,000 tons of products in an average year, 4,500 tons of it cotton, 2,600 tons of vegetables — annual income is 4,550,000 rubles ($5,050,000) and the average monthly income of its workers is a guaranteed 105 to 110 rubles ($118.55 to $122.10). Sixty-five per cent of income goes to the farmers and other workers that actually add up to 10,000 people, 18 per cent goes to the capital needed for running the farm, the state gets the rest.

Education is provided through eight schools, five of them offering a full eight years, comparable to a U.S. high school. Some 620 children are in four nursery and kindergartens on the farm.

Government of the farm is by 12 men elected to two-year terms by the workers. It is this dozen which decides how much and what to grow.

Hints Offered For Garden In Bottle

Over a hundred years ago a London physician named Nathaniel Ward discovered that he could grow ferns and mosses inside glass cases. His development, called the "Wardian" bottle, can give adults as well as children hours of gardening enjoyment during the winter months ahead.

Some simple instructions provided by The American Association of Nurserymen can help you develop your own garden in a bottle.

A brandy snifter, a fish bowl, or a large bottle will make a good container (or, to give it the correct name, a terrarium). The size and shape is up to you, although it is good to be able to cover over the opening at the top after planting.

Wash, dry and polish the container until it sparkles. Then pour in a half inch of dry charcoal flakes. On top of that add several inches of dry sandy soil. Some bottle gardeners place moss, green side up, on the charcoal and then add the sandy soil.

Now you're ready for planting. Most small house plants that thrive in a moist atmosphere will be happy in a bottle garden. You may want to use Wandering Jew (Zebrina pendula), Pellionia, Miniature Ivy and small ferns. The Creeping Fig Plant and the Prayer Plant are also wise choices. If you need ideas, seek advice at your nursery or garden center.

The most difficult part in beginning a bottle garden is the actual planting process, which is very similar to constructing a ship inside a bottle. Long instruments are needed to be your "hands" inside the container and handy tools can be created by taping a fork and a spoon to sticks or poles.

After planting the miniature garden you have designed, add water until the soil is damp, then cork the bottle. The plants will give off moisture which will accumulate on the sides of the container and return to the roots. This "rain" provides sufficient moisture for about a year, and so watering your garden once each twelve months will usually be sufficient.

Locate the bottle in good light, but not direct sun, then sit back and watch it grow.

Idaho Meat Inspection Plan Praised

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Agriculture was commended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for "efforts and achievements in developing adequate state meat inspection programs."

In a letter received by Stanley I. Trentham, Idaho Commissioner of Agriculture recently, acting Secretary of Agriculture, J. Phil Campbell, Washington, D. C., noted that Idaho has made "significant progress" in developing its meat inspection program.

Under the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967, the U.S. Department of Agriculture was authorized to cooperate with and assist the states in developing meat inspection programs in compliance with the Act. States which have made sufficient progress during the prescribed two-year period from enactment are being granted an additional year to complete development of programs which will meet federal standards by Dec. 15, 1970.

"We feel that the past cooperation on the project with your state officials has been beneficial to both the state and federal meat inspection programs. Together, I am positive was can achieve a uniform and adequate program embracing the total meat supply," the letter concluded.

In complying with the federal law, Idaho enacted a state law effective July 1, 1969, prescribing sanitation requirements, appropriated funds for a fully adequate program and has made substantial progress in bringing Idaho meat plants into full compliance with sanitation requirements.

Idaho Meat Gives Up Status

PORTLAND — Pacific Supply Cooperative will give up its tax-exempt status at the end of the current fiscal year under changes in articles and by-laws that were approved by the membership at the firm's 38th annual meeting, which concluded recently at Memorial Coliseum.

A Portland-based regional cooperative, Pacific provides supply and market services to 84 local agricultural cooperatives throughout the northwest. Its fiscal year ends June 30, 1970.

American Beef Is Featured At Swiss Exhibition

WASHINGTON — American beef was a featured item of the U. S. Food and Agriculture Exhibit in the third Swiss International Catering Exhibition at Basle, Switzerland.

The exhibit was sponsored by USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service in cooperation with the entire American food industry. A special stand was incorporated into the exhibit for promotion of beef samples of U. S. Choice and prime quality beef, and between 600-700 samples were distributed daily to visitors.

Beef recipes also were demonstrated in a theater kitchen area of the U. S. exhibit.

Roast beef and steak were major items of a buffet reception co-hosted by the U. S. Ambassador to Switzerland.

Growers Elect Four Directors

PAUL — Two new and two incumbent directors were elected to the board of directors for Potato Growers of Idaho, District 9, during the election held recently in Rupert.

Elected by unanimous ballot were L. A. Gillette, incumbent, Paul Melvin Gibson, incumbent, and Kenneth Martin, both Jerome, and Joe Thompson, Hazelton.

Incumbents up for re-election but defeated were Merrill Paslay and Joe Taylor, both Paul.

The four will serve three-year terms.

Farmers May Soon Face Severe Credit Squeeze, Says Farm Lending Agency Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers are may face a severe credit squeeze in a few years, the head of the nation's biggest cooperative farm lending agency warned today.

Edwin A. Jaenke, in government of the Farm Credit Administration, (FCA) which oversees a nationwide network of farmer-owned cooperative lending agencies, said.

He said competition for "good money" is growing from other urban and rural sources — some of them apparently willing to pay higher rates than farmers.

Jaenke said "Production Credit Associations, local FCA units that make short and intermediate-term loans to farmer-members, now have enough money to meet the needs of qualified borrowers — but at 'ridiculous rates.'"

Last week, Jaenke said, the an 8.75 per cent interest rate we're concerned as to whether there is going to be enough money available for us and other agricultural lenders," Jaenke said.

Another credit leader, meanwhile, said it would take an all-out effort by commercial banks, insurance companies and other government and private lenders, as well as the FCA system, to meet agriculture's soaring credit needs.

Farmers now borrow roughly $50 billion a year from all sources, including about $10 billion from the FCA system. Julian B. Thayer, a Middlefield, Conn., farmer who heads an FCA-sponsored commission studying future credit needs, estimated farm use of borrowed money will go to a total of $100 billion annually within a decade.

Thayer told a recent credit conference some traditionally-important farm lenders have been reducing or eliminating their farm loans to seek more profitable outlets for money. In addition, Thayer said, farmers seeking credit in the future will compete with growing investment demands in urban development and welfare programs.

"The combination of greater competition for money and fewer credit sources for farmers could have adverse effects on agriculture in the long run," Thayer said.

The FCA system, in addition to the production credit associations, also includes units specializing in long-term mortgage credit and in credit for cooperatives.

Davis' 13-Point Spree In First Half Helps CSI Defeat Western Wyoming

Veteran Al Davis exploded with 13 points in a 10-minute period of the first half Thursday night to stake College of Southern Idaho to a big lead and the Golden Eagles coasted in for a 71-53 decision over Western Wyoming Community College of Rock Springs.

Davis, hitting on an assortment of twisting shots underneath mostly but adding a jump from the foul line and a driving crippler, hit six straight points as the Eagles burst away from an 18-12 lead. He added seven more in the final five minutes of the half to help CSI into a 36-19 lead.

The Eagles, who also got fine board play and tipping, punched from Janky Tim Bassett, turned on their strongest defensive showing of the young season in the first half but became a little less meticulous after mounting a 26-point lead early in the second half. Western Wyoming, getting 18 points from Rich Hutchings, chipped back to within 16 points with about five minutes left but never could break that mark.

It was the second decision for CSI, which travels to Boise to play the Boise State College frosh Saturday night.

Western Wyoming led at 42 before Ron Behagen and Steve Hegens shoved the Eagles ahead at 64 and they never trailed again. Behagen hit a three-point play for a 9-5 bulge with just over four minutes gone before Hutchings nipped Western Wyoming to within one. Bassett, Morris Moe, Gary Quesnell and Hegens connected without a Wyoming reply for a quick 16-point bulge but the visitors, with Hutchings getting four points, cut the margin to five. That brought up Davis' first six-point spree and the Eagles weren't in trouble thereafter.

Quesnell, the little speedster from Murtaugh, turned in a fine defensive job on Wyoming ace Leonard Taylor. Taylor wound up with eight points but got four of them in the final 90 seconds.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The American League consideration of the transfer of the Seattle Pilots to Seattle. Approval of the transfer of ownership is being requested from the league at the winter meetings here.

League spokesman Bob Holbrook said the fact that the final decision was not reached by Thursday's lengthy session "did not necessarily mean that there has been a major hitch in the transfer."

"There are a great number of ramifications when the ownership of a club changes," he said. "There are a great number of things that need to be done into. That's what we're doing at this meeting and what they will be doing again Friday."

Holbrook did not rule out, however, that some major problem concerning approval had been encountered.

The Pilots had attendance problems in 1969, their first year as an expansion team in the American League. They also had problems concerning their stadium home and some American League people have been reported as feeling that some of the stipulations agreed upon when the Pilots were admitted to the league have not been fulfilled.

Holbrook said that representatives of both the present and the contemplated ownership appeared before league officials and took part in Thursday's discussions.

At the time Danz and his group came into the picture, there also had been an offer from a group in Texas which wished to acquire the franchise for transfer to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Jerome's Wrestlers Beat Declo

JEROME—The Jerome Tigers piled up enough points in the early going to withstand the usual 10-point Osterhout finish and defeat the Declo Hornets 30-26 in wrestling Thursday night.

Jerome had to forfeit at 98 pounds but led it with three consecutive pins at 155, 185 and 175 pounds. Dan and Tim Osterhout got the last 10 points for Declo.

Jerome is off until Dec. 16 when it goes to Valley while Declo will participate in the Valley Invitational Monday and Tuesday.

Results of the matches: Jerome men listed first, include 98 pounds, Jerome forfeited to Darrington; 107 pounds, Mick Otto pinned Matthews; 115 pounds, Mike Diehl was decided by Osterhout; 123 pounds, Spencer was pinned by Darrington; 130 pounds, Hess pinned Bell; 136 pounds, Bob Campbell pinned Kidd; 145 pounds, Rick Barnes was decided by Kelsey; 155 pounds, Brad Blumer pinned Hirai; 165 pounds, Dan Stone pinned Whipple; 175 pounds, Ted Schmidt pinned Wickle; 185 pounds, Tony Watson was pinned by Don Osterhout, and heavyweight, Dave Hessler was pinned by Tim Osterhout.

Idaho, BSC To Explore Grid Schedule

Athletic directors Ed Knecht of University of Idaho and Lyle Smith of Boise State College will meet next week to discuss football schedules between the two schools.

The University of Idaho athletic board Thursday voted to "pursue scheduling" of Boise State as soon as dates were available. But the board also noted that the university would be unable to break any previous commitments. Idaho currently is scheduled solidly through 1977 and has 1978 and 1979 partially filled. The need for scheduling between the two arose last week when Boise State was admitted into Big Sky Conference membership.

Idaho athletic officials noted that basketball scheduling on a home-and-home basis would begin with the 1970-71 season and the two already are slated to meet in wrestling, tennis, and baseball this year.

Boise State Coach Tony Knap, immediately after being admitted into the Big Sky, suggested that Idaho "bend" and break some "contracted" games with other schools to allow Idaho and BSC to play in football immediately.

Maravich Hits 43, LSU Tips Beavers

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Louisiana State's Pete Maravich poured in 43 points Thursday night to spark the Tigers to a season-opening 94-72 victory over Oregon State.

Maravich's performance sent him soaring ahead of five past scoring leaders and left him only 617 points shy of Cincinnati's Oscar Robinson as college basketball's all-time top scorer with the whole season before him.

The All-American senior, two-time national scoring champion, registered a record 2,286 points his junior and sophomore years.

Gibson Leads In PGA Tournament

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Dave Gibson of Billings, Mont., shot a five-under-par 65 Thursday to take the lead in the 36-hole Rocky Mountain PGA golf tournament.

One stroke back was Larry Nielsen of Salt Lake City followed by Arnold Haneke of Boise and Bill Korms of Provo with 67s.

Bill Farkis of Las Vegas came in with a 68 while John Kinsey of Boise and Ken Sparks of Nampa, carded 69s.

30,000 Sic Longhorns On Hogs In 'Texas-Size' Pep Rally

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Top-rated Texas Thursday began tapering off its workouts in preparation for Saturday's Southwest Conference championship clash with third-ranked Arkansas.

The Longhorns, bolstered by the state's history and a telegram of support from a U.S. moon walker, will "do their thing" Saturday in hopes of nailing down the conference title, the host spot in the Cotton Bowl, and the national championship.

Coach Darrell Royal, the one cool head in a Texas capitol city caught up in the furor over the game, calmly predicts that the team which "does its thing" best will win.

Texas has consistently moved the ball on the ground this year, and has been a high scorer. Arkansas has held its opponents to few points, and has been tough on the rush.

In Royal's diagnosis, the spoils of the game—including at least one version of the national championship—will go to the eleven which can get through the game with the fewest mistakes.

President Richard Nixon will present the winner with a plaque after the game proclaiming that team the national champ in the centennial year of college football.

The Longhorns Wednesday night got the biggest sendoff ever accorded to a Texas team. Some 30,000 people jammed into the east side of Memorial Stadium for the "victory rally."

Royal entered the rally riding in an orange Cadillac convertible with a white interior. Astronaut Alan Bean, still in quarantine after the Apollo 12 mission, sent his support to the Longhorns via telegram. "You can bet your moon dust I'll be watching on TV," Bean said.

Rooney Tired Of Being Good Loser

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The good loser image is beginning to pall for Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who has suffered through 10 consecutive defeats this season.

"I'm not the good loser I'm pictured to be," said the disconsolate Rooney, who learned the game on Pittsburgh sandlots. "They say that about me, I suppose, because I never complain after we lose. But I'm very unhappy about the losses, but keep it to myself."

Next question: How do you endure those losses?

"I can take getting beat," Rooney said. "That's hard enough. But the worst of it is when the players themselves get discouraged. I want a full team of 40 players who play in every game as though they are out to win the championship."

Rooney singled out rookie defensive tackle Joe Greene, his No. 1 draft choice, as a fine example of a player who never gives up.

"I've noticed Greene never gives up. Even if an opponent gets the ball—either on a pass or on a run—and even if he is 20 yards ahead.

Greene keeps going after him. That's the way I want all the players to do. We must develop a winning complex. "Offensively, the team fell apart. Defensively, the team stood up. We never seem to get that momentum during a game to win."

The Steelers, who have never won a division title since they came into the National Football League in 1933, beat Detroit in its opener for their only victory this season.

Faux Overpowers Neilson-Miller

Faux Cigar Store, getting 17 points from Larry Shark, dropped Neilson and Miller 65-45 Thursday night in Twin Falls city league action.

Ron Blackwood paced the losers with 12.

Neal Larsen hit for 12 as the Beangrowers toppled the Cove 34-28. Kincaid had 7 for the Cove.

Theisen Motor had an easy time belting Uhligs 47-27 behind the 16-point effort of Gaylen Erickson. Don Earl had seven for the losers.

Arizona Topples Weber By 72-68

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Bill Warner hit two free throws with 2:39 to play and broke a 68-68 tie and the University of Arizona gained a 72-68 victory over Weber State Thursday night.

The game had been Arizona's until the final six minutes when Weber State tied it up three times, the last on a jump shot by Bill Orr.

Warner, the game's top scorer with 24 points, put Arizona ahead to stay after he fouled by Dave Sackelwitz.

San Diego State Rated Big Favorite Over Boston U.

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—San Diego State, which is trying its hardest to break into the big time, and once-beaten Boston University clash in the Pasadena Bowl Saturday with the Aztecs rated a solid choice to finish their football season with an 11-0 record.

Quarterback Dennis Shaw, who led the nation in total offense as a senior, figures to be too much for the Terriers. Shaw passed for 3,174 yards this year. He hit 198 of 334 attempts and 39 of them went for 39 touchdowns, an NCAA record.

The choice of Boston University as an opponent didn't please San Diego State, which moved up to university division status this season. Coach Don Coryell explained: "What can we prove by playing a college division team? That's just what we've been trying to get away from."

"We'd rather play someone like Florida State, Arizona State or Air Force. We have nothing to gain by playing this season."

Game director Don Anthony said the Pasadena Bowl got the Aztecs the best opponent it could. "Those bigger schools figured they'd only damage their reputation if they came out here and played San Diego State," he declared.

The Aztecs were nearly ambushed last weekend—and had to score twice in the final period to beat Cal State Long Beach 36-32.

Boston, which tied Dartmouth as the No. 2 team on the East Coast behind unbeaten Penn State in the Lambert Trophy balloting, hasn't played since Nov. 22 when it ripped Temple 21-3.

While the Aztecs' offense was the best in the nation with 5,322 yards, the Boston defense allowed less than 200 yards total offense a game. The opposition was able to average only 67.6 yards a game on the ground.

The first session begins at 2:30 p.m. Monday with the second at 7:30 that evening. The championships will be decided starting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The two Monday sessions will include 60 matches with 48 slated for the final night. Two mats will be in action at all times. Scoring will be distributed over eight places on a 12-9-7-5-4-3-2-1 basis, plus pin and advancement points.

Liston Meets Martin For NABF Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Sony Liston, the once-feared bomber who must be close to the end of a career that began 17 years ago, is a 12-5 favorite to beat Leotis Martin of Philadelphia in a 12-round fight Saturday.

The winner of the internationally televised fight may be given a bout with Joe Frazier. In fact, the newly organized North American Boxing Federation said it will recognize the winner as its heavyweight champion.

Liston, who claims to be 37, lost his title to Cassius Clay on a first-round knockout at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1964. He failed to regain the crown in a rematch at Lewiston, Maine, a year later.

Since then the ponderous heavyweight has piled up 15 straight wins but his competition was suspect. For example, his last victim was Sonny Moore at Phoenix, Ariz., two months ago.

Fourteen of his 15 consecutive victories were by knockout. His career record is 49-3 with 38 knockouts.

Florida State Drops Oregon

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Big Dave Cowen and Vernell Ellzy scored 21 points each Thursday to lead Florida State to a 100-84 victory over Oregon.

Cowen's 19 rebounds also led a 52-39 Seminole backboard blitz over the Webfoots. Larry Holliday grabbed 11 rebounds for Oregon.

Oregon kept it close during most of the first half and the Seminoles managed only a 46-41 intermission lead.

Pipers Slip By New Orleans

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Arvesta Kelly's two free throws with five seconds to go gave the skidding Pittsburgh Pipers a 94-93 victory over New Orleans in an American Basketball Association game Thursday night.

At Home Yankees Swap Pepitone For Curt Blefary

JEROME — The Jerome Tigers will host American Falls' Beavers in the Jerome High School gymnasium Friday night instead of traveling out of district as previously reported.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Iron-willed Joe Pepitone and iron-handed Curt Blefary, both of whom safely can be labeled problems, figured in a one-for-one interleague swap Thursday between the New York Yankees and the Houston Astros.

The Yankees picked up a bit of a bonus on the deal in that they finally reacquired a 26-year-old outfielder-first baseman-catcher whose way they paid through college.

But the departure of Pepitone from the Yankees far overshadowed the trading of Blefary by the Astros, who had acquired him from Baltimore a year ago.

Pepitone, who wears his hair longer than any other player in the major leagues and even carries his own hair dryer with him on the road trips, originally reported to the Yankees in 1962 and some felt he might become the club's new leader following Mickey Mantle's retirement last March.

The carefree, controversial 29-year-old first baseman-outfielder never came close, although he did lead the club with 27 home runs while driving in 70 runs and finishing with a .242 average.

Instead of leading the Yankees, he actually took off and left them twice last season without notifying them beforehand. After he was fined $500 and suspended for his second AWOL he returned contritely and apologized to his teammates and the Yankees front office.

Blefary also was signed originally by the Yankees, who paid his tuition while he attended Wagner College at Staten Island, N.Y., and then Towson State College later when he went to Baltimore on a first-year waiver claim on April 29, 1963.

Brewer Fires 65 For Thomas Classic Lead

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Dallas' golfer Gay Brewer, predicting "some good scores," sank an eagle and seven birdies on his way to posting a record-tying 65 and the lead among the early finishers Thursday in the first round of the $125,000 Danny-Thomas Golf Classic.

"I think there will be some good scores," said Brewer after rounding the 6,964-yard layout at the Diplomat Hotel's Presidential Golf Course. "It's a matter of driving well."

Tommy Aaron, in with an impressive 67, had predicted someone would beat his score. "I like the course," said Aaron. "But I wouldn't be surprised if someone beats my score."

Mason Rudolph, Jerry Pittman, Homero Blancas, Tommy Bolt and Hal Underwood were in a pack at 68.

Tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, fresh from his first win in 15 months last week at the Heritage Golf Classic, teed off at noon and posted four successive birdies.

Brewer double-bogeyed 15, but recouped when he dropped a 20-foot putt for his eagle at 17.

"It was my best round since Philadelphia," said Brewer, who has picked up $383,000 on the PGA tour and stands 18th in the money ranking.

Pittman, a 33-year-old golfer from Locust Valley, N.Y., hit four birdies and remarked he's never seen larger greens this side of Scotland.

"If you get the right club in your hand you can do pretty good," said Pittman.

Chi-Chi Rodriguez and Gardner Dickinson shot 65 in Tuesday's pro-am event to set the new course record and the feat was matched Wednesday by Larry Hinson, in the second pro-am event.

George Archer of Gilroy, Calif., had a hot 32 as he turned the corner but blew it on the back nine with four bogeys.

It has been estimated that American tourists will spend over $31 billion on domestic travel by the end of 1969.

It's the holiday season. 1795. Jacob Beam and his family are buckboarding it around the Kentucky countryside. Chinning with the neighbors. Giving gifts. Jacob Beam is giving his closest friends a bit of himself. Some Beam Bourbon. It comes right from his own choicest grains. His own secret formula. And his secret knack for making the best-tasting, lightest Bourbon within a two days' ride. It's a rare gift, because Jacob never seems to be able to make enough to keep up with the demand.

Today, T. Jeremiah Beam, pictured here, makes Jim Beam Bourbon just like Jacob did, generations of Beams ago. And he's gift-wrapped it in a handsome holiday package. Give it to some of your friends and you'll sort of be doing what old Jacob did. You'll be giving a bit of yourself. And that's still the rarest gift of all. "World's finest Bourbon since 1795."

Give Jim Beam.
A rare gift for 175 Decembers.

JERRY HIGGINS

... has been given a superior job performance award while serving as crew chief on a flight line at a helicopter base near Saigon. Spec. 5 Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Higgins, Twin Falls, was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1966 and has been in the Army since Aug. 1967. As recipient of the Squadron Superior Job Performance Award, he was given a $25 saving bond.

Seaman Recruit E. Lorene Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Benson, Shoshone recently spent a two week leave with her parents. Upon completion of the 10 week basic training period at Recruit Training Command (Women) Bainbridge, Md., Miss Benson was selected to receive the Merit Award for outstanding achievement presented only to the recruit having received the highest overall average in the graduating companies based on scholastic and military achievement.

Benson

She received the Merit award with appropriate ceremonies at the Graduation Review held Nov. 14. Seaman Apprentice Benson has returned to Bainbridge, Md., for further schooling.

Tech. Sgt. Gary M. Nemnich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Meryl E. Nemnich, Twin Falls, is on duty at Vung Tau Air Base, Vietnam. An aircraft maintenance technician, Sgt. Nemnich is assigned to the 536th Tactical Airlift Squadron, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific Area. He previously served at Tachikawa Air Base, Japan.

He was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1958.

A divorce was granted to Mrs. Geraldine K. Schmidt from Gene Thomas Schmidt. The plaintiff's former name, Geraldine K. Heaton, was restored.

Warranty deeds were filed by F. K. Clark to Jack N. Adams; Mark J. Rosendick to Thomas W. Bush, and Clifton E. Sheppard to Melvin A. Magneill.

A. Mike Farwell, 17, 609 W. 21st St., Burley, was fined $15 by Judge Willis for failure to stop at a railroad crossing. Jay W. Hutchinson, 16, 483 Grandview, Burley, was fined $32 by Judge Willis for speeding.

R. L. Draney, 16, 1226 Oriental Ave., Burley, was fined $10 by Judge Willis for expired inspection sticker and $20 for following too closely. Elden A. Tanner, 35, Paul, was fined $13 by Judge Willis for speeding.

Owen E. Jones, 70, 417 W. 16th St., Burley, was fined $15 for driving with a top light violation. Marjorie Musto, 53, 601 Conant Ave., Burley, was fined $10 by Judge Willis for no driver's license and $40 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Fined for speeding by Bliss Justice of the Peace Ruth Parsons were Douglas Johnson, Brigham City, Utah; Arthur J. Krohn, Boise, and Lee W. Henderson, Boise, each $19; Forest Scott, Richfield, and Franklin Chase, Boise, each $18; L. Jean Fries, Declo; Lynn Clayton, Mountain Home, Jerry Lynn Gafford, Twin Falls, and Ralph Jacobson, Boise, each $15; Travis L. Bowen, Idaho Falls, and Mark A. Jolley, Bruneau, both $20.

LID 14 was set up despite oral protests against the project in the area; LID 13 was earlier set up in the area to provide for water and sewer installation.

The council also accepted a motion for drilling and testing a well in the Big Valley Park and bids will be opened for the project Jan. 6. Bids on two new police cars and a new line truck for the electrical department will also be opened Jan. 6.

A general discussion of an irregular district for the newly annexed Grandview Addition, in the northeast section of the city, led to the waiving of the three readings of an ordinance creating the Local Improvement District there.

Councilman Harold Carraway was appointed chairman of a street committee composed of other members of the council whose duty it was to approve the assessment rolls for the LID 12. The rolls were approved and a public hearing scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 6 during the regular council meeting.

Average cost per lot in the LID is $47.40 which will be divided over a 10-year period if bonds can be sold for the project. The LID was recently completed in the eastern portion of the city.

PAPAL PLANS NOTED

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican said Wednesday Pope Paul VI will celebrate Christmas mass in a Roman church and at the Vatican. There had been some speculation he would go outside Rome.

Solon's Wife Vows Return From Ireland

DUBLIN (UPI)—Former Democratic Sen. Daniel Brewster of Maryland will return to the United States to fight briefly charges "as soon as he is fit," his wife said today.

"My husband is a patient in a neurological unit of an Irish hospital," she said. "He is anxious to return to the United States to answer the charges that have been brought against him and he will go back as soon as he is fit."

A federal grand jury indicted Brewster Monday after a six month investigation on charges of accepting $24,500 to influence his vote on Senate legislation affecting postal rates.

News Of Record

MINIDOTA COUNTY
Rupert Police Blotter

A 49-year-old Rupert woman, Hanna Uhl, escaped injury Monday afternoon when her 1966 Lincoln stalled inside the guard arms near the 8th Street railroad crossing in Rupert and was struck by a Union Pacific train, engine number 278.

Damage to the car was estimated at $460, while only $50 damage was done to the train engine, conducted by Donald Kennedy, 46, Pocatello. Mrs. Uhl was cited for driving on an expired driver's license.

Sheriff's Blotter

Michael Alexander, 16, Rupert, was cited for failure to yield the right of way Monday afternoon following a two-car collision a mile south of Rupert on Highway 24-25.

Alexander turned onto the highway from a county road and into the path of a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Gladys Wilcox, 47, Heyburn, and the two cars collided. Damage was estimated at $100 to the 1961 Rambler driven by Alexander, and at $300 to the Chevrolet.

Four sheep belonging to Antonio Golderez were killed Monday evening when they were struck by a 1967 Chevrolet truck driven by Earl E. Walker 15 miles northeast of Rupert on a county road.

Mr. Walker approached a band of sheep over a hill and was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting them. No damage was reported to the truck.

Cavan Ridge, 18, Rupert, was cited for speeding and Alice Cannon, 51, Rupert, for backing when not reasonable and safe to do so following a two-car collision on Highway 24 in Rupert Friday night.

Mrs. Cannon was attempting to back her 1968 Chevrolet onto the highway when it was struck by Ridge's 1969 Pontiac. Damage was estimated at $400 to the Chevrolet and at $500 to the Pontiac. Mrs. Cannon suffered minor injuries.

House Endorsement Of Nixon's Vietnam Policies Drives Wedge Between Democratic Leadership, Members

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Nixon, with or without intending it, scored a political as well as a propaganda victory this week when the House overwhelmingly endorsed his Vietnam negotiating stance.

Officially, the administration welcomed the resolution passed by the House as a possible means of helping to unstuck the bogged down Paris peace talks. The Communists now would realize, so went the argument, that America was not deeply divided over the basic issues of peace and that it was pointless for the enemy to wait for the U.S. government to crack.

And although the administration wouldn't acknowledge it publicly, its lieutenants made plain the resounding 333 to 55 vote would shore up Nixon's standing in the arena of domestic opinion.

But Republicans picked up another benefit. They drove a deeper wedge between the House Democratic leadership and many of the party's rank and file. Liberals and some of the middle-of-the-road Democrats are said to be furious with Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., for pushing the resolution.

Many condemned it as a meaningless but potentially dangerous generalization. The President, they contended, might use it to justify an escalation of the military effort. Although sponsors vigorously denied this, critics bluntly told McCormack they didn't appreciate being put on the spot—damned as being opposed to peace if they voted no or labeled an administration supporter on Vietnam if they voted yes.

For the speaker's part, the issue was simple. He had supported Democratic President John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson on Vietnam and it was his duty to support a Republican—Richard M. Nixon. Aside from Southerners, many older, middle-of NATIONAL GRANGE AWARD is presented to Mrs. Hazel Hedges, left, Meridian, Idaho State Grange secretary, who is accepting on behalf of Ralph Gregory, Meridian, by Mrs. Ira Kistler, Gooding, State Grange lecturer. Mr. Gregory won the award for his entry in the National Grange black and white photo contest. The award was a $50 check. Both Mrs. Hedges and Mr. Gregory are members of the Upper Fairview Grange at Meridian. The award was presented during the Idaho State Grange convention this week in Twin Falls.

Elks Lodge Charts Memorial Rites For Departed Members

Roy Russell, Exalted Ruler of Twin Falls Elks Lodge No. 1183, announced today that a special Elks Memorial Service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Elks Temple.

The service will pay tribute to those members who died during the last year. The order of Elks decreed 80 years ago the first Sunday in December of each year be known as "Elks Memorial Day." On this day throughout the nation, Elks gather in sacred sessions to offer a fitting tribute to all departed brothers and comfort and consolation to their families and friends.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Harvey, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the memorial address. The Elks ritual will be conducted by the Twin Falls officers. The choir of the First Methodist Church will assist in the services under the direction of Roger Vincent, with Mrs. Vincent as accompanist.

All families of Elks who have died since the services last year have been invited as special guests and the public is also invited.

Following the services, wives of the lodge officers will host a reception.

County Road Markers Will Point Up Points Of Interest

It will probably be another year before any of the new county road markers approved by the Idaho Association of County Officials will be showing up in Twin Falls County.

Keith Anderson, engineer for the Twin Falls Highway District, said Thursday that Twin Falls and most other counties as yet have not received a number of designations for major roads.

Several are now in use in the eastern part of the state, largely in Clark County.

The large blue and yellow markers are of a different shape than any presently existing signs and will be used to designate routes of major use in the counties.

Mr. Anderson said, for example, the road into the Rock Creek recreational area, the road leading to the Balanced Rock area in the west end and the Jarbidge road will probably be the first to be given the new county designation. The sign will carry a letter and number with county letters being assigned by the Idaho Department of Highways so there will be no two

Licenses Okayed

JEROME — The Jerome City Council has issued beer licenses to the D. and M. Bar, North Side Club, Bank Club, and Rialto Bar.

Building permits were issued to A. A. Magnelli for a new residence on North Fillmore; Raymond Wright to remodel his home which was destroyed by fire recently; Edger C. Dryden for a sign for his new place of business, and to Rena Dryer to move a storage building.

Two Retained

HAGERMAN — Glenn Patterson and Lloyd Brown were retained as highway board members at the election for Hagerman Highway Districts 1 and 2.

Lyons Woody received one write-in vote and Alan (Hap) Erwin received 12 write-in votes.

Both Mr. Patterson and Mr. Brown will serve for four years. John LeMoyno is a holdover member.

"The only way to realize we are God's children is to let Christ lead us to our Father"

Friday, December 5, 1969

Twin Falls, Idaho, Times-News

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

Father Robert Begin bears a striking resemblance to his uncle, the Most Rev. Floyd Begin, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Oakland, California.

"And he was something of a rebel himself," commented the 31-year-old priest who was suspended last January after celebrating an unauthorized Mass on behalf of peace in Vietnam, at St. John's Cathedral here. (He and a number of fellow priests were suspended on the spot and that night ordered to vacate their parish rectories.)

"When I was a sophomore in high school, I remember my uncle blasting the Knights of Columbus — he was a guest speaker at one of their banquets — and telling them to stop calling themselves Christians as long as they refused to admit Negroes," he recalled.

"Then he was great on ecumenical relations, when it was just not the thing to do. I think that was the reason why, when he was appointed Bishop of Oakland, it was a neighboring Presbyterian pastor who started a petition asking Rome to leave him in Cleveland."

Father Begin was then asked about the reported comment of his uncle when notified, in Rome, that his nephew had been suspended: "I hope he gets exactly what's coming to him."

"That quote was based on his misunderstanding of exactly what happened," replied the bishop's nephew. "I've heard from him several times since then — a letter only last week — and he respects my conscience even though he strongly disagrees with me."

The outspoken young priest added: "Once he learned about the actual details, he was as mad as the bishop (The Most Rev. Clarence Isenmann of the Diocese of Cleveland) as I was. He feels that we both handled the situation poorly."

"He now feels that I should do everything in my power to be restored from suspension. He's never lost the whole idea of authority and obedience. I'm sure for instance that he would never have spoken out regarding the K. of C. situation if he had been ordered not to. He would have regarded the order as an act of religious obedience."

Father Begin remembered his uncle with affection. He recalls the regular visits his uncle made to the Begin family — often with presents for the entire family, all 13 children of a Cleveland Fire Department Lieutenant.

Father Begin also speaks with charity about his own prelate, Bishop Isenmann: "He's a nice guy, but he's got this authority hangup. We've taken the old concept of king — the same thing that Christ tries to reverse — and applied it to the bishop. If excommunication is ever done, it should be done by the community, not by one man."

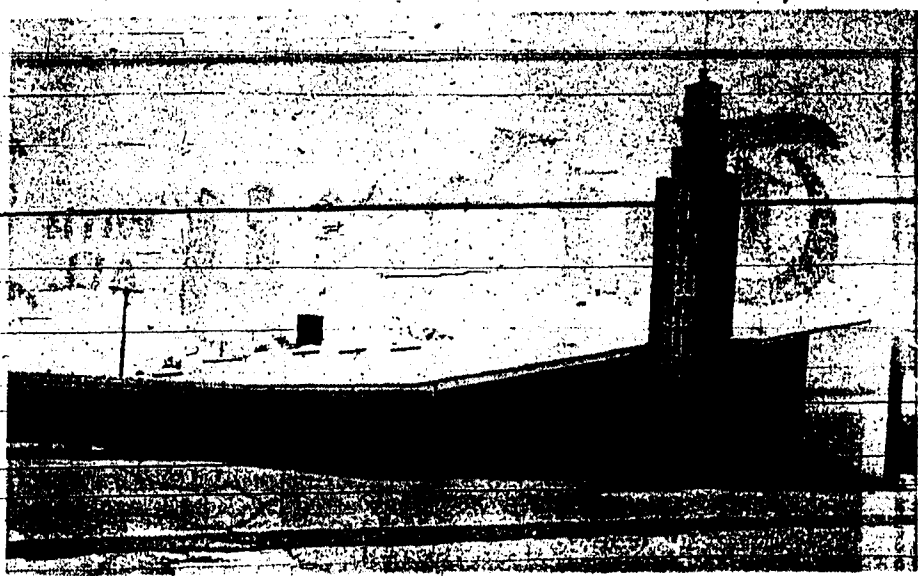

The young priest still believes in celibacy, however, though not as a compulsory rule upon all priests. "I've never been in love with one person," he commented, "and I have no intention of getting married. In fact I'm still a virgin and I get plenty of kidding about that. I really believe in the evangelical concept of poverty, and chastity. To marry one person is to me the suggestion that you can't love all other persons as much as your wife; like for instance I love the people in this house."

The house, an unusually decrepit ("You should have seen it before we fixed it up!") frame building in Cleveland's "Near West side," had its plumbing out of order. Hence Father Begin and several other residents (a fellow priest, plus nine young men and five young women) were digging a sizable hole outside in order to get at the plumbing and try to unplug it.

The house is one unit of what is called The Thomas Merton Community. There is also a farm outside Cleveland as well as apartments for former nuns and married couples. What about the propriety of 11 single men living in the same house as five single women? Father Begin smiled and replied: "If people feel they want to express themselves sexually, I doubt if they do it here."

Residents are busy with such projects as weekly dinners served for those on nearby skid row, or raising money for rent ($10 a month) and food ($20.) as well as a neighborhood emergency fund for such crises as delayed welfare checks. Occasionally, there are contributions, such as the checks that Father Begin continues to receive from former parishioners at St. Gregory's Parish, or from fellow priests ("including one who, I know, disagrees with almost everything I stand for.") He also works occasionally for Mahpower, Inc. as a stock clerk.

A full-time job is difficult to obtain because on Feb. 3 he must stand trial in Washington D. C. for having destroyed the property (Napalm) of Dow Chemical. Presently he is free on bail, provided by the Teamsters Union.

THIS IS ONE of three area LDS Churches having open house next week as part of the "Meet the Mormons" open house program. This is the Murtaugh LDS Church, located along Highway 30.

"Meet The Mormons" Open House Set In T. F. County

"Meet the Mormons" open house program has been scheduled at three area LDS chapels next week.

Alan Humphries, Kimberly, Twin Falls Stake Mission president, said "in recent months we have been experiencing an increase in inquiries about the church and these open house functions are planned in the spirit of better understanding for all concerned."

Mr. Humphries said the public is invited to all three open houses. The first open house will be held from 4-8 p.m. Sunday in the LDS Chapel at 421 Maurice St. N., Twin Falls. From 7-9 p.m. Monday, open house will be held at the Kimberly LDS Church, 722 Birch St. S., and from 6-9 p.m. Tuesday, the Murtaugh LDS Church will have an open house.

Through a series of brief presentations featuring illuminated paintings or "translights," guests will learn why Mormons believe as they do. Questions will be answered on the church organization, the Book of Mormon, the major purpose of life, family unity, youth programs, welfare and food storage, genealogy and other topics that may be of interest.

The film "Man's Search for Happiness," which was made famous at the New York World's Fair, will be shown. Norman Vincent Peake says this film "tells the story where we came from, why we are here and where we are going. The film motivates one to want to make the most of earth life, and the last two minutes of the film are most touching, most inspirational and most revealing of any two minutes of film I have ever seen in my entire life."

Sustained

HAGERMAN—Mrs. Leon Sant has been sustained president of the Hagerman Ward YWMA. Mrs. Sant replaces Mrs. Dale Turner, who has been released.

Other officers and teachers in the YWMA are Mrs. David Lamoureux, Beehive leader; Mrs. Ed. Larson, MIA Maid leader; Mrs. DeVerl Jensen, organist; Mrs. Hyrum Dille, sports director and Sylvia Dalton, chorister.

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE BIBLE?

In general, there are two approaches to the use of the Bible today. One is that it is the book that reveals the only way a man can know God and that is through His Son Jesus Christ (John 14:6). In other words, preaching salvation through the finished work of Christ on Calvary's Cross (Eph. 1:7). Man can only be reconciled to God through the merits and work of Jesus Christ (2 Corih. 5:8). Man's main need today is that he get right with God through accepting Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins (Mark 2:10).

The second approach is that the Bible is profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness (2 Tim. 3:16) The Bible is written primarily to those who are already Christians, and it therefore is the Christian's handbook for living. The Bible reveals what the Christian is to believe, and then how that belief may be worked out in a practical life that is acceptable to God.

Some today would have us to ignore man's need of personal salvation but to try to live simply by a code of morals with a dash of psychology thrown in. Thus doing away with the first principle of the Bible, man's need of personal salvation. Then others would have us to believe that the Bible is outdated and that we are to let our conscience be our guide, thus doing away with the teaching of scripture concerning Christian living.

"Investment" Program Set By Adventists

A special "investment" program has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the basement of the Magic Valley Adventist Church School.

Irvin Cook, investment secretary for the Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist Church Sabbath School, said members of the various divisions of the school offer to the public opportunities to purchase special handicrafts such as blankets, aprons, dish towels and other useful items for the home and office.

Proceeds from this sale are given entirely to the church world mission program. The goal of the church is $3,100.

Special food booths will be set up. The public is invited.

Open House Set By LDS Churches

GOODING—The LDS Churches in the Gooding Stake will hold open house Dec. 12 through Dec. 16.

The first open house will be Dec. 12 at the Wendell Ward. The Gooding Ward will be shown Dec. 13. Hazelton Ward, Dec. 14; Hagerman Ward, Dec. 15, and Jerome Ward, Dec. 16. The hours will be from 7 to 10 p.m. A tour will be taken through every 15 minutes.

Two films, "Man's Search for Happiness" and "This Holy Place" will be shown. Refreshments will follow.

Easter may fall any time within a 35-day period running from March 22 to April 25.

700 Dancers Attend Rupert MIA's Centennial Ball

RUPERT.—It has been a century since the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association was organized by the LDS Church, and with each anniversary, the feeling of sisterhood within the program seems to increase.

And at the time the organization was instigated, women would often pause with their husbands for an evening of festivities in celebration of the blessings they had enjoyed. Like the celebrations of old, a modern-day event, The Centennial Ball, hosted recently by the Minidoka Stake MIA, attracted an overflowing crowd of nearly 700 dancers.

Couples were dressed in the traditional dress of a century ago and enjoyed favorite dances to the music of the Al DeVries Orchestra.

Those attending the once-in-a-century affair were entertained by a half an hour demonstration of dances popular throughout the century. Dances included Girls A La Mod, an all girls dance; Fox Trot, Charleston, a combination of the Varsouvienne, rye waltz and the Schottisch, and the age-old square dance, and only those not watching could keep from tapping toes and laughing with the dancers.

Floor show arrangements and scrip were prepared and narrated by stake dance directors, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Corless. Homemade root beer, fruit cake and ginger snaps completed the atmosphere of the evening, which was scheduled to resemble celebrations staged by ancestors a century ago.

The ball room was decorated in red and white, with silhouettes representing each of the Minidoka Stake YWMA presidents adorning the walls. Serving was done on the stage where quartet tables were covered with white clothes, Red and white velvet curtains created the background for the bandstand which was also trimmed in red and white. White pillars were set up at the entrance of the dining area, and a traditional candlelit chandelier hung above the tables, completing the century-old atmosphere.

Mildred Thain and Gar Loosli, stake activity counselors, were in charge of arrangements for the evening, and were assisted by Mary Childs, who painted the mural; Deon Hunsaker, chairman of the youth committee on decorations, and Eloyosa Hernandez and Rene Higes, refreshments.

No School

SHOSHONE—There will be no Sunday school or Priesthood meeting at the local LDS Church Sunday, due to stake conference at Richfield.

Sacrament meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. as usual.

Human Government Divinely Ordained, Says T.F. Bishop

By STANLEY SNOW
Bishop, Twin Falls
Second LDS Ward

The past decade has been marked by social and political unrest, law-defying riots, pornographic entertainment and brutal crimes in excess of anything in modern times. Some world leaders, appalled by all this immorality, have called for vigorous action to curb the trend, urging the enactment of sterner laws and stricter enforcement.

They know that no nation can remain free and strong when standards of human decency are flouted and when lawbreakers are not brought to speedy justice.

The danger that threatens the nations are compounded when ministers of influential religious denominations lead marches and demonstrations, breaking the law and defying police authority. Some of these religionists explain their actions by claiming they are no longer responsible for preaching the gospel or winning souls over to the kingdom, until certain social and political reforms are effected. In assuming this attitude they line up with revolutionaries who ridicule the rigid moral code of scripture, and advocate an establishment in which there will be no laws restraining human behavior.

Government, as inaugurated by God, is an absolute necessity because the natural man must have restriction upon his inherent virulence. God himself authorized the state, as recorded in Genesis. Nevertheless, in the days of Noah, only ninth from Adam, the people became so wicked their Creator no longer could tolerate their continued existence. Their anarchal society had to be destroyed so a new order could be established.

Thus government became responsible for punishing those who break its laws, as adopted for the protection and welfare of its citizens. The prompt and just retribution of crimes provides the most effective check upon offenses committed against society. A truly responsible person will refrain from breaking the law if he knows he will have to pay the penalty. From a practical consideration, the stern and just punishment of criminals has a beneficial effect upon society.

Paul, in Romans - 13, definitely states that civil government is to provide fear and thus deter evildoers:

"... for rulers are not a terror to good works but to evil. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid, for he is the minister of God, an avenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." (Romans 13:3-4)

The fear of punishment which Paul expounded is no longer a potent weapon in the war on crime. In some courts today the factors of guilt and punishment are ignored and often every imaginable excuse is made for the person on trial. The result is that the offender himself and the general public also become convinced that the deed committed was not very wrong after all. No wonder crime is rocketing to heights unprecedented!

Writing to the Roman saints, living under the regime of the notorious Nero, the Apostle Paul admonished:

"Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers for there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God.

"Whosoever, therefore, resisteth that power, resisteth the ordinances of God; and they that resist shall receive to themselves judgment." (Romans 13:1-2)

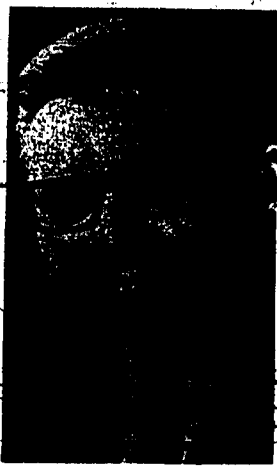

Citizens of all nations can curb the ravages of modern crime by continually reminding themselves that God has established human government, that it is a blessing to mankind, and that it exercises a God-given authority over their lives. Let all people know and remember that obedience to the law is no problem because there is a simple solution given by the Lord himself through his modern-day prophet:

"Let no man break the laws of the land, for he that keepeth the laws of God, hath no need to break the laws of the land." (Doctrine & Covenants, 58: 21).

REV. GEORGE CURRY

... former Twin Falls pastor, will be conducting special revival meetings daily at the Faith Memorial Church in Filer. The revivals are held at 7:30 p.m. daily, except Saturdays, and continuing through Dec. 14. The church is located along Highway 30, across from the grade school. The public is invited.

BISHOP VICTOR BROWN... second counselor in the presiding bishopric of the LDS Church, will speak during the Blaine LDS Stake conference this weekend at Richfield.

LDS Official To Speak At Blaine Confab

Speaking at the Blaine LDS Stake Conference, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, at Richfield will be Bishop Victor L. Brown, second counselor in the presiding bishopric of the LDS Church.

Bishop Brown, a native of Cardston, Alberta, Canada, was an airline executive at the time of his appointment to the presiding bishopric in 1961. He is an experienced youth, church and business leader.

The conference session will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. in Richfield. Stake president Oral Stewart, Carey, says visitors are welcome.

T.F. Couple's Son To Be Ordained Here On Sunday

Chris Reinke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reinke, Twin Falls, will be ordained into the ministry of the Lutheran Church during the 11 a.m. service Sunday of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Chris received his elementary education at Memorial Lutheran School and his high school training at Concordia High School in Portland. He graduated from the Concordia Teachers College at Seward, Neb., in 1965, with a major in religion. Deciding to enter the ministry of the church, he entered the Concordia Seminary at Springfield, Ill., and was graduated last week.

His vicarage year was spent at St. John's Lutheran Church, Seward, Neb., where he also taught two religious courses at the teachers college. This was his second term of teaching at Concordia as he had taught there during the 1966 school term.

He is married to the former Betty Jo Schneider of Jefferson City, Mo., and they have one son, Phillip.

Rev. Reinke will be installed as assistant pastor of St. Lorenz Lutheran Church at Frankenthum, Mich., on Dec. 14. St. Lorenz is a congregation of 3,600 members and maintains a parochial school of 700 students staffed by 24 teachers.

The St. Lorenz congregation is a charter of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

T.F. Church To Ordain C. E. Graves

First Baptist Church, Twin Falls, will ordain Charles E. Graves to the Christian ministry Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Graves has served First Baptist Church as minister of Christian education for the past 17 months. He came to Twin Falls from Berkeley, Calif., where he received his master of divinity degree from the Berkeley campus of the American Baptist Seminary of the West. He is a graduate of Sioux Falls College, also an institution related to the American Baptist Convention.

Mr. Graves was unanimously recommended for ordination by an examining council representing the Central Association of American Baptist Churches in Magic Valley.

Participants in the service will include a group of high school youth; Rev. Robert J. Smith, area minister for American Baptist congregations of Utah and South Idaho; Mrs. Florence Martyn, clerk of First Baptist Church; E. G. Gugelman, chairman of the Board of Deacons of First Baptist Church; the Rev. Chester A. Sager, First Baptist Church, Rupert, and chairman of the Ordination Council; the Rev. Floyd P. Austin, First Baptist Church, Buhl, and clerk of the Ordination Council; the Rev. Kendal S. North, Castleford Baptist Church, and the Rev. James B. Hughes, senior minister, First Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

The senior choir of First Baptist Church, under the direction of Mrs. Russell Potter, with Mrs. Francis Rider at the organ, will provide the music.

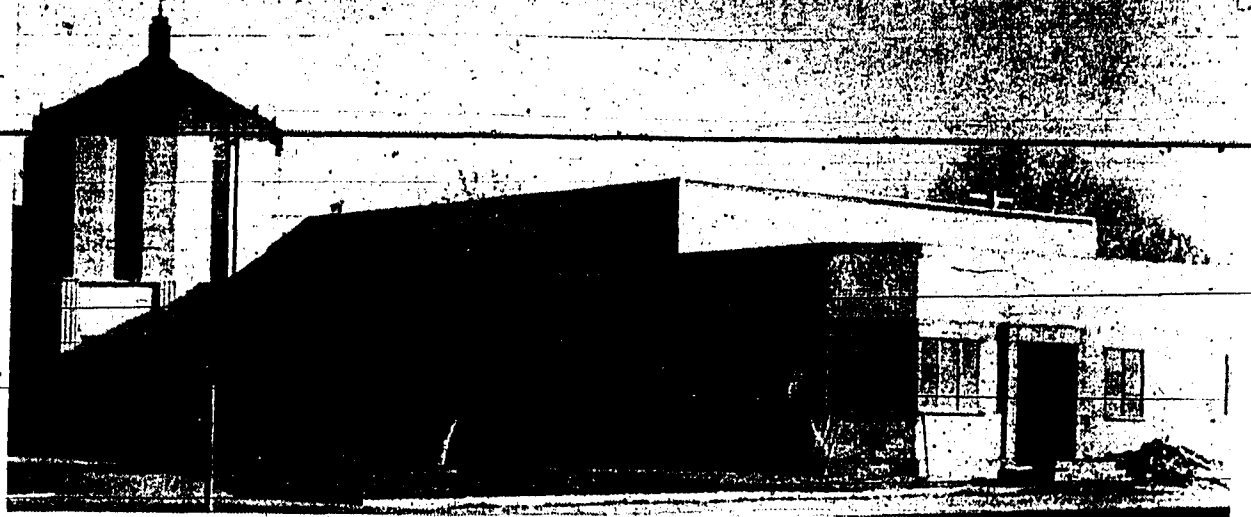

Mr. and Mrs. Graves will be honored at a reception hosted by the congregation's General Services Committee, Mrs. Paul Bandy, chairman, following the service of ordination.

Dinner Held

FILER — The Progressive Bible Class of the First Baptist Church met in the fellowship hall for a dinner meeting. A Thanksgiving motif was used in decorations.

Hostesses were Mrs. Nellie Gardner, Mrs. L. G. Cobb, Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. Marie Greenwood and Mrs. Amy Glassinger. Plans were made to send cards to shut-in members.

Disorientation is the name for the feeling that some people have that, when they are turned around, directions are not what they should be.

UNDERGOING a face-lifting job is the Minidoka LDS Stake Tabernacle in Rupert. This photo shows part of the new addition to the building. The project is expected to be completed in January.

Play On MIA Origin Given At LDS Meet

DECLO — A play highlighted the recent Cassia East Stake Beehive Standards-Night program at the Albion LDS Ward chapel.

The play depicted the origin of the Young Women's MIA in the home of Brigham Young. Taking part in the play were Jay Nielsen, Thelma Edgar and Kathy Zollinger.

Beehive girls sang under the direction of Mrs. Crandall Dunn and were accompanied by Karen Koyie. Debra Ward gave a talk and Tanya Jolley read a poem.

Over $1 Million Is Contributed

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI) — American Baptist Convention women contributed more than $1 million in 1968, according to evaluation of reports from 78 per cent of the American Baptist Women's organizations of the churches.

The contributions included more than $676,000 to the Love Gift, an over-and-above financial gift to the ABC's Basic Mission Program; $252,000 to the White Cross program for cash, quakes, new material and shipping; $61,408 in scholarship aid and $3,704 in a special family planning project.

LDS Stake Tabernacle At Rupert Has Face-Lifting Job

RUPERT — The Minidoka Stake LDS Tabernacle is undergoing face-lifting activities in Rupert, with a $155,444 project under way here.

The remodeling project was begun in June after bids had been received for the work. The Wellsworth Construction Co., Blackfoot, was awarded the contract with an apparent low bid of about $149,000.

With the growth of the stake's church membership since the building was first constructed, more room was needed to accommodate the various auxiliaries of the Church, so the project was begun. Plans call for the addition of about 1,931 square feet on the north end of the building, and 1,408 square feet on the south.

The additions are already enclosed and many of the partitions and walls are up. Some walls within the existing portion of the building have been rearranged, and a new sidewalk poured on the north. The north end parking lot also will be blocked out to facilitate parking, and exit stairways have been added.

On the south end of the building, new rest rooms will be included with new office space for the ward bishoprics, the stake presidency, high council, and stake clerk as well as a waiting room for visitors.

New facilities for the Relief Society, Library and Junior Sunday School will be provided on the north end.

Renovation of the entire existing building also is planned, with the kitchen to be enlarged and modernized, air conditioning installed in the chapel, and painting throughout. New carpeting will also be laid in the offices and chapel.

Financing of the project was accomplished by the Church headquarters paying 70 per cent of the total cost, and the balance divided into three parts. The Rupert Second Ward membership will pay 10 per cent, the Rupert Fifth Ward 10 per cent, and the remaining 10 wards in the stake will pay the remaining 10 per cent. Rupert Second and Fifth Wards have office space in the building.

Each ward's share is being raised through individual donations and fund raising projects.

It is anticipated the construction will be completed by the end of January.

Bishopric Feted

ALMO — The new sustained bishopric was honored recently at the home of Mrs. William D. Jones.

Honored were Mr. Jones, bishop; David Boden, first counselor; Curtis Durfee, second counselor, and Ivan Darrington, clerk. Also honored were the retiring bishopric, Deft Tracy, bishop; Robert Ward and Jack Erickson, counselors, and Wesley Ward, clerk. The wives of these eight also were honored.

Baptist Meet Is Told About Mission Work

Work done in the mission field and training received by nationals in these countries were described by Mrs. James Hughes at the dinner meeting of the Twin Falls Baptist Mission Society in the church Fellowship hall.

Mrs. Jack Asher conducted the love gift service, Mrs. Margaret Durbin sang, accompanied by Mrs. Bernard Martin. The Suzanne Circle was hostess.

Elizabeth Walters Circle met at the home of Mrs. Fred Brack with Mrs. Lewis Evans giving the opening prayer. Mrs. Hughes, White Cross chairman, reported the quota had been filled.

Mrs. Durbin gave the program on the "Catholic Approach to Christian Work in Las Vegas," while the "Baptist Approach to Christian Work" was given by Mrs. Evans, who also had charge of the Thanksgiving devotional.

Favorite scriptures were given for devotionals at the Esther Weibe circle meeting at the home of Mrs. Vern Routh, who described the European countries she has visited and showed slides.

Charles Y Ho Circle held a coffee hour at the home of Mrs. Merritt Shotwell, who was in charge of the program on China and Change. Suzanne Circle members spent the evening calling on shut-ins at rest homes for their last meeting.

Shoshone Minister Is Southern Idaho Youth Director For Assemblies Of God.

Rev. John Wesley Johnson, pastor of the Shoshone Assembly of God Church, is Southern Idaho director of youth for the Assemblies of God.

He says working with the youth of Southern Idaho has been challenging and most rewarding. It has included leading sectional rallies, district treasurer, camp manager and district youth director.

Rev. and Mrs. Johnson are natives of Idaho. He was born north of Jerome. From there his parents moved to Ridgefield, Wash., a small community in the Vancouver area. Ten years later, they moved back to Jerome where Rev. Johnson attended schools and graduated from the Jerome High School in 1954.

Theological training was received from Southwestern Bible Institute at Waxahatchie, Tex.;

Northwest Bible College at Kirkland, Wash.; Northwest Nazarene College at Nampa, and the Berean School of the Bible at Springfield, Mo.

Rev. Johnson has travelled in evangelistic work with his brother Carl, before his marriage to Joyce Baird in July, 1959, at Hazelton. In August, 1959, Rev. Johnson became the pastor of the Shelley church.

Other pastorates have included Hailey and Marsing.

He has a vital interest in the Shoshone PTA and serves as first vice president and membership chairman of that organization.

While pastoring in Hailey and Shoshone, building programs were begun.

The congregation at Hailey had been worshipping in the Grange hall and in the process of buying property on North

Main Street. Soon the property was paid for and a building plan formed. Materials were purchased as the finance was available, coming in miraculously from sources before unknown. So great was the miracle that only $2,000 was needed in the way of a loan.

The remodeling project of the Shoshone Assembly of God Church was no less a miracle in the divine providence of God. A small 11 by 11-foot entrance was removed and an addition of over 1,600 square feet was added to the front and side.

For the Christian, one outstanding experience overshadows them all. It is described in St. John 3:16 as the "born again experience." This experience happened when Rev. Johnson was 10 years old and has been very meaningful ever since.

Nixon More Prayerful Since Moving Into White House

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

Ten months in the White House has made Richard Nixon a more prayerful man and deepened his sense of dependence on God.

That's the word from the President's close friend and spiritual counselor, the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham.

Graham acknowledged in an interview with UPI that Nixon is not the world's most faithful churchgoer. Since becoming President, he has attended worship services—mostly in the East room of the White House—on an irregular schedule which averages out to a little better than one Sunday a month.

Although Graham would prefer a higher average, he emphasized that regularity of church attendance is not an infallible criterion of spiritual health.

"I don't think a man necessarily has to go to church every Sunday to be a genuinely religious person," the Baptist evangelist said.

"I have known Richard Nixon for more than twenty years. Through many golf games, many visits in his home and in my home, we have discussed many subjects, including religion.

"I can say without qualification that he is a person of strong religious convictions. He has a deep faith in God.

"But you have to remember that he's a Quaker. And Quakers don't believe in wearing their religion on their shirt sleeves."

Graham said the lonely burden of the presidency is obviously having the same effect on Nixon that it has had on other men, from Abraham Lincoln to Lyndon B. Johnson, who were not conspicuously religious before entering the White House.

"I believe Mr. Nixon has already learned what President Lincoln meant when he said, 'Many times I've been driven to my knees by the realization that I had nowhere else to go,'" Graham said.

He said he had talked about religion with five presidents—Nixon, Johnson, John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

"Every one of them told me that the pressures of the job were so great he found himself forced to pray, whether or not he had been much of a praying man before.

"Since Mr. Nixon entered the White House last January, I have observed a definite and steady deepening of his sense of dependence on God."

Slides Of Greece Shown To Group

Highlighting the recent Twin Falls Christian Women's Mission Service meeting was a slide show by Mr. and Mrs. John Parrish of their recent trip to Greece and the Holy Land.

A reading was given by Mrs. John Platt. It was announced the group's officers will be installed in a joint ceremony with the Christian Men's Fellowship group at 7 p.m. Dec. 11. A potluck also will be held that evening.

14 Get Awards

HAGERMAN—Fourteen girls have received their Individual Awards at the Hagerman Ward LDS church.

The awards were recently presented by Bishop G. W. Choules to Joan Martin, Diane Owsley, Cindy Moyes, Joan Garnand and Adele Arterburn, first-year certificates; Kathleen Choules, second-year; Brenda Clark and Roberta Dalton, third-year; Debbi Larson, fourth-year, and Sylvia Dalton, fifth-year.

Those receiving their sixth-year certificates were Patti Gold, Kristi Choules and Susan Dalton. Four other girls who earned their awards, but who are not living in Hagerman now, are Colleen Slane, Shirley, Diane and Wanda Hulse.

Speaker Is Listed

Guest speaker for the Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist Church at the 11 a.m. service Saturday will be Elder Dan Caslow, lay activity leader for the Pacific Union Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventists.

He directs the welfare services as well as the mission and lay activities for Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington.

He will assist Grover Wilson, Twin Falls lay activities leader, in the organizing of the Christmas caroling program which will begin Sunday evening.

REV. JOHN W. JOHNSON

Nazarene Preachers' Meeting Set

BURLEY — Nazarene church pastors and their wives from Southern Idaho will take part in the annual preachers' conference of the Idaho-Oregon district to be held at Ponderosa Inn, Burley, Monday through Wednesday.

Nearly all of the 51 Nazarene churches on the district will be represented, according to the Rev. Grady W. Cantrell, Nampa, the district superintendent.

These churches have about 5,500 members and a combined Sunday school enrollment of 10,800 persons.

Guest speaker will be Dr. D. I. Vanderpool, San Jose, Calif., an emeritus general superintendent in the Church of the Nazarene.

Dr. Vanderpool served in the highest elective position in the denomination for 15 years, retiring at the General Assembly held at Portland, Ore. in 1964.

The preachers' conference is planned as a time of fellowship and inspiration. Goals for the current year will be discussed.

The Nazarene denomination has a world membership of over 465,000 persons and expects to top the half-million mark during 1970.
