assistant to associate commissioner, U.S. Office of Education. Educators from throughout the state attended the day-long meeting, which was sponsored by the Idaho Air Force Association and Aerospace Educational Foundation at the CSI campus.

Vocational Training Needs Are Stressed At Symposium

(Continued From Page One) "These problems," Mr. Mayrhofer said. Roy Irons, state director of vocational-technical training, said the other 80 per cent is lashing out in dissatisfaction, which is caused by a lack of education. He said Idaho has seen very little of this, but it can expect more in the future if something isn't done to train these people. Mr. Irons made three points that he considers the basic problems confronting vocational schooling — attitude, program and funds. He said the basic problem with attitude is that people believe vocational education is designed for someone else's children. Mr. Irons pointed out that funds must be increased for this purpose, and at present Idaho spends $7 for regular public schooling, compared with $1 for vocational training. He said there must be many programs and Idaho is growing in this respect and it now has five area vocational schools and another planned for Idaho Falls soon. "Our young people are the biggest asset in our state," he said. "We must quit thinking of the other 80-per-cent-as-second rate citizens," he concluded. Rep. Ray Lincoln served as toastmaster at the noon luncheon at the Turf Club. He presented John Sailors, district manager, IBM Co., Boise. Mr. Sailors, in his address, told of the impact of computer technology as an influence on career patterns. He said some of the keypunch operations now are being taught in high schools, but more trained people are needed to draw the full potential of the computer. Mr. Sailors said there is a definite shortage of trained people in this field. During the afternoon session Lt. Col. William Barry, air personnel planning, reported on the military success with "Project 100,000," the training of untrainables. He said the military service is conducting this program for the 40,000 young men who fail to pass their entrance test. Most of these people have an IQ between 55 and 75. He said the full results of the program will not be known until September, 1970, but indications so far are that it is a success. He said this is the military's contribution towards increasing the manpower pool available for military duty and also making more of these people trainable. Dave Whitesides, a civilian employed by the Air Force, discussed "Utah Project," and how select Air Force training material is being used in the Utah public school system. The symposium concluded with a panel discussion led by Mr. Mayrhofer and a discussion with questions from the floor.

End To Anti-Poverty Hoax Near?

WASHINGTON — The multi-billion dollar anti-poverty program is bluntly branded as "corrupt and scandal-ridden" in a minority report by members of the House Education and Labor Committee that is in charge of this legislation. The report, made public as the House finally begins consideration of a long-pending bill to continue the controversial program — another two years — declares it "has done little to alleviate the woes of the poor and the disadvantaged," and vigorously urges sweeping changes in both its concept and administration. Signed by Reps. William Scherle, R-Iowa, and Earl Landgrebe, R-Ind., the minority report is one of several from the committee. The others, while also highly critical, are less caustic. But, significantly, all stress the need for sweeping changes in the Office of Economic Opportunity and the manner in which it administers the anti-poverty program — on which some $7.5 billion has been spent to date. Under the pending bill, another $2.3 billion would be authorized for the first year, and an unspecified amount, in effect a blank check, for the second year.

Greater enforcement of the provisions "prohibiting political activity." One of the critical reports, by Reps. William Ayres, O., and Albert Quis, Minn., ranking Republican members of the committee, charges that a "pervasive aura of political activity and social turmoil has surrounded too many activities of the 'war on poverty.' We do not feel that the fight against the ravages of poverty should be asked to pay for the political advancement of any individual or faction in any party or cause — especially not in the name of helping the poor." Independent auditing of anti-poverty expenditures. Says the Scherle-Landgrebe report, "It is imperative that legitimate auditing from outside OEO be instituted. An individual on OEO payroll cannot be expected to find fault or be critical of any of its programs. The temptation to cover up corruption, defects and scandals in this multi-billion dollar program is enormous." A powerful bipartisan fight will be waged to extensively rewrite the bill pending before the House. The measure was reported out by the Education and Labor Committee on a straight party vote — 20 Democrats, 12 Republicans. However, some Democratic committee members had no bones they strongly favor drastic changes. All the minority reports place much emphasis on the urgent need for better management of the anti-poverty program. "The evidence exists," says Rep. Scherle, "that the present poverty program administrators do not have the ability to properly manage it. A great volume of complaints from all parts of the country dictate an immediate and sweeping shakeup in the direction and management of the anti-poverty program. To continue this program at a multi-billion dollar level without major constructive changes would be a stupendous hoax — one of the greatest ever perpetrated against both the taxpayers and the poor in our country. It is criminal to allow this program to continue to hold out false hopes. For when the subsidies are no more and the people are still impoverished and untrained, they will fall even deeper into bitter despair." The Scherle-Landgrebe report also contends that a "thorough investigation" of the anti-poverty program is imperative. It is charged that no such probe has ever been made. They cite the statement made by Rep. Green as follows: "I cannot think of one single allegation that has been made against the OEO program where there has been a desire on the part of the majority (Democratic) members to really investigate and find out. That is why this war on poverty is in such serious trouble."

On Senator Jordan

Senator Len Jordan is under attack from members of the conservative wing of the Republican Party for his vote against confirmation of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court. One of the members of the ultra-conservative wing of the party is C. Lee Barron of Fairfield. Mr. Barron is just a youngster in Idaho politics. He wrote Senator Jordan that, among other things, he was upset with the Senator's vote to elevate Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania for the minority leadership. Senator Jordan's action relative to Judge Haynsworth was a complaint in the same letter. Frankly — especially in the Judge Haynsworth vote — we are most happy that Senator Jordan took the step he did. That was no time to vote along straight party lines. Idaho's Senator made a minute study of the situation and he voted for what he considered was best for the Nation.

What else could you expect from a thinking man? We do not expect any Senator to go to Washington with all issues cut and dried and all the votes just the way the folks back home want them. Idaho is fortunate there are two Senators in Washington from this state who have a head of their own and use it. They work well together and they do not always run along party lines. That is good for the Nation and it is good for Idaho. If Mr. Barron thinks that the action of Senator Jordan will cause more than a ripple against him if he seeks office for another term then he has another think coming. While the Fairfield resident politician is barking up the wrong tree Senator Jordan is doing just what most citizens want him to do. So we say "stay in there and pitch, Len!"

Gold Trading

In a move which has wide-ranging implications for the United States, the International Monetary Fund is preparing to expand its liquidity base by raising quotas for its members next year by an overall average of 33 per cent. Members will then be able to borrow larger sums of money, in proportion to their increased quotas. But, according to IMF rules, one-fourth the additional $7 billion to be deposited with the world organization must be in gold. For more than a year western governments have held off buying gold from the United States with surplus dollars, to give the U. S. time to correct its ailing balance of payments. Third quarter figures are expected to show a worsening of the U.S. international accounts. This, if true, would indicate dollars are still flowing abroad more rapidly than other currencies are coming into the U.S. This foreign governments will hold an increasing share of their monetary reserves in dollars. How, then, are they to purchase the gold they will need for the IMF deposits unless they turn in at least part of their dollar holdings to the U. S. for metal? Such an action could start a new and dangerous depletion of remaining U. S. gold stocks. IMF managers are trying to find a solution to the problem. One suggestion is that a country which needs to buy gold may do so from a country with a strong monetary system. The gold is deposited with the IMF which in turn sells in back to the country from whence it originally came. If the U. S. doesn't soon solve its balance of payments deficit, the rest of the world may run out of gimmicks to save it.

RAY CROMLEY
Nixon Support

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Evidence is growing that more Americans are becoming increasingly impatient with massive protests—peaceful or violent—and that the reaction to violence is particularly strong. Some indication of this anti-protest feeling is spreading even among those who may sympathize with the aims of the protesters. In the news is a Gallup poll taken during the massive Washington-San Francisco and assorted Moratorium-Mobilization anti-Vietnam demonstrations of mid-November. In Gallup's sampling (which, of course, may or may not be accurate), 68 per cent approved of the way President Nixon is doing his job, up from 56 per cent a month before. This put Nixon slightly ahead of President Eisenhower at the same stage in the presidency. Now this is very curious. Indeed, Eisenhower had a great deal more charisma than Nixon. He had, by November of his first year in office, made greater progress in ending "the war" (Korean then, as compared with Vietnam now). The Korean armistice had been signed July 27, 1953. Inflation was under better control. Consumer prices had moved up a mere 1 per cent between January and October, 1953. In short, things at that stage were going very well indeed for Eisenhower's presidency. But Eisenhower did not have massive numbers of people demonstrating against him in the streets and on college campuses and protesting heavy-handedly in Congress at a time when he had, like Nixon, obviously made such a determined effort to change his strategy in order to bring an end to the conflict. It is possible the demonstrations may have boomeranged. They have perhaps put Nixon in the role of the underdog and won him sympathy among those who were previously neutral and even among those who were previously antagonistic. The American public has a deep sense of fairness, and when people see a man trying—yet subjected to what seems to be

The Democrats Are Confused

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Democratic party, torn apart and hurting for major 1970 candidates, seems also to have lost its bearings on the important issue of the Vietnam war. It is not only divided, it is confused. If, as some administration sources are privately indicating, President Nixon in December announces the withdrawal of another 40,000 to 50,000 troops from Vietnam, Democratic confusion will merely be compounded. Part of the Democrats' difficulty with this issue stems from the fact that many have declared themselves in favor of "faster" withdrawals than the President has been undertaking — without being specific. Even as they criticize him for refusing to make public the withdrawal timetable he says he has, they say nothing of a Democratic timetable but speak only of speed. This reporter has found this vagueness indicated by some very high-placed Democrats. The public utterances of some provide surface evidence for confusion which is deeper when privately probed. Last year, California was widely perceived as the nurturing ground for some of the nation's most militant antiwar sentiment, engendered, of course, by the college young but also by numerous Democratic liberals. Today, Jess Unruh, Democratic leader of the California lower house and candidate for governor in 1970, describes the situation in the state as "murky" as it relates to the war. And he has gone out of his way to seek identification with youthful liberal forces. The effort to identify with the country's young antiwar activists contributes heavily to the confusion among adult Democratic political figures. The Moratorium movement, set against Nixon's appeals to a "silent" majority he believes supports his way of getting out of the war, only makes it harder for many Democrats. The vocal cry of the Moratorium leaders is "immediate withdrawal of all U. S. forces." Virtually no Democratic politicians subscribe to that, but many feel instinctively the need to express sympathy for the protests of the young. Hence the vague calls for more speed. As part of their sympathetic response, key Democrats find it fashionable to suggest both publicly and privately that there probably is a majority not for Nixon's way but for faster action. And they dare to indicate that the Moratorium demonstrations of October and November provide visible, vocal evidence of how the majority feels. Here they run into serious trouble with reality. Polls taken after the wholly peaceful October Moratorium lifted the evident majority for Nixon's handling of the war by six points. After his Nov. 3 Vietnam speech and the Nov. 15 Moratorium outpouring in Washington, a new Gallup poll showed a gain for Nixon's handling of his job (the war included) that was virtually double his mid-October advance. He stands at a record 68 per cent. So, up to now at least, there is no demonstrable majority for either immediate withdrawal or, indeed, for some Democrats' lousy "faster action." Plainly, what evidence we have suggests strongly that Moratorium moves are, in that wooden phrase, "counterproductive." The University of Michigan's Survey Research Center has findings which might be judged to read: "We could have told you so." Though they concern 1968 voter attitudes, they probably have equal or greater validity today. They offer slim comfort to confused key Democrats. The survey's big cue is that among white Americans who saw themselves as doves, nearly one-fourth were extremely hostile toward demonstrating peace dissenters — and a clear majority of such doves had generally negative reactions to the demonstration approach.

PAUL HARVEY
Railroad Push?

A longtime railroad employee recently told me, "I don't understand it; they must keep two sets of books." Railroads complain that they lose money on passenger service, yet to ride his always filled luxury train you have to order tickets weeks in advance. "Two sets of books" is a pretty grim accusation, implying misrepresentation. The real trouble is that there is only one set of books for both freight and passenger service. A study of eight major rail lines shows that last year they claimed $118 million in "avoidable expenses." That is an expense which a railroad would not have incurred if the passenger trains had not been operating. Yet the usual accounting formulas assigns to passenger service a share of such expenses as the cost of maintaining tracks and other facilities. Those tracks and other facilities would have to be maintained even if no passenger trains ran. So there is some bookkeeping overlap which tends to make passenger train operation appear more costly than it is. This consideration notwithstanding, however, the Assn. of American Railroads estimates that the 1968 deficit on those eight railroads totaled about $285 million. Last year the entire railroad

MR. SPECTATOR
The Gal Needs Help

Merle Stoddard is a gal in need of help! She's the energetic and talented and capable woman who is director and therapist of the Easter Seal Speech and Hearing Center in Twin Falls. Frankly, she is a god-send to this community. For years, now, Mr. Spectator has wondered why she persists in doing the job she is doing inasmuch as it is practically a labor of love. But she does and therein hangs this tale. Mrs. Stoddard can only do so much with the folks requiring services of the Easter Seal center. Beyond that she must have donated aid. So those who offer their services will also be doing so along the labor of love line. Just who does she need? Well, she needs someone who can come out for a few hours a week to run the typewriter. Reports must be made, you know. She also needs a couple of women who would be willing to baby sit in their own home — take care of children for a couple of hours while the parent either visits the Center to receive personal treatment or takes another child in. College-age students are also needed on a volunteer basis. Let's take a look at this thing. During the month of October, for instance, the Center had 53 children and nine adults receiving speech therapy. Many of the youngsters come every day or at least three times a week. They have now reached the point where they need individual attention and without help there just isn't enough time to give them the attention they need. Monday, Wednesday and Friday there are 20 children at the Center from 9 a.m. until noon. Tuesday and Thursday there are 13 there from 10 a.m. until noon. They receive speech therapy, eyes-hand coordination drills, visual perceptual exercises and coordination exercises. Mrs. Stoddard wants these kids to be successful in kindergarten and school. From 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. there are nine youngsters from the Headstart kindergarten receiving treatment. There are several more from Headstart needing speech therapy but without help, Mrs. Stoddard cannot admit them.

Remember Karleena Hills? The Times-News has had several stories about this unusual girl. Now she is ready to walk. Other experts said it couldn't be done but Mrs. Stoddard didn't believe them. Now Karleena is ready to walk.

She has started holding onto a walker but her help must be almost entirely from volunteer sources because Headstart children are there at the same time. This is where a couple of college students, with open classes from 1 to 3 or 2 to 3 p.m. could help.

Karleena has just a year to finish her high school correspondence course. She could then enter CSI and Mrs. Stoddard says "we want her walking alone by then." Well, there you have it. Any of you folks like to volunteer? If you would like to talk it over with Mrs. Stoddard call her at 733-5745 or at 733-6948. Lots of folks will be happy if you do just that!

THE REAL CULPRIT

In New York City on an average day 123 motorists will go for their cars and find they aren't where they left them. They may not see them again for months, if ever. The same thing happens all over the United States to someone's car every minute. Last year three quarters of a million cars were stolen in the United States, and the crime is running 8 to 10 percent higher this year. More than half the cars stolen were set up for the thieves by owners who left their keys in the ignition. The direct dollar loss of cars which are not recovered totals as much as all other forms of theft combined. Sufficient reason to be sure that little piece of metal leaves the car every time you do.

"Day Of Infamy" Is Vivid Memory — 28 Years Later

A total of 2,343 men died in Pearl Harbor, another 1,272 were wounded. The Navy lost 80 planes, the Army 97.

Of the 88 American war ships in the harbor at the time, only a handful made it safely out to sea.

The United States had suffered a staggering blow.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt appeared before Congress shortly after hearing the news. Before a joint session, he said "The United States will triumph, so help us God."

After his speech, Congress declared war on Japan. The vote in the Senate was 82-0. In the House it was 388 to 1, with Rep. Jeannette Rankin, R-Mont., voting "no." She voted "no" when America entered World War I, also.

The Evening Idaho Times in its first issue following the attack on Pearl Harbor carried a headline two and a half inches high: "War Declared." That issue came out Monday, Dec. 8, 1941.

Within the week, in Twin Falls, men rushed to join the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. A special camp had to be set up in Salt Lake City to handle the load.

Mel Ouale, who runs the Service Center in Twin Falls, was five-years-old at the time and living on a ranch in Montana.

"I remember that day well. It didn't have any special meaning to me, but it did to my parents. I remember that day because every Dec. 7 I think about it and kind of keep the memory alive."

Fifth District Court Judge Theron Ward was a First Lt. in the Army Air Corps at that time. He was stationed at Gardner Field in California.

"I first heard the news on the radio," he said. "The radio got called to the base and stayed there all day wondering what was happening."

Judge Ward got his commission in 1936 and went on active duty July 31, 1941.

"I got out eight years later," he said. He retired as a Lieutenant Colonel.

Twin Falls County's Prosecutor Robert Galley was 12 at the time. He was living in Los Angeles.

"I heard it on the radio. I remember after hearing so much about it I wanted to tune into some of the ball games but my older brother wouldn't let me."

Golden Bennett, a Twin Falls attorney, was 13 and living in Boise at the time.

"My impression of what had happened was very profound, I can remember that. But to remember just what my impression was is a real mystery."

He, like everyone else, heard the news on the radio.

Many of those questioned said they remember where they were living, what they were doing and what kind of day it was. But most say they were too shocked to remember just what their reactions were.

A large number of people contacted by this reporter smile and say "I was too young to remember." One woman said she hadn't been born yet.

He husband, when contacted later, laughed and said he and his wife had been married four years when Pearl Harbor was bombed.

"She just doesn't want to tell her age, that's all," he said.

And now, 28 years later, it's Sunday again and people everywhere will pause for just a moment to recall a tragedy from the past.

Grange

(Continued From Page One) nated roads and trails, protesting a further increase in first class post fees, favoring a campaign be launched by the Grange, with assistance from other groups in the state, to keep Idaho roads clean, supporting the continuation of the Agricultural Extension Service, favoring retaining the 7 per cent investment credit, favoring stricter penalties for illegal sellers of drugs, requesting rejection of raise of power rates, and favoring all residents of districts be taxed to retire general obligation bonds.

Several resolutions dealing with Grange business also were acted upon by the 630 Grangers attending the week-long session in Twin Falls.

Lewiston was selected as the site of the 1970 State Grange, which will be Oct. 27-30.

In final business sessions Adolf Heinrich, Lake Fork, was elected to finish an unexpired term on the executive committee. The vacancy was created when W. E. Adams, Eagle, was elected master of the Idaho State Grange.

Bernard Scott, Burley, was named to represent the Grange on the American Sheep Producers Council. The appointment of John Scott, master of the National Grange, was announced during the Friday session.

Grangers still in Twin Falls Saturday after the official session closed, toured the area guided by I. T. (Pete) Creed, Twin Falls.

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) — The Effingham Elks planned a wild-boar feast to end all feasts. They wound up with "Dante's Inferno."

The group borrowed a commercial rotisserie to grill 200 pounds of wild boar meat some members had bagged on a hunting trip. But the boar had a lot of fight left. Fat and juices dripped onto the charcoal and set off a raging fire.

The sides of the rotisserie began to cave in and the heat blistered a 15-foot-high Elks sign across the alley.

The hungry Elks settled for 15 cans of domestic ham.

Ketchum Asks Funds To Help Furnish New School

KETCHUM — Residents of the Ketchum-Sun Valley community, as well as others interested in promoting the best possible education, are being asked to prove their interest by contributing money for school improvements.

The project, known as Ernest Hemingway School Improvement Fund, has a goal of $25,000 to be raised by Dec. 31 so that needed equipment for the newly built Ketchum grade school can be obtained, reports Robert Ackerman, president of the committee.

Contributions, which will be tax deductible, will be applied toward purchase of lockers, moveable room dividers and cafeteria facilities. Pledges can be made to the fund, Mr. Ackerman said, adding donors may specify on which equipment they wish their money to be spent.

The First Security Bank in Ketchum has set up a special account for the school improvement fund and persons can make their payments at the bank. A community-wide mailing is planned, Mr. Ackerman said, to solicit money for the school equipment.

Mrs. Mary Hemingway contributed funds for the recently completed maple hardwood sprung floor in the school gym. The flooring is supported by rubberfooted risers and constructed to last "my lifetime and another one besides," says Mrs. Jefferson, principal.

Harry Holmes is vice president of the fund committee; Ray Jefferson, secretary-treasurer. Directors include Mrs. Martin Peterson, Mrs. George Kneeland, Charles Atkinson, Jack Gray, Royce Asher, Jack Wilderman, Jack Hemingway, Mrs. Don Atkinson and George Hell-

New 'Star'?

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A comet is on its way to earth. Just as another one might have been nearly 2,000 years ago that supposedly guided the Three Kings to a stable in Bethlehem where the Christ Child lay.

Richard Norton, curator of the Max C. Fleischmann Atmospheric-Planetarium at the University of Nevada, said a comet is now approaching the Earth from the vicinity of the planet Jupiter, which will reach peak brilliance on Christmas Day.

He said he has not yet computed the exact location of the comet and said the path may be affected by Jupiter.

"But it will be brilliant and easily visible to the naked eye, possibly even during the day on Christmas Day," Norton said.

Prosecution Completes Case In Trial Of 'Chicago Seven'; Defense Asks Acquittal

CHICAGO (UPI)—The prosecution completed presentation of its case against the "Chicago Seven" Friday, on the trial's 50th day. The defense immediately asked for a directed acquittal.

Government presentation ended in the unconventional style which has been the hallmark of the trial.

The announcement by U.S. Attorney Thomas A. Foran that "the government rests" came after U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman shut off cross-examination by the defense of the final witness, Hoffman finally told defense attorney Leonard Weinglass to sit down when he persisted in a line of questioning the judge deemed improper.

The judge dismissed the jury and asked defense attorneys if they had "anything to say."

The defendants broke into laughter and chief defense attorney William Kunstler said, "Just a sigh of relief, your honor."

But Kunstler quickly added the motion for a directed verdict and said defense argument on the request would be "extensive."

Earlier he quashed a defense subpoena of confidential records of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and a demand that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover testify.

AEC Detects Signs Of Atomic Blast In Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said Saturday it had picked up seismic signals originating in the Kazakh Desert in the Soviet Union.

The AEC did not speculate as to whether the tremor might have been caused by an underground atomic test, but said "the signals were equivalent to those of a nuclear test in the low-intermediate yield range."

"It will be only as extensive as I permit it to be," Hoffman replied.

Kunstler asked Hoffman if the defendants would be required to appear Monday, the date set for consideration of the motion.

"Yes, sir. I think it's important that they be here," the judge said, smiling. "After all, I may grant your motion."

Defendants Abbie Hoffman and Lee Weiner waved their hands in the air. "Ya, ya," yippee leader Hoffman said. "We'll be waiting for that."

Judge Hoffman, still smiling, walked out the door.

British Medic Cites Bed Rest As Good Advice

LONDON (UPI)—The stresses of the space age are easy to deal with, said Dr. Ronald Gibson. Just drop out—and into bed.

Gibson, chairman of the British Medical Association Council, said Friday that staying in bed when things get too tough "is a wonderful safety valve. And it prevents many an illness."

But, he said, the bed cure should not last beyond 48 hours. After that, "a doctor should be called in—to find out what is wrong."

ALL IN THE FAMILY MONACA, Pa. (UPI)—Robert Jones, 17, was charged with reckless driving in a two-car collision Friday, but the driver of the other car was hesitant to press charges. It was his mother.

Police said he entered the bank three minutes before closing time, approached one of the tellers and told her to fill a large canvas bag he brought with him. He then worked his way to four other tellers, each filling the man's bag reportedly without tripping a silent alarm.

One report was the man was followed to the door by a bank official, who was told in a quiet voice to "go back inside or I'll blow your head off."

He was reported carrying a .38-caliber revolver, apparently snub nosed.

The man acted calm and confident throughout the holdup, then walked slowly to a waiting car and disappeared.

Suave Robber Gets $14,000 In Utah Bank

OGDEN (UPI) — A 13-year alert was in force Saturday for a suave, executive type gunman in hunting clothes who calmly took $14,000 at gunpoint from a bank here Friday night.

Authorities in the 13 western states and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were searching for the well-mannered gunman who took the money from five tellers' cages at the First Security Bank here and fled in heavy traffic at one of Ogden's busiest points.

The robber was described as 45-48 years of age, 6-2 or 6-3 and 200-225 pounds with silver gray temples and the appearance and manner of a business executive. He was wearing a red and black hunting coat and a baseball or hunting type cap and dark glasses.

Police said he entered the bank three minutes before closing time, approached one of the tellers and told her to fill a large canvas bag he brought with him. He then worked his way to four other tellers, each filling the man's bag reportedly without tripping a silent alarm.

One report was the man was followed to the door by a bank official, who was told in a quiet voice to "go back inside or I'll blow your head off."

He was reported carrying a .38-caliber revolver, apparently snub nosed.

The man acted calm and confident throughout the holdup, then walked slowly to a waiting car and disappeared.

REFINERY PLANNED TULSA (UPI) — The DX Division of Sun Oil Co. has disclosed that ground will be broken early this month for the $6 million complex to be built on the Caribbean Islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe. Sun has formed a French subsidiary to operate the venture.

3 Arrested In Murder Of Utah Man

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Police have arrested two Utahns and a California man in connection with the murder Thursday of Alfred W. Wesemann, 66, a local grocery store owner.

Police Sgt. N.K. Johnson said William H. Jordan Jr., 20, Fullerton, Calif.; Eugene G. Murphy, 21, Salt Lake City; and an unidentified 17-year-old youth also from Salt Lake City, were booked Friday on a first degree murder charge. Johnson said a formal complaint has not been signed.

Police found the victim slumped in the snow in front of his market, Wesemann Grocery, 1325 S. 8th West, at about 2:50 p.m. Thursday with a bullet wound through his heart. The victim was alive but died a few moments later en route to the LDS Hospital.

Johnson said the victim was apparently shot during a robbery attempt at his store. Police found approximately $150 left behind when the gunmen fled after shooting Wesemann. Investigators said two men saw Wesemann run out of his store and collapse in front of a white car being occupied by two men.

The car fled from the scene as the witnesses rushed to aid the store owner. Two youths saw the automobile stop about a block away and the occupants jump into another car driven by a man with a black beard.

The boys were not able to get the car's license number, but provided police with the year, make and color of the automobile.

Mining Engineers Hear Appeal For 'New Blood'

SPOKANE Wash. (UPI) — The mining industry needs a transition of "new blood" to keep pace with increased demands for minerals from the nation's growing economy, according to Hollis M. Dole, assistant secretary of Interior for mineral resources.

Dole, former director of Oregon's Department of Geology and Mineral Industries, keynoteed the opening session of the 75th annual convention of the National Mining Association here Friday.

"We desperately need new blood in mining today," Dole said. "Bright young minds, in strong young bodies, fired with energy, enthusiasm and imagination are requested by the thousands if our mining industry is to meet the challenge that confronts it."

Dole said the nation's mineral requirements were growing 10 times faster than the population but that the number of students studying mining at colleges and universities was at an all-time low.

One of the challenges faced by professional mining engineers, Dole said, was to resolve conflicts between mining and environmental interests.

Increased mining activity need not conflict with multiple use of the land, he said.

Dole said he expected a national minerals policy to be started soon to consider solutions for mineral resources problems.

National Potato Council Aide Will Address State Grower Meet In Burley

BURLEY—Doyle Burns, executive director of the National Potato Council, will be the featured speaker during the seventh annual state convention of the Potato Growers of Idaho.

Sessions are slated Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ponderosa Inn with state board and committee meetings and registration scheduled Monday.

Other speakers for the meeting, which will have as its theme, "Totally Involved in Idaho's Future," will include J. R. Simplot, Idaho Industrialist; Richard Kerbs, Blackfoot, state president; Clarence A. Parr, Burley, vice president; Don Johnson, Bakersfield, Calif.; Don MacKay, Idaho Falls; Jay Sherlock, administrator of the Idaho Potato Commission; Dell Raybould, vice president of the Potato Growers; Don Robertson, vice chairman of the Idaho Potato Commission, and Dr. Robert Kunkel, Washington, State University, Pullman.

Mr. Kerbs will report on progress of the state group Tuesday morning. Dr. Ron Ensign will speak on the latest potato research at the University of Idaho, and Mr. Robertson on the research and education committee of the Idaho Potato Commission.

Mr. Simplot will be the luncheon speaker. Agricultural labor problems in California will be discussed by Don Johnson, past president, Potato Growers of California.

Mr. McKay, of the Idaho Falls First National Bank, will address a men's breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. Wednesday. Other speakers will be Mr. Sherlock, Mr. Raybould, Dan Turner, vice president of the Maine Potato Council, as well as Mr. Burns, who will discuss national potato council promotion problems.

Wednesday afternoon a panel composed of growers will discuss marketing problems. A film will conclude the state meeting.

Events planned for the wives during the convention include a breakfast and style show Tuesday, courtesy of the B-Mary shop. The women will join the men for the luncheon, banquet and dance Tuesday.

Another style show featuring family clothes is slated for Wednesday noon with Mrs. Jim Martin as narrator. A special melodrama will be presented during the afternoon.

Co-chairmen of the annual session are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Conrad, Burley, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Topf, Hazelton.

Church Council Outraged At U.S. Policy On Vietnam

By LOUIS CASSELS

DETROIT (UPI)—The degree to which the Vietnam War has alienated Americans from their government was demonstrated here this week at the five-day general assembly of the National Council of Churches.

This was no gathering of campus radicals or black militants. It was an assembly composed predominantly of middle-age, middle-class, God-fearing folk from grass roots America.

But this reporter actually heard in five days of marathon oratory—only two speakers suggest that there might be some things about America to which its people could point with pride. And one of them was severely heckled.

By contrast, there were scores of speeches voicing shame, disgust or outrage at what America is doing in Vietnam.

On the closing night of the assembly, the delegates stood for a minute of silence in memory of American servicemen who had died in Vietnam. That was the only mention throughout the week of young Americans who have served honorably in Vietnam—at the risk and sometimes at the cost of their lives—because their country sent them there.

The heroes of the assembly were the youths who have refused to serve in the armed forces.

One resolution, adopted by virtually unanimous voice vote, called on U.S. churches to raise "substantial" funds for the financial support of American military deserters and draft-evaders who have taken refuge in Canada.

With only a scattering of no's, the assembly commended church members "whose consciences lead them to participate in antiwar demonstrations, and singled out for special praise the Oct. 15 Vietnam moratorium and the Nov. 13-15 march on Washington.

Altogether, the churchmen passed four resolutions on Vietnam. The longest and most substantive called for withdrawal of all U.S. forces "not later than the end of 1970," and urged President Nixon to seek a cease-fire "with or without the consent of Saigon."

T.F. Miss Is Local Winner In Bowl Try

Cynthia Ann Roland of Twin Falls has been named Miss Farmers Insurance Group of Twin Falls and will take part in a state contest, it was announced today.

The local contest was sponsored by the insurance organization to name a queen for its "Holiday in the Park" float at the 1970 tournament of roses parade in Pasadena, Calif. New Year's Day.

The winner of the Idaho contest will take part in a regional contest. First and second place national winners will be named at that event.

Winners will get an all-expense paid trip to Pasadena and will attend the Rose Bowl game. Miss Roland, 21, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roland, 229 Fourth Ave. E., and plans to make a career as a beautician.

Draft Lottery Creates Confusion In Minds Of Youngsters

By United Press International
Local draft boards have been flooded with questions since Monday's lottery. In many cases the boards don't know the answers; in others, the questions—such as "Will I be drafted?"—have no answer.

A UPI survey showed that the lottery left many potential draftees, and some draft boards, in confusion. The check also indicated some draft boards feel the lottery will not take the pressure off them, and the gamble inherent in the initial drawing will continue for some young men who must decide whether their luck in the draw was good enough to let them drop protective deferments.

Col. Charles L. White, chief of the Mississippi Selective Service Manpower Division, said "We've received a good many questions since the lottery drawing and frankly we couldn't answer all of them. We expect to get other instructions within the next week or 10 days."

The Miami Draft Boards reported the same thing.

Col. Charles L. White, chief of the Mississippi Selective Service Manpower Division, said "We've received a good many questions since the lottery drawing and frankly we couldn't answer all of them. We expect to get other instructions within the next week or 10 days."

Nixon Plans Drive To Extend Food Stamps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's chief adviser on hunger said Thursday that President Nixon wants the food stamp program extended into every county in the country and will try to achieve that goal by June 30.

The White House said, however, that while the administration is committed to a food program in every county by that time, it does not necessarily expect it to be a food stamp program. The other alternative is a food commodity distribution program.

At the final session of a White House-sponsored hunger conference, Dr. Jean Mayer acknowledged that Nixon could not force county officials who do not want food stamps to accept them. "But there are a great many things he can do. The President feels confident the food stamp program can be extended," he said.

RESOLVE TO IMPROVE
The holiday season is just ahead, reminds the Idaho State Police. Why not make a New Year's resolution now to be a better driver the rest of this year and in all of 1970? It might save your life!

CHECK VEHICLES NOW
Did you wait until December last year to have your vehicle inspected? The Idaho Department of Law Enforcement says that quite a few motorists did and if they wait that long again they may not be able to have an inspection made. Better do it now and avoid getting a costly citation.

Leonore Modell, 14-year-old schoolgirl of Sacramento, Calif., is the youngest person to swim the English Channel.

QUESTION

Do you think the completion of the Interstate highway past Jerome will help or hinder the city?

LOCATION

Interviews in this case were taken in Jerome businesses.

ANSWERS

NANCY HAMPTON: "I can't see how it could help!"

MRS. GEORGE SNELL: "I imagine it will hinder business here. If people were just passing through they might stop."

BEATRICE LARSEN: "No, I don't think it will. If they want to shop in Jerome they will anyway."

RICH MOORE: "I think it will affect the city really bad financially. The interstate also makes the long distances between towns much shorter."

'Operation Christmas' Gets Under Way At Local YWCA

Christmas shopping and mailings are not the only projects to be undertaken early in December, according to Mrs. Sally Molyneux, director of the YWCA. Organizations which plan to aid needy families, with the proper family and eliminating duplication of effort.

"We undertook this project at the request of the organizations themselves, several years ago," Mrs. Molyneux explained. "I act as clearing house for the Twin Falls 'Operation Christmas,' coordinating personality visit the families to school children bring to their determine their needs, the ages and sizes of the children, and then give the name to an organization according to the number of persons they have offered to provide for.

If the "Y" does not receive the names until just a few days before Christmas, it is impossible to check on all the needs, and often the volunteer organizations have already accepted responsibility for one or more families, she said.

The food items which grade school children bring to their schools, food baskets provided by the Elks lodge, and toys and games donated by the city fire department, are gathered at the Y. Members of the Hi-Y and Y-Teen groups from the high school spend several hours in sorting and packing the boxes and helping with deliveries, she said.

"Individuals who are not helping through any organization may contribute checks or cash to the program, as there is seldom enough meat to provide Christmas dinner for all families on the list," Mrs. Molyneux said. "Willard Swartley, former attendance officer for schools of the county, has been active in the Christmas project in past years and has been very helpful," Mrs. Molyneux added.

The number to call for "Operation Christmas" is 733-4384.

Director Of Mint Asks For Penny Donations This Year

Mary Brooks of Carey, director of the Bureau of the Mint in Washington, D. C., has issued an appeal to holiday donors to use pennies when they toss coins into the Salvation Army Christmas kettles.

"We realize that the Salvation Army needs dollars as well as to maintain its expensive program of helping others at Christmas," said Mrs. Brooks, "but our campaign to put pennies back into circulation is in response to a call from President Nixon for a reduction of government spending and elimination of wasteful duplication practices in government," the director added.

"We can continue to mint pennies," said Mrs. Brooks, "but, with a cutback in penny production, we could use the savings in metal and time to produce more coins of higher denomination so needed in our coin-operated economy."

Commander Samuel Hepburn, national commander of the Salvation Army, asked for generous support of the Army's "Share With Others" Christmas program and full cooperation with the mint's drive to put pennies back into circulation. Last year the Salvation Army kettle collections helped 2,300,120 persons have a more cheerful Christmas.

Priest Honored

MANILA (UPI) — The town council of Mambajao in the southern Philippines has made Father Arthur F. Shea, an American Catholic priest, an adopted son of the town.

The council cites Father Shea for his rescue efforts during two eruptions of Mt. Hibok-Hibok in Mambajao in 1948 and 1951 and for his role in upgrading education in the local university.

Father Shea was born in New York City and came to the Philippines more than 30 years ago.

JFK Left Estate Of $1.9 Million

BOSTON (UPI)—The personal fortune of President John F. Kennedy — not counting the many millions believed left in trust for members of his family — was almost $1.9 million when he died, it was learned Thursday.

The exact figure was disclosed in an inventory of assets filed in 1965 with the state Department of Corporations and Taxation by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the executor of the will.

The only land Kennedy owned in Massachusetts was his house in the family compound at Hyannis Port, valued at $46,250. His cash balance in various banks, including accounts kept for members of his family and close friends, was $116,377.37.

Twin Falls Elks Hold Class To Initiate New Members

A special initiation class for 15 new members of the Twin Falls Elks Lodge was held Thursday at the lodge.

Officials attending included Al Pierce, district deputy, Grand Exalted Ruler, Idaho South, from Mountain Home; Phil West, president of the state association, from Preston, and G. J. (Gib) Hunt, vice president of Idaho South, from Caldwell.

Local officials were Roy Russell, exalted ruler of the Twin Falls Lodge; John Leinen, vice president at large, and Bill Madland and Domer Bertsch.

There was a social hour and a dinner meeting, after which Mr. Pierce talked about lodge programs, and a tour of the local lodge was conducted.

Mr. Pierce has eight Elks Lodges in his jurisdiction.

The new members are: R. L. Tennant, R. G. Thompson, Al Irish, G. R. Eckert, Kenneth Elkin, R. M. Conant, T. W. Griggs, E. J. Foster, L. S. Siggart, L. C. Thaste, R. D. Shaddy, M. R. Hine, Bill McCallister, Dale Ford and A. F. Peavey.

Talk On Sex Education Wins Pencil

RUPERT — "Let's Reconsider Sex Education," a speech presented by Clyde Annis, was the blue-pencil winning speech during the weekly meeting of the Rupert Toastmasters Club last week.

Other competing speeches were "Big Business Out of Children's Play" by Don Redfield and "Ten Cent Dollar" by Richard Bohle.

"Why did you join Toastmasters and what do you expect to get out of it," was the general theme of the table topics discussion conducted by Pete Ford. The red pencil for that event went to Russell Mohlman.

Toastmaster was Ted Fujiki and Neal Breashears was chief evaluator. Individual speech critics were Ken Roth, Bob Walters and Ed Hartman.

Sen. Len Jordan Questioned On Vote Against Haynsworth

Editor, Times-News:
An open letter to Sen. Len Jordan.
As you know I have long admired your record as a conservative Senator. Lately, however, I have been more than slightly disturbed with some of your votes and I feel that two of these votes deserve comment.
Your reported vote for Sen. Hugh Scott is a slap in the face for many conservatives. Sen. Scott has a long record as a leader of the liberal establishment; he was outspoken in his opposition to a Republican presidential candidate, and has worked long and diligently to torpedo the youth of the party; namely the Young Republican National Federation.
More recently, I am extremely disturbed by your stand on the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth. You stated, in your speech explaining the reasons why you voted against him, that you had never so much as heard of him during any previous vote made

Addison Avenue Issue Brought Up By Lawyer

Editor, Times-News:
The complaints of the people in the areas annexed to the city are certainly justified when they complain that they have taxation without representation. One can almost envision Patrick Henry rising from the grave.
Those of you, however, who have been annexed without any right to vote on the subject, should not feel absolutely alone. I live on Addison Avenue and rumor has it that the city council intends to give Addison Avenue to the state of Idaho and the United States government without any compensation whatsoever to the residents of the city of Twin Falls. If this deal is made before the first of the year, it will even be done by city fathers who, in political vernacular, are termed as "lame ducks."
The condemnation statutes of Idaho and the Idaho Constitution specifically emphasizes that no property can be taken without just compensation, but apparently the city intends to avoid this issue by giving Addison Avenue away.
Another interesting point is that public property cannot be disposed of except on bids, and this requirement can be obviated by a gift.
I cannot help but feel that the city council is giving away with one hand and grabbing with the other. Maybe you people who have been annexed can catch the city council in the giving mood and get them to give you back your land. Better yet, why don't you go for Dierke's Lake, the city water department, our fire department or police department. You certainly deserve these things more than the state or federal government does.

in the Senate; that the pressure from the White House and from your friends at home had never been so extreme. This is the point that bothers me.
Considering that you were one of President Nixon's most outspoken supporters throughout the campaign of 1968, and considering that you are a deep personal friend of the president, and considering how important the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth was to the president, I find it very difficult to believe that you would receive, much less have occasion to resent pressure from the White House.
Also, I know of no person in Idaho who was pressured by the White House to urge you to vote for Judge Haynsworth. Therefore, I think it is extremely important that you tell the people of Idaho what person or persons in the White House pressured what people in Idaho into pressuring you for the confirmation.
My wife and I sent you a telegram urging your vote for confirmation of the judge and many of our friends contacted you, urging confirmation, yet none of us was pressured by the White House.
Is it that you believe the people in your constituency are not capable of making a personal determination of support for or against a particular issue in the Senate? Or is it Senator, that you are more liberal than you would like the people of Idaho to believe?

Support Shown For Teacher In Shoshone School
Editor, Times-News:
In regards to Mr. Stears letter in last Sunday's forum, I too would like to express my opinion. As far as I'm concerned, Mr. Bowlin is doing an excellent job as a teacher and principal of the Shoshone Grade School.
My five children have a total of 36 years of school and in their school years there were only three teachers who I felt didn't deserve the title of public school teacher.
—And Mr. Bowlin does not fall into this category.
My son has brought home quite a few of his math, science and social studies papers. I feel that he will be well equipped for the seventh grade next fall.
I have talked to a number of sixth grade children and their parents. I have found out that the children like and respect Mr. Bowlin very much. Mr. Bowlin demands discipline on the school grounds and in his class rooms. I feel this has been lacking in our grade school the past few years.

Idaho Driving Laws Are Hit By Jerome Man
Editor, Times-News:
Idaho can rightly be proud that its driver education is ranked number two in the nation. This is an excellent record for a program that is only about eight years old.
In spite of this, the death rate on Idaho's highways continues to climb. Today, Idaho has the distinction of having more deaths per mile driven than any other western state and twice the per capita death rate of California.
Obviously an excellent driver education program is a good beginning, but it is not enough. Many suggestions have been presented that can help reduce the problem and the legislature is expected to enact laws toward this end when it meets in January.
As our laws presently stand, any person who is 16 years of age can get a driver's license, even if he or she has failed driver education. Further practice in driving is not even required. They can get a license the same day they fail the class. I feel this is ridiculous, for it obviously puts unqualified drivers on the road. If you feel as I do, that this should be changed, tell your legislators. This could be the year something is done about it.

Jerome Farmer Complains About Price Of Beans
Editor, Times-News:
I have a question to ask. Why does it take $12.25 a hundred to sell our beans? My wife sent me to get some chili beans and they were 40 cents for two pounds. I have got the price tag and bag for proof. We get $7.75 per hundred for raising them. It takes about six months of hard work, worry and expense. If it was all broken down I think it would cost between $5 and $6 per hundred to raise them.
I am not too smart, but I don't think we are getting a fair shake.

Editor, Times-News:
In looking across the Magic Valley the last few days I have noticed the smog almost completely hides the mountains. Therefore, I would like to raise the question how much do we need or want jet airliners coming in and taking off in this area?

Chemicals In Food Brings Comment From Buhl Writer

Editor, Times-News:
There is some talk in Congress about tax reform and the harmful effect of DDT. It is one of the most harmful of all the 600 chemicals being used. First they banned cyclamates, such as saccharin, sucaryl and so on which we feel are not harmful at all. Those who have diabetes have used them the past 25 or

Stocks-Fall As Dow Average Dips Below Vital 800 Level

By HOWARD LUXENBERG
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The collapse of Wall Street's most widely-publicized support area of 1969 sent stocks tumbling this week in moderately active trading.

Once the Dow Jones Industrial average fell through the 800 line the rush to sell began. Earlier in the year the 800-level had been the resistance point for numerous setbacks. And, as one analyst commented, when it became apparent that the DJ would stay below 800 "morale soured and everybody latched onto everything unfavorable."

After the dust settled the DJ, which reflects movement in 30 selected blue chips, was off a whopping 19.27 at 793.03, its lowest level since the 791.14 of Jan. 4, 1967. DJ rail and utilities also pointed lower.

The UPI market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, showed a loss of 3.90 at 89.53. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks dropped 2.03 to 91.73.

The New York Stock Exchange index measured a drop of $1.29 to $51.20 in the average common share price.

Newton Zinder, analyst for E. F. Hutton, said the drop below 800 was a psychological blow to many investors, but he believed the list was deeply oversold and due for a snap back.

Other analysts pointed out that traders also were discouraged by inflation, tight credit, high interest rates, and by prospects for lower than expected corporate profits next year.

Henry Kaufman, a partner in Salomon Bros. & Hutzler, said the corporate profit squeeze could be worse than expected and earnings could drop by as much as 15 to 20 per cent in 1970. He addressed the European Institutional Investor Conference in London.

Moreover, a 3.4 per cent drop in unemployment in November was viewed as a major setback in President Nixon's war on inflation. He had been warning that a higher jobless rate may be expected as part of the fight to combat inflation.

Monte Gordon, Baché & Co., vice president said the unemployment figures seemed to indicate that Washington's policy of restraint isn't biting yet.

Andrew F. Brimmer, a member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, said after careful study of recent economic trends and the outlook for coming months it is his opinion the battle against inflation still has to be won.

Of the 1,742 issues crossing the tape, 1,353 declined, 282 gained. There were 481 new lows set, 20 highs.

Turnover swelled to 55,606,460 shares from 41,701,490 shares during the previous holiday-abbreviated week. But it was substantially below the 65,537,280 shares which changed hands during the year ago period.

Just about every stock group was pointing lower, with most point-plus losers noted in the oils, airlines, electronics, and conglomerates.

Rails also took a pounding, although an agreement was reached on a new contract between the country's railroads and four shopcraft unions, averting a threatened nationwide rail shutdown.

Among the week's biggest losers were Memorex, down 17, Polaroid 10, Motorola 6%, Atlantic Richfield 6%, Superior Oil 6% and Collins Radio 6%.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Over the counter U.S. Government Treasury bonds this week.

Shoshone To Open Road To Dump Area After Request

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone City Council has agreed to act on suggestions of delegations of local citizens in two issues heard at meetings this week, according to Mrs. Claude Chess, City Clerk.

The old road to the city dump grounds, which has been closed recently to regulate dumping there, will again be opened, and cinder blocks placed at corners of city streets to keep traffic out of the oiled sections of the road will be removed.

However, the council asks cooperation of citizens in both cases, urging the proper use of the dump grounds, using the area where marked, as a program is under way to build up a sanitary land fill and this can be accomplished only by this cooperation.

Another more suitable method of marking the road edges may be introduced later, but in the meantime, the council points out the dangers and cost of cutting sharp corners and edgeways on city roads.

Engineers Smith & Jewell and Frank Dallas, Shoshone, and Weldon Weigle, Boise, from the FHA office, met with the council Wednesday evening regarding the sewer program. Another meeting is set for next Tuesday on further action in this matter.

Beer and liquor licenses were issued at the council meeting along with card table licenses and bar-tender permits.

A water easement was accepted by the Bill Moon property allowing the water line to be paid across some of his property.

News Of Servicemen

Sgt. Gary C. Bates, a 1952 graduate of Twin Falls High School, and his fellow service men at Binh-Thuy Air Base, Vietnam, have been awarded the Vietnamese-Civil Action Medal, marking the first time the medal has been awarded to American servicemen. The men were cited for completing more than 80 projects during the past year to better the welfare of the Vietnamese and Viet Cong defectors. Base sponsored programs ranged from construction of an orphanage in Binh Loc hamlet to homes for Viet Cong who surrendered to Vietnamese government officials.
 Sgt. Bates, the son of Mrs. Edith Bates, Twin Falls, is purchasing supervisor with the 632nd Combat Support Group.

Army Pfc. Richard B. Stivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stivers, Twin Falls, has completed a 36-week study of the Vietnamese language at the Defense Language Institute Support Command at Biggs Field, Fort Bliss, Tex.
 He was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1964 and received his B.A. degree in 1968 from the University of Idaho.

Starting Tomorrow the ID will be open every Night until 9 P.M. (Saturday until 5:30)

Howa's 39 Points Pace Twin Falls To Victories Over Jerome And Burley

The Twin Falls Bruins, getting 39 points from Allen Howa and solid rebounding from John Van Engelen, swept a weekend home series by dropping the Jerome Tigers 64-54 Saturday night after nipping Burley 51-47 Friday night.

Filer Sweeps Two Games From Payette

FILER — The Filer Wildcats jumped out to a 12-point lead in the last 60 seconds of the first quarter and coasted home in an error and four-filled game 78-62 over Payette Saturday night for a weekend sweep of the Western Conference.

Saturday's contest must have set some kind of record for traveling violations. In addition, 55 fouls were called, and wild passes flew back and forth every few seconds.

Payette's only tie came at the 3:55 mark of the initial frame, at 10-10. 5-11 guard John Goff was the only consistent scorer of the night for the Pirates, hitting from everywhere for 23 points.

Friday the only excitement came from the junior varsity game, which was won by Filer 37-34 in the last minute of play. The varsity took advantage of error-prone Pirate scoreless spells of three and six minutes to blow the game out of reach near the end of the second quarter.

After a tight first period, which was deadlocked 11-11, Payette guard John Seal sank a free throw to knot the score at 15-15 in the second quarter. That came at 4:50, and for the next three minutes the Pirates didn't score.

The Wildcats emptied the bench in the third quarter and three times ran their huge lead to 30 points, but Payette inched up a bit in the fourth quarter.

troubles in getting 13 Friday night, came up with 26 points against the stubborn Tigers who had a pair of hot hands in Roger Campbell and Dave Graham, who split 40. Twin Falls mustered a 13-point lead in the first quarter but Jerome rallied back to within three at one point of the second period and it wasn't until late in the game that the Bruins could pull safely ahead.

After some early scrabbling, Twin Falls broke ahead at 6-5 on a Vic Wells shot and while the Tigers could manage only a free throw by Scheer, the Bruins got points from almost everyone to explode in front 19-6 at the quarter rest.

But Graham opened the second quarter with a bucket and Jim Meeks hit a three-point play to start Jerome's comeback. After Howa hit, Campbell got four points and Graham three to close the count to 21-17.

The Bruins got a quick 10-point margin as the second half began on a three-pointer from Howa and after Tony Sirucek's long shot and after that Jerome was at least five points behind but never out until the final minutes.

The Bruins turned to the free throw line to outlast Burley 51-47 Friday night with juniors Mike Crandall and Larry Blackwood doing most of the charity hitting.

Burley's biggest lead came at 3-0 and its last was 7-6 before Vic Wells and Allen Howa hit to send Twin Falls in front to stay.

The Bruins stayed from four to eight points ahead through most of the next two and one-half quarters, and hit their biggest margin at 42-32 with 4:18 left in the game.

Burley cut to within six before Twin Falls stretched back to 46-36 with 1:56 which should have wrapped it up.

But lefty Mike Kloepper started hitting then, picking up seven points in the next 46 seconds. Nelson added a long one-hander and with 26 seconds left Burley trailed only 50-47. Burley had one last chance with eight seconds remaining, putting the ball in play from under its own basket. But the shot never got off as Twin Falls picked the ball out of a melee and threw to Crandall on a fast break.

He missed the crumple at the buzzer but was fouled and added the last point after the game had ended.

Richfield, Dietrich Win At Jamboree

CAREY — The Dietrich Blue Devils and the host Carey Panthers won on New Year's Eve Saturday night in a Northside Conference season-opening jamboree.

Carey jumped into a prohibitive lead in the first half and went on to beat Bliss 64-42 while Dietrich had to pull away in the second half to decision the Richfield Tigers 61-41.

Carey, putting nine men in the scoring column, opened up a 14-7 lead in the first quarter and by halftime was firmly in control, 29-15. Bart Mardock and Rob Peck hit 15 and 14, respectively, to pace the victory.

Dietrich, after shooting a miserable 18 per cent from the field in the first half, blazed red-hot in the second and jumped the percentage to 46 in downing Richfield.

Richfield led 11-7 at the end of the first quarter and was only a point behind at halftime. But in the third quarter Dietrich started hitting everything while Richfield managed only seven points.

Hospitalized

BURLEY — Ron Budge, football coach and long time basketball coach at Burley High School, was in Cassia Memorial Hospital Saturday after suffering an apparent heart attack.

The attack came early Saturday morning. Mr. Budge has been affiliated with the Burley High School athletic department since 1939.

Record Crowd Sees Utags Defeat Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — In the state of Utah — saw Utah State pick up its third win with a 61-60 lead midway in the second half.

Utah State, which made a fine comeback early in the second half but turned ice-cold in the stretch, was led by Mike Roberts, a 6-8 forward, scored 27 points to lead the Aggies before fouling out and teammate Nate Williams, a sophomore, added 19 points.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary stopp... fruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

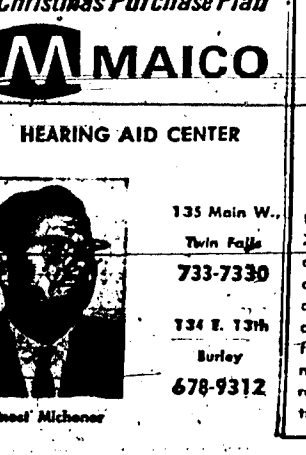

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will steadily drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to:

Citrus-Diet-Plan
5211 W. Jefferson
L.A. Calif. 90016

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

Longhorns Rally For Two Last-Quarter Touchdowns To Defeat Arkansas 15-14

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—The climax to football's central season, President Nixon and a crowd of 43,000 saw the Longhorns struggle between two undefeated titans, scored from two yards on Saturday to hand Texas a 15-14 decision over Arkansas in

Street Enjoys Challenges, Calls Arkansas 'Great Team'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—James Street wore a smile across his face that told the story of 100 years of football. He had won, and he was happy. Street, the University of Texas' big-play quarterback, would be the first guy to give the third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks another crack at the Longhorns' No. 1 national ranking.

Camas County Overpowers Raft River

FAIRFIELD—Randy Bauscher and Rick Giesler split 24 points and anchored the defense and rebounding Friday night as the Camas County Mustangs dropped the Raft River 61-52.

Camas County burst away in the middle two quarters, outscoring the Trojans 41-27 during that time and taking a 16-point lead into the final eight minutes. The first quarter was tight with Raft River picking up points on fast breaks but Camas County managed to stop the Trojans' running.

Raft River won the preliminary. Camas County 61, Raft River 52. Camas County: 1-0-1 Tracy 4-10-12, R. Busch 8-9-13 Edwards 4-4-12, Lee 2-1-5 Wickel 2-3-7, Fakhur 1-1-3 Drogan 2-4-9, Geiler 0-0-3 Neddho 1-2-4, Shippy 0-0-3 Hutchins 1-4-4, Vandike 0-2-3 Kosmas 0-2-1, Ashmead 1-1-2, Baron 1-1-2.

Display 'Cap Won By Quicken Tree

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louis Rowan's Quicken Tree rumped to an easy victory Saturday at Aqueduct in the 15th renewal of the $60,200-Display Handicap before 40,795 fans. With Fernando Alvarez in the irons, the 6-year-old gelding finished seven lengths in front of Meadow Stable's Hydrologist in the two-mile run, America's longest handicap stake on the dirt. Three parts of a length farther back in third place was Gustave Ring's Ship Leave.

Oakley Runs Past North Gem 59-42

OAKLEY—Oakley broke open a tight game early in the fourth quarter Friday night when North Gem tried a full court press and coasted past the visitors 59-42 in its opening game of the season.

McLaws and Hardy began to hit the boards in the second half, putting the Hornets away from a tight 23-21 intermission margin. North Gem kept in the game until the fourth period on the strength of 20 free throws.

Gophers Fall To UCLA By 72-71

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Henry Bibby's 27-foot jump shot with 45 seconds left in overtime gave NCAA Champion UCLA a 72-71 come-from-behind victory over Minnesota Saturday.

The Bruins tied the game 68-68 with three seconds left on a tip-in by Sidney Wicks. The shot came after John Vallely had missed a jumpshot.

In the overtime, UCLA won the tip and scored six seconds later on Vallely's jumpshot from the corner. After Minnesota's Ollie Shannon lost the ball, the Bruins went into a stall, but the Gophers recovered the ball and Shannon put them ahead with a three-point play with 1:27 left in the overtime.

Texas and No. 2-ranked Penn State, Orange Bowl bound against Missouri, and San Diego State wound up as the only unbeaten major teams in the nation.

Coach Frank Broyles had planned to try and stop Texas' sweep and give them short yardage up the middle, relying on linebackers Cliff Powell and Lynn Carter to stop the inside plays while the bulk of the Porter defense went wide with the flow.

It almost worked. The Razorbacks held Texas to 244 yards on the ground and that was well below their average of 276.2—the nation's best. What it could not stop was the "big play." Texas gave up the ball six times—four times on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions.

San Diego Wins Pasadena Bowl With 28-7 Decision Over Boston University

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Quarterbacks Dennis Shaw and Brian Sipe unleashed scoring passes of 34 and 57 yards to lead the San Diego State Aztecs to a hard-fought 28-7 victory over Boston University in the Pasadena Bowl.

The Terriers could unleash only one scoring thrust in the first period but displayed their customary stout defense led by defensive back Bruce Taylor that brought them a 9-1 regular season record.

The Aztecs went into the game with a 46.4 points per game scoring average this year but could not untrack until the second quarter when Shaw finally got them rolling for a pair of touchdowns. Sipe took over in the third period to throw one touchdown pass and rush over another score.

San Diego State, which is trying desperately to get into the big time in college football, finished its year with an 11-0 record.

Boston put on its only scoring drive in the first period on a 71-yard march after linebacker Pat Hughes intercepted a Shaw pass. The key gain of the drive was a 47-yard run by Mike Fields to the San Diego six.

Boston quarterback Sam Holmberg was intercepted by Shaw.

Hole-In-One

Robert Youree got his first hole in one Friday. The Twin Falls business man, using an eight iron, drove the ball 115 yards on the sixth hole at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

Witnesses were Denny Hogue, Fred Maltz, Dick Serpa, Mel Gresky and Jack Claiborn.

defensive reputation—but could only garner the one touchdown before the Aztecs started rolling.

to then hit Frank Jewett in the end zone with a pass. San Diego completed a 47-yard march in the first minute of the second quarter with fullback John Kafka going over to a hard-fought 28-7 victory from the three after Shaw kept the drive going on short passes.

The second scoring thrust came after Aztecs' safety Galen Pavelko intercepted a Holo pass and returned it 19 yards to the San Diego 38. Shaw drove San Diego 61 yards on four straight passes and the march was climaxed by the 34-yard scoring throw to Featherstone on the goal line.

Sipe replaced Shaw midway in the third period and on his first pass attempt hit Featherstone with the 57-yard aerial bomb and the winners' third touchdown.

In the final period, Sipe drove San Diego 75 yards and scored on a one-yard keeper. Shaw, the nation's total offense leader, completed 16 passes of 29 attempted for 221 yards in his final collegiate appearance. He sat out nearly half the game to give Sipe, a sophomore, some experience for next season.

American Falls Drops Jerome 44-34

JEROME—American Falls pined up a nine-point lead in the first quarter Friday night and that just about told the story as they routed the Jerome Tigers' home opener 44-34.

Jerome, having trouble hitting in the early going, managed to come back a little in the second quarter with American Falls holding a six-point lead at intermission. The visitors established their 10-point bulge in the third period and the final was spent in basket matching.

Agnew Voices Liking For 'Newsladies'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday he's not against the press but given a choice, he prefers women reporters. "They're prettier, nicer, and they're more objective," he said when he dropped in on a coffee given by his wife, Judy, for women reporters at the refurbished Blair House, the presidential guest home across the street from the White House.

The vice president promised at least one more attention-getting speech before he and Mrs. Agnew leave Dec. 28 for an Asian tour.

"I'll have something rather interesting to say in December," Agnew said. It will be a "major speech" but would not deal with two of his favorite subjects, the press or protesters, he said. He would not give the date or subject.

Burley Knife, Fork Club To Hear Talk On World Events

BURLEY — Grant C. Butler, Los Angeles, and a representative of Pan American Airways, will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. Monday during the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club dinner meeting at Burley Elks Lodge dining room.

GRANT BUTLER

Mr. Butler has been traveling extensively in Africa, Asia and the Middle East for 15 years and at one time was field representative for the American Arabian Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia.

Just recently he returned from another observation trip to Asia and Africa. He was one of the few analysts who were granted interviews with Nasser and other key persons.

He has been acclaimed for his enlightenment and inspiration and for his humor. Too, for in spite of the seriousness of things he always finds exactly the right place to add a dash of humor to put his talk in the proper perspective and easy to take club officials note, and brings out all the facts about all the facts about all the places where news is being made at the minute.

His interviews with key persons of every important country and those that are emerging and might be important later on, enable him to give his listeners accurate accounts of what is going on, what may go on later and what the end results will be.

A graduate of two universities, Northwestern and U.C.L.A., as well as having received a commission in World War II from the University of Florida, Butler served with the Ninth Air Force in France and Germany. He has had articles and short stories on the Middle East appearing in several national magazines in the United States and in publications in Europe.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

om, Dad and the whole family can enjoy a new sense of freedom with total electric living. Freedom from the obsolete, nuisance chores of home-making. Freedom from the time-consuming demands of unpleasant tasks. More time for the things you want to do. Freedom from worry, drudgery, unnecessary tiredness. Each of the Reddy helpers shown here can provide another step towards your own DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Santa loves total electric homes with their flameless electric heat . . . no dirty chimneys! No heating smoke, smudge or dirt on draperies, wallpaper and furniture either. It's the reason why electric homes are so clean and so easy to keep clean: Emancipate your family from outmoded heating. Conversion is easy. Learn why an all-electric dwelling is the home of the free.

You were born free, so stay free with an electric dishwasher. Escape from the pots and pans when dinner is over. New portable and built-in dishwashers take them all, your finest silver and glassware, too. Hotter water and stronger detergents increase dishwashing sanitation. Get a modern electric dishwasher and declare kitchen freedom!

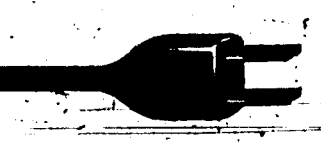

Men, ransom your wife from the ironing board! Put her on an "iron-free" diet with permanent press clothing and flameless washing and drying. With modern electric drying, stay-press fabrics stay pressed! You can clothe your family better, neater and fresher with a smaller wardrobe and the jiffy service of electric laundry equipment. Liberate your wife with flameless electric drying!

New frost-free refrigerators save skinned knuckles as they eliminate the chipping, scraping, melting mess of defrosting. They save tempers, too. To foil Jack Frost, see the beautiful new over-and-under and side-by-side, space-saver refrigerator-freezers at your favorite electrical dealer's. Now's the time to move out of the ice age.

A few years ago, Reddy Kilowatt (the homemaker's best friend) came up with a self-cleaning oven. Now most new electric ranges have ovens that clean themselves. No need to load up with expensive cleaners and inadequate scrapers. Nor to break fingernails and blacken hands. Get a good looking, good cooking flameless electric range. Liberation is here with the "cleans-itself" oven.

Gold Star Stamp, Too

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From J. L. P., Pocatello, Idaho: I have a piece of paper money. I have been trying to find out about for a long time. On the front of it are the words "The Japanese Government, Promises to pay the bearer on Demand, Ten Dollars," with the number "10" in each corner, and the letters MN on the lower left hand corner. Across the face, diagonally, the words "Wang Japon Akan Matti Ber sama Jepun." There is a picture of a banana tree on this side. On the back there are three columns of printing. One column starts out with the words "Sekarang di-negeri Burma"; the next column is in some funny looking foreign language and the last column is printed, I think, in Japanese. I found this note in a second hand store, along with some other foreign paper money, but I have not been able to identify it. Can you tell me about it? Also, the value, if any.

supposed to be those printed for invasion of the United States, but they were coded by letter (M) for Malaya and the dollars were not for United States dollars, but for the Straits or Malayan dollars, which were worth at that time, about fifty cents, compared to the Japanese yen, then worth about twenty five cents.

The current price of the entire set is about $3.00, this being due to the fact that a western dealer had a chance to purchase, and did purchase, several thousand complete sets in new condition, before they went to a paper-processing plant where they were to be ground up for pulp.

The particular note you have, however, is considered rare, and brings as much as twenty dollars, if in very fine condition, which is considerably more than it was worth when it was issued. The printing on the back of the note is a propaganda message printed in three languages: Malayan, Arabic and Japanese. Spacecraft Hit Ocean With Jolt

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 12's Yankee Clipper command ship smacked so hard into the Pacific Ocean it knocked parts of the flat heat shield off the bottom of the cone-shaped craft.

It was the hardest splash-down in Apollo history.

Randall Stone, a spacecraft engineer in quarantine with Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean, checked the moonship Thursday. He was the first person inside the Yankee Clipper since it was sealed on the deck of the recovery carrier USS Hornet.

Stone said it was too early to tell if the hard landing, caused by the craft striking flat on a sloping wave instead of slicing gently into the water, had damaged the spacecraft frame. But he said it knocked off part of the cork heat shield.

This is the first Apollo that has had any separated material on the heat shield," Stone said. "There were chunks missing." Dr. Clarence Jernigan, who sat on the Apollo 12 crew's medical debriefing, said the worst medical problem of the flight was irritation Conrad suffered from biomedical sensors attached to his body to record heartbeat and breathing.

Jernigan said the paste used to hold the sensors on is being analyzed to see if its chemistry had changed or if it contained foreign material that might have caused the irritation, which Conrad described as like poison ivy rash.

ALL 50 UNITS OF THE Jerome senior citizen housing project, Heritage Homes, have been filled since the structure was completed last March and is operating in the black. Rev. Harold Livingston is president of the Jerome Housing Authority board and Larry Harper is executive director. A recreation hall is available for use by not only Heritage Home residents but any civic group or club in the area.

Office Girl Finds 'Boss' Shuns Appeal

Crazy World of Washington By LEON BURNETT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd.

This young lady had been working in this particular Washington office for something like a year, her bureau rat boss related, and seemed pretty savvy—if a bit flighty.

Time came for the boss to take some year-end vacation.

One day before he left, she bounced up to him and inquired: "Who's going to take your place while you're gone?"

"Oh," he said, "just wait and see who's taking care of my work."

"But," she protested, "I don't know what you do."

A release from the Army, in its entirety:

"Going to work for Nancy Rewis is like going home, but not exactly."

Mrs. Rewis, an employe of the U.S. Army, Combat Development Command (CDC), claims to have lived most of her married life in a house-trailer. In addition, her late father managed a trailer agency.

However, Nancy and her husband, Jim, recently decided to make the break from trailers and bought a real house in nearby Alexandria, Va.

"And what happened when Nancy came back to work at CDC after moving into her new fixed abode? She found her section had been moved into an office trailer."

An inflation-irritated gentleman arrived at the checkout counter of a supermarket in the Virginia suburbs, pointed with wicked glee at the label on a can of fruit and told the checker:

"Aha, you goofed! That's the same price it was last week."

Then he proceeded to tell other shoppers about "the great bargain over in Aisle 6."

Word-colners on the Democratic National Committee's publication "Demo Memo" now have come up with "Nixonomics."

Richfield House Damaged In Fire

RICHFIELD — A fire at the Udell Robinson residence in Richfield was put out with only minor damage to the living room wall and furnishings.

Mrs. Robinson discovered the fire and called the fire department. Firemen found the overheated stovetop had caused fire to go up the chimney and smolder in colotex. They used a fire extinguisher and dug out the burning matter after removing paneling to reach the site of the fire.

Fire Chief Lyle Piper stated six volunteer firemen responded to the fire siren, and many other persons volunteered help. The fire siren was blown in two series of calls to reach firemen who were working at the Richfield airport.

Wins Election

GLENN'S FERRY — Frank Irons, Hammett, was returned to office on the Glenns Ferry Highway District Board by a vote of 183 to 116 for his opponent, Lee Nichols, Glenns Ferry.

Robert Graham, King Hill, is chairman of the board, and Wilson Steen, Glenns Ferry, the third board member.

Book Review

By BETH DICKSON
Twin Falls Public Library

"What do you ask?"

"To try my vocation as a Benedictine in the House of Brede."

With these words the postulant and reader alike enter Brede Abbey in the delicately definitive novel by Rumer Godden, "In This House of Brede," understandably on the best-seller lists almost since publication this summer.

Philippa Talbot, a successful London career woman, astounds her associates with the announcement that, at 42, she is renouncing success, wealth, friends, her "good life" for that of a nun.

Centered around Philippa's entry into the life of a nun, the larger story is that of existence in an enclosed religious house, and the significance of this contemplative life in today's world. The power of unceasing prayer is a minor theme.

The "outsider" view is provided mostly by McTurk, the one of her circle of friends who understands Philippa's action and keeps in contact with her.

Trained to lead, she learns to follow, trained to aggressiveness, she learns humility, trained to self-sufficiency, she learns to accept and to give in the community. By losing herself, she finds a meaningful life behind the grille.

Almost before one episode is complete in the telling, another takes place, leaving no chance for reader boredom. Definitely not for casual reading, it is a deeply thoughtful treatment of a nun's life on both spiritual and temporal planes. The claustrophobic concern with food, clothing, shelter and budget make the nun's awareness of the physical world real, but incidental to their main purpose of unceasing prayer and glorification of God.

Providential events are reported with a matter-of-factness that only suggests the supernatural through comments of the various sisters. A mysterious knock on the Abbess's door leads the way out of a financial snarl.

Chicken pox isolates Philippa with the one sister she cannot accept. Five Japanese postulant nuns are due to Brede, perhaps the only house in the world with a Japanese-speaking sister.

You will feel the abbey cold, the love, the authoritative "pecking" order, the oneness, the dedicated purpose of the community of nuns.

The author's ability to enter the heart of her characters and take from the heaped-up emotions there those pertinent to human action we have already seen in "The Greenage Summer," "An Episode of Sparrows," "The Household Madonna" and others of her 16 books, including her autobiographical "Two Under an Indian Sun."

The skillful amalgam of many small stories into one homogenous whole leaves the reader feeling he has experienced a period in the House of Brede and learned to know the individuals in a community of very real, devout women purposefully reaching for the good life.

Land Law Commission Charts South Idaho Field Hearings

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's commission on federal land laws will conduct four field hearings in Southern Idaho this month, state Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, said.

Little said the hearings will be held at Salmon Dec. 8; Idaho Falls, Dec. 9; Twin Falls, Dec. 11, and at Payette, Dec. 12.

All hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the county courthouse located in each hearing site, Little said. At these hearings, Idahoans are invited to present their views on any of the public land laws or regulations of public land administering agencies, he said.

Persons desiring to make statements for the record are asked to bring 10 copies of their statements with them to the hearing at which they are to be presented, he said.

Little said the Idaho commission then will meet in Boise for discussion of the recommendations it will present to the Public Land Law Review Commission in Washington, D.C., on Dec. 31.

He said the state commission desires especially to have the views of grass roots Idahoans who use the public lands for either recreational and aesthetic uses or economic uses.

"We can only make our views as representatives of Idaho as Idahoans will give us their views to do so," he said. "We consider the field hearings vital to our work."

Earlier, the commission conducted similar hearings in Northern Idaho.

Jerome Heritage Home Is Filled, Operating In Black

JEROME — Heritage Homes low rent housing for Senior Citizens which was completed last March, is filled and operating in the black.

The 50 units are electrically heated and laundry facilities are located in the recreation hall for use by the residents. The recreation hall is available for use by the residents of Heritage Homes and also any civic groups or clubs in the area.

Larry Harper is executive director for the Jerome Housing Authority which is made up of five members, with one to five year terms, appointed by the Jerome City Council.

Rev. Harold Livingston serving his second one year term is president; Mrs. D. M. Jacobson, serving five years, is vice-president; Ross Lee will end his three year term in January; Florence Noland, serving a two year term, and Guy Simmons, serving four years.

Other Jerome residents who have served on the JHA board are Rev. John Garbrandt, Bill Last, Judge J. H. Silbaugh and K. Clark.

Search Is Made For Nurses Who 'Get Involved'

A search is now under way by officials of District one of Idaho's Nurses Association for registered nurses who have been involved in raising the health or social climate of their communities.

Mary Brown, president of the district, said the purpose of the search is to identify these nurses and to draw public attention to their good deeds that so many of our nurses are doing in the area.

She said the search is part of a national program.

All nurses in the district are urged to nominate a candidate.

Utahns Held For Bilking Boise Man

BOISE (UPI)—Two Ogden, Utah men accused of bilking a service station attendant of $30 in cash and a $170 check were arraigned in Justice Court Thursday on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Bond for Leo L. Beus, 42, and David C. Monson, 23, was set at $1,500 each.

City police said one man allegedly went to a Boise service station for gasoline and discovered that a diamond was "missing" from his ring. When a search failed to turn up the "missing diamond" he offered a reward of $500 and gave the attendant a phony name and address.

Four Valley Students Are Honored

POCATELLO — Twenty-nine Idaho State University students have been named to the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1969-70, it was reported.

Valley students named include Scott McClure, Jerome, president of the associated students and a senior majoring in general engineering; Larry Kaufman, student vice president and a senior accounting major from Buhl; Connie Van Ostran, Twin Falls, a senior majoring in physics.

Musician Will Donate Talent To Elks Dance

Music for the Jan. 17 Elks Lodge Building Campaign dance will be furnished by Ray Crumbliss and the Saints.

Mr. Crumbliss and his group are well known throughout the state and have backed many famous recording artists. Mr. Crumbliss will donate the music for the event to help kick-off the building fund. He is a member of the Elks lodge and has played for many previous dances for the Elks members.

His band is known as one of the most versatile in this area, playing country music, rock and pop numbers. He plays lead guitar with the group.

Goal for the Jan. 17 dance is $1,000 and tickets are now on sale by all past exalted rulers. In addition to raising funds for their new building, Elks are continuing their regular annual projects in which some $10,000 to $12,000 is spent for such charities as the Elks Rehabilitation Center in Boise, dedicated to medical care for children.

PUTTING INTO PRACTICE newly learned wrestling techniques, young Brian Dey throws Doug McClure to the mat. These are two of about 80 first and second graders enrolled in the city-school sponsored wrestling program. In addition to the small fry, the program offers training to youngsters of the first through sixth grades in the five-week training session.

CLOSE SUPERVISION is provided by Steve Buratto, high school wrestling coach, as two first grade grapplers go at it in the Saturday wrestling program sponsored by the Twin Falls City Recreation Department and school district. Young wrestlers are Brian Dey and Doug McClure, on the bottom.

Wrestling Program Stresses Physical And Mental Fitness

Grunts and groans coming from the Twin Falls High School gymnasium on Saturday mornings are somewhat high pitched. They are being made by the approximately 80 first and second grade wrestlers enrolled in the special five-week winter wrestling program sponsored by the Twin Falls City Recreation Department and public schools. Part of an over-all community program of physical fitness, the wrestling provides activity for youngsters through the sixth grades and if mats and other facilities were available, would be open to junior high school students as well.

Steve Buratto, high school wrestling coach, and Chad Browning, city recreation director, who head the program, say there is only one blank in the program and this is for the seventh and eighth graders. Others are able to participate through regular school physical education classes.

First graders, with the help and direction from members of the high school wrestling team who volunteer their services, learn more than self defense in the program. Mr. Buratto pointed out. They learn important physical coordination and mature mentally and physically through the wrestling competition with others of their age.

The program provides five weeks of training for students of all grade levels of elementary schools. It climaxes Dec. 20 with a tournament which directors say generally fills the entire gymnasium with fans.

Now in its third year, the program is proving highly beneficial in developing athletes of all ages for participation in all sports, Mr. Browning pointed out.

Purpose of the program, he said, is not to build national wrestling champions, or to substitute wrestling for other activities. It is an important phase of the development of overall physical fitness for young boys, and an excellent background physical activity for other sports.

Mr. Buratto pointed out it is just as important for the good athlete to participate as the poor one, and important for all young boys to develop proper attitudes toward competition.

By the nature of its activity, wrestling develops all muscles of the body by bending, stretching and pushing and prompts the mind to make quick decisions and strategy changes.

Mr. Buratto said the type of athletes does not resemble that seen on television and in public exhibitions. Each child is trained in the proper and improper way of bending a foot, arm or other part of the body. Improper strain which could injure a youngster results in penalty points for his opponent.

Wrestling classes begin with exercises including tumbling and other warm ups before instructors introduce such things as half-Nelsons, pins, counters and blocks, escapes, step overs, rolls, switches and other wrestling tactics.

Mr. Buratto said he is anxious to complete the program with

LAWYERS OPPOSE POLICY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thirty-seven Justice Department lawyers who oppose President Nixon's school desegregation policies have each contributed a day's pay to efforts to fight the policies.

HIGH SCHOOL WRESTLING team members volunteer their time and effort to help instruct the grade school boys in the fine art of wrestling. Some 300 youngsters from the first through the sixth grades spend one to two hours each Saturday learning and practicing their wrestling skills. Climaxing the program will be a tournament Dec. 20. Aim of the program is not so much to develop champion matmen, but to round out the physical fitness of the children by teaching them muscle use and control and to sharpen their mental processes by requiring quick thinking.

school where he is maintenance engineer. The A-frame structure will be presented to the Canyonside Grange, to replace the outhouse the group "lost" when students were gathering wood for the homecoming bonfire this fall. Supt. John Campbell feels the students found a sensible solution to the "borrowed item" when they decided upon buying the lumber and letting Hoppy build a new structure.

Grange Loses Its Outhouse, But Gains Brand New One

By CHARLOTTE JACOBSON

Times-News Correspondent
JEROME—John Campbell, superintendent of school district 261, reports a happy conclusion to an episode involving some Jerome High School students, the Canyonside Grange and an outhouse.

It seems the whole thing started three years ago when the first privy belonging to the Grange was taken. It was replaced with a used one, but unfortunately, when it came time for last year's homecoming bonfire, it, too, disappeared, into the homecoming bonfire. It too was replaced.

This year, you guessed it, when students gathered wood for the homecoming bonfire, the Canyonside Grange unknowingly made another donation—its outhouse.

Mr. Campbell was besieged with phone calls from unhappy Grange ladies about the loss, so he asked the high school students what they could figure out as a solution to the problem of replacing the "borrowed item".

The solution arrived at by the kids was to buy the lumber and let Mr. Campbell and "Hoppy", William Hopkins that is, the school maintenance engineer, build a new one.

The lumber was purchased by the students and the building was constructed by Mr. Campbell and Hoppy in the school shop building. The total cost of the replacement was about $30. "Project outhouse" is completed and ready for installation.

Mr. Campbell said he may have to have some students guard the new building next year to prevent another attempt to use it for a bonfire and to prevent the Canyonside Grange's losing its brand new—you know what.

New Public Works Engineer In Jerome Says City Funds Have Been Well Used

JEROME—Mel M. Morris, 43, started work Dec. 1 as Jerome's Public Works Engineer. He and his family previously lived in Yellowstone, Mont., where Mr. Morris was the city engineer.

Mr. Morris said as far as any future plans for the city, he hasn't been here long enough to make any, but he is very impressed with the work that has been done.

Before the Air Corps, Mr. Morris was in the U.S. Navy for nine years and received an honorable discharge as boiler technician first class. He served as a boiler technician and working supervisor. In this capacity he supervised construction of oil storage and distribution facilities aboard ship and on-shore stations, and in heavy construction of bridges, roads, runways, and storage facilities.

He graduated from Washington State College with a B. A. degree in civil engineering. He has had twenty years of academic, practical and personal involvement and experience in the construction industry.

Mrs. Morris is the former Betty Jean Mittleeder of Snohomish, Wash. The Morris' have four children, Curt, 16, Craig, 13, and Chris and Carrie, 11.

Composer Rudolf Friml Says Music Of Today Is 'Trash'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rudolf Friml, 90 years old today, sat at one of two grand pianos in his living room and riddled through a melodic five minutes of improvised composition.

The composer of 30 operettas, including "Rose Marie," "The Vagabond King" and "Firefly," Friml approached his 90th birthday with a bright eye, spry of foot and dubious about living to be 100.

"I'm happy to have reached 90," he said in a voice untroubled by almost a century of vigorous work. "But my kind of music is out."

"The future of music is unmelodious. I've done my share and I'm satisfied to go before I reach 100."

Friml and his fourth wife, Kay, whom he married 32 years ago in Hong Kong, live on the highest peak of the Santa Monica Mountains with the Pacific-Ocean and all of Los Angeles sweeping out before them.

In the sun-splashed patio Friml appeared nearer 60 than 90. He is in excellent health and his eyes are so good he doesn't wear glasses.

— He speaks out firmly and adamantly against today's music, blaming public taste as much as current composers for its low estate.

Friml's last operetta was "Annie" in 1934. A year or two earlier he wrote the hit operetta "Bird of Paradise." Today's musicals — "Hello, Dolly," "Mame" and "Funny Girl" — he dismisses as trash.

"Real love stories and romance are considered old-fashioned," he said without rancor. "Audiences today were brought up on the wrong side of the musical tracks."

"Modern music is all one beat accompaniment in four- or four-time. I feel sorry for the new generation because they are missing many wonderful things."

The discipline which makes great musicians remains with Friml. He spends six hours every day at the piano, taping his extemporaneous compositions for future generations.

Among modern composers Friml singled out the Russians, Shostakovich and Khatchaturian, Brazilian Villa-Lobos and American Aaron Copeland. "They are serious composers. Their music will live and be remembered."

So, apparently, will much of Friml's work which set a musical pace for the first half of this century. It was light, romantic and, somehow, innocent.

Dietrich PTA Withdraws From State

DIETRICH—The Dietrich PTA membership has voted to withdraw from the State and National PTA and will form its own organization to be known as "Dietrich Parent-Teacher Organization."

In explaining the action taken at the December PTA meeting, Mrs. Don Knowles, president, said "In past years, the State and National PTA have sponsored other programs not in harmony with our local group, but the new sex education program endorsed by them is the last straw!"

"We sanction the teaching of health programs being taught in our school the past few years, but cannot be a party to the teaching of this new program being instituted into our schools by the State PTA and SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States)."

Mrs. Knowles and other PTA officers at Dietrich, who said they reflect the opinions of those attending the withdrawal meeting his week, stated, "The National Education Association describes SIECUS as a voluntary organization and in 1967 $1.5 million of the American taxpayers' money was used to support their sex program in 13 school districts."

"After more than 20 years membership in the national PTA, the local membership did not act without thought," Mrs. Knowles said. The vote to withdraw from national and state was unanimous and a majority of the membership was present, the officers conclude.

Kindergarten To Begin At Buhl Jan. 5

BUHL — The kindergarten program for the Buhl school district will begin Jan. 5, according to Rex Engelking, superintendent.

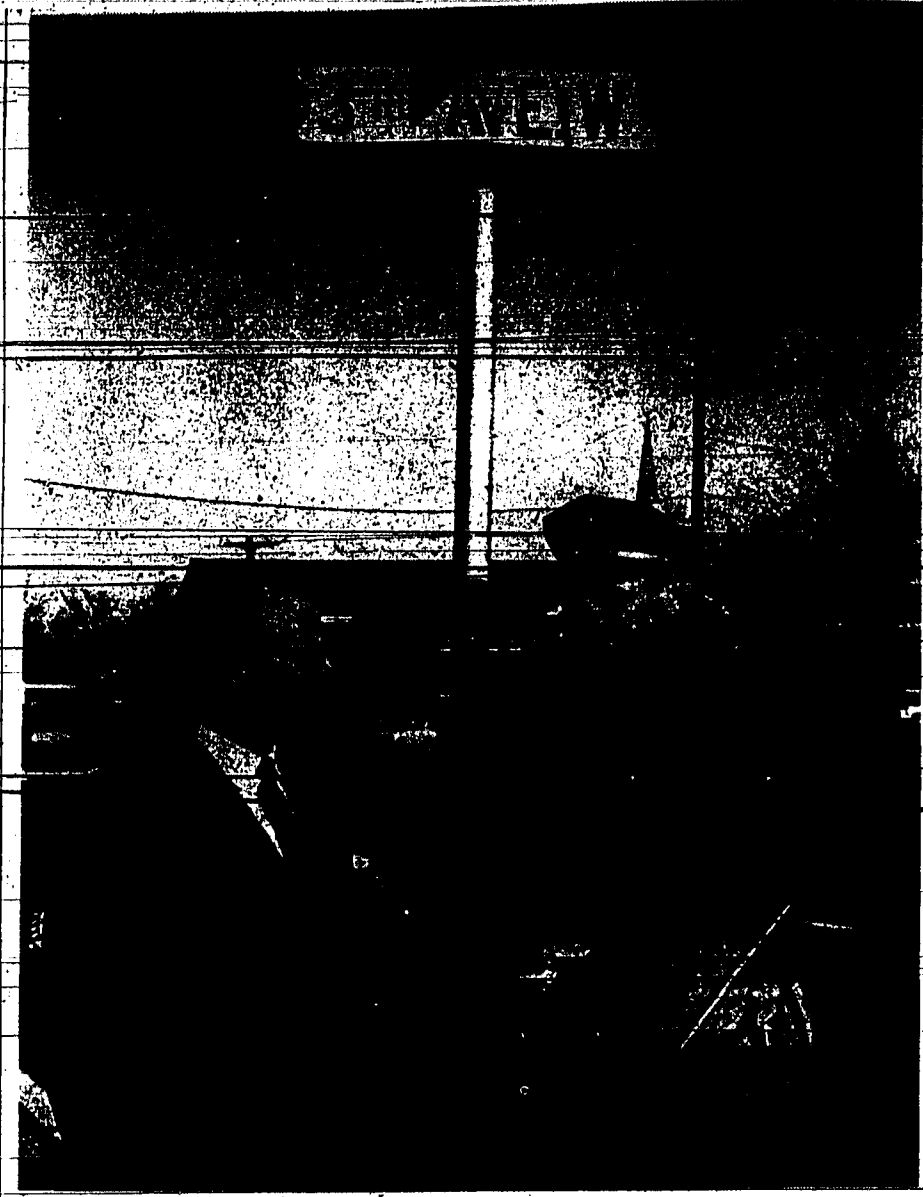

All children residing in the school district, who were 5 years of age on or before Oct. 15 are welcome to attend. Students will be enrolled in either afternoon or morning classes. Parents who prefer one class should make their preference known early so that a class load balance can be obtained.

School bus transportation will be available one way to those students living outside the city limits. Parents inside the city limits must provide their child with any necessary transportation.

The kindergarten program is operated on Title I funds and requires no immediate cost to the parents. All necessary materials and supplies are furnished. Parents are urged to see that their child has a good pre-school examination prior to the start of school.

Parents who have pre-registered their children will receive notice of a class schedule on or before Dec. 19. Those who have not registered their children are urged to do so immediately by contacting Lee Popplewell, principal of the Buhl Elementary School, telephone 543-5250.

VAIDES RE-ELECTED — BLISS — Rex Barlogi and Frank Graves were re-elected members of the Bliss Highway Board. Nine votes were cast for each man.

LOOKING FORWARD TO HAVING Third Street west from Lincoln to Birch avenues in Jerome become a one-way street are School Supt. John Campbell and Chief of Police C. H. Putney. The sign will be installed if a city ordinance now in its first reading gets final approval by the city council. The street also will be closed during the loading of bus transfer students to the Jerome school. If the ordinance is approved, it will be sometime in January before the proposed solution to the traffic problem on this street can be effected.

Honor Group At Buhl Has Annual Event

BUHL — New members of the Buhl High School Lambda Sigma Chapter of the National Honor Society were honored during the annual honors banquet at the R and R Cafe.

Senior students inducted this year were Lee Barigar, Lee Griffith, Melissa Erkins, Philip Quigley, Jerry Jensen, Shirley Meier and Allan Wetzstein.

Junior students include Barry Buckendorf, Connie Carson, Kala Martens, Mahlon Hammarquist, Teresa McManaman and Carol Vecera.

Veteran members of the National Honor Society are Eric Ahim, Ethan Bickelhaupt, Dennis Bennett, Janette Garter, Beverly Iverson, Ted Svancara and Ted Popplewell.

Membership is based on scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Ten per cent of the senior class is eligible for membership and five per cent of the junior class. Those elected to the honor society by a high school faculty must be in the upper one-third of their class scholastically.

Book Review Is Given At Burley

BURLEY — Mrs. Bernadene Peterson reviewed the book "His Eyes on the Sparrow," the life of Ethel Waters, during the Burley Toastmistress Club meeting at the conference room of the Unity Light and Power Co.

Each member was given a picture on which to base her speech.

Mrs. T. Wayne Woodland was toastmistress. Mrs. Eva Hatfield, president, announced the annual Christmas gift exchange and dinner meeting will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Jones.

The Ten Commandments for a Toastmistress member was presented by Mrs. LePage Layton for the education lesson. Table topics were directed by Mrs. Delta Jones on the theme of "gratitude." Mrs. Wallace Sharpless was table topic winner.

Mrs. Hatfield was timer and Mrs. Layton was general evaluator. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mae Jones and Mrs. Norman King.

Fashions Go Backward

By NORMA HERZINGER

A group of young ladies decided to turn back the clock recently when they donned fashions of the 1890's and early 1900's for an evening of costume comparison. Clothing undoubtedly was originated to protect the body—but even in the earliest times when everything was done by hand, its decorative and flattering effect was not neglected. Through the history of women's costumes, the mode of transportation has had a great influence on the styling as well as women's attempts at getting a good footing in this "man's" world, to say nothing of the basic industrial developments down through the years. And every so often, fashions make a complete circle and styles of yesteryear influence the designers' creations.

Costumes shown by members of Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, include six that were outstanding, a man's suit of 1898; a Paris original from the Reidenbach estate in Boise, 1898; an 1898 dress worn by a doctor's wife; a very prim and proper ensemble worn by a school marm in the early 1900's; a 1910 touring suit, and a brown, three-piece touring outfit worn in 1914. The clothes belong to Mrs. John Miller, Boise, mother of Mrs. Bill Donnelly, Twin Falls, a Sigma member. Each outfit had shoes to complement—high buttoned and laced day shoes in black or brown with narrow pointed toes. Black felt-type spats almost completely covered the shoes worn with the man's outfit.

The outfits were accented with large original and ornate hats. One large black hat sported big ostrich plumes while another was decorated with net and rows of artificial grapes. The black-top hat that topped off the man's suit was in a style carried over from those worn in the early 1800's.

Glancing through some old publications dating in the early 1900's I noticed this paragraph and wondered just how often we have read or heard the same thing recently: "The important events of this decade concerning fashion are the return to the 'natural figure,' the adoption of the simple unadorned frock for day wear and the all-black costume relieved by a piece of jewelry."

As the girls modeled their costumes it made one wonder how women could employ so much valuable time making some of the articles then. Hour after hour had to be spent on just one ensemble, with the embroidery, hand beading, lace inserts, etc.

The members modeled their fashions during a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Brooks. Mrs. Nell Allen gave the culture on "The History of Dress" and Mrs. Donnelly on "The Art of Dress." Several popular styles of 1969-70 were shown in comparison.

GETTING INTO THESE shoes is one thing—and getting out is still another. The high buttoned and laced shoes of the early 1900's lasted through the first decade, being worn mostly in the winter. The day shoes were in black or brown with stockings to match in lisle or silk. The shoes complemented the ensembles worn by Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, members during a recent fashion comparison program.

Women's Section

HATS PLAYED AN important part in women's ensembles worn in the early 1900's. This hat worn by Mrs. Murray Bates tops off a touring ensemble dating 1910.

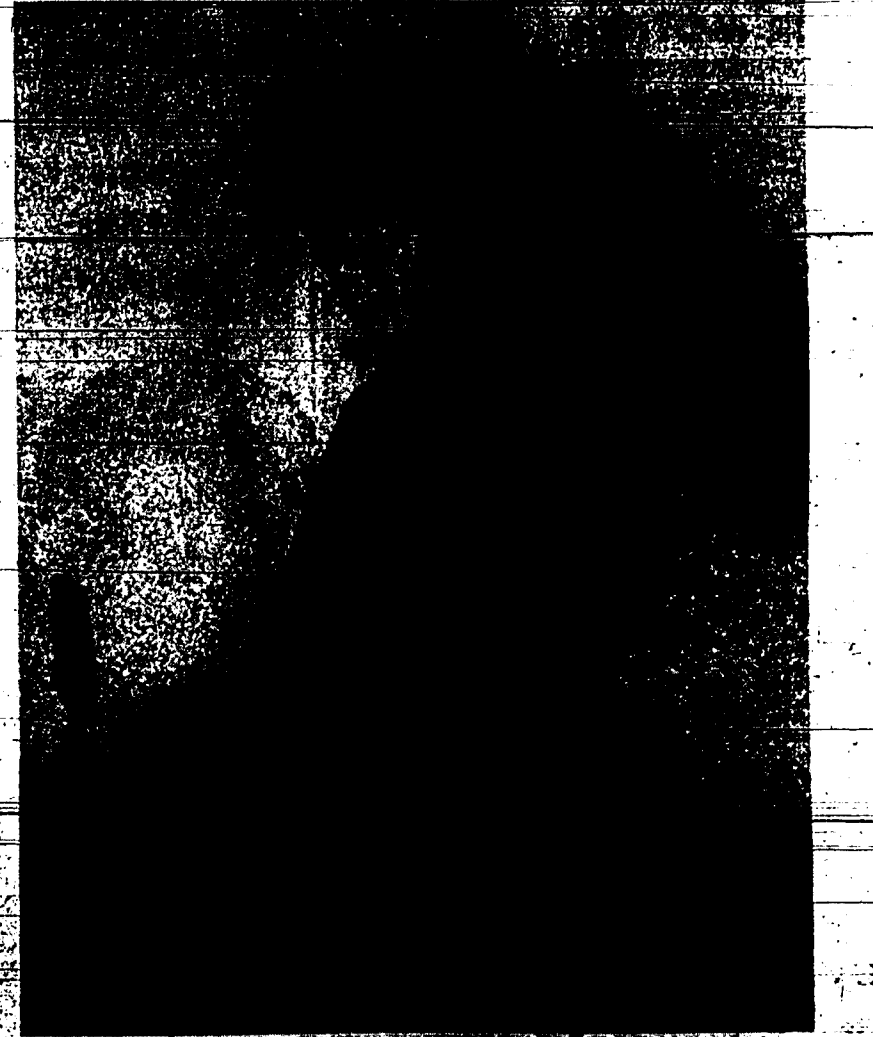

MRS. JOE BROOKS looks absolutely stunning in this three-piece brown stippled touring outfit worn in 1914. Motorcar owners were increasing by 1914 and the open touring car of the day had a great effect upon costumes.

THE PRIM AND PROPER outfit shown by Mrs. Bill Donnelly was worn by a school marm in the early 1900's. She chats with Mrs. Nell Allen who is sporting a man's suit popular in 1898.

THIS 1910 TOURING outfit worn by Mrs. Murray Bates is complete with sunglasses and umbrella. The two-piece outfit was handmade with laced spats and linements giving accents. A chain was looped on the dress front holding a case for the glasses.

THIS LAVISHLY DESIGNED dress, worn by Mrs. Lyle Truesdell was worn by a doctor's wife in 1908. The dress was accented with a collar, and accented with row after row of hand-made black buttons.

Miss Jones, Tate Exchange Nuptial Vows

KIMBERLY — Priscilla (P. J.) Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Jones, and Robert Tate, son of Mrs. Walter Porter, Reno, Nev., and John H. Tate, Portland, Ore., were united in marriage Oct. 31 in rites at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

Rev. Delbert Remaley performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow Starburst pompon chrysanthemums, flanked by candelabra holding orange tapers decorated with autumn-colored oak leaves. Standing arrangements of white standard chrysanthemums, pompon chrysanthemums and Birds-of-Paradise, accented with autumn leaves, completed the decorations for the chancel area.

The pews were decorated the full-length of the aisle with orange satin roses, autumn oak leaves and lighted orange tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace over an A-line silhouette of organza. The gown was styled with a beaded scalloped neckline, fitted sleeves and a scalloped beaded panel down the front. The full chapel train was softly gathered at the shoulders. Her veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of lace petals trimmed with outline florets of pearls. Her only jewelry was a carved mother-of-pearl Bethlehem Star necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Dahlquist, Buhl. The necklace was handmade in the Holy Land and was worn by the bride's mother when she was married.

She carried a trailing cascade of tangerine carnations and sprenger fern.

Linda Heinrich, Boise, was maid of honor, with Mrs. Alyce Jones and Mrs. Daniel Parrott, sister-in-law, and sister of the bride, and Charlotte Keim, Ketchum, serving as bridesmaids.

Steven Trout served as best man, with John Fisher, David Gier and Douglas Brownfield as groomsmen. Ushers were Bruce Jones, Daniel Bassett, Bill Saxton and Darrell Pett.

Jeffery Ingram, cousin of the bride, carried the rings. Cathy Schmidt and Alice (Tink) Jones, sister of the bride, were candlelighters. Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Robert Denton.

Guests were registered by Shirley Larsen, Twin Falls, and gifts were carried by Cathy Schmidt and Alice Jones and displayed by Teresa Schmidt and Donna Krueger.

The bride's table was centered with the traditional tiered wedding cake decorated with orange roses, crystal dividers and topped with wedding bells framed with a pearl heart. The cake was baked and decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Oliver Ingram, Twin Falls.

The table was covered with a green chiffon flounce and taffeta cover. The cake was flanked by silver candelabra and matching punch bowl.

The cake was served by Mrs. Ingram and Mrs. Carlos Grant, both Twin Falls. Punch and coffee were served by Shirley Sommers, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Karl Malone, Great Falls, Mont.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Boise Valley and McCall.

Others introduced were Mrs. Dale Slane, guardian, and Sam Bishop, associate guardian, Bethel No. 45, Hagerman; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clawson, past guardian and past associate guardian and honorary members of the local Bethel.

Cheryl Sandy introduced Miss Slane as the Grand Bethel third messenger.

Terry Moreland and Regina Moreland were initiated new members of the Bethel.

Mrs. Tabor was presented a

25th Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Wayne May were honored on their 25th Wedding Anniversary at a surprise open house in the lobby of the Valley Livestock Commission Co., Rupert.

The surprise event was hosted by the couple's five children. Guests attended from Cassia and Minidoka counties and Northern Utah.

The couple repeated their wedding vows Nov. 29, 1944, in Burley and have resided in the Burley area, where they operated Farmer's Corner Store. The last few years they operated the Valley Livestock Commission Co., which they purchased.

Their children include Mrs. Wendell (Linda) Cutler, Rupert; Mrs. Del (Gay Dawn) Johnson, Kimberly, and Marilyn May, Marshal May and Mervin May, all Burley, and four grandchildren.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Karl Bedke, Oakley, and Mrs. John Warren and Mrs. Wayne Hayden, both Burley, all sisters of Mrs. May. The table was covered with a

Mrs. Bowman Is Best Loser

HANSEN — Mrs. Paul Bowman was best loser of the week at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith. Mrs. Ralph Simmons was the monthly queen and was presented a gift.

Those gaining weight over the week sang penalty songs.

Plans were made for a Christmas party and gift exchange Dec. 15. Mrs. J. O. Cox, the hostess that evening, will announce the party plans. It was announced there would be no weigh-ins on the evenings of Dec. 22 and 29.

Mrs. Darrell Sweet and Gloria Keppner were appointed to a committee to make diet reminder signs for club members to display in prominent places in their homes such as refrigerator and cupboard doors.

Mrs. Sweet was program chairman and hostess. She demonstrated making Christmas decorations for centerpieces.

Job's Daughters Set Christmas Dance Dec. 27

The Christmas dance will be held Dec. 27 it was announced during a recent meeting of Bethel No. 19, International Order of Job's Daughters, at the Masonic Temple.

Carolyn Lawrence, honored queen, was in charge of the meeting, with Mrs. Janet Osterhout, guardian, and Grant Osterhout, being escorted to the east.

It was announced the paper drive netted $18.40 and the last Christmas wreath order has been turned in.

Officers were elected. They include Linda Talley, honored queen; Laurel Osterhout, senior princess; Barbara Ball, junior princess; Jan Lawrence, guide; Molly McKain, marshal.

The librarian's report was gift from the Bethel by the honored queen, who received a gift, in turn, from Mrs. Tabor.

Cheryl Sandy, JoAnn Berry, Joy Standal, Miss Slane and Ruth Chick, presented a skit.

Refreshments for the special meeting were served by council members. A banquet in Mrs. Tabor's honor was served by members of the local OES.

Display Noted

Members of O'Leary Junior Music Club, affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs, displayed their bulletin boards, a Christmas project, at a recent meeting.

Jeannine Berry played "Rig-a-don" by MacDowell, and April Arrington gave a report on MacDowell.

Refreshments were served by Mary Ann Gillespie and Melva Nussbaum.

Luella Gallo, Devon Ruhter Exchange Nuptial Promise

TUTTLE — Luella Rita Gallo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gallo, Tuttle, and Devon F. Ruhter Jr., Twin Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Devon F. Ruhter Sr., Buhl, were united in marriage in rites Oct. 25 at the Clover Lutheran Church.

Pastor Thomas D. Johnston officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before a setting of altar flowers and candles.

She wore a gown of white lace, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, sleeves to the wrists and a floor-length bouffant skirt accented with a train. Her net veil was held by a tiara. She carried a bouquet of white roses arranged in colonial style accented with white and silver-colored streamers.

Lillian Gallo served as maid of honor, with Cynthia Gall as bridesmaids. Both attendants are from Fresno, Calif., and are cousins of the bride.

Melvin Ruhter, Buhl, was a candlelighter and served as an usher. Gene Ruhter and Dean Ruhter, Twin Falls, sang, with Maxine Schroeder, Buhl, as organist.

Joe Griffith, Twin Falls, was best man and Jan Ruhter, Castleford, and Gary Gallo were ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony, with Kathy Miller registering guests. Mrs. Becky Jacky, Buhl, and Mrs. Terry Mull, Tuttle, were in charge of the gifts.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with white and apricot-colored flowers and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Karen Reinke, Mrs. Eloise Miller, Mrs. Jacky, Grace Ruhter and women affiliated with the Clover Lutheran Church. The couple took a wedding trip to California and reside in Buhl, where Mr. Ruhter is employed at the Buhl Implement Co.

A bridal shower was hosted for the bride by Mrs. Eloise Miller, Kathy Miller and Mrs. Grace Graves, all Gooding, at the Graves home.

Family Feted

RICHFIELD — Bishop Vern Nelson and family were honored at a farewell Ward party recently at the LDS Church Cultural Hall. The no-host dinner was followed by a program with Mark Bowers, a church counselor, as master of ceremonies.

Wendell King, counselor, gave the opening prayer.

The Seminary class students sang two numbers, with Carol Lyn Sanders as piano accompanist, and the MIA students presented a road show number, "The Teton Mountain Stomp."

Mrs. Mark Jaynes, Relief Society president, presented the Nelson family a farewell gift book from the ward, and Mrs. Wendell King gave them a commemorative book of candid camera pictures of the party activities.

Bishop Nelson responded for his family and church unity songs were sung.

Vern Nelson, has served as bishop for the Richfield LDS Church since last spring.

COUPLE WEDS

GLENNIS FERRY — George Irwin Curless and Darlene Kay Howell, both Boise, were married Nov. 26 by Justice of the Peace Earl Mills.

Inspection Meet Held By Rupert LAPM

BURLEY — The annual inspection meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant, Rupert No. 19, was held recently at Burley IOOF Hall.

Ladies and Chevaliers of Wood River Valley No. 22, Pocatello No. 11 and Colfax No. 13 were guests at the covered dish dinner prior to the inspection session. William Boyd, Twin Falls, gave the prayer.

The meeting of the canton was followed by a meeting of the LAPM, with the Chevaliers present. Capt. Herbert Kennedy was in charge of the canton and Mrs. Birdie Kennedy, president, led the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant meeting.

Distinguished visitors and guests were Bernice Johnson, inspecting officer and right aide to the past president and past president of the Department Association; Esther Arbogast, past president of the Department Association and present right aide to the president, Marjorie Luebke; Velma Fenton, banner bearer; Nancy Johnson, officer of the guard; Pat Arbogast, hospital matron; Irene Childers, color guard; Dasa Bryan, vice president of the Department Council of Idaho; Col. LeRoy Fenton, department inspector.

Brig. Gen. R. Ted Arbogast and Brig. Gen. R. Lester Willard, both past department commanders, others included Maj. Richard Arbogast, sentry of the Department Council; Mr. Boyd, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Idaho, and Edith Clevenger, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Idaho.

Mrs. LeRoy Fenton formed the lines in the auxiliary inspection. It was reported Mrs. Etzel Cammell is a patient at Cassia Memorial Hospital and Walter Nelson and Hugh Allen have both been dismissed from the hospital.

Nominations were completed and officers were elected including Mrs. Leroy Fenton, president; Mrs. Margaret Toone, vice president; Mrs. Ted Arbogast, secretary; Mrs. Lucile Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Hazel Schwaeger, trustee one; Mrs. Nancy Johnson, trustee two; and Mrs. Elvera Glorfield, trustee three.

Following a mustering in ceremony, the canton and LAPM presented a drill, directed by Mrs. Johnson, with Mrs. Schwaeger as officer of the day.

The opening and closing thoughts were given by Mrs. Clevenger. Mrs. Ted Arbogast and Mrs. Johnson decorated the dinner tables.

Mrs. LeRoy Fenton and Mrs. Clevenger were dinner hostesses.

The Rupert Canton No. 19 will hold its annual inspection Monday in Burley and the Ladies Auxiliary will serve lunch.

The next meeting is Dec. 15 in Burley, and will be a Christmas party and a toy gift exchange.

In Iceland, more than 80,000 people live in homes heated by hot water piped from thermal springs, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

COME IN . . . HEAR & SEE FOR YOURSELF

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to this town, bought a nice home in a good neighborhood and settled down to be a part of the community. Now comes my problem: Last week, while shopping for the usual items one needs after a move, I foolishly laid my purse down on the counter to look at something, and in a matter of seconds, my purse was gone. The person who took it then hurried to another store where she was picked up for shoplifting. She refused to identify herself, so the police looked at the purse she was carrying and found MY identification. The next day the newspaper published the police report which stated that I had been arrested for shoplifting!

Abby, I told everyone I know how the mistake was made and they would surely believe me. I was wrong. Some of my neighbors are treating me very nicely and when I try to explain the circumstances to others, I get the impression they think I'm lying.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: If your local newspaper has not published a CORRECTION of the error, they certainly should. And you have every right to insist upon it. In the meantime, hold your head high, and be aware that people are inclined to believe what they want to believe. And the "nice" people will give you the benefit of the doubt.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who used to be a school teacher. Now she's married and has a four-year-old kid. She bought herself a paddle to hit the kid with whenever he says "Huh" instead of "REG YOUR PARDON." You can hear this kid yelling his head off about 30 times a day.

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Apparently your neighbor's method of "teaching" isn't very successful. If it were, she wouldn't have to paddle the kid 30 times a day.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter-in-law. I thought we were close up until a few months ago. (I hope I don't sound "catty" but now I suspect Zaida was so sweet to me because she didn't have a washer-dryer then, and also she used to complain a lot about how she hated to cook, and I would invite her and my son for supper nearly every night.) Well, Zaida had a baby a few months ago and now everything is changed. This is our first grandchild so need I tell you how thrilled we are.

In the first place I practically have to have an "appointment" to see the baby. I am told what "hours" I should come, and if I drop in unexpectedly she won't even let me in the baby's room to look at her! Also she even tells me how to hold the baby. (Abby, I've had seven of my own, so I don't think I need any lessons.)

Don't tell me to wait until she brings the baby to ME. She brought her only once and she stayed exactly 21 minutes!

DEAR HURT: Don't DO anything. Be patient. Baby care is still a novelty to Zaida. In time she will learn and you will see a good deal more of both of them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MARTY": When your wife no longer cares how late you come home, it's later than you think.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UNEDUCATED BUT SUCCESSFUL": Experience is the training that enables people to get along without education.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 80080, Los Angeles, Cal. 90080. For a return reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

What a Wonderful Way To Say "It's Christmas"

DISPLAYING A WHITE FELT Christmas tree she will use in her program Wednesday for the Magic Valley Christian Women's Club is Mrs. Bess Smout. The tree, which is approximately 27 inches high and features 32 yards of gold braid and 32 tiny gold bells, is just one of the many items to be shown during the "Holiday Ideas" program. The luncheon and program are set for 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Turl Club. Music will be presented by the College of Southern Idaho Choir and speaker will be Mrs. Marilyn McClintock, Mountain Home.

Holiday Ideas Program Set Wednesday

Mrs. Bess Smout will present the special feature during the Magic Valley Christian Women's Club luncheon meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Turl Club. Mrs. Smout, who is well known in Magic Valley for her clever ideas in handcrafts and designs, will present a program on "Holiday Ideas." Her program will include unique holiday decorations, ceramics for every use, Christmas stockings, gold leaf items, musical candles, sparkling and decorative candles, etc. In describing her new winter decorations she said, "Our astronaut gift from the moon to earth was not only moon rocks—but a moon maiden dressed and equipped to ski on our snowy slopes. And, her gift to us was her own little green men rock and roll band."

Music for the event will be presented by the College of Southern Idaho Choir, with Mrs. Marilyn McClintock, Mountain Home, as featured speaker.

Luncheon reservations can be obtained by calling Twin Falls, 733-4332 or 733-9017; Buhl, 543-4062; Filer, 326-5180; or Jerome, 324-5256. Free baby sitting is provided at the Presbyterian Church by contacting Shirley Harris, 423-4091.

Luncheon Set

Desert Gold Cowbells will hold a no-host luncheon Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. in the Rogerson Hotel to hear reports on current projects.

Mrs. L. W. Moore, Hansen, president, said Jeanette Sharp will report on the organization's Harbor House project and June Olmstead on the CSI scholarship project. All members and interested persons are invited to attend.

LINDALEE BARTLETT
Miss Bartlett, Sgt. Hunt Plan Summer Rites

TALK CAN'T MAKE SNAP CONTRACT

Bridge wouldn't be much fun if the players restricted themselves to the 15 essential words: Spades, hearts, diamonds, clubs and no-trump; the numbers one to seven, pass, double and redouble.

On the other hand too much conversation is far worse than no conversation at all. Thus when South looked at dummy he might well have contented himself with something like, "Thank you, partner." Instead of "We've really underbid this one."

A little constructive thought would have been better than any conversation because South proceeded to work out a way to go down at four spades.

He ruffed the club lead in dummy and promptly cashed his

He saved something from the wreck by ruffing a second club; returning to his hand with the jack of diamonds—cashing his ace of trumps and leading a second diamond. He didn't save much because East played the nine of diamonds when the low one was led from dummy. West recognized that as a signal to show an even number of diamonds and proceeded to ruff the second diamond so South went down two.

You can see what South should have done. All he had to do to insure his contract against that 4-1 break in trumps was to lead a low trump at trick three. He would be giving up the extra overtrick but trumps do break 4-1 on occasion, and what is an overtrick compared to game and rubber?

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

West North East South

Pass Pass 1♠ Pass

You, South, hold:

♠A84 ♠2 ♠KJ3 ♠Q1075

What do you do now?

A—If you and partner play the unusual no-trump, consider a bid of one no-trump. This call by a passed hand can't indicate a desire to play no-trump but rather shows both minor suits.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You pass. West bids two spades and your partner three hearts. East doubles. What do you do now?

Teachers Are Least Likely To Be Divorced Of All Careers

QUICKLY, QUIETLY! That professional woman least apt to be divorced is the school teacher.

ONLY GOING to use half of the lemon? All right, save the stem half. It will last longer.

DR. CLEVE MORRIS of Rutgers University contends women crave far more excitement than men.

THE MEN who smoke cigars now outnumber the women who smoke cigars only by 150 to 1.

WAIT A MINUTE — It's time to slow down. I want to tell you some good news. It is commonly held that men are accident-prone all their lives, right? Well, now the men of science have proved such not to be the case. A man or woman is accident-prone, if at all, for awhile, but only for awhile. Maybe it lasts a year, maybe a decade, but it is not a life-time handicap.

POOR DR. THATCHER — Too late for the great Dr. Harvey Thatcher of Potsdam, N.Y. Too late, too late. For years the nation's dairymen lobbied for a commemorative postage stamp in his honor. Because Dr. Thatcher invented the first glass milk bottle. But just about now, when those dairy lobbyists have enough clout to push their purpose, it's too late. Almost all the milk you get anymore comes in paper cartons, and who cares about Dr. Thatcher? Too late, too late.

RAPID REPLY: Yes, Mr. Y., the statisticians say you can expect to spend about $33 a year on medical prescriptions after you hit 65, unless something serious comes up.

Candle Rite Opens Fete Of Hanukkah

NEW YORK (UPI)—At sundown Thursday Jews in the metropolitan areas began the eight-day Hanukkah festival of Lights Holiday with candle-lighting ceremonies.

Suit Filed Against 3 Policemen

BURLEY — Three Burley police officers and the city of Burley have been named defendants in a suit filed in Federal Court in Boise Friday by accusing the policemen of false arrest, assault and violation of civil rights.

The suit was filed by William Freeman Anderson, 35, Burley, who claims he was arrested Aug. 23, 1968, and held for 30 minutes without a warrant or opportunity to consult a lawyer.

Burley police officers said the man was held while a warrant was obtained to search his home in connection with a break-in at a local store. After the incident, Anderson was sent to Boise for a parole violation.

The suit names officers Hank Willis, Rex Maddon and Bill Dayley as well as the city of Burley as defendants.

GOP To Meet

JEROME — Jack Russell, Jerome county Republican Central committee chairman, said an important meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at Wood's Cafe.

Members who are unable to attend are asked to call him at 324-2604.

Crowds In East Berlin Have Changed

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING

BERLIN (UPI)—There were wry smiles in the immense East Berlin crowd when a Communist speaker asked for raised hands to show opposition to resolutions denouncing American and Israeli aggression.

Some even chuckled during the rally on Unter Den Linden called to protest alleged American atrocities in Vietnam.

They seemed to say: they knew by experience what happened to dissenters.

East German crowds have changed tremendously over the years.

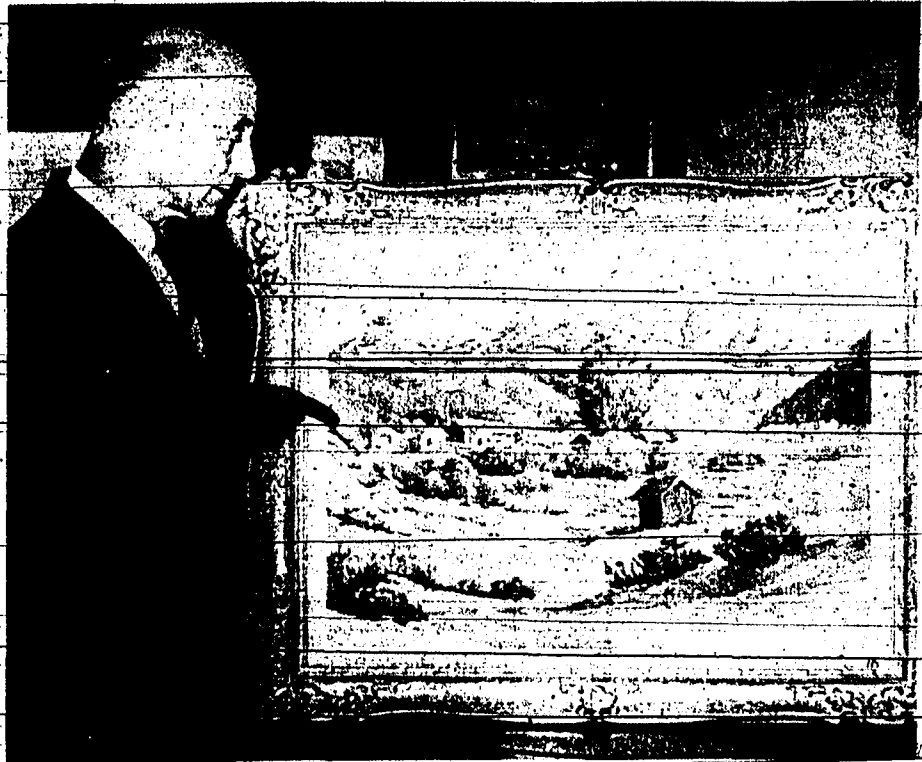

They now are better fed, better dressed and better looking. For the most part an East Berlin crowd looks pretty much like a West Berlin crowd.

But one thing has not changed at the rallies that the Communists march people from their offices, factories and schools to make sure there is a large turnout.

The crowd figuratively sits on its hands. It says in effect, "You can make me come, but you can't make me applaud."

East Berlin rallies are probably the deadest in the world and the participants the most bored. The most fiery statement gets applause so light that it is an exaggeration to call it polite. Behind the Wall built on Aug. 13, 1961 the Communists have given East Germans a prosperity unique in the Soviet bloc.

In the city, the capital of the German Democratic Republic, the ruins that were everywhere before the Wall was built now are giving way to blocks of modern apartment houses, attractive shops and handsome government buildings.

A SPECIAL EXHIBITION of 30 recent paintings by Olaf Moller, Rupert, seen here with one of his paintings of the Triumph Mine area near Hailey, is scheduled near Paul today. Mr. Moller is a nationally-recognized artist. This is his 18th annual exhibition and the paintings will be of the Jackson Hole, Wyo. area and the Wood River area. The exhibition, from 1 to 9:30 p.m., will be located two miles east of Paul on Highway 25 on the north side of the highway. The public is invited to attend.

Black Studies Programs Prove Popular

By GLORIA WOLFORD

NEW YORK (UPI)—The emerging black studies programs at colleges are surprising administrators by drawing more than the expected number of students, many of them white.

The high white enrollment in black studies courses is partially explained by the higher number of whites in college but not in all cases.

"A lot of this is a search (by whites) for more information and more accurate information about black culture," said Dr. George Henderson, a professor at the University of Oklahoma. "In their early years students didn't get an accurate portrayal of black people. Now they want to do something about it."

A survey of more than 300 colleges, taken almost a year after colleges began jumping on the bandwagon rolling backward through history for a look at black culture, showed the new courses are almost all filled to capacity.

Considering that our department is a new one, we have more students who have signed up than some departments that have been around a lot longer than we have, said Ronald Walters, chairman of Brandeis University's Afro-American Department. The small liberal arts school in Massachusetts usually has a ratio of seven students per faculty member but 81 students signed up for the 10 black studies courses. "We are satisfied that the number of enrollees is more than any other new department have," Dr. Ewart Gullifer, director of Harvard University's program, said. No attendance is taken at Harvard but up to 150 attend seminars.

Black studies courses also are proving popular at predominantly black schools. Allegheny Community College in Pittsburgh, which has a predominantly Negro enrollment, offers only two courses and they are crowded. Greater Los Angeles has more savings and loan companies than any other area of the United States.

Judge Vetoes Hoover Order

CHICAGO (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman has quashed a subpoena ordering J. Edgar Hoover to appear at the trial of the "Chicago Seven" with confidential Federal Bureau of Investigation records.

Hoffman acted as the prosecution prepared to wind up its case on the 50th day of the trial of seven antiwar militants accused of conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

The defense had served a subpoena on Hoover, the director of the FBI, ordering him to appear at the trial and produce the names of all persons under the control of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had taken any part in investigating the convention riots.

DEAR POLLY—Try using darts with suction cups for hanging dish towels and other such things in the kitchen cabinet or other convenient spot.—THERESA

DEAR POLLY—Our soap dish for the shower is a piece of nylon net tied between the faucets, like a hammock. The water drains off the soap, and the net does not get caked with soap. This inexpensive net comes in many colors.—SHARON

WAKE SATURDAY NIGHT!

DEAR POLLY—When using knitted coasters on drink glasses it is much easier to turn the EMPTY glasser upside down and put the coasters on before filling them.—LOUISE

ANYBODY CAN OWN AN ART GALLERY!

DEAR POLLY—Little girls who make their own doll houses will find postage stamps from letters make great pictures. To remove the stamps from the envelopes, tear off the corner, soak for 15 minutes in water and stamp will slide right off. Blot until dry and glue on wall.—RENEE

DEAR POLLY—When mending lace on nylon undergarments I always use embroidery hoops to keep the material from slipping. I do a neater job this way and it also helps me keep my cool.—EILEEN

DEAR POLLY—I cut a piece from a drinking straw and attach it as an extension on a spray type bottle (such as window cleaner comes in) when the liquid in the bottle gets low. This enables me to get the last drop in the bottle.—TRUDY

DEAR POLLY—I keep my roll of gift wrapping paper in an empty cut-edge box that foil or waxed paper came in. I am able to pull out the amount needed and tear it off easily and straight.—PAT

DEAR POLLY—I have a couple of uses for that good old transparent tape. Put a strip over the prescription number on each of your medicine bottles and boxes. A strip around the bottle cap of liquid medicine, cologne, etc. while traveling can save many a spill.—PEARL

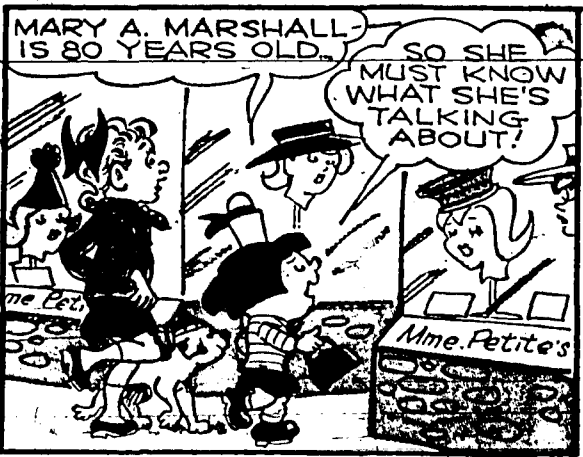

DEAR POLLY—When going on a trip I use those small free samples of various toilet articles and leave my regular size ones at home.—PAT

THE YULETIDE

Ask Them Yourself

FOR PRESIDENT NIXON

When you took the oath of office from Chief Justice Earl Warren last January and swore to defend the Constitution, why did you leave out the phrase: "... against all enemies both foreign and domestic?"—Mrs. William Stewart Hartley, Sacramento, Calif.

● The oath of office for the President is prescribed in the Constitution of the U.S., and it was repeated exactly.

FOR BOB HOPE

How are your troupe trips to military bases overseas financed?—Mrs. G. M. Powell, Meadow Vista, Calif.

● Transportation costs are shared by the USO and the Defense Department. The tv crew is paid by Bob Hope Enterprises, as are the musicians. The performers receive $10 per day salary. They also receive from Bob Hope Enterprises the same fee they receive if they do a special in Burbank—but nothing extra for the 26,000 miles of flying or 22 shows in 15 days. Hope Enterprises pays hotel bills when the cast is in Bangkok; if they stay on Army, Air Force, or Navy bases, they are given free accommodations.

FOR JOE NAMATH,

quarterback,
New York Jets

Is it true you said that there are four better passing quarterbacks than Earl Morrall? If so, who are the four?—Joe Hall, Central City, Ky.

● Yes, I said it. They are Daryle Lamonica, Bob Griese, John Hadl, and Len Dawson.

FOR GOV. ALBERT BREWER,

Alabama
I heard the word "y'all" all through the South. Why do Southerners use that word so much?—Mrs. Art Rohr, Devils Lake, North-Dakota

● "You all," which is often shortened to "y'all," is indicative of the Southern traits of generosity and hospitality. When one issues an invitation or a greeting, one uses this expression to denote that it is meant for the entire group.

FOR JULIA CHILD, the "French Chef"

What is the difference between cooking sherry and table sherry?—Mrs. David Harris, Canton, Ohio

● In the old days there was a cooking sherry that contained salt, to prevent cooks from tipping. I don't think this exists any more, so today cooks are free either to tinkle with table sherry or to cook with it.

FOR WOODY ALLEN

How do you feel about the reviews of your movies and television specials?—P. L., Atlantic City, N.J.

● I never read reviews of any kind. Ernest Hemingway said that if you believe critics when they say you're good, you have to believe them when they say you're bad. Who would ever want to believe that?

FOR TAYLOR CALDWELL,

author of
"Testimony of Two Men"
Is it true that you predicted the assassination of Robert Kennedy?—T. M., Waco, Texas

● No. While I was on the Mike Douglas Show in November of 1967, someone asked me about Sen. Robert Kennedy's future. I closed my eyes and saw his face silhouetted without a background. I then said that I could not see a future for Mr. Kennedy.

FOR ERIC SEVAREID, CBS News

Do you read or recite from memory your CBS news commentary?—Rick Coulart, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

● I have a script in front of me when I broadcast. It is also on teleprompter on the camera. But since I write it all myself, I pretty well know how every sentence goes.

What in the World!

Comeback The hurricane-devastated Mississippi Gulf Coast has all but completed its restoration, according to the Gulfport Daily Herald. All utilities are back to normal; resort areas have re-

Gulf church—now rebuilding opened. Trinity Episcopal Church, a 148-year-old landmark, and St. Thomas Catholic Church both are rebuilding from the ground up—already marriages have been performed on their sandy sites. Some of the sea lions from Tom Lambert's Marine Aquarium weathered the storm and limped home. A ruined garment-making firm polled its 420 employees—417 wanted to stay on: rebuilding began immediately. The newspaper made a record by not missing one day of publication, though its presses were wrecked.

As a result, it has published a book of on-the-spot photos and text. "The Story of Hurricane Camille." Available for $2.50 from The Daily Herald, Gulfport, Miss. All profits will go to the recovery program.

Mia's Marital Future Astrologically speaking, the meeting, marriage, and divorce of Frank Sinatra (12/12/15) and Mia Farrow (2/9/45) were almost inevitable, reports Jess Stearn in his new book, "Adventures into the Psychic." Stearn reports astrologist Carol Peel found the break-up could have been postponed if the couple were aware of the astrological obstacles ahead: "In Mia's natal horoscope," said Carol, "Venus is a member of the grand square—the most powerfully discordant aspect in a horoscope." Mia is deeply involved now with composer Andre Previn, so maybe she's reading the stars these days.

Census Acomin' Any of you ladies want to make $2 an hour come April? The Census Bureau will need 185,000 headcounters, of which 165,000 will be women. For our first nine censuses (1790-1870), only men were hired. In 1880, 200 of the fair sex broke into the field. By 1950, they outnumbered their colleagues. Why? It's hard to find a man qualified enough to take a few week's work. Jobs will be available at district offices in February.

Swimmer Out of Water 1st Lt. Micki King, 25, one of the nation's top divers, told Family Weekly: "I love my Air Force uniform. I don't have to decide what to wear every morning." Does she wear it on a date? "No, but I prefer plain clothes—solid colors, no frills." Make-up, however, is encouraged in the WAF: "They give a 12-week course which includes beauty, make-up, hair, and moving gracefully." Micki does 25 push-ups and sit-ups a day. "It's important to me to look good before the diving judges."

Great news from Dr. Seuss for parents of 2 to 6 year olds!

Take these colorful
3 BRIGHT and EARLY BOOKS all for only $1.65
($5.85 value)

with your child's trial enrollment in The Beginning Readers' Program

For the first time ever, there's a new kind of book for very young children. Created by Dr. Seuss and his friends, they're called BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS—remarkable little stories that give your youngster a jet-propelled start into the world of reading.

Dr. Seuss and his friends have done a wonderful thing! They've created BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS that charm even very little kids into reading.

Extra easy, breezy and gay, BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS make learning to read really child's play for 2-to-6-year-olds. They talk to a tot about things that are delightfully familiar to him: his eyes and the fun of seeing...his feet and the marvels they can perform...the ideas of "inside, outside and upside down" that a young child finds so fascinating.

But humor is the real magic of these enchanting new books. The big, cheery illustrations are so funny, a youngster can't resist them—and from there it's a natural step to reading the clever (but very simple) rhyming words and phrases. All it takes is a bit of "read aloud" help from you, and your youngster will be on his way. Slowly at first, then with more assurance, he'll be reading proudly all by himself!

From this happy start—on to bigger things!

The three BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS shown here are the starter books in the BEGINNING READERS' PROGRAM. They cost $5.85 at the publisher's catalog price. But you may have all three for only $1.65 as an introduction. They'll get your "beginning" beginner off to a happy start in reading. And then it's an easy glide right into reading regular BEGINNER BOOKS...for they begin where BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS leave off!

As a member of the program, your child will receive a BEGINNER BOOK each month, and you will be billed only $1.65 plus delivery instead of the publisher's catalog price of $1.95 (you save on every book). After accepting four monthly selections, you may cancel membership at any time.

Enjoy this 10 day treat free!

It's a delight to watch Dr. Seuss and his friends charm your child into reading. We'd like you to see how they do it for yourself. So you're invited to accept the three starter books shown here for a 10-day free trial. You must be truly delighted, or you may return the three introductory books and owe nothing. Just fill out and mail the attached reply card (or coupon) today.

Are You an Extrovert or Introvert?

By JOHN E. GIBSON

TWO COMMON psychological designations of personality are "extrovert" and "introvert." Most of us use the terms often. But how accurately do we use them? And what do they really mean in describing our personality?

The following true-false quiz is based on recent scientific findings. Take it, and you'll learn more about introverts and extroverts—and, most important of all, about yourself.

1. It's easy to tell whether you're an introvert or an extrovert.
2. Extroverts are more even-tempered than introverts.
3. Most introverts are at their best in the morning, while extroverts tend to function better in the afternoon.
4. When it comes to ESP, extroverts have it over introverts.
5. You can tell whether a person is an introvert or an extrovert by listening to his speech.
6. Extroverts hold their liquor better than introverts.
7. Introverts can hear better than extroverts.
8. Extroverts suffer less from headaches, colds, and assorted illnesses than introverts.
9. Extroverts are more likely than introverts to become involved in fights, scandals, and accidents.
10. Extroverts tend to fall in love with introverts.

ANSWERS

1. True. If you've never pondered this question, you're probably an extrovert. An introvert is more given to speculation about his personality type and what makes him tick. Virtually no one falls wholly in either of these two categories, of course. The introvert, as psychologist Ernest R. Hilgard points out, tends to withdraw into himself and to avoid other people, particularly in times of emotional stress. But the extrovert tends to lose himself among other people.

2. False. Psychologist H. J. Eysenck says the extrovert tends to be aggressive and loses his temper quickly. The introvert tends to "look before he leaps."

3. True. In tests conducted at the Applied Psychology Research Unit at Cambridge, introverts averaged a more efficient performance in the morning, while extroverts scored over the introverts in the afternoon.

4. True. Possibly one basic reason for this is that extroverts tend to focus their sensory powers outwardly.

5. True. Studies conducted at the London Institute of Psychiatry found that introverts' speech was characterized by short bursts of talk punctuated by long pauses. With the extroverts, it was the other way around. The researchers noted that the introverts, more given to thought and introspection, used the long pauses for thinking and reflection.

6. False. Studies show that introverts, even when drinking, retain better control of their wits, mental reflexes, and physical coordination. Liquor tends to increase feelings of anxiety among extroverts but had the opposite effect on introverts.

7. True. The Society of Psychophysiological Research found that introverts hear things that the extroverts' ears don't pick up at all.

8. True. Extroverts may be subject to as many afflictions and indispositions as introverts, but studies show they are less sensitive to the discomforts accompanying them.

9. True. Psychological studies at the University of Texas show that the extrovert tends to translate his urges and desires into physical action—and thus he reaps the consequences.

10. False. The tendency is in the other direction. Investigations have shown that in most cases the two types have difficulty understanding each other. ➤

Miniature Lamp Department

GENERAL  ELECTRIC

He lives with suitcase always packed, a radio receiver on his belt, and absolute clearance to any jet airport; Lt. Col. Ralph Albertazzie tells the story of America's most important flying job in—

By W. J. O'NEILL

WHEN President Nixon leaves Washington to visit Key Biscayne, Fla., the summer White House in San Clemente, Calif., or confer with chiefs of state around the globe, he places his life in the capable hands of Ralph Albertazzie, 46, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Lt. Col. Albertazzie, of the 89th Military Airlift Wing, Special Missions, U.S. Air Force, has been flying Richard Milhous Nixon since last December, when Nixon was still President-elect.

On the strength of an impeccable flying record and personal character, Albertazzie was nominated by the Chief of Staff of the Air Force immediately after the November, 1968, election to be the personal pilot for the incoming President.

After an interview with the President's military aide, the gray-haired command pilot with the five rows of decorations moved his things into the first-floor office at Andrews Air Force Base marked "Presidential Pilot."

"I am often asked what it's like to fly the President of the United States, how it differs from other flying I've done, and whether it has brought any changes in my life," Albertazzie told FAMILY WEEKLY. "To the first question, the answer is that it's both a great honor and a tremendous responsibility. I feel particularly privileged to have been selected as the presidential pilot.

"As to the second question, the flying is not as different as some people might think," he continued. "I've always tried to do my job as professionally as I can, and I've found that this attitude is shared by all career pilots."

He conceded, however, that there were some aspects of being presidential pilot that differed from other flying he has done, not the least of which are the extra security precautions taken.

"The presidential aircraft is under armed guard whenever it is on the ground," the colonel explained. "At least 24 hours before a flight, fuel for Air Force One must be tested to make certain that it's not contaminated by water and doesn't contain harmful additives. The tested fuel is placed in a tank truck, sealed, and the truck is guarded around the clock."

The precautions continue after the President leaves the ground. "The Air Force positions planes of the Air Rescue and Recovery Service along our route whenever we make an over-water flight," Albertazzie said. "If we are flying to Europe, for example, one rescue plane will be alerted on the ground and three more will be spotted at intervals across the Atlantic. We are passed from one cruising C-130 Hercules rescue plane to another until we are safely across."

Air Force One also receives special treatment from air-traffic controllers wherever it goes. On arrival, the President's plane will be cleared through traffic to land, since no airport will leave a head of a government stacked up over its field.

"We never require that towers delay traffic for us, though they do," Albertazzie said, "but only briefly. We get preferential treatment on the runway, but traffic continues on parallel runways while I'm taxiing."

Lt. Col. Albertazzie at control of Air Force One.

This is Albertazzie's second tour of duty with the 89th Wing, which flies the President, Vice President, Cabinet members, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other top officials.

"On most V.I.P. flights, details of the ceremonial arrivals and departures are worked out and then the pilot is informed," he related. "But as presidential pilot, I'm now brought in on these matters from the outset, including the timing and location of ceremonies, and where the limousines or helicopters will be waiting, so that we can park the aircraft in an appropriate spot."

Albertazzie often makes survey flights in advance of the President's overseas trips to look over the airports he is scheduled to use and study their approaches and facilities. On these flights, he is accompanied by a White House advance party that includes staff aides and Secret Service agents who check out everything from security and communications to protocol. Should President Nixon want to make a trip during Albertazzie's absence, three other pilots stand by.

With his square-jawed good looks, broad shoulders, reminiscent of his college football days, and the metal replica of the presidential seal that is the White House Service Badge gleaming from his beribboned blue tunic, Albertazzie could have stepped straight from an Air Force recruiting poster. Unflappable, with a quiet, controlled geniality that would do credit to a career diplomat, it is easy to see why he was the Air Force's choice to pilot its Commander-in-Chief. But Albertazzie insists that the coveted assignment has made few changes in his life.

"There have been a few shifts in my daily routine," he acknowledged. "On other assignments, including V.I.P. flights, when the mission was completed, I felt that my job was done, and I was off duty. Now I am always on call."

In his house at Andrews AFB, just outside the capital, there are two extra telephones. One is a direct line to the White House switchboard, and the other is connected with the Pentagon. When not in his quarters or at home, Albertazzie clips a transistorized radio receiver to his belt. When there is a call for him, the gadget beeps and delivers the message, usually directing him to call his office or the White House. An adaptation of the radio page system goes along with the presidential aircraft, so that its crew can be recalled whenever the plane is on the ground.

Albertazzie keeps a bag packed for a quick departure, and the rest of the crew of Air Force One do the same. Like him, many live on the airbase, and the others live nearby. When summoned, they can get to Air Force One and be ready to take off within an hour.

The crew of Air Force One usually consists of 11 men. Besides Albertazzie there are the co-pilot, the navigator, two flight engineers, a radio operator, and five flight stewards.

Actually, there is no one plane that is Air Force One. The name is simply the radio call sign of whatever Air Force plane the President is aboard. When he changes to an Army helicopter, that becomes "Army One." Similarly, a Navy plane would be "Navy One" and a Marine Corps helicopter, "Marine One."

Why Is Lt. Col. Albertazzie the President's Pilot?

Col. John G. Williams, retiring as commander of the 89th Military Airlift Wing, Special Missions, told FAMILY WEEKLY why he regards Ralph D. Albertazzie as the best-qualified pilot in the Air Force to fly President Nixon's plane:

"The job of presidential pilot calls for a thoroughly poised and collected professional who can cope with the unexpected. He must be a personable and diplomatic officer whose character is unimpeachable. Colonel Albertazzie meets these qualifications superbly. He has more than 18,000 hours of experience, much of it flying 707 jets and many of those hours spent flying the world's leaders. His is a very heavy responsibility, and he is the man best equipped to carry it."

"I Fly the President"

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The plane that most people know as Air Force One, with United States of America emblazoned along its fuselage, the American flag painted on its rudder, and the presidential seal on its door, is a Boeing 707 jetliner bearing the serial number 26000. This is the plane in which President Nixon makes most of his trips across the country and abroad. A second 707, serial number 86970, is similarly marked and equipped as a presidential airplane, giving the 89th Wing a back-up capability. On extended flights overseas, both planes are used, so that the President can change to the back-up plane if there is any difficulty.

Both planes have the same cockpit instrumentation found in commercial airliners, but with one important difference. Whenever a better piece of equipment is developed, such as the inertial guidance system, the presidential aircraft will have it before the airlines do. Just behind the cockpit is the communications center, with radio, teletype, and telephone equipment, plus scramblers to provide message security.

Behind the communications desk is the galley where the President's meals are prepared. To the rear of it are seats for the presidential bodyguard. Next comes the President's stateroom, with two beds, three chairs and a desk, plus a telephone, which puts the President in instant communication with any part of the airplane, the White House, or the Pentagon. A digital clock gives the local time, Washington time, and the time at the plane's destination.

Other sections of the plane accommodate the President's staff, guests, representatives of the White House press corps, and the guards who protect the plane when it is on the ground.

Back in 1967, after duty in Europe and in the U.S., Albertazzie requested duty in Vietnam and was assigned to the 7th Air Force, where he directed strike plans. Though it was not part of his job, he managed to fly 75 combat support missions and 17 combat missions.

Returning from Vietnam in September, 1968, with two Air Medals and a Bronze Star, Albertazzie was assigned to the 89th Wing, and only a few months later he was named as President Nixon's pilot.

"For me, it was the climax to more than 25 years of flying," he said recently. "I've always enjoyed flying but never more than now."

Albertazzie first got the flying bug as a youngster in Morgantown, where his father, who came to this country from France in 1903, worked as a mine superintendent. Albertazzie was already playing high-school football and doing well enough to be assured of a chance at college.

"I used to watch a local character called 'Jelly-Belly' Boone drive past in an Auburn Speedster, just about the hottest car in its day," he recounted. "Boone owned Pioneer Flying Service, and I thought the flying paid for that car. By the time I learned that his money came from bootlegging, I had taken to hanging around the airfield and was hooked on flying. I was 16, and I would wash down the planes after school in return for flights over the field."

After a year and a half at West Virginia University, where he intended to major in engineering, Albertazzie enlisted in the Aviation Cadet Program in 1943.

"The Army Air Corps put me through one school after another, from basic flying to twin-engine training, then B-17s, and finally made me an instructor in B-29s," he said. "It was wonderful flying experience, but I was disappointed because I was never sent overseas."

When World War II ended, he left the service and went to work ferrying planes from factories to dealers or shippers. In 1947 he and a partner bought Pioneer Flying Service at Morgantown. In the next few years, they expanded its fleet from five light planes to nine, and added a maintenance facility, an airport restaurant, and an aircraft electronics service.

Communication center is vital area of plane.

"By 1951, my wife Carol and I thought of our life as comfortably settled," he said. "Our two daughters, Lynette and Sally, had been born, we had a home and a going business in the kind of work that I liked."

That May, a bombshell landed on their front door in the form of a registered letter from the 1st Air Force in New York, recalling reserve lieutenant Albertazzie to active duty in the Korean war.

"Carol and I were shocked," he remembers. "I hadn't been active in the reserves, hadn't kept up my points, and should have been dropped. But President Truman extended all reservists, and I was caught. I sold my share of the business to two of our mechanics, who had bought out my partner, and in June, Carol joined me at Kelly Field in Texas and later in Hawaii.

"Carol and I liked Hawaii so much that I extended my duty tour," Albertazzie said. "We spent three-and-a-half years there, and by the time we came to Washington I had received my commission as a captain in the regular Air Force."

Neither Albertazzie nor his wife regret his decision.

"The service has given us a good life," he said. "And being selected to fly the President of the United States is about the highest honor the Air Force could have bestowed on me." ♦

Festive Flare for Tree Trimmers

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Greet tree trimmers with small cups of spicy hot soup and lots of speciality-shaped snacks before action begins. When the last ornament is in place, let all gather round and joyously sing favorite Christmas carols. Continue the conviviality throughout a leisurely buffet supper ending with rich Exotic Date Dessert and coffee.

top. Accompany with a bowl of grated Parmesan cheese.

About 6 servings

Decorative Date Fingers

- ¾ lb. (about 2 cups) pitted dates, cut in pieces
- 1 cup hot water
- ½ cup orange juice
- ½ cup pecans, chopped
- 1½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- ¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1¼ cups uncooked rolled oats

1. Combine the first three ingredients in a saucepan; cook and stir over medium heat about 15 min., or until mixture is thick. Stir in nuts and set aside.

2. Meanwhile, invert a 9x9x2-in. pan onto a piece of waxed paper. Using a knife, mark around pan to form outline without cutting through paper. Turn pan right-side up and grease the bottom. Set aside.

3. Resift the flour with baking soda and salt.

4. Cream butter with grated peel and the extract until softened. Add brown sugar gradually, beating until fluffy.

5. Blend in the dry ingredients, then the rolled oats, mixing thoroughly. Press half the mixture in an even layer on bottom of the pan. Pat remaining dough over and within the marked-off square of waxed paper.

6. Spread date filling over dough in pan to within ¼ in. of sides of pan. Invert waxed paper onto top of filling and press down gently. Carefully peel off the waxed paper.

7. Bake at 400°F. about 35 min., or until golden brown. Remove to

Ham in Orange Sauce

- 1 can (13½ oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
- Pineapple syrup (about ½ cup)
- ½ cup butter
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 lb. fully cooked, shaped, boneless ham, cut in strips (about 3 cups)
- Salt
- 1 cup packaged precooked rice
- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

1. Heat butter in a large skillet. Add celery, green pepper, and onion and cook about 10 min. or until vegetables are crisp-tender. Set aside.

2. Meanwhile, adding gradually, blend the ½ cup pineapple syrup with the cornstarch in a bowl. Stir until smooth. Mix with vegetables in a skillet.

3. Blend orange juice concentrate, soy sauce, and pineapple chunks. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Add ham, mixing lightly. Cover; heat before serving.

4. Cook rice according to pkg. directions. Add butter and cheese, tossing lightly.

5. Spoon the hot ham mixture over rice in a serving dish. Toss toasted, chopped almonds over wire rack and loosen sides with spatula. Cool.

A festive supper dish—pieces of tender ham with pineapple chunks in orange sauce over fluffy white rice with Parmesan cheese—is accompanied by crisp salad, hot rolls, and mugs of cold milk.

8. Sprinkle with sifted confectioners' sugar. Cut into $1\frac{1}{2} \times \frac{3}{4}$ -in. fingers and remove from pan. Use an aerosol decorator or commercial frosting (red and green) in a tube and a decorating tip to decorate each piece with frosting blossoms and leaves in keeping with the holiday theme.

About 6 doz. cookies

Exotic Date Dessert: Cut baked cookie dough into 3-in. squares and serve cold or slightly warm with thawed frozen whipped topping, or whipped dessert topping. For a holiday dessert, sprinkle with red- and green-colored sugar and top with silver dragees.

Hot Spicy Cherry Soup

- 1 can (16 oz.) pitted red tart cherries
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- Onion (thick slice)
- Lemon peel (wide band pared paper-thin from center third of lemon)
- 1 cup water
- Red food coloring
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon garlic powder
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 8 whole cloves

1. Put cherries and liquid from the can into an electric blender container.

2. Add bouillon cubes, onion, and lemon peel. Cover and blend until finely chopped. Pour into a saucepan. Stir in a blend of water and the desired amount of red food coloring; then add the remaining ingredients.

3. Bring to boiling, stirring occasionally; reduce heat and simmer gently 20 to 30 min. Strain.

4. Reheat just before serving. Stir until thoroughly blended before ladling into punch cups. Sprinkle each serving generously with snipped parsley. 6 to 8 servings

Shades of Green Salad

- 3 oz. (about 3 cups) fresh spinach, rinsed, drained, patted dry, and chilled
- $\frac{1}{2}$ head lettuce, rinsed, patted dry, and chilled
- 4 stalks Pascal celery, rinsed, patted dry, and cut in pieces or slices
- $\frac{1}{2}$ green pepper, rinsed, patted dry, and cut in slivers
- 1 cucumber, rinsed, patted dry, and cut in pieces or slices
- 2 tablespoons chopped chives
- Bottled French dressing, chilled
- 6 green olives, pitted and sliced
- 1 small avocado, peeled and sliced

1. Line a large salad bowl with spinach leaves; tear remaining spinach and lettuce into pieces.

2. In a large mixing bowl lightly toss the spinach, lettuce, and the next 4 ingredients. Pour about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup French dressing over salad and continue tossing to coat greens evenly.

3. Turn salad into the lined bowl and garnish with olive and avocado slices. About 6 servings

Note: If desired, romaine may be substituted for the spinach. Or omit olives and avocado slices and garnish with clusters of pomegranate seeds.

RICHARD HARRIS

A Star Who Enjoys Being Disliked

"HONESTY is the most offensive thing in the world. I believe in being honest. It goes hand-in-hand with being disliked. And I reserve the right to be disliked!" Thus spoke Richard Harris on the set of "Cromwell."

This was not our first meeting, but each get-together showed him equally outspoken, critical, uninhibited, and colorful.

The first time I met Harris he had just returned from Tahiti, where "Mutiny on the Bounty" had been filmed. About his costar Marlon Brando, he said: "Brando's talent is lying in a file in the office of a Beverly Hills' psychiatrist. He paid someone $50 an hour to extract it from him, instead of working out his own conflicts."

Another time, when I asked who were his friends, Harris replied: "Friends? I am lucky to have two!" They were composer Jimmy Webb and Manhattan's fabled Irish saloonkeeper, Malachy McCourt. "Most people just don't want the conditions I lay down for a friendship. Friendship goes deeper than just keeping in touch. I don't believe, for instance, in corresponding, but I am there when they need me."

I next met Harris in 1967 at the Hilton Hotel in London after his return from the Spanish locations of "Camelot." It was close to 3 a.m. Having been unsuccessful in discouraging the noise in the suite adjacent to my room by banging on the wall and complaining to the management, I finally stormed into the hallway and knocked on the door myself.

A beaming Richard Harris, a glass of something or other in one hand, opened the door, took one look at me in my pajamas and bathrobe, and exclaimed, "Join the party, mate!" Since I couldn't sleep anyway, there was nothing else to do.

Harris candor is usually outrageous. "Marriage," he states, "is a form of slow assassination." He once complained to me, "For three years I've been trying to get a divorce (from Elizabeth Rees-Williams). It looks like I'll have to stay married all my life!"

Getting a divorce in England is next to impossible unless adultery is one of the grounds. According to Harris, he and his wife were quite willing to testify in each other's behalf. Unfortunately, as it turned out, they nullified cross-complaints when Harris kept moving back in with Elizabeth! Now, however, the divorce is accomplished, and Harris swears he will never get tied up again as long as he lives.

Undoubtedly, Harris is among the most colorful actors in films today. His mop of uncombed sandy hair, atop a six-foot-two-inch frame, and an often-broken nose attract much attention. Referring to his distorted nose, Harris told me, "I am not as tough as I look, but my reputation always precedes me. Usually when a woman chats with me, a guy comes up and wants to prove that he's tougher than I am." (Apparently they sometimes are.)

In sharp contrast to his brawling image is his passion for flowers. His Kensington town house is a mixture of hothouse flowers and wild blossoms. He boasts that he spends even more for flowers than liquor.

Harris told me that there's only one part of his life that he would like to change at this time. He would like to see more of his three redheaded sons, whose custody was awarded to his wife. He constantly talks about them. He proudly recalled the acting debut of his oldest boy, Damien, who had a small part in Harris' film, "Otley."

"Being a bright boy," Harris said, "he figured he should get all he could out of it and promptly asked for a press conference. One of the reporters asked, 'Why do you, a nine-year-old boy, want to become an actor?' 'Because my father has turned down three pictures this year,' Damien replied, 'and I think someone in the family should be working.'"

And that Harris always wins out is reflected in his recollection of a phone conversation with autocratic Jack Warner, producer of "Camelot."

Warner insisted on having Harris' songs prerecorded. Harris wanted no part of it. So he called Warner one night and said, "I don't care what they say about you. From now on I will defend you. You are a great man. Thank you for letting me do the songs live!"

Before Warner could catch his breath, Harris had hung up. But Harris had gotten his way—again!

Discovered in Europe... Finally Available In America

THE WORLD'S FIRST AND ONLY HUMAN HAIR WIG WITH A BUILT-IN SET

Yes, the built-in set lasts as long as you want... from cleaning to cleaning... or from washing to washing! The lifetime set always bounces back!

In fact, the only thing needed to re-set or re-style this wondrous new kind of wig is ordinary shampoo — because science has finally found a way to build a lifetime set into HUMAN HAIR!

Change the style as often as you like. This unique "DURA-SETTE" HUMAN HAIR TAPERED STRETCH WIG keeps its set FOREVER!

Yes, at last it's true... the perfect wig that every woman has ever dreamed of... and it's finally available in America.

Think of it! All the natural luster, all the thick, rich body, all the vibrant silky bounce of human hair... all the "no-care" features you've always hoped for but never believed possible in a human-hair stretch wig. No more costly, time-consuming "setting trips" to the parlor. No more spraying. No more teasing. No care whatsoever. For here at last is a wig... a human hair wig... that actually takes care of itself. All you do is wear it... nothing more.

Brush it all you wish... restyle it as often as you like... the built-in set simply lasts... lasts... lasts! The only time you ever have to freshen up the set is after you clean and wash it. Then all you do is use a few rollers or pin-curls, because the built-in lifetime set lasts... lasts... lasts! It really does make every other wig ever sold (no matter what the price) truly old-fashioned!

Now, please do not confuse this wondrous DURA-SETTE HUMAN HAIR stretch wig with frowzy looking artificial-fiber wigs that you can spot at a glance. The DURA-SETTE HUMAN HAIR WIG looks and feels as natural and lustrous as your own hair... because it's made of human hair... and only human hair. The only thing science has added to this hair is a built-in lifetime set that keeps under all weather conditions. Small wonder that when news of the DURA-SETTE HUMAN HAIR WIG first hit the American fashion-world it was immediately acclaimed as the most significant beauty news of the year.

In fact, just read yourself what Mr. Richard Cole, one of America's leading hair stylists, has to say about this thrilling new development:

"I doubt, if 6 months from today you will ever see another high-price human hair wig, or low-price artificial-fiber wig in America again. Not with this startling new scientific achievement. Because here is the ultimate in a woman's wig. It is natural-looking, lustrous and full of body because it's made of 100% human hair. And it has the built-in lifetime set feature that lasts for the life of the wig. There is simply nothing more a woman could ask for in a wig."

Within the next 90 days, you'll probably be seeing every fashionable department store and beauty salon featuring the DURA-SETTE HUMAN HAIR STRETCH WIG. We know this for a fact... because of the flood of orders we've been receiving.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

The DURA-SETTE HUMAN HAIR STRETCH WIG must be the easiest-to-care-for wig you've ever seen... it must do away with setting lotions, sprays, teasings and expensive setting-trips to the beauty parlor... it must keep its built-in LIFETIME SET under any and all conditions... or return it any time for your full money back. There is no other human-hair wig in the world today that would dare make this unheard-of guarantee... because this is the world's first and only tapered, human-hair stretch wig with a built-in LIFETIME SET.

Fantastic Value
only $29.95

Introducing the world's first and only human-hair stretch wig with a built-in lifetime set.

Pre-styled by professional Fifth Avenue hair-stylists... the set lasts as long as you want it to last. Care to change it? Simply shampoo... and re-set in just minutes, with just a few rollers or pins... and once again the set lasts as long as you wish.

Give the Uncommon Gift This Christmas!

By ROSALYN ABREYAYA

THE UNCOMMON GIFT is the dream of every Christmas shopper—sometimes an impossible dream. But here are some suggestions to make the dream a reality. These suggested gifts "do" things: fill an important need, stand as a "first," or fool the eye (while concealing their actual practicality).

With the grill up, you couldn't guess what this trim case really does (1)—dries clothes! Taking up no more space than a small tv and economical to run, it conveniently tumble-dries up to two pounds of damp laundry. Has a 60-minute automatic timer; plugs into any regular outlet. From E. R. Wagner. $25.

They look like table objets d'art, beautifully designed in white enamel with rosewood bases (2). But both tulip and bell actually conceal Vara-flame-butane-cigarette lighters in their interiors. From Ronson, they have fingertip adjustable flames; light up to three years on a single fueling. Each $25.

The young girl with nimble fingers will adore Singer's little Touch & Sew machine (3). It contains a bobbin and sews exactly like a big unit, with interlocking stitch. Operates on flashlight batteries or house current with optional adapter. Completely safe. In its own carrying case, $16.95; with a console table, $25.95.

If you've a favorite "clock watcher" or friend who's eternally late, give Sony's digital FM/AM clock-radio (4). Preset once to buzz or turn on the radio, it can become a handy wake-up device at bedside. Illuminated numerals. In white or gray, $49.95 or in a hardwood cabinet (shown), $59.95.

For the college student or dad who works at home, there's SCM's Coronet automatic electric typewriter (5). It comes equipped with a full 88-character standard-sized keyboard, including five automatic repeat actions; a page-gauge guide to keep track of bottom margins; a copy-set dial, adjustable for up to 10 carbon copies; and boasts, for the first time in a portable, the convenience of automatic carriage return. In blue, gray, tan, or green. $190.

Is there anything new in hair-grooming aids? Certainly! There's The Hairdresser kit by Remington (6). It consists of a small hand-held blower-dryer, to which you attach brush or comb (included) to dry your tresses. For curls, beat when the hair is nearly dry, use the kit's four large rollers; then apply special cone-shaped attachment to dry each curl's interior. In pale blue, it's under $20.

Voyagers, as well as homebodies, will delight in receiving Cory's Travelaid hand steamer (7), designed to whisk away wrinkles from all apparel. It's handy, too, for smoothing out hems, collars, or restoring nap and pile to felt or furs. Utilizes ordinary tap water. In beige and polished aluminum. $19.95. ♦

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets, or muscular stress and strain. If this nagging backache, with its restless sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills—an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is of tested answer. Get Doan's Pills—not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

More Security With FALSE TEETH

At Any Time

Don't be so afraid that your false teeth will come loose or drop just at the wrong time. For more security and more comfort, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH holds both uppers and lowers firmer longer. Makes eating easier. FASTEETH is alkaline. No gummy, pasty taste! Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH.

The Not-So-Playful Game

By KEVIN V. BROWN

THE CHILDREN sat in a circle and, screaming and clapping their hands in delight, took turns playing with a new toy called Tiger Island.

A foot-high tiger, standing on his hind legs on an island of its own, revolved and opened its mouth. The boys and girls would try to drop marbles in its mouth before one of its huge arms came down in a mock attempt to swat the children's hands before they could aim the marbles.

Behind a one-way mirror, notebook in hand, a psychologist sat watching the children's gleeful reactions and listening, through hidden microphones, to their squeals of happy terror. After 20 minutes of animated play, he interviewed the participants, carefully grading the toy on the basis of their answers.

One girl commented, "I liked it better than anything because it was fun, and girls have just as good a chance as boys, and it made me laugh, and I was scared of the tiger, and I want my mommy to buy me one."

Tiger Island received one of the highest scores in the history of scientific testing of toys, using children and child psychologists, and the report sent the manufacturer rushing to the market place, hoping for a windfall. The wind stayed calm, though, because Tiger Island sank into a sea of indifference. Hardly anyone bought it.

This contradictory episode points up only one of the hazards in the modern creation of toys. Today the toy industry is a multimillion-dollar business, as big as any of them, and as cold-bloodedly efficient as the best of them. And also with as many headaches—unique ones, though.

A major hazard is not so much will the children like it, but will the opposition find out about it, duplicate it, and get it on the market first. The security precautions taken by all of them to screen out the spies resemble some of the cloak-and-dagger operations in the files of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Of course, another problem is getting ideas for successful toys. Surprisingly, the largest group of ideas comes from amateurs, thousands of them every year. Unfortunately, few of them are ever successful. "These sweet old ladies from Podunk," one spokesman explained with some compassion, "simply don't understand the economics of the toy business or its highly competitive market."

Persistence seems to be the key. Ideal Toy Corp., four years running, turned down an idea from a Midwest schoolteacher for a rubber-band-powered toy that uses a pusher-propeller to skim over land, ice, or water. But the teacher kept improving it, and Ideal finally marketed it as their Thunderstreak Mark II.

Milton Bradley gets up to 50 ideas a year from a California forest ranger who, during his lonely vigils in a watchtower, dreams up "learning wheels." Two have done well, a circular slide rule that teaches elementary mathematics and a "dial-and-spell" board that the child can use to learn simple words.

Market "feed-back" is another source of ideas, but sometimes the feed-back can bite back. One manufacturer ruefully recalls the year his dealers reported from the bookends that parents were asking for a reasonably priced pool table. The cheap ones were too cheap, and the good ones were too expensive.

So he invested the money, produced a "middle-class" pool table, and proudly brought it to the annual Toy Fair—the world series of the toy business—only to look in dismay at the displays of his competitors. Four others had done exactly the same thing, getting the same feed-back from their dealers, and producing the same kind of table, with the result that none of them captured enough of the market to make the investments worthwhile.

All things considered, the nation's toymakers have to depend on professionals for about 90 percent of their ideas. Most have full staffs of designers who dream up "pie-in-the-sky" ideas or hard-headed ones based on new markets or gaps in the old markets. Probably one of the most noted designers is Marvin Glass, Chicago, who pioneered today's popular "action" toys.

At Ideal, one designer spent weeks just blowing up balloons, convinced something creative could be done with them. Winded after a few days, he rigged a pump to do the blowing.

Then it hit him—Blowing them up until they burst, he noticed it didn't always require the same number of pumps. Why not make a game of it? Which pump will make the balloons burst? The result was Kaboom, a Rube Goldberg-like pump, complete with 200 balloons and a scoreboard. The kids guess which pump will make the balloons burst.

Another inspired pie-in-the-sky came from a California housewife who noticed her eight-year-old daughter Barbara liked to project herself as a teen-ager. So, instead of a baby doll in diapers and jumpers, why not produce a teen-age doll with a complete and fashionable wardrobe?

The idea became the fabulously successful Barbie doll, mostly because the housewife was Mrs. Ruth Han-of Toymaking

Behind the child's delight over a toy lies the agony of a creator, the judgments of a psychologist—and the million-dollar gamble of the manufacturer ler, president of Mattel, Inc., the largest of the toy manufacturers. Her husband is its chairman.

One of the great moral soul-searching crises has occurred in recent years in the toy industry. So much antiwar and antigun sentiment has swept the country, that one major mail-order house took all the guns out of its toy catalog. Even some of the manufacturers are backing off voluntarily, stopping the promotion of weapons of war or changing them to something else. Hasbro Industries had one of the most successful products in its G.I. Joe series of foot-high figures dressed in fatigues and accompanied by an assortment of field equipment, including machine guns. G.I. Joe was given an honorable discharge and has since become an oceanographer and a space explorer.

If the toy weapon has historic interest, however, it seems to hang on. Revell, one of the large model makers, claims its World War II models of airplanes are outselling modern airliners 3-to-1, and with all the cowboys and cops-and-robbers shows on television, most manufacturers can't see how they can eliminate the demand for guns for good.

It's the new idea for the new market that gives most manufacturers the real ulcers, however. It's a considerable expense to go into new research and new tooling for an altogether new product, and they want some assurance they can have an exclusive market for their investment.

So, during new-toy time, the toy factories become something like a munitions plant in wartime. Everyone not directly involved in the product is simply not told about it, and everyone who is, is sworn to secrecy. Guards are stationed at the doors of the design and engineering rooms, and no one can enter or leave without being closely scrutinized.

The hardware is put in plain boxes and given code names, and nothing is announced until it is unveiled at the Toy Fair.

This cloak-and-dagger routine reaches classic proportions at Revell, where the president of the company, who handles all its outside activities, is never let in on the inside secrets and keeps trying to break the code. The vice-president, who handles all the internal research and development, explains wistfully, "He's a sweet person, but he's too enthusiastic. He wants to tell everything."

What makes this case so unusual is that the vice president is Mrs. Royle Glaser, and the president is her husband Lewis. Imagine the cat-and-mouse conversations they must have!

None of this, however, concerns the real customer—the American child—nor should it. Some toys can divert him momentarily, some can educate him permanently, but most will just reflect the world he lives in and his ardent interest in it. And that's a healthy sign. ♦

Look what you and Reynolds Wrap (and lots of love) can do.

Festive Reynolds Wrap Ideas for Feasting, Giving, Merry-Making.

TURKEY TRICKS. Tent your turkey and line your roasting pan with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Your bird will brown beautifully without basting. And no oven-spattering or pan scouring. Roast your bird using directions on the Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap package. And bake an extra portion of your favorite stuffing separately in a foil "bundle."

GIFTWEAR. Wrap your presents in shiny-bright Reynolds Wrap, and add your own imaginative touches. Molds easily to hard-to-wrap shapes. So pretty and surprisingly economical!

QUICHE NOËL. (The delicate flavor stays delicate when you freeze it before you bake it, because you cook it only once!) Prepare 1 package pie crust mix. Line 9" pie pan with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Place crust in pan, fluting edges. Combine 1½ cups grated natural Swiss cheese and 4 teaspoons flour. Sprinkle into pie shell. Sprinkle on ½ cup diced ham. Combine 3 eggs, 1 cup milk or light cream, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. dry mustard. Beat until smooth and pour evenly over cheese and ham. Place unbaked pie in freezer until frozen solid. Remove from pie pan and over-wrap in Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Return to freezer. When ready to bake, remove foil over-wrapping, return to pie pan. Bake in 400° oven about 1 hour. Cool slightly. Garnish with chopped parsley and pimento.

THE WARMEST GIFTS COME FROM YOUR OVEN. Different, thoughtful, personal... your favorite fancy cookies, fruit cake... or our baked Holiday Cake. You'll need Reynolds Wrap to bake, freeze and gift wrap them. And Reynolds Wrap keeps them fresh and moist.

HOLIDAY CAKE: Cream 1 cup butter or margarine with 1½ cups sugar. Beat in 5 eggs, one at a time, beating 1 minute after each addition. Blend in 2 cups cake flour, 1 tablespoon sherry or vanilla, and 1 jar (4 ounces) chopped candied citron or your favorite chopped candied fruit. Line a 9x5x3 inch loaf pan with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Pour in batter. Bake in pre-heated oven (325°) 1 hour and 45 minutes. Frost with simple confectioners' sugar icing. Decorate with candied fruits. To freeze, first cool, then over-wrap with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap and place in freezer. Be sure to thaw in foil package. Takes about 1 hour at room temperature.

GIFT WRAP YOUR DOORWAY.

Cover your door with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, fastening foil with colored tape. (Foil should be inset about ½ inch all the way around.) More bright ideas: Reynolds Wrap shaped around the Christmas tree stand makes a perfect setting for your foil-wrapped gifts. Cover a basket with Reynolds Wrap to hold foil-wrapped popcorn balls or holiday fruit. We hope these ideas will help make your home a very special place and your holidays the happiest ever.
