War Protesters Mingle With Yuletide Shoppers In Quiet 'Moratorium'

By United Press International

Antiwar demonstrators competed with Christmas shopping for the public's attention Saturday in their demand for an immediate U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Caroling, leaflets, silent vigils, rallies, marches and town hall meetings marked the conclusion of a generally quiet two-day Vietnam moratorium across the country. The Vietnam Moratorium Committee planned a final December demonstration for Christmas Eve, with a "peace on earth" theme focusing on churches around the nation.

While names of Vietnam War dead were read at the Riverside Church in New York City, Mayor John V. Lindsay addressed a "town meeting" protesting the war. Demonstrators led a candlelight parade through Manhattan.

There was "peace caroling" at Washington's suburban shopping centers. Pacifist groups in Oakland, Calif., were joined by members of the United Electrical Workers Union who rallied against the war "and the war's biggest beneficiaries—General Electric."

About 2,300 Harvard University and Radcliffe College students took part in a 30-hour "fast for peace," and planned to donate money saved on meals to a Vietnam refugee relief fund.

An expected 2,000 demonstrators marched in Fayetteville, N.C., home both of Ft. Bragg and Pope Air Force Base.

Army Spec. 4 David Shulman, a member of the Ft. Bragg Chapter of GIs United against the War in Vietnam, said the purpose was to show that "the people who do the fighting are opposed to the war."

organizations to show support for President Nixon's Vietnam policies drew only about 100 persons. "My reaction is one of dismay," said Homer T. Ford, the coordinator.

calling the American people the silent majority. Ford said, "We had definitely hoped for 50,000 to 70,000 persons." About 100 active and discharged servicemen at Ocean-side, Calif., won court approval of a parade Sunday near the Marines' Camp Pendleton to protest the war.

WALTER J. HICKEL

Hickel To Visit Burley

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel will visit Magic Valley in January to speak at a banquet honoring Rep. Orval Hansen.

The visit will mark the first time any administration cabinet official has visited Idaho since the election last year.

The dinner will be held Jan. 24 in Burley. John Breckenridge, Twin Falls, is chairman of the sponsoring committee and announced Secretary Hickel's visit in a letter to the Times-News Saturday.

Before his appointment as Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Hickel was Governor of Alaska. Mr. Breckenridge said the Idaho appearance comes in response to a joint invitation delivered in person by the three Republican members of Idaho's Congressional delegation, Sen. Len Jordan, Rep. James McClure and Rep. Hansen.

The main purpose of the dinner will be to raise funds for the Congressional campaign in Idaho's Second District next year. Mr. Breckenridge said, Rep. Hansen is serving his first term in the House after serving in the Idaho Legislature for 10 years.

Mitchell Tells Governors Demos 'Hamstring' Drive Against Crime

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell told Republican Governors Saturday the Nixon Administration's war on crime was "substantially hamstrung" this year by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

He also reported that President Nixon's new budget next month would ask for about half a billion dollars—double the amount for the current fiscal year—for grants to the states for improving their law enforcement systems.

Mitchell's criticism of Congress came at the closing business session of the semiannual meeting of the Republican Governors' Association. It was part of a pattern of attacks on Congress that emerged from this conference from administration spokesmen and GOP governors who are preparing for the 1970 state and congressional elections.

Asked if such attacks were central to GOP strategy for 1970, Republican National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton, a Maryland congressman, told a news conference that the Democrats in Congress "have invited the attack by footdragging on legislation."

Before going into a private luncheon session with Morton, the governors concluded their public meetings by electing Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania to the chairmanship of the association to succeed Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

The association elected its new officers without contest. Gov. Louis B. Nunn of Kentucky was elected vice chairman. Chosen for the executive committee were Govs. Stanley K. Hathaway of Wyoming, Russell W. Peterson of Delaware and Norbert T. Tiemann of Nebraska.

Jet Returns Bodies Of Air Pirates

ATHENS (UPI)—An Ethiopian jetliner flew home Saturday with the bodies of two would-be hijackers killed in flight over Europe by security men.

The gunbattle on the Boeing 707's Madrid to Addis Ababa flight Friday night marked the first time hijackers were slain in the air. Madrid reports indicated the shootout might have been averted.

(See Story, Page 6)

In Syria, the slain hijackers were identified as members of a movement seeking the independence of Moslem Eritrea from predominantly Christian Ethiopia. The movement has previously attacked Ethiopian aircraft.

In Madrid, sources close to the Spanish Interior Ministry said airport police had tipped off three Ethiopian security guards aboard the jetliner to the presence of two "suspicious characters" on the list of 14 passengers.

Court Orders Integration In Louisiana

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court Saturday ordered school boards of three Louisiana parishes to achieve complete desegregation of both faculties and student bodies by Feb. 1.

In a separate order, Associate Justice Hugo L. Black similarly set a Feb. 1, deadline for complete student desegregation in school districts of Mobile County, Ala., Marshall County, Miss., and Burke, Ga.

The order concerning the Louisiana parishes went even further than the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which this month set a Feb. 1, deadline for faculty and administrative desegregation, but allowed a delay until next fall for full pupil desegregation.

Travelers warnings were in effect as heavy snow and rain was predicted by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

More than an inch, 1.03, of rain fell at Cape Blanco, Ore., during a six hour period, while .80 of an inch fell at Hoquiam, Wash.

A low pressure disturbance produced snow flurries across the Great Lakes to the nearby Appalachians. As much as eight inches of snow was reported in Pulaski, N.Y.

Sunny and mild weather covered the rest of the country.

Bombs Kill 14 In Italy, Injure 108

ROME (UPI)—Police raided offices of nine extremist political organizations Saturday in search of clues to the terrorists who planted bombs that killed 14 persons and injured 108 others in Milan and Rome Friday.

The raiding squads searched headquarters of Fascist, anarchist, Trotskyist and pro-Peking Communist organizations. They carried off files and also detained more than 100 known political activists and extremists for questioning.

Many were released later after giving statements. The heaviest toll was taken by a blast in Milan's crowded National Bank of Agriculture, just behind the cathedral. It killed 14 persons and injured 90 others, eight of them critically.

Another bomb exploded in a passageway at a Rome bank three blocks from the American Embassy, injuring 14 persons.

District Court Asks County To Double Budget

BOISE (UPI)—Ada County is being asked to double its budget for Fourth District Court next year — even if it has to issue deficiency warrants.

In a letter signed by all four judges, the court said it needs to double the number of court clerks, hire an administrator of court records, retain the public defender system and pay increased jury and library fees.

Chairman Rulon Swensen of the county commission said the county has not as yet considered any budgets.

Sun Valley Skiers Find Snow Adequate

Sun Valley is off and running today but the first "big push" is expected to get underway Thursday for the second of the current season, Dorice Taylor, public relations chief at the resort told the Times-News Saturday evening.

Mrs. Taylor said both the Lodge and the Inn are open for guests and that runs on Baldy are packed and being used. After a steady snowfall Friday which continued off and on Saturday there are 14 inches of powder at the top of Baldy, she said. For this Sunday skiing will also take place on either Dollar or Half-Dollar.

She said there was not as much snow as wanted for the opening but added that "there's enough to look like Christmas and we are getting into the swing of things although some of the changes made recently are not yet completed.

The runs which will be in use are packed, she said, and the Ram and Challenger Inn eating places are open.

Weather Saturday was overcast and warmer during the afternoon but was cooling Saturday evening and snow has been predicted for the next three days.

"The snow to date has provided us with a perfect base," she said. "We have many guests right now but next week — just before Christmas — will see the place really in the middle of a big blast."

Meanwhile, both United and Air West officials reported plans were complete for special weekend ski planes from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. Air West planes, pure jets, were to land at Twin Falls but because the runway extension at the Twin Falls City-County Airport was not completed, the Los Angeles jet is overpassing Twin Falls and landing at Boise. At that point special transportation to Sun Valley will be furnished by Kirkman Brothers, Twin Falls.

Cong Document Outlines Communist Objectives In South Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—A captured document outlining Communist objectives in South Vietnam indicates the Viet Cong were aware they cannot win the war as long as American forces are present, military sources said Saturday.

The document was captured in October, apparently taken from the body of a high-ranking Communist functionary. Military sources declined to reveal circumstances of the capture.

Court Allows T.F. To Draft Annexation Ordinance

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

All that can be said about Twin Falls' controversial annexation issue is that everything is in the language of the court, "status quo."

Annexation became an issue in Twin Falls nearly two months ago when city officials announced they would annex seven specific areas into the city. As time went along, these areas were cut and trimmed and one area was deleted. In the end, which was Dec. 1, the City Council took final action on six ordinances, annexing six areas into the city.

Within days of this action, three lawsuits were filed. The first involved property in the Canyon Crest subdivision on the northeast edge of the city. The suit was filed by Keith Malone. The second involved all of area seven, which is an area of about 200 homes on the northwest edge of the city.

The third suit involved a tract of land owned by Sierra Life Insurance Co. located on the northeast edge of the city. To give the plaintiffs their day in court, Fifth District Court Judge Theron Ward signed restraining orders in all three suits. This meant the city could not annex the areas concerned until a court determination could be made.

Once Judge Ward signed the restraining orders he disqualified himself in each case, saying, "I am a taxpayer in Twin Falls and it would not be proper for me to hear these cases."

The cases were sent to the Idaho Supreme Court to be assigned. Last week they were assigned — to First District Court Judge James Towles of Wallace, a jail man with a trimmed, red beard.

Friday, after a day hearing the three cases, he made three rulings. The rulings are basically the same in each case, and they are complex, according to attorneys who had to argue the matters before Judge Towles.

As it stands now, the city is restrained from annexing the property in question until the merits of each case can be heard in court trials.

The trials are to begin in Twin Falls Feb. 2. But, although the city cannot take control of the areas at this time, the city was given permission Friday to go ahead with the annexation ordinances and complete all the legal work necessary to bring the areas into the city.

In other words, annexation will be accomplished with the exception of one important stipulation. The areas in question won't be brought into the city until the judge says they can, or until March 31, 1970, whichever comes first.

There is a chance, it was learned after court Friday, the areas involved in the lawsuits might yet be kept out of the city. If this happens — on order of the court following a trial — the ordinances will be void.

Each case is different. In Mr. Malone's lawsuit against the city, the judge ordered property at 2244 Crest Avenue in the Canyon Crest subdivision kept out of the city. This is Mr. Malone's property.

All other property in this area will be brought into the city on schedule, as provided for in the initial ordinance passed by the city Council Dec. 1. The ordinance is known as Ordinance No. 1439.

In the suit involving Ordinance No. 1448, the area north of the city and the property concerned was ordered as of Jan. 1, 1970.

White Clouds Issue Is Topic At South Idaho Chamber Meeting In Twin Falls

There is something for everyone in the rugged White Clouds country in the Stanley Basin area.

This is the message Ed Fournier, district supervisor of the Sawtooth National Forest, gave to members of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce at a meeting at the Holiday Inn Friday night.

Mr. Fournier fielded questions from the audience for more than two hours. Interest centered around the planned mining activity in the area and the recreational uses of the White Clouds and the Sawtooth Basin in the coming years.

Sponsored by the chamber's tourism and recreation committee, Mr. Fournier's talk started with a history of White Clouds mining issue started two years ago, and was accompanied with colored slides of the area in question.

At the present time American Smelting and Refining Co., and Taylor Mining Co. have claims for molybdenum at the base of Castle Peak in the middle of the White Clouds country. Exploratory operations have been under way for the past two summers.

Mr. Fournier said last year, ASRCo, the smelting company, was drilling bore holes at Willow Lake near Castle Peak this summer and the lake became slightly polluted with waste material.

"Since Idaho has laws against the pollution of streams and lakes in the state, a Department of Health official was called to the site and the drilling was stopped and the lake cleaned up within a couple of days," he said.

One person in the area commented, "I now have new faith."

"The smelting company is very cooperative and is bending over backwards to maintain the scenic beauty of the White Clouds and keep the lakes and streams clean," he said.

The company recently announced it would like to build a road into the area, but Mr. Fournier said a road is not the only alternative the company is considering.

"They are studying the use of a railway system, a conveyor belt and tram system, and their investigations are not final yet," he said. He said the company has submitted no plans for a road or other means of getting the molybdenum ore out of the Castle Peak area and probably won't until a way can be found to keep the rugged area country scenic and yet mine the ground.

An open pit mining operation is planned and Mr. Fournier said at its peak the company would take 20,000 tons of ore out of the ground a day. "And this would continue for 20 years, making a very large hole in the ground."

He said the hole left would be turned into a lake, according to company officials.

The Forest Service, in working with mining officials in the area, said federal investigations have found at least 41 of ARSCO's mining claims valid.

"And since they have valid mining claims, they have a right to be there and mine in the area."

At the present time there is a bill in the House of Representatives to make the Sawtooth Basin area a National Recreation Area. The Senate version includes the White Clouds and if it passes the House, the White Clouds will be included in the National Recreation Area.

Passage of the law would still allow mining in the White Clouds, but any new activity would be regulated by the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Fournier said.

Speaking of the rugged area, Mr. Fournier pointed to several remote spots in the Sawtooth primitive area and the White Clouds and said, "For anyone who wants to get away from people there will always be a place." He said a lot of the area is rarely if ever visited by man.

The National Recreation Area, if approved by Congress, would open up more land for public use in the Sawtooth Basin, it was reported. "And it will eliminate a lot of those new subdivisions going up in the basin," he added.

Airport Open At Richfield After Repairs

RICHFIELD — Richfield airport is now open after a closure of three weeks for improvements.

The runway has been built up with gravel and additional dirt and the entire airfield generally improved.

The city council has sent out letters of appreciation for donated equipment and labor by the Richfield Highway District, Shoshone and Dietrich Highway Districts, City of Shoshone, and Sluder Construction Co.

Individuals to whom the board sent expressions of gratefulness include Charles Sluder, Archie Sherwood, Burl Akins, Fred Peterson, and city board members Howard DeWitt, L. T. Sanders, and Mayor Clifford Ward.

John Lemmon served as councilman chairman of the airport project, and councilman James M. Brown and his father, highway district supervisor at Richfield, Jim Brown, worked with the Richfield highway district-donated equipment.

The Bank of Idaho donated all the gasoline used in the airport work.

Camas Christmas Program Slated

FAIRFIELD — The Camas County School Christmas program will be held at 1 p.m. Dec. 23 in the high school gymnasium, according to Harold Stroud, superintendent.

Darrell Martin, music instructor, will present the high school band in numbers. Each class in the school will be represented with a number on the program. These will include skits, pantomime and a variety of numbers. Treats will be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce and Santa will be present. The public is invited.

$105 Raised

SHOSHONE — The local Booster club has put $105 in the Universal Gym fund for the high school, reports Clarence Tanaka, treasurer. The money was raised at a recent party.

Next meeting is set for 8 p.m. Jan. 17 at the high school, according to president William Thomason. Coach Bill Closson states that grey blazers have been ordered for the varsity and junior varsity basketball teams and Ferry Hadlock announces he will donate red turtle-neck sweaters to the teams also.

Outlook Good Shoshone Loses For Water During 1970

BURLEY — The water outlook for the 1970 irrigation season is good at this time, Glenn Simmons, Minidoka Project Superintendent, announced Saturday.

On Nov. 30, system storage amounted to 2,191,000 a.c.f., 55 per cent of capacity and near the median.

The Upper Snake Watershed precipitation is below normal as of Nov. 30, he said. Reports indicate about 50 per cent of normal. In view of this fact, all reservoirs above American Falls are being operated with minimum discharge flows.

Mr. Simmons noted that the Snake River flows from American Falls Reservoir downstream and passing Milner Dam were averaging about 1,200 cubic feet per second. This stable river flow will continue to the balance of December and into January as the American Falls Reservoir is operated to fill to the ice restriction point (8 feet below full) by mid-February. Storage in American Falls Reservoir at that time would amount to 1,281,000 acre feet.

The river operation will be modified as incoming data received from the watershed indicates the amount of run-off expected, Mr. Simmons added.

VACATION SET — GLENN'S FERRY — Glenn's Ferry schools will be dismissed at 2 p.m. Dec. 28 for the Christmas vacation, reports Mrs. Rebecca Montague, clerk of the board, and reconvene at 9 a.m. Jan. 5.

Express Office

SHOSHONE — The Railroad Express Agency here has been closed, reports Dennis Everett, station agent, because the offices in small towns do not pay expenses.

Truck delivery will be made from Twin Falls to Shoshone once a week, to handle the express. At one time Shoshone employed as many as five men in the express office. Recently Mr. Everett has handled the work himself, along with his other duties.

Some of the former express office agents here have been R. A. Baumann, Fred Gehrig, Dale Bailey and K. Hennessy.

Moved

GLENN'S FERRY — The Union Pacific Railroad Co. has moved its "switch shanty" from Glenn's Ferry. The little frame building was moved to Nampa. Some years ago it was moved to Glenn's Ferry from King Hill, to replace an older building used for the switchmen, the old station depot at Medbury, which was the railroad town when the lines were first laid through southern Idaho. Medbury later became Hammett, a short distance away.

About a year ago the yard crews, including switchmen, were eliminated at Glenn's Ferry, and there was no further use of the building here.

The state flower of Texas is the bluebonnet.

MILK PRICE BOOSTED — Triangle and Home Dairies in Boise, spokesmen announced, are being increased by one cent a quart for home deliveries, by Triangle Dairy said it was boosting the price of homogenized milk to 59 cents from 57 cents per half gallon. It said the two per cent non-fat price would go to 57 cents from 55.

Bill Of Rights

It was on Dec. 15, 1791, that the first 10 amendments to the United States Constitution were adopted. These amendments have become known as the American Bill of Rights. They tell their own story — a story that cannot be too often repeated. Here is the text of those first 10 amendments:

Amendment 1. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion; or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

200-Pound Dog Takes Wheel Of Family Car, Stirs Ruckus

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — When Joseph Matraccia got out of his compact car to close the garage door Thursday, a 200-pound St. Bernard dog bounded out of the shrubbery and took Matraccia's place at the driver's seat.

From that point it was a war of wits. Matraccia stepped close to the car and dog barked. The man offered the dog a treat from a distance via a broom handle—but it was no deal.

Mrs. Matraccia came out. Two deputies arrived. They radioed for more manpower to control a "nasty" situation. After an hour of unsuccessful attempts to dislodge the giant, officers used a disabling chemical.

It worked. The dog—a stranger in the neighborhood—was removed from the car. Matraccia drove to work, trying to think of an explanation his boss would believe for being late.

Pill Advice

LONDON (UPI) — A government-appointed medical committee has advised 700,000 British women taking birth pills to buy pills with less hormone estrogen to avoid possible blood clotting.

The committee said about half the pills on the British market contain 75 micrograms or more of estrogen and the rest 50 micrograms.

Nation's Crime Rate Soars 11 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's crime rate climbed 11 per cent for the first nine months of this year compared with the same period in 1968, the FBI's uniform crime report showed.

Violent crimes were up 12 per cent while armed robbery rose 18 per cent, street robbery 18 per cent, chain store robbery 20 per cent and residential robbery 22 per cent. Bank robbery, however, fell 4 per cent.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said crime averaged 10 per cent higher in cities of 250,000 or more population, 11 and 8 per cent more in rural areas and 8 per cent more in the suburbs.

Rep. Rivers Halts Probe Of Massacre; 'Prejudice' Of Army Investigation Cited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., stopped his subcommittee investigation of the alleged My Lai massacre because of "prejudice" the Army's inquiry, military sources said today.

Rivers, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, suddenly announced Friday he was halting his inquiry and was creating a special four-man unit to conduct an "in-depth" study.

The new investigation, it was understood, may not surface publicly for many weeks or months after court-martial proceedings and the Army's investigation into the possibility of a cover-up is over.

Military sources said the Army got "concerned" at leaks coming from Rivers' closed sessions, to which all 40 members of the committee had been invited.

Lawyers for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who has been charged with murdering 109 civilians at the South Vietnam hamlet on March 16, 1968, have moved to dismiss charges on grounds that publicity to date has made it impossible for him to get a fair court-martial.

Rivers named as unit's chairman his closest confidant on the committee, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., whose investigating credentials go back 30 years and include a key role in the Hiss-Chambers case. Other members are Reps. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y.; Charles Gubser, R-Calif.; and William L. Dickinson, R-Ark.

HOW WYN SOCK SAVED CHRISTMAS — By Paul Gringle

Solons Ask U. S. To Continue Boycott Of Gold Purchases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee has recommended that the United States continue its boycott of gold purchases from South Africa.

The joint congressional economic subcommittee on international exchange and payments in a report Friday said the "paper gold" or two-tier system has worked better than expected.

Any decision to revert back to the old system of gold purchases would only play into the hands of the Soviet Union and South Africa, both large gold producers, to the detriment of the United States, the report said.

The two-tier system, established under a March, 1968 agreement of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), provided for an official gold market with a stable $35 per ounce value and a private market where the price would fluctuate according to demand.

As a result of the agreement, the large central banks stopped buying gold chiefly from South Africa but also from the Soviet Union, to shore up their gold reserves.

As a result South Africa has been forced to sell its gold in the private market, driving the price of gold to near the official level of $35 per ounce.

Resumption of gold purchases would be wasted effort, the report said.

Violence Commission Lacks Time To Criticize Newsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence couldn't find the time to put out a statement criticizing the news media as originally planned.

It may be the only institution in Washington in this position, but the chairman, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, told reporters, "We didn't have the time and we just have to do without it."

A task force on the "mass media and violence" was one of seven major studies initiated by the commission. It has been printed but will not be made public until next year.

The task force, co-directed by former Justice Department attorney Robert G. Baker and some of the most heated arguments at various commission sessions tangled with news and media officials.

American Passenger Tells Of Thwarted Ethiopian Hijack

Another passenger (engineer Ray Calcult of London) told about the gun fight back there. Counting the first class security man, there were four guys in it. I do not know who the other two were. Maybe even passengers.

The whole crew came out to talk to us and let us know the plane was okay. They handed the champagne around and we all drank a toast to our good luck.

The captain was a nice guy, hilarious. But in tense way. He was an American named Captain Tew from Orlando, Fla. He told me these two guys wanted him to take the plane to Aden, but he didn't say why.

I'll say this: It was quick, but the memory of it is going to stick in my mind a long while.

A few minutes later, I was glad the guy was there.

We were out of Madrid about 30 minutes when it started. Something told me I wouldn't be making it to Addis Ababa on time.

Another passenger in the first class got up. He had a pistol in his hand and was walking toward the cockpit when the guy who took my seat grabbed him.

Speculation On Romance Stirs Anger

NEW YORK (UPI)—Speculation on the seriousness of Tricia Nixon's romance with Edward Finch Cox, a freshman at Harvard Law School who is her steady escort, has sparked irate reaction from just about everybody involved.

Edward's mother, Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox, said "They've been friends for so long, but people won't let it rest at that."

Mrs. Nixon, commenting on reports that she and the President oppose Cox as a son-in-law because they feel someone more eligible may come along, said "I've never heard of such a thing. I would never be against any of her friends. She has excellent taste."

And Tricia, while sidestepping direct questions about Cox, said stories about her romantic interests "don't brighten my day." Asked if he would be a guest at her Christmas party, 23-year-old Tricia said "That's my private life."

Gone Gosling

The old gray goose is gone and his friend went with him.

J. Alfred May, who lives Southwest of Twin Falls, hopes his goose (or geese) isn't cooked.

He reported to Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers Friday that two of his gray geese had either been stolen or strayed off. In either case, this just isn't the time of year for unescorted geese to be wandering around by themselves.

Stan Detweiler Honored As T.F. Lodge "Elk Of Year"

Stan Detweiler, a Twin Falls farm owner, was named "Elk of the Year" during a recent meeting of the Twin Falls Elks Lodge No. 1183.

This award, which is one of the highest honors paid to a fellow member, was presented by Roy Russell, exalted ruler. Mr. Detweiler was chosen from more than 1,500 local Elk members for his outstanding contributions to the organization's program and activities.

According to the members, "He is as busy or even more busy than any of us, yet he has never refused to accept a chairmanship or ever refused to give freely of his time for other chairmen."

When Mr. Detweiler's name was announced, he was given a standing ovation—something rarely done among members.

Although his wife, Barbara's name is not listed on the award certificate, her unselfish help, as well as Stan's, has been very instrumental in the success of many of the lodge - sponsored activities.

"It is because of people like the Detweillers that the Elks Lodge is as accomplished as it is in the community," the lodge secretary noted.

Mr. Detweiler, who has been a member of the local Elks Lodge for seven years, will receive a special chair in the lodge and for one year be recognized as the unit's most outstanding member.

Robert Crowthers, Sidney Edwards III, and Teresa King presented song numbers between the acts with Robert Crowther playing guitar accompaniment.

TIMES-NEWS PUBLIC FORUM—VOICE OF THE READER

Jerome Writer Says Unions Defeated Judge Haynsworth

Editor, Times-News:

I don't agree with Sen. Len Jordan that Judge Haynsworth should be opposed because he isn't a man of "unimpeachable integrity" just because our distinguished Senator said so. He was only parroting the big union line, which was a massive concerted effort to defeat Judge Haynsworth by means of character assassination.

AFL-CIO's political gear set in motion to manipulate public opinion when word came out early last summer of President Nixon's plan to appoint this conservative, Southern establishment judge, who had ruled against unions in seven cases. It was the labor movement's fantastic lobby and national political network which actually defeated the judge in one of the most spectacular and highly pressured campaigns ever launched in Washington.

A committee of the American Bar Association examined the judge's record and declared it "found no impropriety in his conduct." Still many liberals, as did our own Senator Jordan and Church, chose to believe the political lobby, COPE, AFL-CIO President George Meany once said of COPE, "I think frankly, we have the most effective lobby in Washington." That lobbying is done with tax-free union dues.

Sen. Birch Bayh, Democrat from Indiana and the most outspoken "ethical" critic of the judge, had received more than $68,000 in direct contributions from big unions in his 1968 campaign. Those contributions aren't just favors — they demand something for their money.

I can't believe Sen. Jordan had a campaign debt to pay to the unions, but I do believe he has been sold a bill of goods. (Internationalist Frank Church, on the other hand, knew exactly what he was doing.) In Sen. Jordan's Finance Committee hearings, his favorable vote on the Fannin Amendment to remove the tax shelter, shielding union politicking, proves his inconsistency, as that amendment can curb COPE's political activity. They won't like any Senator who causes them to lose their tax deduction, so he may have to return the bouquets he received from his labor unions for his vote opposing Haynsworth.

Drinking, Speed And Death In Idaho Is Forum Subject

Editor, Times-News:

Something should be said about driving. If what is said here does not suit you, say it yourself. More opinions might help with the problems of alcohol and speed on the highways.

Alcohol is a tool of the devil, and is a bad actor anywhere, but especially on the highway, but the wisdom of a Solomon is needed to learn what to do with such a demon. But whatever is done, we must never give up trying to get drunks off the roads.

Highway speeders come in hordes; they are terrible, and are getting worse, killing more people as time goes along, and nothing being done about it. So many of them that they now think they are a privileged group, and boast about their speed.

Half the lives now being lost can be saved by reducing speed to comply with the basic rule of driving. That is the law, and should be lived up to at all times and places. This is a safety speed rule, and when complied with prevents accidents at all times, and saves lives that nothing else will save. Save half the lives now being lost. Look what this would mean in Idaho next year: 160 coffins that might be used would not be needed; 160 monuments and 160 loved ones still at home, enjoying life, instead of gone forever. How wonderful that would be. Cut speed and live, and let live.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson knows about the terrible loss of life and suffering on the highways in Idaho, and is wondering what to do about it. Recently he stated that Idaho must wage relentless war against speed and alcohol. He did not state how this war should be waged. However, he suggested that individual responsibility is the driver's best bet to stay alive.

Of course any individual may drive, or get off the highways, but who can afford to quit driving? No one wants to do that, but drunks and speeders may get whoever drives. That is a pretty pot of pickles to be in, when you can't get out of the pot.

Dietrich PTA Is Defended On Recent Issue

Editor, Times-News:

The item concerning the withdrawal of the Dietrich unit from the State and National PTA contained many statements which are absolutely false.

The PTA does not institute any programs in the schools! Every well-informed citizen knows that the State Department of Education has the responsibility for the curricula in the public schools. No school districts are being forced to accept any new sex education programs for none have even been devised yet.

The PTA has no association with S.I.E.C.U.S. and has never endorsed any materials of that organization.

The action taken at the meeting is in direct violation of the bylaws so must be considered null and void. The statement that the action was not taken without thought shows little regard for the facts. The matter was discussed at this one meeting and the resultant action promoted by many who had never previously been members of the Dietrich PTA. Those who paid dues for the purpose of voting to sever relations with the Idaho and National PTA can not be considered members. This procedure is also in opposition to the bylaws.

The PTA resolutions regarding sex education were the result of much time and debate at the State Convention. The officers and or the board of managers of the Idaho and National PTA do not formulate the policies or resolutions. The convention body (delegates) is the governing body of the parent groups. Local units are encouraged to present resolutions which pertain to the welfare of children and youth. The resolutions concerning family living passed by the majority of the delegates were not read at the Dietrich meeting nor were copies made available to those in attendance.

The president has acknowledged the need for another meeting to present facts against the misinformation which led to the decision to withdraw from the State and National PTA. Reconsideration of the withdrawal action will be in order.

Driver Education Letter Written By Jerome Man

Editor, Times-News:

With all respect to Mr. Van Camp, I too feel that driver education is very much needed and essential. A so called perfect driver education program cannot be offered. Especially when perfect driver education teachers have personal grudges against certain students, who the teacher may dislike.

The present law in Idaho does state that a person 16 years of age can get a drivers license. I do know that the age law has gone up a lot since 1960, and the percentage of accidents has also gone up to where it is now.

To have a perfect driver education program there can be no personal grudges either on the teachers part or the students part.

Disappointment Shown In Fairfield Man's Forum Note

Editor, Times-News:

I was gratified to see that you took my recent open letter to Sen. Jordan seriously enough to make some comments concerning it. However, as Vice President Agnew has pointed out about the news media, you were prone to make a few sweeping statements, not entirely accurate. I would ask that you define some of the labels with which you burden people.

A conservative in Czechoslovakia, under today's terminology, is a man who wants to return to Stalinist principles. I'm sure you're aware I'm not a conservative in that respect. An American conservative today is a person who believes in the rights of an individual to speak and be heard, to criticize, to express himself in any manner he feels appropriate. A conservative believes in the free enterprise system. Most of all, an American conservative believes in the constitution of the U.S.A. Though a youngster in Idaho politics, I haven't just recently crawled out of my cradle, but have been actively promoting the aforementioned principles for over a decade.

As a conservative, I believe that the "evidence" against Judge Haynsworth was frivolous, and I consider it necessary to present my opinion to the Senator. The issue in the Supreme Court is now, as it has been since the elevation of Earl Warren, a Republican to the Court, liberalism versus conservatism. Will the court legislate, or will it pass judgment?

Today's liberalism is, to me, a trend towards socialism, bureaucracy, and huge government, all of which I strenuously disagree with. Therefore, because of my convictions, and because of my party position, I feel it my duty to voice my objections to the Senator's recent vote. It would do me no good to voice them to Sen. Frank Church, an avowed liberal.

A question, sir: Where did you ever get the idea that the nomination of Judge Haynsworth was a straight party line matter? Mr. Editor, did you read who voted for the judge? If you did, I think you would have noted that some of the most prominent Democrat members of the Senate voted for Haynsworth. And why shouldn't we expect our Senator to vote the way the "folks-back home" want him to? Would we have voted him into office if this wasn't just what we expected of him?

Just one more thing: If you would check into the record, Mr. Editor, you would find that I have been one of Senator Jordan's most faithful and ardent supporters, and I would not dream of causing a "ripple" against him. It is because of this friendship that I call on Sen. Jordan to check signals occasionally, as I am sure he will do, as he finds how many of his good Idaho supporters were extremely disappointed in his vote. Unlike you, I don't have to ask Sen. Jordan to "stay in there and pitch"; I know that he will.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Barron's communication is in answer to a Times-News editorial of Sunday, Dec. 7 in which Sen. Jordan's action in voting against confirmation of Judge Haynsworth and for Sen. Hugh Scott, as Senate minority leader, was praised and approved.)

Buhl Extends City Limits, But Excludes Peck Addition

BUHL — The Buhl City Council has passed two ordinances altering the corporate limits of the city.

The city limits have been extended to include the southwest corner of Section 31, located at the intersection of Condensary Road and Highway 30. The other ordinance passed at the December council meeting last week excludes the Peck Addition from the city limits because it is primarily in large acreages used for agricultural purposes. Exception was made for the lots directly on the north side of Sawtooth Boulevard between the Meion Valley Road and Seventh Avenue N.

Restricted putting artificial flowers in the Buhl Cemetery between April 15 and May 26 or from June 5 through Oct. 15.

Awarded a contract for comprehensive liability insurance to the Farmers Insurance group on a bid of $1,288.30. Farmers Realty submitted a bid of $1,627.

Issued a second call for bids for a new police car, since only one bid was received and it had to be rejected because there was no accompanying bond.

Awarded a contract to Continental Oil Co., for 10,000 gallons of regular grade gasoline and 8,000 gallons of premium grade gasoline for 14.8 and 10.8 per gallon. Other bids were submitted by Atlantic-Richfield Co. and Texaco.

Adopted a regional planning agency agreement between Twin Falls county commissioners and the city.

Authorized Christmas bonuses of $10 to full-time employees and $5 each to most part-time employees.

Issued beer licenses to James D. Wilson, Club Royal; Luella McCandless, Alibi; Mrs. Ireta Surber, Reta's Cafe; J. C. Faux, Gibb's Cigar Store; Lloyd Netz, Blgum's Beer; Don Shaver, Merle Brown and John Ruytz, for Sunset Bowl, and Gene Davis, R. and R. Cafe; Shelby's Market; Ras Brinkman, Brinkman's Market; Lloyd Adamson, Lloyd's Circle Market; Robert L. Erb and David E. Erb, Erb Brothers Market, and Norris Westby, Westby's Market.

Issued building permits to John Bybee at Bybee's Supermarket to install an electric sign, $100; Lee Harvey, contractor two-story addition to residence at 811 Burley Ave., $2,000; Claude Smith, remodel kitchen and bedroom at 811 11th Ave., $300; Frank Lintz, repair roof and install awning, 131 11th Ave. S., $200, and Leland G. Ostler, construct new house on Condensary Road, $14,000.

Annexation

(Continued From Page One) west of the city and involving the 200 homes, the city is restrained from taking any "dominion" over the property there until the matter is resolved by further order of the court or until March 31, 1970.

In the Sierra Life suit, the city will not exercise any "dominion" over the property in question. However, the city will be allowed to annex any other property not named in the lawsuit.

What it all means is the property in each lawsuit is not subject to annexation at this time. But the city can proceed with all the legal necessities, such as publication of the ordinances and certification to the county clerk. The only thing is, the city will not have "dominion" or control over the areas concerned until the court makes a final ruling.

Lloyd Walker, attorney for Mr. Malone, said Friday, "This annexation is in violation of the statute stating annexation must be orderly and not in a shoe-string fashion."

Richard Reed, attorney for the people in the area northwest of the city, said, "My clients realize annexation must come some time, but they are not ready for it at this time."

Emil Pike, attorney for Sierra Life, said annexation of the land in question in his suit would be in violation of Idaho law because the land is undeveloped and used for farming.

Just what will happen depends on the outcome of the court trials, slated to begin Feb. 2 in court in Twin Falls. It was learned the Malone suit will be heard first; the Sierra Life suit the next day, and the suit involving the northwest area the following two or three days.

Judge Towles will preside at each trial.

Tax Bill As

'Tinkering'

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew described the Senate-approved tax bill Friday as "a pure Rube Goldberg toy" and the product of "irresponsible tinkering" to lure votes for fading politicians.

In a speech prepared for the opening of the semiannual meeting of the Republican Governor's Association, he castigated not only the Senate version of the tax bill but the general spending and tax policies of the Democratic-controlled Congress.

In characteristically blunt language, Agnew gave what sounded like a Nixon administration version of the Republican platform for the state and congressional elections in 1970.

He predicted those elections would give the GOP control of the Senate "and quite possibly shake the complacency of House Democrats." He also visualized a "population explosion" in all regions of the country by Republican governors who already are in power in 30 of the 50 states and are taking over in two more next month.

British Woman May Give Birth To Septuplets

LONDON (UPI)—The 23-year-old wife of a computer engineer may give birth to seven babies—Britain's first septuplets—next February, doctors said today.

The mother of five British quintuplets born last month advised her, "keep calm."

The prospective septuplets mother was identified as Mrs. Rosemary Letts, now in London's University Hospital. Doctors said X-rays showed she would give multiple births.

Authorities said she had been on fertility drugs. Her condition was described as "very well."

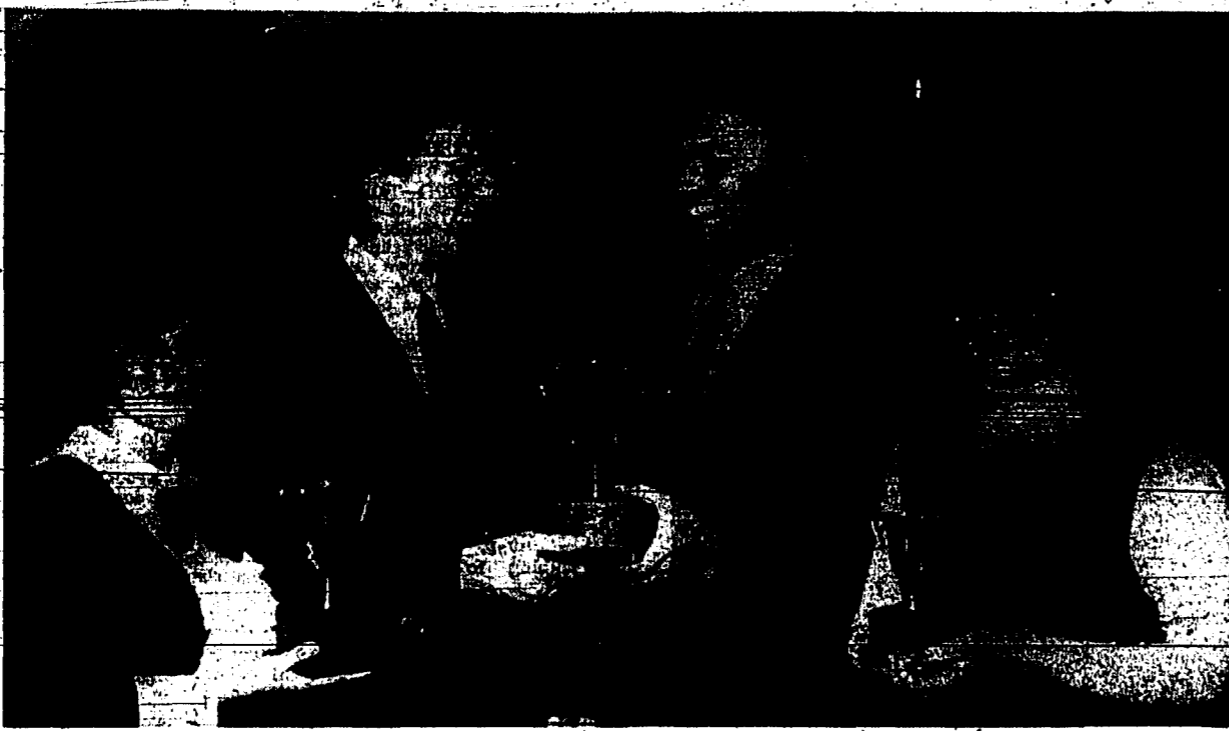

"I hope she isn't the worrying kind," said Mrs. Irene Hanson, who gave birth to quintuplets a month ago. "I would tell her to keep calm and to have complete trust in her doctors."

Good News Needed To Stop Market Switching, Selling

By HOWARD LUXENBERG
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Talk of more painful antiinflation medicine, a pessimistic outlook for corporate profits next year and year end tax selling drove stock prices sharply lower this week. Turnover, however, was moderate.

Herman Roseman, vice president of Argus Research Corp., investment advisory service, said there were no positive developments. "And when the trend is down," he added, "you need good news to stop normal year-end tax switching and selling."

Another analyst suggested the slide will have to play itself out because "Wall Street simply has nothing to get excited over."

"Inflationary psychology already has become so deep-seated it may take more painful measures to moderate it," J.L. Robertson, vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said. He prescribed some form of economic shock treatment, although he gave no details of what he had in mind.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans said the nation's economy faces some "bad, bitter medicine before it can again grow solidly." He also said corporations will have difficulty making profits because of Washington's efforts to slow inflation.

Eugene S. Northrup, vice chairman of Manufacturers Hanover Trust, said not to expect lower interest rates in 1970, and Tilford C. Gaines, an economist for the Hanover, noted that while present restraint policies will entail some hardship, they still are the best and least damaging approach to correcting inflation.

Gaines said the economy probably will pass through a recession lasting through late next year, perhaps starting with the final 1969 period. He said it will be quite mild, with real gross national product slipping no more than one percent from peak to trough.

In addition, Milton Friedman, a noted economist, reiterated his warning that a sharp recession will set in next year if the Fed continues its overtight policy; the Federal Reserve System's open market committee, in a report released this week, said it voted at its Sept. 9 meeting to retain a firm credit policy; Murray L. Weidenbaum, assistant secretary for economic policy, hinted that Congress may be asked to raise some taxes next year, and Bankers Trust Co. predicted a sharp drop in corporate profits in 1970.

The UPI indicator, measuring all stocks traded, plunged 2.36 to 97.13, while the New York Stock Exchange index measured a drop of 54 cents to 350.68 in the average common share price.

Standard & Poor's index of 300 stocks lost 0.92 to 90.81. The Dow Jones average of 30 selected blue chip industrials slid 6.34 to 786.69, although at one point it was down to 783.63, its lowest level since Oct. 17, 1966 when it was 778.89. DJI rails lost 6.70 to 173.08, and utilities 0.99 at 107.75.

Of the 1,748 issues crossing the tape 1,179 declined, 453 advanced. There were 627 new lows set, 12 new highs.

Turnover expanded, slightly to 56,954,350 shares from 55,606,460 a week ago. However, it was below the 65,191,934 shares which changed hands during the year-ago period.

Oil stocks drew the most selling pressure, although motors, rails conglomerates and gold mining shares also pointed lower.

Electronics swung widely in both directions, while steels, chemicals, airlines, aircrafts and rubber shares generally backed off slightly.

Litton, the week's most active issue, dropped 10 1/2 to 38 1/2 on 898,200 shares. The company reported lower earnings for the October quarter and received unfavorable comment in a leading business publication.

Oil's heavy trading on the active list, Gulf second, lost 1/4 to 27 1/2 on 637,100 shares. Occidental followed. It lost 1/2 to 22 1/2 on 499,200 shares.

Other heavily traded oils were Texaco off 1/4, Continental up 1/4, Jersey Standard 1/2 higher, Atlantic Richfield down 1/2, Phillips off 1/4, and Standard of Ohio, the week's biggest mover, 12 lower.

Sohio said its earnings may be depressed during the next few years—once its merger with British Petroleum, traded on the American Stock Exchange, is completed. BP declined 1/4.

Motors also were prominent on the active list. General Motors lost 2, Chrysler 1/4, and American Motors 1. Less active Ford, also, lost a point.

GM said it will close 11 assembly plants for an extra four days, at Christmas. Chrysler, whose sales so far in the 1970 model year are off 7 percent from the year ago pace, announced it will lay off several thousand workers during the holiday period.

Additional point-plus movers in heavy turnover were City Investing off 3/4, Polaroid down 1/4, Benguet down 1/4, and Great Western Financial 1/4 lower.

Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Schlumberger and McDermott ranged 7/4 to 8 1/2 lower in lighter turnover. Roger W. Wisoln, president of McDermott, said he was unable to explain the reason for the stock's decline.

Among the week's strongest performers were University Computing up 9/4, Memorex 8/4, Electronics Memories 5/4, and Honeywell 4/4.

McIntyre Porcupine and American South African investment, softest spots in the gold mining group, fell 3/4 and 3/4, respectively.

Ling-Temco was off 3/4 in the conglomerate, while TWA and KLM ranged about 1/2 to 3/4 lower in the airlines. Allied Chemical lost 2 1/2 in its group, but Eastman Kodak gained 2 1/4.

Goodrich and Unroyal dropped more than a point each. Ward Keener, chairman of B. F. Goodrich, and Harry B. Warner, president, said the U.S. rubber industry will establish new sales and production records next year, but its growth rate will be limited by a continuation of the nation's economic slowdown.

Among the steels, Republic eased 1/4, Armo 1/4, and U.S. Steel 1/2. Production cutbacks in the automobile industry were expected to slow December steel shipments.

Ravenscroft Asks Aid On Spud Market

TUTTLE (UPI) — State Rep. Vern Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, has written to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin asking for reconsideration of the potato diversion program.

Ravenscroft said that the potato marketing problem "prompted by last fall's frost" is very real.

He said fresh packed potato marketing by the grower is completely disrupted, causing a "glut" on the market with prices dropping alarmingly and many farmers finding no market at all.

Ravenscroft said the Idaho potato industry is dependent on the orderly marketing of the potato product and added, "stable marketing is also in the best interests of the consuming public."

Ravenscroft said his letter was prompted by the decision of the Department of Agriculture not to order a short term diversion program for Idaho potatoes.

Pocatello Man Thrown Through Car Windshield

JEROME — A 28-year-old Pocatello man was thrown through the windshield of his car in a two-vehicle accident on Interstate 80N at 2:10 a.m. Saturday and suffered only minor injuries.

State Police Officer Frank Mogenssen said Fred J. Weimer apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car and ran into the rear of a car driven by Woodson W. Harmon, 49, Jerome.

The accident happened two miles east of Jerome, Cpl. Mogenssen said.

He said the impact threw Mr. Weimer through the windshield of his car. He also struck the driving post of his car. He was taken to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome and treated then released.

QUESTION

Do you think the hunting season in Idaho this year was average, better than average or poorer than average?

LOCATION

Interviews in this case were taken in several Twin Falls businesses.

ANSWERS

DAVE ARNOLD: "I feel this was a better than average year for pheasants and the duck hunting season appears to be better than usual."

LYNN POOLE: "I think it was generally about average, from what I've heard people say."

LYNN LEE: "The pheasant hunting was better than usual and duck hunting is picking up."

JERALD COURTNEY: "From what I've heard, bird hunting was better than usual."

Arnold Poole Lee Courtney

Jones Speirs Cantrell Jensen

RON JONES: "This is the first year I've hunted in Idaho and I thought it was pretty good."

LARRY SPEIRS: "From all indications big game success was poorer this year."

HAROLD CANTRELL: "The pheasant hunting season was better than average, but hunting for elk and deer was below average. So far the duck hunting has been better than usual this year."

MEL JENSEN: "I think the big game hunting was about average, but they were a little harder to find due to the heavy winter kill. I don't really understand why we can't feed some of our game in winter like other states do."

Desperate Try

To Save Life Of Girl Fails

Two-and-a-half-year-old Susan Roan was pronounced dead on arrival at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Thursday night after a desperate attempt was made in an ambulance to save her life.

According to Sheriff Paul Corder, he was called to the home of Gary Silvers at 311 Locust St. N. at about 8 p.m. The girl was unconscious. She was placed in an ambulance and County Coroner Joyce Edwards administered heart massage and oxygen while Sheriff Corder drove the ambulance to the hospital.

Mrs. Corder followed in the sheriff's car.

"She was either dead at the house or dead when we got to the hospital," Sheriff Corder said.

The girl, a ward of the Department of Public Assistance, had been in ill health for a long period of time, it was reported.

Youth Falls Out Of Moving Truck

A filer youth who fell from a moving pickup truck Thursday afternoon in Twin Falls was treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Dan Kunsman, 15, was riding in the back of a 1955 International pickup truck driven by Merle LaRae Stock, 15, Twin Falls, when the accident occurred. City police said the mishap, about 3:15 p.m., was at Willmore and Walnut streets in Twin Falls. The truck was turning from Willmore Street onto Walnut Street when the accident occurred.

Also riding in the back of the truck were Denise Stearns, 10, and Susan Caven. One of the girls also fell from the truck, but received only a cut finger. The Kunsman youth was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Southern Idaho Falls To Casper JC By 64-60 After Defeating Powell 63-57

CASPER, Wyo. — Casper's T-Birds, rallying in the final few minutes, handed College of Southern Idaho its first defeat of the season Saturday night after the Eagles dropped previously unbeaten Powell 63-57 Friday. The defeat ended CSI's win streak at five games.

The Eagles were hampered by foul trouble and the loss of plucky Tim Bassett who sustained a foot injury in Friday's victory over Powell. Coach Jerry Hale said Bassett either had broken his foot or sustained a severe ankle sprain. Hurting just as much was the loss of sophomore Al Davis on fouls with 11 minutes to go in the game.

CSI outscored the T-Birds by two field goals but the 22-14 foul difference was too much.

Still the defeat didn't tarnish the play of freshmen Steve Hegens, Ron Behagen and defensive specialist Gary Gussner. Hegens, attracting double coverage, pumped through 24 points while Behagen had 15.

CSI twice opened up seven point leads in the first half but again ran into that pre-half time scoring drought. Casper went seven minutes without a field goal in the rugged defensive game but still caught up on Southern Idaho's first half. CSI pulled ahead by four points at 35-31 early in the second half and it was tight until Davis fouled out and cost the

Texas A-I Overpowers Concordia

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Karl Douglas threw three touchdown passes, ran for another score and kicked two extra points Saturday to give Texas A&I a 32-7 win over Concordia and the NAIA national championship.

Douglas hit Dwight Harrison with touchdown passes of 84 and 69 yards and also hit Eldridge Small with a 68-yard scoring bomb. Douglas ran one yard for a touchdown and Harrison scored the other A&I touchdown on a three-yard run.

Concordia's only points came in the first period on a two-yard run by Mark McNelly and a conversion kick by Les Perry.

The NAIA championship was the second for A&I, which also won in 1959. A&I was defeated in the championship game last year by Troy State, 43-35.

A&I completely dominated the game, gaining 531 total yards and setting nine NAIA championship game records and tying five others.

Douglas, named the game's outstanding offensive player, completed 13 of 16 passes for 305 yards.

Washington Storms Past Utags 90-61

SEATTLE (UPI) — George Irvine scored 22 points and Steve Hawes added 16 to lead the University of Washington Huskies to an easy 90-61 victory over Utah State University in Seattle Saturday night.

Hawes also collected 16 rebounds and Husky guard Rafael Stone had 11 assists in the first half. At the intermission Washington had a commanding 46-25 lead.

The Aggies were paced by Mary Roberts with 33 points, well above his average of nearly 29 points per game. But the Aggies' other Ace, Nate Williams, managed just five points in the game and only one field goal.

Washington outscored Utah State 16-2 during a five minute stretch in the first half to open a 26-11 bulge with 7:51 left in the half. Irvine and Hawes combined for 11 points in that spree.

The Huskies never led by less than 20 points in the second half and pulled to their biggest lead when Chris Smith hit a shot from the corner to make it 79-48 with about five minutes left in the game.

Washington shot 43 per cent from the field and Utah State shot a cold 28 per cent.

The victory gave the Huskies a record of 4-0 for the season. For the Aggies, it was their first loss in six games.

Filer Hands Shoshone First Loss

By PAUL BUKER Times-News Sports Writer

FILER — The Filer Wildcats used their height advantage to down a gritty Shoshone Indian club 56-48 Friday night, spoiling a great individual display by the Indians' Ellis Johnson and Layne Hadlock.

Both teams were undefeated going into the game, which saw Shoshone start with nobody much over six feet. Filer tanked 27 of its first 37 points from right underneath and sometimes got as many as three shots at a time.

Shoshone jumped into a stunning 7-0 lead, as Johnson hit two outside bombs and Hadlock and Craig Harris added buckets. Filer's Guy Ramsey, who finished the game with 13 points, hit the Wildcats' first six points and for the rest of the quarter Filer controlled the boards and the game.

Darrell Olson hit for eight points in the second period and Filer boomed ahead 37-28 at the half.

In the third period Filer turned the ball over several times and missed in close more than that as Shoshone narrowed the gap to three at the buzzer. Leading that comeback were Hadlock, Johnson, and slippery guard Harris, who drove the length of the court and banked a crumple for the 42-39 score.

In a tense fourth period Dick Aslett hit on a lay-up immediately for a 44-39 edge, then Chandler and Hadley both hit sandwiched around a Johnson free throw for a seven point lead with six minutes left at 48-41.

Johnson hit twice with just over three minutes left, and Shoshone only trailed at that point by six at 54-48, but Ramsey roamed underneath and hit two crucial buckets to keep Filer out of trouble and give the Wildcats their third straight win.

Second Half Burst Lets Wendell Win

MIDDLETON — The Wendell Trojans went to the press at the outset of the second half Friday night and erupted for 55 points en route to a 81-69 rout of the Middleton Vikings.

Middleton took over the lead midway through the second quarter and held on to post a six-point halftime advantage, but when the Trojans began to press in the third period the home team started turning it over.

Kirk Dennis paced the charge, hitting 15 of his 21 points in that frame. Ralph King chipped in with eight points, along with Thompson. The Trojans finished the period ahead 61-54 after ripping the nets for 35 points.

Anderson Has 254 Yards As Buffs Top Alabama In Liberty By 47-33

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—All-American Bob Anderson rushed for three touchdowns and 254 yards Saturday to lead the University of Colorado to a come-from-behind 47-33 victory over the University of Alabama in the 11th annual Liberty Bowl.

Anderson carried the ball 35 times, breaking the former record held by the late Ernie Davis of Syracuse, in the scoring circus.

Trailing 33-31 going into the final period, Anderson, who earlier had run four yards for a touchdown, turned in scoring jaunts of two and three yards to carry the Buffaloes to victory.

Alabama's Bear Bryant had told his team "honor and pride" were awaiting them if they could win the post-season game since they had posted the worst regular season record (6-4) in more than a decade.

Colorado jumped off to a 17-0 lead and went to the dressing room at halftime leading 31-19. But Alabama came storming back in the third period on the passing of substitute quarterback Neb Heyden to grab a two-point lead. Starting quarterback Scott Hunter injured his knee just before halftime on an unsuccessful two-point conversion effort.

Anderson was aided in the Colorado scoring column by Ward Walsh who touched down on runs of 19 and 15 yards, and Dave Hainey, who scored on a 49-yard field goal and six straight extra points.

Additionally, center tailback Steve Engel brought the record 50,042 fans to their feet with 46 seconds left in the first half when he returned an Alabama kickoff 91 yards.

The Buffaloes got their other two points late in the final period when Heyden was trapped in his own end zone while trying to pass.

The Crimson Tide scored on a 31-yard run by Hunter, a 7-yard run by George Ranager and a 3-yard plunge by Johnny Musso in the second period. But two two-point tries failed.

Colorado completely blunted Alabama's last ditch effort in the closing minutes. The Tide, trailing by seven points, lost 28 yards in four plays as the Buffalo defenders threw Heyden on three of four pass attempts.

Hagerman Belts Cold Camas County

FAIRFIELD — The Hagerman Pirates caught the Camas County Musers-ice cold Friday night and zipped off with a 62-39 non-conference victory.

The margin, which might be one of the all-time big ones in the Musher gymnasium, came when Camas County managed only two field goals in the first half and by then the Pirates had mounted a 30-14 lead.

Mike Lee got both of Camas County's field goals in the half and wound up with 16 points but he couldn't match the three-double figure scorers of Hagerman — Russ LeMoyné, Butler and Nicholas.

The two battled evenly through the first half although Bliss went off the floor on top 25-21 at intermission. But Richfield came up with 18 points in the third quarter, largely on the shooting of Crowther, while Bliss managed only two points. That sent the Tigers ahead 39-27 and it stayed like that.

Meridian Stuns Minico In Overtime; Spartans Batter Capital 73-51

MERIDIAN (UPI) — Dark horse Meridian confused the early season SIC race Saturday night with a disputed 62-61 overtime victory over the powerful Minico Spartans. Minico topped Capital 73-51 Friday.

Meridian's early lead was maintained through the first half, but Minico's comeback in the second half kept the game close. In overtime, Meridian's defense held strong, leading to a 62-61 victory.

Meridian's victory was a surprise, as they were considered an underdog. The Spartans, on the other hand, were favored but were outplayed in overtime.

But Minico, which had hit only 19 per cent on five of the 27 first half shots, picked up the second half tempo and pulled even for the first time at 31-31 with 2:30 left in the fourth quarter on a three-point play by 6-8 Jim Boatwright, who led the Spartans with 27 points and 21 rebounds.

Boatwright hit on a pair of free throws—the Spartans converted 29 of 39 for the night—right after the second period slip-off, but then Minico went cold for a three-minute period and Capital came back within one at 21-20. Then Boatwright moved underneath for four points sandwiched around Rick Minico, now 2-1 in the season and 1-1 in the SIC, actually went up 55-53 with 30 seconds left, but Meridian's top scorer, Mike Luke with 23, drilled a corner shot to send the game into overtime.

The score still was tied 55-55 with 2:35 left in overtime when it appeared Boatwright was knocked to the floor and out of bounds under his own bucket, but was called for traveling. A technical foul was called on Minico in the ensuing hassell

Netts Rally To Beat Kentucky LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Sonny Dove's first three point goal of the season sent the New York Nets on to a 116-111 victory over the Kentucky Colonels in an American Basketball Association game Saturday.

Dove put the Nets ahead 107-105. The Colonels tied the game at 107-107 on a tip-in by Gene Moore, but Les Hunter came right back with a turn-around jump shot and a free throw to doom the Colonels to their third straight defeat.

North Dakota State Ices No. 1 Rating By Belting Montana In Camellia Bowl

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Quarterback Bruce Grasamke ran for one touchdown and passed for another Saturday as North Dakota State crushed Montana 20-13 in the Camellia Bowl and won the NCAA college division football championship.

A crowd of 14,900 watched the game which featured the top two small-college teams in the nation. It was North Dakota's 10th win of the year and the Bisons' 20th in a row over two seasons. The loss was Montana's first in 11 games.

Grasamke ran seven yards in the first quarter to open North Dakota's scoring and hit All America halfback Paul Hatchett with a 15-yard aerial for the second touchdown in the second quarter.

A 13-yard field goal by barefooted kicker Jim Twardy gave the Bisons a 16-3 halftime lead.

Montana, which entered the game minus its top two rushers who were declared ineligible on a junior college transfer rule, could not generate an offense.

The grizzlies only score came on a 3-yard field goal by Don Worrell in the second quarter.

Except for that, the Grizzlies could not get past the North Dakota 30.

The last two North Dakota scores came on a 37-yard run by Rod Preboski and an eight-yard pass from Mike Bentson to Tim Mjos in the final period.

Preboski's run was only the second time he carried in the game. He had a short gain in his first carry.

North Dakota scored the second time it had the ball, driving 87 in 15 plays. Grasamke completed all six of his passes on the march before running it over from the seven. The Bisons controlled the ball for the first 15 minutes.

The touchdown pass to Hatchett followed a 38-yard drive. Key plays in the march were a 14-yard pass to Hatchett and a 19-yard toss to Mjos.

Tigers Edge Gooding In Last Period

GOODING — Adam Arambarre tanked 13 points in the final half to go with the 20-point effort of Huffaker Friday night as the Mountain Home Tigers dropped the Gooding Senators 59-48.

The tall Tigers had to battle through the first three quarters against the young Senators who were hindered by an ankle sprain to 6-6 sophomore Frank Kfahn. But another sophomore, Gary Correll, sparked the Senators by tanking 14 points and pulling in 19 rebounds to keep things close.

Trailing by three points going into the final period, Gooding stayed there for a couple of minutes before Mountain Home turned to a press. That netted a pair of quick turnovers, which Arambarre converted into four points and that tucked the game away.

Burley Nips Jerome For First Win

JEROME — The Burley Bobcats jumped into a big lead in the middle quarters and then got into free throw shooting from Mike Kloefer and Nelson to hold off the Jerome Tigers for a 64-56 victory Friday night.

After a slow first quarter, which saw Burley post a 6-4 edge, the Bobcats, getting a spark from Bill Dalling, erupted for 23 second-quarter points and a 29-14 halftime lead. The Bobcats still have 14 points of that lead going into the final period before Roger Campbell and Mike Capps started rallying Jerome back. The Tigers cut the margin to 59-53 with about 1:30 left but had to foul in an effort to get the ball and Burley hit from the foul line.

Burley took the first game 68-33.

Buhl Falls To Vallivue And Emmett

The Buhl Indians ran into trouble in the third district Friday night and then falling to Emmett 77-48 Saturday.

The Indians couldn't find the basket against the fast-breaking Emmett Huskies, who worked their race game for 24 points in the second quarter to explode out of reach. Buhl managed only 25 points in the first three quarters and trailed by 40 at that time.

Friday night, Vallivue hit a sharp 48 per cent from the field as the Falcons used the middle quarters to defeat Buhl. Buhl was tied in the first quarter at 9-9 but fell behind when outscored 18-9 in the second quarter.

Hatch Leads Cowboys Past Raft River

MALTA — North Gem's Hatch went on a 12-point scoring spree in the last quarter Friday night to lift the Cowboys to a 66-56 decision over the Raft River Trojans.

The teams fought evenly through three quarters but the turning point for Raft River came in the third period when 6-4 Wickel fouled out and the Trojans lost their rebounding punch. Still the Trojans rallied into a tie in the first two minutes of the final period before Hatch started hitting on short jumpers along the baseline.

Raft River's jayvees took the preliminary 36-22 while North Gem outwrestled Raft River 24-20, a Trojan forfeit at 175 pounds helping the Cowboys there.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Second-ranked UCLA made it 500 career victories for coach John Wooden Saturday night by coasting to a 99-54 victory over the Texas Longhorns.

Senior John Vallely led the Bruins with 24 points, 18 in the second half. Forward Sidney Wicks had 20 while sophomore Henry Bibby hit 16-of-his-18 points in the first half.

Wooden, who has guided the Bruins to five NCAA titles in the last six years, now has a 500-151 coaching record in his 24-year collegiate career.

He spent two seasons at Indiana State before coming to UCLA 22 years ago.

The win was the fourth without a loss this season for the Bruins, who Friday night set a UCLA scoring record by blasting Miami of Florida 127-63.

Utah Slips Past Loyola Of L.A.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Reserve Early Lasater scored six of Utah's 11 points in overtime to propel the Utes to a 64-76 victory over stubborn Loyola-of-Los-Angeles here Saturday night.

A crowd of 7,217 watched the Utes register their third win against one loss in their new Special Events Center.

Loyola sent the contest into overtime when Richard Dickson dropped through a short jump shot with 28 seconds remaining in regulation play to tie the game, 73-73.

Then Lasater took over in the five minute overtime period to clinch the victory. He hit a pair of charity tosses and added a fielder to make it 77-73.

Bishop Kelly Tops Gooding Squad 58-46

GOODING — Bishop Kelly went to the press in the second quarter and forced Gooding into several costly turnovers Saturday night and used its big height on the boards to dump the Senators, 58-46.

Both teams stayed close in the first quarter, with Gooding leading late in the frame to edge within three. Kelly started to use the press which netted 14 turnovers for the night — and boomed ahead by 15 at the half.

Gooding closed within eight early in the fourth period, but Bishop Kelly guards Kelly and Ysursa drove for key cripples in the late going to up Kelly's lead to 18 points before Gooding could cut it to the final 12.

Soph Frank Krahn, playing with two injuries, still netted 14 points for the Senators.

The delegation from McCall, headed by pro George Guy, reported on planning for the 1970 state amateur, slated for the resort town. The meet is slated for July 17-18-19 with July 16 set for practice rounds. The first will be held to 200 maximum with no qualifying. Some social functions also are planned.

Devils Top Valley In Cage Meet; Hansen Nips Kimberly In Overtime

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

KIMBERLY—Jump-shot specialist Mark Howard put on a dazzling 35-point display to shoot the Murtaugh Red Devils past Valley 78-53 for the championship of the Snake River holiday tournament Saturday night after Hansen rallied from behind and topped Kimberly 77-71 in overtime for the consolation award. It was the fourth straight victory for the sharp-shooting Red Devils who had a battle with Murtaugh over the first 12 minutes but then moved away when the Vikings' shooting percentage dropped off. Howard single-handedly turned the game into a rout late in the third period when he hit seven straight points to explode Murtaugh from a 55-44 edge and into a commanding 62-44 lead. Rehwait hit nine points in the first quarter as Valley led much of the time but in the final minute Howard hit twice to fashion a 20-20 lead. It stayed light in the second quarter until a 30-30 tie. Then Theron Nebeker and Wayne DeGeorgio hit two points each and Heib added a three-point play to give Murtaugh the lead for keeps. In the first game, Kimberly broke away from some first-quarter squabbling and hit the offensive boards for a lot of points as the Bulldogs burst away from Hansen at 37-25 early in the third period. But Hansen, getting saving points from Taylor, fought back and cut the margin to three points by the end of the period and then managed a 48-48 tie. At that point Steven Emerson hit six points — four from the foul line — and Mike Erickson got a rebound shot that gave Kimberly an eight-point edge with 4:27 to play. But Taylor erased a lot of that with a three-point play and a field goal and Nevers and Gunter got the points that netted the first tie at 59-59. From then on it was a horse race. With 23 seconds left Bulcher's tip in gave Kimberly a 67-65 edge 18 seconds later Walt Freestone pressured through two charity tosses to tie it. After a tie at 69-69 to open the extra session, Moore and Taylor hit two points each as Hansen moved out to reach. In Valley's upset win over Hansen Friday night, the first game of the tournament, Larry Richman was the big gun, hitting for 32 points on mostly driving shots underneath. The Huskies were cold much of the time, and Hansen scoring tailed off sharply after Freestone, Pearson, and Taylor. The Vikings edged ahead by three going into the fourth period and while Hansen could only score 10 points added 16 to put the contest away. Rehwait and Krohn also hit in double figures for Valley.

Morton And Cowboys Rap Baltimore Colts 27-10

DALLAS (UPI)—Craig Morton's 18 and 19-yard scoring passes to Lance Rentzel and Pettis Norman and a 44-yarder to Bobby Hayes that set up another touchdown carried the Dallas Cowboys to an easy 27-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts Saturday. The Dallas defense, which had been rather poor of late, kept the Colts and quarterback Johnny Unitas battling from poor field position all afternoon as the Capital Division champions ran their season record to 10-2-1 and dropped the Colts to 7-5-1. Morton completed 12 of 23 passes for 289 yards before turning the chores over to rookie understudy Roger Staubach early in the fourth quarter. Hayes snagged five of them for 181 yards. Walt Garrison scored the other Dallas touchdown on a one-yard plunge, and Mike Clark kicked 15 and 27-yard field goals. The Colts, whose best field position of the day was at the Dallas 33-yard line when linebacker John Campbell recovered Mel Renfro's fumbled punt, scored on a 24-yard field goal by Lou Michaels and a 52-yard pass from Unitas to tight end John Mackey, both in the second quarter.

Oakland Tops Kansas City To Grab Western Division Title

OAKLAND (UPI)—Daryle Lamonica completed an eight-yard scoring pass to Charlie Smith early in the fourth quarter Saturday to give the Oakland Raiders a 10-6 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs and their third straight Western Division title in the American Football League.

set up a 30-yard field goal by George Blanda in the second quarter with a 72-yard "bomb" to Warren Wells. The victory was Oakland's 12th of the regular season compared to a loss and a tie, and it sent the Raiders into the AFL playoffs next Sunday against the Houston Oilers.

The Raiders began what would be their winning drive late in the third quarter after gaining field position for the first time. The Oakland defense bottled Kansas City in its own end after a 55-yard punt by Mike Eischen and forced the Chiefs to kick it out from the end zone.

Maravich Hits 46 In LSU Victory

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Pistol Pete Maravich, the nation's leading scorer, scored 46 points Saturday but it took clutch shooting by two of his Louisiana State teammates to pull out a 97-91 victory over Tulane.

Tulane had pulled to within one point of LSU with 6:46 left but a short jump shot by Al Sanders and two free throws Dan Hester put LSU out in front for good. COMPLETED MAPS SHOW the direction in which Twin Falls County is headed growthwise. Dr. R. P. Fasolino points out county progress as his planners see it in the coming 20 years. He met with the county planning committee recently for a progress report and hopes to have the entire plan completed this month.

MUCH PLANNING INFORMATION has been compiled in the county zoning office by Joe LaVallee, left, county zoning administrator and his assistant, Galen Cleverly. Former County Zoning Administrator George Ottens was one of the original sponsors of county planning.

ROOM FOR EVERYONE in Twin Falls County Planning, say those who have worked the past year to lay the groundwork for the general plan. County Extension Agent Don Youtz, James A. Bondurant, Agricultural Research Service, and Jack Claborn, Jr., from left, are typical of those who have attended meetings and helped guide the planning project.

County Plan Involves Everyone

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Feature Editor

To go somewhere you need a travel plan — and Twin Falls county is definitely going somewhere but until recently it has had no plan.

Approximately a year ago a handful of citizens, under the leadership and direction of County Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller and Conservationist Clarence Hedrick of the Soil Conservation Service, decided it was time the county got organized toward what they hoped would become a comprehensive plan.

Now one year closer to their goal, the group has grown to include representatives of every public agency within the county including federal, state and numerous local organizations and individuals who are simply interested in their county's future and have joined the effort voluntarily.

It is the hope of all concerned this general county plan will be ready for a public presentation shortly after the first of 1970.

Joseph LaVallee, county zoning administrator who is closely associated with the plan, says there is one thing people do not seem to understand about general planning.

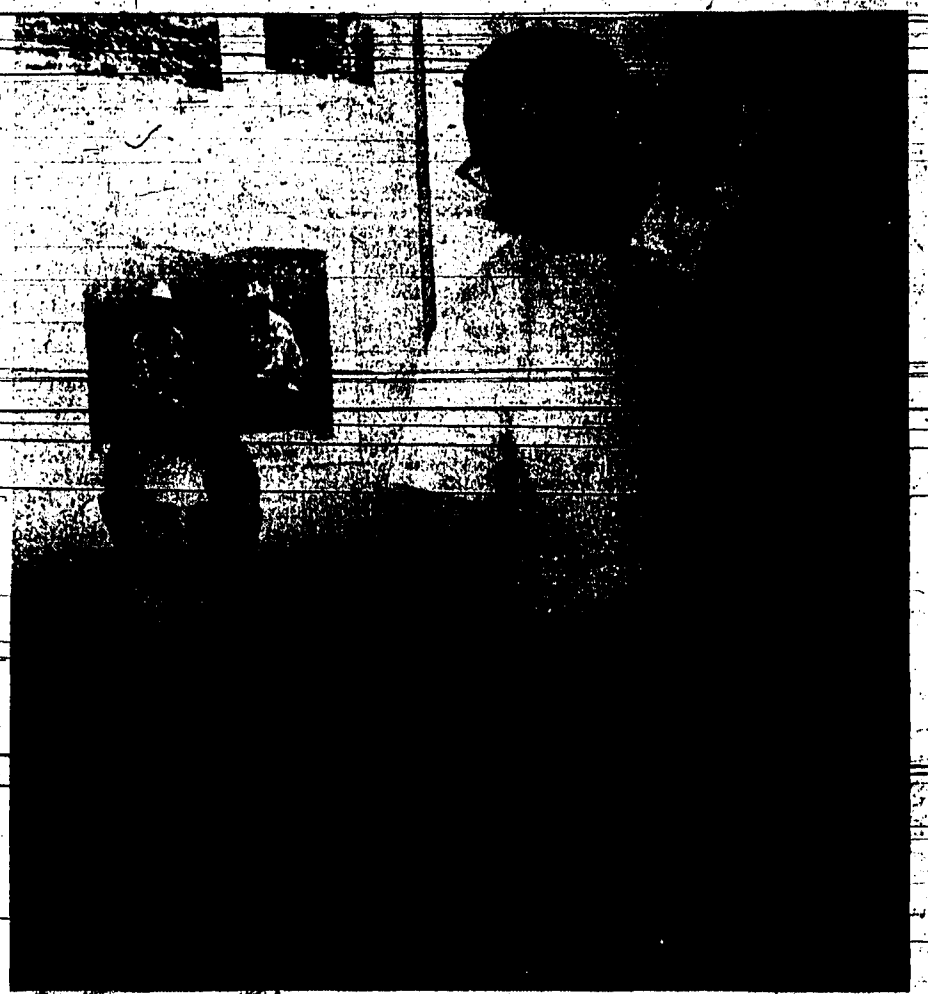

"We do not have a crystal ball and it isn't easy to look into the future without one. What we have established as guide lines such as highway location, urban expansion and even future recreational sites are only suppositions based on information now available to us," he explained.

These are shown on planning maps as guide lines to other more definite parts of the plan. One of the major factors in a city or county plan is that it cannot be shelved once completed and used to refer to as new developments present themselves, he explained. The plan must be constantly changed and kept up-to-date.

Idaho State University's associate professor of architecture, Dr. R. P. Fasolino, who with the aid of a number of his fifth year planning students, is compiling the Twin Falls County plan, said program support in this county has been the best his group has seen and complimented the county on the overall participation.

Those who fostered the planning program in Twin Falls county have staunchly expressed a desire to have local people

ASSISTANCE FROM CONSERVATIONIST Clarence Hedrick, center, has been a major boost to the county plan. Here ISU students, Brent Windley, left, and Dennis Adams check some fine points with the local conservation service official.

MUNICIPALITIES ARE WORKING with the county and planning authorities to coordinate development of urban areas. Bud McNealy, Buhl, right, discusses housing and commercial development of his town with Dr. R. P. Fasolino.

ROYAL DOG, TOJI poses to illustrate her breed, a Japanese spaniel. The dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jellison, Twin Falls, and is one of the first litter of this breed to be born in Idaho. Mrs. Lyle Cummins, who specializes in unusual dogs, sold Toji to Mr. and Mrs. Jellison last year.

THREE PUPPIES, worth much more than their weight in coin, are unaware of their importance. They are of a breed rare to this area, Japanese spaniels, and are the only such puppies in Idaho. Mrs. Lyle Cummins, who owns the dogs, says they make perfect pets as they almost never bark and are good lap dog size.

Rare Japanese Spaniels Guaranteed To Please

For the shopper who wants the only such puppies in Idaho to give a royal gift this year, this year and the year after, Mrs. Lyle Cummins, 273 Borah Ave., may have the answer. Among the ten dogs she owns, are some rare Japanese Spaniels. This year the female produced a litter of three puppies, now eight weeks old and looking like spotted balls of fur. Although they are called Japanese Spaniels, the breed originated in China and later became popular in Japan. Like most early breeds of dogs, they were developed by royalty and used as gifts from the palace to persons of special favor or heads of foreign governments. Aside from one Japanese Spaniel in the Idaho Falls area, Mrs. Cummins says her dogs and their offspring are the only ones known in the state of Idaho. Her puppies, she says, are red and white. One of the great advantages of the breed as a pet or lap dog, is their near absence of a bark. Unlike most noisy small dogs, they do not bark at strangers and are heard to bark only when played with and excited. Mrs. Cummins says she has heard her dogs bark only once or twice, so of course they are not watch dogs. The spaniels usually weigh about seven pounds and the perfect show dog is almost square standing about as tall as it is long. Actually, Mrs. Cummins says there is hardly any demand for the dogs despite their many desirable qualities. Nobody knows about the breed in the area, but those who come to the little animal markets would be surprised to find that in various states, Mr. and Mrs. Jellison last year.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From W. E. B. Buhl, Idaho: I have a bronze coin or medal, one-half dollar size. On the obverse side there is the sun, and under the sun is printed "One Penny" and under this is an old time scales. On the reverse side is a dove of peace; and under this is a picture of a log with an axe and hammer, and under all this are the words "DUM TACET CLAMAT". There is no date on this.

Can you tell me anything about this coin or medal or what? Answer: The piece you describe is a medal or pocket piece, issued by the Woodmen of the World, a fraternal organization. The W. O. W. used to be a very large organization, and still maintains organization in many places, although not as well known now as some other lodges. They are primarily an insurance organization. The pocket piece you mention is similar to the Masonic Penny which is presented to members of the Masonic Lodge. As far as I know, this medal has no value, other than as a curiosity.

From A. M. S. Burley, Idaho: My coin is shaped like a quarter with two legends on each side, and underneath is the legend "Deutsche-Mark 1917". On the other side it has "Bundesrepublik Deutschland" and in the center it has an eagle. Is this coin worth anything? Answer: This coin is a current piece of money in the Western Zone of Germany. (Federal Republic of Germany). Since it takes 100 of these to make a "Mark" and the mark is only worth about 29 cents (United States) the value is negligible. The coin has very little collector value, since it is easily obtained.

From B. R., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a coin that I would like to know more about. It is copper colored and just slightly larger than a nickel. The front side shows a coat of arms which consists of a crown atop a shield which in turn is supported on either side by lions. The top half of the coin reads "Herzogtum Nassau", while the bottom reads "Scheidemünze". The back side of the coin is encircled with a wreath of leaves. The number 1 appears at the top center and under number 1 it reads Kreuzer. The coin is dated 1861 at the bottom on this side. Your help will be appreciated.

Answer: Nassau was one of the German States which eventually became part of the German Empire. Your coin was issued under Adolph, Duke of Nassau who was ousted by Prussia and later became the Grand Duke of Luxembourg. The denomination (1 Kreuzer) is obsolete — replaced by the pfennig) and has no value at all in present Germany. The coin currently sells for twenty-five cents, if in brand new condition. It is not scarce.

From R. L. T. Buhl, Idaho: Can you tell me anything about a small Canadian coin — smaller than our dime. On one side is a man's face with a crown, and the words "Edwardus VII. D. G. Rex Imperator. On the other side a wreath and crown, and the words "Five Cents", "Canada" and 1906. Does this coin have any value and are they still in use? Thank you.

Answer: This is the type of 5 cent piece used in Canada from 1858 until 1921. They are still legal tender and found once in a while in circulation, but are generally considered collector's items.

The small silver five-cent is not very scarce except in the finer grades, where they rapidly increase in value. Your coin, for instance, if in worn condition would bring about thirty five cents — while if uncirculated (new) it is worth somewhere in the neighborhood of ten dollars. Edward, the VII was the great-grandfather of the present queen of England.

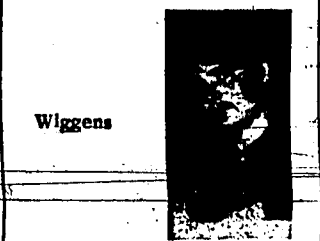

From E. M., Kimberly, Idaho: Looking in a magazine reading about old coins I found it said half-dimes at an early date were scarce. Is that right? I have one dated 1857. Is that worth anything?

Answer: Some of the half-dimes are very scarce, a few are rare. However, a great many of them are very easy to get from dealers and were saved in large numbers. Your particular date, 1857, was minted at Philadelphia and New Orleans with a total mintage of about 8 1/2 million pieces. This coin currently sells from $1.25 up to about $3.00 per copy — unless in uncirculated condition when it would command a great deal more than this figure. However — it is not one of the scarce dates.

Conservationists Guide Trumpeter Swan To Sound Comeback From Near Oblivion

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department

Gabriel's horn may have some competition from the deep resonant voices of trumpeter swans unless the current upward trend in production of these birds is reversed and the remnant population starts once more its slide into the stillness of forgotten things.

Thanks to conservation measures which include complete protection and transplants from the Red Rock Lakes National Wildlife Refuge near Montida, Mont., trumpeter swans are hatching out all over. During the 1968 fall survey, for example, biologists counted 801 trumpeters in the contiguous United States, sometimes called "South 38." Total population, including Alaska and western Canada, probably exceeds 4,000 trumpeters. This species was removed from the federal government's list of rare and endangered wildlife species following the 1968 aerial waterfowl census.

Wildlife conservationists are elated with the comeback of this majestic bird. In 1932, the 69 trumpeters left in the 48 contiguous states were all found in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.

The appeal of swans to man throughout history has been handed down in legend, custom and many forms of art. That the largest living species should have become almost extinct in its native North America was a near tragedy. The continuing recovery in numbers of this graceful symbol of American wilderness is a major accomplishment in wildlife conservation.

The establishment of the Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge was the climax of this effort in the United States. This magnificent mountain setting provided the remoteness and wilderness environment favored by trumpeters. Its boundaries encompass a 60-mile radius in southwestern Montana, eastern Idaho and northwestern Wyoming including Yellowstone Park.

Nebraska experienced its second successful trumpeter swan hatch since the turn of the century this summer, and Minnesota hatched out its first wild trumpeter in nearly 80 years. Two cygnets or young swans were hatched at Valentine National Wildlife Refuge in north-central Nebraska this summer. The Minnesota cygnet hatched at the Carver County Park southwest of the Twin Cities. Both mating pairs of trumpeters were transplants from Red Rock Lakes Refuge.

First successful production of young from wild trumpeters east of the Rockies occurred several years ago with the flock established at Lacreek National Wildlife Refuge near Martin, South Dakota. Members of this flock have found nesting sites throughout the area comprising South Dakota's Badlands and the Sandhill country of Nebraska.

During the survey, 76 swans were counted in South Dakota, 51 in Oregon, 37 in Washington, 34 in Nevada, and 16 in Minnesota. All of these are transplants, or offsprings of transplants. Except in Minnesota, all were on or near national wildlife refuges.

Actual counts in other states included 2,942 in Alaska, 365 in Montana, 126 in Wyoming and 94 in Idaho. In addition, about 50 zoos in the United States now have trumpeters. Some of the swans have lived 30 years in captivity. Their life span in the wild is unknown. Male trumpeters weigh 30 pounds. Whooping cranes are taller but weigh only about 17 pounds.

Idaho waterfowl regulations prohibit hunting white geese in the counties of Clark, Fremont, Madison and Teton. Even so, citations are issued almost every year and convictions obtained for killing trumpeters. Other illegal kills of swans along Henrys Fork of the Snake River and its tributaries undoubtedly go undetected. Since these great white birds commonly fly at low levels, they make tempting targets. All-out publicity in the press, including electronic media, and proprietary interest shown by local residents, is curbing the indiscriminate killing of swans.

Lead poisoning also is an irrevocable factor related to hunting and causing mortality among swans that feed, even for short or intermittent periods, in habitat that was heavily contaminated with lead shot. In documented cases of mortality, stomach tracts of the victims contained 400 lead shot.

Swans were mentioned often in Greek mythology. They were known to the ancient Egyptians and to the early Christian prophets.

For example, swans are listed among the birds and animals which were not to be eaten. Though never a preferred food among primitive people, their availability and size caused them to be taken when other sources of meat were short.

Geologists have a evidence showing two prehistoric species of swans have passed into oblivion. Fossil Lake, Oregon, contains mute signs that one extinct species, tentatively called Cygnus paloregonus, may have been unable to adjust to a succession of ice ages in the northern hemisphere. The other was the giant swan of Malta, Palaeocygnus, the Eurasian species that became extinct at some time in the distant past. It was larger than any other of the swans in existence today.

Island Park area, which includes Henrys Fork of the Snake River and upper tributary waters of the state is one of five wintering habitat districts for swan within the greater Yellowstone region of southwestern Montana, northwestern Wyoming, and northeastern Idaho. The others are (1) Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge (Montana), (2) Yellowstone National Park (Wyoming), (3) National Elk Refuge, Jackson Hole (Wyoming), (4) Madison River, and its tributary waters above the Meadow Lake Dam (Montana).

Of these, Island Park area, which includes Henrys Fork of the Snake River and its upper tributaries in Idaho, and Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge in Montana are more vital to the United States segment of the continental trumpeter population than all the rest put together.

All of the swan wintering districts contain shallow water lake, stream and pond habitat with varying amounts of aquatic vegetation.

Because of warm springs these waters do not freeze over entirely during long spells of cold weather. Most, if not all, of the swans inhabiting the "South 48" states are believed to winter on hailable water within the five districts.

Swans hold a special place in folklore, history, literature, drama, arts and musical expression of contemporary, as well as ancient, peoples the world over. In this respect the swans as a group are unique among all of the earth's varied forms, with the possible exception of the birds of prey. With their great size, graceful manner and distinctive voice, the majestic swans apparently have inspired all the people who knew them. It is good that they are here to stay.

HOWARD JOHNSON AND FRIEND, one of the three wisemen from the Twin Falls Nativity Scene, are getting ready for the Christmas display in city park. All of the 14 figures of the scene, now more than 12 years old, are undergoing some extensive restoring by city recreation department crews.

MAKE UP AND HAIR STYLING are not generally part of the requirements in the Twin Falls City Recreation Department work day. Clyde Biggers, left, and Ed Tadlock, try their hands at it however, during restoring work on the figures of the Nativity Scene. Cleaning and repairing the figures has been under way by the city crew for the past week so the badly worn figures can continue in service at least for the next few years.

County Plan Underway

and agencies do their own plan rather than employing an outside planning firm at a high cost. So successful has been this method, Dr. Fasolino said, he was able to take maps from the SCS and county zoning offices, material and reports collected there and begin plan preparation with no delays. When completed the plan will be used not only to assist new county development projects and facilities in site selection and size, but will also put the county in line for a number of federal funding programs which require comprehensive or general planning as a major qualification.

One of the big factors in Twin Falls county planning is Rock Creek. A late phase of the planning study has been recreation and volunteers and members of Dr. Fasolino's staff are now working with the County Recreational Committee, headed by Don Zuck, to determine existing recreation and needed recreation along the stream. This ranges from winter recreation facilities at the head of the canyon to fishing, summer camping, picnics and playground facilities and Twin Falls City development that may involve the creek.

Pollution now preventing utilization of the Rock Creek potential below the watershed areas, is a principal problem of the county and planners feel the stream may once again become clear and clean as a result of planning.

Closely tied to the county plan is the proposed Rock Creek Watershed Project involving construction of a small reservoir in the canyon near the fifth fork of the creek. This would serve many county uses in addition to irrigation. Fishing, boating and other recreational uses, and possibly water-fowl refuge would be among the advantages. Jack Claiborn, Kimberly, is chairman of the watershed project now in the process of final planning and awaiting approval for feasibility study.

Other agencies involved in the County planning include County and State Highway Departments, U. S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, Extension Service, Fish and Game Department, Soil Conservation Districts, Agricultural Research Service, Department of Health, County Planning and Zoning Board, County Recreation Committee and representatives from the county's towns and cities.

Efforts are made to assist the smaller towns in working their plans into the county program and to match plans with those already established by larger municipalities.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Should you wander along the sagebrush covered banks of the Snake River east of the L. C. (Clix) King ranch near KING HILL, you would find yourself in an unbelievably beautiful park. Rainbow park, as it is known, was developed by the late Mr. King over the past five years.

The setting first was discovered by Mrs. Nellie Sudduth in 1909, but was neglected for many years. It now stands as a "living" memorial to Mr. King who died Nov. 5 of a heart attack, and will bring enjoyment to many people for years to come.

The natural sheltered setting of high unique rocks is graced with a velvet-like carpet of grass, shade trees and brilliant flowers in the most unexpected places. Beside a gentle wild flower, Mr. King left a sturdy sagebrush and this gives an insight into his life.

But beauty is not the only part of the park; there is a swing for children, horseshoe pits, natural rocks constructed for fireplaces and "Ole" the special rock, which looks like an animal, painted and named by some of Mr. King's four children and 19 grandchildren.

Mr. King's generosity was demonstrated not only by sharing himself and his park with his family and friends, but with strangers as well. Anyone is welcome to visit the park. Some of the local groups whose members have spent many happy hours in Rainbow park are the Glens Ferry Lions Club, Girl Scouts, Our Lady of Limerick Altar Society and his friends and business associates at the Idaho State Bank.

Work at the park site began in 1963 after a water system was installed. The land was cleared, trees planted, stone fences built and rock gardens, barbecue and horseshoe pits constructed.

How many of us make a dream come true? Mr. King did. And it stands ever ready to provide pleasant hours of relaxation in the beauty of the out-of-doors.

For the past two months, the Manuel Arguello family, DE-CLO, has had a very special guest staying with them. She is Mrs. Reynelda Perez, Guatemala, Central America, the mother of Mr. Arguello.

Mrs. Perez, who hadn't seen her son for more than 20 years, related that she had given up hope of ever coming to visit him and his family because of the expense of travel. However, Manuel, and his wife, Billie, made the trip possible and helped her to come by plane to visit with them.

Even though Mrs. Perez

She especially enjoyed the Cassia County Fair and the exhibits that her grandchildren had entered. A lively 73 years old, she managed to keep up with the youngsters and always had a friendly smile for the friends of the family that wanted to meet her.

Nativity Figures Are Showing Their Age After 12 Years Faithful Community Service

It's been 12 years since the principal figures of the Nativity Scene of Twin Falls have undergone any major improvements and they have become a bit shabby. This year they are undergoing some face lifting and general sprucing up at the Twin Falls City Recreation Department shop. Workers there who admit they are not artists, purchased a few cans of spray paint and varnish. Because it is difficult to duplicate the face colors, most of the figures were simply cleaned and their faces given a coat of varnish. Beards on the Three Wisemen had to be combed out as well as possible. Clothing, however, was spray painted in most cases. Because it must be stiff, Howard Johnson, head of the department, said the spray paint worked out well, adding to the stiffness and renewing most of the colors. Animals in the scene create another problem. The ox, Mr. Johnson said, was badly broken and it was necessary to build inside support, wrap it in burlap and then paint it completely. Trying to provide a new coat of wool for the lambs was not easy. To cope with this, the department covered the figures with Christmas snow spray, to leave a clean appearance. "Close examination of the figures shows they are not in the best of condition, but we think we have them looking better and since they are only seen from a distance they should look fine," Mr. Johnson said.

The life-size figures for the Nativity Scene that is erected each December in the Twin Falls city bandshell, were obtained in 1957.

They were designed for a large Seattle Department store and were originally very costly, says W. C. Malbert, chairman of the committee in charge of obtaining them back in 1957.

Twin Falls undertook the purchase as a community endeavor when it was learned the scene was for sale at a fraction of the original cost.

Residents of the city and community organizations made contributions ranging from $1 to $50 dollars. They then became the property of the Twin Falls Ministerial Association and with the cooperation of the city recreation department are maintained for annual display.

Estimates of several hundred dollars for restoring the figures had been obtained by the Ministerial Association, but city recreation department crews volunteered to do what they could at no cost to the association and their offer was promptly accepted.

Police said both vehicles approximately 42 feet and the Tucker stationwagon slid another 24 feet after the impact. Damage was estimated at $350 for the pickup truck and less than $50 to the stationwagon. Two passengers in the Tucker vehicle, Mrs. Mildred Merrill, Jerome, and Mrs. Elsie Pinkston, Brumeau, were uninjured.

Christmas Program Set At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD — "Bethlehem Treasures" will be the theme for the Christmas program at the Community Church. The program which is presented by the Sunday School will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 21 at the church.

The familiar Christmas story will be told anew through recitations, group singing, a teen choir, vocal solos, vocal and brass ensemble. All of the music will be centered around the Nativity Scene which is to be performed by the junior high department.

Mrs. Robert Rush is general chairman; with Mrs. Keith Strom, Mrs. Hershel Lange and Mrs. William A. Simon assisting in the program.

The affair is open to the public. Treats will be prepared by the Prairie Schooners couple's club.

GRACEFUL VIETNAMESE ORPHANS enjoy dancing and the makeshift costumes and home made fans were used to add to festivities as the youngsters presented a Tet program last year for American servicemen stationed in the area.

ICE CREAM AND CAKE, the first most of the Coa Dal orphanage children had ever tasted, highlighted one of the parties servicemen staged for the orphans last year. In the background is the operator of the orphanage, also an official of the Coa Dal Church of her country. The children are greatly in need of clothing, bedding, powdered milk and toys.

Returned Army Captain Conducting Drive For Children Of Vietnamese Orphanage

A holiday more important to the Vietnamese children than Christmas is Tet, the Chinese lunar new year, and a former serviceman who has just returned from there hopes to capitalize in the Christmas spirit of area residents for his own kind of Tet celebration.

James Jones, Eden, former artillery captain and liaison officer between American Armed Forces and the Vietnamese has just returned from 13 months in the little war ravaged country.

While there he served with the military liaison office but in his spare time found satisfaction in working with a group of 80 children and directors and staff members of the Cao Dai orphanage at Tay Ninh, Vietnam.

The orphanage, one of many operated by the Cao Dai Church, is filled with children left homeless by the war or those whose parents can not care for them because of war disaster.

Tet, Mr. Jones says, is celebrated usually early in February, and the celebration continues for approximately a week. Armed Forces members from the United States, who are stationed at Tay Ninh, stage several parties for the youngsters during the week.

Most of the children in the orphanage have absolutely no families.

When parents are killed, brothers and sisters or more distant relatives care for the small children but those who are completely alone end up in the many orphanages.

These children come to the orphanage with nothing and are in great need of light clothing, light blankets, powdered milk and even toys. Mostly they need clothing, Mr. Jones said, and because the Vietnamese are small in stature, the small size cloths are the best.

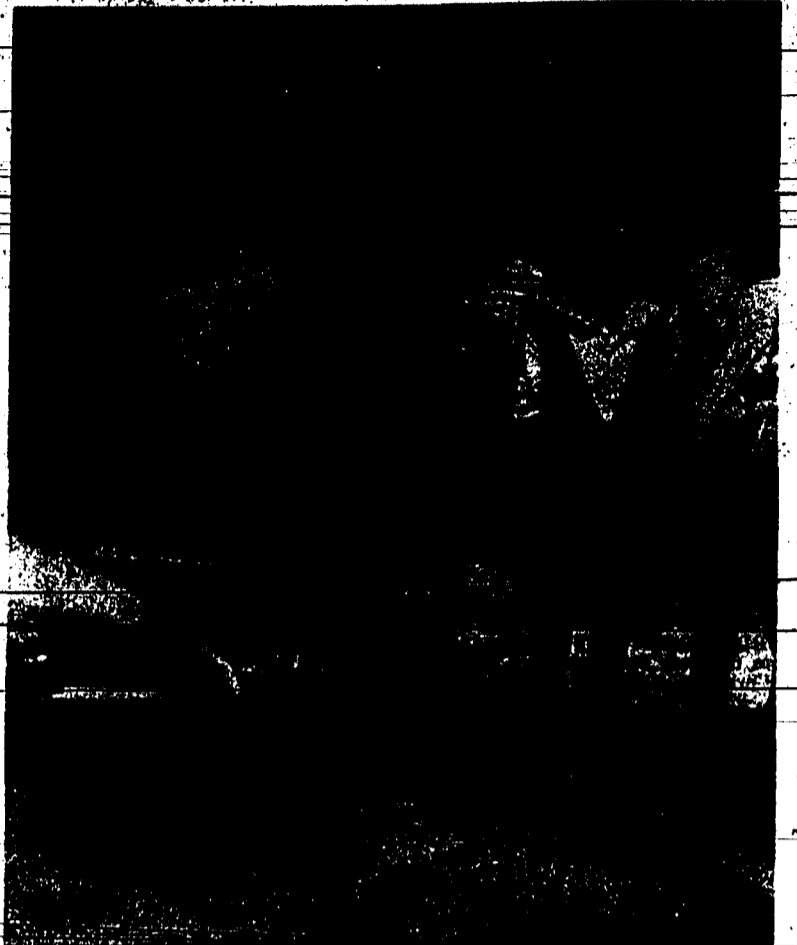

To help the orphanage officials, the military officers and men who are assisting with the orphanage, Mr. Jones is asking residents of Magic Valley to send clothing, powdered milk or small toys to Vietnam.

They may be sent directly by mailing at special postal rates to: Battery Commander, Headquarters Battery, Second Battalion 32nd Artillery, Attention Cao Dai orphanage, APO 96216, San Francisco.

Persons who might wish to contribute money to purchase gifts may contact James T. Hones, Box 465, Eden, or telephone him at 825-5938 and arrangements for their contributions may be made.

While Mr. Jones was in the area the servicemen were able to obtain a water pump and generator for the orphanage and many other necessary items. In return for the favors, officials of the orphanage and Cao Dai church obtained an appointment for Capt. Jones with the church's pope and offered hospitality including invitations to their meals and special holiday observances.

German engineer Carl Benz designed and built the first commercially successful motor car.

MUCH NEEDED PUMP, provided by American servicemen is observed by several of the Coa Dal orphans and the "mechanic" a woman who was able to keep the equipment operating among other chores around the orphanage.

INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN soft drinks is provided by Capt. James Jones, Eden, while he served in Vietnam as an army artillery liaison officer. He and many other American officers and men there volunteered their time to assist children in the orphanage and to cheer, feed and entertain them.

Book Review

By Mary Alice Florence

"They Never Came Home" by Lois Duncan is an example of the good fiction that many young readers are missing in their hurry to use the adult library. The book jacket describes the story as "A psychological suspense novel". It is! Two teen-age boys set out on a week-end camping trip into the Mogollon Mountains of New Mexico. When they fail to return for school on Monday morning, their two worried families contact the police and an extensive search of the area is begun. Their car is found parked at the foot of one of the lower trails, but no trace is found of either boy or even any of their equipment. The disappearance causes upheaval in both families. Joan, the older sister of one of the boys, postpones college and her mother suffers a nervous breakdown. Joan and Frank, the brother of the other missing boy, find themselves involved with a stranger who claims that Joan's brother owes him two thousand dollars from a "business" deal. Frank, in his struggle to understand how one mother could survive such a shock when another could not, asks his mother, "I guess I'm luckier," she explains.

"I'm made differently. Some of us are built like china cups, and some like plastic mugs." Frank digests the comparison and gratefully tells her, "I'm glad you're a mug." Mrs. Duncan author of the book lives in Albuquerque, New Mexico, with her husband and four children. She writes with knowledge of the Southwest and her understanding of young people is skillfully revealed in the personalities of her characters. The recent publicity given efforts to stop the illegal drug traffic across the Mexican border helps the reader to find some answers—perhaps sooner than the writer intended. But, rather than detract from the book, it compels the reader to hurry on, hoping to help Joan and Frank solve their problems. Thirteen and fourteen-year olds today are too realistic for the story to have a happy ending. But things do turn out almost better than could be hoped for. After finishing Mrs. Duncan's last paragraph, the reader finds himself pondering the final outcome and composing his own epilogue. So, young readers, (and the young in heart) visit the Youth Room of your Public Library. Find out why THEY NEVER CAME HOME.

THIRTEEN PROVES DOUBLE LUCKY
We once knew a bridge player who was surprised to be told that there were 13 cards in each suit. He felt that such knowledge was for experts only.

There aren't many players of that ilk but it is surprising how few of them really put the number 13 to work.
You don't have to be an expert to count to 13. If you are a declarer, know that one opponent started with six hearts, three diamonds and three clubs, by simple addition and subtraction you mark him with exactly one spade.

However, it does take an expert to put 13 to use in the bidding! Back in the 30s, John Liston of Boston (one of New England's best players) held the West cards in a duplicate game. At first glance, it would appear that he was crazy to double four spades. After full inspection, we see that John was crazy as a fox.
He had counted to 13 in the bidding. South had opened one diamond and then bid spades. This showed four spades and at least four diamonds. North had raised diamonds first and spades later on. North would have bid spades with five or more diamonds. Hence, North held exactly four spades and four diamonds. Thus John was sure that his partner would hold three spades and no more than one diamond.

After doubling, he opened a diamond. He grabbed his ace of spades at trick two and gave his partner a diamond ruff. His partner returned a heart. John took his ace and gave his partner another ruff to collect 200 for a top score.

What do you do?
A—Bid two spades. You want to get to game at least, and you bid the higher ranking (not the stronger) of your two five-card suits.

Your partner responds two no-trump. What do you do now?

Scandinavian-Descended Women Fancy Peroxide

BLONDES — Why is it Wisconsin has more artificial blondes per capita than any other state? That's what a blond wants to know. Believe it's because so many girls in Wisconsin start out as real blondes. But when their locks tend to darken as they grow up, they attempt to restore the fair hair. Nationwide, it is the young ladies of Scandinavian descent who buy the most peroxide.

BEAUTY — As to the whereabouts of the most beautiful American women, pollsters continue to claim New York City as the dining room only when company turns up. DO YOU KNOW how much money you've got? If so, too bad. J. Paul Getty contends nobody who is able to count his money can be considered really rich. AN 18-YEAR-OLD BOY in good shape ought to be able to do 80 situps, say the physical fitness experts. JIN THE SENATE DINING ROOM in Washington, D.C., Republican senators don't sit with Democratic senators, and lady senators don't sit there at all. OUR LANGUAGE MAN has been informed the word "hobo" is a corruption of "hey, boy," but he is skeptical.

MEMORIES — Are you qualified to join the Borrowed Time Club? Members are those citizens who sometime somewhere escaped a most likely death. This comes up because a gentleman subscriber inquires if I am that stranger who was severely injured with him in a two-car collision. No, sir, do not recall ever being in a serious traffic smashup. Am not without credentials for the Borrowed Time Club, however. Years ago on a mountain trail I was grazed by a grizzly bear. Another time I woke up in a growing forest fire. Occasionally some thing happens to a boy that exalts him to angelic speed. He runs like the wind. He does not feel his feet touch the ground. In complete liberty, he flies, a little like Superman going the wrong way. That is how it was.

IT HAS BEEN DETERMINED that approximately four out of five American families eat in the dining room only when company turns up. DO YOU KNOW how much money you've got? If so, too bad. J. Paul Getty contends nobody who is able to count his money can be considered really rich. AN 18-YEAR-OLD BOY in good shape ought to be able to do 80 situps, say the physical fitness experts. JIN THE SENATE DINING ROOM in Washington, D.C., Republican senators don't sit with Democratic senators, and lady senators don't sit there at all. OUR LANGUAGE MAN has been informed the word "hobo" is a corruption of "hey, boy," but he is skeptical.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — "Any idea how much money the pro football players — I don't mean the top stars, just the regular men — make every year?" A. It's said at least half get better than $20,000.

"Oscar" Presentations, Big Band Sounds Highlight Holiday Social

And the nominees are . . . By the time the renowned celebrities get to this portion of the famed annual "Oscar" presentations, a hush comes over the audience and the anticipation hangs thick in the air. Well — it wasn't quite like this Monday evening, but the anticipation was great and the winners quite surprised, when Bob Hopes' of Magic Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shotwell, staged their own "Oscar" presentation for the local Rotarians and their lovely ladies. The event marked the annual Ladies Night Christmas party and was held at the Turf Club. A slight discrepancy occurred, however, when most of the winners were not even listed among the nominees. The first real snow of the season didn't hinder the party goers in any way, if anything, it added atmosphere to the holiday social. The evening's activities included cocktails, dinner and dancing to the music of the College of Southern Idaho Eagleaires Stage Band, that made its debut appearance — bringing back memories of the "big band" sound of the 30's and 40's. The Eagleaires is the most recently-formed musical organization on the CSI campus and features an outstanding repertory ranging from, as mentioned, the "big band" sound to the "hard-rock" sound of today. The band is under the direction of Denis Foote, assistant professor of music at CSI. Favorable comments were heard all evening concerning the music and one woman was overheard saying, "Our youngsters are certainly missing something when they don't have the opportunity to dance to music like this." The band features Debbie Williamson, Dale Duncan, Mike Perry, Dave Eastman, Janet Patterson Partin and Jim Wilson on the saxophones; Les Poe, Shawn Gould, Steve Chandler and Scott Erwin, trombones; Bill Hughes, LeRoy Anderson, Randy Severe and San Nuttle, trumpets; Rene Butler, piano; Johnny Mai, guitar; Ernie Shewmaker, bass, and Kevin Klous, drums. Members of the Rotary committee in charge of the holiday social were Mr. and Mrs. Matt Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shotwell, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelby and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith. Officers serving the Rotary Club this year are Fred Wanzneried, president; Dan Obenechain, first vice president; Dick Irwin, second vice president; Bob Warberg, treasurer, and Oleen Seamons, secretary.

Wife Of Industrialist Keeps Busy Schedule, Moves Freely

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—The mystery that surrounds billionaire Howard Hughes includes his wife, former film actress Jean Peters, who lives incognito and unrecognized.

Mrs. Howard Hughes is 43 and has been married to the secretive industrialist since 1937.

While Hughes makes his home at Las Vegas' Desert Inn Hotel, one of six resorts he owns along the famed Strip of the Nevada city, his wife has her choice of several splendid homes in Beverly Hills and Bel-Air.

Security guards protect the one-time Ohio State University beauty queen as vigorously as they do Hughes.

There is a difference, however.

Though Hughes, so far as anyone knows, rarely if ever ventures out in public, much less among crowds, Mrs. Hughes moves freely.

She attends the opera, ballet, concerts and sports events unrecognized.

Without makeup and in inexpensive clothes, Jean Peters Hughes could be mistaken for any attractive middle-aged housewife on shopping sorties into Beverly Hills department stores and boutiques.

But when she expertly applies makeup and wears gowns designed by Europe's most distinguished designers she is breathtakingly beautiful, according to one friend who asked that she remain unidentified for fear of losing the secretive Mrs. Hughes' friendship.

The wife of one of the world's richest men attends baseball, basketball and football games in Los Angeles, frequently in the company of a female acquaintance, or accompanied by a Hughes security man.

During the week she busies herself with charitable works. One of her favorite contributions is reading for the Braille Institute in a recording studio.

At night she attends a university under an assumed name working for a master's degree in sociology, although she also takes art courses.

She prefers the cosmopolitan atmosphere of Los Angeles to the gambling-resort town which her husband has made his headquarters.

Mrs. Hughes has her hair done in a popular beauty parlor in the center of the Beverly Hills shopping district, but only the owner of the shop and the operator know her identity.

She visits the shop once a week, calling only an hour or so before her arrival to throw off any possibility of setting a regular routine which might be followed by members of the press or others.

During the warm months she swims almost daily in her own pool.

Each of the homes sprinkled through the Bel-Air, Beverly Hills area owned by Hughes has a pool.

Generally every house has two exits by automobile in the event of unforeseen problems.

Mrs. Hughes drives her own late model imported automobile, but following it closely is one occupied by members of Hughes security forces.

On Fridays, Mrs. Hughes more often than not flies to Las Vegas to spend two or three days with her busy husband.

She is transported by one of Hughes' private planes which lands on his own Las Vegas airstrip, or by commercial jetliner.

In either case she is met by a limousine which delivers her to her husband. Again, she moves unrecognized by the swarming tourists intent on gambling or soaking up the sun.

One former Hughes security officer said she moves freely in and out of the Desert Inn without being detected by guests in the hotel.

Hughes chooses to remain on the topmost floor of the hotel conducting business by telephone. But his wife frequently visits other hotels to enjoy the stars who appear at the various spas.

A long-time friend of Mrs. Hughes says she does not miss her acting career, although technically she is still under contract to 20th Century-Fox where she made her first picture, "Captain from Castile" in 1946 co-starring with Tyrone Power.

The green-eyed star made several films for the studio, one of the last of which was "Three Coins in the Fountain."

A native of Canton, Ohio, Mrs. Hughes was married once previously, to businessman Stuart Cramer III. The marriage was brief and a divorce was granted in December, 1936.

There is a tightly knit group of friends who protect Mrs. Hughes from outsiders, among them actress Jeanne Crain. Those who discuss Mrs. Howard Hughes at all, do so covertly, revealing as little as possible, thereby weaving a web of mystery every bit as intriguing as that which surrounds her billionaire husband.

One confidant, however, said,

New Members Are Introduced

Two new members, Mrs. Lena Potter and Mrs. Elzina Tyler, were introduced by Mrs. Wanda Reed during the 20th Century Club's December meeting held recently at the Turf Club.

The Christmas program included vocal selections by Carolyn Briggs, a student at the College of Southern Idaho, and a story, "The Black Madonna," told by Mrs. Artell Kelly.

Table decorations were arranged by Mrs. Earl Neilsen and Mrs. David McClusky.

"Jean leads as normal a life as possible considering her husband is Howard Hughes. A girl in her position just doesn't run around making news.

"She's not that way anyhow. Jean is quiet and thoughtful, and never did believe in all the glamor stuff when she was an actress."

It would appear that Mrs. Hughes is happy with her life. Certainly, she will not hold still long enough to be interviewed on the subject.

Local Council Named First In Annual State Contest

This year first place was awarded in the Keep Idaho Green contest to the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls by Gov. Don Samuelson.

Barney Wazlak is chairman of the State Keep Idaho Green committee and this is a part of the National Keep America Beautiful program. Since its inception in 1932, the local council has taken part in this project and every year has received recognition, frequently being awarded first prize. Council-wide participation is encouraged with the hope that each girl will take part.

The conservation program fits in well with the total program goals of Camp Fire Girls. Participation was in the form of a scrapbook being a compilation of local activities consisting of written reports, clippings, drawings and photographs of the activities of all the girls in all of the groups in the entire council.

A committee, Mrs. Henry Buchanan, Mrs. Arctle Turner and Mrs. Duane Hankins, assembled the material and prepared an organized presentation, with Renee Buchanan preparing the artistic cover design.

The program consists of three parts. First, anti-litter. Some of the girls will clean up a vacant lot, pick up litter in a park or clean along roadsides or make litter bags for their family cars.

Second, fire prevention. Girls learn how to properly take care of their camp fires when in the woods to prevent spread of fire and learn the dangers of throwing cigarettes out of car windows and other aspects of fire dangers.

Third, beautification. Girls plant flowers at churches, playground, civic building or school and also plant trees at various places including school grounds. Sometimes the council takes part in tree planting projects in conjunction with the Forest Service. Girls also distribute

ADD SUNSHINE

Bring sunshine to winter menus with canned pineapple. A simple ham and noodle casserole topped with pineapple slices is brighter in flavor. Add crushed pineapple to sauteed chicken and let it cook slowly until tender—great taste. For a fresh tasting salad, add canned pineapple tidbits to tuna salad.

Auxiliary Has Holiday Party

SHOSHONE—The American Legion Auxiliary members held a Christmas party and gift exchange at their recent meeting at the American Legion Hall.

Geneva Kisting gave a report of Girls' State she attended last spring.

Mrs. Ray Tanaka and Mrs. Doyal Bennett were hostesses. Report was made that the cash Christmas gift given the Veterans hospital by the group has been delivered. With the money auxiliary workers in the Boise area purchase gifts for the servicemen in the hospital to give to their families.

SPECIAL STEW

For a very special lamb stew add canned pineapple chunks or tidbits when you add the vegetables. It adds a unique and exciting flavor to the stew.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI)—The schizophrenic wardrobe—many parts to be worn together or separately—comes on strong in spring fashion.

back is a boon to the woman who likes to travel light.

Consider Geoffrey Beene's floral printed ball gown, a filmy long-sleeved affair. It comes with matching pants, giving the woman two looks for the price of one.

Other layered looks seen at collections staged in New York by the American Designers group for the nation's reporters included: Pants tunic, jacket outfits; ponchos over jumpers over blouses with pants matching the main parts; layers of chiffon—gowns tamed with shawls; suits with vest, blouses, jackets, skirts and pants.

A layered-look in the Christian Dior-New York line consisted of pastel blue and lavender matching hip length-jacket and flared pants. Other parts included tunic-length blouse and matching scarf to be worn at the neck, around the waist or turban-style.

One of Pauline Trigere's split personality outfits was a navy and white tweed skirt and huge cape. The blouse—Miss Trigere called it the mallot—was styled similarly to ballet dancer's one-piece tights to prevent the usual slip-out of blouse incidents. The skirt was the wrap-around type.

Another three-part chic outfit came from David Crystal. It included white pants, navy double-knit sleeveless coat (that can double as a jumper) and shirt style tunic of horizontal red, white and blue stripes.

Highlights of other designer collections:

Sarmi showed triple-layered chiffon columns, bare topped and fastened with jeweled pendants held by silk cords. Some chiffons were sunburst pleated, sashed in contrasting chiffon. Necklines often were slashed to a deep V.

Jacques Tiffeau stayed with the pants look. He showed them in all kinds of combinations. Take the pure pants, clean and straight legged, in a bittersweet colored plastic rainsuit with a shocking pink crepe blouse. His soft pants, as they were called, came in black crepe and were worn under a matching dinner dress. Silk-jersey pants in navy were shown under a pink dress with a high turtle neck and elasticized waist.

What a Wonderful Way To Say "It's Christmas"

Centennial Year Is Observed

By LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Correspondent

RUPERT—1969 is the Centennial year for the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association of the LDS Church and the YWMA's 1869-70 calendar is filled with centennial celebrations.

Some 600 girls and their mothers attended the opening Centennial reception recently in the Minidoka Stake Tabernacle and were feted to a roast pig dinner with members of the YWMA stake presidency as hostesses. Every girl 12 years of age through 18 years and her mother were invited to the banquet which featured whole roast pig, salads, rolls, relish and fruit cake.

The reception hall in Rupert was decorated in red and white, with silhouettes intended to represent each of the stake's YWMA presidents adorning the walls.

The serving table was covered with white lace over satin with red velvet bows along the edges. Red and white velvet curtains created the background and a traditional "candle-lit" chandelier was hanging above the table. White pillars near the end of the hall completed the century-old atmosphere.

Guests were entertained by the "Snake River Flats" quartet, and by stake dance directors Mr. and Mrs. Howard Corless. The dancers demonstrated the shoddish, rye waltz, fox trot, swing and cha-cha.

The YWMA program reached the Minidoka Stake area in 1924 and Cynthia Roberts was named the first president. Others leading the organization include Rhada Hyde, 1935 to 1939; Elsa McIntire, 1939 to 1945; Virgie Sullivan, 1945 to 1946, and Vanda Fairchild, 1946 to 1947.

In 1947, Zillah Humphries was named president, followed by Itha Seedall in 1948, LaMona Hymas followed in 1950, and Margaret Merrill in 1961. Iva Lou Badger, present president, accepted the position in 1963.

Of the ten presidents, only three were able to attend the Centennial reception, and were presented with gifts. Those attending were Mrs. Seedall, and Mrs. Hymas Killpack, both Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Badger.

Prior to the showing of the film, "Pioneers in Petticoats," 22 Adventurer camp awards were presented.

Receiving the award for four years camp achievement were Debra Homer and Neva Richards, both Mia Mads, Aequia Ward; Debra Gettins, Karla Eames and Barbara Hitterbrand, all Laurels; Aequia Second Ward; Donna Lee Baker and Chris Mitchell, both Laurels; Emerson; Juanece Savage and Karen Merrill, both Mia Mads; Paul, Louise Wilson and Marie Wilson, both Laurels; Rupert Third; JoAnn Nielson, Laurel; Rupert Fourth; Marylee Bingham, Rilda Phillips, Kristi Lynn Beazer and Vicki Lynn Anderson, all Laurels; Rupert Fifth; Betty Jeanne Spaulding and Ruth Jensen Christensen, both Leaders; Rupert Fifth, and Eileen Maughan and Angela Son, both Mia Mads, Paul Second Ward. The awards were presented by Mert Mortenson, stake camp leader.

Chairmen of the reception were Francine Condie, general; Mildred Thain, Susan Rasmussen and Deon Hunsaker, decorations; Patti Christensen, programs; Arlene Koyle, serving; and Alice Donner, name tags.

500 Persons Attend Cassia East Stake Centennial Ball

DECLO — The Declo LDS Cultural Hall was the scene of the Cassia East Stake Centennial Ball which attracted nearly 500 guests to the occasion which honored the anniversary of the Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association.

Drapes of white and red decorated the hall, creating a false ceiling, which was accented by gold tassels. Silhouettes of the six presidents of the organization were etched in black on red and white backgrounds and depicted the era which each lady served.

Mrs. Laureen Walters, stake president of the YWMA, was in charge of the six-tiered cake which featured a base consisting of six round cakes, each with a miniature-old fashioned girls placed on it. The colors of gold and white were carried out in the cake decorations of chrysanthemums, lilies and roses. The numerals, "100," were placed on the top layer and encircled with white net. The cake was placed on an oval table covered with white lace over yellow satin.

Bishop Joseph Preston of the Declo Ward purchased the Centennial quilt which was auctioned off during intermission by Orville Sears.

Mrs. Walters introduced the stake board officers and teachers and presented each a corsage. Those honored were Irene Phillips, Nola Asher, Myrtle Miller, Grace Durfee, Selena Danner, Carol Manning, Hazel Beecher, Harte Woodland, Josephine Nedd, Joyce Ward, Karen Koyle, Edith Dunn, Loucille Darrington and Meria Bell.

Dances beginning in the 1880 period to the present time were demonstrated by members of the stake, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bell, stake dance directors.

Refreshments were served by stake officers and leaders.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have an older sister who is married and has three school-age children. When this sister wants to take weekend trip with her husband (recently they took off for a month), she just calls "Good Old Mom" to come and stay with her kids, and Mom nearly breaks her neck getting there. Afterwards, "Good Old Mom" complains to all her friends and relatives about how impossible the kids are to handle, how hard she's worked, and how she'll never do it again.

Well, I'm sure Mom is telling the truth, but just let Sis whistle, and "Good Old Mom" is right back there again. This has been going on for five years. What should I say to "Good Old Mom" when she complains to me? I've thought of some choice phrases, but I'm chicken.

YOUNGER SIS

DEAR SIS: Tell "Good Old Mom" that if she wants to sit, stand, or roll over for Big Sis, it's O. K. with you. But her whining about it is becoming tiresome.

DEAR ABBY: I wish to goodness you would settle this running argument we have been having at our house for a long time. Our children (ages 14, 15 and 17) claim that they study better with all kinds of racket going on around them. One has the stereo going full blast, the other one sits in front of the television set (studying) and the other has a rock and roll station tuned in loud enough to bust your ear drums. They all say it doesn't bother them and they can study just fine in that atmosphere.

Holy smokes, when I was a kid I couldn't even study in the same room with our big grandfather clock. The noise of the ticking interfered with my concentration! I'd like your opinion.

GENERATION GAP

DEAR GAP: I suppose it's possible to become so accustomed to noise that one is able to "tune it out," but if you send me your kid's grades I'll be able to give you a better answer.

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I had an operation, at which time my doctor gave a nurse orders to write down everything I said while I was under the anesthetic. I talked plenty and said a lot of things I don't want anyone to know.

I have asked him repeatedly to destroy the report, but he

Magic Valley Favorites

Week's Recipe Winner
MRS. REX WOOD
Box 79, Hazelton

Individual Christmas Logs
What you do is bake ordinary cake mix batter in single-serving-size juice cans; hollow out the cakes and fill them; then frost and decorate with candied fruit.

Assemble 14 of the 6 ounce metal cans. Wash and dry, then grease and dust with flour. Arrange an inch apart on a baking sheet. Prepare batter from one package (about 1 pound two ounces) regular chocolate cake mix as directed. Pour into prepared cans, filling half way. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 minutes or until a pick comes out clean.

Cool cakes 10 minutes. Slip knife around sides and remove cakes to racks. Cool thoroughly. Then hollow out a 1/2-inch-diameter core through center of each cake. Use a grapefruit knife to cut halfway through from one end and then the other.

For filling, whip one cup heavy cream until stiff and stir in 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar. Transfer to pastry bag. Force cream into cakes from each end. Frost lengthwise with mocha buttercream. Score with fork. Decorate each cake with half a candied cherry and bits of green candied pineapple. Cover and chill up to a day. Serves 14.

Mocha Buttercream Frosting
Mix together one-half cup soft butter, three cups sifted powdered sugar, two teaspoons instant coffee powder, three tablespoons sweet ground chocolate and one tablespoon milk. Beat until smooth and fluffy.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites.

If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR DR. THOMAS O. PAINE,
Director, NASA

By what procedure was Neil Armstrong chosen to be the first man to walk on the moon?—Mrs. Nada V. Daunch, Painesville, Ohio

● According to Astronaut Armstrong, he was in the right place at the right time. Actually he was selected in the same manner as all crews for space flights. The Manned Spacecraft Center recommends crews for each mission, and that recommendation must be approved by its director, Robert Gilruth, and finally by myself.

FOR MILT WOODARD,

Commissioner,
American Football League

In pro football, why isn't the pre-game coin toss done on the field instead of having a re-enactment?—Bob Nelson, Bloomington Ind.

● The coin is tossed 30 minutes before scheduled game time in order to provide special-kicking-and-receiving teams with the opportunity to prepare for the opening plays.

FOR JEAN SHRIMPTON,
high-fashion model

Do you believe beautiful women who say they don't mind growing older?—D. M., Lancaster, Pa.

● Any beautiful woman who says she doesn't mind growing older is lying.

FOR JOHN UNITAS, Baltimore Colts

I heard that you played football for $5 a game before you were discovered by the pros. True?—Jim Crane, Cumberland, Md.

● $6, with a Pittsburgh semi-pro team.

FOR GEORGE P. CRESSMAN,

Director,
U.S. Weather Bureau

When, where, and what have been the two extremes of temperatures in the U.S.?—Irene Rohr, Devils Lake, N.D.

● The official highest temperature is 134 degrees at Death Valley, Calif., on July 10, 1913. The official lowest was a minus 76 degrees at Tannana, Alaska, in January, 1886. Actual day is not known.

FOR BARBARA WALTERS

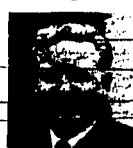

of the "Today" Show

How far in advance are books given to you to read before you interview the author? Have you taken speed-reading courses?—Mrs. Carolyn Robinson, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● A week to 10 days in advance. No, but I do read fairly quickly.

FOR JOSEPH BELL,

associate curator of birds,
The Bronx (N.Y.) Zoo

Why does the Arctic tern migrate to the Antarctic?—Conrad Fiorello, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● It is because of this species' long evolutionary development in adapting to the earth's physical and climatic changes. The Arctic tern breeds at higher northern latitudes than any other bird. Scientific studies have indicated that the farther north a bird travels to nest, the farther south it travels to spend the winter.

FOR STANLEY RESOR,

Secretary of the Army

What is the history of the horse with the empty saddle and upturned boots seen at certain military funerals? Is this honor given only to former cavalry officers?—Frank P. Ferment, Leavenworth, Kan.

● It is given to a President, a general officer, and a field artillery officer. The tradition dates back many centuries. In ancient civilizations, a warrior's horse was often sacrificed at his funeral. It symbolized that the deceased had fallen as a warrior and would ride no more.

FOR THE REV. THEODORE HESBURGH,

President,
Notre Dame University

What architect designed your famous Golden Dome?—Delbert Laiceps, Burien, Washington

● W. J. Edbrooks of Chicago.

Dan Wakefield, author of the best-selling "Supernation at Peace and War," suggests that the popular song, "Get Together," is a "far better expression of today's patriotism among the young of America than the antiquated 'Star-Spangled Banner.'" NOW! STRETCH YOUR WAY TO A BEAUTIFUL BODY in exactly TWO utterly delicious minutes a day!

Yes, here is a revolutionary new way to coax startling new health and beauty out of your body—WITHOUT EXERCISE AND WITHOUT A DIET! It is called CONTROLLED STRETCHING. It requires absolutely no effort. It takes approximately one to two luxurious minutes a day. And this page is packed with proof that it has already:

- Reduced the waistlines of trained athletes up to three inches without a diet.
- Built marvelous new energy and endurance into the legs and lumps of professional ballet dancers.
- Been used by doctors all over the world to relieve the agonizing pain of poor posture, spinal curvature, and arthritis of the arms and legs.
- Relaxed drug addicts (who were trying to break the drug habit) so completely that they had their first full night's sleep in months . . . and relaxed ordinary men and women (who were trying to break the cigarette habit) so remarkably that it is now used as a suggested part of an American Cancer Society Publication.
- Been praised by Harper's Bazaar and over fifty other leading publications, as "Freeing you like a bird from the prison of your tensions, and providing liberating new beauty for your body . . . almost magically renew the body's energy, create inner calm, and induce sound sleep . . . what's more, they never tax the heart, always tighten and free the muscles . . ."

All This From A System Of Single, Relaxing Movements (Never Repeated), That Are As Different From Exercise As A Feather Is From a Sledge Hammer!

Once again, at the very beginning, you must understand that this completely revolutionary method:

- Is not exercise.
- Requires only seconds to do.
- Does not in any way make muscles sore.
- Is completely safe.
- May be done by people of all ages.
- Is non-fatiguing (instead, it refreshes and renews all energies).
- Automatically regulates appetite, so you want to eat when (This has been proven in prisons, where boredom is extreme and where eating is one of the only forms of gratification. Even here, in this almost "impossible" situation, these stretches cut down appetite, and food consumption, in days.)

How Do They Do This? THE SAME WAY A CAT DOES! By Working WITH Nature, Instead Of Against It!

And all these benefits are gained without exercise, without repetition, without boredom, without stress or strain of any kind.

They are accomplished—instantly—by doing with your body, consciously what an ordinary house cat does instinctively every single day of his life.

Think about it for a moment. No cat—no tiger—no other animal but man ever exercises! Yet only one human being out of a thousand is as slim, as sleek, as credibly powerful as any caged tiger in a zoo is all his life.

Why? How do tigers and other cats, for example, KEEP that youth, power, slimness all their lives? By using nothing more than a few instinctive CONTROLLED STRETCHES every single day. (Watch any household cat yourself; the secret is there, if you will only look at it.)

Now, what do these instinctive stretches DO for the cat? These three vitally important things:

- 1) They extend the essential "Drive-Muscles" of his four limbs to their full length. Thus, they automatically tighten and strengthen them.
- 2) They involuntarily — without his even being aware of it — draw in and harden up the muscles of his abdomen and buttocks.

And 3) They straighten and strengthen his entire spinal cord — all in one effortless movement.

No wonder he purrs in delight. And so will you—once you adapt these effortless stretches to remodel your body, in exactly list me as one of your supporters.

—Ethan Allen Browne, Boston, Mass.
From a pamphlet distributed by the Anti-Smoking Clinic, New York Hospital.

Contrary to familiar exercises, these movements are done with gentleness. This gentleness and tender care enables the performer to ease into each movement. This naturality creates a minimum of exertion with a maximum return for the effort.

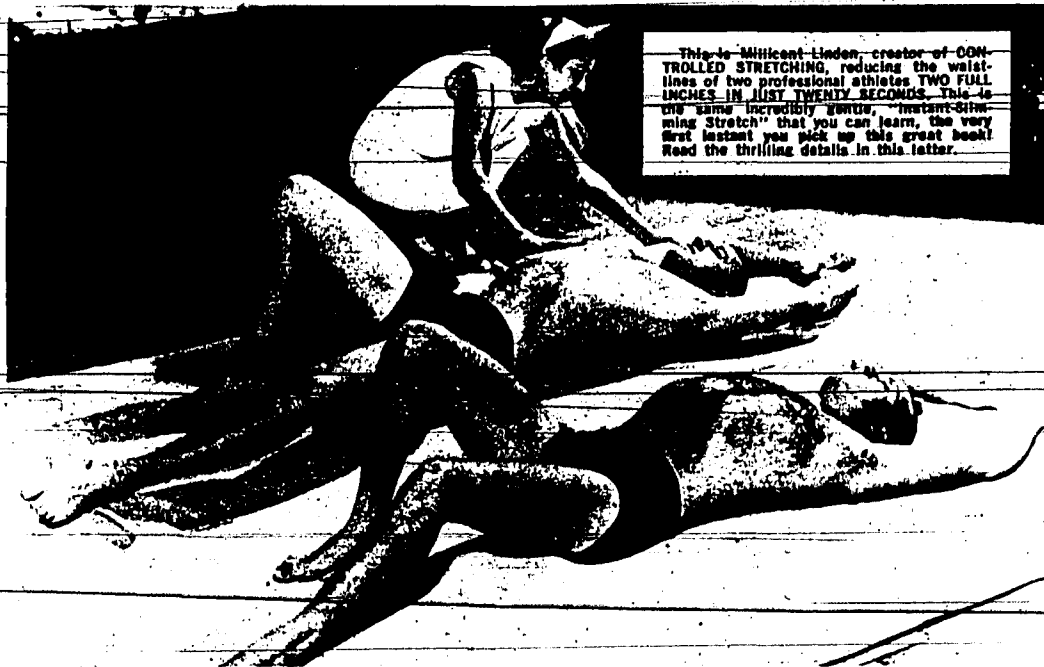

The movements are easy and simple. Each stretch is done but once.

The purpose of these exercises is to relax the body without lethargy, to trim the waistline and keep it trim, to tone up the abdominal muscles, to stand straighter without further effort, to feel buoyant.

Here's What HARPER'S BAZAAR Says:

"Frees you like a bird from the prison of your tensions, and provides liberating new beauty for the body . . . How can anything so relaxing and pleasant work such wonders? But it does! These natural, deep-breathing, tension-dissipating, movements do almost magically renew the body's energy, create inner calm and induce sound sleep."

—M. Oliver, M.C.S.P., chartered physiotherapist Capetown, So. Africa
"I personally have done almost all the movements and find them exactly as you have described. Please

This is Millicent Linden, creator of CONTROLLED STRETCHING, reducing the waistlines of two professional athletes TWO FULL INCHES IN JUST TWENTY SECONDS. This is the same incredibly gentle, instant-glimmering stretch that you can learn, the very first instant you pick up this great book! Read the thrilling details in this letter.

TWO incredibly relaxing and luxurious minutes every day. Like this—

You Have Only To Breathe To Be Able To Do Them!

Let us repeat this vital fact again: The five or six simple stretches you are about to test in your own home—entirely at our risk—have already been proven by doctors . . . by ballet dancers . . . by drug addicts . . . by ministers . . . by police athletic instructors . . . by prisoners . . . by West Point cadets. Their benefits are universal! They are a whole new world of physical well-being and physical beauty—without exercise and without diet!

We can tell these facts to you here, over and over again. But it is only when you actually FEEL the first stretch—FEEL its effortless energy and power flowing through your body—that you will understand WHY it has changed so many people's lives.

What does this stretch (and all the others) require? Nothing! No special equipment. No special clothes. No more space than your own body. And above all—no athletic skill, no strength. No endurance.

All you need to do to perform it is sit down. Then make one simple movement with your entire body to flow forward for five delicious seconds like a ballet dancer. And then relax.

That's all there is to it. That's all you do. But the feeling inside your body will be incredible! Because all kinds of beautiful changes will take place—automatically—inside your body—that were always, before today, completely beyond your control.

For example—

Automatically Correct Body Faults That Have Plagued You For Years. Automatically Unlock "Tension-Centers"

That Drain Away Strength From Your Body Today Even While You Sleep!

The first thing you will notice is this: That in the stretch (as in all the others) certain muscles of your body will automatically contract.

Your abdomen, for example, will keep falling in toward your spine. It will contract; you will not force it to contract. You may not, at first, even FEEL it contract.

But your mirror (and please do these stretches at first in front of the largest mirror you have in your house) your mirror will tell you instantly that inches are gone in that very first stretch. And that they STAY OFF longer and longer as one delicious day leads into the next!

Do Them For Your Back. Do Them For Your Hips. Do Them For Your Entire Body. But Most Of All, DO THEM FOR THE SHEER PLEASURE THEY GIVE YOU!

But there is far more, in the same exact stretch, other muscles automatically expand.

Your chest, for example, automatically billows out as though you had set off a hidden pump inside it. Involuntarily, you find yourself breathing deeper than you have in years . . . filling your lungs with air . . . sending rich, nourishing oxygen coursing through every single cell in your body.

(You FEEL that oxygen instantly in your brain, it has dramatic effects: A momentary light-headedness—almost auto-intoxication . . . then the marvelous heightening of all the senses . . . and then a delicious "floating feeling," as tension-knots throughout the body begin to loosen up, and then ultimately dissolve.)

Exercise Bath

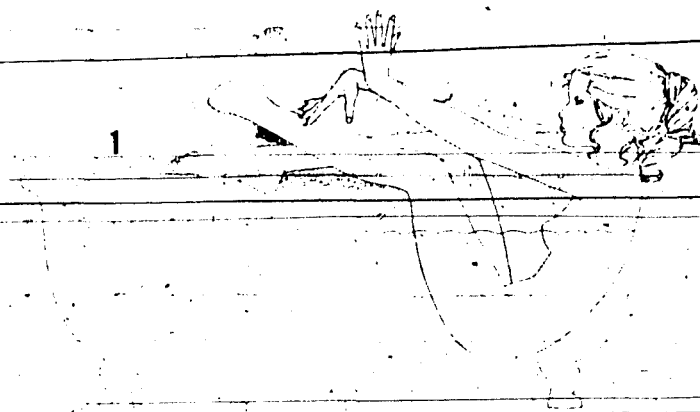

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

NEXT TO exercising in bed, one of the easiest and most enjoyable spots to practice physical fitness is in your daily bath!

To prove it, we asked internationally famed exercise master Nicholas Kounovsky to devise three of the most beneficial routines he could. According to Kounovsky, "The water is our friend; it gives us a lift by its density, makes us very light, helps clean our pores and relax us, and, by its comfortably warm temperature, gives our circulation a boost."

Can you think of a better set of incentives to begin the illustrated exercises today?

For Lower Legs and Feet As a warm-up (not illustrated), begin by comfortably leaning against back of tub, knees casually bent. Point toes of one foot, then alternate with the other foot, raising and lowering from the ankle. Do the same with your hands simultaneously, about six times. Keep limbs submerged in water. ● Now assume the same leaning position [as in illustration 1] but do the exercise above the water, spreading the toes and hands as you work. Then in the same position finish exercise with a rotating motion. Do this about 10 times. ● Benefits: relieves stiffness in lower legs; firms flesh and tones muscles; promotes circulation; helps prevent future muscle spasms.

For Better Posture As a preliminary to the exercise, sit in tub with legs straight, arms thrust upward. Lean forward and twist your spine gently, first to one side, then the other, as you stretch; head up, back straight. Practice about six times or more.

● Now for the actual exercise [as in illustration 2]: leaning forward from the waist as much as you can without strain, legs straight, slowly bend one arm to reach the center of upper back or beyond. (As you progress in leaning forward, more and more of your body will be immersed in water). Do this with each arm, alternating six to 10 times. ● Benefits: relieves tension that so often concentrates in upper back and enhances posture.

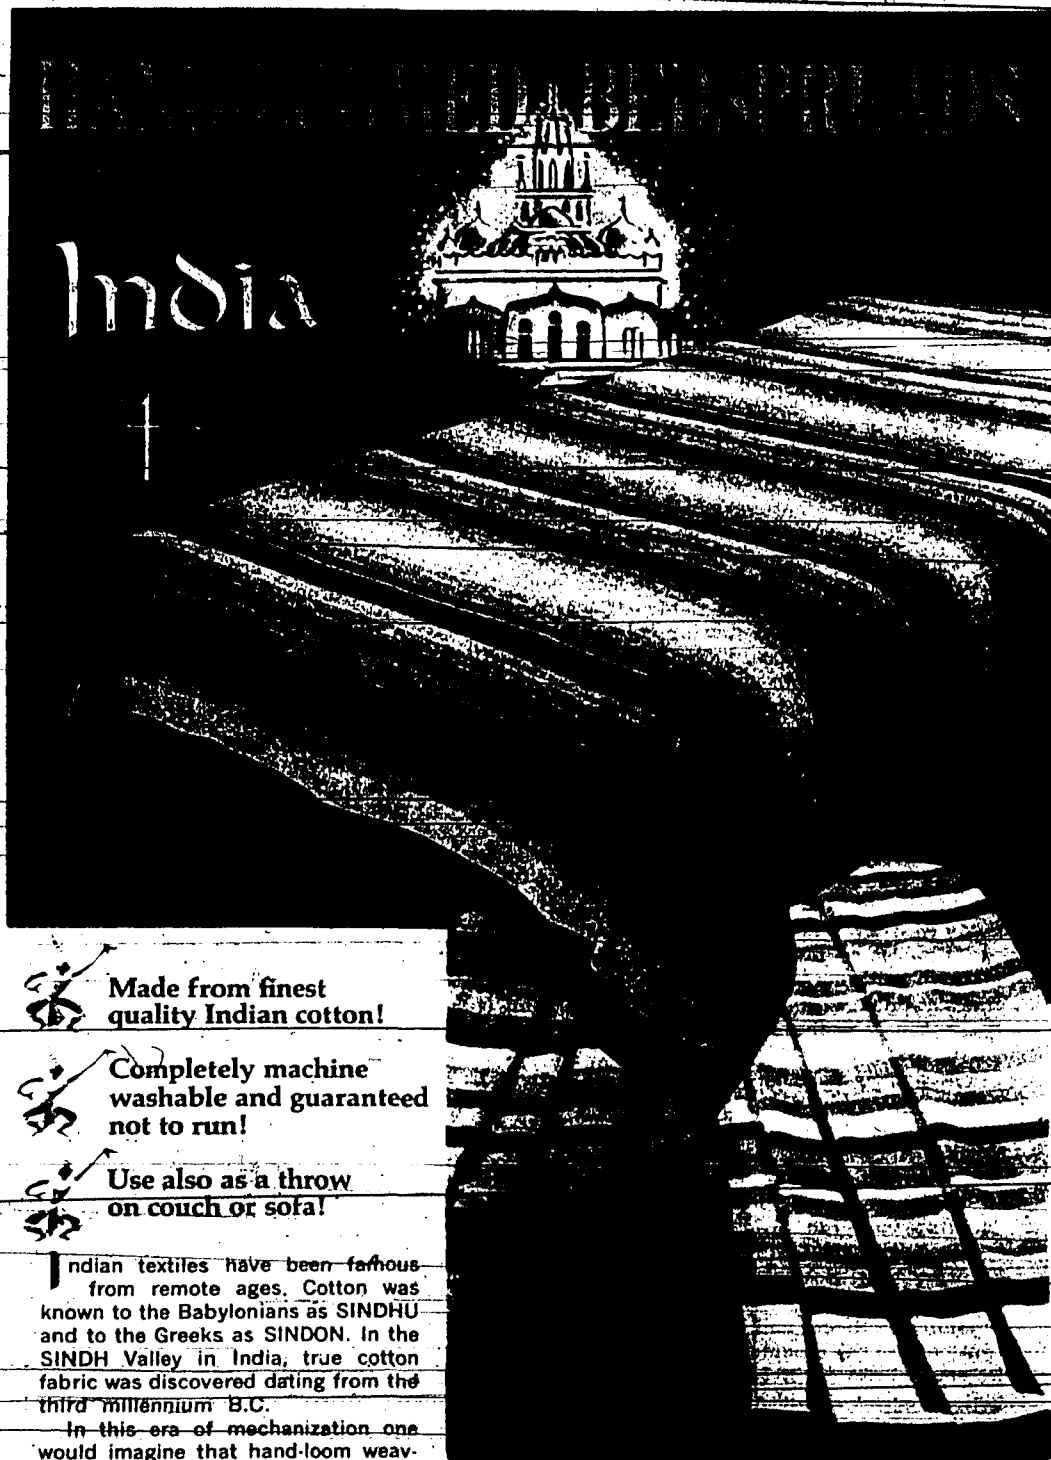

For Abdomen and Waistline To learn to balance yourself, begin in sitting position; lean back, hands resting on tub bottom, head up. Slowly flex the knees, then extend them, sliding along the bottom of tub and raising legs. Do this several times to limber up.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY THEA KLIROS

● Now get into a sitting position [as in illustration 3], with arms and legs extended straight. Slowly flex the knees to chest with feet lifted off the bottom of the tub. Hold position to the count of six. ● Benefits: trims abdomen and waistline; develops a stronger, natural "girdle."

Indian textiles have been famous from remote ages. Cotton was known to the Babylonians as SINDHU and to the Greeks as SINDON. In the SINDH Valley in India, true cotton fabric was discovered dating from the third millennium B.C.

In this era of mechanization one would imagine that hand-loom weaving would have become another lost art. To the contrary, the most sophisticated textile machinery we have cannot reproduce the magnificent effects which are made on hand looms.

In the interior of India there is a village in one of the oldest states of India. This village is near Agra, the site of the Taj Mahal.

In this village for untold generations the master craftsmen have applied their skills and techniques in developing these magnificent bedspreads. Through constant experimentation with colored yarn, in the combining of different colored yarns twisted together to give an ethereal iridescent effect, they have been able to produce striping of rare beauty.

Dolls—The Childhood Friends

On Christmas, millions of children will receive dolls; this famous novelist tells how her collection has enriched her life

By FRANCES PARKINSON KEYES

Author of "The Heritage" and "I, The King"

I CANNOT remember a time in my life when I was not interested in dolls.

They must have been among my first playthings, as they are of most little girls; but I think I took them more seriously than many small children do. I regarded them not only as playthings but as charges—and companions.

In caring for my dolls, I began very early to imitate the routine which I myself was accustomed to follow. In the morning, they had their hair combed; they were washed and dressed. Later, they were put down for naps; at night they were undressed and put to bed.

Like myself, the dolls had suitable beds, bureaux, and washstands. I learned to sew by making their clothes—that is, I made their underclothes and everyday clothes. Their best clothes were made, as a special favor, by my mother's dressmakers from leftover scraps of her dresses and, as my mother was a very elegantly clad lady, these dolls' clothes were elegant, too.

My mother was not only a devotee of fashion, she was also an inveterate traveler, and she took me with her wherever she went. This means that she also took with her at least one doll. And if there was only one taken, it was always my favorite, Carol.

The doll or dolls had suitable luggage, which in those days were trunks; a sort of dressing case known as a "Victorian bottle-bag"; and a "shawl strap." All well-equipped ladies traveled with a lap robe, which was neatly rolled and confined in the shawl strap, provided with a handle to facilitate carrying.

The first shopping I did for my dolls was at Schwarz's in Boston, where their every need could be provided. It was then on downtown Washington Street and, in horse and buggy days, that meant a considerable trip from Beacon Street, where we lived; but this added to the general sense of adventure. The excitement connected with such shopping became all the greater when we went to Paris and did our doll shopping at the Nain Bleu (Blue Dwarf).

The original idea, my mother's anyway, had been to buy a trinket item for the enlargement of Carol's wardrobe—gloves, shoes, or something of the sort. But this idea was almost immediately expanded to include a new doll. All those I had were of German manufacture, and the French dolls, which naturally were all that the Nain Bleu was displaying, although basically like the German dolls, were dissimilar in several ways.

I did not know that shortly prior to this time, French doll making had undergone an abrupt change for the better. The new dolls, of improved manufacture, were all stamped "Bébé Jumeau"—Jumeau being the name of their originator.

I begged for a Bébé Jumeau doll, completely outfitted in Paris, and my mother indulged me by getting it for me. The new acquisition was named Violet and, like Carol, became my constant companion. But it was not until a few years ago that I realized how very rare and valuable dolls with that trademark had become and that I had unconsciously acquired a collector's item at the age of nine!

I continued to play with my dolls until I found that I was in danger of making them—and myself—a laughing stock unless I kept them more or less out of sight. But when I married, I carefully transported them and their equipment from my mother's house, the Oxbow in Newbury, Vt., to my husband's at Pine Grove Farm, North Haverhill, N.H.

Since I was only 18, the time gap between playing with dolls myself and when they would be given to future daughters was, presumably, not a great one. The presumption was in vain: I had three sons but no daughters.

However, my husband had a small niece who spent a good deal of time at Pine Grove Farm and, as a source of possible diversion for her in an establishment devoid of toys, a doll house which had belonged to her late mother had been brought from Boston.

My newly acquired niece, as it turned out, was not much interested in the Victorian doll house, but I was fascinated by it. A real doll house was almost the only item of doll-dom I had never possessed. A bookcase, emptied of its normal contents and fitted with odds and ends of tiny furniture, haphazardly assembled, had served the needs of my smaller dolls.

In Panama I received a doll wearing native pollera.

Now I was old enough to appreciate the difference between a converted bookcase and a building, which was, in miniature, the sort of residence already becoming a period piece. I recognized its importance, not as a plaything any more, but as the example of a vanishing way of life. This recognition grew with the years, when my niece died and the doll house became my property.

I did not think about becoming a doll collector until some years after acquiring the Bébé Jumeau. The recognition eventually came about in a pleasant and natural way.

During one of my first stops in a round-the-world trip, I was delightfully entertained in Panama City, Panama, by a lovely lady named Señora Beatriz Alfaro de Lyons. As I drank rich Spanish chocolate and ate Panamanian cakes at her house, I saw for the first time the pollera, the enchanting carnival costume of Panama, adapted from the court dress of Isabella II of Spain. It was an elaborate dress of fine embroidered muslin, with wide lace-edged ruffles on the full skirt and a wide, lace-trimmed bertha outlining a low-cut bodice worn with a cadena carta (a flat chain) of flexible unalloyed gold, finished with either a gold cross or a gold fish (an early symbol of Christianity), and with jewelled hair ornaments arranged in pairs.

I did not know then that it was bad manners to admire openly anything in a Latin house. Such admiration is interpreted as a veiled hint for a gift of the article in question; and I was outspoken in my enthusiasm for the pollera. With admirable tact, Señora de Lyons dealt with the situation.

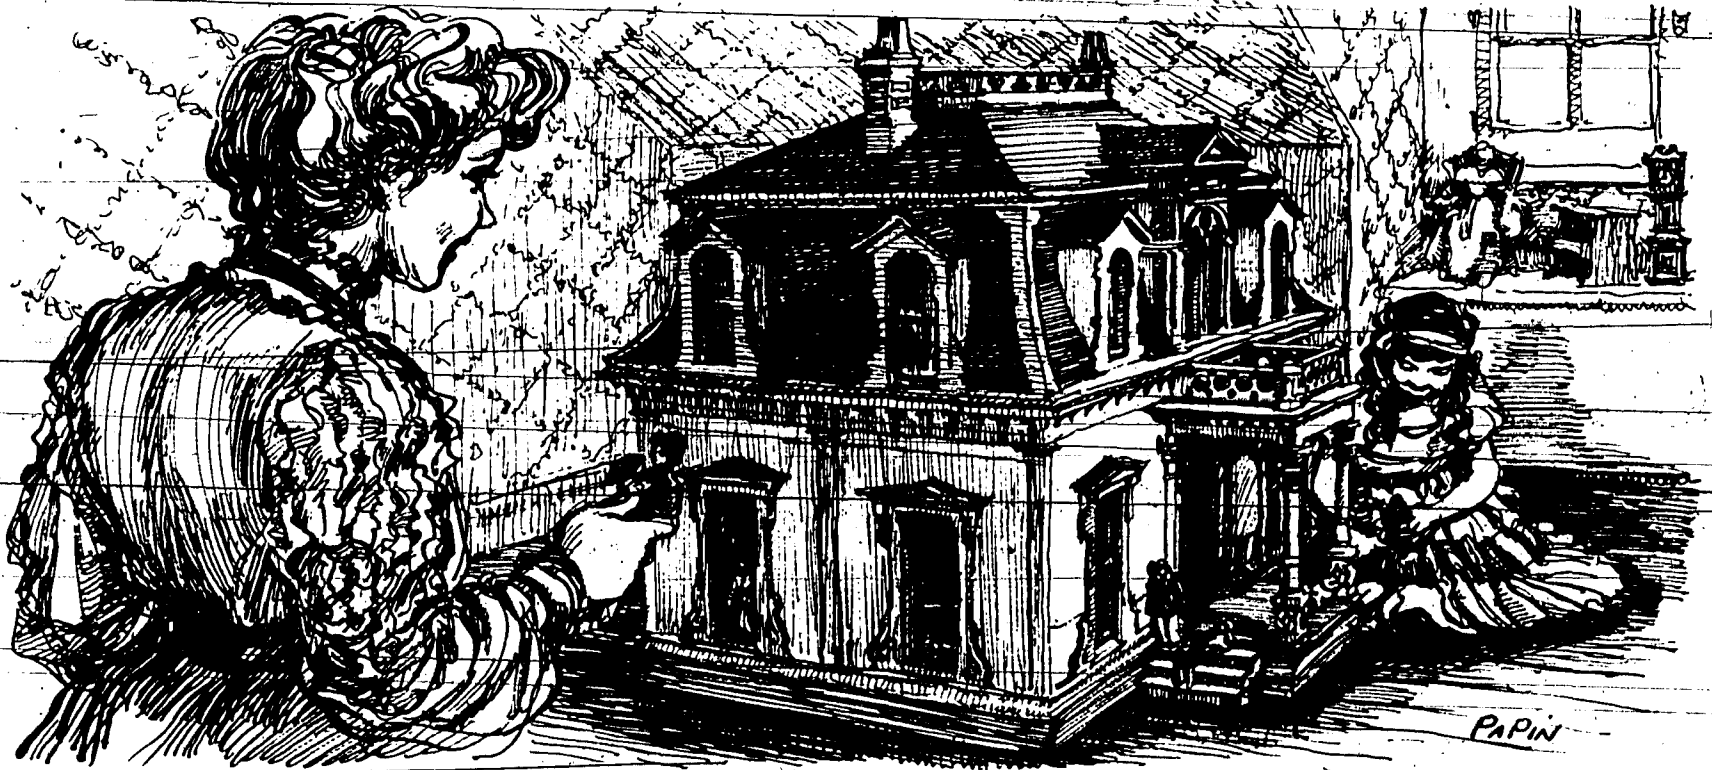

"Let me give you a doll wearing our carnival costume," she said graciously. "I will dress her for you myself, and then I shall know she is correct in every detail."

I had already started a collection of fans at the suggestion of the Hon. Horace Mann Towner, then governor of Puerto Rico, who had pointed out how easily they could be made part of a traveler's luggage and how many pleasant memories they were bound to refresh. Now I quickly saw that a collection of dolls would answer a similar purpose.

I already had a few dolls in foreign costume, for that memorable stay in Paris had been followed by months in Switzerland and Italy, and I had dolls from both countries. They were to be carefully put on the third floor of Pine Grove Farm with the doll house and Carol and Violet—and now Beatriz, named for the donor of my new treasure.

But considering how many countries I was now going to visit, how many additions I could make! And how much I should enjoy, on my return home, arranging them in suitable cabinets, placed where my friends could enjoy them with me!

Outstanding among the other dolls that were added to the collection during that trip around the world was one representing a Japanese bride, her kimono embroidered in cherry blossoms, her obi stiff with gold thread, her elaborate head-dress banded in scarlet silk. A beautiful Chinese bride was given me later; and other brides, acquired in the course of other travels, include a gaily dressed Syrian, but darkly veiled, her dowry in a circlet of small gold pieces; and an American Indian bride, clad entirely in doeskin.

But the bride which has proved to be a major attraction of the collection was not the product of travel but of a true love story of the Civil War, which I had heard and asked permission to fictionize under the title of "The Dixie Doll."

It was published in a magazine and resulted in an enormous amount of fan mail. One of the letters came from Miss Helen Walter of Staunton, Va., then among the foremost authorities on dolls in the United States, and a creator as well as a collector. She asked for permission to dress a doll, according to her interpretation of my creation, in the bridal costume of the Civil War period. The consequence was a Dixie Doll, which eventually acquired a bridesmaid, a flower girl, and a mother, all of whom were appropriately dressed and affectionately regarded by many persons besides myself.

A few years later, I went to Lourdes and Nevers to write a biography of St. Bernadette, and again it seemed natural to acquire a doll dressed in the habit of the Congrégation des Soeurs de la Charité.

In like measure, since my work took me to Louisiana, it has been natural for that inexhaustible source of history and romance to provide me with dolls typical of different parts of the state: a "casquette" girl; an Acadian doll, symbolized by Evangeline; a Creole widow wedded to perpetual mourning; a doll with the full striped skirt of rich silk and sheer muslin-bodice which was the favorite costume of many early elegant Creoles; most of all, of course, the Carnival queens and princesses in gorgeous array.

I do not pretend to be an authority on dolls; my collection—nearly 200 dolls—is the outcome of my own way of life, my home, my travels, and my writing and is a pleasant complement to all three. But I have learned from it, rather than myself endowing it with knowledge.

I have spent comparatively little money on it and, as far as I know, there are only a few dolls in it which have much monetary value, though the doll house, now 100 years old, probably has more than any individual doll—except, of course, the Bébé Jumeau.

I think that almost any girl could start a similar collection. It is not even necessary to travel far and wide to have one that is varied and interesting, as friends and relatives are almost sure to help.

Last year, I received two little Eskimos, whose furs were really beautiful; and my latest additions—birthday presents—are two delightful little Indians from New Mexico and a charming little Amish maiden from Pennsylvania! ♦

Snowmobiles

By JAMES JOSEPH

SNOWMOBILING—just celebrating its first full decade—is snowballing as a winter family sport. Parents and kids are getting in on the fun of dashing through the snow on a 40-horsepower open sleigh.

Dubbed the snowmobile, the winter vehicle is fitted with steering skis and powered by wide, rubber tracks that give it a remarkable "floatation" over deepest snow. It takes to snowdrifts like boats to water. Some snowmobile owners call their speedy little transports "snowboats." They zip along at up to 50 mph and are fitted out with 10- to 40-hp motors. And their versatility is almost unlimited in snow-belt regions.

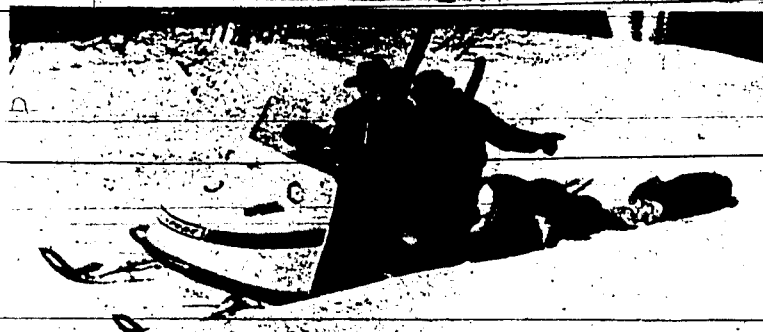

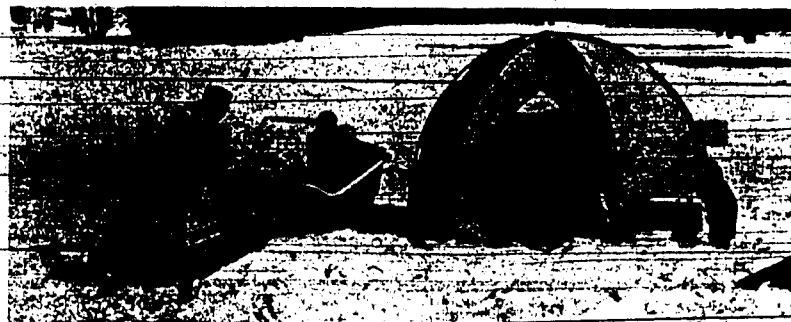

If you're a snowmobiler, you can go on winter picnics, snow camping (and pitch little shelters especially made to be towed by a snowmobile), ice fishing, mobile skiing, and trail riding. Even snowfaris have been organized by enthusiasts of the sport.

The snowmobile was the brain child of a Canadian mechanics wizard, Joseph-Armand Bombardier. His first practical over-snow vehicle—the "Bombardier Snowmobile" was a heavy, buslike half-track designed for more practical purposes such as putting loggers into the winter woods and oilmen into the Canadian arctic.

Not until 1959 did Bombardier build his first lightweight, low-cost, sports model—the Ski-Doo. Though sized down, today's fun vehicles have all the snow savvy of their predecessors. Now more than 40 United States and Canadian snowmobile Mercury's 1970 line includes a towable sleigh—safe and snug fun for family's tots.

Winter camping is fun and games with snug shelter easily towed behind Johnson's Skee-Horse snowmobile.

a Boon to Family Fun

Motorized sleighs used to be for Northern adventurers—now, with lower prices and easier handling, they're for Mom, Dad, and the kids makers have just rolled out their 1970 models. Here's what's new—on the family snow scene:

More budget-priced ($500-$995) snowmobiles are being offered. Candidly, snowmobile makers hope to lure you and your family into winter's wonderland—and reach their goal of 1,000,000 snowmobiles in family use before the winter's end.

You can select from dozens of speedy (35-50 mph), two-passenger economy models. Most are powered by husky, 10- to 25-hp, 1-cylinder engines and are manually started. More expensive, heavier machines generally are battery started, just like your car, and go with more powerful (up to 40 hp) 2-cylinder engines. But this season's budget models, like the more posh, feature sleeker styling, better "flotation" (the trend is toward wider steering skis and tracks), easier starting—and are hushed by more efficient engine muffling.

Six of Bombardier Ltd.'s 15 new Ski-Doo models are priced under $1,000. Included is the Ski-Doo 127S—a full-sized, two-passenger snow runabout, powered with a 12-hp motor that boasts most of the ruggedness of the more expensive Ski-Doo clan. Price: $695.

If you want compact fun in a snowmobile compact, there's the super-economy Sno-Pony. ($499.95 f.o.b. Minneapolis), whose 15-inch wide single-track, automatic transmission (warranted for one year), and 10-hp engine give it highly rugged snowmobility.

Kiekhaefer Mercury's 1970 snowmobile line includes a towable sleigh, just perfect for the youngest members of the family, who can breeze across the snow with ease and safety.

Ready for Christmas... pie crust so flaky a thread passes through the layers.

Today Betty Crocker announces new, improved Pie Crust Sticks that give you crust as flaky as old-fashioned scratch.

Old-time crusts had extra shortening for extra flakiness. So Betty Crocker added a higher percentage of shortening—16% more than any other sticks. Even more than today's scratch recipes. 'Tis the season to bake flaky.

New, improved Betty Crocker Sticks or Mix

Evinrude's Bobcat, new this season with a 2-cylinder, 25-hp engine, attains speeds of more than 50 mph, carries two adults, and can pull a couple of skiers (price: $995). It can also easily pull three or four children (or two adults) in a very rugged towable sleigh ($140).

At the other end of this season's snowmobile spectrum are the luxury fast-tracks: go-go snowmobiles that can junket the whole family at top speeds—and win their share of neighborhood races. Prices vary—up to $1,600—depending on optional equipment.

Polaris' high-performance TX-Colt has a wide, 20-inch track, an optional super-big engine, and special suspension that flexes a full six inches under high-speed stress.

An all new 25-hp, "Light-Trac" snowmobile highlights the '70 line of Skee-Horse vehicles from Johnson Motors. The models have tubular bumpers, dual headlights, distortion-proof windshields, and convenience-control panel.

The Ariens Arrow 440SS comes with a rally windshield, wood-grained dashboard (chock-full of instruments), twin sealed-beam headlights—and all the rally and racing extras you care (or can afford) to add to it.

Optional equipment runs the gamut from "hot" racing carburetors and tinted windshields to wheel kits that convert your snowmobile to an overland summer vehicle.

For snow campers or ice fishermen, there's a snug, family-sized shelter (Sno-Camper) which is designed to be towed behind your snowmobile. Super-insulated and warmed by a small space heater, it provides shirt-sleeve comfort, even at sub-zero.

If you plan to track over ice or cruise a lake's frozen surface, you can add a Sno-Sled Stabilizer that fits your snowmobile's rear bumper and eliminates fish-tailing or skidding on ice or hard snow surfaces.

And to transport your snowmobile where the action is, there are dozens of low-cost snowmobile trailers that hitch to the family car.

At least one innovation—Sno-Jet's unique safety "name-dropper" track—blazes a trail which can be followed. As you go, the track imprints the machine's trade name and directional arrows in the snow—indelibly (until the next snowfall or thaw at least) marking your route.

Plain or fancy, expensive or economical, the snowmobile is finding its way into the winter lineup of family-fun fare. ♦

SUSAN CLARK:

Mod Girl in an Old-Fashioned Way

SUSAN CLARK is an actress who has starred in six films—yet still is worried by the curse of a rising young actress.

The curse is that critics still don't refer to her as Susan Clark but as "another Deborah Kerr," "another Barbara Stanwyck," even "another Joan Crawford."

"I really dislike being compared with anyone," she told me, "but if I had to pick a model for both my career and private life, I would choose someone like Joanne Woodward. And that's because I, too, want a successful acting career—and a happy married life."

Susan, whose most recent film is "Skulduggery," calls herself a 19th-century romanticist and a "one-man girl." "I don't play around, and I don't like casual affairs. When I was 17 and living in Canada, I fell in love and was engaged for 3½ years. And then again a few months later, I went with another fellow for three years. We almost married."

But her mod-era desire for a career came between, she insisted. But not in the conventional way. He was all for it and dared her to go to Hollywood and accept the long-term contract Universal offered. That was the beginning of the end.

"Not that I wanted to give up acting," she told me. "I consider myself a modern, independent girl. I don't believe women have to be barefoot and pregnant all the time. They should have a career, whatever it is. If they don't, they become dull, and their husbands lose interest."

In Susan's own mind, there never was any doubt that she would become an actress since she played dress-up games with the neighborhood children in plays she wrote, produced, and directed.

She always had a wild imagination. Asked for her name, she'd never say "Susan" but would fabricate some wildly fascinating nomenclature. When her father was out of town on business, usually in a nearby city, she would never say he was in Montreal or Quebec but insist he'd gone to the Yukon or Tibet. And people would smile and say, "What an interesting child!" She loved that.

To look at her now, a tall, well-proportioned young woman with striking auburn hair and clear hazel eyes, it is hard to visualize her as a sickly child. "But I was always painfully aware of it," she says. "Maybe that's why I liked listening to soap operas on the radio, reading a lot, and being in plays. It got me away from a reality I didn't like."

At 12, Susan joined the Toronto Children's Players and a year later started modeling as well. "I never really had any fun. I always envied other children who did. I remained too shy, too inhibited. I felt I would never become an actress if I stayed in Canada because I was afraid I'd make a fool of myself in front of the people I knew. I had to get away to where nobody knew me." And so she went to England and enrolled at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts, then appeared in tv and repertory productions.

When her father died in 1964, Susan hurried home for what she thought would be a short time, but appendicitis as well as her depleted pocketbook delayed her return to England. She concentrated on tv shows in Canada. Eighteen months after her return home, a Universal Pictures' talent scout saw her and offered her a long-term contract.

"I was caught in a predicament. By that time, I'd been away from the English scene 18 months, which meant I had to re-establish myself again. I also had a fiancé in Canada. Should I stay? Go back to England? Or try Hollywood? My fiancé insisted I'd never know if I could succeed in films unless I tried. So I went to Hollywood and Universal."

Her first film, "Banning," was a disappointment. "I couldn't leave Hollywood fast enough," Susan says. But no sooner had she arrived in England than she was notified that her option had been picked up.

Now, Susan would like to change her exclusive contract with Universal to allow her to make outside pictures as well. The studio, considering her their hottest property, will object. We'll soon see whether she can keep her cool when career conflict is involved.

If she does, other young actresses may soon find themselves being compared with one Susan Clark.

■ Perhaps many of us best remember those holiday gifts which were prepared in a friend's kitchen and presented to us with so much love and joy. As you make up your gift list, note "something baked" alongside the names of special friends. There will be much fun and excitement as well as rewarding satisfaction for you when planning gifts around preholiday baking. Surely these gifts will be among those best-remembered and best-loved by friends.

Steamed Walnut Cranberry Pudding

- 1½ cups walnuts, finely chopped
- 1½ cups whole raw cranberries, rinsed and sorted
- ½ cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg or ground mace
- 1 cup granulated sugar (half brown sugar, if desired)
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- 3 cups soft bread crumbs
- ½ cup milk

1. Cream butter or margarine with the orange peel, salt, and spice. Gradually add the sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, adding in thirds.

2. Resift flour with baking powder; mix in bread crumbs. Stir into creamed mixture along with walnuts, cranberries, and milk.

3. Turn mixture into a well-greased 1½-qt. mold. Grease inside of the tight-fitting lid, and cover. Or tie greased heavy-duty aluminum foil tightly over top of mold. Place on rack in large kettle. Pour in boiling water to no more than one-half of the height of mold. Cover steamer; bring water to boiling, and keep it boiling at all times. Keep water level at one half the height of mold throughout steaming. Steam the pudding 2 hrs.

4. Remove cover and let pudding stand 10 to 20 min. Turn out onto a pedestal plate and garnish (see photo). Serve with Creamy Orange Sauce or your favorite pudding sauce. About 10 servings

Note: If pudding is to be stored several days before serving, unmold onto cooling rack. Let stand until cold. Wrap in aluminum foil and store in cool place. Steam thoroughly before serving (about 1 to 2 hrs.).

Royal Walnut Cookies

- ¼ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- ¼ cup finely chopped candied cherries
- ¼ cup finely chopped candied pineapple
- ¼ cup grated citron

2. Add the sieved egg yolks, beating thoroughly. Mix in ½ cup of the walnuts, then cherries, pineapple, and citron.

3. Stir in enough of the flour to make a stiff dough. Shape dough into rolls 2 to 2½ inches in diameter. Roll each one in the remaining walnuts until well coated.

4. Wrap each roll tightly in aluminum foil and chill until firm enough to slice. (Dough may be stored in freezer.)

5. With a sharp, thin-bladed knife, cut rolls into thin slices and place on lightly greased cookie sheets.

6. Bake in a 300°F. oven 15 min., or until lightly browned.

7. Remove to wire racks to cool thoroughly before storing in air-tight containers or gift wrapping. About 4 doz. cookies

Creamy Orange Sauce

- ½ cup thawed orange juice concentrate
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 2 egg yolks, fork beaten
- 2 tablespoons rum or brandy
- 1 cup whipping cream, chilled

1. Mix orange juice concentrate, sugar, and egg yolks until well blended. Stir in the rum or brandy (vanilla extract may be substituted if desired).

Two-Toned Fruit Cake

- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt

- 2 tablespoons sherry
- 1 cup diced candied pineapple
- 1 cup whole candied cherries
- 2 cups walnuts, coarsely chopped
- 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
- 2 tablespoons boiling water
- 1 cup quartered pitted dates

1. Line a 9x5x3-in. or a 10x4x2-in. loaf pan with a layer of greased brown paper and another of greased waxed paper, allowing paper to extend 1 inch above sides and ends of pan. Set aside.

2. Cream butter or margarine with the extract. Gradually add the sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition.

3. Resift flour with salt and baking powder. Adding gradually, blend one-half into creamed mixture, then sherry, and finally remaining flour.

4. Remove one-half of the batter to a second mixing bowl and stir in candied pineapple, cherries, and 1 cup of the walnuts. Turn into prepared pan and spread evenly.

5. Blend water into cocoa and stir into the remaining half of batter. Mix in remaining walnuts and the dates. Gently turn onto the batter in pan and spread evenly.

6. Bake at 300°F. about 2 hrs., or until cake tests done (when a wooden pick or cake tester inserted at center comes out clean). Cool completely on wire rack before removing from pan.

7. Frost lightly with a buttercream frosting, and top with walnut halves. For additional adornment, use an aerosol decorator, or a commercial frosting (desired color) in a tube and a decorating tip to form leaves. Pipe a frosting wreath around outer edge of cake and around each nut half. One fruit cake

Fruity Coffee Cake

- ½ cup walnuts, finely chopped
- ½ cup candied fruits and peels, finely chopped

3. Roll up from long side as for jelly roll. Place on lightly greased baking sheet, forming a ring. Make cuts at 1½-in. intervals to within ¼ in. of inner edge. Turn alternating slices toward center, others to outer edge. Brush surface with melted butter or margarine.

Jules Jürgensen.

7,258,204,800 reasons why it should be your next watch.

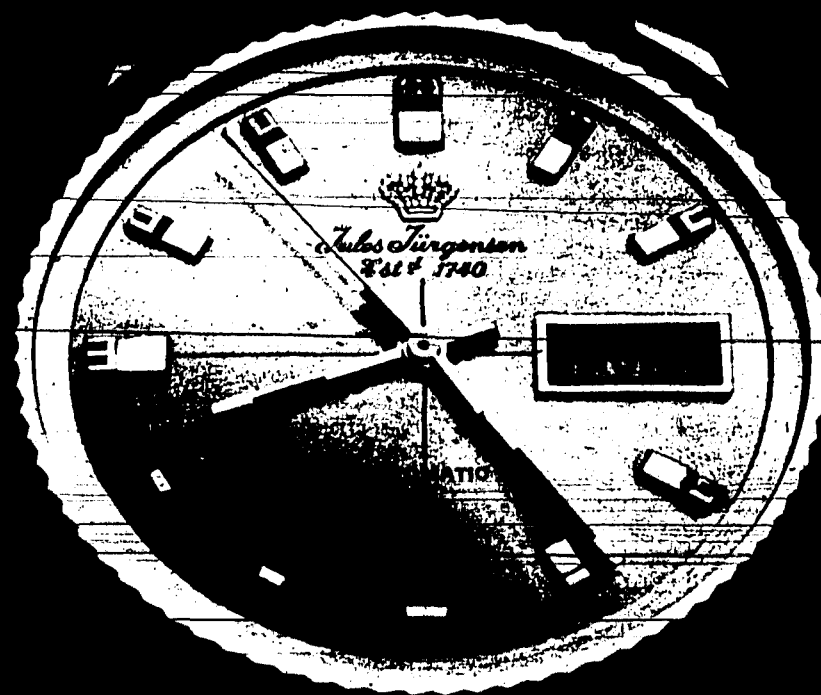

A lot of watches tell the time (for awhile). But they don't tell the truth.

And the truth is that unless a timepiece is made like a Jules Jürgensen, it's not really made to last.

We've been makers of fine watches and chronometers since 1740. Our Swiss artisans would rather turn in their eyepieces than turn out a movement without jeweled bearings.

Every part is triple-checked before it goes into the case. And double-checked after it's in. We spend a lot of time with our watches. So you can spend a lot of time with them.

That's all we've been thinking about for 240 years. Which, as we time it, comes to seven billion, two hundred and fifty eight million, two hundred and four thousand and eight hundred seconds.

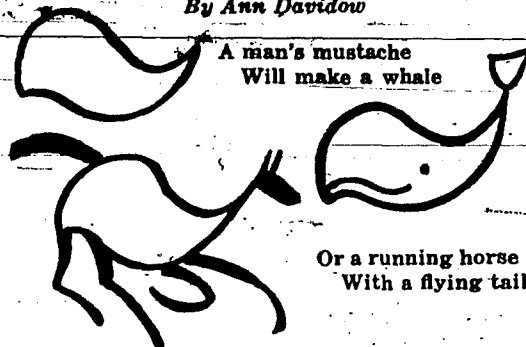

Jules Jürgensen day-date automatic, the Rivoli, 17 jewels, 18 karat gold, alligator strap. About $325. Why We Are Sure Of EVERLASTING LIFE

Of all the questions that confront a human being, none is so important... none so perplexing... as:

What happens after death?

A few will contend that there is no life hereafter... that man ends his days in a blank nothingness like animals. But for most people, there is a natural and instinctive hope that life on earth is only the first step toward a more joyous eternal life to come.

This instinctive hope, however, carries with it no conclusive proof that there is a life hereafter, and no obvious "blueprint" showing how to attain it. Because of this, many are bewildered—uncertain of the earthly way of life that will determine their eternal destiny.

Catholics, of course, do not claim that they alone are capable of having a greater knowledge of eternity than is available to anyone else. But where some may be confused and uncertain, the Catholic finds certainty in his Church for that time when "the night cometh that no man can work."

You may hear it said that this is only a blind and superstitious faith... that Catholics are merely "whistling in in the dark"... that the Catholic Church doesn't know any more about God's plan for our destiny than does anyone else.

On the contrary, Catholics believe that the way of life prescribed by Jesus Christ is God's own plan for our salvation. We believe further that Christ established the Catholic Church to perpetuate His teaching—and administer His Sacraments... and that it has done so from the time of Peter down to this very moment.

It is often said that the faith placed in Christ by Catholics... and by other Christians, too... is unwarranted by facts and reason. A powerful answer to this will be found in our pamphlet: "The Way To Everlasting Life... The Catholic Church." Even though you may not be interested in the Catholic Faith, this pamphlet will help you better to understand God's plan for your life.
