NEW ADDITION IN KETCHUM, Giacobbi Square, is a covered shopping complex just completed, with a variety of businesses to serve the winter and summer tourists, as well as local shoppers. Shops range from the supermarket type grocery store on the right to the drug stores and women's clothing store at the left. Also included in the new complex on Ketchum's main street are a boutique shop, pizza hut and a number of offices. It is one of many new facilities ready as the Ketchum-Sun Valley area prepares for what is expected to be its biggest season ever.

Wood River Area Set For Biggest Season

By PRET FRAZIER
Times-News Correspondent

Except for the obvious absence of deep white snow, Sun Valley, Ketchum and the entire Wood River valley are in the full swing of the winter season, expected to be the biggest ever, and officials of the resort areas say it doesn't take a ton of snow these days for good skiing on the runs, which are groomed like a golf course green.

Skiing is reported good on Ridge and upper College runs with 14 inches of snow. The report is 12 inches on Baldy summit, 12 inches at the Roundhouse and a three-day forecast calling for more snow.

Ski patrol members are ski packing the upper slopes of Baldy mountain and the valley floor has about six inches of snow. Half dollar and River runs are now open to skiing and bus-are in operation to and from both areas.

It doesn't take a ton of snow for the holiday spirit at Sun Valley either. Resort officials say reservations are relatively good for this weekend with only a few cancellations because of lack of snow. Christmas guests are beginning to arrive this weekend, many staying through the coming week and some planning their New Year's parties and skiing at the resort.

Many celebrities already have arrived at the Idaho resort and more will be arriving early in the week for Christmas festivities.

Among those coming in this weekend or early in the week are many of the resort's Christmas regulars, Henry Mancini, Jimmy Stewart, Art Linkletter and Andy Williams and their families. Also here this year are Gregory Peck, Steve McQueen, Janet Leigh and husband Bob Brandt who arrived Wednesday, and Jim Garner and their families. Mrs. Robert Kennedy and her family will arrive to spend Christmas in the Harriman Cottage.

Many private holiday parties are being planned and the new dining room and Duchin Room will be headquarters resort for Christmas parties this year.

There will be the traditional Dollar Mountain torch light parade on Christmas Eve and Santa will arrive on the porch of the Challenger Inn.

Electric heat is now provided throughout the lodge and the Duchin Room remodeling has expanded to take over the lounge off the main lobby of the lodge. Glass doors and wall-to-wall carpeting will keep things quiet for the skier who needs his sleep before a hard day on the slopes.

Ketchum, too, has witnessed many new developments. Calico, a condominium resort hotel has been erected on the south of the Warm Springs lift. Built on the river's edge the first phase

Egyptians Inflict Heavy Losses On Israelis In Raid

By United Press International

Egyptian commandos crossed the Suez Canal during the night and inflicted heavy losses on surprised Israeli defenders during a heavy artillery duel, Cairo reported today. Israel said its troops foiled Egyptian attempts to penetrate their defense and denied suffering heavy casualties.

This afternoon, Israeli warplanes streaked across the canal and bombed Egyptian military objectives in the central sector of the canal. It was in this area that Egyptian cross canal raids came. An Israeli military spokesman gave no details of the air strikes.

The Egyptian communique was the latest in a barrage of military actions announced against Israel just prior to Saturday's Arab world summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, to discuss mobilizing for war.

A Cairo spokesman said one "strong" Egyptian infantry unit wiped out a fortified Israeli position Wednesday night at the northern end of the waterway under cover of the "biggest" Egyptian artillery bombardment along the canal.

Newark Mayor Faces Extortion Charges

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Charged with extortion, conspiracy and income tax evasion, Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio left federal court under $25,000 bail Wednesday to return to his office to conduct the city's business. "We will have our day in court," he said.

The mayor and 14 other persons — including three city councilmen and a reputed Mafia figure — were charged Wednesday with tax evasion and conspiracy in an alleged $253,000 extortion plot. The federal grand jury actions followed by a day the indictments of 55 persons on conspiracy and gambling charges in a widespread probe of organized crime and government corruption in New Jersey.

Five separate grand juries — state, federal and county — are investigating suspected crime and corruption in New Jersey. The probes range from gambling to city officials, alleged wrongdoing to the Internal Revenue Service in Newark.

Other smaller patrols probed Israeli defenses along the entire 70-mile length of the front, "penetrating behind enemy lines to great distances," the communique said.

A Tel Aviv spokesman said Israeli troops Wednesday night foiled two Egyptian attempts to storm Israeli positions in the canal's central sector. He said one Israeli soldier was killed and another wounded in the action.

Israel had warned its citizens that an increase in Egyptian attacks could be expected before the Arab summit Saturday at Rabat, Morocco.

ROBERT MORGENTHAU

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon moved Wednesday to replace U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, the nation's foremost prosecutor of underworld crime, but Morgenthau said he would not resign at this time.

The White House announced that Nixon planned to oust Morgenthau, a Democratic holdover in the southern district of New York, and replace him with Republican Whitney North Seymour Jr. touched off a revolt by New York's two Republican senators, Mayor John V. Lindsay also deplored the announcement.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell said in a joint statement issued in Washington that Morgenthau's ouster posed "a serious problem." They strongly indicated they would oppose it in the Senate, which must approve appointments of U.S. attorneys.

"I think that you downgrade this office if you consider it a piece of political patronage," Morgenthau said, pointing out that he is deeply involved in complex investigations involving narcotics, illegal use of foreign bank accounts, consumer fraud, victimization of the poor, and white-collar, crime and organized racketeering.

Morgenthau, 50, flouted custom by failing to turn in his resignation when the Nixon administration took office last January. His appointment is scheduled to expire June 11, 1971.

Opposing discontinuance of the service were members of the United Transportation Union, Pocatello and Rupert city officials, an official of the College of Southern Idaho and various representatives of Chambers of Commerce in Magic Valley.

Solons Veto Slowdown Of Integration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, under unexpected last-minute pressure from the administration, reversed the House and voted down two Southern-backed moves to slow school desegregation.

Western Union messengers, dutifully following orders to deliver telegrams personally to senators, awakened members of the Senate Appropriations Committee at 4 a.m. Monday.

The message was a nine-page telegram from Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) urging opposition to the House-passed provisions on school busing and "freedom of choice."

Wednesday, the Senate voted 52 to 37 to add diluting language, proposed by Finch, to the provisions. Leon E. Panetta, Finch's civil rights aide, said that with the added words HEW could continue its present desegregation enforcement.

The House faced the same provisions last July, with Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., leading the Southern fight for their passage. Liberals pleaded with the administration to oppose them, but administration officials refused to take a stand. The House approved the provisions 158 to 141.

Schools Ordered To Integrate

ATLANTA (UPI) — Eighty-one Georgia school districts must integrate by Sept. 1, 1970 or lose "public funds," a three-judge federal panel ruled Wednesday in upholding the Justice Department's school desegregation suit against the entire state system.

The judges were adamant that dual school systems in Georgia must be eliminated and set down strict deadlines for submission of acceptable plans and for review by the state board of education.

The incident took place as the clergymen were attempting to enter the building to attend the trial of the Rev. Mariano Gamo Gonzalez, a parish priest charged with two counts of releasing illegal antigovernment propaganda.

Inside the building, police charged into a group of about 25 black-robed lawyers also trying to attend the closed session. The lawyers were denied admittance even though Spanish court regulations permit it.

Judge Studies Ruling In Halloween Death

Defense attorneys for Thomas Joseph Huff, 26, Twin Falls, accused of second degree murder in the Nov. 1 death of an Eden man, called nine witnesses Wednesday before resting their case in the preliminary hearing which began Tuesday.

Police Judge Harry Turner expects to make a decision before the end of the week on whether Mr. Huff should be bound over to District Court, and whether the charge should be reduced to voluntary manslaughter.

Mr. Huff is accused of firing a single fatal shot from a .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle into the chest of Harry Agee, 26.

During summation Wednesday in Police Court, defense attorney James May suggested that if Mr. Huff is in fact bound over to District Court, the charge should be no greater than voluntary manslaughter. He further suggested that Mr. Huff not be bound over and that charges be dropped by reason of justifiable homicide.

County Commission Engages Law Firm To Defend It In Civil Suit To Collect Fees

The Twin Falls County commissioners have hired the law firm of Rayborn, Rayborn, Webb and Pike to represent them in a civil suit.

Several weeks ago the law firm of Kramer, Plankey and Meehl filed suit against the commissioners and Robert Galley, the county's prosecutor. Douglas Kramer, acting on behalf of the plaintiff firm, said the county owes the firm $2,900 in legal fees.

Mr. Kramer said the fees were for representing former Probate Court Judge Richard Reed in an action involving the judge and Twin Falls Police Chief Frank Barnett.

Nearly a year and a half ago, Chief Barnett was cited for contempt of court by Judge Reed. The chief did not produce certain notes at a hearing, although ordered to do so by Judge Reed. The matter was carried to the Supreme Court, where the contempt conviction was upheld. A ruling on whether notes should have been produced at the hearing was not made by the high court.

Before the Supreme Court case was presented, however, the firm of Kramer, Plankey and Meehl submitted a claim of about $500 to the county commissioners for legal services provided to Judge Reed at that point.

The county commissioners did not approve the claim on the grounds they had not been contacted by the plaintiff firm or Judge Reed in connection with the matter.

County Commission Engages Law Firm To Defend It In Civil Suit To Collect Fees

Another claim for the total of $2,900 was also not approved. The firm of Kramer, Plankey and Meehl sued the county Nov. 25.

Recently, the commissioners passed a resolution hiring the law firm of Rayborn, Rayborn, Webb and Pike. The firm is to represent the commissioners in the suit.

Reportedly, there is a conflict of interest on the part of the county's present legal officers, Mr. Galley and Maureen Meehl. Mr. Galley is a defendant in the suit and Mrs. Meehl is the wife of a member of the plaintiff firm.

Records in Fifth District Court showed Wednesday that the defendants (the commissioners) are asking the suit be dismissed on the grounds the plaintiffs are not entitled to recovery on the basis of the complaint. Mr. Galley has also filed a request for dismissal of the case against him.

Affidavits by the three commissioners read the commissionery had no authority to pay the claim because there was no application by Judge Reed to hire the law firm of Kramer, Plankey and Meehl.

Popular Santa Claus Just to Be Most Popular Man in Town—and He's Not Even a Bachelor

By Thursday morning the jolly old gent had received 17,816 calls since his special telephone was installed in Twin Falls by Mountain Bell.

Ken Mann, district manager, said the telephone number was installed 13 days ago and he is confident that by noon Friday calls to Santa will "exceed the population of Twin Falls."

Santa's special telephone number in Twin Falls is 734-2294.

Congress Drafts Mine Safety Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pushed by miner unrest following two big West Virginia mine disasters in 1968, Congress neared final action today on the most far-reaching mine safety and health bill in history.

Despite the threat of a presidential veto, the House Wednesday overwhelmingly adopted compromise legislation hammered out by a joint conference committee and sent the measure to the Senate where final congressional approval is expected today.

Manson Fails In Plea At Hearing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, accused mastermind of the Sharon Tate murders, smirked and wisecracked Wednesday during an unexpected court appearance in which he unsuccessfully argued he should be permitted to act as his own attorney.

Superior Court Judge William B. Keene temporarily denied the request and ordered the public defender's office to continue as Manson's counsel pending a Dec. 22 hearing.

Falangists Hit Priests In Madrid

MADRID (UPI) — Groups of rightwing Falangists today attacked about 50 Roman Catholic priests outside Madrid's Palace of Justice.

The incident took place as the clergymen were attempting to enter the building to attend the trial of the Rev. Mariano Gamo Gonzalez, a parish priest charged with two counts of releasing illegal antigovernment propaganda.

No More Passengers On Train To Buhl

By the end of this month passenger car service on the Union Pacific Railroad line between Buhl and Pocatello will no longer exist.

The Idaho Public Utilities Commission announced Wednesday it is approving a request from the railroad company to discontinue the passenger car service and make the trains entirely freight in nature.

The service, called trains 49 and 50, make daily runs between Pocatello and Buhl. Train 49 leaves Pocatello at 4 a.m. and arrives in Buhl at 8:45 a.m. Train 50 leaves Buhl at 6:15 p.m. and arrives in Pocatello at 10:30 p.m.

To get the public view on this matter, the PUC held a hearing in Burley last September.

An official of the railroad testified the total revenue from the passengers, baggage and milk and cream hauled during the first six months of this year amounted to $1,906. This compares with expenses of $20,009 to maintain the service, it was reported at that meeting.

It was also reported the annual loss would be about $36,425. The actual revenue from passenger operations in 1968 was $1,723, officials said.

Parole 'Board' Can Trim Terms, Legal Aide Says

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Commission on Pardons and Paroles can commute a life sentence and then release a prisoner who has served less than 10 years in prison, an attorney general's opinion said Wednesday.

Asst. Attorney General Howard F. Manly wrote chairman Mack Redford of the parole commission that the commission has the power to commute a life sentence.

Once that is done, he said, a convict no longer is serving a life sentence so he therefore is not covered by a law which requires lifers to serve at least 10 years before they can be paroled.

Redford said the commission agreed never to commute a life sentence and then parole a convict in less than 10 years unless the case is extremely unusual.

But he said there could be cases where a convict with a terminal illness could be given better treatment outside of prison if he is eligible for parole.

Forecast

Considerable high cloudiness today, tonight and Friday; winds of less than 15 miles per hour at times today. High today and Friday in the 40s; low tonight 27 to 32. Chance of rain 10 per cent through Friday. Outlook for Saturday — no important changes. In the Camas Prairie, high today and Friday 27 to 35, with a chance of a little light rain or snow both days; low tonight zero to 10 above.

Weather Synopsis

Protective high pressure continues to dominate most of the Intermountain region, but it is being constantly battered on its western edge by a series of Pacific storm systems. The general pattern is expected to change very little during the next few days.

One of the Pacific storms had pushed an area of rain as far inland as Burns, Pendleton and Baker, Ore., early this morning. The eastern fringes of that rain area may spill over into the Malheur and Southwest Idaho valleys today. However, any resulting rainfall should be mostly too light to measure. Rain is not likely east of Boise. Similar conditions will be repeated Friday.

Some light rain or snow will fall on the mountains to the north today and again Friday, but probably not enough to benefit skiing conditions. The freezing level was at 8000 feet in the free air over Boise this morning.

Variable high cloudiness with some sunshine at times will continue over the Magic and Eastern Idaho valleys today and Friday.

No important temperature changes are expected in any part of Southern Idaho or Eastern Oregon during the next 48 hours or more.

Afternoon highs will continue to range generally from the upper 30s to the upper 40s. Nighttime lows will range through the teens and 20s in the Eastern Idaho valleys and generally in the 20s and lower in the Magic, Southwest Idaho and Malheur valleys.

Winds will again be less than 15 miles per hour today.

The extended outlook for the weekend is for little change in the general weather pattern.

Protective high pressure is forecast to remain firm from Idaho eastward, while Pacific storms continue to attack the western portions of Washington, Oregon, and Northern California.

Yesterday, skies were again partly sunny over the Eastern Idaho and Magic Valleys, and mostly cloudy over Western Idaho and extreme Eastern Oregon. High temperatures ranged from 35 at Idaho Falls to 46 at Malad.

Rain spreading inland during the night dropped 1/8 of an inch at Burns, Ore.; Pendleton reported .09 inch, and Baker, Ore., had .04 inch.

Overnight low temperatures included Idaho Falls, 24; Pocatello, 25; Burley, 28; Mountain Home, 30; Boise, 32, and Burns, 36.

were Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls, who testified about interviewing the defendant the night of the shooting. Bill Stonemetts, radio dispatcher for the police department, also was called to explain why city cars were sent to the wrong address following the shooting.

He said Mr. Buschhorn, Mr. Kincaid and Myron Huettig came to the station shortly after 1 a.m. in very upset conditions. He said he was attempting to get information from them as to where the shooting had occurred. All the men, he said, were unfamiliar with Twin Falls and did not know the address. He said a call was received at the station from another upset individual regarding a disturbance. It was believed this person was calling from the shooting scene, officer Stonemetts said, and cars were sent to an address on Caswell Avenue instead of the apartment house.

Officer Stonemetts said he knew the men had been drinking, but they did not appear to be intoxicated.

Tuesday's testimony revealed Mr. Kincaid and Mr. Huettig had gone in the front door of the apartment building while Mr. Agee and Mr. Buschhorn went in the rear. They were not with Mr. Agee and Mr. Buschhorn when a fight started at the Huff apartment, but were at Mr. Buschhorn's car later when the shooting occurred.

Juvenile detective Ron Strolberg was called prior to noon recess and he testified that while he actually had no part in the investigation, he was present during portions of the night following the shooting.

Several other witnesses, not previously interviewed by defense, had been subpoenaed to appear on behalf of the defendant Wednesday.

However, Judge Turner advised Mr. May to interview the witnesses during the noon hour and call only those whom he felt could contribute to testimony. The only witness called during the afternoon session was Deputy Sheriff Ron Wyatt, who was among the first on the scene the night of the shooting.

In making remarks following summations by the state and the defense, Judge Turner said he was inclined to agree with the prosecution that justifiable homicide was not proven, but that he wished to study the testimony and similar cases before reaching a decision on whether to bind Mr. Huff over to the higher court.

Recall

LEWISTON (UPI) — The Orchards Community Project is planning to begin circulating petitions calling for the recall of the Lewiston City council, Howard Jepson, group chairman, said Wednesday.

Jepson said his group feels recall of the council is the only way the Orchards can get equal representation on the city's governing body.

The council voted Monday night to annex the Orchards, making Lewiston the largest community in the northern part of Idaho and fourth largest in the state. Annexation of the Orchards' 10,000 residents nearly doubled the city's size but only one council member has offered to resign to allow an Orchards representative to take his place.

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian government and the Air Traffic Controllers Union reached agreement Wednesday night that apparently ended the threat of a Friday strike that would have grounded Canadian airlines and affected air Christmas travel from the United States to Europe, Alaska and Vietnam.

C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board, announced the tentative settlement to the House of Commons.

The controllers were scheduled to strike at one minute past noon (EST) Friday. The strike would have grounded commercial flights in Canada, international flights to and from Canada, and forced changes in flights from the United States to Europe, controlled over the North Atlantic by Canadian towers.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the 1,009 members of the Canadian Air Traffic Controllers Association, who are employed by the government at civilian airports across Canada.

Children Take Yule Situation In Hand, Decorate T.F. Neighborhood Center

Children generally seem to enjoy the Christmas season more than their parents, who are worrying how they will pay the bills.

But, there seems to be one part of the Christmas joy that is mainly reserved for the older people — decorating.

Although the small fry probably have ideas of their own as to how their home should be decorated, the parents usually step in to keep the windows, Christmas tree, and so on from looking too . . . amateurish.

Well, the people at the Twin Falls Neighborhood Center decided this year they would "take a chance" and let children do the decorating. It appears some adults could probably take lessons from them.

The school children (first and second graders) painted the outlines of Santa and a tree on the center's glass doors and then the 3 and 4-year-olds finished the work. They also decorated the tree with bright paper chains and cut-out figures, and tinsel. One of the most attractive displays is a large tree carrying out the "partridge in a pear tree" theme. The youngsters made the tree of white construction paper and decorated it with bright foil pears and, of course, a large gold partridge.

Those who think a child's idea of Christmas fun should be limited to Santa and presents should stop by the Neighborhood Center and take a look, center officials said.

Officials Say Jackie Is For Pregnant

ATHENS (UPI)—Mrs. Aristotle Onassis visited a maternity hospital Tuesday which started speculation she might be expecting a child, but an Onassis family spokesman scotched the rumor Wednesday.

"No, Mrs. Onassis is not pregnant," the Greek shipping tycoon's spokesman said. "Mrs. Onassis went there with her husband to visit one of her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Kallitri Patropoulos, who has been hospitalized for two weeks."

The former Jacqueline Kennedy is spending Christmas in Greece, and went on a round of gift buying after the hospital visit.

Pilot Error

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government reported Wednesday that 80 per cent of personal aviation's fatal accidents last year were caused by pilot error. It said the biggest offender was the pleasure pilot — "the occasional flier."

The National Transportation Safety Board said there were 692 accidents among business and private pilots last year, killing 1,339 persons. And it said 384 of those were caused by errors on the part of pleasure pilots.

Meeting Of T.F. Eastern Star Order Reported

Members of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of Eastern Star, held their regular meeting at the Masonic Temple recently.

A Christmas story, "The Black Madonna" was given by Lucille Kelly.

Substitutes for the evening were thanked by the worthy matron. They were Mrs. James A. Spriggs, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Machamer, Sue Remaley, Mrs. Robert James and Mrs. Leona Hann.

Refreshment committee members were Mrs. Hugh Phillips, chairman, and Mrs. Harry Petersen, co-chairman, and they were assisted by Mrs. Robert Pence, Mrs. Alfred Peters, Mrs. Christina Petersen, Mrs. Nellie Pierce, Mrs. Russell Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pippitt.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON seems to bring out the best in people. Brig. Gen. Donald Barry holds a $5 bill mailed to the Salvation Army and received in Seattle just as it is. The address and stamp are right on the bill. There was no envelope or return address. (UPI Telephoto)

Judge In Ann Arbor Will Decide Jan. 21 On Collins Murder Trial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—A circuit judge said Wednesday he would decide Jan. 21 when John Norman Collins, the college senior charged in the sex killing of a coed, would go on trial.

Collins, 22, has been ordered to stand trial on a charge of first-degree murder, in the death of Karen Sue Beineman, 18, Grand Rapids, a freshman at Eastern Michigan University, where Collins was also a student.

Miss Beineman was the seventh young woman slain in this twin university area during a period of two years. Her body was found July 26.

WASHINGTON — Let us all adjourn to some quiet corner and be harassed by the belly-aching of those tedious, "liberal" protectors of the poor who are "professionally" appalled by the Senate-passed amendment to the tax reform bill which would give mealy tax credits to parents with kids in college.

No taxes. This is in the how's-that-again? category. First, a parent cannot possibly be "really poor" if he has a tot in college — not these days. And if he does have a college student in the family he must be in some tax-paying bracket, and thus would get a tax break. The experts are guessing that the amendment would cost Uncle Sam $1.8 billion a year in revenue. Possibly. But the tax credit is not all that wonderful. The amount to be deducted outright from taxes otherwise owed would amount only to 100 per cent of the first $300 in annual college expenses per student, 25 per cent of the next $300, and 5 per cent of the next $1000. Thus, the maximum tax credit per student would be only $325 a year, which in most colleges just about pays for books.

to wit, that the amendment would primarily benefit middle-income families with sufficient tax bills against which to apply the credit. Why in the name of Aunt Nellie should this be considered an argument against the credit?

Latin Neighbors

"But All I Want To Do Is Play Santa"

Like the Holy Roman Empire, which was neither holy nor Roman nor an empire, the Alliance for Progress has been neither an alliance nor progressive.

common people because it always ends up in the pockets of only a few.

"The United States is always in trouble with Latin America," says G. J. Schouten, publisher of the Aruba News on the tiny Caribbean island of the same name.

"No matter how generous you are, there is little official appreciation and you end up making enemies, not friends."

"Latin-American nations are always in debt to the United States, and paying interest on loans whose principal disappears into the pockets of politicians such as Perez Jimenez and cohorts. So you can hardly blame the rest of the people for their feelings."

Instead of sending our foreign aid directly to a government, Scouter suggests that it be given to a representative commission of government, labor, business and journalism leaders, and even the political opposition, which would decide how best to utilize grants and gifts.

So what if we are accused of interfering in the domestic affairs of Latin nations, he says. Washington gets clouted, no matter what.

"If there weren't the temptation of big money rake-offs very few would offer themselves as presidents down there. If financial aid was handled in each country by a cross-section of representatives they could watch each other."

Unfortunately, Washington administrations — and American business corporations — are usually more interested in stability in South America than social progress. And stability is one thing military regimes can deliver — for a time.

We have only ourselves to blame for being fleeced by the enemies of the people we would, in our better natures, like to help.

Achievement Of Stability

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon's top economic advisers will admit in private they're faced with a paradox. Some of the major steps they're taking to halt inflation probably will make it more difficult to achieve stability over the long run.

Clamping down on industrial expansion means industry will be progressively less able to meet demand. Yet these same men say inflation is here because demand is too great compared to supply.

Tighter credit drives up interest costs and makes it more difficult for the average man to finance a new house. This may cool the economy but it will result, of course, in a greater scarcity of houses — and higher prices.

And so on. No one knows, of course, whether these steps will work. But if they do, the Nixon men will have a tricky, intricate dance to perform.

They will have to reverse their field, determine how to encourage the businesses they've been discouraging to turn about and expand their production at a pace rapidly enough to meet the heavy demands economists expect in the 1970s.

When this time comes, as some key government economists see it now, their approach is going to be quite different from that of recent administrations. These men have strong prejudices against subsidies, tax incentives, price-wage guidelines. The economists doubt whether some of these government plans work at all. They believe some cost very heavily for small results achieved. Some have very serious side effects. (Investment credits sometimes give tax breaks to "unwise" expansions.)

The thinking these days in some rather high levels of the Nixon group is that the federal government should have a heavy role in financing experimentation in new industrial projects and in new ways of approaching production and distribution problems.

The government, for example, as it did in the field of nuclear power, could finance a variety of experimental plants, then let private industry pick and choose what it wants to take from these experiments.

Or the government, as is now being discussed, might finance a wide range of house-building experiments, utilizing new construction methods and new materials. If these succeed, industry can take what it wants and reject what it doesn't.

The argument for this approach is simple. It has worked in agriculture. Heavy government expenditures in agricultural research, combined with a nationwide county-agent system, have combined to create in American agriculture perhaps greater revolutionary advances in production than in any other area of U. S. endeavor.

In addition, steps will be taken to encourage companies with experience in mass production to move into the homebuilding field in the hope their approaches will produce breakthroughs.

If these plans work out as the Nixon economists hope, costs will be kept down and production increase rapidly enough to hold inflation at 2 per cent a year.

But, of course, no one is certain these plans will work.

Health Problems

The following letter, while it deals with throat irritation, raises a point that might apply to any health problem, from itchy to lethal.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For two years I have had throat irritation and compulsive coughing spasms. I thought my tonsils were the cause and saw two ear-nose-throat specialists.

Both doubted that the tonsils, although enlarged, were the real cause and said that in any case tonsillectomy was not encouraged in modern medical practice.

Both ENTs thought it had to do with the sinuses. One gave me something to palliate the coughing spasms; the other gave me a couple of cortisone shots in my nostrils which she assured me would "do the trick."

Doctor, I feel no better than I did before — in fact, worse. I seek your advice.—A.E.B. I'll give you my advice — but it will not be a suggestion of some sort of cough medicine! Nor am I going to guess what your trouble is, sight unseen, although I'll suggest some possibilities.

First of all, you've been to two specialists who agreed that tonsils probably were not the trouble. When throat irritation stems from tonsil infection, it usually is rather obvious. (Modern medical practice doesn't encourage removal of tonsils — unless there is good cause. Remove tonsils when clearly required; otherwise don't.)

Anyway, now you've had two types of treatment and still have your cough. So you're out of patience.

Don't be. Go back to one of those ENT specialists (choose whomever you prefer). When the cause of some affliction isn't clear, two looks by one doctor is usually more useful than one look by two doctors.

It's gratifying when a physician can identify a trouble on the first examination and apply effective treatment, but after 35 years of practice I can assure you that diagnosis isn't that easy.

The "irritated throat" is one of many complaints that can be deceptive (along with skin rashes, "indigestion," low back pain, headaches and some others).

What you have is an irritable throat, but identifying the exact cause is something else again. Give the doctor a chance to eliminate some of the possible or probable causes. Diagnosis sometimes has to be a process of elimination.

In a word, go back and say, "I still have this cough. What do we do now?"

Among the possibilities are a post-nasal drip (whether involving sinus congestion or not), irritation from smoking, allergy, fumes if you are exposed to any, and — nerves! If you don't think nervous tension can cause a throat-tickle, and then clearing the throat or coughing lead to still more irritation, think again. It's a very real factor, but often it's almost impossible to convince a patient of this.

Anyway, when one treatment doesn't solve a trouble — this or some other trouble — go back and tell the doctor. I've never known a physician who was always right the first time. But I've known mighty few who didn't take pride in getting the right answer eventually.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Every time I have a tooth pulled, when the dentist gives me a shot to kill the pain, I feel like I am going to pass out and my heart feels like it is going to jump out of my chest. Should I see a doctor about this? It has happened four times.—Mrs. L.A.

This reaction is not too uncommon with such injections, and the giddy feeling can be frightening. It does not mean that you have heart trouble. Just mention the reaction beforehand to the dentist next time if you have any more extractions. The sensation is a form of reaction to the injection, and is quite temporary.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Times-News, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. Dr. Thosteson is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, he regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Indeed, taxes being what they are and inflation being what it is, I am acquainted with peons earning more than $31,500 annually who are just as badly off. Among other things, the $15,000 to $30,000 a year man bears the brunt of the burden of supporting charitable and social community agencies. Today, they are also the hardest hit by the inequities of the tax structure.

Finally, there is a pragmatic, down-to-earth reason for giving the middle-income group a tax credit against college expenses. Since its members are the principal support of this country, they will carry the country down with them if they go broke.

Both argued cogently that such a tax break was needed to ease the plight of families hard-pressed to send their children through college.

Opponents took the usual position of the poor people's lobby,

EVANS AND NOVAK
Aid Meddlers

WASHINGTON—Although top policymakers in the White House and State Department have ordained a new policy of neutrality toward Nigeria's civil war, a highway of great value to Nigerian federal forces — and potential military use against Biafran secessionists — is being built with U. S. foreign aid.

The decision to build the road with American tax dollars was taken quietly inside the Agency for International Development (AID), with neither specific approval from the White House, nor a single word of discussion in Congress.

This project, along with the overall pro-federal tone of foreign aid to Nigeria, reflects the inability of top policymakers to execute their orders inside the bureaucracy. All the more remarkable, the Nigerian highway project directly contradicts overt Congressional reluctance to get entangled in foreign internal disputes following the Vietnam experience.

Actually, the pro-federal bias by AID is a holdover from the official U. S. position of July, 1967, when leaders of the Ibo tribe seceded from the Nigerian Federation to form the Republic of Biafra. Foreign Service officers on the African desk, expecting the Biafran revolt to be quickly subdued, sided with their counterparts in the British Foreign Office against the secession. That became Johnson administration policy.

But with the Nixon administration came faint stirrings of change. The new National Security Council (NSC) staff at the White House under Dr. Henry Kissinger prepared a secret memorandum proposing strict neutrality.

Urged by Sen. Charles Goodell of New York and opposed by the AID bureaucracy, President Nixon appointed a special relief administrator to get food to starving Biafrans. Finally, on Nov. 12, the switch to neutrality was made official — against the wishes of the State Department's African desk — when Secretary of State William P. Rogers called for a negotiated settlement without the customary pro-federal declaration.

But while the policymaking machinery of the U. S. government was ponderously changing direction, AID bureaucrats went full speed ahead. Unknown even to the NSC, construction started on a new U. S. foreign aid project: a road from the southern port of Calabar running 127 miles northward.

That road constitutes a major thrust toward intervention into a civil war that could lead to unintended U. S. involvement. About 40 miles of the highway come within six to 15 miles of the Cross River, dividing line between Nigerian and Biafran troops. That raises the danger that Biafran troops could kill or kidnap Americans working on the road in Nigerian-held territory — the fate met by European workmen in Nigeria.

Moreover, the highway could be of direct military aid. When it is only half-completed north from Calabar, it will form a 200-mile link for the fedrals to their forward bastion of Enugu. That would mean a major shortcut for the fedrals, who now send supply convoys some 500 miles east to Enugu from the western port of Lagos. In fact, some military traffic has already been seen on completed portions of the new road.

When AID officials testified before Congress last summer, nothing was said about the road. Its existence was discovered by a private citizen — Christopher Beal, a student at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy — who passed the information on to amazed officials at the White House and on Capitol Hill.

Official assurances that the Calabar road means little have been less than candid. "The contractor working on the road reports only insignificant military traffic," asserts a State Department letter of Nov. 18 to Sen. Goodell. But a confidential AID memorandum for internal use, dated Oct. 28, is less categorical: "Some military and commercial vehicles have been reported using some of the roughly graded sections of the road."

Furthermore, the road reflects overall AID policy. The agency's official justification for aid to Nigeria (which mentions Biafra only between quotes) is geared to rebuilding federal public works while the war continues.

MR. SPECTATOR

Vocational Training

Don Oakley is a writer for the Newspaper Enterprise Association. Just the other day he came up with something which should be interesting to you readers because it was on the subject of vocational training and that same subject is now one of the top ones in Idaho.

This vocational training concept is backed by lots of Idaho people, including Governor Samuelson. And what about the kids going on to regular college? This fall there are a grand total of 7,760,000 enrolled in the nation's colleges and universities. It's a new record — 3.3 per cent above the previous year.

Mr. Spectator may be squinted at for saying it, but a sizeable percentage of these 7.75 million youths won't make it through college and shouldn't be there in the first place. Now that we have got in our "two-bits" worth, let's look at some of the remarks in Mr. Oakley's article. So here goes:

From a society in which higher education was the privilege of the very few, America has moved not merely to embrace the principle that college is the right of everyone who can utilize it but seems to be heading toward a situation in which every young person, whether or not he needs or wants college, feels he has to go.

Yet at the same time that college enrollment soars, nearly 25 per cent of the young men and women who turn 18 every year are not educated to the minimum level of employability for the eight out of 10 job opportunities which do not require a college education.

In the typical high school, a boy is either prepared for college or for nothing much at all. (Girls can at least take typing.) The idea prevails that the only good education is a college education.

This idea "is snobbish, undemocratic and a revelation of why schools fail so many students," charged the National Advisory Council on Vocational Education in its first annual report a few months ago. It went on to state that:

"This attitude infects the federal government; which invests $14 in the nation's universities for every $1 it invests in vocational education programs (yet turns around and spends as much as $12,000 per person in remedial programs to get unemployables off the welfare rolls.)"

It infects state governments, which invest far more in universities and colleges than in skill training for those who will enter the world of work after high school graduation.

It infects school districts, which concentrate on college preparatory and general programs "in reckless disregard" of the fact that for 60 per cent of our young people high school is the last formal education they will get.

It infects students, who make wrong choices because they are victims of the "national yearning for educational prestige."

Ironically, the nation is not yearning but crying for skilled workers to keep up with the growing number of appliances and automobiles.

Twelve years ago, the well-equipped appliance repairman went out with $100 worth of tools in his truck. Today that same repairman may carry as much as $3,500 worth of tools and equipment, much of it highly technical. The average appliance parts distributor has a $70,000 parts inventory.

If working with the hands is something to be ashamed of, one can hang one's head all the way to the bank. Under prevailing union scales a reasonable energetic plumber can earn $18,000 a year — more than many college professors.

But not many parents encourage their children to become plumbers or mechanics or washing machine repairmen.

Is the draft-exempt young man who goes to college to study accounting and who later gets a job at a bank more valuable to society than the nonexempt young man who does not go to college but who learns how to repair the appliances whose purchase the banks finance?

A ROSE IS NOT

Public officeholders frequently are maligned by a public which is both apathetic toward and suspicious of those who hold positions of public trust. The sentiment that "they're all a bunch of crooks" is held more widely than one might suppose.

Perhaps that is what a newly elected New Jersey county official had in mind when he objected to the quaint title that state has for the office — freeholder. Half the people, he said, don't know what a freeholder is, and besides it sounds too much like freeloader.

Perhaps it does, but that should not dismay him. Congressmen, governors and mayors all hold perfectly upstanding titles, but not a few of them are suspected from time to time of acting in behalf of some interest other than the public's.

There is only one way of erasing the stigma attached to political office. That is to elect worthy men and support them when they get there.

Army Psychiatrist Says 'Youthful Joy' Contributes To Chance Of War Atrocities

By TOM TIEDE
SAIGON (NEA)—No one is more shocked and sickened over the alleged My Lai massacre than the GIs in Vietnam. And no one more agonizingly asks the groping questions:
 How?
 Why?
 Who could do such a thing? Unfortunately, the answers aren't known.

Millarists know that atrocities have been committed in all wars, for all reasons, by all manner of men. Vietnam is no different from the past.
 Church-going helicopter gunners have been known to open fire on schoolchildren. Married soldiers have "adopted" local daughters and raped them. The enemy has been even worse.
 Viet Cong guerrillas have skinned GIs alive, speared pregnant women, roasted severed heads on sticks—and all the while bragging and propagandizing on the feats. At latest count, the Communists have murdered more than 26,000 Vietnamese civilians—and kidnaped more than 60,000 others.

The common explanation for all this is that war "brutalizes" soldiers, makes them savage.
 Some time ago, a soldier was caught carving his initials into the body of a long-dead VC gader. When asked about the activity, the GI shrugged and grunted:
 "Just passing time, that's all."
 However, military authorities doubt that the "brutalizing" influence of warfare is the major cause of combat atrocities.
 Especially in Vietnam.
 The authorities claim that Vietnam actually is not a particularly brutal war—not, at least, in the sense of the two world encounters, where all men faced duration service and some men spent exhaustive periods on front lines.
 Perhaps a better explanation of Viet atrocities, says one authority, Col. Tom Murray, is the fact that there is a common thread which connects many offenders in this war.
 "It's called the youthful joy of destruction."
 Colonel Murray is chief of Army psychiatry services in Vietnam—and he explains his "youthful joy" theory thus:
 "It's well known that the military is made up mostly of young men. And it's known that young men make the best fighters. They are more apt to just open fire when told than older men, who might stop to think about the consequences.
 "It's also known that young people like to raise hell. As much as they can, in some cases. It's a natural tendency for a teen-ager or a man in his early 20s. Many of them get a simple joy by antagonizing or destroying.
 "So, given a war situation, where a young man is living under relaxed rules, where he is invited to be as aggressive as he can, and where he must release himself in certain ways—I think this might explain some atrocity instances."
 The colonel's view does not suggest all young soldiers are atrocity-prone. Far from it. His opinion is only that the natural energy of youth, kettled with other influences, can and does brew excessive war activity.
 Even with this knowledge, Murray feels the military is in no better position to prevent atrocities.
 Because the problem remains: Who in the ranks is the potential sadist—and who is the GI with just normal aggressions?
 Colonel Murray says psychiatrists can sometimes spot bad apples early—and yank them out. But usually, soldiers are discovered only by their deeds. By then, as the reported My Lai massacre may show anew, it's too late.

Physicist Links Life With Moon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A government geophysicist says the moon may be responsible for life on earth, and insists that his scientific speculation is "less improbable than other explanations."
 Dr. S. Fred Singer, deputy assistant secretary for scientific programs in the Interior Department, outlined his theory on the moon's origin and its link to the beginning of life at a Tuesday meeting of the American Geophysical Union.
 Singer said cataclysmic changes inside the earth four billion years ago when the planet "captured" the moon as its satellite could have started the evolutionary processes which led to man.
 Rocks brought back by Apollo 11 astronauts and recent calculations on the gravitational interaction of the earth, moon and sun, made his hypothesis the "least improbable" theory of the moon's origin, Singer said.
 He said the moon was originally a "sister planet" of the earth which circled the sun in a similar orbit. At some time shortly after the formation of the two planets, the moon passed the earth, was "captured" by its gravitational attraction and pulled into orbit around it.
 The result was cataclysmic, with the moon's tidal forces which still regulate the earth's ocean tides—pulling the earth out of its spherical shape into the form of "a football", Singer said. The earth, which had been spinning once every five hours, slowed down to something nearer the present 24-hour day.
 The distortions of the earth's interior and the huge energy released as it slowed down produced enough heat to melt the rocks deep inside. The molten core released gases inside the rocks, and these gases were spewed out of the earth in volcanoes to form a primitive atmosphere.

Court Affirms Decision In Gooding Case

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Supreme Court Tuesday unanimously affirmed a Gooding County District Court decision awarding Mr. and Mrs. William Morse of Gooding a set-off of $1250 on the purchase of a farm from Mr. and Mrs. Riey Dixon, also of Gooding.
 The high court said in 1965 the Dixons contracted to sell their farm in Gooding to Mr. and Mrs. Morse. The contract stated that the farm contained "160 acres, more or less."
 The Morses said after moving onto the farm they discovered there was actually five acres less land than they had believed due to the fact that the Dixons had earlier sold five acres of land to the state for the highway purposes.
 The Morses had refused to pay the full amount of the final installment on the contract and the Dixons brought an action in the District Court to recover the land or the full purchase price. The Morses counterclaimed for off-set for the deficiency in acreage.
 The District Court held that the sales contract was for a specific number of acres agreed upon and that the defendants were entitled to a diminution of the purchase price.

Smoking Action Filed With FAA

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government was asked Wednesday for the second time in two weeks to do something about smoking on airliners.
 In a petition filed with the Federal Aviation Administration and the Department of transportation, a group called the Action on Smoking and Health (ASH) asked the government to make airlines set up no-smoking sections in airliners to guarantee nonsmokers "the right to breathe unpolluted air."

Lightning Hit Apollo On Liftoff

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Apollo 12 was struck twice by lightning moments after blasting off for the moon but the two bolts caused malfunctions of less than a second in duration, according to the most detailed reports yet on the incident.
 Don Arabian, chief of NASA's test division at the Manned Space Flight Center in Houston, told an American Geophysical Union meeting Tuesday the lightning burned off five tiny temperature sensors and momentarily stopped some of the instruments.
 The NASA official said new restrictions on launch conditions will be drawn up as a result of the incident.
 Arabian said both lightning strikes were caused by the Apollo itself, which served as a catalyst for the release of static electricity already built up in the clouds which covered the Cape Kennedy area during last month's blastoff.
 The first strike, estimated at 20,000 amperes, caused a sensor to "disconnect" the spacecraft's electric fuel cable and to switch power lines to a pair of back-up batteries, Arabian said.
 This caused warning lights to flash on momentary loss of power as the batteries built up to take the load, and some instruments to stop functioning for less than a second.
 Five temperature sensors, four of them on the outside of the lunar module, were burned out and four measuring devices in the reaction control system temporarily failed.
 "It's all part of learning about the free enterprise system," Jon Helms, an official in one of the companies, said.
 Then he hurried off to make certain the "employees" in his company were producing items on schedule.

Editor Says Police Beat Young Man

CHICAGO (UPI)—A newspaper editor has testified in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial that police trapped a young man in a revolving door of the Conrad Hilton Hotel and beat him "until he fell to the ground unconscious."

Thomas W. Pugh Jr., editor and publisher of the Troy Daily News, Troy, Ohio, Wednesday told the jury he watched police clubbing persons on the sidewalk in front of the hotel, headquarters of the convention delegates, and in an intersection near the hotel.

Pugh also testified that he was enveloped in a cloud of tear gas as he took pictures of a violent clash between demonstrators and police.

Under cross-examination, Pugh said he did not see any demonstrators carrying baseball bats. He said he could not identify the two policemen who trapped the young man and beat him.

Earlier, the defense showed the jury three films taken in the afternoon and evening of Aug. 28 by CBS cameraman Richard Perez. The prosecution objected to the voices of Walter Cronkite and Jack Lawrence, both CBS commentators, "editorializing" on the films. Their voices were stifled when the films were shown to the jury.

The films showed defendant David Dellinger at the head of a group of demonstrators; a clash between police and demonstrators at the intersection of Michigan and Balbo, and policemen dragging demonstrators by their arms, head and feet and they hurled them into paddy wagons.

Wednesday the defense asked for an early recess on Dec. 24 and for another recess Dec. 28 so that five of the defendants could be with their families for the Christmas holiday. Attorney Leonard Weinglass also asked that the jury be allowed to leave for the recess.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman said he would consider the request. Prosecution attorneys said they planned to go ahead without a Christmas recess rather than risk talking the jury.

Weinglass told Hoffman the defense case would take another five or six weeks to present, or at least until the last week of January. The prosecution is expected to present rebuttal witnesses at that time.

U.N. Ends 24th Annual Session

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The General Assembly ended its 24th annual session Wednesday, a meeting characterized by its president as sober, hallowed by the smaller countries as proof of their strength and largely ignored by the major powers in their pursuit of world problems.

Angie Brooks of Liberia, the world parliament's second woman president and second black African to hold the post, closed the session with an appeal for a political settlement of the civil war in Nigeria and the conflicts in Vietnam and the Middle East.

"This session which is now ending has been largely without polemics," Miss Brooks said. "It has been somewhat a sober one. This is all to the good. We have not finally resolved the long-standing political problems before us, but we have made some progress..."

Referring to the war between federal Nigeria and Biafra, Miss Brooks expressed hope for "an early political settlement." "All of us here must hope for success in that endeavor and on that basis would therefore make a sincere appeal to the parties directly concerned to effect an immediate cease-fire," she said. "This appeal is also made to the parties directly involved in the conflicts in Southeast Asia and the Middle East."

Scientists Say Pollution May Alter Climate Of The Earth

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Scientists issued a warning to the human race Wednesday that pollution could change the temperature of the oceans and alter the climate of the earth.

E. D. Goldberg, an oceanographer chemist, told a meeting of the American Geophysical Union that man is changing his environment almost as much as nature itself.

Goldberg, of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif., said the effects of pollution are not known but they pose some "haunting" questions.

"Will it alter the ocean as a resource? he asked. 'Will we lose the ocean? There are some complex ecological questions."

Goldberg urged the establishment of monitoring programs to measure the increasing loads of such chemicals as lead, mercury, pesticides and petroleum.

Convict Threatens 23 Hostages, Douses Guard With Gas In 5-Hour Siege Of Terror

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A convict who took 23 persons captive and threatened to set fire to a guard released his hostages unharmed Wednesday when prison officials agreed to several of his demands.

Tennessee state prison authorities said Haywood Quinn, 34, quietly surrendered a prison-made knife that he held to the throat of one of the guards.

He had claimed he was unjustly denied a parole. The drama began about 11 a.m. EST when Quinn, serving a 10 to 17 year term for robbery rushed through the door to the visitors' gallery before guards could close it. He forced guards to give him the key to the room and locked himself up with two guards, four fellow inmates and their families, who were visiting them. One of those taken hostage was a one-year-old infant.

During the nearly 5 hours Quinn held the hostages, he doused one of the guards with gasoline and threatened to set him ablaze unless officials met his demands.

After freeing his captives, he told newsmen: "I wouldn't have hurt them (the hostages), but to start raising hell is the only way you'll get out of here—act the fool."

Referring to his prison term, Quinn declared: "That sentence is illegal and they are scared to turn me loose. I won't stay here until 1971 when my sentence is illegal."

Prison officials would not say whether Quinn would be given a hearing on his complaints over being denied a parole.

The captives were all released shortly before 4 p.m. after State Corrections Commissioner Lake Russell agreed to four of Quinn's demands.

He had demanded that the hostages be paid $200 each for their "inconvenience," that Quinn not be placed in solitary confinement, that he not be sent to Brushy Mountain State Prison in east Tennessee and that guards would not be permitted to harm him.

Quinn at first sent word to newsmen Chris Clark of WLAC-TV and a reporter for the Nashville Tennessean. He then refused to talk with anyone but Clark.

After speaking with Quinn, Clark brought back to Russell a letter outlining his complaints. Clark returned to Quinn with a reply from the commissioner, and the hostages were released.

Quinn had surrendered his knife to guard H. K. Smith before leaving the room. The weapon had a nine-inch long blade and the handle was covered with masking tape. Officials said it apparently had been made in the prison metal shop.

Three Jailed For Failure Of Italy Dam

L'AQUILA, Italy (UPI)—A landslide showed millions of gallons of water over the top of Vaiont Dam the night of Oct. 9, 1963. In six minutes, the surging wave had swept away 10 alpine villages and killed 2,018 persons.

A court Wednesday night convicted the president of the firm that built the dam, the chairman of the government Public Works Council and a regional engineer of negligence and manslaughter and sentenced each to six years in prison.

The court freed five other officials charged with the same crimes. Survivors of the catastrophe screamed with outrage.

"It was a profound disappointment," said the Rev. Pietro Bozzi, Roman Catholic priest of Longarone. "I thought the responsibility of the defendants had been proved." More than 200 survivors had traveled 360 miles to the trial.

Eleven government officials and power company executives who built the 873-foot high dam, at the time the world's third highest, were charged with negligence and involuntary manslaughter. Three died before the trial opened.

The prosecution accused the defendants of choosing the dam site without considering the loose structure of Mt. Toc behind it. The entire side of the mountain fell into the manmade lake behind the dam.

The effect was like hurling a stone into a tea cup. The water level of the lake shot upward and over the lip of the dam, sending tons of water roaring into the valley below.

At least 5,000 lawsuits involving millions of dollars were pending on the outcome of the case.

It took years to determine how many people were killed. The disaster left the Piave Valley nearly barren. The region has yet to recover despite a government program to rebuild Longarone and surrounding villages.

Mine Dispute Tops News In Gem State

BOISE (UPI)—The statewide dispute over the White Clouds mining issue and the continuing controversy over House Bill 304 led Tuesday over Idaho's UPI editors and news directors selected their top story choice of the year.

Editors picked the first session of the 40th Idaho Legislature — and its record budget — as the second story for 1969, giving it a bare edge over the hassel over funding of Idaho's institutions of higher education.

Fourth place in the poll went to Gov. Don Samuelson's running feud with the forest service over the White Clouds and forest timber sales, while editors picked the mid-air plane collision over Boise that claimed six lives during July as the fifth story of the year.

House Bill 304, which limits any taxing unit to 104 per cent of the previous year's revenue, raised cries from all over the state, especially from cities where budgets had been clipped prior to passage of the bills.

The first session of the 40th Idaho Legislature appropriated a record $221,040,740 from the general fund, which, coupled with federal and dedicated funds, gave Idaho a record budget of $479,559,092. Education got the giant share of the pie at $213,825,818.

As 1969's sixth story, editors selected the effect of two U.S. Supreme Court decisions on Idaho's bonding laws. Presently the Idaho Supreme Court is considering a case in which the court is ruling that only real property taxpayers may vote in school bond elections, was challenged.

Oliver B. Turner's alleged embezzlement of over $300,000 from the state highway department ranked as seventh story for the year, followed by the shotgun slaying of Parma policeman John Combs.

Editors chose constitutional revision as the ninth story of the year and tied for 10th place were the attorney general's suit against charge card interest

Santa Delivered

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—For the past few weeks, everybody kept asking 4-year-old Francis Fairburns what he wanted for Christmas. The little boy wanted a baby sister.

"Not this year," his parents said, convinced there was no chance.

Mrs. Carolyn Fairburns gave birth Tuesday to a baby girl.

"Neither of us knew she was expecting," her husband said. "I was a little shocked, I didn't believe it. I still don't."

Mrs. Fairburns was equally surprised with the couple's second child. Both parents said they were "very happy." So is Francis.

"All he wanted to know was when she was coming home so he could play with her," Fairburns said.

Nixon Will 'Negotiate' With Press

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, in the spirit of the Yuletide season at the White House, has announced he is extending a stated principle of his foreign policy to the Fourth Estate.

"After 11 months of confrontation, we now enter an era of negotiation with the press," he told 500 members of the White House press corps and their families at a Christmas party in their honor in the Executive Mansion Wednesday night.

With a good-humored grin, Nixon described the steady expansion of the White House press corps from the era of President Theodore Roosevelt to the present.

"Theodore Roosevelt gave the press a room—I gave them a swimming pool," he said, referring to current plans for transforming the White House swimming pool into press quarters.

Nixon presented token gifts, costing no more than five dollars, of tumblers and ashtrays decorated with the presidential seal to newsmen who had accompanied him on his Asian and European tours.

Nixon continued in a jovial vein as he told newsmen he had been trying to think of a special

Operating under the Idaho Peace Officers Standards and Training Advisory Council, an arm of the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission, the academy will accept 36 male students for its first, month-long session.

Tiny Tim, Teen-Age Bride Honeymoon After Well-Publicized Wedding On TV

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tiny Tim and his teen-age bride were off today on a honeymoon that will introduce them to the rigors of a series of marriage vows that included being "not puffed up."

The sweet singer of falsetto notes wrote practically the entire service himself—particularly the connubial vows—he disclosed after the ceremony on the NBC "Tonight" show Wednesday night.

The service, read by the Rev. William Glenesk, a New York Presbyterian minister—started with the groom repeating his real name after the pastor: "I, Herbert Buckingham Khaury, being of sound mind..."

At a news conference afterwards, the long-tressed singer, rolling his eyes so that heaven seemed to be peaking through them, said: "I put in being of sound mind so everybody will know I know what I am doing."

And as for getting married on television being a bit eccentric: "It doesn't matter where you're married—on television or on the sea—as long as you keep the marriage laws."

Tiny Tim is not an act. He is for real. And after the ceremony his father-in-law, Allan Budinger, a Woodbridge, N.J., art-supply dealer, said: "His best feature is sincerity—but I don't think it's appreciated."

Johnny Carson, star of "Tonight," on which Tiny leaped to fame in 18 singular appearances as a singer in a year and a half, was among the notables who attended a post-wedding reception for Khaury and his bride, Victoria May Budinger, 17, Cary Grant was among those who dropped in.

On the show, after the ceremony, the wedded couple drank milk laced with honey while the other guests drank champagne. "This you know, is the Good Lord's food," Tiny said, explaining he had given up alcohol since he met "Miss Vicki."

The groom-sweetened vows included being "sober, gentle, kind, patient, not puffed up, charitable, slow to anger, and swift to forgive."

Afterwards, Tiny explained that being puffed up is one of my biggest faults—I get puffed up at a ballgame; I'm a real gift for his press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler. He said he had decided to prevail upon Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to return two television sets he had borrowed from Ziegler.

The President also announced that he would be heading for San Clemente, Calif., on Dec. 28 with his family where he will remain through the New Year's holiday.

State Panel Shuns Dispute On Processing Payrolls

By RICHARD CHARNOCK BOISE (UPI) — A special committee on accounting systems and data processing refused Wednesday to become embroiled in a payroll preparation dispute between the state auditor and management services.

However, State Auditor Joe Williams and Director Edward Sawyer, of administrative services made both statements to the committee about the dispute. The documented information, both were prepared to give the committee, however, was not read into the record.

Sen. Arthur Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, moved and State Rep. Harold Agee, R-Meridian, seconded that the committee decline the governor's request to give the problem priority attention.

All members of the committee but Williams voted in favor of the motion.

Then Manley asked both Williams and Sawyer, under whose office management services is situated, to assure all state employees they would get their December paychecks on time Jan. 2.

Williams declined this. "I don't think there's been any nit-picking or harassment," the auditor said. "If there has it's been to me and not by me."

Judge Rakes Newsmen On Trial Report

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — A military judge has asked the Justice Department to find out whether five news organizations have violated his order against interviews with potential witnesses in the upcoming court martial of Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr.

Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, who will preside at the court martial in the alleged massacre of 109 civilians at My Lai, also ordered Capt. Ernest Medina to quit discussing the case with newsmen. Medina was Calley's immediate superior in South Vietnam.

"This is not to be a trial by the press," Kennedy told a hearing Tuesday before asking the Justice Department to investigate reports carried by the Houston Chronicle, the National Broadcasting Co., Time magazine, Life magazine and The Associated Press.

The court is concerned that all possible protection be given Lt. Calley's rights. Kennedy added he acknowledged that his military court had "no power of enforcement" over civilians who interviewed potential witnesses.

On Jan. 20 Kennedy will conduct a hearing on another motion for dismissal—this one based on a claim that publicity has wrecked Calley's chances for a fair trial. Kennedy said that there probably will be other hearings in the case before trial, which likely will not be held before spring.

County Jail To 'Charge' Bail

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Credit cards, money orders and checks may now be used in lieu of cash for bail of prisoners in the county jail.

The county board of supervisors ruled Monday to give the sheriff authorization to accept credit cards payable for bail.

The action was proposed by Sheriff J. C. O'Conner who said the nonmonetary payment would result in faster inmate release from the county jail, savings to the county, and improved public relations in the jail.

Author Will Advertise Gem State

BOISE (UPI) — Appointment of Richard C. Renstrom, noted Idaho author from Caldwell, as director of tourism development for the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development was announced Tuesday.

ALMINTON, executive secretary of the department, said Renstrom has had nearly 200 feature articles published in prominent national magazines, many of which have been on recreational subjects.

Renstrom, who began his duties Dec. 1, will be in charge of a national advertising campaign in magazines and other news media, as well as staging promotional booths in many travel and recreation shows all over the country. He will also work on developing the convention business and related recreational activities.

During the past years Renstrom received recognition for both writing and his department of employment work. In June, Gov. Don Samuelson presented Renstrom with the Idaho State Employee Association's award as the most outstanding state employee. In 1968, Renstrom received the "Idaho Writer of the Year" award from the Idaho Writers League for being outstanding writer in the state.

Romney Fires FNMA Chief In Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development said Tuesday that Raymond H. Lapin was fired as president of the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) because he refused to cooperate with HUD officials.

Lapin, a Democrat, has claimed President Nixon ordered him dismissed for political reasons and he has filed suit against Romney and the President in an effort to resume leadership of FNMA, a government-spawned private association.

Exchange Club Gives Shrine Of Documents To College

The Twin Falls Exchange Club has presented a Freedom Shrine — an unique exhibit of 28 authentic reproductions of historically famous American documents spanning the 325 years from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II Instrument of Surrender in the Pacific to the College of Southern Idaho.

The Freedom Shrine was presented to CSI officials Tuesday afternoon during the local Exchange Club's regular weekly meeting at the Turf Club. Accepting the Shrine were Jerry Meyerhoeffer, CSI director of admissions, and Becky Meunier, CSI student body secretary.

Cliff Smallwood presented the Shrine to them on behalf of the Exchange Club.

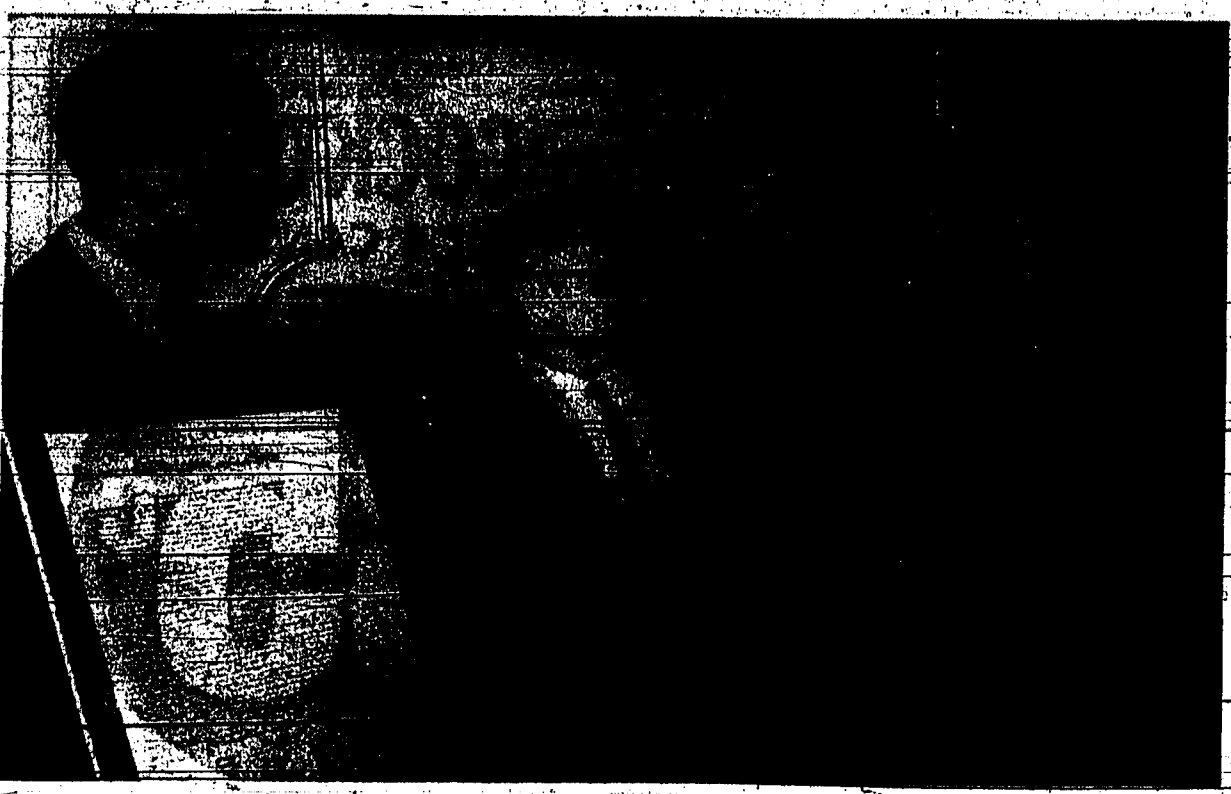

The local club purchases the Freedom Shrine with funds raised by its annual Flag Project, where club members put up the American flags in front of Twin Falls businesses on most of the national holidays throughout the year.

Mr. Smallwood said, in making the presentation of the Shrine, "The Freedom Shrine is exclusively an Exchange Club project, and an important part of the overall American Citizenship program of Exchange. Its documents vividly illustrate America's precious heritage of freedom and serve as a reminder that it must be protected and revitalized in every generation."

Tree 'Lift'

HONOLULU (UPI) — Hawaii will still have a Christmas tree shortage, but not a serious one, the head of the "Save Christmas Committee" said.

James Marshall, organizer of the group, said airlifts of tens of thousands of Christmas trees have reduced the tree shortage but that higher freight costs have raised the prices.

The tree shortage, caused by a shipping tieup on the West Coast, has been a financial boon to island tree growers. The Norfolk pine is reported to be selling better than ever, despite the complaint that it lacks the aroma of pine.

Artificial trees have also been selling at a record rate.

Air Force Abandons Project To Study 'Flying Saucers'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force Wednesday abandoned its 21-year-old investigation of reports of unidentified flying objects (UFOs) because it "no longer can be justified either on the ground of national security or in the interest of science."

In a memorandum to the Air Force command, Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. said none of the 12,618 reports of sightings of flying saucers investigated had indicated a threat to national security.

Furthermore, he said, there has been no evidence that any of the 701 UFO sightings classified as "unidentified" represented advanced technology or might be vehicles from another world.

The Air Force "Project Blue Book" headquarters at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, which employs three persons, will be closed.

Seamans' decision was recommended by the University of Colorado, which made a two-year, $540,000 study of Project Blue Book at the request of the Air Force.

Critics had charged that the Air Force was not taking UFOs seriously and was even suppressing evidence that they were extraterrestrial vehicles.

The independent university study, headed by physicist Edward U. Condon, reported last January that little if anything of scientific value had come from the Air Force UFO investigations.

The National Academy of Sciences endorsed the Condon panel's findings and added: "On the basis of present knowledge, the least likely explanation of UFOs is the hypothesis of extraterrestrial visitations by intelligent beings."

The academy said "no high priority in UFO investigations is warranted by data of the past two decades."

Drinking Is Blamed In Auto Mishaps

CHICAGO (UPI) — The drinking driver is a factor in at least 30 per cent of this country's highway accidents, according to Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council.

Pyle and Dr. Gerald D. Dorman, president of the American Medical Association, have announced a nationwide educational program aimed at helping individuals determine their own danger levels and encouraging treatment for the drinker-and-proper-law-enforcement for those who are a public hazard.

Council At Burléy Airs Speed Limits

BURLEY — Ronald DeLynn, state highway official, met with the city council this week at City Hall and discussed the proposed speed limit change within the city limits.

By a roll call vote, the council approved the change of speed on State Highway 27 or Overland Avenue, to 35 miles per hour from 14th Street to 24th Street.

The main discussion was on the speed in front of the Overland Shopping Center and past the Drowshak Elementary School. Crosswalks painted on the highway at the shopping center also were discussed. Mr. DeLynn reported "that the state would go along with a painted crosswalk at the intersection for the shopping center."

It was suggested that stop signs be posted at exits of the shopping center onto the highway.

In other business beer licenses were renewed for Ramada Inn, Clarks IGA, Albertson's, Butters Grocery, Shelby's and National Hotel.

Taxi cab license was renewed for Lawrence Johannsen, doing business as Joe's Cab.

Building permits were granted to Kam Philgas Co., J. D. Dayley and Grigg Realty, two permits.

The city council passed an ordinance in regard to setting of upright and above ground-level headstones at Pleasant View Cemetery.

Kent Church, city attorney, was directed to draw up an ordinance requiring persons or firms to get a permit prior to digging within the city limits. The permit is to be issued at no charge. It is hoped that underground cables of all types can be avoided and not be cut by digging by the proposed ordinance.

Bills were approved to be paid when finances are available.

Mayor Joe Peters expressed thanks to the city councilmen and city employees for their support and cooperation during the past four years. Special thanks was extended by Mayor Peters for the certificate and plaque he was presented a few days ago from the city employees and council.

J. L. Driskell and Jim Hansen, both councilmen, also expressed their thanks for cooperation and support they have received from fellow councilmen and city employees.

Mayor Peters and councilmen Driskell and Hansen all will complete their term of office as the newly elected mayor and two councilmen assume their duties in January.

Legislator Speaks To Area Chamber

BURLEY — Rep. Jim Martin, Cassia County, was the guest speaker during the noon luncheon of the Burley Chamber of Commerce at Bryan's Cafeteria.

Rep. Martin said 287 bills are ready to be acted upon when the Legislature convenes Jan. 12, as some have passed the house, some have passed the senate and others are in committees.

He expressed hope the legislature could complete all its business within 30 days.

"The item on pro-rating of funds will be opened up for Boise State College," stated Martin. Boise State College has had a 28 per cent increase in enrollment, mainly due to jobs being available in Boise for students on part time basis.

Other items which will be up before the legislators are changing two-year terms for county officers to four-year terms, raising driver's license age, safety inspection of vehicles, issuing of driver's license by sheriffs, and property tax exemption.

Airport Aides
Plan Strike
In Canada

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canadian air traffic controllers announced plans to strike Friday and airlines began making plans to shift some operations to the United States. The controllers' contract with the Canadian government expired last June 30 and both sides turned down a conciliation board's proposals for settlement. Working hours, rather than wages, are the main dispute. The controllers said they would strike Friday. In Vancouver, Canadian Pacific Airlines announced that in event of a strike it will move its base of operations from Vancouver to nearby Seattle. At least two American-owned airlines—United and American—indicated they would operate their Toronto flights out of Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y. Air Canada, Canada's national, government-owned airline, might try to arrange with U.S. airlines to handle some of its passenger traffic if the strike occurs. But a spokesman added, "with the seasonal rush I don't think we would be too successful." Air Canada said it remained "hopeful" the controllers' strike would be averted. The airlines said it had bookings for more than 400,000 persons for the 18-day Christmas travel period beginning Friday, and had planned to run an additional 450 flights across Canada to accommodate them. There were more than 30,000 reservations for Friday and Saturday alone.

Error Stirs
Laughter
At Meeting

BOISE (UPI) — What turned out to be a case of mistaken identity raised some eyebrows and more than a little bit of laughter Tuesday at a meeting of the Idaho State Board of Examiners. Supt. L. Clark Hand of the State Police requested authority to transfer two .357-magnum revolvers and two sets of handcuffs to the Division of Management Services in the State Department of Administrative Services. Management Services, a housekeeping agency, is responsible for accounting systems and similar work in state government. Currently, this agency and state auditor Jos R. Williams are engaged in a dispute over payroll preparation and the Board of Examiners temporarily at least has sided with Management Services. Williams, non-voting secretary to the Board of Examiners, was present when the board approved Hand's request. At the time nobody seemed to know what Management Services wanted the police-type equipment for but attorney general Robert Robson suggested it might have something to do with Williams. There were great peals of laughter about this and even Williams joined in — eliciting from Robson the comment that "I'm glad you haven't lost your sense of humor, Joe." After the meeting administrator Ray Clovis of Management Services was quite surprised to hear about the equipment. He said he did not request it. It turned out the pistols and handcuffs were for the Capitol Security guards who are under the Division of Building Services.

Merry Yule!

MOSCOW (UPI) — Christmas this year will have special meaning for the people of the Soviet Union. It is the first time since the war that the men of Santa Claus have been seen in the city of Moscow. The Soviet government has announced that it will allow the children of the city to receive gifts from Santa Claus.

THE STRESS of a continuing ordeal shows on the face of Mrs. Sharon Warren, wife of Army Sgt. John A. Warren, who said that she and her son, John Warren Jr., in foreground, are "going to hold Christmas a couple of days" to see if her husband comes home from Vietnam. The family received a soldier's body on Nov. 5, identified as Sgt. Warren's, but they have rejected it. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, is supporting claims of a mixup, despite Army claims to the contrary. An independent pathologist is also studying the problem. (UPI telephoto)

Permits For Rupert Area Are Listed

RUPERT — Some $783,115.37 in building permits were issued during the first 11 months of 1969 in Mindoka County's three major cities of Rupert, Heyburn and Paul.

Within Rupert, $353,357 in permits were issued. That figure is divided by new residential $70,700; non-residential, $81,455, and remodeling and additions, $221,172.

Heyburn permits outnumbered Ruperts, with a total figure of $371,408.32. That is divided into new homes, $111,718.32; non-residential, $227,000; and remodeling and additions, $32,690.

Paul issued $58,350 in building permits, with $26,500 for homes; $18,050 for non-residential; and $13,800 for remodeling and additions.

Soroptimist Club Has Yule Event

BURLEY — The Bartley Soroptimist Club held its annual dinner and Christmas gift exchange at Bryan's Cafe.

The session was called to order by Mrs. Wayne Konrad, president, who introduced Floyd Higgs, probation officer, who showed a film on "Drugs and Their Effects."

Following a social hour, dinner was served. After dinner the program included a Christmas prayer by Mrs. Retta Payne and a Christmas reading by Mrs. Lloyd Hollinger. Gifts were given out by Mrs. Konrad, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Bailey.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Robert Saxvik. Guests were Mrs. Jerry Konrad, Burley; Mrs. Dick Fuqua, Declo; and Mrs. LaRue Cheney, Rupert.

Christmas background music was played and was arranged by Mrs. W. Gay Jones, program chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edith Raustadt.

LINDA MORSE, 24, of Berkeley, Calif., testifying as a defense witness in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial, told the court that the 1968 Democratic National Convention convinced her that "the democratic process had fallen apart, and that we had to defend ourselves or be wiped out." Since the convention, she had taken up karate and target-shooting with an M1 military rifle in self-defense. (UPI telephoto)

Eldridge Cleaver Faces Jail If He Returns To U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Black Panther fugitive Eldridge Cleaver will be jailed immediately as a parole violator if he returns to the United States, according to a California official.

District Parole Administrator Eugene Luttrell commented on the case Tuesday after Black Panther party headquarters in Berkeley announced Cleaver had demanded a U.S. passport from the consul in Algeria, where he is living in self-imposed exile.

Luttrell said Cleaver would be immediately jailed, but noted the Black Panther's parole has only been "suspended." Luttrell said Cleaver would get a full hearing by the state adult authority before it could be officially revoked.

The state official said Cleaver had served about 10 years of a maximum 14-year sentence prior to his flight from the country, had been a "very cooperative" parolee, keeping his parole officer fully informed of his whereabouts.

Wall Street Brokerage Houses Are Forced To Trim Or Eliminate Christmas Bonuses

NEW YORK (UPI) — If humbug replaces Merry Christmas as the standard Yuletide greeting on Wall Street this year, the Christmas bonus envelope is the reason.

A UPI survey of Wall street brokerage houses shows that most have cut bonuses. In degrees ranging from moderately to drastically, a few have eliminated the bonus entirely. Some are merely making a token payment.

"It will be an extremely rare, retail-oriented firm which will pay as much this year as last year," said Adrian Banky of Association of Stock Exchange Firms. But he noted that institutional brokerages (those whose business is chiefly from mutual funds, pension funds, insurance companies and banks) "may not be too far different than last year." He estimated that about four of five retail firms will be paying less in bonuses.

Other industry sources said as many as one quarter of the retail firms on Wall Street will be unable to pay any bonus this year.

Allied Diplomats Commend Nixon's Success With Critics

PARIS (UPI) — Allied diplomats said today President Nixon's apparent success in coping with his antiwar critics has forced the Communist side to plot some changes in its peace bargaining position.

More and more, these diplomats said, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are showing concern Nixon has won time from his critics to carry out a policy of gradual disengagement from the war.

To counter this, the Allies see the Communists embellishing their own peace proposals in hopes of making their stance more attractive to the U.S. public.

The diplomats said that in doing this, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are attempting to rekindle sentiment among Nixon's critics for an immediate withdrawal from Vietnam, something the Communists have demanded from the beginning.

For example, the Viet Cong at last week's talk session suggested for the first time that if Nixon would set a six-month timetable for the complete U.S. withdrawal, the guerrillas would promise not to attack the departing Americans.

Nixon announced Monday night 50,000 more U.S. troops would be withdrawn from the war by April 15 and asked the American people to stand by him in his attempt to end the war and bring home the soldiers.

Both the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese denounced the announcement, saying Nixon's plan to "Vietnamize" the war — turn over the fighting to the South Vietnamese — would only prolong the conflict.

From Warsaw, Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam said in an interview published today that Nixon's "Vietnamization" will "inevitably be a fiasco."

"In order to soothe world opinion, Nixon stated, that because of his plan for Vietnamization, the war in Vietnam will come to an end regardless of what happens at the negotiating table," Dong said, adding that this is not true.

The Soviet news agency Tass said from Moscow that the United States "is set on continuing the war of annihilation in Vietnam. What is more, it wants to convince the world that Washington wants peace urgently."

Governor Lauds Restaurants On Coffee Proposal

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson has endorsed restaurant operators' efforts to cut holiday traffic accidents by urging motorists to stop for free coffee breaks during the Christmas and New Year's peak travel periods.

Participating restaurants throughout Idaho are offering free coffee during both holidays as an incentive for road-weary travelers to leave crowded highways for frequent rest breaks.

"Getting out of the car for a coffee break gives the driver a rest and change of environment to help offset fatigue, drowsiness, and deadly highway hypnosis," Samuelson said.

The free coffee service is part of the National Coffee Safety Stop program in which restaurants are cooperating with law enforcement and safety officials in every state.

Buhl And Filer Host Two Non-District Foes, Area Schools Slate 24 Battles

A pair of basketball tournaments, the Gooding-Murtaugh rematch, and a smattering of conference action brings Magic Valley basketball play to its final big pre-holiday weekend. A total of 24 games are slated by area teams and again there will be some inter-district rivalry.

Buhl, which is seeking its first loss, and Filer, which hasn't found defeat, take on a pair of touted teams from the third district in Vallivue and Emmett in a pair of doubleheaders Friday and Saturday at Buhl. It isn't a tournament since the pairings already are scheduled. Buhl, which lost to Vallivue on the road, will meet the Falcons at 7 p.m. Friday with Filer going against Emmett in the 8:30 p.m. nightcap. Saturday night, Filer and Vallivue meet at 7 p.m. with Buhl and Emmett winding it up. The Gooding-Murtaugh rematch is a second round of what was a first-round stunner this season when the homestanding Red Devils dropped the Senators. Since then, however, Murtaugh, behind Mark Howard, has proved shooting about 50 per cent is no big thing. The Devils have done that in a blitzkrieg against three other clubs and now is 4-0. Gooding, trying to get lanky Frank Krahn over some ankle problems, has lost three straight.

Conigliaro Will Receive Fred Hutchinson Award

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—Outfielder Tony Conigliaro of the Boston Red Sox who had an outstanding year after nearly losing his eyesight in a baseball accident, was named Wednesday as 1969 winner of the "Hutch Award."

Conigliaro, 24, became the fifth winner in the brief history of the award named in memory of former major league pitcher and manager Fred Hutchinson. According to an announcement by sports editor Ritter Collett of the Dayton Journal Herald, Tom Seaver of the New York Mets finished second in the balloting.

Aberdeen Hits Early; Beats Burley

ABERDEEN — Aberdeen outscored Burley 13-1 midway through the first quarter Wednesday night and went on to post a 77-59 decision.

Tied at 6-6 in the early going, Aberdeen, picking up a lot of points on second and third shots, spurred ahead 19-7. After Burley scored three times from the foul line, Aberdeen took off again and posted a 41-21 lead at halftime. Burley, led by Mike Kloepfer's scoring, started coming back in the third quarter, whittling the lead to 13 and then drew to within nine midway through the final period. But Aberdeen flurried away again.

Minnesota's Bud Grant Is Voted Coach Of Year In National Loop

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bud Grant, the taciturn head coach of the Minnesota Vikings who's played both pro basketball and pro football in his varied career, Thursday was named United Press International's Coach of the Year in the National Football League.

Grant, who piloted the Vikings to a 12-1 record in his third season with the club, was a laudible selection in the balloting of 18 experts around the nation—three in each league city.

Grant received 39 votes while George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams received six votes. Three other coaches, Vince Lombardi of Washington, Tom Fears of New Orleans and Tom Landry of Dallas, received one vote each.

T. F. Meets Minico Here Saturday After Teams Test Skyline, Pocatello

Twin Falls and Minico step into the Eastern division of the Southern Idaho Conference Friday night and then collide in Twin Falls Saturday for the first meeting of the area's two largest schools.

Twin Falls will travel to Pocatello Friday while Minico stays home to entertain the Skyline Grizzlies. The Saturday collision in the B. R. A. I. gymnasium will, naturally, mark the first time the two have played in a conference game.

Over the past four years the teams have played four times in regular season competition with Twin Falls winning three and losing one. The district tournament battles have been as spirited with Twin Falls taking three of four titles in last night confrontations.

In other words, this is one of the Minico fans have been pointing to because on paper the Spartans have a definite edge.

Twin Falls' tallest is junior John Van Engelen at 6-4 while Minico replies with 6-8 Jim Boatwright, 6-3 Terry Ketterling, 6-2 jumper Mike O'Donnell and 6-5 Hugs Smith.

Minico has three men, Boatwright, Ketterling and Darrell Dietz ahead of Twin Falls' leading scorer Allen Howard in the first Southern Idaho Conference statistical release.

As a team Minico is shooting .453 for the year against .312 for the Bruins and .710 from the foul line to .607. Minico has outscored Twin Falls 462-161 while playing one less game.

"I don't worry about those things," says Spartan Coach Les Roh. "Twin Falls has always been tough against us and I expect them to give us as much or more than we want."

Coach Charles Farmer says his Bruins "will have to find some way to hold Boatwright in the 20s, keep Dietz and Ketterling from getting their averages and keeping Minico off the offensive backboards. That's an awfully tall order."

Boatwright, who is getting a couple - three letters per day from universities around the country, has a 26.3 average so far and is shooting a torrid .612 per cent from the field. Dietz, a diminutive outside gunner and general, has a 14.0 loop and 12.3 seasonal mark while Ketterling is 13.0 in the league and 12.3 overall.

How is it for the year but down to 13.0 in the conference. The defending free throw accuracy champion, he is hitting only .666 for the league is ranks about 12th. He is 850 for the year and is third there.

There is something new on the College of Southern Idaho athletic scene this year, now that the early question of winning has been settled. That something new is the pleasure of getting to cheer for the type of guard that we in Idaho usually just hear about and if we ever see it, the player belongs to the other side.

Of course, we're talking about Steve Hegens, the 6-2 frosh from Washington, D. C., who generally gives you the price of admission with a couple of pretty good moves in the first five-six minutes and from then on you're watching for free.

Hegens comes from Spangarn High School in the capital and he can run off a list of stars that came out of that school's athletic program to excel in college and professional sports. Hegens, having just turned 19, is one who could add to that list.

While his talents as a basketball player aren't meager by any means, it appears the youngster might be more gifted in another direction - baseball. He was the No. 2 draft pick of the Washington Senators in last spring's free agent draft and that team, with the mid-winter draft coming up in three weeks, has increased its effort to sign the youngster. Hegens is a pitcher and the Senators are talking about a pretty good sized bonus.

All of which puts the youngster on the horns of a dilemma. He could sign anytime. He, of course, can stay and play and never be worried about a scholarship in two years either. He also knows that on Jan. 4 the Senators, if they have not signed him, lose negotiating rights on him and he will undoubtedly be re-drafted Jan. 8 by a new team, which could mean more money, too - or less.

But in the meantime he's coming along rapidly as a stickout for the Golden Eagles.

"Steve has always been a great offensive basketball player. In high school I'd guess he handled the ball about 75 per cent of the time," Coach Jerry Hale says. "He is learning how to play without having the ball so much now and defensively he is improving with every game. I was really pleased with him during the game against Powell. I think his man only got four points."

Coach Hale believes Hegens is at his best against a zone defense.

"He is blessed with great sight and can see the open man and has passing ability to get the ball to him. I think one of his biggest assets is his height (6-2) and his longer-than-average arms. When he puts the ball up over his head he actually is about an average 6-4. That lets him get away with the throw-over pass and makes him even more potent against a zone."

Hegens now is leading the club in scoring, gets more than his share of rebounds and just generally is a star who is fun to watch. While the Eagles have some big games in between, one you can point to is Jan. 31 when North Idaho and Curtis Jones come here. You could see things that night that never happened in Idaho before.

Borley Football Coach Rulon Budge happily has been released from Cassia Memorial hospital where he was held for a week after a heart attack. The veteran coach came through the ordeal in pretty good condition and doctors tell him there has been little real damage, which is happy news to all area fans.

The faculty and student body of Burley High took up a donation and presented Coach Budge with a portable color TV which precluded his missing the half-dozen football games over the weekend.

Ed Trozel, member of the University of Idaho football coaching staff, and Ron Stephenson, assistant athletic director, commented on questions concerning the football team and various problems on the Moscow campus. Both report they find little indication of a mass exodus by the frosh team, which was heavily reported about Thanksgiving time. Stephenson reports five, maybe six, of the frosh are in academic trouble and could be gone by spring ball time.

"There are always a few who talk about leaving but you just have to wait to see what they actually do," Stephenson says. "We expect the vast majority out for spring ball."

The Argonaut, the school paper, has been the chief headhunter, it appears. One of the more humorous incidents came through that paper. After one columnist blasted the staff another came back to say things couldn't be that bad. The staffer came the next time, however. Under anonymity, someone purporting to be on the football team, wrote back to say it was.

In the meantime, it's recruiting as usual for the staff.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Jim Grabowski—one-half of the Green Bay Packers' million dollar rookie backfield of a few years ago—expects to be traded.

But, he's not complaining publicly about his recent lack of activity and any disputes he might have with Green Bay management.

"It's tempting, but it's not in me to do it," Grabowski told football writer Terry Bledsoe of The Milwaukee Journal.

"Besides, it looks this week like it can cost you a lot of money," he said, referring to the $1,000 fine levied against Chicago Bears quarterback Virgil Carter.

"I want to play football," he said. "If I can't play here, then I guess I'll have to go somewhere where I can play. And I think the Packers management have got that in their minds."

Grabowski started the year as Green Bay's regular fullback. But in recent weeks his only action has been as a blocker on the punting teams.

His place as a running back has been taken by Travis Williams and Williams' spot at halfback has been taken by Donny Anderson and Dave Hampton.

And, rookie Perry Williams has moved in as the top replacement for Travis Williams as Coach Phil Bengtson has spent time looking at his young players.

When Grabowski was playing regularly, Anderson was on the bench. He voiced his dissatisfaction publicly.

Then, when Travis Williams was injured, Anderson started and picked up more than 100 yards. Bengtson then decided to go with Williams and Anderson as No. 1 running backs.

Anderson signed for an estimated $600,000 and Grabowski for an estimated $400,000 in 1968.

Both have shown flashes of brilliance, but nothing like the money paid.

"Anybody up here wants to play," Grabowski said. "And I don't like it not playing either. But I don't want to make a public thing of it and I won't. Anyway, at least Donny and I are on the same punt team."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jimmy Ellis' first World Boxing Association heavyweight title defense in more than 15 months against Gregorio Peralta in Buenos Aires on Saturday appears to have been called off, it was reported to United Press International Wednesday.

Ellis and his manager, Angelo Dundee, will leave Argentina for the United States on Friday night, according to Dundee's wife.

Dundee, who reportedly checked out of his Buenos Aires hotel Wednesday evening, had been involved in a month of stormy negotiations over money and officials for the Ellis-Peralta match.

Ellis has made his only defense of the WBA title by defeating Floyd Patterson in Sweden in September, 1968. The decision was an unpopular one with the crowd and with the nationwide television audience in the United States.

Ellis had gained WBA recognition by whipping Jerry Quarry in the final bout of a tournament sponsored by the WBA. He had planned to defend against Henry Cooper in London earlier this year, but that bout was canceled when Cooper tore a leg muscle in training but negotiations are underway to reschedule the bout for March.

The first hint of discord surrounding the Ellis-Peralta fight appeared several weeks ago, when Ellis objected to not having an American referee. Three judges score fights in Argentina, and the referee does not vote, but Ellis felt he did not want to risk a bout without an American in the ring with him.

A large portion of the purse was to be paid to Ellis only two days before the bout. The site wasn't even determined until a few weeks ago.

"There has been a complete lack of cooperation in trying to arrange this bout," said the promoter.

The WBA was not happy that Ellis was defending the title against Peralta instead of another share of the title, A. Frazier.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ollie Taylor scored 29 points in the 20-year-old junior from Denver said "I've enjoyed going out to practice every day."

"I was looking forward to playing Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl," he said. "I won't get chance to play, but I'm still happy my teammates will play."

Steinmark either will go to the game New Years Day or watch it on television in his hospital room, depending on how he feels.

"Even when I was a little kid, I always dreamed about playing Notre Dame one day, and Southern Cal, but I played Oklahoma and Navy, and every year I got a thrill out of playing Arkansas."

"I know if I go home, I'll have to listen about how tough the Big Eight is," he said. "But we beat Oklahoma. Some people will be comparing scores, but they just don't realize what it means for Oklahoma to beat Texas."

Southern Idaho Ranked 20th In U.S. JC Ratings

College of Southern Idaho returned to the national polls Wednesday when it was voted the 20th best team in the national junior college rankings. It marked the third straight year the Golden Eagles have reached the coveted top 20. Their best showing has been 11th.

The Eagles will carry that ranking onto the local floor for the final time this year when they host the Boise State College Freshmen at 8 p.m. Friday. They will not see action again until Jan. 7 when they will travel to Colorado to play Rangeley JC.

CSI dropped the Boise frosh earlier this year but had to break away from a 27-44 half-time score to do it. The Boise crew includes two Magic Valley men-in-Ron Maxwell, the South Central Idaho Conference's leading scorer from Fifer last year, and Greg Bunn of Burley, the top gun in the Eastern Idaho Conference.

CSI Coach Jerry Hale said his Golden Eagles were leading the nation in defense with a 58.2 points allowed a verage through Tuesday but the 72 points scored by ISU's frosh probably settled that.

The Eagles have scored 533 points in seven outings while allowing 417. They and opponents are nearly equal in fouls with CSI having 93 against 101 and free throws where the Eagles lead 124-112.

Freshman guard Steve Hegens is the leading scorer for the Eagles with 138 points and a 19.8 average while sophomore Al Davis, hurt by his four-point game against Casper, has 113 points. Ron Behagen has 78 points against 77 for Tim Bassett. Sophomore Morris Moe has 42 and Gary Quessnell has 22.

Hegens also tops the club in free throws with 26 against 21 for Davis and 13 for Behagen and 12 for Moe. Moe, to the surprise of no one, leads the club in fouls with 24 while Quessnell has 18.

The following are the national junior college rankings for games through Dec. 13: 1. Vincennes, Ind. 9-0 2. Robert Morris of Pittsburgh 4-0

3. Christian College of Dallas, Tex. 13-0
4. San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex. 7-3
5. St. Gregory's of Shawnee, Okla. 11-0
6. Robert Morris, Carthage, Ill. 5-1
7. Paducah, Ky. 3-3
8. Moberly, Mo. 7-2
9. Seminole of Sanford, Fla. 10-0
10. Martin of Pulaski, Tenn. 9-0
11. (tie) Wilbur Wright of Chicago, and Broome Tech of Binghamton, N. Y.
13. Eastern Arizona
14. Brevard of Cocoa, Fla.
15. Suffolk of Selden, N. Y.
16. (tie) Northwestern Oklahoma A-M and Brandywine of Wilmington, Del.
18. Lake City, Fla.

Butler Batters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Butler, with all five starters in double figures, stopped Michigan State 81-60 Wednesday night for the Bulldogs' first basketball win over a Big Ten club in four games this season.

Billy Shepherd's fielder early in the game gave the Bulldogs a 9-0 lead and they were in front the rest of the way. Shepherd wound up with 22 points to top Butler.

Butler, which hit 32 of 63 from the field, reeled off the last 10 points of the game, holding the Spartans scoreless in the final three minutes. Michigan State hit only 25 of 68 from the field.

Law Officer Testifies For Mayor Alioto In Civil Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One of California's top law enforcement officials testified Wednesday his organization's "book" on Mayor Joseph Alioto was very thin and none of the clippings dealt with organized crime.

"All we had in our files on Alioto were two newspaper articles," Marin B. Phillips of the California Department of Justice said in a deposition in Alioto's $12.5 million libel suit against Look Magazine.

Phillips, coordinator of the Department's Organized Crime Bureau, said one article was about the time "he and Dr. (S. I.) Hayakawa were threatened" and the other about "when he welcomed Frank Sinatra to San Francisco."

Phillips said he told Look writers Lance Brisson and Richard Carlson as much last June 12. Phillips was one of three state law enforcement officers subpoenaed to give pre-trial depositions in Alioto's lawsuit, resulting from a Sept. 23 Look article linking the mayor with the Mafia.

Phillips, formerly with the intelligence division of the Los Angeles Police Department, said he also refused the two writers access to any of the bureau's files on James Fratianno.

The article said Alioto helped arrange a loan for Fratianno at a San Francisco bank. Alioto denied it, as well as other allegations in the story.

'Tears' Seen On Icon In Greek Church

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI)—Hundreds of persons visited St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church Wednesday to see tear-like moisture being shed by an icon of St. Nicholas.

Church officials from the archdiocese are expected to come here to examine the phenomenon which Father Elias Kalaritotes said was "beyond human comprehension."

The icon of St. Nicholas, patron saint of seafaring people, is located in the vestibule of the cathedral in this sponge fishing community.

Father Elias said the first report of the icon "weeping" came from a cleaning woman Dec. 4, but said he had not personally witnessed the phenomenon until Sunday night.

He said he was with a youth group at the church when a young man told him the icon was weeping. He and the youths went to the icon and saw tear-like droplets which appeared to be coming from around the halo of the saint.

The moisture has continued since then but from various places on the inside of the glass covering the icon. Tuesday the drops appeared to be coming from a tiny icon held in the hand of St. Nicholas, Father Elias said. Wednesday they appeared to be coming from the left hand and from a bible the saint is holding.

A special supplication service was scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday and at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

Church officials said if any chemist desires to examine the tears he can do so providing he can do it without damaging the icon.

Father Elias said he could offer no explanation for the moisture. He said the casing around the icon has been checked and found to still be sealed.

He said he also checked other icons in the church to see if condensation might be responsible but said none were found to be moist.

4-Year-Old Ends 'Santa Claus' Protest After Being Told Accused Was Impostor

WAUKESHA, Wis. (UPI)—Four-year-old Bobby Grunfelder has ended his week-long protest against the jailing of Santa Claus.

He's been told the jolly giant is out on bail.

The whole thing resulted from Bobby's misunderstanding of the conversation of older persons. And the "Santa" involved hardly followed the usual pattern.

Bobby's protests—refusals to take his afternoon nap or to be extra good until after Christmas—began when he overheard his parents talking about the arrest of a department store "Santa" in Eureka, Calif., on draft evasion charges.

"He thinks an old man with a gray beard shouldn't go into the Army any way," said Bobby's sister, Veronica, in a letter to the Eureka Police Department.

"Like everyone else now, he is protesting and refuses to take his afternoon nap or be extra good until Christmas," she said.

"He said, 'What for?' Now Santa Claus won't be able to come to our house and bring us some cars and trucks anyhow!" Bobby's mother, Mrs. Robert Grunfelder, said the resistance movement ended when it was reported that the Santa—Ronald Gene Frankinburger, 22—was out on bail.

The report was false, but Bobby was satisfied.

"I have six boys and four girls," said Mrs. Grunfelder, "and I think I prefer girls. Bobby is intelligent, perhaps overly intelligent."

Meanwhile, a letter from Eureka Police Chief C. E. Emahiser was en route to the boy.

He explained the man arrested was only pretending to be Santa Claus.

On the West Coast, Frankinburger was arrested Dec. 5 in Eureka, Calif., on the draft evasion charges. He had been working as a department store Santa.

Cassia Pink Ladies Unit
Observes 4th Anniversary

BURLEY — The fourth birthday anniversary of the Pink Ladies of Cassia Memorial Hospital was celebrated recently and new officers were installed during a dinner meeting at Price's Cafe.

Mrs. Margaret Mohrlang, nursing instructor at Cassia Memorial Hospital, was installed as the first honorary member of the Pink Ladies organization by Mrs. Raymond Hansen, president. A corsage of white split carnations surrounding two pink roses was presented to Mrs. Mohrlang from the Pink Ladies.

Mrs. Hansen reported that at any time Mrs. Mohrlang comes into the snack bar operated by the Pink Ladies and the ladies are busy waiting on customers. Mrs. Mohrlang assists the Pink Ladies by helping serve the customers. This she has done since the snack bar has been opened at the hospital.

Welcome was given by Mrs. Hansen and the blessing was led by Mrs. Dick Blei.

Robert Barton, administrator of Cassia Memorial Hospital, presented Mrs. Hansen a dozen long-stemmed red roses for her two years volunteer service as president of the Pink Ladies.

Mr. Barton noted Mrs. Hansen was serving as president of the Pink Ladies when he arrived in Burley and assumed his new

How To Have Skin Beauty

Time was when ordinary women envied the sight of a model's flawless make-up. But times change . . . and today, most women are as knowledgeable about the application of cosmetics and the art of facial beautification as any model.

The skill of blending tinted foundation over the skin, the intricacies of applying fake lashes to the eyelids, the masterly wielding of a lipbrush, the ar-

Secret, Sister Gift Exchange Held By Group

BURLEY — Xi Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held its annual Christmas secret sister gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Arlie Harris.

A social hour was held prior to opening the gifts. A Christmas card was signed by all the members and sent along with a Christmas centerpiece to Mrs. Joe Adams, a chapter member who is a patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Boise.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. LePage Layton, president. Mrs. S. L. Walker, ways and means chairman, reported on the recent bazaar and cooked food sale. Members were reminded to turn in the money on the cookbooks they have sold.

Mrs. Merrill Atkinson, social chairman, announced an open house is planned for Monday at her home for chapter members and husbands. Mrs. Atkinson also reported on the Tri-Chapter party which was hosted recently by Xi Omega Chapter.

Secret, Sister

While it's not too difficult (practice makes perfect) to apply make-up and camouflage a less-than-perfect complexion, every woman would like to have a perfect skin.

And it is now within the reach of every woman to cultivate a naturally beautiful complexion. A fine, model-flawless skin with the proper balance of both oil and moisture is possible through the use of a special moist tropical beauty oil. Smoothed carefully over the face and neck morning and night, the oil nourishes tissues, tops up moisture reserves and establishes a lovely foundation for any and every skin type, any and every modern make-up.

Here's a model's beauty tip ordinary women can use: Worried by small wrinkles forming under the eyes? Soak tiny crescent-shaped pads in oil of Olay and place them in the hollows just beneath the lower lids at night. Signs of dryness and lines will be eased with swiftness. Skin of the lips (which tends to dry and crack in cooler weather) may be smoothed and softened by massaging the mouth with moist oil for a few minutes before applying lipstick.

Secret, Sister

It was announced Mrs. Ralph Butters will serve the rest of the year as chapter treasurer replacing Mrs. Rex Weech who resigned the post.

The chapter presented Mrs. Harris a red and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Harris is an honorary member of the chapter.

The group traveled to Min's Cafe, Declo, where dinner was served. The table was centered with a Christmas centerpiece and a Santa Claus candy jar was at each place setting. The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Clarence Bishop. The chapter's next regular business meeting is at 8 p.m. Jan. 8 at the home of Mrs. Walker.

Officers for the Cassia Memorial Hospital Pink Ladies

Each person attending received a birthday gift wrapped in silver paper and tied with a pink bow. The gifts were distributed by Mrs. Hansen.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm just a poor working stiff (office job) with a big company, and I mean really BIG.

Today I received an Inter-office memo informing me that all the employees were getting together to "BUY THE BOSS A BUICK."

Now, the boss needs somebody to buy him a Buick like I need another head. Furthermore, I think it's a cheap trick to put the arm on all the employees this way.

So what's a guy supposed to do? If I refuse, it's sure to get back to the boss, and you know what will happen to me.

If I go along with it (which is probably the only thing I can do) I will hate myself. Got any advice?

He is due to go overseas soon for at least a year, so we suggested they become engaged until they were sure of their feelings. It was then that he told us that they couldn't wait because she was pregnant. He told us that he's not really sure she is pregnant, but she "thinks" she is. Also he is not really sure that he is the father, as she's dated several other service men that he knows, but she says he's the one.

Our son told us that the girl doesn't get along with her parents and is very eager to get away from home.

I do not condone our son's actions, but if he is responsible for this girl's condition he should certainly face up to his responsibility. Still, how do we really know under the circumstances if it's really his responsibility? Can you advise us?

WORKING STIFF

DEAR STIFF: If there are other "working stiffs" in your organization who share your feelings (and there must be), why don't you quit griping, and DO something about it?

WORRIED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: First, your son needs legal counsel. And the chaplain on his base will be helpful, too. No young man should jump into marriage under any circumstances — especially the one you describe.

DEAR ABBY: Our son who is 18 and in the Navy spent several months training in a distant state. During the last two months there he met a girl and spent every week-end with her. When he came home on leave he informed us that he was going to marry her within two weeks! Needless to say, we were shocked because she is only 17.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "TROUBLED," who married a homosexual. Abby, I'm glad you pointed out that he was "BISEXUAL," because any man who can go back and forth between both sexes is "bi" — not "homo."

Well, I married a man like that and I'm the happiest woman alive. I accept my husband's past, and even kid with him about the type of men "we" like.

I am sure he would never go with another man again for the same reasons I wouldn't. Neither one of us would want to hurt the other by an act of infidelity.

So to that woman who is "troubled" because her husband had a man in his past, let me say this: Take pride, my dear, that of all the women and MEN he knew, he chose YOU! Sign This . . . LUCKY ME!

Phyllis Brake Is Bride Of Neal Lindholm

FILER — A candlelight ceremony Nov. 15 in the United Methodist Church united in marriage Phyllis Jean Brake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brake, Filer, and Neal Lindholm, son of Mrs. Paul Vanderhoff, Idaho Falls.

Mrs. Gilbert DeKlotz Jr., Mrs. Dallas Brown, Mrs. Ralph DeKlotz and Mrs. William Olson served the cake, punch and coffee. The women of the Sarah Angie Circle of the church were in charge of the kitchen.

BUHL — The Logan LDS Temple was the setting for the Nov. 7 wedding of Janet Bench, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oriel Bench, and Jay E. Warthen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Warthen, all Buhl.

President F. Lyman Spillman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A reception was held for the couple Nov. 8, with Mel Carter as master of ceremonies.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of slipper satin. The princess-styled gown was designed with full-length bell sleeves and jeweled shell-shaped trimming around the neckline, sleeves and skirt hemline. The gown was made by the bride's mother and designed by the bride and her mother.

The bride's floor-length veil of illusion was held by a tiara of crystal and pearls.

Bridesmaids were Debra Hutchinson, Mary Stokesberry and Terry Todd.

Rick Hill, Pocatello, served as best man, with Kelly Bench and Phil Warthen, brothers of the bride and bridegroom, as ushers.

After the guests were served, they were seated at quartet tables covered with lace and centered with roses trimmed in mint green surrounded by angel hair. The roses were made by the bridegroom's mother.

The bride's table was covered with lace and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink roses, white sugar bells and silver leaves. It was topped with two white feathered doves backed with a heart of pearls.

The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Leo Otley.

THOUGHT APPLIES TO DEFENSE ALSO

Some declarers rush to play to the first couple of tricks. Sometimes this does not hurt. Many other times a little early thought would have saved a headache later.

South was one of the early thinkers, and a slow one. He looked over dummy for a long time and finally let the queen of clubs hold the first trick. He won the second club and promptly led a spade to his ace.

Most defenders sit around and woolgather while declarer goes into an early huddle. Woolgathering may be fine if you are in of spades and would go after the spade suit by leading a spade to his ace (if he held it), and a second spade toward dummy and West could see that he would be helpless against that attack.

That is, he would be helpless if he followed to the first spade with the ten or jack, but West had worked out a saving false-card.

When South played his ace of spades West simply dropped the king. Now South went into a real huddle. Spades weren't going to break because no one would drop the king if he didn't have to. South tried a heart finesse. Then he tried to get a 3-3 break in one of the red suits. The one thing he did not try was a spade continuation. So South wound up with just eight tricks instead of the 10 he would have made by keeping on with the spades.

Chef Says Chicken's Left Leg Usually Is More Tender

THE PREFERRED DRUMSTICK. When a chicken sleeps, it tends to put its weight mostly on its right leg, which makes said leg somewhat muscular. So when cooked, it's tougher. Therefore, a host in Mexico, knowing this, customarily gives to a guest of honor the chicken's left leg, which is tenderer. No, Q. "IS THERE ANY country whimsy. A Mexican chef named Pablo Sanjens said that's how it's done and why.

THE JEWELERS in Hungary report about 45,000 wedding rings are sold annually. The license clerks in Hungary report about 55,000 couples are married annually.

AN ALLIGATOR gets sluggish when the temperature drops to 55 degrees F. He doesn't bite. That's why the movie makers film alligator scenes on refrigerated sets.

A SCIENTIST avers his studies prove mosquitoes will bite a citizen dressed in blue quicker than a citizen dressed in any other color. He insists. He is adamant.

LOVE AND WAR—The smarter you are, the luckier you are in love. So says Paul C. Glick of the U. S. Bureau of the Census. His studies indicate the college-educated couples succeed in marriage 90 times out of 100 while high school dropouts succeed in marriage only 75 times out of 100. Interesting. But our Love and War man thinks the figures are misleading. Dropouts do not necessarily fail in marriage because they are stupid, he contends, but because they tend to marry at far earlier an age than do college graduates.

CUSTOMER SERVICE. Q. "Take a 100-pound side of beef — how much of it is fat?" A. Maybe 25 pounds... Q. "WHAT DO YOU call that hangover remedy of half beer and half tomato juice?" A. Believe that's known as a Calgary Redeye... Q. "IS THERE ANY country where everybody can read and write?" A. Only one I can think of is Iceland.

OUR PLANET MAN says that color most befitting a Capricorn girl, usually is green, one shade or another... IT'S CLAIMED a new translation of the Bible turns up about once a month... AS TO THE WHEREABOUTS of the largest colony of affectedly effeminate fellows, that's San Francisco... DID YOU KNOW no reptile is slimy, not one? APPROXIMATELY 67 per cent of the adult night school students are single, divorced or widowed.

NAMES — A client asks if it's now customary anywhere for men to take their wives' names at marriage. Don't believe so. But remember Raymond Gram Swing, the newscaster? He died last January. Anyway, his second wife was Betsy Gram, a feminist, and when she agreed to marry him, he agreed to incorporate her name into his own. Only such instances that come to mind.

Tough GIs Are Quiet Amid Death

SAIGON (NEA)—It is mid-afternoon at Tan Son Nhut airfield. As usual, hot. No clouds. No hint of cooling rain. Just high sun. And a temperature over 90.

The boxes, however, are shielded from the heat. They are resting atop the other, in the structured shade of the United States Air Force's out-country loading depot.

They are oblong, eight feet by 30 inches. They are made of aluminum. Each of them has three lock-snaps on either side. All of them are unpainted, even free of the usually stenciled military nomenclature.

There are 18 boxes today. At present, the boxes are lying on loading pallets. They are positioned under signs reading "Dover" and "Travis." They are covered with plastic sheeting for weather protection. They are strapped down and securely netted with nylon mesh.

A lieutenant from New Jersey checks the strapping. A Negro from North Carolina looks over the paper-work. A blond airman from California backs away in a forklift truck.

At the edge of the depot, two Vietnamese workers squat together in soft chatter. They are women in conical hats. Mama says. They do odd jobs here at the out-country depot.

But they never touch the boxes. Only Americans do that. There is a thing about the boxes. A reverence, maybe. Some of the seasoned men have removed their caps. And even the newcomers, who will bounce other cargo around noisily, approach the boxes with restraint.

They are here, usually, for only a short time. Never more than 24 hours. Seldom more than just three or four.

The boxes are top priority. Some clouds begin to form. Cotton candy in the sky, delirious against the blue. But down around the horizon, on the other side of the runway, a patch of black smoke — its origin unknown.

"Bomb?" somebody asks, pointing. "Can't tell."

The afternoon proceeds. The men move at half-speed in the heat.

The cargo is piled. Mounds of it. Machinery parts, jet engines, bomb casings, household furniture. Air conditioning for Okinawa. Chairs for Hickman AFB. All of it carted in olive green cartons, lashed and standing and ready.

And in the middle . . . the boxes. Eighteen of them today. One hundred this week. Five hundred this month. Eight thousand this year. Forty thousand this war.

Waiting. Quietly. To go home.

LONDON (UPI)—The five survivors of Britain's Letts sextuplets were taken off pure oxygen and breathed ordinary air Wednesday for the first time. Doctors said they were in good condition.

University College Hospital said the babies were still in incubators but their special oxygen breathing apparatus had been removed. The sextuplets were born Monday to Mrs. John Letts, 23.

Hayakawa Shuns Jeers At Assembly

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Ignoring jeers and a live chicken thrown on the stage, S. I. Hayakawa told Cornell University students Tuesday night he believed young persons should serve in a national service corps.

Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State University, said "Our young men and women from 14 to 20 are our greatest underused natural resource."

He suggested young persons spend two years in a national service corps as mental hospital assistants, teachers aides or urban conservation workers.

The controversial administrator said the service would give young persons a "sense of meaningful involvement in society" something they now lack.

At one point in the speech, someone threw a live chicken on the stage and yelled, "You're a turkey." The chicken was removed immediately.

Hayakawa, credited with restoring order to his riot-ridden campus last year, said the "majority of students are sincerely dedicated to improving the world through nonrevolutionary methods."

VESSEL ABANDONED
HONG KONG (UPI)—The crew of the 11,900-ton freighter Thames Breeze abandoned their grounded vessel on a reef 500 miles south of Hong Kong. The ship struck the N.W. Investigator reef in the South China Sea Thursday while en route from Shanghai to Ceylon.

Army Pfc. Fernando O. Martinez, 21, son of Mrs. Petronila O. Martinez, Burley, and Jose F. Martinez, Stinton, Tex., has been assigned as a rifleman to the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam.

Cammack, Buhl, has been recognized for helping the 14th Special Operations Wing earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with V device for valor. SUSAN DENISE ATKINS, 21, on left, is returned to her jail cell in Los Angeles by sheriff's deputies after she pleaded innocent to the murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others last summer. Her trial was scheduled to begin Feb. 9, 1970. (UPI telephoto)

President Opposes Trade Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said Tuesday he is committed to freer world trade and to eventual dismantling of trade barriers.

He also said he is in the process of selecting a commission on world trade to examine trade problems in the 1970s.

Nixon said the 13th annual report of the trade agreements program shows free world trade increased by 11.6 per cent and imports rose by 23.7 per cent, he said.

He said the lower U.S. figures were largely due to "inflationary forces in our economy which stimulated imports and also hampered the competitiveness of our exports."

"This administration is committed to a freer exchange of goods among nations," he said. "We must continue to strive for further growth in mutually advantageous world trade and in part through such trade, for the eventual dismantling of the barriers that have stood in the way of freer exchange of people and ideas."

Boise Cascade Plan Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposal by Boise Cascade Corporation to participate in a program for increasing housing supplies to low and middle income families has been chosen for further review and negotiation.

George Romney, housing and urban development secretary, said Boise Cascade's proposal for "operation breakthrough" was one of 37 selected from 246 which would be evaluated before 20 companies are issued contracts for construction of prototype housing units.

R.V. Hansberger, Boise Cascade president, said the new program could open new home-building markets and bring fundamental changes to the fragmented housing industry.

Californian Denies Guilt In Child-Abandonment Incident

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Ronald Francis Fouquet, 31, Bell Gardens, Calif., pleaded innocent to charges in connection with the abandonment of a little girl beside a freeway and trial was set for Feb. 2.

Kern County Superior Court Judge P. R. Borton denied a defense motion for separate trials for Fouquet and his common-law wife, Betty, 26, who pleaded innocent to the same charges on Tuesday. Her trial also was set for Feb. 2.

The two are accused of leaving Mrs. Fouquet's daughter, Jody Lansdown, 5, beside U.S. Highway 99 south of Bakersfield Oct. 25.

They are charged with willful child abandonment and placing a child under circumstances likely to produce great bodily harm.

Borton also denied a defense motion for reduction of bail from the present $12,500 for each of the suspects.

Mrs. Fouquet was taken to Los Angeles for a juvenile court hearing Thursday morning regarding the disposition of three other children found in the Fouquet home at the time of their arrests.

Investigation following their arrests revealed Mrs. Fouquet's oldest child, Jeffrey Lansdown, 8, had been missing for several months.

However, the couple has refused to answer questions about the boy's whereabouts on the advice of their attorneys.

Hanging Is Opposed In Commons

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons voted Tuesday night to ban hanging, the only form of capital punishment in Britain. The measure now goes to the House of Lords where approval is uncertain.

After more than seven hours of emotion-charged debate, the vote was 343-185. Party disciplines were lifted for the occasion and every lawmaker was free to vote according to his conscience.

But a final decision still depends on the House of Lords, Britain's upper house of Parliament. The debate there was scheduled to open Wednesday afternoon with a final vote set for late Thursday.

It was still considered far from certain that a majority for abolition of hanging would be recorded there.

Board Of Health Faces Financial Crisis, Votes To Seek $1.5 Million For Budget

By PAUL M. QUINN
BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Board of Health, facing a financial crisis, voted unanimously Tuesday to seek a lump sum supplemental appropriation of $1,550,000 for funding in this biennium.

The board met in a special session to consider requests by major program divisions of the department. The requests, when finally totaled up, came to $3,101,000, including a request of $1.8 million from the mental health advisory council.

The board said it was justified for five reasons in seeking the supplemental requests:

- Some $325,000 to replace a similar amount of money which was previously anticipated by the board to come from county support of local mental health center services.
- $750,000 to replace an equal amount of money previously appropriated to the board under the category of recipients to appropriations.
- Some $75,000 to expand the department's water pollution control efforts.
- Additional monies totaling $200,000 from the General Fund to initiate an alcoholism treatment program during the current biennium at the State Hospital in Gooding.
- And $200,000 addition from the General Fund to support the growing service program in the Mental Retardation and Child Development centers in several parts of the state.

The board said, following an executive session that lasted an hour, that the problem of water pollution is growing faster than the department's capabilities to effectively handle it within the limitations of the amounts of money currently allocated to the effort.

The board, following a closed session, declined to state definitely where the $1.55 million would be disbursed, but it heard pleas during the day-long session from its major division.
