

THOUGHTS OF ALL youngsters will be on the jolly old gentleman in the red suit tonight, and many a tot will be struggling to keep his eyes open past his usual bedtime in hopes of catching a glimpse of Santa as he pops down the chimney to deliver the presents. Arek Pace, 4, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Jay Pace, 2118 Alta Vista Dr., is just a little worried about the whole procedure, and decided to check and see for himself that the chimney was all clear and Santa wouldn't hit any roadblocks on the way down. (Times-News photo by Dan Johnson)

Wives Visit Red Prison, Bring 138 Letters Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The names of 132 American prisoners of war have been released by two members of a peace group who were the first North Vietnamese prison camp. The women told a news conference Tuesday they brought back 138 letters from the prisoners and mailed them in San Francisco Sunday on their return from a two-week visit to Hanoi.

A Christmas Prayer

By EDMUND B. STANTON
Pastor, United Methodist Church, Gooding

Our heavenly Father, you have given us all that we need and all that is worth having. At Christmas when we are so much aware of the gifts that money can buy, help us to be thankful for the wealth we have. But, even more, help us to remember the gifts that cannot be bought.

Display With 3-Dimensional Effect Wins Christmas Light Contest

A massive outdoor display surrounded by large candles and highlighted by an overall three-dimensional effect has won this year's Christmas lighting contest.

THIS IS THE WINNING DISPLAY in the Times-News and Idaho Power Co. Christmas lighting contest. Put together at the home of Dan S. Nielsen, 527 Polk St., the total effect is three-dimensional with Santa Claus appearing on the roof and again in a window-like enclosure in the garage. This three-layer cake on the front lawn, lighted from in front, balances the decorations at the garage on the left and surrounding the entire display are large candles. Judged by emotional impact, artistic ability and work, this display was voted top among 22 judged Monday night.

Forecast

Mostly cloudy today with a chance of a little snow by late afternoon, becoming more general tonight and Thursday. High today 35 to 45; low tonight 22 to 32; cooler Thursday with highs in the 30s. Chance of precipitation 40 per cent today, 60 per cent tonight and 50 per cent Thursday. Outlook for Friday—partly cloudy and cooler. In the Camas Prairie, high today 35 to 43; low tonight 22 to 32, and high Thursday in the 30s. Chance of a White Christmas in Magic Valley thus looks very good — 80 per cent or better.

Weather Synopsis

A heavy snow watch has been issued for snow and rain to continue over Northeast Nevada and Northwest Utah, spreading northward into Southern Idaho today. Locally heavy snows can be expected through the higher elevations of extreme Northern Nevada, Utah, and the Southern Idaho border areas.

A low-pressure system is expected to develop in Northern Nevada this afternoon, moving eastward tonight with increasing snowfall in Southern Idaho, Northeast Nevada and Northwest Utah. A more general area of heavy snow, amounting to four inches or more, is likely in the area tonight, spreading into West-Central Utah late tonight and early Thursday.

Travelers' warnings continued early today over Northern California mountains, the Sierra Nevada north of Yosemite and the mountains of Washington and Oregon for heavy snow at times and gusty winds, with chance of drifting by tonight.

Gale warnings have been posted along the coasts of Washington and Oregon, and the Northern California coast. A frontal system was reported extending from Northern Utah to offshore Central California.

Cold, air will spread inland from the West Coast tonight and Christmas Day.

Temperatures in Southern Idaho and the lower Malheur Valley ranged in the 30s and 40s on Tuesday, with overnight lows in the 20s and mid-30s.

Precipitation was general over Southern Idaho on Tuesday, ranging from less than .10 inch to more than .30 inch in sections of the Magic Valley. In Northern Nevada, Winnemucca reported 1.15 inches of precipitation during the preceding 24 hours, with a five-inch snow cover this morning.

Temperatures through Southern Idaho will range in the 30s and low 40s this afternoon, cooling on Thursday to the 30s. Lows tonight will range through the 20s and low 30s.

The precipitation probability will increase to 70 per cent or higher by late afternoon, with surface winds gusting to more than 25 miles per hour late today and this evening.

Kindergarten To Open On Jan. 19

CASTLEFORD — Supt. Floyd Bowers reported the kindergarten class for the local school district will begin Jan. 19.

Children who were 5 years old before Oct. 15 must present a birth certificate verifying their age. Bus transportation will be available to the school. Parents must provide transportation home from the school at 11 a.m. promptly, Mrs. Bowers said.

The kindergarten program is operated on Title I funds and requires no immediate cost to the parents. The class will operate until the middle of April. Children entering school next fall are urged to attend. Parents should contact Mrs. Darrin Parker, 537-6635, before Jan. 19.

T.F. Man Hurt As Car Hits Power Pole

HOLLISTER — A 20-year-old Twin Falls man is in serious condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he was taken by ambulance late Tuesday following a one-car accident on U.S. Highway 93 one mile south of Hagerman.

Idaho State Police said Elvin Eugene (Butch) Miller Jr. was driver of a 1965 Pontiac GTO which slid off the icy road and collided with a power pole.

The owner of the car, Kenneth Cordle, Jackpot, and his wife, Jackie, 18, were passengers in the vehicle. They also were taken by ambulance to the hospital, but were treated and released.

Officers said the car was traveling south about 11:15 p.m. when the accident occurred. The vehicle slid off the road, had just started to overturn when the top of the vehicle collided with a utility pole.

It is believed Mr. Miller was thrown from the vehicle. He received serious facial lacerations among other injuries.

Twin Falls County Sheriff's officers assisted in the investigation.

Bowling Alley Suit Settled Out Of Court

KETCHUM (UPI)—A $325,000 suit filed by a Ketchum bowling alley owner against Lloyds of London reportedly has been settled out of court.

M. H. Esterholdt, owner of the Sun Bowl which was destroyed by fire in April, 1968, said he could release no information on the monetary settlement because attorneys are still negotiating. He said settlement was reached by "me giving a little and them giving in a little."

The bowling alley burned only 8 hours before it was scheduled to open after three months of remodeling work. Esterholdt and his wife filed suit against a holding corporation representing the British Insurance Co. after payment allegedly was refused on their claims.

William Roden, Boise, representing the insurance firm, reportedly contended that the fire was the result of arson. He introduced a deposition stating that Jay Naglich, former owner of Ketchum, had seen an unidentified person enter the facility shortly before the fire.

The suit came before a U.S. District Court jury Dec. 16, Judge Fred M. Taylor dismissed the jury Friday after announcing that both parties had reached a settlement.

There's Good News Today For Skiers

Skiers who have been waiting for ideal conditions should be able to take to their favorite slopes over the holidays with full confidence.

Most resorts report plenty of snow as a result of the storms that began Sunday night and continued through Monday.

At Sun Valley, Baldy Mountain now has 24 inches of snow at the top of the mountain and 25 inches at the roundhouse, with 14 inches on the valley floor. Skiing is reported good. Roads to Sun Valley are good and skies are clear although the forecast calls for another weather front moving in.

Pomerelle lists 12 inches of new snow with a total of 36 inches at the bottom of the ski runs. Skiing is reported very good, the roads are open but snow tires or chains are required.

Magic Mountain received 22 inches of new snow for a total of more than three feet on ski runs. The road was opened Wednesday although parking lots were still being cleared and skiing will open Friday on a daily basis. Skiing was listed as very good.

Rotarun at Hailey received seven inches of snow and is scheduled to open for the season on Friday. Forest officials said ski reports there were good and roads are clear and in good condition.

Soldier Mountain at Fairfield reports eight inches of new snow for a total depth of 20 inches and excellent skiing. Roads to the area are open and good and lifts will be in operation from Friday through Jan. 4 for the holiday vacation.

All ski resorts will be in daily operation Friday through the holiday school vacation. Bus service is available to both Magic Mountain and Pomerelle on a daily basis.

Snowmobiling is reported fair in the Ketchum area, good in Hailey and will be open in the south hills by Friday if parking areas and the road to the snowmobile area are cleared.

Willow run is closed and will not open until after the first of the year.

Services Set Friday For Mr. Bennett

Funeral services for City Councilman R. George Bennett, who died suddenly Monday night at his home, will be conducted Friday at 3 p.m. in the White Mortuary Chapel.

Mr. Bennett was completing his 10th year as a city council member in Twin Falls and at the time of his death was serving as city police commissioner. He died of a heart attack and on the day prior to his death had attended a regular meeting of the city council and an informal luncheon meeting to reorganize council business for the coming year.

Rev. Father John Riley, Episcopal Church of the Ascension, will officiate during services and burial will be in the Sunset Memorial Park. Friends may call at the White Mortuary Friday until 2:30 p.m.

Mayor Egon Kroll said Wednesday the matter of replacing Mr. Bennett on the Twin Falls city council will be left to the three newly elected and four holdover members who will be in office after Jan. 5.

Mr. Kroll said the death of Mr. Bennett was a great shock to him, as he learned of it on return from the funeral of his own brother in north Idaho and was not aware Mr. Bennett had died until he returned late Tuesday.

"This is certainly a loss to our community. George was a hard worker and conscientious city council member," Mr. Kroll said.

He had worked on the city council with Mr. Bennett the past eight years.

John Angerbauer, who had also served eight years with Mr. Bennett, said he feels the death is a distinct loss to the city.

"I have found him to be a man of principles and a good citizen and councilman. His passing bereaves me, as I am sure it does others of the city. He has contributed much more than just his time to the good of Twin Falls during the past 10 years," Mr. Angerbauer said.

Although members of the council have not brought up the subject of filling the vacancy at this time, candidates in the November municipal election who were defeated are logical choices. Winston Jones, a retired military man held the largest number of votes behind the three successful candidates and Earl Faulkner, local downtown businessman and member of the winning candidates ticket was next in line in the number of votes received.

Mrs. Makinson Funeral Services

Mrs. Mabel Harriet Makinson, 71, Pocatello, a former Twin Falls resident, died of a short illness Monday at Bannock Memorial Hospital.

She was born April 8, 1898, at Ft. Scott, Kan., and attended schools there. On Oct. 20, 1920, she was married to Thomas Makinson at Ft. Scott. They moved to Lakin, Kan., in 1926 and in 1936 moved to Twin Falls. In 1941 they moved to Pocatello and have made their home there since. For eight years she was employed at Bannock Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Makinson was a member of the Christian Church, Lakin, Kan.; a longtime member of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, and was affiliated with the Pocatello Bible Church here.

Survivors include three daughters, Nelda Makinson, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Ray (Joyce) Henderson, Billings, Mont.; and four grandchildren, including Linda McCoy, Palo Alto, Calif.; Fred McCoy, Pocatello, and two others who were raised by Mr. and Mrs. Makinson. A daughter, Mrs. William McCoy, preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Friday in the Downtown Chapel with Rev. Dwight Hage, Pocatello Bible Church, officiating. Last rites will be in Sunset Memorial Park, Twin Falls.

MURTAUGH — Robert Clifford Boyd, 60, former Murtaugh resident, died Wednesday morning in St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, of a short illness.

He was born Feb. 13, 1909, in Aurora, Neb., and had made his home at Route 2, Jerome, for the past year, coming from Wendell, where he resided for four years. He had lived in Murtaugh for many years before that. He was a farmer and a member of the Methodist Church, having come to Idaho in 1923.

He married Mae Randall in Burley, March 16, 1935. Surviving are his widow, two sons, Robert Gayle Boyd, Heyburn, and Ricky Lynn Boyd, Jerome; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Donna Mae) Villet, Fountain Valley, Calif., and Mrs. Raymond (Karen Dea) Newman, Twin Falls; two brothers, Carl Boyd, Twin Falls, and Ross Boyd, Shoshone; four sisters, Mrs. C. E. (Mae) Durk, Las Vegas, Nev.; Mrs. Welton (Frances) Etcheson, Hayward, Calif., Twin Falls, and Ross Boyd, Twin Falls, and Mrs. J. W. (Opal) Williamson, Seattle, Wash., and eight grandchildren.

White Mortuary will announce funeral services.

U. S. Offices To Be Closed On Friday

All federal offices in Twin Falls will be closed Friday due to an executive order issued Tuesday afternoon by President Nixon.

The President gave the federal employees a Christmas present — the day after Christmas.

At press time, Gov. Don Samuelson had not issued an order declaring Friday a state holiday. Officials of local banks said they would remain open unless the governor should set it as a state holiday.

Twin Falls County Courthouse will also be open Friday.

City hall offices will remain open until noon Friday. They will be closed in the afternoon in memory of the late George Bennett, whose funeral will be that afternoon.

Jean Millar, city manager, said the city will close all day if it should be declared a state holiday.

The post office will be closed Friday, but special delivery service and mail collections will be provided. All postal services will resume Saturday. The Twin Falls office of the Social Security Administration, as well as the Forest Service and other federal offices will be closed.

Rupert Store Robbery Try Is Failure

RUPERT — Two Rupert men are in custody today, charged with attempted robbery and attempted kidnaping, after an unsuccessful try at both failed at the 7-11 Store here on Highway 24-25.

Johnny Trujillo was apprehended about midnight by Minidoka county sheriff's officers and Alfred Aragon walked into the Rupert police station Wednesday morning and turned himself in.

Officers said Mrs. Mary Jo Fries, checker at the 7-11 store, told them the two men entered the store about 5 p.m. Tuesday and wanted a six-pack of beer. When she asked for an identification card, one man pulled a gun and placed his hand on the cash register.

When she tried to stop him, one man grabbed her and as his companion held the door, tried to push her out of the store. As Mrs. Fries was struggling with the intruders, a customer came along and this apparently frightened the men away. Mrs. Fries was not injured.

Mrs. McGill

MULLAN — Mrs. Minnie McGill, 75, of Ava, Mo., who was killed in a bus accident near Mullan on Tuesday, was known in the Twin Falls area through frequent visits to her sister, Mrs. Martin Duff of Twin Falls.

Idaho State Police said Mrs. McGill died when the Greyhound bus in which she was riding skidded on a snow-slickened curve on Interstate 90 one mile west of Mullan, and struck a railing at the side of the road. The railing pierced the side of the bus and struck Mrs. McGill, police said.

Services for Mrs. McGill will be conducted in Missouri.

A small town dragon will be the star performer in "The Reluctant Dragon" on the NBC television station in Cleveland, Ohio.

Reluctant first starred in the production of the same name with the Community Children's Theatre of Twin Falls. He was created by Don and Fran Lambert, and officials of the local theater group say he may come out of retirement again on the tenth anniversary of the Community Children's Theatre, which will be year after next. Jerry Leonard, director of the production, sends word the dragon is in fine shape and is a great favorite among the rest of the cast.

The dragon has been hard at work since Dec. 8 preparing for Christmas Day when the production will be shown for children as a holiday treat.

November Bond Sales Are Listed

"U. S. Savings Bonds sales within the district for November amounted to $53,568," according to James S. Kinney, volunteer district savings bonds chairman. State sales for the month totaled $580,591, he reported, bringing total bond sales for the first 11 months of the year to $6,630,018.

Sales in Blaine County amounted to $5,949 during December, which is 78.9 per cent of its 1969 quota. Camas County had $2,801 for 91.3 per cent; Cassia County, $6,455, 102.6 per cent; Gooding County, $5,681 for 98 per cent; Jerome County, $3,811, 82.1 per cent; Lincoln County, $2,001 for 115.8 per cent; Minidoka County, $4,954 for 118.1 per cent, and Twin Falls County, $21,916 at 75.5 per cent. Nationally, savings bond sales for November were $498 million and for the 11 months amounted to $4,364 million.

YOU CAN'T TELL THEM from new — the rejuvenated dolls being boxed by, from left, Mrs. Lloyd Kelley, Mrs. Martha Wildman and Clare Harkins. The dolls, made by members of the Goodwill Club, will be delivered by the Twin Falls Firemen Christmas Eve to children who may otherwise not receive something a little special on Christmas morning. Remaking the dolls is an annual project conducted by members of the local Goodwill Club in conjunction with the local fire department, with 103 dolls completed for this Christmas. Broken dolls are collected by the members and they, in turn, rejuvenate them completely — with new wardrobes, new hair, etc. Regular work meetings are conducted by these women where they press, cut, sew and curl — all for the pleasure of a bright-eyed youngster on Christmas morning.

"THE RELUCTANT DRAGON," who made his debut in the Community Children's Theatre of Twin Falls, will appear Christmas Day on NBC television. The dragon was created by Don and Fran Lambert of Twin Falls.

Queen Delivers Christmas Message

LONDON (UPI)— Queen Elizabeth broke tradition Tuesday and delivered her Christmas message for the first time without help from radio or television. But she said "my good wishes are no less warm and personal."

her coronation that her Yuletide message had not been broadcast. The palace said earlier the family felt previous television appearances this year had provided sufficient exposure.

The message, issued from Buckingham Palace in time for Wednesday newspapers, said the Queen's "own thoughts are with my older children who are entering the service of the people of this country and the Commonwealth."

It was the first time since her coronation that her Yuletide message had not been broadcast. The palace said earlier the family felt previous television appearances this year had provided sufficient exposure.

Silver Lining

We may yet save ourselves from ourselves. In recent days:
-The United States and the Soviet Union have started talking about talking about how to go about reducing the nuclear balance of terror to a lower and more stable level.
Observers say the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Helsinki could drag on for five years. This means not only that a lot of diplomats may have the opportunity to become proficient in the difficult Finnish language while being given a hefty boost toward retirement; it also suggests we can count on at least that many more years of what, for want of something better, or in the absence of something worse, we call peace.
-President Nixon has renounced the use by the United States, even in self-defense, of bacteriological weapons.
This is somewhat like saying the Air Force "renounced" the old Skybolt air-launched nuclear missile when the thing just didn't work or it was found that its job could be handled better by other means.
We can be sure the military has agreed to the abandonment of germ warfare not because it is too horrible to use against any enemy but because it is unreliable and uncontrollable and to use it against an enemy is to use it against ourselves.
Still, the renunciation of any kind of weapon for whatever reason takes a measure of courage in today's world. It is a pebble dropped into the pool of sanity whose ripples could spread — as far as the SALT pillars, perhaps.
There remain chemical weapons, which are exempted defensively, and tear gases and defoliants, which are exempted entirely. But even the latter may eventually go into the museum of discarded weapons as a consequence of a research report claims that defoliants are responsible for thalidomide-type birth defects in Vietnamese children.

-The government has decreed a two-year phase-out of DDT, a pesticide which has been under attack for years by conservationists because of its accumulative toxic effects on a wide variety of animal life.
Here again, the ban is a halfway measure. It permits those uses "essential to the preservation of human health and welfare" and, rather like the government's domestic campaign against smoking with its one hand and its encouragement of tobacco sales abroad with its other hand, does not cover exports of DDT.
Yet again, half a step toward restoration and preservation of the environment is better than no step at all.
-The United States and Japan have agreed to a restoration of Japanese sovereignty over Okinawa by 1972. The United States will retain its military installations on the island, but without nuclear weapons.
We have realized that the existing and continuing friendship — if not, indeed, the very political stability — of a democracy of 100 million people is worth far more to our own security than the putative value of Okinawa-based nuclear bombs in a theoretical war with an Asian Communist nation of 750 million.
None of these developments, singly or together, promises an impending Golden Age for the world. But one has to make a real effort to find their dismal side.
That's something.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (NEA)— President Nixon, always styled the consummate politician, has had a mixed first year as a political figure. But he is closing out on a strong rising note.
Whatever mutterings may still be heard from some of his party colleagues on Capitol Hill, a canvass of his fellow Republican governors turns up almost no current, significant criticism.
His role as the GOP's top political leader cannot, of course, be wholly divorced from his policies and performance across the board, especially with the late Vietnam troop withdrawal announcement, most governors for a starter give the President high rating for his program of disengagement from the war.
Yet, while this feeling is clearly general among men whose positions as state leaders keep them close to public attitudes, there is some uneasiness that Nixon could lose his steady withdrawal pace.
Says one western governor: "His status is fragile. It depends on his keeping up the motion on Vietnam."
From a midwestern governor: "The President's silent majority, which I think is real enough, undoubtedly includes lots of people who would like to get the war over soon and could quickly become impatient."

Policies and programs aside, the President's showing as a political manager is seen today in much brighter tones than last spring. Then he was being widely assailed for messing up patronage, failing to attend to countless gripes, not doing what he should to position promising party people for major races in 1970. Now the praise is lavish.
He is seen as having been heavily instrumental in the election of two off-year governors, Linwood Holton in Virginia and Rep. William Cahill in New Jersey. The victories put GOP holdings at 32 of 50.
Nixon's credits include good marks for the timing of his personal intervention in each state (late, when the candidates were gaining), and the abundant technical guidance lent by the administration.
In Holton's case, for instance, a national party campaign task force went into Virginia to measure his problems, gave advice, and then the Republican National Committee provided a re-elected campaign manager, Marvin Collins.
As for Cahill, though he plainly benefited hugely from Democratic disengagement with their own candidate, former Gov. Robert Meyer, the Nixon forces did key polling which helped pace and direct the President's entry into New Jersey and fuel the candidate's confidence.
Moreover, there was vital expert advice from people closely tied to the President's political setup in Washington.

That structure right now is meeting broad approval from GOP governors. They see the national committee under Chairman Rogers Morton as highly competent on technical grounds, as co-operative and aggressive. Most also think the President's White House operation under Harry Dent (who now has other duties) has done well lately.
It is no longer news that Vice President Agnew's surfacing as a blunt-speaking Nixon political agent — with a large role for 1970 — gets endorsement from most governors. Only one or two say Agnew's tone has had any damaging effect in their states — and that was fairly minimal.
Even in GOP-held states which Nixon lost in 1968, like Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the President is judged well today as a politician and is felt to be far better off than when he ran. In states he won, this same higher gauge is put on his popularity.
Most governors tend to forgive the early confusion — bad as it was. Some call it the inevitable accompaniment of a new administration. Others — accept the judgment often advanced that the President at first consciously turned from politics to build an image as "statesman." At least a few see this as the "best politics," especially with a war on. Says one:
"If he had come out in fully combatant political attire, it would not have been good for him or for us."

Road To The Dump

If you have the time Christmas Day, after opening the presents and downing the traditional dinner, may we suggest an interesting trip you can make in your automobile.
Why not drive through the South Park area, out on the Airport Road and, in fact, keep going until the field is reached?
Along the way you will probably notice a couple of dead animals (we are not sure whether they are cats or dogs but they are dead), a couple of old car tires, several cardboard boxes, some empty and some partially filled; several slabs of broken plaster board and even several big pieces of lumber, in various sizes.
It's all part of the junk that never gets to the city fill just south of the Highline Canal and reached via the Airport Road.

It seems that somewhere we once read of an ordinance which makes it mandatory that junk trucks were to be covered during the trek south.
In fact, we are certain there is still such a law on the books. Trouble is that nobody seems to pay any attention to it. It is ignored by lawmen, private truck drivers and just about anyone.
As we said, if you get the time Christmas Day and want a diversion, then take the drive suggested. It will show you one of many instances why those litterbug signs, threatening fines for just such activity, are the laugh of the century.

HOW AND WHY
A $12-per-year "occupational tax" proposed by Richmond has been ruled valid by the Virginia Supreme Court.
It would apply to most persons working in the city, whether they live there or not. It's purpose: to bring the beleaguered capital some $2 million a year — half of it from non-residents.
Other cities watched the decision with interest. Now the "outsiders" have vowed to get the state legislature to outlaw the tax — instead of going through the courts.
But Mr. Spectator believes this is wishful thinking. Two to one it is there to stay.
And, also, Mr. Spectator just thought he would bring this news to your attention because the thought of taxing people outside the city communities of Idaho who work inside the communities, is now being discussed.

RAY CROMLEY Hard-Nosed And Reticent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If President Nixon seems hard-nosed about the arms talks with Russia and not overly interested in reaching agreement, it's part of a strategy devised by his advisers.
These men have spent a great deal of time going through the minutes of past meetings with the Russians. A series of studies have been written on Russian negotiating techniques and on why the Reds do what they do in conferences. Most of the old timers with major experience in talking with the Kremlin's men have had their brains picked in considerable detail.
Out of this has come what might be called "the strategy of reticence."
Paraphrased, it runs as follows:
— By all means, don't let the negotiations be hailed as opening a new era in U.S.-Soviet relations.
— Quick eagerness to believe in the sincerity of Soviet intentions tends to strengthen Soviet hardliners. It could tempt the Kremlin to use the negotiations to dissipate Western suspicion rather than seriously seek arms control.
— Don't be in a hurry for a solution. Don't seem eager, in fact, for any solution at all. Act as though time were not of importance.
— Once the Soviet government learns the United States (or any other country) has a time limit, or is overly anxious for an agreement, historically Kremlin negotiators have sat down and waited patiently for time to run out in the conviction they would then get their way.
— Don't go into serious talks with the Russians unless the initiative comes heavily from their side.
— As former U.S. ambassador to Moscow George Kennan has put it: "Russians can be dealt with satisfactorily only when they themselves want something and feel themselves in a dependent position."
— Prepare to let the Russians argue every point ad nauseam — and be patient with them. That's their hang-up. They're caught in a system which compels it.
— As Philip Morely, former director of the Russian Institute at Columbia University put it: "In numerous instances, Soviet negotiators, even when under some pressure to reach agreement, have shown that they are in mortal terror of violating any part ... of their instructions, and are extremely reluctant to report to Moscow that they cannot get every point and every wording in their own drafts. Making recommendations for even slight changes in their instructions exposes them to serious risks. It means that they consider their own superiors slightly less than omniscient. It may mean that they can be accused of giving undue weight to the viewpoint of another government and thus of falling captive to imperialist insinuations.

Therefore any point which has finally to be abandoned must be given up only after a most terrific struggle."

— Don't offer compromises. The word compromise is not of Russian origin. It normally follows the adjective "putrid."
— Call for frequent recesses. Soviet negotiators, even those of the highest rank, cannot respond or change their stand even on elementary matters except after thorough going discussions among the top men in Moscow. This takes considerable time. Recesses, give that time. Otherwise the Russians merely repeat over and over again what they have said before, which gets very dull.

ART BUCHWALD The Racing Set

WASHINGTON — In a highly developed society where advertising has such great impact, it is not unusual during Christmas for someone to get duplicate gifts. Grownups can cope with this sort of thing, but it's a little harder to explain to children.
I was with my 8-year-old nephew, Michael Kahme, last year as he dashed to open his presents which were piled high to the ceiling from aunts, uncles, friends and acquaintances.
He ripped open the first package and exclaimed:
"Oo boy, an Indianapolis 500 auto racing set! Just what I wanted."
He grabbed the second package and tore it open. "Oo boy," he said excitedly, "another Indianapolis 500 racing set. Now I have two of them."
The third package seemed about the same size and he opened a little bit slower. "Gee," he said, "it's another Indianapolis 500 racing set. Now I have one for the living room, one for the dining room and one for my bedroom."
He shook the fourth package before he opened it and looked at his mother quizzically. "It's from your Aunt Edith and Uncle Harold," she said. "Michael cut the tissue paper listlessly.
"Four Indianapolis 500 racing sets?" he said.
"You can put one in the attic," his mother said. "Open your other packages."
"I'd rather have breakfast," Michael said.
"Now don't be ungrateful. Here's one from Grandpa. He's coming over later and he'll be very upset if you haven't opened his package."

Michael went through the motions of opening the package.
"Oo boy, what it was!" Michael yelled accusingly. "Isn't that wonderful?" his mother said. "Now you have one for the kitchen, too."
"Oo boy, so much for Christmas," Michael said. "I think I'll go out and play football."
"Oo boy, you'll sit here and open every one of those packages. You don't know how lucky you are. There are some children that don't even have one Indianapolis 500 racing set."
By this time, Michael was starting to lose his cool, and, as he pulled each racing set from its carton, more and more tears rolled down his face.
The living room, with all the toy cars lined up, looked like the Shea Stadium parking lot during the Jet football game.
"Michael was taking it harder than I thought he would and pretty soon he started flinging the tracks and electric transformers across the room."
"Oo boy, what it was, Uncle Arthur?" he asked.
"I didn't have the heart to give him my package which contained an Indianapolis 500 racing set, so I said quickly, 'Ten dollars. You don't think I'd get you a stupid auto racing set, do you?'"
But there was a happy ending to Michael's Christmas last year. When he had to write thank-you notes a week later, he didn't have to ask his mother what each relative had given him.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Greetings

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do doctors think about getting Christmas cards from patients? Our friendly doctor has never sent us one. Is this because doctors consider the custom too personal? — N.W.
No, I don't think doctors consider it "too personal." I don't. I'm pleased when patients think enough of me to send a card. Most doctors are I am pleased when, as happens, I get cards from readers. I don't know, but by reading the column they feel that they know me. It's good for my ego as I get to wondering whether I'm really printing the things readers want to know.
But when it comes to sending cards, that raises problems. Almost any physician has some hundreds of patients. It is not unusual to have 1,000 or even far more names in the files.
Can you send cards to some without seeming to have "favorite patients" at the expense of others? Will some who don't get cards feel hurt? How many on your list aren't your patients? Moved away? Changed doctors? You never know.
How many will feel, if they get a card, that they are under some compulsion to send one in return? How many will resent it? How many (few, perhaps, but I know some) just don't believe, for one reason or another, in exchanging cards?
I can also hear office nurses and secretaries everywhere asking, with justice, "Just how do we find the time to send out a thousand cards?"
So I have never sent cards to patients, but have tried to thank those who sent cards to me the next time they came in. I don't in fact, know a doctor who sends out cards to patients, although most send cards, like anyone else, to relatives, other doctors, and friends.

That's why "Sun lamps" come equipped with goggles and instructions for using them.
Without being bery sure of the precise type of black light in use, I certainly would play safe and employ some other kind. There are all sorts of shaded night lights, glowing panels, and such that would certainly be safe. Why take any chance at all?
Dear D. Thosteson: Some of my husband's friends have been passing around a booklet advocating eating pumpkin and sunflower seeds for all prostate troubles. My husband is now very busy eating these seeds and coincidentally is complaining of heartburn and stomach trouble. Are the seeds harmful to the digestive process? Will they really help prostate trouble? — A.W.
I have heard of this, but I can see no way in which they would help prostate trouble. They shouldn't be harmful, either, so far as I know. I trust he hushes them like the birds do — the husks could be irritating to the digestive tract for someone with diverticulosis or other similar condition.
You make no mention of your husband's benefiting from the seeds; I think it would be wise for him to abandon them for a time and see whether his digestive difficulties stop.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have diverticulitis and have a lot of bowel trouble. I am constipated much of the time. Just now I am having an attack of diarrhea. Could diverticulitis cause this? — I.R.
Yes, a flare-up of diverticulitis can cause diarrhea. However, report this to your physician. Changes in bowel habits warrant investigation with X-ray of the colon to determine whether any complications are arising from the diverticulitis.
Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." Enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.
Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister uses a "black light" in her child's room as a night light. Can this be injurious to the child's eyes? — Mrs. J.P.
I couldn't answer positively without knowing more about the light, because "black light" is ultra-violet. There are different types of this, long-wave and short-wave. The short-wave has to be handled with care because it can damage the eyes and can — like sunlight — burn.

"From my world to yours — merry, merry Christmas!"

Offer Vetoed

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel has rejected United States proposals she withdraw from occupied territories, share the rule of Jerusalem and take back Palestinian refugees in a peace settlement with the Arabs. A communique issued after an emergency cabinet meeting said "The government rejects these proposals because, inherently, they damage the chances for establishing peace." It said the Israeli Government "views with gravity" the U.S. submission of the proposals in the Big Four attempt to frame guidelines for a Mideast peace.

Climbers Open Holiday Assault On Tetons;

Seven-Man Group Fails In Alpine Attempt

JACKSON, Wyo. (UPI) — One group of mountain climbers is on its way up the Grand Teton, one group has returned, unsuccessful in its bid to reach the 13,768-foot summit, and a third party plans to begin its assault of the mountain Sunday. A seven-man team led by Mike Yoekli, 23, of Boulder, Colo., started up the Grand Teton Sunday, but almost immediately one man was forced to drop out when he became ill, apparently with flu. The remainder of the group continued the climb, planned to be a nine-day expedition. The party did not take radios, so no progress reports are expected. An 11-man party led by George Lowe of Salt Lake City was forced to return Sunday after it encountered heavy snow and Lowe was caught in an avalanche. He was not injured. The group had started Thursday and got as far as the base of Teton Glacier the first day. Friday, Lowe and three other climbers forming the assault team, climbed to Molar Tooth Notch, which is at the 12,000-foot level.

Friday night from one to two feet of new snow fell, Lowe said, but the team attempted to continue. A small avalanche ran, catching Lowe, but he was roped to the other climbers and not endangered. More new snow fell Saturday night and the team decided to return. The support party never got beyond about 300 yards above the base camp because of the deep snow, Lowe said. Veteran mountaineer Paul Petzoldt, 61, of Lander and his 22-member party will begin the fifth annual New Year's climb headed by the "grand old man of the mountain" Sunday. Although Petzoldt has successfully climbed the Grand Teton in the winter, none of the four previous New Year's attempts have reached the summit. Petzoldt's party this year will include five females, including a 16-year-old girl and a former beauty queen who is on her honeymoon.

Tax Reform Bill May Have Given Major Break To LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A last-minute change in a provision in the tax reform bill may have given a tax break worth thousands of dollars to former President Lyndon B. Johnson and members of his administration, the Senate learned Monday. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., complained before the Senate about a change made last week by the Senate-House conference committee when it wrote the final compromise version of the tax bill. The committee changed from last Jan. 1 to last July 25 the effective date of a provision designed to remove the tax advantage from the gift, by a retired public official, of his public papers to a library or university. The Jan. 1 date — the date proposed by Williams — presumably would have denied the tax benefit to Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and others who retired with them last Jan. 20, when the Nixon administration took office. In an interview, Williams said he did not know if Johnson, Humphrey or anyone else had given their papers away prior to July 25. He said he purposely did not seek to find out because his amendment was designed to end "a glaring loophole" — not to "catch" Johnson. Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., defended the change to a July 25 effective date. He said that was the date the House had approved the tax bill so any Senate-made changes in the House bill properly should have been dated July 25. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., questioned the July 25 date. "It seems a rather unusual date," he said. "It is not the end of the year or the end of the fiscal year. I wonder who might be benefitted." At no point in the debate was Johnson's name mentioned.

Cavalier Riding Club Has Fete

BURLEY — Cavalier Riding Club members held their annual Christmas party at Burley IOOF Hall with members of the Rebekah Lodge serving dinner. Children of the club members presented the program following the dinner. Readings were given by Sally Hogg, Debbie McCusiston, Thurman Kidd, Tony Glorfield, Timmy Morley, Melba Morley, Gay Hayden, Mae Shielby, and Sib Morley. Musical numbers were by Mr. and Mrs. Elden Wood. Mrs. Wood accompanied the group for singing Christmas carols. Lloyd McCusiston was master of ceremonies. Santa distributed sacks of candy and nuts and supervised a gift exchange. The event was attended by 80 members.

Williams Remains Adamant In Payroll Controversy

BOISE (UPI) — State Auditor Joe R. Williams remained adamant Tuesday in his fight with management services and the state board of examiners on how to pay state employees.

"Since the advent of the pilot program by the department of management services we have had nothing but numerous errors, delays in processing payrolls, and general inefficiency," the auditor said in an affidavit filed with the fourth district court in Boise.

Williams maintained that he is not the "villain" in the suit that involves whether several thousand state employees will be paid on time Jan. 2.

A hearing on the matter is scheduled for Wednesday at 9 a.m.

The state auditor and his chief deputy, Chester Graham, spent most of the day Tuesday preparing their defense against the petition filed Monday by the state attorney general's office. The attorney general is seeking an injunction which would order Williams to pay the state employees under the old payroll forms which the board of examiners deemed acceptable.

Williams has initiated a new payroll system and ordered all state employees to either file their payrolls with the new form or "your forms will not be processed."

The state auditor denied that he was trying to halt any pay to any state employee. However, he and his deputy admitted that it may be impossible to pay employees whose names appear upon the old form.

The state board of examiners has ordered Williams to "cease and desist" from using his new payroll system, Williams' how-ever, has maintained that his constitutional powers exempt him from the board of examiners ruling.

Deputy Graham said Tuesday that at least six payrolls of major departments which were prepared by management services are not suitable. Williams said "I'm not going to touch any of them (the payrolls for an estimated 3,000 employees) until the court gives me a ruling."

U.S. Attorney Voices Protest At Testimony

CHICAGO (UPI)—"Oh, for God's sake, strike the question" Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard G. Schultz pleaded, putting his hand to his forehead.

What the question was didn't seem to matter—Schultz was objecting to answers given by Abbie Hoffman, if not the "king of the put-on," then most certainly one of its reigning princes.

Hoffman, one of the founders of the Yippies (Youth International party), Tuesday became the first defendant to testify in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He walked to the stand, his long hair fastened back with a rubber band. He took the oath with his clenched fist raised in the air. Periodically, he took a swig from a bottle of cough medicine—he had a cold.

His name? "My name is Abbie. I'm an orphan of America."

His last name? "My grandfather was a Russian Jew. Hoffman is my slave name. My real name is Shaboya. I can't spell it . . ."

And so on. Throughout the direct examination by defense attorney Leonard I. Weinglass, Schultz objected that Abbie Hoffman was avoiding answering questions that would reveal his role in the 1968 Democratic convention violence.

Probe Begins Of Air Crash Fatal To Two

BOISE (UPI) — Investigation began Tuesday into the crash of a light plane south of Boise that claimed the lives of a Mountain Home couple and injured their three children.

James Pavel, 36, manager of the First Security Bank in Mountain Home, and his wife, Janis, about 35, were apparently killed instantly when the Cessna 182 plowed into a rolling ridge.

Their three children—Sam, 8, Daniel, 10, and Jamie, 11—apparently survived because they were in the back seat of the plane. They were exposed to driving rain and near freezing temperatures throughout the night Monday.

All three were listed in satisfactory condition at St. Alphonsus Hospital.

One observer at the crash site said it appeared that the aircraft was heading north, back toward Boise, when the crash occurred. The wreckage was located several hundred yards off the side of Interstate 80 North.

Grieving Parents Express Gratitude For Help Given After Accident Kills 7 Children

DICKSON, Tenn. (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. John Edward McMahon planned to fly home to Cleveland, Ohio, Wednesday to bury seven of their nine children. But they carry with them warm memories of the hundreds of Tennesseans who came to their aid.

"We will never forget this town, and I'm sure we'll be back to visit," said John Edward McMahon as he, his wife, and their two remaining children began packing at Goodlark Hospital for the trip home.

It was a happy time when the McMahon family left Cleveland at 6 p.m. last Thursday. They loaded their station wagon with Christmas gifts. Their destination was Fort Smith, Ark., and Houston, Tex. to visit relatives and then on to Florida for the family's first vacation in 18 years.

Shortly before 3:30 Friday morning, a camping trailer towed behind the McMahon's station wagon began to weave on Interstate 40 near here.

Seconds later, the station wagon and trailer ripped through a guard rail of a bridge and slammed into a gravel roadbed 35 feet below. Six children were killed outright. Another died later in the day.

A fund-raising drive, begun by telephone workers less than four hours after the tragedy, had gathered more than $18,000 for the family by Tuesday afternoon and was still climbing.

Even though the family plans to return home Wednesday, a spokesman said the office set up on Main Street here as a collection point would remain open as long as contributions continued to come in.

Major Snowstorm Clogs Midwest, Halts Transportation As Yule Travel Mounts

By United Press International

Christmas Eve was whiter than residents of many areas would have liked.

A storm which plowed across the Midwest and up the Ohio Valley Tuesday left heavy snow accumulations, produced a rash of accidents, hopelessly complicated holiday travel and caused several deaths.

Another storm which pummeled the Northwest today was expected to move into the Midwest during Christmas Day.

Chicago was one of the hardest hit areas with 11 inches of snow. O'Hare Airport was a scene of confusion and delay. Some travelers were unable to get into Chicago at all as flights were diverted to nearby cities. At one point, four of five runways were closed at O'Hare.

At least four persons died of apparent heart attacks while shoveling snow in Chicago. Two similar deaths were reported in Iowa, where an average of four inches of snow fell.

Three persons were killed and seven injured in two three-car automobile accidents in Northern Illinois. Fourteen other persons were injured in an accident at Springfield, Ill.

Snow emergencies were declared in Milwaukee and several other cities, as up to 10 inches fell in Southern Wisconsin. Six inches of snow fell in Southern Michigan, South Bend, Ind., and Cleveland, Toledo and Akron, Ohio all had seven inches as the storm plowed eastward.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect early today across Southern Ohio, Northern West Virginia, Western Maryland and Southwestern Pennsylvania. Travelers warnings were up for the rest of Pennsylvania, most of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. However, predictions of three inches of snow for New York City were revised downward to "a light dusting."

Toastmasters Install Aides At Burley

BURLEY — New officers were installed for the Burley Toastmasters Club during a dinner meeting at Bryan's Cafe.

Installed were Leo Henscheld, president; Dallon Elquist, educational vice president; Tom G. R. well administrative vice president; Fred Johnson, secretary-treasurer, and Jack R. Holland, sergeant-at-arms. Installing officer was L. V. Morgan.

Paul Reid, retiring president, conducted the business meeting. Table topics discussion was on "Your Chamber of Commerce."

Mr. Morgan was the red pencil winner for the best table topic.

The next regular meeting will be at 6:15 p.m. Jan 5 at Bryan's Cafe. Visitors and inquiries are welcome.

God has listened to you enough times.

Now how about listening to Him?

More than a few things are troubling our cities, our world, our souls.

Sometimes, we raise our hands heavenward and say, "When oh when are you going to change it all, Lord?" And "changing it all" is just what He expects us to do!

Listen: "Love your neighbor as yourself."

If that were put to practice—really to practice—ghettos would not exist, wars would cease, hunger would end, inhumanity would be stricken from the dictionary.

A perfect world. Will we ever see it?

One thing is certain, we won't even begin to see it, if we don't start doing what God has asked of us for heaven only knows how long.

LITTLE CHERI WEBSTER, 2 1/4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Kathy Webster, was one of about a dozen Twin Falls Neighborhood Center children who were treated Tuesday at a special Christmas party. Santa Claus traveled down to the center from Sears and had candy canes for all the children. Everyone received gifts of toys and clothing from a committee headed by Ernie Jellison. The center Christmas tree was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alban, who also gave $15 for gifts. Rosemary Hartman made stuffed animals for all the children and Mrs. Emily Weaver, Buhl, knit 12 pairs of slippers. Another Twin Falls woman gave four pair of hand-knit mittens.

Sen. Dodd Exonerated By Agency

By ROY MCGHEE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department Tuesday ended a two-year investigation concluding no criminal prosecution was warranted against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., censured by the Senate for converting campaign contributions to his personal use.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell informed Dodd of the decision through a letter to Edward Bennett Williams, famed criminal lawyer representing the senator.

"In reference to the investigation conducted by this department into possible violations of Title 18 and 28 of the U.S. code by our client, this is to inform you that the United States will institute no criminal prosecution against your client," Mitchell's letter said.

The silver-haired Dodd brought Williams to the Senate press gallery at noon to make the letter public.

"I have been the subject for two years of an exhaustive investigation by the Internal Revenue Service and the Department of Justice. My lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, has received word the investigation has been concluded. I have been cleared of any wrong doing, as I always knew I would be," Dodd said.

The senator said he had always intended to seek reelection next year, regardless of the outcome of the investigation.

Dodd was censured on allegations that he converted $116,083 in contributions collected at a series of fund-raising dinners and testimonial affairs to his own use. He denied the charges, asserting the contributions were gifts for him to use as he pleased.

Williams said he had no information on the status of any civil claims the IRS might have against Dodd. The senator said the IRS has not demanded any adjustments in his income tax returns.

The Senate censured the two-term lawmaker following a lengthy investigation by its ethics committee. A series of articles based on Dodd's personal files delivered by the senator's aides to columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson led to the investigation.

Dodd sued the columnists for libel, but later dropped the suits.

Charter Fete Is Held For Declo Lions

DECLO — Faren Faler, Twin Falls, past director of the Lion's International, was guest speaker at the Declo Lions Clubs Charter night held in the Dining Room of Min's Cafe.

"The Need for Love and Service to Fellow Man" was the topic of Faler's speech as he encouraged the Declo Lions to establish worthwhile projects.

Carl Neiwirth, president of the Malta Lions Club, which sponsored the Declo unit, introduced Bill McGill, who served as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Thomas (Bill) Matthews.

The Malta Lions Club presented the Declo Club with a bell and gavel, and the Snake River Club presented a frame for the charter to the Declo Club.

District Governor Don Zuck presented the club charter and Orville Ward, president of the Declo Club, accepted it on behalf of the club, and expressed his appreciation to the Malta Club for sponsoring the new club.

Malta committee members in charge of the arrangements were Dale Pierce, Alvin Neddo and Orville Ward Jr.

Rusk Post Pondered By Regents

ATLANTA (UPI)—A special meeting of the board of regents was called Tuesday to discuss the proposed appointment of former Secretary of State Dean Rusk as professor of international law at the University of Georgia.

Regents Chairman H. G. Pattillo said he called the meeting for Dec. 29 "in view of the continuing and increasing widespread publicity and debate on the matter."

The proposed appointment of Rusk has touched off criticism by both Gov. Lester Maddox and Roy Harris, a member of the regents, who also is one of the South's most outspoken segregationists.

"All he (Rusk) knows is politics," Harris declared, "and we don't need any broken down politicians teaching politics in law school."

Pattillo, whose term as chairman of the regents expires on Jan. 1, said that in the normal course of events the appointment of Rusk as a professor of international law would come up for ratification by the regents on Jan. 14.

But he told other board members in a telegram, "official action needs to be taken as soon as possible for the best interest of all concerned."

Harris said Rusk's name should be eliminated from consideration.

University of Georgia President Fred Davison declined to withdraw Rusk's name, saying he'd rather let the regents settle it.

Harris said Rusk had no legal training or background for a job such as the Samuel Sibley Professorship of International Law, as Davison had proposed.

"Another reason is, this man is one of the most controversial politicians in America, and his politics will divide the regents and split the legislature down the middle and cause continual controversy in the state," Harris said in a telephone interview from his Augusta home.

Harris admitted that the marriage of Rusk's daughter to a Negro "makes him controversial with some people, but that isn't the determining factor here."

He said Southerners considered Rusk controversial before he became secretary of state for the late President John F. Kennedy and former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"He belonged to that ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) crowd and is amongst the most radical folks in the country," Harris objected.

Robson Says Forest Service Seeks To Grab 'Full Control' Of Idaho Primitive Area

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert Robson told the State Land Board Tuesday that the U. S. Forest Service is trying to grab full control of the primitive area by administrative regulation.

Robson said that "broad language" in the Wild Rivers Act apparently allows the Forest Service considerable latitude in establishing controls by regulation.

He said unless the state of Idaho acts and acts soon the regulations will have the force of law within 60 days.

Robson said the Forest Service is attempting to declare the bed of the middle fork of the Salmon River as well as the Clearwater and Lochsa rivers federal land on grounds these rivers are not navigable.

He said this is in contradiction of the Forest Service's own publicity which shows boats floating down the streams and the Forest Service's policy in charging for use of moats down the stream.

Besides taking away ownership of the river beds from the state, Robson said, the administrative regulations would affect the ingress and egress to the state school land sections in each of the affected townships.

In addition, he said, it could affect the use of some roads now maintained by the state because most of these through the back country are within a quarter of a mile of the river.

In an attempt to counteract the regulations, Robson said he has wired the congressional delegation asking for a meeting with Forest Service chief Ed Clift as soon as possible. He said he hopes the state can negotiate a solution to the problem but if not he is prepared to go to court.

Other members of the land board agreed with Robson that the threat was a serious one and that the state should act as soon as possible.

"We have to do everything we can to uphold the rights of the people of the state of Idaho," Public Instruction Supt. D. F. Engelking said.

The Scandinavia god Odin's wife name was Frigg.

and said he doesn't want to give up any of the school land sections in the primitive area.

Secretary of State Pete Carrara asked, "who sponsored this wild river bill?"

"Our two senators," Robson said, clearing his throat.

Meantime, the Land Board and the Parks Board discussed the problems of reimbursing the endowment funds for endowment lands in state parks as well as pollution problems in some state parks.

Robson said he felt that a proposed constitutional amendment to permit sale or long term lease of the lands to the Parks Department should be drafted as soon as possible and the Parks Department should seek money to survey and appraise all lands in the parks system. It was pointed out that the meets and bounds of many state parks are extremely vague and that public authorities are uncertain just what state lands lie within them. Possibly, Robson told the Parks Board, the state may have to go to congress to seek a change in its admissions act in order to absorb the endowment fund-parks problem.

LBJ Hints Nixon Discusses Press Treatment, Viet Plans

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When former President Lyndon B. Johnson met President Nixon in a two-hour breakfast conversation at the White House recently, there was widespread speculation about what they discussed.

The White House released a sparse list of foreign affairs topics which came up in the talks, but nothing more. Before returning to his Texas ranch, Johnson avoided reporters except for a few of his favorites. Even with them, however, the conversation amounted essentially to small talk.

But with former associates in his administration, LBJ did drop a few hints about his talk with Nixon.

Among other things, Johnson during his brief Washington stay spoke of how Nixon was being mistreated by the press.

He felt the current chief executive was on the right course in Vietnam, but the public was being disturbed unduly or confused concerning Nixon peace efforts.

That situation was attributed in large measure by what Johnson viewed as biased interpretation by columnists, commentators, cartoonists and other figures of Washington journalism.

From second and third-hand accounts, it was difficult to determine the extent to which Johnson compared Nixon's difficulties with his own experiences as a widely criticized President. Johnson, however, was quoted by one friend as having said, after his first White House visit since he turned over the presidency to Nixon last Jan. 20:

"Dick Nixon is doing a lot better as President than most people realize. And he would do a lot better (in conduct of the Vietnam War and peace efforts) if the blankety-blank press would leave him alone and give him a chance."

'Santa Claus' Faces Arrest For Bad Conduct

CHICAGO (UPI) — James A. Ciukaj, 23, dressed in a Santa Claus outfit, appeared in Domestic Relations Court Monday on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He had been arrested by police in a restaurant.

Ciukaj told Judge Jack Wilfeld he was wearing the suit because he planned to go to his sister's home to surprise her children, but had been side-tracked by too much good cheer.

"Well, it looks like you had too much of the wrong kind of Christmas spirit," said the judge, continuing the case to Jan. 23.

Thant Voices Peace Hopes For Mideast

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant said Monday he felt that, despite the deteriorating Arab-Israeli situation, the big four powers would have substantive agreement on Middle East peace proposals before the middle of January.

The ambassadors of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France scheduled their 21st private session in the search for peace at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the New York residence of French Ambassador Armand Berard.

Thant's prediction came at a news conference while Arab leaders considered Middle East policy in talks at Rabat, Morocco, and Israel's cabinet met in special session to consider the "eroding" U.S. support of its position.

The U.N. chief executive said Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring, the special peace envoy who has been at his regular post in Moscow for several months, would resume talks with Israel and the Arabs "as soon as there is progress in the big four talks."

VOCATIONAL COUNSELOR at the College of Southern Idaho, Nell Cross, and Mrs. Miriam Depew, chairman of vocational services for the Altrusa Club of Twin Falls, congratulate, from left, Mrs. Sharon Fischer, Mrs. May Marchello and Eileen Thaele, on their recent vocational awards. The awards, totaling $700, was presented to the women to aid in their practical nursing courses from the Twin Falls Altrusa Club.

Vocational Awards Given By Altrusa

Vocational awards totaling $700 have been awarded three Magic Valley women from the Twin Falls Altrusa Club it is announced by Mrs. Miriam Depew, chairman of the unit's vocational services project.

Vocational award recipients are Mrs. May Nettie Marchello, Twin Falls; Eileen Marie Thaele, Hansen; and Mrs. Sharon Marie Fischer, Buhl. These women were selected for the awards through the courtesy of Nell Cross, CSI vocational counselor. The money will be applied, in all three cases, to practical nursing courses.

The Founders Fund Vocational Aid Project was established in 1953 by Altrusa International. From this fund, outright grants of $50 to $250 are made to women who need training or retraining, personal rehabilitation or equipment to become employable or self-employed.

The fund is administered by an international committee appointed by the international president, and the grantees are recommended to the committee by local clubs. The sums requested vary in accordance with what is needed. The total amount that any one club can request during the club year is limited to $700.

COLOR FAVORITES

For spring, favorite colors in women's ready-to-wear are vermilion red, willow green, tulip yellow, and in blue, all shades from navy to the palest sky blue.

Living Alone Is 'Difficult'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lucie Arnaz, daughter of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, was raised in the hub of television but lived in a protective cocoon provided by her parents.

Now 18 years old and a queenly five feet, nine inches tall, little Lucie isn't so little any more.

She is beautiful, gracious and making her start as an actress on her mother's weekly television series, "Here's Lucy."

Lucie is also independent. She moved away from the family mansion this year.

"I just decided to see how hard it was to live alone," she says.

So far the brunette youngster has found it difficult indeed. She must keep personal accounts, pay bills, keep the bank account in balance, lug her laundry to the coin-machine place and other little chores that she had escaped while living with her mother and her stepfather, comedian Gary Morton.

Lucie rented an expensive apartment in Century City overlooking Beverly Hills. It has one bedroom and a large living room.

Before moving in, Lucie painted her new quarters on the 16th floor in white. She also undertook the task of papering the walls in the bathroom and the kitchen.

To furnish the apartment Lucie raided her father's ranch near Riverside, Calif., coming away with magnificent antiques and a few RKO-Desilu studio relics Desi had acquired over the years.

Compared to the spacious mansion in which she lived with mother, Lucie's new home is cramped and without a swimming pool, playroom, guest house and other little extras.

She also had to leave behind three pet dogs, Junior, Tinkerbelle and Ginger. She gave her goldfish to a cousin and claims a pair of turtles died of loneliness.

She did, however, take along two canaries, Him and Her.

Lucie says she enjoys living alone, but she does manage to travel the five minutes from her apartment to her mother's house for dinner two or three times a week.

She is learning to cook, but doesn't plan to make a career of it. She is most handy with steaks, chops and frozen casseroles.

In addition to her newfound freedom, Lucie became engaged to Phil Vandervort, a young film executive. They date frequently, going out to dinner and movies.

Lucie's closet is filled with pants and sweaters. She seldom can be found in skirts. "Unless it's for some big occasion."

Her schedule is busy. Four days a week she is required to be at the studio—Paramount—by 10 a.m. and seldom returns home before 8 in the evening.

Lucie's greatest relief is having graduated from high school. Until this season certain portions of the day were devoted to studying on the set under the firm eye of a tutor.

Young Lucie also returns to her mother's home when she wants to swim. On weekends she can be found shopping for clothes or decorations for her apartment.

She says there is no opportunity to be homesick because she sees her mother and her brother on the set every working day.

"The biggest lesson I've learned," Lucie concludes, "is that if you aren't careful your money goes out a lot faster than it comes in."

SOCIAL HELD

HAGERMAN—St. Catherine's Altar Society held a Christmas gift exchange and social at the home of Mrs. Marie Laragan recently. A short business meeting was held. It was agreed to make lap robes for rest homes as the 1970 project.

Buffet Will 'Serve' Yule Hostess Well

To be "The Hostess with the Mostest" doesn't necessarily imply that you must do the "mostest" footwork, because the holiday season is meant for highstepping, not for extra steps in the kitchen.

Dinner for the multitudes—or for a foursome—is easiest for the hostess when the food fare is served buffet style. Large quantities of party foods can remain in readiness on the buffet table, warmers or trivets.

If you are lucky enough to own an electric cook-and-serve skillet, prepare the main dish therein and serve directly from the cooker. Forget about taking steps to refill serving dishes. High-styled and colorful electric buffet-cookers, such as West Bend's new Country Skillet, have warming cycles. Food stays hot, while guests can enjoy an aperitif at their leisure.

Or, the hostess can prepare hot, while guests can enjoy a buffet table, with no trips to the kitchen stove.

Meanwhile, the still busy hostess is able to enjoy the spirited conversations while she works and talks . . . not walks.

Women's Section Smorgasbord, Party Hosted

The Scribblers Club combined their Christmas celebrations in the form of a smorgasbord at the Depot Grill and a business meeting and party at the home of Mrs. Olive H. Kelley.

The year's manuscripts were judged by Elsie Lindgren and token prizes were awarded to Mrs. Noma Walker, first place; Mrs. Goldie Stansell, second place; Mrs. Ruth Vandenberg, third place, and honorable mention to Mrs. Anna Hayes and Mrs. Evelyn Ellis.

Mrs. Hayes will serve the unit as president, with Mrs. Stansell as secretary.

Mrs. Ruth Johnston entertained the group with a story of her first Christmas, showing the contrast of the luxury, toys, Christmas trees, etc., of today.

Mrs. Kelley read some old-time poems, and this led up to the story of Twin Falls, which, when only a sagebrush desert inhabited by buzzards, rabbits and rattlesnakes, was within a few years — about 1905, incorporated—as a village.

Mrs. Hayes showed a brochure, "Magic Valley Yesterdays" by Fanny G. Brunt, published in 1947. In this booklet several poems were written by the Scribblers. Mrs. Hayes read the poem, "Oh Reverently I Walk," by Ruth Vandenberg, and one of her own, "Little Idaho." There were others by former Scribblers, Doreen Goertzen, Boise, Mrs. Grace Seavers, Iva Wilson and Edith McDonald Graham, who had a part in the publishing of "Magic Valley Yesterdays."

The Christmas party ended with the exchange of gifts and a hearty "Bohemian Snack."

Worthwhile Club Holds Dinner

HANSEN — The Rock Creek Worthwhile Club met at the home of Mrs. Vernon Ball for a turkey potluck dinner and gift exchange.

The hostess gave a modern Christmas story as the opening exercise. Mrs. Ray McKinstler reported that $10 worth of supplies had been purchased for the Happy Day School, Twin Falls.

A miscellaneous wedding shower is planned for Doug Larsen at the Jan. 8 meeting at the home of Mrs. Elsie Henry.

Old-World Dumplings Are Delightful

When the master chefs of the world unite, there will may be just one woman among them—an old-fashioned mother representing a whole world of lip-smacking good Jewish cooking that typifies the word "home-style."

Way back to those original Jewish Mothers, Sarah, Rebecca and Rachel, the mistress of the tent was also mistress of the stove. And since Jewish kettles have simmered the world over, Jewish cuisine has become one vast melting pot.

The melting pot includes potatoes. That you can believe! Potato Cholent, Potato Chremsel, Potato Knaidlach, Potato Kugel, Potato Latkes and Knishes to name just a few. The following recipe for Knishes calls for instant Idaho potato flakes, which means that you can have delicious Knishes in a fraction of the time it used to take.

These charming old-world dumplings are a delightful change from the ordinary. There is an almost endless list of delectable potato dishes to which every part of the world has contributed. And Idaho-grown potatoes, whether fresh, frozen or instant, do their part by contributing extra flavor and wonderful texture, no matter what cooking method is called for—baking, boiling, mashing, frying, or you name it. The unique combination of growing conditions found in Idaho results in a truly all-purpose potato that's better all ways.

POTATO KNISHES

- 2 cups cold mashed potatoes prepared from instant mashed Idaho potato flakes
 - 1 cup dry curd cottage cheese (ricotta)
 - 3 eggs
 - 4 green onions, diced
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 3/4 cup soft butter or chicken fat
 - 2 cups sifted flour
 - Buttered bread crumbs
 - Sour cream or applesauce
- Prepare instant mashed potatoes according to package directions. Mix one cup of the potatoes with cottage cheese, one of the eggs, green onions, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth cup butter. Set aside for the filling.
- Mix other cup of potatoes with two eggs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup butter and flour. Roll out on floured board one-fourth inch thick. Cut into four-inch squares; top with a spoonful of filling and pinch up dough to make small squares.
- Set on a greased cookie sheet, drizzle remaining butter over tops and bake at 375 degrees 25 minutes until golden brown. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and serve with applesauce or sour cream, or serve plain.
- Makes about 16 knishes.
- Note: Sometimes knishes are boiled in stock first, then browned in butter or finished off in the oven.

INSTANT MASHED Idaho Potatoes are the inside and out of Knishes Potato Knishes, for the potato dough is filled with potato, cottage cheese, green onion and egg.

Club Officers Are Elected

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Flossie Marsh was elected president of the Past Noble Grands Club at a meeting held recently in conjunction with the Christmas party.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Elwood Grimes, vice president, and Mrs. Vernon Brewer, secretary-treasurer.

A turkey luncheon was served at 1 p.m., followed by a gift exchange and business meeting. Tables were decorated with wreaths centered with large red candles and poinsettia.

Mrs. Emma Sevey, outgoing president, presented each member a small ceramic Santa Claus candy dish filled with candy and nuts.

The newly-elected officers will take office at the January meeting.

Sandi Gates Is Bride Of Barry Howsden

WENDELL — Sandi Gates, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Gates and the late Charles T. Gates, became the bride of Barry Howsden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Howsden, all Wendell, in rites Nov. 13 at the Presbyterian Church, Coeur d'Alene.

A reception honoring the new-laws was held Nov. 30 in the United Methodist Church, Wendell.

For the reception, the bride wore a pale green wool street-length dress, fashioned with long sleeves and accented with a pink rosebud corsage.

The bride's table was covered with a white handmade linen tablecloth, draped with white tulle and tied with white satin streamers.

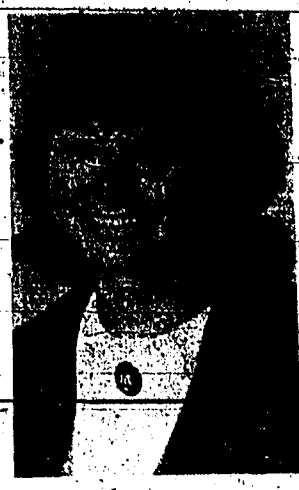

A five-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink Sweetheart roses cascading from the top of the cake to the bottom. The cake was flanked by long pink papers in crystal holders. A silver punch bowl and coffee service complemented the table decor.

Mrs. Joe Klimes cut and served the cake. Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. Ira Rohrer, Boise, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Kari Carnahan, Glenferri, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Frank Jeffries, Gooding, and Mrs. Harry Frith, Wendell, friends of the couple.

Lorraine Carnahan, cousin of the bridegroom, registered guests. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Bill Fleming, Mrs. Bob Doughty, Jerome, friends of the couple, and Mary Ann Miller, Wendell.

Julie Carnahan, cousin of the bridegroom, carried the gifts. Music was provided throughout the afternoon by Mary Lou and Ann Hagerman.

The young couple reside at 419 2nd Ave. E., Twin Falls.

The children are Dr. and Mrs. K. T. Johnson and sons, Stoney Point, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Adolf, North St. Paul, Minn.; and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pewkes, Portland, Ore.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and their sons will leave in mid-January for Korea where he will serve on a medical mission for the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Nelson read a letter from her sister who has been living in the Middle East, presenting a sharp contrast to living in the United States.

The next meeting will be the 10th anniversary of the club's founding, and a luncheon will be held at the Rogerson Hotel in January.

Jones and a pin to Mrs. Clark, the present outgoing president. Christmas carols were sung. Mrs. Clark conducted the business meeting.

Girl, 17, Hits It Big With First Play

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—At 17, Jane Wagner of Morristown, Tenn., was going to conquer the world with her music. Then, it was with her acting. Followed by sculpture and designing.

Finally, she got around to writing, and in the first television play she ever put on paper, she probably has found her direction. Miss Wagner, a tiny, brown-eyed blonde, is the author of an hour-long network special presented originally as a breakaway from the usual Saturday daytime mold of cartoons for children.

But the play won such critical and viewer acclaim, the network has now rescheduled it for prime evening time next week.

The work, which originally began as a ballad Miss Wagner wrote, also has been turned into a book and Miss Wagner thinks she may make it back into a ballad again.

The play is entitled simply "J.T." Its central figure is a small Negro boy of the ghetto.

The youngster, whose father deserted his family, is left to himself while his mother is at work (and while he skips school), and has as his only companions a stolen transistor radio and a scrawny, half-blind cat which he finds in an empty, litter-strewn lot.

He nurses the cat back to health, only to have it become a victim of the cruelty and brutality of the slums.

SANDRA JEAN MILLS

Sandra Mills, Bortz Reveal Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Mills, Filer, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sandra Jean, to Airman Ronnie Dean Bortz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bortz Jr., Twin Falls.

Miss Mills is a senior at Filer High School. Airman Bortz was graduated from Twin Falls High School and the College of Southern Idaho. He is serving in the Air Force, stationed at McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey.

A July 19 wedding is planned.

Magic Valley Favorites

MRS. GLEN W. ANDERSEN
601 S. D St., Rupert

- Karo Crazy Krunch
- 2 quarts popped corn
- 1 1/2 cups pecans
- 1/2 cup almonds
- 1/2 cup Karo crystal clear syrup
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 cup margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix popped corn and nuts on a cookie sheet. Combine sugar, margarine and syrup in a one and one-half quart saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling, stirring occasionally, 10 to 15 minutes, or until mixture turns a light caramel color. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour over popped corn and nuts. Mix to coat. Spread out to dry. Break apart and store in tightly covered container. Makes about two pounds.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure gave me a laugh. I am a 27-year-old mother who (10 years ago) used to sit for 25 cents an hour, and I did more for my quarter than any sitter I've ever had for 30 cents.

Sitters in our day were expected to entertain the kids, pick up after them, bathe the little ones, and put them all to bed. THEN, do the dishes.

Now all the sitters do is SIT! The kids can pull the place apart and the sitter doesn't lift a finger to straighten it up. And sitters can eat you out of house and home. But what gets me is they won't even bother to carry their own empty bottles, glasses, and dishes into the kitchen, let alone wash them. They just leave everything right in the room where they had their refreshments. I think I'd faint if one ever cleaned up after herself.

For my part, I wouldn't mind paying 75 cents an hour if I came home to a house that looked as tidy as it did when I left it.

But I think 75 cents an hour for someone who watches TV, talks on the phone and adds $3 to my grocery bill is 50 cents an hour too much.

HAS BEEN SITTER

DEAR ABBY: Don't let me get started on sitters and how "underpaid" they are. Some of the dillies we've had should have paid US!

One quiet little thing who always carried a Bible in her purse, thoroughly cleaned out our liquor supply before leaving town.

Another one (a bosomy college freshman) physically ATTACKED my husband while he was driving her home one evening. So surprised was he, he hit a telephone pole and broke his nose. (She said all she wanted was a KISS!)

We had a whole series of hungry kids who ate the fridge to the bare walls, but one had the gall to work out of the deep freeze and thaw stuff out in the oven.

But we decided to use only elderly ladies after a neighbor called the fire department to extinguish a fire in our house. Our teen-aged sitter and her friends were having such a gay party they didn't even know the house was on fire!

Thank heavens we don't need sitters anymore.

"FREE AT LAST" IN WOODSIDE

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure got to me, but I think my experience with a sitter last week tops them all. Listen to this: A friend of mine recommended a high school girl to sit. I called her and she asked me if we had a color TV. I told her we had one so she said, "Good, I'll come."

She came and I told her that the older girl (10) could bathe herself and put herself to bed, but the younger one (six) might need a little help, so she could see that she brushed her teeth and got into bed by 8 p.m. Both children had had their supper and the kitchen was spotless. I left a sandwich for the sitter and told her to help herself to a soft drink in the fridge.

When we came home at midnight, we found the front door wide open and every light in the house was on. The TV was blaring so loudly we heard it half a block away as we approached our house. We found the sitter sound asleep on the sofa. When I went into the kitchen I found that she had made popcorn and fudge for herself and left the mess for me to clean up. She had also opened two cans of crabmeat and finished them off. She had drunk three bottles of soft drink and had eaten nearly a quart of ice cream!

I checked on the children and found the little one curled up in a corner of her room asleep with all her clothes (and SHOES) on.

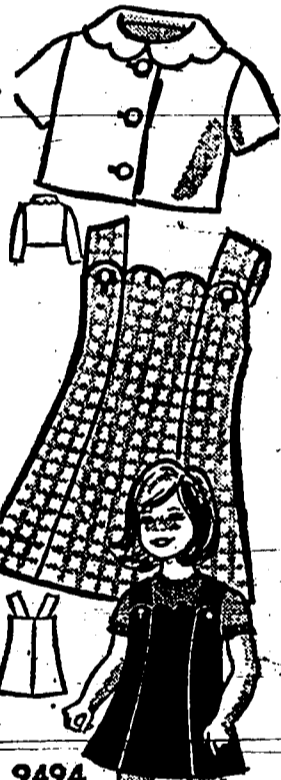

When I paid her the 50 cents an hour we had agreed upon, she said, "The last lady I sat for gave me a dollar tip."

During the business meeting, Virginia Larimer reported that the guild has received approval for an aquarium in the geriatric ward. The project will be financed by the guild. Another canary has also been purchased to replace the one recently stolen from the ward.

Mrs. Larimer also reported that several groups are planning parties and programs for the ward and all those interested in doing so should contact the committee.

After the installation of officers, a crowded corridor greeted Dr. and Mrs. Albert Truxal who recently moved to Rupert and entered practice with Dr. B. K. Humphrey. Dr. Truxal moved to Rupert from Rexburg.

Tea chairmen were Evelyn Honsinger and Delores Moller, with Theresa Henscheid pouring coffee and Mildred Markland pouring punch.

29 Children Are Treated To Special Shopping Spree

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News Correspondent
FILER — Christmas came early this year for 29 children in the Filer area who were treated to a special day of Christmas shopping, a turkey dinner, a movie, Christmas carols and treats from Santa Claus.

For a number of years the American Legion Auxiliary has filled Christmas baskets of food and distributed them to needy families in the area. Donations of food and money came from various clubs and individuals in the community and for several years the Filer Civic Club was responsible for toys to be included in the baskets of the families with children.

This year, in lieu of the baskets, plans were made to take the children on a shopping spree and treat them to a party afterwards.

Mrs. Jack Ramsey engineered the project and was assisted by American Legion Auxiliary members and by Kiwanis Club members and their wives. Each child was given a sum of money to spend and was taken shopping by an adult. Many children, who in the past had never been able to buy presents for parents or friends, were able to choose their own gifts of love.

After the shopping tour, the group of excited youngsters was brought to the American Legion Hall and served a huge turkey with all the "trimmings." As one member said, "I watched one little boy fill his plate four times!"

After the dinner, Rev. Elam Anderson, pastor of the United Methodist Church, showed slides to the children and the entire group sang the old familiar Christmas carols.

Highlight of the heart-warming Christmas party was a visit from Santa Claus himself, who gave bags of treats to all the children.

"The event was very successful and I think the adults enjoyed it as much as the children," commented one auxiliary member. Christmas is always mostly for children and these thoughtful Legion and Kiwanis members and their wives. Each child was given a sum of money to spend and was taken shopping by an adult. Many children, who in the past had never been able to buy presents for parents or friends, were able to choose their own gifts of love.

Robyn Frith Conducts Meet For Area Bethel

WENDELL — The Job's Daughters of Bethel No. 12 met recently under the direction of Robyn Frith, honored queen.

Guests were Mrs. Gloria Thompson; Mrs. Peggy Frith, past honored queen; Mrs. Lilian Barton, past guardian; Mrs. John Wert, worthy matron, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Frith, associate guardian and guardian. Leslie Sullivan, treasurer, reported on Bethel funds. Committee reports included Janice Higgenbotham, refreshments; Nancy Bunn, clean-up and decorations for installation, and Terri Coopers and Debi Gilbert, sunshine committee.

Janet Callen gave the librarian's report, "We Are Keeping All the Time." Tami Gilbert and Krayen Thompson were given the proficiency test. Birthday girl was Diane Glick.

A program by the choir was presented. A social hour was held after the regular meeting. Entertainment was provided by the Bethel choir. Robyn Frith, outgoing queen, gave a talk and Nancy Bunn, honored queen, gave a preview of her reign.

Hobby Club Members Meet

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Verion Brewer was co-hostess with Mrs. K. A. Barton for the Christmas meeting of the Hagerman Valley Hobby Club held recently at the Barton home.

The meeting was opened with a spiritual thought on Christmas given by Mrs. Brewer, who also read a poem, "Christmas at Our House." Group singing of Christmas carols was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Tupper at the piano. A gift exchange was held.

Mrs. Edna Harmon, Twin Falls, was a guest. At the short business meeting, Mrs. Gerald Duncombe was re-elected president, with Mrs. Roy Fields elected vice president and Mrs. Tupper, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting is Jan. 2 at the Duncombe home.

Annual Christmas Eve Torch Light Parade Is Scheduled At Sun Valley

KETCHUM — Excitement mounts as Christmas Eve and Day draw near. Santa Claus is due to arrive at the Challenger Inn at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve. Following his arrival, the annual Torch Light Parade will begin at about 6:15 p.m. on Dollar Mountain. Hot wine will be served on the Inn Terrace and Christmas Carols will be sung along with other gay festivities while the ski-instructors, with torches in hand, navigate their way down Dollar Mountain.

The first showing, at the Opera House of the movie, "Downhill Racer," rated as one of the finest ski movies ever produced, was held Tuesday. According to some, this event will be very much a part of their Christmas activities.

The Boiler Room opened Monday with a group by the name of "David and Suzanne." They are scheduled to stay through Jan. 3 and if the reception they are receiving is any index, they will undoubtedly be booked for further engagement.

"Los Comancheros" are performing afternoon and evenings in the Ram Bar for the Christmas Week. A group called "The Original Caste" will play in the Ram Bar after Dec. 29.

The Duchin Room is providing great entertainment and dancing with "The Sun Valley Trio." Hap Miller's ensemble is back and plays during the dinner hour in the Lodge Dining Room.

The Duchin Room has a special, Sunday night buffet from 7 to 10 p.m. The Ram Dining Room, too, will have a special buffet on Wednesday nights beginning Jan. 7.

Trail Creek Cabin, which also serves dinners is reached by sleigh leaving from behind the Challenger Inn and the ride provides a thrill on a clear night, especially with a full moon. Tea is served daily from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the Redwood Room at the Lodge, providing the "older set" with an hour of warmth and conversation after a day at Sun Valley.

The Sun Valley Horsemen's Center is now open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. They have a good-size, indoor arena in which to ride. The rink is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the swimming pools at the Lodge and Inn are open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. every day along with a sauna bath in the Lodge which is open until 6:30 p.m.

With the beginning of the Christmas week, Baldy and Dollar Mountain received quite a lot of snow.

Dollar Mountain is now in full operation with 18 inches of snow. The top of Baldy now has 21, and the Roundhouse has 18 inches. Upper and Lower Warm Springs, Grey Hawk, Blue Grouse, cut-off, college, and river run are open to skiing on Baldy.

Snow conditions and skiing is reportedly very good on these runs. On Monday, there was six inches of new, light powder to ski in.

The Inter-Mountain Division of the U.S. Ski Association is staging a downhill team race on Jan. 4 and 5. Junior experts, Class A and Class B, will be competing.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE CHRISTMAS observance at Sun Valley is the annual Christmas eve torch light parade, slated for 6:15 p.m. today. Carols will be sung while the ski instructors, with torches in hand, ski down Dollar mountain. All facilities at the resort are now open for holiday vacationers and extra snow has improved skiing conditions. Santa Claus is expected to arrive at 6 p.m. just before the torch light parade begins.

Winners Listed For Rupert Chamber Of Commerce Yule Lighting Contest

RUPERT — Winners in the annual Christmas decoration and lighting contest are announced Monday by Jay McBride, committee chairman. Receiving $25 grand prize was Walter Kraus, whose home is located a mile and a half west and two miles south of Rupert. The Krauses won the prize with a combination of a life-sized lighted Santa on the roof and a nearly-life sized nativity scene on the front lawn. Eaves of the home and branches of the surrounding evergreen trees were also lighted.

In addition to the grand prize, first and second place winners were selected in each of three categories, including Rupert, outlying towns and the rural areas.

In the Rupert city category, Bill Strasser was first, with a $15 prize and John Cameron was second for $10. Bob Greer, Paul, was first in the outlying towns division, while Walter Stoller, also Paul, was second.

Rural division winners were Carl Henschel, first, and Ray Commons, second.

Honorable mentions went to Dr. A. F. Dalley, Art Grove, Gus Menapace, Bob Catmull, Carl Keely, Larry Duff, Mike Bossert, Bob Stimpson, Heyburn; Don Rasmussen, Harry

Once-Banned Diplomacy Is Making Rapid Comeback

By K. C. THALER
LONDON (UPI)—Secret diplomacy, banished by the major Western powers after World War II as the product of an authoritarian policy concept, has staged a remarkable comeback.
 The United States, once the most outspoken opponent of secret diplomacy, has significantly taken the lead in restoring it, if only on an experimental basis.
 The key test case now in operation is the Soviet-American talks in Helsinki on the possibility of limiting strategic arms (SALT).
 The outcome may determine the future of inter-state relations in the 1970s.
 Western postwar policy, moving away from the earlier practice of secrecy, shifted toward full scale open diplomacy by the mid-1940s. It has since determined the major East-West developments of the past quarter century.
 Cold war diplomacy was essentially an open diplomacy, with the West—at any rate, giving full publicity to its major policy moves and designs.
 International negotiations proceeded in the limelight of full publicity, to the point of being over-publicized at times.
 The postwar peace conferences, the many Big-Four negotiations, the summit meetings, the Far Eastern conferences all enjoyed utmost publicity, often on a blow-by-blow basis.
 Critics of open diplomacy have argued that greater discretion might well have helped to produce better results.
 The current Helsinki talks between Russia and the United States has evidently taken this counsel. It stands out as an example of secret diplomacy with both sides keeping silent on the progress of their effort to an unprecedented degree in modern times.
 While the Helsinki talks are the most important and far-reaching example of secret diplomacy—at present, the practice appears to be spreading.

 The Russo-American exchanges on the Middle East crisis proceeded under a veil of secrecy for some time until their obvious lack of progress led to first official disclosures recently.
 On the Communist side, secret diplomacy, at its best or worst, is presently playing its part in the crucial Sino-Soviet talks in Peking where restraint is such that it is even unclear whether they are still going on.

Tragedy

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—A wedding party turned into tragedy Tuesday with the bridegroom and two guests dead and the bride and four other persons critically ill because of food poisoning.
 Police were not able to immediately trace the origin of the mass poisoning.
 They identified the dead bridegroom as a traffic policeman, Luis Hernando Padilla, 24, and his bride as Anaïs Prieto-Pinilla, a police department secretary.

America's Retail Florists Report Best Christmas Season In-History With Non-Flower Gifts Contributing Heavily

By LEROY POPE
NEW YORK (UPI)—The retail florists of America are having the best Christmas season in their history. Not only are flower sales quite good, but they have picked up $20 million in new business in their first season of telegraph sale of non-flower gifts.
 This was revealed by John L. Bodette of Detroit, president of Florists Transworld Delivery Association and its international affiliate, Interflora.
 "For the first 11 months of this year, with the big December sales still to come, the 12-

000 florists in FTDA sold 106,000 non-flower gifts ranging in price from $8 to $50 for telegraphic delivery," Bodette said. "We sold 33,000 fine cups and saucers, 23,000 pitcher-and-bowl sets, 20,520 silent butlers, 10,000 small garden watering cans and 17,000 other gifts."
 The flower shops aren't going in competition with the general gift shops. "We sell only items compatible with flowers. The usual order is for the gift item and a bouquet to be delivered together," Bodette explained. "We also will keep the list down to fewer than a dozen items because the average flower shop can't find space to stock more."

 Florists also don't want to complicate their physical delivery system, but the results of the first year of the new gift business far exceeded expectations. Bodette said telegraphic orders for flowers have been so good that the FTDA members total 1969 domestic telegraphic business may approach $200 million compared with $120 million last year for 12 million orders. FTDA is one of the oldest cooperative marketing organizations in the world. It was founded in 1910 and now comprises around one-third of the retail flower shops in the United States. It can deliver to 85,000 communities in the United States and Canada. The typical flower shop depends on it for 15 per cent of its total business.

 Interflora now performs the same services in 90 countries but its sales lagged because of currency exchange problems. Finally, the association hit on the idea of using its own invented monetary unit to facilitate telegraphic sales across international borders, then recon-calling exchange balances later. The private monetary unit is called the florin, and its exchange value is 25 U.S. cents.

House Eases Trade Curbs With Reds
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House, in its final legislative action, approved Tuesday new rules to relax trading of non-military goods with Communist countries.
 It passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a compromise measure extending through June 30, 1971, new export controls to replace the 20-year-old Export Control Act.
 Basically, the measure continues to give the President discretion to prohibit and regulate exports to Communist countries and to bar trade if the national security requires it.
 However, the new proposal liberalizes the old rules under which some 2,200 items—ranging from automobiles to milk—were put on a special list preventing exports.
 President Nixon proposed a simple extension of the Export Control Act, and the House majority went along.
 The Senate, however, proposed the liberal new rules, and a House-Senate conference worked out new language—not as liberal as the Senate but more liberal than the present export act.
 The new program would require the administration to review the list of prohibited goods to see if items should be freed for trading.

African Murder Try Shows Instability Of New Nations

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The attempted assassination of Uganda's President Milton Obote points up once again the instability of new black African nations and the fact that violence is depriving the Africans of some of their most talented leaders.

In the decade of the 1960's, the continent has experienced more than 25 military coups, plus dozens of others that did not succeed.

Scarcely any of the original leaders remain.

Going the assassin's route last July was talented young Tom Mboya, Kenya's minister of economic development, shot down in a Nairobi street.

Last October a Somalia policeman killed President Abdirashid Ali Shermarke, paving the way for a military takeover.

On Dec. 10, a military coup toppled Dahomey's civilian government headed by Dr. Emile Zinsou.

Now comes the shooting of Uganda's President Obote.

All four had played leading roles in the struggle to eliminate tribalism which is the bane of Africa and to help lead their countries down the path of democracy.

The shooting of Mboya set the rival Kikuyu and Luo tribes at each others throats, threatening the economic and political stability of a country which has been an African showplace.

The death of Ali Shermarke threatened to reopen old feuds among the clans and to upset an uneasy truce with two of its neighbors, Ethiopia and Kenya.

In the former French colony of Dahomey, Zinsou ruled without a power base over Africa's most densely populated country and one of the poorest.

Dahomey is divided among seven ethnic groups which no Dahomey president ever has been able to unite.

Despite his lack of a power base, Zinsou was regarded as one of Africa's best-informed leaders, a staunch advocate of civilian government and of a confederation of black Africa.

The problems facing other black African nations also have faced Obote in Uganda but to an ever greater degree.

Tribally, it is divided between Bantu and non-Bantu. There are deep religious rivalries and cleaves within individual groups.

Obote's "common man's charter" originally aroused fears that he was aiming toward a radical, Socialist state. So far it has been more radical in appearance than in fact.

'No Sex'

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Juvenile Court Judge, Alrio Cavaliari has called on 11 advertising agencies operating in Rio de Janeiro to reduce the "sex appeal" content of their layouts.

The judge acted after a survey carried out in 23 city schools among students 13 to 17 years of age showed 70 per cent interested in sexual problems and another 10 per cent in the use of drugs.

BLISS — The Bliss Grange will meet Jan. 15.

Nixon's Plan To Accelerate Integration In Construction Given Boost By Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a major victory for President Nixon, Congress has given its approval to a plan designed to force more Negroes into the building trades unions.

The triumph involved, an about-face by the Senate which repudiated a stand it had affirmed four times just last week—and a healthy House vote, despite the opposition of organized labor.

At issue was the "Philadelphia Plan" a prototype system the administration is imposing on the construction industry in Philadelphia. It requires that government contractors make efforts to hire more blacks for construction work, until the Negroes comprise 20 per cent of the work force.

The plan was seen as a model for use in other places in the nation where blacks have been demanding building trades jobs. The effect of the plan would be to force the unions to bring more Negroes into their ranks.

The Senate, in four separate votes last week, had attached a rider to a fill-in money bill which would, in effect, have killed the Philadelphia Plan.

But the House on Monday, after a veto threat from Nixon and intense lobbying from the administration, voted to kill the Senate action on a vote of 208 to 158.

On the eve of the vote AF-CIO President George Meany had urged the House to go along with the Senate in opposing the plan. Meany said he opposed quota systems and described such systems as illegal.

The House then sent the measure back to the Senate on a take-it or leave-it basis. The Senate decided to undo its previous action by voting 39 to 29 to go along with the House.

Also working behind the scenes in the voting was a veto threat from the President. Nixon hinted he might not accept the action, and such a step would have forced Congress to come back after Christmas to revive the money bill involved since without it some parts of the government would have been without funds after Jan. 1.

Miss Devlin Imprisoned In Ireland

LONDON (UPI) — Bernadette Devlin was sentenced to six months in jail Monday for riot incitement during Catholic-Protestant strife last August. But appeals delayed the start of the term and supporters cheered as she walked out of the courtroom in a maxicoat.

Miss Devlin, at 27 the youngest Member of the British Parliament, led Roman Catholics on the barricades in August when religious fighting rocked this city and Belfast, the Ulster capital.

The sentence was handed down Monday after a five-day hearing. The magistrate's court convicted here on four of 13 charges brought during a confrontation at the barricades on Aug. 12. The nine other charges were dismissed and she was released on $600 pending an appeal to be heard in February.

Witnesses testified Miss Devlin used abusive language and threw stones at police while urging other people to defy police attempts to remove the barricades.

Janitor Finds Abandoned Tot

RENO (UPI) — Tiny "Holly Winter" is in good condition today thanks to a sharp-eyed janitor.

George Kacmarik, a 52-year old bachelor, found the tiny baby abandoned near a high school on Sunday. When he heard the infant cry, he first thought it was "a wounded animal."

The baby, who was about 24 hours old when found, was taken to Washoe Medical Center, where she was given her new name. Doctors report she is in good health and they say offers of help and possible homes for the tiny child are pouring in.

Minico Places 11 Men In Scoring Column To Race To 79-61 Win Over Burley

BURLEY—The powerful Minico Spartans boomed past the Burley Bobcats 79-61 Tuesday night behind an 11-man scoring punch and domination of the backboards.

NIAGARA SUPERSTAR Calvin Murphy hits the floor in Tuesday action after being run down from behind by two Xavier players, Joe Gromada and Jerry Helmers. Murphy came off limping after the crash but returned and finished the game as Niagara won 91-83. (UPI telephoto) of the second half, broke the game opening by hitting the first 11 points of the second quarter to open up a 16-point lead. At times that margin grew to 29 points before 6-8 Jim Boatwright and some of the other starters left early in the third quarter. Burley couldn't get closer than 15 after that, however. Burley had the best of it in the early minutes, running up a 6-1 lead and missing some other good chances that would have padded the count. But with just under five minutes left, the Spartans started getting untracked and in 45 seconds pulled into a 7-7 tie on a field goal by Mike O'Donnell. Another tie developed at 9-9 before O'Donnell's free throw and O'Donnell's field goal sent Minico ahead for the night.

Holding a 17-12 edge as the second period began, Ketterling hit a three-point play and Boatwright picked up five straight. O'Donnell and Boatwright then collected from the foul line to cap the 11-point flurry. Nelson hit to get the Bobcats off 12 but Minico kept going and led 46-23 at halftime. The Spartans expanded that to 58-29 early in the third quarter and went to the bench.

Minico's sophomores won the first game easily with the high light being a total of 73 fouls called.

Vols' Dickey Offered Job With Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Tennessee's Doug Dickey has been offered the head football coach job at Florida, the team his Volunteers play Saturday in the Gator Bowl.

Neither Ray Graves, Florida's coach and athletic director, nor Dickey wished to discuss the offer as their teams prepared for the bowl game. Dickey acknowledged that he had "been approached."

"Beyond that, I can't say anything," Dickey said. "I have a football game to get ready for."

A high source at the University of Tennessee said Dickey had advised university officials that he had been offered the coaching job held by the 51-year-old Graves, who would devote all his time to his other job as athletic director.

Dickey told the university officials that he would not consider the offer until after Saturday's game is played.

"This is a heck of a time to be bringing up something like this," said Dickey.

While it was clear that the Gators were interested in Dickey, there was no indication that the former Florida quarterback would accept the offer. "As I've said before," he stated Tuesday, "there is no better coaching job in the country than at Tennessee."

Florida officials have refused to confirm frequent reports in Florida newspapers that Graves is weary of coaching and plans to step aside at the end of a successful season. Graves said Tuesday he has no plans to give up either job.

Dr. Stephen C. O'Connell, president of the University of Florida, stressed that the reports of the offer to Dickey "certainly didn't come from me, or Coach Graves, or anyone at the school." But he didn't say that the offer hadn't been made.

Los Angeles-Minnesota NFL Playoff Will Pit Equal Teams With Similar Strengths

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL—edge over Joe Kapp of the Vikings. Viking coach Bud Grant is generally in agreement with the appraisal of the two teams, who meet here Saturday for the NFL western division playoff.

"I think they're not only equal, but similar," he said, "in the style of play, their strengths and so on."

UCLA Sets School Record In 133-84 Rout Of LSU Tigers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA held Pete Maravich to a season low of 38 points Tuesday night and broke its own school scoring record by demolishing LSU 133-84.

UCLA hit on 57 of 102 shots from the floor for a 55.9 percent average. The Tigers, on the other hand, made only 31 of 88 field goal attempts or 35.2 percent.

The undefeated and second ranked defending national champions built up a 69-40 halftime margin and led by more than 50 points through much of the late going.

The Bruins, in pushing their record to 5-0, had six men in double figures. Forwards Curtis Rowe and Sidney Wicks had 23 each, while guards Henry Bibby scored 17 and center Steve Patterson had 15. Reserve forward John Ecker hit 12.

San Diego Ends Laker's String

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Diego Rockets beat back a furious fourth quarter rally Tuesday night for a 115-109 victory over Los Angeles snapping a two-year losing streak to the Lakers.

The victory, scored before a Paulley Pavilion record crowd of 12,961, erased the old Bruins mark, 127-69, set Dec. 13 against Miami of Florida.

Elvin Hayes poured in 32 points and Jim Barnett added 24 as the Rockets beat Los Angeles for the first time since Christmas Day, 1967, after 15 straight losses.

Maravich did not score a point until nearly six minutes were gone in the first half when he sank two free throws. He scored his first field goal with 9:18 gone on a 20-foot jumper. The fancy-dribbling guard had 20 points at halftime.

Jerry West led the Lakers with 30 points, 11 of them in the final period, while Happy Hairston had 25.

The game was close all the way, being tied at the intermission 31-all and with 11:50 to go was leadlocked 46-all when the host Flyers started a stall that produced a 58-50 lead for them. Cincinnati capitalized on three consecutive Dayton fouls for five points to trail only 58-55 and John Fraley hit a felder for the Bearcats on a Dayton turnover, to put the visitors ahead for good.

Art Williams, however, followed with a pair of free throws two seconds later to clinch the win for the Rockets. Hayes dominated the boards by pulling down 26 rebounds as San Diego won its fourth game in its last five starts.

Cincinnati now is 5-1 while Dayton, headed by Ken May with 22 points, is 4-2.

Kapp, Gabriel Head West Squad In NFL Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Joe Kapp of the Minnesota Vikings and Roman Gabriel of the Los Angeles Rams, rival quarterbacks in Saturday's NFL Western Conference championship game, will be teammates on the West team in the Pro Bowl.

The 34-man team picked by NFL coaches was announced today by directors of the 20th annual Pro Bowl game to be played Jan. 18 at the Coliseum.

The Vikings landed eight players on the West team while the Rams will have seven representatives.

The selections included Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, the league's leading rusher. Sayers missed last year's game because of a knee injury requiring surgery. He was chosen back of the game in 1967 and 1968. Jim Brown holds the record of three back of the game awards.

For Kapp, 31, it will be his first appearance in the Pro Bowl while Gabriel will be making his third straight visit. Last year he alternated with Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts at quarterback when the West scored a 10-7 win to take a 12-17 edge in the series.

Linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Rams was chosen for his ninth Pro Bowl appearance to make him the veteran member of the West team. Only John Unitas, Leo Nomellini and Gino Marchetti have more appearances with the ten.

Gene Washington, Minnesota; Carroll Dale, Green Bay and Gene Washington, San Francisco, were receivers; Charlie Cowan and Bob Brown, Los Angeles, and Grady Alderman, Minnesota, tackles; Tom Mack, Los Angeles, Gale Gillingham, Green Bay and Elmer Collett, San Francisco, guards; Mick Tingelhoff, Minnesota, and Ed Flanagan, Detroit, centers; Charlie Sanders, Detroit, tight end; Gabriel and Kapp, quarterbacks; Sayers, Tom Matte, Baltimore, Jim Butler, Atlanta and Ken Willard, San Francisco, running backs.

The defensive players selected: Carl Eller, Minnesota, David Jones, Los Angeles and Jim Marshall, Minnesota, ends; Olsen, Fred Miller, Baltimore, Alan Page, Minnesota, tackles; Dave Robinson, Green Bay, Dick Butkus, Chicago, Dave Wilcox, San Francisco and Baughan, linebackers; Lem Barney, Detroit, Bob Jeter, Green Bay and Jim Johnson, San Francisco, cornerbacks; Rick Volk, Baltimore, Paul Krause, Minnesota and Wood.

Florida Dumps Harvard 95-75

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Forward Andy Owens turned in a 39-point performance Tuesday night as the University of Florida Gators beat Harvard 95-75.

Colorado St. Hires Irish Line Coach

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—Jerry Wampfler, 38, an offensive line coach from Notre Dame, Tuesday accepted the job of head football coach at Colorado State University.

He replaces Mike Luke who posted a 29-51-1 record for the Rams during eight seasons.

Wampfler's appointment is effective Jan. 1, following the Fighting Irish's game with the University of Texas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Wampfler received permission from Notre Dame to negotiate for the CSU job before he was interviewed for it. "CSU is ready to break out and make a name for itself in the world of athletics, and I'm happy to be a part of it," Wampfler said Tuesday. CSU is a member of the Western Athletic Conference.

"I am anxious to get settled into the new position and begin recruiting. The 1970 season has now started as far as Colorado State University is concerned," he said.

Wampfler played football at Miami of Ohio University four years and coached there under Bo Schembechler from 1963 until 1965. During those years as offensive coordinator, the Miami teams finished second in the Middle America Conference and took first place in 1965.

In 1966, his first year at Notre Dame, Wampfler helped guide the Irish to a national championship and finished third in total offense.

Declo Music Groups Give Yule Concert

DECLO — The Declo High School music department presented a Christmas concert, Christmas Follies, under the direction of Mrs. Lynn Johnson, director.

I mean, here some knowledgeable, dedicated weathermen had prepared what I regarded as truly excellent forecast.

Yet it would have a life span of only an hour or two before being revised.

In my day, weather forecasts were more durable. A good forecast in those days would last you up to 12 hours, maybe longer.

These would be engraved on plaques and hung in the weathermen's Hall of Fame, to be created by act of Congress.

Land Board Votes To Bring Old Albion Books To Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the State Land Board voted Tuesday to bring to Boise for storage an historic library at the old Southern Idaho College of Education campus in Albion.

In doing so, however, the board stipulated that the Land Department first determine if enough money is available in the $25,000 legislative appropriation to the board for disposal of the Albion campus to pay for transporting the books.

Attorney General Robert M. Robson noted that Boise State College wants the library "the worst way."

Public Instruction Supt. D. F. Engelking said he felt Boise State should have the library and Robson agreed. However, Auditor Joe R. Williams pointed out that residents of the Albion area believe the library should remain in the area.

Gov. Don Samuelson said he was told that "many, many books" in the Albion library now are out of print and some are worth more than $100 per copy.

Board members decided finally to attempt to move the library to the state library in Boise for safekeeping pending a final determination on what should be done with the books.

Stuart Teacher Slips In Hall, Breaks Shoulder

Isabelle C. Miller, 302-5th Ave. N., was listed in fairly good condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Wednesday where she is under treatment for a fractured shoulder.

A teacher at Robert Stuart Junior High School, Mrs. Miller was injured in a fall at the school Monday afternoon.

School officials said she apparently slipped in the hallway at 2:45 p.m. while on her way to her classroom. She was taken to the hospital by ambulance after she collapsed from pain.

CHARLIE, THE NASA spaceman, arrived in Twin Falls last weekend for an indefinite stay. He will be on display from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday at Lynwood Shopping Center in conjunction with a fund-raising project by the cadet squadron of the Civil Air Patrol of Twin Falls.

The young men and women will have a coffee booth at the Lynwood and funds will be used to purchase uniforms.

Charlie, who is outfitted in the exterior suit worn by the nation's moonmen, also will be taken on an extensive tour of Magic Valley's schools after the holidays. Charlie's home is at NASA's special project division, Pasadena, Calif.

GE Accused Of Rewarding Nonstrikers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union leaders accused the General Electric Co. Tuesday of offering $10 rewards to nonstriking employees who recruit strike-breakers for the production lines at one New York State plant.

"First they made scabs of these people by making office people do production work and now they're asking them to procure strikebreakers," a spokesman for the United Electrical Workers UE said.

GE promised to investigate the charge.

The UE made the charge during its last negotiating session with GE before Christmas. The UE and the International Union of Electrical Workers IUE met separately with GE officials and federal mediators.

The next session will be Monday at 10 a.m., the UE spokesman said.

The UE said management at GE's Hudson Falls - Fort Edwards plant across the Hudson River from Glens Falls, N.Y., had informed employees it was looking for workers for the duration of the strike, now in its ninth week. A total of 147,000 GE workers are on strike throughout the country.

Families Of Captives To Stay In Paris

PARIS (UPI) — About 150 wives and children of U.S. servicemen believed held prisoner by North Vietnam will seek a Christmas Day meeting with Hanoi peace negotiators in Paris despite a rebuff from chief negotiator Xuan Thuy, a spokesman for the group said Tuesday.

The American women and children are scheduled to arrive in Paris Christmas morning aboard a ship chartered for the purpose. The group will air to the United States upon the completion of the "United We Stand" movement.

One of Perot's associates, Jim J. Messerschmitt of Dallas, said servicemen's families would board three buses as soon as they land in Paris and proceed directly to the Hanoi delegation headquarters at suburban Choisy-le-Roi.

"I would like to stress that this is not a demonstration, nor a vigil," said Messerschmitt, who arrived in Paris late Monday. "These are merely the wives and children of missing or captive Americans who want to find out whether their relatives are alive or dead."

Messerschmitt said that the Paris visit by the wives and children was in no way supported by the U.S. government and that he had not even been in touch with any American officials in Paris.

The organizers of the Christmas flight to Paris, where Communist negotiators have been meeting in Vietnam peace talks with Americans and South Vietnamese, appeared undaunted by North Vietnamese statements indicating Hanoi officials would not go along with Perot's plans.
