VOL. 66, NO. 231 TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1969 TEN CENTS

THE BIG DAY is over. The trash barrels are filled with wads of gaily colored wrapping paper, cardboard boxes and streamers of ribbon. The golden brown turkey is little more than a carcass, waiting for the soup pot. Mom wishes she hadn't eaten so much and dad wishes he hadn't drunk so much. And Santa Claus is glad he's back home, with a year to rest his tired feet before he has to make that long trip once again. Christmas, that magical season, is just a memory, and a good one. And most of us, amazed again at what good that feeling of brotherly love does for our souls, are vowing to make those New Year resolutions to keep that feeling alive all through the coming year. May we succeed, Amen. (Times-News photo by Dan Johnson)

Late-Arriving White Christmas Delights Skiers, Irks Motorists

Although the white Christmas was a bit late arriving, it did come through with enough snow and ice to leave most areas looking a bit more like Christmas by mid-afternoon. Holiday travelers who were planning to return home Friday morning were not too delighted, as nearly all roads and highways in the state were listed as hazardous Friday. Idaho State Police road reports listed "ice or a broken snow grip" on all highways including those into Utah and Oregon. State plows were out most of Thursday, despite the holiday, in some areas and all equipment was on the job early Friday. Highway officials said about eight inches of snow fell on top of Galena Summit and four inches at the bottom, with the storm continuing in that area. About two inches of snow fell in Fairfield and six inches on Cat Creek Summit. Sanding trucks were busy Friday on all interstates on state and federal highways and on some icy stretches of interstate routes, as well as on highways covered by a snow floor. Snow flow was reported from King Hill to Gooding, and from Bliss to Buhl the highway was ice-covered. Snow was reported from the Nevada line to Twin Falls and Jerome and from the Burley and

Christmas Eve Thief Hits Salvation Army

About $100 was taken during the night of Christmas Eve from the Salvation Army shelter on Second Avenue North. Capt. George Driver said this was all the money in the building at the time, but he suspects the thieves believed cash from Christmas collections were in the safe at the shelter. He said about $1,100 which was collected from the Army's kettles and checks from private donors are kept in the bank. These funds are used to finance the Christmas programs from the city's needy and for winter relief for area residents. City police said the building was entered by prying a door open and that the safe containing the money also was prying open. Capt. Driver said some personal papers, including some insurance policies, also were taken. Capt. Driver said he discovered the break-in about 9:30 a.m. Christmas day when he went to the shelter to complete preparation of Christmas baskets for the poor of Twin Falls. He said dinner for the indigent of the area was served at the City Cafe this year, with the Salvation Army picking up the tab.

WING CAUSES CRASH

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force says the crash of an F111 jet in Nevada earlier this week was caused by a broken wing. The commission pointed out it had no knowledge or authority to determine when or if Air West will be allowed to discontinue its service Magic Airlines because Trans Magic Airlines is already doing business between Burley and Twin Falls and several other Idaho communities, in compliance with all rules and regulations of the commission, it is logical to extend its authority to include the northern flight. The commission said rates and changes proposed to the commission by Trans Magic were also found to be just and reasonable and have been approved. Application of Trans Magic was made Oct. 2 for the flight to Sun Valley. The commission had previously denied the application for a hearing was held Sept. 15 by that commission. A public hearing on both matters was held Oct. 27 in the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

Armstrong 'Steals' GI Show From Hope

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Comedian Bob Hope staged a Christmas Day doubleheader Thursday entertaining 12,000 Marines at Da Nang and 16,000 paratroopers at Camp Edge, 25 miles to the north. Astronaut Neil Armstrong stole both shows. The Marines, who had waited since 3 a.m. for the afternoon show, gave Armstrong a two-minute standing ovation when he strode on stage with a message from Americans "to say thank you for what you're doing here." The Marines earlier had roared their tumultuous approval when some Leathenics unfurled a 20-foot long American flag. But the loudest roar came for the first man to walk on the moon and his statement that peace on earth is more important. "I really didn't want to come this year, but the Pentagon insisted," the 66-year-old Hope told the Marines. "That's the last time I'll make jokes about Spiro Agnew reading Mad Magazine." Later, talking to newsmen in his dressing room, Hope said this was the most memorable of his six visits to Vietnam. "The kids I talked to were more relaxed and they felt we were winning," he said. "I just wish everyone back home could get over here and travel around and see what is really happening. Next year I'll be overseas somewhere with the troops, but it would be nice if the situation in Vietnam were such that it wouldn't be here." Other members of the Hope cast this year include the Les Brown Band, singer-across Connie Stevens, singer-dancer Teresa Graves of the "Laugh-In" television show, dancer Suzanne Charney, the 12-girl dance group "The Goldiggers" and Miss World 20-year-old Eva Reuber-Staier of Vienna, Austria.

Major Storm Hits East

Disappointed Families Leave Paris

By EDMUND G. JOHNSON
NEW YORK (UPI)—A transatlantic trip that began with high hopes in Dallas ended in disappointment but not despair in New York today for the families of 58 prisoners of war held captive in North Vietnam. The 58 wives and their 94 children returned from their pilgrimage to Paris on Christmas afternoon without the news they wanted but with the feeling their journey was not in vain. "We left for Paris with hope in our hearts and returned with hope and expectation for the future," the wives said in a joint statement. Today the pilgrims will scatter to their homes in 22 states after their whirlwind flight which took them to Paris and back in less than a day. The families left New York Christmas Eve aboard the Spirit of Christmas, a jet chartered for the group by United We Stand headed by Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot. Perot also is paying for the flights from New York to their homes for many of the families. Three of the wives met privately with the North Vietnamese with their leader Mrs. Kenneth Fisher of Sebring, Fla., vehemently refuting the charge that she and her companions were a "dupe" of Washington. "The North Vietnamese accused us of being the dupes of the American government," said Mrs. Fisher, her silver-blond hair ruffled after the group returned to Kennedy Airport. A companion, Mrs. Donald Rander of Baltimore, Md., said that Mrs. Fisher shook off repeated harangues in which Tran Vien Duong, of the North Vietnamese Consulate, accused the wives of having "political motives" rather than humanitarian ones. Mrs. Fisher, who appeared tired, quietly commented: "They told me to go home and tell my child her father is a murderer of North Vietnamese children." In calmer moments the diplomats and the women sipped tea and were "cordial and formal," Mrs. Fisher said. "They helped us with our coats when we left and said 'Merry Christmas' which really surprised me," she added. They ended the day with religious services and a party that included gifts for the children around a large tree in a hotel lobby. The reports listed 101 Viet Cong or North Vietnamese slain in the fighting, with South Vietnamese losses put at 11 dead, 19 wounded and two missing. There was no immediate explanation for the delay in resuming B52 strikes. In the past, the Stratoforts have come back almost immediately for raids against suspected Communist positions. Smaller fighter-bombers recorded 73 missions in the first six hours after the truce, military spokesmen said. They were not held back. The Allied soldiers went back to normal combat operations an hour before Pope Paul's call for a continuation of the truce in an effort to find peace. Military spokesmen said the Communists initiated 115 shooting incidents during the Allied truce, wounding three Americans. This made the cease-fire less costly than any of the three previous Christmas stand-downs. The complete Agnew itinerary: Arrive Honolulu Dec. 26, depart Dec. 27; arrive Guam Dec. 28, depart Dec. 29; arrive Manila Dec. 29, depart Jan. 2; arrive Taipei Jan. 2, depart Jan. 3; arrive Bangkok Jan. 3, depart Jan. 5; arrive Katmandu Jan. 5, depart Jan. 6; arrive Jabul Jan. 6, depart Jan. 7; arrive Kuala Lumpur Jan. 7, depart Jan. 9; arrive Singapore Jan. 9, depart Jan. 11; arrive Bali Jan. 11, depart Jan. 13; arrive Canberra Jan. 13, depart Jan. 15; arrive Auckland Jan. 15, depart Jan. 17; arrive Honolulu Jan. 16 (crossing date line), depart Jan. 19; arrive Washington Jan. 20.

Agnew Leaves On Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew leaves today on a 37,000-mile mission of personal diplomacy that will take him from Guam to Australia. Agnew and his party, including his wife, were to leave Andrews Air Force Base at 10 a.m. EST. President Nixon has already laid out the general purpose of the trip: To discuss the post-Vietnam future of the nations he visits, with emphasis on Nixon's doctrine for more economic and military independence from the United States. Most of the places Agnew will visit were missed by Nixon on his trip through the region earlier this year. In addition, it was considered likely that Agnew would make an unannounced in-and-out trip to the Vietnam War zone for a visit with U.S. troops.

Curious Types

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—Police Officer Don Smith saw the flickers of a flashlight bobbing inside a darkened home here in the pre-dawn hours of Christmas and moved in to investigate. Smith knocked on the door and identified himself as a policeman to the sleepy-eyed man who answered. The intruders turned out to be sheepish four-year-old twins who were getting a preview of what Santa left. They said they were using their flashlights so as not to awaken their parents.

B52s Plaster Red Troop Movements

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command held back its B52 bombers for seven hours after the end of the Allies' Christmas truce, then sent them today on five strikes against Communist infiltration routes. American and South Vietnamese troops concluded their 24-hour standdown at 6 p.m. Christmas night (8 a.m. Thursday EST), but the Viet Cong's three-day truce was to last until 1 a.m. Saturday (noon Friday EST). The Allied soldiers went back to normal combat operations an hour before Pope Paul's call for a continuation of the truce in an effort to find peace. Military spokesmen said the Communists initiated 115 shooting incidents during the Allied truce, wounding three Americans. This made the cease-fire less costly than any of the three previous Christmas stand-downs. Israeli Jets Pound Arabs In Jordan

By United Press International
Israeli warplanes today followed up their record Christmas Day raids along the Suez Canal with a brief strike at Arab camps in Jordan. The attacks were in retaliation for strikes into Israel by Arab guerrillas, a spokesman for the Israeli command said. Witnesses said the air strike began at 8 a.m. when Israeli aircraft crossed the Jordan River to strike Jordanian and Iraqi military targets at the foot of the Gilead Mountain range. To the north, Israeli mortar men shelled the area around the village of Iis A Jabl in Southern Lebanon after Arab guerrillas launched a rocket attack from there against the Israeli village of Manara, the Israeli spokesman said. For eight and a half hours Thursday, Israeli warplanes made raid after raid on Egyptian targets in a 10-mile wide zone in the central and southern sectors of the waterway, an Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said. Cairo defense officials claimed four Israeli planes shot down in Thursday's attacks and said the assault came as no surprise to the Arab high command. They said anti-aircraft gunners used "new methods" in "repelling the planes but did not elaborate. A Tel Aviv communiqué reported Israeli and Jordanian troops exchanged artillery, mortar and small arms fire along the Jordan River for three hours Thursday night. It said the duel erupted following an Arab guerrilla rocket attack on Kibbutz Geshur, south of the Sea of Galilee. There was no mention of any Israeli casualties. A spokesman did report the death of a 24-year-old sergeant in an Israeli-Egyptian exchange of fire in the southern sector of the Suez Canal Thursday.

Holiday Toll Dips Below Estimates

By United Press International
Fewer people than estimated were dying on the nation's roads today during this long Christmas holiday period. The National Safety Council had made its biggest estimate of traffic death fatalities for a holiday period, saying between 800 and 902 persons could die between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday. The council said the nation's motorists would drive 9.1 billion miles during the 102-hour holiday period, and die at the rate of about eight an hour. Today, motorists were dying at a rate of less than six an hour. A United Press International count at 7 a.m. EST showed at least 199 persons killed in traffic accidents since 6 p.m. Wednesday. A breakdown of accidental deaths: Traffic Planes 199, Fires 29, Miscellaneous 15, Total 243. New York led the states with 16, Texas had 15, California 14, and Pennsylvania and Georgia 13 each. Mr. LaVallee said Dr. Fasolino, who is in charge of the planning study, will be attending to discuss the solid waste study. He said the county hopes to cut down on the number of dump sites and to get other cities, such as Kimberly, Hansen, Castleford, Buhl and Filer involved. The group will meet at 10 a.m. in Mr. LaVallee's office.

Trans Magic Gets Sun Valley Flight

Members of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission issued an order Friday favoring Trans Magic Airlines as the carrier between Twin Falls and Sun Valley. The order denied the application of Sun Valley Airlines for the service between Twin Falls and Hailey to serve Sun Valley. It further ordered the certificate of public convenience and necessity issued to Trans Magic, Inc., Trans Magic Airlines be amended by granting the firm the authority to include the service between Burley, Twin Falls, Hailey and Sun Valley. Findings of the PUC stated Sun Valley Airlines had conditioned its application of the abandonment of the service by Air West, Inc., and it was the position of Sun Valley Airlines, Inc., it would not be feasible for two intrastate airlines to be certificated by the commission so long as Air West continued to provide service between Sun Valley and Twin Falls. The commission pointed out it had no knowledge or authority to determine when or if Air West will be allowed to discontinue its service Magic Airlines because Trans Magic Airlines is already doing business between Burley and Twin Falls and several other Idaho communities, in compliance with all rules and regulations of the commission, it is logical to extend its authority to include the northern flight. The commission said rates and changes proposed to the commission by Trans Magic were also found to be just and reasonable and have been approved. Application of Trans Magic was made Oct. 2 for the flight to Sun Valley. The commission had previously denied the application for a hearing was held Sept. 15 by that commission. A public hearing on both matters was held Oct. 27 in the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

Mental Health Official Asks Gooding Hospital Change

The president of the Idaho Mental Health Association, Ethel Voorhis, said use of the chest disease hospital at Gooding for the treatment of alcoholics is a mistake.

In a letter to the Times-News, she said, "All research and study indicates the alcoholic should be treated in the community where he lives so that all important resources such as family, friends and employers can be used. Such studies indicate that the proposed use of the Gooding hospital as a treatment facility is a rather large step backward if a serious alcoholism treatment program is what the Board of Health wants."

She said Idaho does not have enough money to allow itself to get into a political "pork barrel" situation just to keep the Gooding hospital open.

"To fund programs that have already been proven ineffective will only place Idaho further behind in the rehabilitation of alcoholics," she said.

She said community mental health centers and clinics, as close to the patient's home as possible, is the route recommended by the Board of Health at its meeting last May.

Mrs. Voorhis urged the board to reconsider its plan to use the Gooding hospital as an alcoholic treatment center, and asked "Would it not be better to focus on people rather than buildings?"

Special Study On Child Support Problem In Minidoka, Cassia Counties Conducted At Request Of District Judge

BY FRED DODDS Times-News Staff Writer

RUPERT — Last September Fifth District Court Judge Sherman Bellwood asked for a study on divorce in Minidoka and Cassia Counties.

But knowing how unmanageable a complete study on the divorce problem would be, he asked a special volunteer panel from each county to concern itself with the problem of child support only.

The results are interesting and may, in time, pave the way to better understanding of finance and divorce and may even offer a formula to aid judges in the touchy divorce issue.

In Idaho, one out of every three marriages fail sometime in the first 10 years.

Judge Bellwood, in asking volunteers to serve on the panel, said, "All of us should be vitally concerned in finding workable solutions to the mushrooming problems of family disintegration in modern American life—the problems which rise in the wake of divorce."

He said the costs are severe in not only human values but in tax expenditures, mental illness, juvenile delinquency, adult crime, support of neglected children and public assistance costs.

In asking that the study be limited to child support, Judge Bellwood said, "People are blinded by the marriage breakdown. In most cases neither parent knows how much it costs to support a child." He said, "They are blinded to primary mathematics. They don't realize two families can't live on one income as well as one family."

In following Judge Bellwood's suggestion, the panel worked on four specific questions. They are:

1. What is a reasonable standard for child support per month for low income families in the Minidoka and Cassia area?

2. What is the minimum monthly amount that a low income paying father needs for his own support in the area?

3. What, if any, revisions would be made in the family support chart (a chart supplied by Judge Bellwood)?

4. What, if any, change would be made on the monthly room and board schedule for foster care (another chart furnished by Judge Bellwood)?

Panel members were Robert Scott, R. J. Gerleman, Bill Whitton, Mrs. Forrest Badger and Mrs. Phil Perotto Jr., all Rupert, and David L. Humphrey, Martin L. Anderson, Mrs. Charles P. Reas, Jeanette Broadhead and J. Rex Stanley, all of Burley. Mr. Scott and Mr. Humphrey served as co-chairmen of the panel during their four-month study.

Judge Bellwood said the findings of this panel will not be a substitute for judicial determination for child support cases, but added, "The findings should be of benefit not only to the parties to a divorce problem but to the public and other interested persons."

In other words, the effort, which cost nothing, is for public information only—to help inform those considering divorce of the problems surrounding the breakup of a family.

The study shows, simply, that a low income father in the Minidoka and Cassia County area cannot afford divorce.

First of all, the panel found that a tax form is available for the transfer of a tax deduction from the divorced mother to the support-paying father. If the father takes this deduction it would provide more money to him and he in turn could use this for increased child support payment.

The form is available at all Internal Revenue Service offices.

In finding a formula for child support per month for a low income family in the area, the panel recommended three age groups. They are from 0-6, again from 6-12 and finally from age 13-18.

The total in each age group give the child a basic allowance, shelter and utility. In the middle group, an additional education allowance is permitted. In the last, a miscellaneous allowance is also added.

The basic allowance includes the essentials of food, clothing, personal costs and household operation. The shelter allowance is based on a national average of $12.10 a month.

Utilities are based on a household average for the area in question, as is the educational allowance.

In the 0-6 age group, the support payments are $68 a month for one child; $115.36 for two children; $157.65 for three children and $187.32 for four children.

In the 6-12 age group, the panel found it costs $70.50 a month to support one child; $122.38 for two children; $163.65 for three children and $200.32 for four children.

In the 13-18 age group, the costs are $75.50 a month for one child; $132.86 for two children; $181.65 for three children and $218.32 for four children.

Panel members found the cost of living in the Minidoka and Cassia County area is high in comparison with other areas of the state.

"The majority of low-income fathers in the area are employed in local processing plants and the average earnings for such fathers would be about $371.50 a month," panel members said in their report.

Breaking it down, members said averages in food manufacturing jobs range from $425 a month to $378 a month; transportation jobs, $350 a month to $359 a month; city employment, $375 to $385; federal, $400 to $365; farm labor, $350 to $383, and wholesale and retail trades, $375 to $359.

The average is $371.50. The average for each occupation was obtained by panel members by contacting companies in the area.

Less taxes, the support-paying father's monthly income is $285.90.

A cost of living chart shows it costs $65 a month to live in a house or apartment, utilities included; $90 a month for food; $85 a month for transportation, which includes car payments and upkeep; $36 a month for recreation, and $20 a month for clothing. There is no allowance for medical or dental bills, or for other bills the support-paying father owes.

The total cost of living a month comes to $296 a month. This bare minimum, the panel reported, compares with the take home pay of $285.90 a month for the average low income father.

In other words, he goes in the hole $10.10 a month.

Panel members feel a low income father in the area could not make "significant" payments from his income, but added the father should make a token payment of about $5 a child per month. For fathers with an income in excess of the amount of the minimum income, the panel feels an increased amount of child support

Deadline For Medicare Nears, Official Warns

A medicare deadline is fast approaching warns John K. Carlton, manager of the Twin Falls Social Security office.

The last day for claiming reimbursement for medical expenses incurred during the period from October, 1967 through September, 1968 is Dec. 31. Any medicare beneficiary who had medical expenses during that time and hasn't claimed payment from medicare yet should do so immediately, Mr. Carlton said.

Those needing assistance in preparing the reimbursement claim should telephone, write or visit their nearest Social Security office. The Twin Falls office is at 156 Second Ave. W. and the telephone is 733-6050.

New Broom

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt has lost no time in demonstrating that a new hand is indeed at the controls in Bonn.

And the effect is definitely noticeable not only in West German internal affairs, but on the European and East-West diplomatic fronts as well.

Brandt has carried through a politically touchy but long-needed revaluation of the mark, a major contribution to stabilizing the international money markets and ending, for the time being at least, the gold crisis.

He has given a new push to European economic integration, getting the Common Market moving again on consideration of British membership.

And he has taken the lead in exploring new approaches in West Germany's and the western alliance's relations with the Communist East.

All in all, an impressive record for the less than two months since Brandt's Socialist-Free Democrat coalition took over in Bonn.

It is, of course, West Germany's position as the strongest economic and political force in Western Europe that has made Brandt's initiative possible. But it is very much to the chancellor's credit that where he might have been heavy-handed in exercising this power, he has instead been firm but discreet, ruffling few Allied feathers. Not even France, which West Germany is replacing at center stage, seems unduly upset. This is indeed a new Germany.

In the long run, the most significant of Brandt's moves may be the gesture toward the East, particularly NATO's more receptive attitude, for which he is largely responsible, toward a possible European security conference with Russia and its Warsaw Pact allies.

Moscow has been pushing such a conference for years. The West has been rejecting it for as long as a transparent effort to split NATO and ease the United States out of Europe.

But times change, even in the ponderous politics of communism. It may just be possible that here, as in the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms talks in Helsinki which have an almost equally long background, there is now a suitable climate for serious discussion.

NATO, at its Brussels ministerial meeting this month and at the urging of West Germany, has now switched from outright rejection to suggestion that the Soviets give some indication they are willing to discuss seriously such issues as the division of Germany and troop reductions.

Nothing may come of it. But Brandt is at least making an effort to move the East-West confrontation off dead center.

"Don't Shoot Till You See The Whites Of Their Eyes!"

WASHINGTON — On his recent trip to the NATO meeting in Brussels, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird was besieged by Western European defense ministers pleading for the U.S. to pressure Israel out of its occupied Arab territories. Laird was told that every day Israel remains in the lands it captured during the 1967 six-day war, Soviet influence rises throughout the Middle East. From his own Navy command in the Mediterranean Sea, Laird was also informed that Soviet steaming days — one "steaming day" equals one Soviet naval vessel at sea for one day — have soared from 750 in 1963 to 16,000 so far this year.

demands that Israel evacuate most of the conquered lands as its concession to a settlement. Mr. Nixon is worried. He is now far more fearful than when he took office that continuation of the mini-war along Israel's expanded borders will solidify Soviet influence, increase the hatred of 100 million Arabs for the U.S., and drive a wedge between the U.S. and Europe (which depends on Arab oil for its economic existence).

Some of the President's top advisers even go so far as to say privately that time has run out and, no matter what public pressure the U.S. brings against Israel, the Arab states are irrevocably estranged from Washington.

But that opinion is still in the minority. Thus, Mr. Nixon finally gave approval last week for Secretary of State William P. Rogers to make his speech — in preparation for weeks — setting forth a policy dramatically less pro-Israeli so that Arab leaders could get the message before their summit meeting tomorrow (Dec. 20) in Rabat, Morocco.

The hope is that the few anti-Soviet royalist governments still left in the Arab world — conspicuously, Saudi Arabia and Jordan — will use the hardening U.S. position to argue with Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Syria, Iraq, and the new revolutionary government of Libya against closer ties with Moscow.

As one top policy maker told us: "We had to give them some evidence — any evidence — that we are not Israeli's attorney and that's what the Secretary's speech was designed to do."

Beyond that limited goal, the new Nixon toughness toward Israel will soon develop other ramifications. The U.S. wants to hammer home one hard point throughout the Arab world: The Soviet Union, despite its enormous expenditures of arms and words for Arab friends, has been totally unable to scare Israel out of the occupied territories. The obvious implication of this is that where Russia has failed by force, the U.S. might succeed by diplomacy.

But this requires cooperation from the new government of Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel, and there is not the slightest indication today that it will be forthcoming. To the contrary, one of Israel's most charismatic hawks, Gen. Ezer Weizman, has just resigned as assistant chief of the army general staff to serve in Mrs. Meir's new cabinet. That switch adds to the government one of Israel's most outspoken voices against evacuation of the occupied territories.

Furthermore, during an intensive two-and-a-half hour talk with Secretary Rogers on Dec. 16, Israeli foreign minister Abba Eban informed the U.S. government that there will be no change in Israeli policy. He made clear Israel will not even talk about withdrawing from its new lands until the Arab states agree to sit across the table and negotiate head-to-head — with no interference from the U.S. or anyone else.

Thus, the stage is set for a classic test of wills between the Nixon administration and Israel, a test Mr. Nixon feels he cannot avoid if there is any chance at all to convince the Arabs that the U.S. is in fact not "Israel's attorney." In setting the stage for that test of wills, the Nixon administration has given Israel the word there will be no U.S. economic aid, desperately needed by Israel, and no further arms aid, either, for the foreseeable future.

In choosing this course, the President has courageously exposed his administration to political hostility from the large and powerful pro-Israel bloc in both parties. In the broader interests of U.S. and Western interests in the Mideast, that was unavoidable.

Bowed Legs

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I constantly observe elderly women who have become extremely bowlegged. I am sure they had straight legs when they were younger.

What causes this change? Can anything be done to avoid it? — Mrs. W.M.

Better understanding of diet has greatly reduced rickets in recent decades; it is possible that some of these people you see may have had some bowing of the legs because of rickets when they were children.

However, bowing can develop in the elderly — in men as well as in women. Changes in the joints and bones cause this. For one specific example, degenerative joint disease (or osteoarthritis, if you prefer that term) can distort the hips and the ends of the long bones of the legs, causing bowing.

Osteoporosis (a loss of density in the bones) which is common after menopause can be a factor. Paget's disease of the bone, not uncommon in oldsters, may be another cause.

Not very much can be done about the joints or Paget's disease, but appropriate use of female hormones and proper diet and exercise aimed at lessening osteoporosis may be helpful in restoring more density to the bones and thus averting or limiting the bowing.

Once the legs have become bowed, there is no way of undoing it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it harmful to eat too much tuna fish? I have high blood pressure. — L.D.

I can't see how it can harm you unless you eat it to the exclusion of other foods needed for a balanced diet.

The Panthers: Not Much Love

WASHINGTON — No conspiratorial reasons why police fight Panthers. Some of the reasons stem from the inflammatory conduct, and especially the purple rhetoric, of Panther leaders.

There are plenty of non-conspiratorial reasons why police fight Panthers. Some of the reasons stem from the inflammatory conduct, and especially the purple rhetoric, of Panther leaders.

So, while it may be true that police Panther shoot-outs are creating some sympathy support for the violence-minded Panthers, there is no likelihood that animosities can now be cooled.

The Justice Department has said it is not fostering concerted action by police departments against Panther leaders, as charged after recent incidents in Los Angeles and Chicago.

There is, to date, no evidence here to support those charges. To be sure, the Justice Department is moving in the federal courts against Panther leaders. One of the cases involves the statement of David Hilliard in San Francisco last month that, "We will kill Richard Nixon."

Other incidents are under study in the department. Other court cases may be pressed, but they are quite apart from the searches, arrests and other law enforcement activities of local authorities which have sparked the recent hostilities.

Veteran law enforcement experts here list a number of reasons why police forces are focusing such activities on Panther units.

The public is not generally aware of the extent to which the Panthers in their own publications and statements, have declared war on the police. The theme, continually stressed, is: "Kill the Pigs."

Police officers, however, are well aware of the Panther propaganda. They hear it mouthed at Panther gatherings. They see it printed in leaflets distributed at the meetings and later picked up in black neighborhoods.

With articles threatening death to "pigs" police find instructions on how to prepare and use explosives. Black Panther doctrine calls openly for armed action against authorities in "self-defense."

It is easy for police to become convinced, rightly or wrongly in a given instance, that Panthers were responsible for a law violation and that they would kill any police who sought to investigate. That does not make for calm police inquiry.

Conspiracy aside, government spokesmen have let local police know very precisely what they think of the Black Panther party and its leaders. Director J. Edgar Hoover has made it clear that the FBI is intensifying its penetration of all-black militant groups.

Hoover calls the Panthers "the greatest threat to the internal security of the country" among the angry militants. Police chiefs, while they may feud occasionally with local FBI representatives, do not ignore statements of that sort by the FBI Director.

Moreover, the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., made local headlines in a number of cities earlier this year with hearings here on black militant groups. The Panthers were featured in that inquiry, and Panther leadership was charted in detail for a dozen communities.

The subcommittee's printed hearings have been widely distributed among state and local law enforcement agencies.

Finally, there is a trend toward more sophisticated intelligence operations by local police departments. More of them are forming special intelligence units to assemble and coordinate data from local undercover agents and from other government agencies.

Like military intelligence officers, police intelligence units do not initiate raids, arrests and activities of that sort. They do, however, make police chiefs more aware of locations which might be raided and individuals who might be wanted in other cities.

A low-level Justice Department representative attended the annual conference of police intelligence units (LEIU — Law Enforcement Intelligence Units) in Palm Springs, Cal., last spring. He urged a drive against the Mafia and organized crime. The conference sessions, however, were keyed to another law enforcement problem: revolutionary militant groups, including the Panthers.

ANDREW TULLY

Of Christ

WASHINGTON — Spenser, in his "Faerie Queene," speaks of "The myrrh sweet-bleeding in the bitter wound." It is ironic that this aromatic gum resin figured in both the birth and death of Christ.

Myrrh, of course, was one of the gifts lavished on the Christ Child by the Magi. And 33 years later, as He hung on His Cross, it was "wine mingled with myrrh" that was contemptuously offered to Him by the Roman soldier.

Myrrh is obtained from a small, prickly, stunted, gray-barked tree in Africa and Asia by incising the trunk. It has a pleasing odor, something like balsam, and a bitter taste. From earliest times, it has been used for making incenses and perfumes and for embalming; one of the ointments used in embalming Jesus' body after Calvary was made with myrrh.

Frankincense, or olibanum, also is a gum resin. After processing, the product has a yellowish-brown hue and it burns with a bright white flame, giving off a heavy, aromatic odor. The ancient Egyptians used it in their religious rites and it was among the incenses stored in a huge chamber in the Jewish temple in Jerusalem.

In ancient times, healers claimed frankincense had considerable medicinal qualities. Pliny touted it as an antidote to deadly hemlock, and it also was recommended for tumors, ulcers of the head and ears, dysentery, leprosy, carbuncles and boils. But modern medicine has found it to be without virtue.

—The Magi who brought the gifts probably were from Persia, since the word Magi in the Babylonian language of Accadian signifies "august" or "revered." They also were the pioneers of the Parsee religion, now to be found mostly in India, since they were followers of the fire god Ormuzd or Ormazd, which is still the Parsee deity. From Ormazd, incidentally, came the trade name, Mazda lamp.

Today, it is generally accepted that there were three of these Magi and yet there could have been more — some legends say as many as 12. Their identities are nowhere mentioned in the Bible, but again legend has filled the gap by offering three names: Casper (or Jasper), king of Tarsus, "a black Ethiopian"; Melchior, king of Nubia, and Balthazar, king of Chaldea.

Again, however, there is no historical proof that they were kings. Many scholars hold that they were astrologers, others that they were a kind of elder statesman. All legends agree, however, that they were "servants of God," in the ancient sense; persons of high influence whose advice was sought about all important matters in their homelands.

As the centuries passed, the Magi's influence waned and they fell from the highest caste to the lowly status of wandering jugglers and fortune tellers. Today's conjurers and sleight-of-hand artists are lumped together under a name borrowed from these "three kings of Orient" or Wise Men — Magician. But the original Magi are remembered and honored because they paid humble homage to the unwanted Babe of Bethlehem.

Holiday Thoughts

Space, being what it is, reaches the point where you just can't get any more into it. That's what happened to Mr. Spectator's column this Christmas season. More items came in than we could get out to you and so today we would like to send a few of them into your home.

A couple are poems and another is thoughts by a serviceman. They are all appropriate for this Christmas season. To even things up we might have to put in a couple of unrelated items — but that's life. So here goes:

"CHRISTMAS SPIRIT"

What is your spirit? At this Christmas season, Is it happy, thankful, and gay, Or sad, for some reason? Don't you know why the wisemen came, And followed that star so bright, Don't you know who lay in the manger, That long-ago Christmas night? Don't you know who gave his life On that cross so rugged and old, Don't you know who came to earth, And stories of God He told? It was Jesus Christ our Lord Who was so kind and dear, He paid for the sins Of everyone far and near. So don't you think your Christmas Spirit Should be happy, thankful, and gay, For Jesus Christ our Savior, On THIS Christmas Day? Laura Newberry '69

CREDIT CARD CROOKS

A break may be forthcoming in the Great Credit Card Robbery — the day-in, day-out misuse of stolen or forged credit cards which costs businesses and honest people millions of dollars each year. A simple and compact data processing system for credit card purchases will be marketed early next year. Under development by Cubic Corp. of San Diego, the system is designed to make instant verifications of credit or identification cards right at the checkout counter. The basic unit is an imprinter similar to those in use today. A companion device, called a verifier, takes data from the card and automatically compares it with credit information stored either in the printer itself or in a central computer. In a matter of seconds a retailer can know whether the credit card of a customer is valid. The card is rejected mechanically if it has been reported lost or stolen, if it is forged or if the customer has exceeded his credit limit. The verifier can be updated at any time.

When you think that no one cares, Well, just listen mister, Think back upon the day you left and the break in the voice of your sister. When you think that no one cares, consider all your friends, Then listen for the many prayers that are blowing in the wind. Then when you think that no one cares, just stop and look around And think about the happiness that just 23 years has found.

White House Officials To Study Chance Of Major Offensive By Reds In Vietnam

By STEWART HENSLEY
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House officials say they will determine within the next six to eight weeks whether the Communists are preparing to launch a major new offensive in Vietnam.
 The sharply increased infiltration from the North in recent weeks has virtually replaced the losses North Vietnam and the Viet Cong suffered earlier this year, these White House officials say. If it tapers off within the next few weeks they will conclude that Hanoi is content simply to restore its strength and may be moving toward more substantive negotiations at the Paris talks.
 But President Nixon's advisers say that if the present high rate of flow of men and material from the North continues for six weeks or more, it probably will mean that the Communists are building toward new offensives and will continue to stall the Paris talks.

 If Hanoi and the Viet Cong undertake a major offensive, these officials say, it will provide a good test of the accuracy of the optimistic reports Nixon has been getting about the increased effectiveness of the South Vietnamese government and its troops.
 The President has been advised by U.S. military and political representatives in Vietnam, as well as by the British guerrilla war expert Sir Robert Thompson, that:
 — The South Vietnamese government has been effectively extending its control in the outlying provinces.

 — There has been considerable improvement in the South Vietnamese military forces that are supposed to take over more and more of the combat activity as American troops withdraw.
 The White House feels these reports have not been fully tested but hopes that they are substantially correct.

Russian Weather Stuns Westerners With Its Ferocity

By JAMES O. JACKSON
 MOSCOW (UPI) — The fearsome Russian winter that slew Napoleon's armies and froze Hitler's tanks swept down upon Moscow this week.
 It drove temperatures below cheek-nipping level. Western newcomers, lulled by a late fall into doubting the severity of Mother Russia's last line of defense, became believers.
 Both Western temporary residents and Soviet natives launched their annual battle against the devastating cold with a combination of fur, felt, vodka and perseverance.
 "Vodka," said a non-drinking Russian chauffeur, "can be your salvation in an emergency. Put it in the radiator."
 He said methylated spirits are sometimes in short supply and the only way to keep the radiator from bursting is to drain it or put vodka in it.

 "But it's expensive," he said, "and some people would rather stay inside and drink it."
 Broken radiators are but a minor worry when the temperature dives below 20 degrees Centigrade.
 At that temperature pedestrians can suffer frostbite, and every year doctors caution against short skirts and nylon stockings.
 Last year the Soviet press reported cases of nylon stockings freezing to the skin of women's legs, causing painful and ugly scars.
 Another wintertime hazard is the Soviet serve-yourself custom in gasoline stations where drivers must pump their own fuel under the supervision of women attendants.

 A diplomat recounted how he jumped out of his cozy sedan and grabbed the pump one icy morning.
 "I forgot to put on my gloves," he said. "My hand immediately froze to the pump and I had to wait until they brought me some hot water to get me loose."
 The winter's effect on Soviet industry is so great that the Communist party leadership this year launched a "winterizing" campaign to prevent production losses.

LBJ Says Humphrey Lost Election In Salt Lake Speech

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson believes Hubert H. Humphrey would be in the White House today had it not been for a few words Humphrey spoke at Salt Lake City, and the "few thousand votes" those words cost him.

Johnson gave his views of the climactic 1968 election campaign in an interview to be carried Saturday by CBS-TV at 7:30 p.m. EST. The interview is the first of three hours of Johnson interviews with Walter Cronkite of CBS News. The second installment will be shown Feb. 6.

Johnson showed flashes of sarcasm and resentment at his treatment by the press, but his references to Humphrey were matter-of-fact, tinged perhaps by regret.

Johnson thought, as far back as 1955, that it would be a mistake for him to seek the presidency. Once in office after the death of President John F. Kennedy, Johnson had deep doubts about running in 1964. When he did he was elected by a landslide over Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona. Then, on March 31, 1968, he told an amazed country he would not accept renomination.

What went into this final, startling decision? LBJ said: "I was positive I could not get a peace conference, get them to a peace table... positive that I could not get a tax bill... positive I could not cool the cities as a candidate."

Also, he said he felt he should not run because his Southern background and upbringing had seriously handicapped his ability to unite and inspire the nation. "I have never really believed that I was the man to do that particular job," he said.

LBJ said there was no doubt whatever in his own mind that he would have been elected had he stood for re-election in 1968. He professed "great admiration" for Humphrey, acknowledging that the Humphrey campaign had insufficient money and the candidate was burdened by opposition to the Johnson administration.

Johnson regarded Humphrey's Salt Lake City speech, as a crucial turning point of the campaign. The speech was made late in October and went beyond Johnson's policies in proposing steps to end the Vietnam War. And LBJ felt this "detached" from his possibilities.

"My feeling was that in that speech he left the impression that he would stop the bombing (entirely) and that communicated to the country and to the world a shift of policy in this country, a change of position."

"I think, as a result, that the South Vietnamese had become concerned enough that they decided they would not go to the peace table until after the election, or that they would hold back."

Cronkite noted that Humphrey's popularity polls improved after the Salt Lake City speech, but Johnson felt this had no major impact on the outcome.

"If the South Vietnamese had not drug their feet and come on in and said, 'Yes sir, we're going to be here, things are moving,' I think the people would have moved accordingly," Johnson said. "And I think it would have been in the direction of the Democrats."

Soldier Says 'Kill' To Insure Peace

BINH KY, Vietnam (UPI)—War is unhealthy for children and to her living things," Corpsman John Hunt had written across the back of his flak jacket. "Kill for peace."

The rain-drenched jacket hung over a nearby door frame and Hunt sat with some Marine friends at a table drinking rice wine. An M60 machinegun lay across the table, three red Christmas stockings near it.

Lance Cpl. Bob Ryan, 18, of Newark, N.J., passed the pungent wine to the Vietnamese district chief and said "Wow, if my mother could see me now, she'd kill me." The chief, who speaks no English, laughed.

It was Christmas at Binh Ky, a refugee settlement near Da Nang, 300 Vietnamese, who had fled the Viet Cong. The scene was Hoa's Restaurant, a tin hovel with a canoe hanging from the ceiling.

Hunt had just come in from ambush patrol with nine other Marines and they talked about life and home and other Christmas as they munched fruit cake.

"There's really no feeling of Christmas here," said Pfc. Bill Sumpter, 20, of Jamestown, Mo. "But I think about home and I remember how Dad always played the piano at Christmas while Mam sang carols."

"I'm sure they did it, this year too. Carol, my wife, was probably there."

Hunt, a 22-year-old corpsman from Phoenix, Ariz., hunkered in the mud nearby, eating his Christmas lunch—chicken stew served in a plastic bag. Later a truck would bring the men hot turkey dinners.

For Lance Cpl. Demis Aamodt, 20, of Milwaukee, Christmas Eve had been time for memories as he lay sprawled on the dank earth in ambush. Christmas Day, however, was the same routine: Clean your weapon, square away your gear and be ready to move out.

"But you really don't mind it when you've got guys like this to work with," Aamodt said. "Just the other night five VC—four men and a woman—walked right into our ambush. It was beautiful. We got them all. Those are the things you hope and pray for."

Closing Days Of Congress See 'Strange' Alliances Formed To Back Nixon's Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The closing days of Congress this year saw strange alliances emerge in the battle to preserve President Nixon's program for getting more Negroes into construction jobs.

Civil rights organizations and labor, traditional allies, were split.

The Nixon administration found itself in the unusual position of seeking—and, strangely, warmly receiving—the support of such organizations as the NAACP which had been denouncing it on the voting rights issue just two weeks earlier.

And the AFL-CIO fund itself seeking support in the unfamiliar offices of southern conservatives.

The fight was over the "Philadelphia Plan," a federal program requiring contractors on federal building projects to hire workers from minority groups.

According to the White House, the plan was a "successful effort to defeat an attempt in the Senate to outlaw Negroes into construction jobs."

"He approached it with the same intensity and personal effort that might have been involved in a missing airplane," a White House official said.

Not only did the President emerge a victor, but according to the assessments of his staff, he allayed some of the mistrust of many civil rights advocates for his administration.

The Philadelphia Plan, so named because it started in Philadelphia, requires that federal contractors accept goals for hiring minority-group workers. The goals depend on the availability of trained manpower and are set through negotiations with the Labor Department.

The AFL-CIO opposed it. And it found allies among senators and congressmen who questioned its constitutionality.

East Germans Compare U.S., Nazis, Cite War 'Atrocities'

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germans are comparing the Nazis because of reports of American atrocities in Vietnam.

At rallies, in newspapers, on the radio and television, in cartoons and poems, the Communists are asserting that the Americans are following in the footsteps of Adolf Hitler.

It is the most violent anti-American propaganda campaign ever conducted by the East Germans.

Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung. It shows Adolf Hitler and Nazi Police Chief Heinrich Himmler conversing in hell.

"What can the Americans do?" asks Hitler, "Either they acquit us posthumously or they have to put their own war criminals on trial."

Communist writers are competing to see which one can turn out the goriest poem. So far Guenther Deicke is in the lead with one comparing the Green Berets to the Nazi SS elite troops whose symbol was the skull and bones.

Typical of the campaign is a cartoon published in the East German newspaper Berliner Zeitung.

Horst Heitzenroether in his

Hanoi Radio Broadcasts War Captives

SAIGON (UPI)—Hanoi Radio broadcast Thursday what purported to be American war prisoners singing carols at a detention camp and more messages from captured pilots to their families in the United States.

The carols included a rendition of "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." The voices sounded American.

"You're listening to a broadcast to American GIs involved in Vietnam," said a female announcer of the "Voice of Vietnam" program, beamed in English to the South three times daily.

Along Fences And Canals

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson have moved to Halley where he has returned to carpenter work after farming the past year at the J. E. Freeman ranch in Burmah. Mrs. Johnson is a nurse at the Halley hospital and the couple has purchased a residence from the estate of Andrew Paulson, former Richfield resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renfrow recently sold their 80 acre farm two miles south and a mile and a half east of Kimberly to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Holcomb. The Renfrows have purchased a home in Kimberly and plan to move sometime after the first of the year. The Holcombs are living at present southwest of Hansen, where they have been farming.

Two steers were lost the past week at the C. F. Chatfield ranch, Richfield. The 600-pound animals walked out on pond ice and fell through and drowned when they panicked and didn't stand up. Chatfield also lost a valuable milk cow from bloat probably caused by wire.

The Richfield Western Grain and Feed elevator office is being enlarged doubling the size of the former office. Local manager Ronald Ralls stated the work was being done by Everett Thompson, Gooding, with assistance by elevator workers and Lester Johansen, a supervisor.

Dehorning was under way at the Jack Henley ranch on Cold Springs Creek, Glenns Ferry, and it was a muddy job in all that rain.

All the Blackwell cattle have been gathered in from the public grazing land and are in the fields now on both ranches, the one on Cold Springs Creek run by Sammy Blackwell, and the place west of Glenns Ferry where Sam Blackwell lives.

John Solosabal and Lou Solosabal, Glenns Ferry, are feeding their beef, fattening them for future sale.

Dec. 31 Is Deadline For Filing Sugar Beet Shares

Requests for proportionate shares for the 1970 sugar beet acreage must be filed at the County ASC office on or before Dec. 31, 1969, according to Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Many farmers have not yet filed a request for their proportionate share, said Mr. Boyd. Anyone wishing to grow sugar beets in 1970 is cautioned not to delay past the closing date for accepting requests.

Farm owners who intend to rent their farm to someone else but have not as yet found a renter, must file a request for sugar beet shares by the closing date in order to retain the shares for their farm.

Sugar beet growers eligible for shares but who will be unable to plant beets in 1970, must also file a request for shares in order to be eligible for history credit in 1970. Mr. Boyd says anyone wishing information regarding filing of requests for sugar beet proportionate shares should contact the county ASC Office but to not delay past the closing date for filing requests, Dec. 31, 1969.

PROUDLY HOLDING his Scotch Highland cow that has been to college is Rex Lytle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lytle, Twin Falls. The 6-year-old cow attended Utah State University for one day this fall.

Local Cow Goes To College

"Capes Highland Marilah," a 6-year-old Scotch Highland cow, has attended college.

Proud owner of this cow is Rex Lytle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lytle, Twin Falls.

The cow spent one day on the Utah State University campus at Logan this fall and also took part in the university's homecoming parade.

It seems the students at the Utah university want to change the name of the college's team from the Aggies to the Highlands. And to show the students at the college as well as the faculty and other school officials what a Highland looks like, the local cow was put on display.

The reason a Twin Falls animal was picked was because some Utah State University students were in this area last summer and had seen Rex's Highland cattle. So when this came up at their school, they contacted the local county agent's office and with the help of Ole Genn and the Lytles, the cow went to college.

"Marilah" spent one day at college, but she has left a big impression with the students there, as most of them had never seen a Scotch Highland cow. The Highland cattle originate in Scotland.

The reason a Twin Falls animal was picked was because some Utah State University students were in this area last summer and had seen Rex's Highland cattle. So when this came up at their school, they contacted the local county agent's office and with the help of Ole Genn and the Lytles, the cow went to college.

"Marilah" spent one day at college, but she has left a big impression with the students there, as most of them had never seen a Scotch Highland cow. The Highland cattle originate in Scotland.

INTRODUCED CATTLE

There were no cows in America when Christopher Columbus first came to the New World. He brought cattle and other farm animals to the islands of the West Indies on his second voyage in 1493.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

DALLAS ACES TAKE PROFITABLE SET

Everyone who plays rubber bridge has run across the gallant defender who is always bidding one more to keep his opponents from scoring below the line. The gallant defender is not likely to win much, because it turns out that most of his sacrifices either cost more than what they are intended to save against or that the opponents were already too high.

In top-grade competition, the problem of taking a sacrifice is really a delicate one but the man who can handle these situations to the best advantage is going to win a lot of IMPs for his team.

East's two-spade opening was one of those weak two bids that are almost standard in top-level

American bridge today. Bobby Goldman of the Aces also opened two spades. Against Bobby, South overcalled with three diamonds, Billy Eisenberg jumped to four spades and Bobby played the hand there. He lost the first three tricks but had no trouble making the rest. When North showed out on the first trump lead, the finesse against the queen became proven.

Bob Hamilton, sitting South, elected to jump to four diamonds. West bid four spades and a new Mike Lawrence made a fine decision and went to five diamonds. He would have gained a whole barrel full of IMPs for his team if East and West had gone to five spades, but Paul Soloway, sitting East, doubled.

West opened with three rounds of clubs. Soloway was able to overruff dummy and score a heart trick later on to collect a 300-point penalty but the Aces showed a profit of 120 points, worth three IMPs.

Women's Section

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After being married to Lester for eight years, he developed a heart condition. He was able to work at his job, but he did less and less around the house, until now he just won't do a thing. I do all the yard work, painting, and everything there is to do when you own a home.

A friend came by the other day and saw me shoveling snow. He asked me why I was breaking my back that way and I said, "Well you know Lester can't do this on account of he has a heart condition." All he said was, "Why don't you wise up?" Then he drove off.

Now this has started me to thinking. Lester can go fishing and hunting; and do all the things he likes to do. He even drives 500 miles to visit his folks. He says it "relaxes" him to drive. I would ask his doctor, but he and Lester are friends. So could you please find out if driving 500 miles is "relaxing"? It tires me out. Thank you.
ANXIOUS TO HEAR

DEAR ANXIOUS: It tires most people out. But I think what you really want to know is whether your husband has been putting one over on you. His doctor is the one who can tell you what a man in Lester's condition can and cannot safely do. I suggest you ask him. And do not assume that because he and Lester are "friends," they are in cahoots. Most doctors are on the up and up.

DEAR ABBY: Linguistics is a science — not a guessing game. If you want the etymology of the word "COP," here it is: Without going back beyond Latin, the modern word is derived from "CAPARE," meaning "to seize or take captive." There was an Old English word COPSE meaning "fetter," and this word also became "COPS." (CUFF and possibly HANDCUFF are derived from this root.) The "constable on patrol" type of explanation is what is called "folk etymology," which means that it is often clever, sometimes convincing, but utterly without factual foundation. "COP" is a legitimate word for policeman, and not an acronym. Very truly yours,

FREDERICK MONTESER, Ph.D.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents have recently retired and moved to our town in order to be near their only child—my husband. They are fairly well off now, and have helped us out financially in the past.

The problem is that we have a new baby, just a month old, and every night the grandparents come over here and pass the baby around between each other until he is so fretful that he cries for hours after they leave.

I have asked my husband to drop a hint in their direction to leave the little guy alone, but my husband says, "They aren't hurting the baby. I think you're just looking for some reason to hurt my parents' feelings." Then he accuses me of being ungrateful for all his folks have done for us. That's not true. I AM grateful, but not enough to jeopardize my baby's health.

I am desperate enough to pack up my baby, and leave my husband to his parents. I have wonderful parents of my own living in another state who would be glad to have me. Please help me.
NEW MOMMY

DEAR NEW: Be fair. Do you really fear that the health of your baby will be jeopardized because your in-laws "handle" him so much? I suspect that other things are bugging you. Don't pack up and go anywhere. Try to understand the real reasons for your irritation. I think you probably need someone to talk to. How about your clergyman?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST CURIOUS" IN KILGORE, TEX.: I never "doctor" up the letters to make them more "interesting." But I sometimes must edit them up a bit to make them printable.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

A delegate will be chosen from Fairfield for 1970. A rotation system is used with the delegate being chosen from a different town each year so that each town has an opportunity to participate.

Twelve sick calls were reported by the committee. Lodge members will send a donation to the Boise Children's Home.

The trustees report was read by Mrs. Sid McDowell and accepted.

Announcements included a special meeting to be held Jan. 7 at 2 p.m. Public installation of officers for the IOOF Lodge is scheduled.

VERSATILE LAVATORY

Do you have space going to waste under your bathroom lavatory? If so, you might consider installing a vanity lavatory instead. It consists of a sink bowl set into a countertop, with a storage cabinet beneath. It's the type of lavatory that's going into more and more of the new homes being built. Many of them are being installed in bedrooms, too, since they come in a variety of furniture-like styles that fit into most bedroom decors.

'Christmas Mood' Of Nixon Is Believed Remarkably Good Despite Many Setbacks

By MERRIMAN SMITH
 UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) —For the curious who may wonder about President Nixon's mood this Christmas season, the answer would confound his detractors or send them into cynical pouts. And it would be heartening to his supporters.

The President, indeed, has come through a difficult year with a congressional slugging match at the end. But there has been little which he did not foresee or expect last January and thus his Christmas mood is surprisingly good.

For the overall record of his administration, Nixon regards 1969 essentially as a foundation year in which he established the footing for long-range programs to meet the nation's more pressing problems.

His mood thus far into the Christmas season has bordered at times on the ebullient. White House domestics cannot recall a Yuletide when the chief executive and his family invited in more guests—literally, day after day for the 10 or 12 days leading up to Christmas, itself—shaken more hands, poured more punch and eggnog, or, for that matter, seemed more caught up in holiday spirit.

Nixon Reluctantly Signs Bill Providing Credit Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today signed with stated reluctance a bill giving him the authority to invoke voluntary and mandatory credit controls — a step which he currently does not plan to take.

The legislation was designed primarily to preserve the authority of a federal supervisory agency to regulate interest paid by banks and savings and loan associations. The chief executive had no objection to this aspect of the legislation.

He did object strongly, however, to sections of the bill authorizing voluntary and mandatory credit controls.

These sections, he said in a statement, would, if invoked, "take the nation a long step toward a directly controlled economy and... we can weaken the will for needed fiscal and financial discipline."

The President signed the bill shortly after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, released parts of the text of a letter he wrote to Nixon urging him to sign the bill and apply government credit controls over business spending in the fight against inflation.

Proxmire called the administration's monetary and fiscal policies "a dismal failure" in curbing capital outlays by big business.

But Nixon said "these aspects of the bill made the decision to sign it a very difficult one, but the need to prevent chaos in our interest rate situation has made my approval imperative."

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler questioned about prospects for the President to use this authority, said, "I assume these steps would not be taken although the authority has been granted."

U.S. Pledges To Provide School Menu

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has pledged to make school lunches available to virtually all needy children by next Thanksgiving.

Dr. Jean Mayer, special consultant to the President on food, health and nutrition, told newsmen a program to furnish free and reduced price lunches would be extended to benefit approximately 6.6 million needy children in the 1970-71 fiscal year. This would be three times the number of children covered during the fiscal year ended last June.

Mayer, who headed the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Hunger held earlier this month, presented the three-volume report of the conference to President Nixon and then met with newsmen. The report contains hundreds of recommendations for dealing with the broad problems of hunger through legislative action and administrative changes.

Mayer outlined the immediate steps taken by the Nixon administration to ease the problem of hunger "now—this winter—when the need is acute."

He said the Agriculture Department had eliminated a regulation hindering private food companies from competing for school food business and had moved to provide technical assistance and equipment for furnishing lunches to children in schools without cafeterias. Most of these schools are located in ghetto areas.

Mayer pointed to administration proposals for expanding the food stamp program for needy families and a variable purchase plan that would allow the poor to purchase less than their full stamp allotment at a proportionately reduced price.

Lamonica Named Player Of Year In American Loop

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders, who sparked his team to the Western Division title and came close to setting the record for most touchdowns passes in a season, today was named Player of the Year in the American Football League by United Press International.

think about in the back of your mind and which get you started and give you something to shoot for. Every pro athlete tries to achieve it one time or another. This is definitely one of my goals.

"I just feel very fortunate. I accept it proudly, but it should be shared by my teammates," Lamonica added. "It takes a 40-man squad, and I am only as good as my blocking. This was an exceptionally good year for me, but they gave me the blocking."

While the balloting was conducted before the AFL semi-final playoffs, Lamonica saved his best show for the season for the playoff game with Houston. Playing only three quarters, he completed 13 of 17 passes for 276 yards and six touchdowns and sparked the Raiders to a 56-7 rout. His next opponents will be the Kansas City Chiefs in the AFL title game on Jan. 4.

Although he has been in the AFL since graduating from Notre Dame in 1963, Lamonica's pro career was undistinguished until he was traded to the Raiders by the Buffalo Bills in 1967.

The Raiders gave him a chance to start and he led them to the AFL championship in his first season at Oakland. That year the Raiders finished 13-1 during the regular season—the best record ever compiled by an AFL team.

Lamonica finished third behind Namath and Cincinnati's Greg Cook in the final passing statistics, but he had no equal in throwing the bomb or producing points.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound quarterback passed for 3,302 yards during the regular season while leading the Raiders to a 12-1 record. He also tossed for 34 touchdowns—just two shy of the pro football record held jointly by teammates George Blanda and former New York Giants' star Y.A. Tittle.

When notified of his selection, Lamonica exclaimed: "I'm elated. That's the big one as far as I'm concerned. That makes it official.

"This is a player's ultimate, besides going to the Super Bowl. These are the things you

Ground Defense And Three Fumbles Help North Whip South In All-Star Contest

MIAMI (UPI)—The North defense stopped the South's ground game cold, but passers Bill Cappelman and Terry Bradshaw could have made the outcome of the Shrine All-Star game different had it not been for three fumbles and an interception.

Passing Fight Expected In All-Star Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The 32nd annual Blue-Gray Classic Saturday shapes up as an aerial dogfight.

Traditionally, all-star games rely heavily on passing and the Blue-Gray promises to be no exception. Both Blue Coach Ben Martin of Air Force and Gray Coach Charles Shira of Mississippi State have indicated they will take to the air early and often in this charity game which pits 52 of the nation's top graduating college football heroes.

Shira, hoping to extend the South's supremacy in a series it leads 17-13, will have his own quarterback, Tommy Pharr, to throw into the fray, with small college star Robert Pearce of Austin State to back him up.

Pharr was the all-Southeastern Conference quarterback his junior year, but injuries hampered him this season. However, though he played in only six games and was with a losing team, Pharr still completed 40 of 258 passes for 1,603 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Pearce threw for 2,104 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Polcastro, playing for the school that helped originate football 100 years ago connected for 1,690 yards this season with a 58 per cent completion mark, putting him right up there among the leaders.

He was intercepted only six times, the best mark among the nation's top 25 major college quarterbacks.

The Grays won last year's game 28-7, breaking a two-game Northern streak.

name attractions that drew 80 pro scouts to the annual game. The third was Mike Phipps, the Purdue All-American who led the North to its 31-10 victory in the Orange Bowl Christmas night contest.

In rushing, the South netted minus 30 yards, compared to 161 for the North. But in passing, Cappelman and Bradshaw had a combined total of 280 yards, not bad for taking turns running a throw-together ball club.

Cappelman started with a bang by hitting Tommy Spinks of Louisiana Tech for 79 yards and a touchdown on the game's first play from scrimmage.

Grant Guthrie of Florida State added the point-after, and kicked a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter—and that turned out to be all the South's scoring.

The first of four South fumbles that gave the North the ball—and a score three of the times—came less than five minutes after Cappelman's opening blast.

Early in the second quarter, Baxter put the North ahead with a two-yard plunge that capped a 45-yard drive.

Dennis Leuthauser of the Air Force kicked the North's four conversions plus a third quarter 20-yard field goal—set up by another South fumble.

After Guthrie's field goal, the score stayed 14-10 until Leuthauser booted his three-pointer near the end of the third quarter. The game was still tight until 10 minutes before the end.

It was then that Cappelman drove the South to the North's 23-yard line, but threw an interception to Al Larson of Nebraska, who ran back a game-record 88 yards for a touchdown.

On the North kickoff, Norm Bulach of Texas Christian fumbled on the South 23, Bruce

San Francisco Rallies To Nip Royals

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors came from 12 points behind in the final five minutes of regulation play, then beat the Cincinnati Royals 124-118 in overtime Christmas night in a National Basketball Association game.

Trailing 105-93 with 4:52 play, the Warriors tied it up 110-110 when Fritz Williams hit two straight jump shots, the last with 48 seconds remaining, to send it into overtime.

San Francisco then outscored the Royals 8-1 at the start of the extra period in evening its record at 17-17.

Jeff Mullins, the Warriors' leading scorer with 34 points, had six in overtime. Williams finished with 25.

Oscar Robertson collected 36 points for the Royals, who battled back from a 51-47 halftime deficit to tie the score 83-83 at the end of three periods. The score was tied 20 times during the game.

The Warriors, already riddled by injuries to forwards Jerry Lucas and Joe Ellis, lost the services of center Nate Thurmond in the first half with a sprained ankle.

Missouri Drills

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (UPI)—Coach Dan Devine put his Missouri gridders through a brief passing drill Thursday.

Van Ness of Rutgers—the North's most valuable player because of his 72 yards rushing—recovered and Jim Carter of Minnesota scored from the one-yard line six plays later.

It was the 10th victory for the North in the series. The South has won 11.

Knicks Edge Pistons In Last Second

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Knicks, after threatening to blow the game open in the first half, needed a brilliant tip-in by Willis Reed on an inbound pass from Walt Frazier with one second left to beat the Detroit Pistons, 112-111, Thursday night.

Detroit had taken a 111-110 lead on Walt Bellamy's layup with one second remaining before the Knicks called time out and set up the winning play at mid-court.

Frazier lofted a high pass to Reed, who was standing to the right of the basket, and Reed leaped to tip the pass into the basket as the buzzer sounded.

That gave Reed 33 points and game scoring honors as the Knicks won their 30th National Basketball Association game against six defeats.

Reed's 18 first half points helped the Knicks to 11 point leads on three occasions, but Detroit fought back behind the shooting of Jimmy Walker, who finished with 32 points, and Dave Bing, who scored 17.

A three-point play by Bing and Walker's 25-foot jumper gave the Pistons a 56-55 halftime lead after the Knicks had controlled most of the first half.

The lead changed hands throughout the second half. Detroit had a chance to sew up the game with 31 seconds remaining when Reed fouled Bellamy with the Pistons leading 109-108, but Bellamy missed both free throws and New York took a brief lead on Bill Bradley's 20-foot jumpshot with 15 seconds left.

Detroit then called time and worked for its final shot by Bellamy, which apparently won the game before Reed's unusual tip-in.

Caps Overpower Pipers 131-112

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Washington Capitals pulled away to an early lead Thursday night and Pittsburgh never was able to get closer than five points as the Caps ran to a 131-112 victory over the Pipers in an American Basketball Association game.

Pittsburgh was down 28-23 at the end of the first quarter but felt steadily behind from then on as the Caps used a fast break with the help of Larry Brown who had 17 assists, a club record.

Arkansas Grabs Pass Defense Ace

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—Georgia assistant coach Billy Kinard, architect of one of the top defensive backfields in the country, has been hired as a defensive secondary coach at Arkansas.

Kinard replaces Cecil "Hoctic" Ingram, who recently announced his resignation to take over the head coaching job at Clemson University.

Kinard, who came to Georgia in 1967, helped mold the bulldog defense that led the nation in defense against scoring in 1968 with a 9.8 average.

Kinard played professionally with the Cleveland Browns and the Buffalo Bills before accepting coaching jobs at Auburn and Georgia.

Kinard replaced Ingram at Georgia in 1967 after Ingram moved to Arkansas.

Kinard, a native of Jackson, Miss., starred at Ole Miss from 1952-55, facing Arkansas four times on the playing field during that period.

Dallas To Stick With Rookie In Playoff Battle

DALLAS (UPI)—Otto Brown may not be any better cornerback than the man he deposed in the Dallas-Cowboys secondary nearly three weeks ago, but Cowboys Coach Tom Landry isn't about to break up his new combination against Cleveland Sunday.

The Cowboys and Browns face off for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title in the Cotton Bowl and the Cowboys have a couple of past humiliations against Cleveland to live down.

But, Brown, a rookie, will get the starting call at the right corner and Phil Clark, who started the first dozen games there will be watching from the wings.

The Cowboys were rolling along undefeated when they crashed into Cleveland in early November and were decimated 42-10. Starting with that game, the Dallas pass defense developed huge gaping leaks and gave up 15 touchdowns over a five-game span.

It wasn't entirely Clark's fault, since other defensive backs were getting burned too. And, Landry blamed a "team effort" for the poor showing, claiming that the pass rush was weak too.

A change was called for. So Brown went in for Clark. Landry said all along that there wasn't anything wrong with Clark that a chunk of confidence wouldn't cure. But...

"The change helped," Landry said as he prepared his Cowboys for Sunday's showdown. "Any change might have helped."

"But we seemed to respond to it. When you do this (make a change), it tends to put the emphasis on a spot."

The combination of Brown and Cornell Green at the corners and Mike Gaechter and Mel Renfro at the safeties, plus a revitalized pass rush from the front four, held Baltimore's Johnny Unitas to one touchdown and then shut out Washington's Sonny Jurgensen.

Landry said he wasn't perturbed about starting a rookie against such receivers as Paul Warfield and Gary Collins out wide and tight end Mill Morin, who killed the Cowboys with seven catches for 101 yards, the last time out.

"I have no apprehension at all," Landry said. "This is an era of rookies in pro football. They're starting all over the league," he added with a smile at the thought of his other rookie starter, running back Calvin Hill.

"The Browns, you realize, also have one at cornerback in Walt Summer," he added. "All of this is because we just don't have enough solid vets like there used to be in a 10 to 12-team league."

Manson To Sell Record For Money

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hippie cult leader Charles Manson hopes to finance his legal defense against seven counts of murder in the Sharon Tate slayings by selling a record album, an attorney said Thursday.

George E. Shibley, the lawyer who is handling Sirhan B. Sirhan's appeal and who has identified himself as an old friend of Manson's, says the defendant was conducting negotiations with a record company.

Shibley, who declined to name the record company, said the negotiations were in connection with tapes Manson recorded prior to his arrest.

Hospital Gets Emergency Experience

BURLEY — All facilities at Cassia Memorial Hospital were during an emergency disaster drill in which 24 patients and a bus driver were injured in an imaginary collision with a train.

Only four people at the hospital knew that the emergency was not real, when the "patients" started arriving. The children, fourth grade students of Mrs. Jane Rue, at Southwest School, were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Curly, principal, when the school bus in which they were riding was involved in the "accident."

Hospital personnel went through all procedures of identifying the "injured" and notifying the parents. The switchboard was flooded with calls from residents, alerted ahead of time, who called to inquire about their injured children. Some parents came to the hospital to realistically enact the situation of hysterical relatives in a real life emergency.

The disaster committee arranging the disaster drill, which is required by law as a prerequisite for accreditation, included Mrs. Audrey Harper, director of nursing; Mrs. Teri Peterson, director of in-service education at the hospital; and Dr. Walter Peterson and Dr. Sam Hammond.

California Hits 20 Million In Total Population

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California, already the nation's most inhabited state, hit the 20 million mark in population today.

That's what state population experts say, although nobody pretends to know just who the mythical 20 millionth Californian is.

That means one-out-of-every 10 Americans lives in California.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

PALO ALTO — Stanford University will "not enter into future contracts with any institution sponsored by the Mormon Church," according to University President Kenneth Pitzer. And in announcing that Stanford was severing athletic relations with Utah's Mormon-owned Brigham Young University (BYU), President Pitzer explained:

"Top officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, which sponsors BYU, have told Stanford officers that the Church currently has policies that no Negro of African lineage may have the right to the priesthood."

Yet despite this statement, Dr. Pitzer subsequently issued another statement:

"Our action was in no way intended to be a judgment of BYU or a criticism of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints."

If not a criticism, was this supposed to be a compliment?— or just a neutral comment?

During an interview with this writer, President Pitzer replied: "We're not trying to judge religion, but we have to make a choice as to whom we schedule."

After further questioning, however, he conceded that since there were no reports of any racial discrimination, dirty playing, or untoward recruiting at BYU, it was this LDS racial doctrine alone which motivated the severance of relations.

President was then asked to comment on the fact that listed among "voluntary organizations" officially registered at Stanford there is the "LDS (Latter Day Saints) Students Association." And University regulations allow only those organizations "whose purposes and procedures are not inconsistent with the goals and standards of the University."

"Athletes have no choice of the teams they compete with," he explained, "While the presence of a voluntary organization on campus might have a similar effect, it is more voluntary."

But isn't there infinitely more discussion of Mormon doctrine on the Stanford Campus by the LDS Students Association than by any visiting BYU basketball players?

"I'm not sure that's true," replied President Pitzer. "Mormon boys are renowned for their missionary zeal. But there are few if any reports of their using basketball halftimes to proselytize, or trying to preach while struggling for rebounds."

Stanford has more than 200 LDS students and a dozen faculty members, including Bishop Henry Eyring, a professor in the School of Business. Joseph C. Muren, who the University officially recognizes as the LDS representative on Stanford's United Ministry staff, told this writer:

"We are just as zealous as the Campus Crusade for Christ! 75 per cent of our married students and 25 per cent of our single students are experienced missionaries. And the LDS Students Association is the official organization of the LDS Church on the Stanford campus."

In discussing Stanford's BYU ban, Mr. Muren went on to say: "We have had three conversations with President Pitzer and ten conversations with Mr. Wyman (assistant to the president)."

Apparently these conversations were fruitful — as far as Mormons on the Stanford campus were concerned — if not Mormons on the BYU campus. For despite the fact that the controversial LDS racial doctrine (as held and preached by the "zealous" Stanford Mormons) has not changed, the LDS Students Association is still recognized by Stanford—as is the official status of Mr. Muren.

As for the rule requiring that all such campus organizations must have "purposes not inconsistent with the goals and standards of the University," President Pitzer explained:

"We have not made a very strict interpretation of that rule. In fact we have been very loose in its interpretation."

Had Stanford been willing to be consistent in its banning of Mormon organizations, the resulting pressure might have struck a decisive blow on behalf of a growing number of Mormons who deplore the racial doctrine (including Hugh Brown, one of the Church's highest ranking leaders, and former Secretary of the Interior, Stuart Udall.)

Any such change is dependent upon a direct revelation from God to 35-year-old President

FURNISHING MUSIC for the Basque dance, sponsored by the Basque of the St. Nicholas Catholic Parish in Rupert will be the Jaime Jausoro Band from Boise. The dance is scheduled for 9 p.m. Jan. 3 in the Rupert Elks Lodge, and is open to the public.

Reports Given At Paul WSCS Meet

Rupert Catholic Parish Sponsoring Basque Dance

PAUL — Reports highlighted the recent meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Paul United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Dave Kraus gave a report on the summer rummage sales and Mrs. Lynn Coon reported on the cutting and sewing of cloth for woven rag rugs and those interested should contact her for instructions.

Mrs. Lloyd Patterson expressed thanks from the group to Harvey Hollinger for the eggs he donated for the early November noodle-making day.

Mrs. Ronald Matheson, president, gave the lesson. The next meeting will be in late January.

Students To Speak At Area Church

RUPERT — The United Methodist Church of Rupert will observe Student Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship Sunday when three students will speak on "Student Unrest."

Speaking will be John Lay, who is a student at Harvard School of Business at Cambridge, Mass.; Carol Gibson, a student at the University of Idaho, and Randy Stoker, a student at Whitman College at Walla Walla, Wash.

Soloist will be Jerry Benton, University of Idaho student.

A fellowship hour, sponsored by the women of the church, will follow the services. The public is invited.

David O. McKay, who has written that "Negroes are not entitled to the full blessings of the Gospel."

But one of McKay's predecessors had just such a divine revelation: that polygamy was wrong (within months of the U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the anti-polygamy statutes).

Immanuel Lutherans Set Services

Several services have been scheduled for next week at the Twin Falls Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Speaking Sunday at both the 8 and 11 a.m. services will be Michael Moore, a member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church who is now a student at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, studying for the ministry.

Mr. Moore also has written the New Year's Eve services. He has taken the story of the creation in Genesis, Chapter one, and fit it into a theme for the new year, showing how we may apply this lesson to our lives.

Featured in this service, which starts at 11 p.m. Wednesday, will be college students who are home for the holidays. Holy communion will be celebrated at midnight.

On New Year's Day, a Matins service will be held at 11 a.m. at the church with members of Our Savior Lutheran Church attending. Rev. Eugene Tjarks, pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church, will deliver the sermon "Resolution Number One Is Love."

Conducting the liturgy will be Rev. Harold Iben, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

The public is invited to all the services.

Sunday School Sponsors Banquet

DECLO — The Declo LDS Ward Sunday school recently sponsored a banquet in the Cultural Hall of the church.

Several Christmas selections were sung by a children's chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Darrington. A sextet, composed of Mrs. Dale Swan, Mrs. Brent Patterson, Peterson, Mrs. Richard Garrard, Mrs. Ray Hess, Mrs. Lyle Woodbury and Mrs. Alma Turner, sang a medley of holiday songs. Mrs. Norman Hurst accompanied them.

RUPERT — The Jaime Jausoro Band, Boise, will visit Rupert Jan. 3 to provide dancing music for the Basque dance, sponsored by the Basque of the St. Nicholas Catholic Parish.

The band is world re-known, having played in two world fairs and toured Europe.

The 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. dance will be held at the Rupert Elks Lodge and is open to the public. Admission will be $3 a couple or $2 stag.

Basque berets will be on sale during the event and the proceeds from the evening will go to the Parish.

New Year's Eve Services Planned Here

The Twin Falls First Assembly of God Church, Locust Street North and Shoup Avenue East, is planning a New Year's Eve service and the public is invited.

The service will begin at 9 p.m. with a special motion picture, "Just a Stranger." This is a family picture. At 9:45 p.m., a fellowship hour with refreshments will be held in the church's fellowship room.

At 10:45 p.m., the annual New Year's midnight service will feature singing, year-end testimonials and the ministry of Rev. Howard Johnson, Hansen.

The service will conclude with the observance of holy communion and prayer to welcome the new year.

In charge of arrangements for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Jean Etcheverry, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Urquien and Mrs. Gladys Abadia.

Presbyterian Group Has Installation

Officers of the United Presbyterian Women were installed recently in the Fireside Room. Preceding the installation a potluck luncheon was held.

Installed were Mrs. Ethelyn Walkington, president; Mrs. William Heinemann, vice president; Mrs. C. W. Daigh, secretary, and Ruth Brown, treasurer. Rev. Robert Harvey was installing officer.

A Christmas play, "The Cradle, Cross and Crown," was presented by Mrs. William Holman and her daughters, Mrs. Ray Harris and Mrs. Harry Sanders.

Scriptures were read by Rev. Robert Williams and background music was by a quartet, composed of Mrs. W. G. Arness, Mrs. Donald Heller, Mrs. James Hall and Mrs. T. G. Gray. Rev. Harvey sang two solos and was accompanied by Mrs. Harvey.

The tables for the potluck luncheon were decorated by Mrs. Beulah Way and her committee of Ruth Brown, Mrs. Fred Moore, Elnora Christopher and Vivian Klink.

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD
 N. Locust & Shoup Ave. E. Twin Falls, Idaho

Buhl Assembly Of God Church Organized In 1936

BUHL — The Buhl First Assembly of God Church is a member of a fellowship of over 8,000 sister congregations in the United States who believe that God is not dead but indeed his power and presence is more real today than at any other time in history.

The phenomenal growth of the Assemblies of God movement can probably be attributed to two basic factors: Strong evangelistic emphasis and the Pentecostal experience.

The Pentecostal movement as we now know it was born about the turn of the century and today includes over 20 million adherents. Largest among the Pentecostal organizations is the Assemblies of God which stands number one in foreign Bible colleges and now has nearly 1,000 missionaries serving in 74 countries of the world.

There are also nine Assemblies of God colleges and several orphanages and retirement homes in the United States. A national radio broadcast known as "Revivaltime" is heard around the world each week featuring the rev. C. M. Ward as speaker.

Assemblies of God doctrine includes belief in the Bible as the only inspired, infallible Word of God, the Triune God, the fall of man and salvation through the atoning blood of Christ, divine healing as an integral part of the Gospel, the baptism in the Holy Spirit with the initial physical evidence of speaking with other tongues and the premillennial return of Christ.

First Assembly of God takes an active part in sponsoring the world ministries of the Assemblies of God as well as providing a Pentecostal church in this community.

At the Buhl church, Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. with Bible classes geared to each age level. Bus transportation is provided for Sunday morning activities. The church choir is featured during the morning worship service at 11 a.m. during which childrens church is provided for ages 4-12.

Sunday evening activities begin with prayer at 7 p.m., followed by an evangelistic service at 7:30 p.m. Congregational singing in a "revival" atmosphere along with several singing groups add to the spiritual emphasis of this service. Bible preaching is a part of every service.

Midweek activities include choir practice on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. followed by the midweek service which is a family type service. The preliminaries are conducted by the youth department followed by Bible study with the pastor.

The church also has a Royal Rangers group (Christian scouts) for the young boys and a missionette group for the young girls. Both groups meet after school on Wednesdays. "We feel that we have a program which is designed to meet every need which we might have," says Rev. Phillip Hilliard, pastor of the church.

Other activities involving First Assembly include services at the local nursing home, monthly youth rallies as well as fellowship meeting in various Assemblies of God churches in the Magic Valley.

The Assembly of God Church was first organized in Buhl about 1936 under the direction of the Rev. R. C. Davis. First services were conducted in a building on South Broadway where Langdon Steel is now located.

Rev. Helen Davenport, Gooding, Is One Of Few Women Ministers In Idaho

Rev. Helen Davenport, pastor of Gooding First Baptist Church, is one of the few women ministers in Idaho.

When asked if the work of the ministry were more difficult for a woman than a man, Mrs. Davenport said:

"Not the actual work itself, but if a woman minister is married, she has two full-time jobs, her home and the church. The church also expects her to be both pastor and pastor's wife. There is still some prejudice against women ministers. But the rewards so far outweigh the drawbacks that I wouldn't trade it for any other job in the world."

In preparation for the ministry, Mrs. Davenport attended the University of Hawaii and the Honolulu Bible College. She started her Christian work at the age of 14 by teaching a Sunday school class of girls in a Chinese mission in Honolulu. In speaking of this experience she says:

"Most of the girls were older than I, but they all came from very under-privileged families. There were many things, young as I was, that I could teach them. One day one of the girls admired a dress that I was wearing. Very frankly she asked where I had bought it and how much I paid for it. I had to confess that I had made it. None of them could sew so this resulted in a midweek sewing class, with an 'old lady' of 14 as the teacher."

Before coming to Idaho 2½ years ago, Mrs. Davenport pastored in Colorado, Wisconsin and Illinois, where she was ordained. She has specialized in small town and country churches. She was born in Texas. At the age of 2, her parents, both registered pharmacists, moved to Fayetteville, Ark., where they opened a wholesale drugstore. After her father's death, her mother took the children to Hawaii where she taught school.

The State School for the Deaf, being located in Gooding, gives Mrs. Davenport an opportunity to minister to the deaf as she speaks the sign language.

"To be fluent in the sign language requires much more practice than I give to it," she comments. "The children are wonderful in showing me signs that I have forgotten."

Mrs. Davenport is the mother of five children and the grandmother of nine. In private life she is Mrs. Harry Davenport. Mr. Davenport retired eight years ago due to poor health.
