By PATRICK J. KILLEN
MANILA (UPI)—Anti-American demonstrators hurled a four-inch bottle of explosive powder at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's limousine tonight as it entered the U.S. Embassy grounds. A Filipino reporter was slightly hurt by flying glass.

Lt. Alfonso Bayani, officer in charge of the police detail in front of the embassy, said the explosives were known in the Philippines as "Molotov bombs", since they contained powder, Molotov cocktails are bottles filled with gasoline. The bomb was one of three thrown near the entrance of the embassy. The one that landed about 15 feet from Agnew's car sent a plume of white smoke into the night air and set off flying glass.

The demonstrations began when a crowd of about 100 gathered in front of the embassy and denounced Agnew as a "top agent from the foremost imperialist country in the world." They carried placards reading "Agnew, Crocodile of the U. S." and "Agnew Go Home—You're Not Welcome Here."

Six Americans calling themselves the "Americans Against U.S. Policy in Vietnam" also issued a statement demanding a "stop to this delirium annihilating a nation and a people."

The Americans identified themselves as the Rev. and Mrs. Richard L. Deats of Dallas, Tex.; Dr. and Mrs. S. Paul Schilling of Boston, Mass.; Michael A. Price of New York City and Louis Wolf of Philadelphia.

Nixon Faces Decisions On Tax Reform, Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, back at the White House after a weekend visit to snowy Camp David, faces major decisions this week on the tax reform bill and budget matters.

With a Tuesday departure set for a presidential visit to California, Nixon's decision on the tax bill appeared imminent—perhaps later today. There were no announced White House appointments.

The bill, which in addition to tax reform and long range tax relief also provides a record 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, must be signed by Nixon by New Year's Eve to become law.

As of Monday, he said, there has been no extension of this deadline indicated, and it is assumed there will be none. Persons driving their vehicles after Wednesday midnight without the 1970 tags are subject to citations.

Sonic Booms Could Affect Unborn Babies

BOSTON (UPI)—Such noises as sonic booms could have an emotional and psychological effect on unborn babies as well as their mothers, scientists said Sunday.

Dr. Lester W. Sontag and a panel of scientists summed up science's proofs that excessive noise, even of less intensity than sonic booms, is bad for the heart and blood vessels in addition to the hearing of adults.

They discussed the matter at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS).

Sontag, director of Fels Research Laboratory at Yellow Springs, Ohio, said, "the fetus, while he cannot speak for himself, may have equal or greater reason to object to excessive noises as adults."

Dr. Samuel Rosen of Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York said, "physiological effects of noise in the human, other than auditory, have not been given sufficient attention by scientists."

Dr. Joseph P. Buckley of the University of Pittsburgh said sounds such as compressed air blasts and bells and buzzers established pathological high blood pressure in his laboratory rats. He and his associates are experimenting with ways to curb such pressure elevations and could eventually be useful for noise-plagued humans.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Eastern Arizona, New Mexico and parts of Southwest Texas. Blowing snow reduced visibility to near zero in some spots. Amarillo, Tex., had four inches of snow in six hours.

Back East, gale warnings were posted along the New England Coast and blustery winds swept inland, blowing snow into huge drifts.

Parachutist Is Killed In Jump

RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — Donald Workman Jr., 20, Richland, a Navy man home for Christmas leave, fell 3,500 feet to his death Sunday when his parachute failed to open during a jump.

The Benton County Sheriff's Office said Workman, an experienced parachutist, made the jump at the Richland airport from a single engine Cessna.

Witnesses told officers that Workman's main chute became tangled and the reserve failed to come out.

The victim had been a member of the Tri-City Thunderbird Parachutists Club for three years and has made more than 80 jumps.

French-Built Boats Headed For Israel

TRAPANI, Sicily (UPI) — An Italian fishing boat sighted five French-built gunboats headed east toward Israel today despite Franco's embargo on arms shipments to the Jewish state.

It was the first time the vessels, with Israeli crews, had been spotted since they entered the Mediterranean Saturday. They had slipped out of Cherbourg, France, Christmas morning before dawn.

The fishing boat Annamaria radioed that the five gunboats, escorted by several Israeli navy ships and two submarines, were seen passing the western tip of Sicily at 8:30 a.m.

Among the escort ships was a tanker apparently used to refuel the five gunboats, for they had an inadequate supply of fuel to make the trip between France and Israel.

The mysterious departure from Cherbourg—France said the vessels had been sold to a Norwegian firm—and the boats' subsequent entry into the Mediterranean created a diplomatic stir in Arab world capitals and in Europe.

Pollution Viewed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Lee Dubridge, President Nixon's science adviser, says that it is easier to send a man to the moon than to clean up the nation's polluted water and air.

The reason, Dubridge said Sunday in a television interview (Meet the Press—NBC), is that manned moon flights involve only technology while the elimination of pollution is complicated by economic, political and social questions.

Some high and middle cloudiness will spread to the valleys of South Idaho and East-Central Oregon in the northerly flow aloft, but no precipitation is expected. Areas of fog and low clouds will continue in the valleys of the Upper Snake which will have some very light precipitation from the low stratus clouds.

It will continue cold throughout the valley areas. The daytime temperatures will range from the upper teens and the lower 20s in the fogbound and low clouded areas rising to the 20s in Magic Valley and the 20s and low 30s in Southwest Idaho.

The overnight lows will range from zero to 10 below in the higher valleys and 5 to 15 above in the Snake River plains and in the teens and low 20s from Magic Valley to East-Central Oregon.

The extended outlook for South Idaho and East-Central Oregon Tuesday through Saturday indicates that temperatures will average near to a little below the seasonal normals. Little or no precipitation is indicated. The normal day time temperatures range in the low and mid 30s with the overnight lows in the teens and low 20s. Some of the normal highs and lows are Idaho Falls 31-13; Pocatello 33-15; Burley 36-17; Gooding 34-19; Buhl 36-16, and Boise 37-23.

Daytime temperatures were some 3 to 5 degrees lower than those of the day before with the highs ranging from 18 at Idaho Falls to 31 at Mountain Home. In general no precipitation occurred, except in the Upper Snake River Valley where small amounts of snow precipitation out of the fog and low stratus. The only measurable amount was .01 of an inch at Pocatello. Low temperatures as of 5 a.m. this morning range from 2 above at Idaho Falls and 8 above at Burley to 18 above at Mountain Home and Boise.

Nixon Works On New Tax Package

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration is working on a proposed new tax package designed to help U.S. business meet foreign competition while raising an additional $5 billion for domestic programs.

Details of the plan still are indefinite, but one high administration official said it would probably go to Congress next year with a request for passage in time to help replace revenue losses due in 1972 from the tax reform bill.

As the official described it, the plan will be a variation of the "value added" tax employed by many Western European nations, a concept Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans already has endorsed for U.S. use.

A value added tax can be considered a cross between an import tariff and a national sales tax.

In the tariff-like phase of its use, a tax is levied on imports at the time they enter the country. This of course raises their price to American consumers who ultimately pay the tax—and reduces any competitive edge they had over higher-priced U.S. goods.

Hope Dim For 24 Lost In Sea Disaster

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — Hope was almost gone today in the grim search for survivors of the Badger State disaster.

Twenty-four U.S. seamen were missing in 30-foot seas including four whose bodies were seen but could not be recovered.

A lone American freighter, the SS Flying Dragon, pushed through towering whitecaps and misty darkness in the search area 1,500 miles northwest of Hawaii.

Even in daylight visibility at times was only a half-mile because of rain and sea spray.

The Badger State, abandoned by her crew and wracked by an explosion Friday, still was adrift with her dangerous cargo of bombs and rockets. A Navy tugboat was en route from Hawaii to try to take her in tow.

"The odds that any more survivors will be found out there are marginal," a Coast Guard spokesman said Sunday night.

There were at least 14 survivors of the tragedy. They were rescued by the Greek ship Khian Star a few hours after they abandoned ship. The Khian Star today was en route to Yokohama, Japan.

The Badger State was en route to Da Nang, South Vietnam, when the cargo started breaking loose in heavy seas and she was abandoned Friday morning. An hour later an explosion ripped a hole aft starboard just above the water line.

Wrong Seat

MANILA (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who is 6 foot 2, almost sat on Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo today. Romulo is just under 5 feet.

The incident occurred during welcoming ceremonies at the VIP room at Manila's International Airport.

Romulo shifted from where he was sitting to an unoccupied seat nearby just as Agnew was starting to sit in the same chair. The vice president caught himself and sat down in the next seat.

Man Faces Hearing In 3 Murders

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (UPI) — Kenneth Paul Rogers faces preliminary hearing today on charges of strangling his wife, her bridesmaid and a 14-year-old girl.

Rogers, 29, was returned to Jackson County Jail and placed under around-the-clock guard over the weekend after a Tennessee highway patrolman picked him up near Mason, Tenn., about 200 miles south of Carbondale.

Rogers is charged with slaying his wife, Wilma, 22, and Barbara Case, 24, at his rented trailer house in Cartersville on Christmas Eve. Authorities said both women had been strangled with electric cords and that Miss Case's nude body had been sexually assaulted.

Miss Case, a Southern Illinois University student, had been a bridesmaid at Rogers' Sept. 27 wedding here.

Rogers also is charged with the murder of Lisa Levering, a Carbondale High School freshman, who disappeared Nov. 25 after leaving the Carbondale teen center.

Her body was found south-west of Carbondale Dec. 1. Authorities said she had been strangled with her blue jeans and raped.

Train-Car Deaths Increase In '69

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho State Police said Saturday train-car deaths and accidents in Idaho in 1969 showed an increase over similar crashes in 1968.

Records through Dec. 23 showed 13 persons killed in 12 train-vehicle accidents in 1969, compared with 15 fatalities in eight accidents in all of 1968.

L. Clark Hand, Idaho State Police superintendent, said, "motorists should assume a train may be approaching at every grade crossing, regardless of how familiar they are with train schedules, and should take every precaution before proceeding across the tracks."

FBI Director Says Outlook For Crime Abatement Is Dim

By ISABELLE HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The outlook for some abatement of the crime problem in the new decade is dim but not hopeless, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

And while it may appear in new forms, Americans can expect continuing student disorder in the 1970s—some of it perhaps of high school origin. But on the brighter side, Hoover said in written answers over the weekend to questions from UPI, new legal weapons available to law enforcement officials promise increasing effectiveness against organized crime.

Hoover's assessment was obtained as he prepared to mark his 75th birthday New Year's Day with "a quiet day of appreciation for the privilege of living in this free country of ours."

Hoover expressed deep concern "about the increasing disrespect for the law, a growing infatuation with violence, and the rise of extremism."

Our campus disorders and the militant Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), Hoover said: "College and high school administrators must be ready to face new disruptions in 1970, whether these student radicals are identified with SDS or appear under other names."

Hoover was hopeful about law enforcement's ability to check organized crime because of new laws granting immunity to hostile witnesses, protecting cooperative witnesses from hoodlum intimidation and allowing court-approved electronic surveillance.

"For these reasons, I would say that the future looks much brighter for the forces of law and order than it does for the mobsters and racketeers," he declared.

"When you consider that, prior to 1961, we had almost no federal jurisdiction in the professional gambling field, and prior to 1968, none at all in the hoodlum loan-sharking area—two of the main sources of illicit funds available to the American underworld—I feel that our prosecutive progress, to date has been most encouraging."

22 Climbers Challenge Teton Peak

MOOSE, Wyo. (UPI) — Twenty-two climbers, including a "reluctant" former beauty queen on her honeymoon, began the annual New Year's challenge of wind-swept Grand Teton Peak in northwestern Wyoming Sunday.

The climbing party, led by veteran Paul Petzoldt, who is making his fifth annual climb up the 13,766-foot mountain, started out in eight-degree-below-zero weather.

"We are all right," Petzoldt reported Sunday night from a camp at Moose Meadows. "Everyone is okay." Overnight temperatures in the area were expected to dip to 20-below.

"We don't mind the cold, just so we can see," Petzoldt said. "It will be a fun trip and a great experience. We are not out to suffer."

The group reached Moose Meadows, just below timberline, by using skis. The rest of the trip will be in the higher mountain slopes where winds frequently top 100 miles per hour.

Four women, including a 16-year-old girl and a former beauty queen — Miss Indiana of 1968 — are among those making the climb.

The beauty winner, the former Nikki Peck, said the idea to make the climb came from her husband, Joe Nixon Jr. of Bloomington, Ind. They were married Dec. 14.

"This will be fun, my husband says," Mrs. Nixon explained. "I am a reluctant climber, but I have had promises and promises about how warm my toes will be."

Petzoldt, who operates the National Outdoor Leadership School at Lander, Wyo., has been unsuccessful in all of his recent winter attempts to scale the mountain.

In 1935, Petzoldt and his brother, Eldon, made the first successful winter assault of the peak. Eldon, 65, also is making the climb this year.

Young Woman Injured In Gun Mishap

BURLEY — A young woman from Colorado who is employed in a processing plant here was listed in good condition Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital following a gun accident at her apartment.

Sheriff's officers, who investigated, said Cheryl Gentry, 22, telephoned her uncle, James Mabey, Burley, about 10 p.m. Christmas eve, telling him she wanted to talk with him as she had received a letter from home. When he went to the Bosworth Motel, West Main Street, where Miss Gentry has an apartment, he heard a shot.

The door was locked into his niece's apartment, but he obtained a key from the motel office and found the young woman shot in the left side, lying on her bed. She was taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital where officers were notified.

Officers learned that Miss Gentry had been sleeping with a .32 pistol under her pillow for some time for protection. The shot went through the pillow before it struck her in the lower left side, coming out her back. Investigation is still under way.

Question...

Is embalming required by law?

Answer...

According to the best sources we have, it appears that embalming is required in this country only when a deceased person is to be transported by train or airplane. However, embalming is practiced almost universally in the United States because of our attitude towards public health and our concept of the funeral as a religious ceremony.

Because the United States is so large and the people of our country move about so very much, it is unusual when a funeral is not delayed until the arrival of some of the relatives. If there were no embalming the funeral would have to be held very shortly after death. Americans are basically religious people and funeral services are, therefore, religious occasions when members of the family gather together to recognize that God's will has been accomplished. The professional competence of our staff at the White Mortuary is one of the factors that makes a funeral possible and perhaps even a little bit easier to accept.

Boy Dies, 4 Others Hurt In Car Fire

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — A three-year-old boy died early today from burns received Sunday afternoon when bottled gas ignited and set aflame the parked station wagon in which he and four other children were sitting.

Robert Gallegos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gallegos, Ontario, died at Holy Rosary Hospital in Ontario. His sister, Rosa Linda, 2, was reported in critical condition.

Joe Gallegos Jr., 1, and Patrick Ontiveros, 6, and Tina Ontiveros, 10, were reported in fair condition at the hospital.

All were burned when Gloria Gallegos, 18, mother of the victim, was shopping. Authorities said bottled gas of the type used to operate appliances in a camper unit somehow became turned on and then was ignited. There was an explosion, witnesses told officers, and then the entire vehicle was engulfed in flames.

When the fire broke out, several persons in the parking lot of the shopping center and those in nearby stores rushed to the aid of the children, who were trapped in the car.

At first, they were hampered by a locked door and rolled street windows but finally were successful in gaining entrance and removing the children from the vehicle.

The Ontiveros children were the brother and sister of Mrs. Gallegos and the youngsters of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Ontiveros of Ontario.

Castro Continues War On Religion

WASHINGTON—Reports that the Castro regime is moderating its animosity toward religion are unfounded. Such claims are either deliberate or unwitting Communist propaganda. There is nothing to them. Far from becoming "more tolerant," as was asserted by a group of religious officials, following a visit to Cuba as guests of the Castro government, the exact opposite is the case.

That's the unvarying account of refugees arriving daily in the U. S. Graphically illustrative of what they have to say about Castro's hostility toward religion is the following first-hand report of what is transpiring in the Santiago de las Vegas area: Religious services are permitted only on Sunday at hours specified by local Red authorities. Services may be held only in authorized churches. On pain of severe penalties, seeking new church members is prohibited.

Similarly, Bibles and church literature may not be distributed inside or outside of churches. Also, "sternly" banned is the transportation of children to and from religious services of any kind. Recently a clergyman and his wife were arrested for doing that. They finally avoided imprisonment by signing documents promising not to repeat this "heinous offense." Similar documents had to be signed by the parents of the children.

To further disrupt church services and religious gatherings, the Castro regime has organized neighborhood "committees to defend the revolution." Purpose of these groups, made up of hard-core leftists and agitators, is to make it difficult to conduct religious services and to attend them.

Not all of the criticism aimed at the controversy-prone anti-poverty program arises in the big cities. There is, for example, the legal services program for Navajo Indians conducted under an Office of Economic Opportunity grant by Dinebefina Nahilina Be Agaditahne Inc. (DNA) on the Navajo Reservation at Window Rock, Ariz. The DNA program has come under heavy fire. Raymond Nakai, chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council, says the DNA operation "involves shocking waste of the taxpayers money." He says DNA has been spending some $800,000 a year to provide legal services for 14,000 clients while the tribe's Legal Aid Service, spends $100,000 annually to provide services for more than 10,000 Navajos.

COMMENT

Christmas Rudder

Portland Oregonian

If one asked today who Tiny Tim is or was, chances are a majority would reply that he's a long-haired fellow who sings "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" in falsetto. But, before Christmas is over, surely the real Tiny Tim of Charles Dickens' immortal "A Christmas Carol" will be restored to his rightful place and his "God bless us, everyone" will be echoed widely, even by modern-day Scrooges.

In spite of technological and other kinds of revolutions, generation gaps, giant plastic Santa Clauses, gold-plated golf tees and other such nonsensical gifts of the affluent society, Christmas basically is much like it has been for decades, if not centuries. Like other religious holidays — the Jewish Hanukkah, for example Christmas draws heavily on tradition.

Young families celebrate the holiday much as did their parents and today's youngsters enjoy the festivities as fully as did their parents and grandparents one and two generations ago. There's no apparent gap as old and young gather around the tree to exchange exciting packages.

The tree itself is an outstanding example of how Christmas traditions endure. Urbanization has not diminished the desire for a fragrant fir or pine, as the principal part of the holiday decorations. To the contrary, providing Christmas trees for America's 50 million families has become big business, in which Oregon and Washington growers represent about 10 per cent.

About 45 million trees, with a retail value of about $160 million, will be displayed this Christmas in American homes, businesses, schools and churches, says the American Forest Institute. This is 15 million more than 20 years ago. By 1975, the market will have increased by 7 million.

City dwellers in the Pacific Northwest still can cut their own trees on private or public lands, if they wish. But even here, most trees are purchased from retailers. In crowded cities of the East and in areas where conifers are scarce, trees must of necessity be bought from dealers.

To supply these outlets, Christmas tree farming is booming, as is evident in rural areas of the Pacific Northwest. Planting, spacing, shaping and other tending have made available more, well-proportioned trees than when one took an ax into the woodlot and selected a wild seedling.

How strong the Christmas tree tradition is was demonstrated dramatically just a few days ago when a ship tie-up threatened to deny Hawaiians a traditional mainland Christmas. Several plane loads of trees were sent to the islands from Portland International Airport.

Holly, too, has held its place in the Christmas tradition. Alfred N. Roberts, professor of horticulture at Oregon State University, estimates that the equivalent of 100 carloads of holly greens are shipped from the Pacific Northwest each year between early November and the middle of December. Some estimate that 85 per cent or more of the holly marketed in the United States is grown in western Oregon and Washington. Dollar value is placed at more than $1 million.

Christmas tradition consists of more than trees and holly. Depending on ethnic and family customs, the same menus Grandma used will be followed for Christmas Eve supper or Christmas dinner. The same, old carols will be sung around the piano or played on the record-player. Candles, though banned from the tree for safety reasons, will throw their cozy gleam on the happy scene from candelabra and vigil lights.

Tradition is an essential rudder in a changing world. Christmas is a rudder of stout oak.

Don A Spender?

Idaho State Journal

State Sen. Cecil Andrus, the Lewiston Democrat who finished second to Gov. Don Samuelson in a three-way election race in 1966, is warming up for a new bid in 1970.

Andrus loosed a broadside against the governor at a Democratic meeting last week in Payette, charging Samuelson's "so-called business-like approach to state government is costing the citizens of Idaho millions of dollars."

Andrus said the governor advocates removal of the lid on property taxes, which Andrus interprets as a threat to local property owners in school financing.

Presumably, Andrus refers to House Bill 304, the controversial measure which attempted to limit local taxing units to not more than a 4 per cent annual increase. We have not heard the governor say he is against this bill, but if that is so, he has a great deal of company. It almost certainly will be revised in the next session.

While Andrus may feel he has a tenable position in that matter, he certainly must have been speaking purely for his partisan audience in a scattergun sequence of other charges. During Samuelson's administration, gasoline charges were raised 16 per cent, the slash disposal fee was boosted 50 per cent, brand inspection fees were doubled, fire protection assessments were increased from eight to 18 cents an acre, and the mandatory motor vehicle inspection fee of $2.50 went into effect.

The Legislature voted in a special session last year to add one cent per gallon gasoline tax in order to take advantage of several million dollars in federal matching funds. The fire protection assessment increase was shown to be long overdue in the wake of disastrous fires in North Idaho in 1967, and the motor vehicle inspection system was an attempt to protect the motoring public from unsafe vehicles on the roads.

Certainly the Samuelson administration has been the biggest spender in Idaho history. The general fund budget for the current biennium will be about $200 million, compared with $102 million as recently as the 1963-'65 biennium. But the largest single increases, by far, have been for education — and Samuelson has been dragged along, protesting and threatening vetoes, by a determined Legislature.

We doubt, in short, that Samuelson can be characterized as a lavish, wasteful spender.

The governor would seem to be vulnerable on a number of other fronts, notably conservation. His espousal of the miners' interests in the White Clouds controversy has raised the ire of thousands of outdoorsmen in the state, although he has staunch support of other thousands who believe the molybdenum deposit should be exploited at the cost of the scenic grandeur in the area.

It must be said that Andrus and Samuelson, at this early stage, shape up as leading contenders for the 1970 gubernatorial derby. We would hope that as the campaigns wax warmer, we will hear more discussion of issues and records, as free as possible from partisan generalizations.

Comparisons

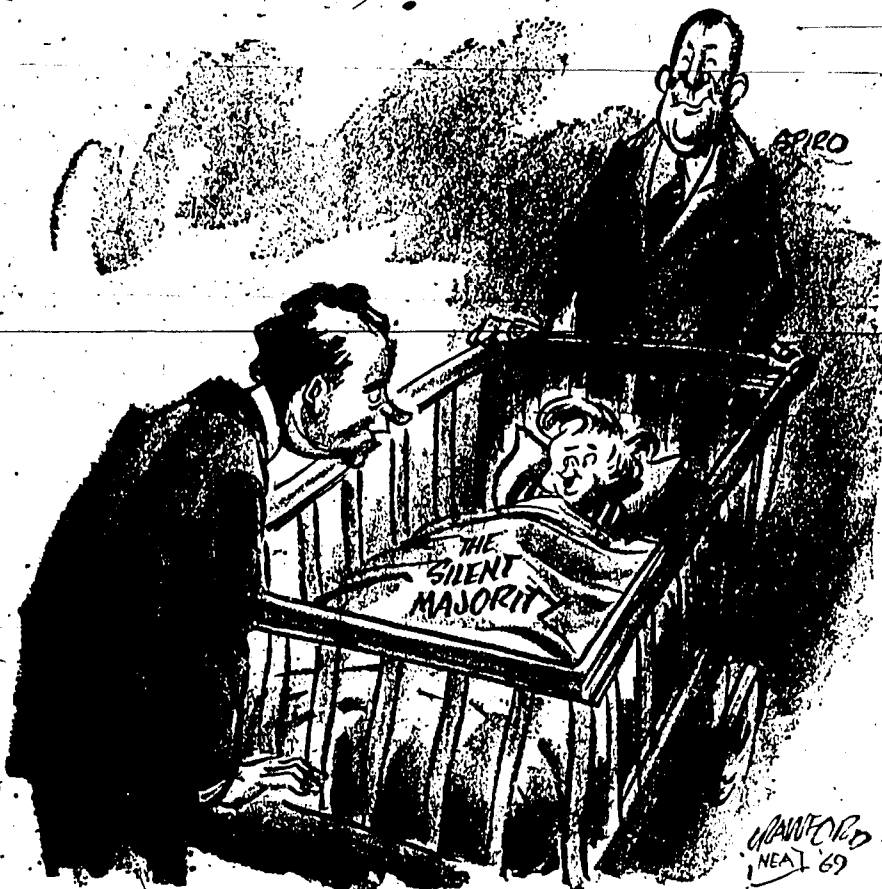

Christian Science Monitor Since some persons seem to like to dote on what is wrong with the United States, it is good once in a while to reflect on what is good about it. A Florida congressman, James A. Haley, has provided one set of figures which makes a quick comparison of life, say in the Soviet Union, easy.

As most persons in both countries work for a living, one common denominator is the number of hours workers must put in to earn certain common articles. In Russia, the average worker puts in 12 minutes to earn the price of a loaf of bread; a U.S. loaf costs six minutes.

A small auto in Russia costs 5,716 hours; in the U.S. it is 720. A Russian pound of steak is worth 132 minutes; a U.S. pound costs 24 minutes. A pound of butter is 161 minutes in Russia; 20 in the U.S. A bar of soap costs 25 minutes in Russia; 2 minutes in the U.S. A man's suit is 197 hours in Russia; 13 hours in the U.S. And an automatic washing machine requires 204 hours work in Russia; 53 hours in the U.S.

Undoubtedly the average citizen in both countries is not satisfied with his lot. But it isn't difficult to see which has more to be thankful for.

McCormack On Birth Control

WASHINGTON—Just as President Nixon and key Republicans in Congress are energetically boosting government aid for birth control, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts is dragging his feet in the habitual way of big city Democrats worried about Catholic constituents.

McCormack has been quietly stalling Mr. Nixon's plan for a special — and long overdue — Presidential commission on the population explosion. The fact that pressure for action is now mounting against McCormack from both Republicans and a wide cross-section of Democrats in the House is another sign that the venerable Speaker is out of touch with the times.

Indeed, the history of the Population Commission resolution, provides at least one concrete piece of proof for White House charges of foot-dragging.

It was sent to Congress in early August, backed by the entire Republican leadership and the powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur Mills. Almost five months later — and three months after it passed the Senate without opposition — the resolution languishes in the House Rules Committee. To crack the McCormack-imposed delays on the resolution, President Nixon dispatched his ace domestic troubleshooter, Daniel (Pat) Moynihan, to Capitol Hill to persuade McCormack to change his mind about having the resolution consigned to the House Rules Committee.

But Moynihan's effort was no more successful than the Speaker's earlier attempt by Rep. William L. Dawson of Illinois, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, and an old McCormack ally. Dawson's committee, after hearings in mid-November, reported the resolution Dec. 10 and had it placed on the Consent Calendar — a routine device allowing non-controversial bills to be brought straight to the floor, bypassing the Rules Committee.

The Speaker, who has close ties to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, decided the Population Commission does not fit into the non-controversial category. Despite Chairman Dawson's decision to place the resolution on the Consent Calendar, McCormack had it removed on Dec. 12 and sent to the Rules Committee. McCormack's letter to Dawson informing him of this action stated flatly that as a controversial measure the resolution had to go through the time-consuming routine of the Rules Committee, which will not meet again until mid-January.

By contrast, the Senate Government Operations Committee held hearings on the resolution on Sept. 15, reported it to the Senate Sept. 24, and got Senate approval five days later.

McCormack's delaying tactics on Mr. Nixon's landmark decision to set up the first Presidential commission in U.S. history on the dangerous population crisis is in sharp conflict with actions by the President's own party in the House.

A Republican task force assigned to study rampant population growth, both here and in the world, will soon publish findings that place the crisis in stark terms. Boiled down, the task force warns that, at the present rates of increase, the world's population will quadruple from the present 3.5 billion to 14 billion — in just 45 years.

That staggering statistic is based on testimony from a wide range of witnesses who appeared before the task force (headed by Rep. George Bush of Texas) in hearings that began last June. But the Bush task force (set up by Rep. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the House Republican Research Committee) went well beyond technical experts to probe political and racial implications of government population-control measures.

One witness was Rep. Shirley Chisholm, of Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant ghetto, who pointedly disavowed scare talk from black militants that the Federal government intends to use birth-control programs as a form of genocide against the Negro race.

This hysteria about racial extermination, Mrs. Chisholm testified, has no believers among Negro mothers. To the contrary, she said, easier access in black urban ghettos to birth-control devices and information on how to use them is essential.

The Bush panel will make a dozen or so hard recommendations, centering on two main targets: far more Federal financing of birth-control programs so that within five years all women who want help can get it free; and a major reorganization of present programs, to improve delivery of birth-control services.

These recommendations by the Republican task force will give the new Presidential commission, once approved by Congress, some hard facts to chew on. But first, Speaker McCormack's stone age obstructionism must be surmounted.

Moon Is Down

WASHINGTON — The trouble with scientists is that they can't leave well enough alone. They were able to get a man to the moon and that was a good thing. They had man bring back rocks from the moon to examine, and that was certainly a noble endeavor. Then someone thought up the idea of having a lunar module crash into the moon to see how much the moon would quake, and while that was sort of messy, it was something most people went along with.

But apparently it was just the beginning. Last week at a meeting in Los Angeles a scientist named Gary Latham proposed that we fire off an atomic bomb on the dark side of the moon to find out what the core is made of.

I am certain that if this idea is finally agreed to, our scientists will not be satisfied to stop there. I predict that if we go ahead with an explosion on the moon that this will eventually happen.

Gentlemen as you are all aware our atomic explosion on the moon was tremendously successful. We now know the core of the moon is composed of hard rubber, similar to that used in a golf ball. The question today is what do we do to the moon next?

"Professor, my department has been making studies and we believe it is feasible to knock off a large section of the moon with an intercontinental ballistic missile, and then, with a giant magnet, which we would build in Nevada, attract the piece of moon to earth. Thus we would be able to study the moon in an earth environment and not be dependent on a bagful of rocks for our information."

In all due respect, Professor Heitel, my department has come up with an idea far superior to yours. We feel that with the right conditions we can put the moon on a collision course with another planet and register the impact at the moment it collides. This will give us invaluable information on how other planets react when hit by a large body of dead mass."

"That's not good enough, Professor Runkle. The most important thing to be learned is what would happen if the moon was removed from the earth's orbit. Until we know this, we cannot continue our future experiments. At the moment, the moon is too large to be pushed out of orbit. But if we broke it up into little pieces, by firing a series of hydrogen bombs in a volley for three days, we could smash the moon to bits. The small pieces could then be pushed out of orbit by our space ships and we could track their paths."

"I do not object to the idea, Professor Grimsted, except that we don't want to contaminate other planets just in case there is life on them. My people feel that if there was some way we could set fire to the moon, we could photograph it in color while it was burning up, which then could give us clues to the unanswered questions we still have about the sun."

"Gentlemen, gentlemen. ATT your ideas have merit. We seem to be agreed that the moon is expendable. The only question is how best to destroy it and still get the most scientific data. Our laboratories in Carlsbad may have a solution. They have perfected a powerful chemical which, when fired by an SBM 4 rocket, could turn the moon into a thick muddy soup which would drip down on the earth."

"If our calculations are correct, the major part of the soup would drip down off the beaches at Santa Barbara, Calif., giving us valuable information as to what happens when the moon's surface is blended with crude oil."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Sugar Tests

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am confused about diabetes. A year ago I was in the hospital and a glucose tolerance test showed I had diabetes and a mild pancreatitis.

I followed a diet but took no medication. Recently I had a urine and sugar test by another doctor and he didn't find any indication of diabetes as my sugar showed normal.

Is it possible that I am cured, or that there could have been a mistake made? This last test was a two-hour sugar tolerance test.

I read recently that there is an afternoon diabetes test. My tests were in the morning, two hours after breakfast. — J.W.

Diabetes isn't as simple to diagnose as some folks think. Many cases are obvious enough, but some aren't.

It's doubtful if there was a "mistake" in your case, and it is also very risky to say that diabetes has been "cured," because diabetes can't be cured. Not under present circumstances.

Here, however, are some possibilities that may apply in your case. Since the pancreas produces insulin, inflammation of that organ (pancreatitis) can cause a temporary disturbance of sugar metabolism, but this subsides if and when the pancreas returns to normal.

But since your original test apparently showed definite diabetes, I would not assume that the condition of the pancreas was entirely responsible.

You've been on a diet since your diabetes, from what I can judge from your letter, wasn't very severe.

Another sugar tolerance test over a period of three or four hours should be done. Take the test only after you have been on a liberal carbohydrate diet for at least three days. The answer then should be conclusive as to whether you must watch your diet to keep your sugar under control.

Most sugar tolerance tests are done in the morning. An afternoon test is being used in some laboratories. It tends to produce more positive diabetes curves, but for your purpose I would stick to the morning procedure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My brother is 23 and has a very sparse beard. He shaves only two or three times a week. After trying to raise a mustache, which was so straggly he gave up, he wonders if he should take male hormones. Or is this hereditary? — E. B.

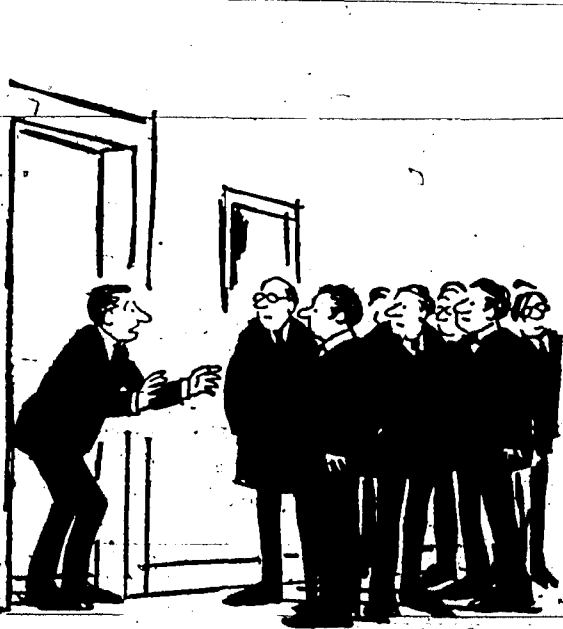

Density of beard will vary considerably, and heredity is a factor. However, it can be based on a glandular deficiency. This may mean the pituitary, thyroid, or gonadal (sex) glands — the last named produce the male hormone but are influenced by the other glands.

Rather than expecting to improve the situation just by taking male hormone, your brother should be thoroughly studied to discover at what level the deficiency exists. If your family physician is not equipped to handle such a study, it would be in order to ask him to refer your brother to an endocrinologist.

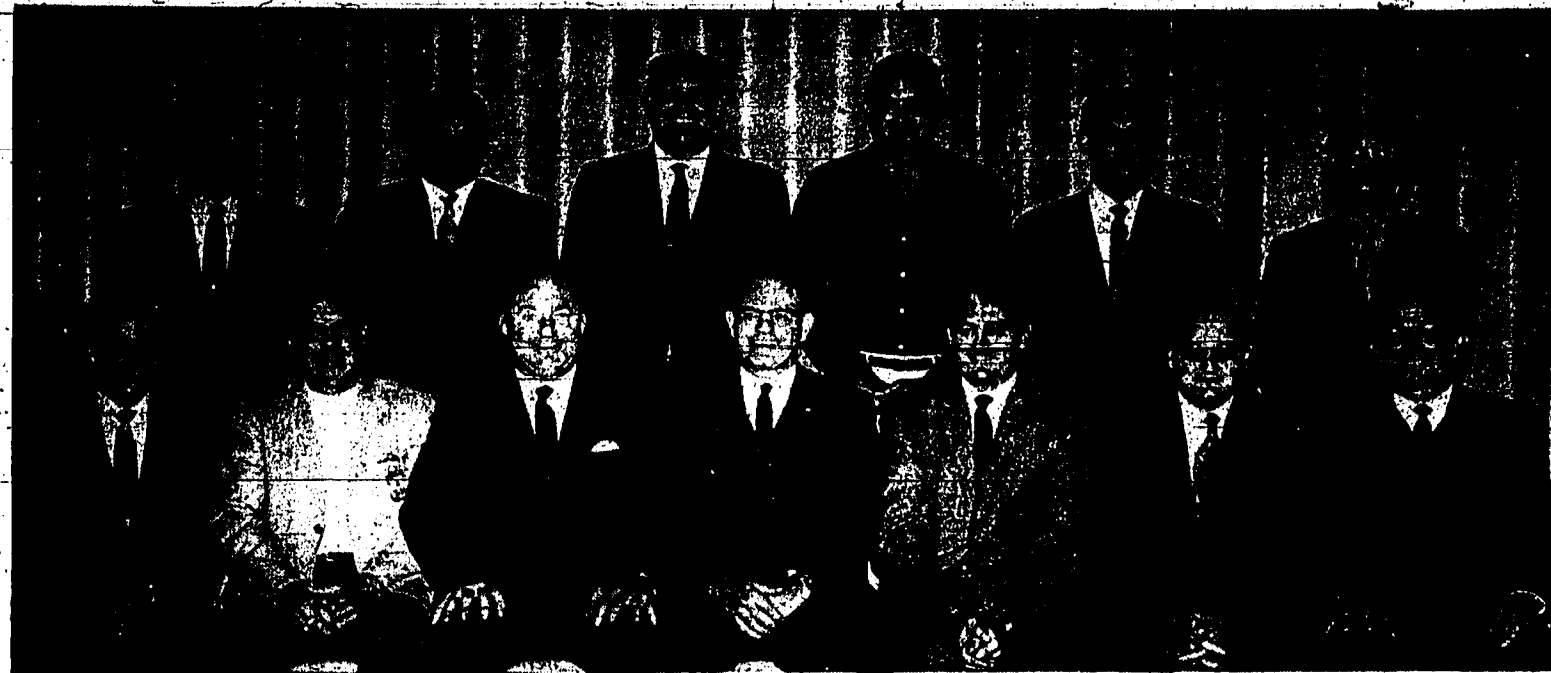

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Times-News for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Swedish Tour Brings Tough Decision For Czech Citizen

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Babela Jley paid nearly three months salary and left his wife and children knowing he would probably never see them again to join a "Christmas in Stockholm" tour.

Jley has explained why he left his native Czechoslovakia and the almost hopeless struggle ahead to get permission for his family to join him.

Jley, from Prague, is one of 75 Czech tourists in a group of 96 who decided not to return to their native country when their Christmas visit in Sweden came to an end.

The trip, arranged by the state-owned travel agency Cedok in Prague, was the first to be permitted since the government restricted travel permits last fall.

Each participant in "Christmas in Stockholm" paid about $200 for the fare. The average pay for a worker in Czechoslovakia is $60 a month.

It had been uncertain whether the trip would get authorization from the authorities but on Dec. 18th a cable came to all the participants which said simply: "Pack your trunks. We're leaving on the 20th."

"We were all strangers and no one dared to tell the other about defection plans," Babela Jley said. "I found out that I was not alone in my decision to stay in Sweden when I met the others at the police station in Stockholm."

"The life we have led since the invasion has not been a real life, just working and sleeping. People cannot speak to each other in Czechoslovakia, any more. You can just think."

Most of the defectors left relatives behind, relatives they have little hope of seeing again.

'Sour Grapes'

BOISE (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters said that remarks made by Attorney General Robert M. Robson during the past few days "have been sour grape utterances of a poor loser."

Waters referred to a dispute between state Auditor Joe Williams, the Board of Examiners, of which Robson is a member, and the Division of Management Services over payroll preparation in the state.

WINE EXPORTS SURGE

SOFIA (UPI)—Bulgaria exported more bottled wine in 1969 than France and Italy put together, the Bulgarian news agency BTA said Saturday.

France To Continue Boycott Of Western European Union

PARIS (UPI) — France will continue its boycott of the Western European Union (WEU) and will not attend next month's ministerial session in Brussels, government officials said.

The officials said France still is reviewing its position regarding the seven-nation group, linking Britain and the six members of the European Common Market, and a decision was not expected in the near future.

Foreign ministers of West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Britain are scheduled to meet Jan. 9 and 10 in Brussels for their first meeting of the year.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

BOISE (UPI) — Train-car deaths and accidents in Idaho in 1969 showed an increase over similar crashes in 1968, Idaho State Police said Saturday. Records through Dec. 23 showed 18 persons killed in 12 train-vehicle accidents as compared with 15 fatalities in eight accidents in all of 1968.

AIR PACT SIGNED

MOSCOW (UPI)—Japan and the Soviet Union signed an agreement Saturday that will put the first non-Soviet airliners on the Siberian route to Tokyo on March 28, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Gymnasiums Collapse With Snow

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Authorities say it will cost at least $100,000 to replace each of two high school gymnasiums which collapsed within hours of each other in Monroe County.

An investigation is planned into the collapses of the Madisonville-High School gym early Friday morning and the Tellico Plains High School gym, about 15 miles south, Thursday afternoon. No one was in either building because of Christmas holidays.

Monroe County School Supt. L. M. McDowell said the buildings are both three years old and were built by the same construction company under identical plans drawn up by a Knoxville architect. Total cost of the two building complexes was about $3.5 million.

About three inches of snow were on the roofs when they fell in. Both gyms were demolished.

"The snow was apparently the straw that broke the camel's back," said Tellico Plains Mayor Charles Hall; "but that amount shouldn't be sufficient to damage any well-constructed building."

McDowell said the high school's physical education programs and basketball seasons would be hampered severely because of the destruction, but that officials were trying to work out some way to make use of an old high school for a play area.

"We're just thankful there weren't any children inside," said McDowell.

The Tellico Plains High School has enrollment of 340 students while Madisonville High has an enrollment of about 450.

Lessons Slated

SHOSHONE — Youths of Shoshone who want to take ski lessons at Soldier Mountain Ski Lift this winter should contact Delmas Carraway or Reid Newby. The first series of lessons begin Jan. 3 and run three weeks at a nominal charge.

Mr. Carraway is arranging for transportation on Saturdays. The rented buses will leave at 8 a.m. from the high school building and will arrive home about 5 p.m.

MAO IS 78

HONG-KONG (UPI) — Mao Tse-Tung, founder and chairman of the Chinese Communist party, marked his 76th birthday Friday but the occasion was not mentioned by Peking broadcasts beamed beyond the Bamboo Curtain.

My Lai Probe Moves Into Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Army's investigation into a possible coverup of the alleged My Lai massacre moved to Vietnam Sunday and the general in charge said he wanted a look at the site of the incident.

Lt. Gen. William R. Peers, a former division and corps commander in Vietnam, told newsmen at the airport he probably would remain in Vietnam 10 days to two weeks.

"We've made tremendous progress into the investigation," Peers said. "We've interviewed 39 witnesses, some for two or three hours and some for more than 20 hours."

Peers' job is to find out whether officers in the Americal Division attempted to hide the alleged killing of civilians at My Lai from their superiors in the Vietnam chain of command.

Changes Set For Idaho Constitution

BOISE (UPI) — Some changes have been made in the 1968 draft of a proposed new constitution by Idaho's Constitutional commission, Chairman Raymond L. Givens said over the weekend.

Givens said he is hopeful that the changes will make it easier to obtain legislative approval of the document. He said the changes, 32 in all, were made following the views expressed at 28 public hearings, plus suggestion from the legislature's joint judicial subcommittee and further discussions by the commission itself.

Despite the changes, the commission retained the controversial short ballot, in fact eliminated from it the office of secretary of state. This means only the governor and lieutenant governor would be elected at the state level.

3 Convicted Murderers Await Fates

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN (UPI) — Three young men convicted of first-degree murder wait at Utah State Prison for fast-approaching 1970 and the determination of their fates.

Walter B. Kelbach, 31, and Myron D. Lance, 28, recently were scheduled by Third District Court Judge Bryon H. Croft to be executed Feb. 5. The execution dates were set after appeals to higher courts had been turned down.

Darrell Devere Poulson, 31, has escaped five scheduled execution dates since Dec. 16, 1961.

The three are the only residents of death row in the prison's new maximum security facility.

Poulson, the dean of death row occupants, was convicted of the rape and slaying of Karen Ann Mechling, 11, in American Fork on Sept. 17, 1961.

His case has been under the direction of Federal District Judge Willis W. Ritter, who granted a stay of execution on Aug. 29, 1967, saving the convict from his fifth execution date, set for Sept. 5, 1967.

Lance and Kelbach were convicted of the slaying of James Sisemore and Fred William Lillie on Dec. 21, 1966.

A condemned man under Utah law may choose his form of execution from either hanging or gunfire. Kelbach has chosen to be hanged, Lance to be shot.

Unless court action blocks the Feb. 5 executions, the prison will face some problems with the execution of Kelbach. The last hanging in Utah was that of Barton K. Kirkham on June 7, 1938. Warden John Turner said the scaffold was not kept, as Kirkham's hanging was the first in more than 40 years. A new scaffold must be constructed.

The last execution at the Utah prison was that of James W. Rodgers on March 30, 1960, convicted of a murder in southern Utah.

EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM finds the Miami Pop Festival is the place "Where the young people are that I want to reach" as he meets some of the long hair types before speaking to the small crowd of 2,500. Rev. Graham said he would like to attend more pop festivals. (UPI telephoto)

Billy Graham Speaks At Rock Festival

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham, who expected to be "shouted-down" at his first rock music festival, but was quietly received, says he plans to make the hip scene again.

"This is where the young people are I want to reach," Graham said following an appearance Sunday at the Miami Rock Festival, where he told some 2,500 youngsters to "tune in to God."

Graham, flashily dressed in a bright gold jacket, white buck shoes and a yellow shirt, said he was pleased with what he saw and the response he got.

"I love these kids, I really do," he said. "I came expecting to be shouted down but they were so polite and courteous to me. I believe we will see some positive results. I believe the seed was sown."

Donn Kelsey, a 33-year-old Californian, told Graham he "gets high" every night and asked the evangelist to "say a prayer and thank God for good friends and good weed."

"You can get high on Jesus," Graham replied. "Let us pray for peace."

Attendance at the three-day festival at the Miami-Hollywood Speedway 15 miles west of here apparently was far below expectations. Promoter Norman Johnson, claiming "roadblocks thrown up by the establishment made this a bummer," cut ticket prices in half for Monday's final session.

Earlier, Johnson had said it would take an attendance of 30,000 for him to break even. Highest estimates of attendance were about 15,000 Saturday night.

Attorney Melvin Belli Responds To Plea From Zodiac, Who Is Wanted For 5 Murders

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Melvin Belli responded today to a plea from Zodiac, a killer who appealed to the flamboyant attorney for help because "I cannot remain in control for much longer."

Zodiac is wanted for five murders in the San Francisco Bay area in the past year and has bragged of seven in a series of cryptic notes and letters to newspapers and police departments.

The mysterious slayer broke a silence of more than a month in a Christmas letter to Belli. Zodiac hinted at an eighth victim, expressed fears he might "lose control" and fake two more, and pleaded with the attorney to "please help me."

The letter contained two blood-stained fragments of a shirt that San Francisco police confirmed was worn by Zodiac's latest victim, a taxi driver slain Oct. 11. Fragments of the shirt had been received in two previous letters from Zodiac.

Belli, in Germany for a meeting of military trial lawyers, responded to the plea in a message telephoned to the San Francisco Chronicle, and carried in today's edition.

"Please write to me in care of the Chronicle and tell me how I may help," Belli said. "If you want to talk to me in person, I will meet you anywhere at any time you designate."

"If you want to meet with me alone, I will come alone. If you want me to bring along a priest or a psychiatrist or a reporter to talk with, I will do so. I will follow your instructions to the letter. You say you are 'losing control' and may kill again. Do not make things worse. Let me help you now."

Belli said his concern was "not with the number of murders already committed, but rather preventing another from happening. I believe he wants to stop killing."

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This isn't a problem that you (or anyone else) can solve, but in recent years with so many enlightened people seeking psychiatric help, it's well worth mentioning.

Several years ago I was depressed for a period of time, and since I considered myself an enlightened person, I went to a private psychiatrist. He assured me that there was nothing seriously wrong; that I didn't need prolonged psychiatric care, and after a few more appointments, he dismissed me. That was the sum and total of my "psychiatric treatment."

A year ago I applied for a position: I was asked, "Have you ever had psychiatric treatment?" Seeing no reason to conceal the truth, I mentioned my experience.

In case you don't know this, there are many government positions (and private ones) which cannot be held by anyone with a "history" of psychiatric treatment.

You can be crazy as a loon, but if you've never been to a psychiatrist you are clean as a whistle!

Now, what do you think of that?

DEAR HISTORY: There are still in existence a number of laws, rules, regulations, traditions, and precedents which are unjust, archaic, senseless, and plain idiotic.

If a single session (or a hundred) with a psychiatrist makes one a "mental case," then all psychoanalysts are "mental cases," because in order to become a psychoanalyst one must himself be psychoanalyzed.

Steering clear of a psychiatrist's office does not necessarily affirm one's good mental health. The person who boasts that he's never been to a psychiatrist can be a lot sicker than those who have.

DEAR ABBY: Every Friday afternoon I baby-sit with my grandchild so my daughter-in-law who is 28 can take her art lesson.

The teacher is a male neighbor, and four other girls are in this class.

Last Friday I noticed that my daughter-in-law was taking her bathrobe to art class with her. Out of curiosity I asked her why. Her answer shocked me. It seems the girls have been taking turns posing in the nude as models — and it was her turn that day.

She asked me not to mention it to my son, but I didn't promise anything.

I don't want to start trouble between them, but I think her husband has a right to know about this, don't you? Or should I keep my mouth shut?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I also think her husband has a right to know. And tell her that if she doesn't tell him, you will.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G. M.: I DID write to President Nixon. He ignored my letter.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69-700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Browns Rip Dallas For Eastern Title

Nelsen's Clutch Passing Sparks 38-14 Runaway

DALLAS (UPI)—Bill Nelsen's clutch passing and a clawing Cleveland defense that handled the National Football League's most potent offense carried the Browns to an easy 38-14 Eastern Conference Championship victory over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday.

Landry — "We Always End Up In Miami"

DALLAS (UPI)—For the fourth straight year, Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry stood in a dressing room after a championship football game as the loser.

"We've come down to the wire so many times and always end up in Miami," he said. The Cowboys had just been beaten 38-14 Sunday by the Cleveland Browns, the second time in two years Dallas lost the National Football League's Eastern Division title to the Browns.

For two years before that, Dallas won the Eastern title but lost to the Green Bay Packers in the NFL championship game. "We had played great football against great Green Bay teams," Landry said. "Then last year was our first disappointment and this is our second."

"I'm sure the Rams feel the same way." The Los Angeles Rams were beaten 23-20 Saturday by the Minnesota Vikings in the Western Division crown.

Landry was calm but he did not smile. "We have to start evaluating overall," he said. "We have to look at everything. This changes everything."

"We had the top offense and the third or fourth best defense and it's all gone in one game. You have to start all over again."

The Cowboys themselves were quiet and went about the business of changing into their street clothes. Bob Lilly, the giant defensive tackle, chomped on a cigar in frustration.

It was not a victory cigar. Rayfield Wright stared at the tape wrapped around his wrists. He began to cut the adhesive off, slowly.

Wright had been grazed by a Cleveland punt in the first quarter after the Cowboys had stopped the Browns cold. The Browns recovered the punt and went on to score their first touchdown.

"When I saw it, the ball was right up on me and then I had to get out of the way and it bounced toward me," the 6-7, 250-pounder said. "I tried to get out of the way."

Wright did not look up. He moved the scissors down his leg and began to cut the tape around his ankles.

"They moved against our defense and we failed to move our offense," Landry said. "The defeat was complete."

The loss was the Cowboys' third straight to Cleveland, including a 42-10 defeat during the regular season.

"I don't understand it, really," Landry said. "They seem to be in a pretty good streak against us."

In a corner, wide receiver Bob Hayes dressed quietly with his teammates. Hayes has played in the last four Cowboys' teams.

"We just need to win a big one," he said.

76ers Coast To 138-112 Win

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—The Philadelphia 76ers, fourth place team in the Eastern Division, rampaged to a 30-point lead in the fourth period and settled for a 138-112 victory over San Francisco, second placers in the Western Division, in a National Basketball Association game Sunday night.

Philadelphia had trouble in the first half, fighting for a 30-28 edge in the opening quarter and led by only 64-60 at halftime.

Late in the third quarter the 76ers gained a 95-81 advantage on a 13-0 spree. They finished the third period with a 99-88 lead. It required about five minutes for the winners to clinch the victory.

Billy Cunningham led Philadelphia with 29 points and David Gambee paced San Francisco with 20 points.

1:53 left in the half that gave the Browns a 14-0 lead. But he hit 18 of 27 passes for 219 yards which carried the Browns into next Sunday's NFL title game in the Minnesota Vikings' ice box stadium.

It was the fourth straight year the Cowboys have flourished in the NFL playoffs and Sunday's exhibition before 69,321 rain-soaked fans was reminiscent of the ease with which the Browns sent the Cowboys to the Miami Playoff Bowl a year ago, 31-20.

Rookie Robert "Bo" Scott got two of the Browns' touchdowns from two yards out each time. Leroy Kelly got another from the one after he had set it up with a 39-yard sprint which was his only big gain of the day and rookie cornerback Walt Sumner got a fifth when he ran 88 yards with an interception.

Don Cockroft, who had missed previous field goals from 40 and 36 yards out, got the other points when he gave the Browns a 17-0 halftime cushion with a 29-yard field goal on the last play of the half.

The Cowboys, who were held to just 39 yards total offense, three first downs and 17 plays in the first half, finally got on the scoreboard with 3:31 left in the third period on a two-yard sneak by harried quarterback Craig Morton to make it 24-7, and again in the final five minutes on a five-yard pass from sub quarterback Roger Staubach to Lance Rentzel.

The tenor of the game was evident early when, on the fourth play of the contest after the Dallas defense had held the Browns for downs, a high, short punt by Cockroft, bounced off Cowboy Rayfield Wright and Browns' linebacker Bob Matheson fell on it at the Dallas 34.

The Browns took a while doing it, but they capitalized on that break and seven plays and a penalty later Scott darted untouched around right end for the first touchdown.

It was during this drive that Nelsen started his great day at pulling off third-down plays, usually with quickie passes to Morin or his wide receivers Paul Warfield and Gary Collins.

Both were idle the past weekend. Oakley's last contest came with Shoshone at Shoshone, and the taller Hornets took a 78-61 decision. Burley fell to powerful Minico 79-61 in its last action.

It marks the first meeting of the year for the two rivals. Last year Burley won twice 69-54 and 68-57 in two close ballgames. Burley thus far has failed to show any real offensive punch but has several men who can hit double figures on good nights.

Oakley boasts good height for a Magic Valley Conference team in Hardy and McLaws, and has a fine guard in Martindale.

Humes' Scoring Pace Gives Sparkle To ISU Basketball

By JAMES BAPIS United Press International Idaho State University basketball fans can still manage a smile in the face of the Bengals' losing record, including a 43-point effort in an 89-79 loss Saturday night to San Jose State.

ISU was beaten in a battle for third place in the inaugural Roadrunner Invitational tournament at Las Cruces, N.M. Humes' 43 points established a new single game mark in Pan-American Auditorium.

An all-around threat, Humes has developed into one of the nation's top scorers in the nation and will be depended on heavily by ISU in the upcoming Big Sky Conference basketball race.

San Jose State killed ISU on the boards, grabbing a total of 68, including 21 by Coby Dietrick, who added 27 points to lead the Spartans to their second win of the year.

ISU played better in the tournament's opening round Friday night, dropping an 88-80 decision to host New Mexico State. The ISU defeat left Big Sky Conference schools with a combined record of only 11 victories against 29 defeats in inter-sectional competition. In other Friday action, Idaho was beaten, 80-61, by second-seeded Oklahoma City in the opening round of the All-College Basketball Tournament at Oklahoma City.

The Vandals return to action in the tournament this afternoon, meeting Arizona State, which lost a 67-62 opener to Memphis State.

Only three other games are on this week's Big schedule, including Weber State at Boise State and Gonzaga at Portland Friday night and Washington State at Gonzaga Saturday night.

Weber, which was beaten at home last Monday by Seattle, 75-66, holds the only winning mark among Big Sky schools. The Wildcats are 4-3 with Idaho next best with a 3-4 record.

Montana and Montana State do not return to action until next week. The Grizzlies, 109-93 losers to Utah Friday night, are at Boise State Jan. 10 and Montana State hosts Idaho State Jan. 7.

Tennessee Coach May Go To Florida But Players Want Assistant

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The University of Tennessee chancellor admitted Sunday that football coach Doug Dickey is considering a move to Florida; but added, "I hope against hope he stays at Tennessee."

"This matter will be resolved in the very near future," Dr. Charles H. Weaver said after the university's board of trustees and athletic board held a two-hour closed meeting with Dickey.

"He (Dickey) pointed out that he is not seeking another coaching post and has no plans to do so, but he has been contacted recently by an appropriate University of Florida official concerning the position of head coach there," Weaver said.

The emergency meeting at a downtown hotel followed Saturday's Gator Bowl game in which Florida, Dickey's alma mater and the school which wants him back to replace Ray Graves as head coach, edged Tennessee 14-13 before a record crowd of 72,248.

Graves, 51, plans to give up the job, but will remain as athletic director, a cap he also wears at the 20,000-student Gainesville, Fla., school.

"I have nothing to say," said the highly successful, 37-year-old Dickey, the 1969 Southeastern Conference coach of the year, who is scheduled to visit the Florida campus early this week. He told Tennessee officials that any further statement on the matter would have to come from the University of Florida.

Florida President Stephen C. O'Connell has been clamored on the situation and will not admit that he or school officials have approached Dickey.

Dickey, whose team went 9-1 this year and winner of at least eight games in each of his last four seasons at Knoxville, reportedly has first grab at the Florida coaching post (which Graves says he has not given up yet) with Assistant Gator Coach Gene Ellenson second in line.

But Ellenson wants the job and he and the young Florida team, loaded with sophomores and looking to better its 8-1-1 record next year, are both fighting to land it for the 48-year-old aide.

"I would be betraying a trust if I did not say I wanted the job," said Ellenson, a dynamic and emotional coach who guided the defense that beat

Tennessee at its own game Saturday. "The kids dedicated the game to me," he said, clutching the game ball. "I'm sure they feel Graves decided to retire and Dickey was hired, it would be a slap at me."

Ellenson said Graves had told him several times that he was Graves' choice to succeed him. Junior linebacker Mike Kelley, who scored Florida's first touchdown with a blocked punt and was named the Gators' most valuable player, said, "We did it for Coach Ellenson. We love him."

Graves, a graduate of Tennessee where he was a football star, said if he decides to make a change "next week or next year, the boys (players) will yearn about it first." He has been at Florida for 10 years.

Florida has never won a Southeastern Conference championship. But Dickey has won it twice at Tennessee, this year and in 1967.

"I'd rather beat the Southeastern Conference champion than the Lambert Trophy winner (undefeated Penn State) which plays in the Orange Bowl) any day," Graves said. "This was without a doubt the finest group of boys I have ever had an opportunity to coach."

ACES TEST BIDS ON SPECIAL HANDS

Jim: "In their training, the Dallas Aces practice a lot with 'bid-em-ups' which are sets of hands devised to cover some specific phase of bidding. A computer is programmed to produce two hands. Thus, one set will show an opening hand with five or six spades, and 13 to 17 high-card points opposite three to five spades and six to eight high-card points. In general, the bidding will start with a spade opening and a single raise. The bidding will continue, with each of the three pairs stopping at a part-score or going on to game or even an occasional small slam."

Oswald: "An analysis will show what the final contract should be. The Aces don't always get there and you and your favorite partner can improve your bidding by ordering various sets of these hands."

Jim: "We also go over all hands from all matches to see what we might have done wrong. Here is a hand from the match to determine the 1970 North American Team that cost us 11 IMPs. Bobby Wolff and I reached an optimistic six-heart contract and went down one."

Oswald: "The play for the slam was about 25 per cent and should not have been bid. Would you have charged yourself if you had made it?"

Jim: "Yes, indeed! Since Bobby could only bid three hearts at his second turn, I should have contented myself with one diamond cue bid and not made the second one."

Oswald: "You did have a real freak hand but your suits were so weak that, when East bid four spades, you should have passed rather than made any further bid."

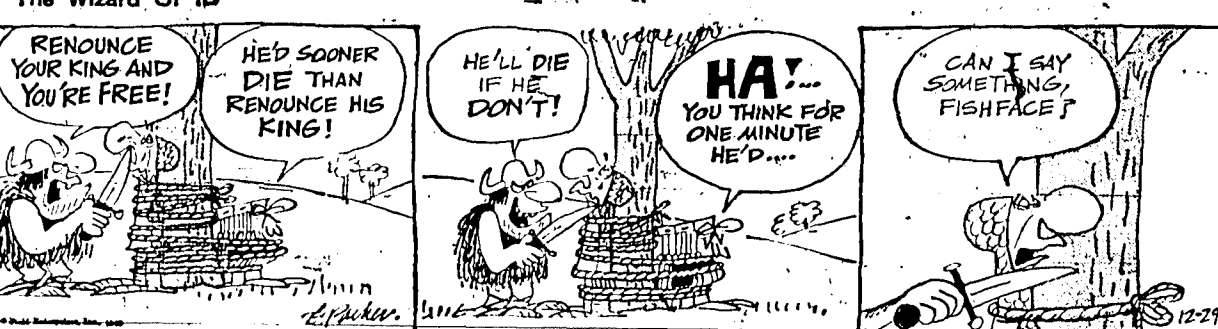

Jim: "No argument. I just bid too much."

Octopus In Love Is Red, And Purple When Irritated

AN IRRITATED OCTOPUS is all over purple, an octopus in love is all over red. . . . HOW DID THOSE statisticians find out 10 per cent of our U.S. gentlemen sleep in their underwear? . . . ONE CANDY MAKER in Japan puts out a sour pickle chewing gum. . . . YOU CHANGE your sleeping position about every seven minutes, if average. . . . DID I TELL YOU it takes 40 minutes to softboil an ostrich egg?

CONSIDER THIS — Brunettes are tougher than blondes. They fight harder to live. That is the remarkable claim of a man of science. He is of the opinion blondes in another 100 years will be a most extinct. "This," he contends, "is because blondes do not adjust as well as brunettes to a hard environment." Remember, I had a young fellow. If you get serious over a blonde, make an effort to soften up her environment.

WHY I DON'T know, but your body is least able to handle alcohol at noon, best able to deal with it at about 8 p.m. Or so say the medical researchers. . . . PROOFREADERS will be delighted to learn that in the Army at Fort Campbell, Ky., serves a Cleveland lad named Pvt. Alenzo Roosevelt. . . . ONE OUT OF EVERY 1,000 U.S. citizens now is millionaire, it's reported. Isn't that incredible? There are three times as many millionaires hereabouts today as there were seven years ago.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "Did you ever find out what's in that old British dish called Bubble and Squeak?" A. Finally. Mashed potatoes and peas. . . . Q. "HOW MANY BIBLES does the average family own?" A. Three. . . . Q. "DIDN'T RAQUEL WELCH have a nose job?" A. So she has publicly announced. . . . Q. "HOW MANY TIES per mile of railroad track?" A. Now? Exactly 3,020. See, nothing to it, go ahead, ask me something else.

THE POETS — Note it stated, "The average person reads silently, just about twice as fast as aloud." No doubt correct. But silently, remembers just about half, as much, I'll warrant. It is the fellow that moves his lips when he reads who knows what he has read. Linguists learn that way. Most eloquent men, in fact: Like Abe Lincoln, and Robert Frost, and Joseph Conrad. Someday, tiny people in Language Arts classes, will be divided into two groups, and each small voice will read the assignments into tape recorders, and the next day the children will trade the tapes to listen to one another, and we will find our poets again, the gentle girls who enunciate affection, the fierce young men who sing out the lyrics of living.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Year-end tax selling pressured stocks Monday, but trading was moderate.

Among the softest stock groups were oil, conglomerates and electronics, although rails and airlines also showed marked weakness.

Motors and chemicals generally lost fractions, but steels were narrowly mixed, and gold mining shares pointed higher in most instances.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the UPI market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was off 0.55 per cent on 1,568 issues crossing the tape. Declines were ahead of advances, 807, to 51.

The Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chips fell 4.16 to 793.49.

A three-hour volume of around 8,500,000 shares was well ahead of Friday's unusually slow pace when many traders and investors stayed home due to a snowstorm which disrupted commuter transportation throughout the metropolitan area.

Aphrodite's Temple May Be Located

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Offered to discharge the debt of the seaport of Knidos in exchange for a single statue.

The citizens refused, preferring to suffer anything rather than lose Aphrodite, the statue that had made Knidos a famous city.

A New York archaeologist reported to colleagues in San Francisco this weekend that she believes she has discovered the site of the most celebrated statue in ancient Greece.

An attractive female professor named Love is, appropriately, the discoverer of the Temple of Aphrodite, the goddess of love.

Dr. Iris C. Love, an assistant professor at Long Island University, said Sunday her excavations at the ruins of Knidos, on the Turkish coast of the Aegean Sea, may result in the recovery of the famous nude statue by the sculptor Praxiteles.

Fifty-two copies of the original are known, but the original statue has been sought after by archaeologists for 200 years, she said.

Miss Love said an expedition under her leadership this summer uncovered a circular temple which was apparently the site of the famed statue of Aphrodite.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — Will the new expansion program begun by Woolworth have the same impact as Kregge's K-Mart program had on them?—I.L.

A — In general, shares of retailers have been under pressure recently as investors assess the effects of tight credit and a sluggish economy. Woolworth, however, has withstood the selling rather well with shares giving up only 34 per cent from earlier highs. Woolworth has recorded back-to-back sales gains since 1961. Unfortunately, earnings have been static for four years.

Behind these figures is the erratic profit record of Woolworth's 52.7 per cent owned British subsidiary. This will probably continue to absorb some of the bounce expected from the company's aggressive expansion program.

Lester Burcham, president, predicted sales will reach $3 billion by 1972 or thereabouts. Earnings estimates for 1969 of $2.35-$2.45 a share were called reasonable. Cited as factors in expected growth were the addition of 35 Woolco outlets annually and emphasis on later stores offering higher-priced merchandise.

Q — Through my company's savings plan I have been buying shares of Massachusetts Investors Trust. Should I now switch and purchase my company's (Swift) shares or split the investment 50-50?—F.J.

A — A new look is definitely taking shape at this, the world's largest, meat packing company. The closing of marginal plants resulted in losses equal to $4.54 a share in fiscal 1968. By 1971 some 250 plants will have been shut down, paving the way for more aggressive expansion into other areas.

Swift has recently announced the acquisition of an insurance and financial firm, bringing the number of such companies under its aegis to six. In the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, earnings of $1.60 a share were reported on a Mass. Investors Trust's performance record has been slightly below average within its growth-income category, both in the last 5 and 10 years. Dividend income, though, has been above average as has its stability record. I would favor letting this investment rest for the interim, while a position was built up in Swift & Co. shares.

(Mr. Spear welcomes questions for use in his column but cannot answer all personally.)

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Alexander Hamilton Institute calls on investors to follow a "go-slow" policy. It calls for no "aggressive" buying even though many quality issues are selling at "unreasonably low prices."

Traders should remain on the sidelines until there are "definite signs of a market bottom," according to IPO Incorporated. It suggests purchase of leading equities "only on dips" of potentially good support.

Where the investment outlook is concerned, the most important factor is the projected growth of the nation's economy. Vance, Sanders & Co. says. The company notes that this country now has entered a period where growth prospects are "superior to the brilliant achievements of the recent past," which is "good news" for the serious investor with long-term goals, the company adds.

The stock market's decline fundamentally stems from high interest rates, tight money, declining industrial production, lower corporate profits and the expectation of more of each of these factors, according to Reynolds & Co. It says the administration and the Federal Reserve System are trying to "play a fine tune" in discouraging inflationary expectations, and where the stock market is concerned "they may be succeeding beyond their dreams."

Drug Plan Suggested In Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A $125,000 drug control program, with emphasis on drug crisis centers and a community-based residential care center, is to be submitted to the State Division of Mental Health, according to Eugene D. Chatlin, coordinator of the Youth Service Program.

Chatlin said that the program calls for prevention, rehabilitation, treatment and research with a heavy emphasis on the coordination of efforts between governmental and private agencies.

The program calls for the establishment of five drug crisis centers in Salt Lake County. Chatlin said there is currently one center in existence at 211 Edison St.—140 East.

The residential care center, with 20 beds for youths from 12 to 21, would be provided because "some serious users must be taken out of their environment and access to drugs," Chatlin said.

The center would not only be available to drug users but to youths with "a variety of psychosocial problems who need such services."

Three-to-one federal matching funds will probably be available, Chatlin said. The programs also call for the creation of at least two group homes of eight youths each, licensed by the State Division of Family Services.

The plans have been devised by Chatlin, Dr. Thomas C. Hardy, a Salt Lake City psychiatrist; Dr. Robert Gray, University of Utah Department of Preventive Medicine, and Dr. George R. Edson, chairman of the Community-Drug-Crisis Center Board of Trustees.

Gray would be called upon to assess the effectiveness of "half-way houses," as a means of rehabilitating the addict.

A LOCAL COUNTRY Western band, "Jim Austin and the Drifters," will put on a show for inmates of the Idaho State Penitentiary in Boise on New Year's Day. Mr. Austin is seated and other members standing. From left, are Banks Levere, Floyd Drown and Paul Crumbliss, all of Twin Falls. Also accompanying the group will be Larry Wolf, Burley, and Curt Merchants, Twin Falls.

Appearance Of Mayor Daley Highlights Chicago Trial

By TONY FULLER

CHICAGO (UPI)—The appearance of Mayor Richard J. Daley in the witness box at the riot conspiracy trial promises to be another epic sequence in a trial that has seen everything from courtroom wrestling matches to a well-sung solo by a member of the British Parliament.

The defense will attempt to prove that the "real conspiracy" was one in which Daley played a major role through the city's refusal to grant demonstration permits to protestors during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

It was uncertain when the defense would put the last of the big city bosses on the stand. He was originally scheduled to appear last Friday but the illness of defendant Abbie Hoffman forced a recess in the trial. Hoffman and six other defendants are charged with entering an interstate conspiracy to incite riots at the convention.

Daley will be a willing witness. There was no effort by his office to quash the subpoena drawn by Defense Attorneys William M. Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass.

This fact, and the knowledge that Daley is a lawyer, has caused some dissension in the defense camp over whether to put the mayor on the stand. "He might filibuster and turn on that ward-heeler charm and melt the jury," one of the defendants said.

But defendants said the feeling that "Daley is what this trial is all about" was stronger than the fear his testimony might help convict them.

"After all, he is Mr. Pig himself and the trial wouldn't be complete without him," defendant Hoffman said.

Jody's mother, Betty Lansdown Fouquet and her common-law husband, Ronald Fouquet, are in Kern County Jail awaiting trial on charges of child abandonment. They have declined to discuss the case.
