

Lincoln Prosecutor Merges Firm With Lt. Governor

SHOSHONE—Prosecuting Attorney Howard E. Adkins today announced a merger of his private law firm with that of Jack M. Murphy, Idaho lieutenant governor.

Operating office for the new firm, to be known as Murphy and Adkins, will be at the Journal building. This has been the location of the firm of Murphy and his associates since he first opened an office in 1951.

Mr. Adkins has operated his private practice from the Lincoln County Prosecutor's office in the court house prior to this. The prosecutor's business will continue to be handled at the court house office and a connected telephone service will provide immediate connection with attorneys there, he states.

The two private secretaries of the attorneys will continue to work for the new firm. Mrs. Wilham Thompson, for Mr. Adkins, and Mrs. Zella May Pearson for Mr. Murphy.

As lt. governor, Mr. Murphy will continue to spend much of his time at the State House, Boise.

Mr. Adkins has practiced law in Shoshone since 1943 and has served as both probate judge and prosecutor for Lincoln county in one capacity or the other since 1945.

Legislator Asks 'Turn-Off' Of Narcotic Abuse

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Republican assemblyman has proposed a broad program to "turn off" society from becoming even more "drug oriented."

Among bills he offered were ones requiring drug manufacturers to spend 25 per cent of their radio and television advertising funds for anti-drug abuse commercials, and redefining marijuana as an hallucinogenic drug rather than a narcotic.

"We as a society," said assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, "have a responsibility to 'turn off' a generation that has grown up with a cultural orientation toward instant chemical gratification..."

GRANGE TO MEET

KING HILL — The King Hill Grange will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Grange hall with Mrs. and Mrs. Joel Young on the refreshment committee.

The Salute of the Union, a 48-gun salute, is fired at noon on July 4.

Chamber At Hagerman Names Aides

HAGERMAN—Eight committees were appointed at the first meeting of the new year of the Hagerman Valley Chamber of Commerce this week by Dana Gilmore, new chamber president.

Ways and means committee: Lloyd Jensen, Maurice Smith, Aldrich Bowler and John Barton; Water Resources, K. A. Barton; Highway: Merle Owsley and Kenneth Hulme; Community Development: Tom Fausett, Kenneth Hulme and Bill Steinmatt; Youth Activity: Lysle Gilmore; Art, Science and Historical: Aldrich Bowler; Transportation: Kenneth Hulme and Pioneer Day Float committee: Leslie Lynch.

John LeMayne was appointed to represent the local chamber at the Northside Chamber of Commerce and the Southern Idaho Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Further committeemen will be appointed at the next meeting at 8 p.m., Feb. 4.

Cemetery Canopy Is Being Built By Hagerman Lions

HAGERMAN — Paul Fleming reported at the meeting of the Hagerman Lions club this week the cemetery canopy is under construction.

The canopy which will be constructed with a metal frame and an awning type roof is a project of the local club. Co-chairman for the project is Lloyd Jensen.

Members agreed that insurance for the newly acquired Christmas decorations for the city streets was a necessity and Lloyd Jensen was appointed to check into the cost of insurance rates. It was also noted that a place for storage of the decorations will be needed.

Members unanimously decided to purchase additional strings of street lights to add to those purchased the past year and it is possible to add one or two additional strings of lights each year.

The joint Christmas lighting project was one of the most successful projects and was well received in the community.

The possibility of building a small swimming pool in the cemetery was discussed, but no action was taken at this time. Some felt this project would not be feasible due to costs and maintenance and the fact that there were three swimming pools nearby. Further discussions on this will be held in future meetings. Plans were made for the annual barbecue. No date was scheduled.

A dinner meeting with their wives will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 19 at the Hagerman Hotel.

Burley Lists Schedule Of Conventions

BURLEY — Schedule of coming conventions and major meetings at the Ponderosa Inn were announced Saturday.

Tuesday the Idaho Dairyman's convention will open and run through Thursday. On Jan. 19 and 20 the Pacific Co-op supply will meet and on Jan. 23 the Production Credit Association annual meeting is slated.

U.S. Rep. Orval Hansen will be honored at a banquet here the evening of Jan. 23 and a district Kiwanis meeting is set for Jan. 31.

Burley's schedule includes the Magic Valley Hall of Fame banquet on Feb. 16; University of Idaho extension division meeting Feb. 24-25. An Office of Education Association meeting is scheduled March 12-14; a cosmologists meeting April 4-6; sectional bridge tournament April 10-12 and the Idaho Library Association April 30.

Dietrich PTA Eyes Break With State

DIETRICH — All members of the Dietrich PTA who have notices have been sent written notices saying a vote will be taken at the meeting Feb. 2 on whether to break affiliation with the State PTA.

In December, the PTA went on record to break with the State, giving basic reasons as objection to the state approval for sex education in Idaho schools and other previous actions that the local members had not approved of from time to time.

Mrs. Floyd Kistling, Dietrich, first vice-president of the State PTA, urged the members to vote by the vote and to break of the association if they desired to make the break officially and give members official notice and opportunity to hear facts in all matters challenged.

Mrs. Kistling said the State PTA has not initiated anything into the Idaho schools, and that the department has not specifically endorsed any particular sex-education program.

At the meeting this week, during which decision was made to follow rules of the PTA in breaking with the State organization, a program was presented by Paul Victor, Twin Falls, who showed a film entitled "Pavlov's Children" relating to a Russian experiment in sensitivity training. A discussion followed showing of the film.

Mrs. Don Knowles, president of the Dietrich PTA, was in charge of the program. A large crowd, including a number of people from Shoshone.

Rehearsals Set On Easter Event

The Resignation

People who do not like the salaries they are receiving, and who are of the opinion they are worth more than they are getting, have every right to resign from any position they might hold.
This is the case with Mrs. Maureen Meehl, the first woman to be hired as deputy prosecutor in Twin Falls county. She assumed that post about a year ago, in January of 1969.
In her statement of resignation, apparently given to the press the evening of the day prior to the time she gave it to the county commissioners, Mrs. Meehl said she had asked for a salary comparable to the starting pay for an attorney without prior experience who had passed the bar and that a person in this situation makes about $9,000 a year.
Mrs. Meehl took the county position at a salary of $7,800 a year. She handed in her resignation because, she said, she had found the commissioners were going to raise her only $150. She considered that a slap in the face.
As we stated, Mrs. Meehl has every personal right to quit. But it seems to us that if she assumed a person with her qualifications was worth $9,000 a year and she was offered $7,800 by the commissioners, she should never have taken the post in the first place.
Surely Mrs. Meehl didn't expect a raise a year later from the day she started of $1,200 annually.
In her resignation she said it would become effective April 1. Thus the commissioners have nearly three months to look for a replacement if they so desire. However, we believe such a wait will not be necessary because there must be lawyers just starting out in the profession who would welcome the opportunity to gain valuable experience now, with high salary considerations to come later.
Mrs. Meehl has every right to resign and, with this decision having been reached on her part, she should give the commissioners the "green light" to hire a replacement at a time of their own choosing. A notice of two weeks would, we believe, have been sufficient, because there are few people around who will give their "all" to a position they do not like and for all intents and purposes, they have quit.

WASHINGTON — There is a political booby-trap for President Nixon buried in the Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill which will be sent to the White House soon after Congress reconvenes.
The $20 billion money bill finances aid to schools and hospitals, Social Security, medical research and most of the federal government's humanitarian programs. Many of them have a strong emotional appeal and, in that sense, a potential for political backlash.
This is a special grass-roots political potential; however, in the $3.5 billion included for the Office of Education, about $1 billion of it above President Nixon's budget. Colleges would get a share of the additional funds, along with elementary and secondary schools.
Weeks ago, President Nixon said that he was not bound to spend the additional money even if Congress appropriated it. Last month he threatened to veto the whole money bill, and that is why the House and Senate have not given its final approval.
And it reached him during the congressional recess Mr. Nixon could have simply withheld his signature and killed the bill by a pocket veto.
The political potential in the additional money for education stems from the fact that every congressional district has a part of the action. In fact, Charles Lee, the congressionally experienced coordinator of education lobbyists here thinks every school district in the country would get a bit of the added billion.
If President Nixon does kill the additional education funds by a veto or by simply refusing to spend the money, a mounting protest can be expected from those school districts. Some of them will have a very real complaint if the funds are not forthcoming.
For example, the long familiar program for aiding federally "impacted" school districts (a school system overcrowded by military bases and other federal activities) has been built into the annual budget of many school districts. Now the President's budget would cut back on that program.
That would mean a reduction in budgeted revenues for many school districts, imposed with the school year nearly half complete.
The political implications of the additional school-assistance money did not escape the congressional Democrats who maneuvered to put the funds into the HEW bill with the eager help of Lee and other lobbyists for educational enterprises.
In the House a group of Democrats has moved very deliberately to put Mr. Nixon in his present position. In late July, when the HEW bill passed the House, they ignored the private warnings of the administration's liaison men that additional education funds would not be spent and voted the extra billion dollars.

and, it is unlikely to survive Mayor Richard Daley.
If President Nixon should hold or expand Republican inroads into Dixie, this further political homogenization could have far-reaching effects.
Spills harvested by members of the majority party without the aid of federal largesse to keep the Solid South solid. For the first time in history, Southern Republicans might argue next year that they can harvest the committee chairmanships which are so properly prized.
The 1969 off-year elections indicated (except in New York City) widespread support for President Nixon's policies. Clean sweeps for his personal political friends in New Jersey and Virginia especially underscored that fact.
Unfortunately the big industrial states have been strongholds for Democrats. As of this month all the big industrial states except Texas are controlled by Republicans.
As black Americans emerge as candidates for high public office there will be a further fracturing of historic party lines. This month we watched a mostly white community, Glasgow, Ky., re-elect its Negro mayor.
We saw, on the other hand, blacks in Buffalo give black candidate Ambrose Lane only a handful of votes.
Old walls came tumbling down last year, new ones are going up, but this conclusion is inescapable: Voters, more generally sophisticated than ever heretofore, are drifting away from party allegiance. They've decided "you can, too, fight City Hall!"

BRUCE BROSSAT

Reclamation Project No. 1

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the 1970s this country among others will face a vast reclamation project. It will need to try to reclaim as useful citizens of society a sizable stratum of the potentially capable young people who today are deliberately restricting their minds.
Obviously, an immense number of young Americans are not only packing in the greater volume of information made possible by the knowledge explosion, but are developing the judgment and character required to use it wisely.
The concern is not for these, but for the haughty nihilists who simply refuse to be educated, who have—sometimes with shortsighted academic co-operation—acquired no more than the ritualistic concepts of what amounts to a narrow-minded cult.
This reporter has had extensive conversations recently with young people involved in constructive efforts to improve this society. What stuns them is the severe limit within which the "turned off" nihilists operate mentally.
These involved young folk have nearly as bad a gap with the self-limiting types as is celebrated by the phrase, "generation gap."
They find no way to argue or persuade or impart fresh knowledge to the young nihilists. The latter cling fanatically to their shallow, one-sided view of America and the world, rejecting history, rejecting even current events, and rejecting any form of their little religion.
One of their vague words, of course, is "relevance." A more foolish notion was never introduced into the educational realm. As author Irving Kristof privately pointed out, the cultists keep declaring "relevance" almost daily. Right now it rules out virtually everything that happened before 1960.
An earnest, bright young lawyer who has tried to talk to young nihilists about sensible means of improving American political life says he quickly loses them. He told me:
"I will be discussing some prospective reform, when one of them will say: 'You're talking about the Republican Convention.' The words are uttered as if there were never going to be another Republican convention, because they have decided that society must change radically."
What most disturbs this young man and others like him is the crippling rigidity of the nihilists' outlook. They do not really think at all. They live by placard slogans, by vague words and ideas, with minds closed to the crowding realities which do not fit.
It is commonly said today that the young are more "aware" than their predecessors because television has shown them clearly what war, poverty, discrim-

PAUL HARVEY

Political Future

In the continuing evolution of the American political system very exciting things are happening.
Seven Southern states now have a Republican governor, New York City has elected a "man without a party" and everywhere voters are polarizing along racial lines.
Does this mean the Republican and Democratic parties are destined to disintegrate? Does it mean that hereafter a candidate will be able to run and win without the support of a traditional party organization?
You and I called it "political sophistication" or "being practical" when we excused compromises in the name of political expediency.
Only half facetiously, party politicians would say "Sometimes a man must rise above principle."
Our enlightened young people, impatient with hypocrisy, simplistic in their evaluation of rightness and wrongness, are rejecting these old creeds, denying that they are either proper or necessary.
Disillusioned with what they have seen in person or on TV of political conventions and party machinations, the new breed of voters (half our population is now under 28) are throwing their support to individuals and specific ideas, rather than to parties and obtusely worded platforms.
Dramatic political realignment is frequent in American partisan politics. Many times our two parties have moved over to make room for a hybrid.
Just a dozen years ago big-city political machines appeared entrenched forever. Today only one remains intact, Chicago's, good reason for this. You can always find creative people in the country, but it's getting harder all the time to find them.
Therefore, the government has provided tax incentives which make the oil industry go out and search for new wells. The government also makes it easy for the oil people to write off their equipment for taking such big risks.
Now, I have no quarrel with giving the oil industry a break, and if they can deduct 22 per cent of their income from taxes because the oil and gas they take out of the ground can't be reprocessed, then I say bully for them.
But writers also have just as many stories, books, novels and plays (not to mention columns), in them, and therefore the government should give them the same kind of a work-off allowance that it gives the oil people.
If there were a writer depreciation allowance based on production, it might be a great boon to the creative talent in the United States. Every time a writer wrote a work he would be given 22 per cent off the top of his taxes. He would also be allowed to write off his typewriter, paper, erasers and liquor as business expenses.
The risks of writing are even greater than the risks of searching for oil, and I probably would never have had the nerve to suggest this plan had it not been for Ireland's blatant attempt to lure American writers over there. But since they started it, let's say it. We have no choice but to give creative people a tax break, no matter how unpalatable it is to the persnickily.
In something of this importance, you must always put your country first.

Still A Poor Law

Idaho Legislators get back to work tomorrow. They will have their job cut out for them.
Along this line we would renew a suggestion we made several months ago and the suggestion is that House Bill 304 be eliminated.
This measure is the one which restricts expenditures made by local governments, counties, school districts and the like to a four per cent raise. There is some talk now that this limit might be upped to five or six per cent, but this is not the answer.
The answer is to eliminate the law entirely. The men and women we elect to run our local governments are perfectly capable of deciding any tax base which concerns the community in which they live and work. They know the local situation as no one else.
The State of Idaho has no right to tell local areas, capable of deciding what they want to do, how much they can spend. This should be en-

MR. SPECTATOR

The Old Sun Valley

There is something about the "Old Sun Valley" which will never be maintained by the new. It, we believe, is a sort of closeness which never is captured by bigness.
We were reminded of that closeness at the old Sun Valley the other morning — real early in the morning — when we were having trouble sleeping. So about 3 a.m. we gave up, reached for a book, and started to read. The book? "Sun Valley Guide" published in 1948 by the Union Pacific Railroad, then owners of the resort.
The particular book we picked up — a part of our library — was the property of the late Roy Painter, a man who started to ski when a couple of boards were strapped on the feet and who continued to ski — and engage competitively — until he died at the age of 70. Most everyone who was a sportsman or who engaged in Boy Scout work knew Mr. Painter. One of his habits was to write everything down. As a result of this habit, the book we were reading is a storehouse of knowledge of years-long gone. And it showed, in no uncertain style, the closeness of the old Sun Valley.
The book is filled with signatures of great and near-great who frequented the resort in those early years. Stuck here and there are clippings of events from that far ago time.
But of great interest to local sportsmen and skiers is a program for what was billed as the Ketchum Ski Runners First Annual Amateur Ski Meet. It was held on Ruud Mountain at Sun Valley on Sunday, March 27, 1938. Mr. Painter was president of the Twin Falls Ski Club at the time and participated in the meet.
The art of skiing was really so new then that the program carried on the front page a "definition of a slalom." The description was quite detailed but it boiled down to the first words of the paragraph that "a slalom race is a race in which competitors must follow a course defined by pairs of flags." And it added that the "competitor with the lowest total time is the winner."
The race committee for that eventful day included Alanzo Price, Tom Reid, Sr., Glen Brando, John Bauman and Joe Gallagher. Course setter was famed Hans Hauser, head of the Sun Valley Ski School and chief recorder was Senator R. C. Adamson, of the Carey Ski Club.
The trophies, awarded the winners and donated by Ketchum merchants, were distributed at a "public session" on Main Street an hour after conclusion of the meet.
The winner, according to the program, was M. O. Boershaum of Ketchum. Second went to T. Tilby of Carey, and third to G. Rathke of Halley. No entries from Twin Falls placed very high but they were among the 13 winners named out of the field of 30. Among those from Twin Falls were M. Severin in 11th place, and H. Hardesty in 12th.
A few more entries were there from Twin Falls but failed to place. These included Frank Carpenter (now Dr.) and the late Ken Self. There was also C. Helm and J. Price.
And as an historical note, Mr. Painter had written on the final page:
"Buchanan was killed in World War II. Rathke, Brandt and Arrigan became ski instructors at Sun Valley."
"Frank McAtee was the second president of the Twin Falls Ski Club and a better one than I."
The remarks were written on Jan. 13, 1955, just 15 years ago and some 17 years after the event took place.
And while Mr. Spectator is in this train of thought, he points out an advertisement tucked inside the book. It shows that community spirit was booming away back then.
Alf Engon was going to give free instruction at Magic Mountain for beginner, intermediate and advance ski hopefuls.
Holmes Lash and Roy Painter, both now dead, together with Howard Gerrish, in the sporting goods business in Twin Falls at the present time, paid for the advertisement and for the services of Alf Engon.
Those were the good old days!

ART BUCHWALD

Irish Eyes

WASHINGTON — The government of Ireland has made a proposal which I can't help but applaud. They have a bill pending, exempting creative writers and artists from paying income taxes.
If passed, this could cause such an unbelievable migration to Ireland that it would make up for all the people that left the country during the potato famine.
There are some dangers inherent to the plan which I think should be considered. If all the creative writers went to Ireland to avoid taxes, we might get nothing but news articles and stories about the Irish. While everyone admires Irish literature, there's just so much of it that the rest of the world can stand.
Without taxes to pay, many writers could become rich, and instead of wanting to deal with the social problems of our time, they might devote themselves to defending the status quo and keeping the lower class in their place.
The third possibility is that so many writers would turn up on Irish shores for the purpose of avoiding taxes that the competition would be too great and a large proportion would be unable to earn money not to pay taxes on.
There are just a few of the pitfalls of the plan. There are many advantages to the idea and I believe the United States should take immediate action to prevent American writers from leaving the country for an Irish tax haven.
The answer lies in the oil depletion bill. The United States has always been concerned more about its oil reserves than it has about its creative reserves, and there's a

REV. LESLIE BROWN HENRY POWERS

... have been named to the Twin Falls Housing Authority. Rev. Brown replaces Rev. Donald Hoffman, who has accepted a ministerial post in Oregon, and Mr. Powers replaces U.N. Terry who has fulfilled his term. Both will be sworn in during a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Rogerson Hotel.

Housing Authority Plans Seating Of Board Members

Two new board members will be sworn in by the Twin Falls Housing Authority during a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Rogerson Hotel.

Rev. Leslie Brown and Henry (Frank) Powers were chosen for five-year terms by the Twin Falls City Council. Rev. Brown replaces Rev. Donald Hoffman who is moving to Oregon and Mr. Powers replaces U. N. Terry. Mr. Terry has served on the unit for the past 30 years. About four years ago the council made it mandatory that no man serving on any city board could fill more than one consecutive term of five years. Mr. Terry's term expired this year.

Larry Harper, housing authority director, said he is very pleased with the selection of the two men, but regrets losing Rev. Hoffman and Mr. Terry.

Rev. Brown came to Twin Falls in 1939 as minister of the Valley Christian Church. Originally from Oklahoma, Rev. Brown received his Master of Divinity degree at the graduate seminary of Phillips University, Okla. He said he felt it is a real honor to be appointed to the housing authority because of his excellent impressions of its accomplishments.

Mr. Powers came to Twin Falls in 1934 and taught at the high school until 1968. He taught algebra, geometry and biology and served as athletic director for 10 years. Mr. Powers was the football and track coach from 1934 until 1951 and coached the golf team from 1951 until 1964. He has had real appreciation for what the housing authority has meant to this community and is looking forward to serving. Mr. Powers is a salesman for Feldman Realty.

In commenting on this year's housing activities, Mr. Harper said an additional 32 units will be constructed at Duvall Courts. He said bids will be opened in March. This will give a total of 194 units to Twin Falls, about 157 of which are for low-income senior citizens. The new units will be completed this summer. Ivan Stone is the architect.

Holdover members on the board are Ernie Guver, Margaret Watts and W. W. Frantz.

BOARD TO MEET
SNOBIONE — School Board members will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school building.

Cut Your Own Taxes, Chap. 6 Serious Illness Can Trim Annual Tax Payment

By RAY DE CRANE
Distributed by Enterprise Press
The person who is injured, or seriously ill, or who spends a lengthy confinement in a hospital is never entitled — unless it is at income tax reporting time — to a special tax exclusion.

Then the evening-up process gets under way and the injured or ailing person may receive some compensation in the form of special tax treatment called the sick pay exclusion.

The exclusion, if any, depends upon how much wages or salary you received during your enforced absence, the length of your absence and whether or not you were hospitalized.

If your pay stops when you are out of work because of an illness or an injury, this installment is not for you. There is no point in reading on, unless you are looking for reasons to complain about what seems to be an obvious injustice.

We'll take up first the case of those who receive full pay or salary while they are away from work. Their sick pay exclusion begins after a 30-day waiting period. After that they exclude their full pay up to a weekly maximum of $100. For periods less than a full week, the daily rate of exclusion would be actual pay or $20 a day if they are employed on a five-day week basis, or daily pay or $16.67 daily, whichever is less, if they work a six-day week.

Persons who receive 75 percent or less than full pay during this period need count off only a seven-day waiting period. Thereafter the exclusion is the actual pay received or $75 a week, whichever is less. If the employee who receives 75 percent or less than full pay absent at least one day in the hospital during any part of his treatment for injury or illness, his exclusion begins from the first day of such absence. After the first 30 calendar days, this worker, too, has his exclusion stepped up to the weekly maximum of $100 or full pay, whichever is less.

Whenever a sick pay exclusion is claimed, a statement must be attached to the return explaining the circumstances and detailing the length of the absence, amount paid by the employer, its relationship to full pay and whether or not you were hospitalized.

Form 2440, available through Internal Revenue Service, is used for this purpose. Or you may attach your own statement explaining the facts and detailing your method of accounting. On a joint return, where husband and wife are each employed, it is possible each may have a sick pay exclusion. If so, separate statements must be completed for each and attached to the return.

When the old building is removed, an all-purpose room with hot lunch facilities will be constructed at the site.

Demolition Of Old Heyburn School Delayed By Weather

HEYBURN — Demolition work at the old classroom building at the Heyburn school site was held up this week because of the extreme cold weather, but workers say the

State Halts Beer Sales At 6 Outlets

BOISE (UPI) — Suspension of four-needle-liquor licenses and two state liquor licenses has been announced by the Liquor Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Law Enforcement.

Richard L. Cade, Boise, division director, said liquor licenses suspended from Jan. 1-20 were the City Club at St. Maries and Alvin's Gem Bar at Wallace. Both were charged with having unlocked liquor on their premises.

Beer licenses that were suspended include the Riverside Resort at St. Maries from Jan. 5-Feb. 14 for alleged consumption of beer after regular hours; the 88 Club in Jerome from Jan. 1 through Jan. 20 for alleged sale of beer to minors the 7-11 Stores in Boise from Jan. 1-30 for alleged sale of beer to minors; and Summer's Store in Jerome from Jan. 1-20 for alleged sale of beer to minors.

Cade, explaining the unlocked liquor charge, said licensees must keep liquor bottles on which seals have been broken in a separate locked room or cabinet during hours when liquor cannot be dispensed legally.

Twin Falls DPA Head Is Named

David Humphrey has been named director of the Twin Falls County Department of Public Assistance office. It was announced this week.

He was formerly director of the Casela County office. Mr. Humphrey replaces Don Frank, who has been promoted to the position of district supervisor, stationed in Twin Falls.

Mr. Humphrey began working at the local DPA office as a child welfare worker in 1966 and was later transferred to the Boundary County office where he served as director. He graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1961 and received a B.A. degree in sociology from Idaho State University in 1966.

He is married and has one child.

Paul Drug Window Is Broken

PAUL — A Paul drug store owner and his son spent the morning hours guarding their store after a city marshal found a front window was broken out. Jay Maxwell, owner of the Paul Drug, said police called him at 2 p.m. Friday and asked if he knew his front window had been broken out.

He said no and went to the store. A check revealed nothing had been taken from the store and there was no evidence of entry.

However, as a precaution, Mr. Maxwell and his son spent the remainder of the morning in the store, a loaded pistol close at hand.

Later Friday workmen came to the scene to replace the broken window. As luck would have it, it was broken again after being replaced by one of the workmen.

Late Friday all was well, the window was replaced.

Two Councilmen Take Posts As Buhl Begins New Year

BÜHL — Dick Thometz and Darrel Loos received the oath of office from City Attorney Mike Felton at the Buhl City Council January meeting.

Holdover members on the city council include Mayor Myron Thompson and councilmen Dave Munroe and Joe Fehrenbacher. Dave Munroe was elected council president to serve in the absence of the mayor.

Committee appointments made by Mayor Thompson include Munroe, fire department, police department, parks and recreation, zoning, both local and county, and Chamber of Commerce liaison; Fehrenbacher, police department, streets, sewer and water, and cemetery; Loos, airport, library, cemetery and garbage and sanitation, and Thometz, fire department, parks and recreation, zoning, both local and county, and Chamber of Commerce liaison.

Other appointments made by the mayor include Francis McArthur, city treasurer; Bernard D. Starr, city clerk; John Pearson, police judge; Edward Fawcett, chief of police; Lee Munroe, fire chief and gas and building inspector; Lawrence Fawcett, streets and water superintendent; Clyde R. Mills, cemetery sexton; Mr. Evelyn Krueger, librarian; Keith Fawcett, law superintendent, and the law firm of Hepworth, Walker, Nungester and Felton as city attorneys.

Councilmen also: Passed an interim appropriation ordinance providing the necessary funds for operating the city until the complete budget is prepared and the hearing is conducted.

Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Senten from the library board.

Many Miss Deadline On Stickers

The last day of 1969 was the deadline for 1970 and 1971 license plate stickers and a lot of people missed that deadline.

In an effort to get stickers, people turned out in large numbers Jan. 2 and officials said that was the largest safe day since stickers went on sale last fall.

But since Jan. 2, sales have fallen off and Friday only a few people visited the courthouse to get their stickers.

Records show a total of 22,493 stickers have been sold for passenger cars. About 30,000 vehicles are registered annually in the county and this means there are about 9,500 cars without the right sticker.

Police, sheriff's officers and State Police have been active since the first of the year, checking drivers who don't have the proper sticker. Assessor's office officials said sales will probably continue to be slow but steady until all cars in the county are properly registered.

SHRINE BURGLARIZED PESCARA, Italy (UPI) — Gold and art objects worth $300,000 have been stolen from the Shrine of Our Lady of the Assumption in nearby Castel Erenato, police said.

Awarded gas fitting contractor's license and journeyman gas fitter's license to Marjion J. Ambrose and an apprentice gas fitter's license to Carmelo Zamora.

Aircraft Firm Cuts Work Force

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (UPI) — Dismissal notices were issued Friday for 850 employees at the Automatics division of North American Rockwell as the beginning of a 3,000-man layoff at the company's Southern California operations.

A company spokesman said its entire employment would be cut from the present 60,000 to 55,000 within a few months.

The company said the layoffs were brought about by improved performance, reduction of the aerospace programs and loss of the F15 contract.

OPINION

QUESTION
Do you think the United States should follow Great Britain in lowering the legal age for voting, drinking, etc., to 18 years?

LOCATION
Interviews were taken in the Overland Shopping Center, Burley.
ANSWERS

Mrs. Don Wrigley: "In some ways, yes and in other areas, no, but we can't say yes for some youth and not others of the same age. I guess we had better leave it as it is now to be fair."

James Graves: "No, for I have just been able to vote the past few elections and I know when I was 18 years old I did not have the reasoning I have now."

Ron Manker: "Yes, the legal age should be lowered, for if we are old enough to fight for our country we should have a say in selecting the people who run the country. Kids nowadays know what is going on around them. This may be due to the drift laws, but the young people just have more knowledge than the older people."

Mrs. Jean Douglas: "Yes, if a boy is old enough to fight for his country he should be allowed to vote. Youth today have better ideas than most of the older people."

Wrigley Graves Manker Douglas

Easton Glorfield Bell Hale

Mrs. Joan Easton: "No, an 18 year old person is not mature enough; just look at how many 18-year-olds are getting married, and most of the marriages fail. They are just not old enough to cope with all the problems. Even the boys who are fighting for their country are not mature when they leave for duty, as their lives have just begun, and when they return they are more mature and better citizens."

Ed Glorfield: "I think the age should be lowered, for if our youth is old enough to fight they are old enough to vote."

Mrs. Leone Bell: "No, I think the legal age should remain at 21 years. Children today are not any more mature than they were when the Constitution was set up making the legal age 21 years."

Robert Hale: "Yes, I think we should follow Great Britain in lowering the legal age to 18 years. The old saying, 'Old enough to fight, old enough to vote' should be true. Young people are taking their place in the world as more and more large companies and industries are placing people under 35 years in top positions. Just recently I read where a young woman of 23 years had been appointed dean of women in a college."

British Refuse
Details Of Pact
On Israeli Arms

LONDON (UPI)—Britain kept embarrassed official silence on reports Friday that it is supplying Israel with 200 Centurion tanks.
Published reports in Britain said the 200 tanks would reinforce the 400 Centurions Israel already holds. They will come from the army of the British army of the Rhine which is now being re-equipped with the more advanced Chief tank, according to the reports.
Defense and Foreign Office spokesmen, neither confirming nor denying the reports, merely stated cryptically: "It is not our habit to disclose arms deals."

Bronze Star Awarded To Hammett Man

GLENN FERRY — Army Spec. 4 Roger S. Mayeda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isamu Mayeda, Star Route, Hammett, has received the Bronze Star near Qui Nhon, Vietnam, for "heroism in action while engaged in military operations against a hostile force in Vietnam."
An ambulance driver in Headquarters Company, 299th Engineer Battalion, Spec. Mayeda entered the Army in July, 1968, completed basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and was stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., before his arrival overseas in Dec., 1968.

T.F. Chamber Nominates 8 For Board

Eight men have been chosen by a Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce nominating committee to run for the four seats on the board of directors.

The nominees are Norm Taylor, Fred Wenzel, John M. Stokes, Charlie Selber, Dick DeHart, Daryl Dryden and Bob Brackett. The four that are elected will serve for three-year terms.

The ballots will be mailed out to chamber members on Jan. 16 and must be returned by Jan. 26. A committee will count the ballots on Jan. 27 and the results will be announced at the annual chamber banquet Feb. 1.

Ray Rostron, chamber manager, said plans for the banquet at the Holiday Inn will be announced at a later date.

Dr. Ragland Speaks To Burley Club

BURLEY — Dr. Ernest Ragland, superintendent of Twin Falls School District No. 411, was guest speaker during the Burley Lions Club noon luncheon. Glen Kunau, Burley, introduced Mr. Ragland.

"It has become apparent that the two-thirds method required in bond votes and also the restriction on voters being property owners will be changed," Ragland stated. Recent developments in Idaho schools and Cassia County school votes were discussed. Commenting on Cassia County's last school facilities vote which was defeated, he said, "A plant facilities fund is really a building reserve fund. The plant facilities levy is a good long range building plan, but does not meet immediate urgent needs," he added.

Rising enrollment is not necessarily a good reason by itself for a building program, commented Mr. Ragland.

In question period Mr. Ragland stated he did not think that de-consolidation was the answer to Cassia County Schools problems.

Presently it looks as if the two-thirds majority and property owner restriction will be changed by the Idaho Legislature. Jeff Anderson, business manager of the Twin Falls School District, was also a guest. Alvin Kendrick, vice-president, presided at the meeting.

Andover, a tiny principality on the border of France and Spain, is financed largely by tourism and sheep-raising.

WAITING TO HELP two students cross Overland Avenue at 19th street in Burley during the lunch hour is Ira Coltrin, principal at Dworshak Elementary school. The school PTA has pointed out the need for a traffic light at the crossing to help the children cross the busy street, which is also State Highway 27. But the city council and State Highway Department officials recently raised the speed limit from 25 to 35 miles per hour.

Need For Stoplight Near Burley School Is Stressed

BURLEY — The PTA at Dworshak Elementary School has pointed out the need for a traffic light on the corner of 19th Street and Overland Avenue, to assist the children in crossing the busy street which is also State Highway 27 and Overland Ave.

Recently the city council and the officials of state highway raised the speed limit on Overland Avenue to 35 miles per hour. Prior to the speed change it was a 25 miles per hour zone.

Meeting Slated On New Course

An organizational meeting for a basic refrigeration course will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the College of Southern Idaho Area Vocational School, 1300 Kimberly Road.

The course, which includes instruction in all phases of basic refrigeration, will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. for a period of 45 hours. Anyone interested in enrolling should contact Frank Schell, coordinator, at the school or by calling 733-0354.

'Blessing' Of Money Is Deemed Fraud

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Mitzl Mitchell, 35, of San Bernardino, was charged with attempted theft after she offered to "bless some money" for a shoe repair man who gave her two old pairs of shoes.

Tom Felicetta, 67, told police the woman and her four-year-old daughter entered his shop last week and asked for some old shoes. The woman told him she had eight children. Felicetta said that after he gave her the shoes she thanked him and offered to "bless" some of his money.

He handed her a $100 bill. "You have to close your eyes, or it won't work," she said.

Felicetta told officers he peeked, and saw her wadding up the bill. He called police, but when they arrived, they couldn't find the money.

Mrs. Mitchell offered to call her husband to bring over $100 to pay Felicetta back. Then officers noticed the little girl, who was clutching a paper bag. Inside was a wadded $100 bill.

Meeting Slated On New Course

SP5 Silas Huse is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Huse, Twin Falls, after spending more than a year in Vietnam. While in Vietnam he was assigned to various posts and also had the opportunity to spend some time in Hong Kong. He will be here until Feb. 10 when he will report to Fort Gordon, Georgia.

Servicemen

There are signs clearly marking the area to let the drivers know they are to watch for children, a school zone.

Burley Club, City Begin Craft Class

BURLEY — The Burley Soroptimist Club and the City Recreation Department are again jointly sponsoring the "Kids Crafts Project."

Sessions began Saturday in the Burley Junior High School Shop building. The sessions will continue each Saturday morning for seven more weeks. Two classes each Saturday are planned at 9 a.m. and 10 a.m.; the same as last year.

The program is open to boys and girls ages eight through 14 years. A fee of $1 will be charged for the full course of eight lessons. The fee will be returned to the students in the form of craft items they make. This year classes will be on leather crafts and leather lacing.

Sweet Adelines Set Yearly Show

BURLEY — The Sweet Adelines are working out details for their annual Sweet Adelines Show of Barbershop Harmonies, set for 8 p.m. Jan. 31 at the Burley High School Auditorium.

"Happy Time" is the theme for this year's show. Featured will be the Young Adelines, a touring group of singers from Utah State University, Logan, Utah. Also on the program of music will be local men's and women's groups.

The Burley Sweet Adelines presently are preparing the show with costumes, choreography, staging, and other details. Advance tickets are now available for all Sweet Adeline members.

and Leon Robinson, will be the instructor. No advance registration is necessary, reports Jack Kern, city recreation director.

NEW DISTRIBUTION CENTER for the Continental Baking Corp. in the Minidoka-Cassia area is now in operation in Heyburn. It is located on three acres of land along Highway 30 and the concrete block structure houses delivery trucks and has a covered trailer well to accommodate transport trucks from Ogdon. The center serves all towns in the two-county area.

Continental Baking Firm Has New Heyburn Structure

BURLEY — The new distribution center for the Continental Baking Corp. bakery products in the Mini-Cassia area is now in operation. It is located on three acres in Heyburn with Highway 30 as the frontage. Company officials say the site was selected because it is a central location for the Mini-Cassia area, has easy access to the freeway and there is room to expand when necessary. The main products handled at the distribution center are Wonder Bread, Hostess Cakes, Profile Bread and Hostess fruit pies. The concrete block structure is 75 by 90 feet and houses delivery trucks, has a covered trailer well to accommodate the 60-foot transport trucks from Ogdon, sales offices and storage space. There are six employees at the center with Bill Beck warehouse superintendent. The center serves Burley, Rupert, Heyburn, Paul, Acequia, Malis, Albion and Oakley. Previously all the towns in the two counties were served by trucks from the Twin Falls distribution depot. Continental Baking Corp. is part of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. enterprises.

Traffic Light Arrives In Twin Falls

The traffic light which is to be installed at the intersection of Falls Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard North has arrived at the city hall.

Jean Miller, city manager, said the State Highway Department will install the signal, which is a three-colored light. Mr. Miller said he had contacted Ron Dehlin, traffic engineer with the highway district. Mr. Dehlin said he would contact the installation crew in Boise to see if the poles and signal heads were available there.

Highway officials were unable to say when they would be able to complete the installation, but assured the city officials it would be as soon as possible. The light was ordered early last summer by the city. Mr. Miller explained it is difficult to obtain parts for such a signal and this has caused the shipping delay.

Every 45 minutes fire claims a life, says the Insurance Information Institute.

'Paint' May Help Teeth Fight Decay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government scientists are testing a new plastic-paint to see if it can reduce tooth decay. Initial experiments with the substance—which is brushed on like nail polish and leaves a hard, smooth, nearly invisible coating on the teeth—have produced "very promising" results, a spokesman for the National Institute of Dental Research reported Friday.

If the material proves effective, it could be a major tool against tooth decay among children, handicapped persons who cannot brush and people living in areas with few resident dentists. It no doubt would benefit many of the estimated 88 per cent of all Americans with tooth decay.

Sunday Opening, Closing Viewed By T.F. Merchants

on weekdays and does not plan to open on Sunday."
"In some areas Sunday shopping has become the practice," Mr. Auler said. "Where this is the case, and shopping patterns decline, Sears will open to serve the needs of its customers."
"We have concluded that regular weekday hours are adequate to serve the shopper in Twin Falls."
The Sears store here is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Vern A. Harmer, Penney manager, said that "we have opposed Sunday openings through the years."
"However, the popularity of Sunday openings with customers has grown steadily and the recent acceleration in such openings by our competitors has required us to reexamine our policy."
"In view of the strong movement toward Sunday openings, in a large number of markets, the Penney company has decided reluctantly that it can no longer ignore this trend. We believe that our decision to open some of our stores on Sunday is in line with our policy of maintaining a competitive position in the communities we serve and providing our customers with the convenience of shopping in whatever way they prefer," he said.

But so far as Twin Falls is concerned, there is no plan to open the local store on Sunday, Mr. Harmer pointed out.
Earl Faulkner, owner of the Paris and the Paris, Jr., was very emphatic in his feeling of Sunday openings.
"I never plan to open Sunday," he said. "We have a good job for our customer six days a week and that is enough. With a self-service store this Sunday opening might be great but personalized stores such as the Paris and the Paris, Jr., cannot give your customers good service with strange clerks."
Mr. Faulkner was of the opinion that continued Sunday openings might cause adoption of a national law against such practice. Some states now refuse to permit certain merchants to operate on Sunday.
John Roper, owner-manager of Ropers, said that the store here "positively will not be open on Sundays regardless of what others do."
"In Twin Falls I believe that six days a week of open stores is adequate to serve the customers. In fact, I would rather see a shorter week than a longer one."
Mr. Roper said he would favor staying closed Friday nights during the first three months of the year. His store now is closed Friday nights until 9 p.m. He pointed out that at the present time the Roper stores in Burley, Rupert and Buhl do not stay open Friday nights in the late winter, early spring season.
John C. Massey, manager of the Idaho Department Store, a major retailer in Twin Falls, said that "we would not be the first to move to Sunday openings and would only open on Sunday as the community or shopping center in which we are located organized itself for Sunday openings."
He said, to his knowledge, only one store in the Idaho Department Store organization is open Sundays at the present time and that is in the Karcher Mall at Nampa where all stores in the development are open on Sunday.
"Frankly," Mr. Massey said, "we do not want to go to Sunday openings."
At Penny-Wise Drug in the Livewood Shopping Center, Jack Muldoon, manager, said the store remains open Sunday because "we can provide a service." He added that if by not availing themselves of this service, customers indicated they were against Sunday openings, "we would be the first to close." Penny-Wise has been in Twin Falls for 12 years and has always remained open Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Other days the store is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Three other Penny-Wise stores — in Caldwell, Nampa and Elko — all stay open on Sunday.

"In Twin Falls Saturday is the big day," Mr. Muldoon said, "but Sunday is right up there with a normal day. We find that Sunday shoppers include more family groups and that they follow more relaxed shopping. We employ extra part-time help because we are open seven days a week and many are students who can earn extra money this way."
Most merchants agreed the Sunday trend for remaining open was instigated by grocery stores years ago and that as other lines were added, other stores remained open to meet competition. Popularity and the growth of motor cars caused gas station Sunday openings and now even some car dealers remain open Sunday.
As one merchant put it: "Sunday openings are nothing new. They have been going on for years in certain fields of retailing. Now the trend is being studied by the big retailers of the country and from here on it is anyone's guess what will happen. When your competition stays open it is hard to ignore the fact."

WORK IS PROGRESSING at the Kellwood Co. plant on the airport road and some production is expected to begin there later this month. Plans are to first move knitting machines from the downtown training center to the new plant. Work has been delayed because of late arrivals of supplies and cold weather, but the building should be complete within six weeks to two months. The huge building, constructed mostly from pre-cast concrete, was begun early last summer. It will be the site of the Kellwood Co.'s second hosiery manufacturing plant.

Cold Weather, Shipping Delays To Force Postponement Of Kellwood Production

Completion of the new Kellwood Co. hosiery manufacturing plant in Twin Falls is about a month behind schedule, Robert Matthews, plant manager, said.

Mr. Matthews said finishing work has been delayed, mostly because of late arrival of supplies and because cold weather has prevented some finishing work involving mortar.

Crews from Ronald VanAuker Construction Co. are finishing work on the knitting room portion of the plant and it is hoped knitting machines now operating in the training center at the C. C. Anderson building can be moved to the plant in the near future.

Mr. Matthews said it probably will be six weeks or two months before the remainder of the plant is complete. He said an open house will be held this spring after the plant is completed and machinery is in operation. Attending will be city officials and several national and state political figures.

The plant is now being painted. Mr. Matthews said, in bright colors recommended by an engineer from the DuPont Co. who visited the plant recently. He said the color combination of the plant will be unique and will be "bright, cheerful colors," targets in blues, greens and yellows, accenting an off-white.

Matthews also announced the hiring of two area men for key positions in the company. Jim Cobb, Buhl, has been selected as manager of the quality control department, and Andrew Ward, Murtaugh, will oversee production control.

There are now 50 people on the Kellwood payroll, and about 200 have been trained thus far in courses conducted by the College of Southern Idaho. Another 25 people are now undergoing training. Mr. Matthews said, and those who have been trained and will be selected for employment when a production starts will be notified when work is available.

The plant was started in March, 1969, but work was only a few days along when R. N. VanAuker, contractor, was shot to death in Siler City, N.C., site of Kellwood's other hosiery plant. In late April, Ronald VanAuker, son of the late Mr. VanAuker, took over the contract and continued ground work at the site on the airport road at the southern edge of Twin Falls. On June 15, actual plant erection began.

Jaycees Seek Postmasters Schedule Midwinter-Conclave

Approximately 150 people are expected to attend the Southern Idaho Mid-Winter Postmasters Conference Thursday and Friday at the Holiday Inn, according to Mrs. Marian Gillett, Kimberley, a state association president.

Registration will begin Thursday morning and there will be educational seminars all day Thursday and Friday. The banquet will be held Thursday evening and the sessions will conclude Friday afternoon.

The banquet speaker will be Tony Alter, chief of manpower resources, Seattle, who will represent the regional director who is in Washington, D. C., on business. R. E. Anderson, also from

Postmasters Schedule Midwinter-Conclave

Day Earlier

A banquet in honor of Rep. Orval Hansen has been rescheduled and will be at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 23 instead of Jan. 24.

The reason for the change, according to a spokesman at the Holiday Inn in Burley, site of the banquet, is to accommodate the schedule of Walter J. Ticek, secretary of the Interior, who will be guest speaker.

Mr. Ticek will be the first member of President Nixon's cabinet to visit the Gem State.

This contest is open to all teenagers in Magic Valley. Prizes will be given to local winners.

On the state level, Mr. Goerzen said the grand prize will be a expensive paid trip for two to Hollywood with Mr. and Mrs. Goerzen as chaperones.

Other guest speakers will be George Bigson, chief of personnel operation; Richard Keyes, systems accountant; and Charles Emmett, real estate officer, all from the regional office. Three postal service officers will also be on the program. They are Ivan Hanson, Postmaster; Dick Thompson, Twin Falls; and Ed Komp, Boise. Also on the program are Jim Newcomb, Boise, an inspector, and Don Arthur, mail classifications officer, Portland, Ore.

Registration will begin Thursday morning and there will be educational seminars all day Thursday and Friday. The banquet will be held Thursday evening and the sessions will conclude Friday afternoon.

Grant Awarded

YOGAN, Utah — Ronnie Anderson, Murtaugh, has been awarded a financial assistance grant by the Air Force ROTC unit at Utah State University.

The grant will pay all tuition and fees and provide $50 a month for miscellaneous items and $75 a year for books.

Cadet Anderson is a junior at the University.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

Broiled Chicken Deluxe
1 Bertie's broiler fryer 2 to 3 lbs., split-in-half
1/2 lemon
2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1/2 c. melted butter
2 tbsp. sugar

Wipe Bertie's chicken as dry as possible after washing thoroughly. Bertie's chicken is easier to eat if joints are broken and wing tips are removed. Rub entire surface of Bertie's chicken with cut-lemon squeezing out juice occasionally. Sprinkle with a mixture of the salt, pepper, and paprika. Cook with melted butter. Place Bertie's chicken skin side down in broiler pan (without rack) and flatten pieces out. Place in broiler as far from heat as possible, and broil 35 to 40 min., or until thickest parts are fork tender. Baste occasionally with the melted butter and turn pieces to ensure even browning. Makes 2 generous servings. Serve with baked apple, garnished with parsley.

If necessary to wait for serving — or to extend cooking time after broiling (to be certain Bertie's chicken is well done) place Bertie's chicken in oven at 325° F. or 350° F.

Behagen, Hegens Shoot CSI Past Vikings Expected To Return Title To NFL

East Utah, Sweep Of 3-Game Tour

Ron Behagen and Steve Hegens led a 15-point breakout early in the second half Saturday night to point the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles past the Eastern Utah Vikings for a sweep of a critical three-game road series.

The victory, coming on the heels of a tight 81-74 decision over Mesa College Friday and a Wednesday victory over Rhyingly, Colo., kicked the CSI season to 10-1 for the year. But the Eagles also pick up two key Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference victories, a big help toward repeating as league champs.

Eastern Utah gave the Eagles fits throughout the first 22 minutes of the game before CSI tightened up its defense and Hegens started cranking. Behagen, a 6-7 frosh from New York, hit 15 points in the first 10 minutes of the second half and that exploded CSI from a 44-41 lead into a commanding 68-59 margin. Hegens who hit his first five shots from the field, joined in the breakout with eight points. Behagen wound up with 20 points, one more than He-

Irwin Seizes I Shot Edge In L.A. Open

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hale Irwin, a former University of Colorado football player, shot a four-under-par 67 Saturday on a soggy course and moved into a one stroke lead after three rounds of the $100,000 Los Angeles Open with a total of 203, 10 under par.

Irwin, 24, in his second year as a pro golfer, had never before led a pro tournament. He goes into Sunday's round with a one shot edge on the veteran Billy Casper, 1968 L.A. Open winner, who fashioned his third straight 68 for a total of 204.

Strung out behind Casper were Dave Stockton, Westlake, Calif., with a 68 and a 205 total; Bob Lunn, Sacramento, Calif., also with a 68 and a 204 total; Paul Harney, the 36-hole leader, took a one-over-par 72 and landed in the 207 bracket with five other pros. His previous rounds were 69-66.

Mark Howard Hits 33 To Sink Hansen

IANSEN — Deadly Mark Howard hit from all over the court Saturday night for 33 points as the fast-breaking Murtaugh Red Devils trimmed Hansen's Huskies 77-67 in a wild scoring battle.

Howard, who ended the first half with 15 points, scored most of the time from the top of the key on medium range 15-18 foot jumpers. The Stanger boys Greg and Doug, chipped in with a 17-point combined effort while Wayne DeGeorgio ended with 10 points.

The scrappy Huskies, paced by Wali Erastone and Darrell Taylor, fell behind from the outset after a brief 1-0 lead and even a hot second quarter found them eight points behind. Murtaugh had an even hotter second period, hitting for 28 points, 10 coming from Howard's tip.

Early in the third quarter, after being behind 38-30 at intermission, Hansen drew within three at 38-35 after consecutive buckets by Pearson, Taylor, and Cliff Barnard, but Mark hit twice and brother Mike Howard knocked in a key three-point play for a 45-35 lead. After that Hansen drew within five points on five different occasions, but that was the closest it could come.

It was 62-37 with four minutes left in the game, but Mark popped in two quick hoops to bring the Red Devils out of trouble again. With a minute left the rallying Huskies scrapped with CSI, but Doug Stanger and Mark added free throws to tuck it away.

It's got more re-sale value because it's got more to re-sell.

One of the nicest things about buying an Impala is selling it. That's because selling it traditionally brings back more of what people put into it in the first place. Money. Where does Impala keep getting its higher resale value? From features like those you see below. Features which explain why America's most popular car for the last nine years will undoubtedly make it ten in a row.

Impala. More to drive. More to re-sell.

Labels on the car:

- Body by Fisher
- Hidden radio antenna
- Magic-Mirror finish
- Longer life exhaust system
- Protective inner fenders
- Widest front tread in its field
- Computer-selected springs
- Power disc brakes
- More resale value, more popularity, too.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The tough Minnesota Vikings, who believe "the name of this game is to hit somebody," rule 13-point favorites for Sunday's Super Bowl game against the Kansas City Chiefs, who think they can pull a Joe Namath-type upset.

There was a 50-50 chance, according to the weather bureau, that the fourth annual meeting between the champions of the National Football League and American Football League would be played in rain. Temperatures were expected to rise from below freezing to the mid 50's.

No matter what the weather, the Vikings remain the choice to give the NFL its third Super Bowl win, regaining the crown lost a year ago when Broadway Joe Namath led the New York Jets to an historic upset of the Baltimore Colts in Miami.

Coach Bud Grant of the Vikings forecast frankly that he expects a "close, fairly low scoring game, because both of these teams have such good defenses." In the event of rain, Grant thinks "the element of breaks will enter more into the game."

Hank Stram, coaching in his second Super Bowl — he guided the Chiefs in the first-ever play in 1967 when they were blasted by the Green Bay Packers 35-10 — refuses to forecast what kind of game it will be.

"There's no telling what the flow of a game is going to be," said Stram. "I might predict a low scoring game and then it would turn out to be one of those 45-30 games. You never can tell."

The only previous meeting of these two teams was more than a year ago, the opening pre-season game for both in 1966. The Chiefs won that one 10-7, a score that would seem in line with Grant's forecast, and the winning points came on a field goal by the Chiefs' Norwegian-born soccer kicker Jan Stenrud.

Both coaches agreed that Stenrud and Fred Cox, the 31-year-old chiropractor student who does the Vikings' place kicking, could decide the game. But basically the contest is a clash of two teams who love to mix it rough and tough — two teams with extremely rugged defenses and quite different offenses.

"The Vikings use very few formations, preferring the same kind-of-perfect execution of simple plays that the Packers used to rip the Chiefs three

Howa's Late Point Spree Carries Bruins To 72-68 Victory Over Idaho Falls

Allen-Howa hit a rare four-point play with 2:30 left in the game to open up a four-point lead and then led it with two free throws with 18 seconds remaining to give the Twin Falls Bruins a 72-68 victory over the Idaho Falls Tigers.

Bruins looking at a three-game weekend beginning Thursday with Highland Park and then traveling to Jerome and Burley. Howa, who canned 11 points in a torrid first quarter and wound up with 20, got his four-point play with the score tied at 18-18. He hit a jumper from the baseline and then a knuckled out of bounds when he returned to the floor, giving him a one-and-one situation. Vito Wells then extended the margin to 20-18. Durreco and Tom Moriarty hit Idaho Falls goals to cut the margin to 70-68 with 24 seconds left. Howa was fouled bringing the ball downcourt and canned the ensuing free throws.

It was Twin Falls' best game of the year, the Bruins reducing their mistakes from 37 in their last outing to nine Friday. But for while it appeared he might not do much good as Idaho Falls opened fantastically hot and early in the second quarter opened up a 28-20 lead. The hot first quarter with Idaho Falls winding up ahead 21-20, saw Howa hit 11 for the Bruins and Durreco, cut from the basketball team as a sophomore and a Jayvee reserve last year, getting the same number for the Tigers.

Oakley Rips Hansen By 87-50 Margin

OAKLEY — The explosive and streaking Oakley Hornets, putting three men into double figures at the half, breezed past outgunned Hansen 87-50 Friday night.

Also joining the double figures parade at the end of the game was Cary McLaws, who hit for 10 more. Don Slevens and Freestone paced the cold Hansen attack with 12 and 10 points respectively. The Hornets also capped the contest 82-26.

Durreco and Moriarty hit field goals to close the quarter and Barnes and Jack Robinson, with five, opened up the 28-20 margin just 1:36 into the second period. Idaho Falls held that lead until Steve McClain and Howa hit two points each and Mike Crandall hit four points to tie. After that three points was the biggest margin.

Bowlers Eye City Meet On January 31

KIMBERLY — Entries for the Twin Falls Women's Bowling Association's annual city tournament — which will be held in Kimberly at the Kim Lanes — close Jan. 17, says secretary Leona Hankins. The meet will run Jan. 31-Feb. 1, Feb. 7-8, and 14th and 15th if needed.

Pick-up teams may be composed of bowlers of any age, league or of leagues — having less than five members on a team. They must be members of that league or have subbed on the league. Teams cannot be made up from more than one league.

Entries will be scheduled according to requests and then in the order received and then in the schedule will not be changed except for emergency and by the tournament secretary, Mrs. Hankins.

Madison Nips Burley In Last Period

REXBURG — Holman and Dinning came up with four points each midway through the fourth quarter to break a 45-45 tie and Madison rolled in to nip the luckless Burley Bobcats 60-43 Friday night.

Trophies will be given for first place in each event only. Pins will be awarded for 200 and above and 225 and above games. All bowlers must be members of the W.B.C. Entry fee for the tournament has been set at $3.25 per bowler per event.

Held up by a truck that skidded across the road to Rockland from American Falls, the Red Devils didn't get into action until 9 p.m. Rockland hit them with a box and a chaser, the chaser being assigned to high scoring Mark Howard.

Wood River Tops Frigid Jerome Team

JEROME — Wood River put 11 men into the scoring column Friday night in dumping an incredibly cold Jerome Tiger squad 63-34.

The host Tigers hit a miserable 11 of 91 shots, shooting 13 per cent in the first half and an even lower eight per cent over the final 16 minutes. Wood River meanwhile got steady scoring from several men and pulled away steadily the whole game.

The first quarter was tight but Raft River pulled into a 24-17 intermission lead and the Trojans pulled steadily away thereafter.

Gorrell, Tight Defense Pace Gooding Past Filer By 62-49

FILER — The Gooding Senators smothered Filer 62-49 Friday night behind Gary Gorrell's 20-point performance and a stingy defense that allowed the high scoring Wildcats just 14 in the first half.

Another key in the Senators' important conference victory was Jeff LaCroix, who came off the bench in the final half to give Gooding a ballhandling boost when Filer began to pressure the Senators at half court.

Richfield Nips Musers In Overtime

FAIRFIELD — Dixon and Case Maestas provided the scoring punch in an overtime session that carried the Richfield Tigers to a surprise 61-57 decision over the Camas County Musers Friday night.

Gooding, which got a fine rebounding and defensive job from Frank Krath and fine floor play plus a crucial bucket from Jeff Jeffries, nearly blew all of an 11-point lead in the third period — but came back to slam the door on the rallying Wildcats with 27 fourth-period markers.

Murtaugh Has 58-39 Win Over Bulldogs

ROCKLAND — The Murtaugh Red Devils broke away from the Rockland Bulldogs in the third quarter Friday night to post a 58-39 Magic Valley Conference victory.

Only ahead 38-32 after three periods in a hard-fought game, Bybee began to sweep everything off the glass and Musers began to get hot from the outside as Rimrock pulled away with 17 final-period points.

Raft River Cops Win At Castleford

CASTLEFORD — The Raft River Trojans pulled into a seven-point lead in the first half and went on to defeat the Castleford Wolves 48-33 in a Magic Valley Conference game Friday night.

Gooding hit the buzzer with 4:21 left, Gooding's clincher came seconds later when LaCroix flat out on his face coming down court with three men all over him, flipped somehow to Gorrell at mid-court — who then fired to an all-time Jeffries for an easy and demoralizing win.

Minico Shatters School Record, Rips Poky 91-63

RUPERT — The powerful Minico Spartans thwarted a zone defense that triple teamed high scoring Jim Boatwright in the early minutes Friday night and rolled to a 91-63 Southern Idaho Conference victory over the Pocotello Indians.

The Spartans took the ball down the "weak side" or away from Boatwright with Terry Ketterling and Mike O'Donnell hooking up on some pretty inside plays. O'Donnell hit the first seven points of the night and the Spartans were never in trouble thereafter.

Rimrock Tops Bliss By 53-45

BLISS — Doug Bybee controlled the boards with 28 rebounds and teammates Bob Musers and Jim Miller kept the Rimrock Raiders trimmed Bliss 53-45.

Hendren caught 11 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns. Hendren caught a 77-yard aerial from Shaw for one touchdown which broke a Senior Bowl record. The senior from Spokane, Wash., also caught an 18-yard pass for another touchdown and picked off a 54-yard aerial which set up a field goal for the North.

The Senior Bowl was the 62nd straight game that Hendren has started in since he began playing football at Shadle Park High School in Spokane. It was his final collegiate appearance.

His 10 receptions brought his career total to 244 pass receptions.

Hendren's performance in Saturday's game also gave him 24 pass receptions for 551 yards and four touchdowns in three post season games.

Shaw, the nation's leading passer last fall, picked up 383 yards through the air, including a 77-yard touchdown pass to Hendren in the opening period.

The North jumped into a 17-0 first period lead on Shaw's first touchdown pass to Hendren, a 41-yard scoring scamper with a pass interception by linebacker Jim Filles of Oklahoma and a 27-yard field goal by Jim O'Brien of Cincinnati.

The South, which scored on an 8-yard pass from Louisiana Tech quarterback Jerry Bradshaw to college teammate Larry Brewer in the first period, cut the North edge in the first period, 17-0, midway in the second period on the third field goal by Skip Butler of Texas at Arlington.

Butler tried a 56-yard field goal that would have won the game for the South with 1:21 left in the contest—but was wide to the left, although long enough.

O'Brien, who also had three field goals, put the North ahead 20-16 when he made a 19 yarder good with 1:26 left in the first half.

But the South caught four three touchdowns in the third period—on a 17-yard run by Ted Roy of Texas, a 41-yard pass from Bradshaw to Ken Burroughs of Texas Southern and a 32-yard pass interception return by linebacker John Small of the Citadel—to grab that 14-point lead.

The North's only scoring in the third period, as in the second, was a 16-yard field goal by O'Brien.

But Shaw got the North polling in the final period and it took a pair of interceptions by defensive back Steve Tannen of Florida to keep the North from pulling away.

Tannen made his first interception at the South 16 but Shaw carried the North in the next time it got the ball. Then Tannen made an interception at the South 2 only to have Shaw again take the North in on the next time around.

Shaw didn't have a good day percentage-wise as he completed only 22 of 52 and had four passes intercepted. But he came through when the chips were down. Bradshaw completed 17 of 31 for 267 yards and had two intercepted.

NCAA Tables Action Against Yale

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The disciplinary authorities of the National Collegiate Athletic Association decided Saturday to put off temporarily any immediate action against Yale for defying an eligibility ruling and neglecting Florida State University for alleged recruiting infractions.

At the same time, the NCAA council lifted a two-year probation for the University of Southwest Louisiana for basketball and refused to end a one-year probation against San Jose State in track which began last October.

The NCAA, which opens its annual convention formally on Monday, indicated that an action against Florida State may be announced Sunday.

In the case of Yale, the problem centered on the Ellis case of junior basketball player Jack Langer, who had been declared ineligible for participating in the Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv, Israel, last summer.

Arthur J. Bergstrom, assistant executive director of the college sports organization, told a news conference the NCAA had granted a Yale request for postponement of the hearing in the Langer case until Thursday.

Officials of Florida State were questioned about charges concerning the school's recruiting practices at a closed-door hearing during preliminary sessions Saturday.

GUERRILLAS ATTACK MANILA (UPI)—Communist flux guerrillas were reported to have killed a woman and wounded 10 other persons early Saturday in a raid on the hamlet of San Juan, north of Manila. The Philippine News Service, quoting a national police official, said the raiders fired indiscriminately at several houses for about 20 minutes.

Anderson Is Switched To Quarterback, Leads South Past North In Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (UPI)—All-American Bob Anderson, playing in his fourth post season game, led the South to a 35-13 victory over the North Saturday in the 24th annual Hula Bowl game.

Anderson, who led Colorado to a Liberty Bowl triumph and also played in the East-West Shrine game and in the All-America Game at Tampa, directed the South to a touchdown the first time his team got the ball and it never trailed thereafter.

Anderson went into the last 13 yards of the 80-yard drive while playing quarterback instead of his more accustomed running back spot at Colorado.

Gary Fowler of California scored a pair of touchdowns for the South on a six yard pass run, while Helmsman Purdie from Anderson and a five yard run, while Helmsman Purdie Fowler's second TD and another by Owens put the game out of reach.

Philpps suffered injury to his right hand and left the game in the last quarter but the injury was not believed serious.

The victory broke a four-game losing streak for the South and gave the Southerners only their second victory in the Hula series.

The game also was the college swansong for 58 seniors and coaches Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, who announced his retirement last Wednesday, and Frank Howard of Clemson, who ended 30 years at his post.

Purdue Edges Michigan 103-96

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Larry Weatherford's 25-foot jump shot with 32 seconds left Saturday lifted Purdue to a 103-96 Big Ten basketball victory.

Anderson ran 11 times for 57 yards and hit nine of 16 passes for another 135 to gain back of the game honors. Defensive tackle Floyd Reese of UCLA edged Utah State's Phil Olson for lineman honors.

Anderson's 13 yard run and Kemp's dash gave the South a 14-0 lead in the opening quarter. After a scoreless second quarter, the South increased its lead to 21-0 on the first of Fowler's two TDs.

Foreman then got the North on the scoreboard by grabbing a pass from Philpps on his own 43 and going the rest of the way. Fowler's second TD and another by Owens put the game out of reach.

Bauscher-Led Camas County Top Rimrock

GRAND VIEW — Dick Bauscher went on a 10-point scoring spree in the final five minutes to break the Camas County Mustangs past the Rimrock Raiders Saturday night.

Both teams hit well through the first three quarters, Rimrock staying tight on good free throw shooting while the Mustangs missed repeated opportunities from the line.

Trailing 44-40 going into the last period, Rimrock caught up at 48-48 — just in time to see Bauscher get hot. He poured through four quick points and that ignited the entire team as the Mustangs closed with a 22-point period.

Camas County took the preliminary 35-34.

Ice Skating Back In Fashion As Frigid Days Glaze Magic Valley Ponds, Lakes

Ice skating is back in fashion in Magic Valley thanks to several weeks of cold temperatures and a lack of precipitation in lower elevations.

Such areas as Wilson Lake, near Hazelton, which have been popular for many years for skating, are reported attracting large crowds. A number of ponds and even low areas of the canal systems where sufficient water has collected and frozen to form a skating surface also are being utilized.

In past years city recreation department officials have made attempts to provide skating areas, but weather is generally too warm to preserve ice over any period of time.

Fert Havens who directs the Wilson Lake skating, said it has been excellent for several weeks. Warm weather and rain left a smooth, glassy surface over the entire mile-long lake.

Youngsters have been using the lake after school hours and on weekends many children, adults and family groups also frequent the area. Many hold fires and have wicker roasts to conclude their skating parties.

The road to Wilson Lake has been graveled and is currently in good condition, Mr. Havens said.

Good ice skating also is reported at Morrow's Reservoir near Glenn Ferry. Here, too, it is not every year the ice remains frozen over a period long sufficient to provide good skating.

College students and local youngsters have been taking advantage of the opportunity.

Speer's Pond is providing some excellent skating in the Burley area and Jack Keen, City of Burley recreation director, said the ice's thickness is checked daily for safety.

The pond is located on the private property of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Speer and covers about 1 1/2 acres. Average depth is four and one-half feet. Joining the property owners and city of Burley in sponsoring the skating facility is the Burley Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Keen estimated about 1,000 children and adults are utilizing the skating area each weekend.

There is no charge for skating on Speer's pond and at anytime the ice becomes unsafe it will be posted and closed. The pond is a self filling one providing irrigation water in the summer and ice skating in winter when temperatures permit.

The pond is on private property and the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Speer allow skaters to use the facility at no charge under joint sponsorship of the city of Burley and the Burley Chamber of Commerce.

Toastmaster Club Installs At Rupert

RUPERT — Newly elected officers for the Rupert Toastmasters Club were installed this week when the group met at Herring's Cafe.

Wives were invited to the evening event which featured R. Alan Smith, area governor from Jerome, as special guest. During the installation ceremonies, a pin was presented to outgoing president Ed Hartman.

Newly installed officers include Richard Bohler, president; Pete Ford, educational vice president; Clyde Annis, administrative vice president; Neal Dreshner, secretary-treasurer; and Clyde Richins, sergeant-at-arms.

Table topics chairman was

Clyde Annis, who presented a centerpiece gift certificate to Mrs. Clifford Nutting for her table topics discussion. Pete Ford won the red pencil for that event.

Installation Set

FAIRFIELD — Joint installation ceremonies will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the lodge hall for the 1970 officers of the Orient Lodge No. 15 IOOF and the Occident Rebekah Lodge No. 58.

The event is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

committee was so realistic, members hid under tables and behind doors and felt somewhat foolish when the lights came back on and they discovered it was all a gag.

“Good Old Days” Of Elks Lodge Pave Way For Progressive 70’s

By NORMA HERZINGER
Times-News Social Editor

What’s a better way to start the new year than with plans for the future — the progressive future which will involve many Twin Falls residents.

This is what Twin Falls Elks Lodge members have in mind as they begin the new decade by launching a $300,000 building fund campaign.

This fall, members voted to sell their present building at the corner of Shoshone Street and Second Avenue North, where they have been since 1922, and make plans for a new building.

These plans are coming closer to reality as the first fund-raising event is scheduled Jan. 17, a Building Fund Dance. Other plans are in the making to add monies to the fund, but the first event is expected to net a minimum of $1,000 to get the program under way.

Tickets for the dance can be obtained from any of the units — past, present or future — for $5 a couple or can be purchased Saturday night at the door. Music for the event will be furnished courtesy of Ray Crumbliss and The Salutes, well-known local dance band.

This dance could be labeled an anniversary dance, too, as the Twin Falls Elks Lodge was organized Jan. 10 — 60 years ago. It has increased from its original 42 charter members to the present count of more than 1,500.

Speaking of those 42 charter members, it’s interesting to note they borrowed $500 from the First National Bank of Twin Falls to get the lodge started — with 16 men having to co-sign for the loan. At the rate of eight per cent interest.

Jan. 10, 1910, was a big day for those 42 members, a full day of events beginning with a parade through the Main Street area. Elks members from Pocatello and Boise were here to help inaugurate the unit and the activities were climaxed with a banquet that evening. It was an interesting affair, how much per person that banquet cost — as the menu (included in the Elks records) is a sight to behold. It included leed bouillon in cups, green queen olives, young fry, lobster salad in mayonnaise, waldorf salad, pressed young capon in aspic jelly, baked gossin goose and cranberries, glazed ox tongue and tartar sauce, cold boned Westphalia ham, Saratoga chips, potato salad, pineapple sherbet, assorted cakes, coffee, royal, sparkling sauterpe, (and get this) domestic cigars and imported cigars. A. D. McKinlay was toastmaster for the event, with Mayor C. J. Flahn giving the special address of welcome.

The group first met on the third floor of the McCormick building, with P. H. Smith serving as the first exalted ruler and Herman Deiss as secretary. This was a big step forward for Twin Falls with new organizations and activities started. Population of Twin Falls at that time is said to be somewhere in the neighborhood of 5,000.

In 1916 the group moved to the rooms above the Idaho Theater and in 1922 to the present location. In discussing the lodge’s history with Jack Thorpe, the unit’s oldest (in age) member, he noted things have changed just a little bit since he was initiated in 1911.

“We’ve had to cut out some of the rough stuff in the initiations,” he noted. “But we still have a goat (a four-wheel jobber) in the basement. That was a real sight, each wheel was off center and could really give the new initiate a ride. The initiation was all over.”

This ritual work has become very significant to Elks members in as much as they compete with other lodges, both state and nationally. The local lodge has several state honors to its credit, placing first in 1957, 1958 and 1959, then again in 1961 when it went on to place third in the national ritual competition.

When asked about the biggest excitement incurred by the Elks in the first years, Mr. Thorpe said, “It would have to be the big ‘shoot-out’ we had one night. It was several months in the making — seems as though C. D. Thomas and Sheriff V. H. Ormsby had been bickering back and forth for some time concerning Thomas’ son.”

One lodge night in October, 1914, members were stopped at the door and asked to leave their firearms there as no guns were permitted upstairs. During the meeting, Thomas made the remark openly that he really enjoyed being a member of the organization, but there was one fellow that was making some nasty remarks about him and he didn’t like it. About that time, Sheriff Ormsby protested and, in turn, pulled a gun on Thomas. Before anyone could come to their aid, Thomas had also pulled a gun and the shooting began. The lights went out and everyone could hear the blasts from the guns and shattering glass. When the lights were turned on — there was Thomas and Ormsby standing up from — shaking hands.

Although it was all a put-up deal — according to Mr. Thorpe, it took many of them completely by surprise.

When asked what the Elks primarily stand for, Mr. Thorpe answered promptly and with great pride, “Charity, brotherly love, justice and fidelity.” Some

School, Community Athletic Programs Outgrowing Little Wendell Gymnasium

WENDELL — What has to be the most-used building in Magic Valley is the little gymnasium that serves the athletic program of the Wendell School District 232 and the community as a whole.

Progress is passing the facility by 100 and while it was once among the finest such facilities in Magic Valley, district officials reluctantly admit it is now one of the smallest and poorest.

Over the past few years Wendell citizens have continued to upgrade their school facilities and personnel. Both elementary and junior high school buildings have been added and now most taxpayers are ready to agree the community needs a new gymnasium.

Built under the WPA program in 1935, the gymnasium formerly hosted many basketball tournaments because of its excellent floor and size. Today, with a seating capacity of 500, it is still used for all Wendell home games and often as many as 100 spectators are present to support the teams. Many games in which Wendell competes with such other schools as Jerome, Buhl and Gooding would attract between 1,000 and 1,200 fans if there were room in the gymnasium, school officials believe.

The main building contains one teaching station — the gym floor.

This area is small and below regulation size, being only 76 by 50 feet. With the help of the Wendell Booster Club last fall, the district was able to remove a wall between the gym and one of the building and a storage room. This space provided another area now used for wrestling facilities for the district.

Although it is only 32 by 30 feet, it allows coaches to roll out the wrestling mats to their full size — something never before possible.

In constant use, the gym is busy throughout the school day providing for all physical education classes including boys and girls. In the morning hours the high school girls and boys physical education classes alternate in use of the building. Ninth grade girls and boys and advanced PE classes move in during the afternoon. Each class has about 30 students.

After school the basketball and wrestling teams take over. About 20 students participate in wrestling, limited to this number by available space. There are three levels of basketball activity — 16 boys at varsity level, 30 in junior varsity play and 25 junior high school boys utilizing the gym floor from 3 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The area is also in use before school each morning, at noon and at night for drill team practice, pep assemblies, class and club meetings and of course school dances. Wrestling matches, music concerts, exercise classes for adults and students and even Little League basketball for fourth, fifth and sixth graders on Saturdays all center in the one building.

Exercise equipment is maintained in the gymnasium for use by the adult public of Wendell making the facility truly community property.

Athletic directors admit the lockers, showers and other facilities are in sad condition from wear and overcrowding.

Cost of athletic equipment, school officials say, has doubled and with gate receipts from athletic events providing much of the funding for such needs, expanded seating capacity could mean a real relief for a strain on the department to outfit athletes with first class equipment.

School officials are looking ahead to the time when the community is ready and willing to meet its needs and again take the lead in athletic activities of the valley.

athletes utilize what locker space is available, but many must find other places to leave uniforms and equipment between play. Weight lifting and general exercise equipment lower right, is used by physical education classes and many adults of the community who work out in the building when they can find it not in use.

World Traveling Made Easy, Inexpensive Thanks To Changing Concept Of Tourism

More and more people are finding it possible to travel abroad in these days of charter tours, travel clubs and special airline rates.

Mrs. Charles Knoble, 1633 Seventh Ave. E., said a few years ago she would never have thought of undertaking a six-week trip to Europe because it was "just something that happened to other people."

Now a veteran of her first tour, Mrs. Knoble advocates travel abroad for everyone, pointing out her entire six-week excursion, complete with airline transportation to Los Angeles, was all completed for around $700.

Purpose of her visit was to see her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas A. Banyard stationed near Frankfurt, Germany. She is now ready to pass along some travel tips to others.

Since she doesn't speak any language but English, Mrs. Knoble said she found the only way to get along was to enter a store, shop or restaurant and keep asking in a loud voice, "Does anyone in here speak English?" until someone responded.

Usually there would be someone available or possibly next door who had a knowledge of the English language, she found. Another tip from Mrs. Knoble is to act casual, but make your needs known.

For the Twin Falls housewife it was not only her first trip abroad but the first time she had flown in a commercial airliner.

On the trip back, she said, the large airliner on which she and some 177 other persons traveling ran into severe weather.

"I hadn't had enough flying experience to be concerned although I thought it was a bit rough but I remained casual," Mrs. Knoble said.

Other passengers were frightened and when they passed the storm, the pilot came back to reassure them, but added it was the worst storm he had seen in 20 years of flying.

Mrs. Knoble said her system of breaking the language barrier was not infallible. One day while shopping in Frankfurt in a large department store, she spent the entire afternoon riding up and down the escalator trying to establish contact with some English speaking clerk or shopper in order to make some purchases.

"After much difficulty about all we succeeded in locating was the women's restroom," Mrs. Knoble says of her shopping excursion.

On another occasion while on tour in Italy she had trouble conveying the correct meaning to an Italian shop operator.

Her daughter, Kerry Banyard, was not feeling well after the long bus trip and Mrs. Knoble decided to see if she could find some fresh fruit for her.

At a small sidewalk cafe and shop she found a man who spoke a "leetsle-hil" of English.

"I asked if the shop had oranges, and after much sign language and description, he reached under the counter and held up a big orange.

"I nodded 'yes' and asked for a dozen. The man shook his head and kept repeating 'no,' so I finally got him to agree to sell me half a dozen," Mrs. Knoble said.

She also asked for a cup of coffee and the man ushered her to one of the small sidewalk tables to wait for her order. Each time a waiter would come by she would remind him she was waiting for her coffee and oranges.

"The waiter would smile politely mutter 'Americano, coffee' and disappear again.

"After more than 20 minutes he appeared carrying my coffee and a huge glass of orange juice. The cook had squeezed my half dozen oranges into one giant size glass and I began to see why he had said 'no' when I asked for a dozen," she laughed.

En route to Rome the bus on which they had scheduled their tour broke down and some 20 passengers, mostly Americans, sat beside the road drinking wine and eating grapes until they were rescued by a substitute bus about two hours later.

"No one hurries, but everyone is friendly, waving and shouting to us as they passed," Mrs. Knoble added.

Highlights of her trip included a visit to Venice, a tour of Rome including St. Peter's Cathedral and the Sistine Chapel to view the works of famed artist Michelangelo.

Mrs. Knoble, a member of the Catholic Church, said one of her greatest experiences was an opportunity to see the Pope during a public audience in a small town near The Vatican.

"I am probably the only woman in a history who toured Europe

Teacher At Gooding State School Gets Study Grant

GOODING—George M. Hoyle, Jr., teacher at the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind, has been awarded a grant for two semesters of graduate study in the leadership training program for the Deaf at San Bernardino Valley State College, Northridge, Calif.

Mr. Hoyle is a graduate of Idaho State University, Pocatello. He earned a master degree at Oregon College of Education with a major in education of the deaf. He also attended summer sessions at the University of Nebraska and the University of Massachusetts where he studied the production and use of educational media in the education of the deaf.

Mr. Hoyle taught in the Idaho State School for the Deaf during the past six years.

GEORGE M. HOYLE

Mr. Hoyle is one of 15 participants selected from candidates throughout the United States who work with the deaf. The leadership training program, now in its ninth year, is sponsored by the Rehabilitation Services Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It is the only program in the United States specifically oriented to train administrative personnel for the combined education and rehabilitation areas. Selection is, therefore, a tribute to the participant's professional qualifications and past performance in work with the deaf.

According to Dr. Ray L. Jones, director of the project, the participants will be given a highly concentrated course involving work in sociology, psychology, health science, rehabilitation and school administration. In addition, the leadership training program participants observe and work in a variety of schools and agencies in the Southern California devoted to the education and rehabilitation of deaf persons.

In the past eight years, participants in the leadership training program have played a major role in the development of adult education courses for the deaf in cities throughout the nation, and opening of post-secondary schools to qualified deaf students.

They have also participated in field testing an electronic "speech indicator" which allows a totally deaf person to use the telephone. An opportunity to engage in similar projects will be afforded students in the 1970 program. Five of the 1970 participants in the LTP are deaf, Jones said.

Mr. Hoyle's wife, Mary, is also a graduate of ISU and the Oregon College of Education. They are the parents of two girls.

Mr. Hoyle will return to the Idaho State School as director of curriculum and media programs.

Book Review

By SALLY CARPENTER

"To Be A Slave" To be owned by another person, as a car, house, or table is owned. To live as a piece of property that could be sold — a child sold to his mother, a wife from her husband. To be considered not human, but a "thing" that plowed the fields, cut the wood, cooked the food, nursed another's child; a "thing" whose sole function was determined by the one who owned you.

Julius Lester has combined narratives of ex-slaves with commentaries of his own to produce an outstanding youth book on slavery.

"To Be A Slave" is the history of black Americans from the time of their abduction from Africa through their experiences on board ship, their labor on the plantations, the auction block, the little attempts at resistance, the Ku Klux Klan, and segregation.

The feelings of the black man run strong through the book. Many passages express the fear of family separation. Nancy Williams, a Negro woman often quoted in the book, tells of an incident:

"Never knew who massa done sold. I remember one morning of white man rode up in a buggy and stop by a gal name Lucy that was working in the yard. He say, 'Come on. Get in this

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Diana Corma, an American Field Service student from Athens, Greece, is enthusiastic about spending a year in a small city and living on a farm.

She is living with the Henry Reid family, Route 2, JEROME, and attending Jerome High School as a senior along with Nancy, who is also a senior.

Diana is the only girl in a family of four and the oldest. She said she loved living with the Reid family, where she has sisters, there are five Reid children at home; four of their girls, she calls Mr. and Mrs. Reid Mom and Dad and with her sunny disposition, fits very well into the jovial family.

Greece, which is 70 times smaller than the United States, is a land of contrast. Near Athens lemons, oranges, grapefruit, figs, olives and 15 kinds of grapes are grown. There are also mountains in Greece, where the snow comes in November and stays till August.

Athens is an industrial city that makes pottery and some of the many shops that the country uses. She said she was lucky to be in Jerome because it is so quiet. The trolleys, electric trains and the industries create the noise. Most families in the city do not have cars but use the public transportation.

She takes five classes in Jerome compared with 17 in Athens. Some of the subjects taught are Latin, ancient and modern Greek, and foreign religions. Some of the schools teach French and English.

Diana said tennis is her hobby but hasn't played much since coming to Idaho. She does her share of the farm chores, which include feeding baby calves

Winter Photo Time

At least once each winter, snow and cold temperatures combine to create not only a paradise for skiers but a condition guaranteed to delight all photographers.

Such conditions have prevailed, not just for the usual two or three days, but for more than two weeks in parts of the Sawtooth National Forest.

For the photographer who also skis, nothing could be better, because he can easily travel to the top elevations where conditions are at their best. At the Magic Mountain Ski Area, photographers have been busy.

Although sunshine has been rare, new snow, at least in some amount, has been falling almost daily. Frost and even some early morning fog have enhanced conditions and trees have taken on the appearance of snow sculptures.

The situation provides an opportunity for experimenting with filters, back lighting and color photography. People in such pictures are secondary, although they enhance the scenery at times.

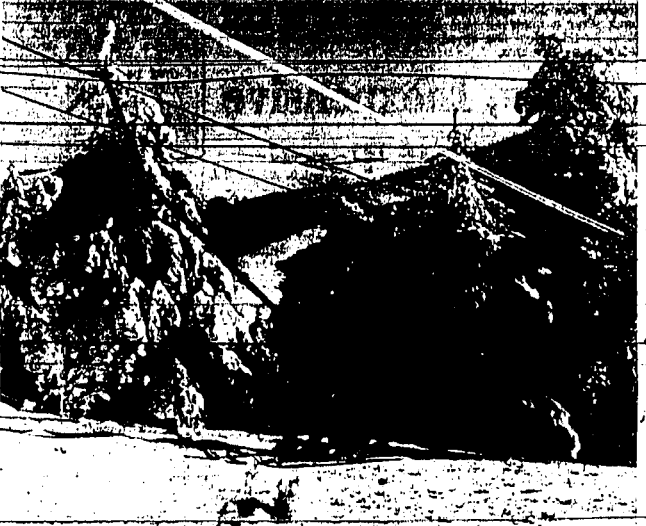

Ski tracks in deep powder snow will lend to the photograph and often one single tree or bush is a work of art in itself.

Light meters are advised, since sunlight and snow usually result in overexposure when the inexperienced photographer guesses.

Wait for bright sunlight for the best results, as there is nothing like sunshine and snow to bring out crisp sharp pictures.

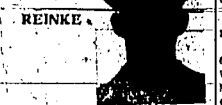

For special effects, a grove of trees, heavily laden with snow with dark trunks showing in uniform lines, can provide an interesting photograph on a cloudy day, or even during a snowstorm.

Photos, all of the upper terminal of the Magic Mountain T-bar lift, were taken at 250th of a second at 22f. stop and 16f. stop, with tri-x pan professional film. Blacklighting was used in the photos at upper and lower left.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special)—This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fat, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose weight and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to:

Buhl Man At Home The World Around

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL — Few people in Buhl probably know Fred Ray well. He calls Buhl his home town but more appropriately the whole world is his home.

Thirteen years ago Mr. Ray retired and since that time he has been traveling throughout the world. Four years ago he moved to Buhl to make it his headquarters when not on his boat, train or plane. Most of his neighbors see him only on his rare stops to get ready for another trip.

At a young 79 years of age, he is a retired tool and dye maker and a former resident of California.

His most recent traveling involved 141 days spent in seeing the entire world. He left Buhl in April bound for Chicago and other eastern United States points of interest.

Siberia was only a part of the scheduled trip, but he was able to get into the interior of the country and to visit many points not seen by the usual tourist.

He booked passage on a ship at Chicago and traveled through the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence waterway to the Atlantic and his first foreign visit in England.

His tour of northern Europe included Belgium, Germany and Denmark, a trip through the southern part of Norway, including the fjords, and on to Stockholm, Sweden. From Stockholm he went by ship to Helsinki, Finland and a side trip to Rovaniemi, Finland, a town located on the arctic circle.

At Helsinki he boarded a train for the journey to Leningrad. The three days in Leningrad were spent touring the city by private car, visiting the opera, beaches, state parks and riding a subway, which he noted "seemed to be at least 100 feet underground. The escalators from the subway to the longest I'd ever seen."

From Leningrad, Mr. Ray went by train to Tallinn, Estonia; Riga, Latvia and Vilnius, Lithuania from where he flew via Russian airliner to Warsaw, Poland. From Warsaw, he went personnel on the train at all times.

At Nankodka, he boarded the Russian Ship Baikal and set sail for Yokohama. Also sailing on the Baikal was a troupe of 100 Russian ballet dancers. From Yokohama he went on to Kobe, Japan, across the inland sea and on to Pusan and Inchon, South Korea. From Inchon he left for Shanghai. The first aboard ship they were in the end of a typhoon. While at Okinawa they received plague shots at the American clinic, then it was off to Taipei, Taiwan and a four hour tour of the city and lunch before sailing for DaNang, Vietnam. During the two days aboard ship on the way to DaNang, Mr. Ray recorded in his diary "the air if full of planes here — shouting was heard during the night."

Upon arriving in Vietnam there were 11 ships in the harbor and 15 ships in the bay. He spent five days in DaNang, noting, "there was no trouble when we were there, however, according to the Stars and Stripes' military paper, there had been a large battle just five miles from DaNang. We were also told a ship belonging to the same company as the one we were on had been bombed in port."

From DaNang they went on to Hong Kong and then to Koo-ching, Taiwan where he went with a Japanese couple on a tour of the city. Then it was back to Pusan, South Korea and Kobe, Japan where he boarded a ship for the trip back to the United States.

The ship, the California Bear, loaded a variety of items at different ports for sale in the United States, including china, shoes, dried mushrooms, smoked clams, paper flowers, candles, earthen ware, pipe, frozen swordfish sticks and motorcycles.

The ship arrived in San Francisco in September, 1969, a trip around the world completed in approximately 141 days. Mr. Ray has also made trips to South America, Africa, Australia and New Guinea. He has many interesting objects which he has brought home with him from his travels, noting he brought back less this time than on any of his other ventures.

News Of Servicemen

First Lieutenant Albert G. Wilkins, son of Mr. Albert Wilkins of Bliss, and Mrs. June Wilkins of Route 1, Gooding, recently received a certificate of achievement from the Army Flight Training Center and Fort Stewart, Ga., for his rescue of a child who was choking on a food that had lodged in her throat. Lieutenant Wilkins applied appropriate life saving techniques to the choking infant, thereby restoring life." Later, Mr. and Mrs. Davis notified officials at the Flight Training Center about the incident and expressed their desire that Lieut. Wilkins be recognized for his heroic efforts. Lieut. Wilkins recently completed training in the Huey Cobra Helicopter at the Flight Training Center. His wife, Katherine, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith of 1341 Harrison Street, Twin Falls.

The American Red Cross has 17 units, composed of a total of 126 women, all college graduates between the ages of 21 and 25, scattered throughout South Vietnam operating center clubmobile recreation programs.

They visit small units of men stationed at remote firebases and landing zones from the DMZ to the Delta. The visits are brief—an hour away from the war—and the girls pick up their bag of games and move on to the next unit.

They arrive by helicopter carrying a large canvas bag filled with props and games and visit with the men, involving them in competitive quiz games. Time is also spent chatting, laughing, exchanging small talk and stories about home and sharing a lunch of fried fish and noodles.

Working in teams of two, the girls travel over 2,000 miles a week by helicopter, jeep and truck, making some 15 such visits weekly.

Habits Should Include Precautions

By NORMA HERZINGER

The odds are great against most women agreeing they are often to blame for criminal attacks and robbery of their persons. That is, on the first thought go-around. But, when a few of their actions are brought to their attention—the odds go down.

Many unpleasant incidents could be curbed or lessened with a few good precautions, according to Tim Qualls, chief of detectives for the Twin Falls Police Department.

Many of us, thinking "It could never happen to me," get careless and never really think how nonchalant and reckless some actions are. Like leaving keys in car ignitions, walking along dark streets alone at night, go marketing or shopping in the popular mini-skirts and open the door to strange persons without first asking for identification—in name, just a few.

The latter seems to be one of the bigger problems locally. Mr. Qualls noted he has been admitted to homes many times without being asked to produce proper identification, inviting a stranger to enter your home could lead to serious trouble. Many such incidents have been reported concerning baby-sitters who just naturally think the person at the door is telling the truth—that he is a repairman, something is wrong with his car and he needs to use the phone, a friend of the family paying a social call, etc.

The same precautions should be taken in the daytime that are noted for night. Many of us forget that many crimes of this nature are committed in daylight hours.

Thirteen sex crimes were reported locally during 1969. Of these 13, three were rape. This percentage is low compared with other Idaho communities of the same size.

A national release was made available recently from Gordon-Gordon, one-time FBI agent and now a noted author, on precautions women should take. He based the list on his extensive FBI experience and his research for his latest book.

The list is good, and could be of interest to many. It includes — Never assume you are safe in a crowd. Many crimes take place on department store parking lots with scores of people hurrying by.

Never assume you are safe in a "good" neighborhood. There are no "good" neighborhoods. Just as many sex crimes, and crimes against the person, are committed per person in suburbia as in a ghetto. Crimes know no economic level.

Never carry much money in your purse. If someone grabs it, let him have it. Otherwise, you may be beaten or killed. If you must carry a considerable sum, keep it in a dress pocket or somewhere on your person.

Don't carry a gun, or keep one in the house unless you know guns and have used them for years. You may shoot yourself or an innocent person in an excited moment. What's more, a clever criminal can easily turn the gun on you.

Only strongly on the telephone. If you live alone and your home is especially vulnerable install a second phone readily accessible that no one knows about, not even your friends.

Don't let strangers pick you up. Women who warn children about doing so often forget this same admonition. That nice guy you met at the country club or had a drink with at a bar may not be so nice alone with you.

Remember, if you wear shorts to shop in at the market, or a very abbreviated mini-skirt, you invite trouble. You are a neon sign for a man looking for an easy pickup. He may not take "no" for an answer.

According to Mr. Qualls home burglaries are on the rise, which is of general interest to women. In 1968, 37 were reported locally, while in 1969, 76 were reported. Many precautions can be taken in this area. A popular television commercial comes to mind here. Where the newspapers are stacked up on the front step along with several bottles of milk or the home occupant leaves town for a few days and put the extra key under the doormat or in the mailbox. These items invite a burglar.

When a person returns home and realizes his home has been burglarized, according to Mr. Qualls, the first thing that should be done is immediately notify the police.

Notify them first, before you rummage through the entire house checking to see what is missing and marring fingerprints that could be used for identification.

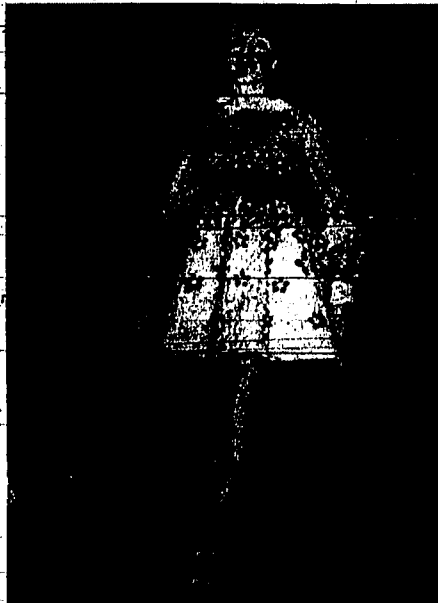

Safety precautions for oneself or one's family, if practiced daily, could become a very good habit. A habit that you don't even think about — like putting on your shoes.

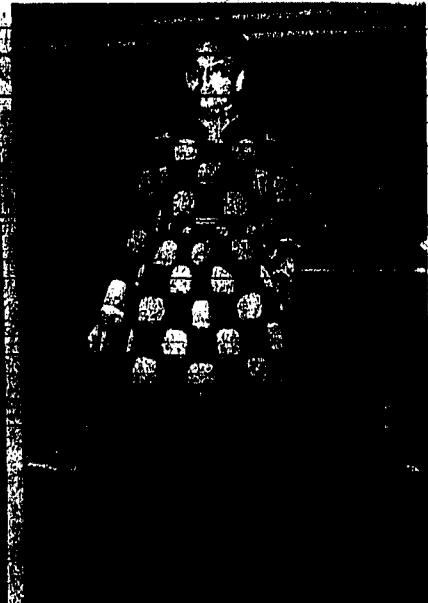

A SHORT-SHORT MINI-SKIRT could be a come-on for a potential molester. The actions of a person wearing the mini-skirt could definitely determine the decision of the fellow. Many unpleasant incidents could be curbed or lessened with a few good precautions.

PLACING THE EXTRA house key under the doormat is a real "no no." Careless actions like this invite a burglar. In 1968, 37 home burglaries were reported locally, and in 1969, 76 were reported. When a home has been burglarized, the first thing to do is notify the police.

Mini Success Story Unfolds As Dropout Makes It Good

NEW YORK (UPI) — My garage man is a rich school dropout. At the age of 20, he earns around $10,000 a year.

He started at the age of 17 as a helper on a truck, married the boss's daughter, got a truck of his own as a wedding present, and now has two trucks and a helper.

He lives in a nice house, drives a fine car, takes his wife out to dinner a couple of times a week and otherwise enjoys life.

He doesn't have dents in his psyche because he never graduated from high school or broke out in night sweats over the pressure of college-entrance exams.

So far, his mini success story is typical of thousands being acted out nationwide by young men and women who never intend to fill but a college application.

It doesn't matter who helped you get it. It's the job that counts.

"What is disgraceful is suspecting that you need help and not asking for it."

Two chapters now devoted to the American apprenticeship system, some 800 apprenticeship occupations, how and where to apply for these jobs, and even what to do if discriminated against by a prospective employer.

Goldenthal also shows how to write and address a letter requesting occupational information from a bureau or agency.

The only modus operandi he overlooks are instructions on how to marry the boss's daughter!

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband's teenage sister, of whom I am very fond, had my engagement ring while she was staying at our home for the week-end.

I have been waiting now for quite some time, hoping a guilty conscience would compel her to return it. So far, it hasn't.

Abby, this girl has had a very rough life and has been kicked around a lot and I hate to stir up even more trouble for her by telling her that I know she has my ring. (I am certain she has it. I am not just guessing.)

My husband says I should forget it — that he will buy me a new one. But I don't want a new one. The old one was not very expensive, but it meant a lot to me.

It hurts me to think that this girl would steal from me. I placed a lot of trust in her. Can you help me?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: YES, stay out of her diary. And don't "believe" everything you saw there. Most girls that age are inclined to dramatize their "feelings" in their diaries. If she functions well at school and has girlfriends, don't worry about her. Lots of girls don't have "dates." Let her know that her family loves her, and don't ever violate her privacy again. Girls have left home for less.

DEAR ABBY: Please clear something up for me: When a person goes to a bridal shower and wins a prize, is she supposed to give the prize to the bride?

This happened to me the other day, and what I was told by another guest that I should give the prize to the bride. I said I had never heard of such a silly thing and I wasn't going to do it. And I didn't. Have YOU ever heard of it?

PUZZLED IN WEST VIRGINIA

DEAR PUZZLED: Yes, I have heard that this is the "custom" in some communities. But I must agree with you. It seems senseless to "win" a prize and give it to the bride — who has already received a gift from each guest.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TICKLED OFF IN TAMPA": It is sometimes better to ignore an enemy. There are other ways (more graphic, but less delicate) of saying it, but I like the way Cyrus Ching put it: "I learned long ago never to wrestle with a pig. You get dirty, and besides the pig likes it."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 87700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

DEAR SLEEPLESS: You must control her, more for HER sake than for the return of the ring. If you let it go, she is sure to steal other things. Tell her in a friendly, loving way that you know she took your ring, and ask her to return it. The girl obviously needs love and understanding. No more punishment.

DEAR ABBY: We have five children. They boys I never worried about, but I always watched the girls carefully. When the oldest one was 15, I looked in her diary once to find out what kind of girl she was turning out to be, and was happy to learn that I had nothing to worry about. Well, it's seven years later and she is happily married now, but her younger sister has me worried.

She is 17, a good student, and very pretty. She has many girl friends, but very few dates. She seems so discouraged. I keep telling her it's only a stage she's going thru and she will soon meet someone, and she should stay "single" for him, but she tells me that she knows she will never meet anyone.

Well, yesterday I looked in her diary and saw that she was a good girl, but she's so unhappy. She writes that life isn't worth living, and she hopes she doesn't wake up tomorrow morning. Every page is the same. She hates to be alive.

I felt so bad, I told my husband, and he was very angry.

Elaine Gray, Yost Wed In LDS Ceremony

EDEN — Elaine Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray, Idaho Falls, and Spec. 4 Gene L. Yost, Eden, were united in marriage Jan. 2 at the Hazelton LDS Church.

Bishop John Okeberry officiated at the afternoon rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Ronald William, wore a floor-length gown of embroidered tulle featuring a rounded neckline and a fitted bodice. The long, ill-point sleeves were of Chantilly lace. The chapel-length train of lace was attached with a large bow at the neckline. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was secured by a tulle of iridescent sequins forming petals.

She wore a tiny cross necklace as her only jewelry and a corsage of orchids.

Tom Dean served as best man, and Elizabeth Kohtz was maid of honor.

The prayer was given by Elsworth Hardy.

Open house for the newlyweds was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at their home.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The cake was served by Mrs. James Yost, Boise.

Others serving were Mrs. John Wier, Wendell, and Mrs. Toney Walker, Rupert, sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ronald William, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Benedict Boyd, Seattle, aunt of the bridegroom.

After a honeymoon trip throughout Idaho, the bride and groom will return to Snelling Army Air Defense Site, St. Paul, Minn., until May when he will join his bride in Seattle.

The bridegroom recently returned from a year's duty in Vietnam.

Mini Success Story Unfolds As Dropout Makes It Good

NEW YORK (UPI) — My garage man is a rich school dropout. At the age of 20, he earns around $10,000 a year.

He started at the age of 17 as a helper on a truck, married the boss's daughter, got a truck of his own as a wedding present, and now has two trucks and a helper.

He lives in a nice house, drives a fine car, takes his wife out to dinner a couple of times a week and otherwise enjoys life.

He doesn't have dents in his psyche because he never graduated from high school or broke out in night sweats over the pressure of college-entrance exams.

So far, his mini success story is typical of thousands being acted out nationwide by young men and women who never intend to fill but a college application.

It doesn't matter who helped you get it. It's the job that counts.

"What is disgraceful is suspecting that you need help and not asking for it."

Two chapters now devoted to the American apprenticeship system, some 800 apprenticeship occupations, how and where to apply for these jobs, and even what to do if discriminated against by a prospective employer.

Goldenthal also shows how to write and address a letter requesting occupational information from a bureau or agency.

The only modus operandi he overlooks are instructions on how to marry the boss's daughter!

Magic Chapter Hears Reviews

Landmarks and Grand Chapter presentations were presented by members of Magic Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Star, met recently at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Bob Black, worthy matron, and Mr. Black, worthy patron, presided.

Guests introduced included Ruby Dean, Hollister Chapter No. 47; Paula Campbell, Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, and Annalu Paschke, Henrietta Chapter No. 21, Idaho Falls.

Members voted to serve the banquet for Kayler Lodge No. 94 Jan. 22. The ceremony of initiation will be held at the Jan. 19 meeting.

Refreshments were served by Thelma Brown, chairman, assisted by Dottie Brim, Dorothy Zumball, Hazel Wilber and Sue Wilberpood.

ONISEX APPAREL goes one step further with the latest of "Hills" and "Hors" two-piece bikinis from the design board of Rudi Gernreich, creator of the topless bathing suit. The male's top looks like an athletic shirt that ends mid-point between the shoulder and elbow — exposing the abdomen from that point to the waistline. The suit is done in black and white broad stripes, matching the suit for "Hors" (UPI telephoto).

Osterhout And Cathy Scofield Wed In Declo

DECLO — Cathy Signe Scofield and Carl Osterhout exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony at 6 p.m. Dec. 3 at the Declo LDS Ward Relief Society Room. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Joseph Preston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Scofield, Hansen, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Devon Osterhout-Deolo.

Mrs. Richard Garrard played the traditional wedding music. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white satin gown with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a scalloped neckline edged with pearls. Her lace-edged nylon net veil was secured with a rhinestone tiara. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums accented by silver leaves and tied with pink ribbon streamers.

Andy Evans served as maid of honor and best man duties were performed by Richard Scofield, brother of the bride.

Larry Evans, a co-worker of the bridegroom, registered the guests at the reception which was held the same evening in the cultural hall.

Gifts were carried and displayed by Kerry, Chuck, Brent and Connie Osterhout, brothers and sister of the bridegroom.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. The square-shaped cake decorated with pink flowers and green leaves edged with silver, and topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom, was cut and served by Mrs. Edith Osterhout and Mrs. Elizabeth Klimes. Others assisting were Vickie Ball and Peggy Hildreth.

The guests were seated at two banquet type tables covered with white and centered with arrangements of white and pink carnations.

Honore Coltrin served as master of ceremonies for the program. Prayers were given by Seymour Osterhout and Carl Osterhout, uncle of the bridegroom.

The couple is residing in Declo.

TASTY DIP

A tasty dip that is easily prepared in a jiffy can save off big appetites for precious minutes needed to prepare that special dinner. Soften four ounces of cream cheese and add one jar (4 1/2 oz.) Gerber Strained Cottage Cheese with Pineapple. 2 oz. (1/2 cup) Blue Cheese, four slices crisp bacon, finely crumbled, and one tablespoon chopped onion. Chill and serve with tortilla chips.

MR. AND MRS. SIDNEY G. BAKER

Susan Summerfield, Baker Exchange Nuptial Promise

Susan Summerfield, daughter of Mrs. R. L. Summerfield, and the late Robert L. Summerfield, was married to Sidney G. Baker, son of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice K. Baker, Provo, Utah, in a ceremony Nov. 30 at the home of the bride.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold N. Nye, minister of the First Methodist Church, before the fire place which was banked with logs and flanked by brass candlesticks. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Richard Summerfield. Her younger brother, Robert Summerfield Jr., served as candlelighter. Traditional music was played by Mrs. Nye. Attending the couple were Linda Harter, Twin Falls, and David James, Salt Lake City.

The bride wore a street-length dress of ivory tulle, semi-princess styled, with a slightly dropped back waist and featuring cape sleeves. Her matching elbow-length veil was of bridal illusion. She wore a diamond and pearl locket, a first-anniversary gift from her father to her mother and worn by all brides of the immediate family since. She carried a cascade of cream colored roses.

After the ceremony, a champagne buffet dinner was held for the guests. The buffet table was covered with an imported lace cloth with baby roses and Spider chrysanthemums in silver bowl and pink candles in silver candelabra.

In charge of the guest book was Lynn Summerfield, sister of the bride. Betsy Summerfield and Nancy Brown were in charge of the gifts.

Special out-of-town guests included Dr. and Mrs. Baker; their daughter Adrian, and son, Steven, parents of the bridegroom, Provo, Utah; the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Halpin, Idaho Falls; R. R. Halpin and family, Idaho Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Elliott and family, Emmett.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Buky and family, Idaho Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hansen, Salt Lake City; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Newcomb, Ketchikan; Mrs. Judy Theubeau, Ketchikan; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rudy, Jerome, and many of the bride and bridegroom's personal friends from the University of Utah.

The newlyweds plan to finish their education at the University of Utah, where the bride is a junior and Mr. Baker will be graduated in June.

A kitchen and linen shower was hosted for the bride by Mrs. G. T. Newcomb and Mrs. Tom Rudy at the home of Mrs. Rudy in Jerome.

Nancy Bunn Is Installed Honored Queen For Bethel

WENDELL — Nancy Bunn, daughter of Bill Bunn and Mrs. Thelma Bunn, was installed honored queen of Bethel No. 12, International Order of Job's Daughters, at installation services held recently at the Masonic Temple.

The new queen chose the "Red Rose" service and her father was narrator. Other installing officers were Robyn Frith, retiring honored queen; Mrs. Barbara Trounson-James, marshal; Chris Slane, chaplain; Jan Busyon, senior custodian; Sally Matz, junior custodian; Anna Schrenk, recorder; Mary Trounson, guide, and Mrs. Lillian Barton, musician.

Miss De Crits is a foreign exchange student at Buhl High School and is making her home with the Machacek family during the school term.

Games at the party included 20 of Miss De Crits' classmates. Games were played followed by refreshments served by Mrs. Machacek and her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Herzliger.

Queen Elizabeth Heads List Of World's "Worst-Dressed"

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth of England headed the list of the world's ten "worst dressed" women issued Tuesday by fashion designer Mr. Blackwell.

In his tenth annual list, Mr. Blackwell commented about Queen Elizabeth, "Everything that is out of fashion is in with the Queen."

In second place on the list was actress Barbara Streisand with sultry Raquel Welch in third.

Others, in order, were Jacqueline Susann, Goldie Hawn, Carol Burnett, Doris Day, Shirley Temple, Mae West and Ann-Margret.

Mrs. Reinhardt was in charge of the kitchen, assisted by Mrs. Lewis Huether and Mrs. Eugene Krueger.

The Remaleys were married Dec. 16, 1944, in the chapel at Camp Polk, La., where Rev. Mr. Remaley was stationed. Shortly after his Army discharge in 1945 he returned to college. On Nov. 30, 1949, he began the ministry.

The couple has served pastorates in Texas, Arkansas, Pennsylvania and Idaho. They arrived at the Kimberly-Murtaugh congregations in June of 1967.

Rug Designs Reveal New Linear Form

A straight line used to be the fastest route to good modern design. Not in floorcoverings! New rug designs demonstrate that though fashion excitement for floors often takes a linear form, the lines are anything but straight.

A case in point is a new group of designer rugs by Regal in Allied Chemical Corporation's Capri nylon fiber. Jagged, lightning-like shafts create visual explosions underfoot while sensuous, curvilinear patterns evoke forms in nature from swirling amoeba shapes to strong-limbed trees. The traditional houndstooth takes on a new meaning in sculptured textures and color combinations, and a charming interpretation of lollipop forms is pure whimsy.

The new Capri nylon rugs were created for Regal Rugs' 1970 Designer Collection by some of the quizzical-leading textile artists including Maria Creamer, Glen Kaufman, Eileen Auvil and the Esterlins.

New Member Is Welcomed

Virginia Heltzer was welcomed as a new member of the Merry Marrieds Club during a recent meeting at the home of Doris Nielson. Mary Mitchell was a guest.

Co-hostess was Phyllis Anderson. It was announced a donation was made to the YM-YWCA for Christmas baskets.

Discussion was held on the Magic Valley Harbor House. The program was given by Ruth Ainsworth who conducted several games. A special gift exchange was held.

The January meeting is at the home of Vera Young, with Velja Lawrence and Lucille Routh giving the lesson.

Parma Miss, Valley Man Recite Vows

GLENN'S FERRY — Amid a holiday setting of red and white roses, Catherine Steel, Parma, became the bride of Bruce Pusey, Glenn's Ferry, in rites Dec. 28 at the Presbyterian Church, Parma. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Raymond Wilson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Steel, Parma, was given in marriage by her father. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pusey, Glenn's Ferry. Mrs. Norman Obendorf was accompanist for the soloist, Mrs. Robert Obendorf.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe, fashioned with lace applique and accented with pearls and acquiris. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Linda Peterson was maid-of-honor, and Rita Pusey and Mrs. Robert Steel were bridesmaids. Candlelighters were Dick Pusey, brother of the bridegroom, and his cousin, Willie Simplot. Dick Starkey served as best man, with Jim Pusey and Robert Steel as ushers.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church basement. Mrs. Paul Munn, co-mistress, Lillian, aunt of the bride, served punch and Mrs. Kay Simplot, niece, aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee. The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Leta Smith.

The bride and groom will reside in Parma, N. D. Mrs. C. L. Jensen, daughter of Mrs. Wilson, served as officiant. The newlyweds are attending Idaho State University and will reside in Pocatello after a wedding trip to Sun Valley.

Louise attended from California, North Carolina, Lewiston, Boise,ampa, noneed, e.g. Glenn's Ferry, Weiser and Mountain Home.

Men Rate Best

CHICAGO (UPI) — Men follow medical weight-loss advice more faithfully than women do, says the National Livestock and Meat Board. The statement is based on a survey of over 1,500 doctors. Overscaled is the latest trend in furniture, a revival of the outside pieces of the 1930's.

All-Male Flight Grounded; Women Companions Preferred

NEW YORK (UPI)—All you females who travel on planes, take a howl.

An all-male flight between Newark, N.J., and Chicago will be grounded next Wednesday after 17 years. One reason: "Sophisticated women" rather than flying in an all-male atmosphere.

When the flights first started the executive plane boasted load factors of 80 to 90 percent. Two years ago United Air Lines Executive Flight went into a load factor spin, dropping down to 40 percent.

The airline did the next most natural thing, ordering up a survey to determine the causes. That's when many young business executives told the airline they really preferred having sophisticated women on the plane.

The study also indicated a change in executive attitudes since the first successful flights of the male-only flight. Young business executives, it was found, these days do not want to be identified with the old image of an "executive."

They are more independent than the executives of yesterday. Exercising this independence, they shun men's clubs and special services, such as the flight represented.

There was something else, event when the load factors were high, rumblings of discontent came from some female writers, politicians and businesswomen who objected to this special treatment for men.

Several women's rights advocates wrote letters protesting the "Discrimination." No law suits were filed, however, and the flights continued — until the executive plane boasted load factors of 80 to 90 percent.

The "executive" flight logged eight million miles during its 10,000 trips. While it lasted, it was a dream. The businessman was encouraged to "take off his coat, loosen his tie, doff his shoes and even puff on a pipe or cigar. Pipes and cigars aren't always welcome on regular flights.

Carol Shumaker and Phyllis Laurie, now instructors at United's stewardess school, worked the flight many times.

"I loved it," Miss Shumaker said. "I remember one particular flight when we were arriving ahead of schedule and we had to rush dinner. Some of the men got up and helped us serve."

The girls also recalled that the passengers were never demanding.

DEAR POLLY—Mastic lids from coffee cans made great coasters to use out of doors. They are especially good for using on the wide arms of outdoor chairs to keep them clean.—MARCELLA

DEAR POLLY—Senior citizens will be less likely to slip in the bathtub if they get in the tub before it is filled with water and then drain the water before getting out.—L. M.

DEAR POLLY—A small cork glued or nailed to the inside of your sewing drawer will make a good thimble holder. This way it is easy to find when you need it.—MRS. C. T.

© 1970 by NEA, Inc.

DEAR POLLY—When you empty a pill bottle write on a slip of paper what the pills were taken for and then put this paper in the bottle. If you wish to refill the prescription later you can easily tell what the pills were taken for.—MRS. M. L. G.

DEAR POLLY—When I defrost the refrigerator I make my own disposable thermo bags by using two heavy brown paper bags from the grocery, one inside the other, and interlining them with several thicknesses of newspaper. Do not forget to interline the bottom. The frozen food is dropped into the bag and topped with ice cubes. If the bag is too full to fold over the top I cover it with more newspapers. This keeps food in normal room temperatures and gives me plenty of time to defrost and clean. I also have used such bags to carry hot food to potluck dinners.—ELAINE

DEAR POLLY—I always keep a toothbrush near my sink when washing dishes. Use it for brushing food from between fork tines.—L. M.

DEAR POLLY—I used to lose so many umbrellas I started putting my name and address on a strip of adhesive tape and then sticking it to the handle. If one is lost an honest person knows where to return it.—MRS. E. B. T.

DEAR POLLY—I bought a small wash board at a rummage sale, painted the wood part and then bought magnetic discs that come in so many attractive shapes and colors. I hung the board in the kitchen or utility room and have a very attractive and inexpensive board for attaching shopping lists, messages and reminders.—F. A.

DEAR POLLY—When baby sitting for small children I take along a coloring book. I let the children color the pictures and then cut them into different shapes to make puzzles. This also works well on long trips. Of course, the children would not be allowed to use scissors while the car was moving.—MARY

Ask Them Yourself

FOR RANDOLPH W. THROWER,

Commissioner,
Internal Revenue Bureau

What salary does the President of the United States receive? does he have to pay income tax on it?—A. M. Anderson, Morro Bay, Calif.

● He receives a salary of $200,000 a year, all taxable, and an expense allowance of $50,000 a year, also taxable, to assist in defraying expenses resulting from his official duties. In addition, he is allowed up to $40,000 a year, non-taxable, for travel expenses and official entertainment.

FOR JEANE DIXON, 1477

Will you explain the prediction you made in October, 1968, about an outer-space explosion yet to come?—D. C. Pikeville, N.C.

● I believe this explosion occurred in July when our astronauts were making their first moon-landing trip and was in some way connected with the spacelip the Russians launched about the same time. I have received no further psychic information on it, however.

FOR GEORGE ABU HAMID,

owner, Steel Firm,
Atlantic City, N.J.

When you came to this country as a youngster, you joined the Buffalo Bill (Col. William F. Cody) show. What was your age, and how much did he pay you for your act?—John J. Wargo, Trenton, N.J.

● I joined the Buffalo Bill Circus as a tumbler in Marseilles, France, in 1906 at the age of nine. Annie Oakley, who was the star of the show, taught me my ABCs. I journeyed with them in March, 1907, to their winter site at the fairgrounds in Trenton, N.J., and I received 50 cents a week, room and board.

FOR JAMES J. ROWLEY,

Director,
U.S. Secret Service

I have heard of a book about how to detect counterfeit money called, "Know Your Money." Where may I get it?—Mark Sanders, Little Silver, N.J.

● Send 25 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, and give the name of the book.

FOR JAQUELINE SUSANN, novelist

Who sets the price for a newly-released book? Is it the author or the publisher—who does?—Rick Fintras, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● In the case of "Valley of the Dolls" and "The Love Machine," we reached an agreement between us.

FOR PETE ROZELLE,

commissioner of professional football

If the Super Bowl game ended in a tie, what would be the procedure?—R. L. Moore, Chicago, Ill.

● Should the Super Bowl game end in a tie, it would be decided by sudden death overtime. Immediately after the end of regular playing time, the referee will conduct a coin toss to determine who will kick off and receive and which goal the teams will defend. Following a three-minute intermission, play will resume by 15 minute periods with a two-minute intermission between each such period. The first team to score by any means—safety, field goal, or touchdown—is the winner.

FOR DICK CAVETT

What would you consider the perfect lineup of guests for a tv talk show?—Bruce Martin, Detroit, Mich.

● Orson Welles, Janis Joplin, and Lyndon Baines Johnson.

FOR HOWARD PYLE,

Director, National Safety Council,
Chicago

How many deaths annually are caused by tire blowouts?—Del Laiceps, Burlington, Wash.

● We estimate 1,500 to 1,700 per year, died from tire-related accidents of all types in 1968. How many specifically involved blow-outs is not known.

Want to ask a famous person a question? You can through this column, and we'll get the answer from the prominent person you designate. Send questions, preferably on a post-card, to Ask Them Yourself, Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We cannot acknowledge questions, but $5 will be paid for each one used.

What in the World!

That's a Fact "Can Elephants Swim?" is the title of a new book of "unlikely answers to improbable questions." Compiled by Robert M. Jones, for Time-Life books, it asks, "Can man ever fly under his own power?" Answer: no—a man weighing 150 pounds would need a breastbone protruding six feet to accommodate enough muscle to fly. How valuable is land in Tokyo? Answer: $10 million an acre—twice as much as the best Manhattan property. Who designed the White House? Answer: James Hoban, who was offered by a grateful Congress $500 or a gold medal. The father of 10, he took the money. As for the question posed by the title, the answer is yes—but they'd rather not.

Family Secrets Actress Jean Simmons is used to taking directions from Richard Brooks—he's her husband. And she is also used to his secretive nature. For instance, she is the star of Brooks' new film for United Artists, "Happy-Ending." Although Richard wrote the script with her in mind for the lead, he didn't tell her until shooting time. Brooks would have Jean help him read through the script in the evenings and then go back to his office and write more script for Mrs. Brooks. But Jean thought all along that some other actress would play the lead role. As Jean puts it, "I never thought Richard was writing for me." Says Richard, "Why not, she's the best film actress in the world."

Purr-Fect Forecast According to author Henry Cole in "The Cat Horoscope Book" many puzzling traits of your cat can be explained by its astrological sign. For instance, your Capricorn cat only wishes to serve you; she has adopted you, and you she will serve. Her knees are easily bruised, and she's the only cat to purr in the key of F. The Taurus puss is more particular about what she eats than you are and must be humored. No person has ever won an argument with a Taurian feline. The Sagittarian is given to the most dangerous leaps—but rarely attempts something she can't accomplish. The Cancerian is happy one minute, down the next—but she gets attention, then snaps out of it herself.

Caution Cops The two dapper gentlemen shown here are not college professors nor fraternity brothers. They are police officers in full uniform! That's Police Chief Richard C. Clement (left) of Tom's River, N.J. (population 37,000) and Capt. George Yetman. The smart-looking blazers (with built-in shoulder holsters), gray-flannel trousers and striped ties startled residents at first. The chief, however, feels that the traditional "police blues" often make officers seem too formidable; while a casual look humanizes them. Even the Tom's River patrolmen are allowed to wear the new togs when representing the force during off-duty hours.

Fashionable police officers

By THEODOR REIK, M.D.
as told to Joanne Toomey

ALMOST ALL of us have felt down and out at one time or another. We call it the "blues," and it comes and goes like a spring rain—and it's about as serious.

But what about a lingering case of this low-ebb feeling? Prolonged "blues" with more dramatic effects can lead into what doctors call depression—a psychotic disorder marked by sadness, inactivity, and self-deprecation.

A young man, for example, suffering loss of self-esteem, needed a job and went on many interviews. He was invariably turned down. In every case where he succeeded in getting an interview, he stumbled awkwardly and suddenly knew nothing about subjects with which he was fully familiar. Each defeat sent him into deeper depression until he became almost unable to function.

The malady of depression affects both rich and poor, young and old. What precipitates depression is as varied as the remedies for it. Loss of a loved one, failure in work or school, change of environment, fear of age, boredom, or just general inactivity can spark a period of indolence and disappointment.

A patient of mine, for instance, suffered from melancholy in the winter and finally was unable to work during this season. He blocked from his conscious mind the reason for this state, which was uncovered by analysis. His mother had left his father in the winter when he was seven years old. He stayed with the father, but his loss had been a bitter one, and he tried to overcome it without success. When he came to understand the causes, he was able to deal realistically with his feelings and became his cheerful self again.

Like most mental disorders, depression is generally a culmination of a chain of psychological events. Oftentimes, guilt, stemming from an innate hostility, can very likely lead to serious depression. So, too, can a sustained feeling of hopelessness and futility caused by one's general circumstances.

The most serious sufferer of depression, the manic-depressive, is well on the road to mental, if not physical, destruction. Hopefully, this person would have sought professional help long before the situation developed that far.

A woman office worker became depressed because she had wanted to do more with her life; to become a creative writer. When she examined her childhood, she found that her father, a domineering man, had constantly knocked down her hopes and ambitions.

Under therapy, she came to see that all that was holding her back was an unrealistic fear-of-rejection. She took a refresher writing course and obtained a job in a publishing house. Last time I saw her, she came in to give me an autographed copy of her own first book. So the "blues" can be overcome by action of a constructive kind designed to achieve your heart's desire.

There are, however, self-help suggestions for those anxious to cure the "blues" or even relatively simple states of depression. Should the feeling continue, the person should seek competent medical advice.

1. Decide to solve the basic problem—if it's obviously recognizable—on the conscious level. That may be easier said than done, of course, but any attempt is healthier than ignoring the problem.

2. Try to recall the entire experience which you feel has triggered the blue mood. Sometimes simple self-analysis can put the situation in a more proper perspective.

3. If you can relate the current experience to one you went through in childhood, you may discover that the pain you now feel is linked to an old wound. In childhood days, you were probably unequipped to cope with the situation, but perhaps with maturity you can do better.

4. During this period of trying to shake off the "blues," you may have a dream. Try to find whether the dream holds a clue to your present dilemma.

5. You only set the stage of your life drama. Realizing this, you may come to the understanding that the mishaps that appear as blows dealt by fate are really happenings staged by your unconscious.

6. If this is true, what you must recognize is that you are feeling down because of your own doing. Only you can change "the plot" and "write a new script."

7. Practice self-exploration more regularly. If you start each day going over current situations and their causes and what they mean to you, you will develop a habit of thinking out problems before they grow serious and harder to solve.

Most people who go through intermittent periods of depression do not need a psychiatrist. A little self-therapy can work wonders. But if it does not work and the overpowering feeling of melancholy continues, the person will probably turn to uncontrollable drinking, constant weeping, and have thoughts of suicide.

Certainly when any one of these symptoms appears, consult a reliable psychiatrist—perhaps one advised by your family doctor.

If depression has had you in the dark, has trapped you in a pit of loneliness and despondency, start now to cure the present pain and avoid future dilemmas. Professional help is available, but the state of your mind starts with yourself, and here particularly an ounce of "blues" prevention is worth a pound of psychiatric care. ♦

Sex and Violence TV—Helpful

This is the "age of frankness," but, asks this to lewdness and mayhem, neglecting

By MARGARET CULKIN BANNING

Author of "Fallen Away," "The Vine and the Olive," and "Masabi"

Years later, when these boys had grown up, I asked one of them what affect the books had on him. He said that they were very interesting and that "you had to find out about those things—some-time."

But though that is true, it is one thing to work your way through a medical book, without knowing what many of the words mean, as the boys in the study did. It is something quite different to see sexual provocations and acts very close to copulation on the screen and to have them described emotionally and minutely in books. There is bound to be a great deal of identification.

As the reasons for the increase in juvenile crime are sought, the protest against violence on television has become organized. Frightening statistics have been publicized. To repeat one of them, the average American child will watch a total of 22,000 hours before he is 18, and, during every hour of watching, he will witness an average of five acts of violence. This is the first generation which has been "baby-sat" by television, and a connection is more than probable between the violence it has seen on the screen, and its tolerance and use of violence in real life.

The people who are studying this and trying to do something about it are not prudes or followers of Mrs. Grundy. The National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting includes such names as Harry Belafonte, John Kenneth Galbraith, Marjya Mannes, and Robert Montgomery, leaders in arts and letters and was formed "to end the threat to our children's values, taste, and sensitivity."

The National Committee on Violence, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, reported to the nation that "television entertainment based on violence may be effective merchandising but it is an appalling way to serve a civilization." It also pointed out that violence on the screen is initiated about equally between the "good guys" and the "bad guys." So the distinction between what is right and what is wrong is not determined by the use of violence. As we have often seen, there may be a Robin Hood motivation in a picture, doing violence to serve some useful end or for a worthy cause.

Violence has always had a place in much great literature and in the performing arts. No one could be more violent than Hentheliff in "Wuthering Heights" or Bill Sykes in "Oliver Twist." On the stage we have had Medea and Othello and Lady Macbeth. For the little children there was Jack the Giant Killer.

Violence cannot be eliminated from life. But what is frightening about much of the violence shown on television is the viewer's identification with it and the consequent confusion in his moral judgment.

A case in point came to my attention recently. In a large university a group of students began to steal cars. Most of them came from orderly families and unbroken homes.

They dismantled the cars and sold the parts and claimed that they gave the money to an organization which was formed to protect the faults and inequalities of modern society. Whether they held out any money for themselves was never clear. They kept no books.

In any case, after mastering the business of stealing cars, locked or unlocked, they began forging checks. The local police caught up with the boys. One escaped but a month later he shot and killed a policeman in another state and is now in prison.

Another member of the gang who said he was sorry he had been mixed up with it tried clumsily to explain why he had done criminal things. He said, "I don't know exactly. But, you know, you see things, like in 'Mission: Impossible,' and you think you could do jobs like that and it would be fun. And those people we stole the cars from didn't really need them."

That case is a small piece of evidence that television can have a dangerous effect on behavior and straight thinking. No one should get excited

A GROUP OF boys came in quietly and took seats far down near the front of the movie theater.

They were probably from 16 to 18 years old. They had no girls with them. They didn't even have a bag of popcorn. They did not talk among themselves or clap or whistle at crises in the picture.

They sat there almost without stirring, evidently completely absorbed in a movie whose theme was murder induced by homosexuality. They might have been listening to a lecture—so serious were they.

The boy in the bookstore was so concentrated in his browsing that I had to poke him before I could get past him through the aisle. He was a tall, lanky fellow, not well-dressed but no hippie. His face was gentle as he apologized for blocking my way.

"Sorry," he said and moved closer to the shelves where paperbacks on sex were concentrated, studying the titles, wanting no doubt to get the most for his 76 cents.

The question that thousands of people are suddenly asking themselves and each other—as if they had just waked up to a situation that has been burgeooning for years—is whether these boys in the theater and in the bookstore are being seriously harmed or perhaps well preparing themselves to harm society.

The answer is that nobody really knows, though opinions pro and con are vehemently stated. Sensitivity and the impulse to imitate differ so greatly in individuals that it is hard for anyone except an expert psychiatrist to tell how violence and nastiness on the screen and acts of sex portrayed in words and pictures affect each young person. But the effect on contemporary life is obvious. Hypocrisy and prudery have lessened. Tolerance has increased. The public taste has conformed. Modesty has disappeared. Juvenile crime is on the increase and now more than 50 percent of all arrests for car thefts and burglaries involve youths under 18 years old.

When my children were teenagers, there was a shelf in my study containing books which had been inherited from a grandfather who was a physician. They included volumes on abnormal sex by Kraft-Ebbing, Havelock Ellis, and other famous authorities on the subject.

Some of the boys who visited the house had discovered these books and would close the study door and pore over the case histories—there were no illustrations in these scientific treatises. I found this out, and after some soul-searching, I did not remove the books though I kept the study door open.

in Movies, Books, or Harmful?

noted author, why is frankness confined higher values of life?

enough to claim that such results are pervasive among young people, and "Mission: Impossible" is an exciting, imaginative program in which the good guys almost invariably come out on top. But something is out of gear. Is it that children are not being taught the difference between reality and unreality?

I have long known about the effect of reading on ideals and values. Fiction today, devoted to the cause of "telling it like it is," is destroying a great deal of sentimentality and claptrap, but it is so obsessed with the sex motive that it is losing touch with the human stories of the vast majority to whom sex is not the only motivation in life.

The result of this is not all bad. The rising popularity of nonfiction is in part due to the weariness of many readers with the detailed and repetitive descriptions of normal and abnormal sex.

Before leaving on a recent trip abroad, I was given copies of four books about to be published. One was a long, defensive story of lesbianism. One dealt with incest. One was about abnormal sex, plus incest for good measure. One concerned the desperate dalliance between close members of a family and their suppressed sex desires for one another. The stories did not tell me anything I did not know to exist or tell it better than it had been told before.

But the books presented a problem. I did not want to carry them through Europe. I did not want to give them to the ship's library for they would not be welcome in it. Least of all did I want to leave them in a foreign hotel to be identified as contemporary American literature.

What did I do with the books? Later in my journey, while I was driving through the mountains of Ireland, I dropped them in a crevice in the rocks. They were goats grazing nearby, but I doubt whether any people would see those books again.

An unparalleled frankness, boldness, and indifference to personal privacy pervades American society. It is not creeping up on us. It has leaped upon us. There is a rivalry of frankness in books, magazines, plays, movies, and television, with loud claims that nothing has ever been so frank as this production. This troubles and sickens many people. There are others who believe it does no harm. There is a substantial number who applaud it and argue that it means society is moving in the right direction, toward a freer world.

That could be true. Certainly the criticism of the faults of American society has never been more penetrating and the desire for a better world never more prevalent or more audible. The majority of young people feel that desire more than most of their elders. In spite of what they read and see, in spite of the violence and lust that are forced upon their senses, most young people want their own kind

Do THIS Before You Read The Bible

Reading Holy Scripture, of course, can be an inspiring and comforting practice.

But to get the most out of your Bible-reading, you need a solid groundwork of knowledge that the Scriptures do not reveal. For as the New Testament says: "In these epistles there are certain things difficult to understand" (2 Peter 3:16).

The truth of this is manifested by the fact that equally intelligent people often draw conflicting conclusions from the same passages of Holy Scripture. And by the further fact that scholars of all faiths are continually searching the sacred texts to reveal and refine their meanings.

If you would like a better understanding and deeper appreciation of the Scriptures, write for a free copy of our new pocket-size pamphlet entitled: "Introduction to Bible Reading." Its purpose is not to interpret what the Bible says, but to explain how what it says is to be understood. Whether you are a devoted Bible student... or just a casual reader... this pamphlet will give you the basic principles for understanding not only what the Scriptures say, but what they mean.

It might be argued that the Bible... being God's Word... has to be a simple book so that people of all levels of intelligence can understand it. But if this were true, all Bible readers would understand the Scriptures in exactly the same way... which they don't.

The fact is, of course, God did not intend that all our knowledge of Him should come from our own reading and interpretation of the Scriptures. In His covenant with the people of Israel, God commissioned the prophets to instruct the faithful in His word. Christ vested the same responsibility in His disciples and His church with the coming of the New Testament.

"Introduction to Bible Reading" gives you a solid groundwork for understanding why the Bible is God's book... how it came into being... what books it contains... and the general principles which should be applied in interpreting it. It also offers samples of some good, modern English translations to help you in your selection of a personal Bible.

For your free copy of this interesting pamphlet, write today. Ask for Pamphlet FM-22. No obligation... nobody will call on you.

DYAN CANNON SAYS:

"Don't Call Me the Ex-Mrs. Grant!"

She's making it on her own, despite Hollywood gossip

Dyan Cannon, shown with Natalie Wood, was highly acclaimed for the movie hit, "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice."

THE TEMPERAMENTAL actress quality comes out in Dyan Cannon when she is referred to as "Cary Grant's ex-wife!"

In fact, she gets downright mad and wants to go on record as saying, "No matter who you are or who you have been, when you get in front of a camera, it's what you can deliver that counts!"

They married in 1965 after a five-year courtship. The marriage ended in divorce three years later. Still, claims Dyan, Hollywood gossip columnists attribute her success to her famous marriage.

Her counterargument—that talent, not marriage, counts—is probably best exemplified by the acclaim she won in Columbia's "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice." Dyan notes that she got that part strictly on her own.

Dyan's sense of independence began shining through in her early high-school days. She was born Camille Diane Frieson in Tacoma, Wash. Her father was an insurance man, her mother, Washington State's women's bowling champion.

Her high-school interest in drama lagged while at college, so she visited an aunt in Phoenix, Ariz., where she got a job at a stock exchange, walking on a raised platform while changing the quotations on the board.

"Because it was so hot, I used to wear shorts. The old men really liked that!" recalled Dyan. "The front rows were always filled up and the rear ones usually empty! The job had advantages, however. It made me become a quick study. I had to learn to retain words and numbers by just seeing or hearing them once. It helped me tremendously later on when I worked on CBS' soap opera, 'Full Circle,' for eight months, and had to learn 89 pages of dialogue every night!"

It was in Phoenix that Dyan first fell in love and became engaged. Since her fiancé was only visiting Arizona, when he returned to Los Angeles, Dyan followed him.

The romance was short-lived. Within a few weeks, Dyan knew she had made a mistake and broke it off. But she decided to stay in Los Angeles and enroll at UCLA to study writing and anthropology. "I don't know why I did that, except I've always been interested in the beginnings of man," she explained.

A part-time modeling job led to an interview with producer Jerry Wald, who suggested she change her name to Dyan Cannon ("It was more explosive") and tested her for his Jean Harlow picture. The test was a failure because, Dyan candidly admitted, she was totally unprepared as an actress. "Just wanting to act didn't make me an actress!" she admits.

Dyan toured, promoting a picture—no talent needed for this, just beauty. But from the tour she earned enough money to take acting lessons at Sandy Meisner's Studio West. "I really worked for two years. I am not eager to get my name up in lights. I don't have that kind of drive. But I love my work."

Her efforts paid off nicely in tv roles and a road tour in "How to Succeed Without Really Trying."

During her much-publicized marriage, Dyan gave up acting. She insists she didn't miss it because, "I simply wouldn't let myself think about it." Even after her divorce, Dyan shunned show business. "I just enjoyed my daughter Jennifer. Also, I was down to 100 pounds, hardly enough for five-foot-five. Nothing but skin and bones, you know." She now weighs a little over 100 pounds.

Dyan's decision to return to acting was not so much a sudden compulsion as a gradual gravitation in that direction. "I simply knew that I had to do something. Acting was the obvious choice."

Unlike many actresses, Dyan does not go for her personal life to attract attention. In her late 20s, she lives quietly with Jennifer and the child's nurse in a rather small house in Beverly Hills, near enough to a park so they can spend their free time romping on the grass.

As for her career, Dyan is convinced she has hit a new plateau and that her future may be difficult. "I am too sensitive. I'm going to keep trying to shake off the 'ex-Mrs. Grant' image and work on Dyan Cannon. I want my daughter and the world to be proud of me."

Budget Meals That Please

MELANIE DE-PROFT Food Editor

■ To the meal planner of the household any practical ideas for stretching the food budget are usually most welcome and especially so after a Sunday-dinner splurge or a special-occasion meal which often upsets the entire week's food allowance. One way to avoid budget frustration is to look to your supermarkets for weekend specials. See your local newspaper for exceptional buys in meats, poultry, canned goods, and fresh and frozen vegetables and fruits. Keeping in mind also the possible savings in quantity buying of certain foods, be sure to wrap the perishable ones in aluminum foil and freeze them for future use.

Pork Roast with Olives and Rice

1 7-lb. pork loin roast
 3 cloves garlic, sliced
 1½ cups chicken broth
 ¼ cup dry vermouth
 ½ teaspoon ground sage
 ½ teaspoon pepper
 ¼ cup sliced pimento-stuffed olives
 Saffron Rice (see recipe)
 Special Gravy (see recipe)

1. Score fat side of pork roast; insert garlic in slits. Place, fat side up, in a shallow roasting pan. Insert a meat thermometer in roast so that tip rests in thickest part of the meat.
2. Combine broth, vermouth, sage, and pepper; pour over meat.
3. Cook roast in a 325°F. oven until meat thermometer registers 170°F., basting occasionally. Total cooking time will be about 2½ hrs. The last hour of cooking time, add ½ cup of the sliced olives to liquid in pan.

4. Transfer roast to a heated platter; keep warm.

5. Remove olives with slotted spoon; reserve to add to rice along with remaining olives. Use liquid for the gravy.

6. Spoon the saffron rice onto platter around the roast. Accompany with the gravy. About 12 servings

Saffron Rice

In a large saucepan, combine 1 qt. chicken broth, 2 cups uncooked regular white rice, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon crushed saffron. Bring to boiling, stirring with a fork. Cook, covered, over low heat 15 to 20 min. or until rice is tender. Toss reserved olives with rice. About 8 cups

Special Gravy

Skim excess fat from reserved liquid. Measure liquid and add enough

Betty Crocker introduces a memorable taste: old-fashioned Milk Chocolate Frosting.

It's the kind of taste that reminds you of Uncle Harry. When he came to visit and took you down to the candy store for a treat.

Milk chocolate.

The kind that came in big chunks. Sweet. And creamy. And rich.

And he'd offer you one out of that crackly white sack. And you couldn't decide which chunk was the biggest. So Uncle Harry would pick for you.

And give you a second, in case he was wrong.

Now Betty Crocker brings back those memories. By bringing back the taste. Old-fashioned, chunk style, milk chocolate flavor, in a creamy, smooth frosting mix that doesn't taste like a mix.

In fact, you'd swear Betty Crocker must have had an Uncle Harry.

What Your Taste in Foods Tells About You

Are you romantic? Neurotic? Creative? What you eat may provide the answers, say researchers into appetite and personality

SCIENCE has come up with some fascinating findings about food—including what your eating habits tell about your personality. Take this quiz and test your knowledge of a tasty subject.

1. If you derive pleasure and satisfaction from chewing on things—gnawing on a steak bone, chewing gum, chewing on a pencil—this indicates that you are a low brow at heart, with primitive tastes.

2. The way you feel about food tells how you feel about yourself.

3. A reducing diet can cause a nervous breakdown.

4. People who enjoy food the most make the best lovers.

5. You have "American tastes" if your favorite dessert is strawberry shortcake.

6. What you don't eat can make you neurotic.

7. Almost any dessert is better liked than any vegetable.

8. People with artistic temperaments prefer foods which are highly seasoned or strongly flavored.

9. The more care a housewife lavishes on preparing meals for her husband, the more she loves him.

10. If you seldom have an appetite for breakfast, it indicates that you get more mileage out of food and don't need to eat as often.

ANSWERS

1. False. In studies at Yale University, students were classified as to personality and temperament, then interviewed as to eating preferences. Subjects who reported deriving the most pleasure and satisfaction from gnawing on a steak bone, chewing gum, etc., were sensitive people with cultivated tastes.

2. True. Psychological studies show that the more food aversions a person has, the more he tends to be dissatisfied with himself and wish that he were different.

3. True. For many people, weight-reduction diets may involve the possibility of emotional disturbances—and this is particularly true with high-strung individuals. People who are subject to marked changes in mood, particularly those who have ever had a severe depression, are advised to diet with caution. And a person who is working under conditions of particular stress or pressure of responsibilities should postpone dieting, if possible, until the pressure eases off.

4. True. They are much more ardent in love relationships, much more sentimental, and romantic-minded than people who eat principally to sustain themselves and don't take any special pleasure in eating.

5. True. The U.S. Army polled a cross-section of thousands of enlistees. When the returns were all in, strawberry shortcake emerged as the top favorite in the dessert department—with banana-cream, lemon-cream, good old apple pie, following closely. Ice cream got nearly as many votes as strawberry shortcake, and others in the top 10 included pineapple-upside-down cake and chocolate cake.

6. True. Studies have shown that an inadequate diet, lacking in the proper vitamins and minerals, is capable of producing a full-blown neurosis even in a normal, well-balanced personality. And a poorly balanced diet, if persisted in, can lead to serious mental disturbances.

7. False. Although some vegetables are ranked among the most disliked foods, some of them enjoy a higher preference rating than most desserts. A nationwide poll has shown, for example, that two vegetables—fresh corn on the cob and fresh tomatoes—enjoy a higher popularity rating than some tempting desserts.

8. True. Studies by investigators at both Yale and Michigan Universities show that people of artistic-esthetic temperament definitely tend to have special food preferences, favoring highly seasoned foods to those with mild or bland flavor, preferring less sweet and more sour than people of other temperaments.

9. True. Consensus of scientific studies shows that the housewife who adores her husband does all possible to make his meals pleasant and makes a point of brightening his day by taking pains with his favorite dishes. And if she isn't a good cook to start with, she does her best until she learns to please her husband's palate.

10. False. Medical studies at the University of Wisconsin show lack of breakfast appetite to be a strong indication of chronic anxiety. Absence of a desire for food at this time of day, it was found, reflects an excessive amount of anxiety and tension which reaches its peak upon arising. Typically, this can't bear the thought-of-breakfast symptom disappears as the morning progresses and tensions become more relaxed—and the normal appetite returns. To sum up: if you can't eat breakfast, something's eating you. —JOHN E. GIBSON

Sex and Violence

of purity even when they are indifferent to conventional and impatient of all restraint.

The same thing cannot be said of many middle-aged people. The sale of the most sexy and foul-mouthed books depends to a great extent on middle-aged women. They also fill the movie houses where the most far-out movies are shown. Immovable unshapely older women go down the streets in the tightest of pants. The blame for the general exposure and accent on sex cannot be laid only at the children's door.

But no matter whose the fault, immodesty, lack of privacy, and toleration of violence blunt our senses. They are not static influences. They create a craving which can become obsessive and dangerous.

So many people are realizing this that we are getting some action. The Commission on Violence had its effect on television in somewhat reducing the violence in programs and in rescheduling shows so that some would not be shown within a child's normal viewing day.

This is like putting dangerous medicines on a high shelf in the bathroom cabinet. It should have been done before and must continue to be done. The Citizens Committee, which wants more review of broadcasting licenses to determine if they are operated in the public interest, should have support for the public hearings which they are now trying to set up in the states where television licenses will be renewable in 1970 and 1971.

There is a possibility that the emphasis on violence, sex exposure, and abnormality will decline of its own accord. There are signs that we are coming to the dead end of that road.

The best-seller fiction list is still heavily weighted with sex, but the tale of a convent is also on it. Best selling also are two or three sound political histories, and even a dictionary-made-nonfiction list.

We will not return to hypocrisy or any concealment of truth. We need candor. But we should not confuse frankness with only the uncovering of lowliness, violence, and despair.

Frankness should also expose loyalty, gentleness, courage, and love for they too exist and have a right to be shown on the screen and in the pages of books.

Is using the wrong freezing wrap costing you money?

by Poppy Cannon

Sad to say, it is... if you're tossing fresh meats or poultry into your freezer in the see-through wraps you brought them home in.

You see, the plastic wrap your grocer uses to show off the cuts of fresh meats he displays for you every day is fine for that purpose. But it breathes...lets air in, moisture out.

And the plastic bags you find handy for many household uses? Fine, too, but not for freezing. They trap air inside, all around your food.

Cold, dry air is frozen foods' worst enemy...

and here's why. The dry, frigid air in your freezer tries to draw the moisture out of your food. If it succeeds, those expensive roasts, steaks and chops you bought on "special" won't stay so special. They'll get tough...stringy...dry out and lose flavor. Suffer from what's called "freezer burn."

What can you do to be sure you're giving the foods you freeze the protection they need?

Aluminum foil keeps air out...Keeps moisture in.

Use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, a strong sheet of aluminum foil that's a real moisture-vapor barrier. Keeps dry, cold air out, keeps moisture and flavor in. Know what else? The faster foods freeze, the safer the flavor. And Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap actually speeds freezing, because it's a natural conductor of both heat and cold.

What's the right way to wrap for freezing?

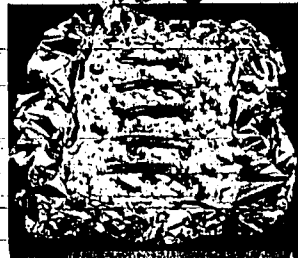

Because "freezer burn" may develop wherever air pockets exist, tight wrapping is a must. So double-fold the foil down tight across the top of the food, smoothing out all the air between the food and the foil. Then fold up the ends, envelope style, and press them tight against the food. Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap molds and clings tight, protects your food for months to come.

Food technologists agree there's no better wrap for the foods you freeze, from soups to meats to desserts. So for everything you want to keep in your freezer, use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. It will save you many a disappointment. And many a dollar. Reynolds Wrap can be a big help, too, when you're cooking foods for freezing...and when you're cooking foods you've already frozen. Here are just a few of the many time- and work-saving ways Reynolds Wrap can make your job easier.

Roast to Perfection: 3 Hours: Would you believe you can cook a frozen-stiff 4 pound roast and serve it in just three hours? Here's how. Turn back the Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap the roast was frozen in and sprinkle the meat with salt and pepper. Re-wrap loosely, leaving ends crimped lightly. Put the meat in a shallow pan in a preheated (400°) oven for 2 1/2 hours. Then turn the foil back completely and allow roast to brown for an additional 30 minutes. The roast will be rare, tender, juicy, so beautiful you'll never bother to thaw again!

Double-Batching: Another Time Saver. Making a stew, casserole, meat loaf? Make two, cook one now and freeze one for later. Line the pan of the one you're freezing with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap and put it in the freezer. When it's frozen solid, lift it out of the pan and over-wrap in foil. (This frees your pan for other uses.) Stash the package back into the freezer, and you've got a great main dish, all ready, whenever you need it.

Frozen Asset: Great fix-ahead, freeze-ahead dessert: Cut one 12 oz. frozen pound cake lengthwise into 2 equal layers. Place one layer on a large sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Cut 1 pint brick of Neapolitan ice cream lengthwise into two slices and place on cake. Top with second layer. Wrap tightly in foil and freeze. Remove from freezer, unfold foil. Frost top and sides with one 4 1/2 oz. carton frozen whipped topping, thawed. Arrange pecan halves and maraschino cherries on top. Re-place in freezer till topping is hard. Remove from freezer. Double-fold foil over the top, close to food. Fold ends to make a tight seal. Return to freezer till ready to serve. Serves 8.

If your child is a poor reader

—see how phonics can help him

Try it for TWO WEEKS FREE at home

See how your child can learn to read better and spell better in just a few weeks with records that teach him by phonics, at home! Mail Free Trial Coupon below.

Would you like to see your child gain as much as a full year's grade in reading in as little as six weeks' time? These are results parents have seen again and again with this simple home tutoring course in reading.

Mrs. B. J. Smith of Concord, Calif. writes: "In ten weeks my son advanced from second grade level in reading to the fourth grade level. His spelling improved to the high fourth grade level. We feel fortunate in learning of The Sound Way to Easy Reading."

Mrs. B. J. Smith is only one of over 80,000 parents who have turned to The Sound Way to Easy Reading for help in the frustrating problem of a child who can't read.

Teachers with records

Don't think it's all your child's fault if he hasn't learned to read. Many of our brightest children are not able to grasp the "look-and-say" method taught in most schools today. Yet, many educators insist that at least 40% of our children must have formal training in phonics—that they will never master reading without it!

The Sound Way to Easy Reading teaches by the phonics method (the method by which most parents learned to read years ago). Its phonograph records and charts show your child exactly what to do, so he can teach himself without any help from you.

The records drill him in the sounds of the 26 letters in the alphabet and their blends. Once he learns the 123 basic phonetic sounds in this course he can read up to 85% of the words in the English language. It works for children of all ages—in the earliest grades, and even in high school.

Tested and proved

In a pilot study by university psychologists, children gained up to a full year's grade in oral reading skill after only 80 lessons with The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

A semester-long study in 214 pupils in 4 Chicago schools proved that the classes using The Sound Way to Easy Reading showed marked improvement in reading and spelling over the control groups.

Help your child now

Don't wait for your poor reader to reach high school before coming to his aid. By starting your child on The Sound Way to Easy Reading now, you can change his entire attitude toward school—turn his sense of failure into the joy of success. Try it free for two weeks. You send no money—just mail this coupon now!

USED BY 80,000 PARENTS who send many letters like these:

How to Get Top Trade-In Value

By GEORGE WILSON

Here are dollar-making tips from an executive who buys and

PRACTICALLY everyone trades in his old car for a new one at some time or other.

If you're a wise trader, the next time you go into the new-model auto market, ask yourself, what type of car should you buy now to get the most allowance when it is traded in a few years from now?

I'm not just talking about maintaining the car in good condition. Everyone should do this. Still, a top-conditioned used car might not bring you top trade-in dollars.

George Wilson is vice president of C. I. T. Service Leasing Corp., one of the nation's leaders in the automotive fleet-leasing business.

Knowing when to trade in for a new car is almost equally important, for instance. A good time to trade in the old model for a new one is after approximately three years or about 35,000 miles. You'll be trading at a time when you should get a substantial allowance.

But even if you've kept the car in good condition and even if you're trading in at the right time, you still might not get as much allowance as you would if you had made the right type of purchase at the start.

When buying a new car, plan ahead and from the inside out. Do you want automatic or manual transmission; a six- or an eight-cylinder engine; power brakes and power steering? After you have decided on basic equipment, you should determine which model—low, middle, or top-of-the-line—would be most appropriate for this equipment from a resale and investment standpoint.

If you want air conditioning, an eight-cylinder engine, and automatic transmission, you should follow through with a radio, white-wall tires, power steering, and power brakes. This should be housed in a top-of-the-line model and would command top trade-in value later on.

Conversely, if your basic requirements are for a manual transmission, a heater, and little else, you would probably complete this package with a six-cylinder engine and black tires, housed in a standard model.

To put the models together with the optionals in order to give yourself the best value from the standpoint of original cost and trade-in allowance, you'd get these groups:

Low-line model: 4-door sedan, radio, heater, 6-cylinder engine, manual transmission, black tires, solid color.

Middle-line model: 4-door sedan, radio, heater, 8-cylinder engine, automatic transmission, black tires, solid color.

Top-line model: 2- or 4-door hardtop, radio, heater, 8-cylinder engine, automatic transmission, white-wall tires, air conditioning, two-tone colors (vinyl roof), power steering, and power brakes.

To deviate from these guidelines is to court a faster depreciation rate. A

on Your Old Car

rades thousands of autos each year four-speed stick shift, appealing to the sports-minded, doesn't complement a 4-door black sedan. Nor will you get much extra for an air conditioner in a compact.

"An important point to remember is that the typical buyer of the late-model used car is getting younger every year. For two- or three-year-old cars, the average buyer is color-conscious. He likes light colors.

Running an ad in a newspaper is an effective way to sell your car. You should highlight the features, such as "one owner," "new tires," "low mileage," etc. Also mention popular equipment, such as air conditioning.

Most used-car wholesalers and retailers will tell you that a radio is essential in selling an automobile.

It helps to move the car from the dealer's lot sooner.

When you trade in, it's a pretty good idea to go to a dealer who sells the make of car you are trading in. That way the dealer may allow you more than the competition.

Common questions asked of used-car dealers and their answers are: Is there a "best" time to trade?

Not really. What you get as allowance when buying a new car can vary, depending upon many factors. Much depends upon the prevailing interest and demand for both new and used cars. Demand for new cars is greatest at new-model introduction time.

It soon tapers off, to be followed by a slight rise in the spring. Demand then slackens again, reaching its lowest point at the end of the model year. Of what value are special tires?

They have marginal value. More important is that the tires be in good condition and "matched"—that is, all the same kind. It's desirable to have a spare available, too.

What's the relative trade-in value of station wagons?

These are most advantageous in suburban or rural areas. They can be worth as much as $500 more than sedans in such areas, depending upon the model involved.

Whether trading in your car or selling it on the secondhand market, remember to plan ahead right from the moment you first shop for it as a new car—and keep it always as "new" as possible. †

How do you feel when you know you have enough life insurance?

Happy.

A well-planned life insurance program provides a special kind of pleasure.

Life insurance gives you the rich satisfaction of knowing you've guaranteed your family's financial security.

It can help your children to a better life by assuring them funds for college.

It can be the basis of a life-long income to sweeten your own retirement.

Life insurance can do all this and more for you—if you have enough.

How much life insurance is enough? The exact amount depends on your goals, your family size and many other things your New York Life Agent can help you evaluate. Ask him.

He'd like nothing better than to see you very happily insured.

RICK MOUNT:

Basketball's Golden Hand

Purdue and its star played second fiddle to UCLA and Alcindor last year—this season experts think they may be No. 1

By HAL HIGDON

THE DEBUT of Rick Mount as a basketball player began on a note of failure.

"I was in grade school," he remembers. "To make the team, if you were right-handed, you had to dribble left-handed and make a left-handed lay-up. I couldn't do it. The first time I tried I fell down."

Mount responded with characteristic determination. After school that afternoon, he returned home and practiced left-handed lay-ups for two hours. The next day, he succeeded. Purdue University fans feel grateful that he did.

With Lew Alcindor turned professional, Rick Mount today ranks as college basketball's most exciting player. In his junior year last season, this 6-foot-4-inch guard from Lebanon, Ind., scored an average of 33.3 points per game, second in the nation (behind Louisiana State's Pete Maravich). The Big 10 named him its most valuable player and no wonder—he led Purdue scorers in 27 of the team's 28 games last season. This seems no small accomplishment when you consider that two other players from that team graduated to pro ball: Herm Gilliam with the Cincinnati Royals and Bill Keller with the Indianapolis Pacers.

Picture Rick Mount and you see a high-cheeked, blond-haired boy who ducks, darts, then jumps high, letting the basketball float from his slender fingertips toward the basket. "Swish!" He is the man with the golden hand. Mount hit 61.5 percent of his shots last season, a majority of them jump shots from 20 feet or more out.

Mount succeeds partly through natural talent (20-15 vision, for example) but mostly through hard work (200-400 practice shots daily). "I can have my back to the basket," he says, "and turn and pick it right up when I shoot. It's just by feel that I get most of my points."

Purdue coach George King served as assistant coach at West Virginia University during the reign of Jerry West (now with the Los Angeles Lakers). He considers Mount the better shot. "Rick can't understand why everybody can't make 60 percent of their shots," says Pinky Newell, Purdue trainer.

Mount had a cold hand, however, when Purdue faced UCLA and Lew Alcindor in the finals of the NCAA championships last spring. Purdue lost at home to UCLA during Rick's sophomore year (with him hampered by an injury), then got beat 94-82 on the West Coast in 1968.

The Purdue squad thought perhaps its turn had come. Mount recalls: "I hit my first two shots and I thought, 'we're off.' Then all of a sudden nobody hit. I missed 13 in a row. I'd shoot, and they'd feel like they should go in, but the ball would hang on the rim or go in and out."

Rick hit 9 for 17 in the second half, by that time too late. Purdue got beat by 20 points, hardly a disgrace considering UCLA's three-year record with Alcindor.

Man with the

Rick Mount shows rebounding skills against North Carolina.

Rick Mount grew up only 37 miles down the road from Purdue in Lebanon (population: 9,623), where people still remember Pete Mount, his father. Pete led the local high-school team to the state finals in 1948 and taught his son by having him throw a tennis ball at a peanut can.

Pete carefully nursed Rick's skills, letting him shoot rubber balls at first six- and then eight-foot-high baskets.

Rick still believes that many fathers make a mistake by putting up a 10-foot-high basket for their third-grade sons and expecting them to hit it. "A lot of kids at this age just aren't strong enough," he says. "They start throwing the ball underhanded or pitch-it-like-a-baseball, and that's bad. It develops poor form." Rick recently gave the miniature indoor net he used for practice as a boy to the nine-year-old son of assistant coach Bob King.

In high school Rick Mount made all-state three years, averaging 33 points per game in his junior and senior seasons. Sports Illustrated featured him on its cover. On the outskirts of town even today a billboard boasts Lebanon as "Home of Rick Mount—Mr. Basketball 1968."

Mount first chose the University of Miami, then reconsidered and enrolled at nearby Purdue, which was constructing a new 14,123-seat arena. He played his first varsity game the night of the arena's dedication.

Rick relaxes by hunting and fishing. He goes to bed early and neither drinks nor smokes. Last August he married his high-school sweetheart, Donna Cadgor, surprising his friends who didn't even realize Rick dated.

Forced into the role of a one-man show in high school, Rick had to adapt his style somewhat at Purdue. "He matured a great deal last year," says Newell. "His sophomore year he would do things pretty well much on his own. He'd take a lot of shots because he thought it was expected of him. Last year he became a team man."

Rick frowns at the label "gunner," which he considers an insult. Last year against the University of Hawaii he passed to an open Larry Weatherford, who passed back to him. "Why didn't you shoot?" Mount asked.

"I thought it would help your scoring average," Weatherford replied.

"I don't want it that way," snapped Mount. On several occasions during high-scoring games last season, Rick asked coach George King to take him out and give the other players a chance. He seems quite aware that to win championships you need a smooth-working team, not just one smooth-shooting man.

Despite the loss of Gilliam and Koller, this season Purdue stands a good chance to better its second-place NCAA finish. Purdue has lost speed and defensive ability but should compensate with better rebounding.

According to assistant coach, Bob King: "Rick told me recently that all we have to do is win one more game this year than last. That's what I call attitude."

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... highly resistant that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms you must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Literary Guild of America, Inc.

Literary Guild of America, Inc.
Dept. 01-FWB, Garden City, N.Y. 11530

Please accept my application for a trial membership in the Literary Guild and send me the FOUR books of sets whose numbers I have printed in the four boxes at right. Bill me only $1 plus shipping and handling for all four. If not delighted, I may return them in 30 days and this membership will be cancelled.

I do not have to accept a book every month—only as few as four a year—and may resign any time after purchasing four books. All selections and alternates will be distributed to me in advance in the Literary Guild magazine, sent free each month, and a convenient form will always be provided for my use if I do not wish to receive a forthcoming selection. You will bill me the special Guild price for each book I like. This will average at least 50% below the price of the publisher's edition. (A modest charge is added for shipping and handling.) For each monthly selection or alternate selection I accept, I may choose a bonus book, from the special catalog, at a fraction of the already low Guild price—often for as little as $1.
