U.S. 93 By-Pass In County Plan Causes Concern

County planning reached its first major goal in Twin Falls County Thursday with the presentation of the completed "general plan" by Dr. R. P. Fasolino, Idaho State University.

Meeting in the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room with county commissioners, planning committee members and representatives from various state and federal agencies, Dr. Fasolino presented the plan which has been in the study and preparation stage since last summer.

He said it is in no way a comprehensive plan, but a basis for the development of comprehensive planning and a basis from which local agencies can draw guidance and information for obtaining federal and state financial assistance.

Joseph LaVallee, county zoning and planning officer, said the general plan has been completed at a cost of about $700, compared to figures in the neighborhood of $25,000 for similar work done by a consulting firm.

In presenting the plan, Dr. Fasolino urged the county to continue its method of utilizing local resources and personnel in building a comprehensive plan. He said he has worked with many other counties and cities, but he never found the cooperation and resources offered him by local agencies and individuals.

Only one phase of the general plan was questioned by those attending the meeting. Several felt the location of a major highway route through the southern following U.S. 93 and swinging to the east of Twin Falls to connect with Interstate 80-N via the Hansen bridge, was not in the best interests of the county. Those in the West End suggested a route through the southern at a point south of Twin Falls, and cut across Snake River Canyon at a new location west of Twin Falls, then directly north to Jerome.

Cost of such a route is almost prohibitive, Mr. LaVallee said. Dr. Fasolino said the reason for swinging to the east of the city-center is multiple. It would enhance growth in the Kimberly and Hansen area, would be carrying heavy tourist traffic from the South to Yellowstone Park and other eastern points during the summer, bringing much traffic into town past through Snake City into Idaho. It also would give camper and small trailer travel access to the Rock Creek Recreation area south of Hansen, one of the few camping areas of the county.

Dr. Fasolino said basically agriculture is the leading industry of the area and this must be retained. He indicated agricultural service roads and highways which should be added, but said road additions must also keep recreation and urban growth in mind and should serve multiple purposes.

No plan, Dr. Fasolino said, is expected to be followed to the letter of the law. It is a system of helping an area grow in an orderly fashion. He said his proposed development, including highways, is based on what appears the area will be in the future and what it has done in the past. The plan covers about the next 20 years and would have to be updated and revised as the area grows.

The professor said it appears in that time population will be about double.

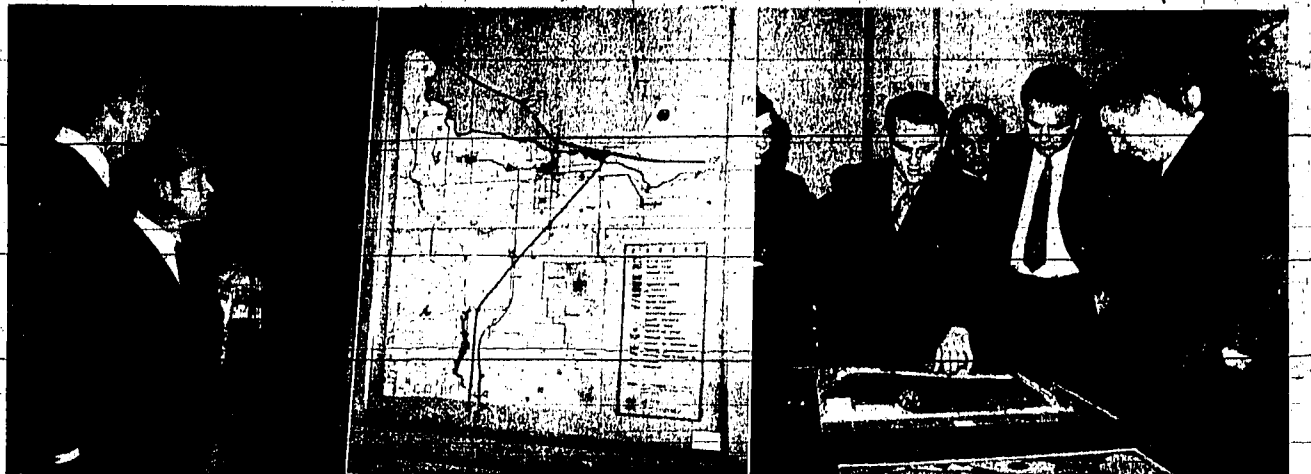

Industry, he said, should be watched closely. His plan calls for industries to the southeast, with the airport a key factor. Highway transportation is another, and he urged caution against pollution. He suggested some industries could be located north of Snake River Canyon where they would not be taking prime agricultural land out of production.

Recreation plays an important part in the plan as presented by Dr. Fasolino. He suggested more Snake River, Rock Creek through the city of Twin Falls and into the South Hills, where both summer and winter recreation are important, should be fully utilized. He also mentioned the Snake River Dam and other areas that could be developed into better recreation sites and tourist attractions, he added.

Motel operators in Twin Falls who attended the meeting, especially questioned the proposed major highway from the south as located by the planners.

Dr. Fasolino said there is no way in which a main highway of four-lane interstate type design can be brought through the city, such as the Hansen Bridge already is going to require replacement to handle traffic to Twin Falls from the north interchange of I-80. He noted that to swing the highway around the city and across the Hansen Bridge would be impractical because of the spreading city.

Several motel operators said they felt travel from the south to Sun Valley and the Sawtooth Mountains would utilize a shorter route through the city and many would be destined to use Twin Falls as a food or lodging stop. County dumping, the professor said, is a problem which is being studied at the present time, and while it is not as bad in Twin Falls as in some areas, all counties and communities must take some action to control solid wastes. Urban Renewal rubble from Twin Falls, he noted, is just one example of the increase in solid wastes in all communities.

PLANNING MAP SHOWS proposed highway routing which would bring a major four-lane highway from the south, swinging closer to Salmon Dam than present U.S. 93, then swinging to the east of Twin Falls to cross Snake River Canyon at the Hansen bridge, where it would connect with the interstate system. This was one proposal of the plan which drew considerable discussion and some opposition. Dr. Fasolino pointed out such a routing would depend on highway planners, but to the county planning team it appears the most logical route. At right, Brent Windley, ISU planning team member, points out some of the facilities in a scale model of Snake Park in Butte. This park was one of the small extras of the planning project. At right, Don Zuck, county recreation advisory committee chairman, looks over the park model.

Economy Halts Growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economy stopped growing during the last three months of 1969, government figures showed today.

The same slowdown continues through the first three months of 1970, the nation-wide increase at an annual rate of 4.5 per cent during the fourth quarter of last year. The increase, however, was caused entirely by higher prices, not by the production of more goods and services than in the previous quarter, the department said.

The Commerce Department said Thursday the nation's Gross National Product (GNP) increased at an annual rate of 4.5 per cent during the fourth quarter of last year. The increase, however, was caused entirely by higher prices, not by the production of more goods and services than in the previous quarter, the department said.

The GNP is the total value of goods and services produced in the nation. It may total more than $1 trillion in 1970.

The actual output of goods and services did not increase at all during the October-through-December period. As a result, there was no more to buy but it cost more.

Economists define a recession as a decline in real output for two consecutive quarters. By that definition, a recession is not yet here, but the nation is flirting with one.

Highway Board Says Millions Needed In Magic Valley For Overdue Projects

A list of overdue highway projects in the Magic Valley area was released today in a report given to the Times-News by officials of the Idaho Department of Highways.

Officials said the 1970 highway construction program is ambitious but many sections of highways needing improvement are not included because of a lack of money.

The report said inflation, rising wages and increased building costs have hurt programs, while at the same time more and more cars are on the highways every day.

In Idaho, the 1970 program calls for expenditures of about $30 million on the Interstate highway system and about $14 million for improvements on primary, secondary and urban routes.

The list of needed work in Magic Valley includes replacement of the Perrine Memorial Bridge, at a cost of $4 million for a new two-lane structure or $8 million for a four-lane bridge. Officials said the four-lane bridge is the most practical.

There are requests for needed work in Twin Falls amounting to $5 million.

More than $3 million of improvements are needed from I-80 north to Twin Falls and many miles of Highway 93 need updating, the report said. It also reported $1 million is needed between Highway 93 and Carey.

Intermittent projects from Interstate 80N north of Twin Falls to Ketchum would cost about $7 million.

And to complete the route from Mountain Home to Arco, Highway 88 east of Fairfield is in need of work.

Highway 93 south of Twin Falls needs improvement and it was reported the roadway is deteriorating fast.

House Panel Offers Bill As 'Trial'

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation and Defense Committee agreed to introduce a "trial balloon" today legislation — whereby students could be bused to private schools at public expense.

By a vote of 7-1 with Rep. Bill Roberts, R-Ruhl, against the motion and chairman John Sessions, R-Driggs, abstaining, the committee said it would put the measure before the house as a committee bill.

Rep. John Moynaux, D-Coeur d'Alene, who moved for introduction of the measure as a committee bill said it might be directed after printing to the education committee for research.

If passing the bill before the committee, Sessions noted that according to the Constitution, each individual is entitled to a free education at public expense.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — A luxury liner, its passengers and crew stricken with an outbreak of typhoid, was anchored today, quarantining 400 yards offshore today. A medical officer termed it a possible "floating bomb."

The 28,000-ton Pacific and Orient Line Orizaba has 1,500 crew and passengers aboard. So far, 10 crew members and 13 crew have been hospitalized with typhoid or suspected typhoid.

Medical teams were carrying out inspections expected to go on for at least five more days in an effort to locate the disease carrier believed to be someone involved in the handling of food aboard the ship.

Dairymen Set Boise For '71 Meet

BURLEY — The 40th annual meeting of the Idaho Dairyman's Association ended Thursday with a board of directors meeting. The group returned to Boise as their next year's convention site.

Boyd Rice, research services manager of American Dairy Association, Chicago, Ill., reported that the Idaho Dairy Commission was the first organization to commit finances for dairy research and they have pledged $35,000 for 1970 for the research goal. The total dairy research goal is $5 million to be spent in research for 1970, he said.

The dairy research deals with marketing, development of improved dairy products, new products and new uses for milk.

Wrong Number Troop Cutback Set In Economy Move

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — It wasn't meant as an elephant joke, but it clearly turned out to be one for a group of Oregon Republicans.

A representative of the Republican National Committee recently called Gov. Forrest Anderson's office and asked if "the governor" would accept an invitation to speak at a GOP luncheon in Oregon.

The office secretary said Anderson would be delighted to address a Republican group — although he's a Democrat.

Troop Cutback Set In Economy Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration has apparently decided it can reduce the number of men in uniform during the next 18 months until the U.S. military force reaches the size it was before the Vietnam War buildup.

This would mean that by mid-1971 there would be 2.7 million men in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

December the troops level stood at 3.35 million and was 3.46 million as recently as last summer.

Reds Attack Viet Camp Of Civilians

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops blew up 20 homes and killed 14 civilians and four Allied soldiers today in an attack on a camp for South Vietnamese refugees.

Allied artillery and helicopter gunships fought with U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese militiamen drove off the attackers, military spokesmen said.

Allied sources said in Saigon Thursday that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are getting thousands of tons of war material through neutral Cambodia's seaports, including Sihanoukville, which was built with U.S. money.

Valley Death Toll Rises With Five Killed In Past 3 Days

Magic Valley's traffic toll continued to rise Friday with five deaths occurring in the last three days. The latest death occurred about 5:20 p.m. Thursday when Mrs. Lorraine Brown, 48, was killed in a rural intersection crash south of Rupert.

The Rupert accident was one of two fatal auto crashes Thursday in the Burley-Rupert area with Mrs. Thomas (Beth) Gunnell, 44, killed in a one-car accident in the morning, seven miles west of Burley on Highway 30. Witnesses said Mrs. Gunnell, who was alone in her car, on route to work in Burley, lost control when the car struck black ice. The auto was damaged. Officers said no request is planned.

Demonstrators Occupy Office

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — About 40 demonstrators ignored another trespassing warning today and continued to occupy the offices of President Howard W. Johnson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. School officials planned to wait them out.

Dan Niehard, dean of student affairs, spoke to the demonstrators through a bullhorn and told them they would be considered trespassers if they stayed in the offices any longer.

Downtown Project Plan Hits Snag, Presentation Is Delayed

Officers said no request is planned. Mrs. Brown, who has been living on 200 S. Route 2, Burley, after recently moving to this area from New Mexico, was killed in a two-car crash at the intersection of Meridian road and 300 S. She was a passenger in a 1968 Pontiac wagon driver by Marie R. Brown, 28, which collided with a 1964 Chevrolet driven by Lillian A. Anterson, 86, Rupert.

Mrs. Anderson was taken to Minidoka Memorial Hospital, Rupert, where she is listed in fair condition. Marie Brown and her other three passengers, Jerry Brown, 15; Robert Brown, 6; and Alberta Brown, 5, were treated at Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, and released. The entire Brown family, from New Mexico.

The death toll on Magic Valley highway began Tuesday when two Caldwell men were killed when their car went into the Minidoka River canyon near Tuttle, after going out of control on black ice on Highway 25.

Davis said his wife, Polly, and the daughters were doing well. The children have not yet been named, Davis added.

"We only had one name picked," Davis said.

There will be a community concert in Twin Falls on Feb. 1. Members of the Idaho State Reserve Officers Association will meet Feb. 1 at the Holiday Inn and on Feb. 3, 4 and 5 about 100 people are expected for a United States Steel meeting at the Holiday Inn.

The Sun Valley Ski Club Pro-Am races will be Feb. 15 with competition slated for the Gauderson trophy. The Sun Valley Ski Club holds its annual meeting on Feb. 19, and on Feb. 21 and 22 the club will have its "championship" races.

The facilities, including the restaurant, will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Mr. Osborn said the resort will be open every day "as long as the snow lasts."

Renewal Is Granted To College

The Twin Falls Business College has been given a renewed accreditation, Karl Black, administrator of the college, announced today.

Examiners were at the college this past week.

The college is accredited as a two-year school of business by the Accrediting Commission for Business Schools, Inc. Black said the examination was a regular inspection that is required of all educational institutions.

He said, "It is of real significance to the students of the college because most federal registration affecting students taking part in federally-sponsored programs such as the vocational student loan program is based on the accreditation of the institution, which they attend."

He added word has been received at the college that servicemen who have previously been eligible for an early release to attend college will now be given the same recognition to attend an accredited business college.

Cases Set To July By Judges

The civil and criminal calendars for both divisions of Fifth District Court in Twin Falls have been set.

Judge James Cunningham and Judge Theron Ward set the dates during regular calendar call in court recently. A complete list of the dates and cases may be obtained by contacting the court clerk in the Twin Falls County judicial annex.

A highlight among cases set to be heard between now and July is the set of three cases involving suits against the city of Twin Falls.

First District Court Judge James Towles of Wallace will hear the cases beginning Feb. 2. The suits involve Sierra Life Insurance Co. against the city; Keith Malone on behalf of the Canyon Crest Subdivision against the city, and property owners near the northwest edge of the city against Twin Falls.

The plaintiffs in each case are protesting annexation.

The annexation was approved in a City Council meeting in December. Then the suits were filed. Judge Towles heard arguments in each case, then said the city should be allowed to proceed with all administrative procedures for annexation, with one stipulation. The city is not allowed to actually take possession of the properties in question until final rulings have been made in the cases.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Generally, conventions of historians are not likely to stir the average American's blood. But the latest one, held here at year's end, distinguished itself by its anti-Americanism of the kind of confrontation the country has grown used to seeing on television. A bunch of so-called "radical historians" tried to elect as president of the American Historical Association one Staughton Lynd, who calls himself a historian, but operates purely as a propagandist and pamphleteer. Remarkably, some 400 historians voted for him against the "organization candidate," who got around 1,000. A little later, the radical historians knocked off discussion and went in modest numbers to demonstrate against national and international genocide. Later still, the radical group was soundly beaten as it sought to gain convention approval for a resolution whose basic bent was anti-Vietnam war but whose full thrust was anti-American government. A brief of the language is interesting. Beyond the familiar radical charge that the U.S. government is waging war "against the people of Vietnam" in order to "extend the modern American empire," the radicals say this alleged purpose "reflects a much older and deeper policy of physical and cultural destruction of the black community at home."

Inflation Issue

So well has President Nixon succeeded in gaining popular support for his Vietnam peace plan and eventual withdrawal of American forces, the Democrats have given up on the war as a partisan issue and now plan to make inflation the key issue of the 1970 election campaign. At least that's the word from Senator Fred R. Harris, of Oklahoma, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee. Armed with the "Christmas Tree" tax bill, the Democrats apparently feel they have the administration on a spot. Certainly, President Nixon, while signing the tax bill, recognized how much it increased the difficulty of balancing the budget. A balanced budget is high on the President's list of priorities as a main roadblock to further inflation, fanned to fever heat by a long series of Democratic deficit budgets. The tax bill, with its "something for everybody" approach and big reduction in anticipated revenues, has been called a time bomb set to explode on election day. As on the Vietnam issue, however, the Democrats may be reading the signals wrong. President Nixon has indicated he will balance the budget by further cuts in expenditures and, if necessary, by requesting additional taxes. The Treasury now is reported studying higher taxes on cigarettes and liquor as a means of raising more revenue. Senator Harris' effort to saddle

If It Ain't One Thing, It's Another!

of physical and cultural destruction of the black community at home. Pretty sweeping stuff, in plain fact. Brother Lynd spent his "radical historians" could labor for the rest of their natural lives and never find evidence to support it — because it does not exist. The charge, remember, is laid on the American government, not on any assortment of state and local governments. It says the destruction of the black world is a matter of "policy," much older in time than the span covered by the Vietnam war. Was the comprehensive Civil Rights Act of 1964 a demonstration of that policy? How about the Voting Rights Act of 1965? Black voter registration came to 1.4 million in 1960 in the Old South. Today it is 1.2 million. In 1965 the Old South had 78 elected officials in its 11 states. Now the total exceeds 600. Destruction? Was President Eisenhower moving to destroy the black community at home when he sent U.S. troops to Little Rock to help enforce federal court school desegregation orders for which he privately had scant sympathy? In October, 1947, President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights produced the most far-reaching report favoring the advancement of civil rights which the nation had ever seen. Was Truman executing a policy of black destruction when he created that committee? Are the federal courts, which are very much a part of the

Higher Costs

If you start to build a house today, it will cost more than you expect it to cost. If the builder has given you a fixed completion price, then he must anticipate these increasing costs. Most unions in the building trades have escalator clauses built into their contracts so that we know right now that the same house, built next year, is going to cost more; in some areas as much as 10 per cent more. Incidentally, don't expect to make any change or modifications or additions midway through construction without paying considerable additional. The high cost of new construction, plus the high interest rates on borrowed money, have combined to discourage both private and commercial building. Contracts for future construction let last November were down 9 per cent from the year previous; nonresidential construction was down 21 per cent. Many carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, electricians and the like have priced their services so high that they are at least temporarily unemployed. This example of how inflation shrinks the value of dollars is not beyond anybody's comprehension. Many, however, are less aware that the costs of government are influenced by the same cause and effect. The cost of major weapons systems, for example, is running fully 50 per cent ahead of original estimates. Between the time the Navy orders a new ship and the time that ship is completed, ship construction costs are likely to climb. Further, with each new technological development, the Navy is likely to order expensive modifications of ships under construction. There is only one possible benefit to be derived from this latter application of inflation. The increasing costs of waging war are presently causing both West and East to take another look at this most wasteful extravagance.

Propulsion

Can the government succeed in producing an automobile propulsion plant without an internal combustion engine, when attempts by private industry have failed? That interesting proposition is about to be tested. Plans have been revealed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a five-year plan to develop such an engine — driven by steam, electricity or "exotic energy conversion techniques." No explanation was offered for the latter technique, but it sounds as if HEW is holding open all options. Steam and electric powered vehicles, which figured in the automobile picture in the early days, have been subjected to considerable experimentation in recent years, but

Those Black Panthers

WASHINGTON, President Gamal-Nasser's bombastic wooing of the neo-Soviet military rulers of the Sudan is ironically embarrassing to the gun-toting Black Panthers and their radical white partisans who are siding with the Arabs against Israel. In establishing a "revolutionary alliance" with the Sudan regime, Nasser publicly aligned himself against millions of Sudanese blacks who have been waging a fierce struggle for independence against the predominant Moslems for more than a decade. Involved in this little-known long and bloody civil war are some 5 million non-Moslem blacks centered in three southern provinces — Upper Nile, Equatoria and Bahr el Ghazal. Many of the blacks are Christians with religious and other ties with Ethiopia, which adjoins their section. Also bordering on it are Kenya, Uganda and the Congo. Ruthlessly fighting to suppress the protracted revolt is the Moslem majority of upwards of 10 million located in northern Sudan which has a common border with Egypt and Libya. Nasser reportedly has Sudanese government is Colonel Jaafar el-Nimeiry, leader of a military coup that seized power last May. Sudanese Arabs have a centuries-old background of ferocity toward Negroes. In the 17th and 18th centuries they were leading slave traders, conducting raids into adjoining areas and then selling their black captives into slavery throughout the world — including the U. S. The non-Moslem Sudanese blacks broke away from the Arab majority in 1955, a few months before the Sudan gained independence from Britain. The central government in Khartoum bloodily sought to smash the uprising and, fighting bridges blown up, roads mined and ammunition and supply depots raided. Key weakness of the black insurgents is lack of weapons and transport, particularly artillery. Also trained non-coms and officers. General Emilio Tafeng, who proclaimed the southern provinces an independent state last year, has been trying to obtain arms and other equipment from Israel, Britain and other Western countries. So far he has had little success. In the past several months, the blacks have intensified their attacks, cutting the major roads into their provinces from the north. Recently, the rebels attempted to have enveloped some 2,000 government troops holding Juba, capital of Equatoria. It is also reported they hold the main road between Juba and Fort, the other large city in that province. As a consequence of these successes, the rebels, for the first time in years, now control a large part of their area. No mention of the Sudanese blacks' long and desperate struggle for self-rule is ever made by the Black Panthers, some of whose ancestors came from the Sudan, by the pro-Soviet Students for a Democratic Society and other revolutionary organizations and elements. No word of the tragic plight and costly rebellion of the Sudanese blacks ever appears in their harranguing literature and other propaganda. About these freedom fighters, the U. S. radicals, militants, activists and revolutionaries, black and white, are completely silent while loudly acclaiming and trucking the Nasser, Bouedienne and other pro-Soviet Arab dictators.

The Indians' Thing

American Indian students and persons of Indian descent have formed a club at Boise State College which will seek to encourage higher education for Indian students, promote a sense of identity with the American Indian heritage and to educate other Americans to a better understanding of the American Indian. The name of the club is Dama-Saghop, a Sho-Ban word meaning "our land." It was selected because the organizers thought the word reflected the pride in the heritage of the first Americans. A guest at the first organizational meeting was Stewart Emery from the Education Department of the Fort High agency. Emery observed that in 1955 there were only four grants for higher education issued from the Portland-area office of Indian Affairs which covers Washington, Oregon, and Idaho. This year 172 students attend colleges and universities, 26 in Idaho institutions of higher education. Alan Tendore, club president, said the charter members include three Bannock-Shoshoni, four Potawatomi, one Creek, one Shawnee, one Plute, and three Cherokee. Tendore said any student of Indian descent is invited to become a member of Dama-Saghop. All persons interested in Indian affairs are welcome to attend the meetings. The club will meet again January 29 at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Building. The constitution of the club provides for the adoption into the club of persons who have interest in or knowledge of Indian affairs. Five faculty and staff members of Boise State have been elected to an advisory committee for the club and

Tachycardia

Dr. Thosteson — Please explain the following diagnosis: "sinus tachycardia due to nervousness." Is the sinus the cause of this condition, or involved in any way? — Mrs. E.R.B. Yes, the sinus is involved — but not the sinus you are thinking about! Only a few weeks ago I discussed a foot infection involving the term "sinus," and that was another instance of "sinus" having nothing to do with those sometimes-troublesome sinuses which connect to the nose. So for the moment forget all about nasal sinuses, and let's talk about the heart, and tachycardia — and sinus tachycardia. The partition or membrane that divides the left side of the heart from the right side is the "sinus." The impulse that makes the heart beat originates in what is known as the sino-auricular node — that is, the area at the top of the membrane dividing the upper chambers of the heart. (Those upper chambers are called auricles; hence the term "sino-auricular node.") When these impulses come at a normal, average rate, that is called the "normal" sinus rhythm. If the rate is too slow, and the heartbeat slows down as a result, it is called sinus bradycardia. If the impulses come too rapidly, and the heart rate speeds up, that is sinus tachycardia. The rest of the diagnosis — "due to nervousness" — is not at all surprising. Of the various possible causes of tachycardia, or rapid heartbeat, nervousness is by far the likeliest. Unfortunately, the patient with a spell of tachycardia usually becomes frightened by it. The more frightened he is, the worse his nerves become, the worse tachycardia he experiences. Once you break that endless circle, and reassure the patient that he isn't in danger of having a heart attack or anything like that, the tachycardia disappears. But convincing a frightened patient isn't always easy. In fact, it's a very hard task indeed sometimes.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago I met a very kind and enthusiastic widower who seemed very compatible as far as mutual interests are concerned. He's getting very serious and has talked of changing my life very soon.

I want to know how much I should tell about her past life. I don't tell him anything; he might find out some day and he will be more than hurt and disappointed.

My past involves a very intimate relationship with a man who was supposed to be getting divorced but he never was.

It so happens that this former lover works for the same company as the now-man-in-my-life but they don't know each other. Should I tell "all" and let the man decide if he still wants me or not?

SOMETHING TO HIDE

DEAR SOMETHING: If the "now" man in your life asks you point-blank if there were any other men in your life, don't lie. Say "Yes" because he'll be blind now just as the other women in your life are blind you." Then add "Don't ask me any questions and I'll not ask YOU any."

DEAR ABBY: You recently advised a young girl whose child was being brought up by the girl's parents as her "little sister" to seek advice from her minister lawyer or doctor and to have so that her child would be proud to call her "Mother."

This advice may be of some help but it certainly is not sufficient. When a girl has a child out of wedlock only to have the child "adopted" (readily "to be") by her own parents while she continues to live in the home as if her older sister to her own child the foundation is being laid for many serious problems later on for both the girl and her child.

As a social worker I have seen many a girl in such a situation deliberately get pregnant again in order to punish her parents and in order to have a child she can call her own.

I have also known youngsters who have been brought up as a "younger sister" to their own mother only to suffer far more than the usual serious identity problems during adolescence.

My suggestion is that the girl and her parents seek professional counseling at once in order to work out as soon as possible an arrangement which is both honest and psychologically sound for all concerned.

J.T.C.

DEAR J. T. C.: Thank you for your fine letter. But not unless WILL seek "professional" counseling. I still think a good beginning is the minister, doctor or lawyer (there are legal aspects to consider here) and if professional counseling beyond that is indicated you can depend on the minister, doctor or lawyer to recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that service man's wife who had to put up with a demanding neighbor just to get a ride to the Community Center to get in touch with the FAMILY SERVICES at the base.

Garden Club Program Given

Proceeding the program, "Garden Help" at the Twin Falls Garden Club meeting held recently at the YM-YWCA building, Clara Walton classified helpers in three categories.

They include mineral, as commercial fertilizers; vegetable, as compost heaps and plant residues; and animal, birds, insects, frogs, toads, snakes.

Miss Walton noted that a yard night light also helps by attracting the harmful type insects.

Some birds, although a nuisance, as sparrows and starlings, consume quantities of weed seed and insects, as do the robins, juncos, swallows and juncos.

Bantam chickens destroy earwigs, and hawks and owls are valuable to hold down the mice population.

Among beneficial insects are tree crickets, praying mantis, lady beetles and various wasps. Grand-daddy long-legs keep down scale and lice and leaf cutter bees pollinate alfalfa and clover, Miss Walton noted.

Frogs, toads and snakes (garter and water variety) are useful to keep anials, slugs and pill bugs in check.

ings are also less affected by frost.

Mrs. Sam Porter discussed qualities to consider in judging or exhibiting houseplants. Of prime importance are cultural perfection, symmetry and cleanliness of plant and pot. A legible label with points and a foliage plant in bloom may score an extra point, Mrs. Porter noted.

House plants displayed by Mrs. Porter were African violet with variegated foliage, a red-flowered Achimenes and a lettuce-leaf begonia. A question and answer period followed.

Proceeding the program, Mrs. Victor Nelson, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Holder read the report.

It was announced the State Garden Club board meeting will be held Saturday at the Downtown Hotel, Boise.

Also announced was accredited flower show judges meeting at 2 p.m. Friday at home of Mrs. J. T. Ricketts, Jerome, area chairman.

Observers Back Nigerian Claim Of No Mass Starvation In Conquered Biafra

LAGOS (UPI)—An eight-man international military observer team today backed the Nigerian federal government's claim that no genocide or mass starvation is occurring in the defeated former rebel state of Biafra.

The team, composed of representatives of Canada, Poland, Sweden, Britain and the United Nations, disclosed the results of its five-day investigation in a report simultaneously released in Lagos, Ottawa, Warsaw, Stockholm and London.

The report said most of the refugees the observers had seen in the former civil war zone were in "good physical shape." It said some signs of malnutrition were noted in children walking along the Warri-Aba road but that the signs were "not extreme."

Gen. Yakubu Gowon, Federal Nigeria's chief of state, accepted Biafra's declaration of surrender Thursday from a Biafran peace delegation in Lagos and declared all Nigerians in the future would live as brothers in a new Nigeria.

"Nigerians must pay homage to the fallen of both sides and build a new and greater Nigeria as a monument to them," he said.

The federal government, rejecting claims by international relief agencies that up to a million Biafran refugees face starvation, mounted its own relief operation with the help of selected foreign countries.

Minidoka County Budget Is Up $25,000 Over Last Year

RUPERT — Minidoka County commissioners this week tentatively approved the 1970 budget in the amount of $291,000, a five per cent increase over the 1969 budget.

The new figure reflects an increase of about $25,000 over last year's figure of $266,000.

Showing the largest increase over last year is the general fund, which includes a $9,000 increase to cover election expense in this election year. The general items budget is estimated at $46,500.

Now to this year's budget is $7,500 for the magistrate department, which will go into effect the first of 1971. This year's budget was drawn up to provide for preliminary work such as personnel training and purchase of equipment.

Three Democrats Urge Relief In State Income Tax Burden

BOISE (UPI)—Three Pocatello Democrats have proposed returning the anticipated general fund surplus to the people in the form of state income tax relief.

Rep. Carl Hopkins, John Pico and Patricia McDermott introduced a bill to double the exemptions for filing state income taxes.

Their proposal would boost the personal exemptions to $1,200 per person from $600 and those for taxpayers 65 and over to $2,400 from $1,200.

Hopkins said a "rough, very high" estimate of the cost of the bill would be $7 million per annum. This is roughly the amount of general fund surplus predicted by the Legislative Council and the state auditor.

Drug Program Set Jan. 22 For Valley

EDEN-HAZELTON — Valley High School will present an all-day program Jan. 22 concerning the abuse of drugs.

The program, exclusively for Valley High School students, is being presented by Teen Challenge of Phoenix, Ariz., a rehabilitation center devoted to helping young people break the habit of marijuana and the use of other drugs.

Dr. Tom Utterback, Superintendent of Valley Schools, says the school already has begun an educational program of this nature and that a series of films pertaining to drug abuse have been shown.

Members of the Valley High School Smart Set will participate in a poster slogan campaign which will be state wide.

Dr. Utterback urges parents not to be complacent about drug abuse but to be alert to the problem from their minds and feelings.

Mr. Mitchell explained that SBA loans are limited to $350,000 on a second mortgage. Some of different programs are conducted by the association, including the local development program which is geared to help a community create more or better jobs or fulfill some economic needs.

Interest on the SBA's revolving fund of $2 billion is 5 1/2 per cent, although most loans now are with bank participating of at least 25 per cent. No SBA funds are available for debt repayment, he noted.

Mr. Mitchell then showed a film depicting how a community must be prepared for progress. Important points were for the community to install community support to make a new business feel welcome, to be supplied with the facts, and to have a prepared site.

Where The Action Is!

THE COLLEGE CROWD has claimed it for its own, but Me-N-Ed's Pizza Parlor, in Twin Falls' Blue Lakes Shopping Center, has become a gathering place for all age groups.

The college crowd, with high, vaulted ceiling, huge open fireplace and heavy wooden tables and benches give it a distinct appeal and the pizzas are mouth-watering.

Dr. Tom Utterback, Superintendent of Valley Schools, says the school already has begun an educational program of this nature and that a series of films pertaining to drug abuse have been shown.

Members of the Valley High School Smart Set will participate in a poster slogan campaign which will be state wide.

Dr. Utterback urges parents not to be complacent about drug abuse but to be alert to the problem from their minds and feelings.

Mr. Mitchell explained that SBA loans are limited to $350,000 on a second mortgage. Some of different programs are conducted by the association, including the local development program which is geared to help a community create more or better jobs or fulfill some economic needs.

State Grange Report Given At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Jim Scroggs, Grange master, reported on the recent State Grange meeting held in Twin Falls in December at a recent meeting of the Hagerman Valley Grange.

A discussion on the Grange dues was held and it was announced that dues are now payable.

The next meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. Monday with a pot-luck supper. It was stressed that the supper will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. and Miss George Lemmon and Rex McNulty.

Beef School Is Planned At Gooding

GOODING — A beef school has been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Magic Valley Packing Co.

Sponsoring this school are livestock industry committees of Gooding, Lincoln, Camas and Elmore Counties. Live animals will be examined and weight, dressing percentages, rib eye area, external fat "rind," carcass grade and internal fat will be determined.

A no-host luncheon will be served at the Gooding Grange Hall.

The afternoon session of the school will feature a discussion of calf diseases by Dr. Jacobson, DVM, Shoshone, and a discussion of modern beef animal by Wade Wells, Boise, extension livestock specialist.

The session will again convene at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 24, to view the carcasses of the cattle that will be evaluated Wednesday.

Anyone in Magic Valley interested in the beef industry should attend this beef school.

Lloyd Webb, the company's legal counsel, told stockholders that the contract with the bureau has been okayed and the company is awaiting financial implementation which looks favorable.

This small projects loan was termed by Mr. Webb as "One very significant milestone accomplished in 1969" by the canal company.

In commenting about the past season's water delivery to the stockholders, Mr. Huffman said water deliveries were made in three separate runs for a total of 128 days and an overall of 59.42 per cent, which is the highest it has been for many, many years.

Also discussed at the recent stockholder's meeting of the canal firm, was the proposed regulating reservoir. Leroy Zollinger, area Soil Conservation Service engineer, said the proposal was originally for 85-acre-foot capacity, but because it would be backed up to a road, it was decided to make it a 65-70 acre-foot reservoir. He also said the cost of the project would be about $50,000, and encompass about 22 acres of land.

In other business the stockholders re-elected the firm's five directors. They are Leonard Peters, Lester McGregor, Vic Nelson, Lyle Schmitzer and Elmer Parrott. During the reorganizational meeting, Mrs. Schmitzer was named president of the canal company, with Mr. McGregor as secretary. Mrs. Parrott was named first vice president and Mr. Nelson is second vice president.

Boise, Grace Men Named To Idaho Dairy Hall Of Fame

BURLEY — Two men, who have contributed much to the dairy industry in Idaho, have been named to the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame. They were named during the Idaho Dairymen's Association annual meeting recently in Burley.

Named were Herman G. Hilliker, Boise, and Melvin T. Mickelson, Grace. Floyd Edwards, Nampa president of the Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, sponsor of the Hall of Fame, presented awards to the honorees. Oris Reed, a neighbor of Mr. Mickelson accepted the award for Mr. Mickelson.

Although Mr. Hilliker has not been an actual breeder of dairy cattle, he has devoted 33 years service as a consultant, not only to dairy breeders, but other agriculturalists as well. He probably has helped more purebred cattle breeders solve their blood line problems than any other single person in Idaho and there by has made a great contribution to the improvement of all dairy cattle.

He organized the first dairy herd improvement association and the first bull stud in Bingham County.

While working in the Boise area he organized several breed association sales and has been ardent leader in expansion of the dairy show at the Western Idaho Fair. As an official judge of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, he has judged dairy stock through-out the Northwest.

Her served as 4-H agent in Blaine County for two years during the mid-1930s. He also served as a 4-H club leader in his hometown of Filer, before graduating from the University of Idaho.

He has been agricultural agent and chairman of the Ada County extension staff for 28 of the Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, sponsor of the awards. Accepting the plaque from Mr. Edwards on the right for Melvin T. Mickelson, Grace, who also was named to the Hall of Fame, is Oris Reed, Mr. Mickelson's neighbor.

DHIA programs for 24 years, has classified his herd several times as top cow producer. His top cow produced 401,718 pounds of milk and 4,160 pounds of milk fat in seven lactations. He has sold bulls to A. H. I. organizations.

PCA Meeting

The annual Southern Idaho Production Credit Association's stockholders meeting will be held at noon, Jan. 23 in the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

Guest speaker will be William F. Berritt, senior vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Spokane. Special recognition will be given to George Watt and A. L. Hanks, who are retiring as directors.

'69 Was Good Water Year For Salmon Tract Farmers

HOLLISTER — Salmon Tract farmers had a pretty good year during 1969, both from the standpoint of water and in progress of the Small Reclamation Projects Act loan.

Morris Huffman, general manager of the Salmon River Canal Co., Ltd., told the stockholders recently that 1969 was a "good water year" for the Salmon Tract farmers.

During the 1969 irrigation season, Mr. Huffman said, the canal company allotted a total of one acre foot of water per share to the farmers on the Salmon Tract.

This is compared to the average of about .65 acre foot, Lester McGregor, a director, said a 45-year average for the company is .85-.86 acre foot of water per share, so "this was a pretty good year waterwise."

Still Salmon Tract farmers need more water. One-way the canal company is attempting to get more water to the farmers is a project in which the first few miles of the main canal is lined with concrete, thus increasing the delivery efficiency by about eight per cent.

It has been estimated that as much as 4,000 acre feet of water is lost in these first few miles of the main canal. The company hopes to remedy any farmer wishing cost-sharing on conservation practices to be performed this spring must make application at the county ASCS office within these dates. This sign-up period does not apply to requests for cost sharing on noxious weed control practices, which will be held at a later date, the chairman pointed out.

This sign-up period is for spring work only. Another sign-up period will be held for fall conservation work which will be announced in July.

Practices eligible for cost-sharing include: seeding of vegetative cover, brush control, fencing, irrigation pipelines and structures, concrete ditch lining and others. Cost-sharing will be at the rate of approximately 40 per cent of the cost and limited to $500.00 per person, said Mr. Boyd. Because available funds are limited, applications will be considered for approval on the basis of consideration need and past participation in the program.

Chairman Boyd said that anyone who wishes additional information on the Conservation Program and the assistance available to farmers for Conservation work, should contact the Twin Falls ASCS Office at 582 Blue Lakes Blvd. in Twin Falls, before the end of the sign-up period.

Signup Dates Listed For ACP Funds

Signup dates for receiving requests for Federal cost-sharing under the 1970 Agriculture Conservation Program will be from Monday through Jan. 30, 1970, according to Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls ASCS County Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Trill and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Probst attended the Owyhee Beet Growers association dinner meeting at the North Elementary school building in Mountain Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Draper and son have moved from the Ray Mitchell ranch south of King Hill to the Wes Leo Hoalst Ranch at Hammett, which they will farm the coming year.

Leo Trill and William Pruett moved 60 head of heifers from the Reservoir Ranch to the home ranch at King Hill.

David Chatfield and Frank Cliff, Richfield, started feeding range cattle for Bob Dunlap this week after Dunlap entered a hospital for medical treatment. The men, who work for C. F. Chatfield, will look after Dunlap's 100 head of stock as well as Chatfield's range and hillside herds.

Seventy replacement heifers were moved from the Pitchfork Knox Ranch to the River Ranch near King Hill in preparation for calving. Alvin Irving, Gale Miller, Tommy and Dennis Donahue were the crew.

Verlin Moore, Boise, has been hauling wood shavings to Richfield dairy farmers since Dec. 31. He uses three trucks and trailers for each trip. Many dairy farmers are users of the wood shavings for the past two years and prefer it to straw because of the cleanliness factor and less work. Straw is scarce and much more work to use in feeding sheds. Use of a cultivator in wood shavings keeps the feeding sheds much drier, soos farmers say, and without daily work.

Several farmers at Tuttle have turned their milk cows out in fields to get them out of the wet footing in corrals. The winter wheat fields are showing green at Tuttle.

CLIVE STRONG and WALTER (ROCKY) TRAIL have been named winners of $400 scholarships from the Standard Oil Company of California for their outstanding academic and 4-H work.

Two Area 4-H Members Win Standard Oil Scholarships

Two Magic Valley high school students and 4-H members have been named winners of $400 scholarships, sponsored by the Standard Oil Company of California.

William Shane, assistant state 4-H club leader, said in Boise recently that these two high school students, Clive Strong, Wendell, and Walter (Rocky) Trail, King Hill, have superior academic standing in school, are active in school and community and do outstanding work in their 4-H projects.

The Standard Oil scholarships were increased from $300 to $400 this year, Mr. Shane said.

Young Mr. Strong, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Strong, Wendell, plans to use his scholarship at the University of Idaho, where he intends to study forestry.

His interest in forestry developed through his 4-H project. He is now working with 1 1/2 acres of trees. He says, "By my work, I hope to raise the yield and gross return." The trees belong to Vernon Ravenscroft, who has directed Clive's forestry projects for eight years.

At Wendell High School, Clive is president of the honor society and belongs to the foreign language, science and lettermen's clubs.

Young Mr. Trail, known as Rocky to his friends and relatives, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Trill, King Hill. He has been in 4-H eight years and has carried on projects in beef, swine, grain and sugar beets.

"He has done an excellent job in all his projects," Herb Edwards, Elmore County agent, reports.

Rocky has been an officer and junior leader in his 4-H club. At school, Rocky is a member of the honor society and has been on football, basketball, track and wrestling teams. Academically, he's second in his class.

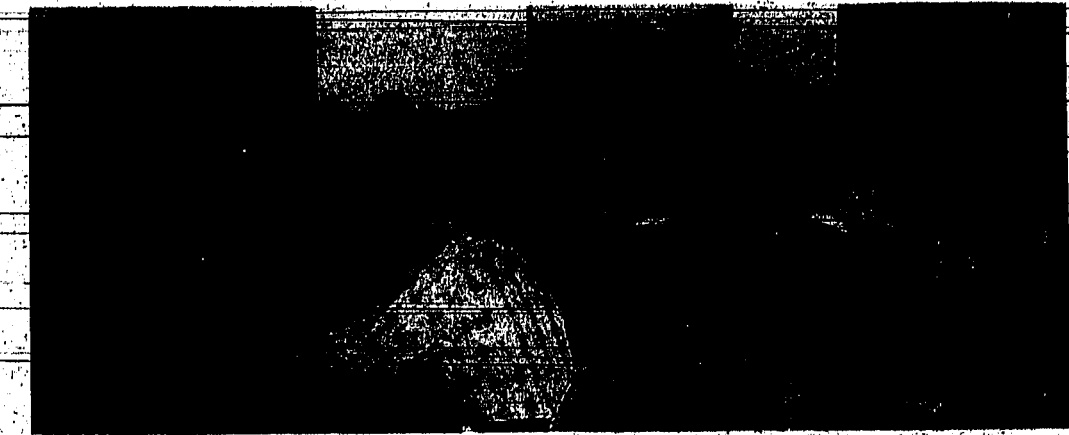

After high school graduation, Rocky plans to attend the University of Idaho and enroll in the College of Agriculture.

Idaho's other two scholarship winners were Jon Allen Grano and Kathleen-Moynire, Kamiah.

SHOSHONE — The advisory board of the Bureau of Land Management grazing district number five, will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the American Legion hall here.

Purpose of the meeting, reports Edward D. Savaria, acting district manager, William T. Mabbutt, is to hear protests against injurious recommendations, consider Star Lake Unit, late grazing applications and other matters to properly come before the board at this time.

Reports, Awards, Election Top Beet Growers Meeting

BURLEY — The Cassia County Beet Growers Association held its annual meeting at Dworthak School with 90 sugar beet growers, processor representatives and guests attending. Awards were given to FFA and 4-H winners and two directors were re-elected to three year terms.

Reports were given from district managers of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. and the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co.; growers' representatives in the sugar factories, and a seed specialist.

Ray Freymiller, president of Cassia County Beet Growers Association, introduced a cash speaker and conducted the business meeting.

Bill Beck, Beetville area, and John Adams, Oakley, were both unanimously re-elected to three-year terms on the eight-man board of directors. Holdover directors include Freymiller, Max Burton, Melvin Garrard, Grant Wyatt, Olen Lewis and Melvin Parr.

Receiving awards in a joint effort by the Beet Growers Association and the Amalgamated Sugar Co. were Mike Meade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mead, Declo, first place and $50, FFA project; Don Burton, 828 Burley, second place and $20, FFA project; and Dennis Barrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barrow, Vale, third place and $20, FFA project. O. L. Grant, of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Beck, Burley, $30, as second place 4-H project, and Terry Jarolmiek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarolmiek, Burley, $20 as third place in 4-H project.

A special award of $10 for the best job of record keeping was presented to Wayne Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turner, Declo.

E. R. Blauer, district manager of Amalgamated Sugar Co., presented the special award. Mr. Blauer reported that due to the poor spring weather in 1969, "we lost 4,800 acres of beets, one of the greatest losses we've had and even with the loss, the crop was pretty good."

Early crusting, quackgrass, wild oats and alkali compacting were cited by Blauer as possible reasons for problems for growers in the district this past year. Weed in the fields this fall were just tremendous with most of the weeds coming after the beet thinning, Blauer noted. A lot of tonnage was lost due to the large number of weeds in the fields, reported Blauer.

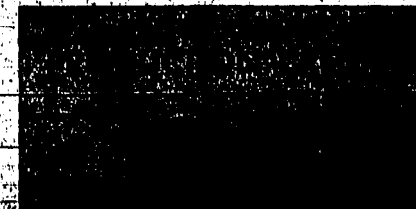

The sugarbeet harvest in this area began Oct. 8 and ended Dec. 3, stated Blauer. "Sugars for 1969 as of Jan. 8 were 15.80 for Mini-Cassia and 15.12 for Twin Falls; tare was 5.8, and this compared to 1968 of 16.70 for Mini-Cassia and 16.39 for Twin Falls with 6.9 tare, Blauer reported.

Mr. Blauer urged consideration of a central tare job due mostly to an increasing labor problem. He cited the use of electronically-recorded weights, in an end to variations between tare houses, better training of personnel and easier to recruit workers for the positions as reasons for his recommendation.

The Paul sugar factory of Amalgamated is processing an average of 8,700 tons of beets during a 24-hour period. Recently, however, the plant has processed as high as 7,000 tons in a 24-hour period.

Dossett Home Is Site Of Grange Meet

Members of the Knoll Grange met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dossett because of furnace problems in the Grange hall.

Bob Rowe, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 62, told of the troop-sponsored Red Cross first aid course, a weekend outing. Grange dues also were discussed. Members voted to raise the dues to $5 per year for the members. Mrs. Vonnie Krauss reported on new upcoming contests.

A letter from National Grange on Boy Scout Troops was read by Elmer Dossett and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sharp reported on the State Grange meeting held last month in Twin Falls.

Glen Dossett read three poems, two of them composed by Elmer Annis on his 54th wedding anniversary.

Although the ominous clouds of federal government intervention hang over the labor camps, Blauer said the company would again recruit labor for the growers.

He said the company would provide quantity but the quality, "as growers will have to decide." The sugar industry is working with Congressmen in efforts to find a way to get the necessary labor here, Blauer reported. State officials have okayed the housing situation in our area, Blauer added.

Don Seelye, manager of the Idaho Falls district of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co., told the group that they need to consider using more mechanical equipment in face of the growing labor shortage. He also warned growers not to become complacent about Caesar Chavez and his efforts to organize farm workers.

Sherman Saylor, growers' representative at the Mini-Cassia and Twin Falls factories, and John Miller, tare house inspector for the growers in Cassia County, each presented their annual reports.

Here, Paul Wood, Burley, right, area superintendent for Del Monte, presents the film, which shows farm equipment being moved safely from farm to farm, to W. L. (Bill) Robinson, Idaho commissioner of labor. The film was presented to Mr. Robinson during the recent safety clinic held in Twin Falls.

Cassia County 4-H Council Elects; Camp Reports Given

BURLEY — New officers were elected for the Cassia County 4-H Council during a recent meeting. Elected and installed were Lowell Hunt, Burley, president; Mrs. Marilyn Larson, Burley, vice president; and Farnum Warr, Milner, secretary. Mr. Milner was re-elected secretary.

The meeting was conducted by Dee Rex Bingham, retiring president. Wayne Cole, county agent, led a discussion on a radio day to raise funds for the 4-H Camp assessment for Cassia County. Radio station KBAR will assist in the event. The 4-H Camp schedule was presented. The schedule included a breakdown of facility costs from 1968 through 1970: water system, $2,788.38; wiring, $3,795.83; plumbing system, $5,745.95; kitchen facilities, $2,141.03; restrooms, $11,614.03; kitchen, $3,103.00; tent floors, $500.00; caretaker's quarters, $750.00; four cabins, $2,000.00; toolshed, $2,386.06 and kitchen improvements, $500.00.

This makes $42,024.45 added improvements and a total facility cost of $67,643.51. Last year the fixed operating costs were $2,272.00 which included insurance, power and caretaker.

The proposed schedule for 1970 use of the camp starts June 15 and goes through Aug. 22. It was also announced that the annual meeting of the Board of Directors for Cassia County 4-H Camp will be at 7 p.m. Jan. 20 at Wood's Cafe, Jerome. An increase of 50 cents per person for camp fees was discussed. If this item is approved at the annual meeting in Jerome, detailed information will be mailed to all 4-H leaders in Cassia County.

Carolyn Barnes, home extension agent, gave the 4-H leaders instructions on filling out enrollment forms which are used by the office for permanent record information.

Potato Seed

Foundation potato seed is available for area certified seed growers, according to Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County agent.

Growers interested in obtaining foundation seed should contact Hugh C. McKay, superintendent of the University of Idaho's Teton Branch Experiment Station. Requests also may be made to the Idaho Crop Improvement Association.

Requests must be made before Feb. 9, 1970.

Little Change Seen In Feed Grain Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin announced that the government's 1970 support program for feed grains will be similar to this year's program, but may cost about $110 million less, a 6.6 per cent reduction.

Hardin said price support loan and price support payment rates for crops covered by the program—corn, grain sorghums and barley—will be unchanged in 1970. But payments for idling feed grain acreage will be reduced.

Under the program, growers of the three feed grains can qualify for supports by voluntarily idling 20 per cent of their normal "base acreage" of the grains. In return for this, the growers get both support loans and supplemental direct support payments on grains produced on the land left in production.

BLM Meets

BURLEY — The BLM advisory board for the Burley Grazing District No. 2, will meet at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the district BLM office conference room.

Board members will consider and recommend action upon late grazing applications for the 1970 season and protests of previous board recommendations. District recommendations for this year and planned accomplishments for the 1971 fiscal year also will be discussed.

Swine Event

Judging of live hogs entered in the carcass contest, sponsored by the Southern Idaho Swine Breeders Association, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Independent Meat Co., Twin Falls.

Those interested in this event are urged to attend this live judging and also the carcass evaluation scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday at Independent Meat.

Among the judges Tuesday will be Otto Florenca, Independent Meat, and Wade Wells, Boise, extension livestock specialist.

Idaho Leads In Increased Use Of Primary Fertilizer

BOISE — Idaho farmers led the nation in increased use of primary fertilizer nutrients (nitrogen - N, phosphorus - P2O5, acid, and potash - K2O) for the year ending June 30, 1969, according to the Idaho State Department of Agriculture and the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The combined total of these three ingredients for Idaho was 37 per cent above the previous year. Nitrogen was up sharpest — 39 per cent above the previous year. Phosphate consumption increased 36 per cent and potash which had limited consumption in the State remained near the same level as year earlier.

For the nation, total consumption of the above fertilizer ingredients increased two per cent. At the national level the increase in use of the three primary nutrients was rather uniform. Nitrogen was up one per cent, phosphate three percent and potash two percent.

Tannogawise, there were 178,243 tons of primary nutrients excluding carrier material applied to Idaho crops during the July 1, 1968 - June 30, 1969, period which compares with 130,165 tons for the preceding year. Proportioning this tonnage among the three primary nutrients, 80 per cent was nitrogen, 37 per cent phosphate and three percent potash. At the national level about 45 per cent of the 15,293,739 tons applied was nitrogen, 39 per cent phosphate and 25 per cent potash.

In addition, Idaho farmers applied considerable quantities of secondary and micro-nutrients.

Special Meeting Set At Burley

BURLEY — Cassia County stockholders of the Ida Gem Dairyman, Inc., will hold a special meeting at 12:15 p.m. Jan. 26 at Ponderosa Inn to nominate a director from this district. A director will be nominated for a one-year term to fill the unexpired term of Lloyd Blake.

Only qualified stockholders of the company residing within the boundary of the Cassia County district are eligible to vote in the election, reports J. P. Edwards, president. Other business before the group will also be acted upon during the special meeting.

ALFALFA OUTPUT UP

BOISE — Alfalfa seed production in Idaho during 1969 is estimated at 14,250,000 pounds, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This compares to 12,090,000 pounds in 1968.

ONIONS TOTALLED
BOISE — Production of late summer onions in Idaho totaled 1,584,000 hundredweight, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Pole Plans Journey To Test Theory

WARSAW (UPI) — Boleslaw Kowalski, a 41-year-old Pole, hopes to set sail next year to prove a theory that ancient peoples of Africa and Europe could have migrated to South America 4,000 years ago.

The ship that is to carry him and his crew of 20 is to be a primitive vessel of the type built by the ancient people, about 60 feet long, without decking and with one simple shelter that could look like an Egyptian or a Phoenician galley," Kowalski explained.

"It will have one sail and some oars. We are not making a copy of any special but it should be a boat of the type we know the ancient people could have built.

"It would have to be made entirely of wood, without even using nails. The only sealing material could be simple pitch.

"If we can build the vessel, we can discuss the crossing," Kowalski, who sails for hobby and works for a Polish company providing crop-spraying services in Africa and the Middle East.

He returned in 1966 from a geographical expedition which took him across the Atlantic and around South America in 15 months aboard a yacht.

Kowalski has been sailing since 1949 and he obtained his master's ticket for deep sea sailing from the Polish Yachting Association in 1956.

"Nothing has been definitely decided about the new trip," he said. "At the moment it is at the stage of a discussion between friends. We will have further discussions soon and we will decide whether the voyage will be made.

"The biggest problem is, of course, finance. We hope to have support from the Polish Academy of Science," Kowalski said.

Payroll Plea Stirs Scorn Of Official

BOISE (UPI) — Bureau of Public Accounts Director Jack Holley Wednesday labeled as "petty politics" a request for an exemption of the Idaho State Prison payroll by the office of State Auditor Joe Williams.

Holley questioned the intent of a letter sent by Chester Graham, chief auditor in Williams' office, asking for investigation of a duplicate payment made to the Idaho Public Employees Retirement System on the prison payroll.

"It appears this is an attempt to present a half-truth to the public and to drag this office down into your political squabbles," Holley said.

Holley also said Williams' office must have been aware the duplicate payment was duly credited by the retirement system.

Handling of state payrolls has been the main bone of contention in a lawsuit involving the State Board of Examiners and the auditor's office.

Practice Planned

SIOSHONE — Youth of the Assembly of God Church will practice their Bible quiz this week, using chapters 10 and 11 in First Corinthians.

This is a project that has been carried out over the past year or two with the youth to acquaint them with the scriptures and contests are held with other youth groups in the community.

Living Costs Rise Despite All Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living rose at its most dizzying pace in almost two decades, during President Nixon's first year in office despite his administration's efforts to put on the brakes.

Nixon adopted just about every major recommendation of his economic strategists for curbing inflation but prices rose steadily through it all.

Economists both in and out of government say there will be some relief from inflation in 1970 although probably at the cost of higher unemployment. A few analysts even predict a recession.

Last year was time to pay the piper for almost a decade of unprecedented economic advancement. The cost of living index rose by almost 8 percent — the most since 1951 — but the actual output of goods and services registered a sluggish advance of about 3 percent.

In short, there wasn't much more to buy in 1969 but the cost far more.

Nixon's anti-inflation program was rooted in economic orthodoxy. It called for a balanced budget and tight money. This combination had always been considered the sure cure for inflation in the past.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy commented at about mid-year that if the program did not work "we will have to rewrite all the economics textbooks."

The federal budget was $25 billion in the red during the 1968 fiscal year that ended June 30, 1969. It was about $1 billion in the black in the 1969 fiscal year which included the last six months of the Johnson administration and the first six months of the Nixon administration.

The Budget Bureau has predicted a $5 billion surplus for the current fiscal year that runs through June 30. But few administration officials are now so optimistic to believe the target can be hit. The budget probably will stay in the black, however, maybe just barely.

The other side of federal economic policy has been even more austere. The Federal Reserve Board has stepped almost all growth in the money supply with increased interest rates and a shortage of credit.

When Nixon took office, the economists assured him that inflation would buckle under fiscal and monetary pressure. The only question asked at that time was whether the administration would have the will to stick to its anti-inflation policy when the crunch began.

There are some signs that the overall economy has begun to cool. Industrial production has declined in recent months, retail sales have shown a little increase; the stock market dipped sharply.

But unless the cooling begins to show up soon at the supermarket checkout counter, the Republicans could be in political trouble. The voters do not usually ask if economic policy is orthodox or if the economists think it will work. They generally demand results and hold the party in power responsible if the results are not what is expected. What happens between now and the elections could be critical to GOP hopes.

Cut Your Own Taxes, Chap. 11 Legitimate Charitable Gifts Are Often Overlooked

Most allowable charitable contributions on your income tax return are the obvious ones. They include payments to your church (including building fund payments and any special assessments) and cash contributions to a United Appeal, health fund or a nonprofit hospital or educational institution.

But many people have legitimate charitable contributions they frequently overlook.

If you are a duly elected delegate to a church convention and you have out-of-pocket expenses in connection with attendance at such convention sessions, your expenses are deductible as a contribution.

This could include transportation expenses and a reasonable allowance for meals and lodging. Use of your own car for such purposes entitles you to a deduction of five cents a mile.

Similarly, if you are a choir member attending weekly choir practice or if you are a church fund worker on a building fund program and use your car to contact church members for pledges, a five-cents-a-mile car deduction can be claimed.

Hospital volunteer workers, such as Gray Ladies, and Civil Defense workers who are required to wear distinctive uniforms may deduct the cost of purchasing and laundering the uniforms. Out-of-pocket gasoline expense for attendance at meetings may also be charged, or the five-cents-a-mile rate may be used.

Purchase of raffle tickets for a church activity or scholarship or building fund program are never deductible. Any prizes won in such a raffle or drawing are taxable. At this time the cost of the raffle tickets may be subtracted from the winnings.

Attendance at benefit performances entitles the ticket purchaser to a deduction of the excess over the customary charge for attendance at the event.

EXPERT MAKES HIS OWN LUCK

Cover up the East-West hands and put yourself in the South. George Reith playing in the final round of the 1926 Eastern contract pairs. You are the man who organized this tournament and then forgot to get a partner until the last moment, with the result that you are playing with a youngster named Oswald Jacoby, who has never played in any sort of tournament before this. Nevertheless, you stand near the top and are having a good session. In that early day honors counted in duplicate so that if you make five diamonds you will beat any declarer who played the hand in no-trump.

Now go on, make your contract and win the event just as George did.

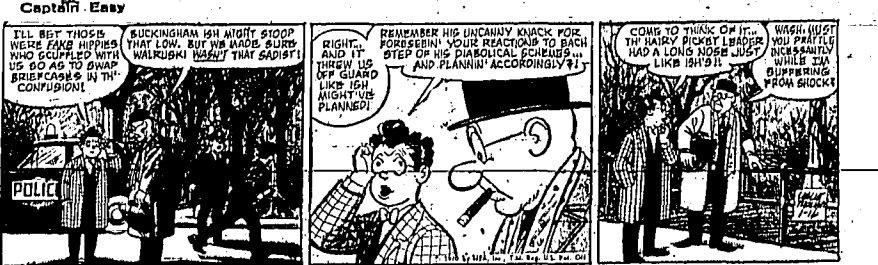

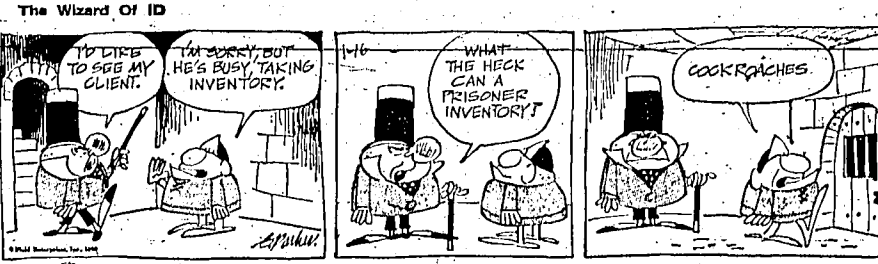

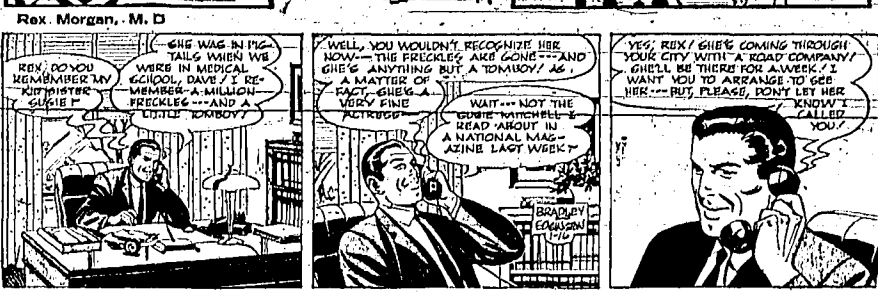

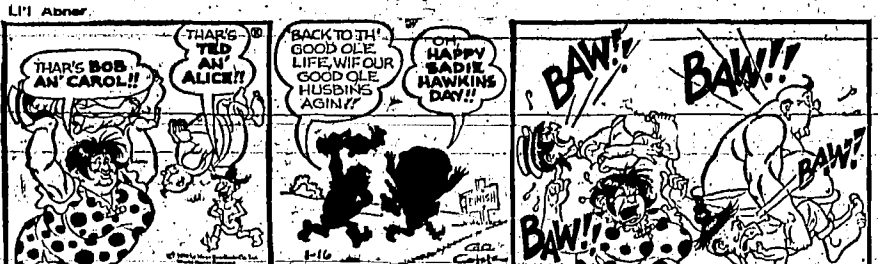

It was a prudent man and said that he could not afford the luxury of even one immediate trump lead. Instead he took his ace of spades, ruffed a spade at trick two, came back to his hand with a trump, ruffed his last spade, back to his hand with a trump, and called for the 10 from dummy.

Then George sat back and let East fuff. East couldn't afford another spade lead. That would allow George to discard his last diamond and run in dummy. A diamond lead would set up dummy's king for a heart discard, and a heart lead would be plain suicide.

If you tried the simple play of leading to both the king of hearts and then to the ace of hearts, your would have explained that luck was against you. If you followed George's play you would have made your own good luck and been sure of success against any diamond and heart distribution.

POSTMASTERS FROM THROUGHOUT Idaho gathered at the Holiday Inn Thursday for an annual mid-winter conference. In addition to shop talk, there was entertainment and a banquet. The president of the Idaho National Association of Postmasters of the United States is Mrs. Marlin Gillette, Kimberly. Seated next to her is Jack Trimming, postmaster at Pocatello. Standing and speaking to the gathering is Tom Allen, representing the regional director of Seattle.

Gem State Postmasters And Wives Meet In Twin Falls

In all it was a day of hard work rewarded by good entertainment and high caloric food when Idaho postmasters and their wives, or husbands, gathered at the Holiday Inn.

Thursday's conference was the first of two days of meetings for Gem State postmasters. It is the Idaho mid-winter conference of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States.

More than 120 people attended. Most of the day was devoted to business meetings, with talks on labor management, public relations, inspections, retirement, time keeping and indelible ink and cash book trust funds. Following registration in the morning, Frank Feldtman, Twin Falls' mayor welcomed the group and Fred Sanger, postmaster in Twin Falls, joined Mayor Feldtman.

Featured speaker at the Thursday evening banquet was Tom Allen, representing the Seattle region manager, F. H. Hullen.

Mr. Allen's talk followed entertainment by Mrs. Lloyd Walker, singing several popular songs, many of them Broadway hits which she once performed, and Mrs. Don Youtz on the piano.

"That's a tough act to follow," Mr. Allen said.

Just before Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Youtz got up, Mr. Sanger held out his arms and said, "Don't anybody leave the room. The piano's missing."

"No, it's not," someone said. "It's back here."

There was laughter, then the entertainment.

Mr. Allen talked shortly on how to make a speech, saying "A book says you are to say you're happy to be here. I'm not. I would rather be out there with you people. Then I'm to tell a joke, but I don't know any. Then I'm to say the Postmaster General sends his greetings, but he's dead, so I'm stuck."

He then turned on a television set and a recorded video-tape message from Mr. Hullen was presented. He urged those attending to work for more effective management in their region and set goals. "Idaho is a significant part of the region."

He said, "The time is coming when our rules will be only guidelines and we will have to use imagination in our work. We will have to use more judgment and this will make our work more meaningful." He ended by saying, "The time has come when authority is moving from the central offices to the regions and to the postmasters. This gets the decision makers closer to the people."

After his television talk, Mr. Allen ended the banquet by saying the Post Office Department plans to offer college courses to postal employees, "and the department will pick up the tab." He added, "The courses will have to be related in some way to postal work."

He also said postal reform is coming in the near future.

Today's session at the Holiday Inn included talks on retirement, uses of the postal manual, rates and classification and work shops.

Other entertainment for the evening included the Junior Sextette from the Cascade High School music department. They sang "I Beloved." They were Nancy Wiesele, Carolyn Barron, Karen Greybeal, Kelly Watson, Peggy Loft and Renee LaGrone. Vickie Inchausti accompanied the group on the piano.

Other musical numbers were presented by Lisa Kinyoh and Susan Conner. They sang "Leavin' on a Jet Plane" and "Sound of Silence" and accompanied themselves on their guitars.

Special guests introduced by Mr. LaGrone were Anna Holms-Insky, Melinda Hesselholt, Ona Sample, Ella Kudlac, Hazel Brabb and Vera Easterday.

The ladies of the Baptist Church prepared the meal and the girls from the freshman and sophomore home economic classes assisted with serving the banquet.

The next meeting of the Men's Club will be on Wednesday and will be a noon luncheon meeting at the Castleford Red Barrel.

Castleford Men's Club Has Banquet

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford Men's Club held its annual banquet to honor wives and postal officers for the new year at the United Methodist Church in Castleford.

James LaGrone was master of ceremonies. Rev. Glen Waltman, pastor of the Buhi and Castleford United Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

The officers who took office were Elwood Wing, president; Jennings Pierce, vice president; Alan Pierce, secretary-treasurer; and John Moyer, custodian.

Mr. LaGrone introduced Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hudson, the guest speakers for the evening. They had toured Europe last summer and showed slides and told of their trip.

Other entertainment for the evening included the Junior Sextette from the Cascade High School music department. They sang "I Beloved." They were Nancy Wiesele, Carolyn Barron, Karen Greybeal, Kelly Watson, Peggy Loft and Renee LaGrone. Vickie Inchausti accompanied the group on the piano.

Classes Offered In Business At College Here

A night class in accounting, business administration 91, intermediate accounting, will be offered by the College of Southern Idaho this semester.

Jerry Meyerhoeffer, director of admissions and records, said this will be the first time the class has been offered at night and interest has been so high that special arrangements are being made for the class.

He said the course should start in about two weeks and that it probably will be offered two nights a week at two hours each session. Specific times and days will be announced later and will be set to the convenience of the majority of those enrolling.

Anyone interested in taking the course should contact Mr. Meyerhoeffer at 733-9554.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

GREENVILLE, S.C. — Bob Jones University here recently applied to the South Carolina state government for permission to equip its campus guns with submachine guns. Take that with BJU's claim of having "an intensely Christian atmosphere" and suddenly the message on the university's letterhead becomes credible. It reads: "The World's Most Unusual University."

This writer had special cause to be grateful to South Carolina for refusing BJU's request for guns. A bare two hours after my arrival on this splendid $30 million campus, I found myself suddenly confronted by the campus police, who had arrived in two squad cars. (And history abounds with accounts of what certain "non-sensationalists" have done to the opposition by way of fire and sword, and gun.)

I was immediately placed in one of the squad cars, driven to the front guard gate and told to be gone.

My offense, I was told, was attempting to interview students (3,000 college, 400 high school). My "interviewing" consisted of: (1) Asking directions to the administration building — and why the students were playing soccer instead of football, in what was obviously a football stadium. ("Years ago," explained the student, "a visiting football team left beer cans in the dressing room so now we play among ourselves—extramural club terms.")

(2) Asking if I might look at the students' handbook to see the campus rules. "Certainly," replied another of the invariably smiling, polite and well-dressed students. "I'll arrange it immediately. Won't you have a seat?" Three minutes later the two squad cars arrived.

Earlier that day I had tele-

Phoenix Team To Discuss Drugs In Area

They will be appearing Monday, Tuesday, Thursday at Bulb, Wednesday at Burley, Thursday at Shoshone and Friday and Sunday in the Twin Falls First Assembly of God Church. All services will begin at 7 p.m.

Films, testimonials and general information will be featured at these meetings. The public is invited to all meetings.

The team also will be appearing at a number of schools in the valley.

Episcopal Church Sets Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Twin Falls Episcopal Church of the Ascension will be held immediately following the 10 a.m. Eucharist on Jan. 25.

Nominated for membership on the Parish Vestry are Dr. Charles Donnelly, Lynn A. Nelson, James Smith and Robert Stradley. Delegates to the convention and to the Magic Valley Council of Churches also will be named.

placed the University's public relations director Robert Harrier. Neither the "nor anyone else—the campus"—answer any questions "because both Dr. Jones are out of town." (The founder of Bob Jones University "BJU" was fundamentalist protestor Bob Jones. Current president is Bob Jones, Jr. and vice president is Bob Jones, III)

Yet a visit to the administration building and an interview with Dr. Squires, Assistant to Dean of Men William Liverman evoked at least one comment: A Harper's Magazine article about BJU ("Huckle On 'Tho Bible Belt" was "distorted."

Novelist Larry King had written that BJU forbids all of its students to see any Hollywood movies, smoke, drink, dance, wear any "immodest dress, such as tight pants," attend Billy Graham rallies (even though Billy is an alumnus who accepted a doctorate from BJU) talk to any strangers — especially newsmen, make any use of Jazz (whether singing or listening) or play cards or leave the campus after 10:30 p.m.

He also reported that students are forbidden to use the gym, tennis, or swimming pool in sexually mixed groups, date off campus without special permission and chaperones, date on campus for more than two hours, and whether sitting or standing, keep a seat always less than six-inch space between their bodies.

When asked just which of these reported commandments was a distortion, the BJU assistant to dean of men Bill replied that he was unable to comment further — other than to advise me that any interviewing of students would result in my being taken off the campus by the police.

Having tried in vain to obtain some information from a BJU administration which repeatedly charges that it is treated unfairly by "the liberal press," I wandered about the campus, noting among hundreds of students a total absence of hand holding (or anything more intimate), cosmetics, jazz singing, marijuana, playing, tight pants or tobacco.

Squires did verify the fact that Vice President Bob Jones, III managed to earn his doctorate from the University. His father, President Bob Jones, Jr. obtained his doctorate from something called Northwestern School in Minneapolis.

The university catalogue reveals that by 1958, 28 of the faculty members were educated at BJU. And even with this pedagogical incest, all faculty members are required by the Joneses in an annual doctrinal loyalty oath called "Our Orthodox Creed." (Any faculty member can be fired with ten days' notice.)

This message also explains why BJU is not accepted. While it "could make necessary adjustments to qualify for membership in any educational association," BJU "can accomplish this for the Lord Jesus Christ by not holding organic membership in any educational association."

This no doubt satisfies that segment of the populace who look with suspicion upon "athletic professors loose on campuses" and who join BJU in regarding Billy Graham as a plink heretic. And a few educational associations are interested in recruiting pseudo-educational factories, whose registration of students makes West Point look like a convention of anarchists.

Adventist Church Elects New Officers

New Officers have been elected by the Twin Falls Adventist Church.

Mrs. Virginia Shemker has been elected to serve as director of the church Bible classes which include four children's divisions, the youth and the adult divisions.

The Adventist Churches of North America sponsors a world-wide mission and medical program through its Bible schools. Presently they are sponsoring an addition to the Empress Zander Memorial Hospital in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; a mission station to be built in the land of Upper Volta; in West Africa. This project will be completed at the end of the first quarter of this year.

Three honorary church elders were elected to serve. They are Pastor B. C. Clark, longtime missionary and educator in China and India; and two teachers in Adventist churches and schools in California; Dr. R. A. Drake, local Twin Falls physician, and H. R. (Hap) Hughes, rancher and cattle buyer in the area.

Harold Drake was elected to serve a first-order of seven local elders who will give leadership to the different activities the church will sponsor. The remaining six elders are Fred Cook, Dr. Willard Clark, Clyde Hughes, Jack Thietlen, Bill Vietz and Dr. George Wonenberg, DDS.

Selected to serve as welfare director was Mrs. Ester O'Dell with Mrs. Ethel Hughes as her assistant. The Adventist welfare services have worked hand in hand with other charities in the community in raising over $17,000 in cash and labor for the needy in the basin. All of this work is done by donated labor with not one dollar going for labor expense.

Mrs. O'Dell has served in this capacity for nine years with her assistant, Mrs. Hughes. They are now beginning their 10th year of service.

The church elected Loma Sperle to serve as its clerk. Mrs. Dava Wonenberg is head deaconess, Mina Cook as treasurer and Wilson Abbott as head deacon.

Thousands Attend Pope's Weekly General Audiences

By BARRY JAMES

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI is "at home" on Wednesday mornings at 11 o'clock.

And every week thousands come out of faith or curiosity to see him.

The occasion is his weekly general audience in St. Peter's basilica.

Harder to get into, but more intimate are the semi-private bacciamano—literally, kiss the hand—audiences which the Pope holds in his palace after the general audience.

Pope Pius XII used to gather several hundred persons in the various audience rooms of the palace and move from room to room, meeting everyone very briefly.

Pope Paul has continued this trend. Usually, not more than 100 or so persons attend his semi-private audiences. He moves among them, speaking at length to as many as possible, frequently asking them about their problems and handing out medals or rosaries as mementos of the visit.

Beyond this are the private audiences usually reserved for national and international personalities, diplomatic representatives and church leaders.

The private audiences usually are arranged by the embassies, governments or church hierarchies of the person concerned, or through direct influence with someone of importance in the Vatican.

There are several ways of gaining entrance to general or bacciamano audiences.

Many countries have embassies to the Vatican, some of which do little else but arrange audiences.

The United States, however, maintains no diplomatic relations with the pope. Instead, the North American College—whose main task is training priests—has a special audience office in the center of Rome.

The head of the office, the Rev. Richard J. Mahowald of Sioux Falls, S.D., says it is advisable to apply for audience tickets as far in advance as possible.

"We are not given a specific number of tickets to dispose of," he said. "Therefore we have to make a separate application for everyone who wants to attend an audience. And the seats are often difficult to come by, especially so at Christmas and Easter."

The most important thing for us is to have a letter of recommendation." Mahowald added. "One from a parish priest is usually enough. And of course, we also try to obtain tickets on ecumenical grounds for persons who are not Roman Catholics.

"What we want are a few details about the persons seeking audiences...the more details the better, since it helps us to formulate our requests for tickets.

"For the bacciamano audiences, we need very extensive details. Tickets for these are always hard to come by."

The North American College audience office sends applications to the office of Bishop Jacques Martin, prefect of the apostolic palace.

Mahowald said his office replies to everyone seeking audience tickets and even delivers the tickets to major hotels in Rome.

It often is possible to gain admittance to general audiences without a ticket by going to the Basilica and taking unfilled seats if there are any.

Audience visitors are ushered to their places by attendants wearing red silk costumes. The colorfully clad Swiss Guard stand with their halberds around the papal altar, underneath the dome of the basilica.

The Pope comes down from his quarters by elevator and walks through the Renaissance halls of the apostolic palace to a side entrance of the basilica. He is borne into the church on his gestatorial chair, so the crowds can see him better.

His entrance is greeted by applause and sometimes shouts of "long live the Pope."

Smiling and waving, the pontiff appears to appreciate the accolades. Vatican sources said the pope, who often attacks dissension in the church in his audience speeches, enjoys the general audiences as a chance to keep in touch with ordinary and enthusiastic Catholics.

In turn, visitors get to see the Pope in a more human and relaxed vein away from the stiff pomp of high church ceremonies. He walks around the raised altar platform so that everyone can see him. An aide reads a list of special groups of pilgrims. The Pope acknowledges their cheers then doffing his red cloak, he goes to his chair to read a speech which usually deals with matters of faith, morals or discipline.

After reading the speech in Italian, he often repeats part of it in French, Spanish, or halting English or German.

Then he gives his blessing to all present, which also is extended to objects of devotion such as rosaries, crucifixes and medals which Catholics take with them.

At the end of the audience, the Pope steps down for a bacciamano—meeting—with people given a place of honor right in front of the altar.

These include heads of groups at the audience and persons considered "deserving" by the Vatican—for example, those who perform outstanding religious or social works or those who are seriously ill.

The entire general audience usually lasts less than one hour.

Next year, the audiences will be moved to a special hall now being built in the Vatican to a modernistic design by Italian architect Pier Luigi Nervi. The hall will be able to hold a maximum of 14,000 persons. As many as 75,000 persons can cram into St. Peter's Basilica.

Special Social Evening Set By Shoshone Church

SHOSHONE — A special social evening will be held at the LDS Church on Thursday with an open house entitled "Meet the Mormons".

The event, sponsored jointly by the Shoshone and Dietrich LDS Churches, will be from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Shoshone Church.

A film and translights presented at the New York Worlds' Fair will be shown to groups in attendance at the open house. Missionaries of the church will be in charge of that part of the presentation. The public is invited.

Man's Greatest Need Is Outlined By T.F. Minister

By REV. MILAN RUBLE
Pastor, Alpari Road
Freewill Baptist Church

In the Bible, God's message to mankind for all ages, we see the Genesis of man. God said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." (Gen. 1:26-27).

God created man consisting of a material body and a thinking, rational soul. He was made in the image of God to glorify his maker.

Our first parents, in their original state, were upright. They naturally preferred and desired to obey their creator, and had no desire to transgress until they were influenced by the tempter to disobey God's commands. (Gen. 3:1-6) Previous to this, the only tendency of their nature was to do righteousness.

The state under which the descendants of Adam came into the world is so different from that of Adam in that they have not that righteousness and purity which Adam had before the fall. They are not willing to obey God, but are inclined to evil. Hence none by virtue of any natural goodness and mere work of their own, can become the children of God, but they are dependent for salvation upon redemption effected through the blood of Christ, and upon being created anew unto obedience through the operation of the spirit; both of which are freely provided for every descendant of Adam's.

As sin cannot be pardoned without a sacrifice and the blood of beast could never wash away sin, Christ gave himself a sacrifice for the sins of the world and thus made salvation possible for all men. He died for us suffering in our stead, to make known the righteousness of God that he might be just in justifying sinners who believed in his son. (Isaiah 53:5-6)

Man can be justified before God, but only through the work that God has done. Personal justification implies that the person justified has been guilty before God. In consideration of the atonement of Christ accepted by faith, the sinner is pardoned and absolved from the guilt of sin and restored to the divine favor.

To Acts 16:30 the question is asked, "What must I do to be saved?" Man needs to see himself as God sees him and when he does he will immediately ask himself this same question.

Man is alienated from God and must come back in right standing — or he eternally lost and spend a never ending eternity being punished for neglecting Jesus.

Man must repent and turn back to God or perish. (Luke 13:3) In answer to the question asked in Acts 16:30, let us look at the next verse, "And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." This verse has a greater and deeper meaning than just to believe there is a God. The devil believes there is a God (James 2:19), but we know that he and he isn't saved.

To believe means to put our complete trust in Jesus Christ as our Saviour and Lord. "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and lean not unto thine own understanding." (Proverbs 3:5)

In the book of Ecclesiastes the writer tells how he had tried all the worldly solutions and in the last of the book he tells that only God has the answer to "Man's Greatest Need".

God in his word tells us how he created man, how man was disobedient to his creator and became lost, and separated from God. It also tells how God loved man and made it possible that man can come back in right standing with his creator. "Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12)

So we conclude that "Man's Greatest Need" is God. Jesus' death at Calvary's Cross makes it possible for man to come back in right standing with God, and to be saved. Salvation is a free gift—will you accept this important gift? (John 3:16, Eph. 2:8, 9)

Who can't things be the way they used to be?

Culver Pictures, Inc.

You know. When the Negro "knew his place."
When students stayed in the classroom.

When poverty was kept off page one.

Ah, the good old days.

But who's fooling whom? Was it really a better world? Or just a quieter one? A few years ago it was easy to hide from the evils around us.

To turn our backs and pretend it really wasn't so.

But God knows, it was. All that our modern communication system has done is bring it all out into the open. And about time.

The fact is, God has probably been much too patient with our world. "Love your neighbor." He told us long ago. Not enough of us were listening and that's what today's turmoil is all about.

And think about this: maybe—just maybe—
God put us here right now because we're the ones who can start setting things straight.
