Annexation Plans For Disputed Area Dropped By City

The city plans to drop its annexation of the Sierra Life Insurance Co. property in the Northeast Heights Subdivision. The area is 3.2 acres in size and at the present time is primarily agricultural in nature. The City Council voted 5-1 to drop the annexation of this property at its regular meeting Monday night at City Hall. City Councilman Eugene Stacey voted "no" and Councilman Paul Ostyn declined to vote. A trial on this matter is scheduled to be heard in 14th District Court Feb. 2, but the Council indicated the city attorney should draw up an ordinance repealing the annexation of this property prior to Feb. 2. The city faces two other suits on annexation. One involves the Canyon Creek Subdivision, east of the city, and the other involves about 200 property owners in the Northwest edge of the city. These matters will be heard Feb. 2 and 3 respectively.

Headstart Reopened After OK Of Funds

Headstart is an again. Dr. Ernest Rapland, superintendent of School District No. 41, said Monday federal financial support of the Twin Falls Headstart program has been clarified. Doors opened today. Only one day was lost. There were no Headstart classes Monday. It was announced Monday that the Department of Housing, Education and Welfare authorized a $250,177 grant to the South Central Community Action Agency in Twin Falls for Headstart programs in Jerome, Cassia and Twin Falls Counties. At the same time, Dr. Rapland received a letter from Larry Mack, director of the CAA, which assured the school superintendent "any legitimate costs incurred by the Headstart program operated by the school district since Jan. 2 may be paid from Headstart funds presently held by the district from past programs, and that neither you nor the district will be held liable for any such costs." Dr. Rapland said he has been waiting for some kind of official word on financing of the Headstart program. "Now that we have the word, classes can open. We lost only one day and since the classes have been running about six months ahead of other classes in the system no special problems have been created with the one-day closure." Headstart classes serve about 100 students of pre-school age and involve several teachers and teachers' aides.

U.S., Communist Chinese Envoys Make First Contact

WARSAW (UPI)—American and Chinese Communist diplomats resumed official contacts today in the Chinese Embassy here after a two year break. They sat at separate tables below a host of Mao Tse-tung for exactly one hour and the Americans said later the talks were useful. U.S. Ambassador Walter J. Stoessel and Chinese Charge D'Amores Lei Yang and their aides opened the 13th meeting at 1:01 p.m. (8:01 a.m. EST) and ended them an hour later to the minute. They are the only official talks anywhere in the nations between the two nations. In the past the meetings have lasted about two hours, and it was believed today's talks were shorter because they were the first of a strictly new series. As he emerged from the embassy, Stoessel read a short typed statement that said he and Lei talked for an hour "on a number of matters of mutual interest." They set no date for their next meeting but agreed to "be in touch and at an early date to consider that question further." "The meeting was conducted in a businesslike atmosphere," Stoessel said. "We are pleased these talks have been renewed today and I believe today's meeting was useful." Stoessel and three aides sat down to a face to face discussion with the Chinese officials to discover whether Peking wants to continue a dialogue with the United States and why. The American ambassador arrived at the embassy accompanied by Paul H. Kretschberg, state department China expert acting as an adviser; interpreter Donald Anderson, who speaks Chinese fluently, and "Scribe" Thomas W. Simons, an embassy official. "The talks have gone on at irregular intervals since Aug. 1, 1955," Chinese Defense Minister Lin Biao denounced the United States Monday on the eve of the meeting, accusing Washington of intensifying a policy of aggression in Laos.

Any Questions? Nigerians Praised For Relief Work

PETERBOROUGH, England (UPI)—Peter Hides, who is 6-foot 6, is tired of answering stupid questions. So he had a card printed which says: "I am 6-foot 6-inches tall, 252 pounds in weight and the possessor of size 14 shoes. No, I am not cold up here, nor am I the tallest man in the world. Yes, I do give the tailor a headache. No, I do not like low doors, overhanging shop awnings or single beds. "Any further questions will be gladly answered."

Nigerians Praised For Relief Work

LAGOS (UPI)—Bumped for foreign praise for its treatment of Biafra refugees, Nigerians today concentrated their relief efforts on the sick and starving who are too weak to get to aid stations themselves. U.N. Secretary General Thant, after a conference with Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the Nigerian chief of state, told newsmen Monday he was satisfied the situation in the former rebel state was "improving."

Water Continues To Harass Minidoka

RUPERT—Flood waters were continuing to create transportation problems in Minidoka county Tuesday, with all schools in the county closed for the second day. Ruben Kraus, Minidoka county highway supervisor, said all roads west of Meridian road are in good condition, with the exception of 500 West, but east of Meridian road, water is running across the road. The road by the Paul factory of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. was partially flooded today when the bank of a settling lagoon broke early Tuesday morning. The water from the lagoon washed out half of the road, but by 9 a.m. the water had receded somewhat and traffic was being moved through the area. Reports indicated that considerable areas of private land were under water throughout the county. John Thinh, who farms at 700 north and 565 East reported 20 or 30 acres of his land is covered with from six to seven feet of water. While the water and mud are creating headaches and damage for highway departments and farmers, students, out of school, were taking advantage of the situation, and the flooded area around the Rupert Cemetery, which is situated on a hill, was proving a popular site for salting. "So far other schools in the valley have managed to stay open, but road conditions in the Twin Falls area are reported deteriorating. Sup. Camden Meyer, Rupert, said the decision as to whether school will open Wednesday will be made later today.

Burley Eyes Police Chief Applications

BURLEY—Three applications have been received for the position of Burley police chief. Mayor Garis Robertson told city council members Monday night. No decision has yet been made on the hiring of a new chief, but council members voted to raise the salary of Acting Chief Ken Barry to the amount that George Warrell, former police chief, was getting. Marvin McIntosh, city electrician, was not rehired and his employment will be terminated Feb. 1. Applications are being accepted for the position, the mayor said. It was announced that starting Chief Warrell will have a five-week vacation and if his health permits, he will be placed somewhere in the city employment, but will not continue as police chief. Councilmen also: Heard the first reading of a proposed ordinance to raise utility fees. Took under advisement a proposal of Bill Lake, of Boise Cascade Container, that his firm, which is out of the city limit, connect with the city sewage system. Agreed to have drains installed and gravel placed on Stanley and Grand Drive after a delegation, headed by Dr. O. W. Siders, complaining of the condition of the street, which is in North Burley. They asked the council to oil the drive, but no action was taken on this request. Heard of the need for stop signs on Highland Avenue and both speed limits and stop signs on Park Avenue and stop signs in the vicinity of the hospital and swimming pool area. Mayor Robertson instructed councilmen to meet with the department heads over which they are chairman next week preparing the city budget. He said there are $87,000 in unpaid city bills, some of them as much as two years old and this is why the council is considering raising the utility fees to obtain more money for the city's operation.

Burley Eyes Police Chief Applications

There was even fraternizing (by federal troops) in the area of the '60s." Thant said. "There was no hint or even the faintest evidence of any violence or mistreatment of the civilian population." Supporting Thant's views were Lord Hunt, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's representative in Nigeria; and Henrik Beer, secretary general of the League of Red Cross Societies, both of whom returned Sunday from a tour of the former war zone. Maurice Foley, Britain's foreign and commonwealth undersecretary, told a London news conference Monday his Nigerian visit last week had convinced him the need for food and medicine in the country was much less acute than first believed. There was general agreement among Nigerian and international relief officials that all efforts now should be concentrated on problems of transportation and getting relief to the sick and hungry, too weak to seek aid themselves. A team of four doctors and eight nurses headed for Lagos from London Monday night. With them were a five-ton shipment of drugs and a consignment of 100-150 lbs. of medicine by the British government at Nigeria's request.

Bill Would Boost Governor's Salary

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, today introduced an "executive relief bill" to raise the salary of the governor to $42,500 per year from $17,500. Miss McDermott's measure, which also would give dramatic raises to other elected state officials, is designed to attract more qualified persons for the jobs, she said. It would raise the salaries of lieutenant governor to $7,500 from $3,000; attorney general to $10,000 from $12,500 and secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and public instruction superintendent to $25,000 from $12,500. "I feel the officers are worth it," Miss McDermott told reporters, "and my attitude with respect to other elected state officials is irrelevant." "The governor's salary (in her bill) is identical to that paid a U. S. Congressman," she added. "In my judgment, the office of governor of the State of Idaho is as significant as that of a Congressman." "The duties a governor has are certainly more significant than those of a Congressman." Meanwhile, the House Committee on Transportation and Defense beat down an effort to create a new elected state position for a hearing next Monday night on a proposed new driver's licensing act. Also held for further study at Martin's recommendation were bills which would let law officers pull over trucks to check them for overweight or overloaded loads and to require all motorists to stop whenever a pedestrian is in an unmarked crosswalk.

Congress To Cast Votes On HEW Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress, its election year session one day old, called a vote today in a battle with President Nixon that Democrats hoped would be the major public issue for the remainder of the year. With a Senate vote scheduled by 2:30 p.m. EST, leaders of both parties predicted heavy passage for a $10.7 billion education and health appropriations bill. Nixon has promised to veto it as inflationary and wasteful. He wants $1.3 billion less. Democrats in both houses vowed to try to override the veto. But Senate House members predicted the two-thirds vote was not there and Nixon would prevail in his first veto since taking office a year ago today. Senate Republican Leader Hugh D. Scott Jr. of Pennsylvania acknowledged that many Senate Republicans want to support the President but dread being counted against the spending increase he criticized most in a $38 million hike for aid to expand school programs in districts that have many federal employees. Scott said "just short of a dozen" GOP Senators spoke up in a caucus Monday to insist that a respectable portion of the impeded aid increase somehow be provided. Impacted aid benefits about 5,000 school districts with roughly half the nation's public school system.

Both Sides Cite Backing Of Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both liberals and conservatives predicted Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Florida will win Senate confirmation to the Supreme Court with minimum resistance. President Nixon Monday nominated Carswell, 50, to the seat vacated by Abe Fortas in May. That was the same month Carswell was confirmed by the Senate to a seat on the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. He previously sat on the northern Florida federal district bench for 11 years. Carswell was Nixon's second choice for the vacancy. Fourth Circuit Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by the Senate after a 10-week controversy over his off-the-bench financial dealings and his judicial record on civil rights cases. Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the judiciary committee, scheduled hearings on the nomination for Jan. 27. He predicted confirmation with little difficulty. Carswell will bring to the Supreme Court a record of sound thinking about the issues which confront our nation today. It is my desire to see a record of balance restored to the court, and I hope Judge Carswell will contribute meaningfully toward the return of the country to the principles which made America great," Eastland said. The White House described Carswell as "extremely capable" and an "outstanding judicial record and added that it considered him a "strict constructionist" in constitutional law.

Too Many Bad Debts, CSI Outlaws Credit

Credit will not be granted to extension of credit to its students, effective immediately, according to a decision made Monday night by vote of the trustees. The audit, which received final approval Monday night, revealed $3,741.97 has been written off in bad debts owed the college for tuition, fees and books. J. W. VanSlyke, business manager, said this amount represents bad debts accumulated over a period of three years. He said other debts are still outstanding by students, but it is believed all but those which have been written off may be collected. Mr. VanSlyke said CSI "is always been rather liberal in extension of credit to its students," a policy not prevalent among tax supported institutions. "As it stands now," Mr. VanSlyke said, "it is not possible to pay for their tuition, fees and books, they will not be able to go to CSI." The audit, made by J. Robert Tullis, Buhl, was presented at the last board meeting and since then has been studying it. A construction report made to trustees Monday night by Mr. VanSlyke revealed 60 per cent of the time has elapsed on the Henline-Bell building, while 50 per cent of the work has been completed. ## Tribunal Bars Use Of Draft To Punish

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday prohibited Selective Service Boards from punishing war protesters by draft card violators by including up their inductions. The ruling was 6 to 2. Struck down was the practice of local boards of declaring a registrant "delinquent" for his activities and reclassifying him as a subject to immediate call-up. The ruling was a victory for anti-drafters. Gary R. Minner, who had deposited his draft card at the feet of a U.S. marshal during a Minneapolis antiwar demonstration, said the majority opinion by Justice William O. Douglas declared there was nothing in the 1967 Selective Service law which gave draft board officials "free-wheeling authority to ride herd on the registrants, using immediate induction as a disciplinary or vindictive measure."

Weather Holding Up Repair Work On Falls Avenue

As soon as weather permits work will resume on Falls Avenue, City Manager Jean Miller said Tuesday.

However, under present conditions no work can be done on this or other streets in the city. He said much more is yet to be done on the street which will be paved in the spring.

In wet weather patching work is less effective than using gravel to fill holes, and much more costly, Mr. Miller said, but the conditions are extremely hard on all city streets. He noted there will probably be more freezing temperatures yet this winter and street break-up could be especially bad this spring.

Burns, Ore., measured 3.5 of an inch; Boise, 2.3; Mountain Home, 1.0; Burley, 1.0; Pocatello, .69; and Idaho Falls reported only a trace.

Clouds were breaking over most of this region shortly before daybreak this morning, but again this will be only temporary.

Warm moist air continues to flow into the western states, and numerous low-pressure systems are moving this way across the Pacific. The next surge of rain in the valleys and on the lower higher elevations should move across Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho tonight and Wednesday.

Officers Elected At Meeting Of Area Guidance, Personnel Officials Here

Members of the Magic Valley Guidance Association met Monday at O'Leary Junior High School and elected officers and approved a constitution. About 25 people attended. The group is made up of guidance counselors from employments, private business and schools.

The new officers are Roy Slotten, Twin Falls Department of Employment, president; Larry Watson, School District No. 411, president elect, and Doris Watts, Twin Falls High School, secretary-treasurer.

The objectives of the association are to coordinate the activities of people engaged in personnel or guidance work; to become better acquainted with guidance work now under way in various private and public agencies; to promote cooperation in guidance work; to encourage the establishment of extension guidance services where needs are apparent; to give out information; and to promote professional growth of guidance and personnel services.

Anyone engaged in guidance or personnel work is eligible to join the group. Various internal problems were solved with the adoption of the group's Constitution Monday.

This included election of officers and the naming of various committees and committee members.

Mr. Slotten said more than 50 guidance and personnel officials throughout Magic Valley have indicated a desire to join the association and coordinate information on services offered. Guidance and personnel officers work with individuals on vocational and vocational or academic training.

The next meeting of the committee will deal with first aid. Trophies for an upcoming 100-mile cross county race were on display at the meeting. The race committee reported it had made 650 flags for the race and dinner trays also are being made. The course for the race will be made this week. The course will be flagged about 10 days before the race for anyone planning to pre-run it.

The registration desk at Smiley Creek Lodge will be open the evening of Feb. 6 and until 8 a.m. Feb. 7.

Correction
Mrs. Faye Hoffman, executive secretary, Twin Falls Selective Service board, said no men with a number over 30 were to be drafted in the nation during January.

She said there has been some confusion over the matter due to an error in the Times-News which said no one with a number over 12 would be called.

Mrs. Hoffman said three men will be called locally in February. She said the local number limit is 65, but she does not know what the national limit is.

TWIN FALLS — JEROME — BURLEY

AL WESTERGREEN, THOMAS HOWARD, GENE CARPENTER, DALE THOMPSON, PAUL STANDLEY, O. J. SMITH

David O. McKay

The death of a great man is met with mixed emotions. There is sorrow in the passing yet there is joy in the realization that he has been with us and thus has shared his life, his thoughts, his ideals with all.

His leadership, his philosophy of life, his example as a man of God did much to cause the Church to grow. He was a gentle man and he lived his teachings.

It was a long and full life from the little town of Huntsville, Utah where he was born on Sept. 8, 1873 to leadership in the Mormon Church.

It was a life lived to the fullest for benefit of mankind.

He has left much with members of his Church and with men and women of all faiths.

Housing Problems

Perhaps it was inevitable that the government would have to raise permissible interest rates on government insured or guaranteed home mortgages, but it is questionable whether this will result in improvement in the home construction industry.

Ostensibly, the Department of Housing and Urban Development raised interest rates from 7.5 per cent to 8.5 per cent to attract more funds into the home mortgage field. But the market will not necessarily react positively to the adjustment.

ing the 7.5 per cent rate by adding "points" or added charges to their loans. While these may disappear or be reduced under the higher rate, it is difficult to see where the improvement is to the buyer.

And it is the buyer who is largely responsible for the slump in the home construction industry. He is reacting strongly to high costs, both in interest rates and rising prices of new homes. Little is accomplished by enticing more money into federally insured mortgages if the public isn't interested in buying.

No Gap Here

More than four decades ago a young man had a vision about flying. In an age when flying machines were still little more than wood and cloth wired together, he saw them as the transportation of the future.

went into it." Charles and Jon Lindbergh are a father and son team of pioneers, each following a distinctly different field of exploration.

Certainly the senior Lindbergh's vision has materialized as the greatest mobile force of the age. While the world still shows little interest in developing the vast resources of the ocean depths, neither has it demonstrated the ability to restrain the population crush which inevitably is leading to the oceans as a source of sustenance.

Soldier has there been a father-son explorer team so in tune with the coming needs of their respective generations.

MR. SPECTATOR

New Laws And Officials

We were hesitant at just where to start today's column but then we decided to name the first officials of Twin Falls first and the first laws of Twin Falls, second.

Like we said Sunday the information is taken from the April 21, 1905 issue of the Twin Falls News, just eight days after the community had been incorporated. It started in 1904, of course, but the incorporation did not come until 1905 and the area was still a part of Cassia county because Twin Falls county had not yet been born.

But back to the officials. The first mayor of Twin Falls was Paul S. A. Beckel. The first city clerk was I. R. Darrow. The first city attorney was E. B. Critchlow. The first city treasurer was J. M. Maxwell. The first city marshal was Albert Snodgrass. The first deputy sheriff was Fred A. Ramsay. The first justices of the peace were M. T. Records and C. B. Taylor.

And now, a word about the original ordinances or "laws." The newspaper account said that great care was exercised in the preparation of ordinances in order that the citizens could be protected and saved from annoyance.

Inasmuch as the current Twin Falls City Council has just completed their organization we thought it might be especially interesting for them to glance over the first laws of the city they now represent.

- (1) - The keeping of swine within the corporate limits will be prohibited. (2) - Livestock will no longer be permitted to roam at large within the city limits. (3) - The city shall accommodate those who forget they are living in a civilized community. (4) - A city market will be located where citizens may weigh and sell their hay and produce. (5) - Tramps and disolute char... acters will be encouraged to make their stay in Twin Falls as brief as possible.

(6) - The practice of tying horses and cattle in the sagebrush to starve will be stopped and cruelty to animals will be prohibited.

(7) - Sanitary conditions will be improved immediately. No offensive cesspools will be tolerated and citizens will be required to keep their premises clean.

(8) - Plumbers will be licensed and a building inspector appointed whose duty it will be to see that proper safeguards against fire are provided.

(9) - Merchants will be protected against itinerant peddlers but no harmful restrictions will be placed upon farmers who sell their own produce.

(10) - Street improvements will be kept up as fast as possible with a view of making Twin Falls the most beautiful city in Idaho.

(11) - Street grades will be established, adopted by the council and placed on file in order that property rights respecting buildings, sidewalks and drains may be known. Confusion will thus be avoided and property owners will not be required to make changes at their own expense.

So there you have it for the records. Some day in the not too distant future we will trot back into local history for another looksee.

Meanwhile we will use Wednesday's column - that's tomorrow - to tell you how things are coming along down in Southern California, from where we have just returned after spending a few days in that area on business.

GIVEAWAY DEPT:

WASHINGTON - Not surprising for an administration one of whose members has been caught in an "idiotic and perhaps venal act" the Justice Department has retreated into adolescent Pecksniffery regarding its investigation of the sacking of a Pentagon expert for expressing mammoth cost overruns in the C-5A cargo plane program.

Asked about the probe, ordered by a Senate subcommittee two months ago, a Justice spokesman would say only that the department is "quite concerned" and that the investigation is continuing.

Well, that's dandy, but perhaps Atty. Gen. John Mitchell should get a move on. The dismissed expert, A. Ernest Fitzgerald, departed the other day after being given 60 days to clear out, and at this writing is jobless. Under the circumstances, the taxpayer who picks up the tab for the military's fiscal inefficiency might wish for a greater note of urgency over at Justice.

Fitzgerald was fired after disclosing to Congressional committees that the C-5A program was costing $5.4 billion instead of the originally estimated $3.4 billion. What the Senate subcommittee wants to know is whether Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans violated a law which prohibits intimidation of witnesses.

Although the thing smells to high heaven, the official Pentagon position is that Seamans is blameless. This was expressed by Lt. Col. Clifford LaPlante, an Air Force Congressional liaison officer, who deposed that "One thing the secretary has been in this is very, very proper."

Possibly. But it seems monumentally coincidental that Fitzgerald was fired immediately after his testimony on the Hill. Moreover, the Air Force telephoned from an "informational file" on Fitzgerald testimony by then Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Leonard Marks Jr., who - in LaPlante's words - "completely exonerated" Fitzgerald.

Marks' contribution was excluded from the file because it was "informational" and not "investigatory," according to LaPlante. But the file also included "volunteered" derogatory information on Fitzgerald, and this was left intact. Apparently, the way to get your stuff into a Pentagon file is to say something "misty" about a colleague; as LaPlante admits, some of the derogatory stuff appearing from "unprofessional jealousy."

Meanwhile, the intrepid defense contractors must find reassurance in the announcement that the Pentagon continues to go its gay, wild-spending way. A Defense Department report to Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, acknowledges that major weapons programs are costing $20 billion more than original estimates.

Exports within the administration say the report understates the size of the overrun by several billion dollars, and even the military-oriented Stennis is skeptical. He's ordered the Pentagon to furnish more details.

And will he might. There are some monumental contradictions involved. The Congressional Joint Economic Committee heard testimony that costs have risen on the Minuteman II missile by $1.7 billion. The Pentagon figure is a modest $700 million. Defense says the C-5A overruns total $5 billion. Government experts say the total is closer to $6 billion by now.

One silver lining in this mess is the indication that the plain citizen (finally) may have been allowed to peek at the situation. When Fitzgerald spoke before the Downtown Kiwanis Club in Birmingham, Ala., his audience was reported to have been "madder than hell - about waste." Assuming that Birmingham is fairly typical, except in the minds of Northern reverses in a crisis, we can all exert pressure on Congress in the coming months to address itself more diligently to that fantasy known as the Defense Department budget.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Numb Hands

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am very concerned about my hands. They stay numb, more in my right hand. It is difficult to use them. It must be poor blood circulation, but why? I seem to be a sort of silly to go to the doctor when I have gone for worse things and they have not done anything about it. My back - they took X-rays and say it is gas, but I am almost certain it is gall bladder. I have had four attacks in two years. - Mrs. J. O.

Why do you say that numbness "must" be poor circulation? Why not a pressure on a nerve? A pressure, for example, in the neck. Because that is rather often the cause of numbness such as you describe. Another is pressure in the wrist (carpal tunnel syndrome). Furthermore, if it is a matter of circulation as you surmise, there would be some other indications of it.

As to the pain in your back, I agree that it might be related to gall bladder attacks, but it also might be due to gas resulting from some quite different cause. Nervous tension, for one, ulcer for another. Well, I could think of quite a number of possible causes of pain in the back. And when X-rays reveal a healthy gall bladder, it is reasonable to look for some other explanation.

No, I can't agree with you that it is "silly" to have your doctor trace down the real cause of the numbness in your hands. I wouldn't care to guarantee that he - or any doctor - necessarily could determine the exact cause on the first visit, and cure it on the second. But it's the type of trouble that ordinarily can be identified with reasonable dispatch. There's every reason to suspect that it isn't going to get better all by itself. Think it over, and get your doctor's help on this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What medicine is available to alleviate the discomfort and pain of sinus trouble? I have had allergy shots, which did not help, and an antihistamine which caused dizziness and headache. - Mrs. P. E.

Possibly - you are looking in the wrong direction when you want "medicine" to solve sinus trouble.

Sometimes medication will solve the problem. Sometimes "sinus troubles" can stem from infection, polyps or other growths, allergy, physical defects which prevent the sinus cavities from draining correctly.

Of these four possibilities, you have tackled only one - allergy. (The antihistamine may be subduing allergic response.)

In the interests of getting at a method that will really help you, I want you to learn a little more about how the sinuses behave - and misbehave. Read my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble," so you will know how to do something effective to get relief. The booklet is available by mail. Send 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of this newspaper. Then you'll have a booklet on which to find workable treatment.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How normal is it for a 15-year-old boy to masturbate? There is no father in the home, and I do not know just what to do about it. He does not seem to be aware of this - M.O.T.

It is so normal as to be considered close to universal among young males. In my opinion, your best course would be to ignore it.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long self-addressed envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is a diaphragm considered a reliable form of birth control? I understand it must be fitted by a doctor. Do they have to be placed in position or removed by a doctor? Is this painful? Is it expensive? - A.R.

Yes, the diaphragm is reliable. Yes, it must be fitted by a physician, but after that you place it in position and remove it yourself. It is not painful, not expensive.

Note to O. C. M.: The staphylococcus germ is the usual cause of boils, although sometimes other germs are involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it all right, for a man who has had his prostate gland removed to have sexual intercourse? - C.M.

Yes. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I enjoy a tall glass of Rhine wine and seltzer or water every night, but my friends say it will thin my blood and make me anemic. Please give me your opinion. - L.R.G.

It won't thin your blood, won't make you anemic, and is a very mild drink as drinks go. Ignore your friends' superstition.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Billions In Unspent Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON - It is very possible that Congress, in the session that started yesterday will not vote a new foreign aid appropriation bill - for the first time in the 24-year history of that stupendous program.

Instead, the "continuing resolution" under which foreign aid has been funded since last July 1, would be extended, for the remaining 5 1/2 months of this fiscal year.

Under this legislative expedient, foreign aid spending has been continuing on the basis of the draft law reduced to an appropriation of $1.755 billion - the smallest budget voted for the program since it was launched in 1949. It also was $1 billion less than recommended by President Johnson, and $870 million under the total proposed by President Nixon last spring.

There is significant bipartisan sentiment in both the Senate and House for resorting to the "continuing resolution" strategy. In these "interim" quarters it is being extended:

(1) There is relatively little difference - ($27 million) between the present $1.755 billion foreign aid spending level and the approximately $2.02 billion appropriation bill of which the House and Senate have already deadlocked before adjourning late last month. That will be the pending measure when the new session convenes.

(2) Extending the prevailing "continuing resolution" which expires Jan. 31, and covers the remainder of this current fiscal year would save Congress considerable time and avert further discordant confrontations between the two chambers. It is being pointed out that this is a crucial election year, and the sooner the legislators can wind up, the more time they will have for campaigning.

Already, the backstage adjournment goal is Labor Day - September 7.

There are huge amounts of unexpended balances from prior years in the foreign aid pipeline. Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the Foreign Aid Appropriations Subcommittee, states that these unexpended balances amount to the stupendous total of $18.708 billion.

The veteran legislator vigorously maintains that a new appropriation is not necessary; that there are ample unspent funds to continue foreign aid for the remainder of this fiscal year. He has been operating the last 18 months, in a statement to "American taxpayers." Rep. Passman presented a series of charts and computations that graphically detail the many billions in unexpended balances in the foreign aid pipeline and other revealing facts.

The Louisiana contends that President Nixon's $2.63 billion foreign aid budget is the "administration's program in name only." As Passman sees it, it is actually the work of lower-level "bureaucrats who are involving us in these foreign entanglements."

"During fiscal 1970," he asserts, "the aid program will be operating in 49 nations and five territories of the world, with 51,000 individuals on the payroll. This includes U.S. personnel, foreign personnel and participants. There are 4,403 projects and sub-projects scattered all over the world."

"While many similar projects in the U.S. were closed down for lack of funds, not a single foreign aid project suffered as much as a one-dollar reduction on account of the limitation imposed by the Revenue and Expenditure Control Act."

At a comparable time before the 1960 election, John F. Kennedy had already emerged as a strong front-runner for the out-power Democrats.

In 1962 before his remarriage, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was far ahead. After that, Sen. Barry Goldwater quickly took a commanding position for the opposition Republicans.

Four years later, the GOP had a clear leader for the 1968 nomination in George Romney. As he began to falter, Richard Nixon swept ahead.

With 2 1/2 years to go to the next nomination decision, today's Democrats are in a jumble.

Post-Chappaquiddick, there was a natural surge toward Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the 1968 vice presidential nominee.

His nomination for commitment integrity, for a kind of low-key stability, for the 1968 nomination, good stead as leaders looked frantically about.

But the truth in early 1970 is that there is no steam in the Muskie thing. He has had some verbal encounters on major issues which have diminished his status in the eyes of some political appraisers.

Indeed, if these private discussions had occurred against the backdrop of hard-nosed campaign events, Muskie probably would have been regarded as the way Romney was as he fumbled endlessly with the Vietnam issue in the 1968-69 period.

Even as it is, Muskie has been hurt, as word of his unimpressive showings has gone about. Most of the other candidates names presently in the hopper are even weaker leftovers from 1968. Sen. Eugene McCarthy and George McGovern, and the 1968 nominee, Hubert Humphrey.

McCarthy, the empty vessel into which the antiwar forces poured so much only to see it all run out after the campaign, is thought to be still harboring notions about another try. If the war is somewhat defused well before 1972, it is hard to see where he could find the necessary credits. Inflation is hardly his bag.

McGovern simply is positioned too far leftward in the spectrum to attract wide Democratic support. No serious politicians talk of him. He gets into the lists as a kind of throw-away name.

Political common sense would seem to suggest that the defeated Humphrey, reviled by the emotional peace types in his own party last time, would not stand a chance in 1972.

Maybe he will not. The Democrats never have had any luck in modern times in nominating previously beaten nominees. But one able Republican analyst flatly forecast to this reporter the other day that "it will be Humphrey."

The man has no illusions about the uphill prospect of a handicap. He needs a big win in the U.S. Senate in Minnesota this fall. Given that, he might emerge as a sort of nominee-by-default from a generally indifferent pack of prospects.

The 1972 Senate and representative elections are unlikely to bring forth hot new Democratic numbers to stir the blood. The only sleeper at the moment is Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa.

Strong voiced and built, checked, he is the very picture of the national leader who utters judgments like thunderbolts. But he has two drawbacks. He is almost unknown and he is militantly loud in the leftist vein where even soft speaking does McGovern in.

Perot Will Send Supplies To Reds

NEW YORK (UPI)—Millions of goods originally destined for American prisoners in North Vietnam in South Vietnam and Laos.

Perot said the 26 tons of goods from American families consisted of food, clothing, medicine and other supplies that he tried unsuccessfully to deliver at Christmas to American prisoners being held by Hanoi.

He said that in his conversations with the North Vietnamese they "pointed out how badly they were not showing the same concern for their people as we were, showing for the American prisoners of war and their families."

"The families of the (American) prisoners of war," he said, "have asked that I take their personal packages, packed with loving care, for their husbands, sons and fathers, and distribute them to North Vietnamese military personnel held as prisoners of war in South Vietnam and Laos."

The crew-cut Texas businessman told a news conference that the action was planned to give the North Vietnamese a "tangible indication" of American concern for prisoners on both sides.

A spokesman for Perot said work would begin immediately on the "logistics" of the airlift. He said permission would be needed from the South Vietnamese and Laotian governments, but not the American government.

Perot was turned back in December when he sought to deliver the cargo to Hanoi. He said his ultimate goal was the release of the estimated 1,400 American prisoners in North Vietnam.

Sen. Church Protests Fund Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Monday he has urged President Nixon to reconsider his threatened veto of pending congressional appropriations for Health, Education and Welfare programs.

Church referred to the President's threat to veto appropriations to the HEW on the grounds, they will add to inflationary pressures.

The appropriations, which will be taken up by Congress shortly after it reconvenes, total about $1 billion more than the amount requested by the Nixon Administration for fiscal year 1970.

Church said the additions made by Congress are not inflationary since the more than $1 billion of government spending.

Church said the 1969 Congress had a record of "fiscal responsibility" and said that over-all Congress had cut more than $7.5 billion from the Nixon Administration's budget request.

"The funds added to the HEW budget were more than compensated for by cuts in just one program: foreign aid, where Congress reduced the administration budget by more than $1.2 billion," Church added.

Auditor Seeks Lawyers' Funds

BOISE (UPI)—State Auditor Joe R. Williams said Monday he had asked the legislature for a $15,000 supplemental appropriation to pay attorneys' fees in the suit between his office and the Board of Examiners.

"We were taken into court, not on my choice," Williams said.

"The Board of Examiners took us into court and I need to pay my attorney."

A hearing on the suit, filed after a long dispute between Williams and the Division of Management Services over a payroll preparation, is scheduled for Jan. 22 at 3:30 p.m. in District Court in Boise.

Pullen Refutes Solon's Charges

BOISE (UPI)—Dr. Myrick Pullen said Monday he refuted some people were critical of the decision made to channel funds away from the State hospitals North and South, but said he felt the choice made more sense in view of federal funds available for boarding patients.

Pullen, director of the Mental Health Division of the State Department of Health, made his statement in response to statements made by state Rep. Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, on the House floor Monday.

Pullen said there had been a staff reduction at both state hospitals, but added that "I don't feel that the services have deteriorated to a deplorable state."

Pullen said there was not a licensed physician at State Hospital South, but said the institution did have a doctor with considerable training and experience in the field of psychiatry.

Rep. Miller Frets Over Hospitals

BOISE (UPI)—State Rep. Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, urged his colleagues Monday to restore the state's mental institutions to "genuine hospitals dedicated to restoring mental health" to their inmates.

Speaking to the House on a point of personal privilege, Miller said the state's mental institutions in "just a few short months...have regressed to a terrible and shameful condition."

He confined his remarks to State Hospital South at Blackfoot because of his personal familiarity with its conditions but said he presumed similar conditions exist at State Hospital North in Orofino.

"I am sure you are all aware of the vast difference in quality between a psychiatrist and a psychologist," Miller said.

"There is no psychiatrist functioning at State Hospital South. There is no licensed medical doctor on the staff who can write prescriptions or death certificates."

"This is for an institution with 250 some patients within its walls and a similar amount on an outpatient basis in foster homes," Miller said.

He said patients sent from the hospital to foster homes are not being judged by a thorough psychiatric evaluation. Rather, he said, they are being put away in "storage possibly for the rest of their life without any further psychiatric attempt to rehabilitate them."

Miller charged that employees of Hospital South—with only a social worker's or a psychologist's education—are passing "psychiatric" judgment on patients, making decisions which will affect the patients for the rest of their lives.

Warren Commission Members Disagree

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two members of the Warren Commission, Sens. Richard B. Russell and John Sherman Cooper, split Monday over whether Lee Harvey Oswald alone planned the assassination of President Kennedy.

They agreed, however, that Oswald fired the fatal shot in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

"I never believed that he did it without any consultation or any encouragement whatsoever," Russell said. "Too many things... caused me to doubt that he planned it all by himself."

But Cooper said that after all the evidence was presented and all the hearings completed by the group appointed to investigate Kennedy's murder, it was his belief that Oswald acted alone.

"After all efforts we could never find evidence that anyone else was involved," he said.

Cooper recalled that he joined with Russell in insisting on a disclaimer in the final report which said "because of the difficulty in proving negatives to a certainty the possibility of others being involved with either Oswald or (Jack) Ruby cannot be established categorically, but if there is any such evidence it has been beyond the reach of all the investigative agencies and resources of the United States and has not come to the attention of this Commission."

Cooper, veteran Republican contender for continuity, also said he was not satisfied with the testimony of Marina Oswald, the assassin's wife, after her appearance before the Commission.

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey Pens Critique Of Nixon Administration; Notes Lack Of Progress

By HUBERT H. HUMPHREY
Former Vice President and Chairman Democrat
Police Council
Written for UPI

Richard Nixon came to the White House at the end of a decade of dissent and disorder, turmoil and change. It was a decade in which the nation confirmed the shift to an urban culture; made good on John F. Kennedy's promise to put man in the moon; and saw tremendous change in the national taste—in music, film, clothes, art, theater, changes that, in most cases, have been indicators of our movement toward a more open, more liberal, society.

In one sense, Richard Nixon came to the White House at a fortuitous time. Though such distinctions as decades may be arbitrary and meaningless in terms of how lives and events actually progress, nevertheless, there is a psychological aura about the end of a decade, and the beginning of a new one. It is an artificial but nonetheless recognizable break that allows us to reflect on the past and to speculate on, and plan for, the future.

Richard Nixon has had one year in the White House yet we have seen no sign of a program designed for the seventies; no indication that he can—or wishes to—alter the national will toward the critical problems of the future. Rather than greater commitments, the President has asked that we lower our voices, cut back our programs, and limit our national aspirations.

National leaders cannot rest on the laurels of the past. New problems wait to test the national purpose—problems that challenge the ingenuity and the leadership of the man in the oval office.

What are the problems our national leaders must grapple with in the seventies and the eighties? Some ancient ones hang heavier than ever over our heads:

War—and the terrible cost in human life.

The nuclear arms spiral—and "the frightening" increase in man's capacity to destroy himself.

Inflation—and the consequent erosion of family spending power.

And there are new problems, posed in the 70's, that demand solution in the 70's:

Pollution. A consistent poisoning of the environment that threatens man with death at the hands of the very air he breathes. The damage done by modern man—from the Santa Barbara oil slick to phosphate and nitrate poisoning—increasingly threatens the age-old relationship between man and nature. (President Nixon's rhetorical recognition of this danger will do little without an adequate commitment of federal dollars and the institution of national standards and safeguards.)

The interlocking web of issues that comprise the urban crisis—inner-city education, noise, welfare, garbage, housing, health care—many of which also affect our suburban and rural residents. As a partial solution, I have proposed an urban development bank that would operate domestically much like the World Bank does internationally in providing low interest loans to our troubled areas.

Law and justice—The increasing resort to violence as a mode of expression, and drugs as a form of rebellion.

Last, but by no means least, of the large national concerns is the increase in polarization in deep divisions between white and black, but between young and old, consumer and seller, Northerner and Southerner, laborer and intellectual, rich and poor, government and journalist, voter and politician. All these—and more—are unhappy indicators that we mistrust our neighbor.

Today, as President Nixon begins his second year—and a new decade—he has a new opportunity to help us improve our nation, and to help man improve his planet.

As President, Mr. Nixon must be our leader, must be ahead of the rest of the nation—indeed, ahead of the nations of the world—both in identifying national needs and international problem areas, and in directing us to thoughtful and imaginative solutions.

He must help us to move purposefully into the 70's—to move toward greater freedom and greater opportunity for all our citizens, and to diligently and resolutely work for peace in the world. We have solemn reason to pray that he is able to do so.

Calley Refuses To Defend Himself

By RABUN MATTHEWS
FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—First Lt. William L. Calley Jr. refused to take the stand Monday to defend himself against a charge that he murdered a civilian six weeks before he allegedly conducted the My Lai massacre of 109 other South Vietnamese.

"He is not going to make a statement, either sworn or unsworn," defense attorney George W. Latimer of Salt Lake City told an investigating officer.

The 5-foot-3 Calley sat slumped in a chair next to Latimer during a one-hour army investigating hearing aimed at determining whether he should be court-martialed for the death of a man in Quang Ngai province. The civilian allegedly was thrown down a well in an incident apparently unrelated to the My Lai case.

Another hearing was to be held at the army training base today on defense motions asking that the Army drop charges that the 27-year-old Miami native murdered 109 men, women and children at My Lai on March 16, 1968. A court martial has been ordered on those charges.

"One motion contends Calley's rights to a fair trial have been wrecked by publicity, including a nationally-telvised statement by President Nixon declaring that a massacre apparently had occurred and those responsible for it should be punished.

The hearing on the single murder charge was conducted by Lt. Col. Mack H. Hopper of the Army Infantry School in the same red-carpeted frame building in which the massacre court martial is to be held, probably sometime this year.

Hopper will recommend whether Calley should be brought to trial for the Quang Ngai slaying. Maj. Gen. Orville C. Falbot, commanding general at Ft. Benning, will make the final decision on whether a court martial is held on the charge.

Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel, prosecuting the charge, introduced in evidence five letters of prosecution witnesses, presumably containing their versions of the incident. Latimer said the defense would offer no evidence "at this time."

When Hopper advised Latimer that Calley might testify in his own defense, Latimer replied that the defendant would make no statement.

Hopper overruled Latimer's motions to dismiss the charge. Latimer claimed it should be thrown out because it denied Calley equal protection under the Constitution. He said the Army's Criminal Investigation Division had a special expense account for this case "opened while the defense has nothing."

Hal March Dies Of Lung Cancer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor and comedian Hal March, whose name became a household word when he was master of ceremonies for the television quiz show, "The $64,000 Question," died Monday of lung cancer. He was 40.

March underwent surgery at the UCLA Medical Center last November and had been taking cobalt treatments. He had received a telegram of encouragement from actor John Wayne, who won his own battle with lung cancer.

March reentered the hospital early in January. The affable, dark-haired performer spent 19 years as an actor, comedian and singer in nightclubs, burlesque and radio before the quiz program became famous and its contestants celebrities.

Proposed Bill Lowers Rate Of Allowable Liquor

BOISE (UPI)—The Senate Transportation and Defense Committee Monday introduced a bill lowering the blood-alcohol percentage used to determine drunken driving from .15 per cent to .10 per cent.

The proposed legislation also makes it illegal to drive while under the influence of any narcotic drug.

Gov. Don Samuelson in his State of the State message in the second half of the 40th Legislature called for the lawmakers to pass such a proposal.

Under the bill a person found guilty would be subject to six months imprisonment or a $300 fine or both and would face mandatory suspension of his driver's license.

Powell Says He Fought Cancer 'Bug'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., the once flamboyant Harlem pastor-politician, told colleagues Monday he has been battling cancer for the better part of a year, and believes he has won.

He was among 283 House members who answered up on the first roll call of the new session of Congress. It had been months since most of the lawmakers had seen him.

Powell, hospitalized for the past two years for alleged abuse of his office and admitted to the $25,000 fine, answered only 10 of 177 House roll calls last year and only two of 176 quorum calls. He is 61 years old.

Under attack back home for his poor attendance record, and the target of an earlier resolution in the House, Powell said he spent much of last year in the Cornell University Hospital under cobalt and other treatment for cancer of the lymph glands.

He said his doctors ended the treatments and pronounced the ailment stabilized last Tuesday. They told him he could return to work and he said he expected to be more active in House affairs this year, although he must return to the hospital for periodic checkups.

Changes In House Bill 304 Requested By Voters League

State board members of the Idaho League of Women Voters, in their evaluation of the study of elementary and secondary school financing, called for a number of legislative changes including the limitation factors of House Bill 304.

Mrs. Robert Nelson, Twin Falls, member of the state board, said the league delegates from throughout the state found in their consensus of the two year study each child should have the same opportunity for education. Members felt the bill which limits school districts and other taxing agencies to 4 per cent increase each year in tax revenue is not in the best interests of public education.

Mrs. Nelson said the league also felt because of the wide range in school district sizes and property values in various school districts children will not have equal educational opportunities state wide until reorganization occurs and until the equalization of a assessment ratios and uniform assessment practices are established across the state.

Mrs. Nelson said the league concluded it is essential the distribution of state funds to school districts result in a guarantee of a certain number of dollars per "weighted" student in average daily attendance.

She said the league feels weighting by a sparsity factor should be used for the small isolated schools only. Small schools near larger attendance centers should not be subsidized with state funds.

"The league," Mrs. Nelson said, "believes it is desirable to include in the formula factors allotting extra funds for ancillary personnel, programs in special education and for transportation. The league opposes the floor district concept in the present formula."

League members also called for the elimination of the 30 mill limit on M and O levies by school boards.

Further, they suggested the state average cost per pupil rate be computed by taking into consideration such factors as average teacher salaries in the Rocky Mountain states and the number of teachers needed in Idaho and improvements needed in the present school programs including guidance, libraries, administrative procedures, curriculum, vocational and special education.

League members also voted to change League's Day at the Idaho Legislature from Feb. 23 to Feb. 13, to coincide with the 50th anniversary date of the League of Women Voters. The state board meeting was held last week in Boise.

Hagerman Couple Observes 60th Wedding Anniversary

HAGERMAN — More than 150 guests attended the open house reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mark Steel in observance of their 60th wedding anniversary and Mr. Steel's 80th birthday.

The refreshment tables were covered with lace cloths, over pink papered flowers and floral arrangements, gifts to the honored couple, decorated the hall. A special "family tree" complete with photographs of their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren prepared by a grandson, Dan Kelly, 56, was featured on one wall and was surrounded by greeting cards from family and friends. The four-tiered cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. George Lemmon, was decorated with white sugar bells, white roses and silver leaves, and topped with white bells inside a heart-shaped arch. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Horace Lipe, Bliss, and Mrs. Jessie Woodard, Gardena, sisters of the honored couple.

Coffee and punch were served by Mrs. Bonnie Rolley and Mrs. Cell Viperman, both The Dalles, Ore., and Mrs. Arlene Jones and Mrs. Sharon Dowdy, both Astoria, Ore., all grandchildren.

After the reception, a family dinner was held for 45 members of the family present for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Steel are the parents of five children, Mrs. John (Maxine) Kelly, Hagerman; George Steel, Gilchrist, Ore.; Mrs. Ross (Alon) Viperman, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Fred (Donna) Bach, Buhl; and Fern Phillips, Sacramento, Calif. George Steel and Mrs. Phillips were unable to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Steel have 18 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Steel were married Dec. 23, 1908, at Bellevue. Mr. Steel worked in the mines at Gilmore and Coeur d'Alene until 1921 when he lost the sight of both eyes in a mine blast at Gilmore. They continued to reside in the Halley area until 1927 when they moved to Hagerman Valley.

After moving here, they settled on a 40-acre farm along the old Bliss grade, which Mr. Steel farmed unassisted. In 1935, they moved to a 17-acre tract in Hagerman where they still reside. Mr. Steel continued to raise cattle, milk his own cows and do his own irrigating until he retired a year ago when he was 80 years old Oct. 17.

He still continues to raise a large garden, take care of most of his yard work and raises pigs. He was 30 years old Oct. 17.

Miss Haymore, Kenneth Klebe Marry Miss Sorensen, McCowan

Exchange Nuptial Promise

BURLEY — Cynthia Haymore, Yuba City, Calif., and Kenneth Klebe, Marysville, Calif., were united in marriage Dec. 27 in an evening ceremony at Burley Fifth Ward LDS Chapel.

Bishop William Matthews performed the double ring wedding ceremony before an altar flanked by matching arrangements of red poinsettias and winter greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. Haymore, Yuba City, Calif., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez, Burley.

The bride recited her wedding vows wearing a floor-length white wedding gown featuring a long lily-point lace sleeve, a long lily-point lace neckline and a full gathered satin skirt.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of lace flowers accented with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascading bouquet of five red roses surrounded with white carnations tied with white ribbon bows and streamers. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and pearl teardrop earrings.

Susan Eyring, Trowbridge,

Calif., was maid of honor. Vincent Donnelly, Beale Air Force Base, Calif., was best man.

Tom Gröwell, Burley, organist, played the traditional wedding music.

After the wedding ceremony a reception was held in banquet room of Price's Cafe which was accented with a tall Christmas tree decorated in red poinsettias.

The bride's table was covered with a red cloth and centered with a three-tiered white wedding cake decorated with red roses. The layers were separated by four white swans and four Grecian columns.

Topping the wedding cake was a miniature bride and bridegroom and a white lace heart.

The buffet table was covered with a red cloth and centered with an arrangement of red poinsettias accented with holly leaves and winter greenery.

Guests were registered by Kim Klebe, Burley, sister of the bridegroom. Gifts were arranged and displayed by Kathy Klebe, Burley, sister of the bridegroom.

The couple took a wedding trip to California.

The newlyweds will reside in California, where the brideis employed at Pacific Telephone.

DIETRICH — Dorine Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. La Druce Sorensen, and Randy McCowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harrison, will be united in marriage Dec. 2 at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

A reception was held for the couple at the LDS Chapel in Dietrich Dec. 5. The hall was decorated with poinsettias and evergreens and the tables were covered with white lace over red centerpieces with red rose bouquets with white candles.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white satin brocade with a high neckline, long pointed sleeves trimmed in pearls and a princess seam in the front and inverted pleat at the back of the skirt. The bride's waist-length veil was trimmed with white lace. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds and pink carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. of Ronald Stubbs, sister of the bridegroom, and bridesmaids were Rita and Carla Sorensen, sisters of the bride, and Lois Spencer, aunt of the bride.

Richard McCowan, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Others in the reception line were parents of the bride and bridegroom and the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Spencer.

Gifts were carried by Rose Ann McCowan, Brona and Debbie Scott, cousins of the bridegroom, Teresa and Raymond Sorensen, sister and brother of the bride, and Mrs. Boyd Lamb, aunt of the bride. They were assisted by Mrs. Herb McCowan, Mrs. Jim Scott, and Mrs. Richard McCowan.

Teresa, Hunsaker, roommate of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The three-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake was made by Mrs. Roy Hubert, Dietrich. Roses accented the white cake.

Mrs. Monte Sorensen, Janel Sorensen, Shella Sorensen and Debra and Brona Astle served the refreshments.

Don A. Saltt was master of ceremonies for the program. Glenn Sorensen gave the invocation and Monte Sorensen the benediction.

The couple went to Salt Lake City for a honeymoon trip.

More than 160 persons attended the reception from many towns in Southern Idaho.

Mr. McCowan is serving in the Army at DaNang and the new Mrs. McCowan is continuing her work as secretary for Varsity Cleaners in Pocatello.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a respectable 29-year-old woman who lives alone and supports myself. I recently met a very attractive man (31) who showed a very serious interest in me right from the start. He spoke of our future together and I honestly believed that I had finally found my man. He asked me how much I had in the bank, and I told him "I don't know what to think. Half of me tells me not to trust him and half of me tells me I love him." BAFFLED

Everything they do is on a fortissimo level. We would not complain about ordinary noises, as both my husband and I teach and are gone during the day-time, but the evening noise is of a very intimate nature and it gets to be very annoying. I imagine they are newlyweds because we have been disturbed by the sounds of their lovemaking at all hours of the night and early morning. Weekends are unpredictable. It is impossible for us to have guests over since these sounds can be easily heard in our living room. The apartments are well built, believe me. These people are LOUD! We have never heard any other neighbors. Moving is out of the question since we have signed a lease, and besides, my husband's library of about 4,000 volumes took considerable time and money to set up here. Is there a safe way to deal with these people? "THE PEOPLE UPSTAIRS"

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently moved into a nice three-story building in an apartment complex. Our problem has to do with the couple living directly beneath us.

My problem is that I care a lot for the daughter of those people. In fact, we dig each other a lot more than our parents know. Not wanting to lie and sneak, I told my father that I didn't think he had any right to tell me that I couldn't even speak to this girl any more just because he had a fight with her folks. He got real mad and said if I ever spoke to that girl again, he'd make me sorry. Do you think that's fair? Abby, I can't stop seeing her, and she does intend to marry him, and so is she. I would like your opinion. CAN'T SLEEP

DEAR CANT: I too, think your father is being very unfair. But until you are able to leave his bed and board and make your own way, he's the boss. And unless he's a stubborn, bull-headed tyrant, if you behave yourself and don't show your anger, he may reconsider and reverse his decision.

DEAR ABBY: That gal signed "BUNNY" should have signed herself "DUMB BUNNY." She whined to you about all the nice single gals who went on skiing week-ends in search of husbands, and found only married old bums. Then she asks YOU to appeal to the wives of these old bums to keep their husbands home.

DEAR ABBY: That gal signed "BUNNY" should have signed herself "DUMB BUNNY." She whined to you about all the nice single gals who went on skiing week-ends in search of husbands, and found only married old bums. Then she asks YOU to appeal to the wives of these old bums to keep their husbands home. Tell BUNNY that just because a man says he's "married," doesn't necessarily mean he is. I know lots of skiers who claim to be married just to eliminate BUNNY after the week-end. WEEK-END SKIER

CSI Goes After Fifth ICAC Victory In Game With Ricks Wednesday

The CSI Golden Eagles, after two workmanlike jobs against ICAC foes Dixie and Snow, take on Ricks Vikings here Wednesday night at 8 p.m.—with the big news being that Steve Hegons' injury is not serious.

Hegons, who hit 54 points in the weekend wins with the Rebels and Badgers, came out Saturday night late in the bathroom in obvious pain from a thigh injury. "He had it hit in practice last Monday," said Jerry Hale Tuesday night. "It was hit again Saturday night against Snow when he started to shoot then fell off." Hegons worked in practice Monday night and Hale says the 6-2 Washington star will play for sure, even though the leg may be a little sore yet.

Undeclared in conference play the Eagles will get a hint of how tough Ricks will be in the regional — if it can beat out North Idaho for the berth—in this one. The Vikings, who don't even resemble the club that came to Twin Falls last year and went home an 85-54 loser, own three wins over North Idaho — two of those coming in Coeur d'Alene.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Johnny Green, sent out to pasture by the Philadelphia Flyers in the fall, has found a new life with the Cincinnati Royals.

The 35-year-old forward, who called Cincinnati coach Bob Cousy to ask for a job after his release, has become the National Basketball Association's most accurate shooter from the field this season. Green, who has converted 272 field goals in 487 attempts for a 55.9 percentage, overtook Wes Unseld of the Baltimore Bullets, who dropped to 54.1.

Jones First To Hit 5000 Mark

NEW YORK (UPI)—Larry Jones of the Denver Rockets has certainly been consistent as a scorer in the American Basketball Association.

Jones, who trails Bob Veran and Spencer Haywood in the ABA scoring race, this past week became the first man in the league's history to score 5,000 career points. His total points of 5,017 in 196 games gives him a 25.6 lifetime average — the exact scoring pace that he holds this season.

Bill McGill of the Pittsburgh Pipers is the best free throw shooter with a 55.9 percentage while Darel Carrier of Kentucky is the most accurate free throw shooter with a 89.9 mark. Doug Moe of Carolina leads in assists with a 5.6 per game average.

Porsche Team To Beat In Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Warm Mediterranean sunshine Monday greeted the 15th survivors of the first stage of the 30th Monte Carlo Rally that saw only 25 teams drop out.

Drivers—tired after their 60-hour non-stop 2,200-mile trip across Europe — immediately rested in preparation for Tuesday's tough second stage over the Alps to Chambéry and back.

Experts predicted the dry conditions would give the advantage to the powerful 7.7-liter Gorman Porsche Team.

Porsche is definitely the team to beat. It stays dry, said Briton Henry Liddon, driver with Finn Timo Makinen of a British Ford escort.

Liddon, twice winner of the rally, said conditions on the first stage from Lisbon had been very easy.

Other drivers from different starting points confirmed that so far it had been one of their easiest rallies.

All the favored teams arrived on time and without penalty points, officials said. They reported only a few minor difficulties on the route.

Britain's Tony Fall and Mike Wood had a problem with the oil filter on their team Lancia and had to buy six liters of oil along the way.

Thursday Is Deadline For Seattle

SEATTLE (UPI)—Fred Danz and his associates were working on some "new approaches" Monday in a grim game of beat-the-clock with the Seattle Pilots as the price to be won or lost.

By Thursday, Danz and his associates — Seattle group must come up with a satisfactory answer to a $3.5 million problem if the year-old Pilots are to stay in Seattle.

That is the deadline the American League has given the group seeking to buy the franchise from Northwest Sports Inc.

The Danz group has the purchase permits with the obligation to meet a note called up for payment by the Bank of California.

"We're fighting," Danz said. "Our meetings still are going on. Several new approaches have been suggested. We'll keep working on it. That's the name of the game."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn told a meeting of Wisconsin baseball writers in Milwaukee Sunday night there was a strong possibility the Pilots would be moved to Milwaukee if the Danz group fails to solve its financial dilemma.

"I don't know what the answer will be, but given the strength of that Northwest area, you'd have to think they have a good chance," the commissioner said.

Weber State Rallies Past Montana 85-80

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI)—The Weber State Wildcats came from behind with eight minutes left to play and held on for an 85-80 win over the Montana Grizzlies Monday night in Missoula.

The victory kept the Wildcats record unbeaten in Big Sky play.

Underdog Montana had outplayed the defending Big Sky cugo champion Wildcats in the first half and held an eight point lead after seven minutes of the final period before running into a basket drought.

The Wildcats, feeding 6-8 Willie Sojourner, caught the Grizzlies at 68-57 with 10 minutes to go, and traded baskets until Seasons Harlan hit a jumper put Weber in front to stay at 85-63.

Sojourner, who had been held in check during the first half, came on with a 10-point spurt in the final half to wind up with 30 points for game honors.

Guard Dave Gustafson paced the Grizzlies with 23.

Montana jumped to a fast lead, hitting three baskets in the first 30 seconds of play before the Wildcats found the hoop.

Montana led 29-20 midway through the first half and held a 40-38 halftime lead that brought a standing ovation from a home town crowd of nearly 6,000 persons.

It was Weber State's sixth win in conference play and left Montana with a 1-3 Big Sky Conference mark.

Cronin, Feeney Accused Of Making 'Libelous Accusations' By Miller

NEW YORK (UPI)—Major Miller, attorney for the Major League Baseball Players Association, Monday accused President Joe Cronin of the American League and Chairman "Chub" Feeney of the National League of making "libelous public accusations" in a statement last week about the Curt Flood case.

In their statement last Saturday, Cronin and Feeney said that professional baseball could come to an end if, through the suit which has been brought by outfielder Flood in protest over his trade from St. Louis to Philadelphia, the "reserve clause" in baseball players' contracts should be abolished. The "reserve clause" is a provision in the standard player's contract which gives the club an option on his services for the following year, thus binding a player to the same club from one year to the next. Flood contends that the clause subjects him to "slavery" in violation of the 13th amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Miller was particularly disturbed by the statement of the two league presidents which, he said, "attacked the Players Association as being in bad faith for supporting Curt Flood."

"Both Mr. Cronin and Mr. Feeney know better, and it is unfortunate that they have permitted their public relations advisors to use them for the purpose of making libelous public accusations," Miller said. "However, since they have raised the question of bad faith, it seems only fair that the public be informed of the facts, so that it may draw its own conclusions."

Miller contended that a lawsuit in the 1968 collective bargaining agreement between the club owners and the Players Association which referred to both parties using their "best efforts" to see that the contract terms are carried out had no application to the "reserve clause and related rules."

"During the 1968 negotiations, there was extensive discussion by the parties on the specific matter of the 'best efforts' clause and its relation to the 'reserve clause,'" said Miller. "The Players Association took the position that the reserve clause was illegal and that it could not agree to use its best efforts to see that illegal provisions are enforced. The owners representative agreed that the 'best efforts' clause obviously could have no application to contract provisions which either party considered to be illegal, and that it would not prohibit the Association from challenging the 'reserve clause."

Miller said the Association "did make an informal commitment" it would not institute legal action against the reserve clause "so long as the likelihood of negotiating appropriate reforms existed."

He said this commitment was made because both sides had agreed "to engage in a joint study of 'possible alternatives to the reserve clause as now constituted.'"

Miller charged, the owners negotiating representatives and lawyers admitted that they do not know, and never did intend to change one comma in any of the restrictions which comprise the reserve system. He said the owners had repeated this intention as recently as last Friday.

"By making a mockery of the 'joint study,' (the owners) have made it clear that their only purpose in agreeing to a study in 1968 was to delay the players into thinking that the problem would be solved," Miller said.

Miller said that even if the Association wanted to help enforce the reserve clause in Flood's case, "it would be futile," because Flood had often stated that "even without the Association's support he would file suit."

"Mr. Flood is a very sincere and intelligent man who honestly believes that the present reserve system is not only illegal, but is immoral, and he will not submit to it any longer," Miller said.

"The Players Association is supporting Mr. Flood. The Player Representatives unanimously voted to do so because the Flood case obviously will have an effect on all the players, and it is vital for their best interests, and for their protection, that the case be handled in the most competent and intelligent manner."

Charging that the statement of Cronin and Feeney is "a play," Miller asserted that it is not true that the "only alternative to the present, complex reserve restrictions is complete abolition, or that chaos would be the result of changing the reserve clause." He called for "appropriate reforms in the reserve system" and said he was "confident that mutually acceptable solutions" could be found.

Miller also charged that the annual free-agent draft, held last Saturday, "has only one purpose—to save the clubs money and avoid competitive bidding by prohibiting a new player from establishing his value in a free market."

Kennedy Indicates NBA Will Expand To 16 Teams With Addition Of Two Clubs

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Basketball Association will add two more teams to its circuit Tuesday to form a 16-team league, Commissioner Walter Kennedy indicated Monday.

Buffalo, Portland, Cleveland and Houston have applied for franchises, and the NBA's board of governors appointed a five-man committee that went to work immediately to hammer out the expansion details.

At the same time, the NBA voted not to expand, at the present time, a merger with the FIVB American Basketball Association.

Named to the expansion committee were Abe Pollin of Baltimore, Tom Cousins of Atlanta, Elmer Rich of Chicago, Jack Waldron of Boston and Rny Patterson of Milwaukee.

The committee began its work Monday night and Kennedy said the discussions would continue Tuesday morning if no concrete solution was attained.

The commissioner said a decision likely would be reached on Tuesday morning to add the two new teams.

The NBA's decision to forego any merger talks with the FIVB could create a multimillion-dollar war for the next crop of college basketball players, considered to be the best in many years.

Reports circulating indicate that Bob Lanier, St. Bonaventure's 6-11 center, already commands a price of a quarter million dollars as a token bid. The offers may double before Lanier signs a pro contract.

Among the cities contending for franchises are Buffalo, Portland, Ore.; Cleveland; and Houston.

There was no formal vote taken among the 14 governors, but a majority of 11 is needed to accept a city into the league.

"I received a telegram later this afternoon from the commissioner of the ABA, Jack Dolph, stating that the ABA wished to go on record as saying it would like to explore the possibility of a merger," Kennedy said. "I have not had the opportunity to respond to the wire."

Kennedy said the NBA board of governors has set down rigid rules and regulations regarding any merger and until the NBA is satisfied that the ABA can meet these conditions there will be no talks. He did not specify what these conditions were.

The ABA lost its biggest money battle when the Milwaukee Bucks of the NBA won the services for Lew Alcindor for an estimated $1 million.

Kennedy was infuriated over the ABA's hiring of four veteran NBA referees and the signing for future play of such NBA stars as Billy Cunningham, Ham, Dave Bing and Zelma Beaty. Beaty is currently sitting out the Atlanta Hawks' season before joining the Los Angeles Stars of the ABA.

Undefeated UCLA Strengthens Hold On UPI's Top Ranking

NEW YORK (UPI)—UCLA overcoming a slowdown and a speedup, continues to strengthen its hold on the No. 1 ranking among college basketball teams.

The Bruins overcame Bradley's deliberate play and the racehorse tactics of Loyola (Ill.) last week to boost their record to 13-0. The double victory, 61-58 over Bradley and 94-72 over Loyola, earned UCLA 30 first place votes and 343 points from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches in balloting for games played through Saturday, Jan. 17.

Kentucky, which boosted its record to 13-0 with a pair of victories last week, remained second, followed by South Carolina (12-1), St. Bonaventure (10-0) and New Mexico State (11-1).

Jacksonville (13-0) moved up to sixth, followed by Houston, Marquette, Illinois and North Carolina to complete the top 10. Davidson slipped to 11th, just ahead of Ohio University and Texas-El Paso. Columbia was 14th, Southern California took 15th and Pennsylvania and Santa Clara tied for 18th. Wyoming was 18th, North
