Bitter Cold Eases Grip On Midwest

By United Press International
Bitter, chilling, car-stalling, subzero cold finally began to drift away from the Upper Midwest today, leaving every manner of old effect in its wake. Easterners huddled up to receive the unwelcome conditions.

Fargo, N.D., finally warmed up to zero degrees at midnight. The city had experienced 143 consecutive hours of subzero temperatures and four successive days when thermometers failed to exceed 10 below.

Indiana blamed the weather for at least nine deaths. The Penn Central Railroad cancelled two passenger runs between Chicago and Cincinnati when steam generators which heat coaches froze.

In Detroit, a $65,000 fire truck was crushed when a coat of ice collapsed on it as firemen fought a blaze at a vacant hotel. And an Illinois conservator said the extreme cold might result in death to fish because ice and snow on shallow lakes prevented the sun from nourishing aquatic plants which feed them.

The South was not spared as below-freezing temperatures dipped to the Gulf Coast and into northern Florida. Atlanta had a 15-degree reading at 6 a.m.

City Councilmen Preparing Plans For Youth Advisory Unit, News Dissemination

Two new Twin Falls city councilmen are in the process of outlining plans for new agencies they will head.

Paul Ostyn has been named commissioner in charge of a youth advisory unit and Winston Jones will formulate a program for public information.

Mr. Ostyn said, with the council's permission, he plans eventually to form a youth advisory commission. The responsibility of this unit will be similar to those of the other city commissions, he said. A group of young people will make recommendations for youth activities in the community and deal with all matters pertaining to the young people. Mr. Ostyn said he feels it will be good to get more young people involved in city government.

He is in the process now of establishing the duties of the commission, its purpose, etc., and will submit those plans to Mayor Frank Feldman for review. After the mayor studies the plan and makes his recommendations, the plan will be presented to the council for its approval.

Nixon Asks Costly Programs To Combat Pollution, Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon proposed in his State of the Union message to Congress today the most expensive programs in history to combat pollution and crime. While his proposed message dealt extensively with the need for greater federal action to fight inflation, the President told a joint session of the House and Senate that crime and pollution were two areas in which he would recommend unprecedented spending.

even brighter, he said. "America may have the best chance since World War II to enjoy a generation of uninterrupted peace."

With reference to the fight against the growing crime rate, he said: "In referring to budget cuts, there is one area where I have ordered an increase rather than a cut—the request of those agencies with the responsibility for law enforcement."

Solution Hinted To Idaho Dilemma Over School Bonds

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Legislature with word of a possible "temporary solution" to its bonding woes cheering the lawmakers somewhat, went back into session this morning minus 20 of its 105 members.

Despite an Idaho Supreme Court ruling last week that Idaho's bonding law is unconstitutional, the attorney general said the state's property bonds are still unmarketable.

LAGOS (UPI)—Travelers reaching Lagos from Port Harcourt today said Nigerian authorities have eased their restrictions on 80 foreign correspondents who reported scenes of starvation, rape and chaos in former Biafran territory.

Some of the correspondents, including Americans and Europeans, had been confined under guard at the Port Harcourt airport since Tuesday without food, water or bedding.

Civilians returning from the city said the newsmen finally had been permitted to leave the airport for the Presidential Hotel, where they were allowed to rest in the lobby. Many were said to have slept on the floor.

The Nigerian information chief, Sam Eppelle, issued a formal denial that Nigeria had placed any restrictions on the journalists' movements.

Work Expected To Begin On Three Island Park Soon

GLENN'S FERRY — The State Parks Department would like to acquire three more parcels of land, totaling more than 900 acres, to include the entire area of the historic Three Island Crossing.

Jerry Hoover, speaking to the Glenn's Ferry Chamber of Commerce meeting this week, said the main reason the 150-acre site now owned on the north side of the Snake River and 320 acres on the south side was picked is the Emigrant Trail which runs through it.

Included in the total plans for the Three Island State Park development are a visitors center and headquarters building, a large utility structure and comfort stations—two miles of oil road, as well as interpretative trails and transportation routes are planned.

Bids have been opened and work is expected to begin on the Three Island State Park within 60 days, Mr. Hoover said.

There will be an amphitheatre and a 50-unit campground with water and electricity underground to each site. Provided will be a sanitary dump station, underground irrigation, and grassed campgrounds and picnic areas. There will be a swimming area and group picnic area complete with tables and trash cans.

A 15-unit nursery is intended to supply all Idaho's State Parks with trees and shrubs. This will be expanded during the current year, Mr. Hoover reported.

This state park will be able to accommodate 50 families or about 250 to 300 people with overnight facilities per night, open year round. As demand calls it will be expanded to 100 units or more.

Hoover cited some figures about campers in general, saying that there is proof that a family of five will spend an average of $25 per day for food and novelties, not including gas and other trip expenses.

The Hammatt State Park had 60,000 visitors last year by actual count, and it has no flush toilets, running water, electricity, or hot showers. It's just a place to get off the road, he said.

Bids have been opened and work is expected to begin on the Three Island State Park within 60 days now.

Glenn Hill announced a meeting of the Glenn's Ferry Industrial Corp. stockholders for 8 p.m. Jan. 20 at Hanson's Cafe.

Snowmobilers Discovering Pole Creek

A snowmobile course of 30,000 acres in open country and above the 7,500 foot elevation is being discovered by snowmobiling fans of Muple Valley.

Located on the Jarbridge Ranger District of the Juniper National Forest, the Pole Creek area is easily accessible to residents of the Buhl and Castleford area via the Lilly Grade.

Pole Creek is 90 miles from Twin Falls and over 200 miles from many Nevada communities, and for this reason it has not attracted too many residents until recently. But, those who reside in the western part of Twin Falls county say the distance is not great if the Lilly Grade and Rosebush Tract route is used.

"One of the best areas in this part of the country for open country operation of snowmobiles."

Forest Officials say there are no lodging or parking facilities at present, and those going into the Pole Creek area should make certain someone knows where they are going in case of accident or breakdown. Maps of the area are available at the Jarbridge Ranger District office in Buhl.

Scientist Working For Atomic Energy Commission Says Peaceful Use Of H Bomb Can Be Reached In 2 To 5 Years

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Atomic Energy Commission scientist predicted Wednesday that the peaceful harnessing of the enormous energies which now can be produced only by the hydrogen bomb is but two to five years away.

Donnard Eastland, a physicist, was emphasizing the urgency of stepped-up research into a "concept" for a dependent technological wonder of almost equal importance for the world—the vaporization of solid wastes with complete recovery of their reusable elements.

He lectured a national meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics on the concept, "The Fusion Bomb," of which he and William C. Cough, an Atomic Energy Commission electrical-engineer, are joint authors.

At a news conference he gave a honey example of what "the fusion torch" could do: Aluminum now goes into a beer can. The torch could reduce the can to aluminum again to be used for another beer can.

But there can be no "torch" until the extreme heat, around 50 million degrees centigrade, required for the nuclear fusion reaction of the hydrogen bomb can be produced and controlled in fusion reactors which would convert it into usable electrical energy.

All industrialized countries, including Russia and the United States, are now cooperating in developing such reactors. Eastland estimated there are now some 200 "research devices" capable of confining plasmas or gases of the required temperatures and densities.

The "torch" concept is to dispose of wastes in these plasma streams. They would be more than vaporized—their atoms would be "disassociated" and separately recovered. Copper would become copper again, aluminum, aluminum, iron, iron.

Concert At CSI Saturday Is Aimed At Education And Emotional Experience

The "Young People's Concert," which is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the CSI Fine Arts Center, will involve the audience in an educational and emotional experience, according to Nick Bond, chairman.

"Music has always been a power that is hard to explain, but easier to explain to young people before the social unexplainables are added," he said.

The concert will include the "Minute Waltz" timed by John Irving, the middle movement of the "Moonlight Sonata" danced by Melody Youtz, and many other attempts to involve the audience physically, emotionally and educationally, according to Mr. Bond.

Three girls, Cathy Brackett, Linda Talley and Joyce Guyer, will sing a round to typify counterpoint. Others presenting a dance number are Eileen (Dunne) Killen, Don Graybill and Ron Braun.

Mr. Bond said the concert will represent the combined efforts of all music teachers and the Junior Music Clubs which are part of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Tickets can be purchased at local music stores and from Junior Music Club members. Proceeds from the concert will go to the music club scholarship fund.

Nominee Repudiates Speech Backing White Supremacy

By MICHAEL J. CONLON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell has repudiated his "obnoxious and abhorrent" white supremacy speech he reportedly made 22 years ago while running for the state legislature in a small Georgia town.

The 1948 speech was unearthed by a Jacksonville, Fla., television station Wednesday and its copyrighted account, along with a rebuttal from Carswell, was aired nationwide on the CBS-TV evening news.

Station WJXT said Carswell made the speech to an American Legion meeting in his hometown, Irwinton, Ga., while he was editing one of two local weekly newspapers, the now-defunct Irwinton Bulletin. The speech, printed in the paper, was reported as having read: "I yield to no man as a fellow candidate or as a fellow citizen in the firm, vigorous belief in the superiority of white supremacy, and I shall ways be so governed."

The account also said: "I am a Southerner by ancestry, birth, training, inclination, belief and practice. I believe that segregation of the races is proper and the only and correct way of life in our state."
Carswell, a U.S. Appeals Court judge, from his home in Tallahassee, Fla., said in a statement "I do not subscribe to those views now. I am not a racist." He also said: "Specifically and categorically, I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts that they represent. They're obnoxious and abhorrent to my personal philosophy. There is nothing in my private life, nor is there anything in my public record of some 17 years which could possibly indicate that I harbor racist sentiment or the insulting suggestion of racial superiority. I do not and my record so shows. Incidentally, I lost that election because I was considered too liberal."

FPC Hearing On Dam Is In Recess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Power Commission hearings on an application to build the $260 million High Mountain Sheep Dam in the Pacific Northwest were recessed Wednesday until March 17.

FPC Examiner William C. Levy set the new date after completion of cross-examination of 33 witnesses in hearings which resumed Jan. 6.

Levy called for written rebuttal testimony to be submitted by Feb. 27 for further cross-examination of the witnesses to begin on March 17.

The case involves an application by the Pacific Northwest Power Co., Portland, Ore., and the Washington Public Power Supply System, Kennewick, Wash., for joint construction of the hydroelectric power project on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon.

During the two weeks of hearings, witnesses for PNP affirmed the company's preference for an alternate site for the more costly Two-Day Pleasant Valley and Low Mountain Sheep project above the mouth of the Salmon River.

Tiny Tim's Performance Is Seen With Awe By Columnist

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was the anniversary of our first "ween" when "Tiny Tim" was recorded in our diaries with multiple exclamations and capital letters. Naturally we wanted to do something romantic to celebrate.

So I took her to see Tiny Tim. Which was a tough decision.

After all, Washington is famous for its night life. Every evening here is like Sunday in Philadelphia. A chap going out on the town gets dizzy trying to decide which of his two options to exercise.

But the Shoreham Blue Room, where Tiny Tim currently is appearing, is at the vortex of this mad whirl. And since Mr. Tim is America's newest singing sensation, I figured it was an unbeatable combination.

And when he tenderly trilled a few bars of "The Good Ship Lollipop" which always packs a big emotional wallop for anyone over 35, we got plumb misty-eyed.

People who have never seen him in the flesh, so to speak, often ask: "What is Tiny Tim really like?"

The answer to that question is "Yes."

And probably to a greater extent than you might have imagined from seeing him on television.

Chicago Police Are Exonerated As Jury Finds Death Of Black Panthers During Raid Is 'Justifiable Homicide'

CHICAGO (UPI) — A special, blue-ribbon coroner's jury has concluded the deaths of two Black Panther party leaders during a police raid were "justifiable homicide."

The jury qualified its finding, however, in the death of Fred Hampton, 21, Illinois Panther chairman. The verdict said his death was justified, but added that the killing was "based solely and exclusively on the evidence presented to this inquisition."

The death of Mark Clark, 22, a downstate Panther organizer, "was justified," the panel said. Hampton and Clark were killed Dec. 4, 1969, during a pre-dawn raid on their West Side apartment. Fourteen Chicago policemen assigned to the state's attorney's office took part in the raid.

Seven Panthers who survived the raid charged police entered the apartment shooting and "murdered" if a mpton and Clark. Police said the occupants of the apartment fired first. The disagreement prompted the formation of the special coroner's jury.

Dr. James T. Hicks, foreman of the jury, said the jurors could not take into consideration the charges made by Panther supporters since they had to rely solely on information presented at the inquest.

The seven surviving Panthers refused to testify because all face criminal charges of attempted murder and aggravated assault in connection with the raid. The only testimony was from police and expert witnesses.

Hicks said the findings were unanimous. He said the question of who fired the first shot was not of major importance to the jury. Jurors, he said, concentrated on the specific events surrounding the two deaths.

Clark's body was found just inside the front door of the slummy apartment. Police who participated in the raid testified they believed Clark fired the first shot at them, including a blast through the door from a shotgun. Earlier, they said they thought a woman inhabitant fired the shot.

He said a major purpose of the study will be to consider the inter-relationships between desert and man and the effects of man on the desert.

Counselors Advise Parents On Dealing With Students

Adult members of the Twin Falls Parent-Teacher-Student Association were given tips Tuesday night on working with the high school counselors to make education more meaningful for their children.

The four high school counselors presented the program at the high school cafeteria meeting and explained their role in helping the students take the right course for their future.

Principal John Lawrence introduced the four counselors—Kenneth Kall, Mrs. Doris Watts, Frank Scherer and George Holmes. Mr. Lawrence explained that in order to obtain accreditation a high school must have one counselor for each 400 students. He said he hoped with the new addition to the high school building there will be more office space for the counselors.

Mrs. Watts explained the counselor's role in scheduling students. She said they hope to "challenge the students on the level of their ability." She told of the various tests the students are given to determine their level of learning and their aptitudes.

Mr. Scherer said the counselor has a unique role of talking with the student on a one-to-one basis. He said a counselor must have a great deal of common sense and he must only help the student make the right decisions and not make them for him.

He said group session counseling is a new concept, but it works well since most of the young people would rather take advice from someone their own age. He said the groups usually number from 8 to 15.

Mr. Kall told of the preparation and counseling which is given to high school seniors. He said the seniors are counseled individually in the fall. Their records are checked to insure their graduation and to make sure there aren't any short-comings. If the student should lack some credits, he and his parents

Jerome Studies Ordinance To Limit Animals In City

JEROME — Jerome residents who do not appreciate the proximity of farm animals to their city lots will soon have "their day in court."

Councilmen took under advisement a recommendation by Alex Schaffer, who is in charge of enforcement of the town's animal ordinance, that another ordinance be written limiting one large animal to two city lots.

He told the council meeting Tuesday night of instances of at least three horses and one cow on one lot in Jerome.

Mayor Jack Russell said he will study ordinances on the subject which are now in effect in other towns before action is taken.

Robert Hite and Gerald Ostler presented a petition to the council for rezoning of the three lots containing the Bible Baptist church, the Jerome Grange Hall and the Lloyd Williamson residents from residential to business.

Richard Seeley, city attorney, was advised to begin legal procedures and a public hearing will be held on the request at the Feb. 17 council meeting. It was pointed out a hearing on the petition must be held at a meeting of the zoning commission.

Members of the Magic Valley Citizens for Peace will go to Boise Saturday to take part in a "March Against Death" Memorial Day.

Activities will start at 10 a.m. in front of the Capitol building. Marchers will walk to the Boise induction center and hold a rally. It was reported there will be speakers, a mock lottery and a "guerrilla" theatre.

A door-to-door information campaign will then be held starting at noon.

James Clupp, of the area peace group said people will travel to Boise from the Magic Valley area in private vehicles.

Action Predicted On House Bill 304 At Burley Meet

BURLEY — Both Cassia county state representatives feel some adjustment on House Bill 304 will be made in the current session of the Legislature.

During the first telephone luncheon sponsored by the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday with the local legislators in Boise, Rep. James Martin, Burley, and J. Vard Chathurn, Albion, answered questions on several topics.

They told Robert Savvik that so far nothing has happened on the proposal for legislation authorizing regional airports.

A meeting is set for Jan. 29 in Boise with all county representatives.

iffs regarding duties to be retained by their offices and what duties might be shifted to state police jurisdiction.

Rep. Martin said the bill allowing parochial school students to ride school buses has been recommended by the transportation committee.

The legislators said subjects which should come before the session include possibility of lowering the voting age, state fire marshal change in voting for school trustees and the number of signatures needed for voting on a regional airport.

Gary Fegan-Vaughn-Hobson, Farm Bureau members, announced a public meeting for 8 p.m. Thursday at the Burley Junior High School on tax proposals prepared by the organization.

Ed Elliott, chairman of the chamber airport committee, reported on Air Utah and Trans-Magic Airlines trying to give air service to Burley.

Mr. Savvik reported that the air terminal is getting a new face lifting with paneling is being installed. The funds to pay for laying carpet have been donated. Other items needed are paint for the ceiling and office furniture, and some local residents have indicated they would donate some funds toward getting the terminal at Burley airport remodeled.

After a discussion the chamber approved a motion which will be relayed to the Cassia County Representative and Senator, for all state employees and officers to use the Idaho airlines (Trans-Magic) when traveling.

Mrs. Agnes Anderson announced the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Burley from 2 to 6 p.m. Feb. 2 and the Rotary Club will unload and load the equipment.

PEGGY BRADLEY, president of the Oregon Young Democrats, plans a lawsuit to test a state law preventing her from a campaign for election to the state House of Representatives. She will not be 21, required by state law for political candidates, until March 21, just four days after the filing deadline. She claims that she will be 21, and qualified to serve, at the time of election. (UPI telephoto)

Burley Area Gains 592 Telephones In Past Year

BURLEY — Expansion and improvements during the past year are revealed in the report of Mountain Bell Co. for Burley area.

There was a gain of 592 telephones over last year, according to W. D. Gibson, manager of Mountain Bell at Burley. The total now for the Burley area is 8,300 telephones.

Local highlights include increased conversations, cable and wire additions and completion of a rural improvement project which provides customers regardless of location at least four-party telephone service in the Burley area.

The end of the year report also reveals statewide Mountain Bell invested $13 1/2 million in telephone communications projects in 1969 and plans to spend a similar amount in 1970.

Presently the company serves 243,001 telephones in its Idaho service area with a record gain of 13,000 over last year. Idahoans placed an average of more than a million local calls per day. Long distance calls per day average 51,000 or 3,000 more per day than in 1968.

The company employs 1,502 persons in Idaho and has an annual payroll of $12 million which adds greatly to Idaho economy.

The major improvement in 1969 was completion of a five-year multi-million dollar statewide rural improvement program to better serve rural subscribers. The project gives all Idaho rural customers in Mountain Bell's operating area four party or better telephone service.

Idaho is one of the few states nationwide to have this class of service for its rural customers, reported Gibson. During the project 4,000 miles of telephone cable was added with 81 per cent of it buried underground.

Other statewide improvements include building additions at Idaho Falls, Wendell, Castleford and Howe. Subscriber direct distance dialing-of-long-distance calls was provided for Rexburg, Righy, St. Anthony, and Shelley subscribers.

Large central office equipment expansions were installed at Boise, Caldwell, Righy, Roberts, Wendell, Nampa and Idaho Falls.

Microwave systems were expanded and mobile telephone networks improved. Every Idaho exchange received some type of service improvement, according to the report.

Space Food Sticks sold by grocers are slightly chewier and sweeter than original space food, are sized down to about 44 calories. But they will supply lasting energy, good nutrition and high-quality protein. And they taste great.

Space Food Sticks are much more nutritious than usual between-meal snacks.

SPACE FOOD STICKS—A chewy little "energy stick" developed for U.S. Aerospace Research and taken aboard the Apollo moon mission has been made available to the public as a new idea in snack foods.

Developed by The Pillsbury Company under government contract, it was originally meant to be eaten only by the most exclusive "club" in the world—the men who will make long flights in space.

Because Space Food Sticks were intended to supply high energy over long periods of time, they had to have carbohydrates for quick energy, unsaturated fats for lasting energy and plenty of high-quality protein.

Pillsbury scientists worked a year and a half to develop the new food. At that stage it was the nutrition "ideal" the government had specified, but flavor was only "pretty good." So Pillsbury flavor experts went to work to give it snack flavors.

For fast energy, lasting energy and body-building protein

Most snack foods are designed to give you quick energy. And that's all. But Space Food Sticks give you more. Because they're nutritious energy snacks.

Quick Energy
The carbohydrates in Space Food Sticks are easy for your body to digest. So they get energy to the brain and muscles faster than any other food.

Lasting Energy
And that lift will last longer. Because Space Food Sticks also supply a measured portion of fat, the most concentrated source of food energy. Your body needs fat to sustain the energy it acquires.

Many foods have too much fat. But the fat in Space Food Sticks is ideally balanced with carbohydrates and body-building, high-quality protein. That's how Space Food Sticks supply you with nutrition and energy at the same time.

Pillsbury developed many space foods

Sandwiches that won't come apart if you drop them. A "brick" that turns into stew when you add water. Meat that needs no refrigeration, cake that won't crumble, pickle relish in dry, chewy slices—these are just a few of more than a hundred space flight foods that Pillsbury has developed for the U.S. Aerospace Program. It was as part of this effort that Space Food Sticks were developed.

Space men savor a "slice" of chocolate pudding.

Chocolate, Caramel and Peanut Butter flavors

When Space Food Sticks were first developed for the astronauts, the main concern was good nutrition. Flavor was given second priority.

But the public expects a snack that's big on taste as well as big in energy.

So Pillsbury created three delicious flavors for Space Food Sticks, without removing any of the nutrition. Which puts you one up on our men in space.

There's a rich, chocolaty Chocolate. A good, chewy Caramel. And a sweet-tasting Peanut Butter that the kids go for in a big way.

It all adds up to a good-for-you snack that tastes good too.

Space Food Sticks After School

The after-school snack is a recognized necessity for growing children. But this "fourth meal" should be good nutrition like the other three.

Space Food Sticks are the ideal after-school snack, because they supply the lasting energy children need for hard play, as well as high-quality protein that children must have to develop muscle and other body tissue.

And at only about 44 calories a stick, you can let kids snack without worrying about spoiling their appetite for dinner.

Nutritionally Speaking Solves the Daily Snack Problem

The things most people fill up on between meals shouldn't happen to a stomach. But what can Mother give them that is healthier but still tastes snack-y?

Space Food Sticks. Many high-calorie sweet and starchy snacks are what nutritionists have called "empty calories"—very unbalanced nutrition.

Space Food Sticks are good nutrition. Only about 44 calories, but they nourish like a miniature meal.

That's what makes Space Food Sticks the "Super Snack." Super nutritious. Super delicious. And the perfect snack for the entire family. Any time and any place.

44-calorie 'satisfier'

At about 44 calories each, Space Food Sticks are one of the best ways yet invented to fool your stomach into thinking it isn't being neglected.

As anyone who has ever watched calories knows, all food has the same amount of calories: too many. An ordinary donut has around 135 calories. A handful of potato chips, around 200. A slice of apple pie, over 300. Yet how can you get along without them when you're hungry?

A very practical answer is to take one or two Space

Food Sticks (decide on one or two, and stick to that) and chew slowly.

Because they are firm and chewy, Space Food Sticks last a while in the mouth. Because they're nutritious, they satisfy longer than the same amount of sugary or starchy snacks.

Space Food Sticks won't make it easy to control your calorie intake. But they make it a little easier; and that's some consolation, isn't it?

Getting the energy sticks to taste like snacks was one of the great headache-makers of all time at the Pillsbury labs. To change the flavor, you add something to the recipe. This changes the nutrition. So you take something out of the recipe. This changes the flavor. So you add something to the recipe. Nevertheless, they finally made it.

The result was a unique snack, Space Food Sticks. They are a little chewier and sweeter-tasting than the original space food, tasty enough so children think they're candy. But with lasting energy, high-quality protein and nutrition fully equal to the food men could live on in outer space.

Pillsbury scientists sized Space Food Sticks down to about 44 calories each, much less than most snacks.

Space Food Sticks are an ideal snack to give the children-between-meals—instead of just "filling" like most snacks, Space Food Sticks can improve the child's overall nutrition.

For adults too, Space Food Sticks are a handy way to get the energy pick-up so often needed during the day—and so often supplied by high-calorie, sweet or starchy foods.

Space Food Sticks were developed by the same Pillsbury research group that was responsible for over a hundred other space foods.

Nutritionists call this "high-quality protein." It's the kind of protein you find in milk. Just one of the reasons Space Food Sticks are better for you than most things that taste this good.

Space Food Sticks have the type of protein you must eat to build muscle.

It includes eight essential protein "building blocks" that the human body can't manufacture, but must have to build muscle and other body tissues. Children must have these elements to grow and develop properly.

Space Food Sticks are an ideal snack to give the children-between-meals—instead of just "filling" like most snacks, Space Food Sticks can improve the child's overall nutrition.

Portable energy: Take it along

Whether you go a block from home or hundreds of miles, Space Food Sticks are the easiest way yet to carry extra energy along.

Young swingers need lots of healthy energy; Space Food Sticks supply it.

Each Space Food Stick is about four inches long, about as thick as your little finger, and comes in its own dust-tight wrapper. They fit handily into pocket or purse, never smear, melt, crumble or spill.

That makes them perfect for active people on the go. Whatever your activities, wherever you go, Space Food Sticks are a high-energy snack that's as close as your pocket.

Each stick individually wrapped.

Small though they are, Space Food Sticks are very big nutritionally. They combine high-quality protein for muscle building, carbohydrates for speedy energy, and unsaturated fats for lasting hunger satisfaction. Each Space Food Stick is a miniature (about 44-calorie) meal.

Food sticks could be lifesaver in space

The space food sticks developed for the U.S. spacemen might have to do more than simply supply a bright spot in a daily space menu.

In an emergency that required the spaceman to live "buttoned up" in their air-tight space suits, they could not eat the regular space foods. There would be no way to get those foods into the helmet without letting air out.

However, government scientists invented a way for spacemen to eat a thin, round stick of food, without letting the air-escape. This gave the spacemen's food sticks not only their form, but also their nutrition.

Since they might be the spacemen's only food for long periods, they had to supply what most snacks don't: good nutrition. Enough protein, a certain amount of fat, minerals, and so on.

Because Space Food Sticks offer all these values, they have been called "the perfect between-meal energy snack."

Sociologists Cite Newark As An Example Of The Way All American Cities Will Decay Without Major Help

By DEAN C. MILLER
NEW YORK (UPI)—Newark, N.J., seems to have become the first major U.S. city to reach the state of decay sociologists have predicted for all cities unless substantive action is taken, and quickly.

"Special circumstances got Newark there first, but this is the way all cities are heading," said W.L. Kirchner Jr., vice president of public affairs, New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. at a recent seminar sponsored by the National Industrial Conference Board in New York.

"It's true, and other cities ought to take a look at us," said Dan Malafronte, administrative assistant to the Newark mayor. "But we're doing something about it."

Newark and other centers, home for nearly 70 per cent of the population and nearly all of the country's business resources, are losing the fight against blight, age, rising costs, lack of maintenance and population flight to the suburbs. Newark is a classic example of what can happen, according to Kirchner.

Professors Ask Warning On Pills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three medical professors testified Wednesday women should be told in simple language their birth-control pills could cause death by high blood pressure and stroke. But none proposed that they be withdrawn from the market.

The three educators testified before the Senate small business monopoly subcommittee, which opened its second round of hearings on possible health hazards of "The Pill."

Currently, danger warnings must be given doctors who prescribe the pills, but there is no legal requirement that drug makers provide similar warnings directly to the user.

It has one of the highest percentages of population on welfare, nearly 1 out of 5; the highest percentage of commuters, making its daytime population twice that of the night-time; and one of the highest birth-collared populations in the nation, around 60 per cent and only 1 out of those in a highly skilled job.

"There is a minimum but definite hazard to life while using these drugs because of the side effect of causing blood to clot in the veins," said Dr. J. Edwin Wood, professor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

Newark also has the highest crime and disease rate of any large city; the highest population density; the highest proportion now - 12 per cent, living in public housing.

"Certainly any woman taking the drugs who begins to have migraneous headaches, disturbances of speech, vision, motor coordination, or sensation, should stop taking the drugs at once," said Dr. David B. Clark, a neurological expert from the University of Kentucky who warned of the dangers of stroke.

Newark also has a high property tax rate, deriving 70 per cent of its total revenues in that area. Over the last eight years the city has lost 862 employers.

He added that a rough estimate of death from such strokes is 15 per cent, but that chances for good or nearly complete recovery in survivors is about 50 per cent.

Roth Wins Blue Pencil For Talk

In the last several years, a relationship has been clearly established for certain human subjects between the use of oral contraceptives and the development or enhancement of high blood pressure," said Dr. John H. Laragh, professor of clinical medicine at Columbia University.

RUPERT—Ken Roth won the blue pencil for his speech on "Farmers of 1970" at the Rupert Toastmasters Club meeting at the Red Ram Cafe.

All three doctors conceded that research on which they based their conclusions was sparse, but they said it was reliable as far as it went.

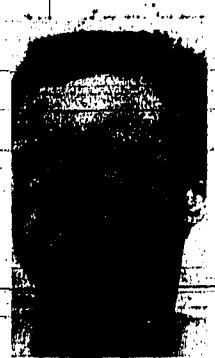

Roth's opponent won the red pencil for the table topics winner, Clifford Nutting gave an icebreaker and Don Redfield was the other speaker. No. 1 Freshman was table topic chairman, Ed Ford was general chairman and Ed Hartman served as grammarian.

The next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 7 at the Red Ram Cafe.

Burley-Rupert Knife And Fork Club To Hear Traveler

BURLEY — Adventurous and personable Lee Quinn will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23, of the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club at Ponderosa Inn.

LEE QUINN

A stepladder, deep-sea diver, stunt flyer, tree topper, explorer, automobile racer and mountain climber, host describes Quinn. In spite of having been all these things, Quinn didn't come into the public eye until a few years ago when he concluded sailing the "Seven Seas" with an all-girl crew which he insists were as efficient as any sea-going "salts" of his experience.

Now 40 years old, Quinn, who does a flourishing business of erecting skyscraper flag-poles, television towers and similar structures, spends his time sailing with his efficient crew of operators bring-in-the-revenue for his adventures.

In fact, Quinn is coming from near Australia just to make a series of addresses before a network of dinner clubs of which the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork is one. Having spent several months in the States, he plans to leave again this time for "where the good takes me."

Three years ago last summer Quinn and his yacht, the Neophyte, made the nation's newspaper headlines. It was while sailing Australian waters that the Neophyte was cut completely in two by a 4,000-ton freighter. It happened in the darkness of night and the incident threatened the lives of the entire crew when they were pitched into the inky-blackness and had to swim for their lives.

Thanks to parts of floating wreckage and "a lot of luck" all hands were saved. In his address in Burley, which might come under the title of "Odd Adventures," Quinn will relate various experiences that have happened to him during his 15 years of adventuring at home and abroad.

"Then," said Malafronte, "you have to consider the Meadows Reclamation Project, started in 1962, which gives us more industrial potential." The city is reclaiming 1,528 acres of swampy land on the approaches to New York City and already has attracted "six to eight companies." The Ideal Toy Co., moving there from Queens, N.Y., eventually will provide 6,000 jobs.

Business leaders around the country are watching Newark's struggle with deep subjective interest. Their cities and plants could be next.

Nixon Pleads For Action On Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, expressing particular concern over the depressed housing industry, appealed anew Wednesday for belittling by all Americans to end inflation as the prime cause of U.S. economic woes.

"The decline in housing production must and will be stopped," Nixon said in a statement following a meeting Tuesday with Housing Secretary George W. Romney and representatives of the National Association of Home Builders.

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford PTA will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school. Rev. Kendall S. North, pastor of the Castleford Baptist church, will present the program. The fifth and sixth grade room mothers will be in charge of the refreshments.

Gun In Desk Sparks Brief Escape Effort

OLATHE, Kan. (UPI)—Thomas Preston Lamb, "an likable sort but wild" who is charged with murdering a college coed and kidnaping a pretty Kansas teenager, "escaped" with a jailhouse sidekick Wednesday and fled with a hostage. They were captured four hours later.

Lamb, 28, and Patrick McKey, a Johnson County Jail trustee, broke out before dawn at the prison. Lamb, who was overpowered a jailer and two radio dispatchers. McKey started the escape.

"He was cleaning up the office and found a gun in a desk drawer," the deputy sheriff said. "It apparently was a spur of the moment thing."

Police captured Lamb only last Friday in a high-speed auto chase after kidnap-victim Patricia Ann Childs, 18, of Overland Park, Kan., was freed for $3,500 ransom.

Lamb was charged Saturday with the kidnap-murder of Karen Sue Kennedy, 24, of Kansas City, Mo., a University of Missouri graduate student. Her body was found Dec. 7 in a snowy cornfield near Olathe, Kan., about 25 miles southwest of Kansas City, Mo.

"The escape touched off a manhunt involving dozens of state troopers, local police and sheriff's officers. A police plane first spotted the fugitives' car near La Cynne, Kan., 40 miles from Olathe.

"The plane then maneuvered state patrol cars to the area and the apprehension was made," a deputy said. "Lamb surrendered. McKey then let the hostage go and it took officers only a few minutes to talk him out of the car."

Special Course Is Offered On Appraisal Of Real Estate

The Idaho Association of Realtors announced today a special course in "The Fundamentals of Real Estate Appraisal" will be conducted in Twin Falls over a 10-week period in the near future.

James Koutnik, real estate appraiser and owner of Western Appraisal and Investment Co., of Twin Falls, will act as the instructor. The course is designed by the University of Idaho and is sponsored locally by the Twin Falls Board of Realtors for the benefit of all realtors and licensees located in the county.

An invitation to attend the series of lectures on basic real estate appraising, conducted by Mr. Koutnik, will include those in related businesses, such as attorneys, accountants, bankers, and other personnel and representatives of lending institutions.

The lecture series will be held from 7 to 9 a.m. Tuesday mornings at the Idaho Power Co. auditorium beginning Feb. 3. The University of Idaho will award certificates of completion for those successfully completing the course.

Mr. Koutnik has been associated with real estate appraising throughout Southern Idaho and Nevada for the past 22 years, during which time he has made appraisals on residential properties, commercial and industrial properties, as well as farms and livestock ranches.

Mr. Koutnik is an accredited appraiser, having received his certificate from the American Society of Rural Appraisers and is currently a candidate for admission as a member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, and also a candidate for admission to the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

He said, "This course will constitute a practical approach to real estate appraising, based on the case-study method in which specific residential and commercial properties in the community will be subject to an actual demonstration appraisal by the class."

Additional information regarding registration may be obtained from Mrs. Joan Brawley, executive secretary, Twin Falls Board of Realtors, 723-6923 or from George Jansky, Twin Falls Realty, 733-3662. Cost of the series for non-members, including the text book published by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, will be $25.

Hike In Utility Rates Is Proposed By Burley Council

BURLEY—Details of the proposed raise in utility rates for the city of Burley are listed by Mayor Garis Robertson.

The proposal would raise water rates from $2.50 to $3.50 per month for 4,000 gallons minimum and irrigation water rates would be $3.50 for 4,000 gallons minimum and 13 cents per 1,000 gallons for the next 30,000 gallons, and $15 minimum per season for low pressure irrigation water.

Final rate for sewer service for single family dwelling would be raised to $2.50 from $1.75 with the $25 sewer connection fee for a four-inch pipe to be hiked to $50 and cost for a six-inch pipe to be $120 instead of $70. The current charge of $100 for connection with 3.8 inch meter would be $150 instead of $100, and $180 for a one-inch meter.

Garbage and rubbish collection fees would be raised from $2 to $3.50 for a single family residence. Commercial units will be entitled to two garbage and rubbish pickups weekly with a charge of $10 per month for a one-yard container. Fees for extra pickups at commercial units will be by the wheel.

Several residents expressed opposition to the proposed raise at this week's council meeting. Mayor Robertson pointed out the proposed increase will not affect the electrical rate.

Consent was also approved renewal licenses for several gas, plumbing and journeyman plumbers, McCarty's Salvage Yard and rooming house owned by Charles Day.

Heard a letter from Al Utah requesting their lease agreement be cancelled as of Jan. 11 for the last flight from Burley.

Approved, with Mayor Robertson voting yes to break a tie vote, payment of a $250 bill for shop lifting control from the Mini Cassia Security police. They then voted to discontinue all services from the group.

Voted to make Railroad Avenue a truck lane after hearing complaints from residents on Eighth Street that the lane is being used as a truck lane.

City Council To Await Decision Of Legislature

Year Miller, city manager, said he expects the city council will wait as long as possible to adopt the 1970 budget due to pending legislation.

He said the council will conduct two budget workshops prior to the regular Feb. 2 meeting. The council may until the end of March to adopt its budget and the council feels it is wise to wait and see if the legislature makes any changes in House Bill 304 before making the final figures.

memo to advertisers

Measuring the audience

The performer who is more interested in the size of the audience than in the number of curtain calls spends most of his time looking for work.

The successful performer recognizes that only effective efforts build responsive audiences. He seeks applause.

The same might be said for newspaper editors.

We must serve and satisfy the editorial needs and interests of people in our area. The validity of this circulation audience and the applause readers give us is registered by the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

ABC-audited paid circulation facts measure readers response in such terms as how much they pay to receive copies, how many copies they buy, where they live, and how their copies are delivered.

As a member of this independent circulation auditing organization, we recognize the power of reader confidence—that they have chosen to be a member of this paying audience of their own volition, and that they will continue to do so only as long as we effectively serve them.

For advertisers, the significant differences between counting the audience and measuring the applause is reader response.

Wood River Could Affect SCIC, Big Six Races In Key Games This Weekend

The Wood River Wolverines, still alive in the South Central Idaho Conference but hurting in the Big Six League, can play a pivotal role in both races this weekend in the highlights of a 21 game weekend basketball schedule.

Wood River has a 1-2 record in the SCIC, trailing Buhi at 3-0 and Gooding at 3-1. A Wood River victory would bring the conference chase back into a horse race while a Buhi decision would appear to make no-teams of everyone but Gooding.

There has been a considerable change in complexion since the last meeting between Gooding and Glens Ferry. In December, Glens Ferry was ripping everything in sight but has settled to 3-3 since the New Year. Gooding, meanwhile, is getting experience into its three sophomore starting group and has turned a 1-4 pre-Christmas mark into a 4-1 record since. Glens Ferry won the first one 68-51. Gooding needs the win to stay on top the Big Six race while Glens Ferry needs it to keep its title hopes alive.

In other Friday action, the Burley Bobcats, coming closer but still not quite getting there, will travel to Blackfoot for an EIC game.

Shoshone, still battling as a Big Six contender, plays host to the Jilder Wildcats, another of the remember December and forget January clubs so far. The Wildcats may be without full service, or perhaps, entirely without, senior Guy Ramsey, the fourth top gun in the area and a 6-5 rebounder. That would help the Indians who haven't anyone much over six feet.

Hansen hopes to make it three in a row when the Huskies host the Kimberly Bulldogs. Hansen owns 71-52 and 77-71 (in overtime) decisions over the Bulldogs and a sweep-of-the-year would break a long precedent for the Huskies.

In the Magic Valley Conference, the Mountain Red Devils, now one game behind pace-setting Oakley, will entertain the Declo Hornets. Both clubs have high scoring capabilities. Declo has been having trouble getting rebounds.

Castleford, looking for its first league win, will travel across the valley to test the Bulldogs at Rockland. Meanwhile, pace-setting Oakley, apparently with only complacency as its chief threat, will go to Malta for an all-county duel with Raft River.

The Northside Conference of five teams, the league featuring Caray Panthers will entertain the Dietrich Blue Devils. Dietrich has put the only loop loss on the Panthers thus far and will have to do it again or the conference race will be very tight.

Friday night, Jerome comes into the scene by invading the area with the Tigers still seeking that first win. Gooding leaves the area to play the Mountain Home Tigers.

Hagerman comes up the hill for a Little Six test at Wendell while Glens Ferry stays on the road, this time visiting Kimberly. In another Little Six meet, the Valley Vikings will host the Shoshone Indians.

In the northside, Camas County and Raft River step out of loop play for a battle at Malta. Rimrock's Raiders are slated to be at Dietrich.

Boatwright Eyes SIC Scoring Record As Minico Entertains Twin Falls Friday

Big Jim Boatwright will break the Southern Idaho Conference individual scoring record Friday night when the Twin Falls Bruins travel to Minico for a second meeting of the season between the area's two Southern Idaho Conference members. Boatwright, who is threatening to shatter about all the records in the area, has scored 118 points in 10 games, just as Cook did, although he will have six more to really pad it. Boatwright currently has a 28.0 seasonal and 29.9 conference mark, the former putting him just above the pace he'll need to break the Magic Valley one-season mark of 576, set by Dietrich's Randy Lee last year. He also is hitting record of 277 points in an SIC a torrid .663 per cent from the field, making 118 of 178 field goal attempts and is 81 for 109 from the foul line at .743. Friday night's battle at Rupert will be important to both teams as they continue feeling each other out for the regional competition in six weeks. But this one means more to the Spartans since they are only one game out of first place in the conference. Twin Falls is out of contention in the league. Minico won the first meeting 62-50. Statistically for individuals and as a team Minico has by far the best of it. In addition to Boatwright, the Spartans have good averages in Mike O'Donnell at 11.1, Terry Ketterling at 9.5 and Darrell Dietz at 9.8. Minico is averaging 72.5 points per game and has outscored opponents about two to one.

Twin Falls' top gun is Allen Howa, a senior guard, who is carrying an 18.1 loop average and is hitting 33 per cent from the field. Howa dropped a free throw percentage in the conference by missing three last week. His percentage tumbled from .844 to .811 for the season and .781 in the league.

Junior Mike Crandall, off three hot nights last week, has moved up in field goal percentage with the team this year and is in the SIC. He is averaging 11.5 points per outing.

Minico Coach Les Roh dismisses the statistical imbalance. "We always have a tough game with Twin Falls and I expect this one to be just as tight as any of them," he says.

Coach Charles Farmer says recent developments at Minico score him now more than ever. "We always felt that Boatwright was going to get a lot of points and while we always gave him a lot of attention we felt the key was holding the other four. Now O'Donnell and Ketterling have started to score well at the forward spots and Dietz can hit from out front. That's a lot of area and talent to try to defend. You can't play Minico one-on-one and come out alive. They're just too tall. We'll just have to go with hustle."

Oilers, Cards Trade Passers, Defense Men

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Oilers coach Wally Lemm says his new quarterback, Charley Johnson, acquired Wednesday in the first major trade between the American and National football conferences, is no superman but he might come to the rescue of a wobbly Houston team.

The Oilers traded starting quarterback Paul Benhard and cornerback Miller Lawrence to the St. Louis Cardinals for Johnson and defensive back Robert Atkins.

The Oilers' quarterback problem, they used three different men during the 1969 season, culminating in a 50-7 loss to Oakland in the AFL playoffs.

Benhard came under considerable criticism from Oilers owner Bud Adams after the game. The former Southern California star was brought to Houston in 1967 by former general manager Don Klosterman who left early this year to become executive vice president of the Baltimore Colts.

"I am very happy about the trade and feel it will benefit the Oilers greatly," Lemm said. "I do not represent Johnson as a superman, but from my experience with him, he is one of the finest quarterbacks from the standpoint of field generalship, leadership and throwing the ball that I have ever seen."

Lemm coached the 31-year-old nine-year veteran from New Mexico State in St. Louis from 1962 to 1965.

The Oilers also had expressed disenchantment with the performance of former all-pro cornerback Farr. The graduate of Wichita State and Beaumont, Tex., native made all-pro in 1968 but did not perform as well last year following a salary dispute.

Farr, 26, played with the Denver Broncos and the San Diego Chargers in 1968. He was graduated from Grambling and played regularly as a rookie but missed most of last season while in the Army.

Benhard, 27, the No. 1 draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1963, also reached Houston in 1967 in a trade involving defensive tackle Ernie Ladd.

Johnson alternated with Jim Hart as the No. 1 Cardinals signal caller. He has completed 2,000 of 2,807 passes for 14,810 yards and 108 touchdowns since entering the league in 1961.

Johnson took over the Cardinals starting position five games deep in the 1967 season but lost most of the 1967-68 seasons because of military service.

The four-man trade was the first major manipulation since the American and National football leagues merged earlier this month.

Declo Beats Glens Ferry In Wrestling

DECLO — The Declo Hornets losing only one match, defeated the green Glens Ferry Pilots 40-3 in a dual wrestling match Wednesday night.

The Pilots prevented the shut-out in the heavyweight division when Wotan pinned Schreck in the second round.

Declo will travel to Oakley Monday night.

Results of the matches, Declo men pinned first, include 101 pounds, Matthews pinned Reisch; 110 pounds, Darrington pinned Reisch; 118 pounds, Steve Darrington pinned Hitesman; 126 pounds, Woodall decisioned Moran; 133 pounds, Steve Matthews pinned Anderson; 140 pounds, Randy Kidd pinned Patrick; 146 pounds, Loveland decisioned Al Ito; 158 pounds, Whipple decisioned Landis; 168 pounds, Turner pinned Johnson; 178 pounds, Tim Gaterhout pinned Doremus; 188 pounds, Dan Gaterhout won by forfeit, and heavyweight, Chrenk was pinned by Wootan.

Bucs Lose Game, Maybe Center

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Los Angeles Stars edged the New Orleans Buccaneers 100-96 Wednesday night in a contest that may have cost the Western Division leading Bucs the services of all-star center Red Robbins.

Robbins sprained an ankle with 37 seconds left in the game. He was scheduled to play in the ABA all-star game Saturday. Team officials said the seriousness of the sprain would not be determined before Thursday.

Robbins scored 26 points before he was injured. Steve Jones led New Orleans scoring with 22 points.

Seattle Will Sue American Loop If Pilots' Franchise Is Moved

SEATTLE (UPI) — Mayor Wes Uhlman served notice Wednesday on the American League and Pacific Northwest Sports Inc. that they will be defendants in a multi-million dollar lawsuit if the Pilots are moved out of Seattle.

"Acting on assurances that the Pilots would be here, Seattle taxpayers invested some $3 million in Sick Stadium, to say nothing of the public's investment thus far in the proposed domed stadium," the mayor said at a news conference.

"I have requested the corporation counsel (city attorney) to prepare for immediate litigation should the franchise be removed from Seattle. We have very strong grounds for a legal action," he said.

Uhlman said he had met with the city's attorney to review alternatives.

Action for breach of lease agreement.

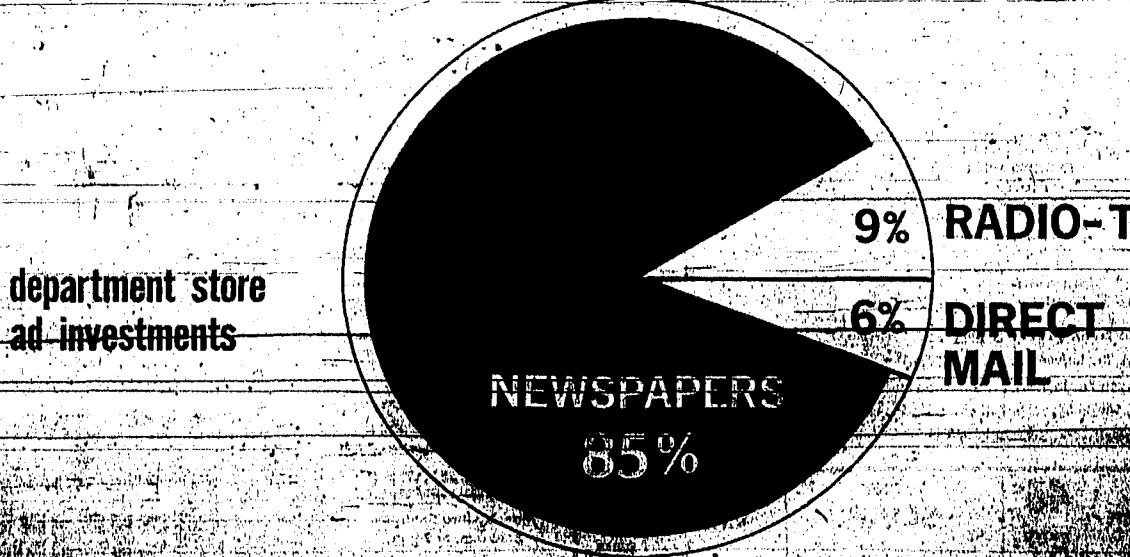

Action for damages by the amount the city spent to improve Sick Stadium to meet American League standards.

Uhlman said he also is asking Sens. Henry M. Jackson and Warren G. Magnuson, both D-Wash., to pursue legislation specifically making major league baseball subject to the Anti-Trust Act.

Uhlman's announcement came less than 24 hours prior to Thursday's 3 p.m. deadline the American League has given to a complete financing for purchase of the Pilots.

The PARIS and PARIS Jr.

DEAR ABBY: Please do not disclose my name, or where this letter is from, just sign it "DISGUSTED WITH CELEBRITIES," and let me have my say.

I am in a business which caters to people who want the best and expect to pay for it. My problem, Dear Abby, is getting any money from some of these celebrities. If I were to mention the names of some celebrities who have been paid thousands of dollars, you'd say I was lying.

Don't say, "Sue them!" It costs money to sue people, and collection agencies take a big percentage of whatever they can get out of some of those deadbeats.

Give me the honest, quiet rich "nobodies" who pay their bills, and you can have the celebrities who think they're doing you a favor by "honoring" you with their accounts.

DISGUSTED WITH CELEBRITIES.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my woman, or groups of women, come to our home, my husband immediately stops everything to join us.

To me, this is wrong. Whenever a man (or men) come to see HIM, I make myself scarce, and I wouldn't think of joining the men unless invited.

It is the same when we are in mixed company. He is always wherever the women are. What is wrong with him? It is very embarrassing.

SOMEBODY'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I read your letter from "NO SAINT" and can appreciate his problem. I happen to be a SQUARE JOHN (ever been convicted who is associated with the SEVENTH STEP FOUNDATION, an organization to assist convicts and ex-convicts. We try to find jobs, living quarters and offer friendship, advice and counseling.

"NO SAINT" and any others with this problem can write to THE SEVENTH STEP FOUNDATION, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. 94106, and we will direct him to the nearest chapter who will take over from there.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN P. FINSLAND,
President

DEAR ABBY: Your husband has no fun in the presence of women. And if he's the only man, he probably enjoys it all the more. It's not a serious offense, but rather a petty fault. Tell him (without ruffling his feathers) to leave the hen parties to the hens.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply enclose stamp, addressed envelope.

DEAR JOHN: I have checked you out with the Shell Oil Company for whom you work, and you are A-O-K. A million thanks.

DEAR ABBY: For reasons of health, I must have all my teeth extracted soon, and here is my problem. First I should tell you that I am a 45-year-old grandmoher.

Abby, I have always had a very ugly mouth. My teeth stuck out in front, and to make matters worse, they were parted in the middle.

A crown of seed pearls with beaded tear-drops perched on the Venise lace clip holding her elbow-length veil with a butterfly veil of English silk tulle. The bride carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses in natural foliage, and a white hand-crocheted handkerchief given to her by Mrs. H. J. Roehl, her maternal grandmother. Attendants were Karla Meigs, maid of honor, and Betsy Meigs and Cathy Dillon, sisters of the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Jerry (Nita) May and Mrs. Mike (Pam) Powers, both Pocatello, bridesmaids.

Mrs. Reid (Becky) Call registered guests. Vicki Brown and Carolyn Harvey received the gifts brought to the church. Mrs. Charles Allen played the traditional hymns, assisted by Becky Sullivan as soloist.

A reception in the Fireside Lounge of the church was held after the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a white lace skirt and overlace, was accented with pink satin bows with small white ruffled bells. The three-tiered wedding cake, centering the table was decorated with pink roses, white sugar slippers holding sprays of lilies in the vase and roses, white sugar bells, and was topped with a white frosted and bridgroom silver candelabra with white candles flanking the wedding cake which was cut and served by Mrs. Charles Perkins.

BEST TRUMP PLAY: FINESSE TWICE

A lot of experts feel that it is lowering their pride to tell their partners that they have a very good hand. We agree with George Gooden that the simpler you make the bidding the better.

North's hand is worth 10 points (17 high cards and two for distribution) and he should respond two spades. South rebids his hearts and then signs off at three no-trump to show his minimum, but North checks for a spade by means of blackwood.

Hand analysis for bridge. NORTH: AKJ84, Q42, A, KQ73. WEST: 1095, K7, QJ108, 10982. EAST: Q73, J06, 98532, J4. SOUTH (D): A5, AQ1063, K74, A85. Card counts: West-North-East-South: Pass-2-3-4, Pass-3-4-5, Pass-4-5-6, Pass-5-6-7. Opening lead: Q.

Women Along Pacific Coast Believed 'Best-Proportioned'

MEASUREMENTS - That charged as morals offenders, those old boys who manufacture Burglars, no. Robbers, not ladies' garments come up with some fascinating facts about feminine figures has already been mentioned. For instance, their nationwide sales reveal that to indicate girls in the country have the largest bust lines, girls in the Central States have the broadest hips, girls in the Deep South have the smallest waists, girls on the Atlantic Seaboard have the tightest feet, and girls along the Pacific Coast have the best proportioned figures overall.

OPEN QUESTION - During which Rose Bowl game was it that a quick kick deflated the football? THERE ARE just about as many Americans over the age of 65 as Americans under the age of 5. If YOU'RE EXACTLY 10 pounds overweight, you carry an extra six miles of blood vessels. THE FIRST DAY of May and Christmas day in any given year always fall on the same day of the week.

UNSPOKEN POLICY - It is the practice of numerous newspaper editors to print photographs of any local boys who are known to be involved in a crime.
