Beauty Of White Clouds Should Be Protected, Hickel Says In Burley

Meeting Honors Hansen

BURLEY — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel is against developments such as the mining venture planned in the White Clouds area unless there are guidelines which would result in such an area being reclaimed after the development is over.

He discussed his views at Burley Friday night as he attended and was principal speaker at a banquet honoring Rep. Orval Hansen and which was attended by nearly 600 persons from over Idaho and neighboring states. The $30-a-plate affair was billed as a "salute to our congressman" and practically all Republican leaders in Idaho were present.

Rep. Anderson Endorses Atom Waste Dumping

Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., the third ranking party member of the House of Representatives and a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said he would not believe that any present methods used in the disposal of atomic wastes will bring any harm to humans or their environment.

The Illinois Congressman was to Burley to participate in the banquet honoring Orval Hansen, Idaho's second district Congressman. The banquet, at the Pon-

Communist Rockets Hit Da Nang Area

SAIGON (UPI)—A rocket barrage early Sunday morning hit the Da Nang area where allied intelligence reports indicate Communist forces may mount a major offensive.

First reports made no mention of casualties or damage. The number of rockets was not immediately reported. First missile struck the area, but destroyed areas which could be destroyed permanently.

Thousands of American and South Vietnamese troops are located in the Da Nang area. A second rocket strike was reported Thursday against the possibility of an offensive by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces. Intelligence data indicated the push might come in early February.

Proof Positive

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI)—A radio station apparently fell into disfavor with Frankenstein Friday. An announcer, following a Frankenstein movie commercial, said "If you hear of anything happening to WFLA today, you'll know it's a Frankenstein has destroyed our station."

A transmitter-fuse blew immediately after the statement, knocking the station off the air for 30 minutes.

Egyptian Planes Hit Foe

On Raid Close To Israel

By United Press International

Egyptian planes struck at Israeli positions along the Suez Canal Saturday after bombing the occupied town of El Arish on the Mediterranean in their closest raid to Israel in 22 years. In South an ammunition-laden Israeli truck blew up, killing at least 17 persons.

An Israeli government spokesman said at least 33 other persons were injured, some critically, when the military truck full of high explosives exploded with a roar that rocked the crowded quay in the military harbor of Israel's key Gulf of Aqaba port city Saturday.

Bids Are Read For Leveling 4 Properties

Three bids for demolition of four properties in downtown Twin Falls have been opened at the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency office.

Contract has not been awarded yet. James Kelch, executive director of the agency, said the bids will have to be studied by the agency's consulting engineer and agency members.

Police Find 'Mad Sniper' Uses Ball Bat

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two dozen police crouched in cover behind their patrol cars Saturday, dodging the "bullets" of a "mad sniper" who vowed to kill children.

New LDS President Expects No Major Change In Policy

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Mormon church President Joseph Fielding Smith indicated Saturday he sees no immediate change in administrative policies but urged members to more closely obey God's laws.

One day after being selected by the church in Salt Lake City, Smith said he had "a great many thoughts" on being nominated.

Wife Denies Spouse Slew Yablonskis

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The wife of one of three men accused of the slaying of a United Mine Workers (UMW) official Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski, his wife and daughter, says his husband was not at the time of the crime.

Mrs. Joan Martin said her husband, Aubrey, 21, "couldn't do a thing like this."

U.S. Speeds Relief To Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—Nigeria Saturday withdrew its limits of hostility toward a visit by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and moved its best disciplined troops into former Biafra areas to replace men accused of terrorizing hungry refugees.

U.S. relief efforts were expedited. Fifty American jeeps that arrived Friday aboard two U.S. C-17 transport planes were being painted white and registered.

Satellite To View Weather Around Globe

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Tros-M, the first of the United States' second generation of weather satellites, was launched into orbit Friday to provide better coverage of the earth's weather at less cost than any of its 18 ancestors.

Tros-M was orbiting the earth every 115 minutes over the poles and its television camera are scheduled to go into action next week.

Department of Highways, and Ed Peterson of Jones-Obitger and Associates, architect for the downtown improvement program. The Twin Falls City Highway Traffic Safety Commission conducted the meeting.

David Mead, chairman of the Design Committee of the Downtown Improvement group, urged the highway organization to consider the possibility of re-routing through traffic on streets parallel to Shoshone Street, possibly via a one-way street.

Affairs Panel Will Discuss Drug Control

BOISE (UPI)—The Senate State Affairs Committee, accomplishing more than the entire legislature Saturday, set up hearings for Monday and Tuesday on a controversial proposal to strip the State Board of Pharmacy of its narcotics control powers.

The bill, which failed in the last session of the legislature, would take enforcement of narcotic drug penalties from the Pharmacy Board and turn it over to the Department of Law Enforcement.

WILSON, NIXON TO MEET LONDON (UPI)—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and President Nixon will meet in Washington early next week for a two-day conference on a wide range of political issues.

Rev. Hoffman Leaves T.F. For Pastorate In Oregon

Today is Rev. Donald Hoffman's last day with the Twin Falls First Christian Church. Rev. Hoffman, who has been in Twin Falls for the past 12 years, will be leaving this week for Tillamook, Ore., where he will pastor the Christian Church there, effective Feb. 1.

Since today is Rev. Hoffman's final day with the local church, the congregation of the church is having a reception for Rev. Hoffman, his wife, Eleanor, and his daughter, Kathy. The reception will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the church's basement. Rev. Hoffman was born in Denver in 1913. His father was a physician. Rev. Hoffman received most of his education in Indiana. He received his A.B. degree from Butler University at Indianapolis with a double major in classical Greek and the Bible. He has two graduate degrees, bachelor of divinity in 1938 and master of arts in 1942. He had served several churches in Indiana before coming to Idaho in 1948 from Akron, Ohio. The Hoffmans lived in Emmett for 5 1/2 years before coming to Twin Falls on Feb. 1, 1958.

Rev. Hoffman is a member of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, Knights Templar and has served as president of the Twin Falls Ministerial Association. A few years ago he was active in heading the Christmas Parade committee.

One of Rev. Hoffman's major contributions was starting the Drive-In Church during the summer months at the Motor-Vu Drive-In Theater. He started it 12 years ago and has been continuing since.

Rev. Hoffman was at one time a member of the Salvation Army Board of Directors and the Twin Falls Housing Authority Board.

Since Rev. Hoffman has been pastor of the local church, the membership of the church has increased by 654 persons and during that time, the church has acquired two pieces of property adjacent to the church on Sixth Avenue North. Also an elevator has been installed in the church as well as extensive remodeling to the church and parsonage. Mrs. Hoffman is a third grade teacher at Lincoln School and has been the church's organist since 1958. She also is active in the young people's program of the church.

The Hoffmans have four children. Don, the oldest, is a graduate of the University of Oregon, has served four years in the Navy in the West Pacific as an officer and is a National Merit Scholar winner. Carl, the second son, is preparing for the ministry at the Emmanuel School of Religion in Tennessee.

Another son, David, is a graduate of Northwestern University and is completing his masters at Yale, majoring in zoology. Another son, is a junior at Arizona State University. He also is majoring in zoology.

The Hoffmans have one daughter, Kathy, who is attending O'Leary Junior High School. Rev. Hoffman said, "We have really liked Twin Falls, the people here and the climate. I think one of the things that has helped my family is the emphasis on music in the local schools."

Mr. Hoffman was one of the original 25 men on a committee that started the college 13 1/2 years ago.

All friends of the Hoffmans are urged to attend the reception Sunday afternoon. There are a number of por-

Arranging Of Flowers Is Demonstrated

Flower arrangements for St. Valentine's Day, winter bouquets of dried material or artificial flowers and grocery and the use of figurines and other objects in arrangements were illustrated Thursday night by Wilma Hodder, Twin Falls, for adult patrons of the Twin Falls Library.

Flowers for the demonstration were furnished by Grandall's Flowers of Twin Falls. Using a color brochure, Mrs. Hodder demonstrated a simple but attractive bouquet with yellow chrysanthemums and greenery. She also used carnations and miniature roses for a Valentine's Day nosegay and another Valentine arrangement of red carnations accented with colorful packages of life savers and chewing gum.

Approximately 25 persons attended the program. On Feb. 12, Mrs. Richard Reed, home demonstration agent for Twin Falls County, will present some information for shoppers and homemakers on cutting costs in buying for the home and family.

Another program this month featured up-to-date trends in hair styling, presented by Juan's College of Hair Design.

Mr. Juan predicted that the beauty parlor of the future will concentrate on a shampoo, curl and comb out in 20 minutes to accommodate the working woman or busy housewife.

He said Twin Falls has a number of outstanding beauty operators and most are well trained and interested in giving proper care to the beauty needs of local women.

Grandmother's curling iron has gone along, he said, with the electrically rolled hair and built-in hair conditioning equipment. Dig now is color, he said, with rinses now used to enhance the natural color of the hair.perms are designed to follow the natural curve of the hair. The expert suggested the wise customer will spend money on the hair cut which is the most important item of care and the basis for curl and styling.

Former Builder Will Direct Activities Of Labor Camp

Appointment of a new manager for the Twin Falls Labor Center south of the city was announced Friday by Carl Boyd, vice chairman of the center's board of directors.

Larry Lloyd, formerly of Nampa, and recently employed by Nelson and Miller Construction Co., has been named to manage the labor center. He succeeds Stanley Cron who retired this year.

Mr. Boyd said Mr. Lloyd, who moved to Twin Falls recently, has been in the building and construction business for a number of years. He is presently renovating the home at the camp and will be moved in prior to the spring labor season. Mr. Lloyd said:

One of his responsibilities as camp manager, Mr. Boyd said, would be to work with new state regulations in upgrading the local labor center. Although the local camp has always maintained a high rating, Mr. Boyd said new regulations will be in effect for the coming season. Refrigerators have been purchased for the homes and will be installed in the near future. There are a number of por-nent families at the center who occupy the homes, but the majority of the camp population is migratory workers and their families recruited by the Amalgamated Sugar Co. for spring and fall field work.

Depending on seasonal needs, the camp's population runs from 700 to 1,100 persons, Mr. Boyd said.

Administration of the camp, in addition to the manager's duties, is under direction of the board of directors. Charles Carter, Hansen, is chairman; Mr. Boyd is vice chairman, and other members include Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls and Martin Lerman, Piler.

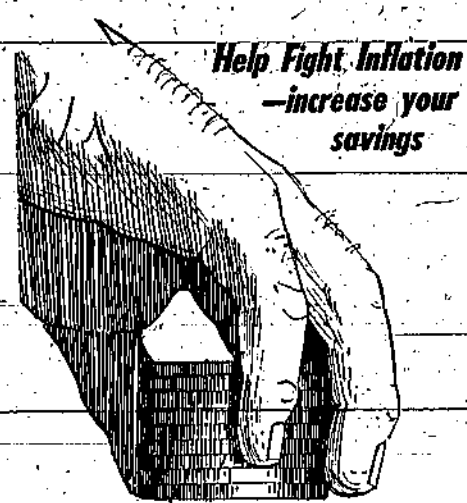

Workers generally express a preference for the Twin Falls camp, Mr. Boyd said, because of the many trees, the lawn and the excellent play area for children.

Nixon's Advisers Cross Their Fingers

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's leading advisers on the Vietnam war crossed their fingers and dotted the 'i's on a "final" and vital plan of grand strategy at an unpublished meeting of the National Security Council Tuesday...

force time to work on our side. It involves a big push by the rapidly improving South Vietnamese forces to destroy the Viet Cong organization within South Vietnam while Vietnam troops, with some assistance from American forces, are holding the frontlines against a "new offensive" by the North Vietnamese...

The strategy is based on two assumptions: 1. That the big battles of 1968 which so infuriated American war protesters because of the heavy U.S. casualties were in fact a large-scale defeat for the Communists. 2. That the success of U.S. and South Vietnamese troops had in beating back 1968's Tet offensive was a shot... in the arm for the South Vietnamese in that it showed them they could fight. Most of those at the NSC session agreed that holding the frontlines is the key to the grand strategy. If the frontlines can be held, the Communists should be able to search out and destroy the enemy within — the Viet Cong — whose local organization was exposed when U.S. and South Vietnamese troops "rescued" the countryside after the Tet offensive.

It's a gamble, all right. In the final analysis, the success of Nixon's grand strategy depends on the time element. This is to say, the local Viet Cong cells must be destroyed and the South Vietnamese army must be ready to take over the war before public opinion forces the President to withdraw most of the American forces.

On Press Handouts

Two proposals have been made by members of the Twin Falls city council. One, calling for creation of an advisory committee of youthful members to deal with matters involving young people is meaningful. The other, which calls for a public information representative in other words a public relations man — is unnecessary.

of the news media were spreading rumors relating to activities of the council. Neither were we aware that the information we were printing was not accurate. While there is nothing new in the idea of a press representative, we believe that for a community the size of Twin Falls it is not necessary. It has been our practice to "cover" council meetings and report them to the general public. It has been our policy to interview various city officials on various projects and expenditures. This has gone on for years and has been entirely successful.

"It Hurts Too Much To Laugh But I'm Too Old To Cry"

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Next in parcel The shade of the martyred Rev. Martin Luther King must be eloquently pacing the streets here over the involvement of certain persons and certain ideologies in yesterday's national observance of his birthday. In common with other crusaders of history, the Rev. No Fur Farm Fun

WASHINGTON — The man fur coat has put a terrible strain on all our furry animals. Everything from mink to raccoons is in tremendous demand, and it is impossible to fulfill all of the orders. I didn't realize how serious it was until I visited a fur farm in Upstate New York. I talked to a male mink named Emba who seemed to be very tired.

New Nominee

President Nixon's apparent determination to appoint a Southern appellate judge to the Supreme Court may succeed with the nomination of George Harold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla. Carswell will have some opposition from civil rights advocates on the basis of a few integration cases in which his decisions were reversed on appeal.

conflicts of interest in his private affairs, especially his stockholdings, and his public duties. One indication of Senate sentiment came from Richard S. Schweiker (R-Pa.), who voted against Carswell's confirmation but said he would support Carswell and was satisfied with the Justice Department's investigation of his record.

Steady Rise Of Red Sky Spies

WASHINGTON — Russia is putting into space an increasing number of camera-equipped satellites to observe U.S. and Red Chinese airfields, missile sites, naval bases and other military installations. The first of these "spy-in-the-sky" satellites as compared to 29 in 1968 and 22 in 1967.

space center has played an important role in the development of the Soviet's fractional orbital bombardment system — FOBS. The FOBS is a flat trajectory missile capable of circling the globe the long way to hit targets in the U.S., thus avoiding radar installations in Greenland and other strategic points.

FOBS tests in 1966 firing 11 of its one potentially devastating long-range weapons. In 1968, only two were tested. It is assumed this decline was due to technical problems. U.S. authorities also have evidence that the Soviets are experimenting with satellite killers, in which a satellite is put into space and then destroyed by exploding a device near it.

Honest Men

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some years back a number of us spent more than a year to find an able, honest man to run for our local county board of supervisors. Our schools were in very bad shape and getting worse. Our local science centers were such a number that an unusually high number of our high school graduates failed their college and physics and chemistry courses or barely managed to get by. Other government activities were equally bad.

BERRY'S WORLD

This man withdrew from politics, devoted less time to his business. Of necessity, he had to spend more of his energy on this bribery accusation (for defending yourself against a bribery charge, it turns out, is quite a task even when you are innocent).

But the matter, of course, finally did come to trial. The federal attorney presented his case. The defense witnesses were never called. The judge threw the case out of court and harshly chastised the federal prosecutor. For, as the trial evidence disclosed, the man had not voted for the rezoning after all.

It's really groovy! Whenever they use canned laughter, he pushes the button on his 'Bag of Laughs'!

Fire Chief At Buhl Leaves For Vietnam

BIDLL — Lee Monroe, Buhl fire chief since May, 1967, has resigned to accept employment with the Pacific Architects and Engineers. He will leave Wednesday to serve as a fire chief at one of the company's installations in Vietnam.

The agency with which Monroe has signed an employment agreement is responsible for providing civilian employees for the Department of Defense at overseas military complexes. He will report to the company's office in Saigon for assignment and as the military effort escalates, the training of South Vietnamese will be a major requisite.

Mr. Monroe, his wife and family, came to Buhl in 1967 from Los Angeles where he had been in fire fighting service. They purchased a farm south of Buhl where Mrs. Monroe will remain since at the present time the Republic of Vietnam does not permit dependents of Americans to reside in the country.

It is anticipated this rule will not be modified at which time Mrs. Monroe plans to visit her husband and may be able to join him there during the term of his employment.

Applications are now being taken for the position of fire chief and applied for by Mrs. Monroe's son, who is available at the office of the Buhl city clerk.

Hearing Set On Filer's City Budget

FILER — A public hearing on the city budget has been set for 7:30 p.m., Feb. 3 in the Filer city hall. The proposed budget for the year has been compiled by the city clerk.

City Council members announced council appointments: Gilbert Chandler will serve as council chairman; Richard Schwelzler and Max Henry will serve on the finance committee, and Ralph Eaton and Gilbert Chandler will serve on the streets and sidewalks committee.

Ken Thurman has been named city clerk, city treasurer and police judge. E. M. Rayburn is city attorney; Leo Ross, police chief and maintenance manager, and Merle Allison, fire chief.

The council has recently approved a pension plan for city employees under the state retirement program to cover all five full-time employees. The council plans to review in the near future a hospital insurance program for city employees under the Idaho Association of Cities.

Grange Is Not Sponsoring Meet

DIETRICH — Grange Master Dean Durfee announces the meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the Dietrich grange hall where film on sex education will be shown. It is not sponsored by the grange.

The event, advertised as sponsored for a showing of film and an explanation on Idaho Families United, is being promoted by individual citizens of the community who had secured permission to use the grange hall for the meeting.

Ponderosa Inn Friday night, made the observation in response to a question put to him by a Thruway representative during a press conference.

"I was wondering if in our lifetime, your Sawtooth Bill will ever get out of committee," the Thruway representative asked.

Rep. Hansen's reply: "I would say that if we live through this year, that in our lifetime the bill will get out of committee and be passed."

He added that the bill may end up including only the Sawtooth, and not also the White Clouds area, but that if this was the case then the White Clouds would be brought up in another bill.

A Sawtooth bill has successfully passed the Senate but Hansen bogged down in the House and Rep. Hansen's statement that Burley is the first concrete suggestion that its movement out of the committee and to a favorable vote of the House membership is expected.

Roughly, the bill would follow the multiple use concept in management of the Sawtooth area rather than the single use of National Park status.

Spelling Bee Set April 27 At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The Lincoln County spelling match will be held April 27, according to chairman for the Legion, Elmer J. Terry. The American Legion sponsors the annual event.

The contest has been an annual affair for the past six years with entries from Shoshone, Dietrich and Richfield schools.

Contests are to be held for the first and second grades; the third and fourth; the fifth and sixth; seventh, eighth and ninth and for the last three grades of high school.

The contest will be held at the local high school since the winner last spring was from Shoshone school.

Judges and persons pronouncing the words will be named.

Other Legion committee members include Harry Eden, Herb Cove and Orndy Hobert Lewin.

Idaho Legislature Meets Briefly In Saturday Session

BOISE (UPI) — The second half of the 40th Idaho Legislature, meeting in its first week through its business in near record time, then adjourned for the weekend.

LDS Continue Tradition In Naming Chief

SALEE LAKE, GUY (UPI) — President Joseph Fielding Smith, apostle to president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Friday continues a tradition in the selection of presidents begun with Brigham Young.

More than three years after Joseph Smith was killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill., and after Young led the first group of Mormon pioneers to Utah in 1847, the church's Council of Twelve Apostles, of which Young was senior member, elected him president of the church.

The pattern of elevating the man who has served longest in a tradition-unbroken since that time, even though nothing in church teachings says it has to be that way.

In the century, the church's First Presidency has been reorganized within a week or two after the president's death. Shortly before his death in 1898, the fourth Mormon leader, Wilford Woodruff, directed that Joseph Fielding Smith be elected to the office of the previous half century which had left the twelve apostles in command for as long as three and one-half years between presidents.

Church leaders since then have been appointed shortly after funeral services were concluded for their predecessor. The Council of the Twelve, composed of as many members as the dissolved First Presidency leaves, has been the recent instance this was followed by the task of selecting a new prophet and does it, after discussion, by unanimous vote.

The exact manner in which the selection is made has not usually been made public. However, President Smith's history of the church describes the nomination of the eighth president in 1845 by the second in seniority as:

"The brethren assembled in conference to select a prophet and to determine upon the conclusion of which, on motion of Elder George F. Richards, President George Albert Smith was sustained as president of the church."

Members of the church accept the appointment of a prophet to lead them as a manifestation of the divine will. They are asked to sustain the choice at annual General Conferences and during conference at a local level. This they do by voting their right hands as a vote of support for their leader.

Red Germans To Veto Brandt On Parley Proposal

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists gave new indication Saturday they might reject West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's offer to negotiate because it falls short of their demand for international recognition.

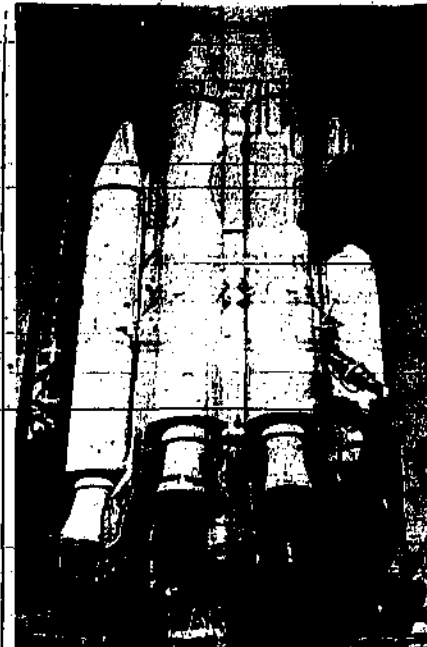

The official East German Communist Party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, told Brandt that only "realistic and acceptable" proposals for East-West German talks is the East German proposal presented last month for a nine-point treaty.

Growing Racial Tension In Armed Forces Stirs Concern

By JAMES RUSSELL. SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. military study of racial tensions in the armed forces warned Saturday of increasing confrontations between black and white soldiers, particularly during duty hours.

"Racial discord is the greatest moral problem and the most difficult challenge to the (armed forces) leadership today," the report said.

"All indications point toward an increase in racial tensions in the Army. Unless immediate action is taken to identify the problem areas at the squad and platoon levels, increased racial confrontations can be expected."

The report covered military installations in the United States as well as in foreign countries, and it concluded that the situation in Vietnam was better than some other places. Lt. Col. James S. White, deputy Army chief of staff for personnel, was in Saigon to study the problem here.

The report said racial tensions were generally worse overseas than at home. And it singled out Germany as "one trouble spot."

"In 1968, there was a total absence of racial tension in the firebases of the night defensive positions in Vietnam," the report said. "These installations were held by frontline soldiers who are in danger of attack."

The report said the worst racial incident in Vietnam was the August, 1968 riot at Long Binh Jail, the Army's disciplinary stockade 18 miles northeast of Saigon. One soldier was killed and 63 injured in the riot.

The report said attitudes of young Negro soldiers have changed in the past 10 years. "His reaction to his continuing perception of racial discrimination has shifted," the report said.

"Formerly, his typical response was hard work and endurance. Today, however, in the young black soldier, there is likely to be more personal and racial pride, more bitterness at real or imagined injustices and often even a chip on his shoulder."

An officer briefing Washington on the report said: "The average young Negro soldier tells us that he resents having his newly found racial pride confused and misinterpreted as evidence that he is a black militant."

Investigators found that white soldiers generally got along with their black counterparts during duty hours. But during off-duty time the white soldier sees the new black awareness as a threat to his security and seeks the companionship of other whites for protection and friends.

Secret Study Indicates Nixon's Welfare Program Could 'Break Up' Some Families

By MICHAEL L. POSNER. WASHINGTON (UPI) — How often Nixon's priority welfare reform plan might break up poor working families, put some on welfare and indirectly finance purchase of color television sets, according to a secret congressional study.

The report says that by extending welfare to working families "the government, in a sense, would be telling a working father that he is officially not capable of supporting his family at what the government believes is the necessary level. One possible reaction of some fathers may be to let the government take over the job of completely supporting his family."

The report also says the plan raises a possibility that two brothers rooming together at college could qualify as a family. Another criticism says some families might buy goods to lower their cash assets — a color TV for example — to qualify to sign up for welfare.

Under Nixon's family allowance plan, working families with children where a mother and employed father are in the home could be covered under welfare for the first time. Now, a working father with a mother in the house rules out the family for federal welfare payments, even if the income is low. However, some states pay welfare to working families from their own funds.

The Nixon proposal would include the working poor and provide a family of four for example, a minimum $1,000 income a year. The payment would be reduced as the family earned more but it could earn up to $1,950 before the allowance is cut off.

The analysis raises a number of so-called "issues," rather than conclusions about Nixon's proposal. Among the points raised: No evidence has been presented that fathers in working poor families desert to qualify their families for welfare. In fact, the study says, evidence shows the desertion rate higher in states which now cover the working poor under all-state finance programs. "Under the proposal the only way the father who wants to stay with his family can have more children," the report states the father in a poor working family can't earn more money under the proposal because presumably he is earning as much as he can. When he looks at how the program applies to his family, he only soon realize that the only way for him to increase his income is to have a larger family."

Government supplements to the wages of the working poor could create a "second class" of cheap-labor employees.

OPINION

QUESTION
Why do you think farm prices stay so low in comparison with the rise in the cost of living?

LOCATION
Interviews were taken at Jack Woodman Grocery Store and Paul Drug in Paul and Foodland Grocery Store in Rupert.

ANSWERS
Duobe Bassler: "I really don't know. We need a raise in the economy in this section, where we rely on the farm. If farmers don't make money here, nobody makes it. We need more industry."

Ulna Uhrich: "I'm not a farmer. I don't have an opinion. I haven't given it much thought. I presumed they were going along with the rest of us."

Jerry Rowland: "I don't live close enough to the farm to know the problem. They just don't get any price. NFO is coming in to try to organize the farmers. The average farmer is going to need help. They are not organized and until they get organized the small guy can't do anything. The big ones are getting larger and the little ones are going out."

Gene Short: "Poor distribution, you might say. By golly, I don't know. Just too many middle men. Too many people get their fingers in the pie before it gets to the consumer."

Deeble Uhrich Rowland Short

Draper Hill Decker Williamson

Rex Draper: "I would think probably too many middle men."

Janet Hill: "I really don't know. I haven't given it much thought. Too many middle men take the profit. Inflation is part of it."

Malcolm Decker: "Too much politics and government in it."

Mike Williamson: "I can't think of anything. I work at a potato plant and they waste a lot. They buy from the farmers, then throw half of it away or feed it to cows. There's a tremendous waste. If they wouldn't throw it away it wouldn't cost so much."

Box Plant Should Be In Operation About June 1

The new Longview Fibre Co. box manufacturing plant in Twin Falls will be in full operation by about the first of June, according to Gordon Richards, plant manager.

Mr. Richards said construction of the building should be complete by Feb. 8 and machinery will begin arriving in mid-February. Equipment will be installed during March in preparation for the June opening, he said.

At the outset the plant will employ 40 people, he said, in the making of corrugated shipping containers.

The Twin Falls plant will serve the Utah-Idaho area and will primarily serve the potato industry in those states. Mr. Richards said, however, that anyone needing the product manufactured by Longview Fibre Co. will be supplied with plant containers.

Construction on the 120,000 square foot building began in October. The plant, on South Park Avenue, is being built by Gilbert Moon Construction Co., Yakima, Wash.

Mr. Richards comes to Twin Falls as plant manager of the new industry from Fremont, Calif.

Russian Writer Proposes Stiff Drinking Penalty

MOSCOW (UPI)—A leading newspaper, commenting on the problem of alcoholism in Russia, said this week the government should consider stiffening incorrigible alcoholics.

The suggestion by Literaturnaya Gazeta was the most drastic yet in a month-long campaign against drunkenness.

Although the government no longer publishes figures on alcohol consumption, articles in the Soviet newspaper indicate Russians are drinking more than ever before.

HONORED FOR THEIR MANY years of service to the Southern Idaho Production Credit Association and to Agriculture are those two men on the left. They are retiring as directors of the local PCA, William Bayratt, right, senior vice president, Federal Intermediata Credit Bank of Spokane, is presenting an award to George L. Watt, Buhl, center, and A. L. (Gus) Hanks, Burley, for their many years of service in agriculture. Mr. Watt has been a director of the local PCA for 35 years and as president since 1938, and Mr. Hanks has been a director for 34 years.

President Of Southern Idaho Production Credit Group, Director, Are Honored At Burley Stockholders Meeting

BURLEY — George L. Watt, Buhl, president of the Southern Idaho Production Credit Association, and A. L. (Gus) Hanks, Burley, a director, were honored Friday during the annual stockholders meeting of the organization in the Ponderosa Inn.

These two men have retired from the association and were honored by nearly 700 members of the organization and also were presented awards for their many years of service to agriculture and to the PCA.

Mr. Watt has been a director of the PCA for 35 years and as president since 1938. Mr. Hanks has been a director for 34 years, he was one of the original directors who formed the farm credit organization.

Two new directors were named to fill the two posts vacated by Mr. Watt and Mr. Hanks when they retired, Eugene Griffl, Twin Falls, and Max Martin, Burley, were elected as the two new directors.

Reports were given by Manning Patterson, Gooding, a director, and Earl Stansell, Twin Falls, general manager of the farm credit organization. Mr. Patterson led a tour of the PCA's total of various projects the directors attended this past year.

Mr. Stansell gave a report on the financial status of the PCA. He said this past year the local PCA's total volume of loans was $36,302,227 as compared to $31,531,070 in 1969. He noted the total membership for 1969 was 2265 as compared to 2173 in 1968.

Mr. Patterson noted in his report that a survey recently showed that Southern Idaho Production Credit Association was one of the top 20 PCAs in the United States.

The current agricultural money market was explained to the PCA members by William P. Harratt, senior vice president, Federal Intermediata Credit Bank of Spokane.

He said the money market is the tightest in the history of the farm credit system and the interest rates also are at a high level. He said however, money is available, if you are willing to pay the price.

He said one of the reasons for this inflation which everyone is experiencing, is that Americans have been on an eight-year spending binge. He added there are three symptoms causing this — the government, the consumer and the industry.

He said the government is spending much on the Vietnam War, consumers are spending more in anticipation of income increases and the industry is expanding because of the anti-inflation.

Mr. Bayratt also explained the primary tools for controlling this inflation, and added that they are working, but most of Americans are not realizing this. To control this, the government is cutting federal spending and with the surtax.

The other type of control, he said, is the federal reserve system in which interest rates are being raised.

He concluded that these measures are working in controlling inflation, but it will be some time before people will realize this.

Twin Falls Writer Makes It Big On Red Skelton Show

Incredible as it may seem, Bob Hoag wrote the story about a rilly day football in Magic Valley for "Incredible Idaho" in the same Bob Hoag, who is associate producer of the Red Skelton television show.

Mr. Hoag is a native Idahoan from Twin Falls, recalling when his grandfather operated the Expressway Motel. He was there in the days when the Hiney was taking to the open roads, and we do mean open roads. These were the days when the Sampson-Trail was a rambling dirt strip drifting in and out of sage and rocks. In order to be sure one was actually on the road, he had to watch for the seeds of orange plants on rocks or the other side of the road.

In his article, Mr. Hoag is speaking of the average weight of "The Wonder Team of 1907" wrote, "As my boss, Red Skelton might say... Rosie Greer's front weighs more than this!" These were the days when "I look just three downs to make five yards and a first down. There was no forward pass... and there were no quarters."

Regarding the schedule played in the good old days, Mr. Hoag wrote: "These were the high schools in the territory and we played each school twice. One high school was in Burley, about 40 miles away. The other was in Pocatello, 120 miles distant. As there were no cars, buses or jets, it took two full days on the train to get to Pocatello."

Football has come a long way since 1900 and Bob Hoag's article is a professional acclaim.

School Fails To Qualify On Lunches

Twin Falls School District No. 411 does not qualify for a cut in hot lunch prices which was announced last week by Cecil F. Olson, school lunch director of the State Department of Education.

Mr. Olson said last week that under the federal lunch program a district is qualified for special assistance if it has a minimum of at least 17 per cent of its pupils identified as needy using Title I criteria. The Twin Falls district has considerable less than 17 per cent minimum of needy students.

Only 16 Idaho school districts qualify for the new restriction, Mr. Olson said, but they were not listed.

He said that under the new ruling those school districts are eligible for reimbursement at 20 cents on all lunches served to children provided the charge for all pupils is reduced to 15 cents. The average price for lunches in the state is 26 cents to children and 40 cents to adults.

In Twin Falls, the elementary students are charged 30 cents, the high school students are charged 35 cents and the adults 50 cents.

Licensing Of Dogs Urged At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Licensing of dogs in the community will be strictly enforced soon in the city of Hagerman, according to city clerk, Carol Kuhn.

In the past, city officials have been lenient with dog owners, but an abundance of stray dogs in the community are becoming quite a problem.

Dogs must be licensed by Feb. 1, according to Mayor Gene Overlie. Dogs not licensed by this date will be picked up and if not called for by their owners within a reasonable length of time, will be destroyed.

Dog licensing fees are $3 for males and $2 for females, and $5 for females.

Councilmen recently sworn into office by city marshal Dana Gilmore are Bob Jones, G. P. Russell and Lyle Gilmore. Mr. Jones is the only newcomer to the city council. During the office term, he will be in charge of the city's 23-year-old dog park. Mr. Jones declined to run for another term. Holdover member is Dean Overlie.

Mayor Overlie appointed Dean Overlie to the library board, Lyle Gilmore, city park; G. P. Russell, streets department, and Bob Jones, city water.

Mayor Overlie has been a resident of the city of Hagerman for one and one-half years, but has lived in the area for 26 years. He is employed by Idaho Power Co.

Hanoi Notes 'Disappointment' In 1969 As Viet War's Key Action Shifts To Saigon

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The center of gravity in the Vietnam War has shifted back from the Paris peace talks to Saigon where resident Nguyen Van Thieu can count 1969 as a fairly good year.

The year has been a disappointing year. And in Washington, President Nixon can put down some plus marks in his own ledger.

When Nixon took office a year ago, peace demonstrations in the United States and anti-American demonstrations in Europe were at their peak. A rising clamor demanded that the United States get out of Vietnam now and unequivocally.

The President rejected the latter course and began his phased withdrawal of troops. He appealed to the "silent majority" for time and trust. A change in the draft law removed much of the suspense of years from the shoulders of millions of young Americans unable to plan or launch careers until they knew when or if they would be called to serve in the armed forces.

The result was to take the wind from the sails of the demonstrators and to give the President the time he sought.

The move toward Vietnamization of the war marked a clear change of course. It was a practical application of the feeling of many that the South Vietnamese could not defend their own interests now after more than 15 years of U.S. aid they never could.

It was not good news for the South Vietnamese who clearly preferred the United States to do their fighting for them but it produced action in Saigon.

Democratic Congressional Leaders Feel That Nixon Endorses Their Programs

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders are trying to package their own State of the Union report, but tentative script depicts President Nixon as embracing all their programs, and they hope he means it.

From water pollution to crime, the Democrats said

Savings & Loan Names Directors

James A. Sinclair, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Twin Falls, said Friday that Leo Anderson, Tom E. Lucas and Otton Florence Jr. have been re-elected directors for periods of three years.

He told members at the recent annual meeting that the association had experienced one of its best years during 1969, with assets amounting to over $13.5 million. More than $1.7 million in interest was paid to depositors during 1969, Mr. Sinclair said, and with the increased rate now permissible to pay depositors, 1970 should see more than $2 million paid in interest.

He said it is expected that the $5.5 million paid in loans during 1969 also will be exceeded during 1970.

A special tribute to Mr. Anderson, former president of the association, was paid, Mr. Anderson, who has been with the association for 38 years, raised total assets from $3.4 million to $13.5 million.

Nixon's State of the Union proposals almost without exception were borrowed either from the Democratic plans or laws already put on the books by Democratic congresses.

As for inflation—which Nixon promised to curb as a No. 1 priority project—they challenged his implication that price hawks can be blamed on his predecessors. They said about one fourth of the cost of living increases he cited took place since Nixon took office.

How to get their point across on national television was bothering the leaders and they called a caucus of Democratic senators to discuss ways and means. Two of the networks had offered free time, but money for producing the show had to be found.

Party strategists tentatively ruled out the one-for-all that entailed no outlays. A special by one or maybe two of the congressional leaders. They wanted a fast-paced, packaged show that could reduce the issues and answers to viable form.

Meanwhile, their writers were digging into the—this material to hasten a summary statement by House Democratic Leader Carl Albert who said of Nixon's Thursday address to a joint session of Congress:

"I am delighted that the President has finally come around to the position of the Democratic Party. We welcome him to the ranks and assure him of our continuing cooperation in advancing those programs he now espouses which have long been advocated by Democratic presidents and

Finance social gains which the Democratic program and Democratic policies, cloak them with new rhetoric—and pass them off as part and parcel of the 'new Republicanism'—obviously attempted to take

Utility Aide Adds Task In Marketing

D. S. Bailey, vice president for division operations, Idaho Power Co., has assumed an additional responsibility of directing the utility's marketing activities. It was announced Saturday.

Albert Carlson, company president, said Mr. Bailey's new title will be vice president of marketing and division operations. Mr. Bailey takes over responsibility of marketing from G. J. O'Connor, recently named a vice president and assistant to the president.

A Boise native, Mr. Bailey joined the company shortly after graduating from the University of Idaho with an electrical engineering degree. Starting as an apprentice engineer, he spent most of the early part of his career in engineering and commercial industrial marketing positions at the Pocatello headquarters of Idaho Power's eastern division. In this period he left the company for three years of duty during World War II as an Army signal corps officer.

Mr. Bailey transferred in 1949 to Twin Falls, where he has served successively as assistant southern division sales manager, division sales manager and division manager.

Operation Is Success At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The Lincoln County Civil Defense operation here Thursday was termed a success by Reid Newby, county Civil Defense director.

He said about 40 persons participated in the project, called an "Emergency Operation Simulated Experience," which is about twice as many as would be needed in a real emergency, but noted the experience is valuable because these same people could be used in case of a natural disaster.

The Thursday project, attended by Merle Tibbs, of the state Civil Defense office, Baker, Russell Cook, University of Idaho highway patrolman and National Guard, was concerned with activity five days after an imaginary attack. The operation was dropped enough so that small groups of people could be sent out of the shelter to get food and evaluate condition of bridges and other structures.

Problems faced in the exercise included radiological monitoring, and disaster analysis to determine condition of devastated areas.

This is the second such Civil Defense simulated operation for the county. Last year the exercise was based on the time immediately before an attack, when getting people into the shelter was the primary concern.

FDA To Ask Ruling On Additives

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration favors removal of several more food additives from the list of substances generally recognized as safe.

The so-called GRAS List once included cyclamates. They, artificial sweeteners were removed after they were found to cause cancer in laboratory animals when given in abnormally large amounts.

Dr. Charles C. Edwards, the FDA's acting commissioner, confirmed in an interview that he wants to make some changes in the list. He said he planned to "submit" a specific list next week to Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare. Edwards declined to say which additives he wants removed or why. The list contains thousands of substances used to make food look or taste better. Many of the chemical preservatives, sweeteners, spices, seasonings, dietary supplements, emulsifying agents and synthetic flavors included on the list have never been tested by the FDA.

Yancey Clings To 1-Shot Lead In Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Burt Yancey, admitted to playing too conservatively, shot an even-par 72 at Pebble Beach Saturday to cling to the lead by one stroke with one round left in the $100,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

Yancey, who won $33,000 on the tour last year, started out with bogles on the first and third holes but then settled down to finish all even for the day. He had a three-round total of seven-under-par 209.

That put him just ahead of Bob Goalby, Don Masengale and Rod Fomoth as the sun came out on the Monterey Peninsula for the first time in a week. It turned Saturday into a perfect golfing day.

A record single-day gallery of more than 17,500 followed the 188 pros and their amateur partners, many of them Hollywood personalities, around Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point, where the scores improved along with the weather.

Goalby, who shared the first-round Crosby lead with Yancey, Bob Murphy and Ron Carrado, shot a one-under 71 at Pebble.

Carpenter Leads Pilots Past Gooding

GOODING — Bob Carpenter picked up the Glenns Ferry lead in the second quarter Friday night and led the Pilots to a narrow 55-53 decision over the sophomore-laden Gooding Senators.

Carpenter, who had only two points in the first quarter, started hitting nearly in the second period after Gooding, behind Frank Krasha and Gary Correll, had mounted a 15-point Glenns Ferry rally to 47-23 at the quarter. Gooding managed another lead early in the fourth quarter, seeing a five-point margin erased on a seven-point blitz by Carpenter — five from the foul line.

Glenns Ferry had a 35-33 lead with 30 seconds left and missed two straight free throws, keeping possession by getting the rebound. On the third try Carpenter hit a free throw but missed the second, Glenns Ferry again getting possession. Glenns Ferry closed it with two free throws.

Carpenter	18	12	5
Gooding	15	10	4
Glenns Ferry	12	8	3
Senators	10	7	2

Richfield Breaks Past Bliss 55-46

RICHFIELD — The Richfield Tigers worked the fast break for eight quick points early in the third quarter to break away from the Blks Bears and claim a 55-46 decision Friday night.

Bliss jumped into a 14-7 first quarter lead but Richfield held back in the second period for a 21-21 halftime tie. Switching to the break, John Lemanz and Rod Riley picked up two cringles each to spark a 17-point third quarter for the Tigers while Bliss, plagued by fouls, managed only four.

Steve Bowser hit 37 points as the Richfield jayvces won the preliminary 100-71.

Bliss	18	10	4

Wood River Gets Hot, Tops Wendell

HAILEY — The Wood River Wolverines put four men in scoring figures from 16 to 23 points Friday night and dropped the Wendell Trojans 87-64 in a Big Six Conference tie.

Kimball hit 22 to pace Wood River's biggest offensive show of the year while Digger and Darvie James hit 18 each and Patterson 16.

Wood River hit the first six points of the game and stayed ahead although the Wendell press gave the Wolverines a few problems. But Wood River solved those and moved out of reach.

Kimball	22	10	4
Digger	18	8	3
Darvie James	18	7	2
Patterson	16	6	1

Blackfoot Takes Win From Burley

BLACKFOOT — The Blackfoot Broncos, trailing by five after eight minutes, slipped away in the second quarter Friday night to topple Burley's Balicats 70-60 in an offensive battle.

Blackfoot, behind the double-figure scoring of three men, bounced into the lead by seven at the half with a 23-point second-period outburst.

After that the Broncos steadily pulled farther in front, and once led a 28-point lead in the final frame.

Utah Topples BYU 91-81

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—Mike Newlin shot Utah back into a first-place tie in the Western Athletic Conference with 38 points as the Utes defeated Brigham Young 91-81 in a nationally televised game here Saturday afternoon.

The victory was the fourth straight in WAC play for the Utes and allowed them to move back into first place in the league standings alongside Texas-EU Paso.

BYU moved to a 17-10 lead early in the first half but Utah tied the game at 17-17 on a three-point play by Newlin and went ahead for keeps seconds later on Ken Gardner's jump shot.

Gardner followed Newlin in the Utah scoring with 20 while John Hunter had 13 and Jim Mahler 12. Howard led the Cougars with 21; Paul Kumpas added 15 and Jim Miller 12.

He does make a point, however, that someone who is selling the most that Idaho should become a national playground...

What Mr. Robson calls a national playground is in reality a movement that merits the word "morality."

At the outset we know it is impossible to stop a legal mining claim on federal land...

So the fact remains this. Those areas capable of putting a few bucks in the pockets of some private interests are going to be developed.

Mr. Robson says northern Idaho would have to clean up the waste resulting from mining activities already there.

Now let us dissect that last piece of wistful Paraphrase-II to the old cliché, "an under-

Hot Hansen Roars Past Kimberly

HANSEN — The Hansen Huskies made it three in a row over arch-rival Kimberly Friday night, using an amazingly balanced scoring attack and a string in the third quarter to drop the Bulldogs 33-17.

For the hot-shooting Huskies, who put all five starters in double figures, it marked the best performance of the season from the backcourt.

Freestone opened the second half with a 15-foot — the type he hit in most of the half — to shove the Huskies up by six.

Seattle Working On Plan To Retain AL Franchise

SEATTLE (UPI) — Civic leaders Saturday were working on a new plan to keep the Pilots in Seattle. But if that fails, they look to Mayor Wes Uhlman who has already taken the proposed franchise to court.

The secret plan to save the Pilot franchise was described in a "handbook and highly privileged" document that was presented Tuesday.

Washington Gov. Dan Evans and State Attorney General Slade Gorton said they would accompany Uhlman and King County executive John Spillman to the Oakland meeting if the press of legislative business was not too great.

The new plan and accompanying political pressure fall to dislodge the current owners of the Pilots, Pacific Northwest Sports Inc., from moving the franchise, then the matter will go into the courts.

UCLA Bombs Wyoming By 115-77 Count

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top-ranked and unbeaten UCLA scored a 122 lead in less than four minutes Saturday night and went on to blitz Wyoming 115-77 in nonconference basketball play.

Carlisle Rowe and Sidney Wicks scored 25 and 24 points respectively, to spark the double-trouble attack which saw all five starters hit in double figures.

In breezing to its 11th straight victory and 14th of the season, UCLA made good on 27 of 43 attempts in the first half for an insurmountable 60-37 intermission lead.

The Cowboys, losing only their third game in 15 starts, were led by Stan Daddis, 21 points and 18 by Carl Ashley.

It was the fifth time this year that the defending national champion had exceeded 100 points. The Bruins employed a zone defense which prevented Wyoming from scoring in the fourth quarter.

Wyoming, tied for the Western Athletic Conference lead at 3-0, never made a comeback, although the Cowboys had four men with 14 or more points.

Boatwright Breaks SIC Season Scoring Mark As Minico Drops Twin Falls

RUPERT — Scoring the first 100 points in the game, Boatwright broke the 100-point mark set by Gary Cook nine years ago on Friday night as his team overpowered the Twin Falls Spartans 68-44.

Boatwright, a senior, became the first player to reach 100 points in a game during the night and broke his own record of 92 points set in a game against the Spartans on Dec. 19. Boatwright will have six more games to play that could nearly out of sight but he broke Cook's record by the same number of points the Idaho Falls led participated in.

Murtaugh Staves Off Declo 62-59

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh Red Devils, comfortably in front at 50-35 after three quarters, had in front of a furious Declo rally Friday night to take a 62-59 victory.

Leading by just two after a period, the Red Devils thrived on in the second quarter behind Mike Howard to boom in front 28-15.

Mike Howard and John Flynn got hits in the third frame and Murtaugh took that big lead, but the pesky Hornets, behind all three Darringtons — Ken, David, and Tim, fought back to within two at 59-58 with two minutes left.

Flynn ended the threat with an inside shot and a pair of free throws to pull Murtaugh safely ahead. Tim Darrington and Preston's hard work in the final quarter helped bring the Hornets back into the contest.

Carey Slips By Dietrich In 4 OTs

CAREY — The Northside Conference leading Carey Panthers — who took two overtimes to emerge the winner Tuesday — doubled that mark Friday night by engaging past the District Blue Devils 57-52 in four overtimes.

It was a highlight all the way, but just as in Tuesday's conference with Cameo County, the Panthers found themselves trailing by a couple, Dietrich led by six after three periods, but the Panthers fought back into a 46-48 draw at the end of regulation time.

Both squads played for the clincher in the first overtime, but Carey only hit a bucket splere. Each hit for three, in the second overtime, and the third, extra session was scoreless. Carey finally opened it up with six in the fourth extra period. Peck, Rush, and McLean led the Panther scoring, while McCowan, Perton, and Jim Meserve paced the Blue Devils.

Idaho Fares Well In Comparison With Rest Of Nation On Air Pollution; Population, Low Auto Count Credited

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

Idaho's small population, low auto registration as well as a non-industrial economy, have kept the state's air better than in most of the nation.

But, the California air used to be just as free of pollution as Idaho's, just over a century after gold was discovered there and the westward movement began. Many portions of that state have air which is nearly impossible to breathe.

Los Angeles, Calif., bears the brunt of most smog jokes, but that west coast city is not unique in its plight and it's conceivable Idaho could in the future wind up in the same situation.

While Idaho's total population does not equal that of "smog city" the state has been experiencing a major industrial boom in the past few years and a goodly share of its population belongs to two-income families. Its agricultural economy also has additional vehicles on the state's highways in the form of farm-to-market trucks and other farming vehicles.

"The time to do something about air pollution is before it becomes a serious problem," says a major pollution already is beyond the point of being funny."

These remarks, from Prof. LeBaron, member of the science staff at the College of Southern Idaho, are echoed by many people in the state.

Prof. LeBaron, who is a member of the Idaho Academy of Sciences, said air pollution of the "carbon dioxide variety is critical. The displacement of oxygen in the atmosphere with carbon dioxide creates a "greenhouse" or warming effect, she said, which in minor quantities is enjoyed by plants. She pointed out, however, that some hydrocarbon refuse will kill plants. "I'm told," she said, "that in some areas of New York City plants will not grow in window boxes below the 14th floor."

Most air pollution is harmful to plants and animals alike, Prof. LeBaron said. "Idaho is the only city in Idaho where air pollution is a real problem. A sulphuric smell and yellowish cast hang over the panhandle city much of the time, making it difficult to breathe and disturbing to the eyes.

Industrial plants and burning dumps in other portions of the state also create discomfort for those living close to the sites. But, so far Idaho still has lots of clean air to displace the soiled atmosphere and no widespread problems are evident in the state.

A major air pollution offender in Idaho, Prof. LeBaron said, is the forest fire, which, as it follows the natural wind drifts, deposits some 100,000 tons of large particles of the state.

As one deterrent "I would recommend that industries be required to use available devices to prevent pollutant emissions from smoke stacks," Prof. LeBaron said.

An air pollution control act was implemented by the 1967 legislature, creating a pollution commission empowered to draw up rules and regulations governing air pollution. The five-man board, according to the act, also is empowered to impose penalties up to $1,000 per day, to be paid into effect 10 days after the offender is cited.

Except for those bothered by respiratory ailments, the automobile has seemed to make little problem for Idaho's clean air.

Prof. LeBaron said new gasolines, among control equipped automobiles and "getting some of these old clunkers" off the highways are the preventive steps in the right direction.

Despite huge smokestacks belching black in the northern industrial areas, the automobile still is cited as the worst offender in creating air pollution.

"It already is being discussed to ban all private vehicular traffic in New York City," Prof. LeBaron said, partially because of traffic congestion and air pollution.

"Headlight is always better than foglight," she said. "Idaho's clean air is the reason many people move to the state and we should start taking a good hard look at strict rules and enforcement to combat air pollution."

Rain Delays Completion Of Structure

SHOSHONE — Completion of the new Shoshone post office is now expected for Monday, according to William Haux, acting postmaster. The recent rainy weather has delayed the final completion work on the new building.

A post department engineer will inspect the new structure and if a local employee will move in. Dedication is scheduled for March 21 on the 54 by 71-foot building which has 3,668 square feet of floor space.

The brick building will be heated by gas and will contain 812 boxes, whereas the old building had only 505 boxes.

Mr. Haux said patrons with boxes will be issued keys for the first time. In the past they have had combinations on the postal box locks.

The building, built by Marvin Pierson, Gooding, will be leased to the Post Office Department and is located on property on West A Street purchased by Mr. Pierson from the Shoshone American Legion post and Dr. Clinger.

LEARNING IS FUN, and highly beneficial, for most of those enrolled in a special Twin Falls City Recreation program at O'Leary Junior High School. At left, Ross Shoelray gets some help from woodworking class instructor, Roy Beaumont,

In refinishing an antique rolling pin, Mrs. Shoelray operates power drill as she works to restore an antique rocking chair for her home. One of the advantages of the class is the use and training in power tool operation. Contor right, Charles Eggleston, veteran member of the class, displays some of the finished products including the lamps on which he used various shades and grains of wood for unusual pattern effects. At right, Loraine Reese operates a potter's wheel as she begins shaping a bowl from clay. Most of the clay for the pottery classes comes from Hagorman Valley. Classes in pottery, wood working and ceramics are held each Thursday night at 7 p.m. and are open to all adults in the community.

Adults Find New Skills, Training In City Programs

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Feature Editor

For the adult who has some free time and wants to improve his or her knowledge or skill in any particular line, there are countless classes and educational programs available in the community.

In Twin Falls many find the help they need in College of Southern Idaho night classes while others are enrolled in the YM-YWCA programs or they attend special Thursday night activities at the Public Library.

Each Thursday night at the O'Leary Junior High School also department a number of classes are held.

Mr. Hanson, program director of the wood working program and has been an instructor for the city sponsored program for the past six years. Both he and Mr. Beaumont are regular members of the teaching staff in the Twin Falls schools.

Mr. Browning says the program has been going on since 1961 but the pottery and ceramics work are new in the past few years.

Clad Browning, recreation director for the city, said the program also features leather work but this year there was no enrollment in this.

Roy Beaumont, instructor for the wood working class, says there are many women in this class and some have made many attractive furniture items for their homes.

Pottery and ceramics are taught by Dee Hansen and include working with a pottery wheel, hand shaping, baking and glazing of all types of clay and ceramic items.

Presently members of the Magic Valley Art Guild are enrolled in the ceramics class and the pottery class. In their first attempt at this type of art work, Mrs. Hanson, program director of the wood working program and has been an instructor for the city sponsored program for the past six years. Both he and Mr. Beaumont are regular members of the teaching staff in the Twin Falls schools.

Mr. Browning says the program has been going on since 1961 but the pottery and ceramics work are new in the past few years.

In wood working, one class member, Mrs. Iva Schoelray says she finds it a big help in her hobby of refinishing and restoring antiques. Many of the items she has refinished could be done by hand, but it would require many more hours of work. By using the power equipment in the shop department, she is able to do a better and faster job and at the same time is learning to operate power equipment.

Sunday Feature SECTION

Each member of the class works on whatever he or she is interested in or needs for his or her home or collection.

Charles Eggleston has completed a number of items during the past year. He has refinished wood paneling in layers and then cut on the table to expose a cross section and form unusual patterns.

Earl Bruns says he enrolled in the class because he needed to know how to make cupboards. His remodeled kitchen resulted in an unusual shaped wall area that required custom made built-ins, so he decided to build them himself.

One local woman is making a rocking chair, cutting each piece from specially selected woods and shaping them on the shop's power equipment. Toy boxes, lamps, gun racks, small tables and other items are being turned out in large numbers by class members.

Materials are provided by the school district at cost and the school cooperates by furnishing facilities and equipment. A small registration fee is used to purchase additional equipment or special material.

Mr. Browning said all interested adults in the community, and students if accompanied by their parents, may participate in the programs. Additional classes in other crafts will be started if sufficient interest is shown.

Mr. Browning said plans are now underway for a housewives tennis league in the spring. With a minimum on the time sports, he said, more adult participation is being encouraged in recreation programming.

Another new program under consideration by the department would be worked in cooperation with the senior citizen housing programs and local nursing homes.

Open to all senior citizens in the community, the program would feature bus tours of scenic areas and points of interest in this part of the state. One-day or part-day trips would be planned for residents who no longer drive their own vehicles or for other reasons are unable to enjoy such outings. A nurse would be required on each trip for the nursing home patients.

In addition to classes and regular summer programs, there are a number of year around activities for adults under the direction of the city program. Adult basketball and use of the O'Leary gymnasium one night each week for exercising are also offered.

Regular art classes are held by the Magic Valley Art Guild in the city's Harry Barry Park building throughout the year.

POTTERY AND CERAMIC work involves instruction and dirty hands. Working on their individual projects are Arlene Howard, Nancy Barnhart and Harry Hahn, from left. Mrs. Howard is in the preliminary stages of shaping clay while Mr. Barnhart is rolling strips of clay to build an Indian pottery item. Mr. Hahn puts finishing touches on a teapot and plays back which will soon be ready for the kiln.

INDIVIDUAL INTERESTS are encouraged in the adult classes. Above, Mrs. N. A. Hanson shows a partially finished ceramic item to instructor Dee Hansen for suggestions. Below, Mrs. Hanson is a member of the Magic Valley Art Guild and she and other members work in pottery and ceramics in a new field. Below, Marcel Palmer says her new teapot will be a large toy box, the second she has completed for her family. Mrs. Palmer's woodworking class she is learning to build useful and attractive articles for her home.

FROM HAGERMAN VALLEY to Kenya, Africa, is part of the territory of Archie Tester, area artist. His world collection of paintings now includes over 100 studies from the continent. Above, Tester shows one of his paintings of the picturesque city of Cairo and at right the Tree Tops area. This is now a world famous attraction as a watering place for the many wild animals of Kenya. Here signs are now being taken to protect the wild animals of Africa as a valuable natural resource of the country.

Artist Completes African Paintings For World Collection Now Representing 80 Countries

HAGERMAN—Until 13 years ago, Archie Tester spent most of his time painting the scenery of the Teton Mountains, Hagorman Valley and the Sawtooths and occasionally attending art school in New York.

But then he decided to expand his field of work and as began a schedule of extensive travel which has taken the Hagerman artist to the nearly every state in the country, and now to nearly every country in the world. He still spends a good deal of his time in Idaho and Wyoming, but winter time is travel time.

Just back from Africa, Mr. Tester is now completing paintings from some 400 sketches he made of African cities, wild animals, people and the countryside. His tour ranged from the city of Cairo, with its modern buildings, to the gold camps of Johannesburg and to Cape town at the southern tip of Africa.

One of his most unusual paintings is made at Tree Tops, world famous as a watering place for the animals of Africa. Here all types of animals congregate for water, and while there are sometimes battles that turn the pool red with blood, for the most part the animals seem to get along better than humans, Mr. Tester commented.

A planned visit to Lagos,

Nigeria was impossible because of the fighting which had broken out just before their arrival.

In his painting, the Hagerman artist shows many of the variety of animals including elephants, wild boar and rhinoceros.

"The elephant," the artist observed, "is the greatest treasure in the world. When the elephant and rhinoceros charge, the elephant wastes no time in leaving, but he can also move into an area quickly and seldom take over, letting in only the animals he tolerates."

Tourism is rapidly becoming big business in Africa and there is now a trend toward preserving the large game animals for the interest of the visitor rather than for hunting only.

Mr. Tester said many in that country now realize they can no longer permit the slaughter of the African game by hunters.

HIS FIRST PENNY PARADE contributions are made by two-year-old Shana Garner, Newport, Idaho, a patient at the Primary Children's Hospital in 1968 and is now a healthy child and one of many who will donate in the annual fund campaign to raise money for service patient care. With him is his mother, a staunch supporter of the February drive.

HEART SURGERY GAVE Dick Vawser, 10, a new outlook on life. Last summer he underwent surgery at the Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City and now he is able to carry on a normal routine for any young Boy Scout. He plays basketball, a strenuous exercise, and also hopes to be a football player.

February Penny Parade To Aid Intermountain Children

Pennies will soon be pouring in to the Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City from cities, small communities and individuals throughout the Intermountain states.

February's Penny Parade month and Primary organization of the LDS Church will be soliciting funds for the support and operation of the hospital.

Many small youngsters will take their pennies to Primary classes knowing only they are to help some less fortunate children who must be hospitalized. Others have a much better understanding of the value of their small gifts.

In the Magic Valley area

many children have received much needed medical attention in the Primary Children's Hospital. Some are active LDS Church members but others are not.

Their assistance has ranged from open heart surgery to brief visits for diagnosis and treatment. Parents whose children have been treated there say there is no better medical talent or facility to be found.

The pennies donated by area residents will go a long way toward helping the children who receive care despite the fact their parents are unable to pay for the service.

These children are listed on hospital records as service patients. Last year the hospital cared for a total of 7,975 patients. Of these 669 were primary care patients.

All children in need of special care regardless of their religious background, race or national origin are given the same care. For those whose parents cannot pay, the Penny Parade is usually the answer.

More than 32 different services and facilities at the hospital including physical therapy, special services, recreational therapy, birth therapy center, hospital, pre-school and cerebral palsy, inhalation therapy, child development clinic, cardiovascular and heart catheterization laboratory are available to meet the needs of children.

There are 253 doctors on the medical staff and last year 5,783 operations were performed there. The hospital admits an average of 1053 patients per day.

Primary Children's Hospital operates as a non-profit corporation under the administration of a board of trustees of the LDS Church.

Its cause and operation inspire voluntary assistance from many Intermountain area citizens. Last year 130 volunteers and candy strippers donated 37,500 hours of time to make the hospitalization of the children more pleasant.

Last year 361 children from Idaho received treatment at the hospital. Among them were a number from the Magic Valley.

Typical of the former Primary Hospital patients is Dick Vawser, 10. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vawser and last June 11 he underwent heart surgery at the hospital. It was necessary for surgery to remove a clotting section of the aorta so blood could flow from the heart. Now young Dick plays basketball and maintains an active part in other school activities and Boy Scout programs. He is not a member of the LDS Church, but his parents say this made no difference in his prompt admission and excellent care.

"We have been saving pennies for a long time for the February drive," says Mrs. Vawser, mother of five children.

Mr. and Mrs. LaMar Anderson, Burley, also make the Penny Parade a major event at their home each February.

Lynn Anderson and Alan Anderson ages 10 and 12 respectively are both former patients of Salt Lake City's center. Both suffered a rare bone disease of the hip socket known as leg perthes. After a number of years in braces, both are now active in all types of athletics and have made full recoveries.

"It is not unusual for two members of the same family to suffer from the disease."

Both boys are members of the LDS Church in Burley and last year the Andersons raised $2,484 in the Penny Parade.

In February, 1968, Shane Garner, then just an infant, underwent surgery at the Primary Children's Hospital. He had been born premature and his frail condition made the surgery for him a complicated undertaking. Now at the age of four Shane is putting pennies in the annual drive to help other children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner, Rupert.

As the U.S. Astronauts were beginning their work on the moon last July 16, a young Idaho youth was also reaching a momentous event in his life. On that day Michael Beyler, 16, underwent a kidney transplant operation that has changed his life considerably. The operation placed a kidney from the Primary Children's Hospital during which attempts were made to correct a kidney disorder and save his life. When it was decided a new kidney was the only answer, his father, Grant Beyler, and he went to the University Hospital in Salt Lake City where the transplant was a kidney donated by his father and transplanted to the body of Michael.

Although he is not yet able to resume regular school classes and must continue for regular check-ups, the Malta youth and his father are both doing well.

"He recalls many penny drives as a child but says not until his first stay in the Primary Children's Hospital when he was 12 did he realize the full value of those small contributions."

Not all of the patients have rare and complicated diseases. Nancy Wyatt, daughter of Mr.

ALMOST A SECOND HOME, Salt Lake City means the Primary Children's Hospital to Lynn Anderson, left, and his brother, Alan Anderson. Both boys underwent treatment at the hospital for a rare disease of the hip bone. Now completely recovered they are able to take part in all types of athletic programs. The sons of Mr. and Mrs. LaMar Anderson, Burley, they now point to Salt Lake City on the map.

and Mrs. Grant Wyatt, Burley, made a hurried trip to the Primary Children's Hospital in December. She had gotten a bean into her lung and while she was hospitalized at the Cassin Memorial Hospital, many tests and examinations were performed to determine if all of the bean had been removed and to make certain the child had a "little child to live."

and well.

Another 18-month-old Burley child, Sheila Kuntzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kuntzer, was taken there with severe abdominal pain. After three days of hospitalization at the Cassin Memorial Hospital, the surgery was needed to remove the bean. She is now home and well.

Pennies will be coming from the homes of these young people during February and from many other sources to help combat the program of the Primary Children's Hospital. Every penny you give helps a little child to live.

"Unless they are protected, one of Africa's greatest natural resources will be lost," he said.

For those planning a trip to southern African countries, he warns it may be costly. Hotel accommodations and food will cost about $100 per day in many of the cities. Food in Capetown, however, was some of the best he has ever eaten, the artist said.

Capetown with five large beaches surrounding the city is one of the most beautiful places of the world, Mr. Teater added.

Poor people of Africa are better off than those of the slums and ghettos of this country.

"A poor man who makes 50 cents a day in Africa does well. He lives on the resources of the land and although poor the people are happy and healthy," he commented.

Mr. Teater has now visited some 60 countries of the world and has completed numerous paintings from each. His world collection numbers more than 400 paintings and in general they show the people, the cities and the way of life of most of these countries.

What to do with a world collection once you have completed it is a question the artist is asking himself. He hopes it can be preserved as a collection and utilized for educational values.

It all started, he says, as a one-man project to better understand the people of other countries and he feels it may have value in promoting understanding and peace among people of different nations.

WINTER RANGE LIKE this in eastern Idaho is still open to elk and deer as intermediate weather conditions are in the valleys and foothills. No real snow problems have developed so far on any of Idaho's winter ranges. Moderate to light winter weather has been of great benefit to both elk and deer. The past winter on winter ranges are getting relief from average to heavy snow and cold weather have not forced the animals down.

Mild Temperatures, Open Winter Favor Idaho Elk And Deer Herd Populations

By JIM HUMPHREY
Idaho Fish-Game Department
Mid-January without much snow, and a long period of open weather on Idaho's big game wintering ranges, brightens the outlook for a good year for elk and deer in most parts of the state. Although game managers still have their fingers crossed, they could be one time when most wintering areas get a break and the animals come through in good shape.

Generally, regional game managers and project biologists say that so far this has been a good winter in all parts of the state, without real snow problems and only short periods of low temperatures. Drainages south of the Snake River are well above normal for snowfall at this time of year. The remainder of the state to the north has a high snow pack, according to the January weather supply outlook reports based on federal, state and private cooperative snow surveys. The moderate to light winter weather has been a great benefit to elk and deer and other game.

Rains came last week, even to the South Fork of the Boise River, where elk trapping operations were scheduled to start. As a result, a heavy snow pack and sub-zero temperatures the elk had moved into the trap area. Successful big game trapping depends on enough snow and cold to concentrate animals near traps, whether on the South Fork of the Boise River elsewhere in the state, according to Ralph Peterson, game management supervisor. The South Fork project is under the supervision of Dale Turnipseed, regional game manager. Field surveys likewise depend on snow cover to group the animals and make counting possible. What kind of a finish this winter will have is anybody's guess. But deep snows or not, some deer and elk will die and be listed as winter kills.

Forage on the steep rocky canyon walls and narrow floor of Hells Canyon range, for example, is mostly bunch grass. Shrubs such as bitterbrush, willow and sagebrush are not to be had since they are high above the canyon floor in the Seven Devils Mountains, where snow is piled deep. Just dry grass and woods are left for thousands of wintering deer and sheep in the sheltered canyon.

Deer can make out for a short time on just green grass. It is high in protein, which they must have. But they must have grass alone does not give them even a bare subsistence diet, whether in Hole Canyon, the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, the South Fork of the Payette River, Juniper Mountain or elsewhere.

Deer can live just so long on only one kind of feed, even choice bitterbrush. They get by in fair to good shape when the malnourished grass or bitterbrush is mixed with one or more other feeds such as sagebrush. The point is all animals lose weight during winter months, even on good range and when the weather is moderate. Next to fawns, the highest winter die-offs occur among bucks. Here the reason seems to be they have spent most of their energy during the rut. Mating season also causes bucks to lose interest in eating and their weight goes down.

In some areas, substantial deer losses occur every winter because both summer and winter range conditions are poor. One of these is the Juniper Mountain area (unit 42) of Owyhee County.

One big point in game management is to find out what range found on winter range that was not produced last summer is high in cellulose. This kind of feed takes more energy to digest than it gives the deer in return.

Here is the root of a common misunderstanding. It is not true that green grass, woods and new shoots kill deer in the early spring as the snows melt a reluctant retreat up the hillsides. Animal losses do occur on lush wild spring grass ranges, but more deer die if the winter has been long and cruel than if it was short and mild.

The big thing is animal malnutrition, it worse following a severe winter. Deer are so weakened from lack of the right kinds of feed, and from parasites and disease, that they cannot recover their strength no matter how much the range conditions improve. Big game animals have as much as ten times the number of square miles of summer range as winter range. This does not bring a stress situation every winter. Five or six years of nice open winters, like the present one, have been followed generally result in gradual increase in the size of the base herd. This, of course, provides more game in the fall, more hunting opportunity, and everybody is happy.

Then along comes a hard winter, once more. Usually, bad winters with deep snows and bitter cold occur every 10 or 15 years. There is not enough food and cover to go around, and a more than average winter die-off can be expected.

That green grass, woods and new shoots kill deer in the early spring as the snows melt a reluctant retreat up the hillsides. Animal losses do occur on lush wild spring grass ranges, but more deer die if the winter has been long and cruel than if it was short and mild.

Here he could do anything — bury the soldiers deep deep in the sand; lock all of the doors of the doll house; spin water wheels; and never never was he scolded. Some each Thursday was a revolution as Dibs began to relate to things and people and began to leave the tortured world of the withdrawn. Now he was a man, not a child, for someone who hid under tables and communicated with no one. His parents who had rejected him began to accept and love him. Each painful step Dibs took toward discovering his identity was a triumph over his determination, guided by his special friend Miss A. Dibs now leads a normal life and attends a school for gifted children. "Dibs is a wonderful child as was young Helen Keller and his final mastery of emotional communication parallels her physical triumph.

DELIVERING GROCERIES is all in a day's work for Joe Borriochio, owner of Farmers Market at Shoshone. Both his store and Mike's Cold Storage, owned and operated by Mike Urtulla, provide double delivery service each day, something which is mostly forgotten in larger cities.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Citizens of smaller cities and towns sometimes enjoy the so-called "services" available to them in the larger population centers. Perhaps a close look would show there are many services yet given in small towns that the larger sister areas have eliminated years ago.

One such service in SIO-SIONE is a double delivery each day by two grocery stores. They will take the orders by telephone, put them up and deliver them not only to the door, but to the kitchen table of the patron who orders them, once in the morning and once in the afternoon.

Both Mike Urtulla, at Mike's Cold Storage, and Joe Borriochio, at Farmers Market, report they are happy to give this additional service to their customers.

Both stores keep the same hours, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., and at present they are closed on Sundays. The Sunday closure is from after the Christmas holidays to about the middle of April each year.

Mr. Borriochio bought the store in 1940 in the name of Mike's Cold Storage on Jan. 1, 1940, 24 years ago, while Mr. Borriochio and Clyde Rupp bought the Farmers Market in 1951. In 1959 Mr. Borriochio bought out Rupp's interest and the store has since operated it under the same name.

It was a proud moment for Mrs. L. A. Schroeder, TWIN FALLS, when she held her month-old great, great, grandson, Brian Schroeder, on his baptismal day.

The baby's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schroeder, FILER, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schroeder, also Filer. The great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schroeder, Twin Falls.

The baby was baptized by Rev. T. D. Johnston in the Clover Lutheran Church in December. A special dinner was held afterwards in the grandparent's home and pictures were taken of the five generations to commemorate the special day. And "nana" enjoyed the day more than the proud great, great-grandmother.

Awards Given For Best Time Records

Making and breaking time records is of considerable interest to Rexius Citation Awards and the World Almanac and the two have teamed up for an annual award presentation to the "best time of the year" winners.

Awards presented for 1969 achievements at the Hilton Room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City, ranged from recognition for the fastest time between New York's Empire State Building and London's Post Office Tower to the longest time on television.

The first award went to British Royal Navy Lt. Cmdr. Peter Goddard who made the trip from the Empire State Building to the London Post Office Tower in five hours, 11 minutes and 22 seconds via motorcycle, helicopter and jet plane.

Continuous presentation of his CBS variety show was judged the longest television performance.

Actress Joan Fontaine flew from Rome to present the awards which were gold chronometer watches and plaques or a specially bound new edition of the World Almanac.

Some other awards included: Sharon Siles Adams who sailed alone across the Pacific non-stop from Yokohama, Japan to San Diego, Calif., the first such trip for a woman was honored for completing the accomplishment in 74 days.

Mario Andreini was honored for his Indianapolis 500 automobile race averaging 156.867 miles per hour.

John Falstaff earned across the Atlantic Ocean alone, a feat accomplished for the first time and covered the 4,000 miles in 189 days.

Steve Hagen in the 50th annual Coney Island 10-mile boardwalk walking race finished in new freezing temperatures with a time of 1 hour, 17 minutes and 29 seconds.

Barbara Jo Rubin won a regular pari-mutuel race in a time of 1:28.5 for 9 1/2 furlongs, the first time a woman has won a horse race in the United States.

Chuck Stearns established a world water skiing record in a time of 122.11 miles per hour.

Paul Gorman, president of Penn Central Transportation Co. received the award for the fastest railroad time in the United States at 65.4 miles per hour on a 43-mile run between Baltimore, Md., and Wilmington, Del.

Mike Burton broke his own world record in the 800-meter freestyle swim and 1,500-meter freestyle events. His times were 8:22.5 for the 800 meters and 16:01.8 for the 1,500 meters.

George Blanda, Oakland, Ralston, now in his 25th season, was honored for the longest time in playing pro-football.

Nuclear Power Plan Aired At Utility Meet At Burley

BURLEY — A Nuclear Power Plan was presented by Bonneville Power Administration officials to their public utility customers during a meeting at Ponderosa Inn. The public utility customers were invited to participate in the construction of a public utility nuclear power plant on the Columbia River.

The Bonneville Power Administration, Portland, Ore., conducted the meeting, attended by representatives of utilities including City of Burley, City of Heyburn, City of Rupert, City of Idaho Falls, Rexburg Electric, Rural Electric Co. Unity Light and Power, and Southside Electric.

The Bonneville Power Administration and Washington Public Power Supply System, Kennewick, Wash., seek to enlist large and small utilities to purchase interest in a large nuclear generating power plant near the mouth of the Columbia River.

Each utility was asked to sign a contract with the Bonneville Power Supply System the funds to construct the plant. Power from the plant would then be sold to Bonneville Power Administration and Public North-Western Distribution system to the various utilities.

The proposed plant is to be located at Rosedale Beach, near Gray's Harbor, Wash., will be 100 percent publicly owned. For been told the group, it is expected to be operational about 1977 or 1978 and will use the ocean for its cooling process.

The theory behind the public-owned system is that it allows utilities of various sizes to participate in the construction of large economic nuclear power plants.

Very few power distributors are large enough to take part in plants of this size themselves. By going together, each can purchase a no-matter-how small they are, they are noted.

It was also reported that two smaller nuclear plant proposals are being sought in Oregon, a plant for the City of Eugene and one by Portland-General Electric.

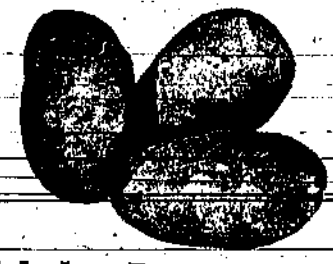

Owen Harri, manager of the Washington Public Power Supply System, Kennewick, Wash., led a discussion.

Hectic Durnacher, president of the Public Power Council, Portland, Ore.; Kenneth Dyer, manager of the Public Power Council, Vancouver, Wash.; and William Kluggott, Idaho Falls, area manager of BPA.

Youngster's Smile Is Sufficient Pay

By NORMA HERZINGER

They don't earn a salary in dollars and cents — their remuneration is a smile.

A smile on the face of a youngster who is ill can be priceless earnings for anyone. This is why many members of the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Guild give so freely of their time and talents. Several days each month are set aside by these women so they can go to the hospital and sew. They pin, cut, sew, stuff, iron and package Pinkie puppets for children admitted to the hospital.

The Pinkies are presented to all children 12 years of age and under along with this little verse:

Introduction:
Do you know who I am? How can't you guess?

A puppet pal like the girl in the pink dress

I'm yours while you're here and home with you I'll go.

Like a new sort of playmate and friend, you know.

I may be quite small to call me a pal.

So just call me "Pinkie," your hospital pal.

Margaret McAtoo, president of the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Guild in 1932, brought the idea of this "cher-see-up" for youngsters in the local group from a hospital in Santa Barbara, Calif.

In the early years of the project, members took their sewing machines to various homes and worked in that manner. Now they have a special sewing room at the hospital.

The Pinkie Pals were created to be sold after many requests were made to purchase the Pinkies — which are never sold.

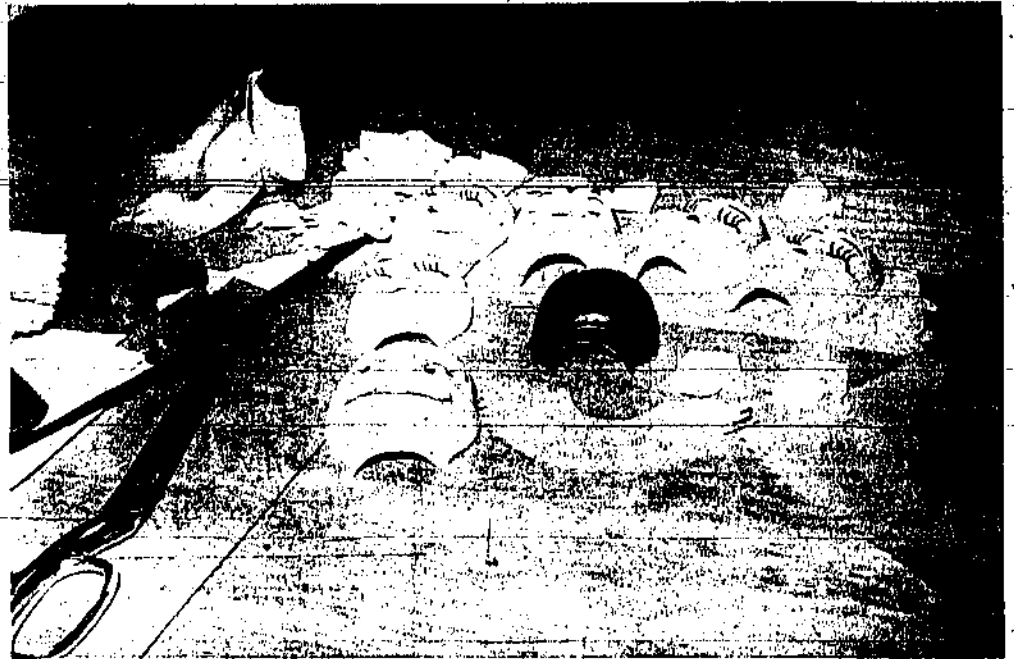

Two members of the sewing committee, Mrs. A. H. Axon and Mrs. Theo Gihring, have been sewing Pinkies for more than 15 years. Mrs. Oliver Stewart and her committee do all the cutting and Mrs. John Patterson for many years did all the ordering of supplies for the Pinkies and pins. The Everett Mattress Co. donates the kapok for puppets.

Thanks to members of the pediatrics committee, approximately 500 Pinkies are presented to youngsters annually. Mrs. Clara Carpenter is chairman of the pediatrics committee, with Mrs. Gihring as co-chairman. Officers serving the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Guild this year include Mrs. Jack Stephens, president; Mrs. Lawrence Knuge, first vice president; Mrs. Jim Horn, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Gliese, recording secretary; Mrs. Marvin Chasseeck, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul Carl, membership secretary; and Mrs. Dalton B. F. W. L. S. treasurer.

Membership in the local guild is from throughout Magic Valley.

HOSPITAL-GUILD member, Mrs. Clara Carpenter, displays a Pinkie Pal, referred to by many of the children patients at the hospital as the "Chocolato" pal.

THIS IS HOW IT ALL gets started. Pediatrics committee members meet several days each month to pin, cut, sew, stuff, iron and package Pinkie puppets for children admitted to the hospital.

Approximately 500 Pinkies are given to hospitalized children annually at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Women's Section

REAL PROFESSIONALS at sewing Pinkies are Mrs. A. H. Axon, seated, and Mrs. Theo Gihring, who have been sewing the puppets for more than 15 years. Mrs. Gihring is co-chairman of the pediatrics committee.

A REAL ASSEMBLY LINE is set up by these women. From left, Mrs. Lyle Barran, Mrs. Sam Debnar, Mrs. Mabel Holton and Mrs. I. T. Creed. After Mrs. A. H. Axon and Mrs. Theo Gihring sew the puppets, these women stuff them. This is quite a procedure and many hours are spent annually on this project.

Twin Sisters Marry In Double Wedding Ceremony

Twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller Sr., Nampa, former Twin Falls residents, were wed in a double ceremony at the First Mennonite Church in Nampa.

Connie Sue Miller and Terry Lee Nofziger, and Bonnie Lou Miller and Robert Loren Gerig were joined in matrimony by Rev. Verl Nofziger of the Albany, Ore., Fairview Mennonite Church.

Parents of the bridegrooms are Mr. and Mrs. Len Nofziger and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gerig, all Lebanon, Ore. Brother of the brides is Floyd Miller, Twin Falls.

Jointly in the church fellowship hall were Mrs. Truman Miller, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. Keith Miller, Mrs. Wilbur Proyer, Mrs. Harold Inoley, Mrs. Marvin Hamilton, Mrs. Leo Nofziger, Mrs. Floyd Miller Jr., Mrs. Ed Miller, Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Ray Wittig, Betty Gerig, Pat Schrack, LaVene St. Luke's Hospital, Sherry Martin, Debbie Miller, Von Zael Miller, Linda King and Vevhane Miller.

Gerig, reside in Lebanon, where the bridegroom is a self-employed poultryman. They took a wedding trip to the west coast and Seattle.

Guests attended from Oregon, Kansas, Washington, Iowa, Colorado, Canada and many Idaho communities.

A pre-nuptial shower was held for the brides by Mrs. Allen Miller.

Jay-C-Ettes Will Sponsor Narcotics Poster Contest

Approximately 400 persons were present for the ceremony. Crescent candelabra and beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and red roses enhanced the setting.

The bride's brother was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Wilton Ellinghaus, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller, Idaho Falls, sang a duet.

Plans to sponsor a local poster and slogan contest on narcotics were made when the Duhi-Jay-C-Ettes met at the home of Mrs. Willard Price.

The contest will be held by the Duhi and Castleford Junior high schools and high schools with local winners receiving $10 for first place, $5 second place, and $3.50 third at each school.

Meeting closed with members participating in the "Speak Up" project. Mrs. Marvin Lively won the cup, with Mrs. Richard Denison receiving honorable mention.

Both were identical novens of white floor-length satin, accented with clusters of white lace roses and sequins, fashioned with scooped necklines and long, floppy sleeves. Flowing trains flowed from box pleats in the back. Cascading bouquets of red roses were their bridal bouquets.

Final plans were made for the district travel trophy party to be hosted by the Duhi club. Mrs. Price was named chairman of the decorating committee for the annual DSA, banquet which will be held Tuesday at the R and R Cafe.

The club voted to hold a "sock hop" for junior-high students with proceeds from the dance going to the March of Dimes Foundation. Mrs. Bill Dillard was named chairman for the event.

Candlelighters were Billy and Bobby Miller, nephews of the brides. Tim Nofziger and Sherry Gerig, sisters of the bridegrooms, were flower girls and carried white reed baskets filled with red rose petals.

Mrs. Bob Pletas, president, welcomed Mrs. Hoyte Miller as a guest for the meeting. The assisting at the reception held

Horn-Honking Habits Probed

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—And now some information about horn-honking habits of drivers, male and female. Scientifically established.

The horn-honkers were involved without their knowledge, in an experiment probing the investigation of frustration in that classic auto situation: being stuck behind a car that doesn't move right away when the light turns green.

Anthony M. Doob and Alma E. Gross, of the departments of psychology at the University of Toronto and the University of Wisconsin, respectively, made up-minded the investigation of horn-honking habits.

On a Sunday, mid-morning to around six p.m., they probed horn-honking at six intersections at Palo Alto and Menlo Park, Calif.

First they sent out a high status car—washed and polished luxury vehicle, late model—with instructions to delay taking off from the intersections when the light turned green.

Then they sent out two battered or low status cars, with the same instructions. One was like a rusty bird on wheels; the other wasn't much better.

People honked their horns when stuck behind the car, but not always. When they honked, they were acting to remove the offending driver and emotionally to reduce tension—as the psychologists view this.

What the investigators found was this: Drivers behind the battered low status cars were quicker to honk. Eighty-four per cent of them honked at least once and 47 per cent honked twice. Two drivers, instead of honking, hit the back bumper of the low status car.

Drivers behind the high status car were more disciplined. Only 50 per cent honked once and just 19 per cent honked twice. And no driver had the nerve to bump the high status car when it delayed moving out at the turning of the light to green.

The honkers also were classified according to sex. The investigators found men tended to honk faster and more frequently than women.

"These data are consistent with laboratory findings that men tend to aggress more than women," the investigators reported.

Now why didn't as many honk at the offensive high status car as at the battered one? The investigators explain thusly:

Although it is improbable that a high status driver would seek vengeance against a honker, fear of retaliation may govern also from other situations where aggression against superiors has been punished.

DEAR ABBY: A married friend of my husband's is going around with the kind of woman you'd expect would openly go with a married man. This couple dropped in unexpectedly one night. I was polite, but I told my husband that I did not want that woman in my home, so to please tell his friend not to bring her here again. Well, they dropped by again last night and my husband welcomed them with open arms. Abby, this woman is rude and ignorant, but she's a real flirt. The noise of that emory board got on my nerves so severely I finally got up and excused myself. After they left I told my husband again how I felt, and he said that was "their way of life" and I should accept it. Well, I don't care what they do, or how they live, but I will not "accept" it, and I don't think I should be expected to entertain trash like that in my home. I'd like your opinion.

NEEDS SUPPORT
DEAR NEEDS: If your husband insists upon welcoming into his home people whose unconventional way of life is not acceptable to you, that would seem his "right." It is also your "right" to disapprove and to absent yourself from the company. That ought to tell somebody something; your husband, his friend, and the lady with the emory board.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is getting along in years, has taken ill and is now confined to her bed. She lives with me, but my biggest problem is keeping a number of her friends away from her.

Mother has always been a very sociable person and the loves company, but some of her friends have more time than brains, and after they've paid another a visit, it takes her days to recover from the setback. Mother said that one of her friends told her that if she didn't change doctors she was as good as dead, because her doctor didn't know what he was doing. Other friends bring her the most depressing news about who else is sick, dying or dead. One friend even asked Mother if she would please give her their mature judgment? B and L.

DEAR B AND L: That depends on the seriousness of the "fight," the age and sex of the "children," and the "way" they propose to settle it. Children should be taught that "might" does not make right, and the one who wins the fight isn't necessarily "right." Parents should use their "mature judgment" in determining whether or not they should intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column recently that "nothing is impossible except getting your name off a mailing list." Well, that isn't impossible either.

For some time my husband and I had been receiving some most undesirable advertising through the mails. I complained to my postmaster, wrote to my congressman, and even wrote to the sender, threatening to sue if they persisted in sending this filth. It didn't help. I continued to receive it.

Finally, I saved up several of their unopened envelopes and put them into a large envelope and mailed them back with no return address. It would have cost them 83 cents for postage, since I put no stamps on the envelope.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

HORSE TRADING SAVES A LOSER

One of the classic bridge plays is named the loser-on-loser. It consists of conceding a trick that you would have to lose later on and gaining a second trick by this means.

George Gooden has another name for it. He calls it a horse-trading play.

Smith has a mighty strong heart opening and when his partner jumps in three hearts South is off in the races. A great expert playing with an expert partner would try some complicated series of con-bids but George is writing for students and simply suggested Blackwood four and five no-trump with a stop at six after North shows no king.

The slam is a rather easy one to lose. If South just tries a spade finesse he will have to lose that trick and one other, but a little horse trading will save the day for him.

He wins the club lead in his own hand and draws trump with two leads. Then he plays a club to the ace and ruffs a club, leads a diamond to the ace, another lead to his king and ruffs his last diamond in dummy.

Now he plays dummy's last club and throws his losing deuce of spades on that losing club. West wins the trick and is helpless. If he leads a spade he has taken South's finesse for him; if he leads a club South will ruff in dummy and discard his queen of spades. Either way the horse trade has made the slam for South.

Scribe Describes 'Whimsy' As Contemplating Size Of Baby

WHIMSY — When I reported the Turkish word "lalabalasur-lidik" was the longest word for "pudoyo" in any language, a client accused me of whimsy. That's not whimsy. That's fact. And if the human baby grew at the same rate as the 34-inch term fetus, the larva, said baby within two weeks would weigh eight tons. That's whimsy.

REMEMBER THIS — If high Noon does not necessarily occur at 12 o'clock in fact, High Noon sometimes hits us much as 18 minutes before 12 o'clock or 14 minutes after. Depends on your whereabouts. High Noon is that moment when the sun is high in the sky. But what's wrong with it, which is why Dr. Pel thought it up—is the Anglo and Saxon are the only two Anglo-Saxon words in that sentence.

CHINA SIGN — Among the metropolitan traffic signs in China stands one which translates thusly: "When a passenger in the front leaves into right-side the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first, if he still obstructs your passage, tootle him with vigor and express by word of mouth this warning—"TII HUI!"

TEA — "Whereabouts in his works does William Shakespeare mention tea?" inquires a client. He doesn't. Tea didn't show up in England until 47 years after Mr. Shakespeare's demise. It cost the equivalent of $10 a pound then, incidentally.

CAR — Back in the days when the car was called the horseless carriage, everybody was looking for some better name for the thing. Proposed were: autozo, autokinot, autovic, cabrio, carleon, gasmobilo, ipsonotio, kinotor, cheque, victorino, and one more, sir: automobile. That last one isn't a good name for a car. It's not poetic. Cabrio or kinotor would have been better. Too late, too late.

YOUR questions and comments are welcomed and will be used wherever possible in "Checking Up." Please address your mail to L. M. Boyd, McNaught Syndicate, Inc., 80 E. 42nd St., New York, N. Y. 10017.

HEADING THE CASSIA county March of Dimes drive this year are Mrs. Kathryn Barry, county chairman, and Judy Hinz, standing left, Teen chairman, and Gail Streater, Teen vice chairman. A Mother's March is scheduled for Thursday night. Miss Hinz and some $300 already has been collected by teen-agers throughout the county.

Mrs. Barry Heads Cassia March Of Dimes Campaign

DURLEY — Mrs. Kathryn Barry has been named chairman of the Cassia County March of Dimes. Judy Hinz is Teen chairman, Gail Streater is vice chairman of the Teen and Mrs. Chris Dickard is the teen adviser.

The annual county March of Dimes is now underway and Mrs. Barry urges chairmen and co-chairmen to assist with the Mothers' March scheduled for Thursday, Mrs. Rowena Warr, Oakley, will direct the arrangements for the drive in the Oakley area.

Residents are reminded that the March of Dimes has eliminated polio as a threat to children of the world, and the organization is now concentrating its efforts toward another crippling and killer of children, birth defects, reported Mrs. Barry.

About a quarter of a million American babies are born each year with significant birth defects. Some die, some live, and scientific advisers assure the March of Dimes that much can be done to prevent deaths and deformities from birth defects.

Mrs. Barry reports that the March of Dimes supports research through grants to scientists who are looking for ways to improve diagnosis and devise better treatment methods. Other grants aid fundamental research into the underlying causes of birth defects, and ultimately, the means of preventing them.

The Burley High School typing class under the direction of Mrs. Evan Turley, instructor, has given assistance to the drive by addressing envelopes for the March of Dimes which are now in the mail. Also assisting with this program is Vernon Graff, Burley.

Donations to the March of Dimes may be mailed to Reed Starey, treasurer, P.O. Box 609, Durley.

Campfire Girls helped stuff the envelopes which were mailed to residents in Albion, Declo, Elba, Almo, Malin and Oakley.

The Teen chairman, Miss Hinz, reported that the teenagers in the county have already collected about $300 for the March of Dimes drive. This amount includes the elementary student envelopes, various fund raising projects at Burley High School, button sales (Go Mod) and special donations from businesses.

FOR YOUR FETTERING, I KNOW PUT YOUR BRUSH!

DEAR POLLY—Many school pep clubs are using saddle shoes in their school colors as part of their uniforms. Our colors are red and white. These saddle shoes have to be specially ordered so they are more expensive and I do not think as good quality as the ordinary saddler. Several of us girls go in together, buy a bottle of red shoe paint and do the regular black part of saddle with the red paint. So little is needed that one bottle works on several shoes. Anything to lessen our school expenses.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY—Never throw away an old pincushion without opening it. I had two rather large ones that were soiled and out of shape. Before throwing them away I slit them open and took 47 needles out of one and more than 60 out of the other.—MRS. O. M.

DEAR POLLY—Take wire coat hangers and bend them into a hook shape. Draw over a tree limb or hold same under a hose on the yard. This keeps the hose off the grass, the yard looks neater and the neighborhood puppy is not so apt to chew holes in it.—MARCELLA

DEAR POLLY—The best way I have found to keep spoons of thread from getting tangled is to press a thumb tack down in the end of each spool and then wrap the end of the thread around the tack. No more loose ends to get tangled.—ETHEL

DEAR POLLY—Many small children have trouble managing a full-sized washcloth when taking a bath. I found that if one big cloth is cut into fourths for little children and in half for the somewhat older ones it teaches them proper washing habits more easily.—WENDY

Ask Them Yourself

education writer

Is it true that you have launched a campaign to ask Congress to revoke the charter of the National Education Association?—Opal I. Moore, Roseburg, Ore.

• I have begun a nationwide drive to have Congress review the charter of the NEA, with a view to lifting it if the facts uncovered warrant such action. Letters to state teachers all over the United States indicate a growing dissatisfaction over NEA policies. Teachers complain that the NEA promotes programs that tend to divide—such as the controversial school sex-education program and sensitivity training—at a time when maximum public confidence in our school system is needed.

FOR MARY BROOKS,

Director of the U.S. Mint

When will new designs be made for U.S. coins?—K. Dunston, Meridian, Iowa

• A coin design may not be changed more often than once in 25 years without specific legislation. While some are now eligible, no changes are under consideration at this time.

FOR LOWELL THOMAS,

author-adventurer

As an experienced news commentator for several years, why did you never enter the television news field?—Ralph E. Johnson, Jackson City, Tenn.

• I had the first news program in the history of television. It was before World War II on NBC. After the war, I was asked to resume my tv news program. However, I declined because I wanted to be free to roam. When the film-tv era finally arrived, I launched my first tv series called "High Adventure." At present, I have a series running under the title, "The World of Lowell Thomas."

FOR ENCELBERT HUMPERDINK,

singer

Is that your real name? And if not, why did you choose that one?—E. F., Chattanooga, Tenn.

• My real name is Arnold George Dorsey. The name Engelbert Humperdink was given to me by my manager, who thought it was easy to remember.

FOR J. EDGAR HOOVER,

Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Aren't FBI agents required to notify an arrested subject of his constitutional rights? It does not seem that they do on the FBI to series.—George Senn, Egg Harbor, N.J.

• The FBI always advises those whom it places under arrest of their rights. On television there is a time element, and dramatic license is taken.

• The FBI always advises those whom it places under arrest of their rights. On television there is a time element, and dramatic license is taken.

FOR DIAPHANN CARROLL, actress

Do you wear different wigs on different shows? If so, how many do you have?—La Donna Wortham, Columbia, Mo.

• Yes, I have six identical wigs for the "Julia" show and numerous others in my personal wardrobe, which I wear for other appearances.

FOR BOB GIBSON,

St. Louis Cardinal pitcher

I have heard rumors that you are planning to retire and will not play in 1970. Is this true?—Garry I. Auman, Durham, N.C.

• No! I have no plans to retire. I will have some good years left.

FOR DR. SAM SHEPPARD

Is it true you're wrestling for a living?—L. K., Lancaster, Pa.

• No, for the fun of it. All money I earn from wrestling is donated to cancer research. I am a full-time general practitioner in Columbus, Ohio.

What in the World!

The With-it Y Today marks the beginning of National YMCA Week, and the 125-year-old organization is not only keeping pace with the times but might even be a few steps ahead. Among the most recent innovations in the 6-million-strong association is youth-operated coffee houses all over the country at which teens can discuss problems, hear folk and rock performers, and generally get together. Draft counseling at various regional and local Ys is new, and there are now nine voting members on the Y's national board who are in their early 20s. Oh, yes—the YMCA has a 25-percent female membership now.

A Cornell Comeback? "But I never said I retired," says actress Katharine Cornell. "I just made a brief exit from the theater in 1961, when my husband (Guthrie McClintic) died." Since then, the famous stage star, now 71 years old, has enjoyed the luxury of leaving about her house at Mariha's Vineyard. According to the Information Center on the Mature Woman, Miss Cornell is about to make another entrance. This time she will make a series of dramatic recordings for the blind. "I am interested in anything to do with my late dear friend,

Katharine Cornell

Helen Keller," says Katharine. "I have learned that the secret of staying young is by staying active."

Cost Scare "Cats' Casteen Leukemia in Man" read one newspaper headline last long ago, typifying a rash of cat-cynicare stories. Animal shelters subsequently reported an increase in abandoned cats; farmers in New Jersey complained about the increased number of cats being dumped on their property. The fact is, says Friends of Animals, Inc., leukemia has been confined to felines used by laboratories doing cancer research. Scientists agree it rarely is found in cats outside laboratories. Dr. Charles Rickard, professor of pathology at Cornell, says, "There is no evidence that cat leukemia viruses infect humans." And Dr. Timothy O'Connor, National Cancer Institute, adds, "Our kids have cats. I'm not taking them away."

Indian Beauty The winner of the National Miss Indian American Pageant wants to become a lawyer. "I want to help my people," says pretty Winona (it translates "firstborn") Margery Haury,

Winona Margery Haury

a sophomore in political science at the University of New Mexico. "You couldn't expect a non-Indian to understand us and our motivations. Many Indians on the reservation don't express themselves well and feel a psychological and cultural wall between them and the Anglo community." Do you yourself feel at home with both? "Yes," said Margery. "my friends are a mixture of both." What about dating? "Oh, please don't mention that. I'm only 18."

Woody Allen Answers Back!

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

TALKING TO Woody Allen is a bit like jumping out of an airplane with a parachute you've packed yourself. You may think you know what you're doing, but you're taking an awful chance.

While I knew I was out to get facts about this clever little man with a receding hair line, large nose, and pleading, bespectacled eyes, it was hard to tell when I was getting straight answers or when he was doing his thing—a bent that is fast making him the "In" talent of show business.

At 34, he has proved himself a fantastic success as a playwright ("Don't Drink the Water" and "Play It Again, Sam"); screenwriter ("What's New, Pussycat?"), television writer, magazine writer, movie star ("Casino Royale"), tv star, night-club entertainer, and now, movie director, with "Take the Money and Run," which he co-authored and in which he stars. Yet in person, Woody seems absolutely meek and unassuming, although he describes himself as "a political liberal with a strong yen for fascist women." I decided to try to reach the real Woody Allen—with these results:

Q: When and where were you born, Mr. Allen?

A: In Brooklyn in 1935 and again four years later in San Francisco.

Q: He was born in Brooklyn on Dec. 1, 1935. He spends most of his time in New York.

Q: Why is no little known about your personal life?

A: Only J. Edgar Hoover has access to it, and he keeps it secret for reasons of national security.

Q: How do you live, what are your favorite pastimes?

A: Collecting twine and trying to teach my pet chicken to play pinocchio.

(He lives in a large, old apartment that encompasses two floors in New York City. He lives alone, being separated from his second wife. He mostly looks after himself but has a housekeeper who comes in every morning. He doesn't worry much about food since he doesn't like meat. In fact, he sometimes repeats the same menu—soup and fish—for months at a time.)

Q: According to your official biography, you are shy and unassuming. Is this true?

A: I am a vain, petty, megalomaniac—bent on achieving world domination.

(It's a quiet man who spends about five nights a week seeing movies and seldom goes out otherwise. He's still "social" and "fun" facing a crowd—very loving and frightening. He's not impressed with himself.)

Q: Do you drink or smoke?

A: No. I never have. It makes me dizzy to smoke and nauseous to drink. However, I enjoy putting butter on my head.

Q: Do you have many clothes?

A: One glove.

(Clothes don't interest him. Woody has a habit of buying whatever is handy and wearing it all the time, like sweaters and smocks.)

Q: When you were a boy, did you have it fairly easy financially?

A: My first job was working in my father's grocery. I organized it and drove him out of business.

(Actually, it was a struggle most of the time. Woody's father did menial jobs. His mother worked, too. Like many kids in his neighborhood, when not in school, he was out on the streets. Woody got caught vandalizing a school but lied his way out of trouble. He was also apprehended for possession of a BB gun when he took pot-shots at people.)

Q: Are you close to your parents?

A: Not very. They are planning to dynamite the State Department. (Woody's parents were very strict, and in spite of the fact both were at work and Woody was left on his own so much, they tried to be good parents. Woody insists they yelled and hit him a lot. But at least they kept him from being expelled, although his grades and extracurricular activities were grounds for it!)

Q: Are you an only child?

A: No. I have a Siamese twin, and we are joined together by a long piece of thread so it's not noticeable. (He has a younger sister.)

Q: Do you have a wife? Children?

A: No wife—no children. And if we did—what sex? Anything we could think of!

(He was married twice, but neither marriage worked out. His first wife was a musician and a philosophy student. She then went on to become a teacher. His second wife, from whom he is separated, is an actress.)

Q: If you weren't in show business, what would you be doing?

A: Leader of the Black Panthers. (Woody secretly wanted to be an FBI agent. He longed for something exciting and dangerous. He also thought of being a private detective. He was very good at baseball and could have played in the minor leagues, but he lost interest.)

Q: Did you ever do any other work than acting?

A: I blow up dirigibles with my mouth for Goodyear.

(He toyed with being a criminal and became a pretty good cardsharp but held it down to hobby level.)

Q: You have written, directed, and acted. Which kind of work do you enjoy the most and why?

A: Stealing. I like fresh air and work that keeps me on my toes.

Q: Is there anything you can't do?

A: Get Spiro Agnew to kiss me.

Q: You've been compared with Charlie Chaplin and Peter Sellers. What is your opinion?

A: They were both half Jewish.

Q: Do you believe actors should be in politics?

A: Yes, with the exception of Ronald Reagan, George Murphy, and Shirley Temple. I wanted Bob Lugo to be President.

Q: Do you think you are a disciplined individual?

A: In my work only. I wasn't in grammar school or in high school and was thrown out of two colleges—NYU and City College—because I wasn't disciplined. I can't be in anything I don't like to do. (True!)

Q: What are your hobbies?

A: Go to movies, chase girls. (Recently Woody started a jazz band. He loves music and has taught himself to play several wood instruments but specializes in the clarinet.)

Q: What do you plan next?

A: To relive my past glories. (He has just been contracted to write, direct, and star in three films for United Artists.)

Q: If you could have been anyone else, who would it be?

A: Ingmar Bergman.

(True. He's a great admirer of the Swedish director's work but feels that he would probably be disappointed in the man if he were to meet him personally since everyone he knows who has met Bergman feels he is self-centered and temperamental.)

Q: Have you ever been sick?

A: I have been severely mentally unbalanced since age two. That's it.

Q: What do you think about the generation gap?

A: I would like to see it widen. I enjoy it when people can't communicate. It makes life interesting.

I wasn't sure whether Woody's answers bridged a communication gap, but interlocking Woody Allen was an experience I won't forget! *

What

By JHAN and JUNE ROBBINS

HAVING HAD eight different homes in the course of our marriage, we have had many neighbors.

Some were wonderful and became good friends. But others we considered irritating, irresponsible, and inconsiderate. We were happy to lose them, and they probably felt the same way about us.

What are the special qualities of a good or bad neighbor? What traits does a family want its neighbors to possess? What gives people living in proximity a pain in the neck?

Recently we talked to more than 200 housewives gathered in forums in Burlington, Vt.; Lynn, Mass.; Memphis, Tenn.; Kansas City, Mo.; Boulder, Colo.; and Spokane, Wash.

Assured of anonymity, they told us like it is.

Their ages ranged from 24 to about 43, their family incomes from $10,800 to $21,500 per year. Eighty percent had two or more children. About one-third lived in cities, another third in suburbs, and the remainder in rural areas.

We invited them to talk about their neighbors, and after a few shy moments they were delighted to do so. It quickly developed that one of the pleasures of having a neighbor—good or bad—is the opportunity to observe and speculate about the people next door.

One of the first ladies we heard from was a former Vermont school teacher. "You know that having neighbors is an ancient way of life," she reminded us. "The word is mentioned more than 160 times in the Bible, including the most famous admonition to 'love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

"That's a pretty difficult thing to do!" said another member of her group. "Believe me I want to love them—or at least like them—but it isn't easy! I seem to be a magnet for bad neighbors. Just yesterday I had to go downtown to shop. I've taken care of my neighbor's children, and she offered to care for mine. It seemed like a simple favor. But when I got home, she was indoors ironing, and my kids were prancing around on the garage roof!"

A tall, slender woman with short, curly dark hair, nodded vigorously as she listened to the story. "I know exactly how you feel," she said. "If a neighbor volunteers to do something—then she should do it properly! She should be reliable!"

We heard the same sentiments school in other parts of the country. "When my father died," said the wife of a Memphis policeman, "my neighbor, God bless her, took over many of the chores of running my house. She was wonderful. When we came home from the cemetery, she had prepared dozens of things to eat on my dining-room table. I've learned that you can always trust her to help out. In my opinion, that's a good neighbor!"

Money was another area which the ladies brought up frequently. One, having recently moved into a Kansas City suburb, told us that she had unexpectedly been faced with the need to pay for a bed that was delivered collect.

"I hadn't expected it to be delivered until the following week," she explained. "We had just moved in, and I had closed out my old checking account. I hadn't had time to open a new one. I didn't have enough cash, and my husband was out. The delivery man told me that if I didn't accept it then, it probably wouldn't be delivered for several weeks. We desperately needed the bed."

"I looked at my neighbors' houses. I hadn't met any of them. Then I picked the friendliest-looking yard—the one that looked sort of casual but not too money—I walked over, introduced myself, and explained my predicament. She loaned me $127. We repaid it that evening."

Most of the ladies, however, felt strongly that money should be kept out of next-door relations. A woman sitting next to the lady who had borrowed the $127 commented, "You were lucky you picked rich neighbors as well as nice ones. Not everyone could write a check that size, and if they couldn't, that might have been the end of a good neighbor!"

A stout woman who lived on a farm near Boulder said, "My husband, against my advice, loaned money to some neighbors who lived down the road. They didn't pay it Makes a Good Neighbor?

An informal survey shows the answer to include a right balance of friendship, reticence, generosity—and common sense back for more than a year. And when they finally did pay it back, they stopped speaking to us. It was strange. Now that I think of it, I guess they were embarrassed. One day, they just moved away without even saying good-bye."

We discovered that borrowing of any kind often causes trouble—yet to be considered a good neighbor you have to be prepared to be generous.

"It's not that I mind lending my car or lawnmower," said one woman who has a part-time selling job in a Burlington department store. "What bugs me is when they return it with an empty tank!"

A lady sitting opposite her said, "One thing my mother taught me about neighbors—always give back more than you borrow. Always return an empty plate if you borrow six eggs, give back seven!"

Evidently another quality that a good neighbor should possess is compassion and understanding. One heartfelt story was told by a Memphis woman whose husband is a pediatrician. "About 10 years ago," she said, "Jim and I were having marital trouble. Things got so bad that I was about to tell him to pack his bags and leave. I was in that mood when the woman in the next house came over to borrow a head of lettuce."

"Suddenly, I poured everything out to her. I must have gone on for an hour. She just listened and then said, 'I know what you have been going through—Howie and I had similar problems, but somehow they all worked out.'

"I don't want to give the impression that everything worked out lumpy-dory, but it was good to be able to let off steam and to know that somebody else had been in the same boat!"

A smartly dressed, red-haired woman in her early 30s who lives in a middle-income housing project in Spokane told another moving story. "One long, dreadful month in the spring all four of our children came down in turn with miserable head-colds," she said. "I was stuck in the apartment for weeks and nearly went out of my mind. Then one morning I met a woman in the building I'd never seen before. To make conversation I said, 'It's a nice day,' and she replied, 'Who can tell? I haven't been out for about a month. I've been listening to—sniffles—ever—since—the time we moved in!'

"So right away I knew we were sharing the same problem. We wound up putting our sniffly kids in front of the same tv set, and she and I had a visit. I guess a good neighbor has to understand your problem!"

"It's so much easier and pleasanter to live among families who have similar standards of behavior," said a woman who lives in Lynn. "If I want to experience social anthropology, I can travel!" She excused herself several times to check on her six-year-old daughter.

"Jeannie," she explained, "is home in bed. She scalded her foot while boiling water. Not only is my neighbor sitting with her, but this morning she brought Jeannie a coloring book. When her Ethel was down with mumps, I did the same thing! You'd be surprised what it means!"

"Maybe neighbors don't have to be just like you," said another. "But they shouldn't think you're queer because you're not just like them! I've got neighbors who are nonconformists. They're real bastards. Go around barefoot. They have a record player that projects a good half mile, and they play folk music until I could scream. What's worse, they have got their whole front yard filled up with a big racing sailboat. No flowers, no lawn—just that sailboat and weeds and mud! My kids think they're super! These neighbors like that! Sometimes I feel that they want to woe the children away from me!"

"That's exactly what I don't like in a neighbor," said a peppery blonde woman who had told us that she used to be a concert pianist. "We have lived in Kansas City for eight years, and all these years in the same house. Most of my neighbors are pretty decent, but a few I'd glacially check—one couple in particular!"

"They tried to 'drag my children off to their Sunday school. I suppose they meant well, but it really hurt me. We have our own denomination—and it's not theirs. I don't yet know how I want my children raised, but I don't want my neighbors butting in on it! The children said, 'Mom, that Sunday school sure has a swell sandpile!'"

Attitude toward children, we were told, often determines if a neighbor is classified as good or bad. "My neighbor's sons fastened a basketball backboard on the telephone pole in front of our house," said one woman.

"The thump and bang—sometimes as late as 11 p.m.—nearly drives me mad. I complained to the boys' parents, but they merely shrugged and said, 'Boys will be boys.' I don't allow my children to annoy the neighbors. Why should they?"

A young woman who lives in Boulder brought her three-year-old son with her. "We live on a dead-end street, and I have only one neighbor. She couldn't take care of Jimmy so I brought him along. This neighbor says she is always too busy to do anything. But, frankly, she's busy doing nothing! Bad neighbors are people who just don't care."

"When I was a little girl, we lived on a farm," one person commented. "The bad neighbors were those who let their cows get into your corn or their sheep on your lawn or their dogs chase the horses. Now we live in town, I'd say the bad neighbor is the one who plays the electric guitar until 2 a.m.—not just once but every night! You can overlook a single transgression, but day-to-day offenses mount up!"

Surprisingly we learned that television plays an important role in neighbor relations. One woman told us, "I don't like the neighbor who rushes into your living room and changes the channel. You'd be surprised how often that happens!"

The mother of a teen-age son who had just won a scholarship to Harvard said, "We have a color set. Some of my neighbors still have black and white. So what do they do? They come over all the time to watch ours—why, they even demand particular programs!"

Many of the women shared the interesting idea that a newcomer should not expect to change the character of a neighborhood. "On the contrary," said a suburban dweller who lives on the outskirts of Kansas City. "It is the new neighbor's responsibility to change herself, if necessary, to fit in. That is if she wants to be considered a good neighbor!"

It's a must if you really want to be a good part of the community you live in. ♦

Tips on Neighborliness

The ladies had some definite ideas of what makes a good neighbor. They agreed that in order to be one you have to adhere to these few "good-neighbor" policies:

1. Don't try to impose your values on others.
2. Help out when necessary. Lend possessions but not money!
3. Pay back borrowed things promptly and with interest.
4. Be careful not to intrude on other people's property or their generosity.
5. Keep your children on a firm, supervisory rein. Act responsibly if your youngsters step out of line.
6. Lend a sympathetic, uncritical ear to other people's troubles. Do not tell others what to do.
7. Be considerate. Do not make unnecessary noises, play loud music, litter the neighborhood.
8. Don't gossip! Do not pry into other's private affairs, and do not indulge in "back-fence news spreading."
9. And above all—be reliable! Let yourself be counted on in times of trouble!

You Can Grow a Better Garden

And now is the time to start—for though it looks like winter, nature is already in the process of rebirth

By THALASSA CRUSO

Author of "Making Things Grow" and hostess of the educational program of the same title

AS A CHILD, living in a more temperate climate, winter was divided in my mind into two parts.

There was the early, raw, cold period from November until well after Christmas, which could—and often did—turn into long dreary stretches when thick choking fog distressingly enveloped us all.

This to me was deep winter, where nothing visibly stirred among growing things and when the hedgerow country walks contained only memories of things past, withered rose haws, frost-spoiled blackberries, and rustling dried leaves—the tattered remnants of what had been.

By late January, things changed. If you knew where to find them, the first snowdrops were already flowering in sheltered glades. Gorse bushes on the high downs flashed with an occasional gleam of gold, and deep in the ditch verges, half covered with dead leaves, adventurous white anemones could be found.

For me this was winter's second stage, for though the ponds were still frozen and the weather piercingly cold, the year had turned; anticipation was in the air, and we find visible evidence of what soon would come upon us.

I haven't lived where there have been no obvious seasonal changes, but I am sure that everywhere for those who look, there are signs when the year has, as it were, turned over in bed, preparatory to getting up.

I now garden where the winters last far longer and are much fiercer than those of my childhood, but the same time of year, late January, brings the same foretaste of spring even though the signals are different.

House plants respond to the inner pull of their primal biological clocks, by putting out new growth, at first a little tentatively but soon with an unmistakable flourish.

More prosaically, the seed catalogues arrive to remind us that the time has come to plan for next season's garden. This is the moment to be honest with yourself and take stock of the manifold sins of omission and commission that spoiled last year's effort. And it is also the time to undertake some of the more tedious gardening chores which, though we often do not realize it, can be done almost everywhere in this winter period and ought to be gotten out of the way before we are lured into the more beguiling duties of flowery spring.

Gardens are largely judged by the first impression they give. No matter how charming the nook you may have hidden away at the back of the house, it can never counteract the initial impact of an unsightly entrance to it.

Lawns in every climate worry their owners, and each area has its own particular problems. But grass everywhere benefits enormously from attention given to it during this preliminary whistling of spring. Now is the time to get a long-lasting fertilizer put down. If you can use a spreader, well and good; if you are clumping around in snowshoes, you still know the outlines of your lawn, and though you may have to use the primitive method of tossing the material out by hand, the long-lasting effect is just as good.

And, silly as you may feel throwing fertilizer over deep snow, there's even an advantage, for you at least can see whether it is covering the area evenly! This early treatment enables the spring rains or the melting snow to carry nourishment deep down into the roots of the existing grass so that it is ready and available the moment growth begins.

Horticulturalist Theobald Cruise in her own private garden checks moisture in plants.

In recent years I also have seeded my lawns at this unlikely time. True, the seed provides a delicious unexpected treat to many of the resident birds. But I seed so thickly that much of it escapes even their observant eyes, and with snow on the ground, it soon sinks out of reach.

This early seeding imitates nature; the growth of hardy weeds start up far earlier in the year than we realize, long before the ground is workable.

Grass is one of those hardy seeds, and freely sown grass needs to make strong roots while the nights are still cool. Only grass that has started in very early spring can withstand the changeable weather and sudden heat of late spring.

My father used to judge a garden by the appearance of the lawns, far easier to grow in England than here, but he also had another touchstone, the appearance of the edges, the places where lawns touch driveways or flower beds.

But edging is a tiresome, boring job which has to be repeated several times a season. And those who use the garden, especially children with bicycles, have to be prevented from breaking down the newly cut verges.

To me, a garden is a place to be enjoyed, not an area full of don'ts, and the edges in the gardens of my childhood were the bane of my existence. I no longer edge. I find it too much work; nor is there labor available for anyone to do it for me. Instead, we mulch our shrub borders and flower beds up to the edge of the grass. I use bark mulch, though other attractive materials are available, and we put it down in the late fall when the ground is first frozen.

We pile it on to a depth of four or five inches, and we renew it annually. This keeps the mulch at lawn level, and counteracts the damage that can follow spring thaws and ground heaves. It smotheres the weeds before they can sprout, and during the subsequent summer it keeps the soil beneath it cool and in good condition.

In the shrub borders, we use ground covers right up to the edge of the lawns; these achieve exactly the same result. We find the ground covers root better and spread faster if they, too, are mulched immediately after planting.

The whole scheme can be made even more interesting and attractive if you will put down a line of concrete paving blocks so closely butted together that no weed can grow between them, along the edges of the lawn wherever they lap against a flower bed. This gives an architectural winter interest in the garden design and is highly practical in its summer use. With this ribbon paving in place, ground covers can be allowed to sprawl effectively onto the stones without ruining the grass, and the mulch is easily swept off them. What's more, the wheel of a mower can travel over those stones easily.

In the North, this is the time to lay in the bags of mulch and order the paving blocks, for it is always easier to get started when everything is at hand, and those of you lucky enough to be already outdoors should make this labor-saving scheme a first responsibility.

There is another winter activity that can make a great difference to the future health of your garden—sitting up a year-round, sustained program of feeding and providing water for the birds. Thankfully, for those of us who have been so much concerned with the irreversible damage the hard pesticides have done to our environment, the use of these deadly poisons is slowly being outlawed.

We stopped all spraying eight years ago, even though our grounds still harbor a few insignificant ones. When we stopped, an increase of nests fell off us like a Biblical plague. Caterpillars hung in hundreds from every twig; we could hear the rasping as they chewed the leaves. Slugs, cutworms, earwigs, and mosquitoes marched into the garden in dreadful hordes. We had to stand by and wait with the best patience we could command, until nature redressed the balance. There was only one thing we could do to speed the process and that was encourage birds.

We doubled our feeding stations and added a greater variety of food to attract additional species. We helled our cat, though he's a very ineffective hunter, and we also undertook a crash planting program of barbed shrubs to provide winter food and thick cover. This program paid off unexpectedly fast. A far larger variety of birds now visits our yard and the resident population that stays with us is much increased.

As we built up the bird population, the insects diminished. For though birds will happily feed on any feeding station and unashamedly steal that newly sown grass seed, they don't depend only on what we provide for them. Any bird living on your place is also consuming innumerable insects and the larvae of the despoilers of your garden.

Now, then, is the time for action, not just paper plans. Whether it's snow mittens or a spring scarf, put it on and get to work. Spring is not around the corner—it is already here for the garden, and we should be in action. ♦

Bring The Bloom of Beauty To Your Complexion

Every day your complexion can grow a little lovelier, lavishly cared for with a remarkable tropical moist oil which has the skin-cherishing ability to help capture and maintain the precious bloom of true complexion beauty.

The fine, fair promise of skin beauty is initially determined deep down under the surface, where the tiny oil and moisture reservoirs establish a delicate balance—by releasing just the right amounts of perfect, natural nourishment to keep the complexion soft, supple and gloriously alive.

Cosmetic researchers have consistently borne in mind this basic understanding of the human skin in their efforts to find ways and means to improve and cherish its most precious qualities. With the discovery of the tropical beauty fluid has come the realization that at last it is possible to assist nature in maintaining the flow of the skin's natural oil and moisture and help in every way to bring long-term youth and beauty to the complexions of women living in all the differing climates of the globe.

When the beautifying moist oil is lavished on your skin nightly before your sleep, and worn every day beneath your make-up, your complexion will benefit immediately from its isotonic action, which is calculated to take conserving fluids directly down to where they are most needed.

Being remarkably compatible with the natural fluids of the skin, this moist oil readily merges with existing reserves and helps boost the dwindling cellular levels so that the complexion is encouraged to regain its equilibrium.

The beauty fluid also helps to maintain the vital measures of moisture responsible for the dew-fresh appearance of a lovely complexion. It encourages the natural hygroscopic attraction of moisture from the surrounding atmosphere and sponsors the moisture-retaining ability of the tissues so that youthful freshness and radiance become wonderfully constant on the skin.

In America this unique moist oil is available from druggists as oil of Olay, a remarkable blend of precious elements that brings your skin its softest, smoothest bloom of beauty.

Beauty Skin-Care Consultants Recommend

To take advantage of the beautifying properties of this moist oil and to give your complexion smoothness, clearness and youthful loveliness, always smooth on a film of oil of Olay over the face and neck before applying make-up. Besides cherishing and beautifying, the Olay oil will insure that your make-up has a perfect matt beauty.

Areas where age signs first begin to show need extra rich care at night. Massage oil of Olay over your throat and neck and tap it lightly into the delicate tissues around your eyes to smooth and beautify the skin.

To keep your lips soft and pretty, give them a generous quota of the beautifying moist oil when you do your face. This light film of oil of Olay will also act as a foundation for the smooth and lasting application of your lipstick.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

A couple of wives were discussing errant husbands, and one said: "Whenever Harry comes home after dark, he always kicks over a chair, waking me up out of a sound sleep."
"Why don't you leave a light on for him?" asked the other.
"Because," said the first wife, "then I wouldn't know what time he got home."

Charlie had taken his girl friend to lunch, and she had spoken to a nice-looking man at the next table. "Is that man a friend of yours?" Charlie asked.
"Yes," she replied.
"Then I think I'll ask him to join us," said Charlie.
"Oh, Charlie, this is no sudden!" exclaimed the young lady.
"What's so sudden?" asked Charlie.
"Why, he's our printer," she said.

"Are you quite sure that you have nothing further to declare?" asked the customs official of an expensively dressed lady on the dock.
"Absolutely," she insisted.
"Well, then," continued the official loudly, "am I to understand that the fur tail hanging from under your coat is your own?"

When your child asks questions about science and nature, let TIME LIFE BOOKS turn his curiosity into lifelong interest—

Borrow The Universe for 10 days free.
from the LIFE Nature Library

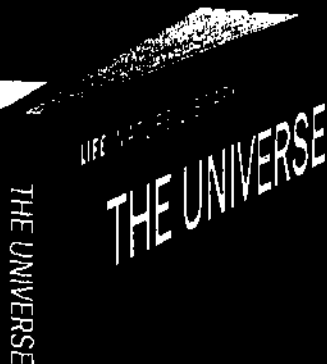

Scientists artificially create amino acids, the basic units of life itself.

The sun, a sphere of violently hot gases, reaches 25,000,000° F. at its core.

Twin stars of U Cephei are egg-shaped due to mutual gravitational attraction.

By 1916, Albert Einstein's theories of relativity had revolutionized astronomy and physics.

How hot is the sun? How does a telescope work? Is there life on Mars?

Does your child ask questions like these? If so, it's important to have the answers available, to channel that natural curiosity into a lasting interest through exposure to the LIFE Nature Library. The Universe is typical of this fascinating series.

From earliest prehistory, man has gazed wonderingly at the stars. But only in this 20th century have we begun to come to grips with the ultimate structures and riddles of the cosmos. And only in this decade have our laboratories been able to leave the Earth and probe our solar system.

Now the adventure begins in earnest. Now our speculations can be verified at firsthand. In our own time, men will climb the mountains of the moon, penetrate the mists of Venus, stride the rusty deserts of Mars. Soon—as history reckons time—whole human colonies will embark on journeys to the outermost reaches of space that will last for generations.

To help you envision this new human environment—to allow your family the wonderful prospects that lie ahead for the students of today who will tackle the universe tomorrow—we invite you to explore The Universe for ten days free.

VOYAGE TO INFINITY

In The Universe you'll read the biography of that fiery solar furnace, the sun. You'll discover how it was born out of a cloud of gas some 5 billion years ago. You'll learn why we can expect it to behave "normally" for another 5 billion years. And you'll see how, at the end of that time, it will expand, bringing the temperature of the Earth's surface high above the boiling point.

Yet this need not be the end of man. Our distant descendants may conceivably survive the holocaust by migrating to other stars and planets in the Milky Way. Astronomers do not doubt that life as we know it could have evolved.

Obviously a book of such scope as The Universe cannot be adequately described here. That's why we want you to borrow a copy and browse through it for 10 days. Share it with your children and their teachers. The careful blending of full-color photographs and vivid text, prepared with the authority and expertise which are the hallmark of TIME-LIFE BOOKS, make The Universe a delight to look at and read. It is also a carefully indexed reference work complete with bibliography which will be of great help in stimulating your children in their schoolwork.

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

Dinner for Special Guests

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Beef Burgundy Flambe is a tantalizing sophisticated version of a well-known beef stew cooked in Burgundy wine, an ever-popular meal-in-a-dish served in France. Recipes for compatible go-alongs to round out the meal are also suggested.

So dramatic with the serving of this beef stew by flaming the brandy at the table after seating your dinner guests.

Beef Burgundy Flambe

- 2 slices bacon
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
 - 2 lbs. sirloin tip steak, cut in short strips
 - 1 pkg. beef stew seasoning mix
 - 1 cup Burgundy
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 tablespoon tomato paste
 - 13 small boiling onions
 - 4 oz. fresh mushrooms, sliced and lightly browned in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 16 cherry tomatoes, stems removed
 - 1/2 cup flaming brandy (100 proof)
1. Fry bacon in a Dutch oven. Coat meat strips with a blend of flour and seasoned salt. Add to fat in Dutch oven and brown thoroughly. Add beef stew seasoning mix, Burgundy, water, and tomato paste. Cover and simmer gently 45 min.
 2. Peel onions and pierce each end with a fork so they will retain their shape when cooked. Add onions to beef mixture and simmer 40 min. or until meat and onions are tender. Add mushrooms and cherry tomatoes; simmer 5 min. Pour into a shallow serving dish.
 3. Heat brandy quickly and gently over hot water. Pour over beef burgundy. Set aflame at the table. Stir gently and serve immediately.

Chocolate Fudge Sauce
 Note: If cherry tomatoes are not available, use canned whole peeled tomatoes.

Cream Cheese-Potato Whip

- Instant-style potatoes, unsoak amount for 8 servings
 - 3 oz. cream cheese, cubed
 - 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1. Prepare potatoes as directed on package. Add the cubed cream cheese and seasoned salt; whip until fluffy.
 2. Turn potatoes into a shallow baking dish. Set in a warm oven until serving time. If desired, top with buttered bread or cracker crumbs.

4. Turn batter into ungreased 10-in. tubed pan and cut through batter.

The Dream Cake

New miracle recipe for a higher, moister mix cake.

We came up with this great new recipe for a better cake. Just add Dream Whip,[®] two extra eggs, and only one cup of water to your favorite cake mix (see recipe below), and you'll get a cake that's actually bigger!

But that's not all. You'll also get a moister cake, with extra moistness you can taste. And a lighter cake, too, with a firm, even, non-crumby texture. Extra eggs alone can't give you this kind of cake, you need Dream Whip for that extra moistness, height, and texture.

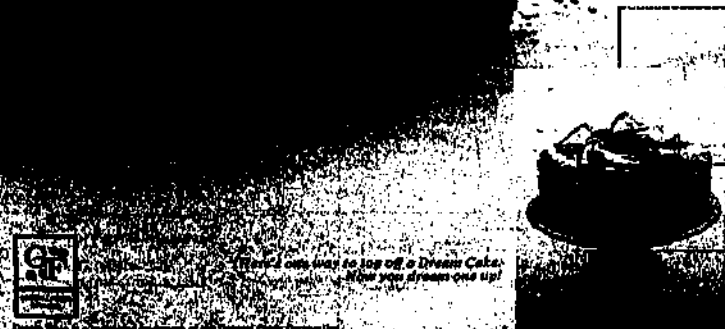

You can bake a Dream Cake in any sort of shape you can think of: cupcakes (they're moister, higher and you get more of them), sheet cakes (real picnic-size!), layer cakes, Bundt cakes... you can even make a skillet cake!

And you can top all these cakes with your favorite frosting, glaze, fruit, syrup, or with confectioners' sugar. You can even make an ice cream roll!

A Dream Cake tastes great, any way you serve it. In fact, the Dream Cake recipe makes your mix cake so much better, you'll be glad it's so much bigger!

Dream up a Dream Cake.

Here's one way to top off a Dream Cake. When you dream one up!

1 package (3 1/2 cups)
1 egg
2 eggs
1 cup cold tap water
Do not whip; use right from refrigerator.
Combine all ingredients in large bowl and mix thoroughly. Blend until moistened. Beat at medium speed for 1 minute. Pour into greased and floured 12" (9" deep) round pan or 13 1/2" (2" deep) 9" to 10" diameter cake pan. Bake at 350° in the pan (other sizes see directions). Do not remove from pan and finish cooling on cake rack. Frost with frosting or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar, or top with whipped cream or ice cream. A Dream Cake tastes great, any way you serve it.
A Dream Cake can be baked in any shape you want in one to a round, square, or rectangular pan, or in a cupcake pan, 24 to 30 holes.
For alternate sizes and quantities, see directions on cake mix box.

Question 1:
The One! Hop-hop.

(Advertisement)

I lost 86 pounds, before my husband came home on leave.

By Christine Stanley — as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

At the time this picture was taken, I had to wear a loose blouse for a bathing suit top. I know that made me look pregnant, but, believe me, I wasn't.

When I can't stop looking at me, now that I am so much slimmer, I'll pose in a fitted swim suit! Wait until my husband sees this picture. He will love it.

When my husband left for duty in Thailand, I weighed 205 pounds. "Babyspock" he called me. That's German for "baby fat." But I tell you, when you are 24 years old and the mother of two children, it can't be that.

Always, I loved food. As a child, there were thick, warm pretzels with sweet cream butter. Big helpings of wiener schnitzel with fried potatoes and onions. And German cheese tortes with oodles of whipped cream inside.

I remember my first day in school in Mannheim. It was the custom for each child to have her picture taken with a big paper cone, filled with candies. I wanted bread, meat and cake. And I got them.

When graduation from high school came, I was no round, the only date I had were with girls for the movies. Then I got a job and began to realize how important it was to be slim. So I tried hard to reduce. But not too sensibly. Once, all I ate for almost two weeks was bread and coffee. I made myself so sick, I had to take time off to get myself well again. Isn't that shameful?

It's a wonder my husband ever looked at me. He is a sergeant in the regular army and we met when he was stationed in Germany. I spoke pretty good English, learned from school. So we got on from the beginning. Maybe that was one of the big attractions. However, when I started cooking, German style, for him, he stayed skinny; but I got fatter.

Even when I was expecting my son, and the doctor threatened to put me in the hospital to lose weight, I could not make myself do it. Luckily, my baby was born all right and not hurt from all my fat.

After that, my husband was teasing me all the time and pinching the flab around my ribs, yet I couldn't get rid of it. That's when I started taking American reducing products. I even tried liquids. But I drank 20 cans in two days and got heavier.

It was about then, my husband left for Thailand. I hadn't been weighed in a long time, so, while visiting a friend one day, I got on her scales. I couldn't believe my eyes. She kept asking me: "How much?" When I finally told her 205 pounds, she gasped. "Christine, you're only 24 years old. What will you weigh when you're 30?"

My answer was to go to a drugstore and buy a box of vanilla caramel Ayds. I had been reading the stories of people who had lost weight with the help of them, and I thought maybe they could help me.

Well, I took Ayds exactly as directed. One or two before meals with a hot drink. And every day, I would re-read the little pamphlet in the box, so as not to get discouraged. And they really helped me eat less. You see, the chewing of Ayds was very good for me. The first week I lost eight pounds on the Ayds Plan. Without harmful drugs, too. And every week after, I lost three or four more pounds. Sometimes I switched to the plain chocolate fudge type Ayds, other times to the chocolate mint fudge.

Finally, my clothes got so big, I couldn't take them in any more. So I would wash them and pack them in a big army moving box. The closet got emptier and the box got fuller.

Such fun I had buying clothes. I spent even much of my food money to dress up when I reached 110 pounds. I tell you, my husband came home that Christmas, opened the door and turned pale. "I'm definitely in the wrong house," he said.

I'm so thankful to Ayds candies, I can't tell enough people. Why, the night before my husband went back, we went dancing. When the orchestra finished, he said: "Now, I'm going to do something I wasn't able to do in all five years of our marriage." Then he picked me up and carried me off the dance floor. The whole room applauded. For me. But I kept thinking it should have been for Ayds.

Easily Apply Professional Humor Devices To Any Subject, Occasion or Person

Say Something Funny Instantly

WITHOUT MEMORIZING JOKES

My Book Tells How! Explains 10 self-starting Formulas, Includes "Johnny Carson" and "Get Smart" scripts

by Jack Posner

Creator of Adult Education Humor Workshop

Would you like to say something funny instantly — at any time you cared to — without memorizing? Would you like to keep coming up with just right humorous touches — at will — and be constantly praised for your natural sense of humor?

A fascinating project has proven that you can — that average people can be shown how to be funny: An Adult Education Humor Workshop made the test. I ran it. Steve Allen and top gag writers for the Johnny Carson, Get Smart and other TV shows had explained to me the basic humor formula used by the Pros. Average people used these same devices to construct humor in a perfectly natural way.

Here's why average people suddenly become funnier than they dreamed they could be. And it's why — if you'll give me half an hour — I'll guarantee the same thing will happen to you — at my risk.

PROOF POSITIVE! Successful humor workshop given by author Jack Posner enabled people of all types to create humor in their social and business lives.

WHAT GAG WRITERS DISCOVERED

Professional gag writers must create jokes on schedule. They have uncovered various formulas with which jokes may be constructed — almost mechanically.

The secret is reacting to ordinary situations by adapting simplified humor devices and "gag gimmicks" — creating humor without memorizing jokes — developing a hasty approach that fits you.

ENDLESS LAUGH SECRETS!

Here are outrageous ways to build up the interest and your audience and how to wow them with a sudden zany finish.

Here's how to top the laughs of others and how to get spontaneous laughs by making the unexpected the punch line. Here are wild, wacky, way out joke gimmicks that punch lines that make absolutely no sense but get big laughs.

The workshop course shows how to create timely apropos quips that result in "double reactions" that you've got from "T" jobs before. Here's how to use proverbs, familiar sayings, TV commercials, local and national personalities. Here's how to inject absolutely sincere sounding but cunning doublethink "fadeaway" gimmicks. Here's how to use change of pace to keep the laughs coming in — and how to avoid making humor devices obvious. Here are combinations of formulas and devices adapted in the workshop. Here's how to "reverse" jokes to apply to almost any remark a friend will make — and get a laugh.

Included are 101 actual jokes of every type by categories and how to adapt them in 1001 ways, included are the Steve Allen techniques, and dozens of other top comedians and actual scripts of Johnny Carson and Get Smart shows.

Must Get Laughs or No Cost

"Say Something Funny — Instantly" the humor workshop course is guaranteed to get you laughs and compliments — or it costs you nothing. And it's available to you at fraction of the cost of the original workshop lecture.

You'll understand why the course is so easy and effective once you glance through it and try out the "gag gimmicks" for yourself that it reveals.

See for yourself — how easy the course makes being FUNNY. How much fun it gives you, how many compliments it gets you. Try out the easy techniques on friends, family and business associates. No laughs and no compliments — no cost. Otherwise, it's only $4.98. Could anything be better?

tricks you inject into ordinary conversation and can practice reading, writing or talking.

The course shows you how to think along funny lines and see things in a funny light. Your subconscious simply absorbs easy-to-remember tricks that adapt quickly to any subject and are positive laugh getters. It's a stimulating, enjoyable pastime sure to sharpen your wit. Suddenly you're instantly funny at will so that people smile, chuckle and laugh at your unrehearsed funny comments.

A LAUGH TREASURE HOUSE!

It's fun on every page as you just glance at the techniques that create an instantly ludicrous impression.

Here's how to be witty, delightfully obvious, solemn or "dead pan." Here's the number one "gag gimmick" top comedians use. Here's how to pair up ridiculous combinations, use play on word techniques, get humor from two or more meanings of words. Here are incongruous associations that get hilarious howls.

The workshop course gives tricks of odd contradictions, incongruity, exaggeration and satire. It shows how to inject malaprop, mispronunciation joke techniques, verbal blunders, tricks that transform polysyllabic words into bloopers and how never to give away your techniques. Here's how to use ludicrous distortions of reality and "get" chuckles with "illy" gimmicks, parodies, sarcasm and even fun insults. Here are slight laughs, "voico effect" techniques, way out whimsy and nonsense gag lines.

The course shows how to use humor devices of delivery, pitch, volume, delivery gestures and facial expressions that are instant laugh getters and can keep audiences involved with laughter. And it shows how to make nonsensical joke devices, way out on left field so relevant to the topic you get many laughs. It gives short, zany, fractured "Laugh-In" type techniques, irrelevant bitlines, combinations of logic and non-sequitur gimmicks deliberately designed to trip your listeners. It gives serious build up devices and silly ones, provocative and dogmatic that are sure fire laugh devices.

A SENSE OF HUMOR WELCOME ANYWHERE

A clever quip, wisecrack or funny story is always appreciated.

With a sense of humor you can be the center of any gathering — with no woe, awkward, empty moments... You can win new friends, add to your popularity, even increase your earning power. You can feel new confidence and get a psychological lift in your daily life.

STEVE ALLEN AND TOP TV COMEDY WRITERS EXPLAIN THE BASIC HUMOR FORMULAS USED BY THE PROS

This is how TV comedians can be funny week after week — and often as funny off stage as on — in any situation. It is why some people are almost always funny while others never get a laugh. It is why some people have such "natural" just right humor while others seem always forced and out of place.

When average people (in a variety of occupations) taking the course used these techniques results were phenomenal. A sales manager who had to give talks found that he could inject humor touches at will and was suddenly much in demand. A student to his surprise developed such humor writing talent he became a professional gag writer for a top TV show.

The workshop itself became the most fun course in the adult schedule with the entire class so thoroughly enjoying each other it seemed like a continuing party.

SHOWS WHAT MAKES HUMOR TICK!

The course breaks down the anatomy of humor — dissects, analyzes and explains joke devices — reveals exact and funniest formulas of great comedians — gives the key to all laugh making.

There are no rules and complicated formulas — just how to find funny possibilities for effective humor techniques you have a flair for and how to get spontaneous laughs from little humor

Beachwear Puts on The Sweater Look

By ROSALYN ABBEVAYA

GIRLS WILL look absolutely cuddly on the beaches this resort season and on into summer. Those in the fashion swim will be wearing sweater-knit bikinis in solid colors, stripes, and argyle or one-piece maillots—many playing the match game with cardigan cover-ups that go from mini-to sand-swooping lengths. Don't discount the see-through look. It's still with us—in crochet knits that are (ahem) strategically lined. And, for the female adroitly endowed, newer, more natural, swim bra tops are being designed without a stitch of inner construction!

It's cover up or bare almost all this season, with girls and girl watchers the winners. ♦

Cover up or greet the sun in this bold-striped stretch terry cardigan and Dacron-knit bikini with non-constructed bra top. From Emily Mf.

Argyle goes from sweaters to a knit bikini (right) from Robby Len. A mari-bellied cardigan in Orlon, with matched sweater-knit bikini (left), ought to cause second glances. From Cole of California.

For the swim party, turn out in this striking see-through crochet maillot with plunge back. From Götter.

Now... Plastic Cream Revolutionizes Denture Wearing

For the first time, science now offers a unique plastic cream that holds false teeth—both "uppers" and "lowsers"—as they're not being held before. It forms an elastic membrane that actually holds dentures to mouth and gum surfaces!

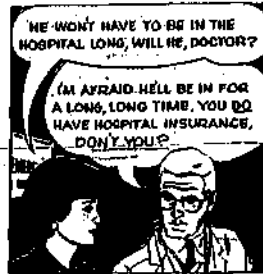

It's Fixodent—a revolutionary discovery for daily home use. So different it's protected by U.S. Patent #2,603,928.

FIXODENT not only holds dentures firmer, but it holds them more comfortably, too. It's so elastic you may bite harder, chew better, eat more naturally. You may even eat and enjoy apples, steak, and corn-on-the-cob again.

This special pencil-point dispenser lets you put FIXODENT exactly where it's needed. Resists curing over and gagging.

Just one application may last round-the-clock. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get easy-to-use Fixodent Denture Adhesive. Available at all drug counters.

COLLECT $210.00 A WEEK JUST LIKE WAGES, WHILE IN THE HOSPITAL

Whether you are under 65 and have regular hospital insurance—or over 65 and eligible for Medicare—it will pay you to read the facts about the "Direct Cash" Plan.

Discover how you could go to the hospital and come out with money "left over".

WHAT IF YOU should wake up to find yourself flat on your back in a hospital bed — and be there for weeks or even months? Think of all the things that $2,000 or $5,000 or $10,000 in extra spendable cash, over and above your hospital insurance, could mean.

Cash to make mortgage payments. Cash to buy food. Cash to make car payments—pay for child care—buy gasoline—buy school clothes—pay a tax bill.

The American Republic® "Direct Cash" Plan can pay you badly needed cash every week you are in the hospital, for up to a full year.

This service of American® is designed to go hand-in-hand with Medicare — or any other health insurance you may now have.

Now! Pays Up To $210 A Week!

Protection under the American Republic

If you were flat on your back in a hospital bed, which of these four "Direct Cash" Plans would best suit your needs?

	"UNIT" PLAN	"2-UNIT" PLAN	"3-UNIT" PLAN	"4-UNIT" PLAN
CASH WEEK	$ 7.00	$ 14.00	$ 21.00	$ 28.00
PER YEAR	$ 365.00	$ 728.00	$ 1,092.00	$ 1,456.00
ONE YEAR	$ 2,737.50	$ 4,478.50	$ 6,219.50	$ 7,960.50

"Direct Cash" Plan is available in individual protection "units". Each "unit" pays you $52.50 per week actual cash (at the rate of $7.50 a day) for every week you spend in the hospital due to accident or illness... as much as $10,950.00 if you have the "4-Unit" Plan and are hospitalized for a full year!

Your decision is easy. Just choose the plan that fits your needs best. And best of all, no matter which you choose, you get...

NOW! Run Your Car Without Spark Plugs

THE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ORDINARY SPARK PLUGS AND JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS
 Your car's power comes from tiny explosions of gasoline vapor and air in your cylinders. The bigger the explosions, the faster you go.

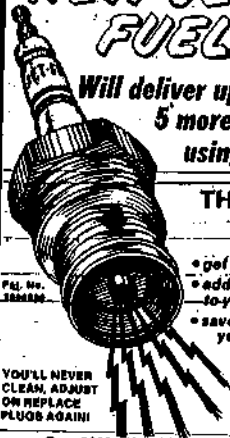

CONVENTIONAL PLUGS explode this mixture with a spark jumping across an air gap. The spark is just 35-thousandths of an inch across — not wide enough to explode all the fuel in the cylinder. Unburned gas escapes through your exhaust. In time, the electrodes become eroded and coated with carbon. The gap widens, the spark gets narrower, you lose more power, waste more fuel... and finally have to replace your plugs.

JET-FIRE-FUEL IGNITERS use no sparks, instead a feathery swath of flame sweeps across a semi-conductor bridge from one electrode to another, exploding far more fuel, getting far more power. There is no gap that can widen, and carbon deposits actually improve performance. They do not have to be adjusted or replaced — ever!

NEW JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Will deliver up to 30 more horsepower, 5 more miles per gallon using only regular gas!

THEY NEVER WEAR OUT

- get up to 5 more miles per gallon of gas
- add up to 30 more horsepower to your engine
- save $100 each year for you, year after year while you use the cheapest grades of gasoline!

YOU'LL NEVER CLEAN, ADJUST OR REPLACE PLUGS AGAIN!

Save $100 a Year With Jet-Fuel Igniters!
 If you drive 38,000 miles, you can easily save:

- $80 by switching to regular gas.
- $20 on your better mileage.
- $10 by not retuning plugs.

You are protected by this 4-WAY GUARANTEE

1. GUARANTEED for the life of your car (or 38,000 miles), without cleaning, servicing or retuning.
2. GUARANTEED to increase miles per gallon of gas on regular gas!
3. GUARANTEED to increase horsepower, increase engine RPMs!
4. GUARANTEED to improve speed or starting and acceleration!

Spark plugs are obsolete! Now there's a far better way to run your car.

With conventional spark plugs, only a fraction of the fuel that enters your cylinders is turned into power. The rest escapes through your tailpipe as unburned vapor. That is because their spark is so narrow—only 35-thousandths of an inch wide—that it cannot penetrate all the fuel mixture in the cylinder. As plugs get older, their sparks get narrower and less efficient till they have to be replaced.

New Jet-Fuel Igniters do a far better job of turning gasoline into power. Instead of a narrow spark, they send out a wide swath of flame that "walks" across a semi-conductor tip, fanning out in all directions and exploding for more fuel in the cylinder.

Proof That You Get Up To 30 Horsepower More
 Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters lock like spark plugs were—by because they have to be screwed into the spark plug socket. But what they do is far different. LISTEN TO US TO PROVE IT!

1. Run your car till it's fully warmed up.
2. Stop on a perfectly level stretch of road.
3. Put the car in Drive (if you wish manual transmission), and see how fast the car rolls at idling speed.
4. Remove your "old" and "insert" Jet-Fire Igniters (or 10-ounce jar).
5. Now see how fast your car rolls at idling speed. You can expect it to go 10 TO 15 MILES PER HOUR FASTER without touching the gas pedal — dynamite doesn't beat Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters! Increase engine RPMs by 100 to 150 while no increase in gas consumption. (At high speeds, RPMs increase by 350 to 380.)

So, best thing you can do is reduce the gas flow by adjusting the killing screw, and stop wasting money before you've even driven a mile!
 (At the same time, you can make your all-gas mixture leaner. Fuel Igniters require only a 15:1 ratio instead of the conventional 9:1. It's a simple adjustment that you or your mechanic can make in one minute. It provides even greater economy.)

Start driving and you'll notice even more improvement—30 to 40 more horsepower—more acceleration power, climbing power, and passing power. All this while burning less gas!

SWITCH TO REGULAR

The next time your gas gauge gets near the "Empty" mark, tell the attendant to fill it up with REG-DEXAL Cheaser gas you'll know and prefer—which costs less to eight cents more than regular gas.

And this second saving is only the beginning. Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters provide easier cold-weather starts... and that means less drain on your battery, and no drain on your patience as you try to get going.

NO REPLACING OR ADJUSTING EVER
 The more you drive, the better your Fuel Igniters perform. They don't become eroded, wear out or require adjusting. And carbon buildup—the natural enemy of old fashioned plugs—actually makes fuel igniters perform better. Carbon becomes an additional carrier for the igniter's big jet flame.

So there you have a third saving. One set of fuel igniters will last the life of your car!

Invested To Save All Your Lives— Now They Can Save You Money

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters were first developed to save women's lives. During World War II, there were times when more men were killed by spark plug malfunction than by enemy action. A failure-proof replacement was needed, and Fuel Igniters did the job. Look at the Navy and Air Force—they approved them for jet engine use.

Now at last they have been modified for automobile use. They won't save your life, but they can save you big money—up to $100 a year with ordinary driving.

Some say, all cars, city, down equipped, with Fuel Igniters like these. But why wait when you can install a set yourself now. Just mail the coupon with the make and model of your car, and we'll rush you a set with full instructions. Just $19.95 per set of 4. $39.95 per set of 6. $7.50 per set of 2.

You'll never need to buy another pair of socks again— for the rest of your life! (unless your laundry loses them)

These revolutionary
8-ply socks are so indestructible...
you can order
FREE replacements — pair for pair — for any you ever wear out... anytime!

6 pair
ONLY
$7.98
12 pair
for $14.98

When our new merchandise man was offered an exclusive on these indestructible nylon socks, he called the manufacturer a liar.

"Can't be done!" he said. "If the socks are as strong and durable as you claim, they've got to be so stiff underfoot, they'll be unwearable!"

"Kitten-soft," said the manufacturer.

"Then they won't wash satisfactorily."

"Always come out like new," barked the manufacturer. "Permanent colors, lasting texture and shape."

"Or you'll wear the guarantee," added our man, doublingly.

"Unconditional!" snapped the manufacturer.

"What's the catch?"

"No catch, no secret!" said the manufacturer happily. "8-ply DuPont nylon — instead of the usual 4. Woven so closely, they make ordinary socks look like they're three-quarters air, by comparison! Styled by one of the world's great sock designers — for perfect proportion and fit. Guaranteed to wear forever, in normal use. That 'normal use' simply means don't burn holes in them deliberately, or try to cut them with scissors or razor."

We still had to be shown. So we got samples. And we wore them. And wore them. And machines washed them. And laundromatted them. And tortured them. Like wearing one pair for a week straight — till we thought they'd drown in sweat.

Then we washed them — with no sweat! They looked and felt like new. The socks didn't surrender. We did. They're far real — and forever!

So here they are. The forever socks. All black, or in a 6-pair assortment of smart solid colors to complement any wardrobe. 2 pair black, 2 charcoal, 1 navy, 1 loden. Ankle length, with elastic tops for snug fit. Fit any size 10½ to 13.

6 pair only $7.98

If you've got a slow laundry (or grown-up kids), take us up on our discount dozen offer... 12 pair — only $14.98. Same assortment (only doubled)... same forever guarantee!
