TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1970

TEN CENTS

MRS. EDWARD BRINEY, right, weeps as the Briney farm is sold at a sheriff's auction to satisfy part of a judgment of $30,000 for an injury suffered by a prowler. There was a bright slide to the sale, however; neighbors pooled finances and bought the farm for $10,001 to save it for the Brineys.

They will hold it in trust until the suit is settled. The prowler was wounded by a trap set by Mr. Briney, center, after his house had been burglarized about 40 times in five years. The netting took place near Oskatoosa, Iowa. (UPI telephoto)

Bandit's Lawsuit Threatens Family

EDDYVILLE, Iowa (UPI)—Edward Briney and many of his neighbors believe in the old saying that a man's home is his castle—and they believe he has a right to protect it by any means necessary.

But because of the way Briney and his wife chose to protect their home—and what the courts had to say about it—many of the people in this south-central Iowa town of 3,000 are worried, upset and angry.

To ward off thieves from a vacant house on their 80-acre farm, the Brineys rigged a shotgun in the bedroom of the home in 1967.

The booby trap worked. But it cost them $30,000 and possibly the loss of the farm, which would have been in the Briney family 70 years this March.

Ski Slopes In Season's Best Shape

This should be the weekend to bring out all ski enthusiasts, regardless of where the skiers go in the South Central Idaho mountains.

Skiing is reported by resort operators and owners to be in the best of the season, with light powder ranging from 10 to 20 inches covering slopes over a hard packed base, according to snow reports from the Sawtooth National Forest.

Magic Mountain reports 18 inches of new snow on a hard packed base of 60 inches. Beginning last night, the slopes were packed Thursday and steeper slopes are left in open powder. The area will be open Thursday through Sunday next week unless storms prohibit Thursday opening. Roads to the area are in good condition, but snow tires are recommended.

Soldier Mountain has received 15 inches of new snow this week with a packed, base of five to six feet. Weather here was reported clear Thursday with a slight overcast on Friday. The road is snow covered, but has been cleared and is listed in good condition.

Sun Valley reports 48 inches total depth at the top of Bald Mountain and in the Ketchum area. The road to Rotarun is reported dry and good.

Snowmobiling is reported good to excellent on all designated areas and open country in the South Hills and in the Ketchum and Halley areas, as well as at Willow Run and around Fairfield. Willow Run is open throughout the week.

Red Official Lauds Troops For U.S. Loss

SAIGON (UPI)—The president of North Vietnam congratulated his troops today for their "victory in shooting down the American planes" over the homeland Wednesday.

In South Vietnam, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops should 33 Allied targets over the weekend, the most in nine days.

The shelling killed two Americans and wounded a third, most of them in the 11 provinces around Saigon. Ground fire destroyed an American helicopter, wounding two Americans.

War communiques said fighting was light throughout South Vietnam, with Allied forces killing nearly 100 Communist troops Thursday and today at a point near the American dead and wounded.

Hanoi Radio broadcast North Vietnamese President Ton Duc Thang's proclamation as 1,447 departing U.S. Marines boarded troopships at Da Nang in South Vietnam.

Thang called the downing of the American planes "a victory for the people" and "advised all regions to... destroy all remnants of American troops in the American toward the North."

ELECTION BILL VOTED
BOISE (UPI)—The State Senate Thursday approved and passed the house a measure to place to be designated at the same location and increasing the maximum number of voters in a precinct from 600 to 1,200.

Air Race Plans Drawn For Work On City Streets

The first annual air race from Lander, Wyo. to Jackpot, Nev. was under way today with the first plane leaving Lander at 9:30 a.m.

The other pilots will leave at periodic intervals, according to Bill Schweizer, Jackpot airport manager.

Some 16-20 planes are competing in the cross-country race. Winners will be announced tonight during a cocktail party at Cactus Palooza.

3 Men Are Charged In UMW Killings

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Three Cleveland men, already facing state murder charges in Pennsylvania, have been indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy in the slaying of mine union leader Joseph A. "Jack" Yablonski.

In a seven-count indictment Thursday, the grand jury charged the three defendants for conspiring to murder Yablonski, his wife and daughter. Yablonski and his wife were shot to death Nov. 21 in their home in Chrisville, Pa.

Paul E. Gilly, 38; Claude E. Vealey, 27; and Aubran W. Martin, 23, were in the courtroom when the indictment was returned after three days of secret testimony. They have been confined to a maximum security section of Cuyahoga County Jail, under a total of $75,000 bond, since their arrest Jan. 21.

Gilly, Vealey and Martin and "persons unknown" specifically were charged with obstructing justice and denying a union.

Damages Not Awarded In Burley Case

BURLEY — A district court jury has awarded no damages to Ralph Crane in his suit against two Burley youths and their fathers in the traffic death of his 8-year-old daughter three years ago.

The $50,000 damage suit Mr. Crane brought against Brock Lobland and Max Banner and their fathers went to the jury Thursday noon. A verdict, signed by nine of the 12 jurors, was returned at 5:30 p.m.

Plans Drawn For Work On City Streets

George Michael, acting city engineer, is currently drawing up plans for 1970 street improvements in Twin Falls.

This past week Mr. Michael, along with Jenn Miller, city manager, and Ervin Hand, superintendent of streets, have been surveying the city and making a list of streets they would like to repair this year.

Dave Johnson of the city engineering department is now making a map showing the streets designated for improvements.

Mr. Michael said the work on Falls Avenue will be completed this summer with the final paving and seal coating. He said the city is negotiating with the highway district on a project to improve Falls Avenue East. This would be a project similar to the work which was done on Falls Avenue West this past summer.

The city is also hoping to widen Locust Street from Addison Avenue East to Kimberly Road, but Mr. Michael said he did not know if funds will be available to accomplish the work this year. He is working on an improvement plan for this street which would widen it to 44 feet.

Annexation Vote Ordered In New Bill

BOISE (Special) — A public hearing on a bill the house gave suburban residents a vote on whether they would be annexed to a city is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the hearing room on the fourth floor of the Statehouse.

Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, chairman of the House Co-Annexation and Municipalities Committee, said the bill was introduced by Reps. Ed Williams and Dee Merrill, both of Nez Perce County, as the result of the bitterness and controversy involved in the recent annexation of Lewiston. Or.

The bill would not have any effect on annexations already accomplished, Rep. Lincoln said, but if passed, would require the city to publish a notice of intention to annex property to the city and require that an election be held in the area to be annexed.

Anyone interested is invited to attend the hearing and make their feelings on the matter known, Rep. Lincoln said.

William Crumley, who figured the machine had robbed him and his customers of $25 over the past two years.

Eight lawyers were preparing an appeal Thursday for a man convicted of shooting a cheating vending machine.

The lawyers rallied to the aid of Robert Golnes, who was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100 plus costs Tuesday for plugging the soft drink vending machine in the filling station he manages.

Golnes explained to Judge D. William Crumley he figured the machine had robbed him and his customers of $25 over the past two years.

The volunteer lawyers also held Wednesday to discuss Golnes' case.

Golnes is the father of three school-age children. The judge allowed him to serve his prison term on weekends so he would not have to quit work.

However, the lawyers said they would ask Crumley to reconsider the sentence on grounds of "hardship." They said Golnes would have to work seven days a week and the jail sentence would cut his earnings from $10 to $16 a week.

Nationwide Rail Walkout Looms As Pact Talks Fail

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Contract talks which have failed to produce a settlement since they began late in 1968 again threaten the nation with a general electric Co. amid negotiations for four maintenance and repair unions and bargain for the nation's rail carriers broke off talks Thursday night.

A strike next Monday appeared possible. Chief railroad negotiator John P. Hiltz said there are no more talks scheduled. He said the unions had indicated they would "take some action between now and Monday morning."

William W. Wimpfinger, top union spokesman, said "I think there will be one (a strike). He said the Monday deadline had been mentioned, but it was not hard and fast. President Nixon exhausted his authority to step into the dispute after he issued a 60-day cooling off order to head off a strike last year. Congress could intervene if a walkout transpired.

The only issue still in dispute in the two-year contract is a proposed work rules change that would permit members of certain unions to do work now being done by other unions. It was this rules change that caused the sheet metal workers to reject a proposed contract settlement already agreed to by the other three unions—the machinists, electricians and boiler-makers.

That proposal, rejected Dec. 17, had called for a 68-cent hourly increase for the 48,000 union members by the end of 1970. The unions had agreed not to accept any proposal unless it was acceptable to all four.

There was no indication how extensive the strike, if materialized, would be. The unions last year threatened a selective strike against a handful of rail lines to bring pressure on the industry. The carriers, except for Penn Central, said they would shut down nationwide if a selective strike happened.

General Electric Strike Nears End After 96 Days

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union negotiating committees met Monday to consider a tentative agreement reached with the General Electric Co. amid indications they would accept the proposal and end the longest strike in GE history.

Representatives of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the United Electrical Workers (UE) met for one hour today with J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and then retired to another hotel to consider the offer.

There was no indication how long it would take for the unions to reach a decision, but an IUE spokesman scheduled a news conference for 1 p.m.

The 14-week strike idled 147,000 workers across the nation.

The pact, reported to provide wage increases of 25 per cent over a 40-month period, was announced late Thursday night by J. Curtis Counts, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. It ended a 96-day strike in GE history.

Workers at 280 GE plants in 33 states could return to their jobs within a week or 10 days, Counts said. A coalition of 13 unions, including the IUE and UE, struck Oct. 27 when the old contract expired. Both sides have estimated the strike has cost employees $20 million a week in wages and cost the nation's economy more than $2 billion. The strike was in its 96th day today.

Cassia CAA Activity Director Given OK

The Cassia County Community Action Agency Board has approved the hiring of Jack Taylor to assume several new duties in the county.

Mr. Taylor, who has been associated with a similar Office of Community Opportunity program in Pravo, Utah, is a native of Rupert and previously taught at Minico High School.

Larry Mack, South Central Community Action Agency director, said Mr. Taylor will have three basic duties. He will supervise the Burley Neighborhood Center personnel and assume the management of the center. He will develop vocational and technical courses in Burley. Mr. Mack said funds for these courses will be obtained outside the OEO. 3. He will work in conjunction with the Cassia County school districts to strengthen adult basic education classes.

Mr. Mack said no new funds will be required for Mr. Taylor's employment, but it is just a matter of redistribution of present funds.

The appointment also must be approved by the South Central CAA board which will meet this next Tuesday.

Land Board Changes Are Pondered

BOISE (UPI)—Measures were introduced in the Idaho Legislature today that would abolish the state Land Board as presently constituted and substitute an elected board instead.

Part of the Constitutional revision package, one of the bills would take from the board the governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor and superintendent of public instruction.

A companion constitutional amendment would provide for a state board of land commissioners to be elected by the public.

After introduction of bills and passage of a few minor pieces of legislation, the House and Senate both went into special subcommittee meetings to last two days, dealing with constitutional revision.

Israeli Jets Harass Arabs In 5 Cities

By United Press International
Israel said its warplanes rocked five Syrian cities, including Damascus, with sonic booms early today in response to the buzzing of its jet at Haffa by a Syrian MIG Tuesday.

The jet penetrated as far as 230 miles into the Arab nation in flights just after midnight "without encountering active Syrian resistance," the announcement said. They returned safely.

A Syrian communique from Damascus said one Israeli jet flew over "sensitive" cities, shattering a number of windows.

Late Thursday, an Israeli jet had flown a similar mission over Damascus as an immediate response to the MIG flight over Haffa, the first hostile Arab penetration of Israeli airspace since the 1971 war.

Sen. Church Fears 'Trap' In Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church said Thursday the United States faces the "danger of the baited trap" in Laos and Thailand.

The "baited trap" was a danger was underlined Wednesday by the act of shooting down an American F105 fighter bomber and rescue helicopter along the Laotian-North Vietnamese border.

The incident, Church said, "clearly reaffirms the wisdom of Congress last December in voting in bar the introduction of American ground troops into either country."

Church offered the amendment to the Defense Department's appropriation bill which bars the use of any funds to commit U.S. ground troops in either country.

No Increase Planned In Grazing Fees

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin have agreed to hold grazing fees on public lands at current levels.

The fees were due to be raised in March under a 10-year readjustment plan initiated under the Johnson Administration.

Hickel announced earlier he planned to postpone the raise pending release later in the year of the report of the Public Land Law Review Commission, whose studies include such land uses as the current grazing fee on public lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management.

Under a plan approved by former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, the grazing fees on BLM lands would be raised to $1.23 over a 10-year period. The plan was protested by western stockmen and their representatives in congress.

Four Elected As Directors Of Chamber

Four men have been elected to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors it was announced Friday by Ray Rostron, chamber manager.

Elected for three-year terms are John Bishop, Charles Sieber, Norm Barber and Fred Wanzon. Hollofer directors are Holly Hubbard, Steve Hancock, Bob Harvey, Paul Jones, Jack Ramsey, Jack Sears, Bill Workman and Wayne Wyatt.

The directors will hold a re-organizational meeting prior to the Wednesday night banquet and elect new officers. They will be announced at the annual banquet at the Holiday Inn.

Harold Howe, retiring president, automatically becomes an ex-officio member of the board.

'Execution' Of Machine Brings Heavy Fine, Prison

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A man who walked over to the desk drawer, got out my 22 revolver, and shot it dead," he said. "After I fired the shot I looked at the machine and I said 'That's the last time you're going to cheat anybody.'"

Apparently, there were many persons who felt Golnes had struck a blow for all frustrated coin machine customers.

Golnes' lawyer said he had received numerous offers of financial help and seven other attorneys had volunteered their services to help prepare an appeal.

The volunteer lawyers also held Wednesday to discuss Golnes' case.

Golnes is the father of three school-age children. The judge allowed him to serve his prison term on weekends so he would not have to quit work.

However, the lawyers said they would ask Crumley to reconsider the sentence on grounds of "hardship." They said Golnes would have to work seven days a week and the jail sentence would cut his earnings from $10 to $16 a week.

Magic Valley Obituaries

Harry Coval, 72, former Twin Falls resident, died Wednesday in La Puente, Calif., of an apparent heart attack.

The Covals farmed in the Twin Falls, Hansen and Hazelton areas before Coval taught Idaho before the anti-herbicide movement led to California. He belonged to Kayler Lodge No. 84, AF and AM and Twin Falls Chapter No. 20, OES.

Survivors include his widow, Grace; one son, Jack Coval, Vietnam; two daughters, Mrs. Veronica (Ida Mae) Newheart, Dr. Earl Coval, and Mrs. Alice (Clara) Fila La Puente, and several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday with last rites in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Coval in Calif.

Mrs. Dunham Appointed To Library Unit

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Ivan Dunham has been appointed to the Hagerman City library board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Kate Billard.

Mrs. Billard resigned recently as a board chairman because she was elected new chairman.

Kelly Strawser, librarian, reported that one-third of all books checked out were used by persons from the fourth to eighth grade level. The board allocated $100 for the purchase of new books with an emphasis for books in this age bracket.

Plans were discussed to have a "buy shelf" in the library. This shelf would be for the newest and better books and would cost the reader 10 cents a week for books from this shelf.

Proceeds derived from this procedure would be used to keep this portion of the library restocked with more up-to-date and better type of books.

The city library is open each Wednesday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and each Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Library cards may be purchased for 5 cents for a card on a continual basis for city residents. Those living outside the city limits may purchase a card for $1 per year with no limit on the amount of books checked out.

Allen Smith Chosen For State Meet

KIMBERLY — Allen Smith, a Kimberly high school senior, has been selected to perform with the All-State Orchestra March 21 in Boise.

The orchestra will perform with the All-State Band and Chorus at the Idaho Music Educators convention in Boise. Senior groups will be made up of the top high school musicians from Idaho.

Allen, who earlier this year was a semi-finalist in the annual National Merit Scholarship exam and is rated in the top one percent in Idaho in scholastic ability, has participated in the Kimberly Key club, youth legislature and science club.

Allen has also been a member of the Twin Falls Municipal band and the Magic Valley Symphony for the past two years.

Sculpture In Welding Offered At College Here

The College of Southern Idaho will conduct a course in basic acetylene welding sculpture for women, beginning Feb. 7.

The course, offered by the area vocational school, will be 15 hours in length. The class will meet from 9 a.m. until noon each Saturday. There will be three hours of safety and theory, nine hours of application sheet metal welding and sculpture, instruction in brazing techniques and a final welded sculpture project.

The course is non-credit, but will carry a certificate upon satisfactory completion. Cost is $15 and $5 registration fee. Students must furnish their own equipment.

Enrollment is limited to 15 people. Interested people may enroll by calling the area vocational school, 1300 Kimberly Road, or contact Frank Schell, T and I instructor, 733-8554.

Appraisal Of Right Of Way Is Completed

RUPERT — Appraisal of right-of-way parcels needed in construction of the proposed Dietrich-Kimama Highway has just been completed and buying will begin soon, according to Wayne Summers, executive secretary, Board of Highway Directors for the state.

Mr. Summers pointed out that all parcels of a project have to be acquired before the contract for construction can be advertised. Having any conditions that would go into the fall term of court, the highway official said, the project, hopefully, could be put under contract this summer.

Cost of the 10.6 mile project, starting at electric and gas east toward Kimama, will be in excess of $700,000.

Canvass Set For Monday In Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The LDS Church Primary penny parade will be conducted next week, with a special canvass to be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, by Primary officers and teachers.

The group will meet at the church at 7 p.m. and go from there to the church for refreshments.

Mrs. Harold Casper, chairman, states members of the church, or other persons who wish to contribute, are asked to give two cents or more for each birthday of every member of the family.

All funds raised will go to the Primary Hospital at Salt Lake City where children are treated when they need the care offered there whether they are members of the church or not. The hospital serves any eligible child under 14 years of age, without regard to race, color or creed.

Children whose families are unable to pay for their treatment are treated free of charge. Those who can pay in part or in full are expected to do so.

The hospital is a non-profit organization. There are specialists of all kinds and over the years hundreds of persons have donated thousands of hours of time, skill and love to voluntary service for the patients who have been confined there.

Magic Valley Educators To Attend Symposium On Drugs

Five educators from Magic Valley will attend a national and dangerous drug conference Feb. 23 in Denver to prepare for a similar symposium which will be held in Magic Valley this spring.

Rex Engelking, superintendent of Buhl School District, said the group attending the Colorado conference, one of two being held in the nation, will then be responsible for organizing the area drug abuse workshop. The area project is being organized by the Fourth District Superintendent's Association, which includes representatives from Glenns Ferry on the west to Burley-Rupert to the east.

Those attending the Denver meeting, besides Mr. Engelking, will be Vernon Exner, Blaine County superintendent; George Standtner, assistant superintendent of Twin Falls School District No. 411; Lawrence LaRue, Wendell superintendent, and Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho.

The conference, sponsored by the National District Attorneys Association, is aimed primarily at understanding of the drug problem among the nation's youth. Marijuana, the law of arrest, search and seizure, the scope of the problem faced by schools, drug identification, detection of the youthful offender and how to initiate a drug educational program in the community all will be discussed during the four-day conference.

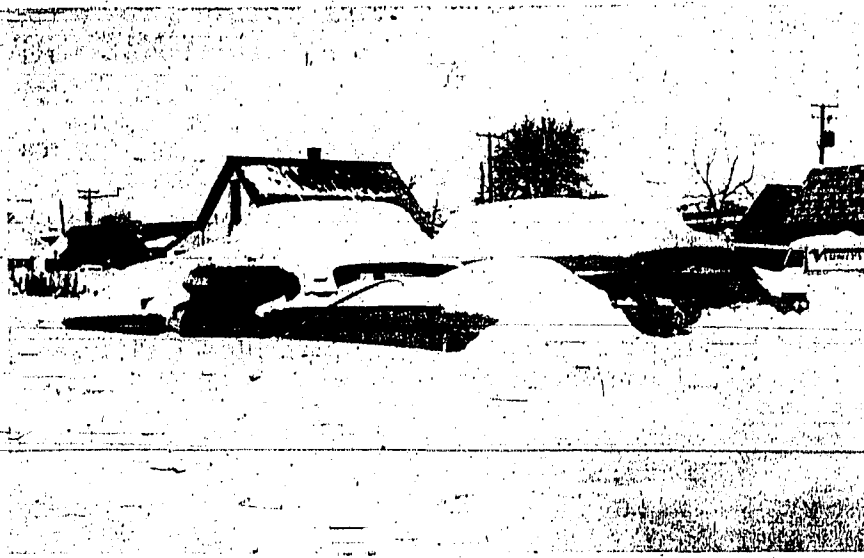

Besides educators and attorneys, members of the nation's law enforcement network will be involved in the Denver meetings.

It is planned to involve superintendents, trustees, educators, officers and youth workers in the Magic Valley conference tentatively set for April 2 and 3 at the College of Southern Idaho.

Mr. Engelking said members of the superintendents association, as well as other educators in Magic Valley are "greatly concerned about the problems associated with drug abuse in the community and students."

He said it is hoped the Magic Valley meeting, as an outcome of the Denver conference, will be beneficial in getting an arewide drug abuse education program started.

Educators and others interested already have banded together and are establishing a library of information on drug abuse. The library will be at CSI.

WHILE THE "SOUTHLAND" down Twin Falls way drips in the rain, the North Country has been getting its usual winter share of snow, as these nearly-buried cars testify in the Hailey area. There's still plenty of "white stuff" up north for skiers and winter fans, despite the apparent spring weather in Magic Valley's "Banana Belt" south of the Snake.

Pinewood Derby Winners Listed In Pack No. 71

Pack 71 Cub Scouts sponsored by the second Ward LDS Church, held their annual pinewood derby Tuesday night with Mike McCracken taking first place construction honors and Doug Oatesberg first in the speed event.

Other winners in construction were Brad Cogswell, second, and Mike Miller, third. Speed winners also include Mike Irish second, and Mike McCracken, third.

Members of the Webelos Den took the most number of awards on a point basis.

Guide patrol members of Pack 71 also competed with construction awards going to Doug Cogswell, Kirk Christensen, and Greg Ward. Speed winners were Gregg Ward, Doug Cogswell and Kirk Christensen.

President's Veto Of HEW Bill Won't Hurt Local Aid

President Nixon's veto of the Health, Education and Welfare funding bill will not affect the local funding of Headstart and Day Care Center operations, according to Larry Mack, South Central Community Action Agency director.

Mr. Mack said it is his understanding the bill only included Health, Education, Welfare and Labor and excludes the Office of Economic Opportunity. Both Headstart and the Day Care Centers get their funds through OEO. The money goes to HEW through the Child Development Bureau, a newly created agency.

Funds have been received for the local Day Care Centers for the first eight months of the year, but were cut considerably,

Trial Set

A trial for Thomas J. Huff, accused of voluntary manslaughter in the Nov. 1 shooting death of an Eden man, has been scheduled to start at 10 a.m. March 31 in Fifth District Court.

Judge James Cunningham will preside.

Mr. Huff is free on bond at the present time.

He is accused of shooting to death Harry Agee near downtown Twin Falls. Mr. Huff had an innocent plea entered for him by the court in an appearance earlier this week.

Junior Misses From Gooding, Hailey And T. F. Leave Saturday For State Pageant

Three girls from Magic Valley will leave this weekend for Moscow to begin a week of strenuous activities in preparation for the 1970 Idaho Junior Miss Pageant.

The young ladies from Magic Valley will be joining 22 other contestants from throughout the state Saturday at the University of Idaho campus. The Moscow Jaycees are sponsors of the state pageant.

Those from Magic Valley entered are Laura Vincent, Filer, representing the Twin Falls Jaycees; Susie Johnson, Hailey, and Marilyn Kay Varin, Gooding.

The 25 contestants all are winners of local Junior Miss contests sponsored by Jaycee chapters around the state.

The three girls will leave Twin Falls City-County Airport at 9 a.m. Saturday and will arrive in Moscow in time for registration at 4 p.m. That evening the mayor of Moscow will host a reception for the contestants and Sunday a rigorous schedule, keeping the girls busy from early morning until late evening, will begin.

Rehearsals begin Tuesday, with other activities scheduled including teas and dinners, tour of the university campus and a takeover of KRPL Radio Station in Moscow.

The three area girls all are "excited" about the pageant and are looking forward to meeting the other contestants from Idaho.

Miss Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent, is busy getting her wardrobe ready for the pageant. She is anxious to meet her host family in Moscow she said. All contestants will be housed at the homes of Moscow Jaycees during the preliminaries, and pageant, which begins Feb. 5 and will conclude Feb. 7 with the crowning of the new Idaho Junior Miss.

Miss Vincent, who has studied piano for 11 years, will play a piano solo, "Nocturn in G Minor" by Chopin, dedicated to her mother.

The other miss is 17 years old and is the oldest of a family of five girls and one boy. Like the other contestants, she is a senior in high school.

Miss Varin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Varin. She has dark brown hair and brown eyes and will give a dramatic reading, "A Soldier's Prayer," for her talent presentation.

She is an honor student at Gooding High School and represented Gooding in the Fairland Parade in Boise last year.

While at Moscow she will be able to visit her brother, Kevan, who is a student at the university.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson, and is the youngest in a family of three sisters and a brother.

Miss Johnson, a blonde, plans to do a humorous reading with pantomime on "How Beautiful With Mud," a short talk on making yourself pretty with a mud pack. When asked if she thinks she'll win the state contest, Miss Johnson said, "No, I doubt I'll win, but it will be a lot of fun."

Parents of the three area girls will leave for Moscow in time to attend the pageant.

Mary Holck of Moscow is the reigning Idaho Junior Miss. She currently is a freshman at Washington State University at Pullman, Wash.

Music Scholarships Offered To Nation's Blind Students

Scholarships for blind students offered by the National Federation of Music Clubs are announced by Mrs. Donald Young, local and state scholarship chairman.

There will be eight, $100 scholarships to sightless students, will be awarded in each of the four National Federation of Music Clubs regions of the United States.

Applicants must not have reached their 19th birthday by March 1, 1970, and must be affiliated with the Federation of Music Clubs with dues paid by Feb. 1, 1970, either as a member of a Federated Junior Music Club or as an individual member of the federation.

The applicant should send a tape of the performance of selections on which judging is to be based, accompanied by a letter of recommendation from the entrant's teacher and an affidavit from the attending ophthalmologist stating the entrant is "officially blind."

"This material must be sent by the deadline of the Junior Festival in the entrant's area to Nielson M. Nielsen, regional chairman, 26 10th St., N. W., Hampton, Iowa, 50441.

The regional chairman will arrange for tapes to be heard by judges and regional winners will be chosen. Material from the two entrants receiving highest rating will be sent to the national chairman by March 31.

Junior festival dates can be obtained from state or local chairmen of junior festivals. In Idaho these chairmen are Mrs. Louis Thorson, local festival chairman, 277 Pierce St., Twin Falls, 83307, and Mrs. John Birell, state festival chairman, 145 Lakespur Drive, Twin Falls, 83301.

There also will be awards made for blind composers, with $100 given for the composition receiving the highest rating in the 10 to 16 year age bracket and $200 for those 16 to 30. Compositions, together with the same data required for scholarships, must be sent to the National Chairman of Music for the blind, Mrs. G. Franklin Orr, 133 Dumbarton Road, Baltimore, Md., 21212.

County Clerk Is Filer Speaker

FILER — Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls, county clerk and auditor, was guest speaker at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Filer Kiwanis Club in the Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Introduced by Morris Carlson, program chairman, the speaker talked about taxes and the proposed hearing for the county budget which will be held Feb. 9. He stressed that the budget hearing is open to all interested citizens in the county and urged more people to attend these budget meetings and learn about the county problems and plans.

Computers

When computers first came on the scene after World War II, there were dire prognostications that the electronic "brains" would eventually cause widespread unemployment, particularly among unskilled and semiskilled workers. Already in the design stage, for instance, were complete steel mills that could be operated by one man pushing buttons.

Others predicted that what had been true for every other technological innovation would be true for computers — that while some old jobs would undoubtedly be abolished by automation, new and better-paying jobs would be created.

Thus far the optimists seem to have been right. One of the most critically labor-short areas is in the very field of computers, where an estimated nation-wide shortage of 300,000 programmers currently exists.

To perform its data processing functions, a computer "speaks" and "listens" to any of a number of special languages with such exotic names as COBOL, FORTRAN, PL-1 and RPG. Training of a human programmer in these languages normally takes as long as two years.

If a recent and successful pilot program, however, Commonwealth Computing, Inc., of Lexington, Mass., trained school dropouts from Boston's Roxbury section to qualify as computer programmers in only eight weeks. The youths, including one with only an 8th-grade education, were paid $125 a week during training before stepping into jobs in the $7,500 to $9,000 range.

The Commonwealth program utilized a simplified language called ADPAC, coupled with new training methods. In co-operation with Equal Opportunity companies in private industry, the program is to be expanded to upgrade 50 more disadvantaged young men and women.

A program such as this has broad national implications, extending beyond the ghettos to prisons, schools and other institutions.

Rather than being a menace, the computer in this instance at least is creating useful employment for people who might otherwise be not just unemployed but unemployable.

Lower Air Fares

Under aggressive assault by the charter airlines, transatlantic air fares have dropped steadily. The scheduled airlines were forced to lower their prices last year after one of the foreign carriers decided the charter flights were taking too much business.

Washington is now on record with a promise that such competition will be fostered. A report by the Department of Transportation says the federal government should fight for lower international air fares, seek to end foreign restrictions on United States airline service, and encourage supplemental lines in their role of opening new markets and holding down fares.

The attitude is commendable, but why confine such efforts to international service? While transatlantic fares have fallen, air fares in this country have been going steadily higher. Two separate increases were approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board last year and airlines are now studying pleas for still another boost.

More rate competition in this country might provide its own benefits to the economy and also to the airlines.

Moon Mecca

Tourism to the moon should be a reality by 1985, according to a scientist who should know something about the possibilities.

Wire reports quote Dr. Kraft Ehrliche of North American Rockwell Corp. in Los Angeles, which put together the Apollo 12 vehicle, as saying that by the mid-1980s new space ships and orbiting space stations now on the drawing boards could make possible something resembling regular passenger service between the earth and moon.

The trip would take a week and require a number of transfers between shuttle spacecraft and orbital stations around, respectively, the earth and the moon.

The opening of the earth-moon line might also have the unexpected advantage of relieving unemployment pressures here on earth, considering the extra staff that should be necessary to handle misdirected baggage if handling baggage at all those transfer points runs to the form here on earth.

MR. SPECTATOR

Brighten The Corner

Today's column will be a sort of "letters we have received" because we have a couple of pleasant ones which we would like to share with you folks.

First was one from Grover City, Calif. It was from Mrs. Glenn T. Duerig who now resides at 1534 Brighton, Apt. B, in that community. She reminded us of something we had forgotten — something we really should have remembered always.

As you know, they are tearing down the Idaho Theater building in the name of progress. Mrs. Duerig got word of it. She wrote to remind us of the little candy store she and her husband operated in the corner of the building (the theater) next to the alley for 15 years, having bought it from the former owner in 1926.

"No doubt some of your nickels went into our cash register during those pleasant years. We remember a lot of our customers. A few of them were Fred Sanger, Frank McAtee (Dr.) and many more.

"That was before we moved out. The theater bought our remaining lease of three months so that they could remodel the inside. Son Jack was an usher at the time.

"We then bought the Peter Pan in 191 on Main Street and our old friends were still our customers. Our daughter was six months old when we bought the little store. She used to sleep in her carriage outside the store while I was inside selling popcorn and Glenn and also Freda Wiley were busy at the fountain.

"People were lined outside waiting to get into the theater for good shows. Joe Koehler and Milton Duerig were managers in those days. We were happy days."

And then a note from Ronald Olson, Route Two, Jerome. He was a friend of the late Roy Painter. We had a column on Roy's early skiing days a short time back and Mr. Olson was commenting on it and other things.

He wrote that he enjoyed the skiing trips and hunting with Mr. Painter and remembered the early years around these parts. His letter was interesting and Mr. Spectator was glad to hear from him.

So now we will get back to the present and back to everyday labors. But a trip back into the past is fun — and we thank Mrs. Duerig and Mr. Olson for making the jaunt possible.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

This idea of public service sometimes is not understandable. Take, for instance, the members of the Fish and Game Commission. They work hours and hours, mostly on their own and while neglecting their own business, then a group of individuals chew them out for what they are doing. If Mr. Spectator was a member of the present Fish and Game Commission he would quit and go fishing on his own. Just like that!

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Demos And The Embarrassing Fund Raising

WASHINGTON — The overriding reason why the national Democratic fund-raising effort, Feb. 5 is now assured of embarrassing failure can be found in the tepid response to a request that Boston join a proposed closed-circuit television hookup that night.

State Rep. David Harrison, the Massachusetts Democratic chairman, gave an unequivocal rejection. His own state party was so financially impoverished, Harrison explained, that he had not drawn a cent in salary since becoming chairman late in 1968. Consequently, he concluded, any money raised in Massachusetts was going to stay in Massachusetts.

That message, often less candid, came from every corner of the country in response to pleas of the national party. Such concern by state parties to the national Democratic financial plight doomed from the beginning the Feb. 5 gala in Miami Beach, Fla. More importantly, it pointed to the "hopelessness" of making a significant dent in the unprecedented national Democratic debt of $8 million-plus prior to the 1972 election.

The Miami-Beach fiasco has, at least, confronted party leaders with grim financial reality. If the Democratic party is to conduct a 1972 Presidential campaign worthy of the name, it must now consider something approaching political bankruptcy; defaulting on $3 million to $4.5 million in notes (largely held by Democratic fat cats) and settlement of a fraction of the money owed other creditors.

Such a humiliation was precisely what Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, Democratic National Chairman, sought to avoid last fall when he began planning the Feb. 5 fund-raiser. With National Treasurer Pat O'Connor having frittered away all of 1969, Harris stressed in internal party conclaves the necessity for national fund-raising early, in 1970 before in-state party state campaigns became too intense.

Moved from the auditorium to the Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach, the gala effort lost its star, Sen. Harris, hounded by New Jersey subpoena, suddenly discovered a conflicting movie-making commitment and canceled.

The original goal of bringing $3 million net to the National Committee successfully dropped to $2 million and then to $1 million. Now, sponsors will be exceedingly fortunate to clear $750,000 — insignificant when measured against the party's staggering debt.

Little can be expected from the four sites originally signed for the closed-circuit TV and proceedings with local affairs: Charlotte, N.C. (on Feb. 4), Philadelphia, Florence, S.C., and Little Rock, Ark. At $20-a-ticket, the dinner in the Florence Country Club will be doing famously to send $10,000 to Washington. Tickets at $100 apiece are rolling poorly in Little Rock (where no local program has yet been substituted for the cancelled TV) and the goal of $15,000 for the national party seems unattainable.

In compensate, national fund-raisers have been desperately trying to arrange "fly-ins" of party donors to Miami Beach. National Committeeman Robert Strauss of Texas hopes to round up some 100 Texans at $1,000-a-head into a chartered jet, but he is the exception. J. D. Williams, a Harris lieutenant, flew to California last week to sell tickets and came home empty-handed. The California story fits the national pattern.

The outlook beyond Feb. 5 is bleak. Although the annual New York City dinner in June ought to clear $500,000 (less than half of what it brought in during 1967 days), no other big chunks of income are visible. Harris will have trouble maintaining a respectable election year operation at national headquarters, much less reducing the debt. The Democratic Party's financial crisis is today in a financial crisis that it must somehow resolve to maintain its viability.

"Prospects For Peace Brighter"—Nixon

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

On Arms For Israel

WASHINGTON — There is a good chance the U.S. will sell Israel some of the weapons it is urgently seeking.

White House policy-makers are giving that serious consideration.

No decision has been reached, and it's problematical when one will be. Some knowledgeable insiders are of the opinion nothing will be done until after President Nixon's visit to Washington late next month.

Pentagon authorities strongly favor making more arms available to Israel. Cordial relations have long existed between U.S. and Israeli military.

The State Department, in keeping with the usual so-called even-handed attitude of that agency toward the oil-rich Middle East, is considerably less enthusiastic. However, so far, there has been no overt disapproval.

Foremost wanted by Israel are more Phantom supersonic jet fighters.

In 1968, President Johnson authorized the sale of 50 of these ace combat planes. About half have been delivered. The remainder are reaching Israel at the rate of four or five a month — depending on production and U.S. requirements.

When Prime Minister Golda Meir visited Washington last fall, she submitted a list of priority weapons Israel wants to buy. Included, in addition to Phantoms, were ground-to-air missiles, which have taken a toll of Egyptian and other Arab planes, aircraft carriers, radar and communications equipment.

At the time she was told the "matter would be taken under advisement."

But nothing was actually done until recently when a series of gravely disturbing events cast the Israeli arms request in a far different light.

Previously, the White House had been inclined to take a wait-and-see attitude. It was felt there was no urgency about the proposal; that it was primarily pro forma and could wait. But the succession of jarring developments forced a sharp change in viewpoint.

Three factors in particular are behind the White House shift, as follows:

(1) President Pompidou's concluding a $100 million arms deal with Libya, now ruled by young revolutionary pro-Nasser army officers, after denying it was being secretly negotiated. The agreement includes France's taking over operation of the big strategic Wheelus Air-base in Libya, built by the U.S. and from which it is being evacuated. Also turning over to Libya the 50 Mirage fighter-bombers bought and paid for by Israel four years ago and then repudiated unceremoniously by De Gaulle, and not generally known, is France's sale to Iraq and Syria of tanks and other military hardware. Similar weapons have been offered Lebanon.

(2) Russia's abrupt reversal of position on favoring Rhodes-type (third party) negotiations between the Arabs and Israel. This was a major feature of the Nixon Administration's Middle East peace proposals and Moscow had indicated it was favorable. Then suddenly, after months of official silence, the Soviet harshly blasted the plan and Israel as a stooge and cut's paw of "imperialists, colonialists and war-mongers."

This torrid diatribe followed an exchange of visits between high-level Russian and Egyptian officials. The violent tone of the Moscow pronouncement left no doubt of its continued pro-Arab intransigence in the war-torn Middle East cockpit.

(3) Growing concern in Inner White House and Pentagon quarters that Israel, "out of desperation," may turn to the development of atomic weapons. Fears are being expressed that this dire eventuality may happen. If Israeli leaders become convinced their tiny country is being isolated by the big powers and deliberately cut off from weapons supplies in order to force them to bow to "unacceptable" peace terms.

It's an open secret Israel has the potential to produce nuclear arms. The cost would be heavy.

but the Israeli unquestionably would undertake it if they felt there was no alternative for survival as a nation.

This last factor is understood to carry much weight in White House councils.

The true nature of Pompidou's $100 million arms deal with Libya is graphically revealed by the fact that the aircraft are only 6,000 lbs. in weight, capable of flying jets. In fact, there aren't 50 pilots of any kind in the entire country. It will be several or more years before pilots can be trained to fly the supersonic Mirage fighter-bombers. Presumably, they will be trained in France.

Meanwhile, the Mirages, with Libyan markings, will probably be flown by Egyptians trained to fly Russian MIG-21s — a generally equivalent plane.

How long it will take to consolidate his alliance with the young revolutionary rulers of Libya. Two battalions of Egyptian troops have taken up stations in Libya; one near Tripoli, the other Benghazi — the two largest cities in the country.

Always, ever, the Egyptian civilian advisers, technicians and administrators have moved into Libya, replacing native holdovers from the ousted royalist government.

Now this influx of Egyptian advisers is being met by Egyptian place remains to be seen. Traditionally, Libyans dislike and distrust Egyptians. This hostility has long been pronounced in the eastern province of Cyrenaica, which adjoins Egypt's western border.

RAY CROMLEY

The Misfits

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The other day this reporter attended a meeting of doctors doing research on the things that happen to an embryo still in the womb awaiting birth.

Some of the medical men seemed to believe (quite strongly, in fact) that in large part, juvenile delinquency, sexual aberrations, psychoses, paranoid states and even crime may be caused by what we experience before we see daylight.

Some reported their studies and those of associates indicated that mothers "in severe emotional states" in the later months of pregnancy produce hyperactive, uncomfortable, poorly functioning, apprehensive children. (The unhappiness of the mothers in these cases was caused by some traumatic event, such as the death of a husband.)

The doctors found that sudden, unusual noises caused temporary rapid increases in the heartbeats of unborn infants. They noted evidence that a child repeatedly "startled" while in the womb, at birth and subsequently often seemed to exhibit more "anxiety" than other children.

Because of the nature of the experiments, never carried out with rats. Some doctors found that mother rats petted and fondled for 10 minutes three times a day during pregnancy were made so happy they produced baby rats that grew up with fewer fears than other rats seem to have.

One experimenter deliberately made a number of pregnant rats "neurotic," rewarding behavior with food sometimes and with electric shocks at others, to confuse the rats and induce anxiety. Offspring he found were less willing to leave their cages and slower to explore new places than is considered normal.

One doctor noted that six million Americans are mentally retarded. The cause is known in 20 per cent of the cases, unknown in 80 per cent. Some doctors at these medical sessions believe that much of the retardation is caused by what happens to the unborn child during pregnancy.

Though no one knows, of course, what causes these unhappy results, it is known that such factors as noise, the mother's smoking, emotional crises and drugs seem to "upset" the unborn child.

Some of the doctors this reporter met would like to investigate what happens to the father and mother in the months before a child is conceived. They know that 1.5 million women each year in this country have spontaneous abortions in the first few days of pregnancy.

At least half of these embryos are so defective they could not survive under any conditions. To the research men this suggests that many other less-defective embryos do survive and end up as physically handicapped individuals, even when their life in the womb has been happy and uneventful.

Couched in scientific terminology and with scientific qualifications, the possible link of these factors to the crime problem has as yet received little attention.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Weather Aches

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have several instances, day-to-day varying in frequency, of an influenza. Certain diseases are affected by longer-range atmospheric cycles — rheumatic diseases, ulcers, and some others tend to flare up as the weather changes in spring and fall.

The common cold, while it is caused by virus, is more likely to attack in cooler rather than warmer weather. It may not be entirely a matter of temperature, however. Colds seem to occur in damp, clammy weather, but a prolonged cold snap usually sees the number of colds diminish. Possibly I'm guessing — the amount of sunshine might be involved.

I can't give you any positive reason, but I'm thoroughly convinced that there is a relationship between disease and the weather.

Broken arms, hips, etc., say that a change in the weather, like rain or cloudy conditions, makes their bones ache where the break occurred. Is this true or is it an old wives' tale? If it is true, why does it happen?

No, I don't think it's an old wives' tale; but when it comes to explaining why, that's too hard a question.

Many people with old fractures are upset in the fact that changes in the weather can bring aches and twinges of pain. The same applies to arthritis in many cases.

Humidity, temperature, and barometric pressure are among the factors which may play a part, and I believe that changes in composition of the air have been studied at some length — all without any positive conclusions.

Blood Drawing Set Monday At Burley

BURLEY — The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Burley from 2 to 6 p.m. Monday at Burley Elks Lodge Hall. The quota is 150 pints, according to Mrs. Adelle Toews, county bloodmobile chairman. During the last quarter 187 pints of blood have been used by residents of Cassia County, reported Mrs. Toews. Persons who have used blood are urged to assist in getting donors to help replace the blood used. Burley Estes, 55, 1619 Albion Ave., Burley, had heart surgery, Nov. 21 at the LDS Hospital, Salt Lake City. The surgery, which took more than nine hours, required 17 pints of blood. Mr. Estes spent 13 days in the hospital. The surgery was to replace the artery on the backside of his heart. The artery was removed from his leg and transplanted to his heart. Mr. Estes has been a resident of Burley since 1937 and has been with the Catering company for 27 years. He hopes to return to work next month with the Western Equipment Co. Presently he spends his time reading and walking at least two miles each day. His reported fresh blood needed for life surgery was donated by eight people from Bountiful, Utah, four Air Force men from Hill Field, and eight pints which had been donated for a girl from Las Vegas, Nev., who only used two pints of blood during her heart surgery. Persons who need blood replaced are urged to phone Mrs. Toews, 678-8155; Mrs. Helene Coffey, 678-2010 or Mrs. S. H. Kunnar, 678-7358, giving the persons name needing blood replaced and number of pints. Girl scouts are putting up posters on the bloodmobile visit. The Fifth LDS Ward Relief Society will operate the canteen the day of the blood drawing.

'Bird Of Prey'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Francis L. Welmer, who claims to be an ordained minister and founder of a missionary society, has been branded a "bird of prey" by a judge and sentenced to nine months in jail. As a condition of a nine-year probation period, Welmer was ordered to write a 5,000-word essay on the meaning of charity as found in I Corinthians, Chapter 13. In addition, Welmer must contribute $1,500 to the Braille Institute of America because he used its name to collect funds.

ISC BONDS APPROVED

BOISE (UPI) — The State Senate gave unanimous approval Thursday to a bill that would allow Boise State College to sell $2.5 million in dormitory bonds.

Idaho Sheriffs Want State Police To Devote Their Time To Traffic Work

SHOSHONE—The Idaho Sheriffs' Association is solidly behind a proposed bill in the State Legislature to relieve Idaho state patrolmen of all duties other than traffic, allowing them to become highway patrolmen in practice as well as name. Lincoln Sheriff Thomas W. Wiley Conner told the Times-News Thursday that the sheriff's group want to see the state police able to devote all their time to traffic control, leaving to local authorities other types of law enforcement, such as investigating burglaries and other crimes. "We feel this is a proper step in reducing traffic fatalities and wrecks," Mr. Conner said. "They probably do need more men, but they should be devoting their entire time to traffic. We will help supplement traffic work, but passage of this bill should help eliminate some of the duplication we now have," the sheriff said. He feels that local authorities should take care of police matters in their own cities and if this were done and state patrolmen could be free to patrol the highways, it would help cut down highway deaths. "They could pick up the wild drivers, the speeders and the drunks before they caused an accident," if the state police could spend their time actually patrolling the Idaho highways, the Lincoln sheriff said. Sheriff Conner said at a meeting of the Idaho Sheriffs' Association this week in Boise, attended by 25 of the 44 sheriffs in the state, a resolution was adopted supporting the proposal. Many of the sheriffs also met with the Joint House and Senate committee on transportation and defense at which the North Idaho Grange was recorded as favoring the change of state police to highway patrolmen giving all their time to traffic on the highways. Testimony given at the hearing also indicated that young drivers of 14 and 15 are not the bad drivers, but that youths from 17 to 24 are—the worst age group to be involved in accidents.

ATTEND FUNERAL RICHFIELD — Charles Giles and daughter, Mrs. Clava Capps, and Mrs. Joe Giles attended funeral services for George D. Pyppe, brother-in-law of Mr. Giles, at Heber City, Utah, Wednesday. Many of the sheriffs also met with the Joint House and Senate committee on transportation and defense at which the North Idaho Grange was recorded as favoring the change of state police to highway patrolmen giving all their time to traffic on the highways. Testimony given at the hearing also indicated that young drivers of 14 and 15 are not the bad drivers, but that youths from 17 to 24 are—the worst age group to be involved in accidents.

'BEACH BOY' FINED LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carl Deas Wilson, a member of the Beach Boys singing group, was fined $4,000 and placed on probation Thursday for failure to report to his draft board for a civilian work assignment. A condition of the three-year probation imposed on Wilson, 22, classified as a conscientious objector, was that he perform work in lieu of military service for two of the three years.

'Cold Enough For You?' Weathermen Can Now Indicate Just How Chilly It Is

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, perhaps the most prevalent is "When." "When will winter end?" "When will this cold spell let up?" "Mankind's endless striving and striving over weather and its vagaries brings the topic into the conversation more than any other." And tabulating the temperature is a complex procedure, weathermen say; man is so dependent on knowing what the weather is doing that the widespread equipment of the Weather Bureau is kept continually busy predicting, prophesying and pondering over its reason for existence. One of the most basic indices of the effects of weather is the "degree day," a method of expressing precisely—the effect of cold weather on heating bills and fuel needs. A "degree day" is a measurement of the daily temperature in comparison to a standard point of departure, 65 degrees. Heating engineers found a number of years ago that when the daily mean temperature is 65 degrees or higher most buildings require no heat to maintain an inside temperature of 70 degrees or above. When the daily mean temperature falls below 65, heat is required. The "mean" temperature is found by adding together the high and low readings for the day and dividing by two. Thus, if the high is 70 degrees and the low is 52, the total is 122 and the "mean" or average is 61 degrees. If, as has been explained, the mean temperature in Twin Falls the high is 44 and the low is 26, the total is 70 and the mean for the day is 35 degrees. Each degree of temperature below 65 is counted as one "degree day"; with an average of 61, four degree days are tallied; and with the 35 reading, 26 degree days are recorded. For every "degree day," more fuel is needed to maintain a comfortable 70 degrees indoors. A day with a mean temperature of 35 degrees (30 degree days) requires twice as much fuel as a day only 15 degrees warmer — 30 degrees (15 degree days). Daily figures calculated by the Weather Bureau are used widely, principally by fuel dealers in scheduling deliveries. When a new householder orders regular deliveries of fuel oil, for example, a dealer will run a short test to see how much fuel is used for each degree day, and will schedule future deliveries accordingly. With gas or electric heat, both requiring "instant delivery" on demand, dispatchers must adjust system capacity to meet upcoming demand. Each network of gas or electrical supply systems has a degree day load involving the local climate, peak demand costs and other factors. In some areas, when peak degree day loads mount, industrial fuel supplies may be curtailed to certain customers paying an interruptible rate that allows them to shut down furnaces or curtail activities. The economic impact of a cold spell can be enormous, weathermen emphasize. Fuel costs in a service area may easily amount to $5 to $10 thousand for each degree day. Individual homeowners can use the degree day concept to estimate fuel costs. Keep a record of accumulated degree days and your home fuel consumption for a few weeks. Then, divide the amount of fuel by the degree-day total for the period. This gives you the amount of fuel per degree day required to heat your home. And, further extending your calculations, the average daily figure can be multiplied by the normal degree-day total for the entire winter to estimate total heating costs. Yearly degree day totals vary directly with the elevation. The Twin Falls Weather Bureau has estimated the average total for the local area at 6,138 degree days, while Rupert's average is 6,672, Idaho Falls will record 7,725 and Ashton a shivery 8,600 degree days. Other Southern Idaho averages include Boise, 5,835; Emmett, 5,500; Caldwell, 5,794; Mountain Home, 5,778; Burley, 6,231, and Pocatello, 7,033. The coldest six months in the Snake River valley, weathermen say, are, in order of decreasing coldness, January, December, February, November, March and April. Across the nation, degree day readings vary tremendously. Barrow, Alaska, will accumulate more than 20,000, and International Falls, Minn., has recorded more than 10,000; yet Key West, Fla., averages just over 100 degree days per year.

Ford Motors To Lay Off 25,700 Men

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. has announced that 25,700 assembly plant workers around the country will be laid off during February for periods of up to three weeks in a production cutback resulting from lagging new car sales. Among those affected will be 11,500 at three Detroit-area plants. General Motors Corp., the nation's largest automobile manufacturer, has also said it will lay off 115,000 workers for five to seven days next month. Chrysler Corp. also revealed it is furloughing 2,210 workers. Meanwhile, American Motors Corp., smallest of the "big four" automakers, is adding 1,000 to its 11,500-man work force in Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., to speed up production of its forthcoming compact, the Gremlin. Ford's layoffs extend to nine of its assembly plants. Most seriously hit is the firm's Metuchen, N. J., plant, which will be closed down for the first two weeks of the month and also for the week beginning Feb. 23.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've never had another letter like this one. The situation is as follows: My husband has never been a very sociable person. He doesn't enjoy being with relatives, his or mine. In fact, he's never enjoyed being with his own children. Our two oldest are now married and gone, and our youngest recently left for college, so my husband moved out of our bedroom and into the spare bedroom. I like people, Abby, and always enjoyed having friends and neighbors drop in to visit. When this happened, my husband would feel just "intruded upon" and find someone to go. About a month ago he said it would be better for everyone if he got his own apartment, just so he could be by himself. Knowing how stubborn he is, I didn't try to talk him out of it. You understand we aren't angry with each other or anything like that, and he can well afford the apartment. He comes HOG CARCASSES In the recent contest sponsored by the Southern Idaho Swine Breeders Association are explained by Otto Florence Jr., Independent Meat Co., to Mr. and Mrs. Clair Danila, Gooding. The carcasses of 17 market hogs entered in the contest were evaluated and judged at Independent Meat.

Paul Hog Tops Carcass Event

Randy Kildow, Paul, had the top carcass in the recent Southern Idaho Swine Breeders Association's annual carcass contest at Independent Meat Co. He was awarded a trophy, donated by Independent Meat, for producing a hog with the winning carcass. Randy's Hampshire hog weighed 210 pounds and was graded USDA No. 1 with 9 inch back fat, 4.9 square inches of loin eye, 15.71 per cent of ham, a ham-loin index of 106 and 63.68 percent dressed lean cuts.

The second best carcass was a Yorkshire cross hog raised by William (B 111) Loughmiller, Twin Falls. This hog weighed 195 pounds and had back fat of 1.4 inches, 5.6 square inches of loin eye, 15.64 per cent ham, ham-loin index of 106 and dressed lean cut percentage of 56.63. He received a cash award from the swine association.

The third top carcass was another Yorkshire cross, raised by Leon Melles, Burley. This hog, also a No. 1 grade hog, had 1.2 inches of back fat, 6.2 square inches of loin eye, 15.23 per cent ham, a ham-loin index of 114 and dressed lean cuts percentage of 60.17. He also received a cash award from the association.

The carcasses were judged by Wade Wells, Boise, University of Idaho-extension-livestock-specialist, and Otto Florence Jr., general manager of Independent Meat.

In evaluating the carcasses, Mr. Wells said the overall quality of the meat needs to be improved. He said there are two ways to do this. One is the way the hogs are being handled and fed.

The other way and most important, he said, is genetic changes. He said genetic changes are needed in marbling.

A few days prior to the carcass show, the hogs were judged live by Mr. Florence and Robert Loucks, Fairfield, Camas County agent.

A Yorkshire cross, owned by Bill Brown, Wendell, was judged as first place in the live judging. He received a trophy donated by Ramon Inc., Buhl. This hog weighed 215 pounds, had 1.4 inch back fat, 4.5 square inches of

THIS MAN, Earl L. France, Gooding, is one of five prominent Magic Valley livestockmen who will be honored by the Magic Valley Livestock Hall of Fame for his contribution to the livestock industry. Mr. France had been in the Magic Valley area since 1915, coming from Yakima, Wash., with his parents.

Gooding Livestockman To Be Honored

GOODING — Earl L. France, a Gooding livestockman, is one of five Magic Valley men to be honored next month by being named to the Magic Valley Livestock Hall of Fame.

These five men have made many contributions to the livestock industry during their lifetimes and as a result will be honored at the Livestock Hall of Fame Banquet Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ponderosa Inn, Wendell, University of Idaho-livestock-specialist will introduce Mr. France at the banquet.

Mr. France came to Idaho from Yakima, Wash., in 1915 with his parents and located on a farm south of Twin Falls.

Later he and his father purchased a ranch west of Roger's where they ran cattle and sheep. In 1919 he married Alice Peterson. In the 1920s, he and his father got into the lamb feeding business, which grew to about 25,000 head annually.

Earl moved to the north Gooding area in 1933 and started in the registered Poland China hog business along with cattle. His hog business grew to be quite a large and profitable business. He exhibited hogs at many of the fairs throughout the Intermountain Area for many years.

In the spring of 1964, a fire destroyed the entire hog facility along with 110 head of his best breeding stock. He then sold the remainder of the hogs and started expanding the cattle feeding operation.

With the help of his sons, this operation has grown to 500 acres of irrigated cropland and a 2,000-head feedlot at the home ranch northeast of Gooding and a newly-constructed 2,000-head lot southeast of Wendell.

Mr. France is a member of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association and of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association. He also is president of the organization. He served as a director of the Elmore Cattlemen's Association and was a charter member and director of the Idaho Swine Producers Association for many years.

He served three years on the Gooding school board, was selected Grassman of the Year for Gooding County a few years ago and was chairman of the Gooding County Marketing Association.

Mr. France believes in close harmony and cooperation with his family and says they are largely responsible for his success in business.

Besides the interest he takes in his own family, he has given considerable time to the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H clubs. He has been awarded the honorary Chapter Farmer of the Gooding FFA Chapter and the honorary State Farmer degree. A few years ago while attending the National FFA Convention at Kansas City, he was awarded the honorary American Farmer degree.

the France family — four boys and four girls. All are married. The four boys are engaged in agriculture. Bill manages the farm and feedlot at Gooding. Ernest manages the Wendell feedlot, Marvin farms in Camas County and is fieldman for the Gooding office of Southern Idaho Production Credit Association, and Vern is feed sales manager for Farm Service, Inc., Kim-

Albion Grange Raises Dues

ALBION — Members of the Albion Grange voted to raise their dues to compensate for the raise in dues of the State Grange, during their meeting at the Grange Hall, and the group drafted the charter in memory of Mrs. Florence Mahoney, who passed away in December.

Keth Amodeo, Cassia County Pomona lecturer, presented a certificate to Mrs. Mark Bowdler, Albion Grange lecturer, for completing all quarterly reports for the year.

It was announced that the Junior Domestic-Knots 4-H Club has been organized for the year and Mary Amodeo is serving as the group's leader with Susan Amodeo as junior leader.

"Meet the Snowmobile," an article, was read by Mr. Amodeo as part of the literary program. Mrs. Bowdler, lecturer, presented a character analysis of each member from the Zodiac signs.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Jon Fillmore.

State Cattle Feeders Unit Sets Confab

IDAH0 FALLS — The annual meeting of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association will be held Feb. 27 at the Westbank Motel, Thomas, Nevada.

Thomas Hovenden, 4-H executive secretary, said new officers also will be elected and the new vice president of the organization will be from Magic Valley this year.

Speakers from California, Arizona, Colorado and New York have been scheduled during the two-day meeting. These speakers include LeRoy Nelder, San Jose, Calif., a former Fobation loan and a CPA in San Jose; Wade Lacy, Phoenix, secretary manager of the Arizona Cattle Feeders Association; Dr. Robert A. Long, Ankonny Angus Corp., Rhinebeck, N.Y., and Jerry Albertson, meat manager for Albertsons.

All cattle feeders in Magic Valley are urged to attend.

A. I. Class

The final artificial insemination class at the Area Vocational School, College of Southern Idaho, will begin Feb. 9.

There are still a few openings left for this four-day course and reservations must be made prior to Feb. 9. For reservations, call 733-8854, extension 39.

The fee for the course will be $15.

TOP AWARDS In the Southern Idaho Swine Breeders Association's annual carcass contest are being presented to these two hog producers by Dick Graves, Gooding, president of the organization. Bill Brown, Wendell, left, won first place in the live judging with a 215-pound Yorkshire cross hog, and Randy Kildow, Paul, center, raised a 210-pound Hampshire that had the top carcass in the event.

Elmore 4-H Club Meets Scheduled

GLENN'S FERRY — The Los Caballeros Horse Club is meeting the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at Hogland's Club House, Mountain Home. Their next meeting will be Feb. 9.

The Silver Sage Riders 4-H Club is meeting at Mountain Home Air Force Base under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Bear. The next meeting will be Feb. 2 at 7 p.m. at the Silver Sage Riding Club House.

The Handy Helpers with Mrs. Erin Lord as leader, has as many members as can be handled for the present. They study photography and electricity as well as foods, sewing and health projects.

The Dog Club, directed by Mrs. Lulu AtLee, and Mrs. Donald McCamish, has been holding business meetings the second and fourth Tuesday of the month and the training season is the third Tuesday in Mrs. AtLee's home.

The Odds and Ends 4-H Club under the direction of Mrs. Wilford Ford and Mrs. Fred Miller and assisted by Mrs. Earl Holt, meets the second and fourth Thursday afternoons at the OEO Center, for home economic projects.

Cliff Evans of the Forest Service is planning to bring his club on forestry soon. Anyone interested in joining should contact him or the extension office.

Farm Bureau Contests Are Outlined

JEROME — Women of District Three Farm Bureau were admonished by speaker, Boyd Daniels, Boise, "to write legislators on issues pertaining to farming," when he spoke at their district meeting held at the Wood Cafe, Jerome.

Mrs. Ervin Braun, North Shoshone, district women's chairman, said the safety slogan poster contest will be held Feb. 1-20 and anyone between grades 4-12 may enter. The theme must pertain to safety, in this home, on-the-farm, on-the-highway or in recreation.

Poster papers should measure 14 by 22 inches. An official Farm Bureau safety quiz must accompany the posters. Judging will be in two divisions — 4-6 and 7-12.

Posters will be judged on eye appeal, message impact, slogan originality and neatness. The first prize in the state senior division will be $100 toward attending the national 4-H safety youth congress next winter in Chicago.

Anyone interested should contact their respective county organization. Last year there were 8,000 posters entered in the state, Mrs. Braun reports.

The other contest, in talent, is to be held first in the individual county on a district basis and then state. Those entering the state will perform at the state convention in Pocatello in November, and will be the winners in the district event.

Senior contestants will be aged 12-16 with one winner picked from the local to enter the district.

Senior division will be for ages 17-30 and state winners will go to the American convention.

Junior division contestants will be 5-10 minutes. Judging will be on presentation, entertainment value and ability.

The women's group voted to finance the activities of the district including the talent contest by raising every member in the district.

The district contest date is 8 p.m. July 31 with the location to be designated later.

Meetings will be held once each month by the district, the first in February meeting to be Feb. 18. A no-host noon luncheon will be held at the Wood Cafe, Jerome.

Members were requested to make suggestions for improvement in new coverage.

Local Farm Bureau leadership training meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Feb. 9 at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls. There will be a no-host luncheon.

Royal Rydholm, state commodity director, will discuss the new marketing program. Lewis Lopper and Dale Rockwood will bring information on legislation. Plans are under way to secure a speaker for the Women's Department of that day also, for the national convention.

Those expected to attend the training school are boards of directors from the eight counties in the district, women's committee chairmen and all committee chairmen.

'69 Sugar Beet Crop Yield Is Lower Than Year Ago

The yield of the 1969 sugar beet crop in Twin Falls County was lower than the 1968 crop, members of the Twin Falls Beet Growers Association were told during the group's annual meeting recently.

Robert (Bob) Peterson, Twin Falls district manager, Amalgamated Sugar Co., said the tonnage this year's crop in Twin Falls County averaged 19.4 tons per acre. The 1968 crop's yield was in the neighborhood of 21 tons per acre.

Mr. Peterson also told growers the sugar content in the beets also is lower than the 1968 crop. He said the sugar content in the 1969 crop is just under 16.1 per cent as compared to 16.6 per cent a year ago. He noted in the Burley-Rupert area the sugar content this year is 15.89 per cent.

Mr. Peterson said there were many factors that caused this lower yield and sugar content. Among these factors were the Western Yellow disease, curly top disease and others.

Sherman Sallor, Rupert, the beet growers' foreman, said another reason for the low sugar content and tonnage was "the junk being hauled to those beet dumps by the farmers."

He said many farmers are hauling beets with high crowns and "lots of weeds, rocks, dirt, etc." He said the high crowns on these beets have no sugar and growers should cut these crowns off during harvesting.

Also, he said, many growers are putting nitrogen on the beets too late in the season.

"Something needs to be done about this late problem because when the sugar content drops, it costs growers money," Mr. Sallor said. He added that the sugar company also contributes to the lower sugar content problem.

Mr. Peterson said the beets that are still in the stockpile at the Twin Falls factory are doing well and that this current campaign will be completed by Feb. 8. He said raw juice is being put into the large storage tank and in May another campaign will start to process the juice into sugar.

The beets at the other dumps in the Twin Falls district are about in. He said 170,000 tons of beets were trucked to the factory this year.

Also giving reports during the business meeting were Jack Claiborn, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Beet Growers Association, and Kent Kirk, Twin Falls, ASUG office manager.

Mr. Claiborn spoke on various hearings he has attended this year. These included the national allotment hearings and fair price hearing as well as on the sugar market.

Mr. Kirk commented about the sugar beet acreage allotment for the 1970 crop. He said 22,470 acres of beets will be allotted in Twin Falls County this year.

A panel discussion was held on growing, preparation and chemical applications for sugar beets. Members of this panel were Clarence Hofffield, Hansen; Gene Sharp, Twin Falls, and Mr. Peterson.

Three directors were re-elected and a new one named. Mr. Hofffield, Jay Cobb, Filer, and Leon Wright, Curry, were re-elected. The new director is Wendy Pierce, Filer, who replaces Clarence McKibben, who retired as director for the Peavine area.

Horseshoeing

A three-day horseshoeing class will be offered in Twin Falls, starting Feb. 13, by Idaho State University.

The class will start at 7 p.m. Feb. 13 in room 109, College of Southern Idaho academic building. The Feb. 14-15 meeting places will be announced then.

The class president stressed that every adult who has thought about becoming a leader is urged to attend the Feb. 13 session. She further stressed that those who do not feel they could enjoy leading a club will find a new look later. "We want happy 4-H leaders," Mrs. Thiemann said. The second day will deal with club organization and project selection. About 30 of the county's present leaders will attend the first day and about 20 adults seeking information.

The second day about 60 present leaders will attend and about 16 of the 20 seeking information, will be estimated by Oly of the county 4-H extension leader. Some will wonder why they have never led clubs before and a few will find they do not have time. More leaders began each year than those who retire which shows a steady increase in the number of 4-H members, Genn said.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Six Honored At Pocatello Potato Meet

POCATELLO — Six men who have had a forceful hand in lifting the Idaho potato to the top of the national pile were thanked for their efforts at the 1970 meeting of the industry in Pocatello recently.

Plaques were presented to George Woodbury, Albert Myrolo, Virgil Cross, William E. Foltz, Forest Severe, and John Snow.

Woodbury recently retired as professor of horticulture at the University of Idaho, Myrolo retired in 1968 after serving as county agricultural agent at Pocatello for 20 years. Cross was a county agent and area potato specialist for many years before retirement in 1967, at Burley. Foltz is head of the agricultural economics department of the University of Idaho, a position he has held for 20 years.

Snow, a potato producer and professor since 1935, was the first secretary of the Idaho Producers' Association and was president of the Grower-Shipper Association in 1944. He retired in 1968. Severe was for 11 years commodity director for the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation. He is now executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Boise.

More than 400 attended the Idaho potato conference. Production and marketing problems were discussed. Several agricultural scientists of the University of Idaho presented information.

4-H Leaders Training Sessions Set

Training sessions for new or old club leaders will be held Feb. 19 and 20 in the Filer Grange Hall, according to Mrs. Henry Thiemann, Twin Falls County 4-H Council president.

The sessions offering information to new 4-H leaders and those who wish to determine if they would like to become leaders will start both days at 9:30 a.m. with refreshments. From 10 a.m. until noon subjects will be presented on the purpose of 4-H, Club for both children and adults the first day, Mrs. Thiemann said.

The Sears-Roebuck 4-H Club Foundation will furnish refreshments and a sandwich lunch.

From 1 until 3 p.m. the first day will be organization and procedures for carrying out a uniform program in the county, as the county agents work with the club leaders. Both days the training sessions will adjourn at 3 p.m. sharp.

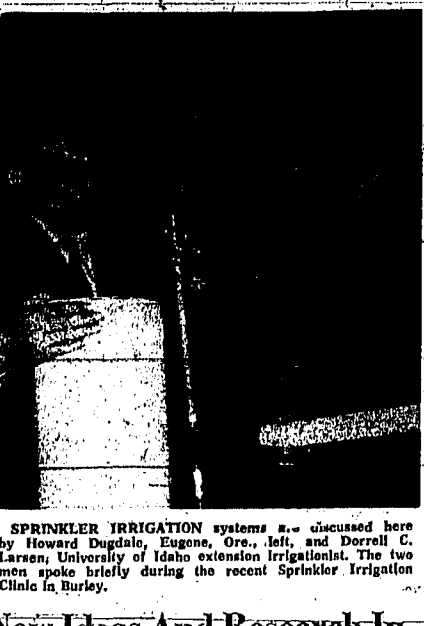

Mrs. Thiemann said 4-H Club for the betterment of young people in town as well as rural youth and for this reason even training meetings are timed after children are at school and finished before the children return home.

By the end of the first four hours of discussion, new leaders will have the organizational procedure in mind. Those who attend just to see if they are interested in becoming leaders will be able to make up their minds.

The council president stressed that every adult who has thought about becoming a leader is urged to attend the Feb. 19 session. She further stressed that those who do not feel they could enjoy leading a club will find a new look later. "We want happy 4-H leaders," Mrs. Thiemann said. The second day will deal with club organization and project selection. About 30 of the county's present leaders will attend the first day and about 20 adults seeking information.

The second day about 60 present leaders will attend and about 16 of the 20 seeking information, will be estimated by Oly of the county 4-H extension leader. Some will wonder why they have never led clubs before and a few will find they do not have time. More leaders began each year than those who retire which shows a steady increase in the number of 4-H members, Genn said.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

SPRINKLER IRRIGATION systems were discussed here by Howard Duggalo, Eugene, Ore., left, and Dorrell C. Larsen, University of Idaho extension irrigationist. The two men spoke briefly during the recent Sprinkler Irrigation Clinic in Burley.

New Ideas And Research In Sprinklers Given At Clinic

BURLEY — New ideas, research and problems in sprinkler irrigation systems were discussed during the recent Sprinkler Irrigation Clinic held recently at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

This clinic was sponsored by the University of Idaho extension service. LaMont Smith, Minidoka County agent, was chairman of the morning session.

Lorin G. Hewitt, Salt Lake City, General Electric Apparatus Service Shop, discussed the "Care, Operation and Lubrication of the Electric Motor." Bill Berry, Twin Falls, Idaho Power Co., spoke on "Motor Control Panel, Operation and Care."

"Pipeline Corrosion" was discussed by John Caldwell, Mountain Home. "How to Get the Best Performance from a Sprinkler" was presented by Robert A. Cochran, Walla Walla, Wash., who is with the Western Rainbird Sales.

In the afternoon session, Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County extension agent, served as chairman.

Speakers in the afternoon were Howard Duggalo, Eugene, Ore., Simpson Timber Co., Plastic Division, on "Application of Plastic Pipe in Sprinkler Systems" and Dr. Robert A. Kohl, Kimberly, Snake River Conservation Research Center, on "Effects of Sprinkler on the Micro Climate in a Field."

A panel discussion on "Center Pivot (Circular) Sprinkler System" was presented by Gail Stanley, Idaho Falls, Lyle, on "Bowler Pump Co.; Claude Pair, Kimberly, Snake River Conservation Research Center, and Gerald Conrad, Burley farmer. Members of the panel discussing "Side Roll Sprinkler Systems" were Jerry L. Dossel, Boise, R. M. Wade and Co.

The advisory committee meets at intervals during the year. Hopkin said, to gather information and plan activities to assist the beet growers.

Special programs are presented during the year to further educate the growers and a field evaluation and ball grading tour is held as part of the general program.

Castleford Grange Meets

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford Grange met recently with the Pomona Grange master and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harper, Filer, as their guests.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sharp from the Knoll Grange and Mrs. Frank Bishop.

The Grange master, Parley Harmon, asked Mr. Harper to preside as master for the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp also acted as lecturer and chaplain.

Mr. Harper announced that a contest of Grange ritual work would be held in the near future among the subordinate Granges in the county to encourage the attendance. The work is to be evaluated by a team of five judges.

Mrs. Sharp announced that the Knoll Grange and the Twin Falls Grange would be hosts for the County-wide Grange Banquet to be held Feb. 21 at Robert Stuart Junior High School in Twin Falls.

A report of the State Grange Convention was given by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stahlecker, delegates from Castleford Grange.

Seminar Held By Pacific Supply Firms

BURLEY — The employees of Pacific Supply Cooperatives held a two-day chemical and fertilizer seminar recently at Ponderosa Inn.

Purpose of the event was to present new methods of using and applying fertilizers and to inform employees of new chemicals, their uses and revisions.

Roger Brown, Pocatello, area manager of Pacific Supply, and Lee Clawson, Boise, area supervisor, directed the event. Cooperatives represented were from Ontario, Ore.; Weiser, Nampa; Twin Falls, Burley, P. O. Box 15, American Falls, Blackfoot and Idaho Falls.

Speakers included Carl Blauer, head of fertilizer at Portland; Todd Tremblay, general manager of Magic Valley Growers, Burley; Earl Killian, agronomist for Pacific Supply in Idaho; George Kitzmiller, chemical supervisor for Pacific Supply, Portland; Bill Duncan, manager of fertilizer at Portland, and John Kuehwein, in charge of equipment and revisions of equipment.

Films and slides were presented, showing test plots on the uses of fertilizers and chemicals, now equipment available to farmers and revision of older equipment. As well as the personal experience of fieldmen in plots throughout Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Dr. Jay Garner, University of Idaho's college of agriculture, spoke on ureases, potato pests and their control.

Bill Bunn Speaks To Area Grange

WENDELL — Bill Bunn, Civil Defense director, was guest speaker at the Orchard Valley Grange. He explained the facilities that are available, and measures to be taken in case of an emergency.

Other guests introduced and welcomed were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wardell and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Sutton and family.

The program consisted of a dance solo by Terri Bird, Melvin Gibson gave a tongue twister, a poem honoring 4-H leaders was read by Mrs. Frank Orth, and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Hill were presented first year certificates from the state extension office.

The members enjoyed a potluck dinner and social hour after the meeting.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions about your social security, please address them to: Mrs. Davis, P.O. Box 238, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. I'm close to retiring and I'd like to know where I should apply for my social security benefits. My neighbor told me to go to the post office. Is that right?

A. No. The place to go to file your application for benefits is the nearest Social Security Office. The district office for the Magic Valley area is in Twin Falls. We also have a field representative making scheduled visits to Burley, Rupert, Gooding and Halley for the convenience of people living in those areas.

There are calendars showing the day, place and time of these visits in public buildings such as the post office, courthouse, city hall and etc. You can also write or telephone the office in Twin Falls to find out the schedule of his next trip to your area.

Q. What papers do I need to take with me when I go to the social security office to apply for my social security retirement benefits?

A. Bring your social security card, your last federal income tax return, and a valid identification statement. If you are self-employed it would be necessary to bring a copy of your most recent tax return.

In addition you will need some evidence to prove your age. This can be a certificate of birth or a record made at the time of your birth or within five years of the evidence.

Neither of these is available here, other documents can be used, possibly the older the better, the better proof it is.

Demonstration

WANS PERRY — A demonstration on making a good driving record was given by the Twin Falls 4-H Club at the home of Mrs. Homer Hansen.

The demonstration was given by Mrs. Mary Jane Hansen, and Mrs. Hazel Hansen. The demonstration was held at the home of Mrs. Homer Hansen.

Appaloosa Filly Is House Pet

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Correspondent

Call on the "Bud" Walbert family in northwest Filer and you will be met at the door by Mrs. Walbert, an attractive housewife, and the family's favorite pet, a three-week-old Appaloosa filly.

At first, it may be somewhat of a shock to a visitor to see a long-legged filly having the run of the house and behaving more like a big dog than a member of the equine family.

But spend a few hours visiting this likeable family and observing their favorite pet and some of her playful actions, and one begins to realize that a filly can be an appealing pet and quite at home in a house.

"I'm sure it's 'housebroken'," says the first question that naturally comes to the mind of everyone who sees her. The Walbert family have succeeded in training this pet just as families do their new puppies.

Our second thought was amazement that the little colt could move around on the hardwood floors without slipping and falling. The Walberts say she had trouble at first getting to her feet and learning to walk around on the bare floor, but now she trots—hooves make no more noise or impact on the floors than those of a large dog.

The Walberts love pets. They were both born and raised on ranches in Montana and are instilling their love of animals into their two sons, Bill, 10, and Dick, 6. The boys are in the care of the family's two pet cats, three dogs, two fillies, besides 29 head of registered Appaloosa horses, some calves and sheep.

The family is raising the two fillies on bottles at the present time. Both Appaloosas, the one born at the same time, both to mares with not enough milk to nurse them. Both were put on formulas of milk and syrup and fed from bottles.

The larger filly started gaining right away and has been getting fatter and fatter. The smaller one seemed to be premature and did not gain so fast. When the weather turned very cold several weeks ago, the family was afraid the little filly would freeze to death, so they brought her into the house.

Now the weather is much warmer and the colt is coming along fine, but she has become so attached to the family and they to her, that she still feels she should be a part of the family.

Most veterinarians and horse breeders agree that feeding a colt on a bottle is considerably harder than raising a calf or a lamb that way, as a mare's milk is so very much richer than a cow's. It is hard to find substitutes for it.

The Walberts use whole milk to which they add Karo Syrup. The first few days the two fillies were fed every four hours, day and night. However, now the two babies get along without their night feedings. Three times a day, a raw egg is beaten into the formula, which usually consists of about a pint and a half of milk per feeding. The two are also given calcium and vitamin now, but the Walberts plan to continue giving them milk until they are about 6 months old.

Mr. Walbert has always been successful raising colts and fillies on bottles and, one time, as a boy in Moscow, raised six of them in that manner. He lived near a large ranch which rented out riding horses and the grounds did not want to bother with colts, so rather than have them destroyed, Mr. Walbert asked if he could have them to raise.

"Bebe," as the Walbert's pet is called, will receive another name when she is older and becomes registered. Right now she is without a doubt, the center of the household. She lies on her own rug on which she lies down to sleep for daytime naps and at night. Mrs. Walbert says the filly even has a special pillow she likes played under her head.

She is very playful and comes up to all members of the family and nuzzles them, hoping they will play with her. If the whole family is watching television in the evenings, the filly will walk over and stand in front of the set as if to tell them to quit watching television and play with her instead.

Her greatest fault is getting into Mrs. Walbert's house plants, not to eat the green leaves, but rather to get into the dirt. When she is punished for this, she goes into Mrs. Walbert's kitchen and Mrs. Walbert says, "pouts just like a child."

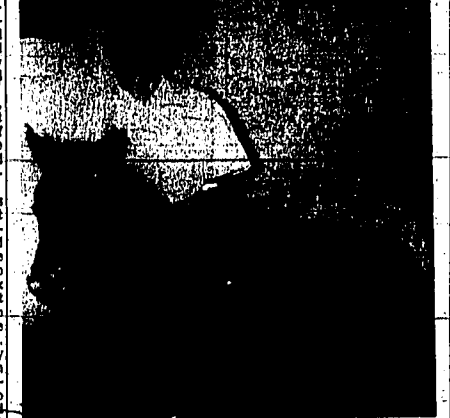

When the filly is outside, she plays with the two boys as if she were an overgrown dog, running around the house and playing with them. She has made friends with the cats and dogs, and quite often Mrs. Walbert will find them all curled up together, sleeping.

Mrs. Walbert comes to Idaho from Montana three years ago. He had formerly worked for Albert Milling Co. and is now plant superintendent at Bertie's Poultry Farms, Inc., Twin Falls. The Walberts have many fine Appaloosa horses and are owners of a champion stallion "Walbert's Running Horse" who has won many trophies at horse shows and fairs. Most of their horses are kept in a pasture they rent in the canyon.

Mrs. Walbert laughingly states, "I can remember when I used to say — absolutely no pets or animals in the house, and now look!" She adds that she mops twice a day now that Bebe has moved in with them, but barring an accident or two, the colt was surprisingly easy to housebreak.

her own pillow and rug at night. Her future plans? Well, one thing sure, she'll always be a part of the family even when she is much older and living in a pasture or barn with the other horses.

As Bud Walbert says, "I know this is one horse we will never be able to sell as we all think so much of her."

HOUSE PET in the Bud Walbert home in Filer is this Appaloosa filly. With the filly are the Walberts' son, Bill, 10, and Dick, 6. The Walberts are bottle feeding the young filly because the mare does not have enough milk for the "youngster."

Extensive Forage Study Completed By University

MOSCOW — The most extensive study ever to be made on the forage resources of the West's public lands has been completed by the University of Idaho under a contract with the Public Land and Law Review Commission.

The report is designed to provide a better understanding of current land use problems and assist in solving the conflicts arising from multiple use.

The $108,150 study, which was recently accepted by the federal commission, was conducted by 10 professors in the Colleges of Agriculture, Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences and Law during the past year. The staff of Pacific Consultants, Inc., Moscow, participated with the university personnel in gathering and analyzing the data used to complete the study.

Throughout this period, the group traveled extensively to all 11 western states and accumulated information on a wide spectrum of matters affecting forage production, including the legal, economic and social aspects.

According to Ernest W. Wohletz, dean of the university's College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences and project manager, "Grazing is by far the greatest use of public land in the 11 western states. Approximately 73 per cent of the total 360 million acres is grazed by livestock. However, this same land is also important for recreation, wildlife, mining and lumbering uses. This is the problem."

One of the biggest conflicts in the future over the use of public lands will develop between the recreationists and livestock operators. Currently, outdoor recreation involves more people than any other public land use activity, and recreational visits to public lands are growing at an astounding rate.

Although the research group was instructed not to make recommendations to the commission, several alternatives to present land management practices and policies which might help solve land use problems were presented. These included analyses of the effects of the disposal of forage land on the users, retention of public lands for maximum development, the use of government as a proprietor, giving domestic livestock priority over wildlife for the forage, creation of a Land Grant Council at colleges to develop policy and different taxing procedures.

Dean Wohletz was project manager for the study. Dr. William E. Folz served as director of economic studies and Dr. G. A. Shryver as director of resource studies. Assisting Dr. Folz were Dr. Robert L. Sargent and Carole Drury of the agricultural economics department. Assisting in the resource studies were Dr. Edwin Tisdale and Dr. Minor Wiltona, and Professor Howard Aiken, all of the College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences.

Pacific Consultants, Inc. under the direction of William N. Pauley and Robert Means, administered the overall conduct of the study.

Dr. Thomas R. Walenta, an employe of Pacific Consultants and former member of the University of Idaho College of Law, was director of legal studies. He was assisted by Robert E. Tunnicliff, of Pacific Consultants, and Dean Albert B. Menard and Professor Douglas Grant of the university's College of Law. Fred S. Roislove, C.P.A. from Spokane, assisted in field studies.

Special consultants were Lloyd G. Martinson, Moscow; Joe E. Fry, Prater, Oregon; and William G. Guarnsey, Neke, D. Nelson and J. J. Thackberry, Boise.

Bob Carr Wins Local FFA Contest

The Twin Falls FFA Chapter held its annual public speaking contest recently, with Bob Carr winning first place.

Bob spoke on "Pollution — A Threat to Agriculture." Second place speaker was Doug Hull on "Mechanized Farming of the Future" and third place was Jeff Williams on "The Importance of Agriculture."

Official judges were Ole Gonn, Twin Falls County 4-H agent; Vera France, Farm Service Agency; Kimberly, and Tom Hamilton, Twin Falls.

Trophies were sponsored by Sterling Jewelry.

Bob will compete in the district public speaking contest the latter part of February.

In another contest the local chapter took part in was the West Magic District parliamentary procedure contest at Shoshone. The Twin Falls team took first place.

The theme of the contest was "Pollution." Each team gave two five-minute demonstrations and then took a 50-question test on parliamentary procedure.

Ralph Nader Strikes Again

ATLANTA (UPI) — Consumer crusader Ralph Nader said Wednesday that from 40 to 100 per cent of all chickens raised in the United States are cancerous.

Nader told delegates to the annual Southeastern Poultry and Egg Association a disease identified as avian leukosis has reached "epidemic proportions" in chicken flocks throughout America. Little time and money is being spent to research the leukosis virus, and almost nothing is being done to eliminate it, he said.

Nader said while there is no indication the cancerous disease can be transferred to man, there is no real proof it cannot, either.

Modernized Practices Could Cut Meat Costs, Says Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Substantial cuts could be made in the cost of the nation's meat supply if cattlemen returned to a complex system of shipping cattle and calves as many as four times between birth and slaughter, a report released by the agriculture department said.

The report made no attempt to say whether the cost cuts would be translated into lower prices for consumers or improved profits for the livestock industry. But it said:

"Costs incurred in the unnecessary movement of livestock, particularly when the livestock is sold, comprise a substantial portion of the total agricultural transportation bill."

The comment came in a transportation section of a report prepared by a Chicago research firm, A. T. Kearney and Co., Inc., which reviewed opportunities for increasing efficiency across the whole range of the cattle and fresh beef industries. The Kearney study, made under contract with the agriculture department, was based on prices and marketing conditions in the late 1960's. It gave this account of the wanderings of a typical beef steer fed in Colorado.

The steer was born in New Mexico, Texas or Oklahoma in the spring and weaned in the fall.

Then, the animal was shipped to Kansas and grazed on wheat pasture for two months before going into winter holding.

Next, the steer was shipped to a rancher who grazed it in high Rocky Mountain meadows the following spring and summer.

Next, the steer was shipped again, this time to a Colorado feedlot. The steer weighed 650 to 750 pounds when he arrived at the feedlot, and from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds when the grain feeding process ended.

Finally, the steer was sold to a meat packer and shipped once more to the packing plant.

Altogether, the Kearney study estimated, the typical steer was shipped a total of more than 1,000 miles during his wanderings at freight charges totaling more than $10. On top of that, there were charges for at least eight loading and unloading operations and the steer may have changed owners up to four times. These additional charges and costs could have added at least another $10-a-head-in-costs, the report said.

These transportation and allied costs of $20 or more per animal could be cut substantially by streamlining the beef raising process, the report indicated.

Holstein Unit OK's Change In By-Laws

BURLEY — The Idaho State Holstein Association, Inc. proposed a change in the by-laws in regard to board members during its annual meeting at Ponderosa Inn.

The meeting was conducted by Red Lewis, Rupert, president. The members proposed a by-law change to have six board members, where they presently have four board members. The by-law change was approved and will be voted upon at the next annual meeting.

Mr. Lewis was re-elected president of the group for another one year term. Other officers re-elected were Don Johnson, Maridiah, vice president, and Mrs. Jennie Bott, Rupert, secretary-treasurer. New directors elected were Kelli Prescott, Grace, and Gerald Gross, Kuna, both for a two-year term.

Cliff Bailey, national director, spoke to the group and answered questions on maintaining the registered lines of Holstein cattle.

Gerald L. Strandlund, Seattle, Wash., fieldman spoke on "Program for Developing Holstein Sires." A question and answer period was held.

Woodvale Barley OK'd For Idaho

BOISE — Woodvale barley, a high-yielding spring feed variety, has been approved for Idaho, Howard Roylance, agronomist of the University of Idaho extension service, announced today. He said it is suited to production on irrigated areas of Southern Idaho.

Woodvale is a selection from the Vale variety and has a semi-club head similar to Vale. It is stiff-strawed, six-rowed, white-kerneled, and of smooth-awned. Foliage of Woodvale is light green, compared to blue-green of Vale.

In irrigated tracts at Aberdeen, Woodvale had yield of 114 bushels per acre, compared with 117 for Vale. At Twin Falls the yield was about nine bushels less than Vale — 102 to 111.

Woodvale averages about six days earlier in heading than Vale and is one to three inches shorter. Tests show Woodvale is on a par with Vale in resistance to lodging, test weight and kernel weight.

Foundation seed will be distributed in the spring of 1970.

New Major Being Offered

MOSCOW — Freshmen students enrolling in the University of Idaho College of Agriculture will have a new area of specialization available to them. This area is agricultural mechanization.

"A student wishing to emphasize agricultural mechanization in his studies will work toward a bachelor of science degree in agriculture. He will major in agricultural mechanization," Dr. Don A. Marshall, associate dean of the College of Agriculture stated.

Dr. G. L. Corey, head of the Department of Agriculture Engineering, reported that Professor Larry G. Williams will serve as advisor for students wishing to enroll in the new program. "The agricultural mechanization program provides training for a wide variety of job opportunities. Students will learn how to employ energy, machines, and structures to solve the technical problems encountered daily on farms, and in farm-related industries.

"Students thinking of a career in selling or other areas working with people that require a solid background in business and agricultural economics plus a strong working knowledge of engineering technology will find this course of study tailor-made to their needs," Corey said.

Resolution Adopted By Area Grange

TUTTLE.—A resolution for legislative action to entitle a spouse the right to community property, without the expense of probate, in an estate was adopted by the Gooding County Pomona Grange recently.

A resolution to repeal the four per cent tax limitation was opposed.

State Grange master, W. E. Adams, Eagle, and several other state Grange officers spoke.

Mrs. Merle Hansen, State Youth Committee chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Young Couple of the Year; Karen Almberg, princess; Vernon Kolm, director of the Youth Committee; Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Kolm, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Campbell, Magic Grange; and Mrs. Ralph Kohnopp, Jerome, were also guests.

Mrs. George Fuller, Pomona lecturer, announced the degree work schedule. They are the fourth degree at Wendell, March 3; the third at West Point, March 6; the first at Gooding, March 13, and the fifth at Wendell, March 23.

The next meeting of the Gooding County Pomona was announced for Feb. 23 at the Orchard Valley Grange Hall beginning with a potluck supper at 7:30 p.m.

All Grangers in the county are invited and each Grange has been asked to furnish a number for the program.

Foundation Seed Offered

BOISE.—Foundation seed of several recent varieties is available for distribution to seed dealers and certified seed growers, the University of Idaho and the Idaho Crop Improvement Association announced today.

At the Teton branch experiment station the varieties are:

Moran, a red spring wheat; Lemhi 66, a white spring wheat; Piroline barley, Woodvale barley, Yale barley, Cayuse oats and Regar meadow brome grass. Varieties available at the Aberdeen branch experiment station are Lemhi 66, Staveland barley and Cayuse oats.

Howard Roylance, extension service agronomist, said requests will be received until Feb. 7 by Earl Spencer, fieldman of the crop improvement association at Idaho Falls. The committee that allocates foundation seed will meet Feb. 9.

TWIN FALLS COUNTY'S top 4-H member, Brad Claiborn, left, receives a watch from Kenneth Newman, Twin Falls First Security Bank. The bank sponsors the award for the county's top 4-H'er based on citizenship, mannerism, thoughtfulness for parents and others, how well he is groomed plus his 4-H club activities. Next year a girl 4-H'er will receive the award. Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Claiborn Jr., Kimberly.

Potluck Held By Hagerman Unit

HAGERMAN—A potluck supper followed by a social evening was held by the Hagerman Valley Grange.

Following the supper, pinocle and bingo was played. High score in pinocle went to Mac Stanley.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lamb, Huntington Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. By LaHarra, Calif.; and Charles Kiser, David Fish and Mrs. Lydia Pleider, Hagerman.

Business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Sheep, Lambs On Feed Are Totaled

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today sheep and lambs on feed Jan. 1 totaled 153,000 head.

The report said the Idaho figure was seven per cent less than a year earlier.

The bulk of the current inventory are contract lambs, and many of the lambs fattened in Idaho are finished and sold in November and December and would not be included in the estimate.

Most of the state's lambs, before being placed in dry lots for finishing, are first pastured a month or more in harvested beet fields.

Nicklaus Fires 65 To Take One-Stroke Lead In First Round Of Tourney

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus went out with the birds and came back the same way in the first round of the $50,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament Thursday, shooting a seven-under-par 65 for a stroke lead over Tony Jacklin.

Nicklaus, among the first of the field of 144 to tee off on a day tailor-made for golf, played the back nine first at Torrey Pines and made it around in 33, three under. He came back in 32 for his 65, bagging seven birdies and nary a bogey along the way.

They took three holes from the North Course at Torrey Pines and incorporated them with 15 holes from the South to form a par 36-36-72, a 792-yard layout, which most local followers of the sport said never played better.

Jacklin, the young English pro, who among the last to come home but he did it in a flourish, bagging birds on 16 and 17 and, an eagle three on 18 for a 36-30-66.

Veterans Al Balding, Gay Brewer, Julius Boros and Joel Goldstand all shot five-under 67s to trail by another stroke, and were one shot ahead of Gene Little, Bobby Nichols, Don Massengale, Bob Lunn, Paul Moran and Terry Dill.

The three-under-par 69 group was made up of Bob Rosburg, Tommy Jacobs, George Archer, Fred Marti, Johnny Miller and Paul Horney.

There were 13 players tied at 70. Among them were England's Brian Barnes and Dave Stockton, Frank Beard, last year's leading money winner, headed a big group including Billy Casper tied at 71 and there were 20 players at even par.

Nicklaus, who shot a 65 in the closing round of the Crosby tournament Sunday, made two putts of 144 to tee off on a fine opening round here. Jacklin holed a 40-foot birdie putt on the fifth and on the 18th made a birdie-two by chipping in from off the edge of the green. On the 18th, he put his second shot three-wood eight feet from the pin and holed out for his eagle three.

Miller Says He Cautioned Flood On Suit

BOSTON (UPI)—The chief counsel for the Baseball Players Association said Thursday he had repeatedly warned Carl Flood about the dangers inherent in his suit challenging baseball's reserve clause, but that he supported the veteran outfielder's challenge of the controversial rule.

The three-under-par 69 group was made up of Bob Rosburg, Tommy Jacobs, George Archer, Fred Marti, Johnny Miller and Paul Horney.

There were 13 players tied at 70. Among them were England's Brian Barnes and Dave Stockton, Frank Beard, last year's leading money winner, headed a big group including Billy Casper tied at 71 and there were 20 players at even par.

Nicklaus, who shot a 65 in the closing round of the Crosby

Miller, here to attend the 31st annual dinner of the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers Association, said he had warned Flood—the court action could keep him out of baseball for a year or two and could cost him his baseball salary.

Brown, Pacers Beat Los Angeles

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Roger Brown scored 34 points and led the Indiana Pacers down the homestretch to a 127-123 American Basketball Association victory over Los Angeles Thursday night.

Brown, who hit nine of his last 10 shots in the third and fourth periods, scored five of the Pacers' last seven points in the closing minute of the seasaw game to preserve the victory.

Boise State Grabs Control Of Boards, Drops ISU By 98-88

BOISE (UPI)—Dominating the boards and breaking loose from a half time tie, Boise State swept to a 98-88 non-conference win over Idaho State University Thursday night.

The Broncos earned their victory before 3,800 fans in the Bronco field-house.

The win evened the year's series at 1-1 as the Bengals won the opener at Pocatello 110-80 Dec. 1. It gives the Broncos a 14-3 season record compared to a 7-7 mark for ISU.

Obviously tight in the first half, Boise State played relaxed basketball and breezed to a 20-point second half and took the play away from the taller Broncos. Despite 25 turnovers, BSC Portland to meet Portland State midway point of the second half.

Hot-shooting Willy Humes and his running mate O'Neil Simmons kept the Bengals in the contest with the former getting 33 points and the latter hitting 30.

The Broncos had a 58-43 advantage in rebounding with Oley getting 21 to 13 each for Burke and Austin. Simmons topped the Bengals with 14.

From the field Boise hit 37-77 for 48 per cent to 32-86 and 37 per cent for ISU.

On the season Boise State owns a 4-2 record against Big Sky conference teams and travels to Ogden for a Saturday night game against Weber State. Idaho State journeys to Portland to meet Portland State Saturday night.

Gault Says Carlos Will Be NFL Rookie Of Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pappy Gault, coach of the U.S. Olympic boxing team and agent for sprinter John Carlos, predicted Wednesday that Carlos will be rookie of the year in pro football in 1970.

"Carlos is the best natural athlete in the country today," Gault said. Carlos was drafted in the 15th round by the Philadelphia Eagles even though he never played college football. Carlos ran track for San Jose State.

Gault said Carlos would retain his amateur standing and compete in the rest of the indoor and in the 1970 outdoor season before signing with the Eagles.

Carlos, the best sprinter in the world, acquired into fame for his "black power" salute during the national anthem in the 1968 Olympic Games. Gault, however, produced heavyweight George Foreman into carrying the American flag around the ring after he won the Olympic title. Several track stars, most notably Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys, have made it in pro ball.

Gaither Ends Career At Florida A-M

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Coach Abner S. Gaither, who overcame brain tumor, blindness and a "new breed" of socially aware black athletes to build a football dynasty at Florida A&M University, stepped aside Thursday after 25 years as the Rattlers' head football coach.

"The reason is simple—I just don't want to press my luck any longer," said Gaither. Still trim at an estimated 65—he won't give his exact age—Gaither walks with a slight limp but maintains the mental agility and physical toughness that led the Rattlers to a 203-36-4 record since 1945.

"I made up my mind last summer," he told newsmen. "My wife and I talked it over—she wants me to quit. I talked with my brothers—they want me to quit."

Gaither said his heart is sound, "although I don't know if I could stand many of those games with Grambling or Southern where a field goal or one touchdown makes the difference." He said doctors removed two malignant brain tumors in 1942, leaving him temporarily blind, and he has maneuvered around the practice field in a golf cart since breaking a leg a few years ago.

Assistant Coach Robert "Pete" Griffin, a 1938 star center at Florida A&M who has tutored the offensive and defensive linemen since 1944, was named to succeed Gaither as head coach and head of the Health and Physical Education Department. Gaither will remain an athletic director and physical education professor.

"They talk about what I've done for football—no, it's what football has done for me," Gaither said after Dr. Benjamin Perry officially announced the resignation. "I can never repay to the game of football the wonderful things football has given to me—it's given me an opportunity to compete in an area where only merit counts. I've been able to help shape the lives of hundreds of boys."

Oregon State Coach Might Be Retiring

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Paul Valent, head basketball coach at Oregon State for six seasons, plans to resign after this season, the Oregon Journal said Thursday.

A story by Sports Editor George Passero said Valent had made up his mind to quit the job some time ago.

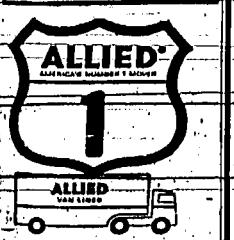

Valent, coached in Corvallis, said, "I have no comment on that at all. I'm not going to deny it or admit to it until our athletic board meets this weekend."

Athletic Director Jim Barrett would neither confirm nor deny the report but said the athletic board meets Saturday afternoon and "several announcements will be made."

Valent took over as head coach in the 1964-65 season after serving 18 years as assistant to the late Armorey T. "Slats" Gill.

Valent had a 16-10 record in his first year, and the next year his Beavers won the Pacific Eight title with a 12-2 conference record and 21-7 overall. He was named the "West Coast Coach of the Year."

Valent, who played guard for Oregon State in the 1940, 1941 and 1942 seasons, came to the Corvallis school from Larkspur, Calif.

Player Ban Asked On Ashe's Behalf

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on South Africa suggested Thursday that the State Department bar South African golfer Gary Player from the United States in reprisal for South Africa's refusal to grant American Negro tennis star Arthur Ashe a visa to play in that country.

U.S. Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., said "the rejection of a visa confirms my conviction that the white minority government of South Africa is both abhorrent and inhumane."

Diggs said he is convinced Ashe was denied entry to South Africa solely because he is a Negro. The action reinforces his contention, he said, that the United States should reciprocate by keeping Player and any other South African athlete from entering this country.

"I intend to actively renew my demands in pursuit of this objective," the Michigan congressman said. "I urge the State Department to consider this matter and take the necessary action in the attempt to rectify this degrading situation."

TWELFTH TRICK TRICKY TO FIND

Here is another problem hand. You are South and have reached a slightly optimistic six spades. West opens the ace and another trump. Now plan your play to make your contract.

back to dummy to draw the heart trump held by East or West. This is a distinct possibility but does it give you your best chance? The answer to that is, "Not on your tinfoy."

There is a much better play at your disposal. You can set up one of your diamonds. Looks silly at first glance but look things over carefully. By this time, you should have found the winning series-of-plays.

Start by cashing dummy's ace and king of diamonds and then discard your deuce of hearts on the ace of clubs. Now run off your three good hearts in order to get rid of both dummy's small diamonds. Next you ruff a diamond with dummy's last trump and get back to your hand by ruffing a club.

You still have two trumps left to take care of East's one trump and your last diamond has become your 12th trick.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been: West North East South
Pass 1♦ Pass 1♠
Pass 3♦ Pass 2♥

You, South, hold:
♠AK88 ♣43 ♠753 ♠AJ73
What do you do now?
A—Bid four diamonds. You don't want to try no-trump with that worthless doubleton in hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to four hearts. What do you do now?

Guard Held For Taking $1 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police arrested a Railway Express Agency guard early Thursday and charged him with stealing more than $1 million in loot ranging from machine guns to outdoor motors. Ernest H. "Ernie" Nelson, accused of grand larceny, said "I never used a cent of it. I never fired a single one of the guns." The loot, including a suitcase containing $500,000 in traveler's checks were found stacked a yard deep throughout his three-room Brooklyn apartment.

Nelson, 58, was a 23-year veteran of Railway Express Agency's private police force. In 1965 he received a commendation for routing four bandits trying to steal $500,000 in cash and merchandise from the Inland Terminal in Brooklyn. According to agency officials he fired four shots from his service revolver while breaking up the attempted robbery. A patrolman became suspicious when he saw youngsters carrying guns away from Nelson's apartment building. Police raided the apartment Wednesday night.

One policeman said they took 22 guns, one machine gun and other goods to the station house "but we'll need at least two trailer trucks to cart in the rest of the merchandise." Nelson, a tall, greying man, talked with newsmen at the

Firms Indicted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal grand jury has indicted American President Lines and Pacific Far East Lines on 10 counts each of making unlawful political contributions. The San Francisco-based companies were accused of making unlawful contributions to candidates of both parties in 10 states. The Justice Department refused to identify any of the recipient candidates. The two corporations were indicted under the Corrupt Practices Act which prohibits corporations or unions from contributing money or services for federal office. The companies are liable, if convicted, for a $10,000 fine for each count. There is no penalty for receiving such prohibited donations.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

On the outside, David Ben-Gurion's house appears modest, but attractive. It is situated on the tree-lined Boulevard Keren Kestemon, only a block from the Mediterranean shore and is kept under constant police guard lest some Arab extremist attempt to assassinate this national symbol.

On the inside, the house is something else. The rooms are cluttered with books to the extent that it might be an outpost of the New York Public Library. Never have I seen so many books in a residence. I was admiring them when a door opened and I found myself face to face with this octogenarian founder of a nation.

Initially I was amazed — not by that face, at once powerful and benign, nor by those familiar tufts of white hair. It was that he was so much smaller than his photographs suggest. His size simply did not seem to go with the international stature this man has acquired in his long life.

David Ben-Gurion, on May 14, 1918, read the proclamation of Independence that gave Jews their own nation for the first time in 2000 years.

Now, 22 years later and still the age of 62, he still possesses an extraordinarily keen mind — as I learned when I asked permission to tape the interview.

"First, before you tape, tell me the questions you have in mind," he said, nodding at each question; in such manner as to suggest the intake action of a giant computer.

It turned out that in reviewing Ben-Gurion is like receiving a fortune cookie and receiving the Encyclopedia Britannica. Original questions are quickly lost as he roars off on fascinating tangents.

He related that it was a devout Christian who met with him and Chaim Weizmann to formulate the final plans for the State of Israel: "Orde Wingate had an enormous amount to do with the establishment of Israel; he was very much devoted to the Jewish Bible."

(Wingate, a British general, died during World War II at the head of Wingate's Raiders in Burma. He also trained the first units of the Palmach, the military arm of the Haganah, the underground Jewish government. "He was my great teacher," says Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.)

Israel's elder statesman also disclosed:

"When Nasser first appeared, I thought that this was the Arab Masada Kestem. He is not. He wants to be head of the entire Arab world and thinks he can be if he can destroy Israel."

"Russia was the first to recognize our right to be a state and I was Kinsolving who made it possible for Abba Eban to be recognized by the United Nations. Truman was for us, his State Department was not. Roosevelt who was never here, looked on his map and thought we were too small to exist."

"Our Proclamation of Independence provided freedom of religion — except in one way: marriage. We thought that this should be religious out of consideration to the Orientals who came in after World War II. But I wouldn't do this again, because the rabbis abuse this."

My daughter-in-law, an English girl, wanted to become a teacher in the time of the marriage, and they expected her to spend a whole year in study — they don't condemn me because I don't go to Synagogue here in Israel — but they did criticize me because I write on Shabbat."

"I consider the man who built Christianity was St. Paul — not Jesus, he was a Jew; Paul was the greatest Jewish assimilationist. I read the New Testament in Greek and there is one letter — in the Corinthians — that ought to be a part of Hebrew literature, too; but most Christian Bibles translate the criterion as 'charity' instead of 'love'."

As to his own religious beliefs Mr. Ben-Gurion replied:

"I believe — I am certain — there is a God. I believe that matter and spirit are the same thing — which means pantheism. There are many Jews who are pantheists. As far as I know, Spinoza was a pantheist."

"I don't know if there is an afterlife — I think there is. There is order in the world, so who made it? . . . There may be creations a thousand times bigger and more sensible than human beings, but this is nothing in comparison to God."

From this, the conversation turned to Paula Ben-Gurion, who from all reports was near-perfection as wife, mother, housewife, personal assistant and everything else he needed as he concerned himself with the birth of a nation; Mrs. Ben-Gurion died only recently.

I believe I saw his eyes moisten slightly and his voice softened in the spoke of how very much she had meant to him . . . how he remembered her weeping when he left to join the British Army in World War I, how she had left New York to go with him to the then prime Palestine; how she accepted his desire to return to a desert kibbutz after having been Prime Minister. He could even remember details of their wedding.

While David Ben-Gurion acknowledged that there was no proof that there is an afterlife, there was little doubt that the possibility of reunion with such a woman is of utmost importance in his concept of the greatness of God.

ELRAY CHRISTIANSEN — an assistant to the Council of Twelve, LDS Church, will speak at the Casula East Stake Conference Feb. 7-8 in Declo.

LDS Official To Speak At Conference

DECLO — Eldor Elray L. Christiansen, an assistant to the Council of Twelve of the LDS Church, will speak at the Casula East Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 7-8, in Declo.

Eldor Christiansen is coordinator of the 13 Mormon temples in North America, Europe, Hawaii and New Zealand, and also supervises missionary work in Australia and New Zealand.

An educator by profession, he taught in church and public schools and was a high school principal. He also was a sales and grazing official for the U. S. government.

The conference session will be held Sunday, states Joseph A. Gillett, stake president.

King Hill

Church Elects New Officers

KING HILL — New officers were named during the recent King of Hill Congregational Church's annual meeting.

Named were Mrs. Charles Finlayson and Mrs. Jack Craig, Bible school superintendent, and Mrs. Rodney Ruberry, secretary-treasurer.

Teachers named were Mrs. Gerald Bybee, kindergarten; Mrs. Marlin Wood, primary; Mrs. Karl Carnahan, Junior class; Mrs. Mildred Carnahan, Junior high; Mrs. Lynn Sherman, high school; Mrs. Nathan Miller, Sunday school — Mrs. Frank Jones, women's class; Karl Anderson, men's class, and Sherry Ruberry, pianist.

Substitute teachers are Mrs. Sam Meyer, Carla Ruberry, Mrs. Elizabeth W. O. Mrs. Charles Parham, Bob Lawson, Mrs. Marie Lawson and Mrs. Karl Anderson.

Special Youth Sunday Planned

FINLEY — Next Sunday is to be another "Special Youth Sunday" at the United Methodist Church, according to Rev. Elvyn Anderson, pastor.

Special youth members will assist Rev. Anderson in the morning worship service and with a coffee hour to follow the service.

A girls' trio composed of Connie Lohr, Treva Miller and Madeline Kelly will present a special musical selection.

Idaho Presbyterian Official To Speak Sunday In T.F.

Rev. William H. Hopper Jr., Synod executive of the Synod of Idaho, United Presbyterian Church, will be speaking at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday worship services in the Twin Falls First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Hopper is the chief administrative officer of the Synod of Idaho, which is composed of the United Presbyterian Churches in the state.

After graduating from Center College in Danville, Ky., Rev. Hopper taught briefly in Kings Mountain, N.C., before going to Iran in 1917 as a special term teacher at the Community School in Teheran. He returned to the United States and graduated from Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary in 1933.

He received a master of theology from the same school in 1939.

He and his wife, Molly, returned to Iran in 1953 and held various church and educational posts there until 1968. He served for 10 months as the acting secretary for interpretation of the trustees' Board of the United Presbyterian Church in New York before coming to Idaho in July of 1968.

He will speak briefly and lead a discussion at the 9:30 a.m. service on "But the Church . . . Constant Will Remain." At the 11 a.m. service, his sermon will be on "Vision, Concession, Absolution, Mission."

China Studied By Kimberly Methodists

KIMBERLY — A church-wide study of China is being held each Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

The third session will be held this Sunday evening. There is still time to learn more about China and the problems and economies of the country, which will enable one to understand better what China is like and what the country is trying to do.

Mrs. Ralph Nelson is teaching the study. A 7 p.m. prayer service is held each Sunday evening prior to the study.

Southern Baptist Group Sets Event

The Intermediate Girls of the Twin Falls First Southern Baptist Church will have a slumber party Friday evening.

Girls are asked to meet at the church at 8:30 p.m. and bring a "sleeping" bag. Treatment chairman is Candy Freeman and Linda Gibbs will be in charge of the games.

They will be under the supervision of the Intermediate Girls' Auxiliary leader, Mrs. Phil Crider, and the Intermediate Girls' Sunday School class teacher, Mrs. Howard Gibbs.

REV. WILLIAM HOPPER

Lutheran League Sets Winter Camp

The Twin Falls Walthier League of Immanuel Lutheran Church will host this weekend to the annual Idaho District Winter Camp of the Walthier League, with over 100 Leaguers expected to attend from Southern Idaho and Northern Utah.

Registration will take place Saturday until noon at Memorial Lutheran School. After registration, members will go in buses to Magic Mountain for skiing and snow play.

Guest speakers at the evening dinner will be Dave Anderson, youth director for the American Lutheran Church, Van Nuys, Calif. He will show three films, and lead the discussion following.

Sunday morning a special church service will be held for the members at the school, followed by more discussion.

Working on plans for the weekend have been Rev. Harold Iben, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Reiske and Hal Ralston, counselors, and the District Youth commissioners, Liz Banerjesson, Twin Falls; Marcia Johnson, Boise; Gene and Jack Winter, Pocatello; and Randy Gerden, Caldwell, assisted by Rev. Metzner, Rupert.

The LWML and Canna Couples Club of Immanuel are in charge of meals for the group.

Lesson On China Given At Wendell

WENDELL — "What China Has Contributed to Civilization," was the topic of the lesson presented by Mrs. E. A. Branch to the Ruth Robb Circle of the United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Fester-Anderson presided at the business meeting. Music was played of recordings done by Tennessee Ernie Ford. A social hour was held and refreshments were served by Mrs. Lillian Barton, hostess.

Episcopal Board Aides Are Named

New vestry board members in the Episcopal South Central Parish were named recently at local meetings.

Revival Campaign Started Nazarene Church In T.F.

A revival campaign began the Nazarene Church in Twin Falls. The revival began on Aug. 5, 1924, and was conducted under the district tent which was located on the corner of Fourth Avenue and Third Street North.

The evangelistic party consisted of Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Jay and family of Nampa; Mrs. Kate C. Burnett, deaconess from Buhl and Helen Poonica, Buhl pianist.

Three weeks later, at the close of the revival, A. E. Sumner, district superintendent, organized the Twin Falls church with 11 members. Five more joined before the charter was closed in December, 1924. Three churches—members—are still attending the church. They are Mrs. Letha Miller, Esther Brown and J. Wesley Smith.

After the church was organized, Mrs. Burnett was left in charge of the new church until the arrival of Rev. C. P. Ellis, who remained as pastor for 10 months.

Rev. Ellis was followed by Rev. J. W. Stewart in June, 1925, who led the congregation in purchasing a lot on the corner of Third Street North and Third Avenue North where the first Nazarene Church in Twin Falls was built.

Rev. Stewart left in July, 1926, and was followed by Rev. J. A. Phillips who remained as pastor until June, 1927.

The next pastor of the church was Rev. Paul Worcester, who remained for five years. Rev. L. D. Smith came to the Twin Falls church as pastor in June, 1933.

It was under the leadership of Rev. Smith that the church relocated and the first building erected on the spot where the present sanctuary stands. The church grew physically and spiritually under the man who saw her through the stormy years of the economic depression and who served the longest term of any pastor to date—nearly 10 years.

Rev. L. S. Oliver came to the Twin Falls church in November, 1942, and served until November, 1945, when he was succeeded by Rev. Bert Daniels, who in turn served the congregation until May, 1948.

It was during the ministry of Rev. H. B. Hughes, who came to pastor the church in May, 1948, that a remodeling job was instituted and completed which

Rehabilitation Is Discussed At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — "The Individual in the Prison—the Community was program topic at the Women's Society of Christian Service meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Richard Beckman.

Presented with a music and narrative background to capture the feelings of prisoners, the lesson was aimed at recruiting aid from the public to assist in rehabilitation of prisoners.

Participating in the prepared presentation were Mrs. Beckman, Mrs. Robert Ballard, Mrs. Everett Kedner and Mrs. Clyde Hughes.

Mrs. Harrell Thorne, from the Probate Court staff of Lincoln County, was guest speaker on the subject. She outlined things that individuals in this area might do to assist in the problems.

Statistics from the FBI showed the high rate of re-arrest for persons on parole with a jump to 83 per cent of re-arrests for persons acquitted or dismissed with no punishment on alleged crimes.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Hugh Keelin, the district meeting was announced for April 11 at Buhl and Castleford.

Reports were given by Mrs. Alta Egerdorf, hospitality; Mrs. Elmer Terry, sunshine committee; Mrs. Wallace Pierson, secretary, and Mrs. Gilbert Pierson, treasurer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Kedner. Hostesses for February will be Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Dorothy Clayton.

L.A. Cardinal Retires As Archbishop

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Cardinal James Francis McIntyre, who served as Roman Catholic archbishop of Los Angeles for 22 years, announced Wednesday he has retired because of his age. McIntyre is 83.

"I have come to the conclusion that my experience in the realm of time has more than consumed a normal allotment," and hence "I am intruding on borrowed time," McIntyre said.

"I have decided to act upon the suggestion proposed in the recent Vatican Council," he said. Vatican II suggested that all prelates over 70 years old should consider retiring.

Succeeding McIntyre is Archbishop Timothy Manning, who since last summer has served as coadjutor. Manning is 60. He served 21 years as auxiliary bishop in Los Angeles before being appointed bishop of Fresno in central California in 1967.

Honored

PAUL — Terry Dorsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dorsey, Paul, was honored with a recognition service recently at the Paul United Methodist church.

Terry is entering the God and Country Program of the Boy Scouts of America.

Magic Valley Sunday School

Confab Set For Feb. 19-20

The eighth annual Magic Valley Sunday School Convention will be held Feb. 19-20 at the Twin Falls First Christian Church.

Sunday school teachers from all parts of Southern Idaho are expected here for the convention, states Rev. Donald L. Mickel, president.

Each day the program will include general sessions with Dr. Hugh M. Salisbury, Seattle, as the featured speaker. Dr. Salisbury is a specialist in the field of youth and the influence that Christian education has on their moral behavior.

He recently authored a book entitled "Send On Your Own Three Feet."

There will be department and specialized workshop courses offered for all arenas of Christian education. Twentieth Century methods and trends in Sunday school education are but a sample of the special courses to be offered.

Workshop leaders will be coming from Wheaton, Ill.; Parkersburg, Iowa; Ames, Calif.; Seattle; Glendale, Calif., and Bellevue, Wash.

There will be displayed for all-convention delegates the latest in Christian education materials. Representatives of the Gospel Light Publications, the Gospel Publishing House, the Scripture Press Publications, Inc., and the David C. Cook Publishing Co. will be here and the local Christian Supply Center will be displaying materials that are available to churches throughout the year.

A small fee will be charged.

Skier Services

JEROME — Rev. William Barrett, First Presbyterian Church announces the Presbyterian church will hold services for skiers.

On the second and fourth Sundays of each month during the ski season, a special service of worship will be held at the Presbyterian Church, Jerome, at 8:30 a.m.

The services will be held in the Fireside Room and will be an informal nature. Rev. Barrett, said "all skiers are welcome" and are encouraged to attend in their ski clothing.

Catholic Priory Offering Adult Education Course

A course in adult education entitled "Discussions in the Catholic Faith," will be conducted at St. Benedict's Priory in Twin Falls.

The course series will consist of an analysis and treatment of the general theology and teaching of the Catholic Church.

The series is being arranged so it will consist of the doctrinal material covered in the normal instruction class for any non-Catholic who may be contemplating conversion to Catholicism. It also will be directed toward members of the Catholic Church who would desire a deepening and broadening of the knowledge of and living of their Christian faith.

The course will start on Thursday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the priory. It will continue for a number of weeks until the material has been covered.

Those people who would be attending this series of instructions and discussions will be asked for a donation of $2 per person to help cover the cost of the operation.

Anyone interested in this series should call the priory, 734-2327, or drop a card to Father Simson, OSB, St. Benedict's Center, Box 203, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Devotionals Given By Mrs. Sharp

FILER — Mrs. Edward Sharp was in charge of the devotional service of the Filer American Baptist Women meeting in the church.

She used as her theme, "The Rope of Love" from the Indian version of the 23rd Psalm.

Mrs. Gene Kovar, president, appointed Mrs. Joe Miller, chairman of the nominating committee. To be assisted by Mrs. Edward Andrews and Mrs. Edward Sharp.

The group set a love gift goal at $125. A new film for white cross will be purchased for use at the February meeting and then made available to other churches in the association.

The February meeting will feature a family potluck dinner. The Judson Circle will be in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Roy W. Watson presented slides they had taken on a trip to American Baptist home mission stations in Arizona. Rev. Watson spoke of the problems of Indians and what can be done to help them.

The Jervia Circle was in charge of refreshments and Mrs. Joe Miller and Mrs. Marshall Johnson served.

Project Planned

KIMBERLY — "Week of Compassion" will be observed at 7 p.m. Feb. 22, members of the annual missionary project to help the needs of the world. It was also announced that the cleaning day at the parsonage will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, for the new pastor when he arrives Feb. 1.

Mrs. Kilborn Reads Poem

KIMBERLY — Mrs. Don Kilborn gave the poetic poem and prayer, written by Negro District Superintendent W. E. Stanley, as the opening exercise at the Womens Society of Christian Service meeting at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

Mrs. H. E. Powers was a guest. A call for young women at a Bishop's Convocation for church-related vocations was read. The meeting will be Feb. 6-7 at Portland. Some young women will be contacted to see if they are interested in going.

It was decided to send for materials for the World Day of Prayer which will be observed March 6. Suggestions for helping hand projects was read in a letter from the district president.

Mrs. Marlon Wall was program chairman and led the study on "The Meaning of Reconciliation."

Mrs. Willard Webster, Mrs. Ron Ballard and Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith were hostesses.

Evening Services Are Continuing

RICHFIELD — Sunday evening church services are continuing at the Richfield American Legion hall, with Rev. Donald Mason, Gooding, as minister.

Today With All Faiths—In Tribute A PORTRAIT OF SERVICE

Robert Fulkerson Is Newest LDS Bishop In Buhl; Sustained Five Months Ago

By ROBERT E. FULKERSON, Bishop, Buhl First LDS Ward

The Church has not always been a part of my life, although born to parents who both were Latter-Day Saints.

Here at Mesa, Ariz., in July of 1903, I was not only a resident of that city and state as my parents, seeing that the depression had ended and work was opening up on the coast, moved us in an old roadster over the washboard road that stretched between Phoenix and Southern California.

I remember my mother recounting many times how she had to keep wet towels over me to spare me from the summer's sun in that old open car.

A new life unfolded for us in a rapidly growing California, and attendance at church wasn't included in that life, except on such occasions as Christmas and Easter, when as a family we would attend our local ward.

And so, things went all through high school until I joined the service and was sent to Anchorage, Alaska, in Alaska, I sought the church out of a need for companionship and as a diversion from the military life.

I had a very limited understanding of the teachings of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, but I soon found myself caught up in a search of the scriptures and I read all of the church literature I could get.

I began to learn all that I had bypassed in growing up. Through effort and expended in a humble and sincere prayer to the Lord, I acquired the testimony which I sought as to the truthfulness of the gospel and that Joseph Smith was indeed the Prophet that he purported to be.

Alaska brought a further blessing to me as it was there I met my companion for life, Nina Hutchinson, Buhl, who arrived in Anchorage in the fall of 1936 after graduating from Brigham Young University, to teach in the Anchorage School District.

When in the summer and in the spring of 1937, we flew to Salt Lake City and were married there in the LDS Temple. Since marriage, we have lived in Arizona, Utah, California and Idaho, in that time I have completed five years at BYU, graduating in 1933 with a B.A. degree in animal husbandry.

Those years brought many church positions to both of us. I have served as a Sunday school teacher, Explorer Post advisor, counselor to the superintendent in MIA, superintendent of MIA, Sunday School superintendent, counselor in the Elder's Quorum and as an Elder's Quorum president.

We moved to Buhl in March of 1968, and we are making Buhl our home. We have enjoyed our associations in the church and in the community. We have two daughters.

My wife has served in the primary association and in the Relief Society as an organist, chorister and teacher.

The call to serve as bishop of the Buhl First Ward came to me from Stake President Joel A. Tate on Aug. 28, 1969, and was sustained on Aug. 31. My counselors are E. Wade Quigley and Kenneth C. Hansen. I feel I must take advantage of this opportunity to bear record of the testimony which has come to me over the past years and that is:

"That no true joy or happiness can come to man if he does not obey the commandments of God. It is essential that man live the gospel and to do so one must know what that gospel is. God has a plan for us all. Search for it, find it and then make every effort to live it. Only then will we find the genuine peace and happiness we all are seeking."

ROBERT E. FULKERSON

Youth Meet

BURLEY — World Fellowship Youth meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 27 at the Burley First Christian Church.

This is the East District's annual meeting for junior and senior high school students. Theme for the event will be "Reconciliation in a Broken World."

This theme is to be implemented through drama, a film, "The Church in the World," discussion, recreation and worship.

Capacity Crowd Sees Drug Film

SIOSEHONE — A capacity crowd turned out to the showing of the film "The Trip Back" at the LDS Church, officers reported.

People from other communities in the county as well as Sioshone attended. The film was shown by Robert Kroush, Twin Falls, county parole and probation officer.

It tells of a woman's trip back from taking drugs.

Birthday Salad Luncheon Held

The Twin Falls Christian Women's Mission Service held a birthday salad luncheon recently at the church.

Final plans for an open house for Rev. and Mrs. Don Hoffman were made. Plans for the youth banquet and Easter breakfast also were discussed.

Mrs. Marjorie Hayes gave a reading and Mrs. Dixie Bowman sang a solo with Mrs. John Parish at the piano.

China Discussed At Glenns Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY — Final session of the series of lessons dealing with China was conducted in Greer Hall recently. Mrs. Mary Knox showed color slides on Asian art at the fourth session of the Adult Mission Study of the Glenns Ferry United Methodist Church.

Mrs. and Mrs. Lane Harris, Mrs. Ward Rullen, and Mrs. Fred Graffe participated in a panel discussion.

At the previous lesson, Mrs. Frank Robertson, Mountain Home, showed color slides and discussed the trip she and her husband made to Taiwan last spring. A panel of Bob Korb, Mrs. Roy Johnston, and Mrs. Robert Faney discussed "Christianity in China."

Paul WSCS Meets With Mrs. Clark

PAUL — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Paul United Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Ray Clark in Paul. Co-hostess was Mrs. Margaret Calcote.

Committee reports were accepted from Mrs. Frank McCall on the December bazaar dinner and from Mrs. Gerald Schneider on the needlework and food items.

The next meeting will be a 1 p.m. luncheon at the church on the regular meeting date of Feb. 26.

A baby gift was presented to Mrs. John Klamm for appreciation of her duties and responsibilities with the club. The program was presented jointly by Mrs. Lynn Coon and Mrs. Matheson, who narrated slides of young Idaho missionaries who are currently in Taiwan.

Richfield Plans Sewing Classes

RICHFIELD — Sewing classes are scheduled to follow the regular weekly Relief Society meeting. It is announced by Mrs. Mark Jaynes, unit president.

Mrs. Loyd Lee will be the principal instructor and the classes are open to all community women.

Richfield Relief Society meets each Tuesday at 10 a.m. with luncheon and all-day work meeting on the second Tuesday of each month.

Minister Speaks

RICHER — Rev. Elmer Anderson spoke on new church organization plans to the Women's Society of Christian Service at the meeting in the fellowship hall of the United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Lena Reichert conducted the business meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. N. L. Larson, Mrs. E. A. Beem and Mrs. J. D. Staats.

Church Re-Opens

RICHFIELD — The re-opening of St. James Catholic Church at Richfield was welcomed by the local families who attended the 10:30 a.m. mass recently with Rev. Kevin McArdle as celebrant.

Altar boys from Shoshone were assisted by two Richfield girls, Mary Margaret Lezamiz and Holly Robinson.

Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. each Sunday morning.

NEW Now for the first time in a domestic machine — the Matchmaker sews from the top and bottom at the same time.

FREE gift to everyone that comes in to see this revolutionary machine.

THE MATCHMAKER. Matches
pleats and checks perfectly every time. The longest lengths of fabrics always align evenly at the ends. It's actually a second foot that feeds the fabric from the top while working simultaneously with the bottom feed.
