Kimberly Man And T.F. Grocer Win Snowmobiles

A Kimberly man and the manager of the Breeze-Way market in Twin Falls have won snowmobiles at the conclusion of the Fifth Annual Twin Falls Million Dollar Days celebration.

THE RECEPTIONIST at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office, Mrs. Louise Bush, draws the winning coupon in the Fifth Annual Million Dollar Days celebration in Twin Falls. She drew the name of Delbert Clumppitt, Route 2, Kimberly. The ticket was clipped from an advertisement in the Times-News and the advertisement was for Breeze-Way Market. More than 150,000 coupons from throughout the Magic Valley were received during the promotion. (See photos of winners on page 3.)

Delbert Clumppitt, Route 2, Kimberly, was given the keys to his new snowmobile Monday and Mrs. Richard Heaton, wife of the manager of Breeze-Way, accepted the keys to a new snowmobile for her husband, who was out of the city.

Mr. Clumppitt was given a Yamaha snowmobile and Mrs. Heaton accepted the keys to a new Dolens Sprint.

Most winners of the celebration were from Twin Falls merchants participating in the celebration paid for the snowmobiles. The celebration was promoted by the Times-News.

More than 150,000 entries were filed during the later part of January and 58 Twin Falls merchants and dealers representing 13 makes of snowmobiles took part.

Dealers and merchants taking part in the celebration had coupons printed in the Times-News during the month of January. In addition there were bonus coupons printed through the month.

Coupons had to be clipped from the paper and deposited with one of the dealers or merchants taking part in the celebration. For example a coupon clipped from the advertisement of a specific merchant had to be deposited at the store of that merchant.

But the bonus coupons could be deposited at the store of the individuals' choice.

Another Annexation Proposal Dropped

The Twin Falls City Council, suspending the required three reading rule, rushed through an ordinance excluding the annexation of the Sierra Life Insurance Co. property near the north edge of the city.

The vote at the Monday meeting at City Hall was 6-1, with Councilman Eugene Stacey voting "no." He said an in-depth study last year of the area indicated it was proper to annex the property, and the city has been vacated leaving the area 3.2 acres in size and agricultural in nature.

Mayor Frank Feldman said the property would not fit in with the urban scheme of the city and should be left out.

The city is currently having two other annexation ordinances contested in Fifth District Court. One, the Canyon Crest subdivision, was taken under advisement in court Monday. Briefs are to be submitted on that matter. The other, concerning about 200 home owners near the northwest side of the city, was heard in court today but a decision has not been reached yet.

The law firm of Church, Church and Snow of Burley is representing the city in the suits.

The council, in other action Monday, officially appointed the firm to represent the city in the suits.

Mideast Air War Flares

Debts Bother Burley

BURLEY—Burley city council members discussed ways to raise money for the $180,000 in back bills owed by the city at Monday night's council meeting, but reached no decision.

They heard the second reading of a proposed ordinance which would raise all utilities in the city except electrical rates, but also talked of a possible 10 mill levy.

Applications are still being accepted for the position of city police chief—George Warrell, who has held the post for many years, told council he has completed some health tests in Salt Lake City and is scheduled for more tests. He asked the council for an extension for his employment, but no action was taken on the matter.

It was noted four applications have been received for the position of electrical superintendent, formerly held by Marvin McIntosh, whose re-appointment was not approved in January.

The council also: —Approved the salary of Jack Keen, recreation superintendent, at the same rate as other department heads.

—Tabled a request by Dennis Mullins, Boise-Cascade regarding a request by the firm to hook onto the city sewer at 27th St. and Burton Avenue after William Parsons, city attorney, informed the council it had no legal right to do this.

—Passed a resolution showing intent to cooperate with a request by Guy Hughes, Idaho Falls, Bonneville Power Administration, to buy a proposed plant on the Columbia River.

—Approved a request by Hertz Rent-A-Car to put two or three cars at the Burley Airport.

—Decided the city of Burley shall be represented on the county-wide long range planning committee, but made no appointment.

—Agreed to pay about $300 which is half the cost for revamping the city radio frequency which also has been leased to Blighville and County and out Burley's radio, Bingham County, which is not affected by the mix-up, has agreed to pay half the cost to solve the problem.

Burley Area Tops Quota In Drawing

BURLEY—Burley area residents exceeded the Red Cross blood quota by nine pints in the drawing at the Burley Elks Hall. Officials said 150 were donated with 170 residents registering for the drawing, with 11 unable to give. The quota was 150 pints.

Lex Kuna received a seven-gallon donor pin, James Kersey received a 20-gallon donor pin, and Keith Amundt, Albion, four gallons. Three gallon pins were awarded to Jenn Pons and Joe Lambert, both Burley, with two gallon pins given to George Stevens, Ormand Burch, both Burley, and Warren Frost, Heyburn.

Receiving one-gallon pins were Rex Hamblin, Bruce Young and Melvin Kruger, all Burley.

Business firms whose employees were drawn in the drawing were Orelinda Foods, Simplot's, A and P Processing, Cassia National Bank and the Burley Postoffice.

Blood replacements were received for Scott Hill, Mrs. Clyde Bronson and Mrs. Charles Taylor, 20 pints each; Burley, Fred Taylor, 12 pints; and Lottie Reed, seven pints.

CONGRATULATING THE new manager of the Carolina Paper Box Co. plant, Phil Cummins, right, is Ray Rostron, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce manager. The plant will begin production here in June and will employ about 20 people.

New Box Manufacturing Firm Locates Plant In Twin Falls

The Carolina Paper Box Co. will open a plant in Twin Falls in June, it was announced Tuesday by Harold O. Hove, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hove said Joe Lindas, Burlington, N. C., president of the company, said in a telephone conversation he had leased a building at 250 Main Ave. N. to begin operation. Actual production will begin in June in a new building. This location will be announced at a later date.

Mr. Lindas announced he has hired Phil Cummins as plant manager. Mr. Cummins has been employed by Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. for the past 10 years. He has lived in Twin Falls nearly all his life and attended schools here.

The company makes merchandising containers for a number of companies and will employ approximately 20 people when in full production. Mr. Cummins said it is his understanding that most of the employees will be women and they will be trained here.

In March, 1969, Mr. Hove, Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the college of Southern Idaho and Ray Rostron, chamber manager, visited the Carolina Paper Box Co. plant in Burlington, N. C.

Mr. Hove said, "It is a fine operation and will be an asset to our community."

Insurance Impasse Snarls Plan To Replace Fair Grandstands

Two sets of plans for the grandstand at the Twin Falls County Fair Grounds at Filer, Idaho, have passed since the grandstand was burned and insurance claims are not much closer to being settled than they were shortly after the fire.

The county carried replacement insurance on the grandstand and other items which were burned or damaged in the fire, Mr. Loughmiller said, and neither his board nor the fair board believes the old wooden stands can be replaced for the amount of money adjusters are trying to settle for.

"If necessary, he said, in order to get the grandstands replaced, bids will be let on a structure like the old wooden one. Mr. Loughmiller said a local construction company has told insurance adjusters it can replace the stands for about $100,000.

"I don't think it can be done, and I'm not going to believe it until we have a name on a dotted line," Mr. Loughmiller said following the meeting.

Fair board and commissioners have estimated the loss at well over $200,000.

The fair board is hoping a settlement can be reached and the stands replaced with either a concrete or steel structure.

Until negotiations are complete, however, the fair board has decided to obtain architect's drawings of the two types of structures.

"We have shown coming up and we must begin on some type of grandstand," Harold Hove, president of the fair board said.

"I would hate to say," Mr. Loughmiller said, "that we are going to rebuild with wood, but if that is the only way we can get a settlement and get going on construction, we'll do it."

The two boards agree a fire insurance adjuster is to make up to the commissioners to settle settlement with the insurance companies. Mr. Loughmiller said following the meeting.

"We have paid them a lot of money—more than $150,000 just how far we've gone," Hove said.

This includes cost of insurance on all county-owned items. The two boards also discussed expansion plans at the fair grounds, including plans to purchase some property which has been rented by the fair board.

This includes the parking area on the south side of the grounds.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager, said he would recommend some buildings be moved when expansion begins. He said many of the buildings are too close together, which creates a fire hazard for the fairgrounds complex.

Fair board members also discussed the possibility of a long-range overall plan for the fairgrounds complex.

Soviets Voice Concern

Egyptian planes carried out a hit-run raid on Israeli fortifications near El Qantara and Israel struck back with a 90-minute raid at both ends of the Suez Canal, an Israeli army spokesman announced in Tel Aviv.

It was the third consecutive day Israel and Egypt had traded airstrikes. In Monday's Israeli raids Cairo reported some of its costliest losses since the 1967 war—11 soldiers and civilians killed or wounded in two strikes.

The flare-up in the air war and four days of Israeli-Syrian fights along their cease-fire line came as the Soviet Union informed the United States, Britain and France of its growing concern at the deteriorating Middle East situation.

The communication from Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to the heads of government of the three countries blamed the escalation on Israel, but British government sources said it contained no threats of Soviet military intervention. It also offered no new peace proposal.

There was diplomatic speculation in Beirut last weekend that Syria had increased its activities in the Golan Heights area to take some of the pressure off of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. On Monday Nasser and Syrian President Nouruddin Attassi called for a fight to the finish against Israel.

The Israeli spokesman said the Israeli forces suffered no casualties in today's air raids when two Egyptian planes hit Israeli fortifications north of El Qantara in the northern sector of the canal, he said there was slight damage.

Negotiators See Hope Of Rail Accord

(WASHINGTON UPI) — Union and management negotiators appear to be nearing a critical turning point in efforts to avert a threatened nationwide rail shutdown in one week without government intervention.

Some optimism and hope for progress was expressed by both Assistant Labor Secretary William J. Usery, the top federal mediator, and William W. Winnipinger, the chief union negotiator. But neither indicated any certainty that a sticky contract issue that triggered rejection of a tentative agreement reached last December.

Two federal court orders to keep the trains running will expire on Feb. 10, recasting the possibility of a strike by the unions and carrier retrenchment in the form of a lockout that would paralyze U.S. rail service.

AEC To Spend $103 Million At Arco Site

(WASHINGTON UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Monday the Atomic Energy Commission plans to spend $103,500 at the National Reactor Testing Station in fiscal year 1971.

Church and Hansen said the amount is $2.3 million more than the AEC will spend at the NRTS in the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

Included in the budget are two new construction projects: $22-million for modifications to the experimental breeder reactor II, and radioactive contamination control improvements.

Overall, the AEC budget for NRTS proposed operating expenses of $76,334,000 in fiscal 1971; capital expenditures of $6,700,000; and a total construction budget of $18,126,000.

Court Continues Hearings In T.F. Annexation Suits

It took only 10 minutes Monday to process one lawsuit involving Twin Falls' annexation problems.

However, nothing was resolved.

The case heard was Keith Malone on behalf of the Canyon Crest subdivision against the city.

Judge Towles, from Wallace, is in Twin Falls to hear the annexation issues. He was assigned the cases by the Idaho Supreme Court.

Blast Destroys City Hall In Suburban Area

SHAKER HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — A violent explosion possibly caused by a bomb destroyed the municipal building of this exclusive Cleveland suburb Monday night. Fifteen persons were injured, including five policemen, a judge and the clerk of courts.

A federal investigator said it appeared the blast was caused by a bomb.

Red Troops Are Heading South

SAIGON (UPI) — Informed allied military sources said today the North Vietnamese were moving supplies into the South at a pace 50 per cent higher than last year but this did not indicate a major Communist offensive during the Tet lunar new year period.

Downtown Development Is Discussed

Funding of the downtown development project in Twin Falls and the city's responsibility for taking the lead in getting the project on its way was discussed Monday afternoon at an informal meeting of the Twin Falls City Council.

City Manager Jean Millar said present plans call for the city to spend about $70,000 a year for the next four years. The amount for 1969 is a $35,000 balance from 1968.

He said the work schedule in the overall $800,000 project would mean the Main Avenue Mall could be completed in 1973 with the city and other agency financing. In the next two years the off-street parking areas should be developed and put to use.

Asked by Councilman Paul Ostyn if this is not obligating the city for much more than originally planned, Mr. Millar said there was no firm agreement on a set amount of money and much of the city's contribution had been anticipated in the way of services, such as street work, storm sewers and lighting.

Others participating include the Chamber of Commerce, the Urban Renewal Agency, and downtown businessmen. Mr. Millar said it appears funds are available from all groups but there is a need for someone to start the ball rolling by putting the program together.

Since the city must participate in the contracting, he said, it would appear logical for the city to take the initial steps.

Vermont To Ship Snow To Florida RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI) - They found a new way to get rid of the snow in Rutland - ship it to Florida. Sometime Wednesday, the Sabol elementary school in Eau Gallie, Fla., should receive 200 genuine Vermont snowballs, each individually wrapped in styrofoam and packed, in dry ice. In return, the school will send a basket of Florida citrus fruit to 200 Rutland first-graders. The principal of the Sabol school concocted the scheme to introduce his pupils to that white stuff plentiful in Vermont. The snowballs are being flown to Florida where they will be distributed to the youngsters, many of whom have never seen snow. Mr. Millar said consideration is being given to forming a Twin Falls Irrigation District so these assets could be used to the maximum and operation costs on the water they use. At present these people do not pay even these limited fees to the city and at the same time they are able to reduce their utility bills by utilizing the city water. City Attorney William Tangley has been asked to check further into organizing an irrigation district. He said Monday there is no reason this could not be done. Handling delivery of this water where it must be carried under streets, alleys, past homes where it is not used but provides a catch-all for toys and trash, is one of the major headaches for the city, Mr. Millar said. The city has no revenue derived and it serves a very small minority of the city residents.

Downtown (Continued From Page One) members requested the city purchase a new contract for the coming year and Mr. Millar presented a proposal for leasing city-owned or held water shares. Since the city water system was revised to utilize water from the Blue Lake area rather than from the Snake River delivered via the Twin Falls Canal Co., at the filter plant, the city has some 1,700 shares of water which are not being used each year. The city owns about 500 shares and can legally lease or sell these. Other shares, held in trust by the city were previously used to obtain water from the Canal Company for delivery through the domestic supply system. Only about 25 to 30 per cent of the water rights owners in the city use irrigation water through the canal and ditch system. Mr. Millar said consideration is being given to forming a Twin Falls Irrigation District so these assets could be used to the maximum and operation costs on the water they use.

Savings Stamp Program To End WASHINGTON (UPI) - The savings stamp program which permitted ailing children to school children to invest as little as 10 cents at a time in government bonds will be ended June 30, the Treasury Department said Monday. Savings stamps are a victim of property and rising costs. They are no longer very popular with buyers who apparently consider them insignificant. For the government, they are too expensive to produce and handle. After stamp sales are discontinued, the Treasury said, outstanding stamps may be redeemed at any time either for savings bonds or for cash.

Snowballs Rolled Up By Wind In Castleford Area CASTLEFORD - Several areas of the west end of Twin Falls County were left Monday with large snowballs dotting fields. The snowballs were caused late Saturday night by a strong southwest wind which rolled the snow into balls. By Monday, most of the ground cover had disappeared, but some of the larger snowballs were left standing. It began snowing in the area about 8 p.m. Saturday and quit about 11 p.m. Later the wind began blowing and as it increased in intensity, residents of the Castleford area could see snowballs rolling across the fields and roads. Some of the balls, rolled up in jelly roll fashion, followed erratic paths and others followed nearly a straight line. Most were small, but some reached the size of a basketball.

NEARLY COMPLETE and ready for installation of heavy equipment is the new Longview Fibre Co. plant on South Park Avenue. The local facility will not be put into operation until about June, and the time between now and then will be spent installing huge pieces of equipment used in making corrugated boxes. A skeleton crew will begin moving into the office area in a few days and workmen to assist in installing machinery will be hired. In about two weeks, about 45 people will be employed at the outset.

Warner Mills Makes Another Pitch For More Policemen

BOISE (UPI) — State Director of Law Enforcement Warner Mills today made a pitch before the Senate's Transportation and Defense Committee again with additional information.

Idaho currently has only 101 State Troopers and Gov. Don Samuelson in his State of the State message to the Legislature, asked the lawmakers for 138 additional state troopers, 20 radio dispatchers, 17 sergeants and 10 specialists and administrative personnel.

The governor said he felt every county in the state should have a patrolman on duty on the highway system some 10 hours of each day.

Hand said, "Even if we paid the overtime to the troopers we would still be short the necessary supervisory personnel."

Sen. W. Fisher Ellsworth, R-Idaho Falls, said, "The end result we want is to reduce fatalities, but a large per cent of the people who have contacted me want to correct some of the bad defects in the highways."

Mills said he felt there "is definitely a correlation between highway deaths and the number of patrolmen and added, "We have a responsibility to protect the people...you have to have a balanced program."

A recent $23,700 study for the state by a California firm indicated that the 138 additional state troopers is the bare minimum that Idaho should try to get along with.

Hand told the committee that the cost of training such personnel would be the normal police officers' working salary and living expenses at the state's new Law Enforcement Training Academy at Pocatello.

Other requests from the corps and Bureau of Reclamation included: —A total of $273,000 for continuing feasibility studies on the bureau's Upper Snake River Project, which includes American Falls Dam, the Lynn Canyon Dam in Eastern Idaho, and the proposed Snake Plain Recharge Project and the Oakley Fan Project.

—A total of $273,000 for continuation of feasibility studies now underway by the bureau of the proposed Southwest Idaho Water Development Project. —$61.3 million for corps projects in Idaho, including construction of Dworshak Dam, general studies in flood control projects, advanced engineering work on flood control projects on tributaries of the Spokane River, and $694,000 for operation and maintenance of existing projects.

Ririe Dam Funds Are Requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, Monday requested $4.7 million for Ririe Dam in fiscal 1971.

The request would result in nearly one-third completion of the flood control facility and would represent the full capability of the corps for the project during the year.

Contracts on Ririe Dam are expected to be awarded in the future and the $4.7 million would be for construction work to begin this summer.

Church said the Bureau of Reclamation has asked for $1,575,000 for initiation of construction on the Lower Teton Reclamation and Flood Control Project in Eastern Idaho during 1971.

The request would enable the bureau to let the contract for Lower Teton Dam and its power and pumping plant during the coming year.

Other requests from the corps and Bureau of Reclamation included: —A total of $273,000 for continuing feasibility studies on the bureau's Upper Snake River Project, which includes American Falls Dam, the Lynn Canyon Dam in Eastern Idaho, and the proposed Snake Plain Recharge Project and the Oakley Fan Project.

Ex-Pilot Saves Two Children

SPOKANE (UPI) — A former Army helicopter pilot has been commended by local police officers for saving the lives of two children Sunday afternoon at a small man-made lake in the center of the city.

A third child, Joseph Kosok, 7, drowned before he could be rescued.

Officers said David Mullen, 33, was ice skating on Lake Arthur near the Gonzaga University campus when Kosok, his 11-year-old brother, David, and Barbara Aspenleiter, 12, went through the ice.

Mullen, a student at Gonzaga, pulled the older two children from the icy water but told officers he never did see the younger child. Kosok's body was recovered a few hours later by fire department divers.

More than 90 per cent of all ski injuries are caused by poor physical condition, fatigue or overconfidence.

Draft Call

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department announced today a draft call for 19,000 men. All will go into the Army.

Shelley Man Dies In Auto Crash

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI) — A Shelley, Idaho man, Morris Skelton, 41, was killed 35 miles east of Missoula Saturday when his vehicle left U. S. Highway 10 and plunged into the Clark Fork River.

Skelton apparently lost control of the vehicle on a curve, the Highway Patrol reported.

Skelton was a cattle buyer in the Northwest.

His body was recovered from the icy water by Lee Meltzer of the Missoula search and rescue team.

Recreational Improvements Protected By Land Withdrawal In Three Forest Areas

Recreational expansions in three specific areas, covered in a recent Sawtooth National Forest application for land withdrawal, were explained Monday by Robert Hoag, recreational staff officer for the Sawtooth National Forest.

Mr. Hoag said the withdrawal of 2,334 acres covered in the application would mean the lands would be held for recreational development and use, exclusive of mineral exploration and locating of mining claims.

Two hundred sixty-four of the acres are in the Dollar Lake and Penny Lake area on the Warm Springs Road. Here plans call for picnic and camping developments and possibly a roadside display explaining the lake area.

Work has been completed on 21 acres at the Galena Summit Overlook recreational area, with toilet facilities and a view area. Withdrawal will protect the investment in the improvement.

Mr. Hoag said, "Third area in the Howell Canyon Recreation area in Cassia County. Here extensive improvement is planned in all phases of recreation. Summer camping and picnic areas will be added in the canyon area and at Scenic Lake Cleveland. Two electronic sites, including a federal installation and a commercial area for television and radio transmissions, are included in the withdrawal area.

January Building Permits Totaled

Seventeen building permits were issued in Twin Falls during January for a total structural value of $98,000.

Of the 17 permits issued none was for new dwellings. There were three issued for other construction amounting to $51,500 in structural value; five for additions and alterations, $23,400; eight for repairs and improvements, $10,000, and one demolition, $1,500.

This compares to January of last year when 19 permits were issued for a total value of $205,568.

The Pomerelle Ski Area and a proposed snowmobiling site in Caska County will develop a parking area, also included. Mr. Hoag said a road leading to the top of Mt. Harrison could provide a scenic tour route from which motorists will be able to enjoy a unique and beautiful view.

The combination of all of these facilities and resources will make the area a year-around recreational facility, Mr. Hoag explained.

Hiccups

BOISE (UPI) — State Sen. W. Fisher Ellsworth, R-Idaho Falls, was in his 11th successive day of hiccups Monday.

Ellsworth said the hiccups let up for a little bit during the weekend but were back when the senator attended a meeting of the Local Government Affairs Committee in Senate.

On Saturday the senator was under sedation and a doctor's care.

Rotary Club At Burley Sees Film

BURLEY — The Burley Rotary Club viewed a movie titled "Behind Closed Doors" during their noon luncheon at Bryan's Cafe.

The movie portrayed the vast change in preparation and sale of food to the consuming public. It traced development from the early day general store referring to "Strickland's Store on Rock Creek," where ranchers used to buy two and three slabs of bacon at a time to feed crews that were working on the cattle ranches.

Homesteaders later came and the farmer's wife would ask for half a slab of bacon which was a real let-down for the grocer.

Even then it was predicted that the day would come when the housewife would want a pound of bacon sliced, which is the usual method of buying bacon or other staples today.

The movie was presented under the direction of Dale Shelby, the pointed-out man "500th" in the United States was lowest in the world for income earned. In Russia it requires $2 per cent of each dollar of income for food, England requires 32 per cent and in U.S. it requires 17 per cent of the dollar.

"In the U.S.," he said, "we require so many more items and a much larger array of food in diverse packages, cartons and plastics. It is still possible for the housewife to buy a 50-pound sack of flour and other ingredients to make her cake mix for about 15 cents a pound. But housewives like the easy way, so she reaches for the package on the shelf of the whole package cost to make it.

"This gives the lady time to work at a job away from home, pursuits contrasting with the routine of the early day housewife."

Shelby pointed out that the greatest competitor and threat to the American food merchant today, is the government itself, with such programs as school hot lunch, military PX's and poverty storehouses. The food industry could still provide this service and product more efficiently than the government can, reported Shelby.

VanEngelens In Burley Is Expanding

BURLEY — VanEngelens are expanding into their present location on Overland Avenue, announced Harry Van Engelen and Ed E. (Bud) Brinegar, Manager.

The expansion and modernization when completed will give the store extra frontage and shopping area and will combine the present location with the new area, making one large store.

When completed the firm will have a 75-foot front and the new acquisition will add over 4,000 square feet of floor space.

The fabric and drapery department will be expanded and moved from the lower level to the main floor of the new annex, reports Mr. Brinegar. Plans also call for the addition of a new home furnishing department in the near future.

Mr. Brinegar pointed out this new addition is a continuation of the extensive remodeling program started last year when the entire store was modernized and renovated.

Van Engelen is the oldest store in Burley which was founded in 1910 and has been under one management.

Tuition At U Of I Hiked

MOSCOW (UPI) — Tuition at the University of Idaho will go up $14 a semester for in-state students and $35 a semester for out of state students beginning July 1, president Ernest W. Hartung said Saturday.

The increase will bring the fees to $320 per school year for state residents and to $370 for non-residents, Hartung said.

Hartung pointed out that the tuition is still below the national average for state universities of $430 for residents and $570 for non-residents.

Gas And Gasoline

Government action against pollution is usually translated as the commitment of regulatory authority available to Washington, and the state capitals, to the defense of the environment.

But government has other powers — economic and even that of a good example — which also may be of some significance in furthering the cause. Both would seem to be involved in a small but promising way in the recently reported experiment by the General Services Administration.

The GSA converted 12 of its fleet of some 51,000 U.S. government cars from gasoline to natural gas. In a relatively simple and inexpensive ($340 per car) procedure, each was equipped with a tank holding natural gas under pressure. The fuel supply was sufficient to cover up to 80 miles.

Initial results would appear to be more than encouraging. The natural-gas powered cars produced 90 per cent less pollution than conventional vehicles. Furthermore, a comparison test showed 50 per cent less fuel consumption.

The GSA is so encouraged, in fact, that it is going beyond experiment to practical application. It plans to convert another 70 cars for routine use at National Aeronautics and Space Administration facilities.

Seventy virtually pollution-free vehicles, of course, count for nothing against the more than 100 million cars and trucks in this country presently spewing their long of contaminants into the atmosphere. And the 80-mile range is obviously a severely limiting factor to widespread use in a nation of continental dimensions.

It would, however, be adequate for most city driving. And it is precisely in the cities where air pollution has reached the most disastrous stage and where autos are the most significant contributors. It may not be entirely day-dreaming, therefore, to consider possibilities of an early practical use of the natural-gas car, even at this early stage of development, in pollution-burdened urban areas while leaving the less-threatened open highways to conventional vehicles.

In any event, whether the natural-gas experiment leads to something more or eventually succumbs to technological obstacles and declining enthusiasm as, apparently, have its predecessors, steam and electricity, it is still to be welcomed for its own sake as a sign that man's ingenuity is still at work on the pollution problem.

And the very fact that in this case it happens to be government ingenuity at work could prove to be particularly beneficial. The GSA example could be a strong spur to additional research, experimentation and interest, not least among the auto manufacturers. There aren't, after all, any other customers in the market for 50,000-plus cars. What the government wants in its vehicles, as has been demonstrated with safety modifications in recent years, it usually gets, and with a very good chance of it being passed on to the public.

Hopefully, ingenuity will produce practical answers before the name of the game changes to desperation.

Behavior

Crime statistics continue to tell the civilized world that its techniques of punishment, prevention and rehabilitation have failed in their primary mission of deterring large numbers of citizens from violent actions against their neighbors.

While sociologists and others continue searching for the answers, there is at least a possibility that persons with a predisposition to violent action may be identified before they perform the hostile act which brings grief to many persons, not the least of all themselves.

Scientists from Stanford and Harvard Universities have described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science statistical correlations between biologic abnormalities and criminal behavior.

One of the men, Dr. Lawrence Ravazi, also suggests there is a possibility that persons with such abnormalities may be identified by unusual characteristics in their fingerprints. If proof of this relationship can be corroborated, it could move many persons away from the destructive path fate seems to have in store for them.

MR. SPECTATOR

Age Of The Big Jets

Progress always seems to bring trouble and problems. It was true when the auto started to take the place of the horse. It was true when the train took the place of the covered wagon. It has been true now that airplanes are taking the place of most all transportation.

In Los Angeles a fellow by the name of Arvin O. Basnight, Federal Aviation Administration western regional director, told a conference of the California Medical Association that disaster plans at the nation's airports are not adequate for the current jet traffic.

He said that many airports are not prepared for the jumbo jet age and its potential for air disasters of unprecedented magnitude.

Jets arrive at major airports, he said, at the rate of 25 to 50 an hour and air passenger numbers are growing at 15 to 20 per cent a year. Jumbo jets will double the present passenger lists.

The government official said a major deficiency was the lack of adequate ground support facilities to cope with projected increases in numbers of air passengers, which at Los Angeles International Airport alone will rise from 25 million annually to more than 80 million in the foreseeable future.

He recommended a two-step plan to correct present deficiencies: (1) rapid transit to and from the airport and (2) elimination of all "kissers and wavers" — the average of three family members and friends who accompany a typical air passenger to the airport.

One doctor at the meeting said that stewardesses of the future will receive special medical training so they can differentiate minor ailments from serious problems.

MORE AIR FACTS

And also along the aviation line, to aid in supporting this airport building program, President Nixon has advocated that a 9-cents-a-gallon tax be put on jet fuel used by the airlines; that the passenger ticket cost be raised from 5 to 8 per cent; that a 5 per cent tax be imposed on air freight and that a levy of $3 per person tax be slapped on all passengers departing for for-sign points. These steps would raise about $332 million.

It is interesting to note that all these additional taxes would be paid for by the passengers because they would be passed on from the airline to the passenger — or airline user.

President Nixon has also suggested an increase in federal gasoline tax paid for by general aviation (private planes and business planes including flight schools, flying clubs and the like) from 2 cents to 9 cents a gallon. This, he estimates, would raise $24 million.

And that amount would be a true tax. It couldn't be passed on to anyone because the "private" guy who owned the plane would pay it. So there you have the picture. If you want progress you will pay for it.

Twin Falls and Magic Valley will enter this jet age early next summer when the runway extension is completed at the Twin Falls City-County Airport — Joslin Field. The jumbo jets will never come here but the 100-passenger jets will and this, in itself, will cause a lot of changes.

HUMAN NATURE

There is a school of thought which insists history does not repeat, but no one contends that human nature doesn't. Everyone wants lower prices, but only if they are accompanied by higher income.

NOTED IN PASSING

Boise State College now has a total of 94,000 books in the library at the school. A total of 16,000 volumes have been added the past year. Latest addition was in form of a gift of nearly 1,000 volumes from the library of Judge Raymond L. Givens of Boise. The largest gift has been a pledge of Boise Cascade Corp. for $50,000 to purchase books, film strips, motion pictures and documents for the School of Business and Public Administration.

As an aside, Mr. Spectator wonders what kind of a library CSI has in Twin Falls and if they could use a little help locally like the kind Judge Givens and Boise Cascade gave up at Boise?

WASHINGTON — Britain is quietly joining France in the highly lucrative business of selling millions of dollars of weapons to the new military rulers of rich Libya.

Libyan and British officials are secretly negotiating in Tripoli on terms for the sale of 188 of Britain's main battle tank — the Chieftain.

Rated as the best tank in the entire world, and possibly the best in the world, the Chieftain is priced at upwards of $300,000, with extra parts and other equipment.

There is a striking ironic similarity between the young pro-Nasser, Libyan dictators' purchase of 100 jet combat planes from France and 188 heavy British tanks.

In both instances, Libya doesn't have the trained personnel to man these expensive and sophisticated weapons. Both its air force and armored force are virtually non-existent.

"Now I Want To Make One Thing Very Clear"

ANDREW TULLY

Kind Of Brutal Boobery

WASHINGTON — A kind of brutal boobery persists in some courts and police stations of the land, directed largely at people accused of no greater crime than of being different.

year-old knows that an awful lot of criminals are caught as a result of information supplied by citizens who are not pillars of what is called respectable society.

with unpopular ideas and life styles who must need the law's protection.

What happened in Arlington is of national concern because across the country it encourages individuals to avoid involvement in the process of law and order, lest they find themselves persecuted by the System.

Now of us over 30 squares have anything in common with the average hippie — and that is just the point. The protection of the law is not only for businessmen and clean-collar professional types. It is even, a right guaranteed to hippies.

After the treatment they received at the hands of the "law," they can hardly be blamed if they now suffer a loss of memory. They are young, and they must be asking themselves who needs to lend a hand to that kind of a System.

To recapitulate: Police arrested three so-called hippies for the murder of an Arlington government official. One of the suspects is the adopted daughter of the victim. The arrests were made possible through information furnished by three other "hippies."

They go in to see the head of the studio.

It is not only for businessmen and clean-collar professional types. It is even, a right guaranteed to hippies. Indeed, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes put it best when he reminded us that it is people

Immediately, the prosecution and the court proceeded to give an example of the barbaric stoneheadedness that sometimes afflicts authority. The three material witnesses were tossed into jail and held there for a week on what a county judge later described as the "excessively high bond" of $10,000 each.

"J.B., we have this great idea for a movie. Tell him, Al."

WASHINGTON — The story of Michael Brody, heir to an oil-and-gas fortune in millions of dollars, is a story of a young man who is being dogged day and night by nuts. He's starting to flip. He screams at the people that they're all greedy, and he won't give them any money if they act like animals.

Now, the witnesses' American Civil Liberties Union attorney says his clients will refuse to testify in the murder trial.

"Well, J.B., it's about this 21-year-old kid who plays a guitar and has long hair and believes everyone should love each other. He inherits $25 million from his grandfather, who invented a butter substitute."

"J.B., this could be a great movie, bigger than 'Easy Rider.' The guy gets a sore at the people that he hires a plane and flies to the Caribbean with a plenitude of reporters. But he can't find any peace there, either. So he flies back to New York and decides to make a record about peace."

The issue here is the first and most basic, to wit, the arrest and unjustified detention of three individuals who were uncharged and, indeed, had given assistance to the authorities.

"J.B., look at the two men. Do you want me to tell you the studio policy?"

"Now this is the part you're going to like, J.B.: It's the finish to end all finishes. Tell him, Sam."

We are asked by the prosecutor to believe that the witnesses were detained because they might blow the lid and cause a dash. They were voluntary participants in the state's case. But they had long hair, looked as though they needed a bath and lived in a littered pad in Washington's Dupont Circle neighborhood. They were held because they didn't look like bond salesman or bank clerks.

"Please, J.B., let Sam tell you what we've got in mind. The guy can't go anywhere without people following him and screaming at him for some of the money. People are disturbing his home life apartment. They call him night and day. They tear his clothes; they break his guitar. He has to hire a bodyguard. The press won't let him alone."

"Both writers hold onto the desk as the studio police start pulling them."

It is not only for businessmen and clean-collar professional types. It is even, a right guaranteed to hippies.

"J.B. clenches his fist. 'How the hell did you guys get into my office in the first place?'"

"Now this is the part you're going to like, J.B.: It's the finish to end all finishes. Tell him, Sam."

It is not only for businessmen and clean-collar professional types. It is even, a right guaranteed to hippies.

"Then he demands to see President Nixon. He says he's got something very important to tell him. He goes down to the White House, but the guards

As they are being dragged down the hall, the guys, all right. If you think it's too far-fetched, we'll take out the part about him going on the Ed Sullivan show!"

The group of young military officers — none of them with command experience, even of an infantry company — who now rule Libya are ardent admirers of Gamal Nasser. He, in turn, has been vigorously wooing them since they seized power last year in a bloodless coup.

But when Prime Minister Golda visited London last spring, to negotiate this purchase, she was turned down — to her amazement. Although the British Labor government was sorely in need of increased exports, and was openly selling tanks and other military hardware to Kuwait and other Arab countries, Mrs. Mel's offer of a big Chieftain order was declined.

Libya has an annual revenue of close to $1 billion from Western oil concessions, among them leading U.S. companies. With a population of 1.8 million, largely concentrated in cities and towns on the Mediterranean, Libya has large currency reserves, which Nasser urgently needs in the intensifying warfare with Israel.

The Labor regime's explanation for this unexpected rebuff was patently spurious and hypocritical.

Also, Egypt has trained jet pilots and armored personnel to man the Mirage fighter-bombers acquired from France and Britain. Western military authorities consider it a foregone conclusion that in the not-too-distant future, these planes and tanks, with Libyan markings, will be flying and fighting with Egyptian personnel.

Israel has no late-model tanks. Its armor consists almost entirely of World War II British Centurions and American Sherman — refurbished with more powerful engines and heavier guns (90mms and 105mms).

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

For Bunions

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do bunions develop because shoes are too loose and sloppy or too short and tight? Once they begin to form, is there any way to restore them to proper position besides surgery? I believe many women would be interested in these days of ridiculous, impractical shoe styles. — Mrs. J. M.

effective, and particularly so when the bunion has become large and fixed.

The ladies have almost a corner on bunions. They are the sufferers by 40 to 1.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson for a copy of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way To Stop It." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Typically a bunion is a defect in the foot that can be accentuated by the wrong shoes.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

A flat foot is more subject to bunions in many cases. A big toe may be unusually long, and unless shoes are fitted to compensate, a bunion is likely.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for his booklet, "The Peaky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

What happens is that too short and tight a shoe forces the big toe back and inward. It gives at the big toe joint. As it is forced out of alignment, pressure on the joint at the base of the toe produces swelling, callus, and (inside the joint) enlargement of the bursa, as nature tries to protect the joint from the pressure.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of your newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing your request a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Devices to press the toe and joint back into proper position may be tried if the defect is treated very early. Along with this, must come wider and longer shoes, and corrective supports for the foot if that defect is part of the trouble.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

(People also should be aware that in some children, bunions are a congenital defect that should be corrected surgically.)

T.F. Department Of Employment Figures List Types Of Jobs Offered During 1969

There were 3,545 individuals placed in area non-agricultural jobs during 1969 by the Twin Falls office of the Idaho State Department of Employment, according to John F. Leinen, manager.

Mr. Leinen said an additional 816 people were placed in jobs in the agricultural fields. These totals do not include seasonal migrant farm employment, which totaled 1,605 in 1969.

According to Mr. Leinen, this compares with 3,024 placed in non-agricultural jobs; 1,167 in jobs in the agricultural field, and 1,035 migrant farm workers placed during 1968. Mr. Leinen said 4,024 people registered for work at the Twin Falls office in 1969, compared with 3,580 in 1968. The Twin Falls office provides many services that aren't commonly known to the general public, Mr. Leinen said.

Dillon Murder Case May Go To Supreme Court In March

Nearly two years ago Michael Dillon was convicted of murdering a Jerome woman. The jury of eight men and four women found him guilty of murder in the second degree. Judge Theron Ward, after a two-week trial, pronounced a 20 year prison sentence for the youth, now 20.

The case was appealed by Dillon's attorneys and for two years both the defense and prosecution have been preparing for an appearance before the Idaho Supreme Court.

Speaker Set

BUIE — Gus Kolker, editor of the Times-News, Twin Falls, will be the guest speaker for the annual Rotary club Farmers night at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Buhl elementary school.

The appeal is being based on several technicalities in the law, including the admission of certain confessions, and on alleged new evidence. Part of the new evidence, the defense contends, is the finding of small, blonde hairs under Mrs. Simerly's fingernails.

Someone entered the office through an unlocked door. Taken were three gold tooth crowns; one, three-unit gold bridge; a gold wire; one plastic crown, and some gold scraps. Investigation is continuing. The burglary was discovered Monday morning.

NFO Meet

BURLEY — The Cassia County NFO members will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the conference room of the Idaho Bank and Trust.

According to Daren Critchfield, Oakley, president of the Cassia County NFO, the topic of discussion will be feeder cattle. All members are urged to attend, and non-members are also invited.

$34,499 Bid Awarded By T.F. Agency

Northwest Crane and Rigging Co. of Twin Falls has submitted the low bid of $34,499 to demolish the Idaho Theatre building and three other properties in downtown Twin Falls.

Demolition is expected to begin on the Theatre building, now vacant, in about two weeks, according to James Kelsch, executive director of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency.

Bids were opened last week, but awarding of the bid was delayed until figures in each of the bids could be computed. Other bids were Lone Pine Equipment Co. of Kimberly, $38,564.30, and Reynolds Construction Co., $37,700. Northwest Crane and Rigging Co. was awarded the bid.

The other three properties to be cleared are the old Fox Manufacturing building, the building formerly occupied by Boster Key Shop, and the old Rent-Alls building, all in the 200 block of Second Avenue South.

After the Idaho Theatre building is demolished and the land leveled, the other three properties will be cleared and the land leveled.

The vacant properties will then be maintained until future construction gets under way. Plans call for a building to go up in place of the old Idaho Theatre. There may be buildings on the lots on Second Avenue South, also, it was reported.

Defendants Force Delay In Trial By Repeated Shouting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Repeated shouts disrupted the opening session Monday of 13 Black Panthers charged in an alleged bombing conspiracy. The uproar prompted an early adjournment.

John M. Murtagh, after listening to a number of outbursts, angrily called an early recess in the trial of the Panthers charged with attempting to bomb several buildings and utilities last year.

Debris From First Stage Of Apollo 11 Nearly Hits German Vessel In Atlantic

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A space agency engineer revealed today debris from a first stage of the Apollo 11 rocket last July nearly hit a German ship in the Atlantic.

Adolf H. Knothe said in a paper presented at a meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics that the German vessel Vegesack happened to be at a position some 375 miles east northwest of Cape Kennedy at 9:45 a.m. EDT July 16 when Apollo 11 blasted off to put the first man on the moon.

The calculated impact point for the first stage of Apollo 11, if launched on time, is approximately at the same point, he said. "Now, Apollo 11 was launched on time."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hey, did you hear about this great discovery made by a couple of Agriculture Department entomologists?

Well, they have learned to produce synthetically the chemical sex attractant found in female European corn borers.

By using this sex attractant, the department previously isolated, identified and duplicated the natural sex lure of a number of other insects, including the pink bollworm, black carpet beetle and the corn looper, gypsy moth and sugarcane wireworm.

By producing the stuff in the laboratory, the department figured it could entice large numbers of male insects into traps, and thus decimate the population. But the plan hasn't worked out very well.

With corn borers, however, the department is considering a different approach. Rather than trapping, it is using a synthetic sex lure to attract them to become mated.

Birth Control Crusader Will Oppose Kennedy

BOSTON (UPI)—Birth control crusader William Baird said Monday he would seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat held by Edward M. Kennedy.

Baird, of Hempstead, N.Y., said he would establish residence in Boston, to run in this fall's election.

A former clinical director of a pharmaceutical firm, Baird faces a jail sentence for illegal display of a birth control device. He said he would "run my campaign from behind bars, if necessary."

Baird, a father of four, said he would campaign for immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, legalization of marijuana, repeal of birth-control and abortion laws, taxation of churches and imposition of taxes on oil companies to help clean up pollution.

If defeated in the Democratic primary, he will run as an independent, Baird said.

Ruling On Abernathy Brings Strong Protest From Lawyer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Attorney William M. Kunstler, defending the "Chicago Seven," was furious.

"If I have to lose my license to practice law and if I have to go to jail, he said, 'I can't think of a better cause to go to jail for and to lose my license for than to tell your honor that you are doing disservice to the law in saying that we can't have Ralph Abernathy on the stand.'"

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman had just ruled Monday that the Rev. Abernathy could not testify in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic national convention.

After Kunstler's tirade, he charged the judge with conducting a "legal lynching" and said the government would not have an objection, Hoffman reversed himself and said Abernathy could testify if the defense could produce him in court today. Defense attorneys said Abernathy had flown to Mississippi after Monday's court session, and it was unlikely they could get him back in time.

The judge first had said he would hold Kunstler to his word of last Friday—that the defense had finished presenting its witnesses, except possibly for a cameraman, who made films of convention violence. Monday, Kunstler told the judge the defense could not find the cameraman, but the head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Rev. Abernathy, was en route from O'Hare Airport and ready to testify. He said Abernathy had been in Europe before, unavailable to the defense.

Abernathy's objection that the prosecution's testimony would be irrelevant and immaterial. Judge Hoffman sustained the objection and said Kunstler had promised Friday that the defense was through with live witnesses, except for the cameraman.

In the light of the representations made by you unequivocally, sir, with no reference to Dr. Abernathy, I will deny your motion," the judge told Kunstler.

Kunstler then told the judge he had made about the most "outrageous statement I have ever heard from a bench, and I am going to say my piece right now, and you can hold me in contempt right now if you wish to."

He said Hoffman "violated the constitution."

Contract

Detweller Brothers, Inc., Twin Falls, was advised Monday the firm has been awarded a $2,510,000 contract for the plumbing, heating and air-conditioning of the new Boise Cascade World Office Building, Boise.

Representatives of the local firm said the building, a six-story structure, will cover approximately one city block in Boise. The project is to begin at once with a completion date of late fall, 1971. Total construction cost of the building will be approximately $15 million.

Safe Pilot Awards Fete Set Feb. 17

Pilots from the Twin Falls area who have demonstrated their ability to fly safely will be honored at 7 p.m. Feb. 17 during a banquet at the American Legion Hall.

The annual "Idaho Safe Pilot" awards banquet, according to Chet Moulton, state aeronautics director, is co-sponsored by the Idaho Department of Aeronautics and the Idaho Aviation Trades Association.

It is designed to pay tribute where credit is due, Mr. Moulton said, rather than the normal procedure of pointing an accusing finger at accidents and violations which already have occurred.

The awards are based on the number of years a pilot flies more than the basic minimum of 50 hours annually without accident or violation. If a pilot has been flying for 10 years, but only six years have more than the 50 hour minimum, the pilot is eligible for a six-year award.

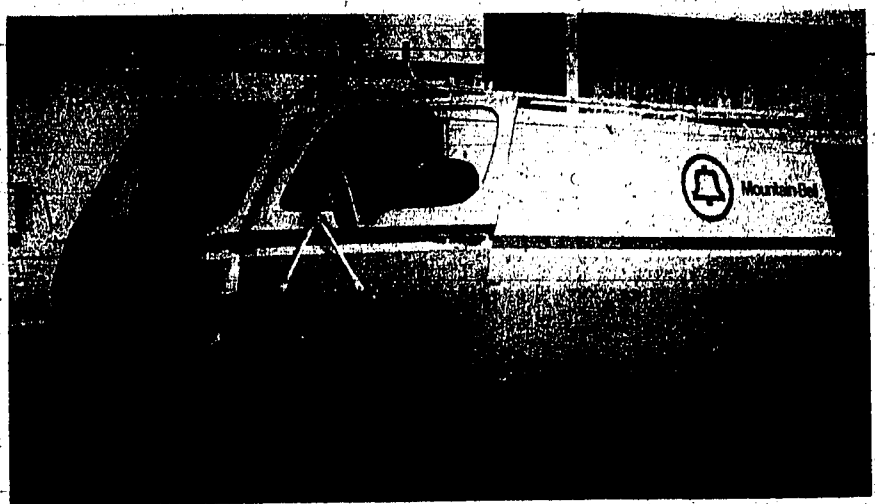

T.F. Contractor Faces Wage Suit

A Twin Falls construction firm has been named in a wage-hour suit in U.S. District Court in Seattle.

The Jack Radtke Construction Co., is charged by the U.S. Department of Labor with violation of three provisions of the wage-and-hour law. These include minimum wage, overtime and record keeping.

Demands from the department include enjoining the Twin Falls firm from further violations of the law and payment of back wages allegedly due a number of employees.

Investigations leading to the suit were directed by Howard Peterson, area director, Wage-Hour Division, Seattle.

RAY DELESKI, SERVICE foreman at the local Mountain Bell Telephone Co. inspects the first of eight new service vans purchased for the company. Kon Mann, manager, said the new light green color is a phasing out and modernizing of the old dark green previously used by the company. He said there are 30 to 35 other company vehicles which will be replaced or repainted soon.

Forest Service Officials Set 3-Day Meet To Discuss Winter Sports, Recreation

Sawtooth National Forest officials will turn a spotlight on winter sports and recreation in a three-day meeting this week in the Ketchum and Wood River areas and at the snowmobile facility of Willow Run, near Fairfield.

Robert Hoag, staff recreational officer for the Sawtooth Forest, said district rangers, recreation assistants and landscape planners will attend the three-day meeting.

In the Ketchum and Wood River areas forest officials will inspect potential skiing facilities and sites, review snowmobile courses and other winter activities. The first two days will be spent in this area and Thursday night and Friday the group will move to Willow Run.

Here winter search and rescue and survival will be discussed.

with Thursday night devoted to a simulated search and rescue operation designed to give forest officials actual practice in recovering lost or injured snowmobilers.

Because of the increase in this sport throughout the area, the Forest Service is undertaking an educational campaign to encourage snowmobilers, especially those not using regularly established courses, to provide for emergencies and prevent accidents and injuries.

Mr. Hoag said a volunteer group, including several forest employees, has been organized at Willow Run, and more of these types of organizations will be encouraged. Mr. Hoag said it is interesting to note no accidents have occurred at Willow Run where those who use their own or rental machines are provided a safety kit, instructions and their tours recorded in case they become stranded.

He said few problems arise here or in other areas where a permittee manages the operation, but many do occur in open country where the machine owners or operators set out alone and where they may be unfamiliar with hazards in the area.

Smuggling Of Jail Mail Nets Charge

Fred D. Meyer, 38, 850 Third Ave. W., has been charged with illegally taking a letter out of the Twin Falls County jail.

He is in jail at the present time in lieu of $150 bond. He pleaded innocent to the charge in a Probate Court appearance Monday and a trial has been set for 4:30 p.m. Feb. 13.

It is alleged Mr. Meyer took a letter from Lloyd Plaxico, a prisoner in the jail, and attempted to carry that letter out of the jail.

This is in violation of jail rules and a county ordinance, it was reported. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Deputies said Plaxico's letter was to his sister and the information in it was personal. Nothing in the letter indicated a jail break or any other type of plot, deputies said.

Mr. Meyer was arrested Monday.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. I can't consult any one else about my problem because it is so embarrassing.

I have been married for three years to a wonderful woman, but she is now threatening to divorce me for what I am about to relate to you. I swear that this will be the wildest letter you have ever received.

Ever since I was a baby, I liked to chew on rubber things. Toy boats, rubber ducks, etc. It seemed to calm my nerves. All through school I chewed on pencil erasers to relieve tension, and it always worked.

I was now 35 years old, and I always carry an art gum eraser with me in case things get tense. After chewing on it for five minutes, I am relaxed and calm again.

Well, the other night my wife and I were at my boss' home for a dinner party. I felt myself getting a little tense so I reached for my rubber eraser and discovered that for the first time in my life I had forgotten it. I became panicky, so I went into the bathroom in search of a rubber object to chew on. Fortunately, I found a rubber duck belonging to their baby. Not wanting to remain in the bathroom, I took it to the hall closet and started chewing on it frantically.

Suddenly the door opened and I saw my boss standing there! He demanded that I return the new costly rubber duck. His words followed. Naturally, I lost my job, and now my wife wants to divorce me.

Don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. I can't afford it. I am depending on you, Abby. If you don't help me I will commit suicide. Help!

RUBBER CHEWER

DEAR CHEWER: Yours may not be the "wildest" letter I've ever received, but it could be one of the phoniest. Realizing that you are a rubber duck, how is it possible for you to check for $10,000. It's rubber! Chew on THAT for a while.

DEAR ABBY: Before I met my husband had an affair with a married man. I foolishly "confessed" this to my husband before I married him and was told "it didn't matter now." I believed him.

I have been married to this "elephant" for four years, and now every time we have an argument he brings up "the other man."

Lately, it has become unbearable because he now tells me that I have been talking in my sleep about this man. I have no way of knowing if I really do, or if he is trying to torture me.

Now I try to keep from falling asleep before my husband, but in the morning he tells me I have talked about "him" again.

I have led a good life since my marriage, Abby. I haven't looked at another man—or cared to. But I cannot undo what has been done. So why should I be tortured for something over which I have no control? Can you help me?

MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: You could rent a tape recorder and find out whether you really do talk in your sleep. (I'll bet you don't.) Or you could put a piece of adhesive tape over your mouth before retiring. But your problem is NOT what comes out of YOUR mouth, it's what comes out of your husband's. If he's determined to "torture" you, he'll find other ways.

DEAR ABBY: I don't expect this to get there in time for this Christmas, but I hope you print it anyway for folks to remember for the next holiday season.

There is one present every mother would give her children for Christmas. If one of her children would just come to her door and say, "Ma, I have come to help you for eight hours," that would be the best present in the world. And it wouldn't cost one penny!

Every Christmas since I gave birth to my first child, Christmas has been a burden. I have broken my back cleaning, scrubbing and polishing, and I have stood on my feet in the kitchen until three in the morning, washing and baking. And when it's all over, it takes me a week to clean up the mess and put everything away.

Sure, we mothers want everything to be nice for the holidays. But if you would just help us to clean up the mess, we would faint.

Just once I would like to go to Church on Christmas day and not be so dead tired I would sleep thru the whole sermon.

Or just once I'd like to go to somebody else's house for Christmas and not have to take the whole dinner with me.

Abby, please print this. If it hurts somebody, they NEED it. PLEASE. JACKSONVILLE, Fla.

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Pistol Pete Maravich added 40 points to his all-time scoring record Monday night, leading Louisiana State to a 100-91 Southeastern Conference win over Mississippi State.

Attorneys To Show Flood Plea

NEW YORK (UPI)—Attorneys representing organized baseball are scheduled to attempt to sue cause in a federal court Tuesday when they feel star outfielder Curt Flood should not be declared a free agent.

Baseball's answer to the suit filed by Flood, a $90,000-a-year outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals who was traded last November to the Philadelphia Phillies, is expected to be a defense of the reserve clause.

The clause, still controversial although upheld by numerous court rulings in the last 80 years, binds a player to the team with which he is originally signed or to another team to whom he is traded or sold.

Flood asked Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn on Dec. 24 to release him from the terms of the clause and enable him to negotiate with any major league team. Kuhn has refused the request on the reserve clause.

The Major League Players Association has announced its support of Flood and retained former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg as his counsel. Several star players, including three-time American League batting champion Carl Yastrzemski, have questioned whether Flood actually has the support of major league players.

Kentucky Nips Auburn By 84-83

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—Junior guard Terry Mills scored a 30-point jump shot in the final seconds remaining in the game Monday night to give second-ranked Kentucky an 84-83 victory over Auburn.

The winning goal by Mills was his only one of the last half.

The Wildcats called a timeout after Auburn took the lead 82-82. Mills scored the winning goal and Auburn's Henry Harris missed a jump shot as the game ended.

Dan Isold led the Wildcats with 28 points and Mike Pitt added 20. Auburn's John Mengert led the game with 41 points and Harris added 18 for the Tigers.

Hill Leads New Rating System

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Hill is the new leader in professional golf's new point rating system at the end of the first four events of the 1970 season with 200.0 total.

Bob Lunn is second with 201.4 and Jerry Hill is third at 187.5.

Baseball Writers Association award as the player of the year.

Also honored at Monday night's dinner were Carl (Yulb), the famous "Meal Ticket" of the New York Giants during the 1930s, and former heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Seaver received 120 first-place votes and 406 points from the panel of 163 sportswriters and radio and TV commentators who participated in the Hickok poll.

A 6-foot-11-inch 200-pounder whose best pitch is a hard slider, Seaver was originally signed by the Atlanta Braves to a reported $40,000 contract in 1966.

Seaver had a 16-13 record as a rookie in 1967 and was 16-12 in 1968. He blossomed into the league's No. 1 pitcher last summer when the Mets began their drive to win the pennant and the world championship.

Seaver had a 23-7 record and a 2.21 earned run average in 1969. He was the winning pitcher in the Mets' first-game victory over the Braves in the NL playoff series and split two decisions with the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series.

Seaver, who attended Fresno State College and the University of Southern California, also was a pitcher for the Mets in the dugout and clubhouse. He was Sunday night during the New York Baseball Writers' dinner that baseball players and owners take a flexible and understanding position in their efforts to solve the problem of the reserve clause.

Hubbell, who won 253 games during his career, was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1947. Louis was the heavyweight champion of the world from June 22, 1937, when he knocked out James J. Braddock until March 1, 1949 when he announced his retirement.

Celtics Get Fines, Warning From Heinsohn To Shape Up

BOSTON (UPI)—"It's put up or shut up time" for the Boston Celtics who face additional fines and even suspensions unless they mend their ways, coach Tom Heinsohn said Monday.

Heinsohn, a former Celtic pitcher in his rookie year as a coach, delivered his warning in the wake of $100 fines given 10 of the Boston players following Sunday night's loss to San Francisco, 123-105.

"It was not an enjoyable situation after the game," Heinsohn said of the session. Celtic General Manager Red Auerbach leveled the fines on all but two of the Boston players during a 30-minute closed door talk with the squad.

"This kind of thing never happened while I was playing in Boston," Heinsohn said, "but as I'm concerned, the way they play the rest of the way Sunday night's loss to San Francisco, 123-105."

Only veteran cornerman Tom Sanders, who suffered a knee injury in the game, and reserve guard Emmette Bryant, who saw only limited action, escaped the fines.

"We have a blend of experienced veterans and raw young players with no experience this year," Heinsohn said. "We have to get ourselves through the season as best we can. I had counted quite heavily on their attitude, an extra measure of attitude, to get us a playoff spot."

Iowa Wants To Transfer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Star quarterback Larry Lawrence and fullback Tom Smith added to the recent turmoil at the University of Iowa Monday when they announced that they were transferring to the University of Arizona.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed but it was understood Clemente was in the $100,000 class. He is the highest paid player in Pirate history.

Four Stars Of 1950s Elected To Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—The election of four grid stars of the 1950s to the Professional Football Hall of Fame was announced Tuesday by Director Dick Gallagher.

The four are running back Hugh McElhenny, defensive back Jack Christiansen and ends Tom Fears and Pete Pihos. It brings to 43 the number of grid greats to be enshrined in the Hall of Fame.

Induction ceremonies will be held Aug. 1 in Canton and Fears' New Orleans Saints will play the Minnesota Vikings in the annual Hall of Fame Game in conjunction with the ceremonies.

McElhenny, known as "The King," and "Hurricane" Hugh, was a No. 1 draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers out of the University of Washington and won NFL Rookie of the Year honors in 1952. It was an all-league choice his first season, rushing for seven yards per carry.

McElhenny, a 13-year veteran of NFL play, was with the 49ers for nine years before joining the Minnesota Vikings, New York Giants and the Detroit Lions. He played from 1952 through 1964, so this is the first year McElhenny is eligible for the Hall. There is a five-year waiting period after retirement.

Christiansen is a graduate of Colorado State University and was the leader of the Detroit Lions' defensive backfield in the early '50s when the Lions won four division and three NFL championships.

Christiansen, a native of Sublette, Kans., holds most of the NFL's records for punt returns, including a season average in 1952 of 21.47 yards a return. Other Christiansen records include 11 punts returned for touchdowns in a career (8) in a season (4 in 1951) and in a single game (2 twice).

Fears played for nine years with the Los Angeles Rams. He played college ball at Santa Clara before moving to the NFL and attended UCLA after the war where he twice was named all-American.

Pihos, 30, a 6-9, 235-pounder who averaged 21.5 points last season for the Hawks, sat out this season because of the option clause in his Hawks' contract. It prevented him from playing with the Stars until 1970-71.

"We'll do our best to sign him as soon as possible," said Franklin Bleuler, the Warriors president. But a club spokesman admitted the Warriors hadn't yet talked to Beatty.

The Warriors bought the right to negotiate with Beatty from the Atlanta Hawks in return for a player, or players, to be named after the current season ends.

SECOND CHANCE IS THERE FOR TAKING

Give the cards every chance and they will respond often enough to make you a winning player, provided you don't expect too much from them.

South's six-spade contract would have been a lead play with any lead but a diamond. Unfortunately that it is only in Utopia that your opponents fail to make the killing lead against slam contracts and West opened a diamond.

South won the trick and threw trump with two leads. He stopped in his own hand in order to consider his next play. A successful finesse would give him his contract with an over-trick since he would be able to make all the tricks. A successful heart finesse would allow a diamond discard and insure his contract. It would also leave the club finesse in reserve as a play for seven, provided that the heart finesse worked.

If you have looked at the East and West hands or just at one of them, you will have seen that neither finesse is going to work. You will also have noted that the king of clubs is sitting high and dry in the East hand.

All South has to do to make all the tricks is to rise with dummy's ace of clubs and pick the singleton king. What is more, South should do exactly that in a rubber bridge game.

West can't start by leading the queen of clubs from his own hand. Maybe West would cover with some combination headed by the king, in line with the old rule of "cover an honor with an honor."

West can't cover and doesn't but the club finesse gives South an extra chance for his contract at the risk of a mere 100 points. The reason is that if the king doesn't drop South comes back to his hand and tries the heart finesse.

HAIR — Note a Scotch barber with the fortuitous name of Joseph Bald has set a new tonorial record — 208 haircuts in 48 hours. Not bad. At current prices hereabouts, Mr. Bald in that time would have picked up $737 and a probable charley horse. Still, the World War II barbers who clipped recruits at Fort Ord, Cal., bent that record. I think it's a little vague now, but one afternoon comes to mind when you couldn't see any of those barbers' shoes, so deep was the hair on the floor.

Generalissimo Franco May Step Down This Year

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Many Spaniards are betting this is the year that Generalissimo Francisco Franco finally steps down.

It could be a conditional retirement, leaving a way open for him to return to power if he should feel it necessary.

But those who believe the time is near point to these steps.

Francisco is 77, suffers from palsy and grows increasingly feeble, although remaining very alert.

He already has given up much of the burden of office. Vice President Admiral Carrero Blanco holds cabinet meetings and functions as president in all but name.

A possible split within the Spanish royal family on the question of royal succession has been eliminated. Last July he designated his eventual successor, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon. Juan Carlos will take over as king of Spain. The move by-passed Juan Carlos' father, the exiled pretender Don Juan de Borbon and meant that Juan Carlos had promised to perpetuate the present authoritarian state.

Last October, Franco reshuffled his cabinet with a heavy accent on youth. Ten of the 19 ministers still were in their 40s, mostly lawyers, engineers or economists.

The change gave virtually complete control of the government to the Opus Dei faction, an association of Roman Catholic laymen and priests dedicated to bringing religious practise into daily life, and drastically whittled down the power of the Falange, which had been the rough and tough political pillar of the regime.

With the take-over by the new cabinet, Spain resumed a campaign interrupted two years ago by factional in-fighting, to improve its image throughout the rest of the world.

A new press law in 1966 virtually abolished censorship, although it placed heavy burden on editors to police their own editorial content.

A constitutional reform permitted a greater range of political viewpoints so long as they were not hostile to the regime.

23 Persons Killed On Idaho Roads

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho State Police reported today traffic fatalities in Idaho during January, 1970, were more than double the number killed in the same month a year ago.

Police said 23 persons, including two pedestrians, met death on Idaho highways last month, compared with 11 in January, 1969.

Of the total, 12 were killed in single-car mishaps, nine died in two-car accidents, and one single car crash involved a collision with a horse.

State Police said nine of the victims were not using seat belts, and that a number of vehicles did not have safety belts installed. Only one victim was wearing a safety belt.

Gooding County led the list with four fatalities, followed by Canyon County with three.

INSPECTING MINIATURE MODELS OF SETS being constructed for "Mame" which opens later this month at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center, are several members of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley. From left are Jim LaGrone, stage manager, Dean Fife and Robert Blastock Jr., who are working on set construction, and Ann Dally, who designed the unique set. After much research of the play and the period in which it occurs, Miss Dally made these and other miniatures of the sets. Construction of the actual sets is going on now and should be completed ahead of schedule.

Designing, Making Sets For Dilettante Production Of "Mame" Is Major Project

Working experience on about 250 plays in semiprofessional college and amateur dramatics is brought to the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley this year by Ann Dally, who designed all sets for the musical comedy "Mame."

The light-hearted show opens later this month at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

Miss Dally, who is a fifth grade teacher at Lincoln School in Twin Falls, received her bachelor of fine arts degree in technical drama from the University of Oklahoma. She also attended the universities of Washington, Idaho and Hawaii, and during her college years worked in about 200 plays.

She has appeared on stage in only one play, but has vast experience as one of those unsung heroes behind the scenes. She worked with semi-professional theater in Fort Smith, Ark., and Oklahoma City, and during a recent teaching job in Banff, Alberta, Canada, was drama instructor on the junior high school level.

This is her first year with the Dilettantes after coming back to Twin Falls to teach. She also is a member of the Twin Falls Little Theatre Group. Miss Dally joined the group and volunteered to work on props, but when the Dilettantes discovered her background, she was pressed into service as set designer.

"Mame" is a particularly colorful play and Miss Dally and Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, properties director, and Kurt Ramsey, costume designer, have been working closely in coordining their various responsibilities for just the right effect. There are 27 scene changes in "Mame" and several sets are required. To make the most of time and material, the sets have been designed by Miss Dally in a periactos style. Periactos, used in early Greek drama, are three-sided figures which can be stretched out or folded into triangles. They are made in an open frame style so various effects can be made with minimum movement of major pieces of the sets.

Miss Dally, whose design concepts have been approved by H. Paul Kliss, director, has made miniatures of all pieces of the set. They are made to a one-half inch scale and from these and working drawings several men, under direction of Robert Blastock Jr., construction foreman and house manager, are making the larger pieces. Several high school and college students and other members of the Dilettantes are working on construction of smaller portions of the set and painting.

Many of the scenes take place in "Mame's" apartment, but during the course of the play she goes through five phases: Chinese, tranquil, literary, modern and the influence of India, and each phase requires the redecoration of the apartment.

The stylized scenes, using many flat figures cut from wood, also include a gaily-men's barber salon, "Mame's" bedroom, the "Unson" patio the Schubert Theatre and a New York street scene.

Miss Dally researched the 1920's and 1930's for about two weeks before getting down to the task of preliminary design. She also studied the script of "Mame" to get the feel of the characters' personalities.

Her biggest problem right now is trying to find a quantity of silver Christmas tinsel and figuring out a way for a fire breathing dragon to breathe fire.

She said, however, that things are "going great" and sets should be complete well ahead of schedule.

Bald Eagles Congregate In Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — More than 100 bald eagles, the U.S. national emblem, are congregated once more on the shores of Lake Pend Oreille near Sandpoint to scavenge hordes of spawned-out kokanee salmon.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department said today scores of other migrant eagles are gathered at the lake, and lesser numbers are seen at other points around Idaho.

Ray Rogers, Coeur d'Alene regional game manager of the department, said that several of the big eagles with white-feathered heads and tails, can be seen roosting at the same time on a dead snag, and numerous feeding eagles can be seen along the shoreline and in the air.

Holiday

FREEMONT, Ill. (UPI) — The 250 students of St. Mary's Elementary School took a holiday Monday while the school's six teachers lay in bed with the flu and the principal recuperated from the measles.

The teachers and principal became ill over the weekend and may not be able to return for one or two days.

Pair Fined In Sale Of 50 Buses

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dale W. Barratt, 57, former general manager of the Los Angeles Rapid Transit District, and Raymond W. Gareau, 43, former district operations manager, were fined $1,000 each in a case involving sale of 50 surplus buses.

The two men had pleaded "no contest" to the conflict of interest charges.

Nelmer Barratt, of Murray, Utah, nor Gareau, of Falmouth, Mass., were placed on probation when they were fined Jan. 30. Maximum penalty could have been five years in prison.

In addition to the fine Barratt was ordered to pay $7,218 costs of investigation in the case. Barratt and Gareau were accused of having an intermediary buy the surplus buses from the transit district in their behalf with money they supplied.

The Southern California Rapid Transit district sold the buses for $110,000.

In 1968 the buses were sold to Interstate Warehousing Service Co. of Chicago for $2,200 each. The real purchaser was Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. of Boston, the prosecution claimed.

Deputy District Attorney Robert P. Interson said that at the time of the sale Barratt and Gareau were officers of the Boston company.

Committee Backs Bill On Blood Giving

BOISE (UPI) — A measure that would permit 18-year-olds to donate blood without parental consent was endorsed Monday by the House's Health and Welfare Committee.

At the present time age limit for the donors, who do not have written permission of parents or guardians, is 21.

The committee also gave a do pass recommendation to a measure that relieves mortuary operators from any liability when collecting blood samples from victims in fatal traffic accidents. Morticians are required to collect such samples under an act of the 1969 Legislature.

Ex-Nazi Aide To Have Visitor

BERLIN (UPI) — Former Nazi deputy Rudolf Hess receives his second family visit in 20 years Monday, but only his 32-year-old son was able to make it.

Frau Ilse Hess, 68-year-old wife of the last wartime Nazi leader remaining in jail, was prevented by heavy snowfall from flying from Munich to West Berlin for the afternoon visit.

FOOD ORDER UPHOLD DALLAS (UPI) — U.S. District Judge W. M. Taylor Jr. has refused to stay a Dec. 30 order that the U.S. Department of Agriculture must establish food assistance programs in Texas counties that do not operate their own programs.
