Nixon Renounces Use Of Disease Agents In War

By EUGENE V. RISHER

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon Saturday renounced the use of disease-producing toxins as weapons of warfare.

He took the step, White House sources said, in hopes of demonstrating his sincerity about controlling the arms race and methods of mass destruction.

Under new presidential orders, existing military programs for producing toxins will be confined to research on immunization techniques and medical therapy.

Two facilities now producing the incapacitating and frequently deadly agents at Pine Bluff, Ark., and Fort Detrick, Md., will be converted to other, nonclassified uses. Existing stocks, except for small amounts needed for immunization research, will be destroyed.

"These decisions have been taken with full confidence they are in accord with the overall security requirements of the United States," the White House announcement said.

The new policy is "another significant step to bring about arms control and to increase the prospects of peace," it said, "expressed in the fact that other nations will follow our example."

The new renunciation, in effect, extends the general prohibitions against chemical and biological warfare, proclaimed by President Nixon, 25, to a category of destructive agents not specifically covered in the earlier statements.

Although never used by this or any other country, toxins like chemical agents in modern arsenals of terror do not have the capacity of other biological agents of producing and are not transferable from one person to another. Snake venom and food

Contempt Terms Levied As Trial Goes To Jury

sent the marathon riot conspiracy trial of the "Chicago Seven" to a jury Saturday and then, amidst shouting and tumult, began sentencing defendants to stiff jail terms on contempt charges.

Hoffman imposed sentences ranging from two years and five months to eight months on four of the antiwar militants charged with conspiring to incite the riots that tore Chicago during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. He finally declared a recess, but made it plain he would start in again at 10 a.m. CST today in sentencing the remaining three defendants, along with defense attorneys William M. Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass, for "intolerable disruptions, anarchy" during the 20-week-old trial.

While Hoffman handed down his sentences, and while the defendants denounced him from the courtroom floor before being led off to jail, a jury of 10 women and two men deliberated nearby as to defendants' guilt or innocence in what has become one of the most tumultuous and controversial trials in U.S. judicial history.

The day of judgment in the "Chicago Seven" trial was as tumultuous and bitter as any of the many it has seen since it began on Sept. 24.

The uproar began soon after Hoffman commenced reading contempt citations against defendant David T. Dellinger, 33, almost as soon as the jury had left the courtroom.

Dellinger's daughter, Sue, a blonde in her 20s, was led from the courtroom under arrest, sobbing. "Tell my daddy I love him." Other women screamed and wept as protesting spectators were ejected. Ruly U.S. marshals struggled with spectators and defendants trying to keep order.

A dramatic highlight, Kunstler—the chief attorney for chief defense attorney from New York—stood before Hoffman, his arms outstretched, trembling and weeping. "You've destroyed me and everything else," he said. "Kill me, 74-year-old judge. Kill me, send me to jail, do anything you want to. You've destroyed my life."

'Pigeon Pill' Will Shrink Pesky Flocks

SKOKIE, Ill. (UPI)—G.D. Soarle, the company which produced the world's first birth control pill, announced Saturday it has developed a pill which will reduce the pigeon population on the dark continent.

In his call on Kenyatta at his residence at Gatundu, 30 miles from Nairobi, Rogers gave the president a letter from President Nixon praising Kenyatta's leadership and the direction of his country's foreign policy.

Rogers also gave Kenyatta the Kenyan flag which traveled to the moon on the Apollo 11 mission and a mounted sample of moon rock. As a personal gift, Rogers and his wife presented Kenyatta a bush from a new variety of American rose. Kenyatta is a rose lover.

Mrs. Rogers gave Mrs. Kenyatta a set of Navajo Indian jewelry.

Kenyatta, in a spur of the moment gesture, gave Rogers his personal walking stick, a cane covered with red hide which conceals a sword.

Bess Truman Is Greeted On 85th Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Greeting cards, flowers and callers wishing well marked the 85th birthday Friday of Bess Wallace Truman.

"Everything was exactly as it is any other day, except for the birthday cards," a visitor said of the Truman household. "I've no idea of how many, but certainly a lot."

The wife of former President Harry S. Truman spent her day preparing her husband's meals and covering other household chores.

She did break the morning routine to take a brief trip out of their old Victorian mansion. She was asked if it would be "impertinent" to inquire where she went.

Arson Blamed For Fire Killing Seven

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—

Arson was blamed Saturday for the fire in a Jewish Community Center that took the lives of seven residents of an old peoples home in the building. An Israeli Embassy spokesman in Bonn accused Arabs of setting the blaze.

The fire broke out Friday night in a six-story tower after completion of a religious service on one of the lower floors and rapidly spread up to the top floor of the six-story structure, trapping the elderly victims in their rooms there.

Four of the victims were found in the hall a few steps from their rooms. The charred bodies of two others were found in their rooms and one 71-year-old man was killed when he jumped from a fourth floor window.

The more fortunate found their way to safety through a rear stairway.

Munich officials posted a reward of $20,000 for information leading to the arrest of the individuals who set the blaze. Federal Interior Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher said it was the largest reward ever offered in West Germany.

Munich Police Chief Manfred Schreier said a 4 1/2 gallon gasoline can was found on a staircase near the spot where the fire broke out between the fourth and fifth floors.

Rogers Swaps Gifts With Africa Chief

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers Saturday traded a variety of gifts with President Jomo Kenyatta and watched a performance by tribal dancers at Kenyatta's country home in the African bush.

Rogers, who arrived in Nairobi Friday night, planned a work-and-play weekend that will include a trip to the wild game preserves of Tsavo National Park where thousands of elephants, zebra, giraffe and rhino roam.

Kenya is the fourth stop on Rogers' 10-nation African tour, a mission designed to strengthen relations between the United States and friendly nations on the dark continent.

In his call on Kenyatta at his residence at Gatundu, 30 miles from Nairobi, Rogers gave the president a letter from President Nixon praising Kenyatta's leadership and the direction of his country's foreign policy.

Rogers also gave Kenyatta the Kenyan flag which traveled to the moon on the Apollo 11 mission and a mounted sample of moon rock. As a personal gift, Rogers and his wife presented Kenyatta a bush from a new variety of American rose. Kenyatta is a rose lover.

Pheasant Makes Fatal Landing On Transformer

An ill-fated pheasant caused a power outage for more than 100 Idaho Power Co. customers for the 104 customers with Sunday morning when it tried to land on a transformer at the sub-station in the Artesian district.

Larry Hall, power company official, said service was resumed for the 104 customers within an hour by switching to other sub-stations. Repair work at the Artesian sub-station was expected to take the rest of the day.

When the bird attempted its suicidal landing, it created a short which burned up the wires

Passengers Of Airline Return Home

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Thirty passengers of a hijacked South Korean airliner returned to loved ones Saturday after spending 65 days in detention in Communist North Korea. Twelve others, including the crew, remained in North Korea along with the plane.

The returning South Koreans, some crying and others singing their national anthem, arrived in Seoul at 7:50 p.m., two hours after their release at the truce village of Panmunjom.

The plane was commandeered last Dec. 11 while on a regular flight from Kangnung to Seoul. North Korea said the plane was flown to its territory by the pilot and copilot who chose to defect. South Korea denied this, charging the plane was stolen and the people aboard it kidnapped.

The pilot and copilot and two stewardesses did not return and North Korea said other passengers "firmly decided not to return to South Korea where the people are suffering from exploitation and oppression and poverty under the military fascist-terror rule of the U.S. imperialists and their stooges."

The returning group, consisting of 23 men and six women, arrived at Panmunjom and boarded buses for the trip to Seoul after brief turnover ceremonies.

Five Magic Valley area livestockmen will be named to the Southern Idaho Livestock Hall of Fame Monday evening for their contribution to the livestock industry.

The five will be honored at the Hall of Fame banquet, set for 7:30 p.m. in the Ponderosa Inn.

These five men will join the 58 who have been honored in the 10 years since the awards were first made.

Master of ceremonies during the banquet, attended by several hundred, will be Dr. Roy Thompson, Burley veterinarian. Dale Shelby, Burley LDS Stake high council member, will give the invocation.

Tickets for the banquet will be available at the door Monday evening.

Salmon To Get Federal Grant

SALMON (UPI)—The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration has approved $41,220 federal grant to Salmon for use in construction of its new sewage treatment system.

Mayor William Cannon said he has been notified by the agency a Seattle office that the city must install a chlorinator in the sewage lagoons now being constructed downstream from the city. The chlorinator was not required in the original plans approved before the city began construction on the project.

Andrus-Backed Mining Bill Survives Senate Veto Move

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI)—An obvious attempt to try and kill Sen. Cecil Andrus' bill to prohibit dredge mining in the federal scenic and wild rivers system was beaten back in the state Senate today.

"The matter never came to a vote," Sen. John Peavy, R-Rupert, moved to reconsider the proposal and the upper chamber found itself tied up with a 30 minute "call of the Senate" with the legislators literally locked in the chamber while the Sergeant at arms tried to round up the absentees.

Only two were missing when the bill was lifted—Sen. Wayne Kidwell R-Boise, and Sen. Robert Rowett, R-Mountain Home. Several others, however, had been excused for the day and it was decided to hold the motion for reconsideration until Monday.

The dredge mining proposal was approved 18-15 Friday by the Senate with four Republicans joining 15 Democrats voting for the bill.

Kidwell and Rowett were two of the four Republicans that favored the proposal.

The bill would apply only to dredge mining and specifically would put the prohibition on portions of the Clearwater, Lost and Selway, Middle Fork of the Salmon River.

Meantime, the legislators in another weekend session, received several new bills and acted on a few more.

A proposal was introduced in the Senate through the Finance Committee creating a property tax relief fund in the state treasury. It provides for the payment of moneys into the fund and handles appropriations from it to owners of homes by reducing ad valorem taxes.

The proposal is designed to eliminate the state surplus which becomes a major issue each legislative session.

The House, meantime, approved 50-0 and sent to the Senate a bill that would exempt a school district from the minimum local levy under the foundation program if imposing it would put the district in conflict with HB304.

Rep. R. Dee Merrill, D-Elk River, the author of the measure, said under the present law there is a conflict between the 25 mill minimum levy and the four per cent revenue increase restrictions. This, he said, would resolve that conflict.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee introduced a so-called "back up" bill to proposed increase limitation which is up for debate in the House Monday. This one would substitute a referendum for a percentage limitation. Salary increases were proposed for Supreme Court Justices, district judges, county prosecutors and county commissioners in other legislation submitted to the House.

Pay of Supreme Court Justices would be boosted to $2,000 from the present $2,000 minimum and that of district judges to $24,500 from the present base of $16,500. The bill also would delete provisions for annual increments to the judges.

Cong Recruit Boys As Sabotage Aides

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong saboteurs operating in Saigon are recruiting high school youths for terror attacks, allied sources reported Saturday. Assassination squads also were reported to have infiltrated the South Vietnamese capital.

Only scattered fighting was reported across South Vietnam Sunday as North Vietnam's main military effort concentrated in Laos where the strategic Plain of Jars was threatened by thousands of Communist troops.

Sources reporting the Saigon infiltration said two battalions of Viet Cong commandos—a force of about 200 men—were enlisting teenagers below the 17-year-old draft age because of the youths are less likely to be stopped by police of identity checks.

Last Nov. 22, the sources noted, two small boys pushed a cart loaded with explosives in front of a U.S. officers' quarters in the Chinese district of Cholon. No one was injured in the blast but one 94-pound plastic jar in the cart failed to detonate.

Since Jan. 1, terrorist explosions have struck at least two other U.S. military billets in Saigon and last Sunday a bomb wrecked part of the National Press Center.

Airlines Is Named In Suit For $500,000

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A $500,000 suit has been filed against United Air Lines by two men who were injured in 1968 when a 727 jet skidded off a runway while landing at Salt Lake Airport.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court Friday on behalf of former Utah Secretary of State Lamont Tornato and Ned Hyde of Ogden.

The suit, valued at $250,000 for each man, both claimed they suffered injuries in the mishap. According to the suit, the plane landed short of the runway on June 8, 1968, and then skidded off the runway while making a turn.

The suit alleged the airline failed to operate and control the runway adequately in respect and maintain it, landed at a speed too fast, for conditions of the runway, failed to slow the aircraft properly, touched down too far from the beginning of the runway, misjudged the speed of the plane while turning off the runway and failed to use the plane's brakes properly.

Meanwhile, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., a Negro, wrote an open letter to Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., urging rejection of the nomination.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Griffin is a member, meets in closed session Monday to consider the nomination, and it was anticipated the panel would vote to recommend Senate confirmation.

At the same time, the committee also was expected to set a definite date for a vote on a constitutional amendment substituting direct election of the president for the Electoral College system. This and the Andrus appointment were tied together procedurally.

Carswell Foes Gird For Vote

By ROY MCGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both backers and opponents of Judge G. Harold Carswell now have their feet planted on a campaign to their campaigns Saturday leading up to resumption of confirmation hearings Monday.

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., counsel for the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, worked on a case-by-case analysis of Carswell's opinions in the civil rights field during his 11 years on the federal district and circuit courts.

Rauh already has accused Carswell of anti-civil rights bias in the past and under the new review after Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., issued his own analysis which he said showed Carswell was a "middle of the road" in the field.

Carswell supporter, Assistant Attorney General William H. Rehnquist, wrote the Washington Post in a letter published Saturday taking issue with the newspaper's editorials opposing the nomination on civil rights grounds.

Rehnquist, maintaining that Carswell's constitutional ideas should be weighed on the broad range of his decisions, wrote: "The extent to which his judicial decisions in civil rights cases fail to measure up to the standards of the Post are traceable to an overall constitutional conservatism" rather than to any animus directed only at civil rights cases or civil rights litigants."

Meanwhile, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., a Negro, wrote an open letter to Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., urging rejection of the nomination.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Griffin is a member, meets in closed session Monday to consider the nomination, and it was anticipated the panel would vote to recommend Senate confirmation.

Court Gives Schools Right Of Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court has left local school boards a lot of leeway for handling as best they see fit any problems of student racial imbalance arising from housing patterns.

Busing, rezoning and the pairing of white and Negro schools are some of the most common ways of achieving a system having the races about equal.

Negro parents have tried to force such moves while parents have fought them. In neither situation has the high court stepped in.

Several cases came up in the 1960's but none was accepted for review. The whole legal area was left in the hands of lower federal courts and state courts.

If Los Angeles decides to appeal the Feb. 11 desegregation ruling of state Superior Court Judge Alfred E. Gitelson, the court may finally address itself to "de facto" (in fact) discrimination as distinguished from "de jure"—the kind imposed by law.

Shrugging off the niceties of this distinction, Gitelson ordered an integration plan by June 1 for the city's 555 schools. A somewhat similar ruling by Circuit Judge J. Skelly Wright involving District of Columbia Schools has never been appealed.

Firefighters Battle Flames In Oil Field

VENICE, La. (UPI)—A Houston firefighting crew and oil company workers assembled equipment Saturday for an attempt to put out a fire consuming the output of 12 oil wells in the Gulf of Mexico.

The fire was thought to be the biggest Gulf of Mexico petroleum fire in history. The biggest previous gulf fire was in 1958, when a well belonging to the Continental Oil Co. burned.

While Paul "Red" Adair's firefighting crew prepared its equipment, a floating offshore platform was being towed to the scene of the fire from Venice. The fire is about 30 miles from Venice.

War Veteran To Get Car Sans 'Wheel'

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—(UPI)—A California war veteran, severely crippled by Viet Cong bullets, soon will be breezing around in a sporty car with no hands on the steering wheel.

An Hollywood, Fla., inventor, who spends his life figuring out ways for cripples like himself to get around, has equipped a Mustang with a control device which looks much like the throttle stick on an outboard motor.

"The Veterans Administration asked me if I could help this young man out," said Monroe A. Lemman. "He lost his left shoulder and the use of his lower extremities, but he wants to drive a car again. So I came up with this idea to operate a car without touching the steering wheel or pedals."

The invention is being shipped to Charles Baldwin, 20, of Long Beach, Calif., with instructions how to mount it on his car. It will enable him to operate the car with only his right hand.

"You pull the lever to accelerate, push to brake and hit the hand grip to steer," explained Lemman, a paraplegic since birth who is confined to a wheelchair. "A switch on the control handle operates the high-low light beams and still another controls the directional lights."

The device is not the first invention for Lerman, who has a complete laboratory and workshop at his home. He has patents on several others, including a wheelchair that will climb stairs, a foldable wheelchair, and another hand-operated driving control for automobiles.

Crews Search Mountains For Youth

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (UPI)—Nearly 200 searchers, aided by dogs trained to seek mountain slopes, combed the rugged terrain of the Great Smokies Saturday in a last ditch effort to find a 16-year-old explorer scout, missing since last Sunday.

Unless some trace of the missing youth, Geoffrey Hogue, is found this weekend, the search will be cut back drastically until the warmer spring weather melts the deep snows that now choke the mountains.

Helicopters from Ft. Bragg, N.C., spent the day ferrying supplies to support the search forces, and trail dogs were brought in from across the nation to aid in the effort.

Three dogs and their handlers were brought from the Washington State Search and Rescue Service at Seattle, and rangers said these dogs, trained in avalanche work, represented one of the best remaining chances of finding the boy.

As he has been everywhere his son became lost, William Hogue, was at the search scene Saturday, keeping constant check with rangers and helicopter pilots for any word on the boy.

Young Hogue, who recently moved to Morristown, Tenn., from Charleston, W.Va., with his family, became separated last Sunday from three hiking companions and was swallowed up in a matter of minutes in the dense mountain wilderness that surrounds this southern ski resort.

Dr. Barnard Takes Wife In Italy

ROME (UPI)—Dr. Christian Barnard, the pioneer heart transplant surgeon, arrived in Rome Saturday night with his 19-year-old Valentine Day bride to begin their honeymoon in the land where their romance flowered.

Barnard, 47, and the former Barbara Zoellner, a Johannesburg socialite he wooed on the Isle of Ischia, were married on their arrival at the airport.

National police had to form a human barricade to get the Barnards' silver gray limousine through a crowd of more than 100 photographers.

"It is worse than any president that ever arrived," one policeman said.

The couple plan to fly to New York and then visit Norway, Lebanon and Switzerland on a combination business trip and honeymoon. They are expected back in South Africa in mid-March and will settle in Cape Town where Barnard works at the Groote Schuur Hospital.

They were married Saturday at 15 minutes after midnight at the strictly guarded Johannesburg home of the bride's father, German-born oil magnate Frederick Zoellner.

It was Barnard's second marriage. The 47-year-old surgeon's first marriage ended after 21 years last August when Louwille Barnard, whom he once described as the "co-architect" of his success, divorced him on grounds of desertion.

Report of a romance with his new wife began in May when he visited her family while they vacationed on the Isle of Ischia in the Bay of Naples. Barnard's first wife had sued for divorce several days before in Cape Town.

Cassia Aides Study Plans About Roads

BURLEY—Cassia county commissioners are studying a proposal to raise the mill levy next year to improve 92 miles of county roads in the Almo and Elba area.

Blaire Egan, Wesley B. Ward, Roscoe Ward, Dwayne Ward and Wallace Taylor laid commission last week that very little work has been done on the roads the past few months. They recommended that the two highway employees hired by the county be placed on an hourly wage and required to turn in a worksheet to the commission.

They also proposed raising the mill levy to obtain more money for improvement of the roads in the area which are not in an organized highway district.

John Clark, commission chairman, said the county planning commission which was organized last year to make an inventory of the county's resources, met with commissioners and reported sub-committees have been formed and are working on various interest areas.

The committees include Howard Conrad, Dale Shelby and John Adams, chairman. Compiling the data into a useable report was discussed.

Famed Train Meets Doom In ICC Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Friday certified the death of the famed California Zephyr passenger train with an order allowing the train to be discontinued.

In an 8-1 vote, the ICC said the Western Pacific Railroad could discontinue the Zephyr between San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

The ICC also said the Denver, Rio Grande and Western must continue operation of the middle section of the Zephyr between Salt Lake and Denver on a three-times-a-week basis.

The third section of the Zephyr is operated by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad between Chicago and Denver. But the Burlington has made no request to discontinue its leg of the Zephyr.

The ICC also ruled on the Southern Pacific's request to trim service from a daily train to three-times-a-week. The train runs from San Francisco to Ogden, Utah along a route closely parallel to the Zephyr.

The Southern Pacific was required to keep the City of San Francisco on a three-day-week schedule that would provide for an interchange of passengers at either Ogden or Salt Lake City to pick up westbound passengers from the Chicago Zephyr.

VFW Urges Dismissal Of Charges

A letter asking that all charges against Lt. William Calley and others accused in the My Lai incident in South Vietnam has been signed by the commander of the Twin Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars post and is now on its way to national headquarters for approval.

Ray Crandal, post commander, said the letter has received approval at department headquarters in Boise.

He said, "We who have fought in past wars are also on 'trial.' There are no 'civilians' in that war zone, and in fact who is the enemy? If the charges are to continue against these men, then we should also charge former President Harry Truman and all bomber pilots with mass murder."

He said it is his stand that the charges should be dropped or the government should file charges against all men in the VFW who have been in similar acts of war.

Mr. Crandal said if the letter is given approval at the national level it could bring mass support for Lt. Calley and others charged in the My Lai incident.

"After all, there are several million Americans today that have fought for this country and many of them have been in similar circumstances," he said.

Viet Commander Says U. S. Will Provide War Aid

DA NANG, South Vietnam (UPI)—One of the top U.S. commanders in Vietnam said Saturday the United States will have to provide a "certain level of support" for South Vietnam's troops as long as the war continues.

He also indicated the withdrawal of American troops will not be hasty but in line with battle activity and the capability of government forces to take over from U.S. troops under President Nixon's program of Vietnamization.

The forecasts were given by Lt. Gen. Herman Hickerson Jr., commanding general of the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force. He is in charge of 130,000 American troops in the five northernmost provinces known as I Corps directly below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

Scouts Challenge Mayor To Involve Them In Community

In observance of the 60th anniversary of the organization of the Boy Scouts of America, four local members presented a "1970 Report" to Mayor Frank Feldtman, thanking the city and citizens of Twin Falls for support of the Scouting program here.

Participating in the ceremony on behalf of the local organization were Boyd Wilmoth and Kendall Glead, Cub Scouts, and David Shorthouse and John Crockett, Scouts.

The report advised Mayor Feldtman there are 535 Cub Scouts, ages 8 through 10, and 509 Boy Scouts, aged 11 through 18, and 180 Explorer Scouts, through age 18, in Twin Falls.

"We hope you and the rest of the community will join us in the celebration by helping us thank the many adults who have helped make Scouting possible by taking the role of an active citizenship training and physical fitness."

"As Scouts, we would ask you to involve us in the community by giving us the opportunity to help make Twin Falls a better place to live. Challenge us with some meaningful projects that will improve the safety and appearance of the community," the report read in part.

Similar "reports" are being made throughout the nation this week in honor of Boy Scout Week. Gov. Don Samuelson and President Richard Nixon are among those who will receive Boy Scout reports for 1970.

A cup decorated with the Boy Scout insignia was presented Mayor Feldtman.

Heyburn To Participate In Joint Nuclear Power Plan

HEYBURN — Heyburn City Council passed a resolution Wednesday night to participate in a joint venture to construct and operate a 1,100,000 kilowatt nuclear fueled power generating plant.

The nuclear facility to be located in the Grays Harbor area in the State of Washington, will cost an estimated $235,000,000.

According to Mayor Harold Hurst, several other utilities in Southern Idaho have also approved a resolution to participate in the proposed power generating complex. He said this plant and six other steam generating facilities will be needed to provide additional power for the electrical load growth of the region.

"As a result of planning implementation of the region-wide power program," he said, "we will be able to fulfill the requirements of our customers."

Mayor Hurst reported an additional benefit to the City of Heyburn, a municipally operated utility, is for the financial arrangement for participation in the nuclear power plant.

He explained that "we will pay our share of the construction and operating costs monthly as a part of our power payment to the BPA, and means that we won't have to invest capital funds in the venture."

The City of Heyburn has hired the engineering firm of C.H.2M, Corvallis, Ore., to do a survey of the city's electric system.

In other business, councilmen passed a motion to draw up an ordinance to allow sale of beer on Sunday in Heyburn. According to city records, the sale of beer on Sunday in Heyburn was discontinued after an ordinance was drawn up against it Dec. 31, 1955.

A sprinkling system for the city park, ball park and McBride Addition park will be purchased at a cost of $4,000. This improvement will be installed under the supervision of Fred Dayley, councilman over parks and recreation.

Earl Rose presented a report on a meeting he attended with county officials concerning land fill. Mayor Hurst was assigned to meet with county committee on Saturday to work out a solution for a future land fill.

Willford Wilcox met with the council consisting of a x i o u s weeds, and K. N. Doran of Idaho Gas, discussed the city changing city vehicles to using propane, with no action taken by the council on either request.

Highlight of the meeting, according to councilmen, was an official visit by representatives of area scouter under the direction of George Plew, scoutmaster. Denn Black spoke on scouting in the council room in a pledge to the flag, upon request of Mayor Hurst. Also representing the Scouts were George Plew Jr. and Tony DeMare.

Twice, in the immediate past, the Times-News has advocated young people take a more active part in affairs of community government.

It's a great idea. It would be good practice for a bright future so far as the youngsters are concerned and it just might give the oldsters, usually found in places of authority, a free idea or two.

Those Diamonds

Synthetic diamonds selling for a few dollars a pound instead of hundreds of dollars per karat? That is the prediction of a team of California scientists which claims to have developed a method of synthesizing white carbon into a substance with the appearance and qualities of a diamond.

physicists report they have been successful in fusing and pressing the substance into various shapes and sizes, which of course cannot be done with natural diamonds.

Ben Franklin

In the tempo of modern existence too little attention is given to great Americans of another day, their lives and achievements. One of these, whose natal day is little observed, is Benjamin Franklin.

his life was lived under the British crown — he was 70 when the Revolutionary War began — but he is best remembered for the roles he filled in those days when a new nation was being born.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Radicalizing The Radicals

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Chanting power struggles are corroding the effectiveness of the much vaunted Palestine liberation organizations, thus justifying Israel's conviction that there is little but pin-pricks to fear from the feckless commandos.

Fragmentation of viciously competing liberation outfits is partly the result of political radicalization. Arafat's El Fatah, for example, began with a single non-ideological goal — regaining Arab homeland in Palestine by driving Israel out.

Accordingly, while Arafat's commandos concentrate on raids across the borders of Israel to drive Israel out of the territories captured in the 1967 war, Habbas' PFLP proselytizes tens of thousands of Palestinian refugees in their camps here in Lebanon, preaching social revolution.

Competition between these two organizations for the hearts and minds of the refugees is intense. With the government itself totally excluded from any control inside the refugee camps (which contain some 90,000 of the total 230,000 Palestinian refugees in the Lebanon), competing organizers for the PFLP and Al Salqa run the camps like extraterrestrial enclaves.

ing with the liberation movement, so typical of the founding fathers, prevents the Arab countries themselves from forming a workable alliance, is one more reason why Israel continues to hold all the important cards in the Middle East today.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Utterly Odious

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In a midwestern city, a high school teenager was hospitalized to be treated for an addictive drug (not heroin). Evidently cured, back in school, he was given a sports new car for his birthday by his happy parents.

Back to the Midwest, to a fair-sized university. A lovely young girl, a top-notch student but plainly capable of being captivated by imaginative teaching, tossed in the towel early in her second year. She eloped with an earnest young man in a modest town who had to be college because he is his mother's sole support.

Her experience, as told to me, was that a disconcertingly large proportion of her female college mates were, at worst, petty thieves — and, at best, grossly and continuously incontinent in their day-to-day personal dealing with her and others.

Well now, Nixon's TV appearances may be both "interesting" and "political" but they are hardly a phenomenon. Lyndon Johnson, John Kennedy and Dwight Eisenhower used the tube whenever they had something important to say, or wanted to take a poke at the opposition, or simply score political points.

do not downrate Richard Nixon as a politician. He may be the most skillful of the breed since FDR. But after all, he assumed the prerogatives and privileges of the Presidency when he won the election. This may sadden many able and decent Democrats, but it doesn't mean Hubert Humphrey should be granted equal time.

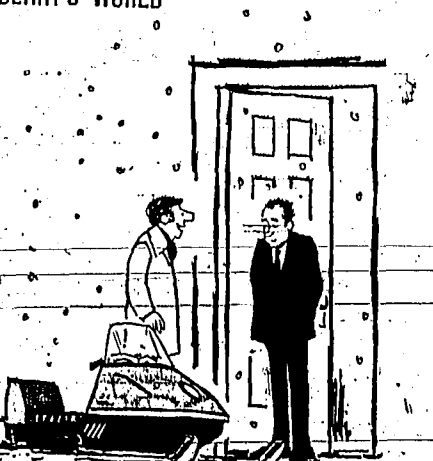

Well, Mr. Brewer writes that he remembers two of the "last" passengers real well. Namely Gladys Stricker and Lars Larsen. "We too were pioneers," he writes. "We came across on the stage from Shoshone on February 18, 1905. There was sagebrush all over the place where the City of Twin Falls was growing up."

Senate Endorses Bill To Halt Electrical Power 'Pirating'

By PAUL M. QUINN
BOISE (UPI)—The state Senate, by a 28-6 margin, passed and sent to the House a measure to curtail the state's electric service "anti-pirating" bill. "This bill," Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Reburg, said, "actually gives the user the right of choice—the only resistance is because some think that the small cop will be the losers."

Constitution Introduced To Senators

BOISE (UPI)—The proposed new constitution for the State of Idaho was introduced in the state Senate Friday, a measure being only slightly from the one proposed by a revision commission that studied the matter for two years. The bill was thrown before the Senate by a bi-partisan study committee from the Senate that agreed to take over the proposal.

HHH Offers Challenge On Weapons

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey challenged President Nixon Friday to call an immediate halt to testing and development of new weapons systems. Arms control is the most pressing issue before the nation, Humphrey said, and there can be little hope of success at the upcoming talks with the Soviet Union in Vienna unless multiple state officials with the governor and lieutenant-governor running as a team.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lester G. Maddox Friday asked the Supreme Court to overrule the Georgia Constitution so he can run to succeed himself as governor. Maddox asked the court to declare unconstitutional the provision in the Georgia Constitution which limits governors to one four-year term. In a document submitted to the court, he asked it to schedule arguments on his case.

North Idaho Representative Objects To Inaction Of Legislative Committees

BOISE (UPI)—Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coner d'Alene, registered strong objections Friday to an increasing tendency of legislative committees to send out letters of intent instead of legislation. Haakenson raised his objection during discussion of a possible letter of legislative intent to clarify certain provisions of a tax limitation law passed last year and up for amendment this year.

Tanker Spews Crude Oil Into Bay

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—A Greek tanker ran aground in an early morning fog Friday and spewed thousands of gallons of crude oil into the placid, normally blue waters of Tampa Bay. The ever widening oil slick—some two miles in diameter at nightfall—threatened beaches on both sides of the bay. But the Coast Guard—blasted some earlier fears and said it appeared St. Petersburg beaches and a yacht club might be spared from the slimy oil slick.

The spillage happened when the 691-foot tanker Delian Apollo ran aground near the No. 10 storage tank ruptured. The tanker was refloated in little more than an hour. Oil continued to bubble from the tank late in the day, but Coast Guard officials said the oil was being kept from spilling into the bay. A late afternoon wind shift raised the possibility that part of the oil might find its way into the MacDill Air Force Base area in south Tampa. The Coast Guard was trucking in sand to plug the hole. The oil was to be used in a slurry to be used in skimming the larger blotches of oil from the water but it was not expected to arrive until late Friday and its effectiveness was limited by darkness.

He said he did not think it was right for a committee to send out a letter of intent to which all lawmakers have not subscribed. "I think the entire legislature should have a hand in it," Haakenson said. Philip Peterson, an attorney who advises the Committee on Revenue and Taxation, said such letters when properly filed with the legislature—serve—as aids to the court in interpreting laws. He said the proper way is to file the committee report with the bill so that all legislators have a chance to read and consider the report before voting on the bill. That way, he said, the courts could read into the action a legislative intent on grounds the lawmakers had considered this construction in voting for the bill. Haakenson and Rep. William Onweller, R-Boise, pointed out that sometimes committee reports are sent out without being read by all legislators. Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, who successfully moved that no letters of intent go out from the tax committee unless there is a majority and official report, said he felt it was wrong for a committee chairman simply to send a letter directly to an administrative agency. He said this is a substitute sometimes for the debate that should occur should the legislature write such material into a bill for consideration of the entire legislature. The bill to amend the tax limitation law—by raising the lid on local revenue increases from property taxes from four to 5.5 per cent a year and exempting certain items from the

W. W. Frantz Appointed To New Public Relations Post For Easter Seal Society

W. W. (Franchy) Frantz, former Twin Falls postmaster, has been named public relations and activities chairman for the Idaho Easter Seal Society. It was announced today.

Mr. Frantz has been a state Easter Seal delegate for several years. His duties are now, created by the State Board of Delegates in an effort to explain the operations of the society and to coordinate the raising of funds.

Mr. Frantz is a veteran of World War I and has been a member of the American Legion for 50 years. He retired several years ago after 43 years with the Post Office Department, 14 years as postmaster.

He is active with the Boy Scouts and has received the Silver Beaver award and has worked with the United Fund and the Red Cross.

The Idaho Easter Seal Society maintains Camp Easter Seal in cooperation with Washington State University. It is located on the shores of Lake Coeur d'Alene and is designed to give the crippled child a chance to have a normal camping experience. The total cost per child at two weeks at camp is about $112. The fee to the camper is $47.50, but this is usually waived, Mr. Frantz said, as campships are given to the Society by fraternal and civic groups and are usually enough to take care of the major part of the camp expenses. Children from Twin Falls went to camp last year, he said.

The Idaho Society also maintains five speech and hearing centers in Idaho Falls, Twin Falls, Boise, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene. Kindergarten classes are held in Twin Falls and Boise to allow handicapped children to correct speech defects before entering first grade.

There is also a direct case program where wheelchairs, crutches, braces and other orthopedic devices are made available to those who need them. The Society often pays for transportation to medical centers if medical facilities are not available locally.

The case program chairman in Twin Falls is Mrs. E. P. Messner, 815 Fairway Drive.

THE CALIFORNIA STATE PRISON at San Quentin, near San Francisco, is one of more than a score of U.S. prisons that are over 100 years old. Established in 1852, the prison was designed to house 2,700 men, but presently houses 4,600. Half of the men released from San Quentin are back within five years.

Everybody's Failure: American Penology (1) Sweeping Overhaul Of American Prisons Is Sought By Presidential Commission

1. President Proposes Sweeping Changes (With Picture-Old-Timer)

Editor's Note: The U.S. Corrections system has been described as erratic, uncoordinated and confused. President Nixon has proposed a 10-year prison reform system to change that, but there are differences of opinion on what should and can be done. This is the first of six articles exploring the history of national and state programs for incarceration and rehabilitation since Revolutionary War days.

By ROBERT BETTS
Copyist News Service

A sweeping overhaul of the erratic, uncoordinated and confused system under which criminals are confined and treated in America will be attempted under a 10-year prison reform program called for by President Nixon.

The present corrections system, as the President has emphasized, clearly is failing to rehabilitate most prisoners.

No one, from the President on down, expects to find immediate solutions to a sweeping problem which one corrections official calls "everybody's failure," extending far beyond penal institutions. It is a hodgepodge system which daily must accommodate a half million criminals accused of everything from petty theft to murder.

The number of repeat offenders is a major dilemma. Statistics show that nearly half of all those released from prison arrive back inside sooner or later for another crime, often more serious than the one which put them there in the first place.

Crime rose 120 per cent in the last decade, and much of it was committed by repeating offenders, known to prison authorities as recidivists.

Eight out of 10 offenders sampled in recent Federal Bureau of Investigation study had at least one prior arrest. Seven of 10 had a prior conviction. Of those charged with burglary, auto theft or armed robbery, between 50 and 70 per cent had been arrested two or more times in the preceding seven years.

The President said a nation as resourceful as the United States should not tolerate a record of such failure in its correctional institutions.

The reform plan calls for the establishment of a task force to make recommendations on a unified corrections system. Other recommendations now being worked on include:

1. Exploration of the feasibility of pooling resources of several governmental units—federal, state and county—to set up specialized treatment facilities;

2. Federal assistance to states and localities in developing parole and probation programs and other alternatives to incarceration;

3. Replacement of local jails with a comprehensive, community-oriented facility which would bring together a variety of detention efforts, adult and juvenile court diagnostic services and treatment programs;

4. Development of programs for juvenile offenders, who make up a third of all those under correctional treatment;

5. A major new research effort by the Justice Department into better methods of rehabilitation;

6. Coordination of all federal correctional programs by the U. S. attorney general.

The subject of prison reform has long been debated among sociologists, psychologists, criminologists, lawyers, politicians, police, prison and other government officials.

There have been hearings, investigations and official reports. Some grim pictures have been painted of confinement in the United States.

Many suggestions for improvement have been made. Some have been adopted. Others have been delayed for lack of funds, lack of qualified personnel, or lack of agreement on how best to use available resources.

At the root of the controversy is the whole philosophy of penology.

Application for prison reform is inspired not by humane considerations alone. Many reformers feel that recidivism is due as much to present modes of punishment as to any inherent criminal bent. Some contend that confinement in itself, apart from actual physical brutality and other evils which are said to sometimes accompany it, has a demoralizing, brutalizing effect on human beings, thereby increasing antisocial tendencies.

The National Council on Crime and Delinquency has raised such questions as: "Must the offender... be held isolated from society, or may he remain in the community of man? Is punishment still a dominant need of mankind? Does imprisonment deter? Prevent? Correct? Is the convicted criminal so much more dangerous than his nondetected or nonconvicted fellow man?"

The 1967 President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice stated: "The ultimate goal of corrections under any theory is to make the community safer by reducing the incidence of crime."

The fact that this goal seems to be receding rather than approaching, despite increasing emphasis on rehabilitation, has caused some to feel there has been too much "coddling" of criminals and that some criminals are incapable of ever being rehabilitated.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover believes, "Our patient public, ever willing to give a person who has breached our law a 100 percent chance, has had its capacity for patience taxed to the ultimate."

There is the other point of view that modern society itself is to blame for its indifference to a "punitive and repressive" system which only leads to more crimes being committed.

A witness told members of one of the numerous Senate subcommittee hearings on prison conditions that public ignorance and indifference had made "the institutional setting... a prime source of corruption, political intrigue and human degradation."

Despite the poor rehabilitative results, the weight of opinion among prison and crime preventive authorities is for more research and experiment along those lines.

Hoover himself says: "Available crime statistics clearly establish a need for greater social action to prevent and abort more careers in crime, greater

A confidential memo to a national foundation recommending a grant for a study of the U. S. correctional system declared: "Most of the recent attention to the criminal law process has been in the nature of preoccupation with stopping crime and catching convicted criminals. Once a criminal is caught and tried and incarcerated, interest wanes... The general public seems to care little about prisons and prisoners, wrongly assuming that the issues they raise concern only questions of punishment or deterrence."

Dr. Karl Menninger, eminent U. S. psychiatrist and author of "The Crime of Punishment," believes there is a great public apathy to proposals for more intelligent control of crime and rehabilitation of criminals "because we have a persistent, intrusive wish for vengeance."

He argues that detention in prison, which "was supposed to be a modification of the infliction of pain," is often "more cruel and destructive than beating."

In his opinion, "Before we can reduce our self-inflicted sufferings—from ill-controlled aggressive assaults, we must renounce the ancient, obsolete penal attitude in favor of a modern, therapeutic one."

Another well-known expert speaks in defense of punishment. Dr. Ernest von Horn, sociologist, psychoanalyst and author of "The Fabric of Society," says, "People act when positive desire is stronger than the desire to avoid the cost. Accordingly, the crime rate itself rises if—for whatever reason—the impulse to commit crime rises and the average cost imposed by law is not raised with it, or is reduced. The crime rate falls when the impulse to commit crime falls, or the average cost imposed by law is raised."

One-sided emphasis on conditions which are said to produce propensity to crime, and undue neglect of costs to offenders, contribute to an unnecessarily high crime rate, he asserts.

Although he agrees rehabilitation is worth trying, he believes "the best of all rehabilitation programs is not likely to affect the rate of recidivism more than marginally."

Review Of Week's Activities Indicates Middle East War Intensifies In Attack

By DOUG ANDERSON
United Press International

The "twilight war" in the Middle East intensified last week when Israeli jets attacked a scrap-metal plant north of Cairo, killing at least 70 and wounding 49 of its 1,500 civilian employees.

It was the first time Israel had attacked an Egyptian industrial target outside of the Suez Canal zone.

An angry Cairo broadcast blamed the attack on American, calling Israel "the tool of murder in the hands of the imperialist killers of the United States."

U.S. authorities also were quick to censure Israel. The State Department said it "deplored" the attack, and appealed to both sides to heed U.N. cease-fire resolutions. It was considered likely that a decision on Israel's request for more planes would be delayed because of the attack.

Earlier in the week, according to Cairo spokesman, Egyptian forces struck across the Suez Canal, occupied a fortified Israeli position and ambushed an armored column.

Cairo said at least 20 Israelis were killed or wounded and an Israeli plane was shot down. In Munich, three Arabs who apparently had just arrived from Syria bombed a bus and a passenger lounge at the airport, killing one person who was preparing to board an Israeli airliner. Twenty-three persons were wounded.

Around the World:
SAIGON—Enemy gun positions in Cambodia were bombed by U.S. planes after ground fire from the Cambodian side of the border destroyed an American helicopter.

VAL D'ISERE, France—One of the worst avalanches in French history smashed into a student hotel in the Alpine ski resort of Val d'Isere, killing 39 persons and injuring 32. Another avalanche in the same area later in the week claimed the life of a 40th victim.

LONDON—Prince Charles, heir apparent to the British throne, took his seat in the House of Lords with elaborate ceremony. The prince, now 21, may participate in Lords' debates, but in the British tradition of royal neutrality he is expected to steer clear of politics.

SOLDIERS RESCUED
BOZZANO, Italy (UPI)—An avalanche buried 13 Italian Alpine soldiers Friday night but military patrol quickly rescued all of them, army officials said Saturday. Officials said the soldiers escaped serious injuries in the slide that occurred during a night exercise.

JEROME — There were no protesters and only two persons appeared at the open meeting of the Jerome County Commissioners to approve and hear objections to the county budget for 1970.

Watchmaker Eyes Growth Of Old Firm

BY LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Companies aren't made, they're remade."

With this paraphrase of a Broadway maxim about plays, L. Alan Schaeffer explained how he hopes to build the century-old Elgin Watch Co. into a half-billion-dollar a year business.

The company now is called Elgin National Industries, Inc., covering many businesses from luxury yachts to heavy construction. Nevertheless, its watch and clock business is still important under such brand names as Elgin, Heibron, Harwood, Welby and Breyley.

It no longer is the principal industry of the town of Elgin, Ill., as it was for many decades. Its plants are in Switzerland, the Virgin Islands and elsewhere for tax and labor reasons.

Elgin is an interesting company today because of the speed with which Schaeffer and his executive team have remade it.

Consider its recent past. Under a former management, Elgin went from a deficit operation of sales of $27 million in 1959 to sales of $68 million and a substantial profit in 1964, only to start slipping badly the next year. It also ran into factional strife. By 1967, sales were down to $41 million. Then the Schaeffer team took over. Schaeffer came from Revlon but his background was in computer research. He is said to be the first man to come out of computer research to head a $100 million a year company.

Elgin's sales for the current fiscal year will top that.

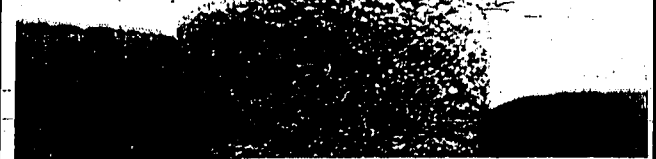

He pursued a philosophy that companies are remade instead of just being made with lightning speed. In only two years he has acquired, among other businesses, Lindsay Plastics of Santa Ana, Calif.; maker of Newport Yachts; Enterprise Yachts, which builds power boats in both Florida and California; the Thompson-Starrett group of construction marketers and The Hinwood clock and electronics business in Chicago.

Schaeffer thinks managerial decisions keyed the rapid turnaround but admits the value of the century-old Elgin name, a symbol of quality in the era of the pocket watch, had a lot to do with it. It helped the company to raise $28 million in fresh equity and debt capital in the fall of 1968 despite the tight money trend and the company's shrinking sales in the immediate past.

"Elgin is a prestigious name," Schaeffer said.

JEROME — The Jerome Civic Club Memorial Library is showing a collection of paintings by Mrs. E. B. Henkelman, Twin Falls. The paintings will be on display at the library during February.

Mrs. Netta Becker, librarian, said this is one of the most interesting displays the library has had for some time.

There are 10 pictures in the group and many different styles and materials have been used. An abstract was a made of pebbles and two pictures were made from glass.

Paintings of Triumph Mine; Copper Basin and Camas Prairie each done with a palette knife.

Mrs. Becker said that Mrs. Henkelman has been asked by the art department at the University of Idaho, Moscow, to show her paintings there April 20.

Education Is Planned On Drug Abuse

BUIH. — A report relating to drug abuse at the Buhl high school has been presented by Frank Charlton, principal, to the school trustees.

He noted that the recent appearance of students in class under the influence of marijuana led to a series of discussions with students and parents.

Through the discussions it was determined that some use of marijuana had taken place during the summer and on weekends.

Approved by the board of trustees, Mr. Charlton recommended that an education program be initiated immediately encompassing the drug problem.

Supt. Rex Engelking noted that a drug abuse education program will be initiated in the Buhl school district in the near future.

In other business trustees: Approved a leave of absence for the second semester at the request of Mrs. Virginia Jeter of completed Mrs. Jeter to complete the school term.

Established Feb. 23 as the date to confer with the negotiations committee from the Buhl Education Association.

Reviewed the contracts of the three Buhl school district principals and re-employed Lee Poppelwell, elementary; Bob Sept, junior high, and Frank Charlton, senior high, for the 1970-71 school term.

Approved the rental of the youth center at $50 per month for storage facilities for the school district.

Beats The Rap

BISHOP, Calif. (UPI) — Things looked tough for Ed Davis, who lives five miles from town and was refused a driver's license because of falling eyesight.

But Davis soon hit upon a way to beat the license requirement as well as fight smog.

He ordered a buggy from Michigan, trained his horse to pull it, and now the Davis rig is a familiar sight in town — with the horse hitched to a parking meter and a sign on the back of the buggy reading "Fight Smog Buy Horses."

New Office Hours Begun For Filer

FILER — Kern Thurman, city clerk, announces new office hours for the Filer city office, effective immediately.

The office now will be open from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Residents wishing to pay water bills when the rest of the month falls on Saturday or Sunday, will be able to pay such bills on the next Monday without penalty.

The 1970 budget for the city has been adopted without protest following a regular budget meeting officials reported.

The council has approved a resolution to form a low income senior citizens housing unit in the town under the provisions of the federal public housing authority. The unit will be similar to those in Buhl, Twin Falls and Jerome.

Following application to the San Francisco office of the housing authority, a community survey in regard to housing needs will be made before final approval of the plans can be made.

Stricter enforcement of the dog leash law which has been in effect for more than a year, is expected this year, according to officials. A fine of not less than $5 and not more than $100 can result from violation of the law. Arrangements are being made to keep impounded dogs and for the satisfactory care of them.

Weber Nips Idaho State In Overtime To Clinch Big Sky League Crown

POCATELLO (UPI) — Weber State all but wrapped up the Big Sky Conference title with a 70-65 overtime win over Idaho State University Saturday night. The victory came behind the 16 second-half points of all-conference guard Sessions. Harlan and some great free-throw shooting.

Weber State withstood a Bengal comeback which saw Idaho State twice knot the score after trailing by seven points.

ISU tied the score at 57 all with five minutes left in the game and tried to work a two-guard defense to set up Willy Humes or O'Neil Simmons for a last second shot but the launch try by Humes fell short and the game went into overtime.

Weber State converted eight of 12 chances in the extra session to win by a basket by Harlan and wrap up the game.

Idaho State outscored the Wildcats from the floor 25 baskets to 20.

Gooding Has Big Six Loop Title In Bag

SHOSHONE — The Gooding Senators clinched their second conference title in two months Saturday with a 75-60 victory over the Shoshone Indians. Coupled with Wood River's surprise win over Glenns Ferry it gave the Senators the Big Six Conference crown.

Frank Krahn pumped in 20 points, and Brent Estep and Gary Gorrell split 40 to sink the Indians — who stayed in the ballgame from the foul line. Krahn hit eight points in the first quarter in 15 minutes. Gooding led then Gorrell took over. He hit for 10 points in the second period and nine in the third as the Senators stretched their leads to 36-33 and 57-48.

Gooding's eight second-quarter points helped Shoshone stay in contention, and the Indians got seven points from the line in the third and fourth periods. Haddock ended with 24 points for the Indians.

UCLA Smashes Huskies 101-85

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sophomore guard Jerry West hit 21 points Saturday as top-ranked UCLA coasted to a 101-85 Pacific 8 victory over Washington.

West, who had scored only five points in the Bruins' win over Washington State Friday night, made 11 of his points in the first half, most on long jumpers from the top of the key.

The three-time defending national champions, in rolling to their 24th straight win and 20th of the season, played all but two minutes without starting forward Curtis Rowe and much of the second half without center Steve Patterson.

Canada Miss Wins Giant Slalom Title

VAL GARDENA, Italy (UPI) — Fifteen-year-old Canadian, Clifford of Canada celebrated St. Valentine's Day Saturday by becoming the new sweetheart of the ski circuit when she upset the favored French to win the women's giant slalom title at the World Alpine Championships.

Miss Clifford, the daughter of a ski camp owner in suburban Ottawa, defeated a powerful French team that placed four girls in the top 10 en route to the first international title of the career.

The talented Canadian missed a combined time of one minute, 24.66 seconds for her two runs and edged France's Ingrid Lofgren, who was clocked in 1:20.53. Miss Larfourge, 21, took Friday's slalom and was making bid for back-to-back gold medals.

The French also took the next two places with Françoise Macchi taking third with a time of 1:20.60 and Michele Jacot, the World Cup leader, grabbing fourth with 1:20.62. Miss Jacot, who was third in the slalom and eighth in the downhill, won the alpine combined gold medal with 30.21 points. The best American time was turned in by Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Va., who finished sixth with 32.17. Marilyn's sister, Barbara, was ninth in 1:21.76. Karen Budge of Jackson, Wyo., was 11th in 1:22.03 and Judy Nagel of Enumah, Wash., was 12th in 1:22.40. Marilyn Cochran finished third in the combined standings behind Florence Steurer of France.

Miss Clifford's victory means the giant slalom title stays in Canada for another two years. Nancy Green won the Olympic and world title at Grenoble in 1968 and twice was World Cup holder before retiring.

Utah Drops Sun Devils By 107-93

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah fought off stubborn Arizona State to register a 107-93 victory Saturday night and retain its hold on first place in the Western Athletic Conference.

A second half rally sparked by center Jim Mahler and guard Mike Newlin carried the heavily favored Utes to their eighth victory in WAC play against two defiants.

The Utes, who had fallen behind 77-72, made their move with less than 10 minutes remaining and went ahead, 80-72. Newlin led the attack with 20 points, followed by Mahler with 19, including eight of 10 in the last second half surge that carried the Utes to victory.

Seahorn Hill with 26 and Gerhard Schreier with 22 were the top scorers for the Sun Devils, who gave the Utes the scare of their lives before a home crowd of 11,202 in the Special Events Center.

ASU emerged from the loss by played first half with a 51-48 edge. The Sun Devils hit four consecutive field goals in the losing seconds of the half to gain their three-point advantage.

Records Fall In USTEF Indoor Meet

HOUSTON (UPI) — Curtis Mills of Texas A&M easily defeated Villanova's Larry James and led the Aggies to a world indoor record in the mile relay 3:05.7 in the U.S. Track and Field Federation National Indoor Championships in the Astrodome Saturday night.

Mills, who had a five-yard lead over James when he took the baton from Willie Blackmon, ran a 44.8 and beat James by 30 yards. James had a 46.8 and Villanova won second in 3:07.9.

That also beat the old record of 3:08.4 set by Texas in this meet last year.

A&M effort with a 48.4 and Marvin Mills, Curtis Mills younger brother, ran a 46.5 to put the Aggies from fourth to second behind Villanova. Blackmon had a 46.2 to put A&M in the lead. Villanova and Kansas tied for first place with 53 points each in the University Division of the meet.

Tinker, 19, matched the mark set by Lennox Miller of Southern California in the Astrodome last year. The 100 is a record because of the space limitations.

Tinker, who had a 9.5 in the preliminaries, pulled away from Earl Harris of Oklahoma State in the last 20 yards and won by a stride. Harris was second in 9.6.

The University of Houston topped more than 10 seconds off the distance medley relay with a 9:34.0.

Valley Has 58-56 Win Over Declo

HAZELTON — The Valley Vikings piled up a 13-point lead in the second half and held off Declo for a 58-56 victory Saturday night.

The final margin was decided by the Valley held command for virtually the entire ballgame behind Larry Richman and Frank Krohn. Richman tanked 20 points and Krohn 14.

Valley led by four at the half and seven at the three-quarter mark before taking its biggest lead. Declo slowly chipped that down but could never seriously threaten until drawing within a pair just at the end.

WENDELL — Tim Chandler pumped a four over the top and combined with Guy Ramsey to ignite Filer in the third period Saturday night as the Wildcats took a 64-57 decision over Wendell.

The Trojans held the advantage by a slim point at the end of the first quarter, only hitting eight points. Chandler meanwhile showed Filer in front with his outside work and the steady Ramsey stepped in with part of his game-high 24 points.

At the end of the frame Filer held away 61-30, and Wendell couldn't come back from that. The Trojans took the junior varsity game.

Montana State Outlasts Idaho 68-62 To Sweep Weekend Big Sky Series

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI) — Montana State won its second game in two nights Saturday by downing the University of Idaho Vandals 68-62 in a hard fought Big Sky Conference game here.

The Bohemans, now 3-6 on the year and 3-5 in Big Sky action, jumped off to an early 10-2 lead but could not hold on. The Vandals came back to take the lead midway through the first half.

After a brief flurry of lead exchanges, reserve center Tex Taylor and Bohem Bill Brackhouse hit key baskets to put the Cats ahead to stay.

MUS held a 35-32 halftime edge.

Montana State, although controlling the game through the second half, was not able to break away from the stubborn Vandals squad.

The big difference was in rebounding as the Cats led the Vandals 44-29 on the boards. MUS hit 47 per cent from the field compared with 38 per cent for Idaho.

Montana State defeated Idaho 77-68 Friday night.

The Bohemans, behind the MSU season high total of 29 points by center Jim Tillman, broke away from the stubborn Vandals for the second MSU win of the season.

MSU held a narrow 30-34 lead at the half, but came out at the beginning of the final period to jump to a seven-point lead.

Idaho, although never ahead in the first half, rallied back behind Malcolm Taylor to close within one point before the Bohemans led them with a 64-53 advantage with 10:30 to play.

Taylor, who ended up with 21 to top Idaho, again sparked the Vandals comeback that left MSU with a narrow 71-68 lead with 1:56 left.

Napoles Knocks Out Lopez In 15th To Retain Crown

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The challenger bewildered Welterweight Champion Jose Napoles of Mexico, punching with machine-like precision, scored a 15th round knockout Saturday night over challenger Ernie "Indian Red" Lopez, who was tapped five times before referee halted the bout.

Napoles, defending his welterweight crown for the third time in a year, used a merciless left jab as his chief weapon and dropped Lopez three times during the fight but could not put him down for the count.

The champion, weighing 145 1/2, opened up on Lopez in the first round and sent him down for a two-count with Lopez taking a mandatory eight standing. Lopez suffered a nick under his right eye and a bloody nose that hampered him throughout the fight.

Napoles scored his other knockdown in the ninth round when he dropped his foe from Arcadia, Calif., for a count of four. The third knockdown came in the 15th round but again Lopez, 146, was up at the count of five and with no steam left in his arms vainly tried to land a telling blow but referee Larry Rozandilla stopped it at 2:38.

Hatch shot 1-13 from the field, which broke a USU record for percentage and established a new record of 84.6 per cent.

USU then rallied with buckets by Hatch, John Erickson and Ed Epps and took a 41-29 halftime lead to the dressing room.

USU maintained a 12-point lead in the opening of a see saw second half. Nate Williams with two fast break lay ins and a jump shot by Marvin Roberts and Paul Jepsen made it 62-47 with 13:07 remaining.

Gary Sebeck with 22 was high for Denver and Hatch with 26 was high for USU.

Game Ends As Player Swings On Official

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia downed Syracuse 91-84 Saturday night in a game that was called with 1:01 remaining by Syracuse Center Bill Smith threw a punch at referee Herb Young and another player dashed off the bench and flipped a warmup jersey at the official.

The 6-foot-11 Smith struck at the referee as he was called for his fifth personal foul of the night. Then Bob McDaniel, a 6-foot-8 forward, who had been ejected from the game seven seconds earlier, came off the bench and swatted the referee.

A fan also joined the action by tackling Smith. City policemen grabbed Smith and restrained him.

Coach Roy Danforth took his Syracuse team off the floor as some of the 6,000 fans joined in sideline scuffles. The referees averted a major free-for-all.

The Mountaineers took a 45-43 halftime lead in breaking a three-game losing streak. Syracuse moved to three points ahead at 63-60 with three minutes left.

West Virginia bounded back and punched in 10 straight points before Syracuse broke the spell with 1:45 remaining on a field goal by Smith.

Hot Camas County Raps Rimrock

FAIRFIELD — Mark Lee came off the bench in the second quarter to help spark the Camas County Raps to a 86-65 victory over Rimrock Saturday night. The torrid Musers put five men in double figures.

Camas shot 45 per cent from the field and 74 per cent from the line in the win. Rick Gieser was the big man for the Musers offensively with 22 points. But it was Lee in the second period — where Camas took the lead for keeps — that turned the tide.

Camas took the preliminary 58-28. Camas County 48, Rimrock 65. Camas 1st Q: 15-10, 2nd Q: 10-10, 3rd Q: 10-10, 4th Q: 23-15. Rimrock 1st Q: 10-10, 2nd Q: 10-10, 3rd Q: 10-10, 4th Q: 15-15.

Bruins Are Overhauled By Highland 66-60, Tip I.F. In Last 5 Seconds

Rambling around!
The reaction of three crowds at athletic events in the past two weeks have been interesting to us.

The first was the College of Southern Idaho-Utah State frosh basketball game, which we feel actually was won by the crowd. CSI was just back from a firing trip on the great snake track known as the "north-south" highway that connects the panhandle with the Boise area, had just won about 10 games easily and wasn't expecting much out of the Uings. Until the crowd started picking them up early in the second half, CSI was headed for defeat.

By Larry Hovey

The next was the CSI-Mesa game after the Twin Falls-Caldwell high school game. It was evident from the reaction of people between the high school and the college isn't as great as we'd thought. Each has a large segment of its own following. This was evident when Steve Hegens put on a few moves that are now ordinary to CSI followers but drew the ooohs and aahs from the first timers.

The other was the really fine crowd that turned out at high school for the district tournament finals. That gate was $855, which will eclipse everything so far and Buhl wound up with about $1900 for the three sessions, another record.

Impossible to tell, however, whether the final night was a very enjoyable spectator night because the boys were stimulated by the big crowd or vice-versa.

Nonetheless, the competition was so good in both divisions that we feel the fourth showing at state. That doesn't say any of the local teams will win a title, but Maple Valley should be represented quite often in the top four in each weight class.

Also, kudos to Buhl for running a good tournament, hardly a surprise because the Indians had the "rare opportunity" of hosting four this year and practicing makes perfect.

Things have settled down in Gooding now with Basketball Coach Larry Mathews rehired following a public meeting. He earlier had been informed that, by a three-two vote, he was going to be replaced. Gooding, hardly won for that and Mathews' supporters were at the public meeting in great numbers.

"I don't want much said about it," Coach Mathews says. "I'm very grateful and pleased to find that I have so many good friends. A lot of the problems arose from a lack of understanding feelings and airing of situations that could have easily been averted. No one was to blame really. It was just one of those things. All I want to do now is settled down with the boys and see how we can do for the rest of the basketball season."

Idaho Falls basketball Coach Noel Brizze was reported resting comfortably in an Idaho Falls hospital Saturday following a heart attack that hit the young mentor shortly after his team was beaten by Twin Falls Friday night.

Coach Brizze collapsed at the gymnasium.

The situation that arose at St. George Friday night when CSI was beaten by Dixie College makes one wonder whether the membership in the ICAC is really necessary to Southern Idaho. Dixie College is the only member of the ICAC that is in the Idaho-Oregon regional.

However, Coach Jerry Hale, a solid citizen who began with, refused to say anything very bad about the situation following the game except Saturday would be spent trying to re-group the boys emotionally for Saturday's game.

Coach Hale was very proud of steady Al Davis following the contest. In the dressing room afterward Coach Hale asked "Why did we lose that game?" Davis answered, "We were demoralized and when the going got tough, some of us couldn't take it."

That sums up what athletics is all about, sports fans. Just answer that one statement correctly and you'll breeze through this year of tears.

POCATELLO — The Highland Rams rallied in the last four minutes behind David Cleaves and Rick Cutright Saturday night to overhaul the Twin Falls Bruins 66-60. It was Highland's eighth straight SIC victory. Friday night the Bruins tipped Idaho Falls on a shot in the last five seconds, 55-53.

Twin Falls, getting fine play once again from Walt Sinclair and most of its scoring punch from Allan Howa, stalled the first eight minutes but took the lead immediately in the second quarter and stubbornly held on to a three-five point advantage until late in the fourth period.

Cleaves ended with 21 points and Cutright added 20 to account for most of the Ram offense. The big difference came in the line, where Highland converted 20 of 26 to just 18 of 31 for Twin Falls. After Howa's 21 points the next Bruin — Sinclair — could only hit 12.

Highland jumped ahead 6-2 at the outset, finally leading 13-10 at the first rest, but Twin Falls got six straight from John Van Engelen, Mike Crandall and Howa to move into the lead 16-13. Sinclair added five points in the period to help the Bruins to a five-point intermission margin at 30-25.

Twin Falls twice opened up seven-point leads and twice led the Rams come within points in the third period. The Bruins apparently had another seven-point margin built up at the buzzer but Cleaves was awarded two foul tosses and the Rams trailed 47-42. The turning point was here as Twin Falls hit on just five of 11 attempts from the line.

Highland took the lead for the first time since the initial period 52-51 after a pair of Cleaves free throws, but Twin Falls took it back 53-52 and 54-54. After that the Bruins went stone cold from outside while the Rams got points from Hendrickson, Cleaves, and Cutright to jump ahead 62-51. Crandall trimmed the lead to four at 62-58 with 2 1/2 minutes left but Highland put it away with four straight.

Friday night Mike Crandall hit a 10-foot jump shot with five seconds left to send the Bruins past Idaho Falls 55-53. That two-point lead was the only time all night Twin Falls had led, as the Rams held away for as much as 10 points part of the time. The winning shot was a heart-stopper, bouncing around the rim several times before dropping through.

The key to the contest was defense. Idaho Falls' ace scorer, Bill Dupree, was held to four points by Walt Sinclair. Sinclair, just a Bruin as he added 11 clutch points to his defensive gem. Larry Blackwood held the other Tiger offensive threat, Jack Robinson, to just seven points.

But it was little Tom Moriarty who gave Idaho Falls its early jump. The 5-11 backcourtman hit 10 points in the first quarter and had 17 at the half to pace Tiger leads of 18-12 and 32-28.

Twin Falls stayed close however, even though Allan Howa couldn't buy a bucket for three quarters. Idaho Falls moved into its biggest lead, at 30-20 with 4:50 left in the third quarter, but the Bruins chopped that to 45-37 at the rest.

Six straight, coming from Howa, Blackwood and McLean, closed Twin Falls in within 46-45 with four minutes left, and it was a dogfight the rest of the way.

Baldwin put I.F. ahead 48-45, Sinclair nullified that, and two minutes later Howa's 18-footer tied it 49-49. Robinson hit a fade-away and it was 51-49 Tigers, but Crandall knotted it again with a 10 footer. Moriarty and Howa traded crucial shots to establish the 53-53 tie, then Moriarty missed a 1-1 chance and Twin Falls had possession with 27 seconds left. The Bruins worked the ball until five were left, then Crandall let loose with the winner.

Wood River Rallies Past Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY — Darvle James went on a 22-point scoring binge in the second half and Wood River backed him up with sharp-free throw shooting Saturday night to defeat the Glens Ferry Pilots 65-59.

Glens Ferry, with Tom Lito pumping through 21 points, most of the time but then dropped to 10 points in the fourth quarter while Wood River hit 27.

Wood River caught up at 55-48 and then started moving away from free throws plus backboard domination when Rich Brown, Glens Ferry's top rebounder, fouled out.

The Wolverines used a high feed to get the ball to James who either got the field goal or a couple of free throws to spark the decisive rally.

Glens Ferry won the preliminary. WOOD RIVER vs. GLENS FERRY 65-59 could compromise Idaho's "major" status. The NCAA requires declaration of major intentions plus playing have the schedule against other major schools.

Returning to the second point, the students made two other demands that won't be so easily met. One is immediate withdrawal of Idaho from the Big Sky Conference and the other is that all athletic monies raised should be used for the benefit of the athletic department under direction and supervision of the student government.

That last one establishes a battleground. But it isn't new to Idaho's students either. Montana students tried it a couple of years ago.

Carlos Is Beaten At 60 Yards

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore sensation Carlos Washington of Michigan State scored his first victory ever over John Carlos Saturday in the special 60-yard dash feature of the Michigan State Relays.

Carlos then came back to clock 20.2 in the 200-yard invitational — off the listed world mark — but on the way he knocked 5 seconds off the listed world indoor mark with a 21.2 timing in the 220. Carlos had requested the timing at the shorter distance.

The meet produced a new U.S. record in the shuttle hurdles when the Spartans quartet got a 7-14 anchor leg from Charles Pollard which enabled them to post a time of 28.5 seconds in the 240-yard event.

Olympian Lee Evans scored an easy victory over Michigan State's Bill Wehrwein in a match race over 600 yards with a meet record time of 1:08.9. Wehrwein has done 3 better in his home Jenison Fieldhouse.

Washington, with his usual "whoosh" off the starting blocks which makes him one of the quickest sprinters today, had a 6.1 clocking compared to only 4.3 for Carlos. Tim Harris of Ohio State was second with 6.2.

The host team also captured the spring medley relay with a 3:26.7 and Western Michigan's Jack Magelsen took the 1,000-yard run at 2:13.7.

Pollard won the 70-yard high hurdles by barely shading Bill Dighton of Eastern Michigan at 8.4 seconds.

Purdue Roars Past Illini

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue blitzed Illinois, 83-69, Saturday as All-America Rick Mount established a three-year Big Ten basketball scoring record with his 28 points.

Mount, the Big Ten scoring king the past two years and the current leader with a 37-point average, reached 1,250 points under direction and supervision of the student government.

The Illini tried a zone defense in the first half but Purdue broke a 9-9 tie and scored 11 straight points.

Carey Drops Richfield By 68-57

RICHFIELD — Carey took over the lead for good midway through the second quarter and took a 68-57 decision over Richfield Friday night behind Hart Murock's 23-point performance.

The Northside Conference champs led by a pair at the first rest and after Richfield moved in front for the first time in the next frame at 24-23 Carey took the lead for good. The Panther increased that to 10 after three periods.

Richfield took the preliminary.

Irish Topple Detroit In Overtime 95-93

DETROIT (UPI) — Notre Dame came from 15 points down in the second half by using a full court press — tying the game 83-83 on a layup by Collis Jones at the buzzer — then went on to out-free-throw the closing minutes of overtime to take a 95-93 victory in the regionally televised game Saturday.

Mike O'Connell sank four free throws for the Irish in the last minute and a pair by substitute forward Jim Hinga with 16 seconds to play in the extra session gave Notre Dame a 95-91 lead. Vern DeSilva sank a basket with three seconds left for the final score.

Murphy, Trevino Share Lead At Tucson; Lotz Falters With Triple Bogey On 18th

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Bob Murphy and defending champion Lee Trevino tied for first place with 10-under-par totals in the third round of the $100,000 Tucson Open Saturday after the halfway leader, John Lotz, took a triple bogey seven on the 18th hole.

Murphy and Trevino had identical rounds of 66-68-72 for 206 while Lotz was a shot back with 69-64-74.

Stiff winds clocked at 15 miles an hour bothered the golfers on some of the holes and dried out the greens, making them faster.

Lotz started the third round by sipping a 40-foot putt for a birdie on the first hole but he and Trevino were tied at 11-under after nine. Trevino went ahead by one stroke on the 10th hole, but Lotz caught him and needed only a par four on the 18th to — he — 42-under — for the tournament.

The 28-year-old Hayward, Calif., pro, however, put his leg shot into a lake on the 18th of the fairway and had to take a two-stroke penalty. His next shot hit a limb of a tree and he three-putted for his seven on the par four, 465-yard hole.

The veteran Tommy Jacobs tied for third with Lotz at 207 after a third round 70, two under par. Par for the Tucson National Golf Course is 36-36-72.

In at 208 with a third round of 70 was Bob Lunn, Sacramento, Calif., while Charles Coody shot a three-under-par 69 and had a 209 total, the same as Phil Rodgers, who shot a 71. Billy Casper had an even par

Highland Explodes In First Quarter, Drops Minico Spartans 73-64

POCATELLO — The sixth-ranked Highland Rams came out red hot and blew apart number one ranked Minico 73-64 in the first quarter Friday night but had to stave off a near-miraculous comeback to take a 73-64 win over the Spartans. It was a case of too little, too late as Minico was never able to get closer than six points after the Rams' opening barrage. Dave Cleaves led the point parade for Highland with 29 points. It was the torrid Cleaves and Harris Hendrickson who led the breakthrough in the first eight minutes, but Minico contributed with 10 turnovers. The Spartans turned the ball over repeatedly most of the game.

Jim Boatwright, the state's leading scorer, was held to almost nothing in the first period but ended the half with 11. The 6-8 senior could only hit for one point in the crucial third quarter when Highland closed off the Spartans rally and moved into a clinching lead. But a big lay-to-the-defeat was the way the Rams took the backboards away from the Spartans Boatwright doing almost all of it for Minico.

Castleford Knocks Off Rockland

CASTLEFORD — Lynn Easterday led the Castleford Wolves to a narrow 51-47 victory over Rockland Friday night. The Wolves, in taking the upset, led by a pair at the half and were deadlocked at 37 in the third quarter. Castleford jumped ahead by three with five minutes left and never lost the lead again. Hitting in that stretch was Easterday and Stahlacker, who added four from the foul line. Castleford took the junior varsity game 51-47.

It was 7-1 with 4:26 left in the first frame, and after a Boatwright free throw Highland pulled off a brilliant comeback ahead 21-2. Minico turned the tables completely around in the second quarter, as Boatwright began to warm up, and quickly chopped the huge deficit.

John Fennell, John Powell, and Boatwright all hit baskets near the end of the second period, and the Spartans were amazingly within 35-29. Gertsch got a tip for the Rams right at the buzzer for a 37-29 half-time Highland edge.

Oakley Rips Raft River By 97-57

OAKLEY — The Oakley Hornets put four men double figures—two scoring over 20 points—in racing to an easy 97-57 victory over the Raft River Trojans Friday night. Crafton pumped in 31 points and Kim Martindale added 28 to provide most of Oakley's offense. The Hornets boomed ahead 23-11 at the first rest and a 48-point total at intermission had it wrapped up early.

While Highland began to concentrate on Boatwright the Spartans went dead cold again and fell behind 55-41 after three quarters.

Shoshone's last-quarter march succeeded in trimming the deficit to 85-90 with time left to perhaps pull the win out. But Wendell hit the next two possessions and had two chances after that to break 100—with every Trojan fan urging them on.

Nelson Lifts Burley Past Blackfoot

BURLEY — Mike Kloepper and Nelson hit three clutch free throws in the final 30 seconds to lift Burley to a 54-53 decision over the Blackfoot Broncos. Kloepper hit a free throw for a three-point lead with 27 seconds left, watched Packer hit for Blackfoot, and Nelson tied it with a clutch one-and-one conversion with seven seconds remaining.

Shoshone won the preliminary 57-25 over Blackfoot 47-28. Shoshone 33 28 28 92

Murtaugh Is 84-56 Winner Over Declo

DECLO — The Murtaugh Red Devils, getting a great closing kick from shooting ace Mark Howard, ripped through Declo's press in the closing minutes to register an 84-56 decision Friday night. Until Declo tried to pressure the poised Devils, it was a tight game. However, Murtaugh mounted a small lead, got out and stayed just in front, pushing the margin to 57-50 after three quarters.

In the tight battle, which saw Blackfoot leading 30-37 going into the final period, Kloepper hit eight points, his last field goal giving the Bobcats a 51-47 lead. Stoddard cut that to two with a long jumper with just over a minute left and Burley went to the delay game to waste about 30 seconds.

Wendell kept up the pressure in the fourth and pumped through 28 points to mount a 75-59 margin.

Idaho And Boise Slate Grid Games

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State College and University of Idaho athletic directors Saturday announced the football schedule between the two schools for the next 10 years. Lyle Smith, athletic director of Boise State and Ed Knecht, athletic director at Idaho, said the two schools were unable to arrange a game for the 1970 season. The first game will be Sept. 11, 1971 at Moscow. A recent ruling by the NCAA allowing an early scheduling, said Knecht, who said he and Smith had been working for more than two months to arrange a schedule.

Blackfoot connected before Packer hit a 15-footer. After Nelson led it, Stoddard hit a 20-foot jumper at the final buzzer. Burley won the preliminary 53-47.

Wendell's press became effective only after Shoshone proved it didn't have to be. The Indians beat it consistently in the first period and the teams wound up tied at 21-21.

Pistol 'Cold' But LSU Wins

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Maravichs scored only 38 points Saturday, but teammates Danny Hoster and Bill Newton combined for 45 and Louisiana State whipped Vanderbilt, 89-80 in a Southeastern Conference game. The seven-college basketballs all-time leading scorer, hit only 14 of 46 field goal attempts. He had only 10 points at halftime. Hoster scored 23 points and Newton 22, as LSU boosted its record to 15-8 overall and 8-3 in the conference.

Wendell's press built up a dividend of 16 points in the first three quarters that proved enough to outlast a 33-point closing effort by Shoshone for a rollicking 99-92 victory Friday night.

Gooding Has SCIC Title Wrapped Up

HAILEY — The Gooding Senators, behind big Frank Krahn, clinched the championship of the South Central Idaho Conference Friday night with a 57-35 victory over Wood River. Krahn, just a sophomore, held high-scoring Daryl James to nine points while scoring 25 himself and his defensive play was the key to the whole ballgame.

Gooding stubbornly held on to the lead all night, letting Wood River draw within one on four different occasions but always getting the clutch bucket to keep the Wolverines at bay. Brent Estep was the only other Senator to hit double figures, with 10 points. Kimball and Patterson led Wood River with 12 and 10 points respectively.

Buhl Rolls To 52-38 Win Over Jerome

JEROME — Jumping into an early 6-0 lead and holding an eight- to 10-point advantage through three quarters, the Buhl Indians outscored Jerome 17-2 in the first four minutes of the fourth period and ran off with a 62-38 decision Friday night. Jerome was unable to hit with any consistency while Buhl was sporadic but enough warmer to control the lead throughout.

That was about the way it stayed over the next 16 minutes although Buhl did take a 15-point lead at 32-23 midway through the third quarter. Leading 42-30 going into the first quarter, Bob Anderson and Keneen sparked a flurry of jump shooting that quickly blew Jerome into a 20-point lead and both coaches went to their benches.

Dietrich Overpowers Bliss 80-41

DIETRICH — The Dietrich Blue Devils opened red hot and coasted past the Bliss Bears 80-41, Friday night. Dietrich hit 55 per cent during the first half and owned a 43-21 margin at intermission. Dietrich put four men in double scoring figures, headed by Towne at 18 while Tschannen hit 14 for Bliss.

Mame—Everyone Is Talking About Her

Like the characters in the musical comedy, nearly everyone in Magic Valley is talking about "Mame."

The fast-moving and sometimes slightly risqué musical comedy "Mame" has been selected by the Dilettantes of Magic Valley as their 1970 production and will open Feb. 20 at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center of the College of Southern Idaho.

A total of six performances are planned with nightly shows Feb. 20, 21, 26, 27 and 28. An afternoon performance will be held Feb. 22.

Tickets are on sale at the Boy Scout Office and during the first three performances a block of 126 seats will be held for student rates for young persons through high school age.

Based on the novel "Auntie Mame" by Patrick Dennis, the musical production has been a favorite Broadway show for a number of seasons and is familiar either by book, movie or stage production to most theatre fans of the country.

H. Paul Kline directs the cast of more than 20 speaking parts and more than 100 persons including the dancers and chorus.

One of the features of this year's production is the "Mame Band" a stage band of 14 pieces formed especially to provide the many musical numbers of "Mame."

Denis Foote, CSI, will direct the band. In previous performances orchestra music filled this need and Mame is the first Dilettante show to have a stage band.

Some of the favorite musical numbers from "Mame" include the title song and "Open A New Window," which musically expresses the life philosophy of the lead character and the enjoyment of life she attempts to pass on to her ward and nephew.

Appearing as the unconventional and outspoken Mame is Georgla Blinstock, Filer, who has been seen in a number of earlier Dilettante shows here.

Her nephew is played by Craig Pierce as a child and as a young man by Rex Reed.

The play evolves around the adventures of Mame and Patrick as he grows from a small child to manhood and covers a period of some 23 years of prohibition time, the depression era and into the early 40's.

Through this period she becomes involved with a number of unusual adventures including her differences of opinion with the Knickerbocker Bank, the other guardian of the orphaned Patrick.

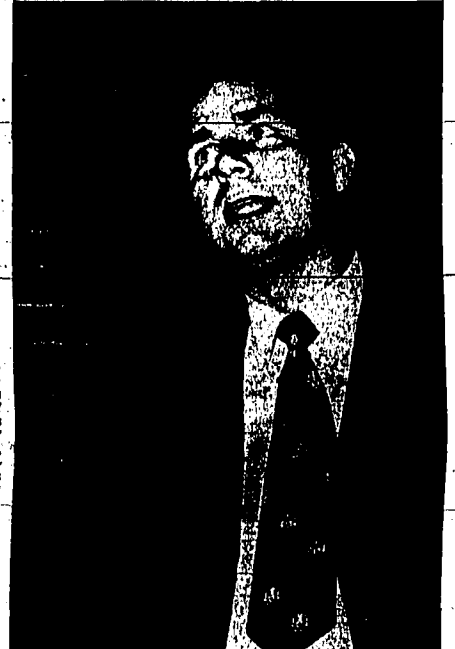

Other leading roles in the two act musical comedy include those played by Jean Hovey as Agnes Gooch, the "nanny" of young Patrick; Helen Gee as Vera Charles, "bosom buddy" of Mame; Robert Plumb, Dwight Babcock of the Knickerbocker Bank, who disapproves wholeheartedly of the way Mame is rearing her nephew, and Jim Latham who plays Beauregard Burnside who has matrimonial intentions involving Mame.

Rehearsals for "Mame" are now in the final stages and have been underway for several months. In addition to those who will appear on stage are countless others who have also been working since early winter building sets and preparing costumes and materials to be used in the show.

PRECISE, FASTIDIOUS BANKER, Dwight Babcock, played by Robert Plumb, departs from his image and charges, "You deceitful, Bohemian Dollah!"

THEY SUM IT UP. Mame's nephew played by Craig Pierce as a boy and Rex Reed as a man tell her, "You're my best girl."

BEAUREGARD JACKSON BURNSIDE, played by Jim Latham asks, "Didn't I tell you she's a marvel?"

Methodist Church Marks 65 Years

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Staff Writer

The United Methodist Church in Twin Falls, which today observes its 65th anniversary, has the distinction of having three separate buildings under one roof.

A few passersby and probably not all church members realize the massive stone structure which has stood at the corner of Shoshone Street and Fourth Avenue East since 1909, has had two separate additions over the years.

The oldest part of the church, which was the entire facility for seven years, fronts Fourth Avenue East and joins the White Mortuary parking lot. It houses the church offices and two small chapels now used as Sunday school rooms.

Ground for the initial brick structure was broken June 29, 1908, and the building was dedicated May 23, 1909. Methodists had been meeting in Twin Falls since 1903 with early meetings held in the Hazen Rooming House, at the corner of Main Avenue and Third Street South.

The local Methodist congregation was officially organized Feb. 16, 1905, with 17 charter members, and it is this event which present members will commemorate at special services today.

By 1910 the little congregation had grown to 318, had property valued at $20,000 and was self supporting. In 1916 the cornerstone of the new addition, which houses the present sanctuary, was laid and the newly enlarged church was dedicated in 1917.

In 1921 the sanctuary was remodeled and a pipe organ installed, but there was no major construction for more than 30 years. Then, in 1952, the balcony in the original part of the building was removed and replaced with a second floor, adding some 2,000 square feet of floor space now used for educational purposes.

On the evening of Jan. 4, 1953, an historic worship service was held in the old 1909 sanctuary, which had not been used for regular worship services since the 1916 addition was completed.

By the mid-1950's church leaders realized the need for a new educational wing and as the congregation celebrated the half-century mark plans were under way for the three-story addition on land remaining between the sanctuary and the alley by the Rex Arms Apartments.

The lawn where ice cream socials had been held each summer was lost, but more than 15,000 square feet of floor space gained. In addition to more classrooms, the newest section of the church contains adequate kitchen facilities, Fellowship hall, and fireplace room, all of which serve a wide range of age and interest groups not only on Sunday but throughout.

BACK IN 1916, this massive stone building was added to the original Methodist Church. It was dedicated in 1917 and for many years ice cream socials were held on the lawn shown in the foreground. This was lost as the later addition joined the building on wall shown in photograph. Entranceway at right was removed. (Dudley Studio photo)

NEWEST OF THREE distinct portions of the United Methodist Church in Twin Falls can be seen on the right. The latest addition was completed in 1957 and provides classroom space, fellowship and fire place rooms. Discussing

Study Of Elk Antler Points Reveal Data On Idaho Herds' Reproductivity Rate

By LEVI MOHLER
Idaho Fish-Game Department

How much does an elk herd increase each year? And how much difference in annual increase is there between an elk herd which is thriving and one which has low productivity? These are questions for which game managers are seeking answers when they analyze the results of a hunting season. And some of the best information concerning herd increase comes from the facts which individual elk hunters send to the Fish and Game Department each year on the elk report cards. Of special value here is the hunters' information concerning the number of antler points on bull elk which were bagged.

In the eight Idaho seasons from 1961 through 1968 individual reports on over 20,000 antlered elk have been examined. Study of the antler-point data is part of an organized effort to learn what portion of the herd consists of animals of each age-class and, in turn, to manage the herd so the high productivity can be maintained.

What an elk hunter often calls a "spike" is a bull elk carrying his first set of antlers. These are not forked or branched, and hence consist of a single point on each side of the head.

Practically all of these spike bulls are yearling elk. This means they have passed their first birthday but are still less than two years old. Most elk are born in late spring, not too far from early June. Thus, a yearling bagged in September would be about 15 months old, and one taken in October or November would be 16 or 17 months old.

There are a few yearling bulls which have additional points instead of merely spikes or "singletons" on each side. And there are a few older bulls which grow only spike antlers. It is these extra points yearlings just above balance the older bulls which carry spikes. Hence, if only the spike elk (1 x 1's) are counted as yearlings the number won't be much different than if we subtracted the older spikes and then added the extra-point yearlings.

The females in the herd, including the yearling cows which have not yet given birth to young, are a vital part of nature's elk producing setup. They also make up nearly half of the total elk harvest each year. It would simplify the manager's job if he could get hunting season information concerning the ages of cow elk as well as bulls. This could be done by checking the teeth of each elk. Under field conditions this is often impossible simply because some hunters leave the heads in the field.

Now let's switch back to bull elk. Since hunters generally are more interested in antlers than HIGHEST INCREASE RATES are found in elk herds which have good winter range and enough hunting pressure to keep the herd within the carrying capacity of the winter range. Hunters' reports on over 20,000 bull elk show spikes, six-points and five-points are the most common antlers in the statewide harvest each year.

In teeth, the practical statewide approach has been toward antlers. The age of an elk can be determined quite accurately by examining the teeth. But since most elk hunters have never been shown how to tell the age of an elk, it just isn't possible to reconstruct herd composition by using the hunters' "waxy-tooth" concerning the age of their particular elk. This is where the antler points come into the picture.

An "elk report" is attached to the carcass tag which an elk hunter must purchase before hunting. This report asks the hunter to record the number of points on each antler. What it really means is something like this: "If you (and other hunters) will record how many antler points your bull elk carried, it will be possible for us to tell whether or not the herd in the unit where you hunted is showing a satisfactory increase rate. If the increase rate is about as high as can be expected the chances are good similar hunting in the area can be continued next year, and later on too. If the increase shows poor production for the unit, it may be desirable to change the management for the unit to allow productivity to reach a higher point. If herd increase is at its maximum, we will have a maximum crop of elk to be taken by hunters."

Some other information is needed too, especially the date of kill, the location, and the sex of the animal. We see about 3,000 elk each year at checking stations, but another 10,000 or so which don't reach our checking stations are important, too. Mailing the report is the hunter's part in helping to complete the picture.

Now that antler points on over 20,000 elk have been recorded by Idaho hunters, it seems clear some units have more young animals than other units. In the top rank are units in which 30 per cent or more of the antlered elk are spikes or yearlings. At the other end of the scale are those units where only about 10 to 20 per cent are yearlings.

There are other reasons why herds vary from unit to unit. But after considering all possibilities it seems evident if yearlings are abundant in the herd they will also be abundant in the bag, and if they are scarce in the herd they will likewise be scarce in the kill.

Perhaps the most striking fact brought out by the antler point survey is spikes are relatively scarce in the back country but rather abundant in the more accessible elk areas.

Year after year by far the most common antler-point classes in the reported statewide kill are the spikes, 6-7's and 5-5's. The 4-4's fall well below the spikes; 6-6's and 5-5's. But the 4-4's are also much more abundant in the harvest than any of the other point classes such as 2-2's, 3-3's or 4-4's. Indications are spike bulls make up a larger part of the annual bull kill when maximum harvests are approached for a herd. But trophy bulls are still important each season, and 6-6's made up 23 per cent and 21 per cent of the reported kill of antlered bulls in the 1966 and 1968 seasons, respectively.

Trophy antlers and spikes commonly occur in a neat balance in Idaho. This balance, with either sex hunting, is probably one of the reasons why Idaho's annual elk harvest is usually tops in the nation.

Defendant Found Guilty Of Taking Letter Out Of Jail

Fred Meyer, 38, Twin Falls, has been found guilty in a Probate Court trial of taking a letter out of the county jail.

The trial was held Friday before Judge Eugene McCoy.

Meyer was sentenced to four months in the county jail. He took a letter from another prisoner in the jail and, when he was released on bond, transported that letter out of the jail. He was apprehended by deputies later and charged. Deputies said the letter was personal in nature. There was an escape plot or anything else contained in the letter except a personal message of one prisoner to his sister.

Meyer is also accused of two counts of lewd and lascivious conduct with minor girls. He has pleaded innocent to those charges and a trial in Fifth District Court is pending.

the week—This was completed in 1957.

In addition to the usual youth groups and Golden Age club, the church sponsors Cub Scouts and Boy Scout Troop 57, considered the top troop in the district, and has sponsored Blue Bird and Camp Fire units in past years.

The local church instituted a radio ministry several years ago and during the past 12 years the congregation has purchased and paid for two parsonages. Ross Miller, who grew up as a member of the local church and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, is now in the ministry.

Five acres of land were purchased near the College of Southern Idaho by the Methodist Idaho Conference under the leadership of Harold Brown, Twin Falls church official.

A duck dinner will be held following the second worship service today in the Fellowship Hall with Henry Crow as master of ceremonies. Dr. Orrin Fuller, longtime Twin Falls resident and church member, will reminisce and Clarence Dudley will be in charge of a skit.

THIS LIGHT BRICK portion of the United Methodist Church in Twin Falls for many years served as the original church, built in 1899. It still houses church offices and two small rooms first used as chapels and now providing space for Sunday School classes. The steeple on the right of the picture was removed when the stone building was added. This structure faces on Fourth Avenue East.

CHARGES MEDIA

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

An ALMO Mormon Pioneer woman doesn't worry too much about today's traffic problems and such things as insect damage to crops because modern engineering and science can cope with the situation.

Mrs. Alice Jane Durfee Rice can look back to a time when the Almo citizens prayed to keep the crickets from their grain fields and when Indians were numerous and something to be feared.

She was born Jan. 23, 1872, at Beaver Dams, in Box Elder County, Utah, the daughter of Denison Henry Durfee and Jane Isabel Barker Durfee. On Jan. 23 of this year she observed her 98th birthday anniversary. A dinner hosted by her daughters, Mrs. Estella Brackmeyer and Mrs. Janice Wake was in her honor and among those attending were a son, Wesley Rice, a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bruesch, Almo, a granddaughter, Mrs. William Olsen and her husband, Salt Lake City, and a number of close friends.

She also received a number of flowers, cards and telephone calls. Mrs. Gus Erickson baked and decorated a birthday cake.

Mrs. Rice recalls her parents crossed the plains in covered wagon, arriving in the Salt Lake Valley in October, 1840. At that time the pioneers had very little flour and had to substitute corn meal and ground wheat. The men planted all the spare grain and the family was eagerly awaiting the crop.

One day, Mrs. Rice, then still a small child, heard her mother to describe a giant cloud moving over the family's grain field.

"The whole family joined the crickets away but without success.

"Then we saw our mother was still standing and praying in tongues and as she prayed the crickets began to rise until the sky was black with them. They simply flew down to the lake and never came back."

The pioneer woman recalls, "She moved with her family to Conner Springs near Corinne, Utah, when she was only 3 years old and can recall the incidents of the trip clearly. In 1880 when she was eight years old, her family came to Almo and joined ten other families in the early day settlement. Mrs. Rice has lived in Almo since that time.

On Sept. 4, 1890, she married Nathaniel Abbe Rice at Almo and Mrs. Janice Wake and their marriage was solemnized in the Logan LDS Temple.

For a time they resided at Round Mountain near Strevell and later moved to the Viport Mine where Mr. Rice was employed. Later they moved to their ranch near Almo and here seven of their eight children were born.

In 1904, Mr. Rice died leaving his widow with the family to rear. The eighth child was born six weeks after his death. She reared the children alone, supporting them by weaving carpets.

Making quilts, toys and painting have also been among her many hobbies. She is an active member of the LDS Church. Of her eight children three are still living and she also has 35 grandchildren, 137 great-grandchildren and 36 great-great-grandchildren.

She and a sister, Mrs. Bruesch, now 85 years of age, are the only survivors of the Durfee family of 11 children.

BUHL EIGHTH GRADE boasts scholarly athletes. All five basketball players have been starters in the Buhl eighth grade team and all consistently on the honor roll, or high honor roll. Pictured from left, front row, are Jay Miracle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miracle; Jeff Gahard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gahard; back row, Charlo Hopworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopworth; Brent Watson, son of Mrs. Joan Carter, and Mike Hamilton, son of Mrs. Pat Hamilton. The boys basketball playing together in the seventh grade and have won 17 straight games since that time.

One Hour Of Prayer Daily

Strengthens Young Doctor

By DR. RALPH L. BYRON JR., Los Angeles, California

I was in my surgical-resident training in Berkeley, California, when I first began to think seriously about prayer.

It was wartime, 1942. I knew that shortly I'd be going overseas, leaving my wife, Dorothy, for many months. I wished I could be going into it all with a strong prayer life.

I went to the library and took out every book I could find about men for whom God had been a pulsing, living reality — biographies of Martin Luther, John Wesley, D. L. Moody, John Calvin and others. I discovered that every one of those men had prayed at least an hour each day.

Could I, starting here and now, spend an hour every day praying? As a resident surgeon, I had to be at the hospital and on the wards at 7 in the morning. I rarely finished work before midnight.

Where in a schedule like that could I find a spare hour? Not at bedtime certainly. I was too tired to stay awake. Not during the overcrowded hospital day.

Only the early morning was left. I would have to set the alarm for 5:30 instead of 6:30 a.m.

The night before I began, I put the alarm clear across the room so I'd have to get out of bed to shut it off. In what seemed but a moment the alarm went off.

I felt my way out into the dark living room, switched on a light, knelt down in front of the sofa and started to pray.

I prayed for my family, friends, patients, the other doctors at the hospital, doctors at other hospitals, our country, our soldiers, the enemy, the soldiers, all the missionaries I knew. At last I looked at my watch. Only 20 minutes had gone by.

I went back over the whole list in more detail, and at last the minutes crawled fast. I was exhausted.

At noon in the hospital's operating room I felt enormously sleepy. However, I did not fall asleep, and it was a surprisingly good day.

When the alarm went off at 5:30 the next morning, I was really tired. It was much tougher than the first morning. At the end of two weeks I took inventory. Somehow, after the first two or three days, I seemed to feel only awake on five hours' sleep than I'd been on six. My work at the hospital had gone well. I decided to continue the prayer time.

Week by week, God was not only becoming real to me, He seemed to be making a difference in all reality, and the hour which had started out seeming so long now became more and more precious. My whole life, in fact, was different, and I knew the investment of time was paying off.

Eight months after I began my prayer experiment, I got a call to duty with the Marine Corps. A group of us arrived for basic training at Camp Pendleton. I stood in the door of the barracks looking down the rows of double bunks where 10 doctors and 45 line officers would be sleeping. When and where would I find a quiet hour for prayer?

That first day at dawn we marched on a 10-hour hike over the hazy San Diego hills. And all the way I was telling myself that I could pray in bed just as well as out of it, that God looked at hearts, not knees.

We were almost back in camp before I knew I wasn't worried about God at all. Of course He didn't care what position I prayed in. I was the one who cared. I didn't want that roomful of men to see me on my knees. And once I realized that, I knew it would be kneel or nothing.

We got back to the barracks after dinner, and the lights stayed on. Finally I mustered all my courage — and got down on my knees and prayed.

The barracks had a wooden floor, and I could hear the boots of men passing the bunk on their way to the washroom. Boom, boom, boom — then an abrupt halt as they saw me. Boom, boom — two steps backward to make sure they were seeing correctly. I shut out the sound-effects as best I could, and prayed like mad.

I took some ribbing, but the men began to watch my every move. They were watching to see if what I had really worked. We were soon shipped to the island of Maui, our unit's first stop on the way to Iwa Jima. It was there that I — who a year earlier would have died at the thought of sharing Christ with the Marines in public — started holding public worship services.

We held them in the picture-show area because that was where the 2,000 men gathered, night after night to attend the movie. We started 20 minutes before showtime.

On the first night, 200 made first-time commitments to Christ. Before we left Maui, 510 Marines came to Christ, and the whole attitude, language and a certain sense on the base had changed.

No longer could one say my prayer time had made no difference.

Organizations, Library Gain From His Writing Project

SHOSHONE — There's no excuse for boredom and idleness. Mr. Lockie, 60, had to go to some unusual places to find things to write about. He is busy but he came up with something not only enjoyable to himself but of benefit to many other Shoshone residents.

An agent reader, Mr. Lockie has for some time collected foreign articles and unusual stories from major magazines. Not too long ago, he began re-typing them, indexing them in a loose-leaf binder, and then donating them to the organizations he felt would be most interested and most benefited by the material.

Re-typing the Reader's Digest might not be particularly interesting to some, but to Mr. Lockie it's all part of his philosophy that everyone should be busy and doing something to benefit others.

One of his folders on the Apollo shows pictures, information and other details from many sources. This he prepared for the Shoshone elementary school students. Another on religions, Mr. Lockie donated to the Shoshone Methodist Church which he attends regularly.

Another ten projects he has completed have been donated to the Shoshone City Library and he is now working on some 20 other books.

Mr. Lockie buys the loose leaf binders, indexes them for ready reference. Many of the stories have been in Reader's Digest while others are from such magazines as Rotary and American Legion publications, not seen by most persons outside of these organizations. Some material has been collected from newspaper articles Mr. Lockie feels have value for reference or future study.

In 1968 when Mr. Lockie returned to make his home in Shoshone for a second time, his son-in-law, Reid Newby, suggested he write his own autobiography during his leisure time. Once he began writing, he just kept on and now 1,000 stories are now in his collection of writings and re-written material.

Mrs. Lockie is confined to the Wood River Convalescent Center in Shoshone, and he lives in an apartment where he takes care of himself.

In addition to his writing, he spends a great deal of time walking and in summer months cares for three lawns. At Christmas time he and his wife, Elizabeth, presented the Convalescent Center an oil painting by their son-in-law.

Born in Chicago, Mr. Lockie attended schools in Riverside, a suburb of that city. After serving in the armed forces in World War I, he came to Filer to visit a friend and met the present Mrs. Lockie who was teaching school in Twin Falls at the time.

This was in 1921 and she was a native of Cedar Falls, Iowa. Mr. Lockie decided to stay in the area and obtained a job as an accountant with Idaho Power Co. In 1925 he went to work for a beekeeper and in 1933 moved to Shoshone to begin his own bee colony business here.

This he sold in 1939 and after that worked for the Shoshone ration board before moving to Caldwell in 1944 where he opened an accounting and tax consultant office. He operated this for 22 years, returning in 1966 to Shoshone.

In his future plans are a number of projects including one to collect and compile a history of Shoshone.

LOOSELEAF BINDERS CONTAINING a collection of articles and re-typed stories about unusual subjects keep Jay J. Lockie, Shoshone octogenarian, active. Here he assembles material donated to the Shoshone City Library.

Cassia County Approves Budget Above Statutory Limit; Petition Planned

BURLEY — Cassia county commissioners plan to file a petition to the State Tax Commission for approval of a newly adopted county budget which is about $140,000 more than last year's figure.

This year's budget, adopted by commissioners last week, is $2,715,500, compared to $2,575,328 last year, making the increase more than the four percent increase stipulated by House Bill 304. Legislation calling for repeal of the controversial bill was vetoed by Gov. Don Samuelson last week.

The increase is for election expenses, training and supplies for the new magistrate system, hospital equipment, new equipment for county roads and a $7,850 revaluation imposed by state law this year.

The largest of the increases is the $70,000 budgeted for replacement of outdated equipment at Cassia Memorial Hospital. This is a new item this year. Another hike is found in the general fund which is $22,680, compared to $28,013.28 last year. The increase will include additional court costs for criminal applying for post conviction releases, more appeals and increased Social Security costs connected with salary raises, according to Frank Kearns, county clerk.

The County Roads budget is for $37,500 compared to $27,170.28 last year. The increase will cover new equipment. More students from the county attending College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, accounts for nearly $10,000 increase in the Junior College tuition fund. This year $32,752.50 is budgeted, compared to $23,755 last year.

The total current expense budget is $320,233 this year, compared to $202,031 last year. The Clerk's budget is $31,460, compared to $28,451.28 last year, while the District Court budget is $41,805 compared to $12,747.57 last year.

The Prosecuting Attorney's budget is $15,800 compared to $14,348.18 and the county commissioners' budget is $9,400 compared to $7,421.83.

Budget for Public Health is $10,013 compared to $18,176.54. The coroner's budget is $2,255 while in 1969 it was $1,210.50. Probate Court has a budget of $9,450 compared to $8,830.00.

The Probation Officer budget is $4,895 compared to $4,436.81 last year. The Justice Court budget is $8,510, compared to $7,581.34.

The Civil Defense fund is $1,925 compared to $1,538.48 last year.

The Indigent fund is set for $78,830 this year, compared to $66,180.43 last year. The fair exhibit fund remains the same as last year at $19,000.

The Weeds and Pest eradication fund is $2,000, compared to $30,527.50.

The Public Defender budget remains at $1,500 while the sheriff's budget is $45,800 compared to $41,470.68 last year. The assessor's budget is $2,415 while last year it was $26,811.16. The Treasurer's budget is $18,300, compared to $16,720.12 last year.

The Money Box

From W. D. T. Burley, Idaho, I have a great deal of spare change. One side says "F. W. Andrews, Dry Goods, 10, Rochester, Minn. On the other side is an eagle flying with 13 stars and the date 1863. It is worn some, but quite clear. Is this coin valuable? What can you tell me about it?"

Answer: During the Civil War small change disappeared from circulation and in order to do business, a great many merchant's issued tokens in different denominations so that they could use them for small change. You have one of these tokens, issued by an F. W. Andrews, with the Minnesota address. There are actually five types of this token, all with the same reverse (like yours) but with different obverse: a Liberty Head, a Mercury Head and a Shield. These are all listed in Fuld's Book on Civil War Store Card Tokens, and this particular token sells for about $2.00 depending upon the condition. Thousands of these store cards were issued and very few of them are worth much money, since most of them were saved.

From R. L. Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a real nice piece of paper money I would like to find out about. At the top it says, "The State of Louisiana" then "Will Pay to the Bearer Five Dollars." There is a "5" in the upper right hand corner. There is an angel lying on the ground with a man in armor above him with a sword in his hand. There is a number on the right of this. It says, "At the Treasurer's Office, Shreveport, March 10th, 1863. There are some numbers below but I cannot make them out. The back of this note is green."

Guild Sponsors Free Art Classes

See a painting you like — just rent it.

That's what Mrs. N. A. Henkelman said as she explained this rental process sponsored by the Art Guild of Magic Valley. "Several businesses in Twin Falls rent our paintings, and it's becoming more popular all the time," she noted. "At the end of the specified rental period, if the renter wants to purchase the painting, money applied on rent is deducted from the purchase price. This process has been very successful in large communities and we feel sure it will be here," she stated.

Members of the Art Guild are a talented group and spend much time instructing others. This year meeting dates have been changed to only five per year — allowing its president, Mrs. Henkelman, to spend time conducting free art classes for all interested adults.

These classes are held at 8 p.m. each Monday and at 1 p.m. each Tuesday at the Harry Barry Recreation building. A workshop is held all-day on Thursday for members to "do their thing," conducted by Gladys Holmes. Most of the persons attending the classes Monday and Tuesday have never painted before and with Mrs. Henkelman's help will complete many in the future. Paintings of many of these new artists will be on display March 5 at St. Edward's Parish Hall as part of the Artists and Models show held annually by St. Edward's Council of Catholic Women.

These free art classes are sponsored by the guild for all interested persons and to promote guild membership. Further information concerning the classes can be obtained by calling Mrs. Henkelman.

The Art Guild of Magic Valley was started in Twin Falls in 1955 and sponsors the popular Art Mart annually at the Twin Falls City Park, where all artists in Magic Valley display their paintings. You must be a member of the guild to display paintings.

At present, guild members are sponsoring art displays at the Twin Falls and Pocatello YWCAs and in the Walnut Room and Camas Room at the Sun Valley Challenger Inn.

Guild officers include Mrs. Earl Peck, vice president; Mrs. Fred Spencer, secretary, and Mrs. Dave Killen, treasurer. Mrs. Henkelman noted LaVar Steel will conduct classes on clay and pottery for members, possibly starting the first part of March and the March meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Eula Hann.

PARTICIPATING IN THE art classes sponsored by the Art Guild of Magic Valley is Mrs. Jerry Joslin. The classes are held twice each week, at 8 p.m. Monday and 1 p.m. Tuesdays, at the Harry Barry Park Recreation building.

GLADYS HOLMES puts the finishing touches on a painting she is doing during a workshop meeting of the Art Guild of Magic Valley held at the Harry

Colorful Life Reviewed At Party

Approximately 50 members and guests of Mountain Rock Grange gathered in the grange hall to honor the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Geneva Billington, a long-time member of the grange.

A potluck dinner was held with Mrs. Anna Davis and Mrs. Max Vanausden in charge of serving. A lighted birthday cake was presented to the honoree. Mrs. Robert Rayl was in charge of the program which was presented after the dinner and which consisted of skit of a schoolroom scene. Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Way; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Riedeman; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Williams; Mrs. Lula Farrar and Robert Rayl. Readings were given by Mrs. Riedeman, Mrs. Way, Mrs. Williams and Mr. Riedeman presented two songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Mrs. Rayl gave the history of Mrs. Billington, noting she has led a colorful and interesting life. Her father, A. D. Stafford, was bringing his family to Cheney, Wash., from Cova, Kan., in 1904. When they stopped in Shoshone as they were traveling by train, he heard talk of the new irrigation project being opened up 25 miles to the south.

They continued on to Cheney where he bought lumber and mining interests and where Geneva was educated. She was graduated from State Normal Teachers College and left home to teach school in Deer Park, Wash., and in the Big Bend Country.

She recalls learning to drive the Stanley Steamer automobile, which was steered not by a wheel but by a stick. Mr. Stafford couldn't forget his interest in farming and in 1909, he pulled up stakes and moved his family to the new Twin Falls tract where he bought farming interests. Here, in the new town of Twin Falls, Geneva taught school at the Bickel School in 1910 and 1911. She then purchased a partnership in a millinery store which was located in the 100 block of Main Avenue East and later was moved over near the Idaho Department Store.

About this time she became interested in Camp Fire work as her younger sister, Una, was of Camp Fire age. She obtained a charter to start a Camp Fire group, which was the first such charter in Twin Falls and also the first charter west of the Mississippi River. She has been active in Camp Fire work since that time and still is active in Camp Fire work, even though she is granddaughters, Susan Billington, who was a Camp Fire Girl, is now in college.

During World War I, Mrs. Billington was kept busy with Red Cross work and was preparing to go overseas as an Army nurse when the Armistice was signed. In 1918, she worked with returning service men in need of rehabilitation. She had taken rehabilitation and massage training at Ft. Lewis at Reed College with an instructor from Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C.

Woman Honored During Grange Meeting, Party

The epidemic was raging and many complete families were wiped out by the dread disease. Geneva was doing special duty nursing in the hospitals and in the homes. She was called to the home of Lennard Billington, who had already lost his wife and small daughter to the influenza.

On Nov. 15, 1922, she married Mr. Billington and they moved to a farm south of Kimberly. In 1923, they moved to Jerome and her son, Bert, was born. The family farmed there until just before the depression. Then in 1930, a daughter, Joyce, was born. Just one month later, in the dead of winter, they moved from Jerome by hay rack to their present home south of Twin Falls, where Mrs. Billington still resides.

The depression was on in dead earnest by now and Mr. and Mrs. Billington tried a number of ventures. Since she had milked cows all her life, they decided to try that. They bottled the milk and delivered it door-to-door in an old Model-T Ford, 250 quarts per day. She says she was kept busy with a garden, a small daughter, and with washing the bottles and peddling the milk. A few years of this and inspections became so severe they decided to get out of the dairy business.

Next they built a hamburger stand and taking the two children, went on the road with the Monte Young Carnival for three years through the summer months. She says that her daughter was only two years old at this time and the son just eight. She says they would pitch a tent and put the children to bed in it and many times she has slept under the counter of the hamburger stand. She says it was hard work but it kept them eating during those hard times. They gave up the business and started the hamburger stand in the rafters of the barn where it still rests to this day.

Since Mr. Billington was interested in stock-buying and selling, they decided to try this. Geneva went along and helped him and the critics in and out of an old trailer hooked behind the Model T. This was before there were any safe commission yards except the old weekly Saturday sale behind the Idaho Department Store.

She had always wished for a large house and in 1947 work was started on a home and a year later her dream came true. They moved in and enjoyed this home for 10 years and then it was completely destroyed by fire in 1958. Geneva and Leonard escaped with only their night clothes. Even her wedding rings were destroyed. However, this didn't stop her for long and in a year another home was built. Her husband, Leonard, was not to move into the new home as he died in July of 1959.

Geneva is still milking cows to this day along with the help of a teenage grandson. And the family says nobody had better try to talk her out of it. She says it is beneficial in many ways: financially, keeps her mentally alert and keeps her physically fit. She also maintains a massage parlor in her home and has done some wonderful work with disabled people.

She is active in several community organizations and says these keep her busy and happy. She is active in her church, and is a member of Mountain Rock

Several years ago before the Salk vaccine was used to control polio, there was an epidemic of it in this area. Mrs. Billington was among 20 volunteers who were trained by the March of Dimes Foundation as a Polio Emergency Volunteer. She spent many hours at the local hospital helping to care for stricken children. She says that at one time they were spoon-feeding 27 polio victims. And there was a time when they were taking care of five who were confined to the iron lung. She remembers when there was a power failure and the PEV's had to hand operate one iron lung for two hours until the power was restored. There were 20 of these volunteer workers and she says they did not receive any pay but it was so rewarding to her to see the gratitude on the faces of the suffering children. She has also worked extensively with the handicapped children at the Easter Seal Center.

Her son says the family can always count on her to help, from driving calves to pasture to taking the grandchildren to their various school and church activities.

Her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Billington, and their children, Susan, Tom, Bob

DEAR ABBY — I have read your column for many years and must admit that both my husband and I have found it quite informative as well as amusing at times.

My problem is that we have children growing up who can read, and your column is the first thing they go for in the newspaper.

Abby, I don't mean to be a crank, but I do wish you would answer some of those letters personally instead of putting them in the paper. I refer to letters from 70-year-old women who are still interested in sex letters about men who go for men, and also situations involving girls who are pregnant and unmarried. (I'm sure you know what I mean.)

I am aware that your correspondents do not always sign their names and addresses, but surely you must receive plenty of other letters that are quite so objectionable to fill your space. Will you please give it some thought?

ONE MOTHER'S OPINION

DEAR ONE: Perhaps the best way to answer your letter is by printing another mother's opinion:

DEAR ABBY: You may not know it, but your column has helped us to raise our children. We're not the kind of parents who could take our children into a room, close the door, and tell them "the facts of life." Over the years just about everything we've wanted to discuss with our children has come up at your column. You, as a parent, mother; child molesting, homosexuality, and believe it or not, I was wondering how to tell our 4-year-old that my parents were getting divorced with an answer in your column said it was much better than I ever could have said. Thanks a heap, Abby. Love 'em.

"J & A" IN SALEM, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married 26 years and my wife is one of the finest persons alive, but none. However, when we were married, I was a private in the army, making only $21 a month, and all I could afford to buy her was a cinky, cheap wedding band which I have been ashamed of all these years. Whenever I mention buying her a better one, she says it isn't proper, and she likes this one.

Proper or not, I am going to buy her another one. I can't afford it now. What do you suggest? I will abide by your decision.

SITTING PRETTY IN TUCSON

DEAR SITTING: Lucky you. "A virtuous woman—her price is above rubies." (Proverbs 12:4). But for all her sentimentality, she shouldn't deny you the pleasure of adorning her. Suggest that she take her original wedding band to a reputable, creative jeweler and ask him to design a lovely new elaborate ring, using the "cheap, dinky" band as the central theme. If she still says no, buy

University Slates Program For Home Seamstresses

"Techniques and methods to achieve proper fit by the home seamstress will be the focus of a program sponsored by the University of Idaho Extension Service," announced Alice M. Reed, extension home economics agent.

The program is scheduled for Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Idaho Power Auditorium in Twin Falls. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Jane Hardeessen, educational representative for Unique Zipper Distributing Service, will present the program. Miss Hardeessen is a specialist in clothing techniques and fashion trends, and will demonstrate how to understand fitting standards, use of the basic fitting dress, altering a pattern, preparing and cutting fabric, and fitting garments during construction.

"Because improper fit detracts from the total appearance of a beautifully constructed garment in a quality fabric, all areas covered in the Unique program are designed to assist the home seamstress in making this often difficult part of clothing construction easier. This would be a very worthwhile and rewarding way to spend an afternoon, so mark it on your calendar now," concluded Mrs. Reed.

Antique Tea Services Shown At Club Meet

Beauty Hint

If dark circles under your eyes plague your total beauty perfection, make-up authority Max Factor suggests the following advice to camouflage the unsightly problem.

Apply a liquid or cream type make-up over the entire face. Ultra-Lucent Fluid Make-Up or Ultra-Lucent Whipped Creme Make-Up are excellent representatives of each. Next, apply the unique cover-up, Erace, to the under eye area in a shade lighter than the foundation color.

Add a touch of blusher and blend it into the "erased" area to conceal the opaque look of the lightened section. Pat smooth, eliminating any line of demarcation, and set with powder so that the moist make-up foundation will not gather in the folds and lines under the eyes. If Pan-Cake Make-Up is used as the foundation re-apply it over the entire facial area.

Soviets Gird To Celebrate Lenin's Day

By DUSKO DODER
MOSCOW (UPI) — Russians are gearing up for the greatest birthday party in their history—the 100th anniversary of the birth of Vladimir Ilych Lenin, the Soviet Union's founding father.

Every minute of the country's life is linked to Lenin. As the sacred April 22 date comes closer the two-year-long Lenin worship campaign is near the peak of its furious pitch.

Automobile workers these days put in extra hours so the leader could be proud of them. Employees of a shoe factory are working harder, as if the great Lenin himself could wear their products.

Every newspaper and magazine last week carries several articles about the forthcoming anniversary. It is mentioned hundreds of times daily on radio and television.

"Today I visited the Lenin Museum in Ulyanovsk and I felt not like a 92-year-old but I felt like a 24-year-old man. I was when I met Ilych in 1906," one Bolshevik, Petrsov, was reported as saying by the government newspaper Izvestia.

The newspaper Gudok reviewed a book, 520 pages, of photographs and descriptions of wreaths, flags, banners, mourning ribbons and placards placed on Lenin's tomb during funeral ceremonies in 1924.

Moscow television took the entire nation to an art gallery displaying works of a painter who devoted his entire life to painting pictures of Lenin.

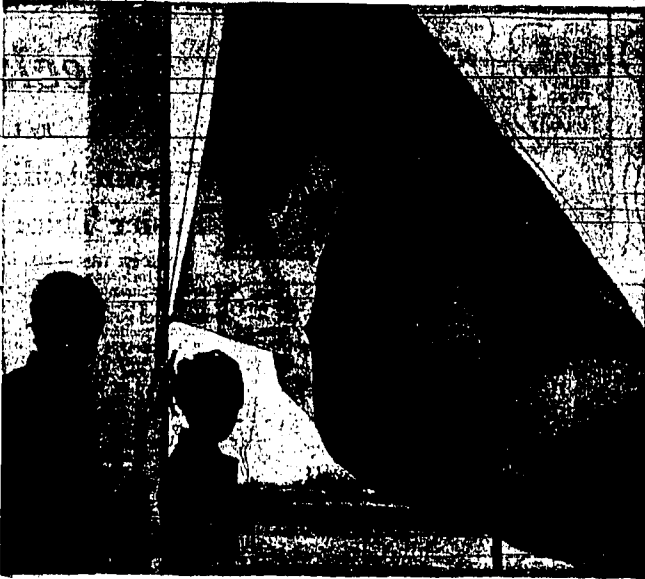

Sculptor N.V. Tshinsky was reported to be finishing the statue of Lenin which will be placed in the center of East Berlin.

The newspaper Vechernaya Moskva (Evening Moscow) reported that more than 2,500 Moscow painters and sculptors are working on Lenin paintings, drawings and statues.

A six-week festival devoted to Lenin is currently being held at 30 Moscow houses—one-third of all movie halls in the capital. The festival includes three series: "Lenin is Always Alive," "Lenin's Ideas Live On and Win," and "Proletarian Internationalism in Action."

Similar festivals are to be held in all major Soviet cities.

The Soviet Press Daily reported worldwide preparations for the 100th birthday anniversary, ranging from a "meeting of the Senegalese public" held in Dakar to

Elmore Pastor To Become Chaplain At Youth Ranch

GLENN FERRY — The Rev. Dwight E. Wilcher, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Elmore, will leave soon to begin a new assignment with the Idaho Youth Ranch at Rupert.

He will serve as chaplain, counselor, director of character guidance activities, and as liaison between the youth and social agencies.

Mr. Wilcher will continue to conduct religious services at both churches until June 1, unless relieved earlier. Then Bishop Everett W. Palmer, resident bishop of the Portland area of the United Methodist Church will appoint him to full-time duty at the Youth Ranch.

The Youth Ranch is a non-profit organization and non-sectarian which cares for boys between the ages of 13 and 15.

Mr. Wilcher came to the Glenn Ferry and King Hill churches for an ecumenical ministry in June, 1967, from John Day, Ore. He previously served churches at Fairfield, Gooding, Jerome, Huhl and Welter in Idaho. In addition to his pastoral duties he has been active in Boy Scouts on the unit, district and council levels.

He has been state chaplain of the American Legion for the past nine years; and has served on the staff of the American Legion's Boys State each year during this time. He has participated also in Springside State, an activity of the American Legion Auxiliary.

He came to Idaho in 1952 after nine years with the Air Force, having served in Texas, the Philippine Islands, Okinawa, Japan, Illinois, and Bermuda. Mrs. Wilcher and a grandson, Glenn Umstach, who lives with them, will accompany Mr. Wilcher to Rupert.

Women Have Rising Role As Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's increasingly a woman's world. The government says the feminist movement, which contends it is not so, had no immediate reaction.

There were 31.4 million women workers by the end of 1969, accounting for 38.5 per cent of the nation's labor force. This was more than double the 18.1 per cent share of the work force women had at the turn of the century.

The Women's Bureau in the labor department has attributed the rise in female employment to two main factors—women continue to outnumber men, and barriers to female employment continue to fall.

This picture of the rising importance of the distaff side of the labor market was presented in the 1969 handbook of women workers released by the bureau, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The chief factor in the rise in female employment, it said, has been the tendency of men to live longer than women. Outnumbered women by 1.3 million in 1900, and there now are 5 million more women than men of working age.

Other factors include labor saving devices that have simplified housekeeping, rising aspirations for a higher standard of living, and increased job opportunities for women. The report also cited the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which prohibits sex discrimination in employment.

REPRIEVES GRANTED — President Ferdinand E. Marcos granted reprieves Thursday to all 332 prisoners awaiting death in the Philippines.

MANILA (UPI) — President Marcos has ordered a study of the feasibility of abolishing capital punishment in the federal prison electric chair.

Dogs Have Played A Continuing Role In Hollywood Films As Silent, Unpaid Stars

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In China the Year of the Dog has begun.

In Hollywood the canine is always a staple.

Historians of film may check back to hand-cranked two-reelers to find the noble dog doing his bit to further the cinematic art.

Doubtless the first dog in a movie was an unknown mutt who wandered into a scene unwanted, unloved and unpaid, his name forever lost to motion picture historians.

It came to pass, however, that in silent films dogs could hold their own with human actors. Subtitles could be written as easily for an alredule as for Ben Turpin.

The first renowned quadruped of the screen was Rin-Tin-Tin, various civic activities connected with centenary preparations in every corner of the globe.

a fearless German shepherd with a nice smile.

A star in his own right, he saved babies from burning buildings, fair maidens from villains, heroes from cliff-hangers and the like.

In those early days Rinty as his friends called him played heroic roles and left comedy to "Pete," a low-brow mongrel with a black circle painted around his eye in the "Our Gang" movies.

When sound made its debut, movies bounced out dogs along with high-pitched leading men such as John Gilbert.

Dogs barked and ruined the sound track.

But Rin-Tin-Tin made a comeback in films and it wasn't long before the dog star (not to be confused with Sirius of the constellation Canis Major) was back in favor.

One of the most talented was Asta, a wire-haired terrier who acted with every bit as good a detective as "Mr. and Mrs.

"North," a series of pictures starring William Powell and Myrna Loy.

Then along came a dog of dubious parentage named Daisy, who made her mark in a bunch of "Daisywood" pictures.

Another German shepherd made good in the role of Bullet helping Roy Rogers run down outlaws. Bullet was especially good at jumping in and out of Roy's Jeep and barking at the sight of the heavy.

Untold numbers of dogs, like starlets, come and go without leaving a ripple in the movies' hall of fame.

Most famous of all dog actors, or animal performers of any kind, is Lassie. She (really a male posing as a female) began her career in "Lassie Come Home" in 1944, appearing several movies before sinking to television.

Next year is China's Year of the Rat which, in Hollywood, doubtless will be dedicated to actors' agents.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

VALENTINE GIFT SCORED IN HEARTS

Razzle-dazzle is the key in any game provided it works. Every bridge expert will recall with pleasure some razzle-dazzle he has gotten away with.

He will also tell you that over the years razzle-dazzle has not really paid off, and may cite today's hand as an example of conspicuously unsuccessful razzle-dazzle.

South and West were both accustomed to fireworks. South started off by responding one no-trump with his 10 high-card points and good club suit. West, who was not vulnerable, stuck in a two-heart bid for reasons best known to himself and North closed the bidding at three no-trump.

West felt that if hearts were good enough to bid they were good enough to lead and opened the six-spot. The game was at match-point duplicate, so South let the lead ride around toward his queen. It didn't get there since East produced the king and returned the eight.

South proceeded to run off dummy's six diamond tricks without further ado and discarded his three spades.

West knew that his partner held the heart five and decided to chuck all three of his spades and the jack and six of clubs.

At this point a conservative South would lead a club, razzle with the ace and make the razzle of the tricks but that line of play was too prosaic.

South decided that West was holding four hearts and the ace of spades so South stuck in the 10 of clubs.

"Happy Valentine," chortled West as he raked in the rest of the tricks.

CONSIDER THIS — Men who marry short-legged girls are apt to be argumentative in a genial sort of way. Men who marry full-busted girls are usually diplomatic pacifists. Men who marry Twiggy-type girls are inclined to become dedicated to some study of the statistics. Our Love and War man, who takes himself rather seriously, has rejected their findings, but our Old Superstitious expert is still interested.

AS TO THAT question of whether Moses' stupor and it counseled to study Chapter 4 versus 10 of Exodus, which indicates such. Will do... IF YOU WRITE 1, 2, 3 and 4 on a piece of paper and ask on-lookers to circle any one of the numbers, four out of five said on-lookers will circle the 3. Try it... STATISTICALLY, chances are greater that a heroin addict will let go of his habit than an alcoholic will give up his liquor. Far greater.

OPEN QUESTIONS — 1. If Benjamin Franklin didn't invent the harmonica, who did? 2. Can any birds be trained to catch things thrown to him in flight? 3. PHONE CALLS — Another thing oldersters will recall that youngsters won't is when you could tell by the ring of the telephone whether the call was local or long distance. Hold on now, if you don't believe that either, just listen a second. When operators worked all the switchboards, they invariably cranked some special verse into the rings for long distance calls. You could tell, every time.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — "Didn't the old buffalo hunters always travel in pairs?" A. They always traveled in parties of seven. Two riflemen, four skinners and a dirty old cook... Erie is the eighth largest lake in the world. It was Lake Huron that once bore the melodious moniker of "The Sweet Sea."

T.F. Music Supervisor Is Named To National Project

MRS. THEENER

Mrs. Claire (Ernest) Theener, elementary music supervisor of the Twin Falls School District, has been named as the state representative in a new national project of the 58,000-member Music Educators National Conference.

Mrs. Theener will represent the state on the national committee established by MENC to make a thorough study of "Music for all Youth," a GO project committee related to music education in the United States.

The GO, or Goals and Objectives project of the MENC, is a major undertaking during the current year to study critical problems in many aspects of music education and to re-examine the role and responsibility of the organization regarding the project.

R. Del Slaughter, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Music Educators Association, reported that the "GO" project is a significant new thrust of the conference to establish directions for the 70's.

He added that the culminating activity of each national committee studying these various problems, of music life and education in America today will be to present specific recommendations at the biennial national convention in Chicago in March.

Following thorough discussion recommendations will be passed by the assembled educators as specific action plans to be carried out in the coming years by music educators on the national, state and local levels.

Scouting Is Outlined For Rotary Club

SHOSHONE — Information on the Boy Scout program was given by John Hill, Twin Falls Snake River Scout Executive, at the Rotary club meeting.

Mr. Hill, introduced by Roger Maxwell, program chairman, stated the aim is for all boys in the district to belong to the Scout organization, and specifically one-third of them by 1976.

Dennis Everett is fund drive chairman here for 1970, and one per cent of the funds collected goes to the national while 99 per cent remains with the local.

Phases of character, citizenship and physical fitness within the Scout program were outlined and Hill said the Snake River Council camping program and facility is ranked in second place in the nation.

Shoshone has an average of 35 per cent of eligible boys in Scouting — 51 per cent in Cub Scout work, and 14 per cent in the Explorer program.

Officers for the Rotary club were nominated for next year with Kenneth Blackburn for president; Gilbert Pierson, vice president; and Francis Bergin, secretary. Directors are Myron Johnson, halldover; Dennis Everett, and D. H. Hansen, one year; Roger Maxwell and Howard Johnson, two year.

Seniors who were guests were Lynn Stinson, Elva Struchen and Jim Trinkle. Other guests were Paul Bovey, Jerome; Myron Harbaugh and Robert Perrin; Gooding, and Allen Blair, Boise.

Pete Ford Wins Pencil For Talk

RUBERT — Pete Ford won the blue pencil for his speech entitled "Proudly We Hall" at the Rupert Toastmasters meeting at Ilwaco Cafe.

Other speaker was Ed Hartman whose topic was "The American Story." General evaluator was Russell Mohlman, Clyde Ahnis and Mr. Ford tied for table topics winner. Clifford Nutting was table topic chairman and Mr. Mohlman was toastmaster.

George Glarberg and Harold Cavener were guests.

I WANT TO LOOK LIKE THIS

DEAR POLLY—Those who have trouble explaining their hair style to a new hairdresser should first check the women's magazines or a department store catalog, find the same style, cut it out and keep it in your purse. Just show this to the operator and save her time and yours. This is also a good way to choose a new hairdo.—BARB

DEAR POLLY—Whenever I buy a supply of either cotton or silk slips I get sewed narrow elastic for straps and sew them on the new slips. I find this eliminates the bother of pulling up straps that so often slip down on the shoulders. I do the same with new bras.—A. B. W.

DEAR POLLY—Send me your best hair style ideas and I'll pay a dollar for every idea used. Send them to her, care of this newspaper.

I'M DRINKIN' 'EM, SO YOU'LL HAVE 'EM, EGG HOLDERS

DEAR POLLY—Soda pop bottle tops make great nests to keep eggs from rolling around on the counter before you are ready to use them.—KATHY

DEAR POLLY—When playing croquet we find it hard to see the wickets in the grass. We wrap colored tape around each wicket so we can easily spot them.—KIM

DEAR POLLY—So often we busy homemakers forget to take hamburger out of the freezer in time for it to defrost for dinner. A big frozen lump takes hours to defrost. After I bring hamburger home from the store I place it in a plastic bag, press down on it with the palm of my hand to make it flatter and flatter until only about 3/4-inch thick. I even press ridges in it before putting in the freezer so the correct amount can be easily snapped off and just that part defrosted. It is amazing how much faster this thinner hamburger defrosts.—DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY—After buying a new box of crayons for the children place a piece of tape around the middle of each crayon so they do not break so easily.—SHARON

DEAR POLLY—I iron my fine old linen napkins and then roll them on the tube that comes in an 18-inch aluminum foil box. I use two rollers for 12 napkins and then put the rolls in a box. They can be kept clean by putting them in a plastic bag.—GLADYS

Ask Them Yourself

FOR WALTER J. HICKEL,

Secretary of the Interior

In the United States; in a year's time, how much garbage is there per capita? Of what value would the perishable garbage be if used as fertilizer?—Mrs. Irene Rohr, Devils Lake, N.D.

● In the United States, the per capita amount of garbage and household waste collected each year is approaching one ton. One trouble with commercially composting the garbage so it could be used as fertilizer is that there hasn't been much demand for the compost. In the Interior Department, however, scientists of the Bureau of Mines are experimenting with a process that converts organic material in garbage to crude oil, which can be refined into gasoline and other products that are in demand.

FOR CMDR. LLOYD BUCHER,

Former captain of U.S.S. Pueblo

Is it true that you were an orphan child?—Mrs. Edward Zeal, Indianapolis, Okla.

● I was a full-fledged orphan, adopted at the age of less than a year. My adopted mother died before I was three, and I grew up primarily in orphanages, culminating in my graduation from high school at Boys Town, Neb.

FOR NANCY H. DICKERSON,

NBC News

I would like to know if the pin you wear when you give the morning news has sets or is just a solid pin; what color is it?—Mrs. Julia Teach, Attica, Ohio

● I helped design it in 1961, and it was made—for me by a New York jeweler. The stones in it are diamonds, emeralds, and rubies.

FOR BOB HOPE

When making your usual Vietnam tour at Christmas, how do you choose the men who come up on your stage?—Mrs. E. W. Miller, Kokomo, Ind.

● Occasionally, the man chosen is selected on the basis of an amusing letter from his mother, wife, or sweetheart. Other times Special Services will pick three or four young men to audition for comedy bits for the show. We don't like men who sound too professional, such as former drama students or would-be radio announcers or vocalists.

FOR JOHN HAYLICEK,

Boston Celtics guard

Does it bother you to come off the bench and play. Would you rather start the game?—Jim Erickson, Neenah, Wis.

● I would rather come in off the bench.

FOR RONALD ZIEGLER,

Presidential Press Secretary

My children keep asking why, since Mr. Nixon wanted to cut down Government spending, he started his term by getting himself a raise in salary?—Mrs. Jane Worih, Chicago, Ill.

● The President's salary may be neither increased nor diminished during his term of office. President Johnson recommended an increase in the President's salary, and this was accomplished by a law enacted before President Nixon took office.

FOR ANN LANDERS, advice columnist

Of all the 30,000 letters you receive monthly, what advice is sought most from the writers?—A. S. Kravits, Brooklyn, N.Y.

● The most frequently asked question I receive monthly is, "What can I do about my rotten marriage?"

FOR JOHN A. CREEDEY,

President, Water Transport Association

How many miles of navigable waterways are used for commercial purposes in the U.S.?—A. L., Ocala, Fla.

● There are 25,000 miles of navigable waterways, and surprising as it may seem in this age of speed, 10 percent of all freight is still shipped over them.

Want to ask a famous person a question? You can through this column, and we'll get the answer from the prominent person you designate. Send questions, preferably on a post card, to Ask Them Yourself, Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We cannot acknowledge questions, but $5 will be paid for each one used.

What in the World!

Bills for Life Little Janet Williamson, 7, should be a consolation to any youngster who doesn't like to take his medicine.

Janet and day's pills

Janet has to take 42 pills a day—every day of her life. The Williamsons live in Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire, England. A victim of cystic fibrosis, Janet has to take this prescribed amount of pancreatic extract so that her body can digest the protein and fat absorbed in her regular diet. "At first I used to take them one at a time," says Janet, "but now I've learned to swallow 14 at once with each meal."

For Him and Her What's the difference between the European and the American husband? Well, one difference becomes obvious when the wife goes shopping for a fur coat, according to furrier Jacques Kaplan. American husbands urge their wives to go ahead and splurge on a mink when she just came in for a little fur fur. "With my European customers, it is often the opposite. American couples who shop together also tend to end up buying together. The wife persuades the husband to try on a fur coat he'd never consider by himself." Kaplan's advice to the fur-buying male: "It should make you think of Joe Namath rather than Tiny Tim."

Now—an eminent psychiatrist answers your cry for help

when DEPRESSION strikes at a member of your family and you don't know which way to turn.

Dr. Leonard Cammer,
FROM DEPRESSION

In UP FROM DEPRESSION, LEONARD CAMMER, M.D.—a distinguished psychiatrist, teacher, and author—shows you how to give a depressed relative the effective help he needs. Equally important, he shows you how to avoid the common mistakes that could worsen the condition or precipitate a tragedy.

Depression — as an emotional illness — means much more than an occasional spell of the blues. These are some of the danger signals:

- Your wife has just had her first baby, and is too dependant to feed it or take care of it. Managing the household is also beyond her. Every ten minutes she phones you at the office, just to hear your words of assurance . . .

- Your husband hasn't been sleeping well and he awakens too early every morning, miserable and blues. Pushing off to work takes a giant effort and each day seems to last forever. More and more he keeps withdrawing into a shell . . .

- Your mother, once a tower of strength, has collapsed into a state of "nerves" and despair. She means that she has outlived her usefulness and all is hopeless. When you deny this she gets agitated, cries, and says she is not worth the bother you take . . .

- Your daughter comes home from college unexpectedly and says that she has quit school. She mopes, refuses to leave the house, and shows up interest in dates, sports, or social life . . .

- Your father has lately been shouting at you and behaving abusively. He berates you for neglecting him, yet when you are attentive, he calls you a hypocrite. He confuses faces and names and believes that everyone is out to ruin him . . .

Such people need help desperately. Depression, at its mildest, can rob life of joy.

At its worst, depression can — and frequently does — end in suicide.

But often, the sufferer's closest relatives, who should be his first source of relief, are bewildered or antagonized by his depressive behavior. Under these conditions, it is easy for them to make disastrous blunders.

You are NOT as helpless as you feel!

Once you understand the dynamics of emotional depression and the techniques for dealing with it, there is much you can do to restore mental health. In simple, compassionate and non-technical language, Dr. Cammer explains the nature of depression, its varieties and its symptoms — and how you as a close relative, can help the depressed person and also ease your own anxieties.

Here are just a few of the subjects treated by the author:

- Do people who talk about suicide really mean to go through with it? Here are the common facts and fallacies about self-destruction — and why you must never, never put a suicide threat to the test.

- The three types of depression — organic, reactive, and neurotic — and the different approaches each requires.

- How to recognize a child's or a teenager's cry for help.

- How to read the signs which may indicate that your relative is secretly an alcoholic, or on drugs — because of depression.

- How to help a bereaved person get over his grief. Step difficulties and some simple rules for dealing with them.

- Important "don'ts" — such as Don't test tomorrow, and Never strike a bargain with a depressed person.

- The importance of the time of day: some types of depression are easier to handle in the morning, others in the evening.

- A sure-fire way to stop a person from crying.

- Sexual problems: the right and the wrong way to react when your husband or wife loses interest in sex as a result of depression.

- How to bolster a depressed person's self-esteem.

- Electro-shock therapy: the myth and the truth. How countless novels and movie and TV melodramas have surrounded this valuable treatment with an aura of terror that it does not deserve.

- Dealing with the fears of the depressed person.

- How to cope with delusional behavior and hypochondria.

And there is a great deal more. Dr. Cammer also presents the entire arsenal of weapons that modern medicine has developed for treating depression — new drug treatment, physical treatment, psychotherapy, psychiatric hospitalization — and shows how, in each case, the patient's relatives can play a vital role in speeding recovery.

UP FROM DEPRESSION will dispel the feeling of helplessness that is so common when depressive illness occurs. It is a book to read not only for the sake of your relative who may be afflicted with this disorder, but for that of your whole family — because when any one person is touched by depression, everyone in the family is touched by its shadow.

JOHN FORSYTHE—

Establishment All the Way

He's a star—but he has all the ingredients that today's talent scouts couldn't care less about!

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

IN A recent review of John Forsythe's newest film, a critic made the apt comment: "This is another one of those hopelessly anonymous roles that has catapulted him to stardom!"

And so goes the highly successful career of an actor who has made a bundle by developing a handsome, conservative personality. In a word, he's Establishment—all the way to the bank.

I wasn't surprised to find the Forsythes living in an exceedingly comfortable farmhouse-style home, perched high on the hillside in Bel Air. On a clear day you could have seen the Pacific Ocean as you looked out over the sloping lawn, past the yellow roses his wife had planted, and down to the sparkling turquoise pool. Only it was smoggy—again. In the distance you could hear the steady rumble of the San Diego Freeway.

Both features were not part of the enchantment of the home that John and his wife, comedy actress Julie Warren, had fallen in love with and bought when they moved from New York to California 12 years ago. Somehow, however, John seems able to ignore the unpleasant changes that have insidiously crept into his environment, partly because he refuses to take things—himself included—too seriously, and secondly, because his whole outlook on life is based upon a positive viewpoint.

Forsythe stems from a middle-class background and was made to conform as a child. "In the eyes of some people, I may be considered 'Establishment,' yet I strongly identify with the young people of today and admire them enormously. I certainly don't feel a generation gap!"

Yet Establishment he is—in his manner of living, the strength of his 25-year marriage, the upbringing of his children, the roles he plays, his pastimes—tennis, golf, horse racing, poker—his financially sound and conservative attitude in just about everything—except for the Ferrari he drives. "One of the idiosyncrasias that doesn't fit the pattern," he says with a smile.

His father's Wall Street brokerage background influenced John's early life in spite of the fact that he would not take up this same profession. "The two things about me that surprised my father were that I became an actor and a Democrat."

John was born in Carney's Point, N.J. His consuming interest through the early years was sports. Offered a chance to be a sports announcer at Ebbets Field, his uncanny memory for names and records won him not only plaudits for his work but a job at local acting as well.

In spite of good looks and ability, the noting business was tough. John ended up as a photographer's model and waiter along with another would-be-actor—Kirk Douglas. "We made good use of our time," recalled John. "Kirk and I would assume different accents for different tables. The only trouble was, we'd keep forgetting which table was what accent. Believe me, we served a good many confused people!"

His career was further impeded by greetings from the President to join the Army Air Corps in World War II, but instead of flying, he ended up in the cast of "Winged Victory."

His knowledge of speech and voice projection was put to further good use when he was assigned to assist psychiatrists in the area of remedial speech for men who had lost their voices in aerial combat.

After the war, his career prospered—he has hardly ever been out of work. He started in serious Broadway plays and moved to Hollywood for a unique television record—three series, "Bachelor Father," "The John Forsythe Show," and currently, "To Rome, with Love." He has two current major movies, too—Alfred Hitchcock's "Topaz" and Richard Brooks' "The Happy Ending."

"My tv character is a bit on the light side," he admitted honestly. "I don't see myself as that type of person. I am more complex than that. But I have to work only 15 consecutive weeks a year, and the money I make allows me to pay for my children's education, live comfortably, and lets me take the kind of movie roles that I really want to do."

For a brief period when he was involved in both the Eugene McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy campaigns, he was thinking of a career as a public servant as well. "If I were not an actor, I think I could have been involved constructively in that. But I wouldn't do it while I am an actor. I just don't believe anyone can be an actor and a politician at the same time."

His identification with the causes of Kennedy and McCarthy is probably his only real involvement of a non-Establishment nature. He feels that his children's political outlook (he has a son, Dall, now studying for his doctorate at Columbia University, by his former marriage to actress Parker McCormick, and two daughters, Page, 18, and Brooks, 15, by his present marriage) is the actual outgrowth of his own political thinking and that his own attitude is not based on any effort to conform to their thinking.

Unlike most actors, Forsythe doesn't fear old age. "Someone once told me that the more interesting a person is in real life, the more dimensions he will be able to give to the character he portrays on films or stage. I think I am becoming more interesting as a human being as I grow older because I like to live. And I am at least beginning to like myself as an actor a little more—Establishment and all!"

The Creation of The Sun and Moon

The Pieta

The Creation of Eve

FORTUNATE indeed is the man or woman who, in shifting and uncertain times, possesses an acknowledged work of art. For, as astute collectors and connoisseurs well know, the value of great art steadily increases no matter how the winds of change may blow.

Among the world's enduring art treasures, few are valued more highly than the extraordinary works wrought by Michelangelo from his agonized heart and soul. Although nearly five tumultuous centuries have passed since he gave the world his Pieta, his David, his Moses, his Dying Slave, his Allegories of the Medici, and his Sistine Chapel frescoes with their monumental Story of Creation and Redemption . . . Michelangelo's art still expresses, with undiminished power, the innermost yearnings and ideals of man. For experts and laymen alike, Michelangelo remains the most nearly universal artist who ever lived.

How fitting, then, that on the eve of the Quinticentennial of Michelangelo's birth, the masterpieces of this genius of all time should be the subject of a new and unique series of art masterpieces to be created in our time . . . a set of 60 fine art medals reflecting the inspiration of Michelangelo's greatest works, chosen by a distinguished Board of Advisors:

Dr. Charles de Tolnay, Director of the Casa Buonarroti and author of a six-volume study of Michelangelo.

Dr. Umberto Baldini, Curator of Sculpture for the Uffizi Gallery.

Dr. Charles Morgan, Chairman of the Fine Arts Department at Amherst University and author of "The Life of Michelangelo."

Dr. Robert J. Clements, New York University Professor and author of "Michelangelo's Theory of Art."

Dr. Roberto Salvini, Professor at the University of Florence and a specialist on the Sistine Chapel ceiling.

A Treasure of Fine Medallist Art

Now, with The Genius of Michelangelo, the art of the medal reaches a towering peak of achievement. Clearly, this limited First Edition of 60 fine art medals is destined to become a prized possession among connoisseurs, art enthusiasts and investors. On exquisite art such as this, great collections have been founded, treasured legacies begun.

The Franklin Mint, which has conceived this remarkable series of art medals, is the foremost contemporary inheritor of the time-honored tradition of fine medallist art. It has been joined in this magnificent undertaking by the great medallist craftsmen of John Pinches (Medallists), Ltd., of England and The Wellings Mint of Canada.

To capture the greatness of Michelangelo in medallist form, the medallists have commissioned the distinguished Italian sculptor Piero Monassi to work on the scene in Florence, Milan and Rome. Just as Michelangelo himself spent nearly five years bent and aching, on the scaffolding below the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, so Piero Monassi will devote virtually all of the next five years sculpturing the bas-relief models from which the dies will be engraved.

Strictly Limited First Edition

One meticulously crafted medal will be produced each month for the next sixty months. Thus, the entire series will be completed in 1975—~~five~~ five hundred years after the birth of Michelangelo.

Each medal will measure a full 44mm in diameter and will be individually edge-numbered and hallmarked, perpetually certifying its First Edition Proof status.

This edition is limited to one set per subscriber, and the subscription rolls will close February 28, 1970. The number of First Edition Proof Sets produced will be exactly equal to the number of advance subscriptions accepted.

To further protect the integrity of this First Edition, the specially-identified First Edition dies will be destroyed after this edition is completed.

Excellent Investment Potential

Your personal First Edition Proof Set of The Genius of Michelangelo will be minted in your choice of Solid Sterling Silver or Solid Platinum. The cost of your medals—$10 each for silver; $1,000 each for platinum—will be protected against price increases for the entire five years, even if the prices of silver or platinum rise to the extent that the bullion content of each medal is worth more than you pay for it. Many leading economists believe that both silver and platinum will become increasingly more valuable over the years, and therefore this collection has excellent investment potential for its intrinsic metal content, as well as for its value as limited edition art.

To make this unusual price guarantee possible, the Franklin Mint will commit itself—for each subscriber—to purchase, at current prices, a sufficient amount of silver or platinum to cover the complete set of 60 medals. Thus you will benefit from The Franklin Mint's substantial purchasing power and commitment, while being billed for only one medal per month.

So, to begin, or to expand, your "private treasury" of fine art in precious metal . . . to acquire a limited edition as unique as it is beautiful . . . enter your advance subscription application now. Please remember that it must be postmarked no later than February 28, 1970.

After attaching the original to the Sistine Chapel, sculptor Piero Monassi perfects an oversize model to capture a maximum of detail before reduction to medal size.

A handsome collector's display album will be provided to each subscriber at no charge. This album will not only enhance the beauty of your medals, it will also protect their superb Proof finish.

Winter: The Season to

A frozen country lake—fun and danger; a group of boys this best-selling author combines them in a drama

By STERLING NORTH

Author of "Rascal" and "The Wolfing"

IF VERY COLD weather came before the first snow, we had miles of interconnecting waterways on which to skate and to play ice hockey.

Or if the wonderland of snow came first, we had hundreds of hills on which to ski and slide with our Flexible Fliers. In either case, winter in Wisconsin many years ago was a time for celebration for my friends and me.

One Friday night, four of us, ranging in age from 11 to 13, stayed overnight in a cottage on Lake Koshkonong. During the night a wind sprang up, and the thick ice boomed like a cannon. We fixed a big breakfast of bacon and eggs and toast and were eagerly trapping on our skates as the sun edged above the horizon.

The frozen lake was like a mirror. Our skates rang like bells as we raced and romped on the beat ice any of us had ever seen. I happened to be leading the pack, about a mile and a half from the shore, when, almost by instinct, I braked to a sudden stop.

"Hold it, you guys!"

"What's the matter?"

"See that crack up ahead?"

"We should have stayed near the shore," Bud Babcock said. "My mother warned me."

"So did ours," echoed the two Condon boys.

My mother had been dead since I was eight years old. So I didn't say anything. My father never worried about my excursions. He knew that I could take care of myself in any season of the year.

Only a few years before on this very lake, several young skaters had been drowned. The theory was that a flock of Canada geese had overstayed their departure for the South and had kept a small-arena froe of ice. Even after the geese V'd southward and the open water froze over, the ice in this place was too thin to hold the weight of the skaters.

This time there was no such danger. Through the clear water we could see that the ice beyond was at least ten inches thick.

"Let's take a vote," I suggested. "I'm for jumping," Bud Babcock said enthusiastically.

"I'm in favor," Big Condon agreed. "That makes three of us," I said. "How about you, Little Condon?"

The smaller boy shook his head violently and glared at the rest of us.

Almost every time we went skating, we practiced jumping barrels. Even Little Condon could jump one barrel. The rest of us could jump two or three. The crack extended as far as we could see in either direction. It was only three feet wide, an easy jump for any of us, but it was slowly widening even while we voted.

I'll say this for the 11-year-old. He didn't argue or blubber. He just looked grim and determined. In recent weeks he had been trying to build up his muscles. I had lent him my Lionel Strongfort course of exercises and my iron dumbbells. But he wasn't making much progress. He looked thin and pathetically cold and frightened.

"You can make it, Little Condon."

He wiped his nose on the sleeve of his Mackinaw, squared his jaw, and said: "Yeah, I can make it."

We all went back about 100 feet and lined up, one behind the other. Bud Babcock took off first. His skates rang furiously on the ice.

"Whew, I made it!" (We all cheered.)

Big Condon went next. He skated with an easy swagger.

"Hoorah, I'm over." (Cheers.) It was my turn. I felt both exhilarated and slightly frightened. I raced toward the gap, jumped, and landed safely. (More cheers.)

Little Condon hesitated nearly a minute before starting.

"Come on, scardy-cat," his brother taunted.

"Who's a scardy-cat?" Little Condon asked. He came fast, arms swinging. Then, at the last possible second, he braked to a stop on the very edge of the crack.

"You sure are scared," his brother said. "You're a chicken-hearted scardy-cat."

"I ain't, either," Little Condon countered. "You big-bully!"

He went back, about 150 feet this time and came racing even faster toward the open water. We judged correctly the spot where he might light. I stood on one side and Bud Babcock on the other.

"Now jump!" Big Condon yelled.

Little Condon jumped a second too soon, but came flying through the air like a professional. Bud and I grabbed his arms. He had made the longest jump of any of us. We patted him on the back and laughed and cheered.

"Good for you, Little Condon!"

"I'll take it back," Big Condon said. "You ain't a chicken-hearted scardy-cat."

"I'm not even talking to you," the smaller boy said. "You ain't my brother any more."

We skated another four miles to the outlet of the lake. Here we went ashore and built a large bonfire for roasting our wieners. Little Condon still wasn't speaking to his brother. But when Big Condon roasted the largest wiener until it was a golden-brown and had begun to split its skin, then put it in a bun and handed it to his brother, Little Condon had a hard time not bursting into tears. He wiped his nose vigorously on his sleeve. Apparently now we were all friends again.

Winters were like this when I was a boy in southern Wisconsin, particularly on Saturdays and holidays. Bob-sled rides behind a fast-stepping team of horses, hill coasting, sking and skating and ice-boat racing! We had a rough-and-ready affection for each other, not seen frequently these modern days.

One difference between winters in that era and winters today was the quantity of wood we sawed, split, and transported on our sleds. Almost everyone had a wood lot or the use of one, and the sound of the axe and the cross-cut saw was a continuous music through the frosty air.

Most households had old-fashioned wood-burning ranges in the kitchen kept black and shiny with stove polish. Many of the houses also had big fireplaces around which the family gathered in the evening, popping corn, eating apples, sipping fresh cider, and telling stories.

Keeping the wood box filled was always a job for the boys. And it was dimming how many cords of wood had to be sawed and split to feed the hungry ranges, fireplaces and one-eyed, hot-air furnaces (whose single register usually came up in some central room of the first floor).

If you were lucky, you had straight-grained oak or hickory to split. Hickory made the hottest fire and was best for smoking hams and sides of bacon curing in the smokehouse. Pine made the best kindling. Each of these woods had a particular fragrance of its own. Red cedar and balsam were the most spicy and were often used for Christmas fires to blend with the delicious odors of roasting turkey with sage and sausage dressing mince pies and fresh bread baking in the oven, and cinnamon apple simmering in the pan.

But when there was a heavy snow during the night, it was impossible to even reach the woodpile or the barn without first shoveling a path. I can remember winters when the snow lay four feet deep on the lawn and sometimes drifted into the garage twice that deep. Digging out was inevitably a job for the young males of the family.

There were always grandparents or old aunts and uncles who were no equal to the job. They would go to the wall telephone, give the little crank a few twists, and say to the village operator: "Mable—oh, it's you, Dorothy—well, connect me with Judge North's house. I want Sterling to get right over here and shovel me out." Usually I earned a piece of angel-food cake or a wedge of mince pie for my effort. But once I was given a 50¢ piece by my paternal grandfather, a saint with square chin whiskers, who cautioned, "Now, Sterling, don't ever expect such a large amount again." A grandfather or a father was aware of his superior place in the family hierarchy. No boy I know dared to refuse to split wood or shovel snow. In fact, we were proud of our young strength.

But to return to that skating party. After we had eaten all the wieners and toasted marshmallows that any boy could hold, we strapped our skates on again and started down the river. Now we really did hug the shore line because the swift, middle channel was mostly free of ice. Red-headed and downy woodpeckers tapped on the trees along the shore. Blue jays screamed and chased each other. Crows cawed and flapped by on mysterious but highly important errands. Once we saw a handsome red fox. He stopped when he saw us and barked with a high, inquiring voice, then disappeared like a shadow into a grove of willows.

"Wah I'd brought my .28," Big Condon said.

"Aw, you can't hit the broad side of a barn," Little Condon jeered.

"Listen, you guys," Bud Babcock said. "We're supposed to be having a good time, remember?"

We were skating in silence for the most part, rather tired after the 10 miles we had covered. We were saving our breath for the two-mile pull up Saunder's Creek, which runs into Rock River at this point. The creek up which we were skating toward our homes in Brailsford Junction, zigzagged through aspens and willows. The winter sun was already dipping toward the horizon.

"I can lift 50 pounds," Little Condon said suddenly out of this peaceful silence. "I can chin myself eight times, and I can run 100 yards in 15 seconds, too."

"Sure you can," Big Condon said. "Some day I'm going to be as big as you are," the smaller boy said to his brother.

"Maybe bigger," the larger boy kindly conceded.

"Look, Little Condon," I said, "you can keep my dumbbells and my exercising book. You don't have to bring them back."

"Sure I mean it."

"They're expensive. You can't give away a thing like that."

"That isn't too much of a gift," I said, "for a little guy who can jump and skate like you do."

Somewhere in the darkening woods a great horned owl was asking "Who, who, wht, wht, whoooo?"

"I ain't a scared-of-owls," Little Condon said.

Young people still skate on Lake Koahkonong and on Rock River and Saunders Creek as we skated so many years ago. Skate blades flash in the sunlight or the moonlight, ringing like bells on the cold winter air. Perhaps the world has changed less than we have feared.

WILL YOU SMOKE MY NEW KIND OF PIPE

30 Days at my Risk?

All I want is your name so I can write and tell you why I'm willing to send you my pipe for 30 days smoking without a cent of risk on your part.

By E. A. Carey

My new pipe is not a new model, not a new style, not a new gadget, not an improvement on old style pipes. It is the first pipe in the world to use an entirely new principle for giving unadulterated pleasure to pipe smokers.

I've been a pipe smoker for 30 years, always looking for the ideal pipe—buying all the disappointing gadgets, and never finding a single, solitary pipe that would smoke hour after hour, day after day, without bitterness, bite, or sludge.

With considerable doubt, I decided to work out something for myself. After months of experimenting and scores of disappointments, suddenly, almost by accident, I discovered how to harness four great natural laws to give me everything I wanted in a pipe. It didn't require any "breaking in." From the first puff it smoked cool—it smoked mild. It smoked right down to the last bit of tobacco without bite. It never had to be "roasted." AND it never has to be cleaned! Yet it is utterly impossible for goo or sludge to reach your tongue, because my invention dissipates the goo as it forms!

You might expect all this to require a complicated mechanical gadget, but when you see it, the most surprising thing will be that I've done all this in a pipe that looks like any of the finest conventional pipes. The claims I could make for this principle in tobacco enjoyment are so spectacular that no pipe smoker would believe them. So, since "seeing is believing," I also say "smoking is convincing," and I want to send you one Carey Pipe to smoke 30 days at my risk. At the end of that time, if you are willing to give up your Carey Pipe, simply break it to bits—and return it to me—the trial has cost you nothing.

Please send me your name today. The coupon or a postal card will do. I'll send you absolutely free my complete trial offer so you can decide for yourself whether or not my pipe-smoking friends are right when they say the Carey Pipe is the greatest smoking invention ever patented. Send your name and mailing address to me today. As one pipe smoker to another, I'll guarantee you the surprise of your life. Free. Write:

Food in the Italian Tradition

MELANIE DE PROFT
Food Editor

Italy's culinary fame dates back to the ancient Romans, its traditional dishes being influenced very little by other European cultures. Many colorful Italian dishes have tomatoes, garlic, and olive oil as their basic ingredients, yet the foods of the country are as diversified as they are traditional.

Here are recipes designed to bring across a section of Italian cookery to you.

Shrimp Roma

- 1 lb. peeled and deveined shrimp, fresh or frozen
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 3 clove garlic, minced
- 1 medium-sized onion, sliced
- 2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon basil, crushed
- ½ teaspoon marjoram, crushed
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- ½ lb. small shell macaroni, cooked and drained

1. Add garlic and onion to heated olive oil or butter or margarine in a skillet. Cook until onion is tender but not browned. Add shrimp and cook about 5 min. Remove shrimp with a slotted spoon and keep warm.

2. Add tomato sauce, brown sugar, salt, basil, marjoram, and parsley to fat in skillet; simmer 5 min. Mix shrimp into sauce and heat thoroughly. Serve over hot macaroni. Garnish with parsley.

About 4 servings

Pickled Mushrooms

Clean 1 lb. fresh mushrooms having ½-in. caps. Put into a saucepan and cover with equal amounts of white vinegar and hot water. Bring to boiling and cook 5 min. Drain and cool. Pack in a pint screw-top jar and add a mixture of ¼ cup olive oil, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons peppercorns, 2 cloves garlic, quartered, and 1 teaspoon ground mace. Cover mushrooms with white vinegar. Store covered, in refrigerator 2 days. Drain and serve cold.

About 6 servings

Considered a great delicacy in Italian cuisine, shrimp is combined with shell macaroni and an herb-flavored tomato sauce in this top-of-the-range main dish.

Pickled Carrots

Paro 6 to 8 medium-sized carrots and cut into strips. Cook, covered, in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender. Drain and cool. Pack in a pint screw-top jar and add 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 clove garlic, cut in halves, 1 hot green pepper, and ½ teaspoon salt. Cover carrots with wine vinegar. Store, covered, in refrigerator at least 24 hrs. Drain and serve cold.

Zucchini Vinaigrette

French cookery developed in a degree from the Italian. Vinaigrette sauce, for example, with its French title, is a commonly used oil and vinegar Italian marinade.

- 5 or 6 medium-sized zucchini
- ½ cup white wine vinegar
- 1 pkg. Italian salad dressing mix
- ½ cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 cups finely chopped green onion
- 3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

1. Cut ends from zucchini, then cut each into 6 to 8 lengthwise pieces. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water about 3 min., or until crisp-tender. Drain if necessary and turn into a shallow dish.
2. Combine the vinegar with dressing mix, oil, green pepper, parsley, green onion, and pickle relish in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Cover and shake vigorously to mix well.
3. Pour vinaigrette sauce over zucchini and turn pieces to coat. Chill several hours or longer.

Italian Green Beans

Cook 2 pkgs. (9 oz. each) frozen Italian-style green beans according to package directions. Drain if necessary. Meanwhile, heat about 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in a small skillet and season with desired amounts of lemon juice and garlic powder. Pour over hot green beans and toss to coat.

Doctor Developes Home Treatment that

RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES

In 15 Minutes or Your Money Back!

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque 15 Minute Treatment Must Show Immediate Improvement or — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A leading New York Doctor working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple medicated home-treatment that rinses away blackheads and whiteheads in a matter of minutes. It was demonstrated recently on five teen-age girls and three teen-age boys. The results were breath-taking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cloth used to wash off the Masque. But this wasn't all! Acne-pimples improved after one application, enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexions became cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. These results certainly indicate why teen-agers, both boys and girls, are now saying "this is one product that really works", for good, clear, clean, healthy skins . . . and why mothers of teen-agers have heartily endorsed its use. The Masque Cream Treatment is indeed a remarkable discovery, not only for healthy skins, but also for the confidence, poise and self-esteem a fine complexion brings to teen-agers!

Anyone Can Use It

If you suffer the agony of teen-age blackheads, whiteheads, acne-pimples and rough, unsightly complexions give yourself this home treatment at our risk. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" were softly kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads and foreign impurities. As it firms and hardens, its suction-action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your towel. And your skin feels clean . . . really clean . . . refreshed, smooth like velvet!

Start Now to Improve Your Complexion

Now is the time for action. Don't take a back seat or be a wall-flower because of bad skin. If you want to get your full share of fun and parties . . . clear up your complexion and let Mint Julep Masque "Lead the Way"! You owe it to yourself to try a single fifteen minute home treatment to convince yourself that this new Queen Helene masque cream can work wonders for you.

Attention! MOTHERS of Teen-Agers

Queen Helene Mint Julep Masque is a MUST for you, too! It will help tighten sagging skin on face and throat, relax tired face muscles and stimulate a fresher, cleaner, more-youthful complexion. Try a Medicated Mint Julep Masque Treatment YOURSELF. You'll be delighted with the skin-tightening experience and more alive feeling that comes with every home-treatment.

Queen Helene Mint Masque is only $3.00 for the six ounce jar, enough for over 3 months of daily home treatments. Buy it today! Start using it immediately! ## QUIPS AND QUOTES

A wife happened to be listening when her husband phoned the Internal Revenue Service in their city. The husband's initial question was: "How much tax is there on a $75,000 income?"

"About $45,000, not counting deductions."

"Well, what about $150,000?"

"Then the bill jumps to more than $105,000," the tax expert replied.

—"Thanks very much," said the man and hung up.

The wife couldn't repress her curiosity. "What was that all about?"

"I'm just deciding," replied her husband, "whether to buy one or two tickets on the Irish Sweepstakes."

I'll guide you step by step into your own thriving business

• While keeping your present job, would you like to gross $12 or $18 profit per hour?

a true story by Bob Ferrel

SOME YEARS AGO I was a printer in a small Michigan town. I drew a pretty fair pay check but it wouldn't stretch far enough to provide the kind of living I wanted for my wife and five children.

Then one day I was reading a magazine just as you now do and I saw an ad. It intrigued me. It offered me the steadily growing income I had always hoped for. It said I would have greater security and personal independence. . . and that's what I had been wanting.

I was a little skeptical, but I said to myself, "for a postage stamp I can find out." So I mailed the coupon. In a few days, I got a letter with a booklet that gave the whole story. It opened my eyes. I could see why owning my own business was so much easier than I had always thought. . . why the day to day guidance of a successful worldwide organization could assure my own success.

I read the booklet several times. It just seemed too good to be true. I talked it over with my wife. We decided that now was the time to make the forward step. . . there was no reason to keep postponing an income increase.

So, I applied for a Duraclean dealership and I was accepted. I stayed with my job. . . ran a few ads. . . sent some friends. . . contacted a few stores and told my neighbors about the superior service I was now equipped to give them. Evenings and Saturdays, I rendered the service.

As the business grew, I added service calls and I found that I didn't have to develop a single job myself. Every step had been prepared for me and pre-tested. Hundreds of other men had already proven my methods successful.

It didn't take long to see that I was making three to four times (yes, 3 to 4 times) as much per hour in my own business as in my printing job. So, after only seven months with a good following of customers, I quit my job to go full time on my own. In the meantime, I had enjoyed all this extra income on top of my salary.

Each day, we realized what a serious mistake not making that coupon would have been. . . and how that little act that seemed so trivial at the time actually changed our lives.

The steadily growing income brought us many things we could not afford before. My efforts were so much more productive. I scheduled my time to my own liking. When we wanted a day or two off, we took it. I worked hard but, if I wanted to be home early or quit at noon, I did.

This is not a business for a lazy man. But if a man is ambitious and will work to deserve those nice things in life we all want, this business is made to order for such a man.

I became so enthusiastic about this business and so appreciative of what it had brought my family that, whenever a man opened a dealership near me, I helped him get a quick start.

The company learned about this and had each new dealer in my section of Michigan spend a day with me. One day the president of Duraclean Company asked me how I would like to move to Headquarters and spend my entire time helping dealers to increase their sales and profits.

That was good news to my ears. Since then I have worked with hundreds of our dealers in their own towns and at regional meetings, conventions and dealer group meetings. In much of the time I am right here at my desk in touch with our dealers by letter and telephone.

Incidentally I sold my dealership at a good profit. Dealers sell their Duraclean businesses for up to ten times their cost. After 30 months, Leo Lube sold for $7,116 above his cost. For any reason a dealer wants to sell, we maintain a service to locate buyers and help him sell.

Our job here at headquarters is to show each individual Duraclean dealer how to use his own abilities to bring him greatest success. I know hundreds of our dealers on a first name basis. We work together as one happy family. If you become a Duraclean dealer, I'll be as close to you as your telephone or mail box.

It's Easier than You Think To Build Your Own Business

If you've wanted to BE YOUR OWN BOSS. . . to become financially independent and have a fast growing income, now YOU CAN. . . And you own a Nationally Advertised business.

You can stay at your present job while your customer list grows. . . then switch to full time, lining up jobs for your servicemen to do. One job a day brings a good starting income.

If you hire two servicemen (full or part time) while you keep your job, the national price guide provides you a gross profit of $12 an hour on their work-and this is much easier to do than you think. We show you how. . . step by step. That's $420 for a 35 hour week.

Your gross profit per hour as a serviceman is $18 per hour. Duraclean dealers find it easy to gross $6 per hour on EACH serviceman plus $9 an hour on any service they themselves render. The 24 page illustrated booklet we'll mail you (with no obligation) explains how most of your gross profit becomes clear net profit. Your income is limited only by the number of servicemen you employ.

You can operate from a shop, office, or your home. Equipment is light and portable.

At the start, you may want to render service yourself. . . or you may start with full or part time servicemen. This business is easy to learn. . . easy to start. . . so easy to service that women dealers do it. We prefer you have no experience. . . not have to "unlearn" old ways.

We are NOW enlarging this worldwide system of individually-owned service businesses. If you are reliable and are willing to work to become financially independent, we invite you to mail the coupon.

When you receive our illustrated booklet, you will see the way we show you step by step how to quickly get customers. . . and still more customers from their recommendations.

You have 6 superior services that are rendered "on location" in homes, offices, hotels, theaters, clubs, motels and institutions.

These are not ordinary services. You have the prestige and endorsement of leading furniture makers and carpet mills, of Paronita Magazine and McCall's, of Research and Testing Laboratories.

National magazine advertising explains superior merits of your services, builds your customer confidence and brings job leads to you.

We and a Duraclean dealer will train you and assist you. He'll reveal his successful, proven methods. You have pre-tested newspaper and yellow-page ads, commercials, and a full mailing program.

Stores, upholsterers, insurance adjusters, and decorators refer jobs to our dealers. These year 'round services are in constant demand.

Start Small, Grow Big in this Booming Business

Many men have said to us, "I can't afford to give up my job till I know I have a sure thing. . . a sound business that will provide both security and a better living for my family."

That made sense to us so we worked out such a plan. . . and those same men are now enjoying a Duraclean dealership in many communities. You don't experiment. You use tested, proven methods. You have our backing and "know how."

Does this appeal to you? Don't decide now. Mail the coupon so you'll have the facts to decide wisely. There is no obligation. You'll then know whether this is what you want.

You can start small and grow big. A third century ago Duraclean was an idea. . . but it caught fire and spread to a world wide service. Why did it spread? (1) superior processes. (2) proven customer-getting methods (3) Day to day guidance from Headquarters.

Our first service, the care of upholstery and carpets not only cleans, it softens the fibers, revives dull colors. Pile stays with new life. There's no harsh machine scrubbing. No soaking. Mild aerated foam lightly applied lifts out dirt, grease, many unwanted spots like magic. Furnishings are used again in a few hours.

Government figures show service businesses are growing faster than industries and stores. . . $758 million yearly potential just in rug and furniture cleaning. Your 5 other services are explained in the free booklet we'll mail you.

Less than $1000 establishes YOUR OWN business. A day's profit more than pays the monthly payments we finance for you.

Men frequently take in partners. We furnish electric equipment and, with first shipment, enough materials to return your TOTAL investment. If you have good habits and know the importance of customer satisfaction, you can likely qualify for a Duraclean dealership.

TODAY is the time to re-ave a Duraclean dealership, before someone takes your location.

It's been said, "Opportunity knocks but once at every man's door." This could be that one rare opportunity in your life.

It is surprisingly easy to learn this business. You can decide from the information we will send you whether to apply for a dealership. So, with no obligation whatever, mail the coupon TODAY. Cut it out NOW so you won't forget to mail it.

Are You Budgeting —Enjoying It Less?

By TERRY SCHAERTEL

Clifford Sommer, president of Security Bank and Trust Company in Owatonna, Minn., counsels Rodney Killo and family regarding an auto loan.

"MY GRANDPARENTS had so little money, they'd be called poor today," commented a well-dressed, middle-aged matron.

"Nevertheless, they saw to it that all five children went to college; they owned their own home; had a comfortable retirement; and were able to leave my parents money.

"I don't know how they managed. I do remember all those little envelopes in the big brown budget folder. Every week some change or a few bills would go into 'Mortgage,' 'Education,' 'Sickness,' 'Savings.' But that doesn't work for me. And it's a bore. Besides, my husband is making more now than ever before, but I can hardly make ends meet!"

No—that old way of budgeting doesn't work well for anyone any more. Salaries may be higher than ever, but expenses and taxes are higher, too. And the trend looks like it will continue.

By the 1980s, 31 percent of American families will be in the $10,000 to $15,000 bracket; 12 percent will be in the $15,000 to $25,000; 24 percent in the $7,500 to $10,000. While today the salary range of $5,000 to $7,500 accounts for 20 percent of the American working force, by 1980 it will be only 12 percent. And incomes of less than that will have been reduced to roughly 3 percent.

What's needed right now, for today's young families, is a new kind of budgeting to go with the new incomes. Scrimping until each purchase can be made is pretty ineffectual in an economy with as wide a use of credit as ours. More and more people buy everything from can openers to vacations on a buy-now, pay-later basis.

To find out more about the right budget for the family of the future, FAMILY WEEKLY spoke with the Foundation for Full Service Banks, a nonprofit organization representing more than 6,000 banks. The answer seems to be in long-range financial planning.

A major difference in the old and new concepts is this: financial planning is a carefully executed schedule of guidelines to future spending and saving—and not just the recording of past errors.

Planning takes into account total income (hidden and apparent) and such outlays as investing in the market, setting up trusts, putting your estate in order, and planning for college expenses. It also requires the will power to forego immediate pleasures for the sake of long-term needs or goals.

There are five steps in planning this better use of income and outlay, according to experts at the foundation.

1. Establish realistic short-term as well as long-term goals. Some of these may include a new car in another year, a larger (or smaller) house in five years, college expenses for son or daughter in 10 years, retirement in 20 or 25 years, setting up an estate and planning to build upon it.

2. Estimate total income for the year. For many people, this includes more than salary or wages. Don't forget dividends on stocks, veteran pensions, interest on savings account, and other income. Don't forget, either, how much most of these additional sources of income are cut into by

More and

Here's a five-point program from banking experts which will let you live comfortably today—and a little extravagantly tomorrow taxes. Be sure your totals are what you have left after those big bites.

For individuals whose income is irregular—such as commission salesmen, free-lancers in any field, professionals depending on fees—a yearly minimum income should be determined and that amount divided into equal parts: monthly or quarterly periods work well.

3. The year's fixed expenses should be totaled. These would include taxes, rent, mortgage payments, utilities, insurance, union dues, installment debts, school tuition. The total would be spread out into equal periods.

The money needed to meet these expenses should be kept in a separate savings account (or a regular-account, if you prefer). This way, you eliminate the last-minute scramble to pay large bills which should have been expected but somehow were not planned for.

4. Similarly, estimate your total flexible (nonrecurring) expenses, and divide by the budget period you are using. This is a good area to include maintaining an emergency savings fund of at least six months' take-home pay.

The other flexibles are the more familiar: clothing, furniture, contributions, medical care, recreation, vacations, and entertainment.

At this point, your experience with planning will make it easy to go into a more detailed listing and estimating of regular living expenses—such as children's allowances, food, household supplies and domestic help, laundry, auto maintenance, etc.

5. One of the most important phases of financial planning—and essential to your peace of mind—is the plan to repay old bills and debts. These, of course, include installment payments, bank loans and outstanding department-store charges. But don't forget loans from friends or relatives. These loans are part of your regular living expenses.

Now, with all your known expenses and income spread before you, a financial plan can be put together. Total expenses and income for each time-period should be matched against each other—and hopefully balance out.

If you are fortunate enough to have a surplus of earnings over expenses, it should go toward speeding the realization of some of the goals outlined earlier.

If, on the other hand, there is more outlay than income, it's time to re-evaluate. When you have the entire financial plan clearly before you, it's easier to see where a cut-back will hurt your over-all plan the least. It's the "sacrifice" something when the end result is so worthwhile.

One way to get everything back into balance is a bill-consolidation loan from a bank; then you can retire a number of nonrecurring bills, thereby planning your payments over a longer period with a net savings in your outgoing monthly cash.

Another possibility is to have a family discussion and get everyone interested in giving up one thing, temporarily, for the greater benefit of the whole, and thereby saving interest charges.

Incidentally, surveys have shown that money in the family is not best handled on a democratic basis but rather on the basis of which one—husband or wife—has the better know-how and temperament. "Either the wife or husband develops this money sense," according to Clifford C. Sommer, president of the Security Bank and Trust Company of Owatonna, Minn., "because today's young families are handling more and more money all the time.

"Financial planning requires the same expert guidance one gets from any other professional area—and should be as much a part of your routine as regular check-ups by your physician." ♦

napkin      fuzzy      liquid      whisper misty      chicken      velvet      zigzag punch      camel

Your child will learn how to read these and more than 300 other words after working with the very first record of The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

Try out this Phonics Course FREE FOR TWO WEEKS with your child in your own home—without risking a penny. Mail the coupon below.

If your child is a poor reader, if he has not been able to keep up with his class in school—here is a way that you can help him. Many parents have seen their poor readers gain up to a full year's grade in reading skill in just six weeks with the Sound Way to Easy Reading.

As soon as your child starts playing the records and using the charts of The Sound Way to Easy Reading you will know why it works so well. It takes the mystery out of learning to read because it teaches your child by the phonics method (the method by which most parents learned to read years ago).

Teaches with records

With this course your child discovers that letters have sounds. When he starts sounding out the letters he hears himself saying the word. He's reading.

The records drill him in the sounds of the 26 letters of the alphabet and their blends. By the time he completes the first record (about two weeks for the average child) he can read 300 words. After finishing all four records he has been taught 128 basic phonics sounds.

Once he knows these sounds he can read up to 85% of the words in the English Language. It works for children of all ages—in the earliest grades and even in high school. Its records tell your child exactly what to do, so he can teach himself without any help from you.

Tested and Proved

In a pilot study by university psychologists, children gained up to a full year's grade in oral reading skill after only 30 lessons with The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

A semester-long study involving 214 pupils in four Chicago schools proved that the classes given The Sound Way to Easy Reading showed marked improvement in reading and spelling over the control groups.

Don't think it's all your child's fault if he hasn't learned to read.

Many of our brightest children are not able to grasp the "look-and-say" method taught in most schools today. Yet, many educators insist that at least 40% of our children must have formal training in phonics—that they will never master reading without it!

Help Your Child Now

So don't wait for your poor reader to reach high school before coming to his aid. By starting your child on The Sound Way to Easy Reading now, you can change his entire attitude toward school—turn his sense of failure into the joy of success. Try it free for two weeks. You send no money—just mail coupon.

USED BY 50,000 PARENTS

who send many letters like these:

Better reader—"At the end of his first semester in fourth grade, Gerald's highest mark was a D-minus. After working 6 weeks with the records his lowest mark was C."

Mrs. William Leger, Buffalo, N. Dak.

Your sons—"In twelve weeks, two of our boys brought up their reading grades from D to B. And our other two came up from D to C. I'll never get more for my money than I already have with your course."

Mr. John Gable, Jr., Caswell, Wis.

IN 15,000 SCHOOLS

Teachers are highly enthusiastic!

Recommend to parents—"We are using your course for remedial work in reading and phonics instruction. The children have been greatly helped. I recommend it to parents as a home-tutoring course for poor readers."

R. E. Pinson, Principal, Augusta, Ga.

A pleasure to hear my class read—"I am just delighted. In the last twelve weeks 22 of my 20 fourth grade pupils brought up their scores in silent reading. Their oral reading is so improved it's a pleasure to hear them now."

Mary L. Henderson, Crawley, La.

You'll get Perry Mason's very latest case together with four more Perry-Masons and four Donald Lam-Bertha Cool mysteries (by Gardner writing as A. A. Fair). And we'll add brand new spellbinders by Rae Foley and Thomas Dewey for good measure!

That's 11 full-length mysteries, bound into 5 convenient hard-bound volumes. In the publishers' original editions, these 11 mysteries cost $43.20. But as a new member, they're yours for $1 to introduce you to the advantages of membership in the Detective Book Club.

Out of the 300 or more new detective books that come out every year, the Club selects the very cream of the crop. Outstanding authors like Erie Stanley Gardner, Agatha Christie, Milgrom G. Eberhart, John Creasey, Van Wyck Mason and many others have had their books selected by the Club. Many are members themselves.

Club selections are all newly published books. As a member, you can get three of them each month complete in one handsomely-bound triple volume (a $12.40 to $13.85 value in publishers' editions) for only $3.39, plus a few cents for mailing charges.

You don't have to take a volume each month. You receive a free copy of the Club's Preview which describes all coming selections and you may reject any volume before or after receiving it. You pay no money in advance, no membership fee. You may cancel membership at any time.

Send no money now. To get eleven top mysteries for the special new-member price of only $1, simply mail the coupon.

Please enroll me as a member and send me the four hard-bound volumes of Gardner/Fair thrillers, PLUS the 3-in-1 Club selection containing the latest Perry Mason and 2 other great mysteries. I enclose no money. Within a week after receiving my books, I will either return them and owe nothing or keep all five volumes, containing eleven first-rate mystery stories, for the now-member price of only $1.00 (plus a few cents mailing charges).

As a member, I am to receive advance descriptions of all future selections, but am not obligated to buy any. For each future triple volume I decide to keep, I will send you only $3.39 (plus a few cents mailing charges). I may reject any volume before or after I receive it and I may cancel my membership at any time. (Books shipped in U.S.A. only.)

You'll never need to buy another pair of socks again— for the rest of your life! (unless your laundry loses them)

These revolutionary
8-ply socks are so indestructible...
you can order
FREE replacements for any you ever wear out... anytime!

12 pair

When our new merchandise man was offered an exclusive on these indestructible nylon socks, he called the manufacturer a liar.

"Can't be done!" he said. "If the socks are as strong and durable as you claim, they've got to be so stiff underfoot, they'll be unwearable!"

"Kitten-soft," said the manufacturer.

"Then they won't wash satisfactorily."

"Always come out like new," barked the manufacturer. "Permanent colors, lasting texture and shape."

"Or you'll weasel the guarantee," added our man, doubtfully.

"Unconditional!" snapped the manufacturer.

"What's the catch?"

"No catch, no secret!" said the manufacturer happily. "8-ply DuPont nylon — instead of the usual 4. Woven so closely, they make ordinary socks look like they're three-quarters air, by comparison! Styled by one of the world's great sock designers—for perfect proportion and fit. Guaranteed to wear forever, in normal use. That 'normal use' simply means don't burn holes in them deliberately, or try to cut them with scissors or razor."

We still had to be shown. So we got samples. And we wore them. And wore them. And machine washed them. And laundromatted them. And tortured them. Like wearing one pair for a week straight—till we thought they'd drown in sweat.

Then we washed them — with no sweat! They looked and felt like new. The socks didn't surrender. We did. They're for real—and forever!

So here they are. The forever socks. All black, or in a 6-pair assortment of smart solid colors to complement any wardrobe, 2 pair black, 2 charcoal, 1 navy, 1 loden. Ankle length, with elastic tops for snug fit. Fit any size 10½ to 13.

Just pour 4 Motaloy tabs into your gas tank . . . and you've started your engine rebuilding job! Each tab is a scientifically compounded alloy of 9 metals and elements. As you drive, tiny Motaloy particles are refiled into the fuel. These Motaloy molecules are carried through the fuel line into the combustion chamber . . . where the intense heat of ignition activates them to soften, then remove carbon deposits. Then, Motaloy starts metal-plating pitted and worn surfaces of cylinder walls, piston rings, valve seats, and stems.

A SINGLE MOTALOY TREATMENT DOES ALL THIS FOR YOUR ENGINE!

The more you drive, the more protection Motaloy deposits in the form of a fine, anti-friction metal plating that rebuilds, smooths, and protects vital surfaces! As Motaloy continues to plate and re-plate, engine compression is increased without a ring and valve job! Gas mileage improves, your engine eats less oil! And over fifteen years of use by over a million motorists—some of them with cars that have clocked over 100,000 miles after a single Motaloy treatment—prove that Motaloy can keep your engine running younger and peppier . . . for years longer!

PROTECTS NEW ENGINES... REJUVENATES OLD ONES!

Getting a new car? Start it off with a Motaloy treatment—6 dollars of protection that can mean invaluable extra engine life for your car. Can actually help maintain full factory compression for the life of your car . . . so you'll get better performance for years longer . . . and a better trade-in or resale price whenever you decide to sell! And Motaloy's track record on cars that have rolled up 30,000 . . . 70,000 . . . even 90,000 miles shows fantastic results in improved compression, lower gas and oil consumption, better pickup, smoother running—just as if the engine were years younger! Give your car's engine a new . . . and longer . . . lease on life with amazing Motaloy! Remember—a single Motaloy treatment lasts for the life of your car! And Motaloy cannot harm even the finest engine in any way!

"About 1960 I put some Motaloy tabs in my gas tank, and I have driven this Mercedes-Benz 135,000 miles since!"

L.A.M., Sioux City, Iowa

"About 5 years ago I put Motaloy tablets in my Cadillac. I drove this car 175,000 miles and it never used any oil between changes—1,500-2,000 miles!"

P.P.O., Cincinnati, Ohio

"My Chevrolet had 40,000 miles on it. It had noisy valves and other troubles. Motaloy corrected all this. It is running better than new!"

E.F.M., Waterloo, S.C.

"After using Motaloy in my Chevrolet my compression increased an average of 31%, pounds-per-cylinder, which to me is conclusive proof that Motaloy will do everything that is claimed for it."

W.P.C., Elview, West Va.

"My Dodge used one quart of oil every 225 miles. After using Motaloy I drove 1,741 miles and did not have to add any oil."

G.W., Cincinnati, Ohio

"Since adding Motaloy I have driven more than 1,500 miles, and I must say that I am amazed about the wonderful results. My gas consumption improved 40%, and my oil consumption is practically nil."

W.G.K., Fort Atkinson, Wash.

TESTS BY TRINITY TESTING LABS PROVE MOTALOY RESULTS!

Radioactive Isotope Tracer Tests Confirm Motaloy's Plating-Action!

... The activation of the Motaloy and the subsequent tracing operations of the activated Motaloy was conducted by an independent research laboratory especially licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission to supervise the industrial application of radioactive isotopes.

Approximate Amounts of Activated Motaloy Deposited on the Surfaces (after approx. 60 hours of operation)

Piston Rings	Light
Piston Skirt	Light
Cylinder Walls	Light
Intake Valve Face	Very Heavy
Exhaust Valve Face	Heavy
Intake Valve Seat	Heavy
Exhaust Valve Seat	Medium

The above tracing of the radioactive Motaloy is positive proof of the actual transfer of the Motaloy particles from the gasoline tank on to the surfaces of the above surveyed parts of the engine.

Have you any idea what it means to live with two king size men?

(one of whom is a fast growing teenager)

It means standing on tiptoe to be kissed by a tall teenager. It means many football-training table meals. It means running when they walk. And it means having my heart ache when they try on their clothes.

Why? Because the clothes my 6'4" husband and 6'6" son wore never seemed to fit right. I'd almost cry to see my two handsome men in skimpy shirts or slacks, or in clothes that just weren't in style.

In our town there are many good men's shops, and I tried shopping for them myself. But whatever I picked out, the answer was always the same: "Sorry, Ma'am, we just don't have it in those sizes."

Then one day a friend showed me the new King Size catalog. It was a revelation. I could see these people were big men specialists. They understood. For here were 128 pages crammed with smart, stylish clothing and shoes—sweaters, slacks and jackets—all specially designed for tall and big men: Neck sizes to 22", sleeves to 38", Slacks, including New Flare Bottoms with Inseams to 42"! And would you believe, such famous brand names as McGregor, Arrow, Manhattan, Jantzen, Weldon? 200 shoe styles in sizes from 10 to 16, widths AAA to EEE—ranging from DuPont Corfam, Hush Puppies, Bates Floafers, to many others.

What's more, the King Size people don't give you just an ordinary guarantee. They say you must be satisfied BEFORE and AFTER wearing, or you get an immediate refund or exchange. What could be fairer?

If you have a king size problem with your husband, son, brother, or boyfriend, why don't you solve it the way I did? Just sit down and write for the King Size Catalog. It's FREE. When it comes, you and the big men in your life will discover how much fun buying the right clothes can be.
