Downtown Plan OK

Twin Falls City Council members today had voted to accept a report of the Downtown Coordinating Committee authorizing the architect to go ahead on final downtown improvement plans. The report, approved by the council, also included commitments from the Twin Falls Off-Street Parking Corp., Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency, and a report on Local Improvement District 85. Before adopting the resolution approving the report, Councilman Paul Ogden said he wanted to know just what the city is obligating itself for in future expenditures. City Attorney William Langley said the resolution would indicate the city's good faith in participating in the downtown redevelopment, but made no specific commitments on expenditures in future years. He said the city would set the amount to be spent at the time of adoption of each year's budget. It is planned the city will make $70,000 available for the current year. Preliminary plans have been completed and approved by all cooperating agencies. Final plans will be prepared before reconstruction can begin. City Council members also approved an ordinance amending the city zoning ordinance to permit the sale of new and used travel trailers, not over 30 feet in length, campers, boats and boat trailers in the commercial local zone. It also includes new and used snowmobiles.

Tempers Flare As Seven Receive Trial Verdicts

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal court jury Wednesday found all the defendants in the tumultuous trial of the "Chicago Seven" innocent of conspiring to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention but convicted five of crossing state lines with intent to incite riots. The jury of 10 women and two men returned its verdict after more than 41 hours of deliberations over five days. It came 21 weeks to the day after the militant antiwar protest leaders went on trial Sept. 24 before U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffmann. Guilty verdicts on the intent-to-incite riot charges were returned against David T. Dellinger, 53, and Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29, leaders of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. Youth International Party (Yippie) leaders Abbott H. Hoffman, 32, and Jerry C. Rubin, 31; and Thomas E. Hayden, 29, a co-organizer of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS). University professors John R. Froines, 30, and Lee Weiner, 30, were acquitted on both counts against them. They were charged with plotting to firebomb an underground garage near convention headquarters. Hoffman did not immediately accept the sentence but vowed to appeal. He faces sentences of up to five years in prison and $10,000 fines. All of the defendants already are in jail serving contempt sentences. The sentences, which range up to almost 2 1/2 years, were imposed Saturday and Sunday by the judge for courtroom disruptions during the turbulent, 4 1/2 month trial. Hoffman refused to grant bail after Wednesday's convictions. "I have determined they are dangerous men to have at large," he said.

Nixon Talks Of Hanoi's War Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon declared Wednesday the United States would be "flexible and generous" if Hanoi seriously decided to try to reach a negotiated end to the Vietnam War. In his lengthy foreign policy message to Congress, Nixon offered no dramatic revelations about the prospects for peace at the Paris talks or America's strategy for disengagement. Neither did he give any hint as to what the United States would show flexibility if the Communists get serious. He recognized that North Vietnam faces "serious and complicated issues in making the fundamental decision to seek a genuine settlement. They have to be prepared to end the bloodshed and to negotiate in the true sense of the word," Nixon said.

House Passes Bill To Hike Official Pay

BOISE (UPI)—The House approved after two minutes of explanation Wednesday and sent to the Senate a bill to raise salaries of all elected state officials. Chairman H. Ford Koch—R-Boise, of the State Affairs Committee steered the bill to passage, 41-16. There was no opposition. Noting the governor's salary would be hiked to $30,000 from the present $17,500 per year, he said Gov. Don Samuelson has indicated the chief executive should be paid more than any other state official. At $30,000 Koch said, the governor would receive slightly more than all other officials. Other raises would include boosting the lieutenant governor, a part-time official, from $3,000 to $5,000; the attorney general and the public instruction superintendent from $12,500 to $18,000; and the secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer from $12,500 to $15,000. He said the salaries of the attorney general and public instruction superintendent would be raised to amounts greater than some of the others because it was felt their responsibility is greater. All raises, if approved by the Senate and the governor, would go into effect Jan. 1, 1971 — after the next election.

U.S. Resumes Bombing Missions Over Vietnam

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI)—The United States resumed B52 missions in Vietnam today and reported 10 American GI killed and nine injured in four helicopter crashes. Military sources at the same time said terrorists aiming at American soldiers bombed a theater in the Central Highlands city of Da Lat Wednesday night, killing 10 Vietnamese and injuring 43 others. None of the GI's in a 20-room U.S. billet above the theater was hurt. The B52s had suspended Vietnam strikes for more than 40 hours to join the U.S. 7th Fleet at sea in the Gulf of Tonkin, which is part of the North Vietnam's and Pathet Lao drive in the Plain of Jars in Laos. They came back to Vietnam this morning to bomb guerrilla troop concentrations in the Seven Sisters Mountains 128 miles west-southwest of Saigon and in the Central Highlands. Guerrilla ground fire shot down two of the downed helicopters and two others crashed because of mechanical trouble. Guerrilla guns brought down a Huey helicopter Wednesday 84 miles northwest of Saigon, killing eight Americans and injuring a ninth. Eleven other Americans were killed when another Huey crashed after mechanical failure 112 miles northeast of the capital on Tuesday. A third transport helicopter crashed 300 yards short of a market place in Da Lat Wednesday, injuring six Americans after the 'copter's rear rotor hit a light pole. Guerrilla ground fire struck an Army light observation helicopter 22 miles north of Saigon Wednesday, injuring both crewmen. In its weekly casualty report today, the U.S. Command said 390 Americans were killed and 590 wounded in action in the war last week. The toll brought to 40,562 the number of American killed in five years of war. South Vietnamese casualties were higher than American losses for the 30th week with 222 dead and 710 wounded. The Communist death toll was put at 2,167. Battlefield reports said Allied troops killed at least 135 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in widely separated clashes on Wednesday.

WHEN A GROUP OF CSI students found part of the cast of the Dillettantes production of "Mame" outside the stage door at the Pine Arts Auditorium the other day, they didn't look too much out of place on the campus. Antiqué cars are a choice item for college students these days, and the "Flapper Days" costume on Georgia Blastock, who plays "Mame," isn't too much different from the coeds' mini-skirts today. From left are CSI coed Virginia Hamling; way; Mrs. Blastock; Fred Van Engelen, Dillettante wardrobe custodian; E. M. Gopner, owner and driver of the 1931 Durant, and Andrea Hillon, Greg Blastock and Tom Norris. "Mame" opens Friday at the Pine Arts Center. Performances are at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 2:15 p.m. Sunday. The show also continues next week.

Arrested

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Customs officials arrested Ravinder Lal Rikhye, 23, as he arrived by air from the United States Wednesday and said-shay-bellave—in the mastermind in a million-dollar hashish smuggling ring between here and the United States. Rikhye, son of Maj. Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, former chief of the U.N. force in the Congo, runs an import business in the United States.

Foreign Aid Hit

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Les Maddox said Wednesday this country would not face an urban crisis if it had channeled a fourth of the $60 billion spent on foreign aid into water and sewerage facilities in rural and semi-rural areas. "People in comfortable little communities throughout America would have stay-at-home opportunities and they would be staying at home rather than flocking to the big city slums and ghettos to add hundreds of millions to the cost of crime, disease, immorality and welfare," Maddox told the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Local Youth Killed In Vietnam War

A former Twin Falls resident, Cpl. Johnny Carter, 20, was killed in action while on active duty with the Marines near Bang Nhay, South Vietnam, on Feb. 15. Cpl. Carter attended Twin Falls schools, and was a member of Boy Scout Troop 63, affiliated with the Central Church. He moved to Des Moines, Iowa, with his parents, a sister, Sandy Carter; stepisters, Linda and Debbie; and his grandmother, Mrs. Lako (Dorothy) Heck, all of Des Moines, and an aunt and uncle in Twin Falls, Mrs. Martha Heck and John R. Heck. Funeral services will be conducted in Des Moines.

Renewal Agency Seeks Property

The Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency has filed a suit seeking to condemn property behind the Idaho Department Store. It is the first suit of its kind in Idaho, it was learned Wednesday. The suit, filed Wednesday in Fifth District Court, is against William A. Johnston, Boise, and Esther Johnson Stea, Portal, Ariz., owners of the property in question. At the present time the only business located in buildings on the property is the Reliable Shoe Store. Speeds Barber Shop has moved to a new location. There is also a metered parking lot on the property. Measuring 50 feet by 125 feet, officials of the Urban Renewal Agency said in the suit, "Although there have been extensive negotiations, no bargain has been reached." The Agency is seeking to purchase the property as part of the downtown improvement program. The property starts at the alley behind the Idaho Department Store and runs to Second Avenue South. It is 50 feet wide.

Funeral Plan Outlined For Navy Veteran

Kirby Newman Jr., killed in an airplane crash eight miles north of the El Centro Naval Air Facility in California, will come home Friday. The senior sailor of Newman's Navy was killed Tuesday. His body will be flown home by the Navy and his brother, George Newman, a First Class Petty Officer in the Navy, will be the escort. Funeral services in Twin Falls are tentatively set for Monday. Kirby Newman, a First Class Petty Officer in the Navy with 17 years of service, was a photographer's mate and a navigator in the F-4 Phantom jet that failed to negotiate a low-level flying maneuver. The plane crashed in a desert area near the huge Naval Air Facility. Killed with Kirby was Lt. Cmdr. William Weeks of Junction, Mich., the pilot. The jet was on an aerial chase mission for the purpose of photographing other aircraft during maneuvers, Navy spokesmen said. Kirby's mother, Mrs. Kirby Newman Sr., was in California visiting her son at the time of the crash and she will return to Twin Falls Friday, it was learned. The Navy is attempting to make arrangements to have the other Newman brothers, all of them on active duty in various parts of the world, home in time for the funeral. Edward and Weldon Newman are aboard the USS Sperry, a submarine tender in the Pacific. Joseph Newman is in San Francisco, and David and John Newman, the latter the youngest Navy brother, are with the USS Yorktown, the service, are stationed at Newfoundland. It was reported the body was flown from El Centro, Mountain Home Air Force Base, to Twin Falls in a private ambulance.

Teachers Object To Part Of IEA In Shoshone Fuss

SHOSHONE—Several teachers in the Shoshone school system have raised objections to the local IEA chapter being used in the controversy raving in the town over the rehiring of the grade school principal when they claim the subject has never been discussed at local chapter meetings. V. C. Ross, high school teacher who said he is a paid IEA member, told the Times-News he objected to publicity saying the IEA chapter will do "such and such" when the controversy never has been discussed at a meeting. He said there have been five meetings this year and he has attended every one. "I don't know who I'm for. The only thing I can base my opinion on is hearsay," Mr. Ross said. Dale Chatterton, chairman of the professional rights and responsibilities committee for the Shoshone IEA unit, Wednesday reported the teachers' efforts to get back together, grade school principal, were being carried to a higher level of the IEA. He said today that voting of the membership on any grievance issue is not necessary in the IEA. "This is the proper chain of command," he explained. "First a matter is handled by the local committee, then taken to the regional level." It was learned about half of the teachers in the elementary school who are protesting the rehiring of Mr. Bowlin are paid members in the IEA, dues of which are $50. Mr. Chatterton also said that teachers are in no way connected with the circulation of a petition asking for their support and the dismissal of Mr. Bowlin. He stressed this is being done by the parents, with no aggression of the teachers. When invited by the Times-News to state the teachers' grievances, Mr. Chatterton declined, stating it did not seem ethical to publicize the reasons for the teachers' criticism. Nine of the 12 teachers took personal one day leave in protest of the school board's decision last week reaffirming its earlier decision in rehiring Mr. Bowlin. School Board Chairman Waldo Jones indicated Wednesday the board had spent many hours thoroughly investigating the allegations and did not feel they were sufficient to fire the principal.

STRAIGHT FROM VIETNAM — though it looks like something out of the Arabian Nights — this 64-pound ceramic elephant is weighed by clerk Con Moser at the Twin Falls Post Office. Truly a miracle of mail-handling, the highly fragile gift was sent by air from Vietnam in just eight days, arriving without a scratch.

Unprotected 64-Pound Elephant, Fragile Type, Arrives Undamaged In Twin Falls

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer

How do you handle an unwrapped, unprotected 64-pound ceramic elephant that has just arrived air mail from Vietnam? "Carefully," very carefully, advised Twin Falls Postmaster Fred Sanger.

The elephant, destined for W. H. Halle, 1600 Poplar St., came from Charles L. Norris, a brother-in-law, stationed in Saigon. It arrived Wednesday at the Twin Falls Post Office, astonishing mail handlers used to strange parcels.

There were no wrappings other than some masking tape around the edges of the ears and on the trunk; the address was taped to the flat "showdial" on the back of the cruet. A customs tag was wired to its neck, listing the elephant as a "bonafide gift" with a declared value of $12.50.

"Someone must have carried that thing on his lap all the way from Vietnam for it to arrive safely," Mr. Sanger said. "When we picked it up to put it on the parcel-post truck for delivery, we discovered it was even more fragile than we had thought. It wouldn't take much of a jolt to chip off a chunk."

Oddly enough, there was no postage on the label, but it might not have adhered too tightly to the masking-tape label, Mr. Sanger said.

At any rate, Mr. Halle and his wife now have one of the most unusual living-room decorations ever seen in Twin Falls. And it wasn't even marked "fragile."

Research Firm Lists Results Of Pollution Poll In Idaho

Idahoans may be divided as to the solutions to the state's pollution problems, but most folks are pretty well agreed on one thing: There is a pollution problem.

A poll of Idahoans by a Boise research firm indicates that 86 percent of all Idahoans believe the state does have a pollution problem. A total of 345 respondents, 70 per cent men and 30 per cent women, were quizzed in Boise, Blackfoot, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho Falls, Lewiston, Moscow and Twin Falls.

On the question "Do you feel we have a pollution problem in Idaho, either water or air," 86 per cent responded affirmatively, 9 per cent said "no," and 5 per cent indicated they didn't know.

On other questions, "Do you feel Idaho's pollution problem is tolerable, intolerable, or not bad, but that something should be done before it becomes a problem?" Answering "tolerable," 10 per cent; "intolerable," 12 per cent; "not bad," 74 per cent, and "don't know," 4 per cent.

"Does Idaho have more of a problem with water or with air pollution?" Replies: Water, 54 per cent; air, 41 per cent; both, 23 per cent; neither, 3 per cent, and don't know, 7 per cent.

"Is Idaho taking precautions to control pollution for the future?" Yes, 31 per cent; no, 41 per cent; don't know, 28 per cent.

"Currently, pollution control is under the jurisdiction of the Idaho Department of Health. Should this jurisdiction be assigned to a separate department?" Yes, 54 per cent; no, 41 per cent; don't know, 5 per cent.

Industry is a bigger problem in pollution, than automobiles, said nearly half of those polled: "Automobiles, aircraft and industry reportedly have been contributing factors to pollution. Which, in your opinion, is the biggest contributor?" Automobiles, 38 per cent; aircraft, 4 per cent; industry, 49 per cent; don't know, 9 per cent.

"Do you want Idaho to increase its economy by expanding industry, increasing population and using more natural resources for economic development at the possible cost of added pollution, additional population and alteration of natural resources?" Yes, 33 per cent; no,

The new "phone book" includes 35 white-page listings in Twin Falls, while the Yellow Pages have grown by 10 to a total of 197 for the valley-wide listing.

'Buckeye' Quarterback Uses Faith To Fight Adversity

By REX KERN

Quarterback Rex Kern, Ohio State University. They tell me that so many homes were tuned in to the Ohio State University football games in the fall of 1968 that you could walk down the middle of almost any Ohio street and hear a full game without missing a play.

Ohio had a special reason to be excited: The Buckeyes of faith, there is nothing to be afraid of in this world, even death. In fact, especially death.

One Friday in my senior year at Lancaster High, George died of a heart attack. He was on his way to see me play in a football game. He died at the gate going in.

I've needed the example of George's faith many times since his death. My back operation wasn't the first or the last trouble I have had. In 1968, as we were fighting our way through those tough nine games and getting closer all the while to our showdown with the University of Michigan, I managed to do the following: Sprain my ankle once, nearly fracture my jaw; suffer a wild siege of muscle spasms in my back; get knocked out cold twice. Yet, none of these things could compare to what happened to me four days before the 1968 Michigan game.

Michigan was rated the fourth best team in the nation; we wore rated second. The only way we could get that bid to the Rose Bowl was obvious: We had to beat them.

Yet on the Tuesday morning before the game, I woke up to find that I could hardly move. I was so sore and stiff I couldn't even get out of bed.

Ernie Biggs, our trainer, hurried over to the dorm, and after that there were doctors and frowns and worried conferences. Coach Hayes commanded that nobody was to know what had happened.

I was plenty concerned, but at the same time I discovered that there was something built into me that kept saying, "He is my refuge... my God, in Whom I trust." At a time when I had reason to be tense, I could relax.

Sometime later I found that it was a cracked vertebra in my back. But on that Tuesday, with massage, my body gradually began to limber up. Even so, I wasn't able to participate in any of the practice sessions.

The first time I put on a uniform was Saturday morning, and then it was to go out and face the Wolverines of Michigan. That day I played a full game. I still don't believe the final score: Michigan 14, Ohio State 50!

Nowadays when I talk to church groups on Sunday evenings, I tell them the details of how the Michigan victory won us the Big Ten Championship and how in the Rose Bowl we took on Southern Cal—including O. J. Simpson—and how 10 points behind, we came roaring up to win, 27 to 10.

I talk about how football is not just physical, it's mental too. It's being razor sharp, but at ease; it's being confident.

And with all of this, I let those Sunday-night audiences know how grateful I am for

A BANKER DISCUSSES:

INFLATION, TIGHT MONEY, AND THE BANKS

Many persons, businessmen included, blame the banks for tight money and high interest rates. Some even blame the banks for inflation. If there was an annual award for the most criticized industry in America, a leading current candidate undoubtedly would be the banking industry.

Do banks really deserve these criticisms? My answer is flatly "no." I submit that most criticisms of banks today arise from a lack of understanding of our present economic situation and of how the credit markets function. Bankers have failed to explain their relationship to what has been happening. This is one criticism of bankers that I think is fully justified.

Hence this open letter. This is an attempt to contribute to better understanding of the nature of our inflation problem and the role of banks in our present-day economy.

BRIEFLY... for perspective, let's go back a few years. During the early part of this decade, specifically 1961-1965, our economy enjoyed balanced growth and stable prices.

Then, in 1966, there was a sharp escalation of government spending — mostly for Vietnam. From mid-1966 to mid-1968, there were large deficits in the Federal budget because the government injected many more dollars into the national spending stream than it took out in taxes.

With employment at a high level and industry operating close to capacity, the impact of increased government spending on the economy was inflationary. Prices and wages began to chase each other upward. While the Federal government must take most of the responsibility, state and local governments, businessmen, consumers, bankers and, in fact, anyone who spent or borrowed more, added fuel to inflation.

By the beginning of 1969, this inflationary boom had acquired considerable momentum. It has done great harm to millions of Americans who are unable to protect themselves against higher living costs. Inflation steals from everyone.

TO COMBAT INFLATION... at this critical juncture, the Federal Reserve Board and the Administration in Washington decided that it was imperative to take some positive anti-inflationary measures. Since January, the Administration has made some progress toward bringing Federal finances under control. This, however, is a slow and difficult process and not necessarily supported by the legislative bodies. The main burden of fighting inflation to date has therefore rested with the Federal Reserve.

Moreover, many borrowers are now turning from the banks to other sources of credit to meet their needs. Some corporations, for example, are now borrowing in the short-term money market by issuing commercial paper. The amount of commercial paper outstanding has more than tripled over the past four years. There has also been substantial increases in direct and guaranteed borrowings from the government and governmental agencies who have entered into direct competition with the banks not only for the loans but also for the funds to loan. A number of such agencies are paying more for these funds than they are receiving in interest on the loans they make.

Hence, through no fault of their own, the banks have been losing ground in the financing business. It will not be an easy matter for banks to regain their former share of this business.

INTEREST RATES RISE... because interest rates are prices — the prices of various types of credit. Like most other prices, their movement up or down is determined largely by forces of supply and demand. And tight money inevitably generates strong upward pressure on the level of interest rates.

When demands for credit are strong relative to the supply, these demands push up the level of interest rates. Borrowers bid up the prices for a limited supply of lendable funds. Determining who is entitled to these limited funds has become a problem for bankers. Should we ration funds on some basis or let price determine their disposition? In reality, both have been used in varying degrees, and Idaho residential building has suffered most. This phase of the economy has been almost priced out of the market since building can be postponed while the credit needs for the growing of crops, raising of livestock and carrying of business inventories must be met.

Some interest rates respond more quickly than others to changes in supply and demand. For example, notes and bonds issued by the U. S. Treasury are traded daily in the market; and these transactions determine the market yields — the market rates of interest — of these securities. Changes in the prices and yields of these securities from day to day clearly reflect the interplay of supply and demand in this key credit market.

Some other interest rates, including bank lending rates, respond more slowly; but if an imbalance between credit supply and demand persists, they are bound to be affected sooner or later. Such an imbalance in the credit markets has persisted for several years, aggravated this year by inflation on the one hand, and on the other, increased restraint on the supply of credit.

A WORD ABOUT BANK PROFITS... Is it true that even though the banks have not caused high interest rates, they are nevertheless reaping huge profits from them? Increased, yes; huge, no. The effects of tight money and high interest rates on current and future bank profits vary greatly from one bank to another, and some effects are hard to measure.

Now, for example, could you compute how much present and future income the banks are losing by having many of their customers turn to other sources of credit during this period of restriction on bank credit?

In 1969 and early 1970, many banks forced to seek new sources of funds in order to meet their commitments to lend to their customers, found the cost of these funds has gone up in proportion. And in banking, as in most businesses, other operating expenses, especially wages and salaries, have been rising sharply.

Finally, it is important to recognize that when interest rates rise, the value of a sizeable portion of a bank's assets declines. Every bank keeps part of its resources invested in fixed-income securities — mostly marketable notes and bonds of the U. S. Treasury, states and municipalities. When interest rates rise, the market value of these investments declines.

Banks have suffered an enormous shrinkage in the market value of their bond investments, and many banks have sold these bonds and taken substantial losses to have funds to loan.

Also, rates do not go up on these loans already made or committed including term-business loans, 25-30 year residential loans made at old rates of 4 1/2% to 5%. The banks in Idaho hold a substantial number of these loans; consequently, it takes a long time to change the overall rate of a bank's loan portfolio either up or down.

To sum up, high interest rates augment banks' current earnings considerably less than many people assume, and at the same time, they cause a decline in the value of every bank's investments and long-term loans.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?... The Federal Reserve authorities clearly have no intention of abandoning their restraint of bank credit until there are more signs of a slackening of inflation. Just how long that may be, no one really knows.

Not a particularly delightful prospect, is it? Unfortunately, this is part of the price all of us must pay for having let inflation get started in the first place. There is no painless way to deal with inflation. Let me assure you that bankers are not one bit happy about this situation. They understand the need for credit restraint to fight inflation. They know that the Federal Reserve's restrictive policy is basically correct even though its primary impact is to curb bank lending.

But I can tell you for sure that Idaho bankers long for a return to easier money, lower interest rates and expanding bank credit. We want more deposits and we want to make more loans. We look forward to the time when we can again operate more normally and more fully perform our proper role of dispensing credit to finance the growing needs of our customers.

I don't feel that prospects for 1970 are totally gloomy. Idaho banks are in a better position to handle the borrowing needs of Idahoans than many banks elsewhere in the country. But I do believe that considerable Federal financial housekeeping is mandatory before inflation can be curbed and credit eased.

Sincerely yours, Fred C. Humphreys, President Idaho Bankers Association

County, Local Jails are Weakest Part Of Corrections System In United States

By ROBERT BETTS
Copley News Service

No part of U.S. corrections is weaker, according to critics of the systems, than the county jails and other local facilities which handle persons awaiting trial and serving short sentences.

Because the inmates seem to present no clear danger to society, the response to their needs may be one of indifference.

Turnover at city and county jails across the nation is around 1.1 million annually.

Classification of prisoners as to their danger to other inmates or need for counseling has been found often to be perfunctory or non-existent.

First offenders, juveniles, women, even those awaiting trial who may be innocent, are imprisoned with confirmed criminals, drunks and mental defectives.

Such institutions are usually administered by police or county sheriffs, enforcement authorities whose experience and concern are mainly in fields other than prison counseling or rehabilitation. Neither have they the time nor the staff qualified to handle these added duties.

Yet it is here, at the primary level of confinement, that such work is most important, say prisoners.

In its 1967 report to the President's Crime and Delinquency Commission, the National Council on Crime and Delinquency suggested that definite steps should be taken to improve conditions in local jails.

"The report quoted penologist Louis Robinson who said a half century ago: "From many points of view, the jail is the most important of all our institutions of imprisonment. The enormous number of jails is alone sufficient to make (one) realize that the jail is, after all, the typical prison in the United States. From two-thirds to three-fourths of all convicted criminals serve out their sentences in jails."

"But that is not all. The jail is, with small exception, the almost universal detention house for untried prisoners. The great majority, therefore, of penitentiary and reformatory prisoners have been kept for a period varying from a few weeks to many months within the confines of a county or municipal jail. . . . Important witnesses also are detained in jail, and it is used at times for still other purposes, even serving occasionally as a temporary asylum for the insane."

The Crime Council's report states, "Now, in the seventh decade, this statement by Robinson and his comments on filth, neglect and maladministration still accurately describe the role and status of jails and short-term institutions in the United States."

The council believes that because jails are at the beginning of the penal continuum, they offer perhaps the "greatest opportunity to restrain the offender from descending down the ladder to maximum security facilities."

It states, "The availability of qualified services at this point could result in promptly removing many from the correctional process who have been awaiting untried and undetected and who are more in need of protective, medical and mental care from welfare and health agencies than they are in need of custodial care."

Original intent had to be short-term holding operations, county and city jails have had to cope with a growing backlog of cases awaiting court action. Untried local prisoners are therefore being held much longer than normal.

Bulging local facilities have been described as nests of "rambo" vice."

A Philadelphia judge, releasing without bail a 20-year-old accused-car thief and check-forger, said, "Even if he's pulled out, it would be a greater crime to keep him in prison that to allow him to repeat the offense."

The youth was said to have been a victim of repeated homosexual rape while held in pre-trial custody.

In Washington, D.C., where homosexual attacks have also been revealed in city and county prisons, a federal judge refused to send four youths to a workhouse to serve five days for contempt because he did not want to subject them to "sexual mutilation in the workhouse."

Such assaults are common in many local jails, authorities say. "It's a result of warehousing a hodgepodge of prisoners in antiquated prisons where they have little or nothing to do," said E. Preston Sharp, secretary of the American Correctional Association.

The Cook County Jail in Chicago, described by one official as "a great big human warehouse," was rocked in 1967 by revelations of corrupt guards, homosexual assaults, murders of inmates and strong conviction control within the prison. A new warden was appointed, a $9 million bond issue was passed to finance jail improvements, 60 per cent of the guards were retested, and the guards' salaries were increased.

Testifying before a House Appropriations subcommittee recently Herman G. Mueller, acting director, Bureau of Prisons, said, "The condition of the more than 3,000 local jails in the United States, without question, contributes directly to the crime problem. For more than half a century little has been done to use the jail as a correctional institution. They have manager, if any, of diagnostic and treatment programs. Personnel are untrained and generally underpaid. Most jails serve largely as warehouses and crime factories — places where impressionable young offenders learn their trade."

Some authorities have moved ahead to improve local conditions. Bucks County Prison, 25 miles north of Philadelphia, recently has been developed into what many experts consider a model of jails. The forbidding exterior of its 85-year-old structure. More guards have been hired and at higher pay. An inmate-screening system assigns all prisoners to work or training programs within 24 hours of their arrival. There is a work release program. More than a third of the inmates attend education classes — one of the highest levels in the nation's prisons.

Multnomah County, Ore. (Portland), among the jurisdictions which have established special facilities as an adjunct to their county jails. The program includes work, counseling, tutoring by college student volunteers, corrective surgery and dentistry.

San Diego County Jail, Calif., boasts some of the most up-to-date facilities in the country — computerized processing, closed-circuit TV to keep surveillance over all strategic points inside the building, plate glass windows instead of bars in the reception wing, psychiatric, medical and dental clinics, an advanced rehabilitative and job placement program.

"It does no good to keep people merely locked up," said jail administrator, Capt. John F. Duffy. "We have to pay regard to their personal problems and needs. Some need job training. Some are already skilled but have for some reason lost their self-confidence or self-respect. They need encouragement to point them in the right direction."

"We have the cooperation of several local welfare organizations who send volunteers to work inside the jail. With the help of volunteer students and volunteers from the University

Democratic Party Suffering Disorder, But Sees Chance Of Gains In Election

By RAYMOND LAHE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats in the Capitol are telling themselves that they can win more congressional seats than they deserve in the Nov. 3 elections.

They are not yet ready to concede heavy losses. What might be expected if the outcome of the congressional elections depended on the existence of strong national and state party organizations.

As an organization, the Democratic Party is suffering from widespread disorder.

That condition was emphasized by the announcement that Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma is resigning March 5, eight months before the 1970 elections. He was a hero of the hickering within a party crushed by debts when it is having trouble raising money to meet the operating expenses of its national headquarters.

When a party chairman is installed, he is expected to carry on through the next election. For Harris, this would have meant the 1970 state and congressional elections.

Democrats who talk about the state elections speak with hope but not with rash forecasts about displacing a host of Republican governors, who now outnumber them in the states 32 to 18.

Although the outlook can change in eight months, Democratic assessments now visualize few changes in the lineup of the House. The Republicans emerged from the 1968 elections with 192 seats, 20 short of a majority. They have lost three seats in special elections to fill vacancies and now need a net gain of 29 to organize the House in 1971.

The Democrats are more vulnerable in the Senate, where 25 of the 100 seats are at stake — 25 now held by Democrats and 10 by Republicans. The GOP needs a net gain of seven to control the Senate next year. Democratic Party managers are not ready to rate the GOP as an even bet to gain those seats. But seven states electing senators this year to seats now held by Democrats are plagued as trouble spots.

Disorder in the Democratic organization is only one problem for the party. Another is a product of the divisions between Democrats in Congress. There are deep splits within the party on some issues. Young liberals in the House are unhappy with the leadership of 78-year-old Speaker John W. McCormack. And they are murmuring threats about unseating some Southern conservative committee chairmen who acquired power through seniority rather than party loyalty.

Any effort to punish committee chairmen would risk driving them across the aisle to the Republican side.

Oklahoma's Department of Corrections, believes the influence that the more sophisticated corrupt individuals exert over beginners is one of the chief causes of recidivism.

Pontessa, a former warden of the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., is very concerned about the increasing number of young drug offenders.

Another recent innovation at San Diego, designed to speed up inmate release, is the acceptance of checks, money orders or credit cards in lieu of cash as bail for prisoners.

The county has established five camps to which prisoners sentenced to the jail are transferred after screening.

Separation and detention facilities for juveniles was one of the recommendations of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice. It also recommended that local jails and misdemeanor institutions be integrated into state correctional systems.

Miss Sheridan, Higgins Say Nuptial Vows

FILER — Patricia Annette Sheridan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Sheridan Sr., and Steven Dewey Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Higgins, Burley, were united in marriage in the Filer United Methodist Church.

Rev. Elam J. Anderson performed the rites before background decorations of orchid-colored chrysanthemums, heather and gladioli. Large candelabra holding lighted tapers flanked the flower baskets.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin and lace which flowed into a chapel train. Her floor-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and fern.

She carried a silk handkerchief borrowed from her mother.

Mrs. Steven M. Sheridan, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cindy Anderson, Carolyn Tidquist and Vicki Kirkman. Pamela and Roberta Moldenhauer were taper lighters.

Collette Sheridan was flower girl and carried a white basket filled with rose petals. Dewey Mahoney was ringbearer.

Stephen A. Herbert, Burley, was best man. Ushers were Phil Hodgo and Mike Robertson.

Burley, and Steven M. Sheridan, Caldwell.

Mrs. E. A. Beem, organist, played the traditional wedding music.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall after the ceremony. Nick Tidquist, Kimberly, was in charge of the guest book, and Rick Schweitzer and Susan Schweitzer, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the gifts.

The bride's table was centered with a five-tiered white cake decorated with orchid-colored flowers and topped with two white doves. Heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the bride and groom flanked the larger cake. Vases of white roses completed the table arrangement. Mrs. Marvin Sheridan, Twin Falls, aunt of the bride, baked and decorated the cakes.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Russell Sheridan Jr., Mrs. Robert Moldenhauer, Mrs. Charles Sheridan and Mrs. Richard Schweitzer. The women of the Martha Circle were in charge of the kitchen.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Sun Valley and Idaho Falls. They reside in Coeur d'Alene.

Guests attended from Caldwell, Idaho Falls, Burley, Glenns Ferry, Kuna, Twin Falls, Inkom, Pocatello, Albion and Kimberly.

50-Year OES Members Feted By Local Unit

A special ceremony was presented for those who have been members of the Order of Eastern Star for 50 years or more when members of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of Eastern Star, met recently at the Masonic Temple for a regular meeting.

Mrs. Edith Jones, worthy matron, and Harold Menser, worthy patron, presided.

A special recognition was given to Mrs. Lulu Severns, a member for 70 years. She was crowned the Sweetheart Valentine of the evening. Mrs. Severns is 98 years old. DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to the woman who said that the mother whose son was lying dead in Vietnam was better off than she, whose 18-year-old son was sick, dirty, living hand to mouth and using drugs.

I run a drug treatment program called R.A.P. (Recognize All Potentials) which deals primarily with adolescent and college-age drug users. Many of them are sick and dirty, living hand to mouth.

When I read them the mother's letter above, some of them said, "I'll be my mother wrote that. She really wishes I were dead."

Abby, please tell that mother to examine her own feelings towards her son. Why has she given up hope for him?

Parents of these young men would worry less about what to tell their friends and more about what to tell their children. I could work less than 20 hours a day attempting to help kids whose parents wish they were dead.

PATRICIA PACKARD Pittsburgh, Pa.

DEAR PATRICIA: It's a great job you and your colleagues are doing. Drug addiction among the young is, in my opinion, one of our nation's most serious problems. If only we had an educational program effective enough to keep our kids away from the stuff, we would not have to work so hard to get them off the stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I guess my problem is a very common one as my husband says all men do the same thing.

Let me explain. A few months ago my husband and I were getting ready for bed, and he reached over to lay his wallet on the dresser and he missed. His wallet fell on the floor and everything in it spilled out. "Plain" could be worn by women together. (I do mean together.)

I was shocked and sick, but pretended I didn't see them. I tried to put it out of my mind. Now this morning when I went into his pants pocket to get a dollar for my daughter to take to school, I found more pictures just like the first. I wasn't spying or prying. I have always gone into my husband's pants pockets with his knowledge and permission.

This time I mentioned it to my husband, and he said all men carry pictures like that around. Do they? What does this mean? Could a man love and respect his wife and carry stuff like that? He never used to act this way. Please answer soon.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Only the emotionally immature would look twice at such pictures. If your husband "never used to act this way," perhaps he is undergoing some personality change due to a physical illness. Ask your doctor. It's "normal" for curious little boys, but not for grown men.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman, unmarried. I live with my father. Dad is 62 and has been divorced from my mother for several years. What bothers me is that my father refuses to go with women anywhere near his own age. He is very good looking and keeps himself in excellent physical condition by jogging, golfing, and fishing, and he looks more like 50 than 62.

He goes with three different women. The youngest is 32 and the oldest is 36. Most of Dad's men friends are about his age and all are married with grandchildren. None of his friends will invite him to mixed parties because they are afraid Dad will show up with some young thing half his age. This bothers a site, and it bothers Dad's friends, but it doesn't bother Dad. He says he doesn't intend to get married again and he prefers the company of young girls to that of women his own age, and if his friends don't like it, that's their problem. What do you think?

DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I think a 32-year-old man, who looks like 50, should be able to bring a woman of 32 to a party without being criticized. Furthermore, I think his friends are probably more jealous than bothered. And you, young lady, shouldn't be bothered either. Daddy is a big boy now.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. A.: A closed mouth gathers no feet.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

It is the only national undergraduate scholarship program exclusively for high school girls. A record 616,041 senior girls in 15,040 of the country's high schools participated in this year's program.

A potluck dinner will be held at 7 p.m. prior to the meeting set for 8 p.m. A tea honoring the president will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. March 9 at the home of the noble grand.

The officers will practice at the Episcopal Parish Hall after the Monday meeting. Mrs. Spofford presented Mrs. Easton a gift for substituting on the district installing team in her absence. Hostess committee members included Mrs. Russell Shaud, Mrs. Alta Davis and Mrs. Harry O'Connor. Eight members of the Twin Falls lodge were guests.

Secret gifts were received by Mrs. Chloe Carr, Mrs. Tyner, Mrs. Otto Scherbinaki, Mrs. Wattle Holman, Jane Nelson and Mrs. George Rigdon.

Problems Involved In Return Of Okinawa To Japan Call For "Wisdom Of Solomon"

By LEON DANIEL
 Naha, Okinawa (UPI)—The varied and complex problems involved in implementing the decision of the United States to return the Ryukyu Islands to Japan in 1972 beg for the wisdom of Solomon.
 Okinawa, the most important of the largely uninhabited Ryukyus, has a dismal history and an uncertain future. It fell into the Chinese sphere of influence in 1372 and was annexed by Japan in 1872.
 When the island's political and commercial leadership was taken over by Japan it became the poorest prefecture in the empire. The hapless Okinawans had little to say about the policies that caused 200,000 of them to be killed or wounded in the last great battle of World War II.

 Now, after a quarter century of American rule, most of the one million Okinawans favor the return of the Ryukyus to Japan, where they will resume their place as the poorest of that prospering nation's prefectures.
 The United States will continue to use the Pacific base as the keystone of its Pacific defense system, but when the islands revert to Japanese control in 1972 the U.S. military will have the same limitations as do U.S. bases in Japan. Basically, this means they could not be used to launch offensive actions without "prior consultation" with the government of Japan.

 The United States also has agreed to give up its right to store nuclear and chemical warfare weapons on Okinawa.
 President Nixon's agreement to return Okinawa without the nuclear weapons the United States stores there headed off potential political trouble in Japan, which has a national policy that prohibits the introduction, manufacture or possession of nuclear weapons.

 The "prior consultation" clause which will apply to U.S. bases on Okinawa is contained in the U.S.-Japan security treaty, which comes up for review and renewal this summer.
 Much of the U.S. military brass does not like the "prior consultation" clause. The United States launches B52 missions almost daily from here to South Vietnam. If the Vietnam War is still being fought after reversion, they ask, would the United States be required to consult with Japan before taking such offensive action?
 Okinawa is the pivot of the U.S. chain of bases along the Eastern rim of Asia. It helps defend the Southern and Western approaches to Japan. Its great military value lies in its strategic location: 440 miles from Shanghai, 868 miles from Tokyo, 335 miles from Taipei, 1,200 miles from Guam and 780 miles from Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

 This is where much of the maintenance on the tools of war from Vietnam is carried out, and Okinawa is logically vital to the prosecution of the war.
 Relations between the U.S. military establishment and Okinawan workers on U.S. bases are at a low point. A bitter five-day strike ended Jan. 21 without settlement and another strike is planned. The base workers' union is protesting the dismissal of 1,200 workers in a U.S. economy in a recession.

 Many Okinawans strenuously object to the B52 missions that roar out of here almost every day. Some object on political grounds and others oppose the noise.
 Another touchy area is the gas and chemical warfare weapons the United States promises to remove but has not yet. The Okinawans learned poison gas was stored here last summer when some apparently escaped and injured 24 American servicemen. The controversy that followed threatened to damage U.S.-Japan relations and prompted bitter complaints from Okinawans.
 One of the knottiest problems is the fate of 107 American companies with investments totally $222 million after Japan takes over. Some American businessmen here fear reversion will drive them out of business. Others are cautiously optimistic, hoping that it will give them automatic access to the lucrative and government-protected Japanese market when Okinawa becomes part of Japan.

 But Japan has made it clear it does not want other American firms using reversion as a "back door" into its booming domestic market. The Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI) has urged the local government not to approve any new business licenses without consulting the ministry.

Excavation For San Francisco Subway Uncovering Relics Of Gold Rush Days

By STEVEN CARTER
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Buried under the skyscrapers of modern San Francisco are dozens of sailing ships which brought goldseekers to California. And excavations for the city's new subway system may pay modern transportation's tribute to the age of sail by uncovering some of them.

Workers digging subway stations on lower Market Street are uncovering fascinating relics that were buried in San Francisco's boom town days when parts of the waterfront were filled for "land" development. Bottles, jars and fragments of china over 100 years old are turning up in the rubble. Just recently 15 Chinese urns were used to store rice aboard ship. And excavations for the city's new subway system may pay modern transportation's tribute to the age of sail by uncovering some of them.

When the Golden Gateway urban renewal project was initiated along the waterfront in the early 1960s, a team from the San Francisco Maritime Museum went to work on old records to find out if the excavations would disturb the graves of old ships. The museum staff determined at least 40 ships lay entombed under waterfront fill, and they suspected there were more that couldn't be pinpointed.

Al Harmon, librarian at the museum, explained that when word of the gold discovery at Sutter's Mill reached the east coast, practically everything that would be mined for the long, treacherous voyage around the Horn. Many a ship that should have been condemned made the trip.

Later, lateral connections were built between the wharves and became cross streets trapping ships inside. Many of the vessels became warehouses, or were used as hotels, stores or taverns.

When the cove was gradually filled in, many of the ships were broken up for salvage. Others burned to the waterline in the many fires that plagued early day San Francisco.

At least three ships are thought to be buried in the general vicinity where the subway excavation is now shifting into high gear. The "Callao" and the "Byron" were abandoned and later used as warehouses. They are thought to lie about 30 feet below the surface at the intersection of Pine and Market Streets. The "Galen," which in 1850 was the home of the pilot commissioner and his family, is believed buried on the south side of Market between Main and Spear Streets.

Euromart Nations Ink Vital Pact

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When in Rome on March 25, 1957, six West European nations signed a treaty establishing the European Economic Community they were bringing into reality a dream which the signers hoped would lead to a United States of Europe, linked both economically and politically.

At the end of the first week of February, 1970, the same six nations, wrapped up an agreement which some are calling one of the great moments in the history of parliamentary government.

At the least, it is one of the most important agreements reached by the six since the signing of the treaty nearly 13 years ago.

Involved were issues which more than once had threatened disaster to the community now known as the European Common Market made up of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

For the first time it gave some power to the European parliament, however small, which meant that each of the six thereby surrendered a certain amount of sovereignty.

For the first time, the community will have its own financial resources, able to draw on a fund expected to reach $4 billion annually with which to finance community programs, chiefly agriculture.

And it cleared the way for negotiations expected to begin next summer to expand the membership to 10 with the addition of Britain, Denmark, Ireland and Norway.

It will not be the United States of Europe as seen by the Frenchman, Jean Monnet, who worked the hardest to make the dream a reality.

Rather it now is seen as a Europe of nation states, each with a veto over items of vital national concern.

The power of the European parliament, elected by universal suffrage, will be strictly limited.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt promised the suspicious Russians the Common Market would not comprise a new power bloc.

A SPIRAL STAIRCASE forms the prop for a pose by the "Spiral Staircase," a pop music group which will appear in concert here early next month. The group, whose latest record is "She's Ready," will perform at 8 p.m. March 2 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center. The concert is being sponsored by the Associated Students of CSI.

"Spiral Staircase" Plans Program In T.F. March 2

The Spiral Staircase will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. March 2 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center by the Associated Students of CSI.

The pop music group started in January, 1964, in a Sacramento night club and after a few years, name and personnel changes, the members decided they were ready to cut a record. Their second record for Columbia, "More Today Than Yesterday," proved to be a hit, and their third record, "She's Ready," is in the top 10.

The "Staircase" consists of Pat Upton on guitar and vocals, Richard Lopes on sax and vocals, Bob Raymond on bass, Harvey Keyes on keyboards and Vinnie Panariello on drums. Lopez, the organizer and leader for the group, also is a drummer, and Upton writes all of the group's material.

The "Staircase" has extended its natural power into a big band format and the band does not limit itself to performing rock numbers. The group can handle a standard as well as a blues song and it has found a large following among parents of the new generation.

The "Staircase" already has played at Frank Sinatra's birthday party in Las Vegas this year and at the San Diego Sports Arena with such groups as the "Box Tops" and the "Rascals." They also are set for a June appearance at the Salt Palace in Salt Lake City.

These appearances are helping to establish them as a first rate concert act.

Tickets for the concert are available at Helen's Record Shop, Shields Academic Building and at the door the night of the performance.

Collections In T.F. Now Computerized

Bill collecting has become computerized in Twin Falls.

The Magic Valley Credit Bureau, one of four collection agencies in the Twin Falls area, is now affiliated with the American Collection Association of Minneapolis, Minn., whose computer service speeds bookwork and correlates data on debtors throughout the nation.

The Magic Valley Bureau sends all collection data to Minneapolis by mail daily, according to William (Wimpy) Spain, manager of the agency. Within two days, the ACA computer has calculated, printed and returned a complete rundown of all pertinent data for the Idaho firm, including clients' names, total accounts being collected, yearly summary to date and percentage of collections.

"This saves us about half of our time formerly spent in bookwork," said Mr. Spain. "Now instead of just doing books we can be actively working at collecting our accounts."

In addition, weekly breakdowns are computed on the work of each of the agency's employees, including the individual collection total, average amount collected per account and percentage of collections.

This provides a clear profile of the work of each employee, and points to high and low points in output, Mr. Spain said.

Jerome Proposes Variance Ordinance To Solve Zoning Snarl In Church Plan

JEROME—Jerome city councilmen have proposed a variance ordinance as the answer to both the request for church expansion and the desire of neighborhood residents to retain the residential zoning designation. It was explained at a council meeting Tuesday night that the Bible Baptist church, which wants to build on to the front of its building, is unable to do so unless the area is rezoned from residential to business classification.

The area includes the Jerome Grange hall, the church and the Lloyd Williamson residence. C. E. Harder, who lives in the area, who attended the hearing on the zoning request, pointed out he was glad for the church to remodel, but did not want the area rezoned so that in the future any type business could build there.

The area, near the high school and high school is now all residential. Councilmen decided that a variance ordinance would allow the zoning commission and council to make variances in other cases similar to this, and allow churches to build on to the area in a residential classification.

The proposal will be referred to the zoning commission and then presented to the council for official action. Mel Morris, city works engineer, reported on an inspection tour of the new sewer facilities which have been in use the past 10 days. Norman Severs, Portland, Federal Pollution Control Agency, and Jim Boyler, Mayor Jack Russell and Mrs. Morris found 19 discrepancies in the contract with Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello.

Mr. Morris said the new sewer facilities, which have been graded from a primary system to a secondary system, are able to operate, but these minor problems have delayed certification by federal inspectors.

Items mentioned as unsatisfactory were paint peeling on the floor water tower, from which treated sewage enters, and the mercury flotation system in the reservoir which will have to be replaced. Gravel needs to be put around the settling pond and a spot in the dike needs repairing.

Since both state and federal money is involved in the project, the contract has to be left open until these discrepancies are changed, Mr. Morris declared.

Councilmen also approved a beer license for the Circle K Corp., which plans to build a food chain store on the corner of Main Street and Buchanan Avenue where the former Conoco station was located.

Told Mrs. Zdra Stanger she will not have to put in a new sewer line to the trailer house on her lot, but can hook up to her lateral line which goes to the main line.

Decided to keep the new leash law for at least one year after reading a letter of protest on the fact that fees are $10 for unspayed females and $5 for males and spayed females.

Councilmen indicated that if the higher price for unspayed females helps eliminate the problem of unwanted dogs, they may consider going to a standard price for all dogs next year.

"Animal Farm" Reviewed At Founders Day Observance

SHOSHONE—Founders Day was observed at the local PTA Monday night with a review of the book "Animal Farm" by Mrs. LaMar Duffin.

Mrs. Killing stated the PTA was organized 73 years ago and noted the tremendous enthusiasm with which it was received by mothers of that day, calling for all who are interested in the welfare of children to rally to the cause of PTA and noted the community, the home, the church and the school as the four cornerstones of the child.

Pointing to progress now being made in the Legislature toward kindergarten in the Idaho School Systems, she stated PTA has been working for kindergarten for the past 20 years.

The book Mrs. Duffin reviewed was a satire on Communism and Mrs. Duffin had done large illustrations in sketch form to go with her narration. It deals with the attitude of the silent majority who are naive enough to believe it "can't" happen here," referring to Communism. It tells how to keep freedom, and outlines ways that we lose freedom, through apathy, fear and taking the word of those in authority without question.

Mrs. Burton Thorne, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Killing and Mrs. Duffin.

Rev. James Holt, president, announced the Science fair will be held March 23 under direction of teacher, Emel Chatterton, which judging will be done at 4 p.m. with a brief PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. and a tour of the fair after that for the public.

The PTA will provide the prizes for the fair and the winner will be sent to enter the state event to be held at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, on April 16-18.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Dorothy Clayton has been selected to receive the Life Membership this year. Mrs. Clayton, who is in the hospital at this time, has taught in the local school system for years.

The award will be presented at the April meeting, according to Mrs. Thorne.

Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Jack Fowles, Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn and Mrs. Clarence Magoffin.

The birthday cake was served at the cafeteria after the meeting, under direction of Mrs. Hugh Kelth, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. E. L. Kilder.

Minidoka Can't Find Dump Sites

RUPERT—Plans for locating a land fill site for Minidoka County, which can be centrally located, has so far been unsuccessful, according to Burt Van Every, county commissioner.

He reported that representatives of each city in the county toured three sites Saturday morning, but each was located in the northeast section of the county in Minidoka and Acequia.

Conducting the tour was Alex Roemer, county commissioner, assisted by Don Kester, chairman of the citizens committee which had been selected earlier to do the ground work for selecting a new site.

Also participating in the tour was Marvin Loosle, Paul, Earl Rose, Heyburn; Ron Kebe, Rupert; Dorothy Courtright, Minidoka, and Vernon Comstock, Acequia.

According to Mr. VanEvery, his office has been notified by the Bureau of Reclamation that the county's lease on land fill property located northeast of Paul can't be renewed. The current lease expires Sept. 1.

Mr. VanEvery said that further study will be made and that a decision can't be made on a new location without the approval of the State Board of Health.

Deadline Is Given On School Bids

RUPERT—Deadline for applications for principals at Minico High School and Minidoka County Junior High Schools is 5 p.m. Monday, according to Supt. Camden Meyer.

Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent, reports that Monday is also the deadline for receiving bids on stores for the Minico home economics department, and also for five 66-passenger school buses. Bids should be submitted to Mr. Lowder, while Mr. Meyer is receiving applications for school administrators.

Construction on the $2.2 million junior high buildings is well ahead of schedule, according to a report by general and sub-contractors to Mr. Lowder. Officials said this is due to favorable weather. The new all-brick buildings will be in operation Sept. 1.

Completion deadline for the Heyburn construction has been extended to March 15. A five-classroom building has been in use at Heyburn since Jan. 8, but construction of a multi-purpose room containing lunchroom facilities, was delayed by demolition of the old yellow brick building.

Construction at the Heyburn Junior High is continuing $175,000 multi-purpose room and the five-classroom is connected to the Primary building, which was constructed in 1961.

Glenns Ferry Names Fair Queen Group

GLENN'S FERRY—Mrs. James Robertson, Glenns Ferry, has been elected chairman of the Glenns County Fair Queen Committee, with Mrs. Arden Drake, Mountain Home, named secretary.

The group voted to hold a pageant at Glenns Ferry June 2. It was pointed out many girls do not enter the contest because they do not consider they have talent, and committee members are exploring ways of presenting the girls to the audience and judges other than through talent demonstrations. Possibilities of having a question period are being studied, Mrs. Robertson said.

An orientation meeting is set for April 18 in Mountain Home, with a tea planned later at the Pritchfork ranch of Mrs. Mary Knox near Glenns Ferry.

Committee members include Mrs. Herb Hawley, Mrs. Ivy Wells, Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Ben Rollins, Mrs. Ken Marriage, Mrs. Albert Magazine and Mrs. Don Carnahan.

Hagerman Has Nod As District A-4 Meet Begins

FAIRFIELD — The Hagerman Pirates, dropping back to the A-4 classification, and the Carey Panthers, Northside Conference champions, will carry the best records into the fifth district A-4 tournament that will open with three games Saturday night in the Camas County High School gymnasium.

Hagerman rates as the favorite since it didn't lose a game to any of the clubs in the conference during the season. Carrying a 16-4 record, Hagerman can count two victories over Carey, which went through the Northside Conference year with only a loss to Dietrich marring its record.

Carey draws the first round bye by virtue of its 17-1 record in the conference. The first game, starting at 6 p. m., will send the Richfield Tigers against the Bliss Bears; the second game, Dietrich Blue Devils vs. the Gooding State Redskins, and the nightcap will be Hagerman against host Camas County.

UCLA Player Believes Team Can Repeat

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The man who replaced Lew Alcindor as the center on the UCLA basketball team says the Bruins have a better chance to win the national title than they did a year ago.

"That may not be true about the first two Alcindor teams but our team last year had poor ball handling ability," Steve Patterson declared.

"When we came up against Drake, they pressed us and we were in real trouble. But we prevailed 85-82 in the NCAA semifinals. We were lucky to win."

The 6-foot-9 junior from Santa Maria, Calif., thinks the country's No. 1 ranked club can give coach John Wooden his sixth NCAA championship in seven years.

"We can hurt teams from so many different angles than we could a year ago. We're so much more versatile and exploit to my best advantage. I'm confident of going all the way."

As far as Patterson is concerned, there was no pressure filling Alcindor's position.

"Look," he explained, "Lew was the best college player ever. He's proving it in the pros.

"People didn't really expect me to fill his spot. He was the whole team in the past. I'm just one of five men."

The Bruin center, Alcindor's backup man last season, is the team's No. 5 scorer with an 11.4 average. He is the second top rebounder with 210.

While UCLA is 20-0 overall in the Pacific-8 play, the Bruins could easily be 16-4. They won three games with one point (Princeton 76-75, Oregon State 72-71 and Minnesota 72-71) and one by two points (Washington State 72-70).

Caldwell Hits 41 As Atlanta Rips Cincinnati 139-125

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Joe Caldwell pumped in 41 points Wednesday night to lead the Atlanta Hawks to a 139-125 overtime victory over the Cincinnati Royals in the National Basketball Association action.

It was the fourth victory in the last five games for Atlanta. Atlanta led by a slim margin through most of the game and went into the final period with a 97-92 margin only to see it evaporate in the face of a Royal scoring streak.

At the end of regulation play, the score was knotted 120-all. However, Cincinnati could manage only five points to lead Atlanta in the overtime period.

Aiding Caldwell in scoring was Lou Hudson who had 38 points and Bill Bridges pulled down 21 rebounds for Atlanta to lead the game in that department.

Celts Outlast Phoenix 116-113

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The Boston Celtics defeated the Phoenix Suns in the last half-minute to stave off a Phoenix rally and defeat the Suns 116-113 Wednesday night.

Both teams scored 41 field goals, with the Celtics getting their margin on 31 of 43 free throws compared with 31 of 41 for the Suns.

Magic Valley High School Teams To Conclude Season On Weekend

With nothing to settle in the way of championships and only a couple of touchy spots in district tournament bracketing, Magic Valley basketball teams go out in the name of respectability and improving overall records in the wrap-up of the regular season this weekend.

The fifth district A-4 tournament opens at Fairfield with three games Saturday night. In the regular season, there will be 10 games Friday and six Saturday. The SCIC title is in the hands of Gooding and the A-2 tournament playoffs are set regardless of the outcome.

Gooding also has the Big Six Conference crown in hand but that one has no bearing on any tournament. In the Little Six, Glenns Ferry is the champion but the A-3 members have drawn for tournament pairings. The Magic Valley Conference, with Oakley the winner, could have a little work left with Rockland and Castleford and possibly Raft River trying to decide whether they go in the bracket with Oakley or Mur-rah, neither alternative being particularly pleasant.

However, there will be some good individual battles. It will be the high road to Italy to meet Wood River in a rematch of a game that Buhl won in overtime earlier.

Filer, with Guy Ramsey starting to play again after knee trouble, might be snapping out of a slump and the Wideans will go to Jerome where, with one exception, it has been all slump and lack of scoring punch. That exception was a 40-18 point display that beat Filer, so there might be some ice grinding.

In another good matchup, the arch rival of Gooding, County College at Gooding with the fast-closing Senators playing host to the Wendell Trojans, who have had their troubles of late.

Glenns Ferry winds up at Mountain Home, having trimmed the tall Tigers by 13 points two weeks ago.

In the Magic Valley Conference, Oakley takes its record-breaking offensive machine to Castleford where the Wolves have won a few games of late but don't figure to have improved enough to hurt Oakley's proud record. Hansen will be at Murrough in the feature, the two clubs having enjoyed a bitter rivalry for years. In another of those things, Pego will play host to the River.

On Saturday night, Wood River will entertain Butte of Arco while Filer returns home to host the Valley Vikings. Kimberly will be at Wendell with Hansen hosting Rockland.

Southern Idaho Outlasts Ricks For 71-69 Victory

REXBURG — Struggling through the final half and outlasting a last-second attempt by Ricks College, the College of Southern Idaho nipped the Vikings 71-69 Wednesday night to wind up the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference season with a 9-1 record and the title.

CSI stays on the road the rest of the week, going to Salt Lake City to play the University of Utah fresh on Thursday and going to Pocatello to meet the ISU freshmen at 5:45 p. m. Saturday.

The Eagles face a tough battle Monday night and will return to Twin Falls Feb. 26 to end the season by hosting the Utah yearlings.

Wednesday's victory lifted the Eagles to a sparkling 25-2 record and it didn't come easy. CSI after a dogfight that lasted throughout the second half, managed a five-point lead with just over a minute to go and then watched Ricks come back to within two on a free throw and a field goal. With 12 seconds left, Ricks forced a jump ball and controlled the tip but the Vikings' last attempt to throw the game into overtime bounced off the rim.

After trailing by as much as 10 in the early going, CSI rallied into a 36-33 halftime lead and shortly after action resumed and tied the game at 39-39.

Ricks' Norm Wallace, 6-5, was the chief CSI tormentor as he grabbed 47 rebounds, more than CSI's big three put together.

Baltimore Pins Third Defeat On Los Angeles

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Earl Monroe, and Kevin Loughery combined for 47 points as the Baltimore Bullets defeated the Los Angeles Lakers for the third straight time Wednesday night, 117-103, in a National Basketball Association game.

Monroe had 24 points and Loughery 23 to offset 25 points from Jerry West of the Lakers. Ray Scott of the Bullets passed the 10,000-point mark in his career and Jack Marin added 20 points for Baltimore.

Loughery sparked a late second-period spur which carried the Bullets from a 42-41 lead to a 58-45 halftime margin. The Lakers closed to 76-73 two minutes left in the third period but the Bullets eased back to an 86-75 margin after three periods and coasted from there.

The Lakers got 18 points each from Elgin Baylor and Rick Robertson and Baylor became the fourth highest rebounder in NBA history. Baylor hauled down 10 rebounds, giving him 11,260 for his career.

Loyola Seizes Early Lead, Tips Creighton 84-74

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Loyola Ramblers led Creighton from the very start of the game Wednesday night and racked up an easy 84-74 victory over the Creighton Bluejays here.

Wade Fuller, who wound up with 21 points and game scoring honors, paced Loyola's hot first half attack as the Ramblers roared to a 44-20 lead at the halfway point.

They stretched the margin to 21 points during the second half and the outcome of the game was never in doubt.

Sophomore Cyril Baptiste led Creighton scoring with 20 points. The loss was the Bluejays' eighth in 14 victories, and the win brought Loyola to an 11-9 mark.

South Carolina Tops N.C. State

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—John Roche led third-ranked South Carolina to a 71-60 Atlanta Coast Conference victory over eighth-ranked North Carolina State before 12,400 fans Wednesday night.

South Carolina led at the half 37-28, hitting 50 per cent of its shots while state could hit only 40 per cent during that period.

Neilsen - Miller forfeited to Sherwood's.

The city tournament will wind up action, beginning Thursday night at Robert Stuart, Title and Trust motels Paux Clear Store at 7:30 p. m. and Mountain View meets Farmer's Market at 8:30. At O'Leary, Beanprovers meet Varsity Barberbers at 7:30 with Uhlig and Uriguen's meeting at 8:30.

Dimaggio To Coach For Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Joe Dimaggio announced Wednesday that he has reached agreement with Charlie Finley to help out as a coach for the Oakland A's during the spring training period.

"I'll work in every phase of the game but only for the duration of spring training," said Dimaggio, who served as vice president for the A's the past two seasons. "This was at my own request and Charlie agreed."

Dimaggio gave up coaching on a full time basis because he got tired of the constant traveling.

"I never liked to travel all that much even as a player," he said, after his contract with Finley ran out.

Dimaggio said that he had plans other than baseball and wanted to devote more time to his business interests, which include a San Francisco restaurant and another he plans to open next month.

"I have some other things in mind as well," Joe said, "but I'm not free at this time to talk about them."

While Dimaggio declined to talk about his plans, speculation is that he will take a job as an aide to baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

T.F. Will Wind Up Home Season By Hosting Skyline, Pocatello

Twin Falls will host Skyline and Pocatello while Minico enters the finale of the Idaho Conference basketball race this weekend.

The Bruins host Skyline Friday night and take on Pocatello Saturday, both in the Twin Falls gymnasium, while Minico travels to Pocatello-Friday evening.

With both teams out of championship consideration, the big question will be whether Minico's Jim Boatwright can break the fourth district's single season scoring record. Boatwright has 645 points and needs 33 more to break the mark established last year by Dietrich's Randy Lee. Boatwright already has the SIC scoring title and record in hand and has scored 499 set by Ron Adamson of Gooding four years ago. But his scoring in the past quarter of the season has slumped, his average dropping from 30.3 to 28.7.

Twin Falls is in the unlikely position of playing for a 9-11 record, a tribute to Coach Charles Farmer or someone since four weeks ago five wins looked like Mount Everest.

"I don't think there's a nuy doubt that defense is the reason," says Coach Farmer in awaiting the season. "Wait Sinclair (a junior) has come on in the past few nights and put on a stopper on the other team's top outside man."

The held-Idaho-Trials top scorer to just four points—none in the second half—and we won that game by two points. Saturday night (Steve) McClain did a good job on Highland's best until the whole team like kind ran out of gas from the big night before and being on the road. They broke away from us to win by six but it was all in the closing minutes."

Coch Farmer also noted the ability of 6-4 John Van Engelen to stay out of four trouble had helped on the boards along with the improved work of—Ron Blackwood both on the boards and defensively. All three are juniors.

"What we're waiting for is to have (Allen) Howa and (Mike) Grandall get together," Coch Farmer said of his top two scorers. "So far that hasn't happened and if it ever does, we would wind up having an easy win for a championship."

Coch Farmer said Skyline, which also is using a lot of juniors, is coming along well now and will not be an easy foe. Pocatello has returned three or four boys to the team who missed the middle third of the season.

Minico will be facing that refurbished Pocatello crew first. The Indians have one of the loop's top scorers in Carey Ebone, a 5-11 guard. As usual, Minico will have a height advantage but this will be their first visit to the Pocatello floor and its particular architectural design takes some getting used to.

Coch Les Roll can trace most of the Spartans' problems to not justing advantages of height. The Spartans usually score a lot of points on the offensive boards but of late haven't been able to pick up the second and third shot as often. Turnovers also are hurting the Spartans.

Napoles Toys With Idea Of Moving Up

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Jose Napoles, world welterweight champion, said Wednesday he was considering moving into the middleweight division for a possible crack at 160-pound king Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

Napoles, the Cuban refugee who has made Mexico City his home, returned to Mexico Tuesday night after knocking out challenger Ernie "Indian Red" Lopez in 15 rounds in Los Angeles last Saturday.

He said he would like to fight Benvenuti in the Los Angeles Forum. "Mr. Parnassus (Los Angeles promoter George Parnassus) showed me the movie of the fight between Benvenuti and Ernie Griffith and I'm sure I can beat him."

Griffith, of the Virgin Islands, was one of the three challengers Napoles fought off in the defense of his welterweight championships.

Napoles said for the moment he was "just going to have a good time."

"You know me," he told newsmen. "After living like a saint for more than a month, I'm going to live it up for a while."

Wake Forest Belts Clemson

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—Wake Forest's Charlie Davis and Dickie Walker fired in 26 points apiece and the Deacons beat Clemson 97-71 Wednesday night.

Wake Forest took an 11-lead in the first four minutes of the Atlantic Coast Conference game and maintained control all the way.

Davis, the second best scorer in the ACC, hit 10 in a row with 4:30 remaining in the half to give the Deacons a 12 point lead at 39-28.

McLain Testifies For Grand Jury On Gaming Probe

DETROIT (UPI)—Denny McLain, accused Tuesday by Sports Illustrated of being a partner in a 1967 bookmaking operation, testified 45 minutes Thursday before a special U.S. grand jury investigating an alleged nationwide sports betting ring.

The 25-year-old Detroit Tiger pitching star "appeared as a witness voluntarily before the grand jury to give any information of interest to them," U.S. Attorney for Eastern Michigan James Brickley told a hastily called news conference.

Russia Cops Fourth Title In Nordic

STRBSKE PLESO, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—Russian skiers took their fourth individual title in the world Nordic championships Wednesday when Mrs. Alevina Olinjan came from behind to capture the women's 10-kilometer cross-country race.

Complete Russian domination had been expected as Mrs. Kajosmaa's medal was surprise, the 32-year-old bus stewardess even led the race for the first half.

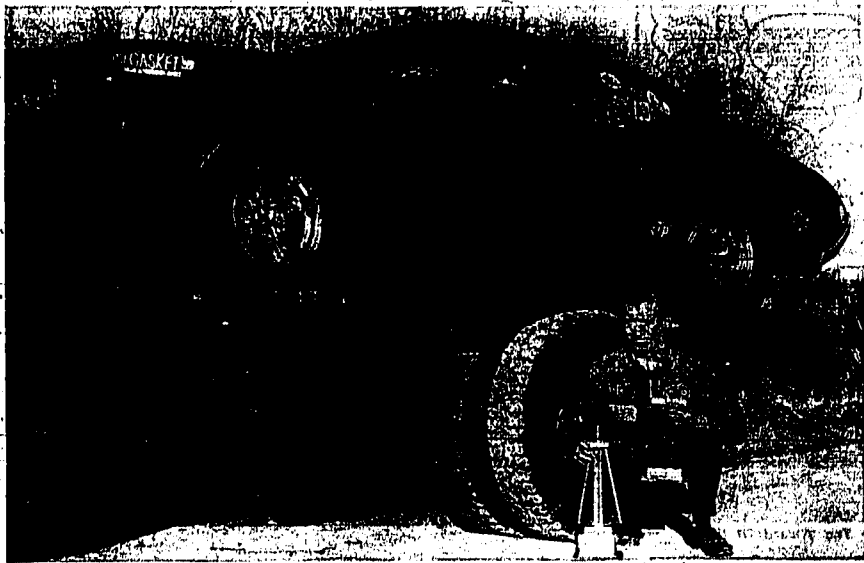

But the 27-year-old Moscow sports instructor, six seconds behind at the halfway mark, came in a powerful finish to beat the Finnish girl by 21 seconds.

Mrs. Olinjan's time was 36 minutes and 19 seconds against 36:40 for Mrs. Kajosmaa and 37:08 for Miss Kulakova. "I can hardly believe that she could cover the last five kilometers that fast," Mrs. Kajosmaa said when told that she had been beaten by the Russian.

Four Seeds Are Upset In Tennis Meet

SALISBURY, MD. (UPI)—Four seeded players lost in third round matches of the inaugural U.S. men's indoor tennis championships Wednesday, and Tony Roche of Australia, the second foreign seed, was on the brink of withdrawing.

Scoring the upsets were England's Roger Taylor, Romania's Ulla Nastase and Ion Tiriac and Egyptian champion Ismael El Shafel. Taylor, a husky British left-hander, hooked up in a service duel with the top American seed, Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., and went out 8-6, 2-6. Smith's volleying errors were crucial.

NATIONAL CHAMPION Al Stelmetz, formerly of Hazelton and now of Pocatello, poses with the 1969 Olds 442 he drove to the Class I stock automobile title in the national drag races in Pomona, Calif., recently. Stelmetz, who is joined in racing by his wife Kathy, turned the quartet into 13.33 (104 miles per hour) and missed the national title by .27 of a second. The couple has won more than 200 trophies in the past five years.

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins fired head football coach George Wilson Wednesday and named Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts, pro football's most successful coach, to replace him with a lucrative five-year stock option contract.

Shula moved in to replace his old friend Wilson in a deal that will put him in a class with Vince Lombardi of the Washington Redskins and Ted Williams, manager of baseball's Washington Senators, both of whom were lured with stock agreements.

BRIDGE

CORRECT PLAY TAKES 33 YEARS

Old Bridge World subscribers never die or drop their subscriptions. Back in 1937, Otto Feur wrote from Europe to suggest the proper line of play by South. His letter was probably lost in the mails because there was no reply. Edgar Kaplan reprinted the article in his 40th anniversary issue and Mr. Feur wrote again from Jamaica, N.Y. in the hope that the correct analysis would finally be printed. In the article, South made the hand by getting East to make the sort of mistake that only a near-expert would make. Mr. Feur's method, as finally printed in the magazine, makes the hand by sheer power. Here is his line of play:

Immediately leads the deuce of clubs. East wins with the seven and will probably return a spade. Now South ruffs, plays out the high trump and continues with the ace and king of clubs. If clubs break, he draws the last trump and claims. Clubs don't break, but East has four clubs and the long trump, so South gets to ruff his nine of clubs in dummy and then claims. What was the line of play used by the declarer in the article? He cashed two rounds of trumps and then led the deuce of clubs. East won with the seven-spot and came to the conclusion that South's hand included three clubs to the ace and a small heart. In that case, any return but a heart would subject West to a simple squeeze, so East led the heart and allowed South to discard his nine of clubs.

MAURICE ABRAVANEL, musical director and conductor, and Ardean W. Watts, associate conductor, of the Utah Symphony orchestra, plan tour of the Intermountain region which includes a concert at 11 a.m. March 10 at the Burley High School auditorium. A block of 150 tickets is available to the public.

Utah Symphony Orchestra To Play March 10 In Burley

BURLEY — The Utah Symphony Orchestra will present concert at 11 a.m. March 10 at the Burley High School auditorium under the sponsorship of Cassia and Minidoka County Schools.

A block of 150 tickets for the performance is now on sale to the general public. The majority of the tickets will be sold to high school students, according to Dale L. Nelson and Camden Meyer, superintendents of the two school districts.

"This is a good opportunity for our students to listen to this outstanding organization. In addition we wish to give interested adults a chance to also attend," stated Mr. Nelson. "The orchestra is available because of a scheduled tour coming from Pocatello to Boise."

Musical director and conductor, Maurice Abravanel, now in his 22nd season with the Utah Symphony, enjoys international recognition for his concerts and recordings. He received the Mahler Award of the Bruckner Society in 1965 and has been named an honorary member of the International Gustav Mahler Society in Vienna in recognition of his close affinity to and superb conducting of Mahler's works.

Mr. Abravanel was born in Greece and was educated and received his musical training in Switzerland, Germany and other European countries. He conducted many orchestras in Europe and Australia, as well as opera and ballet at the Berlin, Paris, and Metropolitan Operas, before taking over the fledgling Utah Symphony in 1947. He has since guided the orchestra through provincialism, through one financial crisis after another, and through the orchestra's growing pains to the point where it is now classed as a major orchestra enjoying international acclaim.

With Abravanel at the helm, the orchestra made its very successful debut at Carnegie Hall, together with a 10-concert European tour of Greece, Yugoslavia, Austria, Germany and England in 1966.

Each season the orchestra goes on tour throughout most of the eight western states, thus fulfilling its role as a Regional orchestra serving the Intermountain West.

From home and afar, for concerts and for their recordings, Mr. Abravanel and the Utah Symphony enjoy the praise of music critics and standing ovations from concert audiences.

Music, historically, is one of Utah's principal efforts. Utah, by tradition, is a principal exporter and stands ready to continue to serve not only the Intermountain West, but the symphonic world everywhere, as it has proven consistently that it can do, both in concert and by recordings.

Tickets available to the general public may be picked up at Burley Drug Store, or Sav-Mor Drug Store in Burley or at Minidoka Central School Office.

Family Group Established In Minidoka

PAUL — Idaho Families United has been established in Minidoka County after hearing results of investigation into sex education, family living and other problems concerning today's youth.

Paul Victor, Twin Falls, district regional chairman of IFU, told the group meeting in the Idaho Bank and Trust conference room, that the sex education and family living courses being promoted in Idaho schools are part of a "well organized plan to tear down the morals of people."

He cited several cases where "the movement is under way" and displayed actual study material being promoted or used in various areas of the state. Study material, which he indicated is prepared for Primary and Elementary grade levels, was termed "stocking and pornography" by those attending the meeting.

Mr. Victor discussed the interrelationship between Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS) and School Health Education Study (SHEES), noting that SIECUS board members serve on SHEES board and also the 3M company which prints educational materials. He said that Idaho Families United is opposed to teaching this literature.

According to Mr. Victor, IFU is a parent organization "designed for the preservation of

Original Play Planned As Part Of Cassia Observance

BURLEY — The Antique Festival Theatre from Buhl, has agreed to present an original play based on the history of Cassia County on Aug. 1 at the fairgrounds.

Vivian Odney, a representative from the Burley Scroptinist Club, told a planning meeting attended by representatives from nearly every community in the county, of plans for the observance of the centennial of the county.

Other plans for the "100 Years of Progress" include a tour to Boise, visiting historical areas in Burley, as well as ideas for compiling a history of the county and an event to honor Cassia county living pioneers.

The Burley Jaycees were authorized by the planning committee to co-sponsor a trip to Boise which would include a guided tour of the State Historical Museum, the capitol and a view of the Apollo 11 Moonship which will be on displays as well as rock specimens from the moon. The tour is planned for May 16.

Michael Foller, chairman of the tour, said buses can be chartered for about $5 per person for the all-day trip.

Larry Stephenson of the Burley Jaycees was appointed by the progress committee to handle sales of the official commemorative symbol entitled "100 Years of Progress" to be used on a bronze coin attached to a key chain.

A barbecue and an all-day historical tour to end at the City of Rocks are planned for late June.

An old-fashioned July 4 celebration to be held at Albion and expanded Pioneer day celebrations in Oakley and Declo also were discussed.

Attending the planning session were Hena Fuqua, Declo; Ewart Otley, Elba; Mrs. Wallace Taylor, Almo; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Pierce, Malta; John Adams, Oakley, and representatives of service clubs throughout the county.

Contracts To Be Offered At Wendell

WENDELL — Supt. Lawrence LaRue has been instructed by the Wendell school board to offer contracts to all teachers for the coming year.

At last week's board meeting, he was instructed to issue contracts to ten more teachers, and in a special session Monday night, trustees decided contracts should be issued to all teachers.

Trustees worked on the budget, but said the final figures cannot be determined until the Legislative session is concluded.

Delores Lovett and Thomas Haggerty, music instructors, were authorized to attend the state music educators meeting, scheduled for March 19-21 in Boise.

Salaries for hot lunch cooks were raised from $1.30 to $1.45 per hour to meet state requirements.
