Wallace Is Expected To Seek Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George C. Wallace stopped just short of announcing his candidacy for governor of Alabama Sunday, predicting his victory in the May primary would signal the Nixon administration to "return control of the schools to the states."

Wallace, the third party presidential candidate in 1968 who was Alabama governor in 1963-66, indicated he would seek a second term in the Montgomery statehouse as a means of pressuring the Nixon administration to abandon the government's policy of "forced integration."

Laird also said he could not see any expansion of the U.S. military role in Laos "as far as ground forces are concerned," although he declined to rule out greater use of air power to aid royal Laotian troops.

Aviation In Peril

By PETER D. LYNCH
JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir met today with envoys of 18 nations, and appealed for effective and concrete steps to be taken by the international community to put an end to acts of terrorism against international aviation.

She met with the ambassadors and other envoys after eight of the 12 airlines serving Israel suspended mail and freight service following the crash of an Israeli-bound plane Saturday in Switzerland with the loss of 47 lives after an explosion on board. A second plane experienced a fatal explosion.

Mrs. Meir summoned the ambassadors after a speech to her cabinet Sunday night in which she called on "governments, airlines and private organizations to take the necessary steps to put an end to the running amok of Arab terrorism throughout the world."

A communique issued after her speech to the envoys said Mrs. Meir "requested the heads of missions to advise her government of the urgent need for effective and concrete steps to be taken by the international community in order to put an end to acts of terrorism against international aviation."

Mrs. Meir noted that the plague of assault on civilian aviation has recently spread throughout the world, and Arab governments are the only ones in the world providing bases and encouragement, impunity and cover for these crimes as well as aid in money and arms to the organizations.

"The activities of the Arab terrorist organizations are aimed not merely at hijacking planes and their passengers but also at murdering the passengers and crews."

Meeting with Mrs. Meir were heads of missions of Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Holland, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Romania, Switzerland and the United States and West Germany.

School Ponders Fee Situation

Some school expenses, including the $12 to $15 fee for dissecting kits for biology classes may soon be a thing of the past in Twin Falls, according to Dr. Ernest Ragland, superintendent of schools.

Dr. Ragland said that many of the fees allied with education, including tuition, book fees and payment for equipment, have apparently been outlawed by the Supreme Court decision forbidding such fees.

"At present, the board of trustees is studying the language of the Supreme Court decision, and seeking guidelines from the state Department of Education," Dr. Ragland said.

Other voluntary expenses, including activity cards, cost of school annual and class dues, which a student can pay or refuse to pay without discrimination, will be allowed. The voluntary nature of such fees puts them outside the scope of the Supreme Court ruling, the superintendent said.

WORKING FOR FOUR DAYS AND NIGHTS, these three men, chefs competing in a friendly way, put together a buffet-style dinner at the Turf Club that brought gasps of admiration from the more than 180 who attended. The dinner, held Friday, preceded the Dilettante showing of "Mame" on the

VIP's Of Area Crowd Turf Club When Champagne Dinner Preceded Dilettante Production Of "Mame"

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

"I saw something like this at the Waldorf in New York City once," someone remarked at the Turf Club.

"Do we look or eat?" another said.

And so it went as people came to view a buffet-style dinner put together by three Twin Falls chefs. Leo Soran, Jim Poindexter and Pasquale Lampro smiled as people filed by the tables and made their remarks.

The dinner, called a "champagne" dinner, preceded the Dilettante production showing of "Mame" on the campus of the College of Southern Idaho. The dinner, in fact, was part of the production and is an annual feature.

More than 180 attended the banquet at the Turf Club, but it was nearly an hour before people could be persuaded to dig into the masterpieces assembled by the three chefs.

Once the eating started, one of the chefs turned his back and said, "I can't look." But he was only joking.

People who purchased special tickets to "Mame" got to attend the champagne dinner, with all its artful trimmings, then go in buses to the college's Fine Arts Center just down Falls Avenue to view the opening night performance.

Afterward, members of the cast got together for their special champagne dinner.

Real champagne was featured, along with what many termed the "best food around."

Dishes at the dinner ranged from an artistic lobster done up in jello to roast beef, with such gourmet delights as salmon on ice, oyster on the half shell, shrimp, specially designed salads and desserts and fresh trout.

There was even a cucumber salad, with tiny slices of cucumber formed into the outline of a salmon.

The chefs, Mr. Soran, Mr. Poindexter and Mr. Lampro started working on the special dinner last Tuesday night. From then they worked day and night shaping the dishes, keeping in mind each dish should be fresh and ready to eat at dinner time Friday.

The dinner started at 6:30 p.m. and ended at 8, just 15 minutes before opening curtain. When it was over, many smiled, congratulated the chefs, and one man was overheard asking his wife, "Why don't you ever fix something like that at home for me?" The dinner turned out to be as successful as opening night for "Mame."

Other performances will be at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tickets are still available at the Boy Scout Service Center. The special "Mame" telephone number is 733-6375, and some tickets may be purchased at the door.

A LARGE SALMON preserved in jello and designed to please the eye, in addition to the palate, is admired here by Mr. and Mrs. Al Robinson. The salmon was just one of many dishes prepared by three chefs at the Turf Club for the opening night champagne dinner Friday prior to the showing of "Mame" on the College of Southern Idaho campus.

The convention is scheduled here for April 2-4. Pettit, now of Burbank, Calif., covered President John F. Kennedy's assassination in Dallas and was an eyewitness to the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, and Herbert Klein, President Nixon's director of communications, are tentative speakers. Co-hosts for the event are Idaho State University and Ricks College at Redwood.

Mass Desertion Of Laotian Troops May Be Reason Behind Loss Of Plain Of Jars

By JACK WALSH

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The commander of Laotian armed forces hinted Sunday that mass desertion by his troops prompted the sudden loss of the Plain of Jars to North Vietnamese forces. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said one American civilian pilot was killed in the fighting.

Although based on still sketchy details of the situation on the plain, the reports Sunday contradicted earlier versions of the fighting there Friday and early Saturday.

U.S. military officials in Vientiane said Saturday no Americans were killed or even involved in the fighting, but the embassy confirmed Sunday that a Texan, J. C. Mærki of Fort Worth, was killed by north Vietnamese gunfire.

Texas Killed — Laotian officials had said 1,400 government troops based at the airfield in the center of the plain fought valiantly but were overwhelmed by a North Vietnamese force that outnumbered them four-to-one and was spearheaded by tanks. Laotian military spokesmen said Sunday, however, that the North Vietnamese force totaled about 400 soldiers rather than 6,000 as originally reported. There was no first report on where the Laotian troops had gone.

Gen. Uonno Rattikoum, Laotian commander-in-chief, said there were no indications of government casualties in the fighting but one third of the troops on the plain had not been accounted for since the battle. The other two thirds were reported in defensive positions either on the western or southwestern edge of the plain.

But the major government base in that area, at San Thong 24 miles southwest of the plain, had no reports on troops movements and said it had received neither dead nor wounded at its military hospital.

When asked how he would characterize the current situation on the plain, one ranking Laotian officer replied, "obscure." There was full agreement in the military command, however, that Communist forces now control the 25-mile-long plateau that is the key to control of northwestern Laos. The plain is about 100 miles north of Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos. In announcing the death of the American pilot, the U.S. Embassy spokesman said, Mærki was killed by sniper fire. The American copilot, identified as John Ward, took over control and landed the plane safely at another government base.

The spokesman stressed that Mærki was a civilian but did not make that distinction for Ward, who was identified only by name.

In Amman, Palestinian guerrilla leaders met for the second time with Jordanian officials what was described as a "make-or-break" conference on intergal security. The meeting was arranged after clashes between Jordanian troops and guerrillas over government attempts to ban the firing, carrying and storage of arms in Jordanian cities. At least 19 persons were killed in the clashes.

A Cairo announcement said President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Yugoslav President Tito will hold two days of talks beginning Monday, on the Middle East crisis. Tito and his wife are scheduled to arrive in Cairo Monday from Khartoum, Sudan.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — It is said that one of Freud's finer moments came when his techniques were employed to investigate the underlying motives in "Little Red Riding Hood."
Under psychoanalysis, Red Riding Hood came off as something other than a Good Samaritan on her way to Grandma's house with a basket of goodies. She had, said Freud, other intentions — not the least of which was a rendezvous with Big Bad Wolf, big teeth and all.

Freud also discovered some interesting symbolism in "Hansel and Gretel" and uncovered a nest of abnormalities in "Goldilocks and the Three Bears." Historians contend the moral code of any country is best reflected by its literature. As you can see, we're in trouble.
It now appears that fellow "Kew-Hans" Christian Anderson and Jacob Grimm have been perpetrating a hoax upon us for years — sowing the young impressionable minds of Philip Roth and Vladimir Nabokov with seemingly innocent, ropeaked notions that bloom into outright pornography later on. Certainly, more smutty books are being published in the United States than ever before. And, some people (unidentified, of course) actually enjoy reading smutty books.

If American literature is indeed willing American morals on a hy vine, it's time to put a top to it. Too long have those people pretended to us that a smutty book is just realism. Literature has become a half-packed beguilement that promises to take it all off if we buy the book. Realism is needed, but not so much on the best-seller list as in kindergarten if we want to prevent more Philip Roth and Vladimir Nabokovs.
Do away with Mother Goose, fraught with Freudian hangups, and a dozen or so away with writings morally. Once again writers will concentrate on wholesome ideas, brave horses and riverboat races.

COMMENT

"I Am Moving With All Deliberate Speed"

Consolidation

Post-Register

The Greater Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce is taking a commendable step against the stream of archaic local government structure.
J. Allen Jensen, chairman of the Chamber's Legislative committee and a past president of the Chamber, has announced that the committee will embark on a study on the possibilities of consolidating local government.
The study may not result in anything but a suturing of the local structure. But we suspect that once the chamber is well into the study, it will become apparent that the weave of local duplication can be eliminated and government made more supple, direct and efficient by an optional consolidation of all levels of local government. The "single umbrella" concept, with local units of government becoming divisions extending from a common base where services can be coordinated and commonly served, is gaining approval by government reconstructionists. Utah, as this newspaper pointed out before, is examining such an option for those areas with sufficient densities of population to warrant it.
The proposed new Idaho Constitution allows the Legislature to set up whatever method of consolidation it feels the people want. It also provides for allocation for indebtedness of the two separate units of government after their merger.

The new Constitutional proposal, in fact, prescribes for the entire gamut of cooperative government between local entities even if consolidation by itself is not achieved. It allows local government to cooperate with in or out-of-state neighbors in such matters as sanitation, airports, navigation and the joint use of expensive equipment, facilities or personnel. This, as the Revision Commission has pointed out, should provide an important money-saving advantage to local units of government.
The proposed new Constitution also provides for separate units — in fact strengthens the powers of counties, too, for those who desire to go their separate ways. Eventually, however, the money-saving advantages and the more direct control appeal of local consolidation will likely become more appealing.
One of the disguised advantages, too, is that consolidation would eliminate a great deal of the present unnecessary frictions between cities, counties and school districts over funding apportionments from the state and the assignment of local decisions. For example, the counties have been given the powers in the past by the Legislature to make decisions on mental health, sanitation, airport development, and many another area which should not have belonged exclusively to boards of county commissioners.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Moscow's Damascus Stake

DAMASCUS, Syria — The alarming Soviet interest in Syria springs from strategic concerns which far beyond Syria itself, go to the heart of the highly successful and dangerous Soviet game — control of the whole Middle East.
With Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser correctly regarded by Moscow as less than a fully reliable ally, Syria offers an essential pressure point to insure against Soviet loss of influence should Nasser go his own way.
For example, if Nasser decided he could lead Egypt into a political settlement of the Israeli question — a big "if" given the emotional cries for a 100 years' war from Nasser's militant left following Israel's bombing of Cairo — Moscow's gambit is obvious: a thrusting Syrian front and center on the political stage to outflank Nasser.
Unlike Egypt, Syria's Baathist regime, a left-wing Socialist government that makes a fetish of ideological purity, has never accepted the Nov. 22, 1967, UN resolution that resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories and a political settlement of the six-day war. Nor did Syria deign to send its President Attassi to the Arab summit conference in Rabat on December 1967, when demonstration of Syrian refusal to follow the Nasser lead.
Syria's ruling Baath party is far more militant than Nasser. Nasser says he is willing to settle the corrosive dispute with Israel in return for the occupied lands with Israel's consent to take its place as a sovereign state with guaranteed access to the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. To Syria, that is rank-est heresy. Syria's Baathist regime will never acknowledge Israel's existence. As a state, Israel must be driven into the sea and Jew, and Arab together will make Palestine a bi-religious state.
That is the Syrian formula, even though it is no less remote than turning Manhattan to the Indians.
But it means that if Nasser strays too far from the Moscow formula for an indefinite period of controlled tension, the Soviets will use Syria to force him back into line.
Naturally, the Baathist government, which has been in power here for 15 years, would like nothing better than to take the Mideast lead away from Nasser, and a look at the Baath party tells why.
"Baath" means "resurrection" — a resurrection of the masses. The party claims 350,000 members, each of whom went through a training ritual to achieve membership as rigorous and disciplinary as an economic monastic order might prescribe for its novitiate.
For 18 months, an aspirant is a "friend of the party," assigned to a party cell. If this test is passed, he becomes a "supporter" and gets another 18-month dose of training in party ideology and practice. Then he advances to a "non-active" party member status, followed, another 18 months later, by full membership.

Baathist ideologists claim that, while their party is not Marxist, it is not "hostile" to Marxism, either, whether Peeking or Moscow style. The Communist party is illegal here not, say the theoreticians, because of ideological impurities, but because it would split the base — the masses — of the Baath party.
Baathist doctrine aims at spreading the party's ideology to the entire Arab Middle East. The party is organized under a tightly-centralized directorate for the whole "Arab nation," of which the Syrian party is simply a regional arm. Moreover, it founded and finances the Al Saïqū commandos, some units of which are actually led by officers of the regular army.
It was Al Saïqū that almost brought down the moderate Lebanese government with its military invasion of Lebanon last fall.

ANDREW TULLY

Out Of Fingers

WASHINGTON — A man can run out of fingers these days counting the prominent Democrats who are worried, sick about a young sprout named John Lindsay.
The New York mayor has emerged as a definite threat to the political livelihoods of practically every Democrat that ever dreamed of the Presidency. Among them are Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie, Teddy Kennedy, Gene McCarthy and George McGovern. But the list also probably includes Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, who just quit as Democratic National chairman, and former United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg.
Harris' people figure his chances of taking the Democratic nomination are just as good as anyone else's in the chaos that envelops the party. And other opinionated journalists lately have been tinkering with a recent revelation in this space that a gaggle of well-heeled New Yorkers are pressing Goldberg to make the race.
But comes now John Lindsay, who lost the nomination of the Republican Party and yet won reelection as Liberal-Independent. Actually, Lindsay won as a Democrat in disguise. His future as a Republican is virtually non-existent. The office he now holds is a blind alley. Thus if he is to go anywhere, he almost surely must do so as a Democrat.
It is not surprising, then, that Lindsay was the chief topic of backroom conversations at the recent huddle of the Democratic Party Council headed by Humphrey. The boys didn't put it in many words, but the gist of their brooding talk was what to do about Lindsay. (One high-ranking Democrat predicted that trying to run New York will ruin Lindsay — John — but he was not very convincing.)
The Democrats got little comfort from the Gallup Poll, learning only that Lindsay was gaining in national appeal. Mr. Gallup reported that 27 per cent of persons interviewed gave Lindsay a "very favorable" rating, compared to only 13 per cent in August, 1967. Worse, Lindsay got more support and enthusiasm from Democrats than from Republicans. Twenty-five per cent of the Democrats gave Lindsay a "very favorable" rating, compared to only 20 per cent of the Republicans.

An incidental piece of Baathist ideology is the party's hostility to the entire Arab Middle East. The party is organized under a tightly-centralized directorate for the whole "Arab nation," of which the Syrian party is simply a regional arm. Moreover, it founded and finances the Al Saïqū commandos, some units of which are actually led by officers of the regular army.
It was Al Saïqū that almost brought down the moderate Lebanese government with its military invasion of Lebanon last fall.
Since I don't know exactly what drugs your doctor is giving you; I can't attempt to be specific — but do urge you to get your signals straight with your allergist, so you'll do yourself the most good.
I take it for granted that you have discussed with him the matter of desensitization. If you can prevent or minimize the hay fever, you will also reduce the severity of the asthma. And probably vice versa.
But while the hay fever is due to pollen, the asthma can be triggered by things that bother you the year around — dust, foods, plants, all sorts of things.

BERRY'S WORLD

The Schools

Christian Science Monitor
What can one say of these figures on New York City school absenteeism:
—On an average day, fully 25 per cent of youngsters enrolled in high school don't go. This figure rises to 30, 40, and even 45 per cent in certain schools.
Teacher absenteeism has increased 50 per cent in the past three years — to 7.5 per cent each day, twice as high as for the city's office workers.
The New York City figures are substantially worse than for other major American cities. In Boston's high schools, for example, average daily attendance is 86 per cent. The national average is 90 per cent.
Still, the trend is downward. Boston, again, has seen attendance drop steadily one half per cent a year since 1960. The New York decline is only more precipitous and forebodes how city-school life may plummet unless extraordinarily-vigorous and fundamental changes are made.
As pointed out in the New York Times this week, youngsters are staying out of school because they know they can't be caught, they're four or five years behind in basic skills, are hooked on drugs, must work or if from minority groups, they feel schooling won't really better their lot in life.

The tension brought about by the decline of adult authority, and the hard feelings that remain after several years of teacher militarism and fights over community control — these have also soured school life so that teachers and students stay home to avoid the mental stress and physical dangers of school-going.
Is this what urban education is coming to, a tragic dispirit and malaise that will utterly fail to give a fourth or more of our cities' youngsters the rudiments of an educated and self-supporting life?
It's foolish to think in finger-in-the-dike terms, such as doubling the attendance of office or staffs of the schools. The astronomical absenteeism rates are too high to police. And more important — it is the lack of relevance, the ill-will among students and teachers and community, the great number of broken homes (40 per cent of New York's school-age youngsters are from fatherless welfare-families) that lie behind the absenteeism. These must be faced.
Urban schools, with New York's leading the way, are in deep and worsening trouble. America must face this crisis fast. — Christian Science Monitor.

No True Ring

Portland Oregonian
Word from Washington is that the Nixon Administration will soon propose to Congress the establishment of a National Institute of Education "to put under one roof" all federally funded research bearing on the operations of schools and colleges.
Currently such research is conducted by hundreds of state and local agencies of education in all parts of the country under contract with the U. S. Office of Education.
Some educators have been reported as enthusiastic about the proposed institute, apparently fancying that it would increase federal support to education. It might do that, but the idea has its flaws.
States and communities would be ill-advised to support a program that would centralize a major segment of educational research in Washington, D. C. It is not enough to depend so heavily on the central government for funds; it would be much worse to have these funds spent by researchers working "under one roof" and, therefore, with a very restricted point of view.

The Education Commission of the States was organized a few years ago precisely for the purpose of preventing such centralization of the studies that often result in education policies. The ECS, whose chairman this year is Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall, now has 42 member states. It has underway a number of major research projects, which draw on the talent of the several states.
If the federal government wants to reorganize its educational research programs into a less dispersed operation, it would do well to consider doing this through the effective organization for nationwide research already operated by the Education Commission of the States.

Choir Directors To Hear Barbershop Official In T.F.

David M. Stevens, a musical service assistant for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA), will be in Twin Falls on Tuesday to meet with the Maglethords.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Ninth and Shoshone Sts.

The Maglethords, twin Falls chapter of the SPEBSQSA, has invited all choir directors in schools and churches throughout the valley to attend the session.

Mr. Stevens, who travels across the nation and into Canada conducting musical seminars for local chapters, is a long-time "barbershopper," having coached quartets and directed choruses in the San Francisco area for many years.

In 1957, his Berkeley chorus won the international championship of the society.

In addition, Mr. Stevens has 20 years of experience in the commercial music field, primarily in broadcasting and recording.

Mr. Stevens received a bachelor's degree in music education from DePauw University in 1941, and his master's degree from Northwestern in 1947. His background in education includes a tour of duty as music instructor for the Chicago Campus Chorale of Northwestern. He also worked with the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and the San Francisco unified school district in the adult education division.

Mr. Stevens lives in Kenosha, Wis., which is the international headquarters of the society.

Legislature Bogged Down In Problems

By PAUL M. QUINN

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Legislature wound up deadlocked and bogged down over appropriations measures Saturday and the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee declined to meet, as requested by Senate leadership, to solve the problem.

The politically-loaded question as to how much the current session of the legislature will spend in supplemental appropriations was unresolved as the sixth week of the legislature ended.

Committee co-chairman Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, scheduled a Saturday afternoon meeting but after Republicans and Democrats in both the House and Senate caucused on the matter the decision was made not to alter in committee the recommendation to spend $5,076,668 in supplemental appropriations for this biennium but rather put the individual appropriations bills before the legislature and "let the chips fall where they may."

The Senate caucus came up with the determination that finance and appropriations should go back into executive session to whittle down their recommendations. However, House Republicans in their caucus decided to run the appropriations bills as they are now.

If House Democrats took a "hands off" policy on the budget hassle.

Three of the routine appropriations measures were pulled from the debate stage in the Senate Saturday morning when it appeared that a Senate Republican "economy" drive would possibly jeopardize their passage.

The Senate Democrats pounced on the "economy" theme Saturday when it became apparent that the Republicans were serious.

High said the situation hotted down to the fact that the committee he heads has recommended spending $5.07 million. He said the governor's top figure actually comes to $5.2 million, including projects that he has okayed since he told the lawmakers in his state of the state message that he wanted only $4.2 million of the general fund surplus spent.

The appropriations would be in addition to the $221 million that the legislature spent in the first half of the 40th session a year ago.

Senate Democrats, after their caucus, said they will "strive" for the $4.2 million figure but caucus chairman Sen. Art Murphy, D-Coeur d'Alene, also said there would be some "exceptions" when the individual bills are debated.

"We feel generally that many of the proposals for financing are entirely too high," Murphy said, "especially in view of the present state of the economy under the Nixon administration."

He said the Democrats generally felt "that the governor's figure of $5.2 million is too high" and reiterated that the Democrats, at least in the Senate, were determined to hold the figure in the neighborhood of $4.2 million.

Murphy said, "With some exceptions the Democrats will make a percentage cut in these appropriations bills as they come out in an attempt to get the budget down."

Senate president pro tem, James Ellsworth, R-Leodore, after the Republican caucus, said the majority party merely "wants to establish priorities to end this whole thing."

Peavey Asks For "Author" Ident

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, had a bill introduced in the state Senate Saturday calling for the "author" of any editorial comment in a newspaper published in Idaho to identify himself.

The measure would make it a misdemeanor for a newspaper to print an editorial without a name or initial at the bottom of the comment.

The bill was introduced through the State Affairs Committee.

Chinook Salmon In Snake Are Doomed By Dam Construction

By JIM HUMBERT
Idaho Fish Game Department

What may be the last act in the tragedy of Idaho's fall-run chinook salmon is being acted out on a stage just over 100 miles long. It is the Snake River from Hells Canyon Dam to the Asotin dam site near Lewiston. Of all the salmon species, chinooks make the longest migratory ascent of inland waterways to the headwaters of hinterland streams. Three separate races make spawning runs to Idaho in the spring, summer and fall.

All three races of chinook salmon are in trouble because of environmental changes in the Columbia and Snake river systems, and the loss of most of the best ancestral spawning gravel along the waterways. The hardest hit of all the chinooks is the fall-run chinook that historically spawned in the Snake River downstream from Salmon Falls some 600 miles above its mouth in the days before Swan Falls Dam was built.

These salmon were bigger than spring and summer chinooks from the Salmon and Clearwater river drainages. Some of them weighed more than 40 pounds.

After migrating from the ocean and entering tidewater, salmon stop feeding. Instinctual habits actively offered, and to strike occasionally at artificial lures, though physiological changes prevent them from swallowing food. Salmon, of course, are no match for nylon gillnet barriers stretched across their paths, and thousands succumb to concrete-and-steel waterfalls in the Columbia and Snake rivers, as well as pollution.

When fish that succeed in running the gauntlet reach ancestral spawning grounds, whether in headwater streams of the Clearwater and Salmon river drainages — or whether in the Middle Snake River in the case of fall-run chinooks — oftentimes battered and beaten from the long, tiring journey, they dig out a redd or nest in the gravel and spawn and die.

Fall-run chinook spawn from October to November. Eggs hatch in mid-winter. Although spring-run chinook commonly reside in fresh water for over one year and move seaward during their second spring, fall chinook generally migrate to the ocean during their first year of life. According to Terry Holubetz, regional fisheries biologist, fall chinook juveniles migrate as fry and are not termed smolts. Summer stocks demonstrate both residence patterns, but most summer-run chinook juveniles migrate to the sea in their second year of life.

Mr. Holubetz added, since fresh water growth is much slower than marine growth due to less favorable food supplies, chinook salmon differ markedly in size at the same age. Fall chinook are the largest. As fall chinook approach maturity, they exhibit a reduced catchability and the lower susceptibility to line gear makes the fall chinook the least important of the three races in Idaho's sport salmon fishery.

The fall-run chinook is extremely important in the ocean sport and commercial troll fisheries of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Fall chinook also are taken in considerable numbers and make up over 40 per cent of the Columbia River gillnet catch. Columbia River fall-run chinook are rarely taken south of central Oregon in ocean fisheries. Fall chinook originating in the Columbia River drainage show a definite northward movement in the Pacific Ocean and contribute their greatest numbers to the British Columbia troll fishery off the west coast of Vancouver Island. Idaho contributes to about 5 percent of the Columbia River fall-chinook run.

Spring and summer chinooks return to ancestral spawning streams. When they reach Idaho waters, they virtually are caught free, since the sport fishery is limited. Only fall-run salmon must face what appears to be insurmountable obstacles in their home waters in the Hells Canyon reaches of the Snake River. Their ascent to ancestral spawning gravel below Swan Falls is blocked by a trio of dams without fishways. Two federal dams, Lee Harbor and Lower Monumental, already span the river. # German Police Give Descriptions Of Two Wanted In Connection With Plane Bombs

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Police Sunday issued descriptions of two men wanted in connection with an explosion Saturday aboard an Austrian airlines plane carrying mail for Israel and offered a $100 reward for their capture. One of the two apparently speaks Arabic.

The federal criminal police said the explosion, which tore a two-foot hole in the belly of the Caravello jetliner, "must have been caused by a bomb."

The blast, plus a grenade attack at Munich's Riem Airport Feb. 10 on passengers of an Israeli El Al plane and an arson attack on a Jewish home for the aged in Munich, contributed to the heavy Federal police in Frankfurt asked the public to help in finding two men, "both foreigners," who handed in a parcel at a post office in the Frankfurt suburb of Dornbusch Friday morning.

Police described one man as being about 5 feet 7 inches tall, aged between 30 and 40, thick-set with black hair combed back and a black moustache. The man spoke only in foreign language while he was in the post office, apparently in Arabic.

The other man spoke almost accent-free German, police said. He was 5 feet 10 inches tall, between 30 and 32 years old, slim, dressed in a light trench coat.

The package they mailed was rectangular and measured between 1 foot 3 3/4 inches and 1 foot 7 1/2 inches long, police said.

"Who saw these men inside or outside the postoffice?" the police asked. "Who knows a foreigner named Mustafa Ahmad Haron or Havan?"

The police also asked residents in the Odenwald area south of Frankfurt to watch for the contents of two mail sacks which were blown through the belly of the jetliner's baggage compartment by the explosion.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42-year-old man who has dated many women, but I never married. I've been accused of being too "particular." Perhaps I was, but now the time has come when I would really like to settle down and marry.

Being a normal man, I spent years dreaming about my "ideal wife" — one who would possess all the qualities men want in a wife: beauty, intelligence, charm, character, etc.

I recently re-inet an old schoolmate. She is now a young widow. We seem very much "in tune" with each other, and she has all the qualifications I want in a wife, but one — beauty! And heaven forgive me, but in this department she fails miserably.

I keep telling myself that beauty is only skin deep, that people grow old and lose their looks, that charm and character endure forever.

I know I could admire and respect this woman, and even care for her deeply, but could I really "love" her? I tell myself that she can't help what she was born with — or without, and it is childish of me to place so much importance on something so superficial as "looks." But would a marriage which offers everything else eventually overcome this idiotic dream of having a beautiful wife? What is wrong with me?

"DREAMER"

DEAR DREAMER: I think you don't really want to get married. Knowing nothing of what YOU have to offer, I think you're expecting too much.

To place this emphasis on "beauty," the physical kind, is all that important to you, don't marry a woman who "falls miserably" in that department. But let me warn you, a man doesn't know what "fall" is until he marries a woman who has beauty and nothing else.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to your recent reply to GRANDPARENTS, wherein they were denied visitation rights to their grandchildren by their former daughter-in-law. Your response to them was, in part, "But there are no 'rights' for grandparents, and your former daughter-in-law is now holding all the trumpets."

I graciously beg to differ with you, "Beautiful," but in our fair State of California, under California Civil Code, Section 4601 (which went into effect January 1, 1970), it is within the discretion of the court, and if the court deems it advisable for all persons having an interest in the welfare of the child . . . may obtain legal visitation rights.

Let's hope GRANDPARENTS live in California, ah! Very truly yours,

W. D. M. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR W. D. M. Thank you for your very informative letter. I was using "last year's" rules, whereby the ex-daughter-in-law was indeed holding all the trumpets. THIS year the grandparents get a new deal. Hooray for California!

Flower-decorated umbrellas and valentines hung from the walls of the gymnasium. A rainbow, made of pastel colors, decorated the stage and was accented with a white picket fence entwined with vines. The setting was enhanced with the theme written in silver letters and placed under the rainbow. Pink streamers hung across the east end of the floor. Susan Hodges and Terry Booth were members of the decorating committee.

Pete Hamilton Outduels Pearson In Plymouth To Cop Rich Daytona 500

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Young lion Pete Hamilton, who warned the slow drivers to "keep out of the high groove," outdueled veteran David Pearson in a wild finish Sunday to win the $204,185 Daytona 500 in a shark-nosed Plymouth Superbird.

SLIDING-OUT-OF-CONTROL: Richard Petty has more than a little trouble with one of the banked turns at the Daytona International Speedway. Petty, one of the favorites in this year's 500, was forced to retire from the race. Pete Hamilton took the victory in a thrilling stretch duel with David Pearson — a win worth more than $16,000. (UPI telephoto)

'Yanks' Victory Worth $46,400

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Yankee-boy Peter Goodwin Hamilton said Sunday he was thankful for Rebel Richard Petty's tutoring. "But if he wanted to get in that race car he would have had to pry me out with a crowbar first."

"I'm now down in this part of the country," said the Massachusetts newcomer who took it all from the southern drivers in the $204,185 Daytona 500. "But Richard and the Pettys have just treated me grand. I wouldn't have won without his help."

Hamilton won the race in a Plymouth Superbird built by the Petty racing stable at Randleman, N.C. A sister car, driven by Petty, exploded an engine after only 20 miles and was knocked out of the race. "Were you afraid Petty was going to take your place during the race?" Hamilton was asked. "Not really," he fired back. "When the car is running you sure don't want to get out and I think he had confidence in me."

Hamilton, who won 12 races in a Chevrolet Camaro on the NASCAR grand touring circuit last year, said he was confident of beating David Pearson when he passed Pearson with eight laps to go in the race.

"I simply can't say enough about Petty (winner of the 500 twice) and he has taught me a bookful about race driving. I even came South early and kind of 'thought away' while the Pettys built the racing car. That way, you learn it from the ground up."

Hamilton said he got up at 6 a.m. every morning and didn't get out of the Petty garage until 11 p.m. at night. "Talk about your dedication," he said. "That's the guys of racing. Those people never stop working."

Hamilton said one of the big factors in his victory was the removal of two body weights on the right-hand side of his car after 250 miles. He said it kept the car from edging toward the wall at 200-plus miles an hour.

Utes Clash With UTEP On Saturday

By JAMES BAPIS
United Press International

Waik Hawkins is a basketball player who has earned a reputation for spending as much time in the air as on the floor.

That image was certainly enhanced Saturday afternoon when the senior sparked the first of a 113-82 victory over Wyoming and back into first place in the Western Athletic Conference.

"The victory in the Utes' final home-court appearance of the season moved them back into the first place with a 9-3 mark. Texas-El Paso, an 86-72, lower to Arizona, dropped back to second at 8-3."

"This week's action opens Thursday with Arizona at Wyoming, Arizona State in Colorado State, Brigham Young at Texas-El Paso and Utah at New Mexico."

On Saturday, major attention will be on the Utah-Texas-El Paso game at El Paso. Other contests include CSU and BYU at New Mexico.

Penz, French Skiers Dominate Finals Of Wild West Classic

JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. (UPI)—French skiers, led by winners Aini Penz and Ignatia Lafforgue, skied through "crazy, tricky and tight slalom courses Sunday to dominate the final events of the Wild West Classic.

The French, who stood out as a team in downhill competition Sunday, took the top two men's slalom places Sunday, and four of the top 10 women's spots.

Penz led in both runs of the slalom and finished with an unofficial combined time of 1:04.00 on the 1,500-foot courses which dropped 670 feet.

Miss Lafforgue, who also was fastest on both runs, finished in an unofficial combined time of 09.84. The women's courses dropped 515 feet and 1,265 feet.

Henri Reuch — a teammate of Penz — was second in a time of 1:05.97, and Gustavo Thoen of Italy was third in 1:06.04.

The French women took the top five places in downhill competition Saturday, but they held on to the best times was broken Sunday by Barbara Cochran of the U.S. team, who was second in 1:01.31, and Betsy Clifford of Canada, who was third in 1:01.40.

Men's World Cup leader Karl Schranz of Austria, who finished seventh Sunday, described the first men's slalom course as "very-tricky, very-crazy." The course was set up by Herman Gamon, Austrian coach.

"It's my coach who's responsible, but it's very tricky and fast," Schranz said.

Rick Chaffee of the U.S. team, who was fifth after the first run and fell on the second course, said the course "is scary. I didn't know whether to let my skis go. It was too fast."

Miss Cochran described the first women's course as "very tough, light but tricky" but the second course was more rhythmic with more open turns.

Both women's courses had 50 gates and the men's courses word 81 and 63 gates. Weather conditions were excellent and the snow remained hard all day. Chaffee said "it's the best snow we've had all year."

Andrej Bachleda of Poland finished fourth in the men's race Sunday with a time of 1:08.32 and Heini Messner of Austria was fifth in 1:08.85. Miss Lafforgue's twin sister, Britt, was fourth in the women's standings with a time of 1:01.99 and Florence Stouffer, also of Franco, was fifth in 1:02.70. Annia-Famoso picked up the fourth French spot in the top-10, finishing eighth in the time of 1:03.99.

Duquesne Pounds BC By 105-72

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Duquesne University improved its chances for a post-season tournament bid Sunday afternoon by defeating Boston College 105-72.

The Dukes pulled away from an early 5-5 tie and never trailed in the match at the Glivic Arena.

Jarrett Durham paced Duquesne with 30 points, Garry Nelson contributed 22, and his twin, Barry, scored 15. All the Duke starters scored in double figures.

Jim O'Brien led the Eagles with 20 points. Tom Veronau had 17 and Pete Schmid added 10 points.

The game was tight throughout the first half but Duquesne broke away near intermission and ended the first half with a 47-38 lead.

Late in the second half both coaches emptied their benches substituting freely.

The Dukes, now 14-6, were eyeing both of NCAA and NIT post-season tournaments. Boston's record is 10-12.

Nastase Has U.S. Indoor Net Title

SALESBERRY, Md. (UPI) — Twenty-three year old Ihu Nastase, the champion of Romania, became the first U.S. indoor open tennis champion Sunday by beating Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 6-8, 3-6, 6-4, 8-7-6-0.

Nastase had to save two match points in the fourth set after being soundly whipped in the first two. It was a matter of Nastase's drop shots, lobs, and deftly angled volleys taking their toll on Richey's stamina.

Nastase and Richey both won their matches complaining of physical ailments. The entire tournament has been plagued by injury and illness, with such stars as Tony Roche and Roy Emerson falling victim.

Nastase has been suffering from a stomach virus all week long and Richey had suffered a muscle strain in his left leg going for a shot in Saturday night's semifinal against Egypt's Imad El Shafey.

But neither Richey nor Nastase let up for one minute in the grueling contest which lasted almost four hours.

Nastase, sensing an opening like a fighter, moved in to break Richey's service in the 13th game of the fourth set with several drops and cross court placements.

Richey was totally out of gas in the fifth set as Nastase closed out the match in less than 20 minutes. Richey told the crowd after the match "Let's just bring on the champions. He played a helluva match."

The winner's check was for $7200. Richey took home $3,200.

Seattle Holds Off Warriors By 131-127

SEATTLE (UPI) — Center Bob Lucus scored 11 fourth quarter points Sunday to help the Seattle SuperSonics hold off a San Francisco rush and defeat the Warriors 131-127 in a National Basketball Association game.

Seattle had taken an eight-point lead, 98-90, going into the fourth quarter. But San Francisco's Joe Ellis started pumping in shots and the Warriors closed it to two, 112-110, with 5:50 to play.

Seattle's Lucus Allen hit a jumper to widen the margin to four and the Warriors couldn't cut it down after that.

Ellis wound up with 18 points in the final quarter. He was the game's high scorer with 34. Jerry Lucas and Fritz Williams each added 22 to the Warrior cause.

Rule scored 30 points. Rookie guards Allen and Leroy Wilfield had 28 and 24, the career high for each player.

BRUIINS FALL
CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks knocked starting goalie Gerry Cheevers out of the game with four goals in the first 14 minutes Sunday when he went on to whip the Boston Bruins 6-3 in a televised afternoon National Hockey League game.

Fifth District A-4 Meet Will Resume Tuesday

FAIRBURY — Prohibitive favorite Hagerman will tangle with the scrappy District Blvd Devils and Northside Cougars as champion Carey makes his first appearance Tuesday night when the fifth district A-4 basketball tournament resumes.

The state of games has the Panthers and Richfield squaring off in a 6 p.m. opener. At 7:30 Canas County meets Gooding State and the Pirates and Devils meet in the nightcap at 9 p.m. Gooding State, Canas, and Bluff all have sustained one loss in the affair.

The high-scoring Pirates demonstrated their usual offensive strength Saturday night against the host Musters, easily winning 74-45. Big Russ LeMoine — who fell to virtually unchallenged underneath Tuesday as District has nobody near 6-5 — pumped in 22 points to pace the Pirates. Partin, Nicholas, Butler, and Tipper are four others who can hit double figures on any given night for Hagerman.

Richfield, in taking a 65-47 decision over Bliss in its opener, got a surprise lift from freshman Steve Bowers, who kept the Tigers in command over the first 16 minutes. However in the regular season Carey dumped the Tigers twice, both times by notable margins.

Canas County must get its floor game untracked — to stay alive in the tournament, although Tuesday's foe — Gooding State — shouldn't offer much trouble. The Musters have shot poorly from the field of late and hit under 25 per cent against Hagerman Saturday night.

Milwaukee Raps Suns 144-124

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Jon McGlocklin and Flynn Robinson led Milwaukee as the Bucks outscored Phoenix 29-18 in the last nine minutes of the third quarter in a 144-124 National Basketball Association win Sunday night.

The score was tied, 70-70, when the backcourt men took over. McGlocklin had seven points and Robinson collected 11 of his 15 third-quarter points during the Milwaukee spree. The Bucks led 101-88 at the end of the third quarter and continued to build their lead in the fourth, the largest margin being 37.

Law Dendor led the Bucks with 34 points followed by McGlocklin with 31, Robinson with 28 and Bob Dandridge with 24.

Cerrudo Fights Pressure, Steady Rain To Take San Antonio Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Ron Cerrudo, playing the aggressive golf he promised he would, answered the pressure from the patter of steady rain Sunday with a birdie bludge that brought him victory in the $100,000 San Antonio Open by five strokes with a 273.

RON CERRUDO, a 25-year-old pro from San Rafael, Calif., grimaces as he misses an 18-foot birdie putt on the sixth hole in the San Antonio Open. Cerrudo took the tournament with a 7-under total of 273, shooting a 2-under 88 on the final day. (UPI telephoto)

For a seven under par total and easily win $20,000 and his second title in his two years on the tour.

Far back at two-under-par 278 in second place came Dick Metz, Cerrudo's playing partner Sunday, who put on an abbreviated charge on the front nine to narrow the gap, at one point to only one stroke.

Final for third place on Sunday over the 7,000-yard, par 35-37 layout, and Rod Funselt, who had led the tournament after the first round and was in second place behind Cerrudo after the second and third rounds.

At Cerrudo's side was an even-par 70 Sunday, and John Schleut who came in with a 71, finished tied for fifth.

first four holes he saw his lead cut to only two strokes.

As Cerrudo held out on the fourth hole, a light rain began to fall, and it in time turned into a steady rain that served to wind up four days worth of lousy weather.

Cerrudo saw his lead dwindle to only one stroke when Loiz birdied his third straight hole—the fifth—but Loiz bogged the ninth to leave Cerrudo two in front.

Then Cerrudo turned on the steam by rolling in birdie putts on the 10th, 12th and 14th, holes to win going away.

Lakers Dump Boston By 108-96

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The crippled Los Angeles Lakers played only seven minutes Sunday night but that was enough to defeat the equally injury-plagued Boston Celtics 108-96 behind a 39-point effort by Elgin Baylor.

The 35-year-old veteran also pulled down 17 rebounds as the Celtics controlled the boards.

Alding Baylor was happy in the final period after the Celtics pulled to within four at the start of the fourth quarter 72-68.

FASTEST PLAYER AFTER 1st TRICK

"Jim: 'Over the years, you have established a reputation as the fastest-bridge player in the world. Do you think that you play too fast?'"

Oswald: "Not at all. I merely don't waste unnecessary time. When I should stop to think, I do so."

Jim: "What do you consider the most important time for declarer to think?"

Oswald: "That's an easy one. Some time before he plays to the first or the second trick, so he can plan the entire campaign."

Jim: "Here is a good example of the advantage of this early thinking.—The contract is six spades. Dummy's ace of hearts wins the first trick and it is up to South to decide between a diamond or club discard."

Oswald: "It shouldn't be too much of a problem. At first glance, a diamond discard looks like a winner, since this will insure South against lots of a diamond trick. However, a glance isn't enough."

Jim: "I should say not. If South discards a diamond, he may wind up taking 10 or 15 minutes to play out the hand and will not only have wasted a lot of time, but also tossed a slam out the window."

Oswald: "Just a little more thought will show that a club discard guarantees the slam. Furthermore, South can play the hand with great speed from then on. He simply draws the opponents' trumps and tries the diamond finesse. If it succeeds and the suit breaks nicely, he will make seven. If it fails, he will claim his slam, since he will be able to discard another club on dummy's ace of diamonds."

You, South, hold:
AK98 43 452 4A J3
What is your opening bid?
A—Bid one club. A one-trump opening is bad but should be avoided because of the worthless heart doubleton.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You do bid one club and your partner responds one spade. What do you do now?

Cigar Smokers Appear To Be Heavier Than Cigarette Fans

BLONDES—An examination of the I. Q. tests of 5,000 college women revealed the natural blondes to be slightly brighter, just slightly, than either red-heads or brunettes.

CIGAR SMOKERS on the average run four pounds heavier than pipe smokers and six pounds heavier than cigarette smokers.

SCRAWLED in ball-point ink on a men's room wall I note the seemingly significant but no doubt erroneous declaration: "Sam Yorty has an extra Y chromosome." UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA researchers think they've found evidence to indicate a man gets his height from his mother's side of the family.

BOXERS IN THE TRAFFIC—"What does a good boxer watch his opponent's eyes, hands or feet?" inquires a client not-quite-qualified to answer this one. I asked an old pro who now shines shoes up the street. He said, "Always keep your eye on the man's midsection. If he can't fake you with that. Look, it's like walking down a crowded street. You keep watching people's eyes, and you'll start playing guessing games, and you'll get bumped all over the place. Just watch their waistlines and you'll never get bumped into."

OPEN QUESTIONS—I. Is it possible for a man without a particularly lively sense of humor to make a living as a salesman? 2. Any trunk to the old claim that too much tickling will cause a baby to stutter later in life?

RAPID REPLY—Yes, Mr. T., our Name Game man says Judge of the Orange County (Cal.) Superior Court has been accepted for membership in the Proper Job Club.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used wherever possible. Please address your mail to L. M. Boyd, McNaught Syndicate, Inc., 60 E. 42nd St., New York, N. Y. 10017.

"Margie's new boy friend is real groovy—he can wiggle his ears!"

"I don't want to scare you but I tried to wiggle my ears on the major's dog. First the mutt dug up the old bones for the neighbors."

Agnew-Once More In Good Form As Attack Is Made On U.S. Press In Atlanta Talk

ATLANTA (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew assailed what he called the "liberal news media" for disseminating "drivel," and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger rebuffed a network news team during separate appearances in Atlanta during the weekend.

Agnew's criticism of the press came at a black tie $100-a-plate GOP campaign fund dinner Saturday night that raised $100,000 for the Republican party of Georgia and drew about 400 peacemongers.

Burger spoke about the same time at a hotel a few blocks away to a meeting of the American Bar Association, but only after a confrontation with a newsmen of the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) in which he ordered a microphone removed.

Agnew told his cheering audience that demonstrators have no thoughts of their own and are merely reacting to ideas supplied in a "computer-like operation." He said demonstrations actually stemmed from a fear of confrontation with reason and logic.

"The liberal news media have been calling on me to lower my voice," Agnew said. "I would like to do this, but I will not make a unilateral withdrawal and thereby violate the confidence of the silent majority."

"To penetrate that drive disseminated by the liberal news media we need a cry of alarm."

He said he would "lower my voice" if the Black Panthers would disavow violence and run candidates in the accepted fashion and if dissidents stop "pledging allegiance to Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse-tung."

Burger said before appearing at the ABA's midyear meeting, he would allow no television or radio coverage of the speech.

But a CBS broadcast team said it had not been informed of the ruling and attempted to cover the speech.

The confrontation came after a microphone had been placed on the speaker's podium.

"You're planning to cover this?" Burger asked CBS team chief Phil Jones.

"That's right," Jones said. "I'm a newsmen with CBS."

"Well, whatever you are, goodbye and goodnight," Burger replied.

"You don't consider this a public speech?" Jones asked.

"We are charged with covering the news, and the chief justice makes news when he speaks publicly. Why can't I cover it?"

"If you have a couple of hours sometime, come by my office and I'll explain it to you," Burger said.

The microphone was removed.

In his speech, Burger said that America's complex and expensive system of justice isn't working very well, and tends to become a spectator sport.

He called for prison reform with an emphasis on rehabilitation to cut down on repeat

News Columnist Dies On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Author and news columnist George N. Crocker suffered a heart seizure and died Friday at the age of 64.

"His commentary on domestic and international affairs had appeared in the San Francisco Examiner since 1962. He also wrote two books, one dealing with the foreign policy of the Franklin-D. Roosevelt administration and the other analyzing the work of the House Committee on Un-American Activities."

European Airlines Cancel Freight, Mail Shipments To Israel As Security Move

LONDON (UPI)—Most of Europe's major airlines Sunday cancelled freight and mail deliveries to Israel in a security move caused by the crash of a Swiss jet bound for Tel Aviv Saturday.

Security police swarmed over the great continental airports, checking passengers and baggage on Tel Aviv flights. Extra-strict precautions were reported in force at London, Rome, Amsterdam, Vienna, Munich and Copenhagen airports.

The security measures announced all over Europe focused strictly on the Tel Aviv services. No authority indicated it would heed Israeli calls for boycott of flights to Arab nations.

The protective measures were taken in response to the in-flight explosion and crash Saturday of a Swissair Corsondo jet carrying 47 persons from Zurich to Tel Aviv. All aboard were killed when the plane plunged to earth near the West German-Swiss border, and officialists said sabotage was suspected.

In Wurenlingen, Switzerland, a Swissair spokesman said the airline would stop flying both mail and freight to Tel Aviv for an indefinite period. The move followed Swissair's disclosure its security screen had checked all cargo aboard the fatal flight except the mailbags.

In Copenhagen the one-a-week Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) flight to Tel Aviv was shelved when half of the 124 passengers stayed away for fear of sabotage.

Those passengers who did show up were flown to Zurich, Athens and Rome and transferred to Swiss and U.S. flights into Tel Aviv.

In London, British Overseas Airways Corporation (BOAC) announced it would forbid the shipment of freight aboard its Tel Aviv flights for 48 hours while experts sought "a fool-proof method of carrying freight" safely.

BOAC said it would continue mail deliveries during the freight embargo period, but would permit individual pilots to require that mail sacks suspected for any reason be kept off the flight.

In Frankfurt, West Germany's Lufthansa airline banned freight and mail from its only scheduled flight to Israel and said it would announce measures Monday that could cover all flights to Middle East points. It did not elaborate.

In Paris, Air France officials cancelled the only freight and mail shipment bound for Israel Sunday and said they would announce further measures, including a passenger protection, Monday.

KLM officials in Amsterdam said mail and freight would be prohibited from Israel-bound flights all this week.

The Almanac

Today is Monday, Feb. 23, the 54th day of 1970 with 311 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1847 Gen. Zachary Taylor and his American soldiers defeated Mexican Gen. Santa Ana in the Battle of Buena Vista.

In 1942 a Japanese submarine fired 25 shells at an oil refinery near Santa Barbara, Calif., two and-one-half months after Japan's sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.

In 1945 six members of the U.S. Marines planted an American flag atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima.

In 1969 President Nixon arrived in Belgium to begin a tour of Europe. Also that day King Saud of Saudi Arabia died at the age of 67.

A thought for the day—Irwin Shaw said, "There are too many books I haven't read, too many memories I haven't kept long enough."
