French President Starts Conferences With Nixon

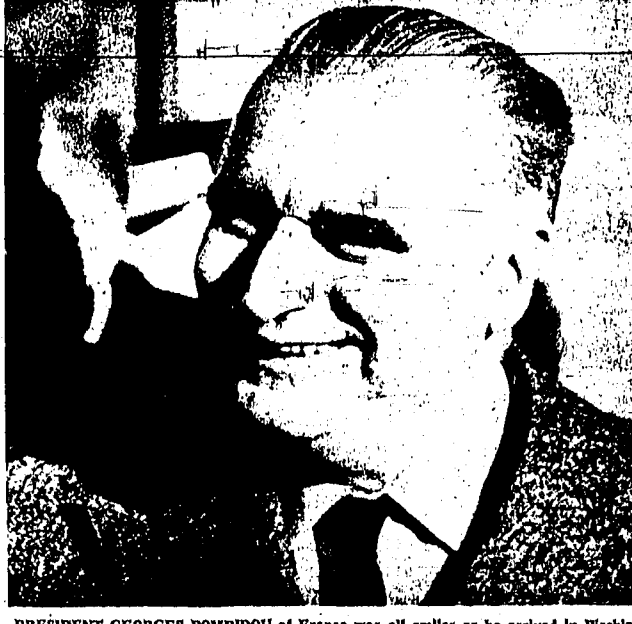

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF
WASHINGTON (UPI) — French President Georges Pompidou today began what the White House considers the most important visit by a foreign chief of state since President Nixon took office.

Pompidou, accompanied by his wife, had arrived at the White House at 10 a.m. EST to be greeted by Nixon and receive full military honors. He spent the night at Camp David in the Maryland mountains.

The two presidents were then to retire for about 20 hours of talks during which France's controversial sale of 10 Mirage jets to Libya was expected to be a prime topic of conversation.

Both U.S. and French officials stress Pompidou's visit is primarily an exercise in good will and that no negotiations are involved and no diplomatic agreements will be completed.

But Nixon undoubtedly will take the opportunity to get an explanation from Pompidou of the French decision to sell the Mirage jets to Libya.

Constitutional Change Bill Now Before House

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho House today received the Senate passed constitutional revision proposal—a joint resolution calling for the people to decide in the next general election whether to change the 81-year-old state constitution.

The proposal passed by a 26-8 vote Monday in the upper chamber—two more votes than needed for a two-thirds majority.

B-52s Bomb Supply Lines In Laos After Suspension

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command sent more waves of B-52s into Laos today to pound supply lines to North Vietnamese troops on the move and resumed Stratofort strikes in Vietnam after a 24-hour suspension.

The Stratofortresses dropped more than 160 tons of bombs this morning on guerrilla troop concentrations and base camps near the Central Highlands city of Ban Me Thuot 165 miles northeast of Saigon, military spokesmen said.

Official military sources said the bombers also were again sent to hammer at supply lines supporting 16,000 North Vietnamese troops driving deep into Laos.

Reports from Laos said the North Vietnamese who took the Plain of Jars last week were this morning on guerrilla operations and that Laotian government forces were struggling to hold an air field nearby.

Battlefield action remained light and scattered across Vietnam.

The largest action reported involved U.S. troops saw U.S. helicopter gunships firing rockets and machine guns attack a Viet Cong sampan fleet near the Mekong Delta city of Can Tho, 87 miles southwest of Saigon.

The attack killed 20 guerrillas and destroyed 45 sampans and 100 boats.

In urging that the Senate adopt the joint resolution calling for putting the proposal before the voters, Sen. Robert Rowett, R-Mountain Home, said, "This is the juncture where we have to decide if it is worthy to be presented to the people."

As it left the upper chamber, the revision as it came from a special study commission that worked five years, has just one major change—in the section dealing with uniform taxation and exemptions.

In all, six amendments were attached to the document. It arrived in the Senate in constitutional revision commission form last Thursday, Monday, three of the amendments were passed and five other changes were turned down in the Committee of the Whole.

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Former uranium miner Charles Stone, who went from rags to riches when he discovered the largest uranium find on the American continent in the early 1950s, is prospecting again.

Recent court action has cut off much of Stone's fortune, estimated once at $19 million, or has depleted his capital to a much lesser amount.

City Budget Readied For Council Sean

Figures in the 1970 Twin Falls city budget are expected to be completed for a formal presentation to the city council March 2, City Manager Jean Millar reported Tuesday.

He said he hopes to hold a final informal budget discussion meeting late this week with city council members prior to the formal presentation. The budget will then be advertised and a public hearing held for final adoption by the end of March.

Mr. Millar said one piece of pending legislation is still expected to have an important effect on the city expenditures for this year. If the proposed bill to increase taxing units revenue by 5.5 per cent and permit the increased revenue from expanded city boundaries and assessed valuation boosts to be excluded from this limitation is approved, it would mean about $30,000 in revenue to the city, Mr. Millar said.

This bill, which would substitute for the four per cent limitation of House Bill 304, is still pending, the city manager said.

If it does not pass, the city must depend on Bill 304 and the four per cent increase in total revenue. However, because Twin Falls was granted a special increase last year of 7.84 per cent rather than four per cent, this would have to be deducted from the 304.

This would give Twin Falls only 1.6 per cent beyond what was actually received in revenue for last year.

Mr. Millar said this would amount to only about $1,200 in revenue and would mean a net loss of training in the budget where possible. He said he plans to submit to the council a budget based on the 5.5 per cent increase which will easily handle planned expenditures for this year. If legislative action then reduces this back to the limitations of the present bill all general fund departments will undergo some cutbacks, he said. Law provides the city must adopt a budget by the end of March.

Gooding Man Crash Victim Near Jerome

JEROME — The death of a 55-year-old Gooding man, Fred Miller, Route 1, Gooding, died about 2 a.m. Monday at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, of injuries received in a two-vehicle collision about 2:45 a.m. Saturday on Interstate 80N.

Idaho State Police said the victim, Fred Miller, Route 1, Gooding, died about 2 a.m. Monday at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, of injuries received in a two-vehicle collision about 2:45 a.m. Saturday on Interstate 80N.

Mr. Miller was driver of a 1959 Buick which collided with a 1970 White truck carrying an officer, said the Miller vehicle swerved into the side of the truck as the truck was attempting to pass the car.

The Miller vehicle went off the right side of the road and the truck went off the left side of the road. Both vehicles were demolished, with about $20,000 damage listed to the truck. Both vehicles were traveling east on Interstate 80N when the accident occurred, about five miles east of Jerome.

Farmer Hurt As Hay Bales Drop

JEROME—LeRoy Larsen, 65, was listed in fairly good condition Tuesday at St. Benedict's Hospital after being buried under 20 bales of hay Monday on his farm five miles north of town.

Larsen was loading hay onto the back of a truck when the bales slipped, burying him under the 20 bales. He managed to work one hand and his head free and called to his son, R. L. (Tuffy) Larsen, who was working with him in the field.

The younger Larsen freed his father who was taken to the hospital by family members.

Potato Plants Picketed

NFO members throughout Magic Valley dissatisfied with the prices they are now receiving for potatoes, Tuesday were picketing most processing plants in the area.

NFO members are picketing plants because the prices they are receiving are below production costs, NFO members also are holding their potatoes off the market. This holding action is nationwide, NFO members state.

(See picture on page 2.) George Brandon, Paul, NFO member, said while picketing Idaho Frozen Foods in Twin Falls, that the cost of potatoes in the store in relation to the price farmers are receiving is not reasonable.

He said, "We are asking for $3.50 hundredweight on No. 1 potatoes." The price farmers are receiving now for No. 1 potatoes is $2.50-$2.70 hundredweight, 80 cents for No. 2 and 25 cents for the remaining potatoes.

His averages out to a loss of $1.50 per bushel, which is below production costs," Mr. Brandon said.

"Although this is a holding action by NFO members, we (the farmers) do want to sell our potatoes, but at a fair price," he concluded.

NFO members plan to continue this holding action until the price of potatoes is increased. "When this will happen is up to the processors," a NFO member said.

About 35 members were picketing potato processing and shipping plants in Mindoka and Cassia counties Tuesday, according to a spokesman at the Rupert NFO office.

These include Simplot at Heyburn, Burley Processing at Oro-Ida Foods and A and P, all in Burley, and the Rolland Jones and Max Herbold firms in Rupert.

NFO officials in Rupert indicated they have no quarrel with any individual plant, but are picketing, as part of a nationwide action, in an effort to get higher prices.

It is hoped to have 100 members picketing by tonight, the spokesman said.

At the J. R. Simplot plant in Heyburn, there are two pickets at each of the three gates, for a total of six pickets. The plant is operating as usual, Hugo Dalanglo, plant manager, said that the NFO pickets had not been in contact with him and other officials.

Mrs. Romney Decides To Seek Office

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Mrs. George Romney said Saturday she would run for U.S. Senate "only if I'm drafted."

Michigan's Republicans then, to her surprise, refused to give her the draft she had sought. Monday she announced her candidacy anyway.

Mrs. Romney, wife of the former Michigan governor who is now secretary of housing and urban development, not only declared herself a candidate but announced through the office of Gov. William Milliken. The governor promptly threw her his "full support," giving her the party backing she had been denied over the weekend.

The winner of the GOP primary will face Democratic Sen. Philip Hart in November. If Mrs. Romney wins the consensus designation, she will face primary opposition from at least one opponent—state Sen. Robert Huber of Troy, a maverick who had promised a "bloody" campaign against any consensus candidate.

Sex

BOISE (UPI) — Senate-originated bill calling on local school trustees to assist in sex education won unanimous approval of the House Education Committee Monday.

The measure states that the primary responsibility for sex education lies with the home and churches with schools supplementing the child's knowledge. Also included in the bill is a provision that a parent may remove a child from a sex education class.

Twin Falls School Trustees Vote To Pay For Textbook, Workbook Fees In System

Textbook and workbook fees have been voted for the 1970-71 school year for Twin Falls students.

The board of trustees of School District No. 411, after studying the language of the Idaho Supreme Court decision of Jan. 16, adopted a fee schedule which indicates that any books or equipment required by the school district must be paid for by the district. Voluntary classes and expenses, including high school annual and class fees, are to be paid by the students.

The Supreme Court decision left a problem for school boards in that the ruling applied specifically to textbooks, but not to other fees. Dr. Ernest R. England, superintendent of schools, said today.

The fee schedule adopted by the trustees is in line with both the court ruling and with guidelines of the State Department of Education, Dr. England said.

The fee schedule provides that: —No fees will be charged for textbooks, workbooks, magazines, newspapers for class use, or for classroom materials required by the school district.

—No fees will be charged in metals classes, shop or vocational agriculture for the use of oxygen, acetylene, or other required instructional materials, and there will be no fee for classes in electricity.

—Fees will be charged for student activities on a voluntary basis only. Examples would be student activity tickets, school annuals, school newspapers and class dues.

—Students will be permitted to furnish paper and pencils and other items which are obtained on an individual basis. When school officials require a specific kind or quality of paper or writing equipment, the district must furnish the required items.

—Re-sale items, such as luncheon potatoes, Max Herbold, Inc., Rupert, was not being picketed this morning. Mr. Herbold said he had talked to NFO members on Monday, and had not taken any new potato orders this morning. Employees were working this morning in sorting potato orders already on hand. Max Yost Says Taxpayers Are Concerned About Laws Which Fail To Spell Out Cost

BOISE (UPI) — The executive manager of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said today the state's taxpayers are concerned about adoption of legislation "without knowing what they will cost nor how the money will be raised to finance them."

Max Yost, in his weekly newsletter, said outstanding examples of new programs were the 1963 public employees' retirement system and this session's proposed state-aided kindergarten program.

Yost said the retirement system project was put on the books with no "dollar-and-cents estimate of the cost to the taxpayers."

The kindergarten program, he said, gave no reliable estimate of present or future costs.

Yost said another example could be found in the present session by a measure to set up school districts and authorization of a one-mill levy for the purchase of scales and operation of the project.

"Not even the vaguest estimate of the cost of the scales is given, despite the fact that such figures, while not of general knowledge, certainly must be easily obtainable," he added.

The Senate spent an hour and a half debating and then passed a bill setting up a permanent legislative auditor and two companion measures designed to transfer control of the Bureau of Public Accounts from the executive branch of government to the legislative branch.

An attempt to change the appointment of the legislative auditor and to whom he is responsible failed by a standing vote.

Sen. John Evans, D-Malden, said that he was concerned that the Finance Committee of the legislature would appoint the legislative auditor for a term of six years rather than having the Legislative Council handle such appointment.

However, Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said the legislative council is, under law, basically a research agency. This bill is merely an attempt to clarify the duties of the legislative auditor.

The measure cleared the upper chamber 27-7 and was sent to the governor.

Also passed, by a vote of 26-4, was a bill creating the division of public accounts in the office of the legislative auditor.

"This was sent to the House for its concurrence along with a bill designed to give the legislative auditor a supplemental appropriation of $20,000.

That measure cleared by a vote of 27-6.

Salmon Gets Grant For Pollution

BOISE (UPI) — The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration has awarded a $41,220 grant to Salmon, Idaho, for construction of sewage stabilization station.

Dr. Terrell O. Carver, administrator of the Idaho Department of Health, said today the $45,000 improvement project will intercept an existing raw sewage outfall to the river and will involve construction of a 400-foot pipeline crossing the river to a sewage lift station.

Carver indicated the new four-celled sewage stabilization pond with two 7-1/2 horsepower aerators, will provide secondary treatment as required by the Idaho State Board of Health.

The FWPCA grant will cover 30 per cent of the $137,400 eligible project cost.

Drug Abuse Is Topic Of Rupert Meet

RUPERT — Students from Minico High School presented a program on drug use among students at this morning's Chamber of Commerce meeting at Herring's Cafe.

Rick Schafer, student body president; Rob Newman, senior vice president; Ross Stephenson and Dennis Ralsch discussed results of a poll taken recently in a government class at Minico.

According to this survey, use of drugs, alcohol and tobacco is steadily increasing among these students, with 33 per cent of the boys and 10 per cent of the girls using or having tried marijuana.

Out of 69 boys interviewed, 12.4 per cent have used LSD and 33 per cent of the boys and 6 per cent of the girls have tried "speed." Cigarettes still rank the highest in use with 55 per cent of the boys and 19 per cent of the girls smoking.

Alcohol is widely used by both sexes alike, the young speaker said. They stressed these figures are from a survey conducted by one class at Minico. Questions followed their presentations.

"Twilight War" In Laos Gradually Nearing Daylight

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

The "twilight war" in Laos gradually is coming into full daylight, attracting more discussion about the U.S. commitment there, what it's costing, who is running it and who is fighting it.

The fact that in four out of five recent days U.S. B52s were diverted from other assignments to support Laotian forces retreating from the Plain of Jara suggests the U.S. commitment in the air is about total.

Then comes a shudown of American advisers of unknown numbers directing the war from a secret headquarters and of "spook" airlines under direction of the Central Intelligence Agency's air-dropping food and military supplies.

It is not a situation designed to make the Nixon administration happy but it is defended as an operation necessary to prevent Laos from falling totally into Communist hands.

A transcript of a secret session of the U.S. Senate released in late January suggested U.S. military and economic aid to Laos this year will come to about $100 million — $50 million for the regular Laotian army, $50 million for economic aid and another $50 million for secret operations not identified.

Most of the latter money, it was assumed, would go to support an army known apparently enough as the Armeo Clandestine.

It is an army of 40,000 full and part-time fighters drawn from the Meo hill people living in the Laotian northeast.

Their commander is Maj. Gen. Vang Pao, a small, wiry flamboyant man who is himself a Meo and rated one of the most effective and honest Laotian generals.

The plain is important strategically because it opens onto a crossroads that could lead either to the administrative capital of Vientiane to the south or the royal capital of Luang Prabang in the north.

Politically, it is a card in the Paris peace talks where territory held by either side could be a factor in the final settlement.

Administration Line Is Hardening

WASHINGTON—The fact that President Nixon issued his pro- nouncements on school-integration without even consulting his policy-makers at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is a portend of a hardening Administration line.

While school integration pressure remained concentrated in the South through 1969, Mr. Nixon was content to let the HEW department and his conservative Justice Department collide on the school-race question—particularly on the Whitten amendment to the HEW appropriations bill.

Thus, the long-time prophecy of Southern politicians is coming to pass. They have long predicted that, once true racial integration came home to the North, its people and its politicians would lose their fervor for civil rights.

instances of court-ordered busing. Integrations at HEW, hard put in their year-long battle against the Justice Department and White House, have found their liberal allies in Congress deserting them.

Year Of The Dog

To the Chinese, this is the Year of the Dog. To Americans it is the year of Politics. With the election coming up this fall to choose all Representatives and one third of the Senate, most of the decisions made in Congress and the White House will be heavily flavored with political expediency plus maybe a pinch of chicanery.

Democrats want to retain control of Congress and the powerful committee chairmanships. Republicans want to gain a working majority and there are crosscurrents between liberals and conservatives and between North and South.

President Nixon has managed in his first year to establish himself as a liberal, conservative, unaffiliated, reformer and cooperatively seeking to get along with the Democratic-controlled Congress; and striving to unify the people behind his program of gradual withdrawal and Vietnamization of the war, to renew fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget, and to start on cleaning up the national environment, from clean water to safe streets.

There are goals everyone is for and no one is against. But this is the year of the Politician. Senator McGovern charges Nixon's war policy is "a political hoax". Hubert Humphrey accuses the President of balancing the budget at the expense of education, and, for good measure, "the sick and the needy". Senator Muskie cries "too little" to the anti-pollution campaign.

Messrs. McGovern, Humphrey and Muskie, it might be noted, would like to take Mr. Nixon's place at the helm of government.

Senate Democrats are seeking to depict the Republicans as recessionists while the Republican Administration tries to establish that the Democrats are spendthrifts. Liberals are beginning to complain that President Nixon is using his power and thus somewhat taking advantage. They dislike, especially his going direct to the people by means of television—but the people like it.

Many of the charges and countercharges are purely pedestrian politics, reminiscent of the old-fashioned low regard for the voters as unsophisticated oafs.

As a former great Democratic leader was wont to say, "Let's look at the record!"

Since 1900, Republicans have held control for 34 years under eight Presidents, the Democrats 36 years under five presidents. Under the Democrats, four major wars began, none under Republicans. Republicans presented 20 balanced budgets, the Democrats ten. Deficit budget score: Republicans 14, Democrats 26.

Prices rose an average of 4.5 per cent a year under Democrats and about one-tenth of one per cent under Republicans.

And the bread-and-butter issue this year for the man in the street is the high cost of these and other commodities.

So, the dog days of summer will be enlivened by the usual political hyperbole which is likely to be more buncombe than truth. We think the voter long since combed the hayseed out of his hair and is able to tell the one from the other.

Sex Ignorance

All the sound and fury over sex education has to do with teaching it in elementary, junior and senior high schools. Everybody seems to be shouting about it, but already learned that another all they seem to know about sex.

An editorial in "Science," the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, reports the findings of a questionnaire sent to 1,959 students and teachers at Cornell University.

There was a general agreement on the desirability of sex education, but a substantial minority of the respondents (60 per cent) wanted through-out sex education, and 20 per cent wanted a mere 5 per cent decrease in sex education.

There was no major way affected by sex, marital or parental. Among those who might be expected to be most concerned about the population crisis—for example, graduate students and biology faculty—half of them indicated a desire for three or more children.

As regards contraception, impressive ignorance was found to exist about the various means. Voluntary sterilization, the most effective and safest of all, was judged to be as undesirable as abortion or abstinence.

A majority (52 per cent of males and 61 per cent of females) said they would never undergo sterilization, even after having their desired number of children. Most of them were certain it would cause impotence or interfere with the menstrual cycle.

Many of the biology faculty were almost as misinformed or uninformed on this point as the rest. "What are we to make of the educated youth growing up among us that is either unconcerned about population growth or, at the very least, unable or unwilling to apply to itself the simple arithmetic of compound interest?" asks the editorial.

"And what, if any, are the prospects for improved sex education when ignorance about the reproductive system is widespread even among those who should know best?"

What, indeed?

On Reading In Bed

Ever read in bed? If not, then you are missing one of the nicest things about being alive.

The only trouble is that a lot of people confine themselves to a single line of reading—and do not go far afield. Most of the fun of reading is in a line different from that in which you are engaged. For instance, Mr. Spectator scans newspapers from various parts of the country day in and day out.

When he gets home at night he scans a couple more, then takes a peek at the TV newscasts before hitting the hay. But then, when the hay is hit, comes the highlights of the day. The magazines! They range all the way from flying to general stuff to travel and to adventure.

But every couple of months we get hold of one which, because of its nature, must be of relatively high distribution and not seen by the millions.

We have a part Chi-Terrier female Golden Retriever pup to give away. Call at 401 Fourth Avenue, Room 101, 733-4111.

For instance, this issue tells of productions outstanding, but the articles are those which hold back sleep for hours longer than you should stay awake.

the birth of a democracy in Saudi Arabia, then about Istanbul, Queen of Cities, followed by Discovery, the story of Aramco. Then, again followed by Mongrel, the story of a desert fun car, after which comes the exploring yarn about looking for Dilman an closes with an animal story called Fit To Survive.

It's a well-rounded collection of interesting articles yet they must be read by only a relative few—or rather, they are available to only a relative few.

So follow Mr. Spectator's suggestion. Enjoy your reading-in-bed time even if you do not get the Aramco World. The secret is to delve into something you are not concerned with all day.

It will make living a lot more interesting.

Being Soft On Crime

WASHINGTON—Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl., no dope in any political yardstick, was the brains behind the most audacious gag of the year—the Democratic Policy Council's blast at the Nixon administration for being soft on crime.

Only the results of this fall's Congressional elections will tell whether Harris will wind up wearing the robes of a hero or the horns of a goat. But the Oklahoma deserves points for brazen political guts in his attempt to pilfer one of the Republicans' major issues of the 1968 Presidential campaign.

Although Nixon inherited the nation's greatest crime wave from eight years of Democratic rule, Harris succeeded in selling his goods to the 66-member Democratic Council in one of the last acts of his tenure as national chairman. His argument was a simple one, to wit, that crime increased nationwide by 11 per cent during the Nixon year 1969, and that Nixon therefore is vulnerable on the issue.

Harris' first customer was Hubert Humphrey. No hard sell was needed here, since Humphrey suffered previously under Richard Nixon's "law and order" attack during the '68 campaign. "They lambasted you," Harris told Humphrey. "Now is your chance to get a little of your own back." Others eagerly went along with the notable exception of Sen. Ed Muskie of Maine, who suggested there might be danger in including a section on crime in the resolution on domestic affairs.

"This could boomerang," Muskie told the Council. "The Republicans will dig up all that material dated in 1968." The crime section overwhelmingly, and gave it more space in its resolution than any other domestic issue. Crime got 38 lines, compared to an average of 13 lines for such other issues as education, medical care, welfare program and urban problems.

Humphrey, the party's titular leader and chairman of the Council, took it from there in two press conferences. He noted that 18 months had elapsed since the Council adopted the crime section overwhelmingly, and gave it more space in its resolution than any other domestic issue. Crime got 38 lines, compared to an average of 13 lines for such other issues as education, medical care, welfare program and urban problems.

Humphrey of 1968, who accused Nixon of "playing heavily on fear" in his speeches on crime, and said the GOP candidate was sacrificing the national interest "for political demagoguery."

Clearly, the Democrats are banking on the theory that most voters live in the present, in preoccupation with today's evils. The Democratic pitch, in effect, will be that Nixon has not made good on his promise to stem the crime wave—a sort of what's-be-done-for-you lately approach. The Republicans naturally will strike back with the argument that the nation is still suffering from the crime momentum built up during eight years of Democratic "permissiveness." They will remind voters that Congress is still controlled by the Democrats, who have dragged their feet on Nixon's anti-crime proposals.

But the Republicans also will be on the spot. The President has been slow in getting his anti-crime proposals up to the Hill and too cautious in applying pressure for their enactment. He'll have to give his law-enforcement program the oil-out treatment in this election year if he is to neutralize Democratic charges of do-nothingness.

Meanwhile, the plain citizen can take comfort from all these cunning maneuverings. In coming out officially and unofficially against crime, the Democrats now have made it unanimous.

Face Masks

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any type of face mask that can be worn to protect against contracting flu from another member of the family? Would a mask with a washable sponge rubber filter which supposedly filters out dust and pollen be as effective as others?—H. R. K.

Face masks are available in most drug stores—but folding a large handkerchief and tying it over nose and mouth may do just as well.

This degree of protection, though, is hardly necessary, in my opinion, except in such cases as caring for infant children—in which case you would wear the mask to protect the baby or in cases of tending a patient with active tuberculosis.

Keep in mind they way flu, cold, and TB germs are transmitted: the viruses (or the tubercle bacillus in the case of TB) are contained in the tiny droplets of water which are carried by the breath or by a cough or sneeze.

The germs, especially the viruses, do not survive long. They need the moisture, as well as warmth. As the droplets of moisture dry up, the viruses soon perish.

The way—to such extent as is possible—to prevent spreading flu is to prevent these permeating droplets of moisture from arriving, before they have dried out, in the warm, moist noses and throats of other people.

The most effective way is to prevent the droplets from being scattered through the air. In a well-run TB hospital, about the first thing a new patient learns is to keep a box of tissues handy so he can cover his own cough or sneeze and dispose of the tissue.

Well, the same thing applies to flu or to cold; and a thoughtful patient learns to use tissues to protect those around him.

Filters for dust and pollen would be just as effective as other types of masks, but by and large I think the habit of covering coughs and sneezes is more important.

Note to D. N.: No, there is no evidence that cataracts are "catching," so put your mind at rest on that score.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can an inguinal hernia strangulate without causing sharp pain or giving a clue to the danger?—T.M.

Such strangulation can occur without prior warning, but when it happens, there will be severe pain. Immediate treatment is necessary to prevent gangrene.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying to become pregnant for two years. My husband and I both reach a climax at about the same time, but my problem is that the sperm will not stay inside.

I know my husband is fertile, as he was married previously. He says my trouble might be a tipped womb. Is that possible?—M.J.

The loss of seminal fluid is not at all unusual, and you should not think that prevents pregnancy. Of the millions of sperm cells, it is necessary for only one to be trapped in the fluids at the cervix.

And there are still other aspects to be checked: (1) Overweight sometimes inhibits pregnancy, too.

You should be checked by a gynecologist. A tipped womb in some cases may prevent pregnancy, but there are other factors he can investigate as well.

It is sometimes the case that a hostility can exist—that is, both man and wife may be fertile but there is a chemical reaction which prevents pregnancy.

Backward Flight

If, 30 years ago, you and I could have foreseen today's sky full of airliners we certainly would have invested in airlines stock expecting to make a killing.

More likely, we would have recorded sorry history of bankruptcies, losses and failures in aviation manufacturing. Airlines aborted, fixed-base operators stayed hungry and countless air-taxi services starved to death.

The industry grew. The airplane was exploited enormously. But financially the airlines never got off the ground.

Today, 66 years since Kitty Hawk, with sonic-speed global transportation available to and used by millions, this industry—a quarter-century after the first airlines got going—is surviving only by begging Congress each year for a handout of more of your dollars; this year about 35 million more.

Last year, when the Federal subsidy to airlines was $42 million, the local airline operators still went $27 million in the red. Major aircraft manufacturers also remain in a financial bind.

Boeing bravely undertook the greatest single private enterprise in the history of the world when it committed itself to build the 747. This month Boeing made its first delivery but the company will have to deliver 100 747s in the next two years just to break even!

By then, the SST (supersonic transport)—the next step up—will have Boeing borrowing again. The payoff is always somewhere down the road.

Expansion of air travel will continue to increase this year. The Civil Aeronautics Board is forecasting another 6 per cent increase in domestic passenger traffic over last year's 95.5 billion revenue-passenger miles.

Yet with 6 per cent more flying, airline disposable income will go up only 3.5 per cent and overhead is expected to soar another 5 per cent, so we'll still be flying backward.

Wayne Parflesh, who grew up with this industry, like most aviation planners, is undiscouraged by this pessimistic prognosis.

He believes some additional "sensible mergers" can be put together. He believes the CAB can curtail the recent trend toward overcompetition on some routes. He believes airline employees, including pilots, can restrain their appetites for wage increases which outpace revenue increases.

And Parflesh believes that our government must surely and soon encourage and assist development of vertical takeoff aircraft, thus to resolve the gargantuan traffic congestion above and on our major airports.

United Airlines airplanes last year taxied on the ground a total of 1.38 million miles. That's 5 1/2 one-way trips to the moon. That's a lot of wasted time, fuel and money.

Perhaps Wayne Parflesh is overly optimistic. Airman characteristically are. Otherwise, perhaps, they'd never have flown in the first place. And it will be such men who will continue to make the sky habitable for the rest of us—and that knowledge will have to be their reward; there is no other.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 15 years old and my parents are all the time giving me big long lectures on what to do and what not to do with my boyfriend. Well, I know enough not to get into any trouble, but what bugs me is when my mother says I shouldn't give a boy a "serious kiss" because it's unsanitary!

I say: "How about you and Dad? YOU kiss, don't you?" This she says, but we are immune to each other.

Well, they haven't always been immune, have they? Please answer this in your column. My Mom thinks I am a dumb kid.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a relative for supper. Just before leaving our house, she called and asked if we would please stop at the store and pick up a "few items."

We said we would be glad to, and we did. The items cost us $7.00. All we had was $11 to last us until payday, which was a week away, and that person knew we were short on funds when she asked us.

We didn't want to embarrass anybody, so we didn't say anything. How would you have handled the situation?

BROKE

DEAR BROKE: Simple. As I handed over the "items," I would have presented the receipt, with a request for my money.

DEAR ABBY: Re "hippies." My son was a hippie. He would not wash, shave, or have a haircut. If allowed, he would wear his clothes until they fell off him. He performed natural functions in public that are best done in private. If thwarted, he would act in a most obnoxious until his wishes were partly met or some other recompense was made.

I say, "was" because since his first birthday he has been giving up these bad habits.

Dawn Sherwood Is Bride Of Eldon Hurst

DECLO — Dawn N. Sherwood became the bride of Eldon W. Hurst in a nuptial ceremony performed at 22 in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple by Elder Montgomery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Sherwood, West Vancouver, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hurst, Declo, are parents of the bridegroom.

Those who accompanied the couple to the temple were Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Hurst and Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Stocking, grandparents of the bridegroom; Bishop and Mrs. Eldred Fox, Lehi, Utah, and the bridegroom's parents.

A wedding dinner was served to the wedding party by Mrs. Donald Anderson, Blackfoot, aunt of the bridegroom.

On the following evening, the newlyweds were honored at a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore a floor-length white wedding gown of Chantilly lace over a fitted bodice with a scalloped neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt. Her long lace train, edged with rosebuds, was attached at the shoulders.

A bow headpiece secured her three-tiered waist-length veil of illusion. She carried a cascading arrangement of blue carnations centered with a removable white rosebud corsage. White lace ribbon streamers and gold leaves accented the bouquet.

LeAnn Hurst, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid, and David Hurst, a brother, was best man. Sharon Hurst and Ross Hurst, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Mrs. Robert (Della) Ukes, Independence, Mo., sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests. Gifts were carried by Joel and Nancy Hurst, brother and sister of the bridegroom.

Gifts were arranged by Elaine Rasmussen, Provo, Utah, and Mrs. Norman Hurst and Mrs. Doyle Stocking, aunts of the bridegroom.

A large blue net bow enhanced the bell-shaped cakes which were decorated with blue roses and the names of the couple. Blue candles in gold holders flanked the wedding cake which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Hurst for her son and his new wife.

After the newlyweds cut the cake, they were assisted by Becky Hurst, Beverly Hurst, Sharon Fay Newhous and Shau-Hua Hurst in serving. Claudia Hurst and Mrs. Edna Hurst presided at the punch service.

The couple will reside at Lehi, Utah, where Mr. Hurst is employed on a dairy farm.

A shower was given for the bride at Vancouver. A reception for the couple was held Jan. 30 at the home of the bride's parents in Vancouver.

DEAR NOT: There are better reasons for avoiding "mouth-to-mouth resuscitation-type" kisses at your age. I think your Mom is giving you a kindergarten lecture when a baculaureate sermon would be more appropriate.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure this will sound like one of your more strange letters, but it's true. I wish my husband and his girl friend would make up!

Something evidently happened between them and now he is so miserable, he's practically sick. I burn the stove and burn my children miserable, as well.

When my husband is happy with her, he is happy at home and is so much easier to get along with. I suppose he treats me and the children better out of a guilty conscience, but at least we're treated with consideration and generosity, so it doesn't matter why.

Don't get me wrong. I most certainly do not approve of my husband's having a girl friend, but after all these years, there is nothing I can do about it, and I do not intend to give up all we have accumulated together and let her reap the rewards.

I love him in spite of her. He is all I've ever had and ever want, but somehow he must need her, too. I don't know what to do about it, but I do not intend to give up all we have accumulated together and let her reap the rewards.

I love him in spite of her. He is all I've ever had and ever want, but somehow he must need her, too. I don't know what to do about it, but I do not intend to give up all we have accumulated together and let her reap the rewards.

DEAR WIFE: It strikes me that perhaps you're being a little too "understanding." But you know your husband better than I do, so if you are willing to live with a lost time, pray for the breaks, and wait for the weather to change. And lotsa luck.

House Group Votes To Give Judges Half Of Pay Raise

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — After a brief hearing, the house State Affairs Committee Monday revived the judges' pay increase bill but voted to give them only half of what earlier was asked.

Committee members approved by voice vote a recommendation by Rep. Jack Clibborn, R-Kimberly, that Supreme Court justices and district judges be given a $4,000 per year pay increase and that the present annual increment be removed from the law governing their pay.

As written at present, the bill calls for elimination of the annual increments and increasing Supreme Court justices' salaries from $20,000 to $27,000 and district judges from $16,000 to $24,500.

District Judge Walt Prather of Cour d'Alene, speaking as president of the State Trial Judges Association, urged the committee to consider increasing the judges' salaries.

He said there apparently was a misunderstanding between the judges and the legislature about whether the judges would get back for any money if they got the increment plan they sought in 1966.

"That was part of it," he admitted. But he said the judges had asked for a base salary of $20,000 plus an annual increment of two per cent. Instead, he said, the judges he was representing got a base salary of $16,500 and an increment of three per cent.

"It's our feeling that our position now is not inconsistent with 1966 and 1967," Prather said. "The bill that was enacted was not the one we based our assumption on."

He urged lawmakers to act at this session of the legislature because all 24 district judges are up for re-election this year. He said, "I think it would be in the legislature to base its thinking on what a particular job is worth rather than on who the incumbent happens to be."

He noted the increases would not be effective until July 1, 1971. Prather also noted the difficulty the Judicial Council had last year in interesting someone to seek appointment to a district court vacancy in Boise. Another vacancy is coming up but this time there is more interest, he said.

He scribbled the increase in interest to talk of possible pay raises.

Also speaking on behalf of the bill was Tom Miller, a member of the Judicial Council. He said the basic salary was a "real deterrent" to encouraging a good man to seek a judicial position.

Study Asked For Police Retirement

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the governor by a 22-10 margin Monday a House concurrent resolution calling for a Legislative Council study on the policemen's retirement system.

The resolution calls for the council to study the possibility of including certain policemen's retirement systems within the public employees retirement system and to conduct a review of other matters related to the PERS.

After Prather and Miller left, Rep. Ralph Litton, D-St. Anthony, pointed to the political fact that all legislators are up for re-election this year and that approving an increase of $8,000 a year in salary for judges is "awfully hard for me to explain up my way."

"In a year when we are supposed to be considering emergency—or hardship—cases," he said, "this is out of this world."

Rep. Patricia Mc Dermott, D-Pocatello, moved to put the bill in State Affairs — into the Judiciary Committee. A substitute motion to amend the bill prevailed.

"I think these people should have a raise," Rep. Ray Linton, R-Twin Falls, said. "But the raise they have indicated here I think is out of line."

Clibborn said he felt that "$2,000 a month is a lot of money in my book" and said $24,000 a year should be tops for Supreme Court judges and $20,500 should be enough for district judges. He later said he felt he was "quite liberal" in throwing out those figures for discussion.

"That is higher than I want to go," said Rep. J. Vard Chaburn, R-Albion. "I'm sure you're not going to have a shortage of candidates for the Supreme Court of Idaho."

"With people in lower income brackets in this state struggling to make ends meet it's hard for me to bleed for people in the $20,000 bracket."

But Miss Mc Dermott, a lawyer in private life, pointed out that "the really good lawyers... are making a lot more money than even the Judicial Council's suggested." To get a "top notch" one to run for the court in Boise, she said, will take a good sized salary.

Boise Asks Support For Sanctions

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Education Association, said Monday it has advised all student teacher groups and education graduates in Idaho to back the professional sanctions imposed by the Boise Education Association against the Boise Independent School District school board.

The letter indicated the statement of sanction specified certain policies and practices of the Boise trustees which, in the professional judgment of the teachers, created unsatisfactory conditions for professional service.

Among the practices and policies listed were a lack of grievance procedures, arbitrary, capricious and whimsical teacher dismissals, autocratic unilateral involvement of policy, denial of legal and basic teacher rights, authoritarian supervisory and administrative procedures and a general lack of civic, human and professional rights.

The correspondence urged student teachers to carefully study the code of ethics of the United Teaching Profession and then act according to their best professional judgment in their contracts and relations with the Boise school district.

The students were also told a preliminary investigating team from the National Education Association would be in Boise within the week to begin procedures for a full investigation, report and recommendations on the Boise school problem.

Issel Hits 47 For Kentucky

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Senior center Dan Issel fired 47 points Monday night to lead second-ranked Kentucky to a 98-89 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over Alabama.

The victory, combined with an 88-87 Tennessee win over LSU, virtually assured Kentucky of the SEC basketball crown.

Issel, who hit from almost every area of the court, was accurate on 19 of 33 shots from the field and nine of 11 from the free-throw line.

Alabama, trailing 46-37 at intermission, rallied in the last half to narrow the lead to 86-81 with 2:30 remaining in the game. But the shooting of Issel, who scored six straight points in less than a minute, nullified the Tide effort.

Evidence Noted Of Spring Offensive By Viet Cong

SAIGON (UPI) — American infantrymen unearthed a major guerrilla arms cache in the Central Highlands in what official military sources said today was evidence the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong are preparing for a spring offensive.

U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops found seven tons of arms and supplies Monday in the jungle 10 miles northeast of An Khe and 215 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

The cache contained 22 Soviet-made 122mm rockets, mortar rounds, rocket-propelled grenades and 4,000 bricks of plastic explosives used in attacking Allied bases.

It was the second big arms cache found by Allied troops in the past few weeks. Early this month, South Vietnamese irregulars came upon a store of ammunition and weapons in jungles 50 miles northeast of Saigon. Included were 3.7 million rounds of small arms ammunition and 11,500 mortar and artillery rounds. Allied sources indicated part of that arms cache came from Communist China through the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville.

Official military sources have predicted guerrillas will step up attacks all over the country in a spring campaign early in March.

American B-52s bombed guerrilla bunkers, storage and staging areas one mile south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) Monday, hitting at one of the possible springboards for attacks.

The Stratofortresses dropped more than 8 tons of bombs in the raid four miles west of Gio Linh.

The bombers flew no missions over South Vietnam Monday night or early today, U.S. communiques reported.

B-52s were diverted to Laos on three occasions last week and early this week to pound supply routes supporting 10,000 North Vietnamese troops on an offensive that last weekend drove Laotian government forces from the Plain of Jars.

Battlefield reports said there was no significant ground fighting Monday involving American troops. Guerrilla gunmen carried out five shelling attacks Monday night and early today against Allied installations. Military spokesmen said two of the attacks caused casualties or damage.

Police confiscated the fisherman's other flare.

Police Plan For Seminar At Burley

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Oregon Peace Officers and District Two Idaho Peace Officers Associations have scheduled a joint meeting March 12 to discuss ideas for presentation at the annual IPOA seminar at Burley.

Nyssa Police Chief Alvin Allen, president of the Idaho Oregon group, and Duane Sorenson, Boise vice-president of the IPOA district association, said the special invitation was issued to IPOA members who will be unable to attend the Burley meeting June 23-25.

They said members at the special meeting in the Kuna Firemen's Hall would be able to express opinions on law enforcement problems and offer suggestions, programs and legislation on which action could be taken at the Burley seminar.

Sorenson said that one-third the IPOA membership is able to attend the annual meeting and "we want everyone to take an active part in the association and be able to have his views and ideas represented."

Sorenson said similar IPOA meetings are planned in three other districts.

Pre-School Bill Set For Amendment

BOISE (UPI) — After one hour and 40 minutes of debate the house voted 24-11 today to put into committee of the whole for amendment a bill calling for state support of public kindergartens.

Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, made the successful motion to pull the Senate-approved measure off the final reading calendar and onto an order of business where it could be amended. He recommended the bill be altered by writing into it a one-half-cent-sales tax to finance the proposed kindergartens.

Proponents of the kindergarten bill requested amendment of the measure at this time would kill it for this session of the legislature. Snow said such a tax would bring in about $0 million.

Proposed Mining Law Said Dangerous To Industry

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of the mining industry would help with acid drainage of surface mines which is termed a serious pollution problem.

Spokesmen for Idaho Power Company and Utah Power and Light Co. expressed concern that the legislation would interfere with phosphate mining.

Paul Pusey of the Associated General Contractors said the bill would affect sand and gravel pits and boost the cost of construction projects.

At Lake of the Idaho Mining Association said the industry does not oppose reasonable regulation but added that the legislation should avoid haste.

The executive secretary said most of the concern in Idaho over the subject is based on emotions.

At the close of the hearings, Andrus said that he had not been aware of the potential impact on the phosphate industry. He said the real problem is the White Clouds situation and "this can't wait much longer."

Changes For Holidays Due In 1971

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Washington's Birthday falls on a Monday next year but the many Americans who got this Monday off will have to work next year.

The reason is that Congress beginning in 1971, ordered that Washington's Birthday be observed on the third Monday in February. So next year, Washington's Birthday will be celebrated on Feb. 15.

Congress' objective in making the change in the 1968 law was to guarantee federal employees at least five, three-day weeks ends a year.

Besides Washington's Birthday, Congress said Memorial Day should always fall on the last Monday in May (instead of May 30); Columbus Day on the first Monday in October (a new holiday for federal workers); and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October (instead of Nov. 11).

Labor Day, which traditionally falls on a Monday, is the fifth, three-day weekend. Observances for New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas were not changed by Congress.

The men were gone and the fire was out when the train arrived and the deputies said it was just as well. One of the adjoining cars on the train was loaded with bombs.

Weber Trounces Bobcats 80-55, Clinches Title

OGDEN (UPI)—Star center Willie Sojourner hit a career high 39 points Monday night as the Weber State Wildcats wrapped up the Big Sky basketball championship with an easy 80-55 romp over the Montana State Bobcats.

The win gives Weber its second conference title in a row, and assures them of a berth in the post-season NCAA regional playoffs.

Idaho State also won Monday night, but its 104-44 conference record is well behind the Wildcat loop mark of 122 with only one conference game left. Saturday the Bengals and Weber play in Ogden for what is now a meaningless game.

After an uneventful first half which ended with Weber State in front 38-30, Sojourner broke loose to score 11 straight points in the first four and one-half minutes of the second half, putting the game way out of the Bobcats' reach.

Montana State persisted in going with a man-for-man defense, and the 6-8 Sojourner went wild underneath as he got all the room he wanted underneath to take feeds at point-blank range.

The Bobcats were hampered by the absence of 6-5 senior forward Jim Fillman, who was sent home before the game for disciplinary reasons. Montana State hit a hot 50 per cent in the first half but trailed off considerably in the second 20 minutes. Don Luce had 13 at the half for the Bobcats.

Sojourner pulled down 18 rebounds and paced the Wildcats in that department. The cats hit 50 per cent for the halfgame, including a red-hot 60 per cent in the second half, largely because of Sojourner's work.

Juan Gets $125,000 From Giants

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI)—Juan Marichal, the high-kicking dandy from the Dominican Republic, signed a $125,000 contract with the San Francisco Giants Monday and then took part in the club's two-hour workout.

"It's the first time in five years that Juan has come to camp this early," a spokesman for the Giants said.

Marichal, who was 21-11 with a 2.10 ERA last season, flew here from San Francisco Sunday. He went to San Francisco from his home in Santo Domingo.

"I'm very pleased," president Horace Stoneham said, "that Juan has signed his contract. We expect him to have another fine year."

Marichal, a 32-year-old right-hander, has been with the Giants since 1966. His best season came in 1969 when he compiled a 26-9 record.

Monday was the first time in 12 years that the Giants have had all their men signed by the start of spring training.

Forty-four players were in camp and nine were missing, including 38-year-old Willie Mays, who had permission to stay away until Tuesday due to business commitments.

Also not in camp were Bobby Bondy, whose wife was expecting a baby imminently, and Tito Francona, who was en route from Florida.

Creighton Tips Friars 68-64

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Cyril Baptiste, who had 24 points, dumped in two foul shots with 43 seconds left Monday night to give Creighton University a 68-64 win over Providence College.

Creighton grabbed the lead midway through the first half and led the rest of the way, taking a 34-30 lead into the half.

Providence closed to within one point late in the game, but a stubborn Creighton defense held off the comeback attempt.

Joe Bergman scored 14 points for Creighton while Vic Colucci had 27 and Jim Larranaga 18 for Providence.

S.C. Topples Wake Forest

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—South Carolina's John Roche fired in 24 points and led the Gamecocks to a 67-51 triumph over Wake Forest and a school record for the most wins in a single season Monday night.

The win gave the Gamecocks a 22-2 overall record, and a perfect 13-0 mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

South Carolina twice had to snatch the lead from the hands of a determined Wake Forest club in a contest that saw both squads shoot poorly from the floor.

ISU Explodes For 82 Points In Second Half To Coast Past Montana 124-100

POCATELLO (UPI)—Idaho State's record-setting offense turned in a record second-half scoring spurge as the Bengals crushed University of Montana Monday night 124-100.

ISU totaled 82 points and forced theizzlies to 23 turnovers in the second half to turn what had been a close game into a rout.

For the second straight night, ISU scored 124 points, the Big Sky Conference record, and for the second straight night Willie Humes and O'Neill-Simmons

Loss At Oregon Will Improve Bruins According To Wooden

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA basketball coach John Wooden said Monday that the Bruins wouldn't do anything differently if they were to play Oregon again "except try to do things better."

Speaking at the weekly meeting of the Southern California basketball writers, a coach of the nation's No. 1 ranked team, Wooden said the Bruins, who upset the Bruins 78-65 at Eugene, Ore., Saturday night.

"If we played Oregon again at Eugene, I'd go with the same personnel and I'd use a zone defense again," Wooden declared. "We'd do the same things except try to do things better. And hope Oregon wouldn't do anything as well."

"Oregon just outplayed us in every phase of the game. I don't know why but you could say we were complacent. We shouldn't have been because we were aware that Oregon is a good team."

He was ordered to report to the Bruins 78-65 at Eugene, Ore., Saturday night. Wooden said he thought the Bruins' first defeat in 22 games this season would have a beneficial effect.

"You grow through adversity," he said. "I feel the loss has every possibility of improving us. Only our pride was hurt. I'm sure the players will realize this and work that much harder now."

The Bruins, 8-1 in the conference, host Stanford Friday night and California Saturday night at Pauley Pavilion. Stanford is 2-9 in the league and California has a 4-7 record.

"Just a week ago Oregon was very fortunate to beat Stanford," Wooden commented. "And the game was at Oregon. I'll point that out to the players. Anything can happen. And we know that California is capable. We must be ready and I think we will be."

Garman Opens Eyes In Boston Training Camp

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI)—Vicente Romo, the Mexican righthander, was in a Boston Red Sox uniform Sunday, several days behind schedule.

He was ordered to report with the other pitchers last Tuesday, but failed to show up.

When someone asked him where he'd been, Romo, who speaks little English, pointed to his head and grinned.

Later through his interpreter, fellow hurler Jose Santiago, Romo explained he had been delayed because of illness in his family.

The remainder of the Sox pitching staff continued to loosen up, with Sonny Siebert throwing free and easy.

"I've never thrown better early," Siebert, who is nursing a right elbow soreness, said after practice. "But it's different in a game. When you're out there working that little extra thing can happen."

Pitcher Mike Garman is getting a lot of attention from the coaches and catchers. The 20-year-old Garman appeared in two games for Boston last year after being called up from the Winston-Salem farm club.

Boston's top draft choice in 1967, Garman is working hard but says he has to work on his control in order to keep from tripping on the mound.

Kenji figures Garman might best be used in Louisville for a time "so he can pitch in regular rotation and gain experience. Then if we want him he can be in Boston as quick as a phone call."

Catcher Russ Gibson said Idaho native has "a good major league fastball. All he has to do is learn to control his breaking stuff."

Humes and O'Neill-Simmons tined up their shooting eyes and had a big second half point production. Humes, the Big Sky's leading scorer, hit 45, 31 in the second half.

Humes has gone over 30 points for the third straight game. Simmons had 33 points, 23 in the second half, the second-highest point production in his career.

The speedy backcourt duo forced most of the Montana foul control errors. Idaho State controlled the backboards for the fifth straight game, with 73 retrieves, as opposed to Montana's 43.

Charley Barber and Mike Gurnoll each had 18 rebounds, and Gurnoll hit for 16 points. Fred Trenkle had 12 points in his first start this year. Dave Gustafson, the conference's number two scorer, had 30 points and John Hurrell 20, to top the Grizzly attack.

Utah State Tips Falcons 80-78

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Utah State sophomore forward Nate Williams threw in a foul shot with one second remaining Monday night to give the Aggies an 80-78 victory over the Air Force Academy.

The win almost assured Utah State of an at-large berth in the NCAA regional playoffs March 7 at Provo, Utah. The NCAA will select the at-large team from this area Tuesday.

The Aggies never led in the game until Williams hit the last-second shot.

The score was tied twice in the early going and then not again until reserves Dick Wade of Utah State hit a driving lay up with 50 seconds left to knot the score at 78-78.

Air Force maintained leads of from four to eight points nearly all the way until USU staged its rally in the final minutes.

The win left the Aggies with an 18-5 record, compared to 10-11 for Air Force.

Williams led the Aggies in scoring with 22 points, while center Ron Wellert paced Air Force with 25.

ONE IN HAND TOPS ROUSSEL IN BUSINESSES
We think that it was the late Edmond Hoyle, in discussing whist, who said: "A rubber in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Maybe we are just getting our nopes mixed up, but we can't recall having them as mixed up as today's South.

South had heard something about hold-up plays, so he let East hold the first trick with the queen of clubs. East led the suit back and South's jack lost to West's king. If West had been nice enough to continue clubs, our hero's hold-up play wouldn't have done him any real harm, but West saw no further future in the club suit and shifted to the queen of hearts.

South ducked a couple of hearts, also. When he finally got the lead and went after his diamond suit, he failed to play East for three to the queen and wound up with tricks short of game and rubber.

How much brighter life would have been for South if he had simply counted to nine tricks before ducking that first club. Then he could have taken the ace of clubs, led a diamond to dummy's ace and returned the jack for a finesse. The finesse would win and he would be able to score 10 tricks, but it wouldn't hurt him if the finesse lost. In that case, West would be on lead and unable to do anything about South's jack of clubs. If West played the king of clubs, South would still make 10 tricks. If West led a heart, South would collect nine. In any event, South would score game and rubber.

Know How Many Toes A Cat Has? Not Many Folks Do!

YOU WON'T FIND one person in 1,000 who can tell you how many toes on an ordinary housecat. There are 18... OUR PLANET MAN condenses fellows born under the sign of Cancer and more apt than most to take up the hobby of LEARNED TODAY in philosophy was that a bird in the hand is useless if you want to blow your nose... WHICH BRINGS TO mind, lovers in a new romance rarely catch cold. Why is a mystery, but such is known to be the truth... IT HAS BEEN scientifically established that only about one crab in every two million is a southclaw.

LOVE AND WAR — Our Love and War man is of the opinion that no married couple can fool their teenage children. That is, if said couple is unhappy with each other, the youngsters will know it, he believes. For this reason, he finds a recent report by the survey takers to be most significant. Said report shows a pool of 3,500 teenagers reveals fewer than half want marriages like the marriages of their parents. More than half seem to think their parents aren't making it. Dismal news, what? CUSTOMER SERVICE — "How long a four maybe five inches say... Q. "WHAT'S THE PRICE of a shave these days?" A. All I know is the undertakers charge $5. Will check on the barbers. Stand by... Q. "ARE COLLIES one of those seven breeded dogs most apt to bite people?" A. So it's said. CONSIDER THIS — "What," you may ask, "is bourbon rou-

OPEN QUESTION—1. Among horses, is there such a thing as a natural jumper? Or do they have to be trained? 2. How did the town of Embarrass, Minn., acquire that distinctive name, pray? 3. Why is it you see a lot of women bookkeepers, but practically no women accountants? WRONG AGAIN! — Did I say tailor-made suits have real buttonholes on the sleeves? In England, they do. Here, though, the tailors use imitation buttonholes as the sleeves can be shortened, if necessary. This report is submitted along with my application for readmission to the Get It Right Club.

THE BEST YEAR — What is most apt to be the happiest year of a man's lifetime? When this inquiry was put to a sizable sampling of men over 65, that year most often named was age 50. Age 27 was next. It's not yet 65, so can't officially qualify for this survey. Good thing. You would think my answers too sweet. This year is the best year. Last year was the best year then. Living gets better, look, I mean it, sweet or not. Next year no doubt will be the best year of the lot.

Faith On The Homefront Helps Soldiers In Battle

BY BOBBY DON MOORE
Dallas, Texas

Through the window you could see the cheap little electric lamp with its ceramic base and red shade. When John Teer won it at a school carnival years ago, it was placed on a table by the living room window of his parents' home in Dallas, Texas.

As John Teer and his two brothers, Ewell, Jr., and Fred, went through their teens, it became a family custom to leave the lamp burning until the last boy came in for the night.

Then Fred, the eldest of the three Teer boys, went into the Army. Just before leaving for combat duty in Vietnam, Fred turned on the lamp and told his mother, "I'm going out again, Mom. Leave the light on. I'll be back to turn it off."

While Fred was in Vietnam, the lamp table—with large old family Bible on it and a sculpture of Albrecht-Durer's praying hands—became a place for prayer. "The lamp became a symbol of our faith," said Mrs. Teer, and as for belief in the Bible promise, "Ask and it shall be given you."

Fred was in some of Vietnam's roughest fighting. He saw buddies bombed and killed and finally was himself gravely wounded when a plane he was on was shot down. But he recovered, and in November, 1967, returned home to turn off the light, right at Thanksgiving time.

During my two years in the Army, I was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas. My sister married Ewell Teer, Jr., several years ago, and therefore Mr. and Mrs. Teer, Sr., were friends of mine. I learned how the lamp in the Teer home had burned constantly for 14 months, keeping a vigil of faith while Fred Teer was in Vietnam.

When I got my orders for Vietnam, Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Teer sent me a message asking my wife, Carol, and me to come and visit them before I left. So Carol, our six-week-old son, Bryan Eric, and I went to see the Teers on the last full moon.

After we talked, the five of us gathered by the lamp table for a prayer. Mr. Teer prayed that God's protection would be with me; then I moved forward and mapped on the light.

Mr. Teer made the statement that was to echo in my ears for the months I was in Vietnam. "Every day that you are gone we will kneel in the glow of this light and pray for you."

I thought about the Teers and the light often. Once a Jeep I was supposed to be on hit a mine and was blown up. On another occasion my duty assignment was changed several hours before a North Vietnamese suicide squad dropped hand-grenades into the bunkers where I was to have done guard duty.

Sexual Law Repeal Asked In Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — William Baird, a militant birth control advocate, urged the Joint Judiciary Committee Monday to repeal all laws regulating sexual conduct between consenting adults.

A two-page statement from Baird, who is serving 90 days in the Clinton Street Jail for violation of the state's birth control laws, was read for him by Susan Vogel, his secretary, and a spokesman for the Parent's Aid Society.

"No government, no group of legislators, no religious group or anyone else has the right to invade the privacy and sacredness of a couple's bedroom to rule by law what their sexual behavior should be," he said.

"How many of you (legislators) would want your fellow legislators to tell you what love techniques to use with your wife?" he said. "I submit to you that there are no such crimes as crimes against nature."

The laws he opposed make it a crime to be a party to homosexual relationships, "unnatural acts" between consenting persons of different sexes and "other acts."

The committee also heard arguments for repeal of the death penalty, reform of the state's drug laws, and stronger laws controlling pornography.

The United Nations library is known as the Dag Hammarskjöld Library, a memorial to the former secretary-general.

Offer Ignored

GLoucester, England (UPI)—Mrs. Edith Merchant, 20, mother of three, offered to remove her lemon-colored trousers in Gloucester divorce court Monday when the presiding judge criticized her clothing. Said Judge Anthony Bulger: "I dislike women wearing trousers in court."
Retorted Mrs. Merchant: "I could take them off."
Her suggestion was ignored however, and her case proceeded. She was granted a divorce.

Eight Killed In Pre-Dawn Rural Fire

PALMYRA, Va. (UPI) — Eight persons were killed when a pre-dawn fire roared through a rural home today, including the father of five of the victims who tried in vain to save them. Authorities said the father, Charlie Bates, 51, saved his wife, a daughter and his granddaughter, but was killed when he ran back in to try to rescue the others. The body was found just inside the front door. Bates' wife, Mary, and the daughter, Lily, 22, were in satisfactory condition at a hospital and the four-month-old granddaughter was released from the hospital after treatment for minor burns. The fire spread through the one-story, wooden house so quickly that the roof had caved in by the time firemen arrived from nearby Fork Union, Va. The cause of the fire, which started about 4 a.m., was not immediately determined. The house was located in a lightly populated rural area in Fluvanna County. The victims were identified as Bates' children: Julia Ann, 18, Carolyn Jean, 8, Vincent, 5, Hub, 3, and Calvin 2; and two girls who were staying with the family, Juanita Young, 18, and Lillian May Adams, 0.

Two Pulled From Pacific At Hawaii

LAHAINA, Hawaii (UPI) — A father who swam around in the Pacific Ocean for 2 1/2 hours with his young son clinging to him today said he was "whistling, yelling and singing the National Anthem" when he realized they would be rescued. Chris Skapik, 26, a technician for KGBM-TV, Honolulu, said he dog paddled, treaded water and floated on his back to keep the head of his 4-year-old son Ivan above the surface. He said the boy didn't panic because he had grown up around the water. Skapik's ordeal started late Saturday afternoon when his 40-foot schooner, "Mama Rara," lurched and the boy toppled backwards over a railing into the sea. Skapik, without a life preserver, leaped in after the youngster. Skapik's wife Mary was left aboard the boat but said, which was "running downwind and moving fast" about two miles off the coast of the island of Lanai. About two hours later, three divers in an outboard boat noticed the schooner "going around in circles" and went to investigate. One of the divers, Gordon Sammis of Bayshore, N.Y., maneuvered the yacht and maneuvered it around the area until he spotted Skapik and the boy. "Just about as the sun was going down the boat came up to us," Skapik said. "I was whistling, yelling and singing the National Anthem—we were very lucky." "Ivan was cold and shivering but we're both okay," he said, following a checkup by a doctor in this port town.

Reduced Levy In Sight For Schools Here

A reduced mill levy for patrons of School District No. 411, Twin Falls, is in sight, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ernest H. Ragland. "It looks favorable at this time for a reduction in the mill levy for bond interest and redemption from six mills to 4.5 mills," Dr. Ragland said. One major factor allowing the reduction is full payment on the original debt for construction of Twin Falls High School. The final payment was made last July, though subsequent construction and remodeling has added some new indebtedness, the superintendent explained. Despite rising taxes in many sectors of our society, the school levy in Twin Falls is continuing to drop. "As recently as 1963, the levy for bond interest and redemption in Twin Falls was 12.5 mills... more than double the present assessment," Dr. Ragland added. "I think the taxpayers can take pride in the fact that the public school plant in Twin Falls is 'gradually being written off the books,'" he said.

Malfunctions Delayed Calls

An equipment malfunction in Bell Telephone Co. equipment Monday morning delayed some calls for Twin Falls subscribers, when callers had to wait several seconds to get a dial tone, and for the ringing signal to sound. K. G. Mann, district manager for Bell Telephone, said calls were not interrupted, but callers had to wait longer to complete their calls. The malfunction was corrected by noon, Mr. Mann said.

First To Die At Boston Remembered

BOSTON (UPI) — Of the five men who died in the Boston Massacre the first to fall—and the apparent leader of the "colonials"—was Crispus Attucks, a mixture of mixed Indian and Negro parentage. Contemporary accounts disagree on Attucks' description other than to indicate he was a big man—very tall, very stout, or both. He had been a slave or indentured servant who escaped 20 years before the clash from William Brown of Framingham, a community about 20 miles west of Boston. One historian, Catherine Drinker Bowen, describes Attucks as "the huge knock-kneed mulatto of 47 who seemed to have done more rioting than any other six men together." It is agreed by historians he led the mob to the "massacre" site at the Customs House near the old State House. Attucks reportedly was brandishing a large cordwood stick. He apparently grabbed the gun of sentry Hugh Montgomery and the panicky soldier fired, touching off the shots from the other gathered British troops.

Humphrey Asks For Party Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has asked Lawrence F. O'Brien to take over chairmanship of the Democratic Party again, it was learned today. O'Brien has not yet given a final answer but Humphrey expected one before Tuesday. Humphrey, titular leader of the party, is known to believe that the previously reluctant O'Brien is inclined to accept the job. Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, chairman for the past 13 months, has announced his resignation.

Brandeis Prexy To Seek Senate

WESTON, Mass. (UPI) — Brandeis University President Morris H. Abram announced his resignation Monday to study the possibility of seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate in New York. As the 51-year-old Georgian native informed newsmen of his plans in his 25-room home, a short distance from the Walling campus of Brandeis, about four dozen students picketed outside, charging him with using his two-year tenure at the school to foster his political ambition. Abram said he would announce his political plans "in approximately 10 days."

The Almanac

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 24, the 55th day of 1970 with 310 to follow. The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. On this day in history: In 1920 a group of Germans organized the "National Socialist Party," a forerunner of the Nazi party to be led by Adolf Hitler. In 1922, Henri Landru, better known to the world as Bluebeard, was executed at Versailles, France for murdering 10 of his 13 sweethearts and burning their bodies in his cookstove. In 1945 American troops liberated Manila from the Japanese as World War II drew toward a close. In 1966 President Lyndon B. Johnson of Ghana was ousted from office. A thought for the day—Pierre Corneille said, "He who allows himself to be insulted deserves to be."

Guerrillas Ambush Bus Tourists

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Arab guerrillas ambushed a tourist bus in Biblical Hebron today and wounded three women passengers, an army spokesman said. Two of the women were American and the third was Israeli, the spokesman said. They were not immediately identified. The spokesman said the incident happened at 3 p.m. when the tourist bus came under automatic weapons fire from an ambush in the northern outskirts of the city. Hebron is located on the Israeli-occupied west bank 20 miles south of Jerusalem. On the war front, Israeli planes bombed Egyptian military installations at the southern end of the Suez Canal, breaking a three-day lull in the air war.
