

France Favoring Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — East peace settlement must include a renunciation of force by both sides and a solution to the problem of the Arab refugees from Palestine. He told the senators and House members that France reaffirms "the right of the state of Israel not only to its Arab neighbors, but also to security" from its Arab neighbors.

outlook for the United States in the Vietnam War. He said that the French government has at times regretted the length of the war and "wondered whether the paths followed had always been the speediest and surest." "But I know, from having observed it just yesterday, the will to peace which guides the President of the United States," the French leader said. That was a reference to his first business session—a two-hour, three-minute meeting—with President Nixon. They confer again Thursday. Pompidou made no specific reference to French experiences in fighting in Vietnam and Algeria but he apparently had them in mind as he gave this word of advice to the United States regarding Vietnam. "I know—because France has experienced it—how difficult it is to end such conflicts and that the stronger a people, the greater the effort required, but also the greater the honor won. Allow me, as a friend, to tell you that the end-of-the-war in Vietnam for the United States, will be the most precious of victories—a victory won first over oneself."

Laird Asks Congress To Broaden ABM Programs

By JOHN HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration asked a sharply divided Congress Tuesday for money to thicken its planned shield against a Soviet nuclear strike by adding a new antiballistic missile installation in Missouri.

It also proposed to begin broadening the controversial system to guard the population against a potential Red Chinese threat, but ran into firm opposition from key Senate supporters.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, contending the $1.5 billion request was the minimum necessary to protect the nation, asked for authority to construct a new ABM site to guard a Minuteman silo field located at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo., and to increase the number of missile interceptors for two sites Congress authorized last year—at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont., and at Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D.

The purpose of the interceptor increase would be to protect the offensive missiles in these three areas from the possibility of a Soviet attempt to knock them out and destroy the backbone of the U.S. nuclear arsenal.

In addition to the three sites, Laird asked for authority to begin buying land and some equipment for five additional sites located at undesignated places in the northeast, northwest, the Michigan-Ohio area, Warren Air Force Base, Mo., and in the Washington, D.C., area.

He said these sites, in conjunction with the other three, eventually could provide a thin shield across the northern tier of the United States—as well as for the nation's capital—that would ward off an unsophisticated Chinese missile raid or an accidental launching of one or two missiles by any nuclear power.

The anti-Chinese part of the proposal drew immediate opposition from Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee who was a key factor in last year's narrow victory for the safeguard antimissile system.

British Medical Team Is Nearing Test Tube Baby

LONDON (UPI)—A British medical team said Tuesday it hoped to create the world's first test tube baby by the end of the year. Other doctors said the experiment could usher in an era of biological nightmares.

Dr. Patrick Steptoe and a team of researchers at Cambridge University announced on British Broadcasting Corporation television (BBC) they expected to replant the egg of a 34-year-old woman, which would be fertilized in a test tube, into her womb within six weeks. Mrs. Sylvia Allen, who has been unable to have children during her seven years of marriage, said on the program "good" condition.

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 27-year-old New Jersey mother using fertility drugs gave birth to quintuplets Tuesday night. Doctors said today the three girls and two boys, delivered in only 10 minutes, were in "good" condition.

Food Stamp Program Is Set April 2

County Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller said Tuesday the latest information he has been able to obtain indicates a food stamp program is scheduled to begin April 2 in Twin Falls County.

He said his board has been unable to obtain any detailed information on the stamps, such as when they will be available and how they are to be administered in the county.

Last year commissioners approved the food stamp program to assist needy families and individuals in this area, over a proposed warehousing program which would collect, store and distribute food items in this area.

Under the food stamp system, persons will purchase the stamps at a reduced rate and turn them in on the purchase of groceries at local stores for full value.

Mr. Loughmiller said as yet the county has not been advised as to the amount of the reduction or how the accounting will be handled.

Plans have been made to handle the stamp distribution through the commissioner's office.

Carl Irwin Dies After Long Illness

Former Idaho Sen. Carl D. Irwin, 91, of Route 1, Kimberly, died Tuesday night at his home of an extended illness.

Sen. Irwin was elected to the Senate in 1944, served three terms as chairman of the Irrigation Committee, was elected chairman of the Finance Committee, and also served on the State Affairs Committee. In 1955, during the 33rd session of the Idaho Legislature, Sen. Irwin served as president pro tempore of the Senate. He served in the Senate until 1959.

Sen. Irwin developed what is known as spinal Irwin's improved Dicklow variety of seed potato.

wheat. He produced and marketed the seed for a number of years over Idaho and neighboring states. His seed was used to cross with Federation to develop the Lemhi wheat now used widely.

Sen. Irwin also served as president and director of the Bean Growers Association, and was a charter member and president of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association, retiring from these positions in 1969. He was also secretary of the University of Idaho Agricultural Consulting Council.

Sen. Irwin was born June 15, 1878, at Salina, Kan., and came to Idaho in 1912 to take up farming with his father near Kimberly.

After his secondary education in local schools, he entered Kansas State College, earning a Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture. He then returned to the Kimberly area, where he worked in farming, later purchasing his own farm.

He married Mina M. Gardner on June 18, 1913, at Salina, Kan. Sen. Irwin was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, was a 50-year Mason, and member of the Rotary Club. He served on the advisory board of the Twin Falls County Hospital, was a member of the fair board, and had served as chairman of Red Cross campaigns.

Survivors include his widow, Kimberly; two sons, Larry G. and Richard G. Picketing Is Spotty In Area

NFO members continued to picket several potato processing plants in the Burley and Rupert area Wednesday, but there were no pickets today at the Idaho Frozen Food plant, Twin Falls' only potato processing plant.

The effort in Magic Valley is part of a nationwide holding action. The farmers are asking for $3.50 per hundredweight on No. 1 potatoes, nearly $1 more than the present price of $2.50-$2.70 per hundredweight. The NFO plans to continue the holding action until the price of potatoes is increased.

Growers are being asked not to sell any potatoes until they are offered the $3.50 price for No. 1's, with the price for lower grades of processing potatoes to be negotiated.

Picketing was under way Wednesday at Simplops plant in Heyburn, where there were six persons on the picket lines; and three each at the Burley Processing plant and Rolland Jones plant in Rupert.

At the A and P plant and Orinda plant No. 2 in Burley, where picketing was under way Tuesday, there was no action today. No one was picketing at Max Herbolds in Rupert today either.

John B. Hansen, Paul, district chairman of the Mindoka County NFO potato committee, noted the processors have a tremendous markup.

Two Kidnaped Girls Are Found

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The FBI said today two little sisters kidnaped from their Butler, Ala., home had been recovered unharmed in Missouri and one of the alleged kidnapers arrested.

The FBI said the girls, Tina, 3, and Tiffany, 4 1/2, were found in the car of John Charles Messick at Liberty, Mo. Messick, 21, of Tucson, Ariz., offered no resistance, the FBI said, although a .357 magnum revolver, a .38 caliber pistol and a .22 caliber rifle were in the car.

Tempers Flare As Maddox Has Lunch In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia went to lunch in the House dining room Tuesday with 30 or 40 of the pick and ax handles he made famous as a symbol of his opposition to racial integration.

The one-time Atlanta restaurateur—and the Georgia patrolman with him passed out a few of the full-size hickory handles, including some to persons who are black.

"I was sitting there enjoying my broiled salmon steak when a member identified to me as Congressman Diggins threatened to throw me out," Maddox said later.

"I challenged him to go ahead and do it. I told him he was acting more like an ass and a baboon than a member of Congress."

The account of Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., chairman of the caucus of the nine black congressmen in the House and an undertaker from Detroit's East Side, differed only in detail. He said that when he heard what Maddox was doing he got restaurant manager Kermit Cowan and Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Restaurant Committee, to accompany him to Maddox' table.

"I told him he was the guest of the House, and obligated to abide by its rules of decorum. He said he had as much right here as I did. I said I was a member and he wasn't and he said no right here at all. Then things started heating up. He got red in the face, threw down the money for his lunch, and got up."

About then a District of Columbia plainclothes officer assigned to the capitol, moved in to make sure no blows were exchanged.

A short time later, Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., also a Negro from Detroit, denounced Maddox' conduct in a speech on the floor. He said he was preparing a resolution declaring Maddox unwelcome in the House restaurant.

It was learned Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., personally directed the handles to be cleared from the dining room. He sent Majority Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., to the restaurant to pass McCormack's instructions on to Kluczynski.

Cities Seek Larger Share Of Highway Revenue Funds

George Michael, Twin Falls City Engineer, who returned Tuesday afternoon from Boise, said redistribution of the Idaho State Highway Users Revenue funds to give cities a larger share, is still under consideration by Idaho legislators.

Mr. Michael represented the city at a hearing Monday before the Senate Committee on Local Government and taxation. He said about 30 representatives of counties and cities in Idaho testified, and Ellis Mathes, Department of Highways Engineer, Boise, represented the state.

Mr. Michael said information presented during the hearing indicated this would mean about $3 million more annually to be divided between cities of Idaho if S. B. 1530 were adopted.

City Manager Jean Milar pointed out cities now get about nine per cent of their annual income for street maintenance and construction from the Highway Users Revenue Fund. The remainder comes from the collection of property taxes from property owners in the cities.

Counties are deriving about 50 per cent of their total income from this source. On a basis of mileage traveled, cities are now being short changed, the city manager said.

As for miles traveled by highway users, the state would be entitled to about 82 per cent of the total revenue and counties property owners, he added.

Senate Okays Free School Lunch Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate voted, 41 to 40, today to provide free school lunches for all needy children.

Adopted was an amendment to the School Lunch Act to provide that children from a family of four with an income of less than $1,000 a year could get the free lunches.

The amendment, offered by a bipartisan group of senators, also would provide that no child, regardless of means, would have to pay more than 20 cents for the school lunch.

The provision would replace another section in legislation to expand and extend the School Lunch Act. The former part would have allowed a school principal to determine if a child was needy enough to get a free school lunch.

After the amendment was adopted, a motion to reconsider the action was defeated, 41 to 39.

The estimated cost of the school lunch program, with the amendment included, was $817 million which would mean an increase of $419 million over current spending.

The over-all bill also would provide for breakfasts for some poor children—thanks to a back-bench conference in the Senate.

Oregon School Experiments With Aquaculture In Class

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
NEWPORT, Ore. (UPI)—Dorothy Giles is working very hard to get the sea into the classrooms of the coastal community.

And at the same time he often guides the classes down to the seashore.

Newport is experimenting with a unique program of aquaculture. Fourth graders from the Sam Case School spend nine weeks studying marine science.

"We make marine science a part of their program," Giles explained in an interview.

The students still study math, reading, spelling and geography. Marine science material is selected that fits into the regular educational program.

Giles is head of the education section of the Marine Science Center, located on the shores of Sequim Bay. It is part of Oregon State University's department of oceanography.

A typical classroom schedule might include spelling words connected with the sea; a music period involving sea songs; math involving marine life. (Example: If a fish breathes so many times an hour, how many times a day does it breathe?); and geography dealing with the oceans of the world and the countries which bound them.

Even sex education is a vital part of the course. Students learn the processes of a life by following the development of a sea urchin from sperm to larvae.

Giles provided the students with graphs taken from recording devices at the marine center which indicate the tidal action of the bay and salinity content of the water.

"I was amazed when the children figured out by themselves that there is a relationship between tides and salinity in the bay," Giles said.

At least once a week the students make a field trip to the bay, a nearby tidal pool or the Marine Science Center.

One of their projects has been to anchor pieces of wood (they call them "mystery sticks") in the bay. Then they keep a weekly log to see what changes take place in the way of "recruitment of life." They observe the growth of algae, sea limpets, barnacles, worm larvae and mussels.

"The kids learn basic skills of observation, and time-space measurements," Giles said. "It's a rare child who remains uninterested throughout this course. We try to challenge them at their own level."

"The major problem teachers face is the big letdown after this nine weeks is over. They've not so much a pretty good educational program ready to keep up student interest."

The sea-education program began a year ago with the cooperation of Gilbert Haller, principal of Sam Case School. He agreed with Giles that it was unfortunate that children who live along Oregon's sea coast weren't learning much about it. Only one fourth-grade class participated the first year; this year there are three.

Suspect In Fatality Held In Colorado

A Twin Falls man accused of involuntary manslaughter in connection with a fatal traffic accident Feb. 12 in Twin Falls has been arrested by sheriff's officers from Grand Junction, Colo.

Kenneth Lee Wieberg, 19, owner of a car which collided with a car driven by the victim, Michael Glen Cochran, 19, Twin Falls, was charged in a complaint signed Thursday by Police Chief Frank Barnett.

Chief Barnett said he learned Tuesday that Wieberg is in custody in Grand Junction, pending outcome of a hearing set for him on a possible probation violation charge in Grand Junction.

Because involuntary manslaughter is an indictable misdemeanor, Wieberg cannot be extradited to stand charges here, Chief Barnett said.

Wieberg was seen in Twin Falls Thursday prior to the time the warrant for his arrest was issued, but could not be located by officers after the legal document was secured.

Charles H. Raney, 18, Rupert, had earlier been charged with involuntary manslaughter, but after investigation by officers that charge against him was dismissed and the warrant issued for Wieberg. Raney was subsequently charged with interference with justice.

WASHINGTON — Despite his projected budget surplus, President Nixon will have to ask Congress for relief under the tight spending limitation approved last year. A request for an adjustment in the limitation, originally set at $101.9 billion, is expected shortly. Congressional appropriations committees are preparing to handle it routinely in a supplemental money bill.

There may be some critical lack, however. In an election year it is too much to expect that congressional Democrats will view the President's spending difficulties with nonpartisan detachment and dispassionate logic. Actually, however, Mr. Nixon's budget experts have worked fruitfully to cut federal spending in the present business year. They have been trapped by events beyond their control and by the terms of the spending limitation as Congress approved it. When Congress approved the spending ceiling, designed to cut federal outlays by $1 billion below the administration's April estimates, it provided that approved by Congress would raise or lower the $101.9 billion ceiling.

In addition, Congress provided only a $2 billion allowance for increases in the so-called "uncontrollable" items in the federal budget. These are the programs in which the government is committed by law to make payments at a given rate — programs such as Social Security benefits, for example, or veteran's benefits.

Both the adjustable spending ceiling and the tight reliance on uncontrollable items caused trouble for Mr. Nixon's budget experts. In his budget presentation, the President estimated that the overall ceiling, as adjusted for subsequent congressional action, is $105.7 billion. The actual spending estimate for items under the ceiling is $107.9 billion. The Bureau of the Budget says all of the $2.2 billion overrun is wholly attributable to increases in those "uncontrollable" items.

"Thus the $2 billion allowance for designated uncontrollable increases in proving to be extremely inadequate. Outlays for all programs covered by the allowance are now estimated at $2.3 billion higher than in April and $2.3 billion above the amount permitted in the law," the budget document declares. "Outlays for other programs are actually running at a level not more than $100 million below the ceiling. In the last year, equal to one-twentieth of one per cent of total budget outlays, hardly any margin at all," says the Budget Bureau.

Oddly, the economy moves in the Pentagon, which were spearheaded by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird are no help to the President under the congressional spending ceiling. Laird was responsible for about $5 billion worth of cuts in defense appropriations. They resulted in about $3 billion worth of spending reductions in the current year.

For example, the Secretary canceled the Air Force MOI—the manned orbiting laboratory in space — and vetoed procurement plans for the Army's Cheyenne helicopter. He also began cutting the overall strength of the armed services with resulting savings below budget estimates. In all these instances, however, Laird let his desires be known to congressional appropriations committees. The Secretary did not make formal adjustments in the administration's budget submissions for the current year.

Congress made the cuts recommended by Laird and added a few hundred million in additional economic Congressional leaders claimed credit, of course, for the whole parcel of defense department cuts including those recommended by the Secretary. Under the adjustable budget ceiling, those congressional cuts correspondingly reduced the spending limit. The action of Congress as noted by the Budget Bureau, erased the leeway which might have made it possible for the administration to slide under the ceiling which Congress had previously applied.

"The Pentagon's economy campaign was a handicap, as the paperwork was handled, for the administration's attempt to live with the spending ceiling. That explanation will now be quickly forgotten by Democratic critics, who will take as their texts the recent notes by such administration experts as Budget Director Robert P. Mayo on the narrow $1.3 billion surplus for the new budget year may not materialize after all."

ART BUCHWALD

The Pothole

WASHINGTON — I just finished attending a pothole competition in Pittsburgh, Pa. Pothole makers from all over the world jammed the city's hotels and motels, and officials of the National Pothole Assn. said it was the most successful meeting they ever had. Hiram H. Patches, president of the NPA, said, "Thanks to a very bad winter, pothole production has been at an all-time high in the 1970 season. We've had potholes where we've never had potholes before. At one time you only saw potholes in the poorer neighborhoods and on unpaved streets. But now, because of new technological developments, you'll find potholes on paved suburban roads as well as highways and bridges. We can't keep up with the demand."

Mr. Patches took me to the exhibit hall where equipment as well as designs for potholes were on display. "Most potholes used to be rectangular, but we're getting demands for potholes in every shape and form. This kidney-shaped pothole is very popular, and this oval one has been moving quite well, and this zigzag pothole is a winner."

"You mean you can deliver a pothole made to order?" "Of course. When you have a pothole on a highway or a main street, you don't want one that looks ugly and doesn't fit with the landscape." "How do you make a pothole?" I asked. "It's very complicated," Mr. Patches said, "and there are many methods. The old-fashioned way of making a pothole was to dig up a street and then fill it in again with a cheaper surface material. Before the material hardened, you would send a truck over it and it would make a pothole any size you wanted."

"But the difficulty with this method was that it was too expensive to dig up the streets just to make a pothole. So our research people attacked the problem. They discovered that If you use a cheap asphalt or a thin tar surface on the roads, all you need to make a good-sized pothole are enough vehicles passing over it. The most of our potholes are made by using cheaper material and had labor." "What kind of pothole makers are those?" I asked, pointing to a very interesting display which showed what happens to the chassis of a car that hits a pothole.

"That's a freeze-and-thaw road breaker. We have discovered that by freezing a road or highway to zero temperature, and then thawing it, you can make potholes automatically. The size depends on how many heavy trucks and buses roll over the surface. "We can make a pothole with an automobile as well, but it takes twice as long as it does with a good solid truck." We walked along and came to a theater where I noticed someone getting an award. "What's going on?"

"Every year, to publicize potholes, we give an award to the city that has the most potholes. Pittsburgh won this year, though I must say it was close: New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit are all protesting that they should have got the prize." "There seems to be a great market for potholes. Who buys them?" "Our biggest customers are elected officials."

"I don't understand." "Most politicians, particularly those up for election, want to do something for the people. So they order the potholes from us. Once they've been installed, the voters complain about them and then the officials arrange for the potholes to be filled in. This way the politicians win the undying gratitude of the electorate." "So, without your potholes it would be impossible for anyone to run for re-election in the United States?" "Exactly! Look, there's Mayor Daley ordering a gross of potholes for the Loop."

Balancing Act

"Don't Just Stand There—Do Something!"

A one-billion-dollar surplus in a $200-billion budget is, at best, a lick and a promise. At the worst, it can give a false illusion of balance where none exists. This is the total budget picture President Nixon has submitted to Congress for fiscal 1971.

grams, crime, pollution and transportation will climb by $8 billion. Domestic spending will be partly offset by a projected decrease in appropriations to the Post Office of $866 million, providing Congress goes along on another postal rate increase. One "constant" in the federal budget is interest on the national debt, which is estimated at $18 billion for fiscal 1971. This is money which goes to pay for past borrowings, and contributes nothing to current needs.

Pie In The Sky

Politicians have their sights set high these days. No more chickens in every pot, or cars in every garage. Now it is $20,000 houses! That is the inference to be drawn from a staff study made by the House Banking and Currency Committee, which complained that half the nation's population could not afford payments on a $20,000 mortgage.

has a housing problem. The construction industry has been in a slump for a number of years. The official federal goal is 26 million new housing units in 10 years, but last year new housing starts fell off 32 per cent. An expanding population has aggravated the problem, pushing up demand and prices. High wages in the construction trades and high interest rates have contributed to the shortage.

Home Computer

Although it is generally recognized that life indeed has become complex, most persons probably were not aware it now required a home computer to keep their affairs in order. But there are predictions that the house of the future will probably include a mechanical brain headquarters wherein all the vital record keeping is taken care of automatically.

the family medical history up to date, checking over canceled checks in a vain attempt to balance the bank account, or just sitting down with a paper and pencil to try to figure how he miscalculated his weekly budget. It is awesome to contemplate the extent to which a computer in every home could be utilized. But beware those who envision a life of ease loafing over a barbecue pit while the computer earns the family income and manages the household. Computers possess no more ingenuity than their owners can provide.

LBJ—Twist On History

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Former President Lyndon Johnson's memoirs may turn out to be one of the lesser footnotes to history if they are no more perceptive than the long series of televised interviews he has undertaken with Walter Cronkite.

Watching the latest one devoted to decisions affecting the Vietnam war in 1968, one could only conclude either that LBJ was spinning webs of fantasy or that he had then surrounded himself with some top advisers who could not read the English language and perhaps had a considerable gift for telling falsehoods.

Let's get off the bombing halt business. For all the attention it received at the time and is getting again, that was not the key decision Johnson announced the night of March 31, 1968, when he also said he would not run for re-election that year.

The crucial utterance was his public fixing of a U. S. troop ceiling in Vietnam at 540,500 with the indication that the only new troops going out would be previously promised support forces.

Moreover, the task force included Secretary of State Rusk, Treasury Secretary Fowler, Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Nitze, General Wheeler, CIA Director Richard Helms, and the President's own hawkish foreign affairs aide, Walt Rostow. Clifford indicates they all had exactly the same view: to stay as to the narrow limits of their assignment. Former Air Force Undersecretary Townsend Hoopes, in his book, "The Limits of Intervention," backs Clifford by writing "as the principals understood it, the assignment... was a fairly narrow one — how to give (General) Westmoreland what he said he needed."

MR. SPECTATOR

Life Of Explorer I

While we are running around down here on Earth we sometimes tend to forget what is "running" around out there in space.

Explorer I and the upper stages of Jupiter-C were built by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., under contract to the Army. Its major scientific instruments were provided by Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa.

The stovetop-shaped satellite is now expected to enter the Earth's atmosphere and disintegrate sometime in May of this year. The oldest man-made satellite in space is in a decaying orbit of the earth with a perigee (closest point) to earth of 182.7 miles and the farthest point of 384 miles.

Dr. Van Allen's name was given to the most important scientific finding made by Explorer I, discovery of the radiation belts that surround the Earth. Explorer I was launched only 84 days after orders were given for the mission. Total length of the satellite, including the burned-out rocket case to which the instrument section is attached, is 80 inches. It is six inches in diameter and weighs about 30 pounds.

In 1958 the team worked for the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal. The agency's technical director was Dr. Wernher von Braun, now deputy associate director for planning at NASA headquarters and formerly director of the Marshall Center.

But come to think of it we're not sure whether we've ever saw it or not. Just too much to look at down here on old Mother Earth.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Headaches

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your answer to the mother who was concerned about her child's headaches, you overlooked the most common cause. Through many years of public school nursing, we traced the cause of most school age headaches to hunger; many times it was the kind of food rather than the lack of it. Also a problem that is to be ignored. You, like school nurses fresh from hospital situations, would be expected to suggest pathology. You would be appalled at the number of children who buy both breakfast and lunch from the candy vendor in preference to better meals that are available. Their preferences begin at lunch. With apology but also concern—M.R.F., Retired School Nurse.

on the sidewalk in front of the candy store? Ignorance? Not caring? Laziness? Or are there other reasons? When a child gets headaches from candy — store breakfasts and lunches, the headaches are just a symptom of much worse damage that is being done. Health is being undermined. Energy is being sapped. Mental capacity is being drained away. Lack of attention in school is wasting education that such children, in particular, need if they are to make better lives for themselves.

Note to Mrs. B. D.: The presence of fibrous cans make it difficult to become pregnant. It will not cause a deformed baby. What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells, Vertigo and Nausea, Meniere's Disease and Labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed stamped envelope." Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in this column whenever possible.

Requests For More Money Rock Session

BOISE (UPI) — More than $3.5 million worth of supplemental appropriations bills were introduced in the Idaho Legislature Tuesday with Senate Democrats and Republicans on an economy kick that promised fireworks before the session ends.

Among the major appropriations bills that came across the desk in the Senate and House were measures calling for a jump sum $1,470,000 for higher education; $807,000 for the state penitentiary; $288,475 for public assistance; $50,000 for a water feasibility study on the Lower Raft River; $105,000 for the water resource board; $100,000 for the state library board; $112,000 for educational television; $100,000 to the board of education "to maintain the Job Corps Center at Mountain Home and Cedar Flats; and $132,000 to the Legislative Budget and Fiscal Committee.

Tuesday a "do pass" recommendation was given to the first major appropriation bill of the session to add $1,377,724 to the state board of health's appropriation of $15,850,000 received from the last legislative session.

This appropriation as broken down calls for $550,000 for mental health; $350,000 for mental health; $150,000 for State Hospitals—North and South; $50,000 for public health and $27,724 for health laboratory equipment.

The lawmakers were attempting to push the appropriations through as soon as possible with the hopes they could end the second half of the 40th legislature by the weekend.

The Senate spent much of the day Tuesday in caucus sessions, trying to decide what committee sections to take on the appropriations measures.

Following a morning caucus session of Republicans, the leadership told Sen. Richard Hlgh, R-Twin Falls, chairman of the Finance-Appropriations Committee, that he should take on the appropriations bill back to his committee and "trim and cut" or else set priorities.

High and Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malad, co-chairman of the Finance-Appropriations Committee, had already said that committee had arrived at its recommendation of spending $5.97 million strictly on the basis of "need."

The committee declined to reconsider the items. Democrats in the upper chamber caucused for two hours and finally came out with a statement that the minority party was proposing a 25 percent cut from what finance appropriations had recommended.

This was not a unanimous decision, however, Democrat caucus chairman Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan, said.

The only budget we decided not to try and trim was the 5 percent cost of living increase for state employees, which the Senate Democrats favored a budget around $4.9 million. Senate Republicans also called again for economy. They were advocating a cut in an overall budget in the neighborhood of $4.9 million, Sen. David Elveto, R-Payette, said.

The fight was due over where to trim the appropriations recommendations since no one expressed any willingness to see their pet projects given the knife.

Senate President Pro Tem James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, indicated there was no backing down on the part of the Republicans in the upper chamber on trimming the $5.97 million figure as it came a week ago from the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

Senate minority leader John Evans, D-Malad, indicated the Democrats in the Senate were equally adamant in their desire to be economy minded.

The battle over the budget started last Friday when Senate Republicans killed a bill to appropriate $9,000 to the state mine inspector's office on grounds it was not an emergency appropriation.

The bill was brought back la-

SCENERY WAS TOPS as members of the Hood River Crag Rats pause at the 8,500-foot level on Mt. Hood, Oregon. They were on one of the last climbs of the season on the north side of the 11,245-foot peak. It is about this time of year that the snow becomes unsafe in many mountain areas. Skiing, however, is still going "full blast" in the Mt. Hood area. (UPI telephone)

Raid On Liquor Money May Kill Kindergarten Plans

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — In a move that could kill the bill, the House agreed in committee of the whole Tuesday to raid a portion of state liquor profits to help support a proposed new kindergarten program.

After 34 minutes of debate, the committee chose this method over two other proposals as a means of funding the bill and then reported the Senate-originated bill back to the house without recommendation.

Even if the House approves the bill it must return to an uncertain fate in the Senate which approved it originally 23-10 with no plan for financing it.

Because this bill calls for 50 percent state support of public kindergartens, which 35 school districts now provide in one form or another on their own hook—the House Monday yanked the bill off third reading and into committee of the whole for amendment.

While the vote was not announced officially, it was reported that the amendment to fund the program with a portion of liquor profits was approved 31-33 on a standing vote. The other two proposals then were abandoned without a vote.

Other proposals called for putting all $7.3 million worth of liquor profits into the kindergarten program and raising the sales tax by one-half of one percent — about $75 million — to finance the program.

The plan approved by the house will take $800,000 of liquor profits earmarked for the permanent building fund plus the residue . . . of liquor profits about $800,000 more which is apportioned to each county on a one-fourth basis and give it to kindergartens.

Urging the committee to adopt this plan, Rep. Jay Webb, R-Boise, said he felt it would do the least violence to those who receive liquor profits. Besides the building fund and the counties, the cities and junior colleges also receive a share of the profits.

The grizzly is the only bear with a hump on its shoulders.

Papers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Knight Newspapers, Inc. is looking for more newspapers to buy, particularly morning papers in sizable cities, executives of the company told the New York Society of Security Analysts, Tuesday.

Mining Is Subject Of House Bill

BOISE (UPI) — Bills designed to regulate surface mining were amended or proposed for amendment to meet objections raised against them at public hearings.

Rep. Vernon Ransworth, D-Tuttle, changed his measure designed to regulate open pit and surface mining in such a way as to abate water pollution.

The bill was returned to the House committee on resources and conservation after it was amended.

Then Sen. Coel Andrus, D-Lewiston, proposed amending his more restrictive surface mining bill by providing that it would not apply to phosphate mining operations for three years.

Newspaper Is Target Of Court Action

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — The Justice Department charged Tuesday that the Times Printing Co., owned by the New York Times family, attempted to monopolize the daily newspaper market in Chattanooga.

The company promptly announced that, rather than fight the government action, it was immediately ceasing publication of the Chattanooga Evening Post.

The paper had been created in 1886 in competition with the Chattanooga News-Free Press.

The government filed a suit in U.S. District Court here charging that the printing company, which published the Chattanooga Morning and Sunday Times and the Evening Post, tried to monopolize the market in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

It accused the company of "intentional below cost operations" resulting in substantial losses during a three-year period. It said the paper charges unreasonably low advertising and circulation rates, engaged in discriminatory pricing, and forced combination sales of classified advertising.

The majority of the stock of Times Printing Co. is owned by the trust established under the will of Adolph S. Ochs.

Oral Arguments Scheduled On Idaho Power Rate Hike

The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has scheduled oral arguments on Idaho Power Co.'s request to increase power rates for March 9 at the Statehouse in Boise.

The oral arguments will replace a cross-examination of the utility originally scheduled by the PUC for March 9. In a statement of purpose, the PUC said that submission by Idaho Power of a request to present further evidence on their need to increase rates, and a request by opponents to displace the petition, makes the oral arguments necessary.

Further action may be taken on March 10 or March 13, the PUC said, depending on the outcome of the oral arguments, with the taking of additional evidence.

MISNAMED MONTHS
The last four months of the year are misnamed, September, October, November and December, meaning 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th, got those names because the old Roman year started on March 1. The months were named after the Latin numerals.

THE WHITE HOUSE

The gray sandstone walls of the Executive Mansion were painted white to cover smoke stains after the building was burned during the War of 1812, and thereafter it began to be popularly known as the White House. This name was first used on the president's stationery during the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

This is the house that Jack and all those people who make: air conditioning, appliances, brick, cabinets, carpeting, built.

ceilings, cesspools, concrete, conduit, counter tops, doors, draperies, fencing, flooring, furnaces, glass, gutters, hardware, insulation, lighting fixtures, lumber, paint, paneling, pipe, plaster, roofing, screens, siding, swimming pools, tile, wallboard, wallpaper, windows and wiring.

And Jack got some of the money to pay all those people, from us. That's our business. As a matter of fact we loan on hundreds and hundreds of homes every year.

So if you are in one of these businesses—and the tight mortgage market is hurting your sales—we have a suggestion:

Invest part of your cash reserves with us. You'll get a good return on your money. And, at the same time, you'll help build your sales by helping more people build more homes.

Baseball Manager Discovers The 'Right Way' Of Praying

By CLYDE KING
Manager, San Francisco Giants

Clyde King

I was pitching for the Cincinnati Reds in Cincinnati against the St. Louis Cardinals. I had invited some friends to come and see me perform.

During the playing of the national anthem, I made a petition to God that went something like this: "Lord, all these friends have come to see me pitch today. Please give me extra strength and control."

I walked the first batter; the next singled. Stan Musial drilled a hit to left field, filling the bases.

I put everything I had in the next pitch to Enos Slaughter. He hit the ball so hard that it might still be rolling if it hadn't been stopped by the top of the fence.

Three runs were now in, and Slaughter had a triple. Our manager called in a new pitcher.

Another time when I was a relief pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers we were also playing against the Cardinals, this time in St. Louis. It was over 100 degrees on the field, and Preacher Roe, our ace pitcher, was out to try and win his 20th victory of the season.

Since I had pitched in relief in the four previous games, our manager had me sit in the dugout instead of the bullpen with the other relievers. "Today you will get a rest, Clyde," he told me.

It was a close game. At the end of six innings we were ahead 2-1 when Preacher Roe drenched in sweat, admitted he was exhausted and couldn't continue.

Charlie Dressen, our manager, thought a minute. "Clyde, are there three innings left in that arm of yours?" he asked. "I didn't really think so, but I said I'd try."

This time my prayer went something like this: "Lord I'm dead tired. My arm is sore. I've heard it said that you can supply strength when man is weak. I'm sure ready to be an example of that."

I then went out and retired nine straight batters, a v.i.g. Preacher Roe's victory for him.

There was a big difference in those two prayers. The first was purely selfish; I asked God to help me look good in front of friends. The second came out of helplessness when I was primarily concerned about doing something for someone else. The second was honored, the first was not.

When arm trouble ended my pitching career early in the 1955 season, I went home to Goldsboro, North Carolina, to consider my future. With my wife, Norma, I tried to find out what God wanted.

So began a period of prayer consciousness in everything we did. I would talk to God while driving the car, before every interview or telephone conversation. There was discussion and prayer during dinner with our three daughters, Norma, Priscilla and Janet.

After two weeks, a telephone call came from the president of the Atlanta team in the Southern Association. "Clyde, would you be interested in being our manager?"

We knew the job was right. It meant working for a man we greatly respected; it meant I had a fine opportunity to train and develop young minor-league players to become major league players to become major leaguers.

This experience also pointed out a second discovery about prayer itself: not to use it as a call for help at isolated times of need, but daily, living in His presence constantly.

That first season at Atlanta was a happy experience. We won the pennant. My goal emerged: to manage a team in the major leagues.

During the 1967 season I had been a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates. A new manager was to be chosen, and I knew I was under consideration. The announcement came — another man was appointed, and his selection of coaches did not include me.

Once again Norma and I got down to the business of concentrated prayer. And this time I made another discovery: I was not to ask "What am I to do, Lord?" but to put my life and career in His hands with total trust.

The moment I made this commitment, I had a deep feeling of relief.

Five offers of baseball jobs came my way in the next few weeks. Most were to manage minor-league teams. After the usual prayer and deliberation, I chose one from the San Francisco Giants organization, to manage their Phoenix team in the Pacific Coast League.

We finished third. Mr. Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, called me into his San Francisco office. "How would you like to manage the Giants next season?"

My long-time dream realized! I was excited, enthusiastic, grateful.

Yet there is a little inner voice which keeps reminding me — "Clyde, you are one of the certain number of victors and defeats. You are one of the fortunate ones. For you know how to seek wisdom and strength and patience and where the real satisfactions in life are."

Shoshone Civic Club To Promote Passage Of Sewage Bond March 17

SHOSHONE — Members of the Shoshone Civic club will conduct a straw vote to determine if citizens want another public meeting on the proposed sewage system before the bond election set for March 17.

Mayor Ellwood R. Werry distributed promotional material to members at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harrell Thorne and the pamphlets will be given to homes in the community.

Mr. Werry said that in addition to the present health hazard with the city having no sewage system, a serious problem how-than the yearly total sewer charges. He said $500,000 in revenue bonds will be required to provide an adequate sewage disposal system payable over a 30-year period. The Federal Water Pollution Control Administration will assist with a grant of $85,380, provided the bond vote received two-thirds voter majority. The revenue bonds will be paid by a monthly service charge of $8 per family unit.

All qualified voters are entitled to vote since every family will have to hook up to the sewer system if the election passes. Under present plans the city sewer mains would not go to each property line. To do this would cost the city about $12,000 or about $28 per connection, according to estimates of the city engineer.

Several Civic club members urged this be included in the project. Mrs. Rex Thomas and Mrs. Frank Dallas were appointed to urge the city council to pass an ordinance prohibiting use of outdoor toilets in the city limits.

Mayor Werry said there is possibility of the city getting additional federal aid depending upon what is provided locally.

Mrs. R. G. Neher reported projects in past years include building a fireplace at the city park, putting fluoride in the city water system, furnishing a room at the Wood River Convalescent Center, helping install electrical outlets at the city park and promoting fencing Little Wood River along the city park.

The annual library tea will be held at 1:30 p.m. March 20 at the city library at which Mrs. Farrell Carraway will give a book review. The public is invited.

Louise Shaddock Speaks At T.F. GOP Women's Meeting

"The essence of politics is helping people," Louise Shaddock, administrative assistant to Rep. Orval Hansen of Idaho's Second Congressional District, told the Twin Falls County Republican Women at a meeting Monday afternoon at the Rogerston Hotel.

In a talk illustrated with color slides of Idaho and Washington, Miss Shaddock told of the job of a Congressman. "The job of a Congressman is demanding, varied and averages at least 80 hours a week. It calls for much more than legislative matters, including answering mail, handling constituent problems, visiting with constituents who are in Washington and taking telephone calls from many in Idaho. It calls for committee work, writing and giving speeches, attending meetings, press, radio and television work, attempting to read the Idaho newspapers and keeping up with periodicals, while doing necessary non-fiction reading, getting back to the District, and either accepting or turning down social function invitations.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have a 20-year-old son in college who has been everything a son should be. He is an adopted child, but we feel that he is superior to any natural child we might have had. I really mean this.

Last summer he met a 10-year-old girl (also a student), and they are now living together in an apartment. They told the landlord they are married, which they are not.

He says "a little scrap of paper is meaningless." He appears to feel no shame or guilt. We've never, not the girl, and don't care to. A girl who would live with a boy who would not marry her parents are divorced, and her mother knows she is living with our son and seems to encourage it.

Altho she is on the pill, I'm afraid she might conveniently "forget" one day, and our son will have to marry her.

There are several things we could do to force them to quit living together, but we don't want to hurt our son's future.

We've talked briefly to a psychiatrist, also to the dean of the college, but no one can advise us. Can you?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: If you think you could force your son to quit living with this girl by withholding financial help, but don't want to "hurt his future," it may not work. You might "inconvenience" him, but some young men make it without money from home, and you're right. As for the girl tricking your son into marriage by "conveniently forgetting" to take the pill — they don't have to LIVE together for this to become a possibility you know.

There is no way you can force your son to live according to your rules, but tell him that if he doesn't marry this girl, living with her could do him more harm than his reputation comes under scrutiny by future employers.

Personal life styles often reveal a good deal about an individual's stability, common sense, loyalty, and judgment — all important to an employer who is on the hunt for good men.

DEAR ABBY: I just must tell you what Johnny, my little 8-year-old grandson said to me this morning while he was dressing. He said, "Non, I can't wear this shirt. It itches." And then he added, "Why, don't we write to DEAR ABBY and ask her what to do?"

It seems that just about everything that boy wears "itches" him. But wasn't that a cute thing he said?

MRS. J. O.: JERSEY CITY

DEAR MRS. O.: Thank you for sharing the "cute" remark your grandson made, but it was more than "cute" — it was a cry for help. Johnny is "itching" to tell you that he is allergic. So better get him to an allergy specialist without delay.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old girl with a problem. Last year a boy in my class got me interested in football. Ever since then I have wanted to be a quarterback for the Green Bay Packers.

Dolls don't interest me. I would rather sleep with my football. My second choice is to be a veterinarian. I still have my heart set on being a quarterback with the Green Bay Packers. My Dad says I will grow out of it. What do you think?

TOMBOY

DEAR TOMBOY: Yes, you'll grow out of it. Altho the Packers didn't have a very good year, their backfield is still no place for an 11-year-old girl-type quarterback.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

GET MAD

Don't just walk out in a huff when you find an unsavory restroom. Find someone in authority and let him know you are "mad," the Cleanliness Bureau suggests. Keep in mind that no organization wants to lose trade. If you can't find towels or soap, if there is no hot water, if the floor is dirty — then complain. This is the best way to improve the situation, the bureau reminds.

Jamboree Proceeds Given To Local Harbor House

A cashier's check for $3,372.88 was accepted by Richard Reed on behalf of the Magic Valley Harbor House from the Magic Valley Country Music Association officials representing the net proceeds from the recent Jamboree.

The jamboree, a two-night benefit held recently at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center Auditorium, was the ninth such benefit sponsored by the musicians. According to jamboree officials, its popularity has grown by leaps and bounds these past few years with the musicians playing to capacity crowds both nights and approximately 500 persons being turned away the second night because of lack of seating space.

Mr. Reed expressed his deep appreciation for the check and stated it would be put to very good use at the home.

Listed among the major contributors to the benefit proceeds are Parish Oil Co., Buhl; Gateway Trailer Center, First Security Bank, Telephone Co., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Burnikel, Fidelity National Bank, Idaho Power Co., Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., Gary Bickel, First Federal Savings and Loan, William Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cox, Crumbliss Brothers, Blicik and Reese, Big O Tire Co., and Bank of Idaho. More than $500 worth of tickets were sold by Helen Brown at Helen's Record Shop. Assisting Mrs. Joseph Humphrey and Harbor House officials with the ticket sales, etc., for the jamboree were members of the local Altrusa Club, Twin Falls High School Key Club and Guitan Club.

Eleven country music bands participated in the programs along with Diana Hopperstad, the current Miss Idaho, Carletta Cox and the King's Harvesters. Holly Houlburg served as master of ceremonies and Dick Stauffer as program director, with Mrs. Cox and Ray Crumbliss as publicity directors.

The poncho creates cover-up excitement this spring as designers adapt this youth trend to high fashion. It goes formal as a sheer veil-like cover-up or casual in fringed wool over pants.

Bickel PTA Notes Founder's Day

Bickel School PTA conducted an open house and observed Founder's Day Monday night. Chairman of the Founder's Day program was Mrs. Frankie Hosteler. A film strip, "What Is PTA?" was presented. A life membership pin was awarded to Mrs. Marvin Fouts. Recipients of this pin are judged on service to the school, church and community. Clarence Parker, principal at Bickel, was given $150 by the PTA to use for school needs. He purchased a coffee machine and a rack for butcher paper for teachers. Nominating committee members were chosen, including Mrs. Louise Koontz, Mrs. Gladys Griffin, and Lorraine Molyneux.

Supreme Court Rules That States Don't Need To Apportion School Aid Equally

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court reaffirmed Tuesday the right of states to allot more school aid money to relatively affluent districts than to poorer areas. Acting on that general question for the second time, the court—affirmed—in a brief order a lower court's dismissal of a Virginia suit that sought court-ordered equality of educational facilities in school systems operated by the state. The suit was brought by 11 families with school-age children in the western Virginia county of Bath. It sought to force the state board of education to spend proportionately as much money on schools in that county as in wealthier districts. Friend-of-the-court support of the suit was provided by the United Auto-Workers Union, the National Education Association, the Urban Coalition and the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. In other major actions, the court: Refused, in a California case, to involve itself in the controversy over state abortion laws. The order left standing a state supreme court ruling that abortion laws may not broadly invade a woman's right to life and to choose whether to bear children. Agreed to consider whether a private citizen must prove he was the victim of "actual malice" in order to collect damages for libel. The court will hear arguments later this term on whether its own earlier rulings involving libel actions against "public officials" or "public figures" should be extended to private citizens. Let stand a ruling in a Louisiana case that separate black and white work seniority systems rendered illegal by the Civil Rights Act of 1964 cannot figure in future promotion of Negro workers. The challenge in the Virginia school case was to the system by which state aid is distributed under formulas indirectly allotting larger amounts to districts that have higher school revenues raised from local property taxes.

the cost of long distance calling has gone down

Again

Back in 1915, a coast-to-coast call cost $20.70. Ever since, the cost has been a steady progression downward. Now—for the 26th time—we're initiating the biggest Long Distance reductions in our history. You save money no matter what time of the day or which day of the week when you direct-dial an out-of-state call. For instance, you can now direct-dial a call anywhere coast-to-coast, three minutes, for just 85 cents or less any week night from 5 till 11. That's 15 cents cheaper and two hours sooner. You can make that same call for 70 cents on week-ends from 8 am Saturday to 5 Sunday night. That's 30 cents cheaper. On weekdays, you can make that call from 8 to 5 for $1.35. That's 35 cents cheaper. A major reason for these reductions, of course, is improved technology. A job we consider our constant responsibility. With most other costs going up, it gives us a good deal of pleasure to share with you one that's going down.

CHECKING OVER PATIENTS' charts at the nurses station in Cassia Memorial Hospital at Burley are Dr. Charles Walton, Dr. James R. Kircher, seated, and Mrs. Bernice Rol-hofer, nurse. Dr. Walton, a graduate of the University of Utah, is gaining practical experience at the hospital before beginning his internship in July in San Francisco.

Cassia Hospital At Burley Benefits From Young Medic Under New Program

BURLEY — Cassia Memorial Hospital is enjoying the services of a young doctor for several months before he starts his internship.

The placement of Dr. Charles Walton, who is a general practitioner, here to gain practical experience in a small hospital before his internship, is part of a program sponsored by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

Dr. Walton, a native of Heber City, Utah, has completed four years of undergraduate work and four years at the University of Utah College of Medicine. With financial help from the medical staff and the hospital, the young doctor and his wife will live here until May 30.

In July he will enter his internship practice at San Francisco for one year.

At the local hospital, the young medic is under the supervision of Dr. Charles Terhune, medical educational director, and Dr. James R. Kircher, chief of medicine. He will be working in all departments of the hospital, including the emergency room and spending some time in the local physicians' offices. He also will attend medical staff meetings and medical educational conferences where ideas will be exchanged.

Hospital officials point out that patients at Cassia Memorial will benefit from having the knowledge of a student just out of medical school. The medical staff and hospital trustees feel they, too, have something to offer a graduate student which he cannot get from "book learning."

The board of trustees plan to budget on an annual basis for this new program in Cassia Memorial Hospital. It was pointed out this program is not new in large hospitals but is new for hospitals the size of Cassia Memorial Hospital.

The medical staff and the board of trustees are planning to recruit physicians who have completed their eight years of training at University of Utah College of Medicine to take part of their training at Cassia Memorial Hospital prior to entering training for their internship in a major hospital. This type of training is selected by the student if he so desires to have general practitioner training.

After the three months training at Cassia Memorial Dr. Walton will evaluate his training. Dr. Walton stated he was greatly surprised at the variety of special skills in the medical physicians here; "there is good cooperation and excellent feeling among the staff which makes for good patient care; and you can consult with all the physicians."

"As for as I can evaluate in just one week of work at Cassia Memorial, here is a very good all around medical program," Dr. Walton added.

When questioned as to his plans after his year of internship training Dr. Walton replied, "I plan to settle in an area where I can operate my office as a general practitioner and work with a small hospital."

Robert Barton, administrator of Cassia Memorial, reported it is how the trend in medical schools for students to train as general practitioners.

Cuban Refugee Will Speak Thursday At Burley Dinner

BURLEY — Jose Norman will be guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Burley - Rupert Knife and Fork Club at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Ponderosa Inn.

Mr. Norman, a former journalist who was on the Havana Post Times, has had a weekly column in some U.S. newspapers and has appeared on many TV and radio programs through out the country.

He is an American citizen who willingly gave up a lucrative and successful career in music to go to the jungles of the Sierra Mountains in Cuba to start a coffee farm. There he was caught up in the Castro rebellion, his property taken from him, buildings looted, his family imprisoned and later fled the country for their lives.

Born in Liverpool, England, in 1906, he was educated in Ampleforth College in Yorkshire, one of the leading schools in England. He studied music in England, Normandy and St. Colombe Cantorium, both in Paris. Later he became interested in Cuban dance music and introduced the rumba to England 35-years ago. He organized and directed his own orchestra which was prominently featured by the British Broadcasting Co.

American, too, have heard much of Norman's music, for it was he who composed and published "Cuban Pete," a hit tune in the U.S. and which for a long time was Desi Arnaz's signature tune.

Other musical success came as Norman was picked to be the resident bandleader at the Churchill's Night Club. He was also the musical director for British Animated Films, British Gaumont Documentary films and Anson Dyer Cartoon films.

In 1940, the Normans went to Cuba to start the coffee farm. In 1956 Fidel Castro came to the mountains where the Normans lived to start the two-year revolution which was to bring disaster to Cuba and danger to all of Latin America. The Castro hide-out headquarters were but 15 miles from the Norman home.

Things happened to the Normans swiftly after this. In two months the Norman home was looted and burned to the ground by the Castro Rebel Army. Peasants on the farm were tortured, Norman, his wife and second son were arrested and imprisoned. The first son had been arrested, tortured and imprisoned by the Batista Secret police in Havana.

JOSE NORMAN

Eventually the Norman family had to flee Cuba and take refuge in the United States. Today he is warning the people of this country of Castro's Communist operations in Latin America.

"Big Brother or Big Bad Wolf of Latin America," dealing with Communist-inspired anarchy in Latin America, is the subject Norman will discuss during the meeting.

He is president of the Cuban Exile Committee of Southern California and working diligently to prevent further Castro explosions in Latin American countries.

Only two mints are operated by the U.S. federal government — one at Philadelphia, Pa., and one at Denver, Colo.

Investigation Concluded In Burley Case

BURLEY — No further investigation will be held into the traffic death Jan. 31 of Randal Albrecht, 19, Paul, Cassia county coroner. Bruce Young reports.

Results of a coroner's inquest, held Monday afternoon in the probate courtroom in the Cassia county courthouse, indicated the youth died of injuries received in a head-on collision in the early morning of Jan. 31 three miles west of Burley on Highway 30, and that no negligence was involved.

Seven witnesses were called during the inquest. Jury members were Clive Holland, E. E. (Bud) Hiltner, Cleve Adams, Charles Gunnerson, Weldon Green and Bill McGill.

Conference Champion Gooding Rates Nod In A-2 Tourney At Buhl

BUHL—The Gooding Senators, by virtue of winning the conference, are installed as the favorites in the fourth district Class A-2 basketball tournament which opens Thursday night at Buhl High School, but the event is rated the most even of Magic Valley's five tournaments. The tournament will send the Buhl Indians against the Jerome Tigers at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with Wood River and Filer colliding in the nightcap. Gooding is the first night out but will be back at 8 p.m. Friday to play the winner of Wood River-Buhl. In the first game Friday, the Buhl-Jerome winner will play the Filer-Wood River losers. There will be two games Saturday night, highlighted by the championship semifinals, and the tournament will rest until March 5 before resuming with the loser bracket semi-finals. The tournament could end March 6, but the next night has been reserved for auditions.

Dean Indicted In Betting Crackdown

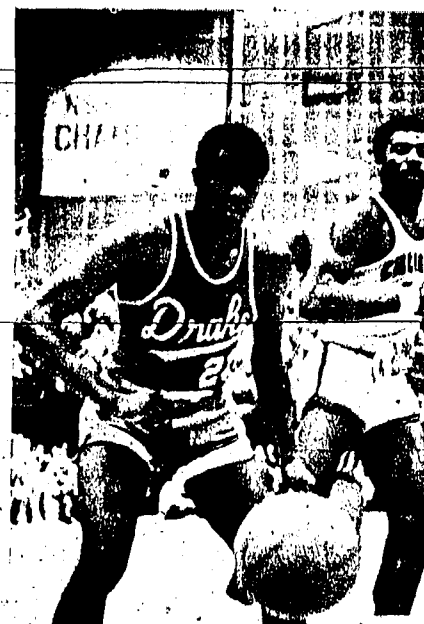

DETROIT (UPI)—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, whose "very helpful" information led to several arrests in a government gambling crackdown, was one of five co-conspirators named Tuesday in a federal indictment charging 10 other men with gambling conspiracy. Dean, the Hall of Fame pitcher, was not indicted. But U.S. Attorney James H. Brickley indicated he might be called to testify at any trial.

Texas Tech Is 78-66 Winner

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Gene Knoble hit 37 points and two teammates came off the bench to add 10 pieces as Texas Tech bounced back into the Southwest Conference race, defeating league-leading Rice 78-66 Tuesday night.

The victory pushed the Red Raiders within one game of the Owls, 9-3, with two games remaining. Tech is 8-4 in SWC play, the same as Texas A&M. Larry Wood and Steve Miller came off the bench in the second half and scored 10 points each as Tech kept hopes alive before 10,025 persons, the second largest crowd to attend an SWC game in Lubbock.

BUSH LEADS
Drake's Tom Bush leads field-goal shooters in the MVC. He's made 40 of 73 for 54.8 per cent. And Bradley's Sam Simmons is the pacesetter at the free-throw line. Simmons has made 36 of 43 for 83.4 per cent.

TOM BUSH, former Southern Idaho basketball star, eyes a loose ball in Tuesday night action between Missouri Valley Conference leader Drake and Cincinnati. Jim Ard of the Bengals looks on. Bush is the top percentage shooter in the MVC, while Ard leads the league in rebounding. Cincinnati remained in the thick of the top race by upsetting the Bulldogs 88-78. (UPI telephoto)

Bearsats Top Drake 88-78

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A fired-up University of Cincinnati squad, led by forward Steve Wandorf's career-high 24 points, surprised Missouri Valley Conference leader Drake University, 88-78, Tuesday night.

The Bearsats took a 4-2 lead with 1:51 gone in the first half and never relinquished it, rolling up an impressive 33-32 halftime lead over the Bulldogs. Cincinnati pushed the lead to 23 points in the second half. Drake, led by Bobby Jones and Jeff Halliburton with 18 each, pulled to within 10 with 2:57 remaining. Drake was hampered by the absence of its leading scorer, Al Williams, who was out with a sprained ankle.

Glenns Ferry Favored To Take Title In A-3 Meet Ahead Of Wendell

GLENN'S FERRY — The Glenns Ferry Pilots, although losing their last two games after a nine-game winning streak, rate as favorites over Wendell and darkhorse Valley and Shoshone in the A-3 tournament which begins at two sites Thursday night.

Glenns Ferry, with backcourt ace Bob Carpenter and transfer Tom Little from Boise providing the punch, has had little trouble with Wendell, DeLo, and Valley. But amazingly Shoshone has beaten the Pilots once, 48-45 in Shoshone earlier in the year. The only other clubs to defeat the Pilots this year were Hopedale on the road, Filer at Filer, Wood River in Halley, and Mountain Home. Glenns Ferry's nine-game string was broken by the Wolverines two weeks ago, Wendell, the club that figures to give the Pilots the most trouble, has done poorly in head-to-head meetings with the Little Six champs.

Glenns Ferry handled the Trojans with surprising ease in the regular season, but a club with the likes of Kirk Dennis, Ralph King, and Craig Thompson is hard to humiliate three times. Dennis is one of the best guards in the league and King is a great competitor and consistent scorer.

The scrappy Indians are a puzzle. They've given some much deeper clubs all they could handle, then turned around and played poorly against weaker teams. Shoshone has beaten A-2 school Wood River twice, owns two wins over DeLo, a pair over Kimberly, and has split with Glenns Ferry. Valley knocked off the Indians to end the season.

Oakley Is Big Pick In A-4 At Murtaugh

MURTAUGH—Oakley's high-scoring Hornets, who have been among the state's top teams all year long, loom as big favorites in the sixth district A-4 tournament which begins Thursday night at Murtaugh.

Oakley and Murtaugh, the only team with an undefeated chance of stopping the Horset express, drew first round byes and don't see action until Friday night.

Rockland and Hanson collide in the tourney opener at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Raft River takes on Castleton in the 9 p.m. nightcap. A junior varsity game starts action every night, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Hornets draw the winner of the Rockland-Huskie game at 7:30 Friday and Murtaugh meets the Castleton-Raft River winner in the nightcap at 9.

It would appear Oakley's only real opponent will be overconfidence. With a team scoring average of 75 points per game and four men averaging in double figures, the Hornets have piled up 18 consecutive wins after an early loss to Gracy way back in December.

Floor leader Kim Martindale scores at a 14.2 clip, while unbracket games are slated, then the tourney resumes next Wednesday.

If you go down the line and check to see the margins of victory Oakley has enjoyed over the other teams in the tourney, it's frightening. The Hornets have beaten Castleton by 31 and 28 points; Murtaugh by 16 and 25; Raft River by 20 and 40; Inness by 27 and 40; and Rockland by 25.

With all that against them, the Red Devils still have a slim chance. Mark Howard, a 20-plus scorer who is probably the best jump-shooter in the valley, will have to have a Superman-like night if Murtaugh is to be in the hallgame. Sophomore John Flynn could be the key because his board work would have to sparkle to offset the Hornets' undernights.

In addition to Howard, Murtaugh gets a 12.3 scoring average from Greg Stanger and Flynn is hitting 11.2. Of the other teams in the meet, Inness is the strongest. Walt Freestone (15.7), Darrell Taylor (13.6) and Lynn Pearson (10.4) give the Huskies good offensive power.

Richfield Shocks Carey, Hagerman Stops Dietrich To Reach A-4 Semi-Finals

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News Sports Editor
FAIRFIELD — The tall Hagerman Pirates dropped Dietrich 71-59 and the Richfield Tigers stunned Carey 53-46 to fifth into the semi-finals of the fifth district A-4 basketball tournament Tuesday night in a bracket play in the Camas County Musher's ousted the Gooding State Redskins 66-28.

Carey had its chance to break away early when it ran up five to seven-point leads but couldn't get away as Richfield worked the backboards well, getting help from 6-0 frosh Steve Bowers.

Crowther, playing a good defensive game and adding 18 points, pulled the Tigers back into the game three minutes into the second quarter and the third period was a matter of basket trading. There were four lead changes and three ties as Richfield posted its highest lead at 37-34 late in the first half. Richfield's lead was cut by Richfield's Mark Dixon but Richfield's Mark Dixon hit from the charity stripe

Kuhn Puts Clamp On Denny McLain

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn reiterated Tuesday that he asked Denny McLain to "disassociate himself entirely from all aspects of baseball" and said he would veto any attempt to let McLain talk to his teammates about his recent suspension.

Kuhn also announced that he is beefing up the investigative staff in his office, from the one man he hired last month to a full network of investigators similar to the set-up now operating in professional football.

Marquette Only Squad To Reject NCAA Bid

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's prestigious post-season basketball tournament lost 10th-ranked Marquette to the National Invitational Tournament Tuesday because the Warriors felt they were being treated like "patates" by the NCAA.

seriously here. Maybe it was something between me and the committee, I don't know." McGuire, who said he was "shocked" at the NCAA's plans to move his team into the Midwest, charged the NCAA had "buckled under" to a power complex within its ranks in asking the Warriors to play against the nation's elite.

The Pirates used a zone defense to keep the Blue Devils outside and only good long jump shooting by Don McGowan and Jim Moser kept Dietrich in the contest.

NIT Makes Bids Public Wednesday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Invitation Tournament selection committee sent out bids to several schools Tuesday for the March 13-21 basketball competition but withheld any announcement of which schools would be invited.

Dayton, which will be making its sixth NCAA trip as Marquette's replacement joined nine other at-large selections named earlier Tuesday, including St. Bonaventure (19-1), New Mexico State (21-2) and high-scoring Jacksonville (20-1), the nation's Nos. 4, 5 and 6-ranked teams in this week's United Press International ratings.

In the loser bracket game, the luckless Gooding State Redskins managed only a little scoring opposition in the opening half, then quickly fell behind Camas County.

A&M Nearing Southwest Lead

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—All five Texas Aggies finished in double figures Tuesday to give A&M a 72-60 win over Arkansas and to move the Aggies within a game of the Southwest Conference lead.

Hawk Forced To Get Haircut

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Ken Harrelson, who arrived at the Cleveland Indians camp Monday night sporting purple bellbottoms, purple shoes and purple sunglasses augmented by shoulder-length hair, got his curly locks quickly trimmed Tuesday at the threat of a four-figure fine.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—All America Rick Mount scored 42 points to lead Purdue to a 105-94 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night in Big Ten action.

ARCH ASSISTS IN DEFENSE ALSO

In the code word ARCH the letter A stands for Analyze the lead, R for Review the bidding, C for Count your winners and losers, and H for How can you defeat this hand, depending on whether you are declarer or a defender.

East's king of diamonds held the first trick. It behooved him to use that code word, but East saw no reason to do anything except play a second diamond. He expected South to ruff it but saw no harm in letting him.

South showed him the error of his ways very quickly—by doing exactly that—ruffing the diamond. At trick three, he led a spade to dummy's king. Then he ruffed dummy's last diamond with his ace of trumps. He then cashed the trump king, overtaking the jack with dummy's queen, played out dummy's last two clubs to draw the remaining trumps and to discard two hearts from his own hand. He made four more tricks with his last spades.

If East had stopped to review the bidding, he might have foreseen this exact outcome. South had bid right along to game after his partner's no-trump response. Certainly South held just one diamond for all that bidding.

Then West had given a diamond raise. West couldn't hold anything more in the black suits. He just might hold the ace of hearts.

After that well-organized bit of thinking, it wouldn't be at all unreasonable for East to lead a heart. West would take his ace and have no trouble finding the heart return.

Of course, no partnership would go with that heart play. We can work out some-card combinations where the diamond continuation would work out better for years. "Contract bridge play will never be an exact science."

Girl Rats Can Outrun Boy Rats In Speed, Distance

It has been established scientifically that girl rats can outrun boy rats. By outrun, I mean both in the matters of speed and distance. . . . THE STATISTICIANS insist it may aged 35 and older over the course of a year spends an average of 15 minutes a day arguing with somebody or other. Is that possible?

FEELING DEPRESSED?—Let's say you feel vaguely depressed, but don't know why. What do you do to get over it? Here's the advice of the late Sir Winston Churchill: "Write down all the things you can think of as possible annoyances. Once they're on paper, you can deal with them. This one doesn't matter for six months. I know the answer to this one. This is the only real difficulty that is crying for an answer. Then you deal with it. You make them manageable the moment you break them into precise and concrete issues. The only thing the human mind can't stand up against is mystery."

ANOTHER STATISTICAL STUDY seems to indicate citizens born in the summer months tend to be less apt to develop psychiatric ailments, but the why of it remains unexplained.

NO DOUBT YOU know women can talk more with less effort. But maybe you didn't know the scientific reason for it. Their vocal cords are shorter, require less air to vibrate.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q. "How old was Paul Revere when he made the big ride?" A. 40. A year younger than Columbus when he discovered America, incidentally. . . . Q. "WHAT'S THE FASTEST a tap dancer can tap?" A. Bollevo 840 taps per minute is about as fast as it ever gets. . . . Q. "IS QUEEN ELIZABETH II ever referred to as Mrs. Mountbatten?" A. Never. Her legal name is Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor.

IF IT DOESN'T take you at least 1,240 minutes to make a pound pot of pork and beans, you aren't doing it right.

OUR NAME GAME MAN says there's a Mrs. Brown (Henn) nesting in Encino, Cal. . . . "WHY DO STEAKS cook at 325 degrees F. while men don't?" Writes a customer: "Because steaks cook at 325, dum dum." . . . WHERE IS the cheapest town in the country to live? A—Ellet credits Austin, Texas, with that distinction. . . . LOVE, JUST LOVE is what matters most to Leo girls, and that is the story of our Planet man's report today.

OPEN QUESTIONS—1. Is it true there's some sort of mouse that sings like a canary? 2. How do you explain the fact that a microwave oven will cook the yolk of an egg but not the white? 3. How big is an ostrich's wishbone?

RAPID REPLY—Yes, sir. It's now reported Stradivari was the name of the violin maker, but Stradivarius was the name of the violin.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used wherever possible. Please address your mail to L. M. Boyd, McNaught Syndicate, c/o 42nd St., New York, N. Y. 10017.

MR. AND MRS. JAY NIELSEN, Albion, left, greet Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hall, Twin Falls, during the grand opening of the new home of the D. L. Evans bank in Albion. Mr. Nielsen is manager of the Albion bank and Mr. Hall is a retired Twin Falls businessman. Several hundred Magic Valley residents attended the event. William G. Jenkins, vice president and director, gave the dedicatory address.

Albion Bank Grand Opening Marks Kickoff Of Centennial

ALBION — Several hundred Magic Valley residents attended the grand opening of the new $10,000 D. L. Evans Bank Saturday in Albion.

Many of the directors of the bank attended the event. William G. Jenkins, vice president and director of the bank, gave the dedicatory address.

"We have a multipurpose occasion. Not only are we celebrating the grand opening of the new bank building of Cassia County's oldest bank, but we are also kicking off the centennial Anniversary of Cassia County itself," stated Mr. Jenkins.

He gave a brief history of the early families coming to this area to settle and make their homes. In August, 1894, a few men made application to the State of Idaho for a charter to open a bank in Albion, then the county seat of the entire territory of Southwestern Idaho. The charter was granted, and the bank opened for business on Sept. 15, 1894. The stockholders were Andrew Lounsbury, William M. Jones, J. N. Ireland, who ran 1,500 head of cattle on Conners Creek; David L. Evans, W. G. Jenkins, L. L. Evans, a prominent cattleman of the area; D. W. Standrod and A. Burstrom.

Later Norman Isachsen, Robert A. Lounsbury, F. E. Tremayne, Ralph Lounsbury, Roy Painter and F. D. Butler purchased stock.

For some time during the depression years, the Albion Bank was the only bank open in Cassia County.

"D. L. Evans and Company Bankers continued to progress in the old quarters until it became evident that a new structure was necessary to furnish a full modern banking service to the area," Mr. Jenkins stated.

The ribbon was cut by Odeen Redman, mayor of Albion, with the assistance of the directors of the bank.

MINIDOKA COUNTY
Rupert Police Blotter
Nancy Ottman, 16, Hazelton, was driving a 1968 pickup truck when it collided with a 1967 Ford driven by Sheridan Mulher, 38, American Falls, as both vehicles were being backed from opposite parking places in the middle of the 400 block on F Street in Rupert at 11 a.m. Saturday. Damages were reported at $150 to the pickup and $175 to the Mulher car. There were no injuries and no citation was given.

A 1968 car driven by Maxin Downs, Route 2, Paul, struck several calves belonging to Victor Engkraft at 6:35 a.m. Monday on Highway 25 and 85th W., as Mr. Downs was headed for work at Ore-Ida. None of the animals was killed and damage to the car was estimated at $50.

Guided tours were conducted throughout the day by bank officials and employees. Refreshments were prepared and served by members of the Albion MIA.

Blood Quota Is 75 Pints For Wendell

WENDELL — Mrs. Mary Hollinger, chairman Red Cross Blood drawing, announces Wendell's quota for March 4 drawing at the Wendell American Legion Hall from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. is 75 pints.

On the two previous drawings this quota has been reached and Mrs. Hollinger urges everyone to help meet the current quota. She stated a special effort is being made to contact young people between the ages of 18 to 21 to become donors.

In order for those under 21 to donate they must have written permission from their parents. Mrs. Hollinger says to continue the Red Cross Blood program that some "young blood" must be given in place of some who have rather "tired blood." Gono Barrus and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jasper are among the donors from Wendell who have given over four gallons of blood each. Mr. and Mrs. Jasper say they became acquainted with the program 20 years ago, at the time of the birth of their youngest daughter, Laura, and have given blood twice yearly since.

Airline Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One hundred fifty-eight persons died in commercial airline accidents in the United States last year, the lowest death toll for one year since 1957, according to the National Transportation Safety Board.

The general aviation category, which includes private and business flying, however saw an increase in deaths. There were 1,388 deaths in general aviation last year compared with 1,274 the year before.

New Camaro. Feb. 26th.

We've never announced a car at this time before.
But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger
If it were just an ordinary sportster, we might have introduced it at the ordinary time.

But we didn't.

And as you can see, time was on our side.

Because we didn't bother with the simulated air scoops. Or any other put-ons that might put you off.

Instead we took the time to build a whole new car from the ground up. In four distinctive versions: Standard, Rally Sport, Super Sport and Z28.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance. So it hovers a few short inches from the pavement. Right down there with Corvette.

To that we added more hood. A faster fastback. More window area. And wider doors for easier entry.

On RS models, there's even a resilient bumper that surrounds the grille. To protect against nicks and knocks.

Compare the new Camaro with any competitive car in its field. If you can find one.

Two extra buckets. No extra bucks.

Most sportsters give you two buckets in front. And a sofa in back. We've done them two better.

The back seat sofa is out. In are two rear bucket-styled cushions.

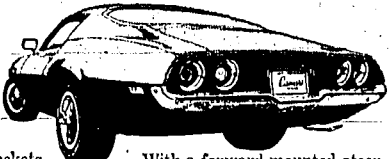

Up front the buckets are deeply contoured to put you firmly in place. And keep you there. Even in tight turns.

The instrument panel is just as functional. It's flat black and wraps around. With enough dials and instrumentation to make you think you're piloting a 747.

Only with this one you don't need a flight crew.

The special handling is built right in.

Camaro always had a tough reputation when it came to taking on tight turns. Now we made it tougher.

With a forward-mounted steering linkage and an improved front and rear suspension that give the new Camaro a loch-like grip on the road.

It's something other cars will have a tough time coming to grips with.

What motivates all this?

Six power plants up to the 350-hp Turbo-Jet 396 you can order. And four transmissions.

Pick the combination that best suits your driving.

Then go pick on an open road.

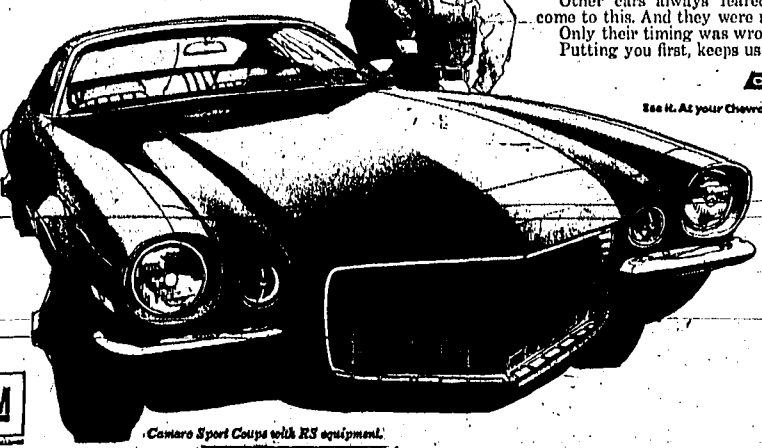

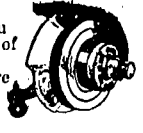

Standard disc brakes. You stop as well as you go.

It's only natural.

With all that go, you want an equal amount of stop. You've got it.

Front disc brakes are standard. For less heat buildup. And more resistance to fade.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger. Other cars always feared it might come to this. And they were right. Only their timing was wrong. Putting you first, keeps us first.

Camaro Sport Coupe with RS equipment.
