TEN CENTS

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA students at Santa Barbara watch as the Bank of America building burns to the ground after the second night of violence on campus. A crowd of nearly 500 broke into the bank and set drapes and papers afire while police sealed off a four-block area in the nearby business district. (UPI telephoto).

California Bank Burned To Ground By Young Mob

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — A police car was overturned and burned, a bank was burned to the ground and many small fires were started late Wednesday as about 1,500 young persons roamed through a small sealed-off area adjacent to the University of California at Santa Barbara.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said his department had been in touch with Gov. Ronald Reagan's office in Sacramento but added he knew of no request for National Guard troops.

Burley Merchant Terms Interest Law Impossible

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—A Southeast Idaho merchant flatly told a House committee hearing Wednesday retailers "can't make money" on a 12 per cent per year interest rate limit.

Jim Roper, Burley, representing six Roper's stores, spoke before a House Banking, Insurance and Public Utilities Committee public hearing on Senate Bill 1451. The original measure would have prohibited banks from exacting interest in excess of 12 per cent per year, but the measure was later amended to include any institution which extended credit.

Roper said after the stores' long experience with 30-day accounts, "there was a need and a desire on the part of the consumer to extend the payments over a longer period of time than that which we offered."

For this reason, he said, the stores extended the period, but did not change interest for the month in which the bill was finally paid.

Therefore, he said, 18 per cent per year—which is presently allowed—seemed like a lot "but we all know it isn't unless the person leaves you without payments for 12 months."

Roper emphasized "We can't make money on the 12 per cent per month. We may break even on it."

Fred Luger, Seattle, executive vice president of the Association of Washington Business, warned the Idaho legislators to "benefit from our mistakes."

He said Initiative 245, which limited interest rates to 12 per cent, was passed in Washington following a campaign based on "emotional reasoning, not on logic."

He said since the 12 per cent limitation was approved, down payments were reduced, and delivery charge had been instituted, there was a loss of free accounts over 30 days, the cost of goods had been increased, and marginal or slow payers no longer were eligible for credit.

Walter Whitehead, regional comptroller for Rhodes Department Stores, agreed with Luger.

Comparing the Tacoma, Wash., store (with a 12 per cent limit) and the Portland store (with a 12 per cent limit), Wallingford said the Washington store dropped over $49,000 on interest income in one year. He said the two Portland stores made a net profit of over $7,000 in the total credit period.

What happens to the person who needs credit? Wallingford asked. "Frankly, we cannot afford to take the risks in some of the marginal cases. It's hurt our store, too, but it's also hurt people in the Roma area."

Other witnesses agreed a 12 per cent limit would hurt the consumer. Fred C. Humphrey, Boise, president of the Idaho Bankers Association, and the Social Security increase urged states to match the increase and to make it possible for the beneficiaries to obtain the full and much needed 15 per cent boost in their incomes.

12 per cent annual interest would hurt customers who use the credit card as a convenience.

Ralph Constock, president of the First Security Bank of Idaho, cited the case of a Seattle bank which said unless the rates were raised to 18 per cent was "now seriously considering getting out of the credit card game."

Henry Pharris, representing Twin Falls in Jerome and Gooding, noted that on a $100 transaction spread out over a year, the store would assess $8.30 in charges, but that the same account would cost the store over $9 in the same year for the costs of billing, higher interest rates, and time involved.

Court Backs One Vote Law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday its "one-man, one vote" doctrine applies to the election of all public officials.

In a 5-3 decision, the court ruled that the doctrine must be applied in connection with election of trustees of a junior college district in the Kansas City, Mo., area.

While the office of junior college trustee differs in certain respects from those offices considered in prior cases, it is exactly the same in one crucial factor—the officials are elected by popular vote," said the opinion written by Justice Hugo L. Black.

He said there was no valid reason for changing the doctrine. "We are not in the 'legislative' officers, in elections of 'administrative' officers."

Dissenting were Chief Justice Warren R. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart.

The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by a group of Kansas City residents who complained that the organization of Kansas City Metropolitan Junior College District discriminates against Kansas City because it is represented by only three of the six trustees although its school population ranged from 59 to 84 per cent of the total.

quintuplets exercising the prerogative of all newborn babies, howled lustily throughout their first day of life Wednesday, delighting doctors concerned with breathing problems connected with premature births.

The five children were born six weeks early Tuesday night to Mrs. Margaret Klonski, Far Hills, N.J., who had taken fertility drugs to overcome ovulation problems.

Mrs. Klonski, 27, had also taken the drug Pergonal before the birth of her other children, a 4 1/2 year-old daughter and an 18-month-old son. She and her salesman husband, William, 38, had been warned to expect triplets and possibly quadruplets.

Principal At Gooding Says Support Lags

GOODING — The high school principal here has quit and in doing so called conditions where he was working "educationally unsound and in some cases both physically unsafe and legally incriminating."

Ray M. Hall submitted his resignation, effective immediately, to the school board. It was learned Wednesday that Mr. Hall is now in Utah looking for another position in education.

He came to Gooding last fall from Provo, Utah.

Mr. Hall's complete statement to the Times-News read: "Some conditions have existed in Gooding High School which I believe educationally unsound and in some cases both physically unsafe and legally incriminating. I have been concerned and have tried to bring about changes. The board recently adopted guidelines which I felt would be a step in the right direction."

"When I tried to implement these guidelines, however, I met resistance on the part of some teachers and what I felt to be a lack of support on the part of the superintendent. Although he (the superintendent) voiced support he wanted to compromise and mediate meaningful changes out of existence."

"My family and I have enjoyed Gooding and appreciate the friendship of the people. I regret to leave and am sorry that I have not been able to complete what I feel is needed."

He ended by saying, "I want the people to know I did not fly off the handle and resign on a whim. I felt helpless to change conditions for which I could no longer in good conscience accept responsibility."

Deo Keller, the district superintendent, was contacted, and he said, "Mr. Hall's resignation was submitted to and accepted by the board. He quit for personal reasons. Applications are now being taken for the position."

He said he and Eugene Gibbons, grade school principal, and Louis Durfee, junior high school principal, would assume the duties of high school principal until school lets out this spring.

Jerome Farmer Elected To Head Area GAA Group

JAKE REICHHARD, a Jerome area farmer, has been elected president of the South Central Idaho Community Action Agency, in a recent election of the board of directors.

Mr. Reichhard, a member of the board for "about a year," will serve as president of the agency. He is also elected by the directors on board meetings, and will, as president, be responsible for the administration of business affairs of the agency.

Lost

RECKINGEN, Switzerland (UPI) — Rescue workers today dug the bodies of two small boys and an army of mice from the snow of Tuesday's avalanche, bringing to 17 the death toll from the disaster.

Thirteen other persons are missing and feared dead. In Lanslevillard, France, four survivors were dug from the snow Wednesday after being buried as long as 20 hours. The death toll from a slide there Tuesday stood at eight.

Vietnam Action Results In Loss

By WALTER WHITEHEAD
SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese forces suffered their heaviest losses in five weeks and American B-52s flew the most Vietnam raids in a week in action reported today.

The Stratofortresses dropped nearly 1,000 tons of bombs in the heaviest since Feb. 20, when the bombers flew eight missions. The bombers have spent most of the past week in Laos, where North Vietnamese troops have captured the Plain of Jars and are trucking in supplies at the heaviest rate of the Vietnam War.

The South Vietnamese losses involved 14 killed and 18 wounded in a clash with guerrillas in marshlands near Gieng Trom district town 45 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday.

Information received in Twin Falls Thursday indicates the 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefit payments signed into law by President Richard Nixon will provide little help to those who need it most, at least in Idaho.

Persons who receive Social Security benefits but who are also on state welfare, receiving monthly subsistence payments from the Department of Public Assistance, can expect only a $4 per month increase.

According to Jack Carlton, Twin Falls Social Security Office, who contacted agency officials in Boise, a 15 per cent increase for a person receiving $25 per month, or the minimum payment would amount to $30.

Dave Humphrey, Twin Falls County Director, Department of Public Assistance, said it is the policy generally of his state agency to reduce DPA checks in the amount of any income increase gained by the beneficiary. He said it is his understanding persons getting both Social Security and DPA checks will be able to keep "most" of the increase.

However, Mr. Carlton, who contacted his Boise office at the request of the Times-News, said he was told there would be a $4 "disregard" amount the DPA would not take into consideration in state check reduction.

Medical Opposition Heard Over Medicare Payments

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration has encountered opposition from the American Medical Association to its new plan to impose limits on the fees doctors and hospitals can collect for treating patients under Medicare.

The details of the plan were set off today by John G. Veneman, undersecretary of health, education and welfare (HEW), who announced it to the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday then hurried off to another meeting.

His departure drew fire from Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., who headed HEW in the Kennedy administration. He said he wanted to talk to "policy makers," not the "bureaucrats." Veneman left behind to answer questions.

Veneman carefully avoided calling the administration plan a "policy schedule" for doctors — although a controversial concept — but his plan amounted to that.

Under it, fees doctors collected for treating Medicare patients could be no more than the fees charged by 75 per cent of doctors in 1969 in that area for the same services. The fees would rise only when wages and prices and the physician's cost of doing business rise.

Dr. Gerald D. Dorman, president of the AMA, called the administration's plan unrealistic.

"Physicians are disturbed by threats of additional federal controls," he said.

"Burdening these busy doctors with more red tape and restricting payments to unrealistically low levels may drive them away from participating in Medicare and Medicaid," he said in a statement. "When the government will have discriminated against many people who need medical care."

Under the Medicare law, doctors are limited to "customary," "reasonable" or "prevailing" fees for the services they perform for the 19.5 million Americans over 65 who pay a $4 monthly fee for the health insurance part of Medicare. The hospitalization part of Medicare is paid for under Social Security taxes.

Social Security Benefit Increase Might Do Little To Aid Those Needing It Most

Mr. Carlton said in the event of more than the minimum payment the DPA will still disregard only the $4 and will reduce the state checks by all above this amount.

In the event there were three or four persons in the family getting both Social Security and DPA benefits, each individual would be getting $4 per month," he said.

Quints Howl Is Doctor Delight

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Klonski quintuplets, exercising the prerogative of all newborn babies, howled lustily throughout their first day of life Wednesday, delighting doctors concerned with breathing problems connected with premature births.

The five children were born six weeks early Tuesday night to Mrs. Margaret Klonski, Far Hills, N.J., who had taken fertility drugs to overcome ovulation problems.

Mrs. Klonski, 27, had also taken the drug Pergonal before the birth of her other children, a 4 1/2 year-old daughter and an 18-month-old son. She and her salesman husband, William, 38, had been warned to expect triplets and possibly quadruplets.

Pediatricians at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center expressed their pleasure at the fact the babies lungs were in such fine working order, indicating they had overcome early breathing problems.

EYES GOVERNORSHIP

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—George C. Wallace was expected to announce Thursday he will seek a new term as Alabama's governor — a move many see as the forerunner of another bid for presidency.

He said he and Eugene Gibbons, grade school principal, and Louis Durfee, junior high school principal, would assume the duties of high school principal until school lets out this spring.

Obenchain New Head Of Rotary

Dan Obenchain, of Robertson-Obenchain Insurance Agency, was elected Wednesday as president of the Twin Falls Rotary Club for the coming year.

Dick Irwin, Kimberly farmer, was named first vice president, and John Rossholt, attorney with the Twin Falls firm of Parry, Robertson, Daly and Larson, was named second vice president.

Named to the Board of Directors, in addition to Mr. Obenchain, Mr. Irwin and Mr. Rossholt, were Bob Harvey, Oleen Seamon and George Staudacher.

Private High School Costs Are Rising

By FREDERICK H. TRESEH
United Press International

With tuition, room and board at many of the better private secondary schools rising to the $4,000 a year range, such education is pricing itself out of the market for most of the middle class—even the upper middle.

The $25,000 to $30,000-a-year executive, himself possibly a product of a private school, has to think pretty hard about those prices, especially with his children's college education still ahead.

The recent fast-rise in tuition at private schools has tended to exclude them from students other than those whose families are very affluent or those of limited means who are attending on full scholarship because the institutions are seeking an economic and racial mix. Typically, the modest scholarship funds of the private schools have gone to academically promising students from low-income families.

Now, however, the nation's largest residential schools for boys and girls have come forward with a unique financial plan for the forgotten people in the middle income range.

Mount Herman and Northfield schools, the brother-sister institutions in East Northfield, Mass., are offering student loans with the principal sum payable over a 10-year period—after the student has finished college. Interest will be charged at the rate of 5 per cent annually during the college years and on the unpaid balance during the next 10 years.

Dr. Howard T. Jones, president of Northfield and Mount Herman schools, says a recent survey of 6,000 former students in the 35 to 45 age bracket showed that two-thirds were interested in sending their children to the schools but that half needed financial assistance. Jones concedes that in their zeal to help the disadvantaged, private schools overlooked the extent to which the sharp tuition rise was discouraging middle income families.

Announcement of the plan comes at a time when the cost picture of secondary and higher education in privately financed schools is not opening many new options. The news will be welcome to those parents who feel strongly about the value of private education.

THESE GIRLS ARE THE WINNERS of the Youth Citizenship Awards sponsored by the Twin Falls Soroptimist Club. The girls and the amount of the award given each are: from left, Kathy Pagonaga, Shoshone, $25; Shirley Meier, Buhl, $50, and Bonnie Jeanne Allene Twin Falls, $100. The awards are part of $18,500 in merit awards being distributed by the Soroptimist Federation of America, Inc. Miss Allene will now compete with other winners in the Rocky Mountain region and may go on to regional and final competition.

Food Stores To Feature Meat Buys

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food stores and supermarkets will spotlight a variety of meat and produce for weekend food shoppers.

Top featured meat items are ground beef, beef roasts and steaks, and pork chops. Broiler-fryers are also a good selection. Fish buys to look for are fish sticks and portions, canned tuna, and Maine sardines.

Fresh vegetables in best supply include carrots, lettuce, onions, potatoes, and tomatoes. Fresh fruit values are apples, grapefruit, and oranges. Other foods on plentiful lists for February are canned tomatoes and tomato products and canned and frozen corn.

New Victim

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The matchmaker went out of business here Wednesday, a victim of the computer age.

Miss Eleanor S. Armbruster, who brought people together through her Helen Leeds Introduction Service of Pennsylvania, Inc., filed a bankruptcy suit in federal court.

She said the personalized service which has played Cupid for 20 years can no longer operate profitably because almost everyone is seeking mates through the new computer dating systems.

T.F. Soroptimist Winners For Citizenship Announced

Bonnie Jeanne Allene of Twin Falls has been given $100 as the top award in the Twin Falls Soroptimist Club's annual Youth Citizenship Award contest.

The award was presented at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Rogerson.

Shirley Meier of Buhl was given $50 for second place and Kathy Pagonaga of Shoshone was third and got $25.

Local judges for the competition were George Staudaher, vice principal of the Twin Falls school district; Dr. Harold Nye of the Twin Falls Methodist Church, and Dr. Bruce Harrison of the College of Southern Idaho.

Ruth Carter, president of the Soroptimist Club, said the competition was "very keen and well supported by all high schools in the west end of Magic Valley."

Citizenship and points include student activities, service, dependability, leadership and the student's aims and purposes.

More than $18,500 is being distributed by Soroptimist Federation of America Inc. to citizenship contest winners. Miss Allene will now compete with clubs in the Rocky Mountain region and the winner there will go to national competition.

The finalist award is worth $1,500 and the regional award, $1,000.

Open House Featuring History, Belief Of Mormon Church Slated At Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY — An open house featuring a movie from the New York world fair, "In This Holy Place," will be shown at the Sun Valley Ward of the LDS Church Sunday and Monday from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Sun Valley chapel is located on the Sun Valley road between Ketchum and Sun Valley and the public is invited, according to Don Aslett, branch president.

He said there will also be displays and an information center similar to those used at the world fair.

"As questions concerning the Mormon Church have been in the national news lately, I feel this is an important event," he said.

Missionaries from the Portland area will be present to explain the illuminated paintings on "transcript" which illustrate the history of the church. The welfare program of the church will also be explained through exhibit media, along with other exhibits depicting the Mormon cultural, recreational and character building program.

High School Bid Opening Is Scheduled

Plans for the remodeling project at Twin Falls High School are ready for bids, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ernest Ragland.

The trustees have issued a bid call for the project, with bids to be opened on March 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the school administration office.

The project plans call for a start of construction within 30 days after awarding of the contract, with completion scheduled by mid-August, Dr. Ragland said.

Vatican Opposes Test Tube Baby

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A Vatican spokesman said Wednesday the Catholic Church opposes the principle of creating life in a test tube but declined further comment about such an experiment being planned with a couple in London.

South's short-lived Republic of South American States, Colombia, Ecuador and Venezuela retained the colors in their flags.

Durable Peace

President Nixon has made another courageous and persuasive bid to Soviet Russia to give up its rigid hostility of the past quarter of a century and move with the United States into a new era of peaceful negotiation.

And the reaction from Moscow was sour as it usually has been. Tass, official Russian news agency, commented the aims of U.S. policy remain unchanged.

It is devoutly to be hoped that Russian leaders will give the President's "State of the World" message some sober second thoughts and weigh their own self-interest in the scales of hot or cold war and peace.

However, American foreign policy cannot turn on wishful thinking or mere hope. We must maintain a posture of defense that demands respect as the first of our national priorities.

There are youthful idealists, so-called "liberals" in high places, and angry blacks pushing for immediate and, in some instances, unreasonable revision of the nation's priorities. And there is a handful of anarchistic trouble-makers taking advantage of dissent and disappointment wherever they find it to disrupt the orderly processes of government.

President Nixon explicitly stated he does not propose a retreat from the world as it is and stressed we will not hesitate to furnish assistance "where it makes a real difference and is considered in our interest."

"America cannot live in isolation if it expects to live in peace," he said.

In this realistic statement and the implication that the United States will not leave the rest of the world to be overrun by Soviet Russia, Tass professed to see military force as the basis of American foreign policy. Nothing could be further from the truth.

But so long as the Communists repeatedly prove that they respect only force, the United States must keep its powder dry while it continues its repeated bids for peaceful approaches to the problems that beset the world.

"Ship Jumper" Bills Long Stalled

WASHINGTON — The Senate has an unusual investigation underway on its hands.

Some six months ago the Ethics Committee announced a probe of a deluge of more than 815 "ship jumper" bills that had been dumped on the Immigration subcommittee. But so far, nothing has happened. Also, there is no indication when it will.

The subcommittee staff, as directed, had compiled a lot of information. But it's under lock and key awaiting public airing by the five-member subcommittee.

Senator John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, says emphatically there will be a thorough investigation of what was behind the remarkable flood of nearly a thousand "ship jumper" bills introduced in behalf of illegal aliens — many of them facing deportation.

Stennis cites the fact that he has been extremely busy — a well-justified claim on which he cannot be faulted.

But he does not explain why one of the other committeemen could not conduct the long-stalled probe until he finds the time to preside. There is nothing in the Senate rules barring that.

Further, at least one committeeman — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. — has done virtually nothing in Congress since his unsuccessful "peacenik" scramble for the White House in 1968. He attends few committee meetings and is rarely in the Senate chamber. He devotes himself chiefly to well-paid lectures, poetry reading and grinding out magazine articles and books.

Stennis is unquestionably one of the busiest men in the Senate. In addition to heading the Ethics Committee, the veteran Mississippi legislator is chairman of the Armed Services Committee and a ranking member of two other major committees — Appropriations and Aeronautical and Space Sciences. All of those committees handle among the most important measures considered by Congress, and membership on them consumes much time.

For example, as chairman of the Armed Services Committee and a ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, Stennis was floor leader for the anti-ballistic missile forces in the protracted fight over that issue last fall. Lately, he has been in the forefront of the week-long battle to write amendments (which he sponsored) into the Elementary and Secondary Education Act requiring equal enforcement of school desegregation and barring busing of students.

These are vital issues of far-reaching moment. But in the meanwhile the investigation of the hundreds of "ship jumper" bills is languishing. Presumably, it will eventually take place.

An estimated $2 million was paid by Asiatika, Greece, Arabs and others who entered the U.S. illegally to have "ship jumper" bills introduced to prevent them from being deported.

That's the opinion of Sen. John Williams, R-Del., whose denunciation of this practice led to the Ethics Committee's probe. He cited reports that some senators claimed they know nothing about such measures that bore their names; also that sizable sums were paid for these bills.

According to some accounts, as much as $2,500 was paid for such legislation.

For an alien facing deportation, that might not appear excessive. The mere introduction of such a bill automatically caused the Immigration Bureau to defer deportation proceedings for a year. In a large number of cases, the individuals involved are "ship jumpers" — hence the designation "ship jumper" bills submitted in their behalf.

The Senate Immigration Subcommittee, which has jurisdiction over "ship jumper" measures, is headed by Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., who is also chairman of the Judiciary Committee, of which the subcommittee is a part.

With two exceptions, every one of the eight-member subcommittee sponsored some of these bills. The exceptions are Sens. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Rackets Investigating Committee, and Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

One subcommitteeman, Philip Harl, D-Mich., a leading "peacenik" and militant liberal, is one of the biggest sponsors of this type of legislation. Thirty-three of these bills carry his name — eight in behalf of Orientals, 25 for other illegal aliens.

Other significant facts uncovered by Ethics Committee staff probes:

Foremost among the sponsors of these measures are leading "peaceniks" and liberals.

Also uppermost among such sponsors are senators from Midwestern and inland states — which presumably have very little interest in such legislation.

The Immigration subcommittee has held no hearings on any of the more than 815 "ship jumper" bills — 98 in behalf of Asiatika, 637 for Greeks, Arabs, Latins and other illegal aliens. The subcommittee's inactivity indicates clearly that the sole purpose of this legislation was to stall deportation proceedings.

Lobbyists, lawyers, senatorial assistants and others played key roles in the introduction of these measures. In a large majority of instances they were introduced in the Immigration subcommittee without the knowledge of the senators whose names they carried.

Record Shows Chic Yokels

WASHINGTON — Let the record show that the chic yokels of liberal politics, the hells of academe and the Beautiful People have reacted with their wonted tediousness to Vice President Agnew's attack on the "open admission" theory of higher education.

One gathers from the glandular criticism of these elegant mountebanks that Agnew is at least a Fascist and possibly a wife-beater for suggesting that attendance at universities should be determined by an applicant's aptitude. The Vice President's opponents pose as protectors of the oppressed by demanding quotas for racial and ethnic minorities, and never mind whether the kids can add two and two and come up with four.

Curiously, however, there has been no rebuttal to that portion of Agnew's Chicago speech which warned of a more dangerous effect of the quota system. This is what Agnew called the "vested interest" of certain educators in seeing to it that those admitted under the quota system "successfully complete their studies."

Yet it is a point parents should consider with care. Some educators, especially those who poll from the ivory towers of colleges and universities, have shown a dogged unwilling-ness in the past to admit their mistakes. They still plump for the permissive and indulgent policies which have made so many campuses anarchic jungles. Given "open admission," they are unlikely to flunk the poor uneducated sprout who finds higher education an arduous commodity in which he is a befuddled stranger.

Yet, academic toughness has always been presumed to be the raison d'être of the college and the university. Scholarships, higher education is a privilege, not a civil right. Its function is not to operate classes in remedial reading or third-grade spelling, but to offer new challenges to students who credentials show—or at least suggest—they are ready for those challenges.

The phrase "open admission" has a nice egalitarian tone, suitable for rolling about the tongue in a democratic society. It makes some people feel noble. Possibly, this is why the City University of New York will begin open admissions next September, and why many schools of "higher education" are making allowances for minority applicants who are not up to scholastic snuff.

But "open admission" is also a degrading and patronizing phrase. It looks down its nose at the Negro. It questions his intelligence rather than the inadequacies of his earlier education. It begs the real issue, which is that somewhere along the line, in elementary or high school, the Negro pupil should have been given the help he needed.

He didn't get this help because in too many big cities the Negro child is condemned by his parents' poverty and plain lousiness. In recent years, especially in New York and Washington, the deficiencies of public high schools have been aggravated by ridiculous and violent attempts by both administrators and a minority of militant students to make them beautifully black instead of pragmatic institutions of learning.

There is nothing wrong in a Negro student learning Swahili and studying black culture. He has a right to poor last year. But proficiency in such subjects does not prepare him for matriculation even in the "open admission" colleges. After all, the student is expected to make a living in a world where a knowledge of algebra, chemistry, English Lit. or simple arithmetic is still considered useful.

ROWLAND EVANS

HHH And Harris

WASHINGTON — Having deftly engineered the exit of Sen. Fred Harris as Democratic National Chairman, the political operatives of Hubert H. Humphrey immediately began seeking a successor who would bear the slightest similarity to the departed party leader.

Although the timing of Harris' resignation was a surprise to the Humphrey men, they had been quietly pushing for him to go and were certain that he would, sooner or later. Thus, they were promptly alerted by phone last week to testing the availability of possible replacements.

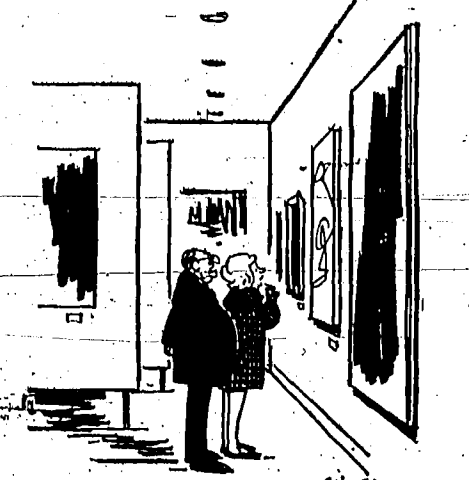

Those calls revealed what the Humphreyites want as National Chairman. Unlike Harris, he would (1) have had full time to the party job, (2) be essentially a technician rather than a policy-maker.

Thus, one of the first calls went to one Lawrence Lawrence O'Brien, the party's universally respected professional and National Chairman during the 1968 campaign. O'Brien, who has just opened his own public relations firm in New York, was noncommittal and probably would return to the chairmanship only if absolutely convinced that there was no alternative choice.

If O'Brien turns down the offer, however, the Humphrey camp is not committed to a big name and, indeed, is positively interested in a faceless, formless man with no name.

Possibly, this is why the City University of New York will begin open admissions next September, and why many schools of "higher education" are making allowances for minority applicants who are not up to scholastic snuff.

MR. SPECTATOR

Pity The Presidents

Presidents in the last half of the 20th Century seldom have time for a relaxing dinner at home. When on vacation about the only difference in the daily schedule is the change of scenery.

Probably the last thing even an avid reader in the White House has time for these days is the opportunity to settle down with a good book.

Which is what makes the continuing tradition by the American Booksellers Association of providing large numbers of books to the Presidential library seem a bit outdated. Legend has it the practice started when Herbert Hoover went searching for a book in the White House on a quiet evening and couldn't find one.

The 250 contemporary volumes Mr. Nixon has received from the association bring the library complement to 2,600 books. Unless staff members or others with access to the White House make use of the library, this is probably the greatest collection of unread books in the nation.

Since working space in the executive office seems to have become such a scarce item even the vice president has to move out, perhaps the library should be donated to a school or some other institution where the volumes would be well-used. With the proviso, of course, that the President could borrow one now and then between world or domestic crises.

And Mr. Spectator says—"so be it."

STATUS SYMBOL?

While most persons usually are so impressed they drool every time they see one of those colorful magazine advertisements which show a busy executive seated affluently behind his large desk, a few must wonder why it is that he seems to require two fountain pens in his smug desk set.

Wouldn't one be enough, or can this particular executive write with both hands simultaneously? Or are two pens a status symbol? The real answer may never be revealed. It is unlikely that any executive would ever dare admit that one pen contains blue ink for the signing of his name, the other red ink for the making out of the company's financial statement. Perish the thought!

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Psychiatrists have contended for years that men are better than women at solving problems. But they have discovered that women's problem-solving aptitude picks up when there are men around.

Women raised their score from 60 per cent to 83 per cent when tested in a mixed group. Women, however, will be surprised that anyone is puzzled over so simple a matter.

They solve problems best when men are around because that's where the most problems are.

TO BE POOR

It takes $6,567 per year just to be poor.

That's what the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics found in its survey of 39 metropolitan areas early last year. Already a man with a wife and two children who makes $3 an hour in a 40-hour week has become poorer still.

So when people at the low end of the wage scale in America complain about our national spending priorities, as opposed to their personal financial condition, one can see some justification.

Even the fellow in the middle, who at $10,077 per year is considered on a "moderate" standard of living, might well complain. If he earns $14,589 and lives "well," perhaps there is less reason for being concerned . . . but he doesn't dare have more than two children, or he'll slip back.

We can all take heart, however. Those pioneering Americans in Anchorage, Alaska need at least $19,035 to live well. Even the Aurora Borealis, at those prices, isn't worth a ticket.

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

Have four black Labrador puppies to give away. Were born in October. Call (Hansen) anytime after 7:30 p.m. The number is 423-5025.

We have one male, Alaska Huskie (two years old) and three smaller dogs to give away. Please call 829-5817 in Hazelton.

Apollo 13 Astronauts Tell Plans For Walk In "Hills"

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 13 Astronaut Fred W. Haise said today that James E. Lovell plan to explore a hilly region of the moon in April, collect valuable sub-surface samples and possibly climb a mound 250 to 400 feet high.

Haise, Lovell and Thomas K. Mattingly are scheduled to get out on the nation's third moon surface expedition April 11.

Haise discussed his surface activities at a moonport news conference. He said the mound, called Cone Crater, is one of more of the countryside that he and Lovell are scheduled to explore during two moonwalks.

The rim of cone crater stands 250 to 400 feet above the surrounding land.

The crater itself is 150 feet deep and 600 feet wide. At its base is a layer of rock apparently gouged out from the moon's crust by the meteoroid that formed the crater.

"We hope to get to at least the base of cone crater," Haise said. "It would certainly be of interest to get up to the rim. Just pictures of that would be of extreme interest and, of course, the high ground would give you a magnificent panoramic view."

"You could see a good deal more of the countryside than you could see from walking ground (on the lower terrain)," Haise said.

While Haise talked to newsmen, project officials postponed the conclusion of an important flight readiness test. The exercise will be completed Thursday.

Scientist Says U.S. Can't Ignore Radiation Pollution

DENVER (UPI)—A member of a group of scientists concerned with environmental problems said Tuesday the United States could not afford to dismiss the problems posed by radiation pollution.

Dr. Edward A. Martell, a Boulder, Colo., scientist and spokesman for the Colorado Committee on Environmental Information (CCSI) said during a news conference that the country was in "a grace period."

Martell was involved in the release of a report earlier this month that plutonium contamination had been found within several miles of the Dow Chemical Co. operations at Rocky Flats. Dow operates the defense plant under contract with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The Boulder scientist argued that Americans couldn't "afford to dismiss the problem until we're in trouble."

The release of the report began a storm of controversy in the state with claims and denial being made about the findings.

Martell said a conservative view of the committee findings at the Rocky Flats plant indicated that radioactive plutonium contamination was approaching or had reached unacceptable levels.

The scientist headed a study group which took the soil samples from around the plant, some 20 miles northwest of Denver.

The AEC has maintained that no harmful amounts of plutonium have been released from Rocky Flats.

The plant was the site of a $50 million fire last May 11 which temporarily halted nuclear weapons production in the U.S. Members of the CCSI have continually questioned whether harmful amounts of plutonium were released from the plant during that blaze.

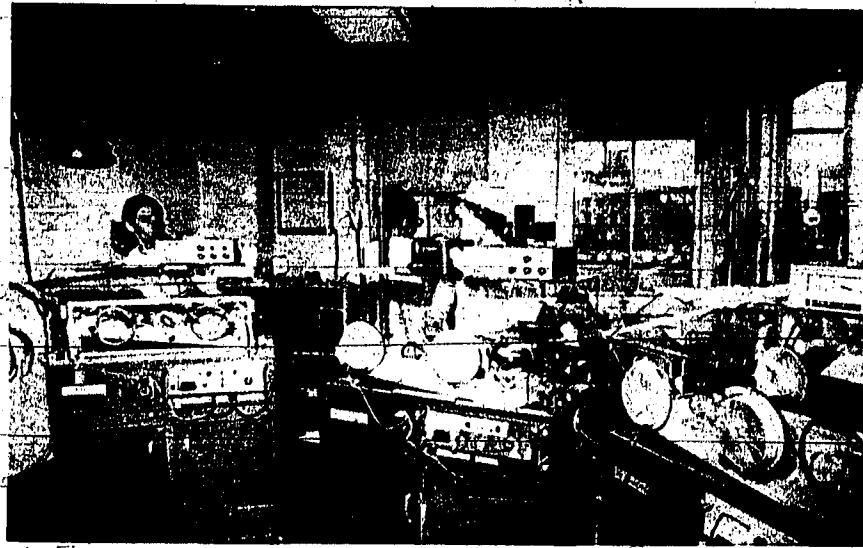

Martell said Tuesday that the most likely source of the radiation found in the soil samples was the May fire.

The AEC however, contends that no plutonium was released during the blaze, that it came from a fire in 1957.

If inhaled, plutonium particles can cause cancer. Scientists disagree on the amount needed to cause permanent damage.

Martell charged that even AEC personnel disagree on what is a dangerous level of plutonium. One study, he said, was at the Bio-Medical Division of the AEC and has a how'n "some persuasive arguments which indicate that these (AEC) standards are, as much as 100 times too permissive when applied to plutonium."

The scientist said he and others effort to continue studies of the problem.

Man Said On Threshold Of Controlling Weather

MIAMI (UPI)—Man, who for years has talked about the weather, is on the threshold of being able to do something about it, the director of the National Hurricane Center said Tuesday.

Within five years, scientists should be able to tame a vicious hurricane as it bears down on a populated coastline, said Dr. Robert Simpson. Within a decade, he added, there could be control over snowstorms and droughts.

"I think we have within our grasp the ability to begin to modify some kinds of weather, including heavy snowstorms," Simpson said.

He based his predictions on results of experiments in "seeding" hurricanes as well as clouds with silver iodide. The effect of the iodide crystals on a hurricane is to produce ice high in the storm, robbing it at least temporarily of its energy-producing heat and upsetting the delicate balance of its forces.

Senate Cuts Money From Major Bills

By PAUL M. QUINN BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Senate Wednesday, under suspension of the rules, passed and sent to the House two major appropriations bills after slashing some $24,181 from them by amendments.

A proposal to cut the joint Finance Appropriations Committee, failed, but notice of reconsideration on that supplemental appropriation bill was given by Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene.

The Senate action in amending the two other bills put the upper chamber on a direct collision course with the House.

The appropriations trimmed were those for the state penitentiary and the department of public health.

The Senate voted 27-7 in passing the public health bill and 28-6 in favor of the amended penitentiary appropriation. A vote of 19-11 tied the amended version of the appropriations measure for public assistance.

More trimming was due Thursday and the senate leadership was waiting to see what would happen when the appropriations bill in its altered form, hit the House.

Indications were strong that the House would refuse to accept the amended bills, probably throwing the legislature into extra days while a conference committee between the two chambers attempts to reach an agreement.

The first of the supplemental appropriations measures cut during an afternoon session in the committee of the whole was the bill for public health.

The Senate trimmed $33,031 from that agency, putting the total appropriation figure at $258,064 instead of the committee's recommendation of $1,300,000. The department of public health had asked $1,500,000 at the start of the session.

The penitentiary appropriations bill was amended to cut $182,250. The bill, as it went to the House, would give the prison $407,750 instead of the committee's recommendation of $589,000. The penitentiary had sought $1,263,362.

The public health bill was cut up so mental retardation would receive $421,000 instead of $550,000; mental health $412,500 instead of $550,000; state hospitals North and South $112,500 instead of $150,000; public health $37,500 instead of $50,000 and the health lab $29,703 instead of $37,724.

The vote in favor of trimming that appropriation was 20-13 in committee of the whole.

Mining Bill Loses By Senate Vote

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Senate, by a 19-21 vote, today killed in the committee of the whole a bill that would give the state stringent regulations on all types of open pit mining.

The bill died when the upper chamber approved an amendment to the proposal that struck the enacting clause.

The Senate in placing other amendments on the bill earlier, said, "If we are sincere and we want to do something to protect these areas we have to do something now."

He said that two months of negotiation had resulted in his bill which was patterned after the one in the state of Washington.

"If you kill this bill there is no more time this session to act on it," Andrus was heard to say. "The amendment in the enacting clause came from Sen. Richard Ilgh, R-Twin Falls."

The amendment that Andrus placed in the bill would have exempted the phosphate industry from provisions in the act until July 1, 1973 and would have given relief to sand and gravel pits less than 150 acres in size.

TEACHERS STILL STRIKE LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—National and state union officials Wednesday exhorted 10,000 Kentucky public school teachers to continue their strike until their demands for increased salaries were met. The teachers vowed they would.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, at the urging of two of its flying members, voted Wednesday to trim one penny from a proposed seven cent a gallon tax on general aviation airplane fuel.

Camper Bill Amended In House Vote

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho House voted 34-35 Wednesday to amend a bill that would have allowed county assessors to tax mounted equipment on vehicles to delete the portion relating to camper units.

The amendment was steered through by Rep. Robert Frankenson, D-Coeur d'Alene.

Opposing the amendment, Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, said the measure was designed to achieve equity.

He said under present law county assessors are required to tax travelers trailers but not campers.

Dinner Held By Malta Scouts

MALTA—Clarence Barrett and Brent Udy were speakers at the annual banquet and court of honor for Boy Scout Troop 25, sponsored by the Malta LDS Ward.

Mr. Udy, an Eagle Scout, told the girls leading to earning the Eagle rank. He noted a merit badge area is a curriculum developed for boys to help them acquire knowledge, skills and attitudes which prepare them for their roles in adult life.

It was noted 1970 is the 60th anniversary of Scouting. Scoutmaster Roger C. Neddco conducted the court of honor with rank advancements made for tenderfoot and second class.

Conservation Groups Ask Samuelson To Resign And 'Restore Dignity To State'

BOISE (UPI)—Eight conservation organizations have urged Gov. Don Samuelson in an open letter to resign and thereby "restore dignity to state government in Idaho."

In the open letter and joint news release, they said his resignation "would provide a constructive end" to his term in office and would be a "service to the state."

Signing the letter were the Idaho Alpine Club, Greater Sawtooth Preservation Council, North Idaho Wilderness Committee, Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs, Hells Canyon Preservation Council, Twin Buttes Shooting Club, Sawtooth Conservation Council. The letter was written on the letterhead of the Idaho Environmental Council.

Critics of Samuelson's comments to a news conference last week, the letter said.

"On Feb. 21, 1970 you indicated that you would veto the proposed state kindergarten bill. Your absurd explanation of your position was that you wouldn't base tax-supported kindergartens 'if some of the preservationists would let us develop our resources and build a base that would support them.' You also stated that kindergartens will get a lower priority than vocational education as long as conservationists 'lock up our resources.'

"Your statement was a crude attempt to hide your hostility to education by blaming it on the conservationists of Idaho. It was a blatant discredit to the office of governor."

"Tell us of the strange system of priorities that downgrades kindergarten education because Idahoans are trying to save some of the state from your strip-mining and dredging supporters."

"Tell us how the people of Idaho can ever convince you that a good education for our children and a clean world for them to live in are important."

"Tell us why you would have us give away our matches environment for the dubious prosperity in Wallace and Kellogg in Coahll and Sibbille, or in Triumph and Gilmore. Tell us what the Yankee Ford dredge is doing for our tax base."

Law Training Set For U. Of I. On March 11

MOSCOW (UPI)—The University of Idaho announced today it will hold a training institute for local law enforcement administrators March 11-13.

Glenn W. Nichols, assistant director of the university's bureau of public affairs research, said, "The program is designed to help the sheriff and the police chief to deal more effectively with a number of problems which they face as local law enforcement administrators."

Nichols said the institute will cover such topics as budgeting, personnel administration, record management, electronic data processing, and other administrative devices and techniques of concern to local law officers.

Truck Driver Serves Church As Sunday School Teacher

By DORIS MARTIN
Granville, Ohio

It was 3 a.m. Jim Martin was driving his long-haul truck on the turnpike near Plymorth, Indiana when he heard the screech of a train whistle. At almost the very same instant, he saw the car.

It was straddling the railroad tracks on the embankment running parallel to the turnpike.

Doris Martin

Somehow the car had left the road and whirled up onto the embankment and now was stalled.

Jim hit his brakes. He jumped out of his cab and rushed up to find a woman lying on the ground, bleeding near the track.

In the car he saw another woman and a child. A man was trying frantically to push the car off the tracks. Already the train was in view.

Yelling a warning, Jim dashed to the car. He and another man pulled the woman and child out of the car. Then Jim moved the injured woman away from the tracks.

All of them were only a few feet from the tracks when the 3-car freight train crashed into the auto, demolishing it, and the freight cars began tumbling end over end off the tracks.

As soon as he could, Jim ran to the two men in the engine and then to the two men in the engine.

He hustened down the embankment, flagged a motorist, and sent him for help. Then he hurried back and gave first aid to the injured woman. He quieted the fears of the others.

When the police and ambulance arrived, Jim helped direct the cars full of curiosity-seekers clogging the turnpike. An unusual night in the life of a long-haul driver? Yes. But not that unusual.

Emergencies are always around the next curve for the men who make their livings on the highway. They learn to live with crisis in mind.

Just what, though, is this breed of man really like? Jim Martin, for instance.

Jim lives in the small town of Granville, Ohio. He owns the tractor which pulls a 50-foot trailer and he leases this to his boss.

He drives as far east as New England and as far west as Kansas. In a 10-hour day he covers about 450 miles, with time out for food and a couple of coffee breaks.

Jim is a big man, over six feet tall and weighs 270 pounds. But he's gentle and quiet. He wanted to be an over-the-road driver from the time he was 16.

When he's home between trips, he's a member of the town's volunteer fire department and a part-time policeman. He belongs to the Cox United Methodist Church, where his wife teaches fourth grade Sunday school and where both give witness. It is Jim's firm belief that Jesus Christ is the Companion who rides with him every day.

Jim may leave with the sun in the sky, but he never knows what the weather will be like 100 miles away. He left town in his trailer one sunny Thursday winter morning a couple of years ago and a few hours later was driving through a blizzard with 70-mile-an-hour winds. It paralyzed the whole Midwest.

When he came home the following Saturday, all he would tell anyone, even his family, was that he had been stranded on the road with hundreds of other motorists and truck drivers.

But some of the other drivers divulged what really went on. Jim had collected 10 men and led them through hip-high snow for two miles until they came upon a motel. There they found some sleighs which they brought back to the stranded people.

The women and children drove the sleighs back to the motel. The men waded back through the snow. Jim got things organized and brought some of the men back with him to collect food from trucks to feed everyone.

Jim got another group out to patrol the stranded cars and trucks, to prevent looting and then managed somehow to get a radio call through for a helicopter to come over and drop some badly needed medicine.

A doctor among the stranded motorists needed the medicine for a child with a bad ear infection and for several men with bad hearts. There were also eight pregnant women among the snowbound. Then Jim took his turn in the anti-looting patrol.

The National Trucking Association named Jim "Driver of the Year" for 1967. The records showed that he had driven 800,000 miles without so much as a scratched fender.

When he was congratulated and someone called him a hero, Jim just grinned and said he wasn't, he just couldn't possibly drive on when he saw anyone in trouble.

"Our Lord died to give us a new life later but a real life here, now," Jim said. "And a real life would be very empty without practicing His concern for others."

It's taken awhile for others to know the kind of man Jim is. But I've known it a long time. That's why I married him.

NOV 11 — Betty Head, Illinois housewife, tells the inspiring yet amusing story of the rooster that crowed thrice. Some called it a minor miracle.

Liquor Police In Soft Dress

BOISE (UPI) — Liquor law investigators became the first state law enforcement officials to adopt the "soft dress" code when they were issued new uniforms to replace the brown uniforms worn previously.

Richard L. Cade, Boise, director of the Liquor Law Enforcement Division, said the new uniforms are to be worn with coordinating trousers. He said the hangers have an emblem over the left pocket identifying the state agency.

Albion Plans Old Fashioned Fourth Of July Celebration

ALBION — An "old fashioned" Fourth of July celebration is planned in Albion in conjunction with the summer-long "100 Years of Progress" in Cassia county marking the centennial observance of the setting of this area.

Keith Amende, Albion civic leader, has been named chairman for the event. In the early days Albion used to host a gala July 4 celebration and it was decided at a planning meeting that his tradition should be revived for at least one year and there is some thought of having the event on a yearly basis.

Among the events being planned are a fireworks display and games, street dances, production of a melodrama, concession and game booths, skydivers and old-time music.

GIVE YOUR HUSBAND A CHOP RIGHT IN THE MOUTH

If your husbands haven't been paying you much attention lately, our solution is a chop right in the mouth. We realize its the husbands that are paying for most of the groceries but well, so we're not suggesting anything extreme, such as a left jab or judo, but on the other hand, if smoked pork chops don't work... we can supply the Hai Karate.

Court Clears Way For Pay Television

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court cleared the way Tuesday for establishment of the nation's first permanent pay-television system by leaving stand an appellate court ruling allowing the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to license such operations.

Pay television, strongly opposed by many cable owners, has never been offered on a nationwide basis. But the Seattle Radio Corp., which conducted an experiment with pay-TV during the mid-1950's in Hartford, Conn., hailed the Supreme Court's action as "a victory for freedom of choice for the TV-viewing public."

An FCC spokesman said the regulatory agency had received no applications for permission to begin pay-television operations immediately and that it would be at least several months before the commission agreed on the technical requirements pay-TV stations will have to meet.

Under pay/television, a viewer pays a fee for any program he chooses to watch.

Miss Davidson, Tate Marry

HAGERMAN — The United Methodist Church was the setting for the Valentine's Day wedding of Linda Davidson and George R. Tate, Idaho Falls. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Davidson, Hagerman, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sam Daniels, Gooding, and the late Mr. Sam Tate, Hagerman.

The nuptial vows were repeated before a background of lighted tapers in wrought iron candelabra and arrangements of pink and white gladioli. Bows of hot pink velvet centered with tiny white wedding bells marked the pews and carried out the bride's colors.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Woodrow Harris. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Warren Berry, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Cheryl Sandy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with a chapel train, molded bodice with a scooped neckline and lily point sleeves. Tiny white flowers trimmed the neckline, front of the bodice and the train and were accented with iridescent sequins and pearls.

Her bouffant shoulder-length veil of organza illusion was held by braid and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white baby chrysanthemums with white satin ribbon streamers.

Her bridesmaids, Salt Lake City, formerly of Hagerman, were Helen Wood, Leta Johnson, and her maid of honor, Bridenmaids were Lana Butler, Karen Sten-er, Carol Jensen and Gwen He-ward, all Salt Lake City.

Bernard Gogiochea, Shoshone, was best man. Ushers were Larry Davidson, brother of the bride, and Allen Tate, brother of the bridegroom. Larry Christopherson, Pocatello, and Rod Hyman, Idaho Falls.

Kenny and Steven Lanni, candle lighters, and Danny Lanni, ringbearer, are nephews of the bridegroom. Carol Cromwell, Kuna, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall after the ceremony. The wedding party greeted guests before a background of white bells tied with hot pink velvet ribbons held by white doves. Mrs. Dale Slane presided at the guest book. Gifts were arranged by Chris Slane and Carla Behrens, assisted by Jeff Cromwell and Beverly Cromwell, Kuna, cousins of the bride.

The reception table was covered with white and featured a floor-length organza skirt accented with bows of hot pink velvet centered with burgundy velvet flowers. The quartet tables were covered with lace and centered with a fern and a single burgundy rose.

The three-tiered wedding cake centered the reception table and was decorated with tiny sugar hearts and bells. A miniature bride and bridegroom, surrounded with white ribbons and white blossoms, topped the cake. Green fern surrounded the cake at the base. A heart-shaped cake trimmed with pink roses and bearing the couple's names and pink candles in crystal holders flanked the wedding cake. The cakes were prepared by Mrs. Sylvan Clark.

Mrs. Florence Matthews, Bliss, and Mrs. Carl Shanahan, Boise, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Richard Cromwell, Kuna, acted as the punch service and Mrs. Jess Davis, Kuna, poured coffee. Both women are aunts of the bride.

Women of the Methodist Church assisted with the reception. The couple took a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas. Friends of the young couple prepared a honeymoon convertible equipped with two-hand steering and a string of tin cans out of a wheelbarrow for their trip through Hagerman prior to their leaving for Las Vegas.

The newlyweds will reside in Idaho Falls, where the bridegroom is manager of the Ben Franklin store.

The bride was fettered to a pre-nuptial kitchen shower by Miss Miller at her parents' home in Hagerman and at a lingerie shower by her attendants at their apartment in Salt Lake City.

Miss McCandless Is Homemaker At Filer School

FILER — Kathy McCandless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McCandless, has been awarded the Filer High School 1970 Betty Crocker American Homemaker of Tomorrow award.

Miss McCandless, a senior, was presented with a Homemaker of Tomorrow silver award charm and her test paper which has been entered in competition for state and national honors.

She was one of 640,041 senior girls in 15,040 high schools in the nation to compete in this annual written knowledge and attitude test relating to home-making.

Miss McCandless is a past president of the National Honor Society, is a member of Deodolom, student council Future Teachers of America, Girls League and Teenagers. She has been active in her school, has attended district and regional music festivals in both band and chorus.

She has attended the music clinic for three years and will attend the all-state chorus next month. She is now serving as president of the chorus. In 1968 she was elected best actress at Filer High School.

ing grown," stated Mrs. Dolph. "Your plants will tell you, by their color, rate of growth, and abundance of flowers or produce when their needs are properly supplied," she concluded.

Clara Walton presented a portion of the program on soils, giving review on osmosis, entomology, and the importance of plants "root hair" and feeder roots on trees. She stated pressure can be too great at times, such as causing cherries or fruits to spill, as well as not being great enough as when a plant wilts.

Mrs. T. W. Hicks gave a report on the executive board meeting of the Idaho State Federation of Garden Clubs held in January in Boise. In addition to regular business matters brought before the meeting, one additional item was voted upon. The provisions of a bill being introduced in the legislature outlawing the use of glass containers for beer and soft drinks in Idaho, was moved and carried as well as each member senator and representatives from the various Idaho counties, be informed that the Idaho State Federation of Garden Clubs supports proposed legislation with the further suggestion that plastic containers be included also in the prohibition.

She also reminded club members of the dates for the state convention and regional convention are set for June 1, 2, 3 and 4.

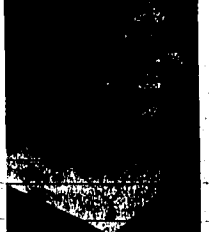

Members voted to send a letter of support to the county commissioners on the proposed park and clean up of Rock Creek for a county beautification project.

The tea table was centered with a Valentine arrangement in red and white. Decorations for the speaker's table featured a Valentine tree.

The March 4 meeting is at the YM-YWCA building, with a program on "Landscape Architecture" by P. K. Kennedy of the U.S. Forest Service. A report on the planting of hanging baskets for outdoor enjoyment will be given by Mrs. Russell Miller. Guests are invited to attend.

"No matter what the soil type is, good drainage is essential for the successful cultivation of most garden crops. Fertilizing also is an important factor in the maintenance of soil fertility. The kinds and amounts used of course depend to a considerable extent upon the character of the soil and the plants that are bo-

Women's Section Garden Club Members Hear "Better Soils" Program

Twin Falls Garden Club members heard a program, "Better Soils — Better Gardens," by Mrs. C. W. Daigh for their February meeting.

Mrs. Daigh stated that ordinary garden soils may be classified into four general groups, based on the size of particles of which they are predominantly formed and the amount of organic matter they contain.

Each of these groups has definite characteristics and each presents distinct problems for the gardener.

Clay soils are heavy, sticky and difficult to cultivate. Being retentive of moisture, they do not dry out rapidly; they are consequently cold and unsuitable for early crops.

To bring a clay soil into a state of fertility and to render it easy to work, the soil needs liberal application of humus in the form of compost, peat or manure. Sand also is desirable to make it porous and lime helps to keep it in a workable condition. It is also important that clay soils be properly drained to get rid of excess water.

Because the structure of clay soil is severely damaged, if they are compacted when they are wet, every effort should be made to avoid disturbing them while wet such as trucking over them, or plowing them. It is important to work on clay soils only when they are so dry that they do not stick unpleasantly to tools and equipment. Such timing of operations will do much to prevent them from becoming excessively sticky and impervious to air, and baking into hard clods when they are dry.

Clay soil is improved by burning, and burnt clay is an excellent drainage for rose beds and shrub borders, she stated.

Sandy soils, being porous, lose moisture rapidly and are consequently warmer and more suitable for early crops.

They can be improved by digging in plenty of humus, which not only renders them more fertile but helps to conserve moisture. — Because sandy soils lose solubles rapidly by leaching, more frequent fertilization is needed than with loams and clay soils. In dry weather more frequent applications of water are also necessary.

In discussing peat, bog and muck soils, she noted, these are formed of dead and decaying roots, rhizomes, leaves and stems of bog plants, consequently this type of soil is acid and can only be brought into a state of fertility by draining and liming and if practicable, by the addition of loam or good soil.

Loam is a blend of sand, clay, and humus. If sand comprises the larger percentage — it is a sandy loam, and when clay is in excess it is a clayey loam. Loam of a medium texture is the gardener's ideal soil. It is also the chief component of most potting soils.

A good loam is crumbly and easy to work with gardening tools. It permits water to drain through it fairly rapidly yet is retentive enough to hold sufficient moisture to supply the plants over a reasonable period. Fertilizers do not leach as rapidly as from sandy soils.

Color of soil varies according to amount of humus and iron it contains. Red soils derive their color from the oxide of iron which is present, and the bluish color in soils is due to iron sulphide. Humus makes the soil dark when wet, grayish when dry.

"No matter what the soil type is, good drainage is essential for the successful cultivation of most garden crops. Fertilizing also is an important factor in the maintenance of soil fertility. The kinds and amounts used of course depend to a considerable extent upon the character of the soil and the plants that are bo-

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column, but I hope you won't take this as a joke because this is a very serious problem to me.

I am 19, and go steady with a girl who is studying to be a beautician. She told me that I wouldn't look as good with my hair dyed, and she offered to do it for me, so I said, "O. K. go ahead."

Well, she did, and I must admit that I look much better this way. Naturally, it was quite noticeable so all my friends kidded me about it. My problem is that I would like to keep my hair this color, but I don't want to be kidded. Do you think it is so bad for a guy to dye his hair if he really thinks it looks better that way?

I usually make friends with children easily. In fact I have brought up children come right up to me and make friends with me.

Though I tried my best, I couldn't seem to make friends with my little 8-year-old niece. She wouldn't even let me touch her, she got so angry with her. She just frowned when I went near her. I once heard a preacher say that he could tell what a family thought of him by the way the children acted toward him. Would I go wrong to apply the preacher's rule to my brother's case?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Yes. Preachers can be wrong occasionally, too.

DEAR GUY: Fly under any color you wish, buddy. Just be sure you keep the roots covered because if there's anything that needs a dye job, it's a guy.

DEAR ABBY: What wise advice you gave "Hungry for Love," that stupid 22-year-old whose young husband is withholding his favors until she loses 50 pounds! Her excuses and self-pity left me cold, since in wearing she could have lost 150 pounds, let alone 50. All she needs is a doctor, a diet-and-determination.

DEAR ABBY: My brother brought his family from California to Texas to see his wife's folks and some of his.

Although her obvious ignorance of proper diet hardly recommends her as a wife and mother, her letter reveals a MUCH more shocking ignorance of the value of physical attractiveness to sex, and of sex to marriage. The mystery to me is why it took her so long to miss his attentions — and why her husband is coming home at all. The fact that she is, only proves that she loves her.

Before marriage, my husband said to me, "Stay in shape for me, baby." I took the hint, and at 48, with a little effort, I still weigh 112. HUNGRY FOR LOVE could only see how that small effort pays off in fun, health, and romance.

STILL SLIM IN SUNNYVALE

DEAR SLIM: "A little effort," you so glibly say. Perhaps for you, you lucky lady. But for many of your sisters, the toughest of all battles is the battle of the bulge.

DEAR ABBY: Permit me to say a few words to "HUNGRY FOR LOVE." My husband is "punishing" her until she loses 50 pounds. She's luckier than she knows.

Carrying our first child eight years ago, my weight started to climb. Stanley said he didn't care, he'd love me if I got up to 300 pounds. Well, he had a chance to prove it because I did!

My doctor said I was headed straight for heart failure, if not "sweatheart failure." So now I am slowly on my way down from 300 pounds. It's sheer torture. I'd have given anything if Stanley had started to "punish" me about 200 pounds ago! Sincerely, FATS IN S. F.

Mary Murphy, Ball Exchange Nuptial Vows

Mary Anne Murphy and John E. Ball exchanged marriage vows in an evening ceremony Jan. 30 at Lynwood Chapel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Murphy. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Ball, all Twin Falls.

Rev. Don Mikel performed the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Mikel played the traditional wedding music. Sandi McMullin was soloist.

A bouquet of blue and white carnations flanked by lighted tapers decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white street-length gown made of white double knit and fashioned with full long sleeves of lace. The high waistline was accented with white satin ribbon with a large bow in the back with a streamer that fell to the hemline.

Her shoulder-length veil was held by a pillbox hat made of the same fabric as the gown and covered with lace. The gown and veil were made by the Mrs. Jerry Andrews, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, with Bill Kirkpatrick, Buhl, as best man.

Vernon Gilmore, Hagerman, and Ronald Stockhams, Gooding, were ushers.

Guests were registered by Shelly Brown.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with a lace tablecloth, made by the bride's grandmother, over blue and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue roses and silver leaves. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and flanked by white tapers.

The cake was baked and cut by Mrs. Dana Gilmore, Hagerman, and served by Mrs. Chester Ball, both aunts of the bridegroom. Mrs. Ryn Saffa, Wendell, and Mrs. Lavon Murphy, Jerome, served coffee and punch. Both are aunts of the bride.

Carl Doug and Brenda Murphy were giftbearers. In charge of the gift table were Kathy Murphy, Barbara Ball, Sue Stockham and Mrs. Bill Kirkpatrick.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stockham, Wendell, and Mrs. A. F. Murphy, Jerome, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Myrtle Shriver,

Want Reporters' Notes?— Get 'Em While They're Hot

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—To Attorney General John N. Mitchell:
"Dear Sir:
"In recent days the Justice Department has been roundly criticized (and in some cases squarely criticized) for having subpoenaed the notes taken by newsmen at the scene of a couple of disturbances.
"Curiously enough, much of this criticism has come from within the journalism fraternity, which viewed the department's action as an infringement of freedom of the press.
"I quite agree that a constitutional issue may have been involved. Nevertheless, I should think that most reporters would welcome the service your department apparently was prepared to perform. I know I would.

"I happen to have upon my desk at the present time a large sheaf of notes that I have made while covering various events around Washington.
"While I am not certain that these notes pertain to any of the cases your department might be interested in, you are certainly welcome to subpoena them.
"In fact, you don't even have to go to the trouble of drawing up a subpoena. I have already placed the notes in a large manila envelope which I am voluntarily mailing to you under separate cover.
"All that I am asking in return is just one small favor on your part:
"When you find out what is in the notes, please pass that information along to me.
"Perhaps I should explain that these happen to be notes that I let get 'cold' on me. In other words, I didn't translate them soon enough after I had scribbled them. And now I haven't the foggiest notion what they are about.
"Most of the other newspapermen I know operate under this same handicap. We have to use our notes within a certain time (in my case about 45 minutes) or we will never be able to figure out what they say.
"Since the notes your department subpoenaed were more than a few hours old, I assume that you must have some way of decoding cold notes. Possibly the job can be done by an FBI handwriting expert.
"At any rate, I feel sure that the notes I am sending you contain enough material for several columns, so please put someone to work on them right away.
"Once they have been decoded, feel free to use the information in any way you see fit. In exchange for a legible copy, I'll give up any rights I might have under the First Amendment."

Supreme Court To Rule On Bond Election Vote Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to an early decision on whether its recent expansion of voting rights as to municipal revenue bonds also applies to general obligation bonds repaid through taxation.
The case will be heard in a few weeks and decided by written opinion before mid-June.
Phoenix, Ariz., appealed the second case but supporting views also came in from the state of Texas, Tulsa, Okla., Pangloss Parish, La. and the Poudre School District of Larimer County, Colo.
Idaho said Utah could be affected by the court's decision.
The problems stemmed from a Supreme Court decision of June 16, 1969, in a Houma, La., case that in an election to approve issuance of revenue bonds by a municipal utility system, voting may not be limited to property taxpayers.
The court said where the state grants the right to vote in a limited purpose election to some qualified voters and denies it to others, it must show that "a compelling state interest" requires the exclusion.
The ruling was given only future effect except for cases still in court or those where time for challenge had not expired.
Phoenix had submitted to property owners on June 10, 1969, proposals for eight bond issues totaling $30,450,000 for parks, police and fire department projects, a library and other purposes. The proposals carried.
Unlike the Houma revenue bonds, which would be paid off from income from the planned utility, the Phoenix general obligation bonds are repaid from property taxes.
A special three-judge federal court in Phoenix on Nov. 17, 1969, set aside the election on the ground that there is no real difference, so far as the constitution is concerned, between revenue bonds and general obligation bonds.
Emily Kolodziejki, who challenged the election, told the Supreme Court she did not object to early review even though she won in the lower court.

Phoenix said 13 other states have provisions limiting bond election voting to taxpayers or property owners. They are Alaska, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas and Utah.

TV Networks Plan Complete Coverage Of Total Eclipse

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the most spectacular and rare happenings of nature, a total eclipse of the sun, will be covered live and at length by the three commercial television networks March 7.
The daytime Saturday broadcast of the eclipse, which will cut a path over Mexico across the Gulf and up the Eastern Coast of the United States, will be seen in color.
NBC-TV, which plans to originate its coverage from near the small village of Minahautlan in the southern coastal part of Mexico, has scheduled a 90-minute broadcast, starting at noon EST.
FINALLY WINS PENSION
LONDON (UPI)—The British government awarded a disability pension Wednesday to Arthur Cooper, 75, for a hand wound he suffered during the Battle of the Somme in World War I.

ABC-TV and CBS-TV will present one-hour programs, beginning at 1 p.m. EST.
Charles Kuralt will be the anchorman for CBS-TV, Frank McGee will serve the same function for NBC-TV, and Jules Bergman and Frank Reynolds are set to handle the chore for ABC-TV.
The rarity of the phenomenon to be covered is indicated by the fact that it will be roughly another half century before another major eclipse is visible from the United States. A solar eclipse occurs when the moon passes directly in front of the sun and casts its shadow on the earth.
On this particular upcoming occasion, nearly all areas of the continental United States will be able to see a partial eclipse. But on the East Coast will be total or near that.
New York City, for example, is expected to experience a 99 per cent eclipse. In Savannah, Ga., and Norfolk, Va., it will be 100 per cent. But in Portland, Ore., will be about 19 per cent.

For those who watch an eclipse in person rather than on video, there can be the danger of injury to one's eyes unless precautions are taken. Very dark filters, for instance, are considered the kind of minimum requirement to help avoid harm.
But there is beauty too in this awesome event. Robert Wussler, executive producer of CBS-TV's eclipse program, observes: "When the moon comes between the sun and the earth, sunlight vanishes for a few seconds. Birds and animals become suddenly quiet. A brilliant red ring surrounds the moon, and the brightest stars and planets appear in the sky. It's a breathtaking sight."
NBC-TV executive producer Robert Northshield, meanwhile, is enthused about the Mexican origination point for his coverage.
"It is virtually the first point of land that the path of totality of the eclipse will cross as the shadow of the moon sweeps" in from the South Pacific. He adds the totality will last longer than any place in the United States. At ABC-TV, the network notes: "There will be aerial photography to bring in a clear picture of the eclipse to viewers if weather conditions are such that it cannot be seen from the ground."

The clippity clopping clops are coming!
The Swedish set started them and the going got so great, they're here. All a part of the new young fashion fun.

Twin Falls Will Host Burley In A-1 Meet Opener

While the heavily favored Minico Spartans took on the Twin Falls Bruins and Burley Bobcats get together Friday night at Bruin gymnasium to begin the 1970 Class A-1 regional three basketball tournament. The winner of that one will be traveling to Minico Saturday night. At stake is a hope of salvaging some prestige for two teams and a lone berth in the state tournament.

Twin Falls holds two victories over the Bobcats and both come over the top on the winning record—the first time in 15 years for Twin Falls. The Bruins were 7-13 on the year against 4-16 for Burley. But despite the two victories, the game could well be close.

Majestic Prince Sent To Pasture

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Majestic Prince, winner of two legs of the 1969 Triple Crown, has been retired to stud because of leg problems. It was announced Wednesday at Santa Anita Park.

John Longden, trainer of the chestnut colt that won nine of 10 lifetime starts including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, said the horse will be shipped to Kentucky Sunday.

Majestic Prince, a $250,000 purchase as a yearling, earned $414,200 in a span of eight months. His only loss was his final race last June in the Belmont Stakes. It was his bid to become the first horse since Citation in 1948 to win the Triple Crown.

Majestic Prince won the Derby by a neck over Arts and Letters and defeated his rival in the Preakness stakes. But in the Belmont, Arts and Letters defeated him by 5 1/2 lengths.

Dean Denies Connection With Gaming

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Hall of Fame pitcher Dizzy Dean, on the verge of tears, said today, "I have never been involved in big time gambling."

Dean met with newsmen here today to comment on a grand jury indictment handed down in Detroit Tuesday, which named him as a co-conspirator in a national gambling scandal.

Dean, who was not indicted, said "I am happy and pleased and sad today. I am happy and pleased that I was not arrested, indicted or charged.

"I am sad for my family and friends in all over the United States because I was accused of a lot of things.

"There is not a bit of truth to it. I repeat, not a bit of truth to it."

The former 30-game winner for the St. Louis Cardinals said he became involved "through a friend who asked me to spike wagers for him, and I did."

Dean said he was told "there was nothing wrong with it."

He said he had received letters of support from throughout the nation and he went into detail about how he said was from "a little boy named David."

Dean said the youngster's existence is none that he was not involved in the scandal.

Dean said he wanted the youngster to know "I've done foolish things in my life and I hope you never do, but I'll tell you I've never been involved in big time gambling."

Dean, who appeared to be near tears while speaking of the letter, abruptly left the news conference without answering questions.

He never returned, although his lawyer, Patrick J. Regan, Wichita, Kan., said Dean would answer questions later.

Lawmakers Seek Okay On Clay Match

HARRISBURG (UPI)—A resolution was introduced in the Pennsylvania House Wednesday urging the state Athletic Commission to sanction a heavyweight fight between champion Joe Frazier and Cassius Clay.

The commission was asked by a group of five assemblymen headed by Rep. James Taylor, D-Philadelphia, to grant Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as he prefers to be known, a Pennsylvania license "in order to correct the injustice which has been perpetrated upon him."

The resolution said for the commission to sanction a Frazier-Clay bout in Pennsylvania would have tremendous box office appeal because "both participants would be Philadelphiaans."

Clay recently purchased a home in the Quaker City.

The assemblymen in the resolution also suggested that "a contribution from the fight proceeds to higher education would do much for this Commonwealth."

Firemen Capture City Cage Title

Calvin Craner hit 18 points to lead the Twin Falls Firemen to a past Uhlig Feed 62-50 win into the "B" league tournament championship of the Twin Falls city league.

Forrest Fonesbeck and Doug Wright hit 13 each for Uhlig's. In the consolation game, Twin Falls' Tractor and Implement nipped Deming 44-43 in the closing seconds. Steve Kerwin had 27 for the losers while Swartz hit 16 for the winners.

Bulls Rally Past Warriors 112-104

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Reserves Shaler Hallman and Walt Wesley scored clutch baskets in the final period Wednesday night to help the Chicago Bulls post a 112-104 win over the San Francisco Warriors.

The loss pushed San Francisco farther away from a Western Division playoff berth, dropping the Warriors a 1-2 games behind third-place Chicago.

The Bulls wrapped it up for keeps with a 12-3 outburst early in the final period to jump ahead 100-88 with 7:15 remaining. Wesley scored six of those points. Hallman made eight of the Bulls' last 12 points and accounted for all 10 of his points in the final period.

SURVEYING THE WINTER KILL at Mormon Reservoir, Don Saxman, Fairfield, Idaho Fish and Game Department conservation officer, knells by one of the few open spots on the impoundment. Many thousands of fish, almost all perch and suckers, have died in the past few years the department was planning a chemical eradication project to restore it to a top flight trout fishery.

Winter Fish Kill Occurs In Mormon-But It's No Tragedy

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News Sports Editor

FAIRFIELD — A large winter kill of fish in Mormon Reservoir is occurring — but fishermen noted dead and distressed fish by the thousands in small open-water areas. Bell and Don Saxman, Fairfield district conservation officer, investigated and found the oxygen content of the impoundment is below the critical area.

Bell said they found about two to three thousand dead perch and suckers and a larger number that apparently did not have much longer to gasp. He took oxygen samples at five to six feet of ice. The thickness has prevented any sunlight penetration. And the cover prohibits any oxygen exchange with water. The reservoir is judged to be about two-thirds full.

Bell noted that the situation isn't the tragedy it would have been a few years ago. He explains heavy refestation of perch and suckers in the reservoir had already started the oxygen trout fishery — down.

Gillett consisting of the past three summers has indicated the reservoir population had risen to 72.6 per cent trash fish, 40.7 being perch and 21.9 suckers. On the basis of those findings the department already has penciled in a chemical treatment project at the first economically feasible opportunity — at maximum irrigation (draw-down). Such a project about 12 years ago boosted Mormon to one of the premier trout fisheries in the state, but the rapid growth of planted fish already was down 50 per cent by this fall due to the heavy food competition provided by the trash fish species.

A treatment project of two years ago was aborted during record rainfall in August after it appeared the reservoir would be at a minimum that fall.

Bell sums it up: "A total winter kill of fish, which is not likely, would be desirable or done about the winter kill until the spring break up. At that time Bell will conduct another gillett census to determine the extent of kill. He said the department already has laid plans for larger trout plantings prior to the season opening this year, both of catchable-sized and fingerling rainbow.

Bell said the oxygen depletion may be traced to a heavy late fall algae bloom in the reservoir. This material is now decomposing and the rotting is making heavy demands on the available oxygen. He said with no chance for recharging through wave action, the sole opportunity for introducing new oxygen into the reservoir would be minimal winter production by aquatic plants. This photosynthesis is precluded by the heavy snow cover that prevents sunshine penetration.

DEAD FISH, all perch and suckers, filled a small area of open water near the shore of Mormon Reservoir. Heavy ice and snow cover is causing the winter kill through depletion of oxygen.

McManus Takes Title In Sun Valley Giant Slalom

SUN VALLEY — Rip McManus, McAfee, N. J., who played the commentator in "Downhill Racer" has just returned from the FIS races at Val Gardena, and Sunday proved he is still in the top league by taking the championship division of the Sun Valley Ski Club giant slalom event here Sunday.

His time of 48.703 just nipped two local skiers, Bob Hamilton with 49.822 and Charlie McWilliams, 50.176.

A total of 144 racers ranging in age from six to 60 took part in the two day racing schedule. The Don Johnson Memorial Trophy for the top racer of the open division made up of ski patrol and ski school instructors went to Spence Hjort, Kathy Foot, Edina, Minn., won the women's championship division.

Other special awards included the Darroch Cooks Memorial to Pierre Saviers, Sun Valley, and Steve Hammond, Sun Valley, won the Billy Kleino Memorial.

Runners up in the championship competition included Terry Hildon, Newport Beach, Calif., women and Bob Hamilton, Sun Valley, men.

Other race results included by event, first and second place winners:

Jerome Defeats Filer To Claim SCIC Soph Title

FILER — The Jerome Tigers broke away from Filer in the last three minutes to post a 55-50 victory and claim the championship of the South Central Idaho Conference sophomore basketball tournament Wednesday night.

Filer jumped into a 11-point lead early in the second quarter but Jerome came back to tie its press to fashion a tight game. Seldom more than three points separated the two until McIntyre hit two long shots to blow a 48-16 advantage to 52-48 and ice it.

Walters ended up with 14 for the champs while Laniers and Peterson had 14 each for Filer.

In the consolation finals, Meier pumped through 18 points to send Bull past Gooding 55-35; Thomas topped Bull with 12.

Ohio Shatters Loyola 93-70

ATHENS, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio University guard Kenny Kowall, converted to forward in the second half, pumped in 28 points Wednesday night as the Bobcats ditched Loyola of Chicago 93-70.

Ohio U., winning its 10th of 23 games, held a 30-30 intermission lead in an early nip-and-tuck contest that turned into a run-away in the second half.

St. Bonaventure Rips Canisius

OLEAN, N.Y. (UPI) — Bob Lanier scored 23 points despite playing only half the game because of foul trouble to lead fourth-ranked and tournament bound St. Bonaventure to a 91-68 Middle Three Conference victory over Canisius Wednesday night.

Lanier drew his fourth personal foul with 5:48 left in the first half and went to the bench with the Bonnies in front, 31-22. Canisius cut the margin to 41-38 at the intermission and the Griffins took a brief 42-41 lead in the second half before all five Bonnie players combined for an 11-1 streak.

Boatwright Is South Idaho Loop Player Of Year

To the surprise of no one, Jim Boatwright of Minico walked off with the major honors in the all-Southern Idaho Conference elite of year basketball voting while Twin Falls' senior Allen Howa was named to the eastern division first team and second team on the all-conference top 10.

Sports-writers-casters in the member cities named Boatwright the all-league first team record breaker, as player of the year almost unanimously and he and Don Hutt of Borah were the only ones unanimously selected to the all-conference first team. Terry Conley of Borah was named the conference coach of the year while Minico's Lex Roh was the eastern division coach.

The all-senior starting lineup would average 6 feet 3 inches with an average of 81 points per game. The all-league scoring team is Boatwright and Hutt; Carey Toone of Pocatello, Harris Hendrickson of Highland, and Dave Matlock of Borah. On the second unit are Howa; Higgs, Nampa; Rod Aguilar, Caldwell; Dave Johnston of Highland, and Ed Swenson, Boise.

Because the league was divided into divisions this year, the selectors initiated sectional teams. In the east, Boatwright and Howa were unanimous selections and the two Pocatello schools provided the next three. These include Hendrickson and Cleaves from Highland and Toobe from Pocatello. On the second unit are Miller, O'Donnell; Minico; Darrell Dietz, Minico; Wynn Wilkes, Skyline; Gary Cutright, Highland; and Jack Robison, Idaho Falls.

Roh was named the eastern division coach of the year with 52 votes and Matt 25, for Howa of Highland and one for Charles Payne, Twin Falls. Boatwright, of course, was the unanimous choice for eastern player of the year.

In the west, Hutt topped voting with 37 votes and Matt 25, for Howa of Highland and one for Charles Payne, Twin Falls. Boatwright, of course, was the unanimous choice for eastern player of the year.

Hutt was the western player of the year with three votes while Higgs garnered two and Matlock, one. Conley topped Boise Coach Ron McNeely 5-1 for coach of the year.

Boatwright was the main reason that Minico, making its first appearance in the league, climbed to second in the overall standings. He broke the nine-year-old loop point mark of 373, set by Matt 25, against Caldwell by getting 404, and unsated the nine-year mark of 526 for seasonal points by Idaho Falls' Gary Cook by hitting 563 during his 20-game season.

His other records include season field goals mark 215 against 180 by Ned Williams, Twin Falls, and Stewart; conference field goals made, 172 against 147 for Stewart; field goal percentage, 628 against 603 by Gary Egreman, Borah; 198-84; field goal percentage, 59.9; 122 by Matt 25 against 501 by Freeman, 1964-65; free throw attempt, 172 against 140 by Stewart; league free throws made, 120 against 100 by Mike Crumman, Caldwell, 1966-67; season free throws made, 140 against 122 by Gary Egreman, Caldwell, 1966-67; defensive rebounds for one game, 14, tied with Tom Baird, Nampa, 1964-65; defensive rebounds, one game, 23 against 20 by Dalri; season defensive rebounds 252 against 180 by Stewart, and conference rebounding 501 against 150 by Paul Harvi, Capital, 1966-67.

Messman Is Twin Wimmer In Trapshoot

Lynn Messman won the 16-yard singles and the doubles to become the only double winner in the Twin Falls Gun Club's ATA trapshoot.

Messman hit 98 out of 100 in the second while Bill Chess was second in the Class A division with 95. Class B winner was Stan Melton, seconded by Jerry Eisenhauer, Jerry Gibson and Doc Burton went one-two in the Class C competition and Ben Pratt beat Cliff Sparrow for Class B Honors.

Eisenhauer won the 20-yard handicap single with Berale Voles second while Ray Hamby of Kimberly won the 20-yard title.

In the doubles, Messman won the A event with Vicky Graves of Sun Valley winning in Class B; Mike Wolverton in Class C. Vicky Graves was the top woman competitor with Gale Diamond second and Bangle Bollitch second runner-up.

Shooters from throughout southern Idaho and Utah attended.

WHIPPY DETROIT PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Hal Greer scored 20 points Wednesday to help Philadelphia whip Detroit 122-105, in a National Basketball Association game.

Blue Mountain To Bring 21-Game Win Streak Into JC Regional Next Week

The race for the fourth and final spot in the regional junior college tournament goes down to the last day of the season in Oregon while the first place Oregon team, Blue Mountain of Pendleton, will bring a 21-game winning streak into the final.

The regional, which will include Ricks College and College of Southern Idaho, will be played March 3 and 4 in the Twin Falls gymnasium with the champion earning a trip to the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kans., March 18 through 21.

The fourth team will be either Mount Hood or Central Oregon College as those two are tied with three losses in the Oregon Community College league but will meet Saturday night. Although the traveling team, Mount Hood is rated a slight favorite.

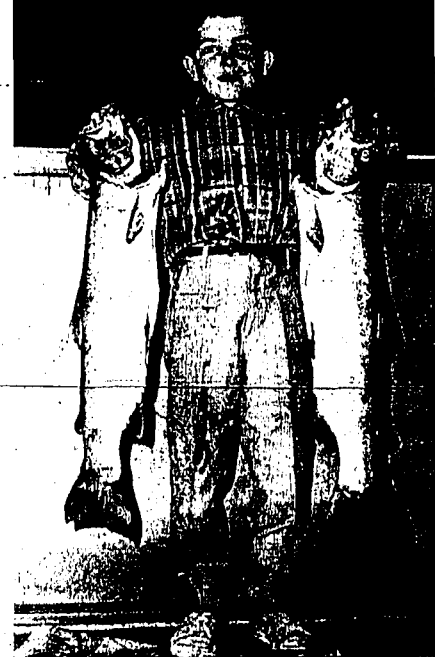

Blue Mountain, a seven-year-old school with one of the prettier campuses in the Northwest, planned much of its 25-3 season on the play of three sharp guards. These include Ken Shiloh, 6-1 from Richmond, Calif.; Terry Conroy, 6-8, Hemstead, N.Y.; and 6-10 Dave Stoddard. Stoddard is the relief man although when an ankle injury sidelined Conroy for three games, Stoddard hit 30, 26 and 22 points. "That put me up for a lot of second guessing," smiles Coach Jerry Mosby, who has been the Timber Wolf coach for all seven years.

Blue Mountain is not particularly tall underneath but has good size. The top rebounder is 6-3 center Dave Sandles who weighs 235 pounds and displaces a lot of room under the basket. Sandles last year but was nipped for the title this season. He hails from Oakland, Calif.

Coach Mosby uses three Oregon men at the forward spots. One is Merlin Christensen, 6-4 who was "all-state at Pendleton high and an all-conference performer last year. On the other side is 6-3 1/4 Brad Timmel. Reardon. Tallest man on the club is 6-8 Tom Templeton from Hermiston.

Conroy and Shiloh both are carrying 16-5 scoring averages with Timmel at 14.7. Sandles, 11, and Christensen and Stoddard nine.

"We have been very balanced all year in our scoring and I think that is what has brought about our good record," Coach Mosby said.

TWENTY-THREE POUNDS of steelhead are about as much as Steven Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Adams, can handle as he shows off a day's fishing on the Salmon River below Shoup. Actually, Steven's father did most of the catching but Steven helped. Adams reported fishing was very good Saturday and Sunday. The fish weighed 11 and 12 pounds, respectively.

Yale Is Rapped Again As ECAC Supports NCAA Ban

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yale University was hit with a 15-month probation Wednesday by the Eastern College Athletic Conference for permitting Jack Langer to compete for the U.S. team in last year's Jewish Maccabiah Games and then play varsity basketball.

After a three-hour debate, the full membership of the ECAC adopted a recommendation of the Executive Council that Yale "be placed on probation by the ECAC for a period to continue until June 30, 1971."

The probation prohibits Yale from playing in ECAC championships and other ECAC-sponsored events.

Yale is already under probation by the National College Athletic Association until January, 1972 in the same incident.

Delaney Kiphuth, Yale athletic director, said he was "obviously disappointed" by the ECAC decision. He said Yale would continue to permit Langer to play.

Langer, a junior substitute from Fort Lee, N.J., to play on the team although he is still ineligible—but declined to speculate on any further action.

Yale, contending the school and Langer are "pawns" in the long feud between the NCAA and Amateur Athletic Union; tried to introduce a resolution criticizing the NCAA but was ruled out of order.

The resolution said the NCAA council "misused and abused its powers when it withheld approval of student basketball participation in the 1969 Maccabiah Games for reasons unconnected with the purity or legitimacy of those games or the welfare of the prospective participants."

A similar resolution introduced later by Boston University was tabled.

Langer was given permission by the university and the ECAC to play in the Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv last summer although the games are not approved by the NCAA. The ECAC permission, however, was contingent on NCAA approval and Yale never received such approval.

The NCAA allowed college athletes to participate in other sports in the game, but refused to grant permission to basketball players.

The ECAC declared Langer ineligible for varsity competition after he was ineligible to the U.S. last September, and Yale was placed on a two-year probation by the NCAA in January.

Yale continued to use Langer throughout the season, however, although he was ineligible. The Executive Council in its recommendation that Yale should be placed on probation for its defiance of the rules unprecedented in the 32-year history of the ECAC.

Celtics Explode Past Rockets

BOSTON (UPI)—Forward Don Nelson scored a career high 40 points and teammate John Havlicek added 36 Wednesday night to lead the Boston Celtics to a 147-124 victory over the San Diego Rockets. Their performance overshadowed a 49-point effort by San Diego's Elvin Hayes.

Marquette, LSU Head Entries In National Invitational Meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marquette University, which Tuesday turned its back on the prestigious National College Athletic Association basketball tournament, was selected Wednesday to play in the 32nd annual National Invitational Tournament.

The seven-member NIT committee, headed by Herb Sutter of Wagner College, also named Louisiana State, Georgia Tech and St. John's to the 16-team field. All four teams have accepted bids to play in the tournament, which will be played at Madison Square Garden, March 12-21.

Marquette, ranked 10th in the nation, was invited to play in the NCAA tournament but turned down the bid when it learned it would be placed in the Midwest regionals instead of the Midwest regionals.

"We thought we deserved to play in the region where we participated in the last two years," coach Al McGuire said.

"This team is 19-3, which is my best record since coming to Marquette, and we feel we are entitled to play in the Midwest against Kentucky, Ohio U., Western Kentucky and the Big Ten representative."

In accepting an NIT bid, Marquette will be participating in the nation's oldest post-season classic for the fourth time. The Warriors' best finish was in 1967 when they lost to Southern Illinois in the finals.

The Warriors are on a five-game winning streak and earlier this season ran off a string of 12 straight "Big Team" wins. The team is coached by Dean Meminger, who played his high school basketball in New York City.

Louisiana State has achieved a great deal of national acclaim the past three seasons because of the exploits of All-American player Pete Maravich. Maravich, a 6-5 guard, became the first major collegian ever to score more than 3,000 career points this season and currently averages 47 points per game.

Pete's father, Press Maravich, is the coach of the LSU team and the two men have combined their talents to lead the Tigers to a 17-8 record, the team's best showing since 1953-54. The Tiger's appearance in the NIT will be its first, and it will mark LSU's first post-season basketball appearance since 1954.

Playing in the NIT also will fulfill a personal ambition for the younger Maravich.

"I've always dreamed of playing in Madison Square Garden," Pete said on a number of occasions. "The people in New York really appreciate basketball. I think we can put on quite a show for them."

Georgia Tech, coached by John Hyder, also will be playing in the NIT for the first time. The Engineers are 16-8 with one game remaining and seven of their eight losses have come in the last three games.

triumphs over North Carolina and North Carolina State. The Engineers are led by 6-9 center Rich Yunkus, currently the nation's 10th leading scorer with a 20-point average. Georgia Tech also ranks among the nation's top 10 in field-goal accuracy with better than a 50 per cent average.

St. John's, a perennial post-season tournament participant, will be playing in the NIT for a record 10th time. The Redmen have a spectacular record in NIT play, winning the tournament in 1943, 1944, 1959 and 1965 and finishing second in 1953 and 1962.

This year's squad has a 16-7 record with two games remaining and is paced by 6-10 center Bill Paulz and 6-4 guard Joe DePre. Included among the Redmen's victories are triumphs over eighth-ranked Iowa and 13th-ranked Davidson.

The appearance in the NIT will have special meaning to the Redmen this year. Their coach, Lou Carnesecca, is leaving his post at the end of the season to accept a job as coach of the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

"You can't imagine how delighted we are, and personally, I'm happy of course, to finish up like this since this is my last year at St. John's. We won our way in, we didn't walk our way in," said Carnesecca.

The NIT committee said it expected to add some more teams Thursday. However, the field probably won't be completed for over a week since many teams under consideration still have league championships to decide.

CSI Remains In Ninth Place In National Ratings

College of Southern Idaho, which winds up its season Thursday by hosting University of Utah freshmen, is ranked ninth among the nation's junior colleges again this week.

The Eagles, who have the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference title in hand and are pointed toward next week's regional tournament here Tuesday and Wednesday, share the ninth spot with Worthington, Minn. However, Monday night's loss at Utah State occurred after the week-long base for the rankings was established.

Unbeaten Brevard College of Cocoa, Fla. displaced Vincennes, Ind., in the No. 1 spot in the ratings. San Jacinto, Tex., which has a 30-0 record, is third while Casper, Wyo., and CSI are the only far western teams in the top 10. Casper is fifth.

The final ICAC statistics found Steve Hegens and Tim Bassett in runner-up roles with Hegens' 22.8 mark second to Stan Milton of Mesa at 26.0 in the league and his 20.7 overall average holding Milton's 24.6. Bassett has a 31-rebound lead over Dave Borup of Snow College in seasonal rebounds with 428 but in conference games Borup nipped him 156 to 147.

Ron Behagen at 18.3 and Al Davis at 18.1 wound up sixth and seventh in league scoring while Baskett was 20th at 10.5. Overall, Davis is fifth at 17.3 while Behagen is 17th with 15.8. Davis wound up sixth in ICAC rebounds with 101, just four more than Behagen who was seventh. The two were seventh and eighth overall at 200 and 287 in rebounding.

In one-game performances, Bassett led in rebounds with 29 against Eastern Utah, a game played at Jerome while Davis was tied for eighth with 18. Hegens' 32-point night against Dixie College was the fifth best of the year while Behagen's 31 against Eastern Utah tied him for eighth. Davis' best night of 27 against Dixie was 16th.

PAUL OSTYN IS A MAN with many hats. He is, for instance, a Twin Falls City Councilman serving as Police Commissioner (the blue hat with badge), and he is also a college man working as vice principal at the Twin Falls High School (the other hat Karen Griggs is trying to place on top of the police hat). But he is also active in youth work. This calls for still another hat, and here 6-year-old Vanessa Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pollard, Twin Falls, hands him a football helmet. It's all in fun, but it's all for a "good cause," Mr. Ostyn said. He is urging representatives from all the hats he wears to donate blood Monday from 2 to 7 p.m. at the American Legion Hall. Mr. Ostyn is honorary chairman of the drive and Miss Griggs is a volunteer worker.

Hailey Slates Hearing On Re-Zoning Of School Board

HAILEY — Blaine School District of voters will vote the opinion March 31 of a proposal to re-zone the district in an attempt to give a more equal representation on the school board. Vernon Exner, superintendent this week explained the proposed change to a gathering of the Hailey Chamber of Commerce. He noted that the proposal came when a petition signed by about 1,602 voters was presented to the school board late last year. Under present representation, one trustee represents each of the five communities in the county, including Carey, Bellevue, Hailey, Ketchum-Sun Valley and Pleabo-Gannett. With the proposed change in re-zoning, however, a trustee would represent the area lying north of the Ketchum city limits to Stanley, which contains 855 voters; Ketchum south to above the city of Hailey, with 566 voters; the city of Hailey, with 986 voters; the southwest area of Hailey bordered on the north by Crox Street and on the east by 2nd Avenue to the Boise-Bass line Road below Bellevue, with 936 voters; and the area south of Bellevue, including the Yale district of Minidoka County, Carey, Pleabo-Gannett, with 880 voters.

The proposal was recently approved by the State Board of Education to be put to a vote of the electors in the district. Mr. Exner noted that all persons eligible to vote in general elections are eligible to vote on the proposal and a simple majority is required to pass it. Should the proposal fail to meet the approval of the majority of those voting, he noted, a new plan will need to be drawn up.

After the plan passed approval of the school board, the board would need to reapply to the State Board of Education for approval and then hold another election until a plan could be agreed upon by the voters.

Polling places and hours will be established when the school board meets March 9, Mr. Exner noted.

In other business before the chamber this week, the group present went on record in approval of the rebuilding of the bridge at Junction Street, leading to Rotunda. The construction of the bridge, which now carries a load limit because of faulty foundation, would cost about $60,000, $20,000 of which would be financed through the federal aid established when the school present one-lane to two, with bids to be let in the fall or early next spring.

The chamber members noted that inasmuch as the bridge was the only local access to the sid area and the west side of Hailey which may in the near future be subdivided and developed, it would be wise to improve the facility.

Twin Falls Aiming For Second Perfect Year, As Bloodmobile Sets Monday Visit

Twin Falls has had one perfect year in blood donations and with the second drawing of 1970 coming up Monday officials are looking forward to another perfect year.

"If we exceed our quota this time it will be the ninth time in a row," David Nelson, Red Cross blood drive chairman, said.

Paul Ostyn, vice principal at Twin Falls High School, is honorary chairman of the drive and as a former athlete and coach, said, "Competition is very keen with me and I'm very happy to be part of this record-breaking effort on the part of Twin Falls donors."

An active donor himself, working on his four-gallon pin in Twin Falls, Mr. Ostyn said, "I've seen the area try to donate Monday at the American Legion Hall."

He is a man who wears many hats in his personal life. He is a City Councilman and serves as Police Commissioner, is an educator, works with youths of the area, and is active in many civic organizations.

All teachers in the area are being asked to donate at this drawing, and Mr. Ostyn has issued a special appeal to the youth of the area to donate.

The drawing is from 2 to 7 p.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall.

Anyone between 18 and 65 years of age can donate, but unmarried persons under 21 must have the consent of a parent.

"People must think we come around asking for blood donations quite a few times during the year," Mr. Nelson said.

"But the need for blood is very demanding," he then read a letter from Dr. E. F. Sestero, director of the Boise Regional Red Cross Blood Center.

Dr. Sestero said, of the last drawing Jan. 5, "Congratulations for the excellent blood drawing. We managed to survive the holidays but on Tuesday (following the long weekend) our stock was almost totally depleted."

Mr. Nelson said, "We can have a good drawing throughout the state but one had weekend can take nearly all the blood that is available." He added that more blood is used in Twin Falls than is donated here.

All of Southern Idaho is included in the Boise Regional Blood Center. Blood donated is sent to the center where it is processed and distributed to the various hospitals and clinics in Southern Idaho.

Mr. Nelson said human blood is good for 21 days. After that time the blood is then returned to the center where it is broken down into blood fractions, including gamma globulin and serum albumen, in addition to other blood properties.

The patient receiving blood is not charged for the blood itself. There is a fee for administration and laboratory costs, which is $4 a pint at this time.

Mr. Nelson reported refreshments will be served and donors may call to make an appointment to donate.

Pontiac announces the beginning of tomorrow.

The all-new Firebirds are here.

There are four. Why? People have different ideas of what a sports car should be. Incorporating all of those ideas into one car is equivalent to putting an elephant's trunk, a camel's hump and stripes on a giraffe. You and up with a creature that doesn't do anything well. So... four Firebirds.

Firebird (1). An economical sports car. Firebird Esprit (2). A luxurious model. Firebird Formula 400 (3). The Firebird built for drivers. Firebird Trans Am (4). Our ultimate.

Four distinctly different Firebirds for drivers who agree on only one thing. A sports car.

Comfortable seating for four. Period. Three have always been a crowd. Especially in the back seat of a sports car. So the new Firebirds have two bucket-type seats in back. Plus two bucket seats up front.

Four comfortable passengers, each in an individual seat. And a more comfortable ride. The rear seats gave us room to raise the drive tunnel between them. Which gives the suspension room to travel when you hit a bump. Which, in the Firebird and Esprit, produces a ride that many a full-size sedan would be proud of.

Formula 400 and Trans Am don't have it quite as soft. Enthusiasts like a stiffer ride. Stiffer springs and shocks provide it.

A ride is nothing without quick handling. We didn't compromise handling a bit. We made the Wide-Track wider. Made fade-resistant front disc brakes standard. And for improved cornering, we installed stabilizer bars up front. And added rear stabilizer bars to Formula 400 and Trans Am.

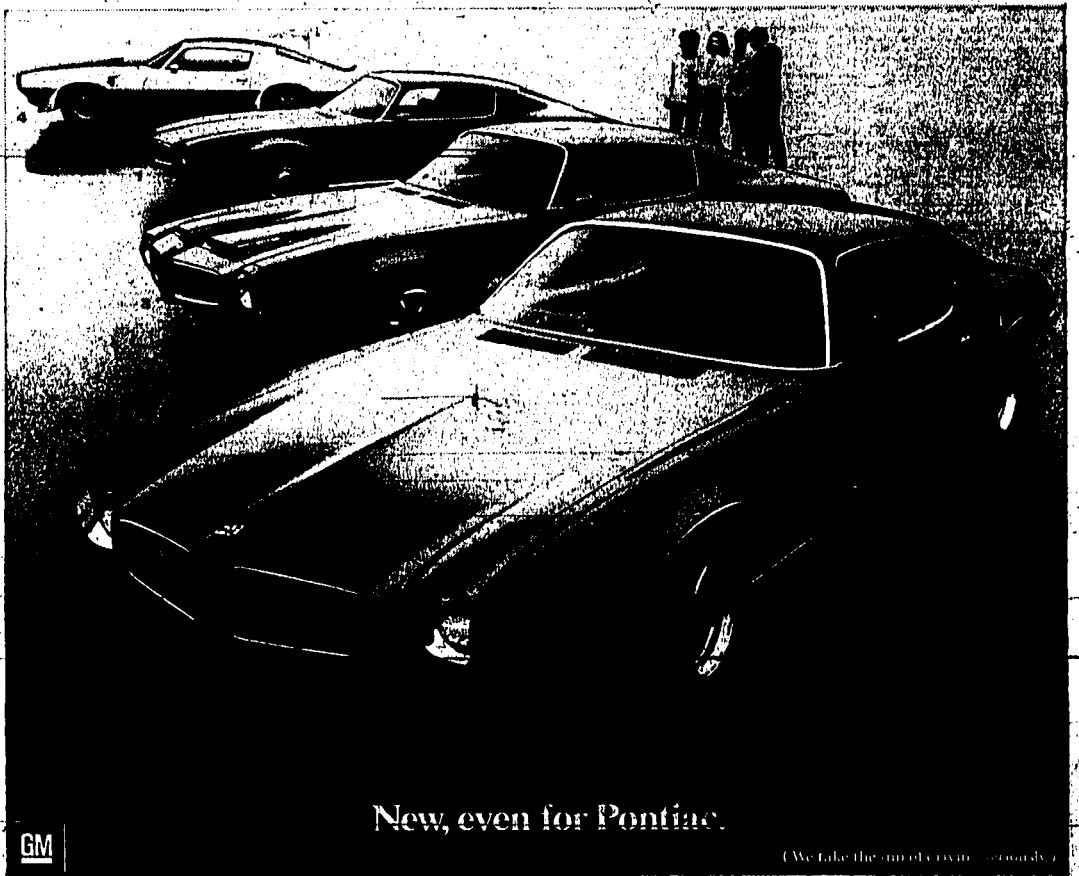

Engines to match. If you read our descriptions of the four Firebirds, the engine lineup makes supreme sense. The basic Firebird has a 250-cubic-inch six. Esprit—a 250-cubic-inch, regular-gas V-8. Formula 400 has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. And Trans Am features a 400-cubic-inch Ram Air V-8. Endure bumpers that absorb bumps. Pontiac's Endura material is probably the best thing to happen to bumpers since bumpers. It's a resilient, rubber-like material that looks like painted metal. It resists dings, dents and chips. And it positively won't rust.

A tough bumper. Covering the entire front end of each Firebird. The decisive victory of functionalism over faddism.

Instrument panels, for instance. Easy to read. With easy-to-reach controls. We even designed the panels so that any light bulb can be changed in 60 seconds. By you. Without lying on the floor.

But you'll undoubtedly want to find out for yourself. Please do. At a Pontiac dealer's. Then you'll know our "beginning of tomorrow" claim is more than a boast.

New, even for Pontiac.

EXTRA MILEAGE IN THOSE TRUMPS

Some hands are so simple when you look them over a second time you wonder how any one can go wrong. Yet, somehow or other, they are hatched up at the table.

South looked over dummy carelessly and remarked, "It's too bad you didn't robid one no-trump. We'd have a sure game there."

South wasn't quite right about that. Give East five clubs to the king-jack-queen and the ace of diamonds and a club lead would beat three no-trump. But three no-trump would have made a mighty good contract.

Four spades was also a very good one, and the 100 honors made it superior in rubber or bridge. The fact that four spades was 20 points more than three no-trump made it a better contract in duplicate.

None of this really concerned South, who took the heart in dummy and played out three rounds of trumps. Then he led a diamond. Dummy's king lost to East's ace and, since West had hung onto all four diamonds, South wound up losing three diamonds and a club.

The way to make four spades is to take full advantage of the trump suit and score six trump tricks. South simply wins the first trick in his own hand and leads a diamond. East takes his ace and returns anything his heart desires. South wins that trick, cashes his queen of diamonds and loses another diamond to West. Now there is no way to keep South from ruffing his last diamond with dummy's queen of trumps. This way you score only two diamonds and one club.

Cigarette Smokers Tend To Be Taller Than Abstainers

AM ASKED WHERE the Rock Creek Game Box came from. That's a cross between a White Rock chicken and a wild Cornish game hen of Russia. A traveling Soviet citizen introduced that breed into this country exactly 20 years ago. . . . MEN WHO smoke cigarettes tend to be taller than non-smokers. Also, they usually have bigger heads. No, I certainly don't understand the why of this one, but extensive studies of Harvard graduates indicate such to be the case. . . . MOSQUITOES — Approximately five years ago a client inquired, "If I had enough mosquitoes to drink a quart of blood in one day, how many mosquitoes would I have? I would now like to address that client in the following: Mosquito search has been undertaken as a result of your inquiry and this department is ready with its reply. It would take 85 diligent mosquitoes. Tests conducted by R. E. Monroe at Oregon State College and R. A. Herms of the U. S. Department of Agriculture produced the foregoing finding. Thank you for waiting. Appreciate your patience. . . . IN MENTIONING Samuel Pepys, you and I pronounce it "Pepys" as always, but Pepys himself and all of his family pronounced it "PEP-is." A friend pronounced it "PEP-is." The scholar who has made a study of the matter is J. W. S. THE CLIM of Dr. Albert Einstein, the humorist, that the zipper was man's greatest invention.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q. "CAN AN OSTRICH outrun a horse?" A. "Easily." Q. "WHICH is the all-time best-selling record album?" A. That would be the sound track of "The Sound of Music." Q. "DON'T SOME of the mouth-smokers use sugar in their stuff?" A. "Surely." Q. "HOW HIGH would $1 million in $1 bills stack up?" A. That stack would be about 65 miles tall. . . . NORTH CAROLINA — "That right?" A. "North Carolina is second. Texas has the most." Q. "WHERE DO YOU get 18 ties on an ordinary house cat?" A. Five on each front paw, four on each hind paw. . . . THE U. S. MAIL — "I note you can call your mail carrier and send children through the mails. As a matter of fact, in 1914 when my father was postmaster at Oklahta, Okla., he sent my little sister by parcel post to relatives in another town." Signed, Mrs. O. A. Bradford Oakes, San Antonio.

Nixon Outlines Policy On Soviets, Communist China

In President Nixon's unprecedented "state of the world" message to Congress he had this to say about United States policy toward Communist China and the Soviet Union:

"It is certainly in our interest, and in the interest of peace and stability, that we take what steps we can toward improved practical relations with Peking."

About the Soviet Union:

"The central problem, in whether our two countries can transcend the past and work together to build a lasting peace, there is no area in which we and the Soviet Union have a greater common interest than in reaching agreement with regard to arms control."

Peking also is the subject of secret talks which began between the Soviets and China last October.

Between the United States and the Soviet Union, it is a search for a practical way by which weapons can safely be diverted to meet pressing economic needs at home.

Between the United States and China, it is an attempt by the United States to pierce the Bamboo Curtain and bring about better relations through an exchange of travelers, businessmen, scholars, tourists and newsmen, and finally through trade.

Court Of Honor Results For Troop No. 65 Announced

Boy Scout Troop No. 65, sponsored by the Twin Falls First Christian Church, recently held a banquet and a Court of Honor. Two Scouts got their Eagle Badge in ceremony. They are Rod Finlayson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Finlayson, and Bob Durland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Durland.

Dr. Paul Houston and Joe Clements presented the awards. During the Court of Honor, Life Badges were presented to Mike Jensen, Tony Betts, John Hartwell, Danny Welch and Bud Hartree by Leo Campeau, district advancement chairman, and Dean Wirsching and Kelly Tra-

News Of Servicemen

Navy Seaman Michael C. Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Barry of 212 Park St., Twin Falls, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea in the Western Pacific. The Coral Sea recently completed its second line period in the Tonkin Gulf while serving in its fifth consecutive tour of duty in support of allied forces in Vietnam.

Navy Firearm Apprentice Terry R. Swainston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Swainston of Rialto, and husband of Mrs. Patricia V. Swainston, all of Richfield, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea in the Western Pacific. The Coral Sea recently completed its second line period in the Tonkin Gulf while serving in its fifth consecutive tour of duty in support of allied forces in Vietnam.

Genie McAnulty, Dental Tech. 3-c, USN, will report aboard the USS America, one of the United States' newest aircraft carriers, around the world-cruise. The aircraft carrier will leave the United States from Norfolk, Va., and is expected to return to

Life Of Movie Star Is Not All Money And Pretty Girls

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The hours are hard to beat and the money is fantastic, not to mention feminine fringe benefits, but movie stardom can be taxing above and beyond the Internal Revenue Service.

George Peppard testifies to the physical hazards involved in acting where pneumonia and fractured limbs are lurking in the wings.

Peppard has made 19 pictures. All but one of them, "Breakfast at Tiffany's," involved violence of one sort or other.

Curiously, George is not a physical type in appearance. He has neat blond hair, mild blue eyes, a modulated voice, and while his physique is above par it falls short of Muscle Beach qualifications.

"My first role in Pork Chop Hill started it all," Peppard said. "They handed me a machine gun and told me to charge up a hill."

"The guns have been getting smaller, but I still have to run up those hills, sit in freezing rain, stand in mud up to my shoulders, get punched around in fights and kicked by horses."

Peppard recently completed "The Executioner" in England and Germany, and "Cannon for Cordoba," in Spain.

"We worked out on the Spanish plains when the temperature was 110 degrees," Peppard recalled. "It was a million laughs, especially when the wind started blowing the dust into our faces."

"The stunt men take most of the falls for actors. But they don't freeze or fry for you and they don't have to run up those hills after the heavies—or away from the heroes. "But in the close-ups, for fights, you have to get in their and take the punches with another actor."

"The problem is that some actors never learn how to pull punches. I remember a scene in one picture where another actor was supposed to hit me right in the stomach. Every time he let me have it full blast. The next day I was bruised purple, green, orange and black."

Peppard was almost killed in "How The West Was Won." He was called on to ride a shifting load of lumber aboard a runaway railroad flatcar, hanging on to the end of the pile. One stunt man was so badly injured he was hospitalized for months.

"In the railroad scene I was thrown off the lumber and missed the pads I was supposed to fall on," Peppard recalled. "I flew through the air 15 feet and then fell 13 feet straight down onto a concrete floor. The director and crew were sure I'd broken my neck. But I was at work the next day,

"All this physical activity means I have to stay in shape to keep up with it. So I do calisthenics every day, play tennis whenever I can and I've gone back to fencing, which I used to teach."

Fights, horses, guns, falls, explosions and the elements are a part of George's life. But he says, "I'd like to do some Dean Martin pictures where the only dangerous things around is a pack of pretty girls."
