Idaho Voters Will Have Opportunity To Ballot On Proposed Revised Constitution

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—The proposed revised constitution, the product of five years' work by a revision commission on Idaho's 80-year-old document, will appear on the general election ballot this November for the vote of the people.

The House cleared the way for the election Thursday when it voted 52-16 to place the revision on the general election ballot. The votes were cast with a minimum of debate and with no changes to the amendments already placed on the revision by the Senate.

Rep. Walter Little, R - New Plymouth, told his colleagues the people would "not accept it as it is written" and asked to move the measure for amendments, but the motion failed.

The activating of the National Guard climaxed the third night of violence. In which a man was shot and wounded following hit-and-run barrages of rocks and bottles by youths on officers.

Gov. Ronald Reagan declared Santa Barbara, an affluent seaside resort and artist colony, to be in "a state of extreme emergency" after 1,500 young persons seized the same three-block business district early Thursday in a rock-and-bottle throwing rampage climaxed by the burning of the business establishments.

In the latest violence, police vehicles and fire equipment driving on the outskirts of the trouble area were pelted with rocks and bottles and four trashcan fires were started.

Reagan asked the state attorney general to investigate whether William Kunstler, attorney for the "Chicago Seven," had crossed state lines to incite a riot in a speech at UCSB Wednesday that preceded a six-hour rampage.

The sheriff's office said the trouble had been "brewing" for some time and that Kunstler's appearance set it off.

Queen Is Delighted With Controversial Portrait

LONDON (UPI)—The public got its first view today of the controversial new portrait of Queen Elizabeth, the one called "clumsy" and "an insult" by critics. The queen said she was delighted with it.

Viewers taking in the 70-by-78 inch portrait at the National Portrait Gallery proclaimed their support for her majesty's opinion. At least 10 persons liked it for every one that didn't.

The queen attended the official unveiling of the portrait Wednesday night, a few hours after Italian painter Pietro Annignoni allowed the press a preview.

For five minutes Elizabeth stood and looked, her courtiers silent. She smiled, bit her lip, then she turned to Annignoni. "I am delighted. With the addition of the varnish, something is added to the picture," the queen said. Annignoni nodded.

Elizabeth looked back at the portrait of an unsmiling monarch, her jaw firm, the colors almost muted in a picture critic Terence Mullaly judged, in today's Daily Telegraph, as a failure.

"To put it at its most charitable" the portrait is clumsy in the extreme and fails to catch the magic that has touched millions. It is more accurate to say that it is an insult," Mullaly wrote.

New Africans Squeeze Out Shop Keepers

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Early in February, a woman of Asian descent with a British passport shuffled helplessly between London and Nairobi, denied entry by either Britain or Kenya.

She was a victim of what is called "Africanization" among new African nations that formerly were British East African colonies.

She was among the many thousands of Pakistani or Indian origin who had lived in East Africa all their lives but had elected to retain British passports as a form of insurance when independence came to Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia, Uganda and Malawi.

Suddenly, they found the insurance was not cashable.

The black Africans who had won political power now were determined also to win economic power for their own poverty-stricken and divided people, and to take it from the Duke of Walla, Swahili for Indian shop keeper.

In Kenya, where the panic among Asians began it was estimated that 80 per cent of all commerce lay in the hands of Indians.

Kenya's purge of noncitizen traders in late 1967 and early 1968 touched off a stampede of 20,000 Indians to Britain, Pakistan and India.

It led Britain, fearful of a massive influx of dark-skinned Asians, to pass the Commonwealth Immigration Act of 1968, limiting to 1,500 a year the number of Asians permitted entry to Britain with their dependents regardless of passports.

How many it affected was uncertain. Estimates of Asians in East Africa with British passports ranged from 50,000 to 200,000.

Increasingly rejected by the Africans, they also found themselves banned from Britain and unwanted in the countries of their ancestry.

In Kenya, there is a waiting list of 10,000 Asians seeking to enter Britain.

Now the panic has spread to Uganda where already there is a backlog of 1,200 persons seeking similar permits.

Uganda's immigration act goes into force on May 1. The law limits work permits to those noncitizens whose presence will not be to the "prejudice of the inhabitants generally of Uganda."

Uganda has 40,000 Asians holding British passports.

CSI Readers Theatre Sets Production

The College of Southern Idaho Readers Theatre production of "Dandelion Wine" will open Thursday at room 110 of the Fine Arts Center.

The production, adapted from a novel of the same name Ray Bradbury, mentally and imaginatively explores the memorable events in the life of a 12-year-old boy, who, during the summer of 1928 becomes suddenly aware of life and its dimensions.

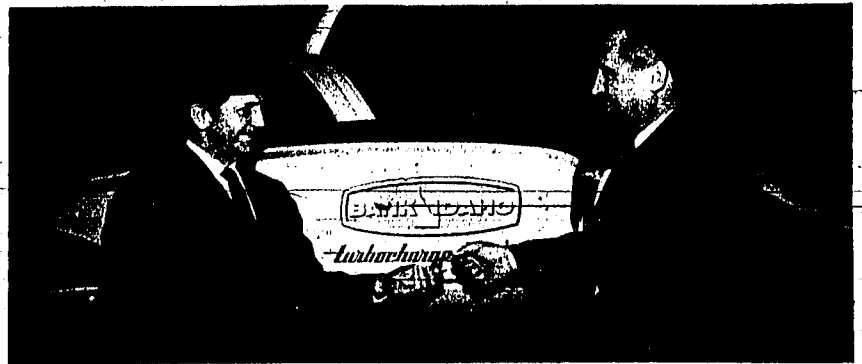

Readers Theatre is a unique theatrical tool where skilled readers stimulate the audience's minds, allowing the listeners to imaginatively create the described stage action and characters.

"Most people find Readers Theatre an exciting art," said Mrs. Fran Tanner, director. "It is a dramatic means of offering the great literary heritage for listening enjoyment. With Readers Theatre, the full dimension of prose, poetry and drama may be imaginatively created in the listener's mind, forging dynamic involvement between author, reader and audience," she said.

Readers appearing in the production are: Tim Bryson as Douglas Spaulding; Cathy Pond as the narrator; Susan Fattig as Lucy; and the nurse, Jean Cape as Grandpa and John Vickie Caughey as Mom, Great Grandma and the telephone operator; Steve Webb as Tom, Dad and Col. Freeleigh, and Cathy Gilbert as Sanderson, Pawnee and Miguel.

CSI students will be charged 25 cents admission and general public 50 cents admission. The production will be at 8:15 p.m. March 5 and 6.

FOUR CSI STUDENTS WHO will be participating in the Readers Theatre production of "Dandelion Wine" at the college next week are, from left, Vickie Caughey, Steve Webb, Susan Fattig and Tim Bryson. The production will be at 8:15 p.m. March 5 and 6 at room 110 of the Fine Arts Center. Readers Theatre offers the audience a chance to participate in creating part of the action in their minds.

T. Jeremiah Beam. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795. As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year that Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

That's a mighty long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

French Head Visits Coast City On Tour

By ROBERT STRAND (UPI)—SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—French President Georges Pompidou arrived in the "Paris of the West" Thursday night amid a mixture of jeers and cheers from about 600 demonstrators parading outside his hotel.

Neither Pompidou nor his attractive wife, both weary from a tour of Cape Kennedy and a 3,000-mile flight across the United States, acknowledged the pickets protesting French policy in the Middle East.

The president has another full schedule today. He planned to visit one of the world's largest atom-smashers at nearby Stanford, address the Commonwealth Club of California on the subject of youth, and host a reception in a replica of the French Palace of the Legion of Honor.

Scores of police patrolled the area, in what was described as the tightest security measures since the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a decade ago, but the crowd dispersed after the Pompidous entered the hotel.

The president and his party arrived in Air Force One, the plane used by President Nixon, and was greeted by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

VICE-PRESIDENT AGNEW tells the conference of governors at Washington that the defendants in the conspiracy trial of the "Chicago Seven" were a "handful of oddballs" who deliberately set out to disrupt the most basic protection of our nation — the courts. (UPI telephoto)

Agnew Tells Governors That Disruption Of Judicial Process Is Plague In Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the "Chicago Seven" and a "handful of oddballs" tried to play politics in court. He warns their tactic of judicial disruption is "spreading like wildfire through the country."

In another round of rhetoric, Agnew told the National Governors Conference Thursday to shun liberal concerns with individual freedom and to marshal public opinion behind them.

"I am convinced that the overwhelming majority of Americans will follow their governors and other elected officials if we will just launch a campaign to exert the force of public opinion to drive these bizarre extremists from their re-empive positions on our television screens and on the front pages of our newspapers," he said. "Most of them need treatment more than publicity."

Agnew said the "overriding and compelling" issue of the day is not inflation or the Vietnam War, but "will the government of this country remain in the hands of its elected officials or will it descend to the streets?"

Referring to the trial of seven persons accused of conspiring to cause violence during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago, Agnew said the rulings of Judge Julius J. Hoffman were not the point at issue. Hoffman sentenced the seven defendants and two of their lawyers to jail on contempt charges after the trial ended.

"The point is that a handful of oddballs deliberately set out to politicize a simple criminal proceeding and to disrupt the most basic protection of our society — the dignity of the courts," he said. "The point is that the new technique of judicial disruption is spreading like wildfire through the country."

Killed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Thursday refused to allow consideration of a bill permitting increased logging in national forests. The 228 to 150 vote in effect killed the bill. The bill had been strongly opposed by conservationists, who technically the legislation could be brought back for more debate, this was considered unlikely.

Bill To Aid Facility Tax

BOISE (UPI)—The House approved 51-0 Thursday a bill which Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, said would exempt the portion of a facility used for water and air pollution control from ad valorem taxes.

Under the measure, the State Tax Commission or the county assessor would determine the portion of the facility, which could be equipment or machinery designed for pollution control, which could be exempted.

Bill Passed To Aid Viet Vets

BOISE (UPI)—The State Senate Thursday passed and sent to the House a bill to allow Vietnam veterans 60 days to obtain Idaho drivers licenses after their return from active duty.

Floor sponsor Sen. Ken Harten, R-Pocatello, said other states provide the leeway to returning veterans. He said the veterans could have lost their drivers licenses or it could be outdated.

"They could have lost it in combat," he said.

The bill, which passed 35-0, would allow them to drive while they apply for a new license.

Sex Measure Passes House With Smiles

BOISE (UPI)—With smiles and occasional admissions the legislation was really serious, so the House approved, 62-0, Thursday a bill which requires local participation when family life or sex education programs are formulated.

Rep. Melvin Hammond, D-Rexburg, spoke in defense of the measure which would require participation by local school boards, parents and community groups.

"We are not dictating to them," he said. "We are allowing them to do what they like."

Rep. Aden Hyde, R - Idaho Falls, who said opposing the measure was "equivalent to being against motherhood," noted he was confused about an "odd" sentence in the measure.

He read aloud the section wherein it is the belief of the legislature the major emphasis in such a program would be to assist the home in "giving them the knowledge and appreciation of the important place the family home holds in the social system of our culture."

Hyde asked, tongue-in-cheek, whether the "them" mentioned referred to the "children, the local school boards, the parents or interested groups."

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, said later he had checked with the measure's sponsor and was told "anyone unless they failed to go to kindergarten, could understand these words."

Senate Rejects Bill On Judges

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Senate, by a 13-16 vote, today killed a proposal that provides that magistrates could be retained in office only by a majority vote of the people.

Floor sponsor Sen. David Blomens, R-Payette, said, "this would give the people an opportunity to help select their own judges."

But Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, said such a bill would "destroy the whole principle of court reform."

The magistrate system will go into effect in July. The magistrates are part of the new court reform package passed by the last session of the Idaho legislature.

Under the system proposed in court reform, magistrates are appointed to office.

Boise Concern To Aid In Study

BOISE (UPI)—Boise Cascade Corporation is one of 22 companies selected today for participation in operation breakthrough, the Housing and Urban Development program to spur housing production for low and middle income families.

Secretary George Romney of HUD said Boise Cascade was one of the companies selected to build prototype housing sites across the country.

HUD selected 10 sites and said more than 2,000 housing units would be built under the program. The individual sites will be assigned to the participating companies in the coming months and Romney said construction should begin as early as this summer.

Cruel Punishment? VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—

Superior Court Judge Thomas Healy was denied a petition by Dr. Gexa de Kaplany, presently serving a life sentence at Vacaville prison. Dr. Kaplany, who was convicted of murdering his showgirl wife by drenching her with acid, had charged prison officials with cruel and inhuman punishment for banning him from the prison bridge club.

Physicians Optimistic For Survival Of Quints

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Kienast quintuplets have been taken off their special oxygen-enriched air and their doctor is "guardedly optimistic for their survival."

The parents of the three girls and two boys, Mr. and Mrs. William Kienast, have tentatively named four of them.

The names picked were Amy, Sarah, Abigail and William Gordon.

But a spokesman at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center said those names may be changed and are "not at all official."

"These kids are doing okay," said one of the doctors after checking the infants born six weeks prematurely to 27-year-old Mrs. Margaret Kienast on Tuesday night. Mrs. Kienast and her 35-year-old salesman husband already have two small children, a 4 1/2-year-old daughter and an 18-month-old son.

Mrs. Kienast had taken fertilization pills to overcome ovulation problems since before the birth of her oldest daughter. She got her first look at her new brood Wednesday.

Gold Stock Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States' total gold stock increased by $23 million in January to a total of $188 billion, the Treasury Department reported today.

It was the sixth increase in the last seven months, it boosted the total stock to the highest point since February, 1968.

GETTING READY FOR the Second Snowmobile Carnival at Fairfield are these three snowmobilers. From left are Floyd Crandall, Rex O'Neil and Russell Pate. The event will be held Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m., just east of Fairfield along Highway 88.

Celebrities Must Match Franchises

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Recent senate hearings indicated that the celebrity franchise business in this country is getting badly overcrowded, but I'm sure there is room for a few more.

The secret of success lies in getting the right celebrity to lend his name to the right type of enterprise.

Too often, a celebrity will become the franchiser for a business with which his name had no previous association.

For example, a baseball star who couldn't steer a tortilla around the block may franchise a chain of drive-in Mexican restaurants. And those who invest will be courting bankruptcy.

But if an effort is made to achieve a measure of congruence, I'm convinced that a celebrity franchise will prosper.

One of the faster growing businesses in America right now is that of tax consultant. Two things have combined to make it boom.

One is the computer, which can provide swift computations and the other is the new simplified income tax form, which is driving taxpayers up the wall in record numbers.

With the right celebrity as a figurehead, a nationwide chain of drive-in tax consultant offices should be a tremendous money maker. The celebrity that I have in mind is former heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Second Snowmobile Meet Slated Sunday At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD—Thrills and perhaps a few spills are guaranteed at the second Snowmobile Carnival being planned for Sunday at Fairfield.

Excellent snow conditions and the record attendance at the recent carnival has prompted another performance. The event will begin at 11 a.m. with registration at the track site. It is located just east of Fairfield along Highway No. 88.

The event is being co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the newly formed snowmobile club. Merchants in the area are contributing trophies for some of the events. Trophies will be presented in classes B, C and D with three in each category.

There will be a food booth at the track site and a restaurant will be open in Fairfield.

There will be events open to men, women and children.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and snowmobile club are grading the track in preparation for Sunday's fun. The track is a 3/4 mile WSA regulation oval. Much work has gone into the building of it on the Floyd Crandall farm.

The snowmobile club is in the process of organization and a board of directors have been named. They include Russell Pate, Floyd Crandall, Mrs. Donald Ivie, Mrs. Jack Exon, Fred Mackey, all Fairfield and Sid Byram and Phillip Becker, Gooding. A name has not been selected yet for the club. A trip with 35 in attendance. A group of daring snowmobilers made a trip Monday night to one of the peaks of Soldier Mountain and shot off a flare to show their location to those in the valley below.

Mrs. Mary Stearns, vice orator, presided. Other pro-tem officers were Mrs. Chris Sims, Mrs. Armiga and Mrs. Don Treadwell.

During the business session, Mrs. Stearns was elected alternate delegate to the state convention in place of Mrs. Sue Pratt, who was unable to serve.

A money donation will be made at the state meeting to the state supervisor, Louise Bowen, Nampa, who will in turn take it to the supreme convention in June for the Royal Neighbors Home, Des Moines, Iowa.

The state meeting will be at the American Legion Hall, under the direction of Velma Treadwell, state orator, and Mildred Shobe, state recorder-receiver. USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS FOR FAST SELLING RESULTS

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I scraped enough money together to buy my mother-in-law an electric knife for her birthday. She seemed real pleased with it when I gave it to her.

Yesterday was MY birthday, and guess what she gave me? She gave me back the knife I had given to her, saying she didn't have enough money to buy me anything real nice. What do you think of that?

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: I think she probably wanted only to give you something as "nice" as what you had given her, and this was her way of reciprocating. If I were you I wouldn't be insulted. An "insult" is a malicious act. In my opinion, there was no "insult" intended here.

DEAR ABBY: You are right. A woman who thinks she can change a homosexual by trying him in for a big disappointment.

There is only one combination which can accomplish that near miracle — the homosexual himself with the help of an expert psychiatrist. I know this so because I struggled with homosexuality for years before I was "cured." I am now married to a fine woman who knew about my problem, and I am living a full, normal, healthy life.

I am not saying that every one can do what I did. It takes time, patience, and money. But for me, it was well worth it.

FATHER OF TWO

DEAR FATHER: I am pleased to have your testimony (and those were others) because according to my mail, there are very few "cures." I, too, believe it is possible, but only if the person himself desires it. And no amount of pressure from friends, family, or society will help if the person himself doesn't sincerely want to.

DEAR ABBY: I am still seething as a result of our annual family gathering over the holidays.

My son was home from college with a beard and his hair was a little long, but not shoulder length. He is neat and clean and is a good student, works part time, and we are proud of him.

We were greeted at my sister's door by her two teen-aged, mini-skirted daughters. All during the day, remarks were being made about my "hippie" son, and the conversation kept going back to the "long-haired irresponsible youth."

I don't think it is any more reasonable to link bearded students with hippies than it would be to consider all mini-skirted girls as street walkers or prostitutes, and this is what I said. Was I out of line?

P.A.

DEAR P.A.: No. And I hope you said it clearly enough so that those who needed to hear it did.

DEAR ABBY: Noble try, Abby. Trying to apply the FOR little Sweden and sex education in our public schools, but it won't work.

I predict that the John Birchers will advise you that statistics from the World Health Organization are "not reliable" since it is controlled by the United Nations, and the U.N. is controlled by the Communists, and the Communists are trying to destroy us by pretending that sex is enjoyable and desirable.

Perhaps my sarcasm is not quite sharp enough for the knuckleheads, so I had better explain that as far as I know, storks are responsible only for baby storks. Signed,

A MIDDLE-AGED PROFESSIONAL MAN

the cost of long distance calling has gone down Again

Back in 1915, a coast-to-coast call cost $20.70. Ever since, the cost has been a steady progression downward.

Now — for the 26th time — we're initiating the biggest Long Distance reductions in our history. You save money no matter what time of the day or which day of the week when you direct-dial an out-of-state call.

For instance, you can now direct-dial a call anywhere coast-to-coast, three minutes, for just 85 cents or less a week night from 5 till 11. That's 15 cents cheaper and 10¢ hours to go.

You can make that same call for 70 cents on week-ends from 8 AM Saturday to 5 Sunday night. That's 30 cents cheaper.

On weekdays, you can make that call from 8 to 5:11 PM for $1.35. That's 35 cents cheaper.

A major reason for these reductions, of course, is improved technology, a job we consider our constant responsibility.

With most other costs going up, it gives you a good deal of pleasure to share with you one that's going down.

Bob Carr Wins FFA Public Speaking Contest In T.F.

BOB CARR

Bob Carr, president of the Twin Falls FFA Chapter and State FFA secretary, won the West Magic FFA District public speaking contest this week. The contest was held in Twin Falls and won over seven other speakers from Jerome, Filer, Kimberly Hagerman, Gooding, Buhl and Carey.

Second place winner was Mark Barnes, Jerome, and Leslie Sweet, Carey, was third. Bob was named state secretary about a month ago. He is a senior at Twin Falls and was district president until he assumed the state office.

The next district contest will be on March 21 at either Gooding or Wendell and will be on meat identification, dairy products and milk judging and grading contests and district cooperative contest.

Bob and Mark will compete on March 10 at 7 p.m. in Valley High School with the two winners from East Magic FFA District for the area public speaking contest. The area parliamentary procedure contest also will be held at this time.

Labor Group Elects Aides

BURLEY — The Cassia Farm Labor Association elected directors and voted an increase in assessments during the recent regular meeting. The group re-elected Charles Gummerson and LaMar Bowers to the board for three-year terms. Holdover directors include Mark Dayley, who was re-elected chairman of the organization; Milton Payne, secretary, and Calvin Crane.

The increase in assessments was required because of new building requirements of the previous year based on new federal and state regulations, Mr. Dayley said. Notices of the increase will be set on the best contracts, he added.

The increase amounts to 35 cents per acre for the farmer from $1.40 to $1.75 per acre. The previous fee of 80 cents for farm housing of the migrants will be raised to 85 cents per acre with the additional 35 cents going toward a permanent building fund. The original 50 cents will be used for maintenance and operation of the Burley Labor Camp.

The financial report for 1969 was discussed. Mr. Payne outlined the improvements that were made during the past year to upgrade the labor camp to meet the requirements by law. J. Weldon Beck, county commissioner, met with the group seeking help from the association regarding migrants who are treated at Cassia Memorial Hospital and then leave without paying their bill. The Labor Association voted to furnish the hospital with a list of those migrants staying at the Burley Labor Camp so the residences of those needing hospital care can be verified.

TOP SPEAKER. In the recent East Magic FFA District's speech contest was Stanley Preston, Declo, right, shown here accepting the trophy from Orlo Kidd, Declo, district president. The contest was held recently in Murtaugh and second place winner was Clay Harrison, Minico, and Jim Lattimer, Murtaugh, was third. Preston and Harrison will compete on March 16 at Valley High School with West Magic FFA District for the area contest.

Farm AND Ranch SECTION

Signs Of Spring

Along Fences And Canals

S. C. (Buzz) Peterson, Richfield, has returned to work for the Riverwood Land and Livestock Ranches after helping in the lambing this winter for his uncle, Lee Peterson.

Milking and feeding at the James Powell ranch, Richfield, has been done the past two weeks by Don Harp and Rick Brown while the Powells vacationed on the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gallo, Tuttle, are enlarging their milk barn and installing a bulk tank to facilitate handling their 40-cow herd.

On the Ray Blair Reservoir Ranch, Glenns Ferry, fence building has been keeping the men busy so as to pen the cattle away from the fields they want to get ready for spring planting soon. They had 60 new calves, mostly Angus and white faces.

Lafe Harris and Bob Korb of the Reservoir Ranch are starting a new process, that of spring bedding, preparing the ground in spring, well before planting time. Also they are installing a sprinkling system for 180 acres. Korb says it really takes more man-hours to irrigate that way but is far more efficient and conserves water considerably over ditches.

Mr. and Mrs. Morle Race, north Shoshone, have purchased the farm of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Mitchell in that area. A farm sale will be held by the Mitchells on March 5.

Larry Draper, who leased the Earl Hoast farm at Hammett this year, is preparing to plant barley on 60 acres. Later he will put in sugar beets and sweet corn, hoping for a better year than last on the beet crop.

4 Successful In Getting Relief For Beet Growers

A committee of four Southern Idaho beet growers have been successful in getting some relief from Farmers Home Administration for sugar beet growers in five counties that suffered crop losses last year from the white fly infestation.

Delbert Clappitt, Kimberly, chairman of the committee, said they went to Washington to meet with James Smith, administrator of Farmers Home Administration, requesting loans be made available to low income growers in the five counties. The four also met with the Idaho congressmen.

Growers affected include 32 in Elmore and Owyhee Counties, 36 in Gooding County, 28 in Jerome County and 16 in Twin Falls County. These growers had under 11-ton yields.

A few days after the committee returned from Washington, the FHA announced that their "part test" basis will be made available to those growers affected in the five counties.

Mr. Clappitt said while meeting with Mr. Smith and the Idaho Congressmen, the committee urged the FFA officials to investigate the situation of those growers affected in the five counties.

The committee told the officials that many areas do not have tornadoes and hurricanes, thus would not qualify as disaster areas for funds, unless a special request is granted as was in the case of Idaho beet growers.

The committee also told Idaho's congressmen that they and others in Congress be alerted to the upcoming Sugar Act and to support growers in the Sugar Act. About $20 million annually, through the Sugar Act taxes, goes into the general fund and is not returned to the grower.

Another program the committee stressed that Congress look into was the feed grains allotment program.

The Idaho congressional delegation told the committee members that Idaho farmers need to write their own legislation that are coming up in the farm bill. The Idaho congressmen request that these letters be written now. Also agribusiness people are requested to write in getting important agriculture legislation passed.

The other members of the committee, besides Mr. Clappitt, were Clyde Hipwell, Grand View; Vernal Hawks, Glenn's Ferry; and Wayne Draper, Mountain Home.

California Bans DDT On Cotton, Corn

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Reagan Administration announced plans to further curtail DDT in California by banning its use in cotton and sweet corn fields. Cotton is the largest single user of the controversial pesticide in the state.

A University of California pesticide authority estimated that the latest proposed ban coupled with those already in effect would reduce use of DDT by at least 75 per cent of its current level.

Agriculture director W. Fielder said the department plans to abolish DDT and its sister bug-killer DDD on sweet corn effective Oct. 1.

This would give certain cotton growers in the San Joaquin Valley one more full growing season before the ban took effect. It would give the sweet corn crop no such lead time.

The department says methylparathion, an organic phosphate, has been developed for use as a substitute on cotton to fight the cotton bollworm. Spokesmen said an alternate phosphate compound is undergoing government registration and will be available to corn growers late next month.

The department's proposed ban is subject to protest but Fielder said, "I don't anticipate any opposition."

Eliminating DDT on corn and cotton is part of the department's announced program to phase out use of DDT within the next 18 months. Already banned is use of DDT for home use and on 61 crops and certain farm animals.

Dr. J. E. Swill, statewide coordinator of pesticides at Berkeley, noted that no precise records are kept but estimated the latest proposed curtailment would wipe out 75 per cent of the uses of DDT in California by the end of the year.

These states contained 7.3 million head.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions about your social security, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. — A friend of mine who has changed jobs a lot says he checks his social security record frequently to make sure it is correct. Can he really do that whenever he wants to?

A. — Your friend is wise to check on the accuracy of his social security record, especially since he changes jobs frequently. It's a good idea to ask the Social Security Administration to send you a statement of your earnings every three years or so if you change jobs often. The statement shows your total earnings under social security, including any self-employment you may have had, and basic pay for active duty in the armed forces. Of course, earnings you might have in a recent period will not appear on the statement.

ment due to the time lag involved in getting the records from the Internal Revenue Service and posting the information on the individual social security accounts. Your Social Security office can give you a post card form to request a statement of your earnings under social security.

Q. — I started my own business at home after a recent illness forced me to quit my job with a jewelry manufacturing company. I know that self-employed persons are responsible for paying their own social security contributions, but I don't know just how or when to go about it. Can you help me out? — Keep April 15th in mind because that is the deadline for filing your Federal income tax return. Your social security report of income from self-employment is a part of your Federal tax return. You need internal Revenue form 1040, and schedules C, SE, and T. These should be filled out after any year in which you have NET earnings of $400.00 or more from self-employment. You can get copies of the forms and instructions for completing them from any Internal Revenue Service office.

pollination and good healthy alfalfa plants are important for top alfalfa seed production, growers were told during a recent area alfalfa seed growers meeting in Twin Falls. Discussing these two items were Hugh Homan, Caldwell, University of Idaho's area extension entomologist, and Dr. John Kolar, Kimberly, University of Idaho associate agronomist.

Alfalfa Seed Growers Hear Production Developments

The leafcutter bee behavior, predators and parasites, bee management and insect control were discussed by Mr. Homan. He said the leafcutter bee is a good pollinator. Other major pollinators are the honey bees and the alkali bees.

He said the alkali bees are the best, but because they cannot be controlled, the leafcutters are used by most alfalfa seed producers. He said the leafcutters will stay on the property where the alkali bees won't. On nesting material, for the bees, Mr. Homan said the drilled boards are the best for the leafcutters. To produce good seed crops a minimum of 3,000 female bees per acre are needed, Mr. Homan said. He said with the minimum of 3,000 female bees the grower can expect about 600 pounds of seed per acre.

On insect control, Mr. Homan listed several insecticides that may be used in controlling the insects that hamper the bees, nesting materials and alfalfa crop in general. On row and plant spacings, Dr. Kolar said experiments the past three years show that row spacings of 24 inches and plant spacings of 24 inches produced the best yields.

Also speaking was John Robinson, area manager for W. R. Grace and Co. He spoke on for top seed production. Mr. Homan was one of several speakers during the recent alfalfa seed growers meeting in Twin Falls.

trends in production and marketing. Speaking on behalf of the growers was Ralph Breeding, Hansen seed grower. A panel discussion was moderated by Donald Young, Twin Falls County agent. Members of the panel were Mr. Homan, Dr. Kolar, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Breeding, Don Roemer, Northrup King and Co., and Dr. Douglas Sutherland, entomologist at the Idaho State University, Twin Falls Branch Experiment Station, Kimberly.

Milk Fever Study Is Outlined To Area Dairymen

The milk fever study recently completed by an University of Idaho graduate student was outlined briefly to area dairymen at several dairy schools in Magic Valley.

The schools were held in Burley, Wendell, Shoshone, and Twin Falls. The study was conducted by Edward Flex. He explained the study at three of the schools, but because he had to get back to the University to study, he missed the Twin Falls school. Dave Tucker, dairy researcher at the Caldwell station, explained the milk fever study at the Twin Falls school.

The survey showed that when the calcium in dairy cows drops 10 percent, then the cow is stricken with milk fever. The calcium is regulated by the parathyroid gland and when the gland is not functioning correctly when the cow calves, milk fever symptoms show up.

To help reduce the incidents of milk fever in dairy herds, dairymen were told to put vitamin D into the cow's stomach from three to eight days before calving. In feeding the calcium ratio to phosphorus should be as close to 3 to 1 as possible, dairymen were told.

Emergency Loans Available For Potato Growers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho potato growers who suffered severe production losses from frost in 1969 and who cannot obtain credit elsewhere are eligible for emergency loans, Sen. Len S. Jordan and Rep. Orval Hansen said recently.

They said the emergency loans can be obtained through the Farmers Home Administration. They said they have requested authority for such loans after growers had written them of a need for such credit in order to plant a new potato crop.

Jordan and Hansen noted about one-third of the Idaho potato crop was damaged in a harvest-time freeze, but the extent of the damage was not known in many cases until after the potatoes were in storage.

Publicity Outlined At Jerome Meet

SHOSHONE — Value of publicity and current scope of accepted Farm Bureau publications by radios and newspapers in Idaho were outlined at a meeting of the District Farm Bureau women held at Wood's Cafe, Jerome, reports district president, Mrs. Ervin Braun, Shoshone.

Mike Adams, state Farm Bureau information director, was guest speaker, stating 85 per cent of the radio stations now use the Farm Bureau programs and he sends 50 weekly newspapers publications, many of which are using them.

In giving instructions to the women on "how to prepare their publicity for print," he said the writer should be familiar with Farm Bureau policies, find out from the editors the style they want used and then follow it as this will guarantee more printing of the material.

A positive approach was suggested by the speaker in preparing news articles, and those turning in the news were told to watch the time element, be prompt, accurate, proper name of married women, leave out minor details, and he announced the 25 of the month is the deadline for getting material to the State office for printing in their publication.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Joy Strode, Blaine County, was secretary of the day. The district talent contest will be held at 8 p.m. July 31.

A special speaker will be obtained for the March 18 meeting to be held at Wood's cafe, Jerome. This meeting will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Reports on activity since November were given with Mrs. Fred Thleme, Twin Falls county chairman.

Mr. Jack Bell, Jerome County chairman, reported six schools are participating in their poster safety contest. They have had programs on pollution, have been active in writing letters to legislators, and have gone to Boise for this purpose also. They will provide lunch for a bull sale April 4, with some of the proceeds to go toward improving equipment at the fair booth.

Ed Jennings, Gooding county chairman, reported on the Richfield community meeting held this month, stating another will be held there in March and one in Shoshone in March with the Community meeting at Dietrich to be held between now and the March meetings.

Lincoln county women have been active in legislation.

Miracle Of Crowing Rooster Illustrates Power Of Prayer

By BETTY HEAD, Shawneetown, Illinois

From far away came a terrifying noise. As I realized it was the alarm, I groaned. How could it be 4 o'clock already?

It was Easter morning seven years ago, and I was in charge of the outdoor sunrise service at our church, Emmanuel Methodist. My long-suffering husband and I bundled our three small sons into the car and drove to the church.

A pantomime of the events between the Last Supper and the Resurrection was quite an undertaking, involving a cast of almost 30 teen-agers and young adults and tons of props. Two months of rehearsal were behind us. I was so tired that the back of my neck felt like fire. I knew the others were just as tired.

What if no one came? I wondered as I entered the dark building. What if the choir didn't show up? What if I stopped myself. Instead of more doubts, I closed my eyes and whispered for the last time the brief prayer that had been repeated by all of us in the past few weeks.

"Father, just use us: Let the people see Your hand in this." I heard laughter outside, and two teen-agers came in, reporting they had forgotten their things. Then everyone seemed to come in a rush. I went from group to group, going over their cues.

Somewhere in this confusion we discovered that no one had been asked to supply the sound effects when it came time for the cock to crow three times. Panic-stricken, I searched out each cast member, begging for someone to imitate a rooster.

Under different circumstances, those rooster auditions would have been hilarious. But now they were only frustrating. The only possible crower in the group was a choir member who would be in full view of the audience.

I sneaked a peep outside. The churchyard was full. An audience like that, and no rooster? I watched from behind the church as the characters began to move silently in accordance with the passage of scripture being read. Somehow, in the first light from the sun, the words took on a new reality. The stillness felt actually holy.

When the boy portraying Peter bent to warm his hands at our small fire, I remembered the rooster. I hoped fervently that the minister would not pause at that passage. The words came clearly:

"And immediately, while he yet spake, the cock crew..."

The young minister's rich voice filtered, his hands holding the Bible shook, and even the crowd caught its breath as it happened.

Faintly, yet ever so distinctly, from the direction of the city limits, came the crow of a rooster heralding the dawn. Into the silence came the cry—once, twice, three times!

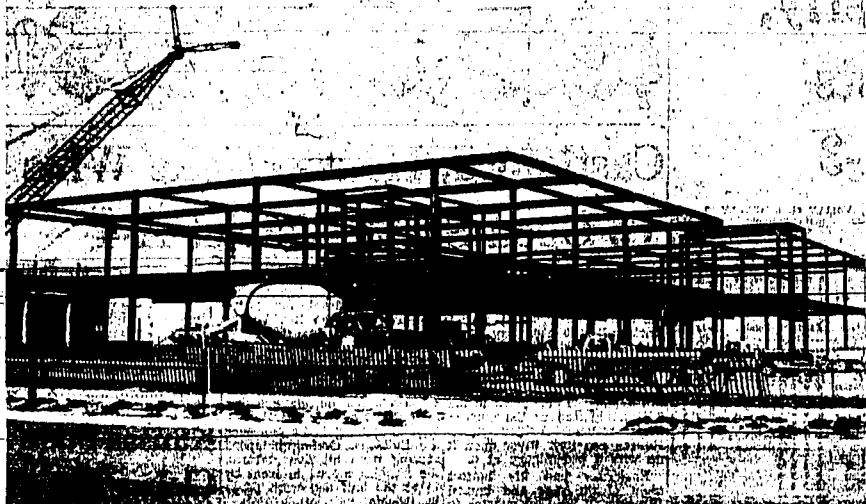

The cast was stunned. The minister recovered and went on. There was no time to speak to one another, but there was an awareness in the air, like electricity. Had God performed a little miracle just for us?

The rest of the service was like a dream. Each actor who came off whispered, "Did you hear the rooster?" As the closing hymn died away, the audience began to buzz, "Did you hear the rooster?"

During the following week the word spread throughout the community. "You should have been at the sunrise service." When the preacher came to the place where the rooster crowed three times, one did! It was well, like a miracle.

With all the gigantic problems and needs of our world, this experience may seem trivial. But I wonder—doesn't God work in small as well as big events? I think He does, for exciting things have happened to people in our church. As for me, I have come to look for God's hand in the little things of each day.

"Bridging Generation Gap" Is Dance Theme At O'Leary

"Bridging the Generation Gap" is not only the theme of the O'Leary Junior High School's dance tonight, but is the sincere thought behind the event. Personal invitations have been sent to all parents with students attending O'Leary Junior High School. In presenting ideas for the "Bridging the Generation Gap" function, Mr. Wiseman pointed out the generation gap phrase became very popular during the 1960's and to help in closing the gap was a perfect way to start the 1970's.

Norman Wiseman, vice principal and dean of boys, presented the idea first during a student body meeting and got such marvelous response that students, parents, the PTA and faculty are assisting to make it a success. It is scheduled from 8 to 11 p.m. today in the school gymnasium where students have been working overtime for the elaborate decorations. The event is planned as an educational experience for the students whose parents will dance with them to their type of music and in return the students will dance to tunes familiar to the parents, thus exposing each group to the others' music. Dance music will be furnished by the Allan-Devries Orchestra.

Wood River Nips Filer On Kimball's Shot In Last Five Seconds; Jerome Shocks Buhl 51-47 In A-2 Openers

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

BUHL — Mike Kimball's 12-foot swisher with five seconds left lifted Wood River past Filer 52-51 and Jerome, sparked by a sudden eight-point flurry by Dick Davis, reached out of an 18-second timeout to beat Buhl's Indians 51-47 in a slumping opening of the fourth district A-2 basketball tournament Thursday night.

Kimball's two-pointer came just 90 seconds after the Wolverines appeared to have little or no chance of putting down Filer, which itself had come from off the pace to manage a six-point lead.

Action continues Friday night with Buhl going against Filer at 7:30 p.m. and Gooding, which draw the 129, taking on Wood River in the night. Jerome has the winner-bracket by now and will advance to the championship semifinal against the Gooding-Wood River winner at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Wood River's victory came after the Wolverines opened hot and racked up a 10-2 lead before Gary Wright began working the offensive backboard hard and brought Filer back. Wright hits three straight buckets to pull Filer to within 14-13 and two Guy Ramsey goals, following a shot by Rick Aldinger, gave the Wolverines their first lead at 17-16. After two ties, Thompson and Kimball hit to give the Wolverines a 25-21 halftime margin.

From then on it was a donnybrook with a pair of four-point Wood River leads being the largest. Late in the third period Dick Aslett hit to give Filer its second lead but again Kimball hit before the buzzer and then opened the fourth period with another. But Wright and Hadley shot Filer back on top and then came the flurry that Dick Aslett might break the game open.

Olsen got it started with two free throws and Aslett continued it with two buckets—a long jumper and a cripple off a steal—and Hadley added a jumper to explode Filer in front 47-40. Aldinger and Little Jeff Isom pulled the Wolverines back to within four before Ramsey hit three points to send Filer on top 50-44 with 1:43 left. Then it was mostly Kimball.

His free throw with 1:40 left and came up with a three-point play, nine seconds later, after Filer shot from four or five feet sailed completely over the backboard. After another missed cripple by Filer, Patterson hit a jumper from the foul line to fashion the 50-50 tie.

No scoring occurred during the next 33 seconds although a lot of effort was spent. Then Olsen hit a free throw with 30 seconds remaining. Wood River was in deep trouble when it threw the ball away with 31 seconds left, but Filer had a travelling turnover 16 seconds later.

With one last-ounce, a situation similar to a regular-season meeting between the two at Filer which the Wolverines mistimed on, Wood River brought the ball down court and fed Daryle James on the high post. Three Filer men collapsed on him and he shunted the ball off to Kimball on the baseline and that was that. Filer had five seconds left but threw the ball away as the game ended.

In the first game, Buhl also rushed into a quick lead but it didn't work for the Indians. Ralph Keeney got an opening bucket and Jim Anderson added three field goals as Buhl quickly established an 8-0 margin. But after Jim Meeks got Jerome off zero with a bucket, Buhl couldn't score. The Indians went eight minutes and 30 seconds without a field goal—but five free throws.

Meanwhile, Jerome pecked away and took its first lead two and one-half minutes into the second period on a pair of Scheer free throws. Davis, who was going to be a hero before long, hit to make it 16-13 and that was Jerome's biggest lead until the final period.

In between the teams were tied four times and the lead changed hands seven times. But scoring remained low as both teams shot less than 30 percent from the field.

It became evident that a six or eight-point flurry could decide it and Davis started providing it with 4:19 left in the contest. His inside jumper gave Jerome's 41-40 lead but Buhl's Multhead shoved the Indians back in front nine seconds later with a three-point play.

Davis tied it and then reeled off four more points to make it 47-43 for Jerome with 3:00 remaining. Harper brought Buhl back to within two 90 seconds later but Buhl had to go to fouls as Jerome went into a deep delay.

Davis foiled the first attempt by hitting both free throws with 56 seconds remaining and 11 seconds after that Anderson brought Buhl back to within two at 47-49 on a driving layup.

But Jerome wasted the next 33 seconds in a delay before Buhl fouled and Cappa hit a free throw. Scheer cleared it up with a pair from the line with five seconds remaining.

Infrequent Winners, McGowan, Marr, Lead Doral Golf Tourney

MIAMI (UPI)—Jack McGowan and Dave Marr, two hungry pros, shot twin five-under-par 65s Thursday to share a two-stroke lead after the opening round of the $150,000 Doral Eastern Open golf tournament.

McGowan and Marr led Charles Coody, Larry Hinson, Dan Sikes, Jim Colbert, Dave Stockton and Brian Barnes through the windblown first day of the tournament. All the runners-up were bunched at 69.

Back in the pack were Arnold Palmer, grouped with six others four strokes off the pace at one-under-par 71, and defending champion Tom Shaw, who stayed within reach by putting together par 30s for a 72, along with 11 other golfers.

Sam Snead, 57, playing in his first tour tournament of the year and beginning a tuneup for the Masters, shot an one-over 73. Marr is looking for his first victory on the tour, since the 1965 PGA. McGowan's last win was in the Mountain View, Calif., 903, in 1966.

Marr played in the morning, when the wind was stronger on Doral's par 72. Buhl's Koster course, but he played sweeter and seemed not to be bothered. He came to his final hole of the day at six-under, but a 75-foot putt on the par 3 ninth fell 10 feet short and it took two more strokes for him to get down for a bogey four, setting him back to five-under and into the 10 with McGowan. The Litchfield Park, Ariz., golfer, who likes to spend most of his non-golfing time with the beautiful people in New York, birdied his first two holes, took a bogey four on the fourth, and finished his first nine with a birdie three on the wicked, lake-lined 18th.

Playing the front nine last, he took a birdie four on the 53rd yard first, shot birdie threes on the sixth and seventh, drew to six-under on the par five eighth, then came up with the bogey for a three-under-par 33.

McGowan, switching from cigarettes to a "slim line" cigar as his confidence blossomed on the 18th hole, pulled into the tie with 36-year-old Marr on the 183-yard parthree 15th with a birdie two. He parred the remaining three holes.

He missed a 12-foot putt on the 18th that would have given him the lead, but he was happy with the tie.

"I played fairly good. I missed only one green," he said. He said the slackening of the wind during the afternoon round helped him.

McGowan, 39, started his charge early with birdies on the par five first and on the par four second. He matched par until the eighth, which he birdied with a four and finished the front nine in 33. He stuck to par on the back nine except for a birdie four on the fifth and the bogey on the sixth.

Stockton finished the first nine even and birdied three holes on the back nine for his 69.

Burnes, a nervous rookie from Sussex, England, playing in only his fifth tournament on the American tour, finished his first nine with a 33 and a one-stroke early lead that faded later. The British Ryder Cup member then shot a par 36 coming home for his 69.

NIT Awaits Outcome Of Weekend Tilts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Invitation Tournament selection committee is going to wait one Monday before naming additional teams to the 33rd annual tourney.

A spokesman for the NIT said Thursday that the committee had decided to wait until the weekend is over to name any more teams because "a large of the contending teams have important games scheduled."

The NIT selected four of the 16 teams for the tourney—LSU, Marquette, Georgia Tech and St. John's—on Wednesday.

Four more teams are expected to come from the Atlantic Coast and Missouri Valley conferences. The NIT is expected to take both the second and third place clubs in those strong conferences.

The other eight spots will go to independents and to conference runners-up.

The NIT opens on March 13 and will close on March 21. Temple beat Boston College in last year's finale but neither team will make it back this season.

Brock Signs With Cards

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals said today that Lou Brock had ended his brief holdout and signed a contract for his seventh season with the club.

Aviation Director Asks Study By Board

BOISE (UPI)—Chet Moulton, state aeronautics director, told the House Counties and Municipalities Committee Wednesday night he suggests the aviation industry be asked to study a measure to create a board to operate his department.

Moulton said the industry then should "come back in a year with a bill."

Moulton's testimony came before the committee on a bill that would establish a three-member board of aeronautical directors.

Providing testimony in favor of the bill were airport commission directors from Twin Falls and Pocatello and the mayor of Lewiston.

But Moulton said, "I hate to see something come in so hard and so fast without any introduction whatever."

Three Beauty Queens Visit At Church

Three beauty queens and an ecclesiastical leader will be special guests at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the United Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

The three young ladies recently won honors for their beauty and talent. Becky Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Sullivan, is Miss Twin Falls; Carolyn Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Harvey, is Miss Bodee Idaho, and Laura Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent, is Idaho's Junior Miss.

Rev. C. Keith Mills, district superintendent of the Snake River District, Oregon-Idaho Methodist Conference, will make his official visit here and speak at both the 9 and 11 a.m. services.

The three young ladies and their parents and Rev. Mills will be guests at a basket dinner following the 11 a.m. service in the fellowship hall.

CHAMBER SINGERS from the Gem State Academy, Caldwell, will present a program of sacred music at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The Chamber Singers have toured the Northwest, presenting concerts of sacred and secular music. Richard Kaping, director, has worked with similar groups in Colorado before coming to the academy two years ago. The public is invited.

Can You Make God's Team? Challenges Ministerial Aide

By CHET BARTLETT
SECRETARY, TWIN FALLS
Ministerial Fellowship

We hear much criticism of the church, both from those who consider themselves a part of the church and those who feel they are outside it. There is much validity to some of the criticism — there is a kernel of truth in other and then there is criticism which is unfounded.

Undoubtedly, those of us who call ourselves Christians have been the worst enemy of the church — the same is true at the personal level, most of us are our own worst enemies. Jesus continues to ask us the same question that he asked his disciples, "Are you like the people who 'have eyes, do not see, and having ears, do not hear?'"

One of the reasons we fail as individuals to be better Christians is that we have never really learned the rules of the game. We are like the boy who takes his basketball in the yard and becomes proficient at putting the ball through the hoop, but never learns how to work with his team-mates; or we are like the girl who learns to drive a car but never learns the rules of the road.

It isn't enough for us to be part-Christian — we have to learn more than a few skills — we need to become students of the game. As in anything else, proficiency comes with study and practice and there is our first clue to our mediocre performance. Most of us do not take the necessary time to be good students of Christianity — we seem to assume that if we give as much time as it is convenient for us to give; or if we give the time we have left over after everything else, then we can "keep our hand in," as the saying goes.

Jesus told us that life is hard on those who do not use their gifts — "the man who has something will get more given to him. But as for the man who has nothing, even his 'nothing' will be taken away." We know what happens to muscles of the body that are not used — they become weaker and weaker until they lose all their strength and power. Why should our spiritual muscles treat us any differently? We need to take time to keep our spiritual muscles in shape — to use what talents we have.

Secondly, we need to learn to be good and faithful team-mates. What kind of a basketball team would the local high school or college have if the players only showed up when they felt like it? If we want to be on God's team we must discipline ourselves to show up for practice — i.e. worship, study, prayer, service, etc. A good team is one whose players have the strengths and weaknesses of every other member on the team. If we also have a pretty good idea of what his team mates expect of him.

If we are to be a good member of God's team we too must know our fellow players and ourselves — we must be a part of some kind of a small meaningful group that works together to win the game. A group that helps each individual to become a better person — a more effective child of God; and at the same time develops some group goals that are in keeping with Kingdom building for the team members to work toward.

Thirdly, we must realize that our task as a Christian is to be faithful to Christ's great commandment — to love God and to love our neighbor as ourself. This shouldn't be too difficult, but somehow we manage to make it a confused and impossible task. Our chief error, it seems to me, is that we think this means that everyone should love us and make our lives happy and easy. This isn't the example of Jesus and during this Lenten season we should be painfully aware of it.

Jesus did not have a wide circle of friends. He won a few people to him, yet through most of them deserted him in the pinch and left him to go to his death without them. But many other people (most people, in fact), rejected him.

Who Jesus did call to a cause and his loyalty to his heavenly Father that made his disappointments bearable. If as Christians we would give Christianity a try, for a change, we might find that we would learn to enjoy it. We know that people enjoy doing those things that they do well. Maybe the reason so many people do not enjoy being Christian is that they have never taken the trouble to really learn the game. If God had tried out for members of his team, do you think you could make it?

Kimberly WSCS Lists Meetings

KIMBERLY — The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Kimberly United Methodist Church with Mrs. Don Kilborn giving the devotions based on "First Timothy, Chapter Four,

Bible Thoughts

The Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.—I Samuel 16:7.

God never simply answers a prayer. Our cup runs over. He pours it on beyond our wildest imaginings.

Now unto him who is able to keep you from falling . . .

"Blue Ribbon Affair" Theme Of LDS Parent, Youth Show

Interdependence upon one another is the theme stressed in this year's annual Parent and Youth program, "A Blue Ribbon Affair," which the Twin Falls LDS West Stake MIA plans for Tuesday and Thursday.

The program will be held at 8 p.m. both days in the West Stake Center on Harrison Street, Twin Falls.

In a successful and happy family, everyone needs to depend on others for many things, which involves a spirit of co-operation. The musical play depicts the trials and joys of healthy competition that come to families who resolve their differences by understanding and some "giving" and "taking."

The show has all the excitement of a real county fair with

Bible Thoughts

And God saw—everything he had made, and behold, it was very good.—Genesis 1:31.

We must be careful when we are tempted to curse everything in all creation. God was pleased with it. To despair of the future would be to doubt God's judgment.

Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?—John 9:2.
Jesus replies, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents. But the glory of God can become plain in the midst of evil.

Burley Group Hears About CAA Center

BURLEY — Mrs. Carol Martin, director of the Neighborhood Center, was guest speaker during the monthly luncheon and meeting of the United Presbyterian Women at the church.

Mrs. Martin told of her work at the center and of the many problems and situations that happen at the center. The center tries to help people to help themselves, and they need a chance to become independent.

The children at the center have free play time, are served a full course meal and are trained in educational play until they reach the age of five when they enter the Head Start program. Many of these children lack love, they think no one cares and it takes a lot of understanding and work to make them feel like joining in with the groups of children, Mrs. Martin pointed out.

The Neighborhood Center is under the Community Action Agency.

Volunteer help is always welcome and greatly needed at the center, reported Mrs. Martin.

It was announced the ladies are planning a rummage sale March 13 and 14 with details to be announced. Volunteers are needed to assist with the eye testings program and persons able to help should contact Mrs. Raymond H. Johnson.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. William Moxam, Mrs. Don Baber, Mrs. Max Larson, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Pickrell. All are on the execution committee of the United Presbyterian Women's Association.

Variety Show Is Planned By Lutherans

"Ballyhoo," a combined ho-tentenny and variety show, will be presented by the Waller League of Immanuel Lutheran Church and the Luther League of Our Savior Lutheran Church Sunday evening.

The program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Lutheran School Auditorium.

The leagues of both churches are working towards earning money to defray expense of a bus to take them to the Lutheran Youth Congress in Portland on April 10, 11 and 12. They have had bake sales and are also collecting pop bottles.

The public is invited to this program and a free will offering is planned.

GEM STATE ACADEMY orchestra, under the direction of Richard Hardin, will present a program of sacred music at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Mr. Hardin came to the academy two years ago from Walla-Walla College. The public is invited.

Panel Discusses Injustices Against Non-White Races

By LORAYNE SMITH
Magic Valley Editor

Some of the injustices Americans inflict, or allow their government to inflict, on fellow Americans of a different colored skin were quietly but convincingly described at a panel Sunday night at the United First Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

The spectrum of the problems ranged from mistreatment of Japanese Americans during World War II to current efforts of Mexican Americans to be treated like fellow Anglo-Saxon citizens.

Speakers on the panel, which was moderated by Lotus Schmuecker, chairman of Christian Social concerns at the church, included Ted Matsuda and Jesse Bernin, both Twin Falls, and George Cook Jr., a Negro student at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

Mr. Matsuda spoke movingly of two monuments — one to the American men who lost their lives at Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, and the other — although not meant to be a monument — a pile of rocks at the former Hunt relocation center in Jerome County where Japanese-Americans were shipped from the coast.

While some reparations finally were completed by the government, he noted that millions of dollars were lost by many of the families whose financial assets were frozen and who had to sell their belongings before being uprooted and shipped to so-called concentration camps.

Ancestors of the Mexican Americans were in this country before the English came, Mr. Bernin noted, and he said his people are only seeking what everyone wants — equal rights under the U. S. constitution.

In answer to a question as to what church people could do, he urged support for leaders who are trying to improve conditions under which migrants live and work, and concern for necessary legislation.

He termed the labor camp at Murtaugh unfit for "most people's dog or cat," and stressed that while he is not a militant, it "would be easy for him to become one."

Problems of segregation in Los Angeles, not just between black and white, but among several ethnic groups, were explained by Mr. Cook who added a universal note to the panel, which he explained that he was caught between the pressures of conforming to what his peers expected and what his parents wanted him to do — and wear his hair.

The youth, a junior at the College of Idaho, said he hopes to teach history in Idaho.

Both the student and Mr. Bernin told of overt incidents caused by the color of their skin, which would be laughable, if they were not indicative of underlying prejudice, but the main tenor of the panel was that prejudice is intangible and therefore hard to combat.

Rev. Harold Nye, pastor of the church, in his closing remarks, lauded the "kindly, Christian spirit" of the men who had shared some of their deepest problems with the small, but highly responsive, audience.

LDS Group Has Potluck Social

The Wilbert Cline family presented two vocal selections and Katie Choules played a piano solo.

The invocation was offered by John White and benediction was given by Floyd Marsh.

OBSERVANCE SET

GOODING — World Day of Prayer will be observed by Church Women United at 2 p.m. March 6 in the Gooding Baptist Church.

Today With All Faiths—In Tribute A PORTRAIT OF SERVICE

Seventh-Day Adventist Pastor At Jerome Has Spent Many Years In India, Pakistan

JEROME—The Jerome Seventh-Day Adventist Church's pastor—Rev. Kenneth Brown—has a background of many years spent in India, working for his church and teachings.

He was born in Clinton, Neb., and attended school there through high school. He took a one-year teachers training course and then taught elementary school for a year. Later he attended Union College at Lincoln, Neb., and Washington Missionary College in Washington, D.C.

In 1941, he married Ruth Crook of Minnesota, whom he met at Union College.

Upon completion of his course in Washington, he accepted a call to work in India in 1946. The first assignment was to teach part time at Vincent Hill School in north India while studying the Hindu language. During the two years he spent there, the partition of India took place and two independent nations, Pakistan and Hindustan, emerged.

In 1948, he left school to engage in pastoral and evangelistic work in the city of Rawalpindi, in the new nation of Pakistan. That meant learning a new language and the study of Urdu was begun.

After a furlough, he returned to similar work in Peshawar in 1952. The years spent there were probably the ones remembered with the most nostalgia. That city, in the northwest frontier—which is the setting of Kipling's famous poem, "East is East and West is West and Never the Twain Shall Meet"—at the entrance of the famous Khyber Pass, was fascinating because of the people and customs.

Every man was armed with a gun, an ax or a knife. The Peshawar Valley was a garden of Eden for food. Both temperate and tropical fruits were available and every kind of vegetable was grown. Dried apricots and raisins from Afghanistan were so cheap they were purchased by the hundred-pound bags.

In 1955, a call came to work in East Pakistan and he spent the next 10 years there as president of the East Pakistan Section of the Seventh-Day Adventist work. It also meant learning another language, Bengali.

One of the major problems in East Pakistan was transportation. The country is traversed by so many rivers that it is impossible to build a good system of roads. Most travel was by boat, although in recent years helicopter service has been introduced.

To travel by boat from the main office in Dacca to the mission school, 40 miles as the crow flies, took a minimum of 14 hours on the winding rivers and sometimes it took as long as 24 hours, depending on the current and how many times the boat got stuck on a sand bar.

During his stay in Pakistan, Rev. Brown accomplished the preparation of a course of Bible lessons, particularly for Muslim people.

In 1966, Judy, the oldest daughter who had been born in India, graduated from Vincent Hill School, so mission service was temporarily terminated so she could enter college in the United States. She will graduate this year from Walla Walla College at Walla Walla, Wash., with a major in accounting.

Timothy, born during the years of service in West Pakistan, graduated last year from Gem State Academy, Caldwell. Upon returning to the states Rev. Brown spent one year at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich., and received his ministers degree in education.

He moved to Jerome in 1967 to pastor the local church. He also has charge of the churches in Gooding and Rupert. He is a member of the board of the Gem State Academy and an executive commissioner of the Idaho Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists.

Currently he is president of the Jerome Ministerial Association.

Rev. Brown plans to return

Baptist Missionary From The Congo To Speak Here

Rev. C. Gerald Weaver, missionary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society to the Republic of Congo, will be visiting the Twin Falls First Baptist Church on Wednesday.

In addition to informal contacts with small groups during the day, Rev. Weaver will address the congregation's fourth Lenten-fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m.

Rev. Weaver, treasurer of the American Baptist Mission in the Congo, is stationed at Kinshasa, the capital city. His responsibilities include business management of mission affairs and oversight of property.

In 1960, during the turbulent times immediately after independence was granted to the Congo by the Belgian government, he was one of four Baptist missionaries who remained in the country when all other missionaries had been evacuated. His family rejoined him in the Congo in January, 1961.

Rev. Weaver helped to organize the American School of Kinshasa, and has acted as its treasurer. The school provides facilities for a kindergarten through high school for children of American missionaries, businessmen, and government workers stationed in Africa. He was also a member of the committee that organized an English-speaking church in Kinshasa.

A native of North Carolina,

Rev. Weaver attended King's Business College, Raleigh. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Wake-Forest College, also in his home state. He earned his bachelor of arts degree from the Berkeley (Calif.) campus of the American Baptist Seminary of the West.

He is now on a deputation trip while on furlough from the Congo and was a popular leader at the American Baptist Family Camp at Cathedral Pines, north of Keokuk, last September.

REV. C. GERALD WEAVER

to mission service as soon as his children are settled in life. When asked why, he said the need was so great and there are so many people who still need to hear the gospel.

When he returns to the mission field, he hopes to spend much of his time preparing literature in the language of the people where he will be stationed.

Bible Thoughts

When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee: . . . Since thou wast precious in my sight, and I have loved thee.—Isaiah 43:2-4.

This is not an old broadcast. This is said to you, by your own Father, to reassure you this afternoon.

Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace; thereby good shall come unto thee.—Job 22:21.

The first order of business for each man is to meet the boss and get straightened out. Only then will everything else fall into place.

There was given me a thorn in the flesh; the messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure.—II Corinthians 12:7.

Our strongest point may be our greatest temptation. Our need makes room for Christ to come into our lives.

God has listened to you enough times.

Now how about listening to Him?

More than a few things are troubling our cities,
our world, our souls.
Sometimes, we raise our hands heavenward and say,
"When oh when are you going to change it all, Lord?"
And "changing it all" is just what He expects us to do!
Listen: "Love your neighbor as yourself."
If that were put to practice—really to practice—ghettos would not exist, wars would cease, hunger would end, inhumanity would be stricken from the dictionary.
A perfect world.
Will we ever see it?
One thing is certain, we won't even begin to see it, if we don't start doing what God has asked of us for heaven only knows how long.
