TEN-CENTS

Two Found Guilty Of Murder

CALDWELL (UPI) — A six man, six woman jury debated nearly 8 1/2 hours Thursday before returning a verdict of guilty of second degree murder for two men accused of shooting a Parma policeman.

Larry Drapeau, 29, Nampa, was sentenced to life in prison for his part in the slaying of John Combs, 25, who was gunned down last September while investigating a reported holdup at a motel.

Lawrence Thomas, 28, Caldwell, asked for a two-day waiting period and will be sentenced April 8 at 9 a.m.

A third man accused in connection with the murder, Bruce Williams, Parma, died in February while awaiting trial.

The prosecution retraced the events of the night during the trial, presenting witnesses that claimed to have seen the men that evening. Williams' widow, Ruby Williams, testified her husband left that evening to look at a new car.

The vehicle the men were driving was taken from Minor-Breckon Motor Co., Nampa. The proprietor of the court motel, Emma Johanson, testified she saw a man going from car to car in front of the motel and in back of the vehicle the men were in bore dealer license plates.

A salesman for the motor company testified two 12-gauge shotguns were taken from his office and a clerk at a store between Nampa and Caldwell testified Drapeau had purchased 12-gauge shotguns there on the night of the murder.

Following the shooting the men took the patrol car after wounding Ralph Wong, who was riding with Combs at the time the patrolman was killed.

Andrus To Run For Governor

BOISE (Special) — Cecil Andrus announced today he would be a candidate for the governorship. The announcement came at a press conference.

"I have served four terms in the State Senate. I am experienced in state government and feel I am qualified to meet the challenges that the everyday mechanical process of government presents to its executive. We will discuss these in depth as this campaign moves toward November. But now I would like to point out why I feel that we need a change of administration in Idaho and the six most important areas of concern where a lack of executive leadership has allowed us to approach disaster," he said.

In education we desperately need the adequate funding that was promised when we enacted the sales tax in 1965, not the percentage that we are actually receiving into the distribution formula. We must put more money into education at the state level to relieve the property tax impact at the local level. If we continue giving the sales tax revenue away for non-priority items, we will see further deterioration of all levels of education. And we'll see another increase in property tax at the local level. "I feel very strongly that we must provide state supported kindergartens for better development of young minds and bodies. This we can have with our present tax base and privity funding," Mr. Andrus said.

Mr. Andrus discussed several of the campaign issues as he sees them:
Environment is an all-inclusive term that is more important to Idaho than perhaps any other state. Even with the scars of over one hundred years evident we come closer to an existing utopia than any other state and we must move to maintain our present outstanding environment and move to correct the mistakes of the past.
We cannot tolerate the abuse and destruction of the White Cloud's Area as has been approved by the present administration.

Air West Purchase By Hughes Is Now Official

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — The Hughes Tool Company announced Thursday it has completed arrangements for the purchase of Air West, Inc., the nation's largest regional air carrier, for approximately $90 million.

The airline becomes part of the Hughes Air Corporation, 75 percent of which is owned by the Hughes Tool Company. The other 25 percent is owned by billionaire industrialist Howard Hughes, who is sole owner of Hughes Tool.

Hughes air directors said Irving Tague will serve as vice president for corporate services and acting general manager of Air West, which was formed in April, 1968. It serves eight Western states, flies routes into Canada and Mexico, and employs about 3,400 persons.

The directors also said E. N. Altman will continue as Air West vice president and will be in charge of operations. All other officers, except three, will remain under the new ownership.

The three who elected to leave are J. N. Bez Jr., executive vice president; Edmund Converse, chairman, and G. Robert Henry, president. Converse said he and the others felt it would be best if they left in order to give the new ownership "a free hand."

A spokesman said the directors of Hughes Tool Co. named

"Sick-Out" Ending Not Yet In Sight

By United Press International
The air traffic controllers' "sick-out" showed no sign of abating today in spite of a compromise worked out by a federal judge between their union leaders and the government aimed at ending the strike.

The nation's air traffic control centers and airport control towers reported little change in the number of men calling in "sick." The slowdown, characterized by the government as an illegal strike, is in its 10th day.

The Federal Aviation Administration in Washington said its surveys today showed "no discernible return to work trend."

One of the points of Thursday's compromise, as reported by Judge George L. Hart, was that a news conference would be called today by F. Lee Bailey, executive director of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization to urge members to go back to work.

LDS Church To Sustain Smith

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Latter-day Saints from the world were gathered here today for the 140th annual general conference which will be climaxed Monday with the sustaining of President Joseph Fielding Smith as the church's 10th "prophet, seer and revelator."

The conference opens Saturday morning in the Salt Lake Tabernacle with 83-year-old President Smith presiding — the first time he has presided over a general conference as president.

Smith became the 10th president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in January a few days after the death of President David O. McKay at the age of 96.

Fast Ended
NEW YORK (UPI) — A young Russian-born Jew Thursday ended a nine-day fast in front of the United Nations upon the plea of his father, Yasha Kadobov, 23, staged the hunger strike, living on vitamins and water in an effort to persuade the Jewish Union to allow his family to emigrate to Israel as he did.

Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon plan to present May 29 when their daughter, Julie Eisenhower graduates from Smith College in Northampton, Mass., but they have not yet decided whether to attend commencement exercises at nearby Amherst College, where Julie's husband, David, will be receiving his degree.

Nixon Asks Raise For Employees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today urged Congress to approve a 6 per cent pay increase for mail workers and all other federal employees, and to finance it by cutting other expenses and speeding up collection of federal estate and gift taxes.

The President did not propose any increases in tax rates. The message was distributed to newsmen about an hour, 15 minutes after originally scheduled and after White House sources had predicted the President would propose an increase in the taxes on cigarettes and landed gasoline.

Neither was included in the message to the House and Senate. Nixon said the acceleration of gift and inheritance taxes would provide the government a $1.5 billion windfall during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"It is the responsibility of the newspaper editor to choose what in public interest he wants to present," he added, saying the objective reporter is able to find the middle ground on which to stand in making his report.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is one of several noted journalism authorities scheduled to address the gathering of students from Utah, Montana, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona. Texas and Kansas are also members of the association but are not represented.

Speaking before the group for a Friday luncheon meeting was Robert Moore, circulation director for Time Magazine. Tom Pettit, NBC News, "First Tuesday," is the keynote speaker during tonight's banquet. Awards will be presented.

Saturday's agenda includes a series of lectures on all phases of journalism and awards banquet at noon and the concluding evening banquet. Roy Craft, editor, Richman County Standard, Stevenson, Wash., is featured speaker for the banquet. Officers will be installed Saturday evening.

Hickel Flayed At Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — Gov. Robert E. Mc Nair, D - South Carolina, said Thursday Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel is "a Johnny come lately" in the area of pollution.

Mc Nair made the comment at a meeting of the Executive Committee of State Governments, meeting in a two-day session at the resort.

He added that Hickel's recent actions were "over-dramatizing and over-reacting."

"The individual states are way ahead of the federal government in recognizing the problems of air and water pollution," Mc Nair said. "The Nixon administration is good with words when it comes to the problems, but there is very little action."

Mc Nair said that although the states "have foregone" the needs of pollution regulation and control they have not had the facilities — mainly money — to do much about it.

He said environmental control knows no boundaries and that regulation needs to "spill" over state borders.

"This calls for close coordination between the state and the federal government. We must have effective uniform

Mail Rate Hike Asked For Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today to raise the first class mail rate to 10 cents to finance a 4 1/2 per cent raise for postal workers and other government employees.

In a message to the House and Senate, the President also asked for acceleration of collection of gift and inheritance taxes to help pay for increases retroactive to last Dec. 27, as negotiated Thursday by the government and postal unions.

He said the 10-cent letter rate — cents above the present rate and leapfrogging a 7-cent plan included by Nixon in his budget message — would produce added revenues of about $2.3 billion, or about $1.7 billion more than anticipated in his budget proposal.

The President urged Congress to approve the 6 per cent across-the-board pay increase affecting well over 6 million civilian and military employees of the federal government.

OSCARSON NBC HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Beginning in 1971 NBC will telecast the annual Academy Award Oscar presentations for three years after ABC-TV's 10 years of beaming the show.

laws. Without the efforts of both, neither can get the job done," Mc Nair said.

The Council of State Governments is an agency of all state governments, created, supported and directed by them. Its purpose is to strengthen state government and its public service to "preserve its role in the American federal system. It was organized in 1933.

Pirated Jetliner Flies To N. Korea

SEOUL (UPI) — A group of hijackers released 103 weary hostages from 79 hours' captivity in a pirated airliner today in exchange for a Japanese official who flew with them to North Korea. The Communists said they could no longer promise immediate repatriation.

"The situation has changed, a statement from Pyongyang said, portending possible imprisonment and torture for the three crewmen, and Japanese vice transportation minister aboard the Japan Air Lines Boeing 727 with the nine hijackers.

It was reported the airliner had landed in the North after circling over the western shore of the Korean Peninsula and then back inland to Pyongyang, a roundabout route to avoid being shot at over the Demilitarized Zone.

Earlier the Communists had promised to release the airliner and everyone aboard immediately once it arrived in the North. There was no explanation for the change of mind, announced after the airliner left Seoul's Kimpo International Airport.

The arrival in Pyongyang brought an end to the longest (84 hours) hijacking on record, and one of the most bizarre. But the fate of the men aboard was uncertain, for returnees from the last plane pirated to the North reported they had been tortured and beaten.

Four stewardesses and 96 of the 99 passengers boarded another Japan Air Lines plane in Seoul and flew to Fukuoka, Japan, en route to Tokyo. The hijacked airliner had made a refueling stop at Fukuoka on Tuesday.

Some of the drivers in more than 200 scattered strikes that occurred throughout the nation since expiration of the old contract at midnight Tuesday returned to work Thursday night. National union officials had not requested strike action.

More than 10,000 Chicago drivers returned to work at the request of union negotiators, although the Chicago Independent Truck Drivers Union, Teamsters Local 705, is not bound by the tentative national agreement reached Thursday in Washington. A Chicago Teamster official said there would be no strike while negotiations there continued on a separate contract.

Drivers were reported going back to work in Harrisburg, Pa., where seven trucking firms were affected by a walkout, as employers called them in.

Renegotiation of a 1968 contract by the Teamsters membership in a mail referendum could come in about five weeks, a Teamster source said.

Drivers Offered Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters Union officials today urged striking truck drivers to return to work after tentative agreement was reached with the trucking industry on a 7.5 per cent pay raise over three years.

The pay increase would be $1.10 per hour to bring hourly averages of $4 per hour for 450,000 truck drivers.

Will Seek Changes

MOSCOW (UPI) — Democratic gubernatorial aspirant Vernon Riffe said today he favors legal ratification by the legislature of the higher education formula for distribution of money.

"If we are going to get the state working together, we'll have to have a positive anti-strike policy in our state colleges and universities," Riffe said today. The Latah County Democratic Central Committee.

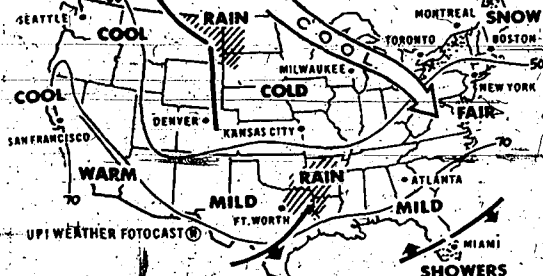

Riffe said the schools of liberal arts, education and business can be duplicated in two more of the state's colleges, but two cannot have four engineering schools, two agriculture schools, or two schools of forestry, ".

The reason: Four of the chemicals experience has shown most valuable in professional control of termites are now being used in the average home, thanks to new termiticides—chlorane, dieldrin, and DDT.

ESTHETIC POSSIBILITIES OF the Perrine Coulee, that flows through Harmon Park and other areas of the city, as an attractive stream is lost in this region. Where it borders the Lynwood Shopping Center on the east, the coulee becomes a catch-all for trash and other kinds of waste from the shopping center and the neighborhood. Winds carry trash into the coulee and deposit it there in large quantities. This picture, taken on Tuesday, shows typical conditions of the coulee this time of year. April clean-up month is aimed at correcting such situations throughout the city, in addition to sprucing up private and public property.

Coulee Clean-Up Needed

City Plans Big Effort In April

City officials in Twin Falls are hoping for an all-out effort during April to clean and beautify the city.

Some of the areas needing attention are those orphaned rights-of-way and border regions that do not seem to fall under any individual's responsibility.

As part of the campaign, City Manager Jean Millar is asking civic organizations to adopt some of these orphans and take the responsibility of cleaning debris.

One such area is the Perrine Coulee, where it runs behind Lynwood Shopping Center. Especially in windy weather, it becomes a catch-all for boxes, trash and all types of debris from the shopping center and the entire neighborhood.

About a month ago Mac Christoffersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christoffersen, who live on adjoining property, hauled two truckloads of trash from the coulee edges— as volunteer clean-up committee of one. Within a few days the coulee again was filled with debris.

Shopping Center owners have, during the past week, undertaken a clean-up of the coulee after inspections were made by city officials and local Department of Health representatives.

John Christoffersen, a city council member, said he too has cleaned several tons of trash from behind his home where his property extends to the coulee. In addition to the trash, he said, there often is oil, apparently dumped in the coulee from some unknown source.

Residents in the area say the situation is always bad when water is not flowing through the coulee for irrigation, and when it is, trash is carried to culverts and ditches where it causes additional problems.

T.F. To Hire Five New Patrolmen

Five new patrolmen will be hired for the Twin Falls Police Department this year.

Wages for these men are contained in the department's 1970 budget, Police Chief Frank Barnett said, and he added the wages are the largest single budgetary item in his department's budget, increase this year.

It had been reported the department's budget was increased from $286,744 to $381,650, but this is not correct. The 1969 budget for the department was $318,183, with $287,744 spent.

A total of $381,650 has been budgeted this year, making an increase of $63,467 between the 1969 and 1970 budget.

Of this increase, most will go for wages for the new men. The fleet of cars in the department will remain at seven, and schooling costs are being increased from $1,800 to $4,000. Then there is a $15,000 capital outlay in the budget, which is money to be set aside for a new police station.

The new budget also reflects a five per cent wage hike for all officers; it was reported.

32 Building Permits Issued During March

City Clerk Constance Leiser issued 32 building permits during the month of March in Twin Falls, representing a total of $141,241 in new construction, repairs, additions and demolition.

There were four permits for new dwellings for $66,000 in estimated structural costs; five other new constructions representing $11,350 in cost and 74 additions and alterations for $45,991.

Other permits included 14 repairs, $12,900 and two demolitions $5,000. The March total compares with 16 permits issued last March and a total of $70,475 in structural value.

For the year, permits to date represent $383,366, compared to $381,243 at the same time in 1969.

Changes In Gem Police Announced

Four Idaho State Policemen from District 4 are among those affected in a recent personnel change announced by Supt. L. Clark Hand.

Eugene Herzinger, Buhl, who is presently serving at the Hollister Port of Entry, has been promoted to weighmaster supervisor at King Hill.

Supt. Hand said weighmasters named troopers-in-training include Leslie Stimpson, Kimberly; Kenneth Poe, Burley; and Patrick McDonald, Burley.

Newly assigned troopers will remain at their present posts until they report for a two-week recruit training school at Idaho State University April 20. They will be assigned stations after training is complete.

Golden Eagle Fee May Be Extended

The Golden Eagle may be flying again this summer despite the legislative attempts to shoot him down.

Congressional action recently proposed from the House Interior Committee would extend the Golden Eagle Badge recreational fee system until Dec. 31, 1971, and would also increase the annual charge to $10. It has been $7 in the past.

The present program was scheduled to expire March 31, 1970, and since final legislative action was not taken by that time, U.S. Forest officials say the recreation users may be in for a bargain. Unless a decision is made, officials say, there will be no charge for use of the recreation sites on National Forest System lands.

House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee members may extend the charge program under the Land and Water Conservation Act of 1966.

On March 26, the full House Interior Committee met to approve and report to the House an amendment to Senate Bill 2315 which was passed last year. This amendment would extend the life of the Golden Eagle until Dec. 31, 1971. It would also authorize the $10 fee level. This amendment would also ask the Secretary of the Interior to complete a survey of the fee system and present his recommendations to Congress prior to Feb. 1, 1971.

If this House Interior Committee amendment is passed, the Senate will consider whether to follow the same action or seek a conference to work out the difference.

Winners Of Grants Are Reported

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Orval Hansen has been notified of the selection of the principal candidates for the Navy ROTC program and of the scholarship winners in the Army ROTC program.

Principal candidates for the Navy ROTC program from Idaho's Second Congressional District are Terry Kreigh of Rupert and Steven Crump and Robert Barry of Pocatello. These qualified candidates must now be accepted for enrollment at a college or university within the regular NROTC quota for the 1970 fall term. Upon acceptance they will embark on careers as midshipmen in the Naval Reserve.

"These young men are to be commended for their achievement. This is one of the Navy's most rigorous competitive selection systems," the congressman commented.

Army scholarship winners from the Second District are Brian McDonald of Pocatello, Dennis Haisch of Rupert, and Ted Svancura of Buhl. They are among 1,242 outstanding high school students throughout the country who have been selected to receive four-year scholarships.

The Army ROTC scholarship program provides for tuition, textbooks and lab fees and a monthly subsistence allowance. Upon graduation, students are commissioned as second lieutenants.

Slides Shown Deadline For Art Show Set

BURLEY — Rev. John Pickrel, minister of the Burley Presbyterian church, showed slides and spoke on his trip to Scotland last year as an exchange minister during a luncheon meeting of the Credit Women International at Nelson's Cafe.

Mrs. Betty Butters, president, announced the National Credit Women Conference will be held May 9-12 at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Deadline for submitting work for the next art show at the "Y" Gallery in Twin Falls is 5 p.m. Friday, according to Chet Bartlett, director of the YMCA.

Works contributed will be exhibited through May. A "Best of Show" selection will be made if there are enough entries to warrant judging.

Only original work may be entered by a signed artist. Works can not have been achieved by assistance from another artist or instructor and there can be no copy work.

Entries also must have been painted within the past two years and must not be works previously displayed at the "Y" Gallery.

Name and address, title of painting and price, if any, must be affixed to the back of each painting. In the event paintings are sold, 15 per cent of the sale price will be retained by the "Y".

Each artist may submit two paintings, which should be framed and ready to hang. This will be the last showing until fall. Pictures for the fall showing will be received by Sept. 15.

Tryouts For Little Theater Cast Scheduled

Selection of a cast of six men and five women for the coming Magic Valley Little Theater Production will take place following tryouts scheduled for Monday and Tuesday nights.

Tryouts will be held each of the two nights at 7:30 p.m. in the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church, announces Helen Gee, president of the Little Theater. Miss Gee also will direct the production, which is slated for May 27 through 30 in the "Y" building.

This spring's play will be a comedy ghost story, "Sight Unseen," with a number of interesting parts to be filled, Miss Gee said.

You probably know Isorex Insect Spray is the best ammunition made for the battle against bugs. It contains two active ingredients that kill many insects and spider mites on contact. Plus a highly effective systemic chemical that protects against sucking insects such as aphids. Because it is absorbed into the plant through the leaves, it protects from the inside out. Where it can't wash away.

Now you can get an applicator to match your ammunition absolutely free. When you buy a quart of Isorex for $5.98, you get the Ortho-Spray-ette 4 to put it through at no additional charge. (It's regularly priced at $3.98). The Spray-ette 4 attaches to your garden hose and delivers 4 gallons of spray in one application. A great combination for real garden beauty.

Defense Budget Under Criticism

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon's new system for preparing defense budgets, proudly unveiled by Secretary Melvin R. Laird a few weeks ago, has come under sharp congressional criticism.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., has taken Laird to task about it. As Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and its Defense Subcommittee, he has been a top-ranking member of the Armed Services Committee. Russell is not usually a Pentagon critic.

"In the past, they were placed in a position where they had to submit their force recommendations without reference to any explicit fiscal guidance. This, in a large part, explains why, in the past, the JCS proposals always cost $20 to $30 billion more than the annual defense budgets recommended by the secretary of defense and approved by the President."

Russell is said to have noted that congressional committees almost always side with the civilian authority when there are differences with military leaders. The senator noted, however, that the committees sided with the military on development of ballistic missiles and Polaris submarines — and to good effect.

Ghetto Help

The death of a 12-year-old boy in a filthy apartment in New York's Spanish Harlem, caused by a self-administered overdose of heroin, made headlines last December.

New Yorkers suddenly became aware that 224 teen-agers had died from drugs in their city in 1968. They were told that, at the current rate, as many as 250 may die this year.

For a week after the boy's death, it was said to be difficult to buy drugs on 117th Street because of swarms of reporters and policemen, all asking questions. But soon things were back to normal. The pushers were back on the street again and the children were buying — and dying.

"People in the ghetto who have lived with this kind of thing all their lives are puzzled, annoyed, even resentful over the sudden public commotion," writes Charlayne Hunter in the New York Times. "They attribute it to the fact that it is no longer just the poor blacks and Puerto Ricans who are affected, but that middle- and upper-class children are becoming victims, too. To a certain extent, this is true."

The same charge has been made, also with much truth, that white, affluent, majority America never concerned itself about the rights of its black minority until the latter started tearing up the ghettos and otherwise asserting itself.

The same charge will undoubtedly be made by the Indians, again with much truth — that white America never gave a hoot about their welfare until they began disrupting the domestic tranquility by such actions as the seizure of Alcatraz Island.

Yet it may legitimately be asked: What kind of country would it be if the majority did not become alarmed enough to act when its own safety and convenience and self-interest were affected? To put it another way, why do minorities live with conditions the majority will not tolerate among itself?

The answer has to do, of course, with powerlessness and ignorance and poverty, a vicious combination that breeds acceptance of things as they are and always have been, despair that they can ever be changed and a frustration that either explodes in mass rioting or individual violence or festers beneath drug-induced euphoria.

The answer does not answer everything, however. The deprived minorities are aware, as they have never been aware before, of just how deprived they are and are less accepting of the status quo than even in the past.

But if black students can take over a university administration building, if welfare mothers can stage a march on city hall, if Black Panthers can assemble arsenals of weapons, why cannot the ghetto-dwellers also mobilize to run out the dope pushers and the muggers and make their streets safe for themselves, let alone outsiders?

If they can unite to complain, why can they not also unite to achieve?

They have in some instances, as in self-help programs in New York and in the Watts section of Los Angeles. But in general it remains a case of demanding everything from the "power structure," demanding nothing from themselves.

The Black Panthers, for one, with their discipline and the loyalty and prestige they have built for themselves among many blacks, could be a powerful force for constructive change. Yet they expend their energies in revolutionary rhetoric and posturings and plottings.

Justifiable

The Peace Corps has expelled 12 volunteers in the last four months because of their public opposition to U. S. foreign policy. The move certainly is justifiable.

A Peace Corps volunteer should be able to express his views, but he should not be allowed to exploit his position.

Two of the 12 were sent home from Thailand because they threatened to picket Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on his recent visit to that country.

Many government officials believe both Agnew and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who recently toured Africa, were embarrassed by demonstrations of Peace Corps Volunteers against U.S. policy.

No American citizen is asked to agree with everything his government does, but when he is his country's official representative abroad, he has certain responsibilities. One of those responsibilities is not to embarrass those at home who sent him.

ANDREW TULLY

War Against Laird

WASHINGTON — A generals' clique within the Pentagon is waging guerrilla warfare against Defense Secretary Melvin Laird over the proposal in a study done for the Atlantic Council of the United States to cut U.S. forces in Europe by 10 per cent.

Laird favors the cut in the present 310,000-man American force in the NATO command partly because he is under pressure from Congress to trim all overseas forces and partly because he believes the taxpayer can get more for his dollar from smaller and "more efficient" overseas garrisons. He wants to be known as the Defense Secretary who reduced the size of the swollen Pentagon Establishment.

But the generals' clique is bombarding Laird, through channels, with memos and statistics emphasizing the danger of any unilateral cut in Europe while the Soviet Union continues to maintain its forces in Eastern Europe. They are suggesting, in effect, that Laird may go down in history as the Defense boss who opened the gate for a Communist takeover of our European allies.

"They're trying to scare Laird to death," says a State Department policymaker. "Their arguments are pure baloney, but they sound ominous."

Laird, of course, is obliged to heed the counsel of his military advisers. But he will be in trouble not only with Congress but with the citizens if he heeds this counsel. A majority of members of the U.S. Senate already has joined Majority Leader Mike Mansfield in a resolution demanding a "substantial" reduction in U.S. troop strength in Europe, and a populace suffering from big taxes and high prices has supported in every poll taken so far a cutback in those forces.

The wonder is that President Nixon, whose political antennae are so sensitive, has not gone along with both the Senate and the electorate. All he has done so far is to remind our European allies that the size of the U.S. contingent is guaranteed only until mid-1971. It is almost certain he will be forced to make at least a token cut before then.

Nixon can do so because the main argument of the generals' clique is indeed "pure baloney." That argument is that any reduction in American power in Europe will tempt the Russians to mount a campaign of harassment against our allies. The fact is that the present time offers the U.S. its best opportunity to reduce its European commitment.

In the first place, the Russians currently have their military funds full trying to figure out how to cope with a menacing Communist China on its border. Whatever European ambitions they may harbor are secondary to the necessity of protecting their own skin. At the same time, Moscow must be concerned with its sometimes restless Eastern European satellites. Unlike our forces in Europe, the Russians are not in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany for defense alone, but to keep those countries Communist.

Finally, our NATO allies are fully capable of defending themselves should they feel naked before the Russian Bear. They have more people than the Russians — if they so will it.

ART BUCHWALD

To Canada

WASHINGTON — My Friend Adman's 15-year-old son came in the office to see me the other day.

"I've decided to go to Canada rather than serve in the United States Army."

"Is it because of the war in Vietnam?" I asked.

"No, it's just that I don't want to work in the post office."

"I don't understand."

"I have to live with myself. And I don't think I could do it, knowing what I have done to somebody else's mail."

"But," I said, trying to talk him out of leaving the country, "there's no guarantee just because you're in the United States Army, you will have work in a post office. You might be assigned to run the railroad, in case they go out on strike."

"I don't care. Working on the railroad is as bad as working in the post office. One is as immoral as the other."

"Would you consider working as an air controller during their slowdown immorality?"

"Yes, I would. I don't think a man should go into the Army and do anything he doesn't believe in. I don't believe in aviation. It's a cruel and senseless business."

"But the Army has more to offer than working in a post office, or on the railroad, or in air control. Why, with the proper training, you could even become a first-class garbage man."

postman. I know many men now serving in the armed forces who have never seen a mailbox."

"But what about the ones who have? I know one kid I went to school with; he barely had six weeks of basic training and they pulled him out and sent him to the Grand Central Post Office to sort packages. His mother hasn't heard from him since."

"But that's probably because of the strike," I said. "If soldiers aren't going to handle the mail in this country, who is?"

"Don't try to talk me out of it. I know what will happen. I'll go in and they'll brainwash me. They'll say that that snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night can slay me from my appointed rounds. Once you take that oath you're committed."

"You're being too pessimistic," I said. "What's to prevent you as a soldier from replacing a fireman or a policeman or even a social worker during a municipal strike? Just because you put on the uniform of the U.S. Army doesn't mean you'll be assigned to the mail."

He said, "I'm a live coward." He said, "I don't want to be a live coward."

"But if you go to Canada and the postal strike is over you won't be permitted to come back to the United States."

"I've made up my mind. I've seen what happened to other GIs who worked in the post office. They've become bitter and mean and cruel. Give a guy a stamp-cancelling machine and he becomes an animal. They're not going to make me into a monster."

"Look, instead of making you work in the post office, suppose the Army assigned you to Saigon? How would you feel then?"

"Well," he said, "that would be different."

A Pap Test

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would the results of a Pap test be correct since a few days before I had penicillin and other antibiotics to clear up an infection? Would a Pap test show cysts on the ovaries and whether the ovaries are cancerous? — M. J.

The prime purpose of a Pap test is to detect cancer cells, if there are any. Penicillin or antibiotics would not alter the results in that regard.

If infection existed in the cervix, certain types of white cells would appear in the smear taken for the Pap test, but such cells would not interfere with the main purpose of the test.

A Pap test will not reveal an ovarian cyst, but it can detect cells originating from cancer of the ovaries.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68 and recently through an X-ray discovered that I have a diverticulitis condition. Can this be cured and will it cause cancer? All my life I have been plagued with constipation. Would this cause it? — N. N.

The constipation doubtless has aggravated the condition but may not have caused it — it's a matter of small pouches developing in the wall of the intestine, and is a very common condition. (It seldom leads to cancer.)

Looking for a "cure" isn't the way thing to do. Instead, accept the fact that the condition exists, but learn how to keep it from bothering you. This is the purpose of my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We have a son who is very hyperactive and nervous. He loves school (he goes for 2 1/2 hours a day, special school) but cannot settle down to cooperate. He seems intelligent and has a wonderful memory.

Our doctor has tried various tranquilizers but nothing seems to help. He is left out of all children's play because he can't cooperate with childish play.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I have a 34-year-old son who is married to a very pretty girl of 25. She found out that my son was seeing another girl, so she confronted him and then he stopped seeing the other girl.

My problem is the method my daughter-in-law is using to punish her husband. She has been making a big play for MY husband. He is 57, Abby, and very attractive. Naturally he loves it and even encourages her. I could never appeal to my daughter-in-law because I am sure she would never consider my feelings as she has never liked me very much. Now I am worried that all this kidding around with hugging and kissing may develop into something more serious. Please tell me how to handle this. Abby, I'm terribly upset.

CANT COMPETE

DEAR CANT: You could tell your husband to act his age and cool it a little out of respect to his son's marriage, which sounds as if it's fairly shaky ground right now. It may not help. But it can't hurt.

DEAR ABBY: Before any 55-year-old grandmother has all her teeth extracted for "health reasons," as she stated, she ought to get another opinion.

If more people would realize the problems associated with "false teeth," more people would run to the dentist to try to save their teeth.

A dental journal recently disclosed that approximately 5 million people in the United States of America have deposited their lower dentures in dresser drawers because they cannot wear them.

I am tired of "yanking" teeth. I'd much rather save and restore them.

Abby, remain true to your teeth, and they will never be false to you. Sincerely,
L. A. Z. D. D. S. BRONX, N. Y.

DEAR DOCTOR: I have been more than true to my teeth, and thus far they have been "true" to me.

DEAR ABBY: I noticed in your column where a teen-ager was ready to give up music lessons because he had a clarinet and then a flute stolen from his locker at school. Abby, many people carry HOMEOWNERS INSURANCE POLICIES, which cover most thefts of this kind. Our daughter's clarinet and flute were stolen from a school locker. We thought it was a complete loss until our insurance agent told us they were completely covered. Add what a happy surprise it was! Perhaps others who read your column aren't aware of what their policies cover, either. Anyway, it's worth a mention.

NOT AN INSURANCE AGENT

DEAR NOT: You have a lot of company. Many policy holders get a "happy surprise" to learn that they were covered, thinking they were not. But I would guess that there are as many policy holders who get "unhappy surprises" (not being covered, thinking they were). A good agent not only SELLS—he TELLS! So this might be a good time for you to find out how to call our friendly insurance agent and review the bidding.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WEARING OUT IN CINCY": I'm all choked up! Your letter was about as convincing as the one from the fellow with the rubber duck. I'll send you five strong men to assist you with those five "lonely" nurses who are breaking down your door nightly.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Riot Trial

Judge Is Selected

CHICAGO (UPI)—U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman, who presided over the tumultuous "Chicago Seven" trial, will handle the trial of 12 militant "Weathermen" charged with conspiring to incite riots here in October.

The Weathermen were charged Thursday with violating the anti-riot provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act and organizing the "days of wrath" demonstrations, which saw young radicals run through the streets and cause hundreds of thousands of dollars in property damage.

After learning that he had been assigned to the case, Hoffman said: "I take the cases as they come. I'll treat this one like any other."

Announcement of the federal grand jury indictments of the 12 members of the Weatherman faction of the Students For a Democratic Society (SDS) was made in Washington by Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

Thomas A. Foran, an attorney who prosecuted the "seven," said it was not expected Foran would prosecute the 12 Weathermen. Foran, a Democrat, has submitted his resignation to the Republican administration, and eight of the 12 are being sought by police—making a trial date anybody's guess.

Carswell Key Vote On Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With a key vote on the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrod Carswell three days off, opponents have accused Carswell of "evasive and misleading" testimony and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater has accused Carswell's opposition of "neo-McCarthyism."

The outcome of the Monday vote on whether to recommit the nomination to the Senate Judiciary Committee was in doubt with six Republicans and eight Democrats still publicly uncommitted.

"The political left has resorted to glib charges, smear innuendoes and distorted statistics in presenting their case," Goldwater said Thursday in defense of President Nixon's nominee.

Following a story in the Washington Post March 26, Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., produced Thursday a memorandum from Charles A. Horak and Norman F. Ramsey, members of the American Bar Association Committee on the Federal Judiciary, saying they viewed Carswell of the night of Jan. 26 a document he signed.

It showed Carswell had been an incorporator of the private club that took over the public golf club in Tallahassee, Fla. six months after the Supreme Court ruled that such public facilities must desegregate.

The next day, questioned before the Senate Judiciary Committee by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., Carswell denied he had been an incorporator. Not long after, however, when questioned by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Carswell said: "Yes sir, I recall that" when Kennedy asked if he had signed the papers.

Syrians Vow Fight 'To End'

By United Press International
Israel and Syria followed up their biggest post-1967 battle with a war of words today—the Syrians vowing to fight Israel "to the end," the Israelis warning them against it.

Each side had conflicting reports on its success in the allday "air and land battle" Thursday but both agreed, as a Syrian spokesman put it, that the battle was "distinguished by its fierceness."

An uneasy truce prevailed along the 60-mile Golan Heights cease-fire line this morning.

Damascus Radio said Syria has reaffirmed its determination to continue the fight to the end, "until all Arab territory has been liberated" from the Israelis.

Israel's word barrage came from Gen. Haim Bar Lev, the normally conservative commander in chief of the army. He said Thursday's battle may not be the last begun by the Israelis there.

"We may have to strike many times over if the ceasefire is not observed," he said, alluding to Israel's claim that the attacks Thursday were launched in response to Syrian aggression.

The Israeli version of Thursday's fighting said its air force downed three Syrian MIGs while losing one plane, and its long guns wiped out 18 Syrian artillery batteries, seven anti-aircraft positions and an unknown number of front-line positions.

Syria said its planes knocked seven Israeli planes out of the sky while losing two aircraft of its own.

Paper Unions In New York Study Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Another of the 10 unions negotiating new contracts with the four major city newspapers has asked its membership for authority to strike if the "union leadership" deems it necessary.

James McMahon, head of the New York Stereotypers Union, Local 1, said Thursday he would offer a strike resolution at a rank-and-file meeting Sunday.

Contracts between the New York Times, Daily News, Post and Long Island Press expired midnight Monday, but no strike date has been set although four unions have authorized walk-outs.

The Publishers Association of New York City, representing the four papers, met Thursday with representatives of four of the nine craft unions involved with all the conferees remaining silent about possible progress or lack of it.

Challenge To Federal Authority Is Passed

BOSTON (UPI)—Massachusetts has issued a historic challenge to the federal government's constitutional authority to conduct the Vietnam War without a mandate from Congress.

Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent, who participated in October's antiwar moratorium demonstrations, Thursday signed a bill permitting Massachusetts servicemen to refuse combat duty in undeclared wars such as Vietnam.

Within two hours, state Attorney General Robert H. Quinn said his office would "as speedily as possible" seek a U.S. Supreme Court decision on the conflict between the new state law and federal military policies.

But he cautioned the case probably would not be heard until the court's October session and he advised Massachusetts servicemen to accept orders of transfer to Vietnam until the issue is resolved.

The strategy behind making the state a coplaniff in the test case is to force the U.S. Supreme Court to accept original jurisdiction and rule on the constitutionality of the war.

Investigation Shows Court Notes In Kennedy Case Might Be Missing

BOSTON (UPI)—Information obtained from officials having knowledge of the case indicates court stenographers' notes containing the testimony of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and other witnesses at the secret inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne may be missing or improperly impounded, UPI learned Thursday.

The notes, the only original record of the four-day secret inquest, have not been impounded at Suffolk Superior Court in Boston, which is the official custodian of the 764-page transcript of testimony and the report of Judge James A. Boyle, who presided over the inquest, have not been impounded.

All the inquest documents were ordered impounded by the Massachusetts Supreme Court and this was believed to have been done Feb. 18, the day Judge Boyle filed his report on the inquest.

However, if the stenographers' notes, from which other copies of the transcript could be made, cannot be found—or if they have been improperly impounded or not impounded at all—it could have a significant effect on the outcome of any future criminal proceedings dealing with Miss Kopechne's death. It was announced last week a grand jury would reopen the investigation Monday.

A reliable source said the stenographers' notes were turned over to Thomas E. Teller, clerk of the Edgartown District Court, at the end of each day of the inquest, which concluded Jan. 8.

Teller, when asked by UPI if he had the notes in his possession, said: "That's a matter I cannot discuss. I will say nothing about the stenographers' notes. The judge (Boyle) is saying, no comment, too."

Teller, nevertheless, said he understood the Massachusetts Supreme Court directive ordered the inquest documents impounded. He quoted from the court ruling itself. The District Court was given no authority to impound.

John J. Irwin, assistant Massachusetts attorney general for criminal affairs, said that if a stenographer were called to testify as to the accuracy of testimony he transcribed, he could do so only from his original notes. Therefore, if the Kopechne inquest notes cannot be found, the transcript would be considered only as "secondary evidence" in any subsequent court proceeding. Irwin said. He added that such evidence would not "contain the same weight, and persons would be in a position to impair its authenticity."

The presentation will be made during the style show.

The group voted to purchase the American flag and the 4-H flag with this money.

The nature trail to be constructed by the group at the 4-H camp site north of Ketchum was discussed. Project chairman, Marshall Schroeder, Buhl, presented several name plates to the group and the selection was made for the one to be used on the trail. New Alfalfa Variety Released

RENO — Moapa 69 is a new alfalfa variety just released for alfalfa growers by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The new variety is an improvement on "Moapa" that has already proven to be an exceptional variety for regions in the southwest where alfalfa is grown.

The Agricultural Experiment Station of the College of Agriculture, University of Nevada Reno, participated both in the development of Moapa and the new variety Moapa 69.

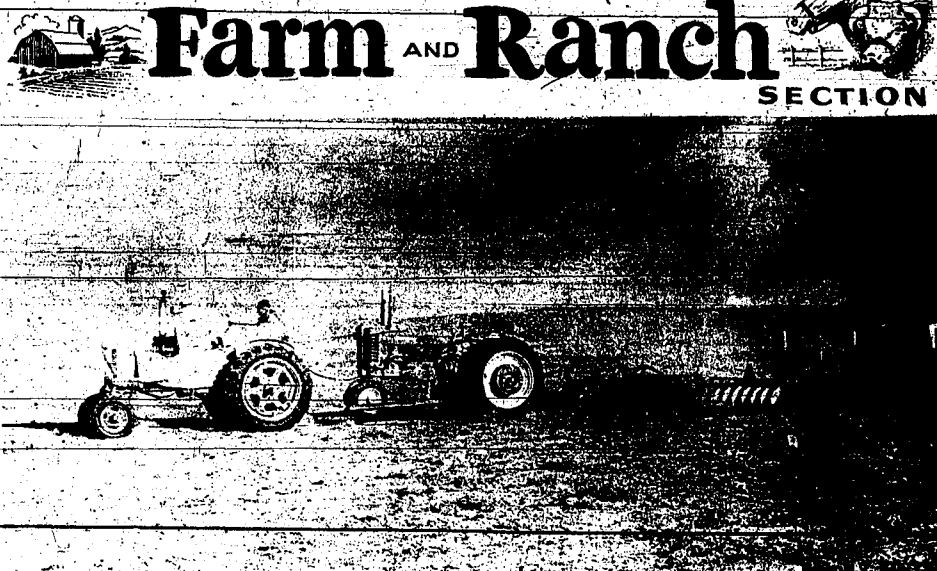

D.R. Ray E. Ely, associate director of Agricultural Experiment Stations at the University of Nevada, said that the naming and release of the new variety was made recently by the USDA.

According to the announcement, he said, forage yields of Moapa 69 have been superior to Moapa at Logan Dale, Nev.; Mesa, Ariz.; El Centro and Davis, Calif. In 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968. The new variety has also shown greater stand persistence than Moapa at all test locations. In addition, it has greater resistance to all biotypes of the spotted alfalfa aphid.

The variety is especially suited for and adaptable to the lower elevations and higher temperatures of the southwest section of the U.S. Moapa 69 should replace Moapa in areas where the latter is now grown.

Chapter members who are attending the confab are Jeff Davis, Bob Billington, Tom McCabe, Steve Arrington and Jeff Williams.

The local members will return home Saturday evening.

Usually when a farmer needs more power, he gets a larger tractor, but Bill does the unusual.

Proposed School Milk Program Removal Hit

WASHINGTON — False arguments are being offered to Congress and to the public to create the impression that killing of the School Milk Program will not reduce the amount of milk school children drink, states Patrick B. Healy, secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation.

He made the statement in testimony before the subcommittee on agriculture appropriations of the Senate and House Appropriations Committees.

"Killing the milk program would drastically reduce the milk available to the nation's children," said Healy.

Members of the Dozen Dudes 4-H Club recently decided to serve a luncheon for the Queen's Unit on May 24 at Frontier Field.

The lunch will include ham, potato salad, green beans, olives, pickles, carrot and celery sticks. Pie also will be served.

The next meeting will be April 20 at the home of Ann and Cathy Cummins.

The United States buys nearly half the world's supply of coffee.

ESTIMATED BOISE — Milk production in Idaho during February has been estimated at 165 million pounds as compared with 104 million last year, by the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Board.

Presently about three billion half-pints of milk are consumed by children taking part in the program each year.

But the proposed program would reduce this by about 2.5 billion half-pints next year.

He added, "This program provides that the secretary of agriculture shall administer a Special Milk Program to the maximum extent possible to nonprofit schools of high school grade and under; and to nonprofit nursery schools, child care centers, settlement houses, summer camps and similar nonprofit institutions devoted to care and training of children.

"Because this program contributes significantly to child health, we believe that about $125 million should be provided for fiscal year 1971."

Idaho's Planted Crop Acreage To Be Down

BOISE — Idaho's planted crop acreage is expected to total about 4.6 million acres this year — three per cent less than last year, reports the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Most of the decrease is attributable to smaller acreages of winter and spring wheat, and sugar beets — crops with allotted acreage.

Other crops with expected acreage declines are mixed grains and oats. Partially offsetting these decreases are indicated increases in barley, dry beans, dry peas and potatoes.

Dry pea acreage is expected to be 120,000 acres, up four per cent.

Sugar beet growers reported intentions of 191,000 acres, down eight per cent. Harvested acreage of all hay in Idaho remains unchanged at 1,339,000 acres.

Sheep: Advantages And Disadvantages

Anyone considering going into the sheep business should study the costs of production and the possible income on farm flocks and range flocks.

William E. Mason, California livestock farm advisor, says there are several pros and cons to consider before going into the sheep business.

Some of the advantages of sheep enterprises include the fact that sheep produce two crops a year—lamb and wool. The return on this type of an investment comes relatively fast. Mr. Mason says ewe lambs can be bred to lamb as yearlings. Lambs are usually marketed at four to seven months of age.

Sheep, like cattle, utilize roughages as their main feed supply and do not need large amounts of purchased feeds. Lambs will fatten on good pasture without the use of any supplemental feed.

As a general rule, sheep are easily handled and moved.

The necessary equipment and shelter for sheep raising can be relatively simple and inexpensive. Oftentimes, sheep can aid in weed control programs in pastures.

There are some disadvantages in sheep raising just as there are in any other business.

Sheep are naturally defenseless and, unless protected against their enemies, several losses will occur from stray dogs and predatory animals such as coyotes.

Sheep, like other animals, are subject to external and internal parasites which can cause losses unless the owner is alert and takes the necessary precautionary measures.

BURLEY — During last month 21 herds were tested in Cassia County, reports Gary Shaw, supervisor for the Cassia County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The report shows 668 cows were milking and 231 dry cows, making a total of 1,217 cows tested. The total pounds of milk produced was 1,150,214 pounds and 44,744 pounds of butterfat.

The average pounds of milk per cow, including dry cows, were 31.5 and the average butterfat was 1.22 pounds per cow.

There were 512 cows which produced more than 40 pounds of butterfat during the month. Grant Randall and sons, Burley, are the owners of the cows in the association producing the most milk. The cow is a grade Holstein which produced 58.1 pounds of milk and 114 pounds of butterfat or 3.83 pounds per day with a test of 6.5.

Charles Wilson's grade Holstein produced 77.6 pounds of milk, 11.1 pounds of butterfat or 3.76 pounds per day with a 4.8 test.

Rex Gerratts grade Holstein produced 61.9 pounds of milk, 108 pounds butterfat or 3.58 pounds per day with a 3.9 test.

Highest herd averages, including dry cows, in the association of over 75 cows was Charles Peterson's herd of 30 grade Holsteins, 82 milking and 8 dry cows, with an average of 40.2 pounds of milk and 1.52 butterfat average; Garr Wayments herd of 11 registered and grade Holsteins, included 87 cows milking, 13 dry cows, averaged 35.5 pounds of milk and 1.41 pounds of butterfat.

Herds between 30 and 75 cows recording—the highest—record were Jack Gochour's herd of 63 grade Holsteins with 49 cows milking and 14 dry cows, averaged 41.3 pounds of milk and 1.51 pounds of butterfat.

Charles Wilson's herd of 36 grade Holsteins with 31 cows milking and five dry cows, averaged 39.5 pounds milk and 1.5 pounds of butterfat.

Horse Judging Clinic Set

MOSCOW — A two-day Appaloosa Horse Judging Clinic will be held at the University of Idaho Animal Science Pavilion and Bill Smith's Rocking S Appaloosa indoor arena, April 11-12.

E. E. Ross, herd of nine registered and grade Jerseys, all milking, produced 28.3 pounds of milk and 1.44 pounds of butterfat.

Morris Hemstrom, Idaho extension livestock specialist, and co-clinic director with Washington livestock specialist, Joe Johnson, reports the clinic is sponsored by the Appaloosa Horse Club and the Palouse Empire Appaloosa Club. The University of Idaho and Washington State University are cooperating in the clinic and in charge of the program.

Attendance at the clinic is by invitation, Hemstrom explained. County agents and Appaloosa Horse clubs have been asked to submit names of potential judges.

Purpose of the clinic is to instruct prospective and approved horse judges in the art of selecting horses for type, conformation, and performance. With numerous horse shows available for exhibitors, there is an increasing demand for well-qualified judges in youth and adult classes. A well-qualified judge must use individual judgment based on a sound knowledge of horses, equitation, and show rules. He must quickly make decisions and know why he made them," Hemstrom stated.

Holsteins To Be Classified

A classification program for Holstein herds will soon be held in Magic Valley, states Gerald Strandung, Holstein fieldman.

This service, performed by an official classifier of the breed, pinpoints the strengths and weaknesses of each animal's functional conformation within the participating herds.

The long companion program of production testing is accumulating total performance data on each registered milking animal in their herds.

The ultimate goal is the development of a more efficient and healthy Holstein cow, states Mr. Strandung.

Planting potatoes early could mean gambling on wireworms. Unless you use Diazinon® at the rates recommended for early planting.

Last year at these rates, Diazinon outlasted the cold weather and the long drawn-out season. When wireworms finally did emerge, Diazinon was there and ready. Wireworms didn't have a chance.

Just apply Diazinon, broadcast... either as a granular or, if preferred, as a spray. You'll get control of all wireworms, even those resistant to other insecticides.

And on later planted potatoes, use Diazinon at the recommended lower rate. You'll get the very fine control growers have associated with Diazinon for years.

Control without carryover. Diazinon doesn't persist from one season to the next. In fact, even sugar beets can follow Diazinon treated potatoes.

When you plant early, don't gamble on wireworm control. Apply Diazinon at the higher rate recommended for early planted potatoes. Then, you'll be just as sure as if you planted later.

Tractor Maintenance Clinic Set For 4-H'ers

A 4-H tractor maintenance clinic has been scheduled for April 18 in Twin Falls for all 4-H'ers and 4-H leaders interested in tractors in the county and surrounding counties. This clinic, to be held at the American Oil Farm Service Center, is designed for 4-H'ers who are planning to take tractor maintenance projects and leaders of these 4-H'ers. The clinic begins at 9:30 a.m. and will conclude about 3:30 p.m. American Oil is sponsoring the lunch. Last year was the 25th year nationally that American Oil has sponsored such a clinic. Such subjects to be covered will include the importance of changing oil, how motors operate, safety factors, precautions in operating a tractor, the ignition system and how it functions in the overall operation. Instructing the clinic will be American Oil and University of Idaho extension service engineers. All 4-H'ers, leaders and parents interested in tractor maintenance are urged to attend this clinic. Those planning to attend, should contact Olen Genn, Twin Falls—County agricultural agent.

Costume Party Set By Grange

KING HILL—The King Hill Grange is planning a costume party on April 14 and those not dressed "appropriately" will be fined, states Mrs. Joel Young, lecturer. Mrs. Young adds that prizes will be awarded for best costumes. Recently several members were honored for birthday anniversaries. Honored were Horace Lipe, Mrs. Young, Sherry Ruberry and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer. Reports were given concerning repairs needed on the post office part of the Grange building and plastering in the kitchen.

1,500 Invited To Conference

LARAMIE, Wyo.—More than 1,500 agricultural and business leaders from the six member states of the Federation of Rocky Mountain States, Inc., have been invited to attend an agri-business conference on Wednesday, April 8, at the University of Wyoming in Laramie.

Hearing Held On Additives

BOISE—Testimony from farm managers, university extension personnel, representatives of chemical companies and manufacturers of soil conditioner compounds was heard at a public hearing here recently. The hearing was conducted by Idaho Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley Treanor at the Fish and Game conference room for the purpose of determining if regulations proposed for registering "soil additives" will be adopted. Several testified as to the effectiveness of the new compounds which are alleged to improve the texture of the soil thereby stimulating plant growth. Manufacturers of the soil additives were agreeable to the registration of their products with the Idaho Department of Agriculture but said they would be unable to comply with the portion of the regulation which would require manufacturers to show "proof of value to the soil or plant or both." Dr. Mortimer Starr, bacteriologist, Davis, California, advisor to and a member of the board of directors of one of the leading manufacturers of a soil conditioning product, testified his firm didn't have enough information as yet to submit such proof of value. "We hope to have a microbiological assay in the next one and one-half to two years," he said. Starr raised the question as to whether this type of product should be included under "fertilizer regulations" since they are not actually classified as fertilizers. According to the manufacturers, the product, which is distributed to the soil through irrigation water, alters the texture of the soil through microbiological action. The product is referred to as a stimulant which acts upon the soil rather than on the plant or plant foods. Testimony from Idaho University extension personnel urged adoption of the proposed regulations and particularly supported the "proof of value" section of the regulations. To date, Idaho is only the second state attempting to adopt regulations to register these products.

4-H'ers Meet

ALMO—Members of the Almo Homemakers 4-H Club discussed general projects at a recent meeting. Members decided to have meetings every two weeks. At the next meeting, Mrs. Rulon Koyne will give a demonstration on various sewing stitches.

Study By Water Unit Completed

BOISE—One hundred years hence the population of Idaho may be nearly three million people, and those who now contend the State is becoming crowded can say, "I told you so!" This population figure is only one important fact of economic growth obtained from a comprehensive investigation of Idaho's economic base. Titled "Idaho Economic Base Study for Water Requirements," the two-volume report was prepared for the Idaho Water Resource Board under contract with the Bureau of Business Research at Idaho State University. Gary R. Wells acted as project leader and was assisted by Dr. James Kelley, Dr. Robin Peterson and Glenn Jeffreys. The study offers out put and employment projections for the years 1980-2070 inclusive, based on historical information that indicates past trends and relationships by which the future may be projected. Projections are set forth for the agricultural, mining, food processing, and forestry and associated manufacturing industries and are based on historical trends. The report contains historical data and information that has affected the economic growth of Idaho in recent times. For some sectors, information was scarce and difficult to use. Virtually every municipally and industrial user of water in Idaho was contacted regarding present consumption and withdrawal of water. These data, coupled with population and employment projections, provided the basis for project-

1920	945,000

Control wireworms and other pests before they start... with Thimet

Get early season systemic insect control at the time you plant potatoes. Apply Thimet® 10-G Systemic Insecticide or Thimet-impregnated fertilizer for extra-long protection against wireworms, aphids, leafhoppers and psyllid. Thimet works from inside the plant as it grows. Vines and foliage remain toxic to insects when they attack, thanks to Thimet's powerful systemic action. By controlling pests, Thimet helps prevent destructive virus diseases. Using Thimet at planting time saves you the trouble and expense of ordinary insect control treatments. You avoid poor spray coverage and also eliminate drift problems and hazard to beneficial insects. For further information contact your insecticide supplier or agricultural authorities for the program recommended in your area. Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label.

New Steak Process Developed

DETROIT—A group of purebred breeders have come up with a way to process the entire beef carcass into steak, including a new low-cost steak. The patented-process works like this: The entire beef carcass is processed on a machine which removes the bones, then removes the prime cuts. The remainder of the carcass—cuts that normally go into hamburger, brisket, neck meat, etc.—are made into six-ounce strip-style steaks or 3½-ounce sandwich steaks. The meat is "flaked" or cut into thin slices, compressed with the right amount of fat and molded into steaks.

The steaks are now being test-marketed as federally inspected choice grade beef in 75 Michigan towns. Premier Angus, Inc. holds the patents and hopes to sell purebred beef direct to consumers.

IN 1961 THE JOY of learning that his steer had been named grand champion at the Mid-South Junior Livestock Exposition was suddenly turned to sorrow when Gary Hendrick, 9, left, also learned that the steer would be sold to the highest bidder. Nine years later, a mature and sophisticated Gary, right, smiles as he accepts a trophy for his reserve champion steer, and the knowledge that his steer will be sold. (UPI telephoto)

Planting Intentions Are Listed

RENO—Figures on acreages intended to be harvested by Nevada farmers in 1970 and the crops they desire to produce have been released in a recent report of the Nevada Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The service, a branch of the United States Department of Agriculture and housed in the College of Agriculture at the University of Nevada, Reno, compiles the report to assist Nevada farmers and ranchers to make changes in their acreage plans as may appear desirable.

After considering the declared intentions of farmers in the State, region and nation, the Nevada growers have the opportunity of adjusting their planting program to better fit marketing and other criteria.

Intentions of Nevada farmers are to harvest crops from 487,000 acres in 1970. This is up slightly from the comparable 471,000 acres in 1969. Of the amount of acres intended to be harvested this year, 432,000 will be taken up by hay production, or a slight increase over that harvested in 1969. The figure does not include acreages that will be allotted to alfalfa seed growing.

Considering other crops, 10,000 acres of winter wheat were planted last fall, up from the 6,000 planted in the fall of 1968. Oats at 10,000 acres remains unchanged while both barley and spring wheat are down somewhat. Nationally, increases are noted in corn, sorghums, oats and soybeans.

Friday, April 3, 1970 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho 11
Sponsored by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the meeting was attended by representatives of the lamb industries of the United States and the two countries that are the principal lamb exporters.

World Agriculture Census

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and 120 other countries will take a census of the condition of world agriculture in the 1970s. The census, which is expected to take as long as four years in some underdeveloped nations, would give agricultural economists the information needed to plan production in the future. Economists and statisticians for Asian, African and South American nations have been training in Washington, Paris and Bogota, Colombia. They will take the census under the auspices of the Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO) of the United Nations. Information gathered will be given to the FAO to compile. FAO economists should be able to determine where there is likely to be overproduction and where they will be needed in the world economy. Officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say many countries have inaccurate information, or none, about the state of their farm economies. For example, a Latin American country consistently received reports of growing herds of beef cattle. This indicated to the minister of agriculture that beef was sufficient for the nation's wants. But the figures were wrong. The herds actually had been holding steady or declining. Soon the country had to turn to costly imports to meet domestic needs. In Asia, a small country calculated its rice crop would be abundant and signed agreements for exports. After the export assignments were filled, the country had to import rice to feed its own people. Some countries have inaccurate information in the other direction. Instead of shortages, they come up with heavy surpluses. Because the nation's leadership was not prepared, it has often taken less favorable prices to sell surplus production on the world market. Erratic crop reports can also depress or inflate prices on the world market and upset the planning of even nations advanced in statistical reporting.

The 1970 world census will be a tedious undertaking. The trained census takers will visit village after village and compile reports on communities and regions. There will be a listing of people, animals, machinery, tools and acres in production. Also lists of the potential number of acres that could be put into production. Estimates of average yield and the techniques used to get the yield. America will collect its share of the information in the 1970 U.S. census. Questionnaires for the decennial census are being mailed from Washington.

2, 4, 5-T Cleared On One Issue

RENO—The herbicide 2,4,5-T has been implicated as a material that can cause birth defects. Such defects occurring after the spraying of Pinal Mountain near Globe, Ariz., last fall were blamed partly on the herbicide, and it has been indicted in Viet Nam. "Recent feeding trials on rats and mice show that 2,4,5-T with the ordinary levels of impurity has not caused birth defects at any level fed," said Dr. Howard Corda, agronomist in the College of Agriculture, University of Nevada Reno. Dr. Corda said the trials were conducted by Biometrics, a commercial laboratory, at the request of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The current status, as a result, Dr. Corda said, is that 2,4,5-T is still restricted for use on food crops, but all other registered uses have been restored. Such uses, however, will be subject to zero residues, as in the past. "Previous trials with the herbicide," said Dr. Corda, "indicated that when it contained 27 parts per million of an impurity, it was known to have teratogenic effects, or caused birth defects. However, the ordinary level of impurity is one ppm and at this level the material causes no problems." Principal use of 2,4,5-T has been on brush control in the southwest, mostly on mesquite, and as a defoliant in Vietnam. The Food and Drug Administration Dr. Corda said, is now investigating studies of insecticides and herbicides to determine if the impurity exists in them and at what levels.

However, the ordinary level of impurity is one ppm and at this level the material causes no problems." Principal use of 2,4,5-T has been on brush control in the southwest, mostly on mesquite, and as a defoliant in Vietnam. The Food and Drug Administration Dr. Corda said, is now investigating studies of insecticides and herbicides to determine if the impurity exists in them and at what levels.

Grazing Units Are Opened

SHOSHONE — Opening dates for several area grazing units in the Shoshone Grazing District are announced by the Bureau of Land Management.

Although some areas look fairly good, most areas are spotty; therefore do not have much growth due to the cold nights. All areas with crested wheat seedlings have substantial feed for turnout.

The West Bliss unit was opened for grazing earlier this week.

Opening today were the Star Lake West and S-1/4 Wildhorse Units for sheep grazing, and the Star Lake East, Milner, Canyon, Wendell and Kimama-Mindoka units for cattle.

Planting Time For Beets Now

The time to plant sugar beets is as soon as you can get into the fields in the spring, according to Harry Fenwick, University of Idaho extension plant pathologist.

If fields were prepared last fall, so much the better, he said. You can be planting at the right time in spring instead of delaying the job for plowing. Early planting in cool soil reduces the possibility of damage by soil fungi. Fungi that cause "damping off," a seedling disease, are not active in cool soil. Beets that are planted early usually grow beyond damping off their threat before the fungi get to work. Sugar beets should not follow legumes in crop rotation, the pathologist reports. That is because beans, peas and alfalfa also are affected by damping off and the soil has a concentration of the fungi.

Light irrigation of sugar beets is recommended at planting, but irrigate only up to the row," Mr. Fenwick advises. The most important thing in starting a crop is a good stand. To help attain that, soil preparation, time of planting, and irrigation are important.

Grange Aide Backs Samuelson

BOISE (UPI) — Emil S. Jerome, a member of the executive committee of the National Grange, commended Gov. Don Samuelson for his support of Idaho agriculture. In a written statement, Jerome said, "... The governor has always recognized agriculture as Idaho's number one industry and has given unstinting effort in its behalf."

He said that since Idaho is an export state, Samuelson has promoted agricultural products wherever he goes. He said the governor also has requested national leaders to meet with farmers in Idaho to discuss means to increase their income.

Space Age Farming

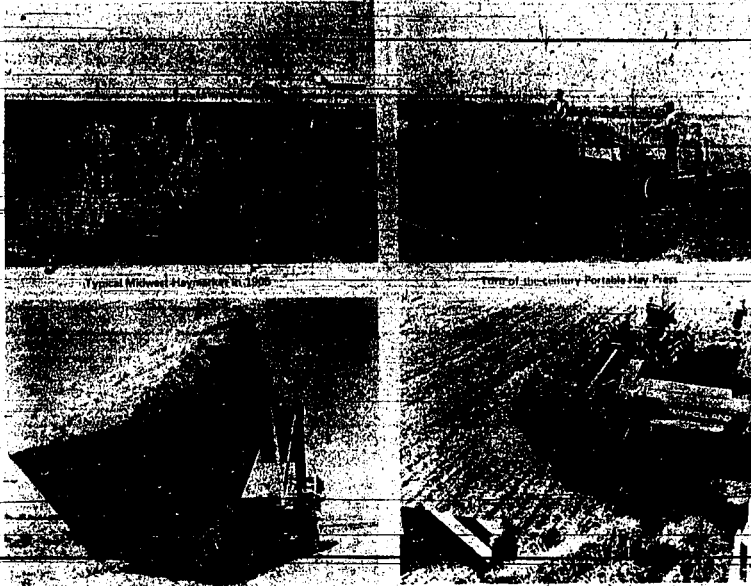

SIERRA, N.M. — Talk about space age farming, Joe Pankey, Sierra rancher, has come up with some down-to-earth ideas on how to "make do" with some leftovers that spacemen can't use.

For instance, he's learned that a 22-foot long missile tube makes a dandy feed bunk or watering trough. Pankey buys missile tubes from the government for $80 each and bolts them to railroad ties for stability. Cut in half with a welding torch, the tubes make a bunk 17 inches deep and 44 feet long, costing less than $2 a foot.

Equine Group Sets Record

AMARILLO, Tex. — Another record year in all categories of the American Quarter Horse Association—the world's largest equine registry—was reported at the organization's recent 31st annual convention in San Francisco by executive secretary Don Jones.

Registration of owners in this and 41 other countries totaled 66,317 in 1969, exceeding the combined total registered by the three other leading equine associations.

Doramuses Host NFO Meeting

WENDELL — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doramus hosted a special invitation meeting of the Gooding County NFO recently at their home.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. John Emery, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lawton. Charles Garner, Rupert, district NFO field representative, showed slides on the economic conditions of farmers and dairymen.

This meeting was among the first of several which will be held weekly at the homes of various NFO members in this area. The purpose of these meetings is educating non-members as to the purpose of the NFO organization.

In the weeks to come NFO farm families will be visiting neighboring families to attend these special educational meetings.

New Beef Breed

SAN FRANCISCO — Another new beef breed to watch — the Murray Grey, an all-beef breed from Australia developed for quality beef production.

A hybridized cross between Angus and Shorthorn, the Greys have been upbred through the Angus. Cows at maturity weigh 1,300 to 1,500 pounds; bulls tip the scales at over a ton.

Color is pure grey. The breed is known for a low incidence of calving problems, large frames and high quality beef with a dressing percentage of 65 percent is not uncommon for steers.

that few people have ever given much thought to the origin of these terms. And perhaps it's a good thing because they would have difficulty in tracking down such origins.

The difficulty stems from the fact that haymaking operations have been around as long as recorded history — indeed, one of the world's first agricultural writers, a Roman by the name of Columella, who was more he to farming than fighting, penned some words about haymaking more than 2,000 years ago. He described making hay as "throwing hay loosely together for a few days to heat and concoct itself before putting into the mow."

A lot has happened to hay since Columella's days when hay was looked upon merely as

Care Is Important For Mares

A mare needs special care during the last three months before she foals. Feed and exercise are important, says Morris Hemstrom, livestock specialist of the University of Idaho Extension service.

Keep her in good condition by exercising her at least an hour a day, he suggests. If she is outdoors most of the time, she can exercise on her own. You can ride her until she foals, but avoid fast running, sharp turns and abrupt stops.

Keep her weight under control. Fat mares have difficulty foaling and producing milk. A mare needs about two pounds of feed daily for each 100 pounds of body weight. Half the feed should be mixed hay of high quality, and half should be grain. Provide salt and dicalcium phosphate free choice.

Care should also include a test for worms, the specialist said, because a foal can be infected almost immediately after birth. Advice of a veterinarian is recommended in using worm medicines or taking other steps for protection of the mare's health.

Certified Alfalfa Seed Best

It's the pedigree that counts. Idaho farmers planting alfalfa this spring are advised by Harold Fignell, manager of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association, and Howard Roylance, agronomist of the University of Idaho extension service, to take advantage of the excellent Idaho grown certified seed available from local dealers.

Thirty-nine varieties of alfalfa for seed production were under certification in 1969. Alfalfa seed was produced on more than 32,000 acres. A lot of scientific knowhow and money have gone into the development of new varieties offered to growers.

"A big step towards profitable farming starts with use of certified seed," the agricultural scientists said. "That applies to alfalfa as well as other crops. There is no way to tell how seed will perform by merely looking at it. Using seed of unknown origin is like buying a pig in a poke. Why gamble? Why spend money for fertilizer, preparing the seed bed and doing other farm practices and endanger the whole operation by taking a chance on doubtful seed?"

"The moment you pour seed into the planter is the last chance you have to insure production potential of the crop you expect to harvest. Progressive farmers are increasingly looking to certified seed to produce maximum profits from high-level management practices."

"Your county agent and your local seed dealer can help you find seed that wears the tag of quality. Representatives of the crop improvement association are also eager to give helpful suggestions."

Briefing Given For Rangers

KETCHUM — Staff officers and district rangers of the Sawtooth National Forest were briefed Tuesday and Wednesday on the use of soil and water survey material in their basic management plans.

The two-day training school held at Ketchum covered discussions of watershed objectives, watershed project inventories, reconnaissance soil surveys, use of these surveys in district multiple use planning, field mapping of geomorphic units and soil associations, hydrology, stream channel surveys, road erosion and water rights inventory.

Surveys are currently being made in the Sawtooth National Forest, under the direction of Blaine Molyneux, water, soil specialist, and hydrologists. Molyneux said eventually the entire forest area will be covered in these studies and the information will be available in all districts for management plans. Such information as stream flow, quality and quantity of water at run-off time and other material will be made available.

Utah Band Performs At Oakley

OAKLEY — The Orem Utah High School band and orchestra presented a concert in a full house at Oakley with proceeds going toward new band uniforms for the Oakley High School.

The band from Orem has 125 students and their director is Wesley Barry, a former Casalia County resident. The group also presented a program during a morning at Raft River High School and were overnight guests of Oakley residents.

Kent Severson, Oakley band instructor, reported other projects are being planned to raise money to replace the worn uniforms now in use at the school. The concert raised about $200 toward the new uniforms.

Magic Valley Operations Stop At Silver Star Mine

BELLEVEUE — Mining operations ceased at the Silver Star, Queens Mine, Bellevue, Wednesday morning as a result of last summer's decision to curtail and finally close the mine when grade of silver, lead and zinc dropped in assayed value to make continued operation unprofitable.

The decision was issued by the Federal Resource Corporation, which had been leasing the mining property.

The mine, whose drifts run as deep as 850 feet, had yielded fortunes for past owners when the Munkle Moore vein was discovered in 1906. At peak times the mine employed 120 men who brought out ore valued at as much as $200,000 a month.

During the past three months, miners have been cleaning out the stockpiles of ore in the pockets and creating a stockpile. The mill will operate in reducing the stockpiled ore into concentrate and then shut down at a time to be determined by the Walker Engineering Corp., the original leasee, the Silver Star Queens Corp., and the Federal Resource Corp.

Eden Slates Sewer Vote On April 14

EDEN — Eden city officials announce that the sewerage bond vote is slated for April 14.

Mayor Jim Lulow, urging all voters to check to see if they are registered, says he would like to see a 100 per cent vote. The election was scheduled after the November vote approving the bond was invalidated because it did not state the full amount of the bond on the ballot.

The amount of the project to be voted on is $178,000, with $49,000 of this amount fundable. The project has been approved by the State Health Department and is eligible for 25 per cent of the fundable amount to be granted by the state and another 50 per cent of the $49,000 sum to be received from a federal grant.

Other planned improvements for the city include the installation of basketball and tennis courts at the city park. Kent Ellis, representative of the State Parks and Recreation Department, advised the group of methods for such improvements at a recent council meeting.

Watchman Retires At Elmore

GLENN'S FERRY — Stanley Massey, crossing watchman for the Union Pacific Railroad Co. here for 28 years, retired March 31.

Mr. Massey came to Glenn's Ferry with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Massey, in 1909, when he was 11 years old. As a call boy, Massey joined the railroad workers during World War I, while he was an eighth-grader. He continued to work a full shift and continue working. Later on he spent a time as time-keeper for the Idaho Northern Railroad, and for five years operated a service station in Glenn's Ferry until World War II.

Shoshone Coed Assists On Archaeology Project

SHOSHONE — A Shoshone coed will direct field work on an archaeological project in the Utah, area this summer. Darlene Glauner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Glauner, North Shoshone, will assist Dr. Dale L. Berge, Brigham Young University faculty member, during an Anthropology and Archaeology camp June 20-27 July 17. Major emphasis of the camp will be field experience in which students lay out a site, prepare for excavation and then dig.

An advanced student in archaeology, Miss Glauner will direct the field work and organize the excavation for the project which will define the limits of a Fremont Indian house in the Provo area.

She has extensive background in archaeology and anthropology in both Anasazi and Fremont cultures and has worked with youth groups, the university reports.

Participants in the camp will receive basic orientation to Indian cultures, field techniques, field note taking and the purpose of archaeology and film.

Dr. Berge, who has participated in many expeditions in Utah, Arizona and Mexico, is now doing research in Navaho, Ill. He is a nephew of Emma Cook, Shoshone, and Mrs. May Hilt, Twin Falls.

State Patrolman D. David Thompson said Mr. Bagwell lost control as the vehicle approached a curve. It went off the right side of the highway, striking a post and then went down a grade, taking out four steel posts and a length of wire chain fence.

Boy Has To Write Essay On Threat

The 12-year-old Kimberly boy charged with telephoning a bomb threat to the Kimberly High School last month has been placed on probation until next January, is to write a 250 word essay and to write an apology to school officials.

The youth appeared before Twin Falls County Probate Judge Eugene McCoy Thursday. He was arrested several weeks ago by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers and charged with making an annoying telephone call.

The essay is to deal with good citizenship and how to make good grades in school. It was reported.

The bomb threat was telephoned during the school's lunch period and classes were not disrupted, although a search of the building had to be made by officers.

Wendell Girl Rates In Test

WENDELL — Valaune Peterson, junior at Wendell High School, placed first in a written test which culminated a study of cooperatives, sponsored by the Idaho Cooperative Council for 4-H and FFA students.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. JAVAR Peterson and will compete on the state level later this spring at Moscow. The state winner receives a trip to the national event.

The program is sponsored by the Idaho Cooperative Council and the extension service. County winners receive a $25 scholarship to the 4-H Club Congress at the University of Idaho in June.

Cost Of Living Hike Strikes State School At Gooding Too

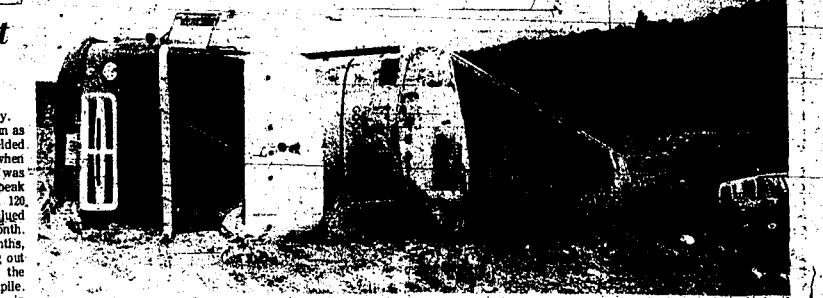

GOODING — Cost of living increase has hit the Idaho State school for the Deaf and Blind, as well as individual householders.

Supt. Ed Reay said today that because of increased costs for utilities and insurance, among other routine operational expenses, the school officials asked for additional funds when the state budget was opened up at the last session of the Legislature.

They asked for $20,000, but were notified Thursday by Cong. Orval Hansen that additional funds totaling $17,101 have been made available to the State Board of Education and the Idaho Department of Health for the state school.

These funds, provided through the recently enacted Department of Health Education and Welfare Appropriations Act for the fiscal year 1970, are in addition to monies allocated in March, 1969, Rep. Hansen indicated.

The money will be used to buy food and supplies, as well as for utilities, Supt. Reay indicated. There are currently 143 students at the State school, many of whom go home weekends. With improved transportation and roads over the years, many more of the children spend their weekends at home.

DRIVER OF THIS TRUCK escaped serious injury Thursday morning when the truck's brakes failed on the Murtaugh grade on the north side of the Snake River at Murtaugh. The 1960 IHC truck and trailer, loaded with cattle, was driven by Reed Glenn, Shoshone, and was headed south towards Murtaugh down the grade when the truck failed to negotiate a curve at the bottom of the grade and flipped over on its side. Mr. Glenn was pinned in the truck cab for a while, but got out by breaking out the windshield. None of the cattle were injured. Damage to the truck and trailer is estimated at $1,500. Mr. Glenn was cited by State Patrolman Cole Watkins for inadequate brakes.

Area Eyes Effect Of Truck Strike

Though far removed from some of the major cities affected by the sporadic flurry of Teamsters Union walkouts, the Magic Valley began to feel the effects earlier this week, according to spokesmen of valley firms.

The strike was reported apparently settled early today in major trucking centers, with Teamsters members scheduled to vote on a tentative new contract. Garrett, Freightlines was still reported struck in the San Francisco Bay area this morning, but drivers in other cities were going back to work.

Among the first to feel the effects of the wildcat walkouts by truck drivers were area freight haulers who receive shipments daily from around the nation. In Twin Falls, major interstate truck firms had to reduce their personnel as incoming freight fell off.

Garrett's laid off about 20 per cent of their workers as incoming freight slackened, according to Tom Leach, Garrett's manager. Much of their freight is routed through Salt Lake City, where union pickets delayed truck traffic. However, the pickets were removed Thursday afternoon, and increased freight was anticipated by the weekend, Mr. Leach said.

Pacific International Express (PIE) also felt the slowdown; about one-third of the Twin Falls employees were laid off temporarily, according to the PIE manager.

Locally, however, no talk was heard of a strike against Magic Valley truck lines. Mr. McDonald of PIE said the Teamsters Union told local truck drivers not to strike.

In the Burley-Rupert area, the local area, covering about 80 acres. It is located on 90 West near the Interstate 80 overpass near Heyburn. The lake itself was formed during the interstate construction project and was decided, along with surrounding land, to Mindoka County for recreation purposes.

Work began in 1966 as a five-year program. Thus far work under the supervision of the County Commissioners includes completion of the underground water system, sprinkler irrigation system; domestic well, restrooms with running water and storage area; barrier fence and about one-half of the proposed lawn planted.

Opening Is Held For Business

HAILEY — A gala grand opening marked the opening of a new business in Hailey, the Sears catalog sales store, operated by owners Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grant.

The business opened its doors at the former home of the city's post office on Main Street, but not before undergoing a complete facelift without and remodeling within. Attending the official opening Friday were Tom Leahy, Seattle, director of the Sears merchant stores program, and Keith Hallmark, assistant manager, Seattle, as well as a trainer for the merchant stores system.

Mr. Grant said the store will maintain regular business hours and will be operated by Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Judy Seagraves, with Janice MacCarthy helping parttime.

He said merchandise will be available in the store in limited quantities, as well as through the catalog. Phone orders will also be accepted. The Hailey number is 788-4581.

Deadline Given On Hailey Land Case

HAILEY — A three-member commission, appointed recently by Fifth District Judge Charles Scogglin, has been given until April 12 to decide on a fair price for 31.5 acres of land presently owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Povey.

The land is located within the area called Colorado Gulch, southwest of the city of Hailey near the Big Wood River, and has been designated by the city's sewer engineer Bill Briggs, Boise, as the location for city's sewer treatment site.

In a recent decision, Judge Scogglin agreed with the necessity of the city acquiring the land and appointed the commission to set the price.

In testimony heard by the commission Thursday in Hailey, Vernon Turner, Boise, a professional fee appraiser, appearing on behalf of the city, set a total value of the land desired and damage to surrounding property at $9,900.

The figure was reported, however, by Harry LeMoyno, Twin Falls real estate appraiser, who set the figure at $35,350. Mr. Turner estimated that the value of 18 acres of "bench ground" between the sewer site and Broadford road at $1,000 an acre before the sewer installation, dropping to $200 after the installation.

He estimated the value of the remaining river bottom acreage surrounding the sewer site at $200 an acre before and after the sewer is installed. He explained he felt the best use of that land is grazing.

Other dry grazing property owned by the Poveys and surrounding the sewer site was estimated at $20 an acre, with the value to remain the same after the sewer plant installed.

Mr. LeMoyno, however, estimated the 18 bench acres at $1,200 an acre before and only $600 after, and the remaining river bottom land at $500 an acre before, dropping to $50 after because they are downriver from the sewer site.

The dry grazing land, he said, would drop from an estimated $600 an acre to $25, leaving the total value of the land taken for the sewer plant and damages at $30.

Other testimony was from Mrs. Briggs for the city, and Mrs. Povey and Ellen Schofield, Bellevue real estate agent, for the defendants.

Deadline Given On Park Funds

RUPERT — Presentation of a check in the amount of $2,142.00 to Mindoka County Commissioners was announced Friday by Harold T. Brown, Idaho Park Board Chairman from files.

The check represents reimbursement of one-half of the cost of installing a sprinkler system and preparing for seeding of grass in the Emerald Lake area on the Mindoka County Recreation Area near Heyburn and Rupert.

Mr. Brown said this is the ninth payment on the fund development project scheduled for completion in 1971. Contributions from the Park Board are derived from the Land and Water Conservation Fund which is administered on the state levy by Mr. Brown's board.

Emerald Lake is one of the largest recreational projects in the local area, covering about 80 acres. It is located on 90 West near the Interstate 80 overpass near Heyburn. The lake itself was formed during the interstate construction project and was decided, along with surrounding land, to Mindoka County for recreation purposes.

Work began in 1966 as a five-year program. Thus far work under the supervision of the County Commissioners includes completion of the underground water system, sprinkler irrigation system; domestic well, restrooms with running water and storage area; barrier fence and about one-half of the proposed lawn planted.

Anti-Theft Device

Heart of a new anti-theft device for automobiles is being replaced in the state's locking mechanism combination of a push button. A built-in automatic battery horn if an attempt is made to bypass the unit, circuiting the starting (H. R. Enterprises, 1111 Milwaukee, Boise) will sound.

John King's anti-theft device is being tested in the state's locking mechanism combination of a push button. A built-in automatic battery horn if an attempt is made to bypass the unit, circuiting the starting (H. R. Enterprises, 1111 Milwaukee, Boise) will sound.

THIS SIGN ABOUT FIVE MILES east of Burley on Interstate 80N is causing some concern in Burley, and it's no wonder. The sign, although located in Mindoka County, welcomes travelers to Burley. Some patriotic Magic residents, however, viewed things a little differently and painted, just below "Welcome

You! the words "To Mindoka." When read by the passing motorist the meaning of the sign takes a 180-degree turn. Burley Chamber of Commerce officials haven't decided what to do about the "welcoming" work yet.

April LDS Lessons Are Listed

SHOSHONE — Lessons for the LDS Relief Society will continue during the month of April on a weekly basis.

The first meeting of the month will feature a lesson for the spiritual living meeting dealing with contributions of the Prophet Joseph Smith, "Pearl of Great Price."

For the visiting teacher's message, the subject is "True Conversion," and reminds the women that true conversion entails humility, repentance, improvement, and righteous works to the end of one's life.

The homemaking lesson deals with Proverbs 31-36, "Her Children Arise Up, and Call Her Blessed; Her Husband Also, and He Praiseth Her."

"Purpose and Reward" is the lesson topic for the social relations lesson, with an objective to point out that if a LDS woman will keep the ultimate destiny of the family unit constantly in mind, she may be purposefully motivated in her daily living.

The cultural-refinement lesson is called "The Power of Work and the Use of Leisure." Objective is to show that both work and leisure can contribute to improvement when balanced wisely.

Among literary works to be studied are writings of Thomas Carlyle and Lin Yutang.

Former Drug Addicts To Speak In Area

A team of ex-drug users and rehabilitated addicts, members of Teen Challenge of Arizona, are scheduled for a series of meetings in the Burley-Rupert areas next week.

The team, who is working in the realm of drug abuse, addiction, alcoholism and related problems, will be visiting churches, schools, clubs and civic groups in the area.

T.F. Minister Asks: What Follows Easter?

By REV. C. W. HOOD
Pastor, Trinity Southern Baptist Church, Twin Falls

Easter has come and is now in the past.

For many there will be no serious thought in regards to Christ and His resurrection. For some it has a real challenge. Reading from Mark 15:14-20, we will notice several things of importance and as I read them I realize that Jesus was not only speaking to His disciples, but also to us today.

One of the first things we will notice is that Jesus rebuked them for their disbelief. Without any doubt Jesus would do the same today. On every hand there is much disbelief in our own nation. Is it no wonder that so many of our young people today have the feeling that they do towards the church and the word of God?

Second, I notice that Jesus said "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." As we take a long look at this verse we can't help thinking of the day to come when the rapture of the church will take place and all that are God's children will meet Jesus in the air, and at the same time all those that are not in this rapture will be left behind.

In being left behind we think of the judgment that will come, and in so thinking we wonder how many that will be cast out into outer darkness, because they failed to accept Christ as their savior. As you read this, ask yourself the question: will I be one that will be cast out? You can settle the question right now.

The third thing we notice is that Jesus told the disciples "go and preach." Now He did not say that one man was to be a preacher and do all of the preaching, but Jesus said that all of them was to preach.

In relation to preaching we hear a lot of preaching that is not of God nor from God's word. If there is one thing that God's people will be held accountable for and that is the failure of preaching the truth of God's word.

The fourth and last thing I mention is that Christ mentioned there would be signs that would follow. Now as we look around we do see there is a lack of signs following the preaching of the word.

With the lack of signs it is no wonder that so many people has lost sight of the real purpose of the church. In losing sight of the real purpose the church is failing to produce signs they are of God.

Now we ask what has this to do with the Easter message.

Just this, if there is no preaching of the word, or signs following, then we can say that the real meaning of Easter has been lost, for things of lesser value and in so doing the church will answer for failing to hold the word up before a nation that is in a turmoil and unrest.

Yes, my friend what did Easter really mean to you?

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

PHILADELPHIA — One of the few clergymen who has ever managed to make church advertising consistently interesting (or, to some observers, outrageous) is due to retire this year.

Eastern Pennsylvania church scene will never be quite the same again.

Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, D.D., rector of Christ Church and St. Michael's in Germantown, is very possibly the most spectacularly uninhibited clergyman in the 20th Century history of the Episcopal Church.

Possessor of unlimited energy, volcanic charm, a great toothy grin and a voice like a 150-millimeter howitzer, Dr. Aulenbach is known (and either ardently adored or furiously resented) by millions who read his giant and inimitable weekly church ads.

"When boss kisses secretary — secretary becomes boss!" is the announced sermon topic at "Germantown's liveliest church!"

And while this format makes some of the more dignified Episcopalians fume with rage, the majority of the public appreciates the fact that this sermon is dealing with a familiar problem. And so people continue to travel from all over the Philadelphia area to attend "Germantown's Liveliest Church."

They are welcomed by a magnificent choir, plus a veritable regiment of friendly, energetic parishioners, performing a vast number of assigned tasks — all excitingly labeled (such as "The Ministry of Light!") — those men who operate the lighting system by which the chancel changes color about nine times per service. Every announcement in the parish bulletin, every activity, organization, or meeting of a parishioner's name is almost invariably followed by three or four exclamation points.

After a rousing processional hymn, "The Rector" (as Aulenbach is known to all his parishioners) smiles broadly and booms: "We will open our service with the words of happy worship — everybody now: I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the house of the Lord!" (And even the most cynical visitor finds it somewhat difficult to remain totally unimpressed after this Vesuvian broadside.)

After a vigorous liturgy (due at any time to be suddenly interrupted as The Rector demands more vigor from the congregation in the prayers), there is the sermon — which is never, ever dull.

His sermons are heavily laced with sparkling and usually hilarious anecdotes — the punch lines of which he uses for the most titillating sermon topics in pulp history; such as: "And the horse died!"

When asked if his people had ever become alarmed over his sensational ads, The Rector smiled and said: "I'm not sure. I've noticed two garbage men eating their lunch on top of their open garbage wagon. 'Now isn't that like a lot of the Church!' — surrounded by garbage and calmly eating its own lunch!"

Next Sunday's announced topic: "Lunch on a garbage wagon!"

On another occasion, while he was spreading fertilizer on the church lawn, a passing parishioner shouted: "Well, I see you're doing on Thursday what you do every Sunday morning!" The Rector howled with laughter and proceeded to send in next Sunday's sermon topic: "Spreading fertilizer!"

In addition to his wild sermon topics, the ads frequently carry a special message; such as: "The Rector says: There is too much drinking among the clergy of this diocese!" (In answer to numerous and furious telephoned complaints, the Bishop reportedly replied: "Are you willing to deny this?")

Then, when the same Bishop was prepared to let the Episcopal Hospital be sold; "The Rector says: The bishop was brought in to strengthen the diocese — not to liquidate it!" (The Bishop responded by appointing Aulenbach to a committee, which saved the hospital.)

Committee Set Up By Catholics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cardinal Terence Cooke announced that the New York Archdiocese has set up a 35-member committee of laymen to help resolve major crises in Roman Catholic education.

The cardinal said the committee of business and industrial leaders will solicit private contributions and advise him on effective means of supporting the archdiocese's educational services.

"In the 1970s, the major crisis in the church of this archdiocese will focus on education," he said.

"The survival of the school system; the development of religious education programs for all Catholics; and the church's role in adult education, are problems which we must carefully study."

There are 325 Roman Catholic schools in the jurisdiction of the New York Archdiocese.

Confirmation

FILER — The topic "A Look at Confirmation" was presented by Hugo Meyer to Clover Lutheran Laymen's League at a recent meeting in the school.

Refreshments were served by Elmer Aufderheide, Martin Hartwig and David Lutz.

LDS Plan Solemn Assembly

SALT LAKE CITY — By official appointment of the First Presidency members of the LDS Church will assemble Monday, April 6, at 10 a.m. in a Solemn Assembly in the famed Mormon Tabernacle on Temple Square.

Eldon Tanner, who constitute the newly appointed First Presidency. It will be one of the general sessions of the 140th annual general conference which is scheduled for April 4, 5 and 6.

It will be the first such Solemn Assembly since the one held in April, 1951, when the late President David O. McKay and his counselors were sustained. The procedure will follow that of the 1951 assembly which has been the pattern used to sustain each new presidency since John Taylor and his counselors were named in 1880.

Spontaneous Prayers Are Best, Says Writer

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

The best prayers are those that rise spontaneously from the human heart at moments of great need, penitence or gratitude.

They require few words: "Help me, forgive me... thank you."

To acknowledge the supremacy of spontaneous prayers, however, is not to say that men can get along without more formal prayers which have been thought out and written down in advance.

Prepackaged prayer has two great merits. It is a way of reaching out toward God in hours of spiritual drought. And it can serve to remind us of dimensions of need, forms of guilt or occasions for thankfulness that may have escaped our attention.

"The greatest and most widely used formal prayer is the one that Jesus taught His disciples. Here is a new ecumenical translation that has been prepared by Protestant and Catholic scholars:

"Our Father in heaven, holy be Your name. 'Your Kingdom come. Your will be done. On earth as in heaven. 'Give us today our daily bread.

New Translation Of Bible Is Published

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

A new translation of the Bible, regarded by many scholars as the best yet, has been published by Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press.

Called "The New English Bible" or NEW, it is the product of more than 20 years' work by Anglican and Protestant scholars in Great Britain.

Its idiomatic yet simple English is just easier for modern readers to understand than the 350-year-old King James Version (KJV), which it will replace in British churches.

Many reviewers feel that the NEB also surpasses in clarity and beauty of language such outstanding modern translations as the Revised Standard Version (RSV) and the Jerusalem Bible.

Catholic and Jewish Scholars joined in the praise for the new Protestant translation, Rabbi Samuel Sandmel of Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati found it "better than any translation of the many I've seen," and Fr. John L. McKenzie, S.J., of Notre Dame University called it "the most successful modern version."

The New Testament portion of the NEB was published in 1961. Nine additional volumes were required for the complete work on the Old Testament the Apocrypha. The entire Bible in the standard edition published today will retail for $8.95 without the Apocrypha, $9.95 with it. The Apocrypha is a collection of books from the Old Testament era that are included in the Roman Catholic canon of scripture, but not in the Protestant and Jewish canon.

Those already familiar with the New Testament portion of the NEB may be pleasantly surprised by the Old Testament portion. The NEB-New Testament reflects the quality of the original Greek text—businesslike, straightforward prose without much literary adornment. The NEB Old Testament, however, does full justice to the majestic poetry of the original. The acid test of any Old Testament translation is the 23rd Psalm, which is so familiar and so beloved in the King James version that any other translation is apt to sound strange and pedestrian. Judge for yourself how well the NEB measures up to this challenge: The Lord is my shepherd; I shall want nothing. He makes me lie down in green pastures. He leads me beside the waters of peace. He renews life within me. And for his name's sake guides me in the right path. Even though I walk through a valley dark as death, I fear no evil, for thou art with me. Thy staff and thy crook are my comfort. Even in such sublime passages as the 90th Psalm, the NEB manages to hold its own with the King James—in literary beauty while achieving a notable gain in clarity. Here is the 10th verse of the 90th Psalm, often read at funeral services, as it appears in the King James and then in the NEB:

King James—The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away. NEB—Seventy years are the span of our life. Eighty if our strength holds; The hurrying years are labour and sorrow, So quickly they pass and are forgotten.

Had literary quality been the only consideration, of course, there never would have been any need to replace the King James. The real motive for new translations is that the King James no longer communicates its message effectively to anyone who has not been indoctrinated since childhood in its "Bible and English" language and since the King James was published in 1611, more than a thousand of the English words it uses have changed so radically in meaning that the old version is baffling or directly misleading to a 20th Century reader.

The Bucs' victory dropped the Caps to two and a half games behind pace setting Denver, joining Washington's hopes of capturing a second consecutive division title.

Franz, high scorer of the game, held Barry, who averaged 21 points per game, to only 22 points.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels smashed Indiana, 112-94, Thursday night in its first American Basketball Association triumph against the Pacers since last November.

Kentucky guard Louie Dampier scored his 2,000th point of the season on a 26-foot, three-point basket and put the Colonels on top 17-15 late in the first quarter. The Kentuckians were never seriously pressed from that point on.

Dampier, the ABA's fifth leading scorer, joined Spencer Haywood of Denver, and Bob Verga of Carolina, in the elite 2,000-point club. Dampier scored 21 points on the night, while his backcourt partner, Darel Carrier, led all scorers with 24 tallies.

Seaver Mows Down Pirates In Night Tilt

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla. (UPI) — Tom Seaver warmed up for his opening day starting assignment Tuesday by pitching two-hit ball for seven innings Thursday night as the Mets trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0.

Seaver has not been named officially as yet as the opening day starter, but manager Gil Hodges says it is an open secret who will face the Pirates in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

Seaver struck out nine in his seven innings and walked two. Opposing Seaver was Steve Blass, who already has been named as Pittsburgh's opening game pitcher.

Blass pitched seven innings and gave up both Mets runs.

In the second, Ron Swoboda, Duffy Dyer and Seaver each singled for one run. Ken Boswell's double, an error by Al Oliver and Ed Kranepool's single netted the other run in the third.

Murcer Homer Lets Yanks Drop Expos

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bobby Murcer hit three-run homer, his first of the spring Thursday night, to pace the New York Yankees to a 9-7 victory over the Montreal Expos in an exhibition game.

Frank Tepedino sparked the Yankees' 12-hit attack with three singles and drove in three runs.

John Bateman belted a three-run pinch-hit homer for the Expos.

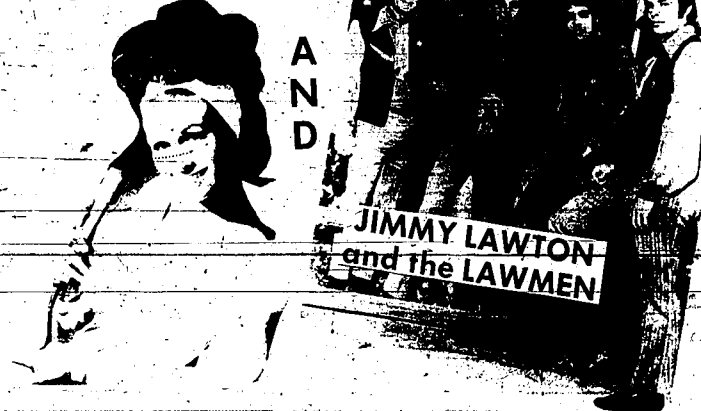

Mel Stottlemyre, who will open the season for the Yankees, hurled seven innings and allowed three runs and 10 hits. He left the ball game after being hit on the knee in the seventh inning on a grounder by Mack Jones.

Knicks' Reed Has 36 Rebounds, 36 Points To Defeat Baltimore

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willis Reed scored 36 points and grabbed 36 rebounds Thursday night as the New York Knicks routed the Baltimore Bullets 101-80 to take a 3-2 lead in their National Basketball Association Eastern Division semifinals.

The Knicks, leading 76-69 going into the fourth quarter, blew the game open as they went on a 12-2 surge during the first six minutes of the final period to take an 85-71 lead. The Knicks defense, best in the league all season, held the Bullets to a mere 11 points in the final 12 minutes as Baltimore could only manage three field goals in 27 attempts. The sixth game of the series will be played in Baltimore Sunday afternoon. Reed scored 12 points in the third period, more than half of New York's 22 for the session and had 28 rebounds at this stage which passed Dave DeBusschere's club record of 24. In the opening seconds of the fourth quarter, Reed scored two quick baskets to start New York on its way to a rout.

From 9:45 to 6:45, there was no scoring, which helped the Knicks solidify victory No. 3. DeBusschere then scored five straight points to make it 91-72 and Reed added two more baskets for a 95-74 New York lead. Walt Frazier's 16 points and Bill Bradley's 14 aided New York's attack. Earl Monroe was held to 18 points, far below his 22.2 average for his four previous playoff games. Jack Marin led the Bullets with 19 points.

Johnson Leads Firestone Bowl Meet

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Don Johnson, of Kokomo, Ind., who does his bowling out of this town, continued his torrid shooting in the $100,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions Thursday afternoon, leading a commanding lead into the semifinals of pro bowling's richest event. The righthander, who last week captured the greater-New Orleans Open for his first tournament victory of 1970 and the 10th of his career, shot an 18-184 series in the eighth and third round, and at the conclusion of the 24-game qualifier showed a total of 5557 pins, or 757 over par. Par for a pro bowler is a 200 game. Don's 24-game average was 231.

Barry Asher, left, Hammond, right, on Costa Mesa, Calif. Bill Frachen, Willie Borden and Dalton Jones drilled home runs to lift Detroit, past Washington 11-3 as the Tigers won their third straight. Third-inning homers by Harmon Killebrew and Brent Alyce boosted the Minnesota Twins to a 5-4 decision over the Boston Red Sox despite homers by

Don Wilson Is Hit With Tendonitis

HOUSTON (UPI)—Righthander Don Wilson of the Houston Astros was placed on the disabled list Thursday night because of an acute case of tendonitis. General manager H.B. Wilson, who led the Astros in strikeouts last season with 235 in 225 innings, will be out for at least 21 days. Richardson said he will name a replacement Friday or Saturday.

Phoenix Knocks Off Lakers 112-98 For 2-1 Series Edge

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The Phoenix Suns, led by Gail Goodrich's 29 points and Connie Hawkins' playmaking, came from seven-points-down-midway in the third quarter to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 112-98 Thursday night. The win gave the Suns a 2-1 edge in the National Basketball Association Western Division playoffs semifinals. The Suns defense held Will Chamberlain to 11 points and Elgin Baylor to 18 while Jerry West, the Lakers NBA king, got his average of 31. The Suns, who had shot only 37 per cent from the floor in the first half, came back with a 54 per cent in the last half, while the Lakers fell from a 50 per cent accuracy in the first quarter to 46 per cent for the game. The Suns biggest effort came on the boards, where they outrounded the taller Lakers 57-29. They held a 15-0 edge on the boards in the third quarter as they moved into the lead to stay with nine straight points during a 6-minute streak at the close of the period. Phoenix led 77-71 going into the final period and the closest Lakers could get was 76-78 with 10:11 to play. Hawkins sparked the Suns with 10 rebounds, 9 assists and 10 points in play. Chamberlain was hit in the eye by Laker center Rick Roberson with 51 seconds remaining. Roberson had replaced starting Will Chamberlain with three minutes left. Chamberlain, who played 45 minutes pulled down 12 rebounds and Happy Hairston had 10, but they couldn't match the efforts of Phoenix Center Jim Fox, with 14, and forward Paul Silas, with 16.

Hawks Can Wrap Up Playoff

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Bulls and Atlanta Hawks had brief drills Thursday in preparation for what might well be the last game of their best-of-seven series in the first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The two teams meet Friday in the Chicago Stadium with the western division champion Hawks holding a 3-0 lead over the Bulls, who finished tied for third place, and requiring only a single win to wrap up the match. Should the Bulls win the match, should the Bulls win the two teams would play a fifth game at Atlanta Sunday.

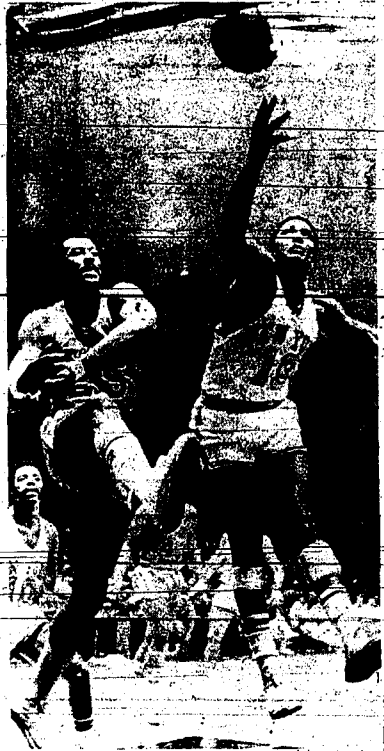

THE FILER BOOSTERS honored these three athletes Thursday night at a banquet in Twin Falls. Receiving awards from the Booster Club were Chris Kluft, most improved wrestler; Tim Chandler, middle, most improved basketball player, and Dave Chadwick, most improved football player.

N.Y. Hoop Sensation Enrolls At Duquesne

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Ed Searcy, 6-6 basketball star who paced Power Memorial High School of New York to a 22-0 season, passed up 150 college offers Thursday to sign with Duquesne University. The 17-year-old honor student who hails from the same high school that developed Lew Alcindor, said he chose Duquesne because he wanted to get away from New York but still live in city atmosphere. "New York is a beautiful city but I wanted to get away," Searcy said. "Yet I'm not too far from home."

Coach Red Manning, whose Duquesne team posted a 17-6 season record and then lost to Georgia Tech in the first round of the NIT last month, said he was "delighted" to sign Searcy. "When you get such a great kid with such ability it helps make recruiting easier and enables you to schedule top teams," he said. Searcy was the second New Yorker to sign with Duquesne within a week. The Dukes obtained 6-9 Lionel Billings of Our Savior of Lutheran of New York. "We aim to sign bigger players," Manning said. "The last player we had from the New York area was Sibigo Green, our All-America about 13 years ago."

Grand Jury Keeps Probe On McLain

DETROIT (UPI)—The special U.S. grand jury investigating an alleged nationwide sports gambling ring is continuing its investigation into the activities of suspended Detroit Tigers pitching star Denney McLain, U.S. Attorney James Brickley said Thursday. Brickley, the U.S. attorney for Eastern Michigan, said McLain's suspension until July 1 by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn will have no effect on the grand jury's investigation into his link with a "film, Mitchell, bookmaking operation. The grand jury, which has heard from testimony from other persons named in a Sports Illustrated article that linked McLain to the bookmaking operation, is investigating McLain as a project separate from the nationwide gambling ring probe. McLain appeared voluntarily before the grand jury shortly after the article was published. The grand jury has returned no indictments in McLain's case and has given no indication whether it will. However, Brickley disagreed with Kuhn's distinction between "murder and attempted murder" when the commissioner said McLain was not a partner in the bookmaking operation.

Jack Kuhnert, Searcy's high school coach, said the prospect would be a "super college player." "He shoots well inside and outside and is great on defense," Kuhnert said he was happy Searcy, a Negro, had chosen Duquesne because the school had a tradition of black stars. "The school just didn't go along with the trend recently," he said. "There was Green back in the 1950's and Dave and Dick Ricketts. Charlie Cooper was a Duquesne star 20 years ago." Searcy, who aspires to be a certified public accountant, averaged 20 points per game last season. He also averaged 10 rebounds.

Chateaux Vodka. Light as a Whisper 80 proof. HOLD IT! THE DODGE BOYS JUST MADE THE PRICE OF THEIR SMALL CAR... SMALLER. We made the price quite a bit smaller, Sheriff. To the tune of nearly $400 on the Dart Swinger Automatic. Here's how the Dodge Boys did it. Sticker prices have been reduced $157 to $139.95 on all NEW Dodge Dart models—hardtops, sedans, even the Swinger 340. Then the Dodge Boys came up with a specially equipped hardtop that includes the automatic transmission at no extra cost. It's called the Dart Swinger Automatic. And it also includes a vinyl roof, white walls, carpeting, and more. Add the savings of the automatic transmission ($191 on V8, $175 on Six) to the $187 price drop on the regular Swinger, and you come up with a total price reduction of $362 to $379. The Swinger Automatic offer is limited. So hurry. See the Dodge Boys and save now on America's big, 6-passenger compact. The Dodge Boys are driving down your seat of driving in style. and set the hand. Review of the bidding indicated that, unless the defense could collect four spade tricks in a hurry, South would gallop home with his contract. South just had to have practically every missing high card. How could East beat the hand? The couldn't if he played his seven of spades, because he would have to play the queen when he got in and West would have to either duck or waste an honor in overtaking. Was there any hope? Yes there was. If South didn't hold the nine in back of the 10, East could chuck the queen and come out on top. No sooner thought than done. He played the queen under the ace.

Then, when he got in with the ace of clubs, he was able to give his partner four spade tricks.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

South studied the dummy for some time before reaching over and playing the ace of spades. Meanwhile, East had been applying the code word ARCH for his own benefit. Analysis of the lead was easy. His partner had opened fourth-best from what was probably a five-card suit. A analysis of declarer's problem was a trifle more difficult but, when he played dummy's ace, East had his answer. South was sitting there with four spades to the 10 and probably the nine in back of the 10. He did not play second hand low because, if he did that, East would win and knock out dummy's ace to leave West with three set-up spade tricks. Then, if West held the ace of clubs, he would get in.

A Matter Of Arithmetic Proves You Can Drive A Mini-Brute FOR ONLY $22.72 per month

PLEASE READ THE FOLLOWING VERY CAREFULLY

- Suppose you are driving an old ordinary car and it gives you 12 miles per gallon — and you drive 2,000 miles per month, so your gasoline bill will be (2,000 miles at 12 M.P.G., equals 166.6 gal. x 39.9¢ per gallon equals $66.03) — that is your monthly gasoline bill.
- Now lots carry this arithmetic to the operation of an Opel, the Mini-Brute, (2,000 miles at 32 M.P.G., equals 62.5 gal. x 35.9¢ per gal. equals $22.44). That's your gas bill when you drive an Opel. The difference ($66.03 equals $22.44) — $43.59.
- New Opel sells for $1895. + $56.85 sales tax equals $1951.85, so you finance the entire cost, junk that old gas eater or we will accept it in trade. The payments on $1951.85 will be $66.31 per month for 36 months including finance charge at 11.08 annual percentage rate — $43.59. (That's your gas saving, remember? equals $22.72, and that is all it costs you to own and drive a new Opel, the Mini-Brute that runs on peanuts.)
- Grab you, your wife, your car title, come on down and test drive the 1970 Mini-Brute, the car that runs on peanuts, and see how logical this lesson in simple arithmetic is.

"Woman's Liberation" May Polarize Sexes

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — With each passing day, it seems, the women's liberation movement becomes more militant and aggressive. Examples abound.

Choosing three recent incidents at random, there have been an invasion of the Ladies Home Journal by a group of hard core feminists, a refusal by another group to use the ladies' entrance to an exclusive Washington men's club and a female intrusion into a restaurant dining room ordinarily reserved for men.

Perhaps such tactics are necessary to achieve the just and legitimate goals espoused by the movement. As we have learned from other protest movements, however, extreme mism often turns out to be counter-productive. Extremism on one side tends to foment extremism on the other side. Which results in polarization.

In writing about protest movements, we columnists always use the terms "counter-productive" and "polarization". The rules of punditry require it.)

At least once a week we hear warnings that racial violence can only lead to polarization of the races, leaving no middle-ground between the Black Panthers and the Ku Klux Klan.

And I now feel constrained to warn that extreme militancy in the women's liberation movement will eventually lead to polarization of the sexes. Which means that we will be creating a society in which we have only men and women. With nothing in between.

Which means that all of the progress that has been made in the past decade toward development of a unisex society will be stamped out.

We would have a society in which men would wear their hair short and women would wear their hair long. Men would wear pants and shirt. Women would wear dresses.

Men would dress in conservative colors. Women would dress in bright and flashy hues. Women would wear beads. Men wouldn't. Women would dab themselves with cologne. Men wouldn't. Men would talk dirty. Women wouldn't.

I realize that this sounds pretty far-fetched. But you will be making a mistake if you brush it aside and try to pretend that "it can't happen here."

Stranger things have happened. Some of which are now attending Harvard.

Kiwianians Are Asked To Event

DECLO — Kiwanis members are invited to hear Robert F. Webber, Kiwanis International president, at a banquet April 17 at the Barnock Hotel, Pocatello.

Walter Tollefson, lieutenant governor of Division 5, invited members of the Declo club at this week's luncheon meeting at Min's Cafe. The event begins with a fellowship hour at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Jay Nielsen, Albion banker, addressed the group on interest rates and loans.

93-Year-Old To Direct His First LDS Conference

SALT LAKE CITY — Ninety-three-year-old Joseph Fielding Smith, new president of the LDS Church, will preside over his first Mormon World Conference April 4, 5 and 6 in the famous, old Tabernacle on Temple Square.

Of the seven principal sessions, all but one will be open to the public and, in addition, will be heard and seen around the world over radio and television. The closed session, April 4 at 7 p.m., will be for priesthood holders and will be carried over leased telephone lines to 500 locations in Canada and the United States for some 150,000 men and boys. The Tabernacle, now 103 years old, seats approximately 7,000 persons and will be full for all sessions.

As President Smith directs the conference, his talented wife, Jesse Evans Smith, former opera star, will take her usual place in the alto section of the Tabernacle Choir. Mrs. Smith has been a soloist and choir member for 52 years. The choir has been a highlight of World Conference since the Mormon Pioneers reached the Salt Lake Valley in 1847.

Although this is the first World Conference under President Smith, who succeeded the late President David O. McKay last Jan. 23, no continuity will be lost. President Smith became an apostle on April 7, 1910, while his father was Church president. He has served in the Quorum of the Twelve, as Church historian, president of the quorum and also as a member of the First Presidency under President McKay.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of a Kentucky family that's been making the same Bourbon since 1793. That's a long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year in which Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kehtucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

Since then, six generations of Beams have been following in Jacob's footsteps, making Bourbon the way he did, according to a formula that's been a Beam family secret, practiced as a family art.

When Springtime comes to these Kentucky hills, it works its seasonal magic on thousands of white oak barrels, aging the Beam family's Bourbon. The same as it has for the past 175 years.

So when you take a sip of Jim Beam, savor it for a moment. Notice its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

T. Jeremiah Beam.
Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.
