

Mood Of Optimism Seen As Moon Flight Nears

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Top U.S. space officials take a last-minute look today at the dress rehearsal of substitute astronaut John L. Swigert before deciding whether to send him to the moon Saturday in place of Thomas K. Mattingly on America's $375 million Apollo 13 mission.

The final countdown began promptly at midnight, weather forecasts were improved, and a decision was promised by early afternoon on shooting for the scheduled 2:13 p.m. EST Saturday takeoff of the 10-day lunar landing mission, with Swigert riding as command ship pilot.

With Mattingly grounded because of his susceptibility to German measles, Swigert planned to spend the morning practicing more in spacecraft simulators with Apollo 13 commander James A. Lovell and lunar module pilot Fred W. Haise.

Space Agency Administrator Thomas O. Paine and Deputy Administrator George M. Low flew from Washington to review results of Swigert's day-long rehearsals Thursday and confer with chief astronaut Donald K. Slayton and other project officials before making the critical decision.

The terminal countdown on the huge Saturn 5 launch vehicle and its moon-bound spacecraft began at launch complex 39A at the minus 28-hour mark, not including 10 hours and 13 minutes of planned rest periods. The $100,000 flight batteries were installed in the booster and final instrument checks begun. Spaceflight weather forecasters contribute to an increasing mood of optimism Thursday with predictions of a cold front approaching Florida would not reach the launch site by Saturday and there would be less cloudiness and a smaller threat of lightning than indicated earlier.

Kirk Still Defies Federal Court Rule

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—Gov. Claude Kirk defied the authority of a federal judge to order him into court today and vowed instead to resume his command post at Manatee County schools to block any desegregation moves.

"There ain't nobody better put a hand on ol' Claude Jr.," Gov. Kirk said in a defiant statement. "Whoever wants to arrest the governor must rattle the governor."

Despite pleas from the Nixon administration to "please stop this," Kirk aggressively pushed for a showdown with the federal courts on the issue of forced busing to achieve classroom integration. He took over the Manatee County school system for a second time Wednesday and then he and his aides personally manned the administration building Thursday.

U.S. District Court Judge Ben Krentzman ordered Kirk to appear at a hearing in Tampa today to show cause why he shouldn't be cited for contempt for defying Krentzman's desegregation order, which requires the busing of students.

Kirk challenged Krentzman's authority to "order the sovereign head of a sovereign state to appear personally," and said he would send former Gov. Millard Caldwell, an ex-state Supreme Court Justice, in his stead.

Kirk's actions have caused frustration among Manatee County school authorities and "confusion" among children, who are uncertain over which school to report to. But much of the citizenry appears to be

Labor Situation Is Fluid

By United Press International. The nation's labor situation remained fluid today with the White House and industry officials watching closely for any further signs of disruptive movement.

A pay raise averaging $436 a year for postal workers was hung up in Congress Thursday when congressional aides—who stand to gain increases of more than $2,000—discovered they inadvertently left themselves out of the bill.

Air traffic controllers participating in the 17th day of a nationwide "sick-out" awaited further details of the government's new "compromise" plan of independent medical examinations to get them back on the job and air traffic back to normal.

President Nixon signed a bill Thursday forcing a settlement on four railroad unions, ending a yearlong dispute. The question mark was whether this action, the first of its kind in U.S. history, would trigger wildcat walkouts by rail workers.

Six Chicago trucking associations ordered an areawide lockout today of 3,000 nonstriking truck drivers in hopes of saving a proposed regional pay increase of $1.10 an hour from slow erosion. A seventh Chicago association signed a three-year contract, with wage increases averaging $1.70 an hour, only an hour before the lockout decision.

The threat of a citywide strike against New York City's four major daily newspapers grew stronger with leaders of several unions expressing dissatisfaction with the progress, especially on economic issues, in talks with The New York Times, the Daily News, the New York Post and the Long Island Press.

Where it all began, authorities know; but where it will end, nobody is sure.

Panthers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jerry Rubin dropped in at the pretrial hearings of 13 Black Panthers Thursday and later told reporters that state Supreme Court Justice John Murtagh was "a thousand times worse" than the federal judge who presided at the trial of the "Chicago Seven."

Rubin, one of the five convicted in the Chicago trial of crossing state lines with the intent to incite a riot, said the "Chicago Seven" defense organization was going to concentrate its energies from now on defending Black Panthers.

Postal Wage Hike Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The $436-a-year average pay raise won by postal workers after their strike was temporarily hung up in Congress today—congressional aides who stand to get increases of up to $2,000—70-a-year under the same legislation discovered they inadvertently had left themselves out of the bill.

The Senate had been expected to send a 6 per cent government-wide pay boost bill to the White House late Thursday. But a House-passed error was discovered, necessitating sending the bill back to the House which already had adjourned until Monday.

The House, responding to a pay agreement reached between the Nixon administration and postal unions, rushed through the $2.6 billion bill giving all 6.9 million federal civilian and military personnel the pay increase retroactive to Dec. 27.

David Minton, the $28,470-a-year staff director of the Senate Post Office Committee, discovered the House in its haste made a typographical error that would have eliminated the raise for 10,000 legislative aides like himself and an untold number of judicial and agricultural soil conservation service workers.

The Civil Service Commission told the House Appropriations Committee recently that the average pay among the 750,000 postal workers is $7,343 a year.

Classified workers, who make up the bulk of the remaining civilian federal employees, average $9,367 a year.

CIRCLED AREA on moon's surface, above is the area within which Apollo 13 astronauts hope to land on their moon mission scheduled to begin with blastoff Saturday morning. The blastoff is scheduled for 12:13 noon Magic Valley time and will be carried on all major TV networks.

Governor Will Not Debate

POCATELLO — Gov. Dan SPOWELL will not meet Richard Smith, his announced opponent in the primary election, on the debate platform.

He made the statement during a press conference here Thursday as he attended the Americanism Day programs at the two local high schools.

He also said at the conference that the last session of the Legislature was "not a 'do-nothing' one and that a great deal was accomplished in the session."

He said that the record of his administration "is there to check to anyone who wants to check it."

Mr. Smith, former chairman of the Idaho Board of Education and very critical of the Governor's stand on various programs has announced he will oppose the state's executive in the primary in August.

Israeli Jets Hit Big Areas Deep In Egypt

By United Press International. The Israeli air force attacked on two fronts today, hitting Egyptian military targets along the Suez Canal and Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan to end a series of rocket and bazooka attacks against Israeli border villages, a military spokesman announced in Tel Aviv.

The air raids and the reported death of 30 Egyptian schoolchildren in an Israeli air attack Wednesday brought a rising tide of anti-American sentiment in Cairo against U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco who was arriving today for Middle East talks.

Canal and Tel Aviv spokesmen said Israeli jets streaked across the Jordan Valley and attacked known guerrilla bases 25 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. Israel said at least five Israeli towns and settlements in the Jordan Valley had come under rocket and bazooka attacks and four settlements along the Lebanese frontier were attacked.

Expelled Student Returns

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—A 16-year-old boy, expelled from school because he destroyed an American flag during a speech class, was ordered reinstated Thursday.

District Judge John Gallagher told the district school board of the Fountain-Py. Carson High School it would have to readmit Rod Taylor to his classes.

The junior high student was expelled Feb. 10, five days after he ripped up the flag during a speech class.

Kennedy Data To Release

BOSTON (UPI)—The full transcript and judge's report of the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne will be made public next Wednesday.

The way was cleared for their release Thursday when the Massachusetts Supreme Court denied a court stenographer's petition that he had the sole right to distribute copies of the documents.

Following the ruling, Superior Court Judge Wilfred J. Faquet set 11 a.m. Wednesday for release of the 784-page transcript and the report of Edgartown District Judge James A. Boyle.

Revenue Agents To Show Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With income tax deadline approaching, the House Appropriations Committee Thursday approved funds for an additional 1,560 Internal Revenue Service agents next year to make sure taxpayers don't cheat the government or themselves on their tax returns.

The committee took the actions in recommending House passage next week of a $1.5 billion money bill to finance the Post Office and the Treasury Department (including IRS) in the 12 months starting July 1.

The Post Office gets the lion's share, $1.2 billion. The bill's total, though cut by $73 million from President Nixon's request, is $100 million higher than current spending.

City Suit May Reach High Court

LEWISTON (UPI)—The expected filing in district court of a writ of mandamus to force the Lewiston City Council to schedule a recall election of its members did not occur Thursday.

He sources said the delay might mean the Orchards Community Project (OCP) was planning to take its suit directly to the State Supreme Court.

The council had refused Monday night to set a date for a recall election within the seven-day period stipulated by the Idaho State Code.

The OCP presented certified petitions seeking to recall all seven members of the council a week ago Monday.

Mayor Paul Wise said the council refused action on the petitions pending the outcome of a suit the OCP has filed that challenges the annexation of the Lewiston Orchards last winter by the city.

The award presentation was made to Col. Harshbarger by 14: Colonel John Dove, Army regimental advisor with the National Guard Unit, Twin Falls.

The posthumous awards include the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism while participating in aerial flight; the Bronze Star Medal for outstanding meritorious service against hostile forces; a total of seven Air Medals for meritorious achievement while participating in more than 135 aerial flights against hostile forces during a period of 11 months, and the Purple Heart for wounds resulting in action in Vietnam received in his death.

Prior to his death, Spec. Harshbarger had been awarded the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal with two Bronze Service Stars, the Aircraft Campaign Badge, the Aircraft Crewman Badge, and the Automatic Rifle Sharpshooter Badge.

The citation for the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross reads: "For heroism while participating in aerial flight evidenced by voluntary action above and beyond the call of duty in the Republic of Vietnam. Spec. Harshbarger was serving as a crew chief on a helicopter gunship on an aerial insertion of the aeroflight platoon five miles west of Lai Khe.

Prior to the landing, Spec. Harshbarger was placing suppressive fire in the woodland surrounding the landing zone. As the lead aircraft touched down, a mine was detonated which disabled the helicopter. When Spec. Harshbarger's machine gun became inoperative, he exposed himself outside the aircraft to clear his weapon with complete disregard for his personal safety and was mortally wounded when another mine was detonated.

In a letter to Col. Harshbarger, Spec. Harshbarger's commanding officer related that combat air crew members were allowed to participate in patrol, search and strike operations against infiltrating enemy forces when not on air alert duty. His commander stated that Eric volunteered for every ground combat opportunity that was offered and was a constant inspiration to fellow soldiers in his unit by his personal daring and cool-headed skill in jungle fire fights with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese combat forces.

Spec. Harshbarger was graduated from Filer High School in May, 1968, and Friday.

Udall Sees McCormack Remaining As Leader

By FRANK ELEAZER WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., who unsuccessfully challenged Speaker John W. McCormack last year, predicts the veteran House leader will seek and probably win the post again next January despite growing opposition by younger members.

However, Udall said, pressures for reform of the House structure are so strong that some change may be made in the seniority system—possibly by putting an age limitation of 70 on committee chairmen.

Udall, who is 47, said either he or some other Democrat will oppose the 78-year-old McCormack in the party caucus at the start of the 92nd Congress, assuming the Democrats regain control, Congress and McCormack does not take himself out of the race.

"No one really knows what speaker McCormack will do," Udall said in a recent interview. "My impression, from people who are friends of his and have talked to him, is that he'll run again.

"As of now, he's probably a favorite to be reelected. I guess the hardest job in all of Congressional politics is to overthrow a sitting speaker."

Udall, who defeated McCormack and offered the congressional establishment by running against McCormack last January, got only 58 votes against 178 for McCormack. Since then, younger Democrats in the House have started a campaign to revise the seniority system that dominates the congressional power structure.

Both Democrats and Republicans, under pressure from younger elements, have set up committees to look into alternatives to length of service as the determining factor in elevation of members to committee chairmanships.

Although predicting the seniority system won't be abolished, Udall said some "modification" may be in the works.

"For example, I think you might get fairly soon some agreement on the 70-year age limit for committee chairmen," he said.

A recent study by reform advocates showed that the average age of House committee chairmen is 70, with seven in their 70s and three in their 80s. By tradition, committee chairmanships go to the majority party member with the longest continuous service.

Mothers Neglect Children

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly 15 per cent of working welfare mothers let their children fend for themselves while they are on the job, says a new government study.

The survey of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) was the government's first nationwide analysis of the nation's largest, most controversial welfare program since 1967. It was prepared by the Health, Education and Welfare Department's National Center for Social Statistics.

The 1969 study found that more than 6 in 10 welfare mothers were not employable because they were not able to work, lacked job skills or had full-time household duties. Of the 20 per cent considered "in the labor force," 14.5 per cent were working and the others were looking for work.

Most mothers who worked or were enrolled in work training had their children cared for privately, usually by relatives, but in 33,400 welfare families, the children looked after themselves while their mothers worked or trained for jobs.

Day care facilities were used by only 5 per cent of the mothers with children under age 3; 11 per cent with children 3 to 5; and 3 per cent with children 6 to 14. President Nixon's welfare reform proposal would establish a program to pay day care facilities for children of working mothers.

In the 1,450,400 families sampled, 92 per cent had mothers in the home but only 18 per cent had fathers living with the children. Most of the fathers were gone because of divorce, separation or desertion.

The study said 31 per cent of the children in these families were born out of wedlock.

The typical welfare family lived in cities with only one in seven in rural areas, had three children and one adult, and was not a long term case.

Among all families in the 50 states and Washington, D.C., 49.2 per cent were white; 46.2 per cent Negro and 1.3 per cent American Indian.

Economic Ills May Mark End For Present Russian Rulers

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

Economic ills and other failures within the Kremlin leadership have led to a new rise in speculation that the Soviet Union's ruling troika which took over from Nikita Khrushchev may itself be on the way out.

The speculation is based on some knowns and several more unknowns since nothing is ever leaked from the inner workings of the 11-man Politburo, the Soviet Union's center of power.

It deals with the future of party leader Leonard Brezhnev and whether he is assuming new powers as "first among equals" or, because of rising dissatisfaction among younger Politburo members, may be forced out altogether along with Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

There are obvious reasons for dissatisfaction, both economic and political.

This is the year Khrushchev promised that the Soviet economy would surge ahead of the United States.

It hasn't happened and no one can foresee a time when it ever will.

Despite an ambitious economic reform program instituted in 1965, the Soviet growth rate has been slowing down steadily.

Last year's figures fell below 1968 in such important categories as per capita income, productivity of labor and industrial output. A similar slowdown is expected for 1970. Since last December, Brezhnev has been looking for a scapegoat.

The 1969 economic reform

plan, which Brezhnev helped to install, appears to have been abandoned in two of its most important aspects—decentralized planning and introduction of a profit motive—for a return to traditional practices, including centralized planning and a warning of severe punishment to shirking workers.

Politically, the leadership has not been able to re-establish Soviet supremacy over world communism, and, in fact, lost ground with the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Sear's Mutual Fund Might Be Confusing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Predictions: Within the next few years, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, the well-known brokerage firm, will change its name to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, Smith, Sears and Roebuck.

Or else Sears, Roebuck and Co., the well-known mail order firm, will change its name to Sears, Roebuck, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith. Consider this:

Sears recently organized its own mutual fund and next month will begin selling shares to the public at its various retail outlets across the country.

Quite literally, these will be "over the counter" transactions. Sears will sell the mutual shares the same way it sells insurance and badminton rackets. And I'm convinced it will be wildly successful.

A lady goes into the store for a spool of thread, for instance. Passing the mutual fund counter, she notes that the quotation has dropped a few cents and, being unable to resist a bargain, buys a few shares. And this is only the beginning.

Eventually, I'm sure, Sears will include the mutual fund in its famous mail order catalog.

Idaho Registry Near Reality

BOISE (UPI)—Dr. Quentin Howard, chairman of the Idaho Cancer Coordinating committee, said Wednesday the first state-wide tumor registry will become a reality after months of planning.

The Idaho Central Tumor Registry, which will compile data concerning every cancer patient, will be conducted by the Idaho Hospital Association under an agreement with the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

The project will be funded by the Mountain States Regional Medical Program.

Dr. Alfred M. Popma, regional director of the regional medical program, said Idaho, as part of the Rocky Mountain States Cooperative Tumor Registry, will be making "history in advancing the cause of improved cancer patient care in rural states."

The multi-state registry is the largest of its kind in the nation and the first involving a rural population.

Canadian Move Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States Thursday pressed opposition to proposed Canadian legislation to regulate use of the frozen Northwest Passage by ships such as the U.S. oil tanker Manhattan.

Fearing damage to the ecology of Arctic waters, the Canadian Parliament is considering legislation to set conditions for shipping through the northern waters, to extend Canadian territorial sea limits to 12 miles, and to extend pollution-control jurisdiction as far as 100 miles.

The Manhattan was the first tanker to break through the Northwest Passage in a test to determine if it was feasible to ship oil from the Alaskan North Slope to the East Coast of the United States. It is about to enter the passage again on a second trip.

A State Department spokesman said the United States "does not recognize any exercise of coastal state jurisdiction over our vessels on the high seas and thus does not recognize the right of any state unilaterally to establish a territorial sea of more than three miles or exercise more limited jurisdiction in any area beyond 12 miles."

"We regret the introduction of this legislation by the Canadian government which in our view constitutes a unilateral approach to a problem which we believe should be resolved by cooperative international action."

Report Expected On Plan To Hire Troopers

BOISE (UPI)—A report on a proposal to hire additional state troopers for a selective traffic enforcement research and demonstration project will be given at a traffic safety meeting in Boise next Tuesday.

Director Mark Gibson of the Traffic Safety Commission said the proposal calls for hiring the troopers under auspices of the National Safety Bureau.

The proposed three-year pilot program of selective enforcement would have the troopers and supervisory personnel working certain high-accident areas in the state to determine if this type of enforcement will help reduce traffic accidents.

He said one such area is the 75 miles of highway in north Idaho between Washington and Montana.

Gibson said that between 1964 and 1969 the average number of accidents per year on this highway was 547. During this period there were 59 fatal crashes which killed 72 persons. There were 984 other accidents which injured 1,628 persons.

TWO OF THE many pieces of Canadian farm equipment on display at Filer earlier this week were the beet harvester on the left and the beet top saver on the right.

Albertans Arrived— Equipment Displayed

FILER — The Albertans arrived here earlier this week and took over part of the fairgrounds. These Albertans were representatives of Canadian manufacturers of farm equipment and were caravaning throughout the Northwest—stopping at the equipment to U.S. farmers. The caravan set up a display of large and small equipment, made in Alberta, Canada. The caravan is sponsored by the Industrial Development Branch of the Alberta Government's Department of Industry and Tourism.

display included a sugar beet harvester, sugar beet topper, irrigation ditcher, discs, front-end loaders, trailers, root windrower, midjet single-bottom breaking plow, double-bottom breaking plow, hoe drills, cultivators, field markers, post drivers, large land leveller, direct-fired heater, heating torches, branding iron box, stock tank heaters and pickup truck bumpers.

Grangers Honored By Dinner

KIMBERLY — The quarterly potluck dinner honoring members with birthdays in the past three months was held recently by the Kimberly Grange. Mrs. Harold Beat, women's activity chairman, reported the Grange served at the U.S. Steel field day held recently. Leslie Lowe asked for assistance to haul fertilizer to the Idaho Power plant.

Bean Seed Explained

On display at the fair grounds for local farmers were machinery that will apply to both dryland and irrigation farming, root and cereal crop equipment, and livestock and utility products. Some of the equipment on bean seed development was explained to members of the Twin Falls Grange recently by Dr. Leslie Dean, plant pathologist at the Twin Falls Branch Experiment Station, University of Idaho. Dr. Dean explained his work in developing bean seed which will resist diseases and yield better. He said this is a continual program and is successful in Twin Falls County because of the ideal growing conditions.

Easter Discussed By Grange

ALBION — Members of the Albion Grange enjoyed an Easter program and heard reports during their regular session at the Grange hall. The literary program included a reading, "Easter," given by Mrs. Zelma Mahoney; a poem "Church on Easter," read by Mary Amende, and "Coloring Easter Eggs in the Old Days," read by Mrs. Betha Chubbart. It was reported the Albion Green Horns 4-H Club now has 29 members and is led by Jim Chubbart and Lou Jolley. It was announced members of Home Economics 4-H Clubs, Domestic-Kales and Junior Domestic-Kales, will be collecting for the cancer drive during April.

FARM AND RANCH SECTION

THESE THREEMEN made the water forecast for the Salmon Tract and Roseworth Tract farmers for this coming irrigation season. Morlan Nelson, center SCS state snow survey leader, Boise, made his predictions of the amount of water to flow into both the Salmon Dam and Roseworth reservoirs; Lawrence Sill, Castleford, left, forecast the amount of water Roseworth Tract farmers would receive and John Pastoor, Twin Fall, right, explained the allotted amount of water Salmon Tract farmers could expect this year.

Salmon Tract's Water Is Forecast

HOLLISTER — Salmon Tract farmers can expect a little less irrigation water this coming year than they did last year, according to predictions made at the recent water forecast meeting here.

Morlan Nelson, Boise, SCS state snow survey leader, who has been forecasting water supply for the past 15 years for Salmon Tract farmers said with normal spring precipitation, Salmon River Canal Co. can expect 90,000 acre feet of water to flow into the reservoir by Sept. 1.

Lawrence Sill, Castleford, forecast the amount of water Roseworth Tract farmers would receive and John Pastoor, Twin Fall, right, explained the allotted amount of water Salmon Tract farmers could expect this year.

As of April 1, 6,382 acre feet of water have gone into the reservoir, so 83,618 acre feet are expected between now and Sept. 1.

The amount of water to flow into the Salmon Dam reservoir is less than the amount last year because of the dry months of February and March.

Retirements were served by the ladies auxiliary of the Twin Falls Soil District.

Mr. Pastoor said Salmon Tract farmers can expect about .82 of an acre foot of water per share. Last year the canal company allotted one acre foot per share.

Lawrence Sill, Castleford, said Roseworth Tract farmers can expect 1.9 acre feet of water per share this coming irrigation season. Mr. Nelson predicts that Roseworth reservoir will receive about 10,000 acre feet of water by Sept. 1.

Prior to the predictions, a film on how dams on the Snake River and Columbia River affect wildlife habitat and on the salmon run, was shown.

14 Area Farms Received Subsidies Over $25,000

WASHINGTON — Acreage retirement payments to farms across the country is under sharp criticism in Congress. Because of this criticism by many congressmen and other individuals of these subsidy payments, many ranging into the millions, two congressmen are heading a move to impose a $20,000 ceiling on subsidy payments.

The two are Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del. They say, "A limitation of $20,000 (for each farm) would have saved the taxpayers over $300 million a year."

The Congressional Record shows that during 1969 payments of more than $25,000 included more than $2.4 million paid on 57 Idaho farms. The Congressional Record further shows that 14 farms in Magic Valley, namely in Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka and Blaine Counties, received nearly $700,000 in subsidy payments for taking land out of production.

The largest single payment listed by Conte and Williams was for $14.3 million to J. G. Boswell Co., Corcoran, Calif. Sen. Williams said seven companies received in excess of $1 million each and 14 were paid

Grange Has Short Session

FILER — A short session marked the Filer Grange meeting in the hall as the group visited the Buhl Grange that evening.

There will be no April 17 meeting for the Filer Grange as that is the night set to visit the Murtaugh Grange. Members are to meet at 7:15 p.m. at the hall to arrange for transportation. Grange women are to bring either sandwiches, cookies or cake.

When crop production falls short of the guarantee due to drought, excess heat, flood, too much moisture, insects, disease or any other natural cause, Federal Crop Insurance picks up the tab, paying cash sufficient to meet the guarantee.

Some additional benefits gained by Magic Valley farmers through the insurance include premium discounts for good experience, use of the protection as additional collateral to assist in securing the credit financing so vital in today's farming and added stability to individual farming operations.

Deadline Nearing For Area Crop Insurance

The application period for All-Risk Federal Crop Insurance protection on crops in Magic Valley is nearing completion, according to Lyle P. Shafer, district supervisor.

Shafer said the programs being offered for the 1970 crop year remain much the same as last year except for the potato program, which has been discontinued.

April 15 is the deadline for signing up for the program. Fieldmen are now working in their respective counties explaining provisions of the FCIC insurance programs to farmers and taking applications.

between $500,000 and $1 million each. He adds that 54 companies were paid between $250,000 and $500,000 each.

Six banks received farm subsidy payments last year, Sen. Williams said, ranging from $27,445 paid the Wilbur Security Co., Wilbur, Wash., to $224,254 to the Southern National Bank of Lambert, N.C.

Sen. Williams said these banking institutions have "no business in receiving these subsidies. This is ridiculous and Congress should correct this law and by all means induce a limit on the amount of such cash payments. Conte and Williams also note in the Congressional Record that Father Flanagan's Boys' Home at Boys Town, Neb., received $26,855 under the program.

Heading the list of Idaho farms receiving payments were F. A. M. Development Corp., Boise, $100,000, and Bruneau Sheep Co., Grandview, $95,372. Magic Valley farms receiving payments as noted in the Congressional Record by Conte and Williams are:

- Vernon B. Clinton, Rupert, $89,125; Anderson Brothers, Oakley, $85,706; Morgan Shillington Farms Co., Rupert, $83,732; Paul Spahnauer, Burley, $68,511; Heglar Ranch, Inc., Burley, $66,218; Parr Brothers, Inc., Rupert, $65,133; and Matthew Brothers, Oakley, $36,522.

Raymond H. Johnson, Burley, $37,381; Gwinn F. Rice, Hill City, $30,927; Gorringer Brothers, Oakley, $29,393; Anderson Brothers, Oakley, $28,851; Weeks Brothers and Sons, Sun Valley, $27,493; W. B. Savage Ranches, Kimberly, $26,523, and W. T. Williams, Inc., Twin Falls, $25,185.

Rep. Conte said he hopes that when the public sees these figures, public opinion will pressure Congress into imposing the $20,000 limit. He added that these payments are for land retirement only, not subsidies for various crops that are grown under other programs.

Warning Given On Spud Seed

BOISE — All seed potatoes imported from other states must be "Certified Seed Potatoes," according to Agriculture Commissioner Stanley I. Trenhaile.

Noting that planting season is approaching in many of the potato producing areas, Trenhaile warned against the importing of non-certified seed. "All Irish potatoes shipped or imported for planting purposes must be bagged, tagged and sealed as 'Certified Seed Potatoes,'" Trenhaile stated. Certification must be done by a legal certifying agency of the state of origin. Trenhaile pointed out that the regulation covering imported seed potatoes calls for removal or destruction of any potatoes found to be non certified and the expenses incurred in such actions are to be borne by the owner or owners of the potatoes. The regulation was designed to prevent the spread of certain potato diseases in Idaho.

Caldwell Sets Test For Swine

CALDWELL — The spring testing period for litters of swine at the Caldwell Branch Experiment Station, University of Idaho, has begun. J. J. Dahmen, superintendent, announced.

Litters will be received until May 10. Swine producers throughout the state are invited to take part.

The program, for selection of superior stock in several breeds has been conducted several years. Spring and fall tests are supervised by Dahmen, Wade Wells, extension livestock specialist, and John Henry, Canyon County agent. Dahmen said carcass evaluation requirements have been changed in accordance with new standards adopted by the National Association of Swine Records. The standards are based on a 220-pound weight instead of 200 pounds in a maximum of 180 days.

Other factors measured are length, backfat and loin area.

Bulletin Lists Oat Varieties

Idaho's oat acreage has increased in recent years. Production in 1969 was estimated at 5.5 million bushels, a marked increase from the previous year and well above the recent average of less than five million bushels.

New varieties have been developed, tested and released to meet changing conditions of production and marketing. The University of Idaho extension service has published a bulletin on oat varieties for southern Idaho. The bulletins are available at any county agent's office.

Some of the varieties listed in the bulletin include Cayuse, Park, Bingham, Overland and Rodney.

Petunias Sizzle And Glow

Red that sizzles in the bright sun and still glows at sundown! That's El Toro, a remarkably red, red petunia, one of four new varieties of this most popular annual which is destined to lead the color parade in 1970 gardens. All are being introduced by the Pan-American Seed Company.

If you thought Comanche was red, wait until you see what the breeders have accomplished with El Toro. Not only have they given it a deeper, richer hue, but a well-mounded habit as well as a combination of virtues that make it a striking bedding plant.

You'll find El Toro attractive in any way you use petunias, but especially pleasing where it is enhanced by contrasting areas of greenery. It is a single grandiflora, big and stalwart, as befits petunias in this class. Two other newcomers in the grandiflora class are colored pink: not just plain pink, but pink that brings new meaning to this popular petunia color. They are called Flamboyant and Pink Snow. Names that will distinguish them wherever pink is the flower theme.

Flamboyant is best described as flamingo-pink, an unusual radiant hue that is emphasized by the flower's creamy-white throat. The flowers themselves are 2 1/2 inches or larger, and are born on well-shaped, rounded plants.

Pink Snow captures the full but delicate tints of pink in its large (3 to 3 1/2-inch) blooms. It is, in fact, a soft pleasant pink that will blend harmoniously with almost any garden color. It, too, has a well-mounded habit.

And finally, there is Coral Bells, the new season's contribution to the "increasingly popular," single/multiflora "Bell" group of petunias.

Friday, April 10, 1970 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

The flower is a bright coral with white throat, and is produced in abundance on thrifty, compact plants throughout the summer. Like others in this group, Coral Bells' inbred weather tolerance makes it ideal for mass planting.

Plans from their color innovations, Pan-American's four new petunias for 1970 can be ordered to perform with all the versatility that has made petunias the most widely planted annual.

Use them in beds and borders, urns, window boxes, or pots, and you'll be delighted with the results. Remember, too, that they are excellent as cut flowers, either by themselves or combined with other flowers in showy arrangements.

Plants of these fine new petunias may be found at your local garden center.

Peace Corps Needs Farm-Oriented People

Two Peace Corps representatives, sons of local residents, were in the Twin Falls area this week seeking specialists who would like to lend their talents to teaching skills to people in other lands. Dave Alvord, son of Mr. and Mrs. David D. Alvord Jr., Twin Falls, is the Northwest recruiting representative for the Peace Corps and was working in this area earlier this week with Mark Fritzier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fritzier, Jerome.

Both of these men have served in other countries with the Peace Corps. Dave was a science teacher in Korea and Mark was an equivalent to a county agent in Nepal, a small nation in the Himalayas, bounded on the north by Tibet and on the east, south and west by India.

The Peace Corps has changed its recruiting emphasis from recent college graduates to agricultural and home economics graduates as urgently needed for agricultural and nutrition programs throughout the world.

Both Dave and Mark are interested in recruiting people, men, women and families who have been raised on farms and have practical agricultural experience. They noted that the Peace Corps is trying to recruit older people involved in the program as they are the ones with the experience needed.

The average age of the Peace Corps volunteer is 25. The Peace Corps has immediate overseas openings for volunteers with all kinds of agricultural background. "Farmers, young people with 4-H, FFA and FFA experience, retired farmers and

A retired dairyman could be used in Ecuador to help the natives learn how to care for and feed cattle and market dairy products. Western ranchers are needed to show farmers in Upper Volta tricks that can help raise yields in pasture and forage crops.

PRE-EMERGENCE HERBICIDES

in Peas, Lentils and Barley

No one herbicide on the market can control all weed infestation such as fan weed, dog fennel, nightshade and mustards... but Avadex gives good pre-emergence control of wild oats in peas and lentils. Followed by a reliable post-emergence herbicide, such as Dintrol, after crops are 3" high, you can control most broadleaf weeds. For barley, Avadex BW provides excellent pre-emergence control of wild oats.

Remember these important facts:

Avadex/Avadex BW control wild oats effectively for up to 8 weeks, in wet or dry weather. Avadex/Avadex BW require only one application. Avadex/Avadex BW are easily incorporated with your present equipment. Avadex/Avadex BW are safe to crops when you follow label directions. Avadex/Avadex BW give you astounding flexibility.

POOR LUCK WITH ONIONS?
 The year was a bad one for onion growers. We received many letters from gardeners who wanted "hamburger" onions and who set out plants. The bottoms filled out well, the bulbs looked fine at harvest, but on the inside they were mushy and rotten. What happened?

The trouble was due to a disease known as bacterial soft rot, a problem that creeps in during the growth period when it's warm and rainy.
 Control: None. Antibiotics will do the job but they have not been cleared for food products by the FDA. Since the infection takes place during the growth period there is nothing that can be done during harvest or post-harvest period that is helpful, according to Prof. Arden F. Sherf, an expert on plant diseases.

There is another disease of onions that ran wild last year and this is purple blotch, causing sweet Spanish-type (or "Burmuda") onions to topple over. There is a control for this: spray weekly with Maneb, starting about the last of June.

Note: Don't let these problems discourage you from planting the large "hamburger" onions. The yellow Sweet Spanish onion is a good one and it's quite inexpensive.

FAIRY RINGS IN LAWNS:
 We've gotten a batch of letters telling us how some homeowners get rid of fairy rings. One writes: "Fairy ring mushrooms (I never call them toothstools) are delicious to eat. After a rain I often take my little plastic bag and gather them to eat. You can dry them for future use."

Note: I'd be particular about eating fairy ring mushrooms. They are edible. Several different species are involved in fairy ring formation and I'd like to warn our readers to be particular. The species most often credited as the cause of fairy ring is Marasmius oreades, edible and quite tasty. As with any mushroom, it's tastiest when it gets old. Another fairy ring mushroom is Peziza.

Another reader writes: "We rented a grass dethatcher to go over the soil and remove the grass which we raked up. Then we put on a heavy dose of hydrated lime in September and again in spring."

Another fan writes: "Dig out the old tea kettle, fill with water and heat to boiling. Rush outdoors and pour the hot liquid over the mushrooms, giving a thorough scalding. If you do not see results in five days, give a repeat performance." Some mushrooms are tougher than others.

Another says: "We licked the fairy ring problem by mixing one cup of household bleach (chlorox) with a gallon of water, and poured this over the mushrooms." (This conceivably could kill the fungus if contacted, but it might be pretty rough on the grass, too).

QUESTION OF THE WEEK:
 W. F. of Twin Falls: "I'm plagued with wild morning glories along my fence line. We used a weedkiller but it injured our raspberries. Is there anything we can use to destroy this straggler which overruns my forsythia, grapes and other shrubs?"

Wild morning glory is a tough one to cope with. "We've seen its roots go down 10 feet into the soil and not many weedkillers will banish it. A reader told us that white vinegar sprayed on the weed did a good job killing off the top part. We haven't tried vinegar but hope to this spring. A weedkiller known as Paraquat has given good control of bindweed or wild morning glory, but care must be taken as it will kill other vegetation.

B. D.'s Tuttle: "We tried to root a pineapple by cutting off the top. No luck. We heard the top must have two tops or a double set of leaves for pollination purposes. Is that true? Also, what's the best way to root or start an avocado seed? Should you use soil or water?"

To start a pineapple, slice off the top with one or two inches of fruit attached, and regardless of how many "tops" or leaves are present. Pollination is not a problem in getting the plant to bloom or to grow. Place the top in a saucer of water and let it root.

After rooting, pot it up in a soil mixture of one-third each sand, peat and loam. Now that the top or top is potted, you simply wait for the "red bud", which consists of more than a hundred very tiny flowers.

Getting the pineapple to fruit in the home is a trick. One way to do this is to place a plastic bag over the mature plant, and enclose an apple inside the tent. The apple gives the pineapple (that is, it releases ethylene gas forcing the plant to flower and form edible fruit. The plastic bag confines the fumes, and should be removed after four or five days.

As for the avocado, you can start seed in water or in soil. Do not put the entire seed in water. Just the base. You can tell the top from bottom easily. The base has a dimple in it, and usually the top is tapered.

If you start the seed in soil, place it so that the top sticks out about one-half. In other words, the upper half of the seed should be exposed. Water with warm water and do not keep the soil soggy.

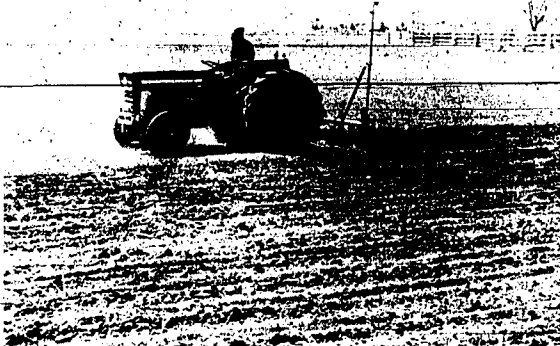

G. R. of Twin Falls: "Last year we raised a lot of apples, but were dismayed when we found that the fruit developed small brown spots in the flesh, just under the skin. Please tell me the soil needs something."

Your problem was Bitter Pit or stippen, one and the same disorder. Bitter pit occurs on Baldwin, Northern Spy, Rhode Island Greening, Red and Golden Delicious and other varieties. Your description of it was good. Look for small brown spots or streaks in the flesh. Sometimes the sunken spots may be deep in the flesh and cannot be observed without cutting the fruit.

CONTROL: Avoid any practice which tends to increase the size of the individual apples, such as adding too much nitrogen, thinning the crop too heavily, light crop, and heavy pruning. No one has ever had complete control.

S. W. of Tuttle: "Is there any harm (or value) in pouring vegetable or meat juices (and bushes, flowers and vegetables) I have used spackfill and potato water (instead of wasting it down the drain) and to me they actually help growth along. I feel these waste waters have some value for plants, and we do not like to throw them away."

I can see no harm in pouring the waste water from the kitchen around your plants. In fact, with the vitamins,

IT'S SPRING TIME and this is a typical spring scene in Magic Valley's agricultural area: Here a farmer corrugates a field near Twin Falls for pre-irrigation. Spring is the time of year farmers prepare and plant the land to crops.

Social Security Questions

If you have any questions about Social Security, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.
 Q. My mother is elderly and somewhat forgetful. Recently while helping clean her apartment I came across several old receipts for doctors bills. Mother never filed a claim with Medicare for these expenses. Is it too late to do it now?
 A. If she visits to the doctors were before October 1, 1968, it is too late to receive reimbursement from Medicare. If the bills were between October, 1968, and October, 1969, she has until December 31, 1970, to file a claim for reimbursement.

Q. Is there any restriction on how long you can delay before filing a claim for Medicare?
 A. Yes there is. Medical expenses incurred between Oct. 1 of one year and Sept. 30 of the next year must be claimed no later than Dec. 31 of the following year.

Q. I am a college student. Some of my classmates are receiving social security checks. How does a student qualify for these payments?
 A. He or she must be a full-time student between the ages of 18 and 22, and unmarried. His parent must either be receiving social security benefits, or must have died after having worked long enough for social security. Finally, an application must be filed by the student.

nutrients and other materials in the water, it should stimulate growth. Water containing meat juices might attract dogs and cats.

A. R. of Malta: "If any of your readers have had trouble with raccoons bothering their corn, here's a tip that may help them. For two years I have avoided any problem in my corn crop by lighting a candle in the middle of the patch. When the candle burned out I used an old kerosene lantern. I don't know whether it was the smell or the light, but I do know it saved my crop for two seasons. I hope your readers will test this idea and see if it doesn't keep out raccoons and other "livestock" that bothers gardeners."

Good tip! We'll test it out this summer and give a report.

Ranching Firm Garden Tractors Popular

SALT LAKE CITY — The birth of a new corporation, Great Western Ranches, Inc., was announced here today by its president and organizer, Shellen M. Johnson.
 Mr. Johnson said "Great Western Ranches is probably the second largest association of ranching properties in the world. We own or control nearly four million acres of real estate here and abroad."
 These acres consist of ranches, real estate, and recreation properties located in California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and in Northern Territory, Australia.

RICHFIELD — West End 4-H Club reorganized at Richfield recently.

 Assistance with Richfield clean-up day, Saturday, was planned. One shift of workers will help the Richfield Lions with planting trees in the morning, and the second shift will help haul off trash in the afternoon.
 Roger Golcochea was elected president of the club; Ronald Golcochea, vice president; Nick Hubsmith, secretary; Gary Freeman, treasurer; David Ross, reporter; Holly Robinson, sergeant of arms; Brad Johnston, link helper; Michael Robinson, song leader; and Chad Dixon, roll call.

Meetings will be the second and fourth Fridays of each month. The April 24 meeting will be at the Ken Dixon home.

BUILDING DEMOLISHED
WOLVERHAMPTON, England (UPI)—An executive light aircraft crashed into a house in this city 120 miles northwest of London Thursday, setting off an explosion that demolished the building in a ball of flame. Police said three persons were killed—the two man crew and a woman who was asleep in the house.

Garden Tractors Popular

CHICAGO — There will be more lawn and garden tractors in operation in 1970 than ever before, predicts Max B. McCallister, manager, industrial tractors and equipment sales, farm equipment division, International Harvester Co.
 Tractors and equipment powered by gasoline engines allow homeowners and gardeners to take better care of large areas, such as suburban properties, in less time.
 Principle reasons for the growing trend toward power, said Mr. McCallister, are the many advancements that have been made in lawn and garden tractors and the wide variety of attachments now available.

Poultry Prices To Be Lower

CHICAGO—April-June nine-city broiler prices are expected to average about 28 cents per pound — 1.5 cents lower than the same period in 1969 — according to the Poultry Survey Committee which released its findings here today.

The committee, which is sponsored by the American Feed Manufacturers Association, said that egg prices for the 12 months beginning April are expected to average about 39 cents a dozen, 10 cents below the preceding 12 months. The hatch of egg-type chicks during the first half of 1970 may be about 12 per cent above a year earlier.
 A 1970 turkey crop of about 115 million birds is expected, eight per cent more than a year earlier. Young hen turkey eggs during October-December, three cents under the same period of 1969.

Planting potatoes early could mean gambling on wireworms. Unless you use Diazinon® at the rates recommended for early planting.
 Last year at these rates, Diazinon outlasted the cold weather and the long, drawn-out season. When wireworms finally did emerge, Diazinon was there and ready. Wireworms didn't have a chance.
 Just apply Diazinon, broadcast... either as a granular or, if preferred, as a spray. You'll get control of all wireworms, even those resistant to other insecticides.
 And on later planted potatoes, use Diazinon at the recommended lower rate. You'll get the very fine control growers have associated with Diazinon for years.

Control without carryover. Diazinon doesn't persist from one season to the next. In fact, even sugar beets can follow Diazinon treated potatoes.
 When you plant early, don't gamble on wireworm control. Apply Diazinon at the higher rate recommended for early planted potatoes. Then, you'll be just as sure as if you planted later.

April Fool's Day Theme Is Lodge Topic

Mrs. Lawrence Rudolph, program chairman, presented the program, a belated April Fool's Day theme, when the Frisco Rebekah Lodge met recently at the Odd Fellows Temple.

Mrs. Rudolph presented a short paper on how April Fool's Day began, with each member relating the most foolish thing she has ever done.

Mrs. Ward Moffitt, Buhl, district deputy president, will make her official visit to the lodge on April 21. It was announced, fifty dollars from the gift auction was sent to the assembly president for her jurisdictional project, a deep freeze for the home in Caldwell.

Mrs. Frank Eastman and Mrs. W. O. Widener reported on the tour to the Mountain Home Air Force Base, sponsored by the Air Force wives to acquaint the public with the activities of the base personnel.

Mrs. Dale Bowman reported the public relations workshop held in Shoshone recently was a huge success. Mrs. Bowman, staff captain, also announced the staff will practice at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Odd Fellows Temple.

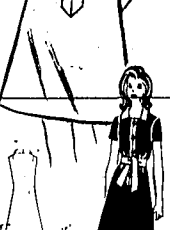

The next meeting is set for April 21. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Faye Hoffman, Eva Mahken, Mrs. Lucille Brizee and Mrs. Jack Stephens.

Baby Shampoo Is Best

Any white flakes you may be worried about are more likely dry skin than a dandruff, which is a disease of the scalp. Dry skin develops because your scalp requires the same natural oils as the rest of your skin, but the need for frequent shampooing and the scalp's thirst for oils don't have to present a problem. Try baby shampoo—it cleans the hair without stripping it or the scalp of vital oils.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 11 years and have three children. My wife thinks she has done her duty, and now it's got to be the Christmas or my birthday before she will let me near her.

I kept a record. Last year I was turned down 97 times. [She gave in 14 times.] Now, don't tell me that's normal! I keep myself clean and I am not rough or anything like that. I do route work and am in contact with women all day who look like women—then I come home to a wife who is wearing pants! She hardly ever puts a dress on anymore.

Please tell me what to do. But don't send any letters to my house. If she knew I wrote to you, there would be a fight. Thank you.

FED UP WITH NOTHING

DEAR FED: I think I know who wears the pants in your family, which could be part of your problem. I can't perform any hokus pokus to magically transform that drill sergeant you're married to into a "loving wife." A normal wife doesn't "give in"—she gives because she wants to. If you can't persuade her to get some professional counseling, you had better learn to live with a sad, but not uncommon problem.

DEAR ABBY: I worked for a large company back east for 20 years. A few years ago I moved to California, near Disneyland. Some of the people I worked with never came to my house when I lived in the east, but they come out here to spend their entire vacation with me, use my home as a hotel and even expect transportation to and from the Los Angeles airport—45 miles away.

I'm sure most of these people wouldn't be so happy to visit me if I lived on a farm in Nebraska, so I guess I owe my sudden popularity to my California location.

Abby, I like these people but not that much. There are no others who have the same problem. How can I say "NO" without hurting their feelings?

TIED AND BROKE IN SANTA ANA

DEAR T AND B: Shake hands with your "cousins" in San Francisco, New Orleans, Florida and Honolulu! It's inconceivable that anyone would call you from the airport and say, "Come and get me," but if that's the case, you will have to screw up the courage to say, "Sorry, full house here." I see no reason under the California sun for anyone to play the role of an unwilling host.

DEAR ABBY: After six years of trying to become parents, my husband [I'll call him John] and I underwent the usual tests, and my John was found to be sterile. We consulted with adoption agencies when we learned that the Oklahoma legislature had legalized artificial insemination.

We found a doctor who was familiar with the procedure, and I became pregnant from an unknown donor. Five months ago we became the parents of a darling baby girl!

Only our lawyer, doctor and we know it was accomplished thru artificial insemination. [Even John's parents and mine do not know.]

Actually, carrying the baby, and delivering it makes the baby ALL mine, and our doctor did such a good job in selecting a donor whose description matched my husband's, that our baby looks more like John than ME!

It has been a terrific ego booster to my husband as he was very deflated when he was told that he was sterile. He has often said when looking at the baby that he thinks the tests could have been wrong and that she is really HIS baby after all!

This letter is to share our secret with others who may not know about the miracle of artificial insemination.

HAPPY IN OKLAHOMA

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARTSICK PARENTS": Equip your child to be as independent as possible in the slightest years that lie ahead. "It is not miserable to be blind, it is miserable to be incapable of enduring blindness." [John Milton]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Water Needs Are Greater — If it seems as though your water heater has shunk in the last few years, check your premises: It hasn't. Your water needs have become greater. Use of water-connected equipment has grown 60 per cent in the last 10 years, with the greatest increase taking place in the last five. This means that, if your water heater is five years or so old, it may be old-fashioned capacity-wise even if it functions perfectly mechanically. The answer is a new heater with a bigger tank and faster recovery rate.

Attendance Drive At Filer Said Successful

FILER — Recent Sunday School attendance drive in the Filer community proved very successful and saw 211 new class members enrolled in five churches which participated in the drive.

The drive, sponsored by the Filer Ministerial Association, began Feb. 15 and ended on Easter Sunday. The First Baptist Church was named winner with a 37.5 per cent attendance increase. The Nazarene Church was second place winner with a 35.5 per cent increase; the Missionary Church, third place with an increase of 22.4 per cent; the Mennonite Church, fourth, with a 16.6 per cent increase, and the United Methodist Church, fifth with a 12.4 per cent increase.

Using January attendance in Sunday School for comparison, the overall increase for the five churches was 74 per cent and the increase of 211 persons added to Sunday School rolls, was more than the total attendance of the first three place winners during any Sunday in January.

Each of the five participating Sunday Schools showed an attendance increase every Sunday but one during the Lenten period which had been set for the drive. Previous to the drive's beginning, a telephone committee from all the participating churches, had canvassed every family in the community to find unchurched persons interested in attending classes. Plans are to make the drive an annual event.

NEA Religious Writer.
Church finance is always interesting because people like to know how the money is being spent. Too many congregations of long history start acting like banks instead of fellowships and then wonder why decline and decay has set in.

Money in the church is meant to be expended on concerns vital to the members and meaningful to the faith. Sometimes this causes tension, especially when social issues are at stake. And when tensions mount, the treasurer is the first to get a reaction.

At Riverside Church in New York you have a good example of treasury tension. The issue of reparations brought personally and dramatically by James Forman last summer to a Riverside Sunday service is still making waves. Many of the members (black and white) wanted a tougher line from their church officers and clergy. A firm "No" was given, but not enough for some conservative tastes, thus a vibration for the treasury.

The pastor of Riverside, Dr. Ernest Campbell, has noted that the continuing presence of a group within the church opposing the Vietnam war has also increased congregational anxiety. This protest gathering quickly reads the names of the war dead in a small chapel on the main floor. Some members felt that this exercise spoiled their Christmas celebration, so they in turn spoiled the finance report when their pledges were added up.

Riverside looks rich and mighty. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. gave them a building and sanctuary and tower that is worth $86 million. The endowment funds are close to $24 million. The total operation would make a small college blush. Aside from the essential activities of an urban ministry, a library, cafeteria, sports and drama program are supported.

The annual budget is around $450,000 for this year and the pastor comments that they are some $25,000 short of the goal. Riverside also operates one of the better FEM stations in America, so it is little wonder that treasury tension vibrates through its entire ministry. Church costs, even with Rockefeller sponsorship, do not diminish. And during a period of social upheaval, you have to pay the price of involvement.

Some important examples can be found in the New Treatment.

A PORTRAIT OF SERVICE

Rev. Sears, Jerome, Has Pastored In Several Local Denominations

JEROME — It is not easy to review one's life, in one short news article. However, here follows an attempt.

I was born in Holland on March 13, 1898. After I was graduated from high school, I learned the woodlumber and pattern-making trade. Even in those days, Holland had a very dense population.

Germany, where I was planning to go, lost World War I, too, so I immigrated to the U. S. A. I learned German in school but no English. The only thing the German and Holland Dutch languages have in common is their guttural sound.

I left Holland in 1923 when I was 25 years of age.

The going was very rough here. There was no such thing as unemployment compensation and knowing the metric system only made the going even more complicated.

I had no religious background, but noticed that even though the living standard here was roughly four times higher than in my native Holland, the hearts of men, in spite of all kinds of material possessions, had not changed even one little bit.

During the depression I walked one evening into a Gospel tent. I heard things I had never heard before.

The third night I went, a layman preached on Romans 10:17 and I accepted the Lord Jesus as my personal Saviour. I had a great longing to study the Bible and enrolled at M. B. I. (Moody Bible Institute). I learned—the English—Bible (King James version) simultaneously with our modern English language, which was a very difficult task. Most high school graduates are able to graduate in four years. It took me 7 years.

Practice preaching was required and could be found in a limited way at Pacific Garden Mission, the place where Billy Sunday was converted. Allow me to insert here that the "Billies" we have always had with us.

All this did not go fast enough to suit me, so I joined the Salvation Army and became a local officer. In Chicago there were plenty of opportunities for street preaching, sponsored by the Salvation Army. The major competitors were the very noisy Chicago streetcars. We could test our preaching ability, for we had no captive audience. I became more and more an indoor preacher. In 1937 I was ordained by "The Fundamental Ministerial Association" now called "The Evangelical Church Alliance."

Friends advised me to keep on studying toward a degree in the Industrial Arts which I did.

I was teaching woodwork in "The Glenwood Manual Training School for Boys" when World War II broke out. Let me say that the words "manual training" are archaic. It is now called "industrial education." I was invited to become shop superintendent for Bloom Township High School, Chicago Heights.

We were hard hit, for more than half of the shop teachers had to go into the service. I retired in 1963, after a very fruitful high school career. Both faculty and students nicknamed me "Father John." I believe this is self-explanatory.

REV. JOHN W. SEARS
Jerome, Minister-at-Large

It was in 1942 that I first visited Jerome and fell in love with Magic Valley and the Sawtooth Mountains. We have lived here now for seven years in the remodeled house of Mrs. Sears' parents.

I realize that people like me do not come along a "dime a dozen" so to speak, for the simple reason that I am a preacher by avocation. Not much competition here, for most retired people go to the golf course. I find no fault with this.

I have preached for eight different denominations, a distinct honor few preachers have experienced. I go on a "first come first served" basis, and have been from: Baptist, Christian, Nazarene, Church of God, Assembly of God, and Church of the Brethren.

A well-known Methodist layman in Jerome calls me "The One-Man Ecumenical Movement." Everyone takes some abuse and in self-defense I call it "The price of leadership." However, I know now far more about this than when we lived in the suburbs of Chicago.

Let me say in all honesty that many a sermon goes over like a "lead balloon." It is often a matter of culture, education, and spiritual discernment. Hence a person may be more at home in one denomination than in another. Needless to say, all these differ somewhat.

It was Dr. Wilbur Smith who told us once that Jesus did not die for the intellectuals, the giants, alone, but for the common man, the pygmies, as well. I believe the first prerequisite as a preacher is how little damage you do, rather than how much good.

I was told to include my hobbies which, you will observe, are rather expensive. Both of us love to travel. I am the stepfather of two boys—Both live in Albuquerque. In the winter, around Christmas time, we often visit them, traveling on the Santa Fe. In the summer we go by car.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

OAKLEY — A centennial ball was held recently at the Cassia LDS Stake's cultural hall and was sponsored by both Oakley wards.

Decorations featured a covered wagon with a young couple (mannequins) who are interested in Church wagon wheels at various places in the hall.

Master of ceremonies was Kent Hale. Mrs. Rhoda Black gave two readings, Raymond Sever, Doug Buckley and Harlo Clark sang several selections, accompanied by Chuck Eliason and Jim Burch on the guitars and Mrs. Lynn Woodhouse on the piano.

Clayton Powell, who are expected to seek re-election: Alabama Republican John Buchanan (Southern Baptist) and Wisconsin Republican Henry Schedeberg, a Congregationalist.

And in Connecticut, a United Church of Christ minister, the Rev. Joseph Duffey of Hartford, has entered the race against incumbent Sen. Thomas Dodd.

The clergy-in-politics movement extends to state and municipal offices, such as the Rev. Robert North (Episcopal), a Minnesota state legislator, who is running for Mayor of St. Paul.

One of the most incisive rationales for this movement comes from San Francisco's City Hall, from the number of clergy employed therein, is beginning to look like an ecumenical council. (Two Presbyterians, two Catholics, one Baptist and one Episcopalian).

Presbyterian John Shellenberger, Jr., explains what he calls "another direction for the Christian ministry." As administrative assistant to San Francisco Supervisor Ronald Pelosi, he recalls:

"There was a great thrust in Seminary on the relevance of the Christian Faith to social problems. Seminary reinforced that zeal, but didn't give us the tools to work with. Many of us found ourselves attempting to be relevant to social issues, but unable to pull it off in the traditional church structures."

When, for instance, any suggestion is made that his priestly office might conflict with the religious impartiality essential in any public official, he replies:

"I am in a great tradition running from the Rev. Adam Clayton Powell to Cardinal Richelieu!"

Rev. Danforth could add either Cardinal Wolsey or Tsarist Russia's "mad monk" to illustrate that a number of history's priest-politicians were notorious. On the other hand, their political ability is unquestioned — and there have been highly admirable clergy statesmen, from Moses to Archbishop Makarios (at least from the standpoint of Greek Cypriots).

The U. S. Constitution, in barring any religious test — or prohibition — for public office, certainly guarantees the right of clergy to run for election.

Danforth has hardly shown any favoritism to his own denomination — or even to clergy in general. He enforced Missouri's Constitutional prohibition against money being paid for religious services by ruling against pay for a jail chaplaincy in Jackson County.

If he is elected to the Senate (despite Sen. Symington's awesome ability to roll up votes) he may well find as many as seven clergy in the other house.

Rev. Robert J. Drinan, S.J., on leave from his post as dean of Boston College of Law School, has announced his candidacy for the House of Representatives from Massachusetts.

As one of the Jesuit order's most brilliant minds, Father Drinan has attracted national attention because he has urged Catholics to reduce their opposition to the liberalization of abortion laws. And while he does not favor unlimited abortion, his stance is a manifestation of the ideal enunciated by Boston's Archbishop, Richard Cardinal Cushing, regarding anti-contraceptive laws: "Catholics do not need the force of civil law to remain faithful to their own convictions — nor do they seek by law to impose these convictions upon others."

Other clergy candidates for Congress include Brooklyn's Missouri Synod Lutheran pastor Richard Neuhaus; Father Joseph Lucas, professor at Youngstown State University in Ohio and Rev. Andrew Young, an Atlanta Baptist.

The House has two ordained clergy beside the Rev. Adam

Sterling Silver Medal Of Christ Is Minted

A solid sterling silver medal depicting a full bust of Christ has been issued by the Catholic Commemorative Medal Society, Inc.

The medal is fashioned much like a specimen coin of the realm with a reeded and beaded edge. Slightly larger and thicker than a U. S. silver dollar, it has a high relief that is frosted and set off by a mirrored surface background.

Theodore A. Parent, art director of the medal society, Youngstown, Ohio, says, "With our world in growing chaos and rebellion, the Prince of Peace medal has to be the most significant work of art produced by our generation and perhaps one of the most beautiful depiction of Christ, since the renaissance."

He said the culmination of 2,000 years of the minting and sculpturgarts are reflected in this remarkable gem specimen made only possible by the 20th Century technology of the Franklin Mint and the talents of one of the world's finest sculptors, Evangelos Frudakis.

Anyone interested should write the Catholic Commemorative Medal Society, Inc., Conroy Building, 6221 Mahoning Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio 44509.

Blake, Bissell Pitch CSI To Twin Wins Over Ricks In ICAC Action

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles, behind the pitching of Ron Blake and Kim Bissell, took a 2-0 lead in the best of six championship series with the Ricks Vikings with 2-1 and 7-1 victories Thursday afternoon.

The Vikings took another game set for Friday afternoon, but CSI with two games of clinching a second straight northern division, Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference, baseball title. The winner of the six-game set will play the champion of the southern division in May with the winner of that best of three series advancing to the national finals in Grand Junction, Colo., May 29.

CSI had its hands full in the first game with Blake, backed by a key hit by John Giesler, finally besting Ricks' McMullin in a hurler's duel. McMullin showed CSI ahead when he led off the third with a double. Tever followed with a slow bouncer toward second base which Tom Aipperspach fielded for CSI. Although both Blake and first baseman Tim Bassett were there to take the throw, each thought the other had and the ball bounced to the stands while McMullin scored.

CSI couldn't tie it until the fifth when Vic Rodriguez legged out and infield bouncer and took third on "Dave" Frazier's sacrifice bunt. Will Ward scored him with a bouncer scored him over the hole.

The Eagles appeared headed for a big inning in the sixth when a walk and fielder's choice that retired no one started the frame off. Art Benavidez followed with a bouncer to second base but Ricks, benefitting from so hesitant CSI base-running, got a double play, nailing Larry Hillard at home and getting Frazier trying to go from first to third. Benavidez brought in the winning tally when Giesler's soft fly fell in for a base hit just inside the foul line in right field.

Bissell had a lot of trouble in the second game, putting two men on in each of the first three innings and then executing himself. CSI got in the third when Aipperspach, who was three-for-three, singled and scored on Hillard's hit. In the fifth, Aipperspach's lead-off double got a batting binge going. Tom's hit was followed by singles by Ward, Frazier, Benavidez, Giesler and Bassett.

Yarborough Has Trouble Qualifying

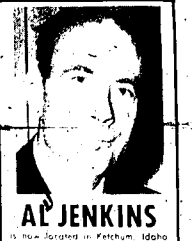

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI)—Cale Yarborough's white and maroon Mercury—a frequent pole-sitter—in grand national competition for several years, is missing from the lineup for Sunday's Alabama 500.

Yarborough, of Tiptonville, S. C., is expected to remedy that situation today. Still, he will be starting farther back in the field than is usually the case.

Qualifying for the race, which is expected to be the first race chase over the high-banked trioval, started Wednesday and Yarborough was sitting on the sidelines. An engine, blown in practice, was being changed and all the driver could do was watch.

The car ran well in practice Thursday, but still Yarborough did not attempt to qualify. Had he done so, he stood a good chance of beating out Thursday's fast man, Benny Parsons of Detroit, for the top spot of the day—the 11th place.

Parsons qualified his Ford Talladega at 193.185 miles per hour. Yarborough was running laps in excess of 195 mph Thursday.

Al Jenkins is now located in Pocatello, Idaho. Sun Lodge, the lodge consists of apartment and motel units. Each unit of the lodge has two extra long double beds, television and sound and luxuriously furnished. All units also equipped with air.
