Course Correction Heads Apollo Home

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Space Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 13 maneuvered onto a safe homeward path Wednesday night, settling up the astronauts for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday and sparing them certain death in space.

The fateful moment came at 11:32 p.m. EST when spacecraft commander James A. Lovell reached out and punched a yellow button on a control panel that fired up the engine of the lunar lander, Aquarius, which Apollo has used for three emergency maneuvers since an explosion crippled the command ship Monday night.

Lovell's companion Fred W. Haise stood at his own control panel in Aquarius during the crucial maneuver and John L. Swigert sat behind him on a makeshift jump seat. "Trust looks good," ground control confirmed just before the firing was completed. "Nice work," controllers told the astronauts.

"Let's hope it was," Haise shot back. Although the firing appeared right on target, considerable tracking and other checks were necessary before the exact new trajectory could be determined. Christopher C. Kraft, deputy director of the manned spacecraft center, said an additional correction maneuver could be made if there was any need to true up the course of Apollo 13. Ground controllers confirmed the vital rocket burn slowed Apollo by 7.6 feet per second or 5.032 m.p.h. This is almost exactly the rate space officials had hoped for.

After the burn, the spacemen used their reaction control rockets—small steering thrusters—to slow their speed a bit more—just over one-tenth of a mile an hour.

If all continues to go well, the astronauts will splash down at 1:04 p.m. EST Friday, about 600 miles southeast of Pago Pago in the South Pacific.

While getting ready for the maneuver, the astronauts reported temperatures in their spacecraft had dropped to about 35 or 40 degrees. One official said cabin temperatures could drop to freezing by reentry time.

It got cold because the astronauts powered-down so many of their instruments since disaster struck man's third try for a moon landing.

Normally, the instruments throw off so much heat the spacecraft needs to be cooled, but in the powered-down condition, the chill settled in.

"I don't know whether we'll be able to sleep up there (in the command ship) tonight," Swigert radioed astronaut boss Donald K. "Deke" Slayton. Since the accident, which knocked out power in the command module, Odyssey, the astronauts have spent much of their time in the seatless Lunar Lander, Aquarius, which is attached to the nose of the Odyssey. But they slept in Odyssey's contour couches. "Right now," Swigert advised Slayton, "we're getting two sets of CWG's (constant-wear garments)—a kind of long underwear on. It's not too uncomfortable in Aquarius, but it's definitely cold in Odyssey."

West Democrats Plan For National Changes

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Top Democratic Party officials from 13 states will join together here this weekend to suggest changes in national convention rules and attempt to get the 1970 political campaigns moving in the Western States.

The three-day Western States Democratic Convention, expected to attract more than 1,000 delegates—to the Salt Palace, starts Friday morning. Some of the top Democrats in the nation are scheduled to speak, including Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine and George McGovern of South Dakota. Also on the list is Lawrence O'Brien, newly appointed national party chairman.

Rules revision discussions will be led by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., who said testimony will be sought from states in an effort to develop a new party program of conventioning on a national scale.

The revisions, he said, were called for following the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago which resulted in chaos and disorder.

The O'Hara hearing will be one of many regional sessions the congressman has been conducting across the nation this week. The final hearing will be a mile an hour.

If all continues to go well, the astronauts will splash down at 1:04 p.m. EST Friday, about 600 miles southeast of Pago Pago in the South Pacific.

While getting ready for the maneuver, the astronauts reported temperatures in their spacecraft had dropped to about 35 or 40 degrees. One official said cabin temperatures could drop to freezing by reentry time.

Nixon Asks SALT Talk Progress

VIENNA (UPI)—The Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) between the Soviet Union and the United States opened today with an appeal from President Nixon for "an early, equitable, verifiable agreement" to curb the nuclear arms race.

The Soviets responded with a pledge of "good will and efforts" and repeated its appeal for a "reasonable accommodation" between the super powers.

The talks—the first full two-day effort by the two nations to limit their nuclear arsenals—opened in televised splendor in Vienna's baroque Belvedere Castle. But the meetings to come will be held in strictest secrecy in the Soviet and American embassies.

Nixon's message called on the Soviets to show "determination to bring about a mutually acceptable agreement." The letter had been sent to Gerard C. Smith, chief U.S. negotiator, who read it at the opening ceremony following a welcoming statement from Austrian Foreign Minister Kurt Waldheim.

Vladimir S. Semenov, chief Soviet delegate, said the Soviet Union hopes the Vienna portion of the talks—expected to last two to three months—will "lead to meaningful, positive results."

Semenov warned that the issues "are not simple," and injected the first publicly polemical note heard since the talks began in Helsinki last November.

The Soviets, he said, "stand for peace, cooperation and coexistence. It is these positions of principle that we also approach the curbing of the strategic arms race."

Airline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Trans World Airlines argued Wednesday a route to Salt Lake City would "integrate" into its transcontinental system with ease.

In oral arguments before the Civil Aeronautics Board, Trans World urged approval of its proposal for service to Salt Lake City.

The 1040 Form Is Really!

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four senators complained Wednesday that the new 1040 is driving American taxpayers crazy.

Speaking out on the final day for filing 1969 income tax returns: Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., introduced a bill that would create a 15-member advisory commission on federal tax forms "composed of taxpayers." It would pass on new forms before they were issued, making sure they were written in "common, everyday American English."

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., wrote Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy asking him to bring back the old, small and simple card, Form 1040, used previously by low and middle-income taxpayers. He called the new form "bewildering and discouraging" and "complicated and puzzling" even for taxpayers experienced with the old long Form 1040.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told the Senate the American taxpayer "has a proper complaint."

LONDON'S DAILY newspapers devoted most of their front page to the Apollo 13 mission Wednesday. From the bars of Seoul to the living rooms of London the world followed the progress of

Jerome Man Dead In Bus Accident

JEROME — A Jerome man was killed Thursday morning after he was struck by a partially-loaded school bus southwest of Jerome.

A Leo Olsen was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Benedict's Hospital where he was taken after the accident which occurred about 8:20 a.m. on two miles south and two miles west of Jerome.

Witnesses said Mr. Olsen was riding a motorcycle and had just entered the county road from his driveway when struck by the school bus driven by Mrs. Jess Wilson, Jerome.

Teacher Strike Is Continuing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Student attendance dropped drastically today in the fourth day of a crippling strike by the 22,000-member United Teachers of Los Angeles as district officials sought contempt citations against strike leaders.

Attendance was not being taken in many parts of the nation's second largest school system but officials admitted attendance "was way down." An estimated 150,000 of the district's 850,000 students at 818 schools did not attend or were sent home from classes Wednesday.

The attendance problem was expected to get worse because the UTLA, which at first urged students to attend school, reversed its stand and called on parents to "keep their children out as a matter of safety."

Jerry Halverson, attorney for the school board, said he would go to court to bring a show cause order against the leaders of UTLA for defying a court order issued Monday directing teachers to return to work.

Taxpayers Now Relaxing Here

About 4,000 relieved Twin Falls taxpayers can rest easy today — their federal tax returns were picked up at the various collection boxes outside the Post Office, postmarked with the desired April 15 date, and dispatched to Ogden, Utah.

Postmaster Fred Sanger said today that two full pouches, weighing about 40 pounds each, and containing an estimated 3,500 to 4,000 pieces of mail, were collected by the midnight deadline for dispatch to the Internal Revenue Service regional center in Ogden.

There was no count on state tax returns, Mr. Sanger said; but they have been running well behind the flood of federal envelopes.

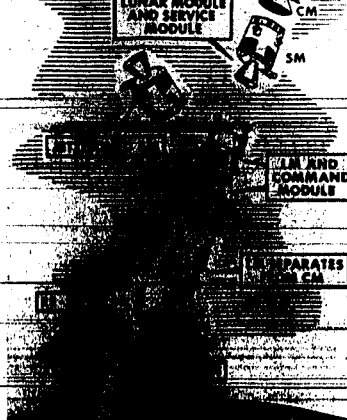

And yet there will be Post returns mailed today — The Post Office usually receives a trickle of past-deadline mail, the Postmaster added.

Moratorium Day— Talks, Tea, Clubs

By United Press International
The AFL-CIO Moratorium Day was flowers and tea, speeches and cheering. It also was in many places, blood and billy clubs, tear gas and rock-throwing.

It was to protest the use of tax money in the Vietnam War, the day saw assorted mayhem. Scores were injured and scores more arrested. Thousands of other demonstrators conducted peaceful protests against the nation's foreign policy.

Hundreds of police in Cambridge, Mass., used tear gas and clubs to break up a crowd at the end of a long rally in Harvard Square. The violent incidents set fire to trash barrels and a subway station and hurled rocks through the windows of push shops, including a jewelry store.

At least eight policemen were hospitalized, dozens of demonstrators were injured and a UPI photographer was dragged from a telephone booth by police and beaten. A policeman called it "an all-out confrontation."

The April 15 Rally Committee sponsors of the main demonstration, disassociated itself from the violence, saying it was the work of "a small minority."

Fumes from hundreds of tear gas canisters, wafted over Berkeley's University of California campus as police battled a rock, bottle and balloon-throwing crowd. At least 13 persons were arrested, 11 policemen were injured and several young persons were treated for tear gas inhalation. An estimated 300 young persons split off from a Detroit rally of 7,000 tossed rocks and bricks at police, smashed windows and battered cars in the downtown area. Twenty to 30 persons climbed a statue in front of the City-County Building and burned an American flag.

Thirteen persons were arrested in the nation's capital after a window-smashing, stone-throwing incident at a Navy recruiting office. The crowd pulled over police motorcycles, in some cases with their riders still aboard.

Moratorium officials estimated New York crowds as high as 40,000. Similar sources in Chicago estimated crowds at 25,000. No serious incidents occurred at either rally.

Peaceful demonstrations also were held in many other areas of the nation.

In Iowa, 700 demonstrators dumped a box of tea into the Des Moines River, as a symbolic act of protest.

In Orange Country, Pollution's Juicy

By LEE MUELLER

MIAMI—NEA—Ecology seems to have run the gamut as far as gaminess is concerned. From the smiling skull of a poisoned heifer in Texas to belching smokestacks in Newark, all manners of pollution appear now exposed.

This, having exhausted their supply of soil-sodden offenders, environment-minded citizens are seeking new methods of showing concern.

—Wine, what is happening in Miami, Fla.—if you will. Streets here are clear and bright, beaches clean and white, skies almost antiseptic. According to recent surveys by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Miami is the country's cleanest city among places with populations of 50,000 or more.

You'd never know this to read the community's two newspapers.

—Miami's got to be kept clean for tourists," he said. "You've got to be able to cut off our sidewalks. We're dependent on clean water and clean air. If you can't swim in our water or breathe our air, what the hell good are those 300 hotels over there on the beach?"

The handy thing about ecology, obviously, is that you don't really need an environmental problem to have an environmental problem.

Miami is a very pollution-conscious community. This is not an understatement. Although the city contains only one bona fide contaminated product—the waste-filled Miami River—any source that spews anything besides sunshine is treated not lightly.

There are, for example, only three smokestacks in all of Dade County. The newspapers' crusade already has shut down one and is working on the others—at least one of which is an incinerator.

Herein lies the crusaders' toughest problem. Nobody likes the incinerator but nobody has come up with an alternative measure for getting rid of garbage.

"There are only three ways to get rid of garbage and we don't like any of them," said Kleinberg, smothering a grin. "You can't bury it in the incinerator because that pollutes the air. You can't bury it because we don't want you digging holes in our land. And, certainly, you can't take it out to sea and dump it because that would be polluting our waters."

"I ask you: What are we going to do with this garbage? Put it in a box and throw it to someone?"

Recently, a thin wire of sun was spotted lurking around the Miami—the second time in a year. It was duly reported in the press, of course, along with information that smog can cause asthma, chronic pulmonary disease and lung cancer.

To date, citizens have reacted favorably to the newspapers' propaganda. The annual King Orange Parade has been canceled and the Orange County student group is sponsoring a pollution parade this month.

In the meantime, Kleinberg recalls his youthful days in the Bronx and cringes.

"Pollution is pretty much out of control in places like New York and Pittsburgh," he said, "but if we move and move fast, we may be able to stop it here. It's not too late for us."

Library Friends To Organize

Organization of a "Friends Of The Library" group in Twin Falls is planned for Monday night and all persons interested in furthering and supporting good library services in the city are urged to attend.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Idaho Power Hospital Room, announces Mrs. I. Craig Morris, who is promoting the organization.

Those attending the Monday night meeting will have an opportunity of becoming charter members of the organization.

"Most libraries, large or small have a Friends Of The Library to assist in promoting library interest and assisting the staff members," Mrs. Morris said. She said the purpose is to serve the library in an auxiliary capacity.

The organizational meeting will be brief, she said, and will include election of officers and planning for coming activities. Library staff members and board members will attend to answer questions and assist with organization.

Perry Swisher, director of Special Education Services, Idaho State University, Pocatello, and former publisher of The Intermountain, will address the banquet meeting Friday night in the Blue Lakes Country Club. Break-In About $106 in cash was taken Tuesday night in a break-in at the Shell Station at 1133 Kimberly Road, city police records show.

The building apparently was entered through a window broken by the burglar, officers said. A box of spark plugs also was taken in the break-in.

Joslyn Won't Run Again

GLENNSPERRY — State Rep. Alvin Joslyn, Democrat from Glenns Ferry, and a veteran of 10 years in the legislature, announces that he will not seek re-election.

He said it was difficult to coordinate working on the railroad, where he's a locomotive engineer with some 30 years seniority, with the many meetings involved in doing a good job legislatively speaking.

Rep. Joslyn, minority caucus chairman in the House considers that the people in his county and the whole state have been helpful, and he has enjoyed serving them.

Blue Pencil Is Won By Mr. Green

Charles Green was awarded the Blue Pencil for his speech Tuesday night at the I. B. Perrine Toastmaster Club No. 793 at Kay's Supper Club.

Other speakers were Chet Bartlett, Bill Foster and Devert Douglas. Evaluators were Larry Pennington, Ron Finney, Homer Roberts and Ross Prather and Elmer Little served as general evaluator. Art Selin received a Blue Pencil for the best table topics.

Chuck Green was appointed to the post of Sergeant at Arms, replacing John Morris, who resigned.

Hospitals Get Cancer Approval

Two Magic Valley hospitals, Magic Valley Memorial in Twin Falls and the Sun Valley Village Hospital at Sun Valley, are listed among only five hospitals in the entire state with an approved cancer-control program.

According to the "Bulletin" of the American College of Surgeons, the hospitals have met the goal of the Commission on Cancer Approval Programs to develop a coordinated cancer registry program, allowing follow-up of cancer patients. The Commission maintains a field survey force of five surgeons and two registry consultants who are available for on-site visits.

The Sun Valley hospital won its approval in 1969. Other approved hospitals in Idaho are St. Luke's Hospital, Boise; Mercy Hospital, Nampa, and St. Anthony Community Hospital, Pocatello.

Gooding Students At Confab

Two Twin Falls students at the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind, Gooding, Joan Drown and David Neumann, are attending the convention of the Junior National Association of the Deaf this week at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C.

Miss Drown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Drown and Mrs. Ernest Neumann, will represent the Gooding institution at the convention. Featured events will include talent contests and speeches by lectures by nationally known leaders in the field of educating the deaf.

Convention delegates will tour the nation's capital, historic buildings and the Senate Office Building, where they will meet Congressmen from their respective states.

Court Turmoil

Picking a candidate for the Supreme Court is much more difficult than picking a wife. It is also proving that making a mistake in a Justice selection is more embarrassing than a divorce in the world of marriage.

On Flying Junk

Just as junked automobiles have cluttered up much of America's landscape, abandoned airplanes are becoming a national eyesore. The rapid growth of the nation's civilian aircraft fleet has resulted in a corresponding rise in the number of junked, dismantled and disabled aircraft parked at airports across the country.

NOISE POLLUTION? If a law proposed in the Georgia Legislature were to be passed, tickets to musical events in that state would carry this warning: "Caution: Excessive loud noise may damage future hearing."

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Shockingly little notice was given the real heart of the April 2 speech by Senate Foreign Relations Chairman J. W. Fulbright. It was one of the most disreputable utterances by any American in the last four decades.

Even as he derided the "old power politics bromides," including "spheres of influence," he told us North Vietnam's the "last moment power."

from the Johnson Administration, and so far has received slightly more than half of them, Israel is getting them at the rate of four or five a month. It is not new that Fulbright, like many another American, thinks neither South Vietnam nor any other part of Indochina has any strategic importance for the United States.

"Nor does it matter all that terribly to the inhabitants. At the risk of being accused of envy, I stress the irrelevance of ideology to poor and backward populations... What these people really need, he said, are governments which will offer medical services, education, fertilizer and high-yield seeds and instruction in how to use them."

Bedsore

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When in France taking care of my mother, who is 76 and in a rather advanced stage of senility, I discovered a red spot in the region of her sacrum. The doctor said it was a bed sore. With mercurochrome, alcohol, and massages we managed to make the sore clear up. Nevertheless I am afraid more may come back, and I don't know any way to prevent them or cure them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After three years I find myself unable to stop masturbating. Being a Christian, I feel that this is a big sin. Is there any hope for me? Is there a medication or drug that could make me stop completely? — D.D.

More Referrals Are Needed To State Drivers Rehabilitation Program

BOISE (UPI) — Duane Kirk told the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission Tuesday 400-500 persons have completed the driver rehabilitation program since it began in Idaho last January.

Kirk, safety and driver education director for the Department of Education, warned that more problem drivers will have to be directed to the course, now conducted on a voluntary basis, if it is to continue after its federal funding ends late in the fall.

The program allows successful candidates to erase three violation points from their driving records.

The commission also reviewed a proposed pilot research demonstration program which would place additional state troopers in high accident areas.

Mark Gibson, Boise, commission director, said much work remains to be done in collecting supporting data before a project is submitted to the National Highway Safety Bureau.

Ellis L. Mathes, state highway engineer, said he doubted whether a true evaluation of the program could be obtained if it were put into effect on Interstate 90 in north Idaho since there is extensive construction work planned for the road.

Rep. John Sessions, R-Driggs, a member of the commission, said he had been asked why Idaho continues its vehicle inspection program while other states do not and are not penalized by loss of federal highway funds.

Gibson said it was probably because other states were concentrating on other federal highway safety standards at this time.

Richard Hughes, Boise, commission chairman, also pointed out the commission felt programs should stand on their own merits, and are not continued because of the threat of loss of federal funds.

Hughes added he believed an analysis of the program when completed would show the benefits of vehicle inspection.

Law Enforcement Commissioner Warner C. Mills said he has asked the attorney general for an opinion on a new measure passed by the last session of the legislature which calls for highway department investigation of accidents where traffic hazards might be a contributing factor.

He said he had asked for an opinion on the extent of jurisdiction since the law would charge the state troopers with making such reports on all roads, city, county, interstate and state, while we have jurisdiction only over state highways.

Ranch Hospitality Greet Survivors

JORDAN VALLEY, Ore.—A rancher at route 16 one of his ranches in southeastern Oregon today found a missing plane that had crashed-landed Monday night and its four occupants safe and unhurt.

Rancher Jack Staples drove the pilot of the plane, Ivan Anderson, 36, Spokane, back to the home ranch about four miles away where Mrs. Staples fed him breakfast while he notified authorities he was all right.

Then, Mrs. Staples fixed a lunch to go for the other occupants of the plane and Staples and Anderson returned for them and a trip over back country roads into Jordan Valley.

Anderson's white and blue Cherokee left Elko, Nev., for this Monday evening but never made it. After his rescue today, Anderson told Idaho Aeronautics Director Chet-Moulton he had circled the west because of storms and had hoped to land at a Rome, Ore., airstrip.

It was then, Anderson told Moulton, that he saw an emergency landing strip along the Barage River near the Staples home ranch on the timbered, 7,000-foot Juniper Mountain.

Beit Propeller

In landing, Anderson found the strip to be short and he bent his propeller on a boulder at the end of it. Because of the storm, Anderson and his three passengers waited in the plane two nights and one day. Skies were clearing this morning and an air search was in progress along the Idaho-Nevada border when Staples found the plane.

The emergency landing strip was alongside the road on which Staples was driving in his jeep.

There was about three feet of snow on the ground near where the plane had landed and about six inches on the ground at the Staples ranch who showed them.

She fed him bacon, two eggs, sunny-side up, toast and coffee. Then she fixed Vienna sandwiches and tuna-fish sandwiches and coffee for Staples and Anderson to take back to the others in the plane.

After picking up the other occupants of the plane, Staples planned to drive on to Jordan Valley. Because of the snow conditions, however, Mrs. Staples was uncertain how long this might take.

Some Rations

Anderson told Mrs. Staples he had some rations in the plane and that he and his three passengers ate them during their stay in the aircraft Monday night, Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Also aboard the plane, when Anderson was Robert Reiner, about 30, Spokane, and Anderson's two children, Pamela, 17, and Rickey, 15.

Tuesday, storms in the area prevented an air search and Moulton and other searchers were limited to checks by telephone and automobile. Shortly after 7 a.m. today Moulton sent out the first planes to begin looking for Anderson.

However, the planes were searching in the Grassmere and Riddle areas along the Idaho-Nevada border rather than to the west of there where the plane had landed.

Mrs. Staples said she had heard of the search for the plane while listening to the radio Tuesday.

But she said she and her husband had no attention to be cause "they said something about Owyhee, Nev., and we never thought about it coming this way."

If Your Child Starts To Act Strange ...

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK (NEA)—Your child, age 13, is acting strange.

He's sullen and uncommunicative. His work has fallen off in school. His personal appearance is a mess. He's drowsy-eyed. Eternally tired and sleeps very late in the morning. He has taken up with some weird-looking new friends. He spends much of his time in the bathroom.

Is anything wrong?

Is it any of your business?

Is there anything you can do to help?

According to medical and social authorities, the foregoing symptoms may indeed indicate something is wrong. Your child may be taking narcotics. If so, it is definitely your business and you may even be able to help.

Easy now. Don't charge the bathroom door. Recognizing drug use in kids, especially your own, is a complex and sensitive matter. Heroin addicts are sullen, but so are girls in training bras. Marijuana smokers are sleepy, but so are students cranking for math exams. Barbiturate users seek bathroom solace, but so do most kids who worry about their complexions.

Nonetheless, drug-use symptoms in young people are seldom clear enough to indicate what is going on. There are many number of things to look for. Among them, New York City's addiction agency and the National Institute of Mental Health list these:

For Soft Drugs

- Abrupt changes in regular habits, such as late sleeping, appetite loss, constipation, irritability and disinterest in social functions.
- Unusual amounts of drug literature, incense (to cover smoke smell), cigarette papers, locked boxes and reluctance to discuss it all.
- Changes in friendship patterns, from open associations to closed ones; from familiar haunts to obscure ones.
- Increased thirst, contraction of eye pupils, incoherence of speech, flushed face, overacting of all mannerisms.

For Hard Drugs

- Loss of skin color, loss of weight, lack of any interest in personal appearance (mousy teeth) are sometimes clues to increased narcotics reliance.
- Acts of dishonesty, such as sugar-jar pilfering, shoplifting or forging family checks, are ways a beginning user may get funds for his purchases.
- Appearance of pinpoint scars on the arms, legs or feet, or drops of blood on shirtsleeves indicate needle use.
- Sore or ulcerated skin under the nostrils, or in the area of the lips, may be caused by "snorting" (the direct inhalation) of heroin powder.
- Yawning, tearing, watery nose discharges, profuse perspiration, gooseflesh, tremors and vomiting are solid signs of early or late hard-drug use.
- Cramps, sweating, severe stomach sickness, diarrhea, bedroom talking and angry irrationality indicate trouble.

But again, a note of caution. Any of these symptoms, even the acous on the flesh, may be otherwise explained. A narcotics expert, New York's addiction commissioner Larry Bear, feels, "Paranoids must never panic or be pushy. Under some circumstances, a false accusation may actually push the child toward narcotics."

Moreover, parental delicacy should prevail even if actual drug use is discovered. For it benefits nobody, officials insist, if a parent just rages, cuffs his kid, cuts off funds.

Instead, says New York's Bear:

"A parent should be calm and understanding and sympathetic. If he lives in a city, there are probably agencies where he can get expert help for his child. If he lives elsewhere, there may be medical or juvenile authorities who are qualified to assist. If nobody else is available, a regular doctor or clergyman might lend understanding aid. In any event, a parent should learn all he can about drugs and his child. And in the end, it comes down to just this: If your child is taking narcotics—love him, that's all; love him anyway."

MONEY TALKS in sign language on the floor of New York's American Stock Exchange. Brokers have found hand signs the most effective and rapid means of communication between trading posts where news are made and side bets which orders are taken. In these photos, Richard Boyer, a telephone clerk, demonstrates a "hand semantic."

Property Tax Is Over-Legislated

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho lawmakers may have over-legislated the problem of property tax options for fraternal, benevolent and charitable organizations, the secretary of state disclosed Wednesday.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa said both houses of the legislature initiated legislation to overcome difficulties with the present law, and each house succeeded in winning legislative and gubernatorial approval of its approach.

However, he said, it appears they both amended the same section of the code and gave different amendments each time. Both Cenarrusa and Attorney General Robert M. Robson expressed doubt both could prevail inasmuch as they appeared to create a conflict in the same section.

Ada County Prosecuting Attorney Ellison Matsumoto discovered the apparent mistake, Cenarrusa said. The secretary of state passed the problem along to Robson for an opinion. When newsmen first contacted Robson, he had not received Cenarrusa's request for an opinion so could not comment formally on the question. But he said it was doubtful if both approaches could prevail.

"I can't give you an answer as to which is going to prevail until I've studied it," Robson said.

First approved by the Legislature and signed into law March 11 was the Senate version. This would exempt property of such organizations from taxation, even if revenue is derived, providing that no more than three per cent of the property is used for commercial purposes.

This bill also exempts meeting rooms, sleeping rooms and the like of the organization if their use is consistent with the purpose for which the organizations are formed.

"Somewhat different is the House bill which was approved by the governor on March 12 — six days after the chief executive signed the Senate version.

Violence Marking Strike

By United Press-International

Violence and vandalism marked wildcat strikes by rebellious Teamster Union members in several states Wednesday. Truck drivers began returning to their jobs in Detroit but about 75,000 remained on strike across the country.

Trucks began rolling in the Detroit area after a circuit court judge declared the week-long strike there illegal. Dissident drivers met to decide whether to picket their own union headquarters.

Andy Provenzi, head of the Detroit rebels, charged that Teamster leaders "sold us down the river on the last contract and we don't think the one now shaping up is so hot either."

The Detroit dissidents, 15,000 Ohio Teamsters, 10,000 in Los Angeles, nearly 10,000 in St. Louis, Mo., and smaller groups elsewhere across the country have been protesting a tentative national settlement reached by Teamster Union and industry negotiators in Washington. It provides average increases of $1.10 an hour over three years.

About 40,000 Chicago area drivers and dock workers are on strike or "tucked out" as negotiations there — a Teamster local and an independent union — press demands for $1.65 in wage increases over three years.

RUBBISH, CHAIRS and posters all burn after radicals set fire to them near Sather Gate at University of California campus at Berkeley during a series of demonstrations. Police used hundreds of canisters of tear gas to break up groups of radicals who hurled rocks, bottles and balloons filled with paint at both police and members of the press. Some 6,000 took part in a riot in Cambridge, Mass., where windows were smashed and fires were set. At least 85 were treated for injuries in Cambridge hospitals. (UPI telephoto)

Nixon Plan Heads For Passage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's family allowance plan survived a crucial test Wednesday and headed for certain passage over opposition cries that it would double federal welfare costs and set up a "guaranteed annual income."

The House voted 204 to 183 to debate the welfare reforms and vote the administration measure either up or down Thursday under rules barring any amendments.

The closed, or gag, rules angered conservative opponents of both parties, who wanted one chance to kill the principal feature of Nixon's plan — annual payments to both the working and nonworking poor.

Some 13 million adults and children in poor working families now ineligible for welfare would be eligible for supplemental payments. They could go on welfare lists now numbering 10 million families with dependent children and other related recipients — the blind, aged and disabled.

Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., one of the outspoken critics contended the plan was no more than a "guaranteed annual income" which would not double by $1.3 billion present welfare costs as the administration admits, but would triple costs, adding $15 billion in annual expenditures.

Park Seeks Office Sans Competition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Management of the Times-Mirror Co., publishers of the Los Angeles Times, Wednesday announced plans to purchase Newsday Inc. of Long Island.

Times-Mirror officials said an agreement had been reached to acquire controlling interest in the newspaper from Harry F. Guggenheim, owner of the Long Island, N.Y., publication.

Terms of the proposed acquisition were not disclosed, pending preparation of a definitive agreement. The acquisition was subject to action by the board of directors of Times-Mirror, the spokesman said.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorney W. Anthony Park, 36, Boise Wednesday announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Park told a news conference he had talked over his candidacy with party leaders and general was announcing it with the hope he would have no opposition in the August primary election.

Should such opposition be endorsed by the party convention in June, he said, he will have to reconsider his position.

Former Attorney General Frank L. Benson, Jackson reported circulating petitions for the Democratic nomination. However, Benson has made no announcement.

Park said flatly about opposition in the primary: "I can't afford it."

Last week, Republican incumbent Robert M. Robson announced he would seek his party's nomination for attorney general. Robson was appointed to the post in 1968 after Allan G. Shepard resigned to take a seat on the State Supreme Court.

Born in southeastern Idaho, Park came to Boise with his family at an early age. He attended Boise High School, the former Boise Junior College and the University of Idaho where he obtained a bachelor's degree in political science and a law degree. He has practiced law in Boise since 1963 and recently represented State Auditor Joe Williams, a Democrat, in successful litigation against the Republican-controlled Board of Examiners and the Republican governor.

He is an Army veteran and is married to the former Patsy Taylor of Moscow. They have three children.

He charged that the "Samuelson administration, of which the incumbent attorney general is an integral part, has demonstrated time and time again that it simply does not meet the standards of excellence which a growing state on the threshold of the 70's must demand from its leaders."

"It has become apparent that this administration, in its almost frantic effort to cater to the needs of certain of the special interest groups, has

Douglas Object Of Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, with support of both parties Wednesday started an impeachment move against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

The Michigan lawmaker charged that the controversial 71-year-old jurist for almost a decade had associated with and taken money from the "international gambling fraternity" and the "pernicious publishing trade... sometimes in specific violation of law."

In addition, he said Douglas had lost and comfort to New Left revolutionaries, most recently in a book called "Points of Rebellion" in which Douglas said "violence may be the only effective response" in some circumstances against oppressive government.

"Mr. Justice Douglas does not find himself in this company suddenly or accidentally or unknowingly," Ford said in a speech prepared for the House. "He has been working at it for years, profiting from it for years, and floating it in the faces of decent Americans for years."

Ford's speech, climaxing an investigation of Douglas' activities which he started last fall, was the signal for introduction Thursday of a bipartisan resolution to set up "a prompt and thorough investigation" of Douglas' behavior, looking to an impeachment vote in the House.

"I believe, on the basis of my own investigation and the facts I have set before you, that he is unfit and should be removed," Ford said. "I would vote to impeach him right now."

Ford said that to avoid an appearance of partisanship he will support but will not cosponsor the study resolution, for which dozens of cosponsors were claimed Wednesday with additional signatures being sought on both sides of the aisle.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., one of the principal sponsors, said about 50 members had already joined in the move.

Pay Raise Bill Gains Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed Wednesday a $2.6 billion pay raise bill for 5.3 million government employees which was a partial outgrowth of the recent postal strike.

The measure, which is retroactive to Dec. 27, also provides salary boosts for 40,000 congressional staff aides. It does not include congressmen, high government officials, federal judges or blue collar workers.

The 0.8 per cent across-the-board hike for the government employees was viewed as the first installment of a higher increase to be given multi-carriers and other postal workers.

They are expected to be voted an additional pay raise when a Congress works out details of a postal reform bill.

Liquor Funds To Help Alcoholics

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Part of the profits from Idaho's liquor monopoly should be used to rehabilitate alcoholics, Attorney General Robert M. Robson said Wednesday.

Robson, who on Tuesday expressed misgivings about the state having a monopoly on package liquor sales because it was preying on the "weaknesses of its citizens," said he felt it only proper to try to help those hurt by the use of alcohol.

"Alcohol causes the problem," he said simply.

He said he did not think much could be done in the way of treating alcoholics at the state hospitals because they have neither the manpower nor the facilities to handle it.

But he said perhaps a plan could be evolved to help the alcoholic in another way.

Stressing he was no expert on the treatment of alcoholics, Robson said he would leave implementation of such an idea to "those people who know about those things."

But he said one approach could be to tie in the alcoholic treatment program with regional mental health centers, shifting part of the liquor profits to that program to defray the added costs.

"My guess is that it would be better done on a local level than on a state institutional level," Robson said.

"It would seem logical to make it a part of the state mental health program," he said. Asked whether he intended to "push" such a program when the Legislature convenes again, Robson said he might "if I'm ever in a position where I can."

He declined to say how much of the liquor profits should be spent on treating the alcoholics, adding it would take a proper study to determine first how much is needed.

Robson also declined to say from which of the present recipients of liquor profits he would take the money to be spent on the program, adding he felt that was up to the Legislature to decide.

But he indicated he would want to cut down on liquor law enforcement.

"I'm not for abandoning control of the liquor laws," Robson said, adding treatment of alcoholics did not cope with the entire problem created by society's use of intoxicating spirits.

Bodies

MANILA (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force announced Wednesday the discovery of the bodies of two airmen, their hands tied behind their backs and buried in a shallow grave north of Clark Air Force Base.

An Air Force spokesman said an autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death.

Berkeley Radicals In Riot

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Police fired hundreds of tear gas canisters Wednesday to drive radicals throwing rocks, bottles and paint-filled balloons from the University of California campus.

At least 13 persons were arrested and 11 police officers injured. Several young persons in the crowd were overpowered and taken to the student lounge for treatment.

Campus police Chief William Hoal said at least four of those arrested were positively identified as members of Weathermen, a militant offshoot of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Chancellor Roger Heyns declared a state of emergency which requires interim suspension of any student, employee or faculty member suspected of breaking laws on campus or within one mile of the university.

Several windows were broken in Heyns' home during the riot. He also withdrew permission for Sunday speeches by William Kunstler, the attorney for the Chicago Seven, and Jerry Rubin, one of the defendants in the Chicago trial.

The trouble, which quickly disrupted the campus as gas filled classrooms and offices, broke out as a small band of radicals began hurling objects at police guarding a naval ROTC building.

Housewives To Protest Taxes

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) — A group of housewives announced Sunday they would make a "mass" deployment of telephone calls.

Mrs. Susan Webster, one of the organizers, said the 10 per cent federal excise tax on interstate telephone calls supports the Vietnam War. She said the women will pay their bills without the tax and give the rest to a local educational institution.

The United States is expected to produce nearly 10 billion more of the stuff between now and the year 2000.

Police Fund To Require Levy

POCATELLO (UPI) — Sixth District Judge Gus Carr Anderson ruled Wednesday the City of Pocatello will have to levy five mills, four more than are now levied, for the police retirement fund.

In a memorandum decision, Anderson said the City of Pocatello will have to levy the additional four mills to make the retirement fund sound. He said there is about $60,000 in the retirement fund presently and said — approximately $300,000 more is needed.

Talk Of Repealing Kite Flying Law Has Effect

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Several readers have commended me for the firm stand taken by this column against the move in Congress to repeal an 1892 federal law that makes flying kites a crime in Washington.

Well, it is now my duty to inform them that the dire predictions I made in that connection already are being borne out.

As I noted at the time, the kite-flying statute has been a butt-wink of law and order in the District of Columbia. During the 78 years it has been on the books, there has never been a major outbreak of kite flying in this city.

Kite flying, indeed, is about the only type of felony that has not spiraled ever upward in this era of soaring crime rates. This has been good for morale. Authorities Are Criticized

When Federal authorities were criticized for failing to provide adequate safeguards against robberies, rapes, vandalism and gun play in the nation's capital, they had a dandy reply available.

Low Bidder On Road Project Is Announced

BOISE (UPI)—Goodwin Construction Co., Blackfoot, was apparent low bidder Tuesday to construct four concrete overpasses and one concrete bridge on four miles of Interstate 15 in Bannock County.

Western Construction, Inc., Boise, was apparent low bidder of seven at $40,538 to furnish and install guard rails on 2.8 miles of State Highway 99 from Kendrick to Brady Gulch in Latah County.

Surprise

SHILDON, England (UPI)—Usually, children find plastic airplanes or cars in their

"Lucky Dip" candy surprise bags, but 7-year-old Maureen Ward got pictures of nude women in hers.

Maureen bought the grab bag for three pence (three pennies) and inside she found a little plastic viewer showing 22 colored pictures of naked women.

"This is disgusting that a toy like this should get in the hands of children," said shopkeeper Ellen MacDermott. "There will be an immediate investigation and if this was not a mistake I will ban the Lucky Dip bags."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today postponed until the first of next week his updated report to the nation on Vietnam.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the President decided on postponement of the nationally broadcast speech, scheduled for Thursday night, because he "doesn't want to pre-empt television time while there is a concentration on the safe return of Apollo 13."

No specific new time was set for the Vietnam speech, in which the President was believed planning to announce a further U.S. troop withdrawal.

Ziegler said Nixon has appointed Michael Collins, the former astronaut who now is an assistant secretary of state, as his chief liaison with the space flight center in Houston concerning the troubled Apollo 13 flight.

Nixon received several reports from Collins this morning from Houston saying the progress toward a splashdown on Friday was "as expected."

Failure Of Educators Debunked

By FREDERICK H. TRESH
United Press International

A prominent educator—has come forward with some fresh views on what he terms the unfortunate "reintroduction of old excuses for the failure of our schools to educate large numbers of children."

Dr. Edmund W. Gordon, professor of education at Teachers College—Columbia University—lamented that "based on insufficient trials with insufficient evidence, we have been offered the conclusion that black and other disadvantaged children have not responded to compensatory education that compensatory education has failed."

Dr. Gordon's intent is to refute such conclusions in general and, in particular, those of Dr. Arthur Jensen, educational psychologist at the University of California at Berkeley.

In a controversial article in the December, 1968, issue of the Harvard Education Review, Jensen advanced the thesis that compensatory education had failed. Further, he argued that there appeared to be a hereditary difference in intelligence, among racial groups and that certain races, possibly are inherently limited in their intellectual capacity to learn abstract concepts, although they can master skills by rote.

Dr. Gordon, former director of research and evaluation for Operation Head Start, debunks "Jensenism" in an article in the current bulletin of the Information Retrieval Center on the Disadvantaged at Columbia.

To assert that disadvantaged children have not responded under this special treatment is like claiming that medication doesn't help when the proper medicine has been unavailable," Gordon contends.

Gordon urges his profession not to be led to premature and erroneous conclusions and insists that "teachability" cannot be determined by genetic analysis, it can only be determined by adequate teaching.

Often the punishment will be depriving me of my dessert. Then later she will come to my room bringing the dessert. I could give hundreds of other examples, Abby; but I think you know what I mean. Please tell me why my mother acts this way? I can't figure her out.

MIXED UP IN CLEVELAND

DEAR MIXED: Your mother (like many others) fears to love her less because she's punished you. You're wrong. I no child ever resented punishment he knew he had coming.

Discipline is PROOF of love. When a parent punishes a child, he is saying, "You are loved, and I am trying to teach you to behave in a socially acceptable manner because I am not going to be around forever to protect and forgive you. If you misbehave, society will not forgive you and let you go unpunished."

Children KNOW this. I wish more parents did.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 74-year-old grandmother and an 83-year-old grandfather moving into a four room apartment to share expenses? (The apartment has two bedrooms, one bath, a kitchen and living room.) They are not married and both are on social security.

Don't you think the neighbors will talk although I'm sure they aren't living together as man and wife?

How can you teach children right from wrong when "Grandma" lives in an apartment with an old man who is not "Grandpa"? OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD FASHIONED: I see nothing "wrong" here. There ARE two bedrooms and they are not living as man and wife. If the neighbors "talk," they are more to be criticized than Grandma and Grandpa.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for five months and we are very much in love, and extremely happy.

There is only one thing that we constantly fight and argue about. My sister's husband! Phil can't keep his hands off me.

Our whole family is inclined to be affectionate, but Phil overdoes it. He always greets me with a big hug and kiss, which is all right, but it doesn't stop there. He wants to sit next to me - preference to sitting next to his wife. He either has to have his arms around my shoulder, or my waist, or he insists on pulling me down to sit on his lap. If I try to avoid him, he comes after me. He's a big man and very forceful.

I have told him to quit, but it does no good. My sister has told him to cut it out. He ignores her. My husband has told him to stop it. He just laughs. My husband is a quiet man and doesn't want any family fights, so he's INFORMED me that we have gone to the last family party where Phil is apt to be.

I am sick over this, as I love being with my family, but I can't blame my husband either. How would YOU handle this, Abby?

LITTLE ME

DEAR LITTLE: I'd certainly not let a fresh brother-in-law keep ME from enjoying the family gatherings. I'd carry an umbrella - rain or shine, and I'd greet Phil with a poke in the ribs and a warning to keep his distance. I'd not let him sit next to me, or put his hands on me. And I would use that umbrella to whack him with if he so much as moved in my direction. After a while he'd get the idea. I.P.S. If you think an umbrella would be too conspicuous on a bone-dry, sunny day in August, carry a golf club.

Organist Gives Opinion Of Famed "Wedding March"

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Virgil Fox, the renowned organist, likes the music of Richard Wagner very much. But he wishes that weddings would be planned without the eternal inclusion of the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin.

"All of us hum it as, 'Here comes the bride,'" and have heard it played over and over as the professional for her.

Firstly, says Fox, who's played for thousands of weddings, the music is not a wedding march in the opera.

occurs after Elsa and Lohengrin are wed. It isn't even written for instrumental music. A mixed chorus sings it without accompaniment, and at a rousing pace. If played at weddings as Wagner wrote it, the bride would be running a footrace down the aisle instead of making a stately, slow march.

Fox says today's bride would do well to investigate the wealth of other beautiful music appropriate for here ceremonial entrance.

He mentions the slower-paced and exceedingly lovely Hadyn's St. Anthony Chorale, C. H. Parry's Bridal March, Grieg's A Dream, and Purcell's Trumpet Voluntary in D among others.

Trumpet Voluntary was part of the processional music for Julie Nixon Eisenhower and helped to lend to the pomp and pageantry of the wedding of Elizabeth II and Philip in Westminster Abbey.

Fox, now devoting his musical career to concerts and recordings, was for 9 years head organist for Riverside Church in New York. He helped to marry off many a socialite.

Young Drug User Gives Up, Pens Death Notes

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A young drug user killed himself in a flame-engulfed car after an eight-hour drug trip and left a rambling suicide note cryptically headed "The Kid Flames Out," authorities said today.

"I can't seem to fight my battles," said the note left by 20-year-old Kenneth West Anderson, a former journalist student at the University of Florida. "My mind is no longer my friend, it won't let me alone. Please try to understand and forgive."

Anderson, from Lakeland, Fla., killed himself Feb. 19 in a residential area in the south, part of Gainesville. Inside the charred car, a gasoline can was found on the seat beside Anderson's body. He feet were bound with what cryptically headed "The Kid Flames Out," authorities said today.

Whitworth, who conducted the inquest into Anderson's death, released the contents of two notes found in his apartment.

In a note addressed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Anderson of Lakeland, "the youth told about his experience with the drug mescaline. He said he bought the drug for $5 during the Christmas holidays "from a friendly mescaline salesman."

Sheppard's Death Was "Natural"

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Franklin County Coroner Robert Evans said today an official autopsy report showed Sam Sheppard died of natural causes brought on by liver failure.

Several words were misspelled in the note printed in a pinched hand on a sheet of notebook paper.

"I have smoke a little pot before—as have many my age—but I tried mescalin only once.

"I know when I have not been in control of my mind, I have killed myself because I can no longer run my own affairs and I can only be of trouble and worry to those who love and care for me . . .

Utah Merchant To Receive Highest Award

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped announced today it will honor a Salt Lake City supermarket chain executive for his more than 20 years of service to the handicapped.

"Dr. Sheppard died of natural causes brought on by pathological transformation of the liver, or fatty metamorphosis of the liver," Evans said.

Evans said there was no sign Sheppard had cancer or had taken large doses of drugs before his death April 6. Evans had delayed the official autopsy report pending results of chemical tests.

Sen. Brassey Will Run Again

BOISE (UPI)—State Sen. Vernon K. Brassey, R-Boise, announced Wednesday he will seek a second term in the Senate this year from District 14.

"To those of my friends who might also think about learning about themselves with mind-expanding drugs—don't."

"Learn about yourself as you live your life—don't try to know everything at once by swallowing a pill—it could be too much for your mind to handle at one time. It could blow out all the circuits as it did with me . . ."

"I am too weak to fight and too proud to live forever on the sympathy of others. Love Andy."

P.S. A last thought—Don't try to hide my "vice"—several indistinguishable words follow hid from the world because of this. You did your best but your son made a fatal mistake."

Wendell Sets Levy Election April 28

WENDELL — Wendell school patrons will vote April 28 on a five-year maintenance and operation levy for the district for one year.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue said the levy should raise $23,713 to maintain the present curriculum program now offered by the school district.

Loss in assessed valuation and increase in operating costs of the district have necessitated the levy increase he noted.

The election needs a majority approval. Polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m. Persons must live in the Wendell School district, be a U.S. citizen, 21 years of age and have resided in the state for the past six months and the district for more than 30 days. Persons do not have to own real property to vote, Mr. LaRue stressed.

Trustees and Mr. LaRue will meet with community groups to explain the need for the additional levy.

In other business at the board meeting trustees:

Unprofessional Actions Of Teachers Hit In School Fuss

SHOSHONE — The "apparent unethical and unprofessional action of teachers" is cited in the State Department of Education's report on the Shoshone school controversy of the elementary school principal, Jack Bowlin.

In a comprehensive report, released by Shoshone trustees, the investigating team sent here by the state department to offer recommendations to the problem, commends the school board for "dedication to finding the best answers to the current problems and being willing to give their time and take considerable abuse in searching for solutions."

Also praised is the adequate equipment at the elementary school and exceptional fine behavior of students there.

A more adequate understanding of the school situation, the state committee feels, through a written school district policy, guidelines for new employees, channels of communication being clearly defined, more certain leadership defined and adequate time for supervision by a principal, who also teaches.

Under the heading, "apparent unethical and unprofessional action of teacher," the report states, "As an agent of the state, the local board of trustees is charged with enforcing the regulations state as they apply to the local school district. As a representative of the people in the district, it is charged with the responsibility of providing the best possible educational program for children in the district."

The state grants its authority to the board, not to individual members and the board actually is not in existence unless it is sitting in a legal session. It is only then that a board member has legal authority and then only to express his opinion and vote. Once a board has acted, the report notes, the decision becomes binding upon the board and each individual member should accept the decision.

The report also deals with six topics of "conditions" was compiled to help solve the criticism of some teachers of

Mr. Bowlin.

The report was based on interviews conducted by the three-member team who spent several days here interviewing teaching staff, school officials, trustees, parents, grandparents and other interested persons.

"To our knowledge," the report reads, "everyone who expressed a desire to meet with the committee had an opportunity to do so. Many of the comments, complaints and accusations were based on rumors, were exaggerated in some instances, were malicious."

The school was commended for the fact that teachers do not have the heavy classroom load prevalent in most schools today.

Emergency FHA Loans Offered Area Farmers

Crash Claims Woman

BURLEY — An Oakley man, whose wife was killed enroute to the hospital to have her third child, was listed in fair condition today at a Boise hospital.

No inquest is planned into the one-vehicle accident which claimed the life of Mrs. Roy Cranney, 28, and injured her husband, Bill, 31, according to Bruce Young, Cassia county coroner. Sheriff Ray Mitchell said the 1969 Chevrolet Mr. Cranney was driving went out of control on the slick road as he turned off Highway 27 onto a county road at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. The vehicle struck a cement abutment.

Mr. Cranney received a broken leg in the crash, but managed to get to a house about 100 yards away. There was no phone there but the people drove to the Wade Baker home to notify authorities.

Family members had notified Cassia Memorial Hospital that the couple was en route to the institution. Mr. Cranney was transferred from Cassia hospital to Boise later Wednesday.

Mrs. Cranney's body is at Payne Mortuary.

Magic Valley Civil Defense Operations Set In Mini-Cassia

RUPERT — Two emergency operation simulations are being planned the next two weeks in Minidoka and Cassia counties by Civil Defense authorities.

The first one, at Rupert, will be Friday and the second, at Burley, will be May 1. Both are being planned by Russell Cooke, Boise, assistant coordinator of the University of Idaho Civil Defense Program. He was in the area earlier this week setting up arrangements for the two exercises which will largely involve communications in the emergency situations.

Participating will be county commissioners, mayor and councilmen of cities in the two counties, heads of all law enforcement agencies, fire departments, all city departments, county departments and others.

There will be several groups involved in the simulations including executive, support staff, operations group, support group and simulation group. All will be involved in varied times of training, briefing, practice and the actual four-hour exercise.

Lt. Dean Bennett, who is district warning officer of civil defense, and Guy Edwards, Twin Falls County Civil Defense director, said it is hoped to have a similar exercise later this summer in Twin Falls County, which has never had a simulation practice.

In charge of the Cassia alert will be Lyman Martindale, county director, and George Falkner will oversee operations in Minidoka County.

RUPERT — Emergency FHA loans were made available today to Magic Valley farmers with potatoes which cannot be marketed because of weather related damage.

Sen. John Peavey, Rupert, and Sen. Joe Preston, Declo, announced Thursday that they had requested the loans Wednesday after growers and processors met with Gov. Don Samuelson during his courthouse tour in Minidoka County.

The Republican state legislators said the loans, with three pre cent interest rates, were made available through the efforts of Sen. Len Jordan, Sen. Frank Church, and Rep. Orval Hansen.

Applications for these loans can be made through the county FHA offices. Sen. Peavey said each county office can make up to 25 such emergency loans without having that county declared a disaster area.

Deputy under Secy. of Agriculture George Hansen, former Idaho congressman, has assured the local legislators he will do everything possible to help in declaring the eastern end of Magic Valley a disaster area, if that is necessary.

Both Mr. Peavey and Mr. Preston said that up to $35,000 can be loaned on emergency FHA loans without approval from Washington, D. C., but processing does take time and the senators urge applicants to apply immediately.

Area farmers needing such loans should also write Sen. Jordan, Sen. Church and Con. Hansen, so they will have evidence for them to continue the FHA emergency loan capability.

After the meeting Wednesday in the courthouse here, Gov. Samuelson toured two spud cellars in Minidoka and one in Cassia county to inspect potatoes damaged in early frosts last fall.

Women Voter League Pushes Petitions For U.S. Capital

An effort to gain congressional representation for "legitimate citizens" of Washington, D. C., a privilege enjoyed by other free citizens of the country, has been undertaken by the League of Women Voters.

Petitions seeking these rights for District of Columbia residents are being circulated by member of the Twin Falls League of Women Voters as well as by other leagues throughout the country.

The petitions call for a constitutional amendment necessary to granting the residents a congressional voice. These petitions, when completed, will be formally presented Congress during the national convention of the League of Women Voters May 4 through 8 in Washington, D. C.

"The fact there are 800,000 people who live in our nation's capital with no one to represent them in Congress is a basic injustice which must and can be righted," Mrs. Roy Slotten, local league president stated.

A two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three fourths of the states will be necessary to correct the situation, Mrs. Slotten explained. The first step will be the circulation and presentation of the League sponsored petitions.

Mrs. Charles Graves is coordinating the petition drive in Twin Falls. Mrs. Roy Slotten, president of the Twin Falls League, will take the local petitions back to Washington, D. C., with her when she attends the national meet.

Bellevue Couple Creates Wood Pictures

BELLEVUE — It was a matter of necessity that started Robert Paterson, Bellevue, and his wife creating wood pictures and insets in their spare time.

The necessity was created by too much spare time by two active individuals.

For about the past nine years, the couple has been putting together masterpieces with wood picture kits and inserts ordered from businesses in New York and Chicago. The veneer is available in a variety of colors, so no dyeing or painting is required to put together a life-like color picture or piece of furniture.

It all started when Mr. Paterson got his hands on a few wood picture kits and liked the idea so well he began to prepare his own patterns, creating his own pieces of beauty. In addition to hanging on the wall, the picture patterns are often inlaid into the top of a coffee table, surrounded by another piece of appropriate wood, varnished, and pigged." With little upkeep necessary, the tables are able to last for years without fading or losing their beauty.

Another innovation of the Patersons is a thief-proof jewel box, with a hidden opening. The box was created for grandchildren going into college, as none of the work done by the Patersons is for sale. The jewel box is designed to resemble a set of books, with one book lying on top of the others.

To open the box, a board on the bottom of the row of books is slid away, with the middle book then dropping down, revealing the latch to open the lid, which is the top book.

Another of Mr. Paterson's creations is a glass topped serving tray, with wood inlays in a checkerboard pattern, showing through.

Recently, Mr. Paterson has borrowed the Times-News pictures from the Friday Church supplement as patterns for pictures, creating them out of various colors of wood on hand.

To get the pattern on wood, Mr. Paterson uses carbon paper, tracing the pattern onto a piece of pressed wood. The picture is then sectioned much like a jigsaw puzzle when completed, filled in the various colors of veneer. The veneer is glued in place, then a steel hand roller is used to insure the piece is in properly and smooth. When all the pieces are in place, a false frame appearance is created by placing long, straight pieces of veneer along the outside edges of the pressed wood, then varnishing the whole picture. Then it is ready for hanging.

Although the Patersons could not estimate what one wood picture cost to put together, they did note that one picture kit, of the Last Supper, cost about $45.

Prior to becoming interested in the art, Mr. Paterson had worked as janitor at the Bellevue schools for about 20 years and was retired about ten years ago.

He has lived in the area since 1920, and was joined by the now Mrs. Paterson in 1925. Both are from Scotland.

Mrs. Paterson has made a name for herself, also. Off and on since World War I she has knitted for others, free. During the two world wars, she knitted items for the Red Cross and for the past four years has knitted for the Salvation Army.

She got started with her own wood picture project for the Twin Falls chapter of the Salvation Army one year when someone gave her scrap pieces of yarn, with just enough for baby items. So she knitted the items, with the idea of giving them away to someone who needed them. She was directed by a son to the Salvation Army and said she has continued to work because she feels the program has a wider distribution than some. She also knits baby clothes for the unwed mothers home in Boise.

Among the items made for the Salvation Army are hats, gloves, bed socks and slippers, and doll clothes and accessories.

Mrs. Paterson explained that with 18 children and their spouses and 16 grandchildren to knit for each year, she is left with a number of scraps of yarn with which she knits for the Salvation Army.

"I use all my scraps for them," she said, "and even make doll clothes, accessories, and bedding with the smallest of them." She then purchases the dolls and fits them with the clothes before boxing the items up for the yearly delivery.

Mr. and Mrs. Paterson are a retired couple living on Social Security who just enjoy doing for others.

BEAUTIFUL but practical table tops which last for years are created by a Bellevue couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paterson, who have been following this hobby the past nine years. The veneer is available in a variety of colors and no painting is required. The pieces of veneer are put together in life-like color pictures.

BOOK SWAPS PROVE popular in elementary school observance of National Library Week. Scott Hall, Sarsi Hall and Tom Bond, from left take over the book "sales" at Harrison

Library Week Observed By Students With Theme 'Reading Is For Everyone'

Youngsters in the elementary schools of the Twin Falls District are not letting National Library week pass unnoticed. Throughout this week there have been posters and streamers showing up in Grade school classrooms and libraries. Generally they proclaim "Reading Is For Everyone" and to prove their slogan true the young students are stimulating their reading habits with book swaps and title contests.

Book swaps involve paperback books which the youngsters have already read. These are brought to school and exchanged for make-believe money. In turn the student uses this during the book swap to purchase a paperback some other student has read and turned in.

During the book swap sessions the elementary libraries resemble bargain day at the public market as youngsters browse and inspect the tables filled with books, and then "purchase" those they find most interesting.

Student helpers serve as clerks and the titles range from classics to juvenile and non-fiction. One book at the Harrison School swap that seemed to attract attention but no buyers was "Sewing Can Be Fun."

Most of the books, however, are along the more popular reading lines of grade schoolers.

In the title contest, young readers must complete at least three additional books to be eligible and then select from a list of available books, the titles of their favorites. Leading in popularity in the local schools is "Smoke" by W. Corbin.

Norma Creed, director of elementary library services for the local school district, said Twin Falls grade schools have one of the most outstanding library programs for schools of that level in the state.

Each school now has a library aide who is on duty six hours a day to assist youngsters in book selection and to help fit library services to the needs of the particular school.

Library aides in local elementary schools include Mrs. Lois Finney, Bickel; Mrs. Louise DePaul, Harrison; Mrs. Gladys Gugelman, Lincoln; Mrs. Dorothy Knoble, Morginside and Mrs. Carol Edwards, Washington.

Sen. Fred Bagley Resigns

BOISE (UPI) — State Sen. Frederick R. Bagley, R-Boise, today confirmed reports that he has resigned as a senator from District 16.

Bagley said his resignation, delivered Tuesday to Gov. Don Samuelson, was effectively immediate.

In a letter to the governor he said he did not intend to seek re-election this year because he wanted to devote more time to private business and personal affairs. He said he was resigning at this time in order to pursue those personal interests without further commitment to the legislature.

He expressed appreciation to those who have supported him. Bagley, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, was serving his second term in the Senate. Prior to senatorial service he served one term in the House.

Douglas Bean, Samuelson's administration assistant, said the matter of selecting a successor was "pending at the moment."

Meanwhile, Bean said, the resignation of Rep. John George, R-Shoshone, became effective today. George is moving to Phoenix, Ariz.

Testing Indicates Papaya Seeds May Be Substitute For 'The Pill'

COLOMBO, Ceylon—Whatever may be the ultimate fate of "the pill," right now at the Haffkine Institute in Bombay, India, experiments on papaya seeds are under way to control reproductive activity in humans. Laboratory tests on animals have shown encouraging results.

The extract has not yet been tried out on humans, but medical practitioners of ayurveda—an ancient system of eastern medicine—say that papaya seeds have properties capable of controlling reproductive activity. They are certain that research will lead to an effective and safe human contraceptive.

They say that if best results are obtained the seed must be administered in the rawest form possible. They also say that research must be carried out on the papaya's leaves and fruits instead of limiting it to the seeds because there is strong evidence to suggest that they, too, have the properties of the seeds.

Although the pill is the most popular contraceptive in many parts of Asia, the less sophisticated and rural women eat a whole half ripe papaya together with the seeds to avoid pregnancy. Ayurvedists say the seeds eaten over a period of time render a woman permanently sterile.

Though it is a relatively inexpensive fruit which is relished by cattle and pigs, breeders do not feed animals on it because it has been their experience it results in sterility. Should they experience a shortage of other fodder, breeders take great care to scoop out the papaya seeds and feed the animals on fruits only, and then only for a short duration. When animals are fed on papaya together with the seeds they cease to litter, it is claimed.

Besides being a fruit that goes well with breakfast—and as a potential contraceptive—the papaya has other uses. The unripe fruit contains a milky juice which contains an active principle known as papain. This enzyme greatly resembles pepsin in its digestive action. It is obtained by puncturing the unripe fruit while it is still on the plant. After the milk has exuded and coagulated it is scraped off the fruit, dried and used in the preparation of various remedies for indigestion and in the manufacture of meat tenderizers.

Salt Lake City Seen As One Alternative To Bucs' Financial Woes

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Negotiations are underway that could either send the American Basketball Association New Orleans Buccaneers to Salt Lake City, Kansas City. Members of the club are, a Bucs spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman said there are three options open to partners

Lakers Return Home With Vision Of Sweep

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—All season long Laker coach Joe Mullaney said the team needed more consistent play at center, but going into the third game of the Playoff series with Atlanta he is not complaining at all.

The Lakers have a 2-0 advantage over the Hawks in their best of seven series and much of the credit must go to towering 7-2 center Walt Chamberlain.

In the second game of the series in Atlanta Tuesday night the big man dominated the Hawks, yanking down 24 rebounds, bucketing 24 points, clogging the middle and forcing the Southerners outside.

Bucks Must Use Home Advantage

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Coach Larry Costello called his Milwaukee Bucks to practice Wednesday, confident his team can win Friday night and Sunday afternoon here and "put the pressure" on the New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association Eastern Division playoff series.

"We've got to win at home," Costello said. "We'd be in bad trouble if we didn't. But I think we can."

ISU Tracksters To Meet Utah State And Utah Saturday

POCATELLO — A Saturday triangular meet is next on taps for the Idaho State track team, a team that is looking a little healthier every week. In fact Coach Bob Beeten has worked his squad up to where it is about at half strength.

The Bengals meet Utah and Utah State in Salt Lake City 11 p.m.

The 1 p.m. event is a new one, the six-mile run and the race should be a good one. Utah has already had one harrier turn in an NCAA qualifying time, and Beeten will send his tireless Kenyan Nelson Karuga against him.

Valley got the barley to win the first inning when it scored three times but added three-run outbursts in the second and fifth to support the pitching of winner Gergen and Riever Hagan.

Twins Trounce Angels To Remain Undeclared

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins got three homers including a grand slam by Bruce "the brute" Allyn in the sixth inning Wednesday night to trounce the California Angels 8-2.

The victory was a "homecoming" gift for Minnesota manager Bill Rigney who was fired by the Angels last May. The Twins with a 4-0 record are the only undefeated team in the majors.

Twins Trounce Angels To Remain Undeclared

Jim Perry pitched his second victory of the season against the Angels, limiting the Angels to four hits. One of the two runs off Perry was unearned but the other was a legitimate one on a homer in the seventh inning by Jay Johnson.

Jesus-Tovar led off the big sixth inning with a home run to the left-field stands off Angels starter and loser Andy Messersmith, 2-1. Before he left the mound without getting a man out, Messersmith faced six batters, walked one and hit another with a pitch.

Ard Spurns Some Bid, Joins Nets

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Nets added muscle to their forward line today when they signed Jim Ard, Cincinnati's 6-8 center, to an American Basketball Association contract.

Ard is a 215-pounder who impressed Lou Carnesecca when he appeared here last December. Carnesecca was coach of St. John's University, but now has taken over as coach, vice president and general manager of the Nets.

Cater Injured

BOSTON (UPI) — Infielder Danny Carter of the New York Yankees, was injured in a freak accident Wednesday during the second inning of the Red Sox game at Fenway Park.

Carter lashed a hot line drive back to Boston pitcher Jim Lonborg. His baseball hit shattered in his hands on the play and a splinter of wood gouged a deep cut in the second finger of his left hand.

Spring Turkey Season Is Proposed For 1971

BOISE — A spring gobbler hunt will be proposed next year on some of Idaho's wild mountain turkey range, particularly near the original release sites in the lower Salmon River drainage if these exotic game birds continue to flourish.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department recalled that the first transplant of 17 Merriam's turkeys from Colorado was made January 14, 1961, when 13 hens and four toms were released on Deer Creek, a tributary of the Salmon River near Whitebird.

Q—I am interested in buying bonds but confused about whether to stick to newly issued bonds or buy older, cheaper ones. Can you clarify?—M.R.

A—if you are interested in high current return guaranteed over a number of years, a newly issued call-protected bond would be preferable.

As a matter of self-protection, the issuing company usually retains the right to redeem a bond issue prior to maturity in order to secure cheaper money if and when it becomes available.

But to facilitate a market for your call-protection feature is added to attract buyers.

Q—I bought Stanwick Corp. at 15 one year ago. Will it recover?—P.P.

A—Stanwick's most recent acquisition, a hospital and health facility evaluating and planning company, represents an attempt to reduce dependence on government business.

A small company—sales under $13 million—Stanwick is seriously affected by reduction in military spending.

In the nine months through January, sales were off 25.9 percent. Margins were badly squeezed by the reduction.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Renting an airplane is now being billed as most cost-effective way to fly.

It can be done already in the Midwest, in California and few areas in the East at prices as low as $11 a day and 11 cents a mile.

A Chicago firm called Lease-A-Plane International, Inc., has pioneered the service on a franchised basis and has five centers in operation now.

Hertz tried a similar rental-plane scheme some years ago but decided it was premature to set up.

But Hertz Greenfield, his son-in-law Jim Johnson, have got off to a flying start. They expect to have new franchises in New York, Baltimore, Denver and San Francisco within six months.

Franchise investment in their plan calls for franchise fee of $10,000, including a lease for a plane.

Rates charged by Lease-A-Plane are considerably cheaper than the usual independent rental airplane agency rates.

The independents charge $15 an hour for a single engine plane, ranging up to $60 or more an hour for a large plane.

Customers usually have to pay straight time while waiting to take off, too, which can waste a lot of money.

The firm feels that the economy will hit bottom in the current quarter and will have begun a mild recovery by the summer.

The wisest course for investors in the "present viciously selective market atmosphere" is to concentrate on favored groups—and avoid issues within them which put independent investors at a disadvantage.

Hyden, Hyden, Stone Inc. says it is not easy to find the market shift from a completely pessimistic atmosphere to an optimistic one—a slow and painful process—and the market is currently being flogged with unfavorable earnings and business news.

Today's hand appeared in our column back in January. When the hand was actually played West was allowed to hold the first trick. He continued hearts. South ruffed and promptly played out ace and another spade since the game was rubber bridge. He lost the club finesse later on and still made his game.

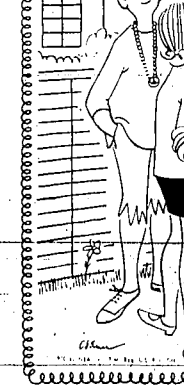

We pointed out that if East had won the first trick and led back a diamond he would have been able to run a diamond and defeat the contract.

PFC John Uhlmann who is on his way to Vietnam wrote us that South could still make his hand by means of a criss-cross squeeze and he is right. We don't like to make mistakes but we do on occasion and this criss-cross squeeze is interesting enough to show our readers.

The early play will be a heart 2-4 diamonds two spades, a diamond ruff and TIZZY

PASS IT ON

A LAW MAN of long experience says the niftier forgers their chosen work prefer to copy signatures upside down rather than right-side-up... IT IS THE FELLOW born under the sign of Libra, says our planet man, who is most inclined to get the part of the great lower... ODD THING about concrete. The better its quality, the stronger it gets with age but the poorer its quality, the weaker it gets.

BRAINS - Cartoonists for years have been depicting men of the future with larger heads because of bigger brains. But the prediction doesn't hold up, say the science boys: If anything our brains are getting smaller. The brain of the Neanderthman was thought to be about 1,450 cubic centimeters. Our brains about 1,400.

DON'T INVENT THE FUTURE... You like it too much, but our Chief Prognosticator thinks the air travel businessmen will but considerably in upcoming years by videotape conferences between cities... ANOTHER PUZZLE: What the only four-letter word in English that reads in caps the same upside down as right-side up? You are expected to solve this BOON.

OPEN QUESTION - In which show did Digger O'Dell play the friendly undertaker - "The Life of Riley" or "The Great Gildersleeve"?

FIGURES - In the eyes of the average Frenchman, the perfect woman should measure 38-25-37. The average Britisher, however, prefers the girl who tapes 34-21-34. Or say the pollsters.

LANGUAGE MAN - Believe I said the super duper palindrome - that phrase that spells the same way backward as forward - was: "A man, a plan, a canal - Panama. However, a California client nominates what he considers a even niftier palindrome: "Sex at noon taxes." Interesting.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - O. "Who invented boo matches?" A. Joshua Pusley, a Philadelphia lawyer. However it was a gentleman named Henry C. Truette who created the most widely printed sentence in any language. Namely: "Clos Cover Before Striking..." Q. "Does your Manners Man permit a divorced man to be called a bachelor?" A. No, he says that's bad. Very bad... Q. "Did Charlie Chaplin ever marry woman old enough to vote?" A. No, sir, all his wives were teenagers - Marilyn Harris - and Aldia Grey were both 18. Paulette Goddard was 19. Oona O'Neal was 18.

OBSERVANT! - Would you recognize, your own toothbrush if you saw it amongst 10 toothbrushes? Probably not, probably not. A researcher with nothing better to do checked out the matter, and discovered most any man recognizes his own toothbrush only by its position in the holder. More than half the citizens sampled in this test could even name the color of their own toothbrushes. Most peculiar.
