Nixon Reaches Decision On Cambodia Arms Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials indicated today President Nixon has reached a decision on strategy to aid the embattled Cambodian government in its struggle against an estimated 40,000 Communist invaders.

These officials said they were not permitted to disclose any details. They asserted, however, that the nature of the President's decision would bring to emerge within the next day or two.

Speculation in diplomatic circles here was the administration, anxious to avoid any appearance of direct American involvement, probably would adopt the following course: —Approve a major operation against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces in Eastern Cambodia by South Vietnamese units understood to have been massing along the Cambodian frontier.

Arrange for U.S. Allies in the area, such as Thailand, to make available some of the military equipment for which Cambodian Premier Lon Nol appealed directly to the United States.

Actions of this sort could be rationalized by the administration as necessary for the protection of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam. The 40,000 Communist troops in East Cambodia are principally North Vietnamese reserves committed to the III and IV Corps areas in South Vietnam. They were withdrawn to sanctuary in Cambodia before Prince Norodum Sihanouk was ousted by the present anti-Communist regime.

The United States previously urged the South Vietnamese government to refrain from any major assault against these Communists on the grounds this might cause the North Vietnamese to turn westward against the Cambodians in an attempt to secure the entire country as a base of operation. However, now that Communist forces have cut major highways near Phnom Penh, and Lon Nol has appealed for outside aid, a South Vietnamese operation could be more easily justified.

U.S. officials were gratified by Indonesia's decision to hold an Asian conference on Cambodia May 11 and 12. They obviously hoped the Asian countries would take some action to provide at least moral and psychological backing for whatever moves may be necessary to preserve the neutrality of Cambodia, which Nixon has said is of major importance.

Israel Claims Soviet Pilots Fly From Egypt

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israel said today Soviet pilots are flying "operational missions" from Soviet-run bases in Egypt. Well informed Tel Aviv newspapers said the Russians were guarding Egyptian air space against Israeli air force attacks and that there had been at least one near clash.

The newspaper Ma'ariv said Prime Minister Golda Meir had sent a special message to President Nixon which pledged "Israel's determination to defend herself" in the face of Soviet involvement. Israel also was reported asking Nixon to free more F4 Phantom jets for Israel.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will provide advisers and other support to assist South Vietnamese military operations inside Cambodia, the Defense Department announced today.

No details were given in the announcement by Assistant Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin. He refused to answer reporters questions.

In his statement, Henkin said: "The United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV), in response to the request of the government of Vietnam is prepared to provide support. This support will take the form of advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance."

Henkin said the purpose of today's South Vietnamese raid into Cambodia was "to destroy an extensive complex of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases and depots in Cambodian territory, barely 35 miles from Saigon."

He added: "These bases and depots have posed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam as a result of increased enemy activities."

He said the United States was "fully consulted" before the South Vietnamese launched its operations.

"The determination was made that the action is a necessary and effective measure to save American and other free world lives and to strengthen the Vietnamization program," Henkin's statement said.

Pocatello Hearing Is Cancelled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A public hearing planned for Thursday in Pocatello on the proposed Environmental Quality Education Act is being cancelled, U.S. Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said today.

Hansen said the hearing was cancelled after announcement that the House would vote Thursday on the military appropriations bill.

He had been scheduled to appear at Idaho State University with Chairman John Brademas of the House select subcommittee on education to hear testimony on a bill Hansen sponsored to encourage understanding of policies and support of activities designed to enhance environmental quality.

"The military appropriations bill is the largest procurement bill that Congress is asked to consider and includes the entire defense budget," Hansen said.

3 Quakes Hit Mexico Region

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Three earthquakes, two of them of major magnitude, were recorded early today in the Pacific off the coasts of Guatemala, and Mexico.

The first, at 7:22 a.m. EDT, was reported centered 450 miles southeast of Mexico City. It registered 3 on the 14-to-12 Mercalli Scale in Mexico City. The second and third, recorded at 10:01 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. EDT, registered 6.2 and 7.0 on the open-end Richter Scale. Both were felt with considerable intensity in Mexico City.

Passed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House passed by voice vote and sent to the White House Tuesday a bill authorizing $17.5 million for the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, involved in talks with the Soviet Union on limiting production of strategic weapons.

A motion by Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, to cut $4.3 million from the bill was rejected by a 280 to 87 vote.

Not Much New Seen In Report

BOSTON (UPI)—Little in the way of new information was expected today from the release of documents taken at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Miss Kopechne, 29, died when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy went off a bridge at Chappaquiddick Island July 18.

"Those close to the case said while the report of the inquest judge might contain a mild indictment of Kennedy's actions at the time, testimony contained in the 784-page transcript was not likely to add measurably to what is already known of the accident."

Release of the documents was expected for 3 p.m. EDT in a scheduled oak-paneled Suffolk Superior Court room.

A set of the inquest documents—the 12-page judge's report and the transcript of 27 witnesses' testimony—cost $75. Most of the 87 copies to be distributed today were spoken for by the news media.

Blackmun Should Gain Committee Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Accompanied by two of the Senate's most prominent liberals, Supreme Court nominee Harry A. Blackmun presents himself, his qualifications and his stock portfolio today to the scrutiny of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

With not a single voice publicly raised against him, his approval by the committee and ultimately by the Senate appeared certain.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., went so far as to say it might be unanimous.

McCarthy and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., along with Rep. Clark M. Gregor, R-Minn., who is expected to be the Republican candidate for McCarthy's seat next fall, accompanied Blackmun.

"I gladly support this nomination," Mondale told the committee, and I commend the President for choosing such a distinguished jurist to fill this seat on the court."

Blackmun, 61, is a Minnesota and it is normal Senate courtesy for a candidate for the nation's highest tribunal to be backed by his hometown senators.

Sharp and close questioning of Blackmun was expected despite the Senate's lack of appetite for yet another battle and the lack of criticism aimed at the new nominee.

Discounting the "bizarre" element, drugs being used for "kicks" are placed into five categories, he said, depressants, narcotics, stimulants, hallucinogens and volatile inhalants.

The snuffing of glue, he said, which falls in the latter category, was begun in Utah. This type of abuse often has a "non-reversible side effect—death."

Mr. Wooley also cautioned adults not to get hung up on trying to find answers for youths' persistent questions: about drugs versus alcohol. He said even marijuana is no worse than alcohol—which has not been proven conclusively—it is bad enough. More than 80,000 people a year die from alcohol-induced diseases, he said, and thousands more are killed each year in traffic accidents stemming from the use of alcohol.

Complete honesty with youth about what is known and not known about drugs and narcotics has been urged by all speakers at the symposium sponsored by the College of Southern Idaho and District Public School Superintendents Association.

"They have pointed out tests conducted on many substances, including LSD, are conflicting—but what should be stressed to young people is—'why take the chance?'"

During the Tuesday morning session Dr. J. Thomas Underleider of the UCLA center for medical services, and Olo Heinecke, Seattle, regional at the new nominee. It was expected to center on Blackmun's self-acknowledged role in sitting on cases involving the Ford Motor Co.; a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.; and Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. at times when he held 50 Ford Shares, 22 AT&T shares and 30 shares in the 3-M company.

Warning Issued In Drug Conference

Bruce Wooley, executive director of the Drug Abuse Commission, State of Utah, cautioned those attending the final session of a drug abuse conference in Twin Falls Tuesday not to "over-react" when they find themselves faced with a potential drug abuse problem.

He said many of the "bizarre" types of abuse—smoking banana peels, injecting peanut butter, etc., are commonly over-reacted to. He said in the case of the banana peel hoax—which has since been found to be completely non-hallucinogenic—three states over-reacted so far as to pass laws outlawing banana peelings.

He said there are now over 1,500 drugs being abused. These range from hard narcotics to eye washes and antihistamines.

Discounting the "bizarre" element, drugs being used for "kicks" are placed into five categories, he said, depressants, narcotics, stimulants, hallucinogens and volatile inhalants.

The snuffing of glue, he said, which falls in the latter category, was begun in Utah. This type of abuse often has a "non-reversible side effect—death."

At the close of the session, attended by about 300 educators, law enforcers, physicians, students and parents, evaluation sheets were handed in. The sheets will be reviewed by the symposium officials.

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong proposed an eight-hour truce for today around the besieged Green Beret camp at Dak Seang, saying they wanted to release some wounded South Vietnamese prisoners there.

Two hours after the proposed starting time for the truce, 8 a.m. (9 p.m. EDT Tuesday), the government said it knew nothing about the Viet Cong plan, broadcast over Liberation Radio at 1:45 a.m. (1:45 p.m. EDT Tuesday).

The broadcast did not give the number of wounded government soldiers to be released. But it identified their units as the 1st and 3rd Battalions of the 42nd South Vietnamese Regiment, a unit sent to Dak Seang soon after the border outpost 280 miles north-northeast of Saigon came under siege April 1.

"Our adversaries can pick up the prisoners by unarmed helicopters bearing red crosses," Liberation Radio said. "All military provocations and actions must be held back in the area from the beginning of the release to three hours after the release."

The cease-fire proposal was not unprecedented. Viet Cong troops released three American prisoners northwest of Saigon during a similar standoff Jan. 1, 1969.

Allied military sources have estimated Communist casualties in the Dak Seang fighting at more than 1,500 killed more of them in the massive Allied air campaign aimed at breaking the siege. U.S. and South Vietnamese losses have been put at more than 180 dead and more than 600 wounded.

Ballot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Labor Department has agreed to a request from the Teamsters Union to supervise balloting by some 450,000 of its members on a proposed national contract with the trucking industry, sources said Tuesday.

The Labor Department three years ago also supervised balloting by teamsters on the master national agreement with Trucking, Employers, Inc. (TEI); the bargaining agency for the industry.

The 1967 request reportedly was made by the Teamsters to assure honest voting following the conviction and imprisonment of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa on federal charges of jury tampering.

Nuclear Project Said Safe

DENVER (UPI)—Dr. Edward L. Teller, the nuclear scientist known as the "father of the H-bomb," said Tuesday the Project Rulison underground nuclear test in Colorado was "absolutely safe."

Teller said flaring of natural gas produced by the experiment would not produce significant levels of radiation.

Gas produced in the experiment is scheduled to be flared—or burned off—this summer. Some scientists have said the flaring might produce abnormal levels of radioactivity.

Teller, who spoke at a meeting of the American Petroleum Institute in Denver, said Project Rulison had safety standards unequalled by other industrial developments.

Project Rulison is a joint project of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Austral Oil Co. of Houston and CER Geonuclear Corp. The project near Grand Valley, Colo., is designed to free natural gas trapped in rock formations.

Teller, who is with the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif., said the flaring process would produce a small fraction of the total amount of radioactivity that is normally in the environment.

"Asked if it was his opinion that the flaring would be safe, Teller said, 'It is not my opinion, I know it.'"

Teller also told a news conference the development of oil shale was stalled until some oil company decided to risk putting money into the project.

He said progress will probably be made toward developing oil shale only when a small oil company is willing to take the risk.

"History shows the large oil companies don't take risks," Teller said. "I hope they prove me wrong."

"The companies that have shown the most initiative have been the smaller ones," he said.

"Grave" Development
The government announcement said none of the Soviet-piloted aircraft had penetrated Israeli air space or participated in dogfights against Israeli fighters. But it termed the presence of the Russian fliers a "grave new development" that signals an "escalation of Soviet involvement in Egypt."

The Tel Aviv newspaper Haaretz, in an extra edition, reported that two weeks ago "a contact almost took place between Israeli jets and Soviet-piloted planes" and that "Soviet pilots have taken over part of Egyptian air defense system," not only manning SAM bases but patrolling Egyptian air space against Israeli invaders.

"Soviet pilots are now engaged in intercepting missions and thus making it easier for the (Egyptian) air force" to attack Israel, Haaretz said.

An Israeli spokesman did not confirm this report but said Foreign Minister Abba Eban was expected to elaborate on the government statement at a news conference in Jerusalem on Thursday. Israel has not flown any deep penetration missions inside Egypt since April 13.

Agnew Is Against Mob Rule

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday night it is time for American universities to treat student mobs as though they were "wearing brown shirts or white sheets."

Agnew told a $250-a-plate Republican party fund-raising dinner he had "one modest suggestion for my friends in the academic community."

"Next time a mob of students waving their non-negotiable demands, starts pitching bricks and rocks at the student union — just imagine they're wearing brown shirts or white sheets — and act accordingly."

In his prepared text the vice president said that campus peace through appeasement "is not worth the price. That's not intellectual treason. Better confrontation than a

Eire Hero, Actor Dies At Age 74

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Arthur Shields, an actor and director of the Abbey Theatre in Dublin, Ireland, who later appeared in scores of Hollywood motion pictures, died at his home here Monday of emphysema. He was 74.

Shields, a hero of the Irish uprisings in 1916, had been ill for two years. From 1913 to 1939 he played more than 300 roles in 250 plays on the Abbey Stage and brought the Abbey Company to the United States three times as its director.

He came to the United States 12 years ago to be with his brother, William Shields, a character actor who used the name Barry Fitzgerald.

He joined James Connolly's army in the Easter Week Rebellion of 1916 and was involved in the center of battle until his capture a week later. He spent the next six months in a British prison.

After his release he was decorated by the Irish government. Shields' body was taken to Los Angeles for cremation. His ashes will be flown to Dublin for burial.

Survivors include his widow, Laurie; a daughter Christine, and a son, Adam.

The first European settlement in New Mexico was established in 1589 by Juan de Onate.

Two music majors at the College of Southern Idaho will present a public recital Friday at 8 p. m. in the Fine Arts auditorium.

Rene Butler, Hanse, a voice and piano student will play piano and Sarah Stobaugh, Twin Falls, will play bassoon.

Both young artists are sophomores at CSI and both have been seen in several college programs and productions including "Camelot" this season. Rene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Butler, and Miss Stobaugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stobaugh.

Their musical program will feature classical literature of all the periods of History. Such composers as Bach, Chopin and Galliar will be featured.

There is no admission charge and all interested students and adults are invited to attend.

'Covers' Commemorate First T.F. Jet Flight

First-day covers commemorating the first jet flight into Twin Falls are available at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce for stamp collectors and others.

The air-mail envelopes, pre-stamped with the 10-cent stamp which honored the first manned moon flight, contain a special imprinting noting that the envelope will be carried on the first jet flight into Twin Falls—when it arrives after the airport extension is completed.

A purchaser should address the envelope either to himself or to anybody wishing to commemorate the event. The envelopes will be postmarked in Twin Falls, flown to Los Angeles, picked up and returned to Boise, where the

HALEY SIGNS

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jack Haley Jr., has signed with Columbia Pictures to direct the movie version of the new Jacqueline Susann novel, "The Love Machine."

Students "Thank You" Notes Follow Article

Students from two rooms at Bickel School did their bit on Earth Day last week and a Times-News photographer went along to record the event.

Monday the students wrote thank-you notes for the publicity.

The students, from room 4 of the second grade and room 17 of the sixth grade, fanned out in the downtown area of Twin Falls and gathered sacks and sacks of refuse. Many of the students carried signs which signified their dislike of pollution and littering, and some even went to the extreme of wearing gas masks — which hindered their litter hunt just a little.

Mrs. Stephen Carter is the teacher of the second grade class and Mrs. Bill Hughes is the teacher of the sixth grade that took part in the Earth Day clean-up.

Some of the letters are reprinted here.

"Dear... I like what you did when you put me in the newspaper. I like when you put me in the newspaper two times. I liked that."

Another wrote, "Thank you for putting Bickel Schools pitcher in the newspaper because it will keep American clean. Your friend."

And another second grader wrote, "Hi. Thank you for putting the add in the paper for us because we think you helped us and we helped you."

There was one that ended, "We want to do something for you when we can."

Then there was one that read, "Thank you for putting our picture in the newspaper. Why? For coming and taking our future."

Another, "Thank you for putting us in the newspaper. Because I wanted to be in the newspaper."

A second grade girl sneaked this one by the teacher: "I want to thank you for having me on T.V. I didn't get to see myself but my mother told me all about it."

One of the best from the second grade read, "Thank you for putting the picture in the newspaper because people might look in the newspaper and see the picture and go out and puke up some litter too."

The letters were reprinted as they were submitted, the spelling unchanged.

In all there were 26 letters from room 4 of the Bickel second grade.

There were 27 letters from the sixth grade class, with all students thanking the Times-News for the publicity and many expressing their concern about littering and pollution.

Times-News Staff Writer Ruth Miller wrote the story about Earth Day and Times-News Photographer Dan Johnson took the pictures.

Confab Held Councilmen To Take City Tours

Dick W. Truscott, district representative, Modern Woodman of America, reports that the group's state ritual and rifle convention was held at Boise over the weekend.

Billy Thompson, Jerome, district 4, was named delegate to the national convention to be held in St. Paul, Minn., June 21-25. Norville Reynolds, Hansen, was elected as state head counsel.

Ban Is Asked On Containers

BOISE (UPI)—A group calling itself the Environmental Action Council filed an initiative petition with the secretary of state Tuesday, seeking to ban use of disposable, non-returnable beer and soft drink containers.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarussa said he forwarded the initial petition, which contained 20 signatures, to the attorney general.

"He has 10 days in which to provide a ballot title," Cenarussa said.

If the organization can obtain the necessary 25,300 voter signatures by July 3 the secretary of state will have to place the initiative on the November general election ballot for consideration of the electorate.

To Take City Tours

Beginning Thursday afternoon, city council members will be participating in weekly tours to inspect city facilities and operations for a better understanding of various functions.

City Manager Jean Milar said the first tour will cover city shops, water and sewer, fire and police departments. The tours will be held each week on Thursday afternoons, beginning at 4:30 p.m. and lasting about two hours.

In later programs, the city council will inspect plants and have an opportunity to talk with key personnel in the water department's booster station, reservoir and old city filter plant on the second tour; sewage treatment plant and pump station on the third; Dierke's and Shoshone Falls parks on the fourth, and on the final tour they will visit all other parks and tour the city boundaries.

Mr. Milar said efforts have been made to start the get-acquainted tours for the new council since they took office after the first of the year, but, program was held up pending better weather conditions.

About Peace In The Family

Out On The Limb

The trouble with crawling out on a limb is that you might get it cut off behind you. But anyone who makes political predictions just has to be out about as far as it is possible to go.

strongest candidates for the post are Lloyd Walker of Twin Falls and Vernon Ravenscroft of Tuttle. The way we see it is that both these men will be on the Democratic ballot in August.

Careless Talk

The suggestion is made by a British doctor — a bachelor, doubtably — that wives should be given a day off every week. During that grim day husbands or "someone else" should look after the children, shop and houseclean, he says.

This is the sort of careless talk that could tumble the most perfect division of labor yet devised by men. Right now there are enough men wearing dishpan hands and pushing shopping carts to indicate the system is already tottering.

MR. SPECTATOR

Most Everything Changes

Mr. Spectator didn't realize it until just the other day but most everything changes. Well, this statement isn't quite right. Like all of you folks he does really know that things change — he just hadn't stopped to think of it for quite a spell.

concerns in second and third place respectively — namely PepsiCo (Pepsi-Cola) and Royal Crown Cola are not standing still. Remember Pepsi's "The Taste That Beats The Others Cold"?

WASHINGTON — I suppose the explanation of an obscure New York state legislator as to why he changed his mind and voted for one of the most liberal abortion laws in the nation tells as well as anything what's wrong with this pathetic Republic.

seeking endorsement for reelection by the Cayuga County Democratic committee, Michaels told an impassioned story of his daughter's intervention.

In short, like so many American parents, Michaels permitted himself to be intimidated by one of his kids. There is, of course, nothing much new in this.

important issue on his relationship with his daughter. It is not the intention here to debate the rights and wrongs of New York state's new law, which permits a woman to have an abortion for virtually any reason up to 24 weeks of pregnancy.

not only is fun but both respectable and chic. (The term "free" certainly is apt in the cases of most of our untidy youth. I'm sure they couldn't sell it. Indeed, many of them suggest by their manner that they couldn't manage the act.)

"For the Benefit of Mankind, You Should Slow Up!"

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK Trouble With Thieu

SAIGON — A gnawing fear has developed among a wide spectrum of U. S. officials in Vietnam that the remarkable progress in suppressing the Vietcong insurgency the past two years could be crushed by the political ineptitude of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

closest political advisor. The recent hand-handed political decisions made by Thieu are blamed partly on Thang's advice. The worst of these blunders was Thieu's prosecution on security charges of opposition deputy Tran Ngoc Chau, perfect fuel for charges of dictatorship from the American peace bloc.

disaster. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, staunchest supporter of Thieu in the official U. S. community, personally urged him to back away from the Chau case. Thieu replied that he could not offend military elements clamoring for Chau's scalp.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Bone Disease

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 11-year-old daughter has Osgood-Schlatter's disease. What causes this and how common is it? How much should I restrict her activities? Can too much activity cause permanent damage? Does a child "outgrow" this disease when reaching full growth? Does the severity vary from person to person? — R. W.

found soon enough, and skin cancer can be found early because it can be seen. (With the Pap smear, cancer of the cervix is now very highly curable, because the smear test detects it very early.) You see, cancer is a matter of cells starting to "go wild." They begin multiplying much more rapidly than normal cells, so in time a lump or growth of some sort develops.

PAUL HARVEY Negative Side

Nobody wins wars anymore. Could wars have been less honorable yet more honest in the days when the victor vanquished his adversary, smashed his weapons, stole his gold and carried off his women?

Americans! They do this one. Customs cannot examine every inbound mail shipment, but one day in the one port of San Francisco they did open everything. They found 62 weapons and 9 grenades. This indicates that rifles, pistols and packages of explosives are being mailed home by GIs, hundreds each week.

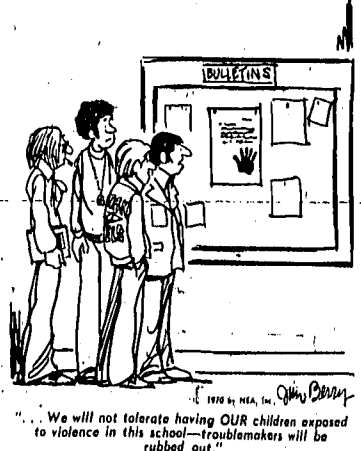

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write an article on skin cancer. Is it curable? I have a very dear relative who has just been told she has skin cancer on her face. — Mrs. F. O.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that eating clams can cause hepatitis? We are wondering if there is some way to tell "good" clams from "bad" ones. — P. K.

THE PERCENT The 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge will expire in little more than a month, but taxes on the local and state levels will take up the slack.

CONFEDERACY DOLLAR An appropriate footnote to the current story of the South's rise again in political importance popped up the other day under a Yankee dateline.

BERRY'S WORLD

SIX-YEAR-OLD Mike Miller inspects the eye chart and shows he knows how to signal the direction in which the "E" letters point before taking the eye test. Mrs. Winston Jones, volunteer of the Delta Gamma Alumnae, assists in the test. Members of the Junior Club and Delta Gamma are conducting the free eyesight clinics for pre-school students this week at the "Y" building. No appointments are necessary and the session runs through Friday.

PLAYING GAMES LETS the volunteer worker, Mrs. James Evans of the Twin Falls Newcomers Club, know Ginger Smedley can hear properly. Each time the beeper sounds, fainter and fainter, the child drops a toy into the box. The hearing and sight clinics at the "Y" building are open to all preschoolers 3 years old and older, to help prepare them for school classes or to uncover minor defects that can be corrected by local eye and ear doctors before the child begins school next fall.

A SNOW FORT in the middle of a nice, green lawn? Yes. This picture was captured just before the snow storm Tuesday. Before you say? Yes. It snowed Sunday, too, but melted quickly, taking almost everything "cold-wise" except this fort at 403 Third

Ave. N. With Tuesday's cold weather and snow, children were back at play here, smoothing over the ravages of warm weather and preparing for another battle with the neighborhood gang. Parents have mixed emotions about the weather, with many fathers in favor of it because the snowballs made by the children also pick up the sticks and leaves on the lawn, leaving little spring work for the head of the house.

County Treasurer Seeks Re-Election

Twin Falls County Treasurer Ruth K. Jones Wednesday announced plans to seek re-election to the office as a candidate in the August primary election for Democratic nomination.

Mrs. Jones will be seeking her fourth full term in office, having served since her appointment in 1963. She has been re-elected in 1964, 1966 and 1968 on the Democratic ticket.

A graduate of the Kimberly high school, she is a life-long resident of Twin Falls County and also is a graduate of the Twin Falls Business University. She began work in the tax field in 1945, and for 18 years before her appointment as county treasurer, worked as a county deputy assessor, under Republican officeholders.

Mrs. Jones is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and presently serves as finance chairman. She also is a YMCA member and a member of the Methodist Church.

The widow of the late Roy E. Jones, she has one son, Lefty (Whitey) Jones, also a Twin Falls resident.

Mrs. Jones said if re-elected she can promise the same conscientious and courteous service her staff has provided over the past seven years. During the past few years many procedure changes have been adopted in the county office to benefit the tax paying public and a number of systems have been streamlined.

In the coming year the treasurer's office will be adopting a program for handling an additional half-million dollars in tax collections as a result of the legislative action transferring the collection of all personal property taxes to the treasurer's offices.

Writer Wants Movie-Type Ratings Placed On Stories In Newspapers

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the great problems that newspaper editors all over the country are grappling with these days is the treatment of f— letter words.

Earlier this month, for example, I attended a meeting of the Ohio UPI Editors Association. The program included a panel discussion on "freedom and responsibility," which sounds like a rather high-minded topic.

As it turned out, however, the panelists spend most of the period on the f— letter word issue.

More and more, it was noted, the old Anglo-Saxon expletives are being uttered in public places by prominent persons. How should a newspaper deal with them if they have a direct bearing on the event being reported?

Methods of Dealing. Ignore them entirely? Quote them verbatim? Substitute dashes (—) or other euphemisms? Or merely report that a vulgar expression was employed, without further identification?

Good arguments were advanced for each, and I found myself agreeing with them all. Which probably is one reason why I never got to be an editor.

Another reason I never got to be an editor is that if I were an editor, I'm afraid I would solve the problem the same way Jack Valenti of the Motion Picture Association solved the problem.

I wouldn't be able to decide what, if anything, to cut out of a news story. So I would leave it up to the reader to decide if was something he should read. In other words, I would adopt a news rating system.

All of the items in the paper would be marked "G," "GP," "R" or "X." This is how the guidelines would work.

The Guidelines
"G" — General Readership: Under this category would come engagement announcements, lists of people attending the Rotary Club picnic and other items that you never read unless they happen to mention your name.

"GP" — Parental Guidance Suggested: These are items that the average parent won't understand unless he has some guidance. They include stories about rock concerts, campus rebellions and gurus.

"R" — Restricted: These items are restricted to readers who are only interested in sex. Examples would include a San Francisco cable car accident or a congressional speech urging the impeachment of Justice Douglas.

"X" — An interview with Yippie leader Jerry Rubin with all of the juicy parts X'd out.

Lindbergh Lauds Fight To Protect Resources

TOKYO (UPI)—Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, an American called the "Lone Eagle" in a simpler time, said Monday he is pleased modern youth has joined the once lonely fight to preserve the world's resources. "The rate of destruction on the surface of this planet is literally alarming," said the man who in 1927 made the first nonstop solo trans-Atlantic flight from New York to Paris. "It could easily result in the destruction of our civilization."

Lindbergh, who claims not to have given a press interview in 15 years, met with three newsmen at the U.S. Embassy for what he smilingly said was a "discussion" rather than an interview.

The subject was whales. "The destruction of whales is a typical and spectacular example of the depletion of the world's natural resources," said Lindbergh, now 68 and white haired. His son, Jon, an oceanographer, was at his side.

When the younger Lindbergh left the room briefly his father called after him: "Jon, will you get back here as soon as you can because you're the expert here."

Despite his known reticence with newsmen, the general spoke knowledgeably and with obvious concern about the destruction of several species of one of the great mammals of the world.

"The blue whale and the humpback whale are on the edge of extermination," said the general, adding that most scientists believe there still are enough of them left to breed to avoid their extinction.

"The blue whale is the largest mammal on earth," he said. "It would be a tragedy if we permitted its destruction through lack of discipline."

He said scientists estimate there are only 500 to 1,000 blue whales left in the world.

"Ocean resources are of fundamental value to mankind," said Lindbergh, who is director of the World Wildlife Fund and active in other conservation causes.

He said that because of the world's fast-rising population it is vital to protect whales as a source of oil and meat.

Idaho's Fruit Growers Need Electric Blanket

FRUITLAND, Idaho (UPI)—Turnabout weather that has no respect for the calendar is creating a record-year-for orchard heating in the Fruitland-Payette-Ermett growing district.

Hai Harvey, agricultural meteorologist assigned to forecasting duties in the district each spring by the U.S. Weather Bureau, said today there have been 22 nights of heating since March 19.

That figure ties the season record set in 1968 between March 16 and May 6, according to statistics compiled since 1947, Harvey said. And, he added, heating still is continuing in the district.

So far, fruitgrowers have been able to control damage pretty well in the heated areas—except for the edge of the orchards—despite chills and considerable wind. This is due in part to a minimum of extremely dry nights and a lack of wind when it might blow away orchard heat.

But the peculiar, somewhat topsy-turvy weather is having other effects—including a possible lack of pollination which now is beginning to worry many growers, Harvey said.

"Cool temperatures and wind have kept bee activity to a minimum," he said, and even Precipitation, meantime, was well above normal from Jan. 10-27. At Boise for instance, precipitation during the month of January was more than 2.5 inches above normal.

This cloudy, moist and warm weather helped set the stage for the unusual conditions that followed.

In February, daytime temperatures for the first six days were in the low 40's. Then they climbed into the 50's and even low 60's. On Feb. 27, the mercury hit 64 degrees at Emmett.

As a result of the first two months, soil temperatures did not drop as they should have and when the warm weather hit the heat went to the root level.

Power Firms Form Environmental Group To Fix Guidelines On New Generating Facilities

BOISE — Idaho Power Co. announced Wednesday that major electric utility systems of the western U. S. and Canada have formed an "Environmental Policy Committee" to fix guidelines for siting new generating plants and aesthetic treatment of other facilities they must install to supply future regional energy needs.

Company president Albert Carlsen said the Western Systems Coordinating Council created the committee because "the adequacy of future power supplies can be adversely affected by unsolved environmental problems that could delay needed projects."

"The committee is charged with development of workable procedures directed toward achieving early resolution of environmental questions, and this will aid in timely addition of resources and help maintain reliability and adequacy of electric service to customers," he added.

WSCC, which Idaho Power helped form, is composed of 17 power companies and 21 government-operated systems in 13 western states and western Canada. Their systems are interconnected for the purpose of exchanging power between the systems and between regions.

With plants having 57 million kilowatts of generating capacity, it is the largest coordinated power system in the world. WSCC also conducts long-range planning for scheduling of new generating plants and transmission circuits.

Carlsen said the new WSCC committee will be composed of 12 utility representatives and eight non-utility representatives from organizations active in the environmental field, the academic community and government agencies and regulatory commissions. The representatives will be named soon.

Wendell Smith (1914 Amber), Idaho Power environmental affairs director, fish biologist and recreationalist, is expected to work closely with the committee, Carlsen said.

"The Environmental Policy Committee will provide a forum for development of environmental concepts and recommendations to aid member systems. This will help the industry give full consideration to these matters at the planning stage of future projects," Carlsen stated.

Wendell Sets Talent Show

WENDELL — A talent show will be sponsored by the Junior Class on May 9 according to Mrs. Pat Mathers, class adviser.

Entries will be accepted from all students enrolled in junior high, high school students, faculty members and parents of the students. No entry fee will be charged. Contestants may register with debi Gilbert in one of seven categories which include musical selections: vocal, instrumental, dance routines, skit presentations, humorous readings, serious interpretations, poetry, and miscellaneous.

Pirates Snap Cubs' Winning Skin At 11

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Manny Sanguen slammed two homers and batted in three runs Tuesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates ended the Chicago Cubs' 11-game winning streak with a 6-1 victory.

Sanguen gave the Pirates a 2-0 lead in the first inning with a 425-foot blast over the left center field wall and triggered a three-run sixth inning with a solo homer in nearly the same spot.

The Cubs had won 11 in a row, matching their longest streak since 1945, when they beat the Pirates on an error by Sanguen.

Admiral's Shield Gets Derby Start, Winning Trial Stakes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Admiral's Shield, badly outgun in the Blue Grass Stakes five days ago, staged a strong stretch run at Churchill Downs Tuesday to capture the $15,000 added Derby Trial Stakes and win back a starting berth in Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

After racing far back in the pack until he reached the final quarter of the race, he reached the start of the stretch, then swinging a little to the outside to find racing room, Admiral's Shield outgamed George Lewis, the favorite, to win by a length.

Panicum Repens was third, but he struggled home seven lengths farther back. Then came High Echelon, who will start in the Kentucky Derby as an entry with highly-regarded Personality. High Echelon trailed the field until he reached the stretch and then weaved between horses under the guidance of jockey Larry Adams with an impressive finish.

Supreme Quality was fifth, followed by Fifth Market, Fathom, Air Song, Native Royalty and Frank 'N Jesse. Jim Nichols rode Admiral's Shield for the first time, replacing Stanley Spencer, a 20-year-old who had been riding the colt. Trainer Harry Vanier said before the race that he had engaged Nichols for the Derby Trial and the Kentucky Derby because "we wanted the services of a veteran rider."

Admiral's Shield was timed in 1:37.15 for the mile race and paid $42.00, $10.20 and $6.60. George Lewis returned $3.20 and $3.00 and Panicum Repens paid $7.80.

It was an encouraging race for Vanier and owner W.C. Robinson, who plans to start the colt in the Kentucky Derby if he cools out satisfactorily. The same was true of George Lewis and High Echelon, but there was little chance that any of the others would start in the big race.

Fathom's seventh place finish dashed any hopes that Diane Crump would be the first woman jockey to ride in the Kentucky Derby. She gave it a big try and had Fathom up with Supreme Quality and George Lewis as those two battled for the early lead. But Fathom ran out of gas halfway around the final turn.

Bill Hartack rode George Lewis and despite vicious left-handed whipping by the jockey, George Lewis could not match the closing punch of the winner.

Haywood Named ABA's Most Valuable Player

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Rookie sensation Spencer Haywood, hero of the gold-medal winning U.S. team in the Mexico Olympics, Tuesday was named the American Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player for 1969-70 by an unanimous vote.

Haywood, who helped lift the Denver Rockets from last place to the regular season Eastern Division title, received 97 of a possible 100 points to easily outdistance Rick Barry of the Washington Caps, who had 48 points.

The voting was conducted among 20 members of the United States Basketball Writers' Association in conjunction with the ABA. Each writer made five selections for MVP with the top choice getting five points, second four points, third three points, fourth two points and fifth one point.

Haywood, who earlier in the day was officially cited as the ABA's scoring champion, received 17 of the 20 first-place ballots, according to Dave Overpeck of the Indianapolis Star, chairman of the selection committee. Roger Brown of the Indiana Pacers received two first-place votes and Indiana teammate Mel Daniels one.

L.A. Public Official Is Tagged By Killer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Five men allegedly equipped with an arsenal of submachineguns and a grenade launcher were arrested Tuesday and one of them was charged with trying to engineer the murder of a prominent Los Angeles public official.

Police Chief Edward M. Davis refused to reveal the identity of the intended victim except to disclose that he was an elected official and a citizen of Los Angeles.

The five men arrested, all whites, ranged in age from 33 to 50. Police said they were not linked with any known militant group so far as was immediately known. All of them were arrested at their homes.

Davis said the criminal conspiracy section of the police department had been conducting an investigation into the conspiracy for the past month and that the arrests were made Tuesday in the San Fernando Valley area.

"During the course of the investigation, one of the arrestees attempted to bribe an undercover officer for the purpose of murdering a prominent citizen of the City of Los Angeles," Davis said. "The district attorney's office has advised that the name of the intended victim be withheld at this time."

Police would say only that the alleged assassination victim was "an elected public official."

FBI Cooperated

The Federal Bureau of Investigation cooperated fully in the case, Davis said.

Police said most of the weapons were of foreign make. They included a North Korea submachinegun, a Russian submachinegun, an M2 carbine and a Danish machinegun, a German Schneisser submachinegun and another of Japanese make.

In the raid on the site in the San Fernando Valley, police also found the grenade launcher, quantities of marijuana and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Robert Schurman of Topanga, Calif., was charged with soliciting to commit murder.

Charged with illegal possession of machine guns were George Ross Clemens, Canoga Park; Bill Mezey, Canoga Park; the owner of the Custom Gunshop; Darell J. Tatemam, Canoga Park; and Marco Hanson, Canoga Park.

FCC Terminates Wire Service News Rates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission Tuesday terminated special rates on telegraph and teletype lines leased by news organizations. The order, ending seven years of proceedings, is effective in 50 days.

The FCC affirmed an examiner's conclusion last year that requiring news services to pay the same rates as other users "will not impair the widespread dissemination of news."

The FCC directed American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union Telegraph Co., which lease lines to the news services at prices below the rates for non-news users, to file appropriate new schedules within 90 days.

The commission noted, in a 6-1 decision, that United Press International and Associated Press have developed new communications systems. Elimination of the press rates for the two main wire services, therefore, "will have only a minimal impact," the FCC said.

It said the so-called supplemental news services are each operated by "a much larger corporate enterprise" and the added cost would "represent an insignificant part of the overall operating expenses of the rental companies."

The commission said AT&T and Western Union have realized "unreasonably low earnings" from private line telegraph services and their rates for all users, including the press, are inadequate.

The commission said the press introduced little proof that an increase in private lines would curtail news services.

The ruling also eliminates lower rates for part-time leasing privileges, lower night rates and other clock-hour rate differences advocated by the press.

Douglas' Records Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee investigating possible impeachment of Justice William O. Douglas said Tuesday that it would like to see Douglas' personal records in addition to all Federal records on him.

Douglas had offered the special five-man investigating panel subcommittee complete access to his own records, including personal files and Supreme Court papers.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., subcommittee chairman, told reporters his committee not only would like to see Douglas' personal papers but already has asked President Nixon for authorization to examine Federal files "relative to malfeasance or misconduct" by Douglas.

These include, he said, records of the Justice Department, Internal Revenue Service, the Securities and Exchange Commission, Douglas once headed, and records of "any other departments that may have pertinent information concerning Justice Douglas."

Records of the California-based Parvin Foundation, with which Douglas was associated for some years, also would be sought, Celler said. Douglas resigned a $12,000-a-year post as president and director of the foundation last year after Justice Abe Fortas came under fire for association with another foundation and quit the court.

Celler said the subcommittee would collect accounts of "the charges and accusations from all sources" that have been made against Douglas, including those made on the House floor by Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and those of 115 House members who sponsored a resolution calling for the resignation of Douglas.

The panel will next "collate and evaluate" the evidence and begin taking testimony of witnesses—probably in open session, Celler said. He estimated the record search would be completed in about 10 days.

Violence Flares In Trucking

By United Press International

Violence in Chicago coupled with the failure of Federal mediators to get talks begun in Chicago marked the stalemate of strikes by almost 75,000 truckers across the nation Tuesday.

St. Louis Mayor Alfonso Cervantes invited Harold Gibbons, International Teamsters vice president, and Mitchell Campbell, secretary of the Motor Carriers Council, to a meeting Friday in an attempt to settle the dispute that has left 90,000 people in his area out of work.

A trucking terminal at Woodville, Ohio, closed Tuesday after a driver was shot Monday. Trucks were also shot at in the Cleveland area in both Muskingum and Hamilton counties.

No other injuries were reported, but many trucks in Ohio, where 12,600 truckers are off work, were reported to have had tires slashed and windows broken.

"Ohio is suffering intolerably from this strike," Ohio Attorney General Paul W. Brown said in his appeal for federal intervention. "Commerce is being throttled. Millions of dollars are being lost in wages. There is bloodshed on the highways. The safety of the citizens is in jeopardy."

Famous Character Actor Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Veteran character actor Ed Begley, who won an Oscar for best supporting actor in 1962, died Tuesday night of an apparent heart attack while attending a party. He was 69.

Begley was at the home of his publicist Jay Burnstein, when he collapsed while eating dinner. A Fire Department spokesman said attempts to revive him failed.

He later entered television and appeared in scores of shows including, "My Three Sons," "Ben Casey," "New Breed," "The Defenders," "The Virginian," "Wagon Train," "Dick Van Dyke," and "Invaders."

When Begley entered motion pictures, he originally was cast as the heavy and it was not until after he won his Academy Award for his appearance in "Sweet Bird of Youth" that he lost his type cast.

It was his "heavy" portrayal of Boss Finley, a hostile, grossly disliked Southern politician in "Sweet Bird of Youth" that won him the award.

Begley also was an accomplished Broadway actor and won acclaim for his performances in "Twelve Angry Men" and "Patricia," both later made into motion pictures.

It was in the film version of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" that Begley finally shed his heavy image. He played the boozing, singing and dancing father of costar Debbie Reynolds and was acclaimed as a song and dance man.

Survivors include his wife, Helen, who was with him at the party, and a daughter and son by a previous marriage.

Special Weeks Detailed

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Don Samuelson has issued proclamations setting dates for Nutrition Week, National Music Week and Elks National Youth Week.

Nutrition Week, May 1-7, was set in conjunction with a meeting of the Idaho Dietetic Association, which will be held in Moscow May 1-2.

The group will discuss implementation of findings of the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health.

Samuelson said National Music Week, May 3-10, should remind Idahoans that "the pursuit of music, whether it be through study, composing, listening, performing or participation, gives rich experiences in human life."

During Elks National Youth Week, beginning May 1, members of Elks Lodges of the state will honor junior citizens for their achievements and contributions to their communities.

Militant Group Detained

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A "Peace Brigade" of students Tuesday headed off a band of militants attempting to storm the Navy ROTC building on the University of California campus.

The anti-ROTC demonstrators throw some rocks at police guarding the building but turned away when a crowd of students shouted "No rocks," "No bloodbath." Thirty members of the Peace Brigade stationed themselves between the 200 protesters and the police.

A short time later teargas was used to break up a group of 25 demonstrators who attacked police on another part of the campus. Officers who had arrested 20 young persons were attacked by the others. They responded by firing several canisters of teargas.

But the stand of the Peace Brigade backed by most of the crowd on the scene, apparently dissuaded the rioters from a clash with police at the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps building.

The Scribner publishing house will release a novel of Hemingway's, "Islands In The Stream" in September. The book was completed before the author's death in 1961 but never submitted for publication. Little Change Noted For Catholic Weddings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has loosened only slightly the Roman Catholic Church's restrictions on mixed marriages of Catholics and non-Catholics, and partners of other faiths, it was announced Tuesday.

The new rules, announced by the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, abandon the requirement that at the non-Catholic party to a marriage promise in advance to let the children be reared as Catholics.

But the new rules still require the Catholic partner to promise that he will "do all in his power to have all the children baptized and grow up in the Catholic Church."

They provide that the non-Catholic party be "informed of these promises which the Catholic party has to make, so that it is clear that he is cognizant of the promise and obligation on the part of the Catholic."

The net effect of the change is that the non-Catholic partner is no longer compelled to make a promise of his own which might consider a violation of his conscience, but is made aware that he will be forcing his mate to violate a solemn promise unless he goes along with the Catholic upbringing of the children.

The new rules, issued March 31, by the Pope in a 2,400-word letter entitled "Matrimonia Mixta" and effective Oct. 1, are more likely to irritate than to placate Protestants who have long felt affronted by the Vatican's position on mixed marriages.

The revised instructions were to have been made public on Thursday but were released by the conference here Tuesday when they were published in violation of the embargo.

Protestants had hoped that the Pope would eliminate any strictures on child-rearing in

Worst Fire In History Of Cheyenne Recorded

CHEYENNE (UPI)—"The worst fire in this city's recent history flared up in a lumber yard Tuesday, was whipped by wind into an inferno the size of a square block and razed two businesses, destroyed two homes and damaged several others."

"This is one of the biggest, if not the biggest we've ever had in Cheyenne," said one fireman. "Damage is going to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars."

The blaze, fed by winds gusting to 45 miles per hour, sprang from the lumber yard, raced through a coal yard and then began to engulf old, wooden-frame homes. It moved from house to house like a forest fire through a stand of trees.

Firemen, using every available piece of equipment in the city, poured hundreds of gallons of water on an elementary school across the street from the blaze.

The children were hurried from the building during the lunch hour when the first, black billows of smoke began to pour from the lumber yard.

Firemen and police raced through the homes near the fire evacuating residents, who then rushed back to save what belongings they could.

Families carried furniture, mattresses, bedding heirlooms and pets into the street. Several homeowners grabbed garden hoses and began spraying their houses.

Mrs. Lillian Ware, a widow with four children, lost the home she had lived in for 23 years. It stood beside the coal yard. She said the fire came down a phone line to the house and firemen told her to leave. She said she salvaged a television set, two chairs, an organ, several dresser drawers and "just the clothes on her back."

Her son, Vaughn, held his

Election Booklets Ready

BOISE (UPI)—The 1970 election law booklets are off the presses and will be distributed to each of the voting precincts in Idaho, secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa said Tuesday.

"We are providing seven copies to each precinct," he said. "The booklets contain all the election laws in effect this year except those concerning voting machines."

Cenarrusa said his office must provide for rules and regulations for operation of voting machines.

"We're in the process of writing those rules and regulations now," he said. "These rules and regulations will have the effect of law."

"We are going to provide an additional leaflet covering voting machines. There are three counties this year that are going to operate voting machines—Bannock, Twin Falls and Latah."

Idaho First National Bank Named Trustee

BOISE (UPI)—The Public Employee Retirement Board Tuesday announced selection of Idaho First National Bank as an additional trustee to manage the system's benefit funds.

"The decision to employ two trustees to hold and invest monies on behalf of members of the system was made several months ago and based on the desire of the retirement board to obtain maximum investment performance," said T.F. Terrell, executive director.

"Action could not be taken until legal authority was provided and this was accomplished by board-sponsored legislation at the second session of the 40th legislature."

Completing its fifth year of operation on June 30, the retirement system covers approximately 28,000 public employees of the state, public schools, counties, cities and other political subdivisions.

Assets of the system now exceed $50 million with revenues derived from investment income in addition to employee and employer contributions. Benefits paid to 3,500 retired members and beneficiaries in the current fiscal year will approach $5 million.

Board Chairman Marshall Edson, Boise, said the board is confident Idaho First National's appointment will complement future investment goals.

Idaho's Mental Fund Revealed

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Mental Retardation Facility Advisory Council tied up Idaho's $100,000 1969 federal allotment Tuesday in facilities at Pocatello and Coeur d'Alene.

The council's recommendations, which will go to the State Board of Health for approval, were to give $60,500 to the mental retardation portion of the Coeur d'Alene Child Development Center, with the remaining $39,500 to go to the Gateway Human Development Center in Pocatello.

The council also moved to apply for additional funds from Utah to avoid allocation of Idaho's 1970 share.

Appeals Filed For Five Of Six Youths In Drug Cases

RUPERT — Appeals have been filed for five of the six teenagers sentenced by District Judge Sherman Bellwood to the "state penitentiary on drug charges. Herman Bedke, public defender, filed the appeal to the State supreme court on behalf of five of the six youths sentenced April 1. County Clerk August Bethke said he had not heard from Dean Kloepper, attorney for Daryl Rentz, Paul to know if he will appeal the sentence or not. Mr. Bedke was the court-appointed counsel for Roy Hull, Burley; Claude (Bucky) Bronson, Anna Lee Bronson and Roman Garza, all Paul, and Garth Bean, Rupert.

Pioneer Banquet Is Set May 8 At Burley

BURLEY — The public is invited to the Pioneer Banquet at 7:15 p. m. May 8 at Ponderosa Inn. Tickets are now on sale for the event by Jay-C-Ettes. The banquet will honor the pioneers of the county, and special invitations have been mailed to the pioneers.

The event will kick-off the "100 Years of Progress" celebration and will feature speaker, Orval Hansen, U. S. Representative; H. Max Bruce, historical trails; and entertainment by the Old Time Fiddlers and the Bell Cantos. During the evening the pioneers will select the Frontier Girl who will reign over the "100 Years of Progress" events planned throughout the summer.

During the committee meeting it was reported that the Frontier Girl finalists will be to Boise, May 4 when the governor will officially designate May 8 as a day to honor Cassia County Pioneers.

Cleanup Set

FAIRFIELD — Members of the Curmus club with the help of the Curmus County schools and other organizations are planning a town cleanup on May 12. School will be dismissed during the afternoon to let the children help. People with pickups and adult chaperones are needed to assist, according to Mrs. Richard Dalin, chairman.

DIETRICH — "Theme from Home and Juliet" will be the theme for the Dietrich Junior Prom to be held at 9 p. m. Friday, in the Dietrich School Gymnasium. The Devries will play.

Twin Falls Woman Heads District BPW

HALLEY — A Twin Falls woman, Mrs. Vera Hauch, was unanimously elected as district director during the 1970 spring meeting of the South Central District of Business and Professional Women in Halley Sunday.

Mrs. Hauch fills the vacancy left by the expiring term of Mrs. Roberta McKercher, Halley. Other officers elected include Elizabeth Greene, Rupert, first vice director; Dee Marlow, Buhl, second vice director; and appointee Ina Knox, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer. Officers were installed during a candle-lighting ceremony conducted by BPW state president Helen Lucke, Gooding. Prior to the election and installation, the 88 delegates representing clubs in Buhl, Gooding, Burley, Jerome, Rupert, Sun Valley, and Twin Falls as well as visitors from other area districts, received fabric tote bags prepared by the hostess Sun Valley club. A meal was served at the Hiway Hotel, with Rev. William Kelly, Ketchum Presbyterian Church, offering the devotional. Halley Mayor Lawrence Heagle, welcomed members to the city, and Sun Valley president Eola Marvinkle welcomed the delegates on behalf of the hosting group. President Lucke noted the Idaho Federation of BPW now boasts 1,100 members, with the ensuing membership drive ending May 31. She reminded delegates of Pocatello June 4 to 7, and of the national convention in Hawaii July 18 to 28. The Twin Falls club will host the fall convention for the South Central District. Chairmen included Mary Allen, January; Alice Boyles, February; Winnie Brooks, March; Wilma Buhler, April; Mildred Campbell, May; Norma Fica, June; Lucile Friedman, July; Ruth Helen Gardner, August; Carolyn Ramsey, September; Marge McCoy, October; Elizabeth Neyman, November; and Marilyn Burrows, December. Each table reflected the special events for that particular month.

County's Lack Of Truant Officer Blamed For Absenteeism At Hansen

Attendance officer services for Twin Falls County Schools continue to pose problems between school and county administrative officials, with the latest complaint coming from Hansen School Supt. William C. Barnard.

In a letter to Probate Judge Eugene McCoy, Superintendent Barnard said this school year has been the worst for Hansen in absenteeism, and the matter is becoming more and more serious.

County officials discontinued a budget for truant officer services some three years ago leaving the responsibility to the schools. Several meetings by superintendents of all schools in the county with county commissioners have since been held in an effort to have the county reinstate the service. The $13,000 estimate for the first year would include the price of an automobile with radio equipment plus salary and travel costs for the truant officer.

Spelling Winners Listed

SHOSHONE — County winners in the American Legion-sponsored spelling contest were reported today. Cmdr. Robert Lewin was master of ceremonies at the spelling bee Monday night in the Lincoln school auditorium here. Judges were Supt. Neil Anderson, Richfield; Wayne Ferron, Dietrich; and Jack Bowlin, principal. Assisting were Harry Eden and Herb Love.

Winners for grades 1 and 2 were Tommy Bettia, Shoshone, first; Sydney Durfee, Dietrich, second; Sharon Magoffin, Shoshone, third, Grades 3 and 4: Donna Pierson, Shoshone, first; Tom Dallas, Shoshone, first; Lorrinda Knowles, Dietrich, second; Mary Lezantz, Richfield, third.

High school: Julie Hawes, Richfield, first; Patricia Saras, Shoshone, second, and Jim Messery, Dietrich, third. The contest will be held at Richfield next year, since Miss Hawes was the last contestant standing. Certificates were issued to winners.

Shoshone Trustees Confirm Decision

SHOSHONE — At the budget hearing held by the Shoshone school board, trustees again confirmed their stand to rehire Jack Bowlin as elementary principal and not to divulge the entire recommendation report from the State Board of Education regarding the teacher-principal conflict at the elementary school.

In a vote on the matter of revoking the entire report, Wayne Sorenson voted to have the report read and received a round of applause from the more than 50 school patrons present at the meeting held at the high school study hall. Voting against reading the entire report were Herbert Forbes, Dr. E. D. Saras and Elmer I. Terry.

Waldo Jones, board chairman, stated the report was favored information to the school board and referred to Idaho State which allowed them to keep the information from the school patrons. Parents in the audience asked the board how long the persons who are sitting in Mr. Bowlin's class each day now, taking notes on his teaching, will be allowed to be there-stating they felt this interfered with the student's learning.

The budget of $200,027 will be acted upon later. Only objection to the budget was by some of the patrons who said the $25,000 emergency fund, a carryover, is unnecessary and asked that the surplus be eliminated from the budget.

Burley Will Host Gem Library Meet

BURLEY — Between 300 and 400 librarians, trustees and Friends of the Library members are expected to attend the Idaho Librarians Association conference at the Ponderosa Inn here Thursday through Saturday.

Registration is slated for Saturday morning in the lobby of the convention center with a showing of the film, "The Hottest Spot in Town" at 10 a.m. in the Teton Room.

The first general session opens at 2 p.m. with Mary Fall Bollinger, IIA president, in charge and Mayor J. G. Robertson welcoming delegates. Gerald Shields, editor of American Libraries magazine, will give the keynote address and a panel discussion on the "Library Division's Plan for the Seventies" will be moderated by Warren Owens with Robert Bruce, Twin Falls, and David Loertscher as members.

Other speakers include Dr. Eunice Wallace, Boise State College, who will address the Thursday evening banquet session at which awards will be given.

Friday speakers include Barbara Fowler, University of Idaho; Mr. Shields; Helen Miller, Idaho State librarian; Sarah McDuffie, Potlatch Forest Industries, and Richard Elliott, College of Idaho. Division meetings will be held for school libraries, public libraries and college and special libraries.

The Antique Festival Theatre, Buhl, will present

William Lanting Seeks Re-Election

Speaker of the House of Representatives, William J. Lanting, Republican, Hollister, announces he will seek the nomination and re-election as State Representative from Legislative District No. 24, which generally comprises the west side of Twin Falls County.

Mr. Lanting is a veteran legislator, presently serving his sixth term in the Idaho Legislature. He served from 1963-1967 as majority floor leader and since then has served as speaker.

"I will, if re-elected, continue to serve the interests of my district and county to the best of my ability. I shall try at all times to be responsive to the needs and general welfare of the citizens of Twin Falls County and the state of Idaho," he said.

Speaker Lanting has served as co-chairman of the Legislative Council the past six years, and is presently vice chairman of the executive committee of the Council of State Governments, and served as chairman of the Western Conference of the Council of State Governments in 1968.

He is a former Filer school board member, director and president of Salmon River Canal Company, and director of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: After my eighth baby was born, I asked my doctor to "tie my tubes" so I wouldn't have any more children. It's nothing new. Lots of women have it done.

Well, that was two years ago, and yesterday my husband came home and announced that he had gone down to the doctor's office and had his tubes tied! It sure sounds to me like there's another woman in his life.

Maybe I'm just dumb, but I can't understand why HE had to have that done when there was no danger of getting ME pregnant.

Do you think he's off his rocker, or just plain don't like kids. Please don't use my name. Four of my kids can read.

"OVER BEARING"

DEAR OVEH: No matter what your husband's faults may be, "gambling" isn't one of them.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FLAT AS A PANCAKE": Don't be disappointed in your measurements. I am stationed on Okinawa now, and the average chest size for a fully-developed woman here is 27 inches. So, cheer up! Age will help.

Respectfully,
A "GI" IN THE PACIFIC

DEAR "GI": Thanks for the comforting words for "FLAT" and all her flat sisters. It's good to know that our men in the Pacific are so compassionate, informed—and observing.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 14 years old and I have a problem. All my friends call me "conceited." I'm not really, but they think I am because I can't pass a mirror without looking at myself.

So what can I do about myself, Abby? Do you think I'm conceited or not?
NOT CONCEITED

DEAR NOT: Looking at one's self in the mirror does not necessarily indicate that you ADMIRE yourself. Perhaps you lack self-confidence and are seeking constant reassurance. Try to pass a mirror without looking into it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for "CAN'T SLEEP" whose conscience is bothering her over her neglect of an elderly mother, recently deceased.

Go to the nearest Old Folks home and take on a "mother" or even a "mother and father." Do for them what you wish you'd have done for your own. Think how much pleasure a ride on a sunny day, a small gift or even a bouquet of flowers would mean to the elderly, "forgotten-by-family" people who are in these homes. If you can't "take them out," you can go and talk with them, and listen to them reminisce. You will gain a lot. I know. I've tried it and it works. It's fun! [Sign me] CAN SLEEP

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 49700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Tribute Given During Burley DAR Meeting

BURLEY — A tribute was paid to the late Mrs. John Burgess, a charter member of John Day Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, during a meeting of the local chapter at home of Mrs. M. H. Manning.

Mrs. Frank Redfield read a tribute to Mrs. Burgess, written by Helen Steiner Rice, and reported on the funeral services.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for future meetings. It was announced a no-host covered dish luncheon will be held at 1 p. m. May 4 at the home of Mrs. Jeff Caldwell. The program will be "National Defense and Its Importance."

Mrs. John Meade gave a history of the making of the national emblem and conducted a test on "Uses for the Flag." Refreshments were served by Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Meade. Sox 1-24-1 Beauty Hint no

Healthy, shiny, nicely styled hair is essential to anyone who wants to achieve the "total" look that is typical of today's well-groomed woman.

According to beauty-fashion authority Max Factor, hair can be one of a woman's greatest assets — if it is kept in perfect condition at all times. To accomplish this, hair care must be an important part of your beauty routine.

The most important consideration is cleanliness. Hair must be shampooed at least once a week — more often if necessary. To insure a soft, silky look, a creme rinse or conditioner should be used following shampooing.

Colfure Itallene Hair Setting Gel, applied after a shampoo, helps any hair style hold better. It is a lustrous protein-enriched product that not only conditions hair, but gives it extra body and bounce.

Available in seven sparkling shades, it adds radiant highlights that will leave the hair looking lovely.

Regular brushing further enhances its loveliness and helps keep it healthy. Brushing with a natural bristle brush stimulates the blood supply to the scalp and helps remove the dust and dirt that is lodged in the hair.

Fairfield Girl To Go On Annual Tour

LUCINDA OSBORNE

FAIRFIELD — Lucinda Osborne, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Osborne, Fairfield, has been designated the winner of a contest among high school sophomores and juniors to participate in the 21st Annual IOOF United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth July 10 — Aug. 2.

Becci Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Barron, Fairfield, is runner-up and will also go on the tour. The girls are the first students from Camas County High School ever to go on the tour.

The project is sponsored by the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges through the Youth Committee of the IOOF Sovereign Grand Lodge. The local committee includes Cecil Howard, Zane Harrison, Earl Wilson, Mrs. Kenneth Peck, Mrs. Doran Cluer and Mrs. Donald Cox. The judges were from Mountain Home, Shoshone and Jerome.

The trip will cover over 7,000 miles. The young "delegates" will observe and study the UN in action, see committees and the commissions at work in the five official languages and learn of the vast work done in the departments and agencies. They will also visit the headquarters of the United States-Canadian Mission to the UN.

The tour will include a visit to Radio City Music Hall, a boat trip around Manhattan Island, a visit to the Empire State Building Observatory, Washington D. C. Arlington and Gettysburg will also be visited. Members of the tour will stay in homes of IOOF and Rebekah members along the route. Yellowstone National Park will be included on the return trip. The local girls will travel on a bus having Oregon and Idaho stops.

News Of Record

BLAINE COUNTY.
District Court
Decrees of divorce were granted to Mrs. Sandra Heron from Willie Lee Heron, and to Mrs. Claudene Dugger from Kenneth Dugger.

Clerk's office
A marriage license was issued to Johnnie Shirts and Bonnie Mae Dixon.

Probate Court

THE MEDIUM THAT FITS FOOTWEAR.

The fashion revolution has worked down to the ground. Shoes are new. Everyone's buying more shoes — because of style.

Not just women. Men, boys, girls and toddlers, too. The footwear business is on the march. "Because," Boot & Shoe Recorder says, "basic shoes are no longer enough — for any wardrobe."

During 1968, the average American family spent $100 plus on footwear — up from $68 just six years ago. Do you — or your clients — sell footwear? Count the families who live in your area. Multiply by $100. A retailer who wants his share of that footwear money must tell the fashion footwear story. Out where people will see it in their local paper.

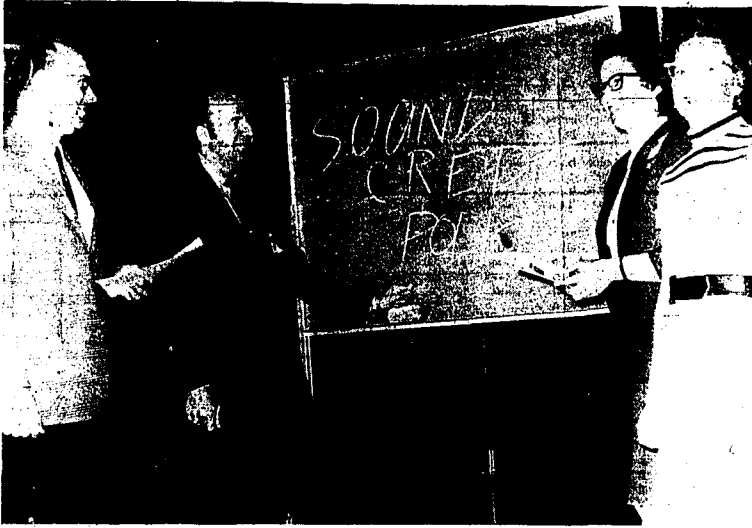

Eight out of ten over-21's found the paper each day. Seven out of ten newspapers are read. No wonder retailers invested more than $3 billion on newspaper advertising last year. No wonder the country's top shoe stores spend more than two percent of net sales on their ads in the papers. There's power in that seven-syllable sales force: News-pap-er-abil-ity. And for the next six weeks we're telling the News-pap-er-abil-ity story to the retailers who read Footwear News.

The footwear business has changed. And newspapers have changed, too. With economical neighborhood ads, superb color reproduction, and new printing techniques. This change has brought a substantial increase in local papers' ad volume. During June '69, dailies' total ad revenue jumped 11.3 percent over June '68. Newspapers are working for retail.

To paraphrase an old saying: If the medium fits, buy it. And no medium fits the local retailer better than his own local paper. That's a News-pap-er-abil-ity.

THEME FOR A TWO-DAY session held in Burley by the Idaho Collectors Association, Inc., was "Sound Credit Policy." Assisting with the school for credit grantors, held during the first day were, from left, Ray D. Cherry, Idaho Falls; C. Dan Hunter, Bellevue, Wash.; Mrs. Derald Mabe, and Mrs. Hunter. The group elected officers and selected Lewiston as the 1971 convention site.

Idaho Collectors Group Has Two-Day Conclave At Burley

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. C. Dan Hunter, president of Washington Credit Inc., Bellevue, Wash., conducted a school for credit grantors during the Idaho Collectors Association, Inc. two-day session at the Ponderosa Inn.

Persons attended the sessions from Idaho Falls on the east to Mountain Home on the west.

Items discussed in the school, which had as its theme "Sound Credit Policy" includes calculated risk, reducing bad debt, identifying potential bad debt, delinquent debtor, qualified professional collector, cooperating with the collecting agency and services. It was pointed out "How to grant credit and what you should know" must be kept in mind at all times.

Forrest P. Hymas, Boise, is president of Idaho Collectors Association, Inc. Garis Robertson, mayor of Burley, welcomed the group. The school for credit grantors was held the first day of the session.

The second day Tom McEldowney, Boise, assistant commissioner of finance, discussed new laws. Randall Wallace, Boise attorney, also spoke on new laws and answered questions regarding credit and problems in the business.

William J. Tackett, Columbus, Ind. president-elect of American Collectors Association, discussed problems in the credit field on a national level. Ace I. Lloyd, Emmett, director of American Collectors Association, spoke briefly.

Officers were elected including Don J. Wilson, Soda Springs, president; Fred Ahrens, Lewiston, first vice-president; Alice Phillips, Boise, second vice president; Earl F. Bolen, Meridian, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Elison, Heyburn, director at large; Ace I. Lloyd, Emmett, director of American Collectors Association, Inc. and Dean M. Perney, Rexburg, director of Western Credit Collectors.

Study Planned On Raft River Project

BOISE — The Idaho Water Resource Board has completed contract negotiations with Tudor, Engineering Company for services calling for a feasibility study of the proposed Lower Raft River Irrigation Project, which would consist of developing approximately 10,000 acres of land now being dry farmed.

Water would be pumped from Snake River into a conveyance system for transport to lands to be irrigated, and a well field would be developed in the Snake River aquifer in the area of Lake Walcott to replace water taken from the Snake River as needed. These wells may also be used to augment low flows in the Snake River to aid water quality control.

Project studies will also consider the possibility of extending a canal into the central part of the Raft River area where water would be delivered to seepage beds for the purpose of recharging the underground water resource.

Fellowship Day Is Set Friday In T.F.

May Fellowship Day will be observed Friday in Twin Falls with a special program sponsored by the Church Women United.

The program will be held in the Episcopal Church on Blue Lakes Boulevard North beginning at 12:30 p. m. with a pot luck luncheon.

"Dissolving the Distance Between" will be the theme of the program being observed nationwide.

The Twin Falls program will include panel discussions covering two major community programs. One will feature Ray Pruett and Dennis Pratt of the Senior Citizens program designed to assist elderly residents of the community who reside alone and may need transportation, a daily telephone call or other service.

The other panel discussion will cover the local migrant worker program in which the Church Women United and other community groups assist. Discussing various phases of this will be Sally Molyneux, Y.W.C.A. panel moderator and Elsa Murphy, Catherine Bennochka speakers.

All persons interested in the Fellowship Day are invited to attend the program and to volunteer their services for the two community projects or others under direction of the Church Women United.

Care for Your Car

Your spring and summer trips will be smoother and safer if your car is in prime condition.

This section will help you bring your car into A-1 shape.

Travel Safely — Care for Your Car

Conscientious Maintenance Can Assure Motorist Vacation Trip Without Breakdown

"Use it up, wear it out; Make it do, or do without."

This bit of doggerel was popular in a more simple, less affluent yesterday. The trick was to make things last as long as possible, whether it was an all-day sucker or a suit of clothing.

It is ironic that today, when the philosophy seems to be, "Use it up quickly and get another one," some products are actually built to endure longer.

Take the modern car, for example.

There is no question that today's automobile is built to last.

Tires, for example, can actually give service ten times longer than they did years ago.

Paints are more durable, bodies are better prepared to withstand deterioration.

Engines are better built to cope with punishment that was undreamed of only 20 years ago.

In fact, every component has a lab-tested durability going for it.

The secret of taking advantage of built-in strength lies in a conscientious program of maintenance. By practicing such a program, you stand to save in several important ways.

First, you preserve your car's vital components from premature wear. A timely squirt of lubricant here, a quart of oil there often can prolong engine and chassis life, avoiding lengthy and expensive sessions in the service bay.

Basic service also saves you money as you go. Tune-ups save gasoline mileage and cut short chances of engine damage and road service calls. Proper wheel alignment and balancing add miles to tire life.

Frequent washing and waxing stop body and paint deterioration. And when you do trade in the car, the money you spent in maintenance also will be returned, at least in part, by a higher trade-in value.

Even if good car care weren't economically wise, you'd still benefit measurably from its practice — especially at this time of year. Nothing can ruin a spring and summer holiday trip like a breakdown which at best can cost you time and money and at worst could lead to a serious accident.

Somewhat the most scenic road you can travel becomes a drab, miserable stretch of highway when your car has quit running on it.

MORE THAN MAPS — This happy family picked up more than road maps when they made a pre-vacation visit to their favorite service outlet. They had their car checked from bumper to bumper and from head to top. Now, all they have to do is enjoy their spring or summer holiday trip, assuming dad and his three navigators follow the map accurately.

Car Care Picture Quiz

Use Caution When You Remove Radiator Cap

The simple act of removing the cap from an overheated car radiator can lead to painful, sometimes disfiguring, scalds and burns.

Cooling systems in modern autos are often under such tremendous pressure that the sudden de-pressurization which occurs when the safety radiator cap is removed can cause a cloud of scalding steam to erupt into the face of the person removing the cap.

If your car's engine overheats, steam or smoke emerges from under the hood, or you detect a smell of burning rubber, stop driving as soon as safely possible. Then turn off the ignition. Don't release the radiator cap until all evidence of overheating subsides! You may have to wait several minutes for it to cool.

You should also protect your hand by wearing a glove or applying a heavy padding of rags between your hand and the radiator cap.

If the cap has a pressure relief device (such as a lever, a button, or a turn knob), activate it to allow any excess steam to dissipate leak.

Turn the cap in a counter-clockwise direction until you feel the seal release. When the hissing sound subsides, the cap can be removed safely.

If it is necessary to add water to the radiator, do so with the engine running! Add water very slowly so it can warm up in the radiator before passing into the engine block. If water is added too quickly, the abrupt change in temperature could crack the engine block.

Following an overheating experience, your car's cooling system should be thoroughly inspected by an experienced mechanic. Overheating can seriously damage metal parts.

NOT DIRTY CHEAP

A dirty air cleaner on your car's engine can cost you up to thirty-two dollars a year in wasted gasoline — say nothing of extra engine wear from added grime. Let your engine breathe more — check the carburetor air cleaner often and replace when recommended.

Did you ever see the girl from the supermarket checkout counter in a theater lobby and wonder "I know the face but I just can't place her?" It's a common mental quirk not to recognize a familiar face when you see it somewhere you're not accustomed to seeing it.

So it goes with parts of your car. Pictured below are common parts of your automobile taken out of their usual place. Can you recognize them? And for a bonus, do you know their servicing requirements?

Answers will be found elsewhere in this section.

HERE ARE THE CORRECT ANSWERS TO THE CAR CARE QUIZ (printed upside down, to discourage peeking). They are accompanied by some good advice to motorists who want to keep their cars in best operating condition:

- 1. A spark plug firing the bad. Spark plugs should be cleaned, re-gapped and then every 10,000 miles or one quarter of an inch.
- 2. The engine should be replaced every two years.
- 3. If it is part of the steering system and should be checked every two years.
- 4. Checked every 10,000 miles.
- 5. Checked every four months and replaced with a new one yearly.
- 6. The tire should be checked at least every six months with winter tires replaced every two months with winter tires preferred.

CAUTION: HIGH VOLTAGE

DID YOU KNOW THAT DURING 10,000 MILES OF DRIVING A SET OF SPARK PLUGS TRANSMITS ENOUGH ELECTRICITY TO POWER ALL THE APPLIANCES IN YOUR HOME FOR 5 MONTHS?

HOWEVER, THE COMBINATION OF ELECTRICAL CURRENT, HEAT AND CHEMICAL EROSION STEADILY WIDENS THE RINGER GAP TO A POINT WHERE THE PLUG NO LONGER WORKS EFFICIENTLY AS A RESULT—GASOLINE IS WASTED, POWER IS LOST AND STARTING TROUBLE CAN BE EXPECTED.

SO... TO AVOID THIS TROUBLE THE CAR CARE COUNCIL ADVISES REPLACING THE SPARK PLUGS AS PART OF A COMPLETE TUNE-UP ONCE A YEAR OR EVERY 10,000 MILES.

Keep That 'New Car' Feeling With Proper Front End Care

One of the pleasures of driving a new car is being able to go over a rutted or bumpy road without any discomfort.

As mileage adds up, however, that new car ride disappears, particularly if you've neglected maintenance.

According to TRW, proper car care in the front end system and suspension can continue to give that new car feeling for years to come.

Front end and suspension systems should be checked every three months, says TRW's senior product engineer W. Louis Cohan. And the front end should be lubricated as specified in your owner's manual.

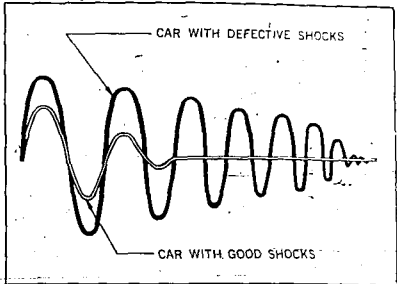

If you neglect these services, your car will give telltale signs that something is wrong, according to Cohan.

Your car will tend to wander all over the road, even though you hold the steering wheel firmly. Another sign that the steering system is malfunctioning is the presence of irregularly worn tires.

Parts of the front end system that need particular attention include the steering linkage—the idler arm, pitman arm, center link and the rod assemblies. Have your mechanic check these next time your car is on the hoist.

Also have him check the dust seals which keep dirt, water and foreign matter out of the working parts of the steering linkage. If the seals are broken or damaged, it is an indication that the parts are wearing out, prematurely.

Suspensions Need Attention.
If you notice that the front end of your car appears lower than the back end, it may

If your car were hooked up to an oscilloscope, measuring the ride, here's the difference a new set of shocks would produce. Comfort, the kind you enjoyed when the car was new, would be restored and there would be less stress placed on vital components like tires, bounces up and down and is difficult to control. Always check the rear suspension. With the advent of four coil suspension, control arms and radius rods, the rear axle to the frame. Loose bushings in these areas often contribute to wobbling, difficulty of holding the car on the road, and driver fatigue.

Bad or worn shock absorbers can be detected by loose bushings, leaks of fluid around the seal, or by bouncing the car. If the car bounces more than one and one-half times after you have rocked it, the shock should be replaced.

The function of the shock is to hold the wheels on the road, and a bad or worn shock cannot do this. Driving a car with bad or worn-out shocks will give the driver the feeling of being in a boat. The vehicle continuously bounces up and down and is difficult to control.

Always check the rear suspension. With the advent of four coil suspension, control arms and radius rods, the rear axle to the frame. Loose bushings in these areas often contribute to wobbling, difficulty of holding the car on the road, and driver fatigue.

After, and only after, all suspension parts have been checked, and defective and worn-out parts have been replaced, should the vehicle be aligned.

Periodic inspections will determine when parts are just beginning to wear out, by replacing these parts the owner will avoid large repairs at any one time. The car will give better service, it will handle like new, and it will be fairly easy on the pocketbook.

CHECK LIST for trouble-free summer driving!

Let us check over all of the items on this list to put your car in top shape for summer motoring...

- ENGINE TUNE-UP—This is the best way to bring your engine back to life for carefree summer driving. Our tune-up includes a new set of Champion spark plugs plus whatever basic tune-up items we find your car needs. We check points, condenser, rotor, distributor cap, compression, wiring and electrical connections, coil and air filter.
- BATTERY—We'll check it for full power, make sure terminals are tight and clean.
- VOLTAGE REGULATOR—Let us check it. Over or under charging can ruin battery.
- STARTER AND ALTERNATOR OR GENERATOR—We'll remove any corrosion and check brushes.
- AUTOMATIC CHOKE—We'll check idle adjustment.
- CARBURETOR—We'll check, remove and clean it, if necessary.
- FAN AND BELLY BELTS—We'll check adjustment. If belts are badly worn they should be replaced.
- CRANKCASE—We'll change dirty oil—put in proper grade oil for summer driving.
- LIGHTS AND WIPERS—Summer storms can mean dark and dangerous driving. We'll make sure that headlights, parking lights, taillights, stop lights and directional are all working properly. We'll also check wiper operation to see that blades wipe clean without streaking, fill windshield washer tank with cleaning solution.
- TIRES—We'll examine them carefully. Worn tires can spoil trouble on crowded vacation highways.
- BRAKES—We'll check for proper adjustment—a slight pull to one side can slide you off the road.

ADVICE TO WOMEN who DRIVE...

from De-De... a woman who does

Dear De De:

I'm a 20-year-old housewife trying to make ends meet on a small income. It seems like everything we make goes for house and car payments. We've just about got our present car paid for and I look forward to the day when we aren't saddled with the $75 a month payments. But my husband says we should get a new car. Ours still runs pretty good although it does need some minor work. How can I talk my husband into keeping this car so we can have some extra money for things we desperately need? — MRS. K. N. L., Lawton, Okla.

DEAR MRS. K. N. L.—How would a $55 a month raise impress your husband? That's the equivalent amount of the money you could realize from keeping your car. You now make $75 a month in five service experts estimate that for $20 a month put aside for maintenance, you can keep your car in show room condition indefinitely. You say your present car is in pretty good shape. You also mentioned you recently bought a new set of tires, new battery and had your brakes relined. So that $20 a month should take care of all routine maintenance including tune-ups, replacements of worn parts like exhaust systems and eventually major expenses like tires.

I'm enclosing a copy of Cooke Jar which will tell you when maintenance should be done. When hubby's income justifies a new car, keep on with the Cooke Jar plan and pocket the savings for the extra time you can keep it too.

DEAR DE DE:

My boy friend, Eddie, is a cool guy but my parents won't let me go out in a car with him. It's one that Eddie isn't a gentleman. It's that his car makes a lot of noise when it pulls away from the house. The car isn't a hot rod but it sounds like one. Eddie is a good driver. So don't you think my parents are being unfair? — Lonesome Liz, Manhattan, Kansas.

Copies of the Cooke Jar Pamphlet, outlining a complete program of auto maintenance, can be obtained by writing Dear De De, Department C3, Box 010, Toledo, Ohio.

Keep Watch on Tires in the Name of Safety

Most Mileage Is Clocking In Summer

Late summer presents a special threat for drivers that can be more treacherous than ice.

After a dry spell, a light rain or drizzle creates a thin, greasy film on smooth road surfaces. It is slick, and it is dangerous, because drivers are not concerned about skidding at this time of the year.

Bald tires increase the danger. More miles are driven during the summer than at any other time of the year and without realizing it, tires may wear beyond the safe point. When there is less than 2/32" of tread remaining, according to the experts, your tires are unsafe.

Under dangerous driving conditions, reduced speed and extra caution are obvious accident prevention measures. However, a double measure of safety is to keep your tires in good condition.

Route Your Tires

You can substantially increase tire life by having them rotated about twice a year. By putting tires in different positions on the car, left front to left rear, left rear to right front, and so on around the car — according to instructions for your make and model, your tires, including the spare, eventually will have taken their turns in all positions, thereby equalizing wear.

KEEP YOUR COOL

When your car loses its cool, you're heading for trouble — and it may be expensive. Avoid trouble by making sure your car's fanbelt, radiator and hoses are in good condition, and that coolant is always at the proper level.

Let the "other guy" know which way you plan to go, give him the signal.

PCV — PLEASE CHECK

When the positive crankcase ventilation valve on your car's engine gets stuck, it's like plugging up a boiling tea kettle — something's got to give. Pressure builds up in the crankcase forcing oil and unwanted fumes through bearings and seals. The PCV valve should be checked periodically, replaced yearly.

This semi-annual procedure also provides a good opportunity for your automotive serviceman to look for cuts, bruises or other damage.

Another part of semi-annual tire care should be a check of wheel balance and alignment. Both have a serious bearing on tire wear and will affect your car's handling ability and driving comfort.

Once a month, have the air in the tires checked. An underinflated tire will wear rapidly at the outer edges; overinflation causes wear at the center.

One final tire care fact especially important during the summer: excessive heat is a tire's worst enemy. It results from a flexing of the tire body. The faster you drive, and the more load you carry, the more your tires will flex.

Get Sizzling Hot

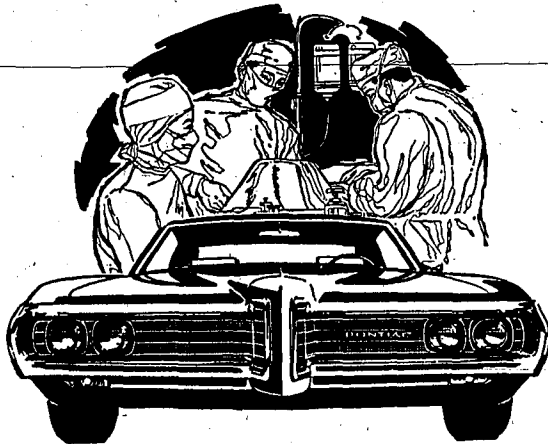

Tires can get sizzling hot at high speed on a summer day. When they hit 250 degrees (considered their critical temperature), wear is rapid and you may be in danger of complete tire failure. Your tires are the only contact between you and the road. Should they fail, you are in danger. Also, they represent a substantial portion of the total value of your car. So, both in safety and in economy, proper tire care is like money in the bank.

Canadian 'Skid School' is Helping Save Lives

Drivers Who Exercise Wheel Control Will Have Much Better Chance Of Avoiding Accidents

Henk de Vries' business is on the skids and he couldn't be happier. Nor could the growing number of Canadians who patronize Henk's and thus stand a better chance of staying alive.

De Vries conducts the BP Skid Control School in Oakville, Ontario near Toronto. A native of Holland, he puts students through the skids on a private 300-foot-long highway which simulates treacherous driving conditions.

The course is sealed with a plastic top coat, soaked with a soluble oil and flooded with water, simulating treacherous summer driving conditions. Water on an oil-slicked road can be even more dangerous than glare ice.

Why? De Vries points out that the average motorist driving on ice is alert to the danger and proceeds more carefully. The driver does not expect to skid, summer when he does he may not know what to do.

Cites Basic Rule
De Vries takes his students, who've paid $10 for the 1 1/2 day course, on the special roadway and puts the car into a violent 360° spin. This course familiarizes the student with the terrifying feeling of panic a bad skid produces. He then demonstrates the ways to get out of the most common types of skids: the front wheel skid, the rear wheel skid and the four wheel skid.

Says De Vries, "The basic rule in any skid is to get the wheels rolling normally again. Stay off the brakes! This locks the wheels and makes normal steering impossible."
The teacher says, "Once into a skid, there is no time to think. You have to make corrections by reflex action."

Taught Race Drivers
De Vries told of a world champion race driver who took the course in its original Dutch location, Zandvoort. His first three attempts to handle the skids were unsuccessful.

The course also includes lessons on various other emergency situations.

During a rear tire blowout, handle the situation as you would a skid.

In a front tire blowout, no skidding is likely but the driver should grip the wheel firmly to keep control and avoid using the brakes.

If your car should lose the pavement and roll out a shoulder, keep your foot off the brake. Also avoid steering sharply back onto the roadway.

In addition to thousands of drivers who have taken the Skid School course, professional drivers and police from Montreal, Toronto and

Make Safe Skid Recovery With These Moves

Henk de Vries cites the following procedures to get the wheel rolling again:

Cut engine power but not abruptly to worsen the skid. The technique is the same for a rear wheel skid where the rear of the car tends to swing forward and the four-wheel skid where all wheels are sliding.

In a car with manual transmission lift your foot off the gas and declutch (depress the clutch pedal). With an automatic transmission, all you need to do is take your foot off the gas and the torque converter will slow you down. In a front wheel skid, usually induced by cornering too fast, the technique is different. With an automatic transmission, gear down and set manual shift, do not declutch.

Then, in all skid conditions, countersteer out of the skid by turning the front wheels in the same direction as the rest of the car is skidding. Immediately turn the wheel around in the opposite direction or you risk a dangerous "snake" skid.

If you had tried to get out of a skid in the time it took you to read the above paragraphs, it would have been too late to help. That's why the skid school is so important to its students.

Other Canadian communities have become graduates, since the school opened in 1967.

When de Vries first operated his school in Holland, Dutch insurance firms reduced rates 20 percent to graduates. While no such action has as yet been taken by Canadian insurers, successful students at the Oakville facility feel they have a more valuable type insurance.
They may never have to use it but when they do, they'll be ready.

"Skid School" students are taught wheel control on this private highway made treacherous by soaking with soluble oil and flooded with water to simulate treacherous summer driving conditions. Water on an oil-slicked road can be even more dangerous than glare ice, says Henk de Vries who heads the school in BP's complex, Oakville, Canada, near Toronto.

Credit Cards Can Ease Way To Pay for Car Maintenance

The familiar sign "We Trust in the Lord—All Others Pay Cash," is becoming increasingly rare in automotive service facilities. A growing number of facilities and the motorists they serve are recognizing their trust in credit cards.

The trend is having a significant effect on the service industry. The motorist need no longer delay vital repair work until he can raise the ready cash. And the facility owner has a list of benefits including simplified billing procedures. Also, it is no longer necessary to keep large amounts of cash on the premises.

Gasoline stations, more than 200,000 of them, are the most common areas of credit servicing. Virtually all oil companies offer credit cards to customers, primarily for gasoline, oil and minor repair services. Also, oil companies are allowing such service as tune-ups to be charged on credit cards. Independent service outlets numbering more than 114,000 are climbing on the credit bandwagon in ever growing volume. Many honor credit cards from banks, travel organizations and individual facility credit card set-ups.

The more than $3,000 auto dealership service departments are also showing increased interest in financing repair work through a wide variety of credit sources. Many banks will extend personal loans for needed repair work at going commercial rates consistent with state usury laws.

Chance of Mishap Is Estimated By Safety Council

What are a driver's chances of having an accident in his lifetime? According to the National Safety Council, it depends partly on the distance he drives.

A person who drives 12,000 miles a year has one chance in three of having some kind of an accident. There is one chance in four that damage will be limited to property, one in 40 that there will be at least one injury, and one in 1,300 for a fatality.

One who travels 8,000 miles a year stands one chance in five for any accident, one chance in six for a property damage accident, one in 85 for an injury accident, and one in 2,000 for a fatal one.

A driver who goes 4,000 miles a year has one chance in 10 for any accident, one in 11 that only property will be damaged, one in 110 that there will be personal injuries, and one in 4,000 that it will result in death.

Wise Driver Keeps Fire Extinguisher In Car; There is No Substitute

The wise motorist carries a fully-charged fire extinguisher in his car at all times. When you need it there is no substitute.

The preferred extinguisher is the stored pressure dry chemical type. This type can be used on any kind of fire and does not create liquid gases as do vaporizing liquid types. It should have at least 2 1/2 pounds capacity.

Two kinds of such extinguishers are available. One uses a throw-away refill cylinder. The other must be taken to an extinguisher service shop for recharging. Either is suitable.

The extinguisher should be reserved for emergency use only. If you intend to use an extinguisher for other purposes, such as putting out a campfire, carry spares.

One of Six Now Goes Camping, Many in Modern Camper Units

By BOB BOELIO
A.A.A. Motor News

Remember when you and a buddy once pitched a pup tent; for an overnight stay beside a stream in the woods a few miles from home and thought it was great?

Camping out, you called it. Now you may be among those families who pull a "traveler" or camper vehicle to woods many miles from home and still think it's great.

Outdoor living, we call it now.

One of every six North Americans is now a camper, according to best estimates. For an inexpensive family vacation that offers relaxation and a place to stay in nearly all areas of the U.S., Canada, and even foreign lands, camping is hard to beat.

Camping grows. Whether the camping growth is a result of the vast array of equipment available, or whether the public's interest in learning to camp brought improved equipment along. But there is agreement that interest in camping has grown to unbelievable proportions in the last 25 years and the boom continues.

It is now a year around activity. The popularity of skiing, snowmobiling, ice fishing and other cold weather sports, together with better equipped vehicles, has helped to make camping enjoyable the year around in the U.S. and Canada.

Camp grounds have been increasing in the U.S. and Canada at a rate of about 1,600 a year, providing about 25,000 new sites annually. A large number are private. They offer the amenities to campers willing to pay a little extra for their outdoor living.

Ten years ago they could be counted in the hundreds. Today there are more than 3,000. While some are modest, others are on the posh side, offering swimming pools, recreation facilities, supervision for children, clubhouses, and guided excursions to points in the area.

In National Parks

The U.S. government now has developed camp grounds and more primitive camping areas in 30 national parks and more than 150 national forests, including wilderness areas where there are no roads and vehicles are prohibited. Such areas are for the experienced camper. Certain other national areas also permit camping.

The states have provided camping sites in state parks, state forests and other state-owned areas. Counties, townships and cities often provide camping facilities.

Most public camp grounds charge a nominal fee. A few are free. Most operate on a first come, first served basis, though reservations are accepted at some state parks.

Length of time required for advance reservations varies. At the United States southernmost camp ground, Bahia

The family pauses momentarily while driving through Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga., for dad to make pictures, while on his way to nearby state park. Facilities for setting up his camper trailer, towed by an International Traveler, are conveniently available.

Honda State Park, near Key West, Fla., all camping space for the Christmas holidays was booked by the end of July, 1969.

National parks and similar areas draw the largest number of campers each year, about 40 million, while state parks attract more than 25 million.

California Has Most

For all these campers there are more than 10,000 camp grounds in the U.S. and Canada, including federal, state and private, with about 200,000 campsites. California has the largest number of camp grounds, most of them in national forests. Trailing California are New York, where most camp grounds are private, Colorado, Michigan, Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Alaska, Idaho and Montana. Ontario is the leader in Canada, followed by British Columbia.

What does it cost to get a start in camping? Like most things, it depends upon your taste. But an authority on camping and the outdoors estimates a modest start in tent camping can be made for around $150. A start in trailer camping will cost just under $500.

Chance of Mishap Is Estimated By Safety Council

What are a driver's chances of having an accident in his lifetime? According to the National Safety Council, it depends partly on the distance he drives.

A person who drives 12,000 miles a year has one chance in three of having some kind of an accident. There is one chance in four that damage will be limited to property, one in 40 that there will be at least one injury, and one in 1,300 for a fatality.

One who travels 8,000 miles a year stands one chance in five for any accident, one chance in six for a property damage accident, one in 55 for an injury accident, and one in 2,000 for a fatal one.

Highway Driving Requires Same Car Care as Racing

Mechanical Efficiency Of Vehicle Is Vital To Both

By FRED AGABASHIAN, Champion Spark Plug Co. Highway Safety Team

Is highway driving in any way the same as race track driving? In my experiences, I've found many similarities.

For example, there isn't a race driver in the world who would go out on a track knowing that his car is not 100% mechanically sound. Shouldn't the average motorist also have this confidence in his own car?

Once you know the vehicle is perfect, you can concentrate on driving skills, without worrying about whether the brakes are going to grab, or whether the tires are safe, or whether the steering components are going to give out at a crucial time.

When your car is in excellent condition, you have confidence in it, and your driving ability reflects this confidence.

Escape Route Plan

Another similarity I find between highway driving and race driving is what I call "the escape route plan." Planning ahead while driving helps keep me alert and helps keep my mind on my driving. In my own mind, I've been on the shoulders of expressways and in ditches all over the country. In fact, I've always "driven" the grass infield of the Indianapolis Speedway with every circuit, and several times, having an escape route like this has helped me and saved my car.

Agabashian

The racing driver with an immature attitude, one who loses his temper, one who "gets even" with other drivers or one who shows off, soon finds himself out of the racing business — in one way or another.

Similarly, immaturity catches up with the motorist on the street. They are the ones who leave a stretch of rubber at traffic lights, who pass on curves and hills, and weave in and out of traffic, and ones who have unnecessary — and distracting — doodads hanging around the rear window and mirrors.

Word of Caution

I'm not saying that an expert driver on the highway can take the wheel of a race car and come out with a good showing. But he is the kind of driver who has the qualifications and prerequisites that are necessary for further training which could make him a professional,

The heart of a tune-up!

Accessories to Enhance Joy of Motoring Offer More Comfort, Convenience, Safety

A man walks up to his car. Inserts a key into a lock on the front fender, turns it, takes another key to unlock the driver's door, climbs in, starts the engine and drives off.

That man isn't taking any chances. He's burglar-proofed his car — something more and more owners are doing these days.

The auto burglar alarm, which is de-activated by turning the lock on the exterior of the car before getting in (and which, incidentally, can set up a howl that can be heard for a block) is one of hundreds of accessories that are available to today's car owner.

If you're worried about car thieves, get an auto burglar alarm. From $29.95.

Discourage Theft

Or, how about a set of wheel lock nuts? For a couple of dollars per wheel you can discourage even the most hard bitten tire thief from making off with your wheels and tires. The lock looks like a regular wheel lug, but it cannot be removed without first using a key.

"Auto accessories is a brisk business," says Ed Gutowski who runs Hollywood Automotive on Detroit's northwest side. "Sometimes people come in here looking for one thing and leave with three or four items. They look at something and see the value in it and sell themselves. Impulse buying."

Hollywood Automotive does a big business in hot rod and speed equipment. But the family man is important to them, too. What does the man with a sedan or a station wagon want most?

"Luggage racks. We sell a pile of them," says Ed. It's not surprising, since more and more people are vacationing by car, and they're taking with them enough gear to be comfortable for two weeks, a month, or more.

Give Them Music

Another family-type item is a stereo tape player. It can be installed by an amateur with the most rudimentary tools.

Popular, too, are a variety of gauges to replace "dial" lights. The gauges are available in sets including an ammeter, oil pressure gauge, and engine temperature gauge — or in individual pieces.

Side marker lights or reflectors for cars not originally equipped with them, are bought and installed by the owner himself. They're inexpensive, dressy looking and contribute to safety.

Vanity mirrors have always been popular, but the current crop of self-illuminating mirrors are more popular than ever, especially with the younger car owners. These clip on to the sun visor like the original vanity mirrors, and the lights are powered by flashlight batteries.

Many Things New

What else is new? Headrests are available in all sizes, shapes and colors. Installation takes seconds — either bolt-on or clamp-on types, depending on what the owner wants. And baby seats, the kind that will keep Junior secure from harm, out-of-the-way, and yet close at hand should he need attention.

Then there are a variety of air deflectors and dust flaps (for wagons), dress-up ornaments, lights, rearview mirrors, tachometers, fuel and oil additives and dozens of other items including baby bottle warmers.

Whether the car owner buys his car "stripped" or "loaded" he can satisfy his every motoring need and want by dropping in to any of the thousands of accessory retailers around the country.

Pros Buying Used Cars at Auction Look for Ones in Mint Condition

It's noisy. It's colorful and the last word in what your car and millions of others are actually worth. It's the auto auction, held daily in cities throughout the U.S. and Canada.

It is here that professional buyers and sellers of used cars gather in a carnival atmosphere to test their skill in bargaining.

To the average man or woman who thinks of auctioneering as a genteel competition to bid for antique china, the auto auction would prove a baffling but colorful contrast.

The track is fast with the average car behind the block for less than a minute. In that minute, buyers appraise its worth and bid accordingly. The car is sold, or the offer is refused by the seller and another car is quickly driven in place.

Auctioneer Chauts

In some auctions as many as four lanes of cars and a like number of auctioneers are in action at once. Each auctioneer is equipped with a microphone, a length of rubber hose which he slams on the desk for emphasis and a set of lungs that would put a hog-calling champion to shame.

Adding to the decibel level is a crew of men among the bidders who serve as combination cheer leaders, kibitzers and spotters of the tentative bids from the buyers. Meanwhile the auctioneer is chanting the bidding, wise-cracking, "If I could buy a car that cheap, I'd be down there bidding, not up here selling!" and pleading for reason ("There's no way

Attempting to liven up bidding on a "sharp" car, the auctioneer pleads, jokes and reasons with the professional buyer. The action is fast with each car being on the block for a matter of seconds.

you can buy this Caddy for less than a Chevy!"

Out of this study in chaos comes the hard-headed evaluation of what a car is really worth. To bid too low means that the seller will not accept the bid. To bid too high can mean the difference between a profit and a loss on the resale.

'Must Look Good

To even be considered for sale at an auction, cars must appear in almost new condition. Mechanical condition of the car must be honestly represented by the seller.

How do the pros who attend these auctions judge the cars before bidding?

Hal Humphries of APTCO Auto Auction near Detroit says, "The first thing to attract a buying dealer is the appearance of the car. Body repairs must be perceptible only to the trained eye, if at all. A sloppy job of bumping and refinishing can be spotted instantly. Most often, the dealer attending the auction will stay away from a car like this rather than get involved in a costly refinishing job."

About 80 percent of all families own at least one automobile. One out of three own more than one car.

No one ever planned a car breakdown. The annoying inconvenience a breakdown produces makes them as welcome as an overdue rain notice from the bank.

Conversely, few people ever plan a maintenance schedule to insure against breakdowns. However, the wise car owner will schedule his car's servicing needs on a routine basis to avoid a sudden and sometimes expensive loss of transportation.

Here's a list of necessary services, listed according to when they should be performed. Items preceded by an asterisk (*) are based on normal wear or service cycle.

MONTHLY — check radiator level, fan belt, transmission oil, tires, battery, windshield washer fluid, lights.

EVERY TWO MONTHS — in addition to the above, change engine oil, test anti-air pollution system.

EVERY FOUR MONTHS — Change oil filter, clean air filter.

cate the chassis, test battery, check wiper blades, brake system, wheel alignment, wheel balance, rotate tires.

EVERY TWELVE MONTHS — "Flush cooling system, *install new antifreeze, *repack front wheel bearings, *replace anti-air pollution elements, major engine tune-up.

EVERY 24 MONTHS — *Replace fan belt, *radiator hoses, *radiator cap, *thermostat, *wiper arm, *exhaust system, *universal joints, *shock absorbers, *major brake service.

EVERY 30 MONTHS — *Replace battery and cables, *adjust transmission linkage, *replace tires.

Here's Why Tune-Up Every 10,000 Miles is Important

Your car's spark plugs may look mighty little but they are more than a little mighty when it comes to providing electrical energy.

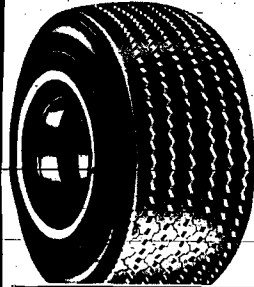

Engineers at the Detroit Edison Company calculate that a set of spark plugs transmits enough electrical power during their normal service life to run all your household appliances for 15 months.

Spark plugs fire 15 million times during 10,000 miles of operation. During each of these charges, 20,000 to 25,000 volts of electricity is fired into the combustion chamber. This is the voltage needed to ignite the gasoline/air mixture which in turn gives the engine power to help propel the car.

Starting with 10 basic volts of electricity, the car's ignition system multiplies the voltage available 2,000 times. Any leakage of that voltage, through defective parts, causes the spark plugs to misfire and hinders good combustion.

Expert Tells How Motorists Can Help Halt Air Pollution

Clean air will be obtained sooner in this country if the motorist assumes his share of the responsibility.

According to George M. Galster, director of automotive technical services for Champion Spark Plug Company, "the auto industry has already made and will continue to make tremendous improvements in achieving cleaner air. In a few years the internal combustion engine promises to be virtually free of harmful emissions.

However, clean air will not be attained until the operators of these vehicles maintain them at levels and at intervals somewhere near those recommended by the manufacturers.

Very simply, cars with engines in sub-standard condition are reducing the effects of improvements being made by the auto makers," Mr. Galster said.

He cited Champion studies, reporting that a five percent incidence of engine misfiring will increase harmful emissions about three times the normal rate. This is true whether or not the vehicle is equipped with an emission control device.

The misfire can be due to worn out spark plugs, wrong plug application or by long periods of slow speed, or start-stop driving. Other ignition or fuel system malfunctions also can increase unwanted emissions.

Mr. Galster also referred to an independent study showing a seven percent reduction in unburned hydrocarbons and a 10% reduction in carbon monoxide emissions after a tune-up.

Mr. Galster remarked that well over half of the vehicles in the United States need at least minor tune-up work, and the majority of motorists are not aware, or do not care, that their cars are operating inefficiently.

Mr. Galster said, "The insidious thing about this situation is that the driver of the modern V-8 engine can experience a considerable amount of misfire without knowing it. At constant speeds there could be as much as 10-20 percent misfiring without the driver being aware of much difficulty."

THE FEMININE TOUCH

Women are doing more these days than decorating service stations. They are also doing a lot of the work. Case in point: Carol Balon of Amarillo, Texas, who performs a tune-up at a local gas station. Hired for office work, she learned mechanics.

To Avert Highway Crash Stop Danger of Stalling

By DON FERMOYLE, Auto Writer
(Reprinted from Cleveland Press)

It was dark on Interstate-280 when the car pulled out of the side-road, crossed the southbound lanes and then suddenly stalled in front of us.

Tires shrieked against asphalt when those of us nearest the disabled car hit the brakes.

Fortunately, all of us managed to stop in time. An alert truck driver, farther behind, halted his rig and turned on his warning flashers. Occupants of the stalled car pushed their way off the busy highway, the major link between the Grand Turnpike and the Detroit-Toledo Expressway.

Luckily, too, the pavement was dry. I wouldn't like to think of the same situation again when the pavement is slick with snow or ice. Even with studded snow tires, it is unwise to start all of the cars on that 60-mph highway could be stalled hitting the disabled auto on a slippery surface.

The near-accident pointed out often neglected "safety" features on most cars—the ignition and carburetion systems.

The most frequent cause of stalling, as this car did, is the failure of the carburetor to provide a proper mixture of gasoline and air, or the breakdown in some link in the ignition system such as the alternator, points, plugs or distributor.

Both systems, of course, are checked out and defective parts are replaced during an engine tune-up.

Clean plugs, points and choke will provide quicker starts in cold weather. More important, an engine is much more likely to run smoothly once it has been started if its ignition and carburetion systems are well tuned.

Interstate System Seen as Traffic Life-Saver

Two Thirds of Network Complete, Will Eventually Link 50 Percent Of America's Cities

By F. C. TURNER
Federal Highway Administrator

With over two-thirds of the Interstate Highway System already open to traffic, the day is close when the 42,500-mile network of controlled-access roads is finished and its benefits can be enjoyed to the fullest.

At the end of fiscal year 1969, 28,219 miles were in use. Construction was taking place on another 5,259 miles, and preliminary engineering or right-of-way acquisition was under way on an additional 8,958 miles. Mileage opened totaled 67 percent, while some form of work was under way or completed on 40,434 miles—about 95 percent of the 42,500 miles.

Some $37.2 billion has been paid to work on the system since the accelerated program began in 1956. Work completed cost $26.57 billion and work under way or authorized as of June 30, 1969, totaled $10.63 billion. The Federal share of the cost is 90 percent, financed by the Highway Trust Fund which is supported entirely by Federal road user taxes.

Of the many user benefits stemming from the Interstate System, probably the most welcome and the most important is the saving of lives. For each five miles of the system opened to traffic, a life is saved during each year thereafter. Because it is designed and built with primary interest for safety, the system is expected to save at least 8,300 lives annually once it is finished. Interstate travel is more than twice as safe as on conventional roads replaced by the new IS routes.

Although it constitutes only a bit more than 1 percent of the country's 3.7 million miles of roads and streets, the system will carry at least 20 percent of all the nation's traffic, and will link together more than 90 percent of America's cities with populations of 50,000 or more.

It has been estimated that when the system is finished, user benefits will total about $11.5 billion a year due to lower operating time, accident, and strain-of-driving costs.

The system is providing a new mobility for the movement of people and goods.

Business and vacation travel takes less time than formerly.

More recreational opportunities are accessible.

Driving is more comfortable.

Trucking operations are more efficient and deliveries are faster.

Farm products are shipped more quickly and with less lost from spoilage. But of most benefit, it is truly a life saver.

In 1968, an estimate submitted to Congress by the Federal Highway Administration fixed the cost of the then-41,000-mile system at $56.5 billion, of which the Federal share was $50.8 billion. But that same year, Congress increased the mileage from 41,000 to 42,500 to fill missing critical links between major cities. The cost of the system necessarily will rise, and a new estimate will be submitted to Congress in 1970.

The I-system is a pay-as-you-go program. When it is finished it will be fully paid for with no long term indebtedness hanging over its future.

THINK

Driving with a burned out headlamp or broken tail light is thoughtless and dangerous. Give your lights a thought and light the way. Check them for condition and aim. Make sure you are seen in the right places.

About 80 percent of all families own at least one automobile. One out of three own more than one car.

Windshield Wipers, Washer Solution, Check Them Often

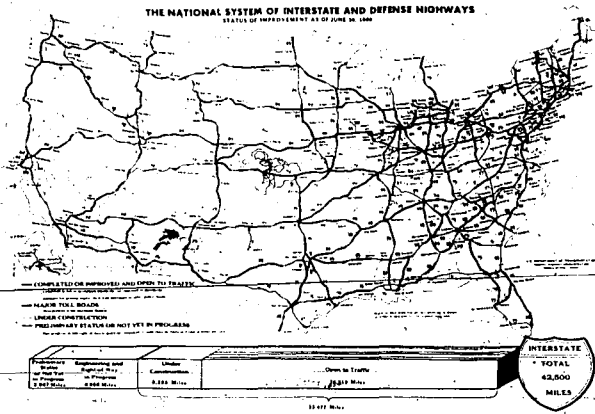

Eight out of ten cars have unsafe windshield wipers, according to a recent survey by a major oil company.

Why would such an important item as wiper blades be so neglected on such a high percentage of cars? It's like a hole in the roof. People don't want to bother when it's raining — and when it stops raining there's no need to worry.

Wiper blades go dead in six months or less due to exposure to sun, wind and oily road film.

When they go dead and start streaking the windshield, they should be replaced.

Night driving is particularly dangerous when oncoming headlights are obscured by streaking wipers.
