Student Unrest Spreads While Protests Continue

Police cleared 200 demonstrators from Florida Memorial College Monday night. Thirty-seven persons were arrested on the campus of the University of Alabama.

University of Washington,
Northern Illinois, the University of Minnesota, branch campus of the University of Cincinnati and Teachers College at Columbia University in New York were closed Monday to mourn student deaths.

Two Ohio schools, Miami University and Ashland College, reopened peacefully. Ohio State students Monday and planned

City Seeks Funds For Secondary Sewage Unit

Two Dade County public safety officers were slightly injured and two newsmen were attacked. Twenty-six students were arrested and tentatively charged with disorderly conduct.

City Council members in Twin Falls Monday night authorized City Manager Jean Milar to make application for state and federal funds for construction of a secondary sewage treatment system and intercepting sewers in the city.

Although cost of such a system is not yet definitely established, the application will be based on an approximate cost of $1,400,000. By making application now the city hopes to establish an early priority for the funds which will be used for construction of the system by 1973.

Between 150 and 200 persons took part in a candlelight march on the University of Alabama campus in Tuscaloosa.
Nearly 100 gathered on the steps of the Student Union and began chanting, "Pig, pig, pig."
Police asked the demonstrators to leave and arrested 37 who refused, a school spokesman said.

Two city ordinances were placed on second readings, one bringing protests from the city's only taxi cab company.
This ordinance would increase the required insurance coverage. Lloyd Cox, owner of the company, told the city he will be carrying the maximum if he is able to obtain it. There are only one or two companies now that will write such insurance, and he said, if he could not obtain coverage in the amounts required by the city ordinance, he would have to close down his business.

The other ordinance brings the city regulations into line with the state code covering intoxicated driving convictions.
An agreement for professional and technical services including an architect work was approved with the Urban Renewal Agency, subject to approval by the city attorney.

Luke Francis appeared before the city council to request permission to place poles and footings for a sign for his business establishment on 30, which would indicate the EJ North Avenue West on street right of way in question is property the city-owns inpector says is public property.

Students Study Sit-In About 150 Northern Illinois University students broke from a peaceful demonstration late Monday night, marched toward downtown DeKalb and sat down on U.S. Alternate Route 30 when they were met by a line of city police.

NTU President Rhoten A.
Scott was summoned to convince the dissidents to leave the road.

Between 300 and 400 graduates walked out after the speech-making at the University of Pennsylvania commencement exercises Monday, some to attend an "antiwar" commencement. The university graduated 3,784 students.

One hundred fifty students briefly took over a Seattle

Monday, only hours after the gated a list of "no nonsense" rules for campus conduct.

Georgia March Is Underway

PERRY, Ga. (UPI)—Nearly 200 demonstrators gathered in this central Georgia town today in a black and white "freedom march against death" protesting last week's killings of eight black men in Augusta, Ga. and Jackson, Miss.

As they assembled, Gov.
Lester Maddox told a news conference in Atlanta that he was asking the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) to call off the demonstration. Maddox said the march was "supported by the Communist enemies of freedom" and could cause violence and disorder.

The march, including two mule-drawn wagons draped in black, had been scheduled to start at 8 a. m. and 8:15 a. m.
However, the leader, SCLC
Regional Vice President Hosea Williams, had yet to arrive by midmorning and his aides said the demonstration probably wouldn't get under way till early afternoon.

The march from Perry to Atlanta was designed as the start of a series of events throughout the South. The SCLC is in Atlanta Saturday. The SCLC will lead a march to the state capitol in Montgomery, Ala. on Monday.

was part of a series of events aimed at ending the conflict between the two nations.

Water Projects Gain Endorsement

BOISE (UPI) — District Judge W. E. Smith has ruled there are no constitutional impediments upon the Idaho Water Resource Board to prevent its making loans to and for water project development within legal limits.

The memorandum decision came in a suit filed by T. Stanley Nelson against the Idaho Water Resource Board and Chairman Charles J. Marshall.

Nelson had asked for a writ of prohibition to prevent the board from loaning money to Orel B. Christensen for the development of irrigation wells for use in applying water to new lands near Payette. Christensen had asked for $55,000 from the board's revolving fund, established by the first session of the 40th legislature.

Smith said the case raised several questions concerning the revolving fund.

He said the points needed to be decided were:

Credit Prohibition — Whether the fund violated a section of the Idaho Code which prohibits giving or lending the state's credit.

Whether the legislation creating the fund violated the Idaho Constitution which provided the funds would be drawn from the Treasury except when the appropriation was made by law.

Whether the section of the Idaho Constitution giving the Board of Examiners power to examine all claims against the state was violated.

Whether the legislation was special or class legislation.

Whether a section of the act relating to classes was vague.

And whether the revolving fund legislation conformed with the constitutional meaning of

Pope Issues Protest

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI Monday criticized the great powers for escalating wars in Indochina and the Middle East and disregarding the people involved.

Without specifically mentioning the United States or the Soviet Union, the Pope said: "The growing military involvement of the great powers makes the menace of uncertainty (in the world) even larger."

Speaking before a Vatican consistory of cardinals, the Pope said the suffering the wars inflicted on local populations caused him great distress.

"We note with anxiety that the great conflicts that for years have bloodied the regions of Indochina and the Middle East are far from reaching a solution and are becoming even more difficult and complex," the Pope said.

"Not only have the fields of military operations been extended, but they seem to take less and less into account the populations directly involved and in whose name the wars are being fought."

Spraying Of Weeds Slated In T.F. Area

Spraying of noxious weeds on public property in Twin Falls will begin this week with weed crews covering alleys and streets during the next few weeks.

City Manager Jean Millar said the spray program covers only public property and only noxious weeds. In June, he said, mowing will begin on public property and on any vacant and unenclosed property. Under city ordinance persons not having their property of this type mowed will be required to pay the city for mowing it to prevent spread of weeds and to eliminate fire hazards.

Mr. Millar said it is hoped local private business concerns involved in this type of work will promote citywide weed control and it will not be necessary for the city to move onto private property.

Solon Condemns Negro 'Gap'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Negro congressman said Monday that President Nixon's "retreat" on civil rights had created an alienation "as deep as it is dangerous" between the President and America's Negroes.

Rep. William L. Clay, D-Mo., saying he spoke for the other eight black House members, made the charge in complaining that Negro House members had been trying unsuccessfully for three months to see Nixon to try to heal this alienation.

"The members of the black caucus of the House of Representatives make known at this time our outright disgust with the President's policies and his refusal to give us an audience," Clay said in a House speech and in a longer statement inserted in the Congressional Record.

"We sought to open some lines of communication between this administration and black people," Clay said. "It was viewed as a reasonable request."

Clay said the nine Negro House members had been trying since Feb. 18 to meet with Nixon. They finally were told on April 20 by a White

It said the "70 million Chinese people pledge to provide powerful backing, (and) most resolutely support the Vietnamese, Cambodian and Laotian peoples war against U.S. aggression and for national salvation until complete victory."

President Nixon's Cambodian venture is the strongest of many proofs in his 16 months' tenure that he is not really trying to be a "consensus president."

Though he could not anticipate that Ohio National Guardsmen would kill four Kent State university students, he knew that sending Americans into Cambodia would distress campus youth, dovish legislators in both major parties and countless liberals across the land.

The fact is, Nixon's whole plan for withdrawal of U.S. combat ground forces from Vietnam has been widely misread from its start last June.

The real compulsion upon him to break the Vietnam logjam, as seen by him and politically astute Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, came from his own voting constituency and that of George Wallace — which together in 1968 comprised 57 per cent of the major presidential vote.

All the reliable polling evidence, from at least late 1967 on, indicated a steadily growing weariness and sense of futility about the war among millions of Americans who earlier had either supported it in varying degrees of hawkishness or had watched in puzzlement without openly opposing it.

It is amazing to look again at 1952, when combat in Korea still raged at high human cost to us while armistice negotiations faltered, and see how parallel were the attitudes among the broad middle-range of Americans. Millions once strongly supportive of that war were saying either "Let's get out" or "Hit 'em hard and get it over with."

In 1969, not campus unrest nor the fresh muttering of impatient doves drove the President down the withdrawal road. His response was to those he considers "his own people" — including Wallpacites. He thinks he can grab off in 1972. He, along with Laird, decided any hope of re-election then depended crucially on doing something drastic on the war. So he chose to undertake what no prominently placed dove had dared propose — unilateral withdrawal.

Just before his Cambodian announcement, he committed himself to taking out another 150,000 ground combat men by next May. One could argue that this was possibly a temporary cap-out from his previously more specifically dated and numbered withdrawal schedules, leaving him free to hold off awhile and then bunch up the pullouts later.

Under the broad tent of "150,000 more by next May," Nixon can play flexibly with the specifics. But to link — with that commitment could be deadly for him.

Obviously, the original withdrawal plan had its critical risk — its link to an always unsure program of "Vietnamizing" the war.

When he smashed into Cambodia to destroy Hanoi's entrenched sanctuaries there, he was piling one gamble on top of another.

He has been persuaded that this new one is necessary to lessen the dangers of the earlier one — to diminish Hanoi's capacity to strike either at remaining U.S. forces in Vietnam or still ill-prepared South Vietnamese.

It is important to understand, however, that the President, in the political realm, sees both these gambles as ones his voting constituency is willing to have him take.

All of his key withdrawal utterances have contained militant warnings to Hanoi not to take advantage of our pullouts. These were in part a sop to "his own people" who want "out, but not in a surrenderlike crawl. Both the Vietnamization program, and this Cambodian venture intent on buying it more time, belong in the same category.

If the President's Cambodian move fails, it may enlarge the chance Vietnamization also will fail. In the possible loss of that double gamble, with certain disruption of our withdrawals, lies the real danger he bespoke of being a "one term president." For he would then be gravely damaged with the millions of voters he counts as his.

Nixon does not think his present nonconsenters — the young, the critics, the doves, etc. — can beat him. So his every appeal, like Spiro Agnew's is not a quest for consensus but a bid to hold "his own."

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

The Rube Goldbergian Plan

WASHINGTON — Each plane in the grounded force of F-111 fighters will be proof-tested, under current plans, in a giant icebox, under peak wing loadings and at temperatures down to minus 40 degrees before the planes are returned to duty.

That is the Rube Goldbergian testing plan which has been outlined to congressional committees. Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. says the program will "revalidate" each of the F-111s, which were grounded in December after a crash disclosed a structural failure.

The heavy wing loadings, to simulate a force equal to 7.33 Gs, and the very cold temperatures are designed to subject each plane to conditions and stresses similar to maneuvering at high altitude. The government will pay 85 per cent of the testing costs and the contractor, General Dynamics Corp., will pay the rest. However, those costs will not further inflate the bill for the F-111 program in which the government will soon have invested some $6.8 billion. The testing program will be charged off against the new budget's $483.5 million outlay for F-111s. Under that arrangement, the Air Force will purchase 30 rather than 40 of the planes in the new fiscal year. The first of the grounded F-111s are expected to begin clearing the proof-tests and other extensive inspection procedures some time in June. All are due back in service by May 1971.

Senate have commented that, despite all the furor over the year, the F-111 has shown a low accident rate. "It is statistically true," says Lt. Gen. Otto J. Glasser, deputy chief of staff for development, "but for the number of flying hours and the number of flights in which the aircraft has been employed, it is below many of the other aircraft that have successfully entered the Air Force inventory."

There is also some concern that the accident record for the already delivered planes will not be improved by subjecting each of them to peak pressures in a testing program and then returning them to the flight line.

In its formal report on the annual defense procurement bill, the House Armed Services Committee called the F-111 safety record "superb" as compared with other combat aircraft. It said the idea of reducing plane purchases to finance safety tests is "unprecedented."

Without elaborating on the testing program, which has not been generally publicized in detail, the House committee recommended that the Defense Department review its financing decisions which, according to the committee, jeopardizes the current goal of a four-wing F-111 force.

The question is clearly one of how much should be spent to shore up public confidence in the F-111 — and whether the rather large sums now involved should become a charge against the number of F-111s made available to the Tactical Air Command.

Dear Doctor: Our son, a senior-in-high school, has developed a slump that must be corrected. He has a very slight hump, but does nothing to correct it. If these sources fail, write to the Arthritis Foundation, 1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N. Y. 10020, and ask where the nearest centers are to your home.

There is such a thing as lazy posture. If that's all it is, a conscious effort to stand up straight and exercises to strengthen back and shoulder muscles will do wonders. In such a case braces are not the answer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our 10-month-old daughter has a raised red mark, a hemangioma, on her thigh, the size of a 50-cent piece. It seems to have flattened somewhat, but our doctor suggests surgical removal.

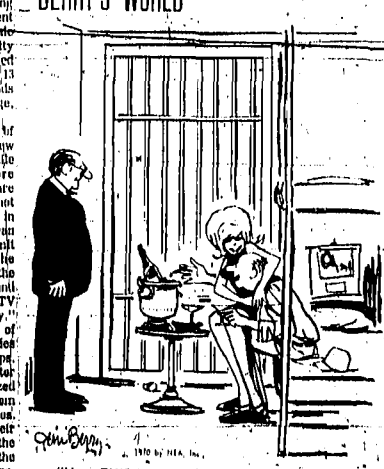

When some real disorder of the spine is present, the sooner treatment begins, the better. After a curvature has become chronic, there is little chance of full correction, if any.

Another doctor suggests, and this agrees with several articles I have read, that it will gradually disappear by age 5. Since we don't want an unnecessary scar, the decision is causing us some concern. — Mrs. G. D.

For the "chronic slouch," exercises are neither difficult nor complicated. Push-ups are the best single type of exercise, but all sorts of bending or other exercises of individual letters.

Hemangiomas often — not always — disappear spontaneously by the 3rd to 5th year. Why don't you just bide your time. In another couple of years or so it hasn't begun to fade, it can be removed surgically or with carbon dioxide "snow."

Thanks to Mrs. Hazel Bates of Montana, a former resident of Twin Falls, the Sacramento Historic Landmarks Commission will have a letter her paternal grandfather wrote to his brother during the California Gold Rush. It is dated July 3, 1849.

"I'm going to be 73 years old next July," Mrs. Bates said, "and I want to make sure the letter, which will be 116 years old that month, will be taken care of when I am gone." The information was received in a recent letter to her daughter, Mrs. Laetoy Crumbliss, Twin Falls.

Because letters were Mr. Fleming's only means of communicating with his family in the east, he made them as "newsy" as possible. In the letter Mrs. Bates is donating to the Sacramento Museum, he discussed his prospecting, food prices, the temperature, water and fire problems of the Sacramento Valley.

He noted he and his three partners had panned $89 in gold that day in 112 degree heat and had a split of $22 each. He quoted porpoise food prices including cabbage at 10 cents; onions, 10 cents;

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A warm spring night. A cool drink. A floppy chair. And a televised beauty pageant. Ah, paradise. It was Saturday night, and CBS-TV's Miss U.S.A. contest was about to take the air. The promise of simple purity, of a respite from the commercial world of feminine pulchritude, was irresistible. Who could surpass the purity of the moment when the host introduced the girls with the observation that they were wearing "beautiful Catalina swimsuits?" Was this not a candidate of the host? — combining purity with commerce so that viewers needn't be bothered with telling the difference. Ah, paradise. And the inspired choices for the judges! Among them were a pro football quarterback and a hotel executive. Surely such exacting choices must have taken Miss U.S.A. contest officials months to find in their pursuit of qualified persons. What viewer could fail to have been fascinated by the presence of Rick Nelson? Once a fixture and son of the homey "Ozzie and Harriet" show, now he was singing with his rock-type group for the Miss U.S.A. audience, mumbling lyrics into the microphone, draped in a shirt with the stars and stripes on the American flag. As for other parts of the show, the contestants, as a group, contributed some pleasant songs and dances. And there were the best moments of the 90 minutes. But what ever happened to the freshness, the bursting wholesomeness, of most contestants in these pageants that have become American institutions? Aside from the fact that most of the girls Saturday night just weren't very exceptional looking, many were simply too smooth, too sharp, too slick, almost shellacked. Beauty pageants, however, are legitimate fantasies. And fantasies are often delightful. Until, of course, they lose their luster. When they cease to mean, losing everything. Misses nest in large colonies, their homes usually consisting of a huge mass of sticks with a hole in one side.

Kite-Flying Ruling Portends Disaster

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — It wasn't enough that the House of Representatives acted this week to strike down a century-old ban on flying kites in the nation's capital.

Just as I warned more than a month ago, this move presages a further breakdown of law and order.

Already some house members are talking about trying to repeal the ancient law against tying horses to "public trees." Should that come about, you may be certain that efforts will be made to legalize other types of unseemly conduct.

The next step very likely will be a campaign to lift the restriction on playing bandy and shandy in the streets of Washington.

Forbidden By Statute These shocking activities were forbidden by the same 1892 statute that proscribed kite flying, which already has been outlawed in other ordinances dating back 100 years or more.

"Bandy," as everyone knows, is an old name for tennis. It also, as everyone knows, is a game similar to field hockey. But everyone is not so clear about "shandy" — the word "shandy" appeared in a committee report on the kite flying bill, there was some confusion. Some observers assumed it was a misprint. They figured the word the committee was groping for was "shindy," otherwise known as "shiny," is, of course, the same game as bandy. Or at least one kind of bandy. That is, it is played like hockey, except that you don't play on ice.

The game is called shindy because the players usually get hit on the shins with sticks. This also is the origin of the word "shindy." But I digress. Really Is Not Sure To get back to Congress, the committee report in question may indeed have used "shandy" where "shindy" was intended. I'm not sure about that, however.

Shandy, as a noun, is short for "shandygoff," which is a beverage made by mixing beer with ginger ale. As an adjective, shandy means "wild and inclined to irresponsible ideas."

Well, anyone who drank beer mixed with ginger ale undoubtedly would be inclined to be wild and to have irresponsible ideas. Just like reckless hockey players.

Therefore, that 1892 statute may have been intended to outlaw shandy, as well as shindy and bandy. At any rate, if congress legalizes any of them, it will be making a bad mistake.

Actress Seeks Aid Of Police

Teamsters Ratify New Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The membership of the giant Teamsters Union has ratified a three-year contract with the trucking industry, it was announced today.

Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. and union's acting president, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, said more than 71 percent of the 290,000 eligible members cast ballots in the mail referendum.

The voting was on the new contract calling for $1.10 an hour increase over a three-year period. The agreement triggered a rash of wildcat strikes in various sectors of the nation. No breakdown of the voting was given immediately on the general membership vote.

U.S.-Red Chinese Conference Vetoed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scheduled meeting Wednesday in Warsaw between the American and Red Chinese ambassadors to Poland has been canceled by Peking, the State Department said Monday.

Officials said the Chinese gave the U.S. military action in Cambodia as the reason for calling off the meeting.

A department spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey, said the Chinese suggested that representatives of the two embassies in Warsaw meet in "several weeks" to discuss whether to set a date for another meeting. That indicated Red China was canceling the Wednesday session to show displeasure over the U.S. operation in Cambodia but had not decided to break off conclusively the Warsaw meetings, the only official point of contact between the two countries.

"Although the postponement was not entirely unanticipated," McCloskey told reporters, "we regret that the Chinese postponed this third meeting of the year." The Chinese and U.S. Ambassadors in Warsaw met on Jan. 20 and on Feb. 20, resuming discussions which were broken off more than two years ago. The Chinese broke off the contacts in late 1968, citing alleged U.S. complicity in the defection of a Peking diplomatic representative in Hanoi.

Announcement of cancellation of the latest scheduled Warsaw meeting followed a new blast by Peking radio at "U.S. imperialism."

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the United States had "tragically invaded Cambodia and spread the flames of war of aggression to the whole of Indochina."

Fifty years old? Why...you haven't changed at all.

But your circumstances have changed. And perhaps your life insurance should, too. Because now your children have grown up. Retirement is closer. And you may even have money left over at the end of each month. Now is the time to adjust your life insurance to your changed circumstances.

What about a lifetime income for your wife? Three out of five wives outlive their husbands.

What about estate taxes? With today's inflated values you probably have a bigger taxable estate than you think. Retirement savings may be subject to death taxes, too.

And your retirement? Retirement years can be most satisfying, if you have enough income.

The Man from Manufacturers will show you how life insurance can supply the answers. For example, it can insure a comfortable retirement. It can supply immediate cash after death to pay estate taxes. And it can provide your wife a comfortable life. You may not have changed. Your circumstances have. Shouldn't your life insurance with the Man from Manufacturers Life?

Armstrong Leaves Astronaut Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Neil A. Armstrong, first man to set foot on the moon, is leaving the astronaut corps to take a Washington desk job with the space agency, it was announced Monday.

A civilian test pilot, Armstrong flew the X15, Gemini 8 and the historic Apollo 11 mission that landed the first men on the moon last summer in his flying career with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Armstrong, 38, gave up any more space missions to take the job of deputy associate NASA administrator of aeronautics in the office of advanced research and technology at NASA's Washington headquarters.

In that post, Armstrong, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, will be responsible for coordinating research and technological work on aeronautics between the government and private industry.

In making the announcement, the space agency called Armstrong—the commander of Apollo 11, "one of the nation's foremost engineering test pilots."

He succeeds Charles W. Harper, who is moving over to Dr. Werner von Braun's office which is responsible for planning future U.S. space missions.

When Armstrong stepped onto the moon at 10:56:20 p.m. EDT on July 20, 1969, he said: "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

Armstrong, accompanied by Edwin E. Aldrin, landed on the Sea of Tranquility with Armstrong taking over control of the lunar lander eagle from its automatic piloting equipment to fly over a boulder field and make a safe touchdown. Once a Navy pilot, Armstrong holds an aeronautical engineering degree from Purdue. He was a master of science degree in aerospace engineering from the University of Southern California this year.

After the near disaster on Apollo 13, which suffered an exploding oxygen tank when it was 235,000 miles from earth, Armstrong's engineering knowledge won him a place on a board of inquiry to look into the mishap and design around any possibility of a recurrence.

Airline Signs Pact With Crews

WASHINGTON (UPI)—National Airlines, grounded for 108 days by a strike, agreed Monday to a settlement giving 3,500 ground personnel a 33 percent pay hike over a three-year period.

The agreement, retroactive to May 1, 1969, must be ratified by members of the Air-Line Employees Association (ALEA) in a mail ballot. National said it hoped this could be completed in time to get some of its planes in the air again by the weekend.

Agreement on the new contract came after five days of almost continuous negotiations and a final all-night session at which the two sides were assisted by Assistant Labor Secretary William J. Usery Jr. and the chairman of the National Mediation Board, Frank O'Neill.

The ALEA called a strike Jan. 31, halting all National operations. The union represents 3,600 station and ramp agents, reservation clerks and clerical personnel with national, which has a total payroll of 7,500.

Under the agreement, union members would get a 22 percent pay raise immediately and another 11 percent next May 1.

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI)—Randolph-Macon College, a women's school affiliated with the United Methodist Church, announced Monday that its students now may drink beer and liquor on campus.

Pentagon Admits U.S. Units Accompany Viets Into Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon acknowledged for the first time Monday that American troops acting as advisers may have accompanied South Vietnamese forces on raids inside Laos.

But the Florida White House said there are no American ground forces in Laos and "no change in our activities in Laos."

Both statements came after South Vietnam Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam disclosed at a Southeast Asia conference in Jakarta that his country's forces have pursued Communist troops into Laos from time to time.

It has been an open secret in Vietnam for several years that both South Vietnamese and American troops have conducted clandestine guerrilla raids across the Laotian border to intercept enemy supplies coming down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

But there has been no public confirmation of this by the United States or South Vietnam and no acknowledgments until now that U.S. and South Vietnamese are permitted to enter Laos for any purpose.

The Defense Department made its acknowledgment in a statement by its official spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, if South Vietnamese troops take protective reaction and have U.S. advisers with them, the U.S. advisers can go (into Laos) with them," he said.

bright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the use of South Vietnamese troops in Laos "violates the spirit" of a congressional ban on use of U.S. ground forces in Laos and Thailand.

"We are going in there by proxy," he said. "The purpose of the amendment was to avoid further involvement in Laos or Thailand, but now our clients are going in there." He said it was clear South Vietnamese troops could not mount attacks in Laos "without our assistance and our backing."

The White House statement did not touch on the question of possible use of American advisers in Laos. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told newsmen at Key Biscayne, Fla., where President Nixon spent a long weekend, that he did not know the extent of South Vietnamese operations in Laos and said: "We do not have American ground troops in Laos and there is no change in our activities in Laos."

Friedheim also said "there are no U.S. ground troops in Laos."

Army Aides Deny Rumor On Message

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon on Monday said Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had cabled the U.S. commander in Vietnam with suggestions on how to rally American public opinion behind the military incursion into Cambodia.

Newsweek magazine in this week's issue quoted what it called a "top-secret" cable from Laird to Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. The magazine reported the cable said "the American public would be impressed" by significant captures of high-ranking Communist officers, major enemy headquarters and large enemy caches.

"Secretary Laird neither signed nor sent any such message," said Jerry W. Friedheim, the Defense Department spokesman. "No such message was dispatched from this building by anybody to anybody."

Friedheim said he did not know if Abrams actually received such a message from some other source.

Newsweek said American field commanders, in response to the alleged Laird cable, had been playing up the capture of enemy supply caches because they had been unable to find large concentrations of Communist troops in Cambodia.

Interest Rates Climb, Bankers Meet Is Told

SUN VALLEY — "Long term interest rates, which were expected to decline are climbing to new heights," a German banker told the annual meeting of the Bankers Association for Foreign Trade here this morning.

He noted that in 1969 bankers experienced upsetting waves of speculation, but international capital markets were amazing efficient and productive. In 1970, we regained our exchange rate stability, but international capital markets and stock exchanges show alarming signs of weakness now, he added.

Others were honored for two to nine years and a total of 42 received 20 hour service pins. Some 40 organizations, agencies and businesses were presented certificates and seals for their contribution to the Red Cross program.

Condominium Plan Ready At Ketchum

KETCHUM — Ketchum city council members Monday night tentatively approved a building permit for a 17-unit condominium on the Wood River Drive in Ketchum.

Approval is pending the outcome of an investigation by the city attorney, Steve Boller, as to how much land actually is owned by the development firm. The units may not cover more than one-third of the total ground area, according to zoning laws.

The question of adequate amount of land rests with several acres of former river bottom, left dry in recent years after the best moved. Mr. Boller said he believes the developers have enough land because this former river bottom belongs to them.

The condominium plan was approved earlier Monday evening by the Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission. The units would be three-bedroom each, two stories high and will contain about 4,300 square feet of floor space.

Robert Rigenberger, Seattle, one of the development planners, said each unit will sell for an estimated $45,000 furnished. It is anticipated the first contract for construction will be awarded soon, if the attorney returns a favorable report on the land.

Councilmen also accepted an old bronze bell, believed to be nearly 100 years old, which originally had stood at the old Ketchum grade school. The school was demolished a year ago and Bill Mathauer, contractor, gave it the bell to the city.

It was reported the ore wagons used in Wagon Day celebrations for some years have been loaned by Palmer Lewis, Seattle, who stipulated that if the wagons were not used or displayed they would revert to the owner. Since the city will "right" haul the celebration this year, it was thought the wagons should be displayed so they will not be lost to the city.

No suitable site for a safe display is known, so Mayor Kenneth Richey will contact Mr. Lewis to explain the city's predicament.

Auto-Kills Two Cows At Richfield

RICHFIELD — Michael McRoberts, 15, Richfield, was cited for failure to keep his vehicle under control after the 1955-stationwagon—he was driving struck and killed two cows and crippled several others.

The youth was driving south on a gravelled-road about two miles northeast of Richfield. Officers said he came over the crest of a hill and saw the dairy cows and was unable to stop in time to avoid them. The vehicle skidded 200 feet, officers said.

Raymond Demay, Richfield, who was herding the cattle witnessed the accident. Marvin Jones, east Richfield farmer, owned the animals.

The McRoberts youth was accompanied by four passengers, Marchia Orr, 14, Jerome, her brother, George Orr, 17, Richfield; Karen Cliss, 12, and Donald Stevens, 15, Richfield.

The front of the vehicle was extensively damaged. The young persons escaped with bruises and cuts. Deputy Sheriff Martin Whitesell, Richfield, investigated the accident at 5:45 p. m. Sunday.

Budget Is Adopted For CSI

A budget totaling $1,833,538 for the 1970-71 year was adopted Monday night by the board of trustees of the College of Southern Idaho.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, stressed that total from local taxing sources of $850,538, of which $215,338 is for bond retirement.

He also pointed out that while revenue from local taxes will increase by $25,000, it is obvious the mill levy will be less than for 1969-70. According to state law local taxing districts must now certify budgets to the county commissioners in dollars rather than mills.

The budget also is based on an anticipated enrollment increase of 200 students and 100 faculty members. The trustees last year authorized to open bids Monday night for equipment at the health PE building, which should be complete in about two months.

Sorority Benefit Buys Baseball Equipment

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL "Operation: Baseball Equipment" got a good boost recently when proceeds from a dance and buffet supper at the Buhl National Guard Armory went towards the purchase of suits and equipment for 16-18 year old boys in the Filer, Buhl and Castleford areas.

People from all the surrounding towns came to dance to the music of the Allan Devries Orchestra and to partake of the sumptuous buffet supper in the red, white and blue decorations.

The event was sponsored by Omega, Exemplar and Preceptor, three chapters of the Beta Sigma Phi social and service sorority, and the idea for the dinner dance was spearheaded by the Buhl Recreational Committee.

headed by William Nungesser, Buhl attorney and committee chairman.

The group hoped to raise part of the $700 needed to buy uniforms and equipment for the 24 members of the Junior Legion baseball team.

The uniforms have now been ordered, and Bill Ingraham, Buhl High School teacher, has been hired as coach. Practices have begun for the games which will be played with the teams from Twin Falls, Mountain Home, Jerome, Valley, Minico and Burley.

Some of the games will be played at night as an indirect result of the sororities' "Light the Way" project several years ago. Funds from that drive bought new lights for the school football field, so the old lights have been donated for use at baseball games which will be played in the baseball field on 13th Street.

Music for the dancing was donated by the Allan Devries Orchestra which is sponsored by the Sun Valley Music Association.

Annual Blossom Luncheon

Hosted By Filer Women

FILER — The nostalgic theme, "Through the Years" provided the setting for the annual blossom luncheon of the Filer Woman's Club in the United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Guests sat at 12 tables signifying the 12 months of the year and each table was decorated in a holiday motif for a month. Mrs. Reuben Lierman, toastmaster, read an original composition, telling each month's flower, birthstone, and special days to commemorate. Guests were asked to introduce themselves and name the month in which they were born.

Mrs. F. E. Albin gave the invocation for the luncheon, and Mrs. Wilford Herrett, club president, gave the welcome address. She introduced her officers who included Mrs. Ella Tegan, vice president; Mrs. Albin, secretary; Mrs. J. M. Jamerson, treasurer, and Mrs. Ernest Peck, corresponding secretary.

Musical numbers were presented by a trio composed of Mrs. Thane Lancaster, Mrs. Roger Kalbfleisch and Patricia Sharp. Mrs. Woodson Creed, Twin Falls, presented a program on the life and works of Andrew Wyeth, contemporary New England artist. She displayed a number of his paintings and showed a film-strip on folk art.

Officers who will be in charge when the club reconvenes in the fall were introduced. They include Mrs. Carl Leonard, president; Mrs. Lierman, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Kreppek, secretary; Ruth McDonough, treasurer, and Mrs. Ernest Peck, corresponding secretary.

Miss McDonough and Mrs. Lierman were co-chairmen for the luncheon committee, assisted by Mrs. Marian Vincent, Mrs. N. L. Larson, Mrs. Esther Thornton and Mrs. Herrett. Mrs. Edward Reichert made the corsages. The Martha and Ruth Circles of the WSCS served the luncheon.

Mini-Midi Hemline Hassel Solved By N.Y. Designer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Designer Bill Blass neatly solves the mini-midi hemline hassle. He shows a "cheating" skirt length.

This means in essence that the mini, or well above the knees length, makes the skirt's underlayer. The mini goes on as an overskirt with divided center front. Sometimes, the division is a simple slit up the front.

At other times, this designer for Maurice Rentner, Ltd., cuts the overskirt to the waistline in an inverted V.

"Cheating" is not Blass's word for his compromise length. The word belongs to Maurice Murell, the UPI photographer who covered the fall and winter opening of the Blass collection for press, buyers and celebrities at a New York hotel Monday afternoon.

Often the long and short of it showed in coat and dress combinations too. Blass showed mid coats, all of line, often belted. Falling right over midday's boot tops at mid-calf. Beneath them, dresses were three and four inches above the knees.

Blass, one of the most influential designers in the country, was on the boot kick with all his daytime clothes and often showed boots for evening, too—sleekly fitted jobs done in metallic meshes. A favorite for daytime: Snakekin printed boots with tweeds or some of his muted, somber-looking prints.

Prints were big for fall with almost every firm in New York's garment industry. Blass did florals, "pretend" tiger stripes combined with black, and the reptile prints.

Among the other collections shown Monday for press and buyers was that of Cecil Chapman, the woman who made a big name for herself in the 1950s with her bare-shouldered evening dresses and for clothing the television stars.

Miss Chapman is less skin conscious these days. She dipped necklines in some cases with her evening wear but the commentator told the audience the neckline could be raised if that was wanted on clothes shipped to the stores.

Male Wardrobe Takes On Status

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the bird world, the male of the species is the most splendid looking. The peacock revolution has upped human males to the same status.

I married a latent peacock who recently discovered that male plumage can be a thing of beauty.

Our budget may never recover. He got the new spring outfit this year—I wore last year's ensemble. He's currently coordinating his new summer wardrobe—I'm trying to re-visit my old stuff.

But I can't complain—it's all my fault that my personal peacock discovered his plumage.

In planning his birthday party this year, I specified that each guest should bring along one mod necktie as a birthday gift. One look at all those gaudy, wide ties and hubby was hooked.

From ties he went to matching silk hankies, vests, shirts, Italian boots and the like.

Now he's wearing bell bottoms. I'm still in my old blue jeans.

An hour before bedtime each night, he carefully lays out his next day's outfit—it takes hubby at least an hour to coordinate tie, hankie, shirt, catch bank, cufflinks, suit, jacks and shoes.

I once had an entire closet in my wardrobe—lately I've discovered men's suits nestled among my dresses. He's run out of room in his closet.

A year ago I'd ask hubby to go shopping with me and he would turn pale and tremble. I now do the same thing when he suggests a shopping outing. Of course, these days we're shopping for him—I haven't

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I finally met the ideal husband; handsome, promising career and position in society. The only thing wrong is that he has to children by a previous marriage.

Before we were married, I rule up my mind to be a patient and understanding stepmother, because I realized his "ex" wasn't the world's greatest mother, and these children never got the supervision and attention they needed.

Believe me, Abby, I have tried, but these children are difficult! They are rude, selfish and behaved.

My husband, wanting to be a good father, agreed to take the children on week-ends, so my I am the one who has to entertain them while their mother is free to enjoy herself every week-end. I love my husband but I didn't wait until I was almost to get married and marry with somebody else's children. Any suggestions? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Yes. Get rid of it, because that's part of the price you paid when you married their father. You may decide in time that the price was too high, in which case no one will have to tell you what to do. In the meantime, keep trying to be the patient and understanding stepmother. You may be able to teach those unfortunate children more than their mother has.

DEAR ABBY: Just because 3 years ago someone decided that black was the thing to wear to a funeral, everyone has done just that.

When my beloved mother passed away, I wore a yellow suit because that was the color my liked best on me. I wore it not because I thought I looked better, but because it made me feel better. I Yes, I was criticized later for it!

When the minister performed the funeral service, he told us to remember all the good times we had together, and I found myself sitting there with a broken my face, recalling all the wonderful times and the many laughs my mom and sisters and I had together. (I was criticized for that, too.)

Wearing a color and a smile on your face is not a sign of disrespect. LOVED MOM

DEAR LOVED: The manner in which one handles his grief is highly personal. I am sorry, and I can't help but think your beloved mother liked it, too.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a bookstore and have on several occasions had young women ask major books on "sex techniques," with their husbands stand right there. They say their husbands NEED them. I've even heard them quarreling with their husbands, insisting that they buy such a book, and of course, in so doing, they're putting down their husbands as lovers.

Abby, please tell these women that all the "book learned" techniques in the world won't help if their current relationship, which is the foundation for all satisfying married love, without these "sex" books. It's a mechanical operation, leaving both parties unfulfilled. Tell them, Abby, that if each thinks primarily of pleasing the other, they'll need no marriage manuals to thrill each other.

JUST A CLERK

DEAR JUST: No one could have said it better. Thank you for writing.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90029. For a personal reply neither stamped, addressed, or enclosed.

Court Ruling Requires Use Of Safety Helmets

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court reversed a lower court decision Monday and declared constitutional a statute requiring motorcycle operators to wear protective safety helmets.

Writing for an unanimous court, Justice Allen Shepard said in such cases the right of the individual to be "left alone" must be considered subservient to the real necessities of protection of the general public, adding, "the ability to 'do one's own thing' depends on the time, place and circumstances."

The case originated in Ada County Justice Court when Gerald W. Albertson, Boise, was convicted of operating a motorcycle without a safety helmet. Albertson appealed the conviction to the District Court, where District Judge Merlin S. Young found the statute unconstitutional as a violation of the substantive due process.

The State of Idaho appealed to the Supreme Court, contending the statute was a valid exercise of the state's police power in that it bore a reasonable relationship to the health, welfare or safety of the general public.

Shepard's opinion noted the motorcycle had been accepted as recreation, as well as a means of transportation, during the last decade, and pointed out a great majority of states had enacted legislation requiring motorcycleists to wear helmets while operating their vehicles.

The opinion rejected the contention that motorcycle operators were being discriminated against because "the obvious dangers presented more than justify the discrimination as between operators of various types of motor vehicles."

It also said the regulation — setting forth the types of helmet which must be worn — was adequate notice for any persons.

The prime issue, Shepard's decision said, was the contention that the statute was designed solely and completely to protect the well being of those persons operating motorcycles and bore no relationship whatsoever to the health, safety and welfare of the general public.

Alternative arguments he cited were those that the public had to provide expenses for ambulance, medical and hospital care for persons injured on public highways, that the class distinction could confer a benefit since motorcycleists were likely to be hit by flying objects causing loss of control, that the statute protects motorists, who might otherwise become involed in automobile/motorcycle accidents and be charged with negligent homicide, and that since use of a highway is a privilege such restrictions as the requirement that a helmet be worn can be imposed.

"We believe the general traveling public is benefited as a class in that the protective helmet reduces to some extent the possibility of a motorcycle rider losing control of his vehicle and endangering other highway users," the opinion said.

"While the interest of the general public may be secondary as compared with the importance of wearing a helmet to the motorcycle rider, these rights of the general public are nevertheless real, ascertainable and needful of protection."

Eilbuster May Slow Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird conceded Monday that Senate legislation to end U.S. involvement in Cambodia agreed in almost detail with the Nixon administration's Cambodian strategy.

However, Laird said he still opposed the measure and a White House ally in the Senate indicated he might promote a filibuster.

Laird testified for four hours and 15 minutes before the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Disarmament. He singled out only one specific objection to the proposed amendment now before the Senate to cut off funds for "retaining" U.S. troops in Cambodia: That it contained no fixed deadline for an end to congressional appropriations.

Notes Administration's Plans Otherwise, Laird said, the bill followed exactly the administration's present plans to pull out of Cambodia quickly. Its provisions barring payments to mercenaries and prohibiting American air support for the Cambodian regime confirm with operating restrictions now in effect, he testified.

Laird told the subcommittee the administration's quarrel with the measure, sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Ida., was its impetus that President Nixon might not live up to his promises.

Earlier, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who often is allied with the White House, spoke in terms of keeping the debate on the Cooper-Church amendment going "three or four weeks" or more. That would put off a vote until mid-June or later.

Costa Murder Trial Defense To Say Drug Use Was Behind Actions

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (UPI) — The defense opened its case Monday in the murder trial of Antonio C. Costa with the claim Costa was impelled by an "unconscious force" and was incapable of the crime had he not been on drugs.

Manfred M. Goldman, chief attorney for the Provincetown handyman, said in his opening statement Costa possessed "an unconscious mind that has been fully made sick by the use of mind-altering drugs."

"I was incapable of committing it (the murder) because he didn't know what he was doing," Goldman said.

The first defense witness, Dr. Sidney Caltis, testified Costa, 25, used mild tranquilizers he prescribed from December, 1965, through April, 1968.

Mark C. McCarty, a drug rehabilitation patient, said whenever he saw Costa, "He was high on amphetamines."

He said Costa told him he "was copping" barbiturates from Dr. Caltis.

Earlier Monday, a state pathologist described "bizarre details in the deaths of the two brothers who were found March 4, 1969.

Miss Walsh died from a bullet in the neck, Katsas testified, and Miss Wysocki was killed with a bullet in the head. He learned their deaths "very bizarre and very unusual."

District Attorney Edmund Dins also has called witnesses who testified Costa was on the last to see the two girls alive, that he owned a .22 caliber revolver — the same caliber which killed the girls — and that Costa claimed Miss Walsh's light blue Volkswagen belonged to him.

Senior Citizens Tell Woes To Congressman

POCATELLO (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, heard complaints concerning income and transportation Monday during a senior citizens seminar he called to hear problems and needs of older persons in Idaho.

Hansen told the 60 persons at the meeting they do not realize how many programs are available to assist them.

Fred Garrett, former director of the Idaho Department of Employment, advised the group to take an active interest in political affairs.

Pointing out there are some 60,000 persons in Idaho over 55 years of age, Garrett said, "if they spoke with a coordinated voice, they would get attention. There are enough people to swing an election in this state."

Those present discussed problems of transportation, and many agreed they could not drive automobiles but still needed to shop for drugs and groceries. One suggestion was for federal aid for delivery services or a volunteer program that could be coordinated to take older persons to their shopping destinations.

Social Security was also criticized as being political "foot ball" during an election year.

Pharmacists! Here's the prescription for healthy sales: Newspaperability.

Your drugstore is more than just products. It's a unique, special, personal kind of place. Where people come to feel better and look younger... where people come for help. They know about your products. But do they know about you? Why not tell them your story with ads in the one medium as personal and helpful as you are. Your own daily paper. This paper. Newspapers do a successful personal selling job because they're so immediate and local. Four out of five adults read a least one newspaper each day. To keep up with the news about things that concern them: Little League games, local politics, beauty news, health. In fact, when a recent survey asked "Where's the best place to find out about health?", one-third of those questioned said "the paper", while only nine percent mentioned radio and 23 percent TV. Doesn't the newspaper sound like the right place for your message?

Drugstore sales have been going up and up — an increase of 46.2 percent since 1963. Prescription sales are up 74.1 percent in the same period. Newspaper ads can help you accelerate those trends — if you advertise to coincide with what's news. For instance, do you advertise heating pads when a storm's in the headlines — or sunburn cream during heatwaves? The Hong Kong flu epidemic of December '68 was one of the year's biggest news stories. Many druggists ran newspaper ads describing flu symptoms, listing health aids and suggesting that sufferers see their doctors. Some 109,800,000 prescriptions were filled in just one month. Last year, Americans spent over $12 billion in drugstores. That's a lot of make-up and film and hand lotion and prescriptions. If you'd like a nice healthy share of that $12 billion, why not run some ads right here in this paper. Discover for yourself how helpful they can be. That's what we mean by Newspaperability.

4-Year-Old Car Almost Has Coveted Pole Spot For Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Johnny Rutherford came in second to Unser in Saturday's "battling for the pole" in 500-mile auto race qualifications, but he has no complaints. He almost pulled off the biggest surprise in modern qualifying history, in a four-year-old car that 48 hours earlier was regarded as just another of the 84 entries for 33 positions.

But the affable Rutherford, of Fort Worth, Tex., qualified just an eyelash slower than Unser to nardown the middle spot in the front row for the Memorial Day derby. And just as suddenly as his crew found the right combination, Rutherford hopes the turn of events will also change his "500" fortunes. He also qualified for the last six races, but has yet to finish-for-place among the top 10.

Last Saturday, however, he electrified a crowd of 200,000 by challenging Unser for the pole and almost succeeding. That he failed didn't dampen his spirits. "We just found the right combination," he said, "after days and nights of trials. All month we practiced with the supercharger turned down and we didn't get the full potential power. Then we worked on the chassis and went back to our original setup."

The tip-off that Rutherford and his crew were on the right track came last Friday when they tested off practice laps in the 188 miles per hour bracket—three or four miles faster than they had logged previously.

Miami Signs Green Bay's Marv Fleming

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins announced Monday they have signed veteran tight end Marv Fleming of the Green Bay Packers in a player exchange that will send Miami wide receiver Jack Clancy to Green Bay.

Fleming is one of several National Football League players who played out their options with their current teams. However, they generally have had little luck signing on with other teams because of the threat of retaliatory action by the football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

But Dolphin managing partner Joseph Robbie said there was no need for Rozelle to get involved in the Fleming deal since it amounted to a "player exchange" agreed to by the Packers.

Robbie said "mutually satisfactory" arrangements have been concluded between the two clubs involved. Miami coach Don Shula said Fleming is "one of the best blocking tight ends in the NFL and should be very helpful for the Dolphins in the developing of a consistent running attack."

Flood's Fight With Baseball Opens Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—After four months of preliminaries, the formal trial in the Curt Flood case begins today.

baseball has never lost its exemption from the anti-trust laws in other cases. Baseball was first exempted in 1922 by the Supreme Court and that exemption stood in 1953 when the high court ruled the matter should be decided by Congress.

Flood filed suit to overthrow baseball's reserve clause in federal court four months ago and Judge Irving Beir Cooper will begin hearing testimony today.

However, since then the high court has ruled that both football and boxing are not exempt from the anti-trust laws. The court admitted when it made those rulings that it is "illogical" for baseball to be exempt while other sports aren't.

Judge Cooper had previously ruled against Flood's bid for an immediate injunction that would have made him a free agent. The judge said the case should be decided by a full trial when he denied the injunction.

Since Congress has had 17 years to act since the 1953 ruling, Flood's attorneys—former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, now a candidate for governor in New York, is his chief counsel—will argue the exemption should be tossed out.

Flood filed his suit after he was traded to the Philadelphia Phillies by the St. Louis Cardinals. Flood didn't want to leave St. Louis after 12 years and decided to file suit instead of reporting to the Phils.

Flood is passing up a $100,000-a-year salary to contest the case in court and, he has said he doesn't expect to play again, but he would be lured out of retirement if he wins the case.

until the second round? Yes and no. You are supposed to postpone a question finesse until the second round if you will also be able to finesse on the third round in case the finesseable queen is backed up by three small cards in the suit. Thus if dummy held South's five of spades, South would be correct in cashing a high spade and then entering dummy to finesse the nine spot.

Expert South lost to the singleton queen this time. If he had cashed a high spade first he would have dropped her grace. On the other hand suppose that West held the singleton 8, 4, 3 or deuce. South's first round finesse would have allowed him to finesse a second time and get away without losing a trump against all those for singletons. The actual play cost him against just the one singleton that was waiting for him.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Here is another hand that shows experts at their worst. South is in a very good spade slam since all he needs to bring it home is to take care of either the queen of trumps or king of diamonds. Roughly his chance of success is 75 per cent. Any time your chance of making a slam is better than 50 per cent, you belong in the slam.

Expert South will play correctly and go down. He will enter dummy with a club-at-trick-two-in-order-to take a first round spade finesse. West will make his singleton queen and later on East will collect the setting trick with the king of diamonds.

Why is South's play correct, although a losing one? Aren't you supposed to postpone a finesse for the queen.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. Your partner will read this as a control-showing bid—suggesting four hearts. At the same time he will be warned that your club suit could be a four-carder.

TODAY'S QUESTION—Your partner continues to four spades. What do you do now?

SO YOU'RE THINKING about migrating to Australia, are you? All right, but remember the venomous snakes there outnumber the harmless snakes... THAT THE GREEKS make excellent lawyers is common knowledge. They are not, however, in the majority. Best of the lawyers in this country now are of Irish extraction, it's said... AMONG WHALES with teeth, the males are bigger than the females. Among whales without teeth, the females are bigger than the males. Got that?

BEARS — On any given night at the height of the summer season, you can figure about 30,000 citizens are sleeping around in Yellowstone Park. Little wonder the bears get shook. No flippancy intended. Something's going to have to go pretty-soon, either the bears or the people there, count on that.

STORES — Next time you walk into a department store, take a look at what bargains, if any, are offered on the right of the doorway. Those hidden-camera survey-takers have told the department store operators that 90 per cent of the women shoppers promptly turn right after walking through the front door. So that area just to the right of the door is generally regarded as the store's prime sales spot where all the best enticing products.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q. "How many cigarettes do the tobacco men get out of a pound of tobacco?" A. ABOUT 350... Q. "Do any birds have eyebrows?" A. Not a one. Some have eyelashes, though... Q. "How long are asphalt shingles supposed to last?" A. Eighteen years is average. Wooden shingles will go 33 years average.

PLEASE OBSERVE — Approximately 700 years ago in England, it was the custom among gentlemen of high standing to hold hands when they stepped about in public. It is a custom to shake hands upon meeting. I see it great deal of 13th Century thinking in the streets of Hollywood these days, but I do not believe they are historians.

OPEN QUESTION — What's the most times any one woman has ever had her face lifted?

IN A SINGLE DAY's foreclosure actions, when we were lads during the Great Depression, one-fourth of the entire state of Mississippi was sold. Who remembers that?... OUR PLANET MAN says fellows born under the sign of Cancer are known to possess a terrific power of concentration and an extremely stubborn will to win.

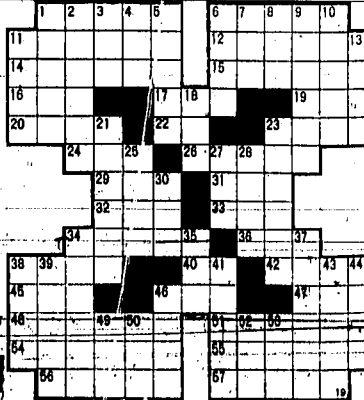

GREAT SPEAKER — No young man who thinks his voice is not deep enough should forget the fact that the silver-tongued orator of yesterday, William Jennings Bryan, had no bass tones in his voice at all. None. Radio technicians discovered this oddity while transcribing an old record onto tape.

Travel-Alaska to Siberia

Soviet Opens Back Door to Tourists

By JIM CROSSLEY

This summer's big travel adventure links Alaska and Russia.

Moscow has stamped approval on 10 charter tour groups to be carried by Alaska Airlines into Russia through the "back door" of Siberia.

The Seattle-based company will be the first non-Russian airline to fly tourists into this eastern region of the U.S.S.R.

It takes eight hours for the 3,800-mile flight between Anchorage and Khabarovsk, Siberia. The International Dateline is crossed.

There's a choice of two tours. In eight days, eastern U.S.S.R.—Alaska and beautiful river country to some Americans' surprise.

Selecting the 15-day alternative lead takes the trailbreaker to European Russia (Moscow and Kiev or Leningrad) and Oriental Russia (Samarkand and Tashkent) after touring Siberia.

This seems to be the summer for travel adventure. Any travel agency can fill you in, as well as details of a newly inaugurated 23-day Lewis and Clark tour.

Travel modes include jet, train, motorcoach and three days aboard a specially designed pontoon platform riverboat on the Missouri River.

Adventurous travel outings are nothing new to the Sierra Club. Club-organized expeditions into the American wilderness have been part of the pleasure of membership since the club's beginning in 1892.

The 1970 program is extensive. An entire issue of the Sierra Club Bulletin was needed to catalogue it all. Information can be obtained by writing club headquarters at 1050 Mills Tower, San Francisco, Calif. 94104.

Of particular interest are the "Family Trips" which give novices, including those with small children, an opportunity to gain experience before tackling some of the more strenuous jaunts.

Threshold Camps are first-experience introductions to mountain back-country, not as rugged as mountain wilderness. The routine is relaxed. Parents gain experience, nevertheless. They learn to use the new lightweight freeze-dried foods, for example, by sharing in preparing camp meals.

ALASKA AIRLINES HAS INAUGURATED Golden-Samovar service, involving Russian costumes for the hostesses and elegant samovar tea urns.

Hiking along almost any mountain trail can be grouped on a Family Knapsack Trip. This is the next step. Two-week outings with backpack take club families into more remote areas.

To get acquainted with pack-trail routes, there are 10-day Family Burro Trips offered. They move at a modest rate of five to 10 miles a day.

This experience is gained. Then the choice becomes wide. Few picturesque mountain fastnesses remain thus far untrod by the sturdy boots of Sierra Club members.

Handel's Greatest Hits (Columbia MS 7917) Handel wrote much great music, although he is remembered today more for his church music than for the symphonic works he produced.

Among his greatest achievements outside his church music are his fine organ concertos and his two musical suites.

One of those suites, the more popular Water Music Suite, and a portion of one of the best of those concertos is presented in this album, as well as several other orchestral works.

There is also a good sampling of some of his religious work, including two pieces from both the Messiah and the lesser known but equally powerful "Judas Maccabean."

This is a fine, well rounded sampling of one of the finest of the baroque composers.

FOR SALE by OWNER

Just A Moment!

Before you decide to sell your own home, perhaps you'd better ask yourself these questions:

1. Which is best for me, a cash sale or a real estate exchange?
2. Is it necessary to advertise? If so, how extensively?
3. How can I get the best price for my sale, probably as other real estate?
4. How can I get the best price for my property in the current market?
5. How can I help the buyer arrange satisfactory financing?
6. How can I get all the information of financing, comparative values, and market trends?
7. Why is a good time to sell?
8. How much risk can I get for my property in the current market?

It will pay you to see a Realtor!

Smart Move!

One That Could Save You Time, Effort, and Money.

REASON? Because Realtors and brokers are professional in real estate. As much, they can place at your disposal wide experience and technical skill in selling a home. Because they have the knowledge of what homes are available in your area, they can personally show your home to more prospective buyers.

When you want to sell a home or any other real estate, call your Realtor or broker. They can do the job for you professionally.

Before you decide to sell your own home, perhaps you'd better ask yourself these questions:

A GROUP of University of Massachusetts students and faculty members held a news conference in the BayBury House (left) building on Monday afternoon to announce the formation of a national movement to bring about the impeachment of President Nixon and Vice President Agnew. They urged Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., to introduce a House resolution of im-

CREWMEN OF THE RAFT "Ra II" adjust their sails upon leaving the harbor at San, Morocco, in a second attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean. The journey is aimed at proving that ancient Egyptians could have reached the "New World" centuries before Christopher Columbus. Norwegian explorer Thor Heyerdahl will captain the seven-man multi-national crew aboard the 36-by-15-foot papyrus-reed vessel. It is slightly smaller than the one used by Mr. Heyerdahl in an unsuccessful voyage last year. (UPI telephoto)

A UPI NEWSMAP spots the point of departure, (No. 1 on right), for the raft "Ra II," pictured above, which set sail on Sunday, with the hope of reaching Mexico's Yucatan

Peninsula (No. 2 on left) in 70 days. Arrows denote the ocean currents which must be taken into account. (UPI telephoto)

BADIE THE GIRAFFE sticks out her tongue in her Portland Zoo quarters to nibble lollipop given by visiting children. With the arrival of baby elephants and a baby hippo, the zoo has proven a popular place to visit lately. (UPI telephoto)
