Weather Synopsis

Low pressure is continuing to dominate the Intermountain Region today, but is moving slowly eastward. Higher pressure pushes onto the West Coast. Moist air remaining over the region will produce variable cloudiness and a few showers or thunderstorms over Southern Idaho and East Central Oregon today. Clearing of the skies will take place tonight and a return to fair weather is expected on Thursday. A few delays again may be suffered by farm and other outside activities today due to thundershowers and gusty winds, but conditions again should be favorable on Thursday. Although water loss from crops has lessened somewhat because of lower temperatures and cloudy skies, irrigation scheduling needs will continue to increase and should be watched closely. Any rainfall today should be mostly too light to add materially to existing soil moisture content. Cooling will continue today and tonight, but some warming will take place in the western sections on Thursday. Highs today will be in the 60s and lower 70s and in the upper 60s and 70s on Thursday. Lows tonight will be generally in the 30s, and some protection of small fruit may be needed in the orchard areas. The extended weather outlook indicates generally fair weather Friday through Sunday, with highs in the 70s and low 80s, lows in the 40s.

Now, Pay Attention! Signs Changing

Motorists in Twin Falls are going to have to be a bit more alert in their driving habits during the next few weeks because of a number of traffic sign changes just completed by the Idaho Department of Highways. Most of these are due to making Second Avenue North and East part of the state system.

Ron Dehlin, Shoshone, Department of Highways district office, said a traffic light has been installed at the junction of Addison Avenue and Second Avenue North to control westbound traffic on the one-way Second Avenue and traffic going both directions on Addison Avenue. This will remain on flasher status for several days and will probably not be in full operation until next week, Mr. Dehlin said. He added the signal light at Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Falls Avenue will be turned on at full cycle at 9 a.m. Thursday. New signing is being completed by the Department of Highways along Shoshone Street, as it will become part of the state system, with Blue Lakes Boulevard from Five Points East to Five Points North removed from the system. A number of stop signs also have been removed from Second Avenue from Blue Lakes to Addison.

Employment "White Clouds" Park Agency Head Attending Meet Complex Is Endorsed

John Lennen, manager of the Twin Falls office of the State Department of Employment, is in Boise this week, attending a three-day meeting of agency managers from throughout the state.

The annual meeting calls the officials together to discuss procedural affairs, and to review new legislation in the field of employment and unemployment compensation. Idaho Gov. Don Samuelson addressed the group in their first meeting on Tuesday. The conference will run through Thursday afternoon.

Endorsement of a national Idaho must avoid the same park and national recreation mistake. A national park would be complex in the White Clouds Mountains of the Sawtooth range, has been announced by Dr. Donald B. Roberts, Pocatello, chairman of operation, such area as the Citizens' Environmental Council.

Dr. Roberts said the council never be restored, the council chairman added. He urged national park designation in order to protect the fragile alpine country from the devastation of uncontrolled mining activity. In addition to the Citizens' Environmental Council, the states already have lost their proposal for a national park and "White Clouds" areas, and recreation area has gained support of the Idaho Wildlife and Greater Sawtooth Federation Idaho Lookkeepers Preservation Council.

CREWS FROM HIGHWAY Department offices in Shoshone have been spending a great deal of time in Twin Falls in recent weeks revising signing on Second Avenue and on Shoshone Street and Blue Lakes Boulevard. Here, workers install a new traffic light to control one-way traffic on Second Avenue North and traffic from both directions on Addison Avenue.

New Plan Eyed On Five Points North

City Council and City Highway and Traffic Safety Commission members of Twin Falls agreed Tuesday afternoon to meet with the State Highway Board to seek further consideration on an improvement plan for the Five Points North the plan and support from the city of Twin Falls only. In view of this position, the state Highway Board announced plans to abandon the project and use budgeted funds elsewhere in the state.

Tuesday, city officials appeared to the Department of Highways representatives to reconsider this proposal because of the serious problem created by the intersection traffic.

State Highway officials attending included Keith Longenecker, Boise, state associate engineer; Norman Crossley, urban engineer, Boise, and Howard Johnson, Shoshone, district engineer Ron Dehlin, district planning engineer and Ed Kiddner, assistant district engineer and Robert Schamber, U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Mr. Longenecker explained the state studied five alternate proposals on intersection improvement before selecting the plan presented in the April 18 hearing. He said the department has six classifications on traffic congestion. These range from A, with very little traffic, to F, which is almost an impossible situation. The "local intersection is classified as "B", showing it is now handling traffic well beyond its capacity.

Nearly 85 per cent of the traffic in the intersection is local and surrounding area traffic. About 10 per cent only, Mr. Longenecker said, is "foreign" or out-of-Idaho traffic.

By reducing streets involved in the five point intersection to four, only about one third of the traffic conflict that now exists would be retained, he explained. There also would be fewer phases of the traffic light cycle and thus traffic would be speeded up considerably.

Deal of the intersection may not be commensurate with amount of traffic flowing over the streets leading into the intersection. It was pointed out

Miss Kellems

An aging spinster in Connecticut has finally won a federal court battle in her long series of skirmishes with the Internal Revenue Service.

A successful business woman, one of strong convictions, and always willing, as the saying goes, to put her money where her mouth is, Miss Kellems has never accepted with docility any tax law or interpretation she regarded as unconstitutional or unfair.

Her latest campaign, and one with which growing numbers of taxpayers sympathize, is against unequal tax treatment of unmarried persons.

The court case she won with dismissal of the government's suit was based on her 1968 return, which was blank, except for her name, address, Social Security number, and signature.

She convinced the government's tax attorneys, who wrote the judge saying: "We are of the opinion that Miss Kellems has properly pleaded the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination as to her personal records."

Thereupon, the judge dismissed the case.

"I am on a winning streak," Miss Kellems said. "No longer can the IRS arrogantly demand a taxpayer's books and papers."

Still, there are not many taxpayers with Miss Kellems' ability and willingness to lock horns with the IRS.

When further "improvement" in the tax laws comes up for discussion again, as it does about every other year, we suggest the tax committees call on Miss Kellems for some helpful advice and that they listen to it.

Mr. Fitzooth

Archers trying to arrange for next year's world archery championships have become bitterly divided on a site, and at the moment seem more interested in letting their arrows fly at one another — figuratively — than in joining forces for the event.

All because of a chap by the name of Robert Fitzooth, who won't even be there. He was born in 1890 and by all accounts died about 87 years later.

Some know him better as Robin Hood, the legendary leader of a band of merry men and women who considered fair game any who ventured into their Sherwood Forest.

Members of Parliament are up in arms over selection of York in Yorkshire as the site of the championships. No more renowned bowman than Robin Hood ever existed, argue the members of Parliament representing the Sherwood Forest district of Nottinghamshire, and his old stamping grounds are where the contest ought to be.

To which the Yorkshiremen responded Robin Hood was nothing more than a "petty criminal," who began his career by murdering his stepfather. All of which has gotten the war of the archers off to a blustery start.

It now seems as if there will be mammoth celebrations at both places. Robin would have much preferred the argument be settled with the long bow, but, alas, words seem to be much more acceptable forms of expression today than any test of skills.

MR. SPECTATOR

That Tax Exemption

Mr. Spectator thought that he had better get the following information to you before it becomes illegal to have more than a couple of kids in any one family.

With schools about to recess for the summer, and many students about to begin summertime jobs, parents are to be reminded that they do not necessarily lose dependency exemptions for children who can earn more than $225 the dependency exemption amount in 1970.

Full-time students of any age under 19 may be claimed as dependents regardless of the amount of income they earn during the taxable year, so long as the parents contribute more than one-half of the children's support for the taxable year.

To qualify as a student, the dependent must, for each of the five months in the calendar year for which the exemption is sought, be either:

- (1) A full-time student (except exchange student temporarily in the United States) at an educational institution, or
(2) Pursuing a full-time course of institutional on-farm training under the supervision of an accredited agent of an educational institution or of a state or political subdivision.

Mr. Spectator would point out that there is another "it." No dependency exemption may be claimed for married children filing joint returns with their spouses.

So there you have it. But this discussion also brings to mind one ruling which Mr. Spectator thought was rather stupid. With daughter being married in August, he was unable to claim her as an exemption for the prior months of that year — all 7 of the months! The good old government said that it didn't make any difference when she was married in any given year — Mr. Spectator could not claim her as an exemption during any of the months she was not married although he supported her and paid all her expenses.

Just thought you'd like to know.

WHOSE ARMY?

Most campus antiwar protesters would hesitate to suggest that America should disband entirely its Army and Navy, if only because they could be needed to defend this country's shores.

Yet the effect of some protesters' actions could be such as to reduce the military services to impotence.

Student resentment against the military can be, and is being, carried to excess. Crippling the nation's armed forces will do no service to the cause of peace and freedom. They remain the bulwark without which liberties — including those of students to dissent — might not exist.

Mr. Spectator's hat is off to those who serve their country!

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Poverty War Outlook Dismal

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is almost always some good news to be found about improving economic conditions for some of the nation's blacks. But let's take a look this time at some of the stubbornly persistent bad news.

One of the greatest poverty trouble spots for black Americans is the family with a female head of household. More than half of such families in the United States were below the poverty level in 1968.

The bad news is that the proportion of female-headed families in the black community is increasing. In 1969, more than 27 per cent of Negro and other nonwhite families were headed by women. In 1950, that ratio was only 17.5 per cent. Less than 10 per cent of white families are female-headed today, and that ratio has hardly changed in 20 years.

These are Census Bureau figures, of course, gleaned from an important new report thus far given little notice. The way all this works out in income terms is staggering. If you look at the earnings spread of black families, you find that at levels above $10,000 a year, some 90 per cent of the families are headed by men. Turn the lens toward the low end of the spectrum and you discover that 50 per cent of the families earning less than $3,000 a year are headed by women.

The answer, the Census report indicates, is simple but painful. A Negro woman working all year, full-time, earns only about two-thirds as much as her male counterpart, and with every passing day there are more such women, trying at once to support and to raise their families. The female heads of families who are not working (and 50 per cent do) are obviously dependent upon welfare funds altogether.

The steady upward march of that key figure — the number of black families headed by women — ought to give grave pause to lawmakers and others who glibly hold out the promise of a quick end to poverty if only we stop spending $20 billion or more on war and "get our priorities straight."

And the best thing — "send poverty now" sign-bearers might do is to park their placards, take a bus ride out to Suitland, Md., (census headquarters) and ask to have a look at the figures. From a maze of charts and tables, the harsh realities will leap out at them.

There are proportionately more poor Negro families outside U. S. urban areas than there are in the cities. Of all black families, 27 per cent lived outside metropolitan centers in 1968, but they accounted for 43 per cent of the nation's poor.

black families. The other 57 per cent of such poor families are found in the urban-suburban sectors, but they must be set against the fact that 73 per cent of all Negro families now reside in such areas. Obviously most of the better-off blacks are also in these centers.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH Chaos In Greece

WASHINGTON — It is hard to believe, but Moscow is apparently giving unwitting help to the strongly anti-communist military junta in Greece by precipitating a kind of chaos among that nation's leftists.

By supporting the "orthodox" communist faction headed by Konstantinos Kolliogiannis, Russia's Communist party has alienated many other communists. The disarray is such as to have attracted the interest of Kremlin watchers here.

Mikis Theodorakis, the 44-year-old Greek composer, who was tossed into jail for pro-communist activity soon after the junta took power, has sharply criticized the Moscow party-line. Theodorakis, who wrote the musical scores for such motion pictures as "Zorba the Greek" and "Z", urged that the Moscow line be changed in a letter written from his prison cell.

In all with TB after 20 months in jail, Theodorakis was released by the government last month and taken to Paris by publisher-politician Jacques Servan-Schreiber. His letter, written in late March and smuggled from jail, was published in Paris at about the same time.

After several weeks in a sanitarium, Theodorakis has now resumed his fight against the Athens government of Protemor Gero and Papadopoulos. At a recent Paris news conference he attacked the junta as a creation of "American imperialism."

One apparent intention against such attacks on the junta by Theodorakis was the Russian daily Le Monde, the Parisian Communist party told Moscow-oriented Communist parties that the name of Theodorakis was not even to be mentioned.

In his letter Theodorakis, a former left deputy, reports that he had failed in an attempt to reach out to the communist party in Greece. In tough language he blames the Kolliogiannis "fractionalist group" which has the support of Moscow.

"Today I am profoundly convinced that the only obstacle on the road to the unity of the struggle of the progressive forces of the Greek people is the existence of the factionalist Kolliogiannis group, which divides the forces wherever the patriots Greeks live and struggle."

"It slanders honest militants. It daily does away with the new resistance," the letter declares.

In it, Theodorakis makes the usual obeisance to the "historic mission of the Soviet people and the party of the great Lenin whose centenary we [are] celebrating these days."

He urges, however, that all parties supporting the Kolliogiannis faction, and especially Moscow's, reconsider their position.

ANDREW TULLY The Clergyman

WASHINGTON — Hanging, as it were, by my thumbs, I have waited as patiently as possible for a word of protest from the professional liberals over the directive delivered by a black Unitarian minister that members of his flock about any postmen who break into their homes without a warrant.

But it must be presumed that this trendy Kennedy, the Sergeant Shivers, the Birch Bayhs, the John Landays and the Arthur Goldbergs have been too busy catching on or maybe too busy demonstrating. Or maybe they're all too "non-violent" to take issue with this curious clergyman.

At any rate, the inflammatory sermon (I save the word sermon for more respectable pronouncements) of the Rev. David Eaton, senior minister of All Souls Unitarian Church here, remains on the record. It is Eaton's answer to the D.C. crime bill which would permit police immediate entry into private homes where there is "reasonable belief" evidence is likely to be destroyed.

Eaton was named senior minister of one-time respectable All Souls last September in one of those exhibitionistic actions so chic among certain crazed congregations across the brightland land. There were gasps from his listeners when he challenged "liberals in order to defeat the bill."

"Shoot him," Eaton ordered his congregation in disavowing the possibility that a policeman might try to "shoot" his young "son." Of course he covered himself. Such violent action, he added, is necessary "because of the oppression that is growing in this country." The crime bill, he said, is "symptomatic of the same kind of repression that existed in Hitler's Germany."

Eaton also had a reply for those he said would ask, "How can you as a clergyman suggest this we shoot anyone?" Said Eaton, "I call it righteous indignation... if you are not willing to die for something, then life is not worth living. I am willing to die."

Unfortunately, this minister of God, as he calls himself, did not go into the question of whether the cops he has ordered shot also are willing to die in pursuance of their ordered duties. Perhaps he is planning a fund drive for the children left fatherless by his policy.

But the tragedy of Eaton's demand for a little "righteous bloodletting" lies in his apparent unconcern about where it could lead. If his demagoguery further polarizes the black-white community, he said, "Then so be it. Evil and good always have been polarized." In Eaton's book, apparently, evil is represented by a citizen in a policeman's suit and good by the citizen who shoots him down, possibly quite dead.

Pondering Eaton's inflammatory utterances, the thought occurs that it is not the majority of our students and black militants but some of our alleged adults who are causing polarization among all segments of the population. In their untidy scramble for headlines, confused preachers, cowardly college presidents and opportunistic politicians seem to have convinced the more militant youth that "even righteous violence" is a legitimate in a worthy cause.

Yet these "leaders" are always appalled when their incitements to riot in due course produce riots.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Gonorrhea

(First of two articles) Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have read your article on gonorrhea and don't know it. Please give the symptoms and signs of this disease in males. — P. E.

Dear Doctor: I had pain during urination and discharge about 10 days after sexual contact. I had no sores of any sort in the area. Is a urine specimen which checks out negative conclusive evidence that I have not contracted V.D.? — T. H.

Every youngster of high school age, these days, has heard about V.D. venereal disease. How many of them really know how to recognize it is another matter. Letters from teen-agers, and older, prove it. So many still do not know.

In the male, a pus discharge, plus a burning sensation with urination, is the usual sign that gonorrhea has developed. These signs appear in 95 percent of boys and men who get the disease. They should have treatment at once. If not, they may struggle with the symptoms for several months. Then have the infection subside into a chronic case. They can still spread the disease; and from their own standpoint, the infection can lead to sterility, prostate trouble, kidney trouble, bone infection, disease of the joints, and several other stubborn and unpleasant consequences.

Symptoms first develop anywhere from three to ten or more days after exposure. When a boy or young man knows he has been exposed, these signs appear at any time within the space of two or three weeks, there isn't much room for doubt as to what he has. A visible sore, which is a sign of syphilis and some less common venereal diseases, is not a sign of gonorrhea.

When Dr. Thosteson: My teacher says that in cold weather if your legs aren't covered and the rest of your body is, your legs will get fat, because the extra fat keeps them warm. Is this true? I don't want fat, chubby knees. — M.C.A.

It is true that fat layers act as insulation and help keep you warm. But that doesn't mean that you are going to grow layers of fat in any exposed area. How about your face? It doesn't get fat from being out in the cold, does it? So don't worry about your knees.

50-Year Reunion Is Held

GLENN'S FERRY — Three members of the Glenns Ferry High School graduating class (seven received diplomas fifty years ago) — 1920 held a reunion at Glenns Ferry during the graduation festivities for 1970 seniors.

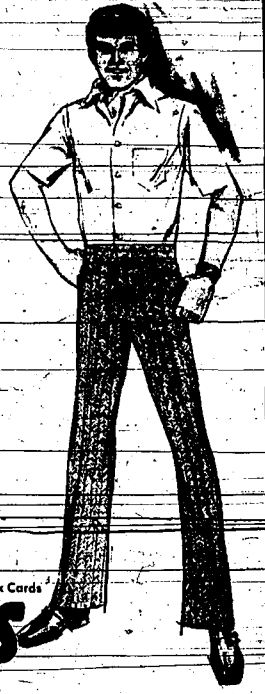

Attending were three women, Lillian Maxwell Wells of Ontario, Ore., who was accompanied by her husband, Joe (both were Glenns' Ferry residents up until 18 months ago); Flora Morgan Gibson from Pocatello; Mabel Belmore Brewer of Oxnard, Calif. A fourth member, Ruth Kingston Erlich, of Bountiful, Utah, was unable to join her classmates.

Mrs. Brewer's sister, Mrs. Ethel Mae Starkey, and husband, Ken, entertained at dinner preceding the commencement program at the high school, where the honored grads of 50 years ago were seated exclusively in a reserved section.

CHILD FALLS RICHFIELD Mark Orr, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Orr, Jerome, broke his arm in two places in a fall from a horse at the home of his uncle, Frank Cliff, Richfield. The child was riding the horse with his older brother, Jeff, when he fell off. The horse was being led. He was taken to Jerome for treatment.

Junior Achievement Awards Made

Garry Bortz, a first-year member of the Twin Falls Junior Achievement program, walked off with the top award Monday evening during the organization's annual Futures Unlimited banquet at the Turf Club.

The Junior Achievement program teaches the young men and women the free enterprise system and how corporations operate. Within the Junior Achievement program, the students form corporations on a small scale and make and sell products as they would if a large corporation.

The awards were presented by Phil Finley and Vern Stanger, program managers. Master of ceremonies at the banquet was Dave Powell, a director of the organization.

Richard Engelhart, Kimco, was awarded the top salesman of the year award. The top officer of the year was Terry Becker, treasurer of Belteleco.

Three-year Junior Achievement pins were awarded to Teresa Cole, Arthco; Becky Shibley, Sharon Loux, Paul Fearheller and companies during the banquet.

Plans Shaping Up For County Clean-Up Day

Clean-Up Day for Twin Falls County is shaping up as a bigger and bigger event. Co-Chairman William Chancy reported Monday.

He said Buhl area residents are organized with Marion Ambrose and Doug Bishop as co-directors, and another planning meeting for the steering committee will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the county judicial building.

Saturday, members of the Idaho National Guard and Army Reserve units from this area observed Armed Forces Day by cleaning up the Hub Butte area southwest of Twin Falls. Dumping, although not legal in the area, has been practiced for a number of years, and even abandoned car bodies were piled in the sagebrush area.

JUST TOO MUCH EXMOUTH, England (UPI) — Frogmen of a Royal Navy bomb disposal boat investigating an object in a traveler's net too heavy to haul up found a two-ton bulldozer Monday.

Military heavy equipment, including large trucks, loaded the debris and hauled it to regular dumpgrounds and places where the car bodies could be stored. Mr. Chancy said the units even furnished their own meals, although the county offered refreshments.

He said from all reports they hauled away several tons of debris. June 13 has been set as the date for the county-wide clean-up campaign, with many volunteer individuals and organizations committed to assist.

Flood Takes Stand In Opening Legal Round Against Reserve Clause

NEW YORK (UPI)—Curt Flood took the stand in Federal Court Tuesday on the first day of his suit against baseball and said he didn't like to be treated as a "piece of property."

Flood, backed by baseball's Players' Association, has filed suit in an attempt to overturn the sport's reserve clause, which binds a player to one team for the extent of his career. A team can sell or trade a player as well or to another organization.

Flood was traded last October to the Philadelphia Phillies in a deal that sent Richie Allen to St. Louis, but he refused to report to his new team.

"I didn't think that after 12 years I should be traded like a piece of property," said Flood, who admitted that he was earning $90,000 a year. "I wanted to continue playing for the Cards."

Under a cross-examination from Mark Hughes, attorney and spokesman for all the defense attorneys named in the suit attacking baseball's reserve clause, Flood said he decided last October he wouldn't play for the Phillies.

In December he made the decision to file suit.

The 32-year-old outfielder, who conceivably could be sacrificing the rest of his career by sitting out at least a year to test the constitutionality of the reserve clause, testified that he wrote to baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to complain that he was being traded. He said he didn't think it was fair because he is a human being.

Kuhn answered, according to Flood, that he agreed Flood was human but said there was nothing he could do about the transfer of the contract because it was a customary practice of baseball.

Flood said he then spoke to Phil's general manager John Quinn and advised him "I wasn't going to play baseball. I'm going to retire. He told me he thought I should not be as Philadelphia had the nucleus of a fine club and it was worth my while and to my advantage to join the team. I told him I'd like a little more time to think about it and he said that was alright with him."

Eventually Flood made his decision to file suit after several consultations with lawyers.

Under questioning from Hughes, Flood first admitted that the Players' Association was paying the expenses of his law suit, but then added, "that's what I understand."

When Hughes pressed for an answer to this question, Flood's attorney, former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, interceded and told Federal Judge Irving Ben Cooper that the association was funding the expenses "but we have received no money."

Hughes retorted, "I'm sorry to hear that," bringing laughter from those gathered in the courtroom.

Several times during the day's session Flood had been asked to keep his voice up, and at this point Judge Cooper turned to him and said, "This is a public trial. Many have come here to see you and to hear you. They have a right to know what's going on—really you almost have to show what you have to say without being prompted."

Hughes then asked Flood if he would drop the suit if the Players' Association and the owners came to some decision on modification of the reserve clause.

The trial without a jury will resume Thursday.

Unqualified Drivers Continue Competition For Indy Start

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The "race for speed by unqualified drivers and a 'sporting out' process for control while searching for a few extra miles per hour."

Other drivers looking for speed were Jack Brabham, Billy Vukovich and Kevin Bartlett, Brabham the Australian Grand Prix ace who started the rear-engine revolution at Indianapolis, was shaking down the new Offenhauser-powered car which arrived at the track last weekend. The car was delayed because of the trucking strike.

The 34-year-old former world's driving champion said this year's racing at Indianapolis would probably be his last. He said racing at the famed 2.5-mile Speedway was getting "too expensive."

The USAC rules for foreign power plants were stifling the international racing competition, he said.

Defending champ Mario Andretti and 1968 winner Bobby Unser returned to the track after their successful qualification last weekend. Both said they were seeking the right chassis combinations. Other qualified drivers ran with full defending champions, taken "surting out" the right chassis distribution they included Dan Gurney, Carl Williams,

Brown Hits 53 To Give Pacers 3-1 ABA Series Lead

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Slick Roger Brown poured in 53 points for an American Basketball Association playoff scoring record Tuesday night to lead Indiana to 142-120 victory over the Los Angeles Stars and drive the Pacers 3-1 advantage in the championship series.

The Pacers can wrap up the best of seven-game finals at Indianapolis on national television Saturday.

Getting 25 points of his record total in the last half, the 6-foot-5 Brown broke the ABA record of 52 points set by Rick Barry of Washington against Denver this year. He hit 15 of 21 two-point field goal attempts and made three three-pointers in eight tries. He was 14 of 16 from the free-throw line.

The Pacers broke open a close game late in the third quarter, going from a 65-63 advantage to a 108-94 third quarter lead in 8:30.

Brown, a 27-year-old forward who played for Dayton, broke Barry's record with 1:25 left. He stole a pass from the Stars' Mack Calvin and dribbled the length of the court for a layup.

U.S. Meets Soviets In Cage Tourney

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Two giants of amateur basketball, the United States and the Soviet Union, square off today for a match expected to tip the outcome of the Sixth World Basketball Championships.

"We expect to win," U.S. coach Hal Fischer said flatly. "We're in good shape. I'm satisfied with the boys' performance in the first two rounds against Czechoslovakia and Uruguay."

Team mainstays Brad Uchink and Bill Walton were sneezing and sniffing with colds as the squad worked out Tuesday.

"Don't worry about them," Fischer said, "a bit of hot tea and lemon and they'll be as good as new."

The team was slated to attend a pregame showing of films of the Khasan team, 1967 World Champions, taken during the current championship and during the 1966 Olympics.

U.S. Meets Soviets In Cage Tourney

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Two giants of amateur basketball, the United States and the Soviet Union, square off today for a match expected to tip the outcome of the Sixth World Basketball Championships.

"We expect to win," U.S. coach Hal Fischer said flatly. "We're in good shape. I'm satisfied with the boys' performance in the first two rounds against Czechoslovakia and Uruguay."

Team mainstays Brad Uchink and Bill Walton were sneezing and sniffing with colds as the squad worked out Tuesday.

"Don't worry about them," Fischer said, "a bit of hot tea and lemon and they'll be as good as new."

The team was slated to attend a pregame showing of films of the Khasan team, 1967 World Champions, taken during the current championship and during the 1966 Olympics.

Girl Watchers Beware! Maxis Lead

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Maxi-cover's the term for what's coming up in fall and winter fashion. Sorry about that, girl watchers.

Early shows by pace-setting designers for buyers assembled here from across the nation went on as though the mini never had been concocted. A few designers paid it token notice but the mini-marched onto center stage.

Pierre Cardin's American collection got the prize for maxi-cover. A red vinyl coat in his collection looked like a tepee. A circle cut in the head covering showed that, yes, indeed, there was a model inside. Only her cheeks, eyes, nose and mouth showed.

His sweater-toppings included attached head-coverings that allowed only the face to show. As with other designers, Cardin's idea of cover includes capes that reach below the calf.

Knee-high leather boots showed through slits in the skirts. For added teasing, this long, lean look sometimes featured a dozen slits in the skirt from the knee down.

Some outfits were heavy with leather touches and a few were all leather or vinyl.

Pantsuits in the collection were topped by jackets or a jacket that looked like a sailor's peacoat. His colors were heavily rust, brown, black, forest green or vivid—pure reds, blues, purples, oranges.

Geoffrey Beene and Donald Brooks, among the American designers, drew on the long, lean look also. Beene's collection included his standard marks—high waists, jumpers, braided trim.

Brooks had lots of pantsuits, capes, pleated and fluted skirts and the sweater look. Boots went with everything except evening wear.

Especially new were his midi-Tryolean suits featuring short, braided jackets.

"Pretend" Fur Togs Popular In Fall And Winter Showings

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fur trimming and fur togs come on strong in fall and winter clothes from the nation's pace-setting designers.

But all you conservationists, don't get up in arms.

The furry stuff, designer after designer goes on to explain, is "pretend"—most of the time.

The "pretend" fur used to be called marmade. Or cultured. Outside the garment district it's always been known as "fake."

"It looks like King Kong on top of the Empire State Building," a buyer said, recalling the movie with a gorilla superstar.

At Originals, the animal pretenders ranged from snow leopard to Dalmatian prints. The best was a jaguar raincoat, a super trench coat with swirling skirt and matching hat with footwide brim.

This house called some of its "pretend" fur outfits the "great forgery"—and put real leather sleeves on some of the "pretend" fur outfits.

Original—and its various subdivisions repeatedly came up with outfits that would seem likely candidates for uniforms to be worn by the militant ones in "women's lib."

These were great big, man-tailored black coats, frequently with gold or silver buttons—very military in look.

To complete the look there were black trouser-shaped pants and wide-brimmed fedoras.

There are jaguar printed velvets, elephant hide patterned velvets, and polar bear versions in manmade fabrics.

From a distance they all had that real look. To the stroke they felt like the real thing, too.

The era of the pelt from the sewing machine or factory loom brings with it more than a recipe for a death sentence for the furry covered creatures of the world.

They put an easy bite on the purse, so for consumers there's the luxury fur look for much less money—the champagne look at beer prices.

David Kidd, designing for Marquise, put a polar bear coat over a jumpsuit. It looked like a gorilla coat.

"Ambassadors for Friendship" Described For Scribblers Club

Mrs. Evelyn Ellis, program chairman, gave a description of Harry Morgan's project "Ambassadors for Friendship," and her personal experiences with them which members of the Scribblers Club met recently.

Harry Morgan, a young college man in 1959, found it deplorable, the concept foreign students had of the United States. One summer he invited groups to accompany him on a trip by car through parts of the country. As there were no funds available, they camped, slept in churches and even jails, and accepted hospitality of people along the way.

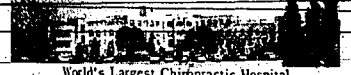

In this way, they made acquaintances of "grass root Americans." So successful was this project, that "Ambassadors for Friendship" became a continued program.

DEAR ABBY: My problem isn't an uncommon one from talking to some of my friends, but I've never seen anything in your column about it.

My husband and I have been married for 8 years. We have two small children, and another on the way. Abby, we WANTED these children!

We haven't told my parents about the one on the way yet because we know they are going to take it! [Especially my mother.]

Every time I get pregnant there is a noisy scene. We're well able to support these children, and we've never asked our parents to baby-sit or help out financially, but they make us feel so guilty. They say we are "crazy" to tie ourselves down to so much responsibility while we're young—that we should enjoy ourselves and be "free" for the first 10 years. But, Abby, we want to be young with our children.

I am a nervous wreck! How should I break the news that No. 3 will be here for Christmas? NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Save the news, appropriately enough, for Father's day—since you just missed Mother's day. In any case, it sounds as though you're strapping on a cord between you and your mother which has been cut years ago. Live your own adult life and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman who has had a very unsatisfactory marriage for nearly 20 years, but I won't go into that because that's not my problem.

My problem is my gentleman friend. Walter is not married. [He's divorced.] We've been seeing each other (intermittently) for nearly 3 years, and it's no cheap love affair, Abby, it's the best thing that has ever happened to me.

Walter and I can't be seen together in public because my husband is a fairly prominent professional man, and I still put on a good front as I happily married wife and mother. Every time I'm in a public place where a lady can't see he HAS to, because if he isn't seen in public once in a while with a woman, people will think there is something wrong with him.

Well, every time Walter has a date with another woman, I go to pieces. I suppose it's wrong of me, but I can't help it. Do you think if he really loved me he'd date another woman? Even for appearances sake? TEARS IN MY WINE

DEAR TEARS: I can't tell you if Walter "really" loves you or not. But the "suffering" you endure every time he dates another woman is part of the price you're paying for this affair. (The "best" things in life are very expensive.)

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who publicly refers to his secretary as his "office wife"? HIS HOME WIFE

DEAR HOME: He's either looking for trouble. Or has found it.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that man whose wife rejected him 97 times last year to send her to San Francisco and let her ride the cable cars. I understand a woman there claims that after she got shook up in a cable car she couldn't say "no" to anybody. RESPONSIBLY YOURS, D. W.

What's your problem? You'll get a lot of help if you don't write to ABBY. Box 2000, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

"I ought to quit bridge," moaned Joe. "Three finesses out of three wrong."

"Yes, you should," said North. "When you are sure of your contract, without finessing, why finess?"

North was right. When trumps broke 2-2 Joe was certain to make his contract if he didn't go after over-tricks. His correct play was to lead down his king of diamonds. It just might pluck a singleton queen for an over-trick. In this case West would win with his ace.

If he shifted to a spade, Joe would finesse the queen. East would win with his king.

Now he could do anything he pleased, except defeat the contract. If East led the spade jack dummy would win with the ace, making his 10 good.

Any other lead and Joe would have time to knock out the diamond queen and discard one of dummy's spades on the fourth diamond.

Q-CARD Sense

Q-The bidding has been:

West	1 ♣	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ AK54 ♣ Q842 ♣ KJ97

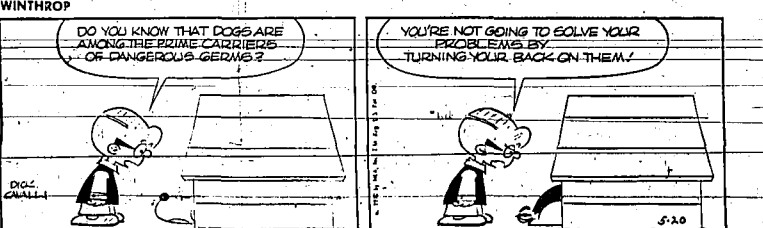

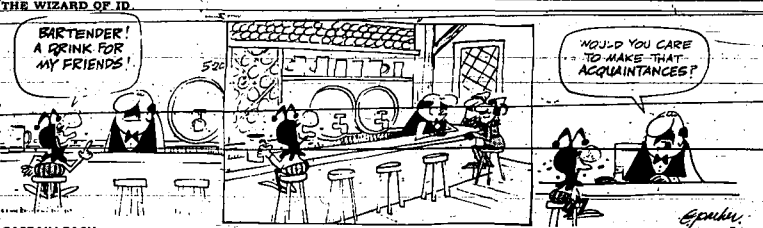

What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner has told you he has good spades. It is likely he only holds three clubs. Let him play the hand.

"Watch me finess all around them," he chortled. Then he led a spade to dummy's 10 and East's jack. Back came another club. Joe ruffed and proceeded to lose another spade finess. This time East returned a diamond. Joe played low and a third finess lost to West's queen. Since the ace of diamonds was still out another rubber game missed by one trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four spades your partner has bid five clubs over your four hearts. What do you do now?

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q "What's the average tax refund?" A: At last report, $197. ... Q "What's the 'S' stand for in Harry S. Truman's name?" A. Swinnerton. He accepted that honorary Indian name 15 years ago. Before that, the "S" didn't stand for anything. ... Q "How much does a big whale eat every day, about?" A. Maybe a ton.

CLOTHING — First men in this country to wear ready-made suits were the sailors. The suits of others were made by wives and tailors, but sailors weren't in port long enough to wait around for the fittings, so they created the first market for pipe-rack clothing.

TRADITIONS — Cartoonists are fond of depicting the Indian rope trick, still. Yet nobody has ever seen the Indian rope trick performed. Cartoonists are also fond of depicting the eloping bride, climbing down a ladder from her bedroom window but have you ever known a wife who began her elopement that way? Our Love and War Man has not. And what did the eloping bride have to do with the Republican Party? Or the donkey with the Democrats? Nothing. Merely the whims of a cartoonist. Our traditions are rounded less upon fact than upon the imagination of clever men.

ROCKETS — Various American rockets are called Titan, Thor, Jupiter and Atlas. Mighty impressive. The English give their rockets such names as Black Knight, Bloodhound and Thunderbird. Fairly expressive, too. But the French are niftier at naming rockets. They call theirs Veronique and Monica.

WHEN THE POLLSTERS asked mothers nationwide how much allowance a 16-year-old boy should be given, their answers averaged out to $4.55 a week. OUR NAME GAME MAN says men called Vernon would tend to become highly profane fathers were they not inhibited by worries over the costs of large families. CANARIES aren't deaf, but they can only hear real high notes. Carry on an ordinary conversation in a room with a canary in it and said bird won't even hear you. Or so say the bird scientists.

RAPID REPLY — The floral experts contend the most glamorous flower is not the orchid but the camelia.

Black Students Protest

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A crowd of angry black students, claiming that valuable evidence might be jeopardized, prevented a group of Mississippi highway patrol investigators Tuesday from removing sections of a dormitory where two youths were shot to death.

Mrs. Elsa Vaughn, past winner of the International Toastmistress speech contest, was guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Magic Toastmistress Club at the Colonial House.

Several investigators and workmen from the patrol's crime laboratory showed up on the Jackson State College campus to remove panels in Auditor Hall that had been riddled by bullets.

About 275 students at the black college clustered in front of the women's dormitory and their leaders told the investigators to go away.

The investigators left, without their evidence. Two blacks were shot to death by highway patrolmen in front of the dormitory last week. A state college board official who authorized removal of the panels said the FBI wanted the material, but the students voiced fears that the patrol would harm the evidence.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who visited the campus Monday, spoke to a group of cotton industry leaders at the annual Delta Council meeting in Cleveland, Miss., Tuesday.

He deplored the killings of students at Jackson State and Kent State and said, "This is a nation determined to live within the law."

"Neither violent demonstrations or unrestrained reactions are part of that law," Mitchell said.

About 100 blacks, led by state NAACP President Aaron Henry, marched two miles from a church to the Coliseum where Mitchell spoke. Patrolmen armed with shotguns escorted them. Police ordered them to stop at the Coliseum entrance and permitted only a few of them to go inside to listen to Mitchell.

Governor, Business Partners

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson said Tuesday his firm's to think of governments as partners in the business of serving the public.

Samuelson made the comment at ribbon-cutting ceremonies Tuesday afternoon for new Social Security administration district offices in Boise.

He said he was "deeply impressed at the tremendous responsibility which rests upon your district Social Security office."

"The office serves 235,000 citizens of southwestern Idaho," he said.

HOSEA WILLIAMS, second from the left in front row, an official from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, leads some 200 marchers on the initial leg of a 110-mile protest route to Atlanta from Petty, Georgia.

The marchers are protesting the recent deaths of eight blacks in racial turmoil at Augusta and at Jackson, Miss. (UPI-1 telephoto)

Alleged Bomber Linked With Foreign Country

NEW YORK (UPI) — City authorities charged Tuesday that Carlos Feliciano, alleged bomber of 41 buildings in New York City, has been linked with an "alien government."

Feliciano was identified as a member of Mira, a Puerto Rican revolutionary group reportedly financed by Communist-Guba.

Assistant District Attorney John Fine made the charge at a criminal court hearing in arguing against a defense request for reduction of the $150,000 bail set in Feliciano's case when he was arrested last week.

"We have learned that this defendant has affiliations with an alien government outside this country," Fine said. Bail was continued at $150,000 pending a further hearing June 6. Fine said also that persons in two Bronx theaters. He has been charged with bombing the New York public apartment library's central building at Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street. Bomb-squad detectives list General Electric plants, Harlem banks, and Alexander's, Woolworth's and Macy's stores among the targets of his bombs.

Crash-Kills
STORUMAN, Sweden (UPI) — Three persons were killed and a fourth injured Tuesday when a private Piper Cherokee plane crashed during a landing attempt, police said.

The appeal of Michael Dillon from the Fifth District will be heard Friday at 10 a.m. Dillon, who was 17 years old at the time of his conviction, was charged in 1967 with allegedly murdering Alta Simerly, 66, Jerome, whose body was found in a sand-pit near the Jerome golf course.

Dillon's appeal contends the trial court failed to give correct instructions to the jury on the question of malice aforethought and also contends certain items of evidence should not have been offered into evidence against him.

Thursday, the court will hear an appeal from the Fourth Judicial District from two women convicted of armed robbery. Mary Ann Griffith and April Jo La Valle were found to have robbed Ronald L. Wakefield, an airman at the Mountain Home Air Force Base, in 1968. The women contend they were prejudiced by testimony to their truthfulness, honesty and integrity and that the verdict was contrary to the evidence.

Thursday afternoon the court will hear an appeal from the Third Judicial District from Randall C. Kaufmann, Rayette, who pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of marijuana in 1969. He contends the district court abused its discretion in denying his application for probation.

Friday afternoon, the court will hear an appeal from the Fourth Judicial District Court in Idaho County from John Bullis, convicted in 1968 of second degree burglary. His appeal contends the indictment upon which he was tried was insufficient and therefore his trial and sentence were illegal. Bullis has chosen to argue his own case.

Americans Should Play Cool
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger Tuesday cautioned Americans against overreacting to the "nervous tempo" of today's society.

"Some say that we must 'crack down,' that we must 'smash' the challengers, and restore tight discipline," Burger said in a speech at the annual meeting of the American Law Institute.

"In some periods of stress there are always some voices raised urging that we suspend fundamental guarantees and take short cuts as a matter of self-preservation and self-protection," Burger said. "But this is not our way-of-doing things short of a great national emergency."

"Our legal structure is perhaps more relaxed than that of any other society," Burger said. "If this has negative aspects it also affords us a resiliency to live us over and enable us to meet any crisis as it arises. We will respond slowly but that is the nature of a democratic society ... I believe our institutions are durable enough to withstand any attack."

Food
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A food industry economist said Tuesday the government's prediction that food costs this year will rise by two cents for every 50 cents spent is nearly a penny low.

He pointed out, however, that most of the gain already has taken place and would rise only about another 1.5 per cent the remainder of the year.

Lawyer Says Trial Of Marines Is Political

By ROBERT SULLIVAN
DA NANG, South Vietnam (UPI) — The lawyer for one of four U.S. Marines accused of killing 16 Vietnamese civilians said Tuesday that high-ranking commanders ordered a court-martial for political reasons to avoid any charges of cover-up.

The attorney, Capt. Robert Williams, 27, of Baton Rouge, La., said the case was "political" in nature and controlled by headquarters to make sure that "the Marine Corps is not going to get caught up like the Army did, covering up at My Lai."

Williams was referring to the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at the hamlet of My Lai in March, 1968. Several U.S. Army men have been accused of murder in that case and some high-ranking officers, including a general, have been charged with failure to make proper investigation of original reports on the incident.

Williams said that "what happened to the generals in the My Lai case has everybody scared and everybody wants to make sure he is covered by paperwork," Williams said.

Marine officials declined comment on Williams' charges. The men involved in the Marine case are accused of killing five women and 11 children last Feb. 4 in Hamlet 4, Son Thang village, 27 miles south of Da Nang.

England's Politics Underway

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's political parties went into action Tuesday, seeking the initiative in the June 18 general election campaign.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson ordered Labor party officials to speed the party's platform to the voters—a platform expected to exhort Britons to retain the government that has brought prosperity after six years of economic austerity.

Political sources said it will call for another five years in office for Labor to lead Britain farther down the road to socialism.

Idaho Court Sets 4 Cases For Boise

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has scheduled four cases during its May term Boise, including an appeal from a second degree murder conviction from Twin Falls County.

The appeal of Michael Dillon from the Fifth District will be heard Friday at 10 a.m. Dillon, who was 17 years old at the time of his conviction, was charged in 1967 with allegedly murdering Alta Simerly, 66, Jerome, whose body was found in a sand-pit near the Jerome golf course.
