TEN CENTS

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL Chairman Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton said at a news conference that results of a telephone poll taken by the GOP National Committee showed most Americans supported President Nixon's decision on Cambodia and disapproved of the student anti-war demonstrations. The poll was taken by a private organization and seven questions were asked of 1,053 persons. (UPI telephoto)

Senate Expected To Be "In Concert" On Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In its third week of debate on the U.S. military expedition into Cambodia, the Senate was expected to declare today it is "in concert" with President Nixon's announced intention of withdrawing American troops by July 1.

Meantime, 16 House members, representing a wide spectrum of opinion on the war, introduced legislation "that would prohibit the President from committing American troops overseas without prior congressional consent or unless the United States was under attack or threat of attack."

The amendment is legally inconsequential but Republican leaders want to bring the language to a formal vote to demonstrate that the Senate is not mistrustful of the President. When passed, it would become part of a measure sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to cut off funds for the Cambodia operation after June 30 and to deny appropriations for later fiscal year military thrusts into the area.

A vote was set for 2 p.m. EDT on an amendment asserting that pending antiwar legislation is "in concert with the declared objectives of the President to avoid the involvement of the United States in Cambodia after July 1, 1970." Passage was predicted by an overwhelming margin.

Lebanese Workers On Strike

BEIRUT (UPI)—Lebanese workers by the thousands staged a nationwide one-day strike today in demand of a stronger military stance against Israel, underlining the pressure on the Beirut government to join other Arab nations in the war against the Jewish state.

One battle was reported with Israeli troops. Military spokesmen said one Lebanese lieutenant was killed late Monday in a clash with an Israeli patrol that had penetrated 800 yards into southern Lebanon before being forced out. No Israeli losses were reported.

Strike Effective
The nationwide strike, proclaimed 98 per cent effective by its leaders, closed schools, shut down shops, virtually closed the port, and even forced a three-hour halt in departures from Beirut International Airport. Police and troops did not interfere.

Nuclear Tests In Nevada

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI)—Scientists triggered two underground nuclear tests today, one an experiment to develop an explosive for excavations and the other a weapons test.

The blasts were detonated within 45 minutes of each other at the Nevada Test Site. The Atomic Energy Commission said no radiation leaked into the atmosphere from either test.

The weapons device was touched off in the Rainier Mesa area of the test site at the end of a 4,000-foot tunnel which was 300 feet below the surface of the Table Top Mountain formation.

The blast had a yield of 20 kilotons, about the same force of the atomic bomb dropped on Japan during World War II. It was named Hudson Moon.

The second explosion was part of the Plowshare program to develop peaceful uses of nuclear energy. It was detonated 3,700 feet below the surface of the desert and was labeled "Ezekiel." The AEC said it had a yield of 20 to 200 kilotons, or a maximum equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

Combat Yanks Out Of Asia In Year

ROME (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has assured America's allies at today's North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting that U.S. troops will cease their active combat role in Indochina within a year.

Minister Walter Scheel of America's support for West Germany's approach to the East but said Washington still had no public or private position on the 20 points put forward by Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Diplomatic sources said NATO has agreed to make a series of peace approaches to the Soviet Union in the coming months to see if the Soviets may be tempted to seek accommodation with the Allies in Europe because of the growing threat from Communist China.

NATO intends to issue a declaration of intent by mid-week, declaring its readiness for a serious East-West dialogue.

U.S. officials said Rogers has repeated President Nixon's promise to withdraw all American troops from Cambodia by July 1, the officials said.

He met privately Monday with several delegates to the two-day NATO Council of Ministers meeting opening at 10:30 a.m. EDT.

The sources said Rogers told the foreign ministers the Nixon administration believes the presence of Soviet pilots in Egypt has brought a new "qualitative element" into the Arab-Israeli conflict but has not yet necessarily altered the balance of military power in the Middle East.

The foreign ministers were said to be gloomy on the prospects for peace in the Middle East.

Rogers said the United States would be out of its active combat role in Indochina by this time next year, the officials said. This apparently meant keeping U.S. troops out of combat sweeps and offensives like the one in Cambodia.

Sources said Rogers reassured West German Foreign Minister Bragg, 42, retired detective sergeant from the Omaha, Neb., Police Department, was unanimously elected as secretary-treasurer.

The new organization is the International Brotherhood of Police Officers. The 75 charter delegates from 17 cities elected John J. Cassese as president. The 57-year-old retired New York City patrolman is former-president of the New York Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

Police
DENVER (UPI)—Delegates representing 10,000 U.S. police officers gave formal approval Monday to the creation of a national policeman's union.

Medical Students Refuse Duty Tour
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A letter to President Nixon from 17 medical students at the University of Utah has been mailed—informing him they will not serve as military doctors in Southeast Asia.

Copies of the statement were also sent to members of Utah's congressional delegation, to Gov. Calvin L. Rampton and to university president James L. Fletcher.

Rise
NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices showed signs of recovery after initial further selling today.

Within the first hour the Dow Jones Industrial Average—the reflector of movement in 30 top grade investments—gave up almost 3 points. But then started moving up fractionally. By 11 a.m. the DJ industrial average was up 0.21 to 841.57.

The UPI marketwide indicator—which measures the health of the entire market—was off less than a percentage point.

Among issues off $1 a share or more were IBM and Monsanto Chemical. Lowerpriced Cox Broadcasting gave up $1.88 and Edison Brothers Stores fell $3.25. U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Xerox and General Motors each lost less than $1 a share.

Air Force Plane Damaged
PALMDALE, Calif. (UPI)—An electrical fire that started in the cargo compartment of a giant CSA transport roared out of control for 30 minutes Monday during an attempted takeoff from an air force facility at Palmdale Air Force Base.

The fire erupted as the aircraft, the largest in the world, taxied down a runway. Five firemen were injured fighting the blaze, which the Air Force said caused nearly $6 million damage.

Fire Department officials said 96 per cent of the wiring of the $18 million plane was destroyed. The crew escaped unharmed.

Officials said at one point a manure-jet transport began inexplicably rolling forward after the crew evacuated the plane. Ground crews frantically ran alongside attempting to place blocks in front of the wheels as five firemen leaped from inside the fuselage.

Leaders Honor Speaker
WASHINGTON (UPI)—This was John W. McCormack Day at the Capitol. President Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson were to join in paying tribute to the man who now has served as House speaker longer than any man except Sam Rayburn.

Both Nixon and Johnson were expected to speak briefly at 4:30 p.m. EDT reception for McCormack in the Longworth House Office Building.

McCormack, 78, has announced that after 42 years in the House he will not seek reelection from Massachusetts in November. He has been speaker of the House since Jan. 10, 1962, and has held the gavel 3,058 days—passing Henry Clay's record of 3,056 days on Monday.

Rayburn, of Texas, succeeded William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, as speaker on Sept. 18, 1940, and served until his death 21 years later on Nov. 18, 1961—except for four years when the Republicans controlled the House and Joe Martin of Massachusetts was speaker.

Hijack Traffic Is Heavy
MIAMI (UPI)—Two hijacked American airliners passed each other at the Havana Airport Monday. One was departing, the other arriving.

"I almost died. I couldn't believe it," said Janet Cook, 25, of Atlanta, a passenger on a Delta Convair 440 that was commandeered to Cuba by a woman.

The incoming jetliner was an American Airlines Boeing 727 hijacked on a Chicago-to-New York flight. The airliner was to return to the United States today.

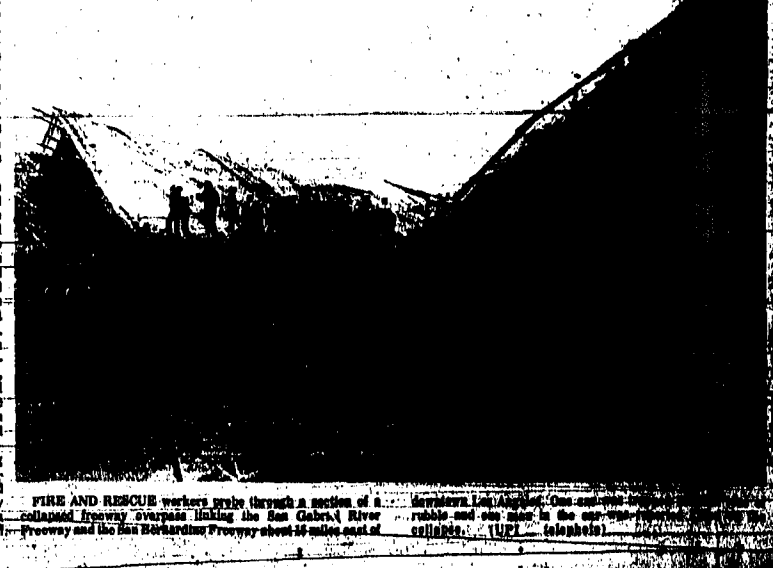

The Delta plane arrived in Miami Monday night. A third airliner hijacked to Cuba within a 24-hour period, returned to Mexico City Monday night. That plane, a Mexicana de Aviacion Boeing 727 carrying 79 persons, was taken over by three U.S. "hippies" and a minoritized girl Sunday night during a flight within Mexico.

Drug Charges Faced By Four
BOISE (UPI)—Drug charges against four young people are being continued in Probate court until an unspecified date by Judge Gerald Schroeder.

Ada County prosecutors filed the charges in Probate Court after Justice of the Peace Frank B. Chalfant Jr. threw the case out of his court following a preliminary hearing May 4.

Schroeder said he has not received the transcript of that preliminary hearing as yet.

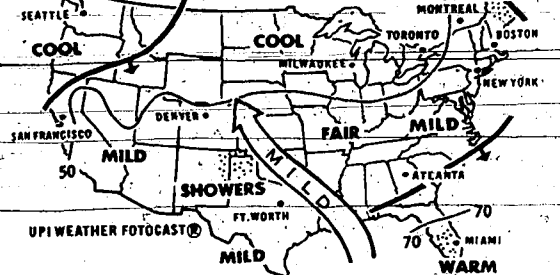

Suspects are Abraham Brown, 24; Charles Wilson, 21; Louis Phillips, 23; and Victor Blumstein, 21, all Boise.

Sweltering Soil Can Cripple Crops

IITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—A Cornell University professor has discovered that it isn't the sweltering sun that keeps farmers in tropical lands from growing vegetables commonly found in northern countries.

It's the oven-like temperatures below ground that destroy the roots, says Prof. Peter L. Seponka, who made his theory known at an international horticultural congress in Tel Aviv. He contends that proper irrigation would allow tropical countries to grow such northern vegetables as peas, broccoli, lettuce and cabbage.

Ways Eyed To Close President-Cabinet Gap

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some of the local pundits are saying that the White House staff has created a communications gap within the administration by "proclaiming" President Nixon from his Cabinet.

That sort of thing, if it be true, is nothing new, of course. At some point during almost every administration, members of the Cabinet begin to feel isolated from the President.

When this happens, Cabinet members occasionally resort to the various stratagems to try to get the President's attention. One favorite maneuver is the leak technique.

A Cabinet member will write a private memo to the President. But being fairly certain that it will be intercepted by the White House staff, he will send a copy to the press in the hope that the resulting headline will catch the President's eye.

Desperation Measures
Or, if the Cabinet member is really desperate, he might write a note to the President, put it in a bottle and drop it in the Potomac on the chance that it will wash ashore, be recovered and delivered.

Far Thieves Pose German Problem
BONN (UPI)—Thiefs of furs by organized gangs who steal them by the carload and smuggle them across national borders for resale has increased sharply in recent years in West Germany as well as in neighboring countries.

In 1969, furs worth 13 million marks (15,000,000) were stolen from German stores and warehouses, the Federal Criminal Police said in a report to Parliament.

Elvin Brooks Accused Of Fraud

KETCHUM — Elvin H. Brooks, 53, died Monday morning at his home in Ketchum of an apparent heart attack.

He was born Sept. 9, 1916, at Tescott, Kan. and moved to Falls County Commissioners Twin Falls when he was 19 years old. He married Norene Uhlig at Twin Falls on Nov. 12, 1929, and the couple moved to Ketchum in 1951.

In Ketchum, Mr. Brooks was in business for himself, operating Brooks Welding, and had been recognized for his innovation which made moguls in the snow at Twin Falls.

He had been active in the Ketchum Chamber of Commerce and Rotary but in recent years had been less active as president of his business.

He also served as justice of the peace when he first moved to Ketchum.

At the time of his death, he was active in the Halley Masonic Lodge 16, AF and AM, and had been installed as worthy patron of the Bethany 23, Order of the Eastern Star in April.

Survivors include his widow, Ketchum; two sons, Allen Brooks, Dubois, Wyo., and Ray Brooks, a junior at the University of Idaho; his father, Edwin Brooks, a patient at the Wood River Convalescent Home in Shoshone; three brothers, William Brooks, San Francisco; Don Brooks, Pocatello, and Rex Brooks, Toca, Kan.; one daughter, Mrs. George Strayer, Phillips, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Ketchum, by Rev. William D. Ellway, with time to be announced. Masonic graveside service will be held at the Ketchum cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of the Bird Funeral Home, Halley.

William Burks

JEROME — William E. Burks, 53, died Sunday afternoon of a brief illness at his home at Milton-Freewater, Ore. He was born Oct. 19, 1916, at Jerome. He attended school in Jerome and business college in Washington, D. C. He worked for the Jerome-Lumber Co. and also farmed near Jerome for 18 years, prior to becoming associated with a local accounting firm.

He had lived for the past seven years in Milton-Freewater and was the office manager for Peillard Motor Co. He was a member of Grace Presbyterian Church, Milton-Freewater, and was past exalted ruler of the Milton-Freewater Lodge No. 2146 F.O.P.

He married Janice Freeman on June 30, 1941, at Jerome. Surviving, besides his widow are a daughter, Jacquie Burks, Milton-Freewater; two sons, Mike Burks and Dick Burks, both Milton-Freewater; his mother, Mrs. Edna Burks, Jerome; a sister, Mrs. Keith (Barbara) Johnson, Jerome, and a brother, Richard Burks, Springfield, Mo., and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at Hove Funeral Chapel, Jerome, by Rev. William L. Barrett. Milton-Freewater Elks Lodge will conduct graveside rites at Jerome Cemetery. Friends may call Tuesday night and Wednesday from noon to 2 p. m. at the chapel.

MEMORIAL DAY TRIBUTE

Once again, on Memorial Day, we pause to recall, with respect and much pride, the selfless sacrifice of our brave and valiant departed heroes. Gallantly they marched forth, united as in defense of freedom, and with unflinching courage and unyielding devotion to cause, they gave their lives so that our precious heritage of liberty might endure. Let their deeds be forgotten or ignored, and their sacrifices be in vain, let us all now resolve to be equally steadfast and courageous in preserving that which has been so heroically achieved. Let us dedicate ourselves to local, state and national service, for freedom, which is the legacy of those whose memory we honor today.

County Sells 6 Pieces Of Property For Taxes

Six parcels of property in Twin Falls county were sold during a tax sale Monday in the Twin Falls County Courthouse. All properties were those on which taxes had not been paid for some time and which were assumed by the county.

Western Appraisal Co., Twin Falls, paid $125 for a lot in the back of Barnage Street. Taxes on the property were $47.99 and it was formerly owned by Sidney B. Moon.

Lloyd Ritchie purchased the property at 1640 Second Ave. E., for $375.00. It was previously owned by Malinda Davis and taxes totaled $294.12. A two-foot strip of land running some 197 feet at 227 West Caswell Avenue, was purchased by Connie Lelzer for $20. Taxes amounted to $19.31 and the property formerly belonged to Mark Brown. In Buhl, three pieces of property were offered for sale, but only one was purchased. Ted Netz paid $56 for a piece of property at the end of 14th St. N., and Frulland Drive. It had been owned by Marion Low.

A property located on U. S. Highway 30 in Filer was purchased by Paul Turmispred for $510. The 75-foot strip of land was part of the E. C. Tickner estate.

Property adjacent to the north bank of the Twin Falls canal two miles south of Hansen and formerly owned by Lester Walburn sold for $310 to the Twin Falls Canal Co. Taxes on the property amounted to $250. Commissioned William Chancey served as auctioneer for the public sale.

'M-A-S-H' Is Spoof Of Brass

'M-A-S-H', 20th Century Fox's irreverent look at war, opens Wednesday at the Orpheum Theatre in Twin Falls.

Donald Sutherland, Elliott Gould and Tom Skerritt star in the production. They portray three army surgeons who develop their own life style in order to function and keep their sanity amid the horrors encountered in a mobile army surgical hospital (M-A-S-H) during the Korean War.

They are skilled and dedicated to their profession but are equally adept at making a shambles of army bureaucracy. In a wild football sequence, nine professional football players turn actor for the first time. They include Howard Williams and Gen Davidson of the Oakland Raiders; Jack Concannon, John Myers and Tom Woodeschick of the Philadelphia Eagles; Timmy Brown of the Baltimore Colts, and Buck Buchanan and "Supergnat" Nolan Smith of the Kansas City Chiefs.

The author of the book from which 'M-A-S-H' was adapted is one of the nation's leading surgeons, which explains his lucid handling of his characters' vocations.

The film won the international grand prize in the Cannes Film Festival, the first American film to win since 'Friendly Persuasion' in 1957.

'Marooned' Is Tale Of Astronauts

'Marooned', the story of three astronauts stranded in space while a waiting world keeps track of them, starts Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre in Twin Falls.

The Frankovich-Sturges production stars Greg Kinnear, Richard Greene, David Jansen, James Franciscus and Gene Hackman, and co-stars Lee Grant, Nancy Kovak and Mariette Hartley.

Filming of the space spectacular began in 1968 and was completed about a year ago. Because of a malfunction of their spacecraft, the three astronauts are marooned in space while an anxious mission control group desperately tries to effect a rescue.

The production was filmed partially at Cape Kennedy and Houston, where actual mission control groups several months ago effected a real-life recovery of the Apollo 13, which put the craft and its three passengers in jeopardy because of a malfunction.

Weeks and months were spent researching the actual functions of the nation's space program in preparation for filming of 'Marooned.'

American astronaut Eugene Cernan and two visiting Russian spacemen were hosted by producer M. J. Frankovich, who also allowed them a sneak showing of 'Marooned.'

Insurance Spring Clean-Up Is Rate Study Big Item On Highways Under Way

Representatives of the Idaho Survey and Rating Bureau, Boise, are currently in Twin Falls contacting all businesses, schools, churches and other public buildings to determine fire insurance rates.

City Manager Jean Milar said the city is urging all residents to cooperate with the survey teams when they visit and to answer questions as promptly as possible. Their work, he said, will probably mean lower insurance rates in the city and cooperation of individuals contacted could help those individuals and other residents of the city.

Some time ago, the bureau began the study by making surveys of the city fire department, water department and other records involving fire and safety.

This final portion of the survey will be completed within two months and the entire survey will be completed and results available in about three months, Mr. Milar said.

Those involved in the present work are Glenn Smith, Ed Letney, Skip Anderson and Ed Freize, all of the Idaho Survey and Rating Bureau, Boise.

Retired People Plan Meeting Here June 17

The last opportunity for retired persons of Magic Valley to become charter members of the Magic Valley Chapter 425, American Association of Retired Persons, will be June 17 at the next meeting of the organization.

The group will meet at the Episcopal Church at that time for a noon, pot luck dinner. All persons 45 years of age or older are welcome to attend and join the meeting. In the May meeting, some 45 persons attended to hear talks by Oscar Johnson and I. T. Creed about vegetable and flower growing.

Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig and Joyce Kelley and a reading was given by David G. Mitchell.

The film received its due credits during the annual academy award presentations. It received nominations in many categories and won Oscars for several of its accomplishments.

It has to be spring when home owners begin their annual painting, repair and clean-up programs, and this holds true with the Idaho Department of Highways as well.

There are 5,000 miles of state highways in Idaho, and annually the Idaho taxpayers pay $2.5 million for maintenance operations. This work is now in full swing and it will include picking up about $183,000 worth of litter during the year.

Another major item on the spring agenda is the painting of

Wendell Girls Plan For Trip

WENDELL — Vickie Lynch, yell queen; Debbie Scott, Beverly Schrank and Bonnie Tronson, varsity cheerleaders, are working at odd jobs this summer to earn their way to a cheerleaders workshop at Portland, Ore., scheduled for July 12-16.

The cost for each girl is $49 and includes schooling room and board.

Ed Otton, high school coach, will act as chaperon. The workshop includes classroom work in which 15 different cheers will be learned. The afternoon sessions will consist of lectures presented by 12 different instructors.

The girls will compete and divisions are divided according to the number of girls in each squad. Trophies, ribbons and a spirit-sticks-are-awarded, followed by television interviews.

Some 500 girls from the Northwestern United States will attend the four-day session.

Last year's squad from Wendell earned the Coca Cola award, spirit stick, ribbons, first place trophy in the four-girl division and the traveling award which is best overall trophy.

Anyone wishing girls for any household duty are asked to call Vickie Lynch, 536-2097, or Debbie Scott, 536-2007.

Miss Lynch states, "We are all anxious to go because we want to do our best for our school and hope to bring honors back to the town. We are appreciative of any jobs given us."

traffic lane stripes on the highways. For this, about 70,000 gallons of white paint and 60,000 gallons of yellow paint will be used. There will also be some 500,000 pounds of reflective beads blended with the paint to help motorists see the stripes in all weather.

The paint used each year by the department would paint every home in Boise and Idaho Falls. Paint costs represent a sizeable investment for the highway department as well as a home owner. This year the department will spend $380,000 on white and yellow paint and reflective beads. This year the Department will be paying $1.80 for white paint and $2.10 for yellow per gallon, a special applicator gun drops the beads into the paint immediately after it is applied. Some heavily traveled highways are striped two and even three times per year.

Highway signs must be washed several times each year and, to save hours of labor, a special machine discharging a mixture of detergent and water is used for this.

There is also landscaping, including the seeding of highway right-of-way where erosion can become a problem. Several million dollars will be spent on rest area improvement and maintenance over several years time.

Probably the major item is patching. With spring comes an end to the freezing and thawing which causes highway break-up, and permanent patching operations can begin.

About The Berkeley Strike

BERKELEY, Cal.—The disruptive road traveled by the University of California at Berkeley since 1964 reached its inevitable destination when academic freedom was curtailed in dozens of classrooms...

Education

"One man, one vote" is the law, if not the perfect practice, in every state. Many concerned citizens are arguing that "one school student, one standard of school expenditure" ought to be the rule within every state as well.

It is no secret that striking differences exist between states in the amount of money spent on education. According to the National Committee for the Support of the Public Schools, expenditures for the academic year 1969-70 ranged from a low of $438 in Alabama to a high of $1,251 in New York.

Yet the differences between school districts within the same state may be just as great. New York has districts which spend less than $500 per pupil and others which spend more than $1,500.

In 1967, per pupil expenditures in California ranged from $274 in its poorest district to $1,710 in its wealthiest, and in Michigan from $394 to $915.

This is not just a problem of the inner cities. Rural areas and bedroom communities whose taxable wealth consists almost exclusively of low- to middle-value residential properties are finding this an increasingly inadequate base to support the many school-age children of young families attracted to these communities.

In contrast, prestigious suburbs with shopping centers and high-priced homes and above-average income easily generate resources to purchase superior school services. So do areas with high concentrations of industry.

The states have various aid formulas which favor poor districts over rich, but these mainly provide a minimum floor of support while doing little to equalize disparities in local wealth.

This long-standing public policy, which permits the quality of a child's education to be determined more by the accident of residence than any other factor, is coming under sharp attack. State educational finance systems which permit such inequities are, in fact, unconstitutional, critics claim, and they are using the same article of the Constitution under which the Supreme Court laid down its famous "one man, one vote" doctrine to spearhead attacks on these systems in the courts.

The Fourteenth Amendment states in part that no state shall "deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The only case to reach the Supreme Court thus far arose in Chicago. In "McInnis vs. Ogilvie," the plaintiffs asked that Illinois legislation which provided for and permitted the distribution of public monies "not based upon the educational needs of children" and which "resulted in unequal per pupil expenditures" be declared unconstitutional and a permanent injunction be granted.

A three-judge federal district court, while recognizing the inequities and conceding that "presumably students receiving a $1,000 education were better educated than those acquiring a $600 schooling," dismissed the suit because it neither found the Illinois statutes discriminatory or arbitrary nor could it discern any "judicially manageable standards" upon which to grant relief.

MR. SPECTATOR

Good Old Childhood

Mr. Spectator never approaches the summer season, with school letting out for 100 days or so, but that he doesn't think back to his childhood.

It's getting harder to remember that far back but then now and then a sketch comes through and we recall the happy days of carefree youth.

We can remember when we received our report cards—it was always the day after Memorial Day (they called it Decoration Day then)—and then we didn't go back to school until early September. This was in grade and high school, of course, but probably the grade school vacations are the remembered ones because there was so much to do and it was not messed up by having to work at a summer job.

We can remember our intricate irrigation system which ran clear around the 50 by 150 foot lot on which our home was located. We had canals, rivers, a series of dams; a series of boxes — the works. We could float a little hand-made boat clear around the yard without human hands touching it.

Then the highest mountain a few miles from town. We climbed it many times and each time left our name in a can at the top, written on a piece of paper. We read with interest the people who arrived there before us. The mountain still looks big when we go back to the home town of childhood—but we would never attempt to climb it again.

Then the river which flowed through town. Looked good to us and it was before the days of the pollution scare. The swimming hole was a short distance below a slaughter house and it was nothing out of the ordinary to push a bloated carcass aside while we were swimming—or to suddenly be splashing through a large splotch of cattle blood.

And the coalshed. Didn't bother us much in summertime because we saved the coal and burned wood. We had a seven-room house with one stove besides the cookstove. Living there in the winter made us enjoy the summer more than ever.

The big lilac bush in the back yard. We still have never seen anything more beautiful and as far as we can remember it grew all by itself. We never sprayed it or trimmed it—just cut off the blossoms and watered it.

And Dad's one-car garage with the grease pit under where the car sat. Was a regular Gasoline Alley every weekend when friends drove in their autos for servicing. Everyone did their own. Just borrowed Dad's grease pit. No service stations in those days.

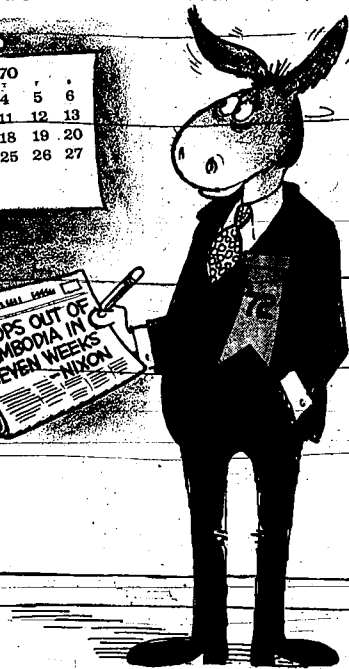

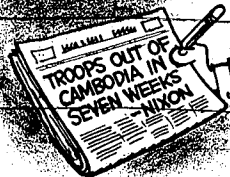

And Sunday School. Mother sent Mr. Spectator every Sunday until we came home complaining that there was so much commotion in the room—we couldn't learn anything about God.

And our dog Spot. What a companion. And the old Mother Cat—patchwork in color—that slept with us even after we had started to school.

Yep, those were the days. Days of childhood. If we had had any sense back then we would have become a teacher so we could still have those 100 days each summer from the old friend.

The Hickel Affair

WASHINGTON—Symptomatic of the widening schism in President Nixon's Cabinet over youthful dissent and other social issues was the criticism leveled by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell against Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Robert Finch over the invasion of Finch's office by a gaggle of noisy welfare "leaders."

Finch, Mitchell told an aid, "should have thrown those people out. They were nothing more or less than trespassers. I wonder if Bob would have sat by quietly while his office was taken over by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce or Bill Buckley leading a horde of conservatives."

Mitchell's comment, relayed by a Justice Department official who heard it, was the latest development in the apparent polarization of the Cabinet over "The Hickel affair." Secretary Finch is one of those who have aligned themselves privately with Interior Secretary Hickel, who wrote a letter to the President criticizing the administration's apparent unwillingness to "listen" to young demonstrators.

Other Cabinet members who side with Hickel are Labor Secretary George Shultz (a former fellow of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences), Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney, and Transportation Secretary John Volpe. The position of Secretary of State William Rogers, one of Nixon's oldest and closest friends, is described by a department aide as "benevolently neutral; he'll never criticize the President, even privately, but he feels Hickel has a case."

Police barricades also have been set up in the White House. There, Hickel has the sympathy of the resident liberal, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, and of aides Leonard Garment and William Safire. Identified as anti-Hickel are John D. Bellomo, National domestic adviser to the President, and assistant H.R. Haldeman. Most administration leaders agree it was Ehrlichman who told Hickel to "Cool it, Wally," after publication of the Hickel letter.

At this writing, Hickel has declined to identify the presidential aide who made the remark, but has quoted him as saying "this thing will blow over in 24 hours." Meanwhile, it was learned that President Nixon ordered Secretary Finch through a White House assistant to "Get those people out of there," after the welfare group had occupied Finch's office for nearly 10 hours. The invaders had insisted the war in Indochina was ended and the administration agreed to a government-subsidized guaranteed annual income of $5,500 for a family of four.

Clearing the office, police arrested 12 demonstrators who refused to leave and charged them with disorderly conduct. Finch then issued a formal statement that "Today's attempt to disrupt the business of the department was counterproductive." Earlier, however, he had said "I like to let them have a chance to sound off." It was this statement, it was learned, that caused Nixon to issue a direct order to clear the office.

Viet Strategy

Sometimes a book has a powerful effect on a man. On occasion, the emotional shock of what it reports will determine the course of a war — or a campaign.

This then is the story of how, indirectly, a book made the Cambodian venture less of a gamble by insuring (psychologically) that American forces committed to the attack would get out quickly—not be trapped into staying.

For if there is anything President Nixon knows, it is that battles are uncertain things. A small engagement can lead to total involvement. A battalion can bog down, be surrounded and call for help. And the resulting battles go on endlessly.

How then could Nixon risk going into Cambodia? How could he be so certain he would escape entrapment? How accept "the confident assessment of the military?" The story goes back to 1961. When a reporter (and one-time French soldier) Bernard Fall wrote "Street Without Joy," a book once "required" reading for American officers headed for Vietnam.

The title of Chapter 9 is End of a Task Force. It describes the death of an elite jungle-trained, battle-wise French reinforced regiment, Mobile Group 10. It was isolated and cut to pieces little by little in the back country of Vietnam.

he take the chance of losing a major American unit—a battalion, a regiment, a brigade or a division.

He would never, however tempted, let a battalion get into a position from which it could not be rescued.

A number of years back, when Westmoreland was in command in Vietnam, on sound intelligence information he began a campaign in an area near the Cambodian border.

But as the operation got underway, and after major elements had been committed, the rains came ahead of schedule. The units began to bog down. The men, their trucks and their artillery were mired in water and mud. Westmoreland did not reinforce. He pulled them out quick and abandoned the campaign. The reward for victory would have been sizable. But he would not risk the loss of a battalion.

This caution he carried through Vietnam. He carries it still. In Cambodia today the rains are starting in some areas they are already heavy. By the end of June they will be a threat to landbound units. It will be possible for aircraft to fly by choosing the right day and hour. Infantry can't pick the hour or day. Once in, it's led to the mud: It would be possible perhaps for some troops to operate at some periods. But at one time or another they would be sitting ducks for North Vietnamese units familiar with the terrain.

Men in a position to know have told this reporter Nixon is well aware that the fate of French Mobile Group 10 is much on Westmoreland's mind and that of Gen. Creighton Abrams.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Bloody Mouth

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Every time I brush my teeth I end up with a mouthful of bloody toothpaste. My gums seem to be the same color as always (pale red). Doesn't this mean healthy gums?

I was told to brush my teeth and gums with table salt instead of toothpaste, and do it quite hard. This doesn't seem to help. I am 47.

I can't safely diagnose your pink toothbrush at a distance, but be guided by these suggestions. This could be either a medical or a dental problem, or even both.

Medical possibilities: Some nutritional deficiency could be causing the bleeding. Have your dentist check this. In the long run, gum diseases cause much more loss of teeth than cavities do.

Harsh brushing does not help the gums—but I presume that you know the rule about brushing up and down, not crosswise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Thank you for publishing the letter from the 80-year-old woman who said she took the exercises for leg cramps. It encouraged me to do them, too. I am 70 and thought I was too old.—T.V.

Leg cramp is an affliction that comes on when we are older, seldom when we are young. The exercises are simple enough so almost anyone can do them—even some invalids if they have help. Exercises are outlined in my booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps." A copy will be sent in return for 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 12, has enlarged breasts. At times they are normal. Often they are tender to the touch. Can you tell me the cause? He is in excellent health otherwise.—Mrs. A.G.

Your letter duplicates other letters, and the condition causes a lot more worry than it should. It doesn't deserve any.

This breast enlargement and tenderness (called gynecomastia) is not uncommon in boys at puberty. Their glandular activity is changing and maturing. For a time there can be a disproportionate increase in female hormones (we all have a mixture of male and female hormones, it's the proportion that matters).

In time, androgen, the male hormone, will increase in those boys and become dominant, and whatever symptoms (including the gynecomastia) have developed will go back to normal.

Boys with this temporary problem should be assured that they don't need any treatment, that this situation occurs in quite a few boys at around that age, but the trouble will vanish automatically in a matter of some months. It may take up to a couple of years sometimes, but don't worry about it.

Note to R. E. B.: Osteomyelitis is an infection, and usually a stubborn one, but it has no relation to cancer.

Some of his stock has been delayed with the continuing truck strike in major supply centers, especially Los Angeles and Chicago, but most departments are well stocked, he said. The move to the north end location has been contemplated for some time, as he planned an eventual move to the area when he first located on Main. The former property was razed to make way for an expansion project of Willis Motor Co.

Merchants Diversify For Sales

Diversification is the answer for many department stores in meeting the business challenges of the '70s, according to Department Store Management magazine.

"Traditional concepts of retailing have been shaken badly during the last 10 years. Now, how the consumer's dollar is spent depends more on emotions or economics rather than store loyalties," the magazine said in a recent issue.

Two main retailing trends depicted include the rise of specialty stores with upgraded appearance and merchandise lines, and an increasing number of low-margin discount or mass merchandisers to fill the basic needs of families with high aspirations but limited budgets.

Mr. Casperson has five employees to help him operate his establishment. He will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week, closing on Sundays.

Retailers Note 'Poor Year' During 1969

Last year was a poor one for U. S. retailers, according to Fabian Linden in the National Industrial Conference Board's monthly publication, "The Conference Board Record."

Consumers will be made aware of the new program through audio-visual features which include a new Pacesetter trademark, in newspaper advertising and in-store display, and a Pacesetter musical jingle in radio and television commercials.

Mr. Linden said that, although retail sales were up by four per cent over 1968, prices were higher by almost five percent. This means, he said, that real consumer demand was actually down fractionally as compared with 1968.

"Bloodbath" In Asia Damned By Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Citing 50,067 U.S. war dead and a mounting casualty rate, key Senate Democrats Monday damned what they called the "bloodbath" in Southeast Asia and the Congress' slowness on efforts to end the war.

"There is no end in sight," wailed Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, his arms flapping in an emotional speech on the floor. "What's happening in this country?"

"Disaster is overtaking us," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, pointing to the list of 50,067 U.S. war dead. "American mothers just cannot produce enough sons."

"This 'bloodbath'—which is here and now—must be stopped," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Harsh language. The speeches, containing some of the harshest language from the Senate's antiwar camp, since the debate over Cambodia began, shattered the calm of a dull afternoon of debate on technicalities involved in legislation to cut off funds for the U.S. incursion into Cambodia.

Mansfield, his voice rising to a high-pitched tenor, pulled a casualty list out of his pocket. Standing in the aisle, his face pale and grim, he recited the record.

"Fifty thousand and sixty-seven dead, 328,073 dead and wounded and we're quibbling about the President's war-making power. What about our powers? What about our obligation to these young men."

"There is no end in sight. What's happening in this country? We are in an economic recession? We have high interest rates? The stock market is plummeting. There is division among our people. And we quibble about the President's war-making power."

"For one can stand no longer this mounting and increasing list which has cost this nation so much," Mansfield declared.

"Soft Plea" The youthful Church, who has been managing the antiwar amendment, followed him with a soft-spoken plea for an end to U.S. involvement.

"If ever there was a blueprint to suck you dry, it is this one," he said. "...It is time for free men to begin to stand up to the Congress' responsibilities to the Constitution placed in us."

In a statement Kennedy dismissed as "cynical political rhetoric" the administration's argument that U.S. disengagement would lead to a "bloodbath" in Southeast Asia.

Part of Bloodbath "This 'bloodbath' started long ago—and we are part of it—and it will continue daily so long as the war continues, so long as negotiations to end that war are avoided and delayed."

Brewster Denies Charges WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Sen. Daniel B. Brewster pleaded innocent Monday to charges of taking $24,500 in bribes during his single Senate term. He then returned to his Maryland hunt-country home to await a November trial.

"I imagine I'll be quite busy," Brewster told reporters with a tense smile after his 10-minute appearance in U. S. District Court here.

The government charges that Brewster, a Democrat who served from 1963-69 as a senator from Maryland, took the money in five payments to influence his vote on small legislation.

"I plead not guilty to all counts," Brewster told Judge Leonard Walsh at the arraignment. The trial was set to begin Nov. 9.

The arraignment was delayed more than five months because of Brewster's health. A tall and graying 46, Brewster recently returned to the United States after a lengthy hospitalization in Ireland. His socialite wife, the former Anne Ballitt Siddie, is still in Ireland, one of Brewster's attorneys said.

Ceiling WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration asked Congress Monday for an $18 billion increase in the national debt ceiling, primarily because of the slumping economy.

The administration asked Congress for an $18 billion increase in both the permanent ceiling, now at $365 billion, and in the temporary ceiling of $377 billion the government is operating under this fiscal year.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy and Budget Director Robert F. May, told the House Ways and Means Committee the raise was needed to cover a $1.8 billion deficit this fiscal year and $1.3 billion deficit in fiscal 1971.

Kennedy and May said the interest on the national debt this fiscal year reached $19.3 billion. They expect the interest to amount to $20 billion in fiscal 1971, they said.

Nixon Is Backed By McClure LEWISTON (UPI)—Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, expressed support Monday for President Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops to Cambodia but said the Vietnam war as a whole is in violation of the Constitution.

McClure said he thought the Cambodia strike "would look better as time goes along," in an address to the Chamber of 19-rectors of the Board of Commerce here.

However, he added that since Congress has never officially declared war, the year is in violation of the Constitution.

"I think the President made a mistake in announcing publicly that we would be out of Cambodia at a certain date," McClure said. "He was forced to announce our plans to the enemy due to public pressure here at home to be fully informed on the situation."

HIGH CLIMB RECORD KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Setaiko Watanabe, 51, of Japan, set a world record for the women's high-altitude climb when she reached 29,000 feet on the north face of Mt. Everest May 17, informed sources said here. Miss Watanabe is the only woman member of the Japanese Everest Expedition.

JACQUELINE AND ARISTOTLE Onassis have been spending Onassis' fortune at a rate of $384,615 a week since their marriage, according to Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Fred Sparks. In his forthcoming book, "The $20 Million Honeymoon" the writer does point out, however, that they are apparently living well within the $25 million annual income which comes to the Greek citizen. They might even be "putting a little aside for their old age." (UPI telephoto)

St. Louis Mayor To Hit Life Magazine In $12 Million Suit

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Mayor Alfonso J. Cervantes said Monday he has asked his attorney to file a $12 million libel suit against Life Magazine and its reporter, Denny Walsh, for an article which charges Cervantes consorts with gangsters.

Cervantes said he instructed the lawyer "to file in federal court a libel suit seeking $12 million in damages—$2 million in actual and $10 million punitive."

The mayor, also asked for a three-way investigation into Life's charges that organized crime "fourished in St. Louis."

"The public has a right to know if these charges have any foundation whatsoever and I believe such an investigation should be handled by unbiased public bodies rather than an irresponsible reporter who uses lies, half-truths and omission of facts to spin a fictional fantasy," Cervantes said.

"I request the investigation be made by William D. Jones, attorney in charge of the task force on organized crime and racketeering in St. Louis, U.S. District Attorney of St. Louis.

United States Anxious For Pact With Russia

ROME (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Monday, on the eve of a two-day conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the United States was anxious for negotiations with the Soviet Union on a mutual reduction of forces in Europe.

At the same time, Manlio Brosio, secretary general of NATO said Western leaders planned a new initiative calling on the Soviets to discuss mutual arms cuts in Europe.

Brosio said Western foreign ministers would not be easily discouraged in their efforts to bring about a mutual and balanced reduction of troops on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Rogers told employes and officials at the U.S. Embassy here that Washington was willing to enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union in "any possible way" as long as there were prospects for easing East-West tensions. He said the United States was particularly anxious for talks on a mutual reduction of forces in Europe.

Earlier Rogers conferred with Italian Foreign Minister crime and law enforcement, and Tony Sansone, a real estate and insurance man.

Cervantes said, "The article is a sinister, calculated smear designed to boost circulation and advertising of a dying magazine at my expense, the expense of my family and at the expense of our city."

He added its story was "a barefaced lie."

Heavy Cigarette Smokers Almost Certain Will Die Of Lung Cancer

HOUSTON (UPI)—Persons who have smoked 20 years or 200,000 cigarettes are almost certain to die of lung cancer or other tobacco-related diseases, a leading cancer specialist said Monday.

Dr. John W. Turner of Springfield, Mass., said the longer a person smokes, the greater the deterioration of certain cells in the body—and these cells finally reach a point beyond reclamation.

"If you look for a figure when you begin to move from Marlboro country to cemetery county, it's about 20 years or 200,000 cigarettes," he said at a news conference at the 10th International Cancer Congress.

Turner, a radiologist, studied the relationship between cancer and tobacco use for 20 years at Wesson Memorial Hospital in Springfield. A study of 5,416 patients showed the average adult who is at least 30 years old has smoked 110,000 cigarettes.

He said some persons have smoked as many as 600,000 cigarettes. Of 75 in his category, one of every four had either vascular disease or bronchitis, one in 4.5 had emphysema and one in 18 had lung cancer.

He said 116 of the 118 patients in the study who had lung cancer had smoked an average of 389,000 cigarettes during their lifetime. Turner said cigarettes will cause the deaths of 80 per cent of the 62,000 persons who will die of cancer this year.

He said 300,000 persons will die with diseases related to cigarette smoking in 1970. "Why don't the young radicals protest against that?" he asked. "They think they're a generation away from it. Maybe, but it's really just around the corner."

In addition to lung cancer, Turner said cigarettes are a major cause of cancer of the bladder and were a factor in cancer of the stomach, pancreas, larynx and esophagus.

FOREIGN MEDIA WARNED KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Foreign newsmen who write anything considered campaigning in the elections to be held in the Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak will be expelled from Malaysia, authorities said Sunday.

Foreign periodicals containing any electioneering articles will be confiscated, they said. A date for the state elections will be announced this week.

Decision Is Made By

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House implied Monday that those within the administration who disagree with major decisions, such as Cambodia, must decide for themselves if they can "remain and carry on their duties."

"The President both in practice and theory believes in an open administration and encourages expression of views," Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Refreshments were served in the social hall after the meeting by co-hostesses, Mrs. Bill Aldrich and Mrs. B. T. Albertson.

Field Of Science Is Open To Young American Women

NEW YORK (UPI)—All young American women with their eyes on a science career, hear this:

The nation's science manpower bank includes 298,000 eggheads—only nine per cent of them women.

In this era of crusades for equal employment opportunities regardless of sex, it would appear that the embryonic scientists will have a wide open field when they enter the market place.

But there's a dismal side; the median salary for female scientists is $10,000 a year—$3,200 less than the median for males.

The profile on our female scientists is included in the new National Register of Scientific and Technical Personnel, issued by the National Science Foundation.

Most of the women scientists work in four fields—chemistry; 27 per cent; biological sciences, 21 per cent; psychology, 19 per cent; mathematics, 10 per cent.

Fewer than one per cent of the women scientists are in atmospheric and space science or

Miss Anderson, Heinz Disclose Wedding Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anderson, Twin Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice Dee, to Thurston Heinz, son of Mr. Mrs. Jack Heinz, Ashton.

Miss Anderson was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1969. She is presently employed at the Times-News and attended one year of college at Rice College, Rexburg.

Mr. Heinz was graduated from North Fremont High School, Ashton, in 1967. He attended Ricks College and is a member of the 116th Engineer Battalion and served one year in Vietnam.

An August wedding is planned at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple. The couple plans to continue studies at Ricks College this fall.

Most of the 2 or 3 million inhabitants of Laos are farmers.

JANICE ANDERSON studies at Ricks College this fall.

Miss Powers, Floyd Wed

GLENN'S FERRY—Delores Powers, daughter of Fred Powers, Glenn's Ferry, became the bride of Mack Gordon Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Floyd, Nampa, in a ceremony May 21 in the First Church of the Nazarene, Nampa.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Rev. Jim Stewart and Rev. Ellis Martin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk shantung, fashioned with elbow-length sleeves. Her veil had a net border inset with white flowers appliqued on net. Pink rosebuds with white Stephanotis and ivy flowers were pinned to the hair.

Leona Powers was her sister's maid of honor. Herbert R. Vann, Boise, was best man. Ushers included Porter Orner, Marvin Robinson, both Mountain Home, and the bride's brothers, Leon Powers, Medford, Ore., and Alvin Powers, Grangeville.

There were 150 guests at the ceremony and reception.

The bride, a graduate of Glenn's Ferry High School and St. Alphonsus Hospital School of Nursing, is employed at Mercy Hospital, Nampa. Mr. Floyd is a civil service employee at the Mountain Home Air Base.

After a wedding trip to McCall and Cottage Grove, Ore., they reside at 514 Garfield, Boise.

DEAR ABBY: When I was younger — I am now 70 — I wondered why elderly people left their estates to churches, institutions, charities, etc. Now I know.

My son lives across the United States from me, and I am lucky if I get a letter from him in 6 weeks. I never hear from my daughter-in-law.

My daughter and her family live 30 miles from me. I get a phone call maybe once every 2 weeks or so to let me know they are in the land of the living. My grandchildren never come to see me.

I know we are supposed to encourage our children to live their own lives when they marry and leave home, but isn't this carrying it to extremes? LONELY IN OREGON

DEAR LONELY: Yes. You successfully reared your children to be independent, for which you are to be congratulated. Unfortunately, you failed to develop sufficient interests of your own to insure yourself against loneliness. It may not be too late. [Other parents should take a page out of your book.]

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law said that when you were young, you were a "go go" dancer in Las Vegas. Correct or not?

DEAR BARBARA: When I was young they didn't have "go go" dancers. They had "fan dancers," but I never got that hot.

DEAR ABBY: After 20 years I am fed up giving my husband birthday parties. This is my reason: He told me and the children that his birthday was March 17th, so for years we've been giving him parties and presents on that day. Well, his sister who lives out of town came by last March 17th and saw the birthday celebration for my husband, and she said, "What's the matter with you? His birthday is in November!"

He still insists it's March. Now I don't know whom to believe. How do we find out when his birthday really is? [He wasn't born in this country.] STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: I suppose you'd have to see his birth certificate, which he probably doesn't have, and is undoubtedly the reason he selected his own "birthday." What's the difference which day he celebrates? [P. S. I'll bet your husband's Irish.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL WOMEN WHO WROTE DIRECTLY TO THE NATIONAL SHOE RETAILERS ASSOCIATION (PER MY SUGGESTION) TO PROTEST THE UGLY, MASCULINE, CLUNKY SHOES THEY TRIED TO FORCE ON US: I don't know whether it was due to the letters and petitions which they received by the thousands, but I have good news for you. They have admitted they "erred" in not designing more feminine, graceful, flattering footwear for women of late because they "sawing too far toward designing for the young—who readily accept the extremes of fashion." However, they have promised to give us more flattering footwear in the future. And from the looks of the newer designs, I believe they will.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90066. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jewelry Fashion Show Set In July

Fashion accessories take the lead in today's "do your own thing" trend—whether it be the mini, the midi or the maxi look. And, according to Charlotte Knight, branch manager for Sarah Coventry jewelry, "when the costume of high fashion lacks the look of jewelry—it lacks the look of completeness it needs."

In describing the jewelry look for the '70's, Mrs. Knight announced plans for a jewelry fashion show slated in July for Magic Valley women. Combining the latest in fashion with the newest jewelry trend will be a double treat for the viewers as they take a look at fashion accessories as they blend in perfectly with the fabrics and colors popular today.

Completing 20 years of service to fashion conscious women, Sarah Coventry goes into the '70's with another 20 years in mind—ranking for the 15th consecutive year as the world's largest direct seller of fashion jewelry.

In making plans for the forthcoming fashion show, Mrs. Knight, assisted by Mrs. Kyle McGehee, noted special attention this year is going to the neck and the waist. Beads and chains are doubled and tripled around the neck. The waist is adorned with "glitters" of turquoise, goldstone, and sparkling silverstone. Versatility is a "must" for both fashion and jewelry for the changing moods and fancies of this year.

Details concerning the public fashion show will be announced as soon as final plans are completed.

"Go To Church" Sunday Slated By Rebekahs

Plans for "Go To Church" Sunday were made at the recent Primrose Rebekah Lodge meeting. The lodge will attend church as a group June 7.

Prior to the church service, a no-host breakfast is planned. The place and time will be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowman were appointed to place the memorial plaques at the cemetery on Memorial Day and Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Mae Chatterton and Mrs. Fran Rider were appointed on the refreshment committee after the initiation June 16.

Bill Boyd, grand representative, gave a report on the activities of Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Battle Shapes Up Over Big Horn Sheep

CHALLIS — Indiscriminate killing of the famed Idaho bighorn sheep highlights a bitter battle between cattlemen and the Fish and Game Department in Idaho's Salmon River Country, according to an article in a recent issue of Life Magazine.

Author Richard Woodbury details the violent feeling in the "Showdown on the Salmon River Range" in a battle that has threatened the life of Jim Morgan, resident agent of the Fish and Game Department.

Mr. Morgan, a bit of a radical himself, is a young game warden and wildlife biologist who is attempting to save Idaho's remaining bighorns, the author says. "I can sympathize with the stockmen," he admits, "but they're overgrazing the land. They're going to have to move off."

Recently, he discovered a big, three-quarters-curl ram and eight other sheep shot to death outside of the hunting season, and left to rot. He blames the cattlemen, admitting that "I suppose that I've asked for trouble. I've taken on the entire historical tradition of the West."

And this is the focus of the battle: Cattlemen, and their tradition of more than 100 years of "running the western" range largely as they saw fit, against "one man," who is trying to "drive them off," according to the author.

The biologist believes that the Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep in the Challis area are starving to death. And three years of research—in the face of threats and harassment—convince him that the cattlemen are to blame because they have allowed their stock to eat the land bare."

As a state game warden, Mr. Morgan is admittedly an unusual person. "Though technically a game warden, he shuns the title and has never made an arrest in windbreaker and black fur cap he is a somewhat incongruous figure."

For a while, Morgan wore shaggy hair until ordered by his superiors to put it off.

Working in a land "resistant to change, few have had the temerity to campaign so loudly for range reform. In so doing, he has lit a fire under just about every special-interest group in Central Idaho, managing to offend not only ranchers, but hunters and governmental agencies—including his own. He has even taken on Snokey the Bear—arguing that brush fires are actually good for the range." His major struggle began about four years ago, when he was sent to the Salmon River Range to learn "why the bighorn, one of the oldest and most majestic of North American mammals, had declined nearly 50 per cent in number in Idaho in 10 years."

And he found out—"One look at the bare, eroded hills convinced Morgan that the sheep weren't getting the grasses that they needed—they are almost totally dependent on wild grass for survival. As elsewhere in the West, the bighorn feed on the same range as cattle and deer, though cattle are also provided with hay."

And the young biologist grew to like the colorful bighorns, and he started expressing himself to the cattlemen. He even took on the Bureau of Land Management, claiming the BLM "is run by a bunch of old cowboys. They need to be kicked in the teeth."

Demanding that stock be pulled off the range and that large areas be fenced exclusively for the bighorns, he stirred up the enmity of cattlemen and many others. An oldtimer observed that "It was like dynamite, what he was proposing. He was threatening to take away the ranchers' livelihood."

Even Mr. Morgan's conservation techniques backfired. In order to learn the sheep's migratory habits, he equipped some with radio transmitters, leaping out of a rented helicopter to wrestle the animals down after running several into a corral. Weakened by disease, some of the animals died—and the ranchers claimed that his techniques were "doing as much as their cows to decimate the herds." In March, 1968, his two years of research complete, the biologist reported that the population of one bighorn herd had dropped from 254 to 115. He blamed poor range, diet deficiencies and subsequent disease. "Some were even calling off the high rocks to their death. Reproduction was one-third normal."

Cassia, T.F. Officers Confer With Governor

Plans for revising the South Central Idaho Health board as required under new health department legislation and continued efforts to gain national monument status for the City of Rocks in Cassia county, were items discussed Monday afternoon in a meeting in Twin Falls with Gov. Don Samuelson.

asked the governor for support in their efforts to establish a National Monument at the Oakley City of Rocks. Conf. Orval Hanson is working on the project in Washington and early this summer reports two federal officials will be in the area to discuss and tour the area.

Dead Steer Still Floating In Snake River At Burley

BURLEY — Employees of Elliott, Inc., located near the Snake River, reported Tuesday morning that the dead steer, which was tied to the Overland Bridge Saturday is still floating in its customary grave.

The animal has been moved from the Overland bridge, however, and now is tied to a rock along the bank. Burley city employees were moving the steer toward the bank Saturday and it was believed the animal had been removed from the river.

Sunday's Times-News of the dead steer, Mrs. V. V. Workman, Stars Ferry Park, west of Burley, reported seeing a large animal drifting downstream. But the dead steer is still in the Snake River water and the question still remains, "Who will remove it?"

Since the story and picture in Sunday's Times-News of the dead steer, Mrs. V. V. Workman, Stars Ferry Park, west of Burley, reported seeing a large animal drifting downstream.

George Haney presented the request for the zone change on behalf of Dr. Ralph Drake, property owner. It is proposed by the owner to sell the property for construction of a Col. Saunders fried chicken take-out establishment.

Members of the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission by a one vote margin Monday night turned down a zone change request for property near the North Five Points intersection for the construction of a fried chicken drive-in.

The honor will be awarded in August, with the winner to be selected on the basis of letters of recommendation submitted by the area residents. Chamber officials noted that letters are needed from anyone interested in recommending a candidate for the award, with letters to be sent to the chamber in care of Roberta McKercher.

CHAPEL — Plans for the awarding of the fifth annual Halley Chamber of Commerce Outstanding Citizen honor were discussed during this week's meeting of the group.

The honor will be awarded in August, with the winner to be selected on the basis of letters of recommendation submitted by the area residents. Chamber officials noted that letters are needed from anyone interested in recommending a candidate for the award, with letters to be sent to the chamber in care of Roberta McKercher.

The honor is based on the individual's service to the community and the program was initiated five years ago with Mrs. McKercher receiving the first award. Others sharing the honor since then include Joe Fuld, Jim Dorr, and Dr. Art Richards.

Ideas for new Christmas decorations for the downtown Halley area were presented by committee chairman Bill Thuse. Mr. House displayed Santa heads which would be placed around lights on the poles in the city. It was also suggested the chamber request the city paint the poles a flat black to resemble wrought iron, inasmuch as the city crews are preparing to re-paint the poles soon anyway. The matter will be discussed with the city council.

Members also voted to join the Northside Communities, with two representatives to be appointed by the president. It was suggested by Liz Bolton that the chamber prepare information entries for the Traveler's Radio Network, which serves the entire North West. Members agreed to cooperate and Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. McKercher were appointed to prepare the information.

CHATTING WITH IDAHO Insurance commissioner John Blaine, center, and Herbert Mischke, St. Paul, Minn., vice president of the National Association of Life Underwriters, is Grant Russell, Twin Falls, left, chairman of the Idaho Life Underwriters convention held over the weekend at Sun Valley.

Underwriters convention held over the weekend at Sun Valley. Mr. Mischke commented on the unusual rapport between the state official and the insurance men, noting this is not the case in every state.

Underwriters Laud Rapport With State Insurance Chief

By LIZ BOLTON Times-News Correspondent SUN VALLEY — More than good sales ideas resulted from the annual Idaho Association of Life Underwriters convention recently in Sun Valley.

A special atmosphere existed throughout the entire meeting, one of rapport between the underwriters of the various firms and Idaho Commissioner of Insurance John Blaine. Mr. Blaine was on hand throughout the two-day meeting of the Idaho group to offer assistance and constructive criticism to the group.

"I believe cooperation is essential between the insurance industry and my office because my department is responsible for regulating the industry, but on the other hand, the industry regulates the department," Mr. Blaine noted. "In this manner, the government is made available to the public."

I feel the underwriters have an obligation to the insurance buying public to keep the state insurance department informed as to problems. This is the only way we will be able to have a top-notch insurance department.

Pickup Truck Is Uninvited Guest

BURLEY — A Burley woman climbed from the wreckage of her pickup truck early Tuesday morning and somehow reached Cassia Memorial Hospital where the accident was reported.

She told city police where to find her wrecked pickup truck and although they didn't believe her they found it there — inside the Volvo-Building-Supply Co., some 700 feet from Interstate 80 on which she had been traveling.

entriway in the solid cinder block building, pushed through seven counters and came to rest near an inside wall. The rear of the pickup was some 10 feet inside the building.

Officers said damage estimates were still being determined although the front of the pickup truck was damaged about $500. Mrs. Brown suffered a shoulder injury and some cuts and bruises.

Reading Program Is Started

RICHFIELD — Summer reading program for children began Monday at the Richfield Public Library, reports Mrs. Ken Dixon, librarian. Certificates will be given to all children participating in the program which lasts all summer. The age groups start in the first grade and go up through the seventh.

New books purchased to start the program are "Where the Wild Things Are," Sendak; "Mury Poppins," Traverser; "Spectacles," Raskin; "Curious George," Roy; "Sam," Scott; "Goggles," Keats; "In This House of Brode," Godden; "Gift of the Deer," Hoover, and "Only One Year," Svetlana Alluyeva.

The library also has available a good selection of books borrowed from the reference center library in Twin Falls. Mrs. Dixon recently instructed the first and second grade classes, of Mrs. Max Behr, in library use, and read two stories.

Easter Seal benefit quilts to be given away by the Richfield Burmah Club are presently on display at the library. All donations go to assist the crippled children in the Easter Seal program.

Exercises Are Held At Dietrich

DIETRICH — Glenn Sorenson was guest speaker at the Dietrich Eighth Grade graduation exercises.

Brenda-Astle, salutatorian, gave the welcome speech, and Tim Rldinger, valedictorian, gave the farewell speech. The class will be read by Bert Schoolcraft and Bort Hollibaugh, and the class history was read by Lorinda Knowles and Daryl Ballard.

The eighth grade girls sang a musical number, Mrs. Elmer Correll played the professional and recessional and invocation and benediction were given by Robert Aldridge.

SISTER ILL HANSEN — Mrs. Minnie Bedow and Mrs. Goldie Leung, Twin Falls, were called to Sacramento, Calif., by the serious illness of their sister, Mrs. Cliff Day.

Sixth Unzicker Gets U. Of I. Degree

MOSCOW — The University of Idaho Commencement Exercises Sunday will see the sixth member of a Buhl family graduate from the university. Duane Unzicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Unzicker, 617 N. 11th Ave., Buhl, has completed his degree work in pre-dental studies and will attend the University of Oregon Dental School in the fall. He is the sixth of six Unzicker children to be graduated from the university since 1940 when the oldest, Leonard Unzicker, completed his degree requirements in business administration. He also completed Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps courses and after attending the Navy Flight Program, served two tours of duty in Vietnam before becoming a pilot for National Air Lines, his current occupation. The second Unzicker to be graduated from the university was Howard Shaver, who completed course work in home economics in 1962. She then taught school in the Fullerton Elementary School District, Fullerton, Calif., before "retiring" to the life of a housewife to raise her new daughter. Eleanor, the third Unzicker graduate of the university, also studied home economics. She was graduated in 1963 and taught homemaking and English for four years in California, before returning, assuming her new career as a housewife for a United States Marine officer, Maj. Louis P.

Etcheverry. She and Maj. Etcheverry currently reside at Danville, Calif., and have two children. Mary Lou, a 1967 graduate in business education, married Howard Shaver, also a 1967 Idaho graduate, and moved to Oakland, Calif., where her husband completed his master's degree at the University of California. The Shavers now live in Tallahassee, Fla., where Howard is a hospital administrator, and Mary Lou teaches school. They expect their first child this September. The fifth Unzicker, Phyllis, completed the degree work in elementary education in 1969. She is married Richard Charles, a 1968 Idaho graduate who is now serving as a pilot, in the Air Force. They are living at Minot, N. D. All four of the Unzicker girls were affiliated with Alpha Phi Sorority, while Leonard was a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. John Unzicker, father of the six girls, graduated from Grand Island, Neb. Business School. He was a farmer in the Buhl area until his recent retirement. He is currently the treasurer of the Buhl First Christian Church and a member of the Buhl Grange. His wife, Imogene, is a substitute teacher in Buhl and teaches Sunday school at the First Christian Church. She is also a member of the Buhl and Mrs. Ernest Miler.

Governor Talks On Manpower

BURLEY — Gov. Don Samuelson has commended members of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security for their efforts in exploring ways of improving manpower and unemployment insurance programs to better serve Idaho residents.

Appearing as a guest speaker Saturday at the group's state convention in Burley at the Ramada Inn, the governor said the members are to be commended for the manner in which they have accepted the responsibility for new programs thrust upon them "out of necessity."

A panel discussion on the outlook for state employees opened the Saturday afternoon session with D. David Lewis of Caldwell, chief of personnel and training in the Idaho Department of Employment, as moderator. Panelists included Bob Stelling, Idaho Personnel Commission, and Arvel C. Stafford, administrative services director, Idaho Department of Employment.

The convention adjourned Saturday following election of officers and selection of site for the 1971 state convention.

Awards Are Given At Richfield

RICHFIELD — Richtfeld high school special awards presented at an assembly went to Mark Dixon, and DeAnn Dixon, math; David Estock, French; Beva Dawn Robinson, Mark Dixon, English; Chris King, Kim Hays, bookkeeping; LuAnn Brown, Joann Kelley, home economics; Rita King Sluder and Rena King, chorus; Julie Haws, Brenda Hilt, science; Nick Hubsmith, Chris King, social studies.

Supt. Neil Andreason presented student council and football awards. Coaches Beverly and Thomas the basketball and track awards, and managers acknowledged. Faculty members Gary Klaser, Merrill Boyeler, Walter Thoresen, Charles Butcane, James Thomas, and Mrs. L. T. Sanders presented the special awards. Mrs. Sanders awarded pins to Linda Akins, girls league president; Gayle McRoberts, Pep Club president; Marla Hlatt Patterson, Sharon Patterson, Gayle Mottoberts, and Rose Ellis Priestad, Girls of the Season, and Miss Priestad, Miss Richfield High School.

The honor will be awarded in August, with the winner to be selected on the basis of letters of recommendation submitted by the area residents. Chamber officials noted that letters are needed from anyone interested in recommending a candidate for the award, with letters to be sent to the chamber in care of Roberta McKercher.

New Pact Will Give Players 4 Million Over Three Years

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, Monday announced terms of a proposed new contract with owners which would bring baseball players an estimated

$4 million over a three-year period. Miller said the newly proposed contract, agreed upon with members of the owners' committee, would be subject to ratification by the clubs and a vote of all members of the Players Association. He added that ballots will be sent out Tuesday and Wednesday and that he would urge players to accept the new contract.

Included in the new proposal were improvements in payroll distribution and termination pay. Improvements in scheduling and certain considerations in meal money allowances, moving expenses and grievance procedures.

The new contract had been under negotiation since last October with an expiration date set at April 6, the season opener. It was extended one month to May 6 when the owners made a contract proposal which was voted down overwhelmingly by the players. Owners met once again in New York on May 16 and reaffirmed their original contract before meeting with players representatives to iron out difficulties.

Major points found disturbing by the players were the length of the season, the distribution of playoff monies and termination pay. Miller said that a new distribution of playoff money had been agreed upon as well as a new scale of pay for termination of contracts, but that the 162-game schedule remained a major point of contention, with owners claiming that long-range radio and television contracts prevented them from shortening the season.

The players share in playoff money was increased by having the owners absorb expenses. As a result, the player pool in the playoffs increased by a quarter of a million dollars for each of the next three years. Players received 42 1-2 per cent of the gate for the playoffs last season will take in 60 per cent this year.

The added amount will raise shares to $20,970, based on 34 full shares per team, next season, for the playoffs and the World Series.

Increases would also be due to World Series losers, playoff losers, second place teams and third place finishers.

In the final breakdown, World Series winners would receive 36 per cent of the total player pool, with the World Series losers 27 per cent. Playoff losers would take in 12 1-2 per cent each while the four second place teams would share 9 1-2 per cent and the four third place teams 2 1-2 per cent.

Effective this season and retroactive through spring training, a player whose contract was terminated in spring training receives 30 days pay. Should he be released during the season he begins, he receives 60 days termination pay. A player released after May 15 receives the remainder of his contract under the newly proposed contract.

When a player decides to go to another team, Rozelle said, both clubs usually agree on an exchange of players in return for the optioned man, and if the clubs fail to make an agreement, Rozelle may step in to complete the transaction.

Rozelle pointed out several similarities between football and baseball—the most important being the player draft. A player can bargain only with the team that drafts him in both sports.

Rozelle was subpoenaed by the attorneys of Curt Flood, the 1970 St. Louis Cardinals veteran who is challenging the reserve clause which binds a player to the team which holds his contract.

Defense attorneys representing organized baseball protested the appearance of Rozelle and said that Flood's lawyers were going into "tactical issues" but Federal Court Judge Irving Ben Cooper ruled against the objection and listened to Rozelle tell the court that "football has been able to live with its rules—and live effectively."

Rozelle explained that football has a renewal clause which permits a player to continue playing one year after the contract expires—after which he may go to another team. Most contracts, Rozelle said, are for one year and some are up to three years.

Plante Is Traded To Maple Leafs

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Jacques Plante, the 41-year-old dean of goalies in the National Hockey League, was traded to the Toronto Maple Leafs for "future considerations," the St. Louis Blues announced Monday.

The club did not say what the term "future considerations" meant. Sid Salomon III, executive vice president of the Blues, said Plante's age "definitely was a factor" in the decision to trade him. "Jacques was great for us, great for St. Louis and great for hockey, but we have to move ahead," he added.

The decision to trade Plante, who has appeared in 106 Stanley Cup games over a 14-year NHL career, was made by Scotty Bowman, the Blues' general manager and coach, Salomon said.

Bowman, who was vacationing in Florida, was unavailable for comment.

Plante was believed to be enroute from Florida to his home in Montreal.

Driver Killed On World Cup Last Leg

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—Ido Marang of France was killed and co-driver Paul Cotelioni was injured Monday in a collision which marred the last leg of the London to Mexico City World Cup auto rally.

Marang was at the wheel of the Citroen, the last place car of the 26 vehicles remaining in the race. Police said the Citroen rolled at high speed with a car driven by a Panamanian businessman who pulled his car onto the highway near Penonomene, about 100 miles from Panama City. The driver of the second vehicle was hospitalized.

The Citroen was in last place, some 56 hours and 59 minutes behind the leader, Hannu Mikkola of Finland and Gunnar Palm of Sweden.

Mikkola and Palm led the race by one hour and seven minutes as they began the final leg of the competition which began in London.

Police said Marang was dead when taken from the car and Cotelioni suffered serious burns. Their car burst into flames after being involved in the collision.

Mann Takes Just $155, Still Leads

ATLANTA (UPI)—Carol Mann won only $155 for her 26th place finish in the Bluegrass Invitational Sunday but held on to her lead in money earnings so far this year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

The 6-foot-3 Miss Mann has now won a total of $12,855—about $1,500 more than runner-up Sandra Haynie who earned $411 in the Bluegrass tournament at Louisville, Ky.

Donna Caponi, winner of the Bluegrass, moved into 10th place on the money list at $5,888 after earning $3,000 Sunday.

The top 10 money winners on the LPGA tour so far this year: 1. Carol Mann, $12,855; 2. Sandra Haynie, $1,159; 3. Kathie Whitworth, $8,017; 4. Betsy Rawls, $6,718; Marilyn Smith, $6,677; 6. Jo Ann Prentice, $7,700; 7. Sandra Palmer, $7,015; 8. Mary Mills, $6,012; 9. Jane Blalock, $5,598; 10. Donna Caponi, $3,000.

Action At Indy Centers On Engines

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Action at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Monday centered on things mechanical while drivers relaxed after the tension of two qualifying weekends.

A tear-down and rebuilding phase began in preparation for Wednesday's three hours of carburetion tests. After the three-hour running period and following fitting and pitouting practice, the next time the cars go on the famed 2 1-2 mile oval is at the start of the Memorial Day auto race itself.

Drivers, car-owners and guests participated in the annual driver's golf tourney Monday. If the tourney is any indicator of the racing Saturday, hard luck driver Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., will sit in Victory Lane at the end of 500 miles. Ruby and his co-owner, Gene White, took top honors.

Steelers Ink 3 Top Draft Selections

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Steelers announced Monday the signing of six rookies including three top draft choices.

Linebackers Manuel Barrera of Kansas State, a sixth round choice, Carl Crennel, a ninth round selection from West Virginia University, and tackle Frank Yanosky from Tennessee were premier picks.

Free agents Bubie Bryant, John Rush and Ernie Whitted, all of Pittsburgh, also signed contracts. Bryant, a star at Minnesota where he also was the Big Ten 60-yard and 220-yard dash champion, is a wide receiver.

Rush, a 250-pound lineman played at Memphis State and Whitted, a four-year letterman at Bethany College, was the leading rusher in the NAIA last season.

Bradshaw Rests After Operation

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Terry Bradshaw, No. 1 draft choice in pro football selected by Pittsburgh Steelers, rested comfortably Monday in Divine Providence Hospital after undergoing surgery for removal of a calculus deposit on his right thigh.

Dr. John Best, team physician who performed the surgery which lasted an hour, said the operation was "routine."

Isaac Paces Point Race In NASCAR

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Bobby Isaac's seventh place finish in Sunday's World 600 at Charlotte was enough to keep him in first place in the NASCAR Grand National point standings.

The Catawba, N. C., Dodge driver has 1,313 points for a narrow lead over James Hylton, the Ford independent from Inman, S. C., who has 1,295. Hylton finished fifth in the Charlotte race.

Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., who fell out of Sunday's race when his engine blew on the 17th lap, holds third place with 1,158 points.

Former leader Richard Petty of Randeman, N. C., still sidelined with an injured shoulder, slipped back to sixth place. Neil Castles of Charlotte and Dave Marcis of West Salem, Wis., moved ahead of Petty.

Fete Hamilton of Dedham, Mass., winner of the Daytona 500 and Alabama 500, remains the money leader with $85,059, followed by Cale Yarborough of Tunnsville, S. C., with $54,980.

The Grand National circuit moves to Maryville, Tenn., Thursday night for a 100-mile race and then to Martinsville, Va., Sunday for the rain-delayed Virginia 500.

Sports Figures Among Picks For 'Father Of Year'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pro golfer Jack Nicklaus, ex-major league catcher Joe Garagiola and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn were among five men honored Monday as "Fathers of the Year," by the National Father's Day Committee.

Nicklaus, Garagiola and Kuhn along with astronaut Frank Borman and the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan pastor of the Zionist Baptist Church in Philadelphia, were named recipients of the Father of the Year citations.

Nicklaus, second leading all-time money winner was honored for his all-around sports activity, with special emphasis on his role of father to his four children. The 30-year-old golfer is the youngest to ever receive the award.

Griffith Doesn't Want Danish Ref

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Middleweight Emile Griffith and manager GH Clancy arrived in Denmark Monday and immediately feuded with promoters over officials for Griffith's June 4 bout against Dane Tom Bogs. "This is too important a fight for us to take any chances. If they use Danish judges, they can forget all about the fight," said Clancy, noting that Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, faced Bogs in the Danish capital last February and had to settle for a draw.

Errors Pave Way For Minnesota To Drop Brewers

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Two errors by Ted Kubiak and two by Tony Harper in the seventh inning opened the gates for three Minnesota runs Monday night as the Twins rallied to defeat the Milwaukee Brewers, 6-5.

George Mitterwald led off the Twins seventh with a grounder to short that handcuffed Kubiak. Tom Hall then sacrificed Mitterwald to second and Cesar Tovar reached safely when he bounced the ball between Harper's legs. After Rod Carew, popped up, Kubiak kicked Tony Oliva's grounder, allowing Mitterwald to score. Harmon Killebrew walked to load the bases and Rich Reese then grounded to Mike Hegan, but the first baseman dropped the ball trying to flip it to pitcher Skip Lockwood as two more runs scored. The fans boomed when the play was ruled a hit.

The Brewers rallied in the ninth when with two out, Harper doubled and scored on Ferranski's single. But Ferranski came on to get Danny Walton on a fly ball with runners on first and second to end the game.

Royals 7, Sox 1

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Bob Oliver's bases-loaded single triggered a five-run eighth inning and Dave Morehead stopped Chicago on five hits as the Kansas City Royals defeated the White Sox 7-1, Monday night for their fourth straight victory.

Tigers 4, N.Y. 3

DETROIT (UPI)—Bill Freehan slammed an 0-2 pitch by reliever Steve Hamilton into the lower-left-center field seats leading off the bottom of the ninth inning, giving the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Monday night.

Boston 5, Solons 3

BOSTON (UPI)—Tony Conigliaro hit two homers and Carl Yastrzemski added the deciding homer Monday to carry the Boston Red Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Washington Senators. Yastrzemski, who was in a 0-for-20 slump, hit his 11th homer with the bases empty in the fifth to snap a 3-5 tie and Conigliaro added his second homer of the game and 10th of the season in the eighth inning. Carry Moses had a pair of run-scoring doubles for the Red Sox.

Orioles 6, Indians 2

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Paul Blair's two-run triple ignited a three-run first inning and pitcher Dave McNally started a three-run second inning exploitation with a single Monday night to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

ness. The nnesse worked beautifully. South went right back to dummy with a second heart for a repeat performance. This time West produced the king, cashed a heart and led back the nine of trumps. South struggled along but he could not get back to dummy to take the diamond finesse and wound up losing one trick in each suit.

South really should not have fallen for West's play. To start with, there was no reason for West to take that first spade. West knew that his partner held just one more spade and hence he couldn't lose a trick by ducking.

South also should have seen that he wasn't going to pick up the king of spades if East had started with four. But he could pick it up by playing the ace if East had started with just two. Therefore, South should have laid down his ace of diamonds and retained the diamond finesse to win, in case he didn't drop the king of trumps.

CARD SOLVER

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠
Pass 4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠

You, South, hold:
♠2 ♠AK54 ♣842 ♣KJ97

What do you do now?
A—Pass. Your partner must be aware of the fact that you don't have more than one spade and you have four diamonds. He is willing to play four spades and you should accept his judgment.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding four spades your partner has bid five diamonds over your four. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

It may well be that 100 honors have killed more rubber bridge players than cancer.

South's spade opening bid was correct. He was too strong to open one no-trump and too weak to open with two. When North responded one no-trump, South should simply have raised him to three, but South tried a three-club bid. North gave a preference to three spades. At this point in the proceedings, South could have saved the day by going to three no-trump, but he was looking at his honors and wanted to collect the bonus. He collected the bonus but had to use it to pay off the penalty for going down one trick.

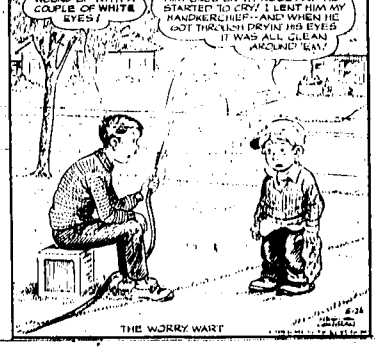

He needed a little help from West to manage to go down, but West was very agreeable. He succeeded in laying a trap for South to fall into.

South won the heart lead in dummy and promptly led a trump in order to try a fly.

It is a fact, the gambling casinos in Las Vegas and Reno make more money when their gentlemen customers bring along wives or whatever. Q. Record Reviews

EXCELLENT VERY GOOD GOOD FAIR POOR

Empty Rooms: John Mayall

John Mayall's new group now only nine months old...

Up From Georgia: Charlie Brown

All the tunes but one, Van Morrison's "Ho Ro Rosey," are by Brown...

Yestergroovin': Chet Atkins

This is a marvellously happy album, full of nothing but good clean tunes...

Funky Chicken: Willie Henderson

This is big band soul, using some established funk tunes as vehicles for the fingerpopping...

Peacing It All Together: Lighthouse

The Lighthouse is a rock orchestra, consisting of rock quintet, brass quartet and string quartet...

Just a Little More Time: Little Richard

It's a big album of heavy, funky songs which are excellently recorded and very engaging.

It's Your Thing: Sener Soul

Playing a big sound with soulful piano, drums, and strings, this group powers its way into your head with some string instrumental work.

Fresh Out of Borsari: Fresh

Fresh is a new British group which has a very exciting sound that fluctuates from like blue rock to folk rock...

There's something about getting up on a fine spring morning...

One of the best guarantees against developing a superiority complex is to have a cat as a pet.

If you're finding beer is too flat these days, why not try drinking it out of the bottle instead of a saucer?

"Why can't you kids get along like so-and-so's?" is exactly what so-and-so's parents are asking their kids in reference to yours.

SHOSHONE FALLS PROVES it's still a major attraction in the area for Sunday drivers, family picnics and out-of-state tourists. Sunday many local residents found there was no room in the parking lot above the view platform, and during the peak there were no vacant picnic tables in park. At one of its most spectacular states in several seasons, the falls has some 13,000 second feet of water going over the rocks. Later in the season visitors will be looking at almost dry rocks, but still enjoying the park facilities provided by Twin Falls City.

Idaho Has New Film Company

Idaho has gone Hollywood with the announcement of a new film producing company located in Boise and engaged in production of special films.

This is the first time an independent film producing agency has been headquartered in Idaho.

Known as Cinema 6 Films, the company includes on its staff two persons well known in the Twin Falls area. Bruce Fox, formerly of Twin Falls and previously news director for KMYT, and Morlan Nelson, Boise, Idaho water survey director and well known for his work with falcons and eagles, both are working with the company.

Kelth Patterson is writer, director and producer and Jack Williams, award winning cameraman and still photographer heads this department. The firm has just

Dress Code At School May Be Reinstated

The high school dress code may be reinstated by the Twin Falls school board.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ernest H. Ragland said that the board of trustees will watch the situation "very closely" until school ends this spring, to determine the students' reaction to the lifting of the dress code.

"If the students abuse the privilege that we have given them, I can assure them that action will be taken before school opens again this fall," Dr. Ragland said. "The trustees have indicated that they will not hesitate to reinstate the code if necessary."

High School Annex Work Is On Schedule

Construction of the Twin Falls High School annex is progressing according to schedule, but a potential delay in delivery of windows and window casings could pose a problem in the near future, according to Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, superintendent of schools.

The continuing trucking strike in major supply centers may delay delivery of window casings, but the construction has not yet reached that stage, so any delay cannot be predicted, Dr. Ragland said.

The concrete footings and foundation have been poured and brickwork on the walls will begin soon, Dr. Ragland said.

Olympics Held By Explorer Scouts

Three Boy Scout Explorer teams from Twin Falls, will be representing the Snake River Area Council in the National Explorer Olympics Aug. 24 through 28 in Ft. Collins, Colo.

The winning posts were selected for the council Saturday in Twin Falls. All posts participated in seven events, including chess, table tennis, basketball, Road-E-O for automobile driving, rifle marksmanship, tennis and golf.

The winning posts with the largest numbers of points in combined events, included Post 81, Twin Falls 7th Ward LDS Church; first; Post 60 Twin Falls Fifth Ward, LDS Church, second, and Post 79, Eighth Ward LDS Church, third.

Competition was held in Twin Falls, with participants from Paul, Burley, Jerome, Kimberly, Hazelton, and Twin Falls.

E. J. Morgan, Snake River Area Council exploring chairman, presented the awards. About 50 young men participated in the events.

Donald K. Fitzsimonds, district Scout executive, explained the Olympics represent the first national athletic event sponsored by the Exploring Division of the Boy Scouts of America, and the event is sponsored jointly by the Exploring division and the U.S. Olympic Committee, this being the first time the committee has lent its famed emblem and prestige and support to a youth event of this type.

In addition to events staged in Twin Falls, the national competition for some 2,000 boys from all councils across the nation will include swimming, gymnastics, weight lifting, cross country, all track and field events and a general knowledge of public speaking.

First, second and third place winners in the local competition included: Chess—James Salisbury, Post 81, first; Ed Wright, Post 150, second, and Grant Salisbury, Post 81, third. Table Tennis—Preston Pond, Post 60; Kent Moore, Post 83, and James Salisbury, Post 81, in that order.

Basketball, first, Twin Falls 7th Ward, first, and Post 60, Twin Falls 5th Ward, second. Marksmanship—Ron Bird, Post 81, first; Dave Keating, Post 60, and Kent Moore, Post 83. Tennis—Post 79, Wayne Christensen, first; Post 81, Grant Salisbury, and Post 60, Brian Katz.

Road-E-O—Post 60, Craig Braddy, second and Kirk Larson, Post 79, third.

Golf—Post 81, Larry Malone, first; Post 60, Mark Dodds, second.
