For Canada

It's nice once in awhile to hear a kind word said about the "im-perialist"—United—States—by—a foreigner-

Robert M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper-Association, recently had this to say about Canadian U.S. relations before a Parliamentary Committee on External Affairs and National Defense:

"I think the real problem is not that Americans will try to take us over, but that they may decide to leave us out. I think the greater-danger for the Canadian-economyte not American aggression but danger for the Canadian economy is not American aggression but American neglect."

Canadians have had a pretty good run with American money, Fowler adds. The easy movementto Canada of U.S. technology, to Canada of U.S. technology, capital and trained manpower has done a great deal to develop the Canadian economy, resulting in more jobs, more towns, more people, more trades and a higher Gross National Product than the country would otherwise have had.

country would otherwise have had. But if Canadians continue to be ambivalent about American inambivaient about American investment, he warns, and continue to say, "Yes, we need and welcome your money and its contribution to our economic growth, but we do not really like you and we wish we could do without you and your money, and propose to put obstacles in your way." Americans and other foreign investors might well decide, "To hell with it. There are plenty of other more agreeable and exciting places in the world to go."

Canadians should make up their minds, says Fowler, whether they want to go it alone or to encourage foreign investors. But they should realize that the first course would mean slower economic growth, the emigration of many of the nation's emigration of many of the nation as better and more impatient young people, a substantially lower standard of living for Canadians and the transformation of an open economy-to-a-closed-and-rigidly-controlled one.

controlled one.

Palm-trees-are-more-likely-tosprout-in-the-Yukon-than-thatCanadians will opt for this kind of autarky — national self-sufficiency — and the austerity which that would entail.

The noteworthy thing, though, is that Canadians have the option, if they want it. Those unfortunate countries abutting the eastern border of the Soviet Union should suffer from such "imperialism."

Job Market

The plans of many students, or so we are hearing, to take the summer off to work out their frustrations off to work out their frustrations against the system by devoting themselves to the campaigns of the candidates of their choice in this fall's elections may make good economic as well as political sense. The job market, from current indications, is in no condition to absorb the masses of young that have flooded it seasonally during the long yours of reconomic ex-

Those who disagree with me have written idictic missives that are pointless, repetitious and disappointing in content, one can only gather that the people who have taken issue with me are bigoted, narrow-minded and are mable to grasp the 'big picture.''

There seems to be a trend these days, when writing a letter-to-send-copies-of-it-to-lofter people at the same time.

The bill, passed by the Senate and okayed by the administration, passenger and railroad lobbyists, will set up a government-sponsored private corporation to uppernit and improve rail passonger service beginning next March 1. About 100 per cent of the nearly 450 trains connecting American cities would be run by the corporation, More important from a short-range view, final passange of the bill would prohibit railroads from discontinuing passenger service—as the Penn-Central hoped to do with its service west of Harrisburg and Buffalo.

We hate to say that we told you so but the day might not be far off when teachers who want to teach in Idaho will have a hard time doing just that because the teachers teaching here will not want to teach

Now, if you follow us, what we are saying is that the turmoil in the are saying is that the turmoil in the big communities and states — even dear old California which school teachers have held over the heads of Idaho taxpayers for years now (more wages, you know) — is causing the educators to want to come to the quiet and real nice states like Idaho.

And they are coming to places like Idaho knowing all along that they will get less money.

again. What brought all this to mind was an article we read in the Great Falls, Mont. paper which said that-the school system there had 1,500 applications for 125 vacancies.

And for the privilege of seeing clean cities 'and clean-looking students; the out-of-state's 'were willing to take "awful salary cuts' up to as high as $3,000 a year.

That in itself, just might be enough of a shock to many a financially pressed metropolis to put new life into the environmental cleaning amonglan. cleanup campaign.

And it just might be enough of a shock to some of the teachers in Idaho who are "dissatisfied" with what they are making to realize that there are people who want their jobs if they want to move!

They have forced a referen-dum Sunday in which Baden's 2.4 million residents are aligible 2.4 million residents are digible to vote on the question of whether it should be a separate state within West Germany or remain part of the state of Baden-Wuertemberg ak, it has been since 1952.

In the milkely event that Grund's idea wins, it may give hope to other small states to hold out against the trend toward consolidation.

At present the most obvious deterrent in use against hijacker used to board the plane was not equipped with a device and there was not detection of the typical hijacker designed by the Federal Aylatiben Administration.

DEAR ABBY. I notice that on occasion you have reprinted priticles on request, which I think is fine, especially those which uphold morality in young people. However, I urge you to reprint the 10 Commandments for the 20th Century Husband. With so much infiddlity going on and the divorce rate skyrocketing, it is needed now more than over.

Thank you. GRATEFUL SAILOR—FPO SEATTLE

DEAR GRATEFUL: With pleasure, Ten Commandments

for the 20th Century Husband:

1. Thou shall put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong

1. Thou shall put thy due before thy mother, thy lather, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.

2. Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco, or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.

3. Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.

4. Perget not the virtue of cleanliness.

5. Make not thy wife a beggar; but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.

6. Perget not to say, "I love you." For even the thy love be constant, thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.

7. Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her and foreake all others.

8. Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old ago.

9. Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?

10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call theo blessed.

Truly yours, ARIGAIL VAN BUREN.

P. S. Next Sunday the TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen this problem in your column, but I would sure like to.

Itow long should a hostess wait for late dinner guests?
Last evening my husband and I attended a party at the home of friends. We were invited for 70 cilcok and arrived promptly. So did everyone else, with the exception of one couple who came steaming in full of epologies at 8:45! The hostess held up dinner for this couple. By that time I had developed a hunger headache and my husband, exceeded his quota of cocktails. Need I tell you what kind of an evening we had? Your comments would be very much appreciated,

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: I think is minutes is long enough to "hold up" a scheduled meal for a tardy guest. George Washington is said to have set a good precedent. He instructed his cook to inquire not, "Have the guests arrived?" but, "Has the HOUR arrived?" is still a good role.

For the true conservationist there is still a place (without flying to the moon) where there is still a place (without flying to the moon) where there is no pollution, no sound-of heavy traffic, no litter and certainly no over population. Undoubtedly it will remain, this way for some time because travel to Antartica is still pretty well reserved for the hardy.

This was one of the views expressed by Betsy Douglas, Ketchum, one of the first women "tourists" to visit that far south region.

Mrs. Douglas, wife of Sur Valley and another, James (Anterior Surface) and the plot tourist tourist and anthropologist Luther Douglas, has been busy in recent weeks presenting silde shows and programs on the first tourist cruise to the Antartica which-she made in January and February.

Purpose of the trip, open to members of the Expiorers' Club, was 10 test the courts potential of the Antartica region and it was proclaimed highly will be to the court of the court of the court of New Zealand in the next two years.

While there is no Antartica wildlife, infact very little life at all except for the stations established by several confirter, including the United States and Russia, unique wildlife delighted the tourists at the Falkland Islands.

Located about 400 miles from Cape Horn, the islands are also greatly—unspoiled and playfupenguins splash in the cold bluewater by the hundreds and the glant sea elephants, largest of the southern species of seal, frequent the benches.

Residents of the islands generally live in true pioneer style_One rosident—who was befriended by Mrs. Douglas presented her a gift of a unique wool rug. It is in various shades of brown and was made by shearing the sheep, combing and tying the wool and then weaving it into a rug.

The woman declined many large offers from other tour members who wished to buy the unique rug and presented it to Mrs. Douglas a gift.

To be a tourist in the Antartica requires a considerable amount of money, time and a sturdy healthful individual with a ploneering and adventuresome spirit.

In addition, there is the time element and a tourist to the Antartica must not be limited by a two-weeks vacation schedule. Tourism would also be confined to a brief two to three months "summer" and even then reaching the area often involves following an "ice-breaker" through the frozen seas. In the case of the pilot tour lee conditions make some areas inaccesable at times.

But aside from these negative factors, there is a silent and yes, cold, beauty there which Mrs. Douglas found beyond explanation.

"I think I know how the astronauts felt when the tried to describe their first close views of the moon," she said "All of those words such as "spectacular," fabulous" and "lantantic" sound so Inadequate but what clase can you say?

A UNIQUE DEGREE of Bachelor of Arts in Magic will be granted Isaac Bonewits, 20, by the University of California at Berkeley this month. Mr. Bonewits smokes a Sherlock Holmes-type pipe as he reads a book on magic, to illustrate his interest. The diploma for "studies in the field of magic" is the lirst of its kind ever granted by the University of California, and probably the first-ever granted unywhere. The idea of majoring in magic in a program of in-dividual study was proposed to the university by-Mr. Bonevits, who selected an unusually challenging series of courses to prove his case. His selection of courses and a B-plus grade average convinced university authorities. (OPT telephoto) considerations:

vestment. How much risk you can assume depends upon how many dol-lifts you can afford to lose—financially and psychologically. There are wealthy people for when the loss of several hundred dollars would not spell ruin. Yet, they might be crushed psychologically. Others would feel a severe pinch at losing $500 and, ironically, they would be the very people who could cantinue to take risks and who sometimes might win.

Decide whicher you want your extra dollars to earn you added income now or to provide more dollars for your future.

• Watch interest rates keenly and evaluate their meaning to you.

The "price of money" is an important factor in helping to choose between stashing your extra dollars away in savings institutions, Government issues and bonds, or venturing into common stocks, mutual funds, or real estate.

When interest rates are high, there is much to be said in favor of keeping your money in fixed-income media such as savings accounts, short-term Government securities like bills and notes, or in-bonds—either those issued by Federal agencies or by corporations, rails, or utilities. As interest rates decline, stock prices generally start upward and, along with real-eatate ventures, gain luster.

Investing in real estate, other than-your-home, is-for-the-sophisticated and becoming more so as those who once concentrated their activities in the socurities markets move in. Within days, you can ratrieve money from banks, stocks and funds. It could take years to pull your dol lars out of real estate.

Nobody can really tell what is the best way at any given time to put extra dollars to work. But it helps if-your-hunches have some knowledge behind, them.

If you have $1.000 or less to invest.

those dollars belong in the highest enrning device you can unearth. Until recently, this was a six-month-U.S.— Troasury—bill.—U.S.—Treasury—bills are Government "IOUs"—that mature in anywhere from 91 days to one year. To buy one of these now, you must invest a minimum of $10,000. unuat invest a minimum of $10,000. but you can buy one for $1,000.

Maturity for notes takes from one five years and like bills, at this writing offer up to an 8-percent return. Treasury bonds mature in five or more years. Since these trade daily, meaning their purchase price fluctuates, you'll have to ask a banker to check the interest rate. He will be glad to recommend the best Treasury bond purchase for your particular purpose—higher interest or the hope of capital growth.

These-Tecasury issues should-notbe confused with U.S. savings bonds that people often buy via payroll savings plans. Current U.S. savingsbonds pay 5 percent interest when held to their maturity.

All. Government issues can be bought through your local bank, but except for U.S. savings bonds, there is a service charge. It is up to you to check this charge to see that it does not eat up the interest you earn. Also watch commission charges when you buy stock because the minimum charge per order has recently increased to $15; likewise for mutual-fund fees, which could siphon off as much as 9 percent of the money you invest. Life is getting ever more difficult-for-the-smaller-investor.

The thrift institutions, meaning the savings and loan associations and the mutual savings banks, are offering higher returns, too. Check with

With a minimum of $500-you-can buy two-year savings certificates that pay 6 percent; one year certificates that pay 5½ percent and 90-day certificates—that yield—5½ percent—You are promised 5 percent on regular savings accounts. It could be that in your area the "savings & floans" pay slightly more. Learn to shop in matters of money, too!

Possibly you are hesitant to tie your money up for a year or two. which is what these institutions want. Is there a solution? Some thrift inatitutions will allow immediate withdrawal if you can prove a true emergency; others may require 90-days notice; others won't let you out. If this is the case, you might inquire about making a "pass-book loan," which would cost around 7 percent. To get that loan, you might be asked to accept a slightly lower rate of interest on your savings. If this should-happen, realize that probably this is the cheapest type of loan that you could make anywhere right now.

If you already have in a savings account $500 or more above what you consider a safe reserve fund, inquire about switching those extra dollars to savings certificates.

And commercial banks are compoting with the traditional thrist institutions with numerous plans. Study each carefully to see which is best for you. In some of these banks, with $500 you can open a savings account that will earn you. 5%-percent interest if left untouched for a minimum of two years. You can make additional deposits of $50 or more into these accounts. You can elect to have the interest malled to you quarterly or have it transferred to your checking or other savings account, or you can allow it to remain, thus carning the higher interest rate.

Some banks offer deferred interestpayment plans, meaning that you will-not-be taxed on interest until your savings plan matures; that is, you don't have to pay taxes on the interest until you receive it. This could mean a considerable advantage. If you expect your income will be lower by the time your savings plan matures.

On regular savings accounts in most areas, commercial banks now pay 4½ percent. But your money can earn an additional ½ percent or so if you place it in a "time" deposit-and agree not to withdraw it for a stated period.

At first blush, some of these interest payments look great. Watch it!
Dollars invested in such fixed-income issues only earn interest. These dollars don't grow. They are somewhat safer from economic ups and downs and from the whims of consumer psychology than are other investments, but as the cost of living rises, you will find your buying power weakening.

As this is being written, many ann of those steadfast rules of investment is being challenged. It appears as though right now you can reap current income plus the expectation-for future growth if you put your extra dollars in good quality stocks and bonds. They are available at comparatively low prices now, and may well rise appreciably in value in the future, when market conditions improve.

The way to select any security, be it bond, stock, or mutual fund, is to select a company that has demand strated an above-average ability to earn. Wise Investments are bought on a logical anticipation of future profits. Remember though, even the wisest investors semetimes lose money on some financial ventures. *

Y ou or the man next to you will die of a heart attack or some other disease of the blood vessels. You propably already have disease in your arteries.

These are not scare statements, just simple facts. More than half the deaths in the United States today are caused by cardiovascular allments, and the numbers are growing. Worse, these allments are reaching younger and younger people. For this reason, contrary to the popular misconception, our life expectancy has not improved appreciably in the last two decades despite advances elsewhere in the field of health.

This is the richest nation on earth, where funds for medical research have grown from $1 million annually 20 years ago to $1 billion today, and where great strides have been made in producing new knowledge in the prevention and cure of heart disease. Should you be the victim of a heart

Should you be the victim of a heart attack, as a physician I can tell you that the help your doctor can give you is limited. You have about one chance in four of never even getting into a hospital heart, unit alive lifter Dr. Lawrence Lamb, now a professor of medicine at Baylor University's School of Medicine, Houston, Texas, is the former chief of the Clinical Science Division of the United States AIT FORCE'S School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. Under his guidance the school developed the rigid testing methods used to screen astronaut candidates for the Gemini and Apollo programs. Among his patients has been farmer President Lyndon Johnson.

a heart attack, and less than one chance in two of surviving the ppisode to return home. A similar situation applies to atrokes. These being the odds, the best approach is certainly prevention.

The tragedy is that pour doctor can't do it for you. Despite all the new knowledge now available on the care of the heart and the prevention of its diseases, most of it is ignored by the individual.

What can you do to reverse the trend?

You can begin applying some of the knowledge that has come out of research laboratories and claswhere in the fields of exercise, diet, and way of life. It is never too early or too late to stark.

As long ago as World War II, it was discovered that even men under 30 were having fatal heart attacks, many of them in apparent good health right up to the time of their deaths.

Autopsies on men-killed in combat in Korea showed that 77 percent of them at an average age of 22 (including some in their teens) had definite signs of coronary atherosclerosis, fatty deposits in the major arteries serving the heart itself. This is a disease, not a product of old uge. In my own work at the School of Aerospace Medicine, I saw many pilots, the best of American men, with heart conditions.

All of these were young men and presumably in good health because they had passed rigid-physical-examinations. With this as a standard, what can the physical condition of the great bulk of our civilian population be like?

The beginnings of heart conditions are gradual and insidious. They may not even affect the heart's action. The first indication may be sudden death.

Protect

Here is simple

Many doctors, including myself, balieve-there-are-many "silent-heartstacks," attacks that actually damage the heart without the victim himself knowing anything is wrong.

Heart attacks are not rare among men under 35. The number increases sharply for men over 35 and reaches a peak in men between 50 and 60. Women fare better, but their rate is growing. For reasons we don't entirely understand, women menopause suffer 18 times fewer heart attacks than men. After menopause, the ratio decreases to two-to-one, men over women. After 65, the ratio is about the same.

ratio is about the same.

To find out whether you're a candidate to become one of these statistics, there are a few simple tests you can make involving your weight and your heart rate.

Most people reach full growth in their early 20s. After that, unless you age involved in specialized activities like weight-lifting, almost all the weight you put on is pure fat. If you're in good condition, the skin over most of your body should be as thin as it is on the back of your hand when you pinch it. Get a good grip with your thumb and forefinger on a layer of skin in the area of your navel. If it's more than a half inch thick, you're carrying a good amount of excess fat. This is a better index of your health than the reading on the bathroom scales.

A second test checks the heart rate.
Your resting heart rate should not be more than 70 beats per minute (for men) or 75 (for women). It should not increase over 15 beats a minute when you atand up. After mild exercise (like running in place for one minute), when you lie down it should be less than 100 beats. If this isn't the case, then you may have cause for concern.
You are in greater control of your

You are in greater control of your future health than the best doctor on earth. You can control the three most important areas—your physical activity, your diet, and your living habits. In short, you can do more by way of prevention of heart attacks, than any heart apocialist can do by way of cures.

In the field of exercise, I doubt whether there is any one program that could be used by everyone everywhere, but I can make a few general sound advice which might keep you from being a coronary victim statements. If you are not in good condition now, then I would strongly suggest moderation. Regardless of what some authorities say, exercise can kill you. Crash programs are inoffective, even dangerous, and the spayadic peak-load expresses like suddenly getting out and shoveling the anow, are the most dangerous of all. Anything that significantly exceeds your daily activity should be avoided.

Fad exercise programs may slim your waist or tone up the muscles of your body. Those may do little or nothing for your heart. The heart up to make a muscle, and its strength is built up by working the heart muscle, not the arm muscle or belly muscles. The work of the heart muscle is increased when it pumps more blood as in running, logging, and cycling.

Stoody state, endurance type exordines are the best.

I usually recommend starting with a moderate walking program. After you have gradually built up to walking one hour a day and have done to daily for at Rask two weeks without difficulty, then you can start a jogging program or a running-inplace program. If you use an exercycle,—it should be a gradual, daily program.

Exercise strengthens the heart mustle, enlarges the blood vessels, and increases the blood supply. It also burns up calories. This is great for preventive therapy. You can't loss much weight by exercising one day—but 30 minutes of steady walking every day can cause you to lose to be up to b

Heart disease can't be prevented by exercise alone, nor can any real program of weight control be achieved by exercise alone. Both problems depend a great deal on proper dist. In the case of atherosclerosis, diet alone may be the major culprit. Exercise can build up large healthy blood vessels, but improper diet can clog them with fatty deposits, virtually negating the gains from exercise.

The problem the average person has in finding a proper diet is wading through the welter of confusion that surrounds it. The most important point is to prevent accumulation of excess fat. If you are accumulating fat, you are eating too much or excitaing too little.

Calories are considered a major villain, and indeed they are, but the body needs energy to produce work, and it needs callories to produce energy. Without some calories, it could not function. If you exercise to build up your cardiovascular system, you will need the energy. Excess calories, however, can lead to dangerous fat deposits.

The body produces calories by digesting foodstuffs, specifically carbohydrates, proteins, and fats. Carbohydrates do not always get as much_favorable publicity as they should, but they are the staple die of many nations with a low incidence of atherosclerosis. Fruits, vegetables, and ceroals are high in carbohydrates. These are recommended foods in a proper diet,

Sugar is also high in carbohydisates but is not recommended as highly. Why? Sugar is concentrated and does not contain other essential vitamins and minerals. It is one of the most casily absorbed foods (one reason it is recommended for quick energy for athletes). Fruits and vegetables contain a lot of roughage and other essential foodstuffs besides carbohydrates. It is not so much the amount of food you sat, as the type.

diets, especially in this, a meat-eating country. Proteins are found chiefly in meat, fish, fowl, milk, eggs, and beans. Not all of these can be recommended indiscriminately in a proper diet. For instance, chicken and turkey can be recommended, duck and goose cannot; lean voal and fish, fot bacon or shellfish; egg whites, net egg yolks.

Proteins are recommended in most

Fats cause the most confusion, probably because they are getting the most publicity, none of it good. One gram of digested fat produces nine calories, more than twice as much as carbohydrates or proteins. Logically, a low-fat diet should be ideal. This is a good idea, but it's not that simple. If you cut down on meat to cut down on fat, you're also cutting down on needed protein. But we do need to limit our intake of fat.

Cholesterol is often associated with fat, although it is not a fat itself. It is probably the major villain in atheroscierosis because if enough of it is allowed to flow through the blood stream for long enough periods of time, it can be deposited in the walls of the arteries and lead to a whole series of complications. Among them are limiting the flow or breaking off and blocking the flow of blood altogether.

Yet cholesterol is essential to life. It is found in the brain, the adrenal glands, and in almost every cell in your body, and the body itself actually manufactures cholesterol. How did such a villain get to be a villain?

Again, H's not the substance itself but the amount, our each some cholesterol, but the amount you eat should be controlled. Some foods are notably high in cholesterol and should be rationed. like dairy foods, esponents Shell fish should be used only in moderation.

In addition to sensible exercise and proper dietary habits, you need to govern your living habits—the other a day die an average of 16 years sooner than others. It is well established that nicotine increases the heart rate, increases the amount of blood pumped by the heart, and maycause a rise in blood pressure. . in our studies, even young and otherwise healthy pilots who smoked often had resting heart rates of 90 beats a minute or more. When they stopped smoking, the heart rate dropped to about 60. Those who resumed the habit found their heart rates going up again. The evidence is too direct to be ignored. Nicotine itself is a poison, and like any poison it can kill tissue. Eyen amall amounts; used on a long-term basis are not and longevity, notably smoking and good for the body. Large amounts can be fatal.

Excessive drinking includes more than alcoholic beverages. Chronic drinking-of-large amounts of coffee, toa, or cola drinks can do as much to elevate the heart rate as smoking. They all include caffeine—a drug. Caffeine is a powerful stimulant. Excessive intake can cause irregularities of the heart best, including palpitation or skipped beats.

In general, five cups of coffee or tea a day is excessive. Two cups are usually enough for most people, and one is too much for highly gensitive individuals with evidence of a high heart rate or general nervousness. If you are hooked on these drinks, you are hooked on drugs and have a drug habit.

Alcohol is a loser on two counts. It has no place in a weight-control diet, and it has a poisonous effect on the heart muscles.

Recent studies show clearly that large amounts of alcohol can damage the heart-muscle fibers. Eventually the damaged heart is no longer able to function efficiently, and heart failure may result.

Your own doctor can be a big help in preparing a preventive program, and I strongly advise you to contact him before embarking on any drastic changes in your life style. But in the final analysis, you are your own doctor. It's your heart, and it's up to you to protect it.

Karen Jensen: The

H AD ANYONE told Karen Jensen that by the time she was 21 she'd be referred to as a sex-goddess, she would have laughed in his face. If she had had the courage, that is. For Karen was so painfully shy as a child that she would-even run off to hide in her room whenever her parents had guests over.

"I don't know why I found it so-hard to be outgoing then," said Karen, who plays beautiful Rachel Holt in tv's "Bracken's World." "I was an only child until I was nine and probably had too much parental love and attention. I was probably terribly spoiled, too, although I didn't know it then. Perhapa it was because I felt very unattractive. I certainly wasn't protty, and I was fat!"

Hard to believe when you look at her now: 5'6", 118 pounds, measuring 36'4-24-36, with long blonde hair, crystal bluegreen eyes, and a peaches-and-cream complexion. She looks like a curvaceous Dreaden doll all grown up.

All of what Karen Jengen is today contrasts with her childhood. Karen struggled through her adolescent years, which were filled with loneliness and uncertainty. "We moved from Sah Francisco, where I was born, to Sacramento. I found it very hard to make new friends. In fact, for the longest time, I never had a friend. Her parents' subsequent divorce only added to Karen's shyness. When Karen's mother remarried, they moved back to San Francisco. However, the pudgy little girl who had left the Bay City had by now blossomed into a beautiful young lady.

But she was still shy. That's when Karen's mother decided to do something about it, and talked her into entering a beauty contest to get her out in front of people. "I still don't know how she did it," admitted Karen. "I certainly didn't want to enter. But she is a very logical person, and she pointed out, step by step, all the reasons why such an experience would be good for me."

It was while trying on bathing suits towear in the contost that Karen stumbled into modeling. "The woman who owned the shop saw me in a bathing suit and said, 'Will you model for my shop? You really don't have a model's long-waisted figure, but you certainly have a bathing-suit figure,' " Karen recalled. Her words were prophetic. And Karen heard them repeated many times as she placed ica and Miss Universe pageants.

in beauty contest after beauty contest, including the Miss Amer-Yat Karan did become a model: "I was strictly self-taught. I bought fashion magazines and practiced in front of my mirror to look like the pictures. But the first time I had to walk out in front of that little shop and stand on the street for people to look at, I thought I'd die I was so terrified." she remembered. "But aftera a while, when people began coming up to me and talking to me—and were so nice-I began to enjoy myself." It was one of hor beauty-contest photos which appeared in a newspaper that caught the eye of a photographer. He offered her $75 if she'd pose for him. He was so impressed that he introduced her to one of the top San Francisco to tackle and decided she'd have to do something to get into the movies-a logical next step since she'd learned to sing to be a contestant in one of the beauty contests, could dance, and was now convinced she would look good on film. She also felt she could act, if just given the chance. The Miss Universe Contest seemed her best bet. "I knew there could well be a producer in the audience," she reasoned. "I wanted him to loap to his feet and shout, .'Get me that girl-I want to sign her up!"

And that's just about the way it happened. A William Morris agent was in the audience, he was impressed, and he did ask to see pictures of her. He liked what he saw, both in her portfolio and in person, and he started bugging Hollywood about the new sex goddess he'd discovered. Her break came when George Burns asked her to play an airline hostess in his ty series.

Warner Brothers spotted her and trained her for a full year. "Then Universal International saw some of the stuff I did and wanted me. Since Warners was going downhill at that point, I moved over to Ul for two years, Nothing much happened there, either, and I decided to ask for a release from my contract. Eventually they did release me.' The year when she stepped out of the studio contract to free lance was a rough one.

Karen feels she learned two very important things during that period of unemployment; she didn't need as much money to live on as she thought she did and she could survive, no matter what!

Today Karen is riding on cloud nine. The television series. "Bracken's World," has just been renewed. "For the first time in my life," she beamed, "I'll have some. money left over from my budget!" Likewise, her flancé, actor John Neilson, is waiting news on a tv pilot he just made. The two hope to get married before long, and Karen is looking forward to having a home and children. What if the bubble bursts and find work as an actor, and they don't have the money to get married? "I learned I can survive," she told me confidently. "I have faith in myself. (She has gained experience in tv dramas and the films "Out of Sight," and "The Ballad of Josie.") I also have faith in John. If I continue acting, I think I could combine being a wife and actress. If I don't stay in show business for any reason,

THETHER it's to find their inner selves or just something interesting to do with summervacation time, teens will be trekking off to discover America.

City slickers and country cousins alike. are taking specially designed teen tours and joining traveling camps, which have mushroomed in the past 10 years to cater to youngsters' wanderlust.

Bored and stifled by summer school or the familiar woodsy camp, teens are eager to claim a seat on a jet plane, station wagon, bus, bicycle, or canoe destined for mountains of fun, new avenues of education, and seas of adventure,

With a myriad of teen tours to choose from, finding the right program can be an adventure in itself. Like teens, the tours come in a potpourri of sizes and shapes.

There's a super-de luxe, first-class bigcity jet whirl. On this gilt-edged trip, kids stay in a super-glamorous hotel in Miami, dance in the top discos, and dine on steak. An action-loving cousin with simpler testes can pack his blue jeans, climb into a station wagon, and set off on a trail to scale glaciers, cook his own grub, and anuggle into a bedroll.....

Prices vary, depending on the length of the tour and where it is joined. Some trips are relatively luxurious and priced accordingly, while others a teen with some small savings can easily pay for. Although most tours travel west from New-York, toons from Maine to Wash ington can usually join in between and shave a chunk off the advertised price. A six-week spectacular cross-country tour. including a side jaunt to Nassau, Bahamas, runs around $1,210. On the other side of and adventures

HOW TO BE A HERO IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD

10 Bright Barbecue Ideas from Reynolds Wrap

Delight your family...dazzle your friends...with delicious (and different) dishes that end forever the same-old-thing cookout.

What does it take? Two important ingredients: Reynolds Wrap and your own creativity. Reynolds Wrap is a must for outdoor barbecuing because you can cook in it, even over the hottest coals! It as a special resistance to tearing, so it safely seals in juices and flavors it keeps hot foods hot till ready to serve. Molds tight to any shape ... from a lobster to a peach-in-a-poke.

How come? Because every inch of Reynolds Wrap is oven-tempered for flexible strength. Strong, de-pendable Reynolds Wrap. The bar becue buil's best friend.

FOIL-ROASTED CORN ON THE COR

Remove husks and silk. Brush corn with melted butter or margarins. Wrap each ear tightly in Reynolds Wrap. Roast on top of grill over hot fire about 15 minutes. Foil seals in the fresh-corn flavor and aroma. Foil baked notatods are great, too. Just scrub the spuds and wrap each one tightly in Heavy Duty foil. Place them directly on the coals around the edge of the fire. Bake about 16 minutes.

SUMMER SQUASH TREAT

Put half-inch slices of squash on very thin onion alices in center of a square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, Season with salt, pepper and snips of fresh dill. Dot with butter. Seal foil with double-fold and cook on grill about 25 minutes. Divine! And. you can cook tomatoes, pearl onions and all kinds of frozen vegetables on your outdoor grill, too. The real secret is the tightly scaled foll packet idea.

-SPIT ROASTING?

Make a foil pan to eatch the drippings. Just turn up all four edges of a double-thickness length of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap in the shape of a narrow rectangular pan and place in front of the coals, directly under the meat. Avoids flame flare-ups.

QUICKIE OVEN

Bake-and-serve biscuits and rolls bake beautifully on the grill. Place them on a sheet of Heavy Duty foil and cover them with another sheet. Good idea with hot dog and hamburger rolls, too.

WONDERFUL WOODSY FLAVOR

Soak hickory chips in water and wrap them fightly in foil. Punch holes in the foll to let smoke secape and place the packet right on the coals. Hickory chips won't flame up and burn.

CLAMBAKE-IN-A-BUNDLE. On a 24" piece of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap arrange a large frozon lobster tail (or a 1 lb. fresh-killed lobster as shown above); a chicken logy 6 clams; an ear of corn, silk removed; a scrubbed potato; an onion, & cup clant juice. Bring up sides of foil and second sheet of Heavy Duty foil. Wrap and seal with double fold. Place on grill 4 inches from coals. Cook 1 hour turning every 15 minutes. Serve with melted butter and lemon. Serves one. (The big idea is the no-fuss foil bundle. Works fine, too, with beef or lamb or chicken, and vegetables.)

HOT GARLIC BREAD. Cut a lost of Italian Bread in % inch alices, not quite through bottom crust. Combine W oup softened butter or margarine with 1 minoed garlic clove, I tempoon paraley flakes, & tempoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon dried dill. Spread mixture generously be-tween alloes. Wrap loosely in Reynolds Wrap and heat on grill 15 minutes.

PEACHES-IN-A-POKE. Arrange two

neach halves on a 9 inch square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon, chopped almonds and (optional) a teaspoon of brandy or rum, Bring foil up and twist-top to close tight. Cook on grill over medium-hot fire about 15 minutes.

LINE YOUR GRILL Use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. The foil reflects

the heat evenly over the entire grill. Foods cook

more evenly. Faster, too. And at clean-up time just bundle up the ashes in the foll and throw'em away.

"INSTANT HIBACHI"

While the main dish is cooking on your big grill, let your guests cook their own appetizer-kebobs on your "linstant hibachl." Just line a big cast iron kettle (or o'en an did-buckét)-with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap and build the fire right on the foll.
