

Airport At Siem Reap Reopened

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian military officials today reopened the airport for the tourist city of Siem Reap and said Pathet Lao guerrillas joined the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the battle for the city last week.

A government spokesman said the airport at Siem Reap, gateway to the ancient ruins of Angkor Wat, so far was open only to military flights.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops carried out "some harassment" raids near Siem Reap, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, Tuesday night, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the Communist forces suffered twice the fatalities of the Cambodians in the weekend fighting at the airport. He put Cambodian casualties at 20 killed and 30 wounded while 40 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao bodies were found on the battlefield around the airport and at the outskirts of Siem Reap.

The spokesman said several important documents and large quantities of arms and supplies were captured Monday in clearing operations in the Siem Reap area.

Military sources in Saigon said North Vietnamese troops were in firm control of the southern Laotian town of Saravane today. U.S. jets bombed the area to destroy ammunition left behind by retreating government troops.

There were no casualty figures on the fighting in which the Communists seized the town before dawn Tuesday.

Three Laotian army headquarters buildings near the airfield were burned but the town appeared undamaged, the sources said. There was no word on the fate of 1,000 civilians reported still in the town following evacuation of most residents last month.

Contrary to first reports, the Laotian government forces made no appeal for U.S. air support when they withdrew under attack by 500 North Vietnamese troops, the sources said.

Violence Continues On Coast

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Scores of law officers clamped a tight lid on the Isla Vista student community Tuesday night combating renewed violence by bands of youths with mass arrests and tear gas.

Close to 300 deputies and highway patrolmen patrolled the 15-square block area next to the University of California on foot and in dump trucks as they routed the rock-throwing groups.

Arrests in the fourth successive night of violence totaled 142, 30 of whom were charged with felonies including narcotic charges and assault with a deadly weapon. The total number of arrests for the four nights of disorders soared to 202.

Winthrop Plans To Run Again

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Shunting aside a promise to seek only two terms, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller announced Tuesday his candidacy for a third. He said his "era of excellence" program was not complete.

Rockefeller, 59, the state's first GOP governor since Reconstruction, told 400 cheering supporters "my commitment to make our government the government of the people" was stronger than the two-term pledge which, he said, was made in "good faith" but showed he was naive.

Rockefeller announced his candidacy in the ballroom of the deserted Hotel Marlton, the first two floors of which he had rented for campaign headquarters.

THE $1.5 BILLION plan to provide more money for schools with desegregation problems is designed to solve "an immediate, short term crisis," Robert H. Finch, outgoing secretary of HEW said in testimony before the Senate subcommittee on Education. There was no estimate given as to the money which will be needed over the long-term program. New Welfare Reform Program Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration rolled out its new-welfare reform today, hoping to sell it to conservatives in Congress and to governors who saw the old model as a Treasury-busting vehicle headed toward the welfare state.

A conservative rebellion in the Senate Finance Committee five weeks ago sent outgoing Secretary Robert H. Finch back to the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) with instructions to retool the "family assistance plan."

He was told to remove the bugs senators said would give people no incentive to take jobs.

Senators grumbled that the administration proposal, the keystone to its domestic program and an innovation which had won praise from many liberals, would drive the federal and state governments bankrupt.

But the chief objection, raised by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, ranking Republican on the Senate committee, was that under certain circumstances welfare recipients would improve their lot by quitting work or by taking a drop in earnings.

The original bill worked out that way because many government programs designed to help the poor give the most aid to those with the least income. These include Medicaid, public housing and the food stamp program.

As a consequence, charts prepared by HEW at Williams' insistence showed that under family assistance a welfare mother of three in Wilmington, Del., for example, would have a total income of $4,187 if she earned $1,000.

Prince Replies To Journalist's Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cambodian Prince Sihanouk has replied to a number of Washington-based journalists who called him their concern about newsmen being held by Communist forces in Cambodia.

In a telegram addressed to UPI reporter Nicholas Daniloff, Sihanouk said in part: "It is with great sympathy that I have noted your very moving message."

"The commander of our popular army of liberation has just sent us a message according to which research to find the journalists has not yet had positive results. He informs us that this research is made very difficult due to the massive invasion and incessant bombardment of Cambodia by the American and satellite forces," the telegram said.

"Please believe that we have no interest of any sort to detain journalists and other reporters, ever American. On the contrary, their release even if it was really in our hands, would render a real service to the cause which we are defending and our united front. We are making all necessary efforts so that the lost ones should be found and returned to their families and to their companies."

"Be assured that we will not neglect to inform you" of any positive news.

Prince Replies To Journalist's Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has approved a bill to exempt from antitrust laws those newspapers that pool noneditorial operations to fend off financial failure.

The committee voted 13 to 8 Tuesday to advance the so-called Newspaper Preservation Act to the Rules Committee for clearance to the floor.

The Senate passed a similar bill earlier and House backers predicted agreement on differences could be reached quickly and without need for a conference committee.

The House bill provides that at least one newspaper seeking a joint operating agreement with another must be in "probable danger of financial failure," after which the agreement could be completed upon approval of the attorney general.

The measure, as does the Senate bill, includes a "grandfather clause" that would allow joint operations now in existence in 22 cities to continue.

The measure, in effect, would nullify Supreme Court rulings that two such operations — in Tucson, Ariz., and San Francisco — violate antitrust laws.

U.S. District Court Judge Edwin A. Rabeon ordered 10 years probation for all 10 following completion of their sentences.

The seven defendants in the case were charged with racketeering and conspiracy to defraud.

The event will be sponsored by the Intermountain Regional Medical Program and the Mountain States Regional Medical Program.

The session will feature doctors from Boise, Pocatello and Idaho Falls along with speakers from the University of Utah Medical Center, Stanford Medical Center, and the University of Oregon Medical School.

Junta To Retain Controls

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The three-man military junta that overthrew President Juan Carlos Onganía plans to retain at least part of the power when it installs a new president.

The ruling triumvirate promised Tuesday night to establish "an authentic, democracy-republican, representative and federal," but did not fix a date for elections. It is expected to be as long as three years before they are held.

The junta said it would name the new president, conceivably a civilian, by June 18.

The junta is composed of Army Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, Air Force Brig. Gen. Carlos Roy, and Navy Adm. Pedro Gnavi.

A moving van began carting Onganía's household effects away from the presidential residence Tuesday. Friends said the Ongánias planned to move back into the Buenos Aires apartment they occupied before he was named president in 1966 after another military coup.

Maddox Undergoes Surgery

ATLANTA (UPI) — Surgeons at Georgia Baptist Hospital said they would operate on Gov. Lester G. Maddox today to remove a kidney stone.

Maddox said he was told he would probably be hospitalized 10 days and "if everything goes all right," he could return to his office in about three weeks.

SLEEPY-BUY CHICAGO (UPI) — Americans spend more than $80 million annually on sleeping pills of various kinds.

In addition, countless millions are also spent on devices that are supposed to aid sleep, such as mechanical beds that twist and turn, vibrators, head warmers, neck collars, eye masks, and recordings that soothe the listener. So reports the Spring Air Mattress Co.

Walkout Hits News In London

LONDON (UPI) — A printers strike suspended publication today of Britain's mass-circulation morning newspapers for the first time in 15 years.

Personal intervention of Prime Minister Harold Wilson failed to prevent the walkout. Government sources said Wilson was anxious to avoid a prolonged newspaper shutdown in the closing stages of the campaign for the June 18 elections.

About 23,000 printers struck Tuesday to back demands for a 25 per cent pay increase.

The only national daily to appear today was the 20,000-circulation Communist Morning Star which does not belong to the Newspaper Publishers Association and has a separate agreement with the unions.

The ruling triumvirate promised Tuesday night to establish "an authentic, democracy-republican, representative and federal," but did not fix a date for elections. It is expected to be as long as three years before they are held.

The junta said it would name the new president, conceivably a civilian, by June 18.

Destroying Records Nets Jail

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ten persons, including three now considered fugitives, have been sentenced to 5 to 10 years in prison for destroying records during a raid on a Chicago draft office.

One defendant was not contrite. "I have no remorse. It was the proudest moment of my life."

The 10-year sentences were imposed Tuesday on the three defendants who fled during the last week of their month-long trial. The other seven were sentenced to five years, with the provision they are eligible for parole at any time they have been rehabilitated.

U.S. District Court Judge Edwin A. Rabeon ordered 10 years probation for all 10 following completion of their sentences.

The seven defendants in the case were charged with racketeering and conspiracy to defraud.

Space Officials To Skip Moon Mission

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Space agency officials are considering cancelling next year's Apollo-16 moon mission and possibly one other flight to two more Saturn-5 rockets for the Skylab space station program.

An agency spokesman said Tuesday the mission cancellations were being considered as options that could be taken in the event it was decided one or two Saturns would be more useful for earth orbital missions.

But he emphasized no decisions have been made, and "right now we're still planning to launch Apollo 15 on March 28. You could keep preparing for Apollo-15 for some months before making a decision."

Apollo-15 is in particular jeopardy because its spacecraft cannot carry the two-man moon jeep scheduled to be borne by the west four moonships, Apollos 16 through 19. Those flights also will be able to support men on the lunar surface a day longer.

"We want to keep the missions that offer the best return," the spokesman said in Washington.

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James E. Irwin now are training to fly Apollo 15. It was not known if they would be reassigned to Apollo 16, now set for launch Aug. 27, 1971, if Apollo 15 were eliminated.

California is the biggest, the best and the worst," conceded Kerry W. Mulligan, chairman of the State Water Resources Control Board.

Nixon Accused Of A "Lazy Approach"

PARK CITY, Utah (UPI) — President Nixon should commit his administration to cleansing the environment the same as President Kennedy committed the nation to landing a man on the moon, some Western governors said today.

"We can spend hundreds of dollars to put a man on the moon—in Montana, we're lucky to get a man down to Utah," lamented Democratic Gov. Forrest H. Anderson of Montana.

He accused the Nixon administration of adopting a "lazy approach" toward smog control by delegating too much responsibility to the states.

Republican Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington noted that Kennedy in 1961 committed the nation to landing an American on the moon by the end of the decade.

"I think that's exactly what we've got to do — set a goal," Evans told his colleagues.

Western governors, holding their annual meeting in a rain-drenched mountain resort, focused their attention today on water pollution.

Tuesday, the governors devoted their entire session to a wide-ranging discussion of air pollution and solid waste disposal.

Several governors called for a redistribution of the West's population, now concentrated along the coast, but nobody suggested how to do it.

"We've lost population in Wyoming," said Republican Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, "but the people in my state don't want any more. And as soon as some new ones move in, they want to shut the gate and keep it the way it was."

California was pointed to as a polluted example of what not to become.

Amman Radio said the cease-fire agreement, the third in 24 hours, was worked out at a meeting between King Hussein of Jordan and Yasser Arafat, the Al-Fatah guerrilla leader, at Hussein's Al-hummar palace.

The two sides agreed to form joint patrols to enforce the cease-fire and to free everyone captured during the fighting, the broadcast said.

(Guerrilla sources in Damascus, Syria, said sporadic fighting was continuing in Amman. They estimated 100 persons were killed and 250 wounded in the past 24 hours.)

Guerrillas from the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) were holding 14 Americans, 14 Britons, three West Germans and a Lebanese Danny Chamoun, son of a former Lebanese president, at the Intercontinental Hotel in Amman.

Hostages Held In Jordan

By GERARD LOUGHRAN AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Heavily armed Arab guerrillas held 32 foreigners hostage in a luxury hotel today despite Amman Radio reports of a top level agreement to end the fighting between the guerrillas and Jordanian army troops.

Amman Radio said the cease-fire agreement, the third in 24 hours, was worked out at a meeting between King Hussein of Jordan and Yasser Arafat, the Al-Fatah guerrilla leader, at Hussein's Al-hummar palace.

The two sides agreed to form joint patrols to enforce the cease-fire and to free everyone captured during the fighting, the broadcast said.

Weather Synopsis

An extensive area of low pressure aloft continues over the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Northwest. The general upper air flow is from the northwest over this area and the air is cold for this season.

Temperatures will continue cool for this time of year during the next several days. With some drying and clearing at nighttime, temperatures will drop to near freezing in higher agricultural valleys about Friday morning.

Sufficient moisture continues so as to produce showers today, but decreasing tonight over southwest Idaho. Surface winds will, in general, increase, with gusts near 25 miles per hour in vicinity of showers this afternoon.

The extended weather outlook, Friday through Sunday, is for variable cloudiness with showers; temperatures mostly in 60s and low 70s during days, lows in the upper 30s and 40s.

Farm activities, particularly haying operations, will be delayed during the next several days due to poor drying conditions. Most row crop activities will suffer only temporary delays due to scattered showers. Irrigation needs will lessen due to some shower activity, but requirements should be watched during the last of the week.

Twin Falls sheriff's officers were contacted Tuesday by an area resident who observed some "suspicious weeds" growing near Twin Falls.

He offered to show the "weeds" to deputies who went to the area, and after investigation, reported the "weeds" were sagebrush.

The alert, well-meaning resident, deputies surmised, probably isn't a native Idahoan.

It's "War" Saturday—Against Litter

An army of volunteers from 500 to 1,000 persons will be mobilizing in Twin Falls county Saturday for an all-out battle against litter.

In a final planning session Tuesday afternoon, William Chancey, Twin Falls County Commissioner and Bob Brock, Bureau of Land Management, Burley, reported details are complete for the one-day, county-wide campaign.

Cooperation of the Idaho State Police and Twin Falls County Sheriff's department was assured by Lt. Dean Bennett and Sheriff Paul Corder. Both agencies will have several vehicles and men assisting with traffic and communications.

Persons were urged to watch for walking clean-up crews along major highways and to at work sites, where possible, Mr. Brock said. Lunch will be served all workers at 2 p.m. at Muttough Lake and at the Filer fairgrounds as a climax to the work program.

Large plastic sacks have been purchased by the county and persons are also asked to bring burlap or plastic bags if they have them available.

Kirkman Brothers have offered two buses to take workers to the clean-up areas, Mr. Chancey said, but many probably will bring their own vehicles. About 10 vehicles will be provided by the Bureau of Land Management under the Johnny Horizon program, and all will be radio equipped to keep in communication with all areas.

County commissioners said Tuesday they plan a strict enforcement of littering regulations following the clean-up day program. Such things as dumping lawn cuttings and tree trimmings in nearby vacant lots or beside county roads is not legal, Commissioner Morris W. Carlson said.

Governor Rapped For Low Idaho Pay Scale

Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls, told an Arco audience Tuesday there is nothing wrong with Idaho that a higher per capita income for its residents would not cure.

Mr. Walker, a candidate for Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said the state's biggest problems are economic. The state has one of the lowest per capita incomes in the nation and a governor who has been unable to do anything about it, the attorney said.

"Gov. Samuelson is inclined to favor mining in the White Clouds area, supposedly to provide more tax revenue and jobs, but the sorry facts are that fewer than 2,500 persons are employed in the entire Idaho mining industry and mining in the White Clouds would have a far more adverse effect on the environment than any miniscule improvement on the state's economy," Mr. Walker said.

Sears Employee Gets Promotion

David R. Powell, assistant manager at Sears, Roebuck and Co's Twin Falls store, has been named merchandise manager of Home Fashions on the Utah-Idaho Sears group staff in Salt Lake City. It was announced today by Daryl Ander, Twin Falls store manager.

"Agriculture is Idaho's biggest business and, if elected, I will support all members of that industry, specifically the farmer and small businessman in their struggle to survive the pressures from all sides including selfish business interests in our state and such tactics as those of the present governor," the candidate added.

Mr. Walker said a good life cannot be achieved with inadequate incomes.

"Idaho has been existing for years on federal handouts which exceed the taxes the state pays the federal government. It will take strong leadership by a new governor to correct these gross injustices," he added.

Mr. Powell assumes his new position immediately. A graduate of the University of Idaho, he joined the company in 1955 on the management training program in Boise, where he held a number of positions before being named personnel manager at Las Vegas. He later served as merchandise control manager at San Bernardino, Cal., before coming to Twin Falls in 1969.

Mr. Powell and his wife and three children now live at 656 Wirching St. in Twin Falls.

The Approach

Little of substance is likely to result from the U. S. Internal Revenue Service's announced plan to require American taxpayers to disclose their foreign bank accounts when reporting 1970 income. But in the process some honest taxpayers will be put on the spot because of the bad guys. The plan, says IRS director Randolph W. Thrower, is to flush out foreign bank accounts used by the criminal element to escape detection. Such accounts, he said, are a "device used by organized crime" to hide income. Undoubtedly they are, but such accounts also are used by honest citizens for any number of reasons. Some are used to facilitate international transactions. Some wealthy individuals may employ them simply to attain a higher degree of privacy over their personal affairs. There is a suspicion some persons open secret European bank accounts as a status symbol. Whatever one may think of these reasons, they are not criminal. Reporting the existence of these accounts to IRS would largely destroy their usefulness. Not so with the criminal. Obviously he is not going to report the location of his ill-gotten gains to the government, and chances are neither is the host country keeping them for him. Thrower, revealing agents are negotiating with foreign governments on agreements about accounts opened by Americans, added, "The Swiss government has agreed to reveal accounts of those believed to be in violation of Swiss law." The problem here is that avoidance of U. S. income taxes is not a violation of Swiss law, nor are a number of other charges IRS agents might be interested in pursuing. Thus, any information about accounts with persons so charged will continue to be off limits to Washington. Once again, the ultimate effect of the IRS action, if permitted to stand, will be that the honest citizen will give up one more right and the dishonest will do nothing. Two other courses of action would seem to be preferable to the method the IRS has suggested for ferreting out illicit foreign accounts. Either negotiate more meaningful agreements with foreign governments, which would include cooperation on any suspected violation of U. S. laws, or prohibit all secret foreign accounts by any American, with confiscation the penalty.

Hot Air

A recent exchange of verbal blasts between Red China and the Soviet Union provides evidence the jealous hatred between the two giants of the communist world is not abating. To the contrary, it appears to be building in intensity. Mao Tse-tung began the latest exchange by accusing Kremlin leaders of being direct descendants of the Romanov czars, so far as Soviet policy is concerned. Mao resurrected an accusation of Karl Marx's that Czarist Russia's goal was world domination and applied it to modern Moscow. To which Leonid Brezhnev replied that Mao was nothing more than a philanderer who abandoned his first wife to death and probably was responsible for his eldest son's murder. Such personal vilifications are unusual enough between the warlords of the communist world, but the widespread attention the diatribes received in the controlled Soviet and Chinese news media made the intensity of the exchanges more emphatic. Strangely, this is one outburst for which neither Moscow nor Peking so far is blaming the Americans.

MR. SPECTATOR

Who Dreamed This Up?

Some people would try to dehumanize anything. A Toronto management consultant has predicted the day will come when restaurants will replace waitresses with computers. Microphones could be used to signal the orders to the computer, he says, which then could heat reprocessed foods, mix drinks and even present the bill at the end of the meal. Presumably the same process could be used in bars and similar service establishments. What the man overlooks is that many people who choose to dine out do so because they are looking for something more than the utilitarian aspects of food. They want a little personal attention, some sociability in a human atmosphere. Not even the most sophisticated computer can program that.

Those who insist on worrying might consider the ultimate disaster, perhaps a million years from now. Everybody might need some sort of anchor to keep from soaring off into space. But long before that man may learn much from residence on the moon, where gravitational pull is only a fraction of what it is on earth.

AGE OF GAB

The United States has overtaken Canada in the yak-yak sweepstakes. Latest figures reported in "The World's Telephones," an annual compilation by AT&T, reveal that Americans made an average of 701 local and long-distance telephone calls each during 1968. Canadians had been the most talkative people in the world in every year since 1951 but they dropped to second with 693 conversations per capita in 1968, the most recent year for which statistics are available. There were also a lot more telephones to accommodate all this talk. In 1968 their number increased by 10 million to a world total of 128 million. The United States led with the absolute most — 109,250,000 — but second-place Japan with 20,525,000 had the highest ratio of telephones to population — 54 for every 100 persons. Tokyo alone had 3,041,000 telephones, almost as many as the state of Ohio. New York City had 5,723,353, but according to local citizens most of those often didn't work. More than 200 countries and territories are now on speaking terms with 97 per cent of the world's 238 million telephones.

WASHINGTON — Let us picked-upon-Americans trip a light-fantastic in some convenient street. A week before Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme embarked on his current unofficial visit to the United States, President Nixon blasted him in a personal message for the racist abuse heaped on him. Negro ambassador to Stockholm by mobs in ultra pura Sweden. Nixon told Palme the U.S. "would not tolerate insults and threats" against Ambassador Dr. Jerome H. (Bud) Holland, a former All America football star at Cornell. If such insults and threats continued, said the President, the U.S. "will be forced to consider" Holland's recall. Earlier, State Department spokesman had said only that the department was "seriously considering" recall. If the harassment continued, Bud White House source now has disclosed that after consultation with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, President Nixon dispatched his own protest to the Swedish prime minister. "I want them (the Swedes) to hear it from me personally,"

Nixon told Rogers. Ambassador Holland and his family have been the targets of epithets "nigger" and "nigger go home" by anti-Vietnam War leftists since he presented his credentials in April. Mobs have pelted the Holland family with eggs and tomatoes. More than 100 Swedes bombarded the ambassador's car with eggs near Orebro, in central Sweden. Holland himself has talked tough to the permissive Swedish regime. He called the incident "disgraceful" — "harsh language for a diplomat" — and told the host government "This embassy expects that members of the staff, including the ambassador, should be able to carry out their responsibilities of their office without danger of physical harm." Prime Minister Palme, here to receive an honorary degree from Kenyon (Ohio) College, has apologized for the indignities to Holland, and the State Department has accepted his apology. But Palme must shoulder much of the blame for the abuse of a black diplomat in a country which long has prided itself on its "liberalism." Both before he took office and as prime minister, Palme has made it plain he sympathized with the militancy of Swedish anti-war protesters. Indeed, he joined a number of protest rallies. And more recently, in a public statement, he equated the U.S. operation in Cambodia with the Soviet Union invasion of Czechoslovakia. Meanwhile, Palme's government supports the Communist enemy with supplies, promises of development aid and a stream of official and unofficial visitors. The Swedish government also has been guilty of bad taste. After accepting an invitation to open a trade show of American sporting goods with Ambassador Holland, Commerce Minister Gunnar Lange launched into an attack on American foreign policy. Holland was reported to have been "stunned and ashamed" at Lange's bad manners. Meanwhile, Palme is here to try to repair Sweden's damaged image and — more important to the profit-loving Swedes — to head off any boycott of Swedish imports. Recent history, notably the World War II period, has shown Sweden usually is sensitive to threats against its pocketbook. Perhaps Palme now has decided his country can't afford to be hostile to an American ambassador. Besides, throwing the first egg doesn't quite conform with its heralded "liberalism."

"Where Ya Demonstrating This Summer?"

PAUL HARVEY

They Suffer Less

President Nixon's Committee on Mental Retardation says many of our nation's retarded are confined under conditions comparable to prisoners of war. But here is the strange part: You visit a school for the retarded, you pity them. Yet teachers of the retarded are more and more observing that it's you who are frowning and the retarded who are smiling and this leaves psychologists uncertain who should pity whom. Americans, preoccupied in recent generations with sharing our material progress with the so-called unenlightened peoples in the so-called underdeveloped nations, are having some second thoughts about that.

The U.S. Office of Education says fully half of our nation's adults lack the literacy necessary to comprehend such day-to-day reading matter as newspapers and job applications. The Census Bureau concedes that half our nation's population has had less than a 12th grade education. The institutionalized mentally retarded number approximately 200,000. These are the ones, the President's committee reports, who are confined to tax-supported institutions at an annual cost of $1 billion — yet receive only "dehumanizing custodial care." Committee Chairman Raymond Vowell of the University of Texas is urging a system of accreditation for these institutions, emphasizing that the retarded must be allowed to live "as normal a life as possible." Some psychologists, however, are beginning to wonder if that so-called "normal life" is all it's cracked up to be. The brain-damaged retarded are segregated, according to their potential, from those lacking the physical restraint to prevent them from injuring themselves or others, but here we are concerned with the committee's recommendations for "improving the improvable." These recommendations include: "encouraging physical, intellectual and social capabilities to the fullest; to develop emotional maturity commensurate with social and intellectual growth, when possible to develop skills, habits and attitudes essential for return to contemporary society, and to provide a personally satisfying life within the institutional environment."

therapeutic "improvement" for the retarded. But more often than otherwise, the patients do smile — and enjoy themselves — more than do their teachers. And it should concern us as a nation whether, in taking what we consider to be enlightenment into the backward areas of the earth, we are not also spreading the restiveness and self-pity so apparent in our own mirror.

ART BUCHWALD

The Tipsters

WASHINGTON — You used to meet them everywhere — at cocktail parties, dinners, the beach club and college reunions. Although they came in all shapes and forms, they had one thing in common. They were the people who had invested in Xerox when it was $9 a share, Ligon Industries when it was $10 and Gulf and Western when it was $14. They used to tell you how they had first heard about Texas Instruments when it was selling for a song, how they had gotten into Ling Tanco Vought through a fraternity brother, and how they had bought Pean Central, Computer Data, Fairchild Camera against the advice of their brokers. They weren't unfriendly people. They always had time to chat with you and tell you how well they were doing in the market. They implied that they had a sixth sense about investing in Wall Street and a talent for these matters that you, the average person, would never understand. Without intending to do it, they made you feel completely inadequate as a broadwinner, and a sucker for holding onto a salaried job. But in the last few months something has happened to these people. For one thing, you hardly see them any more and when you do they're very quiet. Their clothes have gotten seedy — the bounce has gone from their walk — and when they hold a drink their hands shake a lot. I ran into one the other day on the plane. His name was Simpkin. The last time we flew up to New York, a few years ago, Simpkin was dropping names like Planet Oil, MGM and Boeing Aircraft. "This time I hardly recognized him when I sat down. His hair was completely white, his eyes were bloodshot and he had a tic in his right cheek. "How are things going?" I asked pleasantly. "This seat is taken," he snarled. "It's me, Simpkin. You know, from the Washington Athletic Club. Remember when we had that nice talk about American Nursing Homes merging with Rorschach Matches? Whatever happened to that?" "If you say one more word to me, I'll hit you in the mouth," he said. "Good heavens, Simpkin, you're overwrought. Are you still in the market?" He raised his fist, but the stewardess came by and asked him to fasten his safety belt. Simpkin wiped his brow. "I'm sorry," he said, "but National General is down to 2 1/2%." "Oh," I said. "I didn't know. Were you big in National General?" "Not as big as I was in Commonwealth United and Chrysler." "I don't follow the market," I said. "But I understand there have been some reverses. Would this be a good time to buy anything?" "As soon as the Fasten Your Belt sign goes off," Simpkin said. "I'm going to kill you." "Grab hold of yourself, man," I cried. "After all, money isn't everything." "Do you know how much I was once worth on paper?" Simpkin said. "A lot, I'm sure." "Would you believe $750,000?" I whistled. "I would have never known it." "Do you know what I'm worth on paper now?" "I won't guess." "I owe $50,000, and they're still asking for margin."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Snakebite

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you give me the correct procedure for a snakebite? — Mrs. J. T. If a doctor is not available: 1 — Keep the victim quiet. Actively spread the venom. 2 — Apply a cloth, or pressure band, three to six inches above the bite. Some purists object to calling it a tourniquet, as the intent is not to shut off all blood flow (as with a severe wound.) But use a belt, rope, scarf, or whatever is handy, drawing it tight enough to shut off circulation in the veins which, generally speaking, are closer to the surface than the arteries. You don't want to shut off blood flow to the bitten extremity; you do want to retard the return circulation, in the veins and lymph, from spreading through the body. Loosen the cloth for a minute or two out of each 15 minutes. 3 — Cutting the skin at the site of the bite, small cuts an eighth to a quarter-inch long, promotes bleeding, and washing out some of the venom. Sterilize the knife by holding it in a match flame or wiping it with alcohol. Whiskey or gin will do. 4 — Do not give whisky or any alcoholic drink to the victim. 5 — Remove venom by gentle squeezing and suction. Snakebite kits contain suction cups for this; or you can suck the wound and spit out the venom. (But not if you have an open wound in the mouth, of course.) 6 — Take the victim to a doctor or hospital. Carry him to the car. If he has to walk, have him do so slowly. Poisonous snakebites, if treated within two hours, have a good prospect of less severe reactions. When medical care is reached, the "three A's" are the essentials: antivenin; antibiotics; anti-tetanus injections. Application of ice or cold compresses is not recommended. Alaska, Hawaii, and Maine are the only states without venomous snakes, I'm told. In general, rattlesnakes, copperheads, and cottonmouths account for 90 percent of the bites. The small but dangerous coral snake is in the Southeast and Southwest. For non-venomous snakebites

— these are usually harmless and appear more as scratches — simple cleaning of the area is all that is necessary. Prevention: wear high boots and heavy trousers. And don't probe under logs, in rock piles, and such places with bare hands. Carry a snakebite kit in known snake areas. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother, who lives with us refuses to drink our water until it has been boiled. We have extremely hard water. She believes the minerals will coat her intestines, much as minerals form in the teakettle and water pipes. Is she right? She feels that the medical profession will soon "discover" this. — M. W. No, she's wrong. Her innards are not like the bottom of a teakettle. They keep moving and carrying everything along. It may not do any good, but you might ask her whether she acquires a "mineral coating" on her skin from taking baths in hard water. Note to Mrs. B. W.: There is some indication that there is a slightly greater risk, when taking the birth control pills, of developing phlebitis (inflammation of veins), and your doctor, relying on the percentages of safety, therefore told you to stop using "the pill." With your past history of phlebitis, I would have told you the same thing.

Low blood sugar — a puzzler until correctly identified — is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of your newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "Help For Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

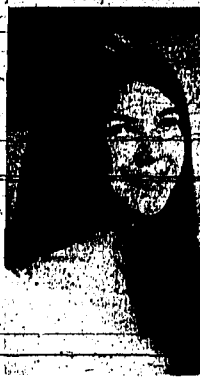

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated into his column whenever possible.

Race Is Major Issue In British Campaign

LONDON (UPI)—Race is the one issue all three main parties in Britain wanted at all costs to keep out of the June 18 general elections. Yet it has become one of the most explosive in the campaign.

For the past two years the focal point of a mounting storm in Britain over colored immigration has been the commonwealth.

It has been Enoch Powell, a right-wing former Conservative cabinet member.

Powell, 58, a slightly built, intense man who speaks with almost messianic fervor, touched off a nationwide furor by demanding a total halt to colored immigration and government aid to immigrants who want to return home.

The government estimates there currently are about 1,250,000 colored immigrants in this country, mostly from the West Indies, Pakistan and India.

The Labor government denounced Powell as a "racist." Conservative leader Edward Heath publicly condemned his views and ousted him from his "shadow" cabinet.

Yet Powell touched on an issue that runs deep in Britain, too.

Longshoremen from London's docks marched to Parliament in a noisy pro-Powell demonstration.

At the Conservative party's annual convention last October a sizeable minority supported Powell.

Because of possible damage to delicate race relations, party leaders wanted to keep race and immigration out of the election.

But Laborite Minister of Technology Anthony Wedgwood Benn forced it into the campaign last week with a personal attack against Powell, whose policies he denounced as "filthy and obscene racialist propaganda."

Prime Minister Harold Wilson chimed in: "All of us in the party and many outside are in complete agreement about our detestation of Powellism."

Heath called on Wilson to condemn Benn for making race an election issue. Wilson sidestepped and called on Heath to condemn Powell.

With race now boiling near the top of campaign issues, party strategists were questioning how the estimated 850,000 colored immigrants entitled to vote will cast their ballots.

General consensus was that most probably would vote Labor.

The question was of considerable significance because in at least a score of voting districts there are enough colored voters to sway the result.

Church Is Speaker At Graduation

NAMPA (UPI)—Commencement speaker Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told students at Northwest Nazarene College they were among the first college graduates in history to mark their commencement with many of the nation's colleges virtually closed down by division and dissent.

He said it had been a "somber year" marked by many critical domestic and international problems.

He told graduating seniors he was nevertheless optimistic over the future.

"I have come to a deepening conviction that the surest path for America lies neither with a new set of national ideals, nor with a new system," Church said. "Rather, our hope lies with a genuine affirmation of the nation's historic ideals and a more intelligent effort to make our system serve those ideals."

GUN SAFETY DRIVE
QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Beginning in 1971, hunters in Quebec will be required to hold firearms proficiency certificates before gaining a license, says the Department of Games and Fisheries. Tourism Minister Gabriel Loubier says the move is part of a general gun safety campaign.

King Hussein Is Target Of Gunfire

By United Press International
 King Hussein of Jordan was ambushed in his motorcade outside Amman Tuesday as widespread fighting broke out between Jordanian troops and Arab guerrillas in the capital city. The king escaped injury in the gunfire attack.

UPI correspondent Gerry Loughran reported from Amman that fighting broke out at 5 a.m. and Hussein was attacked during the morning as he drove toward the suburb of Suweilih, eight miles northwest.

Amman radio said his motorcade "came under heavy fire near the town of Suweilih ... But God was merciful for this country and his majesty escaped the treacherous fire."

The attack on Hussein was condemned later by Yasser Arafat, chief of Al Fatah, the largest guerrilla group, and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Russians Continue Orbiting

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's Soyuz 9 cosmonauts Tuesday ran detailed checks on their hearts, lungs and blood pressure and found that eight days in space did them no apparent harm.

The Soviet news agency Tass said doctors at the Baikonur Cosmodrome monitored the vital life signs of Col. Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevast'yanov during a strenuous round of exercises in their 11th orbit of the earth.

Heartbeat, blood pressure and breathing rate increased during the workout, Tass said—but in 20 seconds all was normal.

"Thus the registered physiological data testify to adequate reactions by the cardiovascular and respiratory systems to a measured physical load," the report said.

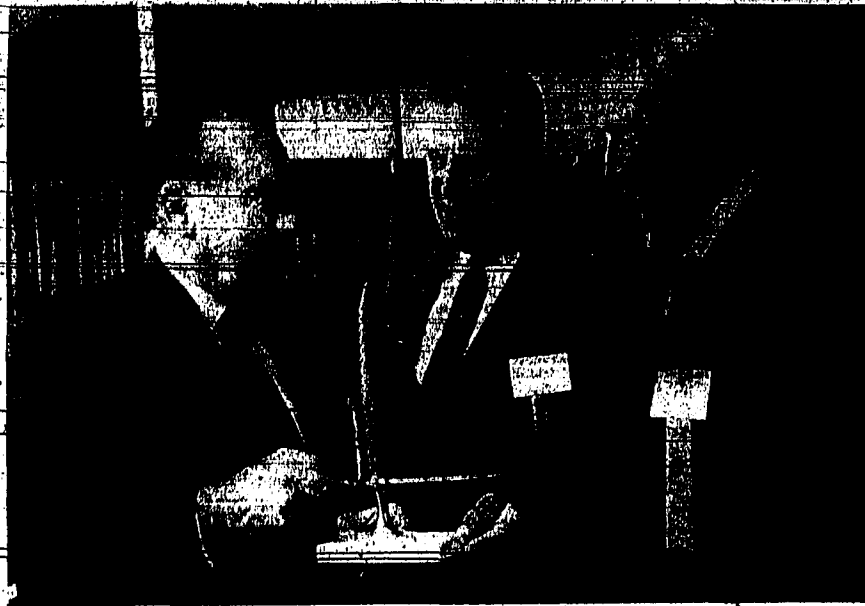

A major purpose of the Soyuz 9 flight is to test man's ability to withstand the rigors of prolonged spaceflight. Some previous evidence suggested long periods of weightlessness and artificial atmosphere can cause serious changes in man's blood pressure and bone structure.

The Soviets, who have put heavy emphasis on construction of a manned orbital space station, must find answers to the medical questions before the program can continue.

"The Soviets, as usual, did not announce how long the flight will last. But Soviet space sources predicted the men will break the U.S. record of 13 days in 18 hours in orbit, set in 1965 by Gemini 7.

Tass said Nikolayev chatted with his cosmonaut wife, Valentina Tereshkova in a hookup to the couple's apartment near Moscow on Monday.

Valentina Tereshkova became the first—and so far only—woman in space when she went up in Vostok 6 in 1963. Later she married Nikolayev. They have a 6-year-old daughter.

Mansfield Warns Against Plan To Permit Nixon's Change Of Mind

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told the Senate Tuesday it would "open the way for another Vietnam in Cambodia" if it gave President Nixon a special option to send U.S. troops across the border a second time.

He called for rejection of an amendment Nixon approves which would allow the President to send troops into Cambodia after his July 1 withdrawal deadline if he believed the operation "were needed to protect U.S. forces in South Vietnam."

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott informed Nixon at the White House Tuesday that the amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., would pass.

Mansfield said that if the Byrd amendment is approved in the showdown vote Thursday: "Let there be no Monday morning regrets."

Agree

SAIGON (UPI) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said Tuesday, Cambodia has agreed to let South Vietnamese troops operate anywhere on its soil "deemed necessary for the effective protection of our security."

Ky also announced that Lt. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, a former military region commander and close friend, would be the first South Vietnamese ambassador to Phnom Penh since resumption of relations.

Missile Agreement Reached

VIENNA (UPI) — An agreement to curb Soviet and American anti-ballistic missile (ABM) systems has emerged from arms talks here, official sources said Tuesday.

Negotiators at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) are trying now to work out how to implement this agreement, the sources said. One method under discussion is to limit ABM systems to defensive rings around Moscow and Washington, they said.

Because of the interlocking relationship of all modern weapons systems, the progress toward an ABM agreement was believed to imply at least some movement toward limitation of offensive missiles.

The agreement on the head to limit ABMs was expected to be announced as an "agreement in principle" when the Vienna phase of the SALT talks end, with the actual numbers and placing of the missiles to be decided at the Helsinki phase this autumn.

The two teams met Tuesday morning for only 47 minutes—their second shortest meeting so far—in their 10th session at the Soviet Embassy.

The sources cautioned against reading any significance into the brevity of the session.

Instead, the sources expressed a restrained optimism on the progress of SALT since it began here April 16.

They said the ABM understanding could take the form of an agreement to protective rings around "national control centers"—Washington and Moscow.

"They stressed" the Nixon administration still hopes for a "comprehensive" arms limitation agreement covering not only defensive missiles but also offensive weaponry. Because all weapons systems are linked together in a cause-and-effect relationship, they said, any agreement on ABM almost certainly would imply solid progress in other areas as well.

State Rules On Travel Questioned By Auditor

BOISE (UPI)—State Auditor Joe R. Williams said today the proposed state employee travel and leave regulations distributed to state agencies "must have been done in another secret meeting as far as I was concerned."

Williams, who serves as secretary of the Board of Examiners and is non-voting participant in the meetings, said it was his duty to make all items of discussion during board meetings a matter of permanent records. He said all records were kept in his office.

However, he said, the new rules, which a cover letter said had been "tentatively approved" by the board, were not a matter of record in his office. Williams said there were few major changes in the proposed rules and regulations. One he cited was that no court compensation could be received by state employees for jury duty. However, he said, there was a ruling contained in the minutes of the Board of Examiners by then Attorney General Allen

Shepard that state employees would receive both compensation for jury duty and pay as a state employee.

Williams said he did object to the fact that the proposed regulations did not distinguish between elected officials or state employees.

"I do feel an elective official is responsible to the people and not to an appointee of the governor," said Williams, referring to Director of Administrative Services Edward Sawyer, who must approve all travel.

"I'm not under the supervision of the governor—nor is any other elected official," Williams said. "We're subject to all statutes, but not a ruling by the Department of Administration." The cover letter included with the proposals said a public hearing would be held June 22 and that the Board of Examiners hoped to adopt the proposal to be effective July 1.

Electrical Prods Said Dangerous

Electrical prods used in finding angleworms are dangerous, said Earl E. Haroldsen, division manager for Idaho Power.

The practice of using electrical prods on wet grass to find angleworms can cause death. People using these prods can be caught in a "series" between the ends of these prods and be electrocuted. When this happens, muscles become paralyzed and pulling loose is impossible. In a matter of moments, an individual can die without being able to move or call for help, Mr. Haroldsen said.

He suggests three protection measures that people should exercise.

First, children should never be allowed to use them.

Second, people using the prods should wear rubber footwear.

Third, people should never use the prods alone.

New Gooding Home For Blind Gets Top Priority

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho State Board of Education Monday gave top priority to a new building to house blind students at the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind at Gooding.

News Of Record

JEROME COUNTY Justice Court

Fined for speeding were Ronald Stenquist, $25 and Dan Lewis, $20, both from Boise; John Price $18; David Volkers, $35; Johnny Bryant, $12; Vicky Heitzman, $25; Gorland Towell $11, and also failure to register $5 and Curt Jackey $12, all from Jerome; Robert Adams $17, expired operator's license, $10; Idaho Falls; Lowell Anderson $17; Dietrich; Jeana Coffman $19; Ernest Roessler $25, and William Harris $18, all of Shoshone.

Lloyd Moline, Burley, $50, and Mauria Bowers, Twin Falls, $50, drunk on a public highway.

The board began a two-day meeting at Boise State College Monday.

Dr. John W. Swartley, Boise, a board member, urged that the board recommend a new building to the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council.

Swardley said the present wood-framed building is a fire trap. Other members supported the recommendation.

Donald F. Kline, executive director of the Idaho State Commission for High Education Facilities, said "blind students are in greater danger in any building, let alone a wooden building built in 1910. This project constitutes a real concern of the board—if we don't build another thing in this state, we ought to build this one."

Superintendent of the School Edward W. Ray, told the board the new building would house 50 blind students and would cost $389,000. Currently there are 33 blind students at the school.

Approval was also given to appropriating up to $250,000 to cover deficit costs that may accrue in the state's driver education program this summer.

Supt. of Public Instruction D.F. Engleking said drivers license tests are not adequate to carry out the program and he predicted the shortage will continue.

Boise State College was given approval by a 4-2 vote to go ahead with a new program for inhalation therapists. The college was also given permission to begin looking for an assistant dean for the school of business and public administration.

Grants, awards, scholarships and loan funds totaling 217,076 were also accepted by the board.

Idaho State University and the University of Idaho were expected to present programs Tuesday to the board.

In other action Monday, Winston G. Taylor, superintendent of the State Youth Training Center, St. Anthony, told the board the institution presently was doing an inadequate job of serving inmates because of a staff shortage of 45 people compared to the national average.

Taylor said he would come to the July meeting of the board with recommendations for improving care of youngsters committed to the training center.

Scribe Plans To Better 'Speed Reading' Trend

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Not long ago a group of White House staffers completed a course in speed-reading and duly received diplomas certifying that they have the fastest eyeballs in the East.

I'm envious.

I took one of those courses once and it did me no good at all. Mainly because I move my lips when I read.

Although I increased the speed at which my eyes scanned the printed page, my lips couldn't keep up. And, believe me, when your eyes and your lips become unsynchronized, you haven't got reading comprehension. You've got chaos.

Sometimes my eyes would get three or four sentences ahead of my lips. My eyes might be reading a line that said: "A bureaucrat is a government official who has learned to lie without misstating the facts. At the same time, my lips would be forming the words, "If you want a youthful figure, ask a woman her age."

This was terribly frustrating. To say the least, and I was told that if I kept it up I might develop schizophrenia, which is a compulsion to split infinitives.

For a while I tried taking facial exercises to quicken my lips. First I would curl my upper lip 50 times. Then I would droop my lower lip 50 times, followed by 10 minutes of double lip pursing and puckering.

This gave me a new facial expression that was a cross between a sneer and a pout. But my lips were no swifter than before.

The trouble is that I am a native Texan and thus have lips that are addicted to drawing. Move them too rapidly and they lapse into a silent stutter that is akin to a twitch.

So I finally dropped out of the speed-reading course and enrolled in Dr. Milton Fleetlock's course in speed-viewing.

Dr. Fleetlock has perfected a viewing technique that is supposed to shorten the time it takes to watch television programs. Expert speed-viewers are reputed to be able to view an hour show in 15 minutes. Some can breeze through a 30-second commercial in less than 10 seconds with no loss of comprehension.

The course is advertised as being particularly valuable for people who feel they are wasting too much time watching television.

When I got the hang of speed-viewing, I intend to take a course in speed-hearing, which is supposed to shorten the time it takes to listen to phonograph records. Once proficient at it, you can listen to an entire symphony in about four minutes.

The most luminates are well suited to kitchen rooms, counters, and snackbars because they provide high resistance to wear and tear, and surfaces that can be washed off in a jiffy with a sponge dipped into sudsy water.

Purchase of a new audio training unit for the Easter Seal Speech and Hearing Center by the Twin Falls Firefighters Association, Local 1556, was announced Tuesday.

Pants Suits Get Okay At Ascot

LONDON (UPI)—After a four-year battle, pants suits will be permitted in the royal enclosure during this year's Royal Ascot meeting, an Ascot official said Monday.

Previously women wearing pants suits have been turned away from the enclosure. This year's horse racing meet begins next week.

"The Duke of Norfolk, as the queen's representative, would have been the one to have taken the decision—obviously after consulting the queen," the official said.

Any other pickup is too much money and not enough truck.

America's most popular pickup is as much as $201.04* less than the rest.

Chevy pickup prices start below the others. And model for model, they stay below—all along the regular pickup line. By as much as $201.04* below in the case of a Chevrolet 1/2-ton Fleetside—America's most popular pickup body style.

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices. Federal Excise Tax included. Suggested dealer new vehicle preparation charge not included.

Double-strong cab and box.

When we build trucks we tend to be repetitious. We put fenders inside fenders: Smooth and seamless. To ward off rust and turn back rocks.

We put a cab within a cab. For more strength. More security. And the two walls of steel help to keep noise on the outside where it belongs.

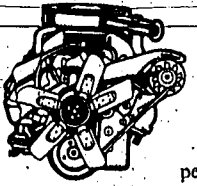

And on Fleetsides, we put a pickup box within a pickup box. So you can bang, bash, and dent the inside without ruffling the outside.

More V8 power. Biggest standard Six.

Chevy's 400 V8 turns out 310 horsepower. It's the largest available V8 in any popular pickup. Chevy's 250 Six turns out 155 horsepower. It's the largest standard Six in the field. In between there are two more V8's and another Six. Nobody gives you a wider selection.

And all Chevrolet engines operate on regular gasoline. No wonder the competition finds Chevrolet overpowering.

Job-proved independent front suspension keeps Chevies running smoother, longer.

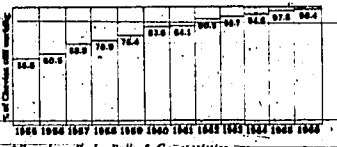

When you ride with Chevrolet you get the level best. Chevrolet's all-steel independent front suspension takes the beating. Not you. Deep coil springs smother bumps, potholes and ruts before they can get to you. Or your payload. We call it the Bump Exterminator.

And it's one reason why Chevy trucks work longer than any other make: In fact over 3,425,000 Chevy trucks are equipped with this suspension system. Our closest competitor is 1.5 million behind.

Chevies live longer.

These are the official figures* showing how Chevies outlast other trucks. Going back as far as 1955, for example, over 56 percent of the Chevies built in that year are still on the job. No competitive make has as many as half of its 15-year-old models still working. And in all the years since, no other make can match the steadily high percentage of Chevies still going strong.

Camp Fire Leaders Have Training Meet

The spring round-up training session for leaders of the Camp Fire and Blue Bird Girls was held recently at Harmon Park, with approximately 15 leaders taking part in the all-day event.

Mrs. Dorothy Peavey, field director of Camp Fire Girls, discussed the use of songs in the groups. Mr. Art Solin, forester and recreation planner, discussed teaching and relating outdoor lore to the girls. Mrs. Carroll Briggs, session coordinator, gave camping ideas and instruction and Mrs. C. I. Smith was in charge of the outdoor cooking. Tasty dishes were prepared by the group using primitive cooking methods.

Mrs. Phillip Rayher led a discussion on the needs of girls of different ages and Mrs. Paul Ross led a discussion on the goals of leaders. Mrs. Peavey discussed the Camp Fire Girls program and the meeting concluded with a talk by Mrs. Briggs on the "Role of the Leader" and "What Makes a Good Meeting" followed by a period of evaluation.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT REEDER (Shig Morita photo)

Mrs. Kechter Is President Of ESA Chapter

PAUL — Mrs. Mike Kechter has been installed president of the Alpha Eta Chapter of Epiphany Sigma Alpha.

Other officers include Mrs. Robert Neason, vice president; Mrs. Domingo Equilior, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert L. Mullan, secretary; Mrs. John Simpson, treasurer, and Mrs. Jerry Fowler, education director.

Mrs. Guy Mouléman was installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Richard Erwin. The candlelight ceremony took place at the Idaho Bank and Trust Conference Room, Paul.

Prior to installation, the group met at the Mindoka Seed Inc. warehouse for a lesson and hour of cutter bee boards and facilities by Guy Mouléman. The tour was a part of the year's project of learning more about the occupations of husbands of members.

Mr. Mouléman explained the habits and work of the cutter bees concerning pollination of alfalfa seed, which is being grown in Idaho. The official said there are 100 million pounds of alfalfa seed grown each year in the U.S. and 80 million of this amount is grown in the West. He noted the cutter bee was discovered in Tennessee in 1937 and in 1955 in the West.

He noted the cutter bee isn't as smart as the honey bee concerning its safety, but that the cutter bees will increase the alfalfa seed yield 200 to 300 pounds per acre.

Hansen Miss, Reeder Wed

HANSEN — Kathy Sue Froehlich, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Blake Froehlich, Hansen, became the bride of Robert Reeder, Santa Paula, Calif., son of Mrs. Dale Sisson, Pocatello, and Robert Reeder, Oxnard, Calif., at evening rites May 10 at the Kimberly Christian Church.

Rev. James Keefe officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar. The podium was adorned with baskets of white chrysanthemums, white and pink gladioli and greenery and long puffed sleeves with wide cuffs of lace. The gown was designed and made by the bride. Her bouffant shoulder-length veil was held by a small crown of lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay bouquet fashioned of pink rosebuds, white chrysanthemums and lilies-of-the-valley.

Carol Lobmiller, Edison, N. Y., was maid of honor. Mrs. Terry (Linda) Butler, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Galan DePew, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Vicki Gee, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Brent Gee, nephew-of-the-bride, was ringbearer.

Dave Henderson, Pocatello, was best man. He is a fraternity brother. Ushers were Bob Albright and LeGrande McGregor, both Pocatello, and Doug Rex, Buhl, all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Rev. Howard Larsen was soloist, accompanied by Mrs.

Douglas Gee, sister of the bride, who also played the organ prelude music for the wedding marches. Mrs. Glenn Jacobson, Garden Valley, a college friend of the bride, registered guests.

Mrs. Ted Bolton and Kay Ihler, both Twin Falls and Mrs. Clinton Yaka and Mrs. Carroll Cox, both college friends from Pocatello, arranged the gift tables. Gift bearers were Dana Sisson, sister of the bridegroom, Pocatello, and Debra Ihler, Twin Falls.

The three-tiered white cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with bells, centered the bride's table. Crystal candelabras with pink tapers were at each side. Pink ribbon bows were pinned to the front of the floor-length flounce skirt of the table cover.

Mrs. Joe Froehlich Jr., Hansen, and Mrs. F. C. Dorey, Salt Lake City, Utah, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Cyril Ghan, Pocatello, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Willard Ihler, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Cecil Jacobs, Kimberly, served the cake, coffee and punch.

Group Three of the Christian Women's Fellowship also helped in serving in the kitchen. A rehearsal luncheon was hosted by the bridegroom's parents, and catered by Leo Soren.

Special out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harris, Newhall, Calif., grandparents of the bride. Other guests attended from New Jersey, Salt Lake City, Utah, Pocatello, Hazelton, Piler, Twin Falls, Kimberly and Hansen.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Hawaiian Islands. The bridegroom is now stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex., with colet, accompanied by Mrs.

Addiction Cure Costs High

NEW YORK (UPI) — "The cost of the cure for drug addiction comes high. But it is a trifle in comparison to the cost in human misery and in the crime of not doing anything about the drug problem."

Those words mainline it to parents and others who want to wipe out the growing scourge of the new generation.

"If you want an environment free of the drug menace, you will have to work at it," says Alice Shiller, a writer in the health and social service fields. "Know about legislation needs and work toward more effective laws and law enforcement."

"Blast away at some comfortable stereotypes. For instance, the dope pushers among the young are not likely to be evil old men tempting your children, but may actually turn out to be their own friends sharing their fantasies for free, or dealing in drugs to get enough money to support their own habits."

School officials describe current legal efforts in the schools to stop student-pushers as the "revolving door system," says Miss Shiller. "Too often, they say, the student pusher is arrested, taken to court and released on probation... (then) more popular than ever before because he was 'beaten the system'."

Calling on all parents to get involved in efforts to wipe out drug abuses, Miss Shiller says that "just writing a check for a donation to private institutions helping young drug users may not be enough. Money-raising in large amounts may be needed in your community to help those who help your children or help your children to help themselves."

Miss Shiller examines the whole youth drug scene in a new publication from the public affairs committee. A nonprofit educational organization with headquarters in New York.

"Drug abuse and your child" is its title.

Statistics on drug abuse are "fragmentary," she says. But it's estimated that 20 million Americans have smoked marijuana. And the documentation is there for the deaths of 224 teenagers in New York city in 1969 from overdose of drugs. So are such headline case histories as death of Diane Linkletter, daughter of the entertainer, who was a victim of the effects of LSD.

Alert parents should watch for such clues to drug abuse as punctures on the arms, the paraphernalia for injection, glazed eyes, enlarged pupils, sunglasses worn constantly, drowsy behavior, slurred speech, prescription drugs disappearing from the medicine chest, tubes of cement and airplane glue around, and the constant bawling or money manipulation with family or friends.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

RICHFIELD - Rhonda Swainston was given a surprise party to celebrate her 18th birthday, with Carol Lynn Sanders as hostess at the L. T. Sanders home. Clusters of balloons, arranged by Ann King, decorated the basement party room.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this not for myself, but for a friend. "Miss X" is a beautiful, intelligent 22-year-old girl who had an unfortunate romance when she was 15. This resulted in a hasty marriage and a baby. She was divorced at 17.

She met and fell in love with David, a lipo young man who knows about her past, but loves her and her child and wants to marry her. David was raised a Catholic, but he isn't devout. (However, his parents, for whom he has much love and respect, are strict Catholics.)

David is taking Miss X to meet his parents (they live out of town) before they announce their engagement. Naturally Miss X wants David's parents to like her, and I'm sure they will, after they get to know her because she is such a terrific girl, but don't you think since they're so Catholic, if they are in a right-of-the-bat that she's a divorcee with a 7-year-old child, they might be prejudiced against her?

Wouldn't it be better if David's parents met her and had a chance to know her and like her, and then they were told about her child and divorce? MISS X'S BEST FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: It strikes me as rather strange that a young man who "loves and respects" his parents would suddenly appear with a fiancee on his arm without having mentioned to them that he had marriage in mind, plus a few vital facts about the girl. But since that's the case, I think Miss X and David should tell them right off the bat that she's a divorcee with a child. To deliberately withhold these facts until after they get to "know her better" would be dishonest, and would surely cause resentment when finally disclosed.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a brother-in-law, age 67, who makes improper advances to my 22-year-old mother. This started a few years ago. He is so shy, he makes sure she isn't seen by his wife (my sister), but I have caught him at it and so has the housekeeper. He obviously needs help? But how? And who? I can't visualize this man going to a psychiatrist. Why he doesn't even go to church! Do you think I should speak to him? He isn't really what anyone can call "mentally unbalanced" - except in this one area of behavior. When he is around Mama we have to watch him every moment. Thank you for any help you can offer.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Yes, speak to him about it. (He is probably becoming senile, so talk to him as if you were speaking to a "naughty boy.") And for goodness sake, don't ever leave your poor mother alone with him. (P. S. It wouldn't hurt to ask your family doctor for his opinion.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to "MOTHER," who was worried about her son seeming to want punishment.

I am only 15, but I have heard many friends say they thought their parents didn't really love them or care about them because they were rarely punished.

I believe that most kids NEED to be punished when they do wrong. It may be hard for parents to understand, especially when the child puts up a fight, but after the tears are gone and all is forgiven, the kids will have a much more secure feeling because they know their parents care enough about them to keep them on the right path.

PUNISHMENT NECESSARY

DEAR PUNISHMENT: You may be "only 15" - but you are very wise.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 97799, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Labor Problems Discussed

BURLEY—Community labor problems were discussed by leaders in Cassia and Minidoka Counties during a meeting at the Employment Office.
 The most pressing problems is a shortage of workers to operate the plants in this area. Oro-Ida Foods, A. & P. and Simplot's reports they are short about 150 people at all times and at some times during the season the number is larger.
 People cannot be imported into the community because of local problems such as shortage of housing, it was noted.
 Attending the meeting were representatives from Farm Home Administration stationed at Boise, Twin Falls and Burley and community leaders of both Cassia and Minidoka Counties.
 The housing program for low income families was discussed. Also discussed was the self-help program for low income families.
 Next meeting is planned for June 24 with the same people attending plus Burley's City Planning Committee, plant personnel and a representative from the Federal Housing Administration.

TRUDY WILCOX

Reports Wednesday morning covered the home fund and educational loan fund of the OES. New officers of the Grand Lodge will be installed Thursday afternoon in final sessions of the convention.

Special honor was awarded 50 year members in Tuesday afternoon sessions with Mrs. Mary Frazier, Hagerman Valley chapter member giving response. Honored as "golden gems" were Mrs. Lulu Sowers, 96, and a member of the order for 77 years and Mrs. Frazier who also has been a member for 58 years. There were a total of 42 attending the special honor program.

Memorial services were directed by Mrs. Paul Moseley, Jr., Twin Falls, honoring Anna Winston Smalley, past most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter, and R. Donald Stewart, past most worthy grand patron of the general grand chapter.

Robert M. Robson, Idaho Attorney General, who represented the office of Gov. Don Samuelson in greeting the grand chapter's informal opening sessions in Twin Falls Monday night urged a "greater understanding of youth."

Mr. Robson said adults should spend more time with youth and must exert themselves in understanding and listening to the young people and their ideas.

Frank Feldman, Twin Falls Mayor, also extended a welcome to the approximately 800 delegates in convention's session here. Monday night's sessions which opened ritualistic programs included a presentation by William Grange, Boise, associate grand patron, formerly of Twin Falls. The presentation of flowers ceremony featured the colors of Kimberly; Ellen Donahue, King Hill; Carolyn Rupert, Jerome; Debbie Hess, Connie Brown, Bliss; Joyce Novak and Justine Novak, both Buhl.

The reigning high school rodeo queen, Lana Brackenbury, Jerome, was honored at a breakfast at the Lincoln Inn, Gooding, with this year's contestants for queen. Miss Rodeo Idaho, Packer Bodenhofer, Gooding, was a special guest. Judges, relatives, and friends made the event an enjoyable occasion.

Orth Heads Inflation Will Stay, Aide Says

WENDELL — Frank Orth was named chairman of the Wendell District board of trustees, and Dr. Richard Hagerman was named vice chairman at a recent reorganization of the board.

Trustees discussed a proposal for a work-study program in the vocational agriculture department. The program, proposed by the instructor, Mr. Benson, would give senior students an opportunity to work for businessmen in Wendell during their regular school time for on-the-job training.

The Future Farmers of America chapter at Wendell High School was given permission to conduct an auction during the 1970-71 school year. Increased costs of school operations were discussed, including higher transportation costs in the athletic department, higher expenses in acquiring athletic equipment, and a reported 15-per-cent raise in premiums for life insurance for the district. Insurance firms reported that a nationwide trend toward student unrest is increasing the hazard for school districts.

The district is still lacking a high school English instructor and instructors in high school English and foreign languages, the trustees were told.

The trustees also authorized completion of remodeling of the superintendent's office and school stairways.

It is planned for the display to open June 15 for free viewing, and will remain open through Fair Week in August. An attendant will be on hand at all times.

Persons who have antiques they would like displayed but have no transportation may phone Mrs. Al Dawson, 678-0240 and arrangements will be made to pick up the items.

The Soroptimist members are experienced in handling antiques, for several years they have handled the antique and hobby show at Cassia County Fair.

Barbecue Set Saturday At Almo City Of Rocks

ALMO — Distinguished visitors will be in Almo Saturday to attend a barbecue in the City of Rocks, a special event in Cassia County's "100 Years of Progress."

Cong. Orval Hansen has announced that George Hartzog, director of the National Park Service, will arrive in Almo to attend the barbecue. He plans to tour the area Sunday.

"I am confident that Mr. Hartzog's visit will contribute greatly to the Cassia County Centennial," said Congressman Hansen. "He will add to the Interior Department's knowledge and impression of the historic area, and thereby enhance our effort to preserve this national heritage."

Other dignitaries, including Gov. Don Samuelson and Sen. Len Jordan, will attend the event at the City of Rocks.

Ted Kelsay, general chairman of the "100 Years of Progress," said that he hoped to see a large crowd of area residents in attendance "to impress the officials with the interest we have in having our City of Rocks preserved under a federal program."

The first three days of the show will be devoted exclusively to cutting horse events with the winners to appear during the last two days which will be the horse show. Jay Strode, Carey, is director of the cutting horse jubilee.

The six classes for cutting horses include open class, novice, ladies, amateur owner, novice horse, and team, with large cash prizes to be awarded for each.

World champion Quarter Horse and Arabian cutting horses will be entered in the show which is held in conjunction with Class A Arabian shows and approved by the IACHA. All new cattle will be used for the competition. Seven judges have been hired for the events.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the fairgrounds, has leased portable bleachers for use at the show while the new grandstand is being erected. Concessions for the five days of the show will be handled by the Filer Welfare Association.

Jerome Labor Camp "Hard To Believe"

Woodpile full of mills is playground.

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — It's hard to believe people live in the conditions they do at the Jerome Labor Camp until one visits the site south of town.
 This is the reaction of this writer who was invited to tour the place, just outside the city limits, by an active member of HOPE (Help Other People Everywhere) an organization in Jerome which spends much time helping the migrant workers in the valley.
 We arrived at the camp in the late afternoon when the people were returning from the fields. We were greeted by a group of children and one of them acted as our interpreter as most of the adults cannot speak or understand English. These children were very clean, not only their faces and hair but their clothes, also, and they were very well behaved and polite.

 The first family we visited was one of the more fortunate families at the camp. There were five of them all living in one room; they had two beds and a cot to sleep in, and they had a refrigerator which works and a small butane hot plate to cook on, rather than the wood stoves most of the migrants have to cook their meals on in this hot weather.
 A 13-year-old girl who was in charge of running the household and also works all day in the fields, told us her mother was operated on back home and was unable to make the trip this year.

This young girl we were talking to had a very bad cold. When we asked her how she got it, she informed us that most of the people in the camp had a cold because there was so little hot water that most of them had to shower in cold water and wash their hair in cold water.
 There are no trees at the camp and not one blade of grass. The children have no place to play but in the dirt between the buildings or on a large pile of wood that is full of nails. There is no place for them to sit in the shade and relax after working in the fields all day except on the porch of a little shack.
 As we were leaving the camp after visiting with more families, we were invited to see a new baby, by one of the families. There are 11 of them in all and two dogs, all living in one small room with two beds and two cots, a wood stove for them to cook on and an old table that needed paint and a lot of work done on it. The room was as clean as possible; as were all the other places we visited.

 I found the people to all be very friendly and very unhappy with the conditions under which they have to live. But they do try to make the best of it and complain very little.
 HOPE and the volunteers have done much to help these people with their personal needs, such as clothes and household things; they are unable to bring with them. But lack of money limits what the HOPE volunteers can do.
 I was told that no one seems to know just how many people live at the camp or what their names are. A rough estimate would be between 200 and 250. I understand that the farmers are assessed so much per acre to take care of the camp and bring in the workers.

 Before we left the camp we distributed some footstools, basketballs, and other athletic equipment. The equipment had been donated by the Jerome county school district. When we first opened the trunk of the car to remove the equipment they were only seven or eight youngsters around, but before we were able to remove all of the things we were overrun by youngsters of all ages, happy to have some little thing to play with and something to do; you could see it in their faces.

Doctor To Practice At Gooding

JEROME — Dr. Jon Willmoth, Jerome, affirmed this week that Dr. James L. Molchan will not be establishing a practice with him.
 Dr. Molchan was to establish a practice the first of July with Dr. Willmoth after his discharge from the Army. He will now be establishing a practice in Gooding.
 Dr. Willmoth said he is now contacting the other doctor who had applied for the position earlier. He is in hopes that he will come and start a practice here in Jerome.

WASPS vs. WEEVILS
ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Pesticides will not be necessary within a few years in order to control the economic menace of the alfalfa weevil, according to entomologist George G. Gyrisco of Cornell University.
 Gyrisco reports that introducing several species of wasps conquered the weevil in the Orange County area of New York's Hudson Valley. The wasps deposit eggs into the larvae of the alfalfa weevil and when the egg hatches, the parasite feeds off the weevil host.

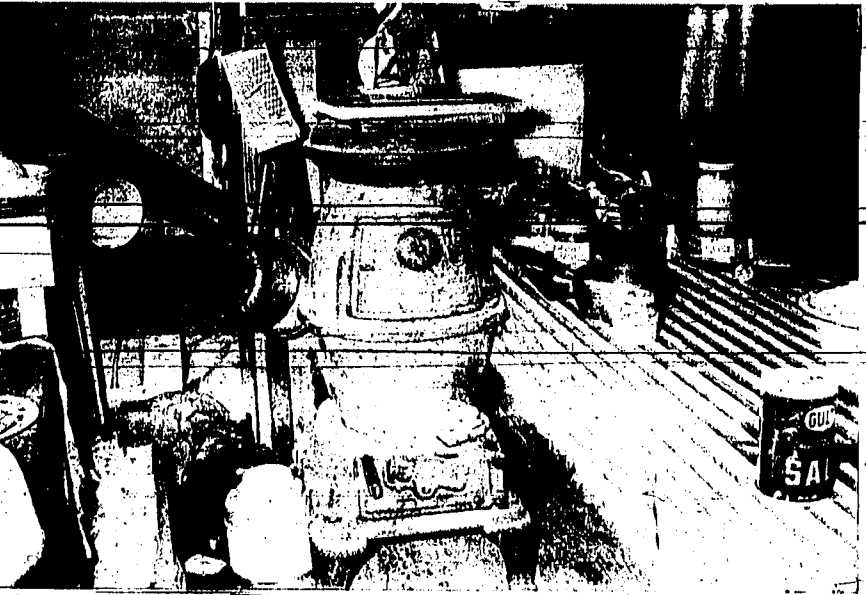

Our next stop was at the new washroom, shower and bathroom facilities at the camp. As we entered the building we were greeted by a young girl doing her family's wash, in a washing machine my grandmother might have used and the only one there. She was standing in water that was all over the floor as the drains were not working.
 She was rinsing her clothes in two large concrete rinse tubs that were balanced on cinder blocks. She told us that not long ago some of the children were playing in the washroom and knocked over one of these tubs. Fortunately none of the children was hurt.
 In looking over the washroom facilities, I noted that there were only two sinks to wash in, and one of them was plugged. Also, there are five or six toilets with panels in between them and no doors on the front affording no privacy. The showers were the same; with no hooks to hang clothes on while workers shower.

Richfield Trustees Reorganize

RICHFIELD — Richfield school district No. 318 Trustees reorganized Monday night. Ralph Riley, Jr. was sworn in as a re-elected trustee for a three year term in zone 5.
 Grant Flavel was renamed chairman of the board; Riley, vice chairman, and trustee in charge of the high school; Mrs. Udell Robinson, elementary school; Glen Ross, transportation; and Burl Akins, school grounds.
 The Kimama student situation was discussed with no action taken and progress of the summer maintenance program reviewed.

Shower room gives no privacy and mold on walls and no hooks add to the unpleasantness.

Pot belly stove provides "hot" meals.

Speech Club Women To Attend Confab

BURLEY — Toastmistress members in Burley, Rupert, Twin Falls and Jerome will attend the annual Snake River Regional Toastmistress Conference June 15-14 at Ontario, Ore., hosted by Council No. 8.
 The regional speech contest will climax the conference. Mrs. Ben (Virginia) Eldridge, Twin Falls, will represent Council No. 7 as one of the finalists. Council No. 7 is made up of the Magic Toastmistress Club, Twin Falls Toastmistress Club, both in Twin Falls; Burley Toastmistress Club and Minico Toastmistress Club, Rupert.

 Mrs. Grace Himer, Pocatello, Snake River Regional Supervisor, will preside at the business meeting.
 Other local officers attending who will take part in the conference are Mrs. LaRoy

Gooding Planning Group Raps Litter Strung Across County

By MYRTLE SCHRENK
Times-News Correspondent

WENDELL — The Gooding county planning commission is concerned about littering and the disposal of solid wastes and the establishment of sanitary landfills in the county.

At a recent meeting of the group Bill Hanes said during a tour of the county he found the five designated dumping areas are fairly well controlled, but that litter and refuse are "strung continuously" from one end of the county line to the other.

Members feel the reason for the 26-plus dumping areas in the county result from the vast acres of sagebrush grazing lands.

Since the county has not yet inaugurated a zoning ordinance, it is impossible to enforce burning restrictions and the dumping of dead animals. And the nature of the refuse makes it impossible to re-use the areas.

Lou Logan, Bureau of Land Management, emphasized that dumping in any but the designated areas is illegal and subject to fine, but that enforcement is not always possible. He said dumping areas in the Bliss and West Point areas have a BLM permit and are closely supervised.

Alex Schaefer, sanitary technician for the State Health Department, notes the existing dumping areas fall into several categories. For example, the city of Gooding has a sanitary landfill serving more than 5,000 people and covers solid wastes four times weekly, thus making it legal to dispose of dead animals there.

Dumping of dead animals is not advisable in any existing county dump area because they must be covered daily to meet state health codes. Officials suggested that area stockmen be informed that disposal of dead animals is their responsibility, not the city's nor county's.

James Scott, Gooding-area representative for the Idaho Hide and Tallow, said he will answer calls from Shoshone, Glens Ferry and Gooding and no pickup charge is made. He may be contacted at 934-5189.

Other existing areas must be covered twice a year for every 100 persons served. Mayor Harley Crippen said Gooding has an area which will serve the present population of the city for an estimated 50 years.

Wendell owns its present site, but cannot meet state specifications because there is not enough soil to cover. Hagerman presently is leasing land in Twin Falls county and has not initiated any covering program. Refuse is being dumped into a gully.

A refuse commission, consisting of representatives from both city and rural areas, could be named to establish policies, Mr. Schaefer notes. The commission would work with Dick Goodby, soil conservation aide, to make preliminary studies as to suitable sites, future growth, and method of financing and administration.

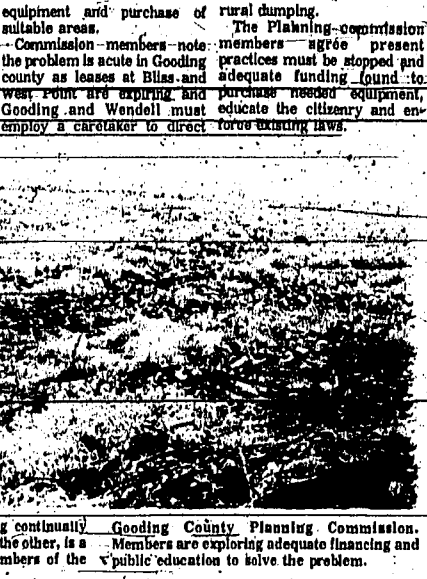

County commissioner Ben Glauer reports that financing dump areas pose a real problem. Gooding and Wendell both assess residents for the pickup and disposal of garbage, but their sites are not large enough to handle disposal of wastes from rural areas and they must employ caretakers to regulate use of the sites.

Surrounding counties under the supervision of a refuge commission have established areas within a 15-mile radius which are maintained jointly by city and counties, with a yearly budget. Del Taylor, Federal Housing Administration, states low interest loans can be obtained to supplement the cost of equipment and purchase of suitable areas.

Commission members note the problem is acute in Gooding county as leases at Bliss and West Point are expiring and Gooding and Wendell must employ a caretaker to direct rural dumping.

The planning commission members agree present practices must be stopped and adequate funding found to purchase needed equipment, educate the citizenry and enforce existing laws.

LITTER AND REFUSE, strung continuously Gooding County Planning Commission. Members are exploring adequate financing and matter of major concern for members of the public education to solve the problem.

More Blood Is Used In Jerome Than Received

JEROME — Mrs. Dick Overfield, public health nurse of Jerome county, reported this week she received a report from Dr. E. F. Sestero, director of the Boise Regional Red Cross Blood center, that more blood was used at St. Benedict's Hospital than was drawn from those donating the past year.

The report indicated that the quota was for 375 pints and only 296 were donated, with a shortage of 79 pints.

St. Benedict's hospital used 330 pints for their patients. The special "O" Blood report was: 28 were donated and 30 were needed at the hospital.

S. A. Kolman, county chairman, asks for the help of Jerome county residents to please donate blood next time the bloodmobile is in town.

Treasure Box At HOPE Needs Refill

JEROME — H.O.P.E.'s treasure box is empty and help is being asked to fill it. It is the custom of H.O.P.E. (Help Other People Everywhere), Jerome, to let each child who comes into their place of business with their parents to choose one little toy or surprise from the treasure box.

Due to the great influx of migrants into Magic Valley Area and the great need for some means of entertainment for the little ones, the supply is completely exhausted, according to Mrs. James Sloat, one of the most active members of H.O.P.E.

Mrs. Sloat said they are asking residents of the Magic Valley to go through the toy boxes they have, "we will accept any kind of toy, games, blocks, cars, trucks, buckets, balls, baseball mitts; just anything you might have that would delight a little one or a child at any age."

"Other things that are needed are bedspreads, pots and pans, dishes, silverware and clothing of any kind," Mrs. Sloat noted. "This is an urgent plea at this time."

Many people from all over the Valley have been bringing things into H.O.P.E. Mrs. Arthur Caster, Buhl, brought in a load of clothes donated by the women of the Clover Lutheran Missionary League.

One of the women of the league took the time to make a box of clothes for the children at the Labor camps, Mrs. Caster noted.

ATTENTION ALL POTATO GROWERS:

Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. and Ore-Ida Foods, Inc. make the following joint release concerning Ore-Ida's 1970 pre-season contract...

P.G.I. has reached agreement with Ore-Ida regarding pre-season contracts for the 1970 growing season. This agreement is based upon the following understanding agreed to by both parties:

P.G.I. has agreed to allow Ore-Ida to offer growers both the contract agreed upon earlier with J. R. Simplot Company and an alternate contract that growers are hereby released to sign if, after careful study, it might best fit their individual conditions.

The approved contract is $2.35 for U.S. No. 1's @ 55% and $1.05 for U.S. No. 2 processor grade one and one-half inch minimum. A premium of 6 tenths of a cent will be added on U.S. No 1's for each percent over 55% with a like deduction below 55%. An additional premium of 1.3 cents will be paid for each percent over 23% ten ounce on all usable potatoes and a deduction of 1.3 cents for each percent under 20% ten ounce.

The alternate contract that growers may choose is $2.25 for U.S. No 1's at 52% and $1.00 for U.S. No 2 processor grade 1 1/2 inch minimum. A premium of 6 tenths of a cent will be paid for each percent the No 1's exceed 52% with a like decrease below 52%. An increase of 1.3¢ for each percent of ten ounce over 23% and a like decrease for each percent under 20% ten ounce with the addition of the following clauses concerning bruise and dirt: An additional 1 cent on all usable potatoes for each percent over 50% bruise-free up to 57% and 1¢ for each 3% from 57% up to 75% bruise-free with a decrease of 1¢ for each 2% below 50% bruise-free down to 40% and 1¢ for each 3% from 40% to 20%. A foreign material clause will pay an additional 1¢ for each percent that dirt and foreign material falls below 10% down to 5% with a like decrease of 1¢ for each percent that the dirt and foreign material exceeds 10% up to 15%.

All growers are advised that Ore-Ida fieldmen will offer the grower their choice of either contract and they are also advised that provided they can deliver potatoes in the Fall with an average amount of bruise-free and an average amount of foreign material, the alternate contract will yield an amount at least equal to the approved contract.

In releasing growers to sign the alternate contract to be offered by Ore-Ida, P.G.I.'s primary aim is to gain knowledge for future reference in those areas of quality in which all Idaho processors have shown an increased interest. The action does not in any way set aside P.G.I.'s determination to standardize as much as possible all pre-season contracts.

Cubs 7, Padres 3

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Utility infielder Paul Popovich led off the game with a homer to ignite a four-run rally in the first inning and added two singles Tuesday night as the Chicago Cubs beat the San Diego Padres, 7-3.

Box score for Cubs vs Padres. Chicago scored 7 runs in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. San Diego Padres scored 3 runs in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd.

study as to changes to be made in the reserve clause. He noted that although the players had submitted several plans, the club owners had made no concrete proposals. His testimony came as the trial entered its final stages.

Two club owners had testified earlier that the discussions on the reserve clause were halted after Flood brought charges that the clause was a violation of Federal antitrust laws, but Miller said that Flood's suit had no effect on the discussions.

Miller also denied a statement made by the owners' labor negotiator John Galerin that the Players' Association halted discussion so Flood's $3-million suit seeking triple damages would not be harmed.

Miller added that there had been no collective bargaining in negotiations between owners and players on changing the clause, which binds a player to one ball club until he is traded.

"The reserve rule system is illegal and the restrictions are just about total," Miller said. "It is reasonable to think that modifications could be made that are practical and could make the system safe from an attack of illegality."

Miller stressed that dropping the clause would have no effect on the integrity of baseball, adding that pro football had not been affected by similar action.

"I have a great deal of confidence in the integrity of the players and I am not at all convinced that their honesty and integrity is so fragile that it would result in a player not doing his best for any reason."

Bill Veack, former club owner, was expected to take the stand on behalf of Flood Wednesday to complete the trial. At the conclusion, Federal Judge Irving Ben Cooper, who has been presiding over the 31-2-week trial without a jury, is expected to render decision.

Clark also contended that in the past five years, the player draft and the reserve clause tended to equalize playing ability on the field.

Asked if he considered any baseball terms on the verge of bankruptcy, Clark replied: "The financial structure is extra ordinarily sound for some clubs. Flood brought suit against organized baseball after being traded from the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies. He refused to report and decided to sit out the baseball season while the case is being tried in the courts."

The victory snapped Bias' personal losing streak at seven games and gave him his third win of the season against eight losses. He pitched no-hit ball for the first 4 2/3 innings before Bobby Bonds batted an roller to short for the first Giant hit.

Starrett slammed the homer, his 10th of the season, to left field off starter and loser Juan Marchal, 2-5, in the fourth.

Roberto Clemente opened the inning with a single prior to Starrett's ball. Jerry May singled home the final two Pittsburgh runs with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth.

Box score for Pirates vs Giants. Pittsburgh scored 7 runs in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 9th. San Francisco Giants scored 3 runs in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd.

NHL Union Nears After Board's Vote

TORONTO (UPI)—The new union-for-hockey referees and linemen won its biggest battle to date Tuesday when the Board of Governors of the National Hockey League decided to recognize their association.

Recognition from the league had been the association's most important goal since it was founded less than a year ago. The National Hockey League Referee and Linemen's Association was formed in mid-July of 1969 by 20 of the league's 26 officials.

Shortly after organizing, the group asked the league's board of governors for official recognition as well as action on a number of grievances.

The officials were asking for better pension and insurance plans, an end to open criticism from team officials and the abolition of the partial holdback of salaries to the end of the season.

The board refused to recognize the association and told the officials they should express their grievances through Scotty Morrison, the referee-in-chief. On Sept. 14, a little less than a month before the start of the 1969-70 season, the officials walked out of their Brampton, Ont. training camp.

The officials held a press conference and outlined their grievances, which included, most prominently, the league's refusal to recognize them.

Metro Has Bob Lemon's Sympathy, But Lemon Has Ex-Manager's Job

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Bob Lemon had nothing but sympathy for Charlie Metro Tuesday.

"When you start managing," Lemon said, "you know you're going to get fired. It's just a matter of when."

Lemon was talking about himself, but it applied to Metro. The Kansas City Royals fired Metro, a rookie manager, and elevated Lemon from pitching coach.

The Royals are floundering in fifth place in the American League's Western Division, 10 1/2 games behind the division-leading Minnesota Twins. They just returned from a disastrous road swing, where they lost eight out of nine and their last six straight.

Metro, known as a "slave driver" by the players, was believed to have been fired for his inability to get along with them as for the Royals' record.

Executive vice president and general manager Cedic Tallis denied this, however.

"I think there's a great misconception about managers—that players have to like the manager," Tallis said. "I think the ball club was justifying. I think Charlie did his utmost. It took a lot of soul-searching to reach this decision."

"Nobody likes to make a managerial change in the middle of the season. But it's my firm conviction that we've got to turn this ball club around."

Metro was in direct contrast to Joe Gordon, who managed the team to 69 victories last season, only one shy of the best ever by an expansion team in its first year.

What particularly incensed the players—and caused several of them to make public statements against Metro—was the dropping of veteran infielder Jerry Adair early in the season.

Metro, who managed the Chicago Cubs in 1962, spent 20 months as the royals' director of scouting and instruction before taking over last Oct. 8.

The Royals, though their record is 19-33, lost the eight games on the last road trip by narrow margins. They lost four games by one run, two by two runs and two by three runs.

Asked if the team had done better on the road trip would Metro still be the manager, Tallis said, "That's hard to say. It didn't happen. But I don't think the road performance was a major factor." Tallis said Metro would be offered a job in the Royals' organization, but he didn't know yet whether Metro would accept it.

Metro did not attend the press conference when the announcement was made.

Lemon described the team as "long on talent, short on experience." He said his relationship with the players had been good.

Cowboys' Schedule Announced

The Magic Valley Cowboys, for the first time since the Pioneer League went rookie, will have a season opener in Jaycee Park and the Cowboys will be home on the Fourth of July.

H. H. Burkhart, business manager for the club, said the team is expected to start arriving June 15 and will conduct a nine-day workout camp in Twin Falls. The 35-game home schedule will include only one doubleheader with the season running through Sept. 2.

The home Cowboy schedule includes June 25-27, Caldwell at Twin Falls; July 1-4, Billings at Twin Falls; July 5-7, Idaho Falls at Twin Falls; July 11-13, Ogden at Twin Falls; July 14-15, Caldwell at Twin Falls (second date is doubleheader); July 23-25, Great Falls at Twin Falls; Aug. 7-10, Idaho Falls at Twin Falls; Aug. 15-18, Ogden at Twin Falls; Aug. 19-22, Billings at Twin Falls; and Aug. 27-30, Great Falls at Twin Falls.

Burkhart said Paul Snyder will be the Cowboy field skipper and pitching coach Walter "Boom-Boom" Beck will be with the club at least for the early part of the season. Farm system Assistant Director, Bill Lucas, also expected to be here during the training camp period.

NEW IDAHO GRID COACH Don Robbins will meet with Magic Valley Vandal Boosters at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Rogerson Motor Inn. The public is invited to meet Coach Robbins plus Athletic Director Ed Knecht and Track Coach Ed Troxel.

Idaho Grid Coach To Visit T.F.

Don Robbins, newly appointed head coach at University of Idaho, and Athletic Director Ed Knecht and Coach Ed Troxel will meet with Magic Valley Vandal Boosters at a special "meet the coach" night at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Rogerson Motor Inn.

Hank Woodall, area Vandal Booster chairman, said Coach Robbins will outline his 1970 plans and discuss the players and prospects for the approaching season.

Robbins assumed the head coaching position following the dismissal of Y.C. McNease three weeks ago. He is expected to stick with the pro attack installed at Idaho by coach McNease but put more of an emphasis on rushing. This is largely due to the recruitment of Fred Riley, Baoument, Tex., rated one of the best JC prospects in the country last fall.

Troxel comes to the meeting as the Vandals' frosh football coach and head track coach.

Jeff Thomsen Tips Packard, Becomes Dropping Champion

BOISE — Jeff Thomsen of Twin Falls, beating back an afternoon birdie charge by ex-Bruin teammate Jim Packard, grabbed the championship of the third annual John Dropping Junior Tournament Tuesday.

Thomsen, who will be a senior at Twin Falls High School this fall, wound up the 64-hole tournament with a score of 222, one ahead of Packard, who just graduated. In the meantime, the Twin Falls golf team again showed its class, placing four men in the top six and dominating the final round of 12. A total of 85 youngsters participate in the tournament, representing six states and 22 cities.

Chuck Forder of Richland, Wash., was third with 226 while Jim Blandford, another Twin Falls Junior, tied with Brad Anderson of Smithfield, Utah, at 227. Two shots behind them was Larry Malone of Twin Falls.

Entering the day in a tie for the lead, Thomsen carved out rounds of 74 and 75 on the 72-par Crane Creek Country Club course, which is tough enough, but was made more difficult by three separate rain storms.

Packard, three shots back at the start of the second day, made his bid early in the afternoon round. He reeled off three straight birdies to catch Thomsen on the seventh hole but Thomsen regained the lead for keeps on the next hole with a par while Packard took a bogey. Thomsen got all the cushion he needed when Packard absorbed a double bogey on the 18th hole.

Packard had made the final 18 holes look big in the morning round when he turned in an even-par 72 to pull to within one shot of Thomsen. But Thomsen replied with a one-under par 35 going out in the afternoon and that offset Packard's three-birdie streak.

Malone had his troubles in the morning round, having shared the lead with Thomsen at 73 Monday night. Tuesday morning he shot an 80 but steeled well in the afternoon with a 78 to land down sixth spot.

Susan Davis, Twin Falls, the first girl to ever play in this event, wound up third in the fourth flight, posting four consecutive 4s to wind up with a 176 total. Curt Thomsen, whose 81 Monday kept him out of the final round of 12, scored a 78 Tuesday to claim second spot in the second flight.

With his victory, Jeff Thomsen joins Rich Hutchins of Boise and Brad Massingill of Payette as Dropping champions.

Sample Will 'Tell All' In New Book

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former pro football player Johnny Sample disclosed Tuesday that he was questioned in 1963 by Commissioner Pete Rozelle about anonymous charges he had bet on football games.

Sample said he convinced Rozelle the charges were groundless when he signed an affidavit that he had never bet on a game in his life.

In a news conference in connection with his forthcoming book, "Confessions of A Dirty Player," Sample said he was called before Rozelle after then Washington Redskins coach Bill McPeak received a letter accusing Sample and another unidentified player of betting activities.

The former defensive back who played with the Baltimore Colts, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the Redskins and the New York Jets took issue with pro football figures he has known such as Buddy Young, the former Baltimore back who now works out of Rozelle's office, and former Cleveland Brown quarterback Otto Graham, Eonny Jurgensen and Sam Huff.

He claimed that during the player was between the NFL and AFL prior to the merger, Young as a former Negro star was responsible for misleading Gale Sayers and in effect "cheating" him on the amount of money Sayers might have gotten for signing with the Chicago Bears.

Of Huff, a long-time all-star linebacker, Sample said in his book he lists from 20 to 22 linebackers he thought were better.

Wood River Flood Control Hearings Set

Review of the Army Corps of Engineers flood control projects and objectives on the Big Wood River will be held at public meetings at Gooding and Halley June 24 and 25. Both meetings will start at 8 p.m.

The hearings are part of a resolution adopted by the Committee on Public Works in which the corps was directed to make a survey of the Big Wood River and its tributaries. The review, under the resolution, would determine whether any modification of the recommendations contained therein with respect to flood control on the Big Wood River and tributaries, Idaho, is advisable at this time.

Judge Rules Finley Can Buy NHL Club

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Superior Court judge Tuesday ruled in favor of Charles O. Finley, the controversial Oakland Athletics owner who seeks to acquire the Seals team in the National Hockey League.

Judge Robert Schnacke declared the baseball team owner's offer for the Seals was both bona fide and commercially feasible. It was also the only offer for the team, which has been losing money.

The next move in the negotiations is up to the NHL's board of directors.

Finley, a Midwestern insurance man, offered to pay $2.5 million in cash, to take over more than $900,000 in club obligations and to waive all rights to money coming to the club in NHL expansion drafts, which was estimated at $700,000.

The Twin Falls Municipal women will conduct their beat-the-pro, tourney Thursday at 9 a.m. at Muñy.

Women entering will receive full handicaps plus seven strokes for the 18-hole affair. Pairings will be made as the contestants arrive Thursday morning.

Suspended Hurler Files Bankruptcy

DETROIT (UPI)—Denny McLain, his chief asset inoperable until July 1, Tuesday, filed proceedings for bankruptcy through his attorney, William Aikens.

Aikens stated that after a careful review of McLain's affairs he advised the suspended Detroit Tigers' pitcher that bankruptcy was the only way he could untangle his snarled financial situation.

McLain was suspended from baseball in late March for his associations with gamblers. He has been working out at his Lakeland, Fla., home in preparation for his return to the Tigers July 1. He has not drawn any salary from Detroit since his suspension by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Rudolph Leads 114 Into U.S. Open

CHICAGO (UPI)—Mason Rudolph led the largest contingent of players—114—seeking 35 berths in the sectional qualifying rounds for the U.S. Open Tuesday by firing a 70-67-137, two strokes ahead of Monty Kaser of Wichita, Kan.

Among those making the grade for the open at Hazeltine National Golf Club in Chaska, Minn. June 18-21 were former champions Jack Fleck and Tommy Bolt, each with 1425, and former Masters champion Bob Goalby with a 141.

Gay Brewer, another former Masters winner, just got by in a playoff with four others at 147. Brewer made the grade on the fourth hole of the playoff.

Some familiar names failed to make the grade at other locations.

 Opening lead—♠ K

We aren't going to get into an argument with anyone about the merit or lack of merit in North's bidding. If you want to pass this type of hand we won't argue nor will we criticize this sort of opening bid. As for the second round two hearts, North had started and didn't want to stop. At least it had the merit of a c.e.o.s. Had he passed, West would have made his five clubs.

If West had been playing with ace-through cards he would have opened a diamond and South would have been automatically down one. However, he put the king of clubs on the table.

South ruffed, led a trump to his hand and a spade to dummy's king. At this point East made the brilliant play of ducking. South had played rapidly so far. The next plays were very slow but nothing could do him any good. He was doomed to defeat.

"Nice bidding, partner," said South. "They were cold for five clubs."

"Thank you, partner," replied North. "It's too bad you didn't give them the full treatment and make your contract."

South's hand had led dummy's king of spades at trick two while still keeping three trumps in dummy. All those three trumps would have been entries and if East ducked South would simply lead a second spade and there would be no way to keep him from setting up the last two spades for discards of his two diamonds. As a matter of fact, this time the duck would have given him an overtrick.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do now?
 A—If your partner will treat it as a force bid three clubs. Otherwise jump to four clubs or four hearts as the spirit moves you.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 You do bid three clubs and your partner jumps to four hearts. What do you do now?

GASOLINE ALLEY

PASS IT ON
 by L.M. Boyd

WHICH LASTS LONGER, a moment or a minute? Hold on, in the language of Olde England, a moment was exactly one and a half minutes long... THAT ITEM A WOMAN is most apt to leave in a cocktail lounge is her umbrella. What a man is most apt to leave is his hat.

FASHION - Those designers of women's clothes say the color orange works best to catch the glances of passing gentlemen. Thirty years ago it was commonly known a girl in a red dress would get the most attention. No more. Suppose the color is significant, all right. But most of the girls I see hereabouts wear odd transparent costumes with ballet bottoms and sleeves like wings. They all seem to want to look like butterflies in the school play. And every afternoon I am tempted to ring a bell, dimmer the auditorium, and tell half a dozen of these little dancers to go put their clothes on. Is that crotchety? Yes. Too crotchety.

OPEN QUESTION - Is it true all white horses are born black?

IT'S GENERALLY THOUGHT a falling raindrop looks like a small ball of water with a tail. It doesn't, though. It looks like an underized doughnut with the hole not drilled quite through... IF YOU SPEND a couple of hours lifting 50-pound bags of fertilizer, that's work. If you spend a couple of hours serving tennis balls, that's play. Same energy. It's all in our heads, the work and play thing, sure enough.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - "Settle an argument, where was Sitting Bull on that day the Indians wiped out General Custer at the Battle of the Little Bighorn?" A. Don't know, but he wasn't leading riders. Sitting Bull was a medicine man. He stayed considerably out of range. A couple of other fellows called Crazy Horse and Gall lead the winners of that fight.

PAST GIRLS - One reason those daytime TV game shows appeal so greatly to the women is they are far swifter than the men in responding to the tricky questions. When men are impeded to play, the ladies in the audience tend to come up with the answers more readily than the participants on the show. But when women are on the panels, the ladies in the audience find themselves evenly matched. They compete. And you know how girls love to compete.

SHOE SHINE - A fellow who owned his own horse some centuries ago was a man of distinction. Most everybody walked while he rode. And to prove his status, he shined his boots. Walkers didn't bother. In Spain, that was. And it was significant enough to lead eventually to the worldwide practice among gentlemen of shining their shoes.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 3760, Santa Monica, Calif. 90403. (c) 1970, McNaught-Syndicate, Inc.
