Boyd Calls For A New Governor

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

"Happiness will be a new governor and a supporting legislature," keynote Paul S. Boyd, Boise, told fellow Democrats gathered in Twin Falls this morning for the Democratic State Delegate Assembly.

The Boise man, unopposed for his party's nomination for lieutenant governor, spoke at the Fine Arts Center of the College of Southern Idaho in opening sessions of the two-day party convention.

He urged his party to adopt a platform that is bold, imaginative and progressive and said, "It must be designed toward getting our state moving forward again."

Pointing to the three Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls he said all are outstanding men and while all democrats do not march to the same drum beats, the party must unite behind the one nominated in August.

Mr. Boyd, a former legislator, said both state and national economies are moving downhill and he charged the national administration with "rapidly bringing our country to its knees."

He charged deliberate enforcement of a policy of unemployment, soaring costs of living and higher interest rates giving clear evidence of a need for a change nationally and statewide.

Mr. Boyd called on the Democratic party to pledge itself diligently to pursue a quality education in Idaho of full range from kindergarten through high school, college or university and to offer and provide a modern-day vocational education to meet all student needs.

"The constant head hunting, sniping criticism and down grading of our institution must cease," the speaker declared.

Mr. Boyd said there is a credibility gap between the present governor and his agencies that is "incredible."

"Of course," the speaker said, "this is the result of poor staff work on the part of a man who certainly should know better, a governor who so detests higher education that he leaps without looking."

Mr. Boyd urged Democrats to place relief for the taxpayer high in the priorities of the coming legislature.

"People were led to believe the passage of the sales tax would solve the educational funding program. It has solved some, but not as proposed," the speaker said.

He noted about $17 million was diverted to other areas returning much of the burden of school support to the property tax payer at the local level.

Turning to the problems of other fields, the keynote speaker

the governor of the state has a high duty to protect and enhance the priceless assets of natural resources and added, "Whether the threat comes from the front door as in the case of mining in the White Clouds, or through the back door of state indifference, it matters little."

Israel Fighters Raid Egypt

By United Press International
Israel said today its commandos raided Egypt's front line positions across the Suez Canal during the night for the second time since the 1967 war, killing more than 20 Egyptians.

Egypt said it fended off the attacks with artillery and tank fire, however, killing 20 Israelis and wounding 46.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said two commando raids destroyed an Egyptian guard station nine miles north of Ras Ghareb on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez and a mile stretch of bunkers north of El-Qantara on the Suez Canal.

An Egyptian military spokesman in Cairo said the position on the Gulf of Suez hit by Israel Thursday night was a police station rather than a military installation, and that one policeman was killed.

He said more than 20 Israeli fighter bombers attacked Egypt's front line positions.

In Beirut, a military spokesman said Israeli artillery fire killed two civilians and wounded three others early today in the Arab village of Al-Silayyed in Southeastern Lebanon four miles from the Israeli-occupied Syrian Golan Heights.

The Lebanese spokesman said one house was destroyed and two others damaged by the shelling. He said Lebanese artillery returned the fire.

Jordanian army tanks surrounded Amman today where Palestinian guerrillas were holding much of the city in a demand for greater freedom to launch raids on Israel.

Whittaker Says He's Learning

BURLEY, Idaho (UPI) — A disillusioned candidate for governor declared today the convention process that may deny him a berth on the Aug. 4 Republican primary election ballot.

"I'm learning things that should be taught in high school," Edward T. Whittaker, Marsing, said at a breakfast interview just prior to the start of the two-day GOP state nominating assembly.

In order to get on the ballot Whittaker must garner at least 72 of the 358 convention votes. State law provides that when more than one candidate seeks endorsement at least two must be put on the ballot.

Whittaker said he felt that as long as a maximum of four candidates actually could be endorsed he felt the three seeking endorsement from this assembly should be put on the ballot for the people to choose.

Others running are incumbent Gov. Don Samuelson and former state Sen. Dick Smith of Rexburg. Both virtually are assured of a place on the ballot.

Limiting Of Nixon Power Is Certain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate appears certain to vote to prohibit President Nixon from reinventing Cambodia and, in the midst of the Vietnam War, to restrict the President's war-waging powers.

The Senate by a 52-47 vote Thursday repelled the White House's attempt to one-down the legislation. Senators who put together the fragile majority called the action "historic."

The vote showed the antiwar bloc in the Senate in the majority for the first time since American advisers went to Vietnam in 1959.

That done — amid cheers from the galleries that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had trouble silencing with his gavel — the Senate today set aside the Church-Cooper Amendment to forbid future American incursions into Cambodia to take up another significant and far-reaching measure.

Proposed by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and opposed by the Pentagon, it would require the President to ask Congress in advance and on a country-by-country basis for permission to sell American weapons to foreign nations.

Williams' proposal would strike from the foreign military sales bill the $250 million in cash and the $300 million in credit Nixon could otherwise use to sell arms to countries of his choosing.

About the same time as the Senate vote Thursday, the House rejected by a nonrecord vote of 98 to 28 an attempt to block an appropriation of $354 million for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system (ABM). A year ago, the original authorization for the ABM squeaked through the senate on a 50-50 vote.

The Senate vote Thursday came on a White House-backed amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., which would have permitted Nixon to send U.S. ground forces back into Cambodia when he finds such action "necessary to protect the lives of United States forces in South Vietnam or to facilitate the withdrawal of United States forces from South Vietnam."

King Fires Generals In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — King Hussein of Jordan has fired his army commander-in-chief and another general and assumed charge of the armed forces himself in a last attempt to avert a civil war.

Hussain announced Thursday night on Amman Radio he had accepted the resignations of his uncle, Chief Sheriff Nasser ben Jamil, and Gen. Sherif Zaid ben Shaker in a major concession to Palestinian guerrillas holding a major portion of the Jordanian capital.

There was no immediate response from the guerrillas. Political observers in Beirut described it as a major victory for the Palestinian commandos and said the two sides probably would reach a compromise at other points of dispute.

The king called it his final concession to the guerrillas, who are seeking a free rein to raid Israel from bases in Jordan.

"This is the last chance and will not be followed by another," Hussein said. He said if the guerrillas did not heed his warning, he would be "forced to correct the situation and save the people from their present misery."

Dr. James Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, was elected president of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club Thursday during regular meeting of the service organization at the Surf Club.

Americans Released In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas today released about 80 American, British and German citizens who had been held hostage in downtown hotels since Tuesday, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) said.

The agency quoted a spokesman for the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) as saying the guerrillas withdrew from the international and Philadelpia hotels — after releasing the hostages.

Those freed included UPI correspondent Gerard Loughran.

The PFLP had threatened to blow up the hotels unless Jordan stopped shelling Palestinian refugee camps.

King Hussein helped defuse the situation Thursday night by announcing the resignation of his uncle, army Commander-in-Chief Sherif Nasser ben Jamil and Gen. Sherif Zaid ben Shaker in a major concession to the guerrillas who were holding a major portion of the capital.

Hansen Praises Nixon's Efforts

BURLEY — "President Nixon's efforts to achieve a lasting peace in Southeast Asia and his plan for the withdrawal of American troops deserve our support," Rep. Orval Hansen told the opening session of the Republican State assembly at the Ponderosa Inn here Friday morning.

The legislator was the principal speaker at this morning's meeting which was keynoted by Sen. Len Jordan.

"I am confident that the President will keep his pledge to end the war in a way which will promote peace, rather than future conflict," Rep. Hansen noted.

He said since President Nixon took office last year he has reversed the course of U.S. involvement in the war.

Instead of steadily rising troop levels, American forces are coming home at a rate faster than first promised by the President.

The level of fighting and the casualty rate have dropped, the senator noted. The South Vietnamese armed forces are taking over more and more of the responsibility for the defense of their own freedom.

"The limited operations in Cambodia have removed a dagger from our back," Rep. Hansen stated, "and assured the continuation of the President's troop withdrawal plan on or ahead of schedule.

Countless American and South Vietnamese lives will have been saved."

The cost of the war to the American taxpayers is declining steadily each month.

The draft calls for this year will drop by nearly half from last year's level.

Support of a united country will help President Nixon achieve his goal of a just peace through a negotiated settlement, Rep. Hansen told his fellow Republicans.

Tunney's Sister Is Locked Up

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Joan Tunney Wilkinson, daughter of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, pleaded guilty today to charges of killing her husband. She was ordered locked up in Broadmoor prison asylum.

At a hearing in historic Old Bailey courtroom, Judge Carl Auld accepted Mrs. Wilkinson's plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter on the grounds of diminished responsibility.

Psychiatric testimony given during the hearing said that Mrs. Wilkinson, 30, had suffered from schizophrenia for the past nine years and that there was a danger she might commit further homicidal attacks.

Her husband, Lynne Carter Wilkinson, was found dead of head injuries late March 29 in the couple's home in the village of Chelsea about 23 miles northwest of London in a suburban area known as the "Stockbrokers Belt."

The incident occurred six months after the Wilkinsons and their two young daughters moved into the home.

Last August 23, the dark-haired Mrs. Wilkinson disappeared from Bergen, Norway, during a family vacation. She turned up about six weeks later wandering along the French Mediterranean coast near Marseilles and was subsequently treated for amnesia.

Mrs. Wilkinson's brother, John, is a member of Congress from California. He won the California Democratic primary last week for the right to oppose Republican Sen. George Murphy in his bid for reelection this November.

2 Rupert Women Killed

CLEARFIELD, Utah — Two young Rupert women were killed early Thursday when their car smashed through a guard rail on Interstate 15, near Clearfield.

Mary Isaac, 18, and Laura Catmull, 18, both of Rupert, died in the one-car smashup when the driver apparently went to sleep.

Utah Highway Patrol officers said it was not known who was driving at the time of the accident.

The young women, both of whom lived in Salt Lake City, where they worked as dental assistants for Salt Lake dentists, were reportedly en route to Rupert to visit their families.

Both had graduated from a dental school in Salt Lake City last October.

The car sheared through nearly 60 feet of the guard rail before smashing into the Clearfield exit sign and rolling over at least once, officers said.

The victims remained inside the vehicle, but died enroute to an Ogden hospital.

Selling Appears In Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selling appeared at the opening of the New York Stock Exchange today and continued steadily through the first two hours.

Turnover was light. The action was a continuation of the pattern that started on Monday a phase that analysts said was more or less normal for an aid to a long bear market. The market was expected to go along in this vein at least for the immediate future.

Newton Zinder, of E. F. Hutton & Co., said encouraging news development of major importance would be an effective stopper to the market's slide.

Shortly before the noon hour the UPI marketwide indicator was off around 1 per cent with

Pole Line Bridge Repair Job Starts

Work on repairs for the Pole Line Bridge, crossing Rock Creek northwest of Twin Falls was getting underway Friday, Keith Anderson, Twin Falls Highway District engineer, reported.

He said Ullman Construction Co., contractor on the $1,755.80 project has moved scaffolding equipment in and will be working for approximately a month to repair the span.

Special large bolts needed in the renovation have arrived after a long wait by the contractor, and will enable work crews to reinforce the understructure of the wooden bridge.

Mr. Anderson said traffic interruptions will be slight during the work and most of the time the bridge will remain open to two-way traffic. Only when trucks and other equipment are on the bridge for special work or unloading of material will it be necessary to reduce the traffic to one-way, Mr. Anderson said.

Inspection of the bridge last winter by consulting engineers revealed overstressed timbers in the sub-structure of the bridge and a restricted load

Magic Valley Law Agencies Due To Get New Equipment

If approval at the state level is given, the Twin Falls Police Department and other departments in Magic Valley will be receiving some new equipment, thanks to a federal appropriation given to the state under the new Omnibus Crime Bill.

Chief Frank Barnett, who attended a Region 3, Law Enforcement Planning Commission meeting Wednesday in Pocatello, said all requests made from that region for a share of the federal dollars were approved by the regional commission.

Under the appropriation requests, the Twin Falls Police Department will receive $364 for purchase of photo equipment. This will be the federal share of the cost of the items, with some of the equipment to be paid for with local dollars. The chief said the equipment will be sophisticated telephoto lenses and other items useful in surveillance work. The department also has requested $1,889 for assistance in purchasing a four-channel recording set-up to monitor radio calls and telephone calls.

The chief said this item will be valuable, both from a public relations standpoint and for more efficient work by the desk man-radio operator at the station. This purchase falls in the "when funds are available" category, however, and probably will not be made immediately.

Other departments in the area which have requested federal assistance in purchasing equipment are the Jerome County Sheriff's Department, which has requested $1,911 for a base station and repeater and $1,287 for two mobiles; the Hazelton Police Department, which has requested $663 for one mobile unit; the Eden Police Department, $663 for one mobile unit; the Rupert Police Department, $359 for photo and identification equipment; the Ketchum Police Department, $2,802 for one base station, one mobile unit, one repeater and one remote unit, and the Camas County Sheriff's Department, $540 for new seating facilities in the court room, this also on a "funds available" basis.

THE SWING IS TO LLOYD WALKER

Independents and Republicans are also switching to Walker

They like his recognition of Agriculture as the biggest business in Idaho and his proposal to work hard for the strengthening of the farmer's bargaining position for the benefit of all Idaho citizens.

They endorse his respect for Idaho educators and his desire to work with them in improving Idaho's entire educational system.

They welcome his assurance that he will call a halt to intra-departmental infighting in State government and get on with the job of solving Idaho's problems.

They share his dismay at figures showing that our talented young people continue to leave the State for better economic opportunities elsewhere.

They heartily agree with his proposal to better utilize our untapped people resources by enabling women, senior citizens and able young people to participate in state government.

They respect his stand to save White Clouds from exploitation by a few and agree that we can bring desirable, non-polluting new businesses to Idaho without despoiling our natural resources and environment.

They recognize the fact that Idaho has one of the lowest per capita incomes of any State and that this is the source of many of our difficulties today, and that Lloyd Walker can change this by working for the economic betterment of all Idaho citizens rather than the powerful and privileged few.

They endorse his statement: "There's nothing wrong with Idaho that higher individual incomes resulting in a broader tax base won't overcome. My purpose in seeking the governorship is to devote my energy to working toward these goals."

Andrew Tully "The Truth"

Call bladder trouble also must be suspected, and a crony gall bladder can give symptoms that — amazingly — mimic those of heart disease. Special X rays will show gall stones, or a non-functioning gall bladder.

Now taxpayers are talking back: They are saying, you send us the bills for roads and sewers and schools and such, and we'll pay. But we're ready to take an axe to the budget for wars we don't want, for space trips we can't afford and for that villain army of able-bodied voters.

WASHINGTON — "To tell the truth," said the State Department man, "I'm sorry you asked that question. It's a little embarrassing. The only thing I'm authorized to say is that it's a United Nations matter."

Samuel de Palma told the United National Association of the U.S. that the UN was suffering from "a crisis of confidence." Redundantly, he added that there was "mutual evidence of declining support" for the "peace" organization.

The Texas farm wife was in tears when she told me how hard her family works and scrims and does without — willingly — to make ends meet. Then they go to the grocery and see some husky, non-working parasite walk out with steak and luxuries he's bought with food stamps and load them into a late-model car.

The "United Nations matter" concerns the double standard permitted by that singular organization, with tacit American approval, in Zambia's acknowledged violation of UN economic sanctions against white-ruled Rhodesia.

And just the other day, former Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson proposed the appointment of a panel of three world experts to recommend what needs to be done to make the UN more effective.

It's not just federal taxes which penalize the industrious in order to subsidize other peoples' extravaganzas. Fed up with property taxes which have increased as much as 120 percent in two years, many fine, hard-working, long-suffering, dues-paying Americans in the state of Iowa are refusing to pay.

A black nation, Zambia is buying large quantities of coal and peat from Rhodesia. It also has bought maize seedlings. About 35 per cent of Zambia's copper export is carried out over Rhodesian railroads, and Zambia is still dependent on Rhodesia's power stations.

One action that is overdue is to stop pandering to the ideological demands of the Communist bloc in alliance with the so-called "emerging nations." The sanctions against Rhodesia, which are not working anyway, were forced on the UN by this alliance.

And taxpayers, watching the way others do it, are getting organized. One association of taxpayers, admittedly intending to lobby in Washington in their behalf is run and staffed by unpaid volunteers; it signed up thousands of members just last month.

In the meantime, naturally, a New York firm recently was prosecuted for helping Rhodesia break the sanctions. William H. Muller and Co., Inc., was charged with illegally importing Rhodesian chrome.

Indeed, the UN's militant radicals would have gone further had it not been for the United States' first veto in the Security Council. Washington joined Britain in March in rejecting a resolution that would have condemned London for refusing to take military action to crush its former colony, and would have obliged all nations to sever their "railway, maritime, air transport, postal, telegraph and wireless communications" with Rhodesia.

Chest Pain

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can chest distress — like angina symptoms be caused by something else? My husband has been increasingly bothered by pains like angina pectoris.

can eat. I have diverticulosis. — Mrs. J.E.M. I could spend from now until midnight listing the things you can eat with diverticulosis. In fact, without knowing more about your case, I could even say that you can eat anything you want. Or maybe you have to avoid some foods, depending on your particular case.

Your observation about nitroglycerine is shrewd. It invariably gives relief if heart deficiency is causing angina, or chest pains.

Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." In the meantime, if your diverticulosis is bothering you, avoid bran products, highly spiced foods, nuts, fruits with seeds, and perhaps — I repeat, it depends on your case — you may have to go very easy on raw fruits and vegetables.

A hiatal hernia (which may be what you refer to as a "chest hernia") is not the least of the causes of these "chest pains."

One of the practical problems of diverticulosis is sorting out patients who need special diets from those who don't. The booklet will explain the why's and wherefores.

Call bladder trouble also must be suspected, and a crony gall bladder can give symptoms that — amazingly — mimic those of heart disease.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We use well water, which is very good, but I need to clean my tea kettle twice a week to keep the lime coating from getting too thick. Is this water bad for people to use? — Mrs. F. B.

Shingles (which frequently attacks in the trunk) can cause concern, because of the pain before the eruption appears on the surface. (The truth pretty soon becomes apparent with the rash in this case.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are egg shells harmful? When I was in the hospital my 4-year-old son ate some. Although it didn't make him ill I am worried. — Mrs. A. J. S.

So when "angina" doesn't act like true angina, there are those other likely possibilities.

No, nothing harmful about it. Forget it. Note to M. K.: No, a detached retina does not "heal by itself," and it can cause blindness. You need the advice and services of an ophthalmologist (eye specialist).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please be good enough to list the foods I

If You've Never Been There You're No Judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To the stocky man, wearing his life's work in rows of campaign ribbons, it seems a simple truth: If you've never been there, you can't judge those who were.

The soldier in Ernest Medina's case, accused of murdering "not less" than 175 persons at My Lai 4 in South Vietnam on March 16, 1968.

Medina was questioned by a team of reporters in a special UPI "Washington Window" interview. Although under military court orders to make no public statements about the events at My Lai, the captain's legal advisers permitted discussion of two specific issues.

Medina had talked about earlier.

First, was what happened at My Lai, as President Nixon said it appeared to be, a massacre?

Medina: "As I have stated on numerous occasions, I neither ordered a massacre nor did I see one take place."

Second, did Medina, as specifically charged, kill a Vietnamese woman near a rice paddy?

Displaying little emotion, the captain recounted the incident. He said a helicopter pilot had dropped smoke to mark a Viet Cong body so U.S. troops could search for weapons.

Medina: "As I approached, I noticed it was a woman. I looked in the area and noticed there was no weapon. I turned and as I moved away from the area and as I was turning I noticed movement from the woman. The first thing that entered my mind was that she would have a hand grenade or a weapon. And I immediately spun around and instinctively fired and I shot the woman."

Medina, who commanded Company C, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry, spoke freely of his outfit and of the fatigue and frustrations he and his men encountered.

"I felt I had the finest company in the United States Army and that the individuals serving under me were outstanding soldiers," the New Mexico-born and Colorado-reared officer said. But he also said physical weariness and low morale were problems in his company.

"We had a number of individuals who were killed and wounded by mines and booby traps. This type of thing you cannot fight back. I believe it's the most demoralizing thing the individual soldier must face. He doesn't know if the next step he's going to take may be his last."

Medina had some firm ideas about public reaction to the war. He said the fact that television was bringing uncensored films of the fighting into American living rooms for the first time—which he favored—shaped antiwar opinion in a way never experienced in any previous war.

Then, with more feeling than he permitted to show while talking about the specifics of Vietnam, Medina went on to declare that those who stay at home can never really understand what it is like to suffer and see death in war.

"I believe that there are certain people who understand it. But I feel that as a majority, the American people don't."

How does a man accused of murdering 175 human beings feel?

"Well, the charges are very overwhelming, very staggering, when you read them and realize what the Army is trying to prove against you. And it's very difficult to express your feelings on it. It scares you."

Would Medina, a man so eager to be a soldier that he got his unschooled Mexican-American grandparents to sign his National Guard enlistment

German Official Kidnaped

By DANIELA DROSDOFF RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Machine-gunning terrorists kidnaped West German Ambassador Eberhard von Holleben from his limousine Thursday night in an attack that killed one of the envoy's bodyguards and seriously wounded another.

Witnesses said the leftwing terrorists, working with commando precision, swerved a green station wagon into the path of the ambassador's white Mercedes Benz and burst from the station wagon firing machine guns.

They sprang von Holleben's car and struck a trailing guard car.

A man and woman, posing as strolling lovers, nestled a machine gun between them, witnesses said.

From the other side of the dark, narrow street, two other young men opened fire on von Holleben's auto, killing a federal police agent, Irldo Rogis, 53, who was sitting in the front with the ambassador. The kidnaping occurred 200 yards from von Holleben's residence.

Leaflets left by the terrorists warned the government to cease capturing or torturing "revolutionaries" during negotiations for the release of von Holleben, 61, formerly chief of protocol of the Bonn Foreign Ministry for six years.

In Bonn, it was announced the kidnapers had delivered a demand for the release of Brazilian political prisoners in exchange for the career diplomat.

A West German Foreign Ministry spokesman said a note sent to the Embassy in Rio advised that the kidnapers would reveal later the names and number of political prisoners.

Ludwig Eberhart, second secretary of the West German Embassy, said, "I am certain the Brazilian government will take steps necessary for release of the German envoy."

The Brazilian kidnapers identified themselves in their leaflets as members of the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard (VPR) and the National Liberation Action (ALN).

"The presence of police agents in the company of ambassadors resolves nothing, because, for our parts, we will fold as many fighters as necessary to obtain our objectives," one leaflet said.

Soviets May Continue SALT Session

VIENNA (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators may continue the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) until late July instead of breaking off earlier in the month as originally planned, conference sources said today.

Any extension of the talks would be a signal for optimism among SALT supporters, the sources said.

The 16th session of the talks was scheduled at 11 a.m. (8 a.m. EDT) in the American Embassy today.

When SALT opened April 16 most negotiators expected the Vienna phase to recess in late June or early July, with a probable resumption in Helsinki in the autumn.

But both the United States and the Soviet Union are increasingly reluctant to break off, the sources said. This is believed to be because progress is being made and a momentum was built which might bring more progress.

In Ratanakiri Province, warplanes of "Allied nations" killed 30 Viet-Cong and North Vietnamese troops in raids against three Communist positions, one of them four miles west of Labansiek, military spokesmen said.

U.S. infantrymen fought three clashes with Viet-Cong and North Vietnamese troops inside Cambodia Thursday. Military spokesmen said six Americans were killed and 29 wounded in the fighting.

Viet Cong In Area Attacks

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces today attacked the provincial capital of Kompong Speu astride the highway connecting Phnom Penh with Cambodia's largest seaport, Nighting near the ruins of Angkor Wat slackened.

"The attack against Kompong Speu means a lot of pressure is put on Phnom Penh," said the spokesman. "I do not think the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese have ever given up the idea of attacking Phnom Penh one day."

Kompong Speu is on the vital highway linking the capital with Kompong Som, a port known under the regime of deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk as Sihanoukville.

In the fighting near Slem Reap airport, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, Cambodian casualties were listed as two dead and six wounded.

Asked whether Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops were physically inside the Angkor Wat complex of 9th century temples and shrines, a military spokesman said, "We do not know exactly."

"We are doing nothing," the spokesman said. "We consider the area of the temples a place to avoid any possible destruction of the temples."

Communist forces Thursday again attacked Tonle Bet on the east bank of the Mekong River, 50 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. Government forces captured Tonle Bet three weeks ago and Communist troops had held the town for five days. Much of the town was destroyed.

Engineers Blamed For Deaths Of Snake-Fish

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — State Game Director John Biggs said Thursday the Army Corps of Engineers was responsible for the deaths of thousands of fish on the Snake River. He demanded the federal government pay for the loss.

Biggs said the most concentrated areas of fish kills were below dams that were Corps of Engineers projects.

Ralph Larson, chief of the Game Department's Environmental Management Section, said a boat trip down nearly 70 miles of the river showed at least 43,000 game fish have died in recent weeks.

He said most of the dead game fish were channel catfish or bass. There have been additional reports that several hundred migrating salmon have also died on nitrogen poisoning.

The Game Department said the fish kills apparently were caused by excess nitrogen entering the water as it flows over open spillways on several dams.

Larson said the high nitrogen content produces in the fish what would amount to the birds for a human.

Biggs said the army had been informed of the situation several times in the past and nothing has been done.

He said he was taking the position "that the Army Corps of Engineers is responsible for these fish losses."

Visit
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Urho Kekkonen of Finland has accepted President Nixon's invitation to visit Washington July 22 to 24, the White House announced Wednesday.

Treas Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also said that King Hussein II of Morocco has postponed his July visit until later in the year because the queen is expecting.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, which staged a record recovery more than a week ago, continued a retreat Thursday. Most analysts saw little hope for an immediate recovery.

American Telephone & Telegraph, which fell to a 10-year low on Wednesday, suffered another setback Thursday. The nation's most widely owned stock fell 4 1/2%.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a closely watched index of 30 blue-chip stocks, suffered its sharpest setback of the week, plunging 9.36 to 684.42. The number of blue-chip bled gainers by a 4-to-1 margin.

Since June 3, the market has experienced a general retreat and analysts viewed Thursday's action as a "further consolidation" of last month's gains.

State Parties Open Assemblies

Demos Gathering For Convention

Democratic party members, gathered in Twin Falls for their biennial state Delegate Assembly, began a two-day session with preliminary business and speeches scheduled to get down to the business of candidate selection and platform sessions on Saturday.

State Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters called the official delegates to order at 9:30 a.m. in the CSI Fine Arts Building with the principal item on the morning agenda an address by Paul S. Boyd, Boise. Mr. Boyd is the only party member seeking the nomination of Lieutenant governor and is assured a spot on the ballot.

Three gubernatorial hopefuls were at convention headquarters Friday morning. These are Cecil Andrus, Boise, Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuffie, currently a state legislator, and Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls attorney.

Following a survey of voting delegates Thursday night, it appeared likely all three will be on the August 4 ballot. Forces supporting Mr. Ravenscroft indicated he could claim between 130 and 135 of the votes while Mr. Andrus expected to have at least 125, leaving about 90 for Mr. Walker. Each candidate needs 64 votes or 20 per cent of the 318 delegates to appear on the ballot and with three running for the party approval it appears the voters will make the nomination.

Another major business item will be the election of the state chairman and other officers. Mr. Waters has announced he will be seeking reelection in the Saturday voting. Howard Humphrey, Ada County Central Committee Chairman, has tossed his hat into the ring, announcing he will oppose Mr. Waters. Mr. Humphrey said his decision has no connection with the present chairman's indication he will resign after the Aug. 4 election so the nominee can pick his own chairman. Mr. Humphrey said he is running to broaden the base of the party.

State Sen. Arthur Murphy (D Mullan) temporary chairman of the platform committee, confirmed reports of an attempt at a recess without writing the platform.

He said his committee favors meeting again following the primary election to draw up the official party platform. At that time the gubernatorial nominee will be selected as well as other party candidates and could help determine the platform issues.

Admitting he has opposition in this play, Mr. Murphy said, "We really don't know what our positions will be two or three months from now."

He said one objection raised was that new party officers would be chosen in the primary and the group that would reconvene would not be the same as the one that recessed due to election of new precinct committee men and legislative chairmen.

"If the plan is approved," Mr. Murphy said, "I plan to hold public hearings throughout the state to take testimony from party members on the platform."

U. S. Sen. Frank Church, busy in Washington, D.C. with a pending vote on the Church-Cooper amendment was expected to arrive sometime Saturday to attend the state convention if possible.

Members of his staff, Verda Barnes, Washington, D.C., administrative assistant, and Clarence Wharry, Boise, arrived Thursday. Both said they are hoping the senator will arrive early Saturday. If so, he will address the convention sessions briefly during the final day.

State Demo Chairman Challenged

By LINDY HIGH
TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Howard Humphrey, Ada County central committee chairman, said Thursday he would challenge incumbent E. T. Waters for the chairmanship of the Democratic Party in Idaho.

Humphrey made his announcement on the eve of the two-day Democratic State Assembly. At the same time, Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, said he planned to ask the state assembly to recess until after the Aug. 4 primary to write its platform.

Humphrey said his decision to run had "nothing to do with the present chairman whatsoever." He said he made his decision to "broaden the party's base — decisions made by the many rather than the few."

He also said he made his decision in light of Waters' announced intentions to tender his resignation following the primary elections so a new state chairman — one supported by the party's final nominee — could be elected by the state Central Committee.

Murphy, temporary chairman of the platform committee, said original plans had been to recess only the committee until after the primary. An attorney general's opinion, however, said the entire state assembly must reconvene to adopt the document.

Murphy said he "hasn't given up yet" and would present his plan to the platform committee Friday. If the assembly would agree to reconvene, Murphy said, he hoped to hold a series of public meetings around the state — both to hear opinions on issues and to attract press coverage.

"If we're going to attract any young voters to our party, we're going to have to have public meetings and establish some sort of contacts," he said.

"Suppose we have a meeting in Coeur d'Alene. The candidates would be there and the people would come and — would get press coverage."

Dinner Set

GLENNIS FERRY — The Elmore County Democratic Central Committee is sponsoring a dinner at which the three candidates for governor will be the main speakers.

The event will be at the North Elementary school in Mountain Home at 7:30 p. m. June 26. Over candidates for state officers who have indicated they will attend include Paul S. Boyd, William Brauner, Marjorie Ruth Moon, Joe Williams, and Del Engolking.

Request For New Hearing On Five Points Made In Boise

C. Ed Flandro, Pocotello, chairman of the highway board, pointed out that the prime reason for public hearings is to determine public opinion, and the board must make its decisions on testimony submitted at these hearings.

Following the April 16 hearing in Twin Falls, the board stated it had decided to drop the Five Points North project because of lack of local support and said it was making plans to use the money elsewhere.

City officials, at that time, protested that the hearing had not brought out the true feeling in the community about the project, and contended it would create serious problems if the project was dropped.

Twin Falls Mayor Frank Feldman told the board Thursday he feels the people who showed up for the April 16 hearing "were 'negative' people," property owners who

T.F. Man Drowns In Malad River

GOODING — Loose rocks which gave way beneath the feet of two men climbing the canyon near the Malad River bridge hurled a Twin Falls man to his death Thursday afternoon during a fishing trip.

Gooding County Sheriff Earl Brown said Leo Witherspoon, 54, 184 Morningstar Drive, Twin Falls, and an unidentified companion were climbing the canyon wall when a rock slide hurled Mr. Witherspoon into the river pinning the victim under the water.

The companion apparently escaped the rock slide and was unharmed, Sheriff Brown said.

An ambulance crew from Gooding removed the body of Mr. Witherspoon.

Sheriff Brown said Mrs. Witherspoon was waiting for her husband in a car at the top of the canyon when the tragedy occurred.

Services are pending at the White Funeral Chapel, Twin Falls.

War On Litter To Be Waged Saturday

An army of dedicated Magic Valley citizens will declare "war" on litter Saturday in a unique one-day cleanup campaign that is part of a nationwide movement.

As a reward for those participating, the county commission will serve a free lunch at two locations — at noon at Murtaugh Lake for workers in the Murtaugh area and at 2 p.m. at the Filer Fairgrounds for Twin Falls volunteers.

The campaign is spearheaded by the "Johnny Horizon" program of the Bureau of Land Management, with the idea of cleaning up the many acres of public lands under BLM control. State Police and the Twin Falls County Sheriff's Department are cooperating, under the direction of Lt. Dean Bennett and Sheriff Paul Corder.

The idea of the campaign is that volunteer workers will search county roads and campgrounds for the ever-present litter, sweeping the debris into gunny sacks and pickup trucks. Volunteer flagmen will control traffic flow at highway intersections to protect the pick-up men.

The BLM will provide a fleet of 10 vehicles to help collect the litter, with radio communication to provide overall control.

Co-chairmen of the cleanup campaign are Bill Chancey, county commissioner, and Bob Brock, area manager for the BLM. They said that residents of the Kimberly-Hansen area will meet at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the Kimberly park, and Murtaugh area citizens will meet at the Murtaugh School.

In the Castleford-Buhl area, the assembly ground is the Castleford School; Hollister-Rogerson area residents will meet in Hollister; the Clover-Filer area will assemble at the Filer Fairgrounds, and in Twin Falls, the old hospital building near Magic Valley Memorial Hospital will serve as the assembly point.

Volunteers are advised to wear boots or heavy shoes, hats for protection against the sun, and gloves to protect the hands. Workers should also bring a candy bar or other snack to ease the long hours before lunch.

A number of Boy Scout troops have agreed to work on the cleanup campaign, and other organizations will donate time to the effort, the co-chairmen said today. Overall, it is hoped that up to 1,000 people will participate.

The County Commission will follow-up the effort with strict enforcement of anti-litter laws along county roads, reminding county residents that it is illegal to dump debris such as lawn cuttings and tree limbs along county roads or in vacant lots.

Jordan Opens GOP State Meet

By GEORGIA LAYTON,
Times-News Correspondent

BURLEY — Vietnam and inflation are basic contributing factors to many of the nation's domestic problems, Sen. Len Jordan told the Idaho GOP assembly this morning.

Whether it is unrest on the campuses, racial tensions, high interest rates, high prices, rising unemployment, falling stock market, they all have a common denominator — Vietnam and inflation, or more precisely, the relationship between the two," he said.

The senator spoke briefly after two-day assembly opened at the Ponderosa Inn with some 350 delegates gathered to endorse national and state candidates for the Aug. 4 primary election, write a platform and elect state party officers.

Rep. Orval Hanson addressed delegates also Friday morning. Two battles appeared to be shaping up, although the endorsement of gubernatorial candidates may prove to be without competition. Principal interest among delegates is for the race for post of state chairman, for, as one woman put it, "We really don't have any problems with our U. S. candidates."

Gov. Don Samuelson, seeking nomination for a second term, is opposed by Dick Smith, Rexburg, and Edward T. Whitaker, Marsing school teacher, with no previous political experience. Party officials point out if Mr. Whitaker does not obtain the required 70 per cent delegate approval or 28 votes there will be no contest as the assembly is required to place at least two names on the Aug. 4 primary ballot when more than one person seeks party endorsement.

The Rexburg candidate, a former state legislator and one-time president of the State Board of Education, along with Gov. Samuelson, both seem assured of the assembly's endorsement at the Saturday session.

In the contention of state chairman, William C. Roden, Boise, former state senator, is seeking the post against Roland Wilber, Lewiston, who is running for a second term. Rich Hendricks, Preston, is reported to be a possible third candidate for the post.

Considerable support has been indicated in the Magic Valley area for Mr. Roden. Some delegates indicated that it was believed the governor did not favor Roden because of his association to former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, but it was expected that Samuelson would stay out of the fight.

Gwen Barnett, Boise, the state national committeewoman, is reportedly working hard for Wilber's reelection. He is considered more conservative than Roden.

Hendricks, a former field man for former Cong. George Hansen, may be the third contender.

James Roper, Burley, was selected temporary chairman for the convention and William J. Laning, Hollister, was to be permanent chairman.

Ecological Controls Are Asked

BURLEY, Idaho (UPI) — A spokesman for the Idaho Mining Industry Thursday night called for environmental controls that are economically and technologically attainable.

A.J. Teske, Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho Mining Assn. put before the Republican platform committee a proposal for a positive state policy toward natural resource development.

He admitted under questioning that molybdenum is in over supply, but said it was needed by the United States as an export, and that it was all saleable.

Mining of this particular mineral currently is a point of controversy because one company wants to extract it from the scenic White Cliffs mountains.

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Idaho, committee chairman, said at the onset of the platform hearings the GOP would write a document on which all candidates can run.

He chided the Democrats who have proposed holding off drafting of their platform until after the Aug. 4 primary election so that their gubernatorial candidate can agree with what it says.

"We will not mold our platform to suit any individual candidate," Batt said.

Meanwhile, the committee heard proposals for state support of public school kindergartens, 10-year-old precinct committeemen and increasing state aid to the public school.

Batt also read a telegram from the Greater Sawtooth Preservation Council asking that the platform include support for a Sawtooth-White Clouds national park.

A spokesman for independent securities salesman urged the Republicans to work for lower indemnity bonds, saying the present figure of $25,000 is too high.

Seniors Honored

SHOSHONE — Seniors who were honored by St. Peter's Catholic church are Katherine Pogoaga, Terry Churchman, Patricia Baumann, Paul Barriochoa, Paul Struchen, Richard and Randy Hall.

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

Thanks to Michael Harris, a sophomore at the University of Oregon, the 3.1 million-member United Presbyterian Church...

In line with a growing tendency to give youth a louder voice in ecclesiastical affairs, Harris was named a delegate to the United Presbyterian General Assembly...

stand up under the rigorous scrutiny of a national church convention in the revolutionary Seventies.

One of the nominees, the Rev. Abraham Lincoln Reynolds of Chicago, appeared to find one solution to all problems: Give more money to the poor. Three of the others made the error of delivering large quantities of plous rhetoric...

Platitudes also did not fare well. Witness the unsuccessful nominee who declaimed: "I never met a man I didn't like!"

The pre-election favorite was internationally known Princeton Seminary Professor Elmer Homrighausen — who talked his way out of the election. When asked for specific proposals for the improvement of the denomination...

When, at 10:45 p.m., Dr. Laws was called upon to follow Dr. Homrighausen, he produced an answer ideally tailored to his wrothy audience. He roared, stated briskly: "I don't believe I can add anything to that, and I sat down. This evoked the loudest applause of the long evening."

Just why it has taken 284 years and the suggestion of a college student to pioneer this testing of prospective leaders remains what might be called a holy mystery. But it seems safe to predict that the public questioning of nominees to high church office will become a firmly established practice...

Church convention delegates. In this era appear to be in no mood to elect the usual type of ecclesiastical politician who equates concealment of his convictions with holiness and propriety.

Through the kind of questioning that took place as a result of young Michael Harris' suggestion — particularly of all candidates simultaneously — even the most obscure pastor who reveals courage and common sense can be elected to the highest ecclesiastical post.

Burley CWF Aides Installed

BURLEY — New officers of Christian Women's Fellowship were installed during a candlelight ceremony in fellowship hall of the Christian Church.

REV. HENRY J. GERNHARDT— Pastor Church of the Brethren Twin Falls

When a person goes on record that they have found a way of victorious living regardless of circumstances surely common sense commands investigation.

It is possible that it could be the idle boast of a high moment or an outburst of egotism. However, if the total record of the life is ample evidence of exemplary success we are foolish to brush it off or ignore it in these difficult times.

The New Testament of a book, The Bible, is the record of a growing effective fellowship in a very difficult period in history. Both leaders and followers were hunted, harassed, persecuted and murdered.

One of the chief leaders, Paul, the Apostle wrote to followers in Philippi, "I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content; — I can do all things in him who strengthens me." Philippians 4:11-13. This excerpt from a long letter may open the way and quicken an interest in the record of a man who made good when the going was rough and tough.

We are living in a time of universal contention. It is present within the individual; between members of our families, in the social, industrial, civic and ecclesiastical body of so called civilization. The daily news and much of daily experience calls for that which will increase individual adequacy and collective cooperation in a constructive way of living.

There is a hymn "God of Grace and God of Glory", which should be the desire of every one: "For the fasting of this hour, for the living of these days."

Installed were Mrs. Jodie Maells, president; Mrs. Ruby Gochinour, first vice president; Mrs. Donna Sager, second vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Handy, treasurer, and Mrs. Florence Logan, secretary.

Mrs. Mary Eklund, service chairman; Mrs. Louise Smith, worship chairman; Mrs. Helen Erwin, study chairman; Mrs. Elaine Drew, Mrs. Sylvia Neiwert, Mrs. Susan McCall and Mrs. Pearl Easton, all group leaders; Mrs. Belle Smith, funeral dinners, and Mrs. Kaye Stewart, librarian. Mrs. Lois Hansen and Mrs. June Waters were installing officers. Mrs. Handy presented Mrs. Lois Ester retiring president with a past president's pin.

Mrs. Doris Grimsman sang a solo and was accompanied by Mrs. Mary Gochinour at the piano.

Becoming Adequate

Paul the Apostle had been a persecutor of the people of the adequate way. Observation and personal experience made of him a new creation. He had a change of mind — a change of heart; a change of disposition; a change of direction and a change of dedication. How did this all come about?

Eagerly pressing along the way of misunderstanding, prejudice, hatred, persecution and destruction; the light of life, Jesus Christ encircled and penetrated every fibre of his being. Paul yielded his keen mind, enthusiasm, and utter devotion to Him who is the way, the truth and the life. Paul entered the University of Life, a student of adequate living.

Some years ago a doctor of philosophy shared this gem: "The things that seem to oppose you are not enemies to destroy you. They are teachers, trainers and coaches to develop you." People do not fail because of changed conditions, but because we are not big enough to meet changing conditions. Our world is the sum total of we who dwell upon it. It can become a better world if we will respond to and walk in the way Jesus Christ leads.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Steve Reid played a new grip and a new swing into a record-fishing performance Thursday for a five-under-par 66 at Beverly Country Club to seize the first round lead in the $130,000 Western Open Golf championship over a horde of par-busters.

Elliott Named Iowa Athletic Director

—CEDAR FALLS, Iowa (UPI)—Chalmers B. "Bump" Elliott Thursday was appointed director of Iowa athletic director and handed the ticklish job of healing the splits that have racked the school's sports program.

The state Board of Regents named the one-time Michigan football coach and former assistant under Forest Evashevski at Iowa to the post effective July 1. He succeeds Evashevski, who resigned.

Elliott said he hopes to start a new era of cooperation at the Iowa City school.

Matson Eyes New Record In Shotgun

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Randy Matson, who set a world's shotgun record three years ago, may be ready to do it again Saturday at Portland's Rose Festival Invitational meet.

But the giant Texan could take the record "a little bit further" any day now, and that "any day" may be Saturday during Portland's Rose Festival Invitational.

Matson set the world record back in 1967 while a student at Texas A&M with a toss of 71-feet, 5-1/2 inches.

He has surpassed the 70-foot barrier eight times since but only within 1-4 inches of his global standard. And that was accomplished at the Kennedy Games in Berkeley, Calif., last May 30.

Brewers' Rookie Has Starting Nod

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A 21-year-old economics major who had not even seen a major league game until two weeks ago will start Sunday for the Cleveland Indians against the Milwaukee Brewers.

"I'm not going to fret about it," said Steve Dunning who only last month was pitching for Stanford University. "I'll just give it my best shot and whatever happens, happens."

Idaho Signs 26 Freshmen And Five JC Transfers For Grid

MOSCOW, Co.—Coach Don Robbins of the Vandals football team, announced today the recruitment of 26 outstanding high school college players and five junior college transfers for the 1970 Idaho Football program.

Robbins said that these athletes had signed national letters of intent to attend the University of Idaho.

L.A. Nips St. Louis, 2-1 In 12th Inning

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Willie Davis doubled to left in the bottom of the 12th inning Thursday night to score Maury Wills with the run that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Robbins, who took over the reins of head coach in May, said that he was not going to put high praise on the talents of the players at this time. However, he did say that from all reports from the staff and in evaluating the potential of each of the players recruited, "We certainly have recruited a good group of football players."

Brundage Says Skiers Must Clean House

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Avery Brundage, to whom there are only two kinds of athletes, warned Thursday that skiing's future in the Olympic games may depend on whether amateurism can be fostered by 1972.

"We'll see what happens in Sapporo where the next winter games will be held in 1972, he told the U.S. Ski Association's convention after warning that the sport must "clean house."

He declared there were only two kinds of sportsmen—amateurs and professionals. So far as the Olympics are concerned there is only one kind, the amateur, he said.

Brundage, 82, is chairman of the International Olympics Committee, a lifelong amateur and a man who says he is shocked at what happened during the 1968 winter games in Grenoble, France.

Two Share Lead In Women's Meet

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—Ladies-professional golf has reached the point that the hot putter leads and wins. Kathy Whitworth no sooner said that when Mary Mills helped prove the point.

The veteran Miss Whitworth, a four-time Prettie of the Year, and Miss Mills each shot four-under par 65 Thursday to share the opening round lead in the 16th annual Ladies Professional Golf Association championships.

Both entries attributed their early success to their putting which, on the huge Pleasant Valley Country Club greens, can stretch up to more than 100 feet long.

Kathy, the pre-tournament favorite even though she has missed the top prize the last seven times out, sank the biggest putt of a lightly attended opening day, a 40-footer for an eagle three on the 425-yard 10th hole.

Regrouping Team And Attitude Listed As Idaho's Top Grid Need

Re-establishing team attitude and esprit de corps and keeping players eligible were listed Thursday night by new University of Idaho football Coach Don Robbins as the prime requisites for the approaching Vandal season.

Robbins, elevated from assistant to head coach in the wake of the ouster of Y C McNease, told Magic Valley Vandal Boosters prospects for the season would be respectable if these things could be managed. Athletic Director Ed Knecht reported to the group on new athletic facilities and Ed Troxel outlined plans for renovating the sagging Idaho track program.

Robbins said that 15 gridder are in grade trouble and will be ineligible if they do not recoup their deficiencies in summer school. He said the turmoil that enveloped the athletic department struck particularly hard at that youngsters and a lot of them had failed to attend classes. However, he said only two were in serious grade problems.

He said if all came through summer school, the Vandals could be respectable. He said the running back position has been bolstered considerably and said the defensive secondary, which was the basic deficiency of the team last year, should be improved greatly although it will be manned by "underclassmen who will make some mistakes that will hurt at times."

"Addition of five junior college transfers figures to help the overall depth of the team,"

Robbins said. He added from recruitment had gone well despite the controversy that permeated the campus during the "primo" recruiting season. "We will have 24 boys on scholarships," Robbins said, "which will be a little under other years. But we used some of the scholarships for junior college transfers that can help the varsity this fall."

Robbins, answering a question, said he felt that several of the boys would have left the team had the coaching change not been made; however, he added some players had considered quitting when Coach McNease was ousted.

He said the staff still needed one assistant and added he felt there was sufficient merit in the athletic dormitory maintain it.

Knecht announced the state Vandal Booster convention would be divided into four separate meetings, covering the geographical areas of the state. The Magic Valley section will be held in Twin Falls, tentatively Aug. 4.

The athletic director said Idaho was hopeful of playing in its new grid stadium by 1971 although the facility would not be done by that time completely. He said the football field, which will be artificial turf, represents a $1.7 million expenditure with the remaining $1.5 million going into two five-story towers that will house offices, locker and storage space, building of the basketball pavilion will follow as soon as feasible. Knecht said proposals of doming the football field are nice but the crying need was for facilities now. "We could not have waited even another four years without killing the entire program," he said.

He added he felt the majority of the student body supported the overall aims of the athletic department although "there are always dissenters."

Troxel said he had six scholarships to work with in track plus the new all-weather facility that currently is under construction. Troxel said he was "enthused" about the prospects of the program and he already has several top prospects committed to the Vandals. He cautioned building would be rather slow but felt that Idaho could become competitive in the sport.

T. F. Legion Sweeps Two From Great Falls

The Twin Falls American Legion team, behind the pitching of Kevin Nelson and Wayne Graham, ran its record to 8-1 Thursday night when an easy doubleheader sweep over Great Falls.

Nelson threw one-hit ball in winning the opener 7-1 and Graham followed up with a five-hit shutout to register the second win 7-0. Twin Falls will host Burley at 8 p. m. Friday at Jaycee Park and then travel to Idaho Falls for a three-game weekend.

Great Falls, which lost a pair to Rupert Wednesday night, drew first blood in the opener when Schmidt drew a walk and eventually scored on an error. But Will Ward singled in Rick Somba, who had singled, in the bottom of the frame to tie it. Twin Falls led in the fifth when Somba and Paul Clark opened with hits. Will Ward cracked a double to score them and he coasted home on Vic Wells' single.

An inning later, Nelson drew a walk and Somba, Clark and Wells followed with hits to score three more.

Twin Falls took care of the nightcap early. Ron Blackwood opened the game with the first of three straight hits. After Somba lived on an error and Ward walked, Mike Erickson delivered a double to cap the three-run frame. In the second, Steve McClain walked and, after a sacrifice, scored on Blackwood's hit. Errors let in the next two Twin Falls runs.

Penalty Shot Lets English Edge Czechs

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Allan Clarke converted a hotly disputed penalty shot in the 18th minute of play Thursday to give defending champion England a 1-0 victory over Czechoslovakia and a berth in the quarterfinals of the World Cup Soccer Championships.

Also gaining quarterfinal berths Thursday were Mexico, which defeated Belgium 1-0 on a penalty shot by Gustavo Pena; and Italy, which fought to a scoreless tie with Israel. Italy, although it ended in a tie with Uruguay for first place in Group II, was awarded a place in the quarterfinals on a basis of fewer goals allowed in its three games.

Slowpitch Shutout

One of the rarities of the game, a shutout, was posted Thursday night when Arrington pitched Varsity Baseball to a 4-0 decision over R and T Steel in the city slowpitch softball league.

Allen Hows enjoyed a three for four night in pacing the victory.

Keabler Cookies got homers from L. Darling and Blamires while R. Darling and B. Brown went three-for-three in an Independent Meet-91-6. Bob Koron was three-for-three for the losers.

John's Husky Service overpowered Kroft Janitorial Supply 13-4.

Duane Schmeberger cracked a homer and Ayers had four straight hits in leading Blitz to a 20-5 decision over Sherwood.

The league-leading Turf Club dropped OK Tire Stores 7-3 in a defensive game.

Motorcycle Races Slated For Sunday

Competition in four divisions, plus a "who'llie contest," will be held Sunday when the Wheelers Motorcycle Club of Magic Valley presents its first TT track races of the season.

The races will be held at the track five miles north of junction of highways 93 and 25 or 17 miles north of Twin Falls. Preliminary heats will start at 11 a. m. with the finals going off at 1 p. m.

Competition is offered in 100 cc., 175 cc., 250 cc. and open classes with the top three places receiving trophies. In addition, a "powerput" derby for women is offered, along with a special event for beginners.

The "who'llie" exhibition will be won by the driver who is able to move his motorcycle farthest on one wheel.

Joss Kindred, spokesman for the sponsoring club, said the number of final races will not be known until Sunday afternoon as the field will be governed by the number of total entries in each class. He said if sufficient cycles are entered, there will be A and B divisions in the various classifications.

He added the group hopes to sponsor at least one more track competition and plans to have a cross country race in the fall.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Normal pre-weekend caution and further consolidation of last month's sharp advance kept stocks in reverse gear at the halfway point Friday. Turnover was relatively light. Among the day's most active issues were Penn Central down 1 1/4 on 266,700 shares, British Petroleum off 3/4 on 103,000 shares, Hughes & Hatcher down 1/2 on 102,700 shares and Carbor Wallace 3/4 lower, and 90,300 shares. Weakness in Penn Central largely reflected a couple of depressing stories in the Wall Street Journal about the line's condition. Less active but off a point or more were IBM down 3/4, Burroughs 2 1/4, National Cash Register 1 1/4, Honeywell 2 1/4, and D.P. Point 1. Fractionally lower were American Telephone, American Smelting, Polynoid, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Ford, General Motors and Eastman Kodak. The UPI marketwide indicator was off 1.21 pct. at 12:45 p.m. on 1,385 issues, with 1,800 up, 1,000 down and 807 declined, 242 gained.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to "STEADY READER." You gave this meddling woman the go-ahead to call her dear friend's doctor and offer him information about his patient.

I think this is very sneaky. I, too, had a "dear friend" who called my psychiatrist and told him things about me she thought he ought to know. (This was all done "for my own good," of course.)

It wasn't necessary, however, because I had always been completely honest with my psychiatrist. Well, he chose to believe her lies instead of my truths and now I no longer have a psychiatrist OR a "dear friend."

I wouldn't set foot into another psychiatrist's office if you paid me. And as for a doctor who would take the word of a third party in preference to the person he is treating—let him send HER the bill. —EX-PATIENT

DEAR EX: I advised STEADY READER to tell her friend that if she herself didn't tell her doctor that she had three sources for the pills he had prescribed for her, she (STEADY READER) should up the doctor off. This, I think would have been a kindness.

If your psychiatrist actually accepted the "lies" of a third party in preference to your truths, then he needs a psychiatrist. But, if you were only imagining that your friend and your doctor were "conspiring" against you, then I think you desperately need to return for more therapy.

DEAR ABBY: Our high school senior son is "in love" with a 12-year-old girl. He is a good student (for he was until his grades took a nosedive), he's on the basketball team and has never even dated a girl before this one. She is a seventh grader and isn't allowed to date, but they got together at our house because she has suddenly become "best friends" with our 12-year-old daughter.

I won't go into detail here, but I found a "love letter" this girl wrote to our son; which confirmed everything I had suspected: This little girl is mature beyond her years, and they are headed for serious trouble if something isn't done to keep them apart, or cooled off.

Should my husband talk to our son? Should I talk to the girl? Should my husband and I talk to the kids together? Should we just handle our son, and let the girl's parents handle her? All I need now is a 12-year-old daughter-in-law with a baby on the way! WORRIED STIFF

DEAR WORRIED: Have your husband talk to your son. YOU talk to the girl. Then the both of you talk to the kids together. THEN, tell the girl's mother that half the battle is hers!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother asked my husband to give her the money he was going to spend on my birthday present, and they would give me something "together" which she would pick out.

Well, she picked out a loud pink and orange plaid coat with a low belt all around. I have always had a weight problem, and would never dream of wearing anything that looked like that and she surely must have known it.

My mother-in-law has excellent taste when it comes to selecting her own clothes. What would you say happened in this case, Abby? And how would you have handled it? BURNED UP IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR BURNED: There are two possibilities. Either she did it on purpose, or she didn't. Regardless, I would have handled it very carefully while placing it in its original box to return it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOL S., MY 84-YEAR-OLD BOY-FRIEND IN CHICAGO: I might have known that you were no ordinary man. Like fine wine and violins, you improve with age. Shalom, Sweetheart!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

game. Eventually the Hatter won the trick with the ace and led the deuce of spades. The dormouse awakened again and murmured "trumps, trumps, what are trumps?" "Trumps are spades," replied the Hatter.

The Hatter trounced again and finally played dummy's five.

Alice produced the six and that was when play ended. "Never send a boy on a man's errand," yelled the March Hare. "It was a finesse," roared the Hatter.

"What finesse? Who ever heard of 'Thosing a five-spot'?" cried the March Hare as cards, table, tea and all-silverware flew in all directions.

The last thing Alice saw as she ran from the mad bridge game was the dormouse still sleeping peacefully through it all.

"Curiouser and curiouser" thought Alice. "This was supposed to be a tea party and now I am playing bridge. What's more, my partner, the dormouse, seems to be asleep and I am looking at the worst hand I have ever seen."

Alice was East and certainly had a bad hand. Matters didn't improve when the Mad Hatter opened with two spades and his partner, the March Hare, gave a positive response of three hearts.

The dormouse continued to sleep while his opponents worked their way up to six spades. He wakened long enough to lead the queen of clubs and proceeded to fall asleep again while the Hatter studied the dummy for an interminable period of time. Alice would have fallen asleep herself if her chair had been at all comfortable. As it was she squirmed and wondered why she was in any sort of bridge

Incidentally, the Hatter's play was a reasonable one and we would like to have the dormouse as our partner sometime.

Cemetery

BOSTON (UPI)—Gov. Francis W. Sargent signed into law Thursday the so-called "Lisa Minelli Bill" banning the use of cemeteries for the making of commercial films without permission of cemetery officials.

Miss Minelli appeared semi-nude in the Blue Hill Cemetery in Braintree last year during the filming of a scene for the movie "Tell Me That You Love Me June Moon."

The ensuing uproar led to the filing of the bill by state Sen. James R. McIntyre, whose district includes Braintree.

The first permanent English settlement in America was established May 13, 1607, at Jamestown, Va.

SAVE LIKE MAD

Herbs Are Something Different

Not everybody wants an herb garden but just about everybody can use a few herbs. They add zest to one's cooking, zip to beverages and a few will add a pleasing fragrance to milady's linens.

Herbs are easy to grow say Union Fork and Hoe Company garden experts in Columbus, Ohio. And this is true just about anywhere you may live.

While most people don't realize it, herbs do not need a good, rich soil. Spade up even a semi-sandy or peaty-gravel area, add a medium-of-long-lasting fertilizer-like dried cow manure and many herbs will do fairly well. Too rich a soil and too much water is a bad combination. Rank growth causes a shortage of the fragrant oils you want in herbs.

When they are up, herbs usually require only an occasional loosening with a long or short-handled weeder or a small hoe.

Now for the herbs: what kind to grow? All these can be grown from seed. First, some annuals: Dill is, perhaps, best known for its use in pickles, sauces and gravies. Instead of rows, broadcast it in a narrow bed.

Basil is commonly used to flavor poultry, meat, game, fish, eggs, soups and sauces. A short row is usually sufficient. Borage is one herb that finds its way into lemonade and other cold drinks.

Florence fennel is more often grown as a vegetable but it has a pleasing anise-like flavor, as does the easily-grown anise itself.

Summer savory which finds its way into salads, dressings, stews, and gravies is another very annual. The same goes for marjoram, a favorite for sausages, poultry dressings, meat pies, soups, salads, stews and with beans or peas.

Parsley is harder to germinate but presents no problem if it is first sprouted on wet blotters indoors. You can use it either curled or flat-leaved.

Then there are perennials that come-up-year-after-year but are just as easy to grow from seed: sage that everyone recognizes in poultry stuffing, chives, the mints that are favorites of everyone in spite of their spreading, horehound, true lavender that helps repel moths, rosemary, the thymes, tarragon, rue, hyssop, wormwood, tansy and southernwood.

Farm Credit Bank Board To Tour Southern Idaho Monday

The board of directors of the Farm Credit Banks of Spokane will tour southern Idaho during its regular monthly meeting on Monday. This is the first time such a tour has been conducted by the board.

The bus tour will start in Boise and travel to Caldwell, Nampa, Grand View, Hammett, Bliss, Buhl, Twin Falls and conclude at Burley. The purpose of the trip is to observe advances in agricultural development and technology of the southern Idaho area and acquaint the Board with the problems and financial needs of the farmers in the toured areas.

The Farm Credit Board of Spokane is the top governing body of the 12th Farm Credit District headquartered in Spokane. It is made up of The Federal Land Bank of Spokane and the 51 Federal Land Bank Associations. The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Spokane and 30 Production Credit Associations and the

Deadline Is July 1 For Blight Control Signup

JEROME — Magic Valley bean growers are reminded of the July 1 deadline for signing membership applications for the Bacterial-Blight Control Pooling Program.

W. G. (Bill) Priest, Jerome, secretary-treasurer of the South Central Idaho-Blight Control Association, said all growers taking part in the program should have their membership applications signed with their cooperating seed companies and warehouses before the July 1 deadline.

Mr. Priest said last year there were 20,000 acres of garden seed beans and 3,111 acres of commercial, kidney and cranberry types and varieties of beans in the program.

The cost of the program to grower members last year was 40 cents per acre for the garden seed varieties and 15 cents per acre for the other types.

Mr. Priest said there were 36 acres of beans sold last year with 'halo blight' in Magic Valley. All 36 acres were under the program.

"This is the beginning of the seventh year of the pooling program and it has been very effective in the elimination of bacterial blight in Magic Valley," Mr. Priest said.

The pooling program covers all varieties of beans grown in the valley.

Outlook For Water Excellent

BOISE — The overall irrigation water supply outlook for Bureau of Reclamation projects in the Pacific Northwest for the 1970 growing season appears to be the best in several years, states H. T. Nelson, Boise, regional reclamation director.

Most Bureau of Reclamation reservoirs in the Northwest have filled or are expected to be filled later this spring as the high elevation snow melts.

The Little Wood River Reservoir near Carey is full to capacity. Inflow to the reservoir has receded and the threat of serious flooding has passed. The water supply there is adequate for not only this season, but will provide a sizable storage holdover for next year.

Potatoes Are Pooled At Rupert

RUPERT — Contracting of potatoes into the Potato Pool of the Farm Bureau Marketing Association is nearing completion, reports Nyan Rydalen, commodity director.

The Marketing Pool has contracted with Rolland Jones, Inc., Rupert, to pack, ship and market the pool potatoes.

Frayne Shouse and Walt Mackay, both Minidoka County, and Tom Geary, Cassia County, were named to the Management Committee of the Pool by the state board from nominations made at a meeting in Rupert of association members. This management committee will make decisions concerning the harvesting, storage, handling and marketing of the pool potatoes.

Bill Brown, associate commodity director, stated, "a successful pool this year will provide framework for other marketing pools throughout the potato producing counties. We are fortunate to have the combination of a progressive membership and a dealer of the stature of Rolland Jones to form the nucleus of our first pool, and we will be watching this pool with interest."

Contest Winners Are Listed

BURLEY — Winners of the Cassia County Farm Bureau annual talent contest were announced at the conclusion of the contest held recently at Methodist Church education building.

Joy Woodall, Burley, was the winner in the under 17 years age group or junior division. Miss Woodall sang a song composed by her father for her mother while he was in Vietnam. Rick Larsen, who set the words to music was accompanist.

Alternates in Junior Division were the C. B. Webs of Oakley. The group includes: Chuck Ellison, Jim Burch, Raymond Severe, Doug Buckley and Harlo Clark. The combo plays guitars with Buckley and Severe as vocalist and Lyn Woodhouse was accompanist at piano.

Honorable mention in Junior division was Tom Clark, Rupert, who played a piano

Salmon Tract

HOLLISTER — Water will be turned out of the Salmon River Canal Co. system on June 23 for six days, states Morris Huffman, manager of the firm.

Farm delivery will be resumed on June 29, he said.

Currently there has been a total allotment of .8 acre foot per share and there are 70,200 acre feet of water in storage in the reservoir, Mr. Huffman said.

He adds, "It appears Salmon Tract farmers will have in store for them another good water year."

Donation Made By Grangers

PLIER — Grange members voted a donation of $10 for youth activities of the National Grange when they met for their June meeting in the Grange Hall.

Craig Dunlap, Grange master, asked for volunteers to assist in the county-side clean-up day Saturday. Mrs. Alfred Theener reminded members of the dinner for graduates of Grange families to be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the hall.

Clifford Thomas spoke on the White Clouds area and asked members for their opinions on whether it should be open for mining or kept for a scenic area.

Claude Oliver discussed the proposed revision of the state constitution and noted it is not yet certain whether people will be given a chance to vote on the revision this fall.

The 12 visitors from the Twin Falls Grange presented the traveling duck to the Filer Grange. An auction was held with proceeds to go toward state Grange to be held this fall in Boise.

Mrs. Joe Miller gave a humorous reading. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas extended an invitation to members to attend the open house in honor of their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at the United Methodist Church.

Senior division winners were Miriam Carey, playing a piano solo; and Mirian Boutler sang a solo.

Alternates in senior division were Charlene Haycock and Tressa Satchwell, playing drums and guitar and singing.

Research Shows Value Of Wheat As Feed Grain

BOISE — The value of wheat as a feed grain for cattle and sheep received a boost today when research results were released showing that efficient energy utilization from wheat required less expensive processing than other feed grains.

The research, supported by grants from the Idaho Wheat Commission and Northrup King Seed Company, was conducted by agriculture science consultant Dr. Kenneth Eng of Casa Grande, Ariz., and researchers from Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Tex.

"A ration ingredient's true price is its price after processing charges have been added," Dr. Eng said in his report to the Wheat Commission. Grinding or rolling grain costs 25 to 50 cents per ton, while methods like steam flaking or pressure processing cost up to four times that much."

Dr. Eng said sophisticated processing methods had been developed because they increase the energy utilization of feeds like milo, corn and barley. The new research findings, however, reveal that those expensive methods added nothing to the efficiency of wheat in digestion trials on test animals.

"Both universality and commercial research results have indicated that wheat is a satisfactory feed comparable to other feed grains," Dr. Eng noted. "Furthermore, commercial feedlots in many areas of the country are using increasing quantities of wheat."

Idaho Wheat Commission administrator Harold West said Dr. Eng's research project grew out of recently renewed interest in wheat as a feed grain due to lower wheat prices and higher prices for other feed grains.

West predicted even more attention to wheat would be paid by cattle and sheep feeders as a result of Dr. Eng's findings.

ONE OF THE STOPS during the Idaho Hereford Breeders Association annual tour this past week was the Art DeVisser Polled Hereford Ranch near Filer. Here Hereford breeders on

9 Local Hereford Ranches Toured

Nearly 100 Hereford breeders from all parts of Idaho toured several Magic Valley Hereford ranches earlier this week.

The occasion was the annual tour of the Idaho Hereford Breeders Association and nine local ranches were visited by the livestockmen. Both Polled and Horned Hereford ranches were visited.

In the Gooding area, the tour stopped at the Laurence Renner ranch and in the Jerome area, the Edward Eakin and Larry Lickley ranches were tour stops.

The tour stopped near Filer at the Art DeVisser Polled Hereford ranch. Tour members then proceeded to the Dave Chadwick ranch near Hollister; the Point Ranch, owned by Tom Colten, near Rogerson, and then over to the Charles Boss ranch, also near Hollister.

After leaving the Boss ranch, the tour visited the Bob Howard and Sons ranch near Murtaugh. The final stop was at the Excel Hereford Farm, owned and operated by Max Larson, near Burley.

At these various ranches, the owners explained his particular operation and showed several bulls, cows, heifers and steers they are raising.

Also on the tour was Willard Wolf, Northwest American Hereford Association representative; Wayne Naugle, Nampa, past president of the American Her Association, and Kenneth Naugle, Nampa, president, Idaho Hereford Association, as well as Herschel Boydston, Twin Falls, head of the agricultural department, College of Southern Idaho.

4-H Club Has Mother's Tea

Members of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club held their annual Mother's Tea recently at the home of Christine Britt, president of the club.

Mrs. Fred Britt, leader, outlined for the mothers sewing projects and the type of fabrics being used by the club members.

Feedlot Wastes Studied

OMAHA — A Nebraska feedlot has been studied with instruments to measure pollution problems and solutions.

The research project on the Howard Krambeck farm near Gretna aims to find out how much pollution of surface and ground water is caused by feedlot runoff, and how to control it.

Equipment installed on the site includes devices to record wind, temperature, humidity, precipitation and solar radiation. Instruments in nearby wells monitor ground water quality, and 10-30 foot soil cores are being subjected to chemical and microbiological analysis. Evaporation and runoff water quality are being sampled.

The concentration of cattle feeding in large feedlots has caused concern about potential pollution problems. In Nebraska, state water pollution control council will determine rules and regulations governing such installations by Dec. 31, 1972.

Data gathered from the research project will help settle the disputed question of how extensive feedlot pollution actually is.

The group voted to begin meetings at 8:30 p.m. for the summer months because of the longer daylight hours. The June 11 meeting will be at the Kruse home.

Quality, Cutability Object Of Pilot Beef Program

CHICAGO — A pilot project designed to provide commercial beef cow-calf operators with confidential reports on the quality and cutability of animals they have produced has been proposed for four midwestern states by the USDA.

The program, which involves ear tagging, record keeping, carcass evaluation, and reporting back to the producer, was discussed in Chicago at a special meeting called by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Participating in the meeting were representatives of USDA, the Illinois Department of Agriculture, four State Farm Bureaus and the affiliated marketing associations, and the American Agricultural Marketing Association, AFBF's marketing affiliate.

Called the "Beef Carcass Data Service", the proposed program would provide carcass data which could be used to help livestock operators analyze past performance in order to produce higher quality meat type cattle more economically.

According to W. E. Hamilton, director of the AFBF research division, AFBF and AAMA have been working for some time with USDA and the Illinois Department of Agriculture in the development of such a service.

Calves from selected beef cows would be ear tagged for positive identification and carcasses from animals carrying these special ear tags would be evaluated by USDA meat graders at the time of slaughter. Confidential reports on each carcass would then be provided to the person purchasing the ear tag.

Reports would cover quality, maturity, marbling, and specific yield data including weight of the carcass and the date of slaughter.

It is anticipated that producers would share in the cost of the pilot project by paying a base charge for ear tags plus a small charge to cover the cost of carcass evaluation and the production and distribution of reports.

"The proposed pilot operation would involve working with interested producers in placing about 10,000 ear tags on selected beef animals in Illinois, Iowa, Mich.; and Wisconsin, if State Farm Bureaus and affiliated marketing associations approve the project," Hamilton said.

The Illinois Agricultural Association has already entered the pilot program and is in the process of distributing tags.

Cattlemen Launch Plan On Consumer Education

SHERIDAN, Wyo. — Educating the American public about the beef cattle industry is the chief aim of the newly formed Industry Information Council of the American National Cattlemen's and CowBelle's Associations, said W.D. Farr, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association.

Farr told the Wyoming Stockgrowers Association at their annual convention, "It is pretty apparent that many of the problems currently facing cattlemen — resistance to beef prices, pressure on Congress for more imports, proposals to regulate the cattle industry — stem from a negative attitude toward our business."

"It also seems there has never been a nationwide, concerted effort to gain public understanding of the beef business and to develop a positive attitude toward our industry."

The cattle industry leader continued, "The cattlemen's Association and the CowBelle's recognize the urgent need to cover the nation with basic facts about the elements of our business, our increasing economic importance, and our importance as the provider of the keystone of the American diet — beef. Related organizations have done an excellent job of promoting beef, but the purpose of the Industry Information Council is to educate consumers about the basics of the beef business."

Farr said one of the first projects of the I.I.C. will be to test its speeches and public relations tactics on a pilot project basis in Pittsburgh, Pa. early next month. We will send a producer, a feeder, and a CowBelle to Steel City for a week long session crammed with speeches, informal meetings with civic leaders, press conferences, and several local radio and TV show interviews.

"This cattle industry public relations program we are launching can be a measurable success. But it will require the enthusiastic support, the time, money and effort of cattlemen and CowBelles. I think it is imperative we all make this investment in order to insure the profitable growth of the beef cattle business," summarized Farr.

The I.I.C. will be directed by a coordinating committee consisting of four cattlemen and four CowBelles.

Computer Planned In Cataloging

NEW YORK — A step toward the computerized cataloging of all United States plants will be taken in June in a joint effort by the New York Botanical Garden, the Smithsonian Institution and the Missouri Botanical Garden.

One result of the experimental program will be the instant retrieval for botanists of information that now requires laborious effort by taxonomists. It also will make the collections of plant specimens more valuable to non-scientists.

Instead of untold hours of research, the computer could provide an instant answer to questions such as "What kinds of native plants flower in May in the Hudson River Valley up to 200 feet in elevation between New York City and Albany?"

Information of this nature would be useful for selecting plant material that would thrive along highways in any particular part of the country.

Facts to be computerized will be taken from plants on file in the herbaria of the three institutions. A collection of plant specimens is called a herbarium and consists of preserved plants and plant parts which are classified and described as completely as possible. These specimens are prepared by taxonomists — botanists who specialize in the laws and principles of plant classification.

Plant descriptions customarily begin with the name of a plant since this is the primary tool of reference.

Computerized descriptions will open up many other avenues of investigation where a plant was collected, by whom and when, sponsoring institution (if any), bibliographical references and many other forms of cross reference.

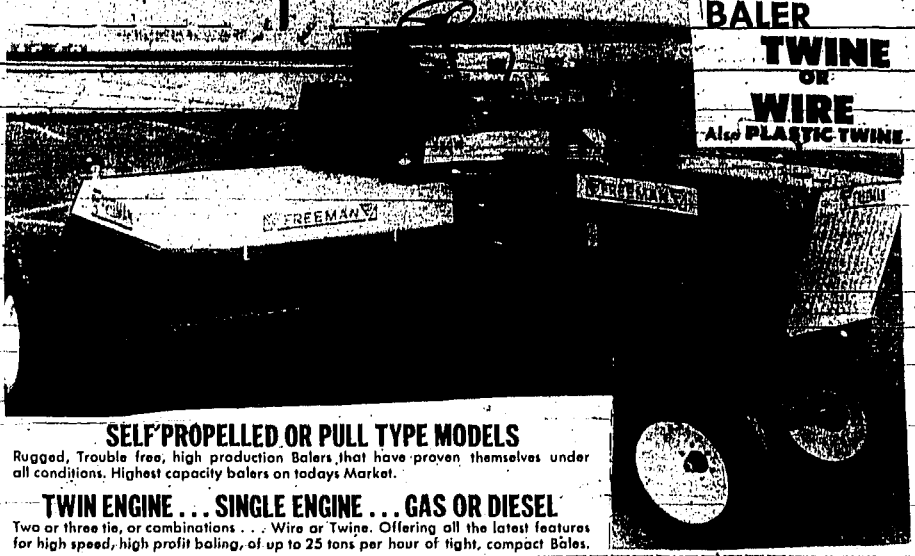

Initially, only material from the type collections in the herbaria will be fed into the central data bank at the Smithsonian Institution.

By GEORGE ABRAMSON

HOW TO GET A PLANT PATENT: Quite often our readers have a "different" plant and are eager to get it patented. How do you do it?

The Plant Patent Act of 1930 is a law designed to give an incentive to horticultural research comparable to that industrial inventors had in some form since the 15th century.

Today, a plant inventor has the exclusive right to reproduce his patented plant for a period of 17 years. Over 3000 plant patents have been granted to inventors of new and distinct varieties, many of them keen-eyed amateurs like yourself who have sighted valuable seedlings and mutations. Returns from some patented plants have brought the inventor $100,000, sometimes even more.

Any new plant can be patented if you can convince the patent office that it is new, different and distinct from anything now in existence. Plant Patent applications must be prepared with care, including a detailed description. Also, the inventor must also outline just how the new type was produced.

If you've got something different, my advice is to employ an attorney specializing in Patent Law to help in filing applications. Costs of getting a patent run from $500 to $1000 or more.

In the name of new patented varieties, it's always wise to consult the Register of New Fruit and Nut Varieties maintained by Olmo and Zaleski, at the University of California, at Davis. This avoids the duplication of names.

VEGETABLE - PLANT CARE: We're getting complaints from gardeners who are troubled with animals and bugs. Here are a few problems:

Tomato and pepper plants with tops snipped out. Due to birds sweeping down. Control by putting crates over plants.

Plants snipped off at base. If cut is on a slant it's rabbits; if cut is flush, it's work of cutworms. Paper collars around base of plants keeps them out. Use Milk cartons or cans.

Shot gun holes in leaves of radish, tomatoes, etc. This is work of flea beetle. Dust foliage with wood ashes, or use SevIn.

Leaves full of holes, chewed or rasped. Work of snails at night. Control: Place pans of stale beer near plants, and watch the snails flock to it. It's their last trip.

Yellow leaves can be due to fertilizer burn, poor drainage (too much water) or low night temperatures.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D.E. of Twin Falls: "Last year we had plenty of roses but never had time to make a rose jar (Potpourri). Please tell us some simple way to make a rose jar."

Rose Potpourri or rose jar, is made of dried rose petals stored in a jar with a tight lid. Rose stored will maintain their delightful fragrance for years.

Here's an ancient recipe passed along by the American Rose Society: First, pick the blooms when they are newly opened before they have lost their scent. Remove petals from newly opened roses and spread on cheesecloth, or paper. Leave dry for two weeks in a warm, dry place—away from the sun. Then mix with a fixative, such as orris root or gum benzoin to capture the volatile oils of blooms and prevent them from evaporating. The fixative in the powder form is available from the prescription department of most drug stores.

Use one quart of cured rose petals, 1/2 teaspoon each of crushed nutmeg, crushed cinnamon, crushed cloves, crushed allspice, 1 cup dried thyme, 1/4 cup powdered benzoin and 1 gram rose oil, if desired. Mix all ingredients well and store in an airtight container in a dark place for about two months. The mixture will be ready to use and can be transferred to decorative jars.

B.F. of Burley: "Both my mother and mother-in-law had Christmas cacti for many years, but seldom did they blossom. I read your column and gave the plants a night temperature of around 55 degrees, also 12 hours of uninterrupted darkness to set buds. We put our plants in a window and covered them for 12 hours. After a month of this they produced buds at the ends of nearly every branch."

NOTE: Like the Chrysanthemum and poinsettia, the Christmas cactus blooms when days are shortest. You shortened the days artificially and got blossoms. The plants should be shaded from full sunlight from May until September. In fall, to set buds, the plant must receive no artificial light from early fall, until the buds set.

Many gardeners put their plants under a bush all summer and do not bother to water the plants unless they get unusually dry. In fall the plant is brought indoors and kept in an unheated room and watered once a week. Buds start to appear within a month or 6 weeks. The secret is to keep it cool for a month in fall.

Of the most popular vegetables we eat, only corn and some kinds of beans are native Americans; garden peas are from Asia, cabbage was first used as food in China, the egg plant and cucumber are from India, spinach and muskmelons were first known in Persia, watermelon is an African plant, and asparagus is from the Mediterranean.

Patoran takes care with potatoes while it takes care of weeds.

- CIBA's Patoran 50 WP Herbicide stops a wide range of annual grasses and broadleaf weeds.
- Offers a high margin of safety for potatoes.
- Needs no incorporation.
- May be applied at planting or preemergence to potatoes at drag-off.

interest subsidies will be paid in the current fiscal year.

Agriculture is one of Canada's essential industries, with capital assets valued at better

FHA Has Booming Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Farmers Home Administration (FHA) reports its rural housing credit program is booming so rapidly it is seeking permission to lend an extra $50 million to low-income rural house hunters before June 30.

James V. Smith, head of the agriculture department Credit Agency, told newsmen the FHA had planned to make a record $800 million in rural housing loans in the current fiscal year compared with $500 million the previous year. It now wants to loan $850 million this year.

For the fiscal year beginning July 1, the FHA plans to make about 17,000 rural housing loans worth $1.435 billion.

About two-thirds of the loans are made in the South and Southwest, by the government. Loans are made to low-income families who cannot get other credit for decent housing in rural areas or towns with fewer than 5,500 persons.

Most borrowers are non-farmers, Smith said. About two-thirds of the loans in the next fiscal year will be made for non-farm purposes including housing, community water and sewer development and recreation.

Because of this shift in emphasis, Smith said, officials are considering a change in the agency's name to reflect its new status as a general rural community lending agency rather than a primarily farm-service operation.

FHA officials said new home starts under their programs during this fiscal year were up about 17.4 per cent from last year — a sharp contrast to the general slump in the building industry.

New home starts in the nation as a whole declined 15.3 per cent during the nine months ending in March.

The increase in rural loans, officials said, was due partly to such innovations as granting advance commitments, to builders and making loans to nonprofit organizations for developing sites for low-cost homes.

Smith said the average FHA-financed rural home is a modern, three-bedroom structure which sells for $12,000 to $13,000. The same house might cost twice as much if located in a city or suburb with high land costs, Smith said.

Officials said one black family moved into a new, brick-veneer dwelling in rural Clarendon County, S. C., recently after leaving a run-down shack for which it had been paying $32 a month in rent.

With the aid of a government interest subsidy, the family head, who earns $15 a week, is now buying his own home with monthly mortgage payments of $45.

Interest rates on the FHA rural mortgages are 8 1/2 per cent. But for 18 to 20 per cent of FHA borrowers, interest subsidies can cut actual interest payments to one per cent. About $3.7 million in government

Protect Beans with Cygon

...controls mites aphids, leafhoppers, leaf miners, lygus

Can be used up to and including day of harvest. Cygon® 267 Systemic Insecticide is more effective than other compounds because it kills by both contact and systemic action. It gives high initial kill, then continues as a systemic protector—working from within the plant to resist "weathering" that often shortens the effective life of other materials.

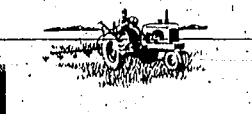

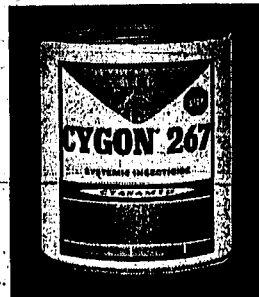

Cygon is economical, too. Because it has long-lasting activity and is used at low rates, a little goes a long way. Cygon is also a low-hazard material—and when used according to directions, there are no residue problems.

For further information, contact your local insecticide supplier. Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label.
