Bond Vote Rule Effects Idaho

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruling Tuesday which removed property qualifications for voting on general obligation bonds has a direct effect on Utah and Idaho.

Twelve other states, including Colorado, Montana, New Mexico and Texas in the West, will also need to adjust their local election laws to meet the requirements of the decision.

Utah Attorney General Vernon B. Romney said, "The ruling affects not only Utah states, but our constitutional provisions in this area."

He said the state legislature will undoubtedly want to study the ruling to bring voting provisions into line. "A lot of people who aren't paying property tax will have the opportunity of voting," Romney noted.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton left Tuesday for Japan and was expected back July 8. Last week, the governor suggested he would probably call a special session of the Legislature in August to deal with the bonding situation.

Powell Is Ousted

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adam Clayton Powell, the flamboyant Harlem congressman who is seeking a 14th term in the House, was upset by State Assemblyman Charles B. Rangel on Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Ousted from the House in 1967 on charges of using public money for unauthorized travel and salary expenses, the fiery Negro Democrat was defeated by 205 votes in the five-way race for his seat.

Powell offered no immediate concession statement and his political future remained uncertain.

Dressed in blue slacks and a pink shirt open at the collar with gold cufflinks, the mustachioed congressman appeared confident of victory as the returns trickled into his campaign headquarters.

Faced by four opponents whose votes he believed would divide the opposition, the 61-year-old Powell hardly bothered to campaign in his 18th Congressional District because of his expected victory.

ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG, seeking his first elective office, speaks to supporters early this morning after winning the Democratic nomination for governor of New York. With Goldberg is Basil Peterson who piled up the biggest statewide

Goldberg Wins In New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Arthur J. Goldberg, seeking his first elective office, won the New York State Democratic gubernatorial primary Tuesday and will try to top Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's bid for an unprecedented fourth term in November.

Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, who reportedly spent more than $1 million on television, radio and newspaper advertising in his campaign, won the four-way race for the Democratic nomination to oppose GOP Sen. Charles E. Goodell.

Harlem Congressman Adam Clayton Powell Jr., seeking his 14th term, was upset by Charles Rangel, a black member of the New York state Assembly.

Goldberg's close victory over upstate millionaire industrialist Howard J. Samuels, followed a lackluster campaign.

With more than 13,000 of the state's 13,735 districts counted, the vote was Goldberg 491,257, Samuels 412,635.

Samuels, who was undersecretary of commerce in the Johnson administration, refused to concede and was expected to ask for a recount.

Goldberg's chances appeared to be enhanced by the showing of state Senator Basil A. Paterson, the first Negro to run for lieutenant governor. Paterson handily beat Long Island supervisor Jerome Ambo, a political unknown, by a 2-1 margin.

Wyoming Suit Setup Changed

DENVER (UPI)—Chief Judge David Lewis of the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals has entered an order striking the names of three members of the Wyoming black 14 from a suit filed against the University of Wyoming, several of its officials and the state of Wyoming.

Lewis ordered the names of John Griffin, Ted Williams, and Don Meadows, originally listed as plaintiffs in the suit, stricken from the complaint.

An appeal from a decision by U.S. District Judge Ewing T. Kory granting the state's motion to dismiss the suit is pending in the court of appeals.

Williams, 22, senior tailback from Port Huernme, Calif.; Meadows, 21, a junior from Denver; and Griffin, a senior split end from San Fernando, Calif., last February enrolled in a course taught by head football coach Lloyd Eaton which eventually led to the reinstatement to the UW football team.

Later, the trio retained a Laramie attorney to bring an action in the appellate court to have their names removed from the suit.

New Peace Moves Rumored

BEIRUT (UPI)—Lebanese Foreign Ministry sources said today the United States has begun a new diplomatic peace initiative in the Middle East. There were similar reports from the Arab capitals and from Tel Aviv where Israeli officials expressed deep concern.

Lebanese newspaper reports said the plan included offering Israel "some" of the jets it has requested in return for a promise to withdraw from occupied Arab lands and to restore a cease-fire along the Suez Canal line.

Israel reports said the plan called for restoration of a cease-fire and reactivation of the Middle East peace efforts of Gunnar Jarring with a promise of Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories.

The Lebanese Foreign Ministry sources said the United States had submitted the proposal to Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Israel.

Fall

KITTERY, Maine (UPI)—Eleven men fell 95 feet to the ground today when a staging collapsed on a highway bridge under construction.

At least three men were killed and several were left dangling on the buckled scaffolding before being rescued by firemen.

The men were working on the bridge designed to carry Interstate 95 over the Piscataqua River.

A spokesman at Portsmouth Hospital said at least three men were dead on arrival. Four others were in critical condition.

Space Flight Not Simple

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soyuz 9 cosmonauts show a variety of ill effects from their record space flight of 18 days that raise some doubt about man's ability to withstand long periods of weightlessness, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

Among the effects noted in an unusually pessimistic report was the cosmonauts' inability to readjust to gravity after four days back on earth.

None of the cosmonauts' health problems appeared to be serious, but Tass quoted an unidentified member of the medical team examining them as saying the problem of returning to normal after a long space flight "is not so simple after all."

The report contrasted with the optimistic statements issued shortly after Col. Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevast'yanov returned to earth June 19. At that time, their flight was described as proof that man can live and work comfortably for long periods in space.

Their flight broke the space endurance record of two weeks.

set by Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. in Gemini 7 in 1968.

Since returning to earth, Nikolayev and Sevast'yanov have been undergoing a series of examinations in quarantine in the cosmonaut Star City compound near Moscow.

Tass said the cosmonauts had lost weight and muscle tone during their space flight and were somewhat unstable and having difficulty sleeping since their return to earth.

"In general, the cardiovascular (blood and heat) system is normal, but a certain instability is observed," the physician told Tass in an interview Tuesday. "This indicates that the process of readaptation of the organism from weightlessness to terrestrial conditions has not yet been completed."

A comment by Nikolayev indicated the doctors had

Filibuster Threat Shakes Up Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With the Senate tied up in six-week Cambodia debate during the day, a Southerner threatened for a while to tie it up nights too in a filibuster over school desegregation.

The threat came from freshman Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., and it was enough Tuesday night to cause the Senate to drop its late-hour consideration of a $4.5 billion aid to education bill.

Allen told Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield he would talk all night if necessary to prevent a vote on an attempt to remove from the bill House-passed provisions aimed at preserving freedom-of-choice and compulsory busing to achieve school desegregation.

Mansfield re-elected and allowed the Senate to adjourn. Allen promised not to stand in the way of a vote when the Senate turns tonight to the same issue.

The Senate started this week to set aside the Cambodia debate every day at 5 p.m. EDT in order to deal with other legislation which has jammed up during the long debate over restricted the cosmonauts' activities. Asked by a Tass reporter how they felt on earth, Nikolayev replied: "We are getting accustomed. But it is only the doctors who do not yet permit working in full."

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—L. Gordon Cooper, one of the three original astronauts still in the corps, has announced his resignation from the space program to become a Washington business executive.

When Cooper leaves the astronauts corps July 31, only Alan B. Shepard and chief astronaut Donald K. "Duke" Slayton, will remain from the original Mercury astronauts.

Cooper leaves the space corps without ever fulfilling his ultimate goal—landing on the moon—Space center sources said Cooper was never given a chance at an Apollo flight because of his outspoken remarks rather than his flying ability.

"He just stepped on the toes of too many NASA officials," one spokesman said.

Of the seven original astronauts, only Shepard now remains in active flight status.

Resigns

Richardson succeeded Finch today as secretary of health, education and welfare.

In his letter, Richardson said the amendments would "encourage some people to believe that there has been a change in basic law when there has not, and thus serve to confuse local authorities as to their constitutional responsibilities."

The education bill is only $300 million less than one vetoed by President Nixon last year as too costly. Scott warned the liberals that attempts to add more spending plans to the bill would invoke another veto. But the liberals were standing by with a variety of additional proposals.

Highway Center Is Blasted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—Vietnamese Communists surrounded Kompong Speu early today and began firing on the capital highway center 25 miles southwest of this capital, a Cambodian military spokesman said.

The move at Kompong Speu put Communist forces in offensive positions at three towns to the east and north of Phnom Penh, forming a type of pincer movement from the east and the northern and southern sides of the capital.

The spokesman said some Cambodian troops had been pulled back into Phnom Penh from the fighting at Prek Tameak, a town 15 miles northeast of the capital the Viet Cong attacked three days ago. And 25 miles to the east, a large force of North Vietnamese troops was reported massing for an anticipated attack on Prey Veng and a possible strike from there against Phnom Penh.

The spokesman said nine persons in Kompong Speu were wounded by Communist fire on the town today.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops fought Communist units in separate battles in the northern provinces. And in Laos, Communists overran two government positions near the town of Saravane and captured a navigation beacon used by American planes bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail, sources in Vientiane said.

Start Of Reactor Is Told

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Don Samuelsen announced Tuesday that the materials testing reactor at the National Reactor Station will be reactivated in a few weeks.

The decision to reactivate the reactor was the result of a request by the State of Idaho. Director of the Idaho Nuclear Energy Commission Gene P. Rutledge said the cost of generating neutrons in the eastern Idaho plant will be $4,000 per day for two days. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission was forced to deactivate the facility because of a federal fund shortage.

To Renew Pass

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House voted Monday to renew the Golden Eagle Pass with which Americans can use national outdoor recreations for a flat fee.

The House voted along with the Senate in voting to increase the annual fee from $7 to $10.

Assault Leads To Charges

Charges against a man who assaulted a Twin Falls Police officer were being prepared Wednesday morning after the man was brought under control and placed in custody at city jail.

Officer Frank Lara received facial and head wounds about 10 a.m. as he was assisting in pre-bucking procedures. Officers Lara and John Willard had arrested the man, carrying the identification of Robert B. Docken, about 35, a few minutes earlier at Red's Trading Post where the three store employees also were assaulted and a glass display case and several firearms were damaged.

The man ran from the store after the attack on the employees and was apprehended by officer Buck Wilson, who kept Docken under control until other officers arrived.

Docken was taken to the station by officers Lara and Willard, who was starting to take the handcuffs from the prisoner, when he suddenly turned on officer Lara. The officer reeled back and struck his head on a wooden casing of a doorway, where he lay unconscious for several minutes.

Officer Willard, with the assistance of other officers, finally subdued the prisoner with Mace.

New Head Sworn In For HEW

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Elliot L. Richardson was sworn in today as new secretary of the sprawling, 100,000-employee Department of Health, Education and Welfare—a job that caused frustration for many of the eight people who held it previously.

President Nixon and Richardson's immediate predecessor, Robert H. Finch, were on hand for a White House ceremony at which Richardson took the oath. Finch was shifted by Nixon to a White House counselor role.

Richardson, who has been No. 2 man at the State Department, has a reputation as a top administrator but faces a major challenge to efficiently run a department that is second in size in the government only to the Defense Department.

Finch drew criticism both inside and outside the department for some of his policies and methods.

Richardson, a Bostonian, will be 68 on July 30 and was lieutenant governor and the attorney general of Massachusetts before coming to Washington as undersecretary of state.

Sen. Jordan Reports On Land Law Review Study

BY SEN. LEN JORDAN
 WASHINGTON — The Public Land Law Review Commission released a landmark report Tuesday on its five-year study of the "several thousand laws dealing with the public lands, described in the title of the report as "One-Third of the Nation's Land."

This is the first comprehensive review of this vast body of law and regulations in more than a century of broadly-based public land management legislation and the Report and its accompanying studies represent a most valuable source of information on our public lands and their administration.

Now we will enter the second and, in my opinion, the most important phase of this effort to coordinate, simplify, and update our public land laws. This is the legislative phase, which will extend over the next decade, and perhaps beyond, as the Congress attempts to translate the recommendations of the Commission into law.

For Idahoans, the PLLRC report might well have been-entitled, "Two-thirds of Idaho's Land," because the State is 84 per cent federally owned. This fact alone indicates the great importance of public land law revision to the state. The federal acreage not only includes some of the most beautiful areas of the state — the typically Idaho natural scene which we Idahoans cherish — but also includes the bulk of the state's minerals, forage, and forest resources, on which some of the leading industries of the State depend for raw materials and sustenance.

One of the strongest common threads that runs throughout the report concerns the enhancement, or at least maintenance, of the environment on and adjacent to the public lands. The Public Land Law Review Commission calls upon the United States to use its licensing power to protect the environment, not only on the public lands but off the public lands. The exercise of this authority should, according to the commission, be subject to statutory guidelines, including restrictions or controls of the public lands to the first stage processing of any resource removed from the public lands. In other words, in the commission's opinion, the federal government should make it a condition of every sale or use that the beneficiary must adhere to anti-pollution control measures and that the United States should refuse to sell its products for use in a plant that violates pollution standards.

Of special interest to Idaho is the recommendation that the federal government make payments to the states and local governments in lieu of taxes. The amount of this payment is recommended to be between 60 per cent and 90 per cent of the amount of taxes that would be realized if the lands were in private ownership. Since nearly two-thirds of the area of the State of Idaho is federally owned, this payment in lieu of taxes could be a substantial item of support for state and local governments.

Another item of interest is the commission's recommendation that the Homestead Act and the Desert Land Act be repealed.

This does not mean that there will be no further sale of public lands for agricultural purposes. The lands that are classified as being best adapted for agriculture may be offered for sale after thorough consultation and approval of the states where the lands are. Lands to be sold will be auctioned to the highest bidder. This is in keeping with the philosophy of the commission report that all sales of public land resources should be at market value. No acreage limitations will be applied except that no single buyer should be permitted to buy more than a reasonable percentage of the lands offered for sale.

The commission recommended that grazing on public lands should be continued on policies that are flexible enough to attain maximum economic efficiency and use of the forage from the public land and to support regional economic growth. Grazing fees should adhere to the same fair market value concept, taking into consideration factors in each area of the lands involved. The commission recommends that an equitable allowance should be made to current permittees for permit values in establishing grazing fees.

Congress should continue to exclude some classes of public lands from future mineral development.

Existing federal systems for exploration, development, and production of mineral resources on the public lands should be modified.

Whether a prospector has done preliminary exploration work or not, he should, by giving written notice to the appropriate federal land management agency, obtain an exclusive right to explore a claim of sufficient size to permit the use of advanced methods of exploration. As a means of assuring exploration, reasonable rentals should be charged for such claims, but actual expenditures for exploration and development work should be credited against the rentals.

Upon receipt of the notice of location, a permit should be issued to the claimholder, including measures specifically authorized by statute necessary to maintain the quality of the environment, together with the type of rehabilitation that is required.

When the claimholder is satisfied that he has discovered a commercially mineable deposit, he should obtain firm development and production rights by entering into a contract with the United States to satisfy specified work or investment requirements over a reasonable period of time.

When a claimholder begins to produce and market minerals, he should have the right to obtain a patent only to the mineral deposit, along with the right to utilize surface for production. He should have the option of acquiring title or lease to surface upon payment of market value.

Patent fees should be increased and equitable royalties should be paid to the United States on all minerals produced and marketed whether before or after patent.

Competitive sale of exploration permits or leases should be held whenever competitive interest can reasonably be expected.

Much of the damage of the environment by irresponsible prospectors in the White Clouds area would not be permitted if the commission recommendations on mining were in force.

As one of the major public land states, Idaho should take a major role in any revision of the basic land laws. And I would hope that Idaho citizens — especially our young people — will actively seek to inform themselves on the issues and contribute to future Congressional decisions on what constitutes the highest and best use of these lands, and on the form of the administrative policies that should guide their management. The State of Idaho, too, should continue to assert an active interest, as it did, during the PLLRC study through the operations of its Commission on Federal Land Laws. Throughout the report is expressed the need for state and local participation in the administration of public lands.

The forward of the report clearly indicates that the recommendations in the 342 page report do not reflect the views of each of the 19-member commission. Rather the report represents a consensus of views, of each of us, in signing, retained the right to differ with the report on specific recommendations. I differed with my colleagues on a number of issues, but I greatly appreciate the reasonable approach and the sincere spirit of dedication and public interest exhibited by Chairman Aspinall and my colleagues on the commission. I also appreciated the active interest and the dedicated service of Bert Curtis of Orofino and Lloyd Haight of Boise and the other members of our Advisory Council, and of Gordon Trombley and the other representatives of the state governors.

Builders Find Mobile Home Parks Profitable

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With conventional housing in a prolonged slump, many of the nation's home builders are turning to the development of mobile home parks as a profitable sideline.

The National Association of Home Builders, the nation's largest housing trade association, said it has been bombarded by questions from its members about the techniques of mobile home park development.

Panel discussions on mobile homes have topped the attendance list at association conferences.

The Nixon administration predicts that about 475,000 mobile homes will be manufactured during the fiscal year beginning July 1. That compares with the 1.06 million conventionally built, unsubsidized housing starts which the government projects for the coming fiscal year.

The administration recently decided to count mobile homes in determining whether the nation is meeting its goal of reconstruction of 26 million new or rehabilitated homes in 10 years.

It is still too early to tell if conventional home builders will abandon the mobile home park business once regular housing picks up again. But association spokesmen predict most builders will continue their interest in mobile homes.

The association featured mobile home developments in the two most recent issues of its magazine, "Journal of Homebuilding."

One article said mobile home owners plan to move only about half as often as apartment renters. And when they do leave their mobile homes, most of them want to move into a new single-family house.

ISLAND HOPPERS
HONG KONG (UPI)—About 600,000 passengers cross Victoria Harbor between Hong Kong Island and the Kowloon

The magazine said the average mobile home owner paid about $7,000 for his home. It said a typical mobile home dweller has an annual income of about $7,500 but 18 per cent have incomes of over $10,000.

In another article, the association warned members: "If there are presently no mobile home courts in an area, zoning will definitely be the biggest hurdle you will have to overcome."

But it said mobile home parks can be good for a community.

"A park could be expected to produce about two school age children per acre," the association said. "With undedicated streets and private lighting, a mobile home park does not require the community services that a single family development does."

A NUMBER OF immigrants were massacred at this point near the Oakley City of Robbs in 1861. There were only two survivors from a large number of pioneers passing through on the trail westward. The victims were buried in a common grave in a large well the immigrants had dug in a futile search for water during the battle with hostile Indians. This will be one of the points visited Saturday on the Cassia County Centennial Tour. Members of the Twin Falls County Historical Society have been invited to participate in the tour. This old photo is by pioneer photographer Clarence Blisboe.

Pollution Expense

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Budget Director Robert P. Mayo estimated Tuesday that the government, industry and ultimately the public would have to pay more than $100 billion in the next five years to clean up the nation's air, water and garbage pollution.

FOR CHILDREN who leave their clothes lying around, this graffe could be an attractive, if somewhat expensive ($78) solution.

THE LONGVIEW FIBRE Co. plant in Twin Falls has begun operation, but equipment in the plant still is being "bugged." The large corrugator in this picture is one of the principal pieces of machinery in the huge box-manufacturing plant, and still is not operating "up to par," according to a company spokesman. Most of the firm's local employees are receiving on-the-job training and this factor, plus ironing out of equipment problems, puts capacity production more than a month away. There will be about 40 employees at the plant. The local plant is producing boxes from shipped-in, already-corrugated fiberboard and will be shipping them to Utah to a turkey ranch. The local plant will furnish containers for Southern Idaho and Utah. The plant and equipment in Twin Falls cost about $3 million.

Telethon Suggested As "Get Acquainted" Plan

By DICK WEST — WASHINGTON (UPI) — In early spring, when the White House was considering ways to improve communications with the youth of America, a Republican governor suggested that President Nixon engage in a telethon with college students. I hope everyone knows what a telethon is because they are difficult to explain in print. You almost have to see one to believe it. However, the basic idea is that college students would call in questions about matters that were troubling them and the President would answer over television. At first, the White House seemed receptive to the sugges-

CSI Trio Is At QSU Session

Three men from the College of Southern Idaho are attending a special four-week training session at Oregon State University, Corvallis. They are among 20 teams from five states who are participating in two sessions designed to improve recruitment and education of minority groups, and seek ways to involve students in the total development of junior colleges. Those from CSI who are attending are Jerry Meyerhoeffer, director of admissions and records; Jack Sims, counselor, and Thomas Duncan, English-Spanish instructor.

Whale Of A Jam

WOODFORD, Essex (UPI) — Drivers home late Monday had a fishy excuse — the traffic jam was caused by a 60-foot whale. The whale, with a refrigerator unit inside to help keep it fresh, was being towed around the country to the back of a truck to emphasize the world wildlife fund's effort to save rare animals from extinction and the truck broke down, blocking traffic.

'U.S. Official' Disagrees With Doom Forecast

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — A Department of the Interior official said today he does not agree with the persons who say that man will drive himself to extinction within the next four decades.

Leslie L. Glasgow, assistant Interior Secretary for fish, wildlife and marine resources, told the outdoor Writers of America Convention here, "I don't agree with the crowd which is so busy forecasting that we will have driven ourselves to extinction in another 30-40 years."

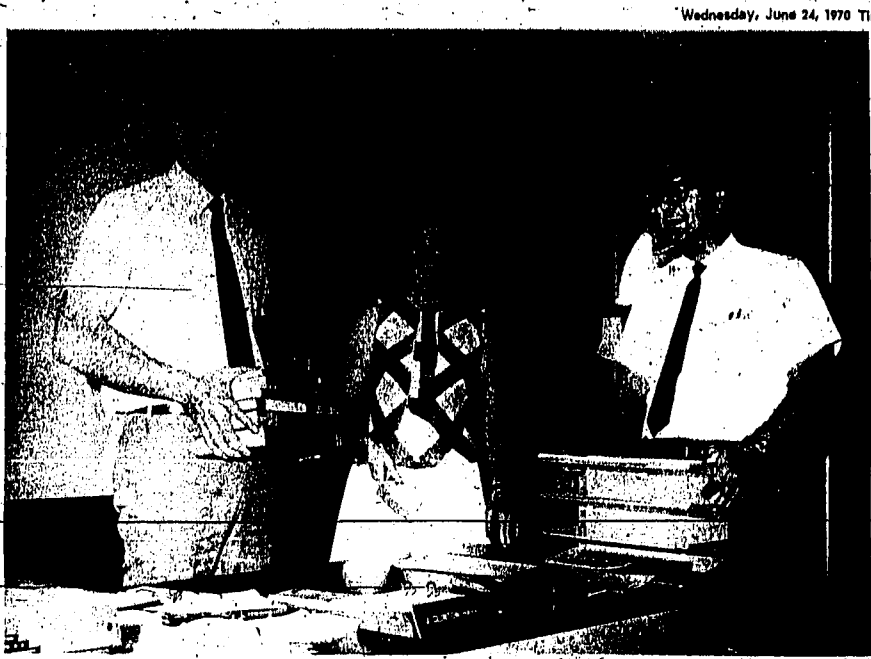

"I sometimes wonder," he said, "if they are aware how they contribute to the solid waste disposal problem by cranking out so many predictions of doom."

Glasgow said, "we have permitted our technology to reach a runaway point, but since we built it we can repair it."

BROKEN GLASS AT the Twin Falls Child Development Center has been replaced and the facility is now in use. Chuck Woodland of Snake River Glass is shown here installing one of the tempered glass panes. The glass is unbreakable under normal use and if a child or someone bumps against the heavy duty glass, it will not break. Several weeks ago, however, vandals shot all installed windows from the facility, shattering big and small windows and causing an estimated $4,000 damage. Replacing the windows was an expensive and difficult task because each small piece still clinging to the frame had to be chipped out, swept up and trucked away. Workmen had several pickup truckloads of broken glass to haul to the dump by the time the job was completed.

audiologist, and Donna Jacobs, a case aide. The move to the larger, more modern quarters from the old hospital building on Addison Avenue was completed Monday with the installation of new glass throughout the building.

$250,000 Sought In Crash Suit

A legal action seeking more than $250,000 in damages was filed in Fifth District Court Tuesday by Orvil I. Fairchild, Hene Fairchild, Arlene Fairchild, and Orvil Dean Fairchild, the last two named being minors.

Defendants in the traffic crash suit are Paul Chesley, driver of the vehicle that allegedly caused the accident, and C. B. Eaton & Sons, Inc., and James Eaton, owners of the vehicle. Mr Chesley was driving.

Medical damages in the amount of $3,595.20, lost income in the amount of $3,000, auto damage in the amount of $100, and personal injury damages in the amount of $245,000 are being sought by the plaintiffs.

According to the suit, on March 20, 1970, the plaintiffs were injured in an accident which occurred on U. S. Highway 30, approximately two and one-half miles south of Hagerman. The plaintiff alleges that his vehicle struck a welding trailer which had come loose from a vehicle being driven by the defendant, Mr. Chesley, and then had been left in the traveled portion of the highway.

Orvil I. Fairchild sustained five broken ribs and a punc-tured lung. Hene Fairchild suffered hand injuries, a broken toe, severe facial and head lacerations and a contused and lacerated knee. Orvil Dean Fairchild suffered two compound fractured legs, and Arlene Fairchild received fractures in both legs, three broken ribs, a broken clavicle, and a severe laceration of the neck which damaged her jugular vein and cut the nerves which supply her left arm and hand, according to the suit.

The geological term batholith means a rock form at great depth.

Smuggling Coffee Is Big Business In Italy

ROME (UPI)—It is made to Italian tastes and drunk by Italians, but every third cup of coffee in Italy is "tourist" coffee.

The name is a way of saying the coffee beans were well traveled on routes that did not include a stop at customs.

Italy legally imports 60 billion lire ($6 million) worth of coffee a year. Officials estimate coffee worth another 30 billion lire ($48 million) at the official rate—enters the country illegally through the Swiss Alps or aboard Maltese or North African boats which land at Sicily, Sardinia and the toe of the Italian boot.

The temptation is great when coffee is taxed at 587.5 lire (49 cents) a kilo in Italy, while the rate is one-eighth that amount in Switzerland.

One truckload of coffee that makes it across the Swiss frontier will not its handlers 15 million lire ($24,000). One in Italy, the contraband coffee is subject to no checks and can be roasted, packaged and sold without detection.

A large share of the smuggled coffee reaches Italy the gravity-flow way. Smugglers in Switzerland drag huge sacks of coffee to remote border points and roll the sacks down the mountainside into Italy, where partners pick it up and truck it away.

Smalltime smugglers import coffee in the linings of their coats and in hidden compartments of their suitcases.

The first public coffee house in Italy was opened in Venice in 1600. By the 19th century coffee was sold in the streets throughout Italy by walking vendors. Don Michele Pizzicato, a Neapolitan who ran a coffee house patronized by the local aristocracy shortly before the turn of the century, is believed to have opened the first stand-up coffee bar.

Flight Flares Over Blood Label Issue

By MIKEL MILLER
BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—"I don't want no nigger blood in my veins and I refuse to take it," the legislator declared on the floor of the Louisiana House of Representatives.

"And I tell you something else—I would see my family die and go to eternity before I would see them have a drop of nigger blood in them."

That brought a sharp reply from Davis.

"My grandfather fought in the Civil War, as many others here, your grandfathers did, for what we thought was freedom of choice," he said. "Never would I believe that I would see a white man stand up here and say what Mr. Booker did."

Here Is What It's All About

Backers of the bill argued it was needed to comply with regulations of the U.S. Health Education and Welfare Department. Otherwise, they said, the state could lose up to $50 million a year in Medicaid and Medicare funds.

By MIKE FEINSILBER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Hello, Mr. Jones, this is the International Corp. calling. I'm Mr. Savage, the director of affidavits here and I have something very important to discuss with you. Get a piece of paper and a pencil and I'll explain what this is all about."

Louisiana's only Negro legislator and the sponsor of the bill said today he was surprised at the opposition and anger created by the bill.

That is the start of a bill collection agency. Its purpose is to convince debtors with overdue accounts that they face trouble if they don't pay up.

The Louisiana House defeated the move by Rep. Ernest Morial of New Orleans Tuesday.

Charles H. Baron, who works for Community Legal Services, Inc., an antipoverty agency in Philadelphia, showed it Tuesday to the National Consumer Finance Commission.

"I didn't think it was going to stir up that much opposition or stir up that kind of vehemence," Morial said. "I think it's a sad affair for the state of Louisiana. His comment will probably be carried all over the nation."

The commission was created by Congress to undertake a six-month study on how to revitalize credit laws which, witnesses contend, now sanction harassment, humiliation, garnishment and other tactics designed to frighten debtors.

Some opponents told the House the sole issue was that much blood from Negroes contains sickle-cell anemia, a medical condition.

Baron said he has filed a court suit to block "future use of tactics designed for the purpose of producing so much annoyance that the alleged debtor will pay anything just to put an end to it."

Rep. Edward Booker of New Orleans took issue with the statements by opponent of the bill that blood from Negroes is medically different. Booker said the government makes no distinction between blood of blacks and whites on the battlefield. He appealed to the House to pass the bill as a way of showing black soldiers Louisiana appreciates their sacrifices.

One such tactic, he said, is "calling the place of the debtor's employment and leaving a message that the debtor's child has been hit by a car."

Louisiana appreciates their sacrifices.

"Yesterday, Mr. Jones, the Ace Motor Co. came into these public offices and swore out an affidavit against you in the amount of $156.83. This affidavit charges you with attempt to evade Ace Motors and directly refusing to pay this lawful obligation for $156.83."

"Let me tell you one thing, ladies and gentlemen, and I'm sure you realize it: Blood is red. Blood is precious. Their blood is just as red, just as American and just as precious as any blood there is," Booker said.

"This means that you will be served with these papers and a summons and that you will be sold out at public sale after judgement. But I am calling you first as a courtesy, to let you know that the only way this can be avoided is if the $156.83 is in my office and on my desk no later than 5 p.m. tomorrow."

Booker said.

It will be Mrs. Nixon's first solo trip outside the United States as First Lady.

Pat Nixon Will Fly To Peru

WASHINGTON (UPI)—First Lady Pat Nixon will fly to Peru Sunday to personally deliver a plane load of supplies for earthquake victims.

At the request of the President, Mrs. Nixon will deliver relief funds, clothing and equipment gathered from U.S. volunteers for Peruvians in devastated coastal areas.

It will be Mrs. Nixon's first solo trip outside the United States as First Lady.

A resident of Morningside Drive reported to police early Wednesday that a fire bomb had been placed on her front step.

Mrs. Nixon will fly from California to Lima on a three-day round trip that will include a helicopter inspection of the disaster area resulting from the May 31 earthquake which killed more than 50,000 persons and made homeless another 300,000 to 500,000.

Officers said subjects apparently were going through the neighborhood, placing wads of paper on doorsteps and lighting them with fire crackers.

VICE-PRESIDENT Spiro Agnew takes time out to speak with a small gallery that gathered around the Denver, Country Club No. 1 tee. # Agnew Says Repeal Of Tonkin Rule Not Vital DENVER (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday the Gulf of Tonkin resolution was not "of any great significance" and its repeal would not affect President Nixon's handling of the war in Indochina.

Agnew went to work for the Colorado Republican party today and even though he would not predict the outcome of the November elections he said the voters know "where this country is at and where it is going."

Agnew made a brief stop in Hot Springs, Ark., on his way to Denver and in a speech to the National Sheriff's Association on alcohol "has won the approval of peoples and government" and that makes it different from marijuana. He asked for swift passage of legislation to end the nation's "collective national trip" on legal or illegal drugs ranging from diet pills to heroin.

An alibi the vice president said no trouble was expected from 200 antiwar protesters who planned to demonstrate tonight, while Agnew addresses a $120-a-plate dinner at Curran Exhibition Hall.

"It's difficult to assess the fall elections," Agnew said upon arriving in Colorado. "This is the first time a president has tried to bring about peace and prosperity concurrently. But I'm sure the people will make a fair analysis of where this country is at and where it is going."

He said the surprise move by re-administration forces led by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., to repeal the Tonkin Gulf Resolution would not affect the President's powers.

"I have never (sic) the resolution was of any great significance," Agnew said. "The powers of the President are clearly defined and attempts to usurp these powers by Senate doves can't help but have a harmful effect on our prestige everywhere."

Agnew and Colorado Gov. John A. Love drove from the Buckeye Naval Air Station to the Brown Palace Hotel where they were greeted by 30 policemen and two hissing teenagers. Agnew then went to the Post Denver Country Club, changed into a blue outfit and shot a round of golf.

Indiana Marine Found Innocent Of Charge He Killed 16 Vietnamese

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—A one-man military court tonight found a young Indiana Marine innocent of all charges in connection with the alleged massacre of 16 Vietnamese women and children by a Leatherneck patrol four months ago.

"Thank God!" cried the defendant Pfc. Thomas R. Boyd, 20, of Evansville, when the verdict was announced by military Judge L. Col. Paul St. Amour of Bedford, Mass.

The Marine, weeping, embraced his civilian attorney, Howard P. Trockman, 36, also of Evansville.

Boyd had faced a possible life sentence on the charges of unpremeditated murder.

Earlier today he tearfully denied that he killed anyone and cried, "I was taught 'Thou shalt not kill.' It is never right to shoot at anybody."

Military authorities charged that the Leathernecks instead killed five women and 11 children in a four-hut hamlet in Son Thung village, 27 miles south of Da Nang and 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

Trockman had built an emotional defense of the defendant, depicting him as a very religious person and the product of a broken home whose mother lives in poverty.

WHOEVER PARKED THE car in the center of this photo Monday night stopped just soon enough. Later that night, gusts of wind accompanying a thunderstorm ripped through the city, wrenching this big limb off a tree on Eighth Avenue North and dropping it just in front of the parked vehicle. City streets were generally littered with small and large tree branches after the storm and several large trees were toppled or split down the center. No real damage was caused by the storm, however, except in the Shoshone area where 60 acres of rangeland were burned in a lightning-caused fire.

Poland Is "Liberal" Red Nation

WARSAW (UPI) — Poles think twice about buying a cup of coffee these days, but not about speaking their minds.

While prices of coffee, vodka and other basic commodities have risen sharply in recent months, many Poles are consoled by the thought that Poland is once again probably the most liberal country in the Soviet bloc.

The political turmoil of 1968 is far in the past.

Students who were jailed during campus riots have been freed. Writers who fell from favor are publishing their work again.

Stability has returned to the Polish Communist party, Polish journalists say, after the unsuccessful challenge to the leadership of First Secretary Wladyslaw Gornulka two years ago.

A number of well-informed Poles and Western diplomats expect the 65-year-old party boss to step down in two years at the next party congress, if he can claim to have solved key problems in relations with West Germany and in the Polish economy.

With political tensions considerably eased since the invasion of Poland and the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968, most Poles are more concerned nowadays with improving their private and national economic situations.

Poles are painfully aware of Cracked timber stringers. These stringers are large beams running parallel under the bridge, and are repaired with plywood and bolts.

They hope that a new incentive system for the workers, giving them more pay for better work, and a new, partly decentralized planning system, will right some of the wrongs.

Polish newspapers, and party leaders, too, have been criticizing inefficient production and other failings of the economy.

"We have plenty to complain about!" one Polish journalist remarked in private. "But at least we can complain openly."

The same is not true in most of the Soviet bloc countries.

Poles complain that they wait long for a passport to travel to the West. East Germans cannot travel to the West.

DISPLAYING TWO PAINTINGS by Mrs. Helen Auferle of Idaho Falls, are for the Arts. The paintings now hang in Congressman Orval Hansen, left, and Nancy Congressman Hansen's office in Washington.

Support Given To Bill To Extend Life Of National Arts Foundation

WASHINGTON (Special) — Nancy Hanks, chairman of the National Endowment For the Arts, met last week with Congressman Orval Hansen, who is a sponsor of H. R. 15196, a bill to extend the life of the National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities.

Miss Hanks, who was enlisting support for the legislation, expressed excitement about the future of the arts in the United States and Idaho and told Rep. Hansen that President Nixon views the arts as part and parcel of the environment of our nation, that "we are not talking solely of clean air, safe streets and clean water. We are also talking of human understanding, human satisfaction, and the intangible but essential qualities of grace, beauty and spiritual fulfillment."

Hansen is a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor, which has held hearings on the legislation.

Two paintings displayed by Hansen and Miss Hanks are the work of Mrs. Helen Auferle of Idaho Falls who has been recognized as one of the seven most outstanding high school art teachers in the country by the National Art Gallery Commission.

The paintings now hang in Congressman Hansen's Washington office after being on artist loan to the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the Nation's capital.

Julie Andrews At Her Best In "Darling Lili"

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Darling Lili" is a festival motion picture with music, dancing, World-War I aerial combat, romance, comedy, a chase and surprisingly beautiful photography.

Most of all it is Julie Andrews at her best.

After her disastrous failure in "Star!" Julie plays back to her roles in "Mary Poppins," "The Sound of Music" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie."

She is captivating as a not-to-serious spy for Kaiser Bill.

Julie sings, laughs, weeps, makes love, and gives full scope to all her talents.

The English-born beauty has regained her place as America's movie sweetheart. She acts as if she is having the time of her life. It's infectious.

Doubtless the fact that her husband, Blake Edwards, directed the film, provided an added dimension to the array of Julie's talent.

There are no nude scenes. Clinical sex exposition has been by-passed. Nor is anyone freaked out on pot, acid or speed.

Audiences who dug "Easy Rider" won't find "Darling Lili" to their liking. But the millions of other movie-goers who don't go to theaters to see tracts against the establishment will enjoy this frothy, zesty, sentimental fight to the past.

From the beginning, the film's message is "relax and enjoy yourself."

Hollywood's top musical talents pooled their expertise with Henry Mancini writing the music and Johnny Mercer the lyrics. Hermes Pan staged the musical numbers.

It's a delight to hear Julie sing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "Madelaine from Armentiers."

Director Edwards has masterfully provided some of the most stunning aerial photography ever lensed. Many of the old-er-er-in-the-picture were built specifically for the film.

With Rock Hudson as a dashing airman and Jeremy Kemp as a spy master,

"Darling Lili" runs along with humor, gaiety and a romantic story that doesn't pretend to tell it as it is.

Easy Menu Makes Picnics Fun-Enjoyable

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—A picnic is no picnic (an easy task or a pleasant experience) if you have to spend so much time and effort preparing it that you're too tired to enjoy it. That's one good excuse to avoid sandwich-making in quantity. And any picnic that can be prepared a day ahead is easier on the cook. One of the easiest menus also is among the fanciest—roasted chicken, a non-wild salad, buttered French or Italian bread, fresh fruit, cheese and wine — chilled champagne, budget permitting. For large parties, just buy more chickens and increase amounts of other foods accordingly. One or more 2½ to 3-pound roaster-broilers will cook in 1 to 1½ hours in a 400-degree oven. Season them to taste, inside and out; place them on their sides on a rack, with a couple of inches space between each bird, in a shallow pan. Put the pan in the preheated oven and resist the impulse to peek. After 30 or 40 minutes, turn birds to other side and continue roasting until the leg joints move easily and juice runs clear instead of pink. If the breast isn't brown enough, turn birds' breast side up for the last 10 minutes. No basting and no added fat are needed. While the chickens roast, make the salad so it can be refrigerated overnight for flavors to mellow. Almost any cooked or crisp raw food can be used in a wilt-proof salad—alone or in combinations. Potatoes, macaroni, rice, sweet corn—kernels scraped from the cob, cooked snap beans or peas, frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and well-drained, sliced, cooked asparagus, finely diced or chopped raw carrots, bell peppers and celery, canned, drained beans of the dried variety—red or white kidney beans, chick peas, limas. Cherry tomatoes with seasoned salt for dipping make a pretty, flavorful relish. So do tomato slices or wedges, dressed with chopped fresh or dried basil and a little oil and vinegar. Pickles, olives and roll-ups taste just as good with roast chicken as they do with sandwich meats, hot dogs, and hamburgers. Cooked ingredients for salads always should be thoroughly drained, then tossed while still warm with an oil and vinegar dressing well-seasoned with spices, herbs and dehydrated seasoning vegetables such as onions, bell peppers, chives and shallots. Use just enough dressing to coat the salad—don't drown them. And stir the salad now and then while it's refrigerated. Herbs and spices that go especially well with salads include tarragon, marjoram, basil, celery seed or salt, chervil, curry powder, dill seed or dill weed, mint, oregano, rosemary, savory, toasted sesame seeds and red, white or black pepper. Or you can use a prepared salad mix or bottled dressing.

Miss Andress, Jerry Dodds
Exchange Nuptial Promise

Joellen Andress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Andress, Las Vegas, Nev., was married to Jerry K. Dodds, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Dodds, Kimberly, in rites June 4 at Boone Presbyterian Church, Caldwell.

The couple will reside in Seattle, Wash., where the bridegroom is employed by Safeco Insurance Co.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of the College of Idaho and the bridegroom was graduated from the College of Idaho in 1969.

Beauty Hint

Give your lashes as much emphasis as possible by encircling each eyelash with mascara. According to makeup authority Max Factor, you'll see the big difference it makes in your total fashion look instantly.

Whether you use the popular Brush Tip Mascara Wand or the equally fashionable Lash-Full Textured Mascara Wand, place the sides of the applicator on top of your upper lashes as close as possible to the root area.

Then, move it through the lash length with a zig-zag motion. Next, place it underneath the lashes and repeat the zig-zag action. Also, follow the same procedure on the lower lashes, top side only, as no one ever sees the under side.

Women with fair complexions are likely to have eyelashes that are quite pale. Since it is difficult to apply mascara all the way to the base or root area, such eyelashes sometimes look as though they are "floating" just a fraction of an inch from the eyelid. This condition can be corrected by using an eye-liner brush to add color to the difficult-to-reach root area of the lashes before mascara is applied.

PICNIC SET

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Edgar Stubbs was hostess to the North End Club for her daughter, Mrs. Robert Bottoma, a member now residing in Idaho Falls. Another daughter, Mrs. Boyd King, was a visitor. Mrs. Bill Brown resolved the club prize and Mrs. Edward Schieler a Pollyanna remembrance. A picnic at the city park is planned for the July 2 meeting.

Slim And Trim
TOPS Meets

HANSEN — An old adage, "Drop by Drop Wears Away the Stone," was given as the opening thought at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting by the leader, Mrs. James Wright, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Mrs. Ralph Simmons was best loser for the week and received a gift from the table to keep if her loss is consistent for the next three weeks.

Mrs. Paul Bowman was the best loser for the week at the previous weigh-in. She also received a gift and the bouquet to keep on the same terms.

Mrs. V. L. Wilson reached her KOPS-in waiting goal at the evening weigh-in.

Mrs. Frieda Nickolson, Stanley, was a visitor with her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Schutte.

Mrs. Bob Nixon was hostess and program chairman. She had each member show and give some information concerning a small antique or keepsake which each brought. She then demonstrated making ties which can be buttoned to the front of blouses, changing the appearance or dressing them up. She also demonstrated using a large square scarf as a blouselet for suits.

A report was given on the low-calorie luncheon and entertainment which the Slim and Trim TOPS Club gave for the TOPS Measure-Ups, Twin Falls, at the Sunnyview Courts Recreation Center. The TOPS Measure-Ups were winners in a recent contest between the two clubs.

Loisann and Charise Glenn, daughters of Mrs. Lois Glenn, danced, accompanied by a record, BARBARA OLSON and JOAnn Cutler, Ephraim, Utah, niece of Mrs. Lewis Martin, sang several numbers.

Bushel Basket Full Of Litter Not Hard To Find

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chances are your home has more than a bushel basket full of litter around it. Right now. Shovelled everything. Other wise, you may be amazed at the quantity of trashy debris tucked here and there. Couldn't be? Perhaps not, if you've just swept, raked, and shoveled everything. Other wise, you may be amazed at the quantity of trashy debris tucked here and there. Couldn't be? Perhaps not, if you've just swept, raked, and organization, suggests that homeowners take a "litter inventory" at least twice a year, followed, of course, by an "litter action." A spruced-up home, says KAB, not only gives personal pleasure and satisfaction, but actually increases property value. It also encourages less diligent neighbors to keep their own land as litter free as yours, thus enhancing the entire neighborhood's appearance.

DEAR ABBY: There is one thing that has irked me for 13 years. My son's wife makes a point of seating HER father at the head of the table whenever she has a dinner party. I have sworn to myself that the next time she does this I would get up and leave, but I never do. I am afraid one of these times I will burst.

This son of mine is no slouch. He's a big, handsome guy. Former football player, a good husband, and has a good job. He is also a gentleman. Perhaps it would be best if I just refused future invitations to dinner. Am I a fool?

IRKED NO END

DEAR IRKED: I wouldn't call you a "fool"—but I do think you are needlessly exercised over a trivial incident. Rather than indicating a lack of respect for her husband (if that's what you read into your daughter-in-law's seating arrangement) perhaps she is attempting to show "special respect" to her father. The two are not necessarily "competing." In any case, it's her dinner table, and if her husband feels put down, let HIM speak up.

DEAR ABBY: When a woman takes a married man away from his wife and family, do you think that woman can ever be happy with that man? SAN CARLOS

DEAR SAN: Sometimes, she's like the woman who buys a secondhand washing machine. She doesn't care where it came from—as long as it works.

DEAR ABBY: I think you are wrong! I taught my children to answer the telephone with, "WHO IS THIS?" And if the party on the other end doesn't identify himself, I tell my children to hang up.

This telephone is installed for MY convenience, and I see no reason why people should object to identifying themselves. They wouldn't think of calling a business office and asking to talk to the boss without identifying themselves first! STATEN ISLAND

DEAR STATEN: Listen carefully, please. I, too, believe all telephone callers should identify themselves. We disagree only on what the child is taught to say when he answers the telephone. In my opinion, "WHO IS THIS?" is rude.

A simple "HELLO" is proper, after which the caller is given a chance to identify himself, and ask, "May I speak to your mother?" If the caller does not identify himself, the child should then ask, "Who is calling, PLEASE?" This should offend no one.

But a child who answers the phone with, "WHO IS THIS?" offends many.

DEAR ABBY: I applaud your stand on "drop in" callers. Keep it up. I don't even go to my door anymore. When they phone later to say they "heard" someone inside, I say, sweetly, "O, if you had called beforehand I would have gone to my door."

I resent their taking-away our option to see them or not as WE choose. But maybe that's their idea. MONTEREY

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Drama Performances Part Of July 4 Celebration At Ranch

At the Robinson Bar Guest ranch, the Fourth of July entertainment will feature special performances by the Subal Players of Boise State College. In the afternoon of the Fourth, the children will have a puppet show while their parents enjoy other ranch activities. In the evenings of July 3 and 4, the company will present, in outdoor performances, selections from the following repertoire: "Poison," "Passion," and "Petrifaction," a melodrama by George Bernard Shaw; "Peace," an ancient Greek comedy by Aristophanes; "The Dentist," commedia dell'arte; and a reading from Mark Twain. Through the weekend informal dancing and special entertainment will be provided by a dance troupe directed by Virginia Krempetz. The 22 members of the Subal Players Company, under the leadership of Ron Krempetz, Boise State College Drama instructor, are touring through central and northern Idaho, and are financed by a grant they received through the Idaho Arts and Humanities Commission. The actors and dancers live in tents as they travel, and eat from their own camp supplies. At the Robinson Bar Ranch, their address will be the meadow near the main lodge. They will also set up their portable stage in this area. Other ranch features for the weekend include swimming, hiking, riding, and homemade ice cream for dinner. The performances at the Robinson Bar will be presented free of charge. Those who wish to stay the weekend or arrange to dine at the ranch before the performances may make reservations by contacting Patricia Young, Robinson Bar Ranch, Clayton.

Escaped Prisoner Held Here

A Twin Falls man who escaped late Monday from the Idaho State Penitentiary at Boise was apprehended early today in Twin Falls. Paul J. Bjornson, 24, who was serving a term for first degree burglary, walked away from the prison complex about 9 p. m. Monday. At 2:15 a. m. Wednesday he was taken into custody by Twin Falls City Police. He was located at a residence of a friend, officers said. Authorities from the state prison will transport Bjornson back to Boise. Meanwhile, he is in custody at the Twin Falls City jail.

Schedule Given For T.F. Aides

On July 1, county commissioners will begin a Monday through Friday work schedule, Commissioner Heber Loughmiller, said Tuesday. The Legislature has passed a law requiring any county with a population exceeding 5,000 to maintain full-time county commissioners. "With this change in the working schedule, an automatic pay increase will come. The commissioners will now receive $7,800 as a yearly salary. "At this time I am unable to find a party to take over my business. Since I have chosen to run again as a county commissioner, I must do so," Commissioner Bill Chancy stated. "I'm not interested in becoming a full-time county commissioner so I'm stepping out this year at election time," said Commissioner Morris Carlson. "I believe that there will be a much better government for the people."

Hot Line

Blown fuses in the main offices of Mountain Bell in Twin Falls briefly interrupted some long-distance lines today, according to K. G. Mann, district chief of the telephone utility. The minor disruption lasted about 30 minutes, and caused no major inconvenience to telephone users, Mr. Mann said.

Offer Pending On Willow Run Area

GOODING — Sawtooth Recreation, Inc., owners and operators of the Willow Run recreation area near Fairfield, has received an offer of acquisition from a Spokane, Wash., firm, Hawaiian Enterprises, Ltd.

The Spokane firm would offer one share of its common stock for each 10 shares of Sawtooth Recreation stock, and Sawtooth Recreation would agree not to sell any additional shares through its intrastate offering, except for shares being offered to satisfy existing indebtedness of the Gooding concern.

Under the offer, Hawaiian Enterprises would assume Sawtooth's assets and liabilities and would control 75 per cent of the Idaho firm's outstanding stock.

Affirmation of the proposal is subject to board approval of both firms. The acceptance is assumed, however, as creditors of Sawtooth Recreation have been notified that Harold R. Dunham, president of Hawaiian Enterprises, will be in Boise on July 7 and 8, and in Gooding the following two days to pay outstanding claims against the Idaho concern.

A. L. Osborn, president of Sawtooth Recreation, was unavailable today for comment on the effects of the acquisition.

DEATH NOTED RICHFIELD — Relatives have learned of the death of Mrs. Renee Jackson, Cheadle Alberta, Canada. Mrs. Jackson was a sister of the late Mrs. R. J. Lammon, and visited often in Richfield.

Hearings Set On Designating Craters As Wilderness Area

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Announcement of hearings scheduled on legislation designating much of Craters of the Moon National Monument as wilderness was made today from the office of Cong. (D) Hansen. The House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs will conduct hearings in Washington, D.C., on Friday, on a bill introduced by Hansen and Cong. James McClure which would include most of the monument area as part of the National Wilderness Preservation System.

The committee will be asked to consider also an alternative measure which would include corporate Big Cinder Butte into the wilderness area. Anyone interested in testifying before the committee on the legislation should contact Hansen's Wash. office (202) 225-5531 or his Idaho Falls office 453-1000 immediately. Written statements may be submitted to Hansen at the above address.

Dismissal Asked On School Case

RUPERT — Fifth District Judge Sherman Bollwood, Ruppert, has taken under advisement a request for dismissal of a complaint against members of the Mindoka County School Board and Camden Meyer, school district superintendent. The request was made by Roger Ling, school attorney, who presented a lengthy brief for the judge to study. The action resulted from a civil suit filed against the school officials May 12 by Dan Cowell, Bill Cowell, Dale Loveland, John Wiggins, Dale Donner and Richie Donner. Don Chisholm represents the plaintiffs. The suit reportedly was filed in protest to a boundary line set by the defendants concerning student enrollment for the two new junior high schools being constructed in this county. They also ask for a re-zoning of trustee-districts.

Rupert Wears Western Garb

RUPERT — A sudden change to Western apparel this week has signaled the official beginning of this year's July 4 celebration in Rupert. The general public hasn't made the switch as yet, but local businessmen showed up for work wearing at least three articles of western wear.

The first general activity will be the Jaycee sponsored caravan, which will leave Rupert 4 p. m. Friday and travel to Jerome, Wendell, Gooding, Shoshone, Twin Falls and to Burley at about 9 p. m. Entertainers from the Delores Couch School of Dance will accompany the group and will perform in each Magic Valley stop.

City police departments have been contacted prior to the event and will assist with arrangements. Vicki Kent, reigning queen, and six queen candidates for this year also will accompany the group. Candidates include Tina Della, Carlyn Cole, Connie Vandever, Et' Bryngelson, Debbie Gittins and Pam Jenkins. Rex Rasmussen is chairman of the queen contest and will accompany the girls. Sound system for the tour will be provided by Don and Jim's TV business, Rupert.

The Rupert July 4 celebration is expected to surpass those of previous years. It reportedly is the one event of the year, which the entire county goes all out for with good family entertainment. Activity is planned for July 2-4, with part-mutual horse racing held on the same days and on Sunday.

Wayne Peterson, Bozeman, Mont., former Twin Falls resident, and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. AN ALUMINUM PLATE, sent from Singen, Germany, is being displayed by the Twin Falls emissary, Sonya L. Balleisen. Miss Balleisen returned recently from a visit in the "sister city" of Twin Falls.

T.F.'s Sister City Affirms Friendship

On July 7, 1969, Sonya L. Balleisen, Twin Falls, was sent to Singen, Germany, to carry a resolution from the city of Twin Falls reaffirming the friendship for the people of Singen.

Miss Balleisen, returned to the city of Twin Falls last week carrying a signed proclamation from Singen, affirming the resolution sent from Twin Falls.

The officials of Singen, also sent an aluminum plate with the insignia of Singen on the front and an affirmation of friendship on the reverse side.

In 1855, the United States State Department invited the mayor, four city councilmen, and the town planner of Singen to come to the United States for a four-week tour. After two weeks of touring Washington, Tennessee, and several other states, the officials visited Twin Falls and decided to remain here for the rest of the tour.

The mayor and the other officials preferred to stay in hotel accommodations, at first. Within a short time, they were living with local residents, enjoying the exchanging of cultural ideas and removing misconceptions of American life that existed in Germany.

They visited City Council meetings, meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club. They also visited Twin Falls, Shoshone Falls, Sun Valley and other scenic areas in Magic Valley.

On April 25, 1965, the City Council passed a resolution proclaiming Singen Germany, the "sister city" of Twin Falls. Singen is located in South Baden, one of four counties of the Baden-Wuerttemberg. It is on the Aachen River, close to the Rhine border of Switzerland.

It is a growing industrial city with a large number of firms. The most important are vegetable extract plant, aluminum-rolling mill, iron and steel works, and machine works.

The city has two commercial schools, two technical schools, a municipal youth organization, and a Friends Nature club.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the time President Nixon sent American troops into Cambodia, White House officials said they hoped the operation might have an effect on the Soviet Union in two ways:

They believed the destruction of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries might persuade Russia that it was time for her to pressure Hanoi into agreeing to a new Indochina peace conference.

They hoped that the unexpected nature of the move, showing Nixon capable of decisive action under provocation, would reinforce credibility of U.S. policy commitments around the world and possibly cause a slackening of the Kremlin's military-political penetration of the Middle East.

So far, despite the tactical successes achieved by America and South Vietnam in Cambodia, the desired Russian reaction has not been forthcoming.

On the contrary, diplomatic visitors to Moscow during the past week found the Kremlin still unwilling to join in any move that convene a Geneva-type conference on Indochina. Among these were Secretary General Thant of the United Nations and Swedish Premier Olof Palme.

And with respect to the Middle East, Secretary of State William P. Rogers in two recent talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin has discovered virtually no inclination on the part of the Russians to agree to a joint diplomatic formula for beginning Arab-Israeli peace negotiations.

Russia has hastened to sign a new military aid agreement to give Hanoi equipment to replace that lost in Cambodia and to continue the conflict indefinitely. The Kremlin presumably feels that trying to pressure Hanoi into a peace conference just after the reverses suffered in Cambodia would diminish Soviet standing and influence in Southeast Asia.

That leaves President Nixon with a tactical success achieved under circumstances which make it difficult to know just how well the United States can exploit it.

The capture and destruction of large amounts of Communist arms in Cambodia and the fragmentation of Viet Cong and Hanoi forces there obviously lessen the danger to South Vietnam.

"Miracle of Sao Jose do Goiabal" In Brazil Transforms Tiny Town Into Goal Of Pilgrimage

SÃO JOSE DO GOIABAL, Brazil (UPI)—Until not much more than a month ago, few persons outside its immediate area had ever heard of Sao Jose do Goiabal, a small town of 3,000 persons 120 miles north of Rio de Janeiro in the Rio Doce Valley.

It doesn't show on most maps. It was not on any bus or train routes. Its people, mostly farmers, went about their work unnoticed by most of the world. Its lone filling station often went days without a car stopping by.

Early in May all of that changed. Two buses daily now make their way here from Belo Horizonte, capital of Minas Gerais State. On weekends as many as 40,000 people stream into the town.

What changed Sao Jose do Goiabal were small drops of water seeping out of the tomb of the deceased vicar of the parish, Father Francisco Hermelindo Ribeiro. A popular priest, Ribeiro died in 1962 at the age of 62.

Townsmen say that for a long time it had been noticed, but not especially remarked, that small drops of water flowed from cracks in the tomb. But a few weeks ago water also began to flow from a small crucifix on the vault.

Rumor spread that a miracle was in the making.

Villagers and townspeople from throughout Minas Gerais began to visit the tomb. Word was passed from mouth to mouth that the water droplets from the crucifix possessed miraculous powers.

Geraldo Ribeiro do Nascimento, a 65-year-old paralytic from the town of Coronel Fabriciano, visited the tomb with his wife Cristina last month to drink some of the magic drops. He claims they cured him. When he returned home he was walking again.

Jose Maria dos Reis Francisco, an 11-year-old from Belo Horizonte, arrived in Goiabal on crutches to drink from the meager fountain. He threw away his crutches and said he needed them no more.

The waves of miracle-seekers continue to come to witness or be helped by "The Miracle of Goiabal's four-man police force Sao Jose do Goiabal."

to handle without help. A 14-man military police detachment was sent in from the nearby city of Manhuach to help control the crowds and guard the pilgrims against thieves.

Most of the pilgrims are poor people. Many are sick and infirm. Some come to the tomb with cotton and syringes with which they soak up a few drops from the crucifix. They mix the drops with other water and drink it.

The present vicar of Goiabal, Father Jose Gomes, says the real "miracle" is simply the miracle of faith. A few drops of early morning dew, he tells those who ask, have the same power as the droplets from Father Ribeiro's tomb, if one has faith.

Psychiatrists have suggested that the persons who have claimed "cures" from the water of the tomb were victims of psychosomatic ailments rather than real sickness.

But the sick and the curious continue to come to witness or be helped by "The Miracle of Goiabal's four-man police force Sao Jose do Goiabal."

VICKI KOHLER daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kohler, Bellevue, has been awarded the David S. Rosenthal Memorial scholarship at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, where she will be a freshman this fall. She was graduated last month from Wood River High School, Hailey.

3 Cited In Minidoka Accidents

RUPERT — A rash of accidents were investigated over the weekend in Minidoka County resulting in only one injury by issuing of three citations.

Zoa M. Lowery, 70, East Meadow, N. Y., was treated and released from Minidoka Memorial Hospital Saturday afternoon after a one-car accident 12 miles east of Rupert on Interstate 80. She was a passenger in a 1969 Pontiac stationwagon driven by her husband, Edmond J. Lowery, 67.

Lowery swerved his vehicle to miss hitting a large chunk of rubber on Interstate 80, and the trailer house he was towing jackknifed, and overturned, raising the rear of the stationwagon into the air. Tom Thompson, state policeman, estimated damage of $300 to the Pontiac and $800 to the trailer house.

Citations were issued to each driver Sunday night involved in a two-vehicle accident at 500 West and Highway 25. Luis Perez, 47, Paul, was cited for driving while intoxicated after the 1964 Rambler station wagon, he was driving collided with a 1968 GMC pickup truck driven by Jerry Peck, 25, Burley, which was stopped at a stop sign.

State police Gordon Mills said Perez was traveling east on Highway 25 and made a wide right hand turn colliding with the pickup. Damage was estimated at $100 to the pickup and $25 to the Rambler.

Peck was cited for failure to transfer registration on vehicle.

Rupert Police cited Karen A. Stromire, 18, Rupert, for failure to yield the right of way after the 1961 Volkswagen she was driving collided with a Pontiac driven by Larry N. Norby, 34, Rupert. Miss Stromire reported she failed to see the stop sign on 5th South St., and pulled into the path of the North bound Pontiac. Damage was estimated at $200 to the VW and $300 to the Pontiac.

Dorothea J. Gearhard, 40, Pocatello, escaped injury Saturday night after the 1964 Chevrolet pickup she was driving, struck a cow one and one-half miles southwest of the Raft River Store on U. S. 30 N. Roy Holloway, state policeman, estimated damage at $500 to the pickup, and said the cow wasn't seriously injured.

Migrant Children Get Extra Help At Wendell

WENDELL — Fifty migrant children between the ages of 5 and 13 are attending summer classes at the Wendell Elementary School according to Arlin Dennis, director. This is the third year he has directed the school.

Mr. Dennis stated the children are primarily from the migrant camps but a number of them are children of workers who have returned for a number of years and reside on area farms during the summer months.

English is a second language to these students as in most cases they speak Spanish in their homes and attend public school on a six month basis in their home areas. He stated in order to travel with their parents they must attend long hours and study at home.

The six weeks session is meant to be an enjoyable experience in increasing communications as well as practical learning. Sessions convene at 9 a. m. and dismiss at 3 p. m. with a snack period for the younger students and a lunch period for all attending.

Oral English, reading, physical education, science, and arts and crafts are being taught.

Arts and crafts include the art of braiding from plastic materials, weaving items from gourd and rocks, and dishes from popcycle sticks. The library is available for use and includes a wide variety of books, records, slides, maps, etc.

On Fridays and Wednesdays the group have had field trips which includes swimming, visits to historical fish hatcheries and other places of interest.

Staff includes Mrs. Jeanne

Councilmen authorized Mr. Soares to offer a $200 reward to anyone who supplies information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone defacing or destroying city property.

During the past week obscene words have been burned into the walls of the restrooms with some flammable material. A new slide and merry-go-round was installed during the past month and adults and older youth are abusing them.

According to Ed Johnson, city superintendent, stated that equipment was designed for elementary school age children but would accommodate older youths if they would use reason.

Other damage included the removal of fancy rock from a drinking fountain, deep initials in new picnic tables and benches and removal of lights from the grounds.

Councilmen also: — Hired the Twin Falls Construction Co. to seal coats and repair streets and alleys, due to the fact they received no bids.

Jerome Mayor Asks Citizens Interest

JEROME — Mayor Jack Russell said today he is well pleased with the cooperation which Jerome residents have shown in clearing specific municipal problems the past few months, such as regulation of animals and garbage collection.

"The city council is willing to work with townspeople on any problems they feel should be taken care of. He pointed out, however, the council has no way of knowing these things if they are not brought forth.

"I welcome the public to come to the council meeting to discuss anything they feel is a problem or to find out for themselves how the council handles the city's business," Mr. Russell said.

The public is invited to attend the council meetings held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Youth To Attend

Ohio Meet

JEROME — Kirk McKenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McKenney, Jerome, will attend the 27th annual convention of Key Club International in Cleveland, Ohio, July 12-15.

A junior at Jerome High School, McKenney is lieutenant governor of a district comprising six area schools. He will be among 2,700 club members and their adult advisers who will meet at the Sheraton-Cleveland hotel.

Key Club international is a service organization for high school youths sponsored by Kiwanis International and maintains similar ideas and objectives.

There are more than 50,000 Key club members in approximately 3,500 clubs in high schools throughout the United States, Canada and the Bahamas.

Principal speakers at the convention will include the president of Key Club International, Reid C. James, Plantation, Fla., and Robert F. Weber, Detroit, Mich., president of Kiwanis International.

The main reason for the convention is to establish a theme and related objectives to service guidelines for projects and activities of the international high school service organization throughout the coming year.

Jerome County Praised For Easter Seal Program Help

JEROME — Mrs. Clifton Peterson, Jerome county delegate and director on the state board of the Easter Seal Society has praised Jerome county residents for their support of the program by increased contributions.

Mrs. Peterson said she is grateful to members of Job's Daughters and Future Homemakers of America under direction of Mrs. Ralph Dunn for their assistance with the drive.

She explained that 90 per cent of the donations raised in Idaho are retained in the state to serve the handicapped and 97 per cent of the funds raised in Magic Valley remain in this area to aid the speech and hearing center in Twin Falls which serves all southwestern Idaho.

A national board of volunteers coordinates activities of the society so there is no duplication of services, Mrs. Peterson noted.

"This year makes a magnificent milestone — 50 years of service to the handicapped. It represents changed attitudes toward such people, influence of government at all levels, involvement of staff and volunteers supported by contributing public and probing research," she added.

She belongs to the Epston Sigma Alpha Society, which has netted a total of $23,959, in contributions through their candy sales to the Idaho Seal Society in the past 10 years. During this time she has served as state president of the society as well as holding most state, district and chapter offices.

Candidate Says Persons Who Plan U.S. Farm Program Unable To Use Shovel

GOODING — In many cases farm programs are planned for persons who do not understand how to use a shovel, Vernon F. Ravenscroft told some 200 persons attending an appreciation dinner for him at the Gooding Grange Hall.

He urged that commissions dealing with farm problems be elected offices and be manned by persons who actually understand the problem.

Revision of the Idaho state constitution is necessary if the middle class people and small businesses of Idaho are to prosper, Mr. Ravenscroft, one of three gubernatorial candidates on the Democratic ticket, stated.

The state tax base must be revised and noted utilities are taxes on three bases, while small businesses and real property has only one criteria, which is present valuation of the property.

The candidate promised a "strong open door policy" if elected governor, whether one person or a thousand were requesting audience.

Andrew James, Gooding county prosecuting attorney, served as master of ceremonies and introduced Marde E. Welles, Roberts, candidate for U.S. representative; Joe McCarter, candidate for state representative from District 22-A; Don Frederickson, state representative; Ben Glauner, county commissioner, and Sibyl Stevens, Gooding county clerk, all seeking re-election. Mr. James also is running for re-election.

NEW GOODING COUNTY courthouse is about 65 to 75 per cent complete, Ben Glauner, county commissioner said Tuesday. Completion is now set for late September. Construction workers now are putting a roof on the one-story structure and putting lining in the walls this week. The courthouse, the first building for Gooding county, is located on land donated to the city by the Thompson family. The site, on Main street, has been used for a city park.

Larson, Jerome; Jane Butter, Billas, and Patty Sine, Idaho Falls. In the back are Ann Patterson, director of volunteers at the school, Mark St. Amond, Kellogg, Miss Callen, and Rev. Sydney Carnes, Nampa. The youths had extensive orientation by medical and volunteer service staff and helped with the children in creation and crafts.

Wendell Girl Participates In Work, Witness Conclave

WENDELL — Janet Callen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Callen, returned this week from Nampa where she participated in the Work and Witness Conference at the Idaho State School and Hospital in Nampa.

Miss Callen stated that all Christian Youth of any church who have completed the 10th grade, and are physically and emotionally healthy and endorsed by their pastor are eligible to attend.

The conference began with two days of extensive orientation given by the medical and the volunteer service staff.

Conferencers helped in various wards, such as IC where 68 children spend most of their day in cribs. Conferencers help feed the children at mealtime, hold them, play with them, or take them for rides in wheelchairs.

When your side holds both the spade suit and a majority of the top cards you expect to be able to show a profit. East and West have nine spades and 23 high-card points but in the recent Amalillo regional practically every North-South pair showed a profit.

When West played in four spades, North and South invariably set the contract by scoring the ace of trumps, king of diamonds, one high heart and at least one club tuff.

At other tables South played in five hearts and usually made it.

When Steve Greenberg of Oklahoma City and Jack Blair of Tulsa sat East and West they doubled five hearts and managed to set it.

Jack started by opening the deuce of trumps. South looked the hand over and saw that he was one entry short in dummy to set up the clubs. Therefore, he needed to ruff three of his spades and diamonds in dummy to produce 11 tricks. He won the trump in his hand, led a spade to the ace and played a diamond.

At this point Steve had a good chance to go wrong. If he rose with the ace there would be no way for Jack to get in to lead the second trump, so Steve played the jack. South won with his king, entered dummy by ruffing a spade and led another diamond.

Steve had noted Jack's play of the eight on the first diamond lead. After long thought he decided that Jack had played it from 10-8. Therefore Steve ducked. Jack got in with the 10 and led a second trump to hold South to just 10 tricks.

WHEN A 200-POUND MAN stands on one leg, he puts 500 pounds of pressure on that leg's hip joint. Has to do with leverage.

LOVE AND WAR - When a man loves a woman, he generally doesn't see her faults. A woman in love with a man is not like that, though. She sees the old boy's faults, all right. But ignores them. In other words, a man literally closes his eyes against what he doesn't want to see while a woman merely shrugs off same. Such is the contention of Theodor Merz. Our Love and War man agrees. That "Love is blind" notion applies mostly to men.

BOWLING - Do you go bowling? If so, does your average over the season exceed 154? The American Bowling Congress says that's a typical average among unprofessional but regular bowlers. Only about one steady bowler in 100 averages better than 190. About five in 100 average lower than 125.

Ashe Advances At Wimbledon After Marathon 59-Game Win

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Defending champion Rod Laver reached the third round of the $100,000 Wimbledon Open tennis tournament with a comfortable three-set victory Tuesday and then hung around to scout Arthur Ashe's marathon 59-game triumph over Nikkī Pilić of Yugoslavia.

Laver, gunning for his third consecutive Wimbledon title, dropped countryman John Alexander of Australia, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, using a booming service to take the teenage Aussie Junior champ in 65 minutes.

Ashe, third-seeded here, passed his first major hurdle of the tourney by whipping Pilić, 6-7, 11-13, 6-4, 6-3, in a two hour and 45 minute struggle.

"He got tired," Ashe said modestly of his Yugoslav opponent who was rated the best unseeded player at Wimbledon. "He had a hard match yesterday and had to go five sets to win."

This was not the traditional "Ladies Day" at Wimbledon, much to the chagrin of the debutantes in the crowd of 23,000 attending this tennis fixture.

Center court, usually reserved for the opening day of women's play, was taken over by the men and proved a catastrophic location for Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., as he dropped a 7-5, 1-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 decision to eighth-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania.

Richey was the only major U.S. casualty Tuesday. Top-ranked American Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., rated seventh in the tourney, broke service in the second game of the first set and was never headed as he defeated Hans-Joachim Plat of Germany, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

Respectable Clark Graebner of New York, the ninth seed, moved into the third round when his opponent, Ion Tiriac of Romania, complained of shoulder pains while trailing 4-6, 14-12, 6-2. Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the other seeded U.S. starter in the second round, recovered from a first set loss to beat Ian Fletcher of Australia, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

Australia's ace also advanced admirably. John Newcombe, the 1967 champion who is favored to meet Laver in this year's final, dropped only four games in bouncing Nikkī Kalogeropoulos of Greece, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Tony Roche beat compatriot Ray Ruffels, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2; Ken Rosewall eliminated Frenchman Jean-Claude Barclay, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3; and Roy Emerson ousted Jan Leschly of Denmark, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

On four occasions, U.S. players advanced by beating fellow Americans. Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., reached the second round of men's singles by defeating Jim McManus, Berkeley, Calif., 6-0, 6-2, 6-2. In women's play, fifth-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco topped Kathy Harter, Seal Beach, Calif., 6-6, 6-1; Sharon Walsh, San Rafael, Calif., defeated Patti Hogan, La Jolla, Calif., 6-6, 6-3, and Peaches Bartkowicz, Hamlet, Mich., won over Kristy Pigeon, Danville, Calif., 3-6, 9-7, 6-1.

Hendren Ends Collegiate Career In Saturday Game

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Jerry Hendren decided during high school he enjoyed football. Since then he's spent plenty of time at the game.

'B' Legion Coasts Past Heyburn 7-2

The Twin Falls "B" Legion, behind three pitchers, defeated Heyburn-Paul 7-2 Tuesday night.

The 87, 165-pound split-end from Idaho University has played in 66 games since high school. Saturday he will bid farewell to collegiate football during the 10th annual Coaches All-American game, and make ready for a career in pro football. It will be his 67th straight game.

"The biggest problem at an all-star game is the passing when a quarterback and his receivers do not know each other," said Hendren, the fourth round choice of the Denver Broncos. "The quarterback has to get used to the patterns the receiver runs and the receiver has to learn the touch of the quarterback."

Hendren, the leading pass receiver in college last season, plans to add to his total Saturday when he joins forces on the West Squad with quarterbacks Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Terry McMillan of Missouri. Shaw led the nation last season in total offense and was third in passing, and McMillan was 10th in the nation in total offense.

Surprisingly enough Hendren had his own problem during the year-reaching his goal. Instead of having the same quarterback all year, he faced four during the season—including a converted end in the season finale.

"My immediate goal after Saturday is to make the Denver squad. Then I want to make the team."

Teaming with Shaw will be nothing new for Hendren. Already they have played in three all-star games together.

"We're just about to get used to each other," Hendren said. "About all we receivers have to do is catch the ball and hang on to it. But the quarterback has to learn when you are going to cut, what pattern you are running, and just where to throw the ball so you will be under it."

His 95 passes for 1,452 yards and 12 touchdowns during the past season boosted Hendren's career total to 230 passes for 3,335 yards and 27 touchdowns during three years. Additionally, he got 24 aeries during his all-star games since the end of the 1969 season.

"Every quarterback is different—his release, some are quicker and some use the body to throw while others use the arm. Dennis learned to find me consistently during our three previous all-star games."

Both the West and the East completed contact drills Tuesday, and said they would spend the remainder of the week working on timing.

The fifth workout was scheduled for the Texas Tech campus. Saturday's game, set for 9:30 p.m. (EDT) kickoff, will be televised nationally in color by ABC.

PGA Announces New Exemption Plan For Meets

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Professional Golfers' Association Tournament Players Division announced Tuesday that new winners of the U.S. Open and the PGA championship will be exempt from qualifying for open tournaments sponsored by the pga for 10 years.

The decision, announced by Joseph C. Dey Jr., the PGA commissioner, will not affect the unlimited exemption of Open and PGA champions prior to 1970.

The champions prior to 1970 now will receive exemption in two categories as follows: First, those who have entered at least 15 Tournament Players Division tourneys in the last calendar year, will be included in the basic field of 125 players in open invitationals.

Boise Swim Team Drubs T.F., Rupert

The strong Boise Y swim team overpowered Twin Falls and Rupert in a triangular meet at Harmon Park Pool.

Boise scored 779 points against 772 for Twin Falls and 80 for Rupert.

Carleen Schuler of Twin Falls dominated the girls 15-16 age group and Chris Bell raked in his usual number of firsts in the 11-12 division. Bob Dehoney got his first career victory.

Cody Thurston got one first and tied for another to lead Rupert.

The Twin Falls swim team has just started and interested persons should report at the pool to Frank Scheerer at 11 a.m. any day. The AAU intermountain meet and rough water swim is set for Twin Falls July 24-26 and the state tournament will also be in the Harmon Pool Aug. 6-10.

Prep Whiz McMillen To Play At N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — The University of North Carolina said Tuesday night that Tom McMillen, the most recruited high school basketball player in the country, will enroll at the university.

The university's information office said McMillen of Mansfield, Pa., announced his decision in a telephone call to basketball coach Dean Smith of the Tar Heels.

McMillen told Smith, "I feel that the University of North Carolina meets my requirements both academically and athletically. I want to be in the truest sense of the words, a student athlete."

Smith said "obviously it is a tremendous thrill to hear that McMillen will enter the University of North Carolina. He will be a great asset to the university in more ways than just basketball."

Steelers Trade Veteran Marth

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers Tuesday traded veteran safety Paul Marth and linebacker Sid Williams to the Denver Broncos for tackle Wallace Dickey, guard-center Walt Highsmith and an undisclosed 1971 draft choice.

Dickey and Highsmith, both in their third year of pro football this coming season, came to the Broncos as free agents in 1968.

Dyer's 'Bunt' Clears Wall, Mets Win 12-10

CHICAGO (UPI) — Duffy Dyer, a second-string catcher who was sent to the plate to bunt, hit a home run instead in the 10th inning to give the New York Mets a 12-10 victory over Chicago Tuesday and moved them within 1-1/2 games of the leading Cubs in the National League East.

Ron Swoboda had opened inning with a double, and Dyer said, "All I was trying to do was advance the runner to third. I had the bunt sign for the first two strikes, but he took it off after that."

The count was 3-2 on Phil Regan's next pitch, and Dyer said, "It was a mistake. He knew I wasn't going to bunt, and he didn't want it there. It was a high fast ball. Actually I was trying to hit the ball to right field, just to advance or score the runner. I still got too much of it."

Twins' Carew Is Admitted To Hospital

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rod Carew, Minnesota's second baseman and the American League's leading batter, has been admitted at Fairview Hospital in Minneapolis with a knee injury suffered in Monday night's game against the Milwaukee Brewers.

The Twins said Tuesday Carew's right knee was swollen and "It will be a few days" before the exact extent of the injury can be determined or whether an operation will be necessary.

Carew was the relay man on a double play when he was run into by Milwaukee's unscrupulous Mike Hogan. Carew walked from the field in obvious pain.

Eightweight Bout Is Postponed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Thursday night's eightweight bout between Mando Ramos and Sugar Ramos was postponed Tuesday until July 16 after Mando suffered an allergy attack.

Olympic Auditorium promoter Alleen Eaton announced the postponement after Mando awakened with his head swollen due to the allergy from which he has suffered for several years.

Jack McCoy, Mando's manager, said: "There is no possible way Mando can fight Thursday. His head is the size of a watermelon and he can hardly breathe. The doctor told him to take a couple of days off and then resume training."

Tommy Tom Jones (Parrot XPAS 71037)

Big booming voiced singer Tom Jones keeps the girls swooning wherever he appears, and they'll flip over this new record as well.
"It has a dual personality, one side filled with the sexy, soaring ballads he's patented, and the other side filled with uptempo tunes."
His ballad work is far preferred.
"He does "Without Love" and "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'" and "If I Ruled the World" and "The Impossible Dream" and "Let There Be Love" on the ballad side.
"It's enough to make any girl wean in the knees."
His uptempo side is at times a little ragged as he tackles things like "Proud Mary" and "Sugar Star".
Four stars.

One Time In A Million : Browning Bryan (RCA CP 4356)

Browning Bryan is a 13-year-old kid with a great voice who takes up where Wayne Newton left off.
He sings like Wayne Newton, and even looks like Wayne Newton.
He has a pure boy's tenor voice which he knows how to use well, despite his few years.
He hails from Pickens, S.C., and according to the liner notes, is all boy ("Football, baseball, swimming and general horsplay," the liner notes advise, in case there is any doubt.)
If you like boy tenors, here's another one. He'll be a singer in five or 10 years.
Three stars.

The Happy And Mellow Sax Of Ace Cannon (HS 3287)

There is a certain twang phrase which applies to this sort of music, and the second word in the phrase is "kicking."
The first word can't be printed here, but you get the idea.
The music, however, is all hot country licks and infectious as the stomach fluc.
Cannon's sax work makes Boots Randolph's "yakyety" style sound like Desmond, for Cannon makes his sax talk like a magpie.
He's backed by a cornet group which would do any bandstand up fine, and which knows how to get with it, country style.
They play a wide variety of music, ranging from the Beatles "Get Back" to almost traditional country tunes, like "Going Up The Country" and "Mama Tried" and "Ruby Don't Take Your Love To Town."
But no matter what they're playing, the country flavor is so thick you can almost taste the white lightning!
Four stars.

We Must Survive: Earth Island (Phillips PHS 600-340)

With national attention turning toward ecology, it is only a reasonable assumption music would soon follow the trend.
Several groups have already leapt upon the bandwagon, and more are soon to follow. They will follow the footsteps of this group, which is the only group making musical statements on the state of the earth which are substantial and worthwhile.
This group must have some deeply rooted concerns for the tide of pollution engulfing the world, for its music on the subject is far too deep to spring from any superficial sources.
Every song in this album, all 12 of them, are ecologically oriented, whether the songs be of outright protest of what mankind is doing to the world, or songs which touch on the topic in exploring peripheral fields.
The titles, which give an indication of the depth, are: "Earth People's Park," and "Civilization, I Can't Hear A Word," and "Ride The Universe," and "Season Of Our Lives," and "This Island Earth," and "Doomsday In The Afternoon" and "Ashes, Ashes, Fall Down" and "Greatest Adventure In Our Lives" and "Peace and Understanding."
Toronto, 1970, and "Mother Earth is a Beautiful Lover" and "Save Our World, We Must Survive."
The group is above the average in musical quality, and far above in songwriting proficiency. Their musical lines are crisp and clean, at times spare, but always firm and listenable.
The album will appeal to the

His concertos, actually trio sonatas, are delightful little works which fairly sing with instrumental beauty and structural simplicity.
The recording is a very good one—technically—with true balance among the instruments and good presence.

Beethoven: Creators of Prometheus (Excerpt): Israel Philharmonic Orchestra; Zubin Mehta, conductor (London CS 6660)

One of Beethoven's very few ballet works, The Creators of Prometheus was written on the eve of his career's most rewarding period when his colossal orchestral works would spring forth.
The reason it hasn't been heard much since its debut in 1801 was because the scenario for the ballet was lost soon after the work was introduced.
The music has lived on since largely because of its author.
The work is unusual for Beethoven, in that it is one of the very few orchestral works which he produced which is not structured in massive tonal dimensions. It is light, light, if there actually is such a thing.

The only other orchestral work of his which it can be compared to in terms of depth is his Sixth Symphony ("Pastoral") which because of its nature is lighter than the rest of his symphonic work.
This is a very interesting piece from a musical and historical standpoint.
This recording suffers, however, and should be avoided. The album is under recorded, and is musically.

Much of their success has been the excellent arrangements, instrumentation and recordings of their work. The arrangements have been by some of the best chartmen in the business; their musicians have been carefully chosen, and the "clean" sound of their work is the result of engineer Bones Howe.

This album contains their best: "Aquarius, Let The Sunshine In," and "The Girls Song" and "Stoned Soul Picnic" and "Wedding Bell Blues" and "California Soul" and "Up, Up and Away" and "Blowing Away" and "Carpenter Man" and "Workin' On A Groovy Thing" and "Paper Cup" and "Sweet Blindness."

Needless to say, it's a superlative album.
Five stars.

A Country Dream: Eric Andersen (Vanguard VS405)

Country ballader Eric Andersen, whose folk-influenced songs are among the most interesting lyrically and musically coming from that segment of music today, has put together another fine album.
Most of it belongs to him. Eight of the 10 tunes in the album are his, and he sings and plays guitar throughout the album. He has some fine sidemen: Andy Johnson on lead guitar, Ken Buttrey on drums, Robert Putnam, bass, David Briggs on piano, Weldon Myrick on steel guitar, and Charlie McCoy on organ, harmonica, banjo and dobro.
The only tunes by other writers are Otis Redding's "Dock of the Bay" and Irving Mills' "Lovesick Blues." His contributions are neatly arranged combinations of folk and country tunes which are highly appealing.
The album is delightful from a musical, folk or country standpoint, and will appeal to fans of all categories. But its occasionally heavy country flavor may be distasteful to those who don't like country music.
Four stars.
Let It Be: The Beatles (Apple AR 3400)

This album might better be credited to the Beatles and Phil Spector, for without Spector this album never would have been released.

It is as much his album as the four young men who comprised the Beatles for he edited, dubbed, enhanced, mixed, remixed, cut, spliced and gave birth to this album solely on his own.
At the time, "The Beatles" could have cared less, and merely acknowledged he was doing it. They didn't get involved, after the original music was recorded.
And it's apparent some of this music dates back several years. It's almost a safe bet that none of it was recorded after 1968, the beginning of the end of the Beatles.
Outside of "Let It Be" and "Get Back," previously hits as singles, the best thing in the album is a slightly strypp melody by McCartney, "The Long Winding Road."
There's a pre-1965, rocker called "One After 909," which is good, and several others, "I Dig A Pony" and "I, Me, Mine," which are better than average.
Three stars.

Galuppi: Concerti a Quattro: Bilfoll Quartet (Dover HCR 8222)

The sole recording of these six magnificent baroque chamber quartets available, this record is a valuable addition to any baroque musical fan's collection.
Galuppi's work is sadly neglected today, seldom recorded and infrequently performed in public; even though it is beautiful in form and spirit.
He began writing in 1722 and for many years enjoyed fame as a composer of light opera. His work was popular throughout Europe in the early 18th century.

Return To Direct Primary Is Urged

MARSING, Idaho (UPI) — A weekly newspaper publisher has called for a return to the direct primary election system in Idaho, contending the pre-primary convention system has failed to perform its duty.

Publisher Rodney Hawes of the Owyhee Nugget criticized the convention system and the Idaho Republican Party in a front-page editorial for failure to put Edward T. Whittaker on the primary election ballot.

Hawes pointed out that Whittaker, a Marsing school teacher, secured the necessary 1,000 voter signatures and paid a $200 filing fee to the secretary of state. But he said Whittaker was denied the right to have his name put on the Aug. 4 GOP primary ballot because he did not receive one vote at the convention.

Under Idaho law, a person must receive 20 per cent of the convention votes to be placed on the primary election ballot. If more than one person files for the nomination for governor or other elective state or national office at least two must be put on the ballot.

At its recent assembly in Burley, the GOP put incumbent Gov. Don Samuelson and former State Sen. Dick Smith of Rexburg on the ballot. Samuelson got 266 votes and Smith got 87. Whittaker got none.

Hawes noted that Whittaker had told his government class to take an interest in government because any one of the students when reaching legal age has the right to seek public office in open elections.

"We wonder what he will tell his classes this fall," Hawes asked. "Idaho government is big business, the control of which may mean millions to the right people," Hawes said. "There is no room in it for the little school teacher who thought Idaho had a government for the citizen.

"We believe the delegates to the Republican assembly broke faith with the Idaho citizens by not affording Whittaker the opportunity to have his name on the ballot," Hawes said.

"We do not believe Mr. Whittaker would have been elected governor of Idaho — even with his name on the ballot — but he did represent a qualified Idaho elector and the vote of Idaho — not just a few delegates — should have decided the issue."

He also noted that Owyhee County gave all of its five convention votes to Samuelson even though one of the delegates signed Smith's petition. "Oh, well, big business still rides high in Idaho among the selfish interest groups — but there still has to be an election, although a few people would like to ignore the formality."

He said citizens of Idaho should demand a return to the direct primary where a citizen "may seek public office without having to compete with special interest groups with millions of dollars at their disposal — and willing to spend it for the candidate of their choice if they can direct the decisions."

Bill To Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Monday passed and sent to the Senate a bill to remove prohibitions and criminal penalties against importing, mailing, transporting and advertising birth control pills, devices or information.

Current federal law carries penalties of up to $5,000 in fines and or five years in prison for such activities.

Government In Bolivia Has "Credibility Gap"

By PHIL NEWBOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst. Bolivia's "nationalist revolutionary" government which seized power nine months ago is suffering from a credibility gap.

The country's 30,000 tin miners are not sure the government of Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia is as revolutionary as it says it is.

Businessmen are not sure how to balance Ovando's promise of "full guarantees" to the private sector against an implied government intention to eliminate totally all private property.

The peasants who gave strong support to the late President Gen. Rene Barrientos are feeling neglected and students, generally anti-United States, are impatient with what they regard as the slow pace of promised government reforms.

Signs of discontent even are showing up in the army. Accompanying all this is a rising tide of violence.

A bomb explosion during a weekend student outbreak at Santa Cruz, 500 miles from the capital, La Paz, took the lives of two policemen and brought to four the number of persons slain in two days.

In February, former Interior Minister Jaime Otero Calderon was found strangled. He was publisher of a weekly newspaper and had served in the government of former President Victor Paz Estenssoro, overthrown in 1964 in a military coup led by Ovando.

On March 14 newspaper publisher Alfredo Alexander Jordan and his wife were killed by a bomb delivered as a gift package. Alexander had been critical of the military government.

The government won considerable popularity when, less than a month after seizing power, it nationalized the $150 million Gulf Oil Company.

Since then, despite reported Brazilian, Spanish and even Soviet offers, Bolivian crude oil remains unsold and negotiations to compensate Gulf drag on with both sides reported still far apart.

Negotiations with Argentina for the financing of a natural gas pipeline also appear stalled. Trouble is predicted for the tin mines which account for 70 per cent of the country's total foreign exchange earnings of about $100 million a year. Juan Lechin, a former Bolivian vice president and labor leader, has regained leadership of the tin miners and a strike by the miners is freely predicted for this year.
