PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian troops recaptured the town of Saang, 22 miles south of Phnom Penh after a two-day battle and estimated today they had killed 200 Communist soldiers with the aid of South Vietnamese air strikes.

A military spokesman said the Cambodians also called in South Vietnamese AC47 "Dragonships" armed with rapid-firing guns to rake Viet Cong and North Vietnamese positions outside the province capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital.

In South Vietnam, American paratroopers patrolling the northern provinces killed 15 Communist soldiers but suffered 39 wounded in three sharp clashes, the U.S. Command reported.

Police Stoned As Resort Community Violence Continues

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (UPI)—Police and firemen, set fires and looted stores Monday night. It was the second night of violence in the predominantly black West Side, a depressed neighborhood of dilapidated housing, high unemployment and low income.

At least 44 persons were injured, none seriously. There were 80 arrests, making a total of more than 100 since late Sunday.

Two hundred police and 200 firemen recruited from the state police and nearby communities were driven from the West Side by the demonstrators. The police settled for a barricade "perimeter" to keep the disorder from spreading to this ocean resort's white neighborhoods, boardwalk and principal business district. No one could enter the 22 block section.

The police said they withdrew to "cool" the situation.

Early today the affected area was lit only by the flames of still-burning fires. Electrical cables into the West Side had been burned on Springwood Avenue, the area's main business street, every window in stores and homes for a three-block stretch had been broken.

Tactical squads of police were making forays into the cordoned-off areas to disperse the crowds, which peaked at more than 700 earlier. But some firebombs still were being thrown.

Late Monday night a group of blacks attempted to break through the barricades set up along railroad tracks dividing the white and black sections but they were turned back.

"I'm mixed up," said Smith, 20, to 30 years ago this would who is black. "I've lived here happen. I'd say no. The kids most of my life. If you told me have changed today."

Cradle-To-Grave Health Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A cradle-to-grave health insurance plan for every American was unveiled today by the blue-ribbon, 100-member Committee for National Health Insurance. It would be financed by workers, employers and government.

Leonard Woodcock, United Auto Workers (UAW) president and committee chairman, said the proposed "health security program" would give millions of Americans health insurance coverage for the first time and would solve many of the problems it would require congressional enactment.

The committee estimated the cost for such a program of 1969 would have been $37 billion. It projected no estimate for 1973, when the plan is proposed to take effect.

Of needed funds, 40 per cent would come from federal general tax revenues, 35 per cent from an employer payroll tax and 25 per cent from a tax on individual income up to $15,000.

Doctors, hospitals and other providers of medical services would agree not to charge their patients, but instead to bill the health security program. Patients thus would not be billed for covered services.

"The insecurity created by the health crisis in America gnaws at the American family, and at the deepest roots of our society," Woodcock said in a statement.

Woodcock said that he predicted no overnight miracles. "But," he said "the basic long-term solutions are in health security." The plan would provide these patient benefits: —All necessary doctor services. —All necessary hospital services, nursing home care of up to 120 days for each illness, and home health services.

Hijacker Gets Life Sentence
NEWNAN, Ga. (UPI)—Lorenzo Edward Ervin Jr., of Chattanooga, Tenn., has been sentenced to life imprisonment on charges of hijacking an Eastern Airlines jet to Havana.

Federal Judge Albert K. Henderson Monday sentenced Ervin to life on each of two counts. He made the terms concurrent, which means the 24-year-old Ervin will have to serve a minimum of 15 years before becoming eligible for parole.

The government had charged Ervin with forcing the pilot of Eastern Flight 661 to fly to Cuba Feb. 23, 1969.

Funeral
DUBLIN N. H. (UPI)—Funeral services will be held Friday for Robb Sargent, publisher of the Old Farmer's Almanac who was known as "Abe Weatherwise" for his seasonal prognostications.

Sargent, who also published Yankee magazine, died July 4 at 69, following a long illness.

In 1939 Sargent, a graduate of Harvard Business School became publisher of the Almanac, the oldest publication of its type.

He published his latest book in February, "America and Her Allies," with Wm. Wislizen and Weather, 1639-1970.

He is survived by his widow, his father and two daughters.

Economy Of Viet Dangerous

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A 12-man congressional fact-finding team just back from Vietnam reports that economic problems threaten both the security of South Vietnam and the U.S. effort to turn the war over to the Vietnamese.

It said the same problem, largely due to inflation, threatens the whole of Southeast Asia. As a remedy, the congressmen suggested the official South Vietnamese currency, the piaster, should be devalued, that interest rates there should be increased, that taxes should be reformed and that new commerce laws should be devised.

The report on the two-week inspection tour was turned in by the chairman of the panel, Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss. He said 11 of the 12 members agreed with the report.

Russians Not Aiding In Egypt

Egypt denied today the Israeli allegation that Soviet technicians are manning Egyptian surface-to-air missile sites between the Suez Canal and Cairo.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, in a dispatch carrying the weight of a government statement, said only Egyptian troops are stationed at the string of air defense outposts west of the canal.

It termed the Israeli allegation "a desperate attempt" to influence world public opinion in Tel Aviv's favor, and to safeguard what it called the myth of the "invincible arm" of the Israeli air force.

Al-Ahram said the Israeli chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, slandered the ability of the Egyptian soldier when he told a Tel Aviv news conference Monday of the alleged Soviet involvement within 20 miles of the Suez Canal.

Blood Drawing Is Over Quota

Despite a slow start, residents of Twin Falls and vicinity responded to a last minute appeal and brought the July blood drawing of the Twin Falls Chapter American Red Cross over the quota with 164 pints of blood donated.

The Monday drawing carried a quota of 150 pints and with 164 pints, 160 persons volunteered. Blood Chairman David Nelson said with many residents out of town and others busy with summer activities the community response to the type of community support Twin Falls gives such worthwhile programs.

Baltimore-Ohio Rail Line Is Hit By Strike

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Members of the United Transportation Union (UTU) struck the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad shortly after 6 a.m. EDT today and were reported preparing to strike two other lines in a dispute over eliminating firemen from locomotives.

Virginia Taylor, a spokeswoman for the B&O public relations office here, said the strike began when talks in Washington D.C. broke down late Monday night. The talks also involved the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Pacific. "We don't have any pickets at our headquarters, but they are at other points," Mrs. Taylor said.

In Cleveland, H. E. Gilbert, UTU vice president, confirmed the 702,000 member union had called the strike because of the dispute over elimination of firemen in diesel engine cabs. "We've made every effort to settle this issue," Gilbert said. He contended management had forced them to "use economic means" to settle it.

"It was not known immediately if the other lines were affected in the walkout by engineers, firemen, brakemen and conductors.

The conflict dates to 1963. Mrs. Taylor said when railroaders decided to eliminate firemen from locomotives and the UTU, with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, fought the

Tax Level Studied

Three and possibly four area legislators will meet July 16 with Twin Falls county commissioners and members of the Twin Falls County Tax Equality Committee to air increasing demands on taxpayers.

Herman Jewell, committee secretary, said the meeting was suggested last week when the taxpayers group discussed tax matters with county officials in connection with the county's petition for relief under the House Bill 984 tax revenue limitations.

"At that time the commissioners suggested we let legislators know our position and work with us in heading off the costly new programs for which the taxpayer must foot the bill," Mr. Jewell said.

The meeting open to all interested persons will be held at 8:30 p. m. July 16 in the Idaho Power Co. auditorium.

Commitments have been received from William Lanting, Twin Falls; Bill Roberts, Buhl; and John Heavey, Mindok.

County Mr. Peavey has just been appointed to the state tax study committee. Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls, will probably attend. Mr. Jewell said the similar panel from coastal counties is not a group of water opponents" but rather is interested in a method of distributing the tax load and equalizing burdens to give some protection to the average and low income tax payers who are struggling to make payments and meet rising living costs for families.

Although downtown demolition work is moving on schedule and generally city officials are pleased with the progress, there are a number of problems for the contractor and city as well as the general public.

Following an inspection of the two-block area of Main Avenue now under reconstruction, City Manager Jean Milar said Tuesday some revised plans have been made regarding pedestrian traffic.

He said some barriers will be established in front entrances of stores in the two block area to prevent shoppers from leaving via Main Avenue. Primary purpose of the action, the city manager said, is the safety of the pedestrians. Too many are walking through or milling around construction equipment, and are in danger of suffering injuries.

This is of concern to the contractor as well as the city and store owners are being urged to assist. All shoppers in the two-block area should enter and leave by rear doors and detour, when walking as well as driving, down alleys or on other streets to avoid the construction area, the city manager said.

Some relief for motorists is in sight later this week, he said. Several "parking lots" which have new surfaces will be ready for public use. Mr. Milar said several are now ready for traffic but meters and wheel guards have not been installed. Lots scheduled to open include the one behind the Bank of Idaho building, the one across from the fire station and another across from the police station.

All are adjacent to Main Avenue, bus stop and will assist downtown shoppers.

Grant

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Idaho Department of Health has been awarded a $237,682 grant to help staff the comprehensive mental health center in Lewiston.

Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, said the grant was made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The center will serve five northern counties.

Hansen Asks For Speedup

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Congressman Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) following his return from a two-week fact finding trip withdrawal of troops from Vietnam will be accelerated.

Hansen was a member of a select committee of the House of Representatives recently created to make a fact finding study of United States involvement in Southeast Asia.

The group divided into smaller groups to visit all parts of South Vietnam and other neighboring countries.

"South Vietnam has made measurable progress in building the strength to defend itself," Hansen noted. "The success of the recent operations against enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia should make it possible for the South Vietnamese to take over almost all of the responsibilities for ground combat operations by next spring."

"Progress in the pacification program has helped in the development of the government of local hamlets and villages, most of which now have elected officials," Hansen said.

The weakest link in the South Vietnam chain is its economy. The government faces a formidable task in its efforts to control inflation and to stabilize the economy."

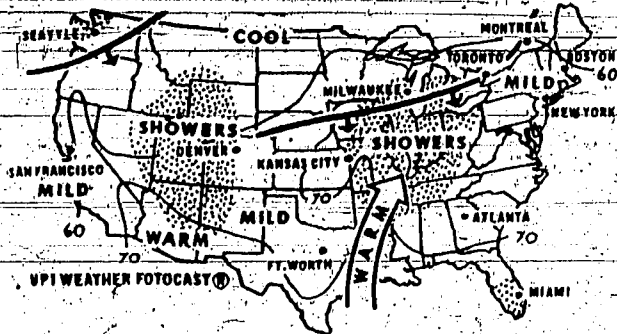

Hansen made visits to five countries including South Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand, Indonesia and Singapore. Among the assignments given to him by the select committee was to explore the possibilities for greater cooperation among all Southeast Asian nations in the areas of economic development, political cooperation and defense.

Hansen's third since 1968. Many political parties would want to see the current unity of Democrats, Socialists and Communists.

Asian Losses Decline By 50 Per Cent

SAIGON (UPI) — Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor said today American casualties in Indochina have declined by more than 50 per cent this year compared with the same period of 1969.

Records show that 6,623 Americans were killed and 39,695 wounded in the first six months of 1969. Through June 27 of this year the toll was 2,979 men killed and 10,977 wounded.

Resor, concluding an inspection visit to Vietnam, said in a departure statement that the United States also has been able to reduce its combat ground strength by 21 per cent with the withdrawal of 115,000 American troops from Southeast Asia during the past year.

"We have made substantial progress in Vietnamization to date," Resor said. "While a difficult period lies ahead, when it is necessary to meet the goal of withdrawing 150,000 American servicemen by May 1, 1970, and at the same time to meet the goals established for the pacification program."

Resor noted that the South Vietnamese army now has responsibility for the vast Mekong Delta, the Saigon area, most of the Central Highlands and the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) border with North Vietnam.

Rogers appeared optimistic on his arrival about the survival of non-Communist governments in Cambodia and South Vietnam but convinced a prosperous Japan must aid the other Asian nations. He will meet separately Wednesday with Finance Minister Takeo Fukuda and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

Rogers arrived in an Air Force jet from Saigon where he conferred with Vietnam War Allies. His arrival coincided with release of a congressional report in Washington that said

Truck Wreck Kills Nine In Colorado

MARBLE, Colo. (UPI) — A pickup truck carrying a dozen persons along a winding Colorado mountain road plunged 200 feet down the mountainside and into a storm-swollen river late Monday. Nine of those on board were missing and feared dead.

Sheriff's deputies and mountain rescue teams spent the night in the area looking for the passengers, but finally called off the search after locating the remains of the truck in the Crystal River.

"They found it in 15 to 18 feet of water," a Colorado State Patrol dispatcher said. "The entire top was ripped off the there were no bodies nearby. We don't know for sure if they're dead, though."

Heavy rain was falling along the steep mountain slopes by the south central Colorado area as the search teams called for halt to their efforts until daylight.

Authorities said the pickup truck, driven by Thomas T. Robinson, Crested Butte, apparently plunged off the winding, dirt road near the 10,000-foot level on Schofield Pass.

Law officers learned of the accident after Robinson and his two children, Margie and Beren Robinson, were found walking on a road between Carbondale and the scene of the accident in South Central Colorado.

Officers said Robinson told them he did not know five of the people aboard the pickup. The three Robinsons were taken to a Glenwood Springs Hospital for treatment of shock and minor bruises.

Twin Falls News In Brief

Mrs. Eleton was graduated from Twin Falls High School with the class of 1947.

Interstate Car Wreck Hurts Woman

A young Gooding woman was slightly injured Monday evening in a two-car collision on Interstate 80N in Jerome County.

Idaho State Police said Mrs. Crystal Norman, 18, was treated and released from Gooding Memorial Hospital after the accident.

She was a passenger in a Volkswagen driven by her husband, Russell D. Norman, 21, which collided with a car driven by Phil Payne, 49, Burley.

Officers said Mr. Payne missed a turn-off to Twin Falls and attempted to get into the Twin Falls bound lane via an emergency turn-off. The Volkswagen was passing Mr. Payne who turned from the outside lane to get into the turn-off. The two vehicles sideswiped and the Volkswagen rolled into the median strip.

Officers said there are "too many" accidents occurring at emergency turnoffs and that the roads are for authorized vehicles only. The turnoffs are not to be used except by highway maintenance trucks, police cars, ambulances, wreckers and firetrucks, they said.

Mr. Payne was issued a citation for inattentive driving. His wife was a passenger in his car, but Mrs. Norman was the only one of the four people who was injured.

Street Survey Indicates Taxpayers Face Higher Cost

Results of a block-by-block study of streets in Twin Falls and recommendations for bringing the street system up to standard at the lowest possible cost to taxpayers are now in the hands of Twin Falls County Council members.

City Manager Jenn Millar and City Engineer George Michaels began the street review just before the first of the year to inventory present streets and determine emergency and long range needs.

Now completed, the report has been submitted to City Council members for review and action.

Seven specific recommendations are included in the report and a typical financing schedule which would provide for funding repairs, new construction and resurfacing and widening of outmoded streets. Financing calls for greater property-owner participation along specific streets.

progressive improvement program to cover all of the city. If five miles of streets per year are improved and brought up to standard, the study team found, it would be possible to keep pace with street needs. Those initially improved in the first five year program would probably be ready for widening and reconstruction after the first complete program had been covered.

Further, the report recommends paving standards be increased to take greater advantage of plant-mix methods rather than a majority of cold-mix material.

There are 107.8 miles of streets in Twin Falls of which only 34.5 miles are in good condition; 45.7 miles in fair condition; and 27.6 miles in poor or unimproved condition. Of the streets, 10.3 miles represent state and federal highways with State Highway 74 and U.S.

Highways 89 and 30 passing through the city. Less than half of all of the streets in the city have curb and gutter, the report reveals.

Under the proposed financing program, the city would spend $70,665 on street work in the first eight years and $936,641 in the next 17 years. In the first year, for example, projects totaling $264,000 would be undertaken with $37,588 coming from property owners and $226,412 from city fund expenditures. This ratio would change year by year until in the eighth year the city would pay only $3,071 and the property owners $353,329 and in the ninth year the entire burden would rest with property owners on whose streets improvements were being made or with the developer of the new subdivisions. A continuing plan of financing would then maintain the program.

The report covers state and federal routes through the city, County Highway District and city-maintained streets and industrial-area programs.

Among recommendations is one for increasing street cost participation by residents on new streets. Fees have not been changed for 17 years, Mr. Millar said, but street construction costs are much different than they were 17 years ago. For 1970 the cost of street building for base and pavement only is $5.04 per lineal foot. The city collects $1 per foot for gravel and $2 per foot for road mix pavement streets and provides the remainder of the cost. Alleys cost the property owner $1.10 per foot with the city footing the rest of the bill. Only streets with curbs and gutters or projects where paving, curbs and gutters are included are accepted for this method of improving.

The report recommends that the city increase advance payments for this method of street improvement to equal cost of construction. The general fund tax dollar could then be used to extend the life of the existing streets by proper maintenance.

Mr. Millar also recommended that the use of improvement districts in street improvement programs be encouraged and suggested that the city consider the investment of city funds in local improvement district bonds.

Industrial area street improvements should be encouraged through LID funding or property owner participation. Residential and commercial areas should be divided into groups for a priority system to provide for a

Residents Protest Horse Pasture

Routine action of approving license applications turned into a complicated matter for the Twin Falls City Council Monday night when Fred Harder, 2133 Addison Ave. E., who has purchased three acres at the east edge of the city, asked for approval for three horses and four beef animals.

A petition from seven adjoining property owners was presented protesting the request and a number of the residents attended the meeting to ask that the license be denied. City officials said Mr. Harder had complied with ordinance requirements and the license was granted. His property is adjoined by 16 homes, all in first-class residential areas.

solid waste. Council members Monday night discussed a franchise-type operation for the proposed five-year contract to be awarded. This would, Mr. Millar explained, give future Councils more freedom. It was suggested a clause be included in the contract giving either the city or the contractor an opportunity to call for a revision in charges based on rising or declining costs.

In other business the council decided to ask the Twin Falls Airport Commission to take a look at landing fees and make a recommendation.

He said he would keep the animals away from the homes, use fly-control methods, and would remove a tree near residential property to prevent the animals gathering there. Under the ordinance, Mr. Harder could have 23 animals but is asking permission for only seven, the Council noted.

Property owners, who said their patios all face the pasture, now have the alternative of protesting the license and asking a hearing to have it revoked if the animal control ordinance is violated.

City officials authorized City Manager Jenn Millar to call for bids for the purchase of two new dump trucks for the street department and signed a new agreement with the Twin Falls Highway District for maintenance on streets which border between the city and county. There are about eight miles of such streets and four will be assigned city jurisdiction and four miles will come under county responsibility.

On July 16, the city will open bids for a sanitation contract to hire a firm to pick up and haul

NEW YORK (UPI)—A disgruntled subway rider was seriously injured Monday night when he tried to kick a speeding train in a Brooklyn station.

Police said Orlando Vega, 23, of Brooklyn, was kicking and punching at the train he missed pulled out of the station. He lost his balance and caught his leg between two cars of the train.

He was taken to Long Island College Hospital with multiple injuries in his left leg.

The opinion is a classic for epitomizing what the liberal-conservative split on the court is all about. Not long ago, under Chief Justice Warren, it would have been virtually certain that the court would have found a reason for ruling that the states could create no limits on welfare payments.

But Mr. Warren is gone, and so is Justice Fortas.

After 16 years of a liberal court that put some strange restraints on law enforcement, this may be the beginning of a needed breathing spell after the whirlwind.

Make Them Know We Care

WASHINGTON - No one can be sure that the government in North Vietnam really understands the intensity of feelings which it has provoked here by its treatment of U.S. prisoners of war.

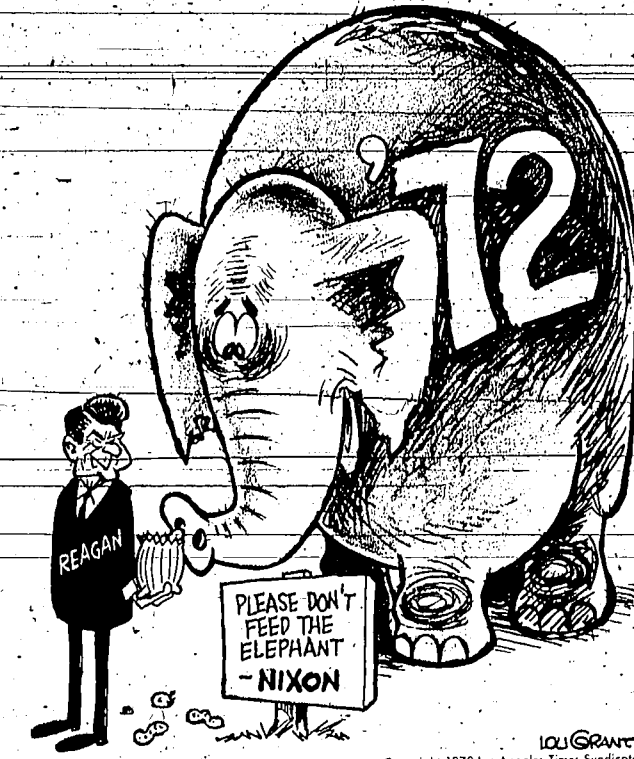

There is a little bit of evidence to indicate that Hanoi is easing the plight of U.S. prisoners' lives so slightly. That filmy evidence comes from an upward trend in the number of letters from U.S. prisoners which have been permitted to reach their families here.

For 1969, totals are still incomplete, because letters written late last year are still trickling in to families here. However, with 1,428 Americans in the MIA and POW categories, at least 208 wrote letters, and 114 of them were writing their families for the first time.

One of the peace organizations, which is a major conduit for the POW letters, is recently reported to have obtained 143 of them from prisoners held in North Vietnam.

In the early part of the war, the U.S. government was wedded to the quiet diplomacy tactic. In early 1969, however, perhaps because of the League's mounting efforts, the State Department began to stress the POW problem at the Paris peace talks and in such forums as the UN and its Human Rights Commission.

Hidden Opposition

WASHINGTON (NEA) - President Nixon has deep, unpublished internal problems within his administration. These difficulties within the major departments and agencies are potentially far more dangerous to the success of his term in office than the opposition he faces in Congress.

It would be easy to say holdovers are causing Nixon's problems. But that would not be true. Much of the hidden opposition comes from men appointed since Nixon came into office.

Eye Cross

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My nephew, 27 months old, has a right eye that crosses terribly when he looks to one side. His mother took him to her family doctor and he said it was a weak muscle and would correct itself in time.

I read somewhere that if this kind of problem is not corrected before the age of 4 it could remain permanently. Is this so? Would you suggest getting the opinion of another physician? - K.A.

This is a form of strabismus, or faulty balance of the eye muscles. I am chronically suspicious when told that a doctor has said that such-and-such a condition "will" correct itself.

Not all cases of strabismus are the same, of course. Some are more serious than others. But eyesight is so important that I wouldn't take chances.

Dear Sir: I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed stamped envelope for your booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I say there is a cure for glaucoma; the other party says no, you must resign yourself to using drops for the rest of your life. What is right?

Also, can cataracts be cured by wearing certain glasses, or is surgery the ultimate answer? - D.A.S.

First question: the other party is right. The dangerous aspect of glaucoma is the accompanying rise in pressure inside the eye, which ultimately damages and destroys vision.

Second question: no glasses can cure cataracts. They may help vision up to a certain point, but beyond that surgery is the ultimate answer.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation."

New Type Bullets Are Used

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Wooden "broomstick" bullets are the newest riot weapon of the Berkeley police.

The pellets—resembling 1 1/2 inch slices of a broom handle—were used for the first time against a Fourth of July rampage of violence by radicals.

A police spokesman said Monday the new weapon was "very effective" in routing about 400 demonstrators. In fact, he said, the rioters turned tail when Police Lt. R. B. Johnson fired the first volley of "broomstick" bullets.

According to Police Lt. C. Roger Hewitt, the wooden pellets and the gas-powered rifle which fires them, were developed in Hong Kong.

Hewitt said that several months ago the police commissioner of Hong Kong visited Berkeley and they had an extensive discussion comparing their riot problems.

The wooden pellets, about an inch and a quarter in diameter, travel about 75 yards. They can cause a very painful bump on their target, but are not intended to be lethal.

With the new weapon, police, although badly outnumbered by demonstrators, were able to put down the Fourth of July disturbance without using tear gas. Rioters in the past have picked up tear gas canisters and thrown them back. Hewitt said the "broomstick" bullets would not be much of a threat in that way.

Jurors At Fate Trial Concerned

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A judge asked a new panel of jurors at the Sharon Tate murder case Monday whether they could give the four defendants a fair trial. Twelve citizens stood up and said they could not.

A third venire of prospective jurors was brought into the courtroom, bringing to 153 the total number of persons called in the case against Charles Manson, and three female members of his "family."

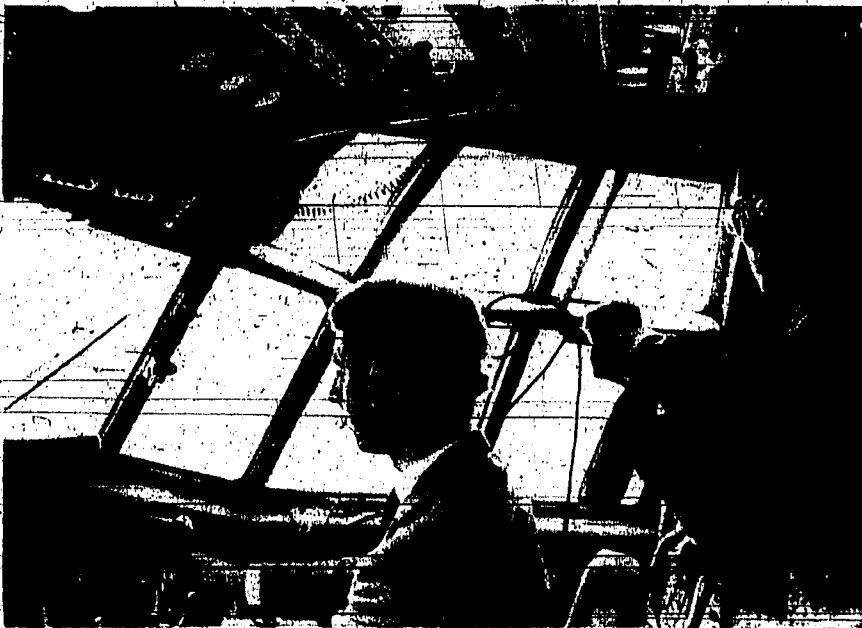

Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi estimated final selection of 12 permanent jurors and six alternates would take two more weeks.

Fifty four of those excused by Monday morning were persons who said their personal lives would not permit them being looked up in a hotel room for the three to five months the trial itself is expected to last.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older declined to reverse his original position that the jury would be sequestered throughout the trial.

When the new panel of 48 prospective jurors was seated Monday, Older gave them general instructions about jury service and asked whether any of them felt they could not give Manson and the three young women the presumption of innocence until proven guilty. He asked them to stand up if they could not.

Seven persons rose from their seats immediately and five others joined them shortly. The 12 were not dismissed right away but they were expected to be excused later.

Nader: Nursing Abuses

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Seven young ladies from Miss Porter's very proper finishing school, spurning summer travel and country club comfort, joined Nader's raiders Monday for a summer study of nursing home abuses.

"These girls could have done a lot of other things with their summers," consumer advocate Ralph Nader said as he introduced his youngest and prettiest raiders at a news conference. "This is a case of the very young reaching out to help the very old."

"When something this exciting and important comes along you just don't pass it up!" Claire Townsend, 18, of Locust Valley, L.I., N.Y., said of the project. Her father, Robert Townsend, is the former Avis Rent-A-Car mogul who wrote the current best seller, "Up the Organization."

Miss Porter's school, in Farmington, Conn., traditionally prepared its charges for a life far from the hedonism and hazards Nader said the girls would find in nursing homes. The school's alumni include Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis.

But Miss Townsend and her colleagues said the school administration was enthusiastic about the project.

The girls began the project by getting nurse's aid jobs at Washington area nursing homes. All but one quit after two days. "The view from my home was a cemetery on one side and a funeral home on the other," Janet Keyes, 17, of Philadelphia, said of the home where she worked.

Nader said the girls would

Rogers In Japan For Confabs

SAIGON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew Tuesday morning from South Vietnam to Japan. U.S. officials said he would ask the Japanese to provide more economic aid for Southeast Asia.

Rogers and his party left Tan Son Nhut Airport aboard an Air Force jet on the third leg of an Asian tour has taken him to a meeting of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO) in Manila and a conference in Vietnam. He will visit Japan and return before returning to the United States next weekend.

Although specific economic figures were not mentioned, U.S. officials said Rogers would discuss Japan's role in financially helping the Southeast Asian nations.

At an airport news conference, Rogers said he was leaving Vietnam "with a feeling that they have made great progress since his visit last year. He said he had no doubt that the war has been reduced."

He briefly reviewed his conversation with Koun Wick, the new Cambodian foreign minister, who flew to Saigon from Phnom Penh at Roger's request Monday so that they could meet. Rogers said Wick gave him the impression that "a non-Communist government would survive in Cambodia without too much difficulty." U.S. sources said Wick requested military assistance for Cambodia in the form of arms, vehicles, communication equipment and uniforms.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Dean Burch of the Federal Communications Commission, disagreeing with two colleagues, said Monday he saw no softening of television news commentary since Vice President Spiro T. Agnew began his mission, disapproving of alleged network bias.

Russian Troop Proposal Divides NATO Nations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The NATO allies are somewhat divided in their initial reaction to a new proposal by Russia and its Warsaw Pact partners for an East-West conference on mutual reduction of troops in Europe.

Some Western diplomats, among them the Americans, are inclined to believe the proposal made by the Warsaw Pact nations at their Budapest meeting last month is loaded with booby-traps.

However, some of the NATO allies, in particular Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands and Belgium, are inclined to take a more optimistic view of the Communist-diplomatic initiative.

In any event, there will be no agreed NATO response until September, officials believe, because of the lengthy vacation periods in European countries and at NATO headquarters in Brussels.

The United States has long favored a conference on mutual reduction of military forces along both sides of the Iron Curtain between NATO and the Warsaw Pact countries—Russia, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

The U.S. objective has been to secure a reduction of Soviet forces totaling about 350,000 in Communist East Europe, of which 200,000 are in East Germany.

About two years ago, Russia and its partners proposed what they called a "European security conference" which would have two main objectives:

First, all parties would renounce the use of force to alter the status quo. In the view of the United States, Britain and some other NATO members, this would be most accepting, in effect, the so-called "Brezhnev Doctrine" under which Russia claims the Warsaw Pact has the right to interfere in the internal affairs of any other "socialist" country where the primacy of the Communist party was endangered.

Second, there would be an agreement on economic cooperation between Eastern European nations and Western European nations.

This proposal found no favor in the West because the NATO allies generally interpreted it as a Soviet effort to get them to ratify the Brezhnev Doctrine with a promise of subsequent economic gain.

But the NATO allies at their recent meeting in Rome agreed to explore the idea of a European security conference if there were some progress on other East-West issues. NATO set forth as a separate proposal an invitation to the Warsaw Pact to join in discussing mutual reduction of forces.

Moscow and its allies came back with another plan for the European security conference, with the suggestion that the first order of business be designation of a group to consider the possibility of reducing "foreign troops stationed on the territories of European states."

This appears to U.S. officials to be just a variation of the original Communist proposal, which is believed to be designed primarily to secure diplomatic recognition of East Germany, as well as approval of the Brezhnev Doctrine.

Record Ride Nets Funds For Charity

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The apparent world's record holder for endurance on a ferris wheel had some unlikely motivation for his feat—his father's job and a book listing the then current world mark for the amusement park ride.

Robert Kemp Sr. is district director of the Maryland Muscular Dystrophy chapter. His son Robert Kemp Jr. had a copy of the Guinness Book of World's Records. It contains almost every conceivable type of record, including the fact that an Englishman stayed on a ferris wheel last year for 14 days and 21 hours.

Armed with a portable television set, a radio, a bedpan and some blankets, Kemp climbed into the wheel at suburban Gwynn Oak Park and stayed there for exactly 15 days raising "over $2,000" for muscular dystrophy along the way.

"I sat around and watched TV mostly," Kemp said after he shakily climbed down from the wheel Saturday afternoon. He could reach over and grab a telephone by the wheel when it stopped at night. "I talked to girls mostly," he said.

Kemp also had time to carve four notches in the seat of his home on wheel in honor of the four reporters who developed motion sickness while interviewing him.

Like an astronaut or a jet ace, Kemp gave an unhesitating "yes I would" when asked if he would go back up there again. About his new fame, Kemp modestly said "A lot more people know me now, that's all. Among them will, presumably, be the editors of the Guinness Book of World's Records.

Boiseans Back Use Of Flag

BOISE (UPI)—The Boise Valley Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union said that it has endorsed a New York ruling upholding the right to use representations of the American flag in promoting unpopular causes.

The federal court of appeals in New York ruled such expression cannot be subject to the personal interpretation of local law enforcement agencies.

The statement approved by the local ACLU chapter said "the right to freedom of speech, to many persons the most important of constitutional guarantees, includes the right to effective expression of fact, belief and opinion. It may be that violation of local taste is not an effective expression, but that is a public relations problem rather than a constitutional one."

Archaeologists Discover Ancient Civilization

TEHRAN (UPI)—Archaeologists have found evidence that an ancient civilization flourished nearly 5,000 years ago in the vast arid desolate wastes of Kavir-E-Lut—the great desert—which covers an area twice the size of England on the central plateau of Iran.

The great Lut comprises one-sixth the total area of the country but supports only 80,000 people on its outer fringes. For centuries it has been known as one of the most arid tracts in the world peopled only with the romance and legend that provide a large part of Iranian mythology.

Now a group of pioneering archaeologists led by Dr. Ali Hakemi, director of the Iran Bastan Museum, are slowly wresting the secrets of the desert from the inhospitable shifting sands. This study follows preliminary surveys carried out by another team led by Prof. Henri de Roche of Paris University which indicated the area contained vast mineral and oil wealth and might have supported an early civilization of some importance.

Hakemi, who has spent a good deal of time on the Lut survey, said Iranian archaeologists attached to the Ministry of Culture and Arts and aided by the Geophysical Department of Tehran University first took up the challenge in 1968 and suffered many initial hardships and disappointments.

"But at Aghos, in the eastern region of this mysterious desert," he said, "we began to turn up some rare archaeological treasures dating back to 3,000 B.C., or even earlier. This was the start."

"On our second expedition, in 1969, we decided to return to the Aghos region again. We started digging last December. Already the team has achieved further successes in discovering much rare pottery, some plain and other pieces decorated. The meaning of the decorative motifs has not yet been ascertained but it could be associated with ancient religious rituals. We don't know."

"A great number of stone and metal vessels of value have also been found. Some of these may date back as early as 4,000 B.C."

"The impressions gained so far based on these finds and the imagination of the early artists, indicate the distinct possibility of a civilization of some importance. Skillful art existed only in the more highly civilized portions in ancient times."

Proceeds From Auction Set For Broadcast

MARJORIE LIERMAN, Times-News Correspondent, FILER—The auctioneer launched into his familiar jargon, the bidding began and became spirited, the spectators crowded closer to watch—and the sale began, pie sale, that is! On a long table before the auctioneer stretched a line of delicious pies—apple, lemon, banana cream, rhubarb, cherry and many others. A strawberry pie brought the high price of the evening—nine dollars, which was added to the other proceeds and will be turned over to Radio Station KSKI-Halley to help sponsor a Halley Radio-Bible broadcast.

The scene was the Peace Lutheran Church, where the pie auction was the highlight of the evening meeting of the Lutheran Layman's League. The radio broadcast is one of the projects in which the group assists.

Irvin Eilers, Kimberly auctioneer, sold the pies, while Walter Mueller served as sales clerk. Members of the Buhl and Kimberly LLL groups were guests for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Westendorf were in charge of the opening devotional service. Ernest Thaele, LLL president, asked each member and guest to introduce themselves. Six members of the Buhl Luther League related their experiences at the Youth Conference held this spring in Portland, Ore., including the parade through the downtown streets of Portland in which 2,000 young people attested their belief in Christ.

The six who attended the conference from Buhl included Susan Behm, Tina Romans, Becky Dais, Phillip Behm, Wayne Toberer and Dennis Romans. They told of the "Impact Teams" which are being formed throughout the country by teen-agers and sang several of the songs of the group. A similar youth conference is to be held in

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our hearts are torn and we are frantic. My father-in-law died last week. He entered the hospital a month ago. His memory was failing and he was confused. The doctor said the cause of death was "hardening of the arteries." We just received the report on his blood test and it showed that he had syphilis! He was 80 years old.

Worse yet, the day of Dad's funeral we received the report on my mother-in-law's blood test. It was the same as Dad's. We feel certain she was an innocent victim of circumstances. (She is 83.)

We cannot understand it, as their health had been excellent until Dad became ill. They were very active and drove their car everywhere and had no signs of anything. I have been in the family for 42 years and felt so safe in their home as in my own. I ate and slept there, and used their bathroom, etc. Now we are scared to death.

We have children and grandchildren to think about. My husband is about to have a nervous breakdown from worry. Our doctor is a man of very few words and offers no advice on how we can protect ourselves.

Please advise us soon as Mom will wonder why we don't ask her over for a meal. She wants to give Dad's clothes to our sons, but now we are afraid to accept them. How careful should we be?

NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR—NO NAME: My medical authorities have informed me that you have absolutely nothing to fear. Your mother-in-law should be examined for clinical evidence of this disease to determine if it's active. It is almost a certainty that it is not and she is not contagious. A "man of few words" is to be admired, but not when he's a doctor and many words are necessary to answer your questions and relieve your troubled mind. It is entirely possible (and the doctor should have told you this) that the reports of the blood test are NOT conclusive, evidence that your parents actually had syphilis. Many other conditions could have produced the same report. My medical expertise says, after having Mom examined, forget it! And your father-in-law's clothing can be worn without fear of contagion.

DEAR ABBY: Minister Whipple wrote to you a second time, apologizing for equating the color "black" with wrong or evil. He feared he might have offended the black race. He was well-intentioned, but needlessly sensitive.

The color black has usually been associated with evil, foreboding and tragedy. The Chinese traditionally tied white as a symbol of mourning. Surely no "white" person would take this as a slur.

How about the "red" man? His color represents anger, rage, danger and communism. Or the "yellow" man? Must he always be the coward? Fortunately we have no "green" man. He would be known as the envious one. And "blue" folks would be in a constant state of depression.

It's true, the "black man" has suffered unjustly in our society, but amends are now being made. And more should be. I think the good minister was being unduly tender.

SINCERELY, E. H. CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING" IN CLARKSBURG, W. VA.—Quit "wondering," and ask her why she suddenly has become so cool and distant. There is obviously some misunderstanding. If she believes that you betrayed her, you should be given an opportunity to defend yourself and clear the air. What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Party Dessert Makes Ideal Grand Finale!

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM Cake could be an elegant ending for a VIP dinner or the heavenly high-point of an afternoon tea. It's a beauty of a dessert that's almost too gorgeous to eat (but you'll manage). Almost all of the preparations can be made ahead of time, making an inviting feature for the hostess. With strawberries in season, this is a perfect dessert for a summer party.

Strawberry Ice Cream Cake Is Pretty And Delicious

Tender cake layers, rich with butter... an elegantly smooth ice cream filling... a crown of ripe berries, ruby-red under their glaze. That's Strawberry Ice Cream Cake, a dream dessert that's everything a party finale should be — sensational to look at and marvelous to eat. But here's the special beauty of it: you can do almost all the preparation ahead of time. Have the ice cream layer in the freezer, set to go. Split the cake — the bottom layer goes on the serving plate, over-wrapped to keep it fresh. Arrange berries and spoon glaze over the top layer. Wrap it, too, (toothpicks will hold the wrap away from the glazed berries). It can stand in the kitchen for several hours. When the big moment arrives, duck into the kitchen, do a quick assembly and make a very grand entrance indeed. (You could get famous).

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM CAKE

Preheated 350 degree oven 2 Round cake pans, 9-inch 8-10 servings
2 pints strawberry ice cream, softened

CAKE	GLAZE
6 tablespoons (3/4 stick) butter	1 cup fresh strawberries
3/4 cup sugar	1 cup sugar
1 egg	1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla	1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour	Dash of salt
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder	1 teaspoon butter
1/2 teaspoon salt	Red food color
2-3 cup milk	Sliced strawberries
	Sweetened whipped cream

Line bottom and sides of one pan, with aluminum foil; pack ice cream evenly in pan; freeze. To prepare cake: Butter and flour second pan; set aside. In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Turn into prepared pan. Bake 35-40 minutes. Cool on wire rack for 5 minutes. Turn out onto rack to cool completely. To prepare glaze: Crush 1 cup strawberries, in a small saucepan combine crushed strawberries, sugar, water, cornstarch and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Stir in butter and food color to tint desired shade. Put through strainer; cool and chill glaze. Split cake layer horizontally. Wrap bottom slice to keep fresh. Place top slice on cookie sheet or flat surface from which it will be easy to slide off. Arrange sliced strawberries on top of cake; spoon glaze over berries. This will hold several hours at room temperature until ready to assemble. To assemble cake: Place bottom slice on serving plate. Turn ice cream on top of cake; remove foil. With two large spatulas lift the glazed cake slice on top of ice cream. Garnish with whipped cream and whole strawberries, if desired.

BURLEY — Canton Rupert No. 19 and Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant held their last sessions prior to summer vacation recently at the Burley IOOF Hall.

Nancy Johnson gave the opening and closing thoughts, and the charter was dropped in honor of Maude Spullock, past president of the International Assembly.

Father's Day was observed with a short program in which Lorie Fenton, daughter of President Velma Fenton, read two poems, "With My Daddy" and "First Choice." The Chevalliers were presented gifts. Flag Day was also observed with Capt. Herbert Kennedy reading a proclamation on the American Flag.

The I.A.P.M. voted to donate $10 to the Department Association and $15 toward the State Junior Past President's Travel Fund.

Agnis Satchwell was pro tem for Pat Arbogast as vice president and Edith Clevenger, junior past president for Birdie Kennedy.

Edith Clevenger was the recipient of the pillow cases with handmade tatted lace. Mrs. Fenton reported she and Mr. Fenton attended the meeting of Colfax No. 13 at Bluff June 1. While there, Mrs. Fenton received a new gavel made and presented by Bert Womack on behalf of Colfax No. 43. Hazel Schwegler and the Fontona visited Poentella No. 11 June 8, and Wood River Valley No. 22 at Gooding June 10.

It was reported June 14, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carpenter, Poentella No. 11 to Idaho Falls, where they joined other canton and I.A.P.M. members in attending the Prosyberian Church in uniform in honor of "Go To Church" Sunday. A covered dish dinner was held at the IOOF Temple after the service.

Plans were made regarding the local picnic to be held at Albion at 7 p.m. Aug. 13. Fried chicken, a covered dish and table service will be in order. Watermelon will be furnished.

After the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arbogast and Mrs. Satchwell served refreshments.

Down-To-Earth Problems Aired In New Booklet For Brides

So you're getting married. You have many things on your mind. You're thinking about your gown, the attendants and the wedding reception list. If you're like most of the smart young brides this year, you and your husband-to-be are also thinking about the down-to-earth problems of married life. You're probably already discussing your future "lifestyle."

Maybe you like to spend money and he's thrifty. Or perhaps you'd rather eat hamburger often and save for better furniture. Spending money will be one of the most important aspects of your new life together. Discuss questions about money before the wedding and try to agree on some compromises. That's what a new booklet, "Getting Married," says to young brides.

If your attitude about spending money is different from his, discuss your ideas with each other. He may think that a color television is more important than a washing machine. You may want to take an expensive vacation the first year, and he may want to furnish your new apartment. "Talk about these things before the wedding," says Mary Louise Lennon, Director, Kimberly-Clark's Life Cycle Center, an information-education service for women of all ages.

Should you work after getting married? Here's another area for different attitudes. Kimberly-Clark's booklet points out. As a working wife, you'll find you're really taking on a second job. And like most brides, you'll find that cooking and keeping house for a man takes more effort than running a one-woman establishment.

Will your husband be willing to help a little with household chores? Some are willing, and others aren't. Can you learn to budget your time and energy between a job and home? "Make the decision about working after marriage with your husband-to-be. Talk about it before the wedding," says Miss Lennon.

Are you willing to share expenses with your husband-to-be? If you're a working wife, you'll find yourself in a different position from the wife who depends solely on her husband to bring home the money. You might want to use "your" money only for luxuries. Your husband-to-be may think that part of your salary should go into the household fund. As single persons, you both spent your earnings as you pleased. Each said, "It's mine." Soon, the word "mine" will change to "ours." You and your future husband might overcome this hurdle by pooling your earnings in a joint bank account. "Be sure you really agree on attitudes and goals. Otherwise, the joint account is only a symbolic gesture," says Miss Lennon.

In spending for entertainment, clothing and food, you have a wide range of choices. Your future lifestyle will be a combination of many ideas. What looks right for another couple may be wrong for you. "Pattern your habits according to your individual needs, and hopes," says Miss Lennon.

Other helpful hints for brides and newlyweds are featured in a booklet available at ten cents, from "Getting Married," The Life Cycle Center, Kimberly-Clark Corporation, Box 551, Neenah, Wis. 54956.

3 Escape Harm In Hailey Crash

HAILEY — Three men escaped injury Monday night when their helicopter crashed west of River Street in Hailey, narrowly missing the heavily populated residential area. Pilot James Post and his passengers, Bill Leglan and Craig Dunn, walked away from the wreckage unhurt, about 9:40 p. m. after the craft apparently experienced engine failure. A small fire was reported when a fuel tank ruptured on landing, but the blaze was quickly extinguished with dry chemicals from the Hailey Fire Department. Two fire trucks were on the scene less than a minute after the crash. Volunteer firemen saw the craft go down in a swampy area about 75 yards from homes.

Deputy City Marshal Dave Vio also witnessed the incident and was on the scene immediately. He said when the craft's engine failed, he saw the pilot make a fast dive to the west where it crashed.

Area residents said the crash sounded like an explosion that was "lifting the roofs off" homes nearby. No damage to homes was reported.

The pilot had just taken off from the Friedman Memorial Airport at Hailey when the crash occurred. The helicopter is owned by Interstate Helicopters, Albuquerque, N. M., and was consigned to the Sawtooth National Forest for fire-suppression work.

The three men were reportedly on a training flight at the time. Damage to the craft was light, they said, with the skids torn off beneath the fuselage, the props bent and the tail was broken.

State Director of Aeronautics Chet Meador was in Hailey today to investigate the crash.

2 Pupils Selected For Study

RUPERT — Pat Cunningham and Brian Drew, seniors at Minidoka High School, have been selected for participation in the work-study program for high school students at the Wyoming State Training School in Lander, Wyo. for a 10-week period.

The summer assignment provides classroom instruction in aspects of mental retardation and 30 hours a week of laboratory practice for practical application of concepts learned in the classroom. Guest lecturers include administrators, educators, physicians, nurses, psychologists, social workers, and others involved in work with the retarded. Summer work-study students generally receive several hours of academic credit.

The purpose of the work-study program is to help increase understanding of institutional work with the mentally retarded and to demonstrate various possibilities for recruiting and training personnel for paraprofessional service in this work.

The summer-work program is part of a grant by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and is made possible by the joint sponsorship of the University of Wyoming and the Wyoming State Training School.

Woman Is Cited After Area Crash

RUPERT — Mrs. Helen Sorenson, 38, Albion, was cited by State Patrolman Gordon Mills for passing at an intersection after an accident at 1:45 p. m. Saturday on State Highway 77 south of the DeLoe interchange. Patrolman Mills said, Mrs. Sorenson and James Anest, 43, Burley, were both traveling north on the highway when Mr. Anest started to make a left turn.

Mrs. Sorenson had passed another vehicle and was in the process of passing Anest when the collision occurred. The Sorenson vehicle struck a canal bridge railing, went across the bridge in the opposite lane of traffic, spun around and stopped crosswise in the northbound lane.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Anest auto and $1,500 to the Sorenson car.

Visit Parents

SHOSHONE — Chief W.O. and Mrs. Richard Thomas and children are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas. Thomas has had 16 years in the armed forces and has served in a number of countries. He is in military intelligence unit at Ft. Meade, Md.

Flat Tire Causes Car Damage

BURLEY — David G. Wesson, 14, Burley, was treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital Sunday night after being injured when a tire went flat on the car he was driving.

The 1951 sedan, owned by Joe Holyoak, Burley, the youth was driving was demolished. State Patrolman Roy Holloway said the driver was traveling south on 1150 West when the left front tire went flat, pulling the vehicle to the left and into a field.

The youth attempted to pull the auto back to the highway but it overturned.

Posts Bond

RUPERT — Duane Crampson, 31, Toledo, Ohio, is free on a $500 bond he posted after arraignment before Probate Judge Terry Blacker. He was arrested on a felony charge of non-support and was brought back to Rupert on a warrant.

Magic Valley Street Conditions Rapped At Ketchum

KETCHUM — Ketchum's display in Gincobbi Square shopping center in Ketchum, Ralph Thomas, Ketchum, met with the council and reported that development will begin immediately on nine-hole golf course in the Spring Development in North Ketchum. The course will be across the highway with a tunnel beneath the highway for players.

Mayor Kenneth Ritchey said he believed that enough work had been completed on the sewer project to allow repair of the streets. Engineer Harold Cox, Boise, said that paving of several of the streets was a bid item in the contract awarded to the Tony Russell Construction Co., for the sewer project. Therefore, the company is believed obligated to repair the streets, Mr. Cox told the council.

Mayor Ritchey said he is hoping to get the work done in the near future, at least within a block of Highway 93. About $30,000 has been allocated for repair of the streets by the city. Councilmen voted to consider which streets would be dust-coated this year and which would be seal-coated so that work could begin.

The mayor also suggested that the city write to highway officials in an attempt to get a traffic signal installed at the intersection of Highway 93 and the Sun Valley Road in Ketchum. Traffic counters are presently on both roads to determine the traffic volume. On a motion from the Council, City Attorney Steve Boller was authorized to write to the Blaine County school board, relinquishing all rights to an old bell which was recently given to the city. the war in Vietnam. Since this is a bridge column, we can't take any position on Roosevelt or Vietnam, but we can rise to the defense of both South and the Blackwood convention. We would have bid just the way South did.

As for North, we fear that he had no case at all. North had 17 high-card points, plus two 10-spots, for his two-no-trump response. The normal two-no-trump response is 13-15 and, while some textbooks recommend responding three-no-trump with this sort-of North-hand, we have found that the bid is clumsy and usually inadequate. Instead, we would try either two diamonds, or three diamonds as a starter.

In any event, when South rebid three hearts, North could well have tried something a trifle stronger than four hearts and finally after South's six-heart bid, North could certainly have afforded to continue to six-no-trump himself.

(Newspaper-Enterprise-Asst.)

One of our greatest trial lawyers is supposed to have advised that with a good case, you should try it on the facts; with a fair case, you should try it on merit; but with a bad case, you should try anything except facts or merit.

The game was duplicate. West opened the ace of diamonds and South had no trouble taking the rest of the tricks. Six no-trump would make just as easily and seven would be there with any lead but a diamond. When it turned out that almost every other North-South pair had reached the no-trump slam, North blamed his partner, his partner's use of the Blackwood convention, the Blackwood convention itself, the Roosevelt administration (North had voted for Landon) and

PASS IT ON

LOVE AND WAR—Take a woman who habitually wears a big bracelet. Or an ankle chain. Or a rope of beads around her neck. Such a girl is thought to be moved by the desire to be somebody's property. To be in bondage, as it were. Or so say the psychiatrists. An obvious analysis; what? Still, just because it's obvious doesn't mean it's wrong. On the contrary. Clear, the way to handle this sort of female is to be firm. Tell her she's yours, nobody else's, and she'll do as you say or you'll padlock her to the bedpost. That is our Love and War man's advice on the matter.

A GOOSE may furnish up to a pound of feathers, however reluctantly. ... THE COMPUTER BOYS figure a 70-year-old woman has spent on the average approximately 13 years of her life just talking. ... OF THE 528 RADIO broadcasters who describe themselves as "solo stations," only five are owned by blacks. ... SOME OF THOSE big cross-country freight trucks get no more than five-ninety to the gallon of gasoline. ... NOBODY CAN EXPLAIN why Gemini men tend to be conversation monopolizers, says our Planet man.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q. "If I asked you to name the organization that uses the motto 'They always get their man,' what would you say?" A. Maybe the Stewardess-Emeritus Association? Certainly you can't mean the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Motto of that outfit is "Maintain the right." ... Q. "What states still allow alimony?" A. All but Texas, Colorado and Pennsylvania.

A HEN'S EYES magnify everything. Including her food. To her, a kernel of corn always turns out to be only half as big as it looked. Must be disappointing, what? ... WHEN THEY NAMED Iceland and Greenland, they certainly got confused. Most of all of Iceland is green and most of all of Greenland is ice.

CONSIDER THIS—When Jules Verne 100 years ago wrote about Americans who landed on the moon, he depicted their lift-off from earth at Stone Hill, Fla., approximately 50 miles from what is now Cape Kennedy. That's not all. Mr. Verne's fictional flight took 97 hours 20 minutes to get to the moon. Our Apollo X required 98 hours 10 minutes. Pretty close. Mr. Verne splashed his three astronauts down in the Pacific Ocean, too.

RAPID REPLY—No, sir, am told there's no such thing as a domesticated ringneck pheasant. They won't tame.

Record Reviews

EXCELLENT VERY GOOD
GOOD FAIR POOR

Matthew's Southern Comfort: Ian Matthews (Decca DL 76181) There are some excellent moments in this fine new album of country and folk rock, and well there should be.

Matthews is a good new talent, although he's not a new talent, and he has some excellent help from some excellent friends, several who are the largest part of the fine folk rock group "Fairport Convention."

A dozen musicians perform on the album with Matthews, and they turn out some very good music, which shifts in tone and context to give a well varied album with many polished facets.

Among the best tunes in the album are "A Commercial Proposition" and "Please Be My Friend." Both folk rock numbers, and "The Watch," a curiosity intriguing number full of delicately beautiful guitar work.

Matthews, who sings only in this album, and depends on his friends for the musical talent, has a firm but gentle voice which he uses to good advantage.

There is much talent in this album, and much to enjoy.

Bartok: Piano Concerto No. 2; Stravinsky: Concerto for Piano and Wind Instruments; BBC Symphony Orchestra, Colin Davis, Conductor; Stephen Blashop, pianist (Philips SAL 3779)

The immensely difficult piano works of Bartok and Stravinsky seem like child's play in the hands of talented young (30) Stephen Blashop, born in the U.S. and now living in England.

The two composers are total contrasts, for Bartok was a masterful piano composer and wrote many works for piano, and Stravinsky wrote exceedingly little for piano.

The works, however, are vitally alike in modern tonalities and skillful use of chromatics. Both fairly hum with strident piano chords.

Although strict romanticists may disagree, there is very little dissonance in either work. The works of both composers strive for the fullest chromatic explorations of the instruments.

The performance by Blashop and the BBC Orchestra under the baton of Colin Davis is masterful. It is difficult to find fault with the recording technique, either, since both

The Best of Charlie Mingus (Atlantic SD 1835)

When Charlie Mingus developed the notes of the famous "Better Git It In Yo Soul" back in the 1950s, he must have thought he discovered the last chord.

For he's been experimenting around that same jazz riff for the past two decades. The funny part about it is that jazz buffs don't get tired of it, and neither, apparently, does he.

The riff came right out of some black church, obviously, and remains infectious despite 15 years of Mingus' experimentation. He seldom strays from the simplistic structure of the tune.

Those notes run throughout this album, through "Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting" and "Hog Callin' Blues" and "Haitian Fight Song" and "Pithecanthropus Erectus."

Oddly enough, the creation which started it all, "Better Git It In Yo Soul" is not included in this "best" album.

The only tune in the album to stray from the Mingus Doctrine is "Eat That Chicken," a rollicking old boogie number which pays musical homage to Fats Waller.

These cuts were recorded between 1956 and 1961, and although they include some of his best work, it omits the classical Mingus things like "Better Git It In Yo Soul" and some of the excellent work in his "Tijuana Moods" album (which is on another label).

But if you're a stranger to this strange musician, you'll get a good idea of what he's like in this album. If you know what Mingus is like, it's still a good sampling of some of his better work.

It's worthwhile just to listen to his sax men (John Handy, Booker Ervin, Pepper Adams, Roland Kirk, Curtis Porter, J. R. Montrose, and Jackie McLean) just for starters.

Five stars. Carry'n' On: Grant Green (Blue Note BST 84327)

They rise to the occasion...

...but after cut throughout this album, churning out a very appealing brand of jazz despite the change of course they've undergone.

All the tunes but one are by Harris, and there is much musical invention here, both in writing and arranging and in the playing of the tunes.

New trails, but still a good route.

Four stars.

Comment: Les McCann (Atlantic SD 1547)

Les McCann learned two things with his "Swiss Movement" album, (Atlantic SD 1537), which was one of the fastest selling jazz albums in the nation for quite a while last year and early this year.

What he learned from the album is that (1) There is a demand for protest songs and (2) Protest songs sell well. The song "Compared To What" from that album was one of the reasons it sold so fast, even though it contained some excellent jazz. ("Compared To What" was first recorded by McCann back in the early 1960s and nobody noticed it, because that was before protest songs were in vogue.)

This new album isn't an album of protest songs, although the introduction to the song "Comment" has a low rasping things to say, and "Comment" delivers a message of brotherhood and peace: "If all men are truly brothers, why can't we love one another, love and peace from ocean to ocean."

McCann sings well, for a piano player, and a good piano player at that. He has a deep voice and although he'll never become a Nat King Cole, he wouldn't be booped down, either.

He has a fine, shifting group of sidemen backing him on this album, and is joined by his protege, Roberta Flack, who is a fine singer, on several cuts.

It's enjoyable. But McCann jazz fans will find it a drag.

Three stars.

Invading Foxes Perplex British

LONDON (UPI)—Not so long ago the closest the average Londoner got to a fox was his tail, or rather brush, nailed to the wall of a country pub.

But times are changing. Slowly, stealthily, foxes are creeping into the plushier wooded outskirts of the sprawling city, gobbling chickens, raiding garbage cans, stealing the cats milk and sometimes grabbing the cat itself.

Some say the foxes are moving in on London, others that London is gradually invading the foxes' home ground as more people try to get away from it all but remain within an hour's train journey of the city center.

Whichever is true, the foxes are becoming a problem for those who have them and a delight to train commuters. "Seen 'em?" said a woman sitting next to me recently as a commuter train hopped and clattered into London.

Generally Londoners seem to believe there is something wrong with people who talk on trains so I just sat in the sun and continued to endure the displeasure of early morning commuting.

She nudged me. "Seen the foxes today?" "I had not and probably would have taken them for dogs if I had, but this woman and I got talking."

There was a family of foxes she said, with an "earth" in the embankment of the South London railway line. They were usually seen trotting about their business at 7:30 in the morning. "The vixen should be cubbing soon," said a knowledgeable looking man.

Everybody seemed to know about foxes and by the time we plunged into the cavernous mouth of the main station the whole compartment was discussing them.

Fate? Well, of course, they cannot just be left to get on with it, someone has to be

Too Much Food Can Be Deadly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The dictionary defines ecology as "the branch of biology dealing with the relations between organisms and their environment."

Ecology is a part of their everyday vocabulary during the past year or two because of widespread publicity about air and water pollution.

Now we are being asked to learn a new word—eutrophication.

Briefly defined, eutrophication is the presence in water of too much of the life-giving substances that are necessary to all living animals and plants.

When there is an overabundance of these nutrients in a lake or stream the water plant life—mainly algae—grows too abundantly and eventually chokes itself. As it dies, the decaying plant life kills the fish population by using up the oxygen in the water.

Eutrophication may combine with pollution, however, to render a lake or stream almost hopelessly "dead," as in the case of Lake Erie.

Eutrophication wasn't much of a problem in America until the advent of modern laundry and dishwashing detergents—all of which use phosphates—and modern chemical fertilizers.

Scientists generally agree that the substances that can lead to eutrophication—such as carbon, nitrogen and iron—are present in large amounts in most lakes and streams.

However, when millions of housewives began flushing billions of gallons of phosphates down the drain, they provided the "triggering element" that the plants needed to begin their lush growth.

Research continues, however, and some scientists—mainly in the detergent industry—insist that phosphates have not yet been proved the culprit.

The old "don't monkey with the boat" has been updated to "hot off the truck."

WILL BE CLOSING AT 5 P.M. WEDNESDAY, JULY 8

In Preparation of our WAREHOUSE SALE

This album is basically one of slow and mid-tempo work, with only one really uptempo tune. Consequently, his sax work sounds much more civilized and far less frenetic than his prior two albums (although they were excellent in their own right).

More attention is paid to melodies and rhythms here, it appears, than the "sound" which Harris developed in 1968 and 1969.

What comes out sounds good, jazz for the work of Harris group is more self-consciously professional now that it's under the gun to compare with the work of the past few years.

Tug-Of-War Triggers Loud Cries Of 'Foul'

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — Rotterdam cried foul today while its team members dried their clothes. Glenville said it won fair and square. The event in question was a tug of war Sunday across the Mohawk River, held to decide which of the two Schenectady suburbs is older. The 150-man Rotterdam team, tipping the scales at 31,867 pounds at the official weigh-in, was the apparent favorite over the 28,860-pound Glenville squad anchored by Mike Letko, a 5-foot-10, 495-pound restaurant security guard.

But after seven minutes of red-faced struggling, Rotterdam began sliding into the river and jubilant Glenville claimed victory. The losers cried foul, charging that 20 or so pro-Glenville spectators among the wildly cheering crowd of 25,000 townsfolk had jumped into the act, giving the underdogs the extra oomph they needed to turn the tide. The two towns, celebrating their sesquicentennial anniversaries, were incorporated the same day, April 14, 1820. But history failed to record the time of day. Sunday's contest was supposed to settle the question once and for all.
