

Gunfire Used At Asbury

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (UPI) — Police used gunfire to control black youths rampaging in the center of this Atlantic Coast resort town Tuesday night. Disorders also broke out in two other nearby New Jersey towns: Red Bank and Freehold, but were controlled within several hours.

Asbury Park police reported 100 persons injured, 45 by gunshot wounds. More than 225 persons were arrested.

Sgt. Joseph Koubis, state police spokesman, and city Police Chief Thomas Smith said their men fired in the air and denied any knowledge of police shooting at demonstrators. Asked why so many people were wounded, Koubis replied, "I don't know." Smith said he would make a further statement "when I have all the facts."

Nine policemen were injured Tuesday, bringing to 16 the number of officers hurt in the three nights of disorders. None had gunshot wounds and police said reports of sniping were unfounded.

Vandals Driven Back Two hundred black youths raced through a one-block East Side area Tuesday smashing windows and hurling molotov cocktails before they were driven back by 150 police firing rifles, shotguns and revolvers.

Small groups of blacks roamed the streets in Red Bank, 10 miles north of Asbury Park, and in Freehold, the Monmouth County seat 15 miles to the west. All available police were pressed into service in both towns.

In Freehold, police said five firebombs were thrown and at least one store was looted. They said there were no arrests. Mayor William Boyle said the problem was "just some guys raising hell."

In Red Bank four small fires were set and several stores were reported looted. Police put on an 11:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

Action By Nixon Ends Surprise Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has ended a surprise strike against three major railroads and averted a threatened nationwide rail stoppage by ordering up a new government effort to solve a union dispute hanging more than a decade.

Nixon imposed a 60-day halt to a strike which began suddenly Tuesday morning against the Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville and Southern Pacific railroads. The United Transportation Union action had stranded passengers and perishable freight in 10 states.

The President ordered creation of a special emergency board to make a new effort to unknit an 11-year-old controversy over whether firemen are needed in diesel engines. The order exhausted Nixon's statutory powers in the dispute, meaning Congress might have to act if the matter is still unsettled two months from now.

The action prohibits strikes or lockouts on the part of any union or carrier for the length of the cooling off period. This provision was aimed at ending the possibility of a nationwide lockout by other railroads, a threat which the railway labor conference leveled after the strike began.

Some of the affected rail service returned to normal shortly after Nixon acted, and the three carriers made plans to return to their regular freight and passenger schedules today.

Two firms won award bids for $82,807.76 worth of movable equipment for two new College of Southern Idaho buildings.

College officials reserved awarding of bids on some items and still have under consideration items totaling between $7,042 and $10,590.

If bids for those items are accepted after samples of the product are seen by the officials, the total of items bid will fall about $17,000 under the $110,000 budgeted. College officials have indicated they were generally pleased with the bids, in that most fell within line or below estimates.

There were 96 separate items which were bid for the multi-use building and residence hall. Twenty firms from throughout the United States submitted bids.

Successful bidders were Streator Industries, Inc., Salt Lake City; Fisher's Office Equipment, Inc., Boise; The Buckstaff Co., Wisconsin; Vost Office Systems, Idaho Falls; Beehive Office Equipment, Salt Lake City; Kalbua Office Supply, Boise; Chapman Co., Twin Falls; Kane's Furniture, Twin Falls; Spencer's Office Supply, Inc., Twin Falls; Global Billiard Supply Co., Spokane, Wash.; Fox Floral, Twin Falls; Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Wisconsin.

Bids were opened June 30 and trustees and members of the CSI Housing Commission met Monday to review the bids. The two board then gave college officials, including Dr. James L. Taylor, president, Herb Van Slyke, business manager, and Ed Peterson, architect, authority to award bids. Delivery and installation of all items bid must be completed by Oct. 1.

BOISE (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Fred M. Taylor denied a dismissal motion Tuesday in a case challenging interest rates charged by two Idaho banks on unpaid credit card balances.

Judge Taylor also denied a motion to make the complaint against the First Security Bank of Idaho and Idaho First National Bank more definite and ordered the banks' attorneys to file answers against the complaint within 20 days.

Finance Commissioner John D. Silva brought the complaint and charged he was injured and prejudiced in administering and enforcing state banking and small loan laws when national banks charged 18 per cent annually on unpaid credit card balances.

Limit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House commerce subcommittee approved a bill Tuesday to limit after the 1970 elections the amount a candidate may spend on radio and television campaigning for president, vice president, the House, the Senate and governor.

Turmoil Enveloping Viet Prison Finding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An aide to a House fact-finding committee resigned Tuesday, charging that some congressmen and government officials tried to "hide information about 'inhumane torture cells' for political prisoners at a South Vietnamese prison.

Thomas R. Harkin, who accompanied the 12 committee members on a two-week inspection trip to Southeast Asia, said about 500 men, women and even high-school aged youths were stuffed into "tiger cages" at the Devils Island-style prison.

He described the "tiger cages" at the Con Son Island prison as tiny nine-foot, deep concrete pits—some crammed with as many as five men although they measure about five-by-nine feet.

Harkin said he and Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., examined the cells during the tour by the Select Committee on U.S. Involvement in Southeast Asia.

The committee's 70-page official summary of the trip, which ended Saturday, emphasized the economic problems facing South Vietnam. It made only brief reference to the prison, located 10 miles off the Mekong River delta in the South China Sea.

Harkin told a news conference Tuesday the report was "a whitewash and a snow job."

"The conditions in these cages can only be described as shocking," said Harkin, 36, former Navy jet pilot who flew combat missions in Vietnam.

"The prisoners are never allowed out; the food is minimal and they are given little water," he said. "Many are forced to drink their own urine. Most of the men could not stand up, their legs having been paralyzed by beatings and by being shackled to a bar."

"There are buckets of lime dust kept above the cages and the guards throw this down on the prisoners when they beg for food or water," Harkin said.

Harkin said U.S. State Department and South Vietnamese officials resisted efforts by the three men to inspect the prison and the "tiger cages."

On the return flight to the United States, Harkin said committee chairman, Rep. G. W. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., told him that it would be "a terrible thing" if photographs Harkin took at Con Son were made public. Montgomery said the whole matter "could best be handled through proper channels," Harkin said.

Fact-Finding Unit Rejects Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of a House fact-finding committee today rejected charges they tried to cover up prison abuses they discovered in South Vietnam. But they conceded they debated at length on whether and how much to publicize it.

"Rather than just talking about it, it seems to me the committee moved properly to correct it," Rep. Ross E. Adair, R-Ind., senior GOP member of the 12-man committee, said of the bipartisan group's decision to include no details of the grim findings in its official report.

When advised that two of its members had discovered political prisoners packed into "tiger cage" windowless concrete pits on an island 80 miles off coast, the committee lodged protests both with the U.S. and South Vietnam officials and were assured corrective steps would be taken, Adair said.

SAIGON (UPI) — Sharp fighting flared in South Vietnam's northern quarter and in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, Allied military spokesmen said today. American paratroopers lost four dead and 34 wounded in the north, with South Vietnamese units reporting 10 dead and 13 wounded in the delta.

Field reports from U.S. 101st Airborne Division troops operating in jungled mountains 26 miles west of the old tropical capital of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, said two companies of American troops were hit in the same vicinity Tuesday.

One company lost three dead and 19 wounded. The second was hit 750 yards to the south with small arms and rocket grenades that killed one American and wounded 15. Communist casualties were unknown.

Guerrilla mortar fire hit American positions in the region twice during the day. There were light casualties but no one was killed, U.S. spokesmen said.

The American units were said to be probing a Communist buildup in the area, military sources said.

American B52 bombers dropped at least 380 tons of bombs on suspected Communist concentrations in the western mountains of Quang Tri and Thun Thien provinces, in the far northern reaches of the war zone.

Money Is Granted To Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Peace Corps and its volunteer members have been criticized for different reasons but the corps appeared certain today of another year of life.

The House Tuesday passed its version which would authorize $20 million as requested by the administration. The Senate earlier voted a $80 million authorization. Actual money must come later in an appropriation bill.

The House bill also contained a provision, not in the Senate measure, that would authorize the director to draw up regulations curbing the behavior of Peace Corps volunteers.

The regulations would be aimed at guaranteeing members shall not, in the words of the House bill, "engage in any activity determined by the director to be detrimental to the best interests of the United States."

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee which drafted the bill, acknowledged in debate that 12 members were recalled last fiscal year because they demonstrated abroad against U.S. Vietnam policies. But Morgan said, "that was 12 of 10,000 members. Not a bad record."

Nixon Asks For Aid To Indians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today for a comprehensive new program to help the nation's Indians, whom he termed "America's most neglected minority group."

In a special message to the House and Senate, the President said the emphasis should be on allowing American Indians independence from government control "without being cut off from federal concern and federal support."

He said the policy would reject "the extreme policy of constant paternalism" while at the same time affirming that the historic relationship between the federal government and Indian communities cannot be terminated without the Indians' consent.

Nixon's program also would return 48,000 acres of sacred land near Blue Lake in New Mexico to the Taos Pueblo Indians.

The President pointed out that the Taos had used the lake and watershed area for religious purposes starting in the 14th century by the tribe for religious purposes. In 1908, the land for creation of a national forest.

More U.S. Troops On Way Out

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. military is planning a "phase four" program to withdraw 150,000 more GIs from Vietnam by removing the advance elements of an Air Force squadron from the war zone, U.S. military sources said today.

The withdrawal was believed to involve about 300 men, including 100 crewmen and 200 support personnel.

It came as South Vietnam announced it had poured 6,000 fresh troops across the border for a new operation in the Cambodian part of the Mekong Delta.

The new drive was designed to keep heavy pressure on Communist sanctuaries and permit the new American troop withdrawals to proceed on schedule.

In Phnom Penh, a government spokesman quoted a Communist defector as saying two-thirds of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers fighting in South Vietnam had been pulled into Cambodia for a drive to return Prince Norodom Sihanouk to power and restore supply lines and sanctuaries cut off by allied operations.

But Roy Erickson, vice president of Northwest, said "The planes are going to be flying, there's no question about that. We're going to keep regular schedules."

Fletcher said the BRAC had "full support" from Northwest's mechanics and was "hopeful" of support from the company's pilots.

He said Northwest would be able to fly its planes for only 72 hours if the mechanics refused to cross picket lines.

The BRAC represents about 3,500 reservation clerks, transportation agents and general office employees.

The airline announced Tuesday it would put its latest contract offer into effect Wednesday, without the approval of the union. For BRAC members reporting to work.

The offer was rejected by the union's negotiating committee at 3 a.m. Tuesday, when talks broke off.

Airline Strike Is Called

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC) struck Northwest Orient Airlines early today. Union officials predicted the airline would be shut down within 72 hours.

Jack C. Fletcher, an international vice president of the union, said picketing began at Northwest facilities throughout the world after the strike began at 1 a.m.

But Roy Erickson, vice president of Northwest, said "The planes are going to be flying, there's no question about that. We're going to keep regular schedules."

Fletcher said the BRAC had "full support" from Northwest's mechanics and was "hopeful" of support from the company's pilots.

Catholic Heads Defy Curfews

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Roman Catholic leaders threatened today to defy any new curfews and called on the British government to force the Protestant Orange Order's annual Battle of the Bann Parade next Monday.

Pollution Charges Denied

BOISE (UPI) — Al Elguren, director of the Idaho Air Pollution Commission, said Tuesday he took issue with a recent news story concerning Idaho's air standards.

He referred to a story quoting Earl Porter, Denver, regional program director, saying Idaho's air quality standards are "about the worst in the United States."

Elguren said he talked with Porter Tuesday and Porter said he was not referring to Idaho standards as a whole, but specifically to present ambient standards for particulate matter.

"We have been concentrating our efforts on reviving omission standards for particulates which are considered to be more effective than ambient air standards for control of air pollution problems," Elguren said. "These will apply on a plant basis and will regulate each individual process."

Famous Actress Is Dead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Marjorie Rameau, who played such gruff heroines as Tougho Annie and other character parts, died at her Palm Springs home Tuesday. She was 77.

Miss Rameau began her career on the stage, and was billed as "the youngest leading woman in the American theater" at the age of 12.

After two decades on the stage, Miss Rameau moved to Hollywood in 1930 to make her first picture, "Her Man."

In 1940 she was nominated for an Academy Award as best supporting actress for her portrayal of Marie in "Prime of Life."

Mrs. Black Seeks End For War

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shirley Temple Black plans to ask the White House to seek a U.N. settlement of the war in Indochina.

Mrs. Black said she would make the suggestion to President Nixon's advisers Friday night during a White House dinner celebrating the 25th anniversary of the signing of the U.N. Charter.

The former child movie star was appointed by Nixon a U.S. representative to the 24th U.N. General Assembly last fall. She is deputy chairman of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. Conference on the Human Environment.

"What I want to see done is to have the Security Council take up the affair of Southeast Asia," Mrs. Black said. "I want the United States to have it put on the agenda for active debate."

"I think that since the war has expanded from Vietnam to Cambodia and Laos, with the possibility always of expansion to Thailand, it is urgent that the whole crisis of Southeast Asia be taken to the United Nations."

Romania, Russia In Accord

BUCHAREST (UPI)—Romania and the Soviet Union finally signed their long-delayed "friendship treaty" Tuesday and said Romania's insistence on "independence and sovereignty" led all the articles.

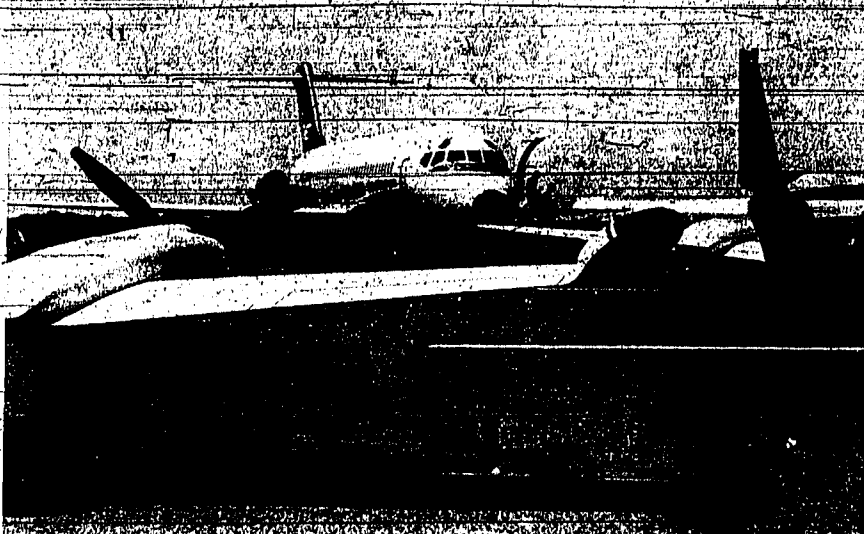

The treaty was signed by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Romanian Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer. A full text was expected later, although officials said it may not be published before Wednesday.

At a public meeting after the signing, Maurer said that it was only a treaty between governments—not Communist parties, too, as is the case in many such Communist-bloc treaties.

Details of the treaty, as supplied in Maurer's speech and by Romanian sources, showed that Romania got what it wanted from the "disengagement" of the Soviet Union from the "Brezhnev doctrine" of restricted sovereignty—was written into Russia's most recent friendship treaty, with Czechoslovakia.

Maurer and Kosygin also confirmed that the treaty called for economic and cultural ties between the two nations and mutual struggles against "imperialism." Like most things in the pact, the nature of "imperialism" is open to interpretation, Romanian sources said.

"Nothing—and no one can prevent our people from building a new society on Romanian soil," Maurer said as the 4,000 Romanians in the new palace half cheered.

AIR WEST'S big DC-9 Superjet is framed between two of the several planes now operated by Trans Magic Airlines. TMA is based at the Twin Falls City-County Airport, Twin Falls, and Air West now serves Magic Valley, through Twin Falls, with two jet flights daily. One goes to Seattle through Boise while the other goes to Los Angeles through Salt Lake City and Las Vegas. More jet flights are to be added in the future. A new hangar for the Trans Magic operation is near completion at the field.

Plight Of Political Prisoners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two House members told their colleagues Tuesday of seeing South Vietnamese political prisoners forced to lie on their backs in tiny concrete "tiger cages" until they became paralyzed.

Reports of the Devil's Island-like prison prompted these other rapid-fire developments:

Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., urged President Nixon to demand on-site inspection of all South Vietnamese prisons and an end to "inhumane treatment" of political prisoners.

—Thomas R. Harkin, a staff member of a House fact-finding committee that just completed a tour of Vietnam, said he was "resigning" because he said most committee members wanted the prison conditions kept quiet.

Harkin and Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., visited the Con Son Island National Correction Center, 60 miles off the Mekong River Delta in the South China Sea during a two-week visit to Vietnam by the House Select Committee on U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

In separate reports Tuesday, the three men said they saw as many as five men crammed into a single "tiger cage"—a five-by-nine-foot concrete pit with bars over the top. In many cases, men, women and even high-school-aged youths were forced to lie on their backs on bare concrete, their legs shackled to foot-high bars, until they became paralyzed.

They estimated 500 prisoners were subjected to such treatment out of the prison population of nearly 10,000, almost all political prisoners.

Committee Chairman Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., rejected Harkin's charge that the account of prison conditions were being kept under wraps. However, the panel's official 70-page report, released Tuesday, emphasized the economic problems facing Vietnam and made only brief mention of the conditions at Con Son.

Montgomery said a majority of the bipartisan committee was "concerned" over the possible reaction the report would have on the treatment of American prisoners in North Vietnam.

Although Harkin told a news conference he was resigning to protest the suppression of information about the prison, Montgomery said his job, along with those of seven other committee employees, ended Tuesday when the committee's work was finished.

Gasoline Truck Erupts In Flames Near Boise

FRUITLAND, Idaho (UPI)—A train-gasoline tanker-truck collision Tuesday at Gayway Junction in Fruitland injured two men and caused extensive damage.

According to Fruitland police, the train smashed into the rear trailer of the two-trailer truck owned by Arrow Transportation Co. of Boise. Flames immediately filled the area.

The truck driver, Bill Eddy, Boise, drove the remaining portion of the truck about one-half mile away so it wouldn't explode.

Gasoline was splashed over the train engine and from immediately broke out. Engineer Henry Hirmon jumped from the train and received a leg injury. Train fireman Keith Whitaker, Nampa, received serious burns and was hospitalized in Holy Rosary Hospital in Fruitland.

Gasoline from the tanker was spilled over the road and into an irrigation ditch. After firemen arrived and were at work, a large crowd gathered to watch the blaze. Suddenly the gasoline in the irrigation ditch, which runs parallel to the road, burst into flame throwing a wall of fire for nearly 400 feet down the road.

A car owned by Robert Shannon, Payette, was destroyed in that blaze.

A nearby house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Connie Harper, was also damaged.

Andy William's Wife Hurt In Auto Mishap

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI)—Actress Claudine Longet suffered minor injuries early Tuesday when her 1957 Chrysler collided with a truck on U.S. 101.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Longet, the wife of singer Andy Williams, was heading south with Stephen L. Caplen, Encino, Calif., and had pulled over to the side of the road to change drivers.

Caplen, apparently unfamiliar with the gears of the old car, drove slowly back onto the road and failed to see the approaching truck, the highway patrol said.

Miss Longet was treated for lacerations and a possible shoulder sprain and had several stitches taken. She was discharged from Ventura County Hospital after 3 1/2 hours.

Yolen To Head UPI In Brazil

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Steven H. Yolen was named Tuesday as UPI bureau manager in Sao Paulo, Brazil. It was announced by William H. McCall, vice president and general manager for Latin America.

Yolen, 28, had been executive assistant to McCall since his transfer to Buenos Aires in 1968. He will take up his new position on July 13.

A native of New York City and a 1964 graduate of Lafayette College in Easton, Pa., Yolen joined UPI in New York and worked on the Puerto Rican desk before being named as the news agency's bureau manager in San Juan.

During his 2 1/2 years in Puerto Rico, Yolen helped organize UPI's island-wide news service and establish a Caribbean headquarters.

Urban Money Voted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, caught in a classic confrontation over priorities, voted $700 million more for urban needs Tuesday, but narrowly refused to cut the space program's budget.

The head-and-head clash between members favoring more spending for space and those wanting to concentrate federal monies on domestic ills came during consideration of a $17.9-billion appropriations measure.

The bill carries funds for the fiscal year that began last week for both the Housing and Urban Development Department and independent agencies, which includes NASA.

Free Speech

In 1948, Norman Mailer's war novel "The Naked and the Dead" achieved fame not only on the merits of the story but for its use of a word that sounded like, but was not quite, the arch obscenity in the English language.

"Today, 'The Fugs' is a rock music group." The real breakthrough came a few years later when James Jones freely used the correct spelling of the word in "From Here to Eternity," which also dealt with Army life.

This smashing of Victorian taboos was overdue and, on the whole, a good thing. But how far we have come since then.

Today "honesty" prevails — and is prevailing more and more. Words once seen only on walls where snickering little boys scrawled them have been elevated into literature by authors continuing to cash in on the crusade to "tell it like it is," and billingsgate once heard only in the barracks now passes for "meaningful" dialogue in films and on the stage.

Among the youthful left, beginning with the "Dirty Words" movement at Berkeley in 1964, obscenity has been embraced not only as a symbol of their new freedom but as a weapon, a rallying cry and a substitute for rational discourse.

The speeches of some radicals and the word count of the underground press would be cut short to nothing with the elimination of a few universal, all-purpose adjectives. This compulsive, tedious use of profanity resembles a mental disorder well known to medical science.

About the last remaining bastion against the tide is the daily newspaper, and even here old standards are being called into question.

"Stories (about college eruptions) are sterile to the extent that they do not give the whole picture," says G. W. McCoy, publisher of the Wapakoneta, Ohio, Daily News. "The obscenity, the weapons, fashioned by radicals and the provocations that these people give to those guarding the campus."

MR. SPECTATOR

Forgotten Men

Now that the period of the 4th and things are more or less back to near-normal for most of us it might be well to reflect on the 56 men who literally risk a noose around their necks to sign a provocative and radical document. We refer to the Declaration of Independence.

Like Mr. Spectator, most people can quickly identify John Hancock (because he wrote large), Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and John Adams as signers. But who were the other colonial patriots who committed this very rash act? And what happened to them?

Most signers had little in common aside from their passionate belief in political freedom and independence from British Crown rule. Personally, they varied occupationally, economically, religiously and psychologically. Professionally, their most common denominator was practice of law. More than half belonged to that profession. But 13 were farmers, five were doctors, two were mechanics, one was a stone mason and one a minister.

The majority were well educated even by today's standards. Harvard, Princeton and William and Mary Colleges were well represented. Ironically, the most historically famous signer, Benjamin Franklin, was an

Such unpleasanties are not withheld from any ulterior motive, he says, but because reporters are reporting in "good taste" and don't want to offend their readers.

None of the nearly 1,000 daily newspapers in the United States reported the obscenities tossed about at the time of the demonstrations in Chicago during the Democratic convention in 1968 and only two reprinted them from the later Walker Commission Report.

This failure gave a false impression of what was going on there, says Norman E. Isaacs, executive editor of two — the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times. He thinks that using the actual words would have produced such shock that the public would have been alerted and prepared for, and perhaps somehow have prevented the physical violence that ensued.

There are some who think that the growing use of foul speech is a healthy thing, an indication of a more honest and open society. Others disagree.

"I think that unbridled use of obscenity means a tremendous deterioration in human relations," says semanticist Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College. "With words, with language, we are creating social networks or destroying them, constantly, whether we want to or not."

It is ironic, and immensely significant, that some of those who pretend to be fighting for humanitarian causes have dehumanized using one of the most dehumanizing weapons of all.

This is what is sad — not just the dredging out of the linguistic gutter of certain age-old words to perform functions they are incapable of performing, with the resultant impoverishment and blunting of one of the richest languages in the world — but the deterioration of thought and intellectual discipline and respect for others which the deliberate and indiscriminate misuse of obscenity or profanity both signifies and encourages.

Such is not the mark of the he-man or the free man. It betrays rather a want of intelligence and a sickness in the soul.

SITTING THOUGHTS

Instead of talking about the heat enjoy it. Winter will be around before you are really ready for it!

FRANKFURT, Germany (NEA) — The West German economy, though overhunting now like America's, is still embroilingly successful in world markets. So its leaders today talk of promoting further an already developing global economy in which it would be a principal collaborator but not annoyingly dominant.

Among the powerful industrial nations, West Germany exports about 18 per cent of its Gross National Product. Even Japan, which has gone ahead of it in GNP, does not match that figure. The United States, by contrast, sells abroad only around 5 per cent of its annual total of goods and services.

For West Germany, the export percentages are more impressive when refined. If services and the making of food products are eliminated, this country is exporting around 25 per cent of its yearly output.

On the average, about half of all its machinery manufactures are sold abroad. Some 40 per cent of its automobiles are thus marketed. In the case of the well-known Volkswagen, the percentage is a staggering 80 per cent. Also high on the export list are petrochemical products. It all sounds like something to cheer loudly about. But the contrast, sells abroad only West German leaders in banking and industry are painfully conscious that their heavy sales abroad leave too many of their foreign customer nations in a deficit trading position with them.

So they look ahead first to what they hope will be the fullest economic and fiscal integration of Western Europe, with Britain and some other countries added to the presently limited six-nation Common Market.

But, beyond that, the Germans say they want to get involved in truly multinational operations. In their view this means not just installing German plants abroad, but setting up international manufacturing combines in which the host nation and other foreign industrial powers may participate. This kind of thing is happening, anyway, and is quite well advanced in some banking enterprises. It is what author Peter Drucker has in mind when he writes persuasively of the growth of a "global economy."

Aside from their self-consciousness over the distress some customer countries feel over their trade deficits with Germany, the leaders here are concerned, too, that the German economic boom, though slightly tapering off with the problems of nagging inflation, still compels the country to employ some 1.3 million "guest workers," mostly Italians and other Mediterranean nationals.

Economic specialists here recognize this involves much social uprooting with workers' families usually left behind. Furthermore, the "guest workers" are a kind of floating element which cannot easily find new roots here.

It would be better if "industry went to the people." If new plants, some perhaps wholly German-owned but many multinational, could quickly be set up in Italy, Spain, Greece — not to mention parts of Asia, Africa and Latin America — where live many impoverished peoples.

Even with the import of much foreign labor, Germany has about 800,000 good jobs going begging (the lack of native manpower reflects the decimation of a whole age group in World War II).

This situation, say the German specialists, is unlikely to improve in the 1970s. So the alternative, in their view, is to utilize their capital expenditures abroad increasingly in the promising new combines. The tankers have shown the way, with their heavy investments in many foreign banking and promotional enterprises. Now they want the industrialists to follow on a big scale.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Mouth Breath

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My little girl breathes through her mouth instead of her nose, and there is no reason for this except a habit. This causes her to have a bad breath all the time. Please tell me how to stop this habit. — Mrs. B. E. S.

I grant that the "habit" should be stopped; but before jumping to the conclusion that it is "just a habit," have your pediatrician or a nose-throat specialist examine her, because there could be a cause — enlarged adenoids and tonsils, for one. These, if infected, could also cause the bad breath.

Or is there any other obstruction interfering with easy passage of air through the nose?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 42 and a mouth-breather at night. Could it be possible that my adenoids, at this age, would still be the cause? I've had this problem since an early age. I have tried to correct it but am unable to. I'm very self-conscious about it. — Mrs. M. B.

It's possible, although perhaps not overly likely, that some adenoidal enlargement persists. However, as I point out in the answer to the letter preceding yours, other nasal obstructions may be involved. The obstruction may not (probably does not) shut off the nasal passages completely. But if the obstruction is only partial, it still can make enough difference to cause mouth breathing.

I strongly suggest examination by a nose and throat specialist to look for polyps in the nose, bent septum between the nostrils, chronic infection or other interference.

There's not much point in trying to cure a habit if some underlying condition is causing the habit. As I've said before (maybe a thousand times?) there's no substitute for finding the cause if you expect to find the right answer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will iodine, either regular or white, make moles go away? I have several moles and after several weeks they seem to be drying up, but my legs have ached all the time — I have taken into consideration that I have varicose veins and am on my feet eight hours a day. But it seems worse. — Mrs. J. S.

No kind of iodine will remove moles. If yours indeed "seem to be drying up," then they aren't moles, but are something else. (I don't know what they might be, in that case.)

I can't see why the iodine would have any effect on your aching legs, but since that trouble grows gradually worse with varicose veins, I'd suspect the veins are the trouble.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 2 years old, eats with his left hand. My husband is trying to break him by putting the fork in his right hand. If he takes the fork in his left hand, my husband takes the fork and hits his left hand with it. Should he try to break the boy or just let him go left-handed? — W. M.

Change of hand dominance is not recommended. By all means let the little fellow use whichever hand is natural. "Breaking" him makes no more sense than trying to make your husband eat with his left hand.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having pains in my ribs, and the doctor said I have a floating rib and arr also seven pounds overweight! Could you explain a floating rib and what causes it? — M. B.

We all have floating ribs — there are 12 ribs on each side of the chest, the first 10 attached to the breast bone with cartilage. The lower two on each side are not attached and are called floating ribs. If you are thin enough, you can feel the 11th. Floating ribs do not cause pain; there must be something more involved in your case.

Colitis can include a variety of intestinal ailments from serious to merely uncomfortable. For a better understanding of its causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Times News for his booklet, "Colitis and Kidney Complaints," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long-stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

RAY CROMLEY

Grim New Look

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Most studies of nuclear war center on the number of people killed, the industry and agriculture destroyed and the disease and hunger that would engulf the survivors.

An unpublished study which has come into this reporter's hands looks at nuclear war from a different angle.

It asks what kind of people would be killed and what kind survive — in terms of skills, administrative abilities and political attitudes.

The conclusion of the authors (both sociology research men) is that is some "typical" attacks they have calculated the death rate of the technically skilled would be so much greater than the over-all death rate that the reorganization of this country after an all-out nuclear attack would be exceedingly difficult.

The authors assume a 2,000 megaton attack on 70 major U.S. cities. They assume (for purpose of their study) that the shelter systems in these cities would be ineffective.

The commonly accepted overall death toll for such an attack is 48 per cent of the total population. That's only a part of the story.

The men who made these studies calculated that such an attack would kill two-thirds of the nation's doctors, physical scientists, chemists, dentists, lawyers, clerks, manufacturing managers, printers, machinists, foremen and editors.

And three-fourths of the nation's accountants, authors, architects, draftsmen, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineers, social scientists and tool-and-die makers.

They estimate 83 per cent of those of Jewish faith would die, along with two-thirds of the Roman Catholics and one-third of the Protestants.

More Democrats would die than Republicans — and of the Democrats, more northern Democrats would perish than southern Democrats.

They say, these men believe would be a major change in the political balance of the American system.

The reason for these unexpected results is simple. Men and women with particular skills and backgrounds have tended to concentrate in the large cities. Other skills and backgrounds tend toward the smaller towns and rural living. The striking imbalance in the skills and backgrounds of those killed in such an attack (if these calculations even approximate the results) would lead, these authors believe, to strains that might be impossible to overcome.

From the standpoint of

ANDREW TULLY

Enjoy, Enjoy!

WASHINGTON — In the matter of the Democratic Party versus Spiro Agnew, we working stiffs should settle back and, in Harry Golden's words, enjoy, enjoy! It is a good show, if a touch corny, and the average Main Streeter is under no logical compulsion to gnash his dentures for either side.

In their carryings on, both Republicans and Democrats forget that few citizens have a vested interest in their errant troubles. As parties, none of these characters do us any big favors except when expediency beckons, and they are neck-and-neck in the business of getting us into trouble.

Admittedly, they are all we've got and although sometimes lunatic, the system is the best in the world, so what else is new? Let 'em both wriggle. It might build them a little character.

In the current brouhaha, it is the Democrats' turn to wriggle. The rules say the newly-arrived in bunch has a right to blame everything on the banished-out, even as John Kennedy indicted Dwight Eisenhower for — well, you name it. And like the Republicans in 1960, the Democrats are showing that while they can dish it out they can't take it. Agnew is jabbing them in some spots — made sensitive by recent history — and the party is whimpering.

Agnew is immoderate at times. But so were Bobby Kennedy and Gene McCarthy in 1968. Agnew sounds, indeed, just like those bright young men in the Kennedy campaign of 1960, who warned us about buying a used car from Richard Nixon's Naughtly staff of course, whichever side employs it. But the Democrats can't escape history, so they must take their wack.

Specifically, there is not much of a reply available to the Democrats when Agnew has fun with former Defense Secretary Clark Clifford. The stand taken by this veteran Democratic big wheel on Vietnam is there on the record, and it tends to sound a lot more hawkish than any utterance by Richard Nixon since he moved into the White House.

Clifford has deposed, in the magazine and elsewhere, that the national security of the United States is not involved in Vietnam and that we should get out forthwith. This is ho-ho-ho stuff. As Secretary of Defense, whatever he now claims to have thought privately, Clifford's public statements were somewhat different in tone.

"We had no plan to reduce the number of troops in Vietnam at all," said Clifford on Sept. 10, 1968. "We have not yet reached the level of 549,500 in South Vietnam. We intend to continue to build toward that level. We have no intention of lowering that level either by next June (1969) or at any time in the foreseeable future."

As for the problem of enemy sanctuaries (involved in Nixon's Cambodian operation) Clifford on Aug. 15, 1968, declared it was "unwise to sit back in protected areas and just permit the enemy to mount its offensive as he sees fit; that is, to mass his men (and supplies) at certain areas, without any interference from us."

Clifford now claims he was an opponent, in Lyndon Johnson's councils, of any incursions across the Cambodian frontier. Well, that as may be. What shows on the public record is that Clifford vigorously favored operations against enemy sanctuaries.

All this is not to suggest endorsement of Spiro Agnew's bludgeoning tactics. Unfortunately, beating a dead horse — reiterating that the Democrats got us into the Vietnam mess — gets us no farther in escaping that mess. But I repeat the implication that because he is Vice President Agnew has no right to beat a dead horse.

"Of course, John's work doesn't require that he wear a hardhat — it's just a symbol!"

'Adhesive' Bomb Contemplated

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Following are two news items. The first one was extracted from a National Geographic Society release. The second one hasn't happened yet, but probably is inevitable.

Washington—Chemists may be on the verge of finding the formula for "barnacle glue"—the fluid that barnacles use to stick themselves to the bottom of ships.

This substance is the strongest adhesive in the world with a bonding power of more than 7,000 pounds per square inch. It holds firm at temperatures ranging from 383 degrees below zero to 320 degrees above zero Fahrenheit. It resists deterioration in acids, alkalis and organic solvents. And it can last 15 to 20 million years.

Scientists are having trouble collecting enough barnacle glue to analyze. But if they are able to produce it synthetically, its potential uses are almost endless.

Washington—The Defense Department announced today that the United States has successfully tested the world's first adhesive bomb.

A LePage-3 rocket bearing a barnacle glue warhead was fired from the Pacific testing range and landed on target in the Nevada proving ground.

Final evaluation of the test had not been completed, but the bomb was reported to have agglutinated a 10-square-mile area. Everything within the area was stuck together so firmly that nothing could move, a spokesman said.

The test gives the United States a tremendous lead in the race to develop an operational adhesive bomb. The big breakthrough came when U.S. scientists discovered how to make barnacle glue in the laboratory.

The Soviet Union is known to be working on an adhesive bomb, but its experimental prototype is reported to have an epoxy war head.

This would have a cumbersome weapon owing to the fact that epoxy requires a last minute mixture of the resin with a hardening agent. In addition, epoxy is only half as strong as barnacle glue.

Red China also is believed to be trying to develop an adhesive bomb with either a mullage or a flour-and-water paste warhead. Both are considered too primitive to pose a threat to U.S. security at this time.

The fourth potential adhesive bomb power is France, which hopes to introduce a chewing gum warhead.

Although the possibility of an adhesive bomb attack presently appears remote, the United States is going ahead with construction of a limited anti-sticky missile system.

THESE MAJESTIC LIONS at the Portland, Ore., Zoo have been the subject of a tragic controversy this week that saw the death of a 19-year-old youth and the vengeful shooting of two of the "cats." Roger Adams of Portland was clawed to death Saturday night when he climbed over the protective fence and began taunting the lions. One lion leaped up, grabbed the youth and pulled him into the enclosure, mauling him savagely. He later died of loss of blood. Monday night, an unknown assailant broke into the zoo in the dead of night and shot two of the lions to death with a rifle. (UPI telephoto).

CAA To Demonstrate Voting Machine At Public Meeting

The brand-new concept of voting by machine will be explained by members of the League of Women Voters at a public meeting of the Twin Falls County committee of the South-Central Community Action Agency, Thursday evening.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. in the Episcopal Church on Blue Lakes Boulevard North. Access to the church parking lot is entered off Ash Street. The public is invited to attend.

League members will explain voter registration and operation of the voting machines, which will be used for the first time in Twin Falls in the August primary election. Mrs. Charles Wagner, voters' service chairman of the League, will demonstrate the device.

Mrs. Tom Nelson will explain voter registration, with the help of an interpreter for any Spanish-American citizens present. It is hoped that one or more registrars can be on hand to complete registration for any unregistered voters.

The CAA board will also consider a request from Buhl residents for representation on the board. Each of the three counties in the South-Central CAA — Jerome, Cassia and Twin Falls — appoints a county board of trustees to consider needs of their individual counties. Members of the county boards comprise the South-Central CAA directors who make the final decision on programs of the three-county organization. Each board includes members from three sectors of the population — the low-income groups, the private citizens and public officials.

A vacancy in the private-citizen sector of the board exists, Royal Slotten, acting president of the Twin Falls board said, and a West-end resident will be appointed to fill the vacancy.

In other board action scheduled for Thursday's meeting, Mrs. Betty Wooten, director of the Neighborhood Center, and Felix Alaniz Sr., an assistant, will be on hand to answer questions about the WARSAW (UPI)—Polish police called in specially trained dogs Tuesday to spearhead a new drive against moonshine making.

The "booze hounds" have been given intensive training courses at a police school in Sulkowice, not far from Warsaw, and they can now sniff out moonshine anywhere, according to the Polish news agency PAP.

will be discussed at the meeting. Heading the list of speakers will be Governor Don Samuelson and Congressman James McClure. Max Yost, executive manager, Associated Taxpayers of Idaho; H. I. Patterson, Dallas, Texas, chairman, Automotive Marketing; Northwood Institute; James L. Davidow, Southfield, Michigan, vice president, Lease Holding, Inc.;

and Dr. Frank A. Court, Denver, Colo., pastor, Trinity Methodist Church. A complete program of recreation has been planned including golf, style show, boating, and a trip on Lake Coeur d'Alene. Election of officers and directors will be held and those whose terms expire include E. J. Frank, Burley; William M. Reese, Twin Falls; R. E. Sanger, Ketchum; Howard Stuchlik, Mountain Home; and John G. Jenkins, Twin Falls.

Area Youth Nets Award For Drama

Edward Louie, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Britt, Twin Falls, has received the Associated Students of the University of Idaho drama award for freshmen entering the University of Idaho. A graduate of Twin Falls High School where he maintained a grade point average of 3.0 on a four-point scale, Mr. Britt intends to major in drama at the University of Idaho. In his school, he was very active in drama, playing important roles in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," "Anastasia," and "Romeo and Juliet." He was also a member of Thespians, a drama society, and played in the school band four years.

The ASU drama award is a $100 scholarship presented to high school seniors who have done outstanding work in drama in academic fields. Candidates must have a recommendation for admission to the University of Idaho.

Bank Gives $50 Fund To Hospital

The bus project fund of the State Hospital South, Blackfoot, was increased recently by a $50 donation from the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. ## Water Board Plans Trip

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Water Resource Board will hold its fifth meeting of the year in Salmon Thursday and then will take a jet boat trip down the main Salmon River. Board Chairman Charles J. Marshall, Jerome, said the field trip would give the board an opportunity to get a first-hand look at the environment of the river and adjacent forest lands. Among the items on the agenda for the meeting are: Review of an environmental policy statement; Staff report of the water resource development program; Middle Snake River

No Fires Are Reported On Holiday

Sawtooth National Forest officials reported there were no fires in the Sawtooth during the July 4 holiday weekend although all forest areas received extremely heavy use. Nearly all campgrounds were filled and many unimproved areas were also used by camping groups. The B-26 firefighting plane of the Sawtooth Forest fire crews was sent to Arizona, Doc Hansen, fire dispatcher, said, to assist in a fire there and has not returned as yet. The craft carries only a two-man crew. Nature of the Arizona fire was not known here.

Migrants At Hammett Camp Pay More, But Live Better

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — The labor camp in Elmore county east of Hammett, which began operation this year, shows that such camps can provide a much higher standard of living than many of the area camps provide.

The appearance of this camp is quite in contrast to those in Jerome county and the residents at Hammett pay twice as much to live there, but are glad to do so.

In exchange for the $15 weekly rent they pay, the migrants have coin operated washing machines in a central washing room, and each unit has electric heat, stoves, refrigerators and hot water. The rent is double what migrants are charged at the Jerome labor camp, for instance, but many of the families interviewed by this reporter indicated they are pleased with the conditions and hope to return again next year.

The camp is built on 200 acres of land east of Hammett and includes four buildings placed so as to form a square, with each building containing 12 or 13 units.

In the center of the square is a large open area and Mrs. Mack Reyes, wife of the camp manager, says a pump-house is being built with the help of the workers, to provide a sprinkling system.

Grass will be planted and picnic tables installed. Plans are being discussed to place playground equipment in the center for the children and it is hoped to plant grass outside of the square, Mrs. Reyes said.

The manager's wife said the migrants can call before they come and request space at the camp. If they are good about paying their rent and cause no trouble a unit is held for them, she said.

There are 50 units in the camp, with plans for expansion later. Each unit has two bedrooms equipped with kitchen and a bathroom with shower. A $25 deposit is required on each of the units, Mrs. Reyes said, and this money is held until the family is ready to leave and refunded if no damage has been done to the unit.

If any damage has occurred, then the money is used to repair it. In talking to some of the residents at the camp, it appeared they are fairly well satisfied with this arrangement.

The camp is a community project and in talking to residents of the town, it is apparent they feel the migrants have helped the local economy. Children from the camp are taken to Glenns Ferry to attend the Head Start program and plans are being made for a day care center for the younger children.

Plans are being made to repaint all the units this winter and make more improvements next year.

Farmers and residents of the Hammett area have worked hard to make the camp something to be proud of and everyone has benefitted because of it.

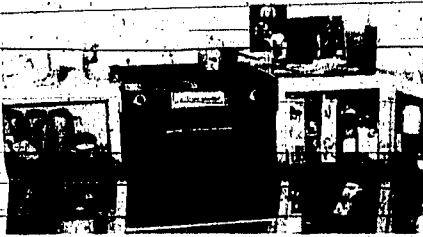

MIGRANT WORKERS at the new labor camp east of Hammett, in Elmore county, help build a sprinkling system to water lawns which will be planted at the camp. The four buildings, each containing 12 or 13 units, are located in a square, and the open space in the middle is being made into a recreation area with playground equipment planned. One of the amenities of the camp is the coin operated washing machine, in addition to electric stoves, below. Each living unit has refrigerator and hot water.

Elba Man Given Grant

ELBA — Ruel Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malbourne Barker, Elba, has received a $1,000 fellowship for 1970-71 from the Brigham Young University Graduate School to continue work toward his doctorate in physical education. The former head coach at Raft River High School, Malta, has also received a $200 grant for summer school. He was named to the honor roll this past year with a 4-point grade average.

Mr. Barker received his B.S. degree from Utah State University, Logan, and his M.S. degree from B.Y.U., Provo, Utah. He was head coach at Raft River for eight years before returning to work at his doctor's degree.

He expects to complete requirements for his advanced degree next year. Mr. Barker, his wife, Kay, and two daughters are now living in Springdale, Utah.

Artists Note

Wendell Class

WENDELL — Mrs. Charlotte Duggan reminds area artists of the work shop scheduled for July 20-24 by Lee Parkinson.

The adult classes will be held each day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Wendell high school. There are still a few openings in this class.

A class for adult beginners and youth from 12-18 years of age will be held three nights, July 21 through July 23 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the high school. For further information or to register for classes contact Mrs. Duggan at 427 E. Ave. A., Wendell or call 530-2383.

New in town?
No, not really
— just grown some.

This recent growth does make a difference.

In case you haven't heard, The Fidelity National Bank and The Idaho First National Bank have just merged.

So now, we're one bank — Idaho's oldest.

As a matter of fact, Idaho First holds the second oldest national charter issued west of the Rockies, way back in March of 1867. Even 'tho that early start may have been a factor, we like to think that the growth to Idaho's largest bank (54 offices) was more a result of customer oriented services.

Progressiveness.
Professionalism.

There's no need to rush in to order new checks and other bank forms. We will continue to honor them under the Fidelity name as a convenience to our customers. That's what banking is all about. Customers.

You.
Nice to know you.

Pinata From Mexico Delights Guests From Jerome Labor Camp At Lawn Fete

JEROME — A most successful lawn party at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. James Sloat last week proved, if it ever needed proof, that people are pretty much the same, despite the color of their skin. And, as Mrs. Sloat says, "A smile is a smile in any language."

The lavish cookout, to which many community persons and businessmen contributed, was attended by more than 125 children and adults from the Jerome Labor Camp. Highlight of the evening was the breaking of a huge pinata brought from Mexico by Mr. and Mrs. Bill King, Jerome. It was filled with candy provided by Jerome merchants, Mrs. Sloat said.

Hamburgers were fried on three grills on the spacious Sloat lawn, with Bill King, Ronald Pippett and Bob Armstrong, all Jerome, serving as chefs.

Interested persons in the community helped provide the bountiful menu which included potato and jello salads, about a dozen pots of baked beans and some 750 homemade and beautifully decorated.

Mrs. Sloat praised the extra effort the homemakers had put into decorating the cookies. Mrs. Pippett and Mrs. Armstrong were co-chairmen of the festive event.

Attendance was cut somewhat at the party because a wood stove at the labor camp had exploded, causing a small fire, the afternoon of the party, keeping a few families away.

Mrs. Sloat said the food left from the party was sent to the camp for those who could not come.

Members of two 4-H clubs helped in the event with The Charlie Brown All-Cooks making the jello salads and the Gobby Girls group baking and decorating the cookies.

Some of the food came unsolicited from people in the community who had heard about the party and wanted to help, Mrs. Sloat added.

A fish pond was operated throughout the evening for all children and this proved a popular spot. The party even boasted live music, which was provided by Rocky Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jackson,

Not only were the guests most gracious and appreciative, but Mrs. Sloat commented on the thoughtfulness of the mothers who stayed afterward and helped wash dishes and clean up after the crowd.

"There wasn't a paper plate left on the lawn when they left," she noted.

Equipment Is Given To Hospital

JEROME — Jerome Lions club Eyesight committee have presented equipment-for-eye removal to officials of St. Benedict's hospital as one of the major steps in a statewide project which the local organization is supporting.

The instruments enable physicians to remove eyes from deceased donors for use in eye surgery and medical research, making it possible for others to see. The equipment was purchased by members of the Lions club.

The club earlier this year adopted the eyesight project that has been made available to local Lions clubs through the Idaho-Oregon Lions Sight Conservation Foundation, Inc.

One of the foundation's major activities is the creation of an Eye Bank to provide a way for persons to donate their eyes to persons unable to see.

The Jerome club along with providing the equipment to the hospital has conducted a drive for eye donors and members can provide needed information to those who may wish to donate their eyes to the foundation.

Gulf Of Tonkin Resolution Gave President New Role In War

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The Gulf of Tonkin Resolution passed by Congress on Aug. 7, 1964, gave President Lyndon B. Johnson the right to dictate the role the United States would play in the war in Vietnam. It was not the first time an American President had received such arbitrary powers to act in the United States interest in Asia. But it involved a special irony because in the years since World War II, U.S. leaders never have agreed on where U.S. vital interests began or ended in Asia, and the result has meant confusion not only to Americans at home but also to friends and foe abroad. This dispatch is being written because an Indiana editor noted that many young voters going to the polls in coming elections will be those who were still in polo shirts and pig tails when the Vietnam action started and may not know its background.

It was on Jan. 24, 1955, that President Dwight D. Eisenhower asked Congress to authorize in advance any military measures he might take outside Formosa and the Pescadores in defense of the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, presumably this action would have been against the Communist-controlled mainland. He received the requested authority five days later. Congress passed the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution in 1964 after a report on Aug. 2 that North Vietnamese PT boats had attacked a U.S. destroyer in international waters 80 miles off the coast of North Vietnam. The resolution, with only two dissenting votes, assured the President of full support "for all necessary measures" he might have to take to protect U.S. armed forces in Southeast Asia and approving in advance "all necessary steps, including the use of armed force" to assist any member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization that might request help. Congress thus abrogated its own responsibility and moved to regain it only years later under the pressure of massive public protest against a war that has dragged on longer than any other in which the United States has been involved and with a casualty list higher than that suffered during the war in Korea. The war in Korea began in June 1950 at the start of a decade which was to see the United States expand its bilateral treaties to most of the nations of the free world and to press its campaign of containment against the Soviet Union and Red China in a series of regional treaties circling the globe. It also was a decade in which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles could thunder that "neutrality... has increasingly become an obsolete conception and, except under very exceptional circumstances, it is an immoral and shortsighted conception." Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first President to visit Hawaii while in office.

Charges Filed

JEROME — A charge of involuntary manslaughter was filed here Wednesday morning in Jerome County Probate Court against Rodney Lee Harter, 19, Twin Falls, in the June 14 traffic death of a Homedale woman.

The complaint, signed before Judge Russell C. Shaud, by S. A. Kolman, Jerome County prosecutor, charge Mr. Harter with negligence and carelessness in causing the death of Irene Simonds, 61, Homedale, a passenger in a vehicle driven by Harold F. May, 26, Nampa.

In the complaint, the prosecutor charges Mr. Harter with turning his vehicle around in the east bound lane of Interstate 80 and traveling the wrong direction, colliding with the eastbound vehicle of Mr. May. His automobile collided head on with the May vehicle, resulting in the death of Mrs. Simonds, the complaint charges, and the injury of Mr. May, and Judy Austin, 17, Twin Falls, a passenger in the Harter vehicle.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p. m. June 14 one mile east of the Valley interchange on I-80 in Jerome County.

Protests Are Heard On Horses

RICHFIELD — Richfield City board members heard protests against the improper care of horses in the city limits, need for tree removal on city property, and water assessments in the city limits.

Protestors of the animal abuse were told to contact the county humane society; response to the tree removal was tabled for the present; and water assessment was explained as being the same for the city, except the Underwood division which was formerly not in the city limits. Assessments there are paid to the Big Wood Canal Co. instead of the city.

Ordinance No. 121 was read for the second time. It concerns accumulation of debris and wrecked cars on private property in the city.

Permission was granted city Marshall Lester Johansen to repair the mower and cut weeds. Spraying of noxious weeds at the airport was also approved.

Mayor Clifford Ward and councilman L. T. Sanders will report at the August meeting on their attendance at the Boise waste treatment construction meeting. Howard DeWitt and L. T. Sanders were city board members not present at the July meeting.

Quota Is Missed At Blaine

HAILEY — Blaine county blood donors fell short of the 100-pint quota Tuesday when only 70 pints were donated.

The drawing was held in Ketchum with Heather Baker and Wanda Silver receiving two-gallon donor pins. Although the quota is 100 pints twice yearly, area donors have never succeeded in meeting it.

Helpers were Agnes Strunk, Eille Lister and Margaret Mallone on the numbers table; Beverly Asher and Betty Chaffotte, typists; Rita Hogg, temperatures; Jean Burr, Wilma Pace, Bea Houston and Betty Alfred, donor room aides, and Mickey Feltman and Sue Peterson, registered nurses.

The physician staff at the Sun Valley Hospital also was on duty during the four-hour drawing. Caring for the canteen were Betty Osborn, Donna LaPrise, Ann Rogers and Collette Farrar.

Program Is Slated For Camp Perkins

FILER — A special program at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the lodge at Camp Perkins in the Sawtooth will end the music and Mission Camp which was held at the camp this week, according to Mrs. and Mrs. Del Butterfield, who were in charge of arrangements.

Prof. Dan Koch, Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb., and Martin J. Bangert, Millwaukee, Wis., composed the teaching staff for the week sessions which were attended by organists and choir leaders

THIS HELICOPTER, owned by Interstate Helicopters, Albuquerque, N. M., crash landed late Monday in Hailey. All three men aboard escaped injury. Pilot James Post and his two passengers, Bill Legtani and Craig Dunn, are believed to be from New Mexico. Federal Aviation Agency officials are investigating the crash.

Gooding To Sell School Bonds After Long Delay

GOODING — Trustees of the Gooding School District have set Aug. 5 at 2 p. m. as the time for opening bids for the purchase of approximately $1.1 million in school bonds for the construction of a new high school.

Patrons of the school district voted by an 82 per cent margin in May 1960, to authorize the sale of the bonds for the new high school. However, in June 1960, a State Supreme court ruling placed the sale of revenue bonds in question and bonding attorneys declined to approve the sale of the Gooding school bond issue.

Trustees have now voted to go ahead with the sale in an attempt to finance the much needed new building. Ron Ashla, representing the Idaho First National bank, and serving as fiscal agent for the school district has presented a revised amortization schedule for bond payments and has expressed the hope the bonds can be sold for less than 7 per cent interest, the limit set at the time of the 1960 election.

Claim Rejected By Jerome Councilmen

JEROME — A claim for $25,000 damages by a young Jerome man who claims his civil rights were violated was rejected by Jerome city councilmen Tuesday night.

Richard Alstin, 22, Jerome, sent a letter to the council in which he claims his civil rights were violated when he was sent to jail in lieu of a fine he could not pay. The fine was for a dog license violation.

Problems of aviation and its effect on Idaho were discussed at the state convention he said. Mayor Russell, who favors the regional airport concept, said the association recognizes that air transportation is becoming increasingly important.

Councilmen took under advisement a letter from Dr. James Sloat protesting the council's earlier action in turning down his request for parallel parking in front of his office.

Second reading of the new dog control ordinance was heard. It provides that the description and location of where dogs are picked up will be posted at the city hall for three days. Owners will have two more days in which to reclaim their pets and must pay all license fees and costs involved.

Mayor Jack Russell reported on the annual convention of Association of Idaho Cities in Coeur d'Alene where he was elected to a two-year term as director, replacing Twin Falls Mayor Frank Feldtman on the board. Mayor Russell said he obtained information at the convention on the disposal of junk cars and is now studying the data and will make recommendations to the council soon.

The new school is to be erected adjacent to the high school athletic field on West 7th Avenue. It will house an estimated 400 students and will replace the present building which has served since 1912.

The 58-year-old school has no gymnasium and the walls and ceilings have developed large cracks making it almost beyond repair. Because of the lack of gymnasium facilities, high school classes are using the junior high school gym which results in overcrowded facilities and limited activities for both schools.

4 Persons Arraigned At Burley

BURLEY — Four Mini-Cassia persons were arraigned Tuesday before Probate Judge Vern Carter on charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

Contract Awarded On Boilers

SUN VALLEY — A Boise company, Consolidated Supply, has been awarded the contract to install two boilers at the Sun Valley hospital for heating equipment.

Contract Awarded On Boilers

The company's bid figure was the apparent low of six submitted and the contract was awarded this week. Consolidated bid $4,178 for two G-1016 S three million BTU cast iron sectional heating boilers. Installation is pending delivery, which is expected to be in about a month. The boilers will then need to be assembled, plumbed and hook in, with total time anticipated at 60 days.

The four were arrested Saturday afternoon by Burley Police and City Detective Peter Rodriguez, at a Burley apartment.

The boilers will provide heat for the building which was previously headed by steam purchased from the Sun Valley Co. The company is now closing out the system, making individual purchases necessary.

Others bidding on the boiler project were Kewanee Boiler Products, Intermountain Boiler Co. and Oscar E. Chytrous, Salt Lake City, and Horlan's and Richardson's Equipment, both Boise.

Besides lectures and Bible study, the week's sessions have included private coaching in voice and on the portable Schlicker pipe organ. Prof. E. Meyer is camp dean.

RIGHT BOUGHT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paramount has bought screen rights to Richard Farina's novel, "Been Down So Long It Looks Up To Me."

A special guest has been Paul Schmidt, San Francisco, world traveler and paint inventor and salesman, who has shown slides of many of his tours including the pineapple and sugar plantations in Hawaii, villages of Polynesia and Samoa and the island of Fiji and Tahiti. He also has toured Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Malaya, Singapore, Thailand and the Philippines.

Other Lutheran music and mission camps are scheduled this year for Luthersborg, Bremerton, Wash., Sheridan, Wyo., and Camp Luthersborg in Wisconsin.

Plans will be used to augment the permanent building fund which has been started largely due to the major contributions from the Junior Club's art auction and the Country Music Club's country music jamboree last winter.

Harbor House board of directors meeting Tuesday afternoon discussed building plans and financial needs. E. E. Vallson was asked to check his possibilities.

Other projects currently underway include the selection of playground equipment and lawn furniture to be purchased from the Junior Club donations, and the installations of screens on upstairs windows of Harbor House.

Plans are also being made for the installation of a second upstairs bathroom, one of the requirements of obtaining a license from the state.

T.F. Girl Leaves For New York Meet

An unexpected, but pleasant surprise was offered Amber Kristeen Coffield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Coffield, several days ago when she was asked to represent Twin Falls along with Vickie Rudolph at the national meeting of Future Homemakers of America in New York City.

Because of the recent illness of Jan Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilkins, originally scheduled to attend the meeting, Amber was selected. With only a few days to make preparations for the trip and to acquire enough finances, she set out to see if it was at all possible for her to attend.

Her finances presented the biggest problem, but thanks to several local businesses including Mountain Bell Telephone, Nat-Soo-Pah, Lynwood Shopping Center, Masoner Music Center and personal friends, she is ready to go and will leave Twin Falls for Boise Thursday morning. The convention is set July 13 through 14.

From Boise the girls will go to Denver, then on to Washington, D.C., where they will spend two days sightseeing, then to Gettysburg, Philadelphia and on to New York City, where they will stay at the New York Hilton.

Mrs. Davis T.F., Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Olive (Polly) I. Davis, 71, wife of J. Ted Davis, 1622 Addison Ave. E., died Tuesday night in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a short illness.

RUPERT — Narrow "H" Street, which goes north of the Courthouse and past the new East Junior High School, is being widened and improved.

Agreements have been reached between the city of Rupert and the Mindoka County Highway District concerning construction, which reportedly started this week.

The street has been considered hazardous for some time, and because of the new school it was decided that the project should get under way as soon as possible. City Councilmen told a community delegation Tuesday night that tentative plans call for the removal of grass from the east side of the existing street with widening scheduled for the east side only with removal of the crown from the middle of the road and repaving included.

A canal bridge in the area will be widened to about 33 feet, but work can't be done on this until fall when irrigation water is let out of the canal. The existing road is about 20 feet wide and after the first go-around will be about 30 feet with a good grade of gravel for drainage on each side.

Obstruction has expressed a desire to call for a local improvement district to construct curbs, gutters and install storm sewers on the street, which would bring it to 43 feet wide. The city has agreed to provide funds and material for work within the city limits with the county highway district providing equipment and operators. Actual construction in the city will begin at Eighth Street and stop on the north end of the Big Valley subdivision, where the city limits end. Tentative plans for the county call for construction from that point to 100 North.

"H" Street will also be straightened to eliminate a major part of the jobs, Councilmen said.

Ruben Kraus, superintendent of the Mindoka Highway District said that, weather permitting, the county hopes to start on the road project about Aug. 1.

Funeral services for Mrs. Davis will be conducted Friday at 11 a. m. in the White Mortuary Chapel by Rev. John Wallace. Burial will be in Morris Hill Cemetery, Boise, Friday at 4 p. m. The family suggests memorials to the Twin Falls Shrine Club for the Crippled Children's Hospital. Friends may call Thursday at White Mortuary.

Bazaar Set

GOODING — The Gooding Jay-C-Ettes will hold a bazaar Saturday from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. in front of the Gooding Merc Department Store.

Handmade articles including baby quilts, blankets and toys will be featured along with home baked goods. Profits will be used in community service projects.

First runner up was Mary Van Zante, Buhl, with Deanne Ricketts, second runner-up. Bus Billington, Twin Falls, was named Miss Congeniality.

School Levy Ok'd By Cassia Voters

BURLEY — A three mill maintenance and operation levy was passed Tuesday by a majority in Cassia County providing approximately $48,000 for this school district.

Turnout was low but the levy passed by 78 per cent with 428 voting yes and 118 not making a total of 546 voting.

A breakdown within the zones were Burley High School, 127 yes, 24 no; Burley Junior High School, 138 yes, 47 no; Malta, 73 yes, 10 no; Declo, 48 yes, 7 no; Oakley, 43 yes, 18 no; Albion, 10 yes, 9 no; Armo, 15 yes, 3 no; Milner, 17 yes, 0 no; Absentee, 12 yes and 0 no.

Officials said they felt the reason for the low turnout was because the levy wouldn't require more taxes. Bonds for constructing of district school buildings have been paid off reducing the mill levy three mills, which now will be used for the M and O levy.

The school board has received several requests for funds for repair, renovation or for other improvements. Gene Sorenson, member of the board said the board isn't certain which requests will take priority but the roof repair at the Burley High School will be done first. Officials have estimated cost at approximately $15,000.

The money will be certified in September and the district will receive it during the next tax year. The bulk should be received by March.

School officials and members of the board expressed appreciation to the public for cooperation and support on this selection.

Writer Is Former Castleford Resident

CASTLEFORD — An article written concerning the hunt for a pesticide substitute for DDT, written by John Leighty and carried in the Times News recently, mentioned the research work being done and quoted information coming from Carl Crisp, a former Castleford resident, and the plant physiologist for the Forest Service Berkeley.

Dr. Carl Crisp is the son of Mrs. Fern Crisp, now residing in Buhl, and the late Ray Crisp. He is the plant physiologist for the research department at the Pacific Southwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, Berkeley.

He graduated from Castleford High School and received his bachelor degree and his masters degree from the University of Idaho. He attended the University of California and received his Ph.D. as a plant pathologist there.

Currently, he is actively involved in research aimed at saving the natural resources of the forests, with headquarters in the modern new laboratory at the U. S. Forest Service Experiment Station at Berkeley.

Along with the research work being done to combat the pests that are a serious threat to the forests, Dr. Crisp has been the author of Sasawash Fact Sheets and booklets of what is new in research concerning the insects relatively harmless to wild life and economically applied to control forest pests over large areas.

"With the rush to ban the use of DDT, because of its residue factor, the forests face a serious threat unless an effective pesticide can be found," according to the research sheet from the Pacific Southwest Forest and Range Experiment Station.

Since the forest is a major source of our water supply as well as the home for most of the wildlife, the problems are to find a selective spray to control the pests that threaten the forests that is not as persistent as DDT and that will be economical to use and not disturb the wildlife environment.

Showers for the bride were given by the Library Science Department of the College of Southern Idaho where she was employed. Mrs. Maxine Peckard and her daughter, Sheila, and by Mrs. Don Fenwick and her daughter, Cathy, and Mrs. Kenneth Glasby. The rehearsal dinner was at the Colonial House, hosted by the bridegroom's mother and sister, Jan Glasby, Pendleton.

Best Read Items Concern Low Cost Cooking NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the best read items in the newspaper these days is the ad devoted to cooking—low cost, style.

Seven out of ten women have changed their shopping habits as a result of higher food prices, reports a study by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association (IPA). It found that 10 percent of women who have changed their buying patterns are more likely to see and read an ad devoted to low cost cooking than those women who follow the same old patterns. The bureau study measured the impact of a series of ads on low cost food preparation run by Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc. Interviews were conducted with 212 women, all homemakers, in Atlanta, Pittsburgh and San Diego.

The study also found that: Three out of four women usually look at supermarket ads in newspapers before a major shopping trip. But the proportion is higher among those who have changed their shopping habits because of high prices. Among women who recalled or recognized the ad with the low cost cooking theme, 77 percent had changed their habits because of price increases. This compared with 63 percent among those who had not seen the ad. Readership of the ads tended to build as the series progressed. The "creative low-cost cooking" ad campaign began last October. The initial schedule which ended in February included 129 newspapers in 111 cities with circulation totaling 33 million. Additional ads with the same theme since have appeared.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Since you took it upon yourself to defend Sweden's policy on sex education in the schools, perhaps you will want to come to her defense again. She could sure use it.

The Swedes have made a lot of enemies in the United States by opening doors to American draft-dodgers and deserters. Do you call this friendly to the United States? I don't!

ANNNOYED WITH SWEDEN

DEAR ANNOYED: Sweden has not issued any special invitations to American draft-dodgers and deserters, but you should be aware of the following: A convention between Sweden and the United States on October 24, 1969, stated that no extradition may take place for military offenses—including desertion. In plain language, this means that the United States has exactly the same attitude toward deserters and draft-dodgers as Sweden has.

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks before our first baby was due, my parents drove 1,000 miles to spend three months with Gilbert and me.

I love my parents, Abby, but they are not the easiest people in the world to get along with. The entire time they were here, they fought—bitterly—between themselves, quarreled constantly about money, and my mother criticized the way I did everything.

Gilbert is naturally a very quiet man, but my parents insisted he didn't like them, and he was "arrogant" to boot.

The day after I had my baby (which we named after my mother) Gilbert came to the hospital and told me that my parents had packed up and gone home that morning without even saying good-by. Knowing they were on the road, I couldn't get in touch with them, but three days later my mother called and told me that Gilbert never talked to them and they were tired of being treated like two pieces of furniture, so they went home.

Abby, I had to stick up for my husband, which I did. Now I'm getting nasty letters from my mother (signed by my father, too) and I'm so upset I can't sleep nights. Should I apologize to them and insist that Gilbert apologize, too? I still think my parents were out of line.

UPSET AND HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: If you are telling it "like it was" if there is any apologizing to be done, I think your parents ought to do it. (They sound "stuck" to me.) You must protect your own mental health, so write your parents and tell them that until they behave in a civilized manner, you would rather not hear from them. And if they write one more "nasty" letter, you will return all subsequent letters—unopened.

DEAR ABBY: May I add a few words of advice to the mother whose daughter is such a poor housekeeper? SAVE YOUR BREATH!

I know whereof I speak. For 15 years I have had a married daughter who answers the description of yours.

I tried. I scolded, bribed, wept, shamed, worked with her, for her, against her. I stayed away. I tried again. I gave her suggestions, a dishwasher, a sweeper, money, my cleaning woman, and the benefit of the doubt. I gave up.

It must be a disease. A kind of "blindness"—a complete lack of something in one's character that permits a person to live with clutter and disorder and remain unconcerned. (And she's usually the type who leaves her own home a mess, and goes out to help others.)

If by chance, Abby, you should hear of anyone having "cured" such a person, please let me know how it was done.

ANOTHER MOTHER

P. S. Abby, if you should print my letter, please don't use my name or city. I love my daughter, and she has many fine qualities, but she's a lousy housekeeper.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90059. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Women Of The Moose Install

The installation ceremony of new officers of the Women of the Moose was held at the Moose Home before a setting with baskets of floral arrangements.

Mrs. Claude Severt was installation chairman. Installing officers were Mrs. Paul McCollum, regent; Mrs. Robert Williams, chaplain; Mrs. Paul Carlson, guide, and Mrs. Marty Wildman, pianist.

Mrs. Virgil Malone was guide and Mrs. Gene Hamilton, assistant guide.

Officers installed include Ruby Murphy, senior regent; Mrs. Gene Tynar, junior graduate regent; Mrs. Clyde Greenup, junior regent; Mrs. J. Stearns, chaplain; Mrs. Louis Hoffman, recorder; Mrs. Marion Murray, treasurer; Mrs. J. Craven, assistant guide; Mrs. George Long, sentinel, and Mrs. Jack Atkinson, pianist.

Mrs. Lloyd Kelley was chairman of the committee making the corsages and the floral arrangements.

Kia Hamilton and Debbie Greenup were flower girls who gave the corsages to Mrs. Paul Carlson, installing guide.

Each officer, after receiving her emblem, was presented a corsage by Mrs. Carlson.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Paul McCollum, ritual; Mrs. Claude Severt, College of Regents; Mrs. Newt Everett, publicity; Mrs. Raymond Osteretter, Mooseheart; Mrs. Bert Jensen, library; Mrs. Stella Brennen, social service; Mrs. Melvin Dixon, child care; Mrs. Merlin Miller, hospital; Mrs. Roger Paulsen, Moosehaven; Mrs. Wilbur L. Stearns, chaplain; Mrs. Louis Hoffman, recorder; and Mrs. Gene Hamilton, Academy of Friendship.

After the installation ceremony, refreshments were served on tables decorated with floral arrangements. Mrs. Claude Severt was in charge of the refreshments.

Guests were members of the Women of the Moose Buhl Chapter and the Loyal Order of Moose members of Twin Falls and Buhl.

Miss Stafford, Presnell Plan August Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stafford announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Carol, to Duane Presnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Presnell, Kimberly.

Miss Stafford is a 1969 graduate of Twin Falls High School. She is attending Boise State College, where she is a junior majoring in mathematics.

Mr. Presnell is a 1966 graduate of Kimberly High School and is attending Boise State College, where he is a senior accounting major.

An Aug. 23 wedding is planned at the First Presbyterian Church, Twin Falls.

CAROL STAFFORD

Shower Held

RICHFIELD: LuAnn Brown, bride-elect, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower at her home, with Mrs. Keith Swainston and daughter, Deborah Swainston, as hostesses. Miss Brown will become the bride of Michael Swainston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Swainston, July 18.

Decorations were miniature bridal figurines of honeycomb tissue and wedding bells placed around the party rooms. A centerpiece featured a bride doll displayed on a mirror over varicolored lace doilies.

Miss Swainston conducted games, with prizes awarded Mrs. Carl Robinson and Mrs. Udell Robinson. Miss Brown opened and displayed her gifts.

In the late '30s and early '40s Sonny Moyses used to regale his Bridge World readers by describing hands played with his wife Jackie. In the pictures, Jackie was always pictured as an enthusiastic but most erratic player. The articles were so delightful that Sonny and Jackie are still married and still playing bridge together on rare occasions.

We will relate today's article in some of Sonny's own words.

"Jackie has just taken up the Blackwood convention. She also has decided that experts don't ever open two bids. Hence her one-spade starter. I passed with some misgivings but you can't have everything and I didn't have any aces or faces. Jackie almost fell off her chair but East reopened with two diamonds and Jackie burst into four no-trump.

"Here was Blackwood hitting me right in the face. I know I should bid five clubs but I could just see Jackie forgetting that I didn't need clubs for that call and either passing or going to six or seven. So I decided to try five hearts. This produced a six-card bid from Jackie and a diamond 'tent' from West.

"Down came the dummy. 'Where are your two aces?' hissed Jackie. It takes quite an effort to hiss those words but Jackie managed.

"I couldn't have two aces and pass one spade' was my reply.

"At this point, East got into the act to inquire if Jackie was going to play. She did and was East unhappy? She led the king of clubs. West ducked. Jackie discarded a diamond from my hand and continued with the queen. West covered this. Jackie ruffed, got back to her hand with another ruff, played her ace-king of spades and made her slam after they dropped the queen and 10."

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

★CARD SENSE★

Q—The bidding has been: West—North—East—South.

Rbls—2—4—Pass

You, South hold:

AK432 J97

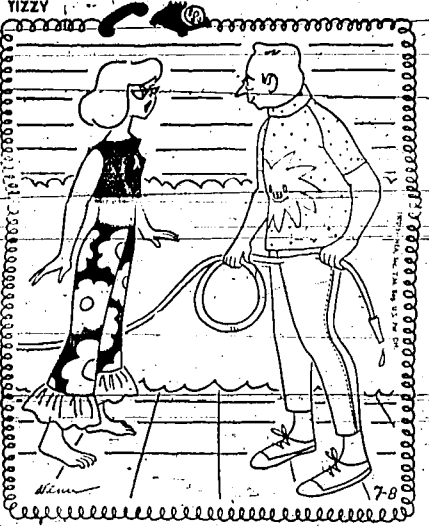

What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your partner's two-diamond bid has merely been his effort to get-out-of-trouble.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of redoubling West has bid two spades over your double. Your partner has bid three diamonds—What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

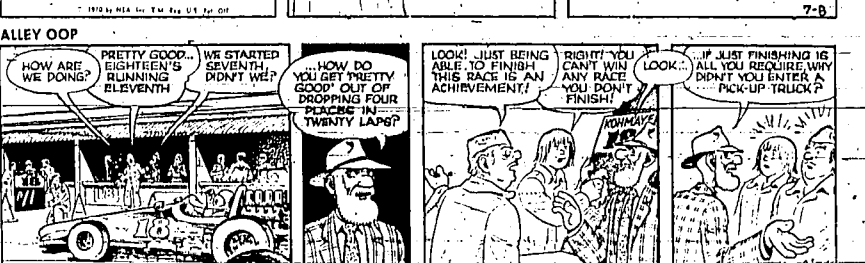

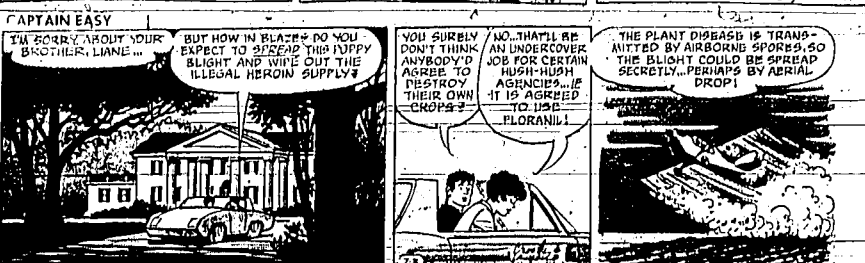

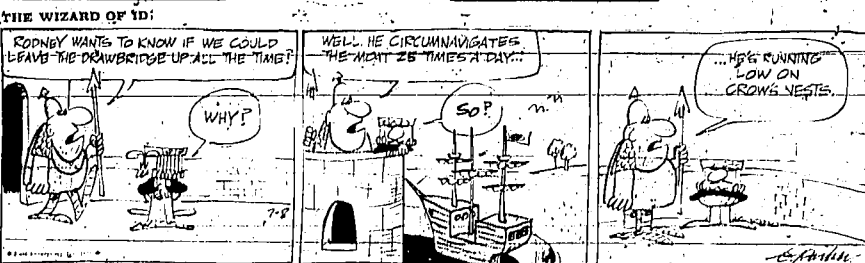

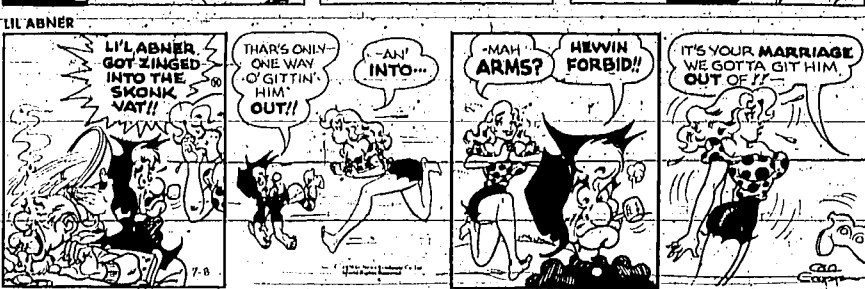

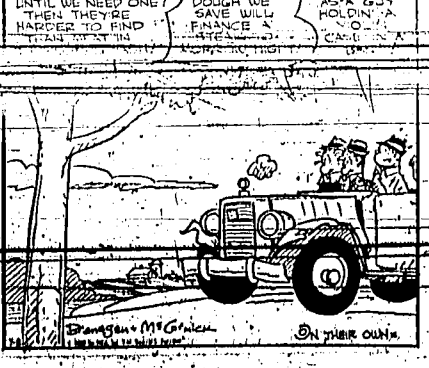

"About my allowance, Father—I'd like to raise my standard of poverty!"

THAT NICKNAME most apt to irritate a baldhead man is said to be 'Curly'....BO-FAR-AS is known, the world's first farmers tilled the soil of what is now called Thailand... A NEW ROLLS ROYCE costs a little more than a giraffe, but not much... "MEN WHO ARE unwilling to accept middle-age are feminine," contended Theodor Reik... A CHIMPANZEE can learn to recognize itself in a mirror. But a monkey can't.

SELECTING SEX - Most expectant parents hope they'll have boys, not girls. That's widely known. Now the scientists predict they'll be able to select the sex of unborn infants within the next five years. If true, it's significant. Highly significant. There'll be boys all over. But few girls. The population explosion will subside. Fifty years from now, a woman, like a Queen bee, will have hundreds of males at her command. If possible, young lady, stick around.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - "Is it true Virgo females tend to be frigid?" A. That's too harsh a word, says our Planet Man. Cool maybe. Even a little chilly. But not frigid... Q. "Has it been proved that teeth can be transplanted successfully?" A. Transplanted definitely. But they rarely last more than three maybe four years... Q. "Who was Heliopolis?" A. Not the character on the winged horse-Pegasus? Believe so.

PERSONAL NOTE - Did I tell you my Dad, now gone, was a pretty fair Montana hunter? Dear like the smell of ripe apples. So he always carried a couple in his pocket, broke them up, and tossed them toward some appropriate spot within range of his stand.

MUSIC MAN - Old Ed Duffing once contemplated writing a song in honor of the oversized woman. Thoughtful of him. First he wanted to call it "You're the Biggest Thing in My Life." Then he decided to change that to "You're a Little Larger Than Average, Baby, But I Love You Just the Same." Unfortunately, he didn't finish the lyrics—That's too bad. Somebody ought to. How's this for a start? "Oh, I know that you're erratic. But you still make me ecstatic - It's because you're so pneumatic, Pretty Baby..."

NOTED WALT WHITMAN: "A good man is not whole and complete unless he owns a house and the ground it stands on. Men are created owners of the earth. Each was intended to possess his piece of it..." WHAT THE MARINE SCIENTISTS are still trying to figure out is why a deep-sea diver cannot rapidly ascend from the depths without suffering the bends while a whale can do so with alacrity.

HEIDER

Darrell L. Heider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell A. Heider, Twin Falls, is participating in a U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Forbes AFB, Topeka, Kan.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers.

Some highlights of the course include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visits to other Air Force bases.

A 1965 graduate of Twin Falls High School, Cadet Heider is a member of the AFROTC unit at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

Second Lieutenant Robert M. Hogge, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Walker, Burley, is a member of a unit that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Lt. Hogge is an English instructor at the U.S. Air Force Academy and will wear a distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the Academy.

The Academy was cited for exceptionally meritorious service from Jan. 1, 1968 to Dec. 31, 1969 for the high degree of professionalism and devotion to duty consistently demonstrated by assigned personnel.

Michael J. Florence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Florence, Twin Falls, is participating in a U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Fairchild AFB, Wash.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers.

Other highlights of the course include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination and small arms training and visits to other Air Force bases.

Air Force Sgt. Robert D. Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Webster, Filer, has arrived for duty at Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C.

Sgt. Webster is a jet engine mechanic assigned to the 88th Bomb Wing, a unit of the Strategic Air Command, America's nuclear deterrent force of long range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles. He previously served at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam.

Colonel Jepson, a flying safety officer, is assigned to the 334th Air Division headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific Area. He previously served at Lockbourne AFB, Ohio.

A holder of the aeronautical rating of command pilot, the Colonel was a member of the expeditionary force to the Berlin and Dominican Republic crises.

Colonel Jepson is a 1949 graduate of Jerome High School. He earned his B.S.

degree from the University of Idaho and his M.A. degree from Ohio State University.

Larry E. Roberts, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Bagham, Burley, has been commissioned a second lieutenant upon completion of the U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Utah State University, Logan, Utah.

Lt. Roberts also received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering.

Francis Cammack, Buhl, was presented his sixth award of the Air Medal for air action in Vietnam at McGuire AFB, N.J.

Sgt. Cammack, a flight engineer, was decorated for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions.

Mr. Cammack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cammack, Buhl, was presented his sixth award of the Air Medal for air action in Vietnam at McGuire AFB, N.J.

Sgt. Cammack, a flight engineer, was decorated for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions.

Bankers Voice Concern Over Economic Slump

By United Press International — Talk to bankers in New York, Boston and San Francisco and there is unanimous agreement the country is in bad economic shape.

But what do the smaller bankers, the ones in Middle America, think about the economy? UPI-made random telephone calls to three such bankers and got these opinions: "I don't know where it all the big centers out East. But business in our part of the country is pretty darned good. We're essentially agriculture and livestock, and both are having good years. Crops and weather both good. Last year, too. Autos are about our only weak area and some other durable goods. But the owner of a big apparel shop here was just telling me he's having a banner year. Unemployment is about all, about 2 per cent. Are we concerned nationally? Yes. We're worried that the slowdown may be with us for some time but don't live in fear of a major recession." Don Pauer, loans manager, Idaho First National Bank, Pocatello (20,000). "What concerns me right now is that most people are over-financed. They have too much out and can't find an escape—source phone calls to three such bankers and got these opinions: good credit risks now are 30 or more days past due on loans. First National Bank of Lincoln, Neb. (150,000): "Guess we're sort of an island compared with the East. But it seems to me some institutions are in for some pretty good losses. George Merriman, president, Corpus Christi State National Bank, Tex. (200,000): "Well, we know for sure money is tight and has been for some time. But we think it will clear up in diversification. Agriculture, livestock, industry, oil. Our unemployment rate probably is below the national level. We're rolling along fine. Not too worried that the slow-
