Barmaids Told To Cover

By ROBERT D. LURATI—SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Naked barmaids have been ordered by the state to patch on pasties and step into panties, and topless-bottomless dancers have been told to wear at least a "fig leaf."

Furthermore, nightclub entertainment must not include nudes gyrating luridly.

These orders were contained in new regulations adopted Thursday by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department.

"This is silly if they are going to kick up such a fuss after it's been going on for so long," said Linda Cochran, 25, a blonde topless waitress in San Francisco, when told of the new rules.

Sandy Matson, 26, also a topless waitress in San Francisco and a former Peace Corps member, said, "Pasties are gross. They are a pain."

A spokesman for several clubs in San Francisco's North Beach area, birthplace of topless dancing, said owners would ignore the new rules and have the whole issue resolved in the courts.

Rules were less stringent for the dancers themselves, since no mention was made of bare breasts, but dancers must perform on a stage 18 inches off the ground and six feet away from onlookers.

The rules, which become effective Aug. 10, were adopted after the ABC studied testimony delivered during a public hearing in May.

Besides the guidelines for waitresses and dancers, the department set regulations for films of still pictures of nude clubs.

ABC Chief Edward J. Kirby said he examined the hearing's testimony and studied the

Cabbies Asking For Protection

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City may find itself without cabs between midnight and 6 a.m. unless the city provides cabbies with better police protection.

Owners of the 6,000 fleet taxis, the Metropolitan Taxicab Board of Trade, told the city transportation administration Thursday the monthly number of assaults on fleet drivers has increased alarmingly. From a previous rate of 400 assaults, the number jumped to 1,000 in June, and two drivers were murdered, they said.

The fleet owners did not set a deadline for initiating the curfew.

Kidnaped Girl Is Object Of Search

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—An anonymous $5,000 reward has been offered for the safe return of Laurie Murningham, 16, the blonde daughter of Lansing's former mayor was kidnaped by a robber from the antique store where she was a clerk.

A massive police search found no trace of Miss Murningham, whose father is former Lansing Mayor Max E. Murningham, or of her abductor, described as a Negro male about 25 years old wearing dark trousers and a straw hat.

Miss Murningham was forced to accompany a gunman who held up Gallagher's Gift Shop

One Spy Released

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China today released one alleged American spy, a 79-year-old Roman Catholic bishop, but said another, Hugh Francis Redmond of New York City, committed suicide in his prison cell in April.

The Peking government freed the Rev. James Edward Walsh, the bishop of Shanghai who had been sentenced in 1959 to 20 years in prison on charges of spying for the United States and the Vatican.

He crossed the border into Hong Kong with the New China News Agency reporting he was freed because "of his old age and ill health."

The agency said Redmond, arrested in 1954, "mortally wounded himself" April 13 by slashing his elbow and wrists with a razor blade. He was serving a life term on charges of spying for the U.S. Office of Strategic Services (OSS).

His body was reported to have been cremated after notification of his relatives through the American Red Cross.

Walsh had been the only foreign Roman Catholic missionary left in China. U.S. Consulate officials met him at the border and said he was wearing worn khaki trousers and a checkered shirt, was unshaven and looking tired. The officials said he told them he was glad to be out of China. He appeared healthy.

Criticism Of Census Spreading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although its massive once-in-a-decade nose count is not yet completed, the Census Bureau already is besieged with complaints from around the country about the accuracy of its early findings.

"The figures we have put out are preliminary, really preliminary," a bureau spokesman emphasized, explaining that census officials still are sorting out complaints and making corrections where errors are found.

Whether the complaints are valid or an expression of outraged boomerism, they tend to have one thing in common—they come from areas that have lost population or have registered fewer gains than expected.

The bureau's early figures—it claims to have counted about 162 million Americans or 80 percent of the expected 210 million total—have led to a variety of critical responses.

They were denounced in Congress. Newspapers and radio stations conducted their own campaigns to discover who went uncounted April 1. Mayors and Chamber of Commerce officials demanded recounts and one group filed a suit to stop the count.

Census Bureau officials are not surprised by the complaints. One said privately, "We figured the mayor whose city has lost population is not doing his civic or public duty as a mayor" unless he complains about the results.

Egyptian Planes Shot Down

By United Press International—Israel said its pilots shot down three Egyptian MIG21s over the northern sector of the Suez Canal during a brief dogfight during the 51st successive day of raids against Egypt's canal line.

The announcement from Tel Aviv said all the Israeli planes returned home safely. The Egyptian jets, it said, were downed with air-to-air rockets and cannon. No details were given on what targets the Israeli warplanes were raiding.

From Cairo, a top Egyptian official said his nation's new anti-aircraft assets along the canal-Israel asserts it is Soviet-operated and has been raiding it daily—will determine the outcome of the Middle East conflict.

Prison And Judges Don't Mix

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—The 23 judges who spent a night in Nevada State Prison sounded almost as unhappy as convicts.

"After that experience I'm going to work for total reform of our prisons," said Judge Tom Lee of Miami, Fla., remarking that prisons are "just warehouses which house criminals."

"The appalling thing is that we aren't really correcting," he told reporters Thursday. "We are putting 18 and 20-year-olds in jail and making hardened criminals out of them."

"I was in a cage like an animal," said Judge E. Newton Vickers of Topeka, Kan., complaining that prisoners "screamed and rattled cans against the wall all night and I couldn't sleep."

"Ten years in there is like 100 or maybe 200," he said. "They should take two bulldozers out there and tear it down."

"My pride is stung," declared Warden Carl Hoeker. "I think we run a pretty good operation out there."

The judges, at the Warden's invitation, spent the night in prison as part of a seminar for trial judges at the University of Nevada.

On balance, the warden indicated, the visit was better for convicts than for judges. "Oftentimes the inmates feel rejected and are outcasts and nobody is interested in them," Hoeker said. "Any interest shown in them is really appreciated, particularly this group, this affords the chance to dispel a lot of misinformation."

Judge Robert Bryan of Bremerton, Wash., spent the night in solitary and later questioned its value as a disciplinary device.

He said he was afraid to let his foot hang over the bunk because the solitary cell's toilet, nothing more than an opening in the floor, flushed automatically every five minutes.

"I was afraid if I let my foot hang over the bunk it would get caught and I would be gone forever," Bryan said.

Salmon Officials To Testify

HOLLISTER—Directors of the Salmon River Canal Co., plus some other Salmon Tract farmers, will be going to Washington, D.C. next month to testify at a Senate hearing on the proposed Salmon Falls Reclamation Project.

Morris Huffman, general manager of the canal firm, said some of the directors and others who will be contacted, will testify in behalf of the Salmon Tract before the Water and Power Sub-Committee of the Senate Interior Committee.

The committee will hold hearings on Aug. 3 on Sens. Frank Church and Len B. Jordan legislation to authorize construction of the project.

Mr. Huffman said several farmers and businessmen in Twin Falls County will be sending testimony to the hearings.

Under Church and Jordan legislation, more than 100 acre feet of water would be pumped from the Snake River and used to provide additional water supplies for 50,000 acres of presently irrigated land, plus water for more than 14,000 acres of land not now irrigated.

General May Have Survived In Crash

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. troops struggled in torrential rains today to reach the wreckage of the downed helicopter of Maj. Gen. George W. Casey on a hill near the Cambodian border.

The U.S. Command said combat had dropped to its lowest level since American troops left Cambodia 11 days ago.

Cambodian government sources in Phnom Penh reported that troops had entered Cambodia to help protect a tiny border village enclave around the ancient temple of Preah Vihear, 190 miles north of Phnom Penh. It was the first time that fighting men had come into Cambodia since the Lon Nol government asked help from Bangkok to fight the Communists.

There were these other developments:

Two Utah Murders Probed

CLOVER, Utah (UPI)—The bodies of two men who had been beaten and then shot in the head with a small caliber weapon were found here late Thursday.

The Tooele County Sheriff's office said one man, has been identified as Ronald Paul Smith, 22, a former Vietnam War veteran who had been living with his parents in Tooele.

The other body has not yet been identified, but authorities said it is a Caucasian male apparently in his forties.

Smith's body was found about 4 p.m. in a Juniper-forest-three miles west of here at the foothills of the Onagu Mountains.

Approximately five hours later the body of the other victim was spotted in a rocky gully on the other side of the mountain, approximately five miles from Smith.

Sheriff deputies said both men appeared to have been beaten about the head before they were shot from behind.

Smith's body was discovered by two ranchers who were working in the area, and the other body was spotted by an employee of Dugway Proving Grounds.

Apparently the only connection authorities can see in the two incidents is the similar way the two men were killed.

Schools Object Of Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With school opening in seven weeks, the Nixon administration has begun its final push to "clean up" 121 hard-core Southern districts that have resisted desegregation since the original 1954 Supreme Court decree.

As it had threatened, the Justice Department filed suit Thursday against the state of Mississippi to desegregate 19 of its 148 school districts. Two of the holdouts were expected to have acceptable plans by the weekend.

So-called multidistrict suits—lumping several school districts within a state—were filed against a total of 27 districts in Arkansas, Florida, and South Carolina.

Nearly 200,000 students were involved in Thursday's actions—95,137 of them black, 81,206 of whom attended segregated schools last year.

Assistant Attorney General Jerris Leonard, chief of the Civil Rights Division, promised more suits, possibly today or this week, or next.

"Our action today," Attorney General John N. Mitchell said Thursday, "is to clean up the remnants—those few districts which could not or would not come into compliance."

Son Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said the suits were the work of "ultraliberal zealots who are holdovers from the Kennedy and Johnson administrations."

Of the 78 remaining districts not complying with the Supreme Court decrees and the 1964 civil rights law, 48 are in East Texas. The Justice Department served notice last week state officials should work to bring the districts into line, implying the alternative might be a state suit.

There were 7 other holdouts in Georgia, 7 in Tennessee, 5 in Florida, 5 in Virginia, 3 in Mississippi and 1 in Louisiana.

General May Have Survived In Crash

Only one major ground engagement was reported in Vietnam. Four Americans died 100 miles east of Saigon when Communist troops ambushed them with a mine and small arms fire. Guerrilla casualties were unknown.

American B52 bombers flew eight missions overnight in South Vietnam and an undisclosed number in Cambodia and Laos, U.S. spokesmen said. All the raids in Vietnam were in the vicinity of the abandoned U.S. Marine base of Khe Sanh.

Communist guerrillas Thursday night mortared the road junction town of Souvanna-Khill in Southern Laos astride a highway to the Laotian southern military headquarters at Pakse. They missed a government barracks and hit civilian houses instead, killing 10 and wounding seven. Four of the dead were children.

Military sources in Saigon said today the United States was paying most of the one to two million dollars of estimated costs for South Vietnam to train 10,000 Cambodian troops.

The International Red Cross prepared to return 62 disabled North Vietnamese war prisoners and 24 detained fishermen to North Vietnam Saturday at the Demilitarized Zone.

Cambodian spokesmen quoted Premier Lon Nol as saying about half the estimated 72,000 Communist troops in his country had returned to Vietnam. The spokesmen said it appeared those who stayed behind had retired to isolated areas to retrain and reorganize during the monsoon season.

Air observers who spotted the wreckage of Casey's helicopter in rainy twilight Thursday on the jungled hillside saw no bodies near it, raising a possibility the general and his men survived and escaped into the woods.

Perjury Verdict Returned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Martin Swig, suspended chief administrative aide to House Speaker Carl Albert, was convicted Thursday on a single count of perjury.

The jury, however, acquitted Swig of five other perjury counts and of a charge of conspiring to misuse the speaker's office for his personal gain.

He faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine. Had he been convicted on all counts he could have been imprisoned for 35 years and fined $20,000.

Swig remained free from $50,000 bond sentencing set for Aug. 31. His lawyers said he would appeal.

"Thank God it's over," Swig said to reporters who clustered around him after the jury announced its verdict. He refused further comment on the three-week-long trial in federal court here.

Swig, 48, was indicted in October with veteran Washington lobbyist Nathan Voloshen, 72, on charges of conspiring to defraud the government by using the prestige of the speaker's office to gain favors for Voloshen's clients for fees which allegedly amounted to $189,000 over a five-year period.

Additional showers and thundershowers will be triggered today by a weak cool front which will move across Southern Idaho. Partial clearing will begin in the Malheur and Southwest Idaho valleys tonight, and will spread through the remainder of Southern Idaho Saturday.

Temperatures will average three to eight degrees cooler today with highs ranging from the lower 90s at the warmer spots in the West, to the upper 70s at the cooler spots in the East. Another two to five degrees of cooling will follow Saturday. Lows tonight will be mostly in the 50s.

Only a few scattered precipitation reports were received this morning, including Pocatello, with 1.1 inch; Idaho Falls, a trace; Burley, 0.1 inch; Coeur d'Alene, 0.9 inch; Baker, Ore., .66 inch; and Boise, which received .91 of an inch after midnight.

Test Of Defenses Charted

A Civil Defense exercise will be held in Twin Falls County on Aug. 7, according to Clyde Edwards, county Civil Defense director.

The local head of Civil Defense and Russell Cooke, Moscow, assistant coordinator of the University Extension Civil Defense program, University of Idaho, Moscow, have been touring the county for the past several days, studying available Civil Defense facilities.

Mr. Edwards said the August exercise will be related to communications only and will simulate procedures which would be used locally in the event of a national disaster.

All heads of local government, city, county and state, will be involved in the exercise. Mr. Cooke will be in Twin Falls again prior to the exercise to train these officials.

The exercise itself will be conducted at the county courthouse, Mr. Edwards said. It is the first such one held in this county, but will follow the pattern used in ones in Jerome, Cassin and Minidoka counties in recent years.

Firemen Answer Two Help Calls

The Twin Falls Fire Department made an emergency response to run Thursday night to the home of Harold Bailey, 1710 Eldredge Ave.

Firemen said Mr. Bailey's 13-year-old son apparently held his breath until he stopped breathing. The rescuer was used to revive the child and he was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance, and later released.

The fire department also was called to the home Wednesday night because of a similar incident. However by the time firemen arrived, the child had reportedly been dunked in an irrigation ditch and started breathing again.

Also on Wednesday the department was called to 1818 Falls Ave. E., a frame home occupied by Ronald Ardlesome. A fire started in a basement bedroom and burned the bed bedding and the interior of the room. The fire was confined to the basement, but smoke and soot damage was done to the upstairs of the house.

Railroad Crisis Was Anticipated

By JANE DENISON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal officials saw the Penn Central Railroad was heading for a cash crisis but pronounced it in a "strong financial condition" just eight months before it went bankrupt, according to Senate testimony.

Commerce Commission (ICC) told Senate investigators they "had indications" the $7 billion transportation empire was teetering last fall.

"Senators hoped to elicit the inside story today from Alfred E. Perlman, vice chairman of the Penn Central Board, as hearings resume on the railroad's financial collapse."

Russ Role In Mideast Hurts U.S.

Foreign News Commentary by PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst — The Soviet Union's escalating role in Middle East hostilities has placed it and the United States on a collision course probably more dangerous than at any time since the outbreak of the 1967 war.

Appearing before a Senate transportation subcommittee Wednesday, ICC Chairman George M. Stafford and a squad of commission financial experts predicted there is no danger the bankrupt railroad will fail to meet its $20 million weekly payroll or default on its bills despite the crisis.

But they said they were "not sure" how many of the company's current assets could be converted into cash or credit.

It is to be hoped that both Moscow and Washington read the signs correctly.

In Moscow, where President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is a current important guest, an absence of vituperation against the United States lends to a hope that serious consideration is being given the latest, unpublished, U.S. peace proposals.

They promised a full report on an ICC investigation into Penn Central's complex problems within 90 days. Their probe extends into the 225 companies owned or connected with the line.

ICC officials said the clue to the railroad's troubles came last fall, when Penn Central asked the ICC for approval of $50 million in short-term, unsecured credits for needs "more appropriately applicable to long-term financing."

From Washington, President Richard Nixon has warned: "Once the balance of power shifts where Israel is weaker than its neighbors, there will be a war. Therefore, it is in the United States' interests to maintain Israel's strength vis-a-vis its neighbors. Not because we want Israel to be in a position to wage war—that isn't it—but because that is what will deter its neighbors from attacking it."

Stafford, reading from a report approving the request dated Oct. 20, 1969, said the ICC had concluded after study that Penn Central was "on the whole...in a strong financial condition."

Later, John J. Matras, an ICC finance section official, quoted another excerpt from that report that cautioned the proposed transaction "could expose (Penn Central) to crisis in the event of an economic squeeze."

The President spoke against a background of newly arrived Soviet combat pilots to bolster U.A.R. defenses, plus increased use of sophisticated Soviet surface to air missiles against attacking Israeli warplanes.

The missiles included both the high-altitude SAM2 and the low-altitude SAM3.

Stafford, reading from a report approving the request dated Oct. 20, 1969, said the ICC had concluded after study that Penn Central was "on the whole...in a strong financial condition."

Later, John J. Matras, an ICC finance section official, quoted another excerpt from that report that cautioned the proposed transaction "could expose (Penn Central) to crisis in the event of an economic squeeze."

What they meant to Israel's ability to control the air on both sides of the Suez Canal was not immediately apparent.

Less than concern for the present was Israel's concern over the steady escalation of the Russian effort. A year ago the Soviets acted merely as military advisers. Three months ago they were protecting Egypt's heartland with SAM3 missiles and flying operational missions for the Egyptian air force. Today, Russian missilemen are in combat against Israeli jets.

Israel's motives behind its energetic campaign to publicize the Soviet role and the motives behind the Soviet escalation were subjects for speculation.

Israel charged the Soviet Union sought dominance in the Middle East and to dictate a Soviet-style political settlement there, a belief seemingly held at least in part by Washington.

But they conceded under close questioning the railroad had no working capital available last fall.

The short-term credit request finally was approved, but "very reluctantly" due to the tight money market and only because of "pressing needs of the company," said Fritz R. Kahn, ICC deputy general counsel.

Kahn and Matras said the ICC had a "reasonable comprehensive view" of the Penn Central's financial status at that time.

CONSTRUCTION AT THE HIGH SCHOOL is going slower than anticipated, according to Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, superintendent of schools, and may not be finished by the original August 19 completion date. This photo, taken by Times News reporter Carol Burnam, shows the interior of the six-sided "pod" annex at the west end of the high school building, with the roofing partly in place. A steel strike in Chicago has delayed shipment of steel window frames for the addition. Dr. Ragland said, and may delay the final completion date. Bricklaying is almost completed and roofing is near completion on the library and offices.

U.S. Funds Training For 436 Men

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The Department of Employment announced today four manpower development and training action institutional projects in Idaho will train 436 persons.

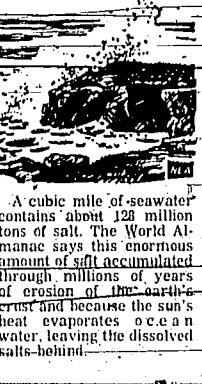

Jess C. Ramaker, northwest regional manpower administrator for the Labor Department said a combined federal investment of $1,094,485 will be broken down into four sections, to train persons in heavy construction, engineer, equipment experience, vocational technical training at Boise State College and work training experience at Idaho State University.

He said all training under the MDTA institutional program is in occupations in which there is a local demand for skilled workers.

New Hope

David K. E. Bruce, America's premier diplomat, has been named by President Nixon to head the delegation to the Paris peace talks...

Bruce, a Democrat, is the only man ever to have served as ambassador in the top three posts—London, Paris and Bonn. He retired in 1969 as ambassador to the Court of St. James after a record eight years in the post...

President Nixon, announcing the appointment on television, described Bruce, who has served under five presidents, as "superbly qualified." Indicating his unreserved confidence in Ambassador Bruce, Nixon said he would have "great flexibility" to negotiate and expressed the hope the North Vietnamese would "reciprocate."

Bruce will assume his post on or before August 1, after preparatory conferences with his predecessor and with Secretary of State Rogers.

There have been no signals of interest in meaningful negotiations by the Hanoi delegation, the President said in reply to questions on the televised interview.

"But I believe they will be interested in the new chief of our delegation," Nixon commented.

A veteran of World War I, Bruce is trained in the law and ended World War II service as a colonel in charge of the Office of Strategic Services operations in Europe.

Thus, President Nixon is seeking to forward his drive for a negotiated peace in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon stated Ambassador Bruce would have extraordinary scope for meaningful negotiations with only one restriction—the South Vietnamese must have the right to choose their own course and he didn't think they would choose communism in a free election.

Nixon noted that we have already proposed mutual withdrawal of forces in Vietnam, a cease fire, and free elections in which Communists would participate, all to be under international supervision, presumably by an agency of the United Nations.

These proposals have been elaborated privately to see "if we could narrow the gap," but none have been made on "a take it or leave it" basis.

In any event, Nixon said our long-term goal is total withdrawal. Most of our ground troops will be withdrawn by next spring and other forces, chiefly air, naval and support, will take longer. The period would be shorter if the enemy is willing to negotiate.

Whether or not Hanoi chooses to negotiate, Nixon expressed the belief that Vietnamization is a success and that the South Vietnamese, now "a formidable fighting force," ultimately would be able to successfully defend themselves.

"We in the free world live or die by the proposition that people have a right to choose," Nixon said, adding that no communist regime is in power anywhere in the world as the result of free elections.

Observation

Along about this time of year people can be heard fondly recalling the icy blasts of last winter. Usually they are the ones who a few months ago were eagerly awaiting the temperature's climb.

Perhaps they ought to enjoy the hot weather while they can, because the word from scientists who have been examining ice cores taken from Greenland's ice cap a few years ago is that the huge island will continue getting colder for the next decade or two.

In the process, it could cool off the Northern Hemisphere. But probably not so it would be noticed. Seawater temperatures around Greenland have been falling since the 1930s, without much noticeable effect here.

Summers in this latitude might really be something to talk about, if it weren't for that cooling ice mass up North.

College Doors

Two-year community colleges are opening the door to higher education to a rapidly increasing number of the nation's youth. The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education reports about two million young people are now enrolled in such schools, and twice as many will be by 1980.

To handle this number, the commission suggests adding 230 to 280 public two-year colleges, bringing their total to nearly 1,000. The commission emphasizes the importance of "comprehensive" programs in these colleges, for they serve a variety of needs. Some young people want, or need, no more than two years beyond high school.

Others find the two-year college a steppingstone to a four-year one, a feature especially helpful to those not yet fully prepared to step into the latter program. Others seek technical courses to prepare for careers.

It is this sort of flexibility which makes the community colleges increasingly valuable. The commission encourages their extension into every corner of the nation, to be accessible to all.

This is what makes the College of Southern Idaho a good thing for Magic Valley.

VACATION TIME

From recreational spots, North and South, East and West, come the same reports: Booked solid until fall, or nearly so.

Vacation time finds many ready to start and no place to go. Those who were forehand and made reservations months ago are fortunate. For many persons the long-anticipated vacation threatens to be a disappointing affair at best.

Vacations are regarded as essential by the average human. Days or weeks away from the job will pay dividends, although they may be marked by stress of travel and unhappy experiences. Vacation gives a taste of free life, a change in the daily routine which may not actually be more comfortable, but is different. It brings new scenes, new faces. If it takes the housewife from her kitchen it serves to give her greater appreciation of her own home when she returns.

Vacation offers emancipation from the daily grind, a visit to new places to learn how the other half lives. But a permanent vacation would be unthinkable.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Hand Of Kennedy

Despite Sargent Shriver's far-from-convincing disclaimers of interest in the 1972 presidential race it was the principal factor in his agreeing to head that new Democratic campaign committee honorably titled "Congressional Leadership for the Future."

Throughout the backstage conferring and maneuvering that preceded the announcement, the former envoy to Paris was in constant touch with key members of the Kennedy family.

They included Senator Edward Kennedy, Stephen Smith, N. V. another in-law who played a leading role in the selection of former UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg as Democratic gubernatorial candidate; and Mrs. Rose Kennedy, lively octogenarian matriarch of the clan.

Previously, Mrs. Kennedy tried to help Shriver line up support for a gubernatorial race in Maryland. But even her potent appeal was unavailing. Shriver's aspirations never got off the ground. His boom was a resounding bust.

That's why he turned to the idea of organizing and heading a new campaign committee for the ostensible purpose of electing Democrats to Congress—meaning the House of Representatives. There is no sign the Senate is included in the plans and thinking of this group.

Significantly unmentioned in the hoopla at the launching of this committee was the complete absence of any reference to the Senate or the 23 Democratic senators up for reelection. That was no oversight.

With the possible exception of Senator Mike Mansfield, Mont., top Democratic leaders of the Senate were cold to the Shriver Committee, for two reasons: (1) They strongly suspect the real purpose of the committee is to further the presidential ambitions of Shriver and/or Senator Kennedy, despite his coy disclaimers; (2) a number of them have burning White House aspirations of their own.

Senators Edmund Muskie, Mo.; George McGovern, S. D.; Birch Bayh, Ind.; Fred Harris, Okla.; Frank Church, Idaho. It was this covert Senate hostility that almost scuttled the new committee. But the vociferous bloc of Kennedy partisans in the House rescued Shriver. And Mrs. Rose Kennedy overcame another major obstacle—the opposition of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien. Although an original Kennedy man, he saw the Shriver committee as directly undermining his own influence and authority. After two talks with Mrs. Kennedy, O'Brien unceremoniously withdrew his objections. But privately he still has his fingers crossed.

The National Chairman is not a Shriver admirer. He considers him indecisive and politically inept. O'Brien has a lot of proof of that—Shriver's glaring debacle in Maryland, where he was out-bluffed, out-maneuvered and out-politicked by Governor Marvin Mandel.

Despite the outward harmony prevailing between Shriver and O'Brien, political insiders will be very much surprised if that doesn't break down under the strains and stresses of the coming hectic fall electioneering.

PAUL HARVEY

Efficiently?

The telephone companies are in trouble. They will not publicly concede the cause of much recent inefficiency because they are scared to.

The Fair Employment Practices Commission says "no discrimination in employment," no matter what.

Court interpretations of the law and pressure from organizations of ethnic minorities result in hiring a percentage of everybody, qualified or not, and promoting a percentage whether they have earned promotion or not—and this practice is eroding the efficiency of many industries.

But for telephone companies and public utilities with an "extra obligation to government," the hire-everybody, promote-anybody practice really is going things up.

Historically, telephone company technicians took great pride in their job categories. Promotion required time, study and improved proficiency. The rewards, more than monetary, included respect plus the admiration and esteem of their fellows.

When less-qualified employees are moved into positions of seniority arbitrarily—whatever the long-range objective—the immediate effect is demoralizing. Initiative is diminished, pride is diluted and the senior man is left for a while—likely to find himself doing two jobs.

Recounting inefficiency is apparent to any telephone user. Long lines, subscribers who heretofore ran a routine frequently response every week or so, now do so daily.

A recent issue of Time magazine was devoted to "Inefficiency in America." Articles in that issue cited examples of malfunctioning equipment, poor repairmanship, delays at airports, ill-natured salespeople and savage cab drivers.

"The trains, the plumbing, the vending machines—nothing works."

Time tried to be philosophical about it, conceding that much present inefficiency derives from our determination to teach skills "on the job." Editorially, the magazine says "...to hire ghetto blacks and other handicapped people instead of leaving them to subsist on public welfare is a good thing, whatever inefficiency it may breed."

Industries, meanwhile, find themselves squeezed between rights organizations demanding more amalgamation of minorities and consumer crusaders protesting shoddy merchandise and shabby service.

There are employees too long secure in their jobs who have become lazy and neglectful—who need a shaking up. For them, the influx of energetic and ambitious new employees is an irritant and a threat where it amounts to a challenge to do better.

But for skilled tradesmen and technicians whose hard-earned seniority is handed to others who have not earned it—that constitutes a reverse discrimination against the discriminator. And that's not fair, either.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Fibrosis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Am concerned about fibrosis of the lungs. Had an X ray in 1967 and was told I had this. Is it dangerous and what can I do to take care of it? Am in my early 70s, with no other illness that I know of. — E.E.D.

With the number of chest X rays these days (and they are a good thing) a notation of "fibrosis" is not unusual. Letters from readers make it clear that a good many don't know what it means and are worried.

Very often there is no need to worry. Essentially, fibrosis means that some scarring has occurred. This may be from having had tuberculosis. It may be from a fungus infection called histoplasmosis. Or it may be from some other lung ailment.

Since an old, healed case of tuberculosis can break down many years later and become active again, it is wise to take some precautions. Subsequent X rays may be taken, to make sure that no further change occurs in the scarred area, indicating a disease process at work. More frequently, these days, a course of isoniazid medication is given to prevent disease activity.

In other cases, there is no need for further treatment. The scarring has occurred, but the disease has been conquered. A finding of fibrosis requires discrimination to determine the cause, and sometimes a further follow-up, but in many cases there is nothing to worry about and nothing that needs to be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband is past 50 and has emphysema so bad he cannot carry a heavy box across the room without losing his wind. If he catches cold he has a lot of trouble.

Every evening he drinks not less than six bottles of beer, smokes at least half a pack of cigarettes, a day, has no appetite, and has lost 25 pounds.

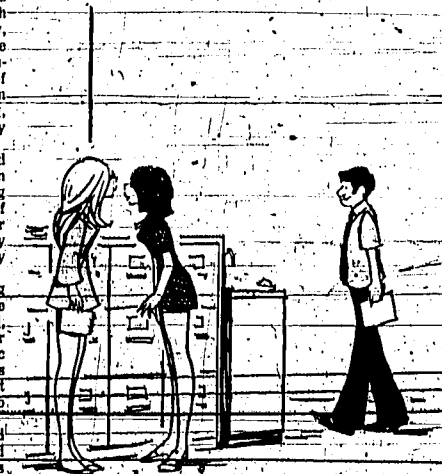

He says he drinks the beer to keep from taking a laxative. His doctor said a bottle of beer at night would be good for him. He also takes at least two nerve pills and two cold capsules which he says help his wind.

Does all the beer affect his appetite and contribute to his being so inactive and winded? Do you have any books available on this subject? — J. V. W.

The combination of nerve pills, cold capsules (which may contain antihistamines), and that much beer would most certainly contribute to his lassitude and probably depress his appetite. But you are missing the most important point: he still smokes. No one with emphysema should smoke at all. Yes, I have a booklet, "How to Control Emphysema." Send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Enemy Denounces Prisons

PARIS (UPI)—The Vietnamese Communist delegations, basing their charges on a report by two U.S. congressmen, denounced South Vietnam and the United States Thursday for holding political prisoners under conditions worse than that inflicted by the Nazis in Germany's World War II concentration camps.

Although North Vietnam and the Viet Cong had charged the Saigon government, previously with holding and mistreating prisoners for political reasons, their denunciations at the 74th session of the Vietnam peace talks were centered on the Con Son island prison, 140 miles southeast of Saigon in the South China Sea.

Two congressmen, Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., visited the prison while on an investigative tour of South Vietnam last week and reported prisoners mistreated and held in "tiger cages" in the maximum security prison.

South Vietnam's ambassador to the peace talks, Pham Dang Lam, rejected reports of mistreatment of political prisoners as "mendacious and fallacious" minutes after the Vietnamese Communists made their denunciation in the 4½-hour negotiating session. The acting U.S. delegation chief, Philip C. Habib, did not answer the Communist charges.

Trieu Van Dan, spokesman for the South Vietnamese delegation, said Lam told the Communist delegations that representatives of the International Red Cross and various religious organizations had visited the prison and all had agreed the Saigon government is doing its best to improve conditions there.

Dan said Lam challenged the Communist side to open its prisons to impartial investigations by such organizations also.

The two Communist delegates, Nguyen Minh Vy of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's Dinh Bi Thi, said the torture of several hundred prisoners packed into tiger cages at Con Son was carried out at the direct instruction and with the full knowledge of American advisers.

The temperatures of birds do not appear to be affected by either arctic cold or equatorial heat.

Strike

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Northwest Airlines suspended 85 per cent of its service Thursday in a strike by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, leaving flights to only six U.S. cities and the Orient.

It maintained service to only 13 of the 53 cities it normally serves with its domestic and international flights.

Union officials reported widespread layoffs of pilots and stewardesses.

The company discontinued flights Thursday to Milwaukee, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington and Detroit, Roy Erickson, Northwest vice president, said.

Catholics To March In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Roman Catholics said Thursday they would march in five Northern Ireland cities this weekend to protest alleged brutality by British soldiers in Belfast, the army carried out one of its biggest arms searches of the year.

Road checks were tightened throughout the country, and cars coming from the Irish Republic were thoroughly searched for weapons.

On the outskirts of Belfast, the army sealed off an eight-square mile area near Black Mountain and combed several abandoned buildings in what an army spokesman said was one of the biggest weapons searches of the year.

The search involved 500 soldiers, transport helicopters and metal detectors, the spokesman said. There was no indication whether weapons were found.

The discovery of an arms cache last Friday in a similar search in the Catholic Falls Road district of Belfast touched off a night of rioting in which three civilians were killed. Catholic residents of the area complained later that in subsequent searches the British troops looted their houses and smashed furnishings.

On Thursday, a spokesman for the Roman Catholic Civil Rights Association announced that as many as 80,000 Catholics would march to army headquarters in Londonderry, Omagh, Newry, Armagh and Enniskillen this weekend.

House Rejects Senate Cambodia Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House voted after seven-minute debate Thursday to reject an amendment opposing future U.S. military activities in Cambodia which the Senate took seven weeks to approve.

By a vote of 237 to 153 amid charges of Presidential arm-twisting, the House turned down a motion to instruct its delegates to the House-Senate Conference Committee to accept the restrictive policy language sponsored by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

On the poll call, 101 Democrats and 130 Republicans voted to support President Nixon's position on Cambodia, while 120 Democrats and 33 Republicans voted to accept the Senate restrictions.

That provision and others, including one to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution that preceded the massive U.S. buildup in Vietnam five years ago, was added by the Senate to legislation carrying authority to finance credit sales of arms to foreign countries.

The House action by no means kills the controversial Cooper-Church amendment.

No Other Word for It Originally a trademark, the word "cellophane" was declared a generic term by court decree in 1941. It had proven so appropriate to the product that the courts declared that no other word could describe it.

Stranded Students Are Stuck

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A bankruptcy referee said Thursday the 3,200 high school and college students stranded in Europe when a travel agency went broke will receive 10 to 25 cents on the dollar on the total amount they paid for their trip.

U.S. District Court Bankruptcy Referee Leonard Gartner said the students, probably would be refunded little more than 10 cents on the dollar and at the very most 25 cents.

World Academy Inc., the firm that arranged the student tour, filed the bankruptcy action Monday in U.S. District Court here. The firm had arranged for airline tickets for the students but had not paid for food and lodging.

The students, who paid between $700 and $1,000 for the trip scheduled to last from 27 to 40 days, were expected to be back in the United States by Sunday.

Union Services Planned

FILER — The second union service sponsored by the Filer Ministerial Association, will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds.

The Nazarene Church will be in charge of this service with Rev. Jack Weller, pastor, presenting the message "Diamond Dust." A ladies' trio, The Spiritones, will present special numbers and there will be congregational singing of gospel songs.

The public is cordially invited to attend, said Rev. Weller, who added that in case of inclement weather, the service will be held in the Nazarene Church.

Unique Program Is Begun

Rev. Herbert E. Morris, pastor of the Twin Falls First United Methodist Church, has inaugurated a unique program for the care of the church's membership as well as the community.

This week the "Friendship Desk" begins functioning at the church. Manned by members of the church, the friendship desk will:

- Welcome members and visitors to the church Monday through Friday, assist in the registration of members into the fellowship of the faithful, work at enlisting talents for Christ, act as resource persons for Christian study material and helping meet the needs of new persons moving into the community, be a communication link between members of the church through a neighborhood group plan and meet whatever needs it can of any who call upon it for help.

Rev. Morris said the Friendship Desk will use member volunteers to assist him in the same manner hospitals use Candy Stripe girls to assist nurses.

"Churches just must begin to do a better job of meeting the personal needs of their people," Rev. Morris said. "We can't show God's love to the world if we aren't showing it better in the way we care for one another in the church family."

"Large churches can be even more friendly than small ones if we bridge the communication gap. I hope this new program will do just that here in Twin Falls."

Heading up the new program will be Mrs. Nadine Ott.

MR. AND MRS. LLOYD LARKIN will speak Sunday at both services in the Grace Baptist Church, 211 4th Ave. E., Twin Falls. They will talk on Mormonism.

Mr. Larkin will outline the origins, development and present status of Mormonism, the dominant religion in Utah. Mr. Larkin has delivered college lectures on Mormonism, participated in radio interviews and has visited most of the historic landmarks of Mormonism in the U.S.

The morning worship service begins at 11 a.m. and the evening services at 8 p.m. The public is invited to both.

NEW OFFICERS of the Valley Christian Church are these six persons. From left, seated, are Mrs. W. R. Hatcher, church school superintendent; U. N. Terry, vice chairman, and Mrs. Oils Eland, secretary. Standing, Willard Hiler, board chairman; Emmett Lyds, treasurer, and Byrle Carr, church moderator.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

DENVER — "We need a bracing dose of Biblical morality amid our shifting moral standards," wrote Billy Graham in a recent issue of The Reader's Digest.

"The Bible could be called the world's most reliable textbook on sex," he added. "History teaches that the decay of a nation inevitably follows the decay of its sex standards."

But at a press conference here, the renowned evangelist was asked:

"Where in the Bible is there any condemnation of King David's keeping concubines?" (as mentioned in 2 Samuel 6:13 — with the prophet Nathan affirming that David's polygamy was made possible as a gift of God — 2 Samuel 12:8) Also asked "How many years after the Restoration of Charles II (a period of notorious sexual promiscuity) did England begin to decay as a nation?"

Replied the Rev. Dr. Graham:

"I don't know the answer to those questions" — (which questions, it would seem, ought to have been anticipated by at least one of that army of editors employed by Reader's Digest).

Moreover, he verified a news report that he had told a press conference in Hamburg, Germany:

"I cannot go around the world and say who is right and who is not right."

The Rev. Dr. Graham also verified another reported statement in Hamburg:

"I have refused to speak about politics for more than 15 years."

To the press conference here, he added: "I speak on moral and spiritual issues — not political issues."

As there are few moral issues which have not been the subject of controversial politics, one marvels at the naivete of this moral advisor to so many Presidents.

Such statements are all the more unfortunate in view of Billy Graham's superb oratorical ability, his gigantic following and his exceptionally likable personality.

America's best-known Protestant clergyman might well be able to avoid such blunders, if only the $16 million-a-year Billy Graham Evangelistic Association were to provide him with a competent theological and sociological research department.

Such needed assistance, particularly in view of his crushing schedule, should not be confined to research by conservative Protestants. It might well include what could benefit every clergyman: a hard-boiled editor who could be trusted to clarify — and to challenge — even his most inspired prose.

Such assistance need never require that Billy Graham say anything in which he does not personally believe. But his knowledge would be enlarged and his views better substantiated by such research and editorial discipline. Hence there would be little temptation to evade questions regarding the controversial issues which confront every contemporary church leader.

Billy Graham appears to be increasingly aware of this, witness his willingness to provide reasoned endorsement of both birth control as well as abortion in cases of rape, incest or threat to a mother's life (an issue which he has ducked in the past). But he is still non-committal about Vietnam, beyond expressing regret that the U.S. is "involved in a no-win war in Asia."

As for the debate currently raging in his own Southern Baptist denomination over whether the Bible is infallible, he affirmed:

"The original manuscripts are infallible, but we don't have them."

Who could argue with that? Billy Graham has, however, become a tower of relevance compared to the newly elected president of the huge Southern Baptist Convention, the Nation's largest Protestant denomination. In his initial presidential press conference, Pastor Carl Bates of Charlotte, N.C., pleaded either ignorance or unwillingness to take a stand on almost every question relating to issues of society as a whole or his denomination in particular.

Sonlight To Appear At Filer

FILER — The Sonlight, a new group singing an old message in a contemporary communicative way, will be at the Filer High School Auditorium on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Sonlight is a group of four boys and three girls, whose hearts, lives and talents are committed to Jesus Christ. They are under the sponsorship of Lutheran Youth Alive, a youth-to-youth evangelism movement headquartered at Van Nuys, Calif.

The Sonlight's purpose is to share Jesus Christ and His influence in today's world with today's youth. The message of the Sonlight appeals and speaks to non-Christians and Christians alike. The informal and relatively unstructured presentations have particular appeal to youth for whom Christianity and the Church has been an unfruitful experience.

They began singing early in 1969 and have presented the Christian experience in word and song to thousands of receptive youth and adults.

There will be no admission charge but a free-will offering will be taken to pay for their traveling expenses and the cost of the auditorium.

BIG OPERATION

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — The Gospel Publishing House at Assemblies of God headquarters here produces about 2.5 million pieces of church school literature alone every three months.

Some 17,000 churches in the United States depend on the Gospel Publishing House' "Word of Life" literature for their church school needs. In addition, 20 Assemblies of God foreign-mission printing centers adapt and translate materials written and edited in the Church-School-Literature Division of the Gospel Publishing House.

Bible Thoughts

Ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky and of the earth; but how is it that ye do not discern this time? — Luke 12:56.

We ought to "read" the signs of the times and let love and justice abound more and more.

And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day. — Luke 24:46.

Our contract for salvation was written by the prophets, signed and sealed with the blood of Christ, and delivered by the risen Lord. Who could ask for a better deal than this?

And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me. — Luke 12:13.

Don't use Jesus to get rich in material goods, for those who want only a "gimme-god" go away empty. Ask, rather, to be rich in the things of Christ.

And have ye not read this scripture: The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner. — Mark 12:10.

God sees in the rejects of society those whom He can use. He is able to exalt sinners by remaking them into His saints.

For he that hath, to him shall be given, and he that hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he hath. — Mark 4:25.

Divine economics baffle us until we realize that gifts wasted deserve to be taken from us and good trustees deserve having more entrusted to them.

But he that had received be went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money — Matthew 25:18.

Don't bury your talent. We must use for our Master our physical — health, mind, strength, and abilities.

Drive-In Church

Rev. RAY Paul Jones, Twin Falls First Christian Church's new pastor, will be the speaker during the Drive-In Church services Sunday.

Services start at 8 a.m. at the Motor-Vu Drive-In Theater. Rev. Jones will speak on "The Need for Re-Assurance."

Special music will be a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Sweet and organist will be their daughter, Mitzi Sweet.

Come as you are. Communion will be served and refreshments will be served after the service.

Observance Set

WENDELL — Rev. John Steppert announced that the United Presbyterian Church of Wendell will observe the Sacrament of Holy Communion at the morning worship service on Sunday.

All members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

Now learn a parable of the fig tree: When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh. — Matthew 24:32.

Open your eyes to the beauty around you and read there also a parable of God's creative activity in your world.

For many are called, but few are chosen. — Matthew 22:14.

Even a free gift or windfall

ONE OF SEVERAL booths at the recent All Seasons Fair in the Casita East LDS Stakehouse in Declo was this one by the Albion LDS Ward Relief Society, representing pioneer heritage. Mrs. Jay Nelson, left, was attired in an authentic pioneer costume and Mrs. Lee Jolley, assisted with the arrangements of the display. Nearly 250 LDS women from the stake attended the annual event.

MIKE MINOR, TELEVISION star and night club entertainer, points out that his wife Linda is not the typical kind of girl. "Linda is incredibly full of life," Mike said. Mike and Linda star in the Petticoat Junction series as Steve and Betty Jo Elliot.

Romance Conquers Plot Of TV Show

BY CAROL BURNAM
on television.
Times-News Staff Writer
Love can conquer all, goes the old refrain, and in Mike Minor's case, love not only conquered his wife — of all people completely altered the plot of a television show.

Mike is currently appearing as "Steve Elliott," an airplane pilot, in the series "Petticoat Junction," playing the husband of his wife — of all people his wife in the show is his wife in real life. It all started five years ago when Mike began appearing in the show as the boy friend of Billie Jo, played by Meredith McRae. During this time, Mike began dating Linda Kay Fleming, who portrays another of the three sisters, Betty Jo. When the romance between Mike and Linda persisted, the authors of "Junction" wrote it into the show, and Mike, or rather Steve, took up with Linda, or Betty Jo.

In 1967, Steve and Betty Jo were married as a part of the plot, and Mike and Linda followed with their own real-life marriage — on the show — on Sept. 7, 1968. Mike is currently appearing at Cactus Pete's casino at Jackpot, Nev. He visited the Times-News during a recent stop in Twin Falls to chat about his life

Balanced Rock Facilities Checked By Commissioners

Recreational facilities at the Balanced Rock Park near Castleford underwent inspection this week by Twin Falls County commissioners who reported the area is receiving some heavy use this summer.

Improvements there this year include new restroom facilities, improved parking and revamped picnicking and camping areas. More space has been provided, Commissioner William Chancey said, by pushing back rocks and brush.

Road improvements were also completed recently and next year a shelter will be installed at the top of the canyon to provide an overlook.

Development of this and other areas has been directed by the Twin Falls County Recreation Commission under the chairmanship of Don Zuck.

Mr. Chancey said a meeting has also been called for this afternoon with Elah and Game Department to discuss recreational development and fishing improvements in the Cedar Draw area.

Scouts Receive Go-Karts

Cub Scouts received go-kart kits at the conclusion of the annual June picnic for Cub Pack 85 of the First Christian Church, held at Sunrise Park.

The kits were cut and packaged by the Pack Committee. A go-kart race under the supervision of Jim Bolton, Twin Falls, is planned for this Fall.

Den Mother, Joann Murphy, received her two-year pin and gift, and former Cubmaster Keith Jensen received his six-year pin and a gift certificate.

The Cub Scouts played games which were planned and supervised by Den Leader Coach Marg Jensen and Cubmaster Ted Hafer.

Celeste Ballet To Give Sunday Program At CSI

Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho Friday, July 10, 1970

Sparkling dancing will be presented by the 30 members of San Francisco's Ballet Celeste when it comes to the Fine Arts Auditorium of the College of Southern Idaho here at 8 p.m. Sunday.

engagements in Hong Kong and the Philippine Islands will be fulfilled.

San Francisco partly sponsors this troupe with a tax grant and for this reason, tickets are offered at reduced prices. The pre-sale is handled at Helen's Record Shop, 221 Main Ave. E.

The entire program has been designed to please every member of the audience. The opening will be the Snow Scene from "The Nutcracker," and the principal work will be "Coppelia" in two full acts. The large cast is headed by two stars from the European stage, Marina Eglevsky and Salvatore Jellio. They are flying from Monte Carlo, Monaco, to join the company in California.

This will be a sort of working honeymoon for these artists as they were recently married and they accepted this engagement as they have desired to see more of the United States for a long time. This trip will enable them to see parts of six states which delights them very much.

"Coppelia" is one of the big theatre attractions throughout Europe and it has been for a long time. This year marks its 100th year of successful performances. It is soon to be made into a film and its story is the basis for the first act of the opera, "Tales of Hoffmann." In this ballet, folk style dancing was introduced for the first time.

The famous Mazurka and Cardes were seen as theatrical dances first in this ballet when it was presented at the outset at the Paris Opera. Tschalkowsky then used "Coppelia" as his model before writing his famous ballets.

One of the other soloists to be presented in the program is Holly Hamblen, a tall and beautiful blonde girl. She is a member of the company of long standing and for this reason, she will be included in the special cast from the company members who will leave in August for the Far East.

Ballet Celeste is the only American company to be invited to appear at EXPO '70. First, however,

ONE OF THE SOLOISTS with the Celeste Ballet of San Francisco which will appear at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts auditorium at CSI, in Twin Falls, will be Holly Hamblen. The group is the only American ballet troupe to be invited to Expo 70 in Japan. Tickets for the local performance are available at Helen's Record shop, Twin Falls.

His wife, Elaine-Lee Hickey, who is also an instructor at the Sun Valley Music Camp, will be soloist during the premiere.

Frank Houser, San Francisco State, will be spending his second year at Sun Valley, concentrating mainly on chamber music aspects of this season's camp.

Modern Dance at the University of Utah, and is also associate director of the Utah Civic Ballet, will once again conduct the popular classes in ballet and modern dance.

Drivers At Burley Get Citations

BURLEY — One citation and no injuries resulted from three separate accidents investigated by Burley Police.

Mar Lee Jensen, 25, Burley, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after the 1950 Chevrolet she was driving collided with a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Lyle Bowen, 42, Idaho Falls. The intersection collision at 15th and 5th Avenue resulted in $2,000 damage to the Bowen vehicle and the Jensen car was demolished.

Brent Mitchell, 18, Burley, escaped injury Wednesday night when the 1965 Chevrolet he was driving on East 27th struck a riderless horse. The horse previously has been ridden by Debbie Campbell, 16, Burley, and was owned by Lurie McCullon, Burley. Damage to the car was estimated at $200 and the horse was slightly injured.

Trees at the intersection of Elba Avenue and 7th Street reportedly hampered the view of two drivers causing an accident Tuesday afternoon.

State Approves T.F. Tax Relief Petition

Approval of a petition from Twin Falls County to levy for an additional $77,134.03 in tax revenue for the current year to meet an emergency need, resulting largely from the first year at the county fairgrounds, was announced Friday by the Idaho Tax Commission.

County Auditor Harold Lancaster and Commissioner William Chaney announced Friday morning they had just received word from the tax commission granting the request.

The county filed a petition just about a month ago asking for relief under provisions of House Bill 304 which limits the increased revenue to 4 per cent of the previous year. Because of the fire and the fact insurance fell more than $50,000 short of covering minimum grandstand replacement costs, and new legislation including court reform, county revenue fell slightly short of meeting its needs.

In addition to $50,000 needed for grandstand building costs, the $27,134.03 is required because of reduction in the county's share of inheritance tax and other revenue which was not known at the time the county budget was approved.

The petition approved by the State Tax Commission, Mr. Lancaster said, gives the county authorization to increase revenue this year by about 7 per cent rather than the 4 per cent allowed by House Bill 304.

Because of increased costs in revising the court system and other factors over which counties have no control, several others have also petitioned for special relief, local county officials say.

Witness Is Sought For T.F. Trial

Authorities still were searching Friday morning for a key witness in the state's case against Robert Francis, Twin Falls. Court was scheduled to reconvene at 1:15 p.m. Friday but county prosecutor Robert Galley said the case will have to be dismissed if Douglas Harshbarger, 32, French, stop-sign, is not located by that time.

Francis is charged with three counts of aggravated assault and one count of assault with a deadly weapon. His wife, Sharon, 30, and the Harshbarger boy were the victims of the alleged attacks.

Mrs. Francis, who brought the original complaints against her husband, refused to testify during opening moments of the 5th district court jury trial Wednesday and was put in the county jail on a contempt of court charge and will be released from custody just prior to reopening of court.

Mr. Galley told the Times-News Friday morning "It appears the child has been spirited out of the county and is being hidden away." The child and Mrs. Francis are the only two material witnesses in the case. Mr. Galley said he will not recall Mrs. Francis to the stand, but will move for dismissal if the child is not located.

Area Clubs To Ride In Nampa Fete

Three Magic Valley riding clubs will be among over 50 riding clubs representing communities from Twin Falls to Ontario making appearances in the Snake-River Stampede Parades each night, July 14-18, at Nampa.

In the parade line-up July 16 will be the Mountain Home Riding Club, The Twin Falls Jr. and the Jerome County Jr. Parade will represent Magic Valley in the July 17 parade.

The 15 non-competing clubs and passes during the five nights of parades will be in addition to the competing clubs. The parade starts at 7 p.m. on 14th Ave. N. in Nampa.

Meet Set

HAILEY — A public meeting on low cost housing is scheduled for 8 p.m. July 23 at the Blaine county courthouse in Hailey, according to Shoshone F.H.A. Supervisor Frank Dalles.

The meeting will include remarks from Don L. Windsor, state director of the Farm Home Administration; Robert J. Harrison, Chief Housing Division Supervisor, with the F.H.A. in Boise, and Mr. Dalles.

Shoshone Man Hurt In Elmore

GLENN'S FERRY — One man was being treated in the Elmore Memorial Hospital Friday morning and investigation was continuing in a rear-end collision three miles east of here on U.S. Highway 30.

Idaho State Police reported Francis Stimpson, 54, Shoshone, driver of a 1970 pick up truck was hospitalized after complaining of abdominal pains. His vehicle was struck from behind by a 1968 sedan driven by J.M. Torrence, 60, Erie, Kans. Patrolman Darrel McDonald said there were no injuries in the Kansas vehicle. The accident occurred about 7:15 a.m. today.

STARTS TRAINING RICHFIELD — Dusty Dixon has started training at the LDS hospital in Salt Lake City as an X-ray technician. He has visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dixon, after attending Rick's College the past year.

Hailey Has Nursing Home Fund

HAILEY — A special Blaine Memorial Nursing Home fund has been set up with memorial contributions for the late Fred Board.

Friends and relations of Mr. Board has already contributed to the fund and public donations are welcome, with funds to be sent to the Blaine County Hospital.

Plans for the nursing home project were begun about two years ago at which time no Hill-Burton funds were available for the county. When the funds did become available, the hospital board was stymied because of the bond issue problem. The county presently has no nursing home facilities so patients are being sent outside the county, many times at the county taxpayers' expense.

$150 Taken

JEROME — Jerome police today were continuing to investigate the theft of $150 taken from the Jerome Gas and Oil late Tuesday.

A 16-year-old youth has been arrested in connection with the theft. Ivan White, owner of the firm, told police the intruder took a money bag placed in a desk drawer in the office of the building.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband must entertain his business contacts very often. There is one couple with whom we go to dinner frequently. The wife CHEWS ice like a teen-ager with bad manners. That is bad enough, but she'll "quack" the ice, and spit it back into her empty glass, and the sound of that ice against her teeth and back into that empty glass simply drives me up a wall. Is there any way I can let this woman know that this irritates me? I don't want to hurt her feelings.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Does your husband BUY from her husband? Or does he HELL to him?

DEAR ABBY: I need your help in handling a very touchy situation. I recently visited my cousin in another state. She proudly showed me a very lovely family album which she said took her "months" to put together.

When I started to look thru it, I was flabbergasted to see some pictures of our family I hadn't seen in over 40 years! I remembered having seen them last in my mother's family album, and I recall that after a large family gathering my mother was heart sick to discover that many of her precious pictures were "missing."

Now I see the "missing" pictures in my cousin's album. My cousin's mother is now deceased and so is my mother. I know that these are the priceless pictures that were taken from my mother's album. They rightfully are mine and I would like to have them. How can I mention this without casting ugly reflections?

NAMELESS NATURALLY

DEAR NAMELESS: You can't ask your cousin if you may "borrow" the pictures you want in order to have them reproduced. (Shop around for photographers who specialize in restoring and duplicating old photographs.) Then return the originals to your cousin.

DEAR ABBY: I know this doesn't rate as one of the biggest problems in the world, but if you would bring it to the attention of your readers, a lot of cab drivers would love you for it.

Many people will call a cab, and they'll leave before the cab arrives. This is discourteous and costly to the driver as it could tie him up anywhere from five to 20 minutes looking for the person who ordered a cab, but left before it got there.

I realize there are times when people HAVE to leave before their cab arrives, but it takes only a minute to call back and cancel the cab.

CABBY: MADISON, WIS.

DEAR CABBY: I'll pass the word on. But how about the person who orders a cab, is told it will be there in "10 minutes"—and after waiting 45 minutes he's so irritated he doesn't feel like spending another dime to cancel it?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D" IN KOKOMO: A woman who constantly checks up on her husband doesn't make him more "faithful"—just more careful.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 64700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply—enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY R. COX

Lynn Bennett, Timothy Cox Exchange Nuptial Vows

HAGERMAN—A double ring ceremony June 7 at the United Presbyterian Church, Wendell, united in marriage Lynn Irene Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bennett, Hagerman, and Timothy Roy Cox, McCall.

Rev. John Steppert performed the nuptials in a setting of floral arrangements flanking a cross on the front wall of the sanctuary. The flowers were yellow and white daisies and chrysanthemums. A matching bouquet centered with three candles graced the altar. Floral arrangements, tied with yellow ribbons, marked the pews and were made by Mrs. E. J. Bennett, grandmother of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of crepe, fashioned with full sleeves, smocked cuffs and a self-fabric belt. The gown was designed and made by the bride. Her fingertip veil of Chantilly lace was held in place by satin flowers.

She carried a bouquet of cascading white daisies and chrysanthemums with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Laura Cook, Medical Lake, Wash., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Other attendants for the bride were Donna Miller, Boise, and Joy Pinkerton, Rolling Hills, Calif.

Best man was Thomas Bloch, San Pedro, Calif., a College of Idaho friend of the bridegroom. Douglas Bennett, brother of the bride, was emcee. Ushers were Stephen, Richard and Thomas Bennett, brothers of the bride.

Guests were registered by Luann Cox, McCall, sister of the bridegroom. Robin Lemmon, Hagerman; and Nancy Miller, Boise, were in charge of the gift table.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth from China. Centered on the table was a four-tiered chocolate wedding cake decorated with fresh daisies and chrysanthemums. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Don Miller, Boise. Mrs. J. C. Miller, Wendell, served coffee and Mrs. John Ritchie, Covina, Calif., poured punch. Those serving were all aunts of the bride.

Grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lowry, Brewster, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett, Hagerman, and grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy May, Mesa, Ariz., were present. Other guests attended from California, Oregon, Washington, Boise, Mountain Home, McCall, Jerome, Hagerman and Wendell.

The bride's family hosted a

Track Team Rallies To Overhaul France

PARIS (UPI)—A young and relatively untried U.S. track and field team overcame an overnight defeat to steamroll France on the first leg of a three-stop European tour.

The Americans won 10 of the 11 events Thursday. After taking only three of the 11 Wednesday, the revitalized American squad, warming up for matches against West Germany and Russia later this month, lost only the triple jump in the final day's program as they won the dual meet, 11-4.

Going into the second night, and trailing by six points, it was enough to make the veterans of the U.S. squad, Dave Romanek of Hennesville, N.J., sink off his 32 miles to win the 20-km (12 mile) walk by more than 2 minutes over his 24-year-old teammate, Tom Rasmussen going three-for-three and Jim Blake two.

Dooley by one—the younger set began taking off victories. Tom Hill, the 110-meter hurdles back with a 13-0 shutout of Olympia-Ford, edged teammate—Marek Walker of the Willie Turner of Oregon State and Ron Vaughn of the U.S. Army provided the first in the 200 meter sprint, Turner was clocked in 26.5 and Vaughn in 26.7 seconds.

Roger Collins of Clemson won the javelin with a heave of 261 feet, nine inches; Howell Michael of William and Mary took the 1500 meter run in three minutes, 44.3 seconds; Ken ...

Padres Nip Cincinnati 10-9 In 10th Inning

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Steve Huntz' sacrifice fly with one out in the tenth inning sent home Ramon Webster with the run which gave the San Diego Padres a 10-9 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Thursday night.

Singles by Webster and Ed Spiezio off loser Wayne Granger preceded Huntz' game-winning fly ball.

The Reds, down 9-1, picked up two runs in the fourth inning on Johnny Bench's two-run homer and then tied the score 9-9 with a six-run spurge in the eighth highlighted by Bench's second two-run homer and a three-run pinch homer by Bernie Carbo.

But Magic Valley zoomed out of sight in the fourth when the Cowboys sent 11 men to the plate and fended off three walks and five hits. The homer display came in the eighth when Cox got an inside-the-park roundtripper and Heierle followed with a solo shot over the leftfield fence.

Italian Beats Little For World Crown

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter and hit his first major league home run and Ron Swoboda added a grand slam homer Thursday night as the New York Mets belted the Montreal Expos, 7-1, for their seventh straight victory.

Little weighed 152 pounds and batted 153.

The 30-year-old Italian did most of the attacking. Little, four years his senior, kept him well under control in the opening rounds but Bossi built a slight point margin from the ninth round on.

It was Little's fifth loss in 52 professional fights and Bossi's 38th win in 46. The Italian has lost six and drawn two.

A partisan public cheered Bossi throughout the fight and showed a "friend" in Little.

The only thing that looked close to a knockdown came in the 11th round when Little lost his balance while ducking and Bossi hit him with a right hook to the chin. Little slipped but clung to Bossi and got up.

British-Referee Ronald Dakin had his back turned to the fighters and did not see the incident.

Races Slated For Sunday

Motorcycle races, including a beginners class, will be run at 1 p. m. Sunday at the race track located 15 miles north of Twin Falls on Highway 93.

The TT races, sponsored by the Wheelers Motorcycle Club of Magic Valley, will begin with time trials at 11 a. m. with the finals slated at 1 p. m. Spokesmen for the group said the event will be held regardless of weather.

Trophies will be presented to the top three in each class that has five or more entries. A $5 prize will also be given in each class for fast time of the day. Spectators are welcome.

Varsity, Blitz Are Unbeaten In City Meet

BLITZ Beer and Varsity Brotherhood swept into the championship semi-finals of the Twin Falls city slough soft ball tournament Thursday night while favored Turf Club swept a pair to stay alive in the loser bracket.

Blitz ended the Cinderella hopes of Oco-Buttery, which swept Turf Club Wednesday, in a 14-8 tally while Varsity downed OK Tire Store 10-7. Malone paced Varsity with a three-for-two night.

Turf Club, with Gary Rasmussen going three-for-three and Jim Blake two.

Giants 7, Braves 6

ATLANTA (UPI)—Willie Mays raced from first to third on a wild pitch in the 11th inning Thursday night and scored on an infield-out to give the San Francisco Giants a 7-6 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Jefferson Doesn't See Player Strike

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Roy Jefferson, player representative of the Pittsburgh Steelers, said Thursday a strike of National Football League players was possible if contract issues were not resolved, but he did not expect it at the present time.

Jefferson said the NFL players' Association was polling its membership for a "vote of confidence" because negotiation with the owners over pay for exhibition games and other items were not going well.

Tigers Tip Boston On 'Grand Slam' Single

DETROIT (UPI)—Dalton Jones hit a "grand-slam" three-run single into the upper deck in right in the seventh inning Thursday night to give the Detroit Tigers a 7-3 win over the Boston Red Sox and provide a wild finish to an unusual game which saw three Boston players ejected and the bench cleared for protesting a pitch.

Rookie Elliott Maddox, who came in when Jim Northrup pulled a leg muscle running out his two-run double in the third inning, singled off loser Gary Wagner to open the seventh. Norm Cash and Don Wert then drew one-out walks to lead the bases.

Jones belted for Jim Price and slammed a 2-2 changeup from Vicente Romo into the upper deck in right for what appeared to be a grand slam home run. But he passed Wert between first and second and was declared out and credited with a three-run single.

Twins 4, Angels 2

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Leo Curdenna hit a two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Minnesota Twins their fifth straight victory, a 4-2 decision over the California Angels.

Yanks 7, Orioles 5

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Jerry Kenney's two-run single capped a three-run sixth inning Thursday night and paced the New York Yankees to a 7-5 come-from-behind victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a game ended by rain after 7 1/2 innings.

18-Year-Olds Battle For State Title

POCATELLO (UPI)—A pair of 18-year-olds, twice champion Vickie Mallea of Nampa and Susan Davis of Twin Falls turned the Idaho State Women's golf tournament into a youthful affair with the Twin Falls miss picking up some ground on the favored Miss Mallea Thursday.

Solons 9, Indians 3

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Home runs by Paul Casanova, Tom Grieve and Rick Reichardt backed the five-hit pitching of Casey Cox Thursday night and enabled the Washington Senators to snap a four-game losing streak with a 9-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Trevino's Repeat 68 Net 1-Shot Lead Over Jacklin In British Meet

By JOE NAGLE
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI)—Lee Trevino, the Mexican chatterbox, shot his second straight 68 Thursday for an eight-under par total of 136 and the halfway lead in the British Open golf championship.

After the second round Trevino held a one-shot edge over 20-year-old Englishman Tony Jacklin, the defending champion and U.S. Open holder, and 37-year-old favorite Jack Nicklaus who won the title in 1966. Jacklin had a two-under 70 to go with his opening 67 and Nicklaus a 69 to add to his Wednesday's 68.

There was a log-jam behind them on 139 where six golfers had five-under two-round totals. It included first round leader Neil Coles of Britain, who shot 74, his countryman Tommy Horton (73), Clive Clark (70) and John Richardson (72), Doug Sanders of Houston, Tex. (71) and Harold Henning (72) of South Africa.

The "Super Mex" bidding to add the British crown to his U.S. Open triumph of 1968, joked his way round the 18-hole 6,951 yard par 72 Old Course, keeping up a continual stream of patter as usual for the entertainment of his gallery.

But there was nothing funny about his game that was deadly serious. The Mexican-American, leading money winner on this year's U.S. Pro tour with $118,785, strung together six birdies against a couple of bogeys. Four of them came on the tough back nine which Trevino covered in a three-under-par 33.

Earlier Trevino was extremely critical of the decision by the Royal and Ancient Club's championship committee not to scrub Wednesday's rain round completely. He and Jacklin were among the 38 golfers who had to complete first rounds Thursday before embarking on their second tours.

"That was a completely different golf course we had to play this morning compared to the one yesterday," finishers played on," Trevino said. "Hell, they wouldn't do that to you in Bombay or Calcutta, let alone the British Open."

It was an opinion shared, and voiced by many other competitors—but not so vociferous as Trevino.

Trevino and Jacklin certainly had more weather problems than Wednesday's finishers and it proved too much for the Englishman who was eight-under after 13 holes of his first round when the deluge swamped the course. "Jacklin was hunting a record-busting 64 to better the new record of 65 set by Coles Wednesday. But rain swept the course again Thursday morning and Jacklin 'just couldn't adjust to the changed conditions,' he said.

Whereas Jacklin finished with two bogeys in his last three holes, Trevino battled through to hold on to the four-stroke edge gained on the front nine

Menne Grabs Milwaukee Open Lead

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Little known "Bob" Menne, his putter working to perfection, fired a six-under par 68 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead after the opening round of the $110,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

"I made a lot of putts today," Menne said. "If you don't make the putts, you might as well go home. I've been playing fairly well, but I haven't been putting today."

Menne, Andover, Mass., needed only 29 shots on the green as he went out in 32 and came back in 34 over the 7,135-yard par 72 North Shore Country Club course. He started on the back nine.

Seven other pros were tied for second with 68s. They were Dick Crawford, Bella Vista, Ark.; Ted Hayes, Atlanta; Terry Dill, Austin, Tex.; Dean Berman, Bethesda, Md.; Harry Toscano, New Castle, Pa.; Doug Olson, Medford, Ore.; and Dave Bollman, Norfolk, Va.

Bracketed at 69 were Butch Baird, Galveston, Tex.; Jim Colbert, Kansas City, Kan.; Don Massengale, Jacksonville, Tex.; Dick Rhyne, Sylvania, Ohio, and Jack Lewis Jr., Florence, S.C.

A total of 34 players broke par and 17 matched it as the 14-player field made the course look easy. Nearly ideal weather—cool temperatures and only a slight afternoon wind—helped.

Defending champion Ken Still was far off the pace with a first round 74, and 1968 CMO champ Dave Stockton had a 73.

The field will be cut to the low 70 and ties after Friday's round, with the survivors continuing Saturday and Sunday for the title.

Eagle Legal Woes Continue Assets Frozen

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A judge Thursday ordered the assets of the Philadelphia Eagles be frozen pending settlement of a suit by three men who claimed they were ignored by club owner Leonard Tose in operation of the National Football League club.

Common Pleas Court Judge Edward Bradley acted on a suit by the three who claimed they contributed almost $1.4 million toward the $16.5 million purchase of the club by Tose from former owner Jerry Wolman.

The three said they were promised a say in the operations and their suit asked for equal voting power or that the club be placed in receivership.

The order by Bradley was, in effect, a preliminary injunction halting all financial dealings of the club but would not restrict player deals, personnel matters or other managerial team functions.

The three who filed the suit were John E. Connelly, president of Crown Cork and Seal, Inc.; Thomas A. Riley, a lawyer from nearby Chester County and John L. Luviano, a vice-president of Crown Cork. Tose later filed a $16 million counterclaim charging the suit by the three had been "aggravated, malicious, tortious and willful." He claimed the three were creditors rather than partners.

Judge Bradley ordered Tose to file within 30 days a financial statement covering the operations of the Eagles.

Hodges Adds McCovey To NL's Team And Completes Roster

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants, the 1969 MVP, can cheer up today, he's on the 1970 National League All-Star team.

It probably comes as no surprise to McCovey or N.L. fans but Gil Hodges of the Mets, who will lead the N.L. on July 14 in spanking new Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati, made it official by picking the big first baseman among his supplementary choices.

That's what bothered McCovey, although he tried to hide it, when Rich Allen of the Cardinals beat him out, narrowly, in the balloting by fans for the starting team.

McCovey's batting average has been around the .250 mark season long, about 50 to 60 points below his average, but he has ripped 22 homers and driven in 62 runs. Allen has one more homer and is batting about 40 points higher.

McCovey, a proud man, naturally felt he should have beaten out Allen because he is a superior first baseman.

"I wouldn't say I'm the best first baseman," McCovey once said of his fielding, "but I don't think anyone is better than me. It could be a tossup among two or three of us."

At the time McCovey made the evaluation Allen was a third baseman, a spot from which he gained All Star status three times while a member of the Phillies.

Hodges rounded out his N.L. squad by also picking such as Roberto Clemente, like McCovey an MVP, Dick Dietsch, Joe Torre, Pete Rose and Felix Millan.

There were no surprises there.

There were some raised eyebrows, though, when Hodges picked Jim Hickman of the Cubs. Hickman, a journeyman outfielder-first baseman who never once in the past has distinguished himself enough to rate even an outside chance at an All Star berth, has been the Cubs' big hitter this season, and won his spot on merit.

Some of the market's health stemmed from momentum carrying over from the past two sessions. The late Sidney S. Lenz was one of the great card geniuses of all time. His great bidding. The game was invented so late in Sidney's life that he could not master that phase of the game. Thus, a better bidder would have wound up playing and making five diamonds or doubling and setting five hearts but Sidney chose to double the four-heart bid.

Against almost anyone else, the four-heart contract would wheel in, since there would be no way for the defense to get more than a West-three-aces—but the maestro managed to work out a way to get his partner into the lead.

He opened the ace of clubs and continued the suit after seeing his partner's nine. South won a dummy and started to lead hearts. He felt that he had to play out all his trumps in order to prevent a club ruff. When South won the first heart with the 10, Sidney started to think. Finally he came up with an exact guess as to South's distribution and a pretty good guess that South held the king and a smaller diamond. Sidney could then visualize South leading a spade to dummy after pulling all the trumps and then dropping his (Sidney's) ace by leading a low spade from dummy. After that happened, there would be no way to defeat the contract.

Then Sidney worked out a real defensive plan. He carefully discarded his ace and jack of spades on South's trumps. He would have looked mighty silly if South had held the 10 of spades but South didn't hold that card. Now, there was no way for South to keep East out of the lead and when East did get the lead he was able to play a diamond and give Sidney the setting tricks.

Burrillo Deluxe: The Flying Burrillo Bros. (A&M SP 4258)
 The hot country licks of the Burrillo boys, which groove on traditional and rock musical lines, may tune out some listeners who get uplight over "hillbilly."

But for those who groove on licks music of our heritage, this five-man group will likely be highly entertaining. Most of the music they do is their own, which is heavily laced with country stylings.

This album includes seven of 11 tunes by the group, and others by Bob Dylan, Mick Jagger and others.

There are several good tunes in the album, including "Lazy Days" and Dylan's "If You Gotta Go" and "Older Guys" and "Cody, Cody."

Three stars.

Lucey Mae Blues: Frankie Lee Sims (Specialty Records SPS 1212)
 Frankie Lee Sims sings rough, gruff Texas blues in unique guitar stylings.

A self-taught guitarist, he is influenced by playing with T. Bone Baker and Muddy Waters and other bluesmen he's encountered throughout the years.

His prolific bluesmith, and this album contains only "this work." It ranges from the gutsy beautiful little tune "In Two Parts" to the bouncy "Boogie Across the Country" to the philosophical "Crying Won't Help You" to his personal "Frankie's Blues."

None of the sidemen on this recording, which includes bass and drums on most cuts and harmonica and several others, are identified, and the recording dates are not provided.

Technically, the album is very good, with clear voice and guitar recording. The side instruments are occasionally muddy, however.

Sims' work is important to the story of the blues, for he's been singing the blues for almost a half century, and this vital album will preserve his work for posterity.

Three stars.

I Asked For Water, She Gave Me Gasoline: Various Artists (Imperial LP 12455)
 There is more music in this one album than in most double albums from a standpoint of sheer quantity.

The quality varies from good to very good, and it's all English blues from people like Jo Ann Kelly and Tony McPhae and Graham Hines and Andy Fernbach and others.

There are sixteen tunes in this album, twice as many as in a normal album, and 55 minutes of music, also about twice normal.

Half the tunes are traditional blues numbers, things like "Lord, I Feel Tired" and "Rock Me," done in fine British blues styles.

The work is good instrumentally and technically, and these British blues artists take careful pains to preserve the authentic flavor of the music.

Any blues fan will enjoy the album, and British blues fans will flip over it.

Four stars.

Flow (CTI Records 1005)
 There are some very good musical moments in this album for the four men who make up this group are superlative musicians.

Chuck Newcomb plays bass and is lead singer. Don Felder plays lead guitar, John Winter plays piano, organ, sax, flute and harmonica, and Mike Barnett plays drums. Other musicians occasionally aid.

The music is all original, and at times shows sparks of true inventive genius. All of it is very polished, very professional.

The music varies from eclectic rock to almost jazz, for the quality of the musicianship raiise above the average rock group, and the writing sometimes edges into jazz.

The music, which features vocals on each track, tends toward the long. Three of the eight tunes here are more than five minutes long, unusual today.

Possibly the two best things in the album are the two winter tunes, "Summer's Gone," featuring some fine flute work, and his "Azione," a soft ballad.

Three stars.

Half And Half: Frankie Valli and The 4 Seasons (Phillips PH 600-341)
 The highly polished vocal stylings of The 4 Seasons and Frankie Valli are evenly divided here: five songs from the resurgence of the blues in Mississippi. Fred McDowell, who is one of the oldest and most authentic bluesmen still performing.

There are few blues musicians who can outdate McDowell, who now is pushing 67. There are a few, to be sure, but they are few and far between.

This is a typically unpretentious recording. It's Fred and his guitar. Nothing more, nothing less. That's all that's needed.

They took Fred into a recording studio, sat him in front of a microphone, turned on a tape recorder, opened the mike, and let Fred go his thing.

It's all here—chit-chat, comments, talk, laughter, and songs: five of them, performed in a manner which few bluesmen have perpetuated.

There's "My Babe," and "Amazing Grace," and "Mojito Hand," "I Wish I Was in Heaven," "Sittin' Down," for starters. And six others.

The album is pure; it is a purist's album.

Four stars.

A Brand New Me: Liberace (Warner Brothers 1847)
 You aren't going to believe this, but there's this great new group called Liberace, and it's this guy who plays groovy piano, and he's backed up by this tight little rock combo, and they make some great music.

The group is named after the lead pianist (there's two of them in the group), who is named Leo Liberace, and he plays piano a lot like George Foyler—or maybe that's Jo Ann Castle who used to be on Lawrence Welk.

And man, are they over a groovy group. They do mod tunes like "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head," and "Sulter Judy Blue Eyes," and "Na Na Hey Hey Kiss Him Goodbye," and have they got funk!

This Liberace has got two guitarists—a pianist—and organist, a congo player, bassist, vibrist, and drummer, backing him up. And do they swing!

I predict big things for this new group, and particularly for this Liberace character. The only thing is, in his picture on the album, he looks a little silly.

Maybe if he grew a mustache.

Three stars.

It is estimated that 40,000 yachts will enter waters of the Bahamas from foreign ports during 1970.

Little Richard's Grooviest 17 Original Hits (Specialty SPS 2113)
 Little Richard, who was a star of the first magnitude from 1955 to 1958, when he retired to go into the ministry, has flashed back on the music scene.

He is now heavily in demand, and is packing in the crowds to hear his own incredible singing styles. He is also becoming a second generation fad with the younger set.

But these are the songs that made the man—the original versions, not the versions recorded since he returned to show business two years ago.

These are the original songs, first released on the old Specialty label between 1956 and 1958. Specialty has recently been revived, the old masters reprocessed to freshen the sound—and this pow-pow package released.

The tunes are "Long Tall Sally," and "Send Me Some Lovin'" and "Good Golly Miss Molly" and "Sittin' On the Bench" and "Jenny, Jonny" and "Miss Ann" and "Ready Teddy" and "Hey! Hey! Hey!" and "Slippin' and Slidin'" and "All Around the World," and "Tutti Frutti" and "Lucille" and "True Fine Maman" and "Heebie Jeebies" and "Boo Hoo Hoo Hoo" and "Rip It Up."

The rolling piano style, and the roaring sax line is there just as it was 16 years ago, and the songs are just as entertaining today as they were a decade and a half ago.

This is the real thing. All the others are imitation.

Five stars.

The Compleat Albert Collins (Imperial Records LP 12440)
 Bluesman Albert Collins shows that there is more to the man than meets the eye.

Although the tone of this album is all blues, it ventures into blues-rock and blues-jazz and rhythm and blues, and Collins shows he can't handle any musical form with uncanny aplomb.

Some of the tunes are simple blues numbers, while others are more involved R&B things, and others are full scale production with a big horn line riffing over Collins' wailing blues guitar.

There are many elements of the blues here, borrowing on the traditions of bluesmen generations past. Collins shows he has assimilated the styles of many of the best, and it is a certainty that generations future will pay homage to Collins.

He is an all around blues artist, whose work is very enjoyable.

Four stars.

In London: Mississippi Fred McDowell (Sire SES 97018)
 It is indeed strange that British music fans were instrumental in the resurrection of the blues, the reincarnation of dozens of blues artists, and were almost singlehandedly responsible for the return of the blues.

But they were, much to the chagrin of American musicians who just now are humbling to find again five years later that one of those resurrected by

Governor Defends Bill Veto

Idaho Gov. Don Samuelson today defended his veto of a Caldwell Kiwanis club that his veto of a bill which would have repealed the controversial four percent tax limitation law has not had an adverse effect on local units of government.

Gov. Samuelson noted that some of the candidates seeking the governorship of Idaho have stated they would approve outright repeal of the tax limitation law. The Governor said that HB-304 was originally passed by the Idaho Legislature to provide safeguards against drastically increased property taxes brought about by new tax equalization programs. These programs are still in the process of being implemented.

The tax limitation law did not close the door to these units of government having unusual or well-founded needs for additional revenue. Relief was provided through the avenues of local referendum or appeal to the Tax Commission, he said.

"I've vetoed the tax limitation law repealer because the 40th Legislature came up with no alternative protection for the heavily-burdened Idaho taxpayers," the Governor said. "I fail to see that my veto has had an adverse effect on local units of government."

Gov. Samuelson noted that to date, only 18 local taxing units have appealed to the State Tax Commission for permission to exceed the four percent yearly budget increase limitation set by HB-304. Deadline for the filing of appeals is July 13.

"When you consider that less than 20 units of government have appealed out of a total of nearly 800 units," Gov. Samuelson commented, "it is apparent that HB-304 is not having an over-all detrimental effect on local taxing units."

Protect Beans with Cygon

...controls mites aphids, leafhoppers, leaf miners, lygus

Can be used up to and including day of harvest! Cygon* 267 Systemic Insecticide is more effective than other compounds because it kills by both contact and systemic action. It gives high initial kill, then continues as a systemic protector—working from within the plant to resist "weathering" that often shortens the effective life of other materials.

Cygon is economical, too. Because it has long-lasting activity and is used at low rates, a little goes a long way. Cygon is also a low-hazard material—and when used according to directions, there are no residue problems.

For further information, contact your local insecticide supplier. Before using any pesticide, stop and read the label.

MAKING PLANS for expanding his dairy operation is Gary Custer, Twin Falls, one of today's modern dairymen. Modern technology is changing the dairy industry picture as well as the dairymen.

Dairy Industry Is Changing

Modern technology has changed the dairy industry, including the life of the dairymen.

A few years ago most all farmers in Magic Valley had a few dairy cows to milk, some others had more cows than others and a few farmers were considered large dairy operators.

Today, with modern technology and because of economic factors, the small dairymen is on the low side of the industry picture. Most of the dairymen that plan to stay in the business are increasing their herds.

One such modern dairymen is Gary Custer, who has a 100-acre farm southwest of Twin Falls and presently has 93 registered and grade Holsteins and plans to increase the herd size to 200 in two years and 300 in 10 years.

Gary started in the dairy business while a high school student with one cow, then building up to five cows when he went to college.

Gary says automation is causing dairymen to increase their herds and also causing the small operator to quit. Years ago the farmer did all his milking by hand. Then milking machines were invented, thus saving milking time and resulting in more cows the farmer could raise.

Today, most operations are almost completely automatic and is cheaper than hand labor and also is more reliable as it is hard to find someone to help milk the cows.

The life of a dairymen is easier in one respect that he has a steady income and is not affected by weather so much as row crop farmers. However, the job does require constant attention, thus not letting the farmer have time off for a fishing trip.

Today's dairymen also is becoming more of a businessman than years ago. Most dairymen also have their own offices, either in the home or in the barn.

Gary plans to build this summer new corrals with concrete slat floorings and a large pit for the waste runoff.

The dairy industry today is excellent, Gary says, adding that prices are better than before. He says the industry should "promote more as well as do more research. Also the industry should do the promotion through more national and local magazines, newspapers, etc., than in trade journals. We (the dairymen) know how good dairy products are, so there should be more on consumer interests."

Dairying In Oneida Doubles

MALAD CITY (UPI) — The Dairy industry in Oneida County has nearly doubled since 1964, a county survey shows. More than 45 dairymen averaged a total income of nearly half a million dollars a year for 39,000 pounds of milk shipped daily to plants in Blackfoot and Smithfield, Utah.

Largest dairy in the county is the Lavern Smith dairy, owned by Steve Showell, Sid Showell and John Robbins. They have 200 cows.

Oneida County agent, George Gardner, said feed rations are carefully balanced to produce an abundant supply of milk of good quality.

Agricultural Research Trapping Snow.

KIMBERLY — Perhaps the largest, near-future advancement in Idaho dry-farming may be through snow management.

The dry-farming area of Idaho, except for a small acreage in the panhandle, includes nearly two million acres of land southeast of the Snake River between Twin Falls and Ashton. There, high quality, hard red wheat is alternated with fallow. This crop-fallow system has been used since before the turn of the century. Farmers in this area use the mulch-fallow system for retaining the greatest possible moisture during the fallow summer. More efficient use can be made of water obtained during the winter of the cropping year. Retention of snow, which blows off these fields, would greatly increase the stored moisture.

Snow is an excellent insulator and reduces the depth of soil freezing. In contrast, bare soils may be frozen for a longer period and melting snow would runoff the field. Seventy or more inches of snow falls in many of these areas each winter. Snow, however, accumulates to the height of the stubble and the excess blows away.

Research studies to determine the potential and effect of trapping additional snow are underway. These studies include the use of snow fences, vegetative windbreaks, and narrow strip-farming. The work was initiated by T. W. Massee and R. C. Rosanau of the Snake River Conservation Research Center at Kimberly, near Rockland. In Power County, the additional snow trapped by these methods was sufficient to insulate the soil and prevent its freezing. Consequently, better water infiltration was noted in the spring.

Further field tests are being conducted to determine how snow-trapping practices will fit into normal dryland farming procedures.

Water makes up more than 60 percent of the body composition of a 700-pound steer.

Social Security Questions

If you have questions concerning Social Security benefits or qualifications, address them to Jim Davis, Box 1230, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

Q. I will not finish my college work until I'm 23. Can an exception be made to permit me to receive student benefits until then?

A. Sorry, but no exceptions can be made to the age 22 cutoff for student benefits. Your benefits are intended to replace some of the support you lost because of your parents' death, retirement or disability. The benefits are intended to be paid as long as it is reasonable to assume that you would be supported by your family. The law sets age 22 as the upper limit.

Q. I am a newlywed who plans to keep working until my husband completes school. My employer tells me I should have my social security card changed since it still shows my maiden name. Is this necessary? I understand you only receive one number in your lifetime anyway.

A. It's true you keep the same social security number for life. However, your employer is right. For social security record keeping purposes, your name and number both must be correct to assure proper credit for your earnings. The people at the social security office can quickly issue you a new card showing your new name.

He was elected at the 1970 meeting at Pocatello recently. The retiring president is Vernon Cox, Hagerman.

Roid Merrill, Eagle, was elected vice president. Cox was elected treasurer. Members of the board of directors are John Bertie, Twin Falls; Lloyd Merrill; and Floyd Phillips, both Paul; Noel Orbin, Nampa; Vernon Cox, Rudy Willecko, and Roid Merrill.

Steers

The third "Pick and Slaughter" of steers on feed at Olmstead Cattle Co. by the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association will be held at 7 a.m. Monday.

Dick Noh, Rogerson, president of the association, said Otto Florence Jr., Independent Meat Co., and Herschel Boydston, head of the Agricultural department, College of Southern Idaho, will be on hand to help with selecting of animals for slaughter.

All directors, cosponsors and members are urged to attend this event and help with the weighing and selecting.

Nevada Free Of Cholera

RENO — Nevada is free from hog cholera. The last outbreak of the disease occurred in the state during February, 1969.

"This has not meant relaxation for those concerned," said Larry Kirk, state hog cholera information officer, and broadcast editor, College of Agriculture, University of Nevada, Reno, "and efforts continue to keep the disease out."

He noted that Dr. John J. O'Harra, director, division of animal industry for the Nevada Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Cecil R. Watson, federal veterinarian in charge of the US Department of Agriculture's Animal Health Division in Nevada, point out that Nevada, along with 46 other states and Puerto Rico, is in the "stamping out" phase of the nationwide effort to eradicate hog cholera.

As one means of doing this, they advise that there are four important rules to follow in buying feeder pigs. These are: Know what you are buying, isolate new purchases, watch them closely for at least the first 30 days, and report any sickness to your veterinarian.

Movement of infected and exposed hogs has been the primary means of spreading hog cholera, according to Dr. O'Harra and Dr. Watson. That's why the four rules are so important. "If a farmer will follow them, he can save a lot of headaches," they say.

More than 90 per cent of California's San Bernardino County is desert.

WHEN SHE ISN'T doing field work, Pamela Magnuson, left, is learning office routine from Mrs. Letty Howarth, right, at the Mindoka County FHA office in Paul. Pam may be the first female in the U. S. to become a county supervisor for Farmers Home Administration.

Montana Miss May Become FHA Official

PAUL — Twenty-year-old Pamela Magnuson doesn't believe that a child's background always determines the future.

Anyway the theory wasn't entirely correct with Pam, who reportedly may be the first female to become a county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration. Pam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Magnuson, Fort Benton, Mont., was raised in the city.

She is currently taking student training through the FHA office at Paul, and acts as though she has always been on a farm. She is training under the direction of Vern Veates, Mindoka County supervisor, "Paul, and notes that this area is a "great place to raise horses."

During her summer months from school, Pam would spend time either visiting or working on her grandmother's farm. She's an avid horsewoman and enjoys the hobby of breaking and training horses.

Pam was born in Spokane, Wash. and graduated from Wallace High School in 1968. She currently is a student at Montana State University, Bozeman, Mont., and is majoring in animal science. She will return to the university this fall to complete her studies towards a B.S. degree in agriculture.

Potato Dumps Suspected Of Being Disease, Insect Breeding Grounds

BOISE — Cull potatoes dumped in piles to decay are suspected of being breeding grounds for potato diseases and insects. Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley T. Trenthall pointed out today.

Following complaints concerning one large pile in the Shelley area, potato specialists from the University of Idaho Extension Service, headed by Dr. Richard Ohms, Twin Falls, will inspect potato dumps throughout the potato producing districts of the state.

The waste piles, resulting from the dumping of cull potatoes by growers, packers and other organizations and usually left unattended and neglected, begin to sprout and soon become a concentrate mass of potato vines—a perfect environment for potato pests. According to reports, the Shelley pile is heavily infested with Colorado potato beetles, blight and potato leaf roll. It is estimated that hundred of piles—large and small—exist in the state.

"Should the investigation substantiate the complaints concerning the Shelley pile and should similar conditions be found in other piles, it will very likely become necessary to start proceedings to establish regulations which would control disposal of waste potatoes so that they will not sprout and grow, Trenthall stated.

Trenthall noted that a similar regulation for disposal of cull onion has been effect for several years and has successfully prevented serious infestations of onion maggots.
