Massacre At My Lai Termed Deliberate

Army, State Officials Charged With Coverup

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four "hawkish" congressional investigators have surprised skeptics on all sides by reporting that U.S. soldiers "deliberately" shot down innocent civilians in the South Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai.

Furthermore, the special House armed services subcommittee said, Army and State Department officers in South Vietnam suppressed a stream of reports they received about the alleged "massacre." The lawmakers however refrained from a blanket condemnation of what took place when "C" Company swept through the village on March 16, 1968.

"At this late date," said the subcommittee at the end of its 33-page report Tuesday, "who can judge the cumulative effects of the horrors, fears and frustrations which the 'C' Company had been forced to endure just prior to their action at My Lai on March 16, of that year."

The panel said what happened was obviously wrong, and that it violated the Geneva Conventions, the rules of engagement and directives from the highest Allied commands in Vietnam on the treatment of civilians. It said "some" innocent civilians were "deliberately killed" by American troops.

"In fact it was so wrong and so foreign to the normal character and actions of our military forces as to immediately raise a question as to the legal sanity at the time of those men involved," the panel concluded.

The subcommittee was formed and assigned its task by committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C. Rivers has complained bitterly since the Pentagon began seriously investigating the My Lai allegations and charging servicemen with crimes. He has accused the Army of persecuting American fighting men who were just trying to do their job. But today Rivers said of the subcommittee report which speaks of "a tragedy of major proportions":

"I agree with everything in the report. They've done a masterful job."

On the other side of the fence were those Vietnam doves and others who privately scoffed at the notion the subcommittee would produce the objective report promised by its chairman. They noted that all four members were dedicated supporters of the U.S. effort in Vietnam and generally pro-military.

Union Asks For Big Pay Boost

DETROIT (UPI)—President Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers told General Motors Corp. today the UAW wants a pay boost totaling nearly $1 billion in the first year of a new three-year contract with the "big three" automakers.

Woodcock made the statement in prepared opening remarks at a news conference at 11 a.m. EDT. He was scheduled to visit Ford Motor Co. Thursday and Chrysler Corp. Friday.

GM Vice President Earl Bramblett shook hands with Woodcock in GM's 11th floor bargaining room and expressed hope both sides "can get down to business right away and work out a sound agreement that will be fair to everyone."

Both Woodcock and Bramblett were making their first appearances at head of their respective bargaining teams in the closely watched negotiations. Woodcock replaces the late Walter P. Reuther, killed May 9 in a Northern Michigan plane crash. Bramblett replaces Louis G. Seaton, who retired.

After this week's opening round, other subcommittees will be formed to try to reach agreement without a strike that could have a serious effect on the nation's economy.

Workman Drowns In Canal

HANSEN — A man drowned Wednesday morning in the swift waters of the Main Line Canal south of Hansen as he attempted to swim across the stream pulling a length of cable. Name of the man was not immediately known.

Personnel from Magic Valley Ambulance Service who were at the scene shortly after the incident said the man disappeared from sight in the canal about two miles south and one mile east of Hansen about a mile upstream from a headgate.

The victim and another man, both employees of the Twin Falls Canal Co., were members of a mowing crew. The accident happened about 10:30 a.m. as the victim attempted to swim across the stream. Another crew member jumped in to assist when it became apparent he was in trouble, but was unable to save him.

Harlan and Norman (Butch) Fillmore, divers from Twin Falls, were enroute to the scene to assist officers in attempting to retrieve the body.

The canal was full at the time of the drowning, with water depth estimated at between 12 and 15 feet.

Famous Movie Star Dead

By United Press International
LA JOLLA, Calif.—Preston Foster, who started his stage career as an opera singer and later rose to movie stardom in his role as the aging, died Tuesday at the age of 80.

The husky 6-foot-2-inch actor who weighed 200 pounds in his heyday had been undergoing treatment at Scripps Memorial Hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

During his long film career, which began in 1932, Foster played in more than 120 movies and 100 television shows, including the series "Waterfront" in which he starred.

Services will be held Saturday at La Jolla Presbyterian Church with private interment following at El Camino Memorial Park, San Diego.

Israeli Planes Striking Egypt

By United Press International
Israeli planes hit Egypt today for the 55th consecutive day, and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Soviet military involvement in Egypt was on the increase. He also reported "foreign volunteers" were serving with Arab guerrilla forces in Jordan and Lebanon.

Egypt said 20 Israeli planes struck military positions at Port Tewfik, Suez, Callah and Gharra and that "at least" defense systems engaged the attacking planes. There were no Egyptian casualties or losses, the report said.

Resort Battle In Fifth Day

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The battle for the mountain resort village of Kirirong raged into its fifth day today with Cambodian headquarters reporting its troops fighting to wipe out pockets of heavy guerrilla resistance.

A military spokesman in Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops still occupy a number of buildings in Kirirong, including the Chet d'Elate, a former weekend and vacation residence for government officials.

Cambodian losses in the battle were termed "very light" with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese losses said by the government to be "heavy."

Kirirong, 56 miles west-southwest of Phnom Penh, is situated north of Highway 4, the main road between the capital and the nation's port at Kompong Som. Communist troops attacked two towns just south of the highway Monday.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops, on another front in Cambodia, mortared the province capital of Siem Reap near the ancient ruins at Angkor Wat in Northwestern Cambodia. No casualties were reported.

Cambodian troops Tuesday drove through a series of guerrilla ambushes in a three-mile march from Siem Reap to Angkor Wat and then found no sign of Communist units there. Field reports described government losses as light.

The Cambodians returned to Siem Reap reporting some guerrilla units still were hiding out in the 48 square miles of area around their present position. Their presence was not apparent at first sight.

UPI television cameraman Gordon Mckenzie accompanied the Cambodian push to Angkor Wat.

Crossing Pleases Mormons

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Atlantic crossing of Thor Heyerdahl's papyrus boat Ra 2 is bringing pleased smiles from members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

Much of the beliefs held by 2.8 million Mormons throughout the world is based on the 140-year-old Book of Mormon. That book, published by Joseph Smith—the church's founder—"prophet seer and revelator" is alleged to be the history of at least three groups of people who left the Mediterranean area centuries before the coming of Christ and traveled to Central and South America.

Dr. M. Wells Jakeman, former head of the department of archeology at the Mormon Church-owned Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, said Monday Heyerdahl's crossing "demonstrates the possibility of such a crossing," as described in the Book of Mormon.

President Harold B. Lee, first counselor to church President Joseph Fielding Smith, termed the crossing "interesting." "It's better if we don't beat our own drum," he said, "but it is better to know what the church believes and it is 'better for outsiders to do the commenting' concerning any parallels found in the voyages."

However, Lee said, the church presidency at the request of UPI may issue a statement later in the week.

Jakeman, currently professor of archeology and anthropology at BYU, noted the Book of Mormon contains the stories of the Nephites, Jaredites and Mulekites, who crossed to the New World at separate intervals.

He said the Heyerdahl trip is being most consistent with the crossing of Mulekites, who he thought to have sailed from the Middle East to the island of Sidon in what is now Lebanon in about 600 B.C.

Police Ask Help In Kidnap

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Police Chief Derold Husby has asked local residents to search their property for any sign of Laurie Murningham and the gunman who kidnaped her during a gift shop holdup six days ago.

No trace has been found of the pretty, 16-year-old blonde and her Negro abductor. Husby conceded Tuesday, "We are becoming more and more concerned for her safety."

"I appeal to all residents... to search their own property, including woods, culverts... anywhere where somebody could be held against their will," he told a news conference.

Husby said there was "no point" in spreading the massive search to other areas unless evidence warranted it.

Miss Murningham, daughter of former Lansing Mayor Max E. Murningham, has not been seen since she was taken from her summer job at Gallagher's Gift Shop by a robber who pistol-whipped the owner and took $60.

Police had checked 786 tips—55 of them Tuesday—and appealed to citizens to telephone more.

"The magic one has not yet been received, or if it has we haven't discovered this," Husby said.

The $6,000 reward offered for her safe return had drawn at least two extortion attempts and one "tip" was a deliberate hoax by two young men that cost "thousands of dollars" to track down, Husby said.

"It's unfortunate that we have these kind of people around—these harassers," he said.

Kosygin's Leadership Approved By Russians

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet parliament confirmed Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's position in the three-man Soviet leadership today by formally asking him to form a new government.

The senior member of the "troika"—party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev nominated Kosygin to succeed himself and the 1,517 members of the supreme soviet (parliament) accepted the nomination with a unanimous show of hands.

The voting took less than half a minute.

Brezhnev made the nomination in his capacity as a deputy to the supreme soviet, which took up the Kosygin nomination as its first order of business in a joint session that began at 10 a.m.

The nomination ended any speculation that Kosygin was on his way out. His imminent removal from the leadership had been predicted in widespread reports in the West.

Technically, Kosygin's mandate as head of government and partner in the three-man Kremlin leadership group to meet June 14, the day of the parliamentary elections, and he has been merely a caretaker premier since then.

In accordance with the Soviet constitution, parliament convened for the first time Tuesday and approved an agenda that included the election of new government, a new leadership group (presidium) for itself and other items of business for today.

The third member of the so-called troika leadership, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, also figured in today's round of ceremonial votes.

His title as "president" is Westernized shorthand for chairman of the presidium of the supreme soviet, the 27-member executive group also elected anew on today's agenda.

The presidium is the real power center of the supreme soviet, continually in session or on short-notice call to work out in conjunction with the party-central committee the items approved by the full 1,517-member parliament. The parliament meets for a few days about every six to eight months.

The President's mood was ebullient in Cincinnati Tuesday, following a rousing reception earlier in the day in Louisville where crowds estimated between 50,000 and 200,000 lined streets along his motorcade from the airport and jammed the downtown theater district. Except for a few peace signs, the crowds were almost exclusively cordial.

The All-Star fans, numbering about 52,000, cheered Nixon as he tossed out the balls to the catchers of the American and National League teams. The President, pounding a worn leather glove, then hurled another three balls into the stands where each was caught on the fly.

"Lay it in there, Dick! Lay it in there, Dick," shouted some of the fans as the balls were thrown.

After the game, Nixon told home plate umpire Al Barlick: "I like your decisions."

"I like yours, too," Barlick replied.

Seated behind Nixon during the game were his daughter Julie and her husband, David. Nixon visited Kentucky to meet with governors of 13 Appalachian states and seek their support for his welfare and federal revenue-sharing programs.

Major fighting also was reported in Cambodia where Cambodian troops and American-trained Cambodian mercenaries were battling for the fifth day to recapture the resort town of Kirirong on the main highway south to the Gulf of Siam.

In Laos, the Vietnamese government reported the recapture of a Communist hill position at Turtle Shell Ridge, nine miles northwest of occupied Attopu, in fighting which killed 49 Communist and 29 government troops who had air support. The government also retook the rice-rich town of Moulapamak, near the Cambodian border, when the Communists withdrew southward.

Allied military sources said the South Vietnamese drive began July 7 outside An Hoa.

Dead

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb during World War II, died Monday night. He was 73.

Groves, who was retired, suffered a heart attack about 10 p.m. EDT. He was taken to Walter Reed Army Medical Center where he died about 11:35 p.m.

Groves, an Army engineer, took over the Manhattan Project, the highly secret program to harness the atom, in 1942. He headed it during the period late in World War II when the United States exploded the first A-bombs.

Offensive Opens At Da Nang

SAIGON (UPI)—A strike force of 5,000 South Vietnamese troops with U.S. air and artillery support has opened a major offensive below the city of Da Nang to clear out Communist bases all the way to the Laotian border, Allied military sources said today.

Major fighting also was reported in Cambodia where Cambodian troops and American-trained Cambodian mercenaries were battling for the fifth day to recapture the resort town of Kirirong on the main highway south to the Gulf of Siam.

In Laos, the Vietnamese government reported the recapture of a Communist hill position at Turtle Shell Ridge, nine miles northwest of occupied Attopu, in fighting which killed 49 Communist and 29 government troops who had air support. The government also retook the rice-rich town of Moulapamak, near the Cambodian border, when the Communists withdrew southward.

Allied military sources said the South Vietnamese drive began July 7 outside An Hoa.

Blast Reported In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A bomb heavily damaged the offices of a clothing company in a Protestant neighborhood early today in the first serious incident following Monday's unexpectedly peaceful Protestant parades.

The blast came only hours after Northern Ireland's leaders praised the trouble-free Orange Order parades and said they marked "the turning point in the campaign of disorder."

"It would appear that it was a deliberate attempt at arson," he said. There were no injuries.

Spotted Fever Is Reported

BOISE (UPI)—The health department reported Tuesday the second case of Rocky Mountain fever has been discovered.

Dr. John Mather, chief of the preventative medicine division, said an 11-year-old girl from Morland contacted the disease while on an outing in the Redfish Lake area. He said no bites were found, but the infection could have entered through a scratch.

The first case of the fever apparently was the cause of death for Arthur M. Vetter, 51, Boise, who died July 5 in a Boise Hospital. He was supposedly bitten while in a remote area above Lucky Peak Dam. Tissue analysis is underway to determine the exact cause of death.

Mather said about three cases are reported, each summer, but only persons who will be in wooded areas for extended lengths of time should be inoculated.

Influence Of China Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. incursion into Cambodia, according to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, has allowed Mainland China to increase its influence in North Vietnam.

And that influence in Hanoi, Rogers said, still plays a large role in determining the course of the Vietnam War.

Rogers said he was doubtful China and North Vietnam would, at this time, seek a negotiated solution to the conflict. While hostilities might diminish, he added, the long-term result could be a state of "no peace and no war."

Rogers' views emerged from his Friday radio address which ended Sunday. They were aired in an interview with Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.

He Said: "I'm A Cannibal"

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI)—"I have a problem—I am a cannibal," a long-haired and bearded man told a highway patrolman.

Stanley Baker, 22, of Storey, Wyo., uttered the words when he was arrested along with Harry Stroup, 26, of Sheridan, Wyo., after an accident 20 miles south of Big Sur in a wilderness area along the Pacific Coast.

Darol Smith, a Montezuma County sheriff's detective, said

Tuesday the car the pair was driving was registered to James M. Schlosser, a missing Montana social worker whose armless, legless, headless and heartless body was believed found at a Yellowstone River campsite four miles north of Gardiner, Mont.

Randy Newton, the patrolman who made the arrest Monday, said each of the young men was carrying a human finger bone.

Baker, who said he belonged to a "satanic cult," reportedly told FBI agents and sheriff's officers that Schlosser had picked them up as they hitchhiked near Big Timber, Mont. Baker also told them he had eaten Schlosser's heart after shooting him to death, officers added.

Stroup refused to talk and patrolmen said Baker tried to lead him of involvement by admitting that he had fired the fatal shot.

At Park County, Mont., Sheriff Don Guinotoni said

Tuesday night a altar had been found where he believed Schlosser had been killed.

The six-foot-tall north of Gardiner, was about a mile from where a dismembered body was found Saturday. Positive identification has been hampered by a lack of fingerprints.

Guinotoni said a military-type knife with a six-inch blade was found at the scene in addition to dried blood, teeth, particles of flesh and bone fragments.

Absentee Balloting Has Begun

Absentee balloting for the August 4 primary election begins today according to Harold Lancaster, county clerk. Mr. Lancaster emphasized there will be absolutely no change in absentee voting procedures over that used in past elections. Anyone wishing to vote absentee may do so at the county clerk's office at the court house. Anyone who is ill, hospitalized or otherwise unable to go to the polls may contact the clerk's office so voting arrangements may be made. Absentee voting will continue until August 3, Mr. Lancaster said. The clerk's office opens at 8:30 a.m.

Record Of Prosecutor Is Blasted

Speaking before members of the National Secretaries Association, Twin-Ida Chapter, Leon Smith, candidate for Republican nomination for the office of Twin Falls County prosecuting attorney criticized the record of the incumbent. He said Robert Galley, present office holder, has stated he "rests on his record." Mr. Smith indicated he believes the incumbent's record is no record to be proud of but one that is full of dismissals and acquittals and could definitely be improved upon. From a review of the records in one lower court and in district court, Mr. Smith said, "Only one out of every six contested felonies results in a conviction in Twin Falls County."

Further, he said this record is directly attributable to poor discretion or mistakes on the part of the prosecutor. Mr. Smith proposed, "If this is the record relied upon by the incumbent, then it is certainly time for a change."

Paving Bids Are Approved

An approval for a call on bid proposals for asphalt paving of the Harrison and Morningside driveways and other patchwork was approved by the School Board of Trustees at their regular meeting. The board also discussed the school district's fire insurance program and Supl. Ernest Ragland concluded that the district's fire insurance values be increased by 25 per cent. He said this would raise the value of the buildings and contents from $7,730,059 to $9,702,516.47, constituting an increase of $2,002,456.47 on the property of School District 411. Trustees did not take final action on the program.

AWARDS
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—UCEA Theater Arts students Judy Kye and Jarion Monroe each won $500 awards in the Fifth Annual Natalie Wood Performing Arts Awards at the campus.

Arrested

A Twin Falls man has been arrested and charged with first-degree burglary in connection with a break-in this week at a local residence. Officers said Estelo LaVern Esterbrook, 23, is charged in connection with the theft of stereo tapes and a stereo early this week.

Writ Filed To Free Suspect

A writ of habeas corpus has been filed in Fifth District Court in Twin Falls on behalf of a Jersey City, N.J., woman who is being held in the Twin Falls County Jail. Gilberta, Gayle Keeler, 53, was bound over to district court from Buhl Justice Court on a forgery charge and is in the Twin Falls County Jail for failure to post bond. Lawyers for Mrs. Keeler filed the petition for the writ, alleging Mrs. Keeler is being illegally detained. Grounds for their contention is that the alleged crime of forgery was not committed in Twin Falls County and that certain hearsay evidence was admitted in court action before Judge John Pearce at Buhl.

The sheriff has been ordered to produce Mrs. Keeler in court Friday morning at which time the state must show cause why she should continue to be detained in jail. She has been in the county jail since June 18. Other business which were vandalized were Lew Port Television Service, 412 Second Ave. E., a picture window valued at $100; Homer Reed Body Shop, 464 Fourth Ave. W., a window valued at $14; Eastside Market, Main Avenue East, southwest corner window, valued at $40; and Sears,

The event, one of the largest of its kind in this area, is set for Aug. 9 at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds, co-chaired by Stan Detweiler. Approximately 1,100 persons are expected to attend the picnic which is noted for its outstanding barbecued beef which is prepared strictly by the Elks members, Games, prizes, and rides for the youngsters are planned.

Windows Broken By Vandals

Windows valued at more than $370 were broken by vandals this week in Twin Falls, city police report. All were at business establishments. Most extensive damage was at Mosell's Beauty Salon, 436 Third St. N., where a picture window valued at about $145 was broken. Officers said the windows appeared to have been broken with a pellet gun, rock or some other tool, which in most instances was not determined. More than 1,583,000 motor vehicles now circulate in Mexico, says the Mexico Industry and Commerce Department.

Sheriff Returns With Prisoner

Sheriff Paul Corder returned Tuesday from Quincy, Ill., with a prisoner charged with forgery. David LeRoy Rhodes, 20, Mendon, Ill., was booked into the county jail at about 6 p.m.

Son Of T.F. Man Wins Award For Auto Design

David Karl Brown, son of Karl Brown, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Edward Bailey, Burley, won second place with two associates in the Sophomore Design entered in the Engineering-Design Graphics Division Creative Design Display at the American Society for Engineering Education annual meeting held at the Ohio State University, June 22-25. Entitled "A Measuring Device for Auto Exhaust Particulates," it was the only one that received an award of all the products GMI entered in the Creative Design Display. When fitted to an automobile exhaust system, the device measures how efficiently the engine is running at all times, how much lead pollutants are put into the air and the difference, if any, in the various brands of gasoline. A 1967 graduate of Twin Falls High School and a member of the Honor Society, David attended the University of Utah his freshman and sophomore years, where he maintained the highest grade point average of his class in the department of engineering both years. He is presently studying at the General Motors Institute (GMI) in Flint, Mich., sponsored by the Pontiac division of GM. He hopes to qualify for working six months at one of GM's foreign subsidiaries as an outstanding upper classman.

These include the countries of Germany, England, Australia, Canada, Brazil, Argentina and Mexico. Steven Balch, Rupert, and Kathryn Barry, Burley, are among 16 Idaho high school juniors who are participating in the Idaho State University summer honors program for outstanding students. The students are required to enroll in one English course and a seminar on current events for three credit hours each. They also select on a three credit elective course for a total of nine credits applicable to their college record when they enroll as freshmen. Selection of the students was based on grades, recommendations of teachers, results of the National Merit Scholarship tests and an essay.

Idealism

The terms one hears and reads most often in descriptions of President Nixon are "practical," "pragmatic" and "political." Rarely is "idealistic" used when this ungracious man is discussed.

Nixon dwelled first on the theme of "what is good for America," recognizing that Jaycees are active-businessman types who do not generally emphasize the negative aspects of our society.

Nixon then took considerable speaking time on three areas of concern to his administration: race relations, crime and respect for law, and the generation gap.

Regarding race relations, the President commented: "Here government can pass laws. Government can enforce laws. But as government passes the law, there needs to be added an extra element that can come only from the hearts and minds of the people of the United States of America."

Some of the President's critics feel that he has moved black and white Americans farther apart since he took office.

But in St. Louis, he urged the predominantly white Jaycees to "go back to your communities, and rather than have America torn apart, let's bring Americans together."

Regarding crime and public order, Nixon said that the missing ingredient today is respect for the law, not the laws themselves nor the enforcement of them.

law, not the laws themselves nor the enforcement of them. And he added:

"If we ask people to respect the laws, we must have laws (which deserve respect) and those who enforce the laws (must be those) who deserve respect. That means that in every community in this nation—and it is primarily a local problem rather than a national problem—we need to provide those programs and the enforcement and the personnel that will deserve the respect."

Finally, the President first charged the Jaycees (all under 35) with the responsibility to do all they can not to make the generation gap bigger and "not to set up a hostile confrontation, but to give to young people the understanding of our system that they need."

And in a final exhortation that might seem surprising because Nixon has at times appeared to be insensitive to some of the younger generation's dissatisfaction with foreign and domestic policies, he added:

"But let me leave you with one fundamental truth, and I believe this deeply, and unless we understand this we will fail to bridge this generation gap: Young Americans today, particularly those in college and high school years, are not going to be satisfied simply by the absence of war and having good jobs. Young Americans think in idealistic and spiritual terms, and that is to their credit."

Let us tell young Americans, all Americans, that we should love America. But let us not love her because she is rich and not because she is strong, but because America is a good country and we are going to make her better.

Fighting?

Here it is still months before Columbus Day and already the question of the discovery of America is again up for reargament and inevitably, further complication.

On his second try, Norwegian anthropologist Thor Heyerdahl has demonstrated dramatically that he can cross the Atlantic on a bundle of papyrus. And so, theoretically, could the ancient Egyptians, who first constructed such vessels.

But simultaneously comes a Russian assertion that the first New World visitors were actually Asians—deduced by Leningrad scientists from supposed reference to "a green land lying far across the eastern sea" in Tibetan books and maps dating back to 1500 B.C., plus traces of a "purely American word"—tobacco—in a number of Oriental languages.

Well, possibly. But occupied as we already are with conflicting Italian (Columbus), Norse (Leif Erikson) and Irish (St. Brendan the Navigator) claims, Americans probably will be content to let the Egyptians and Russians—or Tibetans—fight this one out themselves.

MR. SPECTATOR

Wild Rivers

The Rio Grande is a rugged river, nowhere more so than in its upper reaches, where, despite the westward course of American empire, that has overwhelmed many another wilderness outpost, it remains least civilized, least polluted and least accessible.

And that, in the description of Boyd L. Rasmussen, director of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, is the way it is going to stay. Rasmussen recently presided at the dedication of a 48-mile stretch of the stream between the historic Indian pueblo of Taos in New Mexico and the Colorado border, as the Rio Grande Wild River, the first such under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968.

What is means is that this much of the 1,900-mile Rio Grande, running through a gorge up to 4,000 feet wide and 800 feet deep, is now legally off limits to man's heavy and often devastating touch as represented by dams, lumbering, mining and even extensive road building. Some trails and basic camp sites will be constructed, but only to make the gorge minimally accessible while preserving to the greatest extent possible its character—as an unspoiled wilderness.

The Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, the latest addition to the park and forests system, is another case of little and almost too late in recognizing and protecting an irreplaceable part of the national heritage. Very little of our vast river network did not bear the marks—usually detrimental—of human activity by the time Washington became aware of the danger and legislated preservation.

Forty-eight miles out of 1,900 is not much, but it is a start. Already scheduled to join the Rio Grande gorge as federally protected wild rivers are sections of the Clearwater and Salmon in Idaho; Eleven Point in Missouri; Feather in California; Rogue in Oregon; St. Croix in Minnesota and Wisconsin; and Wolf in Wisconsin.

VC Specialists In Terror

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—America's antiwar critics who can't stand to be reminded of the brutal behavior of the North Vietnamese and their brothers in blood, the Viet Cong, have a little jolly to explain why they focus so hard on our sins and those of Saigon. It goes:

"We can't affect what Hanoi does, but we can have some influence on what this country and its South Vietnamese ally do."

This tidbit, which has been ninking the rounds for years and surfaces particularly whenever the Reds are caught doing something especially nasty, is the cheapest kind of cop-out.

In the 1930s, indignant Americans thundered loud and long against Nazi Germany's Jewish pogroms and its ghastly treatment of domestic political prisoners, though this country knew it was utterly powerless to affect these things in any direct sense.

I, myself, though a mere student whose voice must surely have seemed frail and inconsequential coming from such a distance, wrote a steaming protest letter to Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, who was telling the world the Nazis' brutalities were none of its business.

(Incidentally, many of our own present antiwar critics hate embarrassing historical parallels and deal with them by the simple device of asserting they don't exist.)

The fact is, for reasons that might take a book or two to figure out and explain many of today's indignant types wear moral blinkers. They can see our sins in the smallest print, but they can't even read the big letter "A" when the Reds are slaughtering their way about.

Some fair amount of American attention has been given the recent VC massacre of more than 100 South Vietnamese civilians in the village of Phuthanh. But the decibel count on our critics' rage is too low even to measure. In their book, the VC and Hanoi's regulars are the "friendly," the liberators with whom we are interfering.

With some slowness, the story of the "friendly" and their gruesome killings in Hue in 1968 has gotten around. Phuthanh hardly suggests they are unfriendly in the past two years.

They have been here. Hue and Phuthanh are not isolated, uncalculated performances. Take, for another example, the highland village of Dak Son, once the home of 2,000 Montagnards.

"On Dec. 5, 1967, the Reds descended on it not just with guns but with 60 flamethrowers. They incinerated whole families in their grass-topped huts or in the crude shelters they dug for protection.

Everything that would burn, including livestock, trees and fences, was put to the torch. U.S. soldiers who later approached the hamlet saw bodies piled together like "charred cordwood." The estimated death toll was 252, two-thirds women and children. Another 200 disappeared for good.

Dak Son and two other Red assaults that killed nearly a fourth of the 2,850 South Vietnamese civilians reported killed or kidnapped in just the last three months of 1967.

For the VC or North Vietnamese to wipe out or abduct 100 or more South Vietnamese civilians in a single raid is actually fairly common. Back on Feb. 20, 1962, the day John Glenn was orbiting the earth, the Reds were exhibiting their own special talent. They tossed four grenades into a crowded theater at Can Tho, killing or injuring 108.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Constant Cold

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My eight-month-old baby acts as if he had a cold all the time, a runny nose, constant loose congestion in the head, and at night it sounds like snoring, but he acts as though he had a hard time breathing.

We've had him in the hospital but nothing showed up. The doctor said it's probably from cutting teeth, but this has been going on for nearly six months and neither the baby nor I have had a good night's sleep. Could this be from teething? He also has swollen eyes. — Mrs. G.A.G.

Sounds as though you've had him pretty well checked, but although teething can make little ones irritable, I doubt that it could cause the amount of breathing trouble you describe. Increasing the humidity in his bedroom with a vaporizer may help make him more comfortable, but I would dig deeper for the cause of his miseries.

I wonder if allergy has been considered. Sensitivity to foods or a pet in the house or house dust or perhaps other things can cause all of the symptoms you mention. You might do well to consult an allergist.

what is comfortable at your age. Shufflboard would be excellent for you if you enjoy it, so join your friends.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We know cigarette smoking is dangerous and many are giving up the habit, but some are taking up pipe smoking instead. Isn't that just about as dangerous? — Mrs. L.L.V.

No as dangerous, because cigarette smoke usually is inhaled; pipe smoke not. This is safer so far as the lungs are concerned. Of course the pipe smoker can absorb some nicotine. He also should guard against irritation of lips, tongue, or mouth. If patches of whitish, thickened skin develop, a doctor should examine them, because they sometimes become cancerous.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit.

To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Concerning your reference to lithium carbonate for manic depressives, I would appreciate learning whether it is being used in connection with depressives who do not alternate into manic states but are perfectly normal until they enter a state of depression.

The patient I am referring to has had electroshock therapy, drugs, and psychotherapy but continues to fall into depressions. Lithium treatment has not been suggested. Is there any reason for this? — R.D.

Possible reasons are that the use of lithium carbonate is relatively new and its use primarily has been for manic-depressive states—situations in which the patient fluctuates from being "very depressed" to feeling abnormally exhilarated.

How it may work with depression alone, I can't say. The drug must be prescribed by a psychiatrist familiar with the dosage and toxic effects.

Dear Dr. Thosteson—Three years ago I had a slight cerebral vascular accident. I am now 69 and doing quite well, living in a retirement home.

I have been invited to join a game of shufflboard. I used to play and think of it as mild, but I wonder how much one should exercise in cases like mine. — Mrs. B.W.S.

Having had a CVA (that is, a stroke) doesn't mean that a person should give up exercise. Of course I don't mean forcing yourself to exercise. Enjoy

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother is 68 and for two weeks has been complaining of a fluid discharge from one nipple. I want her to see a doctor but she procrastinates and hopes it is only temporary. She doesn't feel any pain, there are no lumps and no odor. Can this be something less serious than cancer? — D.

It can, but at her age it might not be less serious than cancer. She should be examined, have a Pap test for cancer cells in the fluid, and perhaps mammography (a special X-ray of breast tissue).

Note to M. T.: I've heard all sorts of rumors about Teflon cookware, but have found absolutely no evidence that it "causes cancer" or does any of the other things of which it is accused.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, requesting the booklet, "How To Deal with Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Lawlessness

Student radicals seize a university and get paid off to pull back.

Rioters riot against a city and win concessions.

Then how can you blame a mailman for striking against the law and against the nation when he sees so many others thumbing their noses at authority and profiting from it?

Lawlessness begets lawlessness.

Washington D.C. has ordered brighter lights for the triangle complex of federal buildings because, they say, it will beautify them, and because, they admit, it may make the area safer at night.

Ogden, Utah, police are loaning local home owners etching tools for engraving identification on their belongings—thus to try to reduce a rising rate of burglary.

Crime is increasing 11 times faster than our population is increasing. Among 14 modern nations, the United States is "first in crime."

If lawlessness begets lawlessness, how do we retard and reverse that contagion?

In much of Latin America authority is so corruptible that most merchants and many people employ their own protection: paid private policemen.

That practice is on the increase in the United States. With vandalism chronic and bombings acute, there are now 25 per cent more private Pinkerton police than five years ago. There has been a similar increase in "Burns," detectives and other lesser-known private guards.

A few months ago, anti-gun crusaders were convinced that we needed only to pass new laws to restrict sale and possession of firearms.

But they ignored more menacing sources of explosives and the other day a Lansing, Michigan, couple demonstrated that they could walk into a hardware store and buy a dozen sticks of dynamite, just like that: no identification, no questions, no explanation. Historically, traditionally, any country's official ambassador was supersafe anywhere. Now diplomats, particularly in Latin America, are a worse insurance risk than a nearsighted crop-duster.

Only Argentina and Guatemala tried a hard-nosed response to these gangster methods, refusing to release political prisoners as "ransom" for the kidnaped diplomats. In both instances the detained diplomats were subsequently safely released.

Canada, seeking answers, abolished—the death penalty three years ago. The number of murders since has gone up, up, up.

If leniency is not the answer, perhaps toughness is. That's one thing we haven't tried lately.

RAY CROMLEY

With It?

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Mass demonstrations have strange psychological effects on people caught in their centers.

On the Fourth of July, a young man (22) this reporter knows found himself in the middle of bearded activist demonstrators by the reflecting pool off the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C.

This was an accident. He was not part of that demonstration. He was sympathetic with the police—and with the message that the Rev. Billy Graham was bringing to the thousands there for Honor America Day.

Yet, he says, that when the bearded, bareheaded "anti" group overturned one of the huge mobile searchlights and tipped it into the reflecting pool, and chanted their obscenities and slogans, "I found myself 'caught up.' I was a part of it. I clapped and shouted approval. And so did people around me, young and old, many in conservative clothes."

"I found myself shouting 'pig' at the police, and some other things I don't like to remember," he said. "I found myself a part of the mob. The violence reached me and stirred me up."

After it was all over and this young man had walked away from the scene, he says that he began to be ashamed of what he had done. He went back and found a police captain and apologized. By contrast, at another time during the celebration he found himself "within 40 feet" of both instances the detained diplomats were subsequently safely released.

Canada, seeking answers, abolished—the death penalty three years ago. The number of murders since has gone up, up, up.

If leniency is not the answer, perhaps toughness is. That's one thing we haven't tried lately.

There was a group holding a sort of open marijuna party. They were passing the stuff around to anyone who wanted to have some. There were numbers of older people—well-dressed—who said they'd never smoked marijuna before and thought they'd try it to see what it was like. They weren't hippies or boaters. I didn't want any part of it. It seemed to me strange what these people were doing. But maybe they were caught up as I was caught up in the demonstration.

Now it is nothing new that people get carried away in demonstrations. Hitler found this out and used it effectively. So did a score of other revolutionaries. But what is strange is that in all the demonstrations this reporter has read about, seen analyzed and explained, "little study apparently has been made as to how many of those who participate in college and street demonstrations are—with the demonstrations—and how many are those caught up emotionally in the excitement of the moment or of the times.

TV Programming Is Lively For Midsummer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It may be midsummer, but it's a lively week for network-television programming.

"Today" recently originated a full week of broadcasts from the Windy City and its environs. And, of the new segments, "Today" producer Stuart Schulbert says:

"This feature will enable 'Today' to extend its live interviewing capability into the heart of the Midwest."

And, of course, this means there will be more opportunity to hear from grassroots sources—or, if you will, the so-called "silent majority" and some of its firsthand observers.

On Thursday, Chet Huntley offers his final documentary before leaving NBC Aug. 1. It is called "Migrant—An NBC White Paper," and it reports for an hour on the living and working conditions of migrant laborers in Florida.

The program has been produced by Martin Carr, whose credits include the documentary "Hunger in America," which won a number of awards and upset some officials in the Department of Agriculture.

Also on Thursday, NBC-TV offers the return of the summer series "Dean Martin presents the Goldiggers," which replaces the singer's show until fall.

This summer the replacement show originates in London. And, in addition to the Goldiggers, a group of attractive girls who sing and dance, the series features comedian Charles Nelson Reilly as master of ceremonies.

As usual, "Dean Martin presents the Goldiggers" does not star Dean Martin.

THE COWSILLS ARE coming to Twin Falls Friday for an open air concert at Jaycee Ball Park. The Cowsills, Bob, Paul, John, Barry and Susan, and parents Barbara and Bud, have graduated from an old Newport, R.I. mansion to a rambling Spanish style house in Santa Monica, Calif., during the several years the group has found its popularity rising. The Cowsills have recorded such favorites as "We Can Fly," and has made numerous television appearances. The concert will be at 8:30 p. m. Friday. Tickets are available from the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., Twin Falls; Sullivan's Music, Jerome and Twin Falls; Helen's Record Shop, Twin Falls; Ames Stereo City, Twin Falls; Arctic Circle Drive In, Rupert; Benny Store, Rupert, and Gath's Music Store, Burley.

Why Not Try Contests To Solve U.S. Woes?

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Psychologists tell us that human beings are motivated by two basic drives or instincts: 1) The sexual urge and 2) The desire to win a prize in some sort of contest.

Advertising agencies have long taken advantage of the latter compulsion. Next to sex, the contest is the oldest and most widely used product promotion gimmick in the Western world.

The federal government, however, has been slow to recognize its potential. When a problem arises, the federal government still does what it has always done. It appoints a commission to study the situation and write a report.

A recent survey showed that President Nixon has appointed more than 40 study commissions. Apparently, nobody in the administration has given any thought to seeking solutions to National problems through national contests.

But if Nixon would take just 25 per cent of what it costs to finance a commission study and offer it as a prize for the best solution to a problem, I feel certain he would get better results.

hasn't done so already. If typical, the commission will take about 17 months to complete its study at a cost of about $2 million.

How much faster, cheaper and probably more effective it would be simply to offer $500,000 in prizes in the following contest:

"Complete this sentence in 5,000 words or less: 'In order to save the railroads, the U.S. government should...'"

"Mail entries to Railroad Contest, 1800 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, July 31. All entries become property of U.S. government. Decision of judges is final."

Being a normal, red-blooded, compulsive contest entrant myself, I can hardly wait to send in my entry.

"In order to save the railroads, the U.S. government should classify trains as a type of waterfowl—and place them under the protection of the Fish and Wildlife Service."

On second thought, withdraw that entry. It sounds too much like a commission report.

Birth Control Policy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Pennsylvania SPCA will adopt a birth control policy July 20 for dogs and cats adopted from the agency.

Persons adopting female animals from the shelters will be required to have them spayed.

An SPCA spokesman said the animal population explosion forced the birth control campaign.

Wood From Old Barns Used In Cress Home In Bitterroot Road

SUN VALLEY — An ultra-modern four bedroom home under construction for the Robert Cress family on Bitterroot Road will be among the highlights of the 1970 Tour of Homes sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library Board Aug. 8.

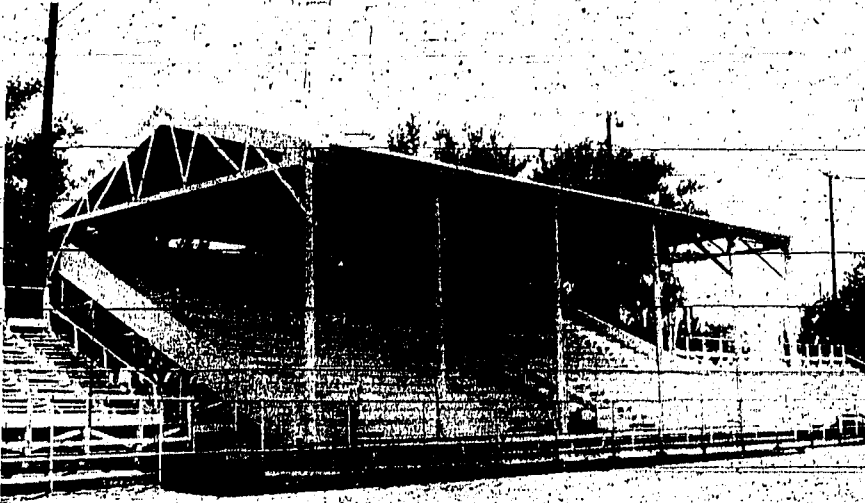

The home is uniquely situated on Trail Creek and great fishing is reported from the generous sun decks surrounding the home. The interior of the home is paneled with weathered wood from old barns at Fairfield and was decorated by Mrs. Cress, with consultation by Peterson's, Twin Falls.

In addition to four bedrooms, there are four and a half baths, a game room, and open kitchen and the living room which features a sunken bar in one corner and a setting of French Victorian furniture dating back to about 1780 in the other. The furniture is of the Shell pattern.

Separating the settings in the room is an enormous fireplace of Cherry Creek Rock. The same rock is used on other fireplaces throughout the home. Agreeing with the weathered wood paneling are the sunken bar top, the breakfast bar top and the mantle of one of the fireplaces, all of which are old beams from the original Ketchum grade school built in the 1880's. The beams have been finished with a transparent epoxy.

ANTIQUE FRENCH VICTORIAN furniture dating to about 1780 is one of the many attractions in the Robert Cress home on Bitterroot Road, to be included in the Tour of Homes sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library Board Aug. 8. The home contains weathered wood from old barns at Fairfield and is situated on Trail creek.

Two Plus Two Equals Four — And All Boys

Not one, but two sets of twin boys were born within a two-day period to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gonzales, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bodenstab, Filer, at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Only ten sets of twins were born in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital during 1969, said hospital officials, and odds against having two sets of twins born within the same week are extremely high.

AN UNEXPECTED DELIGHT blessed the Clarence Bodenstab family recently when twin boys, Roger LaVorn and Robert Lee, were born, bringing the total of Bodenstab children to 10.

ADMIRING HER TWIN sons is Mrs. Joe Gonzales, Twin Falls. Arturo and Alfredo are the second set of twins born in a two-day period at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Couples Exchange Nuptial Vows

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN D. TAYLOR

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS NORMAN

DEAR ABBY: My brother asked me to write to you to see if you can help him get any closer to marriage with his girl friend of 10 years. I'll call her "Zelda."

Zelda loves the big city and my brother likes the quiet of the countryside. Zelda doesn't come alive until 10 p.m., and at that hour my brother is ready for bed.

Even tho they live 300 miles apart, they see each other on week-ends and holidays. (My brother flies his own plane.)

Zelda is jealous of anyone who looks at him twice, but she doesn't care for sex herself. (She was in a concentration camp when she was young.) My brother would like a family, but since he is 40 and Zelda is 43 and they aren't married yet, that looks doubtful. What do you think, Abby?

HIS SISTER:
I think if your brother wants marriage, he should look for someone who likes the quiet of the countryside, sex, and won't take 10 years to make up her mind. A 40-year-old man who files his own plane should have no trouble landing a girl.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged professional woman. Several months ago a person whom I considered to be a loyal friend accused me of repeating some confidential information she told me about another person. I did not repeat the information, but I know who did, and if I were to tell my friend who repeated it, she would be terribly upset.

My friend just assumes that I am the guilty one, and she refuses to believe otherwise. This has hurt me deeply.

It is impossible to communicate with someone who has a closed mind. Is there any way I can reach this friend? I want to set her straight to clear myself, but in so doing I will have to put someone else on the spot. A SINCERE FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Too bad your friend with the "closed mind" doesn't have a mouth to match. If she passed on "confidential information" which created trouble [which appears to be the case]—ahime on her. To you, I say, in the future don't listen to that kind of "information," and for the present don't knock yourself out trying to prove your innocence.

DEAR ABBY: I know you can't give any medical advice, but my daughter-in-law and I are so worried about my son that it is becoming a serious problem.

My son was buried in a mine cave-in about a year ago. Thank God he has recovered from his physical injuries, but we think something else may be wrong with him and we're afraid the doctors will laugh at us.

His whole personality has changed. He is so depressed, impatient and moody. No one in his family can get along with him. We are all so thankful to have him alive, but he's making everyone around him miserable, and he is miserable, too. Could it be the lack of oxygen he suffered a year ago, or is this just a coincidence?

SO WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The shock of such an experience could easily have upset your son emotionally. Don't be ashamed to discuss this with your doctor. I promise you he won't laugh. There is no more "ahime" in admitting an emotional disorder than a physical one, and treatment to correct it is equally as vital.

DEAR ABBY: An obviously misinformed correspondent recently wrote and said, "so many countries, like Samoa, have relaxed marital codes," and you let it pass as if it were a fact.

As a native Samoan, I must protest. Margaret Mead notwithstanding, Samoan culture embodies the highest ideals of Christianity, which in all likelihood surpasses those found in 1970 American society. Certainly in Samoa today one doesn't find the disintegration of the family unit found in the United States.

So please inform your misinformed and misadvised correspondent, as well as your readers who may still be relying on outdated information, that modern-day Samoans are not living in a free love paradise.

MODERN ISLANDER

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclosed stamped, addressed envelope.

WENDELL — The Masonic Lodge No. 54 and Order of Eastern Star No. 35 are sponsoring their annual potluck dinner at the Wendell City Park at 1 p.m. Sunday. Each guest is to bring a potluck dish and own table service. The drink and ice cream will be furnished. Mrs. Harry Frith and Mrs. Jim Dunn are chairmen in charge of arrangements.

HOLLISTER — Stephanie Rae Pastoor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pastoor, Hollister, became the bride of Steven David Taylor, Twin Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.D. Taylor, at afternoon rites June 5 performed at the Carillon Wedding Chapel in Twin Falls.

Justice of the Peace, Reed Maughn, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The podium was backed by white flocked velvet, flanked by cathedral baskets of pink gladioli and pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie, fashioned by her mother. The gown featured a lace panel in the center front, and a large bow in back with ties which followed the length of the train. The bouffant veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a crescent of lace medallions and was fashioned by the bride. She carried a nosegay bouquet, fashioned of pink rosebuds, white pompons and baby breath, with pink satin streamers.

Michele Velly was maid of honor. Julie Anderst and Laura Vincent were bridesmaids.

Mark Taylor, Twin Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, with Larry Richards and Mike Brown as ushers.

Prelude music and the wedding march were played by Helen Fleanor. Patricia Sharp was in charge of the guest book, registering guests at a table which was skirted in alencon lace, accented with an arrangement of pink pompons and a pink plumed pen.

Debra Ann Taylor, sister of the bridegroom, and Mary Nell Pastoor and Datsy Pastoor, sisters of the bride, displayed the gifts. Timothy Scott Taylor, brother of the bridegroom, was giftbearer.

A reception was held after the ceremony.

The four-tiered white cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with white doves and imitation wedding rings, centered the bride's table. Arrangements of pink pompons and pink gladioli with greenery flanked the cake. The table was skirted with white organza, topped with white satin and draped with pink chiffon. Pink ribbon bows held the front of the floor-length flounce skirt of the table cover.

Mrs. John Pastoor, Mrs. Doyle Butler, Mrs. Ralph Plank and Mrs. C. J. Boss, aunts of the bride, served at the reception. Quartet tables were covered with white lace over pink, and centered with tiny baskets of fern and pink pompons.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Carillon.

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Mrs. Heber Loughmiller and daughter, Michele; the women of the Hollister Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Taylor.

Special guests attending were Ed Pastoor, grandfather of the bride, and Mrs. Gertrude Hewlett Gillett, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Special out-of-town guests were Bertha Mitchell, aunt of the bride, Stockton, Calif., and Mrs. Ralph Plank and Sharon, Royal City, Wash.

The couple will reside at 3201 Commonwealth Ave., Apartment A, Alexandria, Va., 22305. Mr. Taylor is employed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in Washington D.C.

Now it's the computer put to work to keep brides from getting six coffee pots, four silver trays, three electric irons and the like. Scientific Resources Corp., of Philadelphia, is introducing a computer which stores gift shops, et al, can use as a bridal registry that will eliminate duplication of gifts.

Kathryn Magaw, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Samuel K. Magaw, Twin Falls, became the bride of Thomas Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Norman, Pocatello, in a double ring ceremony June 6 at the First Christian Church.

Rev. Stan Howerton performed the ceremony in the church parlor before an arch of pink roses flanked by candleabra. Mrs. Charles Allen was pianist and Linda Talley was soloist.

The bride wore a Bridal Original empire-styled gown, fashioned with full Juliet sleeves with lace cuffs and a lace cow collar. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a chiffon bow with lace flowers. She carried a white Job's Daughters Bible holding cascading pink roses.

Jan Miller, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bob Johnson, Pocatello, was best man, with John Magaw, brother of the bride, serving as usher and candlelighter.

After the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a dinner for the immediate families in the Rogerson Hotel Colonial Room. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a white satin bell. The cake was baked by Mrs. Pat Vinyard, Jerome.

The couple took a wedding trip to West Yellowstone, and reside in Pocatello, where the bridegroom is employed as a design engineer for the FMC Corp.

A pre-nuptial shower was given for the bride by Alleen Tominga, Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority sister of the bride, at Idaho State University.

T. F. County Signs Contract For Appraisals By Private Concern

PLANS FOR PROPERTY valuation in Twin Falls County are discussed here by county officials and Don Edwards, who has been awarded a contract to conduct the appraisals. Discussing the five-year appraisal program are William Chancey, county

Officials of Twin Falls County announced Tuesday an agreement has been signed with Edwards Appraisal Co., Twin Falls, contracting the continuing property valuation program now required by law. Commissioners have signed a five-year contract with Don Edwards to cover the first five-year phase of the program, the contract calling for a "per parcel" payment schedule.

County Assessor Clifford Thompson said the county-wide review of properties is required by law to establish a market value "for tax purposes." He said Section 63-221 of the Idaho code says each county in this state must follow such a property review program each five years. State Tax Commission recommendations are for completing 20 per cent of the county property each year during the five-year period.

Mr. Edwards said he will begin the work in January, 1971, although some preliminary work may be completed late this year. There are approximately 17,000 properties in the county, but Mr. Edwards said he has not yet determined a system to follow in selecting the 20 per cent to be covered each year.

Recommendations of the tax commission include placing each 20 per cent of the new values on the tax rolls as completed rather than making the entire change-over at the end of the five years.

Chairman Heber Loughmiller of the county commissioners, said the county should be able to save money by contracting with a professional appraisal firm and at the same time will be assured of a uniform and fair valuation.

Fees established in the contract are $13 for each residential property, $25 for each rural property and $35 on commercial. County officials say this compares to fees of up to $60 per commercial property being charged by some appraisal firms.

Mr. Edwards said a number of other counties have contracted their appraisal work and his firm is now under contract to one other county. State law also provides the counties may levy up to two mills to pay for the property valuation program. This is not subject to limitations of the House Bill 304 stipulation that revenue not increase more than four per cent each year. In Twin Falls County, Mr. Loughmiller said, a levy of 1.5 mills will be made. This will bring in about $70,000 per year and should cover the cost of the program. Mr. Thompson said the commissioners emphasized the importance of obtaining qualified personnel to handle the property review, agreeing they are fortunate to acquire the services of Mr. Edwards. Mr. Edwards is a lifelong resident of Twin Falls County and has a background in farming by Mr. Edwards and the realtor's license and for the past three years has been engaged in appraisals.

Mr. Edwards said the new capacity of supervisor of review will use the income approach, taking into consideration revenue returns from investment property, and should result in assessments as fair as can be established.

Twin Falls T. F. Airman Aids Thai Girl—Now She Walks

Only five months ago, Rotantong Pet was almost a complete invalid. Transporting herself on her left leg, the bustling 13-year-old girl would crawl instead of walk, using the other lifeless leg as a crutch.

When Rot was only two, polio struck her right leg. Parentless, Rubi was taken in by an elderly woman who lived in what is known as the "44 Area" of Korat, Thailand.

Last December her problem was noted by a member of the 10 Weather Squadron Detachment 16, at Korat, who reported it to his commanding officer, Technical Sgt. John H. Martin, son of Mr. H. C. Martin of Twin Falls, believed something should be done to help her walk.

Maj. Richard C. Roth, detachment commander, agreed and the two took their case before the detachment's monthly Commander's Call where it received full approval of Weather personnel.

Rot was taken to a military doctor where her condition was determined as polio, and on Feb. 7, Rot entered the Seventh Day Adventist Sanitarium and Hospital in Bangkok.

Two operations, involving six incisions, were performed on her right leg. The bone in her leg had to be broken then straightened. Rot remained in the hospital until July 16, except for a six-week period when she stayed at home with her leg in a cast.

When weather squadron airmen brought her home, she had a brace on her right leg enabling her to walk. Her leg is growing and getting stronger, but in the meantime, Rot has to place her right hand on top of the brace to support herself. It will only be a matter of time before her leg muscles develop enough so that she will be able to walk normally with the aid of the brace.

Members of the weather squadron donated around $650 to pay for the operations and brace in addition to supplying transportation to and from the hospital at Bangkok.

Four Cited In Burley Crashes

BURLEY — Citations were given in two accidents in Burley, police reported today.

Ronald W. Jolley, 28, Provo, Utah, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after a two-car accident at 4:30 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of 13th Street and Normal Avenue. He was traveling east on 13th Street when his 1967 Buick collided with a 1968 Opel stationwagon traveling north on Normal Avenue, driven by Kenneth R. Milligan, 16, Paul and owned by Gene Milligan, Paul.

Damage was estimated at $600 to the Jolley vehicle and the Opel was demolished. Passengers in the Buick were Mrs. Beverly Jolley, 28, and the couple's son, Mark Jolley, 1, all Provo, Utah. Milligan was traveling alone.

Georgery Y. Yokoyama, 57, Burley, was also cited for failure to yield the right of way and for an expired driver's license following a car-truck collision Friday afternoon at the intersection of 11th Street East and Hansen Avenue.

He was traveling east on 11th Street when his 1966 Oldsmobile collided with a 1966 Chevrolet truck whose driver, Gerald Clifton Craney, 24, Twin Falls, was turning left.

Damage was $100 to the Oldsmobile and $300 to the truck, owned by Mountain Bell Telephone Co., Twin Falls.

Andrus Is Rapped As Loser

Lloyd J. Walker, Twin Falls Democratic candidate for governor, stated Tuesday in Idaho Falls at the opening of his local headquarters, that his campaign was going to be successful because of the participation of hundreds of workers all over the state and because he did not carry the loser's image.

He stated, "The longer Gov. Samuelson remains in office the more the people who want a change in Idaho are looking for a strong candidate who can win in November. The former Sen. Andrus issued a statement last week that he might have won in 1966 if the Swisher and Jungert votes were assigned to him."

Walker told the workers that the only meaningful statistic is that Andrus pulled 35 per cent of the total vote in 1966 and was defeated by Samuelson.

Walker went on to say to his workers that they could be proud of their fellow workers around the state. "None of them belong to any powerful group which tries to control the state for their own selfish purposes. This campaign is being run by the people and for the people. We didn't start our campaign with $25,000.00 in the bank but then again we don't have any obligations because of campaign donations and we can run and promote good government when we win because we don't have any political debts to pay."

Walker concluded by saying that a campaign by his forces will insure the end of the Robber-Baron influence in government in Idaho.

2 Castleford Girls Attending National FHA Meet In New York

CASTLEFORD — Sherry Prell and Tammy Keller, Future Homemakers of America members from Castleford, are attending the 1976 national meeting of the organization this week in New York City. Sherry will represent Idaho as the state Vice-president of Degrees and is a voting delegate to the convention.

Both girls will be seniors at Castleford High School. Sherry is the daughter of the late Verda Prell. Tammy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keller. Tammy is the District IV Recreation chairman for the FHA.

This is the 25th anniversary year for the Future Homemakers of America. This meeting sets focus on the objective to promote communication for the enrichment of human relationships, chosen by the members as the "Dare of the Decade."

The girls will hear outstanding speakers, hold "delegate retreats" and participate in workshops on careers in home economics career fields.

They were also promised time for sight-seeing visits to some of the wonders of New York City, including an evening of entertainment at New York's famous Radio City Music Hall.

Seventeen girls and five adult guardians were selected to attend this National Convention from Idaho.

The girls left Thursday from Boise. They planned to tour Washington, D.C., and to visit Philadelphia Sunday. Both girls from Castleford were delighted with the chance to see both cities of historical and national interest included on the agenda.

Various organizations in the community contributed to a fund to help the girls attend. Among them were the Castleford Men's Club and the Castleford FHA chapter. Mrs. Roy Haley is the chapter advisor.

Buhl merchants also aided the fund and included the Sav-

Mor Drug, Idaho First National Bank, Farmers National Bank, Shields Warehouse, Bean Growers Association Inc., West End Fertilizer and Chemicals, Inc., Rangens Inc., The Buhl Implement Co., and the Pet Milk Co.

Both girls are active in school activities. Tammy is the Castleford FHA chapter secretary. Sherry will be editor for the school paper. Both girls are members of the drill team, Pep club, C club, Pep band, chorus, and track.

ICE CREAM TIME is summer time and "Women for Walker" are planning an old-fashioned ice cream social in honor of Lloyd Walker, candidate for Democratic nominations for Governor Thursday night in Harmon Park.

The public is invited. Sampling some of the refreshments in advance are Patty Sumnerfeld, Julie Ann Standley, Terri Wood, and Donna Walker.

Jury Finds Deaths To Be Accidental

BURLEY — A coroner's jury Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict of accidental death in the drowning of three Burley children in a canal off Highway 30 July 1.

Six witnesses testified during the inquest conducted by Coroner Bruce Young in the district courtroom here. Victims in the tragedy were Erma Manriquez, 10; her sister, Anita Manriquez, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edwige Manriquez, 726 Hansen Ave., Burley, and the girls' cousin, Joe Hernandez, 12.

The children were riding in a 1965 Pontiac stationwagon driven by Mr. Manriquez and containing the girls' parents and four sisters, all of whom swam to safety. The car went out of control while Mr. Manriquez was attempting to pass a 1967 Ford pickup truck driven by Lynn Taylor, 23, DeLoe, who was attempting a left turn onto the canal bank.

Mr. Taylor testified during the inquest that when he saw the stationwagon trying to pass he turned back to the right. The parents of the girls testified they were on route to work in the beet fields when their car plunged into the canal two miles east of DeLoe.

Other witnesses were Dr. Bob Maier, Twin Falls pathologist, who said cause of death was drowning. Mrs. Lynn Taylor and State Patrolman Gordon Mills.

Jurors were Pat Patterson, Bob Hilliard, Cleo Critchfield, Ross Koyle, Richard Madden and John Almanza.

Center At Buhl Sets Benefit

BUHL — Authentic Mexican food will be served at the Buhl Day Care Center benefit supper Saturday at the Buhl Immaculate Conception church between 4:30 and 8 p.m.

Members of the Buhl Community Action Agency board in addition to Mrs. Golluda are Rev. David Turnmire, chairman; Bob Holton, ice-cream secretary; Mrs. Earl Heide, treasurer; Barton Sonner; Mgs. Stan Kern and Mrs. Harold Traxler, director of the Buhl Day care center.

In addition to the day care center, the local board is concerned with Head Start programs for the future, community health services for babies, senior citizens; the physically handicapped, as well as cooking and sewing classes for migrant workers and the underprivileged.

Meet Slated July 21 At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — A public meeting has been scheduled for 10 a.m. July 21 at the courthouse in Shoshone in connection with a proposed reclassification of about 1,077,798 acres to multiple use by the Bureau of Land Management.

The land lies in the Bennett Hills area involving land in Blaine, Camas, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, and Minidoka counties. The proposal to classify as multiple use management would preclude disposal under agricultural land laws and public sale.

In addition, 22 sites of about 2,800 acres would also be segregated from general mining laws because it is deemed they are valuable for recreational use. Except for the 22 sites, the land would remain open to all forms of appropriation including the mineral leasing laws and materials sale laws.

Gem Club To Give Program

FAIRFIELD — The Northside Gem and Hobby Club, Wendell, will present the program at a meeting of the Soldier Mountain Rock Wranglers at 7 p.m. July 21 in the firehouse park on Fairfield's Main Street.

A picnic supper is scheduled followed by a meeting in the Camas County courthouse. Robert Grubbs, Bilas, president of the Northside club, whose members come from most of the towns north of the Snake River, says an interesting program is being planned.

GETS GRANT WASHINGTON, D.C. — Idaho

State University will receive $37,000 from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration for a law enforcement education program. Cong. Orval Hansen announced today.

Honored

TUTTLE — Bob A. Robinson, Tuttle rancher and a well-known rodeo man, is being honored today as grand marshal of the rodeo parade in Pocatello. He was invited to also attend the kick off breakfast there.

SON ENLISTS

RICHFIELD — Bill Johnston left Tuesday for Boise after enlisting in the Air Force. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Johnston, Richfield, and attended the College of Southern Idaho the past two years. He will take his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Coed's Thesis Is Richfield History

RICHFIELD — Memories of her home town prompted a college history student to write her graduation thesis on the subject of Richfield, daughter of Richfield mail carrier and Mrs. Conner, wrote the history of a typical frontier town as her thesis. She graduated this year from the University of Idaho, with a degree in elementary education.

Known as the tract of a thousand farms, Richfield started out as just land where stock wintered on the plains in winter and summered in the hills and mountains to the north. Miss Conner, wrote. She told of only small tracts of land being farmed in the early days on Little Wood and Big Wood Rivers before the construction of Magic Dam.

Indians spent the summers between Richfield and Carey areas and moved southward to Bliss and Hagerman, when the first frost came, to the Snake River area. The nearest Indian fight was on Bradley Hill, north of Picoabo, about 18 miles from Richfield. Bradley, a wagon train driver, and four other white men are buried on top of the hill named after Bradley. Little and Big Wood River areas and Silver Creek were the heart of Shoshone and Bannock Indian territory. They were on the move through that country and Flint Butte, a long time site for arrowhead hunters the past 50 years.

Construction of Magic Dam was started in 1906 by the Idaho Irrigation Co. and the dam and planned sale of farm land was called the Big Wood River project. The dam site and canals, and location centers for the section lines were mapped out.

After much Eastern advertising, arrangements were made by June 22, 1907, for purchase of farm land. Location was decided by the drawing method from applications made by persons over 21 years of age, married women excluded, who were citizens of the United States. The first name drawn had 24 hours to select a 160-acre site. The man was named Motherall and his choice was the ranch now owned by Mont Johnson, located on the north city limits of Richfield.

The second name drawn had second choice, and on down to the last name taking what was left. A total of 40,000 acres made up the original tract. The price was fixed at 50 cents per acre paid to the State, and $50.00 per acre for water paid to the Idaho Irrigation Co. Residence had to be established within six months after notice was given of water delivery and final proof made within three years.

Lack of funds slowed the water project and more land was put up for sale to finance the dam. Millionaire Charles Hernshiem, New York City, wanted to finance the project himself to keep the water solely for Richfield, but he was voted down. He was one of three men originally involved in the Richfield tract project. By this time many settlers had arrived in the area and shipped their stock and belongings to Richfield by railroad.

Since no water was then available many had to leave. After Magic Dam was completed Richfield still did not have enough water in some years until the American Falls Canal came into use. This supplied the extra water for the enlarged tract in the short water years, which the New York millionaire had foreseen. Richfield was first called Alberta after the first child born in Richfield, Alberta Strunk. Later the name was changed by promoters as Richfield sounded like a better selling name for encouraging possible settlers.

Water for home use was first supplied for Richfield's collection of houses by barrels hauled from Little Wood River. It cost 25 cents to 75 cents per barrel. Later a pump house was built on the river bank and

County Commissioners To Select New Health Board

Commissioners from eight south central Idaho counties will meet July 20 in Jerome to select a new board of health for the local South Central Idaho Health District.

County Commissioner William Chancey, Twin Falls, said the new board will include seven men instead of the present nine, although it will represent the same eight counties and the city of Twin Falls.

One physician but no more may serve on the board and it will be the duty of the commissioners from the eight counties to decide on the seven members and the areas they will represent.

Schools On Highway 30 Pose Twin Falls Safety Problem

Traffic safety problems resulting from the routing of U.S. Highway 30 through Twin Falls on Second Avenue, East and North past two grade schools are currently under study by city, state and school officials.

Only a block away is Main Avenue with a 35 miles per hour speed limit and many of the children have also been crossing this through the years.

Mr. Chancey said efforts will be made to represent all parts of the district. He said there can be no more than four members of any one political party.

All three agencies will be cooperating in a program designed to provide the greatest possible safety measures for the youngsters at the most enforceable traffic regulations. Plans have been under study for some time. City Manager Jean Millar said, and will be discussed with school officials and possibly state highway department representatives at the coming city council meeting next Monday.

The city manager said it is not likely a crossing officer will be on duty at the two grade schools but school safety patrol services will continue.

Financing of the district is now on a basis of health department levies from each of the counties and the city of Twin Falls on a per capita basis. A similar system will be followed under the new system with commissioners from the counties continuing to control the budget making for the district. Again each county in the district will be assessed on a basis of population and assessed valuation.

Magic Valley

Gooding Preparing For Fair Aug. 9-12

GOODING — Premium books for the Gooding County Fair, Aug. 9-12, are ready and can be obtained at the county agent's office, reports Walter Higgins, fair board chairman.

Plans for better than usual fair were made at a board meeting here Tuesday night.

The next meeting set for 8 p.m. July 28 at the county agent's office.

A queen's dance is scheduled for the night of Aug. 1 with music to be provided by the Eash band. Another dance is slated for Aug. 12, the last night of the fair.

Mr. Chancey said the revision of the health department on a state wide basis was called for by the Idaho legislature and was patterned largely from the South Central Idaho District.

He had the only successfully functioning health district in the state, Mr. Chancey said, and the legislature divided the state into districts, leaving ours at its original size and requiring only minimum changes here.

In most areas each county previously worked separately with minimum health services resulting, local commissioners said.

Center At Buhl Sets Benefit

Mr. Millar said there is the possibility of fencing playground areas to discourage children running into the street at undersigned points. All parking will be eliminated from both sides of the street during school hours, he said, which will prevent obscuring children who are about to cross the streets.

Athletic Fund Upped At Wendell

WENDELL — Wendell school trustees have approved an additional $210 for additional athletic transportation for the coming school year.

Council Yogi Behrens asked trustees at the Monday night meeting for an increase in the athletic budget, after explaining the cost of transportation which includes football, basketball, track and wrestling.

A request to form an Agriculture Advisory Council was approved. The request was made by Jim Benson. Trustees also discussed the agricultural curriculum and programs.

Principal Will Spalding presented the proposed class schedule for the high school. Trustees also:

both Tuesday and Wednesday nights of the fair, with Monday night to feature drill team competition, sponsored this year by the sheriff's posse.

A 4-H home economics demonstration contest is scheduled for July 29 preceding the fair.

Richfield Will Hire Motorcycle Teacher

RICHFIELD — Plans to hire a second grade teacher were made by the Richfield school board members at the Monday night July meeting.

Due to small classes no second grade teacher was hired last year with several lower grade teachers taking part of the class. This year the grade had been scheduled to be taught by the third grade teacher with the third and fourth grade teachers.

Plans were also made for purchase of a new school bus and seven light units for the halls. Wendell King, school custodian, was given permission to take part of his vacation this month.

Motorcycle Crash Hurts Area Man

HEYBURN — A Heyburn man remains in critical condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital from head injuries he received Sunday when he was apparently thrown from a motorcycle.

Frank Balles, 34, has been unconscious since he was discovered about 3 a.m. Sunday, lying face down on a roadway south of his home on 30W.

State police Tom Thompson doesn't know the details of the accident, but as soon as Mr. Balles lost control of the motorcycle he was driving, it veered off the road.

Family members report that Mr. Balles incurred a brain concussion, a broken jaw and a broken arm.

Approved attendance at the State Coaches meeting in Sun Valley Aug. 3-7 for coaches Bohrens, Jim Hindcock and Ed Otton.

Approved hourly wages for custodial employees.

Voted to make school facilities available for adult use on Wednesday evenings.

Discussed state sponsored health and accident policy coverage for teachers.

Discussed state trustee and superintendent meetings to be held in Sun Valley Aug. 12-14.

Guest

HAGERMAN — Gov. Don Samuelson will be a featured guest at the Hagerman Pioneer Day, July 24, where he will participate in the parade at 11 a.m. and will speak just prior to the rodeo at 1:30 p.m.

Gov. Samuelson will pay a tribute to the early pioneers of Idaho.

Coed's Thesis Is Richfield History

Richfield started out as just land where stock wintered on the plains in winter and summered in the hills and mountains to the north. Miss Conner, wrote. She told of only small tracts of land being farmed in the early days on Little Wood and Big Wood Rivers before the construction of Magic Dam.

Indians spent the summers between Richfield and Carey areas and moved southward to Bliss and Hagerman, when the first frost came, to the Snake River area. The nearest Indian fight was on Bradley Hill, north of Picoabo, about 18 miles from Richfield. Bradley, a wagon train driver, and four other white men are buried on top of the hill named after Bradley. Little and Big Wood River areas and Silver Creek were the heart of Shoshone and Bannock Indian territory. They were on the move through that country and Flint Butte, a long time site for arrowhead hunters the past 50 years.

Construction of Magic Dam was started in 1906 by the Idaho Irrigation Co. and the dam and planned sale of farm land was called the Big Wood River project. The dam site and

Undeclared Intrepid Tops Valiant

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—The yacht Intrepid remained undefeated in her race Tuesday with Valiant in the America's Cup observation trials off Newport.

Intrepid, which beat her rival by 1 minute 44 seconds, remains the only unbeaten vessel in the observation trial series and is the apparent leader for the honor of cup defender.

Intrepid maintained her lead throughout the race, although Valiant raised a protest flag at the second mark.

As the American contestants battled it out in Rhode Island Sound, the French cup challenger France remained in port to celebrate Bastille Day.

Neil Peirson, president of the Newport Shipyard, presented the crew of the France with a cake topped with the French tricolor.

Larry Babierback became the first Cowboy hurler to complete a game, withstanding a three-run second inning to do it.

The Cowboys scored an unearned run on Jack Pierce's double in the first inning but Caldwell's Cal White tied it leading off the second inning with a long homer.

But in the bottom of the second, Tom Heierle doubled and Tom Cox drew a walk to get things started.

Coaxed home a Cowboys run in the third to offset a run-scoring hit by Caldwell's Dennis Odum in the top of the frame.

The Cowboys iced it in the fourth when Ruiz doubled, Jim Negelesin singled and Jack Pierce and Marc Mengo followed with homers.

In the opener, Caldwell started ripping the ball in the third inning and didn't quit.

Highlighting the Cub attack was the four-for-five hitting with five RBIs by Pete LaCock who had a single, two-doubles and a homer.

LaCock actually wound up on third on his second double but was sent back to second due to a ground rule. Otherwise, he had the rare cycle.

Rose Scores In 12th On Hickman's Single For Eighth Straight

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Pete Rose, Cincinnati's home town hero, lashed over catcher Ray Fosse at home plate to score on Jim Hickman's single in the 12th inning Tuesday night and give the National League its eighth straight All-Star victory, 5-4, over the American League.

MORGANNA ROBERTS struck out in the all-star game Tuesday night as she failed to kiss a ballplayer. But it was that hit which led to victory. Rose drilled a two-out single in the 12th inning off leading pitcher Clyde Wright of the California Angels, then moved to second on a single by Bill Grabarkewitz of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

When Hickman of the Chicago Cubs lashed a single to center field, Rose came around third like an express train, had the throw by center fielder Amos Otis beaten anyway, but charged into Fosse and sent him sprawling to insure the tally.

It was a heartbreaking loss for the American Leaguers, who have not won an All-Star game since 1962 and have lost all six extra-inning games. The N. L. now holds a 23-17 edge in the series.

For eight innings, this was a game completely dominated by the American League, which took a 4-1 lead into the last of the ninth. Carl Yastrzemski, the MVP of the game, had four hits and Brooks Robinson a two-run triple to pace the losers.

But Dick Dietz's homer leading off the ninth started a three-run rally that sent the game into extra innings and it was decided by the three consecutive two-out singles in the 12th by Rose, Grabarkewitz and Hickman.

Rose, who grew up in Cincinnati and has fulfilled his ambition of becoming the first singles hitter to reach the $100,000 salary plateau, had walked and struck out in his two previous at bats after replacing Hank Aaron.

Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, the other two Red sluggers in the lineup, were both 0-3 and had struck out a total of five times.

But the Cincinnati fans, who sat on their hands most of the game until the ninth inning, got a chance to do their yelling when Rose sprawled across Fosse at the plate.

Fosse, who scored the A.L.'s first run and drove in the second with a sacrifice fly, was taken to a hospital after the game for X-rays on his right shoulder.

Ironically, it was Fosse who topped the pitchers' domination of the game in the sixth inning. The 23-year-old Cleveland catcher didn't finish in the top six in the balloting by the fans but was added to the roster by A.L. Manager Earl Weaver because of his .312 batting average.

Fosse was sacrificed to second by Sam McDowell on a 1-2 pitch and Vastrzemski, who became the third man in history to get four hits in an All-Star game, drove him in with his second single.

PETE ROSE of the National League scores the winning run in the 12th inning Tuesday night on Jim Hickman's single to center. Rose scored from second and knocked Cleveland Indians' catcher Ray Fosse down in the process as the National League trimmed the American League 5-4—the eighth straight NL win. (UPI telephoto)

Rose, Fosse Both Injured On Play At Plate In 12th

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Pete Rose, who scored the winning run in Tuesday night's All-Star game, said he was sorry he had to knock catcher Ray Fosse sprawling on the play "but if I had slid in there I would have broken both legs."

Rose tallied the winning run from second base on a single by Jim Hickman of the Cubs, driving head first into Fosse at home plate. The Cleveland Indians catcher was taken to Christ Hospital for X-rays of his right shoulder.

Rose claimed that Fosse "was a couple of feet in front of the plate."

Rose injured his left knee on the play and Bill Cooper, the Reds' trainer, said he would not know for another 24 hours whether Cincinnati's peppercot right fielder might be sidelined.

Rose's feat came after innings of frustration for Cincinnati's "Big Red Machine" in the new ballpark where they have been running away with the National League's Western Division race.

"The Big Red Machine ran out of gas tonight," Rose laughed. He referred to the seven strikeouts recorded against him and his Cincinnati Red teammates, Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, before Rose singled to ignite the game-winning rally.

Asked if he felt any special pressure from playing before President Nixon, Rose replied, "I was a lot more worried about what the Cincinnati fans would think than about the President being there."

"After all, we have to play before these folks a lot more games this year," the Reds' outfielder said. "This may be the last time the President sees us play this year."

Jim Hickman of the Cubs, who delivered the game-winning single, newly arrived too late for the All-Star game. The Chicago veteran, considered a journeyman ballplayer until this season, did not get to Cincinnati until 5 p.m. due to airplane mechanical trouble.

"It was a little surprised I even got picked for the team," he told reporters. "There were a couple of guys they could have picked ahead of me."

including my teammate Billy Williams. "This has to be the highlight of my career," the tall Tennessee said. "Clyde Wright just put a fast ball where I wanted it."

Lefthander Claude Osteen of the Los Angeles Dodgers was kidded by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn about "being probably the first winning pitcher of an All-Star game to come into the game as a pinch runner."

Osteen was warming up in the bullpen when summoned by manager Gil Hodges to run for Willie McCovey after the San Francisco Giants' first baseman had singled.

Opening lead: ♠K

At this point, all South knows about the opponent's cards is that West holds the Jack of diamonds. He also knows that only one opponent can stop hearts. Which is the one? If it is West, he can develop a simple squeeze against him by cashing the last spade and the ace and king of clubs. Everyone will be down to four cards and West will have to throw away his heart guard to keep the diamond jack.

It is more likely that East is long in hearts. Not very much more, but just enough to make it worth while to see what can be done about that.

A double squeeze can be developed if that is the case. South runs off his top hearts and goes to dummy with the king of clubs. Then he leads dummy's last spade. East must go down to one club to keep the heart jack. Now South discards his little heart and West must also go down to one club to keep diamond control. South's ace and nine of clubs win the last two tricks.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♠	Pass	1♠	Pass
1♠	Pass	Pass	Double

You, South, hold:

♠2 ♥AK54 ♦Q842 ♣KJ97

What do you do now?

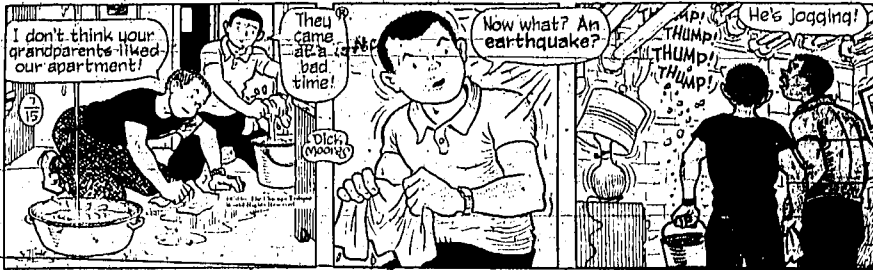

A—Pass. West is trying to shut you out. Let him do so.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three spades, West has passed. North bids three hearts. What do you do now?

PASS IT ON by L.M. Boyd

IF SOMIHA LOREN had not already made public knowledge of it, I wouldn't report the fact she has the biggest foot along all the leading glades of the world... HIGH-PITCHED SOUNDS can extinguish a flame. Knowing this, the inventors are trying to come up with a noise box that fire departments can use instead of water hoses.

MORALS — Ohio State University researchers conducted a study about how our morals change with age. The older we get, they concluded, the more tolerant we become about reports of extramarital affairs, but the less tolerant we become about reports of mercy killings. That makes sense, to quote the little old lady on laxatives.

OPEN QUESTION — Why is it about four times as many boys as girls have serious trouble with reading?

A WRITER OF religious opinion contends, "Woman's primary function is to bear children." Is that a fact? Thought the Bible said Eve was created mainly to keep Adam company... YOU'VE HEARD OF Frank Sinatra. And Rudy Vallee. And Glenn Miller. And maybe even Russ Columbo. But have you ever heard of George B. Evans? He made them famous.

THE NEW WEST — Dip a branding iron in liquid nitrogen and its temperature will drop way below zero. It'll leave a mark on a calf's hide just as though it were red hot. But it doesn't hurt as much. This relatively recent discovery highly pleases the humane society folk. I'm told they're asking cattlemen nationwide to quick cold brand instead of burn.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q. "What states are growing fastest in population?" A. Over the last 10 years: Nevada, Arizona and California. In that order... Q. "Have there been a lot of Siamese twins?" A. A lot born, yes. Happens about every 50,000 births. However, in all history only about 300 have survived more than a few days.

PERSONAL NOTE — It was just 100 years ago that the first rubber nursing nipple was put on a baby's bottle. Long time back, that. As a lad on the farm I once found a box of old cow horns in the attic. They had been used as baby's bottles, it was said, before the unnatural nipple came along.

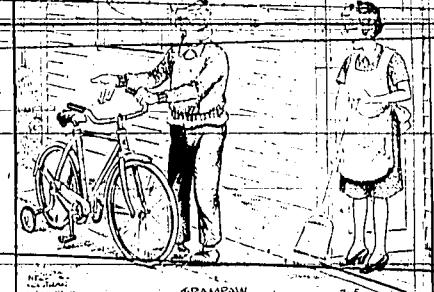

RAPID REPLY — Yes, sir, the town of Liberty, Texas, was founded by Frenchmen who intended it to be the military headquarters from which Napoleon was to conquer Mexico.

Galley 'Running On Record' For T.F. Prosecutor's Post

Robert Galley, incumbent candidate for prosecuting attorney, said today "Other than my opening statement that I would seek re-election, I have refrained from answering the harangues of my two opponents."

"But," he continued, "I do think a statement from me is now in order. Since I stated I would run on my record, that record should be accurately reported to the public."

"Mr. (Golden) Bennett is taking advantage of the fact he has no primary race, to take potshots at me. I will reserve answering Mr. Bennett until after the primary, except for this observation: Why is Mr. Bennett promoting Mr. (Leon) Smith as the best candidate, when Mr. Smith has very little trial experience and is defense oriented, as is Mr. Bennett?"

Mr. Bennett is the lone Democratic candidate and Mr. Galley and Mr. Smith both are seeking the nomination on the Republican ticket.

There are two issues, Mr. Galley said, in the Republican primary: "First, whether or not there should be vigorous prosecution of criminal wrongs in the community, and, secondly, whether the good of the county can be better handled by me, with my five years experience in this office or by Mr. Smith, who has very little experience in court or in managing an office?"

Mr. Smith has made it pretty clear that he thinks I prosecute too many cases. He stated only one of three felony defendants who have gone to trial since I took office have been convicted. "This is incorrect," Mr. Galley said. "A check with district court records for this period showed 12 felony defendants convicted and eight acquitted. Mr. Smith says this is too low and a prosecutor should have a record of at least 80 to 90 per cent convictions."

"I submit this shows Mr. Smith's defense oriented background and could only be accomplished by usurping the function of the jury and dismissing most of the cases filed. It is interesting to note all four people to have run against me the past two elections have come from the three Twin Falls firms who specialize in criminal defense," Mr. Galley said.

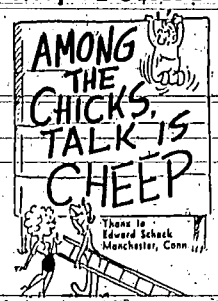

"Mr. Smith also has stated," Mr. Galley said, "that 50 per cent of the felonies brought during my term of office were acquitted at preliminary hearings. I don't know what point he is trying to make since the purpose of the preliminary hearing is to eliminate the very weak cases. The point is that these figures were not correct. Mr. Smith recently conceded that these figures were only for the Probate Court.

"Mr. Smith should know that there are four lower courts that hold preliminaries, and the Police Court handles more felonies than the Probate Court. He also should know that a defendant is not acquitted at a preliminary hearing. This happens at trial only," Mr. Galley said.

"I am running on my record, therefore, I want that record to be quoted correctly," Mr. Galley concluded.

Rupert Man Cited After Accident

RUPERT — Chad B. Maxey, 34, Rupert, was cited by State Patrolman Gordon Mills for making an improper turn after a two-vehicle accident at 8:40 p. m. Monday east of Heyburn at the Wayside Inn.

The officer said Mr. Maxey was driving a 1964 Ford tractor-trailer, owned by the Bruneau Sheep Co., and was attempting to turn left from the outside lane of State Highway 24. The center of his trailer collided with a 1968 Dodge driven by Mrs. Patricia Ann Cole, 23, Rupert.

Miss Cole received minor injuries, but was not treated, officers reported. The tractor-trailer was not damaged, but damage was estimated at $1,500 to the car.

years with the company, he operated at the Clear Lakes, Thousand Springs and old Malad plants as well as at the old Lower Salmon plant and the present Lower Salmon plant. He assisted in erecting the colored lights at Shoshone Falls.

In his early years with the company, he assisted with the construction at American Falls and at Shoshone Falls plants. He also helped build distribution lines in the Twin Falls area. After leaving the company for a short time, he returned in 1932 and was assigned to the Lower Salmon and Malad plants where he remained until his retirement.

He and his wife, Ruth, are the parents of four children — three sons, Lonnie, Hagerman; Tommy, Thousand Springs Power plant, Wendell; and Tony, Indianapolis, Ind.; and

CROWDED HONEYMOON

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI)—When John Smith, 30, goes on his honeymoon with his fiancée, Carol Sheppard, 23, next week, he'll take along her parents. "I get on so well with Carol's parents that I agreed right away they should come on our honeymoon," he said.

Anybody can make a hard liquor.

A soft whiskey is something else.

The difference between hard liquor and soft whiskey is more than just a matter of taste. What makes Calvert Extra soft is the way it is distilled and blended. So while soft whiskey has a unique taste, it is also as smooth and mellow as the best imported Scotch and Canadian. It took us many years and thousands of experiments to develop the unique taste of soft whiskey. It wasn't easy. But we think you'll agree it was worth it.
