Knights Of Columbus State Officers And District Deputies Meeting Here

State Council officers and district deputies of Knights of Columbus began a two-day meeting in Twin Falls Saturday to map plans for organization activities during the coming year and prepare for attendance at the national convention in Houston, Tex., later this year.

Of special interest during the meeting was the discussion of the Knights of Columbus Auxiliary, which was organized for wives of local members. This is the first such auxiliary organization in the nation and Supreme Officers from New Haven, Conn., have indicated an interest in making it a nationwide organization. Paul Reynolds, Grand Knight, Twin Falls Council 1416, welcomed the state and district officials to Twin Falls and conducted a tour of the local Parish Hall and Knights of Columbus chambers. He also discussed local council activities including a report on the auxiliary unit. Francis J. Karol, Twin Falls, who was elected state deputy during the annual convention in Cottonwood, addressed delegates and conducted the business meeting. He is the first state deputy to be named from Twin Falls in more than 30 years. George Sidel, Twin Falls, served in the top state office of the Knights of Columbus in 1941. Newly elected state officers in addition to Mr. Karol, are Frank Harestien, Moscow, state secretary; John E. Mitchell, Boise, past state deputy; John M. Danlher, Idaho Falls, state advocate; John P. Stanton, Boise, state treasurer and council fraternal chairman, and James Vergobbi, Kellogg, state warden.

Court In T.F. To Test Drunk Driving Mandatory Jail Term

A hearing in Fifth District Court before Judge Theron Ward on July 28 will provide Idaho's first formal test of the controversial law requiring a jail sentence upon conviction of driving while intoxicated. Twin Falls County Prosecutor William Galloy has filed a petition for a writ of mandate against Probate Judge Eugene L. McCoy, asking that Judge McCoy be required to comply with the state law. The Probate Judge has declined, seeking a test of the law's constitutionality. He sentenced Ernesto Pedraza Medina, of Twin Falls, to 30 days in jail and assessed a fine of $125 on June 24, then suspended the jail sentence and part of the fine. The law passed by the 1970

Idaho Legislature requires a 10-day jail sentence for all drunken-driving convictions, and gives individual judges no choice in ordering the jail time. The 10-day sentence must be served at one time, with no allowance for weekend sentences, as Idaho judges are fond of allowing, according to Mr. Galloy. Judge McCoy has said he believed that the individual judges should be allowed to determine punishment for any conviction, and that the legislative branch of state government should not intervene in the judicial branch by ordering a specific punishment. Judge Ward granted an alternative writ of mandate, ordering Judge McCoy either to levy the 10-day sentence against Mr. Medina, or show cause in court why he did not. The July 28 hearing has been scheduled to allow Judge McCoy to explain his position, Mr. Galloy said. The lawsuit is of a "friendly" nature, Mr. Galloy said. There is no malice against Judge McCoy; the suit has been sought by both Judge McCoy and Mr. Galloy to determine the constitutionality of the state requirement. Judge McCoy has indicated he may appeal the case to a higher court if Judge Ward does not rule in his favor. The hearing will begin at 1 p.m. in Judge Ward's courtroom.

RECOGNIZE THIS BUSINESS executive? Who else but Harold Hove, banking official, would observe crazy days in Twin Falls complete with new wig and antique glasses that have again become fashionable with the "hippie" set? Mr. Hove collected a number of comments and took plenty of ribbing with his new hair and "mod" attire.

We Know Everything's Strange On Krazy Days, But This Is Ridiculous

A certain Twin Falls bank executive probably had more fun on "crazy days" Friday and Saturday than anyone in town. Harold Hove, wearing a straw-bowery-blond wig, "hippie" length, or a bit shorter, spent much of Friday greeting friends and waiting to see if they recognized him.

Some did, but quite a few more did not. His ensemble also included a bright sports jacket he purchased in Hawaii and had never had the nerve to wear, white shoes, trousers and tie. A pair of tiny, metal framed glasses that once belonged to his great-grandfather helped with the disguise.

Those who saw him in the bank generally recognized him, Mr. Hove said, but on the street it was a different story. Several friends greeted him politely and walked away, while others waited until his back was turned and then began laughing.

One young man with long hair met him face to face and turned his head away, declining to look at the long-haired businessman. Fitted at one of the leading wig salons in Twin Falls for his new hair, Mr. Hove says he plans to keep it for future occasions. Among other things he plans to send a photograph of himself in the wig to his mother, without any explanation, of course.

Service, Water, Safety Plans

City Council members of Twin Falls face a busy agenda when they meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. with items for discussion including an ordinance for escort service in the city, a policy on water service in low pressure areas and school traffic safety plans.

School District 411 representatives are expected to meet with the council regarding traffic control measures around Black and Lincoln Schools because of the routing of U.S. 30 through Twin Falls and past the two grade schools.

A resolution for agreement with the Idaho Department of Highways on traffic signal operation for Shoshone Street and Second Avenues East and North will also be presented and the city is expected to award a five-year sanitation service contract. Bids were opened Thursday afternoon.

Council members will also be asked to approve monthly off-street parking stall rental rates and collection policies for new downtown area parking lots where such rentals will be made available.

An Urban Renewal Agency board member will be named to a five-year term and a tax levy ordinance, setting the 1970 levy for city tax collections will also be adopted.

A petition from residents in the Harry Barry Park area, asking for discontinuation of little league baseball play, because of the small park size will be discussed. Bids will be called for petroleum products and vehicular accessories for the city.

There are more than 500 species of song birds in California.

Judge Frees Woman Held On Forgery Count

Gilberta Cayle Keeler was released following a writ of habeas corpus hearing in Fifth Judicial District Court Friday after Judge James M. Cunningham ruled the woman was being held under improper jurisdiction.

She was apprehended in Twin Falls on a forgery charge and held for court action. Judge Cunningham ordered Sheriff Paul Cordeur to release the woman from custody, stating jurisdiction for the forgery charge rests with California, and Idaho authorities have no right to hold the woman on a crime committed in another state.

In arguments by defense attorney Rudolf Barbach and prosecutor, Robert Galley, it was brought out the woman had allegedly forged a check in California on the account of her sister, who resides in Buhl.

Judge Cunningham said although evidence indicated a crime had been committed, a person cannot be held in one state for a crime committed in another, although the individuals defrauded may be in Idaho.

IT LOOKS LIKE a tangled bunch of knots, but this Peruvian "quipu" held a vital role in the life of pre-Columbian Peru, according to Norman Herrett of Herrett's Arts and Sciences Museum. It includes an extremely complex series of lengths of twines with an intricate series of knots tied at intervals. The knots carried vital information for ancient Peruvians—but just what information has yet to be determined.

Ancient Peruvian Village 'Memory' Is Acquired By Herrett's Museum

Herrett's Museum of Twin Falls needs several expert seamstresses for an unusual task—to help mount a priceless artifact of ancient Peru for display.

The Peruvian "quipu" (pronounced kee-poo), recently obtained from Peru by Norman Herrett, owner of Herrett's Arts and Science Museum, may well represent the end of an era for historians—the current military government of Peru has slammed the door on any further exportation of artifacts. There will be no more Indian relics from Peru—at least until the government changes again, Mr. Herrett said.

The quipu is a series of lengths of what appear to be heavy cord, intricately arranged and carrying an extremely complex series of knots at intervals.

Each series of knots carried a message for the ancient Peruvians; the number of tiny knots, from one to nine, making up the larger "message" knot, and the location of the knots along the twine, acted much as a Chinese abacus in carrying information.

"We don't know what they meant," Mr. Herrett said. "They (the knots) may have told how many people lived in a Peruvian village—similar to today's census forms—or how many llamas were in a certain herd, or any similar information."

Each Peruvian village had its own quipu as the village "memory"—much as today's Americans will tie a string around your finger to remember," Mr. Herrett said. The village quipu was carefully kept in a dry location, away from the light so it would not deteriorate.

One man of each village was appointed as the "quipu-keeper," and he devoted his entire life to maintaining the record-carried in the intricate knots. The quipu-keeper would pass along the knowledge he carried to his son, maintaining a family tradition.

Peruvian quipus are occasionally seen in small parts; the entire quipu has been almost impossible to obtain, until Mr. Herrett was fortunate enough to obtain an original quipu, whole and uncut. It will be placed on display in his museum as an addition to his many Indian artifacts.

Mr. Herrett needs several seamstresses to help fasten the many cords of the quipu on a cloth so it can be mounted in a display. The seamstresses should be able to blind-stitch the cords, and must be willing to donate their time for the good of all in the valley, especially the children who flock through the museum by the thousands.

T.F. Woman Seeks Help For Disturbed Person

Editor, Times-News: Why should a young boy be required to testify against his father when he doesn't want to, when he is distressed over the recent death of his sister and when his own doctor recommended, in writing, against it?

I, too, am disgusted! I'm disgusted with the manner that the case, State of Idaho versus Robert Francis, has been handled—for the past five months. It has been twisted to suit personal grudges rather than legitimate purposes.

The law enforcement system of Twin Falls needs a "slap in the face."

Every wife and mother should, under circumstances such as these, stop, think and ask herself, "Just what is my civic duty?"

we have need for additional urban, industrial, and recreational water. We must have a state administration that is informed and will work to protect our water resources.

Water would be available for the Mexican treaty from sources other than the Snake River. These include Northern California, the headwaters of the Missouri, and a major desalination plant on the ocean shore. The way for us to keep Snake River water is to prove that we do have need of it, and that we are well-organized and capable of protecting our rights.

Legislator States Position On Issues

Editor, Times-News: I find in visiting with friends that some people misunderstood a recent press release which I issued concerning the development of our Idaho water resources. I totally oppose any move to take water out of the Snake River Basin for the Colorado River or any other outside use. I did point out to Idaho voters that the federal Congress has already decided that the entire nation would be obligated to supply the two million acre feet of water annually to the nation of Mexico. This is in accordance with a long-standing legal treaty with that nation.

If we are to avoid loss of water from the Snake River, we must be prepared to show that we can and will use the water in Idaho. If we are not aware of the threat and the legal problems involved, we could lose the water—this is the point I have been trying to make. (The late Charles Herndon was correct when he said "Use it or lose it." It is my position that there will be no diversions.

As Idaho develops, we will have many places where the water will be needed. We have three to five million acres of new land that can be irrigated;

Murtaugh Water Skiing Group Hosts Cruise

BY NORMA HERZINGER
Women's Editor

Doing whatever you please and being pleased by whatever you do — can make a rewarding day. And, what could be more pleasant than a fun day in the sun with family and friends.

You can fit a lot of things into one day — especially if you start off bright and early in the morning prepared for a full-day of activity.

Ardent water skiing and boating enthusiasts affiliated with the Murtaugh Lake Water Skiing Association did just that last Sunday. They gathered at Perrino Memorial Bridge very early that morning to make their way, caravan style, to Snake River south of Hammatt where they launched boats for their annual boat cruise to Strike Dam.

When they arrived at the river the wind was almost enough to make them turn around and go home — but, not more than four or five miles down the river, the wind subsided and the river was beautiful.

Several of the members took their trailer-campers and boats to the dam picnic area the night before and were ready to start skiing when the group arrived. And ski they did — all day long.

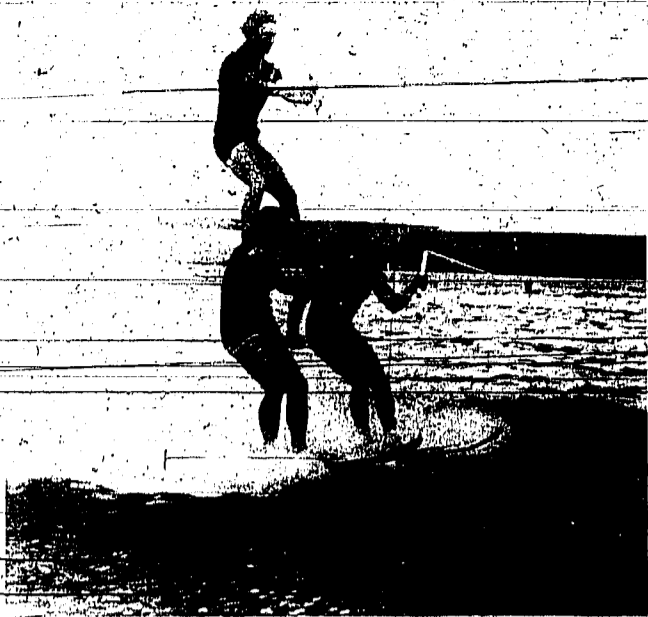

Although I have made this boat trip several times before, this was the first time with this group — and was amazed at the skiing ability displayed. Being strictly a boating enthusiast, I find it fascinating to watch skiers "do their thing" on two skis let alone one — to say nothing of the ability displayed by two brothers, Ted and Bill Dean, who skied barefoot.

Boating and skiing aren't just for adults. As many youngsters as adults participated in the day's activities, stopping long enough to eat, then off again.

They were ready to start back up the river early evening, a bit more tired than when they started out, but nevertheless, skiing all the way back to where the boats were taken out of the water.

The Murtaugh club was originated to maintain Murtaugh Lake for a better boating and skiing area for family and friends. This they have done, and use the facilities frequently.

Officers representing this fine group are Ted Dean, president; Dave Allen, vice president, and Ilene Murphy, secretary.

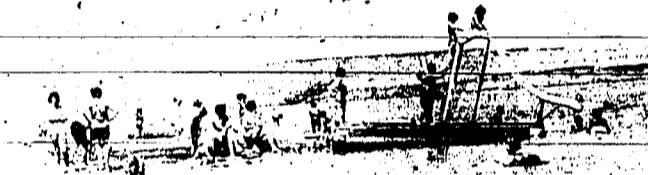

IT'S MORE DIFFICULT than it looks as Bill Dean, left, and Dave Allen ski with Randy Walters standing on their shoulders. They were among those participating in a Murtaugh Water Skiing Association outing Sunday.

ENTERTAINING FRIENDS and wife, Carol, seated, is Kelly Lookingbill as he demonstrates a story and its outcome. Carol and Kelly are extremely good water skiers and participate in many of the club's activities.

Women's Section

CHILDREN AND ADULTS alike enjoy the swimming facilities at Strike Dam and were among the many attending the Murtaugh Water Skiing Association's annual picnic gathering.

WATCHING THE WATER skiers and swimmers and chatting about the day's activities are, from left, Bonnie Hallner, Mrs. Bill Dean and Mrs. Kelly Lookingbill. Several of the club members look their trailer-campers and boats to the picnic site the night before and were ready to begin skiing when the group arrived.

CAUGHT UNAWARE of the camera are several of those enjoying their day in the sun, along with the many, many more boating and skiing, stopping long enough to eat — then off again. The group bathed at Perrino Memorial Bridge and drove, caravan style, to Snake River south of Hammatt where they put their boats in the water for the annual cruise to Strike Dam. Officers for the Murtaugh Water Skiing Association are Ted Dean, president; Dave Allen, vice president, and Ilene Murphy, secretary.

Mrs. Bowman Honored As Monthly Queen

HANSEN - Mrs. Paul Bowman was honored monthly queen at the Slim and Tim TOPS Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Stoelamith. There were no qualifying quarterly queens.

This was the anniversary of the club's organization, so charter members were honored with corsages. This was the third anniversary of the group and six of the remaining seven members were present including Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Mrs. Fred Howard, Mrs. Ralph Simmons, Mrs. Paul Bowman, Lena Bohm and Mrs. Thomas Stoelamith. There were originally 11 charter members. Each of the charter members gave a short talk on what TOPS meant to her. Mrs. Howard gave a resume of the past three years, with a note that 397 1/2 pounds have been lost during that time.

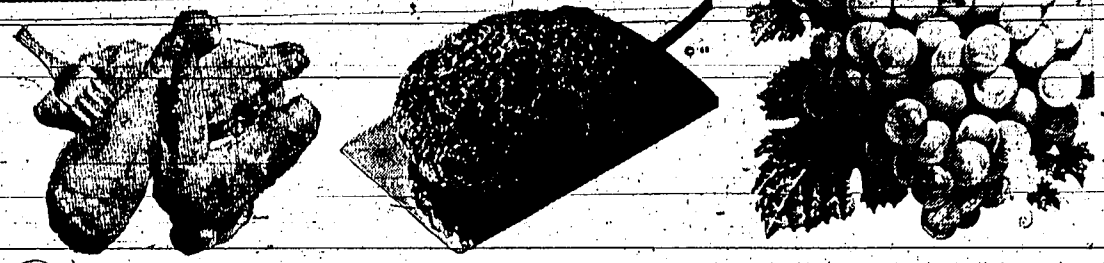

Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Howard planned the charter members part of the program, with Bonnie Ryan making the rose corsages. The first year the club convened, the local group had two state winners, one a second as the runner-up queen, and one a division no. 4 state winner.

Mrs. Margaret McCoy was named best loser for the year, with Mrs. Stoelamith as runner-up.

The leader, Mrs. James Wright, gave the opening thought, "She Who Loves Good Food, Cooks It and Looks It!"

The program chairman announced that each galner at the meeting is to write "I Will Not Overeat," five times each time she is tempted to eat excessive foods. Bonnie Ryan was hostess.

Joanelle Pool, Edwards Exchange Nuptial Promise

HAZELTON — Joanelle Kay Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pool, Hazelton, and Michael Keith Edwards, son of Delmar Edwards, Twin Falls, and the late Mrs. Marguerite Edwards, were united in marriage June 13 at the Valley Presbyterian Church, Hazelton.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William Hlser before a background of lighted blue tapers in twin candelabra, centered with a basket of blue carnations and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white bonded crepe gown, fashioned with a lace trimmed V-shaped neckline, short set-in sleeves, princess lines with soft gathers at the front sides, and an inverted pleat at the back of the skirt. The bride made her gown and also designed and made her floor-length veil which was held in place by a large white crepe bow trimmed with wide lace. She wore a heart necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, as her only jewelry and carried a linen and lace handkerchief which her mother had carried at her wedding. Her cascading bouquet of blue roses was accented with white satin streamers.

Dianne and Cynthia Pool, sisters of the bride, were maid of honor and bridesmaid.

Grant Bodily, Hansen, served as best man and Rocky Metts, groomsmen, Travis Carroll, Twin Falls, nephew of the bridegroom, was usher.

Renee and Judy Carroll, Twin Falls, nieces of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Katie Hansen, college friend of the bride, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Cynthia Pool, soloist.

The newlyweds were honored with a reception after the ceremony in the basement of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over blue satin and was centered with the three-tiered cake, iced in white and decorated with blue roses and sweet peas. It was topped with a large white satin bell and lacy heart. Lighted blue candles flanked the cake. The reception room was decorated with the bride's colors of blue and white.

Mrs. Tom Hohnhorst was head receptionist, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Houska, Mrs. Ray Olson, Mrs. Julia Brown and Mrs. Joe Pharris.

Mrs. Ron Tipton, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

Serving the cake were Rose O'Connor, Jerome, and Peggy Davis, Twin Falls; Rita Holtz, Twin Falls, and Susan Abercrombie, Jerome, served the coffee and punch. Memory scrolls were given to the guests by Lara Downing, Pocatello. Jerl Steinmetz and Mark Hohnhorst received the gifts. Rice bags were distributed by Sue Kircher, Nampa.

Guests attended from Pocatello, Nampa, Ruchfeld, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Hansen, Kimberly, Jerome and Paul. Special guest was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Fred Rutherford, Twin Falls.

The couple took a short wedding trip to Sun Valley and are now residing in Twin Falls, where both are employed. They plan to resume their college studies in the fall.

The bride was honored with a kitchen shower and breakfast given by friends in her dormitory at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom, assisted by his aunts, Mrs. Archie Wheeler, Mrs. Bert Frish and Mrs. Jack Brooks, and his sister, Mrs. Tipton.

CLUB PURCHASES NOTED AT MEET

SHOSHONE — Members of the North Shoshone Home Improvement club decided to purchase an amplifier and speaker at their recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Neph Clark. Mrs. Clifton Dayley, president, will make the purchase which will be used in a game booth at the County 4-H fair in August.

A report was made concerning the death of the club's adopted patient at the Wood River Convalescent Center, Shoshone. A new patient, Mrs. Carrie Henderson, was adopted and a second patient will be adopted at a later date.

The resignation of Mrs. W. H. Daniels, secretary, was accepted and Mrs. Ward Mills was appointed to replace her until the November election of officers.

Mrs. Ladd Hollibaugh, Twin Falls, will demonstrate painting with tube paints at the July 18 meeting.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I rent out part of our home to make ends meet. We have had so much trouble with tenants that we were really pleased when two quiet, well-mannered university students rented our rooms. Everything was fine, until one day my wife decided that they were homosexuals. She had no proof, just a certain feeling. I told her I thought she was nuts because they are both very masculine looking.

Recently while cleaning their room, my wife found several physical culture magazines, featuring male models. I warned her that this kind of snooping was against the law and the magazines didn't prove anything. She claims she wasn't snooping, but that the magazines got into trouble with the police if the boys were arrested, because even the homosexuality between two consenting adults is not a crime in Canada, these boys are minors. I don't want to lose these tenants and I don't want to treat them unfairly on the grounds of suspicion either. Is there any way to tell for sure if the boys are homosexuals? And if they are, what is our legal position?

CANADIAN LANDLORD

DEAR LANDLORD: The only way for you to find out conclusively whether these boys are for girls or each other is to ask them. I don't recommend it as it's none of your business.

Your "legal position" is not affected by the sexual preferences of your tenants so long as their activities are not harmful to others on the premises. If the boys are homosexuals, they have to live some place, and as long as they are good citizens and good tenants, you have no basis for concern.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Helen, the Roman Catholic woman who was in love with a divorced Lutheran, that she DOES NOT have to give up her religion to marry him, and here is why:

The Roman Catholic church does not recognize his marriage as a lawful marriage, hence Helen can marry this Lutheran man in her Roman Catholic church. And since his marriage is not valid, his divorce means nothing to the Catholic church. In other words, this Lutheran is and always was a free man, so he is free to marry her. Ask any Catholic priest if you think I am steering you wrong.

INFORMED

DEAR INFORMED: I felt certain that you were "MISINFORMED" but I asked a Catholic priest anyway. Helen is NOT free to marry her divorced Lutheran lover. In the eyes of the Catholic church he is indeed married and divorced. [P.S. If it's any comfort to you, yours is a common misconception.]

DEAR ABBY: I am disturbed about the letter you received from parents of the junior honor student in college who quit because of pregnancy. The man involved was a graduate student uninterested in marriage because it "didn't fit into his plans," the families' "clergyman" advised they use the story that the daughter's "husband" went to Viet Nam and upon returning was so changed that she divorced him.

I wholeheartedly commend you for denouncing the "clergyman's" advice!

Please tell your readers to reject the counsel of such men when it contradicts the Holy Scriptures. A lie is a lie! God hates it! When "blind" leaders are followed, all fall into the ditch.

This is my 15th year as a pastor. It is sickening to know there are so-called "clergyman" who themselves are not "men of God"—honest and courageous. No wonder people are confused and going astray.

Very sincerely,
Marvin D. Price, pastor
First United Brethren church
Lake Havasu City, Ariz.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69766, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Couple Resides In Pocatello

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Keely are residing at Pocatello where the bridegroom is employed at Food Machinery Corp. The bride is the former Anne Elizabeth Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Wayne Sutton, Midvale, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Keely, Rupert.

The couple was united in marriage during an evening ceremony in the Community Baptist Church, Midvale. Rev. Melvin R. Smith performed the June double-ring ceremony before arched candleabra flanked by pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums, white daisies and pink gladiol accented with pink and aqua bows and streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, repeated her wedding vows wearing a floor-length empire-styled wedding gown of white French marquisette over peau-de-soie trimmed with white eyelet lace over pale pink ribbon. The gown featured long full sleeves and a rounded high neckline. Her chapel train, edged in matching white eyelet, was caught at the neckline. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a large bow accented with seed pearls and daisy petals.

She carried a cascading arrangement of white daisies, lily-of-the-valley and pink roses on a lace covered Annite ribbon with a white ribbon bow and streamers.

Lorna Sutton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Sutton, sister of the bride; Terri Keely, sister of the bridegroom, and Sylvia Baralenc.

Tom Hedrick, Rupert, served as best man. Jim Slaughter, Hot Springs, Mont., Jeff Holmes and Howard Sutton, brother of the bride, were ushers. Tom Sutton, brother of the bride, and Cary Sutton, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters.

The traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Clarence Bluemer at the organ, who also accompanied Mrs. Robert Wiley, soloist.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the multipurpose room at Midvale School.

The bride's table, covered with white lace over aqua satin, was centered with a rectangular four-tiered white wedding cake decorated with scrolls, latticework and pink and aqua daisies. The tiers were separated by Grecian columns and topped with a heart-shaped arch of lace and pearls and a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Bill Jameson, Boise, and Mrs. Buhl Sutton, Midvale, both aunts of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Thomas Holmes, Midvale, and Mrs. Dorothy H. Sweet, aunt of the bride, poured coffee and served punch. A crystal punch bowl on a silver pedestal and a silver coffee service completed the appointments.

Others assisting with the serving were Mrs. Wallace Pickett, Mrs. Virgil Battersell and Mrs. Vernon McClure.

Lorraine Baumann, Shoshone, registered the guests. Tammy Cudd, Boise, and Simone Sutton, cousin of the bride, were in charge of the gifts.

Knye Kelly, cousin of the bride, played classical selections during the reception.

Special guest was Mrs. Ross Abernethy, Twin Falls, grandmother of the bridegroom. Other out-of-town guests attended from Rupert, Coupeville, Ritzville, Grandview and Burien, Wash.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Oregon Coast.

High Styles Go Drip Dry For Italians

ROME (UPI)—The elegant world of Italian high fashion has gone drip dry—American style.

American designers Michael La Mendola and Jack Savage showed the International Fashion Press and buyers in a midnight show Sunday that wash-and-wear synthetics can be used in style year-round.

Their colorful "Four Seasons" collection in value for autumn, red for winter, green for spring and yellow for summer came in chiffon, crepe, satin, pongee, heavy twill and gabardine—all of them made of synthetics or of dacron-cotton blends.

The collection was commissioned by Klopman International, a division of Burlington Industries, to illustrate the uses of their new Italian-made synthetic fabrics made from Du Pont fibers. La Mendola usually works in costlier silks and wool knits.

There was a harem look to abstract print dresses over long harem pants in blue, which teamed with solid blue twill coats.

Even more harem was a beach outfit of beaded bikini and dacron chiffon print coverup in pale yellow. The coverup outfit was a butterfly-sleeved garment with harem pants, the bodice slit to the bottom of the hip and tied at the neck. It would not prevent sunburn.

Daytime dresses come with full sleeves, often swirling out from smocked shoulders. An evening pantsuit in solid chartreuse had a hip-length bodice, solidly smocked, and sleeves and huge pantlegs of knife-pleated chiffon.

Silk twills in red floral prints were made into gowns with double circle skirts, so full and heavy they knocked over floorstanding astrays as the models swirled by.

Onenonsynthetic sneaked into the show—a floor-length green print-evening-gown-with-flared skirt came with a matching tight-sleeved coat which reversed to black ostrich.

Women Are "Sheep" Following Styles

Woman's View By HELEN THOMAS. WASHINGTON (UPI)—Females fighting the advent of the "mild" in fall fashions have a Women's Lib-style champion in the White House. She's 22-year-old Julie Eisenhower, who firmly declares the longer skirts are not for her and she won't wear them.

As Julie sees it, women have become "sheep" in having to follow fashion trends they neither like nor want. She is ready to lead a revolt and sees no reason to toss out her present wardrobe.

Julie's mother, the First Lady, has been the most adventurous as in trying new skirt lengths since last spring. But even she seems uncertain of where she wants her hemline.

Mrs. Nixon has been wearing her hemlines from knee length to two and three inches below. As the summer goes on, both Julie and her sister, Tricia Nixon, 24, have remained holdouts with skirts well above the knees. But it's doubtful they can buck the tide.

Inevitably they are fashion leaders and inevitably they will find the New York and Washington stores showing only the longer lengths.

Julie's complaint is echoed in the White House by most of the young staffers who prefer the miniskirt or at least hemlines slightly above the knee.

Slim, dark-haired Julie Robinson, who is on the First Lady's press staff, says of the longuette: "Are you kidding? I wouldn't be caught dead in them. I don't know anybody on the staff who plans to buy them."

"I don't have the money to buy a new wardrobe. Besides, I don't want to look like Ruby Keeler."

But Julie Eisenhower is becoming more daring and less ingenuous with her hairdos. For the Women's National Press Club's golden anniversary dinner, she wore her hair in an updo evening coiffure of soft curls which was very much admired, especially by her husband.

"I've been trying to get her to wear it up for a long time," said Julie's husband, David.

Jackie Bodenhofer, Brown Exchange Nuptial Promise

GOODING — The Gooding First Christian Church was the setting for the June 12 wedding which united in marriage Jackie Bodenhofer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Bodenhofer, Gooding, and Larry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown, Bliss.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Hake. before background decorations of white peonies tied with blue ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown which she partially fashioned. The floor-length gown of white crepe was enhanced with white daisies scattered about the ruffled collar and sleeves, and featured an empire waistline accented with a bow and a brush train.

Her veil of bridal illusion extended in train fashion to the floor. It was held in place by a emerald headpiece covered with the same fabric as the dress. She carried a bouquet of white baby roses accented with white tulle love hearts and satin ribbons.

By United Press International "Anne of the Thousand Hats", as she is known is the happiest thing that has happened to the millinery industry in London. Anne is the princess, whose penchant for wearing headgear of all shapes and styles has just about revolutionized the millinery scene. All the other Annes and Marys and Victorias Mackay, Ushers were John are copying what she wears. The styles the princess has worn recently range from her pink turban, whose long floating scarf blew across her face when she was in Australia. It provoked an explosive from Anne that was well publicized.

The princess also loves cowboy hats—copies—worn—slantwise and trimmed with leather bands or gilt chains.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace over linen and centered with a tiered wedding cake decorated with pastel blue frosting, white sugar-bells and lilies-of-the-Valley, topped by white satin bells. Heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the couple flanked the large cake.

LoAnn Edwards was in charge of the guest book; Darlene Hancock and Bolinda Hunter opened the gifts. Gift helpers were Gaylan Edwards and Tammy and Betty Mao Hunter. Refreshments were served by Connie Brown, Betsy Story, Sharon Hunter and Marilyn Iverson.

Miss Daniel, Lauer Disclose Wedding Plans

DIETRICH — Mr. and Mrs. Phil Daniel, Meridian, announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Mae, to Ronald Lauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lauer, Dietrich. Miss Daniel is a 1969 graduate of Meridian High School. She is a sophomore home economics major at the University of Idaho, where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Mr. Lauer is a 1967 graduate of Dietrich High School and is a senior accounting major at the University of Idaho. He is a member of Farm House.

A September wedding is planned at St. Augustine's Catholic Center on the University of Idaho campus.

Home Economist Suggests Brides "Think Kitchen"

BURINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — A University of Vermont home economist says prospective brides can save themselves, their friends and relatives a few headaches by "thinking kitchen."

"Equipping the first kitchen with pots and pans involves a long list of needs," points out Faith Prior of the University's Extension Service.

She suggests the following as "standard equipment" for every kitchen: coffee maker, double boiler, 10- or 12-inch fry pan, 8-inch fry pan, 8-quart kettle with lid, 1- and 4-quart saucepans, tempot, two 8- or 9-inch layer cake pans, casserole with lid, cookie sheet, cooling rack, six custard cups and two pie pans.

Accessories, the "luxury equipment" of the kitchen, can include a griddle, another saucepan, teakettle, 10-by-14-inch baking pan, bread pan, 8- or 9-inch square cake pan, second cookie sheet, second cooling rack, 8-12-cup muffin pan and a roaster.

"All families differ in their cooking habits," Mrs. Prior says. "Cross off unnecessary equipment. It will only take up valuable space."

She also cautions against buying sets of pans as an unwise practice because all members of the set may not be used often enough to justify the price and cost.

"Plan your list carefully and let your family and friends know about it," she adds. "Gifts you receive will be the kind you can use—not the kind you hide away and dust off when friends or family visit."

Water in the dishwasher must be at least 140 degrees so the water heater should be set higher — about 150 or 160 degrees. The greater the distance between the dishwasher and the water heater, the higher the heater should be set.

PARTY IDEAS by Elvira Roberts

Consumer Information Director The West Bend Company Lousy Excuses Make The Best Parties

WHAT does a potential hostess do when she can think of no excuse for a party? She gives a "No Excuse Party" and bills it as exactly that. Guests are invited to manufacture their own excuses to attend. For example, "It's my second cousin's anniversary," or "Today's the day the swallows depart from Capistrano." Award prizes to the most original excuse-maker. Ask guests to bring an excuse for the way they are dressed — or have newcomers sign a written excuse to gain admittance. Refreshments at a "No Ex-use" party should be simple. Each dish, although tasty, can be tagged with an "excuse." For example, "This hot chili took my eye for conjunctivitis." Serve flavorful favorites, such as a rich Mulligan stew, kept hot in an electric cooker (no hostess won't notice an excuse), hot coffee, chips and dips. The guests' excuses will be loud enough at this unusual party, so the hostess need not devote elaborate decorations. Yet, with the use of decorative items, ordered fancy decorations, but they were lost in the multi.

And if your invitation requires a R. S. V. P., warn callers that their excuses had better be good.

Mays Becomes 10th To Get 3000 Hits

Two Singles Send Superstar Over Mark As SF Rips Expos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays singled twice for the 3,000th and 3,001st hits of his major league career and Gaylord Perry hurled a four-hit Saturday to pace San Francisco to a 10-1 rout of Montreal.

Perry also hit a two-run homer—the second tripper of his career—and a double while coaching to his 14th victory against eight losses. The All Star righthander also tied a major league record with five putouts.

Mays, 39, walked in the first inning when the Giants scored five runs. He became the tenth player in history to collect 3,000 hits in the second inning when he grounded a two-out, two-strike single between third and short off starter and loser Mike Wegener, now 1-3, as 28,879 fans howled their approval.

The game was hailed briefly as photographers crowded around Mays, Hall-of-Famers Stan Musial and Carl Hubbell, National League President Charles S. Feeney and former Giant outfielder Monte Irvin, representing baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn. Musial, who had 3,630 hits in his career, welcomed Mays to the 3,000th hit club.

Mays, a super star with New York and San Francisco since 1951, went back to first base in the second and scored on a double by Willie McCovey. Mays struck out in the fourth and singled home a run in the sixth with hit No. 3,001.

The only other active player with more than 3,000 hits is Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves. He joined the exclusive club on May 17.

Marlatt And Reece Pace Bat Races

Dean Marlatt of Turf Club and Ray Reece of John's Husky lead their respective divisions in batting and Turf Club and Varsity Barber shop hold strong league leads according to the latest statistics from Fred Plankey.

Marlatt is hitting .559, with teammate Dale Krumm second with a .532 mark. Parsons of Culligan is hitting .532, Dick Rees of Blitz .515, and Bill Durbin of Blitz .460. John Gleaser of Royal Lounge paces the division in homers with four.

Reece is hitting a lousy .695, while son Rocky Reece is second with .663. Lynn Johnson of Varsity is third with a .544 mark and Tupper of Varsity is at .525 along with Hazen of Coors. Richard Galley has five homers to lead the league.

'B' Legion Sweeps Pair From I.F.

A passed ball on an attempted squeeze play won the first game 2-1 and a four-run outburst in the third frame settle the second Saturday afternoon as the Twin Falls "B" Legion dropped Idaho Falls twice.

The two teams meet again at 10 a.m. Sunday in Jaycee Park and at 6 p.m. the "B" Legion begins the season that counts, hosting Valley in the opener of a best of three series to see which will represent this area in the "B" district tournament in Pocatello.

Terry Miller, living on an error, scored the first run for Twin Falls in the opener and Joe Adams held Idaho Falls scoreless through six innings.

But in the seventh, Burgnor opened with a hit and tied it on an error. In the bottom of the frame, Hanchev singled, moved up when Adams walked, stole third and came in on the passed ball.

In the nightcap, Miller got it started with a hit and walks to Hopkins, Wentworth and Mike Fries plus two Idaho Falls errors completed the scoring.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (UPI)—Harvey Peltier's entry of Doc's T.V. and Famed Prince ran 1-2 in a photo finish in the $56,400 Washington Park handicap Saturday and even money favorite Fast Hilarious finished out of the money.

Famed Prince, carrying 115 pounds and ridden by William Gavidia, moved in front of his stablemate at the 16th pole of the one mile sprint on the dirt, but Jockey David Whited got Doc's T.V. moving again and with a two-pound weight advantage at 113, Doc's T.V. moved ahead to stay brief strides from the wire.

Doc's T.V. was clocked at 1:38.35 for the race, more than two seconds slower than the track record set by Dr. Fager two years ago. The one-two finish paid Peltier $43,000 of the gross purse, with Famed Prince pulling in $16,000 for second place.

Brazil And Canada Split Net Singles

SAO PAULO (UPI)—Brazil and Canada split the opening singles matches in their American zone Davis Cup final Saturday as the top-ranking player for each country prevailed.

Thomas Koch, inactive for three months due to a hepatitis attack, beat Canada's John Sharpe, 6-7, 7-5, 6-7, 6-6, to give Brazil a 1-0 lead—but Mike Belkin overed the north with an easy 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 sweep over Edison Mandarino.

Belkin had a relatively simple time with Mandarino, swatting back the Brazilian's shots with a fluid forehand or his eccentric doublehanded backhand.

Belkin was hissed several times by the partisan crowd which jammed the Pimblett Sports Club to capacity when he cleared several calls by

Misjudged Fly Lets Tigers Win 5-4

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don Wert's three-run homer after left fielder Charly May misplayed Bill Freehan's fly into a double enabled the Detroit Tigers to score four runs in the first inning Saturday and defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4.

Rookie southpaw Jim Magnum struck out the first two Tigers in the first inning but Al Kaline walked and Willie Horton singled. Freehan followed with a long fly to left which was misjudged by May and dropped behind him for a double, scoring Kaline.

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Vada Pinson drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Steve Hargan, just back from the minor leagues after a month's absence, pitched a two-hitter Saturday as the Cleveland Indians dealt the Kansas City Royals a 4-1 defeat.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Harmon Killebrew and Frank Robinson hit two-run homers to produce a four-run sixth inning rally Saturday that carried the Minnesota Twins to a 6-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a battle of American League divisional leaders.

Kline, making his second appearance and second start in the majors, gave up a two-run homer to Reggie Jackson in the first inning but started the third for the Yankees with a single.

Victory Was More Important To Mays Than Record Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—In the midst of his most glorious day in baseball, Willie Mays was a team man to the last. Surrounded in the clubhouse by newsmen, well-wishers and photographers after getting hits No. 3,000 and 3,001 against the Montreal Expos Saturday, he commented simply, "The important thing was for Gaylord (Perry) to win the game after we lost last night."

Oilers Happy With Showing Of Rookies

KERRVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—The Houston Oilers completed their first week of training at their summer camp in Kerrville on a happy note Saturday, despite the absence of veteran players.

That's Mays in a nutshell. Superstar, second greatest home run hitter in baseball, player of the past decade... thinking of winning more than another personal milestone.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don Wert's three-run homer after left fielder Charly May misplayed Bill Freehan's fly into a double enabled the Detroit Tigers to score four runs in the first inning Saturday and defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4.

The tension was gone from the 30-year-old outfielder but a sparkle remained in his eyes as he chatted with newsmen after the game.

NFL Players Ask U.S. Mediation Service To Help Settle Problems

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

Four times a week, as a coach of two teams, and sometimes in between as a member of the rules committee, this writer looks to Harmon Park to participate—(reflectively)—in the KnuteHole League program.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The National Football League Players Association has requested the services of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to help settle an impasse in negotiations with the club owners.

According to Alan Miller, general counsel for the players, "the mediation service can enter the disputes only if both the owners and players mutually agree to meet. The mediator will attempt to help us solve our problems, but he cannot make any binding decision."

The meeting has been called for 7:00 p.m. in Washington, D.C., next Wednesday. "However, the club owners have not yet agreed to meet with us," Miller added.

Gooding Amateur Has New Format

GOODING — The 20th annual Gooding amateur golf tournament, slated for Saturday and Sunday, will operate under a new format, announces Course Manager Earl Simpson.

Simpson said the meet, one of the oldest around, will not be flighted but will pay off in merchandise prizes to the low 13 gross and net scores from the field.

Intrepid Is Defeated In Cup Trials

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Valiant snapped Intrepid's unbeaten winning streak Saturday, giving the 12-meter yacht her first defeat at the end of the first set of observation trials to select a defender for the America's Cup.

Simpson asked that all Magic Valley golfers planning to participate contact him immediately. "We plan to have two shotgun starts a day, at 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.," Simpson said. "To have that we will have to have all entries prior to Saturday morning."

"We've reached a basic agreement with owners on two key issues regarding the preseason games and the powers of the commissioner," said John Mackey, president of the Players Association, "but we are hung up on the question of pensions."

"The NFL players have always believed that NFL football is the number one spectator sport in the United States," Mackey said, "and the goal of the Players Association is to make our pension plan the best in professional sports."

Fast Fellow Wins Juvenile Championship

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Fast Fellow lived up to his name Saturday when he raced to a surprise head victory in the 31st running of the $163,000 Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park as the heavily favored Moonplash finished third.

Coming between horses in the stretch, Fast Fellow caught up with the leaders, and at the sixteenth pole and barely got his head in front at the wire. Kfar Tov was second while Moonplash lost his drive to finish third. The winding time was 1:10 for six furlongs.

Fast Fellow was the 2-year-old champion at Golden Gate Fields this year, winning four of five starts including two stakes. But at Hollywood Park in his only start he was third in the Portland Stakes.

stages of the race but saved ground along the rail. Moonplash, breaking from the 14th and outside post position, was sent to the lead at the start by Bill Shoemaker but was given a battle by Randa Joy.

Aussies Lead In Commonwealth Games, Stewart Beats Clarke

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Australia won 13 medals Saturday to take over the leadership in the ninth Commonwealth Games, but patriotic Scotsmen were satisfied when a favorite son took the 10,000 meters in an upset.

Lache Stewart, running the race of his life before a frenzied crowd of 28,500 fans at the chill, damp Meadowbank Stadium, came through a tremendous surge over the last 200 meters to lift the gold medal from Australia's Ron Clarke and relegate him once again to the role of bridesmaid.

year-old Beverley Boys of Pickering, Ont., who ignored the pain from a punctured eardrum to win the women's springboard diving title with a total 432.87 points. She had led the competition from the start.

Canadians Cop Opening Race Of Weekend

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—Canadians John Cannon and Jacques Couture won both Continental series events Saturday to make the start of a double-header weekend at the Rond America Track here which will feature the Trans-Am series on Sunday.

Stewart, a 27-year-old dental mechanic, clocked a personal best 28:11.8 to record the world's fastest time of the year for the distance.

Sheephead Bay Handicap Is Run In Two Divisions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Princess Pout, a 10-1 outsider, and Pattee Canyon, an even-money favorite, won the split runnings of the Sheephead Bay Handicap at Aqueduct Saturday.

It was the first stakes victory ever scored by Tierney at Hollywood Park, although he was the second leading rider at Golden Gate Fields with 100 winners.

The win for Cannon, who like Couture hails from Montreal, pushed him into the lead of the point standings of the Continental series.

Australia now has six gold medals, five silver and four bronze for a total 15 to head England, 6-4-5-15, and Canada, 3-3-7.

Princess Pout, carrying a fenthy 108-pound impost, wore down the leaders in the stretch to win the first division by 1 1/4 lengths over A. T's Olie. Klassy Poppy rallied to finish third, a neck farther back.

The winning time was far slower than the stakes record of 1:09 1/5 set by Fleet Kirsh in 1968.

Cannon drove his Hogan-Starr special at an average speed of 106.907 miles per hour over the hilly, twisting four-mile course to win the formula event. He finished two car lengths or 3.2 seconds ahead of David Hobbs of England who drove a Surtees.

Australia collected three golds on the track against two each for Scotland and England, and she galloped one in swimming to three for Canada. England, meanwhile, picked up another gold in weightlifting when Gerald Purrin took the featherweight title with a record aggregate of 754-2-4 pounds and Hong Kong won the four bowls gold medal.

Princess Pout, ridden by Jean-Cruegot, went the 1 3/16 miles on turf in 1:56 2/5 in capturing her second race of the season in four starts.

Fast Fellow was sent off at odds of 13-1 and returned $28.00, $9.40 and $4.60. Kfar Tov paid $8.80 and $4.60 while Moonplash returned $2.80.

George Follmer, a Californian driving a Lotus-70, finished third, 20 seconds back of the leader. Eppie Wietzes, Flat River, Mo., came in fourth in a McLaren and Ron Grable, another Californian, finished fifth in a Lola T100.

Despite the dismal conditions, it was a rare day on the track. The crowd loved it when Rosemary Payne won Scotland's second gold medal with a record discus throw of 178 feet, 8 inches. It gave the family a double triumph for husband Howard, competing in England's white, had earlier become the first man to score a hat-trick of Games victories when he retained his hammer title with a toss of 222 feet, 5 inches.

Drumtop, the 6-5 favorite and 125-pound highweight, finished sixth in the field of eight fillies and mares.

The meeting's leading rider, Laffit Pincay Jr., was scheduled to ride Tyrone in the Juvenile but the jockey was thrown in the first race by Hi Nuny and was taken off his mounts for the day.

KC To Try Jinx On Oriole Win Streak

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—The Kansas City Royals, out of desperation, will resort to a good luck charm Tuesday night when the Baltimore Orioles move into town to open a three-game series.

Australia's track victories came from Noel Freeman, 31, a silver medalist in the 1960 Rome Olympics, who won the 20-mile walk with ease in 2 hours, 33 minutes and 33 seconds; Lawrie Peckham, who retained his high jump title with a record leap of 7 feet, 1-4 inch; and Raelene Boyle, who took the women's spring in 11.2 seconds.

Canada, which failed to do anything on the track, made few errors in the pool and confirmed that the fight-for-top place lies between her and Australia.

Phibay suffered a mild concussion but otherwise was only bruised. He said he would be back riding Monday.

The Orioles have beaten Kansas City 17 straight times, dating back to last year. The Royals won their first game with Baltimore, then lost 11 straight in 1969. This year, the Orioles have won six straight.

As a last resort, the Royals management announced Saturday, every fan attending Tuesday night's game will receive a rabbit's foot.

There was no set standard for the diamonds. We just used the same ones that years of wear, tear and ruts had established — you know the sunken holes at each base. Bases were a problem except on hot days when most of the guys would take off their shirts to volunteer them for bases.

Simpson described the course as being in excellent shape and noted introduction of six new greens has made a different course of it.

"The one point we feel very strongly about," Miller added, "is the disability provision in our present pension plan. Under this plan a player has to be permanently and totally disabled before he can collect anything. We would like to see a provision for a permanent partial disability, and this type of program is expensive."

"There are some other points that should be cleared up," Miller said. "At no time did the NFLPA suggest or propose that ticket prices be raised, nor have we suggested that any amount be added to the post-season or pre-season ticket prices. And, we have never suggested the discontinuance of a pension plan for coaches, trainers or managers."

Social highlight of the event will be a social hour and chicken dinner Saturday night at the clubhouse.

Ashe, Richey Advance In Tennis Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Arthur Ashe edged Romanian Ion Tiriac, 6-1, 6-5, 6-3, and Cliff Richey routed Tiriac's top-seeded countryman, Ilie Nastase, 6-3, 6-2, in the semifinals Saturday of the $35,000 Washington Star International tennis championships.

According to Mackey, "the NFL owners are negotiating this agreement in a manner similar to the way they negotiate individual contracts—accept our offer or retire from football."

The two Americans, seeded Nos. 3 and 4 respectively in the tournament, will battle Sunday for the $7,000 first prize.

Canada, which failed to do anything on the track, made few errors in the pool and confirmed that the fight-for-top place lies between her and Australia.

One of the bad things about winning was the victorious team was responsible for getting the news to either the "league director" or the Times-News. This entailed delegating one kid to wait at the diamond until the news collector showed up. Most of the time he was there in good shape but at 5:00 times the lone sentinel had an hour and one-half to kill.

Ashe, 27, of Richmond, Va., played flawlessly in the first set and won it in only 19 minutes. But Tiriac, the 31-year-old veteran who upset the No. 1 American, Stan Smith, on Friday, rallied to take the second set and win the first three games of the final set before Ashe wound it up by winning six consecutive games.

"The Orioles have beaten Kansas City 17 straight times, dating back to last year. The Royals won their first game with Baltimore, then lost 11 straight in 1969. This year, the Orioles have won six straight.

Like baseballs, bats, gloves and catching equipment were hard to come by. We wore lucky. Someone's dad had an old wire softball mask that our catcher could use and most of the time the other team used it, too. Once in a while a chest protector showed up but not where in our mind do we recall seeing a pair of shin guards.

The turning point in the final set came with the score at 2-1 in Tiriac's favor. Ashe held his aggro and then broke Tiriac to pull even at 3-3. Ashe began the seventh game with an ace and was never headed.

As a last resort, the Royals management announced Saturday, every fan attending Tuesday night's game will receive a rabbit's foot.

Richey, 23, from Dallas, had surprisingly little trouble handling Nastase, rated the tournament favorite.

Nastase, who had to go three sets Friday in winning over Bob Hewitt of South Africa and three more sets in a doubles match that lasted into the evening, complained afterwards of fatigue.

Shortly after the season, Knute, who was team captain, and his buddy Abbie Hofeld would trek down to see the manager of Sears, hoping each time the guy would come up with a little help for the team. It became a ritual; Knute kinda gliding into the office and mentioning we'd won two more and were still undefeated. Midway through the season, the guy got the message and asked Knute if the team could use anything. Knute allowed as how baseballs and bats came in handy. He took the boys down to the sporting goods department and gave him one bat and two balls. Stamped on the balls was "Not Recommended For Hitting."

Nastase, who had to go three sets Friday in winning over Bob Hewitt of South Africa and three more sets in a doubles match that lasted into the evening, complained afterwards of fatigue.

It was my one and only year. I outgrew the club by becoming a seventh grader but Knute kept things going for the Panthers real well and eventually worked us high as double A (under the old classification system) before becoming one of the top dogs in the Pillsbury Company.

Nastase, who had to go three sets Friday in winning over Bob Hewitt of South Africa and three more sets in a doubles match that lasted into the evening, complained afterwards of fatigue.

At one game played at Harmon Park we used three different adults as umpires. Any guy walking down the road would be stopped and any method we could think of employed to persuade him to ump. That one day each guy gave us an inning and a half — but the game was held up quite a while before that third guy came along. One time we got an older brother of a kid on the other team to ump behind the plate. We had to fight for our lives to win that one. Westergren somehow couldn't get the ball over the plate to suit older brother and he walked a ton. Funny thing, never did it before or after!

Nastase, who had to go three sets Friday in winning over Bob Hewitt of South Africa and three more sets in a doubles match that lasted into the evening, complained afterwards of fatigue.

But you know something. We never had a coach, never had a parent at the game, got our own ump, bats, balls and places to play. We practiced more than any team in the program today and, by golly, the Panthers could flat hit the ball. Facilities, coaching and other things are much better now, but they don't hit the ball like that any more.

Stock Mart Surges To Second Advance

By HOWARD LUXENBERG UPI Business Writer NEW YORK (UPI)—Some surprisingly favorable June quarter corporate earnings statements this week helped satisfy Wall Street's thirst for good news and sparked the stock market to its second consecutive weekly advance. "Suddenly it's a new ball game," one analyst commented. He said the market is feeding on good news and ignoring unfavorable items, even in the case where earnings have been way down. Monte Gordon, analyst for Rache & Co., said earnings had been expected to be uniformly bad, but many early returns have been quite pleasant. Many analysts, however, were not convinced the expected overall decline in quarterly earnings wouldn't materialize. They suggested it is the usual tendency of companies with the best story to tell to be among the first to report. Also helping to bolster the market was a Commerce Department report of a rise in the nation's output of goods and services (GDP) during the last three months, ending a six-month slide. The GNP report apparently was interpreted as a signal that the worst probably is over in the most severe business slump in a decade. Gordon said "the nation's economy is reaching the point where the slowdown is grinding on the bottom, easing fears of a significant recession." Harold C. Passer, assistant commerce secretary for economic policy, said the GNP report showed "the economy has stabilized." A rise in June housing starts—the first monthly increase since March—and a jump in retail sales gave support to the belief the economy is about to recover. White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said President Nixon is "very optimistic about the economy and he anticipates an upturn in the second half" of the year. A factor which the stock market may have to reckon with in the near future is the 1970 auto contract negotiations which formally opened this week. The United Auto Workers held talks with the Big Three car makers in the hopes of averting a strike when the current contracts expire Sept. 14. Newton Zinder, analyst for E. F. Hutton & Co., said the auto situation is early in the negotiating stages and it may be sometime before it becomes a market factor. Still Wall Street was expected to keep close tabs on the auto developments, especially since Nixon has told Detroit executives he hopes they are not planning for a shutdown because it would upset an expected economic upswing in the fall. Auto stocks were in the spotlight during the week, particularly Chrysler which responded to news the company was operating in the black in the second quarter following a $29.4 million loss for the first three months of the year. Chrysler was among the most actively traded issues—17th on a turnover of 302,800 shares—and closed up 1 1/4 at 19 1/2, its high for the week. Ford picked up 2 1/4 to 46 1/4, but General Motors declined. The Dow Jones industrial average, a barometer of 30 selected blue chip stocks, spurted 34.98 to 735.08, with most of the rise coming in the last three sessions. DJ transportation and utility averages also gained. The UPI market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, posted an advance of 2.32 to 67.44, while the New York Stock Exchange common stock index climbed 1.61 to 42.15. Standard & Poor's 500-stock average rose 3.12 to 77.69. Of the 1,751 issues crossing the tape, 1,245 moved higher and 360 lower. There were 27 new highs set, 156 new lows. Turnover aggregated 49,753,700 shares, down from 53,781,520 shares the previous week, but slightly above the 48,926,210 shares traded during the year ago period. Electronics and oils were among the most impressive performers, although advances of 2 or better were spread throughout the list. Steels, however, traded in narrowly irregular fashion. Biggest point getters were Mission Corp. up 13 1/4, superior Oil 12, Getty Oil 8 1/4, IBM 8 1/4, Owens-Corning 10, Midwest Oil 8 1/4, Missouri Pacific Railroad 7 1/4, Gulf, Mobil and Ohio Railroad 6 1/4, Black & Decker 6 1/4, Evans Products 6 1/4, Procter & Gamble 6, and Kerr-McGee 6 1/4. Stocks up 4 to more than 5 included Dow Chemical, Atlantic Richfield, Standard Oil of Indiana, Honeywell, Burroughs, General Electric, Magnavox, Texas Instruments, and W. T. Grant. American Telephone, the most widely held issue, scored a gain of 1 1/4 on volume which made it fourth most active stock. Roan Selection Trust, the week's most heavily traded issue, fell 1 1/4 to 4 1/4 on 437,000 shares. International Telephone preferred "N" was second among the actives. It rose 3/4 to 47 on 400,700 shares. ITT common was heavily traded and 2 1/4 higher.

Automakers, Union Open Bargaining

DETROIT (UPI)—Negotiators for the Big Three automakers and the United Auto Workers ended the ceremonial handshaking and good-faith pledges at Chrysler Corp. Friday. They settled down for a long, hard summer of bargaining. UAW President Leonard Woodcock personally delivered the union's triennial demands at General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler on three successive days, pledging all will be treated the same when it comes to picking a strike target. "There is no reason why Chrysler should be treated differently," Woodcock said Friday. Down to business Chrysler, smallest of the big three, had two bad quarters last winter that caused a mild run on its stock but reported healthier second-quarter profits Thursday. "We're very happy that Chrysler is in the black," Woodcock quipped Friday. "We have never doubted that it is basically a very sound company."

Panel May Tell Nixon To End War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The President's Commission on Campus Unrest, according to its chairman, would not hesitate to tell President Nixon to end the Vietnam War to quiet Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, if it concludes those steps are necessary. "William W. Brennan, the former Pennsylvania governor who heads the commission, told a news conference Friday the commission's report will not be shelved. It will be directed at Nixon, he said, 'giving him information he can use in this national crisis'... so it will be literally in his lap." He said he thought it was quite within the scope of the commission—and it would have no hesitation to tell the President to end the Indochina war if he has Agnew's voice as a means of calming

Infallibility Of Papal Views Queried

By BARRY JAMES VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The first Vatican Ecumenical Council which adjourned 100 years ago July 18 decreed that the Pope—any Pope—could commit no error when laying down the law on matters of faith and dogma. This decree on "Papal Infallibility" turned out to be one of the most controversial doctrines ever decreed by the Roman Catholic Church and one of the chief barriers to Christian unity. Both Protestants and the orthodox, not to mention non-Christians, saw the decree as a sign of hopeless authoritarianism and argued that no man could speak or act without the possibility of making a human error. Pope Pius IX, who promulgated the decree on the closing day of the council, was the first to recognize its limitations. King Enters Rome When Italian troops were poised to seize his domains in 1870, the Pope sent a message to the Italian leader, Victor Emmanuel, assuring him that he never would enter Rome. But he added: "That assurance is not infallible." Victor Emmanuel did enter the city a few days later as head of an army which unified Italy for the first time. The Pope retreated into his palace to become the "prisoner of the Vatican"—a situation which was reversed only with the signing of a concordat (treaty) with Italy in 1929. As a result of the Pope's temporal collapse, a planned second session of the First Vatican Council never took place. This was to have tempered the decree on infallibility, and considered another decree which formally recognized the Pope as Primate of the Church, with a definition of the role of bishops. However, this point was not taken up until the Second Vatican Council, which Pope John XXIII summoned in 1962. This council, while upholding the principle that the Pope is above all bishops and cardinals, did attribute more responsibility to the episcopate. Needs Episcopate's Support The First Vatican Council stipulated the Pope would only be infallible when speaking "ex cathedra"—from his throne—in making a formal declaration on Church dogma. Most modern theologians also argue that a decision would not be infallible unless it had the full support of the entire episcopate. In fact, only one infallible dogma has been handed down since the First Council. This was Pope Pius-XXIII's proclamation in 1850 of the Dogma of the Bodily Assumption into Heaven of the Virgin Mary.

Nixon Gives German Aide His Backing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today gave visiting West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel a general endorsement of his efforts to negotiate a non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union. Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary said the two men met for 45 minutes. They were joined by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the presidential adviser on national security affairs, and West German ambassador to the United States, Rolf Pauls. Asked if Nixon had given his endorsement to the West German-Soviet talks scheduled to open in Moscow July 27, Ziegler answered: "Yes." He declined to discuss details. Scheel's visit to the White House followed up a Friday meeting with Rogers in which he received a statement of "full confidence and support" from the State Department.

Nudes Compete For Title In Unique Pageant

ROSE LAWN, Ind. (UPI)—Two dozen or more girls wearing nothing more than a smile competed Saturday for the title of "Miss Nude America" at Naked City, a nudist resort near Rose Lawn. Diane Bolclair of Toronto, Canada—winner of the first "Miss Nude America" pageant staged at Naked City last year, was scheduled to be on hand to crown her successor. First place will be worth $1,000 cash and a life membership to Naked City. Drost said she has about 1,000 members. Second place will pay $100 and third $25. All contestants will get a year's free membership.

Many Candidates Shun Royalty

By TERRANCE W. MCGARRY MONTREAL (UPI)—The Canadian tour of the British Royal Family had no more interest for thousands of Canadians—they tie to Britain growing weaker with each generation—than would a visit from Mrs. Aristote Onassis. "Candidates now regard the Royal Family the way they do any other glamorous person—like Jackie Kennedy Onassis," said Toronto television personality Pierre Berton. "The monarchy doesn't really matter, and it wouldn't be worth the acrimonious debate to get rid of it." Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has assured Canadian monarchists that severing ties with the monarchy is "not in the cards" at the moment, but monarchists put faint faith in this disclaimer. Toronto Mayor William Dennis has said that "Trudeau is determined to wipe out at least some of the symbols of the monarchy."

John Almers, who at 18 is president of the Monarchist League of Canada, accuses the Federal Government of "subtle and illegal dilution of the monarchy's role" and "attempts by stealth to subvert the processes of law." Charges and Queen Plans Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, a staunch monarchist though he hasn't a drop of English blood, said he had asked about a published report that Trudeau's government will attempt to depersonalize the Queen's role by putting more emphasis on the constitutional executive role of the Governor-General. He said there was no denial from the government, "which means that it was a factual statement." The report said the Governor-General's signature might replace the Queen's on official documents. This would make the Queen even more remote in a newly nationalistic Canada that feels a more pervasive cultural and economic pull from the United States than it does from Britain. Many monarchists feel that if the role of the Royal Family is to be "understood," one of its members should live in Canada. There have been suggestions that Princess Anne might establish a Canadian home, but no one is taking them seriously. The last member of the Royal Family to live here was the Queen's great-uncle, the late Earl of Athlone, and his wife, Princess Alice, when the earl was Governor-General from 1940 to 1946. The Queen appoints the Governor-General on recommendation of the Canadian cabinet, but incumbents in the post-war, post-imperial era have been Canadian-born. Elizabeth II presumably could appoint one of her male cousins as Canadian head of state but it would not seem politic in the troubled 1970s. A survey of French Canadians, for instance, turned up only 60 per cent in favor of retaining the tie to Britain. When the Queen visited Quebec City in 1964, there were separatist demonstrations against her, and Prince Charles said on his recent tour that he would have visited Montreal "but I'm afraid of the bombs."

Pastor Treks With Cross; Mob Follows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 1,000 persons walked a mile for Christ Saturday behind a Hollywood, Calif., minister who hiked with a 10-foot, 150-pound cross from coast to coast. The Rev. Arthur Blessitt, 29, ordained Louisiana-born Southern Baptist minister who calls himself the "minister of Sunset Strip" led the procession to "show America there is an answer to peace." Blessitt, dressed in a maroon vest, yellow shirt, striped pants and sandals and wearing his hair moderately long, walked with his followers from a briefly at the Washington Monument to the U.S. Capitol and back. On their return they started a 24-hour period of fasting, prayer and Bible-reading to end Sunday with an after-church rally at the monument. Blessitt's trek has without a spiritual revolution in our nation this year we are headed toward total anarchy, a blood-bath," Blessitt said as he and Jesse Wigg of Pueblo, Colo., pulled the cross down Constitution Avenue. The 1,000 persons behind him, a mixture of young and middle-aged, chanted "Glimmer" or "Jesus" in a football-chambered fashion, and sang revival songs. They carried signs reading "God is Love" and "Spiritual Revolution."

Plague Threat Battled In Southwest

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI)—State health officials, wary of an epidemic that spread across Europe in the Middle Ages, said a 7-year-old girl from a small community near Cuba, N.M., has become the state's fourth bubonic plague victim. State epidemiologist Dr. Paul Pierce said the girl, who apparently contracted the disease at her home in northwestern New Mexico, was being treated at an Albuquerque hospital. Officials did not identify the girl. "Plague is prevalent in New Mexico," Pierce said. "In order to prevent plague, people should avoid wild rabbits, prairie dogs, rats and mice." Pierce said of the six plague cases reported this year in the United States, four have been in New Mexico. The other two incidents, he said, were reported in California. Pierce warned persons "not to handle sick or dead wild animals and not to set up campsites on or near animal burrows." He said campers should use insect repellents and keep pets restrained and free of fleas. Other cases reported in New Mexico involved a Coahuila man, an Espanola boy and a Canoncito youth. All are recovering.

Princess Rebukes Newsmen

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Anne has been provoked to pique by American reporters and photographers dogging her visit to Washington, a British columnist said Saturday. The Evening Standard's Washington columnist Jeremy Campbell quoted the 19-year-old princess as lamenting to a British official: "I cannot stand having 10 million press people on my heels all the time. I just cannot stand it." The Standard carried the report as its lead under a headline that proclaimed: "Can't Stand It, Says Anne." Another newspaper, the Evening News, said the princess was rebuffed by a plunge in the British Embassy pool and a television microphone thrust at her frequently during the visit. The report said "part of the trouble is that Americans don't understand the British way of doing things."

Earlier newspapers joined Americans in asking why Anne appeared glum, sulky, nervous and bored during her visit to Washington. "Why is the princess so unhappy?" headlined the tabloid London Daily Sketch on Page One. "The Daily Mirror ran a front page report from its Washington correspondent, Paula James, noting that American newspapers had complained that Anne is 'glum, sour and sulky'."

When Anne and her brother Charles were asked to sign the visitors book at the Smithsonian space museum Friday, the Mirror said Anne scribbled "We've been asked to do a lot of this lately." "Her remark was taken as a royal insult," the Mirror said. BUY U.S. BONDS STOCKS DOWN YOUR ATTENTION

...ive error if the finesse lost. Eddy won the heart lead with the queen. Then he went right after diamonds so as to keep the exchange of information between East and West at a minimum. He made the proper lead of a low diamond. West showed out but Eddy didn't falter at all. He rose with dummy's ace and led a low diamond right back. This gave East quite a problem. His partner had signalled with the eight of spades on the first diamond lead. That signal clearly indicated that he held either the ace or the king, but which one was it? If it were the ace, East could and should take that diamond right away. If it were the king, the play was too tricky and keep diamond control. East would have known what to do if the problem arose later on, at that time he didn't know what to do and went wrong.

Parkinson's first law for bridge players is that any time you give a man a chance to make a mistake there is a distinct probability that he will make it.

Of course, there are plenty of players who just make mistakes without any real reason. East wasn't one of that group. In fact, he was one of the top players of the late '30s playing in a rubber bridge game at New York's Cavendish Club.

South was the late Edward Hynes Jr., one of the great players of the day. Eddy found himself in rather a normal six no-trump contract that presented better than an even chance for success. Specifically, he needed a successful diamond finesse which represented an even chance, but there was a possibility of a defen-

Summer Camp Gives Boys New Outlook

BY CAROL BURNAM
Times-News Staff Writer
A "whitewater" trip down the "River of No Return" and a 63-mile Ma-I-Shu Trail backpacking trip into Idaho's primitive area has brought Boy Scouts from all over the United States to Camp Bradley.
Camp Bradley Boy Scout Camp is located in the heart of the Stanley Basin on the Cope Horn Scout Reservation.
Originally serving as a guest ranch, the camp was purchased in 1956 by the Snake River Boy Scout Council.
The Snake River Council is one of the top Boy Scout councils in America. It ranks in the top ten per cent of boys served and number two in the nation for its outdoor program.
After several years of building and developing the area, Camp Bradley began its fourteenth summer program on June 28. Boys, aging from 11 to 16 years, attend one of the five camp sessions. Troops from eight counties in the Snake River Council and some outside troops apply early in the year for reservations to one of the camps. They list first, second and third choices, and are later contacted as to which camp they may attend.
Approximately 125 Boy Scouts attended the second week of Camp Bradley. The first day of camp is spent in orientation classes. Demonstrations on how to use the archery and shooting range and the swimming and boating areas are given to the Scouts. Camp time is set by the cooks and Scouts learn immediately that meal time is correct time.
At meals, the control leader appoints a waiter and a host. The waiter keeps a supply of food on his troop's table and cleans the table off after the meal is finished. The host serves the meal, always passing food to the left. After a meal is completed, songs are sung by the scouts and staff; and very often, a member of staff becomes the object of a practical joke.
Boy Scouts are enthusiastic about the camp this year. Instead of working in a troop for merit badges, the Scouts are given reviews on steps to take for obtaining merit badges. Then, on his own, each Scout is allowed to try for his choice in badge.
From Camp Bradley, five other camps are initiated. The first of these is the Conservation Camp, organized to train selected Explorers and older Scouts in specific conservation attitudes and skills. The moving camp consists of a six-day training in conservation through field trips and work projects. This year the Scouts helped the Forest Service build a spawning area for fish in a section of the Big Wood River, where the water flows too fast for fish to spawn.
All Scouts and Explorers who want outstanding leadership experiences attend the Dan Beard Rangers Camp. The Rangers learn to use basic Scout skills and to work with younger Scouts in a leadership capacity. The program gives a young man an opportunity to cook all his meals over a campfire and to set up model campfires that he may use later as a staff member.
An exciting adventure down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River has become a reality for the past week at Camp Bradley in the Sawtooths where activities ranged from knot tying to a trip down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River. The camp has gained national renown through its variety of programs.

An outstanding feature of the Cope Horn Scout Reservation activities is the 63-mile Ma-I-Shu Trail. Originating from the Reservation, three trips are planned for Scouts and Explorers to observe the beauties of the Idaho Primitive Area. Carrying all their provisions on their back, the experienced hikers climb rugged mountain peaks and hike through forest covered valleys.
This will be the sixth year for the Aquatic Camp. This includes rowing, canoeing, lifesaving, swimming, and physical fitness. Anyone who does not complete a merit badge in one of these areas during regular camp sessions may return August 2, for completion in Aquatic Camp.

PREPARING FOR FIRST Ma-I-Shu Trail backpacking trip are from left Scott Harmon, Gary Scott, and Roy Graybill, all from Twin Falls. Starting from Camp Bradley, the Scout groups will hike 63 miles into Idaho's Primitive Area.

EACH SCOUT CAMPSITE has a "rope-yard" and "ax-yard" where Scout troops can earn their basic skill badges. Tying knots are front, Loing McArthur, and back, Roger Christensen, both of Twin Falls.

Submerged In River, Old Ferry Invites Restoration

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

antiques residents of Twin Falls attraction. Many stories have been written about the old ferries that carried passengers, horses and wagons, farm produce, and in later years, automobiles across Snake River at various points. Little is said of what ever became of the ferries themselves as historians records seem to end with a vague report of the approximate year in which it was last operated.

One such ferry, one of the latest to operate along the river, can still be seen in a watery resting place where it was docked for a last time and then sank beside the dock on the north side of the Snake River. It borders property now owned by the Canyon Club Inc., between the country club of that firm and the Idaho Power Co. Shoshone Falls power plant. It crossed from Shoshone Falls Park at the site of the present boat docks to the north side.

It came to attention again when Alton Parrott, who is engaged in some bull dozer work in the area for fish ponds and who frequently fishes there, asked some questions and confirmed the submerged structure is indeed the old ferry. A heavy equipment operator working with Mr. Allen, H.N. Schuyler, Pfler, who identified it, said he recalls crossing the river on the ferry with his father and two teams of horses when he was nine years old. This would have been in 1925 and he said it took six head of horses per wagon to negotiate the steep north side grade and at that a number of rest stops had to be made.

There were a number of narrow escapes, but the giant cables that guided its course kept it from drifting down stream and over the falls. At one time the ferry was written up in all area newspapers when a car went out of gear while Mr. Heter was preparing to fasten the gates and rolled into eight feet of cold water. The mishap in February, 1937, could have been serious as the car was filled with school children. Mr. Heter jumped into the water and rescued the children, handing them one by one to his assistant, Jesse Carlton, state police officer, investigated the mishap, the story reports.

Mrs. Heter said in the last few years the ferry operated, the flooring and under portions, all constructed of wood, were leaking and a hand pump was in constant operation pumping water from the area between. She and her husband abandoned the ferry operation in 1942 and went to work in Utah in defense plants and the ferry sank into the water a short time later. Water and silt which has filled the area between the deck and lower structure makes it difficult to move. Cables, the old motor and a small operator's house are still attached, she said. Whether or not it could ever be brought to the surface and restored or put in operation is doubtful because of cost and the amount of work involved but it is a "thought provoking challenge."

Karl Freeman of the Canyon Club Inc., who personally purchased the old ferry landing site in 1953, said he has also considered it. At one time his workmen hooked a heavy bull dozer to it but were unable to pull it from the water. They then attempted to dislodge it and push it into the river to get rid of it but it refused to budge.

Now only part of the end railing of the ferry itself protrudes above the water and it is difficult to see the rest. A structure on the river bank, although it looks like part of the ferry, was actually the landing dock.

Esther Heter, 214 Adams St., who with her late husband, D.T. Heter, were the last to operate the ferry sold their property, ferry included to Mr. Freeman long. Anglers usually fish these waters early and late for trout averaging 1-3 pounds. The South Fork of the Boise River below Anderson Ranch Dam often is excellent fishing with flies. Northeast of Lewiston is a good fly stream, the North Fork of the Clearwater River above Canyon Ranger Station. The most productive waters for fly fishing are between Bungalow and Cedars ranger stations - about 50 miles of water with a good forest service road and campground paralleling most of the stream.

Ladybugs move their wings from 75 to 91 times a second.

AN ARM OF RAILING from the old Shoshone Falls Ferry extends above the water where the craft sank some 30 years ago after operation across the Snake River from Shoshone Falls park to a point between the Canyon Club and the Idaho Power Plant sub-station was ended. Alton Parrott and daughters.

Linda, left, and Judy, are on the old ferry landing from where they can see part of the submerged ferry. It was docked for a final time in 1943 and sank within a short time. This was one of the last ferries to operate in this area.

OLD SNAPSHOT SHOWS the Shoshone Falls Ferry during the period of 1935 to 1943 when it was operated by Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Heter who lived on the north side of Snake River at the ferry landing. In picture is late Mr. Heter.

OVERSIZED HOOK, CABLE, still in evidence at the old Shoshone Falls ferry landing on the north side of the river, were part of the system of guiding the craft across the stream. Karl Freeman who purchased the site in 1953 says the cable was still strung across the river at that time. This hook is fastened in rock above the landing and the cable is about 1.5 inches in diameter.

BASE OF TREE beside the old ferry landing is covered by chicken wire to prevent damage from beavers. One's imagination might see the large cut in the tree as a place worn by anchoring the ferry here, says Linda Parrott, but the damage was done in later years by beaver.

Idaho Trout Streams Provide Many Favorite Spots For Fly Fishing

Idaho Fish Game Department
With most of Idaho's 15,700 miles of fishing streams just now subsiding and clearing after one of the latest snow run-offs on record, anglers who normally take to the hills in July and August for alpine lake trout are planning to tarry in the lowlands for some of the best rainbow fishing in the West. Of course, no particular region in Idaho has a monopoly on good streams -- or lakes, either, for that matter. To list just the good fly fishing waters would fill an encyclopedia, but some of the best fly fishing streams follow:

Silver Creek, of course, is famed as one of the best dry fly streams in America. Spring-fed and only about 15 miles long, it produces an abundance of food and rainbows grow fast, big and sassy. Banks are lined with tulips and willows and high grass, with mossy bottoms on good gravel base. It is about 25 miles south of Sun Valley near the Big and Little Wood rivers, both very good trout streams for the fly artist.

The Big Lost heads up in the Pioneer Mountain Range (elevation 7,000 feet) in Copper Basin. Good roads parallel most of this stream, and forest service campgrounds are available in the upper reaches of the river. Motels are available at Arco and Mackay. Best fly fishing is usually found below Mackay Reservoir.

The North Fork, sometimes called Henry's Fork, is equally known as a trout stream. It heads up in the Island Park country just west of Yellowstone National Park, notably at Big Springs. Its famed Box Canyon starts just below Island Park Dam, flowing through steep-walled canyons four miles in a

Some of the rules state that the person must weigh 110 pounds or more, and not be over 85 years of age. It is announced that blood replacement is needed for that given for one Richfield woman in recent months.
At least 45 blood donors have been counted from Richfield in recent drawings.

Six Blaine Area Girls Compete In Carey's Pioneer Day Queen Contest

CAREY — Six Blaine County girls are competing for the 1971 Carey Pioneer Day Queen title, with final selection to be made following competition July 24. Competing for the title now held by Barbara Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patterson, are Melva Vanhook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Vanhook, and Kathleen Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patterson, all Pigea; LaDeane Stocking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buz Stocking, Laurie Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baird, Gale Stocking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stocking, and Trudy Justesen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Justesen, all Carey.

Judging the queens will be Mr. and Mrs. Tod Uhrig, Halley, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Vickers, Twin Falls. Twenty-five per cent of the points will come from personality and grooming, and 50 per cent from horsemanship. The contestants will ride in the grand entry at both rodeos July 23 and 24, the 11 a. m. parade July 24, and in competition following the horse races that day. The winner will be crowned during the rodeo that night. Ray Baird and Rocky Peterson, queen contest chairmen, said the girls will compete in the same pattern as used in the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest. A tea at 5 p. m. July 23 at the Rodeo in Carey will precede competition.

LaDeane Stocking, 18, is a 1970 graduate of Carey High School, and competed in the Pioneer Days queen contest last year. She will be riding a 9-year-old quarterhorse mare named Flicks.

Now to the queen contest circle is Gale Stocking, 16, who has been riding most of her life. She will compete on an Appaloosa gelding named Stormy. Gale is a junior at Carey High School.

A senior at Carey High School, Laurie Baird, 17, also competed in last year's event. She is riding in the high school rodeo, having ridden horses most Trudy Justesen, 17, is a senior at Carey and has also been riding most of her life. She is named first runner-up in the same contest last year and will be competing this year on a 30-year-old thoroughbred gelding named Salior.

The 18-year-old sister to the reigning Carey queen, Kathleen Patterson, is a graduate of the Pioneer Wood River High School and has been riding most of her life. She competed in the Pioneer Days of the Old West queen contest in 1968, last year's Carey contest, and the 1969 Wagon Days event. She will be competing this year on a nine-year-old part-quarterhorse pinto named Hazel Watts, mare she calls Cherry Girl.

Melva Vanhook, 17, a senior at Carey, only started riding recently and so is also new to the queen contest circles. She will be competing on a 10-year-old quarterhorse gelding she calls Warrior.

Other events planned for this 77th annual celebration include an 8 p. m. rodeo both Thursday and Friday, followed by a queen's dance Thursday; all in a.m. parade Friday followed by a community picnic at the rodeo grounds; 2 p. m. horse races at the rodeo arena, and open street sports puppet shows. Some $650 worth of prizes will be awarded during the two-day event which is scheduled to celebrate the 77th anniversary of the Mormon Pioneers settling of the Salt Lake Valley.

Parade categories include church, commercial, civic and youth, with cash prizes in each group. Parade chairman is Boyd Stocking.

The ICA approved rodeos will feature stock from Hazel Watts, Hill City, Idaho; Rodeo committee members include Lynn Carey, only started riding recently and so is also new to the queen contest circles. She will be competing on a 10-year-old quarterhorse gelding she calls Warrior.

Antique Festival Theatre To Perform in Hometown Buhl

BUHL — Antique Festival Theatre plays its hometown of Buhl Monday through Wednesday and senior citizens and children under 10 years of age will be admitted free during this period. The repertory theatre group will perform at 8:30 p. m. each night in front of the football bleachers at Bower Field. Each night will feature a different play by the seven-year-old company. On Monday it's "Thirteen Clocks," James Thurber's world of comedy and fantasy complete with a traditional prince and princess and all sorts of other creatures which have never been. The "Chekov Choice," two fast and funny plays on the love and marriage theme with H. Paul Kloss, Aldrich Bowler and Sue Galligan, professionals, performing in the first play, "The Proposal," will be given Tuesday. On Wednesday the company winds up its hometown run with Sheridan's "The Critic." This restoration play is given a contemporary twist with recorded sounds and music and projected images accompanying Sheridan's words, as rhetorical as a primary election speech.

By Frank Schell
From L. S., Eden, Idaho: We have a 20 dollar bill that has on it "Series 1934". We would like to know if there are many in circulation or if this is just one of a few.
Answer: I assume this is a Federal Reserve note. You do not give any indication of which Federal Reserve District it might be from. The large letter in a circle on the left hand side of the note indicates the District. Minneapolis (indicated by the letter "M") printed the serial amount (15 million plus) and New York the most (113 million plus) with the other Districts varying around these figures. There are a great many of all these notes still in circulation, but if your note is old and uncirculated, it could be worth from $27.50 up to $40.00 — however, if the note is in circulation it is worth little more than face value, since there is no shortage of these notes.
From J. L. D., Gooding, Idaho: I have a five dollar bill, Series of 1934A. In the lower right hand corner is "D1638". The serial numbers are printed in blue, and on the right hand side there is a blue seal with the words, "Theasaur Amer Septent Sigitl." On the left side is a large blue "5". I also have a one dollar bill that is just like the five, except the large "ONE" on the left hand side is gray.
It is Series 1937 B. In the upper left corner is F1 and in the lower right corner is F780. The bills are both silver certificates.
Do these have any value above actual face value? If so, could you tell me what the value is and also where I can sell them? The five is in excellent condition and the one dollar is in good condition. Thank you.
Answer: Thank you for your fine description. Silver Certificates are no longer produced and for a time dealers were paying a premium for them. The 1937B was produced in over 718 million pieces and is not at all rare. It and the 1935B were the last of the Silver Certificates. If the bill is at all worn it is worth nothing over face value. Dealers get about $2.00 now for brand new note, but

Prostitute Decoys Are Suggested

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A proposal that would have Salt Lake City and County providing decoy prostitutes on the streets in the West 2nd-South area has been submitted to the city commission. The proposal, which is aimed at curbing what some officials term "an alarming increase in prostitution problems," provides that the city pay all wages and fringe benefits for employment of the decoys. If the measure is approved, the quasi prostitutes would be hired for the job by the city-county health department.

Burley To Have Self Service Station And Automatic Carwash In Few Weeks

BURLEY — A new business for Burley is the Lynch Self Service Station and Car Wash on Overland Avenue, which will be opened for business in about two weeks, according to Jim Lynch, owner.

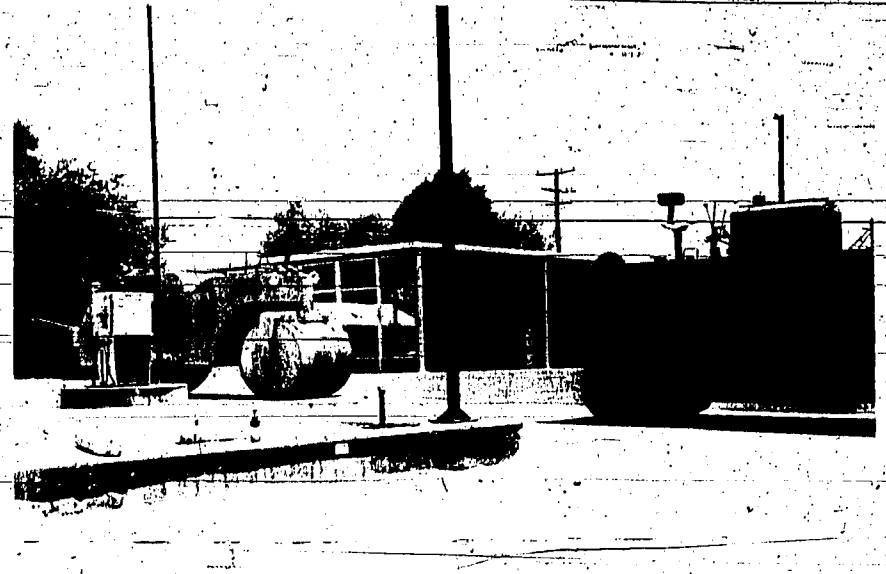

It will take two employees for each shift and the new business will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., according to Mrs. Lynch. Covering just over one-half block, the self service station has six gasoline pumps.

The equipment was chosen after a lengthy study of all patents and methods now used in the car wash business. The equipment is known as Auterla.

The washing unit is motivated by a motor beam so that each operation of brushing on the sides and over the top is strictly timed to cleanse the surface thoroughly with hydraulic pressure jets.

The self-service wands will also decrease the engine under the hood which should be a service for some car and truck owners, Mr. Lynch stated.

Road King gasoline sold by the Lynch Oil Co. throughout Magic Valley will be available at the new station.

NEW BUSINESS FOR Burley will be a self service carwash to be opened on Overland Avenue in a few weeks by Jim Lynch, owner of the Overland Self Service station. Gordon Paving Co. has the contract for blacktopping the area and the firm's equipment is shown in the foreground. The new business, which will cover one-half block, will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. The equipment includes one automatic unit and three self-service wands for individual car washing.

Chavez Beats His Prediction

By JERRY HENRY DELANO, Calif. (UPI)—Eight years ago Cesar Chavez, armed with little more than a battered old car and $1,200 in savings, set out to do the hitherto impossible — organize farm workers.

"I told my wife it would be 10 years before we got our first contract," he recalled in an interview.

Actually he beat that prediction by about four years. But it was not until this spring that Chavez and his United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) forged a meaningful breakthrough in a bitter and epic struggle that has reached into every corner of the nation.

The dam began to break in April when a few small growers signed contracts with UFWOC in the Coachella Valley, California's southernmost farming empire.

Chavez successes swept northward with the grape harvest as growers—including some of his staunchest opponents—also signed contracts.

By mid-July the union-estimated more than 30 per cent of the table grapes grown in California were under union contract.

The key to those triumphs must be attributed to the union's use of a tactic condemned by growers as illegal—the boycott of table grapes.

The boycott was initiated by UFWOC in the summer of 1963 and spread throughout the land, becoming an attractive cause for many liberals eager to support Chavez' non-violent approach.

13 Brothers, Sisters Gather At Castleford

CASTLEFORD — The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wasko, southeast of Castleford, was the setting for the week-long family reunion for the Wasko family recently.

This is the first occasion that all the remaining 13 brothers and sisters have been together since they were children.

The Wasko family was originally from Georgetown, Ill., the children of Frank and Mary Catherine. There were 18 children in the family, including one set of twins. Two sisters and three brothers and the parents are deceased.

The family moved from Georgetown, Ill., to a homestead in Newton Co. Ark. Only one brother, Frank, still lives in Georgetown.

Those attending were Louis J. Wasko and Mrs. Joe (Frances) Juszczyk, Dearborn, Mich.; Mrs. Charles (Julia) Morgan and Mrs. Mary Sturgis, both Salem, Ore.; Frank Wasko, Georgetown; Mrs. Emil (Victoria) Campenell and Mrs. Joe (Elizabeth) Reinke, Detroit; Mrs. Richard (Ann) Raclubka, Ferndale, Mich.;

Murphy Negotiates Over Land

BOISE (UPI) — Lieutenant Gov. Jack Murphy announced Friday he had been appointed by Gov. Don Samuelson to try to secure some 37,000 acres of land owed to the state of Idaho by the federal government.

Murphy, who is bringing to a conclusion negotiations with the federal government on 1967 forest fire bills, said the land in question originally belonged to the state but was taken from it through various acts—one of the most important of which was the creation of national forests.

At the time the federal government took the acreage the state was granted the right to select "in lieu of" lands from the remainder of unappropriated federal lands within the state. In earlier years the state succeeded in securing several large parcels, but in the last 15 to 20 years most selections of lands made by the state have been turned down by the various federal agencies involved.

Murphy said the land would be valued at over $800,000 at an "absolute minimum." The estimate was made when he said he knew of no land sold during the past ten years "for anything less than $25 an acre—even sagebrush and rockpiles seem to be bringing in that much."

He said it would "certainly be more than $25 an acre for timber lands."

Money Box

By Frank Schell

From E.S., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a bank note which reads as follows: "El Estado de Sonora". There is a number in the upper left and upper right hand corner, and two men's pictures on it. The number "1" in each corner, and in the middle, and a "1" with the word "UNO" on it, and underneath the words "Un Peso". It has some handwritten signatures on the bottom. There is a date at the top — 1910. Where is this bill from? Is it valuable?

Answer: Your banknote is from Sonora, Mexico and the denomination is "1 peso" which is about equal to 8 cents in United States exchange. Collector value on this note, if brand new, is about 65 cents.

From B.T., Twin Falls: I have a twenty five cent piece of paper money which has "Dominion of Canada" across the top. There is a picture of a woman in the middle of the note, wearing a helmet, and carrying a pitchfork. There is a "25" printed in each corner and it says "Twenty Five Cents" at the bottom. It is pretty badly worn, but as near as I can tell, it has been signed by a man named Campbell and by a man named Clark. It says "Ottawa, 1923" on it. Is this note scarce? What is it worth?

Answer: The note in the condition you describe is not scarce and worth about $2.00. This is what the Canadians called "shinplasters" and they were issued for a long while in Canada, and quite popular. Brand new and uncolored, this note is worth about $14.00. From W.E., Burley, Idaho: I found a peculiar note the other day I would like to know about. It is small, and has a number in the upper left hand corner. This is the writing on it: "This is not intended to be used as Money. This writing witnesseth that the BISHOP'S GENERAL STORE HOUSE agrees to furnish the bearer Produce and Merchandise to the amount of Ten Cents at Salt Lake City, Utah."

It is signed by Wm. B. Preston and dated Oct. 1st, 1898. In the upper right hand corner is "10c". What is this? Is it valuable?

Answer: Not particularly scarce nor valuable, this is a scrip issued as it says by the General Store House. I assume this one is blue and black in color, since you are describing the scrip issued for Produce. There was also another, issued for Produce and merchandise, and a red one, issued for the purchase of meat.

Quite a few of these have turned up in the past few years:

They sell from $3.00 up to $10.00, depending upon condition, and quite frequently are offered for less money than that. There is one variety of this note which was issued by the General Tithing Store House and one by the Great Salt Lake City Corporation.

In 1933 a "Trade Stimulus Certificate" was issued in Salt Lake City. This type of "Depression Money" was issued in several states — and in Oregon, a piece of depression scrip was printed on wood, and circulated as money. None of these has much value, since a lot of them exist.

For F.T., Twin Falls, Idaho: The information you request is too involved to publish an answer in this column. If you will purchase "The Handbook of United States Coins", published by Whitman, and available at book stores, you will be able to check your coins for yourself.

The late date Lincoln cents you have will disappoint you — they are worth nowhere near what you have figured. Most of them will bring you no more than five cents each, and a great many are worth only face value.

Questions on Coins and Currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Highway Map Proves Popular

BOISE — One of the most in-demand publications in Idaho is the official highway map, says the Idaho Department of Highways and it is constantly being updated and revised.

In 1970 450,000 copies were issued and will be distributed free of charge to Idaho residents and the motoring public who visit the Gem state from other areas during the year.

Information, comments and suggestions are obtained through the state's six highway district offices and submitted to the Department's headquarters in Boise for inclusion or correction in coming publications. Ellis Mathes, state highway engineer, says the goal is to make the maps as helpful to the traveling public as possible and to include information on camp sites and points of interest, at the same time making the maps easy to read.

DEAR POLLY—Instead of discarding stockings with runs, I take nine, tie them together at the top and then braid them, using three stockings per strand. When I get nearly to the toe I make another knot and give them to my two dogs. They love playing tug of war or teasing each other with the toy.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY—When something baking-spills-over-in-the-oven, I let it finish cooking and then pour salt over the goop. Turn the oven off and close the door. When it is cool, lift out the mess with a pancake turner.—DONNA

DEAR POLLY—Use worn cotton print dresses or skirts for making slipcovers for pillows to use on camping trips or other trips where there will be small children to bed down. They can be used, too, for father's sleeping bag when he goes hunting.—R. R. B.

FOR REP. BURT I. TALCOTT,
of California

If two sons from the same family serve in Vietnam, can their younger brother (if drafted) be forced to fight in Vietnam, or can he request assignment elsewhere?—Mrs. J. Tidwell, Arroyo, Calif.

Department of Defense policy provides for the deferment of a member of a family from assignment to Vietnam while another member of the family is serving there. The entitlement to deferment ends when the member in Vietnam returns to the United States.

FOR RUTH DUZZI, tv's "Laugh-In"

Is it true that you created the character of Gladys for "Laugh-In"?—Mrs. John Davis, Green Bay, Wis.

Yes. I had played the spinster secretary in summer stock and felt I could enlarge on it. I went to a thrift shop and bought the most drab old-maid outfit I could find on the racks. When my next audition came up, I put it on, wore no make-up and did a bit about a man-crazy girl. It gave me a good spot in the show, ever since.

FOR LEO DUROCHER

How is it possible to make an unassisted triple play?—Gene Rablitch, Ventnor, N.J.

With men on first and second, short-stop grabs a line drive for one out, steps on second putting out runner who has taken a lead off the base, then tags runner coming down from first.

FOR PAUL HARVEY,

Why is so much emphasis being placed on law and order today and so little emphasis placed on it prior to 1965, when civil-rights demonstrators were being brutally murdered and harassed throughout the country?—Yaurice Bayless, Jefferson City, Mo.

Because lawlessness has mushroomed throughout the country, and even the country's most liberal educators are issuing stern disciplinary edicts.

Because lawlessness has mushroomed throughout the country, and even the country's most liberal educators are issuing stern disciplinary edicts.

FOR ABIGAIL VAN BUREN,
columnist

Being an identical twin, would you say that it is much more difficult to break off from each other than for ordinary siblings?—Lita McGraw, Anderson, Ala.

I would say "yes," if by "break off" you mean to establish myself as an individual and maintain that identity.

FOR JOHN A. VOLPE, Secretary-of-Transportation

What means of transportation is used by the majority of traveling people today?—Mrs. R. Preston, Chicago, Ill.

Motor vehicles are far and away the leading means of transportation today. There are slightly more than 104 million motor vehicles on our streets and highways today, and they pile up better than one trillion vehicle miles each year. Motor vehicles account for 94 percent of the personal travel within our cities and 88 percent of the intercity travel.

etiquette expert

May a college graduate who has received many gifts use a printed "thank you" note for each gift received?—William Carter, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Printed thank-you cards are not correct. If one does use a printed card, a personal note should be added.

FOR RODNEY DANGERFIELD,
comedian

Where do you get your show material? Does your wife help you and approve or disapprove?—Mrs. Mary Gordon, Atlantic City, N.J.

I write my own material. My wife doesn't help me, but she does approve of most of my material.

Want to ask a famous person a question? You can through this column, and we'll get the answer from the president person you designate. Send question, preferably on a post card, to Ask Them Yourself, Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We cannot acknowledge questions, but $5 will be paid for each one used.

What in the World!

Getting It All Together Indian singer-composer-guitarist Buffy Sainte-Marie, well known for her renditions of the music of her people, told FAMILY WEEK-

Indian folksinger Buffy Sainte-Marie

LY of her childhood, a time when she was not yet in tune with herself. Orphaned when a few months old, Buffy was adopted from the Plains Cree tribe of Saskatchewan, Canada, by a Micmac (Canadian Indian) mother and a European father. "I idolized my brother, who is blond. It was the hardest thing for me to understand why I didn't look like him. All through high school in New England I tried to make myself look like the models pictured in the teen-age fashion magazines. I bleached my hair and wore light make-up. But somehow it didn't work at all." Now, of course, Buffy has found herself—and her heritage—and carries it "with pride."

Auto Alcohol Tester Half of all highway fatalities are caused by drinking drivers whose judgment, visual acuity, short-term memory, and coordinated motor responses are impaired. General Motors is developing a physiological tester for the automobile instrument panel which will make it impossible to "blow a car" if the driver has consumed an unsafe amount of alcohol. The test involves a random number of digits which flash for just a few seconds on a dashboard panel. If the driver is sober enough to operate the car safely, he should be able to remember and repeat them by punching them out on a keyboard. If he cannot do it after three tries, the vehicle won't start for an extended period of time. Although not yet on the market, GM's "blowee" additional uses for the testers: as an anti-theft locking device and as a protection against children starting a car.

Flying High The accident rate of pilots over 60 is "comparable or superior" to that of younger fliers, according to the Federal Aviation Administration's office of aviation medicine. Although airline pilots must retire at 60, many continue flying noncommercial planes. At last count, there were more than 11,000, the oldest being a 93-year-old physician.

Invisible Fillings For all those people whose theme song is, "I'll Never Smile Again," because of a mouth full of gold or silver fillings—you can start taking laugh lessons. There is a new dental filling, made of natural crystal quartz, which is invisible and strong enough to use for both front (showing) and back (chewing) teeth. This unique filling, called Adaptive and developed by Johnson & Johnson, can be given the color of surrounding teeth, thus making it "invisible." Yet it is strong enough to scratch steel and to require a diamond to cut it. May models, socialites, and celebrities have already begun to replace their existing fillings with this beautifier. Normal chewing can be resumed within an hour. So, start smiling.

You're not getting older.

(A philosophy for every woman over 25)

In this youth-mad world, when a woman's over 25, she's old. Or on the way. If you're thirty or so — you're finished. (They can't quite believe you still have all your teeth!)

Well we say — rubbish! And we say — don't let the idiots get you down!

Deep inside, you know you're better than you've ever been. Not older. Better. You're warmer. Richer. More compassionate. More composed. Infinitely more interesting. (When someone says hello to you at a party, you're not stuck for an answer anymore, are you?)

You know you wouldn't be 18 again for anything in the world.

And do you know what? There are millions of men who wouldn't want you that way either. For all their wandering looks, most men agree a woman's not much good till she's thirty, anyway.

It's a fact. And you know it. A woman's not an age — she's a person! So what if you'll never look sweet sixteen again. Maybe you'll look better!

One thing we know you can make better is your hair. Not just better than it was yesterday.

Maybe better than it ever was before.

Because there is a hair color so good for your hair it can actually make the feel of it, the texture, the sheen — better than it was. All this while it works its fabulous magic with your natural color.

That hair color is Loving Care® Lotion.

You can use Loving Care to cover gray perfectly (without ever subjecting your hair to a touch of peroxide!).

You can use Loving Care to give a naturally radiant color lift to drab, plain or fading brunette hair (even if you don't have a touch of gray).

But the astonishment is that all the while you're doing good to the color — you're also doing real good to the hair. Making it, in fact, better. Not just better color. Silkier, glossier, fuller-looking — better hair.

Isn't that beautiful? And you can choose from 13 of nature's prettiest shades.

So why walk around with even those first gray hairs? (That kind of silly sadness you don't need.)

You see, we don't care what they say in the soft drink generation. You're not getting older. You're getting better.

You're not a pretty girl anymore. You're a beautiful woman.

Members of the National Organization for Women march in front of White House in protest for equal rights.

wat." Continues this ebullient City Hall reporter for Women's Wear Daily, "Slowly I discovered that men have hangups about women in business. Oftentimes at work a man will say to me, "Oh, stop doing that like a woman" or "Just like a woman."

"Even at City Hall the people with whom I deal never believe I'm a writer; they assume I'm the secretary or an assistant."

When Trucia realized that her experiences were similar to those of other young journalists, she joined Media Women, a group of women on magazines, newspapers, and in television and publishing who want to improve their status.

It was Media Women that spearheaded a recent invasion of the Ladies Home Journal offices. The women read a list of demands to Journal editor John Mack Carter, among them, a section of the magazine to deal with "women's rights" subjects.

Continues Miss Kushner, "I deplore violence, but I reject, too, the reformist approach of N.O.W. We don't want a share of the power. We want a new ball game."

Journal editors scheduled an eight-page "Women's Lib" supplement for its August issue.

Whereas some career girls are attracted to feminism to implement job equality, others prefer its new lifestyle: freedom from fashion, make-up, and the traditional man-woman

Lib gals demand service in men's bars.

Their voices are loud and harsh. They are angry. Some wear heavy boots and army jackets. They do things like camping in front of the Chicago mansion of Playboy tycoon Hugh Hefner to protest the $100-a-plate antiwar dinner he's hosting inside. Their cry:

"Save the people at home first. Save the women. Stop exploiting us!"

While critics and supporters debate its merits, the women's liberation movement is mobilizing women in droves. I've just investigated "Women's Lib" developments across the country. An estimated 500,000 feminists, young and old, rich and poor, white and black are meeting in town and cities. They're confronting the paramount issues of women's rights as they see them:

Job and pay equality, day-care centers for children so mothers may work, abortion reform, the image of women as presented in the media, admittance to "men only" restaurants and organizations, etc.

The nation's capital is astir. Julie Nixon Eisenhower declares the feminists are "too strident" but says both she and her mother "wish the President would appoint more women to administrative posts." The President, meanwhile, nominates the first two women army generals in U.S. history, though at this writing only 13 of his some 300 administrative appointments have gone to women. The feminists are not only talking and demonstrating, they are organizing. One of the biggest of their groups is N.O.W.—the National Organization for Women.

A charter organization with sister chapters in 36 states, N.O.W. seeks reforms within the present system, through protest and boycott. The organization picketed the New York Times until it "desegregated" its help-wanted ads, and it boycotted a leading household products company for discriminatory employment practices toward women.

One of N.O.W.'s most articulate spokeswomen is Nan Wood, a sprightly 86-year-old grandmother from Portage, Ind., who grew up amidst the furious debate over women's suffrage. "In school, the boys said the vote was a privilege rather than a right, and our female teacher was either too scared or too apathetic to set them straight," says the energetic N.O.W. chapter vice president.

"I found the same condescension in the job market," stresses the vituperative founder of Wood Counter Laboratories, Inc. "I had to open my own shop. No one would promote a woman to the presidency. That's when I became active."

Married and mother of five children, Nan Wood is in the front line of N.O.W. demonstrations. She started the protest against a major airline for restricting woman passengers from its Chicago-New York rush-hour flight. Says Mrs. Wood indignantly, "The president of the company said men liked to relax in the evening, take off their shoes, and tell jokes. But finally we won."

The buoyant grandmother admits she uses feminine wiles to get results. "When the airlines seemed intractable about not allowing stewardesses to marry or to work past age 32, I suggested that maybe they wanted the girls to appear slightly available? They soon reversed their policies."

Statistics from a 1969 U.S. Department of Commerce report show that women of equal education with men make one-third their salaries; that the majority of women hold household and secretarial jobs; that only 26 states have laws guaranteeing them equal pay for equal work.

The experiences of many young career girls prove out these findings. In the job market, qualified college graduates say they find opportunities unequal to their preparation and ability. Trucia Kushner applied for her first job in New York City with an M.A. in journalism from Boston University and a few years experience on a small newspaper.

"CBS offered me a job as secretary for $90 a week. I never thought it was because I was a woman. I just accepted that was the way business

Dana Donamore is a computer programmer on the Apollo space project at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. A member of the Boston Liberation Front, Dana prints a feminist journal and maintains a "Lib" news office with "sisters" Abby Rockefeller and Jayne West.

A green belt karate champion, Dana believes "function is beauty," and considers her muscles beautiful. Says the 5'2" brunette, "What good is being soft and weak if you get mugged on a dark street?"

"The 'traditions' which characterize the typical girl-boy relationship turn Dana off. "I deplore the term 'dating.' My associations with men have privileges," shouts Terry Baum, a California student. "We have for too long enjoyed a queenly status. We have manipulated men to our advantage and enjoyed free benefits. It wasn't fair to ourselves or to men."

Terry belongs to the drama group or "brigade" of the Radical Feminists, which has "sisters" throughout the United States as well as in England. Its members are mostly young and attractive with strong ideas and personalities.

"When you cast your lot with women's liberation, it's impossible to indulge yourself," says Terry. "Doors no longer are opened; no more free seats. You can't expect to be pam-are friendships; they may be sexual, but they are not dates." It is just as natural for Dana to ask out a man as to be asked out by him. When she's out, the evening is "dutch-treat."

What about the New Morality? Smirks Dana, "Sexual liberation was invented by men for women. We're just as repressed today as we were in the Victorian Age. Men expect us to be permissive. It prevents women from finding out what are their real sexual feelings."

A woman's sexual and social role is also a heated subject for discussion among college girls who in small "rap" or discussion groups are trying to rethink and restructure themselves. "Women shouldn't porod. Isn't it absurd for a 60-year-old man to give up his seat to a healthy 19-year-old girl?

"Men are just as victimized as are women by the present social system," Terry emphasizes. "The pressure is on them to achieve, to make the money, while it pushes women into the home. However, the slave is aware of the oppression before the master. And that's why today women are yelling so loudly."

Maybe women's initiative in usurping from men a share of the responsibility is what is attracting more and more support from U.S. males. One of the few feminist groups which invites male members, N.O.W., reports that between 25 and 40 percent of its participation is from men. "Chauvinism is a burden," says Jim Collins-Robson, chairman of the Direct Action Committee for the Chicago chapter of N.O.W. "Men die 10 years younger than women. We have to make all the important decisions, support families, and go to war."

Collins-Robson takes a lot of ribbing at the office from coworkers who don't understand his feminist sympathies. He says with dismay, "People don't feel as guilty about sexism ('defining a woman in terms of her sex') as they do about racism. A few months ago some of the best luncheon places in Chicago were providing a 'bikini show' with their menus. The guys couldn't see why I refused to go along."

Collins-Robson found it easier to help elect a black alderman in Milwaukee than to gain women's admittance into a Chicago men's grill. "When we protested at Borghoff's restaurant, one of our women was roughed-up by a male patron. We took the case to court, and the judge laughed us out of the room."

Comforts Jim's petite, effervescent wife, Mary Jean, "A man has to have a strong ego to be a feminist. Consistently, people mistake our shared name, and think Collins is Jim's first name." Adds Jim, "If we're in a restaurant and Mary Jean pays the check, the waitress will give me back the change. When I'll slide it to my wife, we'll invariably get a funny look—like I'm gauche."

I asked Buffalo feminist Tom Scott whether he objected to his wife Ann working? "I think she'd insist on it," he said. Tom works in New York and Ann teaches a course in Women's studies at the University of Buffalo, so the couple, married just eight months, only manage to see each other three times a week. "Some people might think our marriage is a strange one," admits Tom. "Typically the wife lives where her husband works, but Ann and I respect each other's commitment too much to make demands."

There is little of the usual tension or "battle of the sexes" in the Scott marriage. "We're not inclined to compete," says Tom. "So what if your wife earns more than you do, or has a higher education degree?"

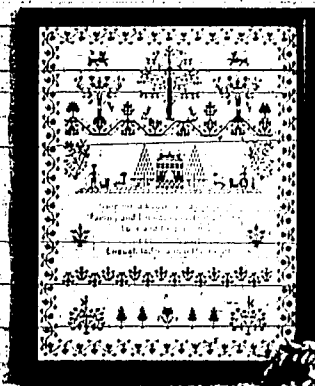

Ann scoffs at prescribed sex roles. "In our house I'm just as capable as is Tom of fixing our washing machine. And as it happens, he's a better short-order cook."

Adds Tom, "Whoever's home first gets dinner or cleans up."

A number of other groups are working hard to create a new world for women, most of them more hard-hitting and radical but smaller in membership than N.O.W. Among them are the feminists, The Red Stockings, and Women's International Terrorist Conspiracy from Hell (WITCH), whose members wear black robes and hats.

And the changes being wrought in our American society by Women's Lib are becoming more visible every day.

Betsy Ross, history's most famous devotee of the art of needlework, would be delighted at its enormous current popularity. In her day, women often stitched for practical reasons. Today motivational experts tell us that in a highly mechanized society women, more than ever, have a need for personal expression. Not to mention their gratification at being able to decorate their homes with their own handiwork.

On these pages, you'll find a host of enchanting things to stitch. You can order directly by filling out the coupon below. Each kit contains an adequate supply of yarns, a color guide, a stitch chart, and complete instructions.

But don't stop here. We know a teen-ager, chastised about the bedraggled state of her jeans, who decided to dress them up—she embroidered flowers down the side of each leg!

Your life is many stories... let us help you write them

One of America's best-known writers tells you how you can turn your every-day experiences into saleable stories and articles—with the help of famous authors

By Faith Baldwin

Faith Baldwin has written over 100 books and hundreds of short pieces for magazines. At the beginning of her career, she also managed to run a household and bring up four children. She has been a member of the Guiding Faculty of Famous Writers School since its founding in 1960.

If you want to write, your own experiences are your best stock in trade—even if you haven't crossed the Atlantic in a sailboat or been to the White House for dinner. As any publisher can tell you, most of today's best books, short stories and television plays begin with what the authors saw, heard and felt in the ordinary course of living.

Take my own case, for instance. I started by writing stories drawn from my own experiences as a young wife and mother. And I've been drawing material for my novels and articles from personal experience ever since. Max Shulman's best-selling novel, Barfoot Boy With Cheek, came out of his college days. Rod Serling's amateur boxing-career-inspired Requiem For A Heavyweight. And Phyllis McGinley got the material for Sixpence In Her Shoe right at home. The same principle—write about what you know best—holds true for the budding author, too.

Your own life is filled with stories begging to be written. Every day brings new subjects, revealing bits of conversation, a sudden flare of emotion, a fact filled with conflict, an incident in the street. To see how close your experiences are to what is being published today, just look through any popular magazine. I guarantee you'll find stories there similar to those in your own life, including articles you might well have written.

But having something to write about is only half the battle—the other half is bringing it to life for other people. This calls for the craftsmanship that turns your experiences into polished pieces that editors will want to buy.

There are two ways to learn this craft. You may acquire it through years of toil, sweat and rejection slips the way I did. But I think the other way is quicker and far less frustrating: you can learn from successful authors.

An unusual kind of writing school

Several years ago, I got together with a group of outstanding authors to form the Famous Writers School. Our purpose was to help beginners develop their potential by passing on to them everything we have learned about writing. And we're now offering that same opportunity to you.

Our training is uniquely fitted to a woman's needs—because you study at home, at your own pace, in your own free time. There's no need to follow any schedule but your own. All you need is a quiet corner, the desire to write and some basic talent.

Person-to-person teaching

After giving you a solid grounding in the fundamentals of all good writing, the Famous Writers School offers you advanced training in the specialty of your choice. Your instructor is a professional writer or editor, working under the guidance of our Faculty. He gives you writing more personal attention and constructive criticism than you'd get in most classrooms.

Instead of dealing with a large group of students—each with different problems and talents—he concentrates on your individual needs. He carefully edits your assignment, going over it word by word, line by line, blue-penciling corrections on it just as editors do with established authors. Then he returns it to you with a detailed letter, giving concrete recommendations on how to make your writing more effective.

Students break into print

The proof of the School's effectiveness is in the publishing: Famous Writers students have sold their work to hundreds of magazines, professional journals and newspapers.

Mrs. Dorothy O'Quinn of East Point, Ga., writes, "Pardon me if I 'bubble' a little. I've just sold an article to Good Housekeeping! Although I've had a number of articles published, this is my first major sale. Isn't it wonderful?"

"I've sold 12 articles and one short story," reports Mrs. Frances Morton of San Jose, Cal. "I'm working on another article now and have three more 'go-aheads'. The highlight came when two checks, one from Field & Stream, and the other from Scholastic Seque arrived recently, less than seven months after I'd enrolled with Famous Writers School. Sometimes I'm a little frightened by the enormity of what's happening to a lifelong dream in such a short span, but the reassurance of your School replaces that fear with confidence."

Mrs. June DeBoer, Metairie, La., writes, "Never was I so surprised. Ladies Home Journal called me long distance to say they accepted my article—and are paying me $750! It so happens that this article had been prepared for one of my assignments."

Evelyn Fiske of Chicago, who holds down a full-time job, announces: "I've sold 18 stories, ranging in price from $125 to $375. I've been greatly encouraged by Famous Writers; the new writer can sell."

We'll test your writing aptitude—free

To help you find out whether you have writing talent worth developing, we have devised a revealing Aptitude Test. The postpaid card will bring you a free copy, along with an illustrated brochure describing the School.

When you return the Test, it will be graded by a member of our staff. If you do show writing aptitude, you will be eligible to enroll in the School. However, there is no obligation to do so. # Have you ever wished you could draw this well?

How do you know you couldn't?

If you like to draw, you've probably tried sketching scenes like the one above. But chances are, you've run into problems like getting buildings to "recede" into the background. Or making water glisten the way it should. And after trying a number of times, you may have decided you just "haven't got it," and that you'd never make it as an artist.

That decision could be a serious mistake. For all you may need to get on the right track is some expert help: a few pencil touches, a few words of advice from a skilled art instructor who can tell you exactly what you're doing wrong, and show you exactly what you should do to correct it.

Famous artists want to help you

Now a group of famous artists want to bring you this kind of help, no matter where you live or what your schedule. They've developed a way to teach you right at home the secrets of drawing and painting with real professional skill.

Among the famous artists are Norman Rockwell, Doug Kingman, Bob Peak, and Fred Laukens. They've long known that there are talented people everywhere who could and should become artists, but who don't because they can't overcome the drawing "road-blocks" in their path. Some of these people think it's a lack of talent that's holding them back. Others realize they have talent, but can't leave their homes or jobs to get the training they need to develop it.

A personal answer to this problem

To help such people, the famous artists formed the Famous Artists School. Taking time off from their own careers, they poured everything they knew about drawing and painting into a series of home-study lessons. They illustrated the lessons with over 5,000 drawings. Then they devised a way of giving you constructive criticism that's almost as personal as private tutoring.

Each assignment you send to the Famous Artists School receives the individual attention of an instructor who is himself a working professional artist. He actually draws or paints his suggestions for improvement, and then writes you a personal letter full of specific advice and encouragement.

This personalized training has helped hundreds of people who were once awkward amateurs become polished, professional, full-time and part-time artists.

They went from "dabblers" to successful professionals

Take Nancy K. Houston, of Manchester, Ga., for example. A few years ago, she had "absolutely no knowledge of how to develop my small latent talent." Today Mrs. Houston sells portraits to people as far away as New York, Texas, and California. Anthony Potin of New York City, was a mail clerk, "stuck" in a low-pay routine job. Today, he's an artist for an important printing firm doing exciting creative work. And Mrs. R. G. Des Ermin, of Escondido, Calif., changed from a "nameless, faceless dabbler in art to a recognized professional." Now she averages $1,500 a year from her part-time art work.

Find out if you, too, have art talent. Send for our free test.

To help you find out whether you, too, have the talent to develop professional skill in art, the famous artists have created a fascinating Art Talent Test. It is offered free, and will be graded without charge by a member of the School's staff. If you do well, or can offer other evidence of art talent, you may enroll for training. But there is no obligation to do so. For a free copy of the test, and a brochure describing the School, just fill in the attached card and mail it today.

If card is missing, you can get the Famous Artists Talent Test and information about our courses simply by sending your name, address and age to Famous Artists School, Dept. A-6447, Westport, Conn. 06880.

Life Is Better for the Hemophiliac

Researchers are producing striking advances in treatment that are enabling victims to live more normal lives than ever before — By NEAL ASHBY

The hospital is just a part of life a guy has to accept for 10-year-old David, an alert New Jersey boy.

He was back there again the other day, his left ankle badly swollen and discolored, pain twisting his face, much as he tried not to show it.

Not so long ago, David could have looked forward in resignation to having bottle after bottle of blood plasma drained into his arm and being given pills that would make him feel a little funny but would take away the pain for a while. He would have to stay in the hospital for days and go home in a wheel chair.

When he finally was up and around, his mother would make him stay inside most of the time for fear he'd hurt himself again.

But this time David was given an intravenous injection of a solution made from a white powder contained in a small bottle. The second day he received two more such injections. The third day, limping a little but on his own feet, he went home.

David is just one of the estimated 100,000 Americans who have hemophilia, or "bleeder's" disease. His swollen ankle had been choked with blood. His recent experience illustrates how much better life is getting for hemophilia's victims as a result of dramatic new developments like the magical white powder.

The hemophiliac is almost always male. The only difference between him and anyone else is that his blood lacks just one of the dozens of substances that make up this life-giving fluid. But it's a crucial substance—one of the "factors" needed for clotting. The hemophiliac may bleed profusely after a mere bump. The bleeding may occur from a cut on the skin surface. But just as often, it is internal, as in the case of David's ankle, which had been kicked accidentally in a playful scuffle.

Internal bleeding can result from a blow or can simply begin spontaneously. Sometimes it takes place in the abdominal cavity. More frequently, it occurs inside joints, as with David's ankle. When this happens, the joint swells and stiffens. Pressure on nerves causes intense pain. If there is bleeding in the joint too often, cartilage, muscle, and bone surfaces may begin to deteriorate, and in more extreme cases the victim becomes crippled.

The hemophiliac not only bleeds readily, but his bleeding is extremely difficult to control. Massive transfusions of normal whole blood or of plasma (the liquid portion) long was the only means of supplying the missing clotting factor in sufficient quantity. But this high volume input can cause dangerous, potentially fatal, overload of the heart and lungs.

Weakened by suffering and repeated loss of blood, the hemophiliac as recently as 25 years ago rarely survived longer than about 16 years.

But better days have come.

● The first transfusions given bleeding hemophiliacs were of whole blood. Then it was found that just the plasma could be given, since this contains the missing clotting factor. A few years ago, Dr. Judith Pool of Stanford University discovered a way to isolate some of the missing blood fraction, known as antihemophilic factor, or "AHF." By quick-freezing plasma, beginning the thawing process, and then whirling it in a centrifuge, she captured some AHF in a concentrated sludge that becomes separated from the liquid. This crude AHF concentrate, called cryoprecipitate and given, like plasma, by drip infusion is seven to 10 times as potent as an equal amount of plasma.

Now, in just the last two years, drug manufacturers have developed methods of producing more highly concentrated, purer AHF—the magic white powder. Five to 10 times or more stronger than "cryo," it is given by infusion or syringe injection and commonly stops bleeding quickly.

The results achieved by both these materials are heartening. Explains Dr. Louis Aledort, medical director of the National Hemophilia Foundation:

"Serious 'bleeds' that once could last for weeks, leaving the patient weak and anemic, can now be brought under control within hours. Often we don't even have to admit the patient to the hospital. He can be given the concentrates in a doctor's office or an out-patient clinic."

● Sometime this year another significant advance is expected. A new, higher potency Factor VIII AHF concentrate, said to be of greater purity and more easily mass-produced, is due to be released for general use. It is the work of a joint research team of the American Red Cross and the New York University Medical Center, headed by Dr. Alan Johnson. It will not, Hemophilia Foundation officials warn, be readily available "shelf item" for some time.

● Use of the new concentrates has made possible another seven-league stride in treatment. Since bleeding now can be controlled, victims' crippled limbs can be restored to usefulness and strengthened through physical therapy without fear of causing new bleeding. Explains Dr. Marvin Gilbert, associate medical director of the foundation:

"The damage comes in the joints—ankles, knees, elbows—where there are moving, meshing parts. Regular exercise improves the action of the joints, and we are now able to borrow a concept from sports medicine and give these patients physical-training programs. Exercise is helping us to keep many hemophiliacs on their feet."

"The exercises serve a preventive purpose, too," Dr. Gilbert notes. "The stronger the joint and the muscles around it, the less likely it will be to sustain damage from bleeding."

Isometric "pressure" exercises, flexing of joints, exercising in weighted boots, and lifting of light weights are some of the methods being used for strengthening and rehabilitation. The Los Angeles Orthopaedic Hospital is a leader among those developing the physical therapy concept.

When a weakened joint requires bracing, light plastic material is now being used, replacing the cumbersome steel bars and leather cuffs of the past.

Doctors also are encouraging hemophiliacs to swim, ride bicycles, and participate in noncontact sports.

● A number of medical centers, notably Mt. Sinai in New York City, are maintaining special hemophilia clinics. Mt. Sinai has organized a comprehensive care program that utilizes the skills of specialists in a dozen related fields.

Treatment and understanding have traveled a long and difficult course since the time of what are believed to be the first recorded cases of hemophilia: the Biblical descriptions of infant boys bleeding to death after circumcision.

Though females rarely have hemo-philia, it is they who "carry" the defective genes which cause it. Neither a hemophilic's sons nor his daughters will have the disease. But the daughters will pass it on to approximately half of the sons they bear.

History's most famous "carrier" was Queen Victoria, England's monarch from 1837 to 1901. Through the marriages of her daughters, the disease spread to the royal lines of Russia and Spain. A present-day hemophilic is actor Richard Burton.

Despite the striking advances in treatment, today's hemophilic still has plenty of problems.

The AHF concentrates are stiffly expensive—perhaps $25 to $40 for a small bottle. A small bag of "cryo" (frozen for storage) is usually considerably cheaper but can cost as much in more remote sections of the country. The patient will need from one to perhaps five bottles of high concentrate or as many as 40 bags of cryo per bleeding episode. And the AHF clotting factor from these sources has a short life in the hemophilic's body. Each succeeding blood is a new ball game.

Hemophilics must continually struggle against the fear of injury to live as normally as possible rather than becoming sedentary shut-ins.

Painant headache is inflicted on family life. Keith Brock, a Toledo, Ohio, hardware store clerk, and his wife Lois have three hemophilic sons, aged 13, 10, and eight. "You can cry yourself to sleep, all right," Brock says. "Seeing kids get 'stuck' so many times, their eyes glazed over with pain, and being so good about it. Having the bleeding start again the day they're due to leave the hospital, getting called to the hospital at two or three in the morning when things don't look good..."

But the campaign to enable hemophilics to lead normal lives moves forward daily. The Federal Government and the foundation are funding dozens of research studies. Coming developments may include a small, compact supply of AHF the hemophilic can carry with him and administer whenever he needs it, a cheaper, synthetic AHF, and even possibly transplants of livers and spleens, the organs now thought by some experts to be the source of AHF production in healthy persons.

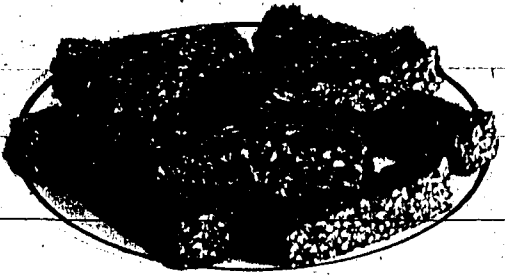

And meanwhile, the little bottles of white powder and the transparent bags of yellow cryo are sending hemophilics back into action faster than ever before.

I Drove a Camper Bus Through the West

This vivacious actress describes the joys of a memorable family trip

By DEBBIE REYNOLDS

I'm a firm believer in selecting activities that involve the whole family—or as many as can be rounded up at one time.

It may sound old-fashioned, but our household slogan is that familiar phrase: "A family that plays together, stays together." In fact, I even insist that my tv working hours more or less coincide with my children's schedules, just so we can be together often.

Recently, when I had a few weeks break from the studio, my two youngsters, Carrie, 13, and Todd, 11, my father and mother, and I decided to visit Bill Harrah's ranch near Boise, Idaho. My husband Harry Karl was simply too busy to join us.

Since we were going to be at the ranch for only a short stay, it occurred to me how much fun it would be to drive home. Instead of squeezing into an automobile and worrying about motel accommodations at the height of the tourist season and finding decent restaurants, we decided to rent a camper bus, which was delivered to us at Harrah's the day before we left to return to Beverly Hills.

It could sleep six (and we were only five, so there was plenty of room), had toilet facilities, a stove with an oven, a sink, refrigerator, air conditioning, television and stereo, and its own generator, so we were self-sufficient. It was a wonderful feeling to be independent!

It didn't take us long to become attached to our home on wheels. Todd and my dad were the mechanics. They took care of all minor repairs, made sure the tires were okay each morning, and that we never got too low on gas, especially when crossing long desert stretches. My mother did the cooking, and we always stopped early enough so she could prepare a delicious meal, which we usually ate out in the open with a majestic panorama for a backdrop.

We had a frightening experience on the trip. This occurred in the middle of the night after we'd driven much later than usual and had decided to park off the road in an open area somewhere out in the wilds of New Mexico. Usually we stopped at trailer parks, which we found to be very advantageous. Not only were they inexpensive ($8 total a night compared to $12 a person for a motel), but they provided bathing and laundry facilities, and we met the nicest, friendliest people you can imagine.

A couple of times we'd pulled into a vacant area near a service station and ask whether we could stay there overnight. But this was the first time we'd really been way out, on our own. We'd all dropped off to sleep, when suddenly the stillness of the night was shattered by a blood-curdling war-hoop! I sat bolt upright in bed, unable to believe my senses! Then I realized everyone else had heard it, too. We all rushed for the windows and peered through the curtains. Outside, we could dimly see the black shapes of men on horseback as they galloped past!

Now, common sense told us that what was happening was impossible. Indians besieging wagon trains now happen only in history books and Hollywood movies. Yet right before our very eyes, Indians were encircling us! Daddy grabbed Todd's baseball bat since we didn't carry any weapons, and I got a good grip on the flashlight—either to shine in their eyes or bang someone on the head, I reasoned—just in case they made it through the camper door.

Miraculously, they disappeared as quickly, and as mysteriously, as they had appeared! I can only assume it was a bunch of teen-age kids having some fun with us. After all, what can one do for kicks on Saturday night out in the middle of a reservation? At last, I now know how the term "palaceo" came about. I was so scared, I was white as a sheet!

Actually, we had given some thought to the fact that we were not the average travelers and might run some risk, inasmuch as I am in movies and on tv, and people recognize me wherever I go. Yet while a few people did recognize me, in general I escaped detection.

I remember one evening when we stopped at a trailer park and I quosed up for a shower along with several other women. The girl in front of me suddenly looked into the handbag she carried and gasped. "I've forgotten my shampoo!" She turned to me and asked, "Would you please hold my place in line?" And then she stopped and stared at me. Finally she stammered, "Golly—for a minute there, you looked just like someone I know. I just can't think who it is. Anyway, will you please hold my place for me?"

I told her I would, and she rushed off. She never did figure out who I looked like.

While my original plan had been for my folks to get better acquainted with Carrie and Todd, as the miles stretched behind us, I began to realize that it was a case of all of us getting to know one another better. We spent hours in deep conversation—an art that is gradually losing ground in our society, where people depend so much upon being entertained. Not that we didn't take along enough games to keep us busy for months! But visiting proved more fun. And we sang until we were hoarse. I taught the youngsters all the old popular World War II songs, which were new to them, and they had a few to teach us.

Looking back on our leisurely three-week trip (it cost only $1,000 for the five of us)—the time we took to get from Boise back to Burbank, where my folks still live, and to Beverly Hills, where Harry, the children, and I live—I realize what an invaluable experience it was. For a while, at least, we'd been able to slow the passing of time. Not only had my original purpose been achieved, but we also saw some of the most beautiful and interesting parts of America, such as the Grand Canyon, Indian cliff dwellings, the narrow-gauge railroad trip from Durango, Colo., to Silverton, dinosaur-land in Colorado and Utah, and the Mormon Temple and historic square in Salt Lake City.

We've become such enthusiastic vagabonds that in three years we want to move to Switzerland for a year and drive all over Europe. Harry hopes to retire by then, and if my series ("The Debbie Reynolds Show") is still on, we'll be shooting in Europe, so Switzerland would be a perfect home base. We're already working on our foreign languages. Carrie speaks French quite well, and we all hope to have some knowledge of it by then.

Of course, we won't wait that long before taking another trip together. We find we can turn even short jaunts to our homes in Palm Springs or Malibu into special events by just being together and appreciating one another. After all, that's what's really important to us.

■ Invite friends to a lovely summertime luncheon in your garden. The coral-colored salmon set on leafy-green-covered plates and the pretty vegetable salad will help bring the garden setting to your table. Delicious hot rolls, iced tea or coffee, and the plum dessert, served slightly warm, will complete a memorable summertime menu.

Mixed Vegetable Salad

- 1 cup sliced cooked potatoes
- 1½ cups sliced carrots
- 1½ cups cooked whole or cut green beans (fresh, frozen or canned)
- 1½ cups cooked green peas (fresh, frozen or canned)
- 1 cup sliced or sliced-cooked hearts

- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- ¼ cup small pimiento-stuffed olives
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup chili sauce
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

1. Marinate the first 6 vegetables separately in the salad dressing; chill thoroughly.
2. To serve, arrange (see photo) drained vegetables, celery, onion, eggs, and olives in a lettuce-lined salad bowl.
3. If not served with the salmon, accompany with a blend of mayonnaise, chili sauce, and lemon juice or with the Remoulade Sauce.

8 servings

Cold-Poached Salmon

- 1½ qts. water
- 4 vegetable bouillon cubes
- 2 medium-sized onions, sliced
- 1 carrot, sliced
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced
- 1 teaspoon Accent
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 10 peppercorns
- 4 salmon steaks, about ½ lb. each

1. Put water and remaining ingredients, except salmon, into a 4-qt. saucepot. Bring to boiling.

2. Meanwhile, put salmon steaks onto a large cheesecloth. Pull up corners of the cheesecloth and tie together. Lower salmon into the saucepot of boiling water. Cover and simmer gently about 15 min., or until salmon flakes easily when tested with a fork, but is firm and whole. Uncover and set saucepot with salmon aside to cool, 1 hr.

3. Carefully lift salmon from liquid and set onto a pan. Cut away cheesecloth; transfer steaks to an aluminum-foil lined pan. Carefully peel off skin and discard. Cover tightly with foil and chill thoroughly.

4. To serve, place a chilled salmon steak onto leaf lettuce on each serving plate.

5. Brush salmon with French dressing and sprinkle with minced parsley. If not serving with the vegetable salad, garnish with a wreath of scored cucumber slices around salmon. Serve with Remoulade Sauce and hot yeast rolls. — 4 servings

3. To prepare topping, thoroughly blend the 1 cup flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, and mace; add to the beaten egg and stir with a fork until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle evenly over plums in baking dish. Pour the melted butter evenly over the topping.

4. Bake at 375°F. 40 to 45 min., or until topping is lightly browned. Serve warm with cinnamon whipped cream, whipped dessert topping, or frozen whipped dessert topping, thawed.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

A slip of a girl in a men's clothing store, weighing about 90 pounds, was waiting on a man who looked to be about 250 pounds. He asked to see a belt but didn't know what size.

The girl got a tape measure. For a moment she just stood and gazed at the man, looking very puzzled. Then she smiled in relief.

"Here," she said brightly. "You hold this end while I run around you!"

Around the Bargaining Table

When someone really Earns his pay.

Mediator: Come, the hour's Getting late.

—Anton F. Cross

On a beautifully bright weekend, my three daughters were sprawled in the living room with the TV going full blast and movie magazines claiming the remainder of their attention. I decided enough was enough and announced firmly we were all going to jump in the car for some fresh air and a family outing that could be educational as well as enjoyable.

As we drove to some marvelous underground caverns about 45 miles away, I tried to work up some enthusiasm among my brood—but alliance resigned.

After descent into the caverns, our guide paused for questions at one especially spectacular spot. I was so pleased when one of my daughters stepped forward, but my hopes were dashed when she queried:
"Is there a soft-drink machine down here?"

A loud explosion rocked the area, and an indignant woman rebuked the newspaper to find out what had happened. A reporter said he thought a jet plane had broken the sound barrier. "If that barrier keeps getting in everybody's way," she snapped,
"why don't they take it down?"

"Mind if I phone my office for instructions? I've never gotten inside before."
