U of I Next?

MCCALL, Idaho, (UPI) — Black demonstrators who disrupted Washington State University in May are expected to head for the University of Idaho next, President Ernest Hartung told the State Board of Education, Sunday.

Dr. Hartung said some may enroll at Idaho but the bulk of the demonstrators probably will come from WSU to demonstrate and non-students.

He said such an "invasion" could polarize the community of Moscow, bringing a demand for State Police and the National Guard.

"That would result in chaos," Hartung said.

The university president said an organization known as the "Third World" could be effective in arousing students at the University of Idaho because of their resentment against the Moscow community.

James MacFarland, Meridian, University of Idaho student body president, agreed there is bad feeling between the university students and the Moscow townspeople — primarily because of high rent charges.

Hartung said a student program should be devised to communicate with Moscow townspeople.

Saying it was possible that "nothing will happen," Hartung said he was presenting the possibility of an "invasion" to the board so it can be met "without the force of police power" should it come.

Board president Elvon Hampton, Genesee, said that "Moscow is a provincial town but I think things can be done to prevent fear."

Farmers To Seek Hail Aid

BURLEY — Plans were complete Monday for a meeting of farmers from four hail-battered counties scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Ponderosa Inn here to discuss available federal assistance.

Andy Passoy, from the staff of the state Farmer's Home Administration office, Boise, is scheduled to outline the FHA aid program to farmers.

Fred Johnson, Burley FHA administrator, said Mr. Passoy will cover the various aspects of the FHA emergency loan program and farmers will then be invited to ask questions.

The business meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Ponderosa Inn and has been arranged by State Rep. Jim Martin and Mr. Johnson for farmers from all parts of Magic Valley where hail storms caused crop damage last Tuesday.

Mr. Johnson said FHA has no outright grants available for farmers in such cases, but loans can be arranged on an individual basis. It is hoped, Mr. Johnson said, all farmers regardless of their locality, will attend the Burley meeting to learn details of the FHA loan program and then will make application in their own county office.

Mr. Johnson said there are FHA offices in Jerome, Cassia, Blaine and Twin Falls counties where hail damage occurred.

U.S. Congressman Orval Hansen, in Twin Falls Monday for a Republican Women's luncheon meeting, said he has asked for a survey of crop damage in the storm belt to be conducted through the Secretary of Agriculture's office.

Such a survey, he said, would assist in determining eligibility of farmers for emergency assistance and to help cover their preparation for crops next year in the face of financial shortages where hail wiped out or severely cut yields.

Some estimates of crop damage have reached the $1-million mark and Mr. Johnson said he knows of no limitations for FHA emergency loans beyond the $1-million per applicant limit.

Castro Admits Failure

By MARTIN McREYNOLDS MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has offered to resign if the Cuban people are dissatisfied with his government's failure to yield the goal of 10 million tons of sugar in this year's harvest.

In a speech over Havana Radio Sunday, Castro accepted full responsibility for the failure of the drop and said if his people want another leader he would resign.

The government had extended the sugar season in an effort to harvest a record crop, but failed. The Cuban leader said this effort had strained Cuba's economy and led to discontent among the people.

He warned that the Cuban people can expect five more lean years before economic conditions begin to improve.

Castro's speech marked the 17th anniversary of the abortive attack on Moncada Barracks in Santiago Province. From this attack, the Castro movement took its name — the 28th of July Movement.

Castro also announced that the hands and death mask of slain guerrilla leader Ernesto "Che" Guevara now are in Cuba. They will be put on public display in Havana at a shrine to open in October.

The premier did not reveal how or when Che's hands and death mask reached Cuba, but he said former Bolivian Interior Minister Antonio Arguedas had risked his life several times to smuggle them and Che's campaign diary out of Bolivia.

Che, a former Cuban economics minister and a close friend of Castro, was killed in Bolivia while directing guerrilla operations in 1967. The body was displayed to newsmen by Bolivian officials and then disposed of in secret.

The Cuban premier did not give the exact total of the sugar harvest. Recent reports on Havana Radio have placed it at somewhat less than nine million tons. This is a record, but the length of the harvest season makes it difficult to compare accurately with pre-Castro harvests.

Castro said in the next five years, Cuba's population too young to work will increase more rapidly than the work force, putting a heavy demand on workers.

Coors Sets Sewer Station

Unanimous approval for an industrial and manufacturing zone on 78.9 acres of land one mile east of Buhl on U.S. Highway 30 by the Twin Falls county commissioners, Monday paved the way for an Adolph Coors Co., industrial development.

The brewing firm requested the zone change to allow for establishment of a receiving station for contract barley. Coors' later plans include a possible malt plant and other development.

Schools Eye Code

Reinstating dress codes at Twin Falls High School will be discussed by Twin Falls School Board of Trustees at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Administration building.

Supt. Ernest Ragland said that he will recommend reinstating dress codes that were dropped last spring at Twin Falls High School.

"The personal judgment of dress given to the students was abused," he said.

"Students began wearing extremely short shorts that were frayed and cartooned. They wore extremely short skirts, long wigs, curlers, and many types of far-out clothing."

Supt. Ragland said during the free-dress period he received complaints from the community and teachers concerning student dress.

Sewer Implant Blocks Street

Sewer installation begun today as construction crews blocked off Shoshone Street in front of the Twin Falls County Courthouse.

City Manager Jean Milar said crews from Neilsen and Miller Construction Co., prime contractors for the downtown Twin Falls Improvement project, began work at Sixth Avenue North and East, will continue, one block at a time, south through town. He said it will provide a new storm drain system for the entire downtown area. Other streets drain into Shoshone street and the water is carried generally to the north east.

The new drain should carry water directly from the downtown area and improve drainage in that area, Mr. Milar said.

Some improvement can also be expected at the Sixth Avenue North and East intersection, a major problem area during rains and spring melting.

Second Ray Kills

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Jerry Ray, brother of the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has been charged with shooting a young American Nazi party member in the stomach.

Detectives said Ray told them he shot the youth Saturday night while frustrating an attempt to remove records from the local headquarters of the National States Rights party headed by attorney J. B. Stoner.

Stoner, a white supremacist candidate for governor of Georgia, said he would represent Ray at today's arraignment proceedings. Ray, who said he was Stoner's campaign manager and security man, was to be charged with aggravated assault.

and somehow I managed to talk my way into the group," he said. "I always wanted to sing popular music, but they were hung-up on folk music."

Amick, Ron Willis, and Paul McDonald, members of the high school singing group, joined Gary at the front. "We've paid," said Duffell, and the audience laughed.

"For old times sake, the 'Continental' sang old favorite tunes, as they did years ago. And remembering their high school antics the group made up their own lyrics to 'Green, Green Grass of Home.'"

After singing, Gary quietly joined his wife and melted into the class of 1960.

Peace Plan Splits Arabs

CAIRO (UPI) — Teh Arab world was in disarray Sunday over the U.S. proposal for a cease-fire and negotiations on the Middle East crisis, Jordan and Sudan joining Egypt in accepting it but Arab guerrillas in Jordan rejecting it.

Iraq and Syria simply denounced the U.S. initiative without issuing official rejections.

Economy Decline 'Past'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board said Sunday the economic slowdown "is now pretty largely behind us" but that he will resist pressure for an easier money policy because "the problem of inflation is not yet licked."

Burns, head of the autonomous seven-member "Fed" that controls the nation's money supply and sets its basic interest rates, voiced confidence that the economy "will resume its growth very shortly, if it is not already doing it now."

He summed up the current situation this way:

"The price level is no longer rising as it was six months ago or even only three months ago, a corrective process is under way, productivity is improving rapidly, our financial markets are now stronger than they were a few months ago or a few weeks ago, the equity market has improved, the Dow Jones averages are up about 100 points, interest rates are a good deal lower than they were last December in the short-term market, long-term interest rates have improved in recent weeks and I could go on and on."

Secrecy Vote Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On a secret vote Monday, the House decides whether to end its time-honored practice of secret voting. With bipartisan support, an anti-secrecy proposal is expected to prevail.

The proposal is a feature of the House reorganization bill aimed at streamlining congressional procedure. The secrecy question involves so-called tailor voting where members line up to be counted on legislation without having their names recorded.

The House plans to finish the reorganization measure, which would include broadening of committee hearings under certain conditions, before moving on to a new three-year farm bill and controversial proposal to give President Nixon authority he doesn't want to impose wage and price controls.

Nixon Eyes Reshuffle

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon has summoned Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Deputy Secretary David Packard to meet with him today to consider reshuffling the Pentagon, now under the for heavy cost overruns.

Nixon and his advisers will have before them a far-reaching report by a blue-ribbon panel on Defense Department reorganization headed by Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, chairman of the board of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The year-long study will be made public Tuesday in Washington.

Israel was reported willing today to accept the U.S. plan for Middle East settlement talks provided there is a guarantee that Egypt will not use the plan's three-month cease-fire to build up its Suez Canal line.

Jordan joined Egypt in accepting the American proposal Sunday as a split took shape in the Arab world. Syria, Iraq and the Arab guerrillas denounced the plan and vowed to keep fighting, posing a danger to any agreement reached in negotiations.

Israeli political sources in Tel Aviv said Israel's answer to the U.S. plan would be basically affirmative, its tone and wording to be hammered out later this week. The final answer, they said, probably will be delayed until next week.

Indications emerged that Mrs. Meir was meeting substantial opposition to the plan within the cabinet. After a five-hour meeting Sunday, the cabinet scheduled a special session for Tuesday. Mrs. Meir canceled a speech scheduled for today until Wednesday.

The U.S. plan calls for a temporary cease-fire and indirect negotiations through U.N.

Mediator Gunnar V. Jarring on the basis of the November, 1967, Security Council resolution calling in part for Israeli withdrawal from captured Arab land.

Egypt and Jordan approved that resolution and therefore were included in the current U.S. peace move. Syria didn't and therefore was not.

Jordan's decision to join Egypt in accepting the proposal, announced in a message from King Hussein, came after several days of cabinet meetings in Amman. Hussein, too, was reported to have encountered stiff opposition to the plan.

"We accept what you accept and reject what you reject," Hussein messaged President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt. "The Jordanian government has adopted a position in complete harmony with the wise stance taken by the United Arab Republic."

Nasser told the Arab Socialist Union meeting Sunday, "We want peace but peace is distant. We don't want war but it is all around us. We shall pass through all risks, no matter what they are, to achieve right and justice."

Viets Launch New Offensive

SAIGON (UPI) — A task force of 2,500 South Vietnamese troops today reported killing 39 guerrilla soldiers and finding the bodies of 26 others in the first day of a new drive across the border into Cambodia.

The government soldiers pushed across the frontier Sunday in a campaign to keep Highway 1 between Saigon and Phnom Penh open. The thrust brought to about 20,000 the number of South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia.

Commanders on the scene reported light overall fighting but said one battalion of rangers, backed by air and artillery strikes, killed 39 guerrillas after crossing the border southeast of the Cambodian town of Kompong Trabec.

South Vietnamese losses in the fight were put at eight wounded, with government troops reporting 19 Communist soldiers captured along with 11 weapons. No Americans were involved in the drive.

Other troopers in the South Vietnamese push found the bodies of 26 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese who had been killed in air strikes preceding the cross-border offensive west of Saigon in the salient known as the Parrot's Beak.

Nineteen other guerrillas were reported killed in the same area Sunday by South Vietnamese troops not involved in the new push across the border. Allied losses, spokesmen said, were five men killed and five wounded.

Puckett Joins Class

BY CAROL BURNHAM Times-News Staff Writer Gary Puckett, internationally known lead singer for the popular group "Gary Puckett and the Union Gap," joined about half of his 1960 Twin Falls High School graduating class in Twin Falls Saturday.

He arrived at the reunion fresh from his group's command performance at the White House before Britain's Prince Charles and Princess Ann.

Dressed in a rusty-brown, double-breasted suit with a white shirt and boots, Puckett, accompanied by his wife, Sharon, slipped into the banquet room and sat at a back-table with some old school chums.

"I want it to be just like 10 years ago," he said. "I don't want anyone to make a fuss over me. I'm just a class member here."

Gary's classmates treated him like just one of the group. He walked through the building, shook hands with old friends, reminisced about school days.

One person asked Gary for his "autograph."

Toward the evening's end, Darrell Amick, emcee for the program, walked to the front of a small smoke-filled room and announced that Gary Puckett had agreed to sing.

Gary sat down on a stool, picked up his guitar and with a quiet voice began reminiscing. "I arrived in Twin Falls the last quarter of my junior year. I was a new kid in town and I wanted to make friends. I soon discovered that the people were sincere and groovy," said Gary.

As he talked, the room filled with people. Some stood on chairs and sat on the floor to see him. And as they quieted, Gary began singing some of his new songs.

"Recently I sang at the White House for Princess Ann and Prince Charles. Everyone expected me to sing songs like 'Woman-Woman,' and I did sing parts of them, but my style is changing," he said.

Returning to thoughts of high school, he said, "I met up with a group of guys in school who were entertaining around town

'Eyewitness' To Testify

By JACK V. FOX
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state's only alleged eyewitness to the Sharon Tate murders was scheduled to testify under court-room guard today against Charles Manson and three female members of his "family."

Linda Kasabian, 26, who will be granted immunity in return for telling her story, was to take the stand after the defense cross-examines a young caretaker at the Tate estate the night of the slayings last Aug. 8-9.

William Garretson, 19, told the jury in the trial's opening testimony that he was awakened at dawn but heard no shots, screams, or loud noises in his bungalow which is located on the other side of the swimming pool from the main residence.

Garretson said he first learned of the killings of Miss Tate and four others when police burst into his cottage with drawn guns the next morning. He was at first charged with suspicion of murder in the slayings but later released.

Mrs. Kasabian, who lived with the hippie cult at the Spahn Ranch commune at the time of the five killings at the Tate home and two others at the home of grocer Leno LaBianca has been isolated from the other defendants and kept under special guard pending her testimony.

Deputy District Attorney Vincent T. Bugliosi said in his opening statement that Mrs. Kasabian actually saw three killings at the estate rented by Roman Polanski, the movie director husband of the blonde actress.

Bugliosi said she witnessed the killings of coffee waitress Abigail Folger, Polish writer Voltych Frykowiak and 18-year-old Steven Parent, who had been visiting young Garretson. Their bodies were found outside the home, Miss Tate and hair stylist Jay Sebring were killed inside the rambling ranch home.

Mrs. Kasabian was said by the state to have driven members of the "family" the next night to the LaBianca home and acted as a lookout there. Bugliosi said Manson ordered her and others of his cult to carry out a killing at a third home that same night of Aug. 9 in the beach front community of Venice, Calif.

But, he said, Mrs. Kasabian deliberately thwarted it by knocking on the wrong apartment door.

On trial with Manson are Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel and Leslie Van Houten.

The district attorney charged that Manson ordered the murders in an attempt to touch off a black-white race war by having the killings blamed on Negroes.

Blast Probe Slowed

GRAND VALLEY, Colo. (UPI) — Workers at Project Rulison stopped drilling Sunday at 8,278 feet as mud began to ooze into the shaft they are boring to reach a nuclear-created underground cavern.

Atomic Energy Commission officials at the site said the mud may indicate drillers had intercepted cracks formed when the 40-kiloton blast was detonated Sept. 10 at 8,431 feet below the earth's surface.

"It is certainly a hopeful sign," said Dean Thornbrough, Director of the Commission's Peaceful Nuclear Explosives Office in Las Vegas, Nev. "We may be close to the breakthrough. So far, we have encountered no gas or radiation at the surface."

The workers were forced to halt temporarily their 3-month-old drilling operation because a plug designed to block mud leaks failed. Their massive bit was to be withdrawn from the shaft to remove the muck and then reinserted.

Coup Ousts Oil Sultan

LONDON (UPI) — Sultan Said Bin Talmur has been ousted as ruler of the oil-rich Persian Gulf state of Muscat and Oman in a coup and replaced on the throne by his British-educated son, diplomatic sources said Sunday.

British government sources said the 60-year-old Bin Talmur, who had ruled the backward state for 38 years, was overthrown Thursday. They said he now is in a hospital in Britain recovering from a gunshot wound. His condition was not serious, the sources said.

Solon Warns Races

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said Sunday polarization of America's blacks and whites is a certainty unless President Nixon takes a stronger stand on school desegregation.

"Most black people are still believers in integration. They still want to make it work," Mondale said. "But support is beginning to wane."

He said Nixon must take a firm stand on desegregation of Southern schools this fall as an example of a national policy that both integration and quality education are possible.

Mondale was questioned on a television interview—Face the Nation (CBS).

Mondale said "circuitous ways to avoid" desegregation are under way in the South. On a recent trip to Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, Mondale said he saw private segregated academies and public schools that were integrated only at the "front door" because black children were put in the basements or in separate classrooms.

Kirwan Dies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, second oldest member of Congress who since 1937 doled out billions of dollars of "pork barrel" water projects and campaign funds, died today.

Kirwan had been in failing health for several years. He died at Bethesda Naval Medical Center where he had been hospitalized since June, 1969, with a broken vertebra suffered in a fall at the University Club here where he lived.

Bankrupt RR Sought Loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several months before filing for bankruptcy, the Penn Central Railroad quietly borrowed $60 million from Swiss banks to pay off U.S. lenders who started questioning the line's financial state, congressional testimony revealed today.

Assistant Transportation Secretary James M. Beggs told a House appropriations subcommittee June 11 that the railroad decided to pay off $200 million if it had borrowed from commercial channels rather than answer the questions. It feared other creditors might "panic" at the results, he said.

The testimony of Beggs and Assistant Defense Secretary Barry J. Shillito was in support of proposed government backing for $200 million in bank loans to aid the railroad. The proposal came under congressional fire and was subsequent-

Pittsburgh Police Have Racial Rift

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The city Police Department has been investigating a fight between black and white officers at a recent Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) picnic, Safety Director John Binger said Sunday.

Binger said the investigation was launched immediately after the incident last Thursday. He declined to say what had been learned.

Police Superintendent Stephen A. Joyce said earlier no investigation was planned.

Sixty black policemen, members of the Black Guardians of Greater Pittsburgh, resigned from the FOP after the alleged brawl. Sgt. Harry Adams, head of the Guardians, said the black officers "will no longer tolerate any association with the FOP or with any other racist group."

Adams said the fighting, which began after a white girl started dancing with a black man, involved about 20 blacks

Weapons Search Futile

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — An extensive search of this sprawling Marine base has failed to turn up 11 weapons including a grenade launcher taken in a raid at Camp Pendleton about the same time President Nixon landed at El Toro Marine Air Station, a Marine Corps spokesman said Sunday.

The President is visiting the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., 15 miles away at the northern end of Camp Pendleton.

White House officials said no special security measures were taken as the result of the third arms theft at the base in 15 months.

The spokesman said the Friday night raid apparently was staged by three or four Marines but that the timing was coincidental to the President's arrival for a 10-day stay in Southern California. The raiders were dressed in Marine fatigues.

Also stolen were nine M16 automatic rifles and an automatic pistol that was taken from a sentry, Cpl. Kenneth D. Roberts. Roberts was struck across the back of the head and dazed.

The raiders sneaked past two sentries outside the armory.

"We will have to review our policies and procedures," Col. Ross F. Miner said.

Quake Hits Japan With Little Harm

TOKYO (UPI) — Two earthquakes shook Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu Sunday, causing widespread but minor damage.

National police reported 13 persons injured on the island, most of them in the city of Miyazaki on Kyushu's eastern coast.

The seismological observatory said the first quake occurred at 7:41 a.m. 6:41 p.m. EDT Saturday and registered seven on the International Richter Scale. The second occurred at 4:10 p.m. 3:10 a.m. EDT and registered 6.3. Both were felt in Western Honshu and Shikoku Islands to the north but caused no damage there, the observatory said.

Both quakes had the same epicenter, about 25 miles east of Miyazaki in the Pacific, according to the Observatory's report.

Police said most of those injured were hit by falling objects or pieces of broken glass.

The quakes damaged railroad lines in central and southern ly dropped a few days before the nation's largest railroad filed for bankruptcy and reorganization on June 21.

Beggs said the railroad was successful in reorganizing to pay off $200 million from commercial investments for about eight months. "However, about 2 1/2 months ago," Beggs said, "the investing companies that handle this paper began to ask questions as to the state of the road. Rather than answer those questions publicly and precipitate or at least run the risk of perhaps having a panic situation develop with their other investors, the Penn Central chose to pay this money off."

Beggs said "part of that was done by going to Europe and borrowing a little less than $60 million from Swiss banks on a very short-term basis."

and 200 whites. He called it a "violent and vicious attack" on four black officers and their families by white policemen.

Police in suburban West View, where the picnic was held, said they did not write a report on the fight. One black officer filed charges of assault and battery against a guest at the picnic.

Sgt. Francis Quintan, president of FOP Port Pitt Lodge No. 1, called for an investigation of the charges. He said he believed the incident was "blown out of proportion."

Adams said the Guardians would use "every avenue available to see that the persons who assaulted black officers and their families are brought to justice and made to pay for their crimes." He did not elaborate.

The members of the Guardians, a group formed about two and one-half years ago, patrol black neighborhoods in their off-duty hours.

Burger To Rate Judiciary

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger will deliver the first "state of the Judiciary" address at the 63rd annual meeting of the American Bar Association next month.

Burger's comments, scheduled Aug. 10 before the opening session of the ABA Delegate Assembly, will mark the first time a chief justice has presented such an appraisal to the public.

The address comes on the heels of a year of public outcry about judicial ethics that saw former Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas resign under fire and the Senate reject two nominations by President Nixon to fill that vacancy.

Burger became chief justice in June, 1969, after serving on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The ABA delegates are expected to consider a final draft of a report recommending comprehensive changes in the 40-year-old Canons of Judicial Ethics of the organization.

Vets Get Poor Care

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI) — Returning Vietnam veterans are being denied adequate medical care because of inflation caused by the war in which they fought, Rep. John Culver, D-Iowa, said Sunday.

Speaking before a meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Culver noted that the staff-to-patient ratio in civilian hospitals is nearly three to one whereas the same ratio for veterans' treatment is about 1.5 to one.

"Civilians can take advantage of staffs almost three times as large as those available to veterans," Culver said.

"What is happening here, is that rather than being rewarded for great sacrifice, returning Vietnam veterans are being required to assume an additional sacrifice," he said.

"The war in which they have been wounded is the primary cause of inflation and inflation is being used as the excuse for denying them adequate benefits and services upon their return."

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Inflation's "Peace Dividend"

WASHINGTON — One of President Nixon's many budget problems is that inflation is quickly eating up the already emerging "peace dividend." That is to say that large budget reductions are being effected in the Pentagon. With the winding down of the war in Vietnam the size of the armed services is being reduced, less ammunition is being expended and less money is being spent on military programs. Most of those savings are NOT being made available for other government programs, however. Unfortunately for the President and his budget aides, they are offset by military and civilian pay increases (for retired as well as active duty personnel) and by increases in prices. Of course it wasn't supposed to be that way. Shortly after Mr. Nixon's election, his economic planners let it be known, rather explicitly, that savings from the Pentagon would become increasingly available, over the years, for a broadening spectrum of needed federal programs in non-defense areas. Thus, the failure to check inflation, embarrassing enough in itself and a political hazard as the off-year elections draw closer, also exposes the President to brickbats from those administration critics who keep insisting on a reordering of national priorities. Much as the President's budget experts would like to do some more reordering, it just hasn't been possible so far. Robert C. Moot, who as the Defense Department's comptroller, is the top Pentagon budget expert, discusses the so-called "peace dividend" in a soon-to-be-released congressional testimony. He comments that reductions in President Nixon's defense budgets have been "very large...much larger" than are commonly realized. He cautions, however, that there is disappointment in store for the amateur and professional budget jugglers who assume that war and defense costs can be stripped away in the future and applied to other needs. "The figures make it clear," says Moot, "that further jargon cuts in the defense budget cannot really be expected in the form of a 'peace dividend,' as that term is commonly understood — that is, peeling off the program buildups added for the war. "Rather, any further large cutbacks will have to come from cutbacks below the prewar force and program levels. Much of the current discussion falls to take account of the $17.2 billion added for pay and price increases since prewar 1964. "What some observers are really advocating is not a 'peace dividend,'" says Moot, "but some kind of miraculous return to the pay rates and price levels of fiscal year 1964." The figures, to which Moot refers, show that the Pentagon spent $50.8 billion in 1964. The people, supplies and services added since — in terms of those prewar dollars — would have cost $54.8 billion then. However, Moot notes that $7.9 billion worth of military and civilian pay increases must be added to that total, plus $2 billion for increases in retired military pay and a whopping $7.3 billion for Pentagon price increases. Moot estimates that Southeast Asia costs, over and above what would have been spent without the war, have decreased by more than $5 billion from the $21.5 billion peak achieved in the 1965 accounting year. He says there has been a "major realignment of priorities" despite the inflationary pressures. In that connection, Moot says President Johnson's proposed spending plan for the accounting year just completed has been reduced $8.8 billion by President Nixon. That, he says, is the largest cut since the budget submissions of early 1945 were revised after the end of world war II. Defense outlays, as a share of total budget, fell from 40.6 per cent, in that Johnson spending plan, to 37.7 per cent in the Nixon revision. The defense share will fall further to 34.6 per cent for the year just starting — lowest since 1950 — according to Moot.

COMMENT

An Open House

Christian Science Monitor Washington would turn out for any attractive young prince and princess, and people would vie for invitations to a visit-celebrating White House soiree, but it is rather especially nice that the young visitors this time are Prince Charles and Princess Anne, heirs to the British throne. Those who believe in the high worth of Anglo-American friendship are delighted to see it continued in all echelons. Long ago, just before World War II, the United States and President Roosevelt welcomed in a happy visit a new king and queen from Britain, and the warm feeling lasted throughout the dark embattled years that followed. Now we are in a new age and Prince Charles and his sister, travelling independently of their parents, more accessible, and emerging definitely as personalities in their own right, have been making their effective three-day sojourn. Prince Charles has earned an honors degree at Cambridge, flies a plane, is entering the British Navy as midshipman, has a neat wit and an adroitness in conversation. Princess Anne is more high-spirited, likes the ship-launchings and other ceremonies but would hurry things up, and delights the fashion industry with her dress. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are evidently turning more of the royal touring over to these two young people. Britain is fortunate in that they have turned out to be such effective charmers.

Modern Royalty

St. Louis Post-Dispatch Centuries ago, members of the English parliament developed a system of anonymous voting to protect themselves from the revenge of a hostile king. Today, the House of Representatives uses much the same system to protect itself against the revenge of an informed electorate. So far in this year's session, Representatives have voted anonymously on such issues of vital public importance as the Cambodian invasion, the antiballistics missile system, the supersonic transport, military spending, school desegregation and the no-knock, pretrial detention and writap provisions of the District of Columbia crime bill. But a reluctance to make voting records public is only one of the ways in which an unhealthy secrecy pervades the House's procedures. Nearly half the committee meetings are closed to press and public. Committee reports are deliberately delayed. House-Senate conference committees are closed to other members of Congress. It hardly needs pointing out that secrecy not only is contrary to democratic ideals and contributes to the erosion of public confidence in representative government but that it also impairs the ability of the House to function efficiently. The debilitating effects of closed committee meetings, for example, are compounded by the practice of delaying reports. As a result, Representatives all too frequently are unable to evaluate proposed legislation adequately. Within a few days, the House is scheduled to take up the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970, a bill which provides the first significant opportunity since 1940 for a comprehensive attack on the problems of secrecy. The bill itself is a modest but worthwhile document which would provide Congress with a computerized information system and open more committee meetings to the public. Its larger importance, however, will be to serve as a vehicle on which to attach a number of amendments, which, if passed, would effectively open up the House to scrutiny by the people. Chief among the expected amendments, in our opinion, are those which would provide for an increase in record votes on the House floor. Currently, through teller votes, voice votes and standing votes, all of which are non-record, Representatives are able to avoid public accountability in matters of the highest public concern. They also are able to shirk their duties of participation. Less than half the House was present to vote on such a controversial issue as funds for the SST. Another important amendment would require a public record to be kept of committee votes. We consider this also an essential reform since under the present system each Representative's decisions on key provisions of legislation are withheld, unless he chooses to disclose them himself, from his constituents. In a functioning democracy, secrecy can only benefit interests that are narrow and private and never those of the public. The Legislative Reorganization Act and its accompanying amendments would do much to increase the responsibility of individual legislators; but equally important, it would put an end to a system which denies the voters the information necessary for intelligent electoral decisions. The English parliament reformed its system of nonrecord voting 138 years ago. The House has no excuse to wait any longer.

Chet's Scared

The Oregonian Retiring NBC newscaster Chet Huntley never impressed us as one of the world's (or the media's) deepest thinkers, so we are not really alarmed by his judgment of President Nixon. Mr. Huntley — the Chet of Chet and David note — said he has been with Mr. Nixon socially and has traveled with him in his private plane. "The shallowness of the man overwhelms me," he said. "The fact that he is Donald Trump's son-in-law me." But he wasn't scared a bit about President Johnson, whose escalation of the U.S. role in Vietnam left quite a problem for President Nixon, Johnson, said Mr. Huntley, "was kind to me. As insufferable as he could be, he was a gracious and funny man at once. I never tried to argue with him. I just kept filling his glass with Scotch and we talked about breeding Herefords."

"AH, THERE'S GOOD NEWS TONIGHT"

Freudian School

Freud advanced a theory which founded a "school." That school taught that sex is the dominant human motivation. The Freudian school believed that most of our troubles could be traced to repressions of sex impulses. Now a newer theory is establishing a more modern school of psychological comprehension. And this newer school is better able to explain some of our modern problems — including ghetto revolt and unwinnable wars. Freud's generation based most of its conclusions concerning animal behavior on zoo animals. It was from them that Sigmund Freud and his contemporaries concluded that sex was the major motivation for animal and human behavior. But from zoo animals, confined, Freud was unable to observe the instinct more compelling than either sex or survival — the territorial imperative. Birds, animals and men seek to secure for themselves dominion over a specific territory. It may be as small as a "private" desk or workbench, as large as a plantation — or a nation. Rarely, as Oliver Goldsmith said, do you see two male birds of a single species in a single hedge. African hunters have known for generations that "there is but one tiger to a hill." We think the male bird on the bough is singing a mating song to some girl bird or is singing just for our entertainment; he's not. He is sounding a warning to all other males that he is a bird of property and is prepared to defend it. The she-bird is a secondary consideration. Elliot Howard, in his long career as a naturalist, never knew a male bird with territory to lose a male, nor a male bird without territory to gain one. And this is significant. However the bird or animal marks off the borders of his domain — the wild dog or the tame one by leaving his scent on each perimeter tree — when he must fight to defend his territory the proprietor almost invariably wins. Anthropologist Robert Ardrey, from much research, concludes, "Behind all human behavior there stands an all-powerful instinct for territorial possession." Apparently mother nature instills in her children an individual demand for exclusive living space for two purposes: A proper population dividuals to breed in relative security and to pass on with reasonable certainty the conformation of their kind. Second, the surplus population is consumed by predators or succumbs to famine. Although we human animals have sought to circumvent this natural law and move over and squeeze in and make room for everybody, the drive to possess and protect a space of one's own remains a powerful instinct within us. Well-intentioned Americans wonder why, for all our generosity and self-sacrifice, we are yet unwelcome in foreign lands. We are "out of bounds"; it's as simple as that. It was ever thus and it will ever be.

Must Reading

WASHINGTON — If there were any justice in this rabbit warren of bureaucracy, a remark made by White House Press Secretary Ron Ziegler at lunch the other day would go into the textbooks as must reading for all government officials. Ziegler, who usually works a 13-hour day, was asked how come "Well," he replied, "There's work to do, of course. But mostly it's because I've got a lot to learn. I've never been to the White House Press Secretary before. Ziegler paid for his lunch then and there. He will, of course, be dropped from his club for such heretical candor, but his admission that he doesn't know it all after 18 months as President Nixon's spokesman assures him of a footnote in the history of the Nixon administration, even if he is subsequently given the sack for speaking kindly of a Democrat. Although Ziegler is available twice daily to the press at his "briefings" (an unfortunate bit of nomenclature), it had seemed time for a long private chat with him, if only to determine whether he now got his exercise climbing walls. The answer to that came out no. Ziegler may be the most relaxed White House spokesman in recent years; a man of leisure cool who enjoys his job and his intimacy with power without suggesting it has gone either to his head or his stomach. It was remarked that Ziegler seldom if ever asked administration critics to try to convert them to the Nixon philosophy. "What's the use?" he asked. "They know where the President stands. I can't elucidate it any better than the President has done." He grinned. "Besides, we're in favor of dissent, remember." But he did admit to "an awareness of occasional criticism

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My married granddaughter — I believe is very happy and contented with her family, but for some unknown reason whenever she makes plans to go out for an evening with her husband, or whenever she plans to have guests for dinner, she becomes very nauseated and even vomits. This has happened many times. What do you suppose causes it? If her husband brings someone home for lunch and she does not know about it, she does not have these symptoms. It is when she knows a few hours beforehand. D.P.M. I'd call it a case of anticipatory tension, and I have seen similar cases before — people who build up so much anticipation about something or other than the anxiety causes stomach upsets. For one illustration, I once knew a small girl (grown now) who thought Halloween was the most exciting holiday of the year. She'd have her costume and mask ready days in advance. And for several consecutive years, she'd get sick to her stomach just when it was time to go out begging, and spend the next couple of hours lying on a couch. She got over it, I guess when Halloween stopped being so important to her. (I often wondered why it didn't happen at Christmas, but perhaps that was because she could get up and work off her excitement Christmas morning, instead of building up so much tension just waiting.) It's an emotional quirk, and knowing that, perhaps your granddaughter can learn to divert her attention to something else — perhaps read or do some knitting or go for a walk for a few blocks — or something instead of fixing her attention so singlemindedly on the "timer" — going out — or whatever event it is. Doubtless a psychiatrist could uncover the underlying reasons, but it might not warrant the time and expense. Better, perhaps, if she asks her doctor for a mild sedative to relax her, or possibly a muscle relaxant to use when she feels one of those spells building up. It must be a nuisance to her, and I think she can overcome it all right. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do the added vitamins of fortified skim milk make up for the vitamins lost with the removal of butterfat from the whole milk? — J.MacL. Yes — and the same holds true of other types of milk which are fortified after removal of some or most of the fat. Dear Dr. Thosteson: This is the story that was told, that there was a colored doctor and people thought he was white until he was called into military service. They then found out from his blood test. Would like to know if that is true. — E.M.T. That's easily answered. It's not true. First of all, there is no blood test which will show this. Second, the military blood test is primarily to determine blood type (to be noted on dog tags) and syphilis. Blood type is entirely independent of race or color. BERRY'S WORLD

Gem Administrator 'Missed Point'

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's director of administrative services was told Saturday he "missed the point" when he wrote a reply to charges made by Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft that he had caused extravagant expense increases.

Ravenscroft, who is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor, made the statement in a letter to Director Edward W. Sawyer.

The candidate said July 16 that if elected governor, he would drastically curtail the administrative services department's activities.

Gen. Walker had written to Ravenscroft pointing out that the gubernatorial hopeful had voted for the department as a member of the Idaho Legislature in 1966.

In his reply, Ravenscroft said he thought Gen. Sawyer must have "missed the point" which he and other gubernatorial candidates had made. He said the legislature voted in favor of the establishment of the Department of Administration Services because they believed consolidation of the administrative functions of various agencies would save the taxpayers money.

He charged in four years the department has failed to reduce administrative governmental costs, and it has established a spending level of $5 million every two years.

As an example of waste, Ravenscroft said the department competed department heads to pull using the state auditor's computer, and data-processing equipment and use the state tax commission's equipment.

Headed various agencies had to re-program their data, which overtaxed the equipment, and more computers had to be purchased.

He charged when the department moved to the state office building Sawyer bought another computer that is not presently working under full capacity. He added a decision to remove all computer equipment from the state auditor's office and bring it under the department; appeared to be politically motivated. Those efforts, he said, were stopped by the courts, but heavy costs resulted from the political maneuver.

Ravenscroft said the most glaring example of bureaucracy in government is the requirement that purchases as small as $10 be processed for competitive bidding, while at the same time, leases for state warehouses, which involve thousands of dollars, are negotiated on a private basis.

Blacks Work On 'Their' Isle

NEW YORK (UPI)—"No passage except on official business," said the sign on a dilapidated waterfront shack on Ellis Island, one-time gateway to America. But despite the admonition there was plenty of activity there Saturday, all of it unofficial.

Young black men cleared underbrush that had grown up around towering sycamore trees. Other young persons tended a noisy flock of about 20 hens and three roosters. In a nearby building, others worked in a minifactory packaging a bleaching agent.

A "friendly seizure" of Ellis Island, through which passed millions of immigrants on their way to new homes in the new world, was in its sixth full day.

Last Monday, 63 black persons—80 per cent of them former narcotic addicts—began an occupation of the 27.5-acre island in upper New York Bay under sponsorship of the National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization (NEGRO), a black self-help group.

The island has been abandoned since 1954. Dr. Thomas Mathew, a black neurosurgeon who is the president of NEGRO, held a newsconference on Ellis Saturday to explain the purpose of the occupation and to give newsmen a tour of the island.

Newsman, ferried across the bay—in a 30-foot skiff—were greeted by Mathew in front of the building which housed the Great Hall, the main reception station for immigrants.

"This is a friendly seizure," said Mathew, wearing a white hardhat with the name NEGRO painted in black. He was flanked by two teenage boys, one holding an American flag and the other, the red-black and green flag of black liberation.

Mathew said his organization had been asked by the Nixon Administration to develop plans for utilizing the island and had been going out each day studying the possibilities for developing housing and light industry there since January.

But extensive vandalism of their equipment at night caused the group to leave a party there overnight. When no decision was forthcoming from the Government on their request for an around-the-clock occupancy, NEGRO decided last Monday to take it over temporarily.

Kirkpatrick Panel Favors Quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon plans to announce Monday that Miles W. Kirkpatrick, a prominent critic of the Federal Trade Commission, has accepted the FTC Chairmanship, Congressional sources said Saturday.

Kirkpatrick, a prominent Philadelphia attorney, would succeed Casper W. Weinberger, FTC Chairman since January. Nixon has promoted Weinberger to a new job as Deputy Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

Searchers Seek Raft

HALIFAX (UPI)—Sea and aircraft were dispatched Saturday to check a report that three persons were spotted floating in a liferaft in an area of the North Atlantic where a missing Russian cargo plane could have crashed a week ago.

A spokesman at Search and Rescue headquarters said U.S. Air Force planes from Keflavik, Iceland and a Danish weather ship were directed to search the area some 400 miles southwest of Keflavik.

BUY U.S. SAVINGS BONDS ON YOUR PAYROLL SAVINGS PLAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House subcommittee including Rep. Laurence J. Burton, R-Utah, said Friday it has adopted a report favoring the continuation of oil-import controls by quotas rather than tariffs.

The action supports the position taken last week by the House Ways and Means Committee, which voted to freeze oil import quotas into a trade bill it is writing.

The mines subcommittee held hearings recently concerning the reports of the Presidential Task Force on Imports, which recommended a tariff system which would have driven down the price of domestic crude oil and allowed more imports into the country.

Reps. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., John P. Saylor, R-Pa., and Burton, all on the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said the subcommittee opposes the use of tariffs as recommended by the Cabinet Task force majority on oil imports controls as an effective tool for controlling the importation.

Cambodia Girls Enlist in Army

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodia's dusky beautiful women have shrugged off tradition, but not their long black hair, glittering ear rings and owl sunglasses, to join their men on the battlefield.

The first women recruits who answered the call to arms have ended two weeks of training, and are being assimilated into the previously all-male army.

The girls—their ages ranging from 16 to 20 years—are not only filling rear unit jobs as truck drivers, nurses and in communications but are going to the front line as paratroopers and members of the elite American-trained Mobile Strike (MIKE) Forces.

The women's army, was the brain child of Madame Nou Neul, a middle-aged congresswoman in the National Assembly who joined the armed forces with the rank of Major last March. Her jungle-green uniform has been tailored to her trim figure.

Her aim, she said, is a force of 2,500 women who "feel there is a 'in' defending their country on the battlefield."

The girls, mostly students from the provinces, muster each morning at dawn at the capital's two sports stadiums.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Demet Poul, director of instruction, they learn all the basics of combat including how to fire weapons varying from sidearms to heavy machineguns, and how to fight "hand-to-hand."

Drawing on his experience as a father helped Duch overcome what he said were the "special problems" of training women.

"For men you can bark a command," he said. With women you have to speak nicely...urge them to do things...let them feel that they still are women. We soon found we could not get anywhere by pushing them."

The result has been that the girls are better soldiers than the men."

Major Duch said most of girls enlisted against the wishes of their parents, but the "drop-out" rate had been extremely small.

Although by tradition the role of the Cambodian woman has been to be a housewife and look after the needs of her man, Duch said the young recruits showed a lot of fire.

"We asked how many wanted to volunteer for the MIKE forces," he said. "Out of the 600-odd volunteers immediate."

Busing Test Awaited

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — For 15-year-old Ray York, summer school is over and his vacation can begin. He made a passing grade in grammar and he has fulfilled all his credits he missed last semester.

Now Ray is awaiting word from the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver.

The ninth-grader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond York, is in the center of a controversy that has troubled other parents and other schools during the past decade.

The controversy is busing. Judge Sentences Parents Yvonne York, the boy's mother, says her attorney will appeal to the Supreme Court if necessary in their fight to send Ray to his "neighborhood school."

Mrs. York said last year her son would "never, never, never" attend Harding Junior High School, to which he was assigned under the Oklahoma City school integration plan.

Instead, she sent him to Tall Junior High School, in defiance of court orders. U.S. District Judge Luther Bohannon of Oklahoma city found Mr. and Mrs. York in contempt and sentenced them to 30 days in jail and fines of $1,000 each.

However, the Denver Appeals Court said the law allowed either a fine or a jail term, and Bohannon eliminated the jail sentences.

Case Under Advisement Ray attended a private, nonaccredited school in Oklahoma City this spring. He later attended summer school at Northwest Classen High, a public school, in order to make up a grammar class. That class ended Friday.

Mrs. York hopes Ray will be able to attend Northwest Classen this fall as a freshman. Under the School Board's integration plan, Ray would have to attend Harding this fall as a ninth-grader and would enter Northeast High School next year.

Mrs. York wants him to attend Northwest, which she says is his "neighborhood school" and is closer than Northeast.

She said she would not allow him to attend Harding.

Ship Ignored Drifting Raft

SEPT ISLES, Que. (UPI) — Three New Jersey fishermen who drifted in a life raft in shark-infested Atlantic waters without food or water for seven days said Sunday a cargo ship spotted them on the sixth day but passed by without offering help.

The three were rescued the next day by a Swedish ship which landed them in the Sept Isles (Seven Islands) Saturday night. The three, Tom Ellis, 36, Joseph Pottle, 61, and Joseph Davidoff, 37, all of Atlantic City, were being treated for exposure and exhaustion but were in "pretty good condition" at the Sept Isles Hospital.

The three said the ship, which they declined to name because they plan to make a formal complaint to maritime authorities, sailed so close they could read her name and see a man come out of the pilot house, look at them and then go back inside. The ship then continued on its journey.

Davidoff said it was daylight on the sixth day but he did not know the exact time.

"The weather, I couldn't say it was really clear but it wasn't foggy or anything. They were practically on top of us," Davidoff said.

"They seen us all right," said Pottle. "But they kept right on going. It was a cargo ship and his fellow came right out of the wheelhouse on the bridge and got a good look at us. Then he turned around and went back into the wheelhouse and kept on going."

Ellis, the Captain of the trawler, said he would file a complaint with appropriate maritime authorities when he and his crew return to their homes, expected to be Monday.

The three said they had been on a four-day fishing voyage when their 46-foot trawler, the Sea Starr, sprung a leak and began sinking fast.

Line of Demarcation The Line of Demarcation was established by Pope Alexander VI in 1493. This line was intended to settle disputes between Spain and Portugal regarding claims in the New World.

Business Today

By LEROY POPE - UPI Business Writer. NEW YORK (UPI) - Skeletons may be rattled in some corporate closets this fall when the new rules on pooling of interest mergers of the Accounting Principles Board (APB) go into effect.

The board is to vote formally on the rules at a July 30-31 meeting, and they are expected to go into effect Aug. 31. Although the APB is composed mainly of accountants in private practice, it is regarded by business as more or less an unofficial arm of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Its new rules would have virtually the effect of government regulation.

Rules Not Retroactive. According to Leroy Layton of Mann, Johnson & Co., chairman of the APB, there is no intent to rattle any skeletons by the new rules, which are in no way retroactive.

Nevertheless, any company that has made its performance look better to stockholders and the public through pooling-of-interest mergers each year will be affected. It would be prevented from doing so again. In a pooling-of-interest merger profits of the merged companies are added as one and their financial histories are similarly combined. The earnings of a company bought after the end of the fiscal year but before the annual report is issued can be used to make the performance for the year of the buying company look better.

Similarly, pooling of interest allows merging companies to report acquired assets at whatever value they are listed on the purchased firm's books - not at current market value. If they are understated and sold later, the difference between market value and book value can be taken as a paper profit by the acquired company.

The APB's proposed rules forbid that by banning pooling-of-interest mergers if there's a plan to sell off a substantial part of the acquired assets within two years. Including Profits Forbidden. Including the profits of a company acquired by pooling after the end of the fiscal year in a company's annual report also will be forbidden.

The alternative is a straight purchase merger in which all acquired assets must be accounted at fair current market value. The difference between this value and the amount actually paid for the assets must be listed as goodwill and amortized annually for a period of up to 40 years.

One feature of the new APB rules is very controversial. It would restrict pooling-of-interest mergers to those in which the owners of the acquired company will end up with at least 10 per cent of the buying company.

NFL Pension Fight Continues Monday

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - The National Football League owners and players pension impasse, now being called a "work stoppage" by the federal mediation commission, moved to the subcommittee level Sunday at the conclusion of their third-day-of-negotiations.

The owners and players, snarled over pension demands, named subcommittees from each group to meet and discuss the knotty problems among themselves, then report to their groups and finally return to deal-bargaining sessions Monday.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old married woman and here is my problem. I am in love with a kid who comes into my husband's service station. He is 16. I told my husband I was in love with this kid, and my husband says I should forget it as it would never work out. I've asked a few friends and they agree with my husband. A couple of people have said I am out of my mind.

My husband says it's because he's a motherless boy, and I never had any children of my own and what I feel for him is really "mother love," but you'd better believe it does not resemble anything near that. This kid has been real sweet to me at times, but other times he will tell me he likes this young girl and that young girl which about tears me apart. I send him love letters and call him on the phone a lot, which he has asked me to cut out, but I can't stop. I don't suppose it could ever work out, but how can I get this kid out of my heart?

DEAR LOVESICK: You can get the kid out of your heart by getting him out of your mind. Don't write to him anymore, and don't call him. If you have too much time on your hands, get interested in a hobby, but don't sit around doing nothing or your thoughts will wander back to the boy and you'll be tempted to pursue him.

DEAR ABBY: A guy who works with us has given up cigarettes. Not SMOKING them—just BUYING them.

He has bummed at least one cigarette a day from each of the six guys who work with him, and of course since he never carries any of his own, there is no chance of getting one back.

We can't say we don't love him when he asks, because he knows we do, but please tell us how to cure him of this chinty trick?

GARY AND FRANK

DEAR G AND F: Next time he asks for a cigarette, offer to BELL him a pack.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is a dentist, has been married for 7 years. My problem is, his wife never does any ironing. Everything she buys is "permanent press," and after she washes it, she assumes it is ironed. Pillow cases, shirts, tablecloths and handkerchiefs all go unironed, and believe me they look it.

I am embarrassed for any professional man who must carry a crumpled handkerchief. But a dentist who must display it before his patients—well, this is too much! Abby, how can I tell her what an impression her husband is making?

DEAR "D.PRESSED": If your son is embarrassed to carry a crumpled handkerchief, it's up to him to tell his wife to get on the attack and do some ironing.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly didn't notice the name of Rev. Whipple's church mentioned in your column, or he would have received 151 letters instead of 150. When the good Reverend expounded the "tragedy" of the non-virgin bride who was criticized for wearing white, I saw red! White for a bride is traditional, and if she isn't a virgin, then she has already broken the tradition, so who cares what she wears?

I've never seen so much fuss made about nothing by two intelligent people who are in a position to do so much good. When one looks around at the dramatic misery and human suffering all over the world today, if all you and Reverend Whipple have to worry about is whether or not a bride should wear white, I think it's time for both of you to look for an absorbing hobby.

You won't print this, I know. And if you do, I won't see it, because I'm off you for life. Phooey on such trifles!

DISGUSTED IN LINDSAV, ONT.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Paris Fashion World Joins Nudity Trend

By ALINE MOSBY
PARIS (UPI)—The Paris fashion world joined the trend to "nudity" Sunday night by dispensing with clothes.

In a sideshow preceding the opening Monday of Fall Fashion Week, 12 designers of accessories staged their own fashion-parade.

The "models" wore belts, boots, gloves and necklaces, and nothing else not even strings, while they went through erotic dances.

The models were strip-tease dancers at a tourist paradise, the Crazy Horse Saloon, which gave this special show for the fashion press and buyers.

The belt is by designer Roger Jean-Pierre. "The master of ceremonies announced solemnly and the girls danced on.

During other dances, color close-up photographs of nude girls holding buttons and other accessories were projected on a back screen.

Possibly to take the sting out of the somber long hemlines that will outdate women's closets, the Paris fashion world in a giddy mood was talking over a chateau and even a public sidewalk for the semi-annual hectic Fashion Week.

Designer Jacques Esterel, always with one eye on the press, organized his show to begin one minute after midnight for any sturdy journalists who can keep awake and conform with the rules of the Fashion Designers' union which prohibits showings before Monday.

Designer Ted Lapidus will present a line called "hoodlum", so naturally his mannequins will march on a street corner.

Nearly Pointed Toes Make Comeback in Shoe Fashion

PARIS (UPI)—Nearly pointed toes and higher, thinner heels are making a comeback this season in the high-fashion shoe world.

So far, the women who suffered long years of torture enduring the narrow foot look do not have to worry. Although the form is definitely elongated, designers are still moderating shoe points to a narrow oval shape.

Rogers Vivier showed the narrow look in plain square cut pumps. His heels were medium height and straight, his materials patent leather, often used in two-tone color-combinations or snakeskin and crocodile.

Vivier's boots came in two lengths—mid-thigh and knee-high—and were predominantly in snakeskin and crocodile.

For evening Vivier showed an array of clingy, elasticized satin boots, often adorned by a rhinestone clip at the front or on the ankle.

His evening shoes were in brightly colored velvets and satins. Satin pumps often climbed up the leg in back and laced down the front with wide ribbons.

Andre Pfister showed a safari of fur footwear in which leather and suede were limited almost exclusively to the trimming.

Andre T-strapped his tiger, zebra- and leopard narrow-looking day shoes, which had medium high, straight heels. His boots were all knee-high, made either in fur, in bright DIAMONDFIELD JACK'S story will be re-enacted by the Buhl Antique Festival Theatre at the Cassia County Fairgrounds at 9 p.m. Saturday. The play is being premiered at...

Burley is part of the summer-long celebration of the 100 Years of Progress of Cassia County.

Antique Theatre To Re-Enact Conviction
Diamondfield Jack's Story Appealed

BURLEY — The story of "Diamondfield Jack" accused murderer of two shepherders in the early day history of Cassia County, will be re-enacted at 9 p.m. Saturday at Cassia County Fairgrounds by actors of the Buhl Antique Festival Theatre.

McCaslin Named To FHA Unit

BURLEY — Earl D. McCaslin, Burley, has been appointed to a three-year term on the Cassia County Farmers Home Administration Committee.

McCaslin, a long-time resident and businessman in Burley, succeeds Orvil B. Adams, Oakley, whose term expired June 30.

Mr. Strel serves as staff assistant to the theater group and also works as an actor in other productions, besides directing the play in which he presents his version of the famous murder trial.

Adults, Too

BUHL — The gymkhana at the Alma Morrison place, scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, is for adults as well as children.

Diamondfield Jack's full name was Jackson Lee Davis.

He was hired by cattlemen as a range rider. The incident in which he became involved was but one of many which took place in the early days between cattlemen and shepherders.

The part of Diamondfield Jack will be played by Jon Dunwell, Boulder, Colo., an honor student at University of Colorado, majoring in speech, theater and the arts.

James Hawley, defense attorney, is played by Robert Nelson, Tucson, Ariz., who has received his B.A. degree at the University of Arizona.

Aldrich Bowler plays the part of the presiding Judge Charles Stocklager who made the ever famous statement to a full courtroom "I sentence you to be hanged by the neck until dead."

Tickets for the play are now on sale at Bryan's Cafe, Thriftway Drug, both in downtown Burley; Sav-Mor Drug, in Overland Shopping Center; South Idaho Press, and at the gate the night of the play.

Dean Johnston, fourth, 17.3 seconds. Exhibition saddle-bronc ride for Ron Quessnell, Murtaugh, resulted in him being injured and taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Burley Man Cited For Crash

BURLEY — Santos Uribe, 21, Burley Labor Camp, was cited for driving while intoxicated following a truck and car accident at 4 p.m. Friday at intersection of Oakley Avenue and Main Street.

Uribe was driving a 1955 Ford north on Oakley Avenue, and collided head-on with a 1968 Ford two-ton truck traveling south on Oakley Avenue.

Uribe was driving the truck which was damaged $150 to left front fender and bumper. Damage to the car was $300 to front end.

Passengers in the car were Raymundo Ramirez, 21, and Pedro Ruzo, 10, both Burley Labor Camp.

Trustees Work On Document

SHOSHONE — The local School Board is working on a policy to be adopted concerning all phases of school government.

Previously, the board had adopted regulations governing some phases of school government, particularly concerning behavior of teachers.

The new document will be known as "Philosophy of education and Board Policy" and will be available for all interested persons in the school district.

Petition Filed

JEROME — A juvenile delinquency petition alleging illegal possession of marijuana has been filed in probate court against a 16-year-old Hazelton boy.

The petition was signed by Floyd Robinson, Idaho Liquor Law Enforcement division.

Film Is Shown To Rotarians

SHOSHONE — A film on free masonry was shown at the Rotary club meeting by W. E. Grosse, with Kenneth Crothers operating the projector.

"Quest for Light," showing Biblical scenes and history of the early U.S. Free Masonry, it said, is founded upon faith in one God and exists by precept and example.

President Kenneth Blackburn announced Ladies Night for Wednesday night with a Hawaiian Luau at the City park.

Juvenile Held For Auto Theft

HAILEY — A 17-year-old juvenile was arrested in Idaho Falls Saturday morning on a charge of car theft.

Hailey chief Bill Reid said a 1962 Chevrolet, belonging to Phillip Crosby, Colorado, was reported stolen sometime in the night July 23 or early morning July 24.

The car had been parked in the 200 block of 2nd Street in Hailey. The car was recovered in Idaho Falls Saturday, reportedly undamaged.

That same night, a vehicle owned by O.J. Cline, Hailey, was entered, but not taken because of the locking steering wheel mechanism which was in operation. Fingerprints were lifted and officer Reid is continuing investigation of that incident. The Cline auto was parked about a block from the stolen auto.

T.F. Youth Enters Plea In Auto Death

JEROME — Rodney L. Raymond Harder, 19, Twin Falls, pleaded guilty to the charge of involuntary manslaughter at his arraignment recently before District Judge Theron W. Ward.

Harder was charged with involuntary manslaughter on June 14, in the auto death of Irene Simonds, 61, Homedale.

Judge Ward ordered a presentence investigation and the accused was released on his own recognizance to his father.

CAA Sets Meeting At Jerome On Head Start

JEROME — Community Action Agency, with headquarters in Twin Falls, has called a public meeting, scheduled for today at Washington school at 8 p.m.

The meeting has been called to discuss the continuation of Head Start and Day Care programs in Jerome.

Superintendent of Schools, John B. Campbell, sharply criticized the Head Start program at the last meeting of the Jerome school board.

Campbell said he doubted if he would ask the trustees to continue the program for another year or not.

"We should give Head Start a hard look. I am not overly impressed with the showing we're making in reaching the youngsters we should be trying to reach," Campbell told the board.

Campbell said enrollment in the local Head Start program is less than anticipated because so many of the youngsters who would have been involved locally were attending a special migrant school being held in Wendell this year.

He also criticized the program for pointing out discrimination, highlighting Head Start is not available to all socially or culturally deprived pupils, but only to those whose parents fall within economic guidelines.

Campbell said Larry Mack, who is in charge of the area's programs and is director of the area Community Action Agency, provided the assurance to the district that Jerome could exercise certain prerogatives.

"Mr. Mack is apparently bound by the rules and should not have made promises to the district which he couldn't back up," Campbell said.

"Mr. Mack misrepresented the program and his authority," Campbell's remarks were supported by trustee Gordon Holifield.

"I have yet to see any proof that the Head Start program has done any good," Holifield said.

All those interested should attend.

Oakley's Pioneer Days Celebration Ends With 22 1/2-Mile Race And Rodeo

OAKLEY — The 23rd annual Pioneer Days celebration ended Saturday at Oakley with a large attendance at the rodeo grounds for the 22 1/2-mile Pony Express race followed by the final rodeo.

Six teams were entered in the Pony Express race which includes five horses with one or more riders. The W.B. Whiteley team, Oakley, was the first place winner and received the $1,000 and time for race was 59 minutes, 16.6 seconds.

Second place team was the Flying Ole's, Grouse Creek, Utah, Simpson's horses and they received $400 for their efforts.

Nitz Pitches 6-Hitter As Ogden Coasts Past Magic Valley By 9-2

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Ogden pitcher Rick Nitz gave up only six hits Sunday night to lead the Dodgers to a 9-2 victory over the Magic Valley Cowboys.

Bench Has 3 Homers, 7 RBIs In 12-5 Win

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Johnny Bench hit three straight homers and a single and drove in seven runs as the Cincinnati Reds dumped the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-5, Sunday to give rookie Wayne Simpson his 14th victory of the season against two losses.

Steve Carlton was a victim of all three of Bench's homers which boosted the Cincinnati catcher's season total to 33, tops in the majors. The seven rbi's gave Bench 95 for the season, tops in the league.

St. Louis Cardinals 12-5, Cincinnati 5-2. Nitz pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing six hits and two runs. Bench hit three homers and drove in seven runs. Simpson pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing seven hits and five runs.

L.A. 5, Mets 3. Russell drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning and threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the eighth Sunday as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the New York Mets 5-3.

Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, New York Mets 3-5. Russell pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing three runs and six hits. Russell drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning.

Astros 6, Pirates 4. Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday. Jim Wynn pitched a two-run homer in the 10th inning off relief ace Dave Giusti to give the Houston Astros a 6-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday. Wynn pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing four runs and seven hits. Wynn hit a two-run homer in the 10th inning.

Bunning Has Shot At Record Books. Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Jim Bunning has a chance Tuesday to become the second pitcher in baseball history to win 100 games in both major leagues.

S.F. 6, Expos 2. Montreal Expos (UPI) — Willie Mays drove in two runs with three singles Sunday to pace the San Francisco Giants to a 6-2 win over the Montreal Expos as Juan Marchal picked up his first win since June 14.

San Francisco Giants 6-2, Montreal Expos 2-6. Mays drove in two runs with three singles. Marchal pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing two runs and six hits.

fourth straight at home in which they have scored 41 runs compared to nine for the opposing teams.

It was Ogden all the way as the Dodgers scored in the first and second innings for a 3-0 lead that never changed hands.

The Dodgers added two more in the fifth, two in the eighth and single runs in the sixth and seventh while the Cowboys were held to one earned run in the ninth inning on back-to-back doubles by Tom Helerie and Lewis Galendez.

Two outstanding batting performances were turned in by Dodgers Elmer Mixon and John Hughes. Both went three for four at the plate and scored three runs.

Hughes had two doubles and two runs batted in, while Mixon had one double and one RBI. Mixon also gained two stolen bases.

Magna's Lisa Kuida, Martin Win Rough Water Swim Title. Lisa Kuida and Terry Martin of the Magna Pirates took top individual honors by posting the best times Sunday in the rough water swim at Dierke's Lake and Magna made it a sweep by taking the team-rough-water title in the finale of the Intermountain AAU Championships.

Miss Kuida, swimming in the girls 13-14 class, stroked the mile in 20:21.5, shaked two-time winner Sally Lerew of Kearns — who had a 20:27.4.

Miss Lerew, who has taken the girls' title the past two years, needed just one more to retire the traveling trophy, but the Magna star was unbeatable.

Seven homers were hit in the championship game. Twin Falls' Bill Hone knocked out one, Brian Tilton had a pair of round-trippers, and Gene Turley and Bob Latham hit one apiece.

Jim O'Toole To Be Hall Of Famer. Cincinnati (UPI)—James Jerome (Jim) O'Toole, who averaged 10 victories for the Cincinnati Reds from 1960 to 1964, will be inducted into the Reds Hall of Fame in ceremonies Tuesday night.

O'Toole, a left hander, was selected by a vote of the fans to become the 33rd player and the 34th member of the Reds Hall of Fame.

Dicki's Kim Bar Takes Top Purse In Finale Of Jerome Pari-Mutuel Event

JEROME — Camptown Sue, Dicki's Kim Bar, and No Secret took the three featured races — Camptown Sue's line one of the fastest ever recorded — and 1500 people bet $14,287 Sunday afternoon as the Jerome pari-mutuel racing session ended. Camptown Sue, in winning the International Derby and $1645 purse, clicked off a time of 20.1 — by far the best of the meet and a near track record. Steve Treasurer's mount, in addition to getting the purse, also received a cooler.

Sunday's total handle gave the three-day session a grand total of $47,024. The other big race — and the one with the biggest payoff — was the Magic Valley Futurity won by Dicki's Kim Bar, with John Ward up. The win was worth $2,250 and a cooler.

In the thoroughbred special, race ten, No Secret, ridden by Dave Schlauer, topped August and Ed Go Win to win. Schlauer was presented with a cooler. Landing jockeyeward went to John Ward, who took the session's biggest feature, and Jim Gibbs was named the most outstanding trainer. Gibbs was given a halter and trophy.

Western Net Wins CINCINNATI (UPI) — Top-seeded Ken Rosewall survived a 2-5 third set deficit to defeat defending champion Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 7-9; 9-7; 8-6 to win the men's singles title at the 33rd Western Tennis Championships Sunday. Rosewall, the popular contract pro from Australia, refused to give up in the third set of the rain-soaked match after battling through the first two sets which lasted more than two hours.

ended with the same two-stroke lead. Jack Rice of Mountain Home shot a 72 Sunday to take second prize along with Don Lowman of Jerome. Both men had 145s to Packard's 143.

Top places in each of the net and gross divisions this year received merchandise prizes instead of the previous years' format of flights, 100 were entered in the two-day tournament.

Owings, who was in a third place tie after the first day behind leader George Carrico of Gooding, ended with a two-day total of 129 in the net division. He beat out C.B. Thomason of Boise and Charles Cosgrief of Twin Falls — who ended with 131s.

Bill Donald of Gooding and Porter Ingram of Twin Falls tied for fourth and fifth with 132s; Jeff Ballantyne of Twin Falls was sixth with a 134; Virgil Cross of Gooding had a 135 for seventh; John Miller and Glenn Blakeale of Twin Falls tied for eighth and ninth with 136s, and Ray Gibbon and Stan Jones tied with 138s.

Finishing behind Rice and Lowman in the gross portion of the tournament were Larry Malone of Twin Falls — who along with Packard and Jim Blandford is a recently graduated member of the state champion golf team — with a 147; Phil McRoberts of Twin Falls at 148; Jim Blandford of Twin Falls at 149; Joe Flower of Boise with a 151; John Kirby of Gooding with a 152; and Larry Robertson and Harry Lavender tied with 154s for 10th.

Nicklaus then sank an eight foot birdie putt at Number 15 and Palmer made a 15 footer at Number 16 to wrap it up.

They took bogies at the par four fourth and seventh holes, both Nicklaus and Palmer missing the greens with their approach shots each time and then taking two putts. They were only one under par with a 35 on the front nine.

Moody and Crampton teamed for a 68 Sunday, Snead and Dickinson a 66. The three second place teams split $40,000.

was just a normal good player. He covered with the ace. Eric missed, led the jack of trumps and went up with dummy's king after West played low.

Jim: "Once East showed up with the diamond ace, in addition to the king and queen of clubs, it had become obvious to Eric that he would have opened the bidding if he had also held the ace of hearts. Eric still had the problem of deciding about the heart queen but he came to the conclusion that, if West had held ace-queen-small of trumps, plus the ace of clubs and some diamond honor or honors, West would have doubled four hearts."

Oswald: "To amplify my last statement, if East had been using those recollections, he would have soon what Eric was up to and ducked the diamond. This would appear to place the ace of diamonds in the West hand and even Eric would have been likely to go wrong in the trump suit."

A—Pass. Double is a close second choice but your partner could not bid over one heart and East just might make three diamonds.

THAT TOWN wherein the largest number of U.S. citizens would prefer to live, say the pollsters, is San Francisco. Fine place. What I like about San Francisco is when you get tired of walking around there you can stop and lean against it. ... OVER LUNCH this week, an old friend said he had just hired a secretary whose vital statistics are 39-24-37-62. I asked him what's the 62? That, he said sadly, is her I.Q.

DO YOU KNOW when the Old West's cartezkingdom days really ended? Not in the 1880s because of freezing weather, as has been so often reported. But on April 2, 1867. Exactly. That was the day Alphonso Dabb got his patent on barbed wire. ... THE SALES MANAGERS are taller than their salesmen; usually. Exceptions crop up, sure enough. But mostly, the taller men wind up in the management jobs. Surveys show that. Matter of self-confidence, presumably.

GENIUS — His name is Kim Ung-Yong. He was born seven years ago in Seoul, South Korea. His mother and father are university professors. (Our Planet man wishes to mention they both were born at exactly 11 a.m. on May 23, 1934.) By the time young Kim was 5 years old, he spoke Korean, English, German and Japanese, and was capable of doing integral calculus. Pretty swift, what? Lot of scholars think you can't measure intelligence quotients of more than 200 on the Terman index. But Kim's score topped 270. He is thought to be the brightest youngster in all the history of the world.

CUSTOMER SERVICE — Q — "How many of our organs can be successfully transplanted at this stage of the game?" A — Don't know how successfully; but so far 12 such organs are being switched from body to body. Q — "Are there tigers in Russia?" A — Certainly are. That's where the biggest tigers survive; in fact... Q — "Has anybody ever broken the bank at a Las Vegas casino?" A — Not so far.

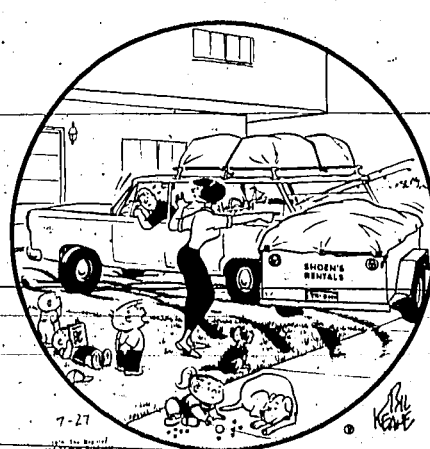

WHEN SEVERAL WOMEN meet in a bar, each tends to order a different drink. Why is a mystery, but such is the case. ... WERE YOU AWARE more Albatrosses are registered with the Kennel Club than any other breed of dog? ... THOSE BOOKS most often stolen from public libraries; it's said; are manuals on auto-repair.

OPEN QUESTION — In terms of money, how much is a yard?

UPON HIS RETURN to Boston on a Sunday after three years at sea, Ship's Captain Kerable, the historic record shows, kissed his wife on their doorstep. Whereupon that pertinent Massachusetts court convicted him of lewd and lascivious behavior and put him in the stocks for two hours. The year was 1656 A.D. Our Love and War man is appalled.
