

Arabs, Israel Split

By United Press International
Disputes over the U.S. plan for peace in the Middle East divided both Israel and the Arab world today, dimming hopes for an early ceasefire. Israeli warplanes raided Egyptian targets along the Suez Canal for the 75th consecutive day.

Dispatches from Beirut, Lebanon, reported the arrival in Egypt of the commander of the Soviet air force, Pavel Kutakhov, and Western military experts speculated he was inspecting Russian defenses in the Suez Canal zone.

In New York, U.N. Secretary General Thant and Gunpar Jarring, his special peace envoy for the Middle East, began working out the mechanics for the three-month ceasefire for Suez. The truce is a main point of the British blueprint to end more than three years of undeclared war.

Jarring arrived in New York Sunday night.

In Tel Aviv, where the plan threatened a government crisis involving the hawkish Gahal party, officials called a meeting for Tuesday of the special committee which is drafting Israel's formal, affirmative response to the U.S. peace initiative.

The government announced that Premier Golda Meir would address Parliament Tuesday afternoon at a special session. The Gahal party has threatened to withdraw from Mrs. Meir's National Unity government in protest over acceptance of the U.S. proposals.

The Arab world, also deeply divided on the plan tried to convene a unity conference today in Tripoli, Libya, but Jordan and Algeria boycotted it. Syria announced at the last minute it was sending a delegation.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, who was the first leader to accept the U.S. plan, was feuding with Iraqi leaders.

'Treaty' Assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., called Sunday for legislation requiring a secret U.S.-Spanish base agreement to be submitted to the Senate as a treaty.

Fulbright announced he would introduce an amendment to a pending $19.2 billion military procurement bill to prevent the administration from paying for use of military bases in Spain until the Senate formally approves "a treaty, convention or other legislative instrumentality."

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called the executive agreement a "serious political step" that would cost the United States $400 million and constitute a U.S. commitment to defend Spain against external aggression.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Senate, he charged that the Spanish legislature, or Cortes, has more say over the base agreement than the U.S. Senate, even though he said Spain is a dictatorship and the United States is a democracy.

370 in Jumbojet Pollution Detour to Cuba

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — A Pan American Airways Boeing 747 jumbo jet with 370 persons aboard was pirated to Havana Sunday in the first hijacking of the world's largest airliner. Cuban Premier Fidel Castro turned out in person to meet it.

He expressed concern for the safety of the passengers, who had been enroute from New York to San Juan.

According to the plane's crew and passengers the huge aircraft was pirated about one hour from San Juan by a small Latin American man wearing bell bottoms, a khaki fatigue jacket and a beret with a Cuban flag pinned on it.

"Castro wanted to know whether the plane could take off again safely," Watkins said. "He'd never seen such a big plane. I told Castro there was no danger."

The captain said he circled the airport just outside Havana once to check the size of the runway, and it was apparently at that time that Castro, somewhere in the city, was summoned by Cuban officials to see the enormous craft.

Amalgamated Sugar Company officials expressed surprise Monday following a suit filed against the company for alleged pollution of Rock Creek.

Robert Day, manager of the company's Twin Falls plant said his company is "well ahead of schedule in our program of clearing up our problems."

He said company engineers have been working "very closely with the State Health Department."

The complaint, filed in Fifth Judicial District Court by the State Board of Health and State Attorney Gen. Robert Robson, charged the sugar beet processing firm discharges silt and organic waste into the creek in violation of state law.

Day said a new settling pond and clarifier now being installed at the plant and scheduled for operation before seasonal operation begins will remove silt from plant discharges.

There is no problem in raising temperature of the creek water during the winter run of the factory, Mr. Day said. But he said he anticipated that a cooling tower similar to one at the company's Rupert plant may have to be installed to cool down discharge at other times.

The Twin Falls plant manager said the company engineer, Robert West, had informed him that installation of a closed system, whereby water is clarified, returned and reused in the operation, is the next step.

"I just kind of wonder why we were picked," he said, "since we have been working so closely with the health department and are ahead of schedule."

If Twin Falls County absentee voters are an indication, Tuesday's primary election turnout should be relatively heavy elsewhere in the state, however, fewer absentee votes than usual were cast.

A total of 440 absentee ballots had been cast or mailed out by the Twin Falls county clerk's office Monday, almost double that of the primary election two years ago.

Officials in the clerk's office said a number of older residents are voting absentee because they are afraid they will not be able to operate the voting machines. Officials say machine voting is easier than marking the paper ballot. Persons may ask help of election officials if necessary.

Newlyweds Die In Blaine Crash

HAILLEY — Two Ontario, Ore. newlyweds and a member of their bridal party were killed late Saturday when their car was struck by a car carrying members of a second wedding party. The wreck occurred about three miles north of here on U.S. 93.

Michael Richter, 21, driver of the first car, and his bride, Cynthia, 19, were killed along with Richter's sister, Debra, 11, immediately following the wedding ceremony.

A fourth member of their party, Diana Richter, 13, was in critical condition at the Sun Valley Hospital today.

Thayne Harris, 24, Boise, driver of the second car, was in critical condition in St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise. His passenger, Dan Featherston, 24, Jerome, was in fair condition at Sun Valley Hospital. Harris and Featherston were driving south after leaving another wedding at Ketchum. Their car apparently crossed into the northbound lane of traffic, striking the Richter car. Featherston was the only person wearing a seat belt, according to Blaine County Sheriff Orville Dexter. No one was thrown from the cars.

The new Mrs. Richter and Debra Richter were pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. Richter died shortly after at the Sun Valley Hospital. The sheriff said volunteers took 30 minutes to free their bodies from the tangled wreckage.

A third car driven by Patrick Kropp, 23, Ontario, was slightly damaged when it struck debris from the wreckage as it approached the crash site.

None of the third car's occupants was injured. Saturday's deaths were the first traffic fatalities in Blaine County since July, 1969. No citations were issued. The victim's bodies were returned to Ontario in preparation for funeral services there.

Solons Get Cars Cheap

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least 19 House and Senate members have taken advantage of a Ford Motor Co. offer to lease luxury Lincoln Continental sedans for $750 a year.

Ford says it makes the cars available at the low price so its products can be in the hands of prestigious drivers. The lawmakers involved say they see nothing wrong with the practice.

But the chairman of the House and Senate ethics committees have indicated they plan to look into the matter. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, called the practice "audacious" and said it should stop immediately.

Among committees whose top members currently enjoy the favorable lease arrangement with Ford are those responsible for auto safety, highway, consumer and tax matters that frequently are of interest to the auto industry.

In addition to those lawmakers to whom her Continentals are supplied at the start of each model year, four chairmen or ranking members have elected to take another Ford luxury car, the Thunderbird, also at $750 a year, or a Mercury for $500.

Three chairmen or ranking members of Senate committees, and one subcommittee chairman, drive leased Chryslers under arrangements that are similar although, they say, somewhat more expensive.

Ford spokesman George Train told UPI 12-month Continental leases comparable to those made available to the top committee area for an average of about $290 a month or about $3,480 a year.

Ford said the bargain offer to committee chairmen and top-ranking members dates back 10 or 12 years and is in line with Ford policy of placing its cars in the hands of prestigious drivers, including sports and entertainment figures.

Officially-elected House and Senate leaders are among those driving $1,000-a-year Cadillacs leased by General Motors Corp. Others include cabinet officers. GM said it also leases two smaller Cadillacs to the government and, at $100 a year, six lesser GM automobiles, the latter reportedly for use by the Secret Service.

Ford said its offer was open only to committee chairmen and senior GOP members, that in no case was it intended by Ford, and that the cars were made available only upon request. Members with cars tended to confirm this, saying they heard of the offer indirectly and made inquiry about it.

Hurricane Celia Skirts Coastline

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Erratic and weakening Hurricane Celia veered west today away from the heavily populated regions of the upper Texas coast, then moved a bit north, angling for the flat, unprotected plains of south Texas.

The weather bureau said the storm should hit near Corpus Christi late this afternoon. Red and black hurricane warning flags flew from Corpus Christi to the Texas-Louisiana border, but the danger to southwest Louisiana diminished.

The storm was expected to continue moving between 12 and 15 miles an hour as it headed toward the state's seventh most populated city. "At 5 a.m. CDT today, Celia was centered near latitude 26.8 north and longitude 94.4 west, or 200 miles east-southeast of Corpus Christi.

Overloaded Ferry Plunged Quickly

CHARLESTOWN, Nevis, B.W.I. (UPI) — Survivors blame overcrowding and unseaworthiness for the capsizing of a ferry boat that sank in the shark-infested Caribbean with heavy loss of life Saturday.

St. Kitts public relations officer Lee Moore said 39 bodies have been recovered but more than 75 persons are missing. He said 88 were rescued.

The ferry boat Christena capsized Saturday afternoon about halfway on its 12-mile run from St. Kitts to Nevis in the West Indies, 200 miles southeast of Puerto Rico.

Unusual Absentee Vote Tally Recorded

If Twin Falls County absentee voters are an indication, Tuesday's primary election turnout should be relatively heavy elsewhere in the state, however, fewer absentee votes than usual were cast.

A total of 440 absentee ballots had been cast or mailed out by the Twin Falls county clerk's office Monday, almost double that of the primary election two years ago.

Officials in the clerk's office said a number of older residents are voting absentee because they are afraid they will not be able to operate the voting machines. Officials say machine voting is easier than marking the paper ballot. Persons may ask help of election officials if necessary.

Lack of interest in the Tuesday voting is expected, officials say, because of the small number of contests. Most interest centered on the gubernatorial race. Incumbent Don Samuelson is opposed by Dick Smith on the Republican ticket. A three-way race on the Democratic ballot between Twin Falls attorney, Lloyd J. Walker, Cecil Andrus of Boise and State Legislator Vern Ravencroft of Gooding County highlights voting interest for members of the Democratic Party.

Members of the American Party have only two candidates, both unopposed. Joel A. Anderson is running for second district congressman and A. Lane Blanchard for superintendent of public instruction. The only other Republican races include one state-level office and two county-level races. Gilbert T. McKinley is opposing H. Louis Hoban for the Republican nomination for superintendent of public instruction.

At the county level Merle E. Leonard is opposing Marlon Ambrose for the Republican nomination as first district county commissioner, and Robert Galley, incumbent prosecutor, is opposed by attorney Leon Smith.

On the Democratic ticket, the only county-level race is for first district county commissioner, where Edwin Lierman and Wendell C. Gannon are seeking the nomination. There is also a four-way race for the non-partisan office of supreme court justice. Incumbent Clay V. Spear is opposed by Willis S. Deffenbach, Robert T. Felton and Elbert E. Gass.

Polls will open Tuesday at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., giving voters an additional four hours. In the past, primary election voting generally did not begin until noon.

County commissioners voted to extend the time this year to encourage voters to take their time to become acquainted with voting machines. County Clerk Harold Lancaster Monday urged voters to cast ballots as early in the day as possible and avoid the after 5 p.m. rush. He also reminded voters they may not be balloting in the same locations as two years ago. This year a number of centrally located buildings have been designated for up-to-four precincts.

Schools in Twin Falls will have three to four precincts using their facilities, eliminating motels and homes for voting. Voters may need to call the county clerk's office to check on the location of their voting places.

All voting machines were in their polling places Monday, programmed and ready. Several others are programmed and available.

Weather Synopsis

Cool northwesterly winds lowered daytime temperatures some 7 to 11 degrees into the 80s at most valley points yesterday. The winds were associated with a weak upper air disturbance which passed through Northern Idaho. Slow warming of 3 or 4 degrees is expected today and Tuesday. That will push high back into the 90s. Overnight lows will be in the upper 40s through the 50s.

Fair skies and dry weather are in prospect, at least through Tuesday. A mass of moist air located over Arizona and Northern Mexico again is beginning to move slowly northward. If it continues its present movement it might reach extreme Southern Idaho by late Tuesday, with some chance of thundershowers near mountains Wednesday afternoon or evening, or later in the week.

Aviation Pioneer Retires

Thomas R. Croson, aviation pioneer in the Pacific Northwest, today announced his retirement from Hughes Air West as its director of community affairs.

Mr. Croson, 65, whose first "flying lesson" in 1911 resulted in a broken arm when he fell from a fence while flapping his arms, is credited with later helping to pioneer scheduled air service in Idaho.

Thirteen years after his backyard accident, Mr. Croson built a glider and by 1928 did, in fact, learn to fly.

In 1930 he was appointed to the Civil Aeronautics Administration—now the Federal Aviation Administration—and helped establish and supervise flying schools throughout the country.

Reason for Acceptance SOS, the internationally accepted call for help from a ship in distress, was chosen because it was convenient to send on the early wireless transmitters.

Project Studies 'Quakemaking'

DENVER (UPI) — The Defense Department is financing a project in the Colorado Rockies to learn whether earthquakes can be created on demand, a Denver newspaper said Sunday.

"The project remains at least semi-secret, even though it is more than two years old and hundreds of small earthquakes have been created and measured," the Rocky Mountain News said.

The newspaper said the project in oil fields near Rangely in northwestern Colorado, not far from the Utah's border, was being sponsored primarily by the Defense Department's advanced Research Projects agency. Personnel in charge of the half-million dollar project, the newspaper said, are attached to the U. S. Geological Survey center for earthquake research at Menlo Park, Calif.

The newspaper said the work stemmed at least in part from earthquakes which occurred in the Denver area after waste fluids were pumped down a deep well at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal east of the city. The Army stopped its pumping there after geologists complained the fluids were acting as lubricants, causing slippage underground and consequently the earthquakes.

The Rocky Mountain News said several oil companies, led by Chevron Oil Co., were conducting the lumping operations at Rangely, filling up dry wells on the periphery of an oil field and forcing the remaining oil toward the center. The water is pumped 6,000 feet into the ground.

The oil companies have been forcing the water into the ground since 1958, but the Defense Department and the U.S. Geological Survey did not become interested until 1967, the newspaper said.

Identified as director of the project was Dr. C. B. Raleigh, a geophysicist at the USGS Geological Center for Earthquake Research.

The newspaper quoted Raleigh as saying the geologic fault in the oil field was only "a couple of miles long," reducing the chance of a major earthquake. He said the quakes generally were confined to the oil field, roughly a strip 15 miles northwest from Rangely about three to four miles wide.

Raleigh said the largest of the recorded quakes were about 3.5 points on the Richter scale, compared to the 6.5 point reading of the disastrous Anchorage, Alaska, quake in 1964. Raleigh said 400 to 500 quakes had been spotted since monitors were placed in position.

Mountain Senators Get Special Deals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four Rocky Mountain area senators are driving Chryslers, thanks to a special lease deal which gives them the cars at from $900 to $1,800 a year, it was learned today.

In addition, at least 19 House and Senate members have taken advantage of a Ford Motor Co. offer to lease luxury Lincoln Continental sedans for $750 a year.

Ford says it makes the cars available at the low price so its products can be in the hands of prestigious drivers.

Driving the Chryslers under the special lease arrangements are Sens. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., senior GOP member of the Interior Committee, Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., Post Office Committee Chairman; Clinton P. Anderson, D - N.M., chairman of the Space Committee; and Frank Moss, D - Utah, chairman of the Commerce Consumer subcommittee.

McGee was reported as saying he no longer likes his Chrysler and plans to cancel the deal. Among committees whose top members currently enjoy the lease arrangement with Ford are those responsible for auto safety, highway, consumer and tax matters that frequently are of interest to the auto industry.

The chairmen of the House and Senate Ethics Committees indicate they plan to look into the matter. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, called the practice "nucleous" and said it should stop immediately.

Interracial Pair Wed Despite Law

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—A 24-year-old white law clerk and his black fiance were wed Sunday to climax a nearly-two-week-old legal battle against a Mississippi law barring interracial marriages.

Roger Mills, a native of Boston, Mass., was wed to Berta Linson, also 24, of Jackson, in a formal church ceremony attended by approximately 200 persons.

U.S. District Judge Harold Cox Friday granted a request by attorneys for Mills, Miss Linson, and another racially-mixed couple for a mandatory injunction providing for issuance of marriage licenses.

The other couple was Vernon Davis, a black factory worker from Canton, and Noreen Leary, a white Massachusetts native living in Jackson.

State Circuit Court Judge Marshall Perry of Grenada issued the temporary injunction July 21 blocking issuance of the marriage licenses in Hinds County. The couples immediately launched a court fight which eventually led to federal court and Judge Cox's decision.

The request for the petition to block issuance of the marriage licenses had been filed by John Cummings of Hinds County and the Southern National Party, a political organization. The petition contended issuance of the licenses would be in violation of the state constitution and an 1890 anti-miscegenation statute prohibiting interracial marriages.

Integration Said 'Nearly Complete'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell said Sunday that "the desegregation process will be almost complete" in the South after September if 800 school districts enforce voluntary agreements and court-imposed integration plans.

Representatives of the Justice Department and the Health, Education and Welfare Department will be dispatched soon "to assist these districts" when necessary, he said, but "the number of federal people...will depend on the requests we have for assistance."

Mitchell pledged that the Government "will go into court after an appropriate investigation" if any recalcitrant districts fail or refuse to carry out desegregation on schedule.

He acknowledged that not even total implementation of these plans would achieve full

"racial balance" in Southern Education, but he said that it would virtually eliminate the dual school system outlawed in 1954 by the Supreme Court, with the ratio of blacks to whites varying from one district to the next.

Mitchell was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program.

The Attorney General emphasized that federal officials already in the South and those sent there this month would be dealing only with educational and legal problems arising out of the transition from segregated to desegregated schools.

Any physical disorders that develop will be handled by local and state law enforcement officials as usual, he said, adding—that he did not anticipate any resistance along those lines.

Kidnapers Demand Prisoner Releases

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — The Tupamaros guerrilla organization Sunday demanded the release of all political prisoners in Uruguay as ransom for two kidnaped diplomats, an American and a Brazilian.

In their communique delivered to a Montevideo newspaper, the terrorists also said the U.S. diplomat, Dan Mitrione, was recovering satisfactorily from a bullet wound in the chest he received during the abduction.

Mitrione, 50, a former police chief in Richmond, Ind., and Brazilian Vice Consul Aloysio Marek Dias Gomide, 41, were abducted Friday in separate kidnappings. Both sent brief notes to their families Sunday. The Tupamaros note Sunday was the first in which they spelled out their exact ransom demands, although they had said in a previous note that the ransom would be the release of political prisoners. The note Sunday specified the release of all prisoners in Montevideo and the interior who have been convicted or are awaiting trial on charges of a political nature.

The note said that the released prisoners must be transported to Mexico, Peru or Algeria. It also said that another person kidnaped earlier last week, Uruguayan Judge Danilo Pereyra Manelli, still is being held and interrogated.

The Government, which has insisted that the Tupamaros communicate directly with its officials, had no comment on the ransom demand. Police sources estimated that at least 150 members of the terrorist organization are in Uruguayan jails.

Remarkable breakthrough from the laboratories of Chevron Research Company

"This car was placed in a clear plastic bag with its dirty engine running. The bag started to fill with dirty exhaust until the exhaust completely obscured the car. This shows how exhaust emissions from dirty engines go into the air and waste mileage."

Scott Carpenter Astronaut/Aquaman personally witnesses this dramatic demonstration.

AFTER F-310

"The same car, after running on just six tankfuls of Chevron with Formula F-310. Dirty exhaust emissions reduced sharply. The bag remains clear. No dirty smoke. Chevron with F-310 turns dirty smoke into good clean mileage."

New F-310 in Chevron gasolines turns dirty exhaust into good clean mileage.

Now, scientists at Chevron Research Company have achieved the most long-awaited gasoline development in history! It's a new gasoline additive—Formula F-310*—that sharply reduces dirty exhaust from dirty engines. And helps toward cleaner air.

Tests conducted by Scott Research Laboratories, an independent research group, showed that Chevron gasolines with F-310 reduced unburned hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide exhaust emissions dramatically. Clearly, this is a major step towards solving one of today's most urgent problems.

F-310 also improves mileage, because dirty exhaust is really wasted gasoline. So F-310 literally keeps good mileage from going up in smoke.

How does an engine produce dirty exhaust in the first place? As a car accumulates mileage, deposits build up. The amounts of gasoline and air fed into the engine get out of balance. This causes the engine to "run rich," wasting gasoline. As a result, excessive unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide exhaust emissions go into the air. F-310 can correct this condition. Just six tankfuls can do the job.

Formula F-310, a patented gasoline additive, is now available in Chevron gasolines wherever you see the F-310 sign.

Inflation Alert

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration will announce the first in a series of "inflation alerts" next month...

Perhaps like this: Let us suppose a rumor is out that the price of ground beef will rise 4 cents a pound.

Washington notifies the White House and a meeting of the National Security Council on Ground Beef is hurriedly called.

The President then goes into a small room by himself with a yellow pad and pencil and lists all the options he has.

The book is titled "The Real Majority" (Coward - McCann, N.Y.), and quite probably it is THE accurate forecast of how folks will vote a little more than three months hence.

That is not what the authors say, of course, because this is an even-handed, non-partisan piece of work.

Their conclusion is that the "Real Majority" is the center — the "unhappy, unpoor, and unblack" middle-aged, middle-class citizens who recently have been voting along with the authors call the "Social Issue."

All over the United States, in every city and town, slanders start screaming. Inflation warden mark their helmets and rush out.

UPI MAP SPOTS Communist controlled area of Laos. Richard Ward is the first American to photograph the Pathet Lao caves located in Sam Neua Province, in the northeastern part of Laos.

Yank Travels Inside Communist Laos

(Richard E. Ward, 37, a University of Chicago graduate and U.S. Army veteran, has returned to the United States after travel in North Vietnam and Communist-controlled parts of Laos from May 22 through June of this year. It was his second trip since 1965 to North Vietnam. A specialist on Indochina, the Manhattan-born Ward is foreign affairs editor of the Guardian, a radical newspaper published weekly in New York City. He is preparing a book on the history of Vietnam in the 20th century. Ward says that he is not a Communist but "an independent leftist." His following report is an account of his experiences in Laos and contains some information that has not received wide publication in this country.)

occupy their own separate caves scattered through the province. U.S. planes flew overhead daily although there were no attacks in my vicinity. Once leaflets were dropped. The message on one of them promised the bearer safe conduct if he reached the zone controlled by the Vientiane government of Premier Souvanna Phouma. There were, however, numerous fresh bomb craters where I traveled, supporting Laotian statements that American bombings had occurred up to several times a month in these areas. The Pathet Lao would not take us into areas where bombing had occurred more frequently.

In mid-June, I was in the town of Sam Neua, once the largest population center of the province in Northern Laos. There used to be about 20,000 persons living in the town and adjacent villages. Today not a soul lives in the town; not a single dwelling in it was spared by American bombing. It is a completely dead city; only some walls and empty shells of buildings remain. Most of the population of Sam Neua survived, having gone into the jungle when the planes came. The mayor said that villages along the roads to the town suffered even more during the heavy daily attacks. Pathet Lao soldiers and members of the Lao civilian militia were responsible for the defense of Sam Neua Province.

composed of women, according to Pathet Lao officials. In the units I saw, girls 14 years old were drilling with carbines. From May 17, 1964 to mid-June, 1970, about 1,500 U.S. aircraft were shot down in Laos, the Pathet Lao claim. Some U.S. pilots have been captured but I gained the impression that the number being held is not very large. Pathet Lao officials admit that the United States often rescues downed pilots who managed to parachute. Asked about American pilots held in Laos, Sisana Sisano said they were being treated well. Prince Souphanouvong insisted on this, and that they were receiving double or triple the food rations allotted Laotians.

bombing of Laos continues. A long war would take more American and Laotian lives, the prince said. "But we know how to fight. We have been fighting for 16 years while the liberated zones have kept expanding and consolidating: "We have struggled starting from nothing," he said. "Now our liberated area is as large as North Vietnam." Souphanouvong, who looked as if he actually enjoyed life in the caverns of Laos, declared that "I am ready to continue as long as Nixon requires it."

By RICHARD E. WARD (Written for UPI) IN SAM NEUA PROVINCE, Laos—Travelling for eight days in this region, called the liberated zone by the Communist Pathet Lao, I met and spoke with soldiers, peasants, medical workers, students and officials, including Prince Souphanouvong, whose headquarters are inside a huge mountain redoubt. I was allowed to take photographs freely, even in the cavern of Souphanouvong, which is his permanent quarters. Other Pathet Lao officials

Saw Mostly Jungled Mountains Most of the territory I saw was jungled mountains, sparsely inhabited by the Mao, a Laotian minority, who cultivate rice, maize, beans and other crops by their villages. There was another sort of mountain, a stark and rocky outcropping rising fairly abruptly from the plain or plateau, somewhat like a mesa of the American Southwest but surrounded and often covered by heavy vegetation. There was the occasional sound of dynamite blasting out a new cavern nearby. A score or so workers outside loaded newly blasted rock onto trucks.

It appeared to me that youth participate widely in military activity. There are women in the regular armed forces. Half of the civilian militia is

However, the Pathet Lao would not say how many Americans are being held or identify them or allow any exchange of mail. Present conditions Sisano said, would not permit this. After this discussion I met Prince Souphanouvong, head of the Pathet Lao, in his office. Dressed in a dark blue suit the prince, wearing a beret, the prince, who is 58, talked informally in French. The Pathet Lao, Souphanouvong said, is ready for a negotiated solution to the war, but he emphasized there could be no talks as long as U.S.

University Names Director for Wilderness Research Center

MOSCOW — Dr. Albert W. Erickson, an internationally known wildlife ecologist, was named director of the University of Idaho Wilderness Research Center and professor of forestry and zoology effective Aug. 1, following Regent's approval.

The unique wilderness headquarters, located on a 65-acre tract of land 25 miles east of Big Creek, a major tributary of the Middle Ford of the Salmon River in Central Idaho, will serve as a center for basic and applied interdisciplinary scientific research in the wilderness aspects of wildlife, forestry, range, botany, soils, geology, anthropology, sociology and psychology.

For the past four years, Erickson has served as associate professor of wildlife ecology and curator of the University of Minnesota's Museum of Mammals. Prior to that, he was regional game management supervisor and associate biologist with the Alaska Department of Fish and Game for seven years.

He has also worked as a biologist with the Michigan Department of Conservation and been an instructor of wildlife at Michigan State University.

In addition, Erickson has served as a consultant to the Natural Sciences Advisory Committee of the National Park Service, scientific advisor to the Norway-Norsk-Polar-Institute, 1966-68 and U.S. representative to the Second Antarctic Biological Symposium, International Union of Scientific Unions, Cambridge, England, 1968.

Prior to that, he taught at John Glenn Junior High School in New Concord, Ohio. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Muskingum College, New Concord, and a master of education degree and doctor of philosophy degree from Ohio University at Athens. He is married and has three children.

A native of Chicago, Erickson received his bachelor of science, master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees from Michigan State University.

The regents also approved the appointment of Philip T. Bain, 27, assistant director of regents reporting and research at Ohio University, as assistant registrar at the University of Idaho effective Aug. 24.

He replaces Matt E. Tolin, who has been promoted to registrar at the university.

A native of New Concord, Ohio, Bain also served at Ohio University as resident director of Hayes Hall and graduate assistant in the Discipline of

His research has concentrated mainly on wilderness and polar region animal species, with particular emphasis on bears and seals, about which he has published more than 40 papers discussing their ecology, life history, physiology and management.

Acting's Duck Soup For 'Webfoot Waddle'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Walt Disney studios may have gone too far this time with a new star Webfoot Waddle.

As the monicker implies, the actor is a duck.

He is, in fact a most ordinary appearing duck, lackluster of eye, feather-headed and bird-brained. Still, Waddle plays the title role in "The Million Dollar Duck."

Gliding around the pond on the Disney back lot, Waddle quacks a great deal in anticipation of the scenes which require it to lay 14-karat gold eggs. This is most unusual because Webfoot is a male.

What sets Webfoot Waddle apart from most white Chinese ducks is a speckled beak which the makeup department may disguise.

Producer Bill Anderson, a 27-year veteran at the studio and vice president of production operations, does most of the talking for Waddle by virtue of his seniority and the fact that he signed Waddle for the role.

"Before we had a script I decided we'd better find out if we could get a duck to play the role," Anderson said.

"We first contacted Hank Cowl, the animal trainer and handler, and asked him if he could get a duck who becomes a pal of a dog, a playmate for a boy, get involved in a chase and pretend he's laying eggs."

Cowl came in with seven

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, who underwent surgery for a total hip replacement two weeks ago, is reported up and walking and may leave her New York hospital next week.

An aide said the senator would return to Washington after her release to complete her recuperation.

Turpentine?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration says some two-ounce bottles of VI-Jon Hospital brand castor oil actually contain turpentine.

Given to a child, the turpentine could be fatal, the FDA said Friday.

The FDA said it was impossible to determine how widespread the mislabeled bottles were distributed, but it urgently warned consumers to throw away such bottles or to make certain they actually contain castor oil.

At least one bottle of the mislabeled turpentine has been found in the St. Louis area. The FDA said it has no information on how the mixup could have occurred. It was impossible to trace the bottles because the company uses no coding system.

Question...

You have referred in your column to the Veteran's Burial Allowance. Is this amount also available for cremation?

Answer...

The Veterans Administration allowance of $250.00 for the death expenses of a wartime veteran, or of a peacetime veteran receiving service connected disability compensation, is the same for cremation as for burial.

All of the other so-called burial allowances such as: transportation to the place of burial when death occurs in a Veterans Hospital, flag, cemetery space, and marker apply to cremation as well as burial.

Computer Voting Trial Scheduled

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — The age of the computer will judge its way into the voting booth in Latah County Tuesday as the 9,000 registered voters prepare to cast ballots on the "votomatic."

The county's commissioners, acting upon an amendment to the Idaho election laws passed last session, authorized the use of the "punch-card" concept, with the votes to be counted by the University of Idaho computer center.

Joe Taggard, representative of the Computer Election Systems of San Francisco, has worked with County Auditor Kelly Cline, Ward Crowley, John Hickman and Bill Roberts of the university to prepare the program the computer will need to reach the ballots.

According to law, a "mock election" was held two weeks ago in the presence of Secretary of State Pete Conrara, when all possible combinations of ballot positions for the various candidates were tried on for size. The computer and the program came through with flying colors and the program was then sealed and stored away in the county's vault until election night.

County Commission Chairman Gerald Imble of Kendrick said he and his board were attracted to the new concept for several reasons. One would be the fact counting ability of the computer, where it can count whether the ballot is for the American, Democratic or Republican Party. The computer can handle a thousand cards each minute, and, under ideal conditions, could then count the total county vote in under ten minutes. Other considerations were the ease of operating the voting devices in the polling places, storage and cost.

For the past several months, Taggard and Cline have been conducting public meetings to acquaint the voters and precinct election officials with the new procedure. Each of Latah County's 32 precincts will have a demonstration device, manned by an election official, who will explain the use of the device to each voter prior to casting the ballot.

After the demonstration, the voter will pick up his ballot, which is nothing more than a computer punch card, and move into the voting booth, where the Idaho and county election ballot is contained in a device made up of eight pages.

The first page will contain instructions, and the second page will allow the voter to determine whether his vote will be cast in the American, Democratic or Republican primary. With the use of a metal stylus, the voter will punch out the "chad" or "window" with his party preference. At that point, all votes punched will be counted only in relation to the first "punch."

Instructions then tell the voter to move to certain pages which contain the names of candidates running on the party ticket he has selected. The last page of the voting booklet is for the non-partisan races for Supreme Court justice and district judge.

After completing the ballot, the voter will slip the punch card into an envelope — where he may also write in names for the various officials — and will return it to the election judge. A stub is torn off to note he has voted and the envelope is placed in the ballot box.

Members of the Latah County Sheriff's Office will pick up the ballots and take them to the computer center in sealed containers. Members of each political party will be on hand to view the opening of each container prior to counting.

Since Idaho law allows counting to begin after 50 votes have been cast, the sheriff's department will make two pickups from each precinct.

Election officials expect to have 30 per cent of the ballots on hand at 8 p.m. when the polls officially close. At that time, those ballots will be run through the computer and counted. At 8:01 p.m., the public will know how a third of their fellow citizens voted.

Previously, the earliest a precinct has reported its total vote has been between 8:45 and 9 p.m. Several precincts should have their total votes counted by that time, according to predictions by election officials.

The last precinct is expected to be counted around 10 p.m. on election night. It will be a far cry from the 1968 election when the final precinct reported in at 6:45 the next morning.

'Nice Guy' Writes to Hazelton Veteran

HAZELTON — There are still some nice people around the country, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orr, Hazelton, say one of them is Carl L. Doerr, who resides in Los Alamitos, Calif.

When the couple's son, Daryl Vernon Orr, was in California a short time ago he went into a telephone booth to call a former classmate, Ronnie Rodeman, Long Beach, Calif. The telephone number was written on the back of Daryl's military discharge papers and he accidentally left the paper in the telephone booth.

Mr. Doerr found the paper. Not only did he return the paper, but he noticed a list of seven medals the Hazelton youth had earned while serving in Vietnam, so he wrote a letter to the young veteran expressing his appreciation for what young men like him are doing for his country and the rest of the American citizens.

"I was with an infantry group and served as an officer in World War II and in Korea," Mr. Doerr wrote, "and I can say I know what you have gone through. Speaking as an American and expressing the thoughts of millions like myself, thanks for your effort in our behalf," the California man wrote.

Daryl Orr has completed military service and was in California to enroll in college when he lost the paper.

The paper shows he received the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal, Good Conduct Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Combat Medical Badge and the Bronze Star Medal.

He served approximately two years in the Army, about half of the time in active duty in Vietnam.

T.F. Doctor To Serve as Head Start Consultant

Dr. Charles W. Schabacker, 666 Shoshone St. E., Twin Falls, has been selected by the American Academy of Pediatrics to serve as a Head Start Consultant in Idaho.

He is one of more than 600 physician consultants from the membership of the American Academy of Pediatrics and other leaders in the field of child health who will evaluate the medical aspects of Head Start programs throughout the United States.

Each consultant selected will work with the local officials in Head Start projects in his community. He will review the medical aspects of Head Start applications submitted by the Community, assist in planning medical programs and maintain contact with program medical directors, follow-up and evaluate programs and work with other child development, health, education and welfare organizations and agencies.

This represents a new type of relationship between an agency of the Federal Government and a voluntary, professional organization, giving the Academy the major responsibility of making certain health services to Head Start youngsters meet their needs.

Machine Voting Is as Easy as One, Two Three

FIRST OF THREE simple steps the voter takes in casting a machine ballot is the pulling of a large red handle at the base of the voting panel completely to the right. This closes the curtains for privacy and sets the machine in motion to receive the vote.

SECOND STEP is the voting aid to do this the voter pushes down small levers above the names of the candidates of his choice. A small red "x" appears when the lever is down, indicating a vote. Should the voter change his mind, he pushes the lever back up and votes for the other candidate. The voter here has voted for three candidates, the last one his finger is pushing down the lever.

STEP THREE, VOTING finished, the voter returns the red handle to the far left, the voting panel clears, the vote is recorded and tallied and the curtains open. Should the voter forget to do this and simply part the curtains and walk out his vote will not be recorded. Election officials will watch and call attention to voters who may forget this.

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR — President Nixon had signed a bill to lower the voting age to 18 in all elections, beginning in 1971. Scammon believed that this action in Washington might reduce what he called "kid-lash" opposition to proposals on the ballots of 15 states Nov. 3 to lower the voting age. Although the president signed the bill extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act, he questioned the constitutionality of the provision to lower the voting age by law. He suggested that a constitutional amendment was needed. The U.S. Supreme Court eventually must decide whether the minimum voting age can be set by federal law.

Richard M. Scammon, former Census Bureau director and a student of election results, reminded the same commission that Congress had passed and

Steps Simple, Machine Foolproof

Editors note: This is the second of two articles on use of the automatic voting machines which will be at the Twin Falls County polls for the first time Tuesday. Information is designed to instruct voters who may not have had an opportunity to try out the machines during demonstrations prior to election time.

About all the voter has to worry about in using the new Automatic Voting Co. machines when he or she goes to the polls Tuesday will be three small steps and a decision on candidates.

For the election officials there are a number of additional steps and these have been shown election board members in special school sessions during the past week in Twin Falls.

As the first step, the voter who has just walked to the machine to vote will move a red handle at the base of the voting panel as far to the right as it will go. This closes the curtains for privacy and the machine is ready for voting.

down the voting levers above the name of the candidate for which the voter wishes to vote. Third and final step is to throw the handle back to the left to open the curtains. This automatically records the vote and adds it to the running total on the machine.

If a voter pulls down the small lever for the wrong candidate, all he or she needs to do is push it back into position and it is then possible to vote for the other candidate. In the primary election if the voter accidentally votes on the wrong ticket and wishes to change his mind, he may again push the levers back in position and pull down a small stainless steel knob at the far right to unlock the machine, or he may ask the election officials to assist.

Should a voter cast his ballot and then walk out by parting the curtains, but without pulling the lever back to the left, the election officials will either call his attention to this or will pull the lever and record the vote. Instructions at the top of the voting panel explain to the voter how to use the automatic machine. These include the method of voting "yes" and "no" on issues. Local election officials point out there are no questions to be voted on in the Tuesday election and voters should not be concerned with this. Instructions are worked for use in all types of elections but on Tuesday only candidates will be involved.

County Clerk Harold Lancaster said every person, and especially older voters, who have used the voting machines during demonstrations have expressed surprise at how easy they are to use and how simple voting can be.

He said persons who do not understand them may ask questions of election officials at their voting precinct.

One of the advantages of using machines for the voter as well as the candidate is that ballots cannot be spoiled. In conventional paper ballot voting, when the voter marks his choice and inadvertently selects two candidates who are running in the same race, his ballot is spoiled and void.

The Automatic Voting Machine prohibits "over voting" because it is equipped with a locking device which keeps the voter from pulling down more than one lever in any race in which there is competition. If the voter is uncertain as to whether to vote for one or more candidate in a state representative office, for example, the voting machine knows, and when the voter has selected the legal number of candidates the machine locks out the rest.

Duties of the election officials are greatly simplified by the machines. Prior to voting, the machine is inspected to show all numbers are on "0" indicating the machine is clear. It is then sealed against any tampering. As the election progresses, each vote is recorded and added, so totals are ready as soon as the polls close. There are no longer any hours of tabulating required election boards. Totals on the counting dials remain available for inspection and eliminate recount needs.

Officials of the Automatic Voting Machine Co., say one of the greatest advantages of their machines is the guarantee against fraud or political crookedness. Local county commissioners said they selected the Automatic Voting Machine as the best mechanical voting device on the market because of this factor. When the polls close, election officials unlock a lever which turns out the ballot of that machine in multiple copies. These go directly to election headquarters.

When the polls close there will be 90 ballots to be totaled, instead of the several thousand which must be counted in the regular ballot type voting.

County officials have estimated all returns will be complete in the county within an hour, depending on the length of time taken by some precinct election boards in outlying areas in getting their results to the county courthouse.

Book Hits Lack of Sense In TV Ads, Programming

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Research shows that the average American is exposed to some 1,600 advertising messages each day, is moved pro or con by no more than 15 of them.

This astounding fact is recorded in a book called "With All Its Faults," by Fairfax M. Cone, the widely respected advertising man whose name is more readily identifiable as part of the title of the Foote, Cone and Bolding Agency. Heaven—and maybe the A.C. Nielsen ratings firm—knows how many of those 1,600 advertising messages are pounded home daily through television commercials. But it's quality, not quantity, that the dignified, witty, straight-talking Mr. Cone is interested in.

"The lack of sense in so much television advertising," he writes, "is in accord with the lack of substance in most television programming. Television is directed at the lowest common denominator of public tastes and the excesses in advertising on the little screen are in keeping."

Cone will draw a wistful sigh from readers when he reminds them: "(Radio) advertising in the beginning was limited to naming the company through whose 'courtesy' any given program was broadcast."

He also will make you sit up when, discussing the incredible costs and profits in video, he says: "It is an unlucky network station in a major market that doesn't net an amount equal to the owners' original investment every year!"

—right up to recent television shows and commercials. More than that, it is full of the social lore that goes with an impressive man's 40-year career in a business of powerful figures guiding public tastes and famous products.

"Quiet Cries" Do Not Go Unheard With Al-Anon

BY NORMA HERZINGER Women's Editor

While most of us know that alcoholism is a disease; too few of us recognize it as a family disease. It only stands to reason, if one member of the household is an alcoholic it's bound to affect the others, emotionally, spiritually and often physically.

Their cries of anguish are often on the quiet side — yet they are actually the people caught in a life and death struggle — with themselves. It is most difficult to make an accurate count of these people, because much too often they won't ask for help; or they're afraid of what friends and relatives might say.

This is why the Al-Anon Family Group was organized. It is made up of families and friends of problem drinkers and locally they meet once each week at 8:30 p.m. at the Twin Falls County Courthouse in a room on the third floor.

To better acquaint the general public with the aims of the group, a resume of its purpose and activities was made during the recent national Al-Anon conference in Salt Lake City. A copy of this resume was brought to the Times-News recently from one of the local members, noting that perhaps if more people were aware of the existence of an Al-Anon group, then perhaps they, too, could benefit from it.

The resume included, in part, the following:

Statistics of the National Committee on Alcoholism estimate that some 5,000,000 people in the United States are compulsive drinkers. What about the families of these people? How can they cope with the difficult, often heart-breaking, situations that occur in their daily lives?

Today, Alcoholics Anonymous is known all over the world. The 12 steps to sobriety and new hope have been taken by thousands of men and women who were at the bottom of the ladder — sick in body and heart and soul because of an obsessive desire for "liquor. AA, with its numerous chapters and far-reaching work, has done wonders for the alcoholic himself; but until the Al-Anon

Family Group was organized, little help was available to the mothers, wives, husbands, or children of the problem drinker. Alcoholism does not confine its terrible effects to the patient suffering from the sickness. It is definitely a family disease. It is responsible for broken homes, the neglect and abuse of children, the delinquency of adolescents. Only those whose lives are closely associated with that of a problem drinker can fully appreciate the terrors and anxieties, the shattered hopes and disillusionment that build up into what finally becomes an unbearable existence.

Al-Anon was formed by a group of women who had experienced all these things and were sick of sitting back and letting tragedy overtake them. They felt that by banding together, they could better solve their common problems and help not only the compulsive drinker but themselves also. Their theories have proved to be practical and rewarding. The group has expanded amazingly since the first small, informal gathering met in the late 1940's. Now there are chapters from coast to coast in the United States and Canada, and the movement has extended to Alaska, Central America, South America, many countries of Europe as well as the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand and Africa.

Al-Anon members share their experiences in group discussions, which are followed by a question and answer period. This therapy is helpful because once people realize that their situation is far from being unique, they gain confidence in handling it. The yoke of shame and secrecy has been removed, and they no longer feel like outcasts in a polite but often unsympathetic society. They know they are among friends who understand only too well just what they are up against.

One of the steps recommended to newcomers in the organization is to take a personal inventory of their own faults and to try to overcome them instead of focusing all the attention on the vices and wrongdoings of the alcoholic they wish to help. The reason for his plain. By recognizing their own shortcomings, they will learn to be more tolerant of weakness in others and realize that patience and tact are required to change the abnormal habit of alcoholism.

Another important step in dealing with the alcoholic is to understand that he is an emotionally sick person. Violent scenes, constant nagging, or a martyred attitude of "how can you do this to me?" never made anybody stop drinking yet. Al-Anon members are advised to cultivate a calm, quiet outlook on life, buoyed up by a sense of spiritual strength and optimism. "Easy does it" is one of their slogans because most of them have learned the hard way that alcoholism can't be cured overnight, and to expect miracles is the surest way to defeat.

All persons interested in the local organization are asked to call 733-7932 and are invited to attend meetings at any time.

DOWNTOWN - TWIN FALLS

DEAR ABBY: I had to make an adjustment in my sex life when I got married because I wasn't even sure my husband was normal. I went to my doctor, and he told me that anything that was agreeable to both parties sexually was all right, and did not constitute a "far out fetish"—which is how you described that husband's behavior.

It takes different things to excite different people. That man just happened to like his woman in black sheer lingerie, high heels and tied up with ropes. Maybe that wife should learn to make an adjustment. Of course, it's probably too late for her now because if she took your advice, she's already left him.

DEAR KNOWS: I, too, believe that anything that is agreeable to both parties sexually is acceptable behavior. But this woman said she was terrified and repulsed by this kind of "play," but her husband, knowing how frightened she was, kept after her to go along with it because it excited HIM. This, in my opinion, is cruel, selfish and brutal.

"Do you think he could be dangerous?" she asked. "If you stick around to find out and discover later that he was, don't say I didn't warn you." I replied. And what I said still goes.

DEAR ABBY: My oldest sister, Marion, has been like a mother to my brother and me since we were orphaned at an early age.

My brother's wife, Donna, had a misunderstanding with Marion 6 years ago, and they haven't spoken to each other since. (Naturally, my brother took his wife's side.)

Marion did call Donna to apologize a few years ago, but Donna wouldn't even speak to her.

Now, Donna's daughter is being married, and it appears that Marion will not be invited to the wedding or any parties for the bride. I have remained "friendly" with both Marion and Donna.

Should I tell my brother that I will decline all invitations unless Marion is invited? IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Do your best to get your brother and Donna to bury the hatchet, but not in Donna's. I think for you to pressure them into inviting Marion in the manner you suggest would be wrong.

Give me the patience to control myself after having turned the office upside down to find a letter the boss is sure I "misfiled"—then he finds it in the inside pocket of his jacket.
And help me to act like I'm deaf when he swears at his partner. And to keep a straight face when he lies to his wife.
In these things, Dear Lord, I need your help.

Sun Lovers Boil in Oil For That Glamorous Tan

This summer countless Americans who wouldn't touch a hot stove will literally burn themselves alive. It's that seasonal madness — sun worship.

In vacation spots across the nation, thousands of ladies glistening with sun tan oil will deepen into shades of mahogany as they turn slowly under the sun's rays like roasts on a spit.

Why do so many people boil themselves in oil? Because a deep tan supposedly makes you look like a Greek god or goddess. At the very least, it shows that you've been somewhere.

But tans don't last. They've been called the shortest-lived status symbol of all. And repeated exposure to roasting that golden aura gives skin drastically and gives it a coarse, leathery look — about as glamorous as an old shoe.

Yes, the warm and seemingly gentle sun can hold eventual surprises for the unwary. Most beauty experts agree, though, that a light, even tan is most attractive and relatively safe. The watchword here, according to the makers of Bayer Aspirin, is "moderation."

They say you can tan sensibly if you take the sun in small doses — no more than 30 or 60 minutes on the first day and about 10 extra minutes each day thereafter.

For many people, acquiring a tan becomes a week-end crash project — out in the midday sun when its rays are the harshest. If you sun yourself during this peak period of 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., your only hope of avoiding a painful burn is the frequent and generous use of protective creams or lotions containing screening agents.

Rupert Man Found Shot Near Heyburn

HEYBURN — Chico Melcher, 28, Rupert, was found about 4 a.m. Sunday by Minidoka County deputy sheriff Tony Jarvis in the back seat of an auto, shot through the chest. The discovery was made during a routine patrol in the sand dune area east of the Heyburn bridge. The man was taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital and underwent

Truck Runs Over Cycle, Youth Hurt

WENDELL — A 16-year-old Wendell youth is in satisfactory condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, with injuries he received in a motorcycle-truck accident about 2:30 p.m. Sunday near Wendell on Highway 25. William David Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell, received a broken leg, internal injuries and required nearly 200

PUC Has Ruling on Air Fares

The Public Utilities Commission has ruled in favor of a request from Sun Valley Airlines Inc., and Trans Magic Airlines for rounding fares up to the nearest dollar in view of the transportation tax increase. The commission noted the Airways Revenue Act of 1970 increased the transportation tax rate from five to eight per cent. In ruling the fares could be revised upward to the nearest dollar, the commission noted this would be in the interest of public and carrier convenience. Under the new regulation fares are to include the tax. Carriers were advised to file new fare schedules with the Commission. The order was signed by Ralph H. Wickberg, president, and Harry L. Nock and J. Bruns Beal, commissioners.

Emergency Teams Meeting

Emergency operation teams of Twin Falls, which would be called on to take over authority in the event of a disaster or nuclear attack were meeting Monday morning in the Twin Falls county courthouse for a special training exercise. Conducted by the Civil Defense, University of Idaho Extension program and Idaho State Department of Disaster Relief and Civil Defense, the Monday program was designed especially for heads of city and county government, law enforcement directors and heads of utility departments. Simulators working with the program help create emergency conditions and provide exercise material.

Magic Valley Driver Escapes Death In Mishap

HEYBURN — A North Bend, Wash., man escaped death several times about 6 a.m. Monday, witnesses said, after he was thrown from a rolling 1968 Volkswagen five miles west of Heyburn on Interstate 80N. Charles L. Shehan, 36, was traveling west on the interstate, when he swerved to the right to miss a metal curb and gutter form, which had recently fallen from a construction contractor's truck. The auto went off the right shoulder, back onto the roadway, then rolled four or five times, according to witnesses. Shehan was thrown out of the auto during the first roll and witnesses said he was thrown several feet in the air, then rolled along the highway with the vehicle for about 100 feet. Witnesses said both the man and vehicle were rolling so close together that they thought Shehan would roll under the car several times. The Volkswagen, owned by John C. Jones, North Bend, Wash., who was a passenger, was demolished. Mr. Jones was treated and released from Cassia Memorial for minor injuries. Mr. Shehan is listed in good condition at the hospital.

Two Area BPA Officials Honored

BURLEY — James H. Isaak, a native of American Falls, and Marion J. Judd, a 1948 graduate of Rupert High School, Mr. Isaak is active in the Masonic Lodge and the Minico High School Spartans Booster Club. Mr. Judd is a journeyman electrician for the BPA Operations and Maintenance Section, Burley. A native of Idaho, he graduated from local schools and attended Montana State University, Missoula. He received training as an aviation cadet in the U.S. Army Air Corps from 1942-44 and served subsequently as a heavy bomber crew member. In 1946, Judd was employed as a civilian fire fighter by the Ninth Service Command, Rupert. From 1954 to 1962 he worked in various capacities for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, Burley. In 1963, when the BPA marketing area was extended into Southern Idaho, he transferred to the BPA Burley operation as an electrician apprentice. In 1966 he completed the BPA electrician apprenticeship program and qualified for the position he now holds. Judd is a past president and a member of the Heyburn Chamber of Commerce. Also he is a member of the Heyburn Volunteer Fire Department.

Local Scientists Study Irrigation Evaporation

CASTLEFORD — A research project to determine the influence of the surrounding desert on the evaporation of water from the irrigated land is being carried out by a team from the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, of the Agriculture Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. James L. Wright, Research Soil Scientist, is project leader and Dr. Robert M. Holmes, Research Scientist from the Western Research Section of the Inland Waters Branch of the Department of Energy, Mines, and Resources of Calgary, Alberta, Canada are collaborating with the team in this project. The project is a cooperative effort between the two government teams with "in the air" research studies made by Dr. Holmes and his two technicians, Normal Bridges and Julie Holmes, also of Calgary. Dr. Holmes flew from his office in Calgary to conduct research flights recently, flying a twin-engine Piper Aztec plane loaded with research equipment, he made continuous flights along a line connecting the Snake River Research Center with the two towers to the west. The plane is instrumented to record air temperature, humidity, wind speed, and radiation energy from the sun. Similar measurements were also made by Dr. Wright at the Kimberly Station at ground and lower levels. Air temperature, humidity, and wind speed and direction data were collected at the lower locations by Mr. Chapman. The information recorded will be analyzed to get a clearer picture of the energy used by plants and the rate of evaporation to determine the water need of croplands and the effect of prevailing winds and weather patterns, as well as of location, in respect to the desert on this rate of evaporation. Dr. Holmes has conducted a few studies in Canada along this line, but with different topography and conditions and without the precision ground level measurements. Dr. Wright reported that the Research Center has been conducting extensive research along this line but were limited to ground and tower measurements. This joint project allowed

Traffic Changed At West 5 Points

Another traffic change is being made in Twin Falls beginning this week, with traffic being allowed to enter Main Avenue from the West Five-Points intersection. City Manager Jean Millar said merchants operating service stations and motels on Main Avenue and depending heavily on tourist and transient traffic for their business have suffered a 50 per cent loss in business since the one-way street was moved to Second Avenue North and East. As a result, traffic will be channeled into Main Avenue at West Five Points making it similar to the system at East Five Points. This was the intention when the intersection was redesigned by the Department of Highways. Presently traffic is prohibited from entering between 8th Street West and North and the five points. City Council members sent a letter Friday to the Department of Highways district office in Shoshone asking their assistance in removing striping so the city can re-paint and revise the traffic signal light. Following complaints from business property owners, Mr. Millar said, a six-hour traffic study was made. In that time the city surveyors found 240 vehicles per hour going through the intersection. Only two trucks per hour turned left onto the truck route and in most cases these were small delivery type vehicles. Surveyors reported, indicating the traffic change can be made without difficulty. Mr. Millar said.

Hearing Postponed on Salmon Falls Project

The Senate public hearing on the proposed Salmon Falls Reclamation Project has been postponed for three weeks, states Elmer Parrott, a director of the Salmon River Canal Co. Mr. Parrott said Sen. Len B. Jordan's office was notified late Friday the hearings would be postponed for three weeks because of some things the Bureau of Reclamation needed to discuss with Sen. Jordan and Sen. Frank Church as well as with the Bureau of the Budget. It was reported that the Bureau of the Budget had intended to testify against the project because they felt it was not economically feasible. Harold Nelson, Boise, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, and Alan McGregor, area engineer for the bureau, who were in Washington at the time, said given some time they and the two senators could convince the Bureau of the Budget that $50 million project is economically feasible. As a result, Mr. Parrott said, the senate's Water and Power Sub-Committee of the Interior Committee has postponed the public hearing on the project for three weeks. A delegation of eight Twin Falls area people were scheduled to attend the hearings and testify for the project.

Youth Injured In Car-Tractor Crash

GANNETT — An auto-tractor collision, three miles west of Gannett, Sunday afternoon has left an 11-year-old Boise youth, Bryce Thomas in critical condition at St. Alphonsus hospital. Thomas was transferred to Boise late Sunday after treatment at Blaine County Hospital in Hallett. He was a passenger in a 1969 Buick driven by Dennis Baldwin, 14, Picabo, when it collided with a 1953 Ford tractor driven by Richard Ehrmantraut, 17, Bellevue. Sheriff's Deputy Dan Norton said Ehrmantraut was attempting to drive onto Baseline Road from a farm driveway and pulled out onto the road because of obstruction from some trees on the side of the road. As the tractor pulled out onto the roadway, it struck the right side of the Buick, which was on an attempt to avoid the collision. None of the other passengers in the auto, Mike Porter, 15, Chris Smith, 17, and Carl Porter, 13, all Caldwell, were injured. Ehrmantraut was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Fire Hits Area Store

BURLEY — The Burley Fire department answered a fire call at 7:45 a.m. Sunday at the Grundwieg Grocery Store on East 16th St. The fire started in the storage room and compressor room at the back of the store according to firemen. Firemen stayed at the scene of the fire until 10 a.m. There is heavy smoke damage throughout the store which is owned by Jack Bodily. It will be days before an inventory can be taken and damage losses set.

Ex-Area Couple's Son Dies

WENDELL — Randy Hobdell, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hobdell, Sahla Cruz, Calif., former Wendell residents, was killed Saturday in a two-car accident near Lewiston in which four others were killed. Randy had been visiting in the Lewiston area with his parents when the mishap occurred. The youth was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Hobdell, Wendell; Kenny Wilson, Fairfield, and Mrs. Dale Perry, and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Anderson, Wendell. Funeral services are pending in Lewiston.

RODEO GROUNDS at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds are being changed in preparation for the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo next month. Because the new grandstands are being erected south of the old site, the rodeo arena, chutes and corrals have to be moved. However, there is not time to move most of the corrals, so crews have been busy the past few days building runways from the old corrals to the new holding pens and chutes now under construction. This photo shows the runways under construction. The county fair is Sept. 9-12.

The information recorded will be analyzed to get a clearer picture of the energy used by plants and the rate of evaporation to determine the water need of croplands and the effect of prevailing winds and weather patterns, as well as of location, in respect to the desert on this rate of evaporation. Dr. Holmes has conducted a few studies in Canada along this line, but with different topography and conditions and without the precision ground level measurements. Dr. Wright reported that the Research Center has been conducting extensive research along this line but were limited to ground and tower measurements. This joint project allowed them to take advantage of the plane and research instrumentation valued at over $200,000. The Canadian scientist welcomed the opportunity to work with the local team and is very interested in the scientific information to be gathered during the rest of the summer irrigation season. The group hoped for normal weather conditions for this study with temperatures in the nineties and westerly winds as ideal for their research. The readings and recordings from the towers will continue throughout the irrigation season. Dr. Holmes will return in mid August for further research flights. The biggest effect of the desert will be available for study at that time. The plane used in the research was modified and equipped with scientific instruments by Dr. Holmes. It is probably the only plane of its kind in the United States and Canada. Its antennas and special instrument package extended from the nose making it easy to identify even in the air. It seems to be "leading with its lightning rod-like nose." It has two systems to measure humidity and air temperature and an inertial windspeed measuring system. Dr. Holmes uses his two assistants as navigators and technicians to keep the instruments operating. Flights are made from 40 to 500 feet above the ground and higher up depending on conditions. The information to be acquired has a practical and immediate use to develop methods of determining the amount of water needed for irrigation from more easily obtainable information. As an example, the State of Idaho is studying the Bruneau Desert area for future irrigations, and improved methods are needed to determine how much water will be required to irrigate the area. The Snake River Conservation Research Center is developing such methods and is being called on to assist in such evaluations. The conservation of our water resources is of vital concern. The water in Snake River is of prime importance. It is carefully regarded as to available water for irrigation, and studies are made to determine how it can be used effectively. Research is also concerned with projects far into the future, applying the basic fundamentals and concepts lending to applied research in future use. Another part of the study being conducted concerns the effect of irrigated land on atmosphere and the distance that this air must reach.

Today's Market And Financial Report

A UNIQUE design which has all the closets constructed in the middle of the house, leaving the outside areas for living space and bedrooms, is of interest in the Joseph Deming home on Saddle Road in Sun Valley. It is one of the interesting homes in the area to be visited on the Aug. 8 tour of Homes sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library Board. Interior wood paneling is from old buildings at Fairfield.

Unique Designing Part Of Sun Valley Home

SUN VALLEY — Unique interior designing is of note at the Joseph Deming home on Saddle Road in Sun Valley, and the public will be given the chance to form their own opinions during the Aug. 8 Tour of Homes sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library Board.

Magic Valley

News Of Record

The interior is unique in that all closets are constructed in the center of the home, leaving the outside area for living space and bedrooms, thereby providing a beautiful view of the scenic out doors from all angles of the home. Sitting on one lot, the home offers three bedrooms and three baths, a combined living room, den, bar and kitchen, two offices, and ample sun deck area.

With about 3,400 square feet of living space, the home also features an office space in the third story area.

The interior wood paneling is wood from old buildings at Fairfield, and beams from an old abandoned railroad trestle in northern Idaho form the mantel over the fireplace of Trill Creek Rock, and beams for the ceiling. The living room ceiling is in the pyramid style. Richard Meyer, Ketchum, was the architect; and Gene Lewis from LeWall's, Ketchum, did the actual construction. Peg Nelson, LeWall's, consulted on the interior decoration.

A Robert Long chandelier hangs over the dining room table and an unusual cast iron chandelier, designed by Mr. Meyer and built by the Iron Mine, Ketchum, hangs near the second stair case. A pebble rock entrance greets visitors.

Rozelle Steps Into NFL Dispute To Save Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle, hoping to save the exhibition season, attempted to mediate the pension dispute Sunday night between the National Football League Players Association and the 26 club owners in a marathon bargaining session. Although there was no direct contact between any of the players and owners, Rozelle acted as a go-between the two groups in their separate locations. The players' committee, including John Mackey, Pat Richter, Tom Kentling, Kermit Alexander, Nick Buoniconti, Ernie Wright and Ken Boyman, was summoned from Washington Sunday afternoon by Rozelle for the showdown confrontation.

Top Heavyweights Gathered To See Foreman's Big Test

NEW YORK (UPI) — Perhaps the measure of a fight's importance can be discovered by looking at who's in the crowd at ring-side.

And if that's true, George Foreman, a professional less than two years, has the most important fight of his life Tuesday night when he meets rugged 14-year professional veteran George Chuvalo in Madison Square Garden. The other heavyweights, looking for a shot at the winner, come to take notes, and among them will be Floyd Patterson, Jimmy Ellis, Jerry Quarry and even the champion himself, Joe Frazier.

Rindt Wins Duel From Ickx In German Race

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (UPI) — Austria's Jochen Rindt piloted a Lotus Ford to victory in the German Grand Prix Sunday in a thrilling battle over 50 laps against Belgium's Jackie Ickx.

In a contest that kept the 140,000 capacity crowd at Hockenheim-Motordrome on the edge of their seats most of the 1 3/4 hours, Rindt finished 7-10 seconds ahead of Ickx.

The Austrian, whose victory shot him ahead in the formula one world drivers' championship standings, covered the 210 miles in sweltering heat in one hour, 42 minutes, 3 seconds, crossing the finish line only 56 yards ahead of Ickx in a 42-cylinder Ferrari. Rindt maintained an average speed of 123.8 miles an hour.

Third was New Zealander Dennis Hulme in a McLaren Ford, clocking 1:43-22.1 hours, more than a minute behind Ickx. It was Rindt's fifth grand prix victory this season, and the fourth in a row after Zandvoort, Clermont-Ferrand and Brands Hatch.

Rindt's closest rival, Australian Jack Brabham in a Brabham Ford, and Scottish title holder Jackie Stewart in a March Ford were among the 14 non-finishers out of the starting field of 21. With nine of the 13 events in the Grand Prix circuit over, Rindt achieved thus far what appeared an unbeatable lead of 45 points to Brabham's 25.

The Ickx-Rindt contest began in the first lap when the Austrian in the pole position pulled out to lead with Rindt close behind. The two Swiss drivers, Clay Regazzoni in a Ferrari and Jo Siffert in a March Ford, also were in the small pack leading the first half.

U.S. Pro Tennis Meet Begins Action Today

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — The U.S. Pro Tennis Championships begin Monday with Australians John Newcombe and Rod Laver the favorites in a 32-man field that includes all the world's top players.

Newcombe and Laver met in the finals the past two years with Laver coming out on top both times. Newcombe has won four titles this year including Wimbledon and he has been established as the No. 1 seed, ahead of the red-headed southpaw, in the Matches at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Ken Rosewall, 35, is the third seed with two more Aussies rated in the top eight — Tony Roche at No. 4 and Roy Emerson at No. 6. Only Spaniard Andres Gimeno — seeded fifth — breaks Australia's lock on the top ratings.

Twins Spoil Al Kaline Day 4-3

Detroit (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva teamed up to spoil Al Kaline Day in Detroit Sunday when each hit a home run and drove in two runs in leading the Minnesota Twins to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Oliva stroked his 18th home run of the season with nobody on and two out in the first inning and singled home a run in the fifth to hand Joe Niekro his ninth loss against 10 wins. Killebrew made his 33rd home run of the season a tunic shot into the upper deck bleachers in center field directly over the 400-foot mark. It came after Oliva opened the eighth inning with a single.

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams placed 16 rookies, including five draft choices, on waivers Sunday and their three representatives in the College All-Star football game took part in their first workout on Rams.

Decision Coming On Rams Tilt

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A decision was expected late today or Tuesday on whether the Cleveland Browns will play their scheduled exhibition game against the Los Angeles Rams Friday in Los Angeles.

Angels 8, Boston 3

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Ken Mullen drove in three runs with a homer and a triple and Jim Fregosi added his 18th homer to earn rookie Tom Bradley his first major league victory Sunday as the California Angels beat the Boston Red Sox 8-3 to snap a five-game losing streak.

Petty Sets Track Record To Cop Dixie 500 Stock Classic

ATLANTA (UPI) — Richard Petty gunned his blue shark-nosed Plymouth to a heat-sealed victory in the Dixie 500 stock classic Sunday with an equally torrid track record of 142,712 miles an hour.

Calo Yarborough finished second in a Mercury, one lap back. Third place went to Lee Roy Yarborough's Mercury, driven in relief by Charlie Glotzbach, and Buddy Baker, in a Dodge, was fourth. Both were two laps back. Petty never let up after roaring to the front early in the race. He led for all but 33 of the 328 laps in a brilliant performance which netted him his last NASCAR victory of the year. The 33-year-old racing star from Randleman, N.C., had at least a lap on the field with 100 miles to go.

Twins Spoil Al Kaline Day 4-3

Detroit (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva teamed up to spoil Al Kaline Day in Detroit Sunday when each hit a home run and drove in two runs in leading the Minnesota Twins to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Oliva stroked his 18th home run of the season with nobody on and two out in the first inning and singled home a run in the fifth to hand Joe Niekro his ninth loss against 10 wins. Killebrew made his 33rd home run of the season a tunic shot into the upper deck bleachers in center field directly over the 400-foot mark. It came after Oliva opened the eighth inning with a single.

Oakland And Solons Split

OAKLAND (UPI) — Don Mincher's two-out ninth inning homer gave the Oakland A's a 1-0 victory and a split of their doubleheader Sunday after the Washington Senators won the opener 6-2 on the hitting of Ed Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez.

Indians Split With Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bill Melton's two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning lifted the Chicago White Sox to an 8-7 victory Sunday after the Cleveland Indians won the first game, 4-2, as Duke Sims pitched a 14-hit attack with three hits.

Brewers 9, N.Y. 5

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Ted Savage scored from third on an infield hit by Phil Roof in the seventh inning Sunday to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 9-5 victory that snapped the New York Yankees' six-game winning streak.

Presentation of Awards to Highlight Lincoln Fair

SHOSHONE Presentation of special merchant awards at the Lincoln county Fair will be the highlight of the Aug. 7-8 event here.

This will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the fairgrounds and awards earned by the 4-H, FFA youths and leaders will be presented at that time.

The girls and boys achievement awards, $25 scholarships to 1970 Idaho Club Congress, are provided by Idaho Grange Cooperative, Inc., Shoshone, and Southern Idaho Production Credit Association of Twin Falls.

The Bear achievement award of $35, also to 1970 Club Congress, is provided by Dietrich-Buttle-Cattlemen's Association, Inc., the Rotary club will provide two $25 Idaho Club Congress awards and W.E. Grosse and C.W. Ward & Jay Ward, Inc., Banquet-Better Foods, Richfield, will each provide one $25 Idaho Club Congress scholarship.

First Security Foundation will furnish a wrist watch for the outstanding girl in achievement this year. Alternately by years the watch goes to boys and girls.

4-H members wishing to apply for "Special Merchants awards" are required to complete a special Lincoln County Fair form which is obtainable through the County Agent's office, Shoshone. Alternates will be chosen for all scholarships this year, if neither the winner nor alternate use the award, the money will be retained for an award next year.

Outstanding 4-H member, 13 years or under, 4-H camp scholarship in memory of J.

Howard-Manning, will be provided by V.G. Rots family.

The outstanding first year 4-H member, 4-H camp scholarship in memory of E.K. Shaw, is provided by Idaho Grange Coop. Inc., Shoshone.

High point girl in home economics will receive a trophy from Shaw's Electric in memory of E.I. Shaw as will the high point boy in 4-H.

Dr. Paul Jacobsen, Shoshone, will provide the award for the high point FFA boy and girl, at Richfield, will receive their awards from Richfield Grange.

Dietrich Grange will provide the trophy for the high point member at Dietrich, and Magie Grange will furnish the trophy for the high point member from the Grange families.

Dr. R.G. Neher will provide the trophies for the 4-H style revue and the home economics judging contest winner.

Mike's Cold Storage, Shoshone, will furnish the trophies for the 4-H livestock judging contest winner. Dr. Jacobsen will provide the FFA Livestock judging contest winner; FFA beef trophy in livestock fitting and showing.

Fairview Poultry Farms, Richfield, will give the Best Demonstration using Poultry or Poultry Products, and the Fair Board will give the Demonstrations awards.

Other Livestock Fitting and Showing awards are provided by Gem State Trophies, Twin Falls, for the 4-H Beef; Strunk's of Shoshone, the 4-H Dairy; Lincoln County Marketing Association, Inc., Shoshone, the 4-H Sheep; Beakon Bean Company, 4-H Horse, and the Kraft Foods, the Outstanding Dairy-Fitting and Showing trophy in 1st and 2nd divisions.

The Idaho Gem Dairyman, Inc., Dairy Contest is judged 30 per cent. Fitting and Showing, 35 per cent. Achievement and 35 per cent. completeness and neatness of records. A trophy will be given in each of the three, for top winners.

Project trophies will be awarded only on projects with district fair ribbons.

The 4-H clothing awards are provided by Hanson's Department Store, Shoshone, for Handy Hand Sewing; Machine, Magie; Cotton Charmers; Your Needle; Outfit; Stylish Separates, Funtime Favorites; Wearable Woolens; Evening Elegance.

The Fair Board will provide the trophies for 4-H knitting, 4-H foods, 4-H room improvement, 4-H freezing; 4-H money management; 4-H health; 4-H safety; 4-H Junior Leadership; 4-H child care; 4-H handicraft; 4-H art; 4-H aviation; 4-H tractor; 4-H public speaking; 4-H electrification; 4-H entomology; 4-H pebble pups and 4-H poultry. Kathy Ross will provide the trophy for 4-H forestry.

Percy Speaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., says the United States should end the Vietnam War by asking the United Nations to arrange a 90-day cease-fire to be followed by an "international peace conference."

"Every war ends by surrender or negotiation and, since there will be no surrender in Indochina, I suggest that we initiate real negotiation now, rather than thousands of casualties later," Percy said in a Senate speech Monday.

HELP CAR OWNERS

DETROIT (UPI) — Each buyer of General Motors' minicar, the Vega 2300, will get a 112-page manual explaining how to service the car, the company announced Tuesday. The Chevrolet Motor Division said the booklet will tell the owner how to perform 49 repairs, including things such as replacing the grill and a fender.

Catapulted

BLYTH, England (UPI) — Four-year-old Norman Marley was looking forward to a dramatic entrance in his sister's home production of "Cinderella" but instead made a dramatic exit.

To get some spring into his entry, onto their stage, Norman bounced on his bed. But his suspenders caught on a window latch, catapulting him out a window. Doctors say his injuries were not serious.
