Red Troops Gather

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian military authorities reported Saturday that more than 6,000 Viet Cong and Cambodian Communists are staging military buildups just 20 miles north and south of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh.

Military officers said 1,000 well-equipped Viet Cong guerrillas in green uniforms were concentrating in Ou Dong, about 20 miles north of Phnom Penh, and were completely controlling that town.

Cambodian authorities said an estimated 5,000 more Viet Cong had poured into the Saang area, 20 miles southwest of the capital. They said the Viet Cong were accompanied by an unknown number of Cambodian (Khmer Rouge) Communists recruited in the populous area north of Phnom Penh.

In Viet Nam U.S. spokesmen disclosed that Communist SAM missiles fired on a U.S. Navy RF-4 reconnaissance plane and its two fighter escorts Friday near the North Vietnamese city of Vinh.

The American planes took evasive action and did not return the fire, spokesmen said. The reconnaissance jet returned undamaged to its aircraft carrier base in the Gulf of Tonkin.

In ground action, U.S. spokesmen reported a total of seven Americans killed and 52 wounded in firefights, mine explosions and booby trap incidents in South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese spokesmen reported that regional and popular force militiamen and armored cavalry units had killed 91 Communists and captured 21 Friday about nine miles south of the northern town of Tom Ky and 330 miles north of Saigon.

PRESIDENT NIXON, on right, holds an animated discussion with a number of police officers who escorted him during his recent visit to New Orleans. The Chief Executive met with Southern education officials to outline administration desegregation policies and listen to local problems. (UPI)

Storm Forces Postponement In Plans To Dump Gas Load

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Atlantic storm has forced a 24-hour postponement in the Army's plans to dump 418 vaults of obsolete nerve gas off the Florida coast, and the U.S. Court of Appeals has scheduled a hearing Monday that could change the plans entirely.

Kennedy in 16,000 feet of water. Earlier Friday, U.S. District Judge June L. Green refused to issue a temporary injunction against the Army plan.

But the operation was postponed 24 hours when the Navy decided Friday night that a big storm heading for the lower Bahama Islands could move into the dumping site by Tuesday.

Depositors Flock to Draw Funds

EATONTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—Ron Buehler, buried his deposit slips Saturday to the cheers of fellow customers slipping free Kool-Aid as they waited to take their money out of the Eatontown National Bank.

Sweetener Banned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Any food stuffs or drugs containing artificial cyclamate sweeteners can be seized from all market shelves in two weeks and classified as "adulterated foods."

The federal government announced the action Friday, saying it has expanded the ban on cyclamates to all drugs and diabetic foods because such cyclamates to serve such purposes are potentially harmful.

Jerome Girl, 8, Drowns in Canal

Jerome, Aug. 8—An 8-year-old Jerome girl, Nancy Schollitz, was drowned Saturday evening while swimming with other children in an irrigation canal four miles north and three and one-half miles east of Jerome. The child was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floun Schollitz.

Two Jerome firemen, Mario Dalry and Harvey Lewis, the officer said apparently the child was a fairly good swimmer, as members of the family said she had been swimming there before. She jumped into the water from a canal bridge and began swimming but went under, possibly after suffering a cramp.

Sheriff Burns said the water was about six feet deep where the child went in and the canal was carrying a "full flow" of water, although it was not extremely swift.

Tank Cars Spew Flames In Explosion

MELVERN, Kan. (UPI)—One of two tank cars which exploded sending fireballs of flaming fuel showering over a four-block area was burning Saturday but officials said the danger was over for this small eastern Kansas community.

Court Convicts Leatherneck

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Marine Pfc. Samuel G. Green was convicted of murder by a court martial Saturday in connection with the shooting of 10 Vietnamese civilians and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Green was the second Marine member of a team operating against Communist troops and guerrillas in the area to be convicted in the shootings. Private Michael Schwarz, 21, of Weirton, W.Va., was sentenced earlier to life in prison.

Eleven women, three men and two children were shot to death. The defense had asked for a finding of innocent for Green on grounds that the prosecution's key witness, Lance Cpl. Michael S. Krichton, 19, testified that he did not actually see Green shoot anyone.

The jury took three hours and 30 minutes to return the guilty verdict after hearing the evidence.

Presidential Commission Criticized

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Gov. John Bell Williams accused the President's Commission on Campus Unrest Saturday of a deliberate effort to create racial strife in Mississippi and suggested it be disbanded or reorganized.

Carolyn Says 'Thanks, Folks!'

TWIN FALLS — Carolyn Harvey of Twin Falls, Miss Rodeo Idaho of 1970, told a Carolyn Harvey Appreciation Day banquet Friday night that she will "always be Miss Rodeo Idaho in my heart."

The attractive young lady said without the help of her family and the many fine people of Twin Falls she could never have won the honor and carried the banner of the Gem State.

Approximately 75 persons attended a Twin Falls County Fair Board and Miss Rodeo Idaho Association-sponsored banquet Friday night in the Elks Lodge dining room.

Ex-Teacher Charged In Murders

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Marin County officials have issued warrants charging ex-UCLA philosophy instructor Angela Davis with murder and kidnaping in connection with the Aug. 7 shootout at the San Rafael Civic Center which left a judge and three others dead.

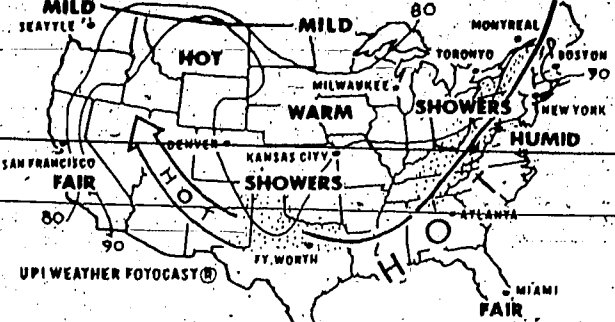

SOME REWARDS of her year-long reign as Miss Rodeo Idaho are admired by Carolyn Harvey. She was honored with an appreciation banquet at the Elks Lodge Friday night. Her year's term will close with the crowning of a new Miss Rodeo Idaho in the final night's performance of the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo at Piler.

Coast Guard Ends Role In War Zone

SAIGON — (UPI)—The Coast Guard closed out its Vietnam-based combat operations Saturday, turning over its last two 82-foot patrol cutters to the Vietnamese in a brief ceremony at the Coast Guard base in Cat Lo near Saigon.

Magic Valley Obituaries

Roy Brown — Funeral Services

BUHL — Roy Linn Brown, 27, died Friday morning at a Torrance, Calif., hospital from injuries received in a traffic accident Aug. 8 in Torrance.

Family members said Mr. Brown and Albert Slagel, employee of the Rocky Mountain Trout Co., Buhl, were in Torrance on a trucking assignment. They had stopped to eat and were getting back into the truck when the panel on a passing sandwich truck swung loose, striking Mr. Brown in the back of his head.

He was born May 2, 1943, in Idaho, Calif., and came with his parents to Buhl in 1944. He attended schools and was graduated from Buhl High School. On July 18, 1970, he married Sandra Haslip at Elko, Nev. He belonged to the Buhl First Christian church.

Survivors include in addition to his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Brown, Hagerman; two brothers, Roger Brown, Maybourn, and Ronald Brown, Buhl; one sister, Mrs. Gaylord (Bunny) Eggleston, Buhl.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the Buhl First Christian church. Final rites will be held in the Buhl Cemetery. Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickard chapel Tuesday until 8 p. m.

Peter Wiley

PORTLAND, Ore. — Peter Wiley, 14, son of Gene Wiley, and the late Warren Wiley, died Thursday in Portland of burns suffered in a house fire Tuesday night.

His parents both were former residents of Twin Falls. He was born in Eugene, Ore., Aug. 23, 1955, and attended school there and in Portland.

Survivors include his mother, a sister, Mrs. Jon (Perry) Hunter, Eugene; two brothers, George Wiley, Eugene, and Martin Wiley, Portland, and his maternal grandmother Geneva Baird, Twin Falls.

Memorial services will be Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Unitarian West Hills Fellowship. The family suggests memorials to the Perry Center school, Portland, or Outside-In, Portland.

Vera Jensen

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Vera Hazel Hardesty Jensen, 71, 915 All St., Twin Falls died Friday morning of injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Burley.

She was born Aug. 9, 1899, at Erie, Kan., and married to Walter William Hardesty in Buhl in 1920. He was killed at the Boulder Dam site in 1932.

She married Martin Clinton Jensen in Pasco, Wash., in 1930. She was a member of the Methodist Church and resided in Filer for one year before moving to Twin Falls in 1934, where she had made her home since.

Surviving are her husband, Twin Falls; a son, Lloyd E. Hardesty, Caldwell; two daughters, Mrs. Seneth (Nadine) Ward, Filer, and Mrs. Sadie Perry, Twin Falls; a stepson, Clinton Jensen, Heyburn; two step daughters, Mrs. June Morris, Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. John Smithers, Flint Mich.; 11 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren; three brothers, Carl Tricknor, Basin, Wyo.; Morris (Bud) Tricknor, Twin Falls; Ballard Tricknor, Blue River, Ore., and one sister, Mrs. Dora Hamilton, Oakland, Calif.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jensen are pending at the White Mortuary.

Lula Smith

FAIRFIELD — Mrs. Lula Smith, 84, died Friday at the Sun Valley Hospital, of a long illness.

She was born July 28, 1886, in Illinois and was married to Ralph Smith, who preceded her in death. She was a pioneer resident of Fairfield, having moved here prior to 1914.

Survivors include four sons, Gerald Smith and Darrell Smith, both Bellevue; Walter Smith, Clarkston, Wash., and Cleo Smith, Paul; two daughters, Mrs. Edna Burton, Moscow, and Mrs. Dorothy Howard, Oak Ridge, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Erma Smith, Mountain Home, and Mrs. Polly Gabot, Pagerson, Wash.

Funeral services are tentatively set for 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Fairfield Community church, with final rites in the Fairfield Cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of the Bird Funeral Home.

In 1950, Congress passed an act granting annual pensions of $10,000 to the widows of presidents.

Stagers, Elna Lee Masoner, Jack B. Witherspoon, John G. Sommer, Renee M. Buchanan and Lenace Dorothy McNeese, all $10 bonds forfeited, and all Twin Falls; Marjorie G. Manning, $5 and costs, and Denna M. Manning, $10 bond forfeited, both Burley; Howard D. Cohee, Pocatello, $10 bond forfeited; Jennett Larson, Hansen, $10 bond forfeited; Christine M. Denman, Murtaugh, $10 bond forfeited; Bernice J. Rees, Filer, $10 bond forfeited; Howard L. Bovens, and William T. Peters, both Jerome, $10 bonds forfeited; Dennis L. Higgenbotham, Wendell, $10 and costs, and Ceila Lockwood, Murtaugh, $10 bond forfeited.

Expired vehicle inspection fines were Clinton E. Stephens, $15 bond forfeited, and Rex C. Wells, Jack O. Becker, Lowell Waldron, Carl M. Hoss and Terry Terry B. Wilcox, all $10 bonds forfeited; all of Twin Falls; Dennison Alvin Shoemaker, Kimberly, $10 bond forfeited; Terrill G. Klud, DeLo, $10 bond forfeited; M. L. Anderson, Hanson and Leland Joe Hoshaw, Filer, both $10 bond forfeited; David L. Parkins, Martin Donald King, David Eugene Denmark, Gary Prator, Walter P. Jones, Twyla Rae Mengersmith, Noran LeRoy Wadley, Sandra Lea McMullin, Allen Douglas McFarlane and Melonie Christine Call, all Twin Falls, all $10 bonds forfeited; Alvin Konecek, Murtaugh, $5 and costs; Charles M. Miller, Twin Falls, $5 and costs and Martin T. Trudeno, Idaho Falls, $10 bonds forfeited.

Fines also included driving on a suspended license, Raymond M. Heide, Boise; $300 and costs plus 30 days in jail; and driving while intoxicated, George Washington Campbell, Colorado Springs, Colo., $135 and costs plus ten days in jail.

Other fines included inattentive driving, Doj R. Green, Twin Falls $50 and costs and Joe B. Mondragon, Twin Falls, $50 and costs and license suspended for 30 days; fictitious display of licenses, Jack Orion Becker, Twin Falls, $35 and costs; following too closely.

Shot in Head

TWIN FALLS — Junior Fay McMullen, 30, 100 Ash St., was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital into Saturday in critical condition with a .22 caliber rifle bullet in his head.

City police said the wound was self-inflicted and took place at about 8 p. m. in the kitchen of the home.

Fire Danger High in Area

TWIN FALLS — Two small fires, one of them man caused, were reported Saturday on the Sawtooth National Forest, but Darroll Smith, fire control officer, said both were extinguished in time to prevent serious damage.

One of the fires, man caused, was found just outside of the Red Flash Lake recreational area, burning a short distance from the road and was extinguished before it could spread into adjacent timber.

Another fire was discovered by a logging crew which had been cutting timber in the Shoshone Basin area. The fire was just outside of the forest boundary, about four miles east of Rogerson. Mr. Smith said the logging crew used jackets and shirts to beat out the flames and then notified the Twin Falls District Ranger, Lewis Munson, who went to the area and completed extinguishing the fire.

Because of the high burning index on all forest lands at this time, the fire control officer said, other fire could have turned into serious one had an early discovery not been made.

Migrant Housing Slated

PAUL — Bids for construction of 20 fourplex housing units and a recreational hall will be received by the Paul Housing authority and opened at 8 p. m. Aug. 21.

Bid opening will be at the Paul Fire station and sealed bids may be left there prior to opening.

The housing is for migrants in the vicinity of Paul and will replace the old CCC barracks which have served the past 30 years for summer housing of migrant farm workers. New building facilities will be at the same location as the present facility.

Fire Crew Sent to Wyoming

TWIN FALLS — Members of the interregional fire crew out of Twin Falls left Thursday night for Wyoming to help on a fire which is burning out of control on the Shoshone National Forest.

Known as the Sweetwater Fire, the blaze has been under way for the past several days. Only the one 25-member crew from the local area has been called, Sawtooth National Forest officials said. The crew was still on the Sweetwater fire Saturday afternoon, Darroll Smith, fire control officer reported.

Twin Falls News In Brief

The Singletes Club steak fry will begin at 6 p. m. today at the Idaho Power Co. park at Twin Falls, instead of at 1 p. m., as previously indicated. There will be boating and water-skiing earlier in the afternoon for members.

The Colfax Encampment of the Odd Fellows will meet in the Filer Odd Fellow Hall at 8:30 p. m. Monday. All Encampment members are invited and visitors are welcome.

Mrs. Jessie B. Davis, Twin Falls, has been admitted to Twin Falls Clinic Hospital for medical treatment.

Magic City Bowling League members will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Bowladrome for a bowling meet.

230 Main West, Twin Falls, Idaho Phone 733-6001

By Frank Schell

From W. L. S., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a coin about the size of a quarter, and apparently made from nickel. One side: An eagle; with the date below it, 1930. Around the eagle the letters: EAAHNKIKH-AH-MOKPATIA. There is a small cross above the eagle. On the other side is a wreath, and in the wreath, "5 PAYMAT". Can you tell me anything about this coin? What is its value?

Answer: You have a standard issue coin of Greece, coined between 1924 and 1935, under the Greek Republic. When George II was deposed, all the coinage was changed. The "bird" on the coin is not an eagle, but a "Phoenix", a legendary bird which was burned and then rose again, out of the ashes. The coin has a value of "5 drachmas" or about seventeen and a half cents United States exchange. Collector value of a brand new specimen is about seventy five cents. It is not a rare coin.

From B. L., Pocatello: I have a large silver coin, about the size of our silver dollar. It has a man's head on one side and the lettering "FRIEDR. WILHELM IV KOENIG V. PREUSSEN", and on the other side an eagle, with a wand in its claw and a crown above it. Around it the words "Einen Thaler" and some others that are worn. Where is this coin from if it is a coin, and what is it worth?

Answer: The coin is from Germany. Originally Germany was divided into a number of "states" or provinces, each ruled over by a separate king. Frederick William the Fourth ruled the Kingdom of Prussia from 1840 to 1881. The word "Thaler" (sometimes "taler", pronounced to rhyme with dollar was the forerunner of our word, "dollar". Most of the European dollar-sized coin a long time before we did. In Great Britain these are called "crowns". If your coin were "brown" it would be valued at from $6.00 to $8.00. Evidently it is worn, since you cannot read all the legend on it.

Crown sized (or dollar-sized) silver coins are much in demand, now, from collectors and most of them bring from $5.00 each, on up, depending upon scarcity. A great many German coins came back to this country with the returning soldiers of World War I, and are still around.

The coin has no value as specie, since it is obsolete coinage, but does have collector value as stated above.

From D. E., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a small, shiny coin with a picture of what looks like the world orbit, with a shield inside the circle. The word "MACAU" is above the shield, and below, "I PATACA". The other side has "REPUBLIC PORTUGUESA" and 1952, with the same emblem on it, over a cross. What can you tell me about this coin?

Answer: Your coin is from the Portuguese colony of Macau, a small colony located at the mouth of the Canton River, in China. The name is also found spelled "MACAO". The colony covers about six square miles. The island's money is not listed on the United States exchange, but the coin has a collector's value of about $1.25, if brand new.

Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301.

Book Review

BY MARY ALICE PEORENCE

Twin Falls Public Library. The Children's Room of the Twin Falls Public Library has many books on its shelves that can involve the whole family in summer fun. One which we discovered is "American Indians Sing" by Charles Hoffmann.

The American Indians had songs for good health and songs they believed would make their crops grow or the rain fall. There were songs to promote good hunting or bring the people closer to the unseen spirit world. There were songs for war and peace. In this book the author describes the reasons for song in Indian life and explains the importance of dance in ritual and ceremony.

Although you can read about the songs and ceremonies, Mr. Hoffmann says you must listen to Indians singing in order to know about their music. In the back of the book is a record which has seven excerpts from recording representing seven different tribes.

Some of the "extras" besides the record are illustrations and directions for the best known dance steps, such as the "Toe-Heel Step" and the "Stomp Step". There is music for singing and for drums and even for a flute melody from the Chippewa.

The Indians have a strong link between music and poetry in their lives and have shown great imagination in the creation of the poetry found in the words of their songs. Some of the examples in this book are truly beautiful in their simplicity.

The author reminds us all Indians are not alike — each tribe had its own traditions and customs, a way of life different from its neighbors. You will find many differences as well as similarities, as you would among any group of nations closely settled in one area. They are not really "Indians" (as Columbus thought), but the great nations of the Iroquois, Sioux, Hopi, Navaho, Blackfoot, Shoshoni, and many, many more.

Because of the diversity of Indian nations, a study of so many cultures is complicated; but "American Indians Sing" provides a good introduction and explains several ceremonies, still remembered and performed today. It also includes a reading list for children and a reading list for parents and teachers. Available recordings of Indian music, including those sampled in the accompanying record, are listed, too.

'Non-Bell' Alive, Well

"Non-Bell" is alive and well! Although Mountain Bell serves nearly four million telephones in its eight state area, there are another 100,000 telephones in the region. These stations are served by approximately 115 non-Bell, or independent, telephone companies.

In Idaho, fifteen independent companies serve 23,000 telephones, according to Mountain Bell manager K.G. Mann of Twin Falls.

Mann said there are fewer non-Bell companies than in years past, but most of these are growing as fast or faster than Mountain Bell because they are in areas of fast population growth.

He said Mountain Bell works very closely with the independents in coordination of services, new marketing techniques, improvements in customer services and in helping one another during emergencies affecting mutual operating areas. On jointly handled business, Mountain Bell and the independents share revenues according to a carefully worked out formula.

Nationally, there were nearly 1,900 independents in the continental United States (excluding Alaska) at the end of 1960, accounting for nearly 10 million phones, or nearly 17 per cent of the total. They ranged in size from General Telephone, with over nine-million phones to such companies as Rockland Telephone in Idaho with 250 phones.

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. — The reason why Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officials from Secretary Elliot Richardson on down were swarming all over last week's national Governors conference was a new threat to President

Nixon's welfare reform: rising opposition from key Republican Governors. Nixon administration officials, anticipating an early release of the reform bill from long-hibernation in the Senate Finance Committee, became aware of the vehemence of opposition from Governors shortly before the conference assembled here. Indeed, until recently, most Governors themselves were not overly concerned. What happened was that neither the Nixon administration nor Republican Governors previously had added up all the figures. Their unpleasant findings: the welfare reform bill, as formed in Congress, will increase welfare costs in Northern industrialized states in a potentially unendurable burden for Governors deeply scarred by past tax increases.

men perceived a Reagan maneuver undercutting Mr. Nixon on the Republican party's right wing. In truth, most Republican Governors like the family-assistance principle. What they don't like about the bill has little to do with ideology and everything to do with dollars and cents. Critics of the reform bill include highly liberal Republican Governors — John Love of Colorado, Daniel Evans of Washington, William Milliken of Michigan. Even conservative Reagan phrased his opposition in fiscal terms when talking to Mr. Nixon in California two weeks ago. Medical provisions of the bill alone, Reagan told the President, would cost his state $20 million extra annually. When Mr. Nixon expressed doubt, Reagan got quick confirmation from Caspar Weinberger, the new Federal budget chief.

The fact that such worries extend beyond Reagan was not fully impressed on the Administration until last week when Gov. Evans, one of the party's most articulate liberals, surfaced in opposition. Having topped up the figures to find that the bill adds $40 million in annual state spending, Evans wrote a sharp letter to Secretary Richardson and all his fellow Governors.

The fate of welfare reform could be at stake. With far-left ideologues and economic conservatives now combined against the program for reasons of their own, concentrated opposition of most of the nation's Governors could be just too much for the reform bill to bear.

Until now, Nixon administration strategists had regarded Republican foes of the bill — principally conservative Senators on the Finance Committee and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California — as ideologically opposed to family-assistance, cash payments as a "guaranteed annual wage." Particularly suspicious Nixon

A Still Small Voice

Labor Law Reform

The nation faces another railway strike threat on Sept. 6, just before Labor Day. Ironically, this is the expiration date of the 60-day cooling off period invoked by President Nixon under the emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

Background music to the dispute is a familiar tune, the "third man" theme — the question of whether a fireman is needed in a diesel cab in addition to an engineer and brakeman.

A nationwide rail shutdown may be averted if the United Transportation Union accepts a solution just recommended by a presidential emergency board. Firemen would gradually be eliminated through attrition by retirement or death, and no new firemen would be hired. None of the 17,500 firemen now on the job would be dismissed and those holding seniority would have an opportunity to bid for a new job classification of fireman-brakeman.

In the meantime, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., has introduced a joint resolution in Congress to establish a Commission on Labor Law Reform. Charging that the Railway Labor Act has proved ineffective throughout its 45-year history, he cites the fact that its emergency provisions have been invoked 183 times since its enactment in 1925. Twice Congress has had to legislate to end rail disputes.

"The transportation industries represent just one area of concern in labor-management relations," says Tower, adding that "our outmoded labor laws are a prime contributor to this dangerous state of affairs."

Tower is also author of another major and controversial labor law reform measure which would strip the National Labor Relations Board of its jurisdiction in unfair labor practices cases, which constitute the bulk of the board's business, and restore that jurisdiction to the federal courts.

The NLRB has long been under attack for alleged pro-union bias, often to the subjugation of individual workers' rights.

The fate of Tower's legislation may well be determined by the outcome of current negotiations in the rail dispute. A settlement would tend to shunt the drive for labor law reform onto a siding. But a strike, followed by a possible one in the automobile industry, could build up enough pressure to prod Congress into finally taking an overdue look into the tangle of labor laws it has written over the decades.

BRUCE BOSSAT Edge Threatened

With both congressional and state legislative reapportionment part of the prize, Republicans now find their great hold on the U. S. Governors threatened in two of the biggest states — Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Ohio story is not a new one. Democratic nominee John Gilligan, former congressman, was favored even before state scandals added to the burdens of the GOP nominee, Roger Cloud. A few observers, however, are insisting today that Gilligan is not the shoo-in he was pictured earlier.

The Pennsylvania battle is weird. For a long time, Republican Lt. Gov. Ray Broderick was given a big edge as probable successor to GOP Gov. Ray Shaffer, who cannot succeed himself. But now Milton Shapp, the same Democrat who lost to Shaffer in 1966, is thought to be slightly ahead.

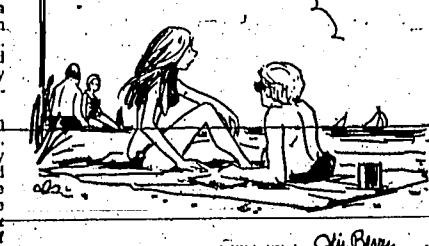

Broderick is running on a strong anti-tax program, opposing the 3 per cent personal income levy his own governor fought for unsuccessfully in the closing years of his term. Shapp, on the other hand, has virtually adopted the Shaffer program.

Shapp spent a pot of money last time and gained high name identification. Moreover, he is keeping quieter in this campaign and staying out of trouble. Too much noise from him about an income tax in a state where it is so unpopular would hardly seem an advantage. Gov. Ronald Reagan still seems a good bet for re-election to a second term in California, but his Democratic adversary, the well-known Jess Unruh, is believed to be coming up and keeping Reagan sufficiently busy so that he skipped the National Governors' Conference at this Lake of the Ozarks resort hideout.

Strong candidates for holding Republican chairs are Govs. William Milliken of Michigan and Francis Sargent of Massachusetts, both of whom gained office by accession from lieutenant governorships after George Romney and John Volpe joined President Nixon's cabinet. They are doing well, even by Democratic admission. For months top Democrats were down on their own nominee in potent New York, former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg. Both parties at this moment think he is running much better than they imagined he would against incumbent Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, seeking his fourth term.

But the wise ones warn against underestimating the rich, resourceful Rocky. Money is never a barrier, he has just begun to run some superb commercials, and he is still — after endless road ordeals — one of the best natural campaigners in the business. The bets are on him.

"As a young person concerned with and dedicated to the solving of today's problems, I know it's wrong; but, occasionally, I have this crazy urge to LAUGH!"

Wars Used For Politics?

PAUL HARVEY

Closely associates of former President John Kennedy are saying that he intended in 1963 to remove all American troops from Vietnam in 1965 — after he'd got himself re-elected.

I know history insists that leaders heretofore have used war to further their own political ambitions.

Wars against a real or imagined outside threat can be used to suppress internal squabbles, unify the home front and allow a leader to send thousands of men to their deaths and still get himself hailed as a "protector."

I cannot refute history. But I cannot bring myself to believe that an American President would, under any circumstances, prolong any war for even one additional day — unnecessarily. Not that President, and not this one.

Let's examine the evidence. Kenneth O'Donnell, a White House aide to J.F.K., says President Kennedy told him in 1963 that he wanted to withdraw our troops from Vietnam after the 1964 election.

Sen. Mike Mansfield and Sargent Shriver, both intimately close to Kennedy at that time, agree. President Kennedy had decided on a complete withdrawal of our forces from Vietnam, but said "I can't do it until after I'm re-elected."

While President Kennedy was taking this position privately in 1963, let's see what he was saying publicly.

In his news conference in March of 1963 J.F.K. said de-escalation in Vietnam was "impossible." He said it would give the Communists control of all Southeast Asia and would threaten the Middle East.

That same year, two months before his death, J.F.K. reiterated his belief in this "domino theory" and added, "What I am concerned about is that Americans will get impatient and say because they don't like events in Southeast Asia, or they don't like the government in Saigon, that we should withdraw. I think we should stay."

Now by the late President's closest friends we are led to believe that he was saying one thing in 1963 while planning something else; that he was deliberately misleading us.

Certainly, politicians do schedule significant moves with one eye on the next Election Day.

But if we are now to accept the words of those White House confidants that peace might be postponed to promote some individual's political ambitions, then it's logical for today's draft-age generation to want to know whether the pacing of the present Vietnam pullout is timed to coincide with the 1972 presidential election.

That is a dreadfully painful indictment, but today's young people are not sparing us the painful questions.

The hundred or so every week who may die the demand to know why.

Anticipating this reaction, Vice President Spiro Agnew says he, too, refuses to believe that President Kennedy would continue to risk American lives for two years after he had decided it was no use.

He thinks these Democrats are merely trying to unite their party on a new program diametrically opposed to what that party carried out while in office.

I hope he's right and all those other fellows are wrong. I sure do.

Huey's Army

ANDREW-TULLY

WASHINGTON — Reports from law enforcement intelligence sources claim that more than 500 assorted black and white militants have signed up with Huey Newton's army to help liberate the Communist Viet Cong from the imperialist persecution of the United States and South Vietnam governments.

Newton, a co-founder with Bobby Seale of the Black Panther Party, was sprung last week from a California jail on $50,000 bond. His 1968 conviction for voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of an Oakland policeman was overturned last May by the State Court of Appeals and he'll get a new trial.

Newton's ambivalent status thus would seem to make him a poor bet to lead his troops against the American and South Vietnamese enemy. He could find it difficult to order an assault on the Saigon hoosgow from a California courtroom.

But the word "could" is used advisedly. Surprise would not be universal if Newton followed the example of the sometime litterateur, Eldridge Cleaver, and fled this inhospitable country. (Indeed as this is read he may already have done so.)

In short, the 28-year-old Newton probably can take care of himself, although he appears to be suffering from a case of acute romantic narcissism in pledging to dispatch troops to the distant battlefields. Washington may be cursed with a death wish, but some old-fashioned cop probably would try to prevent the departure of Newton's battalions.

Worse, these boys will discover that political disagreement is non-existent. There will be no long-winded discussions of Marxism, Maoism and Holism. A soldier in the Communist ranks does not call an MP a pig with impunity. Casting doubt on the wisdom of Hanoi's ruling clique gets you a ticket to jail, or standing-room only before the firing squad. There is no picketing, and demonstrations are staged by the government, not by fun-loving students.

Perhaps we should let them go and even pay their fares. After all, this is a free country and under the rules and regulations of the new, aware politics, we owe every youth the very best education our tax dollars can buy. Should any of them make it back to the States, they would be a grand sight waiting in line outside the employment office of Dow Chemical.

After all, these are kids who have grown accustomed to the perverse joys that accrue from dissent, often of a violent nature. Their big kicks come from defying authority. Yet they seem impatient to serve under a government to which the word dissent is spelled treason. Should they make it to Vietnam, they will discover that orders, especially Communist orders, are positively orders. When their commanding officer tells them to charge, his fiat will not be subject to a round-table discussion. They will blow their noses only with permission, and go to the bathroom on a schedule drafted by their commissar.

Worse, these boys will discover that political disagreement is non-existent. There will be no long-winded discussions of Marxism, Maoism and Holism. Washington may be cursed with a death wish, but some old-fashioned cop probably would try to prevent the departure of Newton's battalions. But some of these lads do have a kind of rudimentary intelligence and yet they apparently have never thought to what they have let themselves in for. Even if they accept the wretched in-

Guiding The Talks

President Nixon has promised that David Bruce, new chief negotiator in the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, will have "great latitude" in applying his instructions "in a way that he thinks would be helpful."

This is the only appropriate approach, since the ambassador on the scene usually is in the best position to judge reactions across the table and to explore any openings they may suggest.

But one instruction appears firm: Washington will not be a party to negotiating a coalition government to be imposed upon South Vietnam. That still will be up to the people of South Vietnam, speaking through a ballot open to all factions. This position is consistent with the premise on which American soldiers were sent to Vietnam.

Communists being disinclined to trust their futures to the people, this concept will probably continue to be a barrier at Paris. But a major objective of the Paris talks must remain a method of assuring democratic elections.

Convincing the communists of this will require much of that latitude which Mr. Bruce has been promised.

A New Image

The Army Corps of Engineers, at least its Florida branch, has turned up on the side of the conservationists. There, the corps has blocked a desire by two landowners to fill in 11 acres of Boga Ciega Bay, near St. Petersburg, for a trailer park.

What is novel is the corps' refusal to grant a permit on the grounds the fill would harm fish and wildlife in the bay, and would be contrary to the public interest.

Charles H. Callison, executive vice president of the National Audubon Society, views this development as heartening evidence of the corps' sincerity in seeking "a new look" for itself.

If the action in Florida stands, encouragement of similar attention to ecological factors by Army engineers across the country may prove a major breakthrough for environmental conservation.

'Bean Bag' Arms

It's a commentary on our times — and you can read it as either encouraging or discouraging — that a lot of inventive energy is going into the development of nonlethal weapons against lawbreakers.

One of the latest devices is a gun that fires four-inch-wide "bean bags." The bags contain steel shot and weigh about half a pound and fired at about 120 miles an hour, deliver a blow hard enough to stun or incapacitate a person.

But because the impact is distributed over an area the size of the flexible bag, it is not hard enough — theoretically, so far — to kill or inflict serious wound, except in a freak case.

A California rocket maker, MB Associates, started working on the idea months ago in an attempt to find an alternative to situations where campus and other riots produce overreaction by law enforcement personnel and result in needless deaths and injuries.

Another potential use is in household defense against intruders. The stun gun could be very effective in the average home, says an engineer on the project, "yet eliminate possible accidents that happen when used against someone you did not mean to shoot."

If we must arm ourselves, by all means let's look into the possibility of doing it with "bean bags."

ONE OF THE busiest places in Twin Falls County these days is the Twin Falls Canning Kitchen. Here a group of local women combine efforts to make chili. Most of the work at present involves canning of chili beans, but an inspection of the kitchen Friday found housewives working on everything from fish to soup.

I Can, You Can, They Can Can

TWIN FALLS — Canning season is in full swing in Twin Falls County and dozens of housewives are taking advantage of facilities at the Canning Kitchen for preparing future food supplies to lower their family budgets in the coming months.

Mrs. J. H. Sharp, kitchen manager, said although there has been almost no fruit this year, the kitchen has been especially busy in recent weeks and is running normal or above.

She said this week about 4,300 cans of produce were processed in one day's time alone. This was the count for Tuesday and Friday was almost as heavy. Many women are now canning chili, ham and beans, fish, chicken and other foods, but the big push now is on green beans. Of the more than 4,000 cans produced on Tuesday, over 2,000 cans were filled with green beans.

The kitchen is continuing to operate on Tuesdays and Fridays and if use increases, an additional day may be added each week during the rush season. Patrons using the community facility this year have found many improvements, the major one being a new $3,000 automatic sealer which seals about one can every two seconds. It also is safer than the conventional, smaller sealers which operate one can at a time as the worker puts the can in place.

Mrs. Sharp said the kitchen's board of directors is still soliciting funds to complete payment for the new sealer and a number of individuals and organizations have made donations since the kitchen opened and women have had a chance to use the new equipment.

Cookers have been moved to a new, handier location and several new ones have been added. New cookers were purchased from the Idaho State Penitentiary when canning kitchen operations there were closed.

State's Traffic Statistics Questioned

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls County Justice of the Peace has taken issue with the Idaho Department of Highways, declining to accept their statistics quoted as reasons for no further signing of two intersections in the county, which he says constitute serious traffic hazards.

In a letter dated July 21, Justice Reed P. Maughan called attention to the accidents, near accidents and citations involving the junction of U. S. Highways 93 and 30 just west of Twin Falls, and the junction of Highway 30 with the main road from Kimberly, just north of Kimberly.

He asked the state to study the two intersections and do whatever possible to correct the dangers.

Philip A. Marsh, Department of Highways, planning and traffic engineer, noted signing at the U. S. 93 intersection at a saturation point, and there have only been 16 accidents, none of these fatal, in the past five years since the intersection was reconstructed to give a free-flowing right turn for eastbound U. S. 30 vehicles going south onto U. S. 93.

At the other intersection, known as the Red Cap corner, Mr. Phillips said the accident rate is even lower, with clear view one-quarter mile to the east and a half-mile to the west.

In a letter prepared Wednesday, Justice Maughan told the Department of Highways engineer, "What your statistics don't show at either intersection are the many near-accidents that have occurred which the court does have knowledge of, because of citations. My only purpose for writing is to remedy this situation before we do have a fatality."

Judge Maughan noted since his response from the Department of Highways, two more accidents have occurred at the Highway 93-30 junction. In both cases, he said, California motorists were issued citations and both drivers said in court they did not see the vehicles approaching from the west because of the hillcrest in the highway.

Serious injuries or deaths were prevented when the local vehicles approaching the intersection took to the fields to avoid the collisions, the judge noted.

"The court is not asking at this time for major construction to remedy the situation," the justice wrote, "but suggest additional warnings be posted far enough back to give adequate notice of a dangerous intersection."

Box Factory Opens

Twin Falls' newest industry is a small plant with a big outlook and a bigger name. — the Carolina Paper Box Co. of Idaho, Inc.

Two minuscule assembly lines and five people can turn out 5,000 hosiery packaging boxes now and plan to increase the output to more than 7,000 per day.

The plant is located on property of the Twin Falls Industrial Development Corporation off Eastland Drive, just north of the sugar factory. At present, there are no signs directing people to the plant, or on the plant itself, although Philip Cummins, plant manager, said he plans to install signs soon.

Cummins was hired by the Burlington, N. C.-based firm as manager of the Twin Falls plant — the firm's only other plant, outside of the home factory in Burlington. He is an Idaho native and had worked for 10 years for the Pepsi-Cola Co. before joining the box factory.

There are 10 employees working at present, including Cummins; all are local people. He said he didn't have to advertise for his crew; all came to him before production started, seeking work.

The machinery is automated; one woman on each of two machines two sets of machines turn out tops and bottoms of the hosiery boxes, with one woman operating each set. The machines take flat cardboard, cut to size, stamp out the box tops and bottoms, tape the corners, place glue on the box covers, and stamp the covers in place, all in a series of smooth, fast movements.

Another assembly line turns out unwrapped boxes, without the point-of-sale coverings, depending on the orders received by the firm.

"Bowdlerize" Chillsam

In 1815, Thomas Bowdler published an expurgated edition of Shakespeare. From this comes the term bowdlerize, meaning to expurgate, especially a book.

Chillsam is the doctrine that Christ will come to earth in a visible form and set up a theocratic kingdom over all the world and thus usher in the millennium.

Chicago Militants Stir New Tension

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Black leaders in Chicago are taking sides on whether to mount a full-scale campaign against the city's most notorious street gang, the Black P Stone Nation. A young minister has led "Marches against fear" in defiance of the gang. Others fear such tactics could divide the black community. United Press International assigned reporters to trace the background and the reasons behind the new tensions on the city's South Side. The following is their report.)

By DAVID SMOTHERS
CHICAGO (UPI) — "Stones don't run it. Black men do." It is a new rallying cry on the South Side of Chicago. And a proud one. To some, however, it carries an aura of peril. To others, it threatens a split inside the black community and its leadership.

Since a young minister, the Rev. Curtis E. Burrell, first advanced the slogan as a weapon against the street gangs of the South Side, he has been shot at and his church has been burned. The Rev. Jesse Jackson, certainly the most publicized and possibly the most influential spokesman for Chicago's Negroes, has allied himself with Burrell. Yet, powerful and longer established forces in the black community, notably the Urban League, have backed off.

To Burrell and his backers, the issue is whether black adults will continue to tolerate terrorism committed by their children. To the doubters, it is whether the black community should run the risk of conflict within itself. There are potent arguments on both sides.

To those who don't know Chicago and its South Side, the rights and wrongs of the matter might appear clearcut. The coalition of teen-age gangs known as the Black P Stone Nation (estimated strength: 4,000 to 5,000) has been denounced as a scourge and abomination of the South Side. It has been accused of murder, scores of them, extortion and brutal intimidation — of hiring children at $1 a head to commit gang assassinations, of demanding tribute from other children for the privilege of walking to school.

"Stones Run It!" Throughout broad reaches of the ghetto stretching for miles South of Chicago's Loop, the arrogant slogan of dominance is scrawled in aerosol paint on wall after wall: "Stones run it."

It is easy to denounce the Stones. Yet, until this spring and summer, many black leaders did not do so openly, and a good many still do not. Until last June, the Rev. Burrell minister was generally rated the Stones' staunch friend and protector.

Burrell, 38, knows the gritty side of life well. A child of the St. Louis ghetto, he piled up a police record for burglary and larceny before he went to the federal drug rehabilitation center at Lexington, Ky., for two years to kick a heroin habit.

Released, he completed a university education, went on to a seminary, and was ordained a Monticello minister less than two years ago. He came as pastor to the 50-year-old Woodlawn Mennonite Church at 1143 E. 46th Street, in the heart of Stone territory — and gathered 30 church and community organizations into a broad scale group known as the Kenwood-Onkland Community Conference (KOCO), representing a neighborhood roughly a mile square. The Stones, then known as the Blackstone Rangers, quickly became his partners.

Burrell helped engineer a jittery peace truce between the Stones and their blood enemies, a gang known as the Disciples, saying "We will not stand by as black youths are subjected to inhuman and degrading police practices." He hired Stones as paid members of the KOCO staff, citing their "vital influence over the community."

But this spring, he first fired all but one of his Stone aides and then, on June 17, closed down the KOCO offices completely. He did so, he told a Senate subcommittee, to keep the Stones from taking over the organization and because Kenwood-Onkland was being "intimidated by tactics of terrorism."

Within the month, Burrell began leading men on what he called "walks against fear" through the neighborhood. His following was sparse, never numbering over 50, the shooting and the arson followed.

Political 'Double Agents' Noted

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Europe's "double agents" have nothing on their "cloak and dagger" counterparts in Ada County politics, a look at precinct committee lists disclosed Friday.

No fewer than seven persons won election to serve on the central committee of more than one political party. An a quick check of Idaho election laws — both old and new — indicates there is nothing to stop them from serving more than one must should they so desire.

Probably more by accident than design they nonetheless were elected to office in the Aug. 4 primary election and must be certified officially as committeemen in the various parties by County Clerk Clarence Planting.

He is sending each of them official certificates — suitable for framing — declaring them to be the precinct committeemen duly and legally chosen by members of the parties involved.

While there is a provision in the Idaho Code requiring primary election "nominees" picked by more than one party to declare themselves with a specified time there is nothing of that sort applying to committeemen.

No Reference
At least, Planting cannot find any such reference. So he is sending the seven with multi-party popularly certificates for each of the parties the voters want them to serve.

"How do we know which they're going to choose?" Planting asked, adding he knew of nothing in the law requiring them to make such a choice. Republicans, who had a close race on tap for county chairman Friday night, were asking the same question.

Jim Noble, for instance, is a long-time Democratic worker in the county. He received six write-in votes for Democratic committeemen in Precinct 6. He was the only candidate for the office. But, if he desires, he also apparently has the elected right to share his talents with the Republicans. He got the "GOP's" three write-in votes in that precinct.

Or take the case of Leda McCurdy in Precinct 24. She got nine write-in votes and the job of Republican committeewoman

Rickover Gripes About Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is the world's largest office building. It employs more than 30,000 persons in its five concentric rings comprising triple the floor space of the empire state building. The World Almanac tries to give an idea of the amount of work carried on inside: "They (employees) make 200,000 telephone calls daily over 8,000 phones connected by 100,000 miles of cable, and receive and send 129,620 items of mail daily through the Defense Post Office in the building."

The Rickover Plan
Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover says much of that activity is a device for employes to make work for each other. He indicated he would rid the building of at least half its employes.

All this was disclosed Friday when a House appropriations subcommittee revealed the May 13 testimony by the peppery scientist-sailor generally credited with prodding the Navy into the nuclear age.

"On a given Monday morning," Rickover told the committee, "I would close off the fourth floor of the Pentagon and allow in only enough people to fill the first three floors. The next Monday I would have the third floor roped off and permit only those who fill the first two floors to retain their jobs. That would be a good start."

"Making Work"
If that didn't work, Rickover said, he had an alternative plan which "would also be acceptable to your social scientists."

"Classify the Pentagon people A, B and C. A does the work. B and C are given offices without secretaries, messengers, desks, rugs, telephones, typewriters or water pitchers. They do get scratch pads on which to write letters to each other in longhand."

Rusk's Opinions Sought By Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lyndon B. Johnson's former press secretary says in a new book that it was Secretary of State Dean Rusk — not Defense Secretary Clark Clifford — whose views the President accepted in starting serious Vietnam peace talks through deescalation.

George Christian, who now runs a public relations firm in Austin, Tex., gives an account which supports Johnson's own suggestions about the fateful decision-making of 1968 and differs from the version of high-ranking Johnson Administration "doves" — including Clifford.

In a book entitled "The President Steps Down," to be published Monday, Christian also says that Johnson preferred Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, as Hubert H. Humphrey's vice presidential running mate over Humphrey's choice of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

Inouye, he said, had supported Johnson solidly. And "putting a Japanese-American war hero with one arm (the other lost in combat in Europe) on the ticket was a ploy that appealed to Johnson's sense of drama, justice and good politics," he said.

Muskie, on the other hand, had never been a Johnson intimate, having once joined a liberal revolt against Johnson when the Texan was Senate majority leader. And Christian said one of the "real low spots in the campaign" came when Muskie failed in a television film even to mention Johnson among the Democratic leaders he had known.

Christian, who centered his book around Johnson's Oct. 31 announcement of the complete halt in bombing of North Vietnam, denied there was ever a "bitter feud" between Rusk and Clifford. Both respected each other and worked together "in reasonable harmony," he said.

"This was made easier by the fact that Johnson's faith in Rusk never wavered. He listened to Clifford, McNamara, George Ball and others who sometimes differed with Rusk on specifics, and he might blend those views into a decision; but mainly it was Rusk's judgement he wanted in the end, and Rusk's judgment he followed."

Former Legal Aide Works With Needy

By JOHN BATTENFELD
NEW YORK (UPI) — John Michael Doar once traveled the South enforcing federal civil rights laws. Today, he wrestles with the soul-destroying problems of a six-square-mile urban ghetto.

"The job once again is to save the country," the lanky curly-haired former assistant attorney general said, "to face up, to work toward a solution to this national problem."

Doar, 49 and a father of four, is president of the Bedford-Stuyvesant Development and Service Corp. called "D&S," one of the two nonprofit bodies set up by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to alleviate slum conditions in the predominantly black area of Bedford-Stuyvesant in Brooklyn.

"There is a similarity," Doar said of his experiences in the South and the slums of Brooklyn, "but the problems aren't identical."

"In the South the country lived with a situation in which they had a caste system — permitted a caste system from cradle to grave to exist contrary to the law and the Constitution, and our tradition and all our ideals," he said.

"Here in Brooklyn you have a situation where citizens in an area of the country are neglected, deprived, and discriminated against," Doar said. "This too is contrary to our ideals and traditions."

"The system in Bedford-Stuyvesant, Brooklyn, isn't explicitly enforced by every institution, by regulation and code — legal and moral — of the majority race for five or six generations," Doar observed.

However, he said, "The effect of Brooklyn on a citizen who happens to be a member of a minority race can be almost as devastating, certainly as devastating economically, as being a black in the South."

Need for Well Field Cost Data Delayed Hearing

TWIN FALLS — A Bureau of the Budget question on the cost of a well field for exchanging water in the proposed Salmon Falls Reclamation Project forced the postponement of the project's hearing in Washington, D. C.

Harold T. Nelson, Boise, Bureau of Reclamation regional director, told members of the Idaho Water Resource Board at a meeting in Twin Falls Friday the budget bureau raised this question because no definite area had been pinpointed for location of the exchange well field.

The bureau asked that a supplement to the proposed legislation be made, showing the cost of other well field sites, Nelson said, especially in the upper region of the Snake River Plains area, the Teton area.

Because of the uncertainties of the well field location and because more cost data was needed, the budget bureau suggested the legislation be held off and not introduced into Congress. So the Bureau of Reclamation and the Idaho congressional delegation postponed the hearings.

Nelson told the Water Resource Board members and Salmon River Canal Co. board members the hearings probably will be rescheduled for sometime in September.

After the postponement, Nelson met with the Idaho Congressional delegation and the Budget of the Bureau of officials to discuss additional data on the proposed project.

Nelson said in the original proposal the cost of the exchange water wells would be about $10,000 per second foot of water to drill. On the north side, established wells cost about $7,000 to $8,000 per second foot and in the Teton area, a test well of the Bureau of Reclamation is costing $5,000 a second foot, thus the cost factor is lower than originally expected.

Five test wells in the Teton area, the reclamation official said, are producing about 10 second foot of water or more and one is running as high as 16 second feet in a continuous flow. One second foot of water, flowing continuously, will produce one acre foot of water, or one second foot is the same as 450 gallons per minute. Nelson said he was advised the Teton test wells have not lowered or reduced the surface water in that area in any way.

Charles Marshall, Jerome, chairman of the Idaho Water Resource Board, conducted the one-day meeting of the state board at the Holiday Inn.

'My Lai' Changed Career Plans

TWIN FALLS — The My Lai "massacre", in which Vietnamese civilians were killed by U. S. Troops acting under orders, has changed the life of a Twin Falls soldier — as well as of many other military men.

First Lt. Gary A. Dalton, 027 Madrona St., told the Times-News while visiting his family recently that he had planned on an Army career, along with many of his friends. Since the story of the "massacre" and the subsequent trials of those involved, he said he has changed his mind. Many of his friends also have changed their minds about military careers, he said.

"I believe with all my heart that the officers, who are supposed to have massacred those people, were acting under orders," he said.

In many areas in Vietnam, soldiers cannot fire unless told to by their officers — even to return enemy fire, he recalled.

Gary spent a 30-day convalescent leave in Twin Falls. He was wounded in action when he was shot down on a reconnaissance flight in the A Shau Valley last April 17. He left recently for the Madlynn General Hospital, Ft. Lewis, Wash., for a medical checkup, and then for assignment to a "Stateside" base. Because of his wounds, he will not be reassigned to Vietnam.

Dalton served with B Troop, 101st Airborne Division as an aerial scout. After he was wounded in action, he was confined to hospitals in Vietnam and Japan until July.

His war experiences have fully satisfied his early desire to "find out what war was really like." He received a lieutenant's commission in the Army from the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Idaho. He volunteered to go to Vietnam

Wednesday when he returned to Madlynn home with his family in First Lt. Gary Dalton, General Hospital near Ft. Lewis, Wash., for a medical check-up. He was wounded in Vietnam and his left leg and foot are partially paralyzed.

Breathe Easier After This Auto Race

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—The greatest gathering of anti-polluting automobiles is ready for next week's grueling challenge. When it's over, all will breathe easier. That's the whole point.

The occasion is the second transcontinental clean air car race, an event much larger in scope than originally anticipated perhaps because of man's increased concern over the contamination of the earth's atmosphere.

About 60 automobiles, propelled by engines as varied as the stilted minds that put them together, are scheduled to begin the 3,600-mile coast-to-coast race Aug. 24 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge to the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, Calif.

The race is expected to take seven days, but because of anticipated breakdowns of the student-designed cars, the vehicles are expected to be "stretched out across a thousand miles of highway."

Under race rules, the students must design, build, test and drive their own vehicles but are permitted to enlist industry help—and other outside aid—for donations of equipment and operating funds.

The primary eligibility rule is that vehicles must comply with the 1975 federal exhaust emission standards, which are much stricter than those in force today.

The first clean air car race was held two years ago between battery-powered electric cars from Caltech and MIT departing from opposite ends of the country bound for their rival's campus.

MIT's car arrived first but because it had been towed so many times en route, penalties gave the victory to Caltech.

This year, all entrants start at Cambridge and will be using a dozen different power sources.

The race committee said winners would be selected in each of various classifications by a panel of independent automotive experts, based on the vehicle pollution emission rating, vehicle performance and time elapsed.

Each entry in the race will be assigned a follow-up car carrying an official observer, maintenance men and spare drivers.

The race route swings through Massachusetts, New York, Ontario, Canada, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Overnight stops are planned at Toronto on Aug. 24, Detroit, Aug. 25, Champaign, Ill., Aug. 26, Oklahoma City, Aug. 27, Odessa, Tex., Aug. 28 and Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 29.

Twin Falls County Fair Will Begin on Sept. 8

FILED — The Twin Falls County Fairgrounds will open its gates Sept. 8 for its 64th annual fair and rodeo.

As in other years, it will have a four-day run, however, Tuesday is designated as Judging day during which time most of the exhibits will be judged and ribbons placed.

Wednesday, Sept. 9, is East End Day for residents of Murtaugh, Hansen and Kimberly, and Thursday, Sept. 10,

Twin Falls Day. Friday, Sept. 11, will be West End Day for Plover, Buhl and Castleford, and the fair will end Saturday, Sept. 12, with grand finals day.

The premium books are now out and may be obtained by writing or calling the fair office at 328-4306. The rodeo ticket office is 328-4308.

This year's superintendents include F. V. Morrison, Murtaugh; beef cattle, Birchella Brown, Kimberly; dairy cattle, Jerry Kruse, Plover; swine, W. E. McCoy, Buhl; sheep, Doyle Shriver, Buhl; poultry, and John Quill, Twin Falls, horses, Mr. Morrison is also in charge of Futurity Farmers of America exhibits, and Mrs. H. P. Eastlerday and Mrs. Dorothy Fleming, Buhl, will direct the dog show and exhibit.

Mrs. Vaughn Hunt, Plover, and Mrs. N. A. Henkelman, Twin Falls, will be in charge of the Art Guild department, and Cecil Calhoun, Buhl, the farm produce and fruits.

Other superintendents include Mrs. Merle Tomrod, Plover, and Mrs. W. W. Reed, Buhl, needlework; Mrs. M. Hanson and Mrs. William L. Davis, Plover, antiques; Mrs. Cecil Brown and Mrs. Orville Sackett, Plover, youth, and Mrs. Clinton Dougherty and Mrs. Ida Moise, Plover, kitchen and pantry.

Mrs. George Kimmett, Plover, and Mrs. Joe Wiscaver Castleford, are superintendents for the flower department.

Pan-Board members are Harold Hove, Kimberly, president; T. W. Richmond, Buhl, vice president; Thomas Shouse, Plover, secretary; manager; Ben Mottern and Mike Gray, Twin Falls; Walt Miller, Plover; Bill Moore, Hansen; and Cecil Calhoun, Buhl, directors.

If a helicopter and crew were based in Twin Falls, on the other hand, it would be of great help in many cases, particularly in the case of someone falling into the Snake River Canyon while hiking or of a car going off the canyon rim, the sheriff added.

Even in highway accidents where an ambulance could be called, a locally based helicopter could speed injured persons to the hospital much faster and easier than could any vehicle, he said.

News Of Servicemen

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Oyer and son have moved to Arizona where he will be stationed at the USAF Regional Hospital, Davis-Monthan AFB, to begin his two year's service with the United States Air Force Medical Corp. He has a captain's rating at this time and will be a flight surgeon.

Dr. Oyer recently completed his internship at Sacred Heart hospital, Spokane, Wash., and is a graduate of Northwestern Medical School, Chicago, Ill.

They visited friends in Shoshone last week enroute to Arizona.

Golfers Worried

GILLINGHAM, England (UPI)—Police are looking into golfers' complaints that a brown mongrel dog harasses them on the 13th green of the Gillingham Golf Club.

A club spokesman said the dog runs out of bushes, bites players on the seat of their pants and disappears. He said eight players, including two women, have been bitten in the past 10 days and required shots.

"The dog seems to select his target very carefully," he said.

Flood Kills

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Police said today three days of torrential rain and floods have killed 100 persons and left more than 30,000 persons homeless.

Most of the deaths were the result of landslides that crushed homes in Recife, a city of one million persons, and the neighboring city of Olinda.

LYNN ANDERSON

Star on Welk Show To Sing at Burley

BURLEY — Lynn Anderson, vivacious star of the Lawrence Welk TV Show and Columbia Records, is the latest young Country and Western singer to achieve National Fame and Stardom. She will appear on the one-night stand of the Country and Western Jamboree at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Cassia County Fairgrounds.

The pretty 20-year old songstress, whose talent has projected her into being named "Most Promising Female Vocalist of 1967" by Cashbox Magazine and a nomination as a finalist in the CMA Awards of 1967, is fast becoming one of the busiest performers in the USA.

Other entertainers appearing with Miss Anderson are Merle Haggard, Bonnie Owens and the western band "Strangers."

Miss Anderson was born in Grand Forks, N. D., the daughter of Liz and Casey Anderson. Her mother, a top RCA Victor artist in her own right, is one of the most successful writers in Nashville, and Casey also a writer, operates their publishing enterprises, as well as serving as personal manager for both his daughter and wife.

Lynn was raised in Sacramento, Calif. and moved to Nashville with her parents in 1966. She attended high school and junior college in California and achieved quite a reputation as a championship trainer and rider of horses.

She won more than 100 trophies and 600 ribbons in horse shows, rodeos and parades all over California, including two state championships, regional championships and the title for California Horse Show Queen in 1966 at the state fair.

Tickets for the jamboree are on sale at a booth in downtown Burley.

Airlift Proposal Receives Support

TWIN FALLS — A proposal to use military helicopters to airlift victims of traffic accidents and plane crashes out of remote areas has drawn enthusiastic approval from police officials.

Idaho Senators Frank Church and Len B. Jordan today urged approval of a proposal to use the Mountain Home Air Force Base as a test ground for the airlift plan.

Military helicopters stationed at the air base would be available for use in civilian emergencies on a moment's notice.

Capt. Dean Bennett of the Idaho State Police said use of the fast-moving copters could help traffic victims, particularly in remote areas. He cited the crash near Hadley where three persons were killed and three were injured, two of them critically hurt. One of the victims had to be taken to a Boise hospital for treatment, and in this case a helicopter could have taken the victim to Boise much faster and easier than a ground-bound ambulance, Capt. Bennett said.

The helicopter would not be hampered by traffic as is an ambulance, and can provide a much smoother ride.

Sgt. Calvin Bernard of the State Police recalled a plane crash in the mountains north of Mountain Home. The pilot was dead when the rescue crews arrived, but had apparently lived for some time after the crash.

"If we could have gotten to him faster, and airlifted him to a hospital, it's possible he might have survived," Sgt. Bernard said.

One problem, however, would be the time necessary to bring the copter to the scene of the accident from the Mountain Home area. Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder said that the concept would work well in remote, mountainous areas where vehicles could not get to the scene.

However, in routine highway accidents, a copter based at Mountain Home "would take an hour to get here, and we could have the patient in the hospital by that time," Sheriff Corder said.

Flower Exhibit Slated

BURLEY — Flower exhibits for the Cassia County Fair may be entered between 7 and 11 a.m. Thursday, according to Mrs. Agnes Brady, flower superintendent.

One new rule this year is that flowers may be removed after 7:30 a.m. Aug. 23; in past years flowers were removed Saturday evening.

No containers will be furnished by the flower department of the fair. Entries must be grown by the exhibitor and only one of each class may be entered.

Exhibitors have the privilege of replacing flowers, if they wish, after the judging has taken place. All flowers in artistic displays must be garden grown. All exhibits must be in place by 11 a.m., and late entries will be for display only and will not be judged.

Judging will begin at 1 p.m. Thursday and doors will be closed during the judging. Children under 12 years will do their own arranging with no help from parent.

Professional growers may exhibit for display only and will not compete for prizes. No artificial flowers or arrangements will be allowed. A $5 prize will be given to the person having the most entries. In the adult division best of show and queen of show will be selected. A princess and prince of show will be selected and each given a $3 prize.

Juvenile exhibits are welcome and they must have 12 varieties of flowers displayed. Greens other than native to flowers shown may be used in three arrangements.

The Adult Community exhibit must have 20 varieties of flowers displayed and greens other than native to flowers may be used in three arrangements.

The flower show will be in the area beneath the south end of the grandstand. There will be help available to assist with classifying and entering flowers.

Flowers will be judged on cultural perfection only. Containers are not to be considered, except in bouquet arrangements.

School Date Set At Buhl

Buhl — Buhl schools will open Aug. 24, for the 1976-77 school term, according to Supt. Rex Engelking.

Until Sony Color TV... Better Color was just a promise.

Sony simplified its TV system and got better color. They call it Trinitron. Sony invented its color TV as it was meant to be: shot through one big color gun that shoots all the colors.

The Trinitron system has a bigger lens, too. Twice as large as other TV's. With the larger lens you get a sharper, brighter picture.

There are many other features too:

- Automatic color control; integrated contrast-color control; pictures stay crisp and brilliant at all points on the screen; all solid state circuitry for greater reliability; contemporary wood cabinet styling.
- Come in and watch the Trinitron System with 12" diagonal screen deliver a sharper, brighter, and a better color picture.

THE CHAIR: 'How Would It Feel?'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Prison authorities rarely grant interviews with condemned inmates. The following, the story of a murderer awaiting execution, was allowed only on condition the man's name and institution not be printed.

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The convict sinks noticeably when he talks. And no wonder. For the past four years he has been living in a cell in one of the rooms, there with full knowledge of his actions raped and killed her. He says he didn't do it, but admits, "Nobody in prison is ever guilty."

wondering, anyway. How would it feel—I mean, you know, Jesus—does it hurt or what, when all that goddam electricity is turned on?"

He is 23 years old, Mexican-American. Born in Colorado. The authorities say that when he was in, working as a garbage man, he entered a well-to-do suburban residence, carrying a young girl in one of the rooms, there with full knowledge of his actions raped and killed her.

He says he didn't do it, but admits, "Nobody in prison is ever guilty."

And so the convict is today one of 424 condemned men and women, in the United States. Segregated entirely from society. Waiting virtually alone for whatever it is to happen.

There are indications that in this case what will happen will not be execution. A kind of moratorium has been put on the death penalty. There has been no legal execution in the U.S. since 1967, and it is possible that there will never be another one.

Fourteen states have already substantially banned the death penalty, the Supreme Court is due to hear two wide-sweeping appeals on the question this autumn, and opinion polls repeatedly indicate that a majority of people have strong reservations about the morality of an eye for an eye.

None of this, of course, is much comfort to the 23-year-old convict who wonders what electrocution would be like. He is a semiliterate, boy-of-a-man who doesn't bother with or understand judicial forms. He knows only that his "six or seven" appeals have thus far failed, that his unpaid attorneys "don't make much sense when they talk to me," that "I don't know what's happening—I guess they could come for me just any time."

And to tell the truth, the convict adds; there are moments he almost wishes they would come for him. His four years on death row have been four years of killing ranches for something to do, Death could be no worse than life here.

Each day it's the same. It begins at 5:30. In a cell whose only furnishings are sink, tub, cot and small eatable. There are family pictures on the table, framed with the convict's only creation, some intricately woven paper. Here he eats two meals a day, does physical exercise, reads cheap paperback books and writes—tortured letters to relatives. Now and then he is released from the cell—for half-hour yard periods, for bathing or for call-block chores—but the escapes are brief.

The days are abnormally long for the convict. Lights go out at 10 p.m., but he can't sleep until 2 or 3 in the morning. So, in the hours of darkness, he presses his head against his bars and he shouts to other, unseen inmates. It's called cell rapping. Nobody knows each other. It's difficult in fact even to hear each other. But the chatter goes on until the damp early morning hours.

The only break in this routine is a visit from his lawyers or a shakedown by his guards. He doesn't comprehend his lawyers and he is usually annoyed with the guards. Yet he welcomes both intrusions. In fact, they represent highpoints in his existence. Real contact with other people.

He says, somewhat abashed:

"You get so lonely for somebody to talk to, man, you dream up people. I mean like you talk to God, or the President, or some chick. You say something, then answer what you say. After a while, you forget it's you doing the answering. And after that, you can dream them up for conversations just about any time you want."

Solitary confinement on death row could unbalance a man, so he counters as much as he can: by watching the flat float in the film on his eyeballs; by corraling ants for racing; by hiding harmless things to see if the guards will find them; and even, sometimes, thinking about the death by electrocution.

"I hear the chair here ain't been used for a long time. Maybe it's broke. Ha! Oh, hell, that ain't funny, it ain't gonna happen to me anyway. I mean, I got good things going for me—they ain't killing nobody any more, are they? So that don't worry me. Honest, it don't. The only thing that worries me is this cell. I tell you, I got to get back with people. Four years by myself is too long. I figure maybe I got another half year before it gets real bad. After that, God forgive me, I don't know if I'll be able to stand it any more."

Jerome Rapped for Lack Of Public Defender

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Jerome county's recent legal fiascos over payment of Twin Falls law firm in the Dillon murder appeal would have been avoided if the county had the services of a public defender, S.A. Kolman, county prosecuting attorney, declared Saturday.

He said he had offered to be the public defender before he was elected prosecuting attorney in Lincoln, Canyon and Gooding counties, also offered his services for that amount. Jerome county is the only county in Magic Valley not to operate under the public defender system, which was established for $3,000 per year, Kolman said, adding Phil Becker, public defender of Lincoln, Canyon and Gooding counties, also offered his services for that amount.

established by the Legislature in 1967, Kolman said. As long as a county does not operate under such a plan, bills for attorneys fees incurred in representing needy persons will be submitted to the court for payment.

Cleo Ambrose, Jerome county commissioner chairman, told the Times-News Saturday the commissioners have hesitated to establish a public defender system because "it would cost $4,000 per year and we could go 10 years without a murder trial."

He added he realized not having a public defender is "very chancy" but pointed out he and the other commissioners have reservations about the present law. Ambrose feels a better system would be the plan which the federal courts use, of paying only $1,000 for attorney case and up to $500 for a misdemeanor in cases where court-appointed legal representation is needed.

Since the county would be paying the public defender, Ambrose said he feels the commissioners should be allowed to hire the lawyer either on a yearly salary or "as the case may be." He feels the present law should be changed to give county officials this authorization and avoid the yearly salary.

Ambrose said he is going to bring the subject up at the state meeting of county commissioners and urge the state group to request the legislature to change the legislation to "take it out of the hands of the judges."

Under current law, if a county does not have a public defender, the court appoints the attorney and decides the amount of payment he will receive, and Ambrose feels this is the prerogative of the county commissioners.

Kolman pointed out Michael Dillon was tried and convicted of second degree murder before the public defender law was enacted in 1967 and he was not involved in the case because he was not prosecuting attorney at the time. By the time the appeal was filed the court had appointed the May and May law firm.

Value of Kindergarten Scored for Educators

By LIZ BOLTON, Times-News Correspondent
MAGIC VALLEY — Kindergarten is the only means by which all 5 year olds can have the opportunity to develop to their full potentials. Dr. Amy Hostler, chairman, United State National Committee for Early Childhood Education, told the concluding session of the annual conference for Idaho School Administrators and Trustees here Friday.

Children must be active in the learning process because they learn through involvement. That is the cry of the dissenting adolescent today," she said.

defending her kindergarten approach, Dr. Hostler noted that 33 of the states now have adopted state supported kindergartens, and Idaho "is one of the few that has not had the gumption to do so." She said that studies have shown that 50 per cent of an individual's intelligence is developed between the time of conception and the age of 5, and 30 per cent more between the age of 5 years and 8 years.

Some states are not leaving this development to chance and have made kindergarten mandatory for all 5 years old, and permissive for 4 and often 3 year olds," she added.

Children cannot wait for the chance. They will only be 5 for one year."

Kindergarten has become accepted as an essential ingredient in the total school experience because of the necessary environmental conditioning, according to edgational and child development experts. If a child is left to himself to develop his potential, he will not do it."

She stated that a kindergarten teacher's task is to actively involve the student in perceptual direction, to heighten his curiosity to get him to reason, and to set the stage for a lifetime of learning personality.

A problem, she said, involved with the kindergarten program is that institutions of higher education today must know how to prepare the teachers for the task at hand. "About 75 per cent of the institutions in the nation are not doing the job," she said.

"The prospective teacher has to have the same broad range of experiences she is going to have to offer the students. She must develop a new kind of concern for child development, including physical and mental health, and emotional and motivational development. A teacher can not really teach more than he is."

Honeik Named to Buhl School Board

BUHL — John Honeik, Jr., has been named to the Buhl school board of trustees to fill the vacancy created recently when Harold Traxler, trustee from zone 1, moved from that zone.

The appointment of Honeik to the board will be effective until the next trustee election. When a trustee will be elected to fill out the unexpired term which ends in 1972.

Mindoka Signup Slated

RUPERT — Registration scheduled for Mindoka county schools next week is announced by Supt. Camden Meyer.

Seniors will register Wednesday, juniors Thursday and sophomores Friday between 2 and 8 p.m. at Minico High School.

Ninth graders, who until this year also attended the county high school, will not register until the week of Aug. 31 because the two new junior high school being built near Paul and Rupert are not yet complete. Classes are scheduled to open in the new structures Sept. 8.

Report Made on Survivors

BURLEY — Two of the three survivors of the two-vehicle crash east of Heyburn early Friday morning were listed in serious condition Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Sadie Perry, 48, Twin Falls, and Dora Hamilton, 65, Oakland, Calif., are in serious condition while Kenny Smith, 21, Malta, driver of one of the two cars, was reported in good condition.

Mrs. Perry was driver of a vehicle which was struck broadside by the Smith car as she was reportedly pulling from a driveway onto Highway 27. Her mother, Mrs. Vera Jensen, Twin Falls, was killed in the crash.

DISCUSSING PLANS for the float they will enter in the Cassia county fair parade Thursday are Cassia Teen-age GOP members, from left, Carma Cagle, Jeanie Zollinger, Stefny Martin and Jim Fuqua, president. The group also will operate a booth at the fairgrounds this week. Members include high school youths from throughout the county.

Youths Plan for Float

Rupert Official Refutes Charges

BURLEY — The Cassia County Teen-age Republican club plans to enter a float in the Cassia county fair parade Thursday.

Members also will operate a booth at the fairgrounds, reports Jim Fuqua. Other officers include Stan Preston, co-chairman, and Stefny Martin, secretary-treasurer.

Standing committees include Herrell Hurst, organization; Susan McMurray, program and publicity; Brent Mendenhall, resolutions; Doug Buckley, issues, and Kathy Gardner, finance.

Members studied the proposed constitution at their last meeting at the Idaho Bank and Trust Co.

BY ARVETTA SAVAGE, Times-News Correspondent
RUPERT — George MacDonald, Rupert city councilman, has refuted a recent news story by Bill Whitton, another councilman, criticizing excessive city spending.

In last Sunday's Times-News, Whitton declared the excessive spending on the parks and recreation department is detracting from the budgets for the street and police department.

MacDonald, who serves as chairman for the parks and recreation department, addressed the Rupert Chamber of Commerce this week, along with Mayor Wendell Johnson and Councilman Charles Whitton.

Both MacDonald and Whitton agree that Rupert's expenditures in the parks department was $46,000 but they disagree on figures spent by the neighboring town of Burley. Whitton said Burley spent $38,000 while MacDonald quoted a figure of $45,107.

MacDonald told chamber members of the $48,000 spent by the Rupert parks department, $33,104 was for recreation, and includes sponsor fees, registration fees and pool receipts which amounted to about $7,900.

The chamber speaker also hit the Red Cross water safety program which, he claimed, costs about $2,500 to handle. Some of this money is refunded to the city through registration fees, but some comes from the city recreation budget.

Political Parties Choose Officers

TWIN FALLS — Democratic Central Committee members of Twin Falls County re-elected Vincent Smazal, Twin Falls, as county chairman in an organizational meeting Friday night in the county Judicial Building.

Also re-elected was Mabel Smazal as state committeewoman while Russell Biggs was named treasurer and Hazel Wilder was appointed by the chairman to serve as committee secretary.

Plans were made for a Democratic Party booth at the Twin Falls County fair and for establishing a party headquarters in Twin Falls prior to the November election. Discussion was held on write-in and other candidates who will pay filing fees and be certified as candidates for the November election.

Candidates have 60 days after the primary election to become certified for the general election.

Another meeting to line up possible candidates for ballot vacancies will be held Sept. 1, Mr. Smazal said.

BURLEY — Douglas Kramer, Twin Falls attorney, was elected chairman of the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee succeeding Charles Lunte, Buhl.

Mr. Kramer was elected to head a slate of new officers in the regular party organizational meeting Friday night in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building attended by precinct committee members elected on Aug. 4.

Other officers include Laird Noh, Kimberly, vice chairman; T.W. Stivers, Twin Falls, secretary; Ken Colner, Twin Falls, treasurer; Mr. Lunte, Buhl, state committeeman, and Orlette Sinclair, state committeewoman.

Named directors are Ruth Detweiler and Don Zuck, Twin Falls; Dave Munroe, Buhl, and Laurence Knigge, Filer. Republican party members also named Harold Cook, Twin Falls, as finance chairman. Business discussions were held on plans for the coming campaign and the support of party candidates in the November general election.

BURLEY — Cassia County students will register for school Aug. 24-25 according to information released from Central school office.

The Burley High School, Oakley High School and Raft River High School will be registering from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with seniors registering on Monday, juniors on Tuesday, and sophomores on Wednesday.

Declo High School will be registering all classes from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 28.

The Burley Junior High School will be registering from 10 to 4 p.m. with the ninth grade registering Monday, eighth grade on Tuesday, and the seventh grade on Wednesday.

All elementary schools in the county will be registering students Wednesday and Thursday.

Schools throughout the county will start at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 31 with the exception of Raft River which will begin at 8:50 a.m. that day.

Accepted on behalf of the student association $2,000 from the Louise Warner estate. Five portable bleachers for the football field will be purchased in memory of Louise Warner.

Accepted Francois Joneaux as a foreign exchange student for the 1970-71 school term through the auspices of the Youth for Understanding program. He will reside with the Ouellet-Chatfield family.

Dates Set For Cassia Schools

Tournaments Conclude Filer's Summer Recreation Activities

FILER — The Summer Recreation Program ended this week when the three tournaments were finished and winners named in croquet, badminton and tennis, according to Charles Gill, director.

Those participating were divided into three age groups in each sport. The three were 6 to 8 year olds, 9 to 11 years of age, and the 12 to 18 year group.

First place winner in the six to eight group in croquet was Tammy Jerolimiek with Troy Blankmore, second; Kelly Tipton, third, and Scott Allen, third.

In the 9 - 11 group, Dennis Chandler placed first; Susan Tipton, second; Elizabeth Pickett, third, and Kay Steelsmith, fourth. In the 12 to 18 year group, Tony Nick was first; J. C. Steelsmith, second; Allen Pierce, third, and Debbie Tipton, fourth.

Badminton winners in the six to eight year group were Erik Peterson, first; Tammy Jerolimiek, second; Wendy Steelsmith, third, and Kelly Tipton, fourth.

In the 9 to 11 year group Gay Steelsmith placed first; Susan Tipton, second; Donna Ransom, third, and Lori Peterson, fourth, and in the 12 to 18 year group, J. C. Steelsmith was first and Debbie Tipton, second.

Tennis, a new sport for the program this year and a very popular one, saw Erik Peterson, first, in the 8 - 9 year group with Tammy Jarolimiek, second; Scott Allen, third, and Kelly Tipton, fourth. In the 9 - 11 year age group, Susan Tipton, first; Nina Sturgill, second; Gay Steelsmith, third, and Donna Ransom, fourth, and in the 12 to 18 age group, J. C. Steelsmith placed first and Debbie Tipton, second.

A total of 108 students completed their swimming lessons at Harmon Park and took their exams in their various classes, stated Mr. Gill.

Scenic Sawtooth Region's Future In Question

SAWTOOTH VALLEY . . . Idahoans enjoy it with pride — Tourists marvel at it and — Congress is now attempting to decide its future. The question in general is whether it should become a National Park, a National Recreation Area or a combination of both. This always popular view of the valley is from the Galena Summit overlook.

Hearing Shaping

SUN VALLEY — Individuals and organizations with strong views on whether the National Park Service or U.S. Forest Service should administer the scenic Sawtooth region of south central Idaho are preparing statistics and comments for the Aug. 26 hearing in Sun Valley. The hearing will open in the Sun Valley Opera House at 10 a.m. and continue as long as necessary, at least into the afternoon.

Questions of administration of the area have long been debated with tourism industries generally favoring a National Park in the area and local land owners favoring the National Recreation Area concept to be administered by the Forest Service.

Conducted by the Sub-Committee on National Parks and Recreation of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, the hearing is open to any person or organization wishing to testify and local views and comments are being solicited by the committee.

Major proponents for the National Park consent, some of whom have indicated they would compromise for the newest proposed legislation calling for a combination of park and recreation areas, include the Idaho Innkeepers, local motel operator associations and the former Sawtooth National Park Association.

Those opposing a National Park proposal, and also the combination National Park administration of high areas and National Recreation Areas under Forest Service jurisdiction in lower valley regions, are generally local land owners.

About 10,000 acres in the area consists of ranches and other private property. Most of these owners favor maintaining the present status. Proposed legislation introduced last week would retain ranch lands and regulate development through zoning which many local residents fear would not be adequate because of the upland and variance factors in all zoning regulations.

The Sawtooth Valley Association, headed by J.G. Nicholson, Obaldin, has organized strong opposition to the park complex proposal and national park status as a whole.

Those supporting the National Recreation Area legislation favor multiple use practices of the Forest Service while those in favor of a National Park feel the park status is a major attraction for tourists. There are no national parks in Idaho at this time although there is a National Monument in the Craters of the Moon Area.

All four Idaho congressional delegates have joined in sponsoring the proposed combination of a park and recreation area. In addition to hearing testimony, members of the sub-committee and probably congressional delegates, are expected to inspect the 500,000 acre Sawtooth Mountain region by air on the day prior to the hearing to evaluate its scenic resources.

A bill passed the U.S. Senate July 2 to establish a National Recreation area in the region.

Persons planning to testify orally during the hearing must notify the committee no later than 5 p.m. Tuesday (Aug. 18). Regulations from the office of Congressman Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) indicate 25 copies of the oral testimony must be presented at the time the witness is called and each witness may have no more than five minutes of hearing time. Written testimony will be taken, in triplicate copies, up to Sept. 1, 1970.

Communications concerning the hearings should be sent to Chairman Roy A. Taylor, Sub-Committee on National Parks and Recreation, House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, Room 1324 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20515.

REDFISH LAKE AREA is part of the Sawtooth region to be visited by congressional sub-committee members later this month in conjunction with a Parks and Recreation Sub-Committee hearing at Sun Valley Aug. 26. Presently under Forest Service administration, a National Park proposal would change jurisdiction over this popular resort and preserve it in a park status for recreational enjoyment only.

YOUNG ANGLERS ENJOY fishing in Red Fish Lake in the Sawtooth area and will probably continue to do so regardless of the decisions made following a hearing in Sun Valley Aug. 26. The hearing is open to all interested persons and is held to collect local views on pending legislation involving the entire Sawtooth region.

Cowboys Top Ogden, Have League Lead

Mengo, Pierce Belt Homers To Spark Victory

Mengo drove in five runs with a homer and a double and Jack Pierce sent three runs across with a towering homer Saturday night as the Magic Valley Cowboys dumped Ogden 13-7 and replaced the Dodgers on top of the Pioneer League standings.

The teams will meet again at 8 p. m. over the next three nights with the Cowboys staying home through the week, winding it up with four games against Billings.

The week will be highlighted by special nights—Monday is merchants night with participating Twin Falls businesses giving free admission tickets to the public. The same coupons will be good for a family night (everyone admitted for $1.50) on Wednesday and "Ladies night" is scheduled for Thursday. Friday will be "Guaranteed Win Night," the Cowboys management assuring fans that if the Cowboys don't win Friday, all those attending that game will be admitted free Saturday.

The Cowboys had some anxious early moments against the Dodgers before the Ogden pitching collapsed with 14 walks and Pierce and Mengo went to work. The Dodgers ran up their five runs at the expense of Stan Babieracki, who threw a one-hit shutout in his last appearance here. But Ed Childress took over in the fifth and blanked the Dodgers on one hit and rest of the way.

Dennis Haren sent Ogden ahead with a two-run homer in the second and hits by Jim Hughes, Joe Anells and Dewey Perry, plus a Cowboy error, pushed that to 4-0 in the third. But in the bottom of the frame, Howard Duckworth and Babieracki got back-to-back doubles for one-run. Chico Ruiz got an infield hit with Babieracki scoring on an error.

After Ernie Pedersen walked, Pierce smashed a towering drive over the light towers to make it 5-4.

Losing pitcher Jim Haller tied it with a solo shot in the top of the fourth but Mengo settled that when he hit an opposite field homer after Nelson Cann had walked and Ruiz singled. The Cowboys got two easy runs in the sixth on four walks and a hit batsman and in the batsmen and in the seventh Mengo's double off the centerfield fence scored Pedersen and Cann, who had drawn walks.

Sweetan Passes Rams to 17-10 Exhibition Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Reserve quarterback Karl Sweetan, substiting for injured Roman Gabriel, threw two touchdown passes to load the Los Angeles Rams to a 17-10 win over the Dallas Cowboys in a preseason pro football game Saturday night.

The Cowboys used two quarterbacks, Craig Morton and Roger Staubach, and they threw four interceptions which stymied the Dallas drives and led to one Ram touchdown. The Rams took the opening kickoff and marched down to the Cowboy 12 where on fourth down David May kicked an 18-yard field goal.

Morton quarterbacked in the first period but was unable to get a drive going. Staubach took over in the second quarter and scored an 80-yard bomb to Margene Adkins, speedy wide receiver who played for three years with Ottawa in the Canadian Football League.

Mike Clark kicked the extra point to make it 7-3.

Ortinzo, Mustangs Drop Cubs

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—Frank Ortinzo homered with one out in the 10th inning to lift the Billings Mustangs to a 3-2 victory over the Caldwell Cubs Saturday night in the first of a four-game series.

The homer was Ortinzo's seventh of the year and kept him within distance of taking the league crown.

Caldwell jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second when Calvin White walked and Peter Licoock, Mike Pink and Curt Ascherman followed with singles. Fink and Ascherman collected the ribs.

Billings picked up one in the third on base hits by Jim Stout, winning pitcher Mike Nichols and Bob Peters.

At Cowens tied it at 2-2 in the seventh when he walked, stole second and scored on Gary Schlaghauf's base hit.

Nichols worked the full 10 innings to pick up the win.

Reliever Tom Liscano was tagged with the loss. Liscano had come on in the seventh in relief of Mike Weiss.

Rawls Is Buckeye Leader

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Veteran PGA golfer Rawls, sixth on the LPGA money list, holds a two-stroke lead, entering the final day of the Buckeye Savings Invitational Golf Tournament at Royal Oak Country Club here.

Miss Rawls, who has never played on the 6,110-yard, par 72 course 10 days, built up her second straight 69 in total 130, two strokes better than Mary Mills and Margee Masters.

Miss Masters, who has completed all 15 events on the tour this year, had Saturday's low round of five-under par 67.

Sandra Spuzich, defending champion, was four strokes off the pace at 142, while Friday's first round leader, Andy Fischer, skied from 68 to 79.

Carol Mann, formerly affiliated with Royal Oak and a former Buckeye champion in 1967 and 1968, was not in contention, posting an 80 to go with her first round score of 74.

Broncos Roar To 26-16 Win

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Broncos scored 10 points in the final 35 seconds Saturday night to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 26-16 in their National Football League exhibition.

The game was tied 16-16 with 35 seconds left, but Bobby Howfield kicked a 24-yard field goal and then Bill Thompson recovered a blocked Cardinal field goal attempt and ran 46 yards for a touchdown with nine seconds left to win the game.

St. Louis, led by quarterback Jim Hart, who completed nine of 19 passes for 162 yards in the first half, took a 16-7 lead over Denver at the intermission.

Pete Beathard relieved Hart in the second half and the Cardinals failed to score.

Bronco linebacker Fred Popsberg set up two of Denver's touchdowns by recovering a Beathard fumble on the Cardinal 12 and jumping on an errant St. Louis snap on the Cardinal 3.

Detroit Trips Up Angels

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Dick McAuliffe singled in two runs in the second inning and Al Kaline ripped a solo homer in the third Saturday night as the Detroit Tigers struck early to down the California Angels 5-1.

Joe Niekro went the distance, limiting California to six hits in registering his 11th victory in 21 decisions.

Rookie Lloyd Allen, making only his second major league start, gave up three runs on four hits in his first two-inning stint, taking his first loss in his initial decision.

McAuliffe opened the game by doubling down the leftfield line. The Tiger second baseman scored on Kaline's groundout.

In the second inning, Don Wert bent out a bunt. With two down, Allen walked. Cesar Gutierrez and Niekro, McAuliffe rapped a single to left to make it 3-0 for Detroit.

Kaline greeted reliever Dave LaRoche with his 14th homer to open the third and the Tigers got their last run off LaRoche in the fifth. Jim Northrup walked to open the fifth and LaRoche loaded the bases by yielding a single to Norm Cash and hitting Wert with a pitch.

Eddie Fisher was summoned from the Angel bullpen and he gave up a one-out single to Gutierrez to score Northrup.

Dayan Cops Trader Trot

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI)—Dayan, winner of Roosevelt's 50,000 American Trotting Championship last month but who has encountered bad racing luck since then, got back on the beam Saturday night at Yonkers Raceway when he won the 25,000 Trader Horn Trot by three-quarters of a length.

Saints Edge By Houston

HOUSTON (UPI)—Rookie Ken Burrough returned the second half kickoff 64 yards to set up the winning touchdown as the New Orleans Saints defeated the Houston Oilers 19-10 Saturday night.

Burrough's runback put the ball on the Houston 35 and Les Shy skirted left end for four yards and a touchdown five plays later. Quarterback Bill Kilmer passed one yard to right end Ray Pogue for the Saints' other Touchdown, coming on the last play of the first quarter.

Tom Dempsey kicked both extra points and a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter.

The Saints added a safety with 1:49 to go in the game when end Lawrence Esteo tackled quarterback Bob Naman in the end zone for a two-yard loss.

Running back Woody Campbell went three yards for the Oilers' only touchdown and Roy Gerela kicked a 47-yard field goal.

The touchdown climaxed a 76-yard drive after Houston received the game's opening kickoff. Quarterback Charley Johnson completed five of six passes in the drive for

Phils' Catcher Is Sidelined

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Catcher Mike Ryan of the Philadelphia Phillies, off earlier this season with a broken left hand, suffered a laceration on the middle finger of his right hand when struck by a foul tip Saturday night and will be sidelined for an estimated three weeks.

With regular catcher Tim Lincecum still on the disabled list, the Phillies called up catcher Mike Compton from their Eugene, Ore. farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

A-State Rated WAC Favorite

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI)—Sports writers and sportscasters have picked Arizona State to repeat Western Athletic Conference football champion this fall.

The Sun Devils received 18 of a possible 14 first-place votes from writers and broadcasters who attended a two-day meeting with coaches at the Snowmass-Aspen ski resort.

The other first place ballot went to Utah.

Arizona State 110 (13); Utah 98; Arizona 82; Wyoming 65; New Mexico and Brigham Young 46; Texas-El Paso 33, and Colorado State-University 24.

Post Falls, Lakers Unbeaten In Tourney

Lakers Stun Turf 6-1, Play Favorites Today In 12:30 Semi-Final

The Falls of Post Falls and the Lakers of Coeur d'Alene advanced to the semi-final game as the only undefeated squads and eight teams were ousted in the second day of the Idaho State Slowpitch Softball championship Saturday.

The Lakers dropped Turf Club of Twin Falls 6-1 and Post Falls used a big six-run sixth inning in defeating Lucky Lager of Lewiston.

In their evening session games Coeur d'Alene Merchants ousted Hiedelberg of Moscow 14-5; Royal Lounge stayed alive in the losers bracket with a tight 4-3 decision over Grasmick Produce of Boise; and Showdowns of Twin Falls continued to surprise, beating City Club of Sandpoint 16-10 to stave off elimination.

Today's games begin at 10 a.m. with Turf Club and Royal Lounge meeting. Sherwood's and Coeur d'Alene play at 11:15 a.m., and at 12:30 Post Falls and the Lakers meet in the semi-final. Turf Club, the local team with the best shot at the title, would have to win five games Sunday, two over the Post Falls - Laker winner.

Turf took a brief 1-0 lead against the Lakers as Ted Burgess singled and scored on Kenny Blake's sacrifice, but the Coeur d'Alene squad raked up five runs in the fifth and made them stand up. Bob Emheiser's three-run homer was the crucial blow.

Post Falls, again extremely impressive defensively, collected six hits in the decisive sixth inning against Lucky Lager. Until then it was tight as the teams fought to a 1-1 tie.

Lucky collected only four hits off Post Falls' Buck Wilhelm. In the daylight action, the Falls debuted impressively by dropping Blitz Beer of Twin Falls 4-1 in a good defensive duel. Grasmick Produce of Boise overpowered Viola-Hoidelberg-of-Moscow 17-0 to complete the first round.

In the round of eight, the Turf Club banged out 10 hits, including two homers and a triple by Ted Burgess, and another round-tripper by Bill Marlett, to overpower Coeur d'Alene Merchants 15-9. The Merchants led 7-3 until Turf Club came up with seven runs in the fifth inning.

The Lakers of Coeur d'Alene burst the bubble for Sherwood's, which had won its sixth game of the year in Friday night's opener, 15-9. Lucky Lager of Lewiston dropped Royal Lounge of Twin Falls 6-2, scoring twice in the bottom of the sixth to cushion a meager 3-2 margin.

The Falls then returned to the field and got homers from Dave and Duane Schultz to breeze over Grasmick.

In the losers bracket, Varsity Barbershop of Twin Falls was busted by Wallace Pfating of Boise 9-4 and Hamm's Beer of Lewiston sent Sacred Heart Boosters of Boise to the sideline 7-5. Sandpoint's City Club eliminated Boise Cascade of Emmet 17-4 and Hiedelberg knocked off Blitz Beer 13-6, hitting the Twin Falls team where it lives — in the defense. It was the most runs scored on Blitz in over 30 games.

Yacht Race Will Begin On Schedule

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Australia's Gretel II, which had wanted a postponement of its America's Cup yacht race qualification series with France, changed its mind Saturday and said it would be ready to start next Friday.

"I think we will be ready and we will start as scheduled on Aug. 21," said Jim Hardy, Gretel's skipper. France had opposed any further postponement of the start of its best of seven series, which originally was scheduled for Aug. 17 and then put back to Aug. 21 when the freighter bringing Gretel from Sydney was late in arriving.

Both Gretel and the French yacht took brief practice sessions Saturday afternoon, but the three S.S. yachts, which begin their final trial series on Tuesday, all were hauled out of the water for final work.

Spaw FROM ALL ANGLES

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
The Idaho Fish and Game Department will be meeting this week to set up the final details for the upland bird and migratory waterfowl seasons.

At that time, something will be decided on the matter of the mercury content supposedly found in some pheasants. The department and the state health department were to have settled something on that situation a couple of weeks ago but the final results of the tests, being conducted at the AEC facilities near Arco, were not available. The word is the tests started in the middle of last week and the results will be available to the commission by the time of its special hunting season session.

Meanwhile, Ducks Unlimited reports "the ingredients are present for another good fall flight from the prairies. There is abundant water to carry the duck crop through to the flight stage, although the nesting season is delayed and prolonged compared with last year."

DU says the lone exception to the "ideal conditions" is found in Southern Alberta — that's our main supply of Mallards — but continued "Even here, timely rains salvaged many ducks that might have been in trouble."

Gordon Hogan, football coach at Hansen High school, is seeking a game to be played either Oct. 7 or 10th. "We'd prefer to play it again someone about our size," Coach Hogan says. So if anyone is looking for a game on that particularly difficult date to fill, have them call Coach Hogan.

The first coaches and football officials meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Wednesday at Jerome High School. This is the time the officials get their rule books and everyone gets a filmed interpretation of the new rule changes. All men interested in certifying to work high school football games should attend this meeting.

A couple-three transfers will be on hand this fall for some area high school athletic teams. Buhl has picked up a 6-4, 230-pound transfer from Utah and Jerome reportedly has a 6-2, 220-pounder coming in from Oregon. Twin Falls picked up a bright prospect for its cross-country team, a junior who reportedly ran a 10:09 two-mile last year. But all coaches will tell you, they aren't going to get real excited until the talent has been proved to them.

Yankees Topple K.C. 5-4

NEW YORK (UPI) — Consecutive singles by Danny Cater and pinch-hitter Jake Gibbs drove home three runs in the eighth inning Saturday and lifted the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

The Yankees, who now have beaten Kansas City eight consecutive times this year, were trailing 4-2 when Thurman Munson and Roy White opened the eighth with singles. Bobby Murcer sacrificed both runners along and Cater singled through the middle to drive them home and tie the game.

Cater continued to second on the throw to the infield and when first baseman Bob Oliver threw the ball back to the outfield for an error, Cater went to third. Gibbs then singled to right to bring home Cater.

Kansas City took a 4-2 lead with two runs in the fourth on consecutive singles by Bob Oliver, Paul Schaal and Rich Severson and a sacrifice fly by George Spriggs.

Top Seeds Eliminated In Net Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Tom Gorman stunned Stan Smith, the nation's top ranked tennis player and Bob Lutz knocked off No. 2 ranked Arthur Ashe Saturday to move into the finals of the $12,000 Buckeye Tennis championships here.

Gorman, ranked 14th by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, broke Smith's service three times in winning 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Lutz upset Ashe in straight sets 6-3, 6-1. Lutz, ranked sixth, broke Ashe's service twice in the first set and four times in the second set. Both matches took only a total of 49 minutes to complete.

For Gorman, it was his second upset in as many days.

Gupton Wins Sox Box Derby Title

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Samuel Gupton of Durham, N.C., won the 1970 All-American Soap Box Derby championship Saturday.

The 13-year-old 5-foot-2, 90-pounder raced down the Derby Downs course in 27.22 seconds to defeat Charles Poole II, of Decatur, Ga., and Steve Long of Oraville, Calif., who took second and third place respectively.

"I sure feel proud... the new champion said, "I spent about 800 hours building this car and it was sure worth it."

"I hope to spend the $7500 first prize scholarship to go to college and study engineering," added Gupton, who will enter the eighth grade next month.

Gupton also posted the fastest time of the day when he was clocked in 27.12 seconds in the semi-final heat.

Taylor, Rod Laver in Canadian Tennis Final

TORONTO (UPI) — Roger Taylor of England defeated Andres Gimeno of Spain, 1-6, 6-3, 11-9, and Rod Laver of Australia downed Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 3-6, 12-10, 6-1 Saturday to gain the finals of the $23,200 Rothmans Canadian Open tennis championships.

Taylor and Laver will be meeting for the second time this year in Sunday's final. The popular Englishman defeated Laver in five sets in the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon championships earlier this year.

Taylor, spotty on his forehand and lacking rhythm in his service, rallied from 0-30 in the 19th game of the deciding set to break Gimeno and secure a 10-9 advantage.

"At match point, I had this little cramp in my leg," said Gimeno. "I just needed a few inches."

Laver, who survived match point on his service in game 16 of the second set, finally gained control of an erratic backhand which had cost him heavily in the first two sets.

In the third set, he broke Drysdale's weakening service on three occasions, firing a service ace for the match.

Like Gimeno, Drysdale admitted to a psychological letdown.

"It really wasn't a question of staying power," said Drysdale because I had the good shot in the second set. It was psychological, I felt I had my match but blew it."

Drysdale later teamed with Australia's Fred Stolle to roll past Vancouver's Bob Puddicombe and Bob Bedard of Quebec, 6-0, 6-3, in quarter-finals double play.

In other doubles matches, Bill Bowrey of Australia and Marty Riessen of the U.S. combined to drop Egypt's Ismail El Shafiq and Denmark's Torben Ulrich, 6-3, 6-2.

Margaret Court of Australia and Rosey Casals of San Francisco advanced to Sunday's ladies finals with a 6-4, 6-3 decision over Esme Emmanuel of South Africa and Cecil Martinez of San Francisco.

Also advancing to the semis were Tom Okker of Holland, Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia and Flo Nastase of Romania.

Okker seeded only three sets to beat sixth-seeded Bob Hewitt of South Africa, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2; Kodes downed Mark Cox of England, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1; and Nastase required 3 1/2 hours to oust Yugoslav's Zeljko Franulovic, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Long Ball Game
The baseball game played between Brooklyn and Boston of the National League on May 1, 1920, went 2 1/2 innings. The game was called on account of darkness after three hours and 50 minutes of play.

Yankee '400' Runs Today

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI) — The field of 40 cars for Sunday's Yankee 400-mile stock car race at Michigan International Speedway was filled out Saturday as 10 more drivers qualified.

But their speeds were well off the 157,363 miles an hour turned in by Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., in a Dodge Friday. The fastest time turned in Saturday was 144,334 m.p.h. by Co. Co. Marlin of Columbia, Tenn., in a Chevrolet, which put him in the 25th spot.

Parnelli Jones to Battle Donohue in Trans-Am Decider

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (UPI) — Parnelli Jones, 500-mile winner of Indianapolis, Sunday, was fifth in 111.42 m.p.h.; Ed Leslie, Saturday, was sixth in a Javelin at 110.99; Ed Leslie of Monterey, Calif., Elford's teammate, in a Camaro was seventh at 110.70 m.p.h. and George Folmer of Arcadia, Calif., Jones' teammate in a Mustang was eighth at 109.81.

Jones has won four of the eight Trans-Am races held this season while the Javelins have won three. Mustang has piled up 20 points, Javelin 13 and Camaro 30.

To grab the pole Jones had to break to lap record of 110.70 m.p.h. set by Donohue in last year's race.

Vic Elford of England, driving a Jim Hall Camaro, was third fastest in 111.74 m.p.h. It is Elford's first Trans-Am race as Camaro tries to get back into the competition.

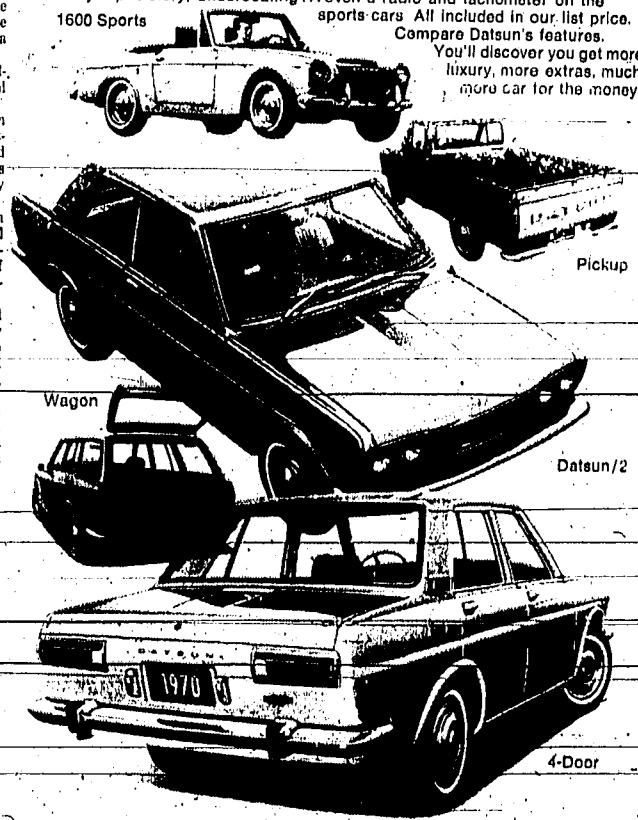

Fourth on the grid is Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., in a Dodge Challenger, who posted 111.59 m.p.h.

21-1 Shot Is Upset Winner

CHICAGO (UPI) — Under-derrated Kerry's Time and overlooked Te Vega won divisions of the Benjamin F. Lindheimer handicap at Arlington Park Saturday, Te Vega on a disqualification and Kerry's Time on a surprise wire to wire lead as a 21-1 shot.

To Vega, owned by Brunswick Farm and ridden by Charles Baltazar was placed first in the first division after Post Hilarious, who finished first, was disqualified and placed third on the protest of jockey Carlos Martinez, who rode Royal Harmony into third place.

Stockton Leads PGA Tourney By 3 Shots

Four-Under 66 Gives Leader 11th Straight Round Of 71 Or Better

He's Not In Meet For Money.

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Dave Stockton, fighting for the biggest tournament win of his career, fired a four-under-par 66 Saturday and took a three-stroke lead at the end of 54 holes of the PGA championship over charging defending champion Ray Floyd.

Stockton, the PGA's third round leader, is one of those unknowns who kids about being ranked as "unknown" and also says he isn't in this tournament for the money.

"I'm not thinking about the money or about Ray Floyd," said Stockton, a 28-year-old putting wizard from Westlake, Calif., after firing a 66 Saturday to go four strokes under par for 54 holes with his 206. Floyd, who broke the course record with his third-round 65, is the only other one in the field under par with a one-under 209.

"People say you make a million dollars by being the PGA champion," Stockton went on. "I don't care about the money. I just want the title. That's what's important to me. As for me being worried about Ray Floyd because he's three shots behind me, I'm not. There could be 10 guys one shot behind me and it wouldn't worry me. I'm not playing the rest of the guys; I'm playing myself and the golf course."

Orioles Deal A's 7-1 Loss

OAKLAND (UPI)—Merv Rettenmund drove in three runs with his 14th homer and two singles and Andy Etchebarren batted in two with three singles and walk Saturday to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-1 victory over Oakland.

Brooks Robinson chipped in with his 13th homer and a double and scored three runs as the Orioles tied off four Oakland pitchers for a dozen hits and paved the way for Mike Cuellar's 17th victory.

The victory kept the Orioles 8 1/2 games ahead of the New York Yankees in the American League East. The A's, who lost only their eighth game in the last 27, stayed four games behind the Minnesota Twins in the AL West.

Cuellar had the A's shut out on four hits until a two-out single by Rick Montoy and a long double by Tommy Davis produced Oakland's only run in the eighth. Cuellar, who has lost seven, gave up seven hits in all, struck out six and walked only one batter.

holes of the PGA championship over charging defending champion Ray Floyd.

Stockton birdied seven holes Saturday to run his string to 16 for three days and answer the charge put on by Floyd.

Stockton birdied seven holes Saturday to run his string to 16 for three days and answer the charge put on by Floyd.

Stockton, 28, from Westlake, Calif., now has shot 11 straight rounds of 71 or better dating back to the Westchester Classic.

He began the day at even par 140 tied with Larry Hinson, and promptly birdied the first and bogeyed the second. From there he was untouchable.

Stockton rolled in birdie puts on the third, the sixth and the ninth to go out in 33 and then came back with birdies on the tenth, 16th and the 17th to offset a bogey on the short 14th.

Floyd sank birdie puts of 10, 2, 8, 25 and 6 feet, and also dropped par-saving puts of 15 and 12 feet.

Floyd, like Palmer, missed a makeable putt on the final green that would have lowered his score by one.

"I guess I just lost concentration," he said. "I was already thinking that I had shot a 64, and I just muffed it."

"Good heavens, I made seven birdies," Stockton said. "Lately I haven't been making seven birdies in a tournament."

Stockton went for the pin on every hole in an all-out effort to build his lead.

"A three-shot lead over a golfer like Ray Floyd is certainly not insurmountable," he said. "I just plan to play the golf course tomorrow."

Stockton's birdie puts were from 4, 6, 15, 10, 20, 15 and 5 feet.

Palmer, for the third straight day, played the front nine of the Southern Hills layout in under-par figures—but could not keep it going in the back side. His round was spoiled by two three-putts.

"There's no use losing any sleep over it. I think there will be a couple of people out there who will be for me. I would rather be playing with him than have him in front of me or behind me."

Cubs Split Twin Bill With L.A.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Billy Williams collected four hits, including his 34th homer, to pace the Chicago Cubs to a 13-2 victory over Los Angeles Saturday after Tom Haller's sacrifice fly accounted for the deciding run in the dodgers' 9-7 opening game victory.

The Cubs led 7-5 in the seventh when Maury Wills was safe at first on pitcher Ferguson Jenkins' error. Consecutive singles by Bill Russell, Davis and Wes Parker tied the score at 7-7 and Haller greeted reliever Phil Regan with his sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers added another run in the ninth when Wills and Parker doubled. The double was Parker's fourth hit.

The Cubs took a 7-3 lead in the third when they scored six runs on six hits. The Dodgers cut the lead to 7-5 on Willie Crawford's sixth home run of the year in the fifth inning.

TAKING A BREAK, Dave Stockton wipes the perspiration from his face as he waits to hit his tee shot on the eighth hole during the third round of the PGA championship. Stockton took the 100-plus degree weather in stride and held a three-shot lead over the field at the end of 54 holes. (UPI telephoto)

Thomsen Gains Proxy-Pro Final, Blandford Ousted

OKLAHOMA CITY—Idaho State amateur champion, 16-year-old Jeff Thomsen of Twin Falls, qualified for the final 36 holes of the American Pro-Youth Golf Classic Saturday but high school teammate Jim Blandford missed the cut by one shot.

Special Olympics Closes

CHICAGO (UPI)—More than 2,500 mentally retarded boys and girls from the United States, Canada and France vied Saturday for coveted athletic honors in the finals of the International Special Olympics.

With some of the world's better known athletes and personalities cheering them on, youngsters between the ages of 10 and 19 ran, jumped and threw softballs in the finals of four events for both boys and girls at the 100,000-seat Soldier Field. Each of the contestants had an IQ of less than 80.

An estimated 1,000 awards were given out during the three-day event by Olympic decathlon champions Bill Toomey and Rafer Johnson, astronaut James Lovell and John Glenn, football players Roosevelt Greer and Johnny Lattner, and U.S. ambassador to France.

Monday's and Tuesday's rounds will see 20 touring pros — most of them coming to Oklahoma City from the PGA which ends today — playing with the Juniors. Thomsen plays with Haic Irwin Monday and George Archer on Tuesday.

The other three Idaho youngsters in the event all missed the 161 cut. Paul Lodge of Caldwell had a 162, Jeff Rodwell of Poentello a 168, and Dave Mojitar of Boise a 178.

Thomsen, shot a 157 for the two days of qualifying while Blandford had a 162. The medalist was Charles Gibson of Rio Del, Calif., who had a 73 Saturday and wound up at 148. However, the qualifying scores will not be counted in the concluding 18 holes, the field starting even. He finished sixth in this event last year.

Thomsen had a 79 Friday and Miss Stacy is Junior Champion.

RYE, N.Y. (UPI)—Hollis Stacy of Savannah, Ga., successfully defended her title in the U.S. Junior-Girls' golf championship Saturday by beating Janet Aullis of West Caldwell, N.J., one-up.

The 16-year-old Georgian thus became only the second girl ever to win the championship twice. Judy Eller, now Mrs. Street, won it in 1957 and 1958.

Neither girl played exceptionally good golf on a steaming hot day Saturday over the par-73, 6,691-yard Apawams course.

Surging Pirates Top Padres By 9-3

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Jose Pagan had four hits and drove in five runs with a pair of homers Saturday to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

ISU Slates Open House Thursday

Idaho State boosters and friends are invited to a special open house Thursday evening at the Holiday Inn, announces Abbie Urigen, member of the alumni board.

Urigen said Athletic Director Dubby Holt, basketball Coach Dan Miller and Mike King, supervisor of the mindomo, will attend the meeting to answer questions and fill in area boosters on the prospects at ISU this year.

Urigen added ISU is hoping to set up a special "Magic Valley section" in the mindomo for the football season and tickets for that will be available. He added all ISU home games will be played at 8 p.m. on Saturday nights which should give more fans an opportunity to watch the Bengals.

A social hour will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Pagan hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and added a two-run shot in the seventh. His fourth of the season, to help Bob Ventle pick up his eighth victory of the season.

Urigen drove in three runs with a seventh inning double and Bill Mazeroski had a solo homer for the Pirates.

Pagan's first homer, his third of the season, followed two-out successive singles by Al Oliver and Willie Stargell to send Earl Wilson down to his third loss against no victories. Mazeroski's homer in the fourth was his fifth.

Rams Put Five Men On Waivers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams Saturday placed five players on waivers, including veteran offensive tackle Jim Wilson. In order to trim the roster to 63 prior to Saturday night's exhibition game with the Dallas Cowboys, a team spokesman said, Wilson, a five-year veteran from Georgia and tackle-placer kicker Don Martin were waived because of injuries.

Green Bay and Bears Tie 6-6 In Shrine Game

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Both Luseg kicked a 12-yard field goal with seven seconds to play Saturday night to pull the Green Bay Packers from behind to a 6-6 tie with the Chicago Bears in the annual Midwest Shrine football game.

McCovey, S.F. Tops Cards 3-2

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Willie McCovey led off the ninth inning with his 30th homer of the season to tie the game and Hal Lanier singled home Ken Henderson with the winning run moments later Saturday night as the San Francisco Giants rallied from behind to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2.

Bobby Douglass and rookie Linzy Cole had taken the Green Bay secondary a part through most of the game and the Bears had command from the second quarter on after Douglass hit Cole on a 60-yard scoring strike for the game's only touchdown.

HRs Carry Solons To 4-2 Win

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frank Howard and Rich Reichardt slugged back-to-back homers in the seventh inning Saturday night as the Washington Senators defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-2 on Jackie Brown's four-hitter.

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—The Idaho Falls Angels, behind the brilliant three-hit pitching of Chuck Hockenbery, downed the Great Falls Giants, 5-0, here Saturday night.

May Leads Reds Past Phils 5-4

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Lee May drove home five runs with a pair of homers and a one-out 14th inning single which sent Bobby Tolson home with the run that gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday night.

Jets, Without Namath, Fall To Atlanta Falcons By 33-7

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—Rookie Sonny Campbell scored twice and Bob Berry hit on a pair of touchdown passes Saturday night to lead the Atlanta Falcons to a 33-7 rout of the New York Jets, who once again had to go without Joe Namath.

Red Sox Sweep 2-5-3, 11-7

BOSTON (UPI)—Billy Conigliaro's tie-breaking single in the first game and homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Reggie Smith and George Thomas enabled the Boston Red Sox to sweep a day-night doubleheader from Minnesota, 5-3 and 11-7, Saturday and run the Twins' losing string to nine straight.

Nelson Leads Browns Past SF 49ers 17-10

TAMPA, Okla. (UPI)—Bill Nelson heaved scoring strikes to Fair Hooker and Gary Collins Saturday night to lead the Cleveland Browns to a 17-10 victory over the San Francisco 'Forty-Niners in a National Football League exhibition game.

Braves Tip Mets In Wild Game

ATLANTA (UPI)—Catcher Jerry Grote committed a passed ball on Tom Seaver's called third strike to Bob Tillman in the ninth inning and then threw the ball wildly Saturday night to give the Atlanta Braves two runs and a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets.

Braves Tip Mets In Wild Game

Seaver, now 17-7, took a 2-1 lead into the ninth in a bid to become the first 18-game winner in the major leagues. But the Braves quickly loaded the bases when Tony Gonzalez singled, Orlando Cepeda flied out, Rico Carty beat out an infield hit and pinch-hitter Hank Aaron walked.

Walsh Captures Grass Court Win

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif., won the U.S. girls 18-and-under grass court tennis championship for the second straight year Saturday by defeating Eliza Pando of Palo Alto, Calif., 6-4, 7-5.

Walsh Captures Grass Court Win

Miss Walsh, the top seed and the 18-year-old Wimbledon champion, won the first two games of the match and advanced to 5-2 before Miss Pando came up to 4-5.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A school lunch with cookies and potato chips substituting for spinach and carrots? Food scientists disclosed this week they are working on just such a menu. They are being encouraged by the Department of Agriculture, which traditionally has equated nutrition with fresh foods... The scientists, attending the 3rd International Congress of Food Science and Technology, said the school lunch of the future may consist of nutritionally fortified versions of foods that children like... "Spinach for school lunch sounds good," said Dr. G. Robert DiMarco, chairman, Department of Food Science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. "But you should see all the green in the garbage can at the end of the line." DiMarco, appearing with six food industry scientists at a news conference, said the fortified foods will be more nutritious... "We assumed for years that nature's foods were best for us — the God-given foods," he said. "Science has shown us this to be fallacy."... "The concept of government guidance on food nutritional content is as new to the Agriculture Department as it is to industry, the scientists said. Evan F. Binkerd, Armour and Co.'s director of food research, said government grades for meats are based on taste and tenderness criteria, not nutrition... When the Agriculture Department ruled last year that hot dogs must have no more than 30 per cent fat content, Binkerd said, "it was one of the first injections of a nutritional concern" since the department began inspecting meats more than 50 years ago. Nor is the family doctor a seer on the subject, the scientists said. On the average, a medical student gets a grand total of one hour in nutritional training. "The average doctor knows less about nutrition than the average housewife," one scientist said.

There Are Picnics . . .

MEMBER OF AN Aid Association for Lutheran's picnic group was Mrs. Lyle Lierman of Filer.

Women's Section

And Club-Nics . . .

Summer time is picnic time, and regardless of the occasion, there's just something about the out-of-doors that makes food taste a lot better.

Family members from near and far gathered this summer in Twin Falls and surrounding area to enjoy - each others company. Almost without fail, the reunions were held outside where there was plenty of room for all and the smaller fry of the clan could enjoy games.

Countless clubs and organizations also got together to picnic, barbecue or whatever. The casualness of outside dining makes this sort of club meeting one of the funnest of the year.

Tourists stop to picnic in Twin Falls' many parks to enjoy the view of the Twin Falls, Shoshone Falls or just the coolness of the parks in town.

Many families make eating out - outside, that is - a regular thing. Cooking over a charcoal grill in the back yard keeps the house cool for Mom and the amount of dishes to do after a good meal is usually less when the food is served outside. Family groups also take off frequently to the higher sections of Magic Valley - the Sawtooths or the South Hills, to enjoy a day or weekend in the mountains - which of course, always includes eating from a picnic table or off a blanket on the ground.

Women who belong to the Twin Falls Duplicate Bridge Club met regularly this summer at the park at the Twin Falls. They made a real day of it, starting about 9:30 with coffee and breakfast rolls at the park. After playing 27 hands, the lunched from a potluck salad bar, and then returned to their tree-shaded table to play another 27 hands.

For the first time in a number of years the Shrine Club held its picnic here at the Filer fairgrounds. Hosted by the local clubs, it included Shriners and invited guests from Boise, Pocatello, American Falls, Idaho Falls, Nampa, Caldwell, and all the neighboring towns.

The first Sunday in August is marked annually by members of the John Lorain family as the time for the reunion picnic at the fairgrounds. It is always held in Filer, the hometown of the family, and this year some 25 people came from area towns and California to join in family reminiscing and plans.

The Aid Association for Lutherans holds a picnic each year for members of the Clover and Peace Lutheran churches and this is the first year the fairgrounds were selected for their meeting site. All of the officers and many of the members were present for the combined dinner and meeting.

The Filer post of the American Legion and Auxiliary has chosen the fairgrounds for the annual picnic for the last 16 years. Like all the other groups, it is a family picnic and most of the Junior Auxiliary members attend with their parents.

And Card-Nics . . .

MRS. L. M. HALL unpacks part of a salad lunch, on which members of the Twin Falls Duplicate Bridge Club enjoyed twice monthly all summer at the Idaho Power Co. park at the Twin Falls.

EVEN THE DOGS get into the act when the Bridge group meets for play twice monthly at the Twin Falls park. Juliette, a toy poodle, reposes on the lap of her mistress, Mrs. G. B. Peterman.

Terrys to Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. U. N. Terry, residents of Twin Falls since 1927, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday, August 23, at their home on 1879 Alturas Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Terry and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Reynolds are assisting in making arrangements and members of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Valley Christian Church will help during the day. Mr. and Mrs. Terry invite their friends to call during the afternoon from 3 to 7 p. m. and request no gifts.

Ulmor Neal Terry and Maurine Reynolds, after a college romance, were married in the Christian Church, Pullman, Wash., on Aug. 25, 1920, by Rev. H. J. Reynolds, father of the bride. The newlyweds lived for a time on a farm near Rosalia, Wash. In January of 1922, the couple moved to Nezperce, where Terry became high school principal and later superintendent. In 1927, they moved to Twin Falls, and Terry spent seven years as high school principal. In 1934, he resigned to become special agent for the Equitable Life Assurance Society and, in 1940, opened the first district office here, as district manager. In 1961, he retired from management and resumed his contract as a special agent.

Terry has been active in the United Fund, the Civic Auditorium (now the Fine Arts Center at C.S.I.), and the Boy Scouts. He received the Silver Beaver Award in 1965. He recently retired after thirty years of service in the Twin Falls Housing Administration. A new senior citizens project has been named Terry addition in his honor. He just completed two years as Chairman of the Board of Valley Christian Church, and presently is a trustee.

Mr. Terry also has been active in the community. She is a life member of the Soroptimist Club, a charter member of the Twin Falls Federated Music Club, an past member of the Twin Falls Library Board. She was associated with her brother in the Reynolds Funeral Home for five years and then joined her husband in 1945 as secretary and agent for the Terry Insurance Agency. She has been active in local church work and has been on the state board of the Christian Women's Fellowship. Last spring, she completed 55 years in church choir work. She received the Junior Chamber of Commerce Civic Award in 1947, the year after her husband was so honored by that organization.

Out of town guests at the reception will be Mrs. L. E. Reeder, Seattle, Wash., and Lorraine Terry, Spokane, Wash., both Terry's sisters. The couple has one son, Glen R. Terry of Twin Falls. A daughter, Hazel M. Terry, was killed in a car wreck several years ago. The couple also has three granddaughters.

New York Mall Has Appearance of Fair

Women To Woman
By PATRICIA Mc CORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — The mall movement in Manhattan these summer Saturdays gives New Yorkers a chance to pretend they're at a county fair.

Barring cars and opening up streets to pedestrians "has brought out the pamphleteers and hucksters but no apartment and office terraces and roofs so it's just a matter of time before vegetables compete for ribbons. Sauntering up the middle of Fifth Avenue the other Saturday, it was pleasurable to ignore the walk and don't walk signs flashing dutifully as though people still were confined to sidewalks.

I felt free as birds are supposed to be when a friendly parrot fluttered about me, thinking apparently that my blue and green dress was some kind of bush.

It settled on my shoulder. I stood still but defended myself with that polite but nervous cough one produces in tight situations.

He fluttered again and this time elected to perch on my wrist.

By then a crowd circled the two of us. I kept telling the bird he was a nice bird. Everytime I said it, his grip tightened.

Then this man came up on a bicycle, scolded the parrot and coaxed him back to the handlebars.

"He likes to go bike riding but hates crowds," the man said, taking the bird from my limb.

Further up the street a circle of squatters hummed as they strummed guitars and waited for their street picnic to finish cooking over canned heat.

At this point I divested myself of a doggie bag of leftovers from my Chinese lunch, thinking the food must have been what attracted the bird.

Those at the cookout in the middle of Fifth Avenue praised my generosity so much, I'm still able to blush about it.

But the best was yet to come. I was trying to classify the happiest among the mall population — children on bicycles, masters running with their dogs, babies in carriages, persons sitting on curbs — when I stumbled.

What I tripped over was a young man sitting cross-legged on the white line and staring at a twig he held upright on the road.

Undoubtedly he got the prize for greatest concentration that day.

"Do you realize," he said, "trees once grew here. Underneath all this stuff piled on by the mares of civilization, the ground still has the will to support trees."

"I'm hoping to coax trees into growing again on this spot. Think about it."

Who's to argue? Besides, when I got to a street that had cars moving on it, I saw one go by with a bumper sticker that said:

"Chicken Little was right."

I started thinking about that to get my mind off what's going to happen when that young man succeeds in getting trees to grow on Fifth Avenue. The sky falling in, after all, has a higher priority when it comes to thinking. Doesn't it?

Nuptial Vows Repeated by Area Couple

DIETRICH — Deanna Kolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kolman, Dietrich, and Denis Perron, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Perron, Shoshone, were united in marriage recently at the Dietrich LDS Chapel.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Ladru Sorenson. Families of the couple attended the wedding. A reception followed at the Dietrich Grange.

The bride's gown, made by her mother, was a full length, white satin A-line empire with long sleeves, and an overlay of lace that opened down the front. Her white lace floor length train was attached to the shoulders. Her shoulder length veil was held by a satin band. She carried a bouquet of white carnations accented with pink.

Maid of honor was Betty Sage, friend of the bride. Gary Freeman, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Shella Sorenson was in charge of the gift table and was assisted by Christie Arrington and Francis Kolman, sister of the bride. Mary Ann Sage was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with pink and white decorated crepe paper.

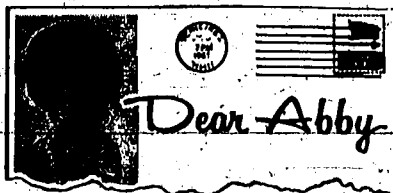

The three tiered cake with roses swirling down the sides and topped with a flowered center piece was made by Mrs. Anna Boulton, Gooding.

Serving cake and punch were Mrs. Norman Ridinger and Mrs. Bob Sage, and Mrs. Wayne Perron, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Out of town guests were the bridegroom's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Perron and daughter, Phoenix, Ariz. - Friends and relatives attended from Shoshone, Richfield Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Eden, Ketchum and Boise.

Society Picnics

RICHFIELD — A group of 40 mothers and daughters attended the Relief Society outing at the Shoshone park this week. Mrs. C. A. Johnson, a Mathews Nursing Home resident from Richfield, was a special member who attended. Mrs. Mark Jaynes, unit president, was in charge of arrangements.

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I'm in love with a guy who treats me like dirt. The worse he treats me, the more I love him. I've walked away from him a hundred times, vowing never to see him again, but I always call him up and ask him to forgive me for blowing my stack, when he's the one who should apologize to me. I'm a good looking girl with a good figure, and could have lots of men who would treat me a lot better, but I always go back to this guy who gives me nothing but heartaches. I am 28 and he is 29 and this has been going on for nearly 3 years. How can I kill a love that is killing me?
CARMEN

DEAR CARMEN: What you call "love" is a physical attraction, passion and a compulsion to punish yourself—all tightly bound together. Unless you want a life of misery, walk out for good next time he has it coming. And pray for the strength to never again "love" a man you cannot like.

DEAR ABBY: What does a wife do about a husband who never writes to his mother? She is an ailing widow, and if I didn't write to her, she'd never hear from him. This goes for acknowledging her Christmas gifts, birthday gifts, etc. Naturally, I'm the one who buys and sends all our gifts to her. This has gone on ever since we were married—20 years ago!

I honestly didn't give it too much thought until recently when I realized from her letters how hurt she'd been.

We live a long distance from her. Over the years I've begged him to write a personal note to his mother, but he's always had a dozen excuses and my pleas have been ignored. My husband says it's a wife's "duty" to take care of the letters and gifts. What do you say?
HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Attention to Mother—the results of prodding affords as much pleasure as the sincere and spontaneous kind—if the prodding doesn't show, that is. It's sad when a wife must beg her husband to show his mother a little consideration, but if that's the only way to accomplish it, better that way than not at all.

DEAR ABBY: Our church attendance is made miserable by selfish stobs who bring crying and talking babies to church services. Abby, there is a nursery for little ones right in the church, so there is no excuse for this sort of thing. The sermon cannot be heard at times, and even when it can, the outbursts are distracting. Our minister seems impervious, but we are annoyed. How do you feel about this, and what do you suggest?
AUBURN, N. Y.

DEAR AUBURN: Short of telling the offending "selfish stobs" directly, there is nothing you can do. I suppose some parents bring their little ones to services "praying" they'll behave, but I do believe if a child makes even one annoying sound, he should be removed from the audience for the duration of the service.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EMBARRASSED" IN TULSA: Don't be. Don't go into debt for a shower wedding than you can afford. It's usually the girls who marry the little drips who insist on the biggest splash.

DIANA HOPPERSTAD of Twin Falls, who served as Miss Idaho of 1969, is again all-entertaining the troops under the sponsorship of a USO show put together by Eugene Jolesnik of Salt Lake City. The USO troop is touring the Southern European area from Spain to Greece and into Germany during a 10-week schedule. Miss Hopperstad is a versatile performer who has toured with Jolesnik before. She sings, plays the drums and guitar. The group will be returning to the states in late September.

Pottery Plant Toured

FILED — A tour of the Snake River Pottery Plant at Hagerman highlighted the August meeting of the Syringa Home Extension Club. Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Bowler conducted the tour and demonstrated the making of pottery in their shop. The group held a picnic at Hagerman Park following the tour. There will be no other August meeting for the club. Mrs. Joe Kreppek and Mrs. Lorenzo Haley will host the Sept. 15 meeting. Guests were Mrs. Dale Has of Guam and Theresa and Geraldine Assendrup.

IN THE LYNNWOOD

THESE THREE STYLES, part of the James Galanos collection shown recently in New York City, caused a stir on the fashion scene, but not nearly so much so as makeup worn by the models—who sported lipstick around the eyes. At left is a pantsuit and great coat; center, a swirl skirt made of many panels not sewn together, and right, a plaid pantsuit.

What's Next Is Lipstick at Eyes

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI). — The newest place to put lipstick: around the eyes.

Models in the James Galanos Collection for fall and winter sported the red-eyed look Monday in New York. The lipstick filled in the space below eyebrow and the space below where circles and bags form.

For daytime, the vibrant red on the extra places on the face brightened the parade of mostly drab-colored midi dresses, jumpsuits and great coats. These dresses and pantsuits had wrist-length sleeves, were neckline high and man-tailored. Some of the midi-skirts grazed the ankle bone.

They were done in flat wool, tweeds and crepes, the drabness relieved occasionally by skirts that were slit to mini-length fore or aft or swirl skirts made of many panels not stitched together.

The fabrics were so heavy that some dresses were shown with sleeveless coats.

Though the daytime fashions from the curly-haired and petite giant of American fashion from the West Coast were maxi-cover, they had body-accenting in the proper places.

Femininity further was accentuated by long scarves bow-tied in the front and with streamers trailing to the hemline or belted waist. Glitter came via huge gold crosses swinging on waist-length gold chains.

The daytime clothes were worn with cloches, usually in matching black or grey. Black shoes and black stockings, the bulky-knit kind frequently, completed the look.

The red eyes for evening came paired with coiffures by Michel Kazan. The hair was pulled up and the top knot featured swirls of hair, shaped into huge "O" shapes.

For evening the clothes were clingy at their prettiest, and done in metallic, looking prints and embroideries that looked like all the gold at Ft. Knox in a mirror. They shimmered.

Prettiest was a group of layered dresses done in a fragile lace that looked as delicate as a spider's web.

The Galanos prices start at $369.75 and go to around $900 wholesale. Retail, the price is about double.

It's a Nice Place to Visit, But . . .

Woman To Woman
By PATRICIA McCORMACK
HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI) — The only words fit for a postcard sent by a working mother spending her vacation at home go like this:

"It's a nice place to visit but I wouldn't want to live here."

I've just come off one such vacation and the worst part is realizing nothing happened about the resolve to catch up on the thorough housecleaning started in 1967.

Though I was a no-show with the elbow grease, the same can't be said for my attention to tennis, golf, cycling, swimming, baseball, walking the dog and clocking 1,200 miles behind the steering wheel.

The latter feat becomes astonishing when you consider that I never left town. The longest trip was seven miles driving this hitch as a full-time driver for offspring in a town that has no public transportation.

These short hops to typing, violin, tennis, life-saving and other lessons heightened by appreciation of moms who serve their time behind the wheel around the calendar, making up to 10 short trips each day!

The undisputed low point of my vacation at home came when the bicycle I was peddling went pow. Resultant flat tire was caused by a blow-out, man at the repair shop said.

My spasms on the tennis court produced another kind of low. I slipped and landed on my best padded part, rolled and came to a stop in a formation that only could have resembled a Z with an X over it.

Performance at baseball completed my qualifications for admission to the dunce at all sports society.

A middle-aged woman, even if she is a mother, can't compete with 13-year-olds. The kids described my good pitches as lousy. The other ones they called worse.

The dog, sensing something was up since I was around the house all the time, demanded his share of attention by acting listless one day. This standard poodle, the vet said, needed two shots. That killed $27 and the best part of a day. And most of the next day. I had to take him back to have his teeth cleaned.

This was worth-all-sorts-of new information and a bit of financial shock. Dog needed anesthesia and that cost $15, less than half the final bill. This dog had a hangover from the sleeping gas.

I know the humane society won't approve but we acted as if we had laughing gas as we watched him struggling about the premises the next 24 hours. The gait was zig-zaggy.

One practical suggestion discovered during this vacation at home: Put a tent in the front or backyard and sleep out with the kids who feel their vacation is unexciting. All the fun of camping and none of the short-circuits to the nervous system for traffic jams.

This gives you plus points with the kids. You get minus points from the neighbors who see you at dawn, clad in a nightgown bedroll on shoulder and knocking on your own front door because you forgot the key.

Broken Candles Can Be Repaired

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Carol wanted to know how to mend a broken candle to use again. I am a candle "bug" and like candles of all kinds. To mend a broken one, I light another candle (a stub will do) and let the melted wax fall on the broken crack, spread it a little to let the warm wax in so it holds good, then put a decorative ring of wax on the outside to hold it tight. If you are using a pair together, put a ring around the other candle so they match.—MRS. J. V. H.

DEAR POLLY—Whenever I hang wallpaper I also nail a strip of the paper up in the attic. If a patch is ever needed the paper in the attic will have faded to the same degree so it will match that on the wall perfectly.—CAROLINE

Common Plants Can Be Harmful to Man

When preparing your family's next crisp, green summer salad, don't toss in any of those pretty rhubarb leaves. They're poisonous, and many people have died from eating them.

Although a small number of harmless, its leaf is an example of hundreds of plants common to home, garden, and field known to be poisonous to man. However, most of the 13,000 persons stricken by plant poisoning last year did not know that the plants they had eaten were upsetting, let alone fatal.

According to an article, "Touch, but don't eat", in the August issue of Family Health magazine, this is not surprising. Even professional gardeners are not aware that there is danger in the taste of the wisteria, poinsettia, and the rhododendron; or do they know that eating sufficient amounts of mistletoe can cause death, says Family Health.

All poisonous plants are not exotic; many of them are quite common and near at hand, warns Family Health. For example, acorns can harm the kidneys, and the pretty lily-of-the-valley is violently toxic if ingested. Hazardous house plants include the bulbs of hyacinth, daffodil, glory lily, and the amaryllis.

Complicating the poison problem is the fact that many dangerous wild plants resemble those cultivated in the garden. Water hemlock is often mistaken for parsnip. And the death-dealing wild cherry looks like the harmless domestic variety one buys at the corner fruit stand.

Astonishing as it may sound, even eating certain parts of everyday fruits and vegetables may be disastrous, Family Health warns. An apple, a day may keep the doctor away, but not if you eat its seeds. Apple seeds in large quantity are potentially dangerous; so are peach leaves.

The tomato and potato are harmless, but eating the foliage and vines of both can cause violent digestive upset such as stomach pain, vomiting, diarrhea, muscle weakness and sometimes death.

In addition, the juices of some plants can be harmful to susceptible individuals. Flowers of wisteria, magnolia, and wild cherry can bring on headache and a sense of depression. And strangely enough, the honey from some flowers is also poisonous. These include the lily-of-the-valley, mountain laurel, the azalea and the rhododendron.

The greatest betrayer is the wild mushroom, reports Family Health. It is responsible for approximately half the annual deaths from plant poisoning. Few people can distinguish a poisonous variety from an edible one.

Plant-poisoning symptoms range from a deep sleep to a plain headache, vomiting, or convulsion. However, avoid all guesswork and call a doctor immediately. If a physician cannot be reached, then phone the Poison Control Center. Remember to keep the whole plant so that the type of poison can be identified.

Above all, do not attempt to use home remedies, Family Health advises. The toxic properties of poisonous plants result from different organic compounds, such as alkaloids, glucosides, resinoids, or acids, and the antidotes may be as dangerous as the poisons themselves when administered by an unskilled person.

POLLY'S POINTERS

More Excellent Ideas On Managing Household

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Please ask the readers if they have discovered anything that can be done with discarded wigs—maybe someone knows something to do with wigs.—MRS. J. K.

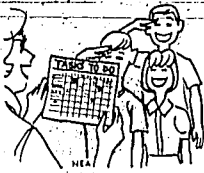

DEAR READERS—Thank you for so many excellent suggestions for "Unsigned," who has trouble managing her household. Having previously published some with general suggestions, we are now including a couple with specific schedules that readers have found workable.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY and Unsigned—I have seven children from eight months to 10 years and know that co-operation is the answer. Each of the four eldest is responsible for making his or her own bed and keeping the room picked up daily. My schedule is as follows: Monday—Wash clothes and do general cleaning, that is, vacuum and dust. Tuesday—Ironing and mending and on this day only. Wednesday is my free day. Thursday—Change all beds and wash. Friday—General cleaning and shopping. Saturday—Shampoo and get the children's hair in the morning and have the afternoon free.

These chores are usually completed by noon and I have the afternoon for baking, sewing, reading or any church or civic project in which I am involved. I NEVER do housework in the evenings. Each child must realize that this home is THEIR responsibility, too. During summer vacation, each has two chores a day to do on a rotating basis. These are things like setting and cleaning off the table, sweeping, folding clean clothes, carrying out garbage, etc.—MARY ANNE

DEAR GIRLS—Mrs. B. R. has seven children ages six through 12, and she, too, has a rotating year-round schedule of tasks for her children. These are posted on a calendar like, blocked-off chart, where each child's duties for each day in a week are shown clearly. There is a lack of monotony in changing.

D. M. also dwells on the point of co-operation. Not only does she see that her children but also dad does his bit. "AND, I might add, that if they don't, they will be minus one mom. I hold down a full-time job outside the home and my children and my husband all pitch in and help. Before leaving for work each morning, everything is picked up, the dishes done and the beds made. All it takes is insistence and discipline. Do get out the belt, mom, and get busy or else—DO NOTHING. Go out shopping, get a new hairdo, let everyone go without clean or ironed clothes. Go on strike until everyone gets the idea. Believe me, one sit-down of about two weeks works wonders." Do hope these letters give "Unsigned" a real boost.—POLLY

BETTY CANARY

With a Heigh-ho, A-shopping We Go

By BETTY CANARY

My son needed a new bathing suit to finish off the season. I decided to go to the shopping center on the off chance of finding one that had been forgotten when they cleared the shelves for sweaters and corduroy coats. They told me to come back in January. It wasn't a completely wasted trip because I bought him some underwear for school.

I usually shop by telephone for staples such as underwear and navy blue cardigan sweaters. First, because it saves time. Second, it saves money. (One passes few ice cream stores on the way to my mall telephone.) Third, it saves wear and tear on the nerves. Not just my nerves, but the children's nerves. If you've never held onto a boy in a store while checking the size label of his underwear, then I don't expect you to understand this.

I have long suspected there are people who actually enjoy shopping. I suspect there are even people who say, "Heigh-ho, I'm off to look for a swimsuit," and that's the end of it. They get into cars and go. As a matter of fact I once knew a woman who SAID "Heigh-ho, etc." But apart from that, and rather close-set eyes, there wasn't a thing wrong with her.

At our house, nothing is ever quite so simple. When I announce an impending trip to the shopping center, everyone in the family, and sometimes utter strangers, rush up with lists of items I am to pick up for them.

None of these lists are organized so that I can quickly sort through them and decide to go first to the drugstore, then the department store, then, hopefully, to the jewelry shop and the book stall before dropping down lap-laden and splayfooted at the lunch counter. Invariably I get half the purchases and then retrace my steps in order to finish off the lists. I'm not complaining about this. If I ever decide to try for the Olympic cross-country team, I'll be ready.

I'm not really complaining about doing shopping for others either. It saves me lots of money I would otherwise have spent on bathing suits or winter boots or whatever was in season when I left the house. Obviously, by the time I have plodded through stores looking for egg whisks and hairbrushes and model glue and pence posters, I'm too tired and have no time left for my shopping.

If my shopping is an absolute necessity, then I take the children along. I give each a list and we plan to rendezvous at a certain place. By the time they have completed their lists, as well as spending hours taking photographs of themselves and investing the last of their savings in gumball machines and headwriting analysis booths, I have usually finished.

Then all we have to do is find the car. If I've been lucky, I've parked it in a close-in slot and we walk only a mile further than the distance to our home.

TWIN FALLS - Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Orr, 1220 Holly Drive, Twin Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Anne, to John L. Stolz, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John J. Stolz, Colorado Springs, Colo. Miss Orr is a 1966 graduate of Alamogordo High School, New Mexico, and attended the College of Southern Idaho where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa honorary. She also attended the University of New Mexico and is an honor graduate of Southeastern State College, Okla., where she received her B. S. Degree in home economics education. She was a member of Sigma Kappa social sorority and Kappa Delta Phi, honorary. She attended Texas Women's University in Denton on a graduate assistantship in clothing and fashion merchandising.

Stolz is a 1965 graduate of Alamogordo High School and attended the University of New Mexico. He is completing his degree by correspondence from the University of Colorado. He presently is in the submarine force of the United States Navy. Plans are being made for a September 12 wedding at the Twin Falls Episcopal Church of the Ascension.

1969-70 Projects
Of Welcome Wagon
Club Completed

TWIN FALLS - The Welcome Wagon Club of Twin Falls completed its year with three community projects which included donations to the Happy Day School, Harbor House and the Friends of the Library Auxiliary. A slide projector which will be used for showing pictures to children at Happy Day School, also was presented for a two-fold purpose. The machine will be used in lectures before civic groups to help make the public aware of the needs of retarded children like those attending Happy Day School. An eight piece set of stainless steel tableware also was given to the school. This will be used by instructors in teaching the children correct ways to use silverware. Money also was given to the school to help children attend camp September 7 through 11. Additional helps needed at the school and anyone who is interested in help should contact Mrs. Gladys Coxen at 733-8175.

A project which will be continued through the coming year is the providing of clothes for children of all ages at Harbor House. A two-seat glider and a lawn chair also have been presented by the club to the local facility. A check for $50 was given to the Friends of the Library Auxiliary. The auxiliary encourages donations from other groups and uses them where they can best be suited in the library operation. A new aerosol shaving cream combines the luxury of hot lather with the cool fragrance of menthol. Hay Fever Can be Caused by Animals

If you're sneezing more and sleeping less, you may be a victim of hay fever.

According to a physician on the staff of the University of Philadelphia Medical School, the distressing symptoms of hay fever, which often resemble those of a cold, can affect a person's general health. Loss of appetite and sleep, inflammation of eyes, ears, sinuses, throat or bronchial tubes may occur. The victim is advised to see a doctor.

Medications to relieve the symptoms include eye or nose drops, sprays or pills. (A decongestant nasal spray combined with an antihistamine such as NTZ Nasal Spray is often recommended to relieve the itching, sneezing and nasal stuffiness.) Many different medications may have to be tried before doctor and patient discover the right one.

The Philadelphia physician suggests that hay fever attacks may be caused completely by the "biter" of a patient's cat or dog. Unfortunately, the only remedy then, is to find another RICHFIELD — Mrs. Max Behr conducted a review of several lessons when the Richfield WSCS met for a luncheon meeting at the Methodist Church recreation rooms this week. Mrs. S.C. Peterson, Mrs. Joe Seward, and Mrs. Albert Pelley assisted.

A song number was given by Tom, Jamie, and Terri Peterson, with Mrs. C.M. Pridmore as piano accompanist.

A welcome-back dinner was planned for the church pastor, Rev. Hardy Thompson, who has been reassigned to the Richfield, and Shoshone churches. The evening dinner will be Sunday, Sept. 13, at the church recreation rooms with each family bringing food for the no-host event.

The year's program will start with the Sept. 6 meeting with place to be announced. Mrs. Eugene Alexander is chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Myrtle Riley and Mrs. Pelley are other members.

Women to March for Minis

BOISE (UPI) — "Whim," Women Happy in Minis, is a new organization in Boise, which planned Tuesday to hold a march on the city to push for continued manufacture of mini-skirts.

Group leaders, Mrs. Mary Pyle, Mrs. Margaret Gilmore, and Mrs. Hazel Stewart, all Boise, said they heard an NBC news report three weeks ago that clothing manufacturers would discontinue making the short-short skirts.

Mrs. Pyle said women would be discriminated against if they were not allowed to have a selection of different styles to purchase.

She said a "Mini-March" in Boise will be conducted Sept. 12, 10:30 a.m., starting at 12th and Main streets. She said the effort would hopefully launch a boycott of all merchants for the week Sept. 12-19. She said the object is to impress upon clothes buyers they are the only link women have with the manufacturers.

She said the 100 women in the group do not blame the stores, but those establishments are the only connection women have with stylemakers.

Hints on Spicing School Lunch Boxes Come from Test Kitchens

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some new ideas for the school lunch box set take advantage of children's fondness for pizza, spaghetti with tomato sauce and chili con carne.

The following suggestions and recipes are from test kitchens of the American Spice Trade Assn., The Quaker Oat Co. and the Tuna Research Foundation, representing American tuna canners.

—Add a pinch of Italian seasoning and a dash of onion powder to egg salad for sandwiches.

—Add ½ teaspoon of Italian seasoning and a dash of either onion powder or garlic powder to 1 can of condensed green pea soup; dilute with 1 soup can of milk for extra protein, and heat to serving temperature before pouring into a vacuum-bottle preheated with hot water.

—Stir ½ teaspoon of chili powder into 1 can of condensed vegetable soup; add 1 soup can of either water or milk before heating it.

—Make 1 can of condensed cream of tomato soup into pizza soup; add 1 soup can of water, ½ teaspoon of crumbled basil leaves and dash of black pepper. Heat and pack in a vacuum bottle. Tuck a packet of grated parmesan or cheddar cheese in the lunch box or bag to sprinkle on the soup at mealtime.

—Make cheese-filled meat rolls in the morning and refrigerate them, covered, to serve as an after school snack. Beat softened cream cheese until fluffy with freezer dried onions and powdered mustard. Spread on bologna or ham slices and roll tightly.

Another high-protein snack consists of hard-cooked eggs, halved and spread with mayonnaise spiced to taste with Italian seasoning and onion or garlic powder.

—Give chicken salad sandwich filling the flavor of baked, stuffed chicken—blend in ¼ teaspoon of poultry seasoning and onion or garlic powder to taste.

—Make a cold version of a grilled cheese and bacon sandwich. Mix 1 cup of grated American cheese with enough cream to make it spread easily. Blend in ¼ teaspoon of ginger, a dash of black pepper and crumbled crisp bacon bits or imitation bacon bits sold in spice departments.

—Bake blueberry oatmeal muffins for breakfast and after school snacks. Sift together 1 cup of sifted all-purpose flour, 1-3 cup of sugar, 1 tablespoon of baking powder and ½ teaspoon each of salt and cinnamon. Stir in 1 cup of oats, quick or soft-fashioned, uncooked. Add 1 beaten egg, 1 cup of milk and 3 teaspoons of vegetable oil. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in ½ cup of blueberries, fresh, frozen or canned, drained. Fill greased muffin cup 2-3 full; sprinkle tops with sugar. Bake about 20 minutes in preheated 425-degree oven. Make 12.

—For a sweet treat after school, serve ice cream in cones made with peanut butter, puffed rice and marshmallows.

Heat 5 cups of puffed rice in preheated 350-degree oven about 10 minutes. Pour into greased large bowl. Melt together 1-3 cup of butter or margarine, ½ cup of peanut butter and 3 cups of miniature marshmallows. Pour over puffed rice, stirring until evenly coated. With greased hands, press mixture onto bottom and sides of 12 greased custard cups. Chill. Using spatula, gently remove cones from cups. The cones can be prepared a few hours ahead of time and stored in freezer on cookie sheet. Eat with scoops of ice cream. Makes 12 cones.

—Tuna loaf was designed as a hot main dish to be served with tomato or tomato cheese sauce. Cold leftovers make a good sandwich filling, accompanied by pickles, pickle relish, tomato wedges or cherry tomatoes. Beat 2 eggs in a

Sack 'Sortment

Sack lunches are "in" when the weather warms. Sandwiches are a natural for the sack since they are both convenient to handle and nutritious. Slice of pork loin roast and Mozzarella cheese make a tasty filling. Halved frankfurters with mustard provide an always-welcome sandwich. Meat loaf, moistened with catsup, bacon and tomato and chopped ham with pickle relish are other lunchtime large mixing bowl. Add 1 (10½-ounce) can of condensed cream of vegetable soup, 1 teaspoon of onion powder, 1 tablespoon of dried parsley flakes, ¾ teaspoon of salt, ½ teaspoon of dry mustard and 1 cup of fine dry bread crumbs. Blend well.

Add 3 (6½- or 7-ounce) cans of tuna in vegetable oil, finely flaked. Spoon into a greased 8-by-4-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 40-45 minutes, or until loaf is firm in center. Let stand five minutes after removing loaf from oven. Loosen from sides with a knife blade, invert and place loaf right side up on platter. Makes 6-8 main-dish servings or about 32 quarter-inch slices if cut when cold.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In the fall, when mothers may find their own clothes a confusion, with more and more different looks, back-to-school styles make their selection a delight, with classic designs in earthy, clean colors that spell pure fashion fun.

Little girls will continue to wear crisp, plaid, A-line dresses that give a graceful shape to pint-sized figures. These are often sparked with the shine of crinkled patent used as an applique. Yet they are washable and wearable to save mother time and money, too. The long-torso silhouette is another that has, risen to the top of the class; sometimes styled above the neckline with a matching or a bevy of box or crystal pleats.

The casual or sporty in- (faded) may be seen in dresses that come with matching vests in a newsway denim knit. Others have long necklines in matching or contrasting fabrics. And there's enough fringe around on little yokes and ties to make a cowboy wonder what the West has come to.

When school lets out, the girls will all want to wear poncho designs that are the current rage. One, in a Burlington Woollens thread, is worn over a turtleneck sweater and has coordnated, slightly flared pants. Another, in a Scandinavian patterned knit, is styled with a collar and worn with solid ribbed pants.

There's plenty of well-tailored excitement in boys' wear, too. Dad's influence may be seen in an Edward-lark styled, double-breasted coat in wool or a snappy trenchcoat trimmed with grommets for junior detectives trying to solve a mathematical equation.

When the weather gets colder, little men will wiggle into cardigan sweaters or turtlenecks tucked into boldly plaided slacks or Erwin striped denims.

Then it's off to recess, where fashion takes a back seat to some good old-fashioned play.

It Takes a Lot of Pull to String New Power Lines These Days

HOOKED UP, THE massive takeup drums await the order to begin pulling in the rope which will automatically string the hunky transmission line in the South Park area south of Twin Falls. The "arms" on the power poles in the background are actually rubber insulators to prevent shorts between the new line, which is not energized, and existing power lines.

THERE'S A MILE of rope extending out from these powered drums — with a mile of heavy transmission line capable of sending 12,500 volts of "juice" a considerable distance hooked to the rope. A lineman for Idaho Power watches closely as the drum hauls in the combination of rope and line. (Times-News Photos by Lee Tremaine)

THE "CHERRY-PICKER" bucket speeds aerial acrobatics for power linemen. This lineman swooped up to untangle a rope that had slipped off the drum and wound itself around the power pole. Whereas a pole-climber would have been considerably hampered by being held to the pole, this lineman has complete mobility over a sizeable area around the pole.

AT THE OTHER end of the mile-long project, wire from the 4,900-foot supply reel is fed through a "tensiometer" device to produce a constant tension over the entire length of wire. Each reel of wire weighs nearly a ton, and linemen are kept busy jockeying the reels as the wire is fed through the pulleys and onto the poles.

Demand for Power Increases

It takes a lot of "pull" to string power lines these days. Idaho Power Co. crews are demonstrating this fact this week in stringing a four-wire 12,500-volt transmission line from the new South Park substation along South Park Avenue West to bring more current to the expanding business concerns in the area southwest of Twin Falls.

thick, heavy wire by hand to each pole, according to Idaho Power linemen.

Each of the four lines had to be spliced during the process, however, as each large reel of line carried just under a mile of wire — about 4,900 feet. Linemen were able to splice the line at the reel instead of high in the air, with the use of the new technique.

Fund for Chapel Started

TWIN FALLS — Local agencies and individuals have been asked to assist in a campaign for building the All Faiths Chapel at the Idaho State School and Hospital in Nampa. "Honor a child, send a dollar," is the appeal of the project. Officials at Idaho State School and Hospital say the chapel would provide a greater facility for the children who are now using the gymnasium for church services.

Persons wishing to make a donation in honor of a specific child may send the name of the child and the name and address of the donor to: All Faiths Chapel Building Fund, Box 47, Nampa, Idaho, 83651.

WEST GERMAN CHANCELLOR Willy Brandt and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin signed a treaty of nonaggression last week, a pact that also pledged German acceptance of national boundaries in Europe for the first time since World War II. West Germany gave up all claims to that portion of German territory ceded to Poland after World War II. The 40,000 square miles now forms Poland's western frontier and is marked by the Oder-Neisse line. (UPI)

Germany Soothes West After Pact With Russia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Having achieved a pact with the Soviet Union that could have a profound effect on the future of Europe, West German Chancellor Willy Brandt now seeks to reassure the United States, Britain and France in a summit meeting that his alliance with the West remains as firm as ever.

All three have given their support to Brandt in his self-appointed and delicate task of applying a healing balm to 25-year-old World War II wounds, but it has not been without a certain trepidation.

The pact to which Brandt affixed his signature in Moscow was the 10th to be reached between the Russians and an independent German state in the last 100 years. The term independent is used here to differentiate between the Communist East German state which was set up by Moscow and the West German Republic whose capital is at Bonn.

The latest pact kept open the possibility of German reunification. As France prepares ceremonies commemorating the centenary of the Franco-Prussian War which saw Germany accomplish her unit and preponderance in Europe at the expense of a defeated imperial France, it is easy to see why the French got cold shivers at the very thought of a reunited Germany.

The United States also looked upon the Soviet-West German negotiations with some misgivings, mostly out of fear that in Brandt's anxiety to reach agreement he might give too much away.

All of the Allies warned the West Germans that previous treaties prohibited any formal agreement on frontiers until after a peace treaty is signed with a united Germany.

The circumstances of today find Germany and France firmly linked though, first, the European coal and steel community designed to make war between them impossible and then the six-nation European Common Market.

The Soviet Union is preoccupied by the danger from Red China and is anxious to preserve the status quo in Europe. It seeks West German know-how and financial help.

Sure Moon's not Green Cheese?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Apollo lunar landings provided fairly convincing evidence that the moon is not made of green or any other color or kind of cheese.

But all the evidence is not yet in and won't be until after additional Apollo visits planned by the National Aeronautics Administration (NASA).

So it may be too early to assert dogmatically that the 16th century rumor about the cheese-like nature of moon matter entirely was false.

'Startling' Results

In a recent issue of Science magazine, Edward Schreiber and Orson L. Anderson of the Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory, Palisades, N.Y., addressed themselves to this issue.

"They didn't come right out and say the moon is made of cheese. But they did suggest, supporting their arguments with a table, a chart, and 14 references and notes, that it behaves in a decidedly cheesy manner."

One of the ways of analyzing rocks is to observe the velocity of sound waves passing through them. In looking over results of moon sample studies, Schreiber and Anderson made a "startling" discovery.

Cheesy Analysis
The velocity of sound through moon rocks is roughly only a third that in rocks of the earth. So they made a search of earthly materials yielding similar sound velocities.

These materials turned out to be an assortment of Swiss, Norwegian, Italian, Vermont, and Wisconsin cheeses. The scientists emphasized that they chose for comparison purposes materials representing "a broad geographic distribution in order to preclude any bias that might be introduced by regional sampling."

The green cheese hypothesis is variously credited to the Dutch scholar Desiderius Erasmus (1467-1536), the English author John Heywood (1490-1580), and a fellow named John Frith who mentioned the matter in 1559.

Costly
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., says the Defense Department has put up to $12.25 for a six-foot length of clothelino.

White said the line was used as a firing lanyard for Nike missiles, and had a catch at one end, four tiny red cotton flags and an aluminum handle. He said he could have made one like it for $1.75, "including my labor and a few simple items from a hardware store."

Old Hypotheses Are Best
Schreiber and Anderson didn't go into the question of why nobody is sure of just when Erasmus and Heywood were born or who John Frith was. But they did not knock the notion these geists severally noted.

Schreiber and Anderson said their late 20th century findings make them "suspect" that perhaps the old hypotheses are best, after all, and should not be lightly discarded.

There were one or two small discrepancies between the lunar rock and earthly cheese sound velocity results. But they did not worry Schreiber and Anderson.

Reith Got More Value from Hand

Gift by modern standards and he was rather disappointed at what he found in dummy. It looked as if he would have to lose a trump and a club.

Then George found a way to make one loser disappear against Reith's suit breaks. Instead of discarding a club on the ace of spades, George played low from dummy and ruffed in his own hand. Then he cashed the ace of hearts and ace and king of diamonds.

Now he entered dummy with the king of trumps and played that ace of spades. Once more, he didn't discard a losing club. He tossed away his queen of diamonds.

Then he played the jack of diamonds and threw away a club. Since no one ruffed that, he continued with his 10 of diamonds to discard his last club loser and conceded a trick to the remaining trump.

PASS IT ON
by L.M. Boyd

HEAT AND LIGHT - You're brightest mentally at that time of day when your body temperature is highest. Such has been often reported. Now a Chicago medical researcher contends you can use this scientific fact to great advantage. When you want to figure out some tricky trouble, advise him, take a hot bath, the hotter the better. Interesting. Intend to try that. Fairly soon.

SECRET AMBITION of every tall girl, it's said, is to get a goodnight kiss from a man she can look up to. "THOSE MEN for whom women is the main interest in life," contends Theodor Reik, "are tall and very masculine." WHY DO WE say "mad as a wet hen"? Chicken experts claim hens like to get wet. Particularly on hot days.

OPEN QUESTION - Which does a baseball fly farther and faster through - dry air or humid air?

LOVE AND WAR - "How can a girl tell whether a man she's dating starts to fall in love with her?" inquires a feminine subscriber. Our Love and War man says that's not too difficult. If the old boy starts telling her all about himself, he's going under. A girl who observes the foregoing symptoms, adds our L. and W. man, should listen attentively as long as possible without interruption, without cutting off the oxygen, without relieving the pressure, then more than think it over when she's alone. To interrupt a man in this condition, he says, is like too swiftly raising a scuba diver. Such a fellow can get the emotional bends.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - () "Where'd we find the word 'donnybrook' to mean a fight?" A Sir, there's a town in Ireland called Donnybrook wherein the gentlemen admit they drink a little and scrap some. Lately, however, that sort of barroom brawl has come to be known as a John Ford... O. "How long have we been using computers?" A First one was marketed in 1951. Big songs that year were "Cry," "Kisses Sweeter Than Wine" and "Too Young." Recall?

CONSIDER THIS - As to that matter of whether an infant should be wrapped tightly or loosely, a Montana lady writes: "Depends upon the age of the infant. The very young feels more secure wrapped tightly. He kicks as he kicked in his mother's womb. But later the child wants freedom. After bearing seven sons, I find this transition takes place between the second and the third month."

PHILOSOPHY I - It was the contention of that philosophical fellow named Schopenhauer that men with long noses prefer girls with short noses. The old opposites-attract trick. It has been discredited. Somewhat.

FROM O'NEAL

AHA — YOU SEE? THE BATTLE OF BENNINGTON WAS FOUGHT ON THIS DAY IN 1777. IT WAS AN ENGAGEMENT THAT HAD FAR-REACHING RESULTS FOR THE REMAINDER OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

OH — WHAT HAPPENED?

WELL, BRIEFLY --- THE MILITIA, UNDER GENERAL STARK, ALMOST ANNIHILATED THE BRITISH FORCE WHICH SOUGHT TO CAPTURE AN IMPORTANT AMERICAN SUPPLY DEPOT NEAR BENNINGTON, VERMONT. THIS WAS ONE OF THE PRINCIPLE CAUSES OF GENERAL BURGONYNE'S DEFEAT AND SURRENDER.

I DON'T GET IT, DAD...

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY--A great timesaver when sewing is to have the measuring tape right at hand. Sew it across the bottom of your sewing apron. Just lift the bottom edge of the apron and check the measurements of anything you may be working on. Such aprons are nice to make for a boss or to give as shower gifts.--BRENDA

ADDED A COUPLE FEET TO YOUR GIRTH LATELY, I SEE

DEAR POLLY--To display a few flowers to good advantage, use an old-fashioned croset set. I have an antique one with glass containers in a silver rack and it is great for this. A very charming bouquet can be made with only a few roses, etc., and pansies show off especially well in it.--H. B. K.

DEAR POLLY--The picture holders in billfolds make nice places to carry samples of material or paint colors when shopping.--CHERYL

MY BILLFOLD HAS PLENTY OF ROOM FOR SAMPLES

Ask Them Yourself

FOR DAVID KENNEDY, Secretary of the Treasury

How do you determine the denomination of paper currency burned beyond recognition? Does the Treasury refund the money?—John E. Hansen, Racine, Wis.

● No refund is made for currency which has been burned beyond recognition because positive identification as to denomination must be made before it can be replaced. If fragments which lend themselves to identification are submitted, then payment may be made in accordance with the Treasury Department regulations.

FOR REX REED, writer and movie critic

What do you think was the best movie of 1969, and whom do you consider to have been the best actor and actress?—L. Fitzsimmons, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● A miracle happened this year when the best actress of the year actually won an Oscar. Maggie Smith gave the finest performance of the year in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." Unfortunately, I considered Peter O'Toole the best actor for "Good-bye, Mr. Chips," and Luciano Visconti's masterpiece, "The Damned," the best picture of 1969. Neither of them won anything at all.

FOR RANDY HUNDLEY, Chicago Cubs

When you go out to the pitcher's mound to catch a pitcher, what do you actually say?—M. L. Neatler, Spring Valley, Ill.

● I go to the pitcher's mound during a game for one of three reasons: one, to ask the pitcher what kind of a pitch he wants to throw in the particular situation in which we are involved at that moment; two, to make sure we are together on the set of signs being used; or thirdly, to try to "loosen up" the pitcher if he appears nervous.

FOR PEGGY LIPTON, it's "Mad Squad"

How long did it take you to get your hair to the present length?—Gail Dent, Bladensburg, N.C.

● My hair took about six months to grow to its present length. It extends to the middle of my back.

FOR WALTER CRONKITE, C.B.S. newscaster

What is the purpose of the symbol in the upper right-hand corner of the tv screen on your early news broadcast?—Mrs. J. O. Rowell, Owensboro, Ky.

● The symbol you refer to is a hand fuddled around the globe. It is used whenever we are reporting on environmental pollution.

FOR SEN. WARREN C. MAGNUSON, Washington

What problem does the shortage of railroad box cars create?—Mrs. Steve Moyer, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada

● Every year—for at least the past 25 years there have been insufficient freight cars available to meet the needs of grain producers for transportation of their harvest to market. Failure to supply box cars for the harvest means that it must be piled on the ground. Much of it is lost.

FOR FRANCES KNIGHT, Director of U.S. Passport Agency

Is there a minimum or maximum age when a passport is not needed?—Mrs. Bert Anderson, Green Bay, Wis.

● There is no exception to the passport requirement by reason of age.

FOR ARNOLD PALMER

Do you have plans to run for Governor of Pennsylvania and then eventually for President of the United States?—Ricky Halderman, Ephrata, Pa.

● I have no plans whatsoever at this time to run for any public office.

reason the event didn't make world-wide headlines was that the rocket was a 1/100 scale model. However, it did make some news as it soared 300 feet into the air by fuse, until then, all models for hobbyists were of American rockets. This one was of the Vostok, which opened the space age in 1957 by hoisting Sputnik into orbit. The Vostok research was conducted by G. Harry Stine, one of America's leading experts on Soviet and NASA rocketry, who was retained by Model Products Corp. "For historical reasons, we felt it should be made available to American hobbyists," explained Stine.

Archery, Anyone? Bows and arrows are making a comeback. Archery will be classed as a new gold-medal sport, open to both men and women, at the 1972 Olympic games in Munich, Germany, according to Ben Pearson, the "Babe Ruth of Archery." Today archery equipment sales ($15 million a year) are twice those of tennis. It's a relatively low-cost sport; $30 could get the basic simple fiber-glass bow and arrows. Or, an aficionado could go wild with a $200-plus sophisticated bow sights, and stabilizers to counterbalance weight. Arrows start at 50 cents and go up to four dollars for aluminum or fiber-glass shafts.

Practice Makes Pianists Popular pianist Roger Williams, whose records are consistent best sellers, used to hate to practice. "I was more interested in sports and girls," he commented to FAMILY WEEKLY. Though he became an avid 10-hour-a-day practitioner, he still is sympathetic to reluctant students. "In the first year, 70 percent drop out because it takes too much time and patience. Also, there's a shortage of teachers—especially of popular music. I can't even find one for my own 10-year-old son." Yet Williams believes there's a great future for professional pianists. So he has endorsed the computerized "International Music Centers." In 39 lessons, with a half hour of practice a day, it's hoped kids can absorb what once took four years. Roger Williams jokingly advises budding keyboard artists: "Don't practice too hard—I have enough competition!"

How to Put Your

Communities large and small throughout the U. S. are

By FRANCES L. KOLTUN

Fort William Henry, at Lake George Village, New York, has reenactment of historical battle scenes to attract visitors to area.

In northern Georgia, where the Blue Ridge foothills offer the first breath of cool mountain air to anyone driving north from Florida, lies the lonely hamlet of Hiawassee—so like a thousand others it hardly takes your eyes off the road as you drive through.

Yet Hiawassee, population 405, has become the site of one of Georgia's most joyous, popular, and colorful events, the Georgia Mountain Fair. The way it happened provides a perfect working model of how to put small-town America on the map.

In 1950, worried about the isolation of Hiawassee, its dwindling population, and its "nothing future," the Town's County Lions Club decided to hold a small exhibit of local mountain crafts. Few visitors were expected that first year. Yet amazingly, more than 1,000 showed up. In 1968 more than 100,000 came, thronging both town and surrounding countryside for nine days.

When the Fair started, 20 years ago, Hiawassee had no visitors and perhaps only two dozen summer homes. Today it has nearly 400 summer residences. Its two supermarkets together gross over a million dollars a year. Its bank deposits nearly doubled during the month of August when the fair was held. Clearly, by using their heads and a once taken-for-granted asset, the good people of Hiawassee have rescued their town from the brink of its economic grave.

Years ago, Natchez, Mississippi, was a small forgotten river town willing away in the summer heat. Cut off from the main stream of traffic, without passenger railroads, her only link with the outside world was a rutted dirt road. "We felt so remote," one resident recalls, "that a car with out-of-state plates caused a commotion."

Then one day Mrs. J. Balfour, president of the Natchez Garden Club, faced the problem of entertaining the Mississippi State Federation of Garden Clubs. It was usual to treat the Federation to a display of local gardens, but most of those in Natchez were in poor condition due to a March freeze that year. In desperation, Mrs. Balfour decided to show the visitors the town's opulent white-pillared, ante-bellum houses instead. They were so enchanted that she and the Garden Club organized a similar tour the following year and "invited the world to come."

Doubtful residents wondered whether it would work. These were dark Depression days and money was scarce, especially for such things as house tours and trips. Yet, miraculously, from the first moment, the tour proved a great success—and Natchez came back to life.

Last March, the now-famous month-long Natchez Pilgrimage brought several thousand visitors and nearly a million dollars to the town. It has given people a fresh awareness of the whole state of Mississippi, and Natchez, after years without a new industry, now boasts a number of important branch offices and plants.

Each June, in a natural amphitheater at the edge of town, there unfolds at dusk a cheerful, joyous musical pageant that the people of Albany write and produce entirely on their own. Using only the talents of their citizens—no outsider can participate—they tell the history of their own community, "not as it comes from the texts but as it lingers in the hearts of old-timers."

The Fandangle started life 32 years ago as a high-school play and was so successful that it was taken over by a committee, aided by the Albany Chamber of Commerce to be staged annually. Since then, the cast has grown from 30 players to 300, and the town is flooded with visitors on Fandangle days. Everyone in Albany knows the heart-filling satisfaction of bringing vibrant theater—and thousands of appreciative visitors—to the remote ranching country of north-central Texas.

Throughout the country, people are pouring energy and heart into events that help their communities. They work long hours, without pay, to get one going, then to sustain it. Sometimes an idea starts with the initiative of an individual, perhaps a local historian, sometimes it comes from the Chamber of Commerce. Sometimes it has the backing of the town's financial interests; sometimes, it moves ahead as a club project.

Almost always, it starts small, then takes hold and develops. Seldom does it have much seed money. (When the Natchez Garden Club started its Pilgrimage, it had next to nothing in the bank.) Gaspee Days, a Pawtucket, Rhode Island, historical festival, got going on $60.

But those that prevail pay off handsomely. Here's why:

Visitors bring in money: Somerset R. Waters, a travel-industry economist, shows how even a small number of visitors make a big contribution. "Suppose one touring couple spends one day and night in your town. This couple will spend at least $35 for a room, meals, gasoline, shopping and sight-seeing. If

How to Attract Visitors to Your Community

- 1. Organize a Visitors' Council. The Council can be a special project for an existing civic organization, or it can be an entirely new community project. The most important ingredients: an enthusiastic leader and a true cross-section of your community interests, including business, education, women's clubs, and cultural groups.
 - 2. Start with a small steering committee to lay the groundwork. Expand to a larger committee with sub-committees assigned to inventory, Program, Promotion, and Hospitality. Warning: a sure blueprint for failure is to build the Visitors' Council around a group of citizens interested only in profiting directly from the visitor business. Visitors benefit the total community. Every segment should be represented.
 - 3. Get as many people involved as possible. The secret of success is to make sure that the whole community has as much fun as the visitor. Give everyone a chance to shine.
 - 4. Establish your hospitality plan. Set up a committee to take care of the visitors' needs for housing, feeding, entertainment, and shopping. You'll need a centrally located visitors' information office. The atmosphere of hospitality you create is the key to increasing visitor growth in succeeding years. The director of your state travel department can advise you and help promote your event. Consult also your state's branch of the American Automobile Association, oil company touring services, the Chamber of Commerce, and airlines serving your general area. If there are big industries in your town, get the advice of their advertising and public-relations departments.
- The Georgia Chamber of Commerce's Travel Council has assembled a comprehensive kit, detailing every facet of its uniquely successful, award-winning Stay and See Georgia program, or used by 325 communities in their state. The kit is available at $50 from Georgia Travel Council, 1200 Commerce Building, Atlanta, Ga. 30303.
- The American Petroleum Institute publishes a manual, "Economic Growth Through a Community Visitors Council." Up to 25 copies will be sent free to a civic organization, on request. The API also distributes a film, "The Broken Bow Story," detailing how a small Nebraska town attracts visitors. Write to API, 1271 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Town on the Map

you attracted just one couple a day, every day of the year, it would mean a tourist income of $12,775. Just 100 couples a day would mean a tourist income of $1,277,500. This in turn would cause employment of approximately 127 people—waitresses, bus boys, tour guides, life guards, bell hops, parking attendants, sales clerks—jobs that require little training and that can absorb the normally hard-to-employ: the young and unskilled. This added payroll of about half a million dollars spent in the community would set in motion economic activity that could result in another million dollars in local business."

Visitors fatten tax coffers and create jobs: Since their home is elsewhere, out-of-state visitors are tax contributors without being major tax consumers. The taxes they leave behind—on gasoline, hotel rooms, retail sales, fishing licenses, and the like—can be used for schools, libraries, roads, and a whole range of public works.

Visitors generate new industries: A better place for visitors is a better place to live—and a better place to live is a better place for new industry. The Birmingham, Ala., Arts Festival is credited by the city's businessmen as a very influential factor in the decision that the home office of the $2 billion Central Bell Telephone system would be located there. The men who called the Natchez Pilgrimage "feminine foolishness" are the first to admit that it helped attract some notable industries.

Visitors put your town on the map: A notable event draws notable publicity, often national and international news coverage. Real-estate values invariably rise as people get to know a place. A Sag Harbor, New York, real-estate dealer, says, "I've sold several homes to people who told me they'd never heard of Sag Harbor until they came for our Old Whalers' Festival."

Visitors give a town a sense of pride and accomplishment: An event born of local history or uniqueness or special talent, cannot help but knit the community together and give it a sense of fulfillment. Just as a handsome house that is never visited seems dead, so a town that never shares its rich traditions seems lifeless and dull.

What kind of event can you dream up for your home town? Here, from all around the country, are some very successful ideas:

- If yours is an area distinguished for a single crop, plant, or foodstuff, build a festival around it. There is, for example, a sauerkraut festival in Springfield, Minn.; a strawberry festival in Humboldt, Tenn.; an apple-blossom festival in Wenatché, Wash.; a Maine seafood festival in Rockland, Maine; a clam festival in Annapolis, Md.; the famous-Cotton-Carnival-in-Memphis, Tenn.; the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City, Mich.; the Beaufort

Costumed residents of Natchez, Miss., act as host-guides during annual Pilgrimage through ante-bellum houses.

Water Festival in Beaufort, S.C.; the "Trail of Tears" drama at Tsa-La-Gi, Okla.; and the Minneapolis Aquatennial in Minneapolis, Minn.

- If yours is a town of historic homes or beautiful gardens—even a handful will do—plan a tour of them. There are house-and-garden tours in Rhode Island, Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi, Connecticut, Louisiana, Maryland, and many other states.

- If a "famous son" has grown up in your part of the country, present a pageant built around his life and show his boyhood home. Or, if history has swept through your section, re-enact some of the highlights.

- If music and art are your town's "thing," organize an arts festival around your musicians, painters, sculptors, singers, dancers, and writers. Or have a country-music jamboree, or an all-night sing. There are many music festivals around the country today, and the sound ranges from Beethoven under a tent to banjo-strumming under a tree. In Weiser, Idaho; Union Grove, N.C.; and Oakland, Md.; as in a number of other towns, the old-time fiddler is celebrated with contests and festivals.

- If your community has strong ethnic ties, try a "national" festival. Michigan's colorful Highland Festival and Games in Alma, for example, is billed as "the largest Scottish event held outside Scotland." The annual Bavarian Festival in Frankenmuth, Mich., features German food, arts and crafts, singing and dancing.

- If yours is a great fishing area, sponsor a fishing rodeo. A gifted handicraft area? Take a tip from Asheville, N.C., or Gallinburg, Tenn., and hold a craftsman's fair. Does your town have a sports tradition of a particular kind? Create a tournament. In the bayous of Louisiana, they celebrate spring with the World's Championship Pirogue Races, a competition among the narrow cypress boats built to navigate the shallow swamps.

Don't be afraid to let your imagination soar, even if you think your resources are modest. Remind yourself that what may be commonplace to you can be enormously appealing to a visitor. And remember, there is a growing flood of mobile and curious Americans who like to travel about on weekends, holidays, or summer vacations: By bringing over a small percentage of them to your town, you can make a large contribution to its well-being. 4

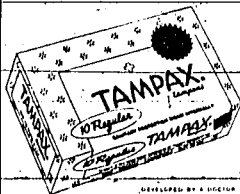

What we need is a cooler heat wave

A nice little arctic breeze to take the sizzle out of the sun, cause it's downright uncomfortable sometimes. Especially when it's also monthly period time.

But there's one way to keep that discomfort bearable. Tampax tampons. The internal sanitary protection developed for comfort. The smooth container-applicator makes insertion easy and comfortable, even the first time. And you won't feel the tampon when it's properly in place.

Removal is effortless and safe because our tampon doesn't expand to uncomfortable proportions. And the moisture-proof removal cord is securely chain stitched the entire length of the tampon. Of course disposal is no problem since everything is flushable.

Tampax tampons. Always comfortable. Always convenient. Always a cool idea.

What Do You Know About Your

By JOHN E. GIBSON

Marriage can be one of life's most richly rewarding experiences—or it can be disappointing and frustrating. Whether a marriage turns out to be a happy one depends largely upon the personalities of the two persons involved, and how capable each is of accepting the other's frailties and imperfections.

This true-false quiz provides answers to some of the questions concerning the marital state which you may have speculated about.

1. If a couple can't just manage to rec-oncile their major differences, the little things will take care of themselves.

2. A marriage has two strikes against it if the wife is older than the husband.

3. If a husband can out-talk his wife in a family discussion, he stands an excellent chance of getting his way.

4. Most happily married couples fell in love at first sight.

5. Domestic fights are frequently triggered by noisy household appliances.

6. Couples who blame their relatives for domestic troubles are usually just passing the buck.

7. A family should have only one head.

8. The husband may appear to be the boss, but most marriages are dominated by the wife.

9. In a family argument, it's the wife who is most likely to turn the discussion into a snarling, bickering, personal attack on her spouse.

10. A sexless marriage, where physical love is absent, can be a happy, fulfilling relationship.

ANSWERS

1. False. Surveys in which couples were carefully questioned show that some of the most upsetting influences are the "little things." Irritating personal habits are often borne in silence by each partner until the cumulative resentment finally reaches a festering point and is expressed in unfocused hostility.

2. False. Wide-scale studies at the University of California have shown "no consistent relationship between the age of the spouses and their mutual happiness." Some of the happiest marriages are those in which the wife is older. Only when there is a great difference in ages—such as two decades or more—has an age differential been found to be an obstacle to happiness.

3. True. Sociological studies of marriage relationships at a leading university indicate that the husband who is more voluble than his wife in a discussion usually has the inside track when it comes to getting his way. Another interesting finding: having a male friend present gives a man a definite edge when he is trying to persuade his wife to his point of view. The reverse is true, too.

4. False. A noted sociologist found that the cases of love at first sight that do not end in happy marriages are far more numerous than those that do. Love at first sight often blinds a couple to personality differences which may make it extremely difficult for them to get along amicably.

5. True. A University of Texas study reports that vacuum cleaners, kitchen mixers, blenders, tv, dishwashers, among others, raise the sound level in some homes to the point where it seriously disturbs family harmony and leads to violent arguments.

6. False. Sociological studies show that interference by relatives and in-laws ranks close to first place as a disturber of family peace. Newlyweds would do well to avoid setting up housekeeping too close to either his or her relations—regardless of how well-meaning they may be.

7. False. Studies of thousands of marriages conducted by the American Institute of Family-Relations show that the happiest families have not one head but two, with the husband and wife mature enough to cooperate on the basis of equality.

8. False. In the same study of a cross-section of the marriage population, dominance was rated by close friends and relatives. Findings: "It was decided that 28 percent of the marriages were definitely dominated by the wife, 35 percent by the husband, while 37 percent were genuine copartnerships."

9. True. According to a University of Michigan study of young married couples, "It was the wives who were more likely to respond with a personal attack during an argument. The report stated that when the husbands started the argument, the wives were more likely to retaliate with hitting, attacking, or coercive remarks. But when the wives started the arguments, the husbands were more inclined to cool-down the verbal disagreement and to kiss and make up."

10. True. Dr. John F. Cyber, professor of sociology at Ohio State University found that the sexless marriages are no rarity and are far more prevalent than suspected. He notes that there is a sizable percentage of people for whom physical love is unimportant, and when two such people find each other, a quietly satisfying kind of sexless life fulfillment emerges.

PROBLEM PERSPIRATION SOLVED
even for thousands who perspire heavily

A different formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily. A formula so different it has far more anti-wetness agent than it is possible to put in any aerosol can. By Mitchum. After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible—with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 37-year-old laboratory and guaranteed by Good Housekeeping. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course. If you perspire more than average—even heavily—get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Your choice. Light or perfume. Ninety-day supply, each $3.00. Available at your favorite drug or toiletry counter.

Rag Time

My wife's an incessant collector of rags. With rags she fills boxes and barrels and bags. What one day is clothing, all manner and sorts—My shirts and pajamas, my socks and my shorts—The next day's a rag. This distinction is subtle. It's useless to argue or offer rebuttal. When my wife has that look in her eyes, she's a fright. I hide things away, and I button up tight.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The old farmer had brought his prize hog to town to sell. A friend questioned him about the possible profits in hog farming.

"How much did you pay for her?"
"Pocketing the check, the old man said, 'About 10 dollars, ah guess.'"

"And how much did it cost to feed her?" his friend persisted.

"About 40 dollars, ah guess," the farmer replied.

"Ah know," admitted the old farmer. "But I had her company all winter!"

—Georgie Starbuck Galbraith

One Sunday morning, as a beggar stood on a corner holding out his hat, a woman stopped and glared at him.

"If you went to church," she scolded, "maybe you would be more fortunate."

"You're wrong, lady," replied the beggar. "I passed my hat around at church last Sunday, but I was thrown out."

—Robert Brown

The small boy's mother had let him invite his 'chum' over for dinner. When the young guest ate well, except for his spinach, his hostess said, "Eating plenty of spinach will put a lot of iron in your blood."

The young guest thought for a moment, then asked, "Gee, don't you think it'll make me kind of stiff?"

As she entered the room, a woman recognized the celebrity who was about to address her club. He was pacing madly back and forth. "Are you always nervous like this before you make a speech," she asked.

"Why, no, I never, never get nervous," he protested.

"Then why are you here in the Ladies' Rest Room?"

Kabobs for Cookouts

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Called "shish kabobs" in Middle East countries (Turkish for skewered roast meat), kabobs are usually prepared with lamb. Here are kabobs in the American manner, fine for cookouts—lamb, seafood, vegetable, and frankfurter—with wonderfully flavored marinades to add to their succulence.

A blend of herbs with other seasonings imparts delightful flavor to lamb chops and vegetables on skewers, grilled over an open fire.

Shoulder Lamb Chops and Vegetables on Skewers

- 6 round-bone shoulder lamb chops, cut about 1½ in. thick
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram leaves, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon tarragon leaves, crushed
- ¼ teaspoon ground thyme
- ¼ teaspoon onion powder
- ½ cup cooking or salad oil
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen cauliflower, partially cooked and drained
- Green pepper squares (about 1½ in.)
- Tomato wedges

1. Put lamb chops into a large shallow dish.
2. Combine lemon juice, garlic, herbs, onion powder, and oil; mix well. Pour over lamb and marinate in refrigerator several hours, turning chops over occasionally.
3. Remove chops from marinade (reserve for brushing) and thread 2 chops on each of 3 long skewers. Put on a hot grill about 4 in. from coals. During grilling, turn chops frequently and brush with marinade. Cook about 18 min., or until desired degree of doneness. To test for doneness, slit meat near bone and note the color of the meat. Season with lemon pepper marinade.
4. Meanwhile, alternately thread vegetable pieces on long skewers. Brush generously with marinade. Grill until of desired doneness, turning and brushing with marinade. Sprinkle with Accent.
5. When meat and vegetables are done, remove from skewers to paper plates.

6 servings

Scallop Kabobs

- 1 lb. scallops, fresh or thawed frozen
- ¼ cup olive oil or other cooking oil
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup finely chopped parsley
- ¼ cup all-purpose soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1 can (13 to 13½ oz.) pineapple chunks, drained
- 1 can (4 oz.) button mushrooms, drained
- Green pepper squares (about 1 in.)
- 12 slices bacon

1. Rinse scallops with cold water to remove any pieces of shell; drain on absorbent paper. Cut large scallops into smaller pieces.
2. Combine oil, garlic, lemon juice, parsley,

Frank and Vegetable Kabobs

- 6 frankfurters, cut in 1½-in. pieces
- 1 large green pepper, cut in 1½-in. squares
- 12 small cooked potatoes (use canned, if desired)
- 6 small cooked onions (use canned, if desired)
- Favorite bottled barbecue sauce

1. Using 6 long skewers, thread on each: 1 piece meat, 1 sq. green pepper, 1 potato and 1 onion; repeat to fill the skewer.
2. Brush kabobs generously with melted butter or margarine and then with barbecue sauce. Place on the grill about 4 in. from hot coals and cook until franks and vegetables are thoroughly heated and lightly browned, turning kabobs occasionally.

Johnny Cash— The Man Behind the Mask

The past of this countrymusic star represents the worst in many of us—his future represents the best

By HUGH CHERRY

Jim Marshall

This story is not about me—it's about Johnny Cash. But it's important to say that I may know him as well as anyone because Johnny Cash is a very private man.

As a country-music disc jockey for more than two decades, I have had the opportunity to associate with Johnny Cash both socially and professionally—during the good times and in some very bad ones. I have introduced him from the stages of Carnegie Hall, the Hollywood Bowl, and in the crowded mess hall at Folsom Prison. I have attended his recording sessions, interviewed him on international radio, and have been a guest in his home. We have gotten drunk together, sometimes fought, and I have known his wife, June Carter, whom he married in March, 1968, for some 20 years now.

During a recent trip to Nashville, where Johnny broadcasts his weekly country-music show (it returns on ABC-TV on Sept. 23), I visited my old friend and tried to relate this new image as a superstar to the guy I had known and worked with over the years. It wasn't easy.

I first met Cash in 1962. The circumstances are a bit hazy for both of us because he was popping pills, and I was guzzling scotch. We talked a lot about Indians and Jimmie Rodgers and folk songs. He thought I drank too much, and I thought he was a nut for popping amphetamines. Our paths crossed with increasing frequency, and we came to be friends.

Many of Cash's compositions possess a foreboding, almost dirgelike quality. The melody line is secondary to him, often in performance as well as composition. His writings often display a disdain for meter. A good example is "Don't Take Your Guns to Town." The meter of the song is as unorthodox as its writer, but the combination of lyric, melody, and meter accomplished Cash's intended statement. He once explained its origin:

"This song idea comes from another song I had written earlier called 'Don't Sleep on Mother's Roses.' I thought the idea was good enough to warrant a song or maybe it was because I had felt so much about the incident that inspired it. I went to my aunt's funeral in South Arkansas. The pallbearers were trying to take the casket out of the house, and one of the pallbearers stepped on a rose bush. My cousin saw the man's foot on the rose bush, and with tears in his eyes, he said, 'Don't step on Mother's roses.' I wrote the song that night and I got to thinkin' of other 'Don't' ideas, using the same meter. I was cleaning a pistol one night, and I got to thinkin' about the things you shouldn't do with a pistol, and the 'Rose' song became 'Don't Take Your Guns to Town.'"

An excellent poet and composer, Cash could have made a comfortable living from his compositions alone. But during the past 15 years, Johnny has been one of country music's top performers and money-makers. He was earning $200,000 a year 10 years ago. But until recently, success was as frustrating to Johnny as failure is to most men.

Cash's first wife, Vivian, the mother of his four daughters, told me that Johnny took his early success in stride. But as his career began making increasing demands upon him, he became tense. His increasing tension was at its peak when he finished a performance. He began to drink heavily in the late '50s, usually after a show.

Pills did not become a part of Cash's disposition until after the death of his good friend and fellow performer, Johnny Horton, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1960. Cash and Horton were very close, and his death was a shock. The drugs brought changes. He began missing engagements. His marriage was disintegrating.

Paradoxically, this was one of Cash's most productive periods. Several of his epic writing and recording works were accomplished while he was suffering his heaviest addiction. Such albums as "Ride This Train," "Johnny Cash Sings the Ballads of the True West," and his collection of Indian ballads were all researched, written, and recorded while indulging in severe drug abuse.

I worked a country-music show with Johnny at the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium in 1966. He and Vivian had been separated for some months, and he had been living in Nashville. He looked bad. His clothes just hung on him, and he was terribly nervous. But none of this interfered with his performance. He was brilliant that night.

During the next year I spoke with Cash a couple of times on the phone but did not see him again until November, 1967. I was scheduled to introduce him from the stage of the Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium. As I entered Cash's dressing room at the Shrine, I saw a new man. He had put on some weight. He was sitting quietly, talking with June Carter. As I entered the dressing room, Johnny stood and extended his hand warmly. We chatted for a moment, then I asked him about the pills. "I'm off of 'em!" Cash said quietly, "Can't you tell?" Yes, I could.

After the show was over, I was with him in his dressing room, and he said, "Hugh, I gonna go to Folsom Prison and record an album, and I would like for you to come along—MC—the show for me. Do you wanna go?" I didn't have to be asked twice.

The experience at Folsom is one

I shall never forget—I had worked shows at prisons in Tennessee, but none had the forbidding reputation of Folsom.

The Cash party—musicians, engineers, newspapermen—were escorted behind the walls by several guards. Armed with shotguns, they paced the catwalks above the mess hall. The stage was a makeshift construction at one end of the long room. The mess-hall kitchen was used as the performers' dressing room.

As Cash mounted the stage, he looked over his shoulder and spoke to his recording director. Cash said, "Bob, is there anything in particular that you want me to say to them to open the recording?" The director just shrugged, indicating that, from that moment on, it was Johnny's show all the way.

At that tense moment the now-familiar greeting—"Hello, I'm Johnny Cash"—was born.

Johnny Cash's purpose in life is to make a statement—whether it's about the plight of the Indians, prisons, railroads, or just being lonesome—and his past experience helps to get the statement across. And while that past is fraught with dark depressions, his future couldn't be brighter.

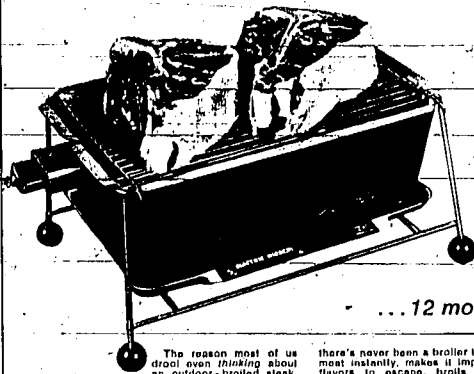

The Cashes are the proud parents of a baby boy—John Carter—born in March. Johnny appears in the film, "The Gunfighter," with Kirk Douglas, made during the summer before he returned home to Hendersonville, Tenn., near Nashville. A new TV season gets under way soon, and Johnny will once again be in his element—the musical spotlight, making his personal statements. *

"outdoor" barbecue indoors or on patio
... in all weather!

The reason most of us drool over thinking about an outdoor-broiled steak, hamburger, or even a hot dog, is that crispy, crusty brown exterior—that juicy, succulent pink interior—impossible to duplicate on any indoor broiler. Until now!

Now wondrous new Electric Hibachi does the impossible, creates luscious, mouth-watering gourmet steaks, chops, chicken, seafood, hot snacks... that even the most avid barbecue fan finds impossible to fall from outdoor-broiled. The secret—new safety sheathed, UL-listed infra-red heating element... 1500 watts of broilpower! Inch for inch, there's never been a broiler this hot, this fast! Grease most instantly, makes it impossible for juices and flavors to escape, broils away more fats and greases—Doesn't fall without smoking, without steam, without spatter or splatter.

So clean, so attractive, you'll barbecue right on your dining room table (raised, heat-resistant legs protect table tops or linens). Quality made for lifetime service of heavy-gauge anodized aluminum. Bonded with triple-strength steel, plated in gleaming gold! King size 13" x 9" x 7" broils 2 steaks, 4 chops, 6 burgers, 6 frank, shishkabob for 6. Plugs in anywhere. Full-year guarantee. ONLY $17.99.

WHY PLANT

A GROUND COVER?

In many areas and situations, ground covers are more appropriate and more satisfactory than turf. They are able to grow and thrive in sun OR shade, and in poor soil.

On steep slopes where mowing is difficult, ground cover is much more effective and much less laborious to maintain than grass. Ground covers hold the soil as well as turf and the textures are far more interesting.

Small areas of grass are a continual chore to keep mown and trimmed but ground covers require almost no care. They are excellent protection and soil conditioners. They hold the fallen leaves from blowing away, thus helping to add annually to the humus content.

- ✓ No Special Care Needed
- ✓ Extremely Hardy
- ✓ Brilliant Color
- ✓ Rich, long-lasting Foliage
- ✓ Neat, uniform Growth
- ✓ Quick, but Disciplined Spreading
- ✓ Guaranteed
- ✓ Inexpensive

You will receive hardy northern nursery grown plants, carefully packaged to arrive in prime condition. An outstanding buy at less than 20¢ per plant in lots of two dozen!

WHY CREEPING RED SEDUM?

One of Sedum's most valuable assets is its full time beauty. Lush foliage begins in early spring, and star-shaped scarlet flowers delight the viewer from late June through September. The attractive semi-evergreen foliage lasts well into winter, maintaining its rich green and bronze color nearly all year round.

Besides being one of the loveliest of the ground covers, Sedum also rates high on the other requirements. It is hardy, grows well in sun or partial shade, in sandy soil, clay soil, or good soil.

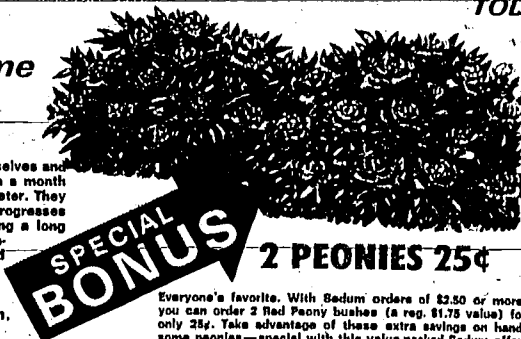

Its thick foliage and root system hold the soil on slopes or banks. The neat 3-4" cover forms a dense perennial mat to bring green and scarlet beauty to slopes, borders, rocky areas, anywhere beauty and durability are needed.

Each plant will easily and quickly spread to fill one sq. ft. Sedum spreads evenly, maintains its uniform smooth beauty at all stages of growth. Unlike some other ground covers, Sedum, also called "Dragon's Blood", stays where you put it—does not straggle out into places where it doesn't belong. Sedum is almost indestructible, enduring and persisting against heavy climatic and nutritional odds.

*Now is a Good Time
RED SEDUM!

Your young Sedum plants will establish themselves and begin to spread a few days after planting. In a month or so they will already be 3-4 inches in diameter. They may lose their foliage as the first winter progresses but will leaf out again in early spring. During a long growing season they may reach 12" in diameter, always maintaining their neat regulated shape.

Perfect for Fall

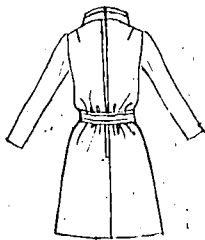

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

The time when summer ends and fall begins is the time for the transition dress—that doesn't need a coat! This smartly-tailored silhouette, which you can sew easily at home, does the job splendidly. It features handsome top-seaming, a face-framing funnel collar, set-in sleeves, and, with fashion currently focusing on the waistline, a nifty wrap-around belt. It would look lovely in a wool or gabardine fabric.

To order your pattern for this attractive silhouette, simply fill out the coupon.

Arteries Arthritis

A WONDERFUL NEW DISCOVERY, By ROBERT S. FORD, B.S.

New scientific studies show how cholesterol and fat choke the arteries only when eaten in aged and stored form such as in sausage or cheese, but are harmless when FRESH as in pork chops or milk. Cholesterol and fat slowly dry and harden like paint when aged in many stored foods, and can form deposits on the vessels in this way. This research break-through comes as a welcome surprise, at last solving the agonizing-riddle-of-choked arteries and cholesterol.

Recently published in booklet form, these findings also cast new light on the arthritis problem. A network of fine arteries in the membrane and porous bone around the joint nourishes the moving parts. When these arteries are choked by hardened fatty materials from stored foods, the joints are starved and arthritis develops. Fully explained in the new booklet (third edition) with large clear drawings. Shows the beautiful self-repairing natural design of our joints, and how we hurt them with the wrong food and drink.

Best of all, it is shown that powerful natural forces in our bodies gradually attack and remove non-living matter. When we stop poisoning our systems with the wrong foods, these slow but sure natural forces can catch up in their cleaning work. The body can thus become clean-again in a few months without drugs or surgery. At last it has been shown which foods form deposits, leaving us all the wonderful FRESH FOODS to enjoy without limit.

You can read all about it in a new easily understood booklet through which thousands have found relief. This booklet tells how to select FRESH foods so as to help clear arteries and joints without surgery. How to reduce high cholesterol and blood pressure without drugs or overeating. It tells how you can enjoy a full diet of tasty FRESH food and grow strong while your circulation and arthritis improve. A typical reader said with a happy smile: "Sixty days ago I needed plastic arteries. But I went on the new diet instead, and now I mow my whole yard without resting. My heart and leg pains are gone. Blood pressure and cholesterol dropped to normal. And those fatty yellow lumps in my eyelids faded away!"

This booklet gives clear instructions on the delicious FRESH FOOD DIET. How to relieve suffering, save on food, and reduce kitchen work. Effects of better food on face and figure. New easy ways to cook well for one or two. Diabetes control. Real sweets for diabetics. Ear noises, deafness, and dizziness. Indigestion, acid stomach, and general health aids. Pictures of arteries and joints. A new practical approach that really works. Fifty guarantees may be returned for refund if you are not satisfied. Over 40,000 satisfied customers. Very popular, now in a new third edition with four pages added. Special prices on quantity orders.

Learn how to enjoy a better life through this wonderful new discovery. Get your copy of our 52 page booklet "Starve Your Fat. Fresh Food!" by Robert S. Ford, B.S. Only $3.95 postpaid, nothing else to buy. 24¢ extra for first class postage saves two weeks. Send check or money order to: Magnolia Laboratory, Dept. M, Box 1306, Magnolia, Louisiana 70555.
