Gunman To Fight Fires

TWIN FALLS — A man arrested for shooting two people here Sunday was released today on bond because he wanted to fight a forest fire.

Reenoldo Martinez, 22, Twin Falls Labor Camp, was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon Monday afternoon when he surrendered himself to Twin Falls Police at the city police station.

At first he was held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Later, Golden Bennett, Martinez's attorney, petitioned Police Judge Harry Turner to reduce bond to $2,500 to permit the suspect to leave by air to fight forest fires.

Bennett said Martinez had been hired as a fire fighter earlier.

Turner granted the petition, Martinez posted bond and was freed.

Bennett told Judge Turner the suspect recently returned from a 13-month tour of duty in Vietnam, and "this may have affected his actions" during the shooting incident.

Martinez is charged with wounding Rafael Ferreira, 30, Jerome, and Judy Bradford, 24, Twin Falls, in the Sunday barroom shooting. Ferreira was listed in good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today.

Miss Bradford was released

Monday after treatment of a leg wound.

Harold Wycoff, assistant supervisor of the Sawtooth National Forest, said the only screening pickup fire fighters receive is screening for proper equipment.

The fire fighters are picked by squad leaders, who are trained firemen.

In this case, Reenoldo's squad leader is his brother, Martin Martinez, Wycoff said.

TWIN FALLS POLICE OFFICER Frank Lara studies a hole in the wall which was apparently broken open by intruders in a food warehouse at 120 Rose St. Monday night. A piece of card-board may have carried fingerprints of the handiis, Lara said.

Mideast Parley Begins

By RANDOLPH PENDLETON UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring opens the long-awaited Middle East peace negotiations today, meeting separately with representatives of Israel, Egypt and Jordan. Indications were the pace would be slow and cautious.

Diplomatic sources said the Israeli representative, U.N. Ambassador Joseph Tekoah, was expected to be the first to meet with Jarring in his 38th floor office in the U.N. Building. There was no indication of the time. Jarring set no deadlines in the discussions and made no estimates about when progress might be evident. But, in announcing Monday the talks would begin within 24 hours, he took a positive view: "I feel sure that the parties will enter the discussions with the firm intention of finding a solution. I hope that with good will and understanding they will in time reach agreement on a just and lasting peace."

There were no plans at this time for joint meetings of the three representatives. Jarring said he would see them "one by one."

Diplomatic sources said Tekoah was expected to leave for consultations in Israel after the session, but the Israeli Mission to the United Nations said it could not confirm this. Jordan's representative, Mohammed H. el-Farra, was in Amman and Jarring said he would be temporarily replaced by Jordan's ambassador to Washington, Abdul Hamid Sharaf, until El-Farra arrives in New York.

Representing Egypt is U.N. Ambassador Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat. Jarring broke a public alliance of nearly three years Monday to announce the talks. He has avoided public comment since he became peace envoy following the 1967 Middle East War.

He chose his words cautiously in answering questions and refused to be drawn into making predictions about the progress of the discussions.

As to what suggestions he might personally make in trying to find a solution satisfactory to both sides, Jarring said "I don't think there are textbooks written on how you behave—how you proceed. You just have to feel your way through."

He was cautious even about the definition of his role, saying he did not consider himself a mediator since his specific mandate as the U.N.'s special representative to the Middle East said only that he was to "promote agreement."

Air Ransom Ruse Fails

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—To a youngster whose trans-Pacific flight was interrupted by a bomb threat, it merely meant that "we got to see another movie."

To an adult, headed with his wife for a Hawaiian vacation, it meant not only "free champagne, but also anything else he wanted."

But to a Pan American World Airways spokesman, the second extortion threat in history, and the second one this month was much more serious. He said it had "obviously... set a new pattern."

Pan Am, convinced the threat was a hoax, refused to pay the $100,000 demanded and flew its Honolulu-bound jetliner back to San Francisco with 148 aboard, including two babies.

A 24-hour search here failed to find an explosive and flight 817 resumed its trip to Hawaii.

During the flight back to San Francisco, Pan Am's 138 passengers had been told falsely that the return resulted from mechanical problems. During that 1 1/2 hours they flew at low altitudes without alcoholic beverages.

"Although we did not intend to pay the ransom, we did go through the exercise ordered by the extortionist—that is, we followed his instructions," said a Pan Am spokesman. "We felt in this instance the whole thing was a hoax."

Neither the airline nor the FBI would talk concerning the "exercise," the method by which money was to have been delivered. The FBI apparently intended to use the information in a search for the extortionist. They would not say specifically that dummy money had been delivered and the FBI said it had no immediate suspect.

Pilot Charles Banbe, to whom the threat was relayed by radio, lowered altitude and took what he called "routine precautions" for the return flight to San Francisco.

The previous airplane extortion was Aug. 11 when Western Airlines paid $25,000 to a man who telephoned its Anchorage, Alaska office that a plane bound for Seattle would be bombed when it descended to less than 10,000 feet. There has been no arrest in that case.

When the plane restarted its trip one passenger had backed out and the flight left with 137 passengers and 10 crewmen.

BOMB exploded just as Mrs. Mary Peck, 48, St. Paul, Minn., was standing at the washbasin, and tore a hole in the wall of the restroom. Mrs. Peck was listed in poor condition. It was third bombing this month in the Twin Cities. (UPI)

Bomber's Warning No Joke

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—The police dispatcher received the call at 3:40 a.m. Monday.

"Hey, pig," the voice said. "There's a bomb in the Math Research Building on the university campus. Clear the building."

Two minutes later a shattering explosion ripped into the Army Mathematics Research Center on the University of Wisconsin campus, killing a researcher and injuring four other persons.

Authorities literally piced together the first clue Monday night—a stolen truck in which the explosives were detonated. The truck was parked in a driveway near the math building. The force of the blast shredded the truck and for a time it was thought the explosion had occurred in the building.

Madison Police Detective Stanley Davenport said small—but identifiable—pieces of the truck were found in the area of the destroyed six-story building.

He said the truck, a white 1967 Ford Falcon Econoline, was traced to its owner, Larry Travis of Madison.

Cambodia Robbers Gets Aid Prefer Holes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States announced today it would provide Cambodia up to $40 million in additional military aid during the current fiscal year.

The aid will be in the form of small arms, ammunition, communications equipment and spare parts for Cambodia's squadron of 728 training planes, the State Department said.

While the value was placed at $40 million, department officials said it was possible that additional aid beyond that level might be sent to the regime of Premier Lon Nol during the fiscal year that ends next June 30, depending on how the fighting goes.

TWIN FALLS — A hole in the roof seems to be a popular method of entry for burglars in Twin Falls lately.

Monday night, someone used a hole in the roof to enter a food warehouse owned by Tom Rowland at 120 Rose St. to enter the establishment, according to Twin Falls police. Rowland said he was missing about the amount of food that one person could carry out.

The hole in the roof, apparently already existing, was covered by shingles. Someone must have known the hole was there, Rowland said.

Over the weekend, intruders chopped a hole in the roof and ceiling at Save-On Drug, 867 Filer Ave., to get inside and take an undetermined amount of merchandise.

Another in a rash of burglaries was also reported this morning. Police said someone entered the L. L. Langdon Scrap Metal Co. yard, 605 Shoshone St. W., by removing a metal brace from the building's sliding door.

Runway Surfaced

TWIN FALLS — Seal coating on secondary runway 12-30 at the Twin Falls City-County Airport, JoAnn Field, was completed today. Harry Merrick, airport manager, said.

The runway, which had not been resurfaced for several years, was cracking badly.

It is used mainly by light general aviation craft as a cross-wind runway and by agricultural spray planes.

The center landing strip on the main runway used by all aircraft including jets has been completed. Approach strips on runway 25 should be complete this week, he said.

Fires Rage

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (UPI)—Fire crews in the Kanku National Forest near here were able to limit the 2,500-acre Ball Creek fire to just over a 300-acre increase Monday and expected to have the stubborn blaze under control by this afternoon.

Solons Reach White Clouds

SAWTOOTH CITY—Members of a U.S. Interior House Sub-Committee on National Parks and Recreation were in the White Clouds area this afternoon for an on-the-spot inspection and briefing before taking testimony on the fate of the scenic region.

Early today seven of 12 committee members flew into this newly named unincorporated village formerly known as Smiley Creek—also breakfast at the Smiley Creek Lodge and then were taken by helicopter to the White Clouds.

Late this afternoon they were scheduled to be transported to the other side of the valley—again by helicopter—and spend the night in the Sawtooth Mountains.

Wednesday morning they will fly to Sun Valley for a public hearing on the park-recreation area matter which starts at 10 a.m. in the Opera House.

Jim Goller, aide to Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, a sub-committee member, said more than 300 views on the subject will be presented either in person or by transcript during the hearing. It is expected to last most of the day.

Then committee members fly to Coos Bay, Ore., for a hearing on another matter. This trip will be made Wednesday evening if the hearing here ends in time or Thursday morning if there is a delay. The committee members arrived in Boise from San Francisco Monday night and spent the night there.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, is with committee members because the proposed legislation concerns his district. He was with them in the White Clouds today and will spend the night in the Sawtooths, sitting in on the hearing Wednesday. Idaho's congressional delegation including Representatives McClure and Hansen, and senators Frank Church and Don Jordan have sponsored legislation to make the White Clouds-Boulder Mountain-Sawtooth Mountain area into a joint national park and recreation area.

In addition to Rep. McClure, committee members here this morning are Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., chairman; John N. (Happy) Camp, R-Okla.; Phillip E. Russo, R-Mich.; Morris K. Udall, R-Ariz.; Manuel Lujan, R-N. Mex.; and Don H. Clausen, R-Calif.

Accompanying committee members are officials of the forest service. No members of the press were permitted on today's flights, because there was "no room," officials said.

At least five wives of committee members are with their husbands for part of the trip, having gone directly from Boise to Sun Valley.

Safeway Tally Secret

TWIN FALLS—How much money did the gunman take from the Lynwood Safeway store last Friday night?

Safeway officials know but they aren't saying, according to Capt. Tim Qualls of the Twin Falls Police Department. They won't even tell the police.

Auditors from Safeway's regional headquarters in Salt Lake City prepared an itemized report on the hold-up, Qualls said. But when police asked for details for their own report, Safeway refused.

"They said it's a matter of security or something. At any rate, they're not saying,"

Qualls said. Leo VanderDoes, manager of the Lynwood Safeway store, said he was told the amount, but is not allowed to release the figure.

"Apparently, Safeway officials are afraid of triggering robberies of other stores," VanderDoes said.

Madison Police Detective Stanley Davenport said small—but identifiable—pieces of the truck were found in the area of the destroyed six-story building.

He said the truck, a white 1967 Ford Falcon Econoline, was traced to its owner, Larry Travis of Madison.

Woman's Liberation Here? Maybe

By NORMA HERZINGER Times-News Women's Editor

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley women may not be striking and parading Wednesday along with thousands of their contemporaries, but the general consensus is "many would like to."

Some are afraid to. Nationally, female liberationists will be dramatizing their support of the constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights to women which was approved by the House of Representatives Aug. 10.

Coinciding with the 50th Anniversary of the woman's suffrage, women throughout the nation have been urged to participate in liberation activities headed by Feminist Betty Freidan, founder of the National Organization (NOW) and author of "The Feminine Mystique."

Mrs. Freidan and other liberation leaders predict millions will join the strike. Groups supporting the liberation movement have been hastily formed in Boise and Pocatello, primarily to secure equal employment opportunities for women.

But in Twin Falls, the women have not organized. However, a large group has been kicking around the idea, with a tentative date for discussion set for the middle of September. Interviews today with local working women indicate their largest contention is "equal job opportunities with equal pay."

Many of the local women (especially those who are heads of households) are more than skeptical about publically supporting or promoting their beliefs because they believe their jobs will be threatened. "Magic Valley women holding equal jobs to men are being paid considerably less than a man holding the same type job," one woman said.

"We who support the liberation movement aren't suggesting women give up their sex appeal or even the 'weaker sex' symbol — we only want equality in jobs we can handle." Many people men and women, refused to give an opinion "for the record" while others voiced their views without hesitation.

Beverly Hackney's statement sums up the feelings of many. "There are always negative feedbacks on a situation of this kind by the male population, but usually it is the most insecure males who object the strongest," she said.

"Communitywise, the 'thinking woman' is a little reluctant to voice her opinion because of the radical label tacked to her immediately, so therefore, the 'do-your-own-thing' type woman must rationalize just how much she wants to cut herself away from community, etc.

There are always extremists in anything like this, and this, too, must be taken into consideration. The women liberationists across the nation will accomplish much with their actions, and as far as the draft, yes, we have a stake in this country, too. Why not?"

"I don't think women are ready to accept that much responsibility," Tom Nelson, city councilman and attorney, said. "There has long been opportunity to women that few have accepted. Law, for example. Women are capable and the field is open to them, but how many women lawyers do you know?"

District Court Judge Theron W. Ward, voiced his opinion differently:

"Women are putting themselves in a position they are not going to like when they get there."

"Women cannot have equal rights and still be catered to. I think women were happier when they were pampered and taken care of and had no problems but their children and homes."

Louise Webster, secretary for the Twin Falls County Commission and a member of the local advisory board on human rights, stated, "If a woman works with a man, doing identical work and her full share, she deserves identical salary. However, I like things the way they are and I do not have to assume the same responsibility as a man in the family."

"If women are going to demand absolute equal right, they are going to have to accept equal responsibilities and this should include being drafted."

"If we can get a man on the moon, we can get women off their knees," is the motto of one female liberationist. It will be interesting to see if Idaho women will join their contemporaries as liberation activities continue throughout the week.

"I'M GOING OUT WITH THE GALS AND DON'T WANT UP FOR ME!"

The weak low pressure aloft off the West Coast will continue but part of the trough will move inland to weaken the upper-level ridge which is currently over Idaho. This will result in a slight cooling trend after the very hot unseasonable weather we have had the past several days. High temperatures yesterday were very much like the ones of the previous day with maximum readings in the low 90s to near 100s. Today the highs will be around three degrees cooler over Southwestern Idaho and East-Central Oregon to about the same as yesterday in Southeastern Idaho.

Nixon Summons Policy Advisers

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon summoned his chief foreign policy advisers today to explore chances for peace in the Middle East as the first round of talks between Arab and Israeli representatives begin in New York.

Gathered at the Western White House for the 2:20 p.m. EDT meeting were Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Joseph C. Sisco, assistant secretary of state for Middle Eastern affairs; and Henry A. Kissinger, national security affairs adviser.

Peace initiatives by the United States, pushed by Rogers, led to agreement by Israel, Jordan and Egypt for a three-month cease-fire and the start of negotiations.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would cover the Middle East situation and a wide spectrum of foreign policy developments in the discussions.

In a session Monday-Nixon concurred with an "encouraging" report on the economy from four key advisers. They also told him the outlook for dampening inflation bodes well for the future.

Speaking for the so-called "quadruplet," Dr. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said administration policies are working and "the evidence seems to be fairly clear that it has been possible to cool off a highly overheated domestic economy without throwing the economy into a very sharp recession or depression."

McCracken said he did not want to suggest "that the struggle against inflation is over, but I think it is quite clear that we are now beginning to see some results."

He cited the less rapid rate of increase in the consumer price index, and increases in industrial production, personal income, retail sales and housing as hopeful indicators. But he said unemployment probably will go beyond its current 5 percent of the labor force.

He said the administration's "calculated measures of restraint have countered the long overhauling of the economy without throwing the economy into a tailspin."

Farm Union Paralyzes Youngsters 'Burglarize' Residence

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union members carrying their red and black eagle banner, effectively crippled production Monday in "America's salad bowl."

Because of their strike for union recognition, only 25 percent of the lettuce crews worked in the Salinas Valley, said Les Hubbard for the California Council of Growers.

Government workers noted that only 50 railroad cars of vegetables left Salinas, in comparison with the usual 250.

The AFL-CIO farm workers' organizing committee walkout is aimed at getting growers to recognize Chavez' organization, rather than the Teamsters union, as bargaining agent for 10,000 field workers.

Although there were five trespassing arrests, police agencies noted no violence the opening day.

The Salinas Valley, site of novels by Nobel Prize winner John Steinbeck, produces 70 percent of the nation's iceberg lettuce—about $61 million worth yearly. It also turns out carrots, celery, broccoli, cauliflower, artichokes and strawberries.

Teamsters, who now say Chavez should represent field hands while they bargain for canners and packers, had signed vegetable growers here while the Mexican-American leader still was busy with the grape pickers.

New Concern Seeks Vehicles To Smash

TWIN FALLS — Everyone is trying to get rid of old car bodies littering the landscape; but there is one business firm boldly announcing that they want junk automobiles.

This is Rackliff Bros., Inc., who will soon be moving an automobile crusher to Twin Falls to supplement baling operations already underway in the county by Jay Huddleston.

Fred Rackliff, who has moved to Twin Falls, said he hopes to make this his permanent home and to work in this area on a continuing basis to keep old car bodies from collecting. Meeting Monday with county commissioners, he said he has crushed about 3,000 cars in the Burley area in recent weeks and within two or three more weeks will be finished there and will move the equipment to Twin Falls.

It will be set up on the Borgor-Mattson Auto Salvage yard to crush all cars brought there. Unlike Huddleston, who bales the old cars, Rackliff will flatten them into thin parcels of metal and will then have them trucked to Portland. Here they are shredded into fine scrap and shipped to Japan.

The crushing process is much faster than baling, Rackliff says, and his crew and equipment can handle about 100 or 150 car bodies per day. Seven different trucking firms will be needed to haul out the mashed metal. Effort to get persons and concerns to bring useless car bodies to the crushing site will begin as soon as the equipment arrives, Rackliff said. Once the educational program is underway the equipment should be busy on a daily basis.

County Commissioner Chairman Heber Loughmiller said the firm will be operating on a private business basis, but the county will provide all cooperation possible and will encourage the public and area wrecking lots to cooperate.

As yet, Rackliff said, it has not been necessary to make a charge for crushing the bodies; and in some cases when loader equipment is caught up bodies can be collected by the concern and brought to the crushing site.

Should any firm or individual have an accumulation of 20 to 30 old car bodies, arrangements can be made to collect them, he said, or the crusher can be brought to the site.

Rackliff said his firm welcomes spectators. Frequently in previous operations many persons have visited the crushing site daily to observe the operation. Rackliff said he hopes to meet with the city and possibly talk with service clubs to conduct a special drive on old car bodies in order to clean up the area as soon as possible.

HE RAISES PLANTS to a healthy condition so researchers can kill them. William N. Oliver, with a healthy sugar beet at right and one infested with leafhopper at left, has been operating the greenhouses and insect production program at the U. S. Bureau of Entomology in Twin Falls the past 30 years.

T.F. Entomologist Earns Award For Long Service

TWIN FALLS — An abundance of healthy plants and a ready supply of leafhoppers at various stages of their life cycle are important factors in the research program at the U. S. Bureau of Entomology in Twin Falls.

The man responsible for these jobs for the past 30 years is William N. Oliver, who was honored Monday with a certificate and pin for his long service with the Bureau of Entomology.

Oliver, who says he is probably one of the few Twin Falls residents who can say he has gone to work every morning for 30 years in the same building, says he is now beginning to think about retiring to his favorite fishing stream and some other enjoyable pastimes.

Employed as an agricultural research technician specializing in insects, Oliver has kept the beet leafhopper research program supplied with insects and plants for 30 years.

Walter E. Paey, entomologist in charge of the station, said Oliver has served with three bosses, the late J. R. Douglass, Kenneth Gibson and himself. When he first joined the Department of Agriculture station in 1940, the major part of the research was in behalf of the sugar beet production of this area. With the advent of disease-resistant seed, the research has moved to a study of other plants including beans, garden produce and other crops. Under the supervision of Oliver are all of the greenhouses, along with maintenance of machinery and equipment. He also does what carpenter work is needed.

As for his spare time, Oliver says, he does some more of the same—gardening and fixing up things around his home at 440 Washington St. N.

India Queries Rumors

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Government of India ordered an investigation Monday into published reports of alleged "nun-running" in which lay Indian peasant girls were sold to Roman Catholic convents in Europe seeking nun trainees.

The Catholic Bishops Conference of India also announced in New Delhi that it had asked the Bishops Conference of Kerala, the Indian State from which the girls allegedly were sent to Europe, to begin an investigation into the reports.

The Vatican disclosed Sunday it had begun an investigation into the matter in July. A Vatican spokesman said on Monday the investigation is continuing but that no details would be released until it is completed.

The Vatican spokesman also denied that Bishop Giuseppe Caprio, Vatican Pro-Nuncio (Ambassador) in India until May, had menaced novice nuns from India to make them turn over to him documents detailing the alleged traffic in Indian girls.

The Vatican issued a statement Sunday denying the charges of nun-running, but conceded there was some truth to the reports. It charged the published accounts were exaggerated and sensational.

In the statement, the Vatican said two practices had been stopped—the choosing of Indian girls without the right educational qualifications for convents in Europe and the providing of money to enable them to get to Europe.

The Times report said the girls arrived at the European convents with no qualifications to the novitiate and no money and were forced into a type of slavery, doing menial work in convents that otherwise would have to close for lack of staff.

16,000 Booklets Explain Issues

TWIN FALLS — As if preparing leaves for all taxing units in the county and getting ready for the November general election were not enough to keep the Twin Falls County Clerk's staff busy, 16,000 pamphlets arrived from the office of the Secretary of State on Monday for distribution.

County Clerk Harold Lancaster said he must make preparations for mailing the pamphlets to all registered voters of the county and will have to work out cost figures and a work schedule to take the least possible amount of time. Published by the Secretary of State, the electors' informative pamphlet covers one of the initiatives to appear on the Nov. 3 ballot. It deals with petitions circulated under the direction of W. C. Burns calling for returning the salaries of state legislators to the same dollar value prior to the last legislative session.

Burns states the increase voted by the legislators represents about a 60 per cent increase.

The pamphlets carry a full copy of the proposed legislation to be voted on, in addition to the opposing statement of Burns, and the explanatory statement of the salary and expense increases by Phil Batt and W. Larry Mills.

Making Bugs Sick Helps Stem Tide

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—Discovery that many conventional insecticides eventually wind up in human tissues has started the Agriculture Department on an intensive search for other means of bug control.

Many new methods have been tested with varying degrees of success. But to laymen, at least, the most recent experiment in this field appears to have the greatest potential.

Under the latest approach, you don't kill a bug outright by spraying it with poison. You cause it to catch some sort of virus.

In short, pestilences rather than pesticides.

The reason this concept makes such an impression on laymen is because we have had some experience with viral diseases and are aware of how incapacitating they can be.

If they are just half as effective on insects as they are on the human body, it will be a giant step forward in man's age-old struggle to get the upper hand over anthropodal pests.

Since initial studies, involving cabbage loopers and armyworms, are just now getting started, it is perhaps too early to anticipate the outcome. Theoretically, however, many benefits could ensue.

And the beauty of it is that the insects would become the agents of their own undoing.

Entomologists simply would catch a few, haul them into the lab and infect them with a virus. Then the bugs would be freed to go out and infect their family, friends and coworkers. Let us take an advance peek into a cabbage patch which is heavily infested with cabbage loopers.

"You don't seem to be looping much cabbage this morning, Henry. Is anything wrong?"

"Yeah, I don't feel so good. My head aches, my eyes are hot and watery and my legs feel like they have lead weights tied to them."

Niarchos Accepts Charges

ATHENS (UPI)—Shipowner Stavros Niarchos does not plan to return to Greece to fight an attempt by a prosecutor to indict him on charges of contributing to the death of his wife, an official spokesman said Monday.

"There is nothing for him to do here until the Judicial Board reaches its decision," said Constantinos Dracopoulos, chief executive for the Niarchos Enterprises in Greece.

The 61-year-old multimillionaire is still in Switzerland, Dracopoulos said. He went there during the weekend as a storm broke over a prosecutor's move to indict him in connection with the May 4 death of his third wife, Eugenia.

Prosecutor Constantinos Fafoutis, who holds the office in the Athenian port of Piraeus, asked a three-man judicial board, equivalent to a Grand Jury in the United States, to indict Niarchos on charges equivalent to manslaughter. If convicted, Niarchos could be jailed for up to 25 years.

The Example

If Hanoi is capable of profiting by the Russian example, the North Vietnamese will ease the military pressure in South Vietnam to permit the speediest withdrawal of American troops.

Thus, whether North Vietnam wants time to lick its wounds and to rebuild its economy or not, the weight of logic seems to be in favor of their willingness to disengage now for their own benefit as well as to encourage the withdrawal of the Americans.

Splendid Breed

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the subject will be contemptuously marked trivial in this capital of the cosmic, but for that very reason a personal note seems mandatory as a salutation to Willfred Dennison of Oxon Hill, Md., one of the last of a splendid breed.

They painted. The carpeting man declared coldly he could not cover the floor until fall; Dennison and Ashby put it down. They brought in two of the best bricklayers in the Western Hemisphere, youthful Bob Sealock and Ernie Miller, also of Oxon Hill, whose contribution was a work of art.

ROBERT ALLEN On Politics

WASHINGTON — One of the unpleasant characteristics of a politician in the eyes of many Americans, is a tendency to tell each audience just what it wants to hear. In that sense, then, it is time to suggest that John F. Kennedy was very much a politician when he talked to Kenneth O'Donnell in a hotel bathroom during the 1960 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

fact it may well be written in the history books that Johnson's leisurely train trip through the South ("What did Dick Nixon ever do for Calpepper?") was the last truly pivotal excursion in the long and colorful history of white-stop campaigning in the United States.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. A Shoulder

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause a boy's shoulder to become dislocated time and time again? It is terribly painful and he has to be given an anesthetic to have it reset. He is afraid to participate in sports that could cause this to recur. Would the fact that he is growing fast have anything to do with it? — I. R.

vigorous arm movements or hard impact. Shoulder dislocation is fairly common among football players, which is not surprising. He might find track, or some other sports, safe enough though.

The first dislocation ordinarily occurs from strain or injury that throws the joint out of its socket and forward. The joint capsule is damaged, and certain ligaments are stretched or torn, so it is even easier for the shoulder to be dislocated again subsequently. There are such inter dislocations in about 40 percent of all cases, and usually in younger people because they are less likely than older people to take care of themselves in such things.

Osteoarthritis, or degenerative joint disease, does not change the body chemistry. It is a matter of just the joints being affected. It does not jump from one joint to another, as so often happens with rheumatoid arthritis.

Agnew Visits Korean

SEOUL (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew spent six hours with South Korean President Park Chung-hee today—three times the scheduled length of the meeting. Some U. S. officials said the meeting ended with the two leaders in disagreement.

"It appears to be a delicate situation," said one American official.

One U.S. official said Park raised matters which Agnew did not expect and the vice president was seeking advice from the White House.

Park's administration has raised strong protests to the U. S. plan to withdraw 20,000 of the 64,000 American troops stationed in South Korea but Agnew has pledged delivery of 54 F4 Phantom jets and other military aid to the Seoul government to soften the impact of the troop withdrawal.

Park and Agnew were scheduled to continue their talks during a formal dinner given by the president in Agnew's honor tonight. The leaders originally had been scheduled to confer for two hours but the meeting stretched on for six hours.

Korea was the vice president's first stop on a tour of Asian nations to reassure the United States' Indochina allies and get reaction to the Nixon administration's Asian policies. Agnew was scheduled to visit Taiwan next, then go to Thailand and South Vietnam. Official sources said Agnew also would make an unscheduled stop in Cambodia Friday afternoon to confer with the regime of Premier Lon Nol about possible U.S. military aid.

Before conferring with Park, Agnew talked with South Korean Premier Chung Il-Kwon for 20 minutes in a meeting in which Chung described the scope of North Korean incursions into the south.

The North Korean forays into the south have involved both landings on the South Korean Coast and overland incursions and Agnew's promise of military aid included the pledge of planes with special radar to detect battalions of North Korean commandos.

Tate Skipped Drugs, Booze

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Blonde actress Sharon Tate had not taken drugs or alcoholic beverages on the night she was killed along with four other persons at her estate, the county coroner testified Monday at the murder trial of the "Manson Family."

Dr. Thomas T. Noguchi testified that blood tests showed no indication that either Miss Tate or hair stylist Jay Sebring, who was once her flance, were under the influence of any narcotics at the time of the slayings.

There had been speculation that a drug party was underway at the Tate estate in August, 1969, when intruders knifed and shot the occupants of the home.

But Noguchi knocked down any idea that an "orgy party" was in progress.

Noguchi said that blood samples showed that Polish writer Voltyck Frykowski and coffee heiress Abigail Folger both had taken small amounts of the drug MDA and both apparently had been drinking.

MDA is a combination of drugs called "super speed."

He said there was no medical evidence that the eight-months pregnant Miss Tate had taken any stimulant whatsoever.

Nixon Ponders Economy

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon met with the four top Government economists Monday and agreed with them that the nation's badly overheated economy had been cooled without prompting a recession.

Dr. Paul J. McCracken, Chief of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, emerged from a two-hour meeting with the President and said current economic indicators "are quite encouraging."

He pointed out that the Consumer Price Index stood at 0.3 per cent for the months of June and July—its lowest point in two years—and other economic statistics showed increases in industrial production, personal income, retail sales and housing starts.

He emphasized that the statistics showed "not so much dramatic changes as a fairly pervasive rise across the spectrum."

Also attending the meeting at the Western White House were Arthur Burns, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, George P. Shultz, Chief of the Office of Budget and Management, and Treasury Secretary David Kennedy.

"The evidence seems to be very clear it has been possible to cool off a highly overheated economy without throwing it into a recession or depression," McCracken said.

"We would not want to suggest that the struggle against inflation is over but think now we are beginning to achieve some results."

The news was "encouraging for the President, who sees the economy shaping up as one of the key issues in the November election campaign. It provided him with some encouraging news to give to members of the Business Council.

Barrage Hits Market

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong bombarded a crowded market place in the Mekong Delta with mortars today, killing 11 Vietnamese and wounding 42 others. Fighting flared around Allied artillery base O'Reilly near the Laotian border.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Cambodian troops broke up another major Communist assault against the capital's outer defenses early today after seven hours of close quarters fighting against superior numbers of attackers.

Cambodian spokesmen said the Communists left behind "numerous bodies" which had yet to be counted. Military spokesmen said 1,500 Cambodian defenders halted the attack by an estimated 3,000 Communist troops at a point nine miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Five 82mm mortar rounds exploded in Ba Chuc Market, 110 miles west-southwest of Saigon early today. All but one of the victims were civilians, military spokesmen said.

Nearly 400 miles to the north near the Laotian border, fighting broke out near fire base O'Reilly, one of several artillery outposts overlooking Communist infiltration routes from Laos into South Vietnam.

O'Reilly is 12 miles east of Laos and 26 miles southeast of Hue.

Military spokesmen reported one U.S. 101st Airborne Division soldier was killed and five were wounded in fighting three miles northwest of the base. South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division troops killed seven Communist troops Monday at a cost of three wounded in a clash one mile south-southeast of O'Reilly. One 20 rounds of 60mm mortar fire hit another government unit nearby, causing "light" casualties, spokesmen said.

U.S. spokesmen said one American was killed and nine wounded in two booby-trap incidents Monday and three men were wounded in a clash in Quang Ngai Province on the upper coast.

Bid Ruling Postponed On Defunct Loan Firm

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge J. Ray Durtsch Monday postponed until Thursday a ruling on acceptance of bids for the remaining assets of the defunct Idaho Savings and Loan Association.

Judge Durtsch said he needed time to study whether he had authority to do more than approve or disapprove the one petition before the court, that of Western National Corp. and Continental Life Insurance Co., both of Boise, to buy the assets.

Another firm, Com-Tech, a Salt Lake City firm operating under a Nevada charter, entered a bid after the date for bid acceptance and objected to acceptance of the first Bid bid.

Judge Durtsch said he would need to determine whether there is a legal possibility holders of mortgages could hold the stockholders in Idaho Savings and Loan or the court-appointed conservator, Robert Barbour, responsible in case of deficiency judgments against Com-Tech.

Idaho Finance Commissioner John D. Silva, who is also legal trustee of the defunct association, called for bids for the remaining assets by July 1. The bid brought by the Boise firms would return to the shareholders 72 per cent of their return.

The Salt Lake firm entered its bid late, and Silva said the bid was not accompanied with a correct cash offer or with a firm bank commitment letter as required in the bid specifications.

The Com-Tech bid would return to the shareholders almost 73 per cent of their holdings.

J. Dennis Faucher, Boise attorney appearing for Barbour and Silva, said the second proposal submitted by Com-Tech required an opinion of a licensed attorney that the sale was duly affirmed by all courts. Faucher said he would not be able to give a legal opinion that a sale to

Com-Tech would be binding or legal without further court proceedings.

It was Faucher who pointed out only one petition—that of Western National and Continental Life—was before the court. He said the court had authority only to approve or disapprove that petition.

He said Com-Tech had not demonstrated dependability in the proceedings. He said the firm had no bank commitment until Aug. 21, and said it indicated "the complete lack of responsibility on their part. Is there anything Com-Tech has done that would indicate confidence in their ability to handle these problems."

Faucher also questioned the methods used by Com-Tech in obtaining bank commitments. He noted Com-Tech had $1,000 in cash assets, $6,000 in notes due from officers, $37,000 loaned by Greater Idaho, a subsidiary of Sierra Life, $213,000 loans from Sierra Life, and would be able to obtain a $3,450,000 loan from First Security Bank.

However, he said, "This indicates the lengths to which Com-Tech had to go to get this money."

He said Greater Idaho, for its investment, would get a return of $200,000 or certain properties and said First Security would charge a 10 1/2 per cent interest rate, a 1/2 of 1 per cent commitment rate, and had the option to buy $1,200,000 in unpaid mortgages and loans for $1 million.

Theron Roberts, attorney for Com-Tech, replied that First Security would be primarily responsible for the administration of the assets.

He noted Com-Tech had come up with a $50,000 bond and had been able to obtain $3.4 million in backing, and added such a company "has to be responsible with good people behind it."

He also noted "the commitment of Western by a bank would expire one week from today, but Judge Durtsch replied, "As far as I'm concerned there is no problem. We've been playing the rules from your side, Mr. Roberts, and if I allowed Com-Tech time to get a bank commitment I'm certainly not going to cut out Continental and Western even if their commitment expires in a week."

Dick Weston, representing a shareholders group, noted the transaction, as far as the shareholders is concerned, would be purely cash. He said even if Com-Tech defaulted, the shareholders would still have their money.

Roberts also told the court the Com-Tech bid was $186,000 higher than the other, adding, "We're all bound by law to accept the higher bid."

Faucher, answering Roberts, said he felt the court had the responsibility to accept "the greatest possible certain return. Certainty is a factor they don't consider."

He asked Weston what shareholders were against the Boise bid, adding, "We feel the determination was made by the 95 per cent who said let's take the Western and Continental bid."

He also told the court Com-Tech had met its bid specifications only "by running around at the last minute, by trying to hang in there, changing their bid in court."

"This is how we have to judge them," he said.

It is generally accepted that a small mound called Hisarlik, about three miles from the Hellespont in Asia, is the site of Ilum, the ancient city of Troy.

Sellers' Marriage Doggy

LONDON (UPI)—Actor Peter Sellers Monday took a third wife. Her two Pekinese dogs were "bridesmaids."

Sellers, 44, married Miranda Quarry, 23-year-old stepdaughter of a British peer, at Caxton Hall Registry Office near Parliament.

The blonde Miss Quarry held the two dogs, Thomasina and Taffy, on her shoulders during the 10-minute civil ceremony. "They were my bridesmaids," she said afterward.

"I wasn't surprised to see the dogs," grinning Sellers added. "They go with Miranda everywhere."

Sellers, whose five-year marriage to Swedish actress Britt Ekland ended in divorce in 1969, is one of Britain's best-known comedy actors. Divorce in 1964 terminated his 13-year first marriage to Anne Howe, a British actress.

"This is the one," the bespectacled Sellers said as he hugged the bride he has known for two years. "We are very happy indeed. At the weekend, we shall be going to the south of France for a 10-day honeymoon cruise on my yacht."

My Lai Defense Attorneys Ask Classified Information

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Defense attorneys argued Monday for the disclosure of key and classified information that might shed further light on the alleged My Lai massacre.

The action came during a closed door pre-trial hearing for 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., former platoon leader charged with the premeditated murder of at least 102 South Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968.

Chief civilian defense attorney George W. Latimer said most of the morning hearing was taken up with arguments on motions for discovery—perusal by the defense of documents and memoranda which the government is expected to use in any trial action against Calley.

The defense and prosecution agreed to hold the hearing behind closed doors because of the top-secret nature of matters to be discussed.

Latimer said what he hoped to gain access to would include the written orders and information acquired through secret channels.

"I think we are trying to get some CIA records," he added.

Calley, smiling broadly, walked rapidly from a green staff car with his attorneys into the courtroom where the hearing was underway. It is the same building where he may eventually go on trial for his life. The trial had been expected to get underway Monday but was postponed a week ago.

Latimer said some of what he hoped to learn from the classified documents might well affect national security.

But, said the soft-spoken attorney, "I think anytime you are going to use classified documents to try to convict a man ... I think we are entitled to see them."

Calley is one of a dozen defendants charged in the alleged massacre but the only one, so far, who faces capital charges. He could be sentenced to death if found guilty.

Quorum Present At Ouster Meet

BOISE (UPI)—There was a quorum present at a recent Bannock County Republican Central Committee meeting in which officers were changed, an attorney general's opinion said Monday.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas Frost wrote Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa he felt the number present at a meeting Aug. 14 constituted a quorum in accordance with the rule of that committee found in Article XI of its by-laws.

By having such a quorum, Frost said, the Central Committee therefore was able to undertake its organizational duties in accordance with state law.

Minutes of the meeting showed that only 25 persons were present of the 52 certified as elected-committeemen by the county clerk.

Two other individuals were present, seeking to be seated but who were not certified.

Article XI of the committee's by-laws said that a quorum of the committee "shall consist of 10 committeemen."

In ruling there was a quorum present, Frost noted that the Idaho code contains no standard as to what constitutes a quorum.

He said the law requires 52 percent of the committeemen to be present at the county assembly which meets in May of each year of a general election but he said "the legislature chose to make no such provision in regard to the county Central Committee meeting."

However, he said central committees have been given the power to prescribe the rules for the conduct of their affairs in Idaho by state law.

"Various courts have decided the validity of a party rule defining a quorum where there is no specific statutory provision on conflict therewith," he said.

He cited a case in which a court in Idaho held that a county Central Committee of a political party lawfully could adopt a rule providing for a quorum composed of fewer than a majority of the committeemen.

Gem Candidates Fail To File

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson filed a statement of campaign expenses with the secretary of state today but 11 other major primary election contenders still had failed to do so.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa reminded Primary election candidates for state or national office that 5 p.m. today is the deadline for filing such statements of expenses.

Failure to file is a misdemeanor under Idaho law and punishable by a fine of $100 to $500 and or up to six months in the county jail.

Those who still had not filed included Wm. J. Brunner, Caldwell, Democratic nominee for Congress, First District; Rep. James A. McClure, GOP nominee, First District; Joel Anderson, Pocatello, American Party nominee, Second District; Marden Wells, Democratic nominee Second District; Rep. Orval Hansen, Republican nominee, Second District; Lloyd J. Walker, Democratic candidate for governor; Dick Smith, Republican candidate for governor; Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, Republican nominee; W. Anthony Park, Democratic nominee, attorney general; Attorney General Robert M. Robson, Republican nominee, and Supreme Court Justice Clay V. Spear.

Samuelson reported he spent a total of $828.89 on his primary election campaign. Cenarrusa explained this was the governor's "out of pocket" expense for the campaign.

He said Samuelson filed an earlier statement last Friday but later withdrew it and removed $3,700 — money spent in his behalf by a Samuelson reelection committee but not by the governor himself.

Of his expenditures, the governor listed $33.48 for envelopes; $189 for stamps; $79.01 for printing petitions; $231.76 for postion papers; $10.02 for lodging in Burley; $20 for lodging in Burley; $43.13 for gasoline purchases; $30.50 for miscellaneous expenditures, and $174 for a filing fee.

Cenarrusa said gubernatorial candidates are permitted to spend up to $10,000 in the primary election.

President Franklin Roosevelt recognized the Soviet Union in 1933 and named William C. Bullitt as our first ambassador to that nation.

EDEN — The National Conventions of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary will once again be in Portland, Oregon, Sept. 1-3, announced Mrs. Austin Mathoney, state president of the auxiliary, who completes her year at Portland. She will then become national executive committee woman from Idaho for the ensuing year. "Twice before (in 1932 and 1965) the world's largest veterans organization and its auxiliary held their conventions simultaneously in the City of Roses," she said. "Our official auxiliary headquarters will be in the Ramada Inn in downtown Portland, and our business sessions will be in the Portland Civic Auditorium, which seats 3,500 people and boasts of a beautiful stage complete with the latest lighting and sound equipment. "One of the most enjoyable events connected with the convention will be the big American Legion Parade," Mrs. Mathoney continued,

"which is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. Monday, Aug. 31; this is an event we all look forward to with great anticipation. Another pleasant event will be the annual States Dinner of the American Legion Auxiliary which will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 2, in the Grand Ballroom of the Portland Hilton Hotel, also in downtown Portland."

The auxiliary's convention will be their 60th and should attract many members from all over the country.

The Singing Codas of the Eden Auxiliary will enter the national music competition of the auxiliary at the convention. They have won honors before on national level both at Portland and Washington D.C.

These women spend many hours planning and practicing. They wear matching dresses each time they sing — whether for local entertainment, state or national level.

Mrs. Paul Brown, Filer, has been national chairman of education and scholarships for the auxiliary. Her year also terminates at the Portland convention. This is an appointment made each year by the national organization. Any

Local Couple Will Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Karl D. Patrick will be honored with an open house in observance of their 60th Wedding Anniversary from 1 to 5 p.m. Aug. 30 at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Patrick, west of Rogerson.

All friends of the couple are invited to attend. The couple requests no gifts.

Patrick came to Idaho from Kentucky in 1892 and the family settled in the Three Creek area. Mrs. Patrick, the former Carolyn Hartwell, came to Idaho from Illinois in 1894. Her family members were early settlers at Roseworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick were married Aug. 30, 1910, at Three Creek. They have three children, Mrs. Ruth Hullinger, Owyhee, Nev.; Rolland Patrick, Rogerson, and Denny Patrick, Idaho Falls. A daughter, Mrs. Irene Fox, died in August, 1960.

Rights Strike Slated

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretaries, are you up against the filing cabinet and tired of it? You are if you ever: Had to file for the man you work for.

—Dust his desk, water his plants and sometimes serve his lunch. —Get cuts on your hands from the edges of envelopes and file folders.

—Heard him refer to you as "my girl."

The Women's Strike Committee in New York makes those points in a flyer being distributed to secretaries. The committee hopes to enlist the secretaries in the Women's Liberation Strike, scheduled nationwide for Wednesday.

The committee said secretaries in such a position can do something other than striking to call attention to their work.

The suggestions: —Quit or tell the man if you wanted. KP you'd have enlisted in the Women's Army.

—Walk very slowly when he buzzes for you.

—On strike day, instead of answering the phone, "Mr. Tyrant's office," say "Mr. Tyrant for Women's Equality."

All of this is in the name of helping to celebrate that day 50 years ago when women suffragists finally won the vote after a long campaign that brought them ridicule, blows, jail.

Salaries are among reasons women are encouraged to complain. They want to be paid the same as men for similar work.

National averages of annual wages for full-time, year-round workers, 1968 (the latest figures available), show the gaps in salaries.

The statistics from the U.S. Women's Bureau:

For professional and technical workers, males get $10,151; females, $6,991; for non-farm managers, officials and proprietors, including office managers, males earn $10,340 and females, $5,635.

For clerical workers, including bookkeepers, file clerks, stenographers, males earn $7,351; females, $4,789; for operatives, described as mostly factory workers, the male figure is $6,738 and the female one, $3,991.

For service workers, including laundry workers, barbers, beauty operators and excluding private household workers, males get $6,958 and females, $3,332.

Less smoke, more sleep.

CHICAGO (UPI) — The latest American Cancer Society reason to give up smoking is, "You'll sleep better if you do."

The Spring Air Mattress Co. reports that university studies show when heavy smokers gave up tobacco, their sleep patterns changed for the better, in almost every case.

MRS. AUSTIN MATHONEY will be among those representing Idaho at the American Legion Auxiliary national convention in Portland Sept. 1, 2 and 3. Mrs. Mathoney, Eden, is state president; Mrs. Brown, Filer, serves as national chairman of education and scholarships for the auxiliary, and Mrs. McClain, Eden, will be district president of the local auxiliaries.

Skirt lengths go down for fall, but heads go high hat for the new season. Crowns are tall, taller, tallest. Hats will rise upward to balance the lengthened skirts and all types of brims, wide and sculptured, will emphasize the stretched-out look of the body beneath.

A new one will be made at Portland.

Mrs. Rex McClain will be district president of the local auxiliaries. This district includes Buhl, Filer, Twin Falls, Kimberly, Eden, Hazelton and Burley. The first convention for this district will be at Filer, Nov. 1.

Wrists Broken After Fall

RICHFIELD — Two broken wrists resulted from a fall from a horse when Tim Hardy, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Hardy, Marley area, tried a few circus tricks.

The child was riding a gentle saddle horse behind his brother, Jon Hardy, 12, when they stopped to talk to a neighbor. Tim suddenly tried balancing with both arms and legs held straight out.

The resulting fall broke both wrists in identical places. He was taken home by the neighbor, Mrs. Gail McGee, and then to the Jerome hospital for emergency treatment and now wears identical casts on both arms.

The accident happened late Saturday evening. The little boy is considered a good rider on the gentle saddle horse, a 4-H trained animal that always stopped when Tim fell off.

His brother, Jon, is recuperating from a badly cut foot and hand, the result of stepping on a rake in the yard at the Hardy ranch. He, too, was treated at the hospital emergency room and stitches taken in his hand.

ANXIOUS STANLEY AREA homeowners read over the draft of the resolution they will present at Wednesday's hearing in Sun Valley opposing the forming of a national park in the Sawtooth and Boulder Mountains. Officers of the Stanley Basin Homeowners Association, a newly-formed organization, are from left, Mrs. A. R. Miller, Kimberly, treasurer; Mrs. Boyd Ellis, Ketchum, secretary; Jerry Funderberg, Lower Stanley, vice president, and Miller, president.

Hay, Straw Destroyed By Blaze

SPRINGDALE — Hay, straw and an unused barn on the C. Alfred Rasmussen farm were destroyed by fire Saturday.

Rasmussen told the rural fire department officials, after they were called, he was burning stubble when a gust of wind swept the flames out of control. About seven tons of new hay, some old hay, straw and the old building were destroyed.

Fire department crews kept the fire from spreading to surrounding fields and other buildings.

Damage has been estimated at $500.

Idaho Frozen Foods to Start Production Sept. 8

TWIN FALLS — Full-scale production on the expanded processing lines of Idaho Frozen Foods, 456 Fall St., will begin Sept. 8, according to Vern Routh, president of the firm.

Rehiring of some employees who have been let off during slack periods will begin at that time, with addition of new employees during the initial phases of the expanded work, Routh said. On-the-job training will be given to the new employees. Depending on the amount of training needed, the instruction will take from a few hours to as long as a month.

The company will evaluate new employees for job status through its own personnel office in cooperation with the Twin Falls office of the state department of employment.

In addition to the additional equipment required by the expansion, a waste treatment plant will be completed within the next three weeks to remove solid material from waste water by means of clarifying filters, Routh said.

Assessor Speaks to Chamber

BURLEY — Calvin Heiner, Cassia County assessor, was the speaker during the chamber of commerce noon luncheon at Bryan's Cafe.

The last re-appraisal in the county was in 1960, reported Heiner. The county will be re-appraised as required by law, he added.

Ernest Blauer, president, said the board of directors set Nov. 10 as a combined banquet for the annual farmer's night and the annual chamber dinner for installing officers.

The board of directors also gave a vote of confidence to Ed Elliott who will represent this area at the special hearing Wednesday in Sun Valley concerning the Sawtooth legislation. Prior to the vote Elliott reported to the board "there has been a lot of discussion over the years about this proposal, but it appears now is the critical time and now is the time something will be done."

The board also heard a report on the Irrigation Fair which will be held Sept. 23 at Cassia County Fairgrounds. The latest in irrigation equipment will be on display. This is the first time the Irrigation Fair has ever been held in Idaho.

Max Bruce of the Bureau of Land Management, attended the board meeting by request and answered questions on land classification. Last week during the regular chamber meeting it was proposed the chamber issue a statement opposing the land classification. Last week during the regular chamber meeting it was proposed the chamber issue a statement opposing the land classification, but after Bruce answered questions and a long discussion by the board members, the motion was tabled.

Trophies which were won in the fair parade will be presented to the winners at next Monday's chamber meeting.

Bomb Threat

EDEN-HAZELTON — Valley High School received a bomb threat at 11:50 a.m. Monday. The building was cleared and after a search was made, no novall, classes resumed. Jerome County Sheriff Pat Burns and deputy Elmer Stevenson investigated.

BURLEY — The Cassia County Sheriff's Posse will host the Idaho State Riding Association and the Wood River Riding Association Saturday at Cassia County Fairgrounds.

The public and interested persons are invited. Planned is an afternoon show beginning at 12:30 p.m. and an evening show starting at 8 p.m., announced officials of the Cassia Posse.

ribbon pull and wild cow milking.

In the evening the events will be 10 barrel race, spud race, arena relay, flag race, figure eight race, baton race, cloverleaf race, water race, scurry race, trailer race and keyhole race.

Clean Air Auto Race Under Way

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 1970 Plymouth running on non-leaded gasoline was the first auto to reach the University of Toronto Monday in the second Transcontinental Clean Air Car Race.

The auto, from the University of California at Berkeley, was run by a team of four, Peter Venturini, John Nelson, Scott MacDonald, and Wayne Paulsen.

By nightfall, 31 of the 43 vehicles which started out for Toronto Monday had reached their destination. It was the first overnight stop in the seven-day 3,600 mile trek from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass., to the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

The autos are all designed to drastically reduce pollutants issued from auto exhausts. It appeared the electric and steam powered cars were having the slowest progress, as none had reached the university by late Monday night.

Two electric hybrids, however, checked in along with dozens of cars powered by natural, propane and unleaded gasoline.

The car that put impetus into the race was a hit late—12 hours—in starting.

KAY SORENSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Sorenson, Dietrich, has received his duty to God Award. He is a member of the LDS Church.

Defector Arrives in Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—A U.S. Marine who defected to the Viet Cong 18 months ago arrived today and was permitted to enter neutral Sweden after three hours of questioning. He is expected to seek asylum here.

The former serviceman, John M. Sweeney, 21, of New York City, arrived via Moscow from Hanoi, North Vietnam. Police were waiting when he stepped from the plane.

Striking Laborers Warned

NEW PLYMOUTH, Idaho (UPI)—Richard Hayes, Payette County sheriff, said Monday night he and officers from Canyon County were called to the Tony Mell farm north of Anderson Corner to warn striking migrant laborers to stop blocking traffic.

He said Canyon County sheriff's officials notified his department that some 100 Mexican-American striking farm workers were on the way to the Mell farm to strike for on-farm field workers.

He said he talked to a spokesman for the group Jorge Ochoa, who said he was going to organize the 30 to 50 workers to strike for better wages and working conditions. Hayes added no problems resulted from the attempted strike, except for cat-calling and harrasing of the field workers.

He said some of the laborers came out of the fields to join the strikers, but when the group left after 2 1/2 hours, workers returned to the onion fields. Hayes said, "They were creating a traffic hazard, and we warned them not to block the highway with their cars. That's all the interest we have in it at the present time."

Hayes said rumored violence on the part of the workers or the sheriff's officials was false.

Board of Examiners Study State Police Request

BOISE (UPI)—The State Board of Examiners met in special session Monday to discuss a request from the Department of Law Enforcement requested by the board last week and to trim $1,423 from the original figure.

The department had asked for approval to spend $19,140 to send Idaho State Police Sgt. Richard Foote, Idaho Falls, to Northwestern University for a nine-month traffic planning course. The federal government would have paid for 62.5 per cent of the cost.

Board members rejected the request, however, and asked law enforcement Commissioner Warner Mills to appear to discuss the expense items.

Mills said the total cost—including both state and federal expenses—could be decreased to $17,718 by allowing a $16 per diem rate for 285 days, but deleting all personal costs.

Also, he would decrease the funds allotted for local travel and by changing the original $692 request for two round trips to one round trip to Chicago on coach class at $160.

The state board asked Mills to prepare a new request incorporating the changes mentioned Monday and to send it around Tuesday for approval by the board.

Attorney General Robert Robson asked about the category for "student activity and medical expenses" and noted Foote would be covered both under the university medical plan and the state medical plan.

L. Clark Hand, state police superintendent, said he believed the medical services were a "fixed cost" and mandatory for enrollment at the Evanston, Ill., school.

Mills also told the board he believed Foote would take his wife and children with him during the school year, but added, he's not being allotted any additional money for those people.

Robson, referring to the $16 per diem rate, said Foote "would make money while he's back there. This is unusual."

"It's true if you go on a trip you get per diem," Robson said. "But this is a 10-month school and he's taking his whole tribe back there." Living costs were finally estimated at $8.50 a day for meals and $110 a month for room, the estimated cost of a dormitory room for a man.

"I think we ought to encourage these guys to go to school," Robson said. "But the thing is I don't want him making any more money off of us than he would if he were here at home except for his school costs. We're not obligated to send his family back there—and we're not obligated to pick up any expenses for them."

Ravenscroft Named as Legislative Candidate

WENDELL — State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, will have his name placed on the ballot in the November general election.

Ravenscroft was appointed as the Democratic candidate after Joe McCarter, Corral, officially withdrew his candidacy

Monday evening during a meeting of Legislative District 22A in Wendell.

McCarter withdrew to assume the State Democratic Party chairmanship. Ravenscroft was a gubernatorial candidate in the Aug. 4 Primary election, but lost out to Cecil Andrus.

During the business meeting, the proposed Sawtooth National Park was discussed and those there were 100 per cent against the proposal.

Les Ruby, chairman, appointed Bob Frederickson and Harvey Iverson, both Gooding, and Leon Aslett, Jerome, to arrange for auctions in the near future to raise political funds.

The next district meeting will be Sept. 8 at Zollinger's American Service, Wendell.

Grandstands About Complete

FILED — Fair time is just two weeks away and crews at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds here say they are going to make their deadline.

Construction of the new concrete grandstand, which will seat 3,584 persons in complete comfort, is all but finished. Installation of aluminum seats with backs and plenty of foot room began this week and should be completed within a few days, says Tom Shouse, fair manager.

For the first time this year, box seats are being sold by fair board members and at the fairgrounds office. These are offered on a four-night basis with a total of 60 available. They cover the front three rows and are being sold much faster than they can be installed, says Harold Hove, fair board chairman.

All seats in the modern new grandstand will be reserved, but there will be bleacher accommodations for some 2,000 additional spectators. Many of these have already been put in place, but more will be erected during the final week.

Shouse said another chore that will be completed in the coming two weeks will be painting of the new bucking chutes and holding pens that front the arena. A temporary judge's stand above the chutes is being erected and will be replaced by a permanent structure for next year.

Probably some of the painting will have to wait until next year, but all of the necessities will be available for the grand opening of the 1970 fair and rodeo Sept. 9, Shouse said.

The impressive concrete structure replaces the old wooden stands that burned last fall and represent an investment of $259,000. The new structure provides a new location for the arena and is designed to provide for construction of a regulation race track.

Hove said he believes in the not too distant future, Twin Falls County will have horse racing under lights at some time during the summer months.

Some other fair time activity is evident at the Filer facility with some concession stands under construction and the fair office bustling with activity.

Richfield Enrollment Said Down

RICHFIELD — Richfield schools opened Monday with a noticeable decrease in enrollment, especially in the elementary school.

Total enrollment of 175 placed 70 students in the high school and 105 in the lower grades.

The smallest class is the second grade with eight students. The first grade has 12 pupils; third, 12; fourth, 9; fifth, 17; sixth, 13; seventh, 18; and eighth, 16.

Mrs. W. T. Flavell is eighth grade teacher and principal; Walter Thoresen, seventh; Mrs. Melvin Pope, sixth; Mrs. L. E. Brown, fifth; Mrs. Frances Priestled, fourth; Mrs. Clarence Lemmon, third; Mrs. Edna Bell, second, and Mrs. Max Behr, first.

High school faculty members are Gary Kisler, mathematics, chemistry and counseling; James Thomas, history, social studies and girls' physical education; Merrill Beyerler, coach, French, general science biology; Mrs. L. T. Sanders, home economics and library; Charles Buttane, commercial subjects and driver's training, and V. C. Ross, English and speech. Neil Anderson is superintendent.

Mrs. Carol Peterson was hired as the third bus driver. School policies were reviewed at a teacher's meeting. Standards of dress for school students will remain the same as last year. Girls will be permitted to wear slacks or pant suits one day per month. The first football game is scheduled for Friday afternoon at Richfield with Bliss high school. A record dance for the students will be held that night with the cheerleaders as sponsors.

Reunion Set

BUHL — The Buhl high school classes of 1925 and 1926 are holding their reunion Sept. 5 and 6.

A banquet at the Buhl Moose hall will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday with a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. At 1 p.m. Sunday, the group will have a picnic at the Idaho Power plant picnic grounds at Clear Lakes.

Hailey Chamber Favors Recreation

HAILEY — Hailey's Chamber of Commerce Monday went on record in favor of leaving the Sawtooth, Boulder and White Clouds areas under the management of the U. S. Forest Service as it is at present.

Meeting in special session this week under the newly-elected president Kent Frandsen, the 20 members present agreed to send a wire to Congressman

Orval Hansen requesting that the action be placed on the record in the hearing. The meeting was called to determine the chamber's position on the proposed legislation calling for the area to become a national park and recreation area.

Those voicing approval of the decision to keep the area as it presently is were W. J. Odornato, Leo Stavros, Dr. Alden Packer, Bill House and Walt Cameron.

Diphtheria Spreading In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Parents in school districts which have not been hard hit by the current diphtheria epidemic are sending their children to school as usual. But what may become the critical situation doesn't begin until Wednesday.

School officials said 45,000 students returned to school Monday in a city in which 60 persons have contracted diphtheria so far this year—36 within the last month. Two children have died from the disease since Jan. 1.

But the districts which have been the hardest hit by the disease—predominantly Mexican-American and Negro districts—do not begin classes until Wednesday. Doctors fear the sudden congestion of these students, who more likely have been exposed to the disease, could rapidly spread the diphtheria epidemic.

Return Home

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. David Rands and Mark Dille have returned from Alaska where the men worked the past summer for the Bureau of Land Management.

They will all three return to Brigham Young University this fall to resume their studies.

Prizes Awarded At Picnic

SHOSHONE — Prizes offered at the North Shoshone Homeowners annual potluck picnic held Sunday at the Mary L. Gooding Park, Shoshone, revealed considerable "history" about those who attended.

Mrs. Halcie Jones received the prize for being the person who had lived on the homestead land the longest, since 1856 while David Christiansen, Shoshone, received the prize for the largest family. He is the father of 17 children.

Mrs. Jones also was listed as the oldest mother present, while Charlene, Colleen, Carley and Christy Jones were winners of the prize for three sisters or more there, and sons of Laverne Cody, Blackfoot, received the prize for the most sons present, and Cody also had the youngest child present, 18-month-old Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. David Johnston, Mesa, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cozad, Earlimart, Calif., came the greatest distance; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guthrie, Shoshone, received the prize for having been married the longest, 44 years, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnston for having the most grandchildren, 46.

Mrs. Tom Tanner, Hollister, was the youngest mother; Tom Tanner, the youngest father; Heather Jones, the youngest girl present; Mr. and Mrs. Don Cody, couple married most recently—three weeks ago; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cody, couple with youngest grandchild, one born on June 28, and Royal Bench, Blackfoot, having the biggest hat.

Winners in games were Laverne Cody and Janice Jones. About 100 persons attended the event, coming from Pocatello, Blackfoot, Gooding, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Burley, Lewiston, Hollister, California and Arizona. Officers are Wale Jones, president, and Mrs. Ervin Braun, North Shoshone, secretary.

Booths at Fair Eyed By Chorus

JEROME — Jerome Varsity chorus will be sponsoring three booths at the Jerome county fair this week.

The club hopes to earn enough money to send the chorus to Oregon. They will be selling chiliburgers, having a dunking booth and a ring toss booth.

Any pie donations from the community to be used at the food stand will be appreciated. Pies can be taken to Jan. Tucker's home, one mile north of Jerome, prior to the beginning of the fair, or left any time during the fair.

Club members expressed appreciation for the generous donation from Jerome Bean Growers Association.

Gov. Don Samuelson complained about the original request, which he okayed.

"I thought it was for several people," he said. "There were several names on it."

Secretary of State Pete Carranza cautioned the board to remember "the fact that out of state just costs a lot more."

Robson assured Mills that if the estimates were not sufficient to pay for Foote's expenses, the board would consider upping the allotment, but Mills said it would be "too much to ask a man to incur those expenses."

Russia Cut Back Peru Disaster Aid

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has quietly ended its airlift of relief supplies to Peruvian earthquake victims after delivering only 21 of the promised 65 plane loads.

Peruvian officials have been told that the remainder of the Soviet aid for victims of the May 31 disaster will have to come by sea. They offered no explanation.

U.S. intelligence sources say, however, that the Russians obviously found it more difficult than they had anticipated to carry out a major airlift halfway around the world involving use of strange lines and flying unfamiliar routes.

The official assessment in Washington was that Russia had failed to achieve the propaganda impact it had hoped for when it told Peru at the beginning of July that 65 plane loads of relief material would arrive within a week or 10 days.

At the same time, however, the Soviet Union undoubtedly gathered considerable information concerning the problems it must overcome in its program to penetrate the western coast of South America with commercial air routes.

U.S. officials consider the Russian relief operation aside from its humanitarian aspects to have had three principal objectives: —Convince Latin Americans of the ability of the Soviet Union to move large amounts of material long distances in a very short time.

—Conduct proving flights for the massive AN22, a prop jet plane which is Russia's largest transport, as well as the AN12, a somewhat smaller plane.

—Demonstrate that any Communist regime vying power in Latin America would be able to count on speedy supplies of military equipment and economic aid by air.

When the AN22 carrying a field hospital was lost in the North Atlantic July 18, the Russians suspended the flights for a week. When they resumed, they sent in only nine more planes before telling the Peruvians the airlift was ended, far short of its goal.

U.S. intelligence officers say the Russians had servicing and fueling problems at every point, including Cuba. Facilities for servicing the AN22 were not adequate. In addition, although the planes ostensibly were Aeroflot craft, the Russian commercial carriers, the refueling fittings were of a military type and they had no adaptors.

LET 'EM BUCK! Fair Manager Tom Showe, left, and Harold Hove, fair board chairman, appear to be waiting for the first bronc to emerge from the bucking chutes as they try out one of the new aluminum seats now being installed at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds grandstand. The seats, although made of metal, remain comfortably cool on the hottest summer day and are outfitted with back rests and plenty of foot room to keep fans in complete comfort. Installation of the seats in the new concrete stands began this week.

Cambodians Hit Attacking Reds

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian troops early today broke up another major Communist assault against Phnom Penh's defensive network after seven hours of close quarters fighting against superior numbers of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

Military spokesmen said 1,500 Cambodian defenders halted the attack by an estimated 3,000 Communist troops shortly before dawn at a point nine miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

The communiques said the Communist troops left behind "numerous bodies" as yet uncounted.

The battle at Prek Tameak was the second in less than a week. In fighting there six days ago, the Cambodian command said its forces killed 500 Communist troops dead.

Six Cambodian battalions have been sweeping the area as part of the defense of Phnom Penh's environs although military spokesmen said only about 1,500 government troops were involved in the latest fighting. They were aided by mortar-equipped riverboats and Allied air strikes.

Communiques also reported a Viet Cong attack against Saang, 20 miles south of Phnom Penh. Cambodian defenders called in air strikes and broke up the attack, military spokesmen said.

Spokesmen said Viet Cong troops carried out overnight mortar attacks against the encircled city of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh in what has become an almost daily occurrence. The city has been under siege more than a month.

Reports from Saigon said U.S. B-52 bombers hit targets near the Laotian border in northernmost Quang Tri Province, which adjoins the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

American Party Rise Predicted

BOISE (UPI) — Chairman Earl Manchester, Boise, of the American Party said today the two-party system would return to Idaho with his party and a merger of the twin political conglomerates.

Manchester said "many dissident Republicans and Democrats" attended an organizational meeting at Coeur d'Alene last Saturday evening in the Kootenai Courthouse.

Three things were stressed at the meeting, he said: —Apathy of the American public.

—The gluttonous greed for power and the "Yankee" dollar.

—The nation's $400 billion debt, including this year's $14 billion plus deficit and the $2 billion per month interest taxpayers are paying.

Two persons became legislative candidates at the meeting, both running in the Third District. Versel Clark announced for the Senate and Betty Mathes for the House. Both are from Coeur d'Alene.

During the meeting the party members advocated a return to "51 forms of government." By that, he said, they mean one government in Washington, D.C., to take care of national and international affairs and 50 independent governments of the states which is "states rights."

"We are definitely opposed to any manner of gun control and enactment of which would leave civilians unarmed and the criminal element armed," he said.

Gem Tax Assessment Increases 4.9 Per Cent

BOISE (UPI) — Assessed valuation of Idaho's real and personal property for 1970 shows an increase of 4.9 per cent from last year, a report from the State Tax Commission showed today.

In its monthly publication, "Idaho News Letter," the commission said assessed values increased $34,544,050, offsetting a loss of $17,292,150 from the legislative exemption of livestock, merchandise and forest products.

The total assessed valuation for the year amounts to $737,972,504, the commission said. Last year it was $703,427,605.

Ada County had the greatest dollar increase with $9,620,550. Clark County showed the highest percentage increase at 10.2.

Five counties — Bear Lake, Gooding, Lincoln, Oneida and Washington — showed a loss in assessed valuation. "Each had an increase in land and improvements," the report said, "but this could not overcome the deficit due to the phase out of business inventory."

Meantime, the commission said a final valuation of operating property of railroads, pipelines and utilities in the state shows an estimated market value for assessment purposes of $877,269,608, an increase of $30,604,432 or 4.35 per cent from 1969.

"At a ratio of 28.42 per cent, this produced an assessed valuation of $249,320,014 — up $1,434,244 of 1.81 per cent over 1969," the report said.

"The reduction of ratio from 29.13 per cent in 1969 to 28.42 per cent in 1970, without growth, would have resulted in a loss of 2.4 per cent," the commission added.

"Electric power companies, as a category, received the only reduction in assessed value — $280,114 or .75 per cent. Telephone companies showed the largest dollar increase with $3,226,023. Private railroad-car companies increased 10.8 per cent." —The commission said total assessed value of all real, personal and operating property — to which levies will be applied — amounts to $974,724,942 for 1970. This compares to $930,993,817 last year or amounts to an increase of $43,731,155 or 4.63 per cent.

China Seat Muddled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 17-year-old resolution, putting Congress on record against the admission of Mainland China to the United Nations, may face a challenge in the Senate this year.

It could touch off a full-scale Senate debate on U.S. policy toward Mainland China. —Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., indicated they would discuss the possibility of trying to kill the resolution. But no decision has been taken.

The resolution is tucked away — and has been since 1953 — in the appropriations bill for the State and Justice departments. Put there originally over State Department objections, it now comes to Congress as part of the budget.

The resolution states "It is the sense of the Congress that the Communist Chinese government should not be admitted to membership in the United Nations as the representative of China."

Kennedy said it was "outrageous" the resolution should be included in an appropriations bill and indicated he would canvass colleagues to determine if there is enough opposition to warrant a floor fight.

McGovern, who said he would talk with Kennedy and others about trying to eliminate the resolution, candidly admitted "I don't know if there is any chance of knocking it out."

But McGovern said raising the issue could lead to "extended debate on the whole China policy" and he questioned whether the appropriations bill was the correct vehicle for an examination of U.S. policy.

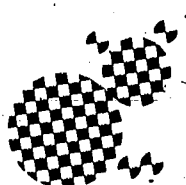

McGovern said he felt China would be "less dangerous in the U.N. than outside" and said Congress and the Nixon administration will "have to face up to the need for a reassessment of U.S. policy toward Red China."

Casper Takes Easy Win In AVCO Tourney

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Veteran pro Billy Casper calmly pulled away from the field Monday to grab his $32,000 first prize in the Avco Golf Classic with a decisive three-stroke victory for his fourth win of the current tour.

The 39-year-old Casper, already a millionaire, surged from seventh place to the top of the current tour earnings list ahead of the late Jack Nicklaus with a $139,585 total.

Californian Casper shot a three under par 69 in the rain-postponed final round of the tournament while fighting off the late challenges of Tom Weiskopf, Rod Punseth and Dan Sikes.

Casper's triumph with a 72-hole total of 277, 11 under par, earned him a big slice of satisfaction in addition to the one of the fastest purses of the year. He missed the qualifying cut in the Avco on the same Pleasant Valley course just a year ago, the first and only time of his 15-year tour career that he has failed to qualify for the money rounds.

Casper, who had led the $160,000 tournament by three strokes after two rounds but only one entering the postponed final round turned the heat on his fellow pros by shooting birdies on the first two holes

Heritage Ousted By Intrepid

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Bill Ficker guided Intrepid to a seven minute, 28 second victory Monday to eliminate Heritage from trials to choose a United States defender for the America's Cup.

The France and Gretel II—were still racing each other when Heritage was eliminated. The selection committee from the New York Yacht Club was waiting at the dock for the Heritage's return after her loss to thank skipper Charlie Morgan for his effort and excuse him from further competition. The elimination leaves only Intrepid and Vallant, skippered by Bill McCullough of Riverside, Conn., in the running to become the defender.

It was the fourth victory in five races for Intrepid and the fourth defeat in five starts for Heritage, a new 12-meter yacht from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Start of the Gretel—France race was delayed almost two hours by lack of wind, but then began in satisfactory eight-knot west-southwest breezes. Gretel crossed the starting line first by three seconds, and built that to a 1:14 lead at the first mark of the six-leg, 24.3 mile race.

Delfour, who replaced 67-year-old Louis Noverraz of Switzerland as France's skipper after Gretel beat France last Friday on a tactical error by Noyerraz, found better winds and slipped into the lead for the next two legs.

Monday but slipped slightly mid-way in the round as Sikes, the opening round leader briefly pulled into a top tie. But Sikes would up with a one-over 73 on the round to drop behind the early-finishing Punseth and Weiskopf who shot 66 and 71, respectively, to tie for second at 280. Their finish was worth $14,800 apiece. Casper's fourth tournament victory of the year put him two triumphs ahead of his nearest tour challenger since nobody else has taken more than two this year. Casper won six tour events in 1968.

Weiskopf blamed "mistakes" for his failure to overtake the Avco winner, noting that "it's just a game of putting out there." He said he was "discouraged" with his game on the greens.

Funseth, who finished nearly two hours before most of the gallery of 24,925 escorted Casper home in the televised windup, had seven birdies and a single bogey on his final round to move up from nine-way tie for 21st place after three rounds.

Casper, who had complained bitterly about interference from photographers, the gallery and "slamming outhouse doors" during his third round Saturday, admitted he "really enjoyed" the day off resulting from Sunday's storm and said the "noise was much better today, nobody bothered me."

The veteran tourist explained that "I've been going very steadily for a little over two months, so I really enjoyed yesterday" as a rare day off.

3 Rams Are Injured In Raiders Tilt

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — Reserve defensive tackle Rick Cash was waived as injured Monday by the Los Angeles Rams after team physicians reported the three-year veteran would be sidelined for at least two months with a broken forearm.

Cash, from Northeastern Missouri, suffered the injury Saturday night in the Rams victory over the Oakland Raiders at Los Angeles.

Two other players were injured less seriously and were expected to be available for this Saturday night's game at San Diego against the Chargers. They are safety Richie Pettibon who bruised his left shoulder and defensive tackle Diron Talbert who suffered a slight concussion.

Couch George Allen sent his Rams through a single workout on the gridiron on Fullerton State park Monday but scheduled double drills Tuesday and Thursday. Allen also announced the Rams would break camp here this weekend and will practice at the team's regular camp in Long Beach starting NEXT Monday.

Harold S. (Mike) Vanderbilt died on July 4, just two days before his 86th birthday. Oswald Jacoby is taking over today's column to tell something about the inventor of contract bridge.

Mike was a perfectionist. One reason why he successfully defended the America's Cup three times was that he learned everything possible about sailing conditions where the races would be held.

When he invented contract in 1925, he did such a good job that his original laws have continued with practically no change. No-trump became 40 for the first trick and 30 thereafter, instead of 35 a trick, to get rid of the odd fives and the penalties have been slightly reduced, but slam and rubber bonuses and the vulnerable feature are unchanged.

He played in his Vanderbilt bill tournament several times and won it once with his favorite partner, Walter von Zentwitz. He also won the American Whist League pairs and team with me in 1935. He is one of the hands that helped us win the team:

I opened the three of clubs. Mike was a studious player and he thought over his first play for several minutes. I could see South getting more and more nervous as Mike thought. Finally, Mike produced the right spot. South had to take his ace and could do no better than play diamonds. I took my ace and led a second club to get declarer.

Had Mike played a club honor, South would have made four no-trump and won the board for his side, since our partners had bid five diamonds and made six. South's team would also have won the tournament, since they did finish in second place just one-half a board behind us.

What do you do now?
A-Bid five diamonds. This is a very slight overbid but only a real pessimist would refuse to try for game.

Boys And Girls Bikes Are In Great Demand.

Mendelssohn: Symphony No. 3 in A Major, Hebrides Overture, London Symphony Orchestra, Peter Maag, conductor (London 6533, 15091)

Mendelssohn's third symphony, conceived when he was only 20 but written when he was 33, and his Hebrides Overture, written when he was 21, are among his best works.

Although Mendelssohn began writing his string symphonies when he was 12, the symphonic series we know today are actually his full orchestral symphonies, which he started producing when he was about 20.

The third was produced six years before his death at age 39, and is one of his most mature works. It is a soaringly beautiful creation of string and muted horn, working deeply into a theme which is explored throughout the four movements of the work.

The Hebrides Overture is one of the most beautiful to come from Mendelssohn's pen, for its lyrical beauty is succinctly stated, repeated, and examined in vigorous musical terms.

Peter Maag and the London Symphony Orchestra subtly handle Mendelssohn's work, staying faithfully to the composer's score for the works.

The recording is good, with full balance and good orchestral presence.

Vivaldi: Concertos for Flute, Violin, Bassoon and Harpsichord (Dover HCR 5216)

A quartet of Italian virtuosos perform five of these rarely-recorded Vivaldi works, turning in a delightful performance of delicate baroque music.

Vivaldi's unusual instrumentation came largely because he taught in a girl's school, and he had to write works for the available soloists he had on hand.

Consequently, he produced some of the most delightfully diverse music in history, and explored unusual paths that few other composers dared venture.

These five works (G Minor, F, D, A Minor, and D) are childlike and simple in structure, but yet are immensely appealing and interesting.

You can easily envision several young girls playing these tunes under Vivaldi's instruction.

The recording is excellent, the record a delight.

Liszt, Schumann: Vladimir Horowitz (Seraphim 60114)

The latest in its "Greatest Recording of the Century" series, this record of works by the legendary pianist Vladimir Horowitz contains six works by Liszt and Schumann recorded between 1932 and 1934.

They are, for their age, remarkably well preserved and perfectly suitable for this high fidelity age if the listener is content to sacrifice the sound quality for the playing quality.

Horowitz' pianistic style was supreme for decades, and only his recent return to the stage has demonstrated to a new generation of admirers that the man's remarkable talents are still awesome.

They are all, to a man, done in the electric flair and style of Horowitz. For those collectors and those Horowitz admirers, this album is a must.
