TEN CENTS

Russ Builds Egypt Arms

LONDON (UPI) — Russia is shipping large quantities of new heavy arms to Egypt, diplomatic sources said today. The sources said arms have been arriving in an "almost continuous stream" before and since the cease-fire Aug. 7. The shipments include heavy guns including a new type longrange gun apparently intended for installment behind the present Egyptian Suez Canal war line. Ranges of the guns that could reach behind the well into the Israeli-held defense front, the sources said.

The shipments also were said to include considerable quantities of SAM2 and SAM3 missiles, radar and superstructure material and amphibious craft, the sources said. The supplies apparently are being delivered under recent agreements concluded during the prolonged visit last month in Moscow of Egyptian President Gamal Abdul Nasser and his top military advisers. On the Soviet side, the military negotiators were headed at the time by Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko.

SAWTOOTH PERILS are not only political ones. Here Rep. James McClure, right, checks the peeling and blistered face of Rep. Orval Hansen. Hansen said his condition resulted from "sun exposure before and during" his visit to the mountains with the House Interior subcommittee considering the area's future. See story page 15. Samuelson Testimony Cut Short

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor
SUN VALLEY — Reading a statement written by Gov. Don Samuelson—or rather an attempt to read it—sparked the Sawtooth-White Cloud mountain hearing here Wednesday. Al Minton, head of Idaho's Department of Commerce and Development, was abruptly gravely into silence by Rep. Roy A. Taylor, chairman of the House Interior Subcommittee on Parks and Recreation after Minton read the Governor's statement far past the three-minute time limit set for presentations.

The Governor's representative had not reached the halfway point of Samuelson's prepared statement when Rep. Taylor struck the gavel. With "asides" by the chairman, which brought cheers and laughter from those in the crowded Opera House favoring the national-park concept, piercing the air, Minton continued to read. But by this time there was so much confusion that his words were not audible. After Minton returned to his seat, Chairman Taylor said there would be an opportunity in Washington, at some future time, for the governor to be heard at "great length" but that there was not "time now."

testimony from a single organization was "pooled." One person's testimony was given with others submitting copies of their proposed talk to the committee. Finally, at the afternoon session, two separate meetings were held. One was headed by Chairman Taylor and the other by Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz. Rep. Udall's session was held in a room in the Challenger Inn. Through the morning session a news-media count showed those favoring a national recreation area were slightly more numerous than those favoring a park. Major state and county agencies from throughout the state, conservation organizations and individuals were represented. Rep. James McClure, Idaho's First District Congressman, a member of the committee, and Rep. Orval Hansen, second district, sat in on the hearing. McClure said that it is "most important" that the moratorium portion of the proposed legislation be passed as soon as possible. He indicated it might be next spring before the committee would rule on the entire package. Rep. Hansen said he would reserve his official comments until he appeared before the committee in Washington at a later date. The committee's decision will settle a "national problem," Rep. McClure said, but he added that "it is most your problem and that of the state of Idaho."

Arabs Cry Truce Foul

By United Press International
Egypt has charged Israel with violating the Mideast cease-fire by building up its defenses along the Suez Canal, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said in Cairo today. It said Egypt has submitted documents to Washington and the United Nations to back the charges. It was Egypt's first official charge of cease-fire violations since the truce went into effect Aug. 7. Israel has made at least six. And for the first time during the cease-fire, there were no reports of clashes along Israeli-Arab front on Wednesday. Since Arab guerrillas have not signed the truce—nor has Syria and Iraq—there has been some fighting every day. In Amman, Jordan, the Palestinian guerrillas were mapping plans to prevent a political settlement of the Middle East War. The 115-man Palestine National Council—a sort of parliament in exile—met in emergency session. The main topic was how to defeat the U.N.-sponsored negotiations between Israel, Jordan and Egypt that began Tuesday in New York.

A spokesman for the largest guerrilla group, Al Fatah, said "The council is not meeting just to reject surrender and peaceful solutions but also to draw up a constructive plan which will be able to frustrate this and similar attempts." The meeting came after a day of the worst fighting between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian security forces in two months. At the United Nations, mediator Gunnar V. Jarring met with both the Jordanian and Egyptian representatives Wednesday. The Israeli representative, ambassador to the U.N. Yosef Tekonah, flew back to Israel Tuesday for consultations. Diplomatic sources said the United States also was keeping "frequent, continuous and steady" contacts with the parties to the Middle East peace talks by telephone, private meetings and notes.

Today's Al-Ahram article said the alleged Israeli violations included redeployment of a large number of troops on a large scale within the cease-fire zone east of the Suez Canal and construction of new military roads in the area.

Pollution Suit Settlement Eyed

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — The state is trying to obtain a consent decree in Fifth Judicial District Court to settle the suit brought against Amalgamated Sugar Co., Twin Falls. Dwayne Board, Idaho Attorney General's Office, representing the Idaho Department of Health, said he has prepared a draft of such a decree for approval and possible revision by attorneys for the sugar company. Board said because the firm's attorney has been called to Boston, no further action is expected until next week. When the decree draft is completed, Board said, it will be filed with the district court in Twin Falls where Judge Theron W. Ward may call a hearing. A complaint against the Twin Falls sugar beet processing firm was filed several weeks ago, charging the company with polluting Rock Creek and the Snake River and asking the court restrain the firm from continuing such practices. Board said the case is a test case which may serve as a basis for action against other processing companies discharging industrial effluent into Snake River and tributary streams. He said the consent decree being prepared stipulates a three year schedule which would give the company three years in which to install proper treatment facilities to end their contribution to pollution of Rock Creek and the river. By keeping the matter in the courts through the consent decree, both parties are agreeing to the decree but it becomes enforceable by the court. In this way, should the company fail to meet the requirements of the decree the court has the power to enforce compliance, Board explained.

Border Crash Kills 1

A head-on collision Wednesday one mile north of Jackpot, Nev., on U. S. Highway 93 killed Larry Wayne Campbell, 29, Cerritos, Calif., and critically wounded his nephew. Campbell was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Coroner Cloyce Edwards and Paul Libby, 6, suffered back, chest and head injuries. He was taken by ambulance to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials listed him as in critical condition this morning. Police said the 1968 Javelin headed north driven by Campbell, went out of control, swerved back and forth across the highway, and collided head on with a 1969 half-ton pickup truck headed south, driven by David Geier, 59, Lodi, Calif. Geier, his wife Martha, 58; Shirley Campbell, 29; Barbara Campbell, 1, and John Campbell, 3, also suffered injuries in the accident, but were not taken to the hospital. The Campbell family is staying at the D. A. Heider residence, Twin Falls, until relatives can make contact with them, State police said.

Senate Approves Viet Defoliation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate decided Wednesday to permit the continued defoliation of crops and forests in Vietnam over protests it was sanctioning starvation warfare and an environmental disaster. A solid majority accepted the Pentagon's contention that chemical defoliation was necessary to save American lives by denying the enemy food and jungle sanctuaries. The Senate defeated, 62-22, an amendment by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to ban the military use of antiplant chemicals and prohibit stockpiling or transporting the devices. The United States has used an assortment of herbicides in Vietnam for eight years. Nelson said more than 100 million pounds of chemicals have been sprayed over 5 1/2 million acres of the Vietnamese countryside. Opponents of the amendment, led by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., contended herbicides were carefully controlled and used only on enemy crops in areas which troops could not capture on foot.

REGISTRATION at the College of Southern Idaho this year lacked the usual frenetic, confusing rush of many collegiate signups, because of heavy early enrollment. Students trickled in to the Shields Academic Building Wednesday and today, as pictured, and advisors had plenty of time to plan schedules and advise students.

CSI, High School Sign Up

TWIN FALLS — Registration at the College of Southern Idaho continued today at a leisurely pace building toward a projected enrollment 10 percent above last year. At Twin Falls High School, no major increase is estimated, according to John Lawrence, principal of the school. Registration was completed on Wednesday, and an early estimate indicates from 1,400 to 1,500 students will begin classes next Monday. The 1969 enrollment at the high school was 1,505 Lawrence said. He estimated this year's sign up as "comparable." Early registration at the College of Southern Idaho allowed nearly 1,000 students to enroll earlier this month. Registrar Jerry Meyerhoeffer said that "Any student who wanted to enroll in a hurry could do so today," as counselors were not rushed. The total CSI enrollment will be approximately 2,500 students, including 1,500 academic day students, 300 in the vocational classes and 700 night or part-time students, Meyerhoeffer said. High school students will be crowded somewhat, until additional space now under construction can be completed. Lawrence said that completion of the work will take four to six weeks. The counselors' office should be complete within two weeks after school starts, and the library is ready except for light fixtures that have been delayed by shipping. Lawrence said the lack of new classrooms will force teachers to double up and to rotate between classrooms, but that the situation is no worse than that of the last three years.

Colleges 'Unready'

TWIN FALLS — College campuses of Idaho are badly prepared for potential turmoil that has occurred elsewhere in the nation, Idaho Attorney General Robert Hobson said here Wednesday. Addressing the Twin Falls Lions Club, the Republican candidate for re-election, said firm campus guidelines must be drawn. "Then," he said, "they must be told what that line is." "It must be clear to students and faculty alike just how much will be tolerated." The speaker said one of the major breakdowns between students and college administration is failure by college officials to adopt policies and disseminate full information on those policies so the student will know where he stands. Hobson told Lions Club members "he believes his generation is largely to blame for youth problems. People born of the depression era whose youngsters are now in high school and college, he said, have been so busy making their place in the world they have no time for their children." Hobson suggested many fathers should close up their offices at 5 p. m., let the golf game go and do something with their sons and daughters to let them know their parents do care what they feel and think. Those people who condemn the students who are rioting and the college administrators who seem to be permitting it have a responsibility too, Hobson said.

Soviet Women Don't Burn Bras

By United Press International
Soviet women would be horrified at the thought of any enthusiasts in the Women's Liberation Movement in the United States burning their bras Wednesday. Good Western bras are hard to come by in Russia. They also would be surprised to find their affluent Western sisters demanding equal rights in the fields of medicine, law, science and others. Soviet women have achieved professional equality with their menfolk and even dominate many of the professions that are nearly men-only in the United States. Eighty per cent of Russian doctors, for example, are women. Israeli women also have equal status with men in jobs and pay and have had since they fought side by side with men in Israel's war of independence in 1948. Both men and women face compulsory military service today, women for 20 months and men for three years. One of Israel's most prominent women, of course, is Premier Mrs. Golda Meir. Another nation led by a woman is India where Mrs. Indira Gandhi is prime minister. In Britain, a bill pushed through parliament by Mrs. Barbara Castle, a Cabinet member in the former Labor government, guarantees women equality in pay by 1975. It took much of the steam out of the main Women's Lib group in Britain, the Women's Liberation Workshop, which has never claimed much more than 150 members. Britain's liberal laws on abortion and contraception also have taken away two major rallying points for the Women's Lib movement.

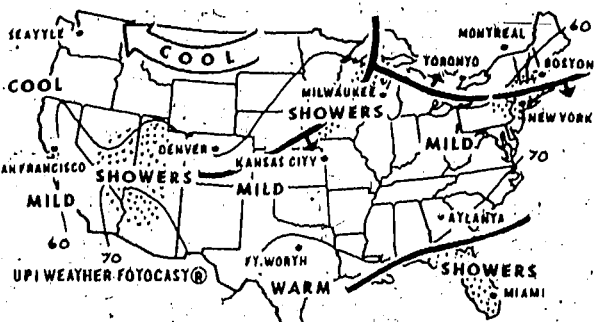

MARCHING WOMEN visited the mayor's office in St. Louis on Wednesday, as about 100 militants demanded "liberation" from male domination. Commemorating the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution which gave women the right to vote, the sign-bearers demanded legalized abortions, day-care centers for children and passage of an equal-rights amendment by Congress. Dierke's Lake Project Listed

TWIN FALLS — Preparation of a master plan for full recreational development of Dierke's Lake and surrounding areas was announced Wednesday by City Parks Superintendent Howard Johnson.

Johnson said, several additional small pockets could be irrigated and grass and trees planted for small picnic areas. He suggested a camping area for tents and sleeping bags only be established beyond the road end.

Johnson, meeting with City Manager Jean Milar, reported large aerial photographs of the city-owned property for both Shoshone Falls and Dierke's Lake parks and a contour map drawn to scale from the photographs, are being used in the planning. Similar photos and mapping of the new landfill area are being prepared.

Both men agreed the development, over a period of several years, will require further road construction, water systems and new plantings.

Preliminary planning includes improved roadways, parking and turnaround areas where present roadways exist. At this point all motor vehicles will be stopped and foot trails only will lead from the upper end of Dierke's Lake around the smaller lakes to the east and north and to various points overlooking the lakes.

Milar said the area is not adaptable to either horse trails or to trail machines and motorcycles as it is relatively small and most of it can be covered on foot in two hours time or less.

By pumping water from the lakes in at least one point,

Pull-in parking space for small travel trailers and campers is planned beyond the present orchard area. Johnson said a large fireplace where group gatherings could roast wieners or where a beef could be barbecued is planned near where the road will end. Other fire places, picnic and camping facilities and sites similar to those in Shoshone Falls park are being included in the long-run redevelopment program.

Milar said if spring water is not adequate for domestic water wells could be drilled in one or two additional spots. Another boat landing near the present one is suggested which would keep boat landing and vehicles used in connection with boating in one part of the park. An area north and west of Dierke's Lake between the lake and Snake River is also adaptable to development, Milar said; and with water pumped for irrigation could provide a separate picnic area for special groups.

When the master plan is completed, development will follow depending on available funding and public needs, officials said.

completed. Although it will take several years to complete, it is believed the Dierke's area will eventually have picnic, camping and other facilities similar to those at Shoshone Falls, plus several miles of foot trails, boating and swimming facilities.

Retired Persons Receive Charter

The American Association of Retired Persons, Magic Valley Chapter, No. 425, received its Articles of Incorporation at a recent meeting.

A national conference on aging will be held in Washington D. C. — the second to be held within a 10-year period — a sponsor for the group announced.

A pot-luck dinner and a guest speaker from the insurance department of the national headquarters are scheduled for the next meeting.

Mrs. Roy Weatherby was appointed the new recruiting chairman by the 100 members. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig and Harold Wagoner, all of Twin Falls, furnished old-time music as entertainment.

Free Hot Lunches Offered Needy

TWIN FALLS — Free school lunches, or lunch at a reduced price, will be furnished needy students in the Twin Falls schools this fall without discrimination because of race, religion, or source of family income.

Mrs. Bernice Holladay, school lunch supervisor, said that the anonymity of students needing aid will be protected at all times.

Families needing school-lunch aid, either for short-term financial emergencies or throughout the school year, will fill out a request form which is available either in the individual school offices or at the district administration offices at 201 Main Ave. W. All information furnished by the parents will be kept confidential, Mrs. Holladay said.

When work opportunities are available, qualified candidates may be given lunches at reduced prices, but performing the work will not be a condition for receiving the meals.

The general policy of the school district is that any family receiving welfare assistance in any form will be entitled to the free school lunches, as well as any family in similar circumstances who may not be receiving financial aid from the government.

Family income guidelines have been drawn up to help in determining need and amount of aid. Full information may be obtained from Mrs. Holladay.

Gals Drive Clean Cars In Race

CHICAGO (UPI)—The only all-female team of drivers in the Clean Air car race consists of non-advocates of women's liberation who are cooking with gas.

Cheryl Williams, 20, Bedford, Ind., a senior psychology major at the University of Evansville (Ind.), and Lydia Summers, 21, Bedford, a nursing major at Purdue University, decided to enter the race "because we are vitally interested in the pollution problem."

"I think a woman should be in a feminine role," Miss Williams said after reaching Champaign, Ill., on Women's Liberation Day, Wednesday.

"But since we joined the race we have been accused of being backers of Women's Lib. Actually we joined to prove that anyone can drive a propane car."

Good News

Good news is becoming almost remarkable in these troubled times. It doesn't have the dramatic impact of tragedy and often we are inclined to seek the flaw in it rather than to accept it in good spirit.

But the shooting war in the middle East has halted, even if temporarily. Russia has cautiously moved in the direction of concord. Germany and Russia have foresworn aggression in their future relations. Americans are leaving Vietnam and there is a glimmer of hope for peace, or at least genuine peace negotiations.

At home, the rise in interest rates has stopped and the Federal Reserve has loosened the supply of credit a bit. The stock market reacted favorably and housing starts have reached the highest level in many months.

The "long, hot summer" didn't produce another Watts. "Student unrest," a euphemism for lawless conduct, has cooled. Draft calls have been reduced and the system improved and hope is growing that the draft may not be needed in another year or so.

Evidence is growing that inflation no longer is accelerating and the recession, while it may not have "bottomed out," shows signs of easing.

Negotiations between Russia and the United States give hope for genuine arms limitations, releasing large sums in both superpowers for other, more important human needs.

We haven't solved the problems of pollution or crime in the streets but these distressing problems have been recognized and approaches to solution are getting the attention they deserve.

Violence is NOT an American apple pie and it can be halted without loss of Constitutional rights, as liberally as those rights have been interpreted. If violence, like the poor, we will always have with us, still it can be controlled.

Finally, Detroit has begun to build economical small cars. Sooner or later, the industry will produce smogless vehicles.

Optimism and confidence are still common and attractive traits of the people of these United States.

Mountain Rumbles

There was a lot going on at the Congressional hearing up at Sun Valley Wednesday. That's the one to do with all the turmoil which concerns the White Clouds, the Boulder Mountains, the Sawtooth Mountains and the Sawtooth Valley and Stanley Basin valley floor.

But all the rumbles were not coming from those giving testimony. Likewise, all the stern thoughts were not coming from these individuals.

More than one person — connected or not connected with the show — wondered who gave permission to land helicopters in the primitive area so the Congressmen committee members could walk around and spend the night there.

Well, that's a good question. Who gave permission? Law says that you can't even ride a motor scooter into that area but here comes the lumbering helicopters for a let-down in hallowed territory.

Yep — like we said — would be interesting to learn who pulled out the stops so the choppers could come in.

But perhaps being a Congressman does carry some weight with it — even when the primitive area is concerned.

sideration, he says, the mini skirt would stay and the midi and the maxi would be outlawed.

This is the opinion of Dr. Harry J. Johnson, noted author of health books and articles and chairman of the medical board of health of the Life Extension Institute, the nation's oldest and largest health examination facility.

The reason the miniskirt is preferable, he says, is because it gives the body freedom of movement, which should be basic in clothing. The miniskirt also tends to promote pride in the body, and this is important in a nation where overweight is a major health problem.

Midis and maxis are a step backward, asserts Johnson.

"There may have been some justification for women to wear long dresses in the past for warmth, but modern heating has changed all that. The natural need for clothing, quite apart from morals or fashion is to protect us against the cold, the sun, the rain or injuries to the body. Whatever the condition, the right clothing should be loose so that there is full freedom of movement," he said.

To which Mr. Spectator adds: "It's going to be a cold winter, Doc, if the fashion moguls have their way."

Reunited Germany Bomb Sputters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There has been a good deal more early "ecstasy over the Bonn-Moscow "renunciation of force" pact than the general East-West relationship — and especially the German situation — justifies.

Any easing of tensions and softening of borders is, of course, properly welcome. But the divisions within Europe are still serious, with far too much emphasis upon ideological differences to suit the circumstances of the fast-changing world of today. The continued existence of the two Germanies cannot be brushed aside as if they were two Koreas or two Vietnams. The German separation is a far bigger, long-range time bomb than is the Mideast or the Far East.

European analysts are saying that East and West Germany will not be drawn together until the United States and Russia have come to much closer understanding than is found today. Some argue that the "German problem" will be the last to be solved.

This may be the hardest kind of political realism. Yet it is also realistic to recognize that the German people feel themselves as one and want some positive movement soon toward tighter bonds.

To this end, the big Western powers are presently working to promote a freer flow of people and an easing of restrictions between the two Germanies.

It is a fact, however, that this effort goes slowly. In his own endeavor, West German Chancellor Willy Brandt has had a much harder time negotiating with the East German Leaders than he had in Moscow or Warsaw (with whom the present Polish East German border was settled).

The East German Reds want, as they always have, full recognition as a separate state. Brandt has been searching for a solution that would seem to grant, for the time being, some independent status to East Germany but not abandon the goal — still vivid in German minds — of reunification.

Though Moscow's pressure may now alter the situation, the East Germans have been incredibly stubborn. Among their demands, for instance, is one for payment to them by Bonn of 10,000 marks for every East German who has crossed the line into West Germany. It is estimated this would come to about $1 billion. West Germans regard the claim as an absurdity.

It would be much more, to the point if money flowed the other way. There is a very lively trade between West and East Germany but the Reds' trade deficit at this stage is in the range of $1.1 billion.

West German companies involved have been reimbursed by the Bonn government. The situation amounts to a sort of internal "foreign aid" program by that government. The question is whether that East German debt is going to be repaid and whether it will be permitted to grow.

Otto Wolff von Amerongen, a specialist in East-West trade who favors its growth, told me in Cologne a few weeks ago that this unbalanced German trade situation was "on the brink" and could not go much farther.

Moscow's "new spirit" of accommodation, as evidenced by the pact with Bonn, will not enchant realistic Europeans too greatly until the Kremlin leans on East Germany and compels its Communist overlords to stop demanding everything for nothing.

In this respect, the Bonn-Moscow pact itself was not altogether heartening. The document, as is well-known, did not allude to German reunification. That issue was hit at just slantingly by appending to the treaty some letters from the West German government to the Western Big Three, pledging Bonn to seek German unity. Moscow allegedly took cognizance of this concern.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

The Court Layoff

WASHINGTON — Before he urged procedural court reforms in his State-of-the-Judiciary address, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger had, himself, received a tart prescription for speeding the operation of the Supreme Court.

The prescription: Forgo the three-month summer holiday traditionally enjoyed by Supreme Court justices (and by the judges in some other federal courts). It was prescribed by the two Senate party leaders — Mike Mansfield, D., and Hugh Scott, R.

There is, to be sure, a bit of irony in the two Senate leaders urging that the courts forgo their three-month recess. A three-month recess is just what Mansfield and Scott were trying to engineer for the Senate when Congress began its work in January.

Labor day was set then as the official target, date for congressional adjournment, with a more realistic private goal of clearing the decks by Oct. 1. That would have been an ideal timetable for accommodating off-year election campaigns.

Then U.S. troops moved into Cambodia, and the Senate drifted into a protracted debate over presidential war powers. The summer vacation for Congress, standard operating procedure not too many years ago, went down the drain as it usually has in recent years.

The suggestion to the court by Mansfield and Scott was thus an earnest, if ironic, reflection of a quickened pace of activity in all branches of government.

The comments by Mansfield and Scott deserve much more attention than they have received. They were, in the first place, made with some pungency — and right out in the open, on the Senate floor.

"Why is it that the Supreme Court has to take three months off every year? It is a coequal branch of the government. Does the President of the United States take three months off? Does Congress take three months off?" asked Mansfield.

The Democratic leader was even so indelicate as to note that associate justices of the Supreme Court get $62,000-a-year and the chief justice, $80,500. He commented pointedly that Supreme Court justices do not contribute financially at all to their right to retirement at full pay.

"There is no justification for a three-month recess," said Mansfield bluntly.

Scott was equally candid. He also brought up the matter of Supreme Court salaries, noting that $60,000 is "a lot of money." "It is not really contemplated," said Scott, "that the public pay that salary for nine months out of the year, but for all of the year. The backlog of the Supreme Court is immense and is of concern to all our citizens."

ART BUCHWALD

Mafia Members

PALERMO — As a distinguished student of European driving habits and their effect on the human heart, I wish to make a statement. Of all the peoples I have studied so far, there are none to compare with the Sicilian drivers. One only has to be on the winding roads of this beautiful country a few hours to understand why so many Sicilians left the island and came to America.

To comprehend the problems facing a driver in Sicily, one must first take note of what can be found on the Sicilian highway during the course of a day's drive. There are, and not necessarily in this order, four-cylinder Fiats, eight-cylinder Ferraris, 12-cylinder Alfa Romeos, hay trucks, gasoline trucks, motorcycles, motor scooters, bicycles, horse-drawn wagons, donkey carts, hand-drawn carts, dogs, goats, sheep, chickens, children, fishermen, members of the clergy, carabinieri, and highway bandits.

It has been said that the dreaded members of the Mafia are boy scouts compared to the people who have drivers' licenses in Sicily.

For one thing, the traditional omertà, or conspiracy of silence that Sicilians are known for, does not apply to anything that happens on the road. When one Sicilian passes another, he will shout at him that he is a fool, an idiot and his mother was a goat and, if really angered, that his father was a policeman.

The man passed will retort with words of equal passion, and will, if the wind is right, spit at the other car. Since Sicilians must use their hands when making expressive statements, neither driver has his hands on the wheel when yelling at the other.

If there are other passengers in the cars, they, too, will join in the argument. Even after the man who is doing the passing

Edema Cause

(Second in a series of two articles)

As we grow older, some causes of edema, or dropsy, come into play other than the ones discussed yesterday.

Faulty circulation, of varying types, is an important cause of this fluid retention or edema. With slowed circulation, fluids tend to accumulate in the tissues and stay there.

A failing heart can cause fluid accumulation in the lungs as well as in the legs. Patients with a certain degree of heart failure may be more comfortable, and breathe easier, sitting in a chair instead of lying down. Why? Because fluid accumulates more in the legs than in the lungs.

Varicose veins, a quite different form of impaired circulation, can cause fluid accumulation and hence swelling of the legs. The veins no longer carry blood upward as efficiently as they should, so the net result is poor circulation.

Tight circular garters and panty girdles also can restrict circulation enough to cause swelling in the legs and ankles.

Kidney disorders (Bright's disease or other conditions involving the glomeruli, or tiny filtering units in the kidneys) are another notorious cause of edema.

needs to, be drawn off by hollow needle.)

In heart failure, salt restriction, diuretics, digitalis to strengthen the heart action, and other measures as dictated by specific circumstances are the basic measures.

Salt restriction is important in kidney and liver edema, but of course intensive treatment to control the basic disorders is mandatory. Diuretics can help. Indeed, diuretics to encourage greater release of fluids by the body are useful in most forms of edema except those due to allergy, tight garments, and varicose veins.

I am aware that this may not answer all the questions concerning edema, because edema can become a very complicated matter, but today's column and yesterday's will at least give some inkling of what it's about, and the multiple causes (and treatment) of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've got this hangnail on my toe. Every time I get rid of it, it comes back. I would like to know how to get rid of it for good. — L. W.

Preventive pedicure. People don't care for their toenails the way they do their fingernails, but they might be happier if they did.

On fingers or toes, a hangnail usually develops because the cuticle, or skin, occasionally sticks to the nail. The skin is torn as the nail grows out. So — a hangnail.

In your case, when the skin is soft (as after a bath) take an orange wood stick and gently push the adhered cuticle off the nail.

Note to "Worried": Zinc sulphate has been used to facilitate wound healing (as after surgery). It has also been under consideration as a possible means of trying to treat hardening of the arteries. How effective it is has yet to be demonstrated.

Laird Says Soviets Test Multi-Warheads

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Wednesday the Soviet Union conducted its first test in the Pacific last week of intercontinental ballistic missiles carrying multiple re-entry vehicles.

He said he did not know at this point whether they were actually developed weapons.

Oregon Troops Readied

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Gov. Tom McCall told a statewide radio-TV audience that he will activate the National Guard, backed by federal troops, to deal with anyone coming to Portland to cause violence during the American Legion convention.

McCall said Tuesday night he is activating guard units, the state police and local police to deal with dissenters he said were bent on destruction during the week-long gathering of the legion starting Friday.

Behind them, he said, would be federal military support.

He said that "we will be tested to the limit" by the dissenters, whom he said could number 50,000. He said intelligence reports indicate that the people are coming to Portland to make trouble.

He said reports came from a number of sources, including state police, the FBI, the Secret Service, the Postal Inspection Service, the National Guard and the Department of the Army.

Every radio and television station in the state carried the talk live.

The broadcast followed an unprecedented move Sunday by Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk who took over command of all city government except auditing.

McCall told his audience: "violence—no matter who perpetrates it—will be put down, vigorously, promptly, and with absolute certainty."

In a part of his text that he didn't have time to broadcast, McCall said recent reports show "The tide of young people coming to Portland for confrontation may be waning."

No Action Seen for Candidates

BOISE (UPI)—Secretary of State Pete T. Conarrusa said Tuesday he planned to take no legal action against the three primary election candidates who had not filed their personal expense statements.

Conarrusa said he had been advised by the attorney general's office candidates had to be given a reasonable time after being notified of the deadline and need for filing of expense statements.

Two defeated gubernatorial candidates, Republican Dick Smith and Democrat Lloyd Walker, had not filed by Tuesday evening and neither had Murden Wells, Roberts, Democratic nominee for second District congressman.

Conarrusa said it was obvious none of the candidates had exceeded the $10,000 legal limit "so there is no practical good that can come from filing expense statements."

Conarrusa said both Smith and Walker, had been put of state for several days and said there was no proof either man received the written notification sent several days ago. He said he was unable to reach either Smith or Walker by telephone.

Tuesday Joel A. Anderson, Pontello, American Party candidate for Second District Congressman, filed his statement and listed no expenses.

Firemen Free Chained Boy

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Firemen Tuesday freed an 11-year-old boy who had been chained to a clothesline pole in his backyard because he refused to eat some spoiled lima beans last Wednesday.

The youngster was in custody of juvenile authorities today after spending nearly a week without a full meal.

Detective Bob Patton said an anonymous caller alerted police to the incident. Firemen had to use bolt cutters to get a chain off the youngster's leg.

Patton said he confronted the boy's father after the incident but would give no details. No arrests were made.

"He couldn't even walk because of being chained so close to the pole," the officer said. "The pole was one of those clothesline poles about four inches in diameter."

vehicles we have seen on the SS11 system," Laird said. "Both of the flights were made on Aug. 21, a U.S. ship in the target area reported that in each of these tests three objects impacted in the target area."

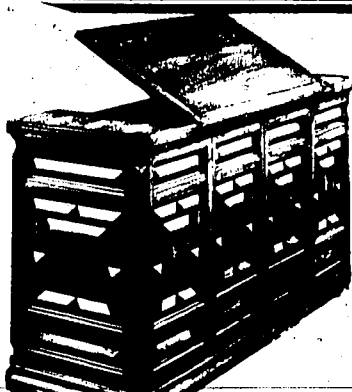

"If they deploy this kind of object and it does have three warheads, it would accelerate their number of targetable warheads by three times. We know they have well over 700 SS11s in being."

The Minuteman III, the most advanced U.S. intercontinental missile, is being equipped with a multiple independently re-targetable reentry vehicle (MIRV) warhead. The first 10 of those MIRV-tipped missiles were deployed in June.

Head Start Program May 'Rend' Society

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Headstart and similar poverty programs are tearing society apart and contributing to social polarization, the new national director of Headstart said today. "It's an egregious error to set up children's programs in this country for specific sections of the population," Dr. Edward F. Zigler told UPI in an interview. "We can't continue programs that send poor kids one place and rich kids another. That's what is causing polarization in our society today."

"We've got to find a way to bring the society back together and one of the places to do it is with children, in programs like this," he said.

Headstart is the preschool program which offers medical, nutritional, educational and other services to give children with poor parents a boost before they start school.

Headstart regulations have permitted only a 10 per cent involvement of children not considered poor.

Zigler said he did not want to discard Headstart but wanted to make it available to other social and economic groups. He

Loss from Weeds

It is estimated that the average annual loss due to weeds in meadow and croplands is greater than that due to animal and plant diseases, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

He hoped the President's proposed welfare reform, now stalled in the Senate Finance Committee, would give him the opportunity for expansion by providing new day care services that could be combined with the Headstart services.

Zigler, 40, is a former director of the Yale University Child Development Program. He was named in June as the first director of a new Office of Child Development, which administers Headstart and other children's programs.

After criticizing Headstart in the interview, Zigler called it

Oil Slick Nets $1 Million Fine

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Chevron Oil Co. was fined $1 million Wednesday because of an offshore oil well fire in February that resulted in a giant oil slick in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Department of Interior discovered the Chevron wells were not equipped with safety storm chokes as required by law.

A grand jury indicted Chevron May 5 on 900 counts of failure to properly equip its offshore wells. U.S. District Court Judge Alvin Rubin dropped 400 of the counts after the company pleaded no contest to the other 500.

U.S. Attorney Gerland Gallinghouse, who prosecuted the case, told the court he was told by the Interior Department that Chevron wells now were in compliance with government regulations requiring storm chokes on all wells capable of producing oil.

Gallinghouse said he hopes the fine "will help inspire all industries to follow federal regulations."

He said the Chevron case is the first filed under the outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953.

Red Envoy To Negotiate

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam announced today its chief negotiator at the Paris talks, Xuan Thuy, would return to the conference table next week to end an eight-month boycott.

A spokesman said Thuy was tired and unable to attend today's negotiating session.

They arrived back in Paris Wednesday after a long absence, raising hopes that he would attend the session today and move toward breaking the deadlocked negotiations. But a spokesman said Thuy was wearied by his journey from Hanoi via Peking and Moscow and was "taking a little rest." "He will be present at the next session," the spokesman said.

Thuy has not attended the talks since Dec. 4, 1969. He walked out to protest President Nixon's failure to immediately appoint a successor when Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge resigned as chief negotiator. Bruce took over from Lodge earlier this month.

As he entered the session today Bruce told newsmen: "I am going to follow the same line that I have in previous meetings." Asked if he had any new proposals, Bruce replied: "I have not."

Nguyen Minh Vy, North Vietnam's deputy negotiator, repeated previous charges by Hanoi that the United States is not interested in Vietnam peace.

Legislators Told To Be More Responsive

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — State government must become more responsive to the needs of the citizens in the 1970s, a panel of state and local leaders told the National Legislative Conference Wednesday.

Gov. Calvin L. Rampton welcomed the members of state legislatures and legislative staff members from throughout the nation to the first plenary session of the weeklong 23rd annual conference.

The Utah Democrat said that most states are wisely reorganizing state governments to make them more powerful in relation to Washington, but he added they tend to focus on "increasing the power and control of the governor and not the legislature."

"It is essential that the power of the state legislature be increased to continue as an effective check on the executive office," he stated.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, chairman of the National Governors Conference urged the state legislators not to overreact to the challenges of the coming decade.

"The solution to problems has become more complex with the degree of change over the past ten years," Love said. "We can see it in so many ways, such as the unrest on campus, violence in our communities, the abuse of drugs and the increase in the militancy of minorities."

He added that unless our representative government become more responsive to its problems, pressures and challenges from the community may cause government to overreact.

Indianapolis Mayor Richard G. Lugar urged the "restructuring" of local governments to meet modern needs, and he held up the business corporate structure as a model for executive government.

"If we look at the complexity of the problems facing us, it seems preposterous that so many state legislatures are limited to infrequent and brief sessions," Lugar said.

"Why in the world can't we borrow from the world of private enterprise and utilize in government the corporate command structure of an executive and board of directors," he asked.

After their morning session, the delegates to the conference viewed a color film of the Apollo 11 moon landing narrated by astronaut Alan S. Bean.

Appearing tanned and crew cut, Capt. Bean gently chided Congress for the recent cut-backs in the NASA space programs.

Bean's color film of the first moon landing showed some footage which had been relayed directly to television viewers during the November 1969 landing, but much of the film had not been viewed by the delegates attending the five-day conference.

The conference participants concluded their activity Wednesday with a bus tour of scenic sights in Park City, a winter and summer recreation center, high in the Wasatch Mountains east of Salt Lake City.

The conference is scheduled to conclude Friday evening following a speech by Dr. Daniel P. Moynihan, the President's counselor on urban affairs.

Tate Killers Painted With Blood

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sharon Tate's killers splattered her blood in puddles across the living room and used it to scrawl the word "pig" on the front door of her luxurious home, a police crime expert testified Wednesday.

The testimony of Joseph Granada came in the trial of Charles Manson and three members of his hippie "family" charged with murdering Miss Tate and three others Aug. 8, 1969, and grocer Leno LaBianca and his wife Rosemary the following night.

A kitchen fork found plunged into LaBianca's chest was introduced into evidence Wednesday and Mrs. LaBianca's teenage son told how he found LaBianca's body in the living room of the home.

Frank Struthers, 16, said he returned home from a holiday at a lake and was unable to get into the house. He summoned his older sister, Susan, and her boyfriend, and they entered the kitchen. "We went into the living room and we saw Leno crouching there," Struthers said.

"Did he appear to have been harmed or hurt in any way?" asked Deputy District Attorney Aaron Stovitz.

"We didn't stay long enough to see, but we knew what was wrong," the youth replied.

He said they summoned police, who found the butchered body of Mrs. LaBianca in a bedroom.

Mrs. LaBianca's partner in a dress shop business, Mrs. Ruth Sivick, testified she had visited the LaBianca home the night before the bodies were found.

Mrs. Sivick identified a kitchen fork as one similar to one she had seen on many occasions when she ate at the LaBianca residence.

The LaBiancas were away for the weekend, and she said she entered the house to feed the dogs.

"Is this the refrigerator you opened?" Stovitz asked, showing her a color photograph.

"Yes," she replied.

"When you saw it, where these letters written on it in blood—H-E-A-L-T-H-E-R-S-K-E-E-T-E-R?" he asked.

She said they were not.

It was the first indication the message left in blood at the LaBianca residence was misspelled. The prosecution has contended that the motive for the seven slayings was inspired by the Beatles' son "Helter Skelter" and was intended to provoke racial violence.

Cambodian Attacks Help Survival

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The U.S. attacks inside Cambodia have doubled the chances of that country's meeting North Vietnam's threat and maintaining its independence, White House experts believe.

North Vietnamese forces in Cambodia, now numbering about 35,000, could cause serious trouble with a major effort to seize control of the country in November after the rainy season. But this would mean a drain on their effort in South Vietnam and afford time for the South Vietnamese government to further consolidate its position there.

If such an effort is made in Cambodia, the chances are about 50-50 that North Vietnam would succeed, the experts say. Before the controversial U.S.

attacks into supply sanctuaries along the border and the subsequent efforts to shore up the Cambodian army, the chances for survival of the government of Lon Nol were thought to be about one in four.

This assessment emerged Monday from foreign policy and defense experts in four hours of briefings for about 50 newspaper and broadcast executives from 13 Western states. Under the rules of the session, the officials could not be named or quoted directly.

The officials said the Nixon administration was committed to helping the Lon Nol government through military aid—about $40,000 worth—of relatively unsophisticated weapons—and through bombing raids to interdict supplies flowing down from North Vietnam. In addition, the United States was encouraging other Asian allies to assist the Cambodians.

On the Middle East, which they termed the most dangerous area in the world, the experts said that any permanent settlement must have the agreement of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

Waiting Wives Unit Hosts Hawaiian Luau

An Hawaiian setting was featured at the home of Mrs. Jon Dickerson recently when the Military Waiting Wives hosted a Hawaiian Luau for wives of servicemen who have been to Hawaii or who will be joining their husbands there in the next few months.

Guests wore authentic muumuu from the islands and the backyard was a festival decorated with nets and lights. Guests were seated at low tables lighted by candlelight and covered with exotic cloths and large leaves. A large woven throne chair dominated one end of the table where a queen, Kathy Wilkins, presided.

Hawaiian music provided a touch of atmosphere as the women sampled dishes prepared by members. Hostesses were Mrs. Dickerson, Mrs. Mike Hoff and Mrs. Kenneth Story.

Events scheduled for the group include a fashion show Aug. 31 at the Holiday Inn and a party Sept. 19 at the home of Mrs. V. Edson.

Further information concerning the group can be obtained by calling the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office.

GAREY STIMPSON shows the mustache-sidburn trend so very fashionable this season in the men's world.

The men will not be excluded from the program as two local men are scheduled for guest appearances.

According to Carolyn Pierce, general chairman of the show, tickets are available at all beauty salons holding membership in the association and at the door the night of the show. Refreshments will be served.

Models will include Jackie Gasser, Linda Scholes, Callie Smith, Ramona Johnson, Helen Edgar, Julie Valtrie, Karen Rosholt, Billie Barnard, June Parker and Bonnie Christensen.

LINDA LEWIS shows a hair style of gentle elegance featuring the feminine and ladylike appearance for fall.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Last month I started to work in a large insurance office, and right off the bat I became attracted to a good looking young department head. Not bragging, but I've got a lot going for me, too. I'm 24, single, and a well-built redhead who never lacked for attention.

Well, "Department Head" and I started seeing each other a lot, but always at my place. (He was sort of secretive about where he lived.)

Yesterday he called in sick with a chest cold, so I decided to surprise him with some chicken soup. I got his address from the office files.

When I rang his bell, I was the one who got the surprise! A tall, skinny blonde about my age answered his door in a bath towel. At first she wasn't going to let me in, but I pushed her aside and went right to the bedroom to see my sick friend. He was sick all right, and he got sicker when he saw me. The bedroom looked plenty "lived in," if you know what I mean. Her stuff thrown all over the place along with his.

"Department Head" said Blondie was a childhood chum who had come to town to hunt a job, was low on funds, so he was putting her up temporarily. Now, Abby, how does this story sound to you? RED

DEAR RED: Fishy. "Department Head" could have helped the blonde by giving her a few dollars for a pad of her own. I. P. S. Too had you didn't know in advance that you were going to cook his goose. You could have skipped the chicken soup.

DEAR ABBY: I know a woman who goes to "A. A." meetings all the time, and she's not an alcoholic. This is the truth, Abby. She told me so herself, but she asked me not to tell anybody. She has power but a drinking problem, but she says she goes there because she's "lonesome" and nobody asks her any questions.

She says she has met a lot of very nice men that way—and women, too. What do you think of such a person? JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: She must be very lonesome. [And clever, too.]

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law isn't really a mean person she's just ignorant. How else can you describe a person who introduces me and my children this way? "This is my daughter in law and her two adopted children."

Abby, I have to bite my lip to keep from crying when I hear her say this.

My children are only one year old and two and a half—still a little too young to know what "adopted" means, but as soon as they are old enough to understand, I intend to tell them. But in the meantime, what can be done about such a stupid woman? YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR YOUNG: Someone should tell her in a nice way to disengage her mouth until she's sure her brain is in gear.

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to that poor mixed up teen-aged girl whose father called her a tramp because she slept with different boys. I was in that girl's shoes when I was in my teens and my father never called me a tramp. He helped me all the way because he knew I was a troubled, mixed-up kid.

I am now a happy wife and mother and I hope my father is proud of me now because I am very proud of him.

Girls who are called tramps by their fathers usually stay tramps all their lives. God bless my dad.

'Breadbasket' Scorned

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The notion somehow persists that the great hunger of the world's too rapidly multiplying populations can be satisfied by clearing tropical rain forests and turning their "rich" soils into gigantic breadbaskets.

Says Dr. F. Raymond Fosberg, "We should not delude ourselves that this is a panacea for the inevitable disastrous consequences of unrestrained multiplication of homo sapiens."

Fosberg is a special adviser on tropical biology to the director of the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History in Washington.

"Any suggestion that the potential in tropical agriculture can begin to buy enough time is dangerously misleading," he said.

Time and again the idea has been promoted that the Amazon could be "turned into the breadbasket of the world. Time and again attempts have been made to put this idea to work on a limited scale, and time and again they have failed. Temperate zone farming practices have yet to work in the verdant reaches of the Amazon. The soil under the trees, however, is extremely thin, compared to that of temperate zones. Vegetable humus, sunlight, and lots of water give the rain forests their image of richness.

But tear down the trees and expose the surface to sun and air, and you soon see how really poor the soil is. Its nutrients dissolve and are washed away, and with the tree cover gone, the soil has little lasting power.
In some areas, notably in Brazil, the soil after a season of exposure turns to something like brick, useless for farming. "You can always get enough soil for one crop of bananas or maize," Fosberg told United Press International, "but after that you get nothing."

Fosberg believes that judicious tree culture, involving substitution of "one set of trees for another"—rubber trees, for example—might well increase the region's economic productivity.

But to go into the Amazon and destroy the trees to make farms, he said, "is just asking for failure."

Wholesale Prices Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices have declined this month for the first time in two years, the government said today. A sharp drop in prices for farm products was cited as the reason.

The labor department said in preliminary estimates that wholesale prices declined overall by 0.5 per cent in August although the key industrial commodities index rose by 0.2 per cent.

Wholesale prices for farm products, which rose 1.6 per cent in July, fell 4.5 per cent in August, officials said.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said that with seasonal factors taken into account, the wholesale index had dropped 0.2 per cent this month.
With seasonal factors figured in, the drop in farm product prices was placed at 2.5 per cent.
The rise in the industrial commodities index, considered one of the more stable barometers of economic conditions, stayed at 0.2 per cent, even with seasonal adjustments.

Conference Held Via Telephone

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioner Morris W. Carlson attended a meeting of the member status committee of the Idaho Comprehensive Health Planning Commission Tuesday without leaving his desk in the Twin Falls County Courthouse.

Members of the health planning commission come from all parts of the state and meeting costs run high and require long hours of travel time. As a result the committee held frequent and relatively inexpensive meetings via a special telephone conference hookup and only get together personally on rare occasions.

Pollution By Lead Feared

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Interior Department Wednesday said industries are dumping 4,800 pounds of dangerous lead pollutants into the Mississippi River daily between Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

Assistant Secretary Carl L. Klein, whose testimony about mercury pollution has stirred national concern, told a Senate antipollution subcommittee there also is widespread lead, arsenic and cadmium pollution in the area.

In addition to the discharges of high lead content into the Mississippi, Klein said, two firms in the same vicinity are dumping arsenic — one 50 pounds a day and the other, 39 pounds a day.

"Are we to regard your statement about this discharge as horrible news?" asked Chairman Philip Hart, D-Mich., of the Senate subcommittee on Energy, Natural Resources and Environment.

With arsenic, cadmium and lead we can get lasting damage to human organs such as the liver, spleen, stomach and the pancreas," Klein said. All three, he explained, can be lethal in high enough levels.

Hart thereupon challenged Klein to do something about it, and vigorously took exception when Klein said present federal law is inadequate for controlling discharges of metal pollutants.

The water quality control act, said Klein, sets tolerance levels for stream contents, not for the plant discharges themselves, plant discharges themselves.

He said the wastes meet present legal standards after being diluted in rivers.

But Hart said interior could use an 1899 federal law intended to prevent dumping into navigable rivers without a permit.

"Sir, there are certain difficulties," Klein replied, mentioning some adverse court decisions interior has met in using the 1899 act. "We believe the law should be in the water pollution control act."

A COW PAID A BILL in a most unusual way Wednesday in London, England. Punch Magazine, the famed British humor purveyor, paid its most senior writer with a check written on the side of the cow. Sir Alan Herbert, 80, above, cashes the $12 check at Barclay's Bank, near St. Paul's Cathedral. Affixed to the cow's side, on the right of the photo, is the mandatory two-cent stamp required to cash a check in Britain. The stamp marked the Herbert's 80th year with the magazine. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight little words could enormously improve the quality of American life.

The words are "sir," "ma'am," "please," "thank you," and "in my opinion."

If each of us made a point of using them on every possible occasion, we'd stop irritating each other so much.

Too many people today seem to think courtesy is an optional frill. It's not. It's an essential lubricant of human relations. Without it, friction quickly generates excessive heat.

Take "sir" and "ma'am" for example.

To employ these terms of address is not a sign of subservience. It's a way of saying to another person: "I respect your dignity as a human being."

Blacks — Are sensitive. But...Black people who are sensitive to any suggestion of inferior status may shrink from using these words in speaking to white people. That's understandable. But there's no reason why white people cannot say "sir" and "ma'am" to black people.

"Please" and "thank you" are demure words in any human encounter, and they can be particularly helpful in reducing friction between parents and children. The wise parent doesn't try to extract these words from his offspring by compulsion. He sets an example by using them himself. To say "please" to a child — or any other person in a dependent or subordinate role, such as an employee or servant — converts a demand into a request. "Thank you" is a way of saying, "I also am dependent on you."

"In my opinion" is the least used but potentially most helpful phrase of all.

We have all fallen into the habit of speaking too dogmatically. We say, in effect, "I know what I'm talking about, buster, and if you don't see it my way you're just too stupid to understand."

Use Defusing Phrase But if you precede or follow

The Eads Bridge, built in St. Louis in 1874, was the first steel truss bridge in the world.

your pronouncements with the defusing phrase, "in my opinion," a useful dialog frequently can result. These three words acknowledge that the other person may have a different view of the matter, that he's as entitled to his view as you are to yours, and that it's at least possible he's right and you're wrong.

Perhaps, if we abandon the illusion of infallibility we can begin to communicate with each other and rebuild the spirit of mutual tolerance which is necessary to the harmonious functioning of a free society.

In my opinion, that is.

Walker Spends 'Too Much'

BOISE (UPI) — A personal expense form filed in the office of Secretary of State Pete Conrads Wednesday showed Democratic gubernatorial candidate Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls, spent $400.79 more than the statutory limitation.

On his personal expense form for the primary campaign, Walker listed total expenditures of $10,400.79.

Drug Ring Smashed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department said today an international narcotics ring has been broken up by the arrest and indictment of two men on charges of smuggling an estimated $17 million worth of heroin into this country.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced the two men were arrested in France and Switzerland following their secret indictment by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn, N.Y.

He identified them as Jack Grosby, taken by custody by Geneva police at the request of U.S. authorities, and Louis Stepenberg, arrested in Nice upon his arrival from Spain where Mitchell said he had been under police surveillance.

The indictments accused the two of importing and distributing large quantities of heroin, including more than 60 pounds between June, 1969, and February, 1970. That amount has a street sale value of $17 million, the Justice Department said.

The indictments contained 36 separate counts against the two. The maximum penalty upon conviction could amount to 6 1/2 years in prison and fines totaling $615,000.

Wolfson Tells of Prison Brutality

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Teiling a Senate subcommittee about sexual attacks on youthful inmates, sadistic guards, and inadequate medical attention, financier Louis E. Wolfson declared Wednesday, "I will never come out alive if I go back to prison."

"They wanted to make sure that Wolfson would not be brought out of there alive," he told the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee as he related his experiences during a nine-month term at a federal prison at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Convicted in 1967 on Security and Exchange Commission violations, he is appealing a second conviction that could put him back into prison for 18 more months.

While declining to identify those he feared would end his life, Wolfson told subcommittee Chairman Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., "Some way they are going to try to get me—through another prisoner—but they're not going to do it."

Wolfson told of a 17-year-old inmate at Eglin who was "grabbed and raped" by three other inmates. "He bled so badly they had to rush him to a hospital. They completely destroyed a young man's life," he said.

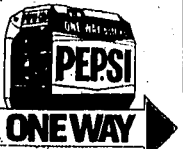

"It'll take some catastrophe to wake these people up," Dodd said. "... many of these prisons have no idea of reform ... but rather revenge."

The subcommittee is considering a Dodd proposal to provide $1 billion over a five-year period to state and local juvenile and adult training and correctional institutions.

Suspect Asks Vietnam Trial

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—A young enlisted man charged with murder in the alleged My Lai massacre asked today that his trial be shifted to Vietnam where "psychological stresses" on fighting men would be more evident.

Attorneys for Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, 21, of San Jose, Calif., told a military judge at a preliminary hearing that the case should be moved out of "this antiseptic courtroom."

"The area in question is still renown for its hostilities, including booby traps and snipers," Capt. William C. Lanham, chief military defense attorney, said. "There would be officers there familiar with the psychological stresses of combat on young soldiers."

The Judge, Lt. Col. Madison C. Wright, indicated he would rule on the motion in about two weeks. He denied two other motions, for access to a document detailing an investigation into the alleged massacre and for special investigators to help the defense.

Wright overruled two additional motions, then continued the hearing until Sept. 21.

T'Souvas is charged in the deaths of two South Vietnamese infants at My Lai on March 16, 1968, the date of the alleged massacre in which more than 150 civilians were reported slain. His hearing began one day after a similar hearing ended at Ft. Benning, Ga., for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., also charged with murder in the purported incident.

Poisoning Increase Foreseen In Agricultural Chemicals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Based on present knowledge, the incidence of poisonings of many may be expected to increase."

That warning about the danger of handling some of the big killers being substituted for DDT and other long-lived pesticides was published by Agriculture Department experts last March.

Its significance was underlined by recent reports of several deaths from Parathion poisoning in North Carolina, where it had replaced DDT in tobacco fields.

The warning indicated, in effect, that campaigns to phase out many uses of persistent, environment-polluting pesticides may be producing increased risks of accidental poisonings, including deaths.

The shorter-lived, nonpolluting chemicals like Parathion are frequently much more poisonous. They are more dangerous to handle unless extreme care is used, experts said.

The Agriculture Department's warning came in a review of the economic outlook if DDT and other persistent organochlorine pesticides are replaced—where substitutes are available—with nonpersistent chemicals.

Here, aupnozme shifts in that direction had already added that shortlived chemicals could be substituted for about three-fourths of the organochlorines being used, as of 1966, to control crop pests.

But the department warned that many of the substitutes—mainly organophosphorous and carbamate chemicals—are poisonous to man and other warmblooded animals.

"In contrast to the organochlorines (like DDT), the detrimental effects of these substitutes tend to be acute rather than chronic and they have caused numerous poisonings, some fatal, in man," the department said.

"Some are capable of killing wildlife coming into contact with undecomposed pesticides." Although some of them produce environmental pollution and danger to fish and wildlife, DDT and its cousins are considered relatively safe to handle by man, the report said.

The investigations did not cover all pesticide accidents, officials stressed. But they noted that Parathion was involved in 132 of the 181 accidental pesticide deaths investigated in the 3 1/2 year period.

Bombs Cut Red Supply Line

SAIGON (UPI) — Bombing raids by U.S. warplanes and heavy rains have reduced Communist supply traffic on the Ho Chi Minh trail in eastern Laos by 90 per cent since the beginning of the year and halted it altogether for two days earlier this month, military sources said Wednesday.

The sources said B52 bombers and tactical fighter-bombers based in Thailand and South Vietnam resumed raids on the trail earlier this month after a period of rainy weather had hampered air operations. The jets hit a total of about 150 roads and trails which the Communists use to funnel supplies southward from North Vietnam to South Vietnam and Cambodia, they said.

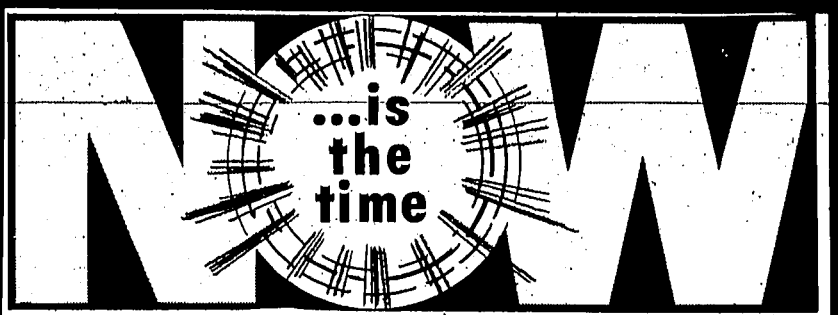

The bombing raids, together with deep mud caused by the rains, they said, brought traffic along the trail to a full halt for the first time during a two-day period in early August.

On the battle fronts, three battalions of Cambodian troops dug in Wednesday around battle-scarred Prok Tameuk, nine miles north of Phnom Penh, in anticipation of a fourth major Communist attack within a week.

UPI Correspondent Frank Froesch reported from the Cambodian capital that government forces at Prok Tameuk suffered losses of 15 dead and at least 33 wounded in fighting off a Communist attack on the town Tuesday night.

Cambodian field commanders told Froesch they expected another attack Wednesday night by the estimated 2,000-man Communist force outside the town.

Elsewhere in the northern sector of South Vietnam, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops withdrew from the outpost of Kham Duc, located about 84 miles southeast of Da Nang and 330 miles north of Saigon. The withdrawal brought to a close an operation started July 12.

Blood Quota Missed

FILER — The Red Cross blood drawing held Wednesday in Filer American Legion Hall saw a total of 58 donors. Three of these were rejects, so 55 pints of blood were collected in the summer drive which had a 75-pint quota.

Henry Westgaard received his four-gallon pin and James Rutherford received one-gallon pin.

Medical coverage was by Dr. B. N. Carlo, chief resident pathologist at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Russell Toltz, Filer, and Mrs. Willard Clark, Twin Falls, were registered nurses. Nurses aides included Mrs. E. H. Paraghi, Mrs. Hugo Meyer, Mrs. Alfred Theener, Mrs. Richard Tucker and Mrs. Nelson Hansen.

Accompanying the unit were nurses Eleanor Enkin and Omeron Joan Bruce and Donna Bagley. Lynn Smith is custodian of the unit.

Lenders and unlenders of the equipment were Fred Hamon and Vance Neale, Asgrow Seed Co., and Ray Gaylen and Rick Cutler, Acme Machine Works.

Typists were Mrs. H. H. Childers, Mrs. William Rude and Mrs. Rex Lancaster. Other assistants were Mrs. Eddie Lammers, Mrs. Merle Leonard and Mrs. Craig Dunlap.

The Rebekah Lodge was in charge of the kitchen and served lunch. Bonnie Carlson is area blood chairman.

LOOKING OVER TROPHIES to be awarded winners of the one-day riding meet Saturday in Burley are Herb Ashby, captain of the Cassia County Sheriff's Posse, and Jim Poulton, posse member. Participating in the meet will be members of the Idaho State Riding Association and the Wood River Riding Association. Cassia County Sheriff's Posse is hosting the event.

Hansen Sports Sunburn

Rep. Orval Hansen, sporting a peeling and blistered pair of lips and a chin and nose portion, said Wednesday he survived helicopter and plane trips over the White Clouds area but couldn't escape the sun while on the ground.

The result, he told friends at a Sun Valley hearing, was that he was "just a little sore on some sections of the face."

The congressman from Idaho's Second District said that he spent four days in the area prior to a two-day inspection Monday and Tuesday by members of the House Interior Sub-Committee on National Parks and Recreation.

"The four days were very sunny and it slipped my mind that sunburn comes easier at higher altitudes," Rep. Hansen told the Times-News. "Then I went on the two-day inspection with the other congressman and Wednesday morning, I walked out rather than fly out. This was a distance of about 10 miles."

"The result was that I absorbed a lot of sun over a short period of time and I really got sunburned."

And then, smiling, he added: "I do want to stop the rumor that I fell off a cliff while on the inspection. The injury is strictly sunburn — not rockburn."

Illinois Driver Injured

RUPERT — Allen C. Parsons, 21, Rolling Meadow, Ill., was treated and released from Cassia Memorial Hospital after a one-car mishap Tuesday evening west of the Heyburn Interchange on Interstate 80N.

Gordon Mills, state patrolman, said Parsons apparently went to sleep while driving about 70 miles per hour. The auto went off the left side and then the driver overcorrected. The car came back across both lanes of traffic and rolled one and one-half times, stopping on its top.

The auto was demolished and Parsons was cited for failure to maintain control.

Damage also resulted to state-owned fence.

Birth Reported

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Besett, Springfield, Miss., are parents of a baby boy born Tuesday, report grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Guthrie, North Shoshone.

Great grandparents are Mr. Frank Henderson and Mrs. Carrie Henderson, Wood River Convalescent Center, Shoshone, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guthrie, North Shoshone.

Thrills, Spills Open Jerome County Fair

JEROME — Thrills and spills greeted Jerome County fairgoers Wednesday as the annual event got underway.

Officially opening the county fair was the parade through the downtown area with Gov. and Mrs. Samuelson as guests of honor. They also attended the rodeo Wednesday evening. They were guests of the Jerome Fair Board and Mayor Jack Russell.

The thrills of the first day were carnival rides on the fairgrounds and youngsters winning various events in judging.

The spills occurred during the Denver-based RCA rodeo by cowboys competing for prize money. A Jerome County Fair queen candidate — Sheri Qualls, Twin Falls — took a spill during one of the riding events. Her horse stumbled, throwing her. Her wind was just knocked out, fair officials noted, as she was able to walk out of the arena by herself. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Qualls.

The new fair queen will be crowned tonight, the final night of the rodeo.

In Wednesday's parade, the Bible Baptist Church, with the theme, "This is My Country," placed first in the float division. Other parade winners included Jerome Senior High Drill Team, drill team division; Filer Wranglerettes, junior riding club division; Jerome Mounted Sheriff's Posse, senior riding group division, and the Jerome High School Varsity Chorus was first in the novelty division of the parade.

Friday a free jamboree is scheduled for 8 p. m. with many area riding groups taking part and Saturday, a battle of the bands contest and dance is planned in the National Guard Armory.

Appeal Planned in Pupil Transfer Row

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone School Board received a registered letter Wednesday evening from a Twin Falls attorney that an appeal to the state board of education is being made on the transfer request of 19 students.

Elmer I. Terry, board chairman, said he received the letter from Daniel A. Slavin, stating an appeal will be sent to the state board for the transfer of the 19 students from the Shoshone School district to Dietrich and Gooding districts.

Terry said he didn't know what the next step would be. Earlier this month the Shoshone school board rejected the request of the parents involved as such a transfer was not good for the school district or for the students.

Jack Bowlin, Lincoln School principal, was contacted Wednesday evening and said, "The foremost thought on my mind at this time is looking forward to opening of school next Monday."

Shoshone Chamber Opposes Park Idea

SHOSHONE — Opposition to the Sawtooth area being made into a national park was voiced by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce at their Tuesday noon meeting.

The resolution as such will be sent to legislators. The chamber favors the present multiple use of the area.

The chamber members outlined plans for merchant business promotion for fall and winter, with possible use of a small car "give away" project and some special Christmas lighting for the city.

Notice was received in answer to previous correspondence, that the city postoffice will be open on Sunday mornings. However, there is not a mail distribution on Sundays or holidays.

Discussion continued on the disturbances caused by young people who are permitted to roam the streets at night. City officials have been called at 3 a. m. at times to receive complaints of noise caused by the youths. Parents and guardians of the youths are urged to handle this matter and look into the whereabouts of their teenagers.

Sun Valley Has New Surgeon, Head Nurse

SUN VALLEY — The Sun Valley Hospital has a new surgeon and a new director of nurses.

Dr. Ivan J. Gustafson, Seattle, is the new surgeon, and Mrs. Ethel D. McMahon, Alameda, Calif., is the director of nurses.

Dr. Gustafson had been in private practice in Seattle for the past 16 years. He was born in Monroe, Wash., and was graduated from Washington State University and the University of Oregon Medical School.

He interned at the Public Health Hospital in Seattle and took his residency in surgery at the Veterans Hospital in Seattle. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgery.

Dr. Gustafson is married and has four children and two grandchildren. His youngest son will reside in Sun Valley with his parents.

Mrs. McMahon had been an anesthetist in Alameda prior to coming to Sun Valley. She trained at Sacred Heart in Spokane and the Conemaugh Valley Memorial Hospital in Johnstown, Pa.

She has majored in supervising of nurses in many departments and also is a certified registered anesthetist. Mrs. McMahon is the wife of Tom McMahon, who came to Ketchum to act as superintendent of plumbing at the Calico resort where he has been installing the radiant heating.

He expects to establish a permanent business here.

The McMahons have five married children and seven grandchildren.

Attendance At Filer Said Down

FILER — Registration the first day of this school year at Filer High School was 310 as compared with 335 for last year, reported Tom Turner, superintendent.

The Filer Elementary School noted a total of 461 this year as compared to 466 last year. This includes grades one through eight, says Bill Heaps, principal.

At Hollister, the total count for graduates over through six was 85 for this year and 83 for 1969. Since there are always late enrollments in all the schools, another count will be taken at the end of next week and this will see some changes in the total enrollment for the schools, added Mr. Turner.

JEROME — Preliminary hearing for Dwayne Foust, Jerome theater owner, on charges of disseminating material harmful to minors and employing minors while showing obscene movies, was postponed Wednesday until Sept. 16.

The hearing, scheduled to be held in district court in Jerome, was postponed at the request of the prosecuting attorney who was unable to be in court Wednesday.

Two Autos Hit Cows At Rupert

RUPERT — Gordon Mills, Idaho State Police, investigated two accidents on Tuesday evening northeast of here.

His report noted Eugene Phillips, 51, Rupert, was traveling south and D. Robin Ramey, 17, also Rupert, was traveling north, and on approaching each other, dimmed their headlights.

Both then failed to see cows in the road and each struck a cow owned by Leo Jarolleme, Rupert. Both cows were injured slightly.

Damage to the Phillips vehicle was estimated at $50 and $300 to the Ramey vehicle. Ramey and his passenger, Brenda Ramey, 15, Rupert, received minor injuries.

WENDELL — Members of the Wendell City Council will meet at 8 p. m. today at the city hall.

Nampa's Farm-Labor Issue Continues

CALDWELL (UPI) — Canyon County Commissioner Ralph Howard said Wednesday he has replied to statements made by the Western Legal Aid Caldwell office director Walter E. Cornutt, in connection with recent farm-labor problems.

Cornutt said Tuesday, "Legal aid would have no reason to promote a strike. If legal aid or any other organization tried to organize a Chicago strike, it would meet a dismal failure. The strike success lies in its spontaneity."

"I am amazed at what a little inquiry in Washington, D. C., can do," Howard said. He said he called Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, and Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, concerning legal aid.

"I wanted to find out who Cornutt is responsible to. The state of Idaho has little, if any, authority over them and they seem to write their own ticket. I was told," he said.

Howard said the first thing that happened after his inquiry was Cornutt went to the news media.

"First he said legal aid is not promoting the Mexican-American farm workers strike and then goes into detail and tells how his people instruct the strikers how to do it legal-like, furnishes a photographer and writes their demands for them. Sometimes I wonder about this fellow."

"I say this guy is running a pretty effective promotional agency for strikers and it is not costing them a dime for newspaper, television and radio coverage," Howard said.

Tuesday, Cornutt said, "this strike started in the hearts of workers who were cursed and dragged without cause from the fields where they were working. Migrant farm workers have minds of their own and a little spirit, too."

"To many local residents, it is inconceivable this action is not being dissolved of outside action and influence. It is being blamed on communists, Cesar Chavez, Western Idaho Legal Aid and other outside forces.

Some cannot comprehend that Mexican field workers have pride and feelings — even goals. The workers were not advised or encouraged to strike by outside agitators."

Cornutt added an investigative aid from his office took photos of the incidents during the confrontations between workers and farmers. The photos were sent to the Washington office of the Office of Economic Opportunity. He said advice was given to workers when they came to his office and requested it.

When bridge teacher Mary Jane Read of Los Angeles and librarian Marilyn Johnson of San Francisco won the Women's Pair championship at Stockholm last month, it gave Mary Jane her second World Title. In 1966, she won the mixed with the late Ivan Erdos.

Marilyn holds up her half of the partnership beautifully.

Marilyn's two-heart response was a Jacoby transfer and her four-club bid was Gerber to ask for aces. She finally placed the contract at six no-trump in order to get that extra 10 points for no-trump. They were playing match points, not rubber bridge.

Playing at spades, Mary Jane would have been able to set up her fifth diamond for the 12th trick. Playing at no-trump, and red card lead would have helped her out but West opened the 10 of spades. Mary Jane could count 11 tricks in top cards. It was up to her to find the 12th in hearts or diamonds.

She started to run off spades. East promptly discarded the four of hearts, followed by the three of that same suit. Then he started to shed low clubs. West's discard on the fifth spade was the nine of hearts. Meanwhile, Mary Jane had jettisoned a club and two diamonds. She also had made up her mind about what to do.

Her next play was a low heart. East played low and Mary Jane went right up with the king. She had believed East's delicate signal and paid no attention to West's play of the nine.

CSI Police Class Receives Funds

Law enforcement officers will be able to further their education with aid from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the dean of student affairs at College of Southern Idaho, Dave Perkins, said today.

CSI's Law Enforcement Education Program has been awarded $5,400 for grants to aid lawmen by paying for tuition and books while they seek further education at CSI, Congressman Orval Hansen said.

The program, formerly only offered to four-year colleges, has been opened to any academic school offering two years of college education.

As an aid to officers who have had no opportunity for furthering their high school education, the program at CSI will offer classes in social work, humanities, social science and English composition, Dean Perkins said.

Understanding the people that the policeman must work with everyday is one of the goals the program has been aimed at.

"We hope they (law officers) will go ahead and get a degree in criminology or sociology when they complete the two-year program here," Perkins said.

Hansen said the school will receive $3,240 of the award immediately with the remainder to be sent in late November following final passage of 1971 appropriations bills by Congress.

Law enforcement people who wish to apply for aid under this program may do so through the office of Dean Perkins.

Police Plan Discussion Of Training

BURLEY — Training needed for law enforcement officers of the fourth region, Idaho Peace Officers, will be discussed in a law enforcement training council meeting here this afternoon.

Police Chief Ken Barry, Burley, council president, said the meeting will be held in his offices in the Burley City Hall. Among those attending the Thursday planning session will be Frank Barnett, Twin Falls police chief and vice president; Bill Reed, Halley chief of police, secretary and probably Larry Platt, law enforcement instructor at Idaho State University, Pocatello.

A CACHE OF DYNAMITE was dug up in the Burlington Railroad yards at Minneapolis, Minn., Wednesday. The cache held 12 cases of dynamite and weighed 200 pounds. Inspectors said they received a telephone call on Tuesday saying that the dynamite was buried in the vicinity of the yard, but they couldn't find it until police received a map in the mail showing them where it was buried. (UPI)

Ending Conflict Jars Economy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Phasing out a war, as the United States is doing in Vietnam, wrenches an economy in the process.

Counting cuts in the Armed Forces, 1.7 million defense jobs will disappear this year, according to Assistant Defense Secretary David Packard. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., mindful that 150,000 of those jobs may involve the New England area, has asked Congress for $50 million to finance immediate industrial reconversion to peacetime goals.

Economists, industry leaders and politicians disagree on the extent of the prospective "peace dividend"—how much the government will save from Vietnam which can be turned to use improving life in America. The National Industrial Conference Board (NICB) has studied the possible size of the peace dividend and which industries will benefit most from it.

A study by the NICB's own economists concluded that the end of the war should cut U.S. defense outlays by $20 to $24 billion a year. Two-thirds of this amount, it said, probably will be a real peace dividend available for new domestic economic and social programs. The NICB said industries most likely to benefit by diversion of substantial parts of the remaining two thirds—the real dividend—to civilian use are those engaged in health and welfare service and supplies, food production, consumer soft goods and the construction industry, which may benefit most of all.

The transportation industry, metallurgy, electronics and electrical equipment and aircraft and ordnance would suffer and need help converting to peacetime output.

Suit Asks Damages Of $38,095

TWIN FALLS — Damages of $38,095 are being asked in a suit filed in Fifth Judicial District here by David C. Lowe, Jr., in connection with an auto accident Oct. 14, 1969, in which Lowe was allegedly injured.

The complaint was filed by Lowe, a passenger in one of the vehicles, against Farrel W. Nelson, driver of a pickup truck which was towing a trailer. Wood River Hosts Tigers, Gooding-Burley Rivalry Renews In Grid Openers Minico travels to Blackfoot, Mountain Home tests Wood River and Gooding will meet Burley for the first time in several years as the 1970 Magic Valley High school football season opens with a bang Friday and Saturday.

Burley, making its first grid appearance in 31 years without Rulon Budge at the helm, will be hosting Gooding as the teams meet for the first time since 1950. That was the year for the great Burley teams that managed to score 253 points in the Cross State Conference and allow only six — Gooding got that six on a kickoff return by Childs. Immediately after that season, the Cross State dropped to only four members as Gooding and other teams withdrew to form the South Central Idaho Conference.

Bob Mathews, who succeeded Budge as coach, is no newcomer to the scene having been at Burley for several seasons. He welcomes back 16 lettermen and some pretty good size in the line. The Bobcats have good speed in Doug Manning and Bob Jackson with the only spot open without a veteran being quarterback. Manning was shifted to that spot last year when an injury put the Bobcats out on a limb...but Coach Mathews believes Manning's speed and ability will better benefit the team at halfback if possible. Two juniors, Kent Sager and Gary Hanks are listed as quarterbacks.

Gooding as good size back under coach Leroy Johnson for this rivalry renewal.

Mountain Home is another club long on veterans as the Tigers started several juniors a year ago. Wood River, under Coach Bill Bowman, has 11 returning veterans but will have a problem with size against the larger Tigers in the afternoon battle.

Aussies Cop Third Win Over France

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Sailing for the first time in brisk 15-knot winds, Gretel 11 of Australia Wednesday defeated France for the third straight time in their America's Cup qualifying series, winning by two minutes 24 seconds.

Gretel, skippered by Jim Hardy, led all the way. Hardy got his 12-meter craft over the starting line two seconds ahead of France. France was skippered by Louis Noverraz, back at the French helm after he replaced Pierre Delfour, who skippered France in Monday's defeat.

Noverraz was skipper in the opening defeat and Delfour then took his place. Noverraz failed Wednesday with Delfour's crew.

Hardy all but won the race in a battle of tactics in the first leg upwind, where Gretel had been strongest. There was a series of tacks on the first leg, and when Noverraz went on the eighth tack, Hardy elected to go straight for the mark, kept the breeze and opened a lead of 1:32 at the mark.

France never caught up. It was 1:44 at the second mark, 1:28 at the third, 2:13 at the fourth mark after an upwind leg, and 2:04 at the fifth as France gained only nine seconds downwind, where it is admittedly faster than Gretel.

The first two races of this best-of-seven series were sailed mostly in winds of eight knots or less—sometimes there was dead calm—and Wednesday's race, as gusts sometimes hit 20 knots, was the first preview of performance in the heavier winds which normally prevail when the actual competition starts Sept. 15.

Intrepid, with Bill Ficker at the helm, continued its mastery of Gallant, skippered by Bill McCullough, in the U.S. final trials, winning its second straight since the U.S. trials were cut to those two yachts.

16-POUND CATFISH, taken out of Salmon Falls Creek about six miles above the reservoir, is displayed by Champ Gray of Hansen. Although Gray and his son, Gene Gray, had to push their canoe through a large part of the low-water stream, they brought out this 16-pounder and reported seeing three more. The fish evidently are a reproduction remnant of a 1940 planting by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Murphy Eyes First Win In 2 Years

CLIFTON, N.J. (UPI)—On a golf course he likes and in weather he enjoys, Bob Murphy hopes to find the winning touch this weekend for the first time in two years.

Murphy is the defending champion, of sorts, in the star-studded field of 150 that begins play Thursday in the $300,000 Dow Jones Open—richest event ever on the PGA tour.

Two years ago as a pro rookie, Murphy won the last of the four Thunderbird Classics held here. Although it was his last tour victory, Murphy's 1-for-1 record at Upper Montclair Country Club makes him one of the Dow Jones favorites.

"I like this course, it's a good course, and if I like a course I usually play well on it," said the roly-poly Murphy, who won two years ago with a 72-hole total of 277, 11 under par.

"I'm playing well enough now, and I just feel good," he said. "I like this hot weather. I liked the golf course at Southern Hills (site of the PGA at Tulsa two weeks ago) and the weather was hot, and I almost won the tournament."

Murphy tied Arnold Lalmier for second place at the PGA, his second runner-up finish of 1970. He lost to Lee Trevino in a playoff for the Tucson Open title in February.

Catfish Discovered After 30-Year Lull

Catching of a 16-pound channel catfish by Champ Gray of Hansen out of the Salmon Falls Creek above Salmon reservoir and the sighting of two or three more of its brothers, cause the Idaho Fish and Game Department a slight pause recently but records dating back to 1940 brought it all into focus.

Gray and his son, Gene, floating (and pushing) a canoe down Salmon Falls Creek on Aug. 18 caught the big catfish about six miles above the reservoir. The other three channel cats, described as about the same size, were seen in the same section of the stream.

"They entered their canoe at the bridge just south of Jackpot and floated into the reservoir. They reported tough going and a lot of pulling and shoving to get through.

But when they did, the presence of the catfish was rather a surprise, particularly so high in the tiny stream. It isn't a great surprise to find anything in Salmon Falls Reservoir since just about every species known to North American man has been officially or unofficially planted there.

Bob Bell, regional fish biologist, researched the thing out and found that in 1940 the Idaho Fish and Game Department made the plantings of channel-outs-in-the-creek, not the reservoir, and the fish evidently haven't moved too far in the past 30 years.

Kimberly, which could have the year its been waiting on for awhile, will help the Oakley Hornets debut under Coach Neil Wyatt at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. Kimberly has a speedy backfield while Oakley may attack with the aerial-minded game of last year.

Hanson, another school with the hopes of wiping out some bad memories over the past few years, will host Mackay Friday afternoon. The Huskies have good experience back but sustained a setback in practice this week when senior, Cliff Bernard hurt his shoulder.

Richfield will be home to the Bliss Bears in the only eight-man action of the opening weekend while Raft River will play host to the North Gem Cowboys.

Saturday night, one of the toughest "small" rivalries develops in the traditional opener between Murtaugh and the Vikings at Valley. Murtaugh has played about as much softball (in the LDS tournament) in the past week as football but that hardly mollifies Valley Coach Bob Brulotte.

Castletford will travel to Rimrock for an 8 p. m. game.

Bengals Land Two Veteran Quarterbacks

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Bengals announced Wednesday the addition of two veteran quarterbacks to the squad.

The Bengals obtained Virgil Carter from the Buffalo Bills and signed Bob Davis as a free agent.

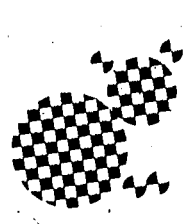

Mays Reaches New Plateau

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Willie Mays joined Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth and Stan Musial Wednesday as the only players in major league baseball history to score 1900 or more career runs.

Mays, now 39, reached that milestone by hitting his 23rd homer of the year and the 623rd of his career off Nelson Briles in the first inning of a game between the San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals.

Cobb is the all time run scoring leader with 2,245. Ruth is next with 2,174 and Musial is third with 1,949.

This is no stop sign.

Helping others is an old American tradition. When we see someone hitchhiking along the road—perhaps a young man who could be on his way back to college—it's our natural inclination to stop and offer a lift. Unfortunately, it's a dangerous inclination. Time and again, the generous gesture of a motorist has turned to tragedy, with robbery, assault or murder the reward for a lift along the road. N.A.D.A. safety experts estimate it happens nearly 100 times every day.

The message is clear. Don't stop to pick up a stranger. A hitchhiker's appearance is no indication of his character—or intentions. In addition to the risk of robbery or attack, there is danger in stepping suddenly for a hitchhiker when other cars are on the road behind you.

We want you and your family to be safe whenever you travel by car. So next time you see a hitchhiker, leave him be. You'll still be doing someone a kindness. Your family and yourself.

Resource Board Has Loan Policy

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Water Resource Board announced today adoption of a five-point policy statement on small project development loans established by the 1969 state legislature as a revolving fund.

The board said until the revolving development fund is substantially augmented above its present $500,000 level the loan program can have relatively little impact on developing new lands. It said the major impact on new land development will come from such large projects as the Southwest Idaho joint venture now under study by the board and other agencies.

In its policy statement, the board said: — Short term and interim financing are presently preferred over long-term loans from the board's revolving development fund to permit rapid turnover and maximum impact upon development of Idaho's water resources.

Loans will be made only when funds are not readily available from other public or private sources without causing undue hardship on the applicant.

— As long as funds are available loans will be considered on projects in the order the applications are processed.

— Any proposed project must protect all existing water rights. — And major items to be considered by the board in setting loan priorities include the emergency nature of the project, the amount of land to be affected, benefits derived by rehabilitation or modernization of projects, and municipal, agricultural, industrial, recreational, fish and wildlife, and conservation benefits of the projects.
