

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News Staff Writer TWIN FALLS — X-rated movies have made their debut in Magic Valley.

films shown this month were rated X. One theater in Jerome, the Frontier, switched to a program of nothing but X films — or "XXX" films as owner Dwayne Foust terms them.

For parents who don't realize it, many of the films are not simply "educational". They often contain explicit sex acts, brutality, perversion, sadism and other portrayals the lawmakers have ruled unfit for minors.

one occasionally. "I turned down "m-A-S-H" because I felt Twin Falls audiences were not ready for this type of film, and then sat by and watched my competition show it to capacity audiences every night for a week," Roper said.

another charge brought by the Department of Labor, he allegedly employed a minor girl in the theater while showing obscene films.

charging 65 cents to $1.75, depending on whether the viewer was a child, student or adult, Foust said, he was going broke.

Urban Ghetto Anger Mounts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 14-city survey of urban affairs reporters turned up warnings across the country that inner city frustrations are building again toward the bursting point, City Magazine reported Saturday.

Comments from the 14 cities frequently expressed the frustrations and fears openly: New York — An unidentified woman is quoted: "The whole hypocrisy of the system is that when our youngsters decide to burn or rearrange this country city by city, then Washington will get up off its rear and hand out X amount of dollars.

Family Assistance Pressed

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Hoping to save the "flagship" of his domestic programs, President Nixon agreed Friday to a Democratic compromise which would postpone for a year his $4.1 billion family assistance program while it is tested.

Advantages of the FM service include a clear signal day and night which should reach all Magic Valley towns affected by interference from either distant or nearby stations, Lee said.

Cleveland — Richard Green, urban renewal director, is quoted: "All the political talk in the world won't put our cities back together again. Time is getting short. All you have to do is take a tour to learn Cleveland is not so gently falling apart. How long must the people wait?"

Eden Gets Sewer Bid

EDEN — An apparent low bid of $110,123 for construction of the city's first sewer system was submitted Friday night to the City Council.

Kimberly Man Dies at Wreck

KIMBERLY — Fredrick George Muir, 86, retired Kimberly resident, was pronounced dead at the scene of a traffic accident late Friday, but his death had not been added to the Idaho traffic toll Saturday.

Stanlee Shillington, 16, Twin Falls.

Mayor James Lulow said the bid, submitted by Larry Fairbanks, Twin Falls, was within project estimates and a good bid.

Seven bids were submitted. All will be studied by project engineers before final action by the council. A second meeting is scheduled for Wednesday to review project financing and start of work.

The contract will cover construction of main-line sewers throughout Eden and construction of a lagoon treatment facility north of the city.

Lagoon site property had been purchased earlier from Vernon Lance.

State and federal aid, along with the bond issue, will finance the sewers. Total project cost is estimated at $170,000.

far advanced, the need for reform is too great, for this to be permitted to happen," he said.

Nixon's move was a dramatic attempt to pry his program, already being touted in Republican campaign oratory, from the Senate Finance Committee, where it has languished since April 16, with some of the most vocal opposition coming from his own party. It passed the House earlier on an overwhelming vote.

The compromise, proposed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, a former secretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department in the Kennedy administration, would delay the start of the program until Jan. 1, 1972.

During the intervening year, beginning Jan. 1, 1971, the administration would set up three pilot test projects in a farming area, an urban area and a nonindustrial area to tool up the national program. Vermont and Arkansas were considered two likely starting points.

Dr. Patrick J. Moynihan, Nixon's adviser and the White House architect of the plan, termed it the "most important piece of domestic legislation in the last 35 years. We don't want to see it go down the drain." He added that Nixon has called it "my flagship."

The legislation would establish for the first time a floor beneath the income of all families with children. A family of four would receive a minimum of $2,464, including food stamps. Based on a sliding scale, a family could receive an income up to $3,920, which still is below the subsistence line.

Growers Ponder Bargaining Pact

Growers in Payette and Canyon counties are considering a proposal that they bargain with farm officers elected in free elections to be conducted by the Idaho Department of Labor. The striking migrant workers agreed to the labor department proposal and have said picketing will cease until Sunday when farmers must announce whether or not they will sit down at the bargaining table with the elected officers.

Farmers and strikers have traded verbal blows, but as yet only one arrest has resulted. That arrest came late Thursday when Jorge Ochoa, 24, Caldwell, was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon and interference with traffic movement. He was released on $300 bond on each count. His attorney said the "deadly weapon" was only a pocketknife. Payette County Sheriff Richard Hayes said the charge was leveled against Ochoa because "he tried to hide the knife in a police car."

Later Thursday a suit was filed in Third District Court in Caldwell seeking to prohibit picketers from persuading other workers to leave the fields. The suit also seeks $1,000 in damages. It was filed by Fred A. Rian, who also owns property in Payette County that was picketed by strikers Monday.

Aria, who acted as director of the M.K.S. Inc., charged in the suit workers who wished to remain in the fields were harassed by the picketers. He claims "All 120 of my workers left the fields Monday when picketers arrived" at the farm. He alleges the workers were harassed and claims the defendants are acting in a conspiracy against him.

Candidate Says Race Difficult

BOISE (UPI) — Jack Holley, the Republican candidate for state auditor, is questioning whether the campaign trail is all it's cracked up to be. The 31-year-old candidate breezed through the primary election campaign as a write-in with no opposition. His luck changed Thursday night. Holley planned to leave at 2 p. m. for the Payette County Fair but didn't get away from his office until almost 6 p. m. His car sported a new 150 sign on top and two red and white posters on the side reading, "Holley for Auditor." He said he got to about 60 miles per hour on the freeway "when I heard this whoosh and looked out my rear view mirror and saw that thing flying off." By the time he stopped he was a few hundred yards past the sign and while he was backing up the oncoming traffic crushed his new sign.

Official Claims Misquote

CALDWELL (UPI) — The Canyon County commissioner who released information regarding possible discontinuation of the food stamp program in the county said Friday he was misquoted. Ira Craven said, "I said a 'good many' people who needed the program are too proud to apply — not that 'many good' people are not applying because they are too proud." Both Craven and William C. Norberg Jr., chairman of the Canyon County Board of Commissioners, said the question over the continuation of the food stamp program was not connected with the current migrant workers strike in the county. Norberg said, "The charges being thrown around about the slaves is ridiculous. It wouldn't be in the interests of the farmer to treat them like slaves or abuse them because they wouldn't come back." Norberg said the statements "are absolute contrived lies used to incite certain people and on the reading public." Norberg also referred to a statement by the Rev. Santos Recalde, Parma, that there were starving families in the county. "Challenge Recalde to prove that," Norberg said. "There is certainly no one starving in this county." He added the statement by Mrs. Sarah Loredo, Caldwell, that there was mud-slinging against low income people "is an absolute falsehood. I don't know of any county officials making accusations without proof," Norberg said. "Our accusations are based on information available to us."

Idaho May Run Reactor

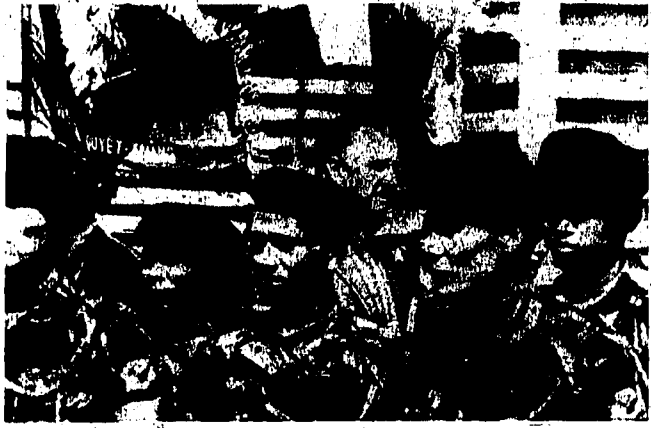

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson Friday asked the State Nuclear Energy Commission to study feasibility of the state taking over the materials testing reactor at the National Reactor Testing Station. Samuelson told a news conference the Atomic Energy Commission has offered the facility to the state for a 10 year lease. But he said the agreement would restrict use of the reactor to educational, research and governmental functions and would prohibit commercial applications.

Live Virus Vaccination Cautioned

TWIN FALLS — South Central Idaho Health Department officials have advised parents not to have their children vaccinated with live virus vaccines from Aug. 20 through Nov. 2. The warning has been issued in connection with the live rubella vaccine which is being offered for protection against three-day or German measles for children from ages one through 12 years. If other live virus vaccines are given they will reduce or destroy the effectiveness of the measles vaccine, officials said. Live virus vaccines include polio, smallpox, rub measles and mumps vaccinations.

Sleep Consultant Probed

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Do you have trouble falling asleep after entertaining guests or spending an evening out during the week?"

This question is posed in a press release by Sally Ames, who is identified as "sleep consultant for a leading mattress manufacturer."

No, Miss Ames. Falling asleep AFTER entertaining guests is not one of my problems.

My problem is falling asleep WHILE I'm entertaining guests.

That does not mean, however, that I am not interested in Miss Ames and her profession.

How Come?
One thing that interests me is how Miss Ames came to be a "sleep consultant" in the first place.

Could that have been her lifelong ambition? Hardly. At least I've never known any little girls who wanted to be sleep consultants when they grew up.

All of the little girls I have known wanted to become nurses, airline stewardesses or tank commanders.

More likely Miss Ames discovered more or less by accident that she had an aptitude for that line of work. Or perhaps she was discovered by a mattress company talent scout.

("I've been keeping an eye on you, Sally, and you've got what it takes to become a first rate sleep consultant.")

However it came about, Miss Ames surely must now rank as one of slumberland's most advanced thinkers. For she foresees progress in somnolence that will render our present morpheus techniques virtually obsolete by the year 2000.

Onward And Upward
Among the onward and upward steps Miss Ames is forecasting is the development of devices "to stimulate dreaming and even to produce the exact kind of dream desired."

That definitely would be a quantum jump over existing methods of programming dreams. Although we can stimulate our dreams to some extent by what we eat just before bedtime, these dietary influences are haphazard at best.

A midnight dish of sauerkraut, for example, may produce dreams of being cast away on a desert island with Raquel Welch. But it is just as likely to produce dreams of playing underwater tiddledywinks with Spiro Agnew.

This unpredictable nature of dreaming is what makes Miss Ames' vision of reliable dream controls so attractive.

Even in a dream I wouldn't want to risk getting hit on the head with a wet tiddle.

Spoke too soon
LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Dr. Otis Singletary, president of the University of Kentucky, told a Louisville civic group that college students are "worthy of respect...in fact, if one word fits them, it is that they are admirable." Two weeks later, three days of student demonstrations at the Lexington campus forced cancellation of commencement exercises.

Welfare Secretary Viewed As 'Mr. Good Guy' Type

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In age-conscious Washington, Elliot L. Richardson is being pictured as Mr. Efficient Good Guy after two months as welfare secretary—and some of his associates are concerned.

"Sure, this can hurt him," said one aide who shifted with Richardson from the State Department, where he was No. 2, to HEW, where he succeeded the embattled Robert H. Finch as head of that unwieldy and second largest (next to the Defense Department) of federal government agencies.

The aide was referring to glowing observations about Richardson such as that by one White House secretary that "Elliot Richardson is really Clark Kent in disguise," and one by a hometown newspaper, the Boston Globe, suggesting he might be 1970 presidential timber if he continued to do so well in such a taxing job.

The Richardson aide said his boss's notices since becoming welfare secretary June 24 were simply no good. "Elliot's aware of this," he said, explaining: "If too many good image stories start building up, people will begin to think he's planting them."

Not that Richardson has turned a tough job into a bed of roses. The department is still losing some good people, Richardson has run into some White House obstacles in filling certain jobs, he has not rescued any key legislation in Congress, and he has not made any major initiative of his own.

Out-Of-Line

The public conflict between Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., and Al Minton, head of Idaho's Department of Commerce and Development, at the recent Sun Valley hearing on proposed White Clouds-Sawtooth Mountain legislation, was out-of-line and uncalled for.

It all came about when Mr. Minton, reading a statement from Governor Samuelson, refused to stop when Rep. Taylor, chairman of the House Interior Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation, struck the gavel and told him his time was up.

Mr. Minton's efforts to read on brought sharp "aside" barbs from Rep. Taylor which really had no place in the proceedings. He had admonished the crowd of several hundred that there would be no cheering, clapping or booing and yet he provoked those present, especially those who disapproved of the Governor's views, to applaud and laugh.

We hold that both men are to blame and that both should know better how to act at a public session.

Because they were both out-of-line they joined in creating a performance not in keeping with a supposedly dignified and serious Congressional hearing.

No Folly

Self-preservation is the most basic natural law of the human and animal worlds: Some members of Congress who like to think of themselves as sophisticates or intellectuals either believe this law has been repealed or no longer is of any consequence.

They are mistaken. Feeding their egos on the discontentment surrounding the Vietnam war, these men—many of them in the Senate—have adopted a neo-isolationist stance on the grounds that "human values" deserve higher priority than defense in a free society.

What they fail to realize is that a free society cannot exist in a world containing a number of totalitarian powers unless its defenses are adequate. While they are chipping away at defense spending wherever they can find it, the Soviet Union—to name only one of the totalitarian states—is expanding its military capabilities in a manner which could threaten this nation's existence as a free society.

Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, father of the U.S. Navy's nuclear force, has been as critical of the defense establishment as any man, but always with a view toward improving the nation's defenses. Noting that Soviet ballistic missile subs now patrol both U.S. coasts, presumably with their missiles zeroed in on American cities, Adm. Rickover said:

"The Soviets are capable of starting tomorrow the biggest war there has ever been and frankly I am not confident of the outcome."

These sentiments have been echoed in recent days by Dr. Edward Teller, the nuclear physicist, and Sen. John Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

In case one chooses to ignore their warnings, there is the gloating of Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, commander of the Soviet navy, who boasts his nuclear submarines have "bound the hands" of the United States.

Defense spending has been reduced in the last year, and it can be cut more in the years ahead as the Vietnam operation is phased out. But only a fool would risk the future security of the nation because of an impatience of distorted view of defense in an uncertain world.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Egg Caper

Science has done it again. The old question of how long it takes to hardboil an egg on top of Pike's Peak has been solved.

A controversy has been simmering (?) since at least 1955, when the author of a physical chemistry textbook devised a hypothetical solution to the problem. Other theoreticians got into the act, and using lengthy and complicated calculations, came up with times ranging from 12 minutes to 20 hours.

Nobody ever tried boiling a real egg, however, until University of Arizona chemist Dr. John V. Rand, decided to attack the question. He and a trusted assistant placed eggs in a thermostatically controlled device which maintained the temperature at the boiling point of water on top of the 14,110-foot peak. That's 187 degrees F.

Sacrificing a dozen eggs to science, they came up with the answer: At that temperature, it takes 28 minutes—plus or minus a minute—to hardboil a large Grade AA egg to a turn.

Had he ever considered simply going up the mountain and boiling an egg?

"Well, I did think about it," Rand said, "but it's a rather long way to go to boil an egg. If we were there, I'd rather have my eggs scrambled anyhow. It only takes three minutes."

A year ago, when Mr. Spectator stood on top of Pike's Peak and walked at a slow pace so he could get his breath, boiling eggs was a long way from his mind. Just getting on that train and getting down again was paramount!

FISHY ALL RIGHT

Those Russian fishing trawlers strategically located off the United States shoreline apparently aren't more adept at retrieving than they are at catching fish, judging by the performance of the spy ship Laptev off Cape Kennedy after the successful firing of the new U. S. Poseidon missile.

Not only did the Laptev force cancellation of the initial firing test when it came within 200 yards of the missile-firing nuclear submarine, but it nearly collided with two, T. W. recovery ships in its haste to recover some of the debris after the test.

Even at that it failed, demonstrating anew its amateur fishing prowess.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Does The Guard Have A Value?

WASHINGTON — Unannounced and without fanfare, a Senate Appropriations subcommittee has been conducting an exhaustive study of the nation's military reserve forces and their inactive role in the Vietnam war.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is spearheading the inquiry. In the frequent absence, due to illness, of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., Ellender has been acting as chairman of the Military Appropriations Subcommittee which is currently considering the Pentagon budget.

Because much of its testimony includes classified data, the subcommittee conducts all its hearings behind closed doors. Ellender's comments, and the material supplied by the Pentagon by way of response, will not be made public until a censored version of the subcommittee's hearing is released.

We are reliably advised, however, that Ellender has bluntly questioned the utility of National Guard and reserve forces which, while they have been justified over the years as insurance for national emergency, have made little contribution to the fighting in Vietnam. Central to the Senator's complaints, according to our information, is the cost of maintaining the various military reserve forces. From data supplied by the Pentagon, Ellender is said to have determined that the reserves are costing the taxpayers about $2.5 billion each year.

Costs are not the only target for Ellender's complaints, however: From data supplied by the services at his request as subcommittee chairman, he is reported to have drawn two other pointed questions. In the first place, Pentagon statistics show that the Vietnam build-up here in the United States and in Southeast Asia has amounted to about 900,000 men. That is the growth in the regular active duty rolls of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines at the peak of the fighting.

At the same time, according to the data supplied to the subcommittee, the military reserve forces had the same number of men—about 900,000—on a paid drill status. Ellender, therefore, asks why only 37,000 of those paid guardsmen and reservists were ordered to duty in Vietnam. Why was the draft used instead?

Data supplied to the subcommittee, according to our information, also indicates that more than two out of three of the paid reservists are what the Pentagon calls "nonprior service personnel." That is, they are participants in programs which offer an alternative to regular active duty service and not a follow-up to it.

Ellender is said to have made the point that these reserve programs have been a popular choice for young men facing regular service during the Vietnam war. He thus raises the question of whether the reserves, far from contributing to the Vietnam effort, have been a sanctuary from it.

Ellender has also asked the Pentagon, our informants say, for full particulars on the use of reservists in other emergencies. Nearly a million reservists and national guardsmen saw active service in the Korean war, for example, and nearly 150,000 of them were called up during the Berlin crisis in late 1961 and early 1962.

Ellender is not the only person to question the role of the reserves in the Vietnam build-up, but it is highly doubtful that his complaints and his proposed cost-cutting will attract wide congressional support. There are, to put it mildly, political factors to be considered.

The military reserves have an active and powerful lobby in the form of veterans' groups. Ellender is reported to have tangled already in the subcommittee hearings, with spokesmen for the Reserve Officers Association, an organization with an office across the street from the Senate office buildings here.

More important are the regular, grass roots political reverberations of any move against the reserves. Guard and reserve units have been politically oriented for years in many parts of the nation, and many of Ellender's colleagues are well aware of that fact.

Not a few of the "nonprior service personnel" who have found their way into reserve units, and thus avoided service in Vietnam, are the sons of families who have political clout in their home districts.

Heeding Advice

(Editor's Note: Andrew Tully is on vacation. Today's column is written by Senator Hugh Scott, Senate Republican leader, as guest writer)

WASHINGTON — There is good reason to believe that our nation is finally heeding the advice of those more quiet voices which have been urging a decline in deficits and an increase in mutual efforts to bring about peace abroad and at home.

Congress has settled down with a better-late-than-Christmas mood to the realities of hard work, and is finally directing its attention to the substantial legislative program, much of it innovative, which President Nixon has sent up. Debate even on hot issues such as the anti-ballistic missile system has proceeded with order, and without the recklessness of last summer's clamor.

Our tragic Vietnam involvement is winding down, and the peace talks in Paris carry a new and hopeful importance as each day passes. The cease-fire in the Middle East is a bright harbinger of hope. The American people have firmly decided that their water and air must be cleaned up, and working to assure there will be no delay.

Enactment of strong D.C. crime and court reorganization measures has given assurances to the citizenry that their elected representatives are determined to constitutionally reassert the right of society to safe streets and quick convictions of the guilty. The relations between the White House and the Republican leadership of Congress are the best they have ever been, as the President's top assistants and the Congressional leadership mesh, and coordinate daily operations.

Chances are that there won't be an extended session after the election because the essential authorization and appropriations legislation, including vital welfare reform, will have been enacted.

Vice President Agnew and Attorney General Mitchell who have made waves now and then, to the agitation of the liberal spectrum, are sailing in calmer waters. The spiral of inflation and the threat of economic difficulty is reversing, and we seem on our way to making substantive gains in keeping employment levels up.

In comparison to the intolerable level of violence, intolerance and misunderstanding during our "spring of discontent," the voices of moderate centrists are now being heard and the nation is the beneficiary. Perhaps the great majority as well as the students have finally recognized that moderation, and not a heavy turbulence of emotional verbiage, produces wise, reasoned, forward-moving action. The prevailing spirit of conciliation is not, however, decreasing political awareness. The pastime of politics will move into full swing with the advent of autumn. It is not yet safe to predict the temperature of the rhetoric. Let us hope that the coming months and the coming political season will serve to enlighten and to educate, rather than to harangue and to upset the American people.

The renewal of our spirit as a people rests upon our commitment to the activism of the centrists' role. Our nation has not been built by extremists and it cannot be destroyed by them.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

On Poll-Taking

WARREN, Mich. — A poisonous combination of unemployment and inflation in this lily-white suburb in the shadows of Detroit's automotive industry casts grave doubts on President Nixon's grand design of cutting into Democratic blue-collar workers.

A poll-taking trip we made here with the Oliver Quayle polling organization showed that these white workers, though terribly distressed by questions of race and crime, seem even more disgruntled about Mr. Nixon's handling of the economy.

Our interviews with 84 registered voters (conducted with Mrs. Mina Cuker, Quayle's expert Michigan supervisor) revealed a shocking decline in the President's popularity. In 1968, they voted 36 per cent for Mr. Nixon, 47 per cent for Hubert H. Humphrey, 17 per cent for George C. Wallace. Their preferences today: Nixon, 17 per cent; Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine (the Democratic front-runner), 68 per cent; Wallace, 15 per cent.

The danger in this for Mr. Nixon is that these are precisely the voters he needs to entice from the Democratic party—white, Catholic, skilled blue-collar and non-professional white-collar workers. They are no less worried about street crime and racial issues than when we interviewed here in September 1968, and are newly frightened by radical youth. Official permissiveness toward pot-smoking hippies at glit rock festivals and rock-throwing students on campus enrage these suburbanites.

But the potential here for Republican gains is swamped by economic fear. Instead of the President picking up the 1968 Wallace vote, the inflation-unemployment syndrome is costing Mr. Nixon much of his own 1968 support and channeling Wallace defectors toward Muskie (whose remarkable popularity here stems partly from his appeal to ethnic Catholics).

An unemployed carpenter in his late 50s, who voted for Wallace last time and plans to repeat, says: "Everyone is out of work, prices are going up, and Nixon's not doing anything about it." The Democratic wife of an automotive draftsman, who voted for Mr. Nixon but now prefers Muskie, attributes her switch to "the state Nixon put this country in with so much unemployment." An out-of-work lithographer says he would switch from Wallace to Muskie, calling Mr. Nixon "a very poor President." Why? "Hell, that's easy. We're all unemployed." Overall, the result is a disastrous job rating—only 24 per cent approve of Mr. Nixon's performance (compared with 45 per cent for the Republican Gov. William Milliken, 58 per cent for Republican Sen. Robert Griffin, and 79 per cent for Democratic Sen. Phillip Hart.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

New Germany

BERLIN (NEA) — The setting was one of those small, low-ceilinged rooms into which many celebrated though tucked-away European restaurants are divided. As eight American newsmen were getting their first taste of Berlin, suddenly a curious figure appeared in the doorway. He was Wolfgang Gruner, proprietor of the place. To say that of him is not even to scuff the surface.

Slightly built, clad only in nondescript trousers and a pale blue knitted sport shirt open at the throat, he looked 20 years older than he said he was. His thick, gray-white hair and deeply sunken face were the etching of what cruel times had done to him.

First he was with the German armies which crunched through Holland, Belgium and France in World War II. Wounded, he returned to Berlin. He recovered, so off he went again, this time to the bitterly cold, hated Russian front. Once more he was wounded, and round-about through Denmark he finally reached Berlin a second time.

There he was, in the climactic spring of 1945, when Soviet armies pulverized their way into the already bomb-shattered city.

He was captured, like thousands of other soldiers. On the first leg of his journey to Soviet imprisonment, he walked 180 miles east from Berlin to Poznan, Poland. It took three and a half weeks.

Home in Berlin at last in 1950, he found his way slowly. At one level, he moved toward building a successful little restaurant. But at another, vastly more important, he evolved into a superb political satirist and made of his place a "political cabaret."

Though two other political cabaret groups thrive in West Germany, Gruner's troupe, "The Porcupines," surely is the most famous. As a regular on nationwide television, he is as familiar a figure as Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Gruner is a master of some 30 German dialects, and he turns deftly from one to another, punning as he goes. He challenges his listeners to keep pace with the stinging barbs he fires at West Germany's public figures. His slashing satire makes him unique. Yet he is also typical of the Berliner of 1970, who so often uses sharp wit to sustain himself in a beleaguered city, fed only by fragile lines from the free West, aging too fast, in peril of at least partial death, smothering daily the dank odors of Communist oppression that wait over the crude wall.

Gruner need only look in the mirror to remind himself of the horror of war. His concerns today go well beyond preventing a new holocaust.

He thinks he sees still, in the powerful New Germany, too much dodging of the hard issues by the leaders, too much energy and drive channeled into crass materialism, too much shrugging off of burdens of responsibility by individual Germans, who so short a time ago emerged from a nightmare of shouting leadership that promised to "do all."

Harbor House Given U.S. Funds

TWIN FALLS — Probate Judge Eugene McCoy, chairman of the board of directors of Harbor House of Magic Valley, said Friday that regional approval has been given the facility's application for $9,500 in federal grants under the omnibus crime bill.

McCoy, who returned from a meeting in Pocatello of the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission for the local region, said that the group approved the request for Harbor House for 1970 and it will now go to the state planning commission for final approval.

McCoy said the need for a permanent home for Harbor House prompted the request for federal funds. Combined with local money, the federal grants should allow construction of a building. The present structure is rented with no assurance of a long-term use, as the property is subject to being sold. All items donated by the community would be suitable for moving into a new building, McCoy said.

Treasury figures for July credited Idaho with $567,528 in Series E and H Savings Bonds sales, district Savings Bond Chairman James S. Kinney announced.

It is a major eligibility requirement in Argentina that the president and vice-president must be Roman Catholic and Argentine by birth.

Bond Sales Tallied

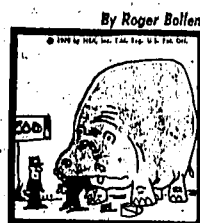

Nationally, Series E and H Bonds totaled $492 million, 1.2 per cent above July sales. Savings Notes, Freedom Shares, were withdrawn from sale on July 1, and the $9 million in sales figures represents late reporting.

VICE-CHAIRMEN of the Twin Falls United Fund drive for 1971 include, from left, Laird Noh, James Sinclair and Vern Harmer. They will direct subdivisions of the annual drive to support a number of charities in the Twin Falls area.

Fund Chairmen Named

TWIN FALLS — Laird Noh, James Sinclair and Vern Harmer, all Twin Falls businessmen, have been appointed as vice-chairmen of the local United Fund Campaign, chairman Ken Newman announced.

Noh will direct governmental, educational and professional divisions of the campaign. He will be responsible for organizing workers to solicit employees of city, county, state and federal agencies, and educational institutions in Twin Falls.

Harmer will direct 150 workers who will solicit all businesses in Twin Falls. And heading a new division, the Blue Chips division, Sinclair will be responsible for directing the campaign of each member of the board of directors.

Comedian Dan Rowan Leads 'Peripatetic', Busy Life

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI-HOLLYWOOD Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Comedian Dan Rowan leads a peripatetic but gracious life that consists of four parts work, and two parts intellectual and physical pursuits.

"The Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" madness with partner Dick Martin consumes about six months of his time, the rest is spent on the road in night clubs and personal appearances.

His schedule leaves him little time to enjoy his new home in Beverly Hills.

The house itself is of Spanish-Mexican design, built around an entrance patio filled with flowering, fruit trees and shrubs. The two-story edifice overlooks more than an acre of gardens.

Rowan, a man of wit and sure of his tastes, had a tennis court installed and a multi-hued swimming pool added to the house.

Additionally, he has a combination bar and billiard room, a private office in which he writes material for his top-rated show, and a living room that is a showcase for a magnificent collection of contemporary art by young painters.

Rowan's wife, Adriana, is an Australian-born beauty who plays tennis and swims with her husband and accompanies him on the road.

On days when "The Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" is being taped at NBC in Burbank, Adriana arrives at noon with hamper filled with cold wine, sliced breast of turkey and other delicacies for her husband's lunch.

A French couple prepares the Rowans' meals, lives in a separate building and takes care of the house.

Adriana, however, is an accomplished cook in her own right.

Shun Big Parties

Both Dan and his wife are seldom seen at large Hollywood parties which Rowan describes as "martini calls."

Instead, they prefer to entertain at small dinner parties, inviting two or three couples to share a weekend evening playing tennis under the lights and sitting down to a spectacular dinner.

Rowan is a boat buff, but his schedule is so crowded it was necessary for him to sell his luxury sailboat more than a year ago.

When the Rowans have time to get away from it all they immediately head for their vacation home on the Gulf Coast of Florida where they sail, fish and laze in the sun—in addition to playing tennis.

They take along with them an enormous spaniel named Homer and a pair of toy poodles which Adriana cuddles like children.

The couple has been married seven years and, unlike many Hollywood pairs, they are content with one another's company for relaxation and stimulation.

Both are in a process of quitting smoking, Adriana through hypnosis and Dan by will power.

Because they see so much of one another for their television series and travel together on the road, Dan and partner Martin see little of each other in their free time.

Martin has lots of dates. Rowan is content with his beauty at home.

Rockfest Draws Throng

FRESHWATER, Isle of Wight (UPI)—Happiness was a thing called pop Saturday. The biggest pop music festival of the European summer moved into high gear with more than 200,000 fans on their feet screaming and shouting go-man-go salute to their favorites.

The temperature soared into the 80s. The fans were crammed together in the festival arena. The tension that had marked the days leading up to the festival seemed to melt.

Police dressed as hippies mingled with real thing-doin' hippies, seeking a gang of thieves dressed as hippies. Authorities believed the thieves might be members of a "Hell's Angels" group carrying out organized thefts.

A police spokesman said scores of spectators had personal property stolen during the night.

"But considering the numbers here, the crime rate is very low and the offenses of theft are petty and mean ones," the spokesman said.

Police made 115 arrests since Friday morning, 85 of them for drug offenses.

The international throng, including Scandinavian, British, American, and mixed continental youth, caught the festival spirit with the performance of John Sebastian, the American folk singer and song writer.

They stood up and crowded closer and closer to the stage during his two-and-a-half-hour performance. Midway through it, they passed from hand to hand overhead a giant plastic streamer. When it reached the stage, the crowd screamed with approval as Sebastian read a note on a red scarf tied to the steamer's end: "Love from all."

Another favorite was Chicago, a rock group. Folk singer Joan Baez topped the Saturday night bill.

ABOUT 100,000 early arrivals set up tents and lie in the sun at Freshwater, Isle of Wight for this year's big rock festival. Over a quarter-million fans are expected to turn up during the three-day event. The fence shown here divides the paying from the non-paying. (UPI)

Revenue Sharing Urged

By RONALD E. WARTHEN
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—President Nixon's top advisor on urban affairs told more than 1,000 state legislators attending the National Legislative Conference (NLC) Friday night "you have stretched yourselves and taxed yourselves to near exhaustion."

Dr. Daniel P. Moynihan, speaking to the closing session of the five-day conference, asked the legislators to push for needed reforms.

"There is one answer (to over-taxation)," Moynihan said. "The federal government must begin sharing revenue with the states with no strings attached."

The former assistant director of urban affairs also called for more flexibility for states receiving federal aid.

"Programs should be consolidated to give the states more freedom" to move funds from one area to another. This (idea) has not provoked the level of response that...would be expected," he added. Revenue sharing was also endorsed by George Romney, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, who made a four-hour stopover here Friday to appear before the NLC.

He told the state legislators that the federal grant in aid program "is an inefficient process of filtering money back down to the state and local level."

The HUD chief added, "You're going to get the most out of a buck if state and local officials figure out how it's to be used rather than a bunch of bureaucrats like myself in Washington."

Adding that "the bulk of money is in Washington, but the bulk of the problems are on the state and local level," Romney told the lawmakers "the President's proposal for revenue sharing is vital."

Smog May Fill Grand Canyon

GRAND CANYON (UPI)—The growing pollution, which Mankind's intrusions are leveling a blanket of smog over the Grand Canyon and two proposed mammoth coal-burning generating plants will make the situation much worse.

Dr. Richard G. Layton, Northern Arizona University physicist who recently conducted pollution tests at the canyon with a laser beam; told a scientific symposium on the Grand Canyon Friday, that "something had better be done fast" if the canyon is to be spared a haze-filled future.

Layton blames on aircraft, automobiles and helicopters, also will sap the vitality of birds and trees at the canyon, he warned.

Experiments with the laser equipment shows the haze level at the canyon is getting worse and can be expected to depreciate rapidly when the two generating plants go into operation.

NLRB Sets New Striker Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) ruled Saturday a union cannot fine strikebreaking employees who resign from the union before crossing picket lines.

The board upheld the right of unions to fine members who cross picket lines to work during an authorized strike even though they may later resign, but the NLRB held in a companion case that it has no authority to determine if the sizes of fines are reasonable. The board's ruling that fines may not be imposed on ex-members was the second major NLRB decision in two days to go against labor unions.

President Nixon's new Republican NLRB chairman, Edward B. Miller, did not take part in Saturday's pair of 3-1 rulings.

Union officials expressed fears that the ruling might produce a rash of member resignations at the beginning of strikes, enabling these workers to continue on the job during the walkout without fear of union fines.

Photos Spark Interest

By RICHARD CHARNOCK-BOISE (UPI) — An advertising agency is capitalizing on the many faces of Cecil Andrus.

At first miffed because a newspaper ran an "unofficial" instead of "official" photograph of the Democratic nominee for governor, the agency since has put the question to the electorate.

"Vote for an 'official' Andrus photo," the agency has proclaimed in an advertisement featuring the "official" picture chosen by Mrs. Andrus and the "unofficial" one picked by a newspaper.

Then, careful to avoid the two-faced image possessed by some in the political arena, the agency even gives the "voter" the option of recommending a new photograph be taken.

It also mentions the opportunities the reader has to contribute to the Andrus campaign in a more financial way.

Replies Received
Since publishing the ad about two weeks ago and sending out copies of it, the agency has received about 75 replies—some of them containing monetary contributions.

But, more important to the followers of campaign trivia, are the comments that have accompanied some of the ads clipped from newspapers and mailed into Andrus headquarters by the public.

Some, of course, are sincere offers of assistance—in terms of volunteer work or equipment. Others are more oblique in their approach.

One Boise woman wrote in offering to help in the office. She said she could not type but offered to bring along her typewriter so somebody else could use it.

From Shoshone, a woman wrote in that she was "old and sick" but added "I still have my right mind." She offered her vote, saying she had no money to give the candidate.

While a majority of those replying seemed to favor the "official" Andrus picture some said they do not care what picture is used. Still another "voter" offered advice on selecting a picture.

"I think the main thing to remember is to not use a picture of Mr. Andrus facing away from the camera and stooping over to tie a shoe or pick something up from the ground else a confused voter might think it is an official picture of Gov. (Don) Samuelson," said Tom Johnston Jr., Caldwell.

Another recalled criticism that the "unofficial" photo of Andrus showed neck wrinkles. "But this one still preferred that photo to the 'official' version, saying 'wrinkles on the neck? well, don't we all?'"

Still another person offered a contribution for a new photograph, criticizing both pictures shown in the ad and offering advice on the best way to take such photos.

This person also suggested Stan Burns of Boise as a "good" photographer to do the work. Burns took the "official" photo used in the ad.

But even Burns got into the act—also suggesting a new picture be taken and even contributing $1 to the cost of such a photo.

An old Lewiston friend of the candidate, however, offered one of the more interesting suggestions.

"I vote in favor of using a picture of Mrs. Andrus instead," said Bill Hall, editor of the editorial page, Lewiston Morning Tribune.

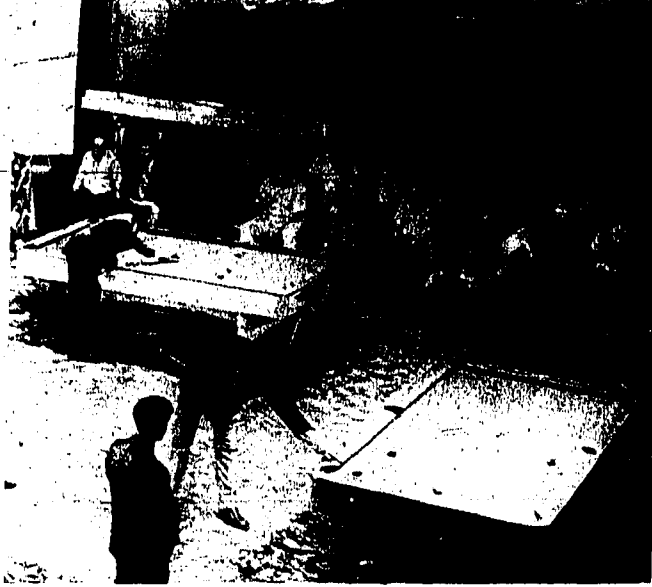

Forgery Allegation 'Unfounded'

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County Prosecutor Ellison Matthews said Thursday he found no basis for an allegation that state prison officials forged a name to a form authorizing transfer of an inmate's trust account.

In a letter to District Court Judge J. Ray Durtachi, inmate Phil Mendy requested that a habeas corpus action be entered on his behalf. Durtachi refused but advised Mendy he might have basis for a complaint.

Matthews said while he found no basis for the complaint, he said he had requested the special services division of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement to conduct its own investigation.

Mendy complained his entire account had been transferred to pay for a plumbing bill for repairs in a sink that was broken in his cell.

Industry Asks Watered-Down Idaho Pollution Regulations

POCATELLO (UPI) — A spokesman for the Associated Industries of Idaho suggested today some relaxing of parts of proposed additions and modifications of air pollution control regulations dealing with particulate and dust emissions.

Some 40 persons testified at the hearing, called to take testimony in connection with the proposed changes of air pollution control standards.

Al Elgren, director of the Idaho Air Pollution Control Commission, said the proposals would curb pollutants at their source and said the commission needed standards which are more meaningful than existing regulations.

Gene Baker, representing the Associated Industries, suggested relaxation of material stockpile emissions regulations, controls of emissions from fuel burning requirements, and the measure of compliance dealing with handling of materials which may allow particulates to become airborne.

Baker also suggested Idaho may still be in a position to zone for industry and high density areas.

Baker's criticism with opacity and visual tests for particulate emissions was seconded by Emmette Spencer of the New York Office of the Food Machinery Corporation.

Spencer said there were inconsistencies and errors in the Ringelmann chart method of determining particulate quantity.

He said a stack emitting steam and a stack emitting white smoke will visually test equally opaque, yet the particulate content may vary significantly.

Eugene Wilson, representing Idaho Association of General Contractors, noted the regulations were too stringent for heavy engineering and highway construction activities.

"This kind of work cannot be done quietly," he said. "It changes landscapes and creates airborne dust."

Wilson said the AGC did not have enough time to fully examine the proposed modifications but the hearing officer, Assistant Attorney General Dwight Board, asked to be read into the record the publication dates of legal advertising in the Idaho Statesman advertising the Pocatello hearing.

Idaho Meat Inspector Faces Dismissal After Long Hassle

By LINDY HIGH BOISE (UPI) — Dr. C. H. Kennedy, chief of mobile unit meat inspection, has been given until 12 noon Monday to answer charges contained in a letter recommending his dismissal from the position.

Kennedy, former chief state meat inspector, said he planned to submit his answer in writing to Stanley I. Trenhille, commissioner of agriculture, on Friday. The charges and recommendation were contained in a letter to Trenhille from Dr. W. S. Horne, state director, wholesome meat act.

In a letter dated Aug. 24, Horne recommended Trenhille "immediately dismiss" Kennedy, but Trenhille gave Kennedy until noon Aug. 31 to orally or in writing "refute these statements to my satisfaction."

The incident is the latest in a three-year dispute between Kennedy and Trenhille, who fired the chief state meat inspector in 1967. Kennedy won reinstatement through the courts and the personnel commission, was moved to chief of the mobile meat inspection in April, but has twice since been suspended for leaving his office without permission.

Lists Charges
In his letter to Trenhille, Kennedy included those charges made by Horne:

— Horne noted Kennedy had refused to acknowledge "the existence of a law that you have accepted employment and are receiving pay to enforce."

Kennedy said he had never been consulted as to whether he would accept employment as supervisor of mobile units and further said the "so-called promotion" was an obvious effort to force his resignation. He said there is no mention of mobile slaughter units in the Idaho Meat Inspection Act and said in absence of any law "I do not feel I have authority to enforce any regulations promulgated by the department."

Kennedy also said he had applied for a job as area supervisor before appointment as chief of mobile inspection and received a 98 per cent grade, "the highest grade of all applicants." Yet he said he had been "denied appointment as area supervisor and placed in charge of a non-existent law."

— Horne said Kennedy had stated publicly he had done "practically nothing" since appointment to the new post. Kennedy said he had been given "no responsibilities or duties" in his new post and added the one time he spent eight days talking with operators of mobile units he had been reprimanded "for doing work I thought I was supposed to do."

— Horne noted Kennedy had been placed under his direct supervision June 4, but Kennedy said Horne "has not communicated with me nor has he been in my office" from June 25 to Aug. 24.

— Horne recalled he had reprimanded Kennedy for insubordination, refusal to accept assignment, unbecoming conduct and being absent without official leave on June 1. Horne also said on June 25 Kennedy was suspended for five days for being absent without leave and at that time was advised future unauthorized absence would result in immediate dismissal.

Absence Charged
Horne said Kennedy was absent from his office Aug. 4 and for portions of Aug. 17 and Aug. 20 without leaving an itinerary.

Kennedy said he had not refused to accept proper assignment, adding, "If sitting here in the 9' by 11' office and not receiving any assignments from anyone is classed as conduct unbecoming a state employee, conduct detrimental to good order and discipline in the department then I must be guilty."

"I will work and work hard, as my record will provide, if I am given something to do," he added.

Gov. Samuelson Raps Solon for 'Discourtesy'

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson accused the chairman of a congressional subcommittee Friday of treating Idaho with "discourtesy" by not allowing Samuelson's 13-page statement to be read in full at a hearing. Samuelson directed his criticism at Chairman Roy Taylor, D-N.C., of the House Interior subcommittee on parks and recreation.

After a one-day tour of the back country, complete with overnight stay and fishing in the wilds, the subcommittee conducted a one-day hearing at Sun Valley Wednesday on a proposed Sawtooth Recreation Area and National Park.

Although Samuelson was not present personally he sent State Commerce Secretary Albert E. Minton to Sun Valley to read his 13-page statement into the record.

Taylor, who pointed out the subcommittee had only one day to hear a scheduled 355 witnesses, asked Minton to keep the remarks brief — pointing out the full written statement would go into the record anyway.

When Minton attempted to read the statement in full, and had spoken for 15 minutes, Taylor asked him to step down and called for the next witness. When Minton tried to continue he had to gavel him down to get him off the witness stand.

"We were told that our statement would not be limited because it represented my office and in turn represented the people of the whole State of Idaho," Samuelson said.

Saying his staff worked on the statement for two weeks, he said "I was very, very disappointed when I heard about the treatment Mr. Minton received when he tried to give our statement."

He said the statement — which called for an economic impact study before any action is taken on the proposed recreation area or park of a proposed five-year mining claim moratorium took considerable study.

This was developed, the governor told an early afternoon news conference, after consultation with the state's agriculture, mining and other interests.

Buhl Plans Teacher Reception

BUHL — A teacher reception will be hosted by the Buhl PTA Association Monday at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the elementary school.

All of the Buhl public school teachers will be guests and parents are urged to take this opportunity to become acquainted with their child's instructor.

The reception will feature a mock football game with teams composed of the two elementary school wings. Parents present at the meeting will earn "yardage" for their child's room. A football will be given as an "outstanding player award" to the room gaining the most yardage.

PTA president Bill Roberts notes plans for the coming year include building a new lounge for the PTA and scheduling programs to acquaint parents with the problems facing the students and schools today. He urged parents to come to the meeting and get to know the teachers and administration of the Buhl public schools.

Entertainment for the program will be a preview of the 1970-71 high school drill team. Special displays will acquaint the parents with the PTA program and its role in the community.

Faculty members to be honored at the reception include the administration personnel in the high school, Frank Charlton principal; Jon Jund, attendance officer; George Day, guidance counselor; Marsh Butner, assistant guidance counselor and Mrs. Emily Weaver, secretary.

High school faculty members are Woodrow Ash, Kenneth Barrett, Mrs. Mabel Bishop, Brent Blackburn, Darrell Bolt, Marsh Butner, George Day, Susan Friday, Mrs. Pauline Harper, Eugene Helmgartner, Rodney Hohnhorst, C. R.

Humphries, Mrs. Shirley Humphries, William Ingram, Mrs. Janice Jensen, Mrs. Barbara Jund, Jon Jund, Leonard Leth, Mrs. Margaret Loomis, Stephen McGlinley, Wayne Morris, Doug Rex, Mrs. Betty Sept, Linda Smith, Mrs. Lois Spreler, Robert Swanson and Mrs. Virginia Young.

Administrative personnel at the junior high school include Bob Sept, principal, and Mrs. Mary Lou Charlton, counselor. Faculty members are Earl Allen, Gary Bonar, Mrs. Anette Buckendorf, Mrs. Jeane Carlson, Mrs. Mary Lou Charlton, Tom Holmes, Mrs. Lucille Parish, Mrs. Mary Lou Pender, Mrs. Ruth Perkins, Mrs. Geneva Poppewell, Terry Rosdol, Linda Smith and Robert Swanson.

T.F. Fair To Feature Major Carnival Rides

FILED — A score of the biggest and most exciting rides ever featured on a carnival midway will be featured when the Ray Carmack Shows play at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo in Filer Sept. 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Owner-manager Ray Carmack says he has added several new attractions for the 1970 season, but has also retained all of the long-time favorites featured in previous seasons. Back again will be such perennial hits as the twin Ferris wheels, the Rock-o-plane and Octopus, the "bumper cars" and the Tilt-a-whirl.

"You just haven't got a midway without the 'Tilt' and the 'Jenny,'" says Carmack, the latter a reference to the Merry-go-round. On the Carmack shows, the merry-go-round is authentic right down to the old time band organ which pumps out the music for the whole midway. Playing its string of tunes of old perforated paper rolls like a player piano, the Carmack "Jenny" starts the whole carnival day when its first notes are heard on the midway, and at night, the last tune plays when the Ferris wheel unloads its final passengers, signaling the close-down for the dozens of rides, concessions and vendors which line the midway.

Carmack says he has brought back the Tequest and Round-up rides this season because they have proved such a hit with teen-agers. Another favorite, the Scrambler, is back with its breath-taking, egg-buster action. And a new attraction is the space-walk effect to be had in an air-supported plastic dome.

Hearing Set at Wendell

WENDELL — The Wendell City Council will have a public hearing on zoning recommendations on Sept. 24.

This hearing was set during the council's regular meeting Thursday evening.

In other business, the council — Okayed an agreement with the Soil Conservation Service for help in future community planning.

— Discussed noxious weeds and irrigation problems in the city.

— Heard a report on the seal coating project now under way.

Burley Man on State Unit

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise attorney resigned from the Idaho Human Rights Commission Friday and a Burley man was appointed to fill another vacancy on the commission.

Stanley Crowe, Boise, announced his resignation and Gov. Don Samuelson announced the newest appointee is Pete Rodriguez, Burley, who will replace Jesse Berland, who resigned to become a special assistant to the commission.

The commission heard numerous reports concerning the strike action by migrant workers in Canyon and Payette Counties.

The Commission assigned Berland to look into the situation to see if any incidents of discrimination had occurred.

A sex discrimination charge against the J.R. Simplot Co. has apparently been solved with the signing of a new contract. The discrimination charge was made by seven complainants.

Highway Has New Roadbed

FAIRFIELD — The oiling of the new roadbed of highway 68 between Corral and Fairfield has been completed and the finishing touches are being put on the road right-way and approaches.

Blizzard poles and signing are still to be done.

The completion of the road is welcome news to motorists as the road has been very rough during the construction which was started in the summer of 1969. Pilot cars have been used during the piling process. The eight miles of construction was done by Western Construction Co. Boise.

Another construction job is underway on highway 68 in Eastern Camas and Blaine counties. About 22 miles of highway 93 is being treated to a heavy coat of hot plant mix.

Governor Dedicates Courtrooms

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's new $2 million Supreme Court Building was dedicated Saturday to justice, wisdom and honor in hour-long ceremonies attended by an estimated 300 persons.

Gov. Don Samuelson told the crowd the marble-fronted structure should be dedicated "as an enduring monument of respect to the great judicial arm of state government."

"For the first time in its territorial or statehood history, the Idaho Supreme Court has a home to call its own," Samuelson said.

This day of dedication was actually 106 years in the making as the occasion becomes all the more illustrious and there is an extra measure of pride and appreciation attached to these ceremonies," Samuelson said.

He said the new building compares favorably with any state supreme court building in the nation.

Eugene Miller, resident of the Idaho Bar Association told the audience that this is a time of change.

"We live in a time when prior concepts of morality, of religion, of education and in fact human rights are being challenged and questioned," Miller said.

"There are those today who would question our judicial process," he said. "Inquiry is always good and should be made. There does stand, however, one paramount factor, the sight of which may never be lost, and that is the process and function of the law and of our courts is conceived upon the proposition of the preservation of the right of the individual as those rights may relate to the public in general.

Heading the elementary school staff is Leo Poppewell, principal; Mrs. Lucille Heyer, curriculum director; Mrs. Carol Todd, secretary, and Mrs. Beatrice Hendrix and Mrs. Eileen Tussey, teacher's aides.

Teachers in the elementary school include Maria Arford, Mrs. Beulah Atkins, Mrs. Helen Baggs, Mrs. Helen Berry, Mrs. Edna Bruffey, Mrs. Betty Conover, Mrs. Lucille Conrad, Mrs. Donna Lee Dewap, Mrs. Nota Dial, Mrs. Virginia Dolana, Mrs. Ermalene Engkeling, Mrs. Leona Grifflith, Mrs. Nova Hatch, Mrs. Ren Hill, Mrs. Isabelle Isenburg, Mrs. Verna Iverson, Mrs. Virginia Jeter, Mrs. Patricia Knoes, Mrs. Mildred Kifer, Mrs. Minnie Kite, Mrs. Arlene Kyles, Mrs. Dorothy Macheck, Mrs. Betty Ann Morrill, Mrs. Faye Robinson, Mrs. Ruth Senten, Mrs. Ada Marie Stuhl, Mrs. Elma Watt, Mrs. Dollie Williamson and Mrs. Maxine Wilson.

Rex Engkeling is superintendent of the Buhl schools, assisted in his office by Lois J. Rudy, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Audrey Sison, secretary.

Members of the board of trustees are chairman, Derek Cantrell; vice-chairman, Dr. H. E. Hammerquist, clerk, Howard Hopkins, John Hock, Jr., and John Miracles.

School lunch personnel include Mrs. Stella All, head cook; Mrs. Maude Avery, Mrs. Hattie Bell, Mrs. Marie Fairchild, Mrs. Ruth Foster, Mrs. Edna Herrick, Mrs. Fern Kleinkopf, Mrs. Elam Peterson and Mrs. Elva Shark.

The custodial staff includes James L. Dowd, Don Clark, Joe Distel, Mason Poppewell, Willard Dowd and Theodore Johnson. Bus contractors are Ben Tussey, Floyd Jones, Ernie Haumont and J. C. Hendrix.

Two GOP Candidates Endorsed

HAILEY — Two additional candidates have been added to the Republican side of the Nov. 3 general election ballot in Blaine County.

County Republican Central Committee members have approved Dale Nicholson to oppose Democratic candidate Kenneth Wright for county assessor, and endorsed Duane Bentz for the office of coroner.

Bentz, who will be unopposed in November received 14 write-in votes on the primary ballot.

Nicholson has been deputy county assessor for approximately three years, serving under outgoing assessor, W. D. Martindale. Bentz was appointed in July as county coroner to succeed Dr. Scott Earle who has moved from the area. He has been medical technologist at the Blaine County Hospital for the past two years and was affiliated with ISU, Pocatello, before that time.

Party officials say Lee Schlender may also appear on the ballot as candidate for prosecuting attorney. He was defeated for the Democratic nomination by incumbent Prosecutor V. K. Jorgensen.

Buhl Bank Names Assistant Manager

BUHL — Richard Barton, Boise, is the new assistant manager of the Idaho First National Bank at Buhl.

Barton replaces Jerry Wray who has been promoted to manager of the Soda Springs office.

Barton is a Borah High School graduate and in June, 1968, graduated from the Northwest Nazarene College with a B.S. degree in general business.

Shoshone Gets 6 Teachers

SHOSHONE — There are six new teachers on the Shoshone school faculty for this year, reports Supt. Kenneth Crothers.

The six are Gene Harris, who will teach English and speech, from Kamiah, Calif., who taught at Higgins last year; Mrs. Mildred Nelson, commercial, from Utah State, her first year to teach; Joe Nishimoto, junior high mathematics and chemistry, from northern Utah, having taught at Manila, Utah, last year; Gail Serr, Blackfoot, agriculture teacher, who taught at Kimberly the past two years; Mrs. Cleova Peterson, sixth grade and music, and Paul Brammer, sixth grade, who comes here from Seattle, Wash. School will begin Monday,

Committee Heads Named

HAILEY — Halley Rotary president Dick Jones has released the committee heads for the ensuing year.

Chairmen include Grant Patterson, membership growth; Russ Horn, club service; Dr. A. E. Richards, vocational service; Phoe Taylor, international service, and Leo Stavros, community service.

Boy Scout Training Pays Off for Carey Youth

CAREY — Among the 21 merit badges of Eagle Scout Kay Adamson, 15, Carey, is one for life saving which he earned in the truest sense of the phrase.

At the peak of the tourist season, Kay, who works for the Carey Texaco Service Station, hurried out to greet a customer in a pickup truck and camper. His "May I help you?" greeting was cut short as the driver asked if there were a doctor in the town and added his wife had stopped breathing.

Kay followed the driver to the camper as he pointed the way to a bed where his wife was lying, having stopped breathing as the result of a seizure. Immediately the Eagle Scout began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation as he had been taught in first aid classes.

"After what seemed like hours, the woman began to breathe again," Kay said.

As there are no doctors in Carey and the nearest one is in Halley, he left the woman to call for an ambulance, with the help of his employer, Doug Patterson, he searched for the numbers as Patterson dialed them.

Again the frightened tourist ran to the station to say his wife had once more stopped breathing.

"She had not stopped breathing but her breath was so faint it was difficult to detect," Kay said.

A deputy sheriff who had been called earlier soon arrived with a resuscitator which Kay volunteered to operate. After a few pumps, the woman's breathing deepened and her husband climbed back into his vehicle and drove toward Halley to meet the ambulance.

Burley's School Lunch Program Outlined

BURLEY — Mrs. Edith Dille, school lunch director, announces plans today for this year's school lunch program. She stressed the advantages of "children participating in the school lunch program."

The lunches are nutritionally planned to furnish one-third of the daily minimum requirements of bread, milk, fruit and vegetables, protein, and vitamins A and C, said Mrs. Dille.

These basic foods are supplied in the food placed on each child's tray at the serving line, with additional amounts served to junior and senior high school students. "If the child refuses any part of the meal, he will not receive the full benefit of the type A meal prepared for him," stated Mrs. Dille.

A change has been made in the sale of lunch tickets for the coming school year. Monthly tickets will not be sold this year. "We encourage each student to purchase several tickets at a time, but one ticket will be purchased if desired," she added.

Cost of lunch tickets will be 35 cents for junior and senior high school students, 30 cents for elementary grades and 50 cents for adults.

Afternoon milk is available to elementary students at the rate of $2 per semester and milk for cold lunches can be purchased for three cents a serving. There will be no refunds for lost tickets, Mrs. Dille said. Each student should write his name on the back of his tickets as soon as he purchases them.

There will be no discrimination in furnishing free or reduced-price lunches because of race, religion, source of family income, or for any other reason, noted Mrs. Dille. The anonymity of pupils receiving free and reduced price lunches will be protected. Criteria for identification of needy pupils is a short-term financial emergency situation, families qualifying under a federal assistance program, or families with similar circumstances who are not receiving federal assistance.

Traffic Courts

Several Burley area drivers have been fined by Jay Police Judge Roland E. Willis.

Fined were Gary R. Hutchison, 17, Burley, $20, basic rule violation; Junita Mendola, 18, Rupert, $20, inattention while driving; Rich W. Jones, 18, Burley, $20, basic rule; Clark Beckham Jr., 17, Burley, $15, red light violation, and Kathryn Lindstrom, 18, Paul, $15, failure to yield.

Eleene Burton, 43, Burley, $10, failure to register vehicle; Loren Brown, 24, Paul, $10, expired license plates, and Robert Bradshaw, 19, Murtaugh, and Gerald Staker, 22, Burley, both following too closely.

Thomas W. Howard, Twin Falls, was fined $7 by Probate Judge C. M. Wilson, Shoshone, for speeding. Donald Aslett, Sun Valley, was fined $10 by Judge Wilson for speeding.

Others fined by Judge Wilson for speeding include Donald Litzinger, Halley, $13; Julie D. Erlor, Sun Valley, $13, and Terry Gierisch, Burley, $14.

Chileans To Vote For New President

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Voters in this politically sophisticated South American republic elect a new president Sept. 4 in what amounts to an ideological plebiscite rather than a political popularity contest.

The eligible 3.5 million voters will choose one of these three alternatives:

—To continue and speed up the populist reform programs initiated by President Eduardo Frei after his election six years ago.

—To radicalize the social and economic reforms and move toward absolute socialism by handing the presidency to a Marxist, Salvador Allende.

—To slow down the reforms in exchange for promised austerity and social order with a swing to the right, represented by a former president attempting a comeback, Jorge Alessandri.

Tomislav Christian Democrat Radomiro Tomić, 56, a former ambassador to Washington, is the candidate of Frei's Christian Democratic party. His motto is "Not One Step Back" on the "Revolution in Liberty" launched in 1964 by Frei, who cannot succeed himself.

Only Alessandri, whose father also was a respected president, is making an appeal on basis of personality and name rather than program. But the fact that he is 74 years old belies the desperate motivation for much of his support.

Alessandri is the only hope to halt the nation's march toward some brand of leftist statism. Alessandri, who does not have a published platform, promises social peace which is the Chilean term for "law and order." He also has promised through austere government and an end to inflation.

Makes Fourth Try Allende, the Marxist candidate, is making his fourth try for the presidency after three straight defeats beginning in 1952. He is backed by his own Socialists, South America's strongest Communist party, some independent leftists, a two-Marxist splinter from the Christian Democrats and the traditional Radical party.

Tomić's program is precise and detailed, as is Allende's. In synthesis it would nationalize copper and foreign banks, convert domestic banks into cooperatives and institute worker participation in company profits and management.

Vocal Recital Stated Today

By T.F. Girl

TWIN FALLS — Kathy Brackett will be presented in a vocal recital today at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church in Twin Falls.

Miss Brackett who has studied with Mrs. David Mend for the past four years, will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Donald Parker and on the violin by Alan Brackett.

Guest artist will be Ronald Brackett, string bass, who will play the first movement of "Concerto for the Double Bass" entitled "Allegro Moderato" by Capuzzi and "L'elephant" by Saint Saens.

The public is invited to attend. First Newspaper Probably the first newspaper was "Tsing Pao," a court journal published in Peking, China. It is said to have started as early as the 500s and was continued until 1935. At first it was produced from carved blocks instead of type.

Copied Paintings Banned From Fair

Paintings copied from other artist's work will not be accepted for exhibition at the Filer Fair, the president of the Magic Valley Art Guild, Euanell Henkelman, said.

Mrs. Henkelman said many students and artists are apparently trying to pull "fast ones" and copy photographs or paintings in magazines, then pass them as original work.

These are not acceptable, she said. Paintings created in a classroom are also not acceptable. "Many times we get arrangements in paintings that are no different from someone else's."

An artist may look at a magazine picture and use color combinations in his own composition, but may not copy the combination of the picture.

A painting may be copied from a photo taken by the artist, but again, cannot be copied from someone else's photo. "The art must be original and painted within the last two years, to be acceptable," she pointed out.

The art may be brought Sept. 5 and from 10 a. m. until noon Sept. 6 to the Art Building at the Filer Fairground for reviewing and displaying, she said.

THE ARTIST had help. Mrs. Henkelman, above, said, and this painting, though beautiful, cannot be exhibited in the Filer Fair.

T.F. Youth Commended For Grades

TWIN FALLS — Mark Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Phillips, was graduated from the University of Utah Magna Cum Laude with a bachelor of science degree in accounting.

He started school at Colorado State, Fort Collins, and transferred to the University of Utah two years ago. His 4-point status there elected him to Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society.

He plans to get his master's degree in business administration at the university, where he has been offered a teaching fellowship in accounting.

Taxpayer Complains About Lack Of Job Aid

Editor, Times-News:
As a taxpayer of Twin Falls, Idaho, I would like to relate my experience with the local employment office. After being employed for the past five years in a grocery store, part time, I was laid off through no fault of my own. Upon my employer's advice I filed for unemployment compensation. I was interviewed by a local representative and two weeks later received my first and only check.
During the next week I was asked to come into the office and was offered a full-time job in a local variety store. I refused this job because I have never had any experience with this type of work. Two weeks later, after receiving no further checks, I called the office and was informed that I was no longer eligible for further payments because I was "unavailable for work".
Upon visiting the office I was told that they had tried to contact me on the telephone. To the best of my knowledge, the only time this could have happened was when I was up town. I am aware of the fact that you are not to leave town without letting the local office know, but I did not know that I had to keep a 24-hour "vigil" by the telephone. If there would have been a call from the office, I cannot imagine why there wasn't a message to call back. I was also informed that someone other than myself had filled out the dates on the form that is to be filled out each week and returned to the office.

My questions are: Why wasn't I informed that I would receive no further checks? (2) Why was I falsely accused of having someone fill out these dates on the weekly forms? (3) Why wasn't I contacted and asked if I had been out of town before they stopped the checks? (4) Why wasn't I advised that by refusing the only job offered me at the local variety store that the checks would stop?
My main reason for writing this letter is not to protest not receiving a weekly check from the employment office, but to find out why we are required by law to have unemployment compensation deducted from our payroll checks if it cannot be collected when we deserve it.
In closing, I have this to say. After this experience, I know that I, for one, would certainly hesitate to ever contact the employment agency for help.

Oil Firm Appoints Retailing Official

TWIN FALLS — Appointment of Robert L. Skrederstu as marketing representative in retailing for American Oil Co. in Twin Falls has been announced by H. G. Woodall, district manager.
Skrederstu will be working with service station dealers in the Twin Falls area. District offices of the firm in Twin Falls direct marketing operations in the southern two-thirds of the state, Woodall said.
A native of Forsyth, Mont., Skrederstu received a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from Montana University. He has been with American Oil since 1958 when he began work in Worland, Wyo. He has held a number of positions with the firm in Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Colorado and California.
His wife is the former Mona Brown, Livingston, Mont., and the couple has three children. They are now in the process of locating living quarters in Twin Falls.

Idaho Offers Average Pollution Incentives

BOISE — Among states offering tax incentives to industry for reduction of air and water pollution, Idaho is "about average," according to John W. McHugh, president of the Idaho Society of Certified Public Accountants.
In a news release issued Saturday, McHugh said that seven states encourage industry to cut down on air and water pollution by extending benefits in all major tax categories, including property, sales-and-use, and income of franchise taxes on purification equipment. Thirteen states have no anti-pollution tax incentives at all.
Idaho exempts air and water facilities from the state property tax, McHugh said.
In addition to efforts by the states to encourage pollution control, the federal government, in the Tax Reform Acts of 1969, allowed five-year write-offs of depreciation on anti-pollution equipment installed in plants in operation before 1969.

Other bills are pending in Congress for further anti-pollution tax incentives, he added.

British Auto Strike Stalemated

LONDON (UPI)—The third week of a strike idling about 21,000 British auto workers and crippling the auto industry ended Saturday with no sign of a settlement and no negotiations scheduled.
Vauxhall announced a shortage of parts created by the walkout at GKN-Sankey, the main supplier of wheels for the car manufacturers, would force it to join other firms in laying off employees. Ford and Triumph had the same problem.
The estimated 5,000 strikers at GKN-Sankey unanimously rejected an offer for a $4.80 per week raise Friday, standing firm in their demands for a boost of at least $14.40.

Overboard Lad Later Rescued

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI)—A Briton who fell overboard from a South African liner was picked up 12 hours later by the same ship near the Canary Islands in the Atlantic Friday, shipping officials said today.
The Union Castle Line said the man, W. G. Honeywell, fell overboard from its 30,000-ton liner S. A. Val several hours after it left Las Palmas in the Canary Islands.
The vessel, bound for Southampton, turned back to search for him. Honeywell was picked up when a crewman spotted him waving to the ship.
"It was a chance in a million that he was picked up," said a spokesman for the line. "This is almost miraculous."
The spokesman said Honeywell was in "satisfactory condition."

The End: is it closer than you think?

How will you know when the end of the world is at hand? The Bible tells us to look for these signs:
"You must face the fact, the final age of this world is to be a time of troubles. Men will love nothing but money and self; they will be arrogant, boastful, and abusive; with no respect for parents, no gratitude, no piety, no natural affection; they will be implacable in their hatreds, scandal-mongers, intemperate and fierce, strangers to all goodness, traitors, adventurers, swollen with self-importance. They will be men who put pleasure in the place of God, men who preserve the outward form of religion, but are a standing denial of its reality." (2 Timothy 3:1-5 N.E.B.)
Who can escape the feeling that this ancient prophecy is a summary of this morning's newspaper?
Seventh-day Adventists believe that the return of Christ is imminent, although we do not speculate as to the date. Christ Himself said he will come when the Gospel has been preached in the whole world as a witness. (Matthew 24:14) That is why Adventists carry the gospel into nearly 200 countries. Then, and only then, will the destruction of the world come. The wicked will be destroyed by fire. But those who have kept their faith in God will have eternal life in a world made new.
How will this supreme event affect you? The answer may be found in a special brochure available for the asking. Just fill out and return the coupon below. No one will call on you, but you may want to call on us.

Cowboys To Close Home Season Tonight

Duckworth's Pinch Hit In 10th Inning Shoves M.V. Past Giants 6-5

A pinch single by Howard Duckworth in the bottom of the 10th inning drove in Tom Cox to break up a homerun duel and lift the Magic Valley Cowboys past the Great Falls' Giants 6-5 Saturday night.

The Cowboys will make their last appearance of the season in Jaycee Park Sunday night when they host the Giants at 8 p.m. They wind up the season at Ogden. Great Falls pulled into a 5-0 lead in the first three innings with Dave Prest victimizing Dave Ford for all of them. He cracked a two-run homer in the first and added a three-run shot in the third.

Mengo, Pierce Share Loop RBI Leadership

Magic Valley's Marc Mengo continues to lead the power categories of the Pioneer League, according to the latest statistics from William J. Weis, but as a team the Cowboys fell to fourth in batting.

hitting .285. Morris Nettles of Idaho Falls in the loop's leading batter with a .383 average. Ed Childress had the best ERA mark among Cowboy pitchers with 2.65. Ed Chapple has a 3.48 ERA and Stan Bableracki 3.88. Dave Bogacki shares the league lead in wild pitches with 12.

The Cowboys were held at Bay by Clarence Metzger until the fifth when hits by Perry Chapple, Joe Brookins and Chico Ruiz earned a run. Scott Selph hit his second homer in as many nights in the sixth after Rod Gilbreath had walked and Gilbreath clouted a solo homer in the eighth. Brookins, who was three-for-three, tied it in the ninth inning with a solo homer over the centerfield fence. Before he did he pitched together his favorite bat which he had broken the previous time up.

McDowell And Indians Rip California 14-1

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Roy Foster and Buddy Bradford each drove in four runs with a pair of homers apiece Saturday and Sam McDowell tossed a five-hitter in picking up his 19th victory of the season in leading the Cleveland Indians to a 14-1 victory over the California Angels.

Foster, a prime candidate for rookie of the year honors, smacked his 18th homer of the year in the first inning and capped a four-run sixth inning with a three-run blast over the left field fence.

Bradford started the big sixth with a homer and climaxed a four-run eighth with his seventh homer of the year.

Teamwise the Cowboys are hitting .254, as compared to Idaho Falls' .258; and Billings and Ogden share the lead with a team mark of .257. Magic Valley is second in team fielding with .837, two percentage points behind Ogden.

Chapple shutout Great Falls in six innings of relief before giving way to Luis Serrano in the 10th. Serrano earned the victory by getting past that inning. In the bottom of the frame, Tom Cox drew a one-out walk, moved to second on a ground out and roped in on Duckworth's grounder through the hole.

The victory was a career high for McDowell, who posted an 18-14 record last season. The big lefthander struck out six and walked six as he ran his record to 19-8. Californian spotted his shutout bid in the ninth when Billy Cowan walked, took third on Tommy Reynolds' single and scored as Joe Azcue hit into a double play.

Eddie Leon's 10th homer of the year in the second inning gave McDowell a 2-0 lead and the Indians scored twice more in the third on Chuck Hinton's single and Leon's squeeze bunt.

Dave Prest figured in all of Great Falls' scoring, hitting a two-run homer in the first, doubling and scoring in the sixth and doubling and scoring again in the eighth when the Giants got their final two runs.

Solons 11, K.C. 4

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Frank Howard smashed his 37th homer, cracked a pair of doubles, singled once and drove in five runs to power the Washington Senators to an 11-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday night.

Howard started his first homer as a professional after Gilbreath had walked and Joe Brookins had single. Chico Ruiz belted a solo homer in the ninth.

Orioles 6, Brewers 1

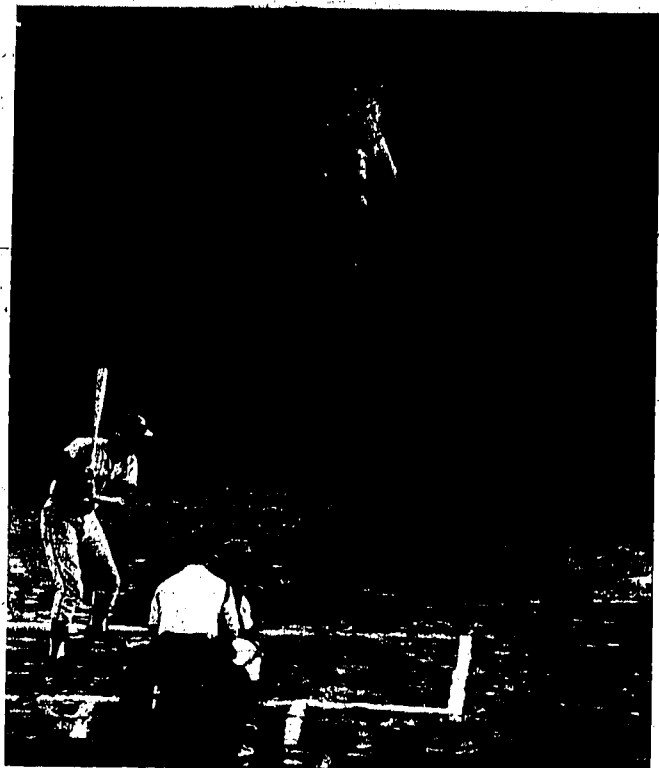

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Dave McNally helped himself to his 21st victory of the season with a three-run double in the second inning Saturday night as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Milwaukee Brewers, 6-1.

McNally's double drove in two unearned runs in the first inning Saturday night and enabled the Minnesota Twins to defeat Mel Stottlemyre and the New York Yankees, 3-1.

Twins 3, Yanks 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly and Paul Ratliff's single drove in two unearned runs in the first inning Saturday night and enabled the Minnesota Twins to defeat Mel Stottlemyre and the New York Yankees, 3-1.

Killebrew's sacrifice fly and Paul Ratliff's single drove in two unearned runs in the first inning Saturday night and enabled the Minnesota Twins to defeat Mel Stottlemyre and the New York Yankees, 3-1.

DELIVERING A STRIKE, Magic Valley pitcher Stan Bableracki prepares to let fly with a pitch against Great Falls' Stephen Faria during action Friday night. Bableracki, driving in two runs with two hits, notched an 11-5 decision. The Cowboys end their home season Sunday night by hosting the Giants.

Richman Passes Valley To Win Over Murtaugh

EDEN — Larry Richman passed for three touchdowns and ran for two more Saturday night and Valley held off a Murtaugh last-ditch drive in the closing minutes to take a season-opening 34-30 victory over the Red Devils.

Murtaugh trailed 22-14 at the half and 34-22 at one point, but rallied back behind the passing of Doug Stanger and had one chance in the last three minutes to pull it out. Two long passes just missed and Valley took over to run out the clock.

Griese-Led Miami Tips Colts 20-13

MIAMI (UPI)—Quarterback Bob Griese threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to Larry Solpe and Jim Kilek rammed over from two yards out Saturday night to lead Coach Don Shula's undefeated Miami Dolphins to a 20-13 upset exhibition victory over Shula's former team, the Baltimore Colts.

Dolphins kicker Karl Kromer added field goals of 34 yards in the second quarter and 12 yards in the third quarter to round out Miami's scoring in the hotly contended game before a record crowd of 76,712 Orange Bowl fans.

Baltimore, suffering its first loss under new Coach Don McCafferty, scored its lone touchdown on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Earl Morrall to tight end John Mackey with 12:00 left in the third period on a drive set up by a 68-yard Morrall pass to back Ed Hinton.

Murtaugh began the scoring when Stuart Tolman romped 44 yards up the middle with 6:11 left in the first quarter. The two-point attempt missed. Valley came back with a sustained drive from its own 43 and scored when Richman hit Dave Steward for a 14-yard TD with 2:20 left in the period. The two-point pass failed and the score was tied at 6-6.

Richman hit Kuhn for the 15 for a touchdown after Krohn recovered Mark Howard's fumble of a Viking punt. Richman connected with Bob Steinmetz for the two-pointer. Howard took the ensuing kickoff and romped 70 yards, carrying to the Valley seven, and Tolman bulled three yards for the TD six plays later. Stanger passed to Flynn for the two-pointer and tied it momentarily at 14-14.

McLain Blasts Campbell, Wants Trade From Tigers

DETROIT (UPI)—Denny McLain, suspended for the second time this season, blasted Detroit general manager Jim Campbell for the collapse of the Tigers and asked to be traded from the ball club Saturday.

McLain by filing a grievance over the pitcher's latest suspension. Campbell said Marvin Miller, head of the Players Association, called him asking for particulars on the incident.

"I just don't believe Jim Campbell has done the job Mr. (John E.) Fitzer hired him to do," McLain said while sitting out the first day of his suspension for dousing two sports writers with buckets of ice water.

"He knew when he came back he would get suspended if there was any more trouble," Campbell said. "The commis-

Castleford Shuts Out Rimrock

GRANDVIEW — Lynn Reese broke open a scoreless duel with a 41-yard touchdown scamper in the third quarter Saturday night to point the Castleford Wolves to a 28-0 decision over the Rimrock Raiders.

Reese's run triggered a 16-point third period as Gus Easterday dived across for the two-point conversion. Before the period ended, Dave Easterday scored on the end of a 40-yard pass and run play, taking the pass from Larry Reese and rolling in. Gus Easterday again got the two-point.

Castleford opened the fourth period scoring with a safety, Bob Majors being swarmed under by the Wolf defense in his end zone. Sid Wolf wrapped up scoring and a sustained drive by going in from the three-yard line. Ron Knecher got the conversion.

Rimrock's Rolly Woolsey did a big game, racking up 150 yards in rushing, but the Wolf defense was capable of turning back all the Raider threats.

Manning Points Burley To 14-0 Victory Over Gooding

BURLEY — Shifty Doug Manning scored one touchdown and set up another with a 29-yard return of an interception Friday night as the Burley Bobcats gave new coach Bob Mathews a season-opening 14-0 decision over Gooding.

Gooding's 25-yard-line. Two plays later, with 1:30 left in the half, Sager scrambled for nine yards on third down to set Burley up at the 11.

On fourth and five Sager hit Bedke in the left corner of the end zone with no time showing on the clock for the TD. Jackson kicked the conversion for what turned out to be the final point of the night.

The Senators controlled the ball most of the second half, but their only serious drive ended with a fumble near midfield. Burley's defense and Gooding's ineptness on offense combined to give the Senators just three first downs — one in the first half.

Manning, moved to halfback this year after injuries forced him into the quarterback spot last season, teamed with Bobcat quarterback Kent Sager to provide the only offensive sparkle on either side. All the scoring was done in the first half — Manning being injured just before intermission and only coming back for one play.

Gooding's offense sputtered miserably most of the night, the Senators working with quarterbacks Dan Braga and Doug Rainke — and neither man could come up with the right play or completed pass when it was needed.

Burley fumbled the ball away twice, the first setting Gooding up on the Bobcat 33, but defensive ends Kent Bedke and Terry Elquist snowed Braga under six plays later and the drive died on the 13. Burley fumbled again, this time setting the Senators up at the Bobcat 28, but Gooding lost it on downs.

It was a Senator fumble with 7:38 left in the half that set up the first Burley score. Working from the Gooding 35-yard-line, Sager covered the distance in seven plays, Manning getting a clutch 16-yard gain on a third-down counter. Manning bulled up the middle for the final six yards and a touchdown with 3:59 left. Bob Jackson's PAT was deflected, but sailed over anyway for a 7-0 lead.

Gooding took the kickoff and two plays later Manning leaped to intercept a Braga pass at his own 45 and ran it back to Gooding's 25-yard-line. Two plays later, with 1:30 left in the half, Sager scrambled for nine yards on third down to set Burley up at the 11.

On fourth and five Sager hit Bedke in the left corner of the end zone with no time showing on the clock for the TD. Jackson kicked the conversion for what turned out to be the final point of the night.

GOODING QUARTERBACK Dan Braga tries to turn the corner against Burley's Kent Sager (15) in Friday night's Senators-Bobcats season-opening contest in Burley. Coming up to help on the play is Bobcats' Glenn Ramsey. Doug Manning scored a touchdown and set up another with an interception as Burley won 14-0.

Groesbeck Run Sparks Minico Past Broncos

BLACKFOOT — Jerry Groesbeck broke away on a 72-yard touchdown run with three minutes left in the game Friday night to give the Minico Spartans an opening 19-6 decision over Blackfoot.

Before Groesbeck's run Minico had generally dominated but held just a 13-6 lead. The Spartan running back ended the night with 135 yards gained on 33 carries. Minico piled up 372 yards total offense, 320 coming on the ground.

Raft River Shuts Out North Gem

MALTA — Kenny Darrington passed for two touchdowns and scored the other on a two-yard plunge Friday afternoon to give the Raft River Trojans a 20-0 decision over the North Gem Cowboys.

After a scoreless first quarter, Darrington generalled a 45-yard sustained march and sneaked for the final two yards for the only points of the first half.

In the third quarter, Raft River was forced to kick with North Gem taking over on the 30-yard line. On the first play the center picked up the ball before hiking it with the alert Raft River line punning on it.

Owens Named For Racing's Hall of Fame

DARLINGTON, S. C. (UPI)—Everett "Cotton" Owens was named by the National Motor-Press Association as its 1970 inductee into stock car racing's hall of fame Saturday night.

Owens, a successful driver, mechanic and now car owner in NASCAR's Grand National Division, will be inducted Sept. 5 during a banquet at the Country Club of South Carolina.

The banquet is held annually prior to the running of the Southern 500 at Darlington Raceway.

T.F. Blue Unit Nips Whites 8-7

JUNIOR quarterback Jerry Barbour threw a 44-yard touchdown bomb to junior end Rick Spriggs five minutes into the fourth quarter and plunged in for the two-point conversion Saturday afternoon to lift the embattled blue team to an 8-7 decision over the whites in Twin Falls' last major scrimmage Saturday afternoon.

Coach Norm Thomas had the first-team backfield and second team line on the blue squad and first-team line and second team backfield on the whites. The other junior quarterback, Kevin Nelson, led the whites.

The whites scored in the third period late when a long pass completion plus 30 yards in penalties gave them first down on the seven. Two plays later Nelson sneaked over from the two and Pete Turner booted the conversion.

Richfield Batters Bliss 60-0

RICHFIELD — Bill Patterson ran for two touchdowns, passed for another, and scored on a pair of two-point conversions Friday afternoon in leading Richfield to a 60-0 rout of Bliss in the Snake River 8-Man opener for both schools.

Patterson romped 55 yards for the first Richfield score three minutes into the game, and after Allan Paulson's 1-yard plunge, tallied again on a pass to Del Crowther for a 22-0 lead. Wade Alfred, Bill Patterson and Paulson scored on runs of 21, 33, and one yard respectively to make it 41-0 at the half.

Rich Brown plunged over from the one in the third quarter and added a 23-yard TD minutes later before Doyle Frederickson wrapped up the scoring with another short dive over the middle.

Packard, Soran Win BLCC Titles

Sally Soran took the girls title and Kevin Packard was the junior division champion Friday in the Blue Lakes Junior tournament.

Mias Soran topped runner-up Maggie Wilson and Packard posted a 75-70145 total to defeat Jim Jenkins, who had 75-81156. Moyle Wilson was third with an 88-77163.

Eric Wheeler took the 12 and under boys championship ahead of Ryan Thomas. Pro Dave Killen announced Friday that prizes and trophies will be awarded tonight at the club's mother-daughter, father-son banquet which begins at 7:30 p. m.

Adams Throws for Two Scores, Oakley Stuns Kimberley 20-6

OAKLEY — Keith Adams shook off a series of pass interceptions Friday afternoon to pass the Oakley Hornets to a 20-6 victory over the Kimberley Bulldogs in the coaching debut of Neil Wyatt.

Adams' passing was at its best in the early going as he took the Hornets to two first-quarter touchdowns. In the second half the Hornets went more to the running game. But the big item of the game was the way the Hornets contained the size and speed of Kimberley. The lone Bulldogs touchdown came on a 10-yard pass after an interception.

Adams three 10 yards to the end zone with no time showing on the clock for the TD. Jackson kicked the conversion for what turned out to be the final point of the night.

UP FOR GRABS, Mountain Home punter Smokey Williamson (50) bends for the ball after kicking it into a blocker in a punt formation situation Friday afternoon. Williamson got the ball back ahead of a host of Wood River Wolverines but the play led to a Wolverine safety. Mountain Home won 6-2.

Mountain Home Uses Pass To Topple Wood River by 6-2

HAILEY — A fourth-down, 31-yard bomb midway through the second quarter set-up the only touchdown of the game Friday afternoon when the Mountain Home Tigers topped the Wood River Wolverines 6-2.

In a typical fumble and penalty marred opener, defenses held away with Mountain Home, unusual for a hot day in the mile high altitude, holding up well in the second half. The Tigers dominated the second half and wound up on the one-yard line at the final buzzer. However, that came after Wood River had tried a fourth and 15 situation pass with about 38 seconds left.

The Wolverines had a golden chance to score in the opening minutes when they recovered a fumble at the Mountain Home 45-yard line. They got one first down before punting, the ball being downed on the three. Wood River held the Tigers there and got the big chance when punter Smokey Williamson booted the ball into his own wall of blockers. He recovered the ball and tried to run out of the end zone, being downed at the 18-inch line. But Wood River tried a rollout on the first play and was hit with a six-yard loss. Two plays later the Wolverines lost the ball on a fumble. Again Wood River held and picked up the two-point safety when Williamson stepped on the end zone line after receiving the pass from center.

Early in the second period, Mountain Home gained the Wolverine 25 on a punt return but the Wolverine held — then fumbled the ball back on the next play. Three plays noted a loss of nine yards before quarterback Rick Singleton hit Bruce Kidd with the decisive pass, Kidd making a pretty over-the-shoulder catch. Mike Taylor dived four yards to the one and Singleton sneaked in from there.

The third quarter had a ton of penalties and in the fourth Mountain Home, again on a punt return, posed a scoring threat. Wood River stopped it but in the last six minutes only had the ball for 10 plays as the offense couldn't get around Mountain Home.

After a scoreless first period, Dave Darrington put the Hornets on the board early in the second quarter. Darrington went back to pass, and finding no one open scrambled 55 yards for the TD. Declo's conversion kick failed.

Less than a minute later Glenns Ferry clicked on a 38-yard run by Rick Brown and it was tied 6-6 at the half as the Pilots' two-point try was no good.

Midway through the third quarter the Pilots took the lead as quarterback Paul Shrum connected with Harley Haneke for a 24-yard touchdown play. Another try at two points failed and Ferry led 12-6.

Freestone-Led Hansen Defeats Mackay 27-18

HANSEN — Walt Freestone connected with Greg Moore for three touchdowns and ran one in himself Friday afternoon as the Hansen Huskies opened with a 27-18 victory over the Mackay Miners.

Freestone hit on 13 of 23 passes in the game. All of Moore's receptions went for TDs. Crockett caught four and big Lynn Pearson rushed for 66 yards in 14 carries to pace the Huskie attack.

After a scoreless first period, Freestone hit Moore with a 31-yard pass and Moore kicked the PAT for a 7-0 lead. Later in the second period Moore caught a 64-yard bomb, with Freestone running in the two-pointer. The Huskies threatened again twice, but couldn't pad the 15-0 lead.

Hogan Stuns Mrs. Court

SOUTHORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Freckle-faced Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., scored a stunning 1-6, 7-6, 6-4 upset victory over Wimbledon champion Margaret Smith Court of Australia Saturday in the semifinals of the $25,000 Marlboro Open tennis championships.

Mias Soran topped runner-up Maggie Wilson and Packard posted a 75-70145 total to defeat Jim Jenkins, who had 75-81156. Moyle Wilson was third with an 88-77163.

Eric Wheeler took the 12 and under boys championship ahead of Ryan Thomas. Pro Dave Killen announced Friday that prizes and trophies will be awarded tonight at the club's mother-daughter, father-son banquet which begins at 7:30 p. m.

Mis Hogan, trailing at match point in the ninth game of the second set, rallied to beat the world's No. 1 woman player and move into Sunday's title round against Kerry Melville of Australia.

Mackay scored twice in the third quarter, on a 16-yard reverse and 35-yard run, but Freestone and Moore clinched it early in the fourth period when they hooked up on a 40-yard touchdown play. Trailing 28-12, Mackay scored its last points on a 15-yard pass.

Hansen, although looking inconsistent at times on the ground, totaled eight of its 14 first downs by the rush as compared to 11 total first downs for the miners. — Just three by way of the pass.

Mis Hogan, who won her biggest prize money here in last year's Eastern Grass Court Championship — $1,000 — changed her style of play at the start of the second set — she threw Mrs. Court off her game.

All parents wishing to play with daughters or sons are asked to call the pro shop today before 1 p. m. to arrange tee-off times.

After a scoreless first period, Dave Darrington put the Hornets on the board early in the second quarter. Darrington went back to pass, and finding no one open scrambled 55 yards for the TD. Declo's conversion kick failed.

Pilots Cop 19-6 Win From Declo

GLENNS FERRY — Glenns Ferry spotted Declo an early lead but tied it in the first half and dominated the second half Friday night in taking a ragged 19-6 season-opening victory from the Hornets.

After a scoreless first period, Dave Darrington put the Hornets on the board early in the second quarter. Darrington went back to pass, and finding no one open scrambled 55 yards for the TD. Declo's conversion kick failed.

Less than a minute later Glenns Ferry clicked on a 38-yard run by Rick Brown and it was tied 6-6 at the half as the Pilots' two-point try was no good.

Midway through the third quarter the Pilots took the lead as quarterback Paul Shrum connected with Harley Haneke for a 24-yard touchdown play. Another try at two points failed and Ferry led 12-6.

Declo's farthest penetration in the second half was the Pilots 45-yard-line, and the Hornets were forced to play defense most of the time. Shrum clinched the contest late in the final period with a sneak from the one, the Pilots kicking for the conversion.

Five Share Honors in T.F. Meet

Rosemary McRoberts, Virginia Undhjem, Kall Voyce, Sergene Sorenson and Rose Okerstrom shared medalist honors Thursday in the annual Twin Falls Municipal Women's Association invitational.

All fired 79s. The low net prizes went to Vi Smith and Phyllis Barth.

Three teams tied at 21 under par for the two best ball team event. The teams included Dot McLinn, Ruth Jenkins, Jean Rountree and Phyllis Barth; Vi Smith, Dorothy Zahn, E. Toler and N. Plinson, and Virginia Undhjem, B. Gates, K. Carter and B. Shields.

The fourth-place teams at 18 under were Kit Moon, Sergene Sorenson, K. Erb and M. Elliot, and Kall Voyce, C. Meyer, C. Kerbs and N. Rice.

After a scoreless first period, Dave Darrington put the Hornets on the board early in the second quarter. Darrington went back to pass, and finding no one open scrambled 55 yards for the TD. Declo's conversion kick failed.

Los Angeles Edges By Rival Chargers For 16-14 Victory

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Three field goals by David Ray and a 27-yard touchdown pass by Roman Gabriel gave the Los Angeles Rams a 16-14 victory over the San Diego Chargers Saturday night in an exhibition football game.

The third largest crowd in San Diego Stadium history, 53,203, saw the Rams' defense hold the Chargers without a first down in the second half as Los Angeles captured the Lieutenant Governor's Cup, symbolic of pro football supremacy in Southern California. Ray's 16-yard field goal with 2:27 gone in the fourth quarter was the difference as San Diego left the field at halftime with a 14-13 lead. San Diego scored the first time it got the ball. A 53-yard screen pass from John Hadl to Gene Foster followed by an 11-yard sweep by Dick Post gave the Chargers a 7-0 lead.

A 15-yard field goal by Ray after Jim Nottles had intercepted a pass narrowed the Chargers' lead to 7-3. Gabriel's touchdown pass to Tommy Mason put the Rams ahead for the first time 10-7 early in the second period. Two Chargers had hold of Gabriel as he lofted the ball to Mason, who outdistanced the linebackers.

A 52-yard pass play from Hadl to Gary Garrison put the Chargers back in front 14-10 with 9:26 left in the half. Garrison sneaked 10 yards behind Clancy Williams and Jack Pardee on the Rams' 20 and had to wait for the ball before running it over.

Ray's second field goal, a 22-yarder, came near the end of the first half after Gabriel passes had carried them to the Chargers' 13. Gabriel completed 16 of 29 passes for 204 yards while Hadl with 7 of 14 made 189 yards in one half of action.

Rookie Marty Domres quarterbacked the Chargers in the second half and failed to complete a pass in seven attempts. The win gave the Rams a 4-0 preseason record. The Chargers now are 2-2.

Atlanta Pulls Off Upset Of Chiefs

ATLANTA (UPI) — Safety Tom McCauley raced 88 yards with a missed third quarter field goal and rookie Keny Vinyard kicked two field goals to lead Atlanta to a 22-17 upset victory Saturday night over the world championship Kansas City Chiefs.

Cardinals Top Bears By 24-3

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Right linebacker Don Parish ran back a pass interception 11 yards for a touchdown 54 seconds into the game and pulled in another first quarter interception setting up a field goal to lead the defensive-minded St. Louis Cardinals to a 24-3 victory over the Chicago Bears Saturday night in the Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital charity game.

Parish picked off a Jack Concannon pass in the opening Chicago series and ran unhampered into the end zone to make it 7-0.

His second interception, on the third Bear series, set up a 20-yard field goal by Jim Bakken. A second-quarter interception by defensive end Cal Snowden set up another Big Red touchdown for a 17-0 halftime lead. Pete Beathard, who took over for Jim Hart in the second half, guided the Cardinals for their third touchdown late in the third period. The Bears couldn't get on the scoreboard until early in the fourth period when Mac Percival kicked a 17-yard field goal. Concannon moved the club to the Cardinal ten on a 36-yard pass play to Linzy Cole, but cornerback Miller Farr broke up three straight pass attempts in the end zone to force the field goal. Parish picked off his second interception at the Chicago 41 and returned it to the 37. Hart moved the Cardinals to the 13 before the attack stalled and Bakken's kick made it 10-0 with 7:20 in the opening period. Snowden picked off a Concannon pass at the 14 and took it to the 11 to set up the final scoring play of the first half. MacArthur Lane went in from the one, but the play was nullified by an illegal motion penalty. On a second-and-six attempt, Hart hit Johnny Roland with a pass and the running back fell across the right corner of the end zone to make it 17-0 at the half.

Two Cardinal players suffered severe injuries during the game. Reserve center Tom Banks suffered what appeared to be a broken ankle during a quarterback sneak by Hart in the first quarter and was taken to a hospital. Running back Larry Stagent, who was making his first game appearance as the Big Red's number one draft choice, suffered a twisted left knee during the fourth period.

Bengals Tip K.C. By 31-24

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Fullback Jess Phillips ran for two touchdowns and defensive end Royce Berry added another score on an interception return as the Cincinnati Bengals stunned the Cleveland Browns 31-24 here Saturday night. The Bengals, held scoreless in the first quarter, tallied twice in the second period as Phillips capped drives of 70 and 21 yards with his two one-yard plunges.

Cincinnati's second TD same as the result of a fumble by Cleveland runningback Leroy Kelly, which was recovered by Bengals' rookie safety Ken Dyer on the Browns' 22.

The Bengals capitalized on another Cleveland mistake when Berry picked off a Bill Nelson pass and rambled 40 yards into the end zone. The Bengals added a touchdown in the fourth quarter when quarterback Sam Wyche hit wide receiver Chip Myers with a six-yard scoring pass. The Browns scored twice in the first quarter as Nelson passed to tight end Milt Morin for a touchdown and Kelly ran one-yard for another. Their final score was a seven-yard pass from Nelson to Kelly.

Brock's Ninth-Inning HR Sinks Dodgers 3-2

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Lou Brock's two-run homer with two out at the top of the ninth inning provided the St. Louis Cardinals with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday night after Vic Davalillo tied a National League record with his 22nd pinch-hit of the season.

The Dodgers had assumed a brief 2-2 lead on Bill Sudakis' solo home run with one out in the bottom of the eighth.

Jerry Davanon opened the Cardinals ninth with a walk off Jim Brewer and after two were out Brock slammed his 12th homer into the right field pavilion.

Chuck Taylor, the pitcher of record when Brock hit his homer, logged his sixth victory against six defeats. While Brewer had his record evnied at 6-5.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bobby Bonds, whose three-run eighth inning homer capped a seven-run rally and tied the score, singled home Jim Hart from second in the 10th inning Saturday to give the San Francisco Giants a 10-9 victory and send the Pittsburgh Pirates down to their fourth straight loss.

The Pirates took a 9-2 lead into the eighth, but the Giants tied it on a two-run homer by Willie Mays, his 24th, another two-run homer by Jim Hart and Bonds' three-run ball.

In the 10th, Hart led off with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice by Frank Johnson. The Pirates walked Ron Hunt to set up a doubleplay and after pinchhitter Bob Holse popped out, Bonds delivered his game winning hit.

The victory went to Don McMahon, the last of six San Francisco pitchers.

Phil 10, Braves 9

PHILADELPHIA — Ron Stone's eighth inning homer proved to be the decisive run Saturday night as the Philadelphia Phillies outlasted the Atlanta Braves, 10-9.

Stone's homer, his third of the season, came off Ron Reed with the bases empty and put the Phillies ahead 10-8. An inning earlier, Larry Hise had put the Phillies ahead, 9-8, with a run-scoring single. The Braves, who collected 14 hits, rallied for a run in the ninth on a double by Bob Tillman and a single by Bob Aspromonte. Aspromonte later reached third but was left stranded.

Hise got his chance in the seventh when Johnny Briggs was intentionally walked after Don Money's two-out double off reliever Reed. Hise's solid single to right tagged Reed with the loss, his sixth in 12 decisions.

U.S. Hikes Medal Count In World University Swimming

TURIN, Italy (UPI)—The United States clinaxed a devastating demonstration of swimming and diving Saturday with more gold medals to raise its total of 18 in the sixth World University Games.

Competing in a steady drizzle that covered the athletes with goosebumps, America's young swimmers won all but one event to give them 18 gold medals in the 22 swimming and diving events.

Andy Strenk of Los Angeles and Lynn Cololla of Seattle, Wash., won their second gold medals of the games. Strenk captured the 400 meter men's freestyle as he beat Steve Geter of Long Beach, Calif., to give the U.S. a one-two finish. Miss Cololla won the 200 meter women's medley.

The U.S. bagged a total of 19 gold medals in 28 events at the end of the fourth day of competition. The young Americans also gained 15 silver and seven bronze awards.

Russia was a distant second in the unofficial standings with five gold and eight silver medals. Italy, Yugoslavia, Japan, Britain, Poland, West Germany and Canada were the only other nations to capture medallions.

Petite Cindy Potter of Houston—uncorked a spectacular effort on her final dive for 58 points and victory in the women's 3-meter springboard. Miss Potter's two-and-a-half inward dive was a classic in water games and had the capacity crowd cheering her performance.

Miss Cololla's triumph made it three victories for the Cololla family. Lynn won the 100-meter butterfly Friday and her brother won the 200-meter breaststroke. Ivey previously won individual medals in the 100 and 200 meter backstroke and Ferris captured titles in the 100 and 200 meter butterfly. A home crowd cheered long and loud when Klaus Dibiasi of Italy won his second medal of the games in 10-meter platform diving.

Vanderbilt Has Trouble Over Game

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Vanderbilt University athletic officials disclosed Saturday that an unresolved eligibility question could jeopardize the Commodores' scheduled Nov. 21 football game at the University of Tampa (Fla.).

under Southeastern Conference rules, but the Tampa Spartans, who are not a member of the NCAA or any conference, have a number of key players who would not be eligible to play this season by SEC standards. "This matter is now under discussion between the athletic directors of the two schools," Vanderbilt Coach Bill Pace told the "Skywriters," a group of sportswriters and sportscasters making a weeklong tour of the SEC. "I don't know what the outcome of these discussions will be, but I should think that

Tampa would have to live up to the terms of the contract," Pace added. "I brought this to the attention of Tampa Athletic Director Sam Bailey several months ago," said Vanderbilt AD Jess Neely. "So far, we haven't had an answer." Tampa, trying to build into a major power under Coach Fran Curci, reportedly has been considerably more lax than SEC schools in its recruiting policies. However, Vanderbilt is the only conference school the Spartans are playing this season. "The SEC prohibits a transfer from another four year college participating in varsity athletics until he has laid out a year. But Tampa has players who were at other schools last season—including Sammy Gellarstedt who was an All-Conference middle guard at Alabama and Lou Fyol, a quarterback at the University of Miami (Fla.) during the early part of last season. "If Tampa abides by our contract, this would disqualify some of its new players," Pace said. "I don't know the exact number but I'd suppose it would only be a handful. "I also suppose that the contract for that game is just as binding as any other contract." Neely and Pace both refused to speculate whether the game might be cancelled if an agreement cannot be reached. "I would think that we'll play the game regardless," one not-to-be-identified official said. "We should be favored to beat Tampa either way, but it's obvious that it will be a much tougher game if they are allowed to use those players we consider ineligible."

Rain Holds Times Down In Can-Am

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—Rain held down times Saturday in qualifying for Sunday's running of the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series, enabling Denis Hulme of New Zealand to retain the pole position. Hulme, leader of the power team McLaren, had tentatively won the pole Friday with a time of 1:02.28 miles per hour in his McLaren M8D and no one bettered that time in final qualifying Saturday. As pole-sitter, Hulme will be favored to extend the domination of the McLarens, who have won 18 successive Can-Am events, and all five this year. Sunday's 200 miler, scheduled at 2 p.m. over the twisting, hilly four-mile Road America course, will carry a purse of $80,000. Sharing the first row with Hulme will be Peter Revson, New York, whose time Friday of 1:09.589 miles per hour in an L & M Lola also held up. In the second row will be Lihar Molschenbacher of Beverly Hills, Calif., who qualified Friday at 1:08.844 miles per hour in his McLaren M8B, and David Hobbs of England, who qualified Saturday at 1:06.038 miles per hour in a McLaren Chev. Jersey horses TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—New Jersey has achieved status as one of the top five horse breeding states in the nation, according to the state agriculture department. The state now has 50,000 horses, an increase of 10,000 in 10 years. New Jersey has 100 annual horse shows, 75 4-H club horse shows, four race tracks and the U.S. Equestrian Team headquarters at Gladstone.

Antique Festival Theatre Season Climaxes With Buhl Garden Party

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL. — Relaxation, reminiscing and home cooking were the order of the evening at a garden party hosted by Sen. and Mrs. John M. Barker for the staff and cast members of the Antique Festival Theatre at the Barker residence.

Sen. Barker is a former Antique Festival Theatre board member and the garden party is an annual event hosted by the Barkers to close the season. Many of the cast members who have worked together during the 1970 season will soon be returning to their homes to further their education.

One of the most memorable events of the past season has been named the "Night Ditch Lost Theatre." It all happened the evening of the first dress rehearsal, the players hopped into the bus for a simulated trip, arrived at their destination and put up the stage sets behind the Hagerman High School. Their work was completed without hitch and the entire company was proud of its ability in setting the stage so quickly, that is until they found they were supposed to be at the Hagerman Park! The result was the moving of all sets to the proper place and rehearsals finally got underway at 1 a. m.

Another not-to-be-forgotten moment occurred when during the last 10 minutes of their performance in Fairfield it began raining and the audience assisted the group in carrying the stage sets indoors.

Members of the troupe saw their share of injuries too. Jon Dunwell, as Diamondfield Jack, was trampled by his horse during a performance in Burley; R. Charles Rodriguez received a cut near his eye in a sword fighting scene at Sun Valley, and Dunwell suffered two sprained ankles when he leaped from the top of the touring bus. In the true tradition of the stage, even the injuries didn't prevent the show from going on.

During the rehearsal period the actors maintained a community kitchen at the Hagerman American Legion Hall. Food was donated by several businesses in the Magic Valley area and all members contributed to a "food pot" to help with grocery expenses. Company members also took turns at cooking.

This year the students lived in motels or private residences in the Hagerman area. They spent their free time swimming or horseback riding and even managed to squeeze in a trip down the rapids on the Snake River.

Meaningful friendships are formed by the members of the AFT Company and with the friendships goes a lot of well meant teasing. One of the actresses was teased about her 9 p. m. bath in a mountain stream and her subsequent nickname "Nature Girl."

This season the AFT presented "The Critic," "Chekov Choice," "The Thirteen Clocks," and "Diamondfield Jack" in Sun Valley, Fairfield, Buhl, Gooding, Burley, Redfish Lake, Twin Falls, Boise, Mountain Home Air Force Base, Salmon, Wallace, McCall, Payette and Preston.

Scholarship students this season include Suzette Brandt, who has attended Southern Oregon College, Ashland, and is transferring to the University of Oregon with activity in theatre and music. Miss Brandt served as hair stylist for the AFT this summer and designed the costumes for the production "Diamondfield Jack."

Patti Cashman, a resident of South Bend, Ind., attend Indiana University and has done extensive modeling. She and Miss Brandt managed costumes while on tour.

The "Best Actress" award for her portrayal of Juliet was received by Carol Crawford of Ricks College. Her performance took her to New York to repeat the role at St. Peter's School for Boys. Miss Crawford, along with Jon Dunwell, was in charge of makeup during the season.

Jon Dunwell, a theatre major from Boulder, Colo., attends Adam State College, Colorado. Jon served as stage manager for the "Chekov Choice" production. He was also head cook when fish were the order of the day in the community kitchen.

A student from Columbia College, Chicago, Michael Cullen has been active in the Community Theatre at Elgin, Ill., and spent last summer in Cripple Creek, Colo. Cullen and Wes McLarin were in charge of sound and music during the performances.

Wes McLarin enrolled as a drama major at Boise State College after working with the Spokane Civic Theatre. He served as stage manager for the production of "The Critic."

Robert Nelson will begin graduate work in dramatic theory at the University of Utah. He attended the University of Arizona and served as stage manager for "The Thirteen Clocks."

Walter North comes from Fairfield, Conn., and attends Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., where he is an active member of the University Theatre Company, and NSA coordinator for Wisconsin.

College of the Sequoias and UCLA have been home base for Kathy Seaman. Miss Seaman has done film work as well as stage at UCLA. She and Walter North were in charge of "general tech" during the season.

Non-scholarship members of the company include Sue Galligan who is the drama instructor at Wood River High School. She has performed with the AFT during the past summer and winter seasons and holds a B. A. degree from the University of Idaho.

Marilyn Powel, Twin Falls, plans to enroll at Gonzaga University this fall. She was the recipient of a Dilettante scholarship by BYU in 1969 and has appeared in school productions and with the Magic Valley Little Theatre. She assisted with publicity during the past season.

Participation in school drama and special theatre workshops in this area is the background R. Charles Rodriguez of Wendell High School brings to the AFT. Rodriguez served as stage manager for the production of "Diamondfield Jack."

Robert Cole, assistant director of "The Critic" has a B.A. degree from DePauw University, Indiana. He has had academic performance work and summer theatre with Southern Illinois University

ASSOCIATE PRODUCER and director of the Antique Festival Theatre, Di Bowler, chats with Mike Cullen, a cast member from Columbia College, Chicago, as they sample the punch at the recent garden party in Buhl. This season, Antique Festival Theatre productions have been presented in Sun Valley, Fairfield, Buhl, Gooding, Burley, Redfish Lake, Twin Falls, Boise, Mountain Home Air Force Base, Salmon, Wallace, McCall, Payette and Preston.

Nature Provides Setting for Wedding

MR. AND MRS. JAMES R. SOMMER

BY MELBA THORNE
Times-News Correspondent

SHOSHONE — Atmosphere and setting are sought after by most bridal parties. Sometimes days of preparation are spent to achieve the desired effect of beauty and sound.

At the Aug. 1 wedding of Doris Jeanne McDonald, Shoshone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDonald, Shoshone, and James Roy Sommer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Sommer, Twin Falls, the major part of the effect was provided by nature. The wedding took place at the Mary L. Gooding Park, Shoshone.

Natural brilliant green of the well-cared for lawn was accented by shrubbery and flowers that grow there. The evening sky was calm, but even on the most calm evenings, the breeze going through the tall trees along Little Wood River creates a background music in soft, cool tones. Rushing of water in the river adds to the sound effect.

Rev. Howard Larson performed the double ring ceremony with the bridal pair standing before an archway and pine trees at the park shelter area. Baskets of purple and white gladioli and Spider chrysanthemums made the scene complete.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of white satin with an organza overlay. The gown was sleeveless with ruffled lace over the bodice. Long white gloves were chosen to set off the gown. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and orchid, and wore a strand of pearls belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

Marilyn Hill, Twin Falls, was matron of honor. Lisa Marcroft, Grouse, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was Michael McCurdy, Twin Falls. Don Hodge and Craig Hopkins, Twin Falls, served as ushers.

As the bride was accompanied down the aisle by her father, Michael Manning, Shoshone, played his guitar and sang, Melvin Webb, Shoshone, was featured soloist.

Guests were registered at a reception in the park immediately after the ceremony by Willie Patterson, Castlesford.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with purple and pink candy flowers and topped with miniature bridal figurines under an archway. The cake was made by Mrs. DeVon Anderson, Mur-

Shirley and Sandee Sommer, sisters of the bridegroom, Twin Falls, took care of the gifts.

Assisting at the bride's table were Susan Hogue, Jannette Anderson, Murtaugh; Debbie Knowles and Geanine Cope, Shoshone; Mrs. Luella Kinsey, Mrs. Harry Turnbull and Mrs. Robert Marcroft, aunt of the bride.

The bride was honored at a shower hosted by Jannette Anderson and Susan Hogue, Murtaugh, and Patsy McIntyre, Twin Falls, college friends of the bride. Mrs. Fern Manning and Marilyn Hill hosted a shower in Shoshone.

PREPARING THE BRIDE'S table for the park wedding are, from left, Mrs. Alyce Howard Larson just prior to the ceremony uniting in marriage Doris McDonald and James Roy Sommer. The wedding ceremony was performed at the Mary L. Marcroft, aunt of the bride, Geanine Cope and Debbie Knowles. The bride is the former Doris Jeanne McDonald, Shoshone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDonald. Gooding Park, Shoshone.

Rebecca Brass, Kernin Wed

TWIN FALLS — Rebecca Joan Brass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Brass, Twin Falls, was married to Steven Charles Kernin, Kimberly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Kernin, Lewis, during an evening double ring ceremony July 31.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Lavear Thornock at the Third Ward LDS Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chiffon over peau de soie, fashioned with a high mandarin collar trimmed with Venice lace. The dress, created by the bride's mother, featured an underlay of Venice lace on the bodice and wide cuffs, and empire waistline and full chiffon sleeves. The detachable train was also chiffon over peau de soie with Venice lace inserts.

Her tiered elbow-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a headpiece of nylon petals accented with tiny pearls. She carried a triangular formal cascade of Sterling-Silver roses and white carnations.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Travis Edgerton, Kimberly, served as best man, with Dennis Lee, Kimberly, and Rick Bloxham and Bill Castor, Twin Falls, serving as ushers.

The bride's table highlighted the decor at the reception, using a white organza ruffled skirt topped with white satin and draped with bows of lavender. It was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake accented with clusters of lavender star flowers and topped with two feathered love birds perched on a pearlized heart arch with satin wedding bells edged with pearls.

Triangular arrangements of white and lavender cushion pompons, baby's breath and leather leaf, a crystal punch bowl and memory candle completed the table appointments.

Cake was cut and served by Mrs. Albert Kump, Jerome, and Kay Wilbourn, Twin Falls. Mrs. Ted Crandall presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Dennis Lee and Mrs. Rick Bloxham received the gifts and Mrs. Travis Edgerton greeted guests at the guest book.

Paul Brass, brother of the bride, and Pauline Bowers, Lohi, Utah, cousin of the bride, were giftbearers.

The reception honoring the newlyweds was held immediately after the ceremony in the LDS Cultural Hall, where the wedding party received the guests before a backdrop of white organza draped with boxwood garlands and topped with love doves and large lavender bows. Cathedral baskets holding white gladioli and lavender pompons completed the decor. Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with lavender and white lace cloths and centered with baskets of greenery and a lavender pompon.

Special guests included Mrs. R. D. Brass, San Angelo, Tex., grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Ruth Lewis, Ainsworth, Neb., grandmother of the bridegroom, and Charles Kernin, Kimberly, grandfather of the bridegroom. Other out-of-town guests attended from Utah, Nebraska, Texas, California, Boise and Lewiston. The couple took a honeymoon trip to Jackson Hole, Wyo., and reside at 415 2nd Ave. E., Twin Falls.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Albright, Kimberly. The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower hosted by Connie Jones and Lynda Lee.

The Women of the Moose and Loyal Order of Moose will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday for a musical program at the Moose Home. The Women of the Moose meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. There will be an enrollment.

Three Local Residents Named "Outstanding Women"

The Junior Club announced today that Ella Nelson, active in League of Women Voters; Karen Rasholt, Junior Club member, and Pauline Meyerhoeffer, Junior Club president, have been selected to appear in the 1970 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America." Nominated earlier this year, these women have been chosen for the awards publication on the basis of their achievements.

Now in its sixth year, the Outstanding Young Women of America program, designed to recognize the abilities of women between the ages of 21 and 35, was conceived by the leaders of the nation's major women's organizations. This program recognizes those young women who contribute to the betterment of their communities, professions and country. Serving on the program Board of Advisors are the national presidents of women's clubs, headed by Mrs. Dexter O'Leary Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Each year over 6,000 young women are nominated as outstanding young women of America by leading women's organizations, college alumni associations and churches across the country. These young women complete biographical sketches are featured in the national volume "Outstanding Young Women of America." These women are now in competition for their state's Outstanding Young Woman of the Year Award. This fall, 50 of the young women included in "Outstanding Young Women of America," one from each state, will be named as their state's Outstanding Young Woman of the Year.

Sigma Has Model Meet

TWIN FALLS — Members of Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi started off their sorority year with a model meeting at the home of Mrs. Nell Allen.

Yearbooks were distributed by the president and Mrs. Bill Donnelly, social chairman, presented the social calendar for the new year.

A rush for new members was scheduled for September and many service projects were discussed as was the budget for the year and plans for money-raising programs.

Mrs. George Beer, Psi Chapter, Jerome, was a guest. A surprise baby shower was held for Mrs. Donnelly at the close of the meeting, with Mrs. Allen serving refreshments.

Murtaugh Couple Marries

MURTAUGH — Terri Hulse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florin Hulse, became the bride of Ronnie Leroy Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeVon Andersen, all Murtaugh, in rites performed at the Murtaugh LDS Church July 25. Bishop Roger A. Tolman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta accented with lace and cutwork on the bodice and long full sleeves. Her chapel train fastened at the waist under a large organza bow and was trimmed with matching lace.

Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a jeweled lace tiara trimmed with leaf-drop pearls.

Bridesmaids were Patty Hulse, sister of the bride, and Jannet Andersen, sister of the bridegroom. Louis Andersen, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Paul Warnell was usher.

Wedding music was played by Gordon Graff. Patty Hulse and Denise Peterson sang accompanied by Martin Wright.

A reception in the LDS Cultural Hall was held after the ceremony.

The couple welcomed guests before a white Austrian puff backdrop accented with apricot satin bows and white bells. It was flanked by white pillars holding large baskets of white and apricot-colored chrysanthemums and gladioli.

Cathy Perkins presided at the guest book.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over apricot and skirted with ruffled tiers of white chiffon. It was draped with greenery which was held by green satin bows.

The three-tiered wedding cake, made by the bridegroom's mother, was iced in white and decorated with white hearts and roses with apricot ribbon trim.

Crystalline glitter adorned each layer and a circle of green fern enhanced the base of the cake. It was topped by a colonial bouquet of apricot-colored rosebuds and white chrysanthemums.

Guests were seated at octet tables covered with white fringed cloths centered with miniature arrangements of apricot, yellow and white flowers accented by green bows.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Parker Richards, Pocatello, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Elmer Graff, aunt of the bride; Mrs. LaVere Bennett, Mrs. Earl Wright and Mrs. Percy Christensen.

Giftbearers were Casey, David, Jack, Jill and Marilyn Andersen and Rick and Grant Hulse. Arranging the gifts were Mrs. Duane Strickler, Mrs. Marlin Hulse and Mrs. Boyd Hulse, all aunts of the bride.

Special guests were Mrs. Etta Smith, Murtaugh; Mrs. and Mrs. K. G. Hulse, Buhl, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Des Champs, Malad, all grandparents of the bride and bridegroom.

Other out-of-town guests attended from Pocatello, Malad, Burley, Declo, Buhl, and Kimberly, Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, and Phoenix, Ariz. The couple will reside in Logan, Utah, where the bridegroom is a senior at Utah State University.

Bronson Family Meets

SPRINGDALE — Descendants of the late Leman Bronson and Lucy Brass Bronson, Clinton Donesal Bronson, and Louisa Andrews Bronson met recently at Salmon Park, Burley, for a family reunion.

Dinner was served at noon, followed by a program, with Donald H. Fuller as master of ceremonies. Participating in the program were Ray Bronson, Ruben Bronson, Mrs. Hazel Johnson, Rexburg, and Donald Bronson, Tremonton. Roger Wilson, Logan, gave the prayer.

Mrs. Lucy Bronson Jones was honored as the eldest Bronson present and Mrs. Marilyn Bronson Reeves for traveling approximately 3,000 miles.

Next year's reunion will be under the direction of Robert M. Bronson, newly elected president, with Mrs. D. H. Fuller as secretary and treasurer. The event will be held at the same location.

Miss Arrington, Hopkins Say Vows in Temple Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hopkins Jr. greeted guests at a wedding reception in their honor Aug. 4 after their Tuesday morning double ring wedding ceremony at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

The reception was held at the LDS First Ward Chapel. Mrs. Hopkins is the former Lynne Arrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Arrington, Twin Falls. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Hopkins, Sequel, Calif.

The bride wore a gown of ivory-pebble crepe in an original Vogue design, styled with a jewel neckline, pointed bell sleeves and a curved train fashioned as part of the back panel of the dress. The dress was fastened in back with traditional tiny pearl buttons and loops, the only decoration. Her veil was shoulder-length illusion with a crown of ivory lace and satin petals accented with pearls and teardrop rhinestones.

The couple received guests before a white arch which outlined a shirred organza Austrian drape. Beauty baskets of lavender and white gladioli, accented with ice blue bows, flanked the couple and the bride's bouquet was a crescent of deep lavender glamellins with royal purple streamers. Rebecca Packer, Blackfoot, a college friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Jenne MacDonald, San Francisco, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. The bride's sisters, Susan, Colleen and April Arrington, completed the bridal attendants group.

David MacDonald, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Ravsten, maternal grandparents of the bride, greeted guests at the door of the chapel. Jane Wilson, Blackfoot, a college friend, registered guests. The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with lavender and blue rosettes and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was served with fresh minted fruits, clear punch and nut breads from an organza and net skirted bride's table.

Mrs. Lewis Arrington, Mrs. Stanley Vandenberg, Mrs. Ray Conover and Mrs. Jerry Holman presided at the refreshment table. The circular refreshment tables at which guests were seated were centered with crystal goblets holding individual lavender gladioli florets and baskets of gladioli further decorated the hall.

Lydia Arrington arranged gifts and Jana Vandenberg, Kendi Ravsten, Kim Hamilton and LaWynne Arrington served as gift bearers.

The wedding party was honored at a wedding breakfast after the ceremony in Idaho Falls, hosted by the parents of the bridegroom. An open house garden party was held Aug. 15 in Sequel honoring the couple.

After a wedding trip in the Sierra Mountains of California, the couple will reside at Watsonville, Calif., where Hopkins is employed by the Bank of America.

Camping Sessions Conclude

The 1970 season of Camp Fire Girls Camp Tawakani in the South Hills came to a successful conclusion recently despite the road construction which made access difficult.

The weather was good and the excellent cooperation of the Forest Service personnel added greatly to the sessions.

Camp director this year was Judy Flemming (Beaver) from Polson, Mont. Assistant director was Mrs. Carl Peterson (Pokey), a Bickel School Camp Fire guard from Twin Falls; the cook, Mrs. Charles Featherstone (Jolly); handyman, Charles Featherstone (Jama), Twin Falls; nurse, Mrs. Jean Cribb (Needles), Paul; counselors, Jane Anderson (Curley), Diana Drye (Plex), Debby Mathieson (Stoney) and Tanna Skinner (Twig), all Twin Falls, and Joyce Gibbons (Blue), Gooding; Susan Kasworm (Casey), Hazelton; Janelle Withersten (Ogata), Nampa, and Marlene Ricks (Cowboy), Felt.

Aides were Kim Trognaskis (Blondy), Salt Lake City; Stephanie Martin (Leif), Burley, and Darin Johnson (Crickett) and Tress Skinner (Kodi), both Twin Falls.

Members of the final session of camp the back packers were out for four days and the tents and outdoor cooking equipment donated this year by the Soroptimist Club, Twin Falls,

Vicki Briggs, Nelson Reveal Engagement

TWIN FALLS—Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Briggs announce the engagement of their daughter, Vicki, to Brad Nelson, son of Mrs. Dorothy Nelson, Rigby. Miss Briggs is a senior at the University of Idaho, where she is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega. She is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Nelson attended the University of Idaho, where he was affiliated with Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He is serving with the Army, stationed in Germany.

Because of military obligations, the wedding date has not been set.

added greatly to the success and enjoyment of this experience for the older Camp Fire Girls.

Linda Ruhter, O'Dell Marry

Linda Sue Ruhter and Michael Neil O'Dell were united in marriage in a late evening service July 23 at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ruhter and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Dell, all Twin Falls.

Rev. L. G. Mletzner, Rupert, performed the double ring ceremony before a background of lighted pink tapers enhanced with white chrysanthemums and pink ribbons and baskets of pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of nylon over taffeta. The empire-lined bodice and long sleeves were of nylon backed lace. Lace patterns matching the bodice were applied on the skirt. Her train-length veil of silk illusion was edged in lace matching the dress and held by a lace crown. She carried a bouquet of cascading red and pink roses.

Janelle Thaeate, Piler, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Don Woods, Boise, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Mein, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Debbie Chaplin, Twin Falls, and Kathy O'Dell, sister of the bridegroom, Twin Falls. Christy O'Dell, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Best man was Dick Trout, Ft. Riley, Kan., with Jay Ulrich, Vaughn Sweet, Harold Rathjen and Rick Ruhter, brother of the bride, all Twin Falls, as groomsmen. Harold Rathjen and Rick Ruhter also served as ushers. David Ruhter and Phillip Ruhter, brothers of the bride, were candlelighters.

Richard Landendorf, Kennewick, Wn., uncle of the bride, was organist and also accompanied the solo by Gene Ruhter, father of the bride, and the duet by Gene Ruhter and Dean Ruhter, uncle of the bride. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the church Parish Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white gathered chiffon overskirt over pink and centered with a three-tiered white and chocolate cake decorated with pink roses and white bells and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the couple flanked the large cake. Crystal candelabra with pink candles flanked the cake and a silver punch bowl and the bride's silver coffee service completed the table appointments. Cake was served by Mrs. Willard Thaeate and Mrs. Marlin Ruhter, both aunts of the bride. Mrs. Vic Nelson, sister of the bridegroom, poured coffee and Mrs. Cliff Morgan, aunt of the bridegroom, poured punch. Guests were registered by Mrs. Dan Lammers, Twin Falls. Gifts were carried by Diana Ruhter and Gwen Landendorf, cousins of the bride. Gifts were opened and displayed by Wilma Silgar, Liz Bamesberger, Sheri Boyd and Mrs. John Carter.

The guest tables were covered with white linen and centered with bridesmaid dolls in shades of pink, made by the bride and maid of honor, under the direction of Wilma Silgar. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ruhter, Piler, were hosts for the reception. The Lutheran Women's Missionary League Wedding committee assisted at the reception.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Depot Grill Caboose Room.

The bride was feted at a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. Estel Mein, Mrs. Monroe Dierker and Mrs. Don Woods, and at a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Willard Thaeate and Janelle Thaeate.

Guests attended from Arizona, Hawaii, Kansas, Utah, Washington, Mountain Home, Meridian, Boise, Burley, Twin Falls and the surrounding area.

Royal Neighbors Convene

HANSEN — Mrs. Hugh Sanderson, Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Mrs. Dora Daw, Mrs. Ruth Wright and Mrs. John Brown were officers pro tem at the Royal Neighbor Lodge meeting recently at Woodman Hall.

Mrs. Shelley Sherlock, a Royal Neighbor member from Perth Amboy, N.J., who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Brown, was a guest.

A report was given on the benefit card party and cooked food sale held recently at the hall. Another one is planned Sept. 18 at the hall.

Mrs. Louise Bowne, Nampa, state supervisor, will visit area camps the first part of September.

A letter from Mrs. Ruthy Hill, a member residing in Yakima, Wash., was read.

Mrs. Vernon Ball and Mrs. Ora Simpson were hostesses. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Iva

Smith planned entertainment during the recreation hour.

Mrs. Arthur Adamson and Mrs. Brown will host the Sept. 8 meeting at Woodman Hall.

Express Moods

You're sexy, zany, cute, sporty, sophisticated, fiery, elegant... you're a woman. You clothe yourself in fashions that express your moods at particular times, and change your image whenever the spirit moves you. This seasons fashions, particularly pants, lend themselves beautifully to free expression. So... let your imagination run wild with fall's freshest offerings, especially created for the now liberated you!

Begin your exploration in sportive Spanish style, choose an accentuated waistcoat and needle slim buttoned britches, or softly striped fair leg slacks with neat mandator bolero. When tempted by the great outdoors, go country casual in tunics with a tweedy look over cuffed slacks or tailored stove-pipe trousers to a fragile flowered blouse. Knickers go kicky and the very newest sport teeny baby pants appear as sleek solids teamed to scallop print tailored shirts. There's also a mood for military neatly expressed in a casual hip-riding battle jacket and matched button front slacks. Fabric houses such as Cone Mills are as adaptable to change as the women they style for and fill their desires with such fabrics as corduroy in marvelous chunky wales, adorable pin wale baby prints and sleek, velvety looking solids. All washable and easy to care for. John Wolf senses softness and offers brilliant solid and striped chenilles, European look acrylics and femininely interpreted crepe shirtings, adding an easy, fluid touch to sportswear.

Accessories are an excellent way to individualize your special outfit. Caps and scarves by Betmar interpret the hand made crochet look in lovely jewel tones. Shoes fill a myriad of moods and go strapped, buckled, buttoned in great new collections by Nina and Lattina.

WHITE STAG fall fashion line 167 1970 includes this one-piece jumpsuit. The suit is fashioned in polyester doubleknit, designed to wear with or without soft shirt or blouse. (UPI)

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The woman who wrote asking, why not an "Adulterers Anonymous," could have been me, but it wasn't. I, like her, have a good husband and two fine children. I know my husband loves me. If he doesn't, I can't think of any reason he continues to live with me after learning about three separate affairs I've had. What he doesn't know is that there have been many others. I, too, live in constant fear that he will find out, and will not forgive me again.

You recommended that she see a psychiatrist. I already have, and it didn't help me much. One year later I came away just as mixed up, and a lot less off financially.

I am not the typically trampy woman—at least not as far as appearances go. I am well-liked, attractive, and make friends easily, but if my friend's husband appeals to me, I think nothing of making another conquest. (I could go on, but it only gets more disgusting.)

The only help I have ever had came when I decided to see my minister. Tell women with a weakness for men that "inner strength" is what they need, and if they really want to change, they can, but they can never do it alone. God is the answer. I know.

BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN THERE: Thank you for sharing your success story. Sometimes the answer is so obvious it is overlooked.

DEAR ABBY: This is a very serious problem with me and it's no made-up story, so I wish you would answer me fast.

I am almost 17 and I'm in love with my neighbor who is married and has children. She is really the greatest person I have ever met and is exactly what I want in a wife. She doesn't know how I feel about her and she treats me like she would treat any other neighbor kid. Her husband is a great guy and I like him, too. In fact, I find myself trying to copy him so his wife will notice me more. I see her a lot now that school is out and it has torn me up.

I can't get interested in any girl my own age because none of them compares with this neighbor. I have had this feeling for her for about a year now and I can't get over it. I make good grades, have lots of friends, go to church and am usually very sensible but I'm afraid I may end up with a nervous breakdown if I don't get her off my mind soon. How can I stop loving her?

PASADENA, TEX.

DEAR PAS: This is not love. It's a "crush." And you CAN get over it if you get out and mingle with kids your own age and keep yourself occupied mentally and physically. [Exercise is a great outlet for frustrated emotions.] Quit mooning and swooning and drooling and dreaming. Wake up, man, there's a cute 16-year-old doll who is just waiting for you to look her way. And if you don't discover her by next Sunday, hang around after church and ask your minister if you can talk to him about something. Then, level with him.

DEAR ABBY: My baby is not due for another six months, but I have a problem. My mother lives hundreds of miles away, and although I know she means well, she is a worrywart, and that is why I haven't told her that I am pregnant yet. You see, this is my first pregnancy and I have been having quite a bit of trouble, and there is still a chance that I might lose the baby, and if my mother knew about it, she'd be here in 2 minutes, worrying herself sick and making me nervous.

Also, she's the kind who would run out and buy baby clothes and baby furniture, and if I were to lose the baby it would break her heart. Am I wrong not to tell her yet? I don't want to upset her.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: I suspect you are more fearful of having your mother visit you and upsetting you than upsetting herself. Ask your doctor when he thinks you should tell your mother.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SUPERSTITIOUS": I am not questioning the "good luck" that supposedly accompanies the rabbit's foot. All I said was, "It didn't do much for the rabbit."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 29760, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Visit Different Foreign City Each Week—How Would It Be!

By NORMA HERZINGER
Women's Editor

TWIN FALLS — How would it be to choose at the beginning of each month where you would like to go each week — like London, Paris, Rome or Madrid. Well, that's how it is with pretty Glenda Michael, 24-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Michael, 1605 Kimberly Road, Twin Falls. And, believe it or not, that's how she makes her living. She's an airline hostess for TWA, flying strictly international on TWA's new 747.

"The new 342 passenger plane is a beauty," she noted as she explained her job. "I usually work in the overhead lounge, and I love every minute of it." Miss Michael works with 13 other hostesses on each flight, along with a male purser and a male service manager. Their flights are direct from New York City to Madrid, Rome, Paris or London, and she tries to pick a different place each week.

Cover girl pretty, Glenda appears in an article and pictures in the July, 1970, issue of "Blanco y Negro," a Madrid, Spain magazine, discussing the inaugural press flight of the 747 to Rome.

Her experiences have been great and the interesting and world-famous people she's met have been many. One time as her plane was preparing to taxi out to the runway for takeoff, she and her passengers saw a 747 immediately catch fire as it landed. This was the first emergency evacuation of one of the large planes she had witnessed. Fortunately the fire was kept under control and all passengers were evacuated safely.

Miss Michael received her training in Kansas City, Kan., then went directly to New York City where she started flying internationally for TWA on the 707s. When talk of the larger planes became a reality, she applied for the 747 and was accepted immediately. She speaks German fluently and has knowledge of French.

Knowledge of at least one foreign language is a prerequisite of the job. Glenda resides in Manhattan with three other TWA hostesses. When asked about salary she noted her job paid more than the average for single women, but that living expenses in New York City are something else. "The four of us pay $400 a month for our studio apartment," she stated.

PRETTY GLENDA MITCHAEI, New York City, very enthusiastically explains her job as a hostess on TWA's new 747. Miss Michael, 24 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Michael, 1605 Kimberly Road, Twin Falls, was among those on TWA's 747 inaugural press flight to Rome in April. She has been visiting family and friends in the Twin Falls and Sun Valley area this past few days.

Glenda was graduated from Twin Falls High School and attended Idaho State University. She was employed in Sun Valley prior to taking her training in Kansas City.

She has been visiting her family and friends in the Twin Falls and Sun Valley area the past few days and plans to go back to New York City Monday and be off for London Tuesday.

New Approach to Bridge Scheduled in Fall Classes

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Richard J. Cook, better known in Magic Valley as Mary, is planning to resume her bridge classes this fall. Enthusiastic about a new approach she calls "The Winner's Way to Bid and Play," Mrs. Cook explains it like this. "This method incorporates both the use of Point Count as popularized by Charles Goren and good old 'horse sense' bridge which is familiar to the old-timers who remember Sam Gorden."

Last spring when Mrs. Cook was in Portland she discussed the ideas with Oswald Jacoby at the Spring National Bridge Tournament. She explained she felt the Point Counters are at a disadvantage when the dummy comes down, because they have to stop thinking about points and start thinking about taking tricks. "Us old-time honor counters are thinking in terms of tricks while we are bidding and have a fairly good idea where we are going to get those tricks long before we see the dummy," she explained. Jacoby agreed with her and encouraged her to "go to it."

Mrs. Cook hopes to interest beginners, especially young couples, and the bridge clubs to take advanced courses. Several years ago Mrs. Cook became a Life Master, an award earned after winning 300 Master Points in bridge tournaments in competition with top players from throughout the country. She began playing bridge when she was 13, but noted she became serious about the game after she lost $14 when she was 21 and decided she had better improve or quit. Anyone interested in the classes is asked to call Mrs. Cook at 733-7970.

Betty Family Has Reunion In Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Three generations, the third, fourth and fifth, of the Robert Betty family held a reunion recently at Neptune Park, Rupert.

The Betty family came to Idaho in 1914 after five children were married, four of the children moving to Idaho also. A family dinner was held at noon, with Mrs. Clinton Blackwood, Filor, giving the prayer. Winners at games were Lonnie Jones and Don Oneida. Mrs. Dean Guthrie received a prize for being the oldest descendant present and Don Oneida the prize for being the youngest there.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Jones won a prize for having the most children and Mrs. Virgil Cozad, Earlemart, Calif., for traveling the greatest distance.

Poems were given by Mrs. Dean Guthrie, Mrs. Esther Moore and Mrs. Waldo Jones.

Friends and family members attended from Twin Falls, Pocatello, Filor, Gooding, Shoshone, Tyhee, Rupert, Sandpoint and California.

Waldo Jones was elected president and Mrs. Moore was named secretary. Committee members in charge of the reunion were Waldo Jones, Mrs. Blackwood and Kathy Jones.

Termites have been on earth for more than 250 million years, says the National Geographic.

Host A Mothers' Coffee When School Bells Ring

THIS "Back-to-School" party isn't for students. It's for their moms.

A back-to-school coffee, planned for mid-morning on the day summertime helpers are returned to their richly chaperoned rooms, MUST succeed. Mothers deserve a relaxing party — and the thoughtful hostess who honors them will be well schooled in accolades before noon.

Coffee, of course, will be the featured beverage, so brew plenty in your largest Party Perk. Serve a variety of fancy coffee accoutrements, such as whipped sweet cream, scalded milk kept hot on an electric tray, and perhaps confectioners' sugar. Prepare coffee cakes and strudels a day ahead, ready to bake as guests begin arriving.

If your back-to-school gathering will include more than 3-4 friends, bring a baby sitter to entertain your guests' pre-school children in the backyard would be especially thoughtful. (Room mothers could create enough goodwill to last all year by hosting such a coffee.) In any case, set the party mood as extremely casual, so guests won't feel pressured to dress up on a hurried morn.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY C. BERRY (Ambrose photo)

Jill Brunzell Weds Larry C. Berry

WENDELL — Jill Brunzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Brown, Wendell, and Larry C. Berry, Twin Falls, were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 17 at the Wendell Methodist Church. Rev. Woodrow Harris officiated.

For the candlelight ceremony, the candles were lighted by two of the ushers; Tom Roy, Twin Falls, and Nick Stephens, Rupert.

The bride, given in marriage by her father were a floor-length gown of morie taffeta with a short train of the same material. Her finger-tip veil was made of silk illusion and was held in place by a seed pearl crown.

The bride's bouquet was of yellow roses.

Mrs. Mary Wennstrom, Gooding, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Christine Blackburn, Vikki Pepper and Nancy Bunn, all classmates of the bride.

Alan Brauer served as best man, with Tom Roy and Mike Jansson, both Twin Falls, and Nick Stephens, Rupert, as ushers.

Mrs. Woodrow Harris played the traditional wedding music. Soloist was Terry Klimes, accompanied by Christine Bertus, both Wendell.

Rhonda Little, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Micky Little, cousin of the bride, and Annette Harrison, niece of the bridegroom, were ringbearers.

Out-of-town guests attended from Kimberly, Twin Falls, Blackfoot, Boise, Hagerman, Gooding, Shoshone, Jerome, Halley, Rupert, Hansen, Jackpot, Nev., and Lawton, Okla.

After an extended honeymoon of deep sea fishing along the coast, the couple reside in Boise. The new Mrs. Berry plans to attend Linka School of Business. The bridegroom will continue his college education at Boise College.

Vows Repeated

JEROME — Jane Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Freeman, Jerome, became the bride of Ron L. Broker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daylor Broker, Craigmont, in rites Aug. 1.

The double ring candlelight service was performed by Rev. John Steppert at the First Presbyterian Church. The church altar was decorated with two large baskets filled with bright-colored zinnias and baby breath. The candelabra held orange tapers and was accented with floral greenery. The pews were decorated with baby zinnias and white satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organza, fashioned with short puff sleeves, a high Victorian neckline and a redingote empire "A" line skirt which was trimmed with a chain of flowers of Venice lace that continued to the edge of the chapel train.

She carried a small white Bible and a silk handkerchief which belonged to her great-great-grandmother and had also been carried by her mother.

Marcy Valentine, Crane, Ore., was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward Stover, Jerome, and Mrs. Gary Freese, Salt Lake City. The garden baskets filled with flowers and carried by the attendants were arranged by Mrs. L. W. Sanberg, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Leona Holmes, Salt Lake City. Vern Gentry, Buhl, was best man, with Walt Kitson, Palsades, Colo., and Larry Barga, Twin Falls, as groomsmen. The ushers, Gary Broker, Craigmont, and Tim Freeman, are bitbrthers of the bride and bridegroom.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. John Stielie. Mrs. Don Jacobson was soloist, accompanied on the violin by Mrs. Ron Puppl.

An informal patio reception was held at the family home. Guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Rex Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Arden Broeker. Gifts were displayed by Sandy Prentice, Kimberly, with Shelly Davis registering the guests.

The bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with a five-tiered wedding cake decorated with orange and pink flowers and silver bells. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom which had been made by the bride's grandmother. The cake was flanked by small topiary trees made of white pine cones covered with pink and orange flowers and velvet ribbon.

The bridegroom's table, covered with lace, was centered with a floral arrangement and hosted by Ivan Stone.

After the traditional cutting of the first piece of wedding cake, it was served by Cindy Berry, Burley, Paula Malone, Jerome, and Mrs. Bud Amend, Paul, poured. Women of the Woman's Association served.

The best man toasted, the couple for a silver goblet which was engraved with the couple's names and wedding date. It was a gift from the bride's grandmother. The couple took a wedding trip to Lake Wallowa, Ore.

The bridegroom is employed with the accounting firm of Burns and Swanson, Caldwell, where the couple will reside.

A wedding rehearsal dinner was hosted for the bride by Mrs. LeRoy Craig, Mrs. John Wallin and by Mrs. Rex Davis, Mrs. Ivan Stone and Mrs. Paul Malone.

Social Events

The Odd Fellows' and Rebekahs will have a potluck dinner at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Odd Fellows Hall. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service. The Odd Fellows members will furnish the corn and watermelon. The Rebekah meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

Spurred By Wealth, Art Thievery Soars

PARIS (UPI)—The abundance of paintings by classic and modern masters in France has made this country a favorite target of sophisticated art thieves.

Ever since Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" was stolen from the Louvre Museum in 1911, art collectors in France have lost millions of dollars worth of canvases to burglars.

The latest big heist here netted an estimated $1.8 million worth of Impressionist paintings from a chic Paris apartment near the Opera House Aug. 4. Five Renoirs were among the 17 paintings stolen, including Renoir's "Two Girls Seated at the Piano," which the owner estimated was worth $727,000.

French police say 440 paintings were stolen in France in 1969 alone, and that worldwide art thefts amount to some $18 million lost every year.

Serious Situation. The situation has gotten so bad that owners of important works do their best to stay anonymous. Close friends are asked not to talk about the collections, and unfamiliar visitors are discouraged.

The owners cannot be too cautious. In the Aug. 4 raid the burglars appeared to know their way through an intricate maze of electrical alarms set up on doors throughout the interior of the eight-room apartment. Nor were the burglars lacking in technical know-how. To short the circuit on the main door's alarm, they poured mercury over the wires, and used false keys to open the lock.

"The burglars were connoisseurs," said owner Jean Chardenu, a descendant of French Impressionist painter Gustave Caillebotte.

"The 17 paintings which they stole were the most beautiful and the most celebrated of the collection. Renoir, Manet, Monet, Pissarro..."

After a thief has executed a professional job such as that one, his work has just begun. He then faces the problem of getting rid of what he has just stolen.

The best paintings are too well-known to be resold in European art circles, so the thieves usually resort to one of two alternatives.

Held As Hostage. First, they can hold the paintings hostage, and demand ransom from the companies which have insured the works. Lloyd's of London has become accustomed to such transactions with clandestine art dealers.

Because masters' paintings in France are all catalogued and registered, a painting cannot be sold to one of the 400 galleries in Paris, for example, without a certificate proving ownership.

This obstacle often leads thieves to sell to amateur collectors in foreign countries who are glad to get a good price on a painting, and who ask no questions about its former owner.

Police suspect an elaborate underground system exists which connects thieves to buyers through a network of middlemen. Unless certain paintings were destroyed after being stolen, it is conceivable that someone somewhere has amassed a fantastic secret collection of works by Rubens, Rembrandt, Watteau, Fragonard, Goya, Delacroix, Van Gogh, Picasso, and countless other paintings that disappeared mysteriously and were never seen again.

White House Like Hotel To Julie

By HELEN THOMAS
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House:

First ladies live in awe of the White House, but when they speak of "home" it's somewhere else.

To Julie Eisenhower, the president's 22-year-old daughter, the White House is a "hotel." And to her predecessor Luci Johnson Nugent, it was a "museum... a big white elephant."

When Lady Bird Johnson spoke of her "heart place" she spoke of the LBJ ranch.

The lovely white pillared mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue is too lonely for most first families. But the Nixon's eldest daughter, Tricia, 24, seems to be perfectly at home in that historic setting, and she doesn't mind being there alone for several days.

Tricia Joins Family. While all other members of the first family have been here, Tricia has been leading a very "private" life in the nation's No. 1 house. She joined the family this week.

Mrs. Nixon's face lights up when she talks about her home, a Spanish-style $340,000 villa on an estate overlooking the Pacific Ocean where tropical flowers, and bougainville bloom in abundance. "It's where we will retire," she has said.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC LIVING FOR A NEATER, CLEANER WORLD

Miss Edwards Recites Vows

TWIN FALLS — Barbara Lynne Edwards, daughter of Mrs. Nadine Edwards and the late Mr. Francis Edwards, and Larry David Prestidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prestidge, all Twin Falls, were united in marriage Aug. 1 in rites at the First Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. Leslie Brown from the Valley Christian Church performed the double ring ceremony before two cathedral baskets of majestic green daisies and white gladioli, flanked by brass candelabra holding white candles. The altar bouquet was also green majestic daisies and white gladioli. The pews were marked with green satin bows.

Given in marriage by her brother, Kent Edwards, the bride wore a white organza over taffeta gown. The bodice featured a natural waistline trimmed with Val lace and a demi-bell skirt with rows of lace at the bottom. Her Mantilla train was edged with matching lace and attached to a headpiece of organza leaves. She carried a formal cascade of yellow roses and ivy.

The bride's attendants were Kendra Wenzler, Twin Falls, as maid of honor, and Debbie Edwards, sister of the bride; Sharon Edwards, sister-in-law of the bride, and Tamr Toler as bridesmaids. Renae Nielsen, cousin of the bride, and Mary Suher, cousin of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

David Rounds was best man. Jerry Prestidge, brother of the bridegroom, Paul Dodge and Lanny Suher were ushers.

Joan and Cheryl Toner, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Daryl Smith, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Frances Reider, organist, played the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, William Armstrong, fifth grade school teacher of the bride.

Guests were registered at a reception immediately after the ceremony by Darice Jolly, cousin of the bride.

The bride's colors of yellow and green were carried out in refreshments and the decor of the hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white nylon flounce, mint green silk top held in place with corsages of yellow roses, daisies, bouvardia, gypsophilla and roses. A garland of roses and bouvardia encircled the four-tiered wedding cake which was topped with double wedding bells and a lace heart. The serving table held the silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl.

Coffee and punch were poured by Mrs. Soren Nielsen and Mrs. Cecil Toner, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Beatrice Isom, grandmother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Wanda Isom, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake.

Small tables throughout the room were decorated with baskets of yellow daisies.

Others assisting were Jolene Woodworth and Connie and Christine Woodworth, cousins of the bride, as giftbearers. Jolene Gleas was in charge of the gifts.

and Twin Falls. A cousin of the bride, Mrs. Gae Slater, and her children attended from Fairbanks, Alaska.

The couple honeymooned at Lake Tahoe and San Francisco before returning to Twin Falls, where the bridegroom is employed and the bride will return to college.

Miss America Event Opens Next Sunday

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Like the calm in the eye of a hurricane, the Miss America Pageant—the yearly attempt to crown America that there is still goodness and beauty in the midst of turmoil—opens here next Sunday.

At the end of the week, there will be a new Miss America and the pageant will have celebrated its 50th anniversary and middle America will have seen itself reflected once again in the faces of the 50 youthful contestants.

But this year, even though the pageant will still epitomize President Nixon's middle America, there will be some changes.

For the first time since the first Miss America was selected here in 1921, there will be a black contestant. She is Cheryl Adrienne Brown, 20, of Bettendorf, Iowa—Miss Iowa.

In addition, pageant officials promise, newsmen will be able to ask a contestant almost any question about any subject. Executive Committee Chairman Albert A. Marks Jr. said all restrictions except two have been lifted on questions.

Restricted by chaperones will be queries the contestant feels to be personally distasteful and any "spousal" of an active political candidate.

The pageant's theme, "What It Was and What It Still Is—Beautiful," reflects over the past 50 years. But the music, according to producer George Cavaller, will include some rock sounds typical of today's generation. "We are, I guess you might say, trying to keep abreast of a constantly changing youthful America," said Marks. "We are trying to travel the standard middle of the road as would best an American institution—to provide pleasure and enjoyment to everybody. . . to cater to no special minority group, but rather to middle America." Marks said the pageant is operating on a philosophy that the contestants should be themselves—"not what somebody else thinks you ought to be. We want to judge and get today's youth as they themselves think they are. . . not as somebody else thinks they ought to be."

The contestants seeking the crown now worn by Pamela Ann Eldrid, Miss America 1970, will begin arriving here Friday with official registration on Sunday and Monday, Labor Day.

The pageant parade will be held Tuesday night on the boardwalk, with preliminary competition in swim suits, evening gowns and talent set for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

The 10 semifinalists are picked Saturday night, and then the five finalists. The judges will ask each a question, and the new Miss America will be crowned.

Pageant officials say some 20 of the 41 living former Miss Americas will attend and participate in the pageant.

Miss Marsh, Hayes Wed In Temple

TWIN FALLS — Karen DeESta Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford O. Marsh, Twin Falls, and Brent D. Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeE Hayes, Lewisville, were united in marriage at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple in rites July 31.

Rigby Stake Patriarch, Walter Clements officiated at the ceremony. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morgan, maternal grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Madison C. Hayes, aunt of the bride, and other close relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom accompanied the couple to the temple.

After the wedding, a luncheon was hosted by the bridegroom's parents for the bridal party at Walker's Cafe in Rigby.

Open house was held at the LDS Church in Lewisville, July 31.

The bride wore an A-line, silhouette gown of bonded lace featuring an empire waistline, sabrin neckline and long fitted sleeves, fashioned by her mother. The wrist-length veil of bridal illusion was held with an organza rose and seed pearls. She carried a formal cascade of pink Karina roses and feathered carnations with pink baby breath and pink satin ribbon.

Diane Cardwell, friend of the bride, was made of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Ann Thompson, Betsy Hamilton and Peggy McCandless, friends of the bride, and Sue Ellen Marsh, sister of the bride.

Best man was Dennis Poulsen, Lewisville, friend of the bridegroom.

At a reception held at the LDS 8th Ward Church, Twin Falls, Aug. 1, the couple greeted guests before an archway flanked with cathedral baskets of light and dark pink gladioli.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and matching lace skirt with lace bells tied into pink bows. The three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Woodrow Bingham, was decorated with bouquets of pink and blue daisies, swans filled with flowers and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with lace over pink and blue cloths and centered with lace baskets made of icing and decorated with pink and blue daisies. The tables were centered around a miniature fountain flowing with blue water and surrounded with blue daisies. Blue and pink topiary trees completed the decorations.

A program was held during the evening, with Keith Egbert as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Madison C. Hayes, aunt of the bride, Kathy Turner and Diane Baker opened and displayed the gifts.

Robbie Loveland attended the guest book.

Mrs. Donald Murphy, Caldwell, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Ray McBride, cut and served the cake and frappe.

Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Monte Lee, Mrs. Lloyd Stoker, Mrs. Jay Buhler, Karen Stoker, Rhonna Staley, Cindy Warren and Karen Waldron.

Giftbearers were Manon McBride and Judy Courtney. Corsages with pink and white pompons with blue baby's breath were given to all the

Among the special guests were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morgan and Mrs. Nettie Pearl Marsh. Other out-of-town guests attended from El Cajon, Auburn, Fullerton and Arcadia, Calif.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Canada, and Lewisville and Caldwell.

Open House Slated For Area Newlyweds

RICHFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Proctor, Richfield, announce the marriage of their daughter, Claris Ann, to Tom Wittinger, Chicago, Ill., in an evening ceremony Aug. 24 at the Cathedral of the Rockies, Boise.

Dena Chatfield, Buhl, served as maid of honor, with John Jauregui, Meridian, as best man.

The immediate family and co-workers from Sunbeam Resort, Sunbeam, attended the ceremony with a wedding dinner immediately after at the King's Table.

An open house reception honoring the newlyweds will be held from 7 to 9 p. m. Sept. 5 at the Methodist Episcopal Church Recreation Rooms, Richfield. All friends are invited to attend. The event will be hosted by the bride's parents.

Welcome Wagon Sets Fashion Show, Meet

TWIN FALLS — Welcome Wagon hostess, Mrs. L. E. Hinton, and Mrs. Lota Keener will start the new year for the Welcome Wagon Club with a program at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

A fashion show will be presented under the direction of Vonnie Wheeler from the Pepper Tree, with Dixie Fournier, Marge Morris, Pat Albers and Clarice Leslie modeling.

activities, bridge, pinochle, bowling, knitting, painting, golf and skiing.

Oppose Park:

GOV. DON SAMUELSON: Read by Al Minton, head of the department of commerce and development, who said that "it is submitted for the record as the official statement of the position of the state of Idaho."

The Governor called for an input-output study "of all the potential in the area under consideration." He asked that "these bills (introduced by Idaho's congressional delegation) be held in committee pending this suggested economic impact study."

"With all the facts before us, with all provisions covered and coordinated in the legislation, much needless economic loss and human suffering will be avoided for the people of Idaho and this area."

VERNON F. RAVENSCROFT, Tuttle businessman and state representative:

"A park would destroy more than it would create. The forest service is administering the recreational resource of the Sawtooth Mountains with vision and from the standpoint of a strong three-season appeal including church camps, public camps, hunting, fishing and winter sports."

"Geologically, the Sawtooth-White Cloud area will not stand overuse from any source, including people. Historically the park service has tended to concentrate people and semi-domestic wildlife on limited land areas."

"That kind of mistaken management or an over-concentration of people can ruin the fragile granitic soil of the Sawtooth area."

AL MINTON, head department of commerce and development for Idaho:

"We have two major studies going forward presently, one by the forest service and one by private industry, in what we hope is a realistic attempt to identify some of these wealth producing, job producing possibilities. Before committing ourselves to any additional legislation in this area, we would at least like to have the benefit of those reports on which so much time and money have already been spent."

DOROTHY L. POVEY, Blaine County treasurer:

"To confine the forest service and national park service administrations as set forth in the proposed national recreation park complex would bring unnecessary and costly duplication of personnel and facilities and an undesirable opportunity for inter-agency conflict."

"I cannot believe your thoughts would be other than mine, should you, in the crucial decision you must make at this time, take from your children and mine the last wilderness and the Sawtooth Recreation Area as it is today."

JOHN ROVETTE, Clayton, Custer County commissioner: "We are opposed to a lock up of our resources from whatever agency. Therefore we favor only the concepts which guarantee the multiple use program."

JOSEPH IVIE, Bellevue businessman:

"The very magnitude of the proposed park and the nature of the terrain proves the proposal to be unreasonable. Our nation has endured by the principles and guide lines in the framework of our founding fathers, it was not designed for any one single-use concept and I am opposed to the creation of a park."

BOB HARVEY, vice-president, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce:

"... be it resolved by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors that the Congress of the United States designate the Sawtooth Mountain Range and adjacent mountains and lands with significant recreational values as a national recreation area administered by the forest service."

JOHN A. DOERR, Twin Falls, president of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association:

"We support H.R. 5999 or S. 833 providing for the establishment of a national recreation area. We support S. 4213 providing for a moratorium on mineral land entries and we are opposed to S. 4212 and H.R. 1890 providing for the creation of a national park in combination with a national recreation area."

EDITH C. ROBERTSON, resident of Twin Falls whose parents owned the Clark-Miller ranch in Sawtooth Valley:

"... I would go on record as supporting a measure which would create a national recreation area for the valley floor. I have long felt that giving this area national park status would in some way encroach upon my individual rights to enter the area when I am pleased and to go where I would choose to explore."

"However, the past two years have convinced me that with the added number of people using this area, more regulatory controls will be needed if it is to be preserved in its unspoiled wilderness status."

LEE BARRON, Corral:

"A national park in this area would, if managed like other parks, do away with forestry, grazing, mining and hunting. A new federal agency would be injected into the area; an agency which would not be nearly as competent to administer the resources as the existing state and federal agencies."

CLIFTON S. AND RUTH C. MYERS, Boise:

"Should the preservationist groups displace Idaho's economy? No! "It is economically infeasible to see this vast area become a national park."

JOHN PEAVEY, Rupert, state senator:

"First, I would like to endorse the bill establishing the NRA as sound- and much needed legislation. The five year moratorium on the filing of mining claims is also a wise move. The national park bill I must oppose for many reasons. It effectively eliminates multiple use in the area."

DON FREDERICKSEN, Wood River Resource Area:

"It is the unanimous conclusion of the Wood River Resource Area that the area be designated a national recreation area, administered by the U.S. Forest Service. The WRRA also supports controls on prospecting, similar to the controls used for non-precious metals."

HILMER LINDBURG, Mackay:

"I am opposed to the creation of a Sawtooth Park area, primarily that a park would restrict and do away with multiple-use of our resources. An economy built on single use is not sufficient."

EMERALD ISOM, residing on the North Fork of the Big Lost River near Sun Valley:

"It appears to me that many of the loudest critics of mining and other non-recreational uses are trying to ease their guilt for what they have done in their own home states, by wanting to play the role of preservationist here in Idaho."

"This is a game that is cheap to play as it only takes a six-cent postage stamp. It would be more beneficial to these persons if they would use this stamp money toward cleaning up the mess in their own area and let Idahoans run Idaho."

KEITH WHITING, supervisor of the Northwestern United States Exploration Division of American Smelting and Refining Co., who has had overall supervision of the work done by Asarco at its molybdenum deposit near Bake Lake on Little Boulder Creek below and east of the White Cloud peaks:

"Other types of ecological study are planned. These will consist of study and inventory of geomorphology, soils, climatology, hydrology, vegetation, wildlife and recreation sources."

"These studies will provide background data so that mine development plans can be designed to provide the least practicable impact of the mine development on the natural characteristics and ecology of the area."

LEWIS F. LEEPER, staff member, Idaho Farm Bureau Federation:

"In our opinion the majority of Idahoans and the industries of Idaho still prefer this entire area to be designated recreation. We are of the opinion that a national recreation area could promote better management roads. "Surely tourist trade would not be hampered by designation of recreation area rather than park area."

EDELLIOTT, Burley, Burley Chamber of Commerce:

"The future of this area must be controlled, but under no circumstances should this control be exercised by two agencies of the government, the park service and the forest service. The park service should not be considered in this area."

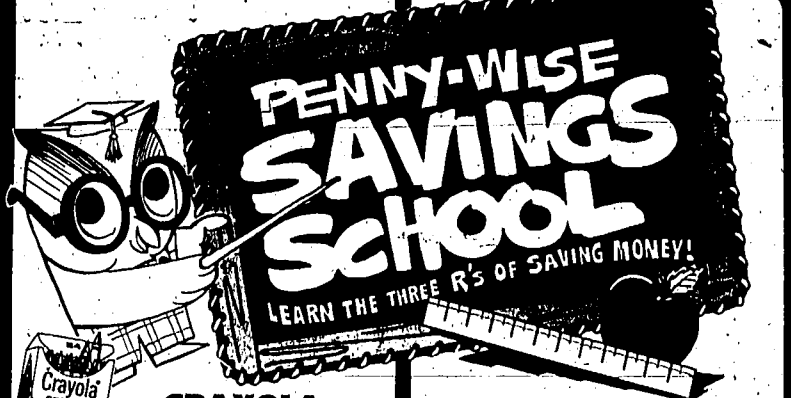

"It would be criminal for the people of Idaho to relinquish all rights to this area as they would if it becomes a national park. A national park is much too regimented and impersonal, and the true character of the area would be eliminated."

BILL BENNETT, representing the Pettit Lake Home Owners Association:

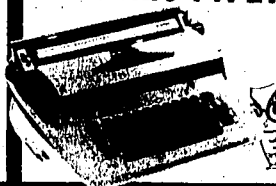

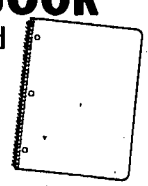

"We believe that the multiple use concept for this area of administering our public lands the best and highest use of our natural resources for the greatest number of people."

JOHN BRECKENRIDGE, Twin Falls, owner of a livestock ranch in Sawtooth Valley:

"I believe firmly in the multiple use principle. "With wise and careful management of the land and its resources under the recreation area concept we can make this area productive and useful for generations to come."

Like To Fly Over Both Poles?

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Are you bored with doing the same old thing on your vacation? Would you want to do something really different?

How would you like to be one of the first American tourists to fly around the world via the North and South Poles? What about cruising on a private yacht through one of the Seven Seas? Want to go after Bengal tigers in the Indian subcontinent?

These are only a few of the unusual vacations being offered by tour operators and others for Americans in the time, money and spirit of adventure. The North-South global tour, billed as the first of its kind, was put together by Hemphill World Cruises of Los Angeles. It includes a visit to the U.S. Naval Base at McMurdo Sound in the Antarctic.

The inclusive price for the 32-day tour is $9,760 per person, not including transportation to or from Los Angeles where the flight originates and ends, according to the brochure. But each member of the party — which will be restricted to about 60 persons — will receive a complimentary parka and pair of mukluks for the cold weather regions on the itinerary.

The first tour will leave Los Angeles Nov. 15 aboard a chartered Convair 990 jetliner.

The itinerary includes flights over the North and South Poles, and stopovers in Alaska, Denmark, Kenya, Malagasy, Mauritius, Indonesia, Papua, New Caledonia, New Zealand, Antarctica, Chile and Peru. Ground excursions will include sightseeing tours of major points of interest and sidetrips to wild game preserves in Kenya and villages in Papua inhabited by descendants of cannibal headhunters.

'Private' Yachts
For Americans who would like to sail the seas in their "own" private craft, World Yacht Enterprises, Ltd. of New York could help. The company

Swedish 'Mansion' Houses Hooligans

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The Swedish government has come up with a unique answer to its problem children — the unabashed hellraising "raggars" — by giving them a mansion away from public eye and ear.

The raggars, who thrive on loud automobiles and free love, have been a social problem in Sweden since the early 1950s. They number several thousand boys and girls in their late teens and early twenties who are out for a good time — nothing more.

Authorities hope the dilapidated 25-room mansion 13 miles northeast of Stockholm will reduce public complaints about the youths' offensive behavior in such public domain as parking lots and campgrounds. The nearest neighbor is a half-mile away.

Indecent Romancing
The term "raggars" has the American equivalent of boys in automobiles "picking up" girls walking along the street. Members wear long hair and leather clothing. They throw wild parties and drive souped-up cars with throbbing mufflers and loaded with chrome. The noise of their cars is bad enough to the general public but their tendency to make love indiscreetly in public places is a little too much even for liberal Sweden.

Costs vary considerably, depending on the size and type of yacht, the number of persons in the chartering party and the duration of the cruise. "Generally speaking, about the lowest all-inclusive cost per person for a week's cruise can be as little as $175 and this would cover everything, even all meals, but it could run up to $1,000 per person weekly for the most super-elegant motor yacht of all," a release said. World Yacht offers a special all-inclusive package, beginning at $1,875 for a family of four, which includes one week ashore in Grenada and one week aboard a 40-foot motor sloop with private crew cruising through the Grenadine Islands in the Caribbean.

The rate includes full maid and catering services at a private home overlooking a beach in Grenada and all meals ashore and at sea. Transportation to and from Grenada is not included.

Looking for tigers, leopards and other wild animal and bird life in the game preserves of the Indian subcontinent is only one of the features of the "Beyond the Taj" tour offered by Headquarters Tours Inc. of New York in cooperation with Air-India.

The 36-day escorted tour, at $2,945 per person from New York, includes sightseeing tours of New Delhi and other famed spots, such as the "pink City" of Jaipur and Agra with its Taj Mahal, as well as visits to the tiny Himalayan kingdoms of Nepal and Sikkim. There is a boat ride on the sacred Ganges River, game runs on the backs of elephants, and accommodations in the former palace of the Maharajahs of Udaipur and the Maharajah's former residence in Jaipur.

Called Tegolhagen, the mansion was secured in large part through a 15-year effort by Olof Moller, 47, an advertising man who in his youth was a raggare-like rebel.

'Ample Open Space'
Moller said Tegolhagen would have a large parking area for the raggare cars and ample open space to keep engine revving and blaring pop music from annoying anyone.

The mansion, deserted for 10 years, is in bad disrepair. Plaster is crumbling, wallpaper is in tatters, the windows are jammed.

This time Ira had the strong hand. Jeff's response of two spades said, "If you do have a weak two bid, let's play it there."

Ira's two no-trump call was the third straight artificial bid of the hand. It said, "I have a strong hand with a solid seven-card heart suit."

They were sort of apologetic about Jeff's three-club call. It actually showed clubs. Ira's three-spade bid showed the ace, invited a slam mildly and warned about the diamond suit in case Jeff was thinking about no-trump.

Jeff's four no-trump call was plain old-fashioned Blackwood, as was Ira's five-spade response to show three aces.

This was enough for Jeff. He counted 13 and bid seven no-trump to get the maximum match point score.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing West has bid four spades after your double. North and East pass. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

We didn't sweep the boards in Stockholm. The open pairs were won by Austria and Italy came in second and third. Fourth place went to Ira Rubin of Paramus, N.J., playing with Jeff Westheimer of New York.

Rubin is one of the great theorists. Some players think he would do better if he gave up some of his science for flying by the seat of his pants.

All conventions are allowed in a world's championship and Ira came up with a beauty for this one.

He invented a multipurpose two bid in any suit but clubs. This bid would usually show a weak two bid in the next suit but might show a very strong distributional hand in the suit bid.

AMONG NEWBORN GUPPIES, the females outnumber the males by two to one, always... THAT LIQUOR most often given at Christmastime is scotch... DID I TELL YOU it takes about 100,000 houseflies to weigh a pound?... ANOTHER AMERICAN WORD that's understood in just about every language is "best-seller"... MOST OF THOSE coffee cans without keys are easier to open upside down.

ANOTHER LANGUAGE MAN - Never mustered up much interest in those tricky collective nouns - like pride of lions, cloyder of cats, exhalation of larks - until Jim Lipton developed a modern batch. Here are his: A trip of hippies, a trance of lovers, a giggle of girls, a shush of librarians, a rise of miniskirts, an invasion of Israelis and a flight of Arabs. They'll do.

WRITERS - Now that Erle Stanley Gardner is gone, who is left to write the mystery stories? Only Agatha Christie, maybe. A magazine editor claims his polls show Mr. Gardner was the most popular of all such writers. A. Conan Doyle, he says, ranked second, with Ellery Queen third and Edgar Allan Poe fourth. Doubt the veracity of that contention, personally. Mr. Gardner was the fastest of those mystery writers, sure enough, but as to the most widely read, believe that's a toss-up between Agatha Christie and George Simenon.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - "Who first said, 'I zipped when I should have zaggd'?" A. That was a fellow named Jack Roper. On a ringside radio-broadcast. After the great Joe Louis pounded him down in the first round.

A KINDLY CLIENT says Bixler's in Carlisle, Pa., is the second oldest hardware store in the nation, but she fails to name the oldest. ALREADY MENTIONED the oldest surname in the world is Katz. But failed to report that every man named Katz is said to be a priest... IT'S SIGNIFICANT to demographers that most U.S. residents are over 26, while most Latin Americans are under 21. Highly significant.

LOVE AND WAR - Young lady, if you could make use of only one beauty aid, no more, which would it be? Lipstick? Eyeshadow? Hairspray? If she were given this choice, says actress Carroll Baker, she would take a man. "Of course, a man is a beauty aid," says she. Good old Carroll Baker! I intend to invite her to my trout farm for a free trout, if I ever get a trout farm.

LOOKS LIKE EASY ARRIVED JUST IN TIME...

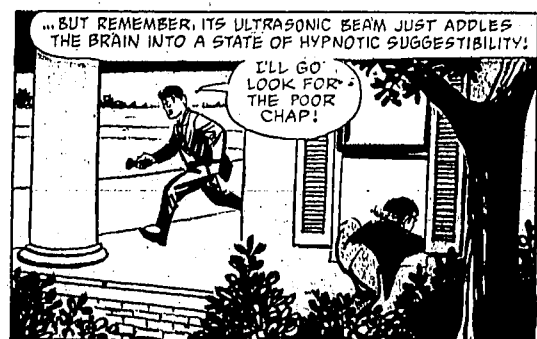

COSTUME-BALL, HUH?... IF YOU ASK ME, HIS KIND OF ROOSTER BELONGS ON THE FUNNY FARM!

EASY, YOU'LL NEVER BELIEVE WHAT I'VE BEEN THRU!

THAT INFERNAL MIDGET WAS OUT TO GET ME... HE EVEN HAD THE ZAP-RAY GUN!

RELAX, MR. MCKEE! YOU'RE PERFECTLY SAFE... TAP MAY THINK IT'S A DEADLY WEAPON...

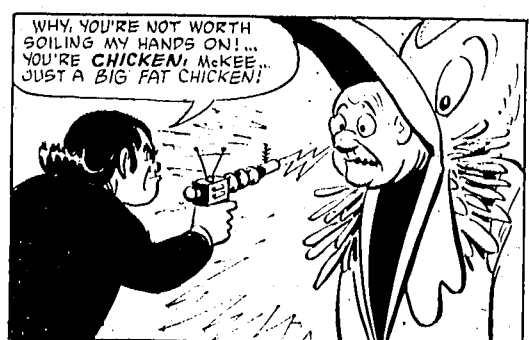

... BUT REMEMBER, ITS ULTRASONIC BEAM JUST ADDLES THE BRAIN INTO A STATE OF HYPNOTIC SUGGESTIBILITY!

I'LL GO LOOK FOR THE POOR CHAP!

WHY, YOU'RE NOT WORTH SOILING MY HANDS ON!... YOU'RE CHICKEN, MCKEE... JUST A BIG FAT CHICKEN!

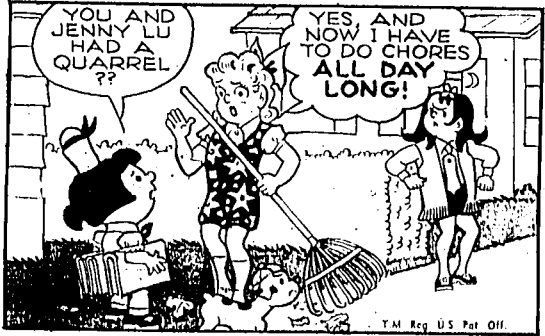

CHICKEN? ... BIG FAT CHICKEN?

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—To mend holes in screens, cut a piece of screen larger than the hole and pull off about three wires all around to make a fringed edge. Turn the fringed edges at a 90-degree angle to the patch, press patch over the hole with the fringed wires protruding through the screen, and then bend them flat on the other side. This is easier when done by two people. —MRS. P. W.

I CUT A PIECE FROM THE WINDOW SCREEN TO PATCH THE SCREEN DOOR!

DEAR POLLY—I make a note on the corners of recipes that lists special ingredients not always on hand such as coconut, nuts, etc. I always can tell at a glance what I need to buy without having to read through the entire recipe, and perhaps miss something. —TERRI

DEAR POLLY—Our family recently took a vacation, but since we are a large family it was necessary to take two cars. We placed a blackboard and chalk in each car and found this a great convenience for messages and things we wanted to remember, like stops for food, gas, etc. When not in use otherwise, the small children loved playing with them. —L. A. M.

GREAT FOR EATING LIMBURGER CHEESE, TOO

© 1970 by NEA, Inc.

DEAR POLLY—Snap clothespins make very good miniature vises to hold small articles you are gluing, or even to hold baby's bib in place. —JUANITA

DEAR POLLY—Most cheap utility brushes have a curved handle to indicate the proper way in which the brush should be used. This causes wear on one side. When this begins to happen I reverse the shape of the wire part of the handle to give me double service from the brush. —MILDRED

As She Sees It

Ask Them Yourself

FOR JOHN VOLPE,

Secretary of Transportation
Please name the states where one can obtain a driver's license without a driving test?—M. Harper, Lanoka Harbor, N.J.

• There are none. Each of the 50 states, plus the District of Columbia, now requires some type of driving test before a license can be issued. Some states even require complete retesting for a license renewal—(notably—Illinois—and—Virginia at present)

FOR MSGR. PHILLIP J. MURPHY,

Catholic Youth Organization
Is it against the Catholic religion to take drugs?—Mary Backes, Dubuque, Iowa

• It is a grave matter (mortal sin) to use a chemical whose effect is complete loss of reason unless there is sufficient cause prompting same, for example, anesthetic prior to an operation. Secondly, it is a grave matter to use a chemical which, of its nature or the compulsion (addiction) it brings with it, presents a danger to health or life.

FOR NORM CASH, Detroit Tigers

Why don't you wear a batting helmet?—Pam Sarbantex, Battle Creek, Mich.

• I sometimes wear a batting helmet, but most of the time I wear a fiber safety insert in my regular uniform cap. This insert is legal, and I find it far more comfortable.

FOR JUDITH CRIST, film critic,

tv's "Today Show"
What kind of background or streak of meanness provokes you to such a reprehensible of unfavorable criticism of movies? They can't all be that bad—Paul T. O'Leary, Hill Road, Santa Rosa, Calif.

• You don't hear very well. I find something of merit in at least 20 percent of the films and plays I review on the "Today Show." Perhaps living in Santa Rosa, Calif., permits one to romanticize the Hollywood or Broadway product. Certainly someone who has to consider it in its entirety can't afford to be anything less than honest in her criticism and true to her own standards of taste, decency, and intellect.

FOR ANDY WILLIAMS

Who is inside the bear suit on your show, and who dreamed up the character?—Isabel Rutherford, Natchez, Miss.

• The bear was designed and built by former Hollywood stunt man Janos Prohaska at the request of my coproducers, Allan Blye and Chris Beard. Janos wears the suit and has perfected the many lovable traits and mannerisms seen each week.

FOR JOHN SHAFER, Administrator,

Federal Aviation Authority
Does the F.A.A. require more than one person to be licensed for flying on all commercial airplane flights?—Mrs. W. Harris, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Want to ask a famous person a question? You can through this column, and we'll get the answer from the prominent person you designate. Send question, preferably on a post card, to Ask Them Yourself, Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We cannot acknowledge questions, but $5 will be paid for each one used.

• Yes. Both pilot and copilot must be licensees, and if the plane requires a flight engineer, he also must have a Federal license.

FOR MARGARET BORG, president,

National Association of Women in Construction
What is the "Women in Construction" group? How many members are in it?—Mrs. I. R., Utica, N.Y.

• Our association is comprised of more than 5,000 women who are employed in all phases of the construction industry.

FOR MAX BAER,

"The Beverly Hillbillies"
On your show you said you finished sixth grade. Is that true?—Gwendolyn Griffin, Alexandria, La.

• I graduated from the University of Santa Clara, California. It's Jettra—who just made it through sixth grade.

What in the World!

Work Your Way to Europe No office girl can complain that she can't afford a European vacation any more—not if she has a skill and is willing to use it abroad. Gals' between the ages of

On-the-job visit to London

18 and 54 can get a job in London, with air fare paid by the employer. They can even get some local counseling on how to find a flat (apartment) and/or a roommate. The catch? Well, the typical salary is only $45 to $55 a week, with some of that going for taxes. However, British girls manage on it—and Paris is just a short flight away. Though work permits expire Oct. 31, a permanent job can usually be arranged for the girl who wants to stay longer. For further information, write Dept. FW, Overseas Travel Coordinator, Western Girl, Inc., P.O. Box 3241, Stamford, Conn. 06905.

Owatonna's E.G. Actor E.G. Marshall is willing to tell his birthdate—June 18, 1919, and his birthplace, Owatonna, Minn.—but all he'll say about his name is that E stands for Enigma and G stands for Gregarious. "And it's a real name in itself," insists the star of NBC's doctor series, "The Bold Ones." The dignified, serious-minded Marshall started out as a night-club singer and guitarist. "I used the name 'Marvin Magillicuddy' for a short time," he quipped to FAMILY WEEKLY. "A drunk in the audience wouldn't let me finish my act until I told him my real name. So I told him the Marvin one, and that kept him quiet."

Well, what is your real name, we persisted. What do your friends call you? "Eegee," Marshall explained patiently.

Matching Competitors Personality is an important factor in contact sports. J. Roswell Gallagher, M.D., Yale University, points out: "The lighter, younger boy who has zest and a will to play is less vulnerable to injury than a larger but indifferent and lackadaisical companion; so, too, the aggressive and alert boy in contrast to one who hangs back and has his mind on other things."

House of Card Are you ready to live in a paper house? Don't laugh; it may be your choice sooner than you think. This one, for instance, won a Fibre Box Association packaging design award at a competition in Washington, D.C. Yes, real people live in it—adults; and with the necessary kitchen and bathroom equipment, too, all factory built. Depending on their degrees of skill, it's estimated that three men could complete a basic 400 square-foot unit from a fac-

Edward Nixon holds carving of his famous brother Richard.

When a lieutenant commander piloting a helicopter on routine Naval Reserve duty rescued two girls from a swamped boat in Puget Sound, it made big news. It would probably have been just a local news story had the pilot not been Edward Nixon—brother of the President of the United States.

A Marriott Corporation executive was visiting several European countries recently on a business trip for his firm and received royal treatment everywhere. But this red-carpet deference doesn't seem out of line when it's understood that the executive was Donald Nixon, President Richard Nixon's second living brother.

Even Aristotle Onassis, husband of the widow of the man who defeated Donald's brother in the Presidential race of 1960, extended lavish hospitality. In fact, Donald had never seen roses with stems quite as long as those Onassis had delivered to his hotel room.

Publicity and roses, however, are not the whole story of being a President's brother. For Donald and Edward Nixon, this role has meant pride and joy but also anxiety, apprehension, and sacrifices. This is so even though neither Donald nor Edward ever really got close to their brother Richard.

"Don and Ed," Evelyn Dorn, a close family friend told us, "have a normal relationship with each other but are in awe of Dick and always have been. And from the time he was Vice President, they felt the moves in their relationship with him were up to him."

Family closeness was made difficult, too, by the vastly different temperaments of the three brothers. Donald, who is 56, less than two years younger than the President, is outgoing and gregarious. Edward, who is 40, and was born when the President was 17, is tight-lipped and introspective. As a young man, Richard impressed his brothers as a loner—a thinker, and the one the family always knew someday would be "somebody."

There have been some moments of intimacy, however. There was the time when Donald, then a student at Guilford Preparatory School in North Carolina, and Richard, a student at Duke Law School, saved and pooled their money for their first trip to New York. There they bought their mother her first fur piece. And there was the intimate sadness of losing two brothers—Harold, the eldest, and Arthur, who was younger than Donald. Shared grief led Richard and Donald to hover over Edward, so much younger than they, and to worry about his health.

"One September," said the late Hannah Nixon, their mother, "on the day that Richard was to leave our home in Whittier, Calif., to return to Duke for the fall semester, his dad, rarin' to go and hating to be late, kept calling Richard for breakfast. But Richard didn't answer. When I looked for him, I found him hovering over Ed's bed. Ed was still asleep."

When Edward was in high school, Richard encouraged him to make extra money by selling rides in his car. "It isn't fair to Dad if you don't," Richard said. And, when Richard left for the Navy, he counseled, "Now, Ed, you take good care of your mother."

Just before his nomination, we were in the study of the Nixon's New York apartment. Richard Nixon pointed with pride to the hi-fi set which Edward, whom he says has the best mind in the family, had built for him. In that apartment, still caught up in their family grief, Richard and Edward could not remain dry-eyed as they talked tenderly of Harold.

Today each brother struggles in his own way to be his own man, while accepting the fact that being the President's brother makes their lives both better and worse.

"After all," says Donald Nixon, "each individual has his own life. I'm very proud of my brother, but I try to live my own life, keep my own business, and my endeavors separate and apart from that of the President."

Donald comments, "Whether correctly or not, being closely related to the President requires one to do whatever has to be done so that it will not be interpreted incorrectly. We have our own interests and problems, but to a lesser extent we, too, live in a fish bowl. One must be circumspect, but it is my philosophy to be so anyway."

Donald tries. Acting as a special assistant to the candidate during his brother's Presidential campaign in 1968, he had among his duties the task of making arrangements to get some 203 Nixon and Ryan (Ryan is Pat Nixon's maiden name) relatives to Washington for the Inauguration. The night of the Inauguration, before the Inaugural Ball began, he acted as host to a selected group of these relatives and friends. But once the event faded into history, he returned to his one-story home in Newport Beach, Calif., with no desire to become part of his brother's Administration.

Donald is an assistant to J. Willard Marriott, Jr., of the Marriott Corporation and is a management staff consultant with the Carnation milk and ice-cream company. Before that he was a vice president of Ogden Food, in charge of in-flight food preparation. He was also management staff consultant for Jessop Steel but resigned that post when his brother became President lest he be accused of conflict of interest. At Marriott, Donald Nixon is involved in food operations and franchising.

A stocky six-footer, Donald is jovial, generous, full of quips, a great host, and always the hub of things. His home, with its four bedrooms, three-and-a-half baths, living room, dining room, back porch, yard and even an old-fashioned family room, is a lively place over which his wife Clara Jane (nee Lemke) presides graciously.

At home with Donald and Clara Jane are their two sons—25-year-old Donald, Jr., and Richard, 18. "Donny," who served in the Navy on the USS Princeton in Vietnam, attends Orange Coast College and expects to study law at Southwest University. Richard is a student at Newport Beach High School. A daughter, Lawrence Mae, lived in Placentia, Calif., where she taught school, until her marriage on June 27 to Thomas E. Anfinson, an accountant with a brokerage firm in California.

The Donald Nixons, married 28 years and brought together by their families, share a common background and way of looking at life. Devoted to old friends, proud—but openly admit they want to stay clear of the White House they never miss a meeting of their bridge club, none of whose members ever made news or walked the red carpet of fame.

But that carpet is laid out for Donald not only on a business trip abroad but at home. The fraternal connection to the White House brings many invitations to Donald and Clara to attend California political functions. It is also reflected in Donald's home, where on the wall of a long hallway are cherished such objects as Nixon Inaugural medallions and a framed invitation to the State Dinner given at the White House for Premier Eisaku Sato of Japan.

Presidential prestige also shone on Lawrene Mae's wedding in the Presbyterian Church at Newport Beach, Calif. Her uncle, the President, and her aunt, the First Lady, were present. So was her cousin Tricia. Her cousin Julie and her husband, David Eisenhower, were in Japan at that time.

The wedding became so much of a public event that one man called the bride's father, pleading for an invitation. "I won't come," the stranger promised. "I just want to keep the invitation as a collector's item!"

Edward Nixon tries to maintain his distance from the White House. During the summer, prior to his brother's election, he announced, "I have no plans for Washington. Dick has his life to lead, and I have mine." While his brother was President-elect, he told us that the Administration contemplated a post for him as White House liaison with industry, but that he hesitated about taking Gay Lynn, his wife, who is a mathematics teacher, away from her classroom. He even turned down a $30,000-a-year post with the Commerce Department as chairman of the Federal Field Commission for Development Planning in Alaska.

Although Edward told the press that he did this for "strictly personal reasons," the White House explained that the real reason was that the appointment might run afoul of the conflict-of-interest law passed in 1967. That law provides that a public official may not appoint a relative to a job that the official controls or in which he serves.

Today Edward is employed by a firm involved in oceanography projects in Seattle, Wash. Before heading mail operations during the 1968 campaign at Nixon headquarters in New York, he had been with the Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Company in Seattle as communications consultant.

He had also been employment supervisor for Bell-Comm., Inc., of Washington, D.C., recruiting and placing technical specialists who serve as consultants to the NASA office of manned space flights. He has also been an assistant professor of naval science at the University of Washington. On May 7, 1969, he was elected Republican state committee man from Snohomish County, Washington.

Recently, Edward has retreated more deeply within himself than even his introspective nature had hitherto allowed. A news story may put the spotlight on him, but he prefers privacy in his beautiful tree-shaded home, far from neighbors in a wooded area of Lynnwood, a suburb of Seattle. He skis and ice skates with Gay Lynn (nee Woods) and their two daughters, Amelle, 12, and Elizabeth, 10.

But no matter how hard a President's brother tries to be his own man, he lives in his shadow. The publicity Edward Nixon received over the incident in Puget Sound is reminiscent of the time when Sam Houston Johnson, LBJ's brother, was involved in a traffic accident in Hidalgo, Texas. Newsmen from every part of the country called the Hidalgo police for details.

It seems, moreover, that the shadow is cast long before the brother becomes President. It is almost a rule, as Doris Faber notes in her book, "Mothers of American Presidents," that the President is almost invariably the older brother and that the younger brothers were pushed into the background by mothers who felt that their first-born sons would someday be President.

Richard Nixon was not a first-born, but at the age of 20 became one, in effect, after the death of Harold.

When Arthur had died eight years earlier, that death had first stirred in Richard Nixon a determination to help make up for his parents' loss by making them very proud of him. Arthur's death quickened his already expressed need to succeed. Recalling the effect of Harold's death on her son Richard, Hannah Nixon once told us, "From that time on, it seemed that Richard was trying to be three sons, striving even harder than before to make up to his father and me for our loss. With the death of Harold, his determination to make us proud of him seemed greatly intensified. Unconsciously, too, I think that Richard may have felt a kind of guilt that Harold and Arthur were dead and that he was alive."

Hannah Nixon didn't exactly predict, in line with the Faber formula, that her son Richard would become President. She said, however, that "His father and I could see from the first that Richard was a gifted child. We wanted him to be somebody. So did everyone in our family. My mother, Richard's Grandma Milhous, thought he would be a preacher, I thought he would be a musician, for he has a natural ear for it. When he was nine, he himself announced 'I'm going to be a lawyer.'"

While Richard was studying law at Duke University, Donald was at Guilford Preparatory School. There was not enough money for both boys to stay away at school. One had to go back to Whittier to work in the market the family owned. It was Richard, destined to be "somebody," who continued with his studies and Donald, without such a destiny attached to him by the family, who went home. Donald was a graduate of Whittier High School, but except for a few night classes at the University of Southern California, that's where his education ended.

The attitude in the Johnson household was much the same. Sam Houston Johnson grew up living and working for the advancement of his brother Lyndon, which was a family goal. It was not until LBJ moved into retirement, that Sam Houston broke away.

President Nixon's brothers never even got as close to their brother as Sam Houston Johnson did to his. And their present intention is to continue to stay away. They hold him in awe, and there is pleasantness—no rift. They have made sacrifices in order that their older brother could go "all the way." Don and Ed Nixon would never find fault with Richard.

Perhaps this is the sort of family devotion, sacrifice, and loyalty it takes to make a man President of the United States. ♦

New Challenge For Auto Racing's Best Drivers

By ROBERT PEER

A little over three years ago, Indianapolis attorney David B. Lockton started to promote the idea of building an auto race track in southern California that would rival the best—including the Indianapolis Speedway.

This up-coming Labor Day weekend, the 33-year-old Lockton's $25 million dream will come true when more than 30 of the world's best-known drivers rev up their motors and inaugurate the Ontario Motor Speedway. Located about 40 miles east of Los Angeles, on 700 acres of one-time vineyards, the new two-and-a-half-mile, high-speed oval track is, Lockton admits, patterned after its Indianapolis counterpart. But, Lockton adds, it is not a mere copy. "We've tried to build the most modern facility possible."

There are three major tracks in the Ontario complex. The quarter-mile strip for drag racing runs parallel to the oval and a three-and-a-fifth-mile course—which shares the main straightaway of the oval—winds through the infields and around lakes to provide a Grand Prix-type roadway.

The entire track can be seen from every seat. The grandstands can seat some 85,000 fans, and portable stands can accommodate an additional 55,000. Infield spectators could swell the attendance to a projected 200,000.

Plans are now being completed for the track to be used on a year-round basis. Just as the up-coming big California 500-mile championship race on Sept. 6 will be an annual Labor Day event, other yearly meets are scheduled, including the "Supernationals," sanctioned by the National Hot Rod Association, and the 500-mile stock car Grand National for late-model American sedans.

The accent of the new speedway is in elegance and glamour as indicated by the composition of the Board of Directors, whose membership includes such long-time racing enthusiasts as actor Kirk Douglas and tv's Dick Smothers. The Victory Circle Club will have a projected 5,200 members who, for $250 yearly, will get season tickets, parking space, use of the club restaurant and lounge in the five-story main building.

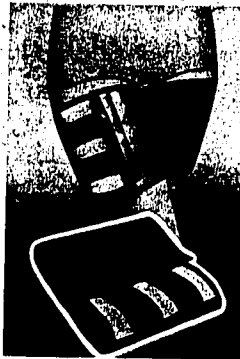

And for the really royal treatment, there are executive suites overlooking the track, which rent for $30,000 a year. Such suites can accommodate up to 60 people, and tenants have to do their own decorating.

But of course, a principal requirement of the new speedway is to please the world's finest race drivers. Mark Donohue, multiple winner of national road-racing championships in sports cars and sedans and 1969 Indianapolis "Rookie of the year," has said, "Ontario Motor Speedway stands out as one of the biggest things to happen to modern racing in many years." Mario Andretti, 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner, commented, "The Ontario Motor Speedway is the start of a new era in the sport of auto racing." If these champs are right, David Lockton will have achieved the goal he set for himself. ♦

THE NEEDLEWORK EXCITEMENT

MUSEUM SAMPLER

Copied from one in the Peter Cooper Museum Collection in New York City. It dates back to the days when young girls demonstrated their skill as needlewomen by counting threads on a piece of linen using a printed graph as a guide for the design. Now you can get similar results with none of this exacting effort, for our design is stamped on beige 100 percent linen, size 20 by 25 3/4 inches. Kit includes embroidery thread and easy-to-follow instructions with color guides. Kit 61004, price $3.00. The soft brown wood frame with a narrow gold inner lip is also available, Frame kit 61005, priced at $7.98.

THE LITTLE SANDPIPERS

Are you a beachcomber? Make it known with this art form that you "paint" with a needle. This fast method makes it easy for a beginner with kit that includes all necessary materials, a stitch chart, color guide, easy-to-follow instructions. Little sandpipers, are a familiar sight on many shorelines, and these bring the fresh sea air with them. They are stamped on cotton homespun, 5 by 23 1/2 inches. Kit 61180, price $3.98. We mounted the narrow, moss-green frame on a sheet of white sprayed plywood, Frame kit 61207, price $2.98.

FOR KITCHEN OR BREAKFAST ROOM

Vegetable and Fruit Samplers that will add a bright spot and cheerful beginning to your daily chores. Both designs are stamped on creamy white 100 percent linen, size 10 1/2 by 11 1/2 inches, for cross-stitch embroidery. Kit 61087 includes both samplers (sold only as a pair), price $3.00. The pale maple finish frame has gold inner edge. Frame kit 61131, $3:00.

BIRD IN BUSH & GERANIUM

Here are two creative-stitchery kits by one of California's top designers, Diantha Floding. Her sly touch of humor and a fond rapport with nature, sing a special song to all women who love needlework. The beautiful, earthy Geranium has all the strength and nostalgia of the living plant. Size (with frame) is 19 1/2 by 14" inches. Kit number 61202, price $5.98. The handsome moss-green-and-gold frame is also available. Frame kit 61165, price $10.98. The amusing Bird in the Bush will be a delight any place you care to hang it. Size (with frame) is 17 1/4 by 20 1/4 inches. Kit 61173, price $5.98. The black-and-gold handmade frame is a perfect complement. Frame kit 61174, price $9.98.

BLUE THISTLE & ROCK GARDEN

You don't have to be a Scotsman to like thistles. The lovely seed-puffs have a dimensional quality like the real thing. The wool embroidery has been sheared so it looks and even feels like thistle-down—only this won't blow away and the thistles won't prick. Size, a magnificent 16 by 36 inches. Kit 61138, price $8.98. Frame kit 61139, price $7.98. The rock garden has a serene quality all its own. Prim little blossoms rear straight up behind the striated gray rocks. Overall size is 18 x 22 inches. Kit 61221, price $6.98. Frame kit 61222, price $7.98. Fruitwood finished frames have inner edge of gold.

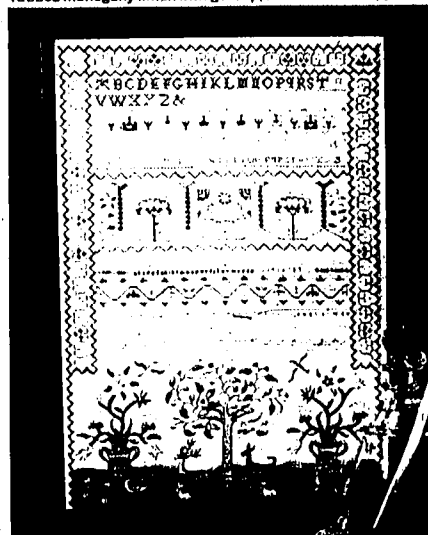

NEEDLEPOINT MINIATURES

Super-quick embroidery is for the modern needlewoman who is dexterous in achieving exciting effects with little time and effort. You can stitch a needlepoint safari in no time with our lioness and cub, elephant and its young, or go back to the farm with mother hen and her fluffy chick. Pair up the vivid floral bouquets. Each kit includes canvas, chart, wool yarn, needle and instructions. The finished miniatures all measure 5¼ inches square. Lions, Kit 61049; Elephants, Kit 61050; Chickens, Kit 61051; Tulips, Kit 61052; and Marigolds, Kit 61053, price $2.00 each. We offer two good looking frames, one unfinished molded gesso for you to paint any color you like, Kit 61055, price $2.49 each, or a walnut and gold finished frame. Frame kit 61056, price $2.49 ea. Save $1. All 5 embroideries, Kit 61054, $9.00 set.

ALPHABET SAMPLER

Another from Whitman collection. Blue and green on a soft beige 100 percent linen background, 18 by 23 in. Most is cross-stitch with outline, satin stitch and French knots to define flowers and figures. Solid strip at base is applique with embroidered accents. Kit 61088, $3.00. Frame is hand rubbed mahogany finish with gold lip. Frame kit 61089, $7.98.

CHASE SAMPLER

A real treasure from Williamsburg's distinctive needlework collection, one of the most beautiful samplers we have ever offered. Its intricacy requires more time for embroidery than the others shown. Stamped on white 100 percent linen, size 16¼ by 24½ inches. Frame available and is hand-finished dull black wood. Chase Sampler Kit 61008, price $6.98. Frame Kit 61009, price $10.00.

An Outdoor Dinner

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ During the Labor Day weekend, gather together the family or close friends for an intimate alfresco dinner party. For a sure-to-please menu, serve chicken with baked potato, a salad, and a honeydew pie for an extra flair.

Vegetable-Stuffed Chicken

- 6 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, rinsed and boned
- Vegetable Stuffing (see recipe)
- Butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon paprika

1. Place each boned breast, skin-side-down, onto a square of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Spoon about 2½ tablespoons stuffing onto center of each breast; overlap sides of chicken, covering stuffing. Turn overlapped-side-down on the foil.

2. Brush chicken with butter or margarine and sprinkle with a blend of the salt, pepper, and paprika. For each packet, bring two opposite edges of foil together over chicken and wrap securely, using a drugstore fold; turn up ends and fold to seal.

3. Set packets on a hot grill; cook 35 to 45 min., or until chicken is tender, turning packets over twice during cooking.

4. Transfer chicken from foil to individual plates.

Vegetable Stuffing

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup diced celery
- ¼ cup diced carrot
- ¼ cup diced green pepper
- 4 green onions, thinly sliced
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon Accent
- 3 tablespoons snipped parsley
- ½ teaspoon chervil leaves, crushed
- ½ teaspoon marjoram leaves, crushed

1. Heat butter or margarine in a small skillet. Add celery, carrot, green pepper, and green onion. Sprinkle with the salt and Accent. Cook over low heat 2 to 3 min., stirring occasionally.

2. Remove from heat and mix in the parsley and herbs. About 1 cup stuffing

Double Lime Cooler

In a large pitcher or bowl, combine and prepare 1 env. lemon-lime-flavored instant soft drink mix and 1 env. lemonade-flavored instant soft drink mix following package directions. Quarter and juice 3 or 4 limes. Add the juice and the juiced lime quarters to the cooler. Chill thoroughly. Stir before serving.

About 4 qts. cooler

This tempting individual service for one includes a chicken breast, plump with mixed vegetable stuffing, a sour cream-capped baked potato, and a serving of crispy salad.

Honeydew Pie

- 1 baked 9-in. pastry shell (prepared from a pie crust mix)
- ½ cup cold water
- 1 env. unflavored gelatin
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups water
- 2 egg yolks, fork beaten
- 2 teaspoons finely shredded lime peel
- 3 tablespoons lime juice
- 7 drops green food coloring
- ½ cup dairy sour cream, fork beaten
- 1½ cups diced or coarsely chopped honeydew melon, chilled
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons sugar

1. Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Set aside.

2. Blend the ¾ cup sugar, flour, and salt in a heavy saucepan. Gradually add the 1½ cups water, blending until smooth. Stirring gently and constantly, bring mixture to boiling; reduce heat and cook 3 min.

3. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons hot mixture into the egg yolks. Immediately blend into mixture in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, about 3 min. Remove from heat; stir in softened gelatin until completely dissolved. Blend in lime peel and juice, food coloring, and finally the sour cream.

4. Chill until partially set, stirring occasionally. Add the diced melon (drained, if necessary) to the partially set gelatin mixture and fold together.

5. Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add the remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, continuing to beat just until stiff peaks are formed. Turn onto the gelatin mixture and gently fold together until thoroughly blended. Turn filling into pastry shell. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with whipped cream.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The construction worker opened his lunch basket, looked in and growled: "Cheese sandwiches. Always cheese sandwiches."

"For Pete's sake," exclaimed a fellow worker sitting nearby. "If you hate cheese sandwiches so much, why don't you ask your wife to make you some other kind?"

"My wife?" responded the first worker. "Who's married? I make these sandwiches myself." —A. T. Quigg

The nickel-nursing couple took their infant son to a movie. The usher warned them that unless the baby remained quiet, the management would refund their money and ask them to leave. Near the end of the feature, the husband whispered to his wife:

"What do you think of the movie?"

"Check," he agreed. "Pinch the baby."

SAUNA SHORTS

GUARANTEED TO TAKE 3 TO 6 INCHES OFF YOUR HIPS, THIGHS & WAISTLINE IN JUST ONE WEEK OR YOUR MONEY REFUNDED.

Here it is: The Brand New "Inches-off" discovery which is proving beyond doubt that you can take inches off your hips, thighs and waistline in just days—without dieting. Men and women alike are experiencing amazingly fast results with this new inches-removing method. Read what they say:

B. W.: Montreal, Canada

"I lost 6 1/2" in just 7 days with my fabulous new Sauna Shorts. Two inches from my waist, two inches from my thighs, and 2 1/2 inches from my hips! I didn't believe it was possible, but the tape measure doesn't lie!"

Mr. R. G.: Burbank, California

"I wore my Sauna Shorts one day to mow the lawn, and after I was done, I found I had lost 2 inches the very first day! No more pleated pants for me. I look great in the new styles, if I do say so myself."

Mrs. L. J. S.: Miami, Florida

"You should see me doing the housework in my floral print Sauna Shorts. I've had such great results, it almost makes cleaning house worthwhile. Three inches gone in a week—three more to go!"

J. L.: Paris, Texas

"I'm down to a size 9 pants from a size 11 and I owe it all to Sauna Shorts. All my clothes look much better on me now, and I feel great. I just wear my Sauna Shorts every two weeks or so now to keep in good shape (Literally!). Thanks for developing such an easy way to slim down."

HOW DO SAUNA SHORTS WORK?

These incredible new Sauna Shorts are made of a veritable "bee hive" of air pockets that combine the benefits of your own personal Swedish Sauna with an amazingly simple exercise plan—all designed to work away your unwanted inches. Just slip into your Sauna Shorts as you would any shorts, and inflate them with the convenient, detachable air pump we provide you with (at no extra charge). Immediately, you'll feel a gentle massaging action, a comforting warmth and unique support. You'll feel these hundreds of tiny air pockets—each with its own individual pressure point—snuggling up to you, tighter and tighter. When you feel the resistance is appropriate put aside the air pump and feel the comforting sauna-like warmth and support these tiny air pockets bring. How can something that's working off inches feel so good? It's almost cheating!

We'll also send along instructions for three simple exercises you will perform in order to pinpoint inches-removal from your hips, thighs or waist—or all three at once. The exercises take just a few minutes. Then, you'll keep your Sauna Shorts on while you relax or go about your regular routine. They're not heavy like many so-called reducing devices. Sauna Shorts work on the principle of creating resistance to natural movement—somewhat like isometric exercises—except that you don't have to do the work! Sauna Shorts are designed to make your every movement (even breathing) an exercise for dissolving inches. After you remove your Sauna Shorts, you'll feel slimmer, firmer—even after just one wearing. Many people report a loss of inches the very first day!

WEAR YOUR SAUNA SHORTS FOR 1 WEEK!

Provided you actually have excess inches which you can afford to lose, we recommend your wearing Sauna Shorts for about half an hour or so every day. Many persons have lost as much as 4 inches from just one session with the Sauna Shorts. And you may use your Sauna Shorts with the single exercise plan on a regular basis. You'll be able to maintain a firm, trim and youthful figure. The results obtained, this first week, will differ among individuals depending upon physical factors. But from the amazingly effective results users are now experiencing, we're prepared to make you this outstanding money-back guarantee: Wear your Sauna Shorts for 1 week. If you are not completely satisfied and/or if you have not lost from 3 to 6 inches, you may return them for a 100% prompt refund.

TWO DIFFERENT TYPES TO CHOOSE FROM... BOTH INCREDIBLE BARGAINS!

Choose the regular Sauna Shorts for reducing hips and thighs—just $9.95. For hips, thighs and waistline reduction, select the long-line Sauna Shorts... only $14.95. And remember, these Sauna Shorts are not sold in any store. They are not available elsewhere—at any price! They are available exclusively from SAUNA SHORTS, INC. in an attractive floral print pattern for ladies and in handsome navy blue for men.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

So thoroughly convinced are we that you will consider Sauna Shorts the most convenient, rapid and amazingly effective reducer for the hips, thighs (and waistline), we are offering you this unconditional money back guarantee:

Man or woman, if your total inches-loss does not equal or exceed 3 to 6 inches in just one week, you may return your Sauna Shorts for a prompt, total refund—no questions asked. So, if you want a slimmer, trimmer, more youthfully sleek look now, order your amazing new Sauna Shorts today! You have nothing to lose but inches! There is nothing like Sauna Shorts anywhere!

Honesty Hasn't Hurt Jacqueline Bisset

This slim and shapely young acting star tells—and lives—it as she sees it

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

Jacqueline Bisset got her first acting experience in an English boarding school where she always wanted to play boys' parts. But invariably she ended up playing "sickeningly sweet angels."

The tall, well-proportioned blue-green-eyed, 26-year-old actress got her first big break in show business right after attending a dinner party at Claridge's in London. Among the guests were Darryl Zanuck, head of 20th Century-Fox, and Italian producer Dino de Laurentiis. When Zanuck was told that de Laurentiis was about to use Jacqueline for a picture, he looked her over approvingly, then said to one of his executives, "Sign her!"

By then, Jacqueline had played only a small part in one film. She made her first noticeable appearances in "Casino Royale" and as the girl who was thwarted from running off with Albert Finney in "Two for the Road." When Mia Farrow walked away from Frank Sinatra as well as the lead opposite him in "The Detective," they gave Jacqueline the leading role.

Since then she has starred in "For the First Time," "The White Ladder," "Bullitt," "Airport," and "Grasshopper," opposite some of Hollywood's biggest names, including Steve McQueen, Dean Martin, and Burt Lancaster. She is now filming "The Mephisto Waltz."

And for someone who has gone so far so quickly, Jacqueline Bisset has one distinctive, unactresslike quality: she's embarrassingly frank and honest. This honesty is apparent in all of her answers, her manner of living, her whole attitude toward life.

In her first Hollywood film, "The Sweet Ride"—her costar was Michael Sarrazin, with whom she has lived the past couple of years. Asked if they are going to get married, Jacqueline insisted, "Everybody seems concerned with whether or not I am getting married except me. If you love someone, it is only honest to spend as much time with him as possible. Why should I care what people say? I am not looking for kicks. Only for happiness—and, to me, happiness doesn't mean getting up at six in the morning to drive home.

"As far as I am concerned, you have to love a man more than your career to want to marry him. I love Michael and have loved him since I first met him but not enough to marry him."

In spite of her very "now" attitude, Jacqueline was raised in a traditional English manner, attended private schools, which emphasized being a lady.

Looking back, Jacqueline insists the discipline, both at home and at school, was the best thing that could have happened to her. "It helped me get over being too sensitive. Also, there is nothing more important than discipline for an actress."

That Jacqueline got over being sensitive was evident by her indifference to criticism about being 20 pounds overweight when she started to model in London. A friend, photographer Terry Donovan, once described her as "being feminine, sensual, and refreshing—but a bit meaty."

It was Michael who finally made her lose weight by pointing out that to be successful in her career, she simply had to slim down. How effective he was is evident not only by her 118 pound, nicely shaped five-foot-six-and-a-half-inch figure but by the way she works on staying slender.

At the present time, home is a "shack" she shares with Michael on Malibu Beach. "Nobody really believes it is so tiny," she explained. "When an actress says she lives in a shack, everybody takes for granted she has a five-bedroom mansion. I don't. I don't like possessions."

What about her future plans?

"I don't have any. I owe the studio a film a year, for another five years, I think. Beyond that I have no commitments, and I don't want to have any, no matter how much money I'm offered. I'd like to concentrate on one thing at a time and when I'm through with it, there's time enough to think of something else." ♦

Jacqueline Bisset and Michael Sarrazin share a little "shack" at Malibu Beach, Calif., and don't care who knows.

Brightly lighted street in Charleston, W. Va., is result of citizen campaign.

Do you feel completely safe walking at night in your neighborhood? Would you worry about walking home alone after a movie, a party, or PTA meeting? Would you let your children go to the store alone for you after dark?

If the answer to any of these questions is "no," it's time you did something about it.

Large cities are not the only centers of crime today. Violence is on the rise in small cities, suburbs, and towns. Recent FBI statistics show the highest increases in crime in the past year—15 percent—were in cities of 10,000 to 25,000 people. Cities of 25,000 to 50,000 had a 14 percent increase for all crimes last year and a 23 percent gain in robberies, whereas in cities of 250,000 to 500,000 robberies increased only five percent.

Statistics further show that 75 percent of all crimes take place at night, and two-thirds of these happen in badly lighted areas. Are your community's streets adequately lighted?

They probably aren't. Only two percent of the residential streets in the U.S. meet the accepted standards, according to the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau. This means that there are less than 100 out of 18,000 incorporated cities and towns with residential streets lighted to a minimum level of 0.2 footcandle average.

Concerned citizens' groups in many of

Better Street Lighting

These minimum standards were set up by the Illuminating Engineering Society and approved by the American Standards Association to indicate a level of convenience and safety for pedestrians and drivers as well as protection against prowlers and other law breakers.

Even main city thoroughfares, which depend on light for evening entertainment, shopping, and heavier traffic, are inadequately lighted in more than 85 percent of our cities and towns, according to the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau.

"Light works against the criminal in a number of ways, significantly reducing his advantages," says New York Congressman James H. Scheuer, who introduced legislation that established the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice. "It makes detection by the intended victim and by possible witnesses much more likely and dramatically increases the odds of positive identification later on."

Representative Scheuer, author of "To Walk Streets Safely," also says light is the most "cost-effective" means available for preventing crime. "Clearly it is more efficient to prevent crimes than to rush about trying to set matters right after the damage has been committed." He also says that response time is critical. "In the first 60 seconds, the odds of capturing the criminal drop from 100 to our cities are proving that

By BARBARA P. JOHNSON

60 percent. In just six minutes, it becomes totally unlikely that the crime will ever be solved." Last year 80 percent of all FBI Crime Index offenses went unsolved.

How can you determine if your community is adequately lighted?

● When you look down the street, does light fall uniformly, or are there puddles of darkness between fixtures? The fixture should reflect light directly onto the street in a cone shape, extending up and down the roadway. It should not be concentrated around the pole.

● Are new areas of town being developed but accompanying street lighting not keeping pace? In residential areas, light fixtures should be no more than 150 feet apart and at least 20 to 30 feet above the roadway.

● Are school playgrounds, city parking lots, areas adjacent to movie theatres or other places of nighttime activity brightly lighted? If not, they certainly should be.

● Has your city modernized its lighting since World War II? Street lights put up 20 to 30 years ago can be using as much electricity, giving one-tenth the light as modern ones.

If your community's streets are not adequately lighted, what can you do about it?

Citizens' Action Groups across the country are at work appealing for support, surveying and mapping existing lighting, talking to city council members, proposing lighting projects, and getting results: reduction in crime and traffic deaths.

Consider Washington, D.C., where a block of families on Wyoming Street banded together after a man had been killed in front of their homes. They all contributed and had area lights installed so that the street is brightly lit at night.

To achieve results, here are some guidelines to follow: Introduce complaints on badly lighted areas to one of the civic-minded groups in your community—PTA, church group, women's club, Rotary, or Chamber of Commerce, for example. Interesting others in finding ways to combat crime, precipitates organized action.

Research your city's lighting system. When were the majority of lights installed and last updated? Are there any areas—especially residential—without lights? Is there a particular high-crime area? Pinpoint badly lit areas.

Survey your townpeople. Do they feel safe shopping at night and letting their children walk home when it's dark?

Work with the community's merchants. If downtown lighting isn't adequate, most merchants will be more than happy to lend support. Light means more people on the streets shopping and a deterrent to would-be burglars.

Contact the local press for support, visit with your local utility company and work with your police department to secure facts on high-crime areas in your community.

Find ways to allocate funds. In Durham, N.C., the money for new lights that were installed this summer came from a Federal grant of $5,400, administered by the state. The city and county are paying $3,000. This is one of a number of anti-crime projects administered by the Law and Justice, Committee to study the relationship between crime and street lighting.

In other cities, the expense sometimes has been felt more directly by the people and local government.

But the solution isn't always new street lights. Sometimes increased wattage in existing fixtures can be effective, as can better maintenance of all street lights.

As Milton G. Rector, director of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, says: "One of the great deterrents to crime in the street is the better use of the streets themselves. This means people freely and comfortably strolling at night looking into shop windows, going to movies, or visiting friends without fear of attack. How do we get people to use the streets? One way is to improve street lighting." ♦

NEW YORK DOCTOR DISCOVERS A DRAMATIC NEW BREAKTHROUGH TO CURE OVERWEIGHT. 10,000 PATIENTS LOSE POUNDS AND INCHES QUICKLY AND SAFELY WITH NEVER BEING HUNGRY.

'I lost 85 lbs. of ugly fat in only 2 short months!'

YES, THIS IS MY ASTONISHING STORY OF HOW I LOST 85 POUNDS OF EXTRA WEIGHT IN ONLY 60 DAYS ... NO DIETS ... NO CALORIC COUNTING ... NEVER HUNGRY AND COMPLETELY SAFE.

In the summer of 1967 I noticed a report written by a New York Doctor who was specializing in Internal Medicine. The doctor wrote that he had helped 10,000 overweight men and women to lose all the weight they desired. These people included Doctors, Nurses, Dieticians, Life Insurance Experts, Actors, Models, and others who had never been able to reduce successfully No Matter How Hard They Tried. Yes, these people were permitted as many meals as they wanted — No calories to count. They ate as much or more than ever ... Were never hungry AND TO EVERYONE'S AMAZEMENT SAW POUNDS MELT AWAY WITH UNBELIEVABLE SPEED IN THE FIRST 3 DAYS OF FOLLOWING THIS METHOD. Some people actually LOST 25 POUNDS THE FIRST WEEK. After carefully examining the medical report, I decided to give this Doctor's Method a try.

I STARTED TO FOLLOW THIS DOCTOR'S SENSATIONAL PLAN AND TO MY UTTER AMAZEMENT I LOST MORE WEIGHT IN THE FIRST 3 DAYS THAN IF I HADN'T EATEN ANYTHING AT ALL. After seeing such amazing results in ONLY 3 DAYS I continued on — NEVER HUNGRY EVEN ONCE — to lose a total of 85 pounds in only 2 SHORT MONTHS. Never once did I suffer any ill effects from this quick and dramatic Weight Loss. I had tried many times before to starve myself to lose weight but with this method — with no calories to count and with the big weight loss the very first week gave me the confidence I needed to continue on. Now I can Lose Weight as quickly as I desire and so can you. YES! The more I ate to satisfy my body the more weight I would lose. Now even though I love to eat! I have no problem in keeping my weight down to what I should be. I urge every overweight man or woman to start my method immediately for these extra pounds and inches are impairing your appearance, your health AND endangering and shortening your life span. OBESITY IS THE NUMBER 1 HEALTH HAZARD IN AMERICA TODAY! YES, THOSE EXTRA POUNDS WILL KILL YOU ... SLOWER FOR SOME ... QUICKER FOR OTHERS.

HOW EASY WITH YOU ARE FULL AND LOSE POUNDS AFTER POUNDS!

The pounds actually melt away before your eyes with dramatic weight loss in only 3 days. You'll feel healthier, look better and get back that vitality that you once had.

I ATE AND ATE THESE EXTRA POUNDS AWAY AND THE MORE FOOD I ATE I NEEDED TO SATISFY ME, THE MORE WEIGHT I WOULD LOSE!

Could this be possible? Well, it certainly was for me and hundreds of thousands of other men and women like myself who starved and deprived themselves of the food and nourishment they needed. Now with this New Method it is possible for you to maintain your proper weight without depriving yourself of good healthful filling meals. AND BEST OF ALL DON'T COUNT CALORIES! I can't tell you what a blessing this method was to me and what this amazing method I used can do for you.
