POLICE in Gilroy, Calif., are asking the help of the public in an effort to identify these young girls who were apparently abandoned on the steps of St. Mary's Convent in Gilroy in February by their "Daddy". They have identified themselves as Lisa, left, about two years old, and Lee, about three. The girls said their "Daddy" let them out of their car to play near the convent while he went "to get hot dogs and soda pop." He never returned. (UPI)

T.F. Merchants Ponder Buried Utility Cables

TWIN FALLS — Should power and telephone lines through the six-block downtown redevelopment district be placed underground?

This was the question put to downtown merchants Thursday afternoon by the Downtown Improvement Committee in the weekly businessmen's meeting. The merchants were told they should decide whether they want utility lines buried, below ground or kept out in the open. Earl Haroldsen, district manager of Idaho Power Co., and Kenneth Mann of Mountain

Bell outlined their respective cost estimates, and each said his firm would assume part of the cost as a civic obligation. They did not say just how much they could assume, pending final cost figures. Total cost will exceed $100,000.

Curtis Eaton of the improvement committee said preliminary cost estimates were tentative.

The decision on placement of the utility lines must be made as a part of the proposed improvement of parking lots and paving of alleys, scheduled for next summer as one of the final phases of the downtown project, Eaton said.

The improvement district would pay for placing the lines in alleys, but the individual business firms must assume costs of running the lines from their property lines inside.

The majority will rule in deciding whether to bury the utility lines, Eaton told the businessmen. If the lines remain above ground, they can be redesigned somewhat to conform to a more modern appearance.

WIRES such as these would be out of sight if the downtown Twin Falls merchants decide to assume the cost of burying the overhead utilities.

Tougher Threats, a Visit And 400 Russian Missiles

By United Press International
Israeli Premier Golda Meir is moving up an already-planned visit to the United States so she can have consultations with President Nixon on the Middle East situation, diplomatic sources said in Jerusalem today.

The report came as Israel made it clear it is ready to take military action against Egypt if the United States does not force withdrawal of Soviet-made missiles installed in the Suez Canal cease-fire zone. The sources said Mrs. Meir who had planned to attend the 25th anniversary celebrations of the United Nations in New York in October, would leave for the United States in about 10 days.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said following an important cabinet meeting "movement of missiles was tantamount to firing, and the Egyptians were thus violating both the cease-fire and the military standstill agreement. Israel must be a party to agreements only on a reciprocal basis."

In London, the Institute for Strategic Studies reported today the Soviet Union is deploying upwards of 400 SAM3 ground-to-air missiles in 45 sites in Egypt. The institute, an international defense study center, said Moscow also has promised Egypt 150 more MIG21 jet fighters.

Nixon administration officials in Washington expressed the hope that now that the United States has publicly supported Israeli charges of Soviet-Egyptian violations of the cease-fire, Israel would send its representatives back to New York to continue the peace talks. However, Israel officials both in Washington and Jerusalem insist the U.S. protest alone is not enough and the missiles must be pulled out before the discussions can continue.

The United States appeared unwilling to try to force Egypt and its Soviet allies to retreat on the issue.

Thus it appeared the Israeli negotiator, U.N. Ambassador Yosef Tekori, would remain in Jerusalem. In New York, the Egyptian delegate to the talks, U.N. Ambassador Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat, conferred with U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring and with Charles W. Yost, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Asked about the charges of Egypt's cease-fire violations, he said "I do not deal with war, I deal with peace, and I was trying to pursue my mission for a peaceful settlement."

Mayor Wants Highway Board Reorganization

TWIN FALLS — Mayor Frank Feldtman said Thursday he plans to reopen the issue of a five-man Idaho Department of Highways Board in an attempt to increase construction in the Twin Falls area.

Efforts were made several years ago, under the leadership of Twin Falls area residents, to increase the three-man state-wide decision-making board to five members to give representation to the Lewiston and Twin Falls or south-central Idaho areas.

Mayor Feldtman said a look at current highway construction maps which are published by the department of highways will show most of the construction is being done elsewhere. He said he feels this is the result of lack of representation from this part of the state.

For example, he said, Twin Falls has been unable to get any definite commitment from the board on a new bridge over Snake River to replace the Perrine structure. Although requests have been made several times for a second hearing on Improvement of Addison Avenue and the North Five-Points intersection the highway board has not scheduled one but instead has indicated studies and surveys are being undertaken again.

Mayor Feldtman said he plans to attend a meeting of the Association of Idaho Cities within the next few weeks and will discuss efforts to increase the highway board with other city delegates including those of Lewiston.

He said he has no criticism of individual members on the board but feels they are more inclined to listen to the problems of their own areas and to be more cognizant of these problems than those in Twin Falls and Magic Valley where there is no representation at their regular board meetings.

Finch Declined Agnew's Job

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Robert H. Finch said today he balked at being vice presidential candidate in 1968 with President Nixon and would also reject any such offer in 1972 because he has no desire to move on to the next step, the presidency.

Finch, a presidential counselor, said it was inevitable for a person, once he decided to seek the vice presidency, to look ahead to the time he could gain the presidential nomination of his party.

"It sounds trite or presumptuous but I literally have no desire to be president," Finch said.

The former HEW secretary said that the vice presidency was discussed with him in 1968 before Spiro T. Agnew was chosen by Nixon, and that he withdrew himself from consideration. He said he would do the same if the occasion arose again in 1972.

Finch was interviewed by CBS-TV at poolside of his hotel near the western White House. Finch said he is considering running for senator or governor in his adopted state of California in 1974.

Viets Besiege Village Again

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Viet Cong forces counterattacked in waves Thursday night in a series of assaults south of Phnom Penh near a key town recaptured a few hours earlier by Cambodian troops, military spokesmen said today.

Communiques from Saigon said fighting in Vietnam was light and order had been restored in the capital where angry disabled South Vietnamese veterans battled U.S. troops and police for nearly 24 hours.

Cambodian spokesmen said the Viet Cong launched three waves of assaults against Cambodian defenders of the devastated town of Saang, 20 miles south of Phnom Penh and brought up 82mm mortars and 73mm recoilless rifles in the attack against Tram Khmar, less than two miles from Srang, recaptured by Cambodian forces Thursday. Srang is 28 miles south of the capital.

Cambodian spokesmen said 20 Communist troops were found dead on the edge of the Cambodian positions at Srang. Two Cambodian soldiers were killed along with one civilian and a Buddhist monk.

The Cambodians called in air strikes against the Communists attacking at Tram Khmar but in-keeping with government policy, the nationality of the aircraft was withheld.

Chileans May Pick Marxist

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Chileans today voted in a three-way presidential contest that could produce the world's first popularly elected Marxist chief of state. Salvador Allende, 62, a mustachioed physician and friend of Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro, stands a good chance of winning the vote. Allende, an extreme left Socialist in his fourth bid for the top office, heads the popular unity coalition of far-left parties.

He is opposed by conservative independent Jorge Alessandri, 74, and Radomiro Tomic, 66, of incumbent President Eduardo Frei's Christian Democratic party.

T.F. Man Seized For Safeway Heist

TWIN FALLS — Terry R. Hartley, 23, of Twin Falls, was arrested by Twin Falls police Thursday on a charge of robbery in connection with the holdup of the Lynwood Safeway store two weeks ago.

Hartley was arraigned on the charge this morning in police court. He was ordered held under $3,000 bond when arrested Thursday, but provided the bond and was released, according to Detective Capt. Tim Qualls.

Hartley's arrest followed an intensive investigation into the robbery, Qualls said. One other man is being sought in connection with the holdup.

The Safeway store was held up just after closing hours on Aug. 21 by two men, at least one brandishing a weapon. The men threatened employees and ordered the safe opened, but were told the manager, who was not present at the time, was the only one with the combination. The two men took an undisclosed amount of cash and left, after kicking an employee, Fred McKenzie, in the face and side as he lay on the floor with the other employees.

Drunk Ruling Appealed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Prosecutor Robert Galley filed notice of appeal Thursday with the Idaho Supreme Court, seeking a writ of mandate ordering imposition of a jail sentence in a drunken-driving conviction.

The appeal is the latest move in the test case initiated by Probate Judge Eugene McCoy who has refused to implement a state law requiring imposition of a 10-day jail sentence for a drunken-driving conviction. McCoy declined to impose the jail sentence, saying that the legislature was incorrect in ordering a specific jail sentence for any court case. This should be the privilege of the judge and not the legislature, McCoy said. Galley, acting on behalf of the state, filed a petition for a writ of mandate with Fifth District Court. After a hearing, Judge Theron Ward ruled in favor of McCoy and denied the writ.

Child's Death Probed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Prosecutor Robert Galley ordered an autopsy performed Thursday in the death of a Twin Falls infant, Shawn Stone, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lewellyn, Twin Falls, who died Wednesday at a Boise hospital.

The child was taken to the Boise hospital last Sunday by Lewellyn for treatment of undetermined injuries. The infant was unconscious when admitted, Galley said. The prosecutor told the Times-News today that he ordered the autopsy because officials have cause to believe the infant's condition developed in Twin Falls.

Galley said an inquest will be held if the autopsy findings warrant.

The autopsy was performed at the Boise hospital. The results will be released by the Boise pathologist within a few days and further disposition of the matter will be determined at that time, Galley said.

Draft Boards Copy Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Selective Service, in an effort to stop the out-break of attacks on draft files across the country, has revealed that every state now has duplicate records on each registrant.

As a result, the agency said Thursday, vandalism and other attacks on draft files will do nothing to slow down the process of induction. A spokesman said the only result of such attacks is to make it more difficult for local boards to help registrants with their problems.

The Selective Service said the state-by-state duplicates are held in "duplicate central locators" in each state draft office.

A spokesman said there have been 271 attacks of various types on draft boards across the country so far this year. The purpose of announcing the existence of the duplicate files, he said, is to "forcefully convey the message" that destruction of local files will not slow up inductions.

The agency also said each state headquarters has copies of the minutes of all local board meetings to show what actions have been taken on classifications of registrants.

And at least one state—Illinois—has taken the added precaution of storing all the duplicate files in places away from the main office.

The Selective Service said it has also formed groups of reserve military officers called "reconstruct teams" which are dispatched to state and local draft offices hit by attacks. These teams are thoroughly familiar with draft record-keeping and are able to restore files to their original condition while the regular routine of the draft offices continues undisturbed.

Such teams, the agency said, put the state draft headquarters in Delaware back into shape less than 30 days after a particularly destructive attack there.

Landslide Crushes Manilans

MANILA (UPI) — A landslide caused by a torrential down-pour crushed a family of six to death today and brought to 49 the death toll from five days of prodigious rains. President Ferdinand E. Marcos said the worst was over in Manila.

Another 7.7 inches of rain fell in the Manila area in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, bringing to 32 inches the total since Monday.

Marcos said the state of emergency had passed but he extended for another week the "state of calamity" he proclaimed Wednesday.

"I hereby decree that the relief and rescue operations center be shifted into a resettlement and rehabilitation center to take care of flood victims," he said.

The rains were spawned by two tropical storms that passed to the northeast of the Philippines, major northern island of Luzon and by the seasonal monsoon.

Police Seek Bombers

LITTLE FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — State police put out an alert early today for upstate police barracks for two youths believed wanted by the FBI in connection with the fatal bombing Aug. 24 at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Police here picked up two men believed to be Dwight Armstrong, 19, and David S. Fine, 18, Thursday night for having a faulty muffler on their car.

"They brought him (the driver) in and checked the car. It was not reported stolen, they had nothing on them and released them," a police spokesman said.

Police said the driver was named Armstrong and a check later with state police indicated the two were Armstrong and Fine. They had been released from the village police station about four hours before it was learned they might be the wanted men. Their car was headed west when last seen, police said.

The FBI had no comment but state police at Oneida said an alert for the men was issued to all upstate police barracks. Upstate residents said the pair would have had ample time to cross into Canada at one of several points.

A nationwide search also continued for Armstrong's brother, Karleton Lewis, 22, and Leo Frederick Burt, 22. All four were named in federal warrants Wednesday with sabotage, destruction of government property and conspiracy in connection with the University of Wisconsin bombing that killed one person.

Sheriff Ralph Hearn of Sauk County, Wis., said he would seek a warrant charging Karleton Armstrong with the attempted bombing of a substation near Prairie Du Sac.

In Washington, the Justice Department urged Wisconsin officials to file murder charges against the four in order to alleviate any extradition problems.

T.F. Son Edits 'Look'

TWIN FALLS — David R. Maxey, son of Mrs. Robert Reese Twin Falls, has been appointed managing editor of Look Magazine.

The 34-year-old native Idahoan is a 1938 graduate of the University of Idaho and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1961.

He began his career with Look in 1961 as an editorial researcher. He was named assistant editor in 1964, senior editor in 1966, administrative editor and assistant managing editor in 1967. He became Washington editor in 1969.

He is married to the former Julie Guenther, whose father, Jaek Guenther, was Look's managing editor from 1945 to 1947 before he was killed in a Utah plane crash.

He succeeded in the post of Washington editor by Christopher S. Wren, a senior editor, also 34. Wren was the first American journalist to uncover the extent of the torture and reprisals inflicted on Greek citizens by the military junta — a report that won him an Overseas Press Club Award for best magazine reporting from abroad in 1969.

Meany Sees 'No Cheer' For Pressed Laborers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average American worker won't have much to cheer about this Labor Day because he is in serious trouble trying to stretch his family budget to meet ever higher prices, George Meany said today.

"Workers are feeling a deep sense of frustration," said the AFL-CIO president. "Workers have been priced out of the market for a very long time, through no fault of their own."

"Labor Day 1970 is a time of great uncertainty and anxiety for many Americans, as much for American workers as for anyone else," said Meany, who will join a group of other labor leaders and their wives at a dinner with President Nixon at the White House Labor Day evening.

The affair, the first of its kind held by any president on Labor Day, was another effort in a continuing program by Nixon to maintain cordial personal relations with Meany and other labor leaders at a time when they continue to attack his economic and other domestic policies.

Meany, as usual, was blunt in his Labor Day assessment of the plight of the American worker in the 20th month of Nixon's term. Here are some excerpts from his message:

"Production is falling. Jobs are vanishing. Soaring prices are pushing the cost of living to record heights. The workers' buying power is dropping steadily.

"The combination of recession and inflation at the same time is rare but it is no accident. It results from ill-conceived administration prescriptions. The administration prescribed stringent medicine to cure inflation, but applied its cure unequally."

Wagoneers Complete Epic Trek to Burley

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Correspondent
BURLEY — Three pairs of boots, seven sets of horseshoes and 2,500 miles after he left home in Ohio, Russell Oliver is now working for a sheep company on the desert north of Paul.

A Marine veteran, Oliver, 29, and his wife, Charlotte, 27, and their four children made the trip from Norway with a rubber-tired covered wagon drawn by a sturdy team, part Belgian and Clydesdale.

When the family decided to settle in the Burley area, Oliver found employment with Simplots and he and his family now are living on the ranch of the Bruneau Sheep Co., a division of the Simplot firm.

Weather was the family's worst enemy, according to personnel officials at Simplots, who said Oliver told them his family had experienced one hailstorm and two tornadoes.

The Olivers carried a six weeks' supply of food, their own grain for their horses and had $14 when they left Ohio. When their supplies became low during the journey, Oliver would work at odd jobs. Before undertaking the trans-continental jaunt, he had worked as truck driver, oil driller, farmer, rancher and was foreman for a sign company the past seven years.

The only furniture the family kept was three chests of drawers which kept their clothes during the journey. Oliver said he did his own maintenance work during the trip and changed shoes on his team seven times.

Water — a necessity for overnight camping — was plentiful, except in Wyoming. The family used creek water for bathing in a tub which they carried on the wagon.

Oliver wore out three pairs of boots and his children, Russell, 7; Charles, 6; Tina, 5; and Richard, 2, went through five pairs of shoes — some of which were worn out and others left by creeks.

Other mishaps, in addition to the weather, occurred when the youngest child, Richard, fell out of the wagon twice and was run over, without apparent harm, and Tina broke an arm when she fell out of a swing at a farm where they stopped in Nebraska.

Since patronizing barbershops during the journey was impossible, the family often was mistaken for hippies along the route.

Until they got to Idaho they drove on interstate routes, but when they reached the Gem state law-enforcement officers ordered them off the highway.

Legion Outreach Urged

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — New American Legion National Commander Alfred P. Chamie says legionnaires "need to reach out and involve ourselves with young people."

Chamie, 54, of Pacific Palisades, Calif., told the concluding session of the legion's national convention Thursday the legion must reach out to young people through its programs involving sportsmanship, citizenship and leadership training.

The new commander is a vice-president and general counsel of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers Inc. He defeated a fellow Californian, Jack Flynn, Vallejo, for the national commander's title.

The weeklong convention ended without the disruptions which had been forecast. Legionnaires generally ignored taunts and provocations of young antiwar protesters who staged two parades in town, and a demonstration in front of the convention hall.

In convention business, however, the legion voted for many of the things the young people had protested. The convention urged that street terrorists be dealt with severely.

Court Airs Racist 'School in School'

By United Press International
Nine Alabama parents must appear in federal court at Birmingham today on charges of trying to thwart desegregation by operating unauthorized "schools within schools."

It is believed to be the first move by the Justice Department against parents who send their children to schools outside federal court-approved school zones.

U.S. Attorney Wayman G. Sherrer said the parents took over classrooms at an elementary school and a high school in Talladega County, Ala., and taught children registered in other zones. Sherrer said there were 170 children in the elementary "school" and 125 students in the "high school."

At Red Springs, N.C., about 3,000 Lumbee Indians held a rally Thursday night and reaffirmed their defiance of the assignment of their children to desegregated public schools. About 330 of the children sat Thursday in an all-Indian school, which the Indians want to retain.

A desegregation program requiring the busing of 16,000 of 53,000 students went into effect today in Norfolk, Virginia's largest school district. Both the city and the NAACP have appealed the federal plan; the city because of the massive busing and the NAACP because it says the plan leaves too many racially identifiable schools.

Tate Murder Prints Smudged

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles "Tex" Watson and Patricia Krenwinkel left their fingerprints at Sharon Tate's house, but the killers who invaded the home of Rosemary and Leno LaBianca apparently used a rag to wipe away their traces.

A police fingerprint expert testified Thursday at the trial of Charles Manson and three female codefendants that a pearl-handled carving fork stuck in Leno LaBianca's abdomen did not have even a smudge of a fingerprint on it.

"It gave me the impression that the handle had been wiped off," said Officer Harold J. Dolan.

Dolan said he had matched a print taken from the front door of the Tate residence with a print of Watson's right ring finger. Watson, 24, was indicted for the Tate-LaBianca murders, but will be tried later because he has been fighting extradition from Texas. Dolan said a print found on a louver on the French double doors leading from the actress' bedroom to the swimming pool matched a print taken from the little finger of Miss Krenwinkel's left hand.

A total of 25 fingerprints were found in the Los Feliz district home of LaBianca, a grocer. Nineteen of the prints belonged to LaBianca, his wife, or her son, Frank Struthers Jr., Dolan said. Six were unidentified.

Dolan said he had been unable to find any fingerprints at all on the surface of a refrigerator where the words "death to pigs" were written in LaBianca's blood.

Solon to Speak at Institute

POCATELLO — Featured speaker for the two day 12th annual Idaho State Tax Institute here Oct. 2 and 3 will be U.S. Congressman Barber B. Conable Jr., R-New York.

The two-day tax institute will be held at Idaho State University with William E. Davis, university president, in charge. He said the business sessions deal with tax problems involving farmers, businessmen and the general public. Rep. Conable will speak following a concluding luncheon session Oct. 3. Rep. Orval Hansen and Sen. Len Jordan, who assisted in arranging for the appearance of their fellow Republican, said he is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which is charged with the responsibility of considering legislation on taxation.

Mail Caution May Help in Wrong Way

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When two such well-meaning senators as Mike Mansfield and Barry Goldwater co-sponsor a piece of legislation, motivational purity is taken for granted.

Otherwise, in the case of a postal pornography bill they are promoting, I might have suspected them of playing footsie with the junk mail lobby.

The measure, subject of hearings by the Senate Post Office Committee this week, would provide that unrequested mail likely to be considered indecent must carry warning labels similar to those found on cigarette packages.

2 Top Stars To Attempt 'Comeback'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Two of television's top situation comedy stars — Andy Griffith and Mary Tyler Moore — will attempt successful comebacks in new series when CBS-TV kicks off its 1970-71 season the week of Sept. 14.

When Griffith quit his old show about a rural sheriff in order to try movies, his was the top-rated series on Video. Movies, however, turned out to be a good deal more uncertain because of the current state of the motion picture industry, and Griffith's success in films was less than earthshaking. So he's back on video.

In his new half-hour series, which bows in Sept. 18 with the title of "Headmaster," he portrays the principal of a small private high school in California's San Fernando Valley. His former series was set in a mythical town with a distinctly Southern flavor.

Miss Moore also left television's weekly outings while at the top. She played Dick Van Dyke's wife in the comedian's topflight series, and it was still ranked very high in the ratings when the comedian decided he also wanted to quit the regular grind. He and Miss Moore also tried movies, but neither set the world afire.

In her new half-hour series, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," which arrives Sept. 19, the actress will play an employee of a local television station newsroom in Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The best word-of-mouth from those who have seen advance showings of CBS-TV premieres has been going to a new half-hour situation comedy called "Arnie," about a blue-collar laborer suddenly promoted to the executive suite of his company.

"Arnie" also has as its star a former television headliner, Herschel Bernardi, who originally gained fame as a police officer in the "Peter Gunn" series, and scored well in the Broadway musical "Zorba." The premieres of "Arnie" is Sept. 19, and although reviews will appear around the air date, I can tell you it is very funny.

Social Events

Canton Colfax No. 13 and Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant will meet at 8 p. m. Monday at the Twin Falls Odd Fellows Temple.

As with any napped fabric, brushed cotton denim should be washed wrong side out to avoid collecting lint.

DEAR ABBY: My elderly mother has lived with me for three years. She is bedridden, completely helpless and is suffering from an incurable disease. In order to give her the care she needs, my husband and I have had to give up all vacations, most of our social life, not to mention the financial sacrifices we've made. It would be an act of mercy to give her "something" to put her out of her misery, and hasten her death.

What advice can you give me? Wouldn't it be humane to put an end to all this suffering? UNCERTAIN

DEAR UNCERTAIN: Whose? Hers or yours? Doctors can do much to make a terminal patient comfortable. But to "put her out of her misery" as one would a dog, is clearly illegal. And for good reasons.

Giving a person the "legal right" to terminate the life of another under some circumstances may be "humane." But because that right could be abused for selfish gain, society must be protected against it.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful, generous, warmhearted man. I know he loves me, and I love him. In spite of this, I have a problem. (I am wondering how many other women are classified as "frigid" for the same reason.)

I cannot touch, hug, kiss or show any affection toward my husband without him wanting to jump into bed. When he comes home after work, I have to be careful not to give him too warm of a "welcome home kiss" or I'd never get my dinner on the table. Consequently, if I keep out of his reach, he accuses me of being a "cold fish."

Abby, we are not children. My husband is in his late fifties and I am in my late forties. Believe me, he has always gotten and still gets his share of affection, but I say enough is enough. I'd like your opinion. TIRED

DEAR TIRED: I'm with you. Don't tell me "enough is enough." Tell him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and my problem is a gentleman who is a longtime friend of a relative. He keeps calling and inviting me out, and I keep putting him off. He's a nice person and has admirable qualities, and I would really like to know him better, but Abby, I am ashamed to be seen with him because of the way he dresses.

His trousers are baggy, and hang way down over his shoes. He will wear the jacket of one suit and the trousers of another. I'm sure he's neat and clean but he has no taste in clothes whatsoever.

This man has plenty of money, so I can't understand why he doesn't keep up with the times. I have hinted around, and even offered him some of my late husband's clothes as they were about the same size, but he thanked me, saying he had more clothes than he could wear. (I believe it. I'm sure he hasn't given anything away in 30 years.) Any advice? NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: If you would like to know this gentleman better, but keep putting him off because of the way he dresses, shame on you. Clothes don't really make the man... they just make the man look better. There are plenty of snappy dressers around, but a "nice person with admirable qualities" is hard to find. Accept his invitation and if you'd like to see more of him, gently educate him toward a little more stylishness.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS TO KNOW": There is no law stating a physician may not deliver his own children, but most physicians prefer not to.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90063. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Collegian Nabs Midpoint Amateur Lead With Wet 67

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Tom Kite of Austin, Tex., one of a flock of hotshot collegians, shot a three under par 35-32-67 over the wet and soggy Waverley Country Club course Thursday to take the second round lead in the U.S. National Western Amateur Golf Championship by three strokes with a 36-hole score of four under 133. Despite the wet conditions, brought about by day-long rain and only partial clearing near the end of the round, there were a number of fine scores turned in, including a tourney record-tying five under 31-34-65 by Kurt Cox, a former Trinity (Texas) student who plans to go into business with his father.

Lombardi Knew Sadness, Not Fear When Death Beckoned Him

New York (UPI)—Vince Lombardi knew. "There was no keeping it from him. He demanded to know. He wouldn't have it any other way. "Don't stand out there in the hall and talk," he called out from his hospital room when his wife, Marie, was getting the results of the first tests from the doctor. "C'mon in here. I know what you're talking about." Vince Lombardi found out he had cancer early and also found out he had little or no chance at all of licking it. The knowledge saddened him but did not frighten him. "He proceeded to do what he had done all his life. He prayed.

"You know, Father, I've never been in a hospital before in my life," he said that first day. "I didn't even bring any extra clothes with me." The man Vince Lombardi said that to was his old friend, Father Edward Bunn, S.J., and the day he said it was June 25 shortly after his admission to Georgetown University Hospital in Washington. Lombardi had come right to the hospital from the practice field. Father Bunn is the Chancellor of Georgetown University and he taught Lombardi psychology more than 30 years ago at Fordham University. He knew the Washington Redskins general manager and coach as few others did and visited with him in the hospital five times a week. The last time was Tuesday night. Vince Lombardi wasn't conscious anymore. "I was praying for him, says the priest: 'I suppose I was praying for a miracle. I wanted him to live. From the time I first met him at Fordham he was always very hard working. He was not a sophisticated person at all. He was very simple and direct. He never went about the bush. He took things as they were spoken and never looked for any double meanings." Toward the end Vince Lombardi didn't have a whole lot to say to his good friend, Father Bunn. He couldn't. He was too weak. "But he'd smile and give me a warm handclasp," his one-time teacher says. "He was never morose, never glum."

Braves Use Homers To Overpower L.A. 11-4

ATLANTA (UPI)—Hank Aaron, Orlando Cepeda and Cleve Boyer homered Thursday night to lead the Atlanta Braves to an 11-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers before the smallest crowd here in two years. Only 4,450 were present as Aaron hit his 590th career home run, a three-run blast in the third inning. Cepeda and Boyer both hit two-run homers in the fifth. It was Aaron's 36th homer of the season, the 32nd for Cepeda and the 15th for Boyer. Aaron needs 10 more homers to become the third man in baseball history (after Babe Ruth and Willie Mays) to reach the 600 homer mark. Despite the small crowd, Atlanta went over the 1,000,000 attendance mark for the fifth consecutive year.

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Pete Rose drove home three runs with a homer and a double and Johnny Bench added a double and a pair of singles to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday night in a rain-delayed ballgame.

Hunt Hits Tennis With Money Bomb

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Lamar Hunt of World Champions Tennis tossed a million dollars into the air over the West Side Tennis Club Thursday, and the fallout had tennis players and officials scurrying madly. Basically, Hunt announced a series of 20 worldwide 32-man tournaments and a 21st for eight finalists. Total prize money $1 million, with each tournament sponsor putting up $50,000. First prize in each tournament would be $10,000 for singles and $1,800 in doubles. An extra $65,000 would be set aside from each event to build a $100,000 playoff pool for the eight men accumulating the most points in tourney play going into the final, with $50,000 for that winner. If any one player could win all singles and doubles, his total would be $293,000.

Bradshaw Gets Starting Nod For Steelers Against Boston

By BOB DI PIETRO (UPI Sports Writer) "Gol-lee." Terry Bradshaw says that, usually when he's pleased. And he's bound to be mighty pleased over the fact he'll be showing his impressive wares to the home town folks tonight when he quarterback the resurgent Pittsburgh Steelers against the winless Boston Patriots at Shreveport, La. The game helps kickoff a 13-game National Football League exhibition weekend.

Bradshaw, dubbed the Lit Abner of football, has electrified observers of the pro scene with his field generalship and passing prowess in directing the pace-happy Steelers to two victories over Minnesota and the New York Giants in three games. In last week's win over the Giants, Bradshaw numbered a 37-yard touchdown pass to rookie wide receiver Ron Shanklin among his 15 completions in 23 attempts for 244 yards.

The probability that Bradshaw will be filling the air with footballs and "gol-lee's" in his pro debut before the home folks, coupled with a shoulder injury to Boston quarterback Mike Taliaferro, that may severely limit his playing time, spells trouble for the Patriots.

In the only other game tonight, the Buffalo Bills (1-3) play host to the Atlanta Falcons (2-1).

On Saturday, the New York Jets tangle with the New Orleans Saints, the Giants play the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton, N.J., the World Champion Kansas City Chiefs oppose the Dallas Cowboys, the Baltimore Colts play the Detroit Lions at Raleigh, N.C., the Chicago Bears meet the Denver Broncos, the Houston Oilers play the Los Angeles Rams at Pasadena, Calif., and the St. Louis Cardinals meet the San Diego Chargers in the first game, while the Minnesota Vikings tangle with the Cleveland Browns in the nightcap of the ninth annual doubleheader at Cleveland.

Also the Cincinnati Bengals challenge the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee, Wis., and the Washington Redskins meet the Miami Dolphins at Tampa, Fla.

The Oakland Raiders (1-3) gun for their third straight win in exhibition play over their Bay rivals, the San Francisco Forty-Niners (1-2) in a Sunday contest that caps the fifth exhibition week end.

Bradshaw was the lone bright spot for the Steelers following their dismal 1-13 record last season when they outgassed the Bears (who had an equally poor season) in a coin flip and made the star signal-caller a Louisiana Tech the nation's No. 1 draft pick.

A flock of flattering offers for Bradshaw's services hit the Steeler's front office following Terry's selection. The Patriots offered six regulars, Baltimore and New Orleans made equally sensational offers. And word had it that Denver was willing to part with Floyd Little, Don Shula, former Colts head coach and now Miami mentor, once laid guidelines by which to judge rookie quarterbacks.

"You can always find out quick about a rookie quarterback," said Shula. "You ask him to throw long for accuracy and you ask him to throw those sideline passes."

Mount Borah Receives Bighorn Sheep Plant

BOISE — Two dozen Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep were transplanted last week from the Banff National Park, Alberta, Canada, to the upper regions of Mahogany Creek near the snow line of Mount Borah, by the Fish and Game Department.

This is a supplemental transplant of trophy bighorn sheep to an area where the species has not been for nearly one-half century.

live-trapped a few years ago in British Columbia and transplanted to the Owyhee Mountains of southwestern Idaho where they have been a phenomenal success in game management. The first controlled hunting was held two years ago. The first transplant contained 12 California bighorns from a high plateau above the Fraser and Chilcotin rivers. They were moved nearly 1,200 miles by truck down the length of Idaho to the release site on the East Fork of the Owyhee River.

Announcement of the meeting, which time and place will be announced later, was made known to the Times-News today by State Rep. Steve Antone of Minidoka County. Rep. Antone had talked to John R. Woodworth, Boise, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department relative to the mercury problem in pheasants. He said the official disclosed that experiments had been conducted by the fish and game department and that a few birds were fed with mercury-treated grain and an interesting and very important discovery was made during these tests.

In the spring of 1969, seven bighorns were transplanted to this tributary drainage of the Pahsimeroi River, after being live-trapped on Morgan and Darling creeks, near Challis. This small band was composed of one two-year-old ram, four pregnant ewes and two lambs of opposite sexes from the 1968 crop.

Other transplants from the same region have been made at later dates. It is hoped that the Alberta bighorns obtained through the cooperation of the Alberta Department of Wildlife will be as successful on the Mahogany Creek drainage as the British Columbia transplants were in the Owyhee Mountains.

Priory Library Serves Community

TWIN FALLS — Perhaps the most unique public library in the Magic Valley is one known to a comparatively few people. With 4,500 volumes covering a wide variety of topics from religion and philosophy, to modern novels, the library at St. Benedict's Priory on Falls Avenue fills a vital role in the life of the valley.

"St. Ben's," guided by Father Simeon-VandeVoord as cleric in residence, has been designed to help not only Catholic students at the College of Southern Idaho and the community of Twin Falls, but non-Catholics as well, Fr. Simeon said. Though designed principally for Catholic services and theology classes, the library is open to the entire community without charge.

Any CSI student or Twin Falls citizen is welcome to use the comfortable library rooms to study, or anyone may check out books on any topic for as long as needed. The library is operated on an honor system; just leave name and address, in case the books are needed, with Fr. Simeon.

The Priory has ample space for Catholic services in addition to the library, Fr. Simeon said; and students may also utilize a snack bar with adjoining kitchen for group luncheons, and may study in a comfortably furnished lounge.

A number of classes in theology and religion are taught during the school year by Fr. Simeon in the Priory, he said, with the library handy for research.

"Many students like to study in the Priory, with its quiet atmosphere and ample space," he commented.

The Priory is operated by the Order of St. Benedict, a Catholic order of monks, with a "mother" or home library in Oregon valued in excess of $2 million and containing 250,000 volumes.

The Oregon library staff helps the Twin Falls Priory by performing all of the bookwork and cataloging of new volumes. Fr. Simeon said he does all of the library work himself at present, but as the number of volumes and of students grows, he may have to use volunteer student help.

The library is designed for a maximum of 8,000 volumes, and has about 4,500 at present, Fr. Simeon said. It is planned to expand the facility gradually until about 7,500 volumes are on the shelves.

In addition to the books, the Priory library houses a collection of highly valuable "antiquities," including a book of Latin Gregorian chants used by the monks in their mass rituals, printed about 1803, and a complete Bible written in Hebrew and Spanish, with the languages printed in parallel columns for comparison.

The Priory includes living quarters for Fr. Simeon in a section apart from the public rooms. The dividing wall between the public rooms and the living quarters is sound-insulated. "The students do get a bit noisy sometimes when there is a lot of them here at the same time," Fr. Simeon explained.

FATHER/SIMEON of St. Benedict's Priory on Falls Avenue inspects some of the many volumes in the capacious library of the facility which doubles as a student center for College of Southern Idaho students. The library presently holds about 4,500 volumes, and will eventually offer 7,500 volumes covering a wide range of topics.

Bible Program Offered

PAUL — The Paul United Methodist Church is sponsoring a Bible Club program this year for children of the church and community at the church.

Rev. Alice Mae Woolley will conduct the daily program, assisted by women of the church. Classes will take place in the multi-purpose room with entrance by the side door on Third Street.

Meetings will last one hour beginning immediately after school. On days when there is no school, or school is dismissed earlier, the Bible Club meeting won't be held.

Monday will be for "Daring Daniels," for boys in grades 3-6; Tuesday is for "Kind's Daughters," for girls 7-8; and Wednesday, "Shining Light Girls," for girls grades 3-6; Thursday there will be no class so the pastor may attend WSCS. Friday is for "Little Lambs," for pre-school boys and girls in grades 1-2.

No age limit is set for pre-school children; however, parents are asked to send only mature children who are willing to learn and conduct themselves with good behavior.

Class activities are adjusted according to the sex and age of children and include recreation, handwork, Bible study and prayer, service projects and special parties. Cookies will be distributed at the close of each meeting.

Interested persons may contact Rev. Woolley at 438-5351.

Seminary Musical Drama Classes Scheduled

SHOSHONE — Seminary classes at the LDS Church, Shoshone, have begun and will be held each school day corresponding with the public school in the city, reports Mrs. Perry C. Hadlock, teacher.

Text of study this year, Mrs. Hadlock said, is the Book of Mormon.

Musical Drama Given At Church

SHOSHONE — A large crowd turned out to the local First Baptist Church Sunday morning to hear "The Slight & Sound Players" from Hillcrest Baptist Church, Arvada, Colo., present "The Price of Love."

The musical drama, written and directed by Mrs. Paul Winkler, featured the story of pre-earth life and the mission of Jesus, the Savior of the World, done in music and narration, with special costuming for the entire presentation.

The Rev. Paul Winkler, native of Twin Falls, served as pastor for the Shoshone church for 11 years before moving three years ago to Arvada, Colo. The drama was presented at the Colorado Baptist Fine Arts camp and to churches in the Denver area. The teens designed the costumes and developed the scenery used.

Other performances in Idaho included those at the Nazarene College Science and Lecture Hall in Nampa and Jerome Baptist Church.

After the worship service Sunday, women of the local church served a dinner to the guests and members who attended.

Reforms Spark Hopes

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Just over a year after introducing a land reform bill to the South Vietnamese Parliament, President Nguyen Van Thieu flew to the southern Mekong River delta in late August to distribute the first land titles to be handed out to the peasant farmers.

An American deeply immersed in the program described the South Vietnamese land reform act as "one of the great non-Communist land reforms of the 20th Century."

In pushing, with American support, the land reform act through a sometimes-reluctant Parliament, Thieu had taken a page from the Communist Viet Cong who had made free distribution of land one of the most appealing parts of their program to win over the Vietnamese peasantry.

CHIEFS OF STATE Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ortiz and President Nixon are greeted by well-wishers as they motorcade visiting president. (UPI)

Conversely, as the army recaptured land from the Communists and the landlords moved in behind them to collect back rents, it had become one of the most important factors in peasant reaction against the Saigon government.

From lethargy and initial suspicion of government motives, the peasant attitude toward the new program has switched dramatically to one of hope.

Many of the peasant farmers rate ownership of their own land above security and Communist threats to kill anyone found with government papers in their hands.

The new law authorizes the government to buy land from the landlords and to distribute it free to the peasants now farming it.

It is expected that ultimately some 60 per cent of the 7.5 million acres of land under cultivation in South Vietnam will be distributed to approximately a million peasant families, most of them in the delta and central highlands.

Landlords will be paid 20 per cent of the value of the land in cash and 80 per cent in government bonds, which draw 10 per cent annual interest.

The interest rate is less than the annual rate of inflation and, in a land where official corruption is practically a way of life, considerable skepticism has been expressed on the plan's chances of success.

According to the new law, the largest farm possible in South Vietnam for the next 15 years will be about 37 acres plus something additional set aside as ancestral-worship land. In order to keep that much, an owner must prove that he and his family live on the land and work it.

Cost of the program is estimated at $100 million, of which the United States has promised to supply $40 million.

Bruce Repeats Offer

PARIS (UPI)—The United States offered Thursday to negotiate a prompt peace agreement in Vietnam safeguarding the "legitimate concerns" of all sides. But the Communists immediately rebuffed the move.

U.S. peace negotiator David K. E. Bruce failed in his bid to start meaningful negotiations at his first meeting with Hanoi's minister of state, Xuan Thuy. The North Vietnamese delegate said true negotiations will start only when Washington agrees to pull all troops out of Vietnam and dump the Saigon regime.

Thuy, fresh from three months of consultations in Hanoi, told Bruce North Vietnam considered the U.S. troop pullout and formation of a new coalition government in Saigon as the only conditions that could get the talks off the ground.

Bruce, 72, sent to Paris four weeks ago to try to break the 19-month deadlock in the talks, told newsmen after the five-hour session the Communists had "nothing new to say" and repeated merely "the same line of propaganda."

"We seek the earliest possible negotiated settlement which takes account of the legitimate concerns of both sides," Bruce told the Communists. "Both sides thus need to examine each other's position realistically."

Bruce and Thuy exchanged bows but no handshakes at their first meeting.

Report on Idaho Sewage Pollution 'No Surprise'

BOISE (UPI)—A spokesman for the State Health Department said today he was not surprised that a federal study found data inadequate on Idaho's sewage treatment plant operations.

"It's no news to me," said Vaughn Anderson, director of the environmental improvement division for the department. "It's been of concern to us some time."

The General Accounting Office told Congress Wednesday that only 27 per cent of the Idaho plants surveyed provided data on which determination of a plant's effectiveness are based. Conclusions of the agency were based on a 1969 federal water quality administration check showing data from 12 of 95 plants in Idaho, Oregon and Washington state were insufficient.

GAO auditors said they felt that sewage treatment plant operators in Oregon, Indiana, Montana, Kentucky, Georgia and Tennessee were not trained properly.

They also said laboratory control data developed in some of the Idaho, Washington and Oregon plants were unreliable.

Anderson said he agreed in general with the findings although he declined to make percentage estimates of the number of plants on which data was inadequate.

Part of the problem, he said, arises from municipal budget difficulties and part from state budgeting difficulties. Until recently, he said, the state has lacked sufficient personnel to make routine checks on the local sewage treatment plants and those responsible for supplying data on them.

"First and foremost," Anderson said, "if you want these things to operate, people from our shop routinely will have to set up a schedule to work with these people."

"We just haven't been able to do so."

He said his division has an appropriation of $250,000 for water pollution control and that next year he is asking the legislature for $450,000. He said the State Health Board has approved his request and will submit to the lawmakers.

His expanded funds this year have enabled him to add five persons the past three months, he said, including three field personnel. But he said he does not anticipate any real move against the problem until the next fiscal year when he hopes to add more personnel.

Anderson said even if he added 20 persons right now he would be unable to move any closer to solution of the problem right away — saying that simply would lead to "chaos."

Crews Whip Fires

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UPI)—Cooler weather, the promise of rain and the efforts of an army of thousands of fire fighters have all but conquered the West's worst outbreak of forest fires in a decade.

Wary fire fighters Wednesday hacked fire lines around flames which have blackened 150 square miles of forest land in north central Washington and reported them contained.

Oregon officials said a 230-acre fire in the Rogue River National Forest had been contained and all other blazes in the state were under control.

Dispatchers in Southern Idaho reported all fires in the Boise and Payette National Forests were under control and fire crews were being released after a 1,040-acre blaze in Big Creek Basin was quelled.

California's Division of Forestry reported numerous small fires throughout the state but none of major proportions.

Cooler weather and chances of showers over the Pacific Northwest added encouragement to the men fighting the blazes.

Third of Cambodia Reds Said Dead

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Military spokesmen for the Saigon released here and in American, South Vietnamese and Cambodian commands claim their forces have killed over one-third of the entire Communist force in Cambodia has been killed.

Virtually every one of the remaining enemy out of an original force estimated at a maximum of 70,000 has been wounded twice, the figures stated.

Military spokesmen for the American, South Vietnamese and Cambodian commands claim their forces have killed a total of just over 26,800 since the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk on March 18.

And officials with long experience in Vietnam estimate that for each enemy killed, another three are wounded, many seriously.

In all three cases, spokesmen claim they release a body count to newsmen only after it has been verified, preferably by ground troops, but if necessary by aerial observers flying low.

Cambodian military spokesman Maj. Am Rong, the latest in a string of officials in Indochina to arouse the latent skepticism of war reporters over enemy body counts, defends the information he gives out at a daily briefing. "We do not make propaganda," he told newsmen recently. "If we did, you wouldn't believe us anyhow."

The Cambodian high command has reported over 12,000 enemy deaths at the hands of Cambodian troops, planes and river boats.

Oldtimers Anticipate Fair

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News Correspondent
FILER — "I have never missed a Twin Falls County Fair in 54 years and am eagerly looking forward to this year's fair and rodeo when we will use our new grandstand for the first time," stated Grover Davis, well-known Filer businessman and fairgoer who was one of those responsible for first bringing the county fair to Filer.

A roofless grandstand will not be new to him as he remembers when the roof of the first grandstand was lifted by a windstorm the second year after it was built and had to be reroofed. Now he will attend this year's first night rodeo in the new grandstand which has no roof this year but will have one in the future.

Mr. Davis recalls the first Twin Falls County Fair came into being in 1915 after a severe rainstorm drove away the crowds at the annual community or "field day" held Sept. 25 in an open spot near town.

A meeting was held the next day at the drug store to outline plans to buy a 40 acre farm east of Filer and erect buildings to house a permanent fair. This year 35 acres south of the fairgrounds were purchased and it is on this new ground that the new grandstand was constructed after the former one was destroyed by fire last year.

Following the first meeting, plans were presented to the county commissioners and methods outlined for getting the $10,000 needed to buy the land.

Raising the needed money proved a hard task at first. At a second meeting which included a banquet, Mr. Davis and another man volunteered their time and cars to canvass the community and raise the money. The two men were owners of some of the first cars in the area.

By the following March of 1916, the sum of $10,000 had been gathered, more than enough to buy the land. Most of the donations were small, ranging from $25 to $100. The $300 left from buying the land went toward the purchase of the trees which now provide shade for the fairgrounds.

"I remember when the new trees were just several feet tall," reminisced Mr. Davis.

Guy Shearer and H. G. Munyon were appointed trustees to buy the land. Members of the first board of directors were Bill Brackon, Kimberly, Bill Sanger, Twin Falls; Mr. Munyon, Mr. Davis, and Clarence Case, who served as the organization's first secretary. George Smith was appointed field secretary.

For several years tents were used for showing exhibits. The building now used as the agricultural building at the fair formerly held the automobile displays. It was erected after a large tent which housed the cars was blown down, and the following year the car dealers bought individual stalls to display their cars and paid for them in advance so a building could be constructed.

The grandstand was built the first year. The windstorm which removed the roof the second year left the bleachers standing unharmed.

Horse racing was offered as afternoon entertainment for many years after the fair began. Mr. Davis supervised the racing programs for the first 13 years and was a fair board member for 10 years. Evening racing events were offered after lights were erected in the arena. The 4-H Club livestock shows and rodeos followed in later years.

Mr. Davis, who will observe his 55th birthday anniversary

Opinion Given on Proposal

BOISE (UPI) — A proposal to increase the terms of county treasurers to four years from two may be unconstitutional because it poses more than one question for answer by the electorate.

That is the off-hand opinion, at least, of Idaho Attorney General Robert Robson. He said Thursday that Senate Joint Resolution 121 refers both to elections of county treasurers and to removal or provisions dealing with probate and county judges.

Under the present constitution, a proposed constitutional amendment must be limited to one subject — apparently not the case with Senate Joint Resolution 121.

Besides changing the tenure of county treasurers the proposal also would remove certain provisions for the biennial election of probate judges.

Under a court-revision plan scheduled to take effect next year, probate judges would be abolished and some of their duties assigned to district judges. While this might make the question moot insofar as the constitutional change is concerned, Robson said, the question to be put to the electorate nonetheless contains more than one subject.

BLM Aide Moved to Colorado

A replacement for Beckman has not yet been named.

Response Gratifying To Holley

BOISE (UPI) — State Budget Director Jack Holley Thursday called gratifying if not financially stimulating the public response to his plea for funds if he is to run for state auditor.

Holley won the Republican nomination for auditor as a write-in candidate when the party failed to fill the ticket in the primary election.

Wednesday, he told a news conference he may have to withdraw from the race because he lacks funds to campaign properly and effectively.

He said his phone has rung constantly.

Views on Taxation Offered at Confab

TWIN FALLS — Widely different views on local option taxes were offered a member of the Governor's Tax Force Subcommittee on Taxation in Twin Falls Thursday.

Dean Zimmerman, member of the committee collecting views of local government leaders on state tax matters, met Thursday with Twin Falls County Commissioners and Twin Falls City Manager Jean Millar. He is exploring possible amending of the Idaho constitution to allow local option taxation, whereby a city or county could establish a sales tax, mill levy income tax or licensing tax where additional revenue might be needed.

City Manager Jean Millar said that, as a city official, he highly favors such a provision. He said there is a need to place taxation and revenue-raising measures in the hands of municipal officials to give them control over their budgets and revenue rather than having an arbitrary decision made at the state level as to whether a revenue shall go to the state, city or county.

He said he favors the persons benefiting from a service or improvement paying for it, and funds collected from certain persons being used to benefit those same persons.

For example, Millar said, the highway users' tax is presently benefitting rural highway districts while most of the revenue is supplied by urban motorists, who are again taxed to pay for streets within the cities.

Millar told Zimmerman he feels if citizens want good streets they will pay for them. If they are not willing to pay for something they do not want it. If city councils were given the opportunity to determine taxes the local taxpayers could express their dissatisfaction at the polls by electing new city officials.

Eugene Stacey, city councilman and member of the Governor's Task Force Subcommittee, said the committee is considering, in addition to local option taxation, the possibility of redistribution of revenue at the federal level. This, Stacey said, would indicate more local revenue from federal tax collections and should allow local governments to reduce property tax.

On the county level, the commissioners took a different stand. William Chancey said the board of commissioners does not favor local option taxation because of the inequities it could create not only in the state but in a single county.

Commissioners told Zimmerman they would not look with favor on a program that would show higher sales tax, for example, in one community than another because of the economic results. Persons would tend to drive to another community to shop and would wish to live just outside of a community where income or other special taxes were imposed.

Zimmerman said he is contacting major city and county officials around the state in his survey.

Autos Pose School Woes

TWIN FALLS — The first week of school for Twin Falls students has been smooth, George Staudaer, assistant superintendent, said Thursday, with the exception of some traffic problems at Lincoln Elementary School.

He said yellow flasher lights have been in operation during the week on U.S. Highway 30 westbound, which now passes in front of Lincoln and Bickel schools. These are functioning well and cross-walk operations are generally working out.

Problems, he said, result from bus loading and unloading at Lincoln School. Because there is no street behind the school, the nine buses which serve the school must load and unload on Sixth Street. Steady through traffic on Second Avenue North, now U.S. Highway 30, makes it difficult for the buses to get back into traffic as they must take up about two lanes of traffic to make the turn, Staudaer said. Some new lanes will be painted and some additional blacktop space will be provided on school property, he said, in an effort to correct the situation.

Staudaer said patrols are working at intersections but an additional cross-walk marking is needed for Lincoln children on Addison Avenue at Madison Street. Use of one cross walk in front of Lincoln and Bickel rather than several is working out well, Staudaer said, giving motorists an opportunity to see the children a full block away and to make only one stop.

At Harrison School, Principal Frances Anderson reported children are forced to walk in the street between Falls Avenue and the school because of weeds growing from the black top to property lines. Staudaer said, the city will be asked to assist by mowing the weeds so children can walk at the side of the road when weather permits.

Student Load Drops In Lincoln

School enrollment is down by 34 pupils at Shoshone, but is climbing in the Blaine county schools.

Shoshone superintendent Kenneth Crothers reports a drop of 20 in the grade school and 14 at the high school, with a total of 462 students enrolled this year, compared to 506 last year.

He said the drop results from decreased population throughout the county, but six students have enrolled in another school.

Ray Jefferson, assistant Blaine county superintendent, said 1,307 students were enrolled at the end of the first week of school today, compared to 1,280 at the conclusion of last term.

Wood River High School enrollment is up, from 357 to 386; Carey High school from 54 to 58; Halley Junior High School from 174 to 234, partially explained by the transfer of seventh and eighth grades from the Hemingway school; Carey grade school is down from 45 to 38; Hemingway elementary, up from 227 to 237; Bellevue elementary down from 273 to 256 and Carey elementary up from 94 to 98.

Construction is still underway on the six-room addition at the Twin Falls High School and the assistant superintendent said it could be two to five weeks before the six classrooms can be used. Shipment of lighting fixtures has been held up and is delaying completion of the building. In addition to the six rooms, a "pod" arrangement with folding doors will allow lecture space for up to 150 to 175 students at one time in the new addition.

The two-day event at the Cassia county fairgrounds ended Thursday. DOUBLE RING CEREMONY

It's a simple ceremony... short, inexpensive and unpretentious. But it's a happy, mutually beneficial experience.

With the first ring, you tell the public about some useful item you'd like to sell. This is easy. All you do is dial 733-0931. A friendly voice answers your call and helps you with the wording of your Want Ad.

The second ring is that of your telephone, bringing response to the Want Ad which has been printed in your newspaper. And that second ring brings you cash in exchange for the item you have for sale.

We can't promise your phone will only ring once! That's why we suggest you let us know as soon as you've had results from your Want Ad... and it won't take long! We'll take your ad out of the paper to stop your ringing telephone and to save you money. You see, you only pay for the time it takes to sell the items you've advertised for sale. try our double ring ceremony!

Calhoun Superintendent Of 2 Fair Departments

FILER — Cecil Calhoun, Buhl, is superintendent of both the farm produce and fruits departments of the Twin Falls County Fair, set for Sept. 9-12.

Judges for the two departments will be Robert Higgins, Boise; Anton Horn, Boise; W. G. Priest, Jerome, and Ed Koester, Gooding. Entries for both will close at 6 p. m. Sept. 7, with judging set to begin at 10 a. m. Sept. 8.

Entries are limited to Idaho products and must be grown by the exhibitor. With the exception of field corn, popcorn, beans and grass seed, all products must be grown in the year 1970. All exhibitors must make their own arrangements for presenting product to the judge's table.

A community exhibit must be an exhibit of farm produce and may be exhibited by an organization or group of exhibitors. Exhibits must be grown within Twin Falls County and booths are to be prepared and decorated by exhibitors.

Produce used in making up a community exhibit may be shown in the open class if the exhibitor so desires. Community exhibits will not be judged until all open classes have been judged and entries from community exhibits have been arranged.

Each community must have a committee to see that all entries from their booths shown in the open class are rearranged in their booths before community exhibits are judged.

In addition to the regular premium money, first second and third place premiums will be awarded for exhibit displaying best quality of produce and fruits, for booth best in artistic arrangements and general appearance of produce, fruit and decorations, and for booth best in original arrangement and general appearance of produce, fruit and decorations.

Any community exhibit qualifying for an "original" arrangement will not be given an "artistic" award, thereby distributing the prizes among more exhibitors.

The Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. will match the premiums paid by the Twin Falls County Fair for booths having best quality of produce and fruits, in three places.

The Southern Idaho Production Credit Association will match the premiums paid by the fair for booths having best in original arrangement and general appearance of produce, fruits and decorations.

The open class lists 52 classes of vegetables, 25 classes of field crops and 17 classes of sheaf grains and seeds and largest specimens.

The Amalgamated Sugar Co. will award 100 pounds of sugar for the best five sugar beets; 50 pounds for the next five best sugar beets; 25 pounds for the third best sugar beets and 50 pounds for the largest sugar beet.

There is a large class for junior gardeners, those 18 years and under. The purpose of this division is to encourage young gardeners to grow and display their vegetables.

They may compete for three place premiums in 25 classes of vegetables and eight classes of largest specimen.

People entering fruits in the fair are urged to make exhibits early as it is very important that they be in place at the time of the opening of the fair.

A plate of apples, peaches and pears shall be five specimens; grapes, four clusters and plums, prunes and like seed fruit, 10 specimens.

Premiums will be paid on seven classes of apples, three of peaches, five of pears, four of plums, three of prunes, three of grapes and a special of best display of fruit by one exhibitor.

Fertilization With Sprinklers Fast

KIMBERLY — Applying fertilizer through sprinkler irrigation systems is a fast and simple way of satisfying the fertilization and water requirements of plants.

In 1968, nearly 50 million acres in the U.S. were irrigated by sprinkler systems and the possibility of adding fertilizer elements to the irrigation water became feasible. Research of this nature came to the attention of research scientists J.H. Smith, C.H. Pair and C.L. Douglas of the USDA, Snake River Conservation Research Center, at Kimberly.

Some sprinkler systems can be used to apply a fertilizer in the irrigation water and then the fertilizer can be washed from the plants with additional water.

Other systems, particularly those which move across the field, must apply the fertilizer continuously without an opportunity to wash the plants with water.

It was with this system that the researchers evaluated the effect of various fertilizer concentrations on plants.

Irrigation water containing ammonium nitrate and urea was applied to potatoes, sugarbeets and wheat in concentrations similar to those which might be used in the field.

No damage to the sugarbeets, potatoes or wheat from fertilization was observed at any of the economical rates which a farmer might wish to apply.

The advantage of sprinkler fertilization is that it supplies the nitrogen when needed and can be used to fertilize frequently to avoid problems of quality deterioration associated with large nitrogen applications.

Sprinkler Development Seen

WENDELL — Keen interest was expressed in the various types of sprinklers operating in Gooding County on the sprinkler irrigation tour held recently. The tour was planned and conducted by Gooding County agent, Ed Koester.

The first stop was at the Gunning farm east of Wendell, where Gale Gunning explained the operation of the three types of sprinklers operating there. The largest Valley sprinkler, which covers about 238 acres was seen in operation. This is the largest in the state at this time. It was set to make a revolution in 50 hours. Changes and improvements on this type of sprinkler were noted.

Dorrell Larsen, University of Idaho, extension irrigationist, mentioned that there are about 50 different brands of circular types of sprinklers on the market. The side-roll type was also operating and the pros and cons of this method were discussed. Various innovations have been made with side rolls too, and the one observed is moved with electrical power.

It was noted that the soil intake rate for water is a key factor in deciding what type of sprinkler to use. Sandy soil has a high intake rate and also dries more quickly. Hand moved lines require more labor, which is becoming a more critical factor.

Some designs now include a solid set type to catch the corners where the circular type do not reach. Plastic pipe has reduced installation costs for solid set. Solid set was observed on the Neal Ambrose Farm. The cost of installation is the highest of any observed and Larsen said some operators claim it does not save labor, but does allow the use of labor at a more opportune time.

Chemical weed control in potatoes becomes particularly critical with solid set. Several chemicals are currently being used for weed control in potatoes and the results have been mixed. The ease of applying any desired amount of water at any time is a big advantage.

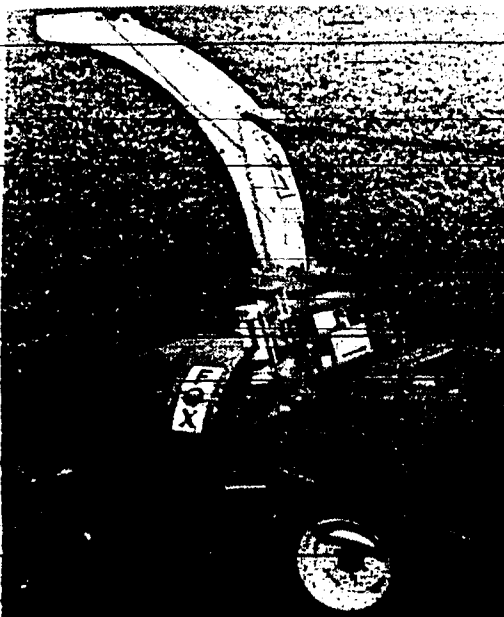

A Rain-Cat sprinkler was seen in the Orchard Valley vicinity. There is considerable interest in growing corn in this area and the possibility of using overhead sprinkling is of much concern. There are extensions available to raise some of the circular types so that the height of the corn does not interfere too much. The tour concluded at Sand Springs where a Lockwood sprinkler is being operated on land owned and operated by Neal Ambrose.

Tips on Silage Offered

TWIN FALLS — Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County agent, offers some suggestions on corn silage, based on word from George Cleveland, University of Idaho extension dairy specialist.

Youtz says start harvesting when the kernels are in the early dent stage of maturity and complete harvest as soon as possible. In some cases late dent is satisfactory. At the correct stage of maturity, the corn plant will be 30 to 40 per cent dry matter and the kernels will be 50 to 65 per cent.

In bunker and pit silos there will be little moisture seepage if silage is stored with 30 to 40 per cent dry matter. Yield of silage corn increases until the plant reaches about 35 percent dry matter or until the first killing frost.

Corn silage should be chopped to lengths of one-quarter to one-half inch regardless of stage of maturity or content of dry material. Chopping to that size makes the silage more palatable and permits the cow to sort different parts in eating. It also allows more silage per cubic foot of space. The silage packs better. This improved the fermentation.

Corn is a natural for silage of high quality, Cleveland said. When corn is ensiled, the plant cells and micro-organisms use oxygen in the pack. This process uses fermentable carbohydrates in the material. Carbon dioxide is released, causing temperature to increase to the range of 80 to 100 degrees.

That is why silage gets hot near the surface. If the material is too dry the oxygen does not react efficiently. Consequently, you may have musty or overheated silage.

It takes about two weeks for corn to go through the silage-making process.

9 Join Grange

TWIN FALLS — Nine new members have been added to the roster of the Mountain Rock Grange.

Those joining the grange during the recent meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Etter, Johnny Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clier, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sparrow and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Laughlin.

Members of the Buhl Grange met with the Mountain Rock group and presented them the live duck which is being used to help raise funds for the national grange convention to be held in Boise in November.

Members also discussed plans for a fair booth and heard reports from the legislative committee.

World agricultural production increased about 3 per cent in 1968. The rise in the United States was just under 2 per cent.
