

Sugar Suit Hit

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's anti-pollution suit against the Amalgamated Sugar here was "poorly handled," Democratic candidate for Idaho Attorney General, Tony Park, said here Thursday.

The case, he said, was a "political show case" action taken shortly before the state primary election.

He said it was filed apparently without warning to the Amalgamated Sugar Co.

Park questioned whether incumbent Attorney General Robert Robson intends to proceed to impartially enforce anti-pollution laws against all Snake River polluters, including Simplot industrial pollution.

Park said he favors anti-pollution action to prevent continued stream pollution in Idaho.

Park attended the Twin Falls County Fair at Filer, accompanied by Lloyd Walker, who is assisting with his campaign in this area.

Park said he is emphasizing returning the office of the attorney general "to the people" of Idaho.

"My Republican opponent," he said, "is a governor's attorney first and I hope to have an opportunity to change this, making the office a professional one for the people of Idaho."

Park also emphasized the need to determine if a price discrimination situation exists in the state. If so, enforcing present statutes which prohibits such discrimination is needed.

City Gets Park Funds

TWIN FALLS — Word was received Friday of approval of a $6,000 grant by the bureau of outdoor recreation for acquisition of land along Rock Creek at the west city limits of Twin Falls for park development.

U. S. Congressman Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) said the grant will assist in acquiring about eight acres of land by Twin Falls County for day-use park facilities.

County commissioners purchased the site last year and applied for federal funds to cover half of the cost. This site, as well as the Balanced Rock County Park now nearing completion, were given full approval by representatives of the bureau of outdoor recreation during a tour through this area several weeks ago.

Ed Woods, Twin Falls County zoning administrator, said within the next few months old car bodies stored on the Rock Creek site will be removed to make way for development. Woods said both park projects are being funded with federal and local money on a matching basis.

Bureau of outdoor recreation officials were accompanied on the recent tour by Mike Misner and Kent Ellis of the state parks department.

Woods said the county was commended for efforts in developing a park in the Rock Creek area which will contribute to environmental improvement by removing unsightly and unsanitary conditions from the collection of old car bodies. Owner of the property at the time it was purchased by the county was given six months to remove and salvage the old cars.

Other parks inspected by Hugh Watson, project officer, northwest region, and Mike Wright, project officer for Idaho, and state park officials visited two parks in Idaho Falls, one at Ammon, one in Blackfoot, the Pocatello City Zoo, Minidoka County Park and Cascade Park, Twin Falls.

FLAMES ENGULFED storage shed and shop building at Janson Towing Service wrecking lot late Thursday causing several thousand dollars damage. Firemen from three rural departments and Twin Falls City assisted in controlling the fire on Addison Avenue West, beyond the city limits. Two men working in the shop when fire started from an engine back-firing escaped injury.

Fair Crowds Increase For 'Twin Falls Day'

FILER — Twin Falls Day at the Twin Falls County fair topped last year's crowd by more than 1,400 persons, according to T. W. Richmond, Buhl, fair board member. About 14,200 attended.

West End Day today is also expected to draw a large crowd as residents of Buhl, Filer and Castleford attend their day.

Typical of the throngs viewing exhibits was given at the Dog-house where a recording machine clocked 666 going through that department in one half-hour period.

Today's opening event was the Charolais cattle show in the arena, followed by 4-H and FFA judging. The afternoon program includes judging Miss Idaho Rodeo queen contestants on horsemanship, with the winner to be crowned during Saturday evening's final rodeo performance.

Larry Stevens, Filer, received the grand champion Appaloosa stallion trophy. Melody and Taylor Brown, Kimberly, were awarded the reserve champion.

Bob Hamilton, Twin Falls, walked away with three special FFA awards for outstanding beef project. Another winner was Mrs. John Moore, Kimberly, who again received sweepstakes for the most prizes in breads and cakes in the kitchen and pantry department.

Saturday, which is Grand Finals Day, will see the special 4-H awards assembly at 2:30 p. m. in the pavilion. The 4-H and FFA fat stock sale will start at 10 a. m. The Wranglerettes free horse show is slated for Saturday from noon to 4 p. m.

Pete Creed, Twin Falls, veteran showman at the fair, was paid special tribute during Thursday's rodeo. He has been entering produce for 50 years at the fair and has some 2,500 ribbons won as premium.

Thursday night rodeo results include: bareback riding — Larry Collins, high point rider with 72; Jim Ivory, 71, and Allen Thorpe, 67.

Calf roping — Buzz Peth, 11.5 seconds; Bill Aller, 12.4, and Jackie West, 13.9. Saddle bronc riding — Mel Hyland, 73 points; Ned Londo, 70, and Jim Steen, 67.

Steer wrestling, first section — Benny Reynolds, 5.9 seconds; Bill Lake, 6.4 and Arnold Harrage and Bob Schall tied with 8.1. Girls barrel racing — Trudy Wilcox and Linda Ottun, 18.1; Peggy Jo Koll, 18.4 and Karen Greenough, 18.5.

Steer wrestling, second section — Buzz Peth, 4.1 seconds; Bob Monroe, 5, and Neal Arave, 5.1. Brahma bull riding — Benny Stoddard, 71 points; Larry Sanders, 69 and Tim Parker, 58.

Nixon Asks Domestic Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon called on Congress today to enact his domestic programs so that the decade of the 70's will be an era of reform rather than revolution.

"More is at stake than the reputation of one political party or another for legislative wisdom or political courage," the President said in an 11,000-word summation of his programs. He described the consequences of congressional inaction in terms of stagnation, glut and lost opportunities.

"What is at stake is the good repute of American government at a time when the charge that our system cannot work is hurled with fury and anger by men whose greatest fear is that it will," he said.

Arabs Transfer Hijack Victims

By United Press International Arab guerrillas said today more than 250 hostages being held aboard three jetliners hijacked to an airfield in the Jordanian desert would be taken "immediately" to Amman, but threatened to blow up one of the jetliners to show "we mean business."

The Popular Liberation Organization (PLO), a large central body of Arab guerrilla groups, said in Amman the hostages would be moved "for humanitarian reasons." Two plane loads of hostages have been at the hot, dusty airfield since Sunday and the other plane has been there since Wednesday.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), which carried out the hijackings, said it would go along with the PLO move.

However, guerrillas guarding the planes at Dawson's Field, 48 miles north of Amman, said they would blow up a TWA 707 "as a first warning to the world we mean business." They did not elaborate.

UPI correspondent David Zenian was at Dawson's Field, renamed Revolutionary Airstrip by the guerrillas, this morning and said the PFLP had reinforced its guard over the planes. Jordanian troops ringed the area, as they have from the beginning, but were staying several hundred yards away from the planes.

In Amman, where another 150 women and children from the TWA, Swissair and British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) planes had been allowed to go earlier, PFLP representatives began giving them back their passports. But American diplomatic sources in Amman said the guerrillas had indicated it would be "unwise" to move the passengers from Amman.

Guerrilla sources indicated the passengers might be moved to Amman as early as this afternoon, but Zenian reported from the airfield there was no sign of such a movement.

The passengers, numbering more than 250, would be held in Amman while the negotiations with the United States, West Germany, Britain and Switzerland continue. An International Red Cross team is representing all these nations in the negotiations with the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, the guerrilla organization which carried out the hijackings.

The PFLP is demanding the release of seven of its comrades being held in Britain, Switzerland and West Germany and the release of an undetermined number of Arabs from Israel in return for release of the hostages.

The nations earlier today rejected guerrilla proposals for a two-park exchange of the hostages.

Arabs Reach Truce

By United Press International A shaky truce brought to a standstill today 11 days of bitter fighting in Amman between Jordanian troops and Palestinian guerrillas. The government appealed to its citizens to return to their shops and businesses.

In Washington, two congressmen said Thursday Israel presented its biggest "shopping list" of military hardware to date and for the first time requested credit terms.

The request totalled $800 million and included F4 Phantoms, A4 Skyhawks, helicopters, Hawk missiles, tanks, bombs, radar and other electronic gear.

Egyptian Minister of National Guidance Mohammed Hassanin Heikal said in Cairo American Middle East policy has designed to eliminate the Soviet presence from the area, to keep Israel strong and the Arabs weak, and to cripple Egypt's role in the region.

RELEASED after being held hostage aboard a hijacked airliner by Palestinian guerrillas, Leslie Pressley, an English woman, appears tense upon her arrival in Beirut, Lebanon. Her Iranian fiancé was also released. (UPI)

City-Aid Reaches 'Rathole'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is not getting its money's worth from more than $10 billion a year in aid to the cities because bureaucratic red tape wastes time and often results in spending for low priority items, a White House task force report said Thursday.

The task force urged the government to eliminate many of the strings now attached to about 400 grant-in-aid programs and let the cities spend the money for the things they consider most important.

"Most city governments can be trusted to use federal funds in the manner Congress intends, but whether one trusts them or not it is necessary to allow them much more latitude because the alternative is waste and frustration and-or their replacement by a vastly expanded federal-state bureaucracy," said the committee headed by Edward C. Banfield, a professor of urban government at Harvard.

Hurricane Advances

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Ella, a small but swift storm, spread gale winds and rain today toward the Texas coast, hit only a month ago by the most destructive hurricane in the state's history. "I am concerned, you ain't kidding," said T. W. Anderson of Corpus Christi, where Hurricane Celia struck 39 days ago, killing 11 persons and causing half a billion dollars damage.

Air Guards May 'Ride Shotgun'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The shortly that armed troops and security guards will ride shotgun on U.S. overseas commercial airline flights to protect them from hijackers, it was learned Thursday.

Airline industry sources said the White House likely would make the announcement Friday, although it could be delayed until hostages aboard three airliners commandeered to Jordan by Arab guerrillas are released.

This solution to the week's wave of international air piracy — and possibly others involving increased electronic surveillance and frisking of passengers at airports — emerged from a series of meetings between federal officials and representatives of the airlines and pilots.

The Defense Department confirmed Thursday that use of military guards on international flights was under serious consideration.

It expressed reservations over problems of manpower, costs, training and legal jurisdiction but said guards would be provided if requested by "appropriate federal authorities and the airlines."

The airlines endorsed the idea of using guards, industry sources said, and told the government that they want primarily military police trained in security, and that as many as 4,000 would be needed. One source said some guards could be recruited from among U.S. marshals and border patrolmen.

The financially troubled airlines are known to be wary of the cost and would prefer that the government foot the bill. Defense Department Spokesman Jerry W. Friedhelm said it would be "a very costly situation in terms of both equipment and personnel," potentially running into millions of dollars, and that the Pentagon probably would ask reimbursement from the airlines.

El Al, the Israeli airline, uses armed guards on its flights, but the International Federation of Airline Pilots' Associations, meeting in emergency session in London, opposes such a measure as endangering passenger safety.

State Delays Action On Bridge, 5-Points

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Another public hearing on construction of North Five Points in Twin Falls is not likely until spring and reconstruction or improvement of the Perrine Bridge is still awaiting a financial solution.

These facts were reported Thursday by Norman Crossley, urban engineer, Idaho Department of Highways, in a meeting here with City Manager Jean Milar, several other city officials and Howard Johnson, district engineer, Shoshone, and his assistant, Everett Kidner.

Milar said he asked Crossley to stop when in this area so the city could be brought up to date on several pertinent highway issues.

In addition to the bridge and the requested hearing, officials also discussed the availability of federal money for improvement of Blue Lakes Boulevard South running from East Five Points to the south city limits at Rock Creek.

Crossley advised the city there is federal money available for improvement of the route as it is part of the federal secondary system; being a farm-to-market road. Improvement is badly needed from Rock Creek to the five points intersection.

The next step, Milar said, will be to follow the suggested procedure in obtaining federal funds — and to prepare local matching money so the work can be undertaken.

As for the North Five Points intersection which involves U. S. Highways 30 and 93 and heavy local traffic, Crossley told local officials it will probably be six months yet before an in-depth study undertaken by state highway engineers can be completed and proposed redesign of the intersection reviewed and readied for another hearing.

Last year, heavy objection voiced during a hearing resulted in the department's announcement the project had been abandoned. Milar and members of the city council have appealed to the state highway board for another hearing.

believe public sentiment has since changed. State engineers are now in the process of intensive studies of traffic flow, routes and other factors which will be reviewed and several alternatives prepared before being presented to the state highway board for scheduling another public hearing. Johnson and Crossley said the state has completed location and foundation studies on the Perrine Bridge which is under limited weight restrictions because of structural weakness. The major problem in the replacement plan, Crossley said, is still money. The total Idaho highway budget annually runs about $11-

Strike Talks Continue

BUHL — Negotiations were in progress today between officials of the Carter Packing plant here and representatives of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, AFL-CIO. The talks, which began Thursday, are being held in an effort to settle a strike at the meat packing plant which began Sept. 3 when 22 of the firm's 25 employees walked out in a dispute over wages and the union dues collection system. The plant has continued operating since the strike began. Gordon Carter, vice president, said men who are willing to cross picket lines are being hired.

U.S. Railroads Face Two Threats

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The nation's railroads now face a double strike threat, and it appears Congress may have to settle both disputes. The issues involved are demands for a 40 per cent wage hike by four unions representing 500,000 of the 600,000 railroad workers, and a dispute over whether firemen should be used on diesel engines.

Highways

Continued from Page 1 million and cost estimates on a new bridge are in the neighborhood of $7-million making it difficult for the state to consider for any one year's work. It is possible however, for the state to come up with some matching money, the urban engineer said but it appears some new federal legislation for bridge funding will be necessary before the project can be scheduled.

Nampa Ponders Garbage Firm

NAMPA (UPI) - Nampa City officials were discussing problems today that the dismissal of bankruptcy proceedings against Enterprises Inc., will affect the city's current contract with Boise-Ada Disposal Co. Nampa Sanitary Service, which is owned by Enterprises Inc., was under city contract until Aug. 29, when a court-appointed receiver told Federal Bankruptcy Court Referee Merlin S. Young he could not continue to operate the firm. The company had entered bankruptcy proceedings on Aug. 6th when Wetzel had been appointed.

Since that time the city has verbally contracted the Boise-Ada Disposal Co. for removal of city resident's garbage. Wednesday Young dismissed the bankruptcy proceedings and now the city is possibly faced with two contracts.

Sawtooth Ruling Seen Soon

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor
TWIN FALLS — The House Interior Subcommittee which held a field hearing on proposed Sawtooth Mountains-White Clouds National Park-Recreational Area legislation at Sun Valley on August 28 may announce findings by the end of September.

In a letter to Carl W. Berg, Twin Falls businessman, Sen. Len Jordan said "presumably (they) will act on this legislation in September."

At the time of the Sun Valley hearing, committee members expressed the opinion such decisions would not be made until possibly the spring of 1971. The Idaho senator wrote Berg in answer to a communication in which Berg gave his views in opposition to national park status for the Sawtooth-White Cloud area.
Sen. Jordan said he had sponsored legislation in the last three sessions of Congress to authorize establishment of a multiple-purpose national recreation area under forest service administration.
In the present session a bill co-sponsored with Sen. Frank Church was passed without opposition and now is under consideration in the House Interior Committee.

On August 11, Sen. Jordan also co-sponsored with the other three members of Idaho's Congressional delegation bills which would create a Sawtooth Mountains National Park (S.4212) and set up the five-year mining moratorium (S.4213).
In the House, identical bills were introduced by Rep. McClure and Rep. Hansen. The House National Park bill is H. R. 18900 and the moratorium is H. R. 18899.
Handling of the Sun Valley hearing has resulted in sharp criticism from major Idaho newspapers, from various organizations throughout the state

Batten Named T.F. Bank Manager

Frank J. Batten has been elected assistant vice president and manager of the Twin Falls branch of Bank of Idaho.
He succeeds Oliver Jenkins, who has been transferred to the head office administration in Boise, it was announced today by Joseph Bianco, president.
Batten, a native of Nebraska, is a U.S. Marine Corps veteran of the Korean War and a graduate of the Pacific Coast Banking School at the University of Washington. He began his banking career in Los Angeles in 1957 and served as vice president and manager of the Valley National Bank in Glendale until January of this year. Then he joined Bank of Idaho as a loan officer at the Caldwell office.

He is a member of the Pacific Coast Banking School Alumni Association, a past president of the Optimist Club and a past vice president of the California Sertoma Club. He is a graduate of American Institute of Banking Schools and has had extensive experience in all fields of commercial and agricultural banking. Bianco said in announcing his promotion.

Batten and his wife, the former Joan Asbury of Washington D.C., have three sons.

Andrus Supports Gem Kindergarten

BOISE (UPI) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus said Thursday Idaho can have a kindergarten program without raising taxes if it will adopt priority spending.
Andrus, speaking to newsmen in Boise, said elimination of duplicate services of government and instituting priority spending will provide enough funds to fund kindergartens without a tax hike.

He also told newsmen any use downstream of Bear River water would commit that water forever. He said he is opposed to committing any of the state's water to those outside the state.
He said he supports workers organizations, but said he hopes unionization among farm workers comes from within the state ranks and is not developed by outsiders.
He added if elected he would encourage the abolishment of the Department of Administrative Services and returning its housekeeping chores to their original homes.

Tape Theft Charge Filed

TWIN FALLS — A bond of $500 was set Wednesday in Twin Falls Probate Court for Steve A. Pendergast, 24, Twin Falls, arrested early Wednesday on a charge of first degree burglary. County officers said they apprehended Pendergast as he was leaving the KLIX radio studio on Eastland Drive.

He also told newsmen any use downstream of Bear River water would commit that water forever. He said he is opposed to committing any of the state's water to those outside the state.

WASHINGTON — Inability of the Senate Public Works Committee to make much progress on the air-pollution control bill testifies to the effectiveness of the year's most intensive business lobbying campaign and to the controversy still embedded in the environmental issue.

Industry — particularly auto manufacturers — to spend money now to fight air pollution. Later when the full Public Works Committee met to consider the bill, the lobbyists had done their work. Unanimity was gone. This means air-pollution control is confronting the clock ticking away the end of this Congress.

Mideast Again

The uneasy truce in the Middle East, where everybody is on record as wanting peace except the Arab guerrillas, Iraq, and maybe a few others, may blow up over the cheating being done by Egypt in moving missile sites closer to the Suez Canal.

violations of the ceasefire agreement and therefore she must be free to take whatever safeguards she deems necessary.

That there have been violations seems clear. That the violations have been condoned by Russia seems equally obvious. In any event, there is little hope for a workable peace unless both Russia and the United States act in harmony and with the required persuasion, if not coercion, to prevent the buildup of arms and tempers.

Brezhnev has warned that the forces for peace must keep the initiative and not "allow the foes of peace to blow up the agreement or use it to cover up their aggressive designs."

The Russians have always been ready to accuse others of aggressive designs while asserting they want only peace.

Publicly, Russia has not responded to the suggestion from Washington that the U. S. and the U.S.S.R. join in policing the ceasefire agreement.

Russia's peace aims will be more credible in Jerusalem and Washington if the Russians agree to stop the flow of arms to the Arabs and to join in seeing that the ceasefire agreement is observed by both sides, mistrustful as always.

The Middle East is a caldron of explosive elements and it will take the best efforts of the United Nations, Russia and the United States to cool it.

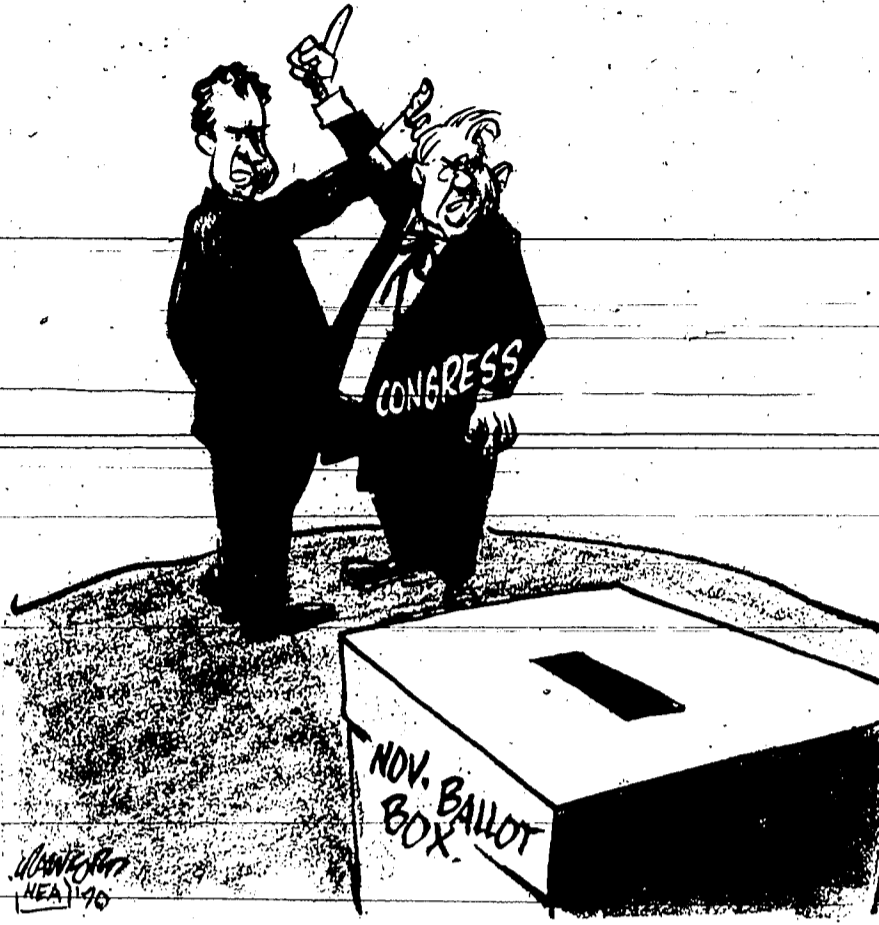

This has occurred despite the words of Soviet Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev: "What is needed is not new provocations and subterfuges designed to circumvent or violate the ceasefire agreement, but an honest observance of the agreement reached." True words, indeed, but what of the actions that have accompanied them?

Israel is understandably alarmed over the violations of the agreement that constitute in her opinion a major threat to her national security.

Russia continues to pump supplies into Egypt and the United States has assured Israel of sufficient weapons to maintain the balance of power. A logical step in the effort to gain and keep peace could well be an agreement by the major powers to halt shipments of arms and weapons to Israel and to the Arabs.

Meantime, the United States is confronted with Israel's determination to take care of herself, even if it means blasting the missile sites and risking setting off shooting war again. Israel feels the U. S. has failed to prevent the Arab

"You're Spending Too Much Money!"

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

Prime Rate Cut

WASHINGTON — Despite those New York banker denials, a nationwide reduction in the "prime rate" on business loans is definitely certain in the near future.

There will be a cut to 7 1/2 percent, from the present 8, before the November 3 election. It could very possibly come earlier — later this month.

Powerful forces favor a slash in this minimum rate banks charge their largest and most credit-worthy corporate customers. Foremost among these potent influences are:

The President's Council of Economic Advisers. Privately, its members feel strongly that a reduction in the "prime rate" would be a "weighty psychological stimulant" to business. President Nixon is authoritatively understood to heartily concur with this backstage view.

The Federal Reserve Board is credited as deeming a lowering of the "prime rate" as highly desirable at this time. Board members are understood to view such a cut as valuable as a graphic demonstration of a further easing of the previous tight-money policy. There have been intimations that if the commercial banks do not voluntarily reduce the "prime rate," the Fed may in effect force that by cutting its own 6 per cent discount rate — which it charges banks for borrowing money.

Midwestern and Pacific Coast banks generally favor lowering the "prime rate" to 7 1/2 per cent. The view is strong among them that such a slash would be a very useful propulsive force in stimulating business. This sentiment is succinctly summarized in the following pronouncement in a widely circulated financial newsletter: "Key bankers want a moderately stimulative credit climate. They are leaning to the easier side; toward a lower pattern of interest rates." The same judgment was expressed in another way by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., Chicago's largest bank, as follows: "Although the total volume of business loans continues to rise, the slowdown in business activity and the record level of financing in the corporate bond market have been major factors in the relatively slower demand for business loans at commercial banks."

A leading San Francisco banker, who asked not to be identified, flatly predicted the "prime rate" will be brought down to 7 1/2 per cent within a few weeks.

"That will certainly be done before the November 3 election," he said, "and I am convinced it will become general before then. I wouldn't be surprised if it happens by the middle of this month. It is inevitable for a number of reasons, so the sooner the better."

The opinion that a reduction in the "prime rate" is "inevitable" was echoed by John R. Bunting, president of the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co., largest bank in Philadelphia.

While saying that his bank has no present plans to change its "prime rate," Bunting agreed a cut would be a significant symptom of a nationwide trend toward lower interest rates. Such a development would unquestionably importantly spur greater business activity.

The 8 per cent "prime rate" became effective last March 25, when it was reduced from 8 1/2 per cent.

ART BUCHWALD Virgin Power

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — There have been so many groups formed lately to protect their sexual freedoms that little attention has been given to a new activist organization called the Virgin Anti-Defamation League.

The organization was started a few years ago by a small group of people who were sick and tired of virgins being the butt of every joke, every salacious comedy and every tired sexual cliché.

Sidney Pimpledown, the president of VADL, told me the response to the organization has been heartwarming. New chapters are springing up all over the country.

Pimpledown said "We estimate that there are approximately 1,980,543 virgins in the United States at the present, including at least 1,200 women. These people have been led to believe that there is some sort of shame attached to being a virgin. We want virtuous people to be proud of their heritage. We point out that some of our greatest writers, poets and artists have been virgins. Even today, in some primitive cultures, there is a premium placed on virtue."

"Then one of your goals," I said, "is to bring virginity out in the open and get people to accept it for what it is?"

"That's correct. Until recently it was a dark secret one kept to himself. The majority of virgins refused to talk about it even to each other. But now, thanks to VADL, virgins know they are not alone, that there are almost 2 million people in the same boat with them. They are good people: Priests, college students, university professors, naval officers and even Avon ladies."

"Our job," Pimpledown continued, "is to convince them they are not the monsters society has made them out to be."

equal treatment for virgins. Do you realize a virtuous secretary makes 20 per cent less salary than any other kind of secretary? Virgins are discriminated against in bars, at parties and even drive-in theaters.

"We also," continued Pimpledown, "are demanding the employment of more virgins on television commercials. In the past, cast directors for TV commercials refused to hire virgins as they were afraid the local TV stations would object, but when we proved to them that virgins were as good at performing on TV as anybody else, they changed their policy. It took time, but now all major advertisers include two virgins in their budgets."

"That is a breakthrough," I said.

"Our main function is education," Pimpledown said. "We go on television and give our side of the story. For years the talk shows refused to book virgins on their programs. But there is a more enlightened view now. We even had a virgin on the Johnny Carson show last week, and they only received 150 protest calls. Three years ago, if Carson had interviewed a virgin, the whole board would have lit up."

"You've come a long way," I told Pimpledown.

"We're starting to fight back. The militant arm of our organization is called Virgin Power. We've picketed movies with the word 'virgin' in the title. We've burned pornographic books that show virgins as weak, cringing people. And we've held sit-ins at city halls demanding virgins be permitted to get married."

"Mr. Pimpledown, what do you consider your biggest success so far?"

"Without doubt," he said, "the biggest success we've had so far was getting the Department of Interior to stop referring to Alaska as 'virgin territory.'"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Cortisone

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had rheumatoid arthritis for 20 years, and have been fortunate to be able to take a form of cortisone for the last five, one capsule a day. The doctor says I can take that amount indefinitely. Is that right? I have a very nervous stomach and hyperacidity. Could cortisone have brought that on? With my stomach I cannot take aspirins — very few if any. I also have some neck pain and headaches. — Mrs. A. J. P.

A word of warning to start with: cortisone isn't for everyone who has arthritis. However, when a small dosage is effective, and the patient tolerates it, cortisone is one of the accepted treatments for rheumatoid arthritis. The smallest dose that will give relief is the goal.

I don't want to give the idea that everybody can use cortisone for arthritis, but neither do I want to frighten those who can use it successfully.

After five years on low dosage, you should by now have had signs if any serious side effects were to occur, so I would agree that you probably can continue the present dose indefinitely.

As to your nervous stomach, didn't you have it before you started the cortisone? Anyway, cortisone can cause ulcers to flare up, but I'm sure your doctor is aware of this, too. As to the hyperacidity, it can be controlled by an antacid of the aluminum gel type.

The neck pain and headaches you mention could be due to arthritic changes in the bones of the neck spine. Often neck traction, which can be done at home with appropriate apparatus, is very effective.

Dear Doctor: You had in your column a remedy for leg cramps which a senior citizen had used with success. I thought I saved the article but cannot find it. I am beginning to experience leg cramps and have no idea what to do. — Mrs. J. R.

It was a reference to my booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Available by mail. Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of Times-News, for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What are the dangers from children eating dirt? Can they become infested with earthworms? With children spending a lot of time outdoors I think parents should be concerned with these questions. — Mrs. R. E. F.

No, they won't "become infested with earthworms," but they can pick up other parasites (including pinworms) or germs or poisonous materials such as lead. It is merely good sense to teach children not to eat dirt, and if possible to keep fingers out of their mouths.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain "papilloma of the gall bladder"? It was on my insurance form after my trip to the clinic. — Mrs. M. H.

Any mucous surface (the gall bladder has one) can develop a growth of the superficial layer called a papilloma. (It is not necessarily malignant.) Such a defect will show in a gall bladder X ray.

I presume in your case that the gall bladder was removed and examination then identified the papilloma. It is not always possible to determine from X rays exactly what a lesion is. In some instances, cholesterol crystals may become embedded in the lining of the gall bladder and show up on X ray.

BERRY'S WORLD

Paper Power

Washington, D. C. is not only the country's foremost manufacturer and consumer of red tape. With its myriad of government agencies, the city also ranks first as a producer of waste paper.

This unsurprising fact is revealed by an outfit called Capitol Reclamation Corp., which ought to know. It buys approximately 1,825 tons of canceled government checks from the General Services Administration every year and was recently awarded a contract from the Government Printing Office to buy 800 tons of scrap paper a month.

Your last income tax refund check, if you got one, may even now be enjoying a second life as writing or printing paper, tissue, a carton or part of a building, roofing or insulation product, among other things.

More than 11 million tons of waste paper are being reclaimed for industrial use in the United States today, says Capitol — 11 million tons not burned to add to air pollution, not buried, not left to blow around in the street.

The figure sounds impressive but it is only 20 per cent of the total raw material supplied to paper and paperboard mills. That percentage is expected to increase sharply in the years ahead, however, to meet the soaring demand for paper and paper products.

Another fact to warm a conservationist's heart: For each ton of waste paper reused, 17 trees do not have to be cut down. This means that some 190 million trees — nearly one for every American — are being saved annually through paper reclamation.

Here And There

One more day to take in the Twin Falls County Fair. After tomorrow it will be all over for another year.

We believe just about everyone from Twin Falls attended yesterday. At least everybody we knew was there. And they all seemed to be enjoying themselves. The exhibits were interesting and well scanned and, of course, the rodeo was again tops.

And for tomorrow night — Saturday — the big event will be the crowning of Miss Rodeo Idaho.

SPY TALK

Our personal spy has informed us that Earl Haroldson, the Idaho Power executive, was wandering around the South Hills the other day looking for his car. Our informant said he saw Earl, that he was on top of a ridge and was scanning the countryside looking for the car which he remembered he had parked in a valley. We didn't check to see if he was at work the next morning. So if you see Earl ask him how he made out — if he's back yet, that is!

NEWSPAPER WEEK

National Newspaper Week will be observed nationwide October 4-10. In this connection we recall a statement by the late Senator William E. Borah in which he said: "If the press is not free, if speech is not independent and untrammled, if the mind is shackled or made impotent through fear, it makes no difference under what form of government you live, you are a subject... and not a citizen."

EVIL DAYS

Another indication that Americans dislike extremists of any kind can be found in news reports of two recent "rallies."

One, in Cleveland, was to be a gathering of "hard hats" who would then march into downtown Cleveland following speeches. Two extreme right-wing speakers had been invited but declined to attend. So did most Clevelanders — only about 175 showed up.

The other, in Cairo, Ill., was to be a rally of Nazi-type persons. Just 31 came, and of that number six were plainclothes policemen, two were reporters and nine were juveniles.

Most Americans, it seems, are tired of fanatics of the left and the right, who preach hate rather than concern for each individual.

Area Lodges Consolidate

SHOSHONE — Alta Lodge No. 31 has consolidated with Opal Rebekah Lodge, Shoshone, with their first official meeting being held Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall.

A special welcome service will be held later this fall for the AITA Lodge members from Richfield area, according to Mrs. Corwin Silva, recording secretary. The two lodges will now go by the name of Opal Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Dale Chatterton was named first delegate to the (Rebekah Assembly to be held in the latter part of October at Lewiston. Alternate will be Mrs. Bennie Ray Webb.

Mrs. Chatterton was also named lodge deputy.

The Sept. 22 meeting will feature a public card party after short chapter at 8 p. m. at the IOOF Hall.

Local Women Wrap Items For Booth

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Friendship Circle of the Women of the Moose wrapped crackers for the fair booth, with prizes going to those wrapping the most, during the Wednesday meeting at the home of Mrs. Virgil Malone.

Mrs. Gene Hamilton, friendship chairman, was in charge of the meeting. The flag salute was led by Mrs. Malone and the prayer by Mrs. Robert Williams.

The white elephant gift was won by Mrs. Robert Williams and Mrs. Gene Hamilton.

The next meeting is at the home of Mrs. Boyd Smith.

Area Couple Feted

RICHFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wittinger were honored at an open house reception Saturday night at the Richfield Methodist Church Reception Hall. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Proctor, Richfield, who hosted the event.

The couple greeted guests with Mrs. Wittinger wearing her wedding gown of bone-colored crocheted with brown accessories. Her sister, Mrs. Dan Pence, Clayton, registered the guests.

The serving table was covered in white lace over yellow and centered with a wedding cake inscribed with names of the couple. Decorations were bells and doves with the cake surrounded by yellow and white gladioli and daisies. Mrs. C. F. Chatfield, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. Robert Sorensen, Missoula, Mont., sister of the bride, served punch, and Mrs. Gerald Baker, cousin of the bride, Mackay, poured at the silver coffee service. Mrs. Charles Sluder and Mrs. Ray Appell were receptionists.

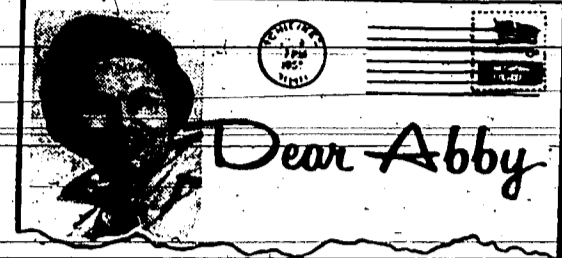

In charge of the gift tables were Dorothy Atkins, Sherryl Magoffin, Deanna Behr, and Pamela Appell, classmates of the bride, and Dena Chatfield, her cousin, Buhl.

Luncheon Set

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Christian Women's Club luncheon is set at 1 p. m. Tuesday at the Turf Club.

Gilbert Deklotz Jr., Filer, will present the special feature, asking, "Are you a rock hound? Find out how." Mrs. Richard Cook, Boise, will be soloist, with Mr. Cook as featured speaker.

Luncheon reservations can be obtained by calling Twin Falls, 733-4332 or 733-9017; Filer, 326-5180; Buhl, 543-4062; or Jerome, 324-5256. Free baby-sitting is available by contacting Shirley Harris, 423-4091.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: If you could see my home, my clothes closet and my car you would probably think me the luckiest woman in the world, but here is my problem: I am so hungry for a reassuring word and a little affection, I could just die. John doesn't kiss me "hello" or "good-by."

I know he loves me, but he doesn't show it. Our sex life is satisfactory, but it's routine and wearisome.

We have a little poodle which John cuddles and plays with. When he reads the newspaper the dog snuggles in his lap while he scratches his neck and pets him. That pup gets more affection than I do. Tell me, Abby, is it normal for a wife to be jealous of a family pet?

Sometimes I get so hungry for a little sweet talk, a compliment, the feel of his arm around my waist while I'm cooking—or a chance to sit in his lap, I'd trade all the material things I have for one affectionate squeeze.

When he's asleep he wraps his long arms around me and I enjoy it so much I hate to fall asleep. He's so good and dear, and I'm so frustrated.

IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED: Don't sit around waiting for your hormones to dry up. Make your husband notice you. You may have to shove the poodle out of his lap, but you can make it up to him (the dog) come "Be Kind to Animals Week." Greet him at the door with a kiss that has a future in it. Compliment him. Be aggressively affectionate and if nothing happens, well, you haven't lost anything. But I'm betting you wake him up.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a minister who stands outside the girlie shows during the week of a local fair to see how many people he knows go in? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: He's not very bright. Some of the people might see him standing there and think he just came out.

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of a basically sound and seemingly happy marriage, my wife has decided she would like to sleep with another man. She says she hasn't anyone particular in mind, but, of course, he must be "special."

Apparently this idea has been simmering for several years and has only just come to light recently.

My wife is a bright woman and believes in total honesty. She says she hates to grow old never experiencing anyone but me.

Now I am confused. Is this kind of honesty necessary? And if so, should I be able to accept it, laugh it off, or would you say our marriage is in serious trouble.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I would say your marriage is in serious trouble. Your wife wants more than "total honesty," she wants "permission." No matter how she slices it, it's still baloney.

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbor is a relatively pleasant person, but on two occasions recently, when he was high, he came over here and got belligerent and profane toward my wife and children.

I am entering my dotage [54] and abhor violence. However, I was boxing champ of my World War II outfit. If this neighbor acts up a third time, I may find the overpowering urge to skip over there and give him the "old one-two." Should I?

RETIREED CHAMP, BERKELEY, CAL.

DEAR CHAMP: A man of your obvious intelligence shouldn't have to resort to the old "one-two."

Tell your neighbor (when he's not high) that you resent his vulgarity toward your family, and tell your family to stay away from him. That falling sign a complaint charging him with invasion of privacy (or worse, if possible).

Debbie Driscoll, Soran Exchange Nuptial Vows

TWIN FALLS — St. Edward's Catholic Church was the setting for the Aug. 27 evening ceremony, uniting in marriage Debbie Driscoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Driscoll, and Steve Soran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Soran.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmond R. Cody performed the double ring ceremony. Brent Powlis and Brian Powlis served as altar boys.

Gold vases of yellow gladioli and white chrysanthemums adorned the altar. Gold leaf floor vases held matching arrangements. The aisle was decorated with cascading arrangements of stephanotis, leather leaf greenery and yellow satin ribbon.

Organist was Mrs. Jack Cubit, who also accompanied Mrs. David Mead, soloist.

The bride, escorted by her father, was gown in a Bridal Original of silk organza, featuring scalloped Chantilly lace that formed a plastron redingote effect on the crescent waistline. The oval neckline was encircled with pearls and the bodice was accented with long-lily-point sleeves. A lace flower cap, with tulle ruffled flowers edged in pearls, held her elbow-length veil with butterfly face veil of English silk illusion. She carried a cathedral bouquet of trailing stephanotis and snowflake pompones.

Bridal attendants were Judy Sinclair, sorority sister of the bride, maid of honor, with Karma Jeppesen, Hailey, cousin of the bride and sorority sister, and Alice and Julie Simmonds as bridesmaids.

Tim Soran, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Guests were ushered by Gary Rasmussen, David Driscoll, brother of the bride, and Jim Imlay, Clearfield.

Utah, fraternity brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Turf Club after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white satin encircled with floor-length flounces of French organdy accented with rope garlands of yellow gladioli and fern in a scalloped design. Corner floral decorations in hogarth styling completed the cloth decorations.

The table was decorated with sunburst arrangements of yellow pompons and white carnations in silver candelabra holding white tapers. Tiny pompons and fern encircled the four-tiered wedding cake decorated with white bells and yellow rosebuds.

Kappa Delta Sorority sisters of the bride serenaded the couple during the reception.

Jan Worsencroft and Jan Sinclair cut and served the cake. Coffee and punch were served by Lori Simonds, Connie Babbel and Mr. and Mrs. "Corky" McKean.

Jane Bradley attended the guest-book and gifts were received by Stephanie and Debbie Simonds.

Special guests were Mrs. Anna Holloway, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. Ruth Mace, Eagle, grandmother of the bridegroom, and W.F. Wulfkuhle, Topeka, Kan., grandfather of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, the couple returned to Logan, where they will both continue studies at Utah State University.

The bride was guest of honor at a kitchen shower hosted by Mrs. Jack Threlkeld and a miscellaneous shower hosted by Judy Sinclair and Alice and Julie Simonds. The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Turf Club.

Neutral

NEW YORK (UPI) — Judging from their newspaper ads, most stores are staying neutral in the battle of the hemlines, the Bureau of Advertising reported Wednesday.

Lee B. Templeton, senior vice president for chain and department store sales, said a measurement of 2.3 million newspaper ad lines in 16 cities during July by George Neustadt, Inc. showed 32 per cent devoted to compromise knee-length dresses, 20 per cent to pants dresses and costumes, about 13 per cent each to mini and midi lengths and less than 3 per cent to maxis. The rest of the advertising was undesignated.

Social Events

WENDELL — The Wendell Health Council will convene for the fall session Monday at the home of Mrs. Ray Tener.

RICHFIELD — Initial meeting of the Richfield Woman's Club year will feature a no-host luncheon at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Sadie Rider. Pollyannas will be revealed and new names assigned.

WENDELL — The Rebekah Club will hold the first meeting of the fall session Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Joe Leeper. Mrs. M. A. McCloud is co-hostess.

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will host a get-acquainted meeting at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the hospital auditorium. All members are urged to attend and bring prospective members. The unit's orientation film concerning functions of the auxiliary will be shown and a demonstration given by Mrs. Nell Wheeler on the model MA-1 respiratory unit.

TWIN FALLS — Guest day and a tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Sam Porter when the Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club meets at 2 p. m. Monday.

Bridge Over Troubled Water:

Peggy Lee (Capitol ST 463) Possessing the greatest contemporary singing voice and style, coupled with the uncanny ability to take a neglected song and turn it into a gem, Peggy Lee reigns supreme as songstress.

This new album is no exception to her incredible singing history. The worst she ever did was wonderful, and it's hard to imagine her ever producing anything less than great.

Although the title tune is included in this album, the album could have been named after any of a half dozen other outstanding tunes on the record. She does a marvelous job on "You'll Remember Me," and "He Used Me," and "There's Always Something There To Remind Me" and "I See Your Face Before Me."

She's also at her best on other tunes like "The Thrill Is Gone" and "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head" as well as the title tune.

It seems like she's been singing forever, and she gets better every year.

Love Lifted Me: Swan Silvertones (Specialty SPS 2122)

The original Swan Silvertones are legendary among gospel circles for their incomparable musical styling and harmony. This is an album of the best of the original Swan Silvertones.

The group's work has been inspirational to countless singing groups over the last 15 or 20 years, and even today young musicians listen to this group for ideas in harmonies and phrasing, so revolutionary was their work.

Five-State CAP Meet Opening

BURLEY — Annual conference of the Rocky Mountain Regional Civil Air Patrol started here today with the national commander, Brig. Gen. Richard N. Ellis, U. S. Air Force, scheduled to open the three-day yearly confab.

Ellis, stationed at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., will address the five-state conference and attend installation of Idaho wing officers. Registration began today at the Ponderosa Inn, with more than 200 persons expected.

Formal business sessions begin Saturday noon with Air Force Reserve Col. Richard D. Law, regional commander, Denver, calling delegates from Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado CAP wings to order.

Seminars are planned and Col. George Forschler, Burley, Idaho wing commander, will keynote the Saturday night dinner at the Ponderosa Inn which will include the selection of Idaho wing officials for the next three-year term.

Col. Thomas C. Jackson, Utah wing commander, and Lt. Col. George Falkner, Idaho wing executive officer, also will speak at Saturday meetings. The conference closes Sunday with a review of the weekend's activities.

Fire Destroys Shop Building

TWIN FALLS — A storage building which was also used as a shop, mechanical equipment and used automobile engines were destroyed by fire at the Jansson Auto Towing Service lot west of Twin Falls Thursday night.

Another building was scorched but not destroyed. Firemen from three rural departments kept flames from spreading to other buildings and through the wrecking lot. Jansson said two men were working in the building at the time the fire started about 6 p. m. Dale Newberry, an employee, and J. R. Miller were checking one of the engines when it backfired and ignited gasoline and grease in the building. Neither man was injured but by the time fire equipment arrived flames had spread throughout the building. An employee of the firm said today about 25 engines, salvaged from wrecked vehicles, were stored in the building in addition to some tools and equipment. Gerald Mullen of the Filer Rural Fire Department, said one truck and three men from Filer, a truck and several men from Kimberly and the Twin Falls Labor Camp unit all responded to the call. Twin Falls City Fire Department also sent a truck although the fire was outside of the city limits. City fire officials said the truck was sent when it appeared the blaze might spread to other buildings. It left the department at 6:05 p. m. and was back in the station about 7:30 p. m. Jansson said Friday morning he had not returned to the lot since the fire was controlled but expected to determine the extent of loss later today.

Bridge Closes Monday

RUPERT — The Heyburn bridge on U. S. 30N will be closed Monday for approximately two weeks while the bridge is being resurfaced, officials at the state highway department office at Rupert announced Thursday. The Overland bridge on State Highway 27 will be closed after work on the Heyburn bridge is completed. Contractor for the project is Federal Construction Co., Spokane.

Traffic will be detoured along the Alfresco Road on the north and U. S. 30 and State Highway 27 on the south. Motorists are urged to use caution along the detour route.

The bridge will be open for traffic on weekends, local highway officials said.

Opening Of School Postponed

RUPERT — Some students in Minidoka County are enjoying an extended vacation while the East Junior High School construction is being completed. Camden Meyer, Minidoka County School District superintendent, announced today that opening of school at East Junior High has been postponed again until 8 a. m. Monday. Students had been told to report to classes Thursday after a previous postponement.

All junior high school students are requested to bring sack lunches until further notice. Students at West Junior High, located south of Paul, started school Sept. 8, while other students in this district started Aug. 28.

Mrs. Youtz Speaks To Burley Club

BURLEY — Mrs. Donald Youtz, State Music Club scholarship chairman, Twin Falls, discussed the history of the National Federation of Music Clubs, with which both the Twin Falls and Burley clubs are affiliated, during a Wednesday morning brunch at the home of Mrs. Trafford Bray.

She spoke of the functions of Junior Festivals and clubs and reported the National Federation of Music Clubs was organized in 1898 and is now the world's largest music organization. Mrs. J. W. Young, president of the Burley Music Club, was in charge of the business session and announced the annual Membership Tea will be held Sept. 21. Local winners of the summer camp scholarships will present the program at the tea. Special guests besides Mrs. Youtz included Mrs. Betty Birrell, State Junior Music Club director, and Mrs. Edna Thorsen, District Junior Club director, all Twin Falls.

Traffic Courts

BURLEY — Police Judge Roland E. Willis has fined the following drivers: Oscar P. Snow, 26, Heyburn, $15; following too closely; Kathy Jo Clawson, 17, Burley, $10; expired license plates; Marie L. May, 18, Rupert, $25; improper mufflers; Nic Rubio, 37, Burley, $10; failure to register vehicle; Darlene B. Harper, 44, Oakley, $15; improper backing.

New Owner For Burley Sale Yard

BURLEY — Bill Wiseman, owner of the Burley Livestock Commission Co., Burley, for the past 17 years, announced Thursday he has sold his interest in the sale yard to Jim Palen, Twin Falls.

Today's sale was the last sale Wiseman will be associated with at the yard. He will assist Palen for the rest of September. Wiseman announced he will continue to be a bonded livestock buyer and shipper in the area. In June, 1954, Mr. and Mrs.

AN OUTSTANDING attraction at the Twin Falls county fair are these miniature Mediterranean donkeys imported from Sicily and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, Hagerman, Idaho's only breeders. This 3-week-old jennet is shown with its mother, Rosa, and will not be more than 36 inches tall when fully grown. The animals make excellent pets and may be house broken.

The animals are gray with a distinctive black cross down their entire back and across the shoulders. Legend has it that Mary rode one of these donkeys when she accompanied her husband, Joseph, into Bethlehem before she gave birth to the baby, Jesus, and that Christ, himself, rode one of these animals on his triumphant march into Jerusalem.

The Sullivans have a herd of 25 of them at their Hagerman Ranch and have five which they plan to sell. The four they brought to the fair include Serrano, a little jack, with his mother, Rosa, and a baby jennet, with her mother, Sylene, named after Idaho's state flower. Rose, a mere baby, is only three weeks old. These donkeys grow to be at least 25 years old, according to Mrs. Sullivan, and are so even tempered and lovable that they are sometimes even given the run of houses as they are easily housebroken. They eat the usual diet of oats and hay.

The Sullivans entered their donkeys in the parades at Halley and Hagerman this year, and in the Jerome parade had one trained to pull a sulky cart.

Fair Has Blessed Event

FILER — No fair is complete without a "blessed event" and this year produced one that will delight all fair-viewers who visit the swine barn at the Twin Falls County Fair.

A Duroc sow belonging to Jeff Harper, Buhl, had seven baby pigs at 8 p. m. Wednesday, and was presented a special red, white and blue ribbon from Jerry Kruse, superintendent of the swine department. The award is one which the fair board keeps on hand for extra special events.

New babies at the fair are always a special attraction as people, young and old, enjoy seeing the small creatures.

Bomb Scare Rouses School

KIMBERLY — The second bomb threat in two days was made to the Kimberly grade school Thursday afternoon, Twin Falls County sheriff's officers report.

The call was received at 1:48 p. m. Deputies searched the building, but found no bomb. On Wednesday, a young caller caused classes to be let out for about 15 minutes when he reported there was a bomb in the school.

Dinner Set

TWIN FALLS — The American Party plans a dinner meeting at 8 p. m. Saturday in the Holiday Inn. Following the dinner, time to visit with candidates is planned. Wallace Holt, Boise, candidate for lieutenant governor, will attend. The public is invited.

Inclusion of Road Sought at Jerome

JEROME — The Jerome County Highway District has been asked to include an access road into the Snake River canyon south of town in the local system.

Howard Johnson, Shoshone, district highway engineer, told highway commissioners at a meeting Thursday night that the unimproved road, which has given the state highway department access to a gravel pit in the canyon, is not acceptable for inclusion in the state highway department.

He said taking the road into the local highway system would be the first step toward opening the route to public use. Legal action has been threatened by sportsmen and civic organizations to gain access to the river below the Jerome golf course.

Public access into the canyon has been denied because of a gate constructed across the road and padlocked. W. R. Cameron, who gave the state highway department access to the gravel pile, and the highway department have been the only ones with a key to the gate although the road is on BLM land and leads to fish and game department property.

Planning Meet Set by Governors

SUN VALLEY — Members of policy committee of the Republican governors association will meet in Sun Valley Monday and Tuesday to make plans for the national convention slated for December at the resort. Gov. Don Samuelson's office said the policy committee is composed of governors of 14 states, who will be represented by staff members. Chairman of the committee is Gov. Daniel J.

Evans, Washington. Other states represented are Arizona, California, Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

The planning group will formulate the program for the conference which is scheduled for Dec. 12-15. Idaho will be represented at next week's planning session by members of Samuelson's staff.

Filer Clerk Named

FILER — Mayor Dan Kauffman has announced the appointment of Mrs. Frances Wells as Filer city clerk and treasurer, succeeding Kern Thurman who died several weeks ago.

Mrs. Wells had been filling in as assistant until the appointment. She has lived in Filer for three and one-half years, moving from Rogerson, and previously lived in Castleford. She worked as assistant bookkeeper and clerk for the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co., and supervised the school hot-lunch program while at Castleford. Her husband, Alex Wells, is a contract mail carrier between Twin Falls and Jackpot, Nev. The Wells have three children, including one married daughter, a daughter, Caroline, and a son Lynn, both at home.

Two Treated Truck, Autos Collide; Teen Age Driver Hurt

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Charlotte Stockton, 29, Sun Valley, and her 6 year old daughter were treated by a local physician, and were taken along with another uninjured 8 year old daughter by Ambulance to the Sun Valley hospital, after an accident 17 miles north of Shoshone at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Stockton was driving a 1970 Volkswagen, which left the road and landed in the rocks at the side of the road. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $500. Mrs. Stockton said she fell asleep at the wheel.

TWIN FALLS — A teenage driver suffered minor injuries and three vehicles were damaged in an accident at the junction of U. S. Highways 93 and 30 west of Twin Falls Thursday night. Sheriff's officers said the accident occurred at 9:06 p. m. during heavy fair traffic. Jack Ray Filler, 16, Route 3, and his passenger, Sandra McBride, 16, Twin Falls, were scratched and bruised. The driver's nose was injured but not fractured when the pickup truck he was driving rolled over after the collision.

School Slates Annual Events

RICHFIELD — The annual Richfield High School homecoming celebration is scheduled Sept. 18, during the Richfield-Dietrich football game. Alumni of the school will be honored with name and year tags to be given them, and a social hour will follow the game. A dance that evening will feature band music.

Dinner Honors Patrolman

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Ron Eggleston were honored at a no-host farewell dinner at the Manhattan cafe at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Eggleston, who has been stationed in Shoshone as an Idaho State Police Officer, is being transferred to Coeur d'Alene. They will report there Sept. 14.

Former Ranger Wins Promotion

OGDEN, Utah — Forest service management analyst William (Bill) Schmeling, former district ranger at Fairfield, has been promoted and transferred to the division of administrative management of the U.S. Forest Service at Washington, D.C. Schmeling will serve as assistant to the project leader of the "Inform" project, a program designed to determine management's overall needs for information. He served as district ranger at Fairfield for two years.

Progress Reported On Roads

SHOSHONE — "Real progress has been made in the completion of the interstate highway system in the district," Howard Johnson, engineer at the Shoshone office, told the Shoshone Rotary club Wednesday.

Most recently completed was the area in the Cassia and Oneida counties, at a cost of 20 million dollars. Hagerman-Bliss highway will be open in two weeks, and the extension for highway 68 Corral and Fairfield, has been let to as far as Picabo. The Rock Creek road is complete. Filer West project has been let and there has been a new seal coat on highways out of Shoshone, all directions, except toward Richfield on U. S. alternate 28.

Open House Set

SHOSHONE — Open house at the office in Shoshone, to show the new addition and remodeling there the past few months, is planned for later this month, Mr. Johnson said. Kenneth Crothers installed Craig Hadden as a new member of the club.

Officers Conduct Meetings

TWIN FALLS — Law enforcement officers and others in related fields held two separate meetings in Twin Falls Wednesday.

CSI Gets $38,160

TWIN FALLS — A financial grant of $38,160 to the College of Southern Idaho will provide educational assistance to 76 students at the college, according to David Perkins, director of student services. The grant will provide funds for the college's ongoing work study program, whereby students in financial need are provided jobs by the college and paid with the federal funds. Without this financial assistance, many of these students would be unable to attend college.

Jerome Teacher Reception Set

JEROME — A reception for all teachers in the Jerome school system is planned Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in Jerome. Rev. John N. Garrabrandt, president of the Jerome Ministerial Association, said the association is sponsoring the event as a yearly project to try to establish a closer relationship between the teachers and the community.

All teachers and parents of school-age children are invited to attend, as well as any other interested citizen, Garrabrandt said.

Officers Conduct Meetings

TWIN FALLS — Law enforcement officers and others in related fields held two separate meetings in Twin Falls Wednesday.

Open House Set

HEYBURN — Open house is slated from 2 to 5 p. m. Saturday at the Heyburn LDS Cultural hall for Mr. and Mrs. James F. Wilcox in honor of their golden wedding anniversary.

The public is invited and the couple requests no gifts. They were married Oct. 6, 1920, in the Salt Lake LDS Temple and have six children.

Clay Signs for Match With Quarry, Claims It As 'Personal Victory'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cassius Clay, saying "I always knew it was going to happen someday," signed Thursday to defend the heavyweight title many believe he no longer owns against Jerry Quarry Oct. 26 in Atlanta's Municipal Auditorium.

For Clay, also known by his Black Muslim name Muhammad Ali, the mere signing before an unruly horde of reporters and photographers was "a personal victory." For Quarry, one of the heavyweight division's top contenders, it was "a great opportunity I've been wanting for four years."

On Aug. 22, 1967, Clay last defended his title, stopping Zora Folley in Madison Square Garden, and a few months later he was stripped of the crown for refusing to be inducted into the Army. He is currently battling a conviction for draft evasion, and has had only two exhibitions since the Folley fight.

His last exhibition, in Atlanta last week, paved the way for his return for an actual bout, and befitting a champion, he will receive a guarantee of $200,000 against 42 1-2 percent of the total revenue, including that from worldwide closed circuit television. Quarry, from Bellflower, Calif., will get 22 1-2 percent against a guarantee of $150,000 for the 15-round bout.

The 28-year-old Clay, who has been training for three weeks in Miami, has never been beaten as a professional, winning all 29 of his bouts, including 23 by knockouts. Quarry, 23, has a 37-4-4 record, the latest victory a kayo against Stanford Harris in Miami Tuesday night.

However, the unknown factor adding interest to the match is whether Clay can get into shape in only six weeks after a 3 1-2-year layoff. "What champion ever stayed out of the ring for three years and then had to get ready in six weeks?" Clay asked. "It's like handicapping a great race horse, making him carry so much more weight than all the other horses. It's gonna be tough, and maybe I can't do it."

"It's hard to say whether he can get into shape and be as sharp as he once was," Quarry said. "I know I couldn't."

Quarry has already had two chances to win shares of the heavyweight title, losing a decision to Jimmy Ellis in 1968 for the World Boxing Association version and being stopped last year by Joe Frazier for a five-state version. Frazier later gained recognition as champion by stopping Ellis despite the shadows still being cast over his claim by Clay. Now Clay calls Frazier "a good contender."

Twins Take Two From A's, Hike Loop Lead

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Four run rallies in each game enabled Minnesota to sweep a two-night double header from the Oakland Athletics 6-1 and 7-2 Thursday night as the Twins increased their lead in the American League West to eight and a half games.

Minnesota's 33-4-3 record against Oakland's 27-11-10 was the result of a 4-1 victory in St. Paul and a 3-0 win in Minneapolis. The Twins' offense was powered by a two-run homer from Alvin Dark and a single and a double from Tommie Agee.

Dark's home run in the first inning of the first game was the only extra-inning hit in the double header. The Athletics' pitcher, Jim Fregosi, was hit by a pitch in the top of the 11th.

'Bama-USC and Indians-Hogs Tilts Top Slate

By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

A new college football season, moved up a week earlier than usual because many teams added an 11th game to the front of their schedules, opens this weekend with two giants from the West Coast invading the hotbeds of the Southeast and Southwest.

It used to be that opening games were so-called breathers but the weekend slate featuring such attractions as Southern California against Alabama and Stanford versus Arkansas indicates easy starting games may be a thing of the past.

USC, starting a campaign in which the Trojans hope to make an unprecedented fifth straight trip to the Rose Bowl, opens Saturday night against Alabama at Birmingham while Stanford, boasting the credentials to make the nation's elite group of top ten teams, travels to Little Rock, Ark., to face Arkansas.

The 1970 campaign includes several Friday night games with the biggest outing sending Missouri against Baylor at St. Louis. In other Friday night contests North Carolina A&T and Southern U. clash at Yankee Stadium in New York while Alcorn A&M and Tennessee State clash in the second annual Freedom Classic game at Los Angeles.

Other major games Saturday send Idaho to Air Force, Holy Cross at Army, Duke against Florida Saturday night at Jacksonville, South Carolina at Georgia Tech, Washington State at Kansas, Colgate at Navy, Wake Forest at Nebraska, Kentucky at North Carolina, UCLA at Oregon State, California at Oregon in a night game, William and Mary at West Virginia and Oklahoma at Southern Methodist in another night outing.

Bear Bryant will rely heavily on sophomores against powerful USC in a contest which should age his youngsters quickly. "We know Southern Cal has a big team and could wind up as the national champ," Bryant says. "But we're rebuilding here and I don't know any quicker way to get back to the top than playing, and beating somebody who's already there."

Alabama finds itself in the unusual role of underdog on home ground. USC hopes to utilize the passing of Jimmy Jones and the running of Clarence Davis.

Arkansas and Stanford tangle before national television cameras in a game starting at 6 p.m. EDT. The game will be carried by ABC-TV.

The Minnesota Vikings and Chicago Bears clash in the 25th annual Armed Forces Game at Soldier's Field in Chicago Friday night as the National Football League concludes its exhibition season with 13 weekend games.

With this weekend's action being the final tuneup for the regular season, NFL coaches must painstakingly decide on the final squad cuts to the 40-man rosters.

The Vikings will send Gary Cuozzo, who has assumed the regular quarterback duties in the wake of Joe Kapp's contract impasse, against the Bears' defense that may not include middle linebacker Dick Butkus, who is nursing a pulled hamstring muscle.

In the only other Friday night game, Denver will meet Boston at Salt Lake City. On Saturday, Baltimore will be at Washington, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Kansas City at St. Louis, Buffalo at Green Bay, kicker while running back Detroit at Cincinnati, Atlanta at Miami, Cleveland at New York, Tom Matte and newly acquired against the Giants, San Diego Roy Jefferson has moved in as at New Orleans, and Pittsburgh at Oakland.

Sunday's games will pit—the Governor's Cup of Missouri, the New York Jets against the World Champion Kansas City Dallas Cowboys at Dallas, and Chiefs will take on the St. Louis Houston at Philadelphia. In addition to Butkus' injury, coast, the unbeaten Los Angeles Bears must also concern Rams and quarterback Roman themselves with the dilemma at quarterback. While Bobby Douglass was expected to come into his own this season after a year of apprenticeship in 1969, Game at Soldier's Field in Chicago Friday night as the out-of-home him in previous exhibition games. The Vikings, on the other hand, have been pleased with Cuozzo's quick adjustment to first-string status in addition to the running of backs Oscar Reed and Clinton Jones.

Jim Nance, having straightened out his salary squabble with the Boston Patriots, is expected to make his 1970 debut against the Broncos. Steve Tensi and Pete Liske are waging a good battle for the first string Broncos' quarterback job.

The "new look" Baltimore Colts renew their Chesapeake Bay rivalry with the Washington Redskins in one of the feature games on tap for Saturday. Rookie Jim O'Brien ton, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Kansas City at St. Michaels as the Colts' place-Louis, Buffalo at Green Bay, kicker while running back Detroit at Cincinnati, Atlanta at Norm Bulach is pushing vet Miami, Cleveland at New York Tom Matte and newly acquired against the Giants, San Diego Roy Jefferson has moved in as at New Orleans, and Pittsburgh the Colts' top receiver.

In the battle for the Governor's Cup of Missouri, the New York Jets against the World Champion Kansas City Dallas Cowboys at Dallas, and Chiefs will take on the St. Louis Houston at Philadelphia. Cardinals while on the west coast, the unbeaten Los Angeles Bears must also concern Rams and quarterback Roman Gabriel will test the revamped San Francisco Forty-Niner secondary of Rosey Taylor, Mel Phillips and rookie sensation Bruce Taylor.

Another rivalry resumes Saturday when the Cleveland Browns invade the New York Giants at Yankee Stadium with ex-Giant Homer Jones making his first start as a wide receiver for the Browns.

The Detroit Lions provide the next test for Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Sam Wyche, who has filled in admirably in the absence of Greg Cook, who is sidelined for the season. The Lions got a good effort from their young running backs Altie Taylor and Steve Owens last week against Baltimore.

The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Oakland Raiders figure to put a good percentage of footballs in the air when Daryl Lamonica meets the Steelers' new aerial artist Terry Bradshaw, vti the Orange Bowl in Miami, the Dolphins-Atlanta Falcons clash features two of the most improved clubs in the league.

On Sunday, the New York Jets and Joe Namath will try to add to the woes of the slumping Dallas Cowboys who have dropped four straight games. Rookies Richrd Caster, an end, and George Nock, a running back have been pleasant surprises for New York.

McMillen Shifts to Maryland

MANSFIELD, Pa. (UPI) — Six-foot-eleven Tom McMillen, considered the top prize in the country's college basketball recruiting scramble, decided Thursday to attend the University of Maryland instead of the University of North Carolina.

McMillen changed his mind "for personal and family reasons" two months after announcing he would attend North Carolina even though his parents refused to sign a grant-in-aid scholarship contract.

Officials at North Carolina and Maryland issued no statement on his decision.

McMillen went to see his friends and former scholastic coach Rich Miller at Mansfield High School Thursday and told them of his change of plans.

Casper Ready for $50,000 Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Master's Champion Billy Casper shot a one-under par 69 practice round Thursday and said he's "ready to go" for the $50,000 first-place money in the World Series of Golf here Saturday and Sunday.

The field will include Casper, U.S. Open Champion Tony Jacklin, PGA Champion Dave Stockton and British Open title holder Jack Nicklaus.

Casper, who averaged 72.8 strokes for 15 rounds of competitive golf the few times he has appeared on the Firestone Country Club course over the past 10 years, was extremely pleased with his practice round.

Today Mercury introduces a new and better small car. 1971 MERCURY COMET 2 or 4 doors, "6" or V-8.

1971 Mercury Comet (4-door sedan also available)

- 1. Take the best small-car ideas.
Comet has them all. Easy parking and turning; the 2-door can turn in a circle only 35.6 feet in diameter! Low price: this is Mercury's lowest-priced car. Good gas mileage: rivals imports. Simple/servicing: a handy repair manual is available for do-it-yourselfers containing dozens of tips on how to adjust the automatic choke, set idle speed, etc.
- 2. Add the styling and performance of a bigger car.
Notice the big-car grille with dramatic power dome hood. Big-car luxury, too, with rich, wall-to-wall carpeting. And this Comet gives you a lot of that big-car get up and go. The standard "6" is a 170 cubic inch engine with 100 horsepower. Or you can order two optional "sixes" with 115 or 145 horsepower. Or you can get Comet's biggest engine option, a 302 cubic inch V-8 with 210 horsepower.
- 3. Result: a better small car.
Comet offers you 3 ways to own a better small car: the 2-door sedan seats four adults, a slightly larger 4-door sedan seats five or there's a GT model with buckets, hood scoop, special GT striping, the works. Options include automatic transmission, vinyl roof, power steering, even air conditioning.

Stamps Review Bible

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI)—The story of the Holy Bible told in postage stamps is a hobby that has intrigued and fascinated William Faust since his convalescence from a heart attack 15 years ago.

A writer for the Pittsburgh Press, Faust spends much of his leisure time putting together a collection of religious stamps that has been a crowd puller at many stamp exhibitions. Faust began collecting stamps 40 years ago when he was an 18-year-old copyboy with the Press, but did not turn his specialty until 1955. A Presbyterian who has read the Bible from cover to cover seven times, Faust obtained the nucleus of his early religious collection from a Catholic priest, the Rev. Cecil Nally who presented him with a complete collection of stamps issued by Vatican City.

"The idea came to me: why not see how many stamps are related to the Holy Bible," Faust said. "I now have 600 such stamps and plan to collect more."

"Many cultural masterpieces have been reproduced by scores of nations in their postal stamps and the Holy Bible on stamps becomes an ideal topic for a stamp collector."

"A fine collection can be compiled at little expense, with dozens of stamps costing just a few pennies. Some, of course, are more costly but can be eliminated, for they are not essential."

Faust noted that the supposedly non-religious United Nations issued a series of stamps with a quote from Isaiah: "THEY SHALL BEAT THEIR SWORDS INTO PLOUGHSHARES."

"Even the Communists nations use the cross and crown of thorns," Faust said, "because their limited culture has been unable to develop anything of significance—except the hammer to crush and the sickle to..."

"Naturally, the two most prolific producers of stamps related to the Bible are Israel and Vatican City. The Vatican has issued hundreds of stamps depicting the creation according to Genesis and the Great Kings. Spain also is a prolific source of religious stamps, many of them exquisite masterpieces of the graphic arts."

In the past decade topical stamp collecting—the accumulation of specimens relating to a single subject—has grown in popularity.

"One reason is that such a collection can be acquired at little expense," Faust said. "A non-collector could enjoy it without a knowledge of philately."

Faust said the stamps and verses or chapters of scripture can be arranged to individual taste and composition on inexpensive blank album pages.

Catholic Bible Issued

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—English-speaking Catholics will get a new translation of the Bible next month to replace the archaic Douay version which they have used for 220 years, it was announced Monday.

The modern translation, on which a team of scholars labored for 25 years, will be published Sept. 30 under the name "New American Bible."

Unlike the old Douay Bible, which was a translation of a translation based on the 1585-year-old Latin Vulgate, the New American Bible was translated directly from the original Biblical languages—Hebrew, Greek and Aramaic.

The Rev. Steven Hartdegen, coordinator of the editorial board, said the translators made use of modern archaeological discoveries, such as the Dead Sea Scrolls, which provide a much better insight into the original meaning of the Biblical texts.

"This is a faithful and accurate translation for 20th Century man," he told a news conference. "It was a monumental task."

Of the 50 scholars (including four Protestants) who worked without pay on the translation, 16 died before seeing the project completed. The latest death, last Friday night, was that of Rev. Louis Hartman, professor of semitic languages at Catholic University, who had been scheduled to appear at Monday's news conference.

The New American Bible was produced under official sponsorship of the Bishops' Committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, an agency of the U.S. Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Officers Named

FILER — Larry Stiegemeier was elected president of the Clover Lutheran Walthar League at the meeting in the school house.

Larry Meyer was elected vice president; Susan Burkhalter, secretary; Miriam Martens, treasurer; Arlen Meier, athletic chairman, and Brenda Meyer and Bonnie Gier, reporters.

League members recently drove to the Bruneau Sand dunes for a summer zone outing, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Burkhalter and Mrs. John Kaster.

Church Worker To Speak

FILER — Dr. Linnea A. Nelson, an American Baptist missionary, will be guest speaker for the fall rally of the Central Association of American Baptist Women Sept. 18 at the Filer First Baptist Church.

Dr. Nelson began her missionary work in East China in 1935, teaching at Kinwa at Cheng Mei Girls' school. Forced out by war, she served in the University of Shanghai doing social and relief work among refugees.

Since 1950, she has served as dean of the school of graduate studies and as adviser to more than 40 foreign students at the Central Philippine University. In 1965, she was acting president of the college.

She recently returned from Nicaragua where she has served as a volunteer worker for the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

The public is invited to the rally to hear Dr. Nelson speak on her experiences as a missionary.

Mothers Set September Conference

TWIN FALLS — The Mothers' Club of the First Christian Church met for their September meeting after a summer recess at the home of Mrs. Denny Canfield. The meeting opened with each member giving a brief account of their summer activities.

Gift suggestions for the November bazaar were discussed and tea towels, pillow cases and other gift items were distributed for completion.

The group has completed plans for the publication of a cook book and cover and divider pages were selected. The cook books will be available for sale in two months.

The group voted to pay for the installation of carpet in the crib room of the church nursery. Devotions were given by Mrs. Denny Canfield and refreshments were served by Mrs. Ron Chaffin.

Churches May Fail Youth

By DAVID ROSSO
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Many young people are trying Zen, Yoga, mysticism and other exotic approaches to spiritual experience—including some of today's rock and "soul" music—because they find the religion of mainline Christian churches too earth-bound to satisfy their inner needs.

This is the view of the Rev. Thomas King, a Jesuit theologian who teaches at Georgetown University here. In an interview he said the churches' effort to be "relevant" to today's social problems has had an effect exactly opposite that which churchmen expected.

Instead of attracting today's youth, Father King said, it has convinced them the church is too absorbed in secular concerns to pay much attention to teaching persons how to establish contact with "ultimate reality."

The tall, lean theologian, who is a fan of such groups as the Beatles, the Who, the Fifth Dimension, cited today's rock music as one expression of the deep hunger for authentic spiritual experience that pervades the contemporary young generation.

He picked up an album from a desk covered with papers, books and record albums, and held the album under the light, pointing to different features of the cover design.

It was an album of a popular rock group. The cover consisted of pictures of hands in a praying attitude, doves, clouds and rays of light coming from the sky.

"These are certainly not secular pictures," he said. "Today's music deals with death, reincarnation and mysticism," he continued. "In many churches today, by contrast, concern for the dead is almost nonexistent. Churches seem to be too preoccupied with this world to bother about the hereafter."

"Young people have revived the other worldly kind of religion that was dominant in churches 20 years ago. Look at the soul music in the black community—even the use of the world soul."

"Hippies decorate their apartments with old, gaudily adorned statuettes. When Rome did away with St. Christopher, hippies began wearing his medals."

Young people of today are grasping for spiritual and aesthetic values because they refuse to be shunted into a "use-oriented" life which stresses technological education and material progress, Father King said.

"Today's youth feel that technology sacrifices life. They see their parents working their lives away for technical perfection."

"They don't want a use-oriented life and they are not interested in a secure future. They don't share the goals our adult society has adopted and therefore feel alienated from it."

BYRON NEWBY

Montanan To Lead Crusade

TWIN FALLS — Evangelist Byron Newby, Helena, Mont., will lead a crusade of special youth-oriented meetings in Twin Falls, beginning Sunday.

The services will be held at 7:45 p.m. daily at the Twin Falls First Assembly of God Church, states Pastor I.L. LaMance.

Newby is a graduate of Northwest College of the Assemblies of God in Kirkland, Wash. During the summers of 1967 and 1968, he led a group of young people in a Youth Action Crusade at Anchorage and Ketchikan, Alaska.

Since his graduation in 1969, he has traveled in youth evangelism and served as director of Challenge House in Missoula, Mont., working with youth in problems of drugs, anti-establishment radicals, drop-outs, hippies and regular "goodniks."

80 Attend Gathering of MIA

SHOSHONE — The fall social for the LDS MIA Wednesday night at the church featured a dance and refreshments. Over 80 youths attended the event.

Providing music were "The Personal Experience," members of a popular band from Halley.

Girls of the MIA provided cookies and the Scouts prepared the punch under direction of La Mar Duffin.

A special presentation of the theme will be given during opening exercises next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The new courses of study will be introduced.

attend the Lutheran Youth Congress in San Francisco in November.

LWML Sunday will be observed Oct. 11 with special bulletins, quartiles and mite boxes. LWML ladies will sing at the Sunday service.

LWML members from Burley and Filer are to be invited as guests for the Oct. 1 meeting.

Mrs. Wayne Schroeder and Mrs. Elmer Auferheide were hostesses. Mrs. Martin Hartwig was a member-at-large.

REV. JACK WELLER

Nazarenes Send Aide To Caldwell

FILER — Pastor of the Filer Church of the Nazarene, Rev. Jack G. Weller, has accepted a call to serve as minister at the First Church of the Nazarene in Caldwell.

Rev. Weller, who has been pastor of the Filer church for the past five years, will give his last sermon at Filer on Sunday.

The Wellers will move to Caldwell on Tuesday.

Buhl Church To Resume Fall Routine

BUHL — The United Presbyterian Church of Buhl is resuming its regular schedule Sunday. Church school is at 9:45 a. m. and the Worship Service at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Allen Webster is again serving as church school superintendent. The pre-school class is being taught by Kathy Pember, assisted by Susan Southwick. The primary class is being taught by Mrs. Loyol Rountree, assisted by Patty Mackay and Vada Mackay.

The junior class is being led by Melvin Birdwell, assisted by Jack Southwick. The junior high class is being taught by Mrs. Lewis Bernier and the adult class by Mrs. Walter Pember.

Mrs. Glen Buckendorf will again serve as choir director. The first practice will be this Wednesday, September 16, at 8 p. m.

Israeli Study Set By Church

TWIN FALLS — A series of Bible studies will be delivered by Rev. Kenneth C. Himple, pastor of the Tyler Street Baptist Church, 288 Tyler Street, on "The Nation Israel," beginning Sunday.

The public is welcome to attend the services at 11 a. m. Sunday when the studies will be given, Rev. Kimple said.

A "Franklin" is slang for a $100 bill.

Religion Today

By Rev. Lester Kinsolving

HONG KONG — On a hill just above a high-rise apartment complex housing so many people that it resembles a rectangular beehive, is the Hospital of Our Lady of Maryknoll.

One of the hospital's rooms has a prominent sign prohibiting visitors, because the 78 year-old patient within had repeatedly exhausted himself by warmly welcoming and talking at length with any and all visitors.

And while this is dangerous to his health, it is understandable. This patient was recently released from 12 years of solitary confinement in Shanghai.

I only saw him for an instant — that was my bargain made with the affable young Maryknoll priest who allowed me a moment at the doorway of his room. But I saw him and I heard his voice, still strong although markedly gentle. And I felt privileged to have even a glimpse of a person of such rare sanctification; the stuff of which genuine saints and martyrs are made.

The Most Rev. James Edward Walsh, M. M., is China's Superior General of Maryknoll, one of the Roman Catholic Church's greatest missionary orders. Bishop Walsh may also be a Cardinal. One Italian newspaper contends that he is one of those who was, in the ancient tradition, named a Prince of the Church by the Pope, in Pectore (in secret, due to persecution).

He is also a saint with a sense of humor. "I feel like Rip Van Winkle!" he told reporters after he crossed the border into this exquisitely beautiful city and so the young priest together with a nun are presently engaged in the intricate process of bringing the Bishop up to date. He had, for instance, never heard of either Popes John or Paul.

But he is taking changes in stride, such as everyone's receiving the chalice in a modern language. "Mass. Good," remarked the Bishop, "now everyone can understand."

He is equally tolerant of those who sentenced him to 20 years imprisonment because he tried to give financial aid to a Chinese bishop, and a businessman mentioned to him submarine building in Shanghai, while a young soldier mentioned weapons used in Korea. "I was never a spy for the U. S. Government or for the Vatican," he emphasized. "I have no bitterness toward those who tried and condemned me. I just could never feel angry with any Chinese. I felt that way almost from the day I first set foot in China in 1918 and it has just grown stronger with the years, even during my imprisonment."

For the first 18 months of his imprisonment, Bishop Walsh was subjected to hours of interrogation "morning, noon and night — although sometimes they would skip a day . . . no physical maltreatment of any sort, just all mental pressure."

The Bishop was subjected to this at the hands of what is in reality China's new (and all-embracing) religion — with Chairman Mao as God, his Quotations as the Holy Scriptures and the Communist cadres as a priesthood who are extremely fond of obtaining confessions. Children in the New China are taught to love Chairman-Mao more than their parents — as well as the virtue of exposing their parents to the authorities.

Yet Mao was able to come to power because his People's Liberation Army identified with the peasantry, who had known millennia of dictatorship and serfdom. Christian missionaries, on the other hand, were invariably identified with their governments, who so often and terribly exploited China — or they were identified with the Kuomintang regime, which was expelled with comparative ease by the ostensibly puritanical forces of Maoism in 1949. (In Peking, for instance, it is known that the widow of Sun Yat Sen is still alive and has refused to go to Formosa.)

From a pragmatic standpoint therefore, Bishop Walsh might be said to have failed, in view of the dictatorial pseudo-religious nightmare which has now suppressed Christianity in Mainland China.

But across the China Sea in Nagasaki there is a group of Christians who managed to survive for centuries, underground. And on the wall of the Bishop's hospital room there is a small statue of another pragmatically defeated person — who is nailed to a cross.

Lutheran Women To Present Skit

CLOVER — Rev. T. D. Johnston spoke on the topic, "What Are You Going To Do after the Lord's Supper?" to Lutheran Woman's Missionary League members at the Clover school.

A skit illustrating the talk was presented by Mrs. David Lutz, Mrs. Elmer Fisher and Mrs. Johnston.

Mrs. Lutz described the preparatory school at Obera, Argentina, which is one of the projects of the national LWML and one to which it will donate $50,000 this year.

Mrs. Donald Martens, constitution committee chairman, requested a meeting of her committee, the executive board and chairmen of the standing committees at 8 p. m. on Sept. 14 to discuss the combining of various committees.

Mrs. Elmer Schroeder read a letter from Concordia, Portland, and after discussion, the group voted to send $35 every other month to Richard Muhly who is studying for the ministry.

The group also voted to assist four youths with expenses to Seven spades made easily. It may look like an easy grand slam to get to by some other method but in this particular match Ely's opponents didn't even reach a small slam with Ely's cards, so that this asking bid was worth the full grand slam bonus to Ely's team.

The original Culbertson asking bid was completely artificial. It was an extra jump in a new suit and it asked partner about first and second round control in that suit.

Today's hand was played by Culbertson in one of his last tournament appearances. He was playing with Ted Lightner, one of the truly great players and Ely's favorite partner.

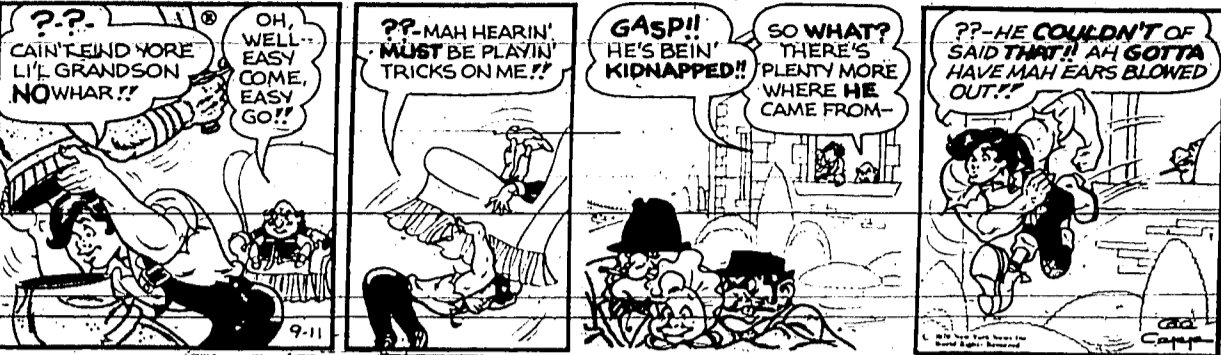

Culbertson has been dead for almost 20 years. Lightner, who is now 77, still plays very fine rubber bridge at New York's Regency Whist club. He is still an excellent bidder and player.

Ely's jump to four clubs was a Culbertson asking bid. Lightner is always pessimis-

Times-News

Twin Falls, Idaho

Friday, September 11, 1970

Highlighting the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo this week in Filer is the judging of the livestock classes. This photo by Robert Vansandela, Times-News farm editor, shows the Idaho State Hereford Show and the 4-H dairy fitting and showing classes in progress. 4-H'ers and FFA members as well as others in the county, have been preparing for the past year for this week's events at the fair, which ends Saturday.

TOP HEREFORD BULL at the first Idaho State Hereford Show at Filer, held in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo this week, is this one owned by Stone Hereford Ranch, Hermiston, Ore. He is SR Battle 59. Standing behind the bull are, from

Plant Growth Retardants Might Increase Yields

MOSCOW — Plant growth retardants could increase the yields of many Idaho field crops, according to Dr. A.A. Boe, University of Idaho horticulturist.

Research during the past three years in the university's department of plant sciences also indicates that such retardants could ease the work of the homeowner by slowing the growth of grass and shrubs so that they need trimming only once each season.

Boe noted that the chemicals being used are synthetic plant hormones. The most common type slows elongation of the plant while allowing it to grow normally in other ways. If applied to a shrub, the shrub will not grow any higher, but will develop just as many leaves and buds as it normally would. If the same chemical is applied to a root crop such as sugar beets, the plant above ground will not increase in size, but the root below ground will grow at a much faster rate.

Boe stressed that the chemicals being used have not been released yet for public use. It may be many years before sufficient field testing is conducted to prove them safe. The Idaho experiments have been in the areas of lawn growth, ornamental shrub growth, germination rate of dormant seeds and potato, sugar beet, radish and tomato yields.

When used with tomatoes, the growth retardant is applied when the plant has reached the ideal height for mechanical harvesting. The plant remains at this size, but produces just as many tomatoes as plants allowed to grow to their full size. When in bud, the plants are sprayed with a chemical to stimulate ripening so just one pass with a harvesting machine can pick most of the crop.

The increase in sugar beet yield appears most promising at this point, Boe said. Experiments have shown that the growth retardant chemicals do more than just reduce the size of the beet's leaf structure. The leaves become better photosynthesizers, utilizing sunlight more efficiently to produce bigger beets with a higher sugar content.

Heads Group

MOSCOW — Dr. R.E. Christian, University of Idaho animal scientist, was elected chairman of a new regional research committee on reproduction in beef cattle during the committee's meeting at Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Scientists from 14 Western states, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Kansas, Iowa and South Dakota make up the research committee.

Spud Unit Honors Woodbury

MOSCOW — Dr. George W. Woodbury, professor emeritus of horticulture at the University of Idaho, has been awarded an honorary life membership in the Potato Association of America in recognition of his meritorious contributions to the potato industry.

The award was presented during the association's 1970 national meeting at Riverside, Calif. Only 68 honorary memberships have been given to members since the association was formed 54 years ago.

Woodbury retired in 1969 after 31 years as teacher and research scientist in the College of Agriculture, years that spanned some of the most important developments in the Idaho potato industry. From 1949 to 1953, he served as head of the Department of Horticulture and was responsible for organizing and directing the university's potato research program.

Peach Aphid Grant Given for Research

MOSCOW — A $32,600 grant has been awarded to the University of Idaho Department of Entomology, by the USDA Agricultural Research Service for a three-year study into the role of green peach aphid biotypes in the spread and perpetuation of potato leaf roll virus.

Dr. Guy W. Bishop, university entomologist, will be in charge of the research work.

Bishop points out the green peach aphid is a major pest of dozens of crop plants and transmits the potato leaf roll virus, the most destructive virus disease of potatoes.

Potato leaf roll virus causes severe direct losses through reduction in yield and quality loss due to tuber net necrosis.

The research project involves sampling green peach aphid populations in various areas of Idaho, Oregon and Washington to identify and characterize aphid biotypes. Studies will be conducted to determine if and to what extent differences are interrelated and interdependent. And biotype characteristics will be assessed to determine their relations to spread and perpetuation of leaf roll virus.

Bishop has been involved with the green peach aphid-potato leaf roll virus problem since he first joined the College of Agriculture staff in 1957. While at the Aberdeen Branch Experiment Station, he conducted research on the biology of the green peach aphid and the factors affecting the transmission of potato leaf roll virus.

Later he was instrumental in developing a successful, integrated control program for the aphid and the virus in Idaho's seed potato producing areas.

In 1965 he was transferred to the Moscow campus where he maintained an active project on ecology of the aphid and insect transmission of legume and potato virus diseases.

The Provincial Government of East Pakistan is to launch a massive program to step up the rice production with a new variety of seed called I.R. 20.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D.R., of Twin Falls:

While I am not a died-in-the-wool gardener I want your frank and honest opinion about using hay as a mulch. Will it attract rats, mice and snails? I want to use it to keep weeds down and to hold moisture in the soil."

My advice is this: Use any mulch material you have available. Hay and straw (either wheat, oats or buckwheat) are all good mulches, but have some disadvantages, especially as weeds and a fire hazard. Use them about four inches thick in the garden. As far as these mulches attracting mice or rats I doubt if they would to any great extent. Mice do like to hide in grass or hay but I wouldn't let this discourage you from using the materials if you have access to all you want.

More home gardeners are resorting to mulches to cut down on labor, weeds and to keep soil moisture in the ground where it belongs.

Here are some other mulch materials you can use, buckwheat hulls, cocoa bean shells, coffee grounds, corn cobs, evergreen boughs, excelsior, gravel mulch, leaves, newspapers, plastic sheets, peatmoss, salt marsh hay, sawdust, shredded bark, straws (all kinds), sugar cane (called "Bagasse") and wood chips which are usually free for the asking.

There isn't any one perfect mulch but few things are perfect in this world. I'd use any material you have available.

B.H. of Malta: "I heard there is a cactus-like plant which has the ability to heal a burn. Is there such a thing?"

There is a cactus-like plant (Aloe vera) which has long been known and used as a "miracle healing plant." We understand that a thinly split fleshy leaf laid on a burn will draw out the "fire," easing the pain almost immediately.

Gardeners have told me that if the leaf is held on by a bandage it regenerates, heals and restores damaged skin. This aloe also makes a fine windowsill plant, having a graceful stem of yellow-to-reddish blooms about a foot tall. Try one of these items. If any one has had experience with aloe please write and tell me.

D.R. of Twin Falls: "I always raise lots of geraniums and hate to see them die in the fall. Please tell me the best way to keep geraniums over for another year."

You can try different methods: (1) start new plants from your best plants. These cuttings are three to four inches long. Remove lower leaves and root in moist sand, or plain tap water, or vermiculite, or perlite. They root in three weeks and can be potted up in four inch pots, using a soil mixture of one part each sand, peat and loam.

(2) Try digging up the plants and hanging them upside down. Place them in a plastic bag (with a few air holes). It takes a tiny amount of moisture to keep the plants alive during winter, so soak a piece of rag in water and slide this inside the bag once a month. Sometimes the geraniums bloom inside the bag! In March take the plants down, soak them in a pail of water, cut tops back and pot them up.

(3) Store the plants in tubs filled with peat moss or soil. Pots are set in the tub and kept slightly watered to prevent drying. In spring the tall plants are cut back and you'll be surprised to see how quickly these plants will send forth new growth.

Incidentally, I'd like to see you try starting your geraniums from seed. If you start them in February or earlier, they'll make full sized plants by the Fourth of July.

C. F. of Malta: "Our magnolia has some ugly looking growths on the twigs. They can be scraped off with a knife. Please tell me what can be done."

You have the magnolia scale, a sap-sucking pest that's covered with a waxy coat of armor capable of repelling pesticides. However, young crawlers are active now, and are highly vulnerable to malathion. Spray entire twigs carefully, or scrub the limbs with a brush and soapy water, or soapy water with malathion added.

Next spring you can apply dormant oil spray. If tree is small, take a piece of burlap and with your hand, drag it over the limbs, crushing the scale. Then you can spray with malathion.

D. E. of Twin Falls: "Recently I bought a copy of your first book. It's an excellent reference but we were shocked it recommended DDT as a pesticide. How come?"

When the book came out seven years ago, DDT was considered safe. Today, we do not recommend DDT or any other hard pesticide. As a substitute, Sevin or Malathion are recommended. We are in the process of revising our first book, and more attention will be focused on natural control methods, as well as the use of safer pesticides.

New Meat Professor Appointed

MOSCOW — Dr. John A. Jacobs, Laramie, Wyo., has been appointed as the new meats professor and researcher in the animal industries department of the University of Idaho College of Agriculture, according to Dr. A.M. Mullins, department head.

Jacobs received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Kentucky and completed his doctorate degree work at the University of Wyoming. While working on his master's degree, Jacobs taught a laboratory class in meats. He also taught meat judging and grading and was an instructor in meats while at Wyoming.

After receiving his master's degree, he worked for two years as superintendent of beef cooler operations for a commercial packing plant in Indiana. Jacobs' research work for his Ph. D. degree was conducted on the effects of carcass weight, sex and stress on lamb carcass quality and cutability.

Burley Brothers-in-Law Top Grassmen

BURLEY — Dale Shelby and LaDell Handy, both Burley, brothers-in-law, have a joint cattle operation in the Moulton area, near the Utah line, and have been selected as "Grassman of the Year" for Cassia County.

The two men have about 3,500 acres in the Moulton area. Presently there are about 250 cows and calves grazing on the rangeland.

They are presently in the process of cross-fencing, so the pastures are in a rotating size for grazing. Five springs have been developed.

One year ago they sprayed an area which was heavy with sagebrush and their future planing calls for 600 acres to be sprayed each year.

Also Shelby and Handy operated a 640-acre farm in the Malta area where the cattle are wintered.

The Grassman committee, which named Shelby and Handy as the winners, also visited the Conrad Ranches, southwest of Burley, and Garnet Kidd's rangeland operation, south of Oakley.

The grassman committee for Cassia County included Merrill Atkinson, chairman, First Security Bank; Gary Post, vice-chairman, Soil Conservation Service, and J. Wayne Cole, secretary, Cassia County agent.

The committee will prepare a brief resume of the Shelby-Handy grazing operation and submit it to the State Grassman Committee for judging in October. From these entries a state "Grassman of the Year" will be named.

Jim Rodgers, Declo, was last year's winner for Cassia County. Several years ago J. Vard Chatburn, Albion, was named the state winner.

Elko Eyes Livestock Field Day

ELKO — Improving beef quality for better meat to the consumer and for increasing production efficiency is to be featured at a Livestock Field Day scheduled for Sunday in Elko County.

The event is being sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station, College of Agriculture, University of Nevada Reno. The day, according to W. C. (Bill) Behrens, extension livestock specialist at the College, will be held at the Frank Hooper (Peterson) Ranch at Lamolle. It will get under way at 10 in the morning.

"Livestockmen throughout the State and area are invited to attend," Behrens said and added that the field day will replace the annual Knoll Creek Day not held this year.

Coordinating the event has been Norman Nichols, Elko County extension livestock agent. He noted that the program will include presentations by University staff and observation of crossbred cattle as well as a herd of heifers involved in a hormone implant study.

Bull Sale At Filer Scheduled

BLISS — The annual Filer Angus Bull Sale, sponsored by the Idaho Angus Association, has been scheduled for Feb. 13, 1971.

The date was selected during the association's recent board meeting in Bliss.

Named to the Filer sale committee were Dick Carrier, Hansen, chairman; Sam Thornton, Eden; Ralph Baughman, Buhl; and John Feldhusen and Harold Honstead, both Kimberly.

Plans for the Emmett sale also were made and it will be held on March 15.

Bellevue Couple's Son Home From 4-H Job in Costa Rica

BELLEVUE — Roger Wurst, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Wurst, Bellevue, has returned home after spending a year in Costa Rica working with the people there in improving agriculture.

Roger has lived with host families in the town of Turrialba and worked with 4-S Clubs, the Costa Rican version of 4-H. He was on a special assignment as a member of the 4-H Youth Development Project which is conducted by the 4-H Club Foundation.

Roger said the country of Costa Rica is beautiful and if he had the chance of going back, "I would leave today."

While there he worked mostly with the lower class of people. He said the average daily income of this class is about 10 clones or $1.50 in U.S. exchange, per family. He added that sometimes the whole family works.

"The Costa Ricans want to learn," Roger said, "But first the improved method of agriculture, which I tried to introduce there, had to be proved to them before they accepted it." He said they didn't want to take a chance of "dropping lower" than they already are.

In Costa Rica, Roger worked with livestock and in crop development. He worked with Costa Ricans who are experimenting to find out what other crops besides coffee and sugar cane can be grown on Costa Rica soil.

As part of his work in the 4-H Youth Development Project, Roger has encouraged agricultural diversification so the economy of Costa Rica will no longer be tied to the two traditional crops.

In the next few months, Roger plans to travel on speaking engagement to 4-H'ers, but in the meantime, he will enter the University of Idaho next month and major in conservation.

Booster Night Set By Grange

KING HILL — Plans for Booster Night at the King Hill Grange were made during a recent grange meeting.

The annual event will be held on Oct. 2. All women of the grange will be on the refreshment committee and all members were asked to bring guests as well as flowers, fruits and vegetables for display.

New officers will be elected at the Sept. 22 meeting, it was announced. The charter will be draped at the next meeting in honor of the late Herschel Newsom who was national grange master for 18 years.

A milk room is being built onto the Grant Stevens ranch barn near Richfield. The new room will have a 600-gallon bulk tank when completed.

The bravery of hungry coyotes has been noted at two Richfield ranches with the killing of a goose at the Everett Ward ranch and another at the Jerry Johnston ranch. The geese were killed about 200 yards from the ranch homes. The Wards also have been bothered by a raccoon and skunks, but all were killed before doing more damage to the Ward's chickens.

John Dupper, Richfield apiarist, has started extracting honey from hives in the Picabo and Fairfield areas. He said extracting on a full-scale operation will soon begin.

4-H'ers Buy Health Books

ALBION — Members of the Junior Domesti-Kates have purchased health record books from the American Medical Association and as a community project are distributing them.

Mary Amende and Susan Amende, leader and junior leader, are directing the project.

Drenda Woodall and Vikki Redman gave a health record book to Mrs. Dick Anderson Jr.

About 19 per cent of the 510 million acres of commercial forest land in the United States is in the National Forest System. Private ownership accounts for 72 per cent and the balance is in other state, federal and local holdings.

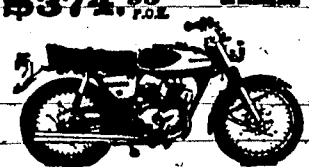

The average size farm in the United States in 1969 was 377 acres, one-third larger than in 1959.

Nearly half a million head of cattle, sheep and horses graze on public domain land in California.

Levy for Livestock Explained

BOISE — Gem state cattlemen are reminded that as of July 1, a levy of five cents per head is being charged on all cattle sold in order to support the Livestock Disease Control Program in this state. The charge will be raised to ten cents per head on July 1 of next year.

Dr. A. P. Schneider, Boise, director of Idaho's Bureau of Animal Industries, pointed out that the assessment is "not a new tax, but a new and different way of paying for a service that has long been for the benefit of the cattlemen."

Schneider said that the fee will be collected at the time of brand inspection by the brand inspector during country or feedlot inspections or by the commission companies.

Idaho cattle move freely in interstate commerce channels only because the State of Idaho, through its Bureau of Animal Industries, maintains a livestock disease control program.

"This is a service that is needed to meet the requirements relative to the movement of cattle in interstate commerce," Schneider pointed out. The program is paid for by cattlemen through a dedicated fund — the Livestock Disease Control Fund.

In past years, cattlemen contributed to the program through a five mill levy assessed by the County Assessor, paid along with personal property taxes and amounting to a payment of about 16 cents per head on cattle. With the phaseout of personal property taxes on all livestock, the Legislature decided upon this means of collecting financial support from the cattle industry for the necessary disease control programs.

"We urge all cattlemen to cooperate with the brand inspectors and the commission companies as they carry out these newly appointed duties," Schneider said.

"$150 an acre? I can remember when it sold for $60."

The old Webster place was first sold in the early '50s. Good 28-bushel wheat land, clean as a whistle, it averaged $60 an acre.

The east half section went on the block again in 1970. When all the dickering and dealing was over, Bob Miller claimed it for $150 an acre.

"But Bob's been farming 20 years; he knows it isn't worth that kind of money," someone said.

"Wheat's worth only half as much as it was ten years ago. Operating expenses are sky-high. This is no time to buy land."

No one needs to tell Bob Miller how tough it is to make money raising wheat. He recalls, ten years ago, that he could buy a new grain truck with proceeds from 1500 bushels of wheat. Today it requires more than twice as many bushels.

Extra land helps fight cost/price squeeze.

And as Miller and the manager of his local Land Bank association agreed: Added acreage would give him increased efficiency. It would help him survive.

Miller will farm his new 320 himself, without extra labor or machinery. He figures, at age 44, he has a lot of years left and he intends to spend them farming, competitively.

The Land Bank, whose only business is to provide long-term agricultural credit at lowest possible cost, has thousands of borrowers like Bob Miller. Energetic. Competent.

"They borrow from the Land Bank because its managers are full-time, local people who know agriculture."

Lower interest if rates decline.

The Land Bank protects its borrowers through prepayment privilege, without penalty. This means Miller or his heirs have the option of selling out, or refinancing with some other lender, if a better deal comes along.

And now the Land Bank has pioneered another important way of protecting its borrowers. It's called "Variable Interest Rate." Take Miller's loan, for example: It starts with a specified interest rate, but that rate will rise or fall with the cost of money and other pertinent factors.

Local service, lowest possible costs, prepayment privilege. Now Variable Interest Rate. No wonder we are the largest source of long-term farm credit. We'd like to serve you, too.
